

Floyd Gets Severance Fund O.K.

Recreation Marked With Solid Waste For Heavy Funding

Of the additional $800,000 approved last week by the advisory committee on coal severance tax funds for projects over Kentucky, a total of $311,052 was approved for Floyd county.

The largest single project-approval supplied $161,085 for Floyd recreational projects. County Judge Henry Stumbo said the funds will be used to establish mini-parks, a proposed park at the mouth of Sizemore on Left Beaver Creek and, hopefully, a major park in the Allen vicinity.

The county's solid waste project was allocated $137,050, and unexpected help on stream channelization at Martin and vicinity came when the advisory committee authorized $12,917 for that purpose. The solid waste project will involve landfill acquisition.

Judge Stumbo also announced this week receipt of five checks, each for $546.47, for as many fire departments in the county. The funds, made available by the Commissioner of Insurance, are to be spent on firefighting equipment. In the event equipment needs call for more money than this year's allocation, the funds may be held on deposit until additional funds are received.

Fire departments receiving funds and names of the chiefs of each department follow:

Auxier, Jack Music; Betsy Layne, James D. George; Maytown, Edward F. Robinson; Wayland, E. H. Morrison; Wheelwright, James Osborne; Allen, Ruben Stevens.

The severance tax money received is from the Coal Producing County Development Fund which is created by

Only the county and Wheelwright had as of this week released their plans for use of the funds.

Floyd county's $345,995 will be expended for these purposes, it was announced by County Judge Henry Stumbo:

Hearing Set May 19 In Death of Boy, 16

William Riley Collins, 18, is at liberty under $5,000 bond to appear here May 19 for a quarterly court hearing which will seek to ascertain the truth about the shotgun death, Monday of last week, of his 16-year-old brother, Kenneth Ray, at their parents' home on the Coldwater Branch of Middle Creek.

Collins was arrested by State Police Lt. Gary Rose and Ellis Ross and County Detective Sam Hale and was booked here on a charge of reckless homicide.

The death is enmeshed in a tangle of conflicting testimony, and Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said this week it will be closely investigated. Before his release under bond, young Collins told authorities he would submit to a polygraph test of the veracity of his version of the tragedy.

PCC Graduates Its 10th Class

Dr. Ellis F. Hartford, speaker at Prestonsburg Community College's 10th annual commencement exercises, advised the 95 students who gathered to receive degrees Sunday at the Jenny Wiley State Park amphitheatre that, although they may be eager to initiate changes in the existing educational system, change should be viewed cautiously and not necessarily equated with "progress."

Dr. Hartford, former vice-president for the University of Kentucky Community College System, traced the history of education in Kentucky and pointed to changes that have occurred, illustrating the fact that not all of the changes have been for the good.

Upon the completion of Dr. Hartford's address, Assistant Professor James A. Funkhouser presented the Faculty Assembly Service Award to Miss Burieta Gearheart, of The Bank Josephine, for her "outstanding contributions to Prestonsburg Community College."

The Great Teacher Award went to Professor John D. Sammons, of the Mathematics department, who for the third consecutive year was Teacher of the Year. Prof. Sammons was chosen because of his "effectiveness in classroom presentation, his fairness toward students, his genuine concern for students both in and out of the classroom, his friendly, warm personality, and his enthusiasm for life." Prof. Sammons is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Charlie Rowe, of East Point.

Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the college, made announcements of

Martin and Johnson Released by Court

Rape charges against Bradford Martin and Ricky Johnson were dismissed in quarterly court, April 29, when complaining witnesses were not present when the case was called for hearing. These witnesses did appear later, however, and they indicated the case will be taken to the next grand jury.

Tanzil Martin, who was arrested in the same case, remained in jail last week in default of bond.

William Riley Collins made two statements. He first signed an affidavit telling of being at the home of his parents, Roy and Rosie Collins, with his brother, Kenneth Ray, and older brother, Marvin, 25, and other brothers and sisters, Lois, 9, Dewayne, 12, Pauline, 3, and Rodney, 2, when they heard rocks being thrown onto the roof of the house. He, Kenneth and Marvin ran outside, and Collins said he and Kenneth saw an unidentified person run around the hill. After he and Marvin had decided to hide in the barn and maintain a watch, he said, Kenneth returned to the house to get a gun. He and Marvin were walking toward the barn, he added, when the gunshot was heard. He said he ran back to the house and found his brother on the floor, the shotgun beside him. He then called an ambulance.

special awards and changes in status among college personnel.

Named new faculty assembly chairman was Asst. Prof. Ronald L. Carter, succeeding Assoc. Prof. James A. Funkhouser. Promotions included those of Sandra D. Robertson from Librarian III to Librarian II, and James A. Funkhouser and John D. Sammons from Assistant Professors to Associate Professors with tenure in the Community College system.

Charles J. Isbell, associate professor and chairman of the Division of Biological Sciences at PCC, was granted sabbatical leave for the 1975-76 term.

Appointed by Governor Julian Carroll to serve on the PCC advisory board was Chester Smith, of Pikeville. Mr. Smith succeeds Curtis Clark, of Prestonsburg.

Announcement was made of the recent election by the PCC student body of Eddie Cooley, of Wayland, as president of the Student Congress for the 1975-76 academic year. Cooley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Cooley, will succeed William Keith Shannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shannon, of Prestonsburg.

Coal-Road Case Back in Court, Hearing Slated

The litigation between the Sterling Hamilton Coal Co., Inc. and Willard Johnson involving the use of a private road on Johnson's land for access to a stripmining operation on Mitchell Branch of Tinker Fork, Mud Creek was settled by agreed judgment, May 3, but Mitchell within a week claimed that Hamilton had violated the provisions of the agreement.

As a consequence, Special Judge Edward P. Hill, of Frankfort, will conduct a hearing here Friday on a motion by Johnson that Hamilton be held in contempt of court.

The May 3 agreed order ended the temporary restraining order granted by Judge Hill after a hearing of the original court action filed by Johnson. The plaintiff had alleged that the coal company had used his private passway to his home in order to reach its mining work farther up Mitchell Branch.

The contempt action contends that the coal company violated sections of the agreed order which provided that Hamilton would build an alternate access route to the mining operation and in no way traverse Johnson's property, and that the company's use of Johnson's road while the new route was being built would be consistent with its prior use, which was limited to automobiles and small trucks.

Johnson claims Hamilton ran a bulldozer over his road, the week following the signing of the agreed order.

The May 3 order provided that the coal firm would pay Johnson $1000 for incidental and esthetic damage to his property, for inconvenience and expenses; that Hamilton would build Johnson a new bridge, would repair it if it washed out or was damaged by flooding within two years and would replace his natural gas line, and that Johnson be paid not more than $200 for repair of a water line.

Three Highway Surfacing Jobs Let at $396,723

Secretary of Transportation John C. Roberts announced last Friday that the Bureau of Highways has awarded contracts totalling $396,723 to the East Kentucky Paving Corp., Grayson, for surfacing various roads in Floyd county.

One contract for $144,181 calls for blacktopping two roads: The old Paintsville road (KY 1428) from US 23 and KY 1428 here to the south end of the bridge over the Big Sandy at Cliff, a distance of approximately .6 mile; and the Midas-Goodloe road (KY 850) from KY 80 at Midas to KY 404 at Goodloe, a distance of approximately 7.6 miles.

Another contract in the amount of $86,006 calls for blacktopping the Lackey-Wayland-Beaver Gap Road (KY 7) from KY 80 to the Knott county line, a distance of 5.4 miles.

A third contract in the amount of $166,536 was awarded for blacktopping KY 7 from KY 80, near Hueysville, to the Magoffin county line, a distance of 4.9 miles.

Defendant, One Witness Called From U.S. Pens

The trial of Gene Salisbury on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Crit Butler was continued last Wednesday till the September criminal court term here. The continuance was made necessary, it was said, by the unavailability of a ballistics expert to testify for the Commonwealth.

The continuance virtually ended the May criminal session. But closing court orders prepared for the trial here June 2 of Robert Sykes, defendant in one of Pike county's most sensational murder cases.

Sykes' trial here, on change of venue from the Pike circuit court, will be the third growing out of the slaying of Mrs. Boone Deskins. The case was for months shrouded in mystery, but the woman's husband and William Eugene Thompson were later convicted of the slaying.

Preparations for the trial here included these orders made by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley:

1. A writ of habeas corpus to require the return here May 29 of the defendant from U. S. prison, Atlanta, Ga., where he is now a prisoner.
2. A second writ of habeas corpus to

Woman Nabbed On Rum Count

Two persons were arrested over the week-end on liquor possession charges and a vehicle was impounded by county law enforcement officials in the Corn Fork and Mud Creek sections of the county.

Lizzie Tackett, of the Tackett Branch of Mud Creek, was arrested near Grethel last Friday morning by Deputy Sheriff Danny Martin after 14 cases of beer, six fifths and 30 pints of whiskey were removed from her automobile. Martin, who observed the Tackett vehicle from a coal truck which he was driving, transferred from the truck to his patrol car which he had parked nearby and made the arrest. The deputy impounded the 1968 Chevrolet and arrested Mrs. Tackett on a second-offense liquor possession charge as well as on a charge of illegal transporting.

Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Darrell Bradley charged Bill Thompson, of the Sowder's Creek section, with possession of alcoholic beverages for purpose of sale after searching his car Saturday on Corn Fork. The officers recovered 13 cans of beer and a fifth of whiskey. Thompson was also booked at the county jail on charges of drunk driving and no operator's license.

Crowning of Festival Queen

Miss Benita Hamilton, 17-year-old McDowell high school senior, was named Music Festival Queen for 1975 at the conclusion of Saturday's annual festival parade here. Miss Hamilton, a daughter of Pay Hamilton, of East McDowell, and Mrs. Dorothy DeRossett, of Prestonsburg, is shown being crowned by last year's queen, Wheelwright's Susie Johnson.

In addition to the parade and crowning of the queen, the day was also highlighted by the mass performance of "My Old Kentucky Home," by the county's five high school bands, directed by Gus Kalos, Prestonsburg Community College Music Department head, and the exhibit of recreational vehicles and equipment on Court Street as part of the Prestonsburg Businessmen's Association's Outdoors Days.

This Town . . . That World

ON MOTHER'S DAY

Sunday was Mother's Day, with all its lovely sentiment. Many mothers were presented beautiful flowers. Some heard from their children words of appreciation and love that had lingered too long along the way. Others were thrilled just to hear from them.

Outside our kitchen window at a bird-feeder I witnessed the most striking Mother's Day scene that came my way. A male cardinal picked at the suet left there, and when his mate flew in from a nest somewhere near, he turned and gave her the morsel in his beak.

This was the mother bird in his household—I am told that cardinals mate for life—and this creature which is credited only with instinct, not with the power of reason, exhibited an affection and a gentleness that too seldom graces the lives and actions of us males who occasionally mumble the fine-sounding word and preen ourselves on our intelligence.

ELECTION REPORT

Unless I can get the candidates together, we're without a Poke Warden. According to my tally—and I insist on having the last word in this matter—the two wound up in a tie. If Watt and Lenna now will hold still for it, we will have them draw poke stalks, not straws, and the fellow who comes up with the short end can, in a word, forget it. Want a picture of this momentous drawing? We may be able to pull it off.

PLANT BEANS SHALLOW: Many farmers plant their soybeans too deep, note UK Extension agronomists. Soybeans should not be planted more than two inches deep. Placing the seed in moist soil is a good way to make sure the beans will come up quickly.

What Kind of Politics?

For the last three months I have been an announced candidate for the State Senate. Now, as the campaign nears its close, I have been informed by reliable sources that one of my opponents has prepared and intends to circulate a broadside based on my record from my previous term in the Senate.

My voting record has been public knowledge and public record since 1968. I have appeared before any group that wished to discuss it and ask me questions about it. It has been fully publicized.

