

Board Buys 22-a. Tract At Eastern 2nd Building Phase To Be Begun Soon; Plans Being Rushed

The Floyd County Board of Education last Saturday voted to add a 22-acre-plus tract of land to the approximately 11 acres originally purchased as the site of the consolidated high school at Eastern.

At the same time it directed George Lee Shannon, architect, to proceed with preliminary plans immediately on Phase II of the building program at Eastern. Phase I is the school structure now being built; Phase II is a separate building which will contain a gymnasium, auditorium and music room. Three separate buildings were at first planned for these departments, but these are now planned to go under one roof as an economy measure.

The new acreage is being purchased from Earl Webb for $20,000. Its acquisition will permit construction of the Phase II complex parallel to the school and not in front as hitherto planned. Space will be afforded, also, for a football field and campus beautification.

The gymnasium planned at Eastern will seat at least as many as the Prestonsburg high school fieldhouse, it was said.

Purchase of the added acreage is subject to approval by the Division of Buildings and Grounds and other state agencies.

Advertising of the second Eastern building project is expected soon after preliminary plans are accepted. The board of education expects by that time to be in good bond marketing position, since bonds issued for construction of Prestonsburg high school and the Wheelwright high gym will be amortized by that time.

The board of education authorized Supt. Clark to advertise for bids on bus and truck insurance, the old Skull school grounds and for maintenance and transportation supplies. It employed Lawton Ray Allen to make the audit of the 1970-71 general fund.

The board declined to accede to a request made by a Martin delegation that it condemn the recent action of Phillip Dingus, Martin school principal, in dissolving the Parent-Teacher Association there.

The board's architect was directed to prepare plans for installing toilet facilities at the Bonanza school and authorized the superintendent to advertise for the sale of used school buses. The bid of the Sandy Valley Hardware Co. to install 18 air-conditioners in the McDowell elementary school was accepted.

This Town . . . That World

This isn't Leap Year, but 1971 has made it from winter to summer in one big leap and left spring somewhere back there.

THE SCORE

If Maytown's Pat Tallent had had no greater success in getting a basketball into a net than enticing minnows into a trap, he would have been picking up bench splinters along with the other scrubs. We have arrived at this conclusion after learning that the high school All-American set a minnow trap for minnows recently and next morning found therein exactly 12 water-snakes.

FISHING REPORT

Does a fisherman, casting for bass, violate the law when he catches a trout at a moment when he doesn't have a trout stamp on him? With this question unanswered, we hesitate to name the angler who recently caught a 13-inch rainbow in Right Beaver Creek. Don't ask me how the trout got there, either.

HOSS-SENSICALLY SPEAKING

This from one who seems to have been taken to and at the races:

CASUALTY REPORT

One of my friends who occasionally passes on information (?) which can be used in this column tells of the barber in one of our mountain counties who nicked a customer rather severely on the Adam's apple, one day, and began frantically dabbing at the wound with everything at hand. The customer didn't feel any particular pain and he finally asked the barber what had happened.

"Well, I tell you, my friend, seems I've gone and seeped you jest a bit. . . Maybe you'd better stop by Doc Brown's office before you try to go home."

HE WASN'T GUILTY

This tory recalls the one late Ham Wallen liked to tell of his barbering experiences. Said he had completed a job on a customer whose face was badly scarred. As he added the talcum to the shaven visage, Ham asked, merely by way of making conversation: "My friend, have I ever shaved you before?"

"No," replied the shaver, "I got those cuts in a sawmill accident."

One Arrested After Stores, Home Looted

Sheriff Frank Leslie said Monday that eight persons are involved in the taking of cash and merchandise from a Cow Creek home and two Buffalo Creek stores last week but that only one person has been arrested.

He said that evidence at hand shows that the breaks were committed by Roy Dean Lewis, who was jailed here last Tuesday on a charge of receiving stolen property and three breaking and entering counts. Others accompanied him to the scenes of the breaks and received some of the haul, the sheriff indicated.

Approximately $100 in cash said to have been taken from the home of Bennie Slone was recovered. Missing are 100 quarters also reported taken there. Foodstuffs and other items were taken from the stores.

State Police booked two men last weekend on charges of illegally transporting alcoholic beverages. Millis Hamilton, who was arrested by State Trooper Gary Rose, allegedly had in his possession 10 cases of beer. Michael Davis Wel, from whom 30 cases of beer were confiscated by State Troopers Stumbo and Stansberry, was arrested on Buck's Branch, near Martin.

Prestonsburg Chief of Police Bill Potter and Policeman "Hack" Thornberry arrested David Crider last week and booked him on a charge of administering dangerous drugs to himself. He later executed bond. Policemen Blackburn and Lafferty booked Jack Hammons, May 31, on a breaking and entering charge.

Others booked within the week, charges listed against each and names of arresting officers follow:

Floyd US 23 Sector Bids Near $8 Million

Construction of the 5.9 miles of new US 23 between Prestonsburg and Allen, including a bridge spanning the Big Sandy at Allen, will cost a total of $7,975,444, if low bids on the project are accepted by the Department of Highways.

Contractors' bids on the route were opened last Friday. The low bidders:

The Winston Ford Co., Inc., of Prestonsburg, on the 2.5-mile stretch from Water Gap to New Allen, including bridge, $4,762,747.

Kentucky Road Oiling Co., Georgetown, Ky., on the 3.4-mile sector from the Mountain Parkway, near here, to Water Gap, $3,212,697.

If the low bids are accepted, as expected, work on this, the last sector of the new four-lane US 23 from Prestonsburg to Pikeville, may be expected to start next month.

Winston Ford, Jr., of the Winston Ford Construction Co., said construction of the bridge at Allen will be done by the Dixie Bridge Co., Lexington, as a sub-contractor.

