

Municipal Bldg. Bids Set Dec. 6

Decision To Build Reached Recently At Council Meet

The Prestonsburg Public Building Properties Corporation will advertise next week for bids from contractors on the construction of the long-planned municipal building here, it was learned Tuesday.

Bids will be received until 7:30 p.m., December 6.

The decision to proceed with construction of the building, a project originally conceived by the late mayor, Dr. George P. Archer, was reached at the last meeting of the City Council.

The structure, designed by George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect, will be of two stories, the first floor housing all departments of the city, the second designed to be open to rental for business and professional offices.

The building is planned for construction on the lot purchased by the city from the Anna Stephens estate and will front on Lake Drive.

Financing plans were not announced.

No Settlement Believed Near In Gas Strike

The strike of union employees of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company will enter its third week at midnight today (Wednesday), with no apparent progress made toward a settlement of differences.

A third meeting scheduled by the Federal Mediation Service was slated at 1 p.m. today at Paintsville. Earlier meetings at Paintsville and Ashland were without result.

The strike began at midnight Oct. 31.

Charlie Kendrick, president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Local Union 3510, said the strike was a result of "company violations of the contract,"

Suit Waits New Firm's KAI Talks

Rochester Company Hopes To Negotiate For Use of Building

The possibility that a Rochester, N.Y. firm may be able to do what local interests have failed to do—to effect a satisfactory arrangement with Irving Industries for use of the now-vacant KAI building at West Prestonsburg—has delayed proposed legal action to gain control of the structure.

Representatives of the Rochester firm, a manufacturer of auto interior accessories, including fabrics, told Edward Music and other members of the group which built and leased the KAI structure to Irving that they had contacted Irving and that it appeared a satisfactory arrangement can be made. Here three weeks ago and again last week, the industry representatives expressed enthusiasm at the prospects of locating here. They also inspected the site at Cliff, which needs only an access road to be an outstanding industrial location, and indicated their interest in it for future development.

The company would employ 50 persons to begin with, increasing the number of employees to 250 within a year, Mr. Music said he was told. Approximately 40 percent of the work force would be male.

Meanwhile, the 30,000-square-foot KAI building has been emptied of machines left there after the plant closed, it was reported. Irving Industries have continued to pay monthly rentals on the property, but the local group is seeking to have it returned to the use as a factory site for which it was planned.

architect's earlier estimate, the bid was accepted at a joint meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education and its fiscal agent, the Floyd fiscal court.

Awarding of a contract must await approval of the State Department of Education.

The only bid submitted on the construction project was that of Akers & Akers, Dana contractors, for $1,579,501. The cost estimate made earlier by Forrest McCloskey, Lexington architect, was $1,237,752.

The architect said work will probably get under way in January and will require about a year for completion. The gymnasium-auditorium section of the work, however, is expected to be ready for use by the opening of the 1974-'75 school term.

In addition to the gymnasium-auditorium, Phase II work will include construction of rooms for a music department, vocational education space and an indoor swimming pool. The addition will be at the east side of the present school structure which opened at the beginning of the current school term.

A consolidation of four other high schools, those of Wayland, Garrett, Maytown and Martin, Allen Central is the county's second largest with an enrollment of 625.

Part of the View from the Top

The view from the top of Abbott Mountain was once described by a visitor here as "one of the finest in America." It still is magnificent—if you keep the gaze high enough. Look down, and you see a long junkyard and garbage dump extending far downhill—a small part of which is shown in photo.

Lewis Heads Sweep By Floyd Democrats

Lack of interest in a county election campaign in which six Democratic candidates for office were without opposition is blamed for the fact that between 7,000 and 8,000 of the county's 18,000 registered voters stayed at home last Tuesday.

But for a hotly contested city election in Prestonsburg, the voting would have been yet lighter.

The heaviest vote total was polled in the race for Sheriff, and the winner, Ex-Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, Democrat, recorded the heaviest majority in the entire field. He received 7,804 votes to 2,222 for his Republican opponent, Hollie Barnett.

One of those elected—Lovel Hall, who was unopposed for Tax Commissioner—will take office December 3. All others will be inducted Jan. 1.

The voting for other county offices: For Representative—94th district, Larry Neal Young (R), 220; Lee Roberts (D), 1030. Mr. Roberts, a native of this county and a brother of Magistrate-elect Dewey Roberts, won the election, piling up a big lead also in Pike county.

For Representative—95th district, Carol A. Sparks, 1,860; W. J. Reynolds (D, incumbent), 5,923.

For County Judge—Russell Clark (R), 2,727; Henry Stumbo (D, incumbent), 6,988.

County Attorney—James R. Allen (D, incumbent unopposed), 6,474.

County Clerk—C. "Ollie" Robinson (D, incumbent unopposed), 7,533.

Jailer—Lawrence Hale (D, incumbent, unopposed), 7,025.

Tax Commissioner—Lovel Hall (D, unopposed), 7,148.

Coroner—James J. Carter (D, unopposed), 5,880.

County Surveyor—Paul Dean Wells (D, unopposed), 6,275.

Floyd Firm May Cease Dam Work Till Next Spring

The Johnson Construction Company, of Martin, which has the contract on building an access road to the proposed Paint Creek Dam, near Staffordsville, Johnson county, will suspend work this month to await spring weather for completion of the job, it was announced this week by Carroll Veach, U. S. Corps of Engineers inspector.

The Floyd firm's contract calls for moving 530,000 cubic yards of earth in the road construction job, and that work is about half completed, Veach said.

Work on the dam itself, which will be located about 100 yards upstream from US 460, is scheduled to begin next spring, although its opponents, the Paint Creek Committee, says no funds for the $32,900,000 reservoir project have been released in Washington. The committee, composed of Morgan and Johnson residents, says it will take legal action, if necessary, in the continuing fight against the dam.

Opponents of the project say the 840-acre lake will claim almost 14,000 acres of land in the two counties and will force the relocation of 250 families. Although the opposition contends the lake will be polluted by unplugged oil and gas wells, Veach said the reservoir will be one of the state's cleanest.

Hazard Man Dies In Warco Mishap

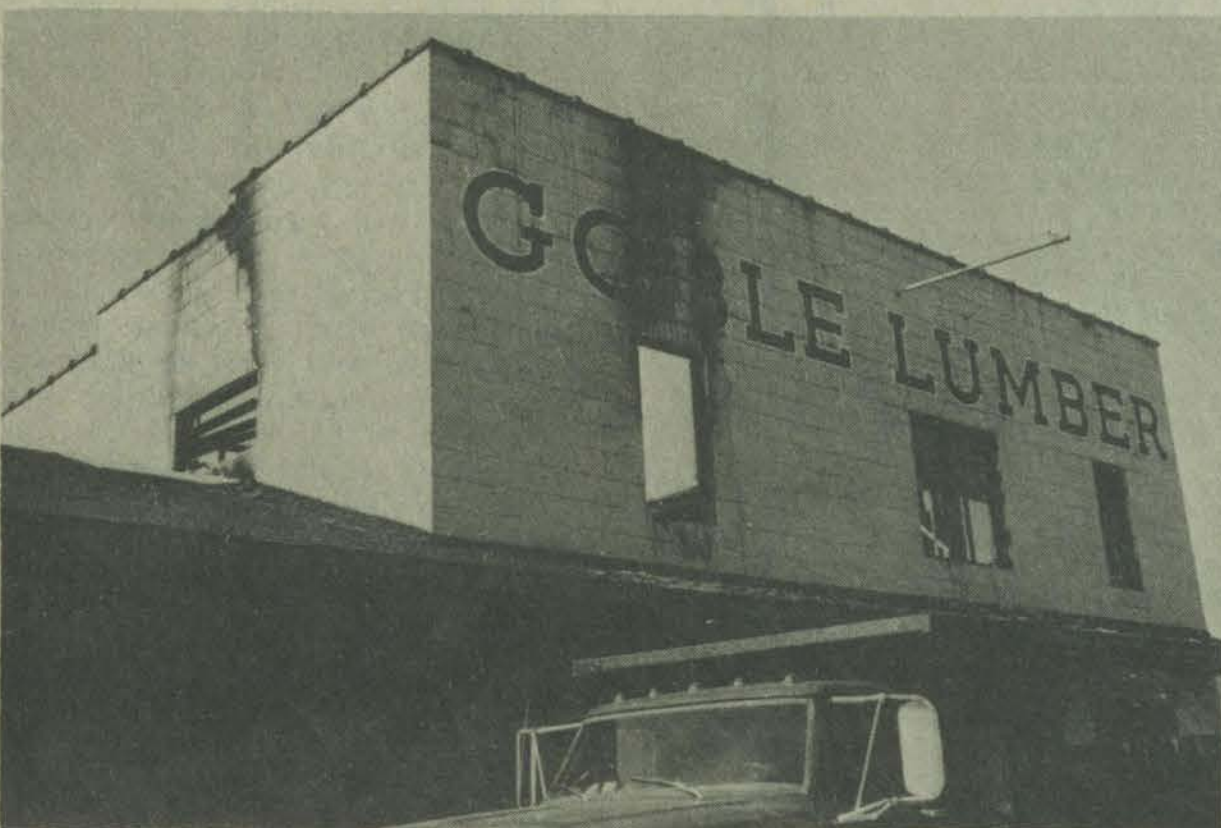

A Hazard man was instantly killed last Thursday in a loading accident at the Elkhorn Industrial Products Corporation plant at Warco.

