

Picketing at School Draws Court Action

Hearing Slated Here Saturday In Martin Case

Picketing which began at the Martin school last Wednesday in a protest against elementary school conditions there continued through Friday, despite an injunction action filed by Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark and the Board of Education, and did not end till a scheduled hearing of the injunction action in circuit court here temporarily closed the schools Monday.

After Circuit Judge Hollie Conley had continued the hearing till 9 a.m. Saturday and had admonished those involved against doing anything to interfere with operation of the school or to encourage pupils to stay out of school, normal school operation was restored Tuesday.

Monday's hearing was continued when it became evident that it would consume most of the day, Judge Conley said. Asked by members of the Save-Our-School Committee, the group which had been temporarily enjoined, what they could legally do, Judge Conley said the court "will not deal with you lightly" if their actions interfere with the school operation or school attendance. He suggested that if picketing is to be done, the board of education, not the school, should be the target.

Later, Judge Conley certified the Saturday hearing to the Court of Appeals for a special judge. He remarked that on an earlier occasion affidavits had been filed stating that some of the same people involved in the present case felt he would not give them a fair hearing, and asking a special judge. He said he felt that the same attitude still exists and that this led to his decision to vacate the bench.

A contempt of court motion filed against defendants also is expected to be ruled on Saturday.

Classes at Martin were interrupted Monday because all teachers, bus drivers (See Story No. 2, Page 16)

Plan Choral Clinic For High Schools

The Fine Arts department at Prestonsburg Community College is initiating a choral reading clinic for high schools in Floyd, Pike, Magoffin, Johnson, and Martin counties. Its purpose is to encourage the choral music programs in the high schools of these counties.

The first of these clinics will be held Friday, March 13, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The program is organized by Gus Kalos, chairman of the Fine Arts department, to parallel the annual band clinics which were begun this year, also. Directing the day's events will be James Ratcliff, choral director, and David Browning, pianist, who are on the music faculty of P.C.C. High schools scheduled to participate are Prestonsburg, Salyersville and Mullins.

Ceremony Marks Reopening Here Of Info Center

The Tourist Information Center here which has been closed for information purposes for several months was officially reopened Wednesday afternoon with a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

The building, occupied until recently by the Department of Highways after it ceased to serve as a tourist information center, has been renovated, with the Big Sandy Area Development District and Prestonsburg Community College assisting in supplying needed furnishings. The center will be operated as a joint city-state venture.

Commissioner Kenneth F. Harper, of the Department of Public Information, and members of his staff joined members of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce and officials of Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Pikeville and Salyersville in Wednesday's ceremony.

Mine Theft Told, Three Held Here

Arrest of a man on a reckless driving count last Friday resulted in his being charged with possessing explosives and the arrest of two others who are charged as accessories after the fact.

Delbert Thompson, of Teaberry, was named as driver of the car in which six boxes of blasting powder and 2000 feet of fuse were found. Donnie R. Mitchell and Kenneth Ray Isaacs, who were taken by Deputy Sheriffs Hall and Hamilton at the same time, were booked at the jail as accessories. Sheriff Frank Leslie said warrants charged all three with knowingly receiving stolen property.

Later, Leonard Hall, Little Mud Creek mine operator, identified the explosives as property stolen from his mine.

Others booked at the county jail within the week and names of arresting officers are:

Willard Arnett, hit-run, by Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Herald; Bobby Gene Lovern, no registration plates or Kentucky license, and Marcus Homer Butcher, no license, by E. Mullins; Elbert E. Lawson, child (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

NEIGHBORLY ADVICE

When a certain man telephoned the home of a friend and was told that the man of the house was fishing on this cold, cloudy, blustery day, the caller cautioned the poor sap's wife:

"When he gets back, be gentle with him till I can get there with the plow-lines."

DOWN TEXAS WAY

James Morell keeps me posted on the situation, down in Loving county, Texas, and it appears to be a bit on the unusual side.

The federal government is trying to get the county to initiate a free food program (commodities) for the poor, but Loving county officials say everybody already has three square-meals a day without government help or intervention.

Washington is determined to take a census of the county (area, 647 square miles), but the Census Bureau is being reminded that the county judge down there can give them all the figures needed without any further ado—population, 165; farms, one; telephones, 20; automobiles, 47; oil wells, three per person; jail, one unused cell.

Government also declares Loving county schools must be integrated, and that's going to take some busing of pupils, we learn. For the county has only one school, and there isn't a Negro child in the county.

One thing they need is water; one, they don't—The Pill. (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Pickard in County For Pollution Check

Ralph C. Pickard, director of the Bureau of Environmental Health and executive director of Kentucky Water Pollution Control, and his assistant, W. W. Smithers, arrived here Tuesday to begin a tour of Floyd county areas where stream pollution has been reported.

Mr. Pickard said the on-the-spot investigation of conditions will be aided by confidential reports which he has in his possession.

He pointed out that Sunday's Courier-Journal story, reporting stream pollution in

Red Cross Drive Has $5,587 Goal

Mrs. Sally Hill Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, will head the annual Red Cross drive for funds in this county, with the pastors of three Prestonsburg churches—William Pope, W. D. Jagers and Milton E. Skiff—as co-chairmen.

