

Help from Many Sources Make New Church Near Here Possible

A church community which for several years has used school buildings and even its church bus for Sunday School rooms is now in brand new, brick building which was recently completed at a cost approximating $35,000.

The 88 by 36-foot structure accommodates 150 for both Sunday School and worship services at Fitzpatrick Baptist Mission, located near the junction of the Mountain Parkway and the David road. It has central heat and air-conditioning, but yet lacks a piano and church furniture.

The new church is a dream-come-true for Carl Chaffins, Jr., its lay-minister-pastor, who effectively pleaded with the "mother church," Irene Cole Memorial in Prestonsburg, the Middle Creek community's need of an adequate building. He was joined by volunteer workers in the community in the actual construction work, and financial help came from an area of the state far removed from Floyd county.

Weeksbury Wins 2nd Development Award

For the second year in a row the town of Weeksbury last Saturday won the top rural-nonfarm award in the Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development competition.

The onetime Floyd coal mining center, considered a model of community pride and industry despite its loss of its once-booming coal industry, beat out Thelma, Johnson county, site of a multi-million-dollar rehabilitation center now under construction, and Davey's Run, Carter county, for the top award in its division. Its community development group was awarded a $150 cash prize and road signs which proclaim the community's part in the development program.

Grayson won the village division of the contest, with Salyersville second, and Cranston was the winner in the farm community classification, followed by Flat Gap and Burgett.

Weeksbury won the top award in its classification for the second time because of its concerted and successful efforts which removed from it all appearance of a "ghost town." Those participating in the community effort — 215 persons who pay $1-a-year club membership dues and any others who wish to have a part — during the year have painted or whitewashed the community center and playground, added furnishings to both, staged cleanup drives, cooperated with other nearby communities in effecting extension of central water supplies, razed and sold four old mine buildings, organized packs of Cub, Brownie, Cadet and Junior Scouts and have under organization senior Boy and Girl Scout groups. Family groups have contributed to the overall program by demonstrating to the poor better use of food stamps and health services and the production of hooked rugs for home use.

The Community Development Club there continues to rent a building used as a community workshop. Almost 100 percent of the 200 families are making home improvements of one kind or another; about 60 of the homes have siding of some kind, 31 homes have been painted this year, fifteen new families have moved into the community, and most of these have bought homes there.

The community playground provides recreation which includes softball, basketball, football, horseshoe pitching, (See Story No. 2, Page 12)

KAI Action Says Material Faulty, Damages Sought

Kentucky Appalachian Industries, Inc. (KAI) of Prestonsburg last Wednesday filed suit in circuit court here for $118,171 damages allegedly incurred when materials purchased from a New York firm failed to measure up to standards required in filling a U. S. government order for wet-weather parkas.

The action, filed against Tan-Tex Industries Corp., says that during 1969 and 1970 KAI purchased from the New York firm a large quantity of coated fabric to be used in filling the government order. It also claims that Tan-Tex warranted that the product complied with provisions and specifications of the U. S. government and was suitable for the purpose for which it was intended, but that the warranties and representations were not true.

(At one time KAI reported that a layoff of employees was the result of defective materials purchased to fill a U.S. government order.)

The First National Bank here also was named in the suit as KAI asked that it be restrained from sending to Tan-Tex monies now in its possession.

Ruling Holds Sheriff Advance Fees Illegal

The sheriff of Floyd county, or any other Kentucky county, may not demand and collect in advance a fee for arresting a person charged in a warrant, the office of Attorney General John B. Breckinridge has held.

The opinion was given by Charles W. Runyon, assistant attorney general, to Everett Collins, of Weeksbury, who questioned the legality of the $7 charge made by Sheriff Frank Leslie for this service.

Asked for comment on the opinion, Sheriff Leslie pointed out that the charge is a plain economic necessity. He said the fiscal court has allowed him only $75 a month for the operation of two automobiles—far below the amount needed to cover operation expenses—and that he is required to serve all legal papers in juvenile and insanity cases without charge. Except for one car, deputies operate their cars at their own expense, depending solely

Low Court Jury System Is Dropped

Stumbo Acts After High Court Ruling Voiding Injunction

County Judge Henry Stumbo has announced his intention of dispensing with the jury system recently initiated in the Floyd quarterly court.

Trial of quarterly court cases has been held in one-week sessions the last two months, with jurors' names drawn from the jury drum for each entire term. Jurors were seated at the request of defendants, who paid jurors for their services.

The result has been a heavy rate of convictions and stiffer penalties for those convicted.

Judge Stumbo's decision to dispense with juries after an Appellate Court decision was made a few days ago in the case which resulted in regular jury panels here, to start with. This decision dissolved the injunction issued on petition of Clyde Blackburn, Landon Charles and Clarence Martin, who demanded that the court comply with the law and empanel juries by drawing from a jury drum, as is done in circuit court.

Judge Stumbo said the calling of jurors has been working a hardship on citizens, many of whom come here, are not seated for jury service and so are not paid. Those who served were paid $1.50 per trial but could not draw more than $3 a day, regardless of the number of cases they heard. He added that he had hoped to include jury pay in the county budget but that the Appellate Court decision forestalled this move.

The injunction was dissolved by Chief Justice Edward P. Hill primarily on the grounds that "appellees have a remedy by appeal," leaving the case to be tried on its merits and thus moving toward a decision (See Story No. 4, Page 12)

This Town . . . That World

CORRECTION

Had a feeling last week when I dwelt at some length, editorially, on the vagaries of the postal system that I would get my routings wrong. And I did. My citing of Auxier as a point to which mail should move, directly from here, and without delay, was unfortunate. Auxier is on a direct route and its mail does not go hither and yon, as I said, before reaching its destination. I apologize, and move on down the road from Auxier a mere whoop-and-a-holler to East Point which could be reached from here by the same poor mule referred to, and in three hours, but which must wait for its mail, at certain times, till it first takes a trip upriver.