The victim, 59-year-old Edgar Virgil Gross, was caught between machinery which he and an assistant had loaded and bound onto a truck of the Mine Service Company, Hazard. David A. Reed, of Elkhorn Industries, said Gross' assistant told him Gross was tightening a third binder on the machinery when the accident occurred but was unable to explain the exact cause of the accident.

Gross' head was crushed.

The victim is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Patsy Elam, of Middlesboro, and several brothers and sisters. Funeral rites were conducted at 1 p.m. Friday from the Maggard Funeral Home chapel at Hazard by the Rev. Don Pinson, and burial was made in Riverside cemetery at Hazard.

Fire Damage Set at $40,000

Smoke-blackened front of Goble Lumber Company building after fire had gutted its top floor.

An estimated $40,000 damage resulted early Sunday morning from a fire which destroyed the second floor of the Goble Lumber Company building at Sugar Loaf.

Owner John Gordon Goble said water, smoke and some flame damage resulted in considerable loss to the structure's main floor. Lumber stockpiles were untouched.

Occupants of a nearby house discovered the blaze at about 6:30 a.m. Sunday, and Prestonsburg firemen, who arrived shortly thereafter, were able to confine the flames to the upper story.

Work is now underway to restore the floor roof, and Goble stressed that the lumber yard is open for business as before.

Fire destroyed the mobile home of Pokie Webb at Auxier, Monday morning. The Prestonsburg fire department was called to the scene and saved a second unit. There was no estimate of damage.

The second street home here of Mrs. Anna Lowe and a portion of its contents were damaged by fire, smoke and water recently. The blaze was confined to the upper part of the building, which is owned by Jack Hyden.

Officer Injured in Cruiser Wreck

Photo shows Prestonsburg police cruiser which wrecked on the Corn Fork road last Wednesday while its driver, Policeman Keith Lawson, was continuing the chase of another car which began in the city limits. Lawson, who suffered broken ribs and a broken shoulder, credited a screen separating the front seats from those in the rear of the cruiser with preventing his being fatally crushed. The police car left the narrow road, rolled several times and landed in a cornfield. Keith Stapleton, of Emma, was later arrested by Constable Gillis Conn and charged with speeding, reckless driving and failure to yield right-of-way.

This Town . . . That World

CHANGING TIMES

We old mossbacks who have been honing for the good, ol' days might just get a taste of what we've been mewling about so long. We may learn to walk again. But it has just occurred to me that I have never excelled at walking the water—and what will this do to my fishing?

As of instant date, this is a nation on wheels. Let's just hope we don't swap them for skids.

THE CLIMAX

I must admit, I am a fortunate individual. I am, for instance, one of those who wasn't all tied up with "Airport" last Sunday night when a mellifluous voice intoned, "Now, stay tuned for the exciting climax of Airport"—and then the tube went blank.

SPARE THIS DEER, PLEASE

Since the day, several years back, when I made a rather lengthy trip over some miserable roads to shoot a picture and learned a bit belatedly, after arriving on the spot, that I seemed to be fresh out of film, I have assiduously avoided the photography bit. But last Sunday afternoon I would have been tempted, had the trusty, old Brownie been at hand.

"Let's Hear It!" for U.S.

(A television commentary by Gordon Sinclair, Canadian commentator, which evoked this comment on our own part: Regardless of what we may become, every American should be proud of what we have been.—Editor.)

This Canadian thinks it is time to speak up for the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth...

Germany, Japan and, to a lesser extent, Britain and Italy were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debts. None of these countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up, and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

I was there. I saw it.

When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help... This spring, 59 American communities (were) flattened by tornadoes. Nobody helped.

The Marshall Plan and the Truman Policy pumped billions upon billions of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent, warmongering Americans.

I'd like to see just one of those countries that is gloating over the erosion of the United States dollar build its own airplanes.

Come on, let's hear it!

Does any other country in the world have a plane to equal the Boeing Jumbo Jet, the Lockheed Tristar or the Douglas 10?

If so, why don't they fly them? Why do all the international lines except Russia fly American planes?

Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

You talk about Japanese technocracy, and you get radios. You talk about German technocracy, and you get automobiles.

You talk about American technocracy, and you find men on the moon—not once but several times—and safely home again.

You talk about scandals, and the Americans put theirs right in the store window for everybody to look at.

Even their draft-dodgers are not pursued and hounded. They are here on our streets, and most of them—unless they are breaking Canadian laws—are getting American dollars from Ma and Pa at home to spend here...

When the railways of France, Germany and India were breaking down through age, it was the Americans who rebuilt them. When the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke, nobody loaned them an old caboose. Both are still broke.

I can name you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble. Can you name me even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble?

I don't think there was outside help even during the San Francisco earthquake.

Our neighbors have faced it alone, and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around.

They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their nose at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

I hope Canada is not one of these.

MACK BULLDOGS NIP REHAB CENTER FIVE

The East Kentucky Mack Bulldogs opened their season in the Paintsville Industrial Basketball League Sunday with an upset victory over the pre-season favorite, Rehabilitation Center. Led by the steady scoring and fine passing of Barry Hall, the Bulldogs posted a 76-74 victory.

The third quarter was evenly played with the Bulldogs hanging to a 57-56 lead, but they began to pull away in the final period and built a seven-point lead, with approximately five minutes remaining. The Rehab Center, not ready to play dead, capitalized on several breaks and tied the game with less than a minute to go. Then Steve Hall intercepted a Rehab pass with 13 seconds on the clock, passed to Barry Hall who drove to the top of the circle and hit a 20-foot jumper to ice the game.

The Bulldogs were led in scoring by Barry Hall with 24, followed by Johnny Ray Turner with 17, Kenny Conley 15, and Steve Hall and Larry Shepherd, 10 each. Larry McKenzie paced the Rehab Center with 28, followed by Williams with 15 and Ward with 10.

Love Never Dies

The melancholy days are here,
The saddest of my years,
But when my grief is hard to bear
I feel that you are near.

When leaves lie brown upon the ground
And all the flowers have gone,
Sadness seems to rule the earth;
My life of loneliness lingers on.

The way I feel, you cannot know;
Maybe it was best that you should go.
I shall keep all the good memories
We shared through the years
Of our love for our children we
Together have reared.

I know it was the Master's wish,
But you we shall forever miss;
Your place in our hearts no one could ever touch—
Now I must prepare myself for the day
we shall meet
And be together again with the one
I loved so very much.

NAMED TO ETV BOARD
Gov. Wendell Ford has appointed Jack Neel, of Bowling Green, to the Kentucky Authority for Educational Television. Neel, Title III project director for Region II, succeeds J. M. Ripley of Lexington. Dr. Richard Van Hoose, superintendent of Jefferson county schools, was reappointed to the Authority.