The drive, which will begin March 15, has a goal of $5,587. H. C. Francis, of Prestonsburg, is special gifts chairman, soliciting industry and business for contributions.

As preparations were being made for opening of the fund-raising campaign, it was pointed out that recent disasters—notably, Hurricane Camille and Eastern Kentucky floods—have depleted Red Cross financial resources. Funds are urgently needed to expand services to members of the armed forces in this country and overseas, and to be prepared for future disasters and to continue the blood bank, water safety and first-aid programs of the Red Cross.

Road Time Schedule Held Due for Change

Road Department, Court in Meeting On Road Program

Highway Department officials met with the Floyd fiscal court Friday to hear recommendations for the county's 1971 county road program.

Through this aid program, the Highway Department helps the counties maintain their roads. It does not include enough money to meet all the needs of all county roads, and, in order to establish priorities, department officials meet with each county's fiscal court.

The program agreed upon is signed by an official of the Department of Highways and the county judge.

Road projects included in the county road program are financed by a General Assembly appropriation.

July 1st Date On One Sector Losing Ground

The Department of Highways has announced that contractors' bids on construction of the new, four-lane US 23 from the Mountain Parkway, near Prestonsburg, to Allen will be asked by July 1, this year, and the work remains on the highway calendar with that advertising date still in effect—but there isn't a chance of this time schedule getting into effect.

So say those who are familiar with the procedures and time involved in acquiring rights-of-way and resolving other issues before advertising for bids can be made.

The proposed US 23 via Katy Friend and Bull Creek to Allen involves construction of a bridge spanning the Big Sandy at Allen, and exact location of this bridge has been given as one reason for the delay on the project. Not one parcel of right-of-way has been acquired. Appraisals have been made, but property-owners have not been contacted.

Acquisition of rights-of-way is well underway on the same highway, a part of the Appalachian highway system, from Allen south toward Pikeville, and the work required there supplies a measuring stick for those who predict advertising on the sector from Prestonsburg to Allen to be months away. Already 15 condemnation suits have been filed against property-owners in the area south of Allen, and the (See Story No. 6, Page 16)

New Fire Season May Be Reversal Of Fall Record

Last fall's was a comparatively light fire season, and many sections of the county were free of the smoke-haze that annually shrouds the hills, but the 1970 spring fire season threatens to be another story.

Forestry officials said that eight fires demanded the attention Tuesday of firefighters in this county. In all this year, 45 forest fires have broken out in the (See Story No. 7, Page 4)

Wheelwright Wins District Net Title

Wheelwright high school's Trojans, winners of the Floyd County Conference title during the regular playing season, emerged Saturday night with the 58th district basketball championship at the close of a tournament marked by upsets and record crowds.

Both Wheelwright and the Betsy Layne Bobcats, tournament runners-up, are representing the district in the 15th regional tournament which began at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse Wednesday night. Wheelwright, which was extended only by McDowell in the Friday night semi-finals, won in the title game over Betsy Layne, 116 to 66.

Upset of the tournament was Betsy Layne's 97-90 defeat of favored Maytown, the host team and runnerup for Conference honors, last Thursday night in the first round of lower bracket play. The Bobcats began to be considered the basketball counterparts of the baseball Mets when they downed Prestonsburg's Blackcats Friday night, 110 to 100, in one of the heaviest scoring games recorded in Kentucky high school play. But the clock struck midnight in the finals.

Wheelwright easily defeated Wayland in the opening game of the tourney, 91-53, but in the semi-finals was extended by McDowell which was edged, 63-60.

The crowd which jammed the gym here last Friday night was so great that sale of tickets was temporarily suspended on order of a fire marshal's representative.

The all-tournament team, honored at the tournament close, is composed of 12 players: Keith Leslie (Prestonsburg), Pat Tallent (Maytown), Allen Halbert (Martin), Larry Patton (Wayland), Bill Newsome (Betsy Layne), Bob Branham (Betsy Layne), Steve Smith (McDowell), Danny Thornsbury (Wheelwright), Rodney Hicks (Maytown), Glenn Turner (McDowell), Danny Johnson (Wheelwright), Mike Fitzpatrick (Garrett).

Awards presented by John M. Stumbo, chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education, included these:

Individual free throw, Danny Thornsbury, of Wheelwright; team free throw, Wheelwright; sportsmanship, McDowell; cheerleaders, Martin first, Maytown second.

Floyd County Conference awards also were made at conclusion of the tournament by Pete Grigsby, president of the Floyd County Coaches' Association. These awards, made on the basis of regular season play, were:

Conference champion, Wheelwright; runnerup, Maytown; coach of the year, James F. Francis, Wheelwright; all- (See Story No. 1, Page 16)

Board Votes Another Attempt at Building

The Floyd County Board of Education voted Saturday to make another attempt at building a high school at Eastern to implement its school consolidation program on Right Beaver Creek.

The board instructed George Lee Shannon, architect, to advertise for bids at once on the big construction job.

An earlier contract on the work was voided after residents of Martin instituted suit. Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark said the resultant delay in construction may be a new bid of $150,000 to $200,000 higher than the first and additional bond interest cost approximating those figures.

