The Maytown Homemakers met at the Adkins Steak House, July 16. Mrs. Norma Bentley led the group in saying "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Sue Osborne gave a report on the treats given the Golden Years Rest Home patients at Lackey. They were treated to a watermelon feast Sunday, June 14. UF To Replace Old Gas Lines

Three sections of a natural gas production line which was installed in 1935 will be replaced by United Fuel Gas Company at a cost of $131,000, J. B. Lauffer, Prestonsburg, production division superintendent, said last week. Work is now starting by the H. B. Ranier Construction Co., Prestonsburg contractor.

One of the sections is in Knott county and two sections are in Floyd county. Mr. Lauffer said that 11,740 feet of 18-inch diameter pipeline will be replaced with 10 3/4-inch line.

The condition of the soil is such that corrosion to the company's line has been higher than normal. This in turn has resulted in high maintenance cost. The line delivers gas produced by numerous wells in the two counties.

Lauffer said the new pipeline sections will be coated and wrapped with protective materials to retard corrosion in the future. Pipe retired will be salvaged and utilized for future road casing. Such casing is often used when pipelines cross under highways.

Copies Being Made Of State's Oldest Land Grant Books

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Kentucky Historical Society has begun copying the state Land Office's old land-grant books and survey plats as the first step in saving the historic records for posterity, says Mary R. Galvez, assistant secretary of state.

A committee of concerned citizens and government officials, organized by Mrs. Galvez to find ways of preserving the records, recommended the copies be made so that the slowly crumbling originals can be stored and retired from use.

Some 454 books and thousands of survey plats are being copied. The documents date back to the 1770's and some bear the names of Washington, Jefferson, Boone and other famous Americans. Doubly valuable as history and as records of original land owners, the books are literally falling apart from age.

"The books are so fragile we run the risk of damaging them each time they are opened," Mrs. Galvez says. "When the copies are made we can store the originals where they will be safe from harm. These old books should never be touched."

The Historical Society is cooperating in the restoration by providing the necessary equipment and trained personnel to copy the books. The Society already has copied many of the survey plats using a special process which produces copies actually clearer than the original.

"We can make the copies readily available to students and researchers which we cannot do now because of the danger to the originals," Mrs. Galvez says. Once the copying is completed the original books will be rebound, the crumbling pages laminated in plastic, the books stored and retired from use.

The project was begun some months ago by Secretary of State Elmer Begley, but was interrupted because of his illness. Mrs. Galvez hopes to finish the project during Begley's term of office.

Although the 1970 General Assembly provided $20,000 over the next two years for restoring the books, more funds are needed. Complete restoration will cost about $152,000.

Mrs. Galvez now is seeking funds from schools, foundations, bar associations, and historical groups.

First donations came from Woodford County junior high students who pledged $100, and from an unknown visitor who saw the crumbling books and left a donation for their restoration.

"We're in a race against time," Mrs. Galvez says. "The books are deteriorating and if something isn't done soon, Kentucky's historical documents will be lost forever."

It comes in three economy sizes.

These are just some of the sizes Volkswagens come in. Regular, large and giant economy size. Regular, you know. It's the familiar beetle. Large is our Squareback sedan. It holds more than the largest trunk of the largest sedan. Giant economy size is our big bus-like box. It holds nearly twice as much as the average station wagon. And all three Volkswagens do everything you expect a Volkswagen to do. They have air-cooled engines (in the rear, of course). So there's no water to boil over or freeze up. And no need for antifreeze. And they're easy on gasoline. The bug and the Squareback average about 26 miles on a gallon. The box about 23. So you see, no matter what size we make Volkswagens, they're all economical. Why not come in and size one up?

First Camp Session Ends This Week

The first of three one-week camp sessions was started at Camp Shawnee July 12, according to Jarrett M. Wood, council president.

Seventy-two boys from nine troops are in attendance the first week, which ended last Saturday. The boys live in camp for an entire week under the leadership of their own Scoutmaster or another adult leader from their community. The activities at Camp Shawnee include boating, canoeing, swimming, nature lore, riflery, moskeet, fire building, cooking, axmanship, and many other outdoor skills.

Most meals are eaten at the dining hall, but each troop goes out on an outpost camp during the week where they travel by boat and canoe up the lake to the outpost site and hike back.

One of the outstanding features of camp is the Order of the Arrow campfire which is held each Thursday night and to which the public is invited. During the ceremony the boys who have been elected to the Order of the Arrow are called out and are inducted into the order, which is an honor camping society.

