

Bid-Opening Set Friday Third Time

Mattingly Claims He Received Offer Of $30,000 Payoff

The Department of Highways at Frankfort will for the third time Friday open bids on three sectors of new US 23 between Stanville and Boldman.

Bids made after two previous advertisements of the projects were rejected. The first bid was rejected as too high; the second, because the U. S. Bureau of Roads insisted there was not sufficient competition in the bidding.

That first rejection of bids has resulted in a $4 million damage suit filed by the low bidder, J. D. Barter Construction Co., Illinois firm, and its associate, the Mattingly Bridge Co., Louisville.

In a deposition filed in Franklin circuit court Monday, Goebel Mattingly, president of the Louisville company, alleged that:

1. Harold Kelley of Ashland, chairman of the state Public Service Commission, relayed the $300,000 offer to him from competing contractors during an "urgent" meeting arranged by Kelley at the Ashland airport.

2. Kelley, calling earlier from a Lexington cocktail party, said John Bizack, a Frankfort contractor, "had offered (former highway) Commissioner (Eugene) Goss $25,000 to reject" three low bids on the Floyd County highway projects submitted by Mattingly and the J. D. Barter Construction Co.

3. Kelley, during a confrontation in Gov. Louie B. Nunn's office, "changed" his story (See Story No. 1, Page 12)

Judge Permits Revolver Test In Death Case

Examination by a ballistics expert of the .32-20 calibre revolver held by the state as an exhibit in the case of Olin Shepherd, who is accused of the slaying of his wife, was permitted last week by order of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

The order was made in response to a motion by Shepherd's attorney.

Judge Conley directed that State Police Detective Chester D. Potter deliver the weapon to the State Police laboratory at Frankfort and to have the State Police ballistics expert examine the revolver in detail, then to report his findings and conclusions as to whether or not the weapon is capable of being placed, and remain, in fully cocked position; and, if placed in full-cock, would it be capable of firing without the trigger being pulled. Findings also were asked as to possible accidental firing of the weapon.

Mrs. Shepherd was shot one time in her face at the home of Jack Shepherd, near David, September 20.

Circuit court was in vacation this week in the absence of Judge Conley.

Brown Produce Here Begins Third Building

A contractor for the Brown Produce Company this week began construction of the second building to be erected by the wholesale food distributing firm in the last five years.

The new structure, to be erected between the firm's two Third street structures and U. S. 23, will be a refrigeration building, 74 by 94 feet.

Construction will be done by the D. H. Holbrook Construction Co., Prestonsburg, and it is scheduled for completion in four and a half months. Insulation and installation of refrigeration units will be done by Niehaus, Inc., Carmel, Indiana.

Overall cost of the new facility will be in excess of $100,000.

Exterior walls of the refrigeration building will be of concrete blocks. Refrigeration units will be installed in the interior walls. Present refrigeration capacity of the company is between four and five carloads of foodstuffs. The new building is expected to triple this capacity.

After completing its new Third street building in 1965, Brown Produce acquired the two-story brick building formerly occupied by the J. H. Nunnery Store at the corner of Third and Graham here. The Nunnery building is used exclusively as a warehouse; the structure built in 1965, for refrigeration, offices, shipping and storage.

Brown Produce Company located in Prestonsburg in 1941, opened as a small business. Its area of service extends now through Eastern Kentucky as far southeast as Cumberland, Ky., and to Virginia and West Virginia border towns.

Car Hits Slide, Pike Man Killed, Five Are Injured

A Pike county man was killed and five other persons were injured on fogbound US 23, near here, before daybreak last Thursday morning when his station wagon plowed into a large boulder which had tumbled from the nearby cliff onto the highway.

Dead on arrival at the Prestonsburg General Hospital was Ballard Justice, 63, of Shelbiana.

Homer Spears, 49, also of Shelbiana, was seriously hurt when his vehicle struck the rockslide. He was taken to the UK Medical Center, Lexington, suffering a broken leg, a crushed ankle and head cuts. Both cars were travelling south when the wrecks occurred.

Slighter injuries were suffered by Bill Garrett, of Prestonsburg, Charles Pack, of Williamsport, and four-year-old Donnie Howard, of Auxier.

The wreck occurred at what is known as "The Narrows," a stretch of the highway that is bordered by a wall of precipitous rock, a short distance north of the Plantation Motel. State Trooper John Brenner said one of the boulders which crashed from the cliff onto the highway was 13 feet square and about four feet thick.

The officer said the Howard child was hurt when the car driven by his mother, Mrs. Ella Howard, was struck from behind by an auto driven by Stanley Keel, of Van Lear. He cited Keel for speeding.

The victim was a son of the late Isaac and Rebecca Justice, of Pike county, and was a retired miner. Survivors include his widow, five sons, seven daughters, a brother and one sister. Funeral rites were conducted Sunday and burial was made at Shelbiana.

TRAGEDY, NEAR AND DISTANT
Floyd county, which has had its share of tragedy, is deeply affected by the air tragedy which occurred at Huntington, W. Va., last Saturday when 75 persons, including most of the Marshall University football team, lost their lives.

Prestonsburg's Mark Miller, a member of the freshman football team at Marshall, was immediately thought of when the first report of the catastrophe reached here, and when it became known that he was not on the ill-fated plane, there was a bit of happiness mingled with the gloom.

These tragedies that come nearest our door naturally affect us most. In faraway Pakistan 50,000 lives are already known to have been lost to a tidal wave, and the awesome toll may run many thousands higher. But the awful desolation of those who survive there is dwarfed by the miles. In this way we are spared.

I SOUND THE ALARM

I had an idea I would skip this week's column, largely because I feel obliged to include in it an episode in which I do not exactly shine. But . . . It pertains to my visit last Saturday afternoon to the Mountain Manor Nursing Home here.

All went well till I was ready to leave. My car was parked on Highland, it was raining, and so I decided to make my exit by a rear door. But as I lifted the handle, an alarm went off, alarming me not a little and (See Story No. 3, Page 12)

Mental Health Gets Program On Alcoholism

The first year of an eight-year program of alcoholism services planned by the Region 11 Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board headquartered here won last week a staffing grant of $62,397 from the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

Announced by Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Senator John Sherman Cooper, the grant is being made through the National Institute of Mental Health.

