

New Bridge Looks Up New Road

The $770,000 bridge spanning the Big Sandy at Lancer and connecting old US 23 with the new Bull Creek road has been completed by the Mattingly Bridge Company, with only interchange construction by the general contractor on both highway and bridge, the Kentucky Road Oiling Company, remaining to be done.

Kentucky Road Oiling has completed grade of the road up Bull Creek to Water Gap, where it will connect with the four-lane US 23 and 460 yet to be built. Jack Ruth, head of the contracting firm, said the road is expected to be surfaced and completed within the next three weeks. He said the route was originally scheduled for completion August 8 but that slides had made necessary extra right-of-way acquisition and that this has caused some delay.

Blacktop for the surfacing of the new road will come from a new plant within sight of the bridge which Mr. Ruth and associates have completed. The plant site, formerly owned by John Smallman and Gene Crace, was leveled by the removal of approximately 150,000 cubic yards of earth and stone from a hillside. The plant will produce between 900 and 1200 tons of blacktop a day, will employ from 40 to 50 persons, including truckdrivers, and will be a permanent operation, Mr. Ruth said.

Board Plans Suit of Own In Long Row

Tells Its Attorney To File To Recover Losses from Delay

The Floyd County Board of Education went on the offensive last week in the long standing legal battle which developed after it moved to build a consolidated high school at Eastern, on Right Beaver Creek.

First of all, W. W. Burchett, attorney for the board, filed with Special Judge James B. Stephenson, of Pikeville, a motion to require Everett Akers, L. B. Kiser and Frank Salisbury to dismiss their recent suit (Civil Action 7770) or to be held in contempt of court, claiming that their suit was "an attempt to circumvent judgment heretofore entered" by Stephenson.

Next, the board of education in a special meeting last Saturday adopted resolutions directing Burchett to take whatever legal action that is necessary to recover funds allegedly lost through increased cost of construction and higher bond interest rates. The proposed action would name as defendants "individuals and (or) groups who may be liable for the loss," the resolution said. The loss has been sustained, it is claimed, while litigation has prevented sale of bonds and work on the Eastern building.

As a consequence of the first action, the plaintiffs in the recent suit filed against the board entered a motion Monday morning dismissing the complaint insofar as it seeks to restrain and enjoin defendants from issuing, selling or offering to sell bonds to finance the school construction and to the extent that it seeks to restrain and enjoin the board from constructing the Eastern school.

The order, signed by Judge Stephenson and approved by W. W. Burchett, counsel for the board, and Francis Dale Burke, attorney for plaintiffs, presumably did not

Martin Men Sue Two Ky. Education Groups

Three Martin residents who Monday dismissed a suit filed in the Floyd circuit court against the Floyd County Board of Education in connection with its plan to build a consolidated high school at Eastern, the same day filed in Franklin circuit court an action to require the state Board of Education and the state Department of Education to withdraw their approval of the new school.

Named as defendants in the new suit filed by Everett Akers, J. R. Key and Frank Salisbury were Wendell P. Butler, superintendent of public instruction, and the two state education agencies.

Their complaint asked that state approval be withdrawn for construction of any high school in Floyd county that does not comply with the state's own rules and regulations, particularly its rule that a new

TROUBLE AT HOME

But things look dark. Eden had its serpent, the ointment its fly and the 'scutcheon' its blot. And now I have trouble here at home.

I think I could have got the support of both Bert Combs and Wendell Ford, and perhaps Governor Nunn, but Lennie Moore has balked. Says my opening statement showed:

1. That I am politically inclined while seeking a non-political office and tried to satisfy the "tuther side" by suggesting Watt Hale, a Republican, for a place in my plans; 2. that I lack certain qualifications, which should include a knowledge of the nutritional and medicinal values of the noble herb; 3. that—well, I failed to take notes and can't recall all his objections. I do remember one statement, and it ran to this effect:

"By Haman, if you're the best we have to offer for this job, I pity the pore poke pickers."

HE LOOKED AHEAD

George Wells, of Pikeville, last Sunday told me the story of the old fellow who bought a rather ancient car from him and who was so enthusiastic about his acquisition that he declared he would not only possess it but also would repossess same. Then, in a hurry to get home, hustled his son into the jalopy, nudged him impatiently and commanded: "Step on the commecer, son!"

This story recalls one from the same section but from another source which had to do with the old fellow who had hit it rich on gas royalties. Big wells, big money, and into town he came to trade in the battered, old pickup for a Continental. With all the works, including air-conditioning. Paid cash, and with his little, old woman sitting beside him, stiff as a ramrod, took off for the head of the hollow.

He got all the accessories in full blast,

$300,000 Is Assured Martin Stream Work

The beginning of work on the local flood protection project at Martin and vicinity has, with the appropriation by the Senate Committee on Appropriations last week of $300,000 for the work, been assured in a matter of months.