The troops in attendance the first week were Troop 40, Grundy, sponsored by the Church of Christ; Troop 146, Wheelwright, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Beaver Valley; Troop 117, Robinson Creek, sponsored by the P.T.A.; Troop 210, Wise, sponsored by the First Church of God; Troop 48, Grundy, sponsored by the Mountain Mission School; Troop 114, Pikeville, sponsored by the Pleasant Valley Methodist Church; Troop 12, Pikeville, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church; Troop 16, Grethel, sponsored by the John M. Stumbo P. T. A.; and Troop 90, Hazard, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church.

The cost of Medicaid in Kentucky, which rose from $36.1 million in the 1967-68 fiscal year to $51.1 in 1968-69, reached $51.7 million in the fiscal year ended June 30. Members of the Kentucky Advisory Council for Medical Assistance had expected a much larger increase.

Vows Exchanged

The marriage of Miss Belinda Jo Branham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Branham of Mt. Sterling, and Gary Thomas Herald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Herald of Prestonsburg, was solemnized Saturday, June 20, at 4 p.m. at the home of the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shreve, of Prestonsburg.

The Rev. J. A. Dickerson officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Nuptial music, "A Time For Us" and "The Lord's Prayer," was furnished by Miss Agnes Cannon, Mt. Sterling, and Miss Pam Spradlin, Prestonsburg, pianist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of peau de soie over satin inlaid with rosebud medallions and fashioned with an empire waistline and bishop sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was caught to a bow of peau de soie and inlaid rosebuds. She carried a nosegay cluster of pink roses, lilies of the valley, and babies breath.

Miss Dinah Lynn Sparks, of Prestonsburg, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of hot pink peau de soie over satin enhanced with an empire waistline and short, puff sleeves. Her headpiece was a matching hot pink bow. She carried a colonial bouquet of spring flowers.

Larry Herald served his brother as best man.

Ushers were Larry W. Branham, brother of the bride, and William J. McGuire, Prestonsburg.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. Assisting were Misses Martha Richardson, Beverly Amburgey, Jane Stockdale, and Cindy Blake, of Mt. Sterling, and Miss Martha Razor, Sharpsburg. Miss Glenna Fannin, Prestonsburg, presided at the guest book.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Mt. Sterling high school and Paintsville Vocational School.

After a wedding trip to Virginia, the couple will make their home in Prestonsburg.

Good Detectives Read Fine Print

By Leonard Kimball

FRANKFORT, Ky.—State Police Detective Benjamin J. Music is a man who gets a lot more out of his morning newspaper than most people.

And Albert Wallace Grades, a safe burglar who just began serving a five-year term in Kentucky's State Reformatory, probably has more reason than anyone to wish that the sharp-eyed detective slept later.

The way the Pikeville-based Music handled a very ordinary crime just came to light. Detective Capt. Algin S. Roberts, commander of the Kentucky State Police Bureau of Investigation, told the story over early morning coffee when someone asked what makes the difference between a good detective and a mediocre one?

"Music," said Roberts, blowing steam over the chipped rim of a scalding-hot coffee mug, "Let me tell you about Ben Music."

Someone broke into Arnold Meade's farm supply store at Paintsville, peeled two safes, and slipped away with some $95 in currency and about $110 in merchandise, he said.

"Nothing particularly unusual about that," Roberts said. "We get safe burglaries all the time." And, no one was too surprised when a check of the store didn't turn up anything very enlightening, either. About all Music did find was a faint, dusty footprint on a loose piece of plywood.

"Now, any detective worth his salt is going to call that a clue and keep it as evidence," Roberts said.

Which is exactly what Music did. But who's going to run all over Eastern Kentucky looking at the bottom of peoples' shoes? "As a matter of fact," said Roberts, "I wouldn't criticize any detective who let it drop right there."

But Ben Music isn't just any detective. He notices things that other people, policemen included, sometimes miss. And in this case that "thing" happened to be a small item in a Huntington, W. Va., newspaper recounting the capture of three erstwhile gentlemen of the night caught peeling a safe at Jackson, Ohio.

"A lot of darn good investigators might have been inclined to read that article and forget it... if they saw it at all," said Roberts. "After all, safe burglaries do happen every day all over the country, and Jackson is a long way from Paintsville." But to Music, a methodically patient man with a careful eye for small details, the article had a familiar note to it. The tools taken from the three thieves sounded very much like the ones used to burgle the Paintsville store.

Never one to ignore a fact caught staring him in the face, Music put through a hurried telephone call to Jackson Police Chief Elba Ross, who confirmed what Music already suspected. One of the burglars—Albert Wallace Grades, of Huntington—was wearing a pair of shoes which seemed to jibe with the footprint found in Meade's store.

The rest was pure routine. A comparison of Grades' shoe with the footprint, KSP identification expert Frank Anastasio told the Johnson circuit court, clearly established that Grades had indeed been inside the Paintsville store.

"And that," said Roberts, "is the difference between a good detective and a just mediocre one."
