

Expect EDA Approval Of Hospital Addition

Pulmonary Lab, Reservoir Cost Set at $292,000

An additional $292,000 worth of facilities for the Highlands Regional Hospital, now under construction near Auxier, is expected to be approved this week by the Economic Development Administration (EDA), Chalmers H. Frazier, administrator of the non-profit Highlands Hospital Corp., said Monday.

The no. 1 facility scheduled for addition to the $5-million-plus hospital is a two-story addition which will provide the only completely equipped pulmonary function laboratory east of Lexington.

Construction of a two-story wing to house the laboratory at the rear of the hospital, with 6,000 square feet of floor area, will be done by the contractor on the hospital proper. Its equipment will provide for the study of Black Lung, the evaluation and treatment of emphysema and other diseases of the upper respiratory tract.

Mr. Frazier said the laboratory will be headed by one of the outstanding men in this field.

The second facility expected to be approved by EDA is an emergency water reservoir of 200,000-gallon capacity which will be built on the hillside overlooking the hospital.

The 150-bed hospital is now 65 per cent complete and construction is on schedule, Mr. Frazier said. Roofing has been completed, plastering was begun this week and glass installation is scheduled within the next two weeks. Heating is already in the building.

Occupancy is scheduled for next summer.

End of Strike May Be Distant

The strike which has paralyzed the coal industry continued this week, and there apparently was the dimmest of chances of an early agreement on terms of a new contract.

Locally, the effect was mainly psychological. No new unemployment claims as a result of the mine layoff had been filed at the state Unemployment Office here, although several men had reported they had been laid off work by a firm allied with the mining industry.

The current strike in which the United Mine Workers seek a raise from a top of $37 a day to $50 for members has been marked by a quiet unlike strikes of other years. Tom Raney, UMW international representative for District 30, said both miners and operators are awaiting the outcome of negotiations. "There'll be no picketing unless someone attempts to work, and no union mines have made such attempts," he added.

Doubling of the 40-cent-per-ton royalty for the union's welfare fund, stricter safety rules and changes in administration of the welfare fund are also being asked by the UMW.

One side effect of the strike was the layoff by the N. & W. Railway Company of 350 workers. Layoffs by the C. & O. Railway Company are held certain.

Of greater national concern at this time is the nationwide strike of dockworkers which has tied up shipping. Negotiations apparently have broken down, and President Nixon is reported near a decision to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to end the stoppage during a 90-day cooling off period.

Officers Arrest 4 in Rum Raids Over Week-End

Three liquor raids by state and county officers last week-end resulted in three arrests, the issuance of a warrant for a fourth person and the confiscation of about 23 cases of beer and 52 half-pints of whiskey.

William (Bill) Hall, of the Mud Creek section, was booked at the county jail Saturday by State Troopers Rose and Williamson on a transporting count after they had confiscated 82 cans of beer and 17 half-pints of whiskey.

Deputy Sheriffs Arvel Nelson and Ervin Salisbury reported they found 12 cases of beer and 27 half-pints of whiskey in a raid Friday on the Mud Creek home of Walker Newsome. They arrested Newsome's wife, Ellen, on a selling charge and Earnel Isaac as having possession of the whiskey and beer taken. A third-offense possession warrant was issued for Walker Newsome, but he had not been arrested Monday morning. Mrs. Newsome and Isaac were taken before Magistrate Denzil Ray Hall.

The same deputies with Constable Gillis Conn and Deputy Sheriff Hurley raided the premises of Jake Moore at East McDowell, Sunday, confiscating 96 cans of beer and eight half-pints of whiskey. Moore's case is in Magistrate Bill Wells' court.

Ervin Marsillet, Jr. was returned to jail here last Friday and is being held on the federal charge of unlawful flight, it was

King Asks Study Of Frazier's Cr. Road Situation

Although he holds that the Frazier's Creek road is Floyd county's responsibility for maintenance or improvement, since it is county-owned, Commissioner of Highways B. E. King recently instructed District Engineer Wendell Bayes to have the route inspected to determine what help, if any, the state might be able to grant under its county road-aid program.

No decision at the state level has been announced.

Commissioner King wrote Eddie Howell, head of one of 47 families who live on the road, that KY 680 from East McDowell to the mouth of Ned's Fork is scheduled for blacktopping by November. But Frazier and others say that does not touch their narrow, twisting road which, they claim, is dangerous. At the opening of the current school term several parents kept their children out of school, maintaining the road was unsafe for travel by school bus, but later ended this form of protest.

MR. AND MRS. TACKETT

Floyd County's Oldest Student

Ben Tackett, 84, Stanville, is an exponent of the truth of the old adage that you're too old to learn. He recently learned to read and write in the adult basic education class now being conducted on Mare Creek by Mrs. Norah J. Scalf.

Tackett attends the school with his wife, Jane, herself 75 years old. Mrs. Tackett, who was advanced in the grades before her marriage, is seeking to improve her education, along with her husband.

The octogenarian student, a native of the Mud Creek section of this county, never had many opportunities to acquire an education when in the late 1880's he became of school age. His life was spent in lumbering and railroading, with a little farming. Raising eight children, by a former marriage, he managed to give all some education.

Tackett, a pensioner on Social Security, says his greatest thrills come from being able to endorse his checks by writing his name and by reading the Bible and newspapers. It was by attempting to read newspaper headlines that his interest in more education was kindled, Tackett says.

James Salisbury, director of adult basic education in this county, notes that Tackett is the oldest student to enter any of his adult classes. A regular feature of Salisbury's monthly visits to the Mare Creek school is a reading by his oldest pupil.

New Balloting Dates On Health Board Set

Court-established guidelines for the nomination and election of board members from the consumer group to Comprehensive Health Care, Inc., the organization which is expected to persuade OEO to reactivate the Floyd County Comprehensive Health Program, went into effect last Friday.

The guidelines were designated by Circuit Judge Henry Meigs, of the Franklin circuit court, following a pre-trial conference on the petition of poverty-group representatives to halt a vote scheduled earlier, and so it is expected that there will be no further delay in the balloting. The original voting for seven consumer-group nominees and the subsequent election of three members of the board from that group was attacked on the grounds that sufficient notice was not given and that sufficient guidelines for the voting had not been established.

A major change in the original plans provides voting at the same seven locations for both nominating and electing members.

The seven community nominating meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. October 15, and one consumer representative will be nominated at each place. Then, on Oct. 29, from 7:30 till 9 p.m., three board members will be elected from this group of seven nominees.

The voting places are the Floyd county courtroom, the Allen elementary school, Martin high school, Garrett high school, McDowell high school, Osborne elementary school and John M. Stumbo elementary school.

The nominating meetings and county-wide election are to be conducted according to the following procedures:

Kentucky Division of Economic Opportunity personnel will conduct the nominating meetings and the countywide election.

Representatives of community organizations and interested citizens are to be invited to act as observers at the nominating meeting and the county-wide election, including the balloting and counting of the ballots.

All voting participants must sign a register at the door declaring they meet the OEO poverty income guidelines.

All nominations at the nominating meetings will be made from the floor and must have a second. After nominations are closed, the vote will be by secret ballot. A ballot will be distributed to eligible participants by roll call, and the participant will write his selection on the ballot. The ballot will be placed in a ballot box. After the completion of the balloting, the ballots will be counted by persons conducting the nominating meetings.

Nominees at each of the seven locations must receive more than 50 per cent of the total votes cast at their polling place. If no candidate receives more than 50 percent of votes cast, then the balloting will be repeated with the names of the two persons receiving the greatest first round vote being placed in nomination.

Procedures for establishing eligibility to vote at the county-wide election shall be the same as set out for the nominating meetings.

Voting there will also be by secret ballot and each participant may vote for three (3) of the seven (7) candidates. Ballots where more than three candidates are voted for will be voided.

In the countywide election, the ballots will be placed in sealed ballot boxes, and these taken to the Floyd county courtroom, where a CPA firm will count the votes and certify the candidates receiving the highest number of votes as duly elected.

Challenges based on the ineligibility of a person seeking to register to vote may be made by any person claiming to be an eligible voter. The challenged voter will be permitted to vote, but his ballot will be kept separately. The official in charge will decide whether or not the ballot shall be counted after it is determined that the counting of the ballot could affect the outcome of the election. The same official will hear the challenger and the person challenged before deciding whether the ballot shall be counted.

Blind persons or persons who are otherwise unable to read or write may designate a person of his choice to mark the ballot as he may direct.

Lynn B. Frazier, state director of the Division of Economic Opportunity, said that, once the board of Comprehensive Health Care, Inc., is completed, then accepted by OEO, an application for a

Board Would Expand Vocational Education

The Big Mess-Up

Last week, we excelled ourselves in fouling up the picture. Happily we latched onto a photo of what we were told was the winning elementary school exhibit at the Floyd County Fair. It was a photo of the Stumbo elementary school exhibit, which won third place. We said it was Clark elementary school that won first-place. It wasn't. Betsy Layne was the winner. Ever hear of the batter who, with three balls and two strikes, swung at a wild pitch, struck out and whammed himself alongside the head with the bat, knocking himself out? He was a piker.

Maytown won in the high school division.

This Town . . . That World

Please—if you're dialing Paintsville, direct, from Prestonsburg, start with the numeral 1. Those who don't, get me—and I don't want to be got.