The same amount had earlier been voted by the House, assuring the project funding in this amount. The $300,000 thus appropriated is twice the amount requested by the Bureau of the Budget.

Acquisition of easements by the fiscal court must be made before actual construction can be begun. The entire project, which will extend from a point near the confluence of Right and Left Beaver Creeks, upstream from the town of Martin, to the vicinity of Clark Branch, between Martin and Allen, will involve an expenditure of more than $1 million.

The appropriation for the often flood-ravaged community was a part of the giant $5.2 billion public works bill approved by the Senate committee. The committee, of which U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper is a member, also voted $9000,000 to start construction of the Paintsville Reservoir. Cooper, who made a special effort to get the Johnson county project into the bill, said he would ask Senate conferees to insist that the funds be left in an agreed House-Senate version of the appropriations bill.

The Paintsville reservoir will be created by an earthen dam across Paint Creek, and it will extend into neighboring Morgan county. It will have 92 square miles of drainage area, with flood control its primary purpose.

Other Kentucky projects voted appropriations: Kehoe Reservoir on the Little Sandy River near Grayson, Ky., $200,000 for planning.

Laurel River Reservoir on the Laurel River in Whitley and Laurel counties, $4.3 million for construction.

Carr Fork Reservoir on the Kentucky River near Hazard and Whitesburg, $6.5 million for construction.

Cave Run Reservoir on the Licking River in Bath and Rowan counties, $6.4 million for construction.

Falmouth Reservoir, on the Licking River near Falmouth, $50,000 for planning.

Fishtrap Reservoir on the Big Sandy River near Pikeville, $1.6 million to complete construction.

122 Ask Court To Halt Damage By Coal Trucks

A petition signed by 122 residents of Caney Fork of Middle Creek and vicinity last Wednesday asked the Floyd fiscal court to set a load limit on KY 1210 (the Caney Fork road to Stephens Branch) "in order to stop the haulage by overweight trucks which have destroyed this road."

Petitioners also asked County Attorney Barkley J. Sturgill to file "the proper action" in the Floyd fiscal court against coal companies operating there and the Department of Highways to require them to repair the road. A restraining order to prohibit truck-owners from exceeding the load limit to be fixed by the fiscal court also was asked.

The petition was the second of its kind to be filed here within the last few weeks. The first, presented by Bull Creek residents, resulted in a 10-ton load limit being placed on the Bull Creek road prior to the beginning in that vicinity of a strip-mining operation.

P'burg Company Named in Action By State Groups

Scheduled for hearing Tuesday morning at Salyersville by Circuit Judge Ben Mann was a suit asking that the Prestonsburg-based Terry-Elkhorn Mining Company be restrained from using overweight trucks which allegedly are causing damage to Magoffin county roads.

The action, filed by the Department of Motor Transportation and the Department of Highways, is almost identical to the suit filed in Perry county by the same state departments against Arnold Coals.

The Magoffin suit was instituted last Thursday, but Judge Mann declined to issue the immediate restraining order requested.

The Magoffin county complaint asks $205,000 compensation for alleged damages to the roads.

Judge Mann commented, "The reason I didn't want to issue it (the restraining order) today was that the allegations of the complaint, if true, have probably been true for a good many years and, therefore, I thought that I ought to be very deliberate. . . ."

"My reason for waiting until Tuesday is to make sure that I act deliberately and

Famed Kentucky Long Rifles Group To Shoot Muzzle-Loaders Saturday As a Feature of Dewey Lake Event

Floyd county will have its full quota of marksmen on hand when the Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club stages its first annual "Shoot-Out" and fish fry Saturday at its club grounds on Stratton Branch, near Dewey Lake, but they'll have the stiffest sort of competition.

For the famed Kentucky Long Rifles, the 50-member, Morehead-based group which has upheld the state's reputation on the range in national muzzle-loader competition, will be sending some of its top riflemen to the local event.

One of these is Robert "Bobcat" Kelly (shown above, who is a native of nearby Van Lear, a past president of the Long Rifles and voted their outstanding member last year.

Their exhibition with muzzle-loading rifles will be a part of the day's program.

Turkey matches will begin with pistol competition from 10 to 11:30 a.m.; rifles, from 12:30 to 2 p.m.; shotguns, from 2 to 4 p.m. Trapshooting will begin at 5 p.m., with trophies awarded the winners.

The fish fry will be an all-day attraction. A portable TV will be given at 3 p.m. as a "door prize."

Dragnet Out After 4 Men Escape Here

Gayheart, VanHoose Recaptured Monday After 30-Hour Hunt

Two of four men who last Sunday morning slugged John Burchett, 60-year-old turnkey, and fled the county jail remained at large Tuesday noon, despite one of the most intensive manhunts ever staged in the county.

Two of the four—Ronald Gayheart, 20, Cliff, and Frankie Van Hoose, 24, of Painville—were captured late Monday afternoon by Prestonsburg Policemen Sam Hale and Girven Waddle.