Architect Shannon was also directed by the board of education Saturday to move with all possible haste to complete plans for a six-room addition to the Martin high school structure. Shannon was also asked to look for a pre-fabricated building which could be used for a physical education program there.

A delegation from Martin appeared before the board, remonstrating against the condition of grade school facilities there and asking for an all-new elementary school structure. The board's plan for a six-room addition to the high school was given a cold reception.

Also authorized was advertising for bids on repair of the Prestonsburg Elementary driveway which was damaged by flooding.

Textbook choices for the 1970-74 period made by the teacher-composed Textbook Selection Committee were approved. The board voted adoption of the written statement of board policy which has been under study for the last four months. The policy statement, it was explained, contains nothing new; rather, it is a codification of previous policy measures adopted, piecemeal, over a period of years.

On the recommendation of the superintendent, Thelma Spears was employed as a substitute teacher; Thomas Wagner was employed as a teacher of mathematics at Martin high school, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of his brother, Toby, who has entered private employment, and Bonnie Bailey as half-time clerk at Harold elementary school.

The superintendent's textbook custodial bond with the Valley Insurance Agency was approved.

Butler Decries Teacher Strike, Is Lauded by Administrators

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Supt. of Public Instruction Wendell Butler told more than 200 educators Friday, "You can't wreck a school system by trying to make everyone a scapegoat."

Obviously nettled by teacher criticism during the recent state-wide strike of the Kentucky Education Association, Butler said:

"The people have been pretty good to education... I haven't decided that the only way to get anything is through strikes or sanctions."

Later, the local superintendents and administrators from throughout the state approved by a resounding voice vote a motion commending Butler for his "excellent leadership" during the recent teacher work stoppage.

Butler, while supporting more money for teachers, had warned them not to walk out of schools. When most of the 29,000 did so late last month, he offered aid to any school boards which wanted to seek injunctions against the strike.

The superintendent traced the upward climb of teachers since enactment of the Minimum Foundation Program of basic state aid in 1954 and indicated they have done well—always under a unified effort with other segments of the educational establishment.

But lately, Butler said, the school people haven't been working together.

"I'm spending all my time trying to kill bad bills to save the school system," he said. "... Others are paying attention only to their interests."

Students Told How To Transfer to UK

The following procedure has been developed to make the transition of Prestonsburg Community College students to the University of Kentucky as simple and easy as possible!

First, the student should procure an admissions packet from the Prestonsburg Community College admissions office.

The forms must be completed and returned to the admissions office. The student should not mail the admissions packet to the University of Kentucky.

The housing application form should be completed and mailed with the required housing deposit directly to the University Housing Office, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky 40506.

Students intending to transfer will receive an assignment to go to Lexington for the advising conference and early registration for the 1970 fall semester. The confirmation of this date assignment must be returned to the advising conference office immediately.

Students should report to Lexington on the assigned date for the advising conference and early registration. Students should take a copy of their spring semester grade reports to insure more effective counseling. Students intending to transfer to the University of Kentucky must apply by June 15. Early application means earlier acceptance. Students desiring further information should contact Robert R. Allen, Academic Dean, Prestonsburg community College.

Students Offered 15 MSU Scholarships

The school of sciences and mathematics at Morehead State University will award 15 scholarships to high school students based on competitive examinations in five academic areas.

The grants, effective this fall, are for $800, $400 and $200 in biology, chemistry, geoscience, mathematics and physics.

Brochures explaining the second annual scholarship program have been distributed to Kentucky high schools.

Applications for the examinations are available at the offices of high school principals and guidance counselors or may be obtained by writing to Dr. William C. Simpson, dean of the school of sciences and mathematics, Morehead State University, Morehead, Ky. 40351.

Week-End Retreat for Artists Slated At Natural Bridge

By HELEN PRICE STACY

SLADE, Ky.—Artists with paintings and easels will be a familiar sight at Natural Bridge State Park March 20-22 during a scheduled week-end retreat.

Art is nothing new at Natural Bridge, which is just off the Mountain Parkway near Slade. The Mountain Parkway Art Show is held there each year, and the resort's Hemlock Lodge decorates its walls with works of Kentucky artists and has for sale in its gift shop works of those and others.

Regional and out-of-state painters frequent the area in and around the park to picture the beauty of the great rocks, hills and rustic buildings along the Red River.

From Friday evening, March 20, through Sunday, lodge guests and visitors may talk with and hear lectures by Gene Gray, of Lexington, wildlife illustrator who painted the University of Kentucky Wildcat and who recently was commissioned by Morehead State University to paint a bald eagle for MSU; Charles Crume, of Louisville, now at Western Kentucky University, well known for his wildflower paintings, and Joseph Petro, of Lexington, a favorite horse painter.

Mrs. Nellie Meadows, of Clay City, who serves as coordinator for such retreats, is gaining popularity as a painter of wildflowers. She is a member of the Powell County Art Club which annually sponsors the art show at Hoedown Island, and for a number of years she has been painting flowers and scenes of the region. Two years ago she was discovered by a Lexington prints firm, and today her watercolor prints hang in Hemlock Lodge and are for sale singly or in series.