If any candidate now wishes to make it an issue in the last week of this campaign—when I would have no chance to respond publicly in the newspapers—I can only assume that he intends to distort my record or take it out of context in some way to confuse the voters.

I am proud of my voting record. I voted for such bills as the black lung bill, increased teachers salaries, removing the sales tax from medicine and prescriptions, and a bill that would have required members of the General Assembly to disclose all their financial interests.

I received letters endorsing my voting record in the Senate from the Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corp., the Kentucky Medical Association, Prestonsburg Community College, the Kentucky Farm Bureau, the State Council of Independent Colleges and Universities, and the Kentucky Department of Mental Health.

I have tried to conduct this campaign fairly and honestly. I believe the voters are tired of the type of politics that operates after dark or after the last issue of a weekly newspaper has gone to press.

I sincerely hope that you—the voter—will ask yourself "what kind of politics?" when you see misinformation or misleading issues that only surface in the last week of a campaign, and that you will not vote to elect the type of politician we have read too much about in the past two years on the national level.

Only in Old Kentucky . . .

Nobody has been reported, as of this hour, as collapsing in shock at the decision last Friday of the Kentucky Court of Appeals which held unconstitutional the 1974 Kentucky statute which would have protected landowners from strip-mining under the so-called Broad Form Deed. For nobody expected anything better.

The state's highest court had earlier defeated an attempt undertaken by legal action to protect the owner of the surface, indicating that relief from the onerous, old instrument should be sought by legislation rather than by court action. But the legislation, finally enacted, is void, according to the court which acts under a national constitution which provides that citizens of the land are entitled to the pursuit of happiness and to the sanctity of their homes.

So the Broad Form Deed is alive and well in Kentucky, although in other states it has been outlawed. Legally, constitutionally outlawed in other states, but not in Kentucky.

But Kentuckians "must stick to their bargain," although the old deed conveyed coal which the grantors never dreamed would be removed from their land through the use of giant shovels which decapitate mountains, gnaw deep into the mountainsides, destroy timber, open the earth to erosion and choke streams with silt.

Those who have, or will in the future, lose their surface to stripmining under this deed should have some recourse at law to demand and get reimbursement of the taxes they have been forced to pay for so many years on property that is not really theirs. But that would require another century of legal battle, if it is even feasible.

Only one ray of encouragement remains for the owner of land whose mineral rights were conveyed under the old deed, and that has been provided by the leader of the Independent Coal Operators Association, Robert Holcomb, of Pikeville. Mr. Holcomb is quoted as saying that his association has been opposed to the taking of property under the Broad Form deed and as expressing the hope that some way will be found to protect the surface-owner.

This coal man recognizes an inherent right of people. And that apparently is more than the courts recognize.

Questioned further after other members of the family had made statements, Collins signed a second statement which runs to this effect:

On May 5, about 10 p.m., rocks striking the roof of the house were heard. He and Kenneth ran outside, then he (William Riley) ran back into the house and got the shotgun. "I heard Kenny say, "Hurry up, Riley," he recalled. On leaving the bedroom, he explained, "I must have hit it (the gun) against the wall. The gun went off and I saw Kenny fall." He added that he then called the telephone operator and asked for an ambulance.

Collins admitted that he and his brother had had an argument about two hours earlier over a water bucket but said they were not angry at the time of the shooting. "That was even before we went fishing," he said in his statement. The charge of the shotgun, known locally as a "punkinball" tore into Kenneth Collins' head at short range, and he died instantly.

Marvin Ray, the older brother, told of the argument between William Riley and Kenneth about a water bucket and Kenneth's "going to school in the morning." He said that while he was sitting in the living room he heard his brothers in the hallway, wrestling and cursing each other. Hearing rocks striking the roof a few minutes later, he said, he went to the barn with William Riley whom he soon sent back to the house for a gun. About two minutes later, he said, he heard the shot, returned to find his brother's body and William Riley "over top of him, crying."

Marvin Ray admitted that he told other members of the family to say that Kenneth had fallen while running on the wet floor and the shotgun was accidentally discharged.

Valerie Crum, 20, who reportedly was staying with the family while Mr. and Mrs. Collins were away from home, said Marvin Ray Collins told her to say his brother fell on the wet floor and that the gun "went off." She told of hearing an argument about school and about drawing a bucket of water and of hearing the shot, about 30 minutes later. She said she did not hear rocks striking the roof.

Nine-year-old Lois said her brothers, Riley and Kenny, got into a fight, out by the well. She said she was in a bedroom with Valerie Crum when the shot was heard, about 10 minutes later. She also said she heard no rocks.

Surviving the victim, besides his parents, are three brothers and four sisters, Marvin, William Riley and Dewayne, Mrs. Alice Faye Prater, Mrs. Linda McKenzie and Lois Collins, all of the Middle Creek section, and Mrs. Edith Slone, Warsaw, Indiana.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. last Thursday from the Dotson Pentecostal Church, and burial was made in the Prater cemetery on the Middle Creek road, the Highlands Funeral Home directing.

$1.5 Million To Help Students

An allocation of $1.5 million in surplus funds to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) will assist more than 3,000 Kentucky college students during the 1975-'76 academic year.

The allocation, announced by Gov. Julian Carroll Wednesday, will pour an additional $1 million into the state Student Incentive Grant Program (SSIGP) and implement the state Tuition Grants Program (STGP) with $500,000. "These funds will help preserve for the 1975-'76 academic year diverse educational opportunities now available in the Commonwealth by making it possible for students to choose the institution and academic or training program they wish," Carroll said.

Paul Borden, executive secretary of KHEAA, says that the state funds to the SSIGP will be added to $250,000 in federal funds and provide approximately 3,600 grants averaging $350 per grant to Kentucky students. Last year 1,600 grants were issued.

To be eligible a student must submit a parental income statement with his application. A mathematical formula is then applied to the statement to determine how much a parent is able to contribute to the student's education. Distribution of the grants will be based on the parent's ability to contribute.

The student must be a Kentucky resident and enrolled full-time in an accredited Kentucky institution. The school may be private or public and includes colleges, universities, vocational technical school, hospital schools of nursing or proprietary business schools.

Borden said that the grants will range from $200-$1,000 depending on need and cost of the institution. He estimates that 800 students will receive grants averaging $625 through the program.

No-Fault Insurance Forms Cause Confusion

Many Kentuckians now receiving forms from their insurance companies are having trouble filling them out, according to Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey.

McGuffey said the forms, which are being distributed by auto insurance companies who do business in Kentucky, are to be used by those who wish to reject no-fault auto insurance coverage. But apparently, he says, many policyholders are confused about how to complete them—incorrectly completed forms are being received by the Kentucky Department of Insurance.

Those who have trouble with the form, or questions about no-fault insurance, should contact their insurance agent, attorney or the department, McGuffey said.

The purpose of the new law, enacted in the last session of the legislature, is to assure fast and automatic insurance payments to persons who are entitled to no-fault benefits and who are injured in Kentucky traffic accidents. It takes effect July 1.

No-fault payments will be made by the company insuring the auto in which the injured persons were riding, regardless of who caused the accident, hence the name, no-fault.

Under the new law, if you are entitled to no-fault protection and are injured, your insurance payments will be made within 30 days.

The law requires that when you register your vehicle, you must continue to carry basic auto liability protection in the amount of $10,000-$20,000 for injuries and $5,000 for property damage. And, unless you reject it, you must have a minimum of $10,000 basic no-fault benefits.

If you already have an automobile liability policy, it will be automatically changed by your insurance company to include the basic no-fault personal injury coverage.

Note, however, that in order to get this coverage, your right to sue will be limited in case of a minor injury. If you do not want this lawsuit limitation, you have the option to reject no-fault benefits.

If you decide to reject the lawsuit limitations, your rejection must be in writing on the form. If you don't receive a form, you can obtain one from your insurance agent, company or the Kentucky Department of Insurance.

A 10 per cent reduction will be reflected in bodily injury liability rates in the first year, if all members of a family accept the lawsuit limitation.

Under the no-fault law, you will be allowed to sue when medical and rehabilitation expenses exceed $1,000 or if there has been death, permanent disfigurement, a fracture of a weight-bearing bone, a compound or comminuted or displaced or compressed fracture, a loss of a body member, permanent injury with reasonable medical probability or permanent loss of bodily function.

The purpose of the limitation on lawsuits, often called "threshold," is to provide a reasonable and fair means to take the vast number of minor suits out of the court system. McGuffey said an informational program on no-fault will be aired by Kentucky Educational Television stations on June 9.

Agency Stresses Water Safety

FRANKFORT, Ky.—A tight knot of concerned people gather around the water's edge as rescue workers go about their sad task of tending to the victims.

Every summer the scene is repeated at lakes and rivers all across the country. It need not happen.

"Nearly all recreational accidents are preventable. And all it takes is certain basic precautions and the consciousness that one must be prepared if a hazardous situation develops," said Kentucky Division of Water Enforcement Director Doug Shoulders.

The state's water enforcement agency operates on the premise that education is the best means of reducing fatalities. Shoulders believes that teaching young people in high schools and middle schools is one of the single most effective means of instructing all boaters.

He notes that the middle school students are especially observant of their parents' boating habits and do not hesitate to tell them when they are doing something unsafe. They don't forget their safety lessons—or let their families forget.

During the past winter, Shoulders reports, officers in the division conducted water safety presentations in more than 200 schools in Kentucky. They gave slide shows, lectured, and held question and answer sessions. Altogether they reached some 90,000 students, most of them in the middle grades.

"In the past two years, such off-season teaching has become one of our most important safety activities," Shoulders said.

The officers who taught the classes are now back on patrol on Kentucky's rivers and lakes, and will be until winter comes again.

The state agency is working closely with the U.S. Coast Guard, the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. The Coast Guard Auxiliary, a volunteer group working on an educational branch, has been doing invaluable work for boating enthusiasts in Kentucky, according to Shoulders. Through their courtesy motor boat examination program, the auxiliary runs a free inspection check for boat owners to see that a craft, and all its equipment, is safe and in compliance with the law.

The Corps of Engineers also cooperates and works closely with the state organization in planning safety programs. In addition to building the many facilities on Kentucky's waterways (except for Kentucky Lake, which was built and is managed by the Tennessee Valley Authority), they also act as resource managers of the installations.

An example of the cooperation between agencies is their sharing of various management functions on the state's larger lakes. For example, when an area of a lake is deemed dangerous or otherwise undesirable for particular activities, the Corps places and maintains marker buoys; the state Division of Water Enforcement patrols the area; and if it is a navigable river, the Coast Guard marks and supervises navigation channels.

County Rural Road Program Gets $335,964

Governor Julian M. Carroll and Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts last Friday announced the 1975-76 Rural Secondary Program for Floyd county. The county's anticipated share of Rural Secondary funds for the year beginning July 1 is $335,964.

The program selected provides maintenance for 109.7 miles of rural secondary roads. It also authorizes blacktop resurfacing for 3 miles of KY 777, the Maytown-Garrett road, and 4.6 miles of KY 680, the East McDowell-Mud Creek road.

The Rural Secondary Program is supported by two cents of the Commonwealth's motor fuel tax. It originated in 1948 when the General Assembly recognized the need to improve farm-to-market and other rural roads.

Court Backs Middle Creek Stream Work

Flood protection and repair of roads and bridges claimed much of the attention of the Floyd fiscal court at its Saturday meeting.

County Attorney James R. Allen read to the court a letter received by County Judge Stumbo from Congressman Carl D. Perkins and a communication from the Corps of Engineers which discussed the possibility of protection against flood for the new village in the vicinity of the Clark School on Middle Creek.

Flooding there has not only caused damage to homes and grounds but also has resulted in severe stream bank erosion.

