

Man Named In Slaying Held Here Wife of Postmaster At Boons Camp Dies Of Gunshot Wound

A Michigan man was brought here from Johnson county late last Thursday for safekeeping in the Floyd county jail after he had allegedly shot and fatally wounded the wife of the postmaster at Boons Camp, Johnson county.

The accused man, George Herman Cleaver, 20, was scheduled to be returned to Paintsville today (Wednesday) for a preliminary hearing in Johnson county court, but the Postal Service has also filed charges, it was reported. What these charges are was not learned.

The victim was 31-year-old Sandra Ward Penix, wife of John Melvin Penix, Boons Camp postmaster. She was acting as postmaster while her husband, who also doubles as a school bus driver, was at Camden Park, Kenova, W. Va., with a busload of school children.

An eyewitness, Mrs. Lily Ward, sister-in-law, of Mrs. Penix, was quoted as saying that she, Mrs. Penix and an 83-year-old woman were in the postoffice when Cleaver entered, around 2 p.m. Thursday, and announced that it was a holdup.

Cleaver, who was arrested about two hours after the shooting, was reported as having said he fired when Mrs. Penix moved toward a drawer in which he thought he saw a gun.

Mrs. Penix died at the Paintsville Hospital, about four hours later, following surgery. Her husband returned to Paintsville and was at the hospital when she died.

After the shooting of the woman Cleaver reportedly fled the scene in a car (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Rescue Squad Answers Call From Knott Co.

The Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad sent two of its units to Knott county last Friday morning in response to an emergency call following a storm of cloudburst proportions in the Troublesome Creek basin.

Hindman was isolated through most of the day, and Troublesome Creek rose to a depth of four feet in the main street of the county-seat town, it was reported here.

The Rescue Squad was unable to reach some schools which sought evacuation of pupils. It removed to safety a family trapped in a mudslide, evacuated to a nearby home a woman who was in labor and another woman with her three-months-old baby.

The Knott county flooding, though heavy, did not approximate in destructiveness that experienced by Pike county, a week earlier.

The Rescue Squad last week took four truckloads of clothing and food to the Elkhorn creek and Dorton areas of Pike county.

The Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad, a 46-man group of volunteers, will conduct its main fund-raising event of the year, a radio auction, over Station WPRT here, June 4-7.

Officers Charge Four on Counts Of Booze, Drugs

Three men were named in connection with liquor violations and a fourth for drug trafficking in the county over the past week.

Henry Shepherd, of Branham's Creek, was charged with possession and transporting of alcoholic beverages Thursday, after Deputy Sheriff Melvin Martin had confiscated 39 cases and two cans of beer from Shepherd's auto on the John Hall Branch hill on Mud Creek. In an investigation by county officers Saturday, another Branham's Creek man, Greene Howell, was arrested on Big Mud Creek and his car was impounded after Deputies Bradley, Slone and Martin recovered four cases of beer from the auto. Howell was booked at the county jail with possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale, and executed bond the following day.

Constable Bob Hackworth arrested Robert Tussey, of Risner, Friday night after a search of Tussey's pickup on Buck's Branch, near Martin, uncovered 48 cans of beer and 9 half-pints of whiskey. Tussey was charged with possession and transporting of alcoholic beverages and drunk driving.

The drug arrest was that of James Harvey Robinson, who was charged by State Police Detective Danny Stumbo with trafficking in marijuana and hashish.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each and arresting officers follow:

James Poston, wanton endangerment (second degree), by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Craig E. Kilgore; Norman Howard, drunk driving, by State Trooper Stepp; Dicky Martin, contempt of court, by Constable Bob Hackworth; Edgar Reynolds, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs Green Slone and Darrell

Garrett Man's Suit Names Co. Officials

County Judge Henry Stumbo, Jailer Lawrence Hale and Second District Constable Bob Hackworth were named defendants Friday in a suit filed by Dicky Martin, of Garrett, who asked damages for his arrest and imprisonment and also a writ of habeas corpus to effect his release from jail.

The action is an outgrowth of difficulties over a road across Martin's land, near Garrett. Martin was charged April 17 with blocking a public road. At his hearing May 13 he was fined $1 and ordered to remove the obstructions. Apparently failing to comply with the court order, he was held in contempt of court and jailed, May 20.

Martin in his court action against the officials contends that the court order did not mention any individual as the one to remove the obstructions. His suit also claims that the road was given to the county by his grandfather, Tom Y. Martin, but that the county returned it to his grandfather when the right-of-way for nearby KY 80 was bought.

Martin says that his grandparents in 1952 entered into an agreement permitting George E. Evans to widen the road for coal-hauling purposes but when the tippie (Old No. 6 at West Garrett) ceased to operate terms of the agreement returned that part of the land to the owners and the road to its 10-foot width.

The plaintiff claims the road is at no place, except on his property, more than 10 feet wide. He also asserts that he had no intention of blocking the road but that posts which he set along the route were to mark the limits of his property lines.

Martin claims Hackworth, "in conspiracy with others," arrested him at a time and under circumstances which would deny him access to courts, justices and judges and thus effect his imprisonment. He claims Jailer Hale was informed of the lack of legal proceedings and wrongfully imprisoned him.

Besides asking the writ of habeas corpus and an order to restrain defendants from removing the posts set as "monuments of boundary," plaintiff seeks to recover from Judge Stumbo $1,000 for "wrongfully issuing a warrant of arrest" and $2,500 compensatory damages; from Jailer Hale and Constable Hackworth, $2,500 each, and from all three, jointly, punitive and compensatory damages of $11,000, plus $1,000 for loss of wages.

(Reports of damage suits necessarily reflect only the plaintiff's claims.)

The jailer's record shows this note opposite Martin's name: "Called defendant out 2:30 p.m. 5-23-75 and defendant refused to obey court order."

Martin was released May 24 when he executed bond.

Murder Trial Of Sykes Set Next Monday

The usual humdrum of a civil court session will be broken next week with the shift from Pike county to the Floyd circuit court of the case of Robert Sykes, defendant in one of the section's most sensational murder cases.

The Sykes trial is scheduled to begin here next Monday. Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo said he knew of no reason for a continuance of the case unless there has been an unforeseen delay in the taking of defense depositions of two U. S. prisoners at Terre Haute, Indiana.

The defendant is due to be brought to the Floyd county jail tomorrow (Thursday) from the Atlanta federal prison, where he is a prisoner. William Eugene Thompson, who is a federal prisoner at Terre Haute, is to be returned here June 2 to testify in the Sykes trial.

Thompson and Boone Deskins were convicted in Pike circuit court trials of the slaying of Deskins' wife. Sykes is accused of taking part in the woman's murder.

Commonwealth's Attorney Stumbo said last week he has been told by Special Judge Walter, of West Liberty, that the earliest date he can come here for the trial of Eddie Jones, who is accused of the slayings of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley at Garrett and of James Clayton Conley, near Wayland, will be during the September term of circuit court.

Second Rail Death In Period of Week Occurs at Lackey

Bud Fitzpatrick, 51, of Lackey, was killed at 2 a.m. last Thursday at Lackey when struck by a coal train.

His death was the second rail tragedy of the week. Robert Lee Blanton, 37, was killed by a train at Allen, the preceding Sunday.

It was reported here that the engineer of the train said he saw Fitzpatrick sitting on the tracks, near the old Lackey depot, as the train rounded the nearby curve but that the distance was too short to avoid the tragedy.

Hammond Leads For Ky. Senate; Tab Is Belated

BULLETIN. Official tabulation of two Floyd county races show that James R. Allen defeated Burnis Martin for Commonwealth's Attorney, 4765 votes to 3313, and James "Jitter" Allen defeated Julius Martin for Representative, 3535 votes to 3347. Danny Stephens, the third candidate for Representative, polled 553 votes. The vote in these two races includes absentee ballots.

The tabulation of Tuesday's election returns was delayed beyond the Times' deadline, and the primary outcome remained in doubt in one or more local races.

Statewide, the nomination of Governor Julian Carroll was the one sure bet. Returns in other state races were not conclusive enough at 8:30 p.m. to name winners.

Unofficial returns from 27 of the county's 44 precincts indicated that Jim Hammond may have won the Democratic nomination for State Senator from the 29th district unless his opponents pile up sizeable leads in the other counties of the district, Knott and Perry. His Floyd lead over Clifford B. Latta, his nearest opponent in this county, was above 900 in the precincts tabulated.

Mt. Comp Care, Park Are Named In $350,000 Suit

A suit asking a total of $350,000 damages was filed in circuit court here May 20 on behalf of a 33-year-old East McDowell woman against Mountain Comprehensive Care Center and Camden Park, Inc.

The action, which was filed by Marion Tackett, committee and next friend of Verlie Mae Tackett, claims that the woman's injury at the park in May, 1974 was the result of defendants' "wanton, wilful and gross negligence."

The breakdown of amounts asked follows:

Compensatory damages, $50,000; punitive damages, $100,000; future pain and anguish, $100,000; future medical expense, $100,000.

In another damage suit filed last week Sammie E. and Alma Jean Wells, of Prestonsburg, seek to recover from Jack Alfred Banks and his employer, the Pike county fiscal court, a total of $76,850.

Carroll Speaks at Rally

A confident Governor Carroll speaking at the Prestonsburg High School fieldhouse last Friday night when a Seventh district Carroll rally was held. A number of Democratic candidates for lesser state offices attended the rally. Governor Carroll spoke of the splendid vote given him from this district in his race for lieutenant governor and declared that reconstruction of KY 80 is "a must."

THE DOCTOR SITUATION

The situation snowballs. The growing number of malpractice suits against doctors has caused higher malpractice-insurance rates. And the doctors are rebelling against them. In California the first full-blown work stoppage by doctors in the nation's history is the result. In effect, the doctors are changing from the Biblical line, "Physician, heal thyself," to "Patient, you do your own healing."

IMPROVEMENT SUGGESTED

Three of our very solid citizens were holding down one of the two park benches on the courthouse lawn, the other morning, and, for want of something else to do, were arguing about who is to be thanked for them. I suggested that the Junior Woman's Club should be given the credit. Then one of the threesome decided he had a gripe. Said he: "The sun's movin' in on us now. They oughta put wheels under these things, so we could move around to the shady side of the courthouse."