Prints of Gene Gray's animal paintings, Charles Crume's wildflowers and naturalist-artist Fay Harm's birds and flowers, those of Nellie Meadows and other artists are exhibited throughout the lodge.

Registration for the week-end begins at 6 p.m. March 20, Gene Gray talks at 8 p.m.

At 10 a.m. Saturday the speaker will be Charles Crum, and Saturday afternoon Bruce Poundstone, of the University of Kentucky, and Larry Meadows, president of the Red River Historical Museum, will lead tours of the Red River Gorge and surrounding area. At 8 p.m. Saturday, the featured speaker will be Joseph Petro, horse painter of the thoroughbred country. Sunday will be a day of leisurely tours with time for artists to sketch, paint and enjoy the park.

Artists have been asked to bring one or two paintings with easels to exhibit at the lodge over the week end. Prints of works by speaker will be given as door prizes.

Two Prosecutors Say They Like Approaches to Crime Problems

FRANKFORT, KY.—The unified court system and other proposals which the Kentucky Crime Commission is introducing in the legislature this week would improve the whole state justice system, Kentucky prosecutors say.

"It is time for the man who has been robbed, the man who is wronged, to have a simplified court system," William Grant, commonwealth's attorney at Owensboro said. "A man should not have to go to court two or three times, or have his property held as evidence for months before the trial."

Frank Benton, commonwealth's attorney at Newport, says the new court system would "upgrade our lower court system and make better use of our legally trained personnel."

On other parts of the package proposal, Grant favors the bill which would provide for supervision of every prisoner released from state correctional institutions.

"Now, it's only the better prisoner, the one who gets paroled, who receives any supervision," Grant said. "The hardened criminal, who gets no parole and finishes his sentence, gets no supervision at all." Grant says some prisoners have been paroled before their sentences are up just so they might receive supervision.

Both Benton and Grant were speakers at the recent state prosecutors' seminar at Lexington.

Another proposal would permit fines to be paid by installments. Grant said that would make legal what some courts are doing already by giving violators 90 days in which to pay their fines.

The proposal to allow police to arrest persons for minor crimes without a warrant also was praised.

"If an officer sees evidence of an attempted break-in and two suspects nearby, he cannot arrest them under our present system unless he has a warrant," Grant said. "By the time a warrant is obtained, the suspects likely will be gone."

The bill would allow an officer to arrest such suspects on "probable cause," without a warrant.

The prosecutors also like the work-release proposal, which would allow prisoners to leave their institutions to work during the day.

A man convicted on non-support could serve his sentence and still support his family under the bill.

Howard's Article Recently Published

PIKEVILLE, Ky.—An article by Richard D. Howard, Pikeville, College Staff member, and a native of Floyd county, was published recently in an international publication in the special-education field.

Howard is director of special education and coordinator of federal programs for the college.

Howard's article, "Junior Achievement and Special Education," dealing with rehabilitation resources for children with learning disabilities, appeared in "Selected Convention Papers," published in book form by the Council for Exceptional Children, Washington, D. C.

The article was based on a paper delivered by Howard at the international convention of the Council for Exceptional Children in Denver last year.

Howard is scheduled to read another paper in April at the Council's Chicago convention. That paper is based on a special-education summer institute directed by Howard last summer at Pikeville College.

He is a native of Hueysville, and has been active in special education for several years. He has developed and administered programs for the retarded from primary levels through high school.

How big IS
"the big difference"?

"Our heating costs less than it did before."

One year after switching to electric heat, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McNeely of Catlettsburg, Ky. were pleasantly surprised. "We thought it would be more, but our heating cost is running less than it did before. I'd be willing to pay more because it's better and it's safe."

"Difference? We can't see any."

Wayne Wilson of Louisa, Ky. switched to electric heat 2 years ago. "Our 8-room house is total electric . . . heating, cooking, water heating, everything—and our bill is $25 a month. That's about what we paid before for electricity and heating."

"Electric heat costs us less than the heat we had before."

"People who think electric heat is expensive sure change their minds when they find out what it really costs. I can prove it's cheaper for us by showing them our records for the last 3 years." Paul Peenington, Hazard, Ky.

You can enjoy the big difference electric heat can make in the comfort of your home at very little difference in cost. Get a free estimate from us or your Reddy Kilowatt Recommended Dealer.

PRIVACY MUST BE BUILT-IN, HOME ECONOMIST POINTS OUT

By FRANCES H. PITTS Home Economics Extension Agent

Privacy for both indoor and outdoor living areas must be planned. Decide which indoor or outdoor areas you want to protect from public view.

Whether high "ribbon" windows give privacy to a bedroom is controversial. To really get privacy, it is usually just as necessary to draw curtains and shades at these windows, as at larger ones.

Traffic noise can be a problem when you are close to a heavily traveled street or highway. The best way to shut out street noise is to air condition the house so windows and doors can be kept closed. When possible, it is good to have a windowless wall or garage facing unavoidable sources of noise.

Try to locate rooms that you want to be quiet, as far as possible from noise sources. Try to separate quiet rooms from noisy ones and build walls, ceilings and floors that reduce sound transmission.