The funds will be used in implementing a program centered upon discovering, helping and rehabilitating the alcoholic and his family. The program will begin Dec. 1, and the staff responsible for its conduct will include an alcoholism coordinator, a counselor-educator, a Halfway House manager, a medical records transcriber and five alcoholism counselors.

Frank H. Layne, who has served as alcoholism coordinator with the Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board since the early days of its work in this county, will continue in that capacity in the implementation of the expanded program.

It is planned to have one counselor in each of the five counties in the region—Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Pike.

The Halfway House planned for operation in connection with the program will be located at Pikeville in conjunction with the Model City program there. (A Halfway House is a facility where male alcoholics may stay six months during the transition period while the alcoholic is making the return to normal life. Mr. Layne said he knew of only three such facilities in operation in Kentucky—two in Louisville and a third at Covington.)

In the five counties in Region 11 it is estimated that there are approximately 4,530 alcoholics. Noting that each alcoholic affects about four other people severely, the Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board estimates there are 22,600 individuals in this region who are seriously affected by alcoholism. It also noted that a study for fiscal year 1968-1969 revealed that 5080 people were arrested in the region when there was an associated drinking problem.

Handshoe Child Fatally Burned

Three-year-old Christopher Bailey died at Our Lady of the Way Hospital Sunday, about four hours after suffering burns in an early morning fire at the home of Mrs. Sylvia Thomas at Handshoe.

A son of George and Geraldine Prater, of the head of Raccoon Fork of Salt Lick, he had lived at the home of Mrs. Thomas for the past year, and it was there that fire broke out in the attic. It was speculated that faulty wiring may have caused the blaze.

Survivors include four brothers, Bud, John, Paul and Junior Bailey, and two sisters, Misses Louisa and Karen Bailey, all at home.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the home of Chester Hicks at Garrett by the Revs. Dillard Reed and Jim Reed. Burial was made in the Tom Martin cemetery under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Road Dept. Appeals 17 Land Appraisals

Appeals filed last week-end by the Department of Highways from evaluations set on Floyd right-of-way for new US 23 increased by more than $1 million the total involved in litigation between the department and landowners over the route.

The $1,028,100 involved in the 17 appeals filed last Thursday and Saturday brings the total allowed landowners by county-appointed appraisers to approximately $4 million for right-of-way between the mouth of Katy Friend, where the new four-lane US 23 will begin, and the Floyd-Pike line.

It is these amounts allowed landowners by county appraisers that the state is contesting. While the litigation awaits final decision in higher courts, landowners are paid by the state the amounts allowed by county court. The landowners may use the money, or it may be held in escrow, pending final outcome of their cases.

Appeals filed were against the following landowners (amounts allowed by county appraisers follow names of defendants in each instance):

Joan and Belve Burchett, $85,100 Troy and Stella Hall, $1000; Riley and Florence Hall, $80,000; May B. and Norman Martin, $52,500; Troy and Stella Hall, Riley and (See Story No. 2, Page 12)

During the demonstration, which was arranged by Dr. Arnold Schecter, director of the Floyd County Comprehensive Health Services program, the helicopter flew from Wheelwright to the Medical Center in Lexington in 42 minutes, more than two hours less than the time required by highway. Flights were also made to Cabell-Huntington Hospital, Huntington, W. Va., one originating from Hyden, Ky. Another helicopter manufacturer will give a similar demonstration next month. Dr. Schecter will present his plan for air-ambulance service Nov. 28 to coal operators at a Pikeville meeting.

Sunday Selling Facing Attack In Paintsville

Neighboring Paintsville is taking legal steps to enforce the Sunday closing, with one $50 fine already assessed and two businesses scheduled for hearings in police court Wednesday.
Meanwhile, the Court of Appeals in a ruling last week "put teeth into the law," holding that stores remaining open in violation of a court injunction must be fined 50 per cent of their gross sales. It also killed an attempt by several Louisville and Jefferson county stores to have Sunday sales legalized on the grounds that they are of "extraordinary necessity."
At Paintsville the Hospital Pharmacy pleaded guilty to the Sunday closing law violation and was fined $50. The businesses scheduled for hearing Wednesday are the Foodland Store and Paintsville Sundry.
About 20 Louisville stores had attempted to circumvent a circuit court injunction by requiring each Sunday customer to sign a certificate saying his purchases were of extraordinary necessity or an emergency need. Commented the Court of Appeals: "The evidence established that the business of satisfying extraordinary necessities and emergencies as certified by the customers was brisk indeed."
"The Sunday sales included such items of extraordinary necessity or emergency," it continued, "as supersonic toy racers, record albums, toy dump trucks, nail polish... fertilizer dust, ear rings, eyebrow pencils and lipstick."
"The very nature of the items sold is, in itself, a denial of extraordinary necessity and emergency and convinces us that the appellees opened for business on Sunday for their own business purposes rather than the necessity of their customers."

Warning Heard On Shoplifting

Shoplifting in Prestonsburg is due for the severest sort of discouragement, W. O. Goebel, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said this week.
He said that shoplifters caught in Prestonsburg stores will be prosecuted "to the fullest extent of the law." Besides, persons convicted of shoplifting will be photographed and fingerprinted, and both photos and prints will be sent to all stores in the state. This is regular procedure throughout Kentucky, he said.
"Shoplifters," Mr. Goebel, pointed out, "caused a loss of approximately $9 million to Kentucky stores last year. We here in Prestonsburg intend to cut down on our share of that loss."

Diabetes Detection Stressed This Week

November 16-20 is Diabetes Detection and Education Week, and the Floyd County Health Department is cooperating with other agencies in finding previously unknown cases of diabetes, Dr. Russell L. Hall, health officer, said.

Since early detection can simplify control of diabetes, it is important for everyone to be tested each year, and especially if there is a history of diabetes in the family.

The Diabetes and Arthritis Program of the U. S. Public Health Service estimates that more than two million Americans are victims of diabetes without knowing it.

Diabetes results when the body cannot transform food—chiefly, sugar and starch—into energy, tissue and bone. When diabetes goes undetected, severe complications can develop.

Eyesight may be permanently affected. The nervous system may be harmed. Blood circulation is often impaired, causing gangrene.

In extreme cases, "hidden diabetics" go into a coma which, for some, will be fatal. The "hidden" cases are the main reason why diabetes is still the seventh leading cause of death, and the third leading cause of blindness in the United States.