Remaining as the object of a search extending from the Prestonsburg area downriver to Auxier are Harrison Reed, 27, of Hueysville, and Wayne Lycans, 49, of Huntington, W. Va.

All four men are considered dangerous, state police said. They effected their escape at 11 a.m. Sunday after the top of the cage in which they were held had been unbolted, permitting them to climb out into the main part of the jail. There, said Larry Howard, a prisoner who was in the walkway outside the cell, they seized him, jabbed him in the side with a sharp object which he told was a knife, and forced him to accompany them to the outside door and call for the turnkey.

Howard said that as Burchett turned the key he yelled, "They've got a knife!" The four rushed the door, one struck Burchett on the head with a sock believed to have been filled with nuts taken from the cell-top bolts, then raced downstairs and took to the hillside overlooking the courthouse section of town.

Burchett was not badly hurt but did not recover from the blow in time to halt the escape.

Every available law-enforcement resource immediately began the search for the four men. Fifty or more state police troopers, sheriff's office personnel and Prestonsburg police spread out over the hills around Prestonsburg and into the Dewey Lake section. Two state police planes patrolled the potential escape area till late Sunday. The Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad made available a boat to patrol the river.

Tension mounted as nightfall came and the search was fruitless. The four had been described as dangerous and possibly armed with a knife or knives. Nervous householders locked their doors and many kept weapons within reach through the night.

The arrest of Gayheart and Van Hoose was effected late Monday by the two Prestonsburg policemen without difficulty. The two had been sighted, early Monday morning, as they crossed the Big Sandy to the railroad side of the river. Neither of the

It's for Real—Study To Begin On Opening Day

Floyd county schools will begin their 1970-'71 term Monday morning, and opening day will be for real—a full day's classwork is on tap. Parents are being asked to send their children with all necessary equipment—pencils, paper and the like—this first day.

Preparations for the opening of the term were being completed this week through a series of meetings and conferences of school leaders. Last week, an in-service committee meeting was held, and the committee set Sept. 10 and 11 as the dates for home visitations by teachers. A meeting of supervisors was held Tuesday to plan the year's instructional program. Wednesday, principals met to discuss new board policies, and Friday of this week orientation of new teachers will be held.

Last-minute changes in teaching personnel were made at Saturday's board meeting, with most or all of the changes made necessary by teacher-resignations.

The resignations were those of Jimmie Cox, basketball coach at Wayland high school; Bennie Slone, remedial reading teacher at McDowell; Gene Davis, assistant principal at Prestonsburg high; Tandy and Dana Moore, McDowell high teachers.

Employed to fill vacancies were Johnny Stumbo, art teacher at McDowell; Ronald Hager, to be assistant principal at Prestonsburg high school, and Stevie Halbert to take his place as social studies teacher here; Ronald Ray Prater, driver training teacher at Maytown-Martin, to be coach at Wayland; Nina Branham, teacher at Garrett high.

Bert Layne was transferred from Garrett high school to take the driver training post vacated at Martin-Maytown by Ronald Ray Prater. Dahlia Jones and Joan Caldwell were transferred from Prestonsburg high to McDowell.

E. R. Burke, Victim in Texas Hospital

Edmund Russell Burke, 72, well-known Prestonsburg businessman, died last Thursday in Methodist Hospital, Houston, Texas, where he recently underwent open heart surgery.

A former supervisor of the Seventh conservation district, he was instrumental in the early interest created in junior conservation training for Eastern Kentucky youth. Mr. Burke was a member and elder of the First Presbyterian Church here and led in the building of the new church. He had owned and operated the Burke Window and Awning Company here for a number of years and remained active in business until only a few weeks prior to his passing.

Mr. Burke was a native of Brownsville, Tenn., and was the last of the family of the late William and Irene Dillon Burke. He had resided here since early boyhood.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Grace Layne Burke; a daughter, Mrs. Joe Buchanan, of Prestonsburg; four sons, Dr. Winston L. Burke, Lexington, Edmund R. Burke, Jr., Grand Blaine, Mich., William Bakke Burke, Jackson, Ky., and Dr. Lucian Burke, San Antonio, Texas. He also leaves 10 grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, donations to the First Presbyterian Church building fund were made in memory of Mr. Burke.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday from the First Presbyterian Church, the pastor, the Rev. Milton E. Skiff, and the Revs. W. D. Jagers and Arthur Conaway officiating. Burial was made in the Porter cemetery here, the Carter Funeral Home directing.

Active pallbearers were Frank Heinze, John G. Heinze, Wesley Howard, James E. Goble, Marvin Music, Jr. and Robert Blackledge.

Fred G. Francis, Prestonsburg attorney, ended his 1969-1970 chairmanship of the National Conference of Bar Examiners with the August 8-11 conference meeting in St. Louis but now will represent the conference as a member of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association.

The House of Delegates is the law-making body of the Bar Association. Mr. Francis also is chairman of the Kentucky State Board of Bar Examiners.