Plan the driveway, garage, or carport so family cars can get conveniently close to the main entrances. Keep to a minimum, heat reflecting drives and patios in front of south or west glassed areas.

Conservation Study For All Ky. Pupils

A big step toward bringing conservation education to every Kentucky classroom is being taken.

The cooperative efforts of the Department of Education, the Department of Natural Resources and the Kentucky Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts will result in the formation of a new Conservation Education Council.

Before determining a plan for action, Council members will study the conservation educational programs of other states, including the teaching materials used.

On the horizon is a plan for the Council to select a curriculum guide to conservation to be distributed to all public school teachers in grades one through twelve.

Croppie Festival Slated At Western Ky. Lakes, Beginning April 1st

The first Western Kentucky Croppie Festival will get underway April 1 in the Kentucky Lake-Lake Barkley area.

Under joint sponsorship of three state agencies, the Department of Parks, Highways and Fish and Wildlife, it is anticipated that the month-long fishing festival probably will become an annual affair.

W. James Host, commissioner of Parks, said the festival idea came about because "Each year when the water temperature in the western Kentucky lakes warms up to 62 degrees the croppie begin their run, moving into their spawning grounds in shallower water."

There will be two state parks ready to accommodate fishermen during the festival. Reservations may be made by calling Kentucky Dam Village, (502) 362-4271; Kenlake State Park, (502) 474-2211, or the Department of Parks Central Reservation Service in Frankfort, (502) 223-2326.

Late in February a neighbor will call at your home to distribute heart-saving information and to receive your Heart Fund contribution. Give generously!

Truck License Cost Range, $12.50-$750

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Truck licenses are on sale, and their prices range from $12.50 to $750 per vehicle, according to gross weight (loaded).

James E. Lockett, commissioner of revenue, pointed out that the truck-licensing deadline is March 31.

Last year 67,204 farm trucks and 266,150 commercial trucks were licensed in Kentucky.

Back in 1921 there were only 15,144 trucks registered in Kentucky. In 1941, the first year the U. S. WAS IN World War II, the number rose to 81,815 and in 1961 it was 243,116.

M. P. Carpenter, director of the Motor Vehicle Division, said the truck license fee is based on a full year or on the remaining portion of the fiscal year, or quarter.

A year's fee for licensing the heaviest truck permitted to operate on Kentucky highways (one of 73,280 pounds loaded) is $750. In 1968, there were 3461 trucks licensed at that rate; 2649 (of 62,000 pounds gross weight) licensed at $588 a year, and 2264 (of 44,000 pounds) licensed at $474.

Carpenter expects about 360,000 trucks to be licensed in the state this year.

Home Ec Agents Plan 'Recruitment'

Home economics extension agents of the northeast area, meeting at the home of Mrs. Frances Pitts, February 6, made plans for a "recruitment event" for interested high school seniors and college students at the Prestonsburg Community College. The "event" is planned for Friday, April 10.

After the usual business meeting, the chairman, Miss Carol Bailey, of Pike County, conducted a discussion on plans for the recruitment event.

Because these agents are sure that more young people would enter the field of home economics if they knew what professions are available to them, they are interested in contacting the youth in this area.

Other members of the group are Sharon Keach, Carter county; Mrs. Rita Spence, Lawrence; Mrs. Cynthia Plummer, Johnson; and Mrs. Edna Taylor and Beth Burr, Pike County.

ACP Sign-Up Period To End March 20

By JIM R. CHILDERS
District Conservationist

Sign-up time has arrived again. February 1st-March 20 is the period for the spring sign-up for ACP cost-share with the federal government.

This year's program and practices are similar to those in the past. The practices available are pasture planting, renovation of pastures, liming, planting trees, spring development, ponds, pipeline, timber stand improvement, sod waterways, critical areas, terraces, diversions, chutes, stream channel work, tile drainage, land grading or shaping, subsoling, cover crops, wildlife food plots, and several other practices.

All of these practices may be cost-shared on the rate of 50 per cent. If the individual qualifies, 80 per cent cost-share may be obtained.

Plan ahead for this year and sign-up for your conservation practices now. If help is needed on the type of conservation practices needed, contact the Floyd County Soil Conservation District. The Soil Conservation technicians will be glad to assist you in the planning of your conservation practices.

The White-Robed Multitude

And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? And whence came they? And I said unto him, "Sir, thou knowest, and he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulations and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

Revelation 7:13,14. And he that taketh not his cross and followeth after me is not worthy of me. Matthew 10:38.

I like the song, "Someone bigger than you and I":
"Who made the flowers, who made the trees?
"Somebody bigger than you and I.
"Who made the mountains, who made the seas?
Somebody bigger than you and I."
Praise the Lord.

New Census Planned To Measure Decade Of Change in State

Ten years of change in Kentucky's population and housing will be measured by the 19th decennial census to be conducted throughout the nation next month by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce. The new statistics will update information last collected in the 1960 census.

Even the method of taking the census will be changed for many Americans. All householders will receive census forms by mail and will fill them out at home. In densely populated areas, including four counties in Kentucky, they will be asked to return the forms by mail to the Census Bureau. These people will be visited by census takers only if they do not return their forms. In other parts of the country, census takers will call to pick up the completed forms.

