

Group Eyes Allen Site For Center Board Recommends Central Recreation Area Development

The Floyd fiscal court is pondering the possibility of a major recreation center in the vicinity of Allen after hearing from the Floyd County Recreation Board a recommendation that such a center to serve all the county be established.

But there are several "ifs". The court wants to take action to get the center, mainly through federal financing, if the public is sufficiently interested.

It cannot apply for a federal grant if a site is not first acquired.

A site exists, if it can be acquired. The recreation center location—possibly the only one of sufficient size and satisfactory terrain—is the present Allen golf course.

But the land is owned by National Mines Corp. and the C. & O. Railway Company. Neither appears to be willing to sell the property. The court hesitates to undertake condemnation proceedings.

If all the "ifs" were removed, the recreation center—in the geographical center of the county—would retain the present nine-hole golf course with the addition of grass greens, and add tennis courts, a swimming pool, facilities for the elderly, a picnic area and the like.

The Recreation Board is composed of representatives from each of the four magisterial districts: Richard Fitzpatrick, Dist. 1; Danny Stephens, Dist. 2; Glenda Hall, Dist. 3, and Joe Jacobs, Dist. 4. County Attorney James R. Allen was named chairman and at-large member by County Judge Stumbo.

Pike Co. Jury Clears Martin In Murder Case

Given the alternative of finding the defendant guilty of first-degree murder or of acquitting him, a Pike circuit court jury last Wednesday held Glen. H. Martin, of Estill, not guilty of the slaying last June of Robert Griffith, Sr., Estill merchant.

Although the shooting took place at Estill, Griffith died at a Pikeville hospital, giving the Pike court jurisdiction.

The jury's two-hour deliberation apparently was influenced by the fact that the testimony was at wide variance, that the victim went to the scene where his son, Martin, and others were drinking and that he took with him a weapon.

Defense testimony claimed that the elder Griffith arrived at the shooting scene with drawn gun and that the fatal shot was accidentally fired while he and Martin engaged in a scuffle.

Griffith was shot in his right side, and the defendant admitted the victim held the revolver in his right hand. His right hand was powder-burned, and a ballistics expert from Frankfort testified for the Commonwealth that it would have been impossible for him to have been so burned while holding the handle of the revolver. The Commonwealth argued that Griffith was shot while trying to shove aside the muzzle of the revolver.

Robert Griffith, Jr. and Billy Conley testified for the state that a fight was going on between the former and Buddy Lazar when the merchant arrived and that the elder Griffith was struck by a rock and attacked by Martin, the defendant.

In 1974 Miss Kentucky Pageant

Representing Floyd county in the Miss Kentucky Pageant in Louisville next week will be Miss Sharon O'Quinn, 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. Margaret O'Quinn, of Garrett.

Miss O'Quinn is enrolled at Alice Lloyd College as a pre-medical student and is working this summer with the East Kentucky Community Service at Hindman under Dr. Grady Stumbo. She attended Prestonsburg Community College as a freshman and also worked at Highlands Regional Hospital. In January, she plans to transfer to the University of Kentucky where she will be a junior.

In the talent competition of the pageant which will take place at MacCauley's Theater in Louisville, Miss O'Quinn will play a flute solo. The pageant activities will begin Monday and end Saturday night with the televised coronation of a new Miss Kentucky.

Part of Allen Golf Course which is being considered as site for future recreation center.

Trial of Sykes In Deskins Case Is Shifted Here

The trial of Robert Sykes, one of four men charged with the 1971 murder of Mrs. Gladys Deskins, apparently is headed for the Floyd circuit court on change of venue, it was said here Saturday.

The change of venue motion was filed last week as next Monday's trial date in Pike neared and, although Judge E. N. Venters had not ruled on the motion, it was learned here that he is expected to grant the motion and shift the trial to circuit court here. If the change is made, it will further load the murder docket for the September court term here.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said the case would bring to not less than five the number of murder trials facing the Floyd court.

Sykes, 39, is one of four men charged in connection with the murder of Mrs. Deskins. Two of those charged have already been found guilty.

Mrs. Desking, 59, was killed at her home at Meta by a sawed-off shotgun blast and several knife wounds.

In 1973, her estranged husband, Boone Deskins, 69, was found guilty of hiring three men to carry out the killing and was sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary.

Last month, William Eugene Thompson, 22, was found guilty on a conspiracy to murder charge and also received a life sentence.

Opening Theatre Performance To Benefit Floyd Rescue Squad

The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre and the Floyd County Rescue Squad have combined forces for the opening "benefit" performance of "Fiddler on the Roof," next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., at the amphitheatre.

Dr. Ernest Holbrook, president of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association, Inc., said he "feels proud to be a part of a growing organization that is not only promoting the fine arts in the Eastern Kentucky area, but also is helping in the promotion of the worthwhile services rendered to Floyd county through the Rescue Squad."

POOR SEDLEY!

The guy who signs his communications, "Mumpsimus," offers information to the effect that streaking dates back to the time when a fellow named Pepys was keeping a diary that somehow found its way into print. The venerable chronicler reports that one Sir Charles Sedley (1639-1701) flaunted himself around quite brazenly. Sedley and a friend named Buckhurst, says Pepys, were "running up and down all the night with their selves (our translation) bare through the streets of London."

Apparently there's no future in the fad. Just think what happened to Sedley.

UP SOUTH

I occasionally have some difficulty with outsiders who are slow to comprehend. They insist that when I say up to Pikeville, I'm off base because Pikeville is south of Prestonsburg and you never travel up south. I rejoice that if they'll go out and take a boat trip to Pikeville and then will say it's down from here they may serve me a helping of crow.

More recently I have had trouble with my reference to the mouth of the hollow (more properly pronounced, "holler") and the head of the hollow, which is at the foot of the hill. Some folks tell me my directions have the foot-and-mouth disease.

All this is confusing, I know, to you who know up from down, as I do.

Floyd Share of Tax May Reach $200,000

There's about $5.5 million available for the state's 43 coal producing counties,—and Floyd county may get as much as $200,000 of it, State Rep. W. J. Reynolds estimates.

Gov. Wendell H. Ford recently allocated the $5.5 million to the coal producing county development fund.

The bill enacted by the 1974 General Assembly provides that the funds will be returned to the coal producing counties on a pro-rata basis. The amount each county will get cannot be exactly determined until the total receipts are in. They will be notified of the amounts by Aug. 15.

That money will be distributed by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration with the advice of the Coal Producing Development Committee. The committee of seven legislators from the coal producing

Bond of Gibsons Is $25,000 Each; Hearing Waived

Bond of $25,000 each was set Monday morning for the release from jail here of James and Amos Gibson, brothers, who are held in the shotgun slaying, early last Wednesday night on Salt Lick Creek, near Hueysville, of Ollie James Conley, 61, Knott county teacher and uncle of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

The bond was agreed to in a conference between James Asher, Whitesburg, defense counsel, and Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo and County Attorney James R. Allen. Examining trial was waived.

Ability of the Gibsons to execute bond in this amount was doubted here, and if they fail to do so they will remain in jail at least until the September grand jury session unless a special grand jury is empaneled earlier.

James Gibson, 26, was named in a murder warrant sworn to by State Detective Sgt. Cornette, and his brother is charged with conspiracy to murder. Amos Gibson was brought to jail here last Wednesday night, a few hours after the slaying, by Detective Cornette and State Troopers Cantrell and Williamson. James Gibson surrendered, the following day, to State Trooper E. B. Allen.