The Corps of Engineers wrote Congressman Perkins that it already has made a field investigation of the proposed project. It indicated an interest in the improvement but pointed out that a prerequisite is a letter from the fiscal court assuring its cooperation in such a venture and expressing its intent to serve as the local sponsoring agency. Sponsorship would involve acquisition by the court of rights-of-way and an agreement to maintain the stream protection project, once it is completed.

The court adopted a resolution to comply with this requirement.

The court was told by Dan Rowland, who represented 10 Bull Creek landowners, of the flooding situation there which was ascribed to excessive strip-mining, and it was pointed out that the community suffers from rising water when only .44 of an inch of rain has fallen. The court authorized the county attorney to prepare a resolution suggesting dredging of the stream and possible road reconstruction.

Jim Ratcliff, coordinator of Prestonsburg Community College's Community Services Program, asked $2,500 as Floyd county's part of the $15-$16,000 needed from counties of the area for the Basic Education of the Blind program at the college. The court suggested time for a study but noted that Floyd county has 47 blind persons.

The court moved toward acquisition of a second solid waste landfill when it voted to consider the possible purchase of a site on Pitts Fork of Spurlock Fork, Middle Creek, from Ronald Frasure. The price may not exceed $12,500, the court specified. The site also must be acceptable to state health and environmental officials before its purchase.

A delegation from Eastern was told the court will work with the state on the possible construction of a new low-water bridge across Right Beaver Creek there.

Judge Stumbo was authorized to enter into an agreement with Geisler-Rhodes and Associates, Lexington, to make a foundation investigation of the proposed courthouse annex. In other action the court:

Designated Judge Stumbo, County Attorney Allen and Sam H. Fitzpatrick, county road foreman, to inspect the Bear Hollow road where repairs have been urged.

Designated the same three to determine needs of the Wolf Branch road on Buffalo and to ascertain the right-of-way needed.

Informed a Dwale delegation that a road project has already been set up for that vicinity.

Named Magistrate Bill Wells and Sam H. Fitzpatrick to visit Caney Fork of Middle Creek to determine road and bridge needs.

Employed Danny Hall, of Betsy Layne, for two months at a salary of $100 a month for the county's recreation program; employed Larry Stewart as truck driver with the county road department and rehired Phineas Roberts for the same department.

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

More Foods From Nature's Bounty

WILD GARLIC . . . A worldwide food shortage is predicted for the not-too-distant future, so it behooves us to learn all we can about the many "free foods" to be obtained from Nature's store, and to learn how to eat them and like them. Wild garlic has saved many travellers in the wilds from starvation. Take the great city of Chicago, and it owes its name to the Indian name for wild garlic, which is ci-ga-ga. Say this word aloud and it sounds precisely like the name, Chicago. It happened on this wise: Near the spot where the big city now stands, Father Marquette, the redoubtable explorer and Jesuit missionary, with his Indian guides once camped. They had just made a toilsome trek through the uncharted wilderness. On this trek their lives were saved from starvation by eating wild garlic. Out of gratitude, they named their campsite "ci-ga-ga," which was later to become the city, Chicago.

In our region there is enough wild garlic, if it were more generally used as food, to chase every flu virus across the ocean—or wherever a scared virus goes. Instead of despising wild garlic for springing up in pastures and causing the cows which eat it to give unpalatable milk, we should learn to eat it and admire it for its great virtues, both as a food and medicine. In the Tri-State, wild garlic often forms large patches in fields, meadows and along streams of open woods. The sure way to tell wild garlic from wild onions is to look at the stems. The stems or blades of wild garlic are slender, rounded, hollow, while those of wild onions are flat and grasslike.

All parts of wild garlic are edible—the roots, blades and bulbs. If you can learn to eat it and like it, it will promote good health, prevents colds and flu and help bronchial disorders. The roots, bulbs and tops may be sliced and added to meats while cooking. To make powerful food and tonic that will prevent all kinds of germ disorders: Dig the roots and bulbs, grind them up fine when dried, and mix with salt.

Wild garlic was widely used by the Indians, both as food and medicine. They seasoned their meats with it, and also used it as a cure for asthma and bronchitis. They wore a string of garlic bulbs around the neck to keep from contracting contagious diseases, such as diphtheria and flu. In his NATURAL HISTORY, Pliny lists 61 disorders which may be helped by wild garlic. In other times, garlic was used to cure scurvy and to expel intestinal worms. It is related how in the Sixteenth Century family doctors carried cloves of garlic in their pockets when treating contagious diseases.

Wild garlic remains green over the winter; you'll find it growing in patches in different habitats. Let's all join in and eat the wild garlic of our region, so there won't be any left to taint the cows' milk.

THE COMMON PLANTAIN OF OUR REGION. This is one of the most nutritious greens known. The leaves are large, rounded, parallel veined and are rich in the calcium that is so necessary for the elderly to keep the bones strong. Plantain is also rich in Vitamins A and C.

For a good mess of greens, mix black-berry leaves with plantain; or wild mustard, if obtainable. Cook with a piece of fat bacon. The plantain should be picked when young and tender, as older leaves tend to get tough. Plantain was used in medicine in Shakespeare's time. In 1640, Lord Culpepper wrote: "All plantains are good herbs to heal wounds and old sores. Plantain juice mixed with oil of roses relieves heat prostration."

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

By JOHN WILSON

We're right in the middle of what is usually the best fishing time of the year in Kentucky—particularly for many anglers' favorite pan fish, the crappie. And as a pan fish, the crappie is hard to beat fresh from the frying pan and served with hush puppies and cole slaw.

But if that fresh fish dinner doesn't live up to your expectations, don't be too quick to blame the cook. Chances are you (or whoever caught the fish) are responsible for "strong" tasting or watery fish.

Probably more fish are spoiled by improper handling between the time they're pulled from the water to the time they're brought to the kitchen than are ruined by improper cooking. To assure a tasty fish dinner, the fisherman should handle this catch with its ultimate destination—the frying pan—in mind.

First, the fish should be kept alive until they are ready to be cleaned. On boats equipped with live wells, this is usually no problem, but make sure that the well will retain water when the boat is running at speed. If the well is above the water surface while the boat is planing, it will drain and leave the fish inside high and dry.

If you use a stringer, string the fish through both lips rather than through the gills, and don't drag them through the water while motoring from place to place. Wrapping the fish in a damp cloth will allow them to survive fairly short periods out of water, but if a long boat ride is necessary, it's best to put the fish in an ice chest or to "field dress" them by removing the intestines and gills and wrapping them in damp cloths. Any fish that die before the trip is over should be treated the same way.

Never keep dead fish, cleaned or uncleaned, in water. This makes the fish flabby and watery. If you transport your fish in an ice chest, protect them from the melted ice by placing them in some kind of a container or in a sealed plastic bag.

Back at the dock, the fish must, of course, be cleaned and the method used can sometimes have an influence on how the fish taste. Most of the strong flavor or "fishy" taste is concentrated in the skin, bones, or kidney. Filleting removes all three sources of strong flavor and is thus advisable for those who don't like their fish strong or bony.

Fish are at their best if cooked as soon as possible, but if properly frozen, they can be kept for several months with very little loss in flavor. A handy way to freeze fish is to immerse them in a container of water (leave at least a half-inch space to allow for expansion) and freeze. Most ice-cube tray compartments of refrigerators are unsuitable for long-term storage of fish, since they do not maintain the near-zero temperatures required to completely prevent changes in flavor or texture.

SOVIET UNION EXPLODES UNDERGROUND NUCLEAR DEVICE

EXPERIENCE COUNTS

For four years, from 1968 to 1972, I was State Senator for the 29th District. That experience to me was invaluable as I came to know so many people throughout the area, the needs of our Eastern Kentucky region, how the state (and national) governments work, the people in Frankfort (and Washington) that can help us, and how that help can best be gotten.

Now, I am seeking this office again. I believe the experience I gained in those four years qualifies me to ask for your vote and support for the following reasons.

SEVERANCE TAX

How much money, IF ANY, will be returned to coal-producing counties from the severance tax in the next four years? This is a question vital to Eastern Kentucky and will be a major issue in the next legislature. The only three Eastern Kentuckians to hold leadership posts in the last Legislature—Rep. W. J. "Bill" Reynolds, Floyd County; Rep. Terry McBrayer, Greenup County; and Sen. Joe Stacy, Morgan County—are not seeking re-election. The incumbent Senator from this district is not seeking re-election. If we are to get the money we need from our coal, to use where we need to use it, I believe we also need a Senator with experience, who knows and has worked with Gov. Julian Carroll as I have in the past, and who knows and has worked with many of the other Senators and Representatives who will be voting on this issue.

FEDERAL PROGRAMS

In the Senate, I was privileged to work for four years with then-Senators Walter "Dee" Huddleston, now U.S. Senator; Romano "Ron" Mazzoli, now third District Congressman; and Carroll Hubbard, now first District Congressman. Our other U.S. Senator, Wendell Ford was then Lt. Governor and President of the Senate. Because of this relationship, I know these men, both personally and politically, as well as I do our own Seventh District Congressman Carl Perkins. I can and will work with these officials in Washington to help this district.

ROADS

I am aware that it sometimes takes years to get approval to build a road. As a Senator (and since that time) I made countless trips to Frankfort with delegations from this district to get approval on streets, roads, highways and bridges for this district. I was working for Ky. 80 in both the 1968 and 1970 legislatures, as were others in both the House and Senate. Now that engineering contracts have been awarded and work begun on this road, I believe your next Senator should be working for approval of the roads we will need for our future growth. This I will do.

EDUCATION

In my last term, I was a member of the Senate Standing Committee on Education, and named Chairman of the Special Committee on Education. I am fully aware of the problems faced by our school systems, teachers and administrators. I also know that one Senator, working alone, cannot pass any bills or raise any salaries. It requires a majority of 38 senators and 100 representatives plus the cooperation of the Governor. I believe my past experience qualifies me to obtain the support needed to help bring our educational programs, budgets and salaries in line with the rest of the nation and I will work honestly toward that goal.

Bribery Charges Lodged Against Mine Inspector

A preliminary hearing May 7 was set today (Wednesday) for a federal mine inspector charged with soliciting a bribe. Bond for Frank E. Colette, 46, of Hazard, was set at $5,000. At the May 7 hearing before U. S. Magistrate David Irwin in Lexington, Colette was informed of the charges against him, three allegations of soliciting and accepting bribes from a Wolfe county coal company. The complaint against Colette was accompanied by affidavits from Ray Tyra, foreman of Drake Coal Co., Sandy Ridge Road, Wolfe county, and Edward Drake, owner of the company. The affidavits charged Colette had received three separate payments of $300 each between Feb. 21 and April 2. The warrant, issued by Irwin on the basis of the affidavits, charged that Colette while acting as a mine inspector "directly or indirectly corruptly asked, demanded, executed, solicited, sought to actively receive and agreed to receive something of value for himself or for other person or entity in return for:

1. "Being influenced in his performance of an official act or
2. "Being influenced to commit or aid in committing or to collude in, or allow, any fraud or make opportunity for commission of any fraud on the United States
3. "Being induced to do or omit to do any act in violation of official duty."

The warrant further set out that on Feb. 14 Colette and Robert H. Fine wrote up 12 violations of federal mine safety law against Drake Coal Co. Tyra and Drake charged in the affidavits that Colette returned a week later and asked for payment of $300 per month to him "to take care of the violations." He was paid a total of $900, the Drake officials alleged. The warrant charged that of the violations written up on Feb. 14, six were terminated by Colette on March 3 and four on March 31, one fraudulently. Colette, who told Irwin he has been a federal mine inspector for about three years, said his annual salary is $18,000. Federal bribery statutes carry a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and/or a fine equal to three times the amount of the alleged bribe, or $20,000 whichever is greater.