WARNING

One of the several star campers in our family has borrowed a trap that in other days was popularly known as a "hoover box," hoping to ensnare therein one of the numerous bobcats reported to be in the Dewey Lake area. I have not lodged any formal protest against the idea, nor have I viewed the possible results with undue alarm, but I confidently predict that some fine morning this camper-trapper will go to the aforementioned box to see what has wandered inside during the night and will find comfortably ensconced therein a cat of another persuasion . . . I repeat, I am not against the idea, but I am serving notice: When it happens, don't come yelling to me to open the door and let nice kitty go free. (See Story No. 3, Page 12)

Gene Ball Slated For Area Position

Gene Ball, county agent of Floyd county and area specialist in Resource Development for the five Big Sandy counties, has accepted the position of area specialist in Community Resource Development for 10 Northeastern counties, it was announced last week by Logan Louderback, area director for the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Lower Tax Rate Set for Schools By Fiscal Court

The only reduction made in the tax rate approved last Tuesday by the Floyd fiscal court for 1970 taxes is on real estate and personal property, which was reduced from 50.6 cents per $100 assessment to 49 cents.

The rate schedule adopted is based on the assessment as certified by the Department of Revenue and is designed to meet the budget adopted earlier and totalling $318,275.

All other tax rates set stand unchanged from the 1969 figures. They are:

Real estate and personal property, county, 17 cents per $100 valuation; bank shares, 38 cents for schools, 19 cents for county; health, 2.9 cents; library, 1.6 cents; county extension tax, 1 cent; gym tax, 7.5 cents; common school poll tax, $2; county poll, $1.50; timber, 2 cents per acre.

Big Haul Made By Ky. Troopers In Raid on Cook

One of the heaviest hauls made in recent months by officers in raids in this county was recorded last Friday when state troopers arrested Sherman Cook at Drift and confiscated 65 half-pints of whiskey, 37 half-pints of gin, 36 half-pints of vodka and 1184 cans of beer.

Cook, who was arrested by Troopers Rose, Castle, Brenner and Ross, was booked at the county jail on a possession charge.

Two Floyd men were arrested at the mouth of Jack's Creek last Wednesday by Deputy Sheriffs Dester Hamilton and Ray Adkins, who booked both on the charge of transporting alcoholic beverages in dry territory. First of the two arrested was Glenn Moore, of Melvin, from whose vehicle seven cases of beer and one case of whiskey were taken. Arrested the same day and at the same place was Larry Newsom, of Beaver, from whom 14 cases of beer were taken. Both were booked in Magistrate Eddie Caudill's court.

Two men were jailed here within the week by Trooper Gary Rose on auto theft counts. They are Alvin Branham, Jr. and Homer Stanley. Others booked:

George Eugene Hindych, no operator's license, by Constable Gillis Conn; George Conn, resisting arrest, by Constable Conn; Everett Johnson, Jr., drunk driving, by Trooper Rose; Crit Butler, no operator's license, by Troopers Rose and Thornsberry; Glo Shepherd, drunk driving, by Trooper Thornsberry; Winsell Spurlock, drunk driving, by Trooper Thornsberry.

Dates, Hours Set For Blood Sampling

Blood samples will be taken at the Floyd County Health Department only during these designated days and hours, it was announced Monday:

Monday, 8-12 noon and 1-4 p.m.; Tuesday, 8-12 noon and 1-4 p.m.; Wednesday, 8-12 noon and 1-2 p.m.

Due to the fact that blood samples must be in the State Health Department in Frankfort at a definite time, this schedule will be observed.

'Little Mary Sunshine' To Open

LITTLE MARY SUNSHINE, a musical adventure of old Colorado, opens at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre this week to run Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays, July 16-August 1.

Set high in the Colorado Rockies at the turn of the century, LITTLE MARY SUNSHINE is an affectionate look at the musicals of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy. Little Mary, the owner of the Colorado Inn, is played by Connie O'Connell. Her handsome leader of the Forest Rangers, Big Jim Warrington is played by Donovan Sylvest. Rhonda Neswitz and Kirk Kirkpatrick play Nancy Twinkle and Billy Jester, the character juveniles ready to go into a soft-shoe routine at the slightest suggestion. Lisa Galloway plays Madame Ernestine, a retired opera singer and film star; Thomas Kirk plays General Oscar Fairfax. Tim Toney plays Chief Brown Bear, Mary's foster Indian father, and Mark Gallaher plays the savage Yellow Indian, who tied Little Mary to a tree as the high point of the adventure.

The twenty-four song score that includes "Look for a Sky of Blue," "Colorado Love Call," and "Once in a Blue Moon" is directed by Benjamin Keaton. The play is directed by Ronald G. Paoliolo.

Population Loss To Cause Change; LRC Begins Study

As a result of the population loss shown by the 1970 census, Floyd county is certain to lose one seat in the Kentucky House of Representatives before next year's elections roll around.

The county now has two legislative districts, but its current population, which on the basis of preliminary census returns is 34,751—6,891 less than 10 years ago—will justify only one. A population of about 30,000 is required for a legislative district, and Floyd county barely managed to squeeze past this criteria 10 years ago and qualify for two representatives.

The same law population figures recorded by the latest census also will result in a shifting of boundary lines of the 29th senatorial district which now is composed of Floyd, Knott and Martin counties. The population requirement per district will rise from about 70,000 to 78,000, and, since the three counties now comprising the 29th have a population of slightly less than 60,000 another county will probably be added to it.

Governor Nunn already has indicated he will call a special General Assembly session to do the work of redistricting that the census makes necessary. This will probably be delayed till January, after the 1970 census figures become official. If, for any reason, redistricting is not done before the May, 1971 primary, state representatives and senators would be required to run, statewide. This happened in Illinois in recent years.

Although the special redistricting session is not expected before January, the Legislation Research Commission last week authorized its staff to begin studying the population figures. Rep. W. J. Reynolds, of Allen, a member of the LRG, said the study is being made with a view to recommending district changes necessary to comply with the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling.

Turnkey Is Slain At Pike-Co. Jail As Three Escape

One of three men sought since Sunday night when they fled the Pike county jail after the slaying of a deputy jailer was captured Monday night on Chloe Creek, near Pikeville, and a widespread manhunt for his companions continued Tuesday.

Eugene McCoy, 22, was arrested by state troopers and Pike county officers and returned to jail. Still in hiding are Willie Lee Little, 19, of Dorton, and Richard Lewis Bridgeman, 22, of Collins, Pike county.

The escape was made after Glenn Moore, 32, jail turnkey, was slain and the jail keys taken from his person.

Moore, a native of Shelbyville, was shot in the face with a single revolver bullet as he was returning to the jail a trusty from a work detail. Authorities did not say which of the three men fired the shot, but the shooting was witnessed by the trusty and two other prisoners, it was said. Time of the slaying was placed at 10:45 p.m. The bullet struck Moore in his upper lip, passed through his head and snapped the spinal cord, the report received here says.