Women Do Access Road Repair

After repeated requests to the state highway department for road improvements had reportedly failed, this group of Dwale women decided last week to make certain improvements themselves—even without the use of road equipment. According to the women, the road, which is the approach to Dwale from new U.S. 23, has steadily deteriorated since the construction of new U.S. 23 a little over a year ago and caused serious drainage problems. The work involved ditching and draining the road and filling the ruts with rocks which they carried some distance.

To Retire from Ministry, Sunday

Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Rucker

The Rev. S. B. Rucker, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church here, will officially retire from the ministry for the second time Sunday, June 1. The congregation of the Community United Methodist Church here has planned a day of special programs marking Rev. Rucker's last Sunday as pastor. At the morning service, the "Master's Men Quartet", of Columbus, O., will sing, and a fellowship dinner will be held following these services in the church basement. A song service will also be held in the afternoon.

Rev. Rucker has served churches in Ashland, Danville, and the Maysville district. He was pastor of the Allen-Martin-Maytown charge from 1946 to 1949. In addition, he organized the Johnson county parish in 1949. Rev. Rucker says that his crowning ministry has been in Floyd county, and that when the late Dr. Kenneth Clay asked him to come out of retirement for the appointment to Community Methodist here, "It was like a dream come true."

He has been pastor here since January 1, 1973 and attributes much of his long and successful ministry to the help of his wife.

County Attorney James R. Allen may have defeated Burnis Martin for the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney, the early returns indicated. The 27 precincts counted gave him a lead of more than 800.

The Democratic race for Representative was apparently on its way to becoming a squeaker, although James "Jitter" Allen had a lead of approximately 140 in the 27 precincts tabulated over Julius Martin.

Circuit Clerk Frank DeRossett's nomination for another term was certain as he piled up a huge lead over Mary Zemo.

Jimmy "Gabe" Turner was registering a strong vote, reducing the chances of renomination of Robert (Bob) Damron for Railroad Commissioner. The district, however, is composed of a number of counties, and the nominee in this race will not be known till all these have reported.

Judge Rutherford, of Pike county, was leading Thelma Stovall and William L. Sullivan in the Floyd voting for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, but his friends fear the downstate vote where Sullivan and Mrs. Stovall are generally considered the leaders in this race.

Precincts included in the partial tabulation recorded by The Times are Prestonsburg No. 1, Prestonsburg No. 2, Depot, Richmond, Cliff, Porter, Auxier, Middle Creek, Cow Creek, Old Allen, Jim Banks, Rough and Tough, John Possum, Maytown, Bosco, Stone Coal, Lackey, Wayland, New Martin, Halbert, Drift, McDowell, Gearheart, Clear Creek, Wheelwright and Abbott.

The returns from the two Floyd county precincts in the 25th senatorial district, Auxier and Abbott, gave Lowell Hughes 125 votes to 45 for Roy R. Ross, the incumbent.

Lee, installing officer and KFWC fourth vice-president. (Lora Hamilton, first vice-president, absent from picture.)

The final meeting of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club for the club year was held last Thursday evening at the Plantation Motel dining room, with the president, Janice Allen, presiding. The official welcome to the installatin banquet was given by Mrs. Terry Webb, who presided. Mrs. Bruce Spradlin offered the invocation.

Following dinner, Mrs. Allen presented special guests, Miss Patricia J. Lee, Miss Burnette Hall, Mrs. Arthur Bradbury and Jim Hammond. Miss Hall, of Blairtown, presented musical selections as entertainment for the evening.

Special guest speaker and installing officer was Miss Patricia J. Lee, fourth vice-president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. Another guest, Mr. Hammond, Prestonsburg attorney, presented Mrs. Allen and the club with Articles of Incorporation which recognizes the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club as a non-stock, non-profit corporation.

Clubwomen voted Mrs. Danny Hamilton as Clubwoman of the Year. Mrs. Hamilton has served the club this year as Home Life chairman. Mrs. Allen recognized department and standing committee chairmen, members of the Executive Board and all clubwomen who had given so much time and energy in order to make Prestonsburg a better place in which to live. The Executive Board presented Mrs. Allen a pewter dish in appreciation for her clubwork during 1974-1975.

Miss Lee installed the following officers for the club year 1975-75: Mrs. Danny Hamilton, first vice-president; Mrs. Ron Wallen, second vice-president; Mrs. Paul P. Burchett, third vice-president; Mrs. Terry Webb, recording secretary; Rita Campbell, corresponding secretary; Miss Faye Miller, treasurer.

Following the installation ceremony, a reception was held at the Plantation Motel dining room for the newly-installed officers.

Invest In Quality

For centuries Europeans have invested a substantial amount of their earnings in good "Works of Art" — hand crafted Silver, quality Furniture, fine Paintings and Porcelains — and they have proven to be one of the best investments yet! Since World War II "good" works of art have proven to be a better investment than most stocks and bonds in your lock box! Think about that — Please accept our invitation to visit and let us show you one of the largest and finest collections of Antique furniture and silver in the country.

We do our own buying in the British Isles and import directly to Kentucky — with no middleman — so our prices are more reasonable than in the East. There is so much to see — including our Gallery of Limited Edition Porcelains from all the important studios in the world. Write for our illustrated catalogue, available for $2.00. We're located on I-64 between Lexington and Louisville and are open every day, except Sunday 9:00 a.m. — 5 p.m. Our latchstring on our front door is always out!

Public Funds Should Support Floyd County Rescue Squad

Next Sunday, the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad will begin its 18th year of service to the people of Floyd county and to all others whose need has, or will, come to its attention.

This is a group of 46 volunteers who serve without pay, for no hope of individual recognition, political power or material gain of any sort. It began with the county's darkest tragedy, the Floyd county school bus wreck. It has never since that time ceased to function, despite times of discouragement.

Four days after its 18th "birthday"—on June 4, 5, 6 and 7—the Squad will stage its annual radio auction as one of its efforts to raise the funds necessary for its continued operation. At other times during the year these volunteers will be spending Sundays and holidays, not with their families but at highway intersections, conducting "roadblocks" for the same purpose. Later in the year, it will sponsor a motorcycle hill-climb.

These are important events for this organization. All who appreciate the selfless work of these men should help make each of them successful.

But the truth is, these men should not have to do this additional work in order to continue a work which this county cannot afford to lose. Floyd county should finance their work.

Somehow, the fiscal court should be able to draw on some fund—revenue-sharing, severance tax or general—to the extent of $10,000 a year, and spare this group of dedicated men the unpleasant task of periodically "passing the hat."

This amount, mind you, would not be for salaries. The men do not want pay. They give of their time and efforts, simply because they have a desire to do so. But they have five vehicles, and boats, and radio equipment, and a building to maintain; telephone bills to pay, gasoline to be paid for, meals for workers to be bought. Through their efforts and the support of a appreciative public the Squad has bought this equipment and paid for its building and carried on its work. That is a notable accomplishment, in itself.

Now that this group has come all this way and has maintained its enthusiasm for service to others, it strikes us that the officials of this county could not spend $10,000 a year in any better way than to give it in support of the Rescue Squad.

ZOUNDS!
 Monday, it's Memorial Day, a time of remembrance, and all I can remember is this idiotic change of holidays to Mondays, so that a good part of the population will do their sobering up a little later in the week. . . . To get even, I wish each of these busybodies who has tampered with the calendar had to try to get a paper together on this day when most others are holidaying. . . . Courthouse closed, most stores closed, city offices closed, even advertising agency personnel out skylarking. . . .

It is remarkable, to my antiquated way of thinking, that this country managed to get along so long with Washington's Birthday coming on Feb. 22, the actual day when he was born, instead of a Monday, regardless of the calendar date. Lincoln's Birthday has suffered the same fate, and so has Thanksgiving. . . . New Year's Day may be the next to go modern and come on Jan. 3 or 4, or whatever, to let 'em sing "Auld Lang Syne" in time to let the holiday come on a Monday.

December 25th? Christmas? At the rate we're going that O'Hare gal who is objecting to God, the Bible and all our cherished beliefs will get the name of the day changed because Christ is in it—unless we all beat her to it and succeed in taking Him out through our own silly cupidity.

Boy, am I unhappy!
 I suggest that the Congress, duly assembled, solemnly enact a law providing a 30-day sabbatical for everybody, a time when all you've got to do is inhale, exhale—gently, easy does it—for one whole month, let that be a holiday to end holidays for the whole year—then let everybody who will work get back with it.

I have spoke . . . harrumph . . . period.

Island Creek Coal Sponsors Training

Island Creek Coal Company, Paintsville Division, is sponsoring a management training seminar in cooperation with the Community Services program of Prestonsburg Community College.

The seminar is a comprehensive program of study to improve human relations, communications, and constitutes an in-depth review of the principles, skills, tools and concepts of effective management. Participants in the weekly seminar are 10 mine section foreman from the various mine locations of Island Creek Coal Company in Kentucky and West Virginia.

Ronald L. Carter, business professor, Prestonsburg Community College, conducts the weekly seminar. The program of instruction has been developed to enhance the management ability of the mine section foremen.

Board Member Writes Of Allen Central Situation

When Allen Central High School became a reality some three years ago, speculation began to circulate as to who was going to be the basketball coach. Gene Frasure won the final nod, based upon a number of factors, including his youth, past experience and ability to produce a winner. Gene Frasure received my support as a member of the Floyd County Board of Education for the past three years. During this period of time, we have endured much criticism from various persons. Many of those critical of the coaching didn't think Coach Frasure was doing a good job and that he had lost interest in coaching. This speculation, of course, is a matter of opinion.

As a member of the Floyd County Board of Education, I serve as a representative of the people of my district. Decisions made by me are, in my judgment, first in the best interest of the school children.

Since, many persons have expressed their lack of confidence in Coach Frasure's ability to produce a winning team and wanted a change, we felt after careful consideration that the committee system would be the best way to cope with the situation. The committee to select a new coach was made up of five members from each community of Wayland, Garrett, Maytown and Martin, with one extra member, making a 21-member committee. This committee was chosen because of their interest in sports and as fairly as we could, to prevent a slanted committee in any one direction.

The committee was given full authority to make its own guidelines in the selection of a coach, provided the applicant met all the requirements stipulated by the State Department of Education. We agreed to accept the committee's recommendation in hiring a coach for the coming season. The committee, in my judgment, is a very fine group of men, capable of doing a real good job with the task at hand. Of course, this committee won't be able to satisfy everyone with their selection, neither did Coach Frasure. Whoever gets the coaching job will have problems trying to satisfy all that are concerned with Allen Central High School.

