

Martin Co. Jury Hears Leslie Case

Material Witness Sought As Hearing Delayed First Day

The trial of Sheriff Frank Leslie in the Martin circuit court at Inez was delayed at least one day Monday when a principal witness failed to appear and could not readily be found, but hearing of testimony began Tuesday morning.

Sheriff Leslie is under indictment here, charged with accepting a bribe to neglect his duties and with malfeasance but the trial was shifted to Martin county on a change of venue motion.

The missing witness is Grace Branham, of Wheelwright, wife of Roy Branham. A bench warrant for Mrs. Branham's arrest was issued and her bond was set at $10,000. State policy began the search for her, Monday. It was not learned if she has been located.

A jury was empaneled Monday for the trial. Hearing of testimony was postponed till 9 a.m. Tuesday.

A Dale Bryant, of Jackson, was named special prosecutor in the case because Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo is a witness.

When the Circus Came to Town . . .

The stands were full at the Prestonsburg High School football field Monday afternoon, but it wasn't football that drew them. The attraction was the Shrine Circus which was here for the day. The evening crowd was even larger. The circus is making two other Kentucky appearances this week—at Somerset and Lexington.

Effort To Form Workable Plan Ready To Begin

A new attempt at reviving the long-dormant Floyd County Comprehensive Health Program was begun this week as preliminary work was being done toward formulating a workable program.

The planning work begins after a wait of a year, during which time a federal appropriation of $104,000 awaited use for that purpose.

Named administrator of Floyd County Comprehensive Care, Inc., to lead the planning for future health services to the disadvantaged was Quentin D. Allen, of Park Hills, Ky., a native of Prestonsburg. His employment was recommended by the county Comprehensive Health Board headed by Dr. W. P. McIlwain, State Department of Health chief, and was approved by the U. S. Office of Health Affairs.

The health program, undertaken as a pilot project, ground to a halt months ago in a welter of contention and misunderstanding.

The new administrator, who is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School, received the A. B. degree from the University of Kentucky, and last month the Master of Science degree in health organization and administration from the University of Cincinnati. He is a former staff member of the Ohio Valley Regional Medical Program, Lexington, and more recently was alcoholism coordinator for the Hamilton County (O.) Mental Health-Mental Retardation Council.

A meeting of the Comprehensive Health board will be held here Thursday evening. Members of the board, in addition to Dr. McIlwain are County Judge Henry Stumbo; Rev. Milford Adkins, of Grethel; Frank Smith, Weeksbury; Alex Hall, Galveston; Merlin Crum, Martin; Joseph Smith, Kentucky OEO director, and a representative of the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

Allen Is Jailed When Marijuana Found at Home

The discovery Thursday of a cache of marijuana by State Detective Gary Rose and Sam Hale resulted in the arrest of a Mud Creek man at whose residence the illegal material was found.

James A. Allen was charged with violation of the Kentucky Controlled Substances Act of 1972 after three pounds of marijuana were found at the house he was renting. Allen had apparently cultivated the hemp for some time and it had been observed growing by the detectives. Booked at county jail for this offense, he was released on bond the following day. Allen is also under indictment in circuit court for a 1969 charge of illegal possession of narcotics for sale or use.

Others booked at county jail during the week, their offenses and arresting officers follow:

Lonnie Jarrell, flourishing a deadly weapon, by State Trooper Bevins; Steven Yates, destroying private property and assault and battery, by State Trooper Bevins; James H. Caudill, fishing without license, by Conservation Officers D. Conley and T. Cantrell; Brenda Faye Riley, reckless use of a deadly weapon, by City Policeman Darrel Conley; Cecil Moore, drunk driving, by Deputy H. Johnson; Farley Case, no operator's license, by State Trooper Williamson; Mary Ann Hall, drunk driving, by State Trooper Williamson; Larry Stratton, littering Dewey Lake, by Conservation Officers Cantrell and Conley; Larry Millard Hobson, drunk driving, by State Trooper E. Bestline Cleared As Action Dropped

The suit filed against Bestline, Inc. has been dismissed, the Attorney General's office announced last week.

The proposed legal action was dropped when it was determined that Bestline is not engaged in "pyramiding" by soliciting representatives.

Floyd county residents who have been associated with Bestline hailed the dismissal of the suit and said recent publicity telling of the action had been detrimental to a legitimate business enterprise.

This Town . . . That World

SO WE LEARN

Inflation, we learn via the corner drugstore, is highly educational. "Why," this philosopher philosophized, "if it wasn't for inflation, people wouldn't know beans."

And they say mothers have a new means of whipping Junior into line, these days. "If you don't eat your dessert, buster, you get no meat."

A THREATENING NOTE

Some years ago, as I may have previously confessed, I made one of my less sensationally successful business transactions when I acquired my one and only lifetime subscriber. James Morell tempted me with $20 or $25—I forget which—back in the days when a dollar looked as big as a wagon wheel. But I enjoy having him as a reader, especially when he sends me a note such as the following from San Angelo, Texas:

"I want to put you on notice that, should any more of your children get married in Texas and I don't receive a wedding invitation, I will have to seriously consider, cancelling my subscription to your paper."

FRIENDS IN NEED

While Bud Perry and I have been sidling up on the "off" side of every other person having anything to do with the public prints, these last two weeks, begging to borrow or buy newspaper, I have been reminded of the old adage which runs to the effect that a friend in need is a friend indeed. Yes, indeed, we have been very, very friendly, almost fawning on any possessor of paper who would hold still.

