Woman, 23, Held Here In Slaying

Martin Man Slain; Second Woman Held After Husband Shot

Two Floyd county women were jailed here Monday and were charged with shooting their husbands.

Mrs. Mary Sue Couch Flanery, 23, is held on a murder charge in the fatal shooting of her husband, Kirby Lee Flanery, 23, Monday afternoon at their mobile home on Buck's Branch, near

Mrs. Naomi Martin, 38, was jailed Monday night after her husband, Clarence Martin, had been shot at the Martin home at Drift. Martin's condition is stable and he is expected to recover, County Attorney James R. Allen was told Tuesday morning.

Flanery, who was a C. & O. brakeman, was shot one time in his head. A .38calibre revolver from which the shot apparently was fired was recovered by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, who brought Mrs. Flanery to jail. The sheriff said the victim lay on the floor, beside a bed, and that the revolver was on the opposite side

The couple and their two children, age 2 and 3, were the only persons present at the time of the shooting, Sheriff Lewis was told. He said Mrs. Flanery after the shooting called a relative of her husband, who then called the sheriff's office.

Mrs. Flanery was highly nervous and could not make a coherent statement, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Martin claimed her husband was wounded accidentally. A bullet from a .38-calibre revolver entered his chest and ranged downward. He was taken to the UK Medical Center, Lexington, and it

Road Contract Not To Include Work on Cliffs

Gail Mullins, Pikeville district engineer for the state Bureau of Highways, said Tuesday that work begun and then abandoned on the cliff bordering US 23 in the lower section of Prestonsburg will perhaps be let to contract and resumed this fall.

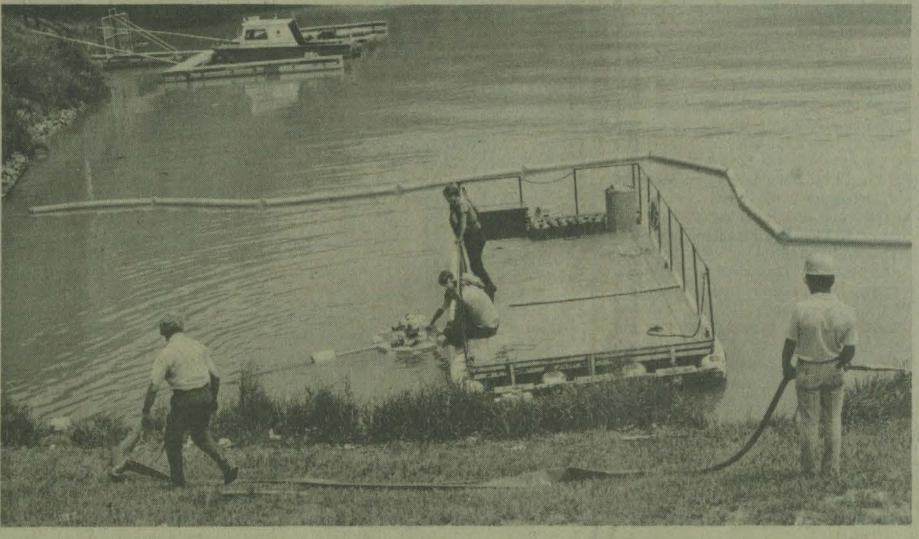

The state began work on the cliff earlier this year, using its own personnel, but promptly ran into blasting problems. Mr. Mullins said two blasts threaten a flock of damage suits.

Asked if the state has plans for terracing cliffs bordering US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville, the district engineer said the dangers of the situation are recognized and that a study of the road has been made. He added that estimates of the cost of the work have been made, and that they are heavy.

The safety work now proposed along the route between the two towns will primarily concern guard-rails, ends of which will be buried or sloped.

Simulated Oil Spill Cleanup

Representatives of Acme Products, Inc., Tulsa, Okla., in a simulated oil spill and cleanup operation at Dewey Lake, June 24. The demonstration, a part of Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's continuing program for environmental protection, attracted the interest of state and federal personnel involved in environmental protection, as well as officials of other companies. The spill and cleanup were staged with the cooperation of the U.S. Corps of Engineers. At left in photo is shown a floating gasoline-powered pump which pumped the "oil" through a hose, in this case spraying it onto the shore but in a real emergency used to pump the spill into tanks. On the surface of the water is a floating barrier which "corrals" the spill within a concentrated area.

Water System To Serve David: Park Work Seen

Announcing the approval last Friday of $3,331,425 in construction work for Eastern Kentucky under HUD community projects, Congressman Carl D. Perkins said $483,000 of this total will be for water district expansion and for the building of a recreation complex in Floyd

Of the total earmarked for this county, $300,000 will go to the Beaver Elkhorn Water District to extend water service from the mouth of Brush Creek on Right Beaver Creek to the town of David. This would include service to homes and businesses between those two points, along the left fork of Middle Creek and between Buckeye and David.

The water district expansion is also to benefit from an Appalachian Regional Commission grant of $286,000.

The remaining $183,200 of the HUD grant approved for this county is intended for a recreation complex which was not definitely identified. County officials have talked for several months the construction of such a central facility in the vicinity of Allen, and plans for the work have been drawn, but nobody here could say that this is the project for which the HUD funds are intended.

County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney James R. Allen have been negotiating for the acquisition of a site for the big recreation project on land owned near Allen by a coal company and have been encouraged by the reaction of George E. Evans, Jr., of Wayland and

Kidnap Charge Lodged Against Middle Cr. Men

Three residents of the Middle Creek section of the county are under $5,000 bond each after their arrests on charges of kidnapping.

The charges against Earl Ray Slone, Richard Hale and Kenneth Ray Webb were filed by a high-school-age girl of the same area last Wednesday, three days after the alleged offense was committed. In separate affidavits she accused the defendants of "committing the offense of kidnapping by unlawfully forcing her into a car and restraining her with intent to rape and terrorize her."

Three persons were arrested within the week on liquor charges. Jeff Marshall, Jr., of Sizemore, was charged with transporting and possession for the purpose of sale after he had been arrested last Friday in the Water Gap vicinity by Commonwealth's Detective Doug Lewis. Twenty cases of beer were confiscated.

Twenty-two cases of beer were taken last Wednesday by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Doug Lewis in a raid on the premises of Oscar Akers, of Toler Creek. He was charged with possession. William Newsome, Jr., of Ligon, was arrested Saturday by Doug Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Linzie Hunt, who confiscated 42 cans of beer and five half-pints of whiskey and vodka. He also was booked on a possession charge.