Miss Janice Bailey donated an attractive relish tray. Enjoying the birthday cake with Mrs. Prater were Ronda Rowe, Sidney E. Bailey, Randall Scarberry, Marcella Bailey, Barbara Scarberry and son, Eddie, Mitchell Prater, Jackie Prater, Mitchell Prater, Jr. Eugenia Lynn Prater, Martin Bernard Frasure, Janie Bailey, Johnny Beavers, Charlotte Harmon, Michelle Harmon. Capt. Jerry R. Brewster and Sgt. Major Richard J. Devon, of the U. S. Marine Corps, Charleston, W. Va., stopped by Marcella's Kountry Kitchen May 6 and discussed plans with Marcella for Floyd county's sixth annual Red, White and Blue Day to be held in Prestonsburg, Saturday, Oct. 25. They offered her encouragement, and plan to play a big part, seeing the great need, as she does, that everyone needs to get behind the idea and show their great love for America by participating in this event.

Dept. of Commerce Explains Industrial Site Services

Three Kentucky Department of Commerce representatives met last week with members of a special legislative committee to explain the services they can offer toward development of industrial sites in Eastern Kentucky.

Appearing before the committee that rules on coal-producing counties' proposals for spending their shares of the state severance tax were Lyle Cobb, director of the commerce department's community services division, John Griggs and Earl Kerrick, development representatives.

The commerce department assists and advises local groups in evaluating and developing property for industrial sites, Cobb said, adding that industrial development is "strictly a community effort."

Kerrick said the department has field specialists to determine if certain sites have the physical characteristics necessary for industrial development.

Griggs noted that the department's efforts have recently stepped up in several coal-producing counties. "We've met with the local people," he said, "and are telling them now is the time to take the lead."

At the request of one committee member, Rep. Glenn Freeman, D-Cumberland, the three representatives agreed to meet next week with Harlan county officials to plan industrial development there.

Noting that local communities lack the expertise to find industrial sites, Freeman said that most of the counties' severance tax funds had been committed to recreational rather than industrial projects.

A 1974 legislation provides for one-half of the surplus coal severance tax to be returned to the coal-producing counties for developmental projects. Since enactment of the legislation, the committee reported that $3,656,128 had been allocated for specific projects.

In other action, the committee approved projects totaling $838,982.78. The projects are as follows:

—Bell county—$20,000 for Pineville mini-park;
—Butler county—$6,918.39 for county park;

—Floyd county—$161,085 for county recreation program; $137,050 for solid waste project; $12,917 for channelization project;

—Harlan county—$25,000 for recreation project; $20,248.39 for playground and softball field at the Verda School;

—Hopkins county—$100,000 for Dawson Springs industrial site preparation;

—Letcher county—$65,000 for Skyview recreation project; $32,400 for Cowan Community Center; $2,000 for purchase of garbage truck; $30,000 for Whitesburg Airport improvements;

—Muhlenberg county—$35,000 for opportunity center; $100,000 for Westside ball park; $33,550 for Breman community park;

—Whitley county—$48,814 for Mid Springs community park; $9,000 for rehabilitation center.

Several Revisions Proposed To Reclamation Regulations

FRANKFORT, Ky.—It'll be a new day in Kentucky if proposed revisions to state reclamation regulations are adopted.

But, before adoption, they will be presented at a public hearing scheduled for 10 a.m., May 20, in the Health Services Building auditorium in Frankfort. Comments made at that hearing will be taken into consideration before the final regulations are drafted and adopted.

Most revisions to the regulations are aimed at reducing landslides or erosion and at improving revegetation of surface mined areas.

Changes dealing with coal mine access roads are aimed at reducing erosion by calling for more flat spaces along the slope of an access road. Also, pipes placed along the side of the access roads to drain rain must be more closely spaced.

The strip mine grading regulation also is being restructured for better control of the amount of material which may be pushed over the outslope of a mountain. If the new regulations are adopted, beginning July 1, not more than 40 per cent of the material may be pushed over the outslope.

Also, the maximum width of the solid bench, as well as the total bench (the flat area where mining is progressing), is now limited by the slope of the mountain. Previously, the width of the solid bench was not regulated.

What the bench width change boils down to is a reduction in the amount of spoil which can be pushed over the outslope and leveled off to form more bench. For instance, under the old regulations, an operation on a 22 degree slope could maintain a bench width of 130 feet. Any amount of that could be made of fill material pushed over the outslope. With the new regulations, the same operation could have a bench width not exceeding 105 feet. And, 80 feet of that must be solid ground. Only 25 feet of the bench could be fill material. Also, the steeper the slope, the less material will be allowed over the outslope.

Still another change reduced from 1500 feet to 1000 feet the distance an operator can mine before grading.

Reverse grading—slanting the bench so water will drain down the slope—is being required by the new regulations. Previously, the state required an opposite method. Miners were to drain the water back toward the highway then run it off in a ditch. However, that method contributed to landslides.

Other changes deal with scalping or removing trees and debris from a mining area. One change requires scalping of all timber and debris before an area is stripped. In the past, timber in the spoil material that was pushed over an out-slope caused landslides.

Another change limits the distance scalping is allowed below the mining area. It will not be allowed further than 70 feet below the operation. The limit in steep slopes will be 50 feet.

A new regulation setting minimum criteria for water impoundments will have most impact in western Kentucky. In the past, some miners in that area left their cut virtually unreclaimed. They were able to do that because they called it a water impoundment, for which the state had not set standards.

The new regulations limit the amount of high wall which may be left at a water impoundment to 25 feet. The width of an impoundment must be at least four times the height of the highwall.

Miners must request approval for a water impoundment in writing before the last cut is begun. Fencing of highwalls bordering impoundments is required if they are within 200 feet of a property line or if they might endanger the public.

Changes in vegetation requirements place more emphasis on results than on step-by-step procedures. Many details previously left to the discretion of a reclamation inspector are being spelled out.

The proposed regulations call for stabilizing reclaimed and at a pH level of 5.5 or higher before any portion of the bond will be released. Previously, the stabilization at a specified pH level wasn't required for bond release.

On areas approved for grasses and legumes only, higher pH and fertilizer requirements, as well as better vegetative ground cover, will be required for bond release. Much will be required on certain critical areas. Detailed planting reports must also be submitted to the division before bond will be released.

Council To Honor Veteran Educator

MR. RATLIFF

The Jenny Wiley Reading Council members will meet at the Clark Elementary School next Monday night to honor selected guests who have been inspirational or instrumental to the success of one of the younger Kentucky Reading Councils. The annual election meeting, which will include a covered dish dinner, will begin at 7 p.m.

Among the honored guests will be Wayne Ratliff, Sr., the recipient of the 1974-'75 Jenny Wiley Council honorary membership award. Mr. Ratliff, who is well-known in the field of education, has served for 41 years in all positions from one-room-school teacher to assistant superintendent. "In each position, he was determined to do an outstanding job for Floyd county's young people," a Council representative said. "Wayne Ratliff has been a devoted and inspiring leader throughout his many years of service and will be greatly missed, now that he has retired."

Delphia J. Hicks, Council president, announced the council will also pay special tribute to the members of the council who have helped to make this a highly successful year.

All members are invited and are requested to bring a covered dish.

Frog Season To Open May 15 for 170 Days

Frankfort, Ky., May 6—A 170-day frog season opens in Kentucky, May 15.

The season runs through midnight, October 31. Frogs may be harvested with bow and arrow or firearm on a hunting license, by pole and line on a fishing license, or by gig or hand with either license. The limit is 15 frogs per hunting day, which runs from noon to noon. The possession limit is 30 frogs after two or more days of frogging. No more than 15 frogs can be in possession in the field.

Most waters around Kentucky support frogs. Farm ponds and seldom frequented streams are considered the best places to catch frogs, though public lakes may be frogged.

Most frog hunters take the amphibian by gig, though bow and arrow hunting is said to be the most sporting method. When hunting with a firearm, .22 shot shell is considered the best ammunition. The more sophisticated frog hunter usually takes his prey by hand. During the day to take a frog with pole and line, a hook can be baited with red flannel and swung near the frog's head until the frog jumps for the hook.

Frog hunting is thought to be best during moonless nights, when frogs will hold to a light.

Frog hunters should ask the owner's permission before entering private land.

State Senator

JAMES EDWARD GAYHEART BELIEVES:

ROADS—That a special state-local cooperative program should be initiated to assist in improving limited access roads in Eastern Kentucky. Everyone knows we need a rebuilt Route 80 but we have to be able to get to it from our homes. Our residents need to be able to use their roads the whole year round.

COAL—That special attention must be given to providing manpower training that meets the needs of the coal industry. Coal is our most valuable resource and we must work closely with labor and management to assure the health and stability of both the industry and its workers.

ENVIRONMENT—That state laws now on the books should be enforced. Kentucky has reclamation and pollution laws which, if enforced, would assure the protection of our environment. What is needed is not new laws but a resolve to enforce old ones.

SEVERANCE TAX—That state severance tax monies should be returned to the counties from which the coal was taken. Eastern Kentuckians should share in the benefits of the riches leaving our region.

EDUCATION—That the State must allocate additional monies for elementary and secondary education in Eastern Kentucky. Expenditures for the education of our children in Knott, Perry, Floyd and Martin counties should be just as much as in any other county in the state of Kentucky.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT—That the long promised rebuilding of Route 80 must be begun. This road would link the Big Sandy Valley and the Kentucky River Area together and would do more than any other single thing to help the economy of our counties.

'Voiceprint Machine' - New Weapon

By HERB BROCK

Tucked away in a back room of the state police photo lab at Frankfort is a rare instrument which some day may serve as the key weapon in Kentucky's battle against such crimes as kidnapping, bomb threats, murder and extortion.

It's called the voice identification automatic sound analysis spectrograph or, more simply, the "voiceprint machine."

Already used as an investigative aid in a limited number of cases, voiceprint translates the human voice into lines on a graph, much like an electrocardiogram (EKG) measures heart beat.

But unlike the EKG, voiceprint is being used more and more by police as a mechanical means of identifying voices of suspects. For example, voiceprint can make life miserable for an obscene phone caller.

"Our goal in using the machine is to make crime over the telephone no longer anonymous, even if the scene of the crime is a phone booth 500 miles away from the victim's receiver," said Sgt. Bill Kline, operator of the only voiceprint machine in Kentucky.

Kline said the machine, which consists of two large metal cabinets covered with gauges and buttons, essentially is a modified version of the same instrument used in speech rehabilitation of the deaf and hard of hearing.

Tapes of a human voice, usually recorded over the telephone, are fed into the machine, which, within seconds, spits out a sheet, or spectrogram, with markings indicating voice frequency levels that may then be compared with spectrograms of voices belonging to known suspects or on file.

The accuracy of the spectrogram depends on the quality of tapes submitted by victims of criminally related phone calls or by police handling their cases.

Currently, 21 states permit spectrograms to be used as evidence, and Kline envisions the day when Kentucky courts will be added to that list. In the meantime, he sees the machine's role as an investigative aid becoming increasingly important to law enforcement officials.

According to Capt. Jerry Mullins, chief legal officer for the state police, voiceprint is viewed in much the same light as polygraph or "lie detector" tests, although polygraph has been around longer and has gained wider acceptance.

Kline said that the real possibilities of voiceprint were pointed out during the 1967 Six Day War between the Arabs and Israelis. Using a voiceprint machine, the Israelis were able to prove that Egyptian President Nasser ordered the tank offensive across the Sinai which started the conflict.

The machine's use as an investigative tool, which has been limited thus far in Kentucky to only 12 cases since June, 1974—all of which are still pending—is not restricted to criminal cases. It could be broadened to include such things as probes of airplane crashes, Kline said.

The Crow That Went to School

By GEORGE L. MOORE

It was on a Sunday morning on George's Creek in Lawrence county that six baby crows, still covered with down, were waiting impatiently in their nest for father and mother to return to the pasture field with food. Each crow would glide silently through the thick foliage of the big beech and alight on a solid perch near the nest. When the mother crow hopped over on the side of the nest, six yellow-lined mouths would instantly open wide and the mother would drop a morsel of food in the mouth nearest her. The father would go through the same procedure, dropping the food in the mouth that was next in line.

