

Slayer of Deputy Still Unidentified

Two Blasts Of Shotgun Kill Conley

The only tangible clue to the shotgun assassination last Wednesday night of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley is an empty shotgun shell which was found at the slaying scene at Garrett, Sheriff Frank Leslie said Monday morning.

Admittedly, the clue is slight, because the gun which fired it has not been found.

The 43-year-old Conley died almost instantly after two shotgun blasts had been fired at close range into his face and body shortly before Wednesday midnight. His body was found, moments later, lying in front of his auto which had been parked, near and facing KY 80, at the Rice Service Station, near the mouth of Stone Coal in Garrett.

Sheriff Leslie said not a stray pellet struck the officer's car and none has been found elsewhere at the scene.

He and his staff were joined by state police in an investigation which continues.

Jackie Stephens, who resides across the railway at the rear of the service station, told officers he heard a shot and a man's voice cry out, "Oh, Lord!" The second shot, he said, came almost without pause. He fixed the time of the shooting at about 11:45.

Sheriff Leslie quoted Magisterial District 1 Constable Kenneth Roberts, who lives on Stone Coal, a short distance from the murder scene, as having told of Conley's visit at his home last Wednesday night. He said the officer spent some time there and told him before leaving that he was "feeling bad" and was going home. Instead of going directly to his home at Lackey, however, the deputy stopped at the service station, which had closed for the night.

The man who heard the shots said he saw a car leave the scene, with no lights burning, and that it headed up KY 80.

No clear motive for the slaying has been established. Conley had served as deputy sheriff about 14 months and during this time had some difficulties on one or more occasions.

Lake Fertilization To Begin, June 6th

Fertilization of Dewey Lake will be resumed this year, with the first application of 334 bags of fertilizer scheduled for June 6, if the water clears to a sufficient degree by that time.

Subsequent applications of fertilizer are scheduled for June 20, July 5, July 18 and August 8.

Diamonium phosphate, a highly soluble fertilizer, will be used.

Previous fertilizing of the lake has been beneficial, fish population studies have indicated.

Two Jailed Here On Booze Counts

Two men were jailed here last week on liquor charges.

Phillip Neeley was booked on a transporting charge after State Trooper Williamson confiscated a reported eight cases of beer and one case of whiskey found in a vehicle which he was driving on Right Beaver Creek. Gardner McClanahan was jailed by Deputy Sheriff Arvel Nelson on a liquor possession charge.

Others jailed within the week, charges lodged against each and names of arresting officers:

Dale Lawson, a.w.o.l., by Deputy Sheriffs Virgil Conn and Otto Fannin; Sammy Lee Crum, drunk driving, by State Troopers Leeman Bevins and E. B. Allen; Turner Lafferty, drunk driving, by State Trooper Allen; Tramble Adkins, reckless use of a deadly weapon, by Deputy Sheriffs Claude Flanery and Otto Fannin; Palmer Newsome, grand larceny, by Deputy Sheriffs Ralph Howell and Dester Hamilton; Terry C. Lykins, drunk driving, by State Trooper Bevins; Terry C. Lykins and Raymond C. Hunter, littering highway, by Trooper Bevins; Ronnie D. Boyd, drunk driving, by Trooper Bevins; Gene Ray Hinton, contributing to juvenile delinquency, held for Boyd county, by State Trooper Allen; Burl James Johnson, drunk driving, by Trooper Bevins; Phillip M.

BARBARA BRADBURY

SCHOOLS NAME SPELLING CHAMP

The nine-year-old brother of last year's Floyd spelling champion made a strong bid for the title in the county spelling bee here April 8, but he finally stumbled and Barbara Bradbury, 12, seventh-grade pupil in the Prestonsburg elementary school, won the orthographical duel.

The runnerup, Jackie D. Jarrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jarrell, of Dana, lost when he stumbled on "manufacturing." The Prestonsburg speller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bradbury, successfully negotiated that word and the next, "factory."

Both the champion and the runnerup will go to Huntington, W. Va. as representatives of the Floyd schools in the Tri-State spelling bee sponsored by the Huntington Herald-Dispatch. The winner there will compete with other regional winners at Washington, D. C. for the national championship. Both Floyd representatives will be guests of the Floyd County Board of Education and the Huntington newspaper at the regional bee.

Other spellers competing here and names of the school each represented follow (but not in the order of their elimination):

Sherri Allen, 12, McDowell; Anna Hitchcock, 13, Osborne; Kathleen Newsome, 14, Stumbo; Terry Layne, 13, Wayland; Debra Smith, 11, Weeksbury; Diana Grim, 11, Bonanza; Debbie Sherman, 14, Home Branch; Billy Kuhn, 12, Lackey; Teresa Lafferty, 11, Dwale; Stevie Whitt, 12, Allen; Rita Goble, 14, Auxier; Teresa Smith, 12, Betsy Layne; Virginia Pitts, 12, Clark; Shirley Fugate, 11, Drift; Kimberley Ousley, 13, Garrett; Jill Hall, 13, Harold; Sheila Johnson, 11, Martin; Melissa Lykins, 12, Maytown.

Marcus Owens served as director of the county bee and as pronouncer with Anna Sue Stumbo as assistant. Judges were Lawton Ray Allen, Emma Grace Hartley and Destaphine Boyd.

Floyd Plaintiffs Seek Injunction, Pay Restoration

Attorneys of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund filed Monday in Floyd circuit court a petition asking of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley a declaratory judgment and an injunction in favor of their clients, Edward Hall and Johnnie Hackworth, and against the Kentucky Department of Economic Security, its officials and representatives.

Hall and Hackworth are listed as plaintiffs, but the action also was filed on behalf of all other persons "similarly situated." Named individually as defendants are Garrett Johnson, acting commissioner of the Department of Economic Security; Ronald Wright, the Department's field administrator for Dist. 70, and Donald L. Quillem, its hearings officer.

The complaint involves the state Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC). It alleges that Hall, 56, received AFDC payments from Oct. 3, 1967 to Feb. 1, 1971 when, except for a temporary reinstatement to cover a period of eight months, he was dropped from the program on the determination that he was no longer incapacitated to the degree required by the department's Regulation 27. At this time, it is claimed, Hall has only $144 a month in veteran's disability payments to support himself, his wife and seven children. Prior to his suspension, he received $227 a month from AFDC.

Hackworth, 51, the complaint says, receives for his wife and five children $235 a month in Social Security and AFDC benefits. Last August he filed for benefits under the state Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled program, but he was denied. He lost subsequent hearings.

When, the suit says, Hall's AFDC benefits were stopped in June, 1970, he began a series of moves, including medical and administrative reviews and hearings, all of which he lost. The fight was carried to the Board of Appeals where again Hall lost.

This Town . . . That World

I confidently predict fair weather for the week. I have not even considered a fishing trip.

Those who come here for the annual Mountain Dew Festival at Prestonsburg Community College, we would assure you that the weather is not like that all the year 'round here. It's only at Mountain Dew time that the dew gets a bit heavier than usual and makes you think of pullin' for, or out of, the hills, children.

WE'RE EVEN NOW

This column, some months ago, did a typographical chortle when Supt. Charles Clark, thinking he had called this office, sang out, "Hit the street yet?" and got his ears pinned back by an irate woman. Well, I outdid him this week. Taking dead aim at the dial and calling the Bureau of Mines office at Martin, I heard a female voice which I took to be that of the secretary. So I blithely inquired, "Any of your fellows around?"

There was a moment of eloquent silence, then a stammer, and I got the message—for land sakes! But the lady was very gracious, and all I suffered was an attack of the vapors.

O, TEMPORA! O, MORES!

This character was dressed in velvet breeches. His shirt was ruffled, his stockings clocked, his heels high. His wig was powdered, his cheeks rouged; a patch decorated his cheek. A hankerchief was delicately tucked at his wrist. He was liberally doused with perfume, and the curls that fell to his shoulders bounced merrily as he bowed to the ladies.

That, roughly, is the description I read in a novel of a young dandy in early 18th century England.

And we think youngsters of today are a shame and a scandal!

Term of Allen Gets Extension

The term of County Attorney James R. Allen was, in effect, extended last week till the 1973 county election because he was the only person who filed for election to the office this year.

When Allen was appointed to the office after the resignation of Barkley J. Sturgill to accept a place on the Public Service Commission it was believed that the appointment would provide tenure till next year's election. But it later was learned the appointment could be in effect only until a successor was elected, and this could have been made this year.

Allen filed for the nomination, April 10, the last day for filing. No other candidate of either party filed. So County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson issued him a certificate of nomination.

One Suspect Questioned But Freed

Whereabouts of the gunman who held up three women bank tellers at the Martin Branch of the First National Bank and escaped with $14,026, shortly after noon last Friday, remained a mystery early this week.

Roadblocks established by Kentucky State Police, the Sheriff's office and policemen in various towns of the area, plus the work of 14 Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and plainclothes operatives have failed to result in an arrest that is considered a conclusion of the hunt. One man was taken into custody at a roadblock at Lancer, late last Friday, by Deputy Sheriffs Virgil Conn, Tom Blackburn and Grady Skeans, and was taken from there to Pikeville by FBI agents for questioning. But it later was reported here that the prisoner was held only temporarily.

The bank holdup was the first attempted in this county since 40 years ago when an attempt to rob the now-defunct Bank of Allen was frustrated by resistance by the cashier, the late W. K. Allen. Burl Wells Spurlock, president of the First National Bank and its Martin branch, said the holdup took place around 12:45 p.m. The bandit was described as between 50 and 60 years old, about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, and weighing about 170 pounds. At the time of the holdup he wore a beard of one or two days' growth, and his clothing was described as soiled. A mole or mark over his eye was said to be a distinguishing feature.

The man was armed with a revolver and a wrench. The three women employees of the bank—Mrs. Ann Griffith, Mrs. Pat Salisbury and Miss Joy Martin—said he drew the revolver and held a plastic bag while he forced one of them to put the contents of two cash drawers into it, then commanded another to empty into the bag the contents of the drawer at which she worked.

Well-Known Attorney Killed, Wife Injured in Auto Wreck

Paul E. Hayes, 49, well-known Prestonsburg attorney and former state representative, was killed late Monday night in the wreck of his auto, three miles east of Salyersville, and his wife, Lucille, was seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were returning to Prestonsburg from Frankfort when the accident occurred, it was said. Cause of the wreck has not been definitely established, but it was suspected that Mr. Hayes suffered a heart attack. The car reportedly skidded a distance of 500 feet before leaving the highway. Hayes died at the scene of the wreck.

Mrs. Hayes was brought to the Prestonsburg General Hospital Monday night and was later transferred to a Lexington hospital.

Mr. Hayes had been a practicing attorney here 23 years. He was a native of Hi Hat and was a son of the late William Paris Hayes and Laura Alice Ferguson Hayes. In addition to his term in the state Legislature, he served as legislative adviser to two governors, Bert T. Combs and Edward T. Breathitt; was a former assistant attorney general, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, and at one time was a mathematics instructor at the University of Kentucky. In World War II he was a major, serving with the Eighth Air Force.