The National Conference of Bar Examiners held its annual meeting in St. Louis with the Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the ABA.

The Section and Conference have the responsibility of establishing rules and regulations pertaining to and controlling the admissions of attorneys to practice law in the United States. The principal subjects covered in the open meetings was directed at the investigations deemed necessary to determine the character and fitness of applicants for admission to the practice of law.

The conference is presently engaged in developing a multi-state bar exam that should contribute toward uniformity in the bar examinations of the several states. The Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey has been engaged to perform technical service in developing the questions and grading.

For family heads with just eight years of schooling, the incidence of poverty was cut in half to 13 percent. This downward trend continued—to a rate of 2 percent for families headed by a college graduate—with each rise in the level of education of the family head.

While permits will be required for all future discharges into navigable waters and their tributaries, the Corps of Engineers will initially concentrate on major sources of industrial pollution not covered by existing permits.

The Corps hopes that through widespread knowledge of its new permit requirements, including state certification, it will, along with other federal, state and local anti-pollution activities, encourage industries to accelerate their own anti-pollution efforts.

Letters to the Editor

"KEEP OUR CITY CLEAN"

Editor, The Times:

What a beautiful slogan and, one which should by all means should be kept. We have a very nice and beautiful, little town, lots of kind, friendly people, christians, ministers, and an all-around nice town, and we as citizens should keep it clean, for cleanliness is next to godliness.

But there's an inside to every town and person, and there's only one person can clean that up, and that's the man, Jesus Christ. He knows the inside of everybody and everything and when He cleans the inside, it will surely show on the outside.

Let's pray and labor together, and love the unsaved and live for God in front of them so they will want to know him. Christ died for us, and God loves us. Let's keep our city clean.

After Perry, State Looks Toward Johnson, Martin, Knott Truckers

Frankfort, Ky.—The State of Kentucky is moving on a broad front to stop the heavy damage being done to roads by overweight trucks.

Initial court action is now focusing on Eastern and Central Kentucky, but suits will be filed in Western Kentucky if dangerous conditions develop there, Alex McIntyre Jr., commissioner of Motor Transportation, said.

Highway Department attorneys, with an eye on overloaded coal trucks in Perry and Breathitt counties, filed the first suit in Perry. A suit was prepared for filing in Magoffin county, and the next target areas were in Johnson, Martin and Knott counties.

State and county officials conferred in Louisville, and it was decided to invoke the maximum $500 fines in Jefferson county in an effort to curb overweight sand and gravel trucks there.

Meanwhile, at Paintsville, the case of four coal truck drivers accused of violating load limits was referred to the Johnson county grand jury after a jury in magistrate's court was unable to reach a verdict.

Dr. Doran in Eastern Address Points to 'Ironies' of the Age

Richmond, Ky.—While the present is an age of irony, it belongs nevertheless to those living it, said Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State University, in an address at Eastern Kentucky University recent summer commencement exercises.

Dr. Doran cited the following "ironies":

- The granting of the vote and other equal civil liberties and responsibilities to 18-year-olds on the one hand, and the insistence that they be only listeners on the other.
- The requirement of college ROTC courses on the one hand, and exemption by the Supreme Court from the selective service system because of "moral and ethical objections to war" on the other.
- The investment of "great sums of money, time and effort creating a laboratory for leadership training" on the one hand, and the permitting of the "revolutionary to make a shambles out of the plant, the program and the system" on the other.
- The proposition that a college is an "academic community of scholars" on the one hand, and the resorting by students to "the law of the jungle" to achieve their way on the other.
- The insistence by parents that the university teach their sons and daughters obedience on the one hand, when the home and the lower educational systems have not done so for the past 12 years on the other.

Despite the ironies of modern times, Dr. Doran urged that the past be "defined as a time for those who lived" and the present "as a time for us. What we do with the time that is allotted to us will determine the status and welfare of the succeeding generations when their time will have come."

EKU president Dr. Robert R. Martin conferred degrees to 534 candidates, which together with the 1,519 degrees conferred in June, brings the total number of degrees awarded during the current academic year to a record 2,053.

Among 11 who were graduated "with distinction" for attaining a 3.4 standing for at least three years or a 3.6 for at least two were James M. Brashear, Sassafras, and Rosemary Gray, East Point.

Kentucky was one of the first states to establish a laboratory for standards of weights and measures to check the accuracy of commercial equipment.

Writers' Workshop Ends at Pikeville

PIKEVILLE, KY.—The Appalachian Studies Center's first writing workshop was completed recently at Pikeville College.

Approximately 25 persons participated in the five-day session conducted by Hollis Summers, David Madden, Harriette Simpson Arnow and James Still.

The official staff was assisted by local authors, Dr. Leonard Roberts, Quentin Howard and Lillie D. Chaffin.

Appalachian Studies Center directors are Dr. Roberts and Bruce Bennett Brown, both of the college staff. They described the workshop as a good beginning for what will become a yearly event of the center.