Today, a crow will eat almost anything. These young crows were fed weed seed, bugs, worms and whatever else was available. To add variety to the menu, the crows would fly further down the valley till they reached U. S. 23 on the Big Sandy. After they had located a rabbit that had been crushed by a car, they would return to their young with fresh meat for a Sunday dinner.

As the crows continued to fly back and forth, Orville Mosley, a small farm boy, watched with interest from a nearby hilltop. He noticed that the crows always return to the same spot. He entered the small patch of woods and had little difficulty in locating the nesting tree. Since there were numerous limbs on the tree, he was able to reach the nest without much trouble. He placed the young crows in his cap, and, holding them securely in his left hand, scampered down the tree.

He hurried home. He was hoping that his parents would be overjoyed by his catch. His mother said, "Orville take them things out to the creek and drown them," his father said, "Just lay them out here in a pile and I'll kill the whole bunch with a single blast with my shotgun." As it usually happens, the boy won the argument. In a short time the father constructed a stick pen in the back yard and Orville placed the crows inside.

He placed all kinds of food before the young crows but they would have none of it. By nightfall three of the young crows were so weak they could not hold up their heads. By late evening the second day there was one lone survivor. Orville named him Jim Crow. He made a nest of twigs and placed the young crow in it.

As he brushed his hand against the side of the nest, he noticed that Jim Crow's mouth flew open. He repeated the motion and the mouth opened wide again. Orville dropped a morsel of food in the open mouth. The crow swallowed the food with gusto. The problem of feeding was solved. Jim Crow was not particular what kind of food was dropped into his mouth; he would swallow almost anything. Orville said, "He likes spaghetti best, 'cause he thinks it's worms." He grew rapidly and in a few weeks the down had been replaced by black feathers. No longer was it necessary for Orville to drop food in his mouth. He took his food, much like the young chickens did.

After he no longer needed the pen, the crow followed Orville all over the place, alternately flying and marching beside him. Several little boys in the neighborhood heard about the crow and came to play with Orville. On one occasion, when they tired of playing, some boy in the group said, "Boys, let's go!" They were all surprised and delighted when Jim Crow called out in a clear, ringing voice, "Boys, let's go." On another occasion the same group of boys were playing and, of course, Jim Crow was with them. One of the boys said, "Boys, I'm cold." Jim Crow hopped upon a rail fence and call out in a high, shrill voice, "Boys, I'm cold." This became his favorite saying and he repeated it over and over, winter or summer.

One of our neighbors was hunting in the vicinity of George's Creek. As he passed a small farm house a crow called to him from the porch and said, "Boys, I'm cold."

Although Orville did not want to part with the crow ten dollars was too much money for a farm boy to turn down. In a short time Jim Crow was riding toward his new home at McDowell, perched atop the seat of a car.

The new owner had two small children, and Jim Crow had little difficulty in adjusting to his new home. He played with the two small children in the backyard. He amused them and other children in the neighborhood by calling the only two sentences that he had learned to speak.

When school opened in August, Jim Crow followed his two little friends all the way. When they entered the grade school, Jim Crow took up his vigil on a handwalker opposite the first grade room. He looked on with interest as the school buses delivered the children to the school ground. As he hopped from bar to bar on the handwalker, he would call out, over and over, "Boys, I'm cold." In a very short time he attracted a large audience of small children. At morning recess, he flew up in the bottom where the first grade children were playing. He walked among them completely unafraid.

Jim Crow loved little children and permitted them to pick him up and pet him. But he would not permit a high school student to come near him. By the end of the first week of school, Jim Crow had changed his habit and was now flying the entire distance from home to the school. When the school buses started arriving, that was a signal for Jim Crow to get to school. He would not leave the school until the last bus left in the afternoon. A group of girls would gather under his perch on the swing and beg and plead with him to say, "Girls, I'm cold." They were overjoyed when he suddenly called out, "Girls, I'm cold." They tried in vain to get him to repeat the words.

Although Jim Crow had unbelievable intelligence, he became quite a nuisance as far as high school students were concerned. If they happened to leave a book anywhere on the school ground with a folded paper protruding from the end, Jim Crow would fly down, snatch the paper from the book, and fly away into "the wild blue yonder." When he returned, the paper would be gone. A standard excuse from math students, when they failed to bring in homework, was, "Jim Crow stole my problems." He also loved to steal pencils. Little boys would stand under his perch and plead, "Jim Crow, please drop my pencil?" Sometimes he would drop the pencil. He also added the word, "Drop," to his vocabulary.

All through the winter months Jim Crow did not miss a single day of school. If for some reason school had to be called off, he never came to the school ground. One day in May, Jim Crow did not show up for school. Some students went to his home to investigate. Would you believe it? Jim Crow was busily engaged in building a nest on the front porch swing. It was obvious that he had been misnamed, but it was too late to change it now. He—or to be more precise, she—laid white eggs in the completed nest. Jim Crow was happy and contented as the swing moved to and fro in the gentle breeze. The eggs proved to be infertile and did not hatch.

There were two things that Jim Crow hated above all things on earth. One of these was fire and the other was dogs. Both brought about his downfall. A wastebasket full of papers was set on fire in a back yard. Jim Crow flew into the flames and made a frantic effort to extinguish the blaze. In the battle with the fire he scorched the feathers from his wings. He was now grounded. In a short time he was killed by a vicious dog.

It was a very sad day in the McDowell school when the children learned of the passing of Jim. He loved school and he loved little people. I am sure that the happiest day of his life were the days he spent with the small children on the McDowell schoolground.

For Responsible and Responsive Leadership In A Representative—

Vote For James "Jitter" Allen For Representative, 95th Legislative District of Floyd County

Leadership in representation and responsiveness to the needs of people comes only from aggressive and independent-minded men who are not hand-picked for office by selfish individuals and machines. I pledge that YOU will be represented at Frankfort, that your needs will ever be paramount, not the needs of selfish men and political machines.

Let me submit to you voters certain planks in my platform, planks that I will diligently seek to have implemented by legislation.

1. The coal severance tax that is returned to the coal producing counties should be used for rural roads and other public needs, not for the restrictive uses set out by the recent dictum out of Frankfort. Many needs of our county should have priority. I think I know what the priorities should be.
2. I believe the Vietnam veterans are entitled to a bonus and that the financial needs of veterans widows and their children should be compassionately considered by legislators.
3. There are certain local highway conditions in this county that should be corrected by the Highway Department. Two specific conditions come to mind. High water often cuts traffic off at McDowell and on Abbott Creek. There are others, I'm sure. The roads should be elevated to keep traffic flowing at all times.
4. Teachers' salaries should be increased. Our teachers are as fine and well-qualified as any teachers anywhere in the United States and should be as adequately compensated. Emphasis on vocational education should be deepened and strengthened. Professional negotiation should become recognized as the inherent right of teachers.
5. The Public Service Commission and the laws under which it operates should be liberalized and reconstituted so as to make it more responsive to the peoples' needs. The high energy costs we all are bearing are end results of the PSC overlooking the burden of these high energy costs and granting rate increases and rate differentials adverse to the pocket books of the average man. I want to change all of that.
6. Housing for the elderly should be made a priority of the social system of this state. Too long have our financially-pinned elderly people been brushed aside. Let's reward them for lifetimes of good citizenship by secure and adequate housing.
7. To support the Citizens Advisory Council in their efforts to upgrade the elementary and secondary schools.
8. To work for an amendment to the Homestead Exemption Act to include disabled people, regardless of age.

Upon these planks I submit my candidacy. Elect me your representative and I will respond to your needs at Frankfort.

Kentucky Teachers At "Austere" Level

(From KEA Journal)
The US Labor Department has released new statistics on how much it costs the typical family of four to maintain various standards of living. As of the fall of 1974, the urban family comprising a 38-year-old working husband, a wife not employed outside the home, a 13-year-old son, and an 8-year-old daughter needed $9200 a year to live at an "austere" level, $14,300 to achieve a "moderate" budget, and $20,800 to afford any luxuries. Each figure is up more than 12 percent over all 1973 estimates.

Teachers, with a national average salary of $11,513, didn't have to wait for the latest statistics to know that their budgets are in the "austere" category, and that last year's record inflation has put a "moderate" living standard farther beyond their reach than ever before.

(In Kentucky, with a statewide average of about $8890, most teachers are below even the "austere" level, and many may well be eligible for the earned income tax credit on 1975 incomes. For some, this tax credit may be larger than the taxes owed, and could result in a "negative income tax" payment from the federal government.)

PIONEER KNOTT TEACHER DIES AT HINDMAN

PROF. GEORGE CLARKE, WHO RID HINDMAN OF OUTLAWRY, BROUGHT LEARNING TO HILLS, PARALYSIS VICTIM

In the town which he transformed from a hotbed of feudism to an educational center, Prof. George Clarke died, Christmas Day, at the age of 78. Death came at his home, on almost the exact site of that first school he started in Hindman, more than half a century ago. Stricken by paralysis as he rode a horse to the rural school he was teaching on the head of Carr, Knott county, he had been critically ill since September.

The veteran educator had probably taught more boys and girls of Eastern Kentucky than any other person. His former pupils occupy every walk of life. Numbered among them are Ex-Governor Bailey of Arkansas and Mayor Guy Martin, of Denver, Colorado, both of whom attended his school at Hindman.

When Professor Clarke walked into Hindman as a young man of 23, he found Troublesome Creek, the stream that flows through the town, aptly named. Clabe Jones, the Slones, Draughans, "Long John" Wright and others were engaged in a bloody feud. Guns ruled and moonshine whiskey flowed; peaceable citizens lived in terror.

He went to Hindman as a young lawyer after a brief practise of his profession at Hazard with Joe Eversole, talented Perry county attorney who later was principal in the famous French-Eversole feud. But he found his life's work in the schoolroom.

Youngsters, eager for learning, found in him a ready friend and a teacher of great talents whose ability in the field of mathematics brought him wide renown. As a youth, he said a few years ago, he often left play to find richer recreation in mathematical study. He "worked through" Calculus at home, without the assistance of a tutor.

Deeply religious, his precepts extended beyond the schoolroom. He was, throughout life, an active Sunday School and church worker, setting an example of sobriety and morality before his students in days when few such influences reached them.

At one time, during the early days of his work as a teacher in Hindman, outlawry became so widespread in the vicinity of his school that he and other community leaders made the long, overland trip to Frankfort to appeal to Governor Buckner for arms with which to protect themselves and the town. Their request was promptly granted, and, it is said, the Governor instructed them to go home and "shoot to kill, if necessary."

Professor Clarke was a native of Greenup county, and it was there that he first was a teacher. It is estimated that a half of the older generation of this section received their education from him. Since 1887 he taught without interruption except in 1920-21 when he was state school inspector and in 1922-26 when he was Superintendent of Letcher county schools.

During recent years, his "old boys and girls" have gathered annually at Hindman to pay him homage. In 1939, when more than 2,000 of these students honored him on his birthday, he termed the occasion "the happiest of my life."

At his funeral Sunday the Knott county courthouse, despite inclement weather, was packed as relatives, friends and former students from every county of Eastern Kentucky paid him a last tribute. Two former students, H. H. Smith of Hindman and Mrs. Martha Smith Keyser, Columbus, O., spoke of his works and the reverence in which they and all others who came under his guidance held for him.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Lucinda Hays Clarke, and four children, Thelma, Marjorie, Juliet and Bramlette, all of Hindman.

Body of the veteran educator was laid to rest in the Hays cemetery at Hindman. The same day, his former students began plans for a meeting in September at Hindman to provide for a statue to Professor Clarke's memory.

