

No Solution To Mystery Yet Found

Probers Continuing Quiz of 'Witnesses' In Conley Slaying

The slaying of James Clayton Conley, 35-year-old Hindman man, on Steele's Creek, near Wayland, June 7, remained an unsolved mystery this week, but investigators were hopeful that an arrest in the case will eventually be made.

State Police Detectives Chester D. Potter and B. J. Music, Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo and Sheriff Frank Leslie are leading the probe into the murder, and most of these returned Tuesday to the upper Right Beaver Creek section to continue the questioning of persons who, they think, can shed some light on the puzzling case.

Detective Potter said he is pleased with the progress made to date, and others involved in the investigation are agreed that the murder will not remain an unsolved mystery.

Some tangible clues are in the possession of the authorities. They decline to discuss these, except to mention that a red car is suspect, since red paint was found on a junk car at the roadside, near where Conley's body was found, and glass found there fits into the broken parking lens of the car. Evidence is at hand, officers say, that the car was undamaged prior to Tuesday night, June 6, when Conley is believed to have been slain.

Those questioned about the case are loath to talk. "They're scared," Commonwealth's Attorney Stumbo said. "But we are going to keep at them till we learn the truth about this killing."

Also involved in the investigation is the earlier shotgun slaying of deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley at Garrett. A shotgun is undergoing State Police laboratory tests. Investigators have expressed the belief that the two slayings have a connection.

One report says that James Clayton Conley had openly said that he knew all about the Lawrence Conley killing.

James Clayton Conley was seen by several persons in Garrett, Tuesday night, June 6. His body with seven bullet wounds in his head, was found around 4:30 p.m. the following day on a dead-end unsurfaced road which leads off the Wayland-Sizemore road, near the foot of the mountain in the head of Steele's Creek.

Two Are Nabbed In Liquor Raids

State troopers and ABC Agent Arvel Nelson found intoxicants in only two of five places raided during the week-end, but in the successful raids two men were arrested and beer was confiscated.

One of those arrested, Birbage Howell, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of possessing intoxicants for the purpose of sale. He was sentenced by County Judge Henry Stumbo to 30 days in jail, fined $20 and costs and placed under $500 bond to keep the peace. Howell was jailed Friday by State Trooper Williamson and Nelson who reported they found on his premises at McDowell eight quarts and 189 16-ounce cans of beer.

The same officers jailed Henry Shepherd Friday on a possession charge after they

Bridge at Emma Must Yet Await Corps Approval

Rural Highway Commissioner Otto Ingram told County Judge Henry Stumbo last week in a meeting at Pikeville that $300,000 has been appropriated from the rural secondary highway fund for construction of the bridge across the Big Sandy river at Emma but that actual work on the span is farther away than many believe.

Bids on the project cannot be asked, he pointed out, until design of the bridge has been completed and it has been approved by the U. S. Corps of Engineers. Once that is done, he indicated, the work will be moving toward a beginning, and Judge Stumbo said he is hopeful work can begin this year.

Appalachian Regional Commission funds may be made available toward the bridge construction if an industrial site at Emma is acquired and the ARC is thus shown that its help on construction of the span would result in industrial development.

A second bridge, one connecting the new US 23 with the Prater Creek road and eliminating the present Banner bridge, is in the planning stage.

All counties of the 12th highway district were represented at the Pikeville meeting with Commissioner Ingram.

ARH Withdraws Black Lung Bid; Opposition Told

Citing recent controversy over the possibility of Appalachian Regional Hospitals undertaking a black lung program in the Appalachian region, ARH last week withdrew its preliminary proposal to the Appalachian Regional Commission for $1.2 million in federal grants to develop the project.

At the same time Chalmers H. Frazier, administrator of the Highlands Regional Health Center which is due for opening near Auxier in October, said Highlands will open its cardio-pulmonary function laboratory next month and by August 1 will be ready to do work in the black lung program.

"We are hoping to do research in the black lung program through the Appalachian Regional Commission," he added.

Mr. Frazier said the Kentucky Program Development Office, representing ARC, is now in the process of evaluating individual hospitals to determine their place in such a program.

Dr. Ballard D. Wright, associate professor in the University of Kentucky's College of Medicine, will be director of the laboratory at the new hospital and expects part of the lab to be activated about July 1.

In announcing the decision of Appalachian Regional Hospitals to withdraw its proposal, ARH President T. P. Hipkens noted that newspapers in Kentucky and West Virginia have recently published the views of black lung groups opposed to ARH management of such a program.

"It appears that the possibility of ARH providing these services has become a major impediment to the implementation of the program," Hipkens said. "Because we feel that an effort of such major significance should not be delayed further by such controversy, we are terminating our discussions."

Hipkens said that ARH "will, of course, be happy to cooperate with, or assist others in any way that we can with the implementation of a program for black lung victims."

CABOOSE BECOMES PARK FEATURE

This train caboose which has been added to the attractions at Archer Park here is not as deserted as the photo would indicate. When it's open, children flock around and inside. The caboose is the gift of the C. & O. Railway Company to the park.

This Town . . . That World

NO NEWS...

And there went another maxim, shot down in mid-flight, you might say. I refer to the one which runs to the effect that "No news is good news." When Bill Jagers left on vacation, he promised to send a card telling of that catch of fish about which he had no doubts whatsoever. That was more than a week ago. No card.

DRY LAND BOATING

I must be getting old, so few things are happening to me. Haven't fallen into a lake all year. Haven't been caught out in a convertible with the top down. Haven't been lost since I created some little disturbance at a rest home where the alarm goes off when you try to go out the wrong door.

The nearest thing to personal discomfiture I've run into as of present date happened about three weeks ago at Center Hill Lake when I was operating an outboard motor and started it up while it was in gear. As the boat shot forward, I felt backward from the rear seat and came to rest between it and the transom, which is

Allen and Wife Sue Four Firms, Claim Damages

Two legal actions filed in the Johnson circuit court by a Floyd county couple seek to recover a total of $830,000.

Lawton Ray Allen, Prestonsburg accountant, and his wife, Eleanor C. Allen, in one action are seeking $580,000 damages from the Johns Manville Corp., Brock-McVey, Elliott Glass & Electric and the Kentucky Power Company, alleging negligence in supplying and installing fiberglass insulation in the Allens' home in Executive Estates, a short distance north of the Prestonsburg-Pointsville airport.

Plaintiffs ask $515,000 for alleged permanent physical damage to Mrs. Allen and $65,000 for their home.

In the second court action Mr. and Mrs. Allen, in amended answer to a $25,000 suit filed against them by Helton and Linton, Paintsville accountants, counter-sued for $250,000. Allen formerly was a member of the Paintsville accounting firm.

Martin Flood Protection Funds Ready But Easements Lacking

The office of Congressman Carl D. Perkins last week notified The Times that another $200,000 has been appropriated for construction of the Martin local flood protection project.

This latest appropriation brings to $1 million the total of federal funds already allocated for the Martin job. If, and when, it is completed, the work will involve an expenditure of around $3 million.

But the beginning of work remains at dead stop while Martin city officials seek easements from property-owners who live within the city limits and the Floyd fiscal court works toward the same end with owners of property lying outside Martin.

Jerry Grigsby, Martin attorney and son of Mayor E. P. Grigsby, who has been working with members of the town board there on easement procurement, said Monday that the work is going "real slow—not quite half of the property owners have signed easements." He added that he is hopeful of getting the sign-up completed within a month.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said the fiscal court has employed Gerald Jones, Prestonsburg attorney, to negotiate for easements on behalf of the county and that he has effected six new agreements.

Judge Stumbo said a land agent of the U. S. Corps of Engineers' Huntington district office told him here last week that every easement acquired should be reported immediately. Such encouraging word is needed, he said, to convince the Bureau of the Budget that it should not withdraw funds allocated to the Martin work.

Engineers estimate that straightening and deepening of Beaver Creek from a point above Martin, near the junction of Right and Left Beaver Creeks, to a point downstream near the Sammy Clark Branch, between Arkansas Creek and Allen, would reduce the flood stage at Martin by 5.7 feet.

Bond of $11,000 Set for Accused Slayer of Wife

Mont. Robinette, 72, remained in jail Monday in default of bonds totaling $11,000 which were asked Friday after he had waived examining trial in quarterly court here on charges of murder and shooting at without wounding. The shooting case had been transferred from Prestonsburg police court.

County Judge Henry Stumbo set Robinette's bond for the slaying of his wife, Laura Spradlin Robinette, 58, at $10,000. Bond of $1,000 was asked on the charge of shooting at Policeman Darrel J. Conley.

No apparent attempt to execute either of the bonds had been made as of Monday, and court officials said the elderly slayer may be given psychiatric examination at Lexington prior to indictment and trial.

Robinette is accused of shooting and fatally wounding his wife at their West Prestonsburg home, June 10. She died, shortly after having been shot, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital. Policeman Conley said Robinette fired one shot at him and snapped his .22-calibre revolver on empty chambers twice again while the weapon was pointed at him.

Perkins Illness Laid to Fatigue

The collapse of Congressman Carl D. Perkins at his Alexandria, Va. home, June 11, was caused by exhaustion, doctors at Bethesda Naval Medical Center said later.

A heart attack was feared at first, but doctors' early surmise that the Congressman's illness stemmed from fatigue was later confirmed. He remained last week in the hospital but had characteristically asked that some paper work be brought to his hospital room.

Perkins is chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, and only three days before his collapse the committee completed work on a package of

PTA-Sponsored Two-Day Event Top Attraction

The greatest crowd ever to attend an Eastern Kentucky event of any kind is expected to witness next Saturday and Sunday the second annual Dewey Lake Regatta, which this year will feature the Northern championship speedboat races.

The Dewey Lake water spectacular will be unusual in two respects: It will be the first such event ever sponsored by a Parent-Teacher Association (its sponsor is the Prestonsburg Elementary PTA) and it will be the first time for the Northern championship races on Eastern Kentucky waters.

Two hundred boats have been officially entered in the regatta. Last year, the first for the event, 44 were entered. The list of awards will be crowned with the presentation of the Governor's Cup at 5 p.m. Sunday to the high-point racer.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the PTA, Barry Storm, former recreation director at Jenny Wiley State Park, park officials and cooperating groups to handle the huge crowd and the heavy water traffic. Officers will be posted at both entrances to the Park, at Hager Gap and Lancer, to provide information to visitors and afford protection. Five others equipped with radios, will handle the parking which will be permitted as long as possible along the highway bordering the lake. Then the parking areas at the amphitheatre and golf course will be used. Two school buses will be operated to transport to the scene of action those who must park some distance away. Two wreckers will be at hand to move stalled cars, and doctor services will be available at the scene. Working to handle both the land and water traffic will be the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad and the Water Safety Patrol.