We—had you noticed?—skipped this column last week. And, look what happened!—the soft-coal industry shut down by strike, the nation's ports closed for the same reason. . . . Just goes to show you what the loss of just one teeny-weeny bit of goodwill will do.

ALL IS NOT SERENE

This isn't Pollyanna Corner, but we do try to keep calm in times such as these when the natural thing is to yelp, "Fire," "Bloody murder" and other more or less apt exclamations. You could ascribe the philosophical stance in the face of it all to just plain laziness.

Yet there are some things that cause a ripple, even here. Take these recent newspaper items, for instance:

This newspaper last week recorded the fact that Floyd county has 27,404 persons who are eligible to vote—27,404 in a county which, if the recent Census hasn't lied about it, has only a few more than 35,000 residents. Now, there are, roughly, 10,000 youngsters of school age in this county, and then there must be a few children left who aren't six years old yet, unless the Pill has been in use longer than we thought. All of which makes that voter-registration look fishier than anything I ever took out of Dewey Lake.

Then there was the statement—also recorded in this newspaper—in which Ed Blackwell, research analyst for the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, was quoted as saying that, although 11 to 13 per cent of Knott county's people aren't employed, a large number of those are not counted as such because they are not actively seeking jobs.

This also causes a ripple in the old think-tank. Wonder what sort of new job you would "actively" go looking for in Knott county if you aren't a Republican or a mine-shovel operator. We assume you wouldn't want to try your hand at moonshining.

Reading Group Sets Charter Session

The Jenny Wiley Council of the International Reading Association will meet at 7 p.m., October 12, at McDowell high school for the official presentation of its charter.

Dr. Zelda B. Smith, organizational chairman of the state chapter of IRA, is expected to be present for the presentation. Any person who is interested in the area of reading from Martin, Pike, Knott, Magoffin, and Floyd counties is invited to become a member of the IRA. These counties are included in this chapter charter.

FBI Joins Probe Here After Trio Arrested

A Federal Bureau of Investigation agent joined Sheriff Frank Leslie in an investigation of the operations of three Ohioans arrested here last Friday and held in jail on the temporary charge of knowingly receiving stolen property.

The arrests followed the attempt of one of the three, identified as Earnest Hamm, Jr., alias, James Ray Clark, to buy a battery at the Montgomery Ward Catalog Sales Agency here. When he produced a $154.75 check on Rutt & Armstrong, Inc., Smithville, O. feed and grain dealers, Ronald Frazier, owner of the business, recalled that he had lost an Ohio check, shortly after Labor Day. A phone call was made to Rutt & Armstrong while other store personnel conversed with Hamm and stalled the purchase under pretense of being unable to find the price of the battery. Told the company had issued no check in that amount to Clark, or Hamm, Mr. Frazier called the sheriff.

Sheriff Leslie and Deputy Sheriff Virgil Conn arrested Hamm's alleged companions, Max Hylton and Carl Edward Stephens, as they started to drive away. Hamm fled and did not stop when Conn fired two warning shots. City police joined the chase, which continued through the afternoon. Late Friday, Deputy Sheriff Stephen Best found Hamm in a truck, near the Plantation Motel, and arrested him.

Sheriff Leslie recovered from the automobile from which Hylton and Stephens were taken 23 checks, each in the amount of $154.75, all issued to Clark and all bearing the signature of Rutt & Armstrong. He said the Ohio firm told him 70 of their checks have been stolen and that six have arrived at their bank for clearance. Sheriff Leslie has 24 of the checks.

Leslie also said the driver's license which bore the name of Clark was a forgery. Two hundred operators' licenses have been reported stolen in Ohio, and Leslie said he is certain this is one of the 200.

The sheriff also said that tires bought in the early September foray by check-artists here were found—one, bought from Western Auto Associate Store, being carried as a spare, and the other, purchased from Montgomery Ward, in use on the car.

A Mansfield, O. municipal court paper found in the car was a notice that Hamm's trial there on an assault and battery charge has been set for Nov. 5.

During early questioning by an FBI agent the three men denied their guilt.

ARC Help Asked In Building Cost At Garth School

The Floyd County Board of Education, which has never received any Appalachian Regional Commission funds decided at Saturday's meeting to go to that source for assistance in expanding its vocational education program.

The board proposes to add three new classes at the Garth Vocational School, and this will involve the addition of three rooms to the present building. It is estimated that the cost of such expansion will involve $100,000. ARC participation to the extent of 80 per cent of the cost will be sought.

County Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark said that, in anticipation of the expanded program, the board has polled all freshmen, sophomore and junior students in the county's high schools as to learn their preferences of new vocational training courses. Male students placed welding at the top with auto body repair and mining mechanics second and third. Girl-students made health-related occupations their first choice, with office practices and commercial art next.

Mr. Clark said one, possibly two, of the new courses would be for girls. "Girls want to learn gainful occupations, and I feel they should be included in the training," he added.

The board of education also voted to participate in day-care center operation at the request of the child-care group. Heretofore, the educational system has had no part in this work, OEO operating the two centers in the county, at Auxier and McDowell. Asked to provide instruction and a training program for all day-care workers on regional (multi-county) basis, the board has employed Nancy Sue Dingus as instructor, and the 30-hour training course is expected to begin within the next month.

Lake Drawdown Set November 1

Announcing this week that the drawdown of Dewey Lake will begin Nov. 1, Dean Murray, Dewey Reservoir manager for the U. S. Corps of Engineers, noted that possibly for the first time in the history of the impoundment not a life has been lost there this year.

Mr. Murray attributed the safety record to the cooperation of the public in complying with regulations and to the contributions of the State Police and park rangers. He added that, although tragedy could strike during the closing months of the year, he is highly appreciative of all who have made the outstanding safety record possible.

The drawdown at the lake will, as usual, be only five feet. It is important that boatowners be aware of the date when lowering of the lake level will begin, he said.

One Term Ends, Another Begins For Court Here

The Floyd circuit court ended its criminal term Saturday, began a civil session Monday, and another period for criminal hearings is ahead and will not end till a week before Christmas.

The lone murder trial held during the September term resulted in the conviction last Tuesday of Palmer Powers of manslaughter in the slaying of Paul Taylor. He was given a two-year pen term. Four other murder cases are on the docket.

Testimony heard during the Powers trial indicated that both he and Taylor had been drinking. Powers testified that he and Taylor wrestled for possession of the revolver which Taylor had brought to the home of Richard Wells, where the shooting took place, and that the weapon was accidentally discharged.

Commonwealth witnesses said Taylor had gone home and upon returning to the Wells residence brought his gun with him. They said Powers snatched the revolver and shot Taylor.

Powers testified that Taylor had threatened "to get him."

In other court action last week Hewen Spencer was convicted of child desertion and given a one-year pen term; Joe Hager, reckless use of a deadly weapon, $50 fine and 10 days in jail; L. P. Montgomery, assault and battery, $100 fine and six months in jail; Silas Woodrow Elkins, transporting alcoholic beverages, $100 and 30 days.

The trials of Geroge Conell, accused of hit-run driving, and Kendall Combs, charged with reckless use of a deadly weapon, ended in acquittals. The jury in the trial of Roger Williams, charged with shooting and wounding with intent to kill, failed to agree. The $500 bond of Billy H. Montgomery, accused of child desertion, was forfeited.

Jubilee Convention Of UDC Ky. Division Set at May Lodge

The 75th Jubilee Convention, United Daughters of the Confederacy Kentucky Division, will hold a two-day meeting at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Friday and Saturday, it was announced by Mrs. Sallye L. Clark, Prestonsburg, recently elected president of the division. The convention will be attended by many from nearby states, and reservations at May Lodge have been booked far in advance, it was said.

The convention will get under way with registration at 10 a.m. Friday, and a luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. A memorial service is scheduled at 4 p.m. Saturday, at which Miss Carolyn Hart Clay, of Cattelletsburg, Kentucky state chaplain, will officiate. The day's activities will end with the president's banquet at 6 p.m., at which Henry P. Scaif, Stanville historian and editor of The East Kentuckian, will speak. Subject of Scaif's address will be, "The Civil War in Eastern Kentucky."

The address will depict the fear and terror of the beginning months of the War of the Rebellion in Eastern Kentucky, especially of the towns-people of Prestonsburg when Col. James A. Garfield, later President of the United States, occupied the town with Union troops following the Battle of Middle Creek in 1862. The ruthlessness of the guerrilla bands of the region will be discussed by the speaker who will also relate many tragic vignettes of the struggle in the area.

The convention will end Saturday morning at 8 o'clock with a Quill Club breakfast, at which Mrs. Josephine M. Turner, Louisville, will preside.

DINNER GUESTS

Mrs. Nelle Howard entertained to Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Don Howard, Karen and Vicky, Mrs. Janet Ranier and Debbie, Mrs. Myrtle Allen, Mrs. Minta Burke.

Mrs. Gene Stanley, of Prestonsburg, has been appointed Seventh district co-chairwoman of the 1971 Democratic campaign, it was announced this week by State Democratic Campaign Chairman Walter "Dee" Huddleston. Also named this week were the chairwoman and two co-chairwomen of the Floyd Democratic campaign committee. Heading the committee will be Mrs. Scott Collins, of Prestonsburg, while Mrs. Tom G. Dingus and Miss Catherine Ellis, also of Prestonsburg, will assist her as co-chairwomen.

Governor Proclaims Drug Abuse Prevention Week, October 3-9

By SHANNA COLUMBUS

Frankfort, Ky.—In a continuing effort to alert Kentuckians to the dangers of drug abuse, Gov. Louie B. Nunn has proclaimed Oct. 3-9 Drug Abuse Prevention Week in Kentucky.