The reaction of these people to whom we were "friends indeed" reminds me that we might rewrite the adage to this effect:

"A friend to need is a friend in deed."

These newspaper folk were just that—they have invariably been ready to do all they could, and they did not merely send us away, tails wagging, with sympathy

Four Injured Here As Coal Truck Hits Car; Break Probed

A loaded coal truck plowed into the back of a car in front of the First National Bank here Monday morning "totalling" the auto and injuring its four occupants.

Estill Newsome, his wife and three children, Michigan residents, were treated for lacerations and bruises at Highlands Regional Medical Center after a Triple Elkhorn Coal Company truck driven by William Carpenter was reportedly unable to stop in time after a third vehicle, in front of the Newsome car, came to a stop. George Tackett, driver of the third and lead vehicle, escaped injury.

City police were alerted Friday to a breaking and entering at the Super-Test Service Station on U. S. 23 here. Taken from the station was approximately $65 in coins. No arrest has yet been made.

Also under investigation by city officers this week was the robbery Monday of an automobile in the parking lot of Kroger's here. Taken from the car which belonged to Joe E. Bentley, of Tram, was $75 worth of tools.

Newsprint Shortage Hits Us: An Explanation and Apology

The Floyd County Times and eight other newspapers regularly printed here have been hit by what appears to be a nationwide newsprint shortage, and they face a situation which, they have been told, "will get worse before it gets better."

A trailer load of newsprint scheduled for delivery on July 26 has not yet arrived. The mill explains that it is running from 10 days to two weeks behind on orders. As a consequence, the printing plant here was down to its last roll of newsprint last week, and publication became possible only through the kind cooperation of James Norris, of the Ashland Daily Independent, who loaned us 10 rolls of newsprint.

This week, the same situation prevails. The ordered newsprint has not arrived, and again we go borrowing.

We burden readers with our troubles, to explain that until the paper shortage is past this and other newspapers published here will of necessity restrict the number of pages in each edition. That means that we often will not be able to print as many photographs as usual and that the news content of the papers will be limited. This will be necessary in order to publish at all.

Our readers can be helpful by being patient with us while we endure a situation about which we apparently can do nothing.

Two Chosen To Fill City Office Vacancies

As a result of meetings of both the City Council and the Municipal Housing Authority last week, two key city offices left vacant by the recent death of Mrs. Judith Archer were filled.

Last Thursday night's meeting of City Council named Assistant City Clerk Beverly M. Hackworth to assume the duties of city clerk, with the post of assistant city clerk which she previously held being abolished. An employee in the clerk's office for nine years, Mrs. Hackworth is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Miller, of Prestonsburg.

A meeting last Tuesday night of the Prestonsburg Municipal Housing Authority named Miss Julia May executive director of the Housing Authority which provides low rent housing in four subdivisions here, including Green Acres, Indian Hills and Dixie. Miss May, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. May, Sr., of Prestonsburg, also assumed the duties of director for the Church Housing Project, Highland Heights.

A graduate of Wellesley College, Mass., Miss May received a law degree from the University of Virginia Law School in 1961 and a Master of Law degree from Georgetown University, Washington, D.C.

In other action, city council accepted the lowest of three bids for a tractor from Justice Auto Sales, Grayson, Kentucky. The bid from Justice was $402 below the next lowest bid submitted by Brandeis Machinery and Supply Corporation.

The council also authorized advertisement for bids for street projects to be financed under the Municipal Aid Program, which allotted $15,481.19 for city use. Projects to be advertised include resurfacing of Central Avenue, High School and Willow Streets, sidewalk reconstruction on U.S. 23 and drainage repairs and resurfacing along Railroad Street.

Not The Same Man

Phillip Moore, of Minnie, is not the Phillip Dale Moore, of Wheelwright, who was listed in last week's Times as being arrested for a traffic offense.

Council heard renewed requests from a city resident who requested that an alley in the vicinity of Hager Street be opened to traffic.

In other council action, the following business was executed:

John Hackworth and Arthur Hurd were hired as sanitation employees effective August 1.

Richard R. Campbell was promoted from sergeant to captain on the city police force.

Increased the salary of city council members to $15 per month and the salary of the mayor from $100 to $150 per month.

An ordinance designating the office of city police judge, currently held by D. E. Blackburn, as an appointive post, an action required every four years by city council.

Friday Ceremony To Mark Start Of Emma Span

Beginning of construction work on the bridge which will connect Emma with the flow of traffic on US 23 will not pass without official notice, after all.

County Judge Henry Stumbo announced Monday that an official groundbreaking ceremony will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the construction site, on the US 23 side of the river.

Judge Stumbo said Rural Highway Commissioner Otto Ingram and, perhaps, Highway Commissioner James Gray will have a part in the exercises. They will be joined by district highway and county officials.

All who are interested in the bridge construction and the resultant advantages to the community of Emma are invited to attend, Judge Stumbo said. The work is being done by the Edwards & Webb Construction Co., Danville, whose bid of $439,899 was low for the span.

School Heating Bids Run Above Estimate

A $45,000 Prestonsburg school improvement project was assured by action of the Floyd County Board of Education Saturday, but a larger undertaking may depend upon the ability of Superintendent Charles Clark and an engineer to reduce its cost.