The summer issue of TWIGS, literary magazine published by the center, is now on sale. The December issue will contain work by all members of the workshop staff and several students.

Through the end of calendar 1969, a total of $47.8 billion had been paid to insured unemployed workers under regular State unemployment insurance programs.

affect plaintiffs' right to sue to prevent the board from transporting pupils outside the Martin city limits.

The new suit was attacked on the grounds that Judge Stephenson had already handed down an opinion to the effect that the board had a right to build the school at Eastern and that this judgment had been affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Judge Stephenson set an "evidentiary hearing" for 9 a.m. Monday for the purpose of determining whether the suit referred to was filed in good faith or was an attempt to circumvent the judgement previously entered and further delay the sale of bonds. The purpose of the hearing, as set out by Judge Stephenson's order, also was to determine the financial loss to the board of education, if the bond sale is further delayed, and whether or not the plaintiffs and their attorney should be liable for the financial loss to the board.

Necessity of the hearing was removed when plaintiffs dismissed the action.

The board's resolution directing action against those responsible for added costs pointed out that the plan to construct the school at Eastern has been delayed almost two years by litigation and that the delay has cost the taxpayers of the county "several hundred dollars."

The board's suit may be filed late this week, or early next. Amount to be sought was not stated, but it was said the total may be $300,000 or more.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark commented on the proposed action:

"Surely these people were told by their legal counsel that, under certain circumstances, they could be held accountable for money lost to the Floyd county taxpayers. The Board of Education is in unanimous agreement with the idea that they have an obligation to recover the hundreds of thousands of dollars from those who directly caused the loss. Out of consideration for the taxpayers, the board had no other choice."

two men was armed, and Gayheart had lost his shoes during his 30-hour flight. They were captured as they walked along the railroad between Dickeytown and Auxier.

The search continues for Lycans and Reed. The captured Gayheart said the four split up Sunday night, but he refused to tell officers the whereabouts of the others. One report said residents of Bays Branch saw all four walking toward US 23, Sunday night. Officers have been flooded with reports, some of which have hampered the search.

Lycans, one of the two still sought, was brought to the jail here for safekeeping from Pike county where he had been held on an armed robbery charge and where he had participated in one jailbreak. He was accused of robbing the Dotson Grocery at Belfry.

Reed was being held in jail here without bond after his arrest several weeks ago on charges of attempted murder and attempted rape of 83-year-old Anna Salyers, near Hueysville.

Gayheart, one of those recaptured, faces a federal charge as having transported a stolen auto across state lines, and Van Hoose had been brought to the jail here from Johnson county, where he faces a variety of counts.

Jailer Lawrence Hale said the four men had at least one confederate in the break. He said the bolts to the top of their cage were secured by nuts which screwed onto the outside of the cell-top and that these could not have been removed except by some person equipped with a wrench and working atop the cell. No wrench has been found.

Hale charged Albert Chaffins, 20, of Wayland, with aiding and assisting in the break. Chaffins, who had been held in jail on a minor offense, was a trustee, and he gained his release from jail Sunday morning by paying the remainder due on his fine, which was $21.

Asked when he was returned to jail Sunday afternoon by Deputy Sheriffs Virgil Conn and Grady Skeans where he got the money with which he paid his fine, Chaffins said he won it in a poker game. He denied having any connection with the break.

Jailer Hale said he has sealed off the cell from which the four fled and will have the cell-top fingerprinted by state police.

Sunday's was Gayheart's second jailbreak here in two months and the second time within a year that Burchett had been slugged in a break attempt.

drove the dream-car all summer, coming back to town once a month to deposit his royalty checks. Then, as winter neared, he came back to the dealer for a trade. Wanted to trade the car in for a truck, and the dealer did him to a fare-you-well, pocketing $1200 to boot.

Some of the old guy's neighbors weren't exactly impressed by his trade, but he had an explanation.

"Them fellers down there in town think they're smart, but I skinned them on this trade," he boasted. Then explained this fellow who had got the air-conditioner going and had never succeeded in turning it off:

"Me and the old woman nearly froze to death all summer in that car. You just wait till winter hits them fellers!"

HE WENT THAT AWAY

Joe Creason tells of the inscription on a tombstone in a small cemetery in the southern part of Barren county, which reads:

Behold, my friends, in passing by,
As you are now, so once was I.
As I am now, one day you'll be—
Prepare for death and follow me."

Joe adds that a visitor to the cemetery later broke out the chalk and added these lines to the inscription:

Before I follow you of my own consent,
I'd like to know which way you went.

that I act properly," Judge Mann continued. "In the meantime I will have that much time to study some law."

Asked if the Perry court issuance of a restraining order would have any effect in this case, Judge Mann replied, "I would think that one court (judge), if he doesn't have something stronger, would consider the thinking of another circuit court on the same matter."