Recognizing drug abuse as potentially "the most dangerous and fatal problem we shall ever face," Governor Nunn urged citizens to observe the week by becoming aware and taking action to offset the effects of the critical drug abuse problem.

Throughout October extensive efforts will be taken by the Kentucky Department of Mental Health to further alert Kentuckians to drug abuse problems and effects.

Special materials, including radio-T. V. spots, a new record entitled, "Drugs Won't Get It—People Will," and scripts for stage plays showing drug problems in average American families, will be provided by the Education and Materials Section of the Mental Health Department for distribution and use across the state.

Regional drug coordinators and county drug education committees will be charged with distributing the materials in their areas.

Among other available drug materials is the book "You, Your Child and Drugs," prepared by the Child Study Assn. The book offers drugs advice to parents and discusses such topics as why youngsters misuse drugs. It also lists sources of help for young addicts.

Additionally, a multi-media drug education program for teachers, counselors and school administrators has been prepared. The series, entitled the Social Seminar, includes films, a textbook, discussion guides and workbooks to provide teachers with a comprehensive background in drugs and drug abuse.

Drug Abuse Prevention Week coincides with other efforts being conducted by the Department of Mental Health to alert citizens to the problem.

A new division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse recently has been created within the department to direct more focus on these to major addictions.

George Woods, director of the Office of Drug Abuse, said that "thousands of Kentuckians have been alerted through the past months to the programs established for drug abuse."

"Kentucky's drug program is really a landmark-type thing," he added. "Kentucky already has many drug abuse programs well established that other states are only thinking about."

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Ballard Harris, of Canada, was surprised on his 85th birthday, September 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Leslie on Arnold Avenue. Relatives and old school friends called, bringing him gifts, and those who could not attend sent remembrances. Hostesses honoring him were Mrs. David B. Leslie, Jo Ann Leslie, Mrs. Edward B. Leslie, Mrs. Maman Leslie. The refreshment table had a handmade linen cloth with crocheted bands of lace and wide lace edging. The decorated cake was flanked by crystal candleholders holding red candles. Master David Banner Leslie was master of ceremonies. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Larry David Harris and son, of Lexington, Mrs. Walter Harris, Tillamook, Oregon, Mrs. Catherine H. Wiechers, Mrs. W. A. Dingus, Miss Minnie Grace Sutherland, Miss Alice Harris, Mrs. Martha Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Edward B. Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Tom James, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Castle, Adah and Susan Castle, Mrs. Nelle B. Howard, Mrs. Barbara Hignite, Mrs. Maman Leslie, Miss Jo Ann Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Leslie, David B. Leslie, III. Those sending gifts were Miss Elizabeth Harris, Bill Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O. Goebel, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rinehart, Mrs. Ruth D. Sowards, Mrs. Claude P. Stephens, Mrs. Claudia F. Leete.

Grubbs Details Federal-State Programs to Aid Local Growth

Kentucky Commerce Commissioner Paul W. Grubbs has labeled the lack of sewer and water facilities the No. 1 roadblock to economic development in rural areas of Kentucky, and urged that priority be given to financing of such public utilities projects.

Grubbs's remarks came at a meeting with U. S. Department of Commerce officials in Washington.

He also recommended that language used in future legislation regarding funds for increasing employment opportunities in "urban slums and depressed rural areas" be broadened to include multi-county districts. This could provide job opportunities in contiguous counties for people living in depressed rural counties, Grubbs stated.

He suggested that consideration should be given to recreational as well as industrial opportunities for furthering economic development. Grubbs pointed out that in many areas of Kentucky and rural America the greatest development opportunity lies in the growth of the recreational or travel industry.

He also stressed the importance to local land-use planning of the purchase and development of land for commercial, recreational and industrial purposes, including provision for utility services, access roads and transportation services to the sites.

Financing of a system of commuter roads in Appalachian counties to facilitate travel to jobs in nearby counties was recommended. Construction and maintenance costs would be borne by the federal funding agency, the Bureau of Roads, and state highway departments. Programming could be handled through the Appalachian Regional Commission, he said.

Scouting Campaign Chairman Appointed

John Stevens, Pikeville attorney, who is the finance chairman for the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced this week that Dr. Fred Meece, Prestonsburg dentist, has been appointed chairman of the Prestonsburg district fall finance campaign.

Dr. Meece said in accepting the appointment that he hoped all parents of Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in Prestonsburg would help to make the campaign successful.

Chalmer Frazier, Harold Cooley and Arthur Bradbury have been appointed by Dr. Meece to the Prestonsburg campaign steering committee.

There hasn't been an organized finance campaign for the Scouting program during the past year. A few dedicated Scouters, along with George Chidester, district Scout executive, have approached some of the business men who make an annual contribution for their help. Estill Lee Carter, chairman of the $00 Club, has contacted other Century Club members about their help and their membership contributions.

Grubbs told the Commerce officials, "Whether development occurs in new towns, or growth centers is immaterial to me. . . the key here is to place the thrust in the direction where the potential lies."

In areas where research and development projects are feasible, Grubbs proposed provision of long-term financing through local development groups. He pointed out that the Kentucky Department of Commerce and the Kentucky Science and Technology Commission have at least 10 such projects under consideration in the fields of energy and ecology, several based on utilization of coal.

Tied in with the research effort would be funding for the entrepreneur system, so that when proven results of test projects need capital for production and marketing, such funds would be available. He pointed out that the Stanford Research Institutes' $2 billion industrial complex evolved from such an entrepreneur base.

CLUB MEETS
The Grethel Homemakers Club met September 29 for its regular monthly meeting at the John M. Stumbo school. The president, Cosetta Newsome, presided, and the devotional was given by Avelia Hall. Mrs. Newsome explained several projects and club activities for the coming year. Preparations are being made for the club's Christmas project.
The lesson for September was on "Fall Fashion Expectations and New Materials," presented by Mrs. Frances Pitts. New members this month are Mrs. Janet Hall and Mrs. Dorothy Newman. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Joyce Hall and Mrs. Charlotte Frasure.

Floyd Grid Teams Winners In Away-from-Home Games

An apparent easy winner in the first half when they ran up a 15-0 lead, the Prestonsburg Black Cats found themselves trailing in the third quarter last Friday night at Hyden in their football game with Leslie County high but staged another 15-point rally in the final period to win, 30-28.
Leslie County scored 20 points in the third quarter and eight in the fourth for all its points. Prestonsburg put its first eight points on the scoreboard in the first when Campbell went over from eight yards out. Reynolds hit the line for a two-point conversion. The only other score in the first half came when Leslie picked up a Leslie County fumble and raced 90 yards for the touchdown. Burke's kick was good.
After the halftime intermission Leslie County went to work. Morgan scored their first marker on a six-yard run. The run for the conversion failed. This was followed shortly afterward with Howard scoring on a pass from Sizemore. Again the conversion attempt for two points failed. The scoring spurge ended with Sizemore going over from the one, then passing to Begley for two extra points.
Down 20-15, Prestonsburg came roaring back with 15 points of their own in the fourth quarter. Robert Tackett went over on a 6-yard pass-run play from Blackburn, and Burke kicked the point. Next, Jim Blackburn scored from a yard out, then added two extra points with a run. The last Leslie County t. d. was on a two-yard run by Mosley, Sizemore running the conversion.
The Wheelwright Trojans won their fourth game in a row Saturday night at Virgie, defeating the Elkhorn City Cougars, 36-20. Parker scored three of the Wheelwright touchdowns on runs of 20, 28 and 12 yards. Kenny Armour, the state's leading scorer, was held to one marker for the evening. He ran for two extra points. Quarterback Clifford James added the fifth Wheelwright touchdown on a three-yard dash.
Jeffrey Johnson scored all three Elkhorn City markers on runs of 3, 25 and 7 yards.

Wheelwright's Mike Armour, regular quarterback who was injured in the Pikeville game, returned to action Saturday night but not in the backfield. He performed at tackle, substituting for the regular at that position who was out with an injury.
The Trojans will meet M. C. Napier on the Virgie field Friday night.

We Have Eliminated Sectionalism ... and We Have Held Politics to the Barest Minimum

HIGHWAYS
Since 1968, the Department of Highways through its rural secondary program has made major improvements to 92 miles of roads in Floyd County at a cost of $1.4 million. This figure represents a 30% increase over the previous administration's commitment to improving farm-to-market roads.
In addition to $935,797 invested to blacktop 80 miles of roads in Floyd County alone, the Nunn administration has assisted the county in meeting its obligations for its own roads by increasing county road aid 27%.
All told, a total of $2,201,117 in state funds has come to Floyd County to improve roads.

INDUSTRY
In the past four years, three new industries -- R&S Trucking Company, Highlands Publishing, and Appalachian Mine Supply -- have located plants in Floyd County, investing more than $172,000 to employ 40 workers. During the same period, two existing industries announced major expansions costing $24,000 and creating jobs for 180 more Kentuckians.