Some of the best-known names in speedboat racing will compete in the races. One of those heard most frequently is that of Johnny Cash, whose boat will be entered.

And all the entertainment will not be on the water. John Frazier, Simpsonville kiteskiier, again will be on hand to fly on both days of the regatta. Except for the kite strapped to his back, Frazier would be just another water-skier. But when the boat towing him hits a speed of 35-40 miles per hour he becomes airborne, rising to a height of 125 to 150 feet.

Floyd Girls Seek RECC Title

MISS DeROSSETT

Two recent Prestonsburg high school graduates are among the first six candidates for the 1972 title of Miss Big Sandy RECC. Miss Sarah Elizabeth DeRossett, 17, of the Bull Creek road, and Miss Debbia Ann Buckley, 16, of West Prestonsburg, have entered the contest which will be decided at the Big Sandy Rural Electric Co-op's annual meeting, July 20, at Johnson Central high school, Paintsville.

MISS BUCKLEY

The Miss Big Sandy contest winner will go to the state pageant later in the year. Girls between 16 and 22, whose families are members of the Big Sandy RECC, are eligible to enter.

Miss DeRossett, who was salutatorian of the graduating class this year at Prestonsburg high, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas DeRossett. She won numerous awards in school here. Miss Buckley, a cheerleader three years in high school and participant in many school activities, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Buckley.

Winners of the Miss Big Sandy contest will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the state beauty pageant and a $150 clothing allowance. All contestants will be awarded trophies.

Sturgill Refunds Treasurer $6,221

Barkley J. Sturgill, who now is a member of the Kentucky Public Service Commission, last week returned to County Treasurer W. J. May $6,221 representing fines and excess fees received in 1971 while serving as Floyd county attorney.

The refund goes into the general fund and is available to the fiscal court for general governmental purposes.

Mr. Sturgill's refund to the county treasurer, made last year for the year 1971, was $4,000.35.

The Jail Break

Capote's "Grass Harp" To Open Sunday at Community College

"The Grass Harp," a new musical based on the story by Truman Capote will open Sunday at Prestonsburg Community College. A special production of the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, the musical will play every Wednesday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Pike Auditorium.

The musical concerns a lady who makes a secret dropsy cure. When a con-man tries to steal her secret, she moves with her maid and nephew into a tree-house in River Woods. There they meet a singing, shouting evangelist named Babylove and her Miracle Show. The musical score ranges from a soft-rock number called "Flooies" to the tender ballad, "Chain of Love," to a gospel-blues, "Indian Blues." The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre is the first stock company in the country to present

"The Grass Harp," having acquired the rights shortly after the Broadway run.

The second season of "Jenny Wiley!" the new musical based on the life of the legendary Indian captive will open at the amphitheatre in Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, June 28. The new production features two new musical numbers and a new star, Adrienne Doucette, whose movie credits include "Me Natalie." "Jenny Wiley!" will run every Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday night throughout the summer.

"The Music Man," the Meredith Willson hit which introduced "Seventy-Six Trombones" continues to play at the theatre every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday through July 15. For reservations and information call the theatre at 886-6647 or write Box 22, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Severance Tax Compliance Good

State Revenue Commissioner John M. Ross says "less than 100" Kentucky coal operators failed to send in reports or taxes during April, the first month of collections under the new coal severance tax.

Ross said the really important factor in the new tax is compliance.

"It (compliance) was pretty good," he said. "Not as good as we'd like, but as good as expected. We've already sent out delinquency forms. The severance tax has been made a priority in the Revenue Department."

The tax yielded $2,451,939 during its first month.

At that rate the tax would give Kentucky about $30 million per year, well under the official estimates of $40 million the first year and $44 million the second.

But April is expected to prove a relatively poor month in tax collections for several reasons.

Ross attributed the slump to a relatively mild winter, which reduced fuel requirements, and stockpiling of coal in connection with a recent strike partly affecting Kentucky.

Kentucky's Oldest Row House

By Paul Howard

It's one long house that extends an entire block on Harrodsburg's South Chiles Street, and it's the oldest complete row house in Kentucky.

Built by Joseph Morgan soon after 1800, it originally consisted of four units under one roof separated by firewalls extended from the ground to high above the roof. The units were connected by passageways, which have since been closed off.

This type of construction was more common in the eastern colonies than west of the Allegheny Mountains, because extensive properties were more prevalent in the East, and it was easier for a landlord to oversee his building if everything was connected.

Under the management of John G. Chiles, Morgan's son-in-law, Morgan Row served as a stagecoach station, a public tavern and gambling house, and an inn. It came to be known as Chiles Tavern, and its operation proved so profitable that a fifth unit was added during the 1830's.

It was this unit of Morgan Row, at the north end of the street, that the Harrodsburg Historical Society purchased in 1964. Of the other units, two have been combined to house the Harrodsburg public library and two others are headquarters for private businesses—a law office and a real estate office.

The historical society has restored its unit as nearly as possible to the condition it knew in the 1800's, and it now serves as a civic center and a museum open to the public, and the society's headquarters.

Legends abound concerning the doings at Chiles Tavern. One is of a long-running poker game that lasted for 40 years without a break. Players would come and go, but there'd always be someone waiting to take a place at the table.

Another tale has it that Chiles was always so tired out by the day's activities—dances, political celebrations, stagecoach service—that he never counted the day's receipts, just swept them into his hat.

Apart from its colorful past, Morgan Row is interesting from an architectural standpoint. It contains the earliest built-in sideboard on display in Kentucky; original Carpenter locks (found only in bits and pieces in Mercer and adjoining counties) on the original nine-panel doors; original mantels; hand-waxed, original random-width ash floors; hand-wrought iron lighting fixtures; unusual copper gutter boxes, and Kentucky pattern brick hearths. In addition, many interesting displays are housed in the museum portion of the north unit; a Chester Harding portrait of Daniel Boone painted in 1819; various items that belonged to James Harrod, founder of Harrodsburg, and Daniel Boone; examples of early glass, china and silver, and displays from the early schools and colleges of Mercer County.

Morgan Row House is open to the public, 1 to 5 p.m., from June 1 through Labor Day, except Mondays.

'Round and 'Round It Goes . . .

Robert Combs, president of the Western Kentucky Gas Company, blames the current shortage of natural gas on industry to the extent that industry reacted to air pollution criticism by environmentalists. This reaction, he points out, resulted in industry turning to the "cleaner" gas for fuel—and thus began a chain of events that comes, full-circle, back to the point where it all started.

The heavy demand on natural gas and dwindling production have reduced the supply till new customers are warned they will not be served by gas suppliers. But fuel is necessary. Even if electricity is used, coal must be used to generate power. So the emphasis goes back to coal.

At least one gas company, the Columbia System, is preparing to go into the coal business in West Virginia. Does this mean strip-mining? The company may be able to convert coal into gas and so avoid the air-pollution liability. But what of the water pollution and other environmental damage the strip-mining will do?

Full-circle—from coal to gas to coal. And it comes out here.

Home Rule and Its Responsibilities

In adopting "Home Rule" legislation the General Assembly at its 1972 session made it possible for fiscal courts of the state's 120 counties to enact regulations of their own to meet their counties' own needs. And thereby shouldered onto the magistrates and county judges of the state are responsibilities that they may not want but which remain a duty not to be ignored.

"Home Rule" legislation gives local government many powers which are circumscribed only by the Constitution; if regulations or laws enacted by fiscal courts are within the Constitution, they will stand. It provides a means of bringing legislation down to the needs of a particular county — something the Legislature could not do, since its legislation necessarily must broadly apply to every county.

How wide the powers of county government under the new law are may not be fully known until fiscal courts begin flexing their muscles and get the law and what they undertake under it tested in the Court of Appeals. This is what the Act itself says of such powers:

"The fiscal court of any county is hereby authorized and empowered to exercise all the rights, powers, franchises and privileges, including the power to levy taxes, not in conflict with the constitution and statutes of this state now or hereafter enacted, which the fiscal court shall deem requisite for the health, education, safety, welfare and convenience of the inhabitants of the county and for the effective administration of the county government to the same extent as if the General Assembly had expressly granted and delegated to the fiscal court all the authority that is within the power of the General Assembly to grant to the fiscal court of said counties . . . The powers granted to counties by this Act shall be in addition to all other powers granted to counties by other procedures of law."

Thus is delegated much authority to the local governing body — and to whom much is given, much is required. The job may be unpleasant, sometimes, but there is a way now to get it done without looking to Frankfort and muttering, "There ought to be a law."

IN MEMORY

In memory of our father, Tim Bentley, who passed away one year ago, the 11th of June. He is missed more and more every day by his two daughters. He is gone but not forgotten. We miss seeing him and talking to him. When we had a problem we would go and talk to him and he would give us the right advice about what to do. He always treated everybody right and was a good Christian man seven days a week, not just on Saturday and Sunday.

The Legend of Jenny Wiley Is Part of Big Sandy History

By Helen Price Stacy
Visitors to Prestonsburg's Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, who come from throughout the United States, as well as from Canada and other countries, are the park's best promoters. They return home and tell others about May Lodge on an Eastern Kentucky mountain overlooking beautiful Dewey Lake; about the great forests surrounding the coves and glens, and the flowers that are a galaxy of color in nearby woodlands; about the genuine spirit of hospitality that abounds, and about the park's summer musical telling the story of a local frontier heroine, Jenny Wiley.

The park is only a short distance from Prestonsburg, where there are many places of historical interest. In and around Floyd county and its fringing counties there is enough history to supply endless stories for reporters, novelists and feature writers—not to mention composers and lyricists like those who put together the exciting musical, "Jenny Wiley!" It tells a story that is a Floyd county saga.

Floyd county was established in 1799 from Fleming, Montgomery and Mason counties, but its history of Indian life and pioneer settlement goes back many years into the past.

In his book "Kentucky's Last Frontier," Floyd County Historian Henry P. Scalf, of Stanville, records that John Spurlock was the earliest settler on the site of Prestonsburg, but the Mound Builders, part of an ancient civilization whose background is all but lost to man now, lived in the Big Sandy River region. To the Shawnees, the Big Sandy was Mich-e-cho-be-ka-sepe, or "River of Great Mystery."

Early white residents of the Big Sandy were the Spurlocks, Leslies, Sellards and Harmans. The Sellards family traveled a long trail from Ireland, reaching America in 1732, going to Pennsylvania, then to Virginia's Shenandoah Valley and a few years later to Walker's Creek in Kentucky, where they established homes. The family of one of those early settlers, Hezekiah Sellards, included five children. One daughter, Virginia, was courted by Thomas Wiley, but not without objection from her father. (Her sister's Elizabeth's courtship with Englishman John Borders, after the surrender of Cornwallis, had Hezekiah's complete approval.) Virginia (Jenny) and Thomas were married and built a cabin on Walker's Creek, as did John and Elizabeth.