The murder weapon apparently was smuggled into the jail, earlier in the day.

Eugene McCoy was being held in jail, facing a charge of attacking Mary I. Spillman, former Pikeville College teacher. Little had two months of a jail term to serve for breaking and entering, and Bridgeman had served about six weeks of a six-month term for petty larceny.

Moore is survived by four brothers and one sister. He was a son of the late Sherman and Louise Moore.

Detour Job Included In $460,156 Marked For Floyd Highways

Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss last week announced a 1970-71 rural secondary highway program allotment of $460,156.30 for Floyd county.

Included in the initial program are maintenance of 105.3 miles of county roads and six road improvement projects.

Bituminous surfacing is planned for 4.8 miles of Emma-Endicott-Thomas road and for 1.1 mile of the Bull Creek road.

Bituminous resurfacing is planned for 4.6 miles of the Jack's Creek Road; 7.4 miles of the Emma-Endicott-Thomas road; 7.5 miles of Martin-West Prestonsburg road, and 1.2 mile of KY 7 (Buckingham road). Funds for Rural Secondary projects come from two cents of the seven-cent-per-gallon motor fuel tax.

The Emma-Endicott-Thomas road work is being done to provide a detour for US 23 traffic while that route is being rebuilt between Allen and Pikeville.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Other Side Of the Liquor 'Coin'

Editor, The Times:

I object strongly to the letter by George Mathews in this week's (July 9) Times.

From what Mr. Mathews has to say about the control or lack of control of illegal whiskey sales in Floyd county, it is impossible to determine where he stands or what he believes concerning bootlegging in the county. First he says the "Gestapo" wage an unrelenting war on bootlegging, and then implicates the authorities in the process they so vehemently pursue in the other direction. I suggest the only Hase Mr. Mathews saw on that day in 1954 was probably the hase in his own mind. It is apparent that Mr. Mathews has succumbed to the prejudicial myth of the mountaineer and his whiskey.

Prejudice against mountaineers does not seem to be the only one harbored by Mr. Mathews. He doesn't seem to think much of colored soldiers from Texas or girls from Alabama either. His point of view concerning public drunkenness seems totally distorted. Mathews says he has seen seven drunken people in his place in 17 years, but did he mean to suggest that someone in Floyd county drank 250 cases of whiskey on one day in 1954? When studied from an unbiased point of view, the statements from the authority of one day's experience in 1954 become ridiculous.

Incidentally, my point of view is not unbiased. It is difficult to speculate what the effects of legal whiskey would be on Floyd county, but I have seen places that are wet and places that are dry. Each day on my way to the University I pass through a section of Lexington thickly populated with taverns. Often in the afternoons (I haven't been here 17 years), one can see senseless men on the street throwing bricks or bottles at each other, and men and women slapping each other in the face, not because of concern for the condition of the other, but because they have imbibed to the point of abandon. Here there is a killing a day (average for the year), usually for money or the result of a drunken argument. When there is the infrequent killing in the mountains, it almost always involves honor. I am not saying that drinking and killing do not occur in both areas. I am saying that, compared to some other areas of the State, Floyd county has relatively fewer problems of the nature of those involving drinking.

Mr. Mathews suggests the best way to control drinking is by state-owned liquor stores. How much control? How, as he implies, would this stop deaths from drunk driving? Would the state then be responsible for deaths on the highway or by persons under the influence of a device under the control of the state? I think not. I also think Mr. Mathews' analysis and solution of the liquor problem in Floyd county are just as distorted.

The Candidates Take a Stand

The next Democratic nominee for the office of Governor has already committed himself to the task of protecting Kentucky from the ravages of auger- and strip-mining, even to the extent that he is pledged to outlaw it where reclamation is impossible.

That is to say, both Former Governor Bert T. Combs and Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford — one of whom will surely be the Democratic nominee — have taken a stand as forthright on this highly explosive issue as any candidate could be expected to take.

The positions both men have taken is encouraging — especially so, in view of the fact that the present administration has done as little as humanly possible to face up to the problem.

Ex-Governor Combs already had given encouraging signs of getting down to brass tacks on this matter. In his statement made upon announcing his candidacy he pledged the appointment of a commissioner — a commissioner, not a commission, a man with cabinet status — to handle this tough problem.

We hail this statement, because we take it to mean that he would name a man with authority to act; that if his appointee did not act he would answer directly to the man who appointed him — and that if the Governor encouraged him in doing nothing the people would not be blaming the mess upon a commission of several men but upon one man, the Governor himself.

We realize that neither candidate for the governorship wants to discourage or ruin any Kentucky industry. Nobody does. But they have, voluntarily or no, been obliged to decide a greater question, and that is — Shall any industry be permitted to ruin Kentucky, or any part thereof?

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore . . .

"Landmarks"

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D.

It is a bit sad to contemplate how rapidly well-known landmarks of one time and place may disappear within a few decades. When I stop to ask the way to some place not reached by a numbered highway, I often get some folkish directions that smack of old, old times. "Go up this road about a mile, turn right at the old Jones Place, and go three more miles." Unfortunately, I do not know about the old Jones Place, and I have to have the directions explained all over again. Everybody in that area knows about the old Jones Place; why, it was settled away back just after the Revolutionary War, and the Jones family has always been prominent in the church, in politics, and in neighborhood affairs. I regret that I just did not know about the family and the fine old house. I'll remember the next time and be able to tell someone else who has a hard time finding his way around.

Old deeds amuse me, especially those in this part of the state, where the land is not laid off in townships. Down Fidelity way, we knew directions by fences, for we had sections and quarter sections and townships. Even there, however, some funny wording appeared and still appears in deeds and other such papers: "Beginning at a stump of a chestnut tree," no longer there, and so on. One of my ancestors, away back in the 1700's, got his Revolutionary War land grant in Middle Tennessee. According to the family tradition, he personally aided the surveyors as they marked off his 640 acres, a square mile, but this farm did not follow any of the figures found in a geometry book: It had eleven corners. You see, when the owner found the surveyors were getting into rather rocky or unproductive land, he suggested that they establish a new line, to take in better soil. And the surveyors followed his suggestion; whether there were later lawsuits about those zigzag boundary lines I did not learn. I hope the modern surveyors can find their way around from the blackjack tree, which died in the early 1800's, and be sure that any purchaser of my ancestral acres gets all the land he is entitled to.