"We have restraining orders sought pretty often," he added. "And pretty often the court grants a restraining order. But my thought is that this matter is really important to several counties in this area. . . Since the problem has existed a long time, the four days are not very crucial."

Highway Commissioner Goss did not view the failure to obtain a restraining order as a serious setback in the state's drive against overweight coal trucks.

"I wouldn't describe it as anything other than a legal delay," he said.

EDA Study Recommends $18 Million Development Plan for Pikeville

An $18 million major improvement plan for the development of Pikeville, providing for rerouting of a railroad, a national highway and a river, has been prepared through a federally financed research study, and the city has been advised to begin preliminary work toward implementing the plan.

Robert A. Podesta, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development, made the announcement with the completion of "Phase III—The Comprehensive Plan," of the study prepared for the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Scott Promoted

George L. Scott, formerly of Allen, has been promoted to the rating of sergeant E-5 while serving with a quartermaster unit at Quinohn, Vietnam. The 22-year-old soldier is a son of Mrs. Ann Scott, of West Liberty, formerly of Allen, and is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school. He is scheduled to return to civilian life this month after almost two years' service in Vietnam.

Principal recommendations of the two year study, made by Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., of Rochester, Pa. and Jackson, Miss. are:

1. Excavation of an "open cut" in Peach Orchard mountain in the city as a right-of-way to reroute the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and U.S. Highway 23 from their existing routes through Pikeville.

2. Re-use of the existing river bed and railroad right-of-way in Pikeville for urban renewal, commercial and residential projects.

3. Redevelopment of a local loading yard and car storage area, possibly in Island Creek valley.

The city of Pikeville had requested the study in an effort to develop additional economic growth. Because of geographic conditions, the land area suitable for industrial growth in the city is limited, thereby promoting the recommendation to reroute the river, railroad and highway and to convert their existing rights-of-way to other uses.

Financing the major construction must depend upon local, state and federal highway programs and funds from various other public programs.

The 61-acre downtown urban renewal project, to include the central business district and a portion of Pikeville College, is to be developed under the Federal Model Cities Program.

As a preliminary step toward approval of the project, the study recommends that the City of Pikeville (1) revise its zoning ordinance to reflect provision for high density development; (2) prepare a detailed engineering storm drainage and sanitary sewer plan to implement current deficiencies and future expansion; (3) initiate a thorough market analyses to outline existing and future commercial and industrial activities; (4) establish a systematic code compliance program to preclude future blight or deterioration; (5) contingent upon appropriate legislation, lease air rights over all public institutions to alleviate the critical land shortage; and (6) promote and sell the "Pikeville Plan" through the use of brochures and the various news media.

When they're looking up to you, are they really looking down at you?

The station wagon on the left is known in some circles as a status symbol.

The station wagon on the right is known in the same circles as a mistake.

Now the status symbol is long and low and really quite beautiful.

Whereas the Volkswagen is short and high and really quite ugly.

The status symbol features a powerful engine.

A Volkswagen engine is not as powerful, but it'll go farther on a gallon of gas.

The status symbol boasts roughly 88 cubic feet of carrying space.

The Volkswagen has twice that amount. 176 cubic feet.

Conclusion: If you're looking for something to show how big you are, then we suggest you get yourself a status symbol.

But if you're looking for something that's just plain big, then maybe it wasn't us who made the mistake after all.

Elliott Tells South Carolinians Of Highlands Folk Festival

If several South Carolinians turn up for the fifth annual Highlands Folk Festival during its three-day run, Sept. 4-6, it may be the result of the efforts of Harrison Elliott, a former Floyd countian who now directs the nationally known Band of Gold at Inman, S. C. Mr. Elliott's contribution to the festival appeared recently in a Page 1 article in The Inman Times, and it appears below, in part:

You like folk music—real, genuine, old timey folk music? I mean the kind played and sung-by our forefathers in generations long past. Music brought over from the British Isles in Colonial times and transformed into early American styles in the days of Daniel Boone. I mean the "real McCoy," friend—not rock 'n' roll not "soul," not popular, not even "hillbilly," "bluegrass" or "country and western." I mean music as true as the everlasting hills of Kentucky. You do? Good!

The thing to do is to make plans now to attend the Fifth Annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival September 4, 5, and 6 at Jennie Wiley State Park Amphitheatre in Prestonsburg, Ky.

"On the nights of September 4, 5 and 6 go to the amphitheatre to see old timers from all sections of Kentucky bear down on the fiddle, the dulcimer, the banjo, the guitar, the mouth harp and the jew's harp. There'll be singing of ancient songs with and without accompaniment. There'll be folk games and dances performed proficiently by girls and boys from Settlement Schools. You'll get to see and hear "The Kentucky Mountain Plainsong Chanters" singing old hymns and footwashing tunes, "The Chantresses" singing early American and Kentucky Mountain ballads.