The low bid on conversion of Prestonsburg High School's heating system from coal to natural gas was $138,880. The estimate on the cost of the job was $89,000, and the bid was accepted only on condition that the superintendent and Jack Anderson, Lexington engineer, could by eliminating one or more alternates reduce the total cost to $100,000.

The $45,000 bid of Tom Oak McGuire on construction of an off-street loading area for the elementary school here had earlier been accepted by the superintendent on board authorization, and the contract for the work was approved.

Because of the loss of anticipated Title I funds, 21 teachers earlier employed under this program were transferred to Minimum Foundation posts in the schools. The transfers:

Mildred Salisbury, from librarian at Allen to classroom work there; Florene Harris, from physical education to Allen to work there with the seventh or eighth grade only; Billie Wilcox, from halftime librarian at Auxier to classroom duty there; Charles Martin, counselor at

Shoe Firm Workers Vote Opposes Union

Employees of the U. S. Shoe Company plant here voted last Friday for a better than 2-to-1 margin not to affiliate themselves with the Boot & Shoe Workers' Union which is headquartered in Boston, Massachusetts.

A company spokesman said the vote was 94 for unionization and 208 voting against it.

The poll, conducted under auspices of the National Labor Relations Board, is the second to be held at the Prestonsburg plant. Employees also voted down the first move for a union.

We Are Persons, Not Things

(An editorial by Dr. C. R. Daley in The Western Recorder)

It is not the unpardonable sin according to the New Testament but it is the one I have the most difficulty in forgiving. This is to be manipulated as a thing instead of being treated as a person. Almost everything I see and hear leaves the impression I am the target of someone's plan to use me for their advantage and not mine. What makes it more reprehensible is that the approach usually is under the guise of doing me a favor.

Such treatment is not only an insult to one's personhood but it's downright irritating. On a recent afternoon I was busily and happily engaged in preparing a garden spot for planting. It was some distance from the house on land provided by a friend who owns it. Christine shouted from the back door that there was a telephone call and I trudged the distance and took off my dirty shoes before coming in to pick up the receiver. A sweet but practiced voice informed me I was lucky enough to be chosen for a fantastic opportunity to secure valuable real estate and that a company representative just happened to be scheduled to be in my vicinity that night. It was difficult for me to be courteous in declining.

A few days later the mail carrier left a fat first class letter in our mail box and a note that I owed him 8 cents extra postage due on the letter. Who would think so much of me? It was an insurance company reminding me of the bargain policy surely wanted before the official passing of my next birthday. Think of it! Paying to be solicited as an insurance customer.

I've had it! I have been full for some time and now I am running over with resentment. I'm tired of being approached as if someone wants to do me a favor only to learn I am about to be used for the advantage of the one making the pitch. To the advertiser I am a potential customer, to the fund raiser a contributor and to the government a tax payer. Can't someone let me be just what I am—a person endowed with enough intelligence to know what I want and able to ask for it when I am ready for it?

To be manipulated as a thing rather than respected as a person is bad anywhere but it is especially out of place in the realm of religion and church. Yet this approach is always tempting to those obsessed with the success mania. Some evangelistic invitations put an insurance salesman to shame when it comes to pressure. One can but wonder whether the evangelist is as concerned for the welfare of the prospect as for his own record. Too many church programs approach people as things to be manipulated for the sake of a successful church rather than as persons to be served for their sake.

God chose to make us persons and He treats us as persons and not things. We are responsible to be persons and to treat each other in this way.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 20, 30 and 40 years ago)

Twenty Years Ago

(August 13, 1953)

The latest Floyd service men to be released in the Korean war prisoner exchange are Pfc. Fred Obroff, Wheelwright, and Cpl. Fred Harper, of Wayland. . . Closed mines, resulting from increasing production costs and a lagging market, have cost the Big Sandy coal field in approximate $2½ million payroll loss in the past two and a half years. . . Arnold Ratliff, 28, of Danville, West Virginia, formerly of Maytown, was killed Saturday noon when his truck left the road, crashing into an embankment on Cheat Mountain, near Kingswood, West Virginia. . . The Prestonsburg Board of Education decided Monday evening to submit to Prestonsburg independent district voters at the November election the question of levying a building tax to raise funds for the construction of a new gymnasium here. . . Forty Years Ago

(August 11, 1933)

After three days of counting, only a third of the ballots cast in Saturday's primary in this county had been tallied by election officials. . . Two Floyd county teachers, Seland Cook, 45, and his son, Ralph S. Cook, 24, both teachers in the two-room school on Upper Jack's Creek, are near death in the Methodist hospital, Pikeville, as a result of wounds received when they attempted to whip a student, who allegedly retaliated by shooting his teachers with a shotgun. . . Henry Wright, 45 years old, was stabbed to death, Saturday, at the voting place on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek and was Floyd county's only election fatality. . . LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Children's Clothing Needed

Editor, The Times:

The Floyd County Interagency Clothing Project is a cooperative effort by many of the agencies and the county court in Floyd county to supply children and families in need with used clothing. The project has been quite successful in its endeavor; however, there has been a continual shortage of children's clothing. School will be starting soon and the need is going to be especially great.

We would like to call on the families in Floyd county to help us with this project. If you desire to contribute, you may bring used clothing to the Department of Economic Security, Department of Child Welfare, or deliver them directly to Drift grade school.