To me as I have watched Bowling Green grow from a small county-seat town into a rather large city, the passing of landmarks has been a sort of sad procession, always going on, and greatly accelerated in the last fifteen years. Old Osage orange hedges, remnants of fences left over from the earliest days of settlement in the prairie, the Barrens, began to disappear some twenty years ago. When tractors and bulldozers became common, these leftovers went in a hurry, so that I often find myself wondering why I cannot recognize areas where I used to study birds, some of them within a hundred yards of my own home. Rows and rows of new or newish houses now stand where cows and I were the only living objects not too many years ago. A very large farm, a few miles out of the town as it used to be, used to seem far away and primitive. A hike out that way might bring a good view of a red fox or almost any number of small animals. Unlike Jamshyd, in Omar's poem, the times are reversed, so that mansions rise where not too long ago the lion and the lizard or their American counterparts roamed. Where is the old Smith house now?

An elderly man came back to my town some forty years ago, the first time he had been here since Civil War times. He suggested to his son that they take a walk, for he wanted to taste the fine water from a spring he knew well when he was a soldier here. Unerringly he walked right to it, some two hundred yards from the house in which I have lived for better than a half century. I knew the spring, too, but would have a hard time finding it now; as a landmark it has gone underground, like so many of the creeks in which Isaak Walton used to fish, back in the days of the Stuarts. Those landmarks and my less-well-known ones have been covered up or shunted into sewers; even the spring that caused the first settlement of Bowling Green, which did last down into my time but has now flowed above ground for forty years or more.

The Bible Holds True

By TOM ANDERSON

(In his American Way Features column, "Straight Talk")

Recent amazing developments in the space program show by computer that the sun really did stand still as the Bible says. Mr. Harold Hill, president of the Curtis Engine Company in Baltimore, Md., and a consultant in the space program, relates the following:

"I think one of the most amazing things that God has for us today happened recently to our astronauts and space scientists at Green Belt, Md. They were checking the position of the sun, moon, and planets out in space where they would be 100 years and 1,000 years from now. We have to know this so we don't send a satellite up and have it bump into something later on in its orbits. We have to lay out the orbits in terms of the life of the satellite, and where the planets will be so the whole thing will not bog down! They ran the computer measurement back and forth over the centuries and it came to a halt. The computer stopped and put up a red signal, which meant that there was something wrong either with the information fed into it or with the results as compared to the standards. They called in the service department to check it out, and they said, 'It's perfect.' The head of operations said, 'What's wrong?' 'Well, they have found there is a day missing in space in elapsed time.' They scratched their heads and tore their hair. There was no answer!

"One religious fellow on the team said, 'You know, one time I was in Sunday school and they talked about the sun standing still.' They didn't believe him, but they didn't have any other answer so they said, 'Show us.' He got a Bible and went back to the book of Joshua where they found a pretty ridiculous statement for anybody who has 'common sense.' There they found the Lord saying to Joshua, 'Fear them not for I have delivered them into thine hand; there shall not a man of them stand before thee.' Joshua was concerned because he was surrounded by the enemy, and if darkness fell they would overpower them. So Joshua asked the Lord to make the sun stand still! That's right—'The sun stood still, and the moon stayed. . . . and hasted not to go down about a whole day' (Joshua 10:8, 12-13). The space men said, 'There is the missing day!' They checked the computers going back into the time it was written and found it was close but not close enough. The elapsed time that was missing back in Joshua's day was 23 hours and 20 minutes—not a whole day. They read the Bible and there it was—'about (approximately) a whole day.'

"These little words in the Bible are important. But they were still in trouble because if you cannot account for 40 minutes you'll still be in trouble 1,000 years from now. Forty minutes had to be found because it can be multiplied many times over in orbits. This religious fellow also remembered somewhere in the Bible where it said the sun went backwards. The space men told him he was out of his mind. But they got out the Book and read these words in 2 Kings: Hezekiah, on his death-bed, was visited by the prophet Isaiah who told him that he was not going to die. Hezekiah asked for a sign of proof. Isaiah said, 'Do you want the sun to go ahead ten degrees?' Hezekiah said, 'It's nothing for the sun to go ahead ten degrees, but let the shadow return backward ten degrees (2 Kings 20:9-11). Isaiah spoke to the Lord and the Lord brought the shadow ten degrees backward! Ten degrees is exactly 40 minutes in Joshua, plus 40 minutes in 2 Kings make the missing 24 hours the space travelers had to log in the logbook as being the missing day in the universe! Isn't that amazing? Our God is rubbing their noses in His Truth!"

Castle with Team Doing A Social Survey

TOPEKA, KAN.—Senior Master Sergeant Frankie O. Castle, son of Mrs. Gladys M. Castle of Price, Ky., is a member of a special U. S. Air Force aerial survey team that has been conducting aerial mapping photography in South America.

Sergeant Castle is a metalworking superintendent with the Air Force's Aerospace Cartographic and Geodetic Service (ACGS), headquartered at Forbes AFB, Kan., which has been flying over the peaks of the Andes Mountains to photograph some 25,000 square miles of the border between Chile and Argentina.

Aerial photography—the end result of the project—may better determine the exact international boundary between Argentina and Chile. Requested by the two South American countries, the project began in late January and was suspended in May because of snow cover and atmospheric conditions.

The sergeant, who has served in Vietnam, is a 1952 graduate of Man (W. Va.) high school. His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mathes, of Salina, Kansas.

Whatever Things

By DONALD E. WILDMON

He's There, Too

Sam put on his top-coat and picked up his briefcase and walked to the door. Saying good-by to the rest of the family, he proceeded to his car. He backed out of his driveway and headed down the road to the office. At the intersection he looked both ways and then started across. That's when it happened.

There was a terrible screech, tires grinding on the pavement coming to a sudden and complete stop. Sam jumped, looked toward his right to see a big tractor-trailer transport truck bearing down on him. In an instant his instinct told him to brace himself, to prepare for a terrible accident. The truck was about to crash into his small foreign made car. He braced and waited. But, miraculously, the driver of the giant truck managed to get the big rig stopped just prior to the anticipated collision.

With a sigh of relief and thankfulness, Sam uttered a quick prayer. Now it's only fair to say that Sam was not normally a very religious man, living mostly by his own creeds and just not having much time or interest in the kid stuff. But for some reason, he spontaneously let it slip. "Thank you, Lord," he said, suddenly remembering that there was Someone beyond himself.