EDUCATION
Floyd County schools have benefitted from a $2.2 million increase in funding receiving a total of $10 million to underscore Governor Nunn's commitment to quality education in the Commonwealth. The $491,914 appropriated for vocational education in Floyd County is $154,000 more than the county received previously, and as a result Floyd Countians desiring vocational training are now served by the Floyd County Extension Center, as well as the Mayo Area Vocational School in Paintsville which underwent a $1 million expansion in 1970.
Two community colleges attended by Floyd Countians have received major construction funding under Governor Nunn; $1.6 million has been earmarked for construction of a new academic and student activities building at the Prestonsburg Community College, and another $3 million has gone to the Ashland Community College to provide a new building housing modern classrooms, labs, library, and bookstore.

RECREATION
Floyd County has reaped the benefits of the Nunn administration's unprecedented parks improvement program. Jenny Wiley State Resort Park has received nearly $530,000 for improvements that have included a 12-room lodge, vacation cottage additions, a new community pool, and additions to the boat slips. Trails have been paved and a camping area and primitive campground developed. As a result, the number of visitors to Jenny Wiley has doubled since the administration's improvement program began.

LAW ENFORCEMENT
Grant awards from Kentucky's nationally acclaimed Crime Commission have totaled $35,215 for Floyd County for a regional police communications network.

Fall Fishing—Productive, Beautiful

Frankfort, Ky.—Considering all things, fall fishing may well be better than that of springtime.

Maybe the catch won't be as great as in April, May and June but the conditions under which the fishermen works are often far better.

It's pretty hard to beat the harvest of black and white bass and crappie during the early spring, but the conditions under which the fisherman plies his trade are so much more inviting than in the spring months.

The surroundings of the major lakes could not be more beautiful than in the fall when the leaves of the trees and the vines have turned a myriad of colors. The water conditions are better, in that there is not so much danger of high, muddy conditions as in the spring months. And the lakes are relatively quiet in which to fish.

This is not a blow at the boater but it's a fact that they do extend their liberties a bit in the spring months and hinder the fishermen no end, especially if he is fishing near one of the more popular docks. So in the fall, when the children have gone back to school and the adrenalin has been drained from the bodies of some of the more rabid boat enthusiasts, the lakes are relatively quiet for the fisherman.

And while enjoying the quietude of the lakes and the joys and beauties of the fall months, the man who knows how will catch fish and in good numbers.

Thanks to the threadfin shad which has been introduced into many lakes by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, jump fishing for both white and black bass may continue right up until cold weather. This is possible because the threadfin upon which the basses and other fishes feed are midges in size, rarely reaching more than five inches in length, and as such are available as food for the greedy bass at any time of year.

Prior to the advent of the threadfin, jump fishing came to an abrupt end when the gizzard shad reached a size not palatable to the fishes. But now, especially about this time of year, the threadfin move into the heads of bays and sloughs in schools and what follows them in—the black bass, especially.

They may be caught in the early morning and late afternoon by a cautious fisherman who eases his boat quietly into such sloughs and throws a shadlike lure. But comes the brighter part of the day and the shad move, still in schools, into the wider expanses of the lake, and there they create jumps of both black and white bass which may be caught right on up until the heavy snow flies.

Fall is a feeding time for bass as they store up food for the long winter months, and live bait may be used to good advantage during these months. A crawfish fished on the bottom of a rocky point is most likely to yield big black bass. The minnow and the night crawler may be fished profitably at this same time in the same area.

But the basses are not alone in activity in October and November. The crappie are schooled and ready for the taking, and the catfish is always vulnerable during these months. And, perhaps most important, think of the beautiful autumn that is the fisherman's setting at this time.

Life and Death Of R. B. Clark, Sr.

Rutherford Burchard Clark, of Harold, son of the late Morgan and Sarah Jane Clark, was born September 21, 1877, at Amba, Ky. He was first married to the late Mary Elizabeth Porter Clark who preceded him in death January 19, 1915, and his last marriage was to Nora Clark, who also preceded him in death November 10, 1957.

He was postmaster at Amba for a period of 25 to 30 years and a merchant for 40 years. During the early part of his life, he was elected to the office of County Surveyor. On his ninetieth birthday, he was commissioned a Kentucky Colonel. Dr. Foster Spence, a former Senator, came to his home and presented this commission, which came as a complete surprise to him.

In 1916, he purchased a Ford car, the first car in the nearby territory. It was shipped by box car to Harold from Cincinnati, Ohio. A song was written by a friend about him and his car. There were many other items that he was the first owner of.

He retired from his general merchandise store in 1941. Shortly after, he and his family, also two friends, left for a two-month tour of the United States, Mexico, and Canada. To occupy his time after retirement, he climbed the mountains, hunted, and worked making many different objects. During World War II, five of his sons served with the armed forces. In his latter years of life, he became a Church of Christ member.

He became seriously ill Sept. 13, and passed away Sept. 22, 1971, at the age of 94 years and one day. Survivors include seven sons: Orville M. Clark, Pikeville; Cecil B. Clark, Rt. 1, Harold; Carmel G. Clark, Rt. 1, Pikeville; Vernon Clark and R. B. Clark, Jr., Rt. 1, Harold; Dr. Edford L. Clark, Martin; Bernard Clark, Betsy Layne, and two daughters: Lora Jean Stratton, Ivel, and Roma Lou McClanahan, Coal Run Village; 28 grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the home at 12 noon, Saturday, Sept. 25, by the Revs. Bob Kessinger, of the Harold Church of Christ, and Ken Hale, of the Main Street Church of Christ, Pikeville. The Betsy Layne Church of Christ choir conducted the singing. Pallbearers were Doug Stratton, Randy Clark, Brent Clark, Eddie Clark, Darrell Clark, Cecil Clark, Jr., and Phillip Ray Clark, grandsons, Stanley Justice, grandson-in-law, Ronald Clark, Jr. great grandson, and Curt Wilburn, a neighbor. Burial followed in the family cemetery at Amba under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home, Martin.

We, the family, wish to express our appreciation for all the kindness of everyone who sent flowers, food, and rendered his or her services, and, also, to the Stratton Coal Sales employees and neighbors for their kind deeds; to the ones who paid their last respects, and the Coal Run and Betsy Layne Church of Christ Choir, our heartfelt gratitude go to you, also. The kind words of condolences given by the ministers were deeply appreciated and to Hall Brothers Funeral Home, our special thanks to you for your kind and efficient service.

CHARCOAL BROILED HERB-GARLIC SIRLOIN STEAK

1 large sirloin steak
 1/3 cup salad oil
 1/3 cup red wine vinegar
 2 cloves garlic, crushed
 1 teaspoon basil
 1/2 teaspoon each of salt and pepper

Slash fat edge of steak at one inch intervals. Place steak in dish or pan large enough to allow steak to remain flat. Combine remaining ingredients; mix and pour over steak. Cover; chill 2 to 3 hours, turning several times. Start charcoal fire 30 to 40 minutes ahead of time so heat will be uniform. Rub hot grill with a bit of beef fat trimmed from edge of steak. Broil 1-1/2 to 2 inch steaks 5 or 6 inches above a bed of glowing coals covered with grey ash or place 1 inch steaks on rack 4-1/2 to 5 inches above coals. Broil first side; turn with tongs and brush with marinade, if desired. Broil second side. To check steak for degree of doneness, cut a small slash with a sharp knife in center of steak and examine color. Plan on 1/2 to 3/4 pound per person for steaks with bone-in.

In postoffices over the land appear placards stating that it is a federal offense to attack a postal employee on duty. The only trouble with this public notice is, most dogs can't read.

END OF LETTER

We are all in some degree afflicted with the sin of ingratitude. This failing is exemplified in a yarn Watt Hale recently spun for us.

It all took place, back in the days when the Army wanted only good, strong men who could shoulder a gun and shoot it straight and didn't demand any intellectual attainments. This old boy couldn't write, and here he was, overseas, with his sweetheart farther removed than he liked. But he kept up a steady correspondence with her, since he had a buddy who wrote all his letters for him. Dutifully, this more literate friend would set down the words he wanted to convey, and at the end of each letter he would stop and ask the other for some word in conclusion. The soldier would tell him to write that he loved her, or that he was always thinking of her, or he would be home soon, or something to that effect.

Came the time when the warrior's time to go home was only a few days ahead. He had one last letter for his buddy to indite for him, and they stumbled through it to its conclusion.

"What do you want to tell her, here at the end?" the writer asked.

The soldier pondered the matter for a moment, then replied:

"Oh, nothing, in particular. Just tell her to excuse bad writin'."

BREAKING THE NEWS GENTLY

Then there is the one told of the old bachelor who had only two loves in his life—his widowed mother and the family cat. He was a dutiful son, stayed home after work, seldom if ever went out at night. Then came the occasion when his company sent him to England, and he was in a fix. Not till he had enlisted the services of a trusted friend to stay with his mother and also see that the cat was fed regularly would he leave.

A week or so after he arrived in Merrie England came a cablegram from his friend. It read:

"Sorry. Your cat died. Ralph"

The news shook the bachelor to his gaiter-tops, and he brooded. Finally, he began getting angry. His friend had no business breaking the sad news so abruptly. He brooded some more, and finally decided he would call Ralph about the matter.

"Now, see here, Ralph," he said, "I don't understand why you broke the news about the cat so bluntly. You could have cabled me, first, that the cat was on the barn roof and wouldn't come down. Then, a day or so later, you could have wired me that you had sent for the fire department. And after that, that the cat was at the edge of the roof and seemed about to jump. Then, finally, that the cat had jumped to her death."

Ralph took due note of all this, and a few days later sent this cablegram to his friend in England:

"Your mother is on the barn roof. . ."

instruction was accepted by the board Saturday, and Woodrow W. Allen was named as his successor. Mr. Martin suffered a heart attack, several weeks ago. His resignation and Mr. Allen's appointment hinge, however, upon Martin's qualifying for retirement.