Conley, who had returned from Ohio about two years ago to his family home in the Knott county section of Salt Lick, died almost instantly when the charges of both barrels of a double-barrel shotgun were fired simultaneously into his abdomen.

Allen Man Rescues Girl Near Drowning

Sixteen-year-old Paulette Garrett, of Water Gap, was saved from drowning last Friday afternoon in the old swimming area of the Stratton branch area of Dewey Lake by Elmer Fields, of Allen.

A bystander said as many as 50 persons stood by when the girl stepped into approximately 15 feet of water and was unable to swim to safety. She had submerged the third time when Mr. Fields swam to her rescue. After the rescue he administered artificial respiration and the girl suffered little ill effect from the experience.

Mr. Fields is a welder for the Island Creek Coal Company.

Court To Ask Bids on Repair Of Courthouse

Plans for courthouse repair, including a new roof, have been completed by MKH Engineers and Architects, Lexington, and the Floyd fiscal court is ready to ask contractors' bids on the project.

The fiscal court reviewed plans for roof and plumbing work at its Monday afternoon meeting here. Revenue sharing funds will probably be used in financing the cost.

The courthouse, which was first occupied 10 years ago, has suffered extensive damage because of a leaky roof, a fault which became apparent soon after occupancy of the building. The repair work will be done while a suit against the contractor is pending.

Considerable interior damage has resulted from plumbing defects and because lavatories and drains in the jail on the third floor of the building have been clogged.

The roof work will involve the removal of the old roof, including gravel stops, metal counter flashing and insulation down to the concrete deck, then the preparation of the deck and installation of a completely new roof and flashing.

Work on the plumbing will replace floor drains, traps, soil pipe and fittings where necessary and repair of leaky piping.

The court at its meeting this week entered into a $58,000 equipment contract with the Department of Highways for the next fiscal year. This is the program under which the county acquires road machinery and pays for it by working the equipment, receiving credit on the indebtedness for its services to the state.

The court also approved the appropriation of $500-$125 for each magisterial district—for the purchase of supplies for mini-parks.

Three Held Here As Knife Victim's Condition Critical

A juvenile and two adults were jailed here Sunday night by State Detective Gary Rose and State Trooper Simpson after Tex Williams, 20, had been stabbed in a fight on Branham's Creek.

Williams' condition was described Monday as critical. He was taken to the McDowell Regional Hospital, suffering from three knife wounds in his back, one of which punctured a lung. A fourth wound was in his hip.

Detective Rose said it was indicated that 16-year-old Jerry Hall did the actual stabbing. Charged with him in warrants alleging malicious cutting and wounding were Eugene and Tony Tackett. Magistrate Dewey Roberts asked $10,000 bond for the defendants' release.

Early investigation of the case showed that there had been previous trouble between Williams and those charged.

Old-Fashioned Days To Follow 4th Here

The first week of July will offer residents of Floyd and neighboring counties more than the traditional 4th of July celebration this year.

The two days immediately following the Fourth—Friday and Saturday, July 5 and 6—will be Old-Fashioned Days in Prestonsburg.

Heralded as a promotion "to bring back the good, old days," personnel of all stores will be dressed in Gay 90's attire, and the public is being invited to dress up in their old-fashioned dresses, suits, hats and shoes and join in the fun.

Activities planned by Prestonsburg business people and coordinated by the Prestonsburg Business and Professional Association include:

1. Distribution of 2,000 tickets on each day of the promotion to any person desiring to attend a movie at the Strand Theatre here.
2. Folk, gospel and country music from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, July 5.
3. Special sales events, the entire week-end.
4. Exhibits, concessions, bake sales and similar events in harmony with the old-fashioned theme.
5. Display by all who are interested of their antiques and relics of other days, these to be placed in store windows.
6. A street dance Friday night for younger people, with popular and rock music featured.
7. A street dance Saturday night with country music and square dancing.
8. Small articles given away hourly through the week-end.
9. Free watermelon served both days by the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Chamber of Commerce.

Contests planned for the week-end:

- Pretty baby (ages, birth to 4 years), beauty contest, (14 years and up), Little Miss Old-Fashion (ages, 5 to 13), oldest married couple, oldest man, oldest woman, largest family present, man with biggest shoe, best-decorated bicycle. Old-fashion attire will be required for the beauty and Little Miss Old-Fashion contests.

Former Tenant Accused After Probe Complete

Milford Blackburn was charged last week with knowingly receiving stolen property after an investigation by Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis and deputies of a March 9 incident in which a large amount of furniture was stolen from a house at Hueysville.

Lewis reported that a table, eight chairs, a breakfast set, two end tables, a coffee table and two lamps were stolen from the home of Warner Thornsby. The house had been recently vacated by Blackburn, who allegedly returned and heisted the goods before Thornsby had completed moving into the residence. Officers concentrated their investigation on Blackburn after he was arrested on May 30 for possession of stolen copper. Later, members of the victimized family were able to enter Blackburn's residence on Little Rough and Tough, near David, by posing as cosmetic salesmen, whereupon they identified the furniture as belonging to them. Officers this week were looking for Blackburn.

Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis, J. D. Martin and E. Hamilton charged Terry Lykens with possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale after 225 cans of beer were taken from his car near his home at Honaker Friday night. The 1970 Torino was also seized by the officers.

Walker Newsome, Jr. was also arrested on a possession count after Deputies Howell, Slone, Martin and Newsome discovered 24 cans and one quart bottle of beer in his trailer at Teaberry. Both men executed bond.

Others booked at county jail during the week, charges against each and arresting officers follow:

Larry Mullins, a.w.o.l., by Federal agents; Helen DeRossett Clifton, assault and battery, by State Trooper Webb; Johnny Ray Salisbury, breaking and entering an automobile, by Deputy Doug Lewis; Aaron Adams, assault and battery, by Deputies Doug Lewis and L. Hunt; Brenda Branham, no operator's license; Hershell Gray Elliott, no K.Y.U. license, by weights and measures officer E. Mullins; Delores Brown, uttering a worthless check, by Deputy Doug Lewis; Sonny Ward, drunk driving, by Deputies Doug Lewis and L. Hunt; Willie Mitchell, drunk driving, by Deputy D. Martin; Charles Williamson, breaking and entering (broke into B & K Market at Drift), by State Troopers Castle and Simpson; Anderson Newsome, uttering worthless check, by Deputies D. Lewis, G. Slone and Newsome; Bobby Scott, drunk driving, by Deputies Howell and Slone; Nancy Shepherd, uttering a worthless check, by Deputy Doug Lewis.

Random Thoughts on Vandalism

Last week, a teacher in a letter to The Times wrote of the destruction of school property and expressed a willingness to try almost any suggestion offered as to how to create in youth a sense of respect and responsibility.

The Times doesn't have any "inside" information or special insight on this very important matter. It has no final answer. Only a few thoughts.

Vandalism is not peculiarly American, nor is it confined altogether to young people—as witness Attila the Hun and every desecrator of temple or other hallowed place since ancient times. But most are either young or they have never become adult, mentally or morally.