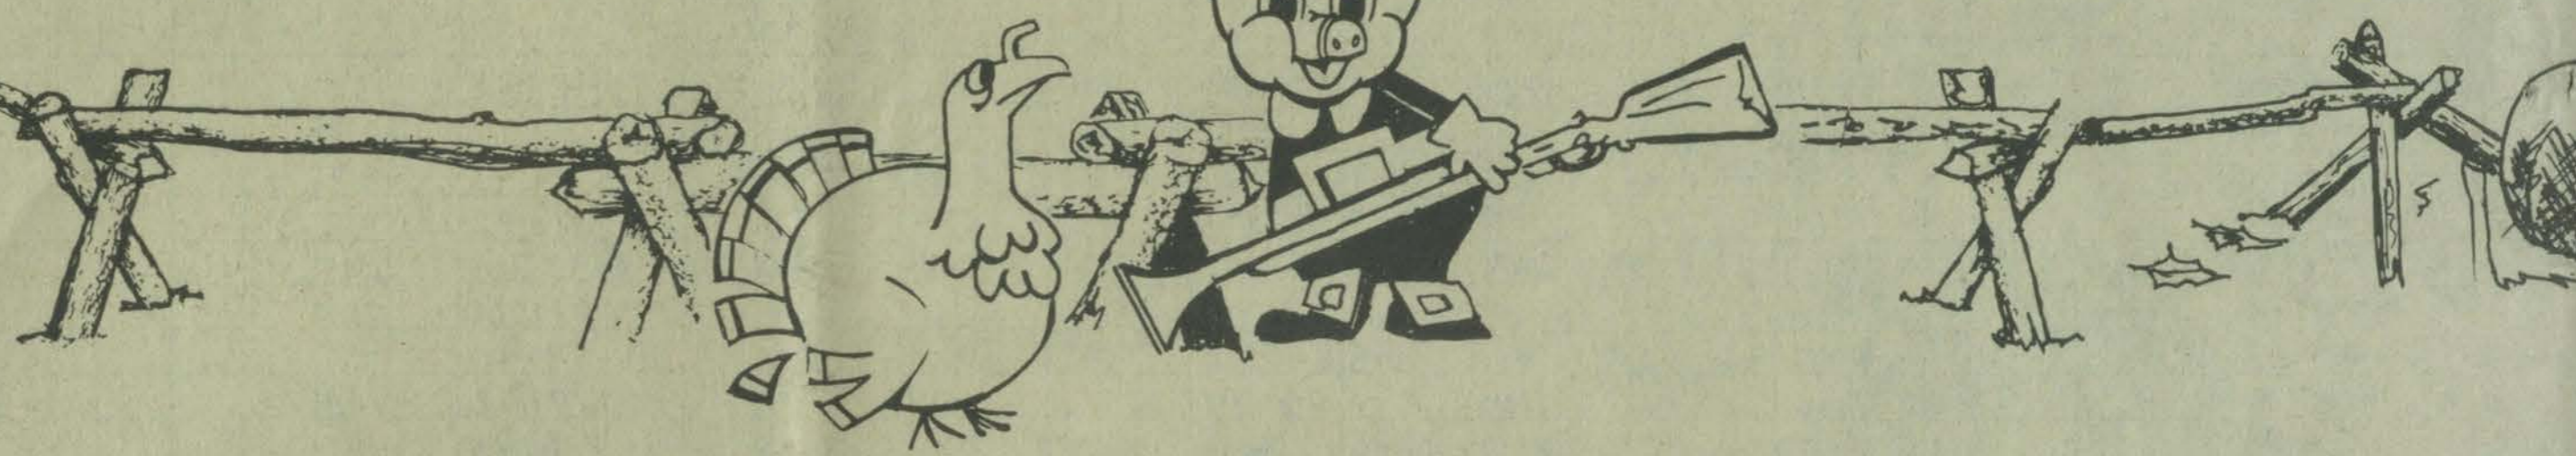

The Continental Congress set price ceilings even before the Declaration of Independence; the Articles of Association, signed Oct. 20, 1774, provided that "all manufactures of this country be sold at reasonable prices," according to an article in the U.S. Department of Labor's "Monthly Labor Review."

Mansion and Log Cabin Share Attention of Heritage Group

Mansion or log cabin—if meaningful to the cultural heritage of the region, they should be preserved members of the Kentucky Heritage Commission and its Eastern Kentucky Heritage Committee were told by speakers at their meeting held last Thursday at Jenny Wiley State Park.

The move to preserve the John C. C. Mayo mansion at Paintsville was initiated by Paintsville Mayor John Chandler. The need to place the mansion and also all structures, including log houses, even entire areas that have figured in the development of the region, in line for preservation and a place in the National Register was argued by Mrs. Anne Caudill, a member of the Eastern Kentucky committee.

Mayor Chandler told the gathering that he believes no structure "could wake the history of the emergence of the mountains more than the John C. C. Mayo mansion."

"What else," he asked, "could provide the whole panorama of this new era when men and women changed a wilderness into a dynamic industrialized civilization?"

The brick mansion, built soon after the first decade of this century, has welcomed many dignitaries to its halls. Eight columns grace the front of the structure and six smaller ones curve around a side entrance. The third floor originally was a ballroom.

Harry LaViers, Jr., of Irvine, who, with his father, operates a large underground mining company, told how industrialization of the Big Sandy Valley was begun by Mayo.

Preserving the Mayo Mansion is a project to which he promised to devote time and effort. He stressed a need for haste, explaining the expansion of industries and companies adding that "every piece of land above high water is going to be put in use."

Mrs. LaViers, a library trustee in Estill county, told about a family research project begun by the library. She stressed that families undertake genealogical study so that much mountain heritage may be retained.

Arguing for the inclusion of typical structures and sites in the Register, Mrs. Caudill said, "Eastern Kentucky's natural resources made fortunes for many people who took their wealth to the Bluegrass and other regions."

Mrs. Caudill noted that in one year a rural hollow could become a town as a result of the natural mineral wealth of the mountains.

There is nothing in historical surveys about coal towns and "we who did our initial surveys should take a new look around us and list influences of pioneer life and those of later years," she added.

Mrs. Laurel Shackelford Anderson spoke on a program at Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes in which a search is being made for old photographs of Kentucky life.

Mrs. Simeon Willis of Frankfort, executive director and state historic preservation officer, praised county representatives as the "backbone" of the heritage program. She spoke of the enthusiasm of members of the heritage commission and of groups who promoted preservation as a heritage for future generations.

Heart Clinic Set Here, Nov. 27-28

A two-day consultative and diagnostic heart clinic for medically indigent patients will be held in the Floyd County Health Department here Tuesday and Wednesday, November 27 and 28.

This clinic is being organized so that adults only will be admitted to the clinic on November 27, and children only will be seen on November 28. Physicians from the departments of Medicine and Pediatrics at the University of Kentucky Medical Center will conduct the clinic.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Heart Association and the state and county health departments, the clinic will provide a diagnostic service for the patient, along with recommendations for treatment and management of the case. It will also provide an opportunity for the referring physician to consult with the clinician regarding his patient.

Necessary expenses of the clinic are being underwritten by the Kentucky Heart Association and the State Department of Health. Clinic personnel, as well as space and equipment, will be provided by the Floyd County Health Department as well as the State Health Department and the Kentucky Heart Association.

Only those patients who have been referred by a physician and have a written referral will be admitted to the clinic. Counties in this clinic area are Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike.

Letters to the Editor

Says "Meat Specialists" Not Always Correct

In response to the startling realization made by Dr. Larry Jones, assistant professor of agricultural economics at the University of Kentucky, as stated in Jackie Bondurant's article titled, "Warning—Steer's Not All Steak," I give my congratulations. Many people, however, have realized this astonishing fact for several years.

It is obvious that the author of this article is in favor of large supermarkets. Several facts were misrepresented, and a general downgrading of carcass buying was made obvious in this report. Of course this type of buying would cut down on the amount of beef sold in supermarkets.

My accusations are not made without sufficient evidence to back them up. My parents are the owners of a custom packing house. They slaughter hogs and cattle for custom processing as well as sell by the carcass. In all their years of experience they have yet to see an animal which lost 20 to 25 percent carcass weight during normal cutting. They sell top grade carcasses, and have yet to see one with a 15 percent cutting loss, which is considerably lower than Dr. Jones' figures. As for the price of processing, 8 cents per pound of carcass weight is the price charged by the plant in Eastern Kentucky.

The figures quoted by Jackie Bondurant would indicate to me that he is trying to persuade the housewife to go to boneless steak. How about it? Can you afford boneless steak on special at $2.99 per pound? That's the only possible way you can come up with 25 percent boneless in the cutting the carcass beef. We do not intend to put boneless beef in the deep-freeze. After all, a little bone makes a delicious kettle of vegetable beef soup.

Even assuming Dr. Jones' figures were correct, $1.25 per pound for edible meats and a maximum charge of 16 cents per pound for processing, this is better than the high prices in supermarkets today. Steaks run from $1.49 a pound up to $2.79 or more per pound, while ground beef and good grade roasts run from $1.19 up to $1.39 per pound. Even at these prices, you still can't be sure of the freshness or of the quality of the meat you are buying in stores; whereas, when you buy carcass or live animals you can see the quality and be completely aware of its freshness. This knowledge is certainly well worth paying for.

As for Dr. Jones' views on the home freezer, the cost to operate one is less than $1.80 per month on the average. Also the freezer is used to store foods other than the beef spoken of. So, before you decide to continue buying meats on certain days when they are "on special," and eating beef only when these specials exist, check with a reliable source who knows the correct facts and figures. You may find that costs and figures as reported by so-called "Meat Specialists" may not always be correct.

AMERICA, BEST EDUCATED

America has the best educated people in the world. More Americans (50 percent) have finished secondary school than any other people. No other nation comes close to matching the 6.5 million students in U. S. Colleges and Universities—3.3 percent of the nation's population. France is the nearest competitor in Western Europe with only 1 percent. The United States Negro is more likely to go to college than any citizen of any race of any Western European nation except the white citizens of France. (U. S. News and World Report).

To the Editor
And the Public

I am not, as of this date, by any means completely recovered from my near-fatal accident as of Oct. 30, 1973 in pursuit of my duties as your sheriff, and I am sure that the next sheriff will pursue his duties as I have so diligently tried.

Come this Dec. 31, 1973 will terminate my tenure in office as your sheriff, and even though I may not have fulfilled my obligations to you, my friends and my family. I along with my wife, Mrs. Edwards, Mr. James, Mr. Fannin and Mr. Claude Flannery have through sickness and health done our best, and we in your sheriff's office sincerely hope that we have convinced our friends and made friends of those who haven't agreed.