Roger Hicks was arrested here Saturday night and charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages and marijuana. The arrest was made by State Trooper Castle and Policemen Campbell and Potter.

Speaking (or were we?) of making the Eagle scream on July Fourth, too many these days are throwing themselves out of joint, trying to make the noble bird cry, "Ouch!"

SUMMER DID ARRIVE

Three weeks ago, I joined those who declared the seasons "were all turned around" and expressed some doubt that there would be any real summer. Without consulting the thermometer, I somehow have gained the impression, these last few days, however, that summer is coming around, as usual. Dewey Lake remained muddy so long that I panned it (not for gold) and was ready to announce that here was water whose color was, as they say, fast, its gold never fading. But the lake is fading into blue at last and looking more like what I believe the Creator intended for water to be.

They put baseball players who bat above .300 in the headlines. My batting average on all matters to which I give tongue is at least that high.

THE TURN OF EVENTS

I am reminded that a former governor of Texas, Coke Stevenson, is thought to be a dying man. This is the same man who was defeated by Lyndon B. Johnson for U.S. Senator in 1948 by 87 votes. One George Pharr, who was county judge and political dictator of Duvall county, is credited with the LBJ "landslide," because his county gave the future

President 4400 votes to 42 for Stevenson. James Morell, of San Angelo, Texas, formerly of Prestonsburg, ponders the resultant chain of events in this fashion:

"If this crooked, little county judge had just been neutral in that Senate race, LBJ would not have gone to the Senate and would not have been Kennedy's running mate. Kennedy would not have been President without Johnson's help in the South. Kennedy would not have been shot in Dallas, Nixon would have been (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Solid Waste Talked At June 24 Meet

A work session on solid waste disposal was neld last Tuesday at the courthouse here, with representatives of the Division of Solid Waste, Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, conferring with the four magistrates, and the county planner, Claude Swiney.

Ideas were exchanged in an attempt to provide adequate landfill facilities for Floyd County citizens. Proposed landfill locations and capital construction costs and operating expenses were discussed. Efforts are being made to locate more landfill locations soon.

It is estimated that if no other landfill is placed in operation and only the present Turkey Creek site is used, this location will be filled beyond further use with in a

Floyd Woman Among Five Suing HEW Head

The Appalachian Research and August, and her application was denied Defense Fund (APPALRED) has filed on behalf of five Kentuckians, one of whom is a Floyd county woman, a class action in U. S. district court against Caspar Weinberger, secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), seeking declaratory and injunctive relief to compel HEW to act on applications filed by the plaintiffs for disability benefits under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) section of the Social Security Act.

subjected to inordinate delays in their attempts to get reviews of the initial denial of their applications, that such delays have caused them irreparable injury and that HEW's failure to act violates the Due Process clause of the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Plaintiffs represent a wide section of Eastern Kentucky. Nancy Sevier, 43, resides on Brandy Keg Creek, in this county; Gracie Sturgill, 46, at Berea, in Madison county; Bertha Tincher, 55, at Sand Gap, Jackson county; Lennie Fletcher, 56, at Marshallville, Magoffin county; Pearlie Stepp, 62, of Warfield, Martin county.

The SSI program for aged, blind and disabled persons was established by Congress to federalize stateadministered assistance programs for such persons. Eligibility is bases on need, and the amount the claimant is to receive is to be the minimum essential to maintain oneself.

In the case of the Floyd county woman, the complaint says:

She applied for SSI benefits last three months later. She again was denied last December 4, and 15 days later she requested a hearing. HEW apparently has since that time been silent. She claims to have no income, no medical card, is technically ineligible for food stamps because she lives in the household of her brother. She claims, however, that she receives no benefit from such residence and because of her financial condition is unable to get the treatment and medicines her heart and Plaintiffs allege that they have been diabetic conditions require. She says her physical condition has grown worse because of infrequent or inadequate treatment and that she must borrow money each month to pay for the necessities of life.

> The plaintiffs claim action on their requests for hearings have been delayed from six to ten months.

Lake Dragged Sunday As Drowning Feared

A woman's report to park rangers that she saw a girl dive into Dewey Lake in the Stratton Branch beach area Sunday afternoon and that she did not see her surface resulted in a five-hour search of the area by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad. Dragging operations were followed by a search made by scuba divers.

No individual was reported missing, but park and state police were convinced the women who made the report was sincere. The search ended around 7 p.m.

Hindman To Draw on Floyd Water System

Residents of the town of Hindman, Knott county, in the Kentucky River watershed, within a matter of months will be drinking Big Sandy water.

His town plagued by recurring water supply troubles, Hindman Mayor George Clarke announced Tuesday that a HUD grant of $590,000 approved last week will be used for the construction of a water main from Hindman to connect, near Lackey, with the Beaver Elkhorn Water

District system which already is supplying the Beaver Creek sections of this Beaver Elkhorn takes its water from the Big Sandy at Allen, where its purification plant and other installations are located. It will sell water, wholesale, to Hindman, and the system's only outlay will be for the installation of a master meter at the junction of the line from Knott county with the Beaver Elkhorn main at Lackey.

Mayor Clark said the line construction will be let to contract and that he is hopeful work can be begun within 60 days. At first, the Beaver Elkhorn water will be used on a standby basis, he said, but he foresees the addition of 100 or more customers along the 18 miles over which the water line will pass from Lackey to Hindman, and this will mean steady use of the Floyd system's water.

Hindman presently is supplied water from one deep well. "And a good one, too," Clark said, pointing out that it has a daily capacity of 215,000 gallons.

But Hindman's water system is in a poor state of repair. It broke down last Friday and was back in operation till Tuesday. "We simply don't have the money to hire qualified people to operate and maintain it," the mayor said.

Appalachian Regional Commission help is expected on sewerage for Hindman, Mayor Clark said. And it is urgently needed, he added. "In fact," he said, "Troublesome Creek is an open sewer. The sewer system was in bad shape before the recent flood. Now, it's much worse."

Happy Birthday, America—Your 200th— May God Bless Us To Have a Thousand More!