But when people know they have diabetes, they can follow doctor's orders and almost always lead happy, active lives.

Dr. Hall urges every citizen of Floyd county to take advantage of this life-saving effort by having a diabetes test during Diabetes Detection and Education Week, November 16-20, at the Floyd County Health Department.

Several Cats To Be Belled

A recent ecology report stated that more than 4000 square miles of Lake Erie—roughly, half the area of that inland sea—has been robbed of sufficient oxygen to sustain life because of the sewage and industrial wastes that have been poured into it. This is dismaying news.

This lake and Lake Michigan, which may be even more polluted and nearer what amounts to death, and the other three, Superior, Huron and Ontario, comprise the greatest chain of fresh-water lakes on the face of the earth. The realization that man's cupidity and folly threaten this great gift to this nation and its neighbor, Canada, is another marker on the road down which we are heading.

But another statement made in the same report, this by a federal official, also brought us up short. This was the plain fact that those who are working to save Lake Erie—if, indeed, it can be saved—have found that it is not industry but communities that balk most at compliance with those prescribed practices which will reduce pollution there. Industry already has taken steps to mitigate the crimes it has committed. At great expense it is reducing the load of chemicals and other deadly pollutants that it has added to Lake Erie.

On the other hand, communities—large cities such as Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit—have done little or nothing. The cost is too great. Millions, many millions of dollars. So the detergents, the filth of sewers, the waste of those population centers continue to pour into the water.

Which reminds us that in the failure of the ordinary citizen to recognize the urgency of the situation and in his reluctance as a taxpayer to share his part of the load lies a threat to the environment that is as great as any presented by industry—and that is not to excuse the industrial community of any of its dark sins.

Now Cleveland and Buffalo and other cities could finance measures to cope with the Lake Erie situation, and their officials would agree to do so, if the people who make up Cleveland and Buffalo would agree to sacrifice and pay the taxes these cities must have in order to do the job. But the harried taxpayer hates more taxes, officials look fearfully at the taxpayer—who also is a voter—and while all wait, a lake is in its death throes.

The country can be saved from itself, but only at great cost to us all. The pollution of air and water, the despoilation of the landscape and the plundering of the best that was man's from the pristine beginning—all this can be stopped, if we are willing to pay the price.

Coal-truck loads can be reduced to save roads, and strip mining can be controlled. But coal will cost more, electricity will cost more. The price of other fuels will skyrocket. Automobiles can be improved to reduce air pollution, but they will cost more. In the process, some payrolls may be lost. And these things will hit us all where it hurts.

If Prestonsburg, say, is told that its sewage treatment plant is inadequate and that the people here must pay a million dollars or so to prevent pollution of the Big Sandy river—what would our reaction be?

Floyd county can prevent its burial beneath its own garbage, too. But it will cost—and the federal government can't be expected to pick up the tab for it all and for always.

It all depends upon us all. There are several cats to be belled, and it will be no easy task.

This is not written in extenuation of industry. It must be pulled up short and forced, if necessary, to halt its senseless destruction of air and land and water. Rather, we seek to point to the fact that all of us have had, and are having, a part in this tragedy, and that while we point the accusing finger at industry we fail to see that our own hands are begrimed and that we hesitate to wash them.

Hearing in Offing For Insurance Firm

The State Insurance Department plans to hold a hearing, probably Dec. 1, on the refusal of the Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. of Columbus, Ohio, to obey a verbal order to continue to sell new auto insurance policies in Kentucky.

In September, a number of companies announced a similar decision, but all gave in when the Insurance Department insisted that they must sell car policies to all eligible applicants so long as the companies are licensed to do business in Kentucky.

Council Recommends Higher Strip Fees

An increase in strip-mine fees to help to eliminate irresponsible operators was recommended by the Kentucky Conservation Council, meeting at Corbin.

The council, representing 19 state conservation organizations and about 50 individuals, also advised that the State Strip-Mine and Reclamation Division be given some revenue from the general fund to reduce its dependence on coal operators' permit fees.

HOW TO CARVE

1. Let turkey "rest" 15 to 20 minutes before carving. Cut the strip of skin holding the legs in place. Place turkey on a large flat platter with breast of turkey at carver's left.

2. Place the knife between the thigh and body of the turkey and slash through the skin to the joint. Separate the entire leg from the body by pressing the leg outward with the knife during cutting and by bending the leg back away from the body with the fork or with the left hand holding the leg bone. Cut off slices of dark meat from the leg.

3. Insert the fork firmly into the upper wing. With the knife, make a long cut above the wing joint, through to the body frame.

4. Slice downward with straight even strokes, beginning halfway up the breast. When the knife reaches the cut above the wing bone, the slice of white meat will fall free.

5. Continue slicing the breast meat by beginning the cut at a higher point each time, until the crest of the bone is reached.

OLD FASHIONED BREAD AND CELERY STUFFING
 4 cups diced celery
 1 cup chopped onion
 1 cup butter or margarine
 4 quarts dry bread cubes
 1 tablespoon salt
 1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
 ½ teaspoon sage
 ½ teaspoon pepper
 Hot broth or water

Cook celery and onion in butter or margarine over medium heat until onion is transparent but not brown; stir occasionally. Combine with bread cubes and seasoning and toss lightly. Add enough broth to moisten as desired. Makes enough stuffing for 14- to 18-pound bird.

Giblet Stuffing: Add chopped, cooked giblets; use giblet broth as liquid.

Raisin Stuffing: Add 2 cups seedless raisins; add 1 cup chopped nuts also, if desired.

Chestnut Stuffings: Add 4 cups boiled chestnuts, chopped; use milk for liquid.

Mushroom Stuffings: Add 2-6 oz. cans broiled, sliced mushrooms, drained. Or cook 2 cups sliced, fresh mushrooms in part of the butter.

Coach, 6 Players Of Alice Lloyd Five Are Floyd Countians

(Delayed from Last Week)

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Hoping to better last year's record of 16 wins and nine losses, Alice Lloyd College's cagers open the 1970-'71 season at Pikeville College Saturday night with the Pikeville freshmen squad.
This is Alice Lloyd's first season in the newly formed Appalachian Highlands Athletic Conference and the second under Coach James Rose, former Wheelwright high school and Georgia Southern College cager.