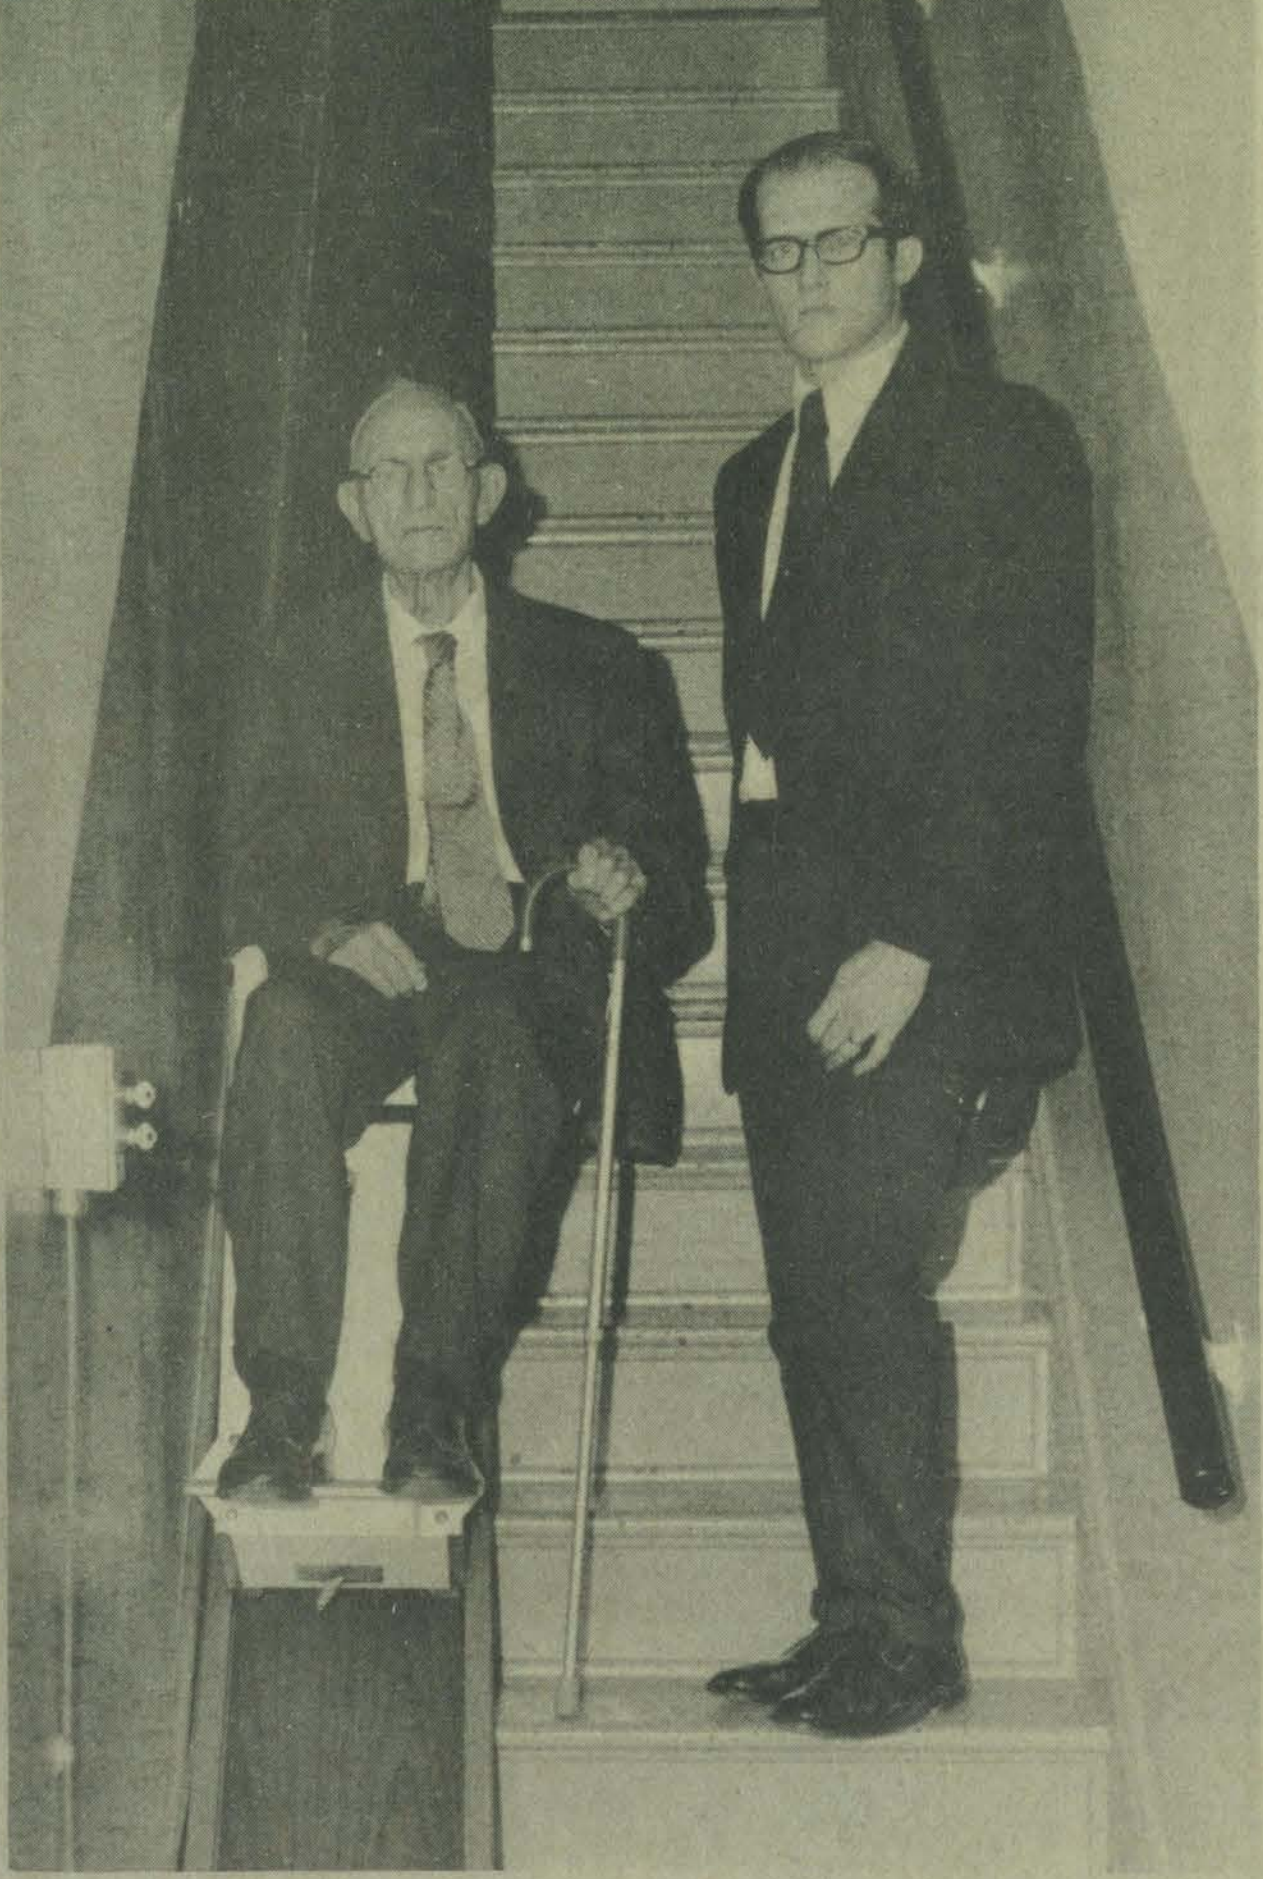

Surviving are his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Vee Vee Tackett, of Louisiana; three brothers and three sisters, Arlie E. Hayes, Elkhorn City, Otis Hayes, Southgate, Mich., Fred Hayes, Kendallville, Ind., Mrs. Annabelle Smith, Gallipolis, O., Mrs. Opal Newsome, Hamilton, O., and Mrs. Edna Stewart, Livonia, Michigan.

The body is at the Hall Brothers Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements were incomplete, Tuesday morning.

Oldest Member Takes a Ride

When the chairlift installed in the stairway leading to the third-floor quarters of Zebulon Masonic Lodge here was ready for use, who but the oldest member of the lodge would be called to be its first passenger? So it was that Z. S. Dickerson, Sr., 90, and a 62-year member of the lodge, rode the chairlift on its "maiden voyage" last Thursday afternoon. (The present master, Larry W. Burke, is shown in photo at right.)

"Uncle Dick," as Mr. Dickerson is popularly known, is the oldest living past master of Zebulon Lodge and presently is secretary of Prestonsburg Royal Arch Chapter No. 182.

The lift was installed through contributions from members of Prestonsburg Royal Arch Chapter and Adah Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and friends of members of the two groups. Other improvements made in the lodge hall include central heating and air-conditioning.

Officials Ask Flood Disaster Aid After Countywide Damage Reported

Last week's flood damage to Floyd county roads and bridges alone was estimated Monday by County Judge Henry Stumbo and the county's four magistrates at $88,600.

"And that's a conservative estimate," Judge Stumbo said.

The damage estimate made no attempt to assess the loss caused by flood and hail to homes, automobiles, schools and other properties.

Judge Stumbo and fiscal court members after a special meeting Monday morning immediately contacted Governor Ford's office in Frankfort to request state aid and Civil Defense funds in meeting the emergency.

All sections of the county were hit by rainfall, some of which was in cloudburst proportions in scattered localities, beginning with last Thursday's rainstorm which was accompanied by heavy hail. In some Left Beaver Creek and Mud Creek communities hail the size of a hen-egg fell, it was reported. No estimate of its damage to roofs of buildings and motor vehicles was available.

Nor was an estimate made of the damage to school buildings and grounds. The damage was heaviest at the McDowell school, where all buildings on the campus except the main high school structure and trailers used for Title I classes were flooded. The Horn Construction Company lost a large quantity of cement and some bricks and concrete blocks stored there for construction of a 10-room addition to the school.

The Martin school campus was flooded as Beaver Creek cut the main street there. The Drift school grounds also were flooded. Buildings on both campuses escaped apparent damage, however.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark said the McDowell schools hopefully will open Wednesday. Martin and Drift classwork was not interrupted. He praised the work of the Left Beaver Rescue Squad in the school cleanup job.

Governor Ford's office told Judge Stumbo Monday afternoon to rush a list of roads and bridges damaged by the water and promised that on receipt of such information prompt application for federal aid will be made. The spokesman for the Governor also said the Department of Highways has been instructed to have its district offices make an immediate survey of flood damage.

Judge Stumbo said he may take the requested information to Frankfort, in person. "We need to get onto this thing at once," he added, pointing out that not only normal business is affected but also that school buses are unable to travel into many creeks which they normally serve.

TV Network To Air Program on Reading Thru College Here

The College of Library Science at the University of Kentucky, in conjunction with the U. S. Office of Education, will sponsor a Right to Read Institute on April 22. The program, consisting of individual presentations and panel discussions, will originate at the University of Kentucky and will be broadcast by the Educational Television Network at Prestonsburg Community College in room 113 of the Pike Technology Building, beginning at 10:15 a.m.

At the conclusion of the televised program, the groups gathered at each of the 11 colleges will be given time to discuss the issues raised by the program. Each group will be conducted by several discussion leaders.

The particular merits of this approach are that the participants do not have to travel long distances to a meeting, and many more people can be involved in small group discussions with co-workers from the same part of the state.

The institute is intended to present Kentucky Librarians and other interested citizens with an introduction of the Right to Read concept and to stimulate thinking and discussion on ways in which libraries and schools in the state of Kentucky can contribute to the success of this important movement.

Miss Francis Sings In All-Ky. Chorus

Miss Helen Ann Francis, Prestonsburg high school student, participated in the 1972 Kentucky All-State Chorus at the Coliseum in Louisville, April 13. The 400-voice chorus was conducted by Arpad Darazs, a graduate of the Royal Franz Liszt Conservatory of Music in Budapest, Hungary. Mr. Darazs is now director of choral activities at the University of South Carolina.

Miss Francis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. "Huck" Francis, of Prestonsburg, was accompanied to Louisville by Mrs. Francis who visited her other daughter, Mrs. Paul Burchett, and Mr. Burchett, and by Mrs. Carlos Haywood, choral director at Prestonsburg high school. Mrs. Haywood attended meetings of the Kentucky Music Educators' Association in conjunction with the Kentucky Education Association.

William P. Bach, Candidate For Judge, Court of Appeals

William P. (Bill) Bach has filed his nomination petition, seeking the office on both the Democratic and Republican ballots, of Judge of the Court of Appeals from the Seventh Appellate District, subject to the action of the May Primary election.

Mr. Bach received his grade and high school education in Breathitt county; a degree in Commerce from the University of Kentucky; studied Law at the University of Louisville and Cumberland Law School, Lebanon, Tennessee; was president of his Senior Law Class. He has served one four-year term as County Attorney of Breathitt county, Kentucky, and is serving his third term as City Attorney of Jackson, Kentucky. His education background, his legal training and experience, fully qualifies him to perform the duties of this high and important office which he now seeks. In view of the above facts, Mr. Bach is able and willing to uphold and defend both the letter and spirit of our Constitution in rendering justice. If nominated and elected, he will not quit this office to seek another.

Mr. Bach is a Democrat by registration, member of the Baptist Church, Breathitt Lodge No. 649, F&AM, Royal Arch Masons, Knight Templars, Oleika Shrine Temple, Lexington, Ky., and has been an Ambassador for the Shrine several times for this area. A veteran of World War II, he served as a member of the 4th Division of the United States Marine Corps, with the rank of private first class, participated in the invasion and battle of Iwo Jima, receiving multiple wounds, the Purple Heart award and other citations; served as commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post at Jackson for several terms and is active in behalf of veterans, their widows and orphans.