The four Kentucky counties where the new mail-out, mail-back method will be used are Jefferson, Boone, Campbell and Kenton.

Trojans-Central Clash Possible, Result of Draw

Barring the upsets which often mark basketball tournaments, Wheelwright's Trojans and the Johnson Central Indians stand a good chance of meeting in the finals of the 15th regional basketball tournament here, Saturday night.

The two net powers are in opposite brackets. But both could run into trouble in their own brackets.

Wheelwright drew Mullins for the second game Wednesday night. The tournament opened with Johns Creek meeting Warfield at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Lower bracket play will begin at 7 tonight (Thursday), with Betsy Layne, 58th district runnerup and a surprise in last week's tourney here, meeting the regional favorite, Johnson Central. In the second game of the evening Millard will meet Belfry.

The two semi-final games will be played Friday evening, at 7 and 8 o'clock, and the championship game will be at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The winner will go next week to Freedom Hall, Louisville, for a crack at the state crown.

Gene Davis is manager of the regional here.

'Youth Conservation' Discussed by Howard

"Conservation of Youth" with special emphasis on the retarded, crippled, and disturbed was the subject for discussion at the February program meeting of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club held at the home of Mrs. John Reed, Wayland. Richard Howard, director of special education and head of special programs, Pikeville College, was guest-speaker.

By displaying the gnarled trunk of a young tree that had originally started growing straight and tall, but had been entwined and overcome at a point in its growth by a parasite and was later able to throw it off and thus resume its normal growth, Mr. Howard illustrated the similarity between the growth of a young person from infancy and early childhood into the maze of teenage problems that often cripple and damage a young person's growth into maturity unless help is given at an early stage. With special help at the proper time, good growth can continue.

"Be concerned about youth today," urged Mr. Howard. "We lose 35 out of every 100 who enter high school. Sixty-five percent of those entering the first grade never finish high school. Out of 10,400 in school, 700 are in need of special services of some kind. There are 1152 retardants; 51 are having some of their needs met," continued the speaker. He further quoted statistics proving the value in dollars and cents of educating the educable retarded and taking them off the welfare roll. He pointed out that by placing the trained retarded in jobs they can do makes for top-notch work performance and a very small percent of absenteeism.

Mrs. J. T. Spillman was program leader for the occasion and also led in devotions prior to the program.

During the business meeting following the program it was reported by Mrs. S. M. Martin that $39.47 had been collected for the March of Dimes. The club also voted to donate $40 to Trooper Island to pay for one boy's week's vacation at that camp. Mrs. Marcellous Dunfee and Mrs. Jackie Lawson volunteered to help at Garrett with the Heart Drive. Fourteen dozen cupcakes were taken to the patients of the Golden Years Rest Home, Lackey, on Valentine's Day. Two American flags have been ordered and will be displayed at Garrett and Wayland and litter barrels have been procured and are being painted to be placed in the three communities of Lackey, Garrett, and Wayland.

Mrs. Earl Castle, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, and Mrs. John Reed, hostesses, served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Jackie Lawson, Mrs. Blanche Bamer, Mrs. Margaret Thiessen and Mrs. Anna Alexander, honorary members, Mrs. Marcella Bradley, Mrs. Lula Coburn, Mrs. Marcellous Dunfee, Mrs. Beulah Collins, Mrs. M. M. Collins, Mrs. Alice Hornsby, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. James E. Martin, Mrs. Otto Martin, Mrs. N. D. Howard, Pikeville, guest, and Richard Howard, the speaker.

DDT Threat to All Living Things Cited

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Many persons believe the main danger to the future of hunting and fishing lies in loss of food and cover; lawlessness of the participants which can cover a multitude of sins; clean farming and destruction of stream banks; expansion of urban areas and generally the population explosion.

These incidents all will have a bearing on the future of birds and animals and fishes, to be sure, but one of the most overlooked dangers lies in the deadly pesticides that are flooding the hunting fields and waters.

When the polar bear in the highly remote Antarctic is found to harbour DDT in its fatty tissues it is pretty evident that all birds and animals and fishes also must be affected.

Dr. Burt L. Monroe, Jr., Department of Biology of the University of Louisville, is one of the most knowledgeable persons in the state and perhaps in the nation concerning the dangers of hard pesticides. Recently he prepared a story on their dangers. He has given permission for its use in this column. We urge all to read Dr. Monroe's report:

The persistent or "hard" pesticides, the chlorinated hydrocarbons (of which the particularly bad offenders are DDT, dieldrin, aldrin, heptachlor, toxaphene, chlordane, endrin, and their residues), do not break down in the environment. Half of the DDT now floating around in the world will still be there ten years from now, even if usage is halted instantly. These pesticides are stored in animal fat and are concentrated tremendously in food chains (for example, a microscopic animal takes in some DDT from the water in which it lives, then is eaten by a slightly larger crustacean, which is then eaten by a small fish, which forms food for a large fish such as a bass; by the time the DDT reaches the bass, it may be concentrated 100,000 times or more above environmental concentration!) Several documented fish kills have resulted from this concentration effect, and kills of robins (from eating contaminated worms in areas sprayed for Dutch elm disease) and fish-eating birds have also been studied. One well-documented case in Clear Lake, California, which was sprayed with DDD (less toxic than its relative DDT) in a quantity of about a few drops of DDD in a railroad tank car (!) resulted in kills of grebes (fish-eating birds) due to biological concentration in the grebes of 80,000 times that of the lake.