Completion of the two sectors of highway involved in the bidding is scheduled by the end of 1972. The work includes grade, drain and blacktop surfacing.

Work is under way on all other sections of the new highway.

The Highway Department is planning an additional blacktopping program this summer similar to last year's plan, Highway Commissioner B. E. King said.

Details, including which county gravel roads are to be paved and the amount to be spent, probably won't be decided until later this month, King said.

Funds for the summer blacktopping program will be in addition to the regular rural-secondary and county-road aid money that all 120 counties share according to a formula set by law. Distribution of the extra blacktop money is up to the department's administrators.

Last year, then-Commissioner Eugene Goss concentrated the program in 57 counties where less than 30 per cent of the roads on the state-financed, county road aid system were hard-surfaced. However, 14 other counties that did not meet that standard of need—including 11 that voted Republican in 1967—also shared in the extra work allotted by the GOP state administration.

An aim of this year's program, King said, will be to "get all counties as much on an equal basis as possible" in their percentage of hard-surfaced roads.

However, some roads that otherwise qualify might have to be omitted because the counties have not provided the grading, drainage, width or rock base needed as prerequisites to a good blacktopping job, King added.

Two Principals, Coach Resign As Teaching Staff Employed

The Floyd County Board of Education employed last Saturday 390 principals and teachers to staff the regular classrooms of the county school system and at the same time named office personnel, administrators of schools programs and teachers and aides for special education services.

In recommending the employment of classroom instructors County Supt. Charles Clark pointed out that because of the continued loss of pupils, teachers are employed "with the explicit understanding that they are being hired, subject to enrollment being sufficient to warrant their use." Employment of teachers now in school is subject to their earning certificates to teach in the particular position recommended for them and also to comply with all regulations of the state and county boards of education and the State Department of Education.

Two changes in principalships resulted when the principals at Betsy Layne and Wheelwright high schools resigned to take other posts with the board of education. Wilbur (Shorty) Jamerson resigned as principal at Wheelwright, and Ronald Turner, English teacher last year at Martin high school, was employed in his stead. Mr. Jamerson will be fulltime driver-training instructor at McDowell high school. Oscar Bush resigned as principal of Betsy Layne high to become a Title I social worker with the board. Gene Davis, principal last year at Pikeville high school, and formerly assistant principal here, will succeed him.

George McClellan was re-employed Saturday as head football coach at Prestonsburg high school but resigned Monday. His successor has not been named.

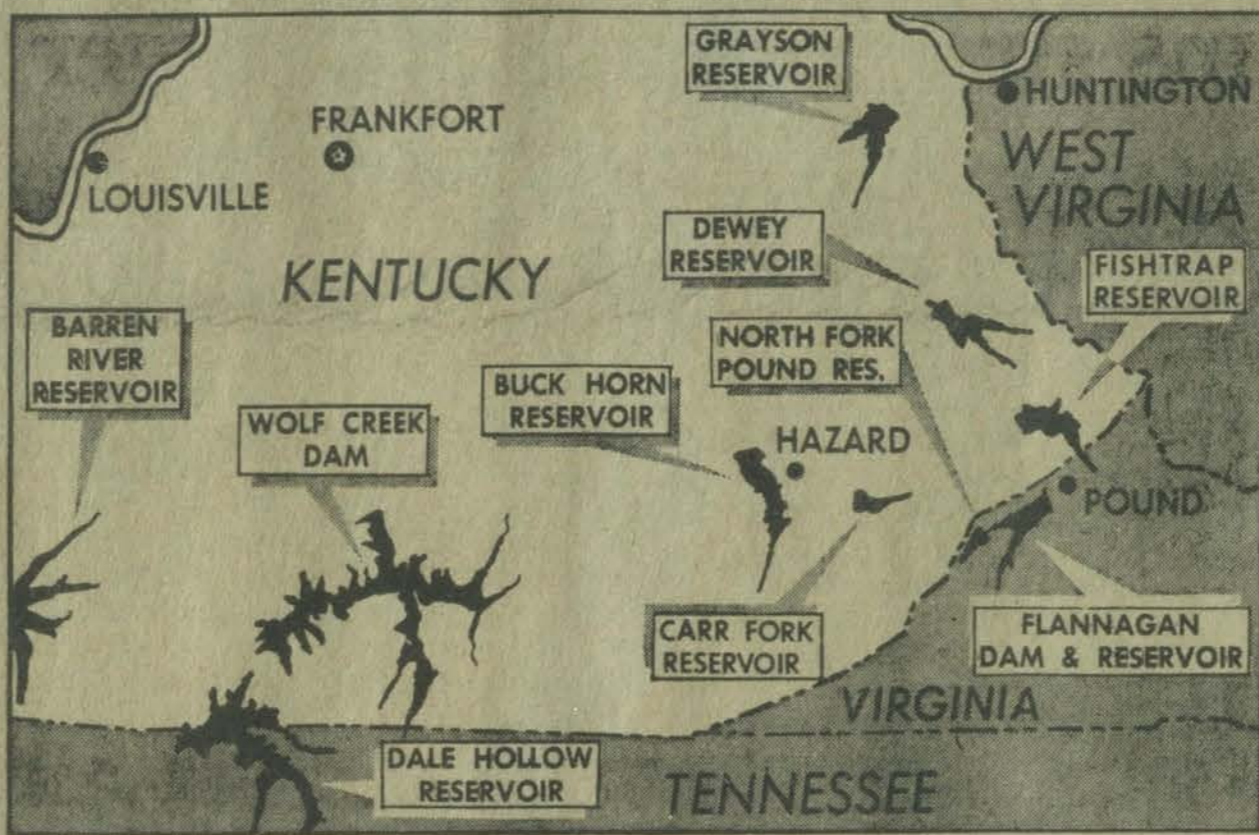

Teachers employed follow:

The North Fork of Pound Reservoir, near the Kentucky border in Virginia, has attractive blue water—but in reality it is sterile: A heavy flow of acid has "killed" the water. The other reservoirs and waterways on this map also are in danger of being destroyed.