The story of Jenny Wiley was performed as a musical for the first time last year on the amphitheater stage in Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. This year, "Jenny Wiley!" shares the season with four other musicals to be presented from June 20 through August 26.

As legend goes, on a dark, rainy day in October 1787, when young Mrs. Wiley was seated at her loom in the cabin, Indians attacked. Scapls of three of Jenny's children and that of a younger brother were taken before her eyes. But the Wiley massacre was a tragic mistake—the Cherokees thought they were attacking the cabin of their bitter enemy, Mathias Harman.

"Mrs. Wiley endured total slavery for months," wrote Henry Scalf. "Her captors brought her to Little Mud Lick in Johnson county and set up a permanent camp." While in this camp the hardy pioneer woman learned that Harman had established a blockhouse at the mouth of Johns Creek. And then Jenny Wiley began to plot her escape. There's more to tell—and "Jenny Wiley!" tells it well.

Visitors to the state park and to the amphitheater would do well to set aside a day or so for retracing Jenny Wiley's steps as an Indian captive, and her travels on Big Paint Creek, Little Paint and the Big Sandy.

Eastern Bible Club Has Annual Program

The Joy Bible Club of Eastern presented the public with its eleventh annual Achievement Program, May 27. The program, which was led primarily by the boys and girls themselves, consisted of a Bible Club choir, vocal and instrumental solos, duets, a playlet of Mexico, chart summer of the coming of Christ, visualized lessons, memory work, Giants of Cannan, and many other features.

Colored slides were viewed of the work of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jamieson who work with the Mazatec Indians of Mexico and are working under the Wycliff Bible Translators. One of the highlights of the evening was when Miss Ann Flanery told of the $90 the Bible Clubbers raised for the Jamiesons.

A large arch of roses was formed beneath the theme words, "The King Is Coming." The room was decorated with flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Golda, Vada Osborn and Hollie Faye Wicker.

This year, the Bible Club officers were Lara Hopkins, president; Pam Osborn, vice-president; Charlene Hicks, secretary; Ann Flannery, treasurer. Many awards were presented to the children by Miss Barbara Wynsma, the gold trophy cup went to Miss Carla Martin and the bronze cup to the runner-up, Miss Teresa Huff, for best in Bible drill. The winner of the silver cup in the Thursday class went to Creed Acree. An extra award went to Miss Connie Gray and Tammy Martin for their excellent work in Bible Verse memorization. Miss Charlene Hicks was presented top award of a week at camp. Other camp awards were presented to Larry Acree, Creed Acree, Teresa Huff, Victor Boyd and Teddy Meadows.

Other awards were presented to Miss Beverly May, Lara Hopkins, Ann Flannery, Beulah Patton, Teresa Huff, Pam Osborn, Deborah Patton, Debby Johns, Kim Martin, Carla Martin, John Flannery, Melvin May, Stanley Martin, Jeff Wicker, Tommy Webb, Connie Grey, Andrea Wicker, Tammy Martin, Della Scarberry, Marsha Scarberry, Angela Rowe, Carla Huff, Trenea Hensley, Carla Huff, and Kim Bentley. Miss Deb Patton won first place for her Bible Club notebook. Charlene Hicks and Debby Johns were also awarded for theirs. Miss Lara Hopkins and Miss Hicks were presented a special "graduation" award upon their completion of years of Bible Club attendance.

Pike, Lawrence To See Drilling By Columbia

In its continuing search for natural gas in the Appalachian area, Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation-Charleston Group plans to spend more than $6.6 million to drill approximately 60 wells this year in West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky.

Last year, the company completed 35 wells in the three states at a cost of more than $2.4 million.

John R. Henning, manager of production and storage, said the company also plans to step up gas production by encouraging drilling by independent producers, assigning by encouraging drilling by independent producers, assigning some acreage to independent producers and other operators and participating in joint ventures.

He said the company is planning to drill 27 wells in West Virginia, 12 in Kentucky and 21 in Virginia. West Virginia's share of the program will be $3,018,400, Kentucky's $1,619,000 and Virginia's $1,987,900.

In Kentucky drilling is planned in Lawrence and Pike counties; in West Virginia, Jackson, Kanawha, Mingo, McDowell, Wyoming, Raleigh and Wood counties; in Virginia, Buchanan and Dickenson.

Henning said some of the wells have already been drilled and some are under way. In addition to the drilling program, Columbia Gas Transmission plans to install 25.5 miles of field lines to gather gas produced by the wells. The lines will cost $529,000.

The cost of drilling a well to an average depth of 4,000 feet in the Appalachian area may be about $80,000, Henning said. From 10 to 14 days are required.

Drilling is continuing on the company's deep test well in Mingo county at a depth of more than 12,000 feet. It is expected the well will penetrate to the "basement," a granite layer found at depths ranging from 5,000 to 25,000 feet. The total depth of this well is expected to be around 17,000 feet, but it could be as much as 20,000 feet.

By the time the drilling bit reaches its objective, the cost is expected to go over $2 million. Data produced by drilling and seismographic studies justifies deep drilling for additional gas reserves, Henning said. The drilling of the Mingo county well is part of an overall program by the Columbia Gas System to find large reserves in the Appalachian area.

Columbia Gas Transmission-Charleston Group has 3,966 producing gas wells. These wells and the gas purchased from local producers' wells provide the company and its affiliates with about 14 per cent of the gas they need. The other 86 per cent is purchased from suppliers in the Southwest.

Ronnie Chaffins Receives Honor For UK Standing

One hundred fifty-two University of Kentucky students from 45 counties have been named to the dean's list in the College of Business and Economics for the 1972 spring semester.

To be honored by their dean, business and economics students must attain a high academic standing while carrying 12 or more credit hours of classwork.

One of those so honored is Ronnie Chaffins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Chaffins, of West Prestonsburg.

To Enforce Law On Highway Use

The launching of a program to insure that owners of large trucks, truck-tractors and buses are complying with Federal highway use tax laws was announced last week by Robert J. Dath, district director of Internal Revenue for Kentucky.

Lists of registered truck and bus owners will be compared with federal highway use tax returns to assure that returns are being filed and that all taxable vehicles are being correctly reported, Mr. Dath said. Revenue collected by the federal government from the highway use tax is returned to Kentucky and other states to help pay the costs of the interstate highway system now under construction.

The tax is imposed on certain trucks, truck-tractors, and buses that use the public highways. The amount of tax depends on a combination of the number of axles and weights of the vehicles. Generally, the tax applies to single unit trucks weighing 13,000 pounds or more and truck-tractors weighing 5,500 pounds or more.

The highway use tax year runs from July 1 through the following June 30. Owners of trucks in use on public highways during July, the IRS said, have to file a return by August 31. Returns also are required for vehicles first used on public highways after July.

Mr. Dath said that increasing numbers of farmers are becoming subject to the tax because of the growing use of larger vehicles in the agricultural industry.

IRS Publication 349, "Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck-tractors and Buses," furnishes detailed information and may be obtained by mail or in person from IRS offices in Kentucky.

OUTDOOR MUSICALS IN KENTUCKY'S JENNY WILEY STATE RESORT PARK. This summer a trip to the mountains of eastern Kentucky can include a few nights of musical drama at Prestonsburg, in the amphitheatre of Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Under a new schedule this season, visitors to the park can see as many as three shows in two days. The five musicals are "Jenny Wiley," (above), "The Music Man," "The Grass Harp," "Carousel" and "Once upon a Mattress."

Food Stamp Total Shows Slight Rise In Floyd for Year

During April, low-income persons in Floyd county received food stamps valued at $228,348 Economic Security's Commissioner Gail S. Huecker has announced.

This record compares to 8,784 low-income persons who received food stamps valued at $224,180 during March, 1972.

Kentucky's food stamp program has expanded during the past year. During April 1972, 298,194 low-income Kentuckians received food stamps valued at $7,819,066. In April 1971, 290,991 persons received food stamps with a total coupon value of $7,206,358.

At present, 73 counties are participating in the department's food stamp program. According to Rick Crawford, assistant supervisor of the program, this figure will increase to 88 by December.

Court of Appeals Rules in 2 Cases

The following decisions were handed down by the Kentucky Court of Appeals, June 9 in Floyd county cases:

Island Creek Coal Co., et al vs. Hicks, et al. Affirming in part, reversing in part; J. Neikirk, Edward P. Hill, Jr., not sitting.

Little (Raymond) vs. Commonwealth of Kentucky. Reversing—C. J. Steinfeld.

LOSING HAIR?

Don't Put It Off Until It's All Off!
National's Hair Consultant
In Pikeville, Tuesday & Wednesday
WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS FREE

Before Treatment After Treatment
George Swowers' shows results by National Home Treatment.

FREE CONSULTATION
Just take a few minutes of your time on Tuesday, June 27, and Wednesday, June 28 and go to the Landmark Motel, Pikeville between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the desk clerk for F. W. Dangler's room number, or call for appointment.

There is no charge or obligation . . . all consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way.

GUARANTEED
If you are accepted for treatment, you will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from beginning to end.

If you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss. Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. If you still have hair on the top of your head, don't put it off until it's all off. It doesn't make sense for a man to let himself go bald, certainly not without seeing a National Hair and Scalp Consultant to see if we can help you.

CAN'T HELP
Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. National's Hair Consultant cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

At the request of the ARC, ARH had provided the federal agency with a $1.2 million estimate of the facilities and programs required to meet black lung needs in the ARH service area.

The black lung program envisioned by the ARC involves a screening, evaluation, treatment and rehabilitation program.

ARH's application to the ARC would have established four cardio-pulmonary centers in West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky, similar to an existing facility at ARH's Beckley, West Virginia community hospital.

the last stop before leaving the boat for a dip.

"Red" Osborne was sitting up on the prow of the boat, screaming like a stuck pig, reminding me to shut off the motor. But I'm having trouble getting oriented from this position. And he no more than informs me that we're headed for the hillside than we ram into it.

I do deny Mr. Osborne's claim that we wound up on the first bench. We made it not an inch farther than halfway up.

The recent disclosure that there has been some chicanery in Kentucky horse-racing reminds us that a race horse is the only animal that can take thousands of people for a ride the same time.

OOPS!

I am a little bit tired of several things on television, one of which is the commercial when the old boy rolls a resounding strike and his son simpers. "Yeah, Dad, I know—you're as young as you feel."

I would remind one and all that you're as young as you feel after trying to prove it.

education legislation after six weeks of intensive negotiations between House and Senate conferees. He headed the conference committee, and its final session lasted for 18 hours, breaking up at 5 a.m.