Guide that Mr. James A. Michener writes an article about his hope that the major networks of television would portray a grand scale, or spectacular, about or in celebration of our nation's two hundredth birthday, our Bi-Centennial. And, to his dismay, he finds no such is taking place. He cites the following reasons: scandals, defeats, and failures in our economic and social structure, that every one is afraid to blow the horns and ring the bells of celebration. I say, fiddlesticks to any such puny thinking by

I think our great country and its rich heritage is far too great to be trodden down and a lid capped on it by such little events as a lost fight in Vietnam, or lost war, or a Watergate, or by crooked politics practiced by both Democrats and Republicans, or by greedy manipulators, like the media or the lobbysit. We'll always have our rotten rats that would sink our country for their own gain, the self-professed goody-goodies that are rotten to the bone. I know, none of us are perfect, but if we would all see America as I see it and believe in it as I believe in it! Then I think we have so much to be thankful for, I just don't have the room, or the words to express my appreciation of America as much as I would like to, but the following will give you a pretty good idea of how I feel about my Country.

I am overwhelmingly proud to be an American, and to be blessed to participate in the celebration of my country's two hundredth birthday. I love my country and my people. I have a very soft spot in my heart for the great American Indian, who is indeed the true American. I love every foot of ground from East to West, North to South. I love every tree, every rock, every drop of water, every breath of air, every mountain, every river and stream, ever waterfall, every meadow and plain, every gorge and canyon, every panomarac view or vista,

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH (Health Educator)

The Floyd County Health Department announces that there will be no nursing services available Thursday, July 3, due to an inservice training session in Paintsville regarding tuberculosis. The health department will be closed Friday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day.

Monday, July 7, a public health nurse will conduct an outpost clinic at Dr. Claude Allen's office in Martin from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The following free services will be available: TB skin tests, immunizations, diabetes screening, blood pressures and pap smears. Nursing services at the health department on this day will be available only between the hours of 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The Health Department will be providing immunizations July 9 and 10 for all children in Head Start. Due to this service, the Health Department will be unable to render any nursing or clerical services on this day.

The big day is only two months away for some children in Floyd county who will be enrolling in the first grade this fall. Two months sounds like a long time for a child, but, as every parent knows, those months can go by in a hurry.

Certain immunizations are required by state law before a child can be eligible to enroll in school. Ideally, every youngster should be immunized aginst diphtheria, pertussis (or whooping cough), tetanus, polio, measles and rubella by the time he is two years of age-in which case, only booster doses will be required before school entry.

It is extremely important that parents check with their physicians or the county health department now, to see if their children have had all their required immunizations. These immunizations are important because a serious illness from any of these infectious diseases can cause death, or severe complications that cause permanent health problems.

The Floyd County Health Department offers immunizations against all of these diseases, free of charge, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Venereal disease is the number one communicable disease in the nation. There is more V.D. than infectious hepatitis, malaria, polio, whooping cough, German measles, strep throat, and tuberculosis combined.

Venereal disease can and does attack the young and old, male and female, and people of all social classes. However, teenagers and young adults account for more than half of all cases of V.D.

Since V.D. is so contagious and presents such a threatening health problem, Kentucky statutes permit treatment of minors for venereal disease without parental permission. If you think you have now or recently been exposed to venereal disease, visit your local physician or the Floyd County Health Department.

Remember, V.D. plays no favorites.

VISITS HERE

Mrs. Gertrude Owsley, who has been here visiting her mother, Mrs. Nora Decker, has returned home. Her mother accompanied her home.

I notice in the June 28th issue of T. V. every park or wonderful sights of nature, every town and city, every street and avenue and corner, and every home. I love the beauty of it all. I wouldn't trade it for anywhere else on earth. I thank God for our bountiful harvests, He has so endowed us with. I love our heritage of freedom and liberty, I thank God for that.

We as a people do have our troubles, which, of course, are brought on by greedy manipulators, and, worse still, by those who seek to destroy our way of life. These, of course, I do not like, the dirty, rotten parasites or crumbs or termites that keep hacking away at our foundation of Freedom and Liberty. Those should be weeded out, and given the remarkable way of Indian justice—tie 'em to a stake and burn them, or deport them to the place of their own liking, BURNING WOULD BE BEST. 1 do not like Leninism, communism, fascism or any other ism, except Americanism.

I have served my country in foreign lands and have traveled and seen their way of life and strife. I have traveled in our own land, north and south and coast to coast, and it's the one I love the most.

Complacency has no place in our way of life. Constant awareness and vigilance must prevail, to preserve our priceless heritage and wonderful land that God has given us, to live in freedom to worship Him as we please and when we please; to go and come as we please, and not to be opposed or oppressed or restrained by any dictator or dictatorial power, such as so many other lands have. (We have some would-be dictators here now, whose wings need clipping and put them in the right perspective for the good of all concerned, and we are all concerned.)

We must not sit on our laurels, neither must we sit and moan over our errors, defeats or failures or let them deter us from going on to greater heights than ever before, or from losing our perspective, or retaining our most precious asset, FREEDOM and LIBERTY.

Let not the millionaire or the rich man forget whence his fortune came, that he be not like the hog, eating acorns from the great oak tree, and never looking up to appreciate where they are coming

If we live right, we have God on our side to preserve our way of life. They that would destroy or bury us, as one dictator once said, are the legions of the devil, old Satan himself. They may make us suffer, but they will not destroy us. As it is said in the Holy Bible, "IF GOD BE WITH US, WHO CAN BE AGAINST US?"

So let's let the bells of freedom ring and sound your horns of praise and celebrate with joy the BIRTHDAY of AMERICA. OUR AMERICA. OUR HOME of the FREE AND THE BRAVE.

Thank God for our ancestors who laid the foundation to our Republic, thank God for it all!

'Too Good To Be True'

When The Times received from the Bureau of Highways last week an advertisement of work to be done on US 23, from Prestonsburg to Paintsville, and noted that this proposed work involves safety improvements, we quickly made the mental note: This is too good to be true.

And it was, because what the state plans aren't the safety improvements for which we've all been hoping. The planned work is not to terrace those steep, overhanging rock walls which border the highway and in spots make it more of a gauntlet than a highway.

The work to be done is on guard rails, mainly to bury or slope the raw ends of the rails and prevent loss of life in this way.

We approve that work. But we can never be satisfied as long as the heavily travelled highway between Prestonsburg and Paintsville continue to be 14 miles of mental torture and mortal hazard.

The cost of such work would, of course, be heavy. But human life is worth more. Something should be done now, without waiting for the distant day when a new four-lane US 23 will be built, perhaps in a new location.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL

(Director of Environmental Studies, Morehead State University)

One of the major medical scares of recent years involved mercury, an element found infood and in the environment in general.

A graduate student was concerned in 1970 about the increasing use of mercury in industrial processes in Canada. He sent fish samples from Lake St. Clark to California for analysis. Methylmercury chloride levels were found to be much higher than the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's maximum level of 0.5 parts per million. The sources were said to be two chloride plants discharging mercury wastes into the Detroit and St.