Plagues by vandalism has hit office building on Second street for months, and viewing windows broken after all broken panes had been restored only last Thursday and Friday, the board offered a $100 reward for the arrest and conviction of those responsible for such damage.

The board's attorney, W. W. Burchett, was directed to file suit against the Johns Manville Company and the J. D. Browning Tin Shop, Harlan, Ky., on the grounds that the roof of the Clark elementary school is defective.

Superintendent Clark was authorized to apply for one, possibly three, employment spots under the new Employment Act. He also was authorized to advertise the old Conley school grounds at the mouth of Conley fork on Spurlock for sale.

Approval was made of the agreement with Alice Lloyd College which provides that six teacher-aides from the college will be used in special education classes in this county, with the college paying 80 per cent of salaries and the county paying its 20 per cent from title I funds.

Ruby Akers was employed as English teacher at Betsy Layne high school and Julia Voelker as music teacher at Clark elementary. Bobbie Lynn Moore was employed as temporary replacement for Audrey Hall at McDowell. Resignations of Myrtle Hardwick at Betsy Layne high and Lola P. Ousley at Drift elementary were accepted. Diana Compton was employed as assistant clerk at Clark elementary.

The board voted to renew its lease of the old Clear Creek school to the Lambert church for 1971-72 and authorized the superintendent to sign easements to the Beaver Elkhorn Water District where the water lines now under construction cross school property.

planning and program development grant will be submitted to OEO.

"I believe now," he said, "that we can once again move forward to develop the type of family care program that will serve the poor in Floyd county."

With the three consumer members to be elected, the board will have five members from that group. The other five members will be County Judge Henry Stumbo, State Health Commissioner William P. McElwain, state OEO Director Frazier, Dr. William Hayes, president of Alice Lloyd College, and a representative of the University of Kentucky's Medical Center.

'Most Progressive Year' Reported By Regional Hospitals Chairman

Cumberland Gap, Tenn., Oct. 6 (Spl.)—The board chairman of Appalachian Regional Hospitals reported today that the non-profit health care system experienced "the most progressive year" in its eight-year history.

Chairman Roy A. Cunningham of Beckley, W. Va., cited services to 42,804 inpatients, an increase of 3,017; a $3.2 million building expansion program emphasizing extended care; the development of new programs in home care and the treatment of alcoholics, and the extension of ARH services to additional communities.

Altogether, he told the 30-member board of trustees in its annual meeting, Appalachian Regional Hospitals spent $30,228,900 during the year to provide "benefits in mended bodies and prolonged lives of the patients who came to us for care". This was a $5,552,800 increase over the previous year.

ARH operates nine community hospitals and nine home health agencies, supports three clinics and maintains a variety of related health care services in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia. A tenth hospital is under construction.

As examples of that growth he pointed to the construction of three extended care facilities, with a total of 145 beds, in ARH health centers at Harlan, Hazard, and Middlesboro, plus a 20-bed mental health addition at Hazard.

He explained that extended care facilities are a more efficient and less expensive means of providing appropriate health care. "They serve those patients who are not sick enough to require an acute-care bed in a hospital but who still require medical treatment, skilled nursing care and rehabilitation," he said.

Cunningham reported that ARH will break ground this year for an addition to its South Williamson, health care center, to consist of 40 extended care beds and 10 medical rehabilitation beds. Extended care facilities also are being planned for Beckley, W. Va., and Wise, Va.

Other expansions developed for construction next year included emergency care centers with coronary-intensive care services for heart patients at Hazard and Middlesboro.

A new doctors' office building is being built at Harlan and will become the fourth

CLARK PTA MEETS

The Clark elementary school PTA began the new year with a short business meeting, Sept. 21. Mrs. Marie Fitzpatrick opened the meeting with a discussion of the summer training and officers' meeting she had attended. Mrs. Carol Rice discussed the annual horse show held recently and gave the financial report. Appreciation was expressed to the teachers, parents, and business people who had given of their time and made cash donations. October is membership month and all parents are encouraged to pay their dues for the coming year. The next meeting will be Oct. 19, with a guest from the Porter elementary school in Johnson county presenting a musical program. The meeting will start at 7 p.m.

PTA TO MEET

The Prestonsburg elementary PTA will meet next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Scott Collins, president, urges all parents to attend and meet the teachers and discuss their children's progress during the school term.

ADOPT SON

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Frasure, of Piercetown, Indiana, announce the adoption of their first child, a son. He has been named Steven Douglas. Mr. and Mrs. Frasure are former residents of Floyd County.

The only encouraging action at the county level, they say, was the work of Magistrate Eddie Caudill last Thursday to acquire rights-of-way for possible reconstruction of the road. The county grader spent two days on the road recently, but residents claim that solves none of the problems—that rebuilding of the road, widening it, with new bridges, is the only satisfactory answer.

Local Groups Organized to Back Tax Relief for Aged Homeowners

A campaign to inform voters regarding the Homestead Amendment, which will be voted on at the November election, is being carried out by county groups throughout the state, according to Cad P. Thurman, chairman of a State Citizens Committee organized to support the amendment's passage.

The amendment, which was placed on the ballot by the 1970 legislature, would grant property tax exemption to residences occupied by owners 65 years of age and older up to $6,500 of assessed valuation.

"Tax relief for the elderly homeowner, whose earning days are in most cases behind him, is an important issue, from both a moral and economic point of view," declared Thurman. "Kentucky voters will decide the question, probably once and for all, in the forthcoming election, and it is vital that each voter know what is involved so he can vote his honest convictions."

The State Citizens Committee launched its campaign last week at a meeting in the rotunda of the State Capitol with the blessing, apparently, of a cross-section of the state's political elite. A list of committee members released by Thurman included three former governors—Edward T. Breathitt, Bert T. Combs and Lawrence W. Wetherby. Former Congressman William Cowger was named committee co-chairman.

Thurman, former state insurance commissioner and former mayor of Hodgenville said three candidates for governor are supporting the amendment at this time.

Representative W. J. Reynolds, of Allen, is a member of the state committee.

Exhibit of Dwale Resident's Painting, Sculpture Set at ALC

Pippa Passes, Ky.—An exhibit of painting and sculpture by Mrs. Ida Pritchard, of Dwale, Ky., will begin Friday at the Alice Lloyd College library and continue through October.

Mrs. Pritchard's exhibit contains watercolors and acrylics of landscapes and still life, plus several "social content" works. The sculptures are directly modeled small figure studies in papier mache.

Old structures of historical interest to people in Eastern Kentucky are subjects of many watercolors. Included is the 18th century Cap Johnson home soon to be dismantled and reassembled as a museum near Carr Creek dam.

Mrs. Pritchard was widowed 20 years ago and spent her time raising 13 children. Four years ago, she married Walter Pritchard, art instructor at Alice Lloyd College, and soon began to experiment with painting and sculpture.

"I love to work with my hands," she says, "and it's good to feel I'm creating something all on my own. I enjoy experimenting with different materials and seeing what I can come up with."

She believes that her artistic interest has made her "more sensitive and perceptive to life around her." As an example, she cites trees which in autumn stand bare on the hillsides. "Before I began my art work, these held no interest for me. Now they are fascinating."

Mrs. Pritchard's works have been exhibited before at Alice Lloyd College, on WKY-TV in Hazard, and at the Mountain Dew Festival in Prestonsburg.

Teaching children's art in Sunday School at the Allen Baptist Church is an activity that Mrs. Pritchard finds an aid to her own art work and an enjoyment itself.

The Making of a Governor, 1971

As pieces of a jigsaw puzzle are combined to form a picture, so experience and ability must be combined in a man qualified for the governorship.

Wendell Ford has this experience and ability. He has been an important State Senator and a working Lieutenant Governor. Wendell Ford has been national president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was described in a magazine article along with the late President John F. Kennedy as an "Outstanding Young Man of America."

Wendell Ford's leadership has brought many improvements to Kentuckians: his efforts removed the harsh tax on prescription medicines, and got the oppressive sales tax off farm equipment. He has supported tough consumer protection and anti-pollution legislation. Wendell Ford says the only reason for the existence of government, at any level, is to serve people.

Isn't it time the people had a Governor?

Ky. Poetry Society To Meet

West Liberty, Ky.—The annual meeting and luncheon awards program for the Kentucky Poetry Society at Jesse Stuart Lodge, Greenbo State Park, Saturday, Oct. 16, is destined to be a great day for Kentucky poets. Not only will the society present prizes to winners in 16 contests but a review of the group's progress will also be made.

"Our recording membership chairman, Doris Gogmat, of Louisville, says our membership has jumped 500 per cent," Mrs. Rose Wiley Chandler, of Paintsville, president of the society, said. "Equally important are other accomplishments of the society made possible by its outstanding members."

Lee Pennington, teacher at Jefferson Community College, Louisville, will detail the society's progress during the luncheon program, Mrs. Chandler said. One of the most important steps, she said, was the change last spring from a newsletter-type publication to a magazine. "Only the name, Pegasus, is the same."

Part of the new accomplishments is a Poets Tape Exchange, explained Mrs. Chandler, who added that Betsy McGhee of Mason, Ohio, is tape exchange librarian. Society members may tape readings of their poems for inclusion in the library and for participation in contests within the context of recordings.