Vandals cost the schools of this country during the 1972-'73 school year, in actual damages and protective measures and devices, no less than half a billion dollars, we are told. That is about what all the textbooks bought that year for American children cost. The heaviest losses were in metropolitan areas, but the senseless urge to destroy was not confined to the cities. In a peaceful and very affluent upper New York community, for instance, a lovely chapel is a regular target for vandals. In an Iowa community of less than a thousand population "yard farming"—the deliberate tearing apart of citizens' lawns by youngsters driving cars and motorcycles—is a regular "occupation."

Similarly and equally senselessly, a few weeks ago, a section of Faith Bible Church in this county which is devoted to the care and training of retarded children was cruelly vandalized.

Why? "I don't know—I just did it," some of those caught in the act have told authorities. Some confess to anger with their teachers; others, with their parents. Sometimes, the motive is to steal things that can be sold to finance purchases of other things. Drugs, perhaps.

But what to do?

Some schools have hired security guards at considerable expense. Electronic devices are installed, even guard dogs used. These measures help, but vandalism continues.

But the best policemen are consciences attuned to the respect and responsibility of which the Floyd teacher wrote.

Perhaps the schools themselves need to make a change. A return to the business of teaching children how to live as well as to how to make a living is needed. Perhaps the qualifications for teachers should include much more than mere educational and professional training. How well the teacher of young people is emotionally adjusted and morally fit may be more important than the college degrees he or she possesses. The ability of a student to live with himself and with others, to respect what belongs to others and to keep his hands off things that are not his own need recognition as much as excellence on the basketball floor or athletic field.

Surely, there is some way left for teachers to earn for themselves and their schools the respect of the youngsters they teach.

Above all—this, we know, is long-range and idealistic, but it is very basic—the parents of the boys and girls need to return to the principles, even tough principles, that were taught and accepted and even cherished when they were young. They need to take time out from the economic, or social, or power rat-race and give some time to the plain business of teaching, by example as much as by precept, the old-fashioned virtues of honesty, respect for others, respect for law and property and responsibility as human beings.

It may not solve the problem, but we all need to remember that it suffices little to breed a race of giants and educate a nation of savants if they are to wind up no more than overgrown vandals and highly educated criminals.

Floyd Project Gains EPA Priority List

Rep. Carl D. Perkins has announced that the Environmental Protection Agency office in Atlanta has approved the sewer construction priority list submitted by the Kentucky Division of Water.

Rep. Perkins said that while the federal action should have been taken sooner, it was gratifying that the agencies can now move to see to it what communities get the funds to move ahead with sewer work.

"I will be working to see that all of the projects in our area will be funded adequately, and as soon as possible," Rep. Perkins said. "Many of our communities have already gotten their sewer systems in good shape, and the benefits to the people are obvious. I want to make sure that every community is protected," he added.

The priority list, established by the State Division of Water and approved by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency, lists these Seventh Congressional District projects:

The Beaver-Elkhorn Water District in this county, Paintsville, Salyersville, Martin county District No. 2, Lawrence county and 16 others.

Slate Seminars On Energy Use; Last at College

The Kentucky Department of Commerce and Associated Industries of Kentucky (AIK) will sponsor eight regional conservation seminars, the last of which will be held at Prestonsburg Community College, June 28.

The seminars are designed to create a concern among industries with economical energy use and conservation methods.

Department of Commerce officials and AIK members will meet with company engineers and technicians for discussion and recommendations for correcting specific energy situations, such as obtaining standby fuels for next winter.

At each of the eight seminars, Commerce Commissioner Damon W. Harrison will present the overall energy outlook, representatives of the General Electric Co. will document a case study of a successful conservation program and John M. Stapleton, director of the Kentucky Office of Mandatory Fuel Allocation, will discuss plans for obtaining standby fuels.

Regional representatives of electrical power and gas companies will also outline the supply and service policy for fuel for the next two to three years.

First of the seminars will be Monday, June 17, at Gilbertsville.

Each seminar will be from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Officials of local and county governments and local agencies and organizations are invited to attend.

Get Pre-Flight Instructions

New members of the Sandy Valley Flying Club, Peggy Arnett, of Inez, and Mayor W. O. Goebel, Jr., of Prestonsburg, are shown receiving pre-flight instructions from certified flight instructor, Hubert Puckett. They are pictured with the club's Cessna 150 plane. The club recently ordered a second plane, a 1975 Cessna Skyhawk, II, which is scheduled to arrive next month.

Former Auxier Man Accorded Honors for TV Documentaries

When WMAL-TV, Washington, D. C., swept the local Emmys recently, receiving the most awards of any Washington, D. C. television station, a former Floyd county man stood out among station personalities as he was presented a special award for the production and broadcasting of two documentary programs.

Jim David Clarke, a 1952 graduate of Auxier High School, was the recipient of the Ted Yates Award for investigative reporting (named for the late documentary producer, Ted Yates). A resolution of the District of Columbia city council also commended Clarke for the production and broadcasting of "The TV Repair Hassle" and "The Auto Repair Go-Round" which exposed automotive and electronic repair abuses in the Washington metropolitan area. The resolution said Clarke, in producing and broadcasting the two programs which were aired in separate four-day series "courageously described specific abuses by identified repair dealers to document incompetent and deceptive practices to which District citizens have been subjected and utilized ingenuity, thoroughness, fairness and accuracy to reach the highest level of excellence in investigative reporting for the public interest." In presenting the Ted Yates award to Clarke, D. C. delegate Walter Fauntroy called him "a tough and relentless reporter."

Mr. Clarke's mother, Ona Lee Clarke Casterno, formerly of Auxier, now resides in New York City.

Kentucky Afield

Of the tens of thousands of outdoor-minded Kentuckians who enjoy hunting, fishing, hiking, camping, boating, and nature watching, most are very considerate of their fellow man and of the fish, wildlife and scenic beauty of the landscape.

However, there are a few "slobs" who are making it most difficult to enjoy the many things that so many take for granted.

Take as example some of the following situations where the "slob" has left his mark and as a result has caused difficulties for those who are anything else than the "slob."

For the most part where farms have been posted with "No Trespassing No Hunting No Fishing Don't Ask" signs the slob has been there.

Farmers' gates have been blocked with parked vehicles so that the land owner cannot get his farm machinery from one field to another. Gates have been left open and livestock has been scattered, often times ruining crops or even getting on the highways. Barns have been burned, fences have been cut or mashed down, creek, river and pond banks have been littered with cans, glass and trash. Livestock has been injured by stepping on or devouring this litter.

The result of this or these experiences has caused many areas to be closed to everyone.

Still other places where the slob has left his mark is in camping areas, where his trash and filth make it most difficult for anyone else to use the same site without having to first clean up the mess.

Slobs are sign and mailbox marksmen, they litter, destroy the landscape, cause wild fires, poach and generally disregard everyone's rights.

Now is the time that the masses should unite in an effort to SOS—"Stamp Out Slobs."

TRIPLE ELKHORN EMPLOYS NEW "HAULBACK" RECLAMATION METHOD

Trucks in "haulback" operation on Sugar Loaf Creek.

"Haulback" it's called, this new method of surface-mining, and it's a system which could go far to remove strip-mining from the dirty word category to which it has been relegated by many.

The Triple Elkhorn Mining Company, headed by Harry Hale Ranier, of Prestonsburg, converted to haulback, or back-hauling, in its Sugar Loaf operations, between Prestonsburg and Emma, three months ago. And the results have been so pleasing that the company expects to follow the same improved mining procedure in all future jobs.