Mr. Bach was born at Cannel City, Morgan county, the son of J. Everett and Josephine Wheeler Bach; is married to the former Mary Lee Miller. They have five children—Susan Jo, a sophomore at Eastern University, Richmond; William Price, II, a freshman at Lees Junior College, Jackson; Patricia Lee, John David and Mary Frances, students in the Breathitt county school system.

With all of the Breathitt county elected officials signing Mr. Bach's nomination petition, it is a privilege and a pleasure to recommend him for this high office and we earnestly solicit your influence and vote in his behalf. Vote for William P. Bach for Judge of the Court of Appeals.

Floyd, 17 Other Kentucky Counties To Get Bookmobiles

Floyd and 17 other Kentucky counties will receive new bookmobiles this year, Gov. Wendell Ford announced recently.

The other counties are Bell, Caldwell, Christian, Clark, Estill, Greenup, Hardin, Hart, Henderson, Letcher, McCracken, Marshall, Mercer, Muhlenberg, Perry, Shelby, and Union.

Six bookmobiles have already been delivered, and the remainder are scheduled for delivery by the end of the summer.

"The blue-and-white Kentucky bookmobile is a familiar sight throughout the commonwealth, providing information access to citizens in 96 of our 120 counties," the Governor said.

"This small library on wheels is used in its traditional role to reach rural families, schoolchildren and senior citizens as well as in its more recent service to shopping centers and concentrated urban areas."

Each of the bookmobiles was provided by state funds at a cost of approximately $15,000.

Gov. Ford also recommended, and the 1972 General Assembly approved, the purchase of 12 additional bookmobiles during the 1972-74 biennium.

The Threat to the "Inner City"

The established business district of Louisa apparently is attempting to forestall the competition of a shopping center by zoning ordinance and a refusal to extend utilities to the site.

The "Inner City" at Louisa, as in towns and cities across America, faces a competitive threat that might be ruinous to many established businesses. Crowded streets, difficulty of parking and other factors operate to the disadvantage of the businesses which comprise the old business districts.

Prestonsburg and its fine established stores may one day face just such a situation as that threatening to complicate the even tenor of business at Louisa.

One effective means of insurance against such an eventuality would have been the development of the proposed open-air mall in the Court street business section here. Its attractiveness, its inviting atmosphere to customers and increased parking facilities would have been Prestonsburg's answer to any ideas entertained about a shopping center outside the city limits.

Perhaps the cost was prohibitive; we do not know. But the cost of a shopping center also must be considered. And another consideration must be always kept in mind: The so-called "Inner City" must not die.

Clark-Yaccarino Vows Solemnized March 25

Miss Carol Clark became the bride of Daniel Yaccarino at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in West Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y. The afternoon ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. George Nichols on Saturday, March 25.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yancey Clark, of West Brighton, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Sallye L. Clark, of Prestonsburg. Mr. Yaccarino is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Yaccarino, of Port Richmond, N. Y.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lynn Clark, maid of honor, and her bridesmaids, Miss Robin Gardiner, Miss Deborah White and Miss Dyane Carnegie.

Wayne Dwyer served as best man, and James Raffone, Harry Naugle and Salvatore Padavano acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Plaza Casino in West Brighton. A graduate of Curtis high school, the bride is employed in Manhattan by the General Cocoa Co.

The bridegroom was graduated from Port Richmond high school and attended Staten Island Community College. A former minor league baseball player with the Baltimore organization, Mr. Yaccarino is employed as a salesman by Joe Torre's Sports Corporation, Brooklyn.

After a wedding trip to the Bahamas, Mr. and Mrs. Yaccarino are living in Willowbrook, N. Y.

Lexington Newspaper Comments On Judge Hill's Retirement

(The Lexington Herald)
Court of Appeals Judge Edward P. Hill's decision not to seek re-election this year will leave a sizable vacancy in that body.

Hill has spent 34 of the last 35 years in elective judicial office, having been elected to the state's highest court in 1964.

Essentially conservative in his judicial philosophy, Judge Hill has brought to the bench a warm humanity, a capacity for cutting to the core of legal controversy and a genuine concern for his native Eastern Kentucky.

In what was probably his most famous opinion—a dissent against the court's upholding the legality of the broad-form deed—Judge Hill declared:

"I am shocked and appalled that the court of last resort in the beautiful state of Kentucky would ignore the logic and reasoning of the great majority of other states and lend its approval and encouragement to the diabolical devastation and destruction of a large part of the surface of this fair state without compensation to the owners thereof."

Fear of Mine Dam Break Causes Flight of Downstream Families

Last Thursday night's downpour which made a torrent of every stream, however small, plus memories of the Buffalo Creek disaster, hit Spewing Camp, near McDowell, particularly hard.

As the hours passed concern mounted for the safety of residents living in the narrow valley below a dam built in its upper reaches, years ago, by the Inland Steel Company and operated by its successor, the Inland Creek Coal Company, to hold coal washings from its Price operations.

Finally, last Friday, the dozen or so families living there were told to vacate. By that time, the road at the mouth of Spewing Camp had washed out, and those leaving their homes were forced to travel around the hillsides.

It was reported here later that one or more pipes permitting drainage from the impoundment had clogged and that when these were opened the volume of water behind the slag dam was reduced.

W. D. Murray, Dewey reservoir manager, said Johns Creek was backed up by the Big Sandy to the dam at a depth of 15 feet. Salyersville, he reported, had the heaviest rainfall, 5.39 inches, with the Martin area's 4.12 inches next.

Dewey Lake crested Monday at 661.9 feet above sea level, 11.9 feet above its summer stage. The lake did not rise as high as a few weeks ago because the river stage was lower last week when the rains began and this permitted the gates to be closed later than before. The river crested at Pikeville Friday at 8 p.m. at 30.14 feet; at Prestonsburg at 4 p.m. Saturday at 34.87 feet, slightly more than five feet below flood stage. The Paintsville crest came at 11:30 that night at 37.09.

Surface Mining Firm at Martin In New Trouble

The surface mining operations on Buck's Branch, which have been idle since early this month when UMWA representatives picketed the workings after a new union had been organized, ran into more trouble last week.

The Royal Elkhorn Coal Company filed in circuit court for a restraining order to prevent the Kentucky Coal Company and Nuclear Dynamics, Inc., Arizona corporations connected with the mining there, from loading coal on the sidetracks leased from Royal Elkhorn.

The petition said Royal Elkhorn had leased the sidetrack to the Potter and Walters Coal Co., of Pikeville, predecessors of the Kentucky Coal Company, and that the lease agreement provided that "unless mutually agreed, lessees shall operate these facilities under provisions of the United Mine Workers wage agreement, and coal loaded over these facilities shall be produced under the terms of that agreement."

The tangle and sidetrack agreement, it was pointed out, was sold Dec. 30 by Potter and Walters to Kentucky Coal and Nuclear Dynamics. Then, late in March, the new leaseholders planned operation after allowing employees to solicit as their bargaining agent a union whose welfare assessments, wage rates and other provisions are lower than those of the contract with the UMWA.

The new union formed there is the Southern Labor Union. Its welfare rate is 17½ cents per ton. Picketing began on Buck's Branch, soon after the union was organized. Kentucky Coal later procured an injunction against UMWA members, but the picketing did not end immediately.

In another suit filed last week William Kelly Hughes and his wife, Mary, sued Potter and Walters Coal Company for $25,000 damages allegedly caused to their property on Buck's Branch by the company's stripmining of coal.

Mr. Murray expressed on behalf of the Corps of Engineers appreciation to Civil Defense, the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad, Kentucky State Police, radio stations of Prestonsburg and Paintsville and the National Weather Service at Huntington for their help in providing the public with information on flood conditions.

Reports from various places in the county said scores of smaller branches have been as hard hit as some of the larger streams. In some of the communities along these streams roads are out, cars cannot get out and foodstuffs are being carried in because motor traffic is impossible, it was said.

Cornus Florida—The Dogwood Common Denominator of Spring

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
(U. K. College of Agriculture)

Probably no other small tree in our eastern woodlands puts on a more beautiful pageant than Cornus florida, the white-flowering dogwood.

It blooms from Florida to as far north as New York state and southern Ontario and has been called the common denominator of spring. Soon, it will decorate the hillsides and woodlands of Kentucky with spots and bands of white that gleam like drifts of new fallen snow. Some years it puts on a bigger show than others, but from the tremendous number of flower buds now on the trees, this spring promises to be one of its best.

With a distinctive bark checkered with squares like the hide of an alligator, the dogwood is usually a small tree and thrives under tall deciduous trees in well-drained soils. The true flowers are yellowish or greenish, very small in size, and crowded together in tiny clusters that are rarely noticed by the casual observer. What is noticed, however, and what provides the dazzling show each spring, are the four large white heart-shaped bracts that surround the flowers.

Many legends surround the dogwood and the most ennobling of all is that it was forced to furnish the timber for the cross upon which Christ was crucified. From this bit of folklore also comes the story that in His gentle compassion for the grieving tree, He gave it forever a small and twisted shape so that it could never be used for the same purpose again. Also, the bracts grow in the form of a cross, with "nail prints" at each edge. But this poignant story can only be a legend. According to botanists, the true flowering dogwood did not grow in the Holy Land at the time of Christ.

Although small in size, the dogwood has been of considerable use to man since long before colonial times in North America.

Indians of the eastern United States, it is said, boiled its bark and administered the brew to warriors fevered with battle wounds. Early herb doctors recommended a similar medicine for malaria, and even today in some parts of Kentucky, the inner bark of dogwood soaked in whiskey is used as a home remedy. During the Civil War, when blockaded and cut off from medicinal supplies, doctors of the Confederacy used dogwood bark as a substitute for quinine.

Craftsmen prize the tough, close-grained wood of the dogwood for turning out a variety of items. Because the wood is extremely hard and stays smooth under constant wear, it is also valuable to textile mills for weaving shuttles.

Many other items such as butchers' skewers, tool handles, pulleys, jewelers' blocks, woodcuts, golf club heads, and charcoal for gunpowder come from the trunks of flowering dogwood.

Most know Cornus florida for its beauty, rather than for its utility, and no wonder. It actually puts on three shows a year. In spring, it shows a resplendent white; in summer, a beautiful bright green; and, in the fall, a brilliant red. It flowers mature into pods of crimson berries, relished by wild turkeys and a host of other songbirds.

The flowering dogwood is truly a remarkable tree and one of the States most attractive natural resources.

11 Counties Receive Construction Funds

Gov. Wendell H. Ford announced recently that grants totaling $163,500 are being apportioned to 11 Kentucky counties for local public library construction projects.

These grants are in addition to the annual amount of $226,484 presently being spent on the local Public Library Amortization Grant Program for library construction.

The annual expenditures have, since 1968, provided for the construction of 22 library projects, 20 of which have been completed.

The 11 new counties to benefit from the unique amortization program and the amounts of their annual grants are: Anderson, $10,000; Bell, $28,000; Franklin, $28,500; Fulton, $11,500; Harlan, $14,000; Jessamine, $14,500; Logan, $10,000; Muhlenberg, $15,000; Oldham, $8,000; Owen, $11,000; and Scott, $13,000.

The Governor's amortization program is a matching fund program based on 62 per cent state money and 38 per cent local money for non-Appalachian counties. Eighty per cent state money is provided for the Appalachian counties.

Local libraries borrow enough money to erect and equip the building, and the state, over a 20-year period, pays of 62 or 80 per cent of the mortgage.

Grants may vary due to the cost of the projects but they are not to exceed the amounts announced by the Governor.

Amortization grants are awarded on the priority basis of existing facilities, local need, per capita library support, cash-on-hand, level of certification of the librarian and date of application.

Opinion Says Auto Seizure Is Legal

The attorney general's office says Kentucky sheriffs can legally seize automobiles to settle delinquent tax accounts, if the cars are worth more than $1500.

The opinion resulted when the Revenue Department discovered an apparent conflict in state laws on the subject after Hardin county Sheriff David Owsley had seized several cars.

One law said a sheriff could seize and sell personal property to pay a delinquent tax, but another exempted from seizure one motor vehicle not exceeding $1500 in value if used by a farmer or by a person in his work.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyan's opinion says sheriffs can seize cars, but the first $1500 received from the sale must be returned to the owner, as must any amount above that which is needed to pay the tax bill.