Regardless of who the coach will be, we need to unite behind our entire school program in order to have a better school. We realize there may be too much emphasis placed on sports and not enough on school books, etc. However, sports plays a big role in all levels of education and we must concern ourselves with a sports program for our boys and girls.

JAMES A. DUFF
 Vice-Chairman, Floyd County Board of Education

One Who Has Been There Views Refugee Problem

I hear a lot of chatter lately about Vietnamese orphans. A frequent question is "Why are we bringing them to America? Who wants them anyway? Why not spend the money on our own orphans and other Welfare Programs?" The answer is simple and chilling—either we get them out, or they die. You see, they really are not orphans—they are the unwanted children of American servicemen and Vietnamese prostitutes—or bar girls, if you want to be polite. If they have to stay under the Communist government, they will be enemy aliens and they will be murdered.

I'm afraid the kids are going to have a rough time even after they finally get processed out of the refugee camps and into the United States. We Americans always love humanity but sometimes we can't stand people. I suspect that some of the babies with Vietnamese mothers and black American servicemen fathers may run into racial intolerance. An interesting fact along these same lines is that the Communists are propagandizing to the world that we are kidnapping these babies and bringing them to the U. S. to use as slaves and concubines.

I went to Vietnam in 1968, working for the State Department, Agency for International Development. I worked as a consultant surgeon taking care of wounded Vietnamese civilians, and we saw a lot of the orphans. Now that the United States has thousands of these unfortunates in refugee camps in Guam and the Philippines, I have been asked to fly over there and work with them again. They need doctors who speak a little of the language and understand the customs.

I don't think I'll go back, tho. I did my part as a medical missionary there in 1968 and again in Brazil in 1974. Right now, I'm probably needed more right here at home.

Shannon majored in business and received the B.S. degree. He is a Hankins Scholar and has been a member of the university choir.

What Is an "Original Plant"?

THE utmost confusion seems to be clouding the definition of an original print, and this confusion seems to be caused by the use of the term, "original." This writer wishes to clear this matter up with the following acknowledgement.

I shall begin with the statement that a print is not unique; that is, it is not one of a kind. There are indeed a varying quantity pulled from each plate, woodblock or stone on which the picture is drawn. Each impression, however, is an original work of art, or multiple-original to be more exact. It is original because the artist's intent from the very outset is to create an etching, woodcut or lithograph, and when he plans the making of his print he has foreknowledge of what is to be transferred from plate, block or stone to paper. If he is an experienced craftsman, he will expect in advance the surprised pleasant or unpleasant, which not infrequently await him. He will know that the choice of paper, the method of inking the plate, the pressure exerted on the press, the very temperature of the day, will all combine to please or confound him. The genuine artist will make many changes and corrections, until he arrives at that point where he is moved to mark on the proof, "bon a tirer" (ready to print). All of the materials used are simply tools to achieve this end in the same sense that canvas, brushes and color contribute to the ultimate making of a painting. The result is a direct, autographic statement of the artist's intent. It results in an original work of art.

The most distinguished example of printmaking is produced when the artist has not been satisfied to duplicate a sketch or wash-drawing. Those prints, as are reproductions, which simply repeat or imitate are rarely the outstanding examples which are treasured by collectors. The artist chooses the graphic medium because its idiosyncrasies permit him to achieve specific, calculated results. One needs only to consider the color lithographs of Bonnard, Vuillard, and Lautrec or the aquatints and lithographs of Picasso, to find effects rendered unobtainable by the usual techniques of painting or drawing. Were this not true, it is hardly likely that the making of prints should have held such allure for great artists these many centuries.

It should be obvious that originals are not to be confused with photomechanical reproductions, as such that are so frequently flooding Floyd county and other areas of the country today. The decision to make a facsimile of an existing painting, sketch or watercolor generally comes when the work has been completed. Then a photographer and a printer combine their talents to produce a replica of the original. Often the artist of the work, if alive, has little to say in the matter. The quality of the pigment, the texture of the surface on which the artists worked, must be simulated. (Good) reproductions fill an unguided need for decoration, for illustration, or as Charlie the Tuna sez, "I got good taste". I am thankful I fall in neither of these last categories.

Thanks for Scholarship

We of the Garth Vocational School wish to thank Willard Stanley, president of the Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute, for the scholarship contribution which a former Garth student is now using in the Mining Mechanics Program at the Mayo Vocational School.

The scholarship recipient, Steve Cordial, is doing very well at Mayo Vocational at this time. Mr. Stanley notified us that they will continue to help Steve until he has completed his program. They will then aid in Steve's placement in industry.

Mr. Stanley assures us that the Institute will continue the scholarship contribution in the future. Once again, our most sincere gratitude to the Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute for their interest in the education of our young people.

Thanks for Recipe

I would like to thank everyone from all over the country who helped me out by sending a cake recipe. I received so many stack cake recipes and other cake recipes, too. They all sound so good, and I hope to try them all. Thank you so very much to all of you. In appreciation I thought maybe some of you would like to try this Strawberry Pie recipe. It follows:

- 1 cup sugar
  - 2 tablespoons corn starch
  - 1 cup water
  - ½ box strawberry jello
  - 1 qt. cleaned, drained strawberries.
  - Red food coloring. Have pie shell baked. Boil sugar, corn starch and water mixture till thick. While hot add jello. Cool. Add strawberries and fill pie shell.

Health Services Come Under Fire

Area hospitals and clinics came under fire May 17 at a public hearing on health care at the Martin Elementary School. A 10-member panel of community leaders, health experts and attorneys heard six hours of testimony from residents of eastern Kentucky and West Virginia.

The public investigation was planned by the Education and Training staff of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, Black Lung Associations in Kentucky and West Virginia, and the Regional Black Lung Association. The purpose was to draw public attention to critical and persistent problems in obtaining and paying for good health care in mountain areas.

Health care facilities which criticized included Appalachian Regional Hospital operations in McDowell, South Williamson, Harlan, Hazard and Whitesburg, the Methodist Hospital in Pikeville, the Williamson Memorial Hospital, Williamson, W. Va., and the Clover Fork Clinic at Everts, Ky.

Mrs. Anise Floyd, chairwoman of the panel and vice-president of the West Virginia Black Lung Association, said, "The purpose of these hearings is to bring public attention to the problem that if low-income people do not have the cash money, they are left out of health care."

It was pointed out that many of the health facilities criticized were either built with Hill-Burton aid, or are tax-exempt, and are thus required to accept charity cases.

Co-Valedictorians at W'Wright

Named co-valedictorians at Wheelwright are Miss Kathi A. Mullins and James Christopher Gore.

Miss Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Mullins, of Melvin, is a member of the Beta Club and a drum majorette. An honor student for four years, she has been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students. Miss Mullins has been awarded an academic scholarship to Morehead State University where she will major in music education.

Mr. Gore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gore, of Wheelwright, is a member of the Key Club and of the high school baseball team. He has also been an honor student for four years, named to Who's Who Among American High School Students. Mr. Gore is recipient of a scholarship to Pikeville College where he will study mine technology.

Columbia Gas Transmission Proposes Shale Development

A long-range research program to determine if significant natural gas production can be achieved from extensive shale beds in the Appalachian Basin is being proposed by a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System.

An $8.5 million program to be carried out by Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation has been outlined to the House Subcommittee on Conservation, Energy and Natural Resources by Deymour Orlofsky, President of the Columbia System's supply companies. The program will be undertaken upon approval from the Federal Power Commission for recovery of the program costs by Columbia Gas Transmission, Orlofsky said.

He said Columbia plans to drill 50 test wells in four different geographic locations over a three-year period to determine the extent of producible natural gas reserves in the Devonian shale formations of the Appalachian Basin, to test new methods of stimulating production from such formations, and to determine the wellhead price required to make such production commercially feasible.

Preliminary evaluation of the shale formations has led Columbia to estimate that potential reserves totaling several hundred trillion cubic feet may be recoverable from the shale beds provided the technique can be developed and proper economic incentives obtained. Orlofsky noted that current proved natural gas reserves in the United States total 237 trillion cubic feet.

He stressed that any project to develop the Appalachian shale gas is long-range in nature and does not offer a quick solution to the current problems of gas availability. Shale beds underlie vast areas of the eastern United States, however, and could provide large future supplies if the gas can be released, he said.

Gas has been produced from some Devonian shales for more than 80 years, Orlofsky said, but production rates are low because the rock formations have low permeability. For this reason little organized effort has been made to evaluate these formations, he said, and there have been few efforts to develop and apply modern well stimulation treatments.

In Columbia's operating territory the Devonian shale beds underlie parts of Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia and New York, and are found in parts of six other adjacent states.

We overheard a remark the other day when a person was saying: "He took a mighty hard fall . . . but he bounced right back onto his feet." You know that is one of the greatest compliments that can be said of a man . . . He bounced right back onto his feet." There are few among us who do not at one time or another stumble and fall as we weave our way through the briarpatch of life. Often we are innocent victims of fate . . . sometimes our misfortunes are of a nature which lays the blame squarely on our own shoulders.

Whatever the nature of our fall, there is a great amount of respect and glory in the ability to rise again.

Many years ago, from the pen of Oliver Goldsmith, came these words:

"Our greatest glory consists not in never failing . . . but in rising every time we fall . . ."

As we recall the remark being made of the one bouncing back onto his feet . . . there was no mention of courage . . . or strength . . . or glory, but it was there—it is always there.

Columbia also has submitted a proposal to the federal Energy Research and Development Administration on a separate joint $3.3 million program to test the application of massive hydraulic fracturing the the Appalachian shale, he reported. This would be a three-well project to be carried out in West Virginia if the proposal is accepted by ERDA.

Almost all natural gas production in the Appalachian Basin is currently from permeable sandstone formations, Orlofsky said, with a small portion coming from some shale beds when natural fracturing has occurred.

The shale research program is part of the Columbia System's overall effort to increase gas production in the Appalachian Basin, Orlofsky noted.

Travelers Protective Association of America

Would like to thank every person who assisted us in staging the State Convention at Jenny Wiley State Park last week.

The 250 delegates from the other 13 Kentucky posts were very impressed with the entire area and activities.

This Is What T.P.A. Is All About

WHAT IS THE TRAVELERS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA? (T.P.A.)