Another phase of efforts to update the society and its purpose is the compilation of names of members who will be available for readings and programs in schools, colleges and civic group meetings. Coordinator of the project is Catherine McKay, of Sunny Hill Farm, Walton, Ky. To aid the effort will be selection of four regional representatives.

Registration for the meeting will begin at 10 a.m. and will be followed by an executive session at 11 a.m. when new officers will be elected. During a noon luncheon prizes and awards will be presented winners in the various contests. Contest Chairman Mrs. Thelma Kiser, of Ashland, reports that poets have submitted 1514 entries in 16 categories.

Guest speaker at the luncheon will be Harry Meacham of Petersburg, Va., wellknown businessman and poet, and proponent of Ezra Pound. An executive of Dunn & Bradstreet and lecturer on business and other subjects, Meacham is author of the book, "The Caged Panther: Ezra Pound at St. Elizabeth." Meacham was one of a group of supporters working for release of the controversial Pound from confinement in the asylum and walked with Pound when he left the institution.

A highlight of the luncheon will be recognition of the person who has done most during the past year to promote poetry in Kentucky.

In addition to Mrs. Chandler, officers of the state society are Mrs. Thelma Kiser, Ashland, vice president; Lee Pennington, Louisville, secretary; Rufus Reed, Lovely, treasurer. Board of directors are Quentin Howard, Pikeville, chairman (Howard is publisher of the new poetry magazine, WIND); Jesse Stuart of Greenup, Kentucky's poet laureate; Blaine Hall, Prestonsburg; Katherine McClure Amyx, Grassy Creek; Mary Ann Lord, Louisville; and Sister Albertina Mason of Newport.

To make a full day, Hazel Damron, recording artist of Flatwoods and regular performer at the Rockdale Jamboree near Ashland, will entertain during the afternoon, and later a Pegasus concert will be presented. Host society for the event is the Flatwoods Poetry Society.

ASSIGNED TO GERMANY

James C. Mellon, information officer at the Lexington-Blue Grass Army Depot has accepted a similar position in Germany. He will fill a three-year assignment as public information officer for the U. S. Theatre Army Support Command, Europe, with headquarters in Worms, Germany. Mr. Mellon, his wife, Lori, and their daughter Christy will leave for Europe October 1. Mellon is a native of Prestonsburg.

Many State Jails 'Poor,' Report Says

Some 64 per cent of Kentucky's 120 county jails are either "poor" or "very poor" according to a 20-month study authorized by the state Department of Corrections.

The Kentucky Jail Consultant Services, a state and federally sponsored program of the Corrections Department, made the study.

Three consultants made 391 visits to all county and many city jails in gathering data for the report.

Only six per cent of the jails were rated "very good" and 10 per cent were rated "good."

Some 38 per cent were called "very poor," 26 per cent "poor" and 20 per cent "fair."

The report noted 61 per cent of Kentucky's county jails are more than 50 years old and 19 per cent are more than 100 years old.

One possible solution is bringing the jails under the jurisdiction of the Corrections Department, allowing regular inspection by state officers with the power to require improvements.

However John W. Shaffer, chief jail consultant, said the Corrections Department probably lacks funds to expand its jurisdiction.

Democratic Women Attend State Meet

Floyd county Democratic women attending the state convention of the Democratic Woman's Club held at the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, last week, were Mrs. Thomas G. Dingus, president of the Floyd County Democratic Woman's Club, Mrs. Scott Collins, Floyd county democratic chairwoman; Miss Catherine Ellis, co-chairwoman; Mrs. Edward B. Leslie, Mrs. Paul R. Gearheart, Mrs. Fred G. Francis, state scholarship co-chairwoman, and Mrs. Clifford B. Latta, state publicity co-chairwoman.

A workshop was held for planning precinct organization in all counties for the November 2 election and the importance of absentee voting was stressed.

Wendell Ford, Democratic candidate for Governor was the speaker for the banquet held on Friday evening. Julian Carroll, Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor, and Mary Lou Borg, national co-chairwoman for the National Democratic Woman's Club, were the speakers for the luncheon held on Saturday. Mrs. James A. Dickinson, of Burnside, state president of the Decocratic Woman's Club, presided.

Veteran Teacher Earns Doctorate

James V. Bolen, principal of the Harold elementary school, is probably the first Floyd county teacher to earn his doctor of education degree while in active service within the school system.

Mr. Bolen, a 28-year teaching veteran, received the degree from the University of Kentucky, August 11. Work at UK on his doctorate was done during 1968 and 1969 when he was on teaching leave. Mr. Bolen also received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from UK. In addition, he holds the standard leadership certificate.

A resident of Mousie, Knott county, he has served 24 of his 28 years in this county—as principal at Garrett, Wayland and Prestonsburg high schools, and now at Harold.

THE DODGE BOYS THINK ABOUT YOU.

we think you ought to test-drive a car before you buy it!

test-drive COLT!

You'll quickly find out why we think "For a little car, it's a lot of car." Things you'd never expect are standard on Colt. Adjust the steering column to the height that fits you best. Colt's four-speed gearbox is one of the smoothest shiftin' sticks on the road. Try Colt's amazing overhead cam Hemi engine (and remember, it gets up to 30 mpg). Get behind the wheel today!

test-drive CHARGER!

With last year's Charger sales up 75 percent, you know that a lot of people think Charger is the car for them. Most people are initially attracted to Charger's great-looking shape. But when you take a new Charger for a test drive, you'll discover other reasons for Charger's success. Like the real family-sized room of Charger. If you want a real family sports car—get a '72 Charger. Take one for a test drive soon!

test-drive CORONET!

Bring your whole family down to the showroom and check out the real convenience of Coronet's four big doors. Easy in. Easy out. On those long vacations, the kids won't be crawling over you every time you stop. And your wife will like Coronet's new styling. So before you buy your family a new car, bring them all down to your local Dodge Boy's. And take a ride in the new 1972 Dodge Coronet.

test-drive MONACO!

When you take Monaco on the road, you'll find out what "the ride with the quiet inside" is all about. It's Torsion-Quiet Ride that isolates you from road and engine noises. It also gives Monaco those great handling characteristics. Stop in and ask for the keys. Test-drive a new 1972 Dodge Monaco. You'll be impressed.

Here's how.

Just dial "1," then the area code (if different from your own), then 555-1212. That connects you with the Directory Assistance Operator for the city you're calling. Just tell her whose number you want.

Then write it down (so you'll have it next time), and dial it direct. Just dial "1," the area code (if different from your own), and the number.

Next time you need an out-of-town telephone number, remember, 555-1212.

It's one little number that's worth a thousand phone books.

VOWS ARE SOLEMNIZED

The marriage of Miss Debra Anne Gunnell and Mr. John Henry Blackburn was solemnized at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, August 28 at the Betsy Layne Free Will Baptist church. The double-ring candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Amburgey before an altar decorated with a circle candelabrum and two daisy flower arrangements.

Miss Gunnell is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gordon Gunnell, of Columbus, O., and Mr. Blackburn is a son of Elbert Blackburn, Jr., of Paintsville, and the late Mrs. Blackburn.

Preceding the ceremony, "Whither Thou Goest", "More", and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Miss Ramona Blackburn, of Cow Creek, accompanied by Miss Linda Spradlin, of Stanville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza and venise lace. The A-line gown featured a cameo neckline enhanced with a deep band of lace, bishop sleeves with wide cuffs, and an Empire waistline traced with lace. The full chapel length veil was edged in lace, and the bride carried a bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath. She wore a white old necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Betsy Bates, of Columbus, O., served as maid of honor, and wore a gown of yellow flocked silk organza accented with an olive green satin ribbon at the Empire waistline, and fashioned with a scooped neckline, short puffed sleeve and a wide ruffle at the hemline. A picture hat of white which draped with a dark green ribbon completed her ensemble. She carried a white basket of yellow daisies mixed with baby's breath. Bridesmaids were Miss Lynne Gunnell, of Columbus, O., sister of the bride, and Miss Carolyn Sue Endicott, of Prestonsburg, cousin of the groom. Their gowns were similar to that of the maid of honor, but were Nile green in color.

James Wallen, of Allen, served as best man. Ushers were Dennis Gunnell, brother of the bride, and Phillip Greene, of Emma. Ringbearer was Jack Douglas Gunnell, brother of the bride, and the flower girl was Miss Rebecca Sue Gunnell, cousin of the bride. The flower girl wore a yellow floor-length dotted swiss dress with an empire waistline and short sleeves. The waistline was emphasized by a dark green velvet bow. She wore a white picture hat with mint green and maize colored ribbons and carried a small white basket of daisy petals.

Registering the guests were Mrs. Marvin Bradford, of Emma. A reception was covered with a white linen cloth and a four-tier wedding cake and two punch bowls with lime sherbet punch. Hostesses at the reception were Mrs. Bessie Woods, of Emma, Mrs. Midge Harris of Maytown, Mrs. Glenda Blackburn and Mrs. Denise Amburgey, of Allen, and Mrs. Mary Lou Spradlin, of Stanville.

Mrs. Herbert Gunnell, mother of the bride, received the guests in a light blue crepe dress with chiffon sleeves.

Mr. Blackburn is the grandson of Elbert Blackburn, Sr., and the late Mrs. Blackburn, of Endicott. Mrs. Blackburn is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gunnell, of Star Route, Prestonsburg.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn will be residing at Star Route, Prestonsburg.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

Hi Hat Homemakers were interested about the fall fashion scene after the lesson given at their last meeting. Members learned the "Ins and Outs" of fashion trends for the whole family, styles, fabrics, colors and cost.