Sam and the driver of the truck got out and surveyed the situation. "Man," said the truck driver, "you are a mighty lucky person. Just a split-second difference in timing and you very probably wouldn't be around this old world right now. You had better be thankful that I had my brakes reworked just last week. I would hate to think what would have happened if I had not. And I started to put it off, but changed my mind at the last minute and went ahead. Buddy, you had better thank goodness that you are still alive."

"Mister," said Sam, "I have already thanked goodness." In a few moments Sam was on his way to the office again. At a service station along the route he took he saw Bill. Bill was a friend of his who worked in the same office. Bill was also the "religious" guy in their group—a regular church-goer. Sam wheeled in to speak to Bill and tell him about the truck.

"Say, Bill," hollered Sam out his window as he pulled alongside his religious friend, "the Lord is really taking care of me this morning. I pulled out in front of this big truck, but the Lord performed a miracle and stopped it just before it got to me. It sure is great how the Lord takes care of us, isn't it?"

"It sure is," said Bill. "He performed a miracle for me this morning, also." "He did?" Sam asked excitedly. "What happened? Did you like to get hit by a big truck also?" "Not quite," said Bill. "He just kept me from pulling out in front of any."

The Psychic Powers of Lower Animals

Far too long has man regarded the lower animals as simple "dumb brutes," with only a small measure of man's intelligence. Far too long has man exploited the lower animals and has often treated them with cruelty, killing them for his own selfish sport.

Scientists have discovered that the lower animals are superior to man in the matter of having psychic powers and faculties far more developed than those of man. Men are fast waking up to the fact that the lower animals are his lesser brothers, as they all came from the same divine creative source.

One of the faculties animals have to a higher degree than man is that of PRECOGNITION; this is the ability to foresee dangers or severe disasters and to take means to avoid them. This was illustrated not long ago by a barn full of horses in South America. One day their owner heard them nickering as if in terror and running about their stalls in wild panic. He ran to see what was the matter and tried to quiet them, to no avail. Suddenly one of the horses dashed his full weight against the barn door and broke it down; the horses then burst out of the barn and ran wildly away. In a short time an earthquake struck and the barn was demolished.

Even the lowly and much despised rat is gifted with psychic powers superior to those of man. That is why miners never molest them inside coal mines but often share their lunch with the rats. This is because rats can somehow know in advance of a mine disaster, such as an explosion or a slate fall. When miners see the rats scurrying out of a mine they heed the warning of danger and know there is time to get out.

Animals often know things well ahead of a man; they can sense danger often when a man cannot. Once a man took his faithful dog down to the river, with the purpose of taking a swim. As he stood on the river bank undressing, the dog began to bark and whine; he even grabbed the man's clothes in his teeth and tried to keep him from taking them off. He spoke sharply to the dog and thought the animal had gone out of his senses. Shoving the dog away roughly, he finished removing his clothes and was preparing to make a headlong dive into the river. But the dog got right in front of him and began to bark furiously, as if warning him against a hidden danger. The man had discovered a "log" lying near the river bank to dive over it into the water. The dog's furious barking disturbed the "log" and it suddenly moved! Then the man discovered that it was a huge alligator, which would have devoured him the instant he landed in the water. Almost in tears of regret, he fell to his knees and embraced the dog.

Do the lower animals have "souls" or "spirit?" They most certainly do! This was recognized by King Solomon who said: "Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward and the spirit of the beast that goeth downward to the earth?" (Eccles. 3:21) Notice he says the spirit of the animal doesn't go into the earth but down to the earth. Animals have a spiritual body or "astral body" as some scientists call it; this spiritual body survives the death of the animal but it is earthbound and cannot rise up as does the spirit of man. Men with clairvoyant powers have often seen the spiritual bodies of animals after they were dead. They are said to exist for a certain period in the spiritual realm and then gradually fade out.

Animals also have the power of mental telepathy to a higher degree than most humans. They can read one another's thoughts or emotions; a dog can tell when his master is troubled or sad by sensing his vibrations or the state of his aura. Dogs can also tell in advance when there is going to be a death in the family; they have been known to howl and carry on with frantic whining before some member of the family dies.

The four most intelligent animals are the horse, the dog, the elephant and the chimpanzee. The elephant has a most remarkable memory and never forgets a kindness, nor an injury, and for someone doing him harm he will get his revenge; a dog's loyalty far exceeds that of man; the ape's ability to solve problems exceeds that of a twelve-year-old boy. A horse can be taught to count and many other tricks.

Domestic animals kept around the premises of man usually have greater intelligence than the wild ones; some of the religions of the Far East teach that some animals, especially those loved and trained by man, can enter heaven after death; these have been greatly loved and adored by their owners and have taken on several of their owner's divine emotions and traits.

Most people these days have awakened to the great wisdom and value of the lower animals and are teaching more kindness to them; many of the older ones are training the children through Kindness Clubs to be kind to the animals and to try to understand them better.

Persons who are cruel to animals will have to suffer retribution some day for their cruelty. Many years ago, I knew an old man who was cruel to his oxen and worked them hard and often beat them with an ox whip. One day he was hauling a heavy load of coal across a stream when the load got too heavy for the oxen and they gave up in despair, leaving the loaded sled filled with coal setting in the creek. The old man flew into a rage and held the nose of one of the oxen under the water until the animal drowned! Years later he was at the table eating beef when he happened to think of his cruelty. It upset him so that he automatically swallowed a mouthful of the beef and was choked to death!

Rediscover Kentucky:

Hello Dolly! Hello Colonel!

BY HELEN PRICE STACY

Something new has been added to Dolly. She's now a Kentucky Colonel.

At the opening June 25 of "Hello Dolly!" at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, Parks Commissioner W. James Host saw a superb performance, then presented Margaret Silbar, of Lexington, star of Dolly, a Kentucky Colonel's commission from Governor Louie B. Nunn.

Commissioner Host also presented a colonelcy to actor-manager director C. Mitchell Douglas, of Chapel Hill, N. C., who is in his third season with theater at Jenny Wiley.

Opening night was a sparkler in many ways. Stars shone over the amphitheater in the beautiful cove hollow surrounded by green hills. The cast and crew came through with an enthusiastic, entertaining performance.

Adding luster to the production was film and TV star Thomas Kirk, a native of Louisville, but who seems more like an Eastern Kentuckian because of his father, Louie Kirk, of Paintsville, an employee of Jenny Wiley State Park, and his mother, Lucy Day Kirk, who was born in Elliott county and grew up in Morehead.