The T.P.A. is a Nonprofit, Fraternal, Civic Minded Benefit Society with three major purposes (a) Social and fraternal activities (b) Civic and community service programs (c) Participation in a Fraternal Accident Benefit Program.

HOW OLD IS T.P.A.?

It was incorporated in the year 1893. From its humble beginning at Denver, Colorado it has grown to a National Scope of 230,000 members plus, and since its beginning, has paid over 56 million dollars in accident benefits to its members.

JUST HOW DOES T.P.A. OPERATE?

T.P.A. has its National Headquarters Building at 3755 Lindell Boulevard in St. Louis, Missouri. The organization is made up of State Divisions, and the State Divisions are composed of Posts, functioning in various cities. It is truly a Democratic, Fraternal Society operating on a Representative Form of Government. Every member has an equal share in the Association. He does not have any financial responsibility beyond payment of his annual dues. Every member has a voice through his chosen delegates in establishing the rules that are to govern every phase of its operation.

HOW EXPENSIVE IS MEMBERSHIP IN THE T.P.A.?

The total cost consists of an initial non-recurring $3.00 membership fee plus dues of $1.25 per month. A new member pays only for those months that he is a member. Subsequently, his dues are $15.00 per year.

DOES T.P.A. HAVE PAID SALESMEN?

Definitely not. Membership is by invitation only, and increase in membership is achieved through the voluntary efforts of an existing member inviting an eligible friend to join.

IS T.P.A. A STOCK OR MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY?

No. It is a Fraternal Benefit Society whose Benefit Program is created and operated for the sole benefit of its members and their beneficiaries and not for profit.

HOW AND WHERE DOES A MEMBER FILE HIS CLAIM FOR ACCIDENT BENEFITS?

Written notice of claim must be given to National Headquarters, located at 3755 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis, Missouri 63108, whereupon the member will receive proper claim forms. These are to be filled out by the injured member and his physician, and returned for proper processing.

HOW CAN T.P.A. GIVE MEMBERS ALL OF THIS FOR $15.00 PER YEAR?

Through the united voluntary and unpaid help the membership contributes toward its continued growth, one member inviting his friends, etc. This, plus a dedication on the part of the officers in our National Headquarters in keeping an efficient operation at a minimum expense to the members.

WHAT ARE THE AIMS AND OBJECTS OF THE T.P.A.?

As stated above, the purposes of this society are threefold — to improve the individual and the land in which he lives by participation in civic affairs, among which is the Child Safety Program now in its 26th year and promoted on a national scale. This, in addition to our social, fraternal, and accident benefit program.

WHAT DOES THE T.P.A. HAVE TO OFFER FROM A FRATERNAL VIEWPOINT?

Aside from its accident benefit program, T.P.A. offers you fraternalism at its best. Social and fraternal activities are promoted at the local level for both members and friends. Dances, family picnics, barbecues, and many other types of social affairs are held regularly by most of our 289 Posts in 34 Divisions.

Ceremony in Frankfort To Honor President Davis

On Jefferson Davis' birthday, June 3, the Kentucky Division United Daughters of the Confederacy, will salute the American Bi-Centennial Commemoration of the men and events that made this country a great nation by dedicating a plaque on the statue of Jefferson Davis in the rotunda of the State Capitol Building in Frankfort. This plaque delineates the contribution made to the United States Government of 37 years of his life together with his four years service to the Confederate States of America as its only president.

This event will take place in the rotunda at three o'clock next Tuesday afternoon with former Governor A. B. Chandler making the dedicatory address. Every UDC and SCV member and every Kentuckian should be proud of this recognition of one who has long been ignored. All members are expected to be present and to urge all friends to attend.

The Perryville District meeting will be held on this day beginning at 10 a.m. at Morrisons on the Mall in Frankfort with registration beginning at 9:30 a.m. Luncheon will be served after which the assembly will go to the Capitol for the dedicatory ceremony. All UDC members and friends are welcome to the meeting and luncheon.

Sponsors Science Awareness Week

S.W.A.T. (Science Watchers Acting Together) sponsored Science Awareness Week at Allen Central High School earlier this month. All biology classes produced a project as part of this semester's work.

In the Science Awareness poster contest other Science classes contributed. Winners were: First, Dennis White; second, Kelly Dingus; third, Carol Rice.

On May 5 and 6 biology projects were on display in the Media Center; before school on May 6, model rockets were launched with a 'Mousetranaut' reaching 500 feet with a safe recovery; and on May 7 a science-oriented movie, "Wilderness Journey," was shown.

Other activities of S.W.A.T. this year were: the maintenance of a Newswatch Board, science-oriented TV Program

Board, Spotlight on Science at A.C.H.S., the WASHOE Board, plus relaying local weather information from its weather station atop Allen Central for the Media Club radio program each morning at 8:35.

On May 12 the members of S.W.A.T. toured the University of Kentucky, and its Physics, Chemistry, and Biology Departments. They also visited the Chandler Medical Center Pathology Department, headed by Denver Robertson, and the cancer treatment area.

School Chess Champion

High School Adolph Rupp Is Wallen, Former Floyd Man

Floyd native, Don Wallen, coach at Lartin County High School, Stuart, Fla., has been selected as the District 4 nominee for the National High School Coach-of-the-Year honor for 1975 and also has been nominated for the Florida Hall of Fame by the Florida Sports Writers Association.

The former Wheelwright resident will be honored at the 10th annual National Convention-Clinic at the Sheraton

Towers Hotel, Orlando, Fla., June 12-14.

The winner of the National Coach-of-the-Year award will be announced at the National Awards Banquet, June 14.

Mr. Wallen was a finalist in the 1973 competition for the national honor. His record reads like that of a high school Adolph Rupp. His team has won seven consecutive Suncoast Conference championships, 11 district titles and two consecutive state championships.

National Honor Society Banquet Honors Members and Parents

The National Honor Society of Prestonsburg High School held its annual banquet at May Lodge last Friday evening, honoring 42 members and their parents.

Dell Jagers, president of the National Honor Society, acted as master of ceremonies. Others participating in the program included the vice-president, David Flanery; corresponding secretary, Bernadine Wells; recording secretary, Toni Beverley; treasurer, Jonell Tackett; chaplain, Patricia Watson, and senior class members, Benjie Caudill, Rob Herrick, Susan Martin, Sam Hale, Brenda Music, Harry Lee Burchett, Blake Burchett, Lynn Weddle, Judy Anne Hyden, Holly Leach, Jennifer Jones, Elizabeth Lambert, Brad Kalos and Julie Bolling.

Guest-speaker for the occasion was John David Preston, of Allen, a former National Honor Society president, a graduate of Prestonsburg High and Harvard University, and currently a third-year law student at the University of Kentucky.

National Honor Society members must have a scholastic average grade of B+, and are judged by the high school faculty on character, leadership and service qualities. New members recognized were Linda Baldrige, Laura Brackett, Drema Cornelison, Mark Boatwright, Deborah Hampton, Sam Isbell, Susan Wells, Gracie Hale, Joetta Johnson, Mike Dixon, Larry Hyden, Paul Manuel, Dinah Shepherd, Donald Willis, Gracie Hale, Marsha Stumbo and Lynn Hicks.

The society's new officers for the school year 1976-76 were announced. They are: President, Mike Dixon; vice-president, Sam Isbell; corresponding secretary, Marsha Stumbo; recording secretary, Laura Brackett; historian, Lynn Hicks; reporter, Gracie Hale.

Pastor Here Selected For Marquis Who's Who

The Rev. Howard Coop, pastor of the First United Methodist Church here, has just been notified by Paul Rohe, editorial director of Marquis Who's Who, Inc., that he has been selected for inclusion in the 15 edition of "Who's Who in the South and Southwest."

In his letter of notification to Rev. Coop, Mr. Rohe stated, "Your qualifications were examined by unbiased appraisers . . . and they believe that your position and accomplishments set you apart and make you a candidate for . . . inclusion in Who's Who in the South and Southwest."

Earlier this year Rev. Coop was notified by the editors of Marquis that he had been selected for inclusion in the first edition of "Who's Who in Religion." He is also listed in "Who's Who in Methodism," "Contemporary Authors," "Writers' Directory," "Dictionary of International Biography," "Men of Achievement—1973," "International Who's Who in Community Service" and "Personalities of the South."

Practice Emergency Techniques

The "accident" at last Wednesday night's session of the first-aid class at Prestonsburg Community College was only staged as students practiced emergency medical techniques. In the demonstration in photo, Janice Allen (left) secures an upper arm splint made of folded newspapers to the "victim," Mrs. Lillian Watson. Instructor Steve Knowles supervises. The classes, part of the college's Community Services Program, are taught by members of the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad.

Since January of this year, 82 persons have participated in the Standard First-Aid: Multi-Media course offered by the Community Services Office at Prestonsburg Community College with the cooperation of the American Red Cross and, most especially, the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad. The Rescue Squad has furnished instruction for the course each of the seven times it has been offered.

Students for these classes have included employees of the Floyd County Board of Education, Eastern Kentucky Mack, American Standard, Dowell Division of Dow Chemical Company, Magic Mart of Paintsville, Prestonsburg Community College and other businesses and private individuals. Classes will resume after the month of June, and those interested in taking the course which meets some of the requirements of the Occupational Safety and Health Act should contact the Community Services Office at Prestonsburg Community College.

James Ratcliff, coordinator of Community Services, expressed his appreciation to the Rescue Squad, not only for its commitment in teaching the classes but also for its dedication to the community as a whole. "I have never met individuals who are more concerned about the community than these men. They give of their time and energy, often at their own expense and inconvenience to themselves and their families."

"For them," Ratcliff added, "apparently there is no expectation for reward monetarily, socially, politically, or any other way save that feeling of satisfaction that they are making a contribution. That contribution is very impressive. In a very special sense, they are our real leaders!"

Coal Severance Tax Funds May Yet Help Finance Annex Here

If the Attorney General's office is correct in its opinion that regulations restricting how coal-producing counties may spend their share of the coal severance tax is illegal, County Judge Henry Stumbo's contention that some of these funds should go into the construction of a courthouse annex here will be upheld.

The 1974 Kentucky statute governing severance funds provides that the coal-producing counties may spend the money "for any kind of road work and for many other facilities, such as building and renovation projects," Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyon recently wrote County Judge C. B. Embry, Jr., of Ohio county, who apparently wants to use a part of his county's severance funds on roads.