Coach Rose sees this year's 25-game schedule as the toughest the Eagles have faced to date. "But with six returning lettermen from last season, and depth provided with new team members, we hope to have a record strong enough to qualify us to be one of the Kentucky representatives in the National Junior College Athletic Association's Region 7 tournament in March," Rose said.

Last year, Alice Lloyd played Pikeville's freshmen twice, winning one and losing one. The first game on the Eagle's home court, the Knott County high school gymnasium, will be played November 17 at 9 p.m. against Prestonsburg Community College.

In addition to Alice Lloyd, members of the Appalachian Highlands Athletic Conference include Lees Junior, Prestonsburg Community, Saint Catherine, and Southeast Community Colleges.

Coach Rose is a 1962 graduate of Wheelwright. At Georgia Southern, he was selected as Little All-American three times, and toured the Far East with the NAIA All-Stars in 1966.

The team roster follows:
Willie Brown, 6-4 sophomore, Jenkins; Marvin Chaffins, 6-4 sophomore, Garrett; Vernon Cornett, 6-1 freshman, Wheelwright; David Gibson, 5-10 sophomore, Maytown; Carter Hall, 6-3 sophomore, Hall; Gary Hall, 6-2 freshman, Hindman; Jerry Manns, 5-10 freshman, Garrett; Paul Olinger, 5-11 sophomore, Hazard; Edell Philon, 6-2 sophomore, Hazard; Rickey Stone, 6-2 freshman, Pippa Passes; Benjie Stewart, 6-3 sophomore, McDowell; Stanton Watson, 6-ft. sophomore, Garrett.

State Moves Toward Solid Waste Program

By MARY ANNE GURNEE

FRANKFORT, KY.—“The development of a comprehensive solid waste management program is a significant accomplishment toward preserving the quality of our environment,” said Gov. Louie B. Nunn last week.

The governor met with state and local representatives concerned with the solid waste management problem and the effects it can produce on the environment.

(Solid waste means all decomposed and non-decomposed refuse in solid form. This includes garbage, incinerator residue, dead animals, demolition and construction wastes, solid commercial and industrial wastes and special wastes including explosives and radioactive materials.)

Through the cooperation of state officials and local and regional representatives in the development of a solid waste management program, the governor said that “Kentucky is taking positive action to avoid an environmental crisis.”

“The program establishes a clear-cut management system for local communities to improve their environment; it encourages regional consolidation of financial resources; provides a channel for more effective delivery of the state’s technical capabilities to local governments; and it will enable Kentucky communities to qualify for increased federal funding of their efforts to establish modern, effective solid waste disposal systems,” Nunn said.

Recognizing the need to find solutions toward this problem, the governor asked the state legislature about three years ago to pass the Kentucky Solid Waste Act.

This act has enabled the “establishment of a separate arm of government, the Division of Environmental Health, in order to combine and coordinate the state’s human and financial resources and bring them to bear against this growing challenge,” he said.

Kentucky has already qualified for federal funding prior to the release of funds for the program.

Funds will be made available through the Resource Recovery Act of 1970 recently signed into law by President Nixon.

“Kentucky can be proud it is the third state in the nation and the first state in the Southeast to have completed this stage of the solid waste management effort and gained federal approval,” Gov. Nunn said.

Dr. William McElwain, state health commissioner, told the group that the Health Department’s concern is to attack the solid waste problem before a direct health hazard develops.

Dr. McElwain also outlined the broad goal of the solid waste management program which is “to provide the disposal of solid waste in a manner that will protect the public health and welfare, prevent the spread of disease and creation of nuisances, conserve our natural resources and enhance the beauty and quality of our environment.”

The rate of disabling work-related injuries in American industry has increased more than 20 percent since 1958, causing a loss of productive man-days that is 5 times the number lost from strikes.

Ward in Address Here Says 'Crises' Few in Small Colleges

Studies of the "college campus crisis" have focused attention on the role in higher education played by such colleges as Pikeville College, Henry Ward, president of the Kentucky Independent College Foundation, declared Thursday night in an address to the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

Both the President's Commission on College Unrest and the Carnegie Commission on the Future of Higher Education found a direct relationship between student unrest and incidences of violence, the size of the student enrollment and emphasis on research rather than teaching, Ward added.

"These studies revealed that campus unrest was most frequent in the huge universities where the student is submerged and has little personal contact with faculty members and administrators," he continued. "In its latest report, the President's Commission predicted that disturbances are most likely to occur in colleges with more than 10,000 students."

"This has been borne out by experience here in Kentucky. During the last academic year, there was not a single violent eruption on the campuses of the 14 independent colleges. This did not come about by accident. The students in these schools are just as concerned, just as sincere, just as disturbed about our problems as those elsewhere, but they have the advantage denied to students in what can, with justification, be described as big educational factories."

"One recommendation of the President's Commission was based on the lessons learned in the smaller, independent colleges. The commission urged that the huge universities be decentralized into small residential and teaching units, because it believed this would relieve student frustrations by making the school less impersonal and bureaucratic and by improving faculty-student contacts."

"In the smaller schools, the student is an individual, not just a number. They have an opportunity to know the teachers and administrators. Classes are small, and discussions are encouraged. Students do not need to stage a demonstration to get a confrontation with the personal interest in the individual student."

"There is something else important about the character of our independent colleges. They have an uncompromised commitment to the best values of our society. They were founded on and continue to uphold Christian virtues forgotten in too many places. They are a part of the free enterprise system, and are devoted to the full development of the intellect of the student, so that he will be an objective and responsible citizen."

The Kentucky Independent College Foundation was organized by business leaders 18 years ago because they believed that the independent, non-tax-supported colleges merited the united support of the business community, Ward said.

"They are needed even more today for several reasons," he continued. "They save Kentucky taxpayers money. It would cost the state $35,000,000 a year if they were state institutions. Because they are independent and not controlled by governmental dictation, they can change more quickly to meet the needs of the students. Most of all, they give their students a well-balanced education."

Highlanders Open New Net Season

The Prestonsburg Community College Highlanders began their basketball season Friday, at Cumberland, meeting southeast Community College. Saturday, they opened at home, Prestonsburg high school gymnasium, against probably the strongest team they will face all season—the UK College of Dentistry, whose members consist of former Wildcats under Adolph Rupp.