Near panic ensued. Mercury tests were run on nearly every major fishery in the U. S. and most of the world. Industries using mercury in processing came under suspicion. The mercury content of air was analyzed in various parts of the world. The furor has now subsided somehwat but some nagging questions remain. Did we not know that mercury was an environmental hazard before 1970? What were the experiences of other countries? Do we have controls over mercury use and discharge?

The truth is that we have known about the effects of high mercury concentrations for at least 20 years. More than 120 persons have died of mercury poisoning in Japan since 1953 and other out of this environmental disease have occurred throughout the world. In the U. Mrs. Sallye L. Clark entertained to S. the Huckleby family of Alamorgordo, N. M., experienced a methylmercury tragedy when they fed waste grain seed treated with a methylmercury fungicide to their hogs. The family ate the meat of one hog and tragedy struck. Four children suffered severe nerve damage and an unborn child entered the world blind and retarded.

Mercury is changed into its deadly form, methylmercury, by several natural processes. Once inside the human body, methylmercury attacks cell proteins and disrupts their normal processes. The brain succumbs to the ravages of mercury more readily than other tissues, the brain's visual, hearing and equilibrium centers are affected. This is why the typical symptoms of mercury poisoning are blindness, deafness and loss of balance.

The issue is still not settled because several researchers have concluded that mercury is not the threat to the environment that many people have claimed. Other investigators maintain that it is a major threat.

THIS DAY

July 2, 1862-On this day, 113 years ago, the Land-Grant Act was passed by Congress. It was sponsored by Representative Justin S. Morrill, of Vermont. Each state was given 30,000 acres of land for each Senator and Representative it had in Congress. The land was to be sold and the income to be used to establish agricultural and mechanical arts colleges and universities. One of the provisions of the Act was that military science and tactics were to be added to the curriculum.

At Civil Preparedness Meet

County Judge Henry Stumbo (left) and Petty Thompson Floyd County Civil Defense director (right) discuss the disaster preparedness program with Jim Hampton, area coordinator for the state Division of Disaster and Emergency Services.

County Civil Defense Director Petty Thompson were among about 35 public officials from 31 Kentucky counties attending an advanced civil preparedness seminar at Jenny Wiley State Park recently.

The seminar was conducted by members of the state Disaster and Emergency Services staff and was designed to acquaint the officials with the disaster preparedness program at all levels. The staff members presented information on a variety of topics of interest to the local officials, including Floyd County Judge Henry Stumbo and disaster legislation, emergency operations planning, flood insurance programs, severe weather preparedness, and radiological incidents.

> The group also received a briefing on the state's planned $9 million Kentucky Emergency Warning System andits relationship to local governments.

"The information we gained at this seminar should greatly aid our local program," Mr. Thompson said. "As we continue to improve our preparedness status, we'll be able to draw upon this guidance for assistance."

Ouster of Martin Sheriff Is Upheld

Circuit Judge W. D. Sparks Thursday upheld the ouster of Martin county Sheriff Sam Moore, County Judge Ray Fields ordered Moore to vacate the office June 2 on the grounds that the sheriff had not posted bond before the June 1 deadline as required by law.

Judge Sparks had issued a restraining order June 4 and presided over a hearing June 12. He had deferred his decision until Thursday.

Judge Fields said he may appoint a new sheriff during the week.

Moore, who may take the case to the state Court of Appeals, said he had not decided whether he will accommodate a new sheriff by vacating the office. "I'll just have to talk to my lawyer before I decide what to do.'

The county judge said, "It certainly is a harsh law. I hate that the man didn't file his bond like he was supposed to do." Moore said he met with Fields on May post the bond later in the month. He alleged that the county judge "then left on the four last days of the month.'

Land Condemnation For Lawrence Lake Approved by Judge

Catlettsburg-U. S. District Judge H. David Hermansdorfer last Thursday approved condemnation of 207.52 acres in Lawrence county for the Yatesville Lake Project on Blaine Creek.

Asst. U. S. Atty. R. Burl McCoy moved to take the land in a suit filed Tuesday in U. S. District Court in Lexington. The condemnation involves four parcels of land owned by more than a dozen people.

An affidavit signed by Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway said the land was necessary to complete the multi-million dollar flood control project. He said three parcels of the land are needed by Dec. 1 and the fourth parcel by March 31, 1976.

The order signed by Judge Hermansdorfer gives the Army the right to take possession of the land. McCoy said $50,500 has been deposited in the court registry to pay for the land.

The condemnation involves only the surface rights. Easements for public roads and highways, public utilities, railroads and pipelines will not be bothered. The condemnation also does

Knox County Teacher Pay Lowest in State, KEA Reports

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Starting salaries this year for Kentucky's public-school classroom teachers with bachelor's degrees and no experience range from $6,325 to $8,150, according to a new Kentucky Education Association (KEA) Research Unit publication.

The bulletin, "Salary Schedules of Kentucky Public-School Teachers, 1974-'75," shows a $6,325 beginning minimum salary in the Knox county school system. The top minimum of $8,150 for beginners is scheduled in the Fort Thomas system.

KEA public relations and research director Charles Whaley said last year's scheduled salaries for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees ranged from $5,865 in Knox county to $7,725 in Fort Thomas.

Most Kentucky teachers are in the Rank III category, which means they have a bachelor's degree. The statemandated minimum this year for Rank III teachers with no experience is $6,175.20. This is 93 percent of the state's foundation program allotment of $6,640 for such teachers.

For Rank III teachers at the maximum level of experience the highest scheduled salary ranges from $8,360 in 45 school systems after 10 years to $12,360 in the Anchorage and Jefferson County systems after 13 years.

The 45 systems reporting the low maximum of $8,360 are the county systems of Adair, Breathitt, Calloway, Carlisle, Carter, Clinton, Crittenden, Cumberland, Edmonson, Elliott, Fulton, Graves, Hart, Jackson, Johnson, Knox, Laurel, Lawrence, Leslie, Lincoln, Livingston, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Mercer, Metcalfe, Monroe, Morgan, Nicholas, Owsley, Pulaski, Robertson, Rockcastle, Russell, Todd, Whitley, and Wolfe and the independent systems of Augusta, Berea, Burgin, Corbin, East Bernstadt, Fulton, Jackson, and Science

Unemployment Benefits Increased on July 1

FRANKFORT, Ky.-The maximum weekly benefit rate for new Unemployment Insurance claims rose to $80 on July 1, Gov. Julian M. Carroll announced.