In The Shadows of the County Seat

By N. M. WEBB

The writer is at a loss to find words strong enough or meaning enough to apply to the life and death of Prof. George Clark, who lately passed away at his home at Hindman, Knott County. In all the long retinue of the past years, no man has appeared to equal or compare with him from which we might form a comparison. When the way was dark and gloomy, when no stars arose in the years passed to re-live or bolster the educational arena when all or almost all of Eastern Kentucky was in the throes of decadence for reasons then unknown, Prof. George Clark, itinerant and finding his way appeared at the county seat of Knott County with steel in his body and unconquerable determination in his mind. He was a pure and simple mountaineer. The irony waters of the Big Sandy tempered his intellect and his love for the templed hills, the chattering herds and the wispy groves spoke in a certain tone to him. The law, which he knew, he left over on the Big Sandy, but the education which comes before the law was right at hand. Hindman, an infant lying at the forks of the creek extended its hand to him. He saw the trembling, beseeching hand and seized it. From that day till the moment of his death, he never loosened his grip. He came to Letcher County as the teacher of its institution and as its County School Superintendent but his heart was ever on the Troublesome or near the Big Sandy. A few of us question whether such another man was ever produced. Knott County had just been formed and Hindman was almost unknown but the county and the county seat stood greatly in need. The surrounding counties, Perry, Letcher, Floyd, Breathitt and others had problems and troubles of their own, and, my reader, troubles they were. In those anxious days Prof. Clark arrived and laid his hands to the plow handles. They lawed, they shot, and did other things, but Prof. Clark knew his furrow, and he plowed on. After all, it is no wonder that he won. But worth will not stay at home. From Letcher, Perry, Pike, Floyd, Breathitt, Leslie and other counties came young men and young women, thirsting for an education. Money and its rudiments were no consideration. Prof. Clark looked to the inside. If the rudiments were there, that was enough. To he married a genuine and true make surer of his work there. Knott County girl, and their union was a happy one. Let God be praised, and let Eastern Kentucky rejoice that such a man once graced its soil.

Volumes could be written, volumes of truth, for there is no depth to the fountains. The whole family has our sympathies without our saying so.

"Believe It Or Not"

The only man known to have held two public offices in Kentucky at the same time was Lewis Hays, father of Douglas Hays, of McDowell. Two years after Knott county was formed, Mr. Hays was elected both Circuit Court Clerk and County Court Clerk and served in the dual capacities from 1886 to 1890.

The state constitution at that time permitted one individual to hold more than one office, and Mr. Hays defeated at the November election, 1885, the late F. P. (Chick) Allen, a native of this county, for County Clerk and T. J. Hagans for Circuit Clerk.

Elijah Hicks

Funeral Services Are Held For Elijah Hicks At Hindman Wed.

(Hindman News, Jan. 1946)

Funeral and burial services were held for Elijah Hicks here Wednesday afternoon in the Hindman court house. Mr. Hicks died at the Hazard Hospital Sunday evening after a long, lingering illness.

Mr. Hicks had undergone and operation about four years ago for gall bladder trouble and had not been well since that time. He was forced to take his bed December 22, 1945, and after remaining at his home approximately three weeks was removed to the Hazard Hospital where he steadily grew worse until he succumbed last Sunday evening.

Much can be said about the life of the late Elijah Hicks: A selfmade man coming up the hard way, Elijah was left an orphan at an early age. He was forced to work at all kinds of odd jobs in order to obtain education enough to teach school, which he did in this county for a number of years, yet, in his youth he worked for R. G. Dunn & Company throughout Eastern Kentucky as its representative; he was one of the early settlers of Hindman where he went into the mercantile business which has proved successful. He was one of the organizers of the Bank of Hindman in 1903 and has served as Director since that time, and at the time of his death he was Vice-President of this organization. He belonged to four secret organizations; a Mason for forty-five years. He belonged to the Odd Fellows, Red Men and Junior Mechanic organizations; he was a member of the Missionary Baptist Church.

Mr. Hicks was widely known throughout Eastern Kentucky. He was recognized as a great humanitarian by the common man since there are few that can boast that they have done as much for the poor people of this county as the late Elijah Hicks.

Many men of this county contribute their education to Elijah Hicks; he had aided them in every way to obtain this education by lending them money and crediting them for the necessities in his store. Few men have ever passed on from Knott county that had as great a tribute paid to them as that of Elijah Hicks here Wednesday afternoon when the funeral services were held in the Hindman courthouse, which was filled to overflowing and many were unable to find standing room in the court building, and were forced to stay outside.

The Rev. J. S. Bell, pastor of the Baptist Missionary Church here delivered the funeral message. Burial services took place at the family cemetery on the Hicks farm near Hindman.

Survivors are as follows: Wife, Mrs. Lucinda Hicks, six daughters, Cpl. Clarrisa; Lieut. Cleo; Mrs. Corinne Clarke; Mrs. Hassie Martin; Mrs. Monnie Owens, and Miss Duia Rae Hicks; three sons, James, Densel and John Clayborne Hicks; one brother, Rufus Stone of West Virginia, and one sister, Mrs. Inez Lucas of Letcher County.

DEDICATED BY GEORGE CLARKE, CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR:

- ✓ A leader in East Kentucky.
- ✓ Mayor of Hindman for seven years.
- ✓ Rode wagon pulled by mules from Hazard to Prestonsburg to demonstrate that campaign promises DO NOT build roads.
- ✓ Has guts enough to stand up in Frankfort for East Kentucky.

Grethel Baptist Church Marks 25th Anniversary

Grethel, Ky.—The Grethel Baptist Church observed its 25th anniversary, April 13, as an independant Baptist Church with a special afternoon service.

The congregation was led in singing "Great Is Thy Faithfulness" by the pastor, Rev. Fred Anspaugh, Elmer Martin, chairman of the board of deacons, welcomed the guests to the service. Rev. Randy Crisp, pastor of the Prater Creek Baptist Church, gave the Scripture reading, with Rev. Reevis Clark, pastor of Bethanna Baptist Church, Cornettsville, leading in prayer. Miss Eleanor Acker then gave her testimony of how the Lord led her and Miss Mary Lou Rhodes, both missionaries under Baptist Mid-Missions to Kentucky and in this Grethel Baptist Church had its beginning. Miss Acker also sang a special number. Pastor Anspaugh led the congregation in the reading of the Church Covenant, which was followed by a special number by the church youth group. Mrs. Elmer Martin (Eileen Kernan) told how the Lord gave her the opportunity to have a part in the beginning of the work. Mrs. Davis Evans read the church history, beginning from the time when Miss Eleanor Acker and Miss Mary Lou Rhodes came to this area in April, 1948 to the present time. Mrs. Reevis Clark (Lois Allen) told how the Lord also led her here to have a part in the work. This was followed by a vocal trio, Miss Sharon Francisco, Mrs. Alan Beal and Mrs. Reevis Clark, and the congregation sang "Wonderful Grace of Jesus." Rev. Elmer Francisco, a former pastor, brought the message.

After the service the guests were invited to the upstairs parsonage apartment for refreshments and a time of fellowship. The present missionary pastor Rev. Fred Anspaugh has pastored the church for four years. He and Mrs. Anspaugh are veteran missionaries of 15 years under Baptist Mid-Missions.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS

PEARL STRONG

Pearl Strong for State Senator

An ex-coal miner, professional baseball player, Miner's Memorial Hospital employee, Magistrate and State Senator.

As an ex-magistrate he knows the problems that the county judges and magistrates have with the county roads, especially in Eastern Kentucky. As State Senator and ex-coal miner he knows the problems of the coal miner. He was one of the four legislators that the 1970 "Ky. Black Lung Bill" was named for. As an ex-professional baseball player he knows the needs for athletic programs for young people. He worked for and got an increase in teachers' and school administration salaries and got more money put in elementary and secondary school programs.

As you probably read in the paper in 1970, he proposed a severance tax in a special committee and asked the Governor to consider it in a special session of the General Assembly that was called. His proposal was 15 cents per ton, with the coal producing counties getting 60 per cent of the coal tax money back. He was also on a special hearing committee and he asked the question of how much coal had been mined out of Eastern Kentucky. The coal representative stated that 5 per cent had been mined according to the Bureau of Mines in Washington, D. C. That means there's at least 4 or 5 hundred years of coal mining left in Eastern Kentucky, so it looks good for future generations. Don't get discouraged, fellow Eastern Kentuckians, the future looks good for years to come, and Pearl Strong would like to help as your State Senator to keep Eastern Kentucky one of the most prosperous places in the U.S. to live in.

Elect Pearl Strong for a sober and fulltime Senator on May 27, 1975. The Democrat.

UNION ENDORSES STRONG

College Announces Hager Appointment As Associate Dean

The appointment of Dr. Paul C. Hager as associate dean for Academic Affairs at Berea College was announced last Thursday by Dr. William F. Stolte, academic vice-president and dean of the college.

The appointment is effective July 1. Dr. Hager, formerly of Prestonsburg, is director of testing and special services at the college, which he joined in 1962. He holds degrees in music and guidance and testing from Eastern Kentucky University, and the Ph. D. in Higher Education from the University of Kentucky. He is a native of East Point, and previously taught music in the public schools at Prestonsburg, and at Concord and Buffalo, Illinois.

He is a member of the American College Personnel Association, the ACPA Commission on Testing and Academic Success, the Association for Measurement and Evaluation in Guidance, Committee on Multipotentiality, Kappa Delta Pi and American Association for Higher Education.

In addition to coordinating the work of faculty advisors with students on academic, labor and graduate study opportunities, Dr. Hager will also serve as director of the summer school and special academic programs, and continue in charge of the testing and tutorial programs.

Dr. Hager, an enthusiastic stamp collector, has been editor since 1972 of the Croatian Philatelic Society publication, the only U. S. philatelic specialty group interested exclusively in the Balkan area.

His wife, Mrs. Joy May Hager, is coordinator of Women's Physical Education Activities at Berea College.

Hager is the son of Mrs. Priscilla Hager, of East Point, and the late Mr. H. H. Hager, and is the son-in-law of Mrs. Opal May, of Prestonsburg.

Highland Folk Dancers To Provide Workshop

A newly formed group called the Highland Folk Dancers is setting up a workshop for beginning as well as experienced dancers who will be interested in pursuing the art of folk dancing. The workshop is intended for both young and old, will be free of charge, and held in the Johnson Central High School cafeteria on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 27 and 28, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Fraley, Jr., graduates of Berea College and now residing in Prestonsburg, will be the instructors for the workshop. Mr. Fraley is employed by the Tri-State Construction Co., Paintsville, and Mrs. Fraley teaches science at Betsy Layne. She also works during the summers with Jenny Wiley State Park in its recreational program.

The folk dance workshop is planned to provide the stimulus for an on-going summer recreational activity that could extend even further into forming a dance club for all locally interested dancers.

Consumer Comments

By Atty. Gen. Hancock

Much consumer business is carried out through the mail, and consumers should be aware of the different types of mail and how they should be used.

First class mail consists of handwritten or typewritten matter and bills. It may not be opened for postal inspection, and only airmail is handled before it is. If you're sending a package first class, mark "FIRST CLASS" on all sides in order to receive this special handling.

Second class mail is usually for newspapers and periodicals. Third class mail, sometimes called "advertising mail," is generally used for large mailings. Third class mail has both single and bulk rates. Fourth class mail also is known as "parcel post." Aside from these classes of mail, there are special rates for books, records, materials for the blind, catalogs and international mailings. Ask your postmaster about these.

For faster delivery of parcels over long distances, use airmail or express mail. As with first class mail, label airmail letters and packages on all sides to receive this quick service. Express mail is a fairly new service; it guarantees overnight delivery.

Special delivery mail gets prompt delivery to the destination post office. C.O.D. means "collect on delivery." When merchandise is ordered by a consumer, the price of both the article and postage may be collected from the consumer, as long as the total to be collected isn't over $200.

Registered and certified mail both keep a record of delivery at the recipient's post office. But registered mail includes extra security or payment for losses and certified mail does not. If you send something by registered mail, you will want to declare the full value of your mailing.