It's Pound Now—Dewey, Others Are Potential Trouble Spots

Pound Reservoir, on the Virginia-Kentucky border, is sterile—"a biological desert"—because it is the beautiful receptacle of acid waters from stripmining operations.

John Flannagan Reservoir, also in Virginia, is showing signs of acid deterioration for the same reason.

These are in the headwaters of the Big Sandy (Levisa) river watershed. And farther downstream Dewey, Fishtrap and Buckhorn Reservoirs are potential trouble spots because they are in a region where acid-producing coal seams exist.

(Upper Johns Creek, which feeds into Dewey Lake, was said last year to have 80 stripmining operations going.)

The foregoing are free quotations from a Courier-Journal story written by David Ross Stevens after a visit to Pound Reservoir.

Writes Stevens:

Fork of Pound has enraged the environmentalists in Western Virginia. Three years ago they began to notice some acid drainage. By 1970, hardly any fish were left, and manganese, which had been picked up by the acid, had thrown a health scare into the town of Pound (population 1,000).

Pound's new water-treatment plant, built adjacent to the dam, was being stained and corroded. After several months of turmoil, the state health department determined the cause and ordered the plant to add more chemicals to take out the dangerous manganese. Although clothes in washers sometimes came out stained, no one was reported afflicted by the polluted water.

However, the local furor resulted in a public hearing by the Virginia Water Control Board.

The state report pinned the blame on the Flat Gap Mining Co. along with the Am-brose Branch Mining Co. and the Ronell Mining Co., but the order to Flat Gap said, in effect: Study the situation and try to come up with a plan of abatement by July 1. Environmental groups interpreted the order as being less than a slap on the wrist.

Foister Bolling, co-owner of the Flat Gap and self-described "poor boy just trying to make a living," said that the state order is not a deadline to stop the acid drainage. "As I see it, we are supposed to make some kind of attempt to stop it," Bolling said, "so we built some settling ponds and gravel pits on part of the mine to see if this method works."

Bolling also said that his company, which has mined about 210,000 tons of coal annually from this site (about $1.5 million worth at $7 per ton), will be moving from the North Fork of Pound by July. His next mine site is the South Fork of Pound, which feeds more directly into John Flannagan Reservoir.

The Virginia anti-pollution agency contends that it cannot move strongly against a polluter unless it has fresh evidence of fish kills. This it did not have at the Pound reservoir.

However, the state did take some bluegill fish from elsewhere and, as an experiment, placed them in water from the reservoir. The resulting report said: The scales loosened, the gills turned red and bled freely. For awhile the fish swam near the surface and gulped air, but eventually they turned a pale white and died of internal symptoms when the red blood cells were destroyed. But this evidence was not considered strong enough to take action.

With the North Fork of Pound dead, and Flannagan Reservoir in a vulnerable position, Col. Maurice Rousch of the Army Corps of Engineers in Huntington, W. Va., indicates it might be time for a federal move.

The Corps, under authority of the Refuse Act of 1899, will issue permits for discharges into the nation's navigable waters and their tributaries, starting July 1. Regulations governing these permits were drawn up by the Corps, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Council on Environmental Quality and the Departments of Interior, Commerce and Justice.

"Basically, our policy is to let the states handle pollution regulation," Col. Rousch said. "But we are also custodians of the reservoirs and if the states don't act, then we will have to."

"Does this mean that the Corps will set precedent by taking legal action against a strip mine?"

"If we can trace pollution from navigable waters to a strip mine, we will sue," the colonel said. His district, including part of Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia and Ohio, already has 36 anti-pollution cases in the hands of the Justice Department.

Court Street Seen As Mall By Planners

A Knoxville firm of consulting engineers has completed a survey and is now preparing cost estimates on possible conversion of the Court street area from the intersection of that street with Lake Drive to First avenue into an open-air shopping mall.

Chalmer H. Frazier, chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, said the development is at this time "only in the talking stage" but added that the feasibility of the project has evoked considerable interest.

The consulting firm, Host and Associates, has proposed that the street be open only to pedestrian traffic, that the street itself be used for fountains, trees, benches and other attractions and conveniences for the shopping public. No general reconstruction of buildings would be required. Changes would be restricted mainly to the fronts of existing structures.

Group Told Of Changes OEO Wants Grant Funds Frozen Except on Salaries, Valid Commitments

The Floyd County Comprehensive Health Services Program was suspended last week after the Office of Health Affairs had held that the Big Sandy Community Action Program and directors of the Health Program had failed at a June 1 meeting in Washington to show cause why the OEO grant financing it should not be at least temporarily withdrawn.

The notice of suspension, contained in a letter written by Dr. Carl A. Smith, acting director of the Office of Health Affairs, was mailed June 4 to County Judge Henry Stumbo, chairman of the board of directors of Big Sandy CAP, and Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, chairman of the health program's board.

All authority to expend or obligate any funds under the OEO grant was revoked except on commitments made in good faith and in accordance with the approved work program prior to notice of suspension. Harry Eastburn, Big Sandy CAP director, was requested to submit to Dr. Leon Cooper, director of the Comprehensive Health Services Division, a list of all health program employees. It was explained that this is asked because Health Affairs intends to authorize the use of grant funds to pay salaries of all bonafide employees of the project through the period ending June 18.