DDT is so long lasting that is now contaminates the oceans of the world and has been found in seals and penguins in the Antarctic. These pesticides are extremely harmful to large birds, since concentrations at levels too low to kill the birds still stop their reproduction by disrupting calcium deposition in the eggs, thus the birds lay eggs with thin shells (or even no shells at all) and break them in the nest. Reproductive failure occurred in all California colonies of the Brown Pelican in 1969, and this bird is now also doomed to extinction on the coast. The Bald Eagle, along with the Osprey and the Peregrin Falcon, are declining rapidly in reproductive rates and will also become extinct if pesticides are not controlled very soon.

DDT disrupts photosynthesis in algae (microscopic plants) in the ocean, upon which the human race is dependent for 70 per cent of the oxygen we breathe. In many birds and mammals, DDT disrupts reproductive behavior producing many abnormalities and resulting in reproductive failure. Although we do not know for sure what concentrations in man will cause these effects, can we risk it? Already the average American has about 12 parts per million in his fatty tissue, more than twice the level allowed in food by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Since substitute pesticides are available, although more expensive, we cannot risk the future of our wildlife and ultimately of man himself by continued usage of the persistent pesticides.

We're not asking for the Moon!

We're asking for four basic needs of education

- Professional Negotiation: This would establish the legal process by which school districts can tap the experience of teachers in the improvement of conditions of teaching.
- Removal of the Limitation on Local School Tax Rates: This is a step in restoring some of the local control needed by school boards in meeting the growing and changing needs of local schools.
- Fringe Benefits: This would allow school boards to participate in several employee-benefit programs such as group insurance, personal leave provisions, sick leave programs, professional improvement programs and retirement improvements.
- Cost-of-Living Application to the State Minimum Salary Provisions: During the 1969 calendar year, the cost of living rose over six percent. Kentucky teachers rank 41st in the nation in average classroom salaries.

KEA Reviews Strike, Sees Future Action

Special to Theats

LOUISVILLE, KY.—Kucky's massive statewide work stoppage eachers, which growing numbers had led daily until court injunctions began cing them back to school, was called off rich 2 with a "no surrender" vow by the Kucky Education Association (KEA) Delite Assembly.

"This is merely the end Phase One and the beginning of Phase Two," Dr. Kenneth Estes, KEA president, told the cheering delegates, who gave go-ahead for a series of actions designed to achieve KEA's four equal legislative priorities.

Heading the "Phase Two" list are (1) a sanctions investigation set to begin this week, that could lead (National Education Association (NEA) picketing of Kentucky for its failure to support good schools, (2) an intensive 4-week advertising campaign to augment local association efforts to build public backing, and (3) designation of Thursday and Friday of this week as "stay-away-in-Frankfort" days to give legislators chance to show they will, as they have said, act on KEA legislation if teachers and parents leave them alone.

At the height of the statewide work stoppage, which ben Monday, February 23, more than 25,000 of Kentucky's 32,000 teachers and administrators in 122 of the state's 193 public school systems were strike participants.

Paducah Educator Association members were the first to be forced back to school after the al board of education obtained a temporary injunction that went into effect Feb. 23. A temporary injunction issued the following day against the Fayette County Igeat Association, in the state's third lgeat school system, was followed by th same action Saturday against the Jerson County Teachers Association, in the state's largest system, and the Louisiv Education Association, in the second lgeat system.

KEA had aded members to obey all court orders, piding appeals that will be made.

Of the woristoppage, KEA president Estes said, "The KEA stood tall this past week. Who wdd have ever believed that almost 90 pernt of the teachers in this state would te the kind of dramatic action we have taken to bring our demands for better edation to the attention of our legislators at the public? We now have their undivid attention."

KEA bo'd member Joe Roach, Louisville, ld delegates that "To those who are ruing around the marble halls of Frankfort ying 'Peace,' I want to say the war has ju' begun."

In addition to approving "Phase Two" steps, the KEA Delegate Assembly also:

1. Direct the KEA board of directors to begin imrdiately to establish a statewide political tion arm of KEA and develop guideline for such arms in local and-or district lication associations in Kentucky. Aolitical action arm independent of KEA old accept contributions and give financiaupport to candidates it endorsed.

2. Postoned until its regular meeting in April arecommendation from the Edmonson County Education Association and the Ohio County Education Association that "in vie of recent stands taken by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA) in regard to the activity of the KEA, new athletic association be formed under te direct government of the KEA." Meanwhile, the KEA board of directors was instructed to study the matter and suggest alternative methods of carrying out the recommendation.

Delegates also adopted a resolution to "censre the KHSAA for its action and statements during the work stoppage" and to "gant the KHSAA an opportunity to 'clear house' at a general meeting of its member ship before or during the April meeting of KEA." Another resolution directed that the KHSAA board of control and its commissioner be notified that the KEA Delegate Assembly "deplores their actions during the KEA work stoppage." The KHSAA had refused to postpone district and state basketball tournaments during the stoppage and had said that any team failing to show up after being committed to play would be liable for a one-year suspension.