Eleven players make up this year's PCC squad. From Floyd county schools there are three from Maytown, Rodney Hicks, James Stewart, and Tom Stewart, and three from Prestonsburg, Gary Holbrook, Randy Patton and Mike Vance. Johnson county has supplied four: Carl McKenzie, David Wallen, Jack Watkins and Jim Rediford. Pike county furnished one, Jerry Hicks, of Millard. Six of these boys are freshmen and the other five are sophomores.

The team is coached by John Hanson, of New Orleans. He took over last season just before the Mt. Dew Tournament and finished with five wins and only one loss. Home games will be played at Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne high school gymnasiums.

PCC's remaining home games: Nov. 19, Sue Bennett College, here; Nov. 23, Somerset Community College, at Betsy Layne; Nov. 24, Southeast Christian, at Betsy Layne; Dec. 12, St. Catherine's College, at Betsy Layne; Dec. 29, PCC Alumni at Betsy Layne; Jan. 8, Logan Branch, here; Jan. 15, Lee's Junior College, here; Jan. 18, Alice Lloyd College, at Betsy Layne; Jan. 29, E-town vs. Alice Loyd, PCC vs. Maysville, here; Jan. 30, PCC vs. E-town, Maysville vs. Alice Lloyd, here; Feb. 11, Pikeville Freshmen, at Betsy Layne; Feb. 12, Hazard Community College, here; Feb. 24, Southeast Community College, here; April, 8, 9, 10, Mt. of the purported Lexington offer by saying "Jack Ruth (a Georgetown contractor) told him (Kelley) to tell Goss that he would give him $25,000 if he would reject these bids."

(Kelley, in his earlier deposition, said the only time $300,000 was mentioned at the airport was when Mattingly said "he (Mattingly) wanted enough of the work to net $300,000." As for the $25,000, Kelley said Bizzack "in a joking manner" said that he "would have given him (Mattingly) $25,000 if he hadn't bid my job.")

Goss has said no bribe offer ever reached him and allegations of wrong-doing on his part are "absolutely false." Goss did reject the Barter-Mattingly low bids, on grounds that they were $877,110 over departmental cost estimates and that competition was lacking.

In talking to Finance Commissioner Christen, Mattingly said he related a previous incident in which Barter had been low bidder on a highway project in Perry county. William B. Hazelrigg was highway commissioner at the time, early in the Nunn administration.

"Hazelrigg had attempted to reject a job that Sam Barter was low bidder on and had in fact called Sam and given him 24 hours to subcontract the big portion of that work to Stuart Adams."

Barter reported that case to a deputy federal highway administrator, Mattingly said.

"The governor... called a meeting with the commissioner (Hazelrigg) and Sam Barter with the federal investigators in Frankfort and... overruled Hazelrigg and instructed Hazelrigg to award the work to Barter and sub (contract) the asphalt work... to anybody he wanted to," Mattingly stated.

leaving me wild-eyed and wondering if I had disturbed everybody around.

While I was casting about for the nearest window through which to take my leave Garnett Gibson and others arrived with screwdrivers and perhaps a few other tools and got the alarm silenced. They gently pointed out that this door had an alarm so that nurses and others would always know if a patient had stepped outside and perhaps needed attention. At the same time they spent some time reassuring their guest, whose ears remained slightly pinned back as if ready for flight.

Thus foiled at this end of the building, I turned and hotfooted it down the corridor to the College Lane end of the building, there encountered a door over which was a sign reading, "Exit." So I moved to exit.

And, so help me—that alarm started all over again!

Oh, well—Mountain Manor is a grand place. Maybe I should have stayed instead of trying to get away.

SHOOT THE WORKS!

Why anybody would want to recall those Depression days, I do not know. But there are anecdotes still told which make that trying time seem less foreboding.

There was the time, I am told, when this family of man, wife and a passle of children had only one squirrel between them and an empty table. The wife got out the squirrel.

"How much of the squirrel should I cook?" she asked the head of house, who quickly replied, "I'd say at least half of it. I say, live it up while you've got it!"

Only First National offers a choice of 3 GOLDEN PASSBOOKS

Just to create interest

Wouldn't you know that the House of Savings would be first to offer two more plans to make savings create more interest than ever? Now, in addition to our 5 percent, 90-day Golden Passbook Plan, we invite you to try our 5½ percent, 1-year Golden Passbook Plan and our 5¾ percent 2-year Golden Passbook Plan. We think you'll find them all very "interest"-ing.

All three plans offer guaranteed interest rates, and interest is compounded daily and paid or credited quarterly with each. Any of the three may be opened with a $100 minimum deposit, and additional deposits of $100 or more may be made at any time.

Here's the interesting difference

With our new 5¾ percent, 2-year Golden Passbook Plan, your funds remain on deposit for a minimum of two years, with an effective yield of 5.92 percent per annum.

Our new 5½ percent, 1-year Golden Passbook Plan has an effective yield of 5.65 percent per annum, and your funds must remain on deposit only one year.