Perkins has represented the 7th Congressional District since 1948. He had been chairman of the education committee since 1967.

In 1964, he suffered similar attack just off the floor of the House while it was in session and was taken to Bethesda Naval Medical Center. Doctors then said Perkins was overly tired.

had found 93 cans of beer on his premises at Grethel.

Willie Hamilton, of Mud Creek, who was arrested last week on a moonshining count by Deputy Sheriffs Dester Hamilton and Ralph Howell, was later taken before the U. S. Commissioner at Catlettsburg. The officers said they had gone to Hamilton's home to serve a warrant charging him with drunkenness. They found on the table a can containing "still beer." Stepping outside, they smelled wood-smoke. A few minutes' search located the still. Part of the still was brought to the sheriff's office.

Others arrested, charges against each and names of arresting officers follow:

Randall Howell, drunk driving, by State Trooper Leeman Bevins; Bobby R. Henson, drunk driving, by State Trooper Williamson; Edward Kidd, drunk driving and no operator's license, by State Trooper Bevins; Greenville E. Branham, drunk driving, by Policemen Lawson and Blackburn.

Dr. B. D. Wright To Return Here With New Center

One of the native-born members of the medical profession expected to return here with the opening, early next fall of the new Highlands Medical Center is Dr. Ballard D. Wright, assistant professor, Department of Anesthesiology, University of Kentucky Medical Center, and director of respiratory therapy at the Center.

Dr. Wright will not wait till the new facility near Auxier is completed but will return July 1 to join the staff of the Prestonsburg General Hospital and supervise the installation in the new hospital of cardio-pulmonary equipment which he expects to have functioning by August 1.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Wright, of Cliff, Dr. Wright received his bachelor's degree from Berea College in 1959 and the M. D. degree from the University of Kentucky's College of Medicine in 1964. After his internship and residency at Wilford Hall U. S. Air Force Hospital, San Antonio, Texas, he served as chief of anesthesiology at Vandenberg AFB Hospital, California from 1967 to 1970, also as director of intensive care there from 1968 to 1970. He is a fellow of the American College of Chest Physicians and a member of the American, California, Texas and Kentucky Societies of Anesthesiologists.

Dr. Wright is a respiratory tract specialist and has published several professional papers on respiratory diseases and anesthesiology. He collaborates with Dr. S. Sjogren in the preparation of four papers in this area which were given at the 10th Congress of the Scandinavian Society of Anesthesiologists at Lund, Sweden.

Rowlett Appointed ARH Administrator

West Liberty, Ky., June 15—Raymond Rowlett, 43, former administrative assistant of the McDowell Regional Hospital, has been appointed administrator of the new Morgan County Appalachian Regional Hospital.

The non-profit health center, embracing 25 acute-care beds and 25 extended care beds, is scheduled to open in October. It is being built by the county at a cost of $1,480,000 and has been leased to Appalachian Regional Hospitals, a non-profit health care system.

The appointment of Rowlett, assistant administrator of ARH's 145-bed health center at South Williamson, Ky., since November, 1967, was announced by T. P. Hipkens, of Lexington, president of ARH.

Rowlett already has assumed his new duties and is supervising selection of staff and equipment for the new facility. He will move his family to West Liberty in August.

Rowlett joined the ARH system in August, 1956, as an accounts clerk in the Middlesboro hospital. He became business-admissions supervisor of the ARH hospital at McDowell, in August, 1958; from March, 1963 to July, 1965 served as assistant patient accounts manager of the University of Kentucky hospital at Lexington; in July, 1965 returned to the McDowell hospital as administrative assistant, and in October, 1965 moved to a similar position at the South Williamson ARH hospital. He was promoted to assistant administrator in November, 1967.

The Morgan County ARH hospital is designed to serve an area of 30,000 people. It is the first non-profit hospital to be built in West Liberty, and is the tenth hospital in the Appalachian Regional Hospitals system.

A jump in individual and corporate income tax collections during May has put Kentucky tax revenues within range of the annual estimate, with only one month left in the fiscal year.

MAYTOWN COMMUNITY NEWS

Jeff and Scarlett Tussey, of Springfield, Ohio, spent last week here visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb, while their mother, Mrs. Taulby Tussey, underwent surgery at a Springfield hospital.

Sympathy is extended to relatives here of B. H. (Harrison) Frasure who passed away last week in Port Charlotte, Fla., where he and Mrs. Frasure had spent the winter at their home. Mr. Frasure was a former resident of Maytown but had resided in St. Marys, Ohio for several years before his retirement and he was returned to St. Marys for burial, June 13. Some of those from here attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Click, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Frasure.

Miss Glenna Dean Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Robinson, became the bride of Mr. Darrel Wayne Bradley, grandson of Mrs. Martha Bradley, Saturday evening, June 10 in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Johnnie Huffman at the Maytown United Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley will reside in their new mobile home on Turner Branch, near Eastern.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Hoose and niece, of Belleville, Mich., have been here visiting Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett (Rube) Osborne, of Waynesville, Mo., are here visiting relatives. Mr. Osborne called on Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click and Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bailey, Sunday morning. Mr. Osborne will return home at the end of the week but Mrs. Osborne will remain for a longer visit to recuperate from an illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gibson and children, of New Richmond, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. James G. Gibson and sons, of Mt. Orab, Ohio, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Selton Gibson.

A party was given to celebrate Dan Moore's sixth birthday by his mother, Mrs. Budge Moore, at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Nora Martin. Those attending were Budge, Anthony, Dwayne, and Deidre Moore, Sheridan, June, Rodney, Gayle and Kenton Martin, Rondell, Jackie, Danise, Rondell Darrel, Timothy, and Keith Lawson, Delmas, Sturneth and Phillip Inman, Ida Mae Moore, Gary, Brenda, Vinson and Byron Turner, George Edward Lawson, Freddy Moore, Benny Albert Combs, Glennis, Bonnie and Lisa Warrens, all of Garrett; Thomas and Evelyn Martin, Hugh, Kitty and Allen Rowland, Gaylord, Olive and Allison Martin and Delbert Martin, all of Langley; Ralph and Carlita O'Quinn, of Garrett; Ronnie and Donnie Howard, of Eastern; Charles, Nedra, Shawn and Catherine Heather Wesson, of Prestonsburg; Gheard, Blanche, Danise and Susan Martin, of Hippo; Tandy, Dana and Kevin Moore, Thomas, Darrel and Thomas Dwayne Martin, of Lexington; Herbie, Buck and Mark Ward, of Hueysville; Ruth Childers, Dayton, Ohio; Melody Duff, Waynesville, Ohio; Cheryl and Charlotte Whittaker, Hueysville; Sellemeyer, Sharon, and David Lee Moore, Stone, Ky., and Green Shepherd, of Gunlock. While the children played games, a cookout was enjoyed by the adults.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hayes, of Baltimore, Md., have been here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hayes. His mother returned home with them and attended her sons graduation from the University of Maryland School of Law. They also toured Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click were in Pikeville on business Tuesday. Bill Bamer, of Garrett, and Miss Patty Webb have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walker Prater and daughters and Miss Lynn Webb in Crown Point, Ind.

Morton Adkins has been a patient at University Hospital, Lexington, but is now recuperating at home.

Tommy Hobbs, of Lexington, spent last weekend here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Champ Gibson.

School Health Code Updated

Revised regulations in Kentucky's school health code should help local school systems develop their own health programs, according to Lester I. Chadwell, director of the school health program for the State Department of Health.

Other code changes reflect changes in law and bring the code in tune with the times, he says.

Last year Chadwell served on a committee of 20 persons from the state Departments of Education, Health and Public Safety that revised the code. He recently edited a 50-page publication of the new code which details health policies and procedures for Kentucky schools. A State Board of Education regulation since 1947, the code was last published in 1961.

The revised code provides for school health coordinators to plan, promote and carry out school health service programs. The school health coordinator then develops programs to meet his school's needs, Chadwell says. Already five school districts have hired fulltime employees as coordinators. Other school systems have nurses or health and physical education teachers to do the job.

A new section of the code requires school districts to include health instruction in the curriculum. Instruction should stress "timely and local health problems" such as alcoholism, drug abuse, personal hygiene, accident prevention, family living, environmental health, nutrition and venereal disease.

Another new section makes school districts responsible for requiring pupils who participate in strenuous athletic activity to be medically examined at the beginning of each school year of participation or more often if necessary.

On the other hand, the old recommendation for fifth and ninth grade pupils to undergo complete physical examinations has been eliminated. State-approved programs of continuous health supervision in the schools make elimination of the examinations possible, Chadwell says.

Pupils aren't the only ones affected by the School Health Code. Teachers, custodians and cafeteria workers are required by the code to be medically examined upon employment and to be tested for tuberculosis each year thereafter. "Other school employees" have now been added to the list of those required to get annual tuberculosis skin tests, available at local health departments, and be physically examined upon employment.

Bus drivers' physical examinations are now required in accordance with State Board of Education regulations pertaining to pupil transportation. Formerly, bus drivers' examinations met less stringent standards of the Division of Transportation.

An addition to the code brought about by a new law gives local boards of education responsibility for adequately controlling air pollutants as required by the Kentucky Air Pollution Control Commission. "Adequate control" includes prohibiting open burning of trash and solid waste, using incinerators designed to minimize air pollution, and controlling the level of fly ash and smoke emissions from boilers used for space heating at schools.

Up-to-date immunization certificates must now be on file at schools for all pupils at all times. Previously, requirements for keeping immunization records were less strict. The new code indicates that the governing body of private and public schools shall enforce the provisions of the immunization section of the code in accordance with law.

Invitation To Bid

The Floyd County Board of Education will offer to the lowest and best bidder, until 12 noon, July 3, the following:

- Item 1: 5 12,000 to 14,000 b.t.u. air conditioners, delivered to Martin and John M. Stumbo schools.
- Item 2: 49 20,000 to 24,000 b.t.u. air conditioners, delivered as in Item 1.

The Board reserves the right to buy additional units at the same price until July 1, 1973, and the right to reject any or all bids.

Highway Official Says Gas Tax Increase Saved Some Programs

By Dave Thompson

Frankfort, Ky.—Had the 1972 General Assembly rejected the two-cents-per-gallon gasoline tax hike, the state Highway Department now would be facing financial shortages and cutbacks in several road building and improvement programs, according to Deputy Commissioner Bob Bond.

"Without the added two cents," said Bond, "we could not have done much more than match Interstate and Appalachian road funds. We would have needed to call upon Governor Ford to call a special session of the legislature to provide some means of financing the road program."