The $1500 exemption would apply only to one car per person.

The Wheelwright Woman's Club elected new officers at its April meeting. The new officers are:

Mrs. Fred Salisbury, president; Mrs. Charles Little, vice-president; Mrs. T. J. Hagans, secretary; Mrs. Alma Souleyrette, treasurer.

Presiding at the business meeting, Mrs. Salisbury announced that the interclub dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. May 5 in the clubhouse dining room. The "mother" club, Lackey-Garrett-Wayland, and the Drift club will be invited. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Salisbury to Mesdames T. J. Hagans, John J. Bartuka, Otis Mullins, Ada Williams, Forrest Newsome, Claude Little and Alma Souleyrette.

A car so advanced, it can tell you just about everything that's right or wrong with it.

Remarkable new invention in every 1972 Volkswagen.

We've all been through it.

The agony of an automotive check-up.

You sit nervously thumbing through old magazines, praying that somehow you can get out of there for less than $50.

Then, the moment of truth:

A Service Manager telling you that one of his best mechanics thinks you need a new generator.

Those days will be over soon if you own a 1972 Volkswagen.

For instead of a mechanic telling you what he thinks is wrong with your car, now your car can tell you for sure.

Sound amazing?

It is.

A car wired like a space capsule.

When Man went to the Moon, the success of each mission depended a great deal on a highly technical computerized system that told the Astronauts the exact condition of their space vehicle.

A similar system is now built into every 1972 Volkswagen.

The system in the car.

Running throughout the car is a network of sensors, each reporting the condition of various parts of the car.

Most of these sensor points are located in key areas like the engine or the electrical system, but many are found in seemingly insignificant places like the heated rear window.

The information from all areas is channeled to one central socket located in the rear engine compartment.

The socket is about the size of a pack of cigarettes. We mention the size only because of what happens next. And that's what this amazing socket can do.

60 vital service checks.

Soon you'll be able to take any 1972 Volkswagen into an authorized VW dealership for the most advanced automotive check-up in the world today.

At that time, your car will actually be plugged into a computer.

And in half the time it takes to perform a conventional check-up, 60 vital service checks will be made and recorded.

Checks wheel alignment in 10 seconds.

In 10 seconds, you'll know if your front wheels are properly aligned.

In a minute, you'll know the condition of the compression of all engine cylinders.

Without a mechanic so much as taking a peek, you'll know whether or not your battery needs water.

Ignition, cylinder compression, dwell angle, generator, electrical system—

All checked out without human error.

In effect, your car will be telling you how it feels directly.

And once again, this information is emanating from that one tiny socket built into the back of every 1972 Volkswagen.

Results printed out in plain English.

One-half of the system is already here. Built into every new Volkswagen.

The other half, the computer, is on its way.

Imagine.

A computer five feet away from your car is printing out in plain English just about everything that's right or wrong with that car.

When all 60 service checks have been made, the print-out sheet is yours to keep.

What better proof to show that your automobile has finally had a thorough physical check-up?

A new way to look at a VW.

It started with economy, back in 1949, when it wasn't fashionable for an automobile to be economical.

But since when has a VW been fashionable?

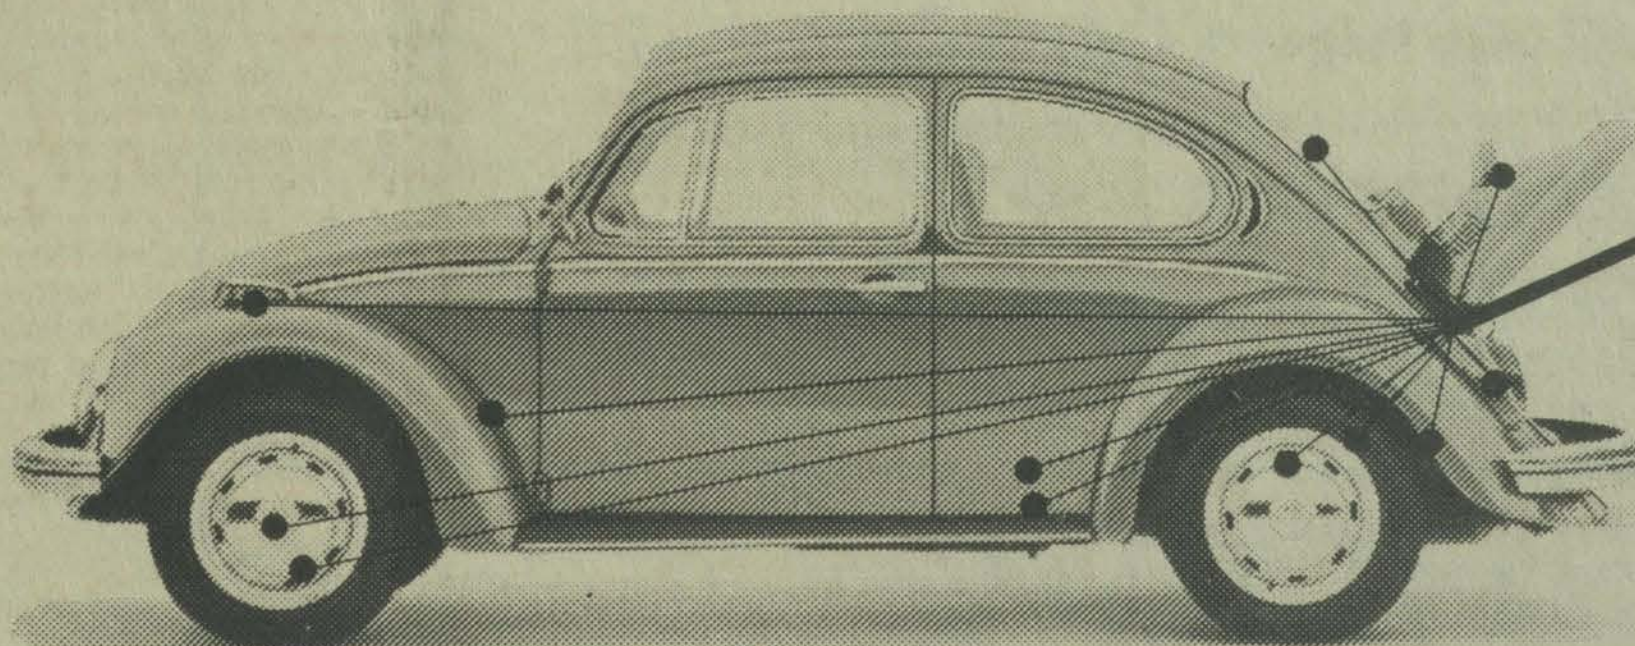

Since never.

Obviously, the Volkswagen Beetle hasn't made it on looks alone.

But then, that's always been the plan.

While everyone else has been worrying about how their cars looked, we've been worrying about how ours acted.

And now, after all that time, we've even advanced it to a stage where it can speak.

AN AMAZING SOCKET, BUILT INTO THE BACK OF EVERY 1972 VOLKSWAGEN, THAT WHEN PLUGGED INTO A COMPUTER, WILL ACTUALLY REPORT THE CONDITION OF YOUR CAR — DIRECTLY TO YOU!

THE CHAMPION MIGRATORS

THE ALBATROSS.

"Instead of the cross, the albatross about my neck was hung." So wrote Samuel Coleridge in his famous poem, "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner, which has been called by some critics "the first great poem in the English language."

The ancient mariner had brought a curse upon his head for slaying an albatross. "For all avered, I had killed the bird that made the breeze to blow." Ancient sailors believed this bird caused the wind to blow to carry along their sailing ships. Beyond doubt, the albatross is the greatest endurance flier in the world. With a wing span of about 12 feet, this bird used to follow sailing ships for days at the time, seemingly without flapping its wings, seemingly without any physical effort.

The Japs and Filipinos used to capture albatrosses at their great breeding grounds on Midway Island and take them to Japan or the Philippines, probably to try to get them established there. But these birds flew back with unerring accuracy to Midway, a distance of 4,120 miles from the Philippines and almost as far from Japan.

They made this long flight over the ocean in 32 days, at an average of about 130 miles each day.

When Teddy Roosevelt was President, he set aside a great preserve for birds to live and rear their young; it was called "The Hawaiian Island Reservation for Birds," and included the island of Laysan and many other small islands. The albatross is a large-size bird, having a body length of 36 inches and a wing spread of about 12 feet. They are brown above, white below and have webbed feet. It is said that when tired out from days of flying, the albatrosses can settle down on the waves and sleep. In order to take to the air, these birds must run on the water for some 200 feet, to get enough speed for launching. When observed in their natural habitat, the albatrosses may be seen engaging in their famous "cake walk," a sort of ritual dance. The dance begins by bowing, crossing of the bills and pecking lightly at one another. During the dance, they pick up straws or twigs to offer to one another; they do much bowing and prancing about in a solemn and dignified manner.

I used to wonder why Bryant called the bird "Robert of Lincoln" in his famous poem; later, I learned that "boblincolin" was one of his favorite names up north. The female is rather drab by comparison, being streaked with brown and buffy.

The bobolink is the champion land migrator of the birds. In the early fall, after the family is fully mature, the birds begin their long flight south, stopping off in southern states to feed on grains. They soon fly on to Jamaica, where they stop for a brief rest; here, they are often slaughtered and eaten. Those which escape fly on across the Gulf of Mexico and down the Atlantic coast to the pampas of Argentina to spend the winter, covering a distance of about 7,000 miles. The return trip to their breeding grounds in Canada also covers another 7,000 miles, making a total of 14,000 miles covered each season.

Most ornithologists say the bobolinks song is always rendered on the wing, but Bryant doesn't agree with this, and neither does this writer. Bryant says the song is given "while merrily swinging on brier and reed, Robert of Lincoln is telling his name—bobolink, bobolink, spink, spank, spink."

This, of course, is the poetic way of trying to put in words the melody of the bird's song, but it cannot be done with any degree of success. No instrument can record the bobolink's song, as the bird has been called "a hysterical musicbox."

Bobolinks often pass through the Tri-State region on their northern migration and if you will watch the meadows, along about the first of May, you may have the rare privilege of seeing a large flock of them. Once I saw a flock of hundreds of bobolinks which had settled down in a large meadow to rest and feed. That was the noisiest gang of birds I have ever seen and they were never still a moment, flying from bush to bush and all about the meadow, trying to get food to build strength for the remainder of their long migration to Canada. These remained in the region about three days before flying on. One day while I was watching them, one of the exuberant males suddenly flew to an apple tree at one side of the meadow and began to pour out his song like a torrent. As he bubbled over with song, he kept going up the tree, singing as he went; at length, he perched on the topmost bough and there he sang so fast and so joyously, all his feathers seemed about to fall apart and for a moment I thought this bird would explode! No wonder it is written about by many poets and nature lovers! This bird is said to be the only bird in the known world whose full life story is told in a poem, the one by Bryant. In this poem, he describes "Robert's home life, his wife and family," and stresses the Joy the bird spreads to the world. I, for one, think it is a shame that these birds are killed and eaten on their migration routes. A bird that spreads joy with such enthusiasm as to capture the imagination of many poets certainly deserves to live. Thomas Hill always welcomed the bobolinks back to their homeland and he once wrote: "Bobolink that in the meadow—or beneath the orchard's shadow—Keepest up a constant rattle, Joyous as my children's prattle—Welcome to the north again!" It is my firm belief that nothing should ever be destroyed that brings joy to this sad, old earth!

Financial Planning Forum Scheduled

A forum on financial planning will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Pike building of Prestonsburg Community College. The program is designed to assist couples in planning their future so the family will be financially secure in the event of death or an emergency.

The speakers and their topics will include: Harris Howard, discussing wills; Frank Harmon, on mortgages and banking, and Roy Ramey, on life insurance. A question-and-answer session will follow. The forum is sponsored by the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club. The public is invited to attend.

Spring Talent Show Features PTA Meet

The Prestonsburg elementary school PTA met in the grade school auditorium April 11 where several hundred parents enjoyed the annual spring talent show, "Happy Feeling," featuring grades 5 through 8. The spectacle was produced and directed by Mrs. Kathryn Frazier. The art contributions were made under Mrs. Best's supervision. Some of Snookie Meade's dance students and Boots Adams' baton students were featured.

Mrs. Scott Collins, president, gave an encouraging report on the preparation for the speedboat regatta to be sponsored by the PTA on June 24-25.