3. Voted unanimously to send official notification to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell Butler "that we deplore his stand on the teachers' efforts in Kentucky during the work stoppage." Butler spoke out frequently against the work stoppage.

Speaker after speaker at the highspirited meeting last night at Louisville's Ahrens Trade High School drew ovations for statements critical of politicians and supportive of KEA.

NEA President George Fischer, speaking for the more than 1.1-million-member group to which every KEA member belongs, told delegates, "You've brought together more than three-quarters of your professional membership in one of the largest demonstrations that has ever ben accomplished."

"You have an impressive list of accomplishments. You have ben the daily number one news story for at least 10 days. The political parties in the Capitol are now blaming each other for failing education," Fischer said.

"You've got their attention now, but get ready for the long pull. You represent the largest political group in Kentucky and you are by far the best educated and the most influential. From now on you're not Democrats and you're not Republicans. You've got one party and that's education." "Watch how they vote," Fischer urged. "Mark them."

He said NEA is going to stay with KEA in the battle to win the four legislative priorities—a professional negotiation law, fringe-benefits legislation, removal of the limitation on local school-tax-rates, and a cost-of-living increase of 6 percent on the base salary as indexed in the foundation program.

In addition to $145,000 and large numbers of staff workers now in Kentucky, NEA is sending another $50,000 this week to contribute to the new advertising campaign, Fischer said.

Another speaker, Northern Kentucky Education Association president George Houston of Dayton, won lengthy applause with a pointed remark that "the legislature is spending $100,000 to study education; we're going to study them (legislators), too, for the next two years and the results will be announced at the next election." Houston was referring to a Democratic proposal to set up a Survey Commission on Public Education (SCOPE) with a $100,000 appropriation.

Mrs. Frances Miller of Fairview, a KEA board member, told delegates the strike "demonstrated we will use drastic action when our cause is just. And our cause is just."

Among the strike accomplishments listed by Mrs. Miller were these:

1. We have informed the public, aroused their interest, and begun to create public understanding and support.

2. We have awakened the legislature to the fact that education in Kentucky is in trouble.

3. We have greatly improved teacher-community unity.

4. We have established teachers as first-class, politically conscious citizens.

5. We have improved the understanding and support of the major news media of the state.

6. We have focused the needs of education on the public conscience.

7. We have shaken some halos, bringing about a shifting of leadership.

8. We have boosted the morale of many teachers.

9. We have stimulated a determined attitude to be professional participants in programs that affect us.

10. We have learned that if we continue our efforts during the next three weeks we will accomplish our goals.

total of such actions may grow to nearer 50, it was said here.
Construction of the highway from Allen south to Pikeville along the route followed by the present US 23 poses a big problem for the department's right-of-way department. Handling of traffic, once work gets under way, presents another. Improvement of the road up Indian Creek to Abner Fork and down Left Beaver Creek is being studied as a possible traffic detour. Another possible detour route is down Johns Creek from a point near Pikeville.

and janitors were subpoenaed by the Save-Our-School committee to appear as witnesses at the hearing scheduled that day.
The injunction action claimed that as a result of the picketing 31.2 per cent of Martin elementary pupils and 14.4 per cent of the high school students were absent from class on March 4.

It also alleged that the 22 persons named as defendants and others "threaten to continue to picket, harass, intimidate and thwart the orderly conduct of the classes..." It added that the school system will suffer financially at the rate of $1.50 per day for each child who is absent, and that this amount cannot be recovered, and pointed out that students may be prevented from graduating from high school or being promoted in the grades.

Listed as defendants were Joe T. Hyden, Dixie Hyden, Johnie Sizemore, Alma Key, Jean Watson, Ella Robinson, Rita Lafferty, Charles Lafferty, Theda Barnett, Winnie Dingus, Bill Wells, Nadine Conley, Grace Flannery, Everett Akers, Wilda Stout, William Petry, Jake Layne, Franklin Salisbury, Maggie Hughes Hayes, Lorie Vannucci, Clynard Jones, June Jones.

In Memoriam

In memory of my husband, John E. Lafferty:

The rain had come down so hard and fast, on the morning of March 12, 1963, we had to leave our house—didn't realize, John, that this was the last here on earth.

At 7:15 you left me so sad and I miss you so much, but one thing I know, you have gone to rest, and live with the Heavenly Host.

Some day, dear children, you will miss us both, for I am going to rest with your dad and the angel host.

resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

- 1 Higher resale value. Year after year. No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment.
- 2 Deep down value. Exclusives like flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.
- 3 Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs, Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system.
- 4 Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.
- 5 Massive interiors. Result? Room to stretch out or to sit tall. Chevrolet has more front leg room than any other car in its field.
- 6 Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.
- 7 A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other cars in Chevy's field don't have a Magic-Mirror finish because it sure keeps its shine.
- 8 Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five more engines available.
- 9 Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of fabrics. And of models. There are nine big Chevrolets alone.
- 10 America's favorite. Something a new "something else" can't claim. If actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you?