And, as you watch and exalt to this superb rendition of truly historical music please give a fleeting thought to the fact that in the early 1930's your writer graded every inch of the roads that wound through those hills now flooded by Jennie Wiley State Park. (I had to have money to go to college, you know.)

This great music festival is under the direction of my dear friend, Edith James, widely known teacher of voice and piano, director of several adult groups to folk singers and transcriber of Kentucky mountain ballads and hymn tunes for the Library of Congress. Educated at Averett College, Peabody and Cincinnati Conservatories of Music, Edith once toured the Redpath Chataqua circuit as Contralto Soloist with several of America's greatest bands. Edith is a truly knowledgeable woman, a gifted one with a splendid personality.

If, by chance, you get to meet her at the Festival, be sure to tell her I sent you. In the mid-Thirties Edith helped me on the road to getting my folk opera "Call of The Cumberland" a world premiere over the National Broadcasting Company network, coast to coast.

Some 140,200 migrant workers and family members were assisted by the Farm Labor and Rural Manpower Services of the Manpower Administration during 1969.

Co-op Plans Increased Pollution Control

East Kentucky Power Cooperative is taking steps to spend nearly $5 million in the next three years for additional pollution control devices at its two coal fired steam generating stations, according to H. L. Spurlock, general manager of the Winchester cooperative.

Of the $5.6 million earmarked for the project, $2.4 million will be spent at the John Sherman Cooper Station at Burnside and $3.1 million at the William C. Dale Plant at Ford in Clark county. The money is a result of a loan approved recently by the Rural Electrification Administration.

At the time the plants were constructed, the most modern type of pollution control devices available were installed. But now, through scientific research, more effective equipment—an electrostatic precipitator—has been developed. After installation in the plants, nearly 100 per cent of the fly ash will be eliminated.

GOOD GOSSIP

If we must gossip,
Let's gossip good,
For that's what God teaches
And we know we should.
There's good gossip
That Jesus saves today.
There's a loving gossip
And a gossip to pray
And when to God we gossip
We can be assured it won't be told
For he is the same always,
That listened to the gossip of old.
And there's a kindness of gossip
And a gossip of humility, too,
And a gossip of helping others
That's a gossip we all should do.
And then there's the Good gossip of Jesus,
We can tell everyday,
If we would,
That's coming to redeem his children.
So, please, if we must gossip,
Let's gossip good.

Bus Drivers 'Brace' for Opening Of Schools; To Keep Wary Eye On Passengers Up to Mischief

By JIM WARREN

FRANKFORT, KY.—Store windows with back-to-school fashions, stacks of pencil boxes and reams of paper are signs of the times to kids because they signal the end of summer and the opening of school. They also are an omen to school bus drivers, those unsung heroes of the public school system, calling them back into action on the highways. "I get the shakes every August, just like I did when we landed on Normandy in 1944," said one veteran driver. "I know the job must be done and that most drivers make it without a scratch, but it still gets to my nerves." He is one of approximately 5000 Kentucky bus drivers who transported students nearly 50 million miles last year. That figure does not include thousands of other miles covered transporting students to athletic contests, student conferences and other special events. Most drivers say survival on a school bus depends on care and watchfulness. A driver learns to look for "danger" or he doesn't make it. One important skill, drivers say, is learning to spot kiddie weapons before they can be deployed on the bus. "After a few years you learn that a water pistol makes a certain kind of bulge in a kid's hip pocket and you can recognize it," one driver said. "If you're real sharp you can spot where the pistol leaked in his pocket." Spotting smaller tactical weapons such as rubber bands requires more practice, drivers say, but can be mastered in time. Other drivers believe the real secret of "survival" on the bus is the ability to spot trouble before it happens. "You learn to watch their eyes," one driver said. "I can look a kid in the eye and know in a minute if he has a paper wad to throw. You can spot it in his eyes."

Social Security Is Not Merely for the Elderly, Office Manager Says

Social security is for younger families and workers, too, according to Daryl E. Ratliff, manager of the Pikeville Social Security district office. Ratliff stated that a recent survey disclosed that approximately 69 per cent of younger workers surveyed looked on social security primarily as a program for older people, and were not aware that they had a current protection under the program too in case of their disability or death. "It often happens that in the case of the death of a younger worker his social security is the most valuable single asset that he leaves his family," Ratliff stated. He went on to point out that in case of death, survivors benefits for a widow and two children range from a minimum of $96 a month to about $434 a month, with an average of about $292 per month. "This can add up to a lot of money, particularly if the children are quite young," Ratliff stated. He went on to state that some 3 million surviving children and widowed mothers get social security each month. Ratliff stressed further that if the worker becomes disabled social security can help provide support for both the worker and his family, with benefits ranging from a minimum of $96 a month to a maximum of $434 a month, with an average of about $273 a month. "Some 2½ million disabled workers and their dependents receive benefits each month," Ratliff stated.