I have been led to believe and almost convinced that it in any sense does not pay to become sick, but from the last six weeks I can not fully agree with this statement or remarks concerning same, because of personal experience. All is not lost because of an accident or sickness. I do say with all sincerity you cannot be wrong by being right, for your Highlands Regional Hospital, under the constant care of Drs. Cook, Adams, Holbrook, Spurlock and Jurich, their able and qualified nurses, nurses' aides, house maids, cooks and other attendants have made this institution the best in Eastern Kentucky.

To those of you, the preachers of different denominations, my friends, my family, through telephone calls, letters, cards or by your visits and your flowers—it has left me with but one thought in mind, regardless of the circumstance and the seriousness of your accident or sickness: it may prove it may be of great profit to be sick or inspired if you are a patient at our Regional Hospital.

To the remainder of my deputies and their families and associates, I can only offer and give my thanks, and may our creator overlook and give his blessings to our mistakes and bless all for what may happen in the future.

With this open letter from my bed of affliction and a portion of guilt because I could possibly have done more, the door to my home is and will be the same as your sheriff's office door will and has been—open to my friends and never closed to my enemies, of which I have none. If you can't or don't care for me, then you should have a long talk with someone greater than I. It has been a lifelong wish and will continue to be a privilege to serve you as a most humble servant.

Corrections Commissioner Charles J. Holmes has announced that the inmate population at the Kentucky State Penitentiary at Eddyville has dropped to 952—the lowest figure since 1944. Holmes said reasons for the decrease were fewer transfers from the LaGrange Reformatory, assignments of prisoners to minimum security facilities at Blackburn and Frenchburg and assignments of more prisoners to Frankfort work details. The Corrections Department is planning for the Eddyville inmate population to decline further in coming years, Holmes added, to make Eddyville a "smaller, more manageable institution."

Safety Film Slated For Pupil Viewing

A new school bus safety film for Region 11 was the subject of a meeting held last Thursday at the ROPES regional office here.

The film, titled, "And Then It Happened," was bought as a cooperative effort of the superintendents of the seven school districts in the region and the Region 11 office. James Salisbury, director of transportation, and Marcus Owens, supervisor, Floyd county school system, showed the film and discussed the reaction of students who have seen the film. Mr. Salisbury said that response to the film was good and that principals and school bus drivers were in agreement that this film, which demonstrates ways in which discipline problems can cause accidents, has improved behavior on school buses. Mr. Owens pointed out that many teachers have made this film the subject for class discussion and that students have made suggestions for rules that they feel should be enforced to protect school bus riders. The film will be shown by each local school district to students.

Attending the meeting were Paul Jones, Salyersville grade school principal; Gary Arnett, Magoffin county director of transportation; L. T. Hardin, social worker with Martin county school; Charles Spears, superintendent of Pikeville independent schools; Mr. Salisbury and Mr. Owens, Floyd county schools; Reo Johns and Shirley Beard, of ROPES Region 11.

Goble Coaches Atherton High To Top Louisville Rating

In his second year at the Louisville school, Dan Goble, of Prestonsburg, this year brought his Atherton High School football team to a top ranking in a district which includes such high school grid powers as Central, St. X, Bishop David and others.

Atherton's recent defeat of St. X, 21-13, brought his team's record in District 2 to 3-1-0. Overall, Atherton won 9 and lost 1. The loss was to Central, 7-0, and Atherton came within four inches of winning or tying that one.

In his first year at Atherton last season, the Goble-coached team won 6, lost 3 and tied 1. Although he will lose 18 boys this year from his 42-man squad, he said after his team's defeat of St. Xavier, "Atherton is here now, and we plan to stay."

Goble, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Goble, Sr., of Prestonsburg, and a graduate of Prestonsburg High School, coached football at Erlanger High School five years, then was head coach at Shelby County before going to Atherton. He received his AB degree from Morehead State University and his MA from St. Xavier University, Cincinnati.

such as the cutting off of two union men, and using non-union men to fill the vacancies..." Ten violations in all were cited by the union, but the main point at issue relates to the replacement of the two workers.

The company, on the other hand, claims that the two displacements came when there was not enough work to justify employment of a mechanic and a welder's helper on the company yard here, that there has been no reduction of the work force and that no worker has been laid off.

There was this deer and a black Angus calf, not 50 yards away, passing the time of day. First, they did the old butting game, gentle shoving, like, then the calf would lick the deer. Real buddies.

The deer sleeps with the cattle, every night. When their guest from the wild is separated from them, they show their displeasure with steady bawling.

I wonder why anybody would want to kill this particular deer that has a home and friends and is offering nobody offense.

SEE THE MUD

Seen Dewey Lake since the water level has been lowered? It's interesting to see what was once an expanse of water—fishing water, some of us are naive enough to say. It is going to be interesting to see for ourselves the evidences of siltation over there, even though we have been told there "is no appreciable siltation."

Another casualty of the fuel shortage is predicted. Time. They say daylight saving time is coming back, and soon. Don't ask me when. I refuse to commit myself on this matter after that experience I had, a few years back.

Public employee groups throughout Kentucky are joining together to stage a giant rally in support of their proposed collective bargaining legislation Wednesday, November 14, at the Sports Center in Frankfort.

Government figures from the national and state level, education and labor leaders, and music and stars from the entertainment world—including, The Cumberlands, a leading bluegrass, folk, and contemporary group,—will appear on the free program starting at 4:45 p.m. and ending about 6:15 p.m. The public is invited.

Free tickets, which will give those attending a chance to win a portable color television set and an AM-FM clock radio, are being distributed by the public employee organizations that have formed the coalition known as Public Employees United for Legislative Action. They will also be available at the Sports Center, on Frankfort's Capital Plaza at Clinton and St. Clair, before and on the day of the rally.

"Go Public! Meet 'Bill'!" the rally organizers are urging. "Bill" is the model bargaining bill for Kentucky's public employees that Public Employees United has developed cooperatively for submission to the 1974 General Assembly.

Louisville attorney John Frith Stewart is chairman of Public Employees United for Legislative Action.

Coalition participants are the Associated Professional Fire Fighters of Kentucky, Kentucky Education Association and its Commission on Professional Negotiation, Service Employees International Union, Kentucky chapter of the American Association of University Professors, American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, Fraternal Order of Police, Teamsters Local 783, Kentucky Nurses Association, Laborers International Union, Louisville Education Association, International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, Jefferson County Teachers Association, Kentucky Career Employees Association, Kentucky Federation of Teachers, and Kentucky State AFL-CIO.

Fuel Situation More Serious Than Expected, Ford Blames Nixon

The energy situation in Kentucky is more serious than Washington assumed—more serious, perhaps, than anybody assumed—and Governor Ford voiced criticism last Friday on his return from a Washington conference of President Nixon for "dragging his feet" as such a crisis confronted the nation.

The state Office of Mandatory Allocation of the Kentucky Energy Council has received hundreds of calls asking for help since they began their allocation efforts Nov. 1.

Damon Harrison, chairman of the Kentucky Energy Council, described the situation in the office as "chaotic" and laid the blame partially on "either Federal inaction or dilatory action."

The state office is expected to process the requests and recommend action to the federal officer assigned to Kentucky. The regional federal office in Atlanta, Ga. has not yet begun effective operation, and in the meantime, the state offices must take care of the problem, Harrison said.

The problem is that the federal government miscalculated Kentucky's needs and the seriousness of the shortage in the state, he said. The state is free to allocate only 10 percent of its total fuel supply but at this point state officials are not sure what this supply is. It is known however that the supply is significantly lower than last year's.

Suppliers and distributors have been told to supply their customers at the same levels as they did at this time in 1972. But, most distributors and suppliers don't have as much fuel available as they did last year. Warm, wet weather last fall delayed the need for fuel until December. The weather also prevented farmers from doing much work. Therefore, fuel needs were not as high last year as they are now.

The increased need and the decreased supply have led to a critical situation for many people who, under the allocation regulations, will not be eligible for fuel until next month or later. Right now the allocation office is "trying desperately to take care of home heating and farming needs on a day-to-day basis until the federal government office become operational for longer range solutions," a spokesman for the State Mandatory Allocation Office said.

John Stapleton, director of the state Office for Mandatory Allocation, says, "Our allocation system operates on a priority listing. We respond immediately by phone to those with critical shortages of home heating fuel and fuel for farm uses. In other situations considered to be less critical, we require them to submit an application for allocation." These forms are supposed to be supplied by the federal office but the state office is having to print their own for the time being.

Another spokesman for the office stressed that the state is doing "everything possible in a very severe situation to make sure that no one suffers from a lack of fuel. Effective coordination is difficult at this time but everyone will be taken care of eventually. In the meantime all we can ask is that people be patient and conserve the fuel they have."