DEPARTMENT OF CHILD WELFARE

Dwale Neglected

To the Editor:

As I travel the beautiful new highway, US 23, I cannot find any sign with the name, DWALE. The Dwale community is one of the oldest towns in Floyd County and has a population of 361 people. It seems as if it is the lost community as far as the road signs read. I think the road signs should show the town of Dwale and the distance to it from Katy Field, also I think the distance from Allen should be shown so motorists will know where to find the community of Dwale.

What Must I Do To Be Saved?

What must I do to be saved? This is the most momentous question that faces any and every human being. We propose to answer it here in the words of God and directly from His word. There is much confusion and more indifference, but remember that the question is plainly asked and plainly answered in the New Testament.

There are questions of no importance. There are questions of little importance. There are questions of much importance to some and little importance to others. Here is a question of greatest importance to every human being. The correct answer to this question determines life and death, heaven and hell for all eternity. God gave His only Son that the question might be answered. Jesus came all the way from heaven and suffered death on the cross that it might be answered. What is the God-given answer?

Only God and Christ can save us from sin and death. A doctor may cure disease, but all the doctors in the world combined can not cure death. Only Christ, the great Physician, can do that. All the power of wealth, all the power of law, all the power of organization, all the power of love, all the power of determination can not cure sin and death. Only Christ can. He is the only Saviour, and He alone can save. A mother may love us sincerely, but a mother can not save us. If by any chance we miss Christ, we have missed the only Saviour. His word, therefore, is the one and only word worth considering. "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no one cometh unto the Father but by me" (Jesus Christ—John 14:6).

Attend independent Christian churches and Church of Christ. We preach and sing unto Christ.

Care Center To Do Opinion Sampling Thru Questionnaire

Residents of Floyd, Pike, Magoffin, Johnson and Martin counties will soon be receiving a questionnaire in which Mountain Comprehensive Care Center will ask their cooperation in determining the kinds of community education series which might be most helpful and most needed in the community.

The questionnaire, according to Robert Marsh, director of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center's Office of Public Information and Education, will list a group of topics including such things as Family Living, Child Rearing, Marital Problems, Dealing with Alcohol Abuse, Drugs in the Home, and numerous others. The agency is seeking to learn what parents and others have in sitting down together with trained, experienced counselors and learning new insights into these and other common occurrences and discussing them. A few of the series will be designed for people who work in social and health professions; some will be directed at people who meet everyday such as store clerks and people in direct service business. But most will be intended for those who face different problems and concerns with family, neighbors and ourselves each day.

Marsh said, "When the questionnaire arrives, we hope folks will look it over, think about it carefully and return it to us with their major interests checked. There will be no names involved and there is no commitment that anyone attend any of the series that might be scheduled. But we would like their opinions."

Aviation Ground School Course Offered Here

Aviation ground school will be taught as a community service class at Prestonsburg Community College this fall. The course is designed to prepare participants for the written private license examination and to ready them for flight instruction.

Instructor for the class is Hubert Puckett, who is certified by the Federal Aviation Administration. The meetings are scheduled for Thursdays, September 6 through November 15, from 7 to 10 p.m. For additional information contact James Ratcliff, coordinator of Community Services, Prestonsburg Community College (886-3863).

To Play at Festival

Floyd county's Fiddlin' Dewey Shepherd and his fiddle, which has made mountain music at the National Folk Festival, will be among the regional musicians and craftsmen who will participate in the Appalachian Festival at Alice Lloyd College.

Whooping Cough Fight Planned

With one case of whooping cough already reported in the Wheelwright area, the Floyd County Health Department announced coming immunization clinics.

First of these outpost clinics conducted by health department nurses will be at the Wayland Methodist Church next Monday, and the second will be held at Ethel Osborne's Store, Bypro, the following Monday, Aug. 20. Hours at both clinics will be from 10 a.m. till 2 p.m.

The whooping cough vaccine is the third of the three so-called "baby shots" (the others immunizing against diphtheria and tetanus) which should begin at two months of age. Several injections of the vaccine are necessary for full protection. Four doses are recommended during the first 18 months of life. A booster dose is given shortly before school entry.

Whooping cough immunization is not recommended after the age of six years; so, all children should have their immunizations completed before they start school.

The health department emphasized the point that all parents should see that their children receive these shots from their private physicians or from the county health department. Immunization shots are offered, free of charge, at the health department and at the five outpost clinics held by the public health nurses in the county. The time and locations of these outpost clinics are advertised weekly on local radio stations.

Whooping cough cases have decreased steadily over the last 23 years, but the disease is still a national public health problem because of its high mortality among infants.

Nationally, approximately 70 percent of all reported cases occur during the first year of life, and in Kentucky, two children under one year of age died of whooping cough in 1971.

Summer NYC Project Receives OEO Funds

The summer program of Neighborhood Youth Corps in this area was unexpectedly renewed recently after a $6 million federal antipoverty grant to the state was released after a six-month impoundment of federal Human Resource funds.

"Nobody thought we would have a summer program at all," said J. P. Hill, NYC director for the Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, which includes Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Magoffin, Martin and Larence counties.

The Big Sandy area program received around $193,000 in July, according to Hill, and this money has provided employment for 579 high schoolers in the six county area. This number includes 118 Floyd workers.