For the first time since the early 1960's, the 1971 labor force participation rate of married women, both white and Negro, failed to show an over-the-year rise.

Stumbo said the first work he will ask to be done will be the repair of bridges and roads on school bus routes.

He and the magistrates agreed that even if Floyd county had adequate machinery the restoration work after the flood would require from six months to a year, if the county were not given outside help.

The home of Oscar Cole at the mouth of Mink Branch of Mud Creek was washed away and destroyed during last Thursday night's downpour. One garage on Mud Creek was blown down. Two houses were unroofed. The flood in the Mud Creek valley was described as the worst ever experienced there. Frazier's Creek at McDowell had its highest water ever.

A partial survey of the damage to individuals was made by Red Cross representatives during the week-end, and Miss Ella Noel White, executive secretary of Floyd Red Cross Chapter, said the survey was being continued this week.

"The Red Cross will be helping, as usual, in every way it can," she said.

Magisterial District No. 1, represented by Magistrate Bill Wells, escaped with comparatively light damage.

Magistrate Denzil Ray Hall's fourth district was perhaps hardest hit with not less than 25 county-maintained bridges washed out, drain pipes torn out and roadbedsruined. Magistrate Eddie Caudill's district, No. 3, and Magisterial District 2, represented by Magistrate Zeb Ousley, were close behind in the losing column. A total of six miles of roadway and at least 60 bridges were destroyed in the county, Judge Stumbo said.

In District 2 damage was reported from Stone Coal, Salyers Branch and Lick Fork on Salt Lick Creek, Steele's Creek, Mill Creek, Bolen Branch of Rock Fork, Henry's Branch and the Dr. Allen Branch.

The road and bridge toll in District 3 was reported from Simpson Branch, Spewing Camp, Bryant Branch, Caleb Fork at Weeksbury, Orchard Fork of Abner, the head of Abner Fork, Branham Hollow, McCurry Branch, Muddy Gut between Melvin and Weeksbury, and Salisbury.

Seventeen damage spots in District 4 were listed: Tackett Fork, Tinker Fork, Edith Isaacs Branch, Dry Branch, Mink Branch, Branham's Creek, Parsons Branch, Toler Creek, and bridges marked by the names of Joe Reynolds, Edith Isaacs, Emmitt Howell, Clifford Tackett, Emmitt Page, Hi Mitchell, Emmitt Tackett, Tex Mitchell and Willie Frazier.

Restoration of three miles of roadbed on Frazier's Creek and three bridges will cost an estimated $15,000, it was said. Five washed out bridges and half a mile of roadbed on Branham's Creek will cost as much. Tackett Fork's bridge and mile of road will cost another $10,000 and the road and drains on Toler Creek will require $8,000.

The fiscal court members' estimate of damages ranged from $100 in one place on through the hundreds to the thousands in places of heavier damage.

And these figures did not touch on gullied hillsides, flooded bottomland and gardens and the debris lining roadsides in scores of places.

Sen. Cooper To Speak At Pikeville College

Pikeville, Ky.—Pikeville College is scheduled to confer bachelor degrees on approximately 150 students at its spring commencement exercises in the college gymnasium at 2 p.m. May 7.

The announcement came from Dr. Robert S. Cope, president of the college.

U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper, native of Somerset, Ky., who is completing his final months in the Senate, will receive an honorary doctor-of-laws degree. The Rev. William J. Evans, senior minister of the Abington Presbyterian Church, Abington, Pa., in the suburban Philadelphia area, will receive an honorary doctor of divinity degree.

Senator Cooper is to be the commencement speaker. The Rev. Mr. Evans will address the alumni-commencement banquet.

Commencement activities will begin with a meeting of the Pikeville College Board of Trustees at 9 a.m. May 6 in the college Gold Room. A luncheon will be held at noon that day for the board and college officials.

The alumni-commencement banquet which the Rev. Mr. Evans will address is scheduled at 7 p.m. May 6 in the college dining room. Academic awards will be presented to students and the outstanding alumnus of the year will be named.

The dinner will honor board members and their wives, guests, alumni, graduating seniors, staff members and their wives or husbands, and faculty members and their wives and husbands.

A luncheon honoring the recipients of the honorary degrees will be held at noon May 7 in the Gold Room.

A reception for all, honoring the graduates and honorary degree recipients, is scheduled in the Gold Room after the commencement program.

There's a Similarity of Names . . .

Woman Links Well-Known Names To Jablonski Family Murders

Annette Gilley, daughter of the former Wheelwright man who is a central figure in the Jablonski murder case, last week in a confession of her own guilt introduced into the murder plot the names of officials of the United Mine Workers, and among these names was that of UMW President W. A. (Tony) Boyle.

Mrs. Gilley's father, Silous Huddleston, formerly of this county, and now a resident of LaFollete, Tenn., is slated for trial this week.

Boyle has repeatedly denied any connection with Yablonski's death. In New York, Edward L. Carey, UMW and Boyle's counsel, said "I categorically deny that Mr. Boyle or anyone else in the union had anything to do with these murders." Boyle refused to comment, immediately after Mrs. Gilley's statement was made public.

Mrs. Gilley, one of six persons charged in connection with the December 1969 slaying of UMW reformer Joseph (Jock) Yablonski, his wife and daughter, earlier last week pleaded guilty to charges of murder and conspiracy.

Her 22-page statement, read aloud by an FBI agent in a Washington county courtroom, was a macabre account of an alleged six-month-long plan to assassinate Yablonski, who, at the time, was running against Boyle for the union presidency.

Mrs. Gilley's statement led to the indictment and arrest last Wednesday of UMW field representative William J. Prater, of LaFollete, Tenn., who was ordered extradited to Pennsylvania by a federal judge in Knoxville.

In addition to her mention of names of various high union officials, Mrs. Gilley's statement said that the UMW itself had provided for carrying out the killings, and that members of the union's District 19 in southeast Kentucky and Tennessee had contributed to the murder fund.

Mrs. Gilley's statement was read in the presence of her father.

The 63-year-old Huddleston, a heavy, snowy-haired man wearing a dark suit and blue shirt, sat impassively through the lengthy reading of the statement which identified him as a key coordinator of the plot to kill Yablonski. Yablonski's sons, Kenneth and Chip, sat not far away in the shadowy courtroom, registering little if any outward emotion.

Mrs. Gilley's statement repeatedly alluded to Albert Pass of Middlesboro, Ky., a member of the UMW executive board and a Boyle loyalist who is secretary-treasurer of District 19. She identified him as playing a major role in the plot.

There was, however, no indication of when, or if, the Justice Department would take any action against Pass.

Mrs. Gilley's statement said that during conversations with her father, she was told that the Yablonski murders "had the approval of the 'BIG MAN.' To me that meant Tony Boyle, president, United Mine Workers."

Her statement also said that her husband, Paul, a Cleveland, Ohio, house painter who was convicted and sentenced to death for his part in the slayings, had told her on the day of his arrest in early 1970 that "if anything should happen I should remember the following four names: Titler, Owens, Pass and Prater. Paul drilled me on those names. I asked why I should remember them and he told me I'd know when the time was right."

A George J. Titler is UMW vice president, and a John Owens is secretary-treasurer of the union. They and Boyle were re-elected in December 1969, just three weeks before the slayings, in balloting that subsequently was challenged by the U. S. government on grounds of fraud.

A Justice Department investigator commented that the government's attempts to determine the source of the money paid the killers will be continued vigorously. Prater, it was noted, was questioned at length by federal agents after his arrest in Tennessee.

Special state prosecutor Richard Sprague told reporters that he expects "in the course of time there will be more arrests beyond Mr. Prater."

A.A.U.W. Asks Donations To Fellowship Fund

Members of the Prestonsburg Branch, American Association of University Women, will soon conduct a fund-raising effort seeking contributions to the national organization's Fellowship Fund. One such fellowship was recently awarded to Miss Judith Smiley, of Prestonsburg, who is a candidate for the Ph. D degree at the University of Kentucky.

Mrs. Rex Ankrom, president, said that 50 such fellowships are awarded annually to aid deserving students in research work necessary to the writing of their doctoral theses. The fellowships range from $3,000 to $5,000.

At its monthly meeting, Thursday evening, the club elected the following officers: Mrs. Kathryn Frazier, first vice president, Mrs. Roberta Davidson, second vice president, and Pat Harrison, treasurer. These officers as well as the president and secretary will be installed at a May luncheon meeting.

The project proposal made by Pat Harrison for the Community Day Care Center at Goble-Roberts Addition to care for children from two to six years old to be considered for a possible $5,000 grant from A. A. U. W. was the first received by the state committee.

INSPECTION PERIOD FOR THE PROPERTY TAX ASSESSMENT ROLL

The Floyd County property tax roll will be opened for inspection from May 1 through May 5, 1972. Under the supervision of the property valuation administrator or one of his deputies, any property owner may inspect the tax roll to check the assessment of his property and compare it with the assessment of comparable property to determine whether it is equitably assessed. The tax roll may not be inspected for any other purpose.