C. Leslie Dawson, secretary of the Department for Human Resources, points out that the new rate will not affect those individuals currently receiving Unemployment Insurance's maximum weekly benefit. They will continue to receive $74 per week, the rate which was established in July, 1974. During May, the last month for which figures are available, there were about 63,000 Kentuckians drawing Unemployment Insurance benefits each week.

Dawson explains that under KRS 341.380, his department is required to adjust the maximum rates each July 1. The rate is set on the basis of the previous year's average monthly employment of workers covered by Unemployment Insurance and the total wages reported by their employers. The maximum benefit is one-half of the average weekly wage for insured workers, as determined by these figures.

Advertisement for Bids

Sealed bids will be received by the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at the office of the Mayor, at the Ford Building, in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, until 7:30 p.m., Thursday, July 3, 1975, at which time, in the Council meeting room at such Ford Building, bids will be publicly opened and read aloud, for furnishing labor and materials and performing all work, as set forth by this advertisement for bids. The City will receive bids on the following projects: Project 1. New parking lot located on the property of Mrs. Sally Clark, extending from Arnold Ave. to S. Lake Drive being approximately 74 ft. x 265 feet and containing 2,179 square yards. Work to be done includes installation of drainage of property to City storm sewer; grade to specifications; apply 6 inches of dense base and roll same to specifications, shoot with oil and apply 2 inches of base coat bituminous surface (hot mix). Finish with 1 inch of top grade hot mix blacktop (bituminous). Install concrete sidewalks and curbs.

Project 2. Parking Lot. Located on North Lake Drive adjoining the Prestonsburg Elementary School. Bring lot to grade, install drains from property to City storm sewer; shoot base with oil and apply 2 inches undercoat of bituminous (hot mix blacktop) and finish with 1 inch finish coat.

These projects may be bid all together or separately.

Bids must comply with specifications approved by the City Council, copies of which specifications may be obtained from the office of the City Clerk, in the Ford Building at Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Bids shall be in a sealed envelope bearing the bidder's identification, addressed to the City of Pretonsburg, labeled in the lower left-hand corner: "Proposal. Project 1. Project 2.

Project 1 & 2. The City of Prestonsburg reserves the right to reject any or all bids, which bids shall not be withdrawn for 45 days subsequent to the opening of bids, without consent of the City of Prestonsburg.

BEVERLY M. HACKWORTH Clerk, City of Prestonsburg, Ky.

Starting salaries for Rank II teachers-those with master's degreesrange from $6,700 in Carroll county and Clinton county to $8,800 in Fort Thomas.

At the maximum level of experience Rank II teachers receive a low of $8,875 in Monroe county after 15 years and a high of $13,402 in Anchorage and Jefferson county after 14 years.

For Rank I teachers-those with a master's degree plus 30 approved college-credit hours beyond the master's-starting salaries this year range from $7000 in Campbell county to $9325 in Fort Thomas.

The highest scheduled salary a Kentucky teacher at the Rank I level can earn in a local school system ranges from $9,430 in Monroe county after 10 years of experience to $14,214 in Jefferson county after 15 years of experience.

(Not included are longevity or "supermaximum" increments that a few Kentucky school systems pay after certain intervals of service.)

In the Floyd county school system, the highest salary scheduled is $9,620 for Rank I teachers; $9,070 for Rank II teachers, and $8,540 for Rank III teachers.

The lowest salary scheduled in this county is $7,645 for Rank I teachers; $7,110 for Rank II teachers, and $6,590 for Rank III teachers.

The bulletin, prepared by Mrs. Floye Perkins, KEA assistant director of public relations and research, lists these median minimum and maximum salaries based on an analysis of salary schedules from all Kentucky school systems (half the systems are above the median and half are below the median): Median minimum-rank III, $6,610;

Median maximum-Rank III, $8,610; Rank II, $9,185; Rank I, $9,726.

Rank II, $7,200; Rank I, $7,750.

Kentucky's average salary for classroom teachers this year is estimated at $8890, ranking the state 46th in the nation. The national average is $11,513. The average salary for teachers in the seven states bordering Kentucky is estimated at $11,026.

KET Special To Examine Indians' Court Fights nations.

Kentucky Educational Television (KET) will present a 90-minute special, hosted by Robert Redford, Saturday, July 12 on the struggle of descendants of Indians who are trying to keep their land and culture through the U.S. courts.

BROKEN TREATY AT BATTLE MOUNTAIN, airing at 9 a.m. (EDT), is the story of the Western Shoshone Indians' attempt to retain their way of life, more than 100 years after yielding to

The program shows that the past 100 years haven't been what many expectno broken treaties. For those who think all Indians wear feathers and that treaties haven't been broken for 100 years, this is a dramatic story—filmed as it happened-of a broken treaty and the resistance of a people as they struggle to retain their lands.

Indians contend that 24 million acres of Nevada land were originally promised Western Shoshones by the federal government. Through the 60-minute film, the Indian way of life is experienced as the Shoshones explain what it means to them-medicine, herb gathering, dance and prayer. The viewer is with these people as they confront government officials tearing down sacred pinyon trees, permitting the killing of deer as a sport, and offering the Indians $1.05 an acre for their land.

The Western Shoshones decided to press their claim and are presently in litigation suits which directly affect the other 200 Indian nations. The final 30 minutes of the KET special, with Hugh Downs as host, includes an update on the

Before the turn of the century the bicycle was a major source of transportation, and bicycling was an important outdoor activity. Then came the automobile, and bicycling went into a decline. But everyone knows that the bicycle has been rediscovered, and rediscovered with a vengeance. In each of the years 1972, 1973 and 1974 sales of bicycles in the United States surpassed those of automobiles for the first time since World War I. In those three years nearly 50-million bicycles increased the bicycle population to more than 70 million.-SPORTS AFIELD horned owl, and could have a first-hand view of him, it would be a most impressive experience. His looks might be summed up as "one of fierce magnificence." In his face and appearance there is calm defiance, courage, a masterful stance mixed with savage cruelty. You would be impressed with his enormous size—he's almost two feet long-and by his powerful talons which can kill an animal in about two seconds. You would also be impressed by his large ear tufts standing up on either side of his head, and by his enormous cateyes glowing like balls of orange fire. This great owl has been variously called "The Tiger of the Forest;" "The Archduke of the Deep, Dark Woods," "The Cat Owl," and "The Big Hoot Owl."