The musical, in a sense, belongs to Dolly. In addition to Miss Silbar and Messrs. Douglas and Kirk, beauty and talent were added by Connie O'Connell, of Tennessee, as Mrs. Malloy and even by the single appearance of Carolyn Kohli as Mrs. Rose. Two members of the cast who had little to say came across through their acting—Chris Newland with Ermengarde's well-timed wails and Ron Paolillo (Barnaby) with scene-stealing talent.

One thing that makes each of the summer's productions outstanding is the use of talented performers in a variety of roles. A leading performer in Dolly might play a bit part and play it well in another of the season's four musicals. He might also serve as a member of the production crew.

When Host complimented the troupe for its enthusiasm and wholesome entertainment, he correctly surmised that the versatility of Jenny Wiley performers might be their Eastern Kentucky stairway to Broadway.

Welcomes were extended to opening nighters by Theater President H. G. Francis, Jr. and Prestonsburg Mayor George P. Archer, who praised the troupe and also officials at Frankfort "who have been most cooperative to see that our summer music theater is a success." Park Manager R. S. Copeland was recognized, an orchestra from Morehead State University provided musical accompaniment and everyone enjoyed a delightful opening night.

But none more than the 36 senior citizens who traveled from Hamilton, Ohio, by charter bus to Gradview State Park, Beckley, W. Va. to take in "Hatfields and McCoys," then to Jenny Wiley State Resort Park for "Hello Dolly!" and on to Harrodsburg for "Legend of Daniel Boone."

Group guide was Fern Frost of Hamilton, a kinsman of the Poet Robert Frost. Also among first nighters were Sister Kathrine Segnitz, daughter of Dr. Richard H. Segnitz, Lexington, and four other Sisters, all nurses at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Lena Rivers McClure, of Miami and West Liberty, who is a former president of the Florida State Speech Association; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waters, Louisville teachers, and Mrs. Frankie Janow and granddaughter Tammie, of Phoenix.

Of course, to theater-goers the play's the thing... but what a splendid time to look around, enjoy Kentucky's resort parks, shrines, old homes, historical spots, food, and vast recreational facilities. One family from Cincinnati was not sure which was the bigger attraction—the theater or the food at May Lodge.

There are many historical places in and around Prestonsburg that could be included on a theater itinerary. Garfield House and May House could add to a child's knowledge of regional history.

The trail taken by Jenny Wiley in her capture and subsequent escape from Indians could be explored, as well as the Wiley burial ground. Not far from the park is the famous Ivy Mountain battleground... there is the Big Sandy River with its boating history and legend—a waterway traveled by Daniel Boone and his family.

Should more of the Boone story be desired, a vacationing family could travel the Mountain Parkway to the Bluegrass and south on U. S. 127 to Harrodsburg where "Legend of Daniel Boone" plays nightly (except Mondays) through Sept. 7.

Julia Damron Grigsby Succumbs Here Sunday

Kentucky Officials OK Anti-Pollution Pact

A Southern regional compact to help combat environmental pollution is a step nearer as a result of hearings held in Frankfort, where Kentucky officials supported the proposal.
The projected agreement will be placed before the Southern Governors' Conference in September and thereafter would need approval by the U. S. Congress.
Washington red tape attached to monetary grants often destroys the effectiveness of a good program, Kentucky's acting health commissioner, Dr. William P. McElwain, cautioned.
"The changing of rules and guidelines subsequent to project approval leads to more confusion, as does the almost continuous reorganization of federal agencies," Dr. McElwain said.

The VA's annual report says veterans, their families, and survivors of deceased veterans account for nearly 96 million of America's population of just over 200 million.

"Because of the generous contributions of firms and individuals in this area, the full amount set for the July 4th fireworks fund this year was met for the first time," reports Wm. O. Goebel, Sr., president of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce which sponsors the annual display. "The Chamber's board of directors and committee workers deeply appreciate the generosity of the donations which made this one the best displays to date."

A drive will be underway soon to increase the Chamber's membership by at least 50, it was said. New members are needed to continue the work being done by the present organization. 1970-'71 Chamber of Commerce membership fees were due July 1.

In Memoriam

In memory of my husband, Earl, who departed this life July 3, 1968: Just two short year ago, dear, you left me alone. Seems I can hear you in the morning, as you did in life, saying, "Fix me a cup of coffee, honey." Time goes by, but memories linger and are so sweet. How badly you are missed, every day of our lives.

Ray R. Allen, 62, Civic Leader, Dies At Martin, Thursday

Ray R. Allen, 62, Martin public accountant and former assistant state auditor, died last Thursday morning at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, a few hours after suffering a stroke at his home.

Prominent in his profession and active in civic and business circles, he was widely known over Kentucky. Born at Louisa, June 21, 1908, he was a son of the late Martin V. and Elizabeth Gibson Allen and spent most of his life in Martin and vicinity. He had been in this area since his return from service in World War II except for his residence in Frankfort as assistant state auditor.

He was executive secretary of the Martin Municipal Housing Commission, a member of the Martin Water Commission and was co-owner of the Martin Gas Company. Mr. Allen also was a member of the board of directors of the Floyd Federal Savings & Loan Association, Prestonsburg. He served Floyd county as auditor, and all courthouse offices here closed for the funeral which was held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the chapel of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, Martin. Among those in the gathering which taxed the capacity of the funeral home at the rites were Ex-Governor Bert Combs, who entered the Army during World War II with Mr. Allen, and State Finance Commissioner Albert Christen, a friend of many years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Jane Rogers Allen; two daughters, Mrs. Kay Gwinn and Mrs. Ann Davis, both of Louisville; two brothers, Ralph and Oliver Allen, both of McDowell, and one sister, Mrs. Edith O'Hara, St. Clair Shores, Michigan.

Officiating at the funeral were the Rev. J. W. Huffman, pastor of the Martin United Methodist Church, the Revs. Dan Heintzleman and Lorie Vannucci. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

Active pallbearers were Farris Johnson, George Helton, Robert Linton, Robert R. Allen, David D. Allen, Mike Huddleston, Danny Rose and John Allen, Jr.