The students, between ages 14 and 21, began working June 25 and will continue until school starts in August. The work includes a variety of activities such as land reclamation, engineering and hospital work and the students will earn $1.60 an hour, for as much as 34 hours a week.

Joe Smith, director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity said, "It is our intent to provide income and job experience for the poor so that they can return to school the following fall if they wish."

OEO, through which the funds came, faces extinction on June 30, 1974 and local NYC personnel are uncertain of that project's future. "We're at a loss for words concerning future funding," said Mr. Hill.

Possibility of Food Shortages Very Real

The subject of food shortages is being widely discussed these days. And while it is unlikely that anyone will starve or go hungry, the possibility that certain foods will be in short supply this fall is very real.

That is how Larry D. Jones, Extension specialist in consumer economics with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, sizes up the food supply situation. Jones says there will likely be fewer eggs and smaller supplies of pork, beef and poultry in supermarkets this fall. Milk supplies will dwindle from current levels. Fewer canned goods and smaller amounts of oils and margarine will be found in grocery stores.

Jones says there are three basic factors which help explain why certain products may be in short supply. They are a strong demand for food, constant or dwindling food supplies, and the government price-freezes on food.

The world-wide demand for food has been drastically increasing as a result of increasing income and population, the UK economist points out. In the U.S., disposable income has been increasing, and income is also up sharply in Japan and Europe. People are better able to afford larger quantities of food, and are demanding more and better food, especially meat and poultry.

Not only is there more demand for food, there is also a greater demand for protein to feed livestock. We have seen drastic increases in the world demand for U.S. soybeans and cottonseed to be used as livestock feed throughout the world. Increased soybean exports led to higher prices for soybean oil meal in the United States. This increased the cost of producing livestock and put further upward pressure on domestic meat prices.

World-wide supplies of protein did not increase in 1972-73 as earlier expected. Fishmeal, for example is a large source of animal protein throughout the world. However, tonnage of fishmeal was far below expected yields. The result was that fishmeal prices increased from $130 to over $600 per ton in one year.

The government's price freezes also appear to have had an adverse effect on food production in this country, says Jones. The food price-freezes were applied to processors, wholesalers and retailers. Although farm prices were exempt, processors would not pay higher prices to farmers if those prices could not be passed on through the marketing chain.

The result was that prices of raw farm products were frozen while farm costs of production skyrocketed. Farmers were caught in a price-cost squeeze, and many decided to sell some of their breeding stock rather than take the chance of selling livestock products at a loss. As a result, says Jones, it will be at least the spring of 1974 before any increases in livestock numbers can be expected.

Jones predicts that consumers will continue to experience frustrating food prices throughout 1973. He says higher farm costs, smaller than usual summer supplies, and continuing strong demand for food will all put upward pressures on food prices. With present supply conditions, consumers could well be faced with shortages of certain foods this fall, he concludes.

State Buys 41 Hospital Units

Kentucky last week secured 41 hospital units through the state Division of Civil Defense for a total cost of $250.

The 200-bed hospitals, valued at $1,298,111.40, are emergency units which had previously been stored throughout the state as part of the disaster program in Kentucky.

The Department of Health Education and Welfare has released the hospitals as surplus property, and Kentucky has elected to retain the units now based in the state.

Elmer Beckett, Jr., deputy director of Kentucky Civil Defense, said the hospitals will remain in the counties where they are now located unless the local officials request that the units be transferred.

Each unit provides a complete hospital, including three operating rooms, dental lab, x-ray units and two weeks of supplies to care for 200 patients. All are self-contained, with water pumps and generating units.

Joe Palmer, director of the Division of Surplus Property, said the transfer would include the later acquisition of 15 trailer loads of back-up supplies should materials be damaged or outdated.

Wheelwright Summer Fair Scheduled for Saturday

Wheelwright's civic clubs have joined the city of Wheelwright in developing a full-fledged Summer Fair, all the way from candied apples to laughing clowns. In an effort to provide youngsters of every age with a real summer highlight they have joined in cooperating with the city's Department of Recreation in sponsoring, setting up, and manning booths, concession stands, competitive events, an outdoor movie, a box supper, all day raffles (quilt for older people and stuffed animal for kiddies), and a Battle of the Bands dance in the Community Hall.

All will take place Saturday, August 11 from 11 a.m. till 11:30 p.m.

The idea of the fair began when some young children of the community came seeking help in setting up a mini fair for youngsters. The idea caught on and spread rapidly, receiving enthusiastic encouragement from nearly all of the civic organizations and social clubs in the Wheelwright, Melvin, Weeksbury, and Bevinville areas. The organizations include the Woman's Club, the Kiwanis Club, Key Club and Wheelwright Community Club.

During the recent Kentucky Conferences sponsored by the State Department of Education, student representatives from Kentucky High Schools were asked to suggest one thing to improve education in Kentucky. From 38 replies, the suggestions concerning boards of education were: 1) More control of local boards by State Board of Education. 2) Membership on local boards should be changed more frequently. 3) Education level of local boards should be raised to the equivalent level of high school. 4) More student representatives on local boards.

Gov. Former Gov. Earle Clements, who started the department in 1948, also present, was praised by Ford for beginning "a foundation of economic growth in Kentucky that today sparks our optimism."