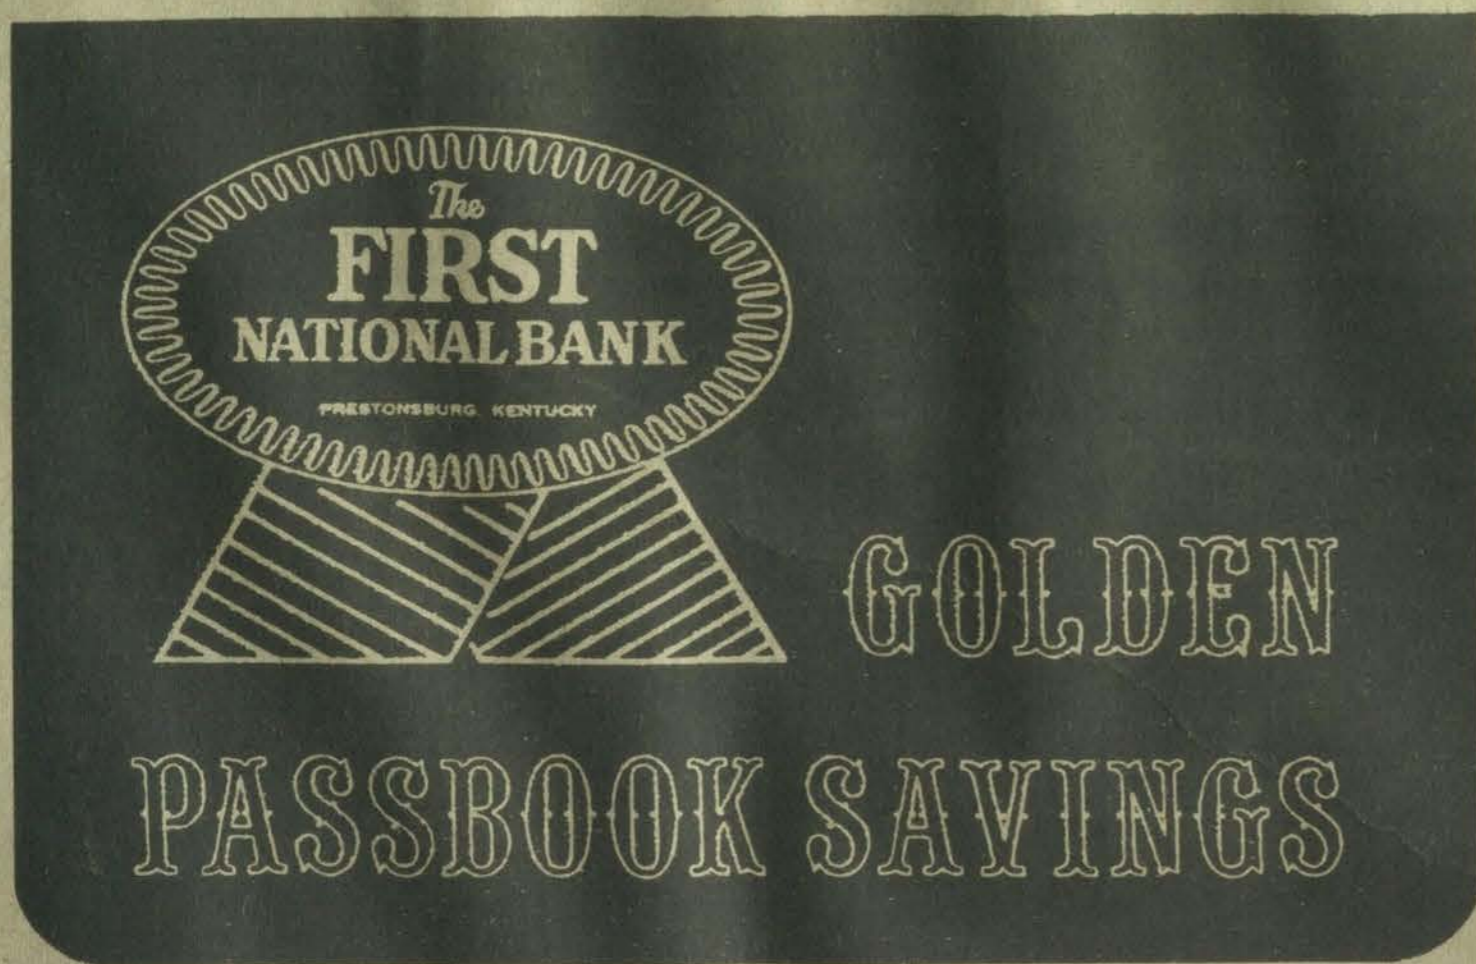

And our famous 5 percent Golden Passbook Plan makes your funds available four times a year — during the first ten days of January, April, July, and October — or anytime 90 days after a written notice is received by the bank. 5 percent Golden Passbook has an effective yield of 5.13 percent per annum.

*First National offers
5¾% Golden Passbook
& two others, too!*

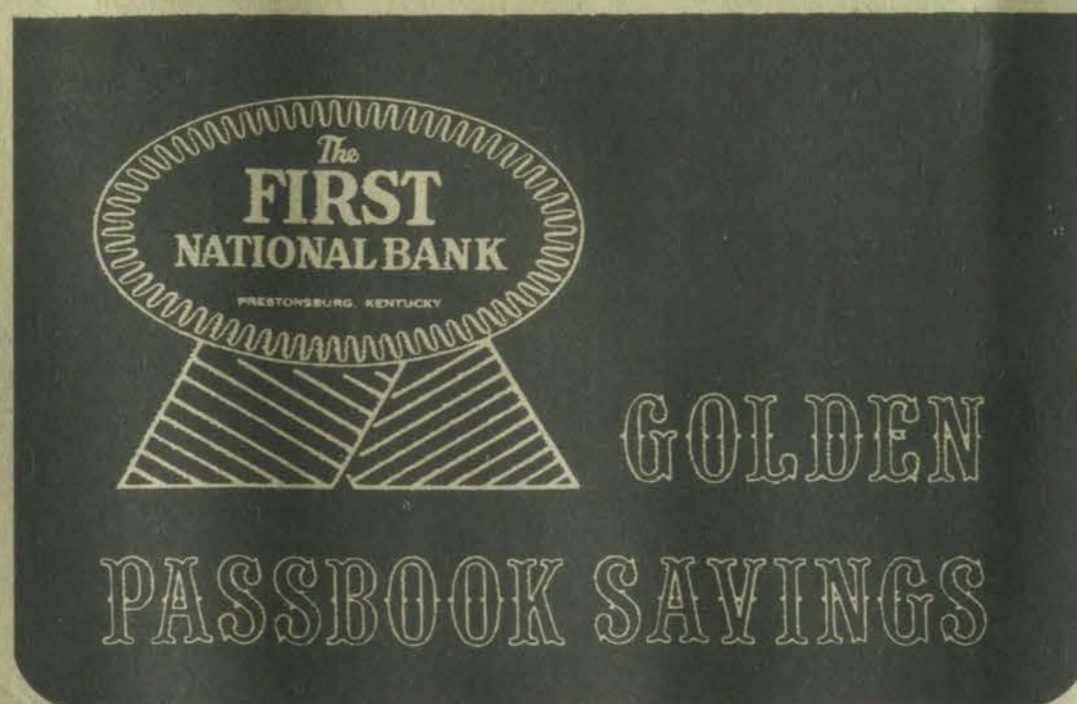

When you open your Golden Passbook Account, just tell us which of the three plans you prefer. Of course, your choice should be based on the length of time you can allow your funds to remain on deposit.