Severns Valley Baptist Church at Elizabethtown, home church of the Rev. W. D. Jagers, pastor of Irene Cole Memorial, was the biggest contributor. Its pastor, the Rev. Verlin Krushwitz, learned, first-hand, of the community's needs while he and other Kentucky Baptist pastors were spending a week, two years ago, in simultaneous revivals conducted at the several missions sponsored by Irene Cole Memorial. So, when Fitzpatrick Mission began building, Severns Valley voted to match any funds raised by Fitzpatrick Mission up to $2000 a year for the next three years. Better still, it pledged an additional gift for the three years after that of $2000 a year, with no matching funds required.
Last year, Severns Valley sent six of its young people to Fitzpatrick Mission to assist with its vacation Bible school. This will be repeated this year when the vacation school begins August 6.
The mission began several years ago as the Holbrook Mission, meeting in the old Holbrook school, farther up Middle Creek. Both name and location changed when heirs of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joanthan Fitzpatrick donated a site for the new building.
Fitzpatrick Mission has had an average of 70 in Sunday School since it moved into its new building four weeks ago. And Carl Chaffins says the prospects for steady growth are excellent.

TO WELCOME NEW PASTOR
The Maytown United Methodist Church will welcome its new pastor, the Rev. John Huffman, and his family with a dinner and reception Sunday, July 19. picnicking and the like. It was the center of an all-day July 4 celebration this year.
In its annual report the club pointed out that 80 per cent of the families in the community attend church regularly and that 85 per cent take part in school, school grounds and school facility projects.
The community center houses a library of more than 1000 volumes and serves for public meetings of various kinds. The building used for these and other purposes is rented by the club, but its sponsors are hopeful that an FHA loan will ultimately be approved to enable them to buy it.
Peggy Bradford, a teacher, is chairman of the Weeksbury Development Club, but she is persistent in crediting others for the advances made. Other officers are Bobby Johnson, vice-chairman; Shelby J. Johnson, secretary; Elbert Gibson, treasurer; Alma Frazier, reporter. The board of directors is composed of Ira Frazier, William McCoy, Mrs. William McCoy, Cline Hill, Mrs. Della Tackett, Mrs. Virgie Hurt and Calvin Johnson.

Dr. Louderback indicated that Mr. Ball will work primarily through local county agents and with such established organizations as the FIVCO and Big Sandy Area Development Districts, the Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development Association and others.
Native of Lawrence county, Mr. Ball is a son of Mrs. Monnie Ball Roberts and the late Homer Ball, of Adams, Ky. A graduate of Blaine high school, he has both a B. S. and Master's degree from the University of Kentucky and has been employed by that institution since 1953. During his employment with the University of Kentucky he has served as assistant county agent in Pike county, county agent in Martin and Floyd counties and as area development specialist.
Mr. Ball is married to the former Lois Cain, of Salyersville, and they have two daughters. He is a member of Marion Hale Masonic Lodge, of Inez, and several professional associations.

Elimination of entire legislative districts, lopping off of one or more counties from one district and adding them to others—these are sensitive matters, politically, and they will make the coming special session no humdrum affair. At one point the Kentucky Constitution and the U. S. Supreme Court are at odds, and a test case may be filed to get the skein unraveled. The state constitution forbids the crossing of county lines to make up a district. The Supreme Court, on the other hand, has held that this must be done, taking part of a county, or even a part of a precinct, in order to bring the apportionment within the one-man, one-vote requirement.
The new census will not cost Kentucky a Congressional seat, but it will probably make necessary the addition of one or more counties to the Seventh district. Mason county was dropped from the Seventh after the 1960 census. Now it may return. No loss in the Congressional delegation is assured because the state as a whole has a population increase, according to the new census, of about 4 per cent. But the Seventh district lost 46,225 population in the 10-year census interim, and that's why redistricting will be necessary for this district as well as for others where sharp losses and gains in population were recorded.
Congressional redistricting will probably wait till the regular General Assembly session in 1972.

HOMECOMING SET
Sunday, Aug. 9 has been designated "Homecoming Day" at the Betsy Layne United Methodist Church. There will be a basket-dinner on the grounds following the morning services. All friends and former members are invited to attend.

If you read the letter to the editor last week from George Mathews, don't miss the reply in this week's by Dan Rowland, a former Floyd citizen now residing in Lexington. My personal thanks to Mr. Rowland — he made it unnecessary for me to make reply, myself.

WHAT TOO MANY MISS
I have an idea Adam never fully realized how lovely Eden was till he was outside. Here in these hills nature has been lavish with both form and color, and the winding, mounting panorama of beauty lays in the shade, I think, all the plains and bald peaks and even all the Blue Grass-like regions of the earth. Yet there are those of us who walk daily in the midst of it all and with dulled, surfeited senses miss it all.
It is true that we have so many ugly spots scattered about that we shouldn't grow too lyrical about the picturesque charm of this land of ours. The junk cars, garbage heaps, polluted streams, mine and fire scars and all their ugly tribe are here. But even these are lost in the dark greenness of far-up coves, in the play of sunshine and shadow on forested slopes and in the sense of utter seclusion one finds where nature is the doorkeeper.
"If you've seen one hillside, you've seen 'em all" seems to be the reaction of some to whom this picturesque region has become commonplace. This reaction recalls to mind the story of the motherly woman who took her own sons and other boys on a trip which included a view of the Grand Canyon. In an attempt to impress upon the boys the grandeur of the scenery she asked each to keep a diary and to write down what he saw and felt as he looked down into the great depths of the canyon.
Next morning, when she called for the boys' diaries, this was what she found her own son had written:
"Dear Diary: Today I spit a mile!"
Was he less unthinking than many of us?

Bays-Breeding

The marriage of Barbara S. Bays and Sp.-5 Carl Breeding was solemnized Saturday, June 23, at the Assembly of God church in West Prestonsburg. Rev. Lori Vannucci performed the double-ring ceremony which took place at 4 p.m.

The bride was given in marriage by Joe Arnett at an altar decorated with white gladioli. She wore a floorlength white organza and lace gown with a lace-bordered train. A silver-embroidered rose held her shoulder-length veil. Yellow carnations and white daisies cascaded from the bridal bouquet.

Attendants' gowns were floorlength, pale green satin with white accessories. Serving as maid of honor was Nyoka Freeman, of Findlay, O., and formerly of West Prestonsburg. Ella Stone, of Prestonsburg, was a bridesmaid.

Mr. Breeding's best man was Bud Salisbury, of Martin, and his usher was Fred Cartrell, of Prestonsburg.