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

Kentucky's hunters are some of the most safety-minded individuals anywhere. Out of an estimated 300,000 hunters, there were only three fatal hunting accidents in Kentucky during 1972.

While this is a good record, it is still not good enough. Our goal should be no fatalities at all. If each and every hunter would learn and practice the "Ten Commandments of Gun Safety," we could probably realize this goal.

The ten Commandments are as follows:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of gun safety.

2. Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded and taken down—or have actions open; guns should always be carried in cases to the shooting area.

3. Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.

4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.

5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.

6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.

7. Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately, beyond reach of children and careless adults.

8. Never climb a tree, fence, or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.

9. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; when at target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate.

10. Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

Practice these 10 major rules of safe gun handling and encourage all those you know to do the same. Hunting is a safe sport, but we all need to work to make it even safer.

Output per man-hour in the private economy rose by 4.2 percent between 1971 and 1972, marking the second consecutive year when productivity increased by more than the long-term growth rate, according to the 1973 Manpower Report of the President.

Their Cash Crop Grows Wild

Buckets filled after hours of berry-picking, these Maytown youngsters are cashing in on a "cash crop" that is neglected by most people, these days, because it involves work. They have a ready sale for all the berries they can pick. The youngsters are children of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Prater, of Langley. They are, from left: Eugenia, 13; Lowell, 8, and Mitchell, Jr., 15. Eugenia barely escaped death last April when the family's trailer-home was destroyed by fire. She is active in 4-H and Methodist Youth Fellowship. "These kids worked, day after day, and I admire them for it," writes Mrs. Marcella Bailey, of Langley, one of the purchasers of their berries.

Cook Wilderness Proposal Passes

Designation of Kentucky's Pioneer Weapons Hunting Area as Cave Run-Wilderness under the Endangered Species Act of 1973 was assured through an amendment introduced by Senator Marlow Cook on July 24. The Senate passed that bill with a unanimous vote. Cook's amendment would preserve the undisturbed habitat of the PWHA in the Daniel Boone National Forest known for its wildlife. While the amendment would not rule out development of the Zilpo Recreation Area on the proposed Cave Run Lake, it would preclude construction of a vehicular road bisecting the PWHA. To build such a road, the Senator stated, "would assuredly destroy or severely damage the species there."

Learn What It's Like from Wheelchair

Learning how to run races, maneuver obstacle courses, and play football and basketball in a wheelchair is part of the course work in a class on physical education for the exceptional individual at Eastern Kentucky University. The students are learning how to organize, administer and conduct recreational and physical education activities for handicapped persons. "Adapting activities for special needs is less difficult when you understand the handicap," says Dr. Dorothy Harkins, who teaches the class. "So, we try to see what it's really like to play in a wheelchair, for example," she added. The class on wheelchair sports was organized and conducted by Waynette Layne, of Prestonsburg, Joy Stratton, of Shelbyville, and Jim Martin, of McKee.

Panic-Buying, Hoarding Hit Floyd As Some Food Supplies Scarce

"The craziest day in the history of Prestonsburg." That was one grocery store manager's description of last Friday. By the following evening the adjectives descriptive of the day just ending were even more colorful.

The first "craziest day" came when householders panicked at the prospect of a shortage of foodstuffs and went on a buying binge such as had never been experienced here.

Meat counters were depleted and grocery store shelves and space devoted to cooking oils, lard and the like were almost literally stripped bare.

But the reaction to continued reports of food shortages was not confined to Prestonsburg or Floyd county. It was national in scope and intensity.

Beef is scarce, and high, but one grocer said he is getting 50 percent of the supply he received last year, and predicted that after the freeze is lifted Sept. 12—hopefully, before that, he interjected—beef will be plentiful. But still high, if not higher, although some hold that the increased supply will cause prices to level off.

While beef is missing at time from the meat counters many turn to pork and chicken, and prices of both soar. But, a leading grocer here said the shortages that exist are temporary and that the greatest threat to distribution is panic buying and hoarding.

Hoarding? The grocer said he has within the last 10 days received more lard than in seven weeks last year—but not a can remains in his store.

The mad buying spree may have resulted, too, in scattered instances of profiteering. Lard which is selling at around $20 a can in established stores has been known to go in outlying sections as high as $32 for a 50-pound can. Last year, it was selling at around $9.

Cheerleaders Take Top Honors

Standing—Glynis Slone and Capt. Joy Blevins; seated—Donna Sammons, Karen Duff, Rita Duff, Jennifer Martin.

The Allen Central High School cheerleaders for 1973-74 attended the American Cheerleading Association clinic held at Morehead State University, July 15-20 and were named the squad that displayed the qualities of the All-American Cheerleader. First place is considered to be especially significant because it entails spirit as well as ability. The following members of the squad attended the camp: Joy Blevins, captain, and Donna Samons, from last year's squad, and new members, Glynis Slone, Rita Duff, Jennifer Martin and Karen Duff. Cheryl Spencer from last year's squad was unable to attend. They were accompanied by their sponsor, Lorana Hall, of the Allen Central faculty.

Martin To Get Public School Kindergarten

The 200 public school kindergarten classes authorized for Kentucky by the last General Assembly will begin their sessions with the regular school opening this month, and Floyd county's class will be at Martin, it was announced this week by Woodrow W. Allen, supervisor of instruction for the Floyd County Board of Education.