"I don't know why they (the Finance Department) have the idea of limiting it," Runyon said.

Judge Stumbo's request for severance funds for the courthouse annex construction has been rejected by the legislative committee appointed to review applications of counties for severance tax projects. The committee, headed by Rep. W. J. Reynolds, Jr., of Allen, has mainly approved recreation and industrial projects.

The committee has argued that careful use of the severance tax funds is necessary because its continuance depends on how effective are the results.

Runyon said when he received the Ohio county judge's letter telling of restrictions imposed that he "was a little surprised to learn that a particular fiscal court could not use that particular money for roads."

The state Finance Department received a copy of the assistant attorney general's opinion last Friday, and announced that it will make a statement after its attorneys study it.

Successor to Ramey At Mayo Is Sought

A new head of the Mayo Vocational School at Paintsville is expected to be named within the next two weeks to fill the vacancy which will exist after June 30 because of the retirement of George Ramey, veteran head of the school.

Ten applicants for the post have been interviewed by a three-man team acting under the aegis of the Region 11 ROPES office here.

Mr. Ramey's retirement at age 70 is mandatory. His assistant, Luther Safriet, had been considered a shoo-in choice as his successor, but Safriet notified the State Department of Education, a month ago, that he would retire at the end of the school term. Although he has been asked to reconsider his retirement decision, Mr. Safriet said recently that it stands. Although only 58, Safriet's years of teaching are enough for retirement. He and his wife, herself retired after 35 years in public schools, expect to move to Pennsylvania.

Ramey has been with Mayo 30 years and was its director since 1952. After ROPES, the agency created as a type of liaison between educational districts and the state department began its work two years ago, the head of the school held the title of principal rather than director.

At first there was some tension between Mayo and its supporters on the one hand and state educational leaders on the other because of the ROPES organization, but both Ramey and Safriet were quoted as saying their relations with the ROPES office here have been smooth. "After that first go-around," Mr. Ramey said, "I made up my mind to go along, regardless. I had to, to save vocational education. It wouldn't help anybody to keep fighting."

Mr. Safriet said Bronelle Skaggs, assistant director of ROPES Region 11, formerly worked at Mayo, as did other involved with ROPES, "and they've tried to work with us."

Safriet said a number of factors led to his retirement decision, "but budget cuts were the main thing."

He said he understood vocational budgeting for Region XI would be cut $200,000, with most of the impact falling on Mayo. "Without that money, the school can't do what it should do. One of the cuts was the assistant principal, the job I hold now, and I didn't believe it should operate without that aide. They asked if one was put in, would I stay, and I said no."

Safriet said he did not have a copy of the budget, and therefore could not be sure where the line cuts would occur. "I don't think we'd lose any program, but we'd have to cut back on programs we now have."

Kiwaniannes Mark 25th Anniversary

The Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes celebrated their 25th anniversary, May 22, with a luncheon at May Lodge honoring charter members and past presidents.

The club was founded in March, 1950 to assist the local Kiwanis Club with its projects and to work in community service.

This year's president, Mrs. Clifford B. Latta, read a brief history, detailing the Kiwaniannes' contributions to such projects as the March of Dimes, Red Cross, Girl Scouts, crippled Children's Clinic, Meals on Wheels and others.

A music program was presented by a girls' choral group from the Prestonsburg Grade School, under the direction of Mrs. Chalmer Frazier.

There were 29 charter members of the club. Those present at the silver anniversary luncheon were: Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. J. Y. Goble, Mrs. Woodrow Greenwade, Mrs. Edw. B. Leslie, Mrs. Marvin Music, Mrs. Stella Spurlock and Mrs. M. Robert Regan.

Past presidents at the meeting were Mrs. Marvin Music (1952); Mrs. R. V. May (1955); Mrs. Blaine Hall (1961); Mrs. Harris Howard (1962); Mrs. Winston Ford Jr. (1965, 1966); Mrs. Harold Cooley (1968); and Mrs. Winston Ford (1971, 1972).

A long-stemmed yellow rose, the club's flower, was presented to each guest and member, courtesy of Marvin Music.

Banking Group Names Spurlock

Burl W. Spurlock, executive vice-president of The First National Bank here, was elected president of Group IX, Kentucky Bankers' Association, at the annual meeting of the group Saturday night at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. He succeeds Elbert Bowe, executive vice-president and cashier of the Kentucky Farmers Bank, Catlettsburg.

Joseph E. Porter, vice-president of the Second National Bank, Ashland, who had served during the preceding year as secretary, was elected vice-president, and John Burton, Jr., vice-president of the People's Security Bank, Louisa, was named secretary.

More than 500 persons attended the dinner, at which J. N. Christianson, Scottsville, Ariz., was the principal speaker. Among those attending were representatives of 40 banks in the region. Harry B. Troutman, president of the Stockyards Ban and Trust Co., Louisville, and president of the Kentucky Bankers Association, also spoke.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Smith Bradley, of Court St., returned home Monday from St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington where he underwent two major operations. He is doing nicely.

Van Brings Aid To Flood Victims

Jerry Watson (left), of Water Gap, and Pastor Mark Van Tuyl, of Bevinsville, are pictured with the Emergency Community Service Van provided by the Seventh-day Adventist Church to help victims of recent flash floods in Pike county. In three days work, area volunteers distributed an average of 175-200 sack lunches per day from the van. Besides fleets of similar vans, the Seventh-day Adventist Church operates some 50 tractor-trailer units in the U.S. Pastor Van Tuyl said the Red Cross and public health officials had been of invaluable aid in making the operation as effective and beneficial as possible.

District Help Center Services Are Expanded

More than a year ago, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center initiated the HELP-LINE, a 24-hour, toll-free telephone number, with help, counseling, information and referral services to all the residents of Floyd, Pike, Magoffin, Johnson and Martin counties. Since then more than 10,000 phone calls have been received. Questions have been answered, information supplies, counselors sent to homes and hundreds, if not thousands, of distraught, depressed, discouraged, confused or just plain lonely people had their calls answered and, in most cases, these were given assistance.

Now, with the opening of the new Mountain Comprehensive Care Center Building on First Avenue in Prestonsburg, the services of the HELP-LINE have been expanded into a walk-in HELP CENTER. In addition to the 24-hour telephone service (1-800-422-1060) these same services of counseling, information and referral are available the same 24 hours on a person-to-person, face-to-face, walk-in basis at the HELP CENTER of the new district building.

These services include a SID (Situation-Identification-Disposition) facility for intoxicated person, too confused and too intoxicated to be returned home, or to be placed in jail in the event of a legal offense, or not intoxicated enough to need emergency medical attention. Overnight accommodations for a period not to exceed 48 hours are available for men and women who need this service.

During normal business hours all of these informatin, counseling and referral services are available in the five counties at the local offices of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center. The SID facility, however, is available only at the district building in Prestonsburg.

ASC County Committees May Determine Needs

Washington—Authority to determine the need for and eligibility under the Emergency Conservation Measures (ECM) Program has been delegated to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) county committees, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

Subject to availability of funds, an ASC county committee in consultation with the State ASC committee may, without prior approval from Washington, implement the ECM program under which eligible farmers may receive federal financial assistance to alleviate conditions resulting from natural disasters and to restore agricultural lands to productive capacity. Formerly the designation of areas for ECM aid was made by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Also, effective immediately with new disasters eligibility for ECM assistance will be determined on an individual basis, considering the type and extent of damage and the farmer's capability to rehabilitate the damaged farmland.

Department officials expect that these two procedural changes—delegation of program needs determination to county committees and the determination of eligibility on an individual basis—will expedite program assistance on a more timely basis. The changes will enable a farmer suffering severe damage to his farmland to receive program aid even though damage in his county is not widespread.

County committees, in determining eligibility, are to decide if the damage: is unusual in character and is not the type which would recur frequently; materially affects the productive capacity of the farmland; if not treated, will impair or endanger the land; will be so costly to correct that the farmer cannot do it without federal assistance.

A farmer qualifying the ECM assistance may receive up to 80 percent of the cost for performing the following types of measures:

- Removing Debris From Farmland.
- Grading, Shaping, or Releveling Severely Damaged Farmland.
- Restoring Permanent Fences.
- Restoring Conservation Structures and Other Similar Installations.

Emergency Wind Erosion Control and Drought Measures are also available under the program in areas where drought conditions develop.

Boom Spurs Mining Education

By MARVA GAY
 Five years ago no college in Kentucky—the leading coal mining state in the nation—awarded associate degrees in mining. But mining education has boomed. Today, three colleges in the state have two-year programs in mining or reclamation and another begins next semester.

The Pikeville Community College program is aimed primarily at teaching underground mining techniques.

Madisonville Community College offers both mining and reclamation technology degrees.

Morehead State University offers associate degrees in mining and reclamation technology, as well as a bachelor's degree in mining. Graduates of the two-year programs may obtain a bachelor's degree by completing two more years of study.

Lees Junior College, which will enroll its first students in a mining technology program this fall, will emphasize surface mining.

All four colleges started their programs to meet a need for trained mining experts—a need sparked by the coal boom.

Recently, representatives of the four colleges and of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection met for the first time to discuss their programs.

One question came up frequently during the meeting. "Is there a continuing need for what we're offering?"

The answer, as Birney Fish, executive assistant for energy and environmental technology in the state environmental protection agency, put it—"That depends."

It depends on the continued demand for coal, the proposed federal strip mine bill and Kentucky's own mining laws and regulations.

If the federal bill passes, Fish said, the need for specially trained mining personnel will be greatly increased. If it doesn't—as is now expected—the need may not be as great, unless the state or the coal industry itself demands special training for mining.

Regardless of the future demand for special training in mining, there is a need now. Coal firms and state government are hiring graduates of the mining programs and encouraging their employees to take the courses at night.

So far, Pikeville has graduated about 90 people from its mining technology program. About 160 are expected to begin the program next semester.

Madisonville had 41 students enrolled in its reclamation program. Several of those are employees of the division of reclamation in the state environmental protection agency.

The mining and reclamation programs have one thing in common—an emphasis on broad-based education and on-the-job training. A typical curriculum includes some form of mathematics, a course about mining or reclamation laws, safety, coal science fundamentals and reclamation fundamentals.