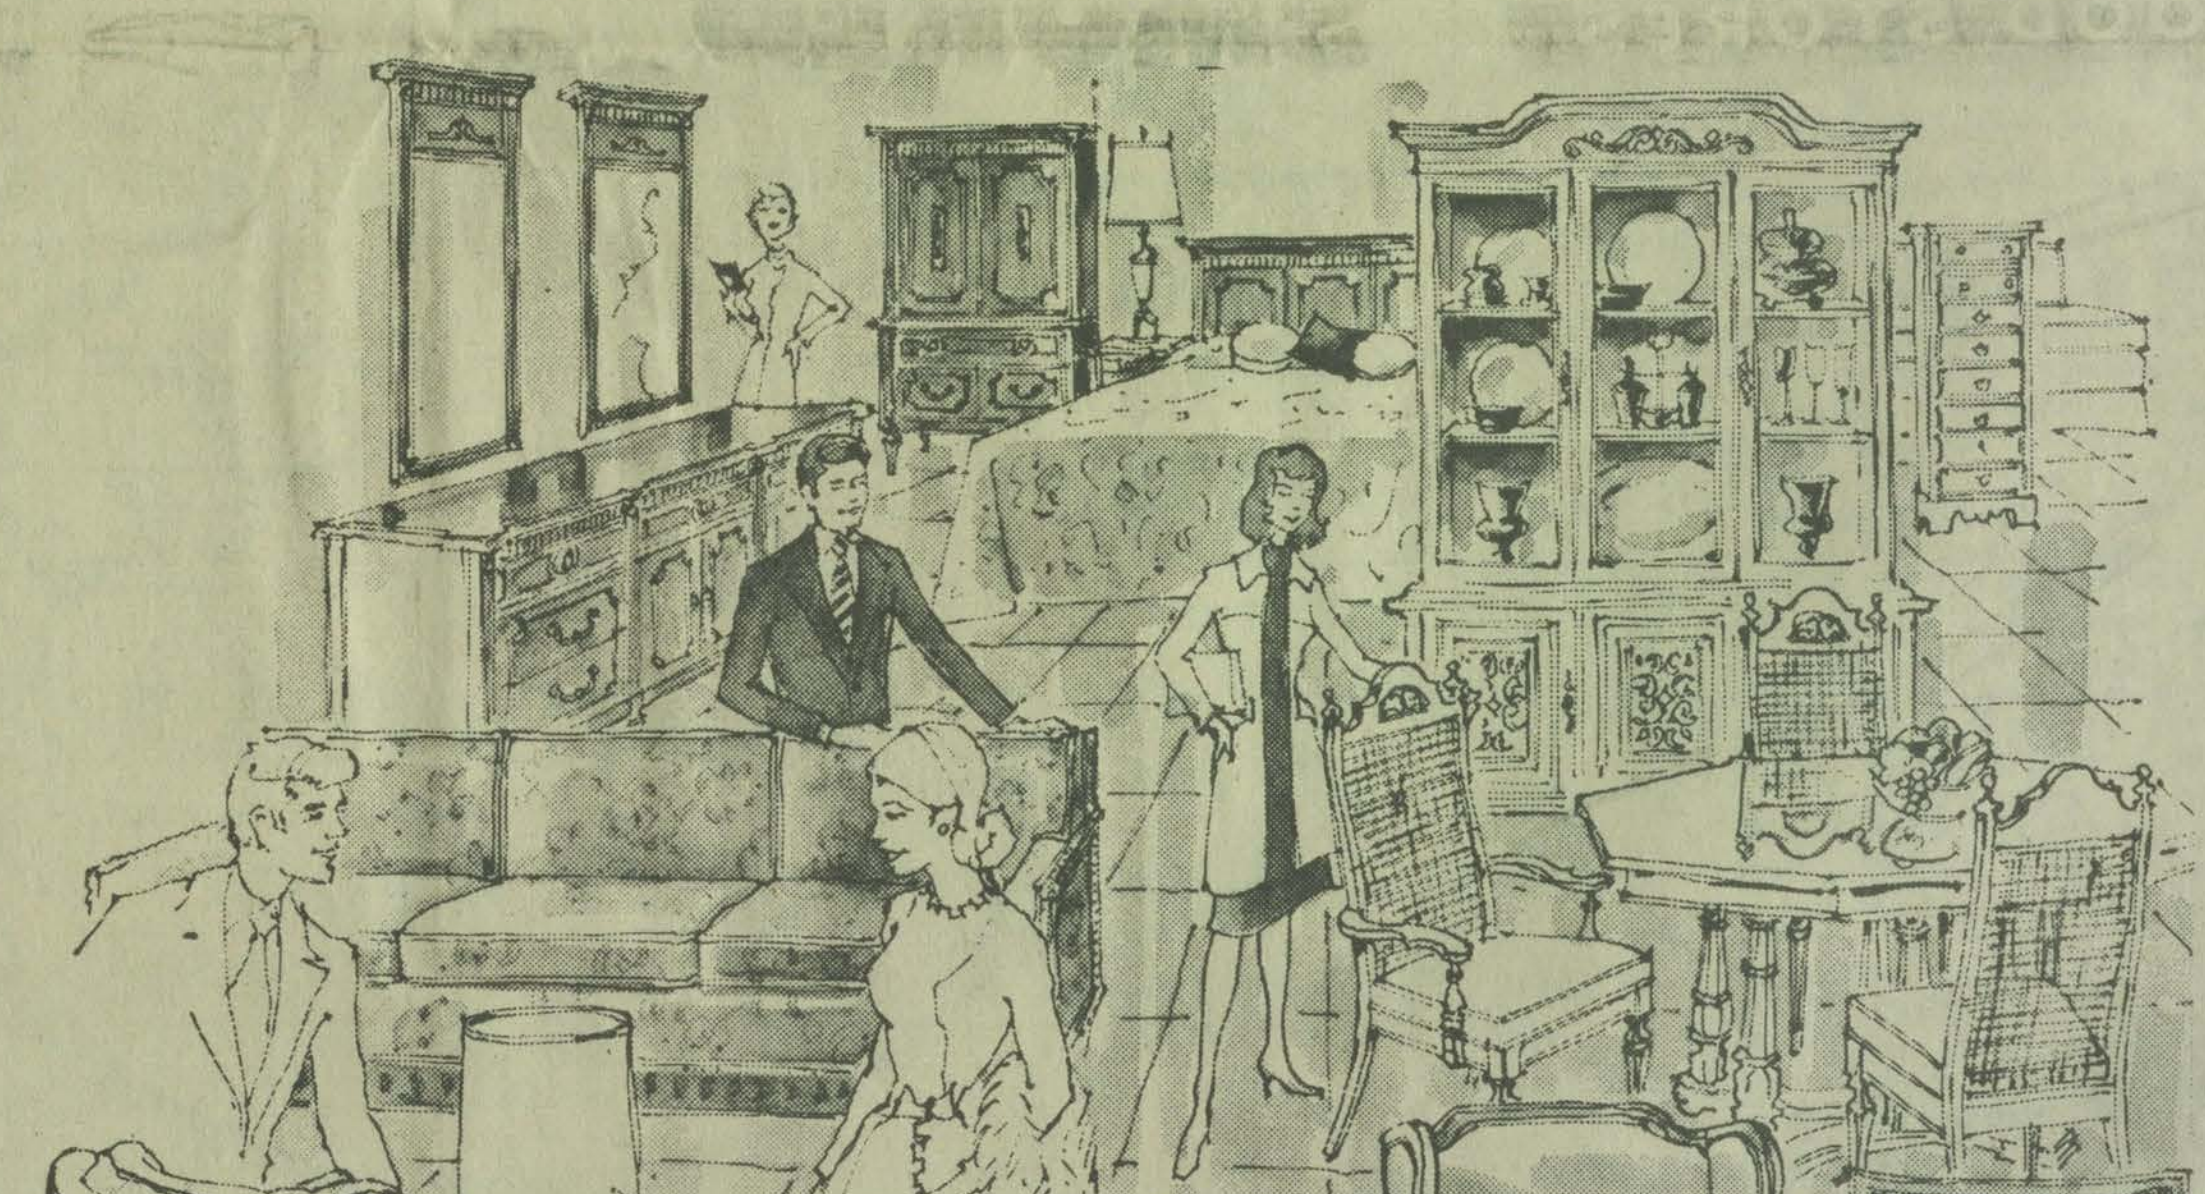

This is the January 1, 1972 assessment on which state, county, and school taxes for 1972 will be due on September 15, 1972.

The tax roll is in the office of the property valuation administrator in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Governor Ford has been busy signing the hundreds of bills passed by the 1972 General Assembly. Among the last bills signed were measures granting home rule to the city of Louisville and all Kentucky counties, redrawing the state's 138 legislative districts, allowing transfer from one school district to another and creating a council to list drugs by their generic names. The governor also vetoed 11 bills, including one to authorize collective bargaining for teachers.

Ronnie Chaffins, left, and Ralph E. Barnett, center, both of Prestonsburg, and Steve Evans, right, of Barbourville, were among the 54 students in the University of Kentucky College of Business and Economics cited for high scholastic standing. They were tapped for membership in Beta Gamma Sigma, an honorary fraternity for students in business administration and in accounting who rank in the upper 10 per cent of their class.

Your Kitchen Stays Cooler with an Electric Range

The whole idea behind cooking is to get the food hot... not your kitchen or the people in it! That's why a clean, flameless electric range is your best buy for cooking comfort. A flameless electric range cooks with less heat... keeping your kitchen cooler and more comfortable. Your kitchen is no longer a "torment chamber" during dinners.

Electric range burners fit flush against the bottoms of pots and pans. The heat is transferred directly to the cooking surface. No flames or hot air can escape up, out, or around the side of the pan to dirty your walls or make cooking miserable. You get the heat where you want it — on the cooking utensil!

Remember... an electric range means safe, clean, smoke-free, flameless cooking. And because it is electric... it's cooler.

Electricity — the cleanest energy you can use.

Girl-Driver Injured When Auto Plunges Into Beaver Creek

Miss Trudy May, 19 of Stephens Branch, near Martin, barely escaped death by drowning Tuesday morning when her auto left KY 80, opposite the Allen golf course, and plunged into Beaver Creek.

Miss May suffered a broken leg and the loss of teeth. She was later taken to a Lexington hospital. The rear of the car was submerged, but its front remained high enough for the injured girl to keep her head above water.

The Floyd County Emergency Rescue Squad was called to the scene, but Miss May had been removed from the car when its members arrived. The auto was a total loss.

Miss May is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin P. May. She is a student at Prestonsburg Community College and is a part-time employee at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin. She was en route to class here when the wreck occurred.

County-Level Action Starts For Showdown

"Grassroots" work by both the Democratic and Republican parties has been begun in the move toward the national conventions at which candidates for President of the United States will be named.

Republicans in this county began with the election of precinct committeemen, then the choice of a county chairman, and two weeks ago the selection of 18 delegates to the district convention to be held at Ashland, April 28, when the district will name two delegates and two alternates to the G. O. P. convention.

Floyd county Democrats will meet at the courthouse here Saturday at 2 p.m. to elect 32 delegates from this county to participate in the Congressional district and state conventions in Frankfort, June 2 and 3. These delegates will also have a part in electing members of the Democratic State Central Executive committee.

W. W. Burchett, Floyd county Democratic chairman, said every registered Democrat can participate in the county convention and by so doing have a voice in the ultimate selection of a candidate for the Presidency.

Louisa Fights Shopping Center

The Kentucky Road Oiling Company, which is building the Prestonsburg-Allen sector of new US 23, is meeting with opposition at Louisa as it plans the building of a shopping center off US 23 there.

The opposition comes, mainly, from downtown businesses. The shopping center would be located in a hollow between Pine and Fort Hills. It would, according to Tommy Ruth, a member of the firm, have 400,000 square feet of floor space under one roof. The Bank of Blaine, first tenant to contract space, reportedly has applied for a change of its name, anticipating a move from Blaine to Louisa.

The principal barrier to construction is the contention that the area where it will be located has always been zoned as light industrial. But W. B. Hazelrigg, of Paintsville, attorney for Kentucky Road Oiling, contends the area has never been legally zoned, that the town has no comprehensive zoning plan and that a land use study has never been made.

One source claims the zoning board was named at a recent "rump" session of the City Council to forestall construction of the shopping center on the 30-acre tract.

The site was purchased in 1965 by the construction company for $5,000, and the fill was made in getting rid of earth and rock moved in building the Louisa bypass of US 23.

Magoffin Man Wins Checkers Tournament

Checkers enthusiasts met at Jenny Wiley State Park Sunday and gave each other some competition.

A drawing was made for four tables, and brackets were made similar to a basketball tournament. Elimination was declared at each table upon a four-game round of play. The winners at each table advanced in their bracket for semi-final play.

Participants were "Hob" Stumbo and Bill Hamilton, of McDowell, Hargus Reedy, of Pippa Passes, Earnest Hayes, of Langley, John Spurlock, of Printer, Carl Marshall and David Coffee, of Salyersville. Carl Marshall was the winner.

Barry Storm, recreation director at the park, said it is hoped that an invitational tournament will be staged in the future and that players of recognized ability throughout the state will participate.

To Speak at Awards Banquet

CONGRESSMAN PERKINS

MR. MURRAY

The Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District's Awards Banquet will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Prestonsburg high school cafeteria.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Glen E. Murray, state conservationist, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, will be featured as guest speakers on the program following the dinner.

Congressman Perkins has been a leading spokesman for soil and water conservation programs and for the development of natural resources. He is the dean of the Kentucky delegation in the Congress, and is chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Mr. Murray has served as state conservationist for the USDA, Soil Conservation Service in Kentucky, since July 14, 1969. Before coming to Kentucky, he had served as deputy state conservationist at Stillwater, Oklahoma since 1967.

Highlighting the banquet will be the presentation of individual awards by the district supervisors. Three plaques will be presented to individuals for outstanding service to the district in promoting the soil conservation essay contest. Trophies and other awards will be presented to student winners.

The dinner is closed except to guests receiving special invitations, while the after-dinner program will be open to the public at 8 p.m.

WOMAN DEMOCRATS MEET

The Floyd County Woman's Democratic Club held its monthly meeting April 12 at the Plantation Motel, near here. Guest speaker at the luncheon meeting was Commonwealth's Attorney Harold Stumbo. Mrs. Gwendolyn S. Dingus, club president, presided. The next meeting of the club will be May 10 at the Plantation. All Democratic women of Floyd County are urged to attend.

Now on Wards high-efficiency central air conditioning

Just think of it—cool, quiet comfort! Avoid sweltering, uncomfortable days by taking advantage of SALE prices now!

$399 29,000 BTU

Buy now while our sale is on. Install it before hot, humid weather arrives. We know you want an air conditioner you can depend on. That's why Wards units have lifetime lubricated compressors which are very efficient. They are built for long, trouble-free service. The drier-filter traps contaminants that can damage your compressor. For greater starting power, all units above 29,000 BTU have starting components. This improves starts in high outdoor temperature or low-line voltage conditions. All refrigerant lines are copper for long life and cooling efficiency. All units include a high-pressure cutoff to extend the life of the compressor. Includes the 2-speed fan relay which automatically changes a multi-speed blower (if you have one) from a heating to a cooling speed. Condensers and coils are precharged for easy installation. Units consist of precharged condenser and "A" coil, detailed instructions. UL listed, 240-v. A.C.

OBSERVES 94TH BIRTHDAY

Cards, gifts, picture-taking and a cake were enjoyed as relatives and friends gathered to help Mrs. Eda Elliott celebrate her 94th birthday recently at Hi Hat.

Five of her 12 children came for the celebration. They included Bascom Elliott, of Christian county, Anne Stephens, Zettie Snyder and Oma Adams, of Hi Hat, and Matilda Kendrick, of Carleton, Mich. A daughter, Nora Mathews, of Christian county, and Roxie Fox, of Guthrie, Ky., were unable to attend. Ten of her twelve children lived to adulthood.