Any further OEO assistance on the program, Dr. Smith wrote, must be preceded by a complete reorganization of the program along these general lines:

- 1. Full operational and fiscal responsibility to be vested in a reorganized board.

Mobile Homes In This County May Be Target

Dr. Russell L. Hall, head of the Floyd County Health Department, and James B. Goble, health department administrator, indicated Monday that they will soon approach the courts in an effort to establish a means of halting and ultimately ending the flow into Floyd county streams of raw sewage from hundreds of mobile homes.

The health officials admit they have a tough problem of their hands, one which may never be solved unless their hands are strengthened by the courts when they take action against the polluters.

An average of five mobile homes a day come into this county, their sanitarians have been told. But where are they? Up every hollow, along mountainsides, wherever enough space can be levelled to provide a site—and for many of these no provision has been made to handle the sewage. Some have septic tanks and lateral fields. But many have nothing but a sewer line running from the bathroom, straight into the nearby stream.

The department's three sanitarians have been instructed to take time, in the future, to seek out by on-site visits and through inquiry the location of all mobile homes, then to determine those which have not complied with state law in guarding against stream pollution. Presumably, the next step will be to warn these homeowners who are in violation to take immediate steps to correct the situation, give them a stipulated time in which to do the work, then take legal action if no effort is made.

And that, health officials say, is where the courts come into the picture.

They also say it would be helpful if state law would require all mobile home dealers to provide health departments a record of their sales and the sites to which the homes were delivered.

In addition to the anonymity of mobile home purchasers, there is the handicap imposed through the facility with which these portable homes are installed. "A conventional home isn't built quickly, and we can see that the plumbing regulations are followed," it is explained. "But anybody can buy a mobile home today, have a site ready, and be living in it and polluting a stream by nightfall—before anybody but the nearest neighbor knows what is happening."

A septic tank and lateral field to control pollution costs the mobile homeowner around $500. It has been argued that, perhaps, state law might be enacted requiring dealers to include this cost in the price of the home, then have the sewage disposal work done at their expense.

However difficult the problem, the health department recognizes the danger to the public health this source of pollution presents. And it proposes to do something about it.

Kentucky's Vast Waters Give Finest Year-Round Fishing

FRANKFORT, KY.—If every person who fishes Kentucky's major lakes should demand his fair share of water, he'd have almost four tenths of an acre to call his very own and to fish in as he desired. This earth-shattering revelation was brought about by simply dividing Kentucky's 184,126 acres of big lake waters among the 478,921 license buyers in recent years.

The question naturally arises as to the amount of fishing this .4 acre would afford and it can be stated with certainty that it's more than a little bit. Many farmers have ponds that are no larger than a half acre and they glean many a mess of fish from these waters and they also get many hours of invigorating outdoor exercise from fishing that is offered there.

The two largest lakes, which combine to make up 93,700 acres, are the twin lakes, Barkley and Kentucky. These two giants combine to form one of the largest man-made bodies of water in the world. (They are separated by the Land Between the Lakes but are connected by a canal across LBL.)

If a fisherman is not satisfied with his four-tenths of an acre, he won't have to fret long until he'll have more. Two other lakes, with a combined acreage of 13,870, are now in the ending stage and should be fishable within a couple of years. They are Cave Run, below which is being erected Kentucky's new fish hatchery, and Laurel Lake.

In addition to the major lake waters, Kentuckians have something over 13,000 miles of running water—a total above that of any other state except Alaska—plus more than 40 state-constructed lakes, and of course the more than 100,000 farm ponds which average in size about one acre each.

So, the fisherman does have right now considerably more than four-tenths of an acre of water for his very own.

But water, from the standpoint of the fisherman, is of very little value unless it is generously populated with fishes. This is no problem in Kentucky.

With the exception of a small percentage of streams that are contaminated by pollution, the waters of this state offer good populations of fish, and the various species present year-round fishing. When it's an off season for one species, another in all probability will be on.

The black bass is a year-round fish; whites come in many sizes and offer good fishing by various techniques during many months; the croppie is productive on a good many days; the bluegill is almost always around, even for ice fishing; the catfish will give a good account of himself for many hours of many days; then there are the rough fish that are in demand, especially in warmer months.

In addition to the native fish, there are the stocked rainbow trout that occupy the time of many fishermen these days. Also to be caught is the rockfish which is in Kentucky as a result of the ingenuity of the Fisheries Division. Biologists have nurtured them along after obtaining the young of these ocean going striped bass from the impounded waters of Santee-Cooper Reservoir in South Carolina.

James M. Wells, 43, Dies at Morehead

James Milford "Toodles" Wells, 43, formerly of Prestonsburg, died Sunday at the Daniel Boone Convalescent Center, Morehead, of a cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Wells, a resident of Morehead and a former Kentucky probation and parole director, had been ill since April 15.

A native of this county, he was a son of Mrs. Marsha Litteral Wells, of Prestonsburg, and the late Sam Wells. At the time of his illness he was employed by the Department of Highways. He was educated in the Prestonsburg schools and received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Morehead State University. He at one time was a teacher here and was widely known in sports circles as a basketball referee and baseball umpire. He was a veteran of World War II.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Lappin Wells, and three sons, James Warren, William Lewis and Robert Lappin Wells, all of Morehead; one brother, Randall Lee Wells, also of Morehead, and four sisters, Mrs. Fred Collins, Danville, Ky., Mrs. Carl T. Watson and Mrs. Marshall Davidson, both of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Franklin Conley, Nashville, Tennessee.

Funeral rites were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday from the Morehead Christian Church, the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey officiating, and burial was made in the Lee cemetery, Morehead, under direction of the Lane Funeral Home.