Aug. 10 Toll Calls Set Local Record

Talk of a possible recession has had little effect on the people of Eastern Kentucky. If you don't believe it, ask South Central Bell Telephone Company operators.

On August 10, long distance operators in Paintsville handled more than 9900 toll calls, as compared with 7800 toll calls on the same day in 1969—an increase of 27 per cent. It was the busiest day ever for Paintsville operators, with the exception of Christmas Day last year.

Since August, 1965, long distance calls handled by the Paintsville operating room, have more than doubled.

Other than the unusual volume of long distance calls, Paintsville operators handle approximately 4000 calls daily for directory assistance and many requests for assistance from the operator.

South Central Bell; Paintsville operators handle long-distance calls for nine Bell exchanges, seven Foothills and five Thacker-Grigsby telephone company exchanges.

The marriage of Miss Joan Carolyn Stumbo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stumbo, Printer, Ky., and Mr. Parley Bryan Flanery, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Parley Flanery, of Martin, was solemnized at 6 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 8, at the United Methodist Church in Martin by the Rev. W. D. Jagers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza and alencon lace over peau-d'-soie. The empire bodice of lace had long, bishop sleeves. The attached chapel train applied and edged with the same lace. Her elbow-length illusion veil was attached to a Juliet cap of Alencon lace embroidered with pearls.

Mrs. Betty Martin Luxmore served as matron of honor. Misses Vicki Lynn and Robin Lou Martin, of Columbus, Ind., were bridesmaids. Each wore dresses of pale pink with matching head-dress, and carried a long-stem pink rose.

Miss Mary Deneen Martin, of Martin, wearing pink fashioned like the dresses of the attendants, was flower girl. All attendants were cousins of the bride.

The best man was Jesse Calvin Flanery, brother of the groom, and ushers were Bill Terry, of Lackey, and Charles Luxmore, Jr., of Jeffersonville, Indiana.

Mrs. Stumbo, mother of the bride, wore a pale pink dress with matching corsage, and the groom's mother, Mrs. Flanery, wore an aqua dress with matching corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the recreation room of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Assisting at the reception were Miss Nancy Dingus, Mrs. Robert Martin, Mrs. Lowell D. Martin and Mrs. Roy Ramey.

Vets Must Provide Proof of Attendance

Veterans who attended classes during the spring and summer session under the G. I. Bill should make certain their Certification of Attendance cards are returned to the Veterans Administration immediately. J. G. Ratliff, director of the VA Regional Office in Louisville, explained that unless the cards are returned veterans cannot be paid the educational money for their last month of training. Neither can they be paid for their first month of training when they return to school this fall.

Ratliff urged veterans intending to go to school this fall who do not have a VA Certificate of Eligibility to contact the VA Regional Office, 600 Federal Place, Louisville, Kentucky 40202.

Resolutions in Support Of Superintendent, Board

WHEREAS, we, the officers of B.E.S.T. (Build Eastern School Today) Citizens, an organization of concerned persons of the Right Beaver Creek area formed to assist in obtaining the above-mentioned consolidated high school, are meeting in executive session Thursday evening, the 13th day of August, 1970, at Wayland, Kentucky, and

WHEREAS, this organization is cognizant of the fact that the young people of the Right Beaver Creek area have long needed a consolidated high school to meet their educational needs, and

WHEREAS, B.E.S.T. Citizens is also aware that Floyd County Superintendent Charles Clark and other members of the Floyd County Board of Education have tried valiantly to bring about the construction of such a high school, and

WHEREAS, such a high school is to be built at a centrally located, above flood level site, almost equally distant from the two farthest points from which students would attend, and on a site chosen by an impartial but knowledgeable group from Frankfort and not by anyone from any one or more of the communities from which students at such high school would be enrolled or from the community in which the school is to be built, and

WHEREAS, the members of B.E.S.T. Citizens wish to live peaceably with their neighbors in all the communities involved—namely, Wayland, Garrett, Maytown, and Martin—but they also wish to secure the best education possible for their young people, and

WHEREAS, they are aware that numerous obstacles have been knowingly placed in the way of construction of said high school, costing the taxpayers of Floyd County in the neighborhood of $500,000 and costing the young people of Right Beaver Creek approximately two years' delay in receiving the needed educational facilities that such a consolidated high school would provide; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, that we, the officers of B.E.S.T. Citizens, extend to Superintendent Clark and the Floyd County Board of Education our full vote of confidence in what has already been done by them in attempting to have this school constructed and in whatever legal move or moves might become necessary in the future to bring about construction of the afore-mentioned high school, and be it further

RESOLVED, that a copy of this Resolution be presented to Superintendent Clark to be read at the next Floyd County Board of Education meeting and that a copy be sent to the FLOYD COUNTY TIMES for publication in order that the people of Floyd County may know that this organization is wholeheartedly for construction of the consolidated high school at Eastern and is also wholeheartedly behind Superintendent Clark and the Floyd County Board of Education in such an endeavor.