Stapleton says that the immediate problem will ease somewhat when people who did not buy fuel until last December become eligible for fuel allocation.

Kentucky's total energy situation is not as serious as that of many state's because our abundant coal reserves are used for the generation of electricity. Electricity is in good supply but a sudden increase in the use of this source of energy could also lead to shortages, he said.

But Stapleton warned that, even though allocation may alleviate the crisis situation somewhat, a real fuel shortage does exist and Kentuckians should expect to face it for the remainder of the winter.

Heating your home for less money (with less fuel) is easier if you: (1) avoid unnecessary in-out traffic—which lets the warm air out and the cold air in; (2) keep your thermostat set at the lowest comfortable temperature (every degree over 70 increases heating costs about three per cent); (3) lower the thermostat when you are going to be away from home for long periods of time and (4) turn off registers and radiators in rooms not used and keep doors to these rooms closed.

Mines Getting Fewer But Better

By MARVA GAY
(Consumer Protection and Regulation Cabinet)

Frankfort, Ky.—With Kentucky's coal mines, it looks like the big get bigger and the bigger get better, according to H. N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner of the state's mines and minerals department.

Recent figures compiled by the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals show the number of mines decreasing while production and employment are increasing.

"The small mines are closing and the large mines are getting bigger—that goes for both underground and surface coal mines," Kirkpatrick said.

Through September, the department recorded 1,013 underground and surface mines. That's 147 less than at the same time last year. Underground mines showed the biggest decrease with 656 recorded at the end of September of 1972 and 536 during the same period this year. Surface mines dropped from 504 to 477.

Despite the drop in the number of mines, the 88 million tons of coal produced through September was about 3 million tons above that for the same period last year and employment was up to a record 28,700.

Production and employment are increasing because of a shift to large mines—especially large underground mines. "The large mines produce more than the small ones did. Also, the increase in large underground mines has caused an increase in employment in the coal industry because the underground mines employ more than the surface mines," Kirkpatrick said.

He noted that while coal production from surface mines exceeded that from underground mines in 1971 and 1972, last year's surface tonnage dropped while the underground tonnage rose.

In 1972, 64 million tons were mined by surface miners as compared to 66½ million tons in 1971. Underground tonnage mines in 1972 was 56½ million tons as compared to slightly over 52½ million tons in 1971. Surface mining tonnage exceeded underground tonnage for the first time in 1971.

According to Kirkpatrick many of the small mines are closing because of the expense of meeting requirements of the 1969 federal Mine Health and Safety Act.

(Many coal operators also say higher compensation rates are responsible for the closing of small mines.—Ed.)

"Many of these small mines employed maybe three to six people. As a rule, these people are being hired by bigger mines. "We're getting larger and larger underground mines and that means more employment in the coal industry," said Kirkpatrick. "And, we're having fewer accidents and fatalities from mining than ever before. It's encouraging."

Kirkpatrick added that the switch to large underground mines has necessitated some changes in his department's operation. "Now that we've got such large mines to inspect, we've had to increase our inspector staff. We've got 25 inspectors now and hope to hire five more this year."

Attorney Sues

To Halt State On Prior Claim

As agent for the purchasers of the Plantation Motel, near here, Joe Hobson, Prestonsburg attorney, filed Nov. 5 a circuit court complaint against the Kentucky Department of Revenue and others, seeking to preclude the department from holding any priority in its tax claims over the claims of other creditors.

The suit points out that Dr. Joseph E. Clark, Jr. and Dr. Paul T. Brizentine paid $300,000 for the motel and that, except for the $30,000 paid those who conducted the sale, all of that amount except $5,967.62 has been paid on indebtedness.

One of the claims paid was the $375.49 lien which the Department of Revenue had filed for taxes against the motel. This, according to Hobson, was all that the department reported to him as due. Later, he says, he again contacted the department to determine if any other indebtedness was claimed by it. This time, he says, the department told him an unpaid check in the amount of $93.79 was due, and that that was all.

That amount was paid, but now, Hobson says, the department is claiming sales taxes since the month of May, 1972.

Hobson contends that any liability for sales taxes, if any, is that of Carol B. Holland, whom he listed as operator of the business during that time. He also maintains that because of its delay in asserting its claim, the Department of Revenue should be stopped to deny it priority over other creditors. He asks the court for a declaration of the rights of parties to the case.

Health Department Clinics Announced

The Floyd County Health Department will be holding a pap smear clinic Thursday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 2 p.m.

For this service, the health department has the facilities to accommodate approximately 35 women. Patients will be seen by appointment only.

All women should have at least one pap smear a year, it is pointed out. If an appointment is needed, call the Floyd County Health Department at 886-2788, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 4:30.

If an appointment cannot be kept, the health department should be notified so that the appointment can be rescheduled.

Former P'burg Man In Law Practice

D. Fred Saunders, formerly of Prestonsburg, has entered the practice of law in association with F. Selby Hurst, Lexington attorney.

Mr. Saunders, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Saunders, of the Abbott road, is a 1959 graduate of Prestonsburg High School. He attended Georgetown College and received a Bachelor of Science degree in pharmacy from the University of Kentucky in 1965. He practiced pharmacy in Lexington and Danville three years before entering the University of Kentucky College of Law from which he was graduated in 1971.

After his admission to the bar Mr. Saunders served as law clerk for Appellate Judge Edward P. Hill. Later, he was named executive director of the Judicial Conference of Kentucky, a post which he occupied until joining the Hurst firm for private practice.

P'burg Couple Attend Convention in Spain

Minneapolis, Minn., November 5—Mr. and Mrs. Rondall Lawson, operators of the Dairy Queen store at North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, recently attended the soft serve, fast food firm's international convention in Madrid, Spain. The event, held October 23-31, drew an additional 600 Dairy Queen and Dairy Queen-Brazier store operators from around the world. During convention proceedings, the Lawsons were presented a Silver Cone award honoring them for achieving a 500-gallon increase in mix over the previous year.

"Operating a Dairy Queen store has been a rewarding experience for us," Mr. Lawson says. "Each year there are new challenges to meet, new goals to achieve. Our main objective, of course, is to serve our community with a clean, wholesome operation that meets the public's eating-out needs."

Tallent, Burwell Are Co-Captains Of 1973-'74 GW Basketball Team

Washington, D.C.—All-American candidates Pat Tallent and Clyde Burwell have been chosen by their teammates to co-captain the 1973-'74 George Washington University basketball team, according to an announcement by head coach Carl Slone.

Tallent and Burwell, both juniors, led GW to its finest record in 17 years last year (17-9) and are again expected to pace the Colonial attack this season.

Tallent, the 6-3 guard from Langley, Ky., became the second highest scoring sophomore in GW history last year as he tossed in 490 points for an 18.8 average. He was named to the Washington, D.C. All-Metropolitan team, was an All-Tournament selection at the Hall of Fame Tournament and Presidential Classic and was honored during the season by selection to a weekly ECAC All-East Division I team.

Burwell, the 6-11 defensive demon from Philadelphia, had one of the best sophomore seasons of any big man in GW history. He averaged 13.1 points, 10.7 rebounds and blocked 109 shots. He was voted the No. 6 man on the All-Metropolitan team.

Slone said, "I think the squad made two fine selections for co-captains in Pat Tallent and Clyde Burwell. We are expecting an outstanding year from both players and their overall leadership will determine just how well we do this winter."

Floyd County Gets $24,099 Allocation In New Crime Funds

A record-breaking package of new crime fighting funds for Kentucky was unveiled Monday by Gov. Wendell H. Ford. The total figure was slightly over $8.2 million in state and federal money.

Announcement of the grants came at a special press conference in which the governor described the money as representing "the largest single package of crime fighting grants ever awarded in Kentucky."

In all, more than 120 state and local agencies were listed as grant recipients.

Of the $8.2 million awarded, approximately $6.7 million will be paid by the Kentucky Crime Commission out of federal monies being made available to the state under provisions of the U. S. Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act. The balance will be paid out of state matching funds.

The Floyd fiscal court was allocated $24,099 to improve police communications.

Ford said that the money will be used both to carry on with existing programs and to initiate new ones. Total amounts awarded, by project area were:

—For police, $4.6 million. Included were funds to develop a statewide police communications system; further expansion of the state police crime lab at Frankfort; added training and equipment for locally-based evidence collection teams; and a broadening of police training programs offered by Kentucky's Department of Justice through its training bureau and the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council (KLEC) at Eastern Kentucky University.

Sr. Citizens Group Hires 2 for Center

Glenda Hall, of Bypro, was named director of the Senior Citizens' Center at Archer Park here at Monday's meeting of the eight-member committee selected for operation of the center, and Mrs. LaFaye Bamer Hughes, of Garrett, was employed as secretary.

The director's post pays $7,200 a year, and the salary of the clerk was reported at $4,200.

The center was funded with $21,430 in federal money, plus $7,144 locally.