In addition to her seven living children Mrs. Elliott has 33 grandchildren, 76 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

She welcomes old friends to drop by to see her.

She is in very good health. She hasn't been to see a doctor more than twice in 15 years.

She attributes her long life to proper habits and living for the Lord. No one leaves the house until she has told them if they aren't ready to meet the Lord they had better start making such preparations.

Her favorite food is pork, sweet potatoes and cornbread.

Dock Maddox, former custodian at the branch bank, and his wife entered while the gunman held the tellers at bay. When Mrs. Maddox was slow in obeying the robber's orders he moved as if to strike her.

"I started to take a run at him and butt him in the belly with my head," the 71-year-old Maddox said, "but I stopped when I saw his gun."

The bandit then struck Maddox on his head with the wrench, dazing the Martin man and causing a scalp cut. Maddox was dazed, but when he recovered his senses he saw the man leaving, walking toward the nearby Twin Bridge Market in unhurried fashion, and attracting no attention as he carried the bag and its haul of cash. He told County Detective Sam Hale that he lost sight of the man in the vicinity of the store.

It was not determined if the robber entered an auto there, or nearby, and drove away, or if another driver picked him up. Descriptions of two or three autos figured in the search that afternoon.

Maddox went inside the bank after shutting off a valve in the bank basement to prevent water of rising Beaver Creek from entering the building.

FBI agents could not be contacted Monday as to the status of the search for the fugitive. "If they have anybody for the robbery, they haven't told me," Mr. Spurlock said.

Hall claims he was not given adequate notice of the specific reasons for his proposed suspension from benefits; was not given a hearing by an impartial official; was not given an opportunity to present evidence and to confront and cross-examine witnesses. He also claims he was denied free access to records of his case, a portion of which, he alleges, contains a statement by Dr. R. J. Acker, Fleming, Ky., which said, in part: "Mr. Hall remains permanently and totally disabled from performing any gainful physical labor."

AFDC files in the cases of both men have been denied them, it is claimed, on the ground that portions of materials in the files are not pertinent to the issue at hand.

They ask a declaratory judgment to the effect that the suspension of Hall in the manner alleged is constitutionally impermissible; that the application of KRS 205.175 to Hall, Hackworth and others is in violation of the 14th Amendment; that the same statute in allowing plaintiffs and their counsel to examine their previous files only at the time of an administrative hearing is constitutionally preempted; and that cited paragraphs of the department's Manual of Operation constitute on their face an unconstitutional intrusion of the rights of plaintiffs to the procedural process guaranteed by the 14th Amendment.

Plaintiffs also ask an order enjoining defendants to reinstate Hall to benefits, to pay him and others of his class for those months during which their payments have been stopped, and to end the "capricious and arbitrary" denial of complete access to any and all files which may be necessary for the proper preparation of their cases.

Investigating officers have theorized that the victim may have been hailed by a person or persons whom he knew and apparently regarded as friendly, since he had left his car and stood in front of it when shot and had not drawn his revolver.

A native of Gunlock, Magoffin county, the officer was a son of Willis and Emily Shepherd Conley, who reside at Lackey. Besides his parents, he is survived by three children, Lawrence Edward and Annette Marie, both of Lackey, and Tony Ray, of Martin; four brothers and six sisters, Clifford Conley, of Hueysville, Lloyd Conley and Mrs. Margie Cook, both of Westland, Mich., Curtis Conley, Kendallville, Ind., Franklin D. Conley, of Louisiana, Mrs. Marie Stratton and Mrs. Cilla Bolen, both of Ypsilanti, Mich., Miss Elsie Conley, Circleville, O., Mrs. Thelma Hoover, Wayne, Mich., and Mrs. Zelma Lillman, Thousand Oaks, California.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday morning from the Lackey Free Will Baptist Church, and burial was made in the Shepherd cemetery at Gunlock under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

INTEGRITY

During the Korean War, a very well-known American general named Dean was captured by the communists. In the Korean town, Chong-Ju, General Dean was told by the communists that he had a few minutes in which he could write a farewell note to his family. General Dean figured that he had about 30 minutes, at the most, before he would be taken out and shot.

In such a situation, no man would waste words. General Dean did not waste words. In his letter to his family, very short, he had one sentence that told the whole of his character. The sentence was directed to General Dean's son. Here's what he wrote: "Tell Bill the word is integrity."

The most important word this father could find to pass along to his son spoke so much. Not popularity, or success, or fame, or happiness—but integrity. How desperately our world needs that.

Integrity means a man is true to himself and to his Maker. Integrity means a man puts truth above all else. He is not willing to sell his manhood for a few dollars, or a cheap thrill. No! He sets his standards high and they will not come down.

A man can afford to lose his position, his income, his prestige. These things are dispensable, they can be replaced. But not his integrity. A man can live with truth—though it be difficult and trying. But no man can live with a lie and remain a man—in the highest and truest sense of the word.

We are tempted today to compromise our values, to call a little wrong nearly right. But one cannot do it without losing that which is most important to him—his integrity. A man must stand for the truth even if it means a loss of job, or prestige, or scorn and rejection by those who call him friend.

"Tell Bill the word is integrity." Yes, that is the word. How very much we need to hear it, believe it, live by it. Not success. Not popularity. Not position. But integrity! The word means uprightness. That's the way the Creator intended that mankind should walk—upright. Not only in physical structure, but more precisely in his spiritual and moral structure. We are not only to live with truth, be we are to live by it.

What the world needs today is not more men of wealth. Not even more men of wisdom. What the world needs today is more men of integrity, men who are willing to plant their feet solid on the truth and refuse to budge when faced by the temptations of the world. Yes, we need men, big men, men of solid character, men who will not compromise with less than truth, men who will not retreat from the best they know.

"The word is integrity." Please pass the word.

Heavy rains and flooding gave the state Division of Civil Defense one of its busiest periods ever. Division officials maintain, however, it is only "business as usual" for this time of year when the weather usually is severe.

This Is Your Life . . . Daisy Ross

April 2, 1972

Today is a special day all over the world, but to the people of the Hi Hat Church of God of Prophecy, it is even more special, because today is the day that we have chosen to show our appreciation to a person who is loved and respected by every one in this community. Words cannot express our feelings toward this person and even in our small way we are unable to say how we feel or how much we love her. It was 81 years ago on April 5, 1891, in Clay county near Manchester, Kentucky, that twin girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Spurlock. The girls were named Daisy and Dora. Both of the girls are still living, and we are very honored to have one of them with us today. Yes, it has been 81 years full of many memories for her and also for those that have known her. Her mother died when she was only a small child and her childhood was probably not as happy as some of us have had, but she had her twin sister as a companion and they both have pleasant memories that they still talk about when they can get together. She was married to Levi Ross in January, 1907, in Clay County. She was the mother of 9 children, Sally and Naomi, who died at the ages of six weeks and six months, Lilly who died in August, 1966, at the age of 55. She still has Minnie who is at home with her, Loraine Parker, Blanche Honeycutt, and Mary Ester Marsh, all living in Michigan; Paul Ross, of Hi Hat, and Bill Ross, who is with the U. S. Coast Guard and is now living in Texas. She has reared three grandchildren, Donald Gene Davis, who is living in Texas, Gary Douglas Newman, of Michigan, and Danny Ray Isom, also living in Texas. She has 11 other grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren. These children call her mother, but many more of us feel toward her as a mother because she is there to help us when we feel discouraged or when we need someone to listen to our troubles and problems.

The first few years of her marriage to Mr. Ross, the family moved about from place to place and she refers to their life then, being compared somewhat to "Gypsies."

But God had a plan for Sister Ross. He knew that she was someday to be a blessing to the community of Hi Hat. It was one day in the winter of 1920 that the Ross family boarded the old steam operated passenger train down in Johnson County and started on their way to Weeksbury, Kentucky where Mr. Ross was to work in the coal mines. It was in this place that she was to learn of the Church of God. She had been a Christian since the age of 17, but it was a cold day in 1933 that she was baptized by Brother George Smith, in a little stream on Robinson Creek. She joined the Church of Weeksbury at that time. This was during the depression years and things became even worse for Sister Ross. Her husband had a minor injury while working in the mines, which caused an infection that resulted in his death. He died in 1935 leaving her with no income and a large family to support. She had her faith in God and a strong determination that helped her to keep her family together and they all worked together and each contributed their share to the support of the family. Paul being the oldest son, and working in the mine, too, took over the responsibility of the family. She was one that could manage well and was able to take what each contributed and made a home for them that was equal to any home in the community. Times were rough and hard for them along the way but their hardships only helped to make the bond stronger between them. They can look back now and see that these times helped to make them stronger and developed a relationship between them and their mother that they will always cherish.

So many times that she has remarked that she was so thankful that she had children that had been so considerate and thoughtful toward her and had done so much for her.

They along with the rest of us will always remember the many times that she has made her way to the church house to worship, even though she was tired and ill, and really not able to be out. She delights so much in the word of God and has a wonderful memory for the scriptures. Many of us have made special trips to her to consult her about the bible and one of her greatest pleasures is to be able to tell of the word of God. When she talks about the bible the stories seem to unfold before you, as if she has painted a picture. Another talent of hers is the memory that she has for gospel music. If anyone in the community wants to learn a song that they cannot find, the first thing that they think about is "Go ask Sister Ross." We have become to depend on her as a music library also. She is still able to sing in rich full tones that are such a pleasure and blessing for those that listen to her. She is 81 years old now but in many ways is younger than the most of us. She is a happy pleasant person and always has a smile for everyone. She is able to communicate with the teenagers and has won the respect and love of everyone of them. Many of them don't know how many times that their parents have had a good "tongue-lashing" from her, when she thought that they were being a little too strict on them. She has always been a welcome person at all of the teenage outings that we have had here at the church, and her age did not keep her from enjoying herself. She has earned the respect of everyone in this community, regardless of their religious belief or faith. Her health has been failing her the past few years and she is not able to get to church as often as she would like, but she is still here when she can be. When she is not here we know that her prayers are with us. She is the oldest member in the Hi Hat church and has been very faithful and dependable.

Yes, Sister Ross, we have chosen today as a day to show our appreciation for you and just to let you know how much we all love you. We know that we cannot find words that can express the way that we all feel toward you but hope that this gesture will show you that you are a very important person to all of us and that we love you very much. We hope that you will be with us to celebrate your 100th birthday. From all of the people in the Hi Hat Community, "We wish you a Happy Birthday." We also paid your C. P. M. A. membership, emergency dollar, and a subscription for the White Wing Messenger. We do this because of the great love we have for you. May you have many, many more birthdays. God bless you!

PRESTONSBURG SHOEWORKERS THERE'S GOOD NEWS TONIGHT!

Your employer, the U. S. Shoe Corporation, told the WALL STREET JOURNAL on April 4, 1972, only three weeks ago, that it "Had strong orders for spring shoes . . . and initial orders for fall are sharply ahead of last year."

Then, they added, "Full year sales should rise to about $360 million dollars from $324 million dollars in 1971."

And they said that U. S. Shoe Corporation had applied for permission, "to raise fall shoe prices 4.7 percent," and added that, "a further price increase in spring, 1973, lines might be needed."

U. S. Shoe management told the newspaper that in the first three months of 1972 sales rose to $86.5 million dollars from 1971's first three months' sales of $78.3 million dollars.

Franklin D. Roosevelt said,
"If I were a working man, my first move would be to join a union."

John F. Kennedy said,
" . . . a strong labor movement is an important contribution to the public good. I know how unions have been used to eliminate industrial terror, sweatshops, inhuman working conditions. But their greatest contribution has been in the democratic rights they have won for their membership in dealing with employers. They enjoy the right to speak up and, when necessary, to talk back. Through their unions, millions of working people have won a measure of equality with their powerful employers."

That's Great News . . . For U.S. Shoe Stockholders

What does it mean to you as a shoemaker in Prestonsburg?

Will this mean general wage increases? Improved benefits? Catch-up adjustments to give you what other shoeworkers are already enjoying in the industry? A better place to work in? Hope for your future? For your family's future?

Have you any reason to believe that U. S. Shoe Corporation will share its "good news" now any more than it has shared in the past? Do you believe U. S. Shoe Corporation will share with you?