As an example of the impact of the tax increase, Bond said the Governor's recent $4-million highway resurfacing project "would not have been completed, along with other commitments, had the levy been turned down."

"The two cents is a sound fiscal approach to financing our program," he said, "because such tax measures give a built-in growth for future years where bond issues would have increased debts."

The original tax bill, as passed by the General Assembly, also contains a provision allowing one-half cent of the levy to be shared with urban areas, beginning July 1, 1973.

"This legislation will not only help local governmental agencies to finance their programs, but it also helps this department because the cities are now able to take on more responsibility for maintaining their own streets," said Bond.

Total funds available for sharing are expected to reach $9 million in fiscal 1974.

Another measure important to local government will allow the Highway Department to enter into agreements with municipalities in relocating utilities threatened by road construction.

"These localities have a tremendous problem in coming up with the money to relocate utilities, and this legislation should help," Bond said.

While much highway legislation was passed by the 1972 General Assembly, some measures were rejected and Bond said these may be reintroduced in 1974. He specifically noted bills to standardize accident reporting forms and to allow the department to pay the costs of moving engineers and their families.

"Our engineers feel this bill is very critical because, as our highway program shifts from place to place, it becomes very expensive for employees to relocate their families," said Bond.

He said that, in terms of the state road program and other highway legislation, the 1972 General Assembly responded favorably.

INSPECTORS—Buddy A. Beach, acting state Reclamation director, has told his field inspectors to "take all the time they need" to determine if proposed strip mine sites can be properly reclaimed with minimum environmental damage. Such inspections are required before the Reclamation Division can approve strip mine permit applications. Beach said the inspectors now will be free of political pressures and that the practice of "walking through" permit applications has been ended.

Economic Security Commissioner
 Seeks Better Service for Clients

By Frank Coots
 Frankfort, Ky.—Mrs. Gail Huecker, newly appointed commissioner of Kentucky's Department of Economic Security, plans to give more autonomy to the department; local offices in order to provide better service to clients.

"Responsibility and authority haven't been delegated to the local offices" in the past, she said, with the result that the commissioner was making decisions that could have been made more quickly at the local level. She added, however, "no changes will be made until they can be effectively made."

Mrs. Huecker says she believes "service" is the name of the game and she evidently feels the department's service to clients can be improved.

"We have to look at what we are demanding from the client," she said. "There is no reason why a person should have to make two or more visits to the same agency. There should be a closer link between (the) public assistance and employment (bureaus of DES) to get the people back in the labor market. We have to let one arm know what the other is doing."

The Department of Economic Security, created in 1948, provides a wide range of services, including old-age assistance, employment service, unemployment insurance, aid to dependent children and aid to the needy blind.

Mrs. Huecker, who assumed her new position June 1, is the first woman as well as the first professional social worker to head the department, third largest in state government (after Highways and Education). She has been a social worker in Kentucky for 20 years and was director of the Louisville Metropolitan Social Services Department for the last three years.

As a social worker, she is well aware that her profession is often criticized, but feels much of the criticism is undeserved. She claims that many of the people who criticize social workers are actually complaining about departmental bureaucracy and most social service departments are not headed by social workers.

She also said people are disgruntled with the concept of the welfare system because they do not understand it. "There are not many abusers," she said. "People can't realize that some have a lot more support (such as insurance) than others, and don't have to fall back on welfare in crisis situations."

"All of us benefit from these programs," she added. "You know, public schools are a welfare program."

Although Mrs. Huecker is outspoken (she said Gov. Wendell Ford appointed her partly because "I've been very vocal in my criticism of the department"), she is also quite personable. She said she was a little awed by the attention she is getting by virtue of her position.

"I couldn't believe it when my secretary asked me how I like my coffee," she laughed. "I'm used to getting my own coffee."

DON'T MIX CLEANING PRODUCTS. Don't experiment with mixing different cleaning products together, warns UK Extension home management specialists. This could lead to the release of toxic gases that could cause lung damage or even death. For example, mixing chlorine bleach with ammonia could release chloring gas—and breathing chlorine gas fumes is highly dangerous.

Miss Eula Oppenheimer Recognized for Service

Miss Eula W. Oppenheimer, formerly of Prestonsburg, a procurement clerk for the Aeronautical Systems Division at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, was recently awarded a certificate of service and pin in recognition of 30 years' federal service.

Working in the program control office at Wright-Patterson AFB, she is responsible for the initiation, termination and coordination of procurement actions. She also performs program control functions related to Air Force requirements.

She began work at Wright-Patterson in January, 1942. Miss Oppenheimer was graduated from Prestonsburg high school in 1933.

She is a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Oppenheimer, 212 Julia Ave., Dayton, Ohio, and the late J. L. Oppenheimer.

Here's one good reason to think of us as a Tire Store

What do you think of when you think of a tire store? Stacks and stacks of tires of every description? Good price deals? Good credit deals? Well, at Gulf we've got all that and more. We've got the Gulf Radial. The best reason going to think of us as a tire store. Here's a tire with extra deep tread. Four rayon belts. And two tough plies of rayon. Radial plies, to make the sidewalls flex and keep the tread flat when you corner and brake. A tire that will give you better performance than any conventional tire rolling. So come on in to Gulf and see our Radial. And our wide treads, belted, mini-tires, and economy tires, too. All good reasons to think of us as a tire store.

Children's Musical Set At Alice Lloyd College

Pippa Passes, Ky.—"The Wizard of Oz," a children's musical produced by the Appalachian Summer Theatre at Alice Lloyd College, will be performed Sunday, June 25 at 2:30 p.m. With special emphasis on songs for children, the performances are free of charge at Cushing Hall in Pippa Passes every Sunday from June 25 through August 13.

In its third summer, the Appalachian Summer Theatre is a company of 20 actors, technicians, and directors from Alice Lloyd College, Berea College, Indiana University, and various high schools through the region. The theatre emphasizes Appalachian plays for free performances in rural and urban communities in Floyd, Knott, Perry, Letcher, and Leslie counties. Ken Baldrige, of the ALC Drama Department, manages the company.

Besides The Wizard of Oz, the Appalachian Summer Theatre also will present free performances of two adult Appalachian plays. Trail of the Lonesome Pine will play in rural audiences in Prestonsburg, Hindman, Hazard and Whitesburg.

A director and an assistant director will join the people of Martin in presenting Alice in Wonderland at the Martin high school Auditorium later in the summer.

In addition to these plays the Appalachian Summer Theatre will sponsor a new program, a children's production featuring group involvement in dramatics. The show, "The Magic Pouch," will play at Head Start centers and Bible Schools.

Hall-Fike Wedding Solemnized

Miss Gwendolyn Carol Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neale Hall, of Lexington, and David Lee Fike, son of Mrs. Rolland Secontine, also of Lexington, and Mr. Robert Fike, of Morgantown, W. Va., were married at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 10, at Immanuel Baptist Church.

The Rev. H. B. Kuhnle officiated. A program of wedding music was presented by Mr. Daniel Tilford, organist, and Mr. Paul Scott Little, Knoxville, Tenn., soloist.

The bride wore an empire, floor-length gown of white imported silk organza and Peau d'Ange lace. The bodice was fashioned with a crystal pleated inset bordered with lace and seed pearls, and the long fitted sleeves were of lace. A deep border of lace banded the scalloped hemline and the attached train. She wore a chapel mantilla of matching lace and carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses, phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Joseph Perrin of Cincinnati, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor-length empire gown of light blue silk chiffon with high neckline and long crystal pleated sleeves. Her headpiece was made of pastel daisies and baby's breath and she carried a matching bouquet centered with a lighted candle.

The bridesmaids Miss Shelly DuVall,

Miss Patty Hymson and Mrs. Jack Douglas Little all of Lexington, and Miss Carolyn Jones, of Bermuda, wore pastel gowns identical in fashion to that of the matron of honor. Their headpieces and bouquets were identical to that of the honor attendant.

Tracye Hall, sister of the bride, was flower girl. John Wade Hall, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

Rolland Secontine, step-father of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Jack Douglas Little, Keith Harding, Miller Shelton, all of Lexington, and Phillip Little, of Knoxville, Tennessee.

A reception was held at the home of the bride in Greenbrier Estates. Assisting were Miss Diane Farmer, Miss Leah Prewitt, and Miss Marcia Sills, all of Lexington, and Miss Brends Clinebell of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Thomas Hayden of Prestonsburg presided at the guest book.

After a wedding trip to the South, the couple will live in Lexington.

The bride has completed her freshman year at Transylvania University where she is an honor roll student majoring in psychology. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority. She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hall, of Prestonsburg.

Mr. Fike was graduated from the University of Kentucky in May. He is employed at Central Bank in Lexington.

LAW—It appears the 1972 General Assembly passed a law which will be impossible for Kentucky's savings and loan associations to obey. The law requires such firms to obtain federal insurance by June 18, 1972 or stop making certain types of loans. It now takes up to two years to get such federal coverage.

Average Family Income for 1970 $4,878 in Floyd

The average family income in Floyd county in 1969 was $4,878, far below the $7,441 average for the state, according to a report on the 1970 census by the Bureau of the Census. Per capita income for the county amounted to $1,632, the report shows.

The 1970 census counted 35,889 residents in the county. Only 1 percent of these were foreign-born, and 2 percent were native-born with one or both parents of foreign birth.

Among the county's 32,706 inhabitants age 5 and over in 1970, 1,166 were living in a different county within the state in 1965, and 1,804 in a different state.

In the population age 16 and over, 55 percent of the men and 25 percent of the women were in the labor force. Among the employed, 35 percent were holding white collar jobs, and 21 percent were government workers.

About 23 percent of the married women with husband present were in the labor force, and 20 percent of these wives had children under six.

There were 9,539 persons 3 to 34 years old enrolled in school. In the 25-and-older population, 24 percent of the men and 25 percent of the women were high school graduates.

The fourteenth Annual Fund Raising Campaign for Kosair Crippled Children Hospital offers the greatest challenge to date according to General Chairman, Thomas W. Speckman.

The 1972 Goal of $285,000 announced by Speckman is an increase of only 1.7% over last year and should not be difficult to reach.

Kosair is in the midst of a $1,750,000 modernization program which will make it one of the finest and most modern Hospitals of its kind in this part of the country. No monies received from present or past Operating Fund Campaigns is being used for this program.

This work is being done with a view to making possible the treatment and care of many more children from all areas of Kentucky, which will in turn, cost considerably more for operation. This makes the 1972 Operating Fund Campaign more important to the indigent crippled children of Kentucky than ever before.

Kosair does not receive funds from any other campaign for children. It is dependent upon funds raised through the Annual Operating Fund Campaign and contributions made directly to the Hospital to supplement other income.