Guidelines for the Martin public school kindergarten provide:

1. The class may not exceed 20 pupils, and only children who reside in the Martin census area or are members of families whose members are presently enrolled in the school will be considered.

2. In accordance with state recommendations, children whose birthdates fall between January 1, 1968 and September 1, 1968 will be given first preference. The September 1 cut-off date may be juggled up or down in order to attain class size of 20—for example, if more than 20 whose birthdates fall between January 1 and September 1 apply, the cut-off date may be August 1; conversely, the cut-off date may be moved up to October 1, if necessary to attain the desired class size. Parents of children whose birthdates fall in the last month considered (cut-off month) may be asked to draw for position in order to insure that maximum enrollment is not exceeded.

3. Children may ride school buses with other children who are attending Martin elementary school or parents may provide transportation.

4. The length of the school day and term will conform to that held for all grades in attendance at Martin.

5. Proof of age (preferably birth certificate) should be provided on day of registration.

6. Once enrolled, children must attend regularly.

Parents may enroll their children Friday at the school, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Kiwanians Hear ROPES Director

Reo Johns, director, and Shirley Beard, administrative assistant, ROPES Region 11, presented a program concerning the operation of regional education agencies in general and the specific operations of ROPES Region 11 at last Thursday's meeting of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Johns pointed out the benefits of regionalized educational services to local school districts. He also stressed the importance of cooperation between area development districts and educational districts, explaining that it is impossible to progress toward better education without maintaining a healthy local economy and, conversely, that good quality education is a prerequisite for achieving a prosperous economy.

Chalmer H. Frazier, Kiwanis program chairman and administrator of Highlands Regional Medical Center, commended ROPES staff members for the work they have accomplished in the region, particularly in the establishing of an LPN program to be taught at Mayo State Vocational School.

Johns also discussed the organization of a new educational group, the Association of Regional Education Agencies (AREA), in a July 25-26 meeting at Knoxville, Tennessee. This organization, according to Johns, has been formed to provide cooperation and communication between the regional education agencies in Appalachia. Outlined purposes of AREA will be to:

(1) provide regional education agencies personnel with an opportunity to exchange ideas and obtain in-service training, (2) assist in research, developmental and evaluative activities, (3) promote the development of educational leadership in regional education agencies, and (4) initiate and promote a coordinated effort for the betterment of education through regionalism.

ROPES, Region 11 includes the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Pike.

The National Labor Relations Act guarantees the right of workers to organize and to bargain collectively with their employers, or to refrain from such activity.

Landfill Sites Inspection Tour Slated in Week

Representatives of Spindletop Research and the State Health Department are scheduled to come to this county within the week—not later than Aug. 15—to inspect sites selected by county officials for landfill dumping grounds to be used in implementing the proposed solid waste disposal program in the county.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said two sites have already been tentatively selected by members of the fiscal court and that a third will hopefully be ready for inspection by the time Spindletop and health officials arrive.

He added that he expects the waste disposal program to be in operation within the next 30-60 days.

Although the fiscal court a few weeks ago employed an administrator for the waste disposal program, the post remains open. Judge Stumbo said the job is being offered to Town Newsome, of Clear Creek.

"This will be a big job," Judge Stumbo said of the supervisor's post. "It involves all of Floyd county."

Collection of waste materials may be done on contract. It is expected that county machinery will be used at the landfills.

The social, held the evening of Aug. 4 offered an array of homemade cakes and pies which was auctioned by Quentin Castle, Paintsville.

Pickle, was chosen as the winner, with the first runner-up being Miss Sheila Kaye Spradlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spradlin, Hager Hill. Mr. East Point Area was Philip Brian Music, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Music, with the runner-up being Walter (Butch) Fraley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wells.

J. W. Pickle, East Point plumber, captured the title of "Mr. Ugly" from East Point merchant, Herman Wells, who was the runner-up.

Spread of Cost Of Gas Offered Area Customers

Columbia Gas of Kentucky, Inc. is offering a budget payment program to its residential and commercial customers in the Prestonsburg area that will enable them to spread their cost of winter heating over the entire year, according to J. B. Bowman, manager for the gas company.

"The plan is optional," Mr. Bowman said, "and there is no extra charge for those who participate."

He explained that the gas bill received by area customers in August or early September will indicate two amounts: one is the amount due for gas consumed during the previous month and the second is the budget payment plan amount. By paying the budget amount, a customer will automatically join the budget payment program.

Mr. Bowman pointed out that the average customer in the Prestonsburg area uses about two-thirds of his annual gas consumption during the four coldest winter months.

"The budget payment program can spread this high cost of winter heating over the entire year and help ease the strain on family budgets during the winter holidays and after the first of the year," he added.

He explained the monthly budget amount for each customer is calculated from the customer's past history of gas usage, adjusted for normal weather and other factors. Next April, each budget customer's account will be reviewed. If necessary, because of abnormal weather or other factors, the budget payment could be adjusted to avoid a large balance being due at the end of the budget payment year.

Normal meter reading services by gas company employees continue as before.

Bowman said clerks at the local gas company office will be happy to assist customers who may have inquiries regarding the budget plan.

NEW ACT REMOVES DEWEY CAMP FEES

Legislation signed by President Nixon a few days ago has removed user fees at the German camping area on Dewey Lake and at 32 other such areas operated at 11 Kentucky reservoirs by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

The Class D German area had charged campers a $1 overnight camping fee.