Just remember, now you can choose a First National Golden Passbook Saving Plan at 5 percent, 5½ percent or 5¾ percent interest rates. Or choose all three.

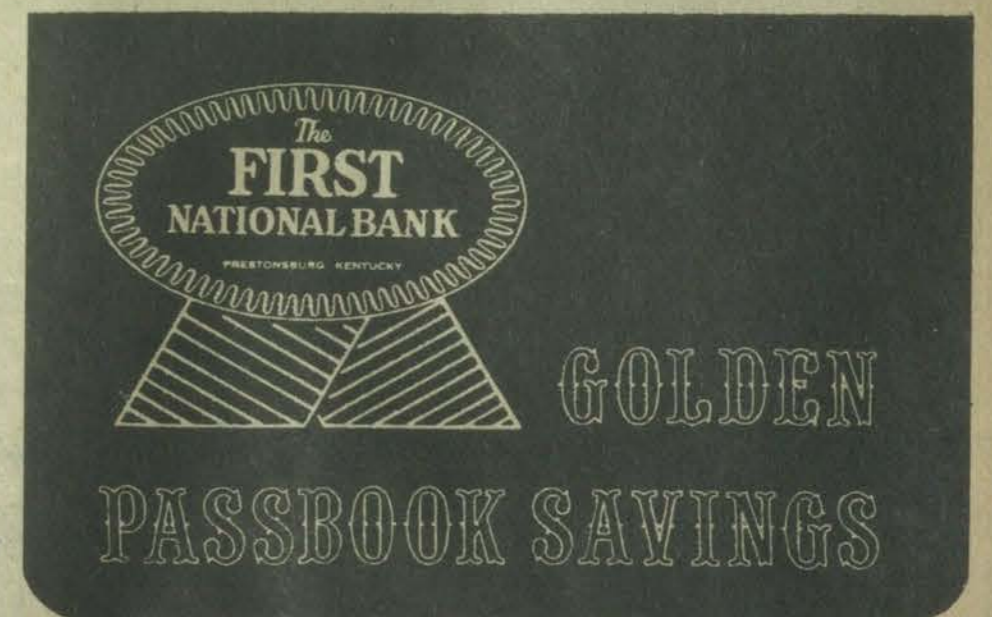

Isn't that an interesting choice?

Governor Proclaims Bible Week in Ky.

FRANKFORT, KY.—Calling upon the people of the commonwealth to set aside time to read the Scriptures, Gov. Louie B. Nunn proclaimed the week of November 22-30 as Bible Week in Kentucky.

The Governor also said the week is being set aside to encourage men, women and children of all faiths "to set up a plan of regular examination of the Foundation Book of the Judeo-Christian heritage."

"The meaning of such words as freedom, justice, love and responsibility are all rooted in Biblical revelation," he added, "and with the foundations of society shaking as never before, there is an imperative need to recover understanding of those foundation principles and of what God requires of modern man."

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL ASSOCIATION FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

BIG DUKE IN A BIG NEW CAUSE—John Wayne, with 183 films to his credit in more than 40 years of acting, and a brand-new Oscar for "True Grit," this year adds another dimension to his long list of professional and personal interests—helping the nation's retarded children. As the father of happy, healthy children, four of whom are under 13, the actor and humanitarian, in asking support of the programs being carried out nationwide by some 1,450 Associations for the Retarded, recently met a little, mentally retarded boy in Hollywood, who, until two years ago, was unable to speak. Wayne remarked that, to the world, the fact that the youngster can now say a few understandable words "may not sound like much, but to his mother and dad, it's almost a miracle!"

1-A Status for Some May Mean No Service

By GARY G. HUDDLESTON
 FRANKFORT, KY.—The state Selective Service System recently announced a new policy whereby deferred registrants with a Random Sequence Number of 171 or higher can give up their deferments and be re-classified 1-A.

But, who in his right mind would do a thing like that? I mean, that would be almost like volunteering for military service, wouldn't it?

Not at all, according to Col. M. A. Sanders, Chief of Staff for the state Selective Service office, who said no Kentuckian in the 1970 priority selection group (born between 1944 and 1950), whose number is 171 or above, will be inducted involuntarily this year.

And this "reached" number may be even lower for some local boards, as 170 is the statewide ceiling.

Sanders explained the advantage involved when a deferred registrant with a number over 170 is re-classified as 1-A by the end of the current year, with a guarantee that his number will not be reached.

"Exposure to the 1-A pool for even one day of the year now counts for the entire year of vulnerability," he said.

"If a man ends the year in a 1-A status without his number being reached, he is moved into a less vulnerable category, behind the priority group for the coming year."

In effect, according to Sanders, with a number of 171 or higher, the registrant having a classification of 1-A by January 31, 1970, can plan his future, free of the threat of interruption by military service.

The policy was initiated by President Nixon, who issued the new instructions in September.

Sanders predicted this year-end "housecleaning" of high-number deferred registrants would be an annual occurrence, as the military moves toward an all-volunteer army.

He recalled when the President asked Congress for the draft lottery system, one of the stated purposes was to reduce an individual's period of vulnerability to induction.

"This is another move to give everyone eligible for military service equal exposure, and to make the draft equitable for all people," he said.

He urged deferred registrants who would like to take advantage of the new program to write their local boards requesting re-classification.

He noted the national director of Selective Service, Curtis Tarr, has said he hopes the requests will be in by Thanksgiving.

But he added the state office has directed local boards to hold as many meetings as necessary to process all requests received.

Sanders noted the national draft quota had been estimated at 120,000 in 1971, and 75,000 in 1972.

"The goal for 1973 is zero draft call," he said, "but no one is certain that sufficient enlistment will continue."

"There have been more changes in the Selective Service System from this past February to the present, than in the entire history of the system," he said.

He added, "Kentucky boards have shown exceptional efficiency in the use of available manpower during this period of change."

Allen College Senior Holds 'Cycle Hill-Climbing Title

Terry Kinzer likes to go up in the world. He likes it so much and does it so well, in fact, that the Morehead State University senior won a national championship this year in motorcycle hill-climbing.

The 24-year-old physical education major from Allen took first place in 32 out of 36 climbs to win the 351 to 750 cc division of the sportsman hill-climb class of the American Motorcycle Association. The Floyd countian finished second in the other four events.