During 1971 a total of 1,817 different children were admitted for treatment and care. This represents more than 14,598 hospital days care for Kentucky's children, the average length of stay being approximately 16 days.

Kosair maintains an Out-Patient Department and the Medical Staff conducts clinics covering all areas of Kentucky. During 1972 253 clinics were held and 13,939 treatments and examinations were given.

Special emphasis is being placed this year on the Thousand Club. This 'Club' is made up of all persons contributing $100 or more to the Campaign and the goal is to have 1,000 such contributors in 1972.

All donations should be made directly to the Operating Fund Campaign, Kosair Crippled Children Hospital, P. O. Box 17323, Louisville, Kentucky 40217.

Floyd Delegates To Convention

Pictured above are the delegates from Floyd county who attended the 81st annual convention of the General Federation of Womens Clubs in Denver, Colorado this month. They are, from left, Mrs. Mervile Dixon, Mrs. Fred Salisbury, Miss Ruby Akers, Mrs. Nick Cooley, Mrs. William Hoffman, Mrs. David P. Allen, Mrs. James P. Allen, Mrs. William O. Goebel, Sr. and Mrs. James D. Adams. Absent from the picture was Mrs. Clay Stephens.

The theme of this year's program was, "The Federated Clubwoman: The Catalyst." The program was highlighted by the appearance of Ambassador George Bush, Ruth Stafford Peale and Julia Nixon Eisenhower. At the conclusion of each day's program scenic tours of Denver, Central City and the Air Force Academy were enjoyed.

EUTHANASIA

By Wilmay

Generally speaking, doctors have always been considered intelligent persons, on the average. Lately, some folks are wondering, since there is among many of them now a wide disagreement as to when an individual is dead.

God alone knows when one is spiritually dead (unsaved,) but a blind child can tell if a person is physically dead. He knows a patient is dead only when his condition is such that anyone in attendance would call the undertaker; moreover, he is not dead until then. Whether he or his family have signed permits to give his heart or other organs to someone needing a transplant has nothing to do with it. Sedated patients could unintentionally sign their lives away, and more than one member of the same family have been known to despise another in it.

Pleas and laws favoring euthanasia (mercy killing,) may be signs that this era is nearing its close. The recent publicized case in Virginia, where one man sued surgeons who had removed his brother's heart without permit, should spur every thinking citizen to action. Our best doctors and physicians are opposing the new interpretation that a person is dead when the brain ceases to function. Organs must be removed before the pulse and heartbeat cease. Murder is murder and it cannot be called by any other name, even if taking the life of one did save that of another in danger for want of a transplant. No doubt Congress will soon pass a nationwide law permitting medics to determine what constitutes death, for apathy marks most opponents to evils today. Strange, there was no question as to what constitutes death until transplants became possible. We all knew when somebody was dead. Now, they insist they are dead, once the brain stops functioning.

A young preacher known to many in this county had a motor accident this spring, walked into the hospital for minor surgery. Something went wrong. He went into a coma, remained in the hospital for weeks. His doctors told his wife (from Floyd county) he likely could not recover, and that if he did, he would always be a human "vegetable." Family and congregation prayed continuously for him. He now recognizes people, is recovering, for life is and should remain in the hands of the Master Physician.

Many read a similar story in Guideposts years back, of Karen, whose dad was a surgeon. Surgery left her a vegetable for months. Faith finally brought her out of it and back to school eventually. A relative of a friend in Prestonsburg was dying from cancer in a distant state years ago. The physician in charge told the patient's husband he would ease her out of her misery soon, since all the children had come to see her. The indignant husband

NOTICE

FROM: Our Lady of the Way Hospital
Dr. Lowell Martin
Dr. Virginia de Guzman

The following excerpt is from a recent letter received by us from the Kentucky Department of Health: "Effective May 31, 1972, the Maternity and Infant Care Project will no longer conduct clinics at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin, Kentucky.

Patients presently authorized by M & I in the Martin Clinic with an expected delivery date subsequent to May 31, 1972, will be referred to the Prestonsburg or McDowell Clinic for continued prenatal care. Delivery will be in either McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital or Prestonsburg General Hospital. Physicians in the Martin area may continue to refer patients to Maternity and Infant Care at either of these locations dependent upon the patient's choice."

Thus, please be notified that Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Dr. Lowell Martin and Dr. Virginia de Guzman are no longer authorized to accept patients covered by the M & I program, and these patients should, in the future, go directly to the McDowell or Prestonsburg hospital for all care under the M & I project. We have appreciated and enjoyed the opportunity to serve your maternal and infant care needs in the past.

Food Stamp Users Increase Over 200 Within One Month

Atlanta, Ga.—There were 8,784 low income Floyd county people on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food Stamp program in March as compared to 8,565 the previous month, USDA's Food and Nutrition Service reports.

Taking the state as a whole, it was noted there was a slight gain in the number of Kentucky people on the food assistance programs. The number on the food stamp program was up by 1,258 while the total receiving donated food was down slightly to give an overall increase of 1,062.

In the food stamp program, now in operation in 73 Kentucky counties, 303,877 people were issued $7.8 million in food coupons. Of this amount, $5.5 million was free or bonus stamps.

The remaining counties that operate food distribution programs distributed 1.1 million pounds of USDA-donated food to 53,410 needy people in March.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) enrolled 756,100 disadvantaged youth during 1971, an increase of 19 percent or 118,200 over the figure for 1970.

George W. Allen

George W. Allen, 86, of Langley, died last Wednesday at the Mountain Manor Convalescent Home here after a long illness. A native and lifelong resident of Langley, he was born July 20, 1886, a son of James and Sally May Allen. He was twice married—first to Dora Webb, and following her death, to Elizabeth Spencer, who survives.

Survivors, other than his widow, are a son, Ray Allen, of Harold; a daughter, Mrs. Christie Moore, of Allen; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Mosaleete Farrell Patton, of Langley; a brother, A. J. Allen, of Ashland, and a sister, Mrs. Amanda Sutton, of Langley. He also leaves four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Friday at 10 a.m. at the Maytown United Methodist Church, of which Mr. Allen was a member, the Rev. Johnnie Huffman officiating. Burial was made in the May cemetery at Langley under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Active pallbearers were Paul C. Patton, Jerry Alan Patton, Hubert E. Halbert, D. Gene Dillman, Lewis McGlone, Jimmy Hamilton, T. C. May and Frank Stewart.

James McKinley Frasure

James McKinley Frasure, 75, of Martin, died Friday, at Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin, of an extended illness. Born December 12, 1896, at Langley, he was the son of William and Vicie Johnson Frasure. He was a Certified Public Accountant and was employed until retirement by Kentucky Utilities Co. in Lexington. He was a member of the Masons.

Surviving are one son, J. W. Frasure, of Houston, Texas; two brothers, Curtis Frasure, of Martin, and Willie Frasure, of Langley; five sisters, Mrs. Lula Coburn, of Garrett, Havana Winkle, of McArthur, Ohio, Mrs. Anna Case, of Snowflake, Arizona, Mrs. Nancy Culberson, of Arlington, Virginia, and Mrs. Edna Woster, of Washington, D. C. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Monday from the Hall Brothers Funeral Home chapel, the Rev. J. S. Bell officiating. Burial was made at Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

NOTICE OF SALE

By virtue of an Order of Sales of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the March 21, 1972 term in the above styled causes, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 7th day of July, 1972, at 10:00 a.m., upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of the Levisa Fork of Allen, Floyd County, Kentucky, in the New Addition to the Town of Allen, Kentucky, and being No. 7, Block No. 3 in the said addition and being the same property conveyed by Florence Music, et. al. on May 5, 1964 to Roy Salyers, as recorded in Deed Book 186, page 233 and reference is made to the said deed for a more particular description.

This property is being sold to settle the estate of the late Roy Salyers, Sr. and Pinkie Salyers.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 19th day of June, 1972.

Lee L. Hall

Lee L. Hall, 82, of East McDowell, died Saturday at a Paintsville nursing home after a year's illness.

A native of Floyd county, he was the son of the late Jack and Kathryn Martin Hall. Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Maudie Hamilton, of East McDowell, and Mrs. Lula Newsome, of Masontown, Pennsylvania; one half-sister, Mrs. Edna Tackett, of Ashtabula, Ohio; two half-brothers, Ed Hall of Prestonsburg, and Pat Hall, of Ashtabula.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. at the Little Rosa Church at East McDowell, by Regular Baptist ministers. Burial was made in the Jack Hall cemetery at Neds Fork, under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mary F. Wallace

Mrs. Mary Florence Wallace, 82, of Louisa, formerly of Wayland, died June 13 in a Louisa hospital. Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. last Thursday at Hall Brothers Funeral Home, Martin, by Evangelist Benny Blankenship. Burial was in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel.

Born Oct. 17, 1889, at River, Ky., she was a daughter of the late Jack and Martelia Welch Arrowood. She was a member of the Church of Christ. Her husband, William F. Wallace, died in 1964. Surviving are three sons, Thomas Wallace, of Lackey, Robert Wallace, of Prestonsburg, and James Wallace, of Hamilton, Ohio; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Adams, of Louisa; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Brown, of Van Lear, and Mrs. Julie Russell, of Hardy; two brothers, Pete Arrowood, of Catlettsburg, and Garrett Arrowood, of Kodak, Ky.; seven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Billy Adams, Robert Hatfield, Don Hughes, Ronald Lawson, Ray Layne, Milton Trusty, Charley Turner and Hatler Turner. Honorary pallbearers were Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., Glen Cowan, George E. Evans, Jr., Walter Frasure, John Herald, Clyde Lee, and Walter Reid.

Lloyd Caudill

Lloyd Caudill, 66-year-old retired railway worker, of Allen, died suddenly Tuesday at Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin, the victim of a heart attack.

A foreman at retirement of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co., he was born Sept. 24, 1905 at Salyersville, a son of the late James and Irene Patrick Caudill. He was a member of the Church of God.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Stella Branhm Caudill; two sons, Harry Caudill, of Allen, and James Caudill, of Bedford, Ky.; four daughters, Mrs. Pauline Crisp, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Betty Rickman, of Allen, Mrs. Justine Dingess, of Riverview, Mich., and Mrs. Bonnie Hinton, of Mount Vernon, O.; two brothers, Tommy and Alonzo Caudill, both of Martin; 13 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Allen United Methodist Church, the Revs. Elmer Davis and Wayne Blanton officiating. Burial in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel was directed by Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Mrs. Minnie Saler

Mrs. Minnie Saler, 75, of Pikeville, native of Floyd county, died last Monday at the Methodist hospital there. She had been in failing health for some time.