Graduates of the programs gain experience in operating mining equipment and working on a mine operation. The graduates of the Madisonville reclamation program also gain on-the-job experience in reclamation work. They follow state reclamation inspectors through their duties for at least four days—two days in mountainous eastern Kentucky and two days in the flat western Kentucky coalfields. They also spend about 75 per cent of their time in the field and about 25 per cent in classrooms.

At Madisonville and Morehead, students may participate in co-op programs. About half the students enrolled in the reclamation program at Madisonville are in the work-study program. They attend classes one semester and work for a mining firm the next.

Mining or reclamation students have a wide range of backgrounds. Some are recent high school graduates. Some already hold college degrees in other fields and are leaving their old jobs to learn one that will allow them to be outdoors frequently. Some are employed by the state division of reclamation. Some come from other states. And a Canadian will begin the reclamation courses at Madisonville next semester.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Floyd County Service Unit met May 22 at the Allen Elementary School. Applications for day camp were distributed to the following leaders: Janice Prater, West Prestonsburg, Troop 498; Liz Conley and Rethel Conn, Martin, Troop 894; Barbe Liedecker, Goble Roberts, Troop 991; Nancy Roberts, Goble Roberts, Troop 10; Sue Frost, Allen, Troop 432; Dolores Smith, Allen, Troop 227; Diantha Hodges, Drift, Troop 634; and Lila F. DeRossett, Allen, S. U. Chairman. Business was conducted by Field Adviser Sandra Patton, of Langley, and Leader's annual reports were reviewed.

Day Camp will be held at Archer Park, July 14 through 18, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The fee is $5.40 for the week. Only registered scouts will be accepted this year. Ask your leader for applications. The deadline for applying for Day Camp is June 6. Any parent living below Martin will be required to provide transportation for her own daughter or make arrangements with a car pool. Director of the camp is Sue Frost, of Allen.

The older Scouts in our county are interested in canoeing. A qualified person is needed to work with these girls. If any one is interested, please contact the field adviser, 285-3012, or service unit chairman, 874-2844.

Out-Door Training was held at Camp Chatterawha, May 9 and 10, and was attended by 15 adults from Floyd and surrounding counties. Those receiving certificates from Floyd county are Elmina Nelson and Judy Hackworth, both of West Prestonsburg; Diantha Hodges, of Drift; Liz Conley, of Martin; and Margaret Tackett, of Allen.

Thanks to everyone who purchased the 5,172 boxes of cookies from the Floyd Co. Girl Scouts. Troop 227, of Allen, Leader Dolores Smith, was top sales troop. A total of 47 girls received patches for selling 50 boxes each. Two girls received patches for selling over 100 boxes each. They are Kim DeRossett, Cadette Troop 228, and Penny Roberts, Brownie Troop 19. We now have the much needed mattresses at Camp Chatterawha. In the near future, there will be new battery lanterns and city water.

Wilderness Road Council has presented Mrs. Dolores Smith, of Allen, a certificate of appreciation for her outstanding services as Fund Raising Chairman for 1974. She has been appointed again for 1975. She also has been nominated to the board of directors.

A Thinking Day Program was presented at the Allen Elementary School, Feb. 22. Troops from over the county participated, with Allen Cadette Troop 228 and Senior Troop 532 hosting under leadership of Mary Hinchman.

The Annual Friendship Day was held in Frankfort, April 5. Over 7,000 scouts attended from Wilderness Road Council. Eighteen troops from Floyd County attended. Thanks to the Board of Education for the use of the five school buses, and to the sponsors who helped with some of the financial burden.

Field Adviser Sandy Patton and Junior Troop 227, Leader Dolores Smith, have completed the First Aid course at PCC, and are now certified First Aiders. Other leaders are urged to attend these classes.

Camping, under the direction of Pat Davis, of Lexington, was held at Camp Chatterawha, May 16 through 18. Troops from Letcher Co., and Troop 634, Leader Diantha Hodges, of Drift, enjoyed learning to camp.

There will be day camp training at Archer Park, June 12 and June 21, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Anyone planning to help with Day Camp should attend one of these sessions.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

The regular meeting of the East Point Area Development Club, originally set for Monday evening, June 2, has been changed to Tuesday, June 3, at 7 p.m., due to graduation exercises in the area. The public is invited to attend. Important items of business will include the election of officers for 1974-'75.

To Wed, June 21

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Hall, of Beaver, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Robin Lynn, to Mr. Gary Douglas Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dester Hamilton, of Beaver. Miss Hall is a senior at McDowell High School. The wedding is planned for June 21.

Drift Club Holds 24th Installation

Drift, Ky.—The 24th annual installation of officers of the Drift Woman's Club was held at the May Lodge on May 19, 1975. Forrest Frazier, governor of the Seventh District of Woman's Clubs, installed the following officers for 1975-1976 club year.

President, Mrs. C. J. Cahill; vice-president, Mrs. Lloyd Stumbo; second vice-president, Mrs. Bill Ward; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Glen Ward; recording secretary, Miss Ruby Akers; treasurer, Mrs. Nick Cooley; parliamentarian, Mrs. McKinley Little. Mrs. Bill Ward, outgoing president, was honored by the club as the "Club-woman of the Year."

The Drift Club is sponsoring the organization of a new club in Martin. Its officers were installed at a dinner meeting at the Drift clubhouse, May 22. Mrs. William Hoffman was the installing officer.

On June 16 the Drift club will have an open house party to welcome old members and others who may be interested in joining the club. Mrs. Oscar Sowards, of Lexington, will be the guest-speaker. Mrs. Sowards has long been active in Woman's Club affairs, holding state and federation offices.

Mt. Folk Festival Set at Grayson Lake State Park

By HELEN PRICE STACY
Dulcimers, fiddles and banjos will set the tempo for the sixth annual Mountain Heritage Folk Festival, May 30-June 1, at Grayson Lake State Park. "We have a new time for the festival," said Nancy McClellan of the festival staff, "and a new place."

Moving the event to the beautiful grounds of the state park located in Carter and Elliot counties places the festival in the heart of Appalachian music. Here, in the past years, homes more or less locked in during winter months by lack of roads still had family entertainment. Usually, older family members remembered ballads that had been sung in the mother country and—with self-taught musicians—sat around the fire for an evening of singing, music and old tales.

"Although the festival emphasizes indigenous Appalachian music," said Miss McClellan, "the Saturday afternoon session is devoted to modern 'folk' and bluegrass musical styles."

In this way, the program will have something in it for lovers of various kinds of folklore.

For those who want to bring instruments and participate in workshops in the "mountain" tradition, the times and program directors are: 11 a.m. Saturday, hammered dulcimer with Sam Rizzetta of Barbourville, Va. and Appalachian dulcimer with Barbara Edwards of Ashland; 12:30 p.m., ballads and folksongs with Barbara Edwards; 1:30 p.m., old-time banjo with Lily Mae Ledford Pennington of Lexington; 2:30 p.m., fiddle with J. P. Fraley of Rush; 3:30 p.m., mountain tales with Leonard Roberts of Pikeville; and 4:30 p.m., old-time string band with Gus Meade of Waldorf, Md. All workshops will be in the park's camping area.

Other sessions include old-time music at 7 p.m. Friday and 7 p.m. Saturday, with hymn sings scheduled for Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. "Throughout the festival," said Miss McClellan, "mountain craftsmen and artists will display and sell a variety of handmade objects. Anyone wishing to display his wares is welcome but should contact the festival committee in advance."

Opening time is 4 p.m. May 30 and closing time 6 p.m. Sunday.

Virginia M. Spencer

Mrs. Virginia M. (Virgie) Spencer, 73, of Garrett, died last Thursday at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Mrs. Spencer was a former post-mistress at Garrett and had taught in the Floyd County school system. She was also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club, and was a Kentucky Colonel. A daughter of the late John Wesley and Geneva Martin Moore, she was born March 13, 1902 in Knott County.

Survivors include her husband, Rudolph Spencer; a foster son, T. J. Johnson, of Lexington; two sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Rasmick, of Lexington, and Mrs. Bill Petrey, of Prestonsburg; a foster sister, Mrs. Jackie Shahady, of Laurel, Maryland.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m., Sunday, at the Garrett Missionary Baptist Church by the Revs. W. D. Jagers, Rush Slone, and Edward Sturgill. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Crawford Sturgill

Crawford Sturgill, 84, died Friday at his home at Beaver.

A retired miner and member of the Pentecostal Church for 37 years, he was born at Blue River, a son of the late William and Helen Bradley Sturgill. His wife, Nora Risner Sturgill, preceded him in death.

Surviving are five sons, Bill Sturgill, of Stone, Ky., Cephis Sturgill, of St. Mary's, Ohio, Adam and Joe Sturgill, both of Lima, O., and Hasadore Sturgill, of Titusville, Florida; three daughters, Mrs. Freda Lawson and Mrs. Sadie Hunter, both of Martin, and Mrs. Dona DeRosset, of Louisa; two brothers, Calvin Sturgill, of Springfield, O., and Claude Sturgill, of Jackson, Michigan, and three sisters, Mrs. Gladys Risinger, of Springfield, Mrs. Arizona Cornelius, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Cereda Dean, of Ashland. Thirty grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Faith Bible Chapel with Bob Martin and L. P. Tussey, the officiating ministers. Burial was made in the Click Cemetery at Manton under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Attorney General's Opinions

Judge C. B. Embry, Jr., of Hartford, wrote that coal trucks are damaging the roads in Ohio county. As county judge, Emry asked if it were possible for him to create a county police force consisting of one person, who would serve without pay, to inspect trucking violations. The office of the Attorney General held that the statute covering such an appointment envisions a regular, full-time and systematic county police force, involving a reasonable compensation for the policemen. A one-man operation is something less than the county police force defined in the statutes. Furthermore, furnishing no compensation for these patrolmen appears to be in violation of both state and federal minimum wage laws.

C. Leslie Dawson, secretary of the Department for Human Resources, asked if he could decline to enforce the Kentucky Filled Milk Act, since two different court decisions outside the state have declared the act unconstitutional. The office of the Attorney General's opinion is that the Department for Human Resources is part of the executive branch of government and that failure to enforce an act which is considered constitutional in this state would encroach upon the executive powers of the judiciary. One cannot decline to enforce any law simply because other states have declared that law unconstitutional.