"We had some pretty rough looking spots up there, but not since we began back-hauling," Paul Combs, reclamation supervisor for Triple Elkhorn, said last week. "Now, there's no high wall left and no overburden."

The haulback mining method was developed by the Grafton Coal Company in West Virginia, and a description of how it works is the subject of an article in COAL AGE magazine. Basically, says C. E. Compton, president of the West Virginia firm, it consists of hauling the overburden from the bench and back-filling the mined-out area immediately behind the operation. (Haulback is a modified form of the block-cut method which originated in Pennsylvania.)

Speaking for Triple Elkhorn, Mr. Combs agreed with Compton that the result is absolutely no spoil over the outslope and elimination of the ugly high-wall.

The West Virginia mining man claims the system can be effective in any terrain.

It was after Combs had read the COAL AGE article which describes the operation in detail that Ranier decided to try it.

A trial for the Floyd county firm meant the investment of $260,000 in two 45-ton end dumps (trucks), Triple Elkhorn's reclamation supervisor said.

"We figure it costs us at least an extra dollar a ton to mine coal this way, but this doesn't take into account the savings in bonds, restoration costs and damage suits."

Compton, the West Virginian who pioneered the haulback system, believes this may be "the mining method of the future in steep areas." He says mining and restoration are performed almost simultaneously and that water control is improved, the need for sedimentation ponds no longer existing and rapid runoff eliminated.

Chamber President Asks Involvement; Directors Selected

Ronald Frasure, president of the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, made a strong appeal Monday at the Chamber's annual election of directors for the entire county to get involved in the group's continuing effort to get new industrial plants for the county and to encourage those already located here.

Mr. Frasure emphasized the point that benefits from new industry are not confined to the community in which it is located but that they spill over to other communities.

Directors elected:

For one-year terms—Rex Ankrom, Edw. Music, Jess Stover, Estill Lee Carter, Lloyd Brown; two years—Mike Bankenship, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Burl Wells Spurlock, Eleanor Robinson, Wm. O. Goebel, Jr.; three years—Bill Smith, Tom Lafferty, Paul P. Hughes.

The front-wheel drive Subaru. Was it designed with the fuel shortage in mind?
It sure seems that way, doesn't it? Some Subaru owners have written the company claiming more than thirty miles per gallon.
On the average, the Subaru gets around twenty-five miles per gallon on regular.
The U.S. Bureau of Highways tells us the national average for gas mileage is about 13.5 per gallon. This means that Subaru, with its Quadrozonal Engine, gets almost twice the national average. And in some cases even more.
That's our story. How's your mileage these days? Stop in and fuel-test drive a Subaru.

B. F. Shepherd

Robert L. Shepherd

By HENRY P. SCALF

Bryson F. Shepherd, longtime resident of the Middle Creek and Licking River section, was born in 1841 on the Licking, son of David and Barbara Wadkins Shepherd. He was a colorful character. Somewhere and sometime he had the nickname "Flutterfoot" bestowed upon him. He carried it all his life. Flutterfoot served in the Confederate Army.

He was first married to Loueaster Salyers, daughter of William W. (Wee Willie) Salyers and Luquena Howard, daughter of John Howard and Nancy Camron. Twelve children were born to this union: Jackson, married first, Catherine Baldrige, second Mollie Shepherd; Luquena, married Harris Arnett; David, married Evaline Allen; William, never married; Sally, married Nero Howard; Barbara, married Felix

Allen; Martha, married Charles Howard; Mort, married Mollie Howard; Mary, married Leck Conley; Lewis, married Susan Watson; Phoebe, died as a child; Lula, married Lewis Collins.

Following the death of his wife Bryson remarried to Lucinda Reffett, and they became the parents of the late Robert (Bob) Shepherd, one of the most beloved members of the Kentucky Extension Service. At the time of the birth of Robert, his father was 75 years old. Robert, too, acquired a nickname: Newspapermen and his co-workers called him Green Thumb Shepherd because of his successful work in agronomy. He was associated with the Kentucky Extension Service at its Quicksand Experiment Station, at Jackson, where he died a few years ago.

ARC Okehs Grant To Health Council

Congressman Carl D. Perkins told The Times Monday that the Appalachian Regional Commission has approved a $24,896 grant to the Center for Comprehensive Health Systems Development for the staffing of the Big Sandy Health Planning Council.

The congressman said he is pleased with the ARC action, since it will provide a health planner, a secretary and support for a private consumer counsellor who will serve Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties.

Total cost of the program is $33,263, with local sources providing $8,367.

Transportation Secretary Billy Paxton has announced that a 13-mile section of the Daniel Boone Parkway was to open for traffic between Manchester and Big Creek Monday, June 17.

Street Repairs Work Is Slated To Start Monday, Firm Says

Mayor William O. Goebel, Jr. announced Tuesday that he has been assured the American General Contracting Company, contractors for South Central Bell, will begin next Monday the work of repairing streets damaged last year in the laying of underground telephone lines here.

The firm, the mayor said, has promised to take "extra care" to do a good repair job because of the long delay in getting it under way.

The delay resulted when the contractor was unable to find blacktop. South Central Bell offered to have the breaks in streets repaired with concrete, but it was found that concrete will not bond with existing blacktop.

Sykes is one of the three, along with Thompson, who were accused of carrying out the murder.

The third man, Willard (Woody) Christian, 25, testified in the earlier trials that he arranged the deal with Deskins. He said that he, Sykes and Thompson were at the Deskins's residence the night of the murder and Thompson carried out the actual killing, he said.

Both Sykes and Christian are currently in federal prisons on other charges.

Sykes is also charged with three other offenses which are on Monday's court docket, and which are "indirectly related" to the Deskins case, according to Pike Commonwealth Atty. John Paul Runyon.

The other charges are obstructing justice, unlawful imprisonment, along with Walter Hammershoy, an allegedly involved witness in the Deskins' case; and arson, with Leon Mullins and Billy James Mullins, in which a former home of Mrs. Deskins was burned prior to her death.

Trial of the murder charge against Marvin Gibson in the slaying last November at Mousie, Knott county, of Knott Deputy Sheriff Bristol Taylor has been transferred to Pike county on change of venue, and his trial is slated to begin Monday.

Famed Drama Set For ALC Showing

Admission to the play is free. “The Miracle Worker” is this season’s second production of ALC’s Appalachian Summer Theater.

Guard Unit Trains at Fort Polk

Prestonsburg Guardsmen on patrol during summer camp training.

Members of Detachment 1, Company B, 1st Bn. 149th Infantry (Mechanized), the newly organized Kentucky National Guard unit at Prestonsburg, attended their first annual summer camp at Fort Polk, Louisiana.

The Prestonsburg unit, whose commander is Lt. Robert L. Elam, is a detachment of company B located at London, Ky. Elam said that the infantry training received at camp was a good refresher course for the prior service men in the unit.

All of the men in the unit received 11B or light infantrymen training. In the 17-day stay at Fort Polk the men received 120 hours of infantry training. This is the same degree of infantry instruction that a regular Army infantryman receives in eight weeks. The training included courses such as mine detection, escape and evasion, land navigation, weapons familiarization and qualification, battlefield tactics, patrolling and use of the APC (armored personnel carrier).