Entered as second class matter June 18,
1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg,
Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Rogers Keith Janckson, an 18-year-old June graduate of Louisville male high school, was selected Kentucky's outstanding teen.

To Conduct Survey Of Employment Here

A sample of households in this area will be included in a nationwide survey of employment and unemployment to be conducted the week of June 14 by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, according to Joseph R. Norwood, director of the Bureau's regional office in Charlotte, N. C.

The monthly survey is conducted by the Bureau of the Census for the U. S.
Department of Labor, and the information is used to calculate the number of persons with jobs, the number looking for jobs, and the monthly percentage of unemployment, which is regarded as one of the most important measures of the Nation's economic health. In April, for example, the survey indicated that 78.2 million persons were employed and 4.7 million unemployed. The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 6.1 percent, as compared with 6.0
percent in March.

The June survey will include, also, queries on marital status, the number of children in families and the number families expected to have. Answers to these questions are used to guide demographers in making projections of birth rates and family composition. Individual family information is kept strictly confidential and is used for statistical purposes only.

The Census Bureau interviewer who will visit households in this area is Mrs. Ella R.
Daniel, Thelma, Kentucky.

Grubbs said he credits a stepped-up advertising program by his agency and research into new energy sources with keeping Kentucky "in the forefront among states" in terms of industrial development.
He said his most successful advertising campaign, refinancing under the Kentucky plan, had led to 150 leads, and brought four companies to the state.

GOLDEN PASSBOOK SAVINGS

Wouldn't you know that the House of Savings would be first to offer two more plans to make savings create more interest than ever? Now, in addition to our 5 percent, 90-day Golden Passbook Plan, we invite you to try our 5 1/2 percent, 1-year Golden Passbook Plan and our 5 3/4 percent, 2-year Golden Passbook Plan. We think you'll find them all very "interest"- ing.

All three plans offer guaranteed interest rates, and interest is compounded daily and paid or credited quarterly with each. Any of the three may be opened with a $100 minimum deposit, and additional deposits of $100 or more may be made at any time.

Here's the interesting difference

With our new 5 3/4 percent, 2-year
Golden Passbook Plan, your funds remain on deposit for a minimum of two years, with an effective yield of 5.92 percent per annum.

Our new 5 1/2 percent, 1-year Golden Passbook Plan has an effective yield of 5.65 percent per annum, and your funds must remain on deposit only one year.

And our famous 5 percent Golden Passbook Plan makes your funds available four times a year—during the first ten days of January, April, July, and October—or anytime 90 days after a written notice is received by the bank. 5 percent Golden Passbook has an effective yield on 5.13 percent per annum.

How Interest Figured And Payment Dates

Interest compounded quarterly.
Interest payment dates: April 1, July 1,
Oct. 1 and Jan. 1. Deposits made

TAYLOR-FARGO VOWS SAID

The First Presbyterian Church in Blytheville, Arkansas was the setting for the double-ring ceremony of the wedding of Miss Beverly Ann Taylor to Joseph Robert Fargo, Jr.

The couple was united in marriage May 22 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with the Rev. James B. Billman officiating. Vows were exchanged before a sunburst arrangement of multi-colored spring flowers, flanked by greenery at the altar.

Ronald E. Miller, organist, presented the pre-nuptial music with the traditional wedding march.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Taylor, of Blytheville, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Rhoda Taylor and the late Mr. Jason Taylor, of Spencer, West Virginia. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Fargo, of Wheelwright, Ky., and the grandson of Mrs. R. S. Turley, of Danville, West Virginia.

Miss Cathy Jean Duke, of Memphis, Tennessee, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. The groom's father served his son as best man, and Jeff Fisher served as usher.

Mrs. Charles Duke, of Memphis, registered the guests in the church foyer at a yellow and white table, centered with a white memory candle surrounded by lily of the valley and smilax.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown fashioned of ivory organza. Pearl and crystal encrusted alecon lace trimmed the high neck, extending down the center front bodice and encircling the empire waist and cuffing the full bishop sleeves. The soft flowing skirt swept to the back into a full chapel train. She wore a camelot headpiece with jewel encrustations and french illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds centered with white marguerite daisies.

The maid of honor wore a Caressee long gown of yellow chiffon and venice lace with matching headpiece with shoulder-length tulle. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow marguerite daisies.

The bride's mother chose a long gown of powder-blue chiffon with white accessories and wore a corsage of talisman rosebuds.

The groom's mother wore a long gown of peach silk with matching accessories and also wore a corsage of talisman rosebuds. The grandmother of the groom, Mrs. R. S. Turley, was dressed in a mist-green ensemble with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts to a reception at the Holiday Inn in Blytheville. The three-tiered wedding cake with columns and sugar bells, topped by a miniature bride and groom centered the table. A crystal punch bowl and flowers of white stock and yellow marguerite daisies set at one end.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Wanda Turley, of Winter Park, Florida, and Mrs. Robert Duke, of Memphis. Many out-of-town guests attended.

Following a week's honeymoon in Hot Springs, Arkansas, the couple will reside in Blytheville where Sgt. Fargo is presently stationed with the Air Force.

The unemployment insurance system observed its 35th anniversary in 1970, and crossed the $50 billion mark in payment of regular benefits to unemployed workers. It also paid over $10 million in Disaster Unemployment Assistance in the first full year of operation of this new program.

Have two doors kept you out of a Volkswagen?

Don't answer yet.

The car in the picture is a Volkswagen. And, as you can see, it has four doors. It's our new 411 4-Door sedan.

Like most 4-door sedans, our 411 gives the people in the back almost as much room as the people in the front.

Unlike most 4-door sedans, though, there's also room for luggage in the front as well as in back.