Born June 4, 1897, she was a daughter of Henry and Rosie Howell Gibson and was the wife of John Saler, who preceded her in death in 1959. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Opal Steele, of Fords Branch. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 11 a.m. at the Red Creek Church of Christ at Red, Ky., by Bob Wertz, Bill Ford and Sherd Rice. Burial was made in the fords Branch cemetery.

Mrs. Martha Keen

Mrs. Martha Keen, 95, of Wayland, died Sunday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin, of an extended illness.

Born December 9, 1875, she was a member of the Regular Baptist church for 50 years. She was the daughter of Thomas and Nancy Keen and was the widow of George Keen.

Surviving are two sons, Joel Keen, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Clayton Keen, of Wayland; 15 grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 1 p.m. from the Stone Coal Regular Baptist church at Garrett with ministers of the Regular Baptist officiating. Burial was in the Keen cemetery at Wayland under the direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

Ford Outlines Programs For Elderly Kentuckians

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Gov. Wendell Ford told persons attending the recent Governor's Conference on Aging that his administration is working to improve the quality of life for older Kentuckians.

About 2000 persons, most of them elderly, attended the conference on the Bellarmine College campus in Louisville to discuss programs aimed at making living easier for older citizens.

Governor Ford listed the generic drug bill, the homestead amendment and state participation in federal programs under the Older Americans Act as things already accomplished for the aging.

He said his administration has taken the first steps, through legislation, to secure housing for senior citizens and tax reform to accommodate those least able to pay. "Because of tax reform, you will now receive far more services from state government while paying less individual taxes," he said.

"In the field of health care, no area of my new state reorganization will receive stronger emphasis from the Governor's Office," he said.

"At the same time, you will find more and more impetus on the part of my office, and I believe other governors' offices, in persuading the federal government to abandon its ineffective health and welfare practices of the 30's and formulate more logical programs which will truly reach those in need—and with impact."

Trip Winner

Delano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dude Hagans, of Langley, is one of six Floyd county boys who left this week for an all-expense-paid trip to Anaheim, Calif. and Disney Land as guests of Thompson's IGA Foodliner here.

At the end of April, job vacancies in manufacturing totaled 125,000 (not seasonally adjusted), an increase of 14,000 over the March 1972 level. This represents the highest job vacancy level since August 1970.

Pikeville College Lists 12 Students From This County

Nine Floyd counties were members of the graduating class at Pikeville College's recent commencement.

Betty Marie Flanery, Langley, was graduated magna cum laude, and Sandra Blankenship, Weeksbury, and Rita Burchett Crisp, Allen, were graduated cum laude. Other members of the class were Jackie Day Crisp, Allen; Genevieve Harvey, Honaker; Randall A. Hayes, Betsy Layne; Virgil Raymond Knipp, Jr., Harold; Michael R. Litafik, Weeksbury, and Rosella Tackett Newsome, Teaberry.

Invitation To Bid

The Floyd County Board of Education will offer to the highest bidder, until noon, July 3, 1972, the following property:

Camp Shawnee Season Opens

The first of three one-week camps began today at Camp Shawnee. Troops attending camp the first week are: Troop 52, Whitewood, Virginia; Troop 12, Clintwood, Virginia; Troop 12, Pikeville; Troop 11, Pikeville; Troop 54, Myersville; Troop 4, Big Stone Gap, Virginia; Troop 371, Pikeville; Troop 99, Ky., and Troop 45, Oakwood, Virginia. While at camp the boys have an opportunity to participate in swimming, fishing, canoeing, archery, riflery, tracking, compass, first aid, and many other types of Scouting crafts. Each boy will be encouraged to advance in at least one rank while in camp. Particular emphasis will be placed on the outdoor merit badges such as swimming, life saving, nature, conservation, pioneering, cooking, etc.

Through the cooperation of Jenny Wiley State Park, the Scouts are using the swimming pool at the park. The school bus used to transport the Scouts from Camp Shawnee to the swimming pool at Jenny Wiley State Park was provided by the Pike County Board of Education.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS COMMENDED

Three Kentucky Young Democrats who received the commendation of the 500 who attended the 1972 state KYD convention at Frankfort recently are, from left, Senator Carroll Hubbard, of Mayfield, chosen "Outstanding Young Democrat Legislator of Kentucky"; Mrs. Alice McDonald, of Louisville, newly elected president of the state YD organization, and Herbert Deskins, Jr., of Pikeville, outgoing president. Hubbard, serving his second four-year term as First district state senator, was chosen in 1968 by the Kentucky Jaycees as "One of the Three Outstanding Young Men of Kentucky". Mrs. McDonald is the wife of Jefferson County Commissioner Glenn McDonald. Deskins serves as Pike County Attorney and led the state organization's successful effort to attract the national YD convention to Louisville in 1973.

Recalls East Point History

We remember a paper which we once had to prepare in a graduate sociology class in college. The title of that paper was "The Culture of My Community."

The assignment, to us, was not difficult, for we were from East Point, Kentucky, an old community of which we were proud whose people's lives and undertakings had influenced many lives here and elsewhere.

Several years have passed since we prepared the assignment, and we have never gotten around to paying tribute to some of those people who had such an immense influence in the growth and development of our community.

Names, such as Music, Auxier, Hager, Greer, Johnson, Webb, Ramey, Robinson, Moles, Smith, Baldrige, Crider, Burke, George, and many more too numerous to mention, have all had a part in the growth and development of the quiet, peaceful, progressive community.

East Point, whose post office dates back to February 6, 1871 and which was incorporated as a town in 1890, once had a brick-yard, a tie yard, where cross-ties were shipped to markets elsewhere, sawmills, a blacksmith shop, a water mill, an elementary school, several churches, several stores, a ticket office for the C & O Railway Company, a doctor's office, the Masonic Lodge F&AM 657, one of the oldest lodges in the state, and a lodge hall occupied by the Redmen, as well as the post office.

In addition to agriculture and timbering, the most outstanding occupation came to be coal mining as many citizens were employed by the North East Coal Company at Auxier and the Consolidation Coal Company at Van Lear, Kentucky. Also, the C&O Railway Company employed quite a large section crew for maintenance of the railway in the area.

Names connected with the East Point post office are, William R. Hager, who established the office in 1871, Harman D. Hager, Thomas J. Auxier, William J. Conley, Mollie Auxier, Calvin G. Hager, F. M. Moles, Stonewall Johnson, Frank Moles, Laura M. Music, all deceased, and Harry H. and Priscilla Hager, retired. These people gave many decades of service to the people of this area.

Many older citizens still pay tribute to a gentleman whom we shall refer to as "PaDoc," that being Dr. Frank M. Ramey, father of Mr. George L. Ramey, Director of Mayo State Vocational School who presently occupies the stately Ramey home at East Point. It is to Dr. Ramey that many of us owe gratitude for services rendered in earlier years. Nor can we forget his wife, Priscilla P. Ramey, whose outstanding church work guided us on right paths when we were young.

Another individual in the field of medicine was Dr. Tobe Webb who interned and practiced at East Point for a short time before moving to the Beaver Creek section of Floyd county.

Another early citizen who served the people of our area well was Samuel M. Crider, area blacksmith, whose shop was located in East Point, but was later moved to the mouth of what we now refer to as Crider Branch. Mr. Crider worked in his shop and served his fellowmen until he neared ninety years of age.

We have been told of the era before our day when a huge general store, operated by J.C.B. Auxier stood near the railroad and Big Sandy River at East Point where it was easily accessible to shipping and receiving of goods by steamboat and later by rail. Stores were also operated by Lin Spradlin and his daughter, Flossie Price, Calvin G. Hager, Stonewall Johnson, G. W. Price, Jim Smith, T. L. Burke, Frank and Isabelle Moles, W. J. Robinson, C. H. Burke, Bascom J. Robinson, John Price, and Joe Blackburn, all deceased, and by W. A. Baldrige, William Drider, Harry H. Hager, and W. L. Baldrige, all retired except the latter.

A dam which supplied water to a mill located where the East Point bridge now stands was operated by "Daddy" John Music who ground cornmeal for all the residents of his area. The dam served as the winter recreational area as it was used for ice skating, and East Point boasted of many excellent skaters.

East Point was not deprived of legal counsel in the early days as Mr. William W. Greer was admitted to the bar at Paintsville and became widely known for his work in this area. He was elected as a member of the General Assembly from Johnson County in 1897. He had large land holdings and operated a wheat threshing machine and a cider mill on his farm on Bear Hollow.

The churches of the area were the Methodist, Baptist, Church of Christ, and Church of God on Little Paint. Early church members whose work shall long be remembered are: Webster Greer, T. J. Music, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dingus, Mrs. Dora Combs, Mrs. Lou Baldrige, G. W. Price, David Johnson, John D. Music, Mrs. Priscilla Ramey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Burke, S. C. Honeycutt, Sally Badgett Hager, and Rebecca Hager Baldrige. Of course, many more have contributed greatly.

Early educators were Dr. Harmon Daniels, Professor John Burke, Joe Dingus, Sally B. Hager, Kelly Spears, C. H. Burke, Edgar Howell, S. Y. Allen, Verlie Johnson Whitten, and Ollie Adams.

Many citizens contributed to all branches of the military in the Civil War, both World Wars, the Korean Conflict, and to the present day.

It is impossible to mention all the persons who have contributed to the growth and development of our community, but to all the citizens, and to a community of which we are proud, we pay our humble and grateful respect.

New Law Could Broaden Power Of Counties To Control Stripping

The state attorney general's office says a 1972 law to extend and strengthen the general law-making and taxing powers of Kentucky counties may have given them broad powers to regulate strip mining.

That law, Senate Bill 165, specifies that a county fiscal court may "exercise all rights, powers, franchises and privileges, including the power to levy all taxes not in conflict with the constitution and statutes of the state now and hereafter enacted, which the fiscal court shall deem requisite for the health, education, safety, welfare and convenience of the inhabitants of the county."

Thus, according to the opinion, a county fiscal court could regulate strip mining as long as those regulations are not in conflict with the constitution or with statutes on the subject.

However, Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyon left open the question of whether a county can enact a flat ban on strip mining, or impose regulations more stringent than existing law provides.

Runyon said more study will be required to determine whether a given resolution or order on strip mining would conflict with state law on the subject.

Here's what you're missing in comfort, dependability and safety features if your Chevrolet is 3 years old.

Impala Custom Coupe

Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

What a '72 Impala has that your old one doesn't.