The mother of the bride chose a white dress with three-quarter sleeves trimmed in lace, with white accessories. She was given a shoulder corsage by the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the church following the wedding, with the sister of the bride, Mrs. Jo Ann Van Horn, of Findlay, Ohio, serving. A 5-tier cake centered the serving table, surrounded by arrangements of greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eunice Bays, of Prestonsburg, and the late Joe Bays. Mr. Breeding is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Breeding, of Price. A graduate of Prestonsburg high school, the new Mrs. Breeding is employed by Centrex Corporation in Findlay, Ohio. Her husband is a McDowell high school graduate now serving in the U. S. armed forces in Japan, where he will be joined by Mrs. Breeding in August.

Floyd 4-H'er Wins State Title

Rudolph Ousley, West Prestonsburg 4-H'er, won a state championship and ranked second in combined scoring in meat animal judging at the state 4-H livestock judging contest held June 29-30 at the University of Kentucky's Coldstream Farm, Lexington.

The Floyd county state champion, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Ousley and junior last year at Prestonsburg high school, won in senior sheep-judging class. In meat animal judging (beef, sheep and swine) his combined score placed second in the state competition.

He and other senior 4-H'ers who earned the 12 highest overall scores in each division will receive further judging training and from these will be selected the teams which will represent Kentucky in the national 4-H dairy and meat animal judging competition at Chicago, later this year.

38 New Troopers on Way to Posts

GRADUATE TROOPERS--New Kentucky State Policemen stand at ease on the back terrace of the State Capitol after taking their oath of office. CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Tom Hampton, wish to thank all who helped us during the illness and upon the passing of our beloved father, brother and husband. We especially wish to thank the Rev. James Clark, those who sent floral offerings, and especially the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

THE FAMILY it.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Almost before the ink was dry on their diplomas, 38 new State Troopers reported this week for duty at 13 KSP posts across Kentucky.

Sworn in by Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs here, the members of Cadet Class 41 are to spend the next year on probation, putting into practice the things they learned in 16 weeks of study, discipline and being told when to get up and when to go to bed, says Capt. Larry G. Boucher, KSP Academy commander.

Each man will work under the close supervision of an experienced trooper for one to three months before being sent out to patrol the highway alone, Boucher said.

Singled out for special mention by Boucher during the graduation ceremony was Trooper John E. Conley, a 1960 Paintsville high school graduate and former city policeman at Paris, who led his class with a 92.8 scholastic average. Conley has been assigned to Post 6 at Dry Ridge.

Assigned to Post 9 at Pikeville were Troopers Roger Lee Castle, of Price, and Dean C. Stansberry, of Salyersville.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this means of thanking everyone who helped us upon the passing of our dear son and brother, Ken Shepherd. We especially wish to thank those of you who sent flowers, food or did anything to help. And a special thanks to the ministers and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its fine service.

THE SHEPHERD FAMILY it.

In 1949, we sold 2 Volkswagens in the U.S.A.

In 1969, things got a little better. All told, there are 3 1/2 million good old VWs zipping around the good old U. S. A.

It is far and away the biggest automotive success story of all time.

It is also the simplest:

The VW keeps getting better.

And keeps selling better.

But simple doesn't mean easy.

For 20 years, VW has improved its improvements and refined its refinements.

And we've made VW service as good as the car itself.

Today, we ask $1839* for a car that asks almost nothing of you: A dribble of gas and oil, no water or anti-freeze.

In return, Volkswagens cheerfully conquer mountains, skim deserts, float through floods, trudge through winters.

People pamper them, abuse them, depend on them and just plain love them.

For 20 years VW has raised the eyebrows and troubled the sleep of every other car maker in the world.

The years have been kind to us and you have been kind to us.

And we thank you.

Telephone Manager Advises What To Do On Annoyance Calls

If you get an abusive or obscene telephone call, what should you do?

The best action to take, once you have determined that it is an annoyance call, is simply to hang up the telephone receiver, advises Bill Gibson, local manager of South Central Bell Telephone Company. This usually deprives the caller of the thing he wants—an audience.

Should the caller call back, hang up as soon as you recognize the voice. Don't talk, or ask the caller's identity; if you do, it will only encourage him.

Experience has shown that annoying calls come from almost anyone—not just from strangers, but from close acquaintances, neighbors or fellow employees. But they don't come from that source often. Many come from a relatively small group of people—unsupervised youngsters, misguided or frustrated people and sometimes, the mentally ill. Generally, too, these calls are placed by random. If the customer who receives such a call gives the caller no satisfaction, he will usually give up after one or two attempts.

If the calls continue over a fairly long period of time, the person receiving them should call the telephone business office where employees can advise and assist in courses of action to get the calls stopped, Mr. Gibson said.

Calls that involve serious threats of bodily harm or damage to property should be reported immediately to the police, the telephone manager pointed out. The telephone company will cooperate to the fullest with the police in the matter if such assistance is needed.

Government bodies at the local, state and national level have shown increasing concern with regard to the problem of abusive calls, and all states now have laws making such calls a criminal offense. It is also a federal offense to make such calls across state lines.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE STUDENTS TRANSFER TO UK. Among the nearly 10,000 students and parents who are participating in the University of Kentucky Summer Advising Conference on the Lexington campus are, from left, Doris Starr of Ashland, Ashland Community College; Linda Skeens of Martin, Prestonsburg Community College; Billie Ronnebaum of Ft. Thomas, Northern Community College, and Lynn M. McCubbin of Elizabethtown, Elizabethtown Community College. The UK coeds are signing up for classes for the fall semester.

IN APPRECIATION
I wish to thank the Rev. McGinnis and all of those who by their presence, flowers, cards, or acts of kindness have shown so much thoughtfulness and sympathy to us in the passing of our loved one, William Russell Chaffins. I also wish to express my appreciation to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

FAILING THE TEST IS THROWING AWAY YOUR DRIVING LICENSE FOR A FULL 6 MONTHS.

AND THAT'S A FACT

DRIVER'S FACT SHEET

The law about drinking and driving is very precise. It has a scientifically measured limit beyond which it is unsafe to drive. Even if a driver uses his car in making his living the penalty stands.

The simple purpose of the penalties, and the law itself, is to make the roads safer for all of us. They exist only to discourage drivers from drinking so much that they are a danger to themselves and others. The stakes are high. The penalties are clear and just. In addition to automatic disqualification, a convicted driver can face a $500 fine—or even prison for six months.

FACT: Now you really can't ask a driver to have another drink. Conviction will cost him his license for six months and possibly a $500 fine or even prison.