Members of the Prestonsburg unit attending the summer camp at Fort Polk were Teddy Allen, Forest Amburgey, Ralph Anderson, Sensforco Baca, John Barker, Dannie Bryant, Lummie Click, Bill Collins, Charles Collins, Darrel Conley, Frankie Conn, Toby Craft, Michael Derosssett, James Estepp, Jimmy Fraley, Melvin Hall, Joe Holbrook, Charles Hyden, Lawson King, Jerry Moore, Julius Mulkey, Clarence Perry, Joe Ryan, Eddie Shepherd, Andrew Slone, Danny Tackett, Carl Trivett, Philip Tucker, Terry Webb, Kenneth Wills and Benjamin Wright.

Presently there are 60 men in the unit, with openings for 22 more. Any interested in becoming a member of the Kentucky National Guard should contact S-Sgt. Terry Webb at the Armory on South Lake Drive.

The Kentucky Department of Labor has cited July 1 as the deadline for the registration of carcinogens, cancer-producing chemicals, by the industries who use them. Kentucky is the first state to adopt a regulation requiring registration of cancer-producing chemicals. As of June 10 only two industries out of 50 had registered their chemicals with the department.

Appellate Court Ruling Curbs Strip Some Stripping Powers

The Court of Appeals moved away slightly last Friday from the doctrine that the broad form deed gives a strip miner almost unlimited power to extract coal by any method he wishes.

It said in a Pike county decision the mineral rights owner must exercise reason in his operation to avoid damage to the surface land as much as possible.

The broad form deed, a turn of the century document paving the way for strip and auger mining, repeatedly has been affirmed by the high court. The judges have held that the only claim for damages by a landowner against a mineral rights owner under the deed is if the miner causes damage by "oppressive, arbitrary, wanton or malicious action."

Last week's decision is mild departure. It says in essence a landowner can cite the law of nuisance in suing for damages—that he can contend the miner was unreasonable in his operations.

The case involved Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Charles, awarded $10,000 by Pike circuit court from Kentland-Elkhorn Coal Co. for damages from a coal preparation plant adjoining their land.

The high court reversed the verdict and sent the case back to the Pike court, but only because of what it called error in instructions to the jury.

One hint of the court's change in attitude about the broad from deed came in this comment by appellate commissioner Robert Cullen, who said in part:

"... Since this court has developed in the law of nuisances and the law of water rights a concept of unreasonable harm which he think would well be adapted to supply a measure of 'oppressiveness' in the law of mineral rights, we have concluded that the foregoing concept should and will be applied in the type of mineral right situation here involved, where there is complaint of unreasonableness in the matter of use of a method of mineral recovery."

Cullen said the phrasing about "arbitrary, wanton or malicious" action by a miner has been explored thoroughly, but that the word "oppressive" is not so well defined.

He indicated the concept of reasonableness should be part and acknowledged each issue of what constitutes oppression, and acknowledged each issue would have to be pinpointed under varying standards and factors.

"Our holding that the nuisance approach should be used in the type of case here presented has the effect of overruling (two previous decisions) to the extent that they hold that the mineral owner cannot be held liable to the surface owner for creating a nuisance," Cullen said.

He said evidence in the Pike county case shows the coal preparation plant cast coal dust over the Charles home, garden and a rental house "in excessive quantities such as to render the property practically uninhabitable."

He said there is evidence Kentland-Elkhorn "did not do all it reasonably could be expected to do to minimize the harm."

Five of the seven justices concurred in the opinion. A sixth, James Stephenson, of Pikeville, disagreed with the nuisance concept, saying the decision should be based on whether a mining operation is damaging anyone's improvements.

Medicare Premium Rates To Increase

Monthly premiums on the medical insurance part of Medicare will go up, beginning July 1.

The basic premium rate will go from $6.30 to $6.70 a month, according to Fred Reffett, social security manager in Prestonsburg.

The medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is funded by individual premiums and federal general revenues. The protection is offered automatically to people reaching 65 who are eligible for social security benefits—and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more.

"The Medicare law requires an annual review of the cost of the medical insurance program and adjustment of the monthly premium rate to cover the estimated medical expenses of Medicare patients," Reffett said.

The 40-cent increase in July is related to a rise in the cost of medical services and compares to a 50-cent increase in the medical insurance basic monthly premium rate in 1973, according to Reffett.

Medicare hospital insurance premiums must also be increased starting July 1. "The basic premium rates will go from $33 to $36 a month," Reffett said.

Hospital insurance protection is extended automatically, without premium charge, to people reaching 65 who are eligible for social security or railroad retirement benefits—and to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more.

"People 65 and over who aren't eligible for social security benefits can get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a monthly premium if they also sign up for the medical insurance," Reffett said.

The hospital insurance premium rate is based on the average monthly Medicare hospital insurance payment for patients who have the protection.

About 23 million people have one or both parts of Medicare. In 1973, the hospital insurance program paid $7.1 billion in benefits and the medical insurance program paid $2.5 billion.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. "People can get information about signing up for Medicare by calling, writing, or visiting any social security office," Reffett said. The Prestonsburg social security office is at North Lake Drive. The phone number is 886-8525.

The U. S. Department of Labor was created by a 1913 act of Congress as a Cabinet-level agency "to foster, promote and develop the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, to improve their working conditions, and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment."

Outstanding Educator

Dewey D. Lawson, son of Mrs. Dixie Lawson, of East McDowell, has been chosen an "Outstanding Secondary Educator of America" for 1974.

Nominated by their principals and superintendents earlier in the year, persons selected for this honor must have exemplified high professional and civic responsibilities.

Mr. Lawson, senior English teacher in the Wolfe county school system for the past seven years, was previously honored as Outstanding Educator for the school year 1970-'71. For these honors he will have his biography included in the awards volume, "Outstanding Secondary Educators of America."

Mr. Lawson is a 1963 graduate of McDowell High School and is married to the former Carolyn Browning. Both are employed in the Wolfe county school system for the coming school year, and both hold Master's degrees from Morehead State University.

Special Education Teachers and Aides In-Service Meet

The final inservice meeting of fiscal 1974 for special education teachers and aides under Title VI-B funded "Project Lead" was held June 7 at the Clark Elementary School. Reo Johns, executive director, ROPES Region 11, said that 35 special education teachers, aides, and homebound teachers, as well as eight other representatives of Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, and Paintsville school districts, attended the media workshop.

Nadine H. Hicks and June H. Stephens, of the Floyd county school system, were consultants for the workshop and assisted participants in making instructional materials for use in their classrooms. All supplies used in making the teacher aides were provided by Project Lead funds. Those attending the meeting also received a booklet of patterns and designs for their use in making instructional materials.

As a result of Title VI-B funding, special education units in Region 11 have received the services of a special education supervisor, inservice training, visitations to special education units in Huntington, supplemental reading programs, and the delivery of additional materials from the University of Kentucky Regional Special Education Instructional Materials Center. At present, there are 35 special education units in Region 11, but, according to Audrey Pratt, regional special education supervisor, there may be as many as 22 additional units for school year 1974-75. Services begun under Project Lead in fiscal 1974 will be continued and expanded with project funds for the next fiscal year.

Hicks Awarded AFROTC College Scholarship

Donald Derek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hicks, of West Prestonsburg, was recently presented a four-year college scholarship by Air Force ROTC in awards ceremonies at Prestonsburg High School. His scholarship will provide tuition, laboratory and incidental fees, a full textbook allowance, and $100.00 per month nontaxable during the school year for up to four years.