Like most 4-door sedans, our 411 has an engine.

Unlike most 4-door sedans, our engine gets about twenty-two miles to the gallon.

Like most 4-door sedans, our 411 offers a lot of options. Automatic transmission, radial tires, rear-window defogger, to name a few.

Unlike most 4-door sedans, those options are included in the price of the car.

Now you can answer if you like:

The Court of Appeals held that the state cannot suspend a person's driver's license if the drunk-driving conviction on which that action was based is in question or under appeal. The high court also upheld the state's obscenity law and the conviction of a book store dealer in McCracken circuit court under it.

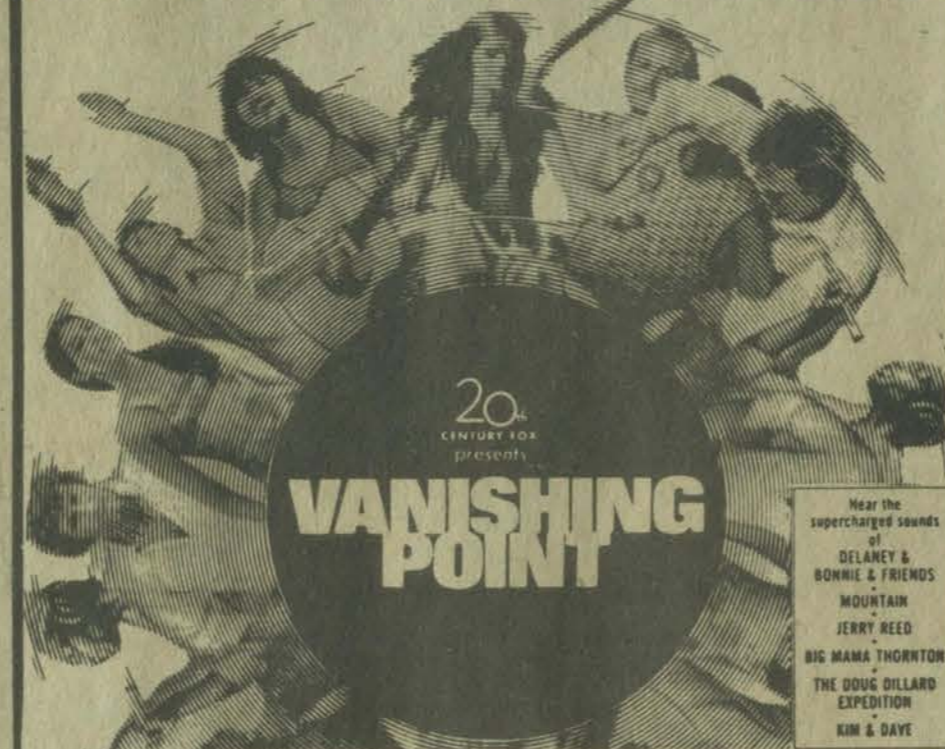

The Insurance Department called a hearing for May 10 on a possible decrease of rates for burglary and robbery insurance. Commissioner Robert Preston said he called the hearing because all firms writing such policies in Kentucky have made unusually high profits the last two years.

Ratliff Is Named To Pikeville College Board of Trustees

Pikeville, Ky.—Thomas B. Ratliff, Pikeville attorney, coal operator and businessman with a strong interest in politics, is one of the newly appointed members of the Pikeville College Board of Trustees, according to an announcement from Dr. Robert S. Cope, college president.

Ratliff was born at Hellier, and is a son of Elster and Ora Ratliff. He received his elementary and secondary education at Pikeville College Training School and the Pikeville College Academy. During World War II he served in the U. S. Navy with a destroyer escort in the South Pacific and after completion of military service was graduated from Pikeville College and the University of Kentucky College of Law.

He was admitted to the bar in 1951 and was associated with the law firm of Harman, Hobson, and Scott at Pikeville. Since 1951, he has been active in the private practice of law, coal mining, manufacturing, the motel business and politics.

After being active for many years in local and state affairs of the Republican Party, Ratliff in 1963 was elected Commonwealth Attorney for the 35th Judicial District of Kentucky and served in that capacity until January, 1970. He won the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky in the May, 1967 primary election and was unsuccessful in the general election that year.

Ratliff is owner of the Landmark Motel, Pikeville, and the Landmark Mining Company, Pikeville. He is the major stockholder and president of the Reynolds Body Company, of Allen.

Three UK Students From Floyd County Get Grant Renewals

James W. Akers, Allen, James B. Newman, Grethel, and Shelly D. Perry, Cliff, have been selected again to receive Kentucky Department of Highways' scholarships for the coming year.

They are students at the University of Kentucky College of Civil Engineering. Akers is a sophomore, Newman a junior, and Perry a senior.

These scholarships are awarded on an annual basis. The recipients are judged solely on grades and desire to enter the engineering profession.

All three will work out of the District 2 office this summer.

Students in the program receive a check from the Highway Department every two weeks, as do other state employees. In return for the stipend the student agrees to work for the Department every summer while in college and one year after graduation for each year he was on scholarship. They are paid according to prevailing state wage scales.

The program serves a double purpose. It helps young people interested in pursuing an engineering career to finance their education, and it helps attract qualified engineers into rewarding careers with the Highway Department.

The decision as to who will receive the scholarships is left entirely up to each individual school. The counseling staffs are told how many scholarships will be available to them for the coming year, and they decide which students should get them.