The meeting was held at the Clear Creek school building, Sept. 14. The president, Hazel Little, called the meeting to order, and Mrs. Sylvia H. Newman gave the devotional reading. Seven members were present, along with the extension agent, Mrs. Fances Pitts. Refreshments were served by Hazel Little and Melvia Newman. New members, Mrs. Goldie Gillesby and Mrs. Virginia Henry, joined the club. The next meeting will be Oct. 12.

NOTICE

The annual meeting and election of officers and directors of the Floyd County Farm Bureau will be held at the Floyd County Courthouse at 7 p.m., Oct. 8, 1971.

Four MSU Classes Schedule Reunions During Homecoming

MOREHEAD, KY.—Reunions for four Morehead State University classes are features of MSU's annual Homecoming week-end, Thursday through Saturday, Oct. 7-9.

Members of the classes of 1931, 1941, 1951 and 1961 are renewing old acquaintances Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1:30 in the Adron Doran University Center.

Another alumni gathering in the University Center follows the football game that afternoon.

Billed as "Kentucky's Greatest Collegiate Week-end," the three-day event opens Thursday with a 7 p.m. pep rally followed by a 9 a.m. concert by "The Ides of March" in Laughlin Fieldhouse.

Bill Cosby, veteran television and night club entertainer, will be in concert Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fieldhouse. His performance follows a 6 p.m. candlelight dinner in the University Center.

Banks Reported Largest Lenders To State Farmers As Year Began

Kentucky banks were providing farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to Burl Spurlock, president of the First National Bank here, who represents the Kentucky Bankers Association as Floyd county Key Banker. During 1970, the banks maintained leadership in agricultural credit services.

Based on the 30th annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural and Rural Affairs Committee of the American Bankers Association, Mr. Spurlock reported that at the beginning of the year, Kentucky banks were helping farmers with $348 million in loans, 7 percent more than a year previous. This total included $177 million in production loans and $171 million in farm mortgage. At the same time, $71 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $142 million by the Federal Land Banks; $168 million by Production Credit Associations; and $16 million in nonreal estate loans, plus $6 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 49 percent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Kentucky farmers came from banks.

Spurlock said, "Bankers in Kentucky are conscious of the large capital investments required in agriculture today and are making a concerted effort through improved lending programs to meet these changing credit demands of the state's farmers."

Spurlock stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the September 15 term, 1971 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 15th day of October, 1971 at 1 o'clock p.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land situated in Floyd County, Kentucky, at Betsy Layne therein and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning 33.05 feet from the northwest corner of a house purchased near a line fence between C. I. Layne's heirs and M. B. Elliott and Marh Elliott, thence up the hill with said line fence S 69 30 E 124 feet to a stake; thence leaving the fence line S 17 45 W 80 feet to a stake; thence down the hill with 68 30 West 124 feet to a stake; thence around the hill 17 45 East 80 feet to the beginning. The roadway which this lot is entitled to use is also embraced herein.

Being the same land conveyed to Plaintiff and her late husband by deed from A. D. Snyder and Bonnie T. Snyder, dated the 7th day of September, 1960 and recorded in Deed Book 176, page 47, in the Floyd County Court House and being the same land plaintiff acquired further interest in by intestate succession as noted by affidavit of descent, filed in Floyd County Court Clerk's Office in Prestonsburg, Keucky, in Deed Book 202, Page 648.

This property is being sold to settle the estate of Robert H. Amburgey.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 23rd day of September 1971.

Court Reaffirms Implied Consent

The Court of Appeals has again upheld Kentucky's implied consent law which is designed to combat drunken driving and promote highway safety.

The statute at issue requires a suspected intoxicated driver to submit to a chemical blood test upon request of a police officer or lose his driver's license for at least six months.

The high court rejected an appeal by Wesley T. Craig that officers failed to make the correct required request and overruled his demand that the law be voided because it violates due process and equal protection under the state and U. S. constitutions.

"Balancing the public interest with the entitlement of the individual to operate a motor vehicle... we hold the procedure provided is a valid exercise of the police power," Judge Sam Steinfiel said.

But Judge Earl Osborne, the lone dissenter on the court, said the law "violates every known constitutional concept and principle."

SEPT. 14, 1967 - NUNN PLEDGES NO NEW TAXES. Republican candidate Louie Nunn pledged he would seek no new taxes if elected governor.

JULY 6, 1971 EMBERTON, LIKE CARBON-COPY OF NUNN, MAKES FOOD-TAX PLEDGE. Using Nunn's campaign textbook, Emberton promises voters "food will be exempt from sales tax if I am elected."

DEC. 12, 1967 - NUNN BECOMES GOVERNOR.

AUG. 24, 1971 - FORD TELLS EMBERTON AND NUNN "IF YOU'RE SINCERE, LET THE TAX COME OFF NOW." Lt. Gov. Ford tells Tom Emberton, "If you're sincere, join me in asking Gov. Nunn to convene the Legislature to take the 5¢ sales tax off of food NOW."

FEB. 14, 1968 - NUNN PROPOSES 5¢ SALES TAX; $12.50 AUTO TAGS. Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford asked Nunn to exempt food and medicine from the sales tax. Nunn refused. Tom Emberton (Nunn's campaign aide in 1967; assistant to Gov. Nunn in 1968) helped pass Nunn's tax through the legislature.

AUG., 1971 EMBERTON HIDES UNDER A ROCK; LOUIE SAYS NO TO TAKING OFF TAX. With their insincerity thus exposed, it is clear that in 1971, as in 1967, Emberton and Nunn are trying to fool Kentucky taxpayers.