Senator Marlow Cook said the fees were removed from such facilities, which included picnic areas, boat ramps without mechanical or hydraulic equipment, drinking water, wayside exhibits, back-country campgrounds, roads, trails, overlooks, restroom facilities and scenic drives.

Floyd Action To Cost State If Appeal Fails

Unless an appeal filed by the Department of Economic Security succeeds in getting it reversed, a recent Floyd circuit court decision in a class action case could cost Kentucky as much as $140,000.

The case got into court here about two years ago when the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund (AP-ALRED) filed on behalf of Edward Hall, of Abbott Creek, a suit alleging that he and about 200 other welfare recipients had been improperly removed from the rolls.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ruled the Department of Economic Security in non-compliance with the U. S. Supreme Court decision defining procedures for termination of clients' welfare benefits. The Supreme Court decision requires that hearings be held before benefits are terminated, and it was alleged such hearings were not held in the Floyd county cases.

The 21 recipients will be reinstated to receive benefits, and unless the decision rendered here is reversed by the Court of Appeals their pay will be retroactive to the date of their termination.

Folklife Festival Featured On KET

Kentucky Educational Television (KET) followed the Commonwealth's craftsmen, entertainers and citizens to Washington, D.C., documenting the Smithsonian Institution's Festival of American Folklife, which featured Kentucky this year.

A half-hour program, "A Reflection of Kentucky" will be broadcast Monday, August 13, at 9 p.m. EDT.

"The program was produced not as a news film, but as an insight into the festival," commented producer-director George Rasmussen. "We're not trying to show how to make a saddle, but give the feeling of the event."

Artisans twisted tobacco, wove baskets, constructed barrels and spun pottery while Kentucky thoroughbreds raced beside Washington's famed reflecting pool. The KET cameras were there to record it all.

The festival's formal events were recorded, as were the people who participated in the showcase and visited the Mall those five days. After the Fourth of July fireworks display and the gala show on the festival's main stage, the cameras turned to the actions and opinions of those on the Mall.

For the most part, participants told KET they enjoyed the festival and the people who came to inquire about their crafts. One tobacco wrapper put it best when he said, "It's been a helluva good show."

"The festival was a folkore festival, not meant to relate progressive Kentucky to the nation," Rasmussen observed. "Most of the people here realized that and enjoyed the festival for what it was."

Diverse attractions appealed to different age groups. When Rasmussen asked one young man what he liked best about the festival, he replied, "The lemonade."

"Our biggest problem was the airplanes," explained Rasmussen. "Their flight pattern from National Airport ran directly over the main stage, making filming some of the musical acts difficult." Among the featured performers in the program are Merle Travis, the Ritchie Family, The John Edmonds Gospel Truth Group, Grandpa Jones and Bill Monroe.

By design, "A Reflection of Kentucky" is a sight, sound and color half-hour aimed at relating the flavor of the festival. The program opens on the reflecting pool adjacent to the mall in the nation's capital. From there, the entire Folklife Festival is sampled.

The program will be repeated on Tuesday, August 28, at 9:30 EDT.

"Auld acquaintance" was not forgot when Prestonsburg High School's class of '46 met on a recent Saturday evening at May Lodge. An atmosphere of warmth and goodwill was pervasive as many met again for the first time in 27 years. Though a few waistlines had grown, a little hair lost in some cases, a few white ones added in others, it obviously was not difficult for those of the class and faculty to bridge to gap of years with friendship and ease.

A dinner, punctuated by laughter and very few solemn moments, was emceed by DeGarmo DeRossett, of whom Dr. Monroe Wicker, former principal and superintendent of Prestonsburg school, said, "And to think we could hardly get him to say a word in school."

Following the dinner, class members, their guests and former teachers gathered upstairs to reminisce, but the "good old days" stood no chance at all against the present. What had been intended to end much earlier lasted to the tune of Glenn Miller till the "wee" hours.

Apologizing to the management for the past due departure, one woman was told, "We've had the best time just listening to you all. You weren't bothering anyone, your music wasn't loud, and, frankly, you were having such a good time, we just didn't have the heart to tell you to leave."

All of which would have meant nothing had "auld acquaintance been forgot," but this definitely was not the case.

STATE ROLE URGED

Florida Governor Reubin D. Askew told the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators that state officials will have to be "more responsive and responsible if public education is to be the vital force that the future demands." "States," he said, "must assume a larger share of educational costs and must initiate new methods of financing education designed to achieve greater equity, simplicity, and flexibility."

LOSING HAIR?

National's Hair Consultant In Pikeville Monday

WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS FREE

SAVE YOUR HAIR

FREE CONSULTATION
MEN and WOMEN just take a few minutes of your time on MONDAY, AUGUST 13 and go to the LANDMARK MOTEL, PIKEVILLE, KY. between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the desk clerk for F. W. DANGLER'S room number, or call for appointment.

There is no charge or obligation... all consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way. Learn how you can treat yourself right in the privacy of your own home.

If you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. If you still have hair on the top of your head, don't put it off until it's all off. It doesn't make sense for a man to let himself go bald, certainly not without seeing a National Hair and Scalp Consultant to see if we can help you.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. National's Hair consultant cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE
If you are accepted for treatment, you will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from beginning to end. BANKAMERICARD ACCEPTED