If you should venture too near his lordship, you might detect the strong scent of polecat. This is one owl that kills and eats skunks with great relish and doesn't seem to mind the stench. He'll kill and eat a grown groundhog, and, if driven by hunger, will invade the chicken roost and take a fat hen if the chance affords. He'll kill and eat snakes, rats, quail, grouse-anything that appeals to his ravenous appetite. He's a silent, deadly hunter and sails low over fields like the shadow of a ghost.

With his deep and powerful voice, the horned owl broadcasts a series of hoots far over hill and dale. His fierce look is somewhat relieved by the warm, rich brown of his cheeks, and by the white collar and white "necktie" he is prone to

It is a pity that such a magnificent creature should become so scarce in many regions as to be on the endangered list. This big owl loves the deep solitudes of the forest where he makes his home and rears his family. He furiously resents any trespassing on his domain . . . I shall never forget the time in my boyhood when I went 'possum hunting with a gang of boys. We followed a limpid stream far into the deep forest. Suddenly in the dim distance, we heard our dogs barking-treed! "Let's go!" shouted the

Just as we started running up the valley toward the barking of our dogs, suddenly there came down from the wooded mountain above us the most unearthly scream I'd ever heard! We boys stood petrified with fear.

"What on earth was that-thing?"

quavered one.

'The devil screamin'," one spluttered.

"A wildcat," another gasped. "A ghost shrieking," added another.

Suddenly stark terror overwhelmed us and we started running wildly back down the valley, knocking the ponds of water

BY JOHN WILSON "You get a line and I'll get a pole, We'll go down to the crawdad hole . .

A lot of Kentucky fishermen are going down to the crawdad hole these days, although not for the purposes implied in this old favorite folk song. Instead, they are after soft craws, an effective bait for a variety of Soft craws, in case you don't know, are crawfish which have just molted. After they shed their hard exoskeleton, crawfish are particularly palatable, since their new skin has not had a chance to toughen up. Also, they are not very active during this stage, making them easy for fish (or fishermen) to catch.

The easiest way to collect a bunch of craws for bait is to take a lantern down to a nearby creek at night, which is when the crawfish are most active. After you grab a few, you'll soon be able to tell the difference between the lightcolored soft craws and the darker hard ones.

The best way to keep crawfish is in a styrofoam cooler or bait bucket. Put a batch of craws in the bottom of the cooler and cover them with damp cloths or paper towels. Then put on another layer of crawfish and more damp towels, repeating this process until you have enough bait for your fishing trip.

Don't put the crawfish in water-they'll either drown or harden. In either case they won't make very good bait. But if kept dampened and in a cool place, the craws will remain in the soft stage for several days.

To use the crawfish, hook them with a No. 2-0 aberdeen hook and use either no weight at all or a small slip sinker. Fish them on the bottom around rocky banks, points or other areas of the lake where there are both native crawfish populations and good structure for game fish.

Although most soft craw fishermen are after black bass, they also will fish for white perch and catfish. When a fish picks up the craw, let him run with it. Sometimes a bass will run a short distance with the bait, then stop. When he starts again, set the hook hard.

Soft craws are also effective bait in streams. Let them drift through riffles or fish them along rock ledges to catch both bass and channel catfish. Another good place to fish soft craws is just below the locks on rivers such as the Kentucky.

Right now we're at the peak time for collecting soft craws. By the middle of July, most crawfish will have shed their old skins and the newones will have hardened.

Summer Youth Program Funded

FRANKFORT, Ky.-An additional $1.6 million in Kentucky's Summer Youth Program funds was announced Wednesday by Gov. Julian M. Carroll. It will provide more jobs for the young unemployed in 89 counties. The allocation results from the jobs bill signed recently by President Ford.

The grant brings to $4.6 million the total amount alloted to these counties for summer youth jobs, said C. Leslie Dawson, secretary of the Department for Human Resouces (DHR).

Summer Youth Program workers are hired through DHR's Bureau for Manpower Services offices according to current federal poverty income criteria. Participants must be at least 14 and not past their 21st birthday by June 1. Pay is $2.10 an hour and individuals cannot work more than 40 hours per week or more than 240 total hours over the sum-

Workers will be placed in a variety of public service assignments with public and private non-profit organizations. The program is designed to help young people by providing them with gful work experience, financial assistance, counseling and the opportunity to explore careers; the program also provides the community with needed public service.

The counties are under the governor's prime sponsorship for manpower programs. Kentucky's other prime sponsors are the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program (EK-CEP) and the areas of Louisville-Jefferson County, Lexington-Fayette County and Kenton County.

"Drink, Drank, Drunk" Returns

Public television's highly successful DRINK, DRANK, DRUNK returns to Kentucky Education Television (KET) Thursday, July 3 at 8 p.m.

The rebroadcast of this special is designed to coincide with the international convention of Alateen, Al-Anon and Alcoholics Anonymous in Denver.

Carol Burnett is hostess for DRINK, DRANK, DRUNK. Her friendly personality allows her to tackle the difficult topic of alcoholism without being offensive.

DRINK, DRANK, DRUNK uses a host of stars in a variety of dramatic readings, songs, vignettes and comedy sketches to make the program entertaining as well as informative.

E. G. Marshall reads a poem about a young boy's encounter with his drunken father and Larry Blyden stars in a dramatic vignette as the husband of an alcoholic.

Renee Taylor and Joe Bologna act out a television game show parody they wrote called "You Waste Your Life." This simulated game reveals the cycles of nagging, pleading and suffering that develop between an alcoholic and his Althoug DRINK, DRANK, DRUNK is very entertaining, its most commendable accomplishment is the information and hope it provides for the nine million alcoholics and the more than 35 million persons affected by a problem drinker in the family.

Mrs. Burnett helps viewers identify a family drinking problem and presents suggestions as to what to do about it. She explores the methods of counseling available for the alcoholic and the family as well. She also examines the proper attitude alcoholism on industry, looks at industrial efforts to rectify

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS A recent opinion by the attorney general's office states that a school board may not grant a paid sabbatical leave for the purpose of furthering education, to a principal or teacher, even if a commitment to return to the district and work for a specific period of time is obtained.

Another concerns the question of construction of entrances to school property within the right of way of state highways. The opinion states that school funds may not be expended for such construction, which is the responsibility of state or local units of government.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

Earl P. Martin and Oval Martin, Harold, Kentucky . . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the May 2nd term, 1975 in the abovestyled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, a public auction, on the 11th day of July, 1975 at 10:30 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd circuit court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

Being the same property conveyed by Orville Clark, et ux by deed dated 26 day of November, 1954, recorded in Deed Book 158, page 132, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, and being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at County Highway opposite W. F. Clark well on west side; thence a westerly direction to yellow delicious apple tree; thence northwest direction to persimmon tree near cedar tree; thence a northeast direction to a bunch of hickory trees; thence an east direction to an old fence; thence along and with old fence to County Highway; thence southwest with County Highway to the beginning.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $7,868.60 with interest thereon at 6 percent annually from the 2nd day of May 1975 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 17 day of June, 1975.