Robin Griffin, Lexington attorney, asked whether the chairman and vice-chairman of a planning and zoning commission have the right to vote as any other member, or whether their right is limited to breaking ties. Since the chairman and vice-chairman are legally constituted members of the commission, the office of the Attorney General is of the opinion that these individuals have the same right to vote on any measures as do the other commission members. The chairman or acting chairman does not have the right to cast a second vote in order to break a tie unless the charter expressly provides for such.

Rom Chumbley, superintendent of Russell county schools, requested a definition of what is required of a teacher before continuing contract status is conferred. The Attorney General's office says an instructor must each four consecutive years or four years out of the last six in the same district. However, in the latter option, the teacher must be reemployed for a fifth year. If, during the teacher's employment, leaves of absence have occurred, these periods must have been granted by the school board for the purpose of the instructor's professional advancement.

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil—The head of an underground network that transported leaders of Brazil's banned Communist Party across the Argentine border has been arrested, police reported yesterday. The man wasn't identified.

Obituaries

Crystle Lee Dotson

Crystle Lee Dotson, infant daughter of James D. and Bonnie Lawson Dotson, of the Middle Creek road, died shortly after birth, May 9 at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

Besides the parents, survivors include a sister, Lesia, at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Green Lawson, Jr., and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Greeley Dotson, of Middle Creek.

Graveside services were conducted May 10 at the Dotson family cemetery with the Rev. Oscar Prater officiating. Burial was made under the direction of the Floyd Funeral Home.

Mrs. Huldy Kiser

Mrs. Huldy Kiser, 74 years old, died Thursday, May 15, at her home at Beaver.

A daughter of the late Preston and Millie Hamilton, she was born November 15, 1900, in Floyd county. Her husband, Andy Kiser, preceded her in death.

Survivors include six sons, Arlie Kiser, of Beaver, Junior and Palmer Kiser, both of Howe, Indiana, Cecil Kiser, of Mongoe, Indiana, Leonard Kiser, of Hi Hat, and Vernon Kiser, of Sturgis, Michigan; three daughters, Mrs. Alma Newsome, of Beaver, and Mrs. Alpha Blankenship and Mrs. Arizona Blankenship, both of Hudson, Indiana, and a sister, Mrs. Martha Hamilton, of Teaberry. Also surviving are 25 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday at 10 a.m. at the home. Burial was made in the Joe Reynolds Cemetery at Beaver under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH

A nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will conduct a pap smear clinic Thursday, May 29, in the old high school building at Wayland from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The health department reminds all women that they should have at least one pap smear every year, because early detection and treatment could completely eliminate deaths caused by cervical cancer.

This clinic is a free service and is open to all women.

Glaucoma is a disease that can slowly and painlessly cause blindness. During the first stages of glaucoma, pressure of the fluid within the eye increases, damaging the nerve fibers which are a major link in the process of seeing. It often takes years for any noticeable warning symptoms to show up and by the time a person realizes what is happening serious and permanent eye damage can occur. For this reason, glaucoma most frequently occurs in persons over 35 years of age.

The Floyd County Health Department is conducting a glaucoma clinic Friday, May 30, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The health department urges all persons over 35 years of age to take advantage of this free service because periodic eye examinations are your best defense against glaucoma.

A nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will conduct an outpost clinic Monday, June 2, at Dr. Claude L. Allen's office in Martin from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with the following services being available, free of charge: Immunizations, diabetes screening, pap smears, blood pressures, TB skin tests and hemoglobins.

The health department urges all parents to check with their doctor or the health department to see if their children have had all their required immunizations and, if they haven't, to take advantage of this opportunity.

Diabetes Mellitus is the sixth leading cause of death in Kentucky and the third leading cause of blindness in the United States. Diabetes results when the body can't use sugars and starches properly which causes the amount of sugar in the blood to be abnormally high.

It is estimated that there are approximately 25,000 "hidden diabetics" in Kentucky. You could be one of these. Find out for sure by having a simple blood test for a serious disease. Diabetes screening is provided, free of charge, by the Floyd County Health Department, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m., Sunday, at Hall Brothers Funeral Home chapel. Burial was made in the Lucy Hall cemetery, Monday.

Tom Stephens

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon (Wednesday) at the Carter Funeral Home chapel for Tom Stephens, 83, of Cliff, who died Monday morning at Highlands Regional Medical Center following an extended illness. The Rev. Clarence LeMaster will be the officiating minister.

A son of the late Zack and Cynthia Brown Stephens, he was a retired employee of Turner-Elkhorn Mining Company, member of United Mine Workers of America, District 30.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Ethel Blackburn Stephens; two daughters, Mrs. Bill Douglas Williams, of Cliff, and Mrs. George Laven, of Allen; five sisters, Mrs. Anna Hale, of West Prestonsburg, Mrs. Bess Wells, of Auxier, Mrs. Jennie Horn, of Bays Branch, Mrs. Edith George, of East Point, and Mrs. Lucy Music, of Elk City, Oklahoma.

Burial will be made in the Richmond Memorial Cemetery here.

Mrs. Kitty Allen Harmon

Mrs. Kitty Allen Harmon, 81, of Prestonsburg, died Saturday at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

A native of Breathitt county, she was a daughter of the late Jerry and Della Patton Allen, and was a member of the Community Methodist Church. She was the widow of James Harmon who died in 1973.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Ann Gibson, of Wheelwright, and Mrs. Clara Allen, of Cincinnati, O.; a son, James Harmon, Jr., of Prestonsburg; a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Fannin, of Baltimore, Md.; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday at the Community Methodist Church here by the Rev. S. B. Rucker. Burial was made in the May cemetery under direction of Carter Funeral Home.

Commend Bible Reading

I would like the following published in the Floyd County Times. Since the people of the world are so cruel, I think it is time that we, God's people, need to stand up for our belief in God. It is terrible to think what one person can do or get done, like getting the Bible out of the schools; and now of getting it stopped, that it can't be read in the spacecraft as they orbit in space. Please publish the type written article where each person will read. This is sent in by the Salisbury Methodist Christian Ladies Fellowship Club, Nora Scarberry, secretary.

I, personally appreciate and wholeheartedly support the decision of the Astronauts to read the Bible from their space craft as they orbited the moon in December, 1968.

I further support the right of any human to express his faith in God and the Bible without fear of censure.

Sincerely,

Library Services Honors Perkins

Rep. Carl D. Perkins, of the Seventh congressional district, main speaker at the recent statewide conference on libraries in Lexington, received a Certificate of Achievement in Public Library Services from the state Department of Library and Archives. Perkins was awarded the certificate for his support of libraries during his terms in Congress.

Several area residents joined 450 other Kentuckians recently in Lexington for a statewide conference on libraries.

Conference chairman C. Vernon Cooper Jr., of Hazard, and other speakers recalled past progress in library development in Kentucky and outlined hopes and needs for the future.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins said, "I can think of no instance in which Kentucky's national leadership has been more forthright or more constructive than in the field of library development and service."

In a letter to the conference, Gov. Julian Carroll praised Kentucky's libraries, which he called the "citizens' free universities," for their role in cooperating with the schools to educate all citizens, "young and old, rich and poor, at their own pace to fulfill their own goals."

But to keep Kentucky's library system strong, several speakers emphasized, continuing financial support is needed at the federal, state and local levels.

Perkins called for citizen support when the federal Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) comes up for renewal by Congress in 1976. "Frankly, it is not going to be easy to extend and improve the LSCA," he said. "And when we do it, it is not going to be easy to extend and improve the LSCA," he said. "And when we do it, it is not going to be easy to get the executive branch to budget the funds we authorize for libraries. But we are going to it," Perkins stressed.

Eileen Cooke, executive director of the American Library Association, told public officials at the conference, "We need each other. Libraries need the support of political leaders; government leaders and their constituents need the information libraries have to offer."

The importance of the library as an information center was also emphasized by Charles Hinds, director of the Kentucky Department of Library and Archives. Hinds said he believes the federal government is in a state of crisis in which control of information and the press could come to rest with "those who love power."

"It is the library's role in developing information systems for the nation to keep information open to all citizens," Hinds said.

"It is also the policy of Kentucky's state government to emphasize open meetings and open records," he added.

District Sportsmen
To Select Nominee
At Pikeville Meet

Sportsmen in the 12 Kentucky counties of the Seventh Wildlife District will meet next Tuesday night to pick nominees for a seat on the Department of Fish and Wildlife Commission.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the circuit courtroom at Pikeville. Eligible participants will select five candidates for the commission. The governor then appoints one of the nominees to a four-year commission term.

Any person living in the Seventh Wildlife District who has been licensed to hunt or fish in Kentucky for the past two consecutive years is eligible to vote.

Counties comprising the district are Floyd, Breathitt, Elliott, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Perry and Pike.

The Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission meets four times a year and oversees Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources activities. It is composed of a commissioner from each of the nine wildlife districts in the state.

The current commissioner from the Seventh District is Dr. C. L. Allen, of Martin, whose term will expire in August.

INSPECTION PERIOD FOR THE PROPERTY TAX
ASSESSMENT ROLL

The Floyd County property tax roll will be opened for inspection from June 2 through June 6, 1975. Under the supervision of the property valuation administrator or one of his deputies, any property owner may inspect the tax roll to check the assessment of his property and compare it with the assessment of comparable property to determine whether it is equitably assessed. The tax roll may not be inspected for any other purpose.

This is the January 1, 1975 assessment on which state, county, and school taxes for 1975 will be due on September 15, 1975.

The tax roll is in the office of the property valuation administrator in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Mr., Mrs. Hall Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall, of Teaberry, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a family reunion at May Lodge, Sunday, May 11.

The couple was married on May 12, 1925, in Pike County, Ky., by the late Rev. Jonah Issac.

Nine of their ten children were present, and many grandchildren and great grandchildren. S-Sgt. Lloyd H. Hall, who is with the army in Germany, could not attend. Also attending the reunion were friends and relatives from six states. Dinner was served buffet style for approximately 130 guests. Many very beautiful gifts were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall wish to thank all the relatives and friends for making their Golden Wedding Day a most memorable one.

Mr., Mrs. Hall Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall, of Teaberry, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a family reunion at May Lodge, Sunday, May 11.

The couple was married on May 12, 1925, in Pike County, Ky., by the late Rev. Jonah Issac.

Nine of their ten children were present, and many grandchildren and great grandchildren. S-Sgt. Lloyd H. Hall, who is with the army in Germany, could not attend. Also attending the reunion were friends and relatives from six states. Dinner was served buffet style for approximately 130 guests. Many very beautiful gifts were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall wish to thank all the relatives and friends for making their Golden Wedding Day a most memorable one.