With both registered and certified mail, you may pay an additional fee to obtain a return receipt. This provides you with proof that your letter or package was received and by whom. If you are cancelling a sale made in your home under Kentucky's three-day cooling-off period for home solicitation sales, you will want to obtain a return receipt.

If you receive unsolicited goods through the mail, remember that under Kentucky law, you do not have to return them or pay for them, unless the goods were delivered to you by mistake.

When you have a problem with the mail, write to the Consumer Advocate, U. S. Postal Service, Washington, D. C. 20260.

And if you have a consumer complaint, contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, the Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Kentucky consumers may call toll-free on the consumer hotline: 1-800-372-2960.

1975 Funds Announced For Farm Conservation

ASCS State Committee Chairman James C. Finley has reported that $4,731,501 is the initial allocation of funds for the 1975 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) in Kentucky.

"With the recent announcement of the cost sharing program by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), authority to develop practices needed to solve farm conservation problems is being delegated to each of the USDA's farmer-elected county ASC committees in consultation with the county program development group," Finley said.

He said all approved practices in effect under the 1970 national ACP are eligible. Practices developed by county ASC committees will be subject to approval by the state ASC Committee in consultation with the state program development group.

"As announced earlier, $190 million will be made available for program operations, and will share with farmers between 50 and 75 percent of the cost of carrying out needed practices," Finley said.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER TEA

A mother-daughter tea was held at the Grethel Baptist Church apartment, home of Pastor and Mrs. Fred Anspaugh, May 5, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. There were 43 present and the special speaker was Mrs. Reeves Clark, of Cornettsville, Ky. She used the visualized Bible story of Hannah and her son, Samuel, showing Hannah's godly example of being a dedicated mother.

The Cornettsville Bethana Baptist Church ladies' trio—Mrs. Lois Clark, Mrs. Velva June Beal and Miss Sharon Francisco—sang three gospel songs. Miss Francisco accompanied them with her accordion.

The program also included four poems,

"To My Mother," read by Mrs. Glenna Evans; "A Mother's Thoughts," read by Mrs. Wanda Frasure; "Mother's Prayer," read by Mrs. Annette Martin; "Smiles For Mother," read by Mrs. Destaphene Boyd.

The apartment was decorated in pastel colors and each table had a centerpiece of miniature picture hats. The individual favors filled with mints and peanuts were also miniature hats. A dessert luncheon was served.

Around 1780 stovepipe hats made from beaver skins became the rage in Europe, resulting in trappers flocking to the western wilderness where beavers abounded.

Reclamation Office Opens in Pikeville

By JENNY PULLIAM

Frankfort, Ky.—The door is open—and business is buzzing—in the new Pikeville reclamation office.

When last year's strip mine boom struck eastern Kentucky, more than twice as many acres were permitted for stripping there as in the western part of the state. So, in April, the division of reclamation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection established its fourth eastern Kentucky office.

The new branch lightens the work and travel loads of the Prestonsburg reclamation office, which previously covered that area. With its working force of eight, who already live in the Pike county vicinity, the office is ready for action.

Pike county is not only one of Kentucky's largest counties in the area, but also one of the largest in coal mining. Because the steep land with its many scattered small mines makes it difficult for the inspectors to get to the mines, inspections were slowing down.

So the Prestonsburg staff recommended the new regional office. With the volume of mining and the remoteness of the area, it's economical to have an office in Pikeville to serve that area.

Personnel assigned to the Pikeville office are: Glenn Crumley, area supervisor; Alex Barkley, assistant supervisor; Tom Deskins, Rick Moore, Gary Hall, Dave Harvey, John Thacker and Andrew Daughterty, reclamation inspectors.

The location of the new office is: RR 4, Box B-213-L, Pikeville 41501, and the phone number is: (606) 432-8126.

Lowell T. Hughes, Democrat
For
State Senator, 25th District

I am the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Hughes, and the grandson of the late Millard Franklin and Josephine Wright Hughes. I was born and reared in Prestonsburg. I attended Prestonsburg Elementary School and graduated from Prestonsburg High School in 1956. I attended the University of Kentucky on a football and basketball scholarship, and received my law degree from the University of Kentucky Law School. I am now practicing law in Ashland.

I know that the present may not be the most popular time to enter politics, but now is not the time to look away from our system of elective representative government, service to the state, and particularly Eastern Kentucky. I feel that my background and experience should prove beneficial in serving in the Senate, and that my unique position of having been raised in one end of the district, having my law office in the other end of the district, practicing law in all of the counties in the district, and having family relationships in each of the counties in the district provided me with the opportunity to be personally aware of, and concerned with, the many problems within the district.

Oldtime 'Granny' Belongs to Past

By DIANA PETERS

Frankfort, Ky.—"Grannies" have always been loved and respected by families and communities, but, now, practicing "Grannies" are required to have a license.

The practice of "grannyng" or lay-midwifery is several centuries old. "Granny-midwives have performed a very needed service in areas where there was a shortage of physicians or none at all, but their day is passing," says Bess Witt, chief of nursing in the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Health Services.

Kentucky was among the first states to recognize the need for a professional, or nurse, midwife. The Frontier School of Nursing was established in 1939 and in 1974, the University of Kentucky started a program in midwifery training at the master of arts level. Both programs offer a variety of courses which include anatomy, genetics, physiology and psychology.

During fiscal year 1973, licensed midwives delivered 712 babies in the state of Kentucky. Because the profession is growing in demand and popularity, DHR has filed the following regulations for a nurse midwife. She must be a registered nurse; a graduate of a program in nurse midwifery approved by DHR and the American College of Nurse Midwives; nationally certified by the American College of Midwives.

When a nurse midwife has fulfilled these requirements, she is given the title of Certified Nurse Midwife (C.N.M.).

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH
(Health Educator)

The University of Kentucky Medical Center, Department of Neurology, is conducting a regional neurology clinic, May 28, at the Floyd County Health Department beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Any patient who would benefit from seeing a neurologist at this clinic must be referred by a physician and must be under 21 years of age.

If you are interested in being referred to this neurology clinic, contact your private physician so that he can make an appointment for you.

On Monday, May 19, a public health nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will conduct an outpost clinic at Ethel Osborne's Store at Bypro. Clinic hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the following services being available, free of charge: immunizations, diabetes screening, blood pressures and TB skin tests.

The health department urges all parents to check with their doctor or the health department to see if their children have had all their required immunizations. Every youngster should be immunized against polio, measles, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis beginning at two months of age and completed by the time he is two years old with only booster doses being required before he enters school.

On Wednesday, May 21, the Floyd County Health Department will be conducting a glaucoma clinic. This clinic will last from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 2. Glaucoma is a serious disease that can cause blindness slowly and painlessly.

This disease usually occurs in persons who are 35 years of age and over.

The Floyd County Health Department urges all persons age 35 and over to take advantage of this free glaucoma screening. Early detection and treatment can prevent this serious disease.

EXAMINATION OF RODENTS FOR RABIES

Naturally occurring rabies in rodents is a rare phenomenon in this country. In Kentucky in the past thirteen years (July 1, 1961 to March 1, 1975), the State Bureau for Health Services Laboratory has examined 3,132 rodent specimens and found all of them negative for rabies virus. Significantly, there has never been a reported case of human rabies in the United States attributed to rodent exposure.

Based on the documented rarity of naturally occurring rabies in rodents coupled with the absence of reported rabies cases in humans resulting from exposure to rodents, the State Bureau for Health Services recommends that only rodents directly involved in human exposure be submitted for rabies examination. Any animals, particularly free-ranging wild or recently captured and caged rodents that are native to the United States, such as chipmunks and flying or grey squirrels that exhibit bizarre behavior or obvious illness prior to the biting episode would be regarded as a greater than usual risk and should be examined. On the other hand, many of the bites which occur with the feeding and handling of caged rodents such as, white rats, mice, gerbils, hamsters, and guinea pigs constitute little or no risk to the individual bitten.

In this regard, a widely publicized, increasingly accepted statement from the National Center for Disease Control recommends that only rodents which exhibit grossly abnormal behavior (aggressiveness or paralysis) before biting a person be examined for rabies. Routine examination on non-biting rodents, caged pet rodents, and rodents that bite on provocation is discouraged as a generally useless, expensive procedure.

C.-J., Times To Make Files Accessible Through Microfilm

The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times Co. announced last week that it will make the newspapers' clipping files accessible to businesses, institutions, government agencies and libraries through a microfilm system that will be indexed by computer.

Users of the system will have special microfilm copies of the clippings on their premises and will locate desired material through computer terminals linked to the newspapers' own library facilities by telephone lines.

The newspapers are now installing the system in their own library and expect to begin installing systems for outside customers early next year.

In their first specific customer proposal for the system, the newspapers yesterday offered to furnish access to their archives to the Kentucky Department of Library and Archives, under a proposed three-year, $110,000 contract that would include purchase of necessary equipment for that agency, as well as microfilm, telephone charges, maintenance, training and support.

Kentucky State Librarian Charles F. Hinds said his agency hopes to obtain the system with a portion of a Title I federal Library Services and Construction Act grant totaling $377,726 which has just been made available. Hinds said the agency's Courier-Journal and Times installatin would be located in Frankfort from which it would serve 102 of the state's county library systems.

This Thing Is from Me

—I Kings 12:24
By LAURA BARTER SNOW
Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.—Matthew 11:28
"Life's Disappointments are veiled Love's appointments." Rev. C. A. Fox

This Thing Is From Me
My child, I have a message for you today; let me whisper in your ear, that it may gild with glory any storm clouds which may arise, and smooth the rough places upon which you may have to tread.

It is short, only five words, but let them sink into your inmost soul, use them as a pillow upon which to rest your weary head.

"This thing is from ME"
Have you ever thought of it, that all that concerns you, concerns Me, too? For "he that toucheth you toucheth the apple of Mine eye."—Zeh. 2:8.

"You are very precious in My sight."—Isa. 43:4. Therefore it is My special delight to educate you.

I would have you learn when temptations assail you, and the "enemy comes in like a flood," that this thing is from Me, that your weakness needs My might, and your safety lies in letting Me fight for you.

Are you in difficult circumstances, surrounded by people who do not understand you, who never consult your taste, who put you in the background? This thing is from Me. I am the God of circumstances. "Thou can'st not to thy place by accident, it is the very place God meant for thee." Have you not asked to be made humble? See, then, I have placed you in the very school where this lesson is taught; your surroundings and companions are only working out My will.

Are you in money difficulties? Is it hard to make both ends meet? This thing is from Me, for I am your purse-bearer, and would have you draw from, and depend upon Me. My supplies are limitless. Phil. 4:19. I would have you prove My promises. Let it not be said of you, "In this thing ye did not believe the Lord your God."—Deut. 1:32.

Are you passing through a night of sorrow? This thing is from Me. I am "The Man of sorrows and acquainted with grief." I have let earthly comforters fail you, that by turning to Me you may obtain everlasting consolation. II Thess. 2:16, 17.

Has some friend disappointed you? One to whom you opened out your heart? This thing is from Me. I have allowed this disappointment to come, that you may learn that "The best friend to have is Jesus, He will hear you when you call, He will keep you lest you fall, The best friend to have is Jesus."

I want to be your confidant. Has someone repeated things about you that are untrue? Leave them to Me, and draw closer unto Me, thy shelter, out of reach of "the strife of tongues," for "I will bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy judgment as the noonday."—Psa. 37:6.

Have your plans been all upset? Are you bowed down and weary? This thing is from Me. You made your plans, then came asking Me to bless them, but I would have you let Me plan for you and then I take the responsibility, for "This thing is too heavy for thee, thou art not able to perform it thyself alone." Ex. 18:18. You are only an instrument, not an agent.