- Power front disc brakes, variable-ratio power steering and Turbo Hydra-matic automatic transmission are now standard equipment. Just three more examples of how we're building a better way to see the U.S.A.
- Long 121.5" wheelbase. Long on smoothness. Long on comfort.
- A full-molded foam front seat. Not only is it full foam, it's contoured to hold you comfortably. You find it in expensive cars. And now in Chevrolets.
- Power ventilation system. Keeps outside air coming inside—even when the car is stopped—without opening any windows.
- All Chevrolet engines run on low-lead, no-lead or regular gasoline.
- A double-panel roof that's strong on the outside, quiet on the inside.
- Sealed side-terminal battery. Terminals are sealed to prevent corrosion buildup.
- An advanced emission control system so we can all breathe a little easier.
- A front seat and shoulder belt system with reminder light and warning buzzer so you won't forget to buckle up.
- A hidden antenna in the windshield when you order a factory-installed radio. It won't get bent, folded or mutilated by vandals and garage doors.

You also can take comfort in Impala's traditionally high resale value. Which is another reason why Americans have bought more Impalas than any other car on the road—over 10 million so far.

What a '72 Chevelle has that your old one doesn't.

- A larger standard 6-cyl. engine (250 cu. in.). And all Chevelle engines now run on no-lead, low-lead or regular gasoline.
- Side-guard door beams—like those guard rails you see along the highway—are in the doors of every new Chevelle.
- An advanced emission control system that's helping in the fight against pollution.
- Corrosion-resistant, fully aluminized tailpipe for long life.
- Front seat and shoulder belt system with reminder light and warning buzzer. Just a gentle reminder that you should buckle up.
- A sealed side-terminal battery. With the terminals sealed, corrosion is less apt to build up and rob you of starting power.
- Long-lasting bias belted ply tires. Tire performance is improved because the twin belts keep it from squiggling away.
- A refined Delcotron generator gives you improved reliability and greater durability.
- When you order a new Chevelle with a factory-installed radio, you get the antenna in the windshield. Safe from vandals and garage doors.

The '72 Chevelle has some other things going for it, too. Like its traditionally high resale value. Like being named the "Best Intermediate Sedan" in the annual Car and Driver Readers' Choice Poll. And being the most popular car in its field year after year after year.

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

I will write about some very rare and unique species of birds that are in need of special conservation. While these do not seem to be in any immediate danger of extinction, they are reported as scarcer than usual over most of their range.

THE RAVEN—If any bird deserves to be saved from extinction, it is the raven. This bird has been known from ancient times and has played a great role in both Biblical and modern literature. This big, ebony fowl was once plentiful in most of Northern Europe; it was known on the earth in Noah's day. In the eighth chapter of Genesis we read where Noah "opened the windows of the ark he had made and he sent forth a raven which went to and fro, until the waters were dried up from the earth."

And in the 17th Chapter of First Kings we read where the Lord commanded the ravens to feed Elijah, the prophet, while he was hiding by the brook Cherith: "And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening; and he drank of the brook."

The raven was immortalized in American Literature by Edgar Allan Poe, in his famous poem, "The Raven," in which Poe puts speech in the mouth of this "ebony fowl," as "Quoth the raven, Nevermore."

Crows can be taught to say a number of words; perhaps Poe had knowledge that the raven could also learn to speak, if only a word or two like "Nevermore."

The raven is about one-third larger in size than the common crow; it is glossy black and has a beard on its throat; the crow's tail is squarish in shape, but the raven has a long, wedge-shaped tail. The crow caws but not the raven; it croaks in a harsh voice. It has a much larger, heavier bill than the crow; its flight pattern is also quite different as the crow makes short, quick flaps when flying, but the raven mounts the air with slow, heavy wing-beats and soars in the manner of a hawk; it usually flies with the mouth held open. During the courtship season, the ravens engage in spectacular aerial maneuvers; they can hover on the wing, and they often play a game in the air, dropping some object, which the others race after to catch in the air. They sometimes carry shellfish aloft and drop them on rocks to burst the shells, so they can get the good meat. The raven is the largest of the perching birds.

Ravens are highly valuable as scavengers. On the western plains they hunt for dead jack rabbits or other dead animals to eat; in the national parks, they hang around the camp sites and hotels to eat the refuse and garbage. Ravens never destroy crops like the crow sometimes does.

In the north ravens build their nests in tall evergreens and on the west coast, they build them high in the cliffs, on the "rim rocks." It is believed that ravens mate for life, as they return to the same nesting sight year after year.

The ravens are birds that should never be killed at any time; for their role in ancient as well as modern literature, they deserve our best protection.

THE WARBLING VIREO—This vireo used to be quite common in the suburbs and in shade trees of villages and trees about lawns and the premises of man. But it has become quite scarce during the past several years; where I used to see and hear four or five of these birds warbling in the shade trees, I now count myself lucky to hear just one. Its general scarcity is attributed by bird students to the smog and fumes now prevalent in the air of most towns and suburbs, where thousands of autos daily spew out the poisonous fumes into the air. It is believed that birds and some other forms of wild life are far more sensitive to air pollution than humans and cannot tolerate it to any great extent.

The warbling vireo is perhaps the most plainly dressed of any of the smaller birds; it doesn't even have a bar on the wings, and the stripe over its eye is so faint as to be barely discernible. It is simply a small, olive-gray bird with a white breast and a white spot between the bill and eye. It is the only vireo that warbles; it warbles on and on interminably throughout most of the INVALID—The State says a controversial contract for private development of campsites at Kentucky Dam Village State Resort Park is invalid. Signed during the last week of the Nunn administration, the contract has drawn heavy criticism since that time. Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyan said the contract lacked essential information about the development and was invalid from the beginning.

Sealed bids will be received by the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at the office of the Mayor, at the Ford Building in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, until 7:30 p.m., Thursday, July 6, 1972, at which time, in the Council Meeting Room at such Ford Building, bids will be publicly opened and read aloud, for furnishing labor and materials and performing all work, as set forth by this advertisement for bids.

The equipment to be furnished is as follows:

1. Hydraulic refuse packer of not less than 20 cubic yard capacity rear loader.
2. Heavy-duty chassis for such packer body, adequate in strength.

The bids must comply with specifications approved by the City Council, copies of which specifications may be obtained from the office of the City Clerk, in the Ford Building at Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

All persons or companies bidding shall bid on same as a complete unit. Bids received after the scheduled closing time for reception of bids will be returned unopened to the bidder. Bids must be accompanied by a bid bond payable to the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, in an amount not less than 5 percent of the base bid. In event an award is made and the successful bidder fails to execute a contract for performance of the work under the award, then the bid bond shall be forfeited as liquidated damages for such failure.

Bids and bid bonds shall be in a sealed envelope bearing the bidder's identification, addressed to the City of Prestonsburg, labeled in the lower left-hand corner:

"Proposal. 1. Hydraulic refuse packer body. 2. Heavy-duty chassis for refuse packer body."

The City of Prestonsburg reserves the right to reject any or all bids, which bids shall not be withdrawn for 45 days subsequent to the opening of bids, without consent of the City of Prestonsburg.

To Wed August 12

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Martin, R. R. 4, Columbus, Indiana, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Vicki Lynn Martin, to Kent Douglas Fischvogt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Fischvogt, 2595 Franklin St., Columbus, Ind.

An August 12 wedding at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Columbus, is planned. The reception will follow the wedding at Otter Creek Country Club.

Miss Martin is a 1969 graduate of Columbus high school. She attended Georgetown College and will be a senior at Indiana University this fall, majoring in office management.

Mr. Fischvogt, a 1968 graduate of Columbus high school, attended Hanover College and graduated from Indiana University in May. He will enter Indiana Dental School in August. Mr. Fischvogt is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta social fraternity.

Miss Martin is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin, of Eastern, and of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hall, R. R. 1, Roanoke, Ind., former residents of Floyd county.

Farmer Certification Set-Aside Payments

Farmer certification is the essential step preceding set-aside payments to producers participating in the U. S. Department of Agricultural 1972 set-aside programs for corn, according to Harry T. Hill, chairman of the county ASC committee. He urged farmers who have questions about certification to call or come by the Floyd county ASCS Office. "It's important that a farmer know exactly what he is certifying before he signs his name," said Mr. Hill. Farmers should certify the first two weeks in June to be eligible to receive their payment soon after July 1. Certification may be made as soon as possible after a farmer has his corn planted or if none will be planted and knows he is in compliance with the programs.

As soon as a producer certifies, the county ASCS office begins processing the data for payment which will be made soon after July 1. While it speeds payment to get certification in early, producers should also remember that mistakes can be costly. Once certification is made no acreage adjustment can be made. A farmer has to be in compliance with program regulations when he certifies. "That's why we're urging producers to call or come by if they're not sure about what is required for certification," Mr. Hill said.

Bids on Carr Fork Reservoir Held $1.5 Million Too High

Bids running as much as $1.5 million over the government estimate for the construction of the long-awaited Carr Fork Lake in Knott county have been rejected by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The rejection, and consequent re-advertisement of work for the flood control and recreation project above Hazard will not mean, however, a setback for the project, according to W. H. Cheesman, head of the construction branch of the Louisville supply division of the Corps. He said that the dam still is expected to be completed in the summer or fall of 1974.

The bids on the dam and spillway project were rejected after being opened May 23, but it was not learned such action had been taken until a notice to prospective bidders concerning the re-advertisement of work was received in the mail last week.

Cheesman said that all five bids submitted for the project had been rejected by the Corps on the basis of the lowest bid being $1.5 million over the government estimate.

The new bid invitation carries a deadline of July 3 and bids will be opened about July 12. Contract awards and construction usually follow about four to six weeks after the opening. Cheesman said he expected construction to start within 10 days after the low bidder receives notice to proceed.

The lowest of the rejected bids was submitted by Oman Construction Co., Inc., Nashville, Tenn., for $3,699,432.05. Other bidders were: Codell Construction Co., Winchester, Ky., $3,813,601.50; G. B. and Y., Inc., London, Ky., $3,846,521.30; Peter Kiewit and Sons Co., Cleveland, Ohio, $3,911,705.00; and Farrell Construction Co., Memphis, Tenn., $4,287,329.00.

The Carr Fork Lake project has been involved in controversy since ground was broken for the outlet works in April 1966. At that time there was speculation that the reservoir might fail to do its intended job—protect Hazard and other towns against flooding. The outlet works, including drainage and operational facilities were completed in 1968 at a cost of nearly $20 million. Then work was stopped except for a road relocation program.

During the early stages of development basin dwellers leveled complaints that they were being forced from their homes with nowhere to go because they did not know the locations of the new roads. But most of the fears and speculation were dispelled last March when it was announced that bids were being sought and that the dam and lake would be built as planned at a total cost of $32.8 million.

It was also said at that time that the project was running about a year behind schedule but that it was considered 68 per cent complete because of construction of the outlet works and new roads and highways.

The location of the dam is 8.8 miles above the mouth of the Carr Fork, a tributary of the North Fork of the Kentucky River, and about 16 miles upstream of Hazard.