The first floor of an Archer Park building will be renovated for use as the center. Approximately $5,000 of funds available to the center will be used for the purchase of a mini-bus for the transportation of senior citizens to and from the center. A telephone system also is to be installed to permit shut-ins to call or to be contacted by others at least once daily.

New Group Here Elects Officers

Mike Blankenship was named president of the Prestonsburg Business and Professional Association at its organizational meeting held Monday at the Floyd County Library.

Blankenship, manager of Cox Department Store here, said the purpose of the association is to promote Prestonsburg as a trade area and encourage a spirit of cooperation among the members. "We believe we can do more for Prestonsburg as a group than as individuals," Blankenship said.

Twenty-eight local merchants, businessmen and professional people attended the meeting and helped adopt by-laws and elect association officers.

Other officers for the coming year are Ronald Frasure, vice-president, and Abby Bolling, secretary-treasurer. Prestonsburg Mayor-elect Bill Goebel, Jr., and Dr. Ballard Wright were named to the executive committee.

Blankenship said persons with any interest in the Prestonsburg community should join the association and attend the next meeting which will be held Tuesday, November 27, at 12 noon at the library.

Hearing Scheduled On Harold-Mud Cr. Road Improvement

The Kentucky Bureau of Highways has scheduled an informal public meeting tomorrow (Thursday) at 7 p.m. at the Harold grade school to discuss the proposed reconstruction of the Harold-Mud Creek Road, KY 979 and KY 1426, it was announced last week by Gail Mullins, district engineer. The work is proposed to begin approximately .3 miles west of the KY 979-KY 1426 intersection and extend east to a point immediately west of the KY 979-C. & O. railroad crossing at Harold, a distance of 1.2 miles.

Alternate proposals will be discussed. Mr. Mullins said the public is invited and encouraged to attend and express views on this proposal, including social, economic, environmental and other effects of alternates.

Preliminary plans will be on display and Bureau of Highway personnel will be available to answer questions.

Calvert School May Be Casualty Of Cut-Through

Pike county may soon lose one of its major philanthropic ventures, according to Richard T. Stai, executive director of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center here. The Mary Calvert School, long one of the county's favorite community projects, is about to become a victim of the massive cut-through at Poor Farm Hollow, near Pikeville, intended to re-route the Big Sandy River.

Stai said that, although Mountain Comprehensive Care Center took over operation of the school for retarded children in January of this year following an agreement between the regional mental health agency and the Pike County Council for Retarded Children, and assumed all assets and liabilities, no funds for the building or property have been offered to the school or Mountain Comprehensive Care Center as a result of the Urban Renewal acquisition of Poor Farm Hollow.

Stai said the school has been ordered to vacate the property as of November 12. With existing facilities of the agency already being used at maximum capacity, there is no place acceptable to the licensing bureaus of state agencies available to continue the daily program of training the children, most of whom have been in the Mary Calvert School for several years.

The Mary Calvert School was originally built and financed through public donations under the leadership of Mrs. Janice Calvert who died last year. The school was named for her retarded daughter. Year after year, Mrs. Calvert and the Pike County Council for Retarded Children would solicit through gifts and donations the money necessary to operate the school. At that time, there were no community mental health centers and no other training programs in the area for retarded children. The Pike fiscal court donated the property for the school and ordered a deed to be drawn in favor of the Pike County Council for Retarded Children.

It is understood that the deed was never recorded and efforts to locate a copy of it have been fruitless, according to Stai. Meanwhile, the city of Pikeville has paid the Pike fiscal court a sizable portion of the purchase price of the entire parcel of land which includes the Mary Calvert School.

Conferences with city and county officials have indicated that each group sees the problem as the responsibility of the other and no satisfactory resolution appears in sight. Meanwhile, the retarded children of Mary Calvert School attend their classes, mercifully unaware that soon there may be no Mary Calvert School.

Low Bids on Work In Pike, $6,800,000

Pikeville, Ky.—A Frankfort firm was apparent low bidder last week with offers totalling $6.8 million on two big road surfacing jobs connected with the Pikeville mountain cut-through project. Bizzack Brothers Construction Corp. submitted the apparent low bids for paving work on 3.5 miles of U.S. 23, U.S. 119 and Ky. 80.

One bid of $4,116,290 was for the paving of almost two miles of the road from the south end of the cut-through project to 1,500 feet south of the Johnson Memorial Cemetery. The other bid, $2,689,284, was for a 1.5-mile stretch of roadway from the cemetery to near Turnhole Hollow.

Last week formal award was made of a $17.6 million contract for phase one of the massive earth-moving project which will provide room for business and residential expansion in Pikeville by diverting the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River and relocating U.S. 23 and Chessie System tracks.

Coal-to-Gas Switching Ban Good For State Industry

By MARVA GAY

Frankfort, Ky.—Regulations announced by President Nixon recently prohibiting utilities and industries from switching from coal to petroleum fuels will have a definite effect on Kentucky industry, little effect on state utilities and an uncertain effect on air quality according to state officials.

The energy conservation measures would not have much effect on Kentucky power utilities because most of them use coal according to Al Humphries, director of Engineering of the Public Service Commission.

"Probably about 99 percent of the power generated by public utilities comes from coal," Humphries said.

A few utilities have small turbines which run on gas and oil, Humphries explained. They use those when power consumption is at a peak but they usually are not used except during a hot spell in the summer when many air conditioners are on.

"Even the last two power generators the Public Service Commission approved will be coal fired. They're under construction now and wouldn't be finished for a couple of years," Humphries added.

While the effect on utilities will be minimal, industry in Kentucky will be better off according to John Stapleton, director of the Office of Mandatory Fuel Allocation for the state's Energy Council.

"Many industries which had planned to switch from coal to oil or gas to meet air pollution requirements will not switch now," said Stapleton. "This will be good for Kentucky's industry because those industries which are now using gas and oil will have more assurance of maintaining an adequate fuel supply throughout the winter and the industries using coal will be in no danger of running out of fuel. If the coal-using industries had switched to oil and gas there probably wouldn't have been enough fuel to go around."

"There's another favorable factor," continued Stapleton. "Those industries which had planned to switch to oil and gas will not have to install new equipment. That means a large savings to these industries."

The prohibition may also have a good effect on one of Kentucky's largest industries—coal. According to H. N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner of the Department of Mines and Minerals, the ban will have a stimulating effect on the coal industry. "If given the opportunity the coal industry will help take up some of the slack in providing fuel," said Kirkpatrick.

Despite the improved business outlook, the air pollution officials consider the new restraints potentially bad for the state's air quality. "The prohibition isn't going to help the air quality but we don't know just what it will do yet. We'll just have to work with the situation as it develops," said John Smither, director of the state's Division of Air Pollution Control.

"The effect of the ban on switching from coal depends on whether the action is an interim or a long range measure. We'll have to wait and see." Smither said many facilities—commercial, hospitals and schools as well as industries—which were going to switch from coal to gas and oil in order to cut down their air pollution emissions would not be requesting exemptions and variances from the clean-air requirements.

"We haven't gotten a flood of requests on the matter yet but we're just going to have to wait to see what happens. Whatever happens, we'll examine each request closely. These will still have to be approved by both the state and the federal Environmental Protection Agency," Smither concluded.

Inflation and Gas Shortages Increase Number of PSC Cases

By MARVA GAY
(Consumer Protection and Regulation Cabinet)
Frankfort, Ky.—Recent inflationary trends, high interest rates and gas shortages have greatly increased the number and complexity of cases before the Kentucky Public Service Commissioner.

Richard Heman, PSC secretary, pointed out that "the case load has remained about the same the past two years but is significantly different in volume and type from cases four or five years ago. We're hearing more and more major rate cases because of the effects of inflation, the high cost of money and the gas shortages. It's a trend that's likely to continue."

Throughout 1972 the PSC entered about 160 final orders, while through October this year about 150 final orders were entered plus a large number of interim orders.

According to Heman the big change isn't reflected so much in the number of cases as in the type of cases now before the PSC. "The big difference in the past few years is the increase in the complexity of the cases. We now have major rate cases that may require four to six hearings and take four or five months."

Heman noted the cases often involve millions of dollars. "During the past two years every major gas utility in Kentucky has filed gas restriction applications with the PSC - the Louisville Gas and Electric Co.; Union Light Heat and Power; Western Kentucky Gas Company, and Columbia Gas Co. All these cases involved several hearings."

"The LG & E case was one of the most difficult cases we've had and it involved the largest number of intervening parties we've had. That's another trend. There are more contested cases than ever before," said Heman.

Still another thing the PSC is contending with more each year is complaints. "We've had a large increase in consumer complaints since last year. Through October we had 663 complaints to investigate. Last year for the same period we had 523," said Heman.

"We hear a lot from people who want phone service or want better phone service. Sometimes they complain about the rates a company charges," he added.