Have you longed to do some great work for Me, and instead been laid aside on a bed of pain and weakness? This thing is from Me. I could not get your attention in your busy days, and I want to teach you some of My deepest lessons. "They also serve who only stand and wait." I want you to learn to sing

"I am not eager, bold or strong, All that is past; I am ready not to do At last; at last!"

Some of My greatest workers are those shut out from active service, that they may learn to yield the weapon of all-prayer.

Are you suddenly called upon to occupy a difficult and responsible position? Launch out on Me. I am trusting you with the "Possession of difficulties," and "for this thing the Lord thy God shall bless thee in all they works, and in all that thou puttest thine hand unto." Deut. 15:10.

This day I place in your hand this pot of holy oil, make use of it freely, my child. Let every circumstance as it arises, every word that pains you, every interruption that would make you impatient, every revelation of your own weakness, be anointed with it. Remember, "interruptions are divine instructions" (Rev. C. A. Fox). The sting will go as you learn to see Me in all things. Therefore, "Set your hearts unto all the words which I testify among you this day . . . for it is not a vain thing for you; because it is your life, and through this thing ye shall prolong your days in the land." Deut. 32:46, 47.

PLASTIC MULCH: Black plastic can save you a lot of garden work this summer. In experiments conducted by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, black polyethylene plastic—1.5 mil thick—proved to be very efficient as a garden mulch. Mulching discourages weed growth, conserves moisture in the soil, and often increases the quality and yield of vegetables.

By LARRY BURKE

There have been many inspiring words about overcoming our handicaps. The pages of history are filled with the stories of men and women who, despite handicaps, have achieved greatness.

Judges in the Bible tells of an interesting event which relates to the organization of an army. It says there were 700 chosen left-handed men.

The interesting fact about this great army is that these men had not always been left-handed. They were likely seasoned soldiers who had been in battle and been incapacitated of the use of their right hands—their sword hands.

They had learned to be fighters with their left hands. We all feel handicaps in our own lives. But the greatness in a person comes through when they overcome.

The 700 left-handed soldiers won their battle—so can we. Everyone has a strategic reserve of physical and spiritual energy and adaptability which we rarely use.

40 ways not to be fuelish.

Give your furnace an efficiency check-up, to make sure it's not wasting fuel.

- 1 Adjust your home thermostat to the recommended fuel-saving temperatures: between 65 and 68 degrees during the day. Down to 55-60 degrees at night.
- 2 Make 50 miles per hour your top speed when driving. On the average your best mileage happens around 35 mph.
- 3 Turn off lights, electrical appliances and TV sets when you're finished with them. Unplug instant-on TVs.
- 4 Start or join a carpool. And when you use your car, use it efficiently. Combine trips to the supermarket, the drug-store, the bank, etc., and make one clean sweep.
- 5 Drive at a steady speed, accelerating and slowing gradually. Especially avoid "jackrabbit" starts. They really eat up gas.
- 6 Don't idle your engine more than two minutes.
- 7 Avoid congested traffic. That kind of stop and go driving consumes gas quickly and adds to air pollution. Plan trips for off-hours.
- 8 Have your home's heating system checked to make sure it's operating at peak efficiency.
- 9 Install a humidifier on your heating system. Humidified air is comfortable at substantially lower temperatures than dry air and healthier for you.
- 10 Close off any areas of your home that don't require heat all the time. Guest rooms, for example.

Hold driving speed to 50 or slower.

- 11 Don't waste fuel heating the garage.
- 12 Keep windows near thermostats closed. Otherwise the cold air will cause a lower reading, and your furnace will run longer but not make you any warmer.
- 13 When you're not using your fireplace, make sure the damper is tightly closed so heated air won't escape.
- 14 Weatherstrip or caulk around drafty doorframes and windows.
- 15 Install storm windows. You'll cut down heat loss by 10-15%.
- 16 Close draperies at night. Keep them open during the day. Closed, they'll act as insulation. Open, they'll let in additional warmth from the sun.
- 17 Move furniture that blocks forced air registers.
- 18 Keep the area near your furnace free from obstructions, especially the space around air intakes.
- 19 Check the color of the burner flame in your gas furnace. If the flame is yellow, instead of blue, there's too much air in the combustion mixture. A repairman can fix you up in a jiffy.
- 20 Clean or replace furnace filters regularly.
- 21 Eliminate outdoor decorative lighting, such as spotlights, floodlights and lights lining driveways.

- 22 Turn off your gas yard light. It's a real gas gobble.
- 23 In the kitchen, try to cook all foods for a meal in one area of the range—on top, in the oven, or under the broiler. For cooking small quantities of food, use a portable appliance like an electric skillet.
- 24 If you cook with gas, don't use more flame than necessary. Flames should just touch the bottom of cooking utensils.
- 25 A clear blue flame on a gas range means the burner is operating properly. If the flame is yellow, have a repairman make adjustments.
- 26 On electric ranges, turn off burners several minutes before the end of the proper cooking period. The heating element will stay hot, and your food will finish cooking without using additional energy.
- 27 Do not preheat ovens more than a few minutes. And don't set the temperature higher than you need.
- 28 Run full loads in the dishwasher, so that you can run it less often. Don't use it between 4 and 8 p.m.
- 29 Run full loads in the washer and dryer. Same reason.

Dial your thermostat down—to 68 degrees or lower.

- 30 Whenever practical, wash with cold water.
- 31 Use the shortest possible drying cycle. And clean the dryer lint trap after each load. (A clogged trap lengthens drying time.) In winter vent the dryer blower into the house.

Turn off lights and appliances the minute you're through with them.

- 32 Once a month, flush the sediment out of your hot water tank by draining a couple of buckets of warm water from the faucet at the bottom of the tank. If allowed to build up, this sediment insulates the water from the heater.
- 33 Make sure the temperature on your water heater isn't set excessively high. 110 degrees is about right. Wrap hot water lines with insulation.
- 34 Repair leaking water faucets—especially hot water faucets.
- 35 Take showers instead of baths. You'll use a lot less hot water.
- 36 Make sure your home is adequately insulated. It should have at least 6 inches of insulation in the attic, 3 inches in walls and under floors over crawl spaces.
- 37 Wrap heating ducts that go through cold spaces with fireproof insulation. And while you're there, check ducts for leaks.
- 38 Seal air leaks from living spaces into the attic—around ceiling fans, electrical fixtures, heating ducts, and pull-down stairways. (But don't seal off ventilation in the attic. You need that to prevent moisture buildup.)
- 39 Before summer comes, have your cooling system checked to insure efficient operation.
- 40 Right now, write for a free booklet with these and more tips on how to save fuel. Just send your name and address to: Energy Conservation, Box CW, Washington, D.C. 20240.

Avoid "jackrabbit" starts when motoring.

Don't be fuelish.

County Judge Proclaims May, Mental Health Month

Floyd County Judge Henry Stumbo is pictured signing a proclamation naming May, Mental Health Month for Floyd county. The proclamation called upon citizens of Floyd county to acquaint themselves with the local mental health, mental retardation, and drug and alcohol abuse services and programs made available through Mountain Comprehensive Care Center. Pictured with Judge Stumbo are Tim Atkinson, team director of Floyd county's Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, and Brenda Roberts, president of the Floyd County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Association.

According to Mrs. Roberts, the Floyd County Mental Health Association is conducting its membership campaign during May in recognition of Judge Stumbo's proclamation and in an effort to give the individual citizen the opportunity to become actively involved in support of the local program through an organized structure such as that offered by the association.

A devotional was given by Mrs. Lucy Regan followed by the Pledge of Allegiance.

The legislative program of the Kentucky Retired Teachers Association was read and discussed.

Plans for the August 9 meeting were announced. This will be a noonday luncheon at Effie's Buffet, formerly Wise's Restaurant. The guest speaker will be Joe Howard, of Louisville, recently elected president of the Kentucky Retired Teachers Association.

Those present were Mesdames Elizabeth M. Bailey, Oma P. Elkins, Sally G. Bush, Kelsa G. Elliott, Grace Sutherland, Opal S. May, Lola P. Ousley, Grace Conley, Josephine Hill, Beatrice Collins, Lucy Regan, Misses Alice Harris, Josephine Spradlin, Margaret May; Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Crisp, and visitors, Virginia Kirk and Elizabeth Ann Baird, of Pikeville.

The Dewey Lake Fish and Game Club will hold its third annual bass tournament on Dewey Lake next Sunday.

The tournament will be open to all members of the club and will be conducted on a team basis, with two persons to a boat, and their combined catch counting for them as their team's total. Only black bass 12 inches, or larger, will be counted toward a team's catch. Fishing must be done by rod and reel. Fishermen may use live bait.

An entry fee of $6 per team will be charged. The winners of first place will receive a cash prize equal to 50 pct. of the total entry fees. The second place team will receive 30 pct. of the entry fees, and the fisherman entering the largest bass by weight will receive a cash prize of 10 pct. of the entry fees.

The contest will begin at 6 a.m. from both the Brandy Keg and the Terry boat docks, and will end at 2 p.m. All interested bass fishermen may register at either of the two boat docks prior to the starting time on Sunday, May 18.

Plan Martin Meeting
To Talk Health Care
In Central Appalachia

A meeting concerned with the availability, cost and quality of health care in central Appalachia is scheduled for the Martin Elementary School Saturday, May 17, at 9:30 a.m. A panel of community leaders, health experts and attorneys will listen to the problems that families from Kentucky, West Virginia, Southwestern Virginia and Tennessee have experienced in securing and paying for care. The meeting will have the format of a public hearing before a citizens' panel.

Panel members will include: Chairman, Anise Floyd, vice-president of the West Virginia Black Lung Association; co-chairman, Chester Mosley, president of the Wheelwright UMWA local union; Helen Powell, treasurer, Regional Black Lung Association; Frank Daniels, chairman, Kentucky Black Lung Association and chairman, Floyd County Citizens' Association; William Worthington, chairman, Regional Black Lung Association; Dr. Robert Coles, Harvard University Health Services; Daniel Hedges, attorney, Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, Inc., Charleston, W. Va.; Nick Frasure, Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, Charleston, W. Va.; Dr. Robert Young, Hager Hill.

The meeting is an attempt to bring attention to the unmet health needs of people in Central Appalachia and is in response to a growing concern of citizens over the fact that policy making in the health care industry most frequently ignores the needs of rural people, especially those whose incomes are low. The free service obligations of hospitals built with Hill-Burton aid and those which are tax-exempt will also be discussed.

The panel will raise questions which relate to the problems that individuals have had in obtaining good health care. This meeting is sponsored by the Regional Black Lung Association, the State Black Lung Associations, Citizens Groups and various other organizations and individual concerned citizens.

Consumer Comments

A consumer recently wrote our office to tell how she bought some expensive pots and pans and ended up with tarnished cookware and a tarnished view of cookware salespeople. Don't put your common sense on the back burner when it comes to buying pots and pans.

There are reputable dealers who sell cookware door-to-door, but there are also those who sell door-to-door because of the reduced sales resistance of people approached in their homes without advance notice. When a demonstration of cookware takes place in the home, a consumer cannot comparison-shop by going to the next counter or the store down the block. A well-known ploy is for the salesperson to offer a discount or free gift "for tonight only," encouraging consumers to buy now and comparison-shop later—when it's too late.

If you are interested in buying cookware, check around. Know the various types and their approximate cost. It's not worth a free gift to be stuck with inferior cookware.

There are other gimmicks, too. A consumer might be told that he or she was especially selected to test a new brand of cookware. Remember, anyone who offers you a special deal on cookware is probably just interested in cooking up some business.

One consumer wrote us that she was told her old pots and pans were poisonous. Don't listen to scare tactics like these; ask another dealer if you have questions about your cookware.

Deal with reputable businesses and ask about the warranties. If a salesperson and his company are not from your vicinity, you might have problems returning defective cookware, or even finding the company.

If you have a consumer complaint, contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection. Kentucky consumers may call toll-free on the consumer hotline by dialing 1-800-372-2960.