Derek plans to major in Agricultural Engineering at the University of Kentucky. Upon graduation from college and completion of Air Force ROTC, he will be commissioned a Second Lieutenant and enter the United States Air Force in a flying category.

Air Force ROTC offers approximately 1,000 full four-year scholarships annually based on national competition. Selection factors include high school academic excellence, leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in extracurricular and athletic activities, scores on college entrance tests, in addition to qualifying on an Air Force Flying medical examination and the Air Force Qualifying Test. The scholarship certificate was presented by Captain Warren R. Spencer, Air Force ROTC Admissions Counselor for the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Derek has also been awarded the one-thousand dollar Kentucky Farm Bureau Scholarship and the Floyd County Farm Bureau Scholarship. While a student at Prestonsburg High School, Derek was chosen as a member of the Society of Outstanding American High School Students, Who's Who Among American High School Students, Outstanding Senior at Prestonsburg High School 1973-74, and The National Honor Society. He is a member of the First United Methodist Church, of Prestonsburg.

New Laws Give PSC More Power

Frankfort, Ky.—The state Public Service Commission (PSC) is taking on some new authority this July when new laws dealing with electric power and sewage treatment take effect.

According to House Bill 438, passed by the 1974 Legislature, companies must obtain a certificate of environmental compatibility from the PSC before they can build power plants in Kentucky. The same goes for transmission lines of four million volts or more.

Before it can obtain that certificate, a utility must submit a statement of environmental compatibility to the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection and any local environmental control districts. That statement describes the impact that the power plant will have on its surroundings. Aesthetic impact, what it will do to the view, must be evaluated in requests for the large transmission lines.

After reviewing the impact statements, the environmental protection agencies will make recommendations to the PSC. And, after a public hearing, the commission will rule on the requests.

House Bill 76, also passed by the 1974 General assembly and effective Jan. 1, 1975, gives the PSC jurisdiction over private and commercial sewage treatment facilities. Richard Heman, Jr., secretary of the PSC, estimates that there are 300-500 such treatment plants in the state. Most of them serve subdivisions.

While treatment plants will need PSC approval to change rates or service, municipal sewage plants will not. They are exempt from PSC controls.

HOPE: Helping Our People Excel

By DIANA PETERS

HOPE Industries, Inc., a program of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, is planting seeds not only for mental health but also for employment opportunity and industry. The Mountain Comprehensive Care Center is one of 15 regional centers serving the mentally and emotionally ill operating under the guidance of the Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Health Services.

HOPE Industries is a private, non-profit organization formed by the regional mental health board to develop sheltered and semi-sheltered workshops for the mentally, physically and emotionally handicapped. The four letters of HOPE stand for Helping Our People Excel. It serves the same five-county area as does the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center—Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike.

HOPE Industries currently has 22 contracts, both private and commercial for lawn maintenance, collection, and baling of paper. Planned projects include paper re-cycling, an integrated food processing center, mountain arts and crafts, custodial services and landscaping.

David Wallen, forestry graduate and supervisor for HOPE's trainees is presently conducting a seasonal project—lawn maintenance. On October 15, Wallen and his crew will return to the reforestation project which originated April 1, 1974, planting seedlings on abandoned strip mine areas.

In March, the Kentucky Surface Mining and Reclamation Association gave HOPE Industries a special purpose grant of $8,000 to start a reforestation project and to be used for other development projects.

Wallen and a crew of four trainees planted more than 6,000 trees the first two weeks of April on a 4½-acre strip mine site located near the Martin-Johnson county line. Wallen clocked his crew several times and reported that under ideal conditions the trainees could plant nine trees per minute.

Supervisor Wallen also reported that during the 10-day project there was no tardiness or absenteeism. "Not only were the men enthusiastic, they were innovative," says Wallen. "Brian (Pop) Sammons and Tom Goble, the lead man, decided that the work would go faster if each man had a quota for incentive. They suggested being paid two cents for every tree planted above the quota."

Pleased with the progress of his six trainees and HOPE's projects, Wallen speaks with enthusiasm about both. He talks with each trainee's therapist and closest relative once a month to evaluate the progress of his men. According to Wallen, "the self-image and morale of each man has greatly improved since they started working."

DAVID WALLEN, HOPE supervisor

The trainees have both different and similar problems. Most of them did not finish school, some have physical impairments, and some have speech impediments.

Oldest of the trainees must care for two elderly parents.

The one problem common to all the trainees and occasionally even the able-bodied is the existing job shortage in the area. Eighteen-year-old Oran Adams, a graduate of Johnson Central High School and one of Wallen's original crew, summarizes the general attitude of all the trainees: "Nobody knows better than I do how it feels not to be able to get a job and how much better it feels to be doing something you like and getting paid for it."

Wallen, who worked with the successful greenhouse pilot project started by HOPE in 1972, says, "We learned from this experience and our reforestation project that the mentally and physically handicapped can learn several different skills, function well in many different work environments, and become independent wage earners. We also projected that similar pilot projects could become potential new industries for the five-county area."

Wallen feels that HOPE has successfully demonstrated to the merchants, officials, and citizens of the area the unlimited possibilities for upgrading the economy as well as providing many worthwhile services.

Telethon '74 Goal For County, $1712.40

Floyd county's goal for Telethon '74 is $1,712.40 local chairman Hershel Joseph, said this week. "We intend to make every effort to not only reach it but surpass it," he added.

"We want to show that this county believes in the Democratic Party and supports it, and I hope everyone who wants to make a pledge or a contribution will contact me as soon as possible."

Telethon '74 is the Democratic Party's nationally televised fund-raising program, which will be shown on CBS-TV from 9 p.m. June 29 to 6 p.m. (CDT) June 30, and will feature nationally-known television personalities and political figures.

It is the third annual such event for the party, and funds raised help to defray the party's expenses.

According to National Democratic Chairman Robert S. Strauss, the telethons raised about $4 million in each of the first two telecasts, and $7 million is the goal for Telethon '74.

State Telethon '74 Chairman, Mrs. Polly Vicars, Lexington, said two-thirds of the funds pledged before the start of the program and two-thirds less expenses, pledged during the telecast, will be returned to the State Democratic Party for use in Kentucky.

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK
Attorney General of Kentucky
The Kentucky General Assembly in 1972 passed a law providing that druggists may substitute a cheaper generic drug for a more expensive brand name drug if the Drug Formulary Council has determined that the two drugs are medically equivalent.

Consumer groups and members of the drug industry have argued for years over the issue of generic drugs versus brand name drugs. Consumer advocates contended that consumers were often paying up to 10 times as much for a brand name drug when a cheaper generic equivalent would do the same job.

Drug companies and doctors on the other hand contend that the generics were often not as medically effective therapeutically. The Kentucky law provides a compromise—it allows substitution, but only where the Drug Formulary Council, consisting primarily of health professionals, has determined that the generic drug is medically equivalent and where the doctor has not provided otherwise on the prescription.

The Council has now certified certain generic equivalents to be medically equivalent for one drug, ampicillin, and similar regulations for three other drugs have been filed with the Legislative Research Commission. These drugs are phenoxymethyl penicillin, erythromycin and penicillin G.

When you have a prescription involving ampicillin, or later involving the other three if the regulation is approved, you may ask your pharmacist to fill it with the cheapest generic equivalent and may save substantial sums of money.