Mediation Is Answer For Many Customers

BY ED W. HANCOCK

(Attorney General) Last year the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection received over 3,000 written consumer complaints. What happens to those complaints once we receive them?

First, we examine each complaint to determine if there are any indications that a company is engaging in false, misleading or deceptive practices.

If those indications do exist, we initiate an investigation. If the investigation reveals that a company is engaging in false, misleading or deceptive practices, and if it is in the public interest, the office will bring legal action against that

Most complaints received by the Division of Consumer Protection do not indicate false, misleading or deceptive acts or practices. Many seem to be simple misunderstandings between consumers and businesses. In these cases, we notify the business of the consumer complaint and request an explanation from the business of its position on the matter. The Division of Consumer Protection then attempts to mediate and, where possible, bring both consumer and business to a mutual agreement. Most of the consumer complaints we receive are settled at this stage.

It's important for consumers to understand the limitations placed upon the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection. We can do only what the law gives us power to do. If a complaint does not involve false, misleading or deceptive practices, and if a dispute cannot be resolved by mediation, the division may have to refer a consumer to another agency or to a private attorney. The Division of Consumer Protection cannot act as an individual's private attorney.

If you would like to know more about the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, of if you have a consumer complaint, write to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, The Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call toll-free on the consumer hotline: 1-800-372-2960.

LABOR SECRETARY RAPS NEA As reported in "The Negotiator" (Ohio School Boards Assocation) of May 20, U. S. Secretary of Labor John Dunlop has taken issue with some labor practices engaged in by NEA. Dunlop said the right of teachers to organize is "an uncontested fact," but also said that teacher strikes are "not tactically appropriate in your business." Dunlop reportedly told NEA representatives that teachers will have to decide whether they want their labor problems decided at the bargaining table or in the legislature, saying that teachers have a tendency to use the "double whammy," by trying to get by legislation what they have not obtained in negotiations.

Ford Suggests ARC Relocation

Appalachian Regional Commission was advanced June 24 by Sen. Wendell Ford. It was among four suggestions transmitted by letter to Sen. Jennings Randolph, chairman of the Committee on Public Works.

Ford questioned whether or not the present headquarters in Washington is "the best vantage point for understanding the needs of the Appalachian people and region."

The Kentucky Senator did not name a specific location, but noted that it should be in Central Appalachia, and have access to a major airport and to institutions of higher learning.

In his letter, Ford wrote: "Such a location would involve the Commission in the day-to-day experience of Appalachian life; it would provide an intimate perception of regional problems, and would allow the Commission to draw upon the talent bank of educated and skilled Appalachians for its staff needs."

The purpose of his letter, Ford said, is to share ideas with the committee during mark-up sessions on the proposed extension of the Appalachian Regional Development Act.

The three other suggestions Ford made related to the emphasis ARC should have If you order record albums of today's on economic development, and the desirability to have a thorough evaluation of ARC activities to date.

Land Safely Here in Storm

The hills of home never looked better to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robinson (above) and daughter, Sandy, as on Friday evening when they finally were able to land their plane safely near here. Flying from their home in Clearwater, Fla., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Branham, of Buck's Branch, and other members of her family, they became lost in a severe electrical storm. The Robinsons will be here over the July 4th holiday. Another daughter, Holly, is spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Branham and daughters, Amber and Robin, on their farm near Louisa.

Unemployment Rate In Kentucky Drops For Month of May

Frankfort, Ky.-With more Kentuckians being called back to work in May, the state unemployment rate dropped for the first time in seven months. The non-adjusted figure for May was 7.2 per cent of the labor force, totaling 1,462,900, a drop of .4 per cent from April.

According to Bob MacDonald, chief statistician for the Bureau for Manpower Services, Department for Human Resources, the drop in the state figure almost parallels the drop in the national rate. The national non-adjusted unemployment rate for May was 8.3 per cent, a drop of .3 per cent from April.

However, a national seasonally adjusted rate of 9.2 per cent was released earlier this month. Kentucky has no figure comparable to this.

"Historically we have generally followed the national trend and it looks like we will continue to do that," Mac-Donald said.

Besides industrial recalls, MacDonald attributes the lower unemployment rate to a drop in unemployment insurance claims. An estimated 3,200 claims were dropped in May.

Employment increased in manufacturing, non-manufacturing and agriculture in May. Compared to a month ago, there were 2,100 more employed in manufacturing, "mostly people being called back to work," MacDonald

Non-manufacturing industries accounted for an employment increase of 2,700.

A seasonal increase of 22,700 was seen in agricultural employment, but Mac-Donald said, "this increase doesn't have much bearing on the unemployed in Kentucky because people laid off by industry are not likely to take an agricultural job.'

Traffic Mishaps Claim Two Men

Traffic accidents have within the week claimed the lives of two Floyd county men.

The victims are:

Frank Winford Davis, 24, of Dwale, fatally injured last Tuesday afternoon in a collision of his motorcycle and a truck at the southern exit from US 23 at Allen, and Arthur Spriggs, Jr., 26, killed late Saturday night when struck by an auto at Davis, an employee of the Kinzer Cycle Shop at Allen, had been road-testing a motorcycle and was returning to the shop, travelling south (upriver) on US 23 when struck by a pickup truck driven by Delbert Ison, of Martin, as both truck and cycle were turning into the exit. Ison, who was driving north, apparently did not see the motorcycle which, according to a state police report, was following a car. Davis was dead on arrival at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, of head and other injuries suffered when he was thrown into a guard-rail.

The Drift tragedy occurred when Spriggs apparently stepped into the path of an auto driven by Bobby Newsome, of

No charges had been made early this week in either fatality.