Young Kinzer, who races for his dad's cycle shop at Allen, has won more than 100 trophies in the five years he has been charging up steep hills on his 245-pound, 90-horsepower bike.

Hill-climbing usually involves a dirt incline ranging from 50 to 75 degrees and from 100 to 500 feet long. Riders try to climb the highest in the shortest time, Terry says climbing is "a thrill a second."

"Some people think hill climbing is too dangerous," he said. "But if you have confidence in yourself and your equipment, the fear factor is not a handicap."

The stocky champion has been flipped backwards numerous times but escaped injury, due to his quick reactions and the protective gear required of hill climbers.

"It's a wild feeling when the bike comes back over your head," he said. "You have to know what to do or someone will carry you away."

Kinzer began competing for the national title last May and finished in October. He will be receiving his trophy next spring.

"When you consider how many good hill climbers were on the circuit this year, winning the national championship really is a great honor," he said. "I hope to do it again next year."

He will be graduated from MSU next month but he's planning to stay on campus until his wife, the former Elizabeth Clark of Allen, receives her degree in May.

"I hope to become a teacher and keep my weekends free for hill-climbing," Terry added.

Asked if his wife shared his enthusiasm for the sport, he replied: "She keeps my bike polished."

KEA Says Christen Owes An Apology After Statement

LOUISVILLE, KY—The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) has told Finance Commissioner Albert Christen he "owes an apology to the teachers of Kentucky for his ill-considered statements" about their competence.

Christen, in an interview with the Associated Press in Frankfort, had said it would be an eye-opener for taxpayers to realize how many incompetent teachers they are wasting money on.

Dr. J. M. Dodson, KEA executive secretary, called for an immediate apology from Christen and asserted, "If he has personal knowledge of incompetent teachers, let him cite cases and bring charges for dismissal. But he does himself no honor in maligning an entire profession with his sweeping, undocumented statements."

"KEA has no wish to protect the incompetent teacher," Dodson continued, "but we would point out that the teaching profession has not yet won the right to determine who shall enter and remain in the profession—a right long ago secured by the medical and legal professions."

In a two-page statement taking issue with Christen's remarks, Dodson said, "Mr. Christen also wields a broad brush when it comes to educational finance. Perhaps he was misquoted. But he does not differentiate between appropriations for the foundation program (which covers elementary and secondary schools) and for higher education."

Christen had contended the state has fulfilled its obligation to elementary and secondary school people under the foundation program of basic aid to school districts. He said elementary and secondary education get the equivalent of all money raised from the 5 per cent sales tax.

Thanksgiving, and How It Grew Into U. S. National Holiday

By LOIS CAMPBELL

FRANKFORT, KY.—When the first Thanksgiving was observed by the Pilgrims of the Plymouth Colony, they probably never dreamed the day would become a national holiday.

In the strange new land where they settled, the Pilgrims felt deep gratitude to God for the blessings that came to them, and they wished to show their thankfulness.

The first Thanksgiving was observed December, 1621. A few years later, a day was set aside in the month of November which became associated with the harvesting of the crops.

In celebrating the harvest, the Pilgrims were following a custom that had been observed in one way or another by different races and peoples for many centuries. In their own native England, harvest-time was celebrated on farms for many years.

Eventually the separate harvest festivities of each farm were combined in a community observance, with all the people of the parish taking part. The master or squire held a big feast and sat down at the same table with his servants and all the farmers of the parish, their wives and children.

Another influence may have come from the American Indians. We know that the Indians were accustomed to observing several days of Thanksgiving throughout the year. The Iroquois, for instance, had an autumn festival known as the Green Corn Dance which lasted three days.

We are familiar with the story of how the Indians came to the first Thanksgiving feast at the invitation of the Pilgrims. Accounts of the occasion tell us that Massasoit, who was Chief of the Wampanoag tribe, of the Algonquins, came with his ninety warriors to the feast and remained with their new white friends three days. It seems likely that a three-day period of Thanksgiving was customary for them.

It took many years for Thanksgiving Day in America to become the permanent and regularly observed holiday we know today. The New England Colonies observed it from time to time. As early as 1644 in the New Amsterdam Colony, in what is now the city of New York, the governor of that settlement on the Hudson River issued a proclamation calling for a day of Thanksgiving.

In 1784, because the American colonists were so grateful that the Revolutionary War ended, a special Thanksgiving day was observed. Five years later, in 1789, President George Washington issued the first Thanksgiving Proclamation of the new nation.

In 1795 another Thanksgiving was set by President Washington. Then, in the year 1815, President James Madison proclaimed a Thanksgiving day because of the close of the War of 1812.

After 1815 a national Thanksgiving day as such became almost unknown. Some of the states observed it by proclamations of the governors of their respective states. But the observance was mostly irregular, varying in date from state to state.

It was Mrs. Sara Hale, editor of Godey's Lady's Book, who launched a campaign to establish Thanksgiving as a national holiday.

She wrote thousands of letters—to governors and to President Lincoln. Finally she received an interview with the President and discussed the crusade so close to her heart.

The result of that interview came in 1863 when President Lincoln made the last Thursday in November an annual, national Thanksgiving Day.

The persistence and untiring efforts of one woman were rewarded by a national legal holiday.

Our American Thanksgiving is the first such holiday in the world to become a legal holiday. We can see from this account how it started and how it grew. It is truly a family day and, aside from Christmas and Easter, is the only national holiday on our calendar with religious significance. Perhaps more than any other day of the year it is a day when we can be thankful to God for all that America means to us.

When they're looking up to you, are they really looking down at you?

The station wagon on the left is known in some circles as a status symbol.
The station wagon on the right is known in the same circles as a mistake.
Now the status symbol is long and low and really quite beautiful.
Whereas the Volkswagen is short and high and really quite ugly.

The status symbol features a powerful engine.
A Volkswagen engine is not as powerful, but it'll go farther on a gallon of gas.
The status symbol boasts roughly 88 cubic feet of carrying space.
The Volkswagen has twice that amount, 176 cubic feet.

Conclusion:
If you're looking for something to show how big you are, then we suggest you get yourself a status symbol.
But if you're looking for something that's just plain big, then maybe it wasn't us who made the mistake after all.