Furthermore, you can always inquire of your doctor whether a drug he is prescribing has generic equivalents and whether or not he feels they will do the job even if the drug is not on the list. This can effectuate substantial savings that can be very important if you have large medicine bills and are on a limited budget.

For answers or suggestions to aid with consumer problems, Kentucky residents may call on the toll-free Consumer Hotline, 1-800-372-2960, or write the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Room 34, Capitol, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

HOT AIR VS. CLEAN AIR

To get clean air, it's a lot of hot air to suggest that today's stack gas scrubbers are the answer for major electric utilities.

Wet limestone scrubbers produce a by-product that clogs or corrodes the mechanism, causing shut downs. Insufficient reliability for a power plant.

They also produce a sludge of oozy gook ten times, by weight, greater than the sulfur they remove.

Applied to a 12,000 megawatt electric system they would, in just five years, spew so much of this almost-everlasting sludge it would cover 10 square miles to a depth of 5 feet.

To require the mass installation of this primitive, monstrously expensive, unproven technology on the nation's power plants would, in our view, create a national environmental tragedy and further feed the fires of inflation.

It is regrettable that workable technology doesn't exist.

Until it does, there is an alternate system that should be approved. It combines:

1. Tall chimney stacks to disperse emissions high in the atmosphere.

2. A sophisticated ground-level air monitoring system to assure constant air quality control.

It works.

We're using it.

It is the recommended plan of the Federal Power Commission, and the U.S. Government's own electric power system, the T.V.A.

There's still another solution.

Release the vast western reserves of low-sulfur coal being held by the Government.

With low-sulfur coal and workable, efficient, pollution-control devices America can have power plants clean enough to gladden the hearts of the most avid environmentalists.

And that's not hot air.

America has more coal than the Middle East has oil. Let's dig it!

A Plea for the Bullfrog

Boys, let's spare the bullfrogs this season! Our streams are dead enough as it is, what with the fish nearly all killed with poisonous acids from abandoned coal mines and drainage from oil wells and other chemical poisons. I'm sure no one wants our creeks and rivers to become as silent and dead as a graveyard. But that's the way we're heading. Kill out the bullfrogs and then go up a creek and listen! The very silence seems to stab one's heart awake and make him realize our planet is fast becoming a cold, dead ball of rock and poisonous streams.

I saw a piece some time back in the Journal where the writer highly recommended the sport of taking a light, a small gig, blinding the bullfrogs and filling up the knapsack with them; and how good they were served with hot biscuits. I was made sad to see this piece because the bullfrogs are nearly all gone now and if we keep on hunting them, there soon won't be any.

When I was a boy I loved to hear the wild chorus of bullfrog music; there would be hundreds of them making melody along the creek; some would sing bass and some treble; some had finer voices and could sing tenor; they would all engage in a lively songfest and answer one another; one big frog would boom out, "Juggerrum!" and another one in a tenor voice would answer him with "Come Under The Roo-oot!"

Some quacked and some bellowed like a pennyrill bull. I loved it all and called the bullfrog "my creekside chum." When a big King Rana bullfrog counts a log and bellows out his orders, all his subjects obey him, for they recognize him as the king.

A bullfrog's feelings are easily wounded, as I learned the hard way when I was a boy. I helped some boys hold a big bullfrog by the hind legs, while one of them whipped him with a keen willow switch to make him cry. That frog would cry just like a baby and beg us to stop! I never tried whipping him again.

But I did go bullfrogging with one of my uncles and that was the last. He lived on a small creek where there were plenty of bullfrogs in those days. I didn't think my uncle was cruel but he did some cruel things that night that seared my soul and made me resolve never to be cruel to any living creature. He said, "Let's go frogging," and we started up the creek. We heard a big bullfrog bellowing until you could have heard him a mile away. He was waking up the creekside and making the valley roar. My uncle ran and caught him. Then he made me hold him while he cut off his hams! He didn't kill the frog dead, but just set him down minus his legs. Soon there was a bloody puddle where the poor, legless frog was sitting. He couldn't move, couldn't hop! He just sat there bleeding, blinking his big bulging eyes. It made me half sick to look at him. We went on up the creek and caught some more bullfrogs. My uncle treated them all the same cruel way.

As we came back down, the big bullfrog was crying like a baby. In my boyish heart, I knew he was heartbroken because he had no hind legs. It smote me to the quick and I asked my uncle, "How long could you live if somebody cut off your legs like that?" He didn't say anything, but grunted.

We went on to the house. I couldn't sleep that night for thinking about that poor, suffering bullfrog. I got up in the night and went out. I still could hear that bullfrog crying. He cried all night, I suppose, until he died the next morning. I found him dead in a puddle of his own blood!

Later in life, I thought of the saying, "Man's inhumanity makes countless thousands mourn." Man's cruelty to the dumb animals makes them suffer, weep and mourn.

I never hunted another bullfrog after that horrifying experience! Rather I learned to love them and to listen for their sonorous boom. It splits the country solitude right down the middle and sets the pace for the march of spring. The big green bullfrog is the front drummer in the march of spring. He wakes up the violets along the creek bank and vibrates along the creek bank and vibrates the air and sends fire power into countryside.

I loved to play with the big pollywogs—the tadpoles of the bullfrog. They are large tadpoles, brownish, with flat tails like a rudder. It takes them about three years to develop into the adult bullfrog. Many herons, ducks and geese eat these big pollywogs, and so do the bass and other fish. But the female lays a great pancake of jelly containing multiplied thousands of eggs, and not all will reach mature bullfrogs.

The pollywogs soon develop two hind legs. After a year or so living like a fish, the tail is absorbed into the body and the lungs develop for living out of the water.

The bullfrog belongs to a class of animals called "tailless amphibians." They begin life in the water and then move out to live along the banks of the streams, or in swampy areas. They are highly useful animals. They help to clean up the streams. They devour mosquito larvae, giant water bugs that catch small fish, and many kinds of pests like flies and bugs. The bullfrog has a sticky tongue for snaring the insects it eats.

Let's spare the bullfrogs, boy! They enliven the countryside; they add zest to life in the country and keep the rural areas from being silent and dead like a graveyard. The bullfrog deserves better protection and less cruelty from hunters. This animal with a mouth as wide as a cave door, and big bulging eyes, and a dent in place called the "tympanum" on the side of his face, for use as ears, is loved by many people.

We attend rallies and social doings and loudly sing: "I love thy rocks and rills, thy woods and templed hills," but what do we do to keep some of the interesting creatures that live in those rocks and rills and enliven the templed hills?

Eleven From Area Are Inducted June 12

Eleven young men from the Floyd-Pike county area who enlisted in the U. S. Army recently were officially sworn in June 12 at the Hilton Inn, Lexington, by Captain Jerry L. Wallace, Commander of the Lexington recruiting zone. Names of those sworn in and the high schools which they attended follow: front row (left to right)—Grover Lowe, Johns Creek High; Larry Morris, Prestonsburg High. Second row—Emmit Gibson, Johns Creek High; William Springer, McDowell High; Michael Endicott, Prestonsburg High; Francis Bartlett, McDowell High. Third row—Charles Murdock, Prestonsburg High; Stephen Brackett, Prestonsburg High; Joel Broadhead, Belfry High; Leslie Balsler, Pikeville High, and Larry Miller, Prestonsburg High.