"We'd better get used to the complaints and the tough cases. There's much consumer interest and awareness now. The Public Service Commission must be responsive," Heman said.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. McCarty, of Oil Springs, Ky., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Karen Joyce, to Gary Dale Ousley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Ousley, of Risner, Ky.

The wedding will take place at 3 p.m. Sunday November 18, at the Third Street Free Will Baptist Church, Paintsville, Ky. Rev. Arnold Reed will perform the double-ring ceremony. A reception will be held in the basement of the church immediately following the ceremony.

The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

Who Is Kentucky's "Senior" Citizen?

Who is the most senior of all Kentucky's senior citizens?

Gov. Wendell Ford is seeking that individual to present him, or her, with the state's first Bicentennial license plate.

As a commemorative item for Kentucky's 200th birthday in 1974, the Bicentennial Commission has, through the state's prison industries, contracted for production of special license tags which will be sold in all counties as a fund-raising activity. Proceeds will go primarily to county Bicentennial groups where sales are made.

The Governor wants to buy the first one for the state's eldest citizen.

"I believe this individual would be the most worthy recipient for the first plate because of personal longevity and because we will be reflecting to a great extent on our heritage," Ford said.

Several Kentuckians have passed their 100th birthday; however, no centralized statistical data is available and so the public call for information.

Anyone who is over 100, a native and resident of Kentucky, is invited to submit name, date and place of birth and address to the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission, Room 1005, Capital Plaza, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Information should be sent by Nov. 23. When the senior citizen is located, the license presentation will be made by Gov. Ford.

To us, he's already 21

Within 10 years he'll be graduated, looking for a job. If electric power isn't available, his job won't be.

We are a nation built on electric energy. Our entire economy hums to the tune of generators that run all industries.

Within 10 years we must build as much new generating capability as we've built in our entire history. We must have trillions of BTU's of heat available from some fuel to provide the power needed in the 1980's—and use the fuel in a way that causes a minimal impact on the environment.

Obviously such a massive program creates the opportunity for differences of opinions and priorities. Our promise to you is simply this: We recognize the necessity to preserve the environment for future generations (our children will live here, too) and will take every responsible measure to do so. We also must recognize the need for electric power—and will take every responsible action to make sure it's available. In fact, we are obligated by law to do so.

In fulfillment of these two objectives—we'll do our best to strike an acceptable balance between environmental considerations and the need for additional electric power.

Land Purchase Begins for Dam In Lawrence Co.

Purchase of initial property needed for development of the Yatesville Lake project in Lawrence county has begun, it was announced last week by the Army Corps of Engineers' district office, Huntington, W. Va.

Col. Kenneth E. McIntyre, District Engineer, said negotiations are beginning on the initial 1,200 acres, and that purchase of remainder of the required acreage will proceed throughout construction of the flood control-recreation project.

Col. McIntyre also made these additional announcements.

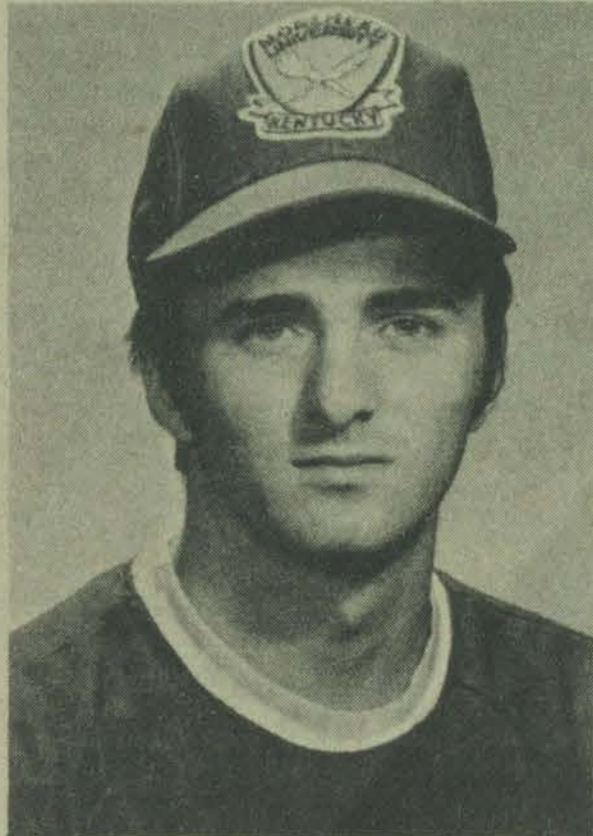

The Corps' real estate assistance office in Paintsville has now moved from the Citizens National Bank building to the Coleman building at 11th Street and F. M. Stafford Avenue.

The contractor now working on the access road to the Paintsville dam site in Johnson county proposes to suspend work during the winter season in anticipation of adverse weather conditions.

McIntyre said the seasonal suspension will begin during the week of November 18. Work will resume early next spring.

Initial land acquisition for the Yatesville project will be concentrated along Blaine Creek from the access road and dam site to the vicinity of Greenbrier Creek, a distance of approximately one and a third miles.

McGuffey Approves Underground Mines' Compensation Rate

State Insurance Commissioner Harold B. McGuffey has approved recent workmen's compensation insurance rate increases for underground coal employers.

McGuffey said the new rates were not excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory. He noted that if anything, the rates are conservative. (Coal operators, on the contrary, contend that the rates are ruinous to the mining industry.)

The rates, in effect since January 1, increase the employer's payments from $29.57 to $60.60 per $100 payroll for small mines and from $20.08 to $43.47 for large mines with payrolls of $75,000 or more.

The increase was proposed by the National Council on Compensation Insurance which sets workmen's compensation rates to be used by insurance companies throughout the nation.

McGuffey called a hearing when a Louisville consulting firm said that, based on its data, the insurance premiums were as much as 40 percent above what they should be. McGuffey ordered the National Council on Compensation Insurance to show that its rates would not be reduced in light of these contentions.

At the hearing, a representative of the consulting firm said that new information showed the firm's findings to be in error. He said his firm had used incorrect statistics on the amount paid out for black lung disease and for compensation by insured and self-insured firms.

Floyd Schools First in Area To Have Fulltime Therapist

Floyd county's school system is the first in the Eastern section of Kentucky to add a full-time speech therapist to work with children suffering speech defects, Charles Clark, superintendent of schools, said Monday.

"We fully realize that one person could not possibly serve every school child in the system, therefore, this school year, four schools—Stumbo Elementary, Clark Elementary, Prestonsburg Elementary and Prestonsburg High—were selected," Mr. Clark said.

As funds become available, it is the intention of the school system to broaden the scope to include all its schools, and as time permits the therapist will work in additional schools, he added.

Mary Nunnery, a Prestonsburg high graduate, who holds degrees in speech and hearing defects from the University of Kentucky, began the school year by providing diagnostic screening to detect defective sounds.

In her work thus far in the school year, she has found the most common speech deficits to be omissions, substitutions and distortions.

From this group she selects her caseload and has proceeded to work on the block system, spending four days a week for six weeks at each of the three elementary schools, and each Friday works with Prestonsburg High School students. Currently she has 91 children with whom she is working to correct impediments.

Visits are made to the homes of special problem children—those suffering from cleft palate and severe hearing losses—in an effort to have the parents fully understand the deficiency.

Her remedial work begins in selecting a sound for a child to work with, one that is easy for the child to make and one that a child may see being produced, which in turn will help show progress.

"Our two school nurses are doing an excellent job with the heavy caseload they serve and the addition of Miss Nunnery in this special field will greatly assist us in this mammoth undertaking," the superintendent said.

Says Death Penalty Justified in Cases Of Wilful Murder

Among opinions released this week from the office of Atty. Gen. Ed W. Hancock were the following:

Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock stated in a letter to Sen. Michael Moloney, chairman of the Kentucky Penal Code Study Commission, that the death penalty is justified in cases involving intentional murder.

Saying that "murder is murder," Hancock contended that the commission's suggestions for capital punishment are too limited. He noted that the penal code does not mention the killing of a policeman or fireman while acting in the line of duty. Hijacking is also ignored.

Hancock added that he agrees that murder with rape in the first degree should be a capital offense although "the degree of rape involved should not matter."

Cattie Lou Miller, commissioner of the Department of Personnel, asked for an opinion concerning the legality of a merit system employee also holding a position in a paid public office.

Mrs. Miller also noted that the candidate in question volunteered to ask for a resolution returning the $20 a month salary to the city council, if elected.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Martin Glazer replied that the candidate has already violated the law by seeking election to the office. The fact that he offered to return the compensation has no bearing on the statute.

Dewey Roberts, of Harold, requested an opinion on the eligibility of a person voting in a precinct other than the one in which he lives.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter C. Herdman explained that a voter must vote in the precinct of his residence unless he moved to another precinct less than 30 days prior to an election and after the registration books were closed.