Dr. Henry Martin Speaks At Webb Reunion, Sunday

The descendants of William Webb and his son, Jonathon Webb, Sr., held their annual meeting in the auditorium of the Maytown high school, Sunday. Dr. Henry Martin, of Eastern Kentucky State University, was the speaker. Group singing and string music were entertainment features of the afternoon. Plans were made to meet next year when a dinner will be held. Several from Lexington and Pikeville attended and extended an invitation to their Webb kin to attend the Webb reunion at Webbville, June 13. The national society of Webb cousins will meet in Louisville, June 26, at the Brownsboro Road Holiday Inn.

McDowell Star Among Recruits Signed by M.S.U.

"An outstanding collection of talent" is how Morehead State University Head Basketball Coach Bill Harrell describes his eight recruits of 1971, one of whom is McDowell's all-stater, Glenn Turner. The seven incoming freshmen and a junior college transfer represent Harrell's third recruiting effort. The first was located in less than six weeks and last year's output produced the first unbeaten freshman team in MSU history. The frosh prospects include, in addition to Turner, all-stater Gene Frye, of Lauray; and Kentucky standouts, Eddie Scott, of Lewis county, Larry Brown, of Hazel Green Academy, and Mark Hudson, of New Richmond, Ohio.

Many Fisherman List Bluegill A Favorite Among Game Fish

FRANKFORT, KY.—There's no telling how many fishermen there are who are perfectly satisfied to catch only bluegill. They are the experts along this line—people who scorn other types of fish. Their choice is bluegill and they don't mind letting the world know. These individuals, surely, must take a bit of ribbing from the erudite bass caster, who abhors the thought of catching any other fish than the black bass, or the trout fisherman who thinks that he is the only purist in the business. This is all well and good. As they say, it takes all kinds to make up the world and the same goes for fishing in Kentucky. So, to go "mod" about it all, each fisherman has his individual "thing" to do. Now that the bluegill fisherman has been equated with the so-called upper echelon, let's get down to the nitty-gritty of catching this tiny, terrific fighter.

This is the principal type bluegill fishing while the gamesters are on the nest. At other periods they may be harvested by different methods. The procedures will vary as the season progresses, but there never seems to be a lack of bluegill. They can be found in farm ponds, in major lakes or small lakes, and also in the streams. In all those places, they'll offer an individual some very exciting and profitable fishing, since, from a food standpoint the bluegill is rated among the best. Why not give it a whirl? You'll like it and you'll find that bluegill fishing can be just about as exciting as any other type.

It's about time, right now, for the bluegill to be on the nest. He moves in a bit later than other species of fish and deposits his eggs in a nest fanned out for that purpose by both male and female of the species. Usually the eggs are on a clearing on the bottom of the lake, in water not more than a couple of feet deep. Many individuals may spawn eggs in this area and, once spawned, the adults stand by the protect the eggs from marauders, and therein lies their downfall. They'll battle anything that comes near the nest—even a lunker bass is put to flight by the sharp pinpointed darts of the bluegill. They'll attack a turtle or any type fish that veers too near and they'll do the same to a proffered morsel of food neatly fashioned to a tiny hook. They'll hit with a vengeance that makes the art of "hooking" these fellows little more than a sharp jerk on the line. The fish is then reeled in through the shallow waters as it veers from side to side, violently tugging all the while. This fishing procedure over a nest may continue for hours, as a seemingly unending supply of bluegill are waiting nearby to take the tempting lure. The fisherman may use a cane pole, which is ideal for farm ponds; he may use the casting or spinning rod or, if he desires to display untold skill with his flyrod, he may just about wear out his arm while casting a small fly over and across the nest, bringing in a flapping bluegill on almost every cast.

Many Who Are Mentally Retarded Not Doomed As Beyond Help

(The information for this section is provided by the staff of Mountain Mental Health Services. If you have questions, contact your local Mental Health Office; phone 886-3893 or Mountain Mental Health Services, 413 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.)

QUESTION: Can the mentally retarded be helped?

ANSWER: Until recent years, it was felt that once a person's condition was diagnosed as mental retardation and he was assigned to one of the intelligence or behavioral levels we've discussed the past few weeks—profound, severe, moderate, or mild—he would probably stay at that level the rest of his life. He was trained, treated or educated at that level, if and when a training-treatment program was available to him. Usually, advancement to the next level was not even considered. As a result, the individual did not advance—he either stayed at the assigned level or deteriorated.

Fortunately, we have gained new insights in the past few years and throughout the country, programs are now under way for the mentally retarded which give them the challenge and opportunity to further their mental and social growth. Many mentally retarded persons are no longer considered doomed to stay at the same level where they originally tested. With professional help, they are now encouraged to move upward. In fact, the premise on which most Federal Programs for the mentally retarded are based is the belief and faith in the mentally retarded's potential ability to improve their intellectual and social abilities and to contribute to society.

There must be a careful assessment of each retarded person's potential before entering a rehabilitation program if he is to make the most effective use of it. If he is pressured by demands that are too high for him, or, on the other hand, left unchallenged by demands too low, the rehabilitation is more likely to fail.

Even though the mentally retarded person usually lacks the full normal capacity for learning, he does learn. Although his thought processes are limited, he does think. He thinks, learns, feels, hopes, and except for the most profoundly retarded—he makes decisions.

But, how much each individual improves, depends in large measure on the type of medical, social and educational help he receives and what opportunities the community offers.

When you need it most, Central National's HOSPITAL INDEMNITY "TRI-FIVE PLAN" pays you $500 per month for up to 555 days (almost a year and six months, or more than $9,000) each time you are hospitalized.

You may receive this welcome extra cash whether you are insured by other companies or not. As soon as your policy is in force, you are covered for accidents. And even if some companies say you are uninsurable because of an ailment or other condition that keeps coming back, the "TRI-FIVE PLAN" covers a pre-existing ailment after your policy has been in force 24 months!