All eleven will undergo basic training together at Fort Knox, Kentucky as part of Eastern Kentucky's Bluegrass Platoon.

Opinions From Office Of Attorney General

Among opinions released last week from the office of Atty. Gen. Ed W. Hancock were the following:

In response to a question submitted by Mrs. Mary Laceyfield, of Lawrenceburg, Atty. Gen. Ed W. Hancock said that parents have a legal right to see the written records pertaining to their child which the school has on file. Hancock said there is no statute in Kentucky which requires school records to be kept confidential and the courts have held that parents have a common law right to inspect their child's school records.

Atty. Gen. Hancock, in reply to a question from Bob Lewis, sheriff of Franklin county, said that the Capital Plaza in Frankfort is not under the jurisdiction of the Franklin county sheriff, primarily because the statutory section cited is concerned with a place of entertainment operated outside the corporate limits of the city. Capital Plaza is within the city limits of Frankfort.

In response to Pat Tanner, Daviess county judge, Atty. Gen. Hancock said that certain election expenses may not be considered an expense of the office of the county clerk. The cost of all elections held in any county shall be allowed by the fiscal court and paid by county treasurer except as otherwise provided by law.

The U. S. Department of Labor's wide-ranging activities touch the lives of all Americans.

Joint Commission Accredits Hospital

The Paintsville Hospital has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), according to Dr. Paul B. Hall, president and administrator.

This accreditation, which covers from April 1974 to April 1976, is the result of an on-site survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program. Accreditation indicates that the hospital has chosen to operate according to standards set by JCAH and that the facility has, in the main, met these standards.

The Paintsville Hospital is one of approximately 4,900 general hospitals throughout the U. S. that have earned this recognition.

The Flood Insurance Program

By GEORGE K. BERNSTEIN
(Federal Insurance Administrator,
U. S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development)

Only slightly more than 20 percent of the country's flood prone communities have enrolled in the National Flood Insurance program since the National Flood Insurance Act was enacted in 1968.

Of 16,000 communities we have identified as flood prone, some 3,500 have signed up, offering protection from flood losses to about 330,000 property owners who took advantage of the Act to purchase insurance at federally subsidized rates.

This is a fairly good track record, considering that the Act had a basic flaw in it. Compliance under the Act was voluntary. The requirements for eligibility were simple enough. All a community had to do was to adopt a building permit system for new construction, and undertake some additional minimal land use measures to lessen the chances of property damage from future floods.

But under the original Act the community could exercise the option of declining to submit an application, thereby denying its residents the opportunity for flood insurance coverage.

That basic flaw has been corrected in the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973. True, a community may decide not to apply. But if it has been identified by HUD as flood prone it must enter the program by July 1, 1975, or else be disqualified from nearly all forms of federal financial assistance for building purposes in its designated areas of high risk.

Since individuals cannot purchase a policy until the community qualifies, owners of property located in these identified areas of such a community would be ineligible for FHA or VA mortgages, loans from the Small Business Administration, or loans from federally regulated or supervised banks and savings and loan institutions.

Similarly, the community itself could not qualify for a Federal grant for construction purposes in its hazardous areas.

As of today, some 12,000 communities we have identified as flood prone have not sent in their applications. We urge them to do so now.

The program has many advantages. The rates are low, and coverage has been broadened under the 1973 Act. Flood insurance up to $35,000 is available at subsidized rates for single family homes, and up to $100,000 for multi-family and non-residential dwellings. The contents are also insurable, up to $10,000 on homes and apartments and $100,000 on non-residential property, also at subsidized rates. For $50 a year, a homeowner can buy $20,000 of coverage.

There is no question that flood insurance is superior to federal disaster relief, which is at best a loan and must be paid back to the government. Also, the program offers long range benefits to the community by encouraging it to cut back on haphazard construction in dangerous areas and making more sensible use of available land.

A final word to the officials of those 12,000 communities: If you apply now, you will avoid the crunch which is certain to happen early next year as more slow moving communities act to meet the deadline.

"Fiddler on the Roof" Opens Wed., June 26

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Visitors at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park are provided with more than a good meal and a fine play, as there is also an enjoyable time awaiting guests at the Eastern Kentucky park with its rugged, woody setting.

Marcia Trisolino, of theater public relations, noted that rehearsal recently began for "Fiddler on the Roof."

Company enthusiasm for the June 26 opening of "Fiddler" is as bright as nearby flowers because it is a benefit performance for the Floyd County Rescue Squad. Aiding the rescue squad would be reason enough to see the summer's initial performance, for when there is an emergency of almost any nature in—and frequently out—of Floyd county, those who make up the skilled team are there to help.

But it is well known in theater circles around the country that the Jenny Wiley stage is one of the most sought after by players. Dr. Ernest Holbrook, President of the theater association, learned at conferences that seasoned performers will take a lesser role in a production just to be included in the Floyd county company.

Despite its woody setting, there is nothing rustic about the theater. Theater purists prefer good theater in a comfortable setting, and at the Eastern Kentucky park there are great bonuses. The stage is near Dewey Lake where the dock is undergoing remodeling, and almost within the shadow of massive May Lodge, made of sandstone and timber.

There are hiking and horseback riding trails, and an Olympic pool as well as the lodge pool. Area artists and

Bartley-Ardis Vows Said

The sanctuary of the Seventh Avenue Baptist Church, Huntington, W. Va., was illuminated with candlelight for the ceremony which united in marriage Patricia Gale Bartley and Barry Donald Ardis. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fleetwood Bartley, of Huntington, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Ardis of Lakewood, Colorado.

The vows of the double-ring ceremony were exchanged at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 14, with the Rev. Leo E. Oxley, pastor of the church, officiating.

Gary Marks was at the organ to play a program of nuptial music and to accompany the vocalist, Robert Barbour, who sang, "Turn Around, Look at Her," and "My Sweet Lady."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of sheer organza styled with a Victorian neckline and long, fitted sleeves accented with Schiffli embroidery and Venise lace trim on bodice, sleeves and ruffle hemline. Her mantilla veil of illusion fell from a crown headdress bordered with Venise lace trim.

Mrs. Teresa Foster, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a mint green dress styled with a flounced hem with Schiffli embroidery banding the waist, outlining the keyhole neckline and circling the shepherdess sleeves. She wore a wide brim hat of white straw with a matching color ribbon.

Miss Dora Atkinson, close friend of the bride was maid of honor. She wore an orchid dress identical to that of the matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Gail Effingham, Mrs. Linda Bondurant and Mrs. Trudy Elam. They wore matching gowns like the honor attendants' in rainbow colors.

Miss Kim Mellert was flower girl and Scot Mellert was ringbearer.

Jenny Boyles and Jenny Barrett were taperlighters.

Dave Boyles, close friend of the bride and groom, served as best man, and ushers for the ceremony were Wes Gore, Tracy Foster, Dwight Henderson and Gary Boyles.

A reception followed in the church Fellowship Hall. Assisting were Mrs. Ellen Hogsett, Dr. Ruth Wellman, Mrs.

Lean Spurlock, Mrs. Rosa Root, Janet Marks, Mrs. Patsy Hudson, Miss Sherry Quick, Mrs. Maxine Jenkins, Mrs. Shirley McCoy, and Clarence Lemley. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mellert served as master and mistress of ceremonies.