Almost everyday, we hear people saying, "I'm going to the bank" or "I'll meet you at the bank". They don't mention our full name. They just say "The Bank". We consider them friends, because our friends call us by our first name. We believe that being on a first-name basis with someone is the beginning of a warm and personal relationship.

The Bank. We like the sound of it. It's really what we are. A friend, a neighbor, the place to take care of all your banking needs.

The Bank. It's what our friends call us. Won't you think of us as an old friend and call us by our first name?

Any Old Port in a Storm

The furry creature in photo is no squirrel, but a healthy ground-hog specimen which, for want of a good rock to crawl under, took a tree recently in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Barkley Sturgill, of Trimble Branch, when neighborhood dogs "got all excited." The rotund rodent waited patiently through the day and attempted a daring break by night. Even though dogs became alerted to the escape attempt, the ground hog reportedly flashed its incisors a couple of times, bluffed out the assorted terriers, dachshunds, and other vicious neighborhood breeds, and fled, only slightly ruffled, to the safety of the hill. Local "authorities" on such matters say that groundhogs take to trees rarely.

Consumer Comments

American consumers have wasted no time in learning to say "Charge it." It has been estimated that half of America's families have at least one credit card. About 17 million families use three or more credit cards and 6 million families use nine or more cards.

Credit cards are a convenience, but their misuse can lead to problems.

Credit cards may be issued by banks, stores, airlines, oil companies or travel and entertainment organizations. They are honored at thousands of stores, restaurants, hotels and motels, gas stations, airlines and car rental agencies, among others. But don't assume that your card will be honored—ask first. Usually merchants who honor a card will show the card's symbol or insignia on their windows.

Some credit cards, especially cards issued by a bank, limit the amount of purchases you may owe at one time. This credit limit is based on your credit rating and may range anywhere from $400 to $5,000.

An exceptionally large purchase may be questioned as some merchants have what's called a "floor limit," where a purchase over a certain amount requires direct authorization from the bank issuing the card.

Many consumers are afraid that their credit cards will be stolen and used by some unknown persons to buy new Cadillacs, mink coats and yachts. If you notify the issuer promptly of any loss or theft, your liability may be only $50 or so. But remember if you have five different credit cards and lose them all, your liability—at $50 per card—could reach $250.

To protect yourself, don't leave a credit card lying around. And periodically check your cards to be sure that you have them all. Keep a separate list of the cards, their numbers and who to contact in case of loss or theft.

As in any consumer transaction, check the receipt slip carefully before you sign, including the total cost. When you complete a purchase, be sure to take your credit card, along with your purchase! Finally, keep your receipt and compare it with the statement that you receive. If there is a billing error, immediately notify the card issuer by telephone and follow this up with written notification of the error.

If you have a problem with your credit card or if you have any other type of consumer complaint, contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection. Kentucky consumers may call toll-free on the consumer hotline by dialing 1-800-372-2960. You may write to Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, The Capitol—Room 34, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

'SAFER' GRENADE PATENTED
WASHINGTON—A father and son team in Brooklyn believes it has developed a hand grenade that for the first time eliminates the danger to the person carrying it without significantly reducing the speed with which it can be used.

To be withdrawn, the device's pin must be turned 90 degrees. Before it is turned, a green color indicates safety, and after the turn a red warning shows.

By Ted Kesting

"For the past year I've been firing a loaded question at seasoned anglers," says Homer Circle, "and they've fired back some of the goldangdest answers." Homer's question is: "Which fish is the greatest striker of surface lures?"

The opinions offered varied with the angler and where he did his fishing. The votes went for largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, striped bass, white bass, bowfins, barracudas, bull bluegills and so on—each being the preference of one particular angler and for one particular reason.

Homer's own choice is the northern pike.

"I'm convinced," he says, "that it will attack a surface lure with more spectacular variety than any other species. Even more than the tucunare or dorado, two of South America's great jungle species and among my all-time favorites."

When he wants surface-striking entertainment he goes for pike with a lure and a method guaranteed to goad them into incredibly vicious attacks. You are invited to try this method the next time you are in pike country.

The floating lure should be at least five inches long to reduce strikes from junior pike. It should also have a propeller on the head only. Further, by polishing the shaft and beads with steel wool you should be able to make that propeller spin by merely blowing on it.

Then, and this is important, add enough wire to the shank of the tail hook to cause the lure to rest on the water with the tail end sinking at about a 20-degree angle. Otherwise you will miss too many strikes because the pike will knock the lure into the air rather than engulfing it as he should.

Here's the nub of the method. Look for cattails, pencil weeds, reeds and weedy clusters bordering deepening water. Cast the lure close to such cover and start it toward you the instant it touches down. Keep the nose spinner churning continuously.

Marshall University Music Camp Set July 14-27

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—Registration is now open for Marshall University's 1975 Summer Music Camp to be held July 14-27 in Smith Music Hall on the MU campus. More than 300 students are expected to participate.

The camp, greatly enlarged in scope this year, will feature an array of guest conductors and teachers, nightly concerts and social events, and optional courses in vocal techniques, eurhythmics (body motion), instrument repair and jazz improvisation.

Classes begin at 9 a.m. daily, making it possible for students to commute within a range of 50 miles, but room and board, or room only, are available to anyone wishing to live on the MU campus. Room and board is $75. Room only is $45. Tuition for the camp is $35. Registration should be made prior to June 15. The camp is open to all students in the Tri-State Area, from the ninth grade (as of fall, 1975) through the twelfth grade. Even graduating high school seniors are eligible, and if they are considering music as a college major, the camp will provide them a preview of musical study on a college campus.

PHS All-Sports Banquet Recognizes Athletes, Personnel

The Annual Prestonsburg High School All-Sports Banquet was held May 10 at the PHS cafeteria with trophies and special awards going to outstanding athletes and personnel in all categories of school sports.

After a buffet-style dinner, Ronald Hager, school principal, gave the welcoming address followed by a talk by PHS Athletic Director Bobby Wells. Master of Ceremonies for the night was the Rev. W. D. Jagers.

After the dinner, the various awards were presented.

Awards went first to the Blackcat cheerleaders, who are sponsored by Linda Setser. The Best School Spirit Award went to Kim Steffey and individual cheerleader trophies were presented to the ten Varsity: Julie Bolling, Janie Branham, Kim Steffey, Paula Goble (seniors); Kim Alexander, Susan Wells, Kim Shannon (juniors); Margie Jagers, Nina Fannin, Beth Martin (sophomores).

Awards were this year presented to representatives of the girl's basketball team which is coached by Linda Setser. Awards included the following: Most Improved Player trophy, Danita Risner; 110 per cent trophy, Jo Ann Ousley; Most Valuable Player, Bridget Clay, and Scholar Athlete, Donna Patrick.

In the baseball awards, Rob Herrick was named Most Valuable Player. Best Offense Award went to Randy Wells, Best Defense to Del Jagers, 110 Per Cent Award to Mike Dixon and Benjie Caudill was named Scholar Athlete. Coach of the baseball team is Fred Setser.

Coach Fred Setser's basketball team, winners of the District tournament for the first time since the 1950's, were recognized. Individual awards included the following: 110 Per Cent, Del Jagers; Most Versatile, Dennis Walker; Foul Shot, David Flanery; Best Rebounder, Gorman Collins; Best Offense, Rob Herrick; Best Defense, David Harrington; Playmaker, Kip McNally, and Scholar Athlete, David Flanery.

In football, which was coached last year by Ed Radjunas and John Wayne Shepherd, the Most Valuable Player Award went to Danny Layne. Other awards included Best Offensive Back, Steve Campbell; Best Offensive Lineman, Don Chaffin; Best Defensive Back, Blake Burchett; Best Defensive Lineman, John P. Layne. Co-Captain plaques were presented to Del Jagers, Steve Campbell, Leo Whitt and Danny Layne.

Appreciation gifts and plaques were given by the athletes to the following: Bobby Wells, athletic director, from the girl's basketball and track team; Coaches John Wayne Shepherd and Ed Radjunas, from the football team. Coaches Fred Setser and Ronnie Robinson were presented a stereo tape player for their basketball office and the four senior varsity cheerleaders gave their sponsor, Mrs. Linda Setser, a gold bracelet. A special plaque went to Bill Bob Callihan, All-Sports manager.

In addition to the special awards, plaques donated by Music-Carter-Hughes were presented to all sports participants signifying their achievement.

activities of a deep mine until the environmental protection department adopts regulations covering those activities. Further, the operators denied that the surface was significantly affected by their operation.

Elmer Sizemore, the inspector with the department's division of reclamation who issued a noncompliance order to the firm April 30, testified that surface land had been disturbed at two mine sites near U.S. 421 in Leslie county. He also said the firm had pushed spoil (rock, dirt and debris removed from a hillside when mining begins) over the mountain, causing what he termed a significant effect on the surface areas and a detrimental effect on the environment.

Duff, however, said the firm had performed only the normal activities necessary to begin a deep mine—including obtaining a license to deep mine from the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals.

Duff contended the Asher firm had not engaged in strip mining and the state reclamation agency could not take action against a deep mine until regulations were adopted. He argued that the law governing surface effects of deep mining, which was passed by the 1974 Kentucky General Assembly, was so vague that the average person couldn't tell what was legal or illegal. Duff said his client and other miners would not be able to tell what they could do and what constituted a significant effect to the surface until regulations were passed.

Those regulations are still being prepared by the environmental protection department.

Department attorney Joe Zeluski contended, however, that the 1974 law was enforceable even without regulations. He maintained any reasonable person could determine what was a significant effect on the environment.

Prewitt will submit findings of fact in the case and recommendations to John S. Hoffman, secretary of the environmental protection department.

Enforceability of Law Debated At Recent Reclamation Hearing

By MARVA GAY

Attorneys for a Leslie county coal mine operation and the state's reclamation agency squared off last week at a hearing in Frankfort.

Attorneys for the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection argued before hearing officer Allen Prewitt that Asher Coal & Lumber Company, of Hyden, had violated state reclamation laws by significantly affecting surface land and by operating a strip mine without a permit.

Don Duff, attorney for Asher Coal & Lumber, countered that the mine was not a strip mine but a deep mine and that the state could not control the surface ac-