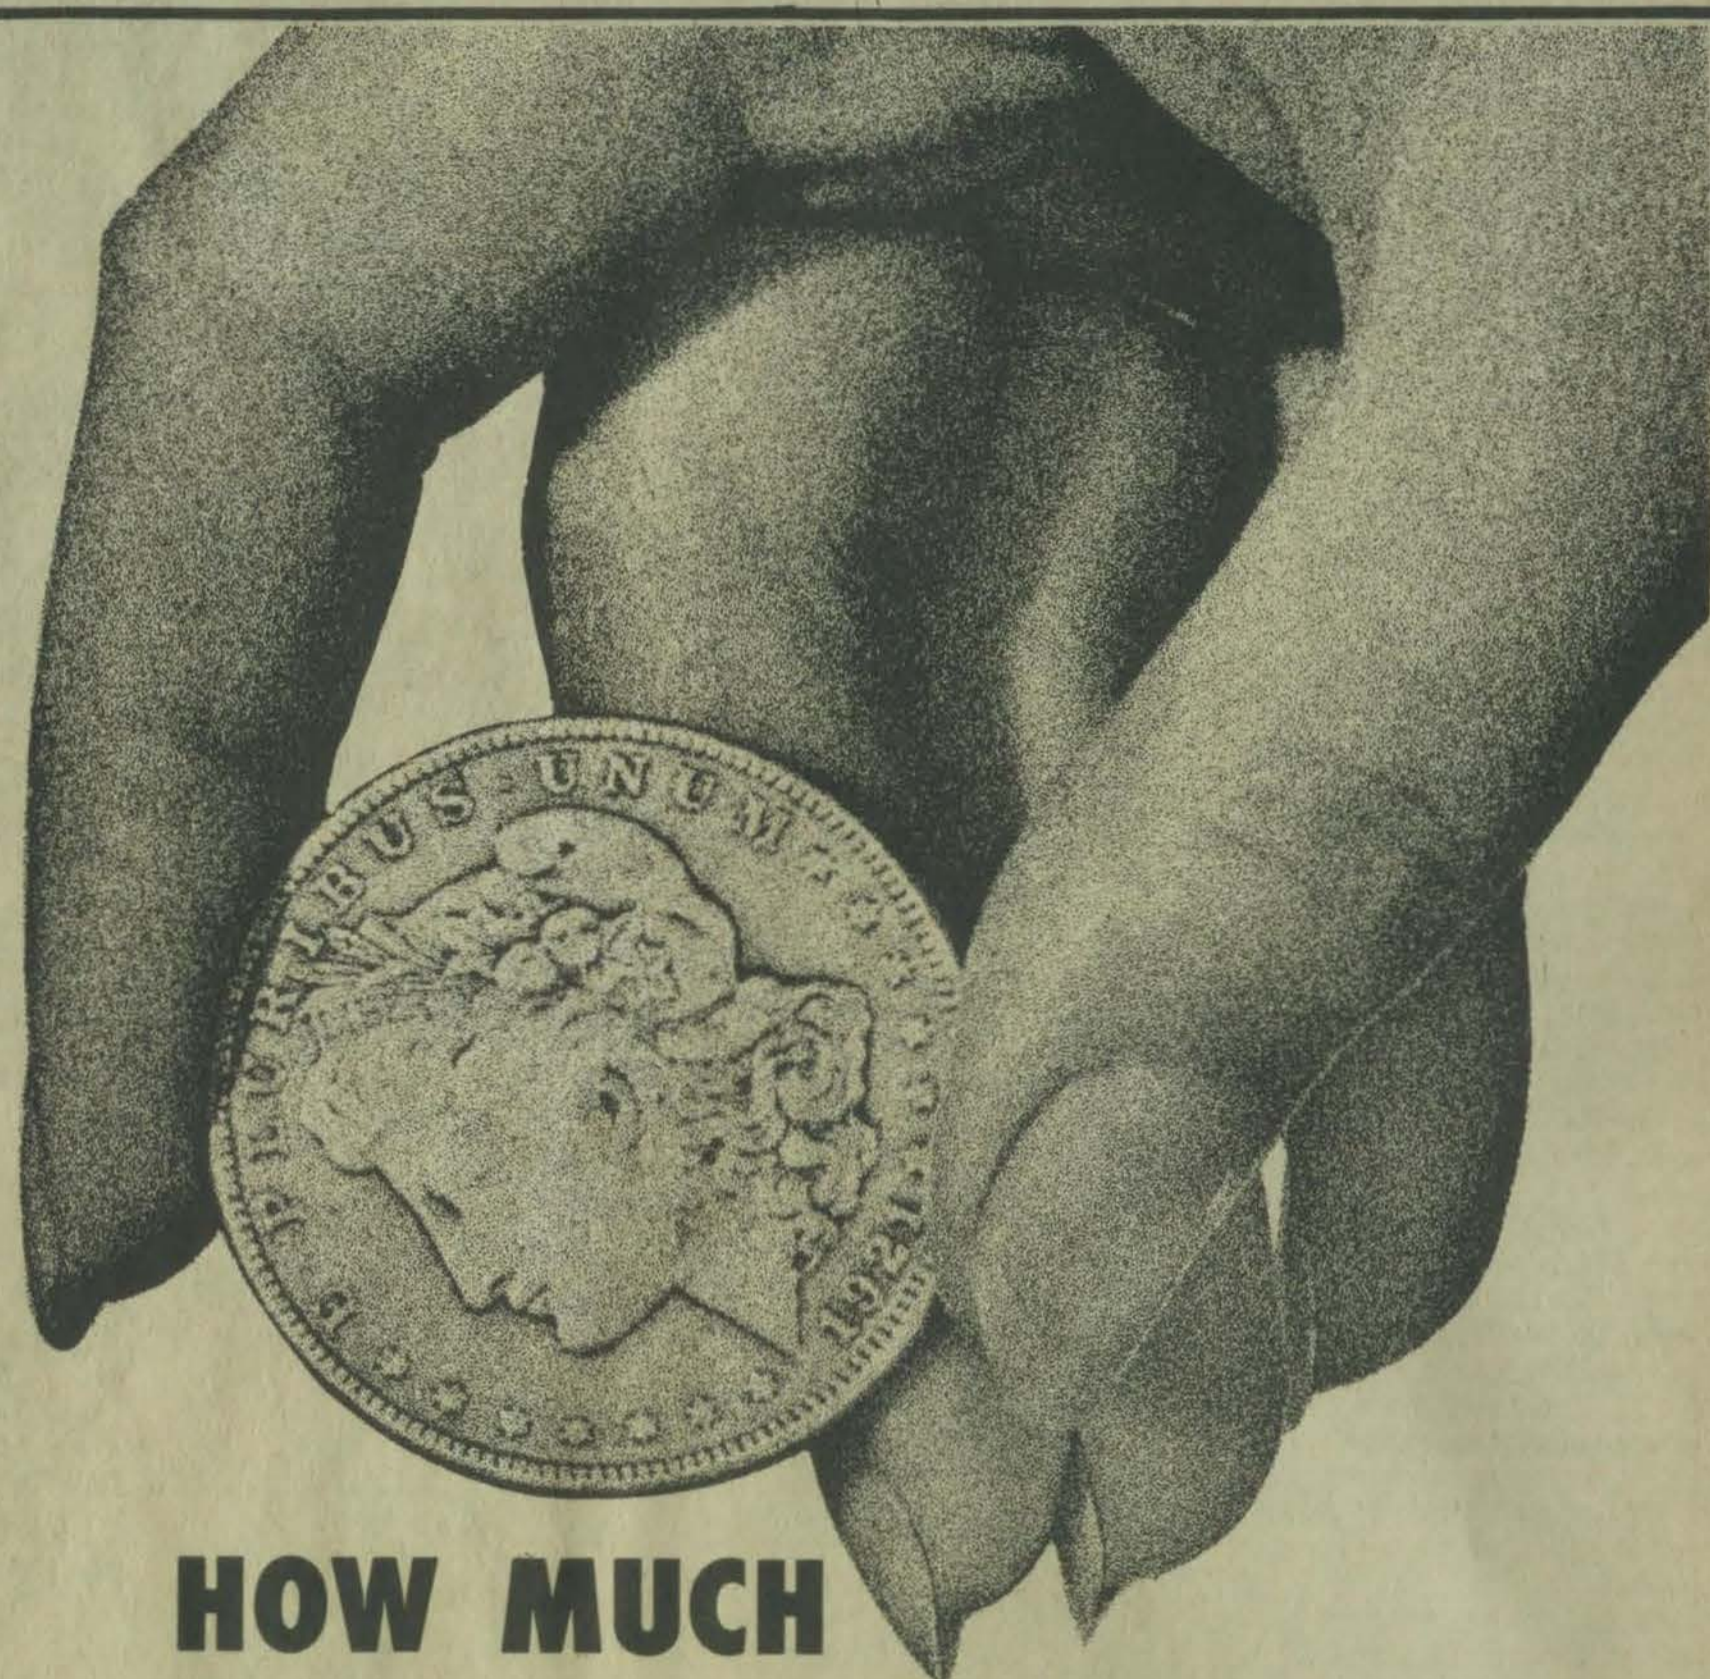

FEB., 1971 NUNN PICKS EMBERTON TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR.

NOV. 2, 1971 - TIME TO VOTE FOR WENDELL FOR GOVERNOR

When Wendell Ford makes promises, he keeps them. Ford led the fight in the 1968 legislature that took the sales tax off of farm machinery. Ford led the fight in the 1970 legislature that took the sales tax off of medicine. Vote Democratic on Nov. 2. Wendell Ford and Julian Carroll, the Democratic nominees for governor and lieutenant governor, are proven tax-cutters.

One of Oldest of Floyd Homes

By MARIE R. JUSTICE

Old houses where people have lived for generations are fascinating. Possibly one of the oldest homes in Floyd county is located on Little Mud Creek and is now occupied by the Harry Hall family. There was a house on this farm in 1845 when James Akers deeded the place to his son, Daniel.

James Akers, one of Floyd county's earliest settlers, came from Christiansburg, Va. He married Peggy Altizer on Sept. 26, 1819 in Montgomery County, Va. Peggy and James had only one child, Daniel Akers. In the early 1800's they moved to Greenup county, but they had acquired land on Little Mud Creek. On April 21, 1845 James deeded land and stock to his only son, Daniel. The deed reads as follows:

"From James Akers of county of Greenup, Ky. to Daniel Akers, my son,—conveyed unto him all my stock on my farm on Little Mud Creek, where I have lived—consisting of hogs, sheep and cattle, except two cows and one calf and 7 barrow hogs, now running in the woods, obligation on Randolph Akers for what rent he owes me except 50 bushel of corn. Daniel is to give me (if I call for it) my support and not otherwise. He is also to furnish corn out of the rent to fatten the 7 hogs above named, should they be found next fall."

Daniel Akers married Artie Justice on Oct. 11, 1843. The record is found in Floyd county and also in a book called "Pioneer Families of Eastern And Southeastern Kentucky," by Wm. Kozee, a copy of which is in the Pike county library. The authorization for the marriage was signed by Artie's father, Amos Justice.

Artie's family, the Justices, were in Kentucky before the Akers. The marriage record of her parents, Amos and Sally Branham Justice, is also found in Kozee's book and in the Floyd county courthouse. They were married Nov. 25, 1822.

Amos Justice was the son of John Justice, a soldier of the Revolution. A deed dated April 15, 1839 shows a division of the property of John Justice on Left Beaver. Amos' brothers and sisters and the heirs of John Justice, as shown in this deed, are: Amos and Sally Justice, Jonathan and Hannah Justice, Hiram and Tempe Stone, heirs of an undivided tract of John Justice, containing 150 acres. They were deeding the land to another brother, Israel Justice.

The Revolutionary War record of John Justice is found in Order Book 3, page 211, dated Sept. 18, 1820. He applied for a pension and stated he was 58 years of age. His wife's name was Amy.

Going back to Daniel Akers, the farm which James deeded to him in 1845 is still in the family. The old house was originally a large log room and a smaller one, according to the statement of Mrs. Hall, who has lived there for the past 30 years. The small log room still stands, just as it was built, but is not in use. The large log room was weather boarded and other rooms and porches added. If you stand in the back yard and look up Little Mud Creek, you can see the cemetery where Daniel and Arty Akers are buried.

Named To Board

Mrs. Bola Cottrell, formerly of Floyd county, now of Lexington, has been appointed to serve a three-year term on the assistant board of the Kentucky Board of Nursing Education and Nurse Registration. Mrs. Cottrell is the daughter of Mrs. W. H. Webb, of Langley.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Emma Tackett, of Rt. 2, Harold, was honored Sept. 18 on her 70th birthday at the home of her son, Ernal Tackett, by a surprise birthday dinner.

The following attended: Tolva C. Likens, Mrs. Clara Clark and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Likens and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tackett and children, Mr. and Mrs. Willie D. Tackett and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ernal Tackett and children, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Tackett and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elva McKenny and sons, Mrs. Rutha Tackett, Roy Hall.