Sure, you can ask for your share. But what you'll probably get is something like these answers:

"We're already importing 15 percent of the shoes we sell. Why should we pay you higher wages when foreign shoeworkers work for so much less?" Or,

"You're getting more now than foreign shoeworkers. You should be willing to work for less money so we can stay in competition."

But, that's all you'll get by asking even though U. S. Shoe says business is good and its factories working overtime.

There is another way, you know. You are American shoeworkers. Your wages should buy you an American standard of living. Because you are American shoeworkers you can bargain for better wages. You have the right to ask and, if necessary, to demand wages that will allow you to enjoy an American standard of living.

To do this you must first organize your bargaining power.

And the only way you can do this is from within your union

To start your union and take your first step toward the kind of bargaining power that Presidents Roosevelt and Kennedy praised.

On 'Recovery' Ship

When the USS Ticonderoga takes up its position in the South Pacific, awaiting the splashdown of the Apollo 16 on its return from the moon, Lt. Com. Bobby E. Stratton, a native of Betsy Layne, will be having a part in the recovery operations as a crewmember.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Obert Stratton, now of Flatwoods, Ky., Lt. Com. Stratton has for 21 years been in the South Pacific, including four years in Hawaii on the U. S. Navy's intelligence staff in that area. The Ticonderoga is based at San Diego, Calif., and the commander and his family—his wife, Elsie and four children—reside there. He was graduated from Betsy Layne high school and received his bachelor of science degree from Pikeville College.

Three Floyd Clubs In 4-H Talent Show

Floyd county was represented by the Stumbo seventh and eight grade 4-H clubs and the Garrett high school club in the Northeast Area 4-H Talent Show held recently at Johnson Central high school, Paintsville.

St. George's Day Celebration Slated

More than 1,000 lay persons and clergymen from Episcopal churches throughout the Diocese of Lexington will go Sunday, April 23, to the diocese's Cathedral Domain, near Beattyville, in celebration of "St. George's Day", the annual observance of the feast day of the Domain's patron saint. This year's celebration actually will fall on the official feast day of the saint. Other years, it is held on the Sunday closest to the event.

The Rt. Rev. Addison Hosea, bishop of Lexington, will be the celebrant at a Service of Holy Communion to be held at noon in the cathedral. Bishop Hosea also will deliver the sermon at the Service of Evening Prayer scheduled for 3 p.m. The Very Rev. Edgar C. Newlin, dean of the Diocese, will be in charge of the service. He will be assisted by the canons of the diocese: the Rev. William D. Smith and the Rev. Geoffrey Evans, both of Lexington, and the Rev. David M. Webb, of Pikeville.

MAN, NATURE PRODUCE FEWEST WOODS FIRES

Frankfort, Ky.—The state is enjoying its best spring forest fire season ever, thanks to some preventive programs by the Division of Forestry and a bit of help from Mother Nature.

Kentucky's spring fire season runs about 2½ months, from March until mid-May. The fall season comes in October and November.

Maynard Marcum, chief fire control officer for the Forestry Division, said Kentucky has had about 576 fires in the past three months which have burned about 6000 acres. In comparison, 1480 fires burned 31,000 acres in March 1969 alone.

"This is probably our best spring fire season of all time," Marcum said. "The weather has helped a lot and we've had a lot of success with our preventive programs." He said the recent damp and cool weather, though keeping fishermen and other outdoorsmen unhappy, has prevented the woodlands from becoming extremely dry, minimizing the possibility of fire.

Marcum said the division's house-to-house contact program to inform local citizens about fire hazards has been a major factor in reducing forest fires this season and for the past two years.

Under the program, begun in 1970, forestry personnel visit fire-problem areas, providing residents with information on the particular causes of fires in their communities.

"Each area has its own set of conditions and its own major causes of fires," Marcum said. "Once the residents know what causes to look out for, they can combat them and eliminate conditions which might contribute to fires."

He said debris burning which gets out of hand is the single major source of fires in Kentucky.

"We've had very little trouble with incendiary fires, people deliberately setting the woods on fire," Marcum noted. "It's usually the good, upstanding citizens who let fires get out of hand that get us into trouble."

Forestry Division figures indicate Western Kentucky has been the major fire trouble spot this season, although Eastern Kentucky usually has that distinction.

Marcum traced the difference to the more extensive use of the contact program in Eastern Kentucky, which has reduced fires in former problem areas there.

He also praised the work of the division's fire-fighting crews and detection personnel, and the help of local volunteer fire departments in keeping fires at all-time lows this season.

About 50,000 acres are burned in Kentucky annually and state forestry officials are hoping to cut that figure in half.

Miss Ward On Dean's List At Austin Peay State U.

Clarksville, Tenn.—The Dean's List for the winter quarter at Austin Peay State University includes Deborah Music Ward, of Auxier, according to Glenn S. Gentry, vice-president for admissions and records. To be eligible for the Dean's List each quarter, a student must complete at least 15 quarter hours with no grade lower than "C," and attain a 3.65 grade-point ratio based on a 4.0 system.

Brackett Slated For TV Program

Ray Brackett, Title I director of the Floyd county schools, will participate in a half-hour television program concerning Computer Assisted Instruction (CAI) Wednesday, April 19. The program will be shown at 10:30 p.m. on WHTN-TV, Channel 13 (Huntington, W. Va.) as part of the "Newsmaker '72" series. It will feature taped scenes of children receiving CAI instruction. Area parents and educators, including Mr. Brackett, will explain how the program operates.

Originally scheduled for April 12, the CAI telecast was pre-empted by an NBA play-off contest. The program will be aired again at 6:30 a.m. Sunday, April 23.

According to Supt. Charles Clark, 185 Floyd County students now receive CAI math instruction at Osborne, Prestonsburg, and Stumbo elementary schools.

CAI is currently being provided to 3,800 school children in 35 regional schools by the Eastern Kentucky Educational Development Corporation (ESEA, Title III), located in Ashland.

TO CONFER DEGREES
John W. Hall Lodge, of Martin, extends an invitation to all Master Masons on Saturday, April 22, at 6:30 p.m. The third degree will be conferred on five candidates. A potluck dinner is planned.

Engagement Announced

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Rebecca Jane Fufts, of Ocala Fla., to John Ronald Grant, of Daytona Beach, has been announced.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Fufts, of Ocala. Mr. Grant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Grant, of Silver Springs.

The bride-elect is a senior at Valdosta State College in Valdosta, Ga., and is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Grant is a graduate of the University of Florida and has a B. S. degree in civil engineering. He is employed as a design engineer for the City of Daytona Beach.

The wedding will take place on June 17 at the First Christian Church.

The bride-elect and her parents formerly resided at Estill. Her father was employed by the Elk Horn Coal Corporation as land agent, and her mother, the former Nadine Martin, by the Floyd County Board of Education as Wayland high school librarian. Her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Webb Martin, still resides at Estill.

Fish Hatchery Work Contract Awarded

A contract for the second and final phase of construction for the Minor Clark Fish Hatchery, near Morehead, was awarded last week to the Twin Cities Construction Company, of Olive Hill, according to Bernard Carter, assistant commissioner of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Department.

Included in the $690,000 contract is construction of an administration-hatchery building, three residences, a shop-garage building and a display pool in which all four species of fish produced at the hatchery will be exhibited to the public. Landscaping and necessary paving will also be done by the Twin Cities Company.

Work on this phase of the hatchery is to begin within 10 days and will be completed in about a year. Already under construction on the area, which comprises some 300 acres, are more than 100 ponds. Total cost of the project will be nearly $2.5 million.

Muskellunge, walleye, rockfish and largemouth bass will be produced at the hatchery, Carter said, and initial production, on a limited scale, is slated to begin next year.

GUESTS OF CONNS
Dana, Ky.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Neal and son Freddy, of Fraser, Mich., Mrs. Rita Nichols and son Jeffrey, of Roseville, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. William Conn and son Frederick, of Morehead, Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Jarrell, Belinda and Dwayne, of Dana, and Linzie Conn, Jr., of Banner, were Easter week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Conn, of Dana. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton and Joe Jacobs, of Stanville.

Former Wayland Man Is Assoc. Administrator Of California Hospital

Robert Hicks, Jr., formerly of Wayland, has been appointed Associate Administrator of Valley Doctors' hospital, North Hollywood, Calif., replacing Lewis R. Gillette, who resigned to join the Granada Hills Community hospital, of Granada Hills, California.

Mr. Hicks was employed at Valley Doctors' hospital as the Chief Medical Record Librarian from 1963 to 1968, at which time he was made Assistant Administrator. Prior to coming to California, he was Chief Medical Record Librarian at the Miners Memorial hospital, McDowell, from 1955 to 1963. Mr. Hicks now resides in Van Nuys, Calif.

Governor May Amend Special Session Aim

The attorney general's office has issued two opinions relating to special legislative districts and private security guards.

The first opinion says a governor, when calling a special legislative session, can amend his call to include additional subject matter and can do so after the session has begun.

Gov. Wendell Ford has said he will call the General Assembly into special session this summer, probably in June. He has listed several subjects for the session including voter residency law revision and refinement of the state's congressional redistricting plan.

The attorney general's office also said special security guards or local peace officers assigned to school campuses have no authority to make arrests or searches for any alleged drug-connected crime.

"School security guards are no more than watchmen," the opinion said. "They have no authority to search persons or possessions, they have no authority to confiscate property."

The opinion said seizure of illegal drugs is the duty of "duly authorized public police officers."

Primary Competition Possible Factor in Senate Race

With the field off and running in the race to succeed retiring Republican U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper, it appears that former Gov. Louie Nunn will face a stiff challenge in the Republican primary from his former Parks Commissioner Robert Gable, of Stearns, while State Sen. Dee Huddleston, of Elizabethtown, will glide to the Democratic nomination without serious opposition.

Gable, who nearly bucked the Nunn administration a year ago to run against Tom Emberton in the Republican gubernatorial primary, faces an uphill battle against the former Governor. Former Public Service Commissioner W. Howard Clay, of Louisville, and Leslie County Judge George Wooten have also filed for the seat.

For Senate Majority Leader Huddleston, backed by Gov. Wendell Ford and State Chairman J. R. Miller, it's clear sailing through May 23.

Some observers feel, however, that the seemingly united Democratic front behind Huddleston could prove to be a mixed blessing. There are those who contend that a vigorously contested primary can be a genuine asset to its winning candidate, provided, of course, that he can make peace within the party before the general election in November.

The campaign staffs of Nunn and Gable could, in the race for the nomination, become honed to a razor-sharpness before May, and be battle-tested veterans by the time the fall canvass begins. The Huddleston forces, meanwhile, will not be tested regularly until the autumn campaign.

While some argue that a strong challenge in the primary forces a candidate to use too early much of his financial resources, others claim that the free newspaper headlines, radio and television news stories, and general uproar created by the contenders in a close primary race can generate more interest in the eventual winner than a candidate in a one man race can ever hope to buy. One has only to look at the two most recent gubernatorial races to substantiate this claim. In 1967, the attention focused on Louie Nunn in his heated battle with Marlow Cook for the Republican nomination was a major factor in his subsequent victory over Democrat Henry Ward in November. And who can forget the Wendell Ford-Bert Combs tussle in the 1971 Democratic primary, the publicity from which newcomer-Republican Tom Emberton could not hope to overcome.

Huddleston was nearly challenged by millionaire fried chicken magnate John Y. Brown, Jr., who decided to run instead in 1974 for the Senate seat currently held by Marlow Cook.

Brown said last week that he did not wish to hurt the party's chances of winning in November by causing a divisive primary in May. However, it may be that both Huddleston's chances in 1972 and Brown's prospects for 1974 would have been improved had Brown made this year's race.

For Huddleston, it would have meant primary opposition, and thus a greater opportunity to oil his campaign staff and to capture news headlines. Brown's 1974 candidacy would probably have been greatly enhanced had he made his first statewide race, and thus become better known and more experienced, this year. The list of candidates who have run and lost only to bounce back later and win includes Abraham Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt, and, more recently and closer to home, Cooper, Combs, and Nunn.

Though it may be too early to confidently predict the November winner, the most significant question about the race has already emerged: Can a strong Republican ticket headed by President Nixon and former Gov. Nunn overcome Sen. Huddleston's backing by the state administration and a united party and the Democrats' 2 to 1 registration margin over the Republicans?

A petition bearing the signatures of 1453 Kentuckians was filed with Secretary of State Thelma Stovall to place Communist Party candidates for president and vice president on the state's November ballot.