The company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the company or to any law enforcement agency of the State of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who wilfully and maliciously on November 3, 1973 caused the interruption of gas flow in company line No. 1 which supplies gas to the City of Prestonsburg, the City of Paintsville, Johnson County Gas Company, Mountain Utilities, and Ohio-Kentucky Utilities by closing a valve in Line No. 1 of the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company or for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act.

$5,000 REWARD

($50,000 Maximum)

FOR INFORMATION LEADING TO ARREST AND CONVICTION

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has suffered certain malicious acts of sabotage against its property and equipment, beginning November 1, 1973. Law enforcement officers, including federal, state and local have been notified.

The company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the company or to any law enforcement agency of the State of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person wilfully or maliciously interfering with the flow of gas, injuring or destroying any of the company's operating equipment or facilities, for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act.

The maximum of reward payable in each instance of interference with the flow of gas, injury, or destruction of property is $5,000 and the total amount of the rewards payable for all such instances shall not exceed $50,000. The company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate January 1, 1974, subject to extension by the company. This offer of reward cancels and supersedes long standing previous reward offers of $500 each.

The increased number of such acts of sabotage endangers the public which is dependent on gas for safety, health, and comfort. Any such acts affecting any of the company's facilities will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law as part of Kentucky West Virginia's obligation to provide safe and dependable gas service to its customers.

This offer of reward does not pertain to the interruption of gas service to the Hazard Gas Company on November 1, 1973 or to the attempted interruptions to gas service to the City of Prestonsburg, the City of Paintsville, Johnson County Gas Company, Ohio-Kentucky Utilities, or Mountain Utilities on November 3, 1973, for which separate rewards have previously been offered and are still available.

Opinions From Office Of Attorney General

Among opinions released last week from the office of Atty. Gen. Ed W. Hancock were the following:
R. C. Ford Jr., an Owen county attorney, asked whether the court tax could be levied before a defendant is found guilty. Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles W. Runyan replied that the subject tax in original criminal actions in the circuit court should be included in the costs if convicted. If not convicted, the tax is not applicable.

Frederick R. Claus, Frankfort, questioned the validity of the exam required before a person can be licensed as a professional engineer in Kentucky. Asst. Atty. Gen. Patrick B. Kimberlin stated that the exam was invalid because the engineering board exceeded the power delegated to it by the General Assembly.

Alvin B. Webb, chairman of the Letcher County Election Commission, said residents of the Golden Years Rest Home applied for absentee ballots. They were registered properly but were placed in the wrong precinct. Webb asked whether or not it was legal to count these absentee ballots. Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter C. Herdman ruled that, according to the instructions of the State Board of Elections, the registrant is not supposed to fill in the precinct on the registration card. Thus, their being placed in the wrong precinct was a clerical error on the part of the officer doing the registering. As a result, the ballots should be counted.

Harry L. Riggs, Jr., Erlanger, asked if a city can go outside of its corporate limits and employ an attorney on a contract basis if a local attorney cannot be found. Asst. Atty. Gen. Herdman informed him that if the city could not find a qualified attorney locally, it could employ an outside attorney to serve on a contract basis.

Area Natural Resources Plan Regarded as Near Completion

A project plan reflecting grassroots thinking on better use and management of natural resources in the Big Sandy area is moving toward completion. William J. Cantrell, of Prestonsburg, director of the Big Sandy Resource Conservation and Development Council, said here last week.

Eight resource committees have been at work over a period of several months, and they will complete their assignments this month.

Mr. Cantrell explained that the Resource and Development Council does not attempt to rely on its own expertise to plan management and use of natural resources for the area but, instead, has gone to the people, seeking an expression of their thinking on what is needed. It is, he said, a local effort to improve economic conditions and the environment, and special technical and financial assistance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be available to help the people of the Big Sandy Project carry out their plan.

Community Colleges Represented at Meet

A total of 158 members of junior and community college faculties, staffs, and student bodies attended the recent annual meeting of the Kentucky Association for Junior Colleges at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond.

They represented 22 two-year colleges in Kentucky, KAJC president, Dr. Kenneth Clawson, of Eastern, said.

Area colleges represented and the number attending from each: Alice Lloyd, 16; Ashland Community 4; Hazard Community, 6; Lees Junior, 14; Prestonsburg Community, 2; Sue Bennett, 12.

Grants of $960,000 have been approved by the Appalachian Regional Commission in Washington for the addition to be built onto the Laurel County Vocational Education Center.

GOD'S WARNING

THIS COULD BE YOU.

YOU may tie your shoestrings in the morning, but the UNDERTAKER may untie them before night.

ARE YOU READY to meet your Maker?

Women, young or old, God's warning to the Harlot (whore) you may do it in the name of love or for money, the warning is all the same. Her house inclineth unto death, and her path unto dead." Prov. 2:18. "Her feet go down to death: Her steps take hold on hell." Prov. 5:5. "By means of a whorish woman a man is brought to a piece of bread." Prov. 6:26. Many strong men have been slain by her." Prov. 2:26. "Her house is the way to hell" her guests are in the depths of hell. God warns about immorality. Whose mongers and adulterers God will Judge, Ex. 20:14. What can be done about this? Speak the truth about alcohol. Place it in the same category with drugs. Both are addictive. Both are sin to the human race. Christians can and do reach out a helping hand to those with drinking problems.

The picture painted in the two cartoons is not very pretty. A wrecked car or a wrecked life. Remember some day your mother, sister or daughter may be driving home on the highway. Would you want them to meet a wild-eyed drunk on the wrong side of the highway? It is hard to give up drinking or using drugs. But Jesus Christ has the only answer for you. He says, "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out." John 6:37.

One of the ten commandments is "Thou shalt not kill." Anything you put in your body such as drink, drugs or smoking that causes damage to your body, this damage leads in the near future to death. "Thou shalt not kill" starts with your life. You are just as guilty or murder when you kill yourself as a murderer is. You also break another of God's commandments. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor" if others see our habits and they won't come to church because of them or if they take on these habits because of them if they take on these habits because they see us do it, we don't love our neighbors. If you love some one you won't cause them to do bad things. If I fail to tell you that drinking or smoking or the use of drinks is bad for you, then I am not showing my love for you. So Christian readers you owe it to others to warn them about these things or you may have to answer to God for them.

Attention, Readers

This is not an appeal for money, but we would like a letter from you.

We want to find out if readers are reading these articles and if you are getting help and blessings from them. If you would like to see them continued or have any ideas for them, write us a short letter about it. You do not have to send your name or address or even sign the letter, just write please. May God Bless you.

Heritage Commission Taking A New Look At History

By HELEN PRICE STACY The Eastern Kentucky Heritage Committee, an arm of the Kentucky Heritage Commission, is emphasizing the need for historical preservation in the Commonwealth's Highlands.

An entire culture complete with buildings, songs, art, crafts and speech is a treasure to be cached in a repository for future generations.

"Eastern Kentucky has contributed tremendously to this state," said Mrs. Harry Caudill, of Whitesburg, member of the Eastern Kentucky Heritage Committee. "It is important," she continued, "to preserve our log cabins, ballads, handicrafts and other parts of our early heritage."

Mrs. Caudill and her lawyer-author husband, Harry Caudill, pointed out that recognition needed to be given also to a history of the region's vast natural resources that have given much wealth to other parts of the state.

"Coal, timber and other resources created great changes. In one year a rural hollow could become a town complete with schools, stores and a hospital," Mrs. Caudill said.

Caudill added that the "arsenal of democracy was largely fueled by coal from Eastern Kentucky . . . but the history of the coal industry has not yet been recorded."

The Heritage Committee urges that historic streets, sections of cities and even entire towns be marked for preservation where merited.

The town of Himmlerville in Martin county was cited at a recent committee meeting as worthy of restoring.

Himmlerville was built and populated by groups from Hungary who owned and operated a coal mine, built their houses of stone, elected their own leaders and maintained a communal type of life until abandoning the community.

Preservation of a heritage is more meaningful today than in the past. The fact that history has a way of repeating itself means that future generations can gain knowledge, understanding and wisdom from the past.

Anyone who feels that a building, site or area is worthy of preservation should write the Kentucky Heritage Commission, Corner in Celebrities, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Bargaining Backers In Frankfort Rally

Top national spokesmen for Kentucky public employee organizations that have joined together to develop and work for passage of a collective bargaining bill in 1974 were in Frankfort today (Wednesday), to take part in a giant rally at 4:45 p.m. at the Sports Center.

Among them will be Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees (AFSCME); Mrs. Catharine Barrett, immediate past president of the National Education Association (NEA); Ralph Flynn, executive director of the Coalition of American Public Employees (CAPE); W. H. McClennan, president of the International Association of Fire Fighters; and David Sweeney, Teamsters' national legislative director.

Kentucky Congressman Carl Perkins (D-Hindman) who is co-sponsor of the national collective bargaining bill for public employees now before Congress, has been invited to speak, as have various other governmental leaders, including Gov. Wendell Ford and Lieut. Gov. Julian Carroll. Kentucky's U. S. and state representatives and senators also have been invited to attend.