THE "TRI-FIVE PLAN" COVERS THOSE OVER AGE 65 . . . .

Statistics show that people over 65 go to hospitals more often and have bigger medical bills than any other group. That's why some hospital plans won't accept Senior Citizens, or else raise rates so high they can't afford extra cash protection just when they need it most. Central National's HOSPITAL INDEMNITY "TRI-FIVE PLAN" not only accepts applicants regardless of age over 65, it pays 100% of the monthly benefit in every detail after the first 7 days of hospitalization. (After the first 14 days if you are over 75).

BENEFITS PAID TO SENIOR CITIZENS IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE . . . .

Senior Citizens get this vital extra cash in addition to Medicare or any other insurance—and they too, can enroll now at the special $1.00 rate.

AMAZINGLY LOW COST

Membership in Central National's HOSPITAL INDEMNITY "TRI-FIVE PLAN" costs only $1.00 for the first premium. Then the following low premiums according to age:

AGE	MONTHLY RENEWAL PREMIUMS
50 and over	$5.00
40 thru 49	4.50
39 and under	3.50
Dependents 18 and under	1.50

NO CHANGE AS AGE INCREASES

If you wonder how a plan can offer so much for so little, the answer is simple: Central National's "TRI-FIVE PLAN" is a group-type enrollment plan. All business is conducted directly between you and the company by mail, or through the local representative we have appointed in your area.

NO SALESMAN WILL CALL UNLESS REQUESTED . . . .

This means low administrative and sales costs—substantial savings that are passed on to you and your family.

LIMITED ENROLLMENT PERIOD . . . .

Accidents do not wait to happen. Illness does not wait to strike. So Act Now!! Your application will have to be in Central National's office before expiration of the special enrollment period in order for you to become eligible at the low $1.00 initial fee.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

If for any reason whatsoever you are not completely satisfied with your "TRI-FIVE" policy, you may return the policy in 10 days and we will promptly refund your money.

James D. Hensley, principal of Prestonsburg high school, recently announced the top-ranking seniors for the class of 1971.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club, Pep Club and Co-Ed-Y. He is presently corresponding secretary of the National Honor Society and senior class treasurer.

Thomas Ray Stapleton, salutatorian, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stapleton, of Prestonsburg. He has won three consecutive Spanish medals and an English medal. He received five conservation ribbons, and is a member of the National Honor Society, Drama Club and Co-Ed-Y. The other top seniors are Kerry Lee Shannon, third; Marilyn Rose, fourth; Clay Spradlin, fifth; Timothy Gardner, sixth; Dinah Smiley, seventh; Deborah Cesco, eighth; John Paul Leslie, ninth; Carol Holbrook, tenth.

During the 1960's, employment in the health occupations grew from 2 million to an estimated 3.2 million or by 60 percent—more than 3 times the rate of growth in civilian employment as a whole.

Governor Opposes Severance Tax, If
On Kentucky Only

Governor Nunn has reiterated his opposition to imposing a severance tax on coal in Kentucky, in the absence of a similar levy in other coal-producing states. His statement came in reply to a question raised by a delegate to the two-day Environmental Conference at Natural Bridge. He said that while a severance tax could probably be borne by the coal industry during the present period of high prices for coal, it could be harmful when the price declines, as it does in the normal ebb and flow of that industry. The governor said he felt the revenue from the severance tax would not be adequate to offset the money needed for unemployment and welfare benefits during the low periods in the coal industry. He compared the issue with the production tax put years ago on whiskey which caused a distiller to store his whiskey out of the state, thus costing Kentucky jobs which never have been recovered.

MARY HAD A LITTLE BOY

Mary had a little boy,
His soul was white as snow
He never went to bible class,
Because Mary wouldn't go.
He never heard the tales of Christ
That thrill the little mind,
While other children went to class
The child was left behind.
And as he grew from babe to youth,
She saw to her dismay
A soul that once was snowy white
Become a dingy gray.
Realizing that he was lost,
She tried to win him back;
But now the soul that once was white
Had turned an ugly black.
She even started to church,
And Bible study, too,
She begged the preacher,
"Isn't there something you can do?"
The preacher tried, and failed,
And said, "We're just too far behind.
I tried to tell you years ago,
But you would pay no mind."
And so, another soul is lost
That once was white as snow,
Bible study would have helped.
But Mary wouldn't go.

Pinto 2-Door Sedan

Maverick 2-Door Sedan

$1919***
Pinto 2 door
$66* less than VW 113

$2175***
Maverick 2 door
$176* less than Nova 2 door

The little carefree car. Pinto is sized small, like the economy import, but it's bigger on value. And price is only the beginning. Pinto calls for only half as many oil changes as VW. One-sixth the chassis lubes. So easy to service that you can do most routine maintenance yourself. And Pinto is bigger on performance. It has a 75-hp engine that has averaged over 25 mpg in simulated city/suburban driving. Sports-car type rack-and-pinion steering. Wider stance and lower silhouette.

The Simple Machine. Maverick's price makes it simpler to own than Nova. But that's not the only reason we call it the Simple Machine. Maverick's simple to drive and park because of its shorter wheelbase and smaller turning circle. Simple to service because it's been designed that way. Maverick offers a 4-door sedan for a low price of $2235* ($145** less than Nova 4 door). Or choose the sporty Grabber model. A choice of an economical V-8 and three thrifty Sixes.

*Ford's suggested retail price for Pinto and Maverick. However, the models shown are equipped with accent group (Pinto $60; Maverick $52) and white sidewall tires ($29). Destination charges, dealer preparation charges (if any), state and local taxes are extra.

**Comparison based on manufacturers' suggested retail prices for closest comparable body styles of lowest priced models, comparably equipped.