Davis, a son of Eugene and Stella Marie Prater Davis, of Dwale, was chief mechanic at the Kinzer Cycle Shop and was a member of John W. Hall Masonic Lodge at Martin. Surviving, besides his parents, are his widow, Mrs. Mary Etta Pitts Davis, one son, Frank, Jr., and a brother, Jerry Wendell Davis, all of His funeral was conducted at 11 a.m. Friday from the Dwale United Methodist Church, the Rev. Earl Waugh officiating, and burial was made in the Pitts cemetery on the Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Last rites for Spriggs were held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the Drift Pentecostal Holiness Church by the Rev. Ted Shannon and others. Burial in the Prater cemetery at Hueysville was directed by the Hall Brothers Funeral Home. Surviving him are his parents, Arthur and Virgie Shepherd Spriggs, of Drift; eight brothers and two sisters, Marion T. Spriggs, Rochelle, Ill., Stevie, Kenneth, Clyde, Jeffrey, Jody, Bobby, Jimmy, Diana and Wanda Spriggs, all of Drift.

BOARD—SHERIFF AGREE

The Daviess County Board of Education has signed an agreement with the Daviess county sheriff's department that ends a 17-month-old dispute over the amount of money retained by the sheriff for collection of school taxes. The agreement states that the sheriff's office is to retain 1 percent of the gross amount of taxes collected, and to keep detailed records of the time, labor and expenses incurred in collection. If the actual cost is above 1 percent of gross taxes, the board will reimburse the difference. The sheriff's actual 1974 collection costs were determined to be 1.12 percent of total taxes collected.

State Official Asked To Help On Extradition

Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo has asked the assistance of the attorney general toward getting a man charged with murder returned from Michigan to this county for trial.

Efforts to extradite Bobby Workman, who is under indictment for the murder of James Chaffins on Arkansas Creek, were initiated as long as two months ago. The normal procedure is that the governor of Kentucky issues a requisition calling for extradition of a defendant. Stumbo was recently informed by Michigan authorities that no writ for extradition has been received there. Inquiry seeking information about what had been done at Frankfort had drawn no reply as of Monday, this week.

Stumbo has been pushing for early trial of the murder cases of Agnel Jones, Eddie Jones and Johnny Martin, who are accused of the Beaver Creek slayings of Lawrence and James Clayton Conley. He was informed Monday by Special Judge Ralph N. Walter, of West Liberty, that a pre-trial hearing will be held there July 22 with the aim of setting a definite trial

Receives Study Grant

The Mind Under the Blood

Mrs. Margaret Sue Jones, of Cynthiana, formerly of Bevinsville, recently received a scholarship from the Boehringer-Mannheim Corporation for advanced study in enzymology.

The award includes an all-expense paid trip to the ASMT (American Society for Medical Technology) annual convention in San Fransisco to accept the award at a special awards ceremony and also a twoweek concentrated course of study in enzymology at the BMC Guest Laboratories in Mannheim, West Ger-

Mrs. Jones, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tilden H. Jones, Sr., of Bevinsville, is a graduate of Wheelwright High School, Morehead State University and Good Samaritan Hospital School of Medical Technology, Lexington. She is presently employed as a medical technologist at the Harrison Memorial Hospital, Cynthiana, Suzie is the wife of Philip R. Jones, formerly of Union City, Ohio, a chemistry and physics teacher at Harrison County High School.

Mrs. Jones has written one paper entitled "Interpretations of Abnormal Alkaline Phosphatase Activities in Sera of Elderly Patients." This work was initiated under the direction of Mrs. Patricia C. Motley and Dr. Irene E. Roeckel at Good Samaritan Hospital. After this advanced study in enzymology, she hopes to be able to complete the research concerning alkaline phosphatases and make the paper available for publication and for aid in diagnosis of various diseases, especially those of the liver and of tumor growth.

Mrs. Jones will go to West Germany within the next few months.

If God be for us, who can be against us? -Romans 8:31 By D. W. GRIFFIN

"Commit thy works unto the Lord, and thy THOUGHTS shall be established." -Proverbs 16:3

The mind has been likened to the room of a house where visitors are entertained.

All visitors to one's three-fold being come in through the mind, then drop down into the spirit and get root, then possess the whole man. Thoughts are bold and daring things, and strong and persistent. Like armed men they force themselves into the mind. They come enticingly. They come insinuatingly. They come threateningly.

They come in a thousand ways. They come singly; they come in droves. Some wait at the door of the mind and push and crowd to get in while the room is full. They keep up a din and chatter and strain that nerves and chills the heart. Fear dashes into the mind and captures and holds us fast.

A thought knocks at the door of the mind. It is admitted and entertained. Passion enters the mind. It is looked at a while, then possesses the whole being and leads to sin and shame.

Anxiety and nervousness appear and drive off rest and keep one sleepless all night for nothing.

Doubt, as full of death as hell itself, is let in and consulted with, and blows out every light and fills the room with tormenting spirit could come, and that I darkness.

stay all day, and return in the morning by of Christ over and around it, just like that the time you open your eyes. Cares, weighing a thousand pounds, each, come to unload in the room. Old Self, under God's judgment, and refusing to die, wants to stay on hand all the time, with a ready sword of protection and having attendants on hand with fans and camphor bottles in case he is hit or wounded, or slighted or knocked down. He wants the best chair in the mind and the most attention, notwithstanding he is the most unwholesome visitor on hand. He has been deposed of God and is under lurk around all the time.

And friends and foes, and husbands precious blood for you, to cleanse and and wives and children, and tomorrow, and houses and lands, and the work on from sin and sickness, but in mind free hand of whatever nature, and what was from torments and distractions as well. and what is to be, and this and that and the other, real and imaginary, and demon impressions and suggestions, and the thoughts of friends and foes toward you, coming to you in dream and while awake, as swift as messengers,-all these things in the different shapes, sizes and sounds, will harass and possess and occupy and claim all the attention of the mind possible if allowed.

Thousands are in the grave or the madhouse; and other thousands are in physical torments and sickness because of the mind having been thus occupied. And many honest souls are craving for deliverance. How is it to be found? These visitors cannot be humanly driven off. They are too many and too strong and too smart for us. They have no shame nor feeling. Kick them out and they are right back. Throw them out, and they get right up and come in again. Lock the door, and they everyone have a master key.

But, thank God, there is a way of deliverance from these tormenting thoughts, spirits, things. And that is through the precious blood of the Lamb of God once slain.

When my eyes opened from sleep these THOUGHTS of past, present and future trouble, were on hand to torment me. They had made an early start. They would come trooping. I was helpless. I knew not what to do with them. Then the Lord showed me the DOOR in Egypt with blood sprinkled over and around it, (Exodus 12:21-24) into which no evil, was just simply to be willing to commit Trouble, many-faced, many-handed, my MIND unto Him in helplessness and big and squatty, will fill the mind and then claim and believe and see the blood door, that room in Egypt. It was a new and blessed throught to me. I did so. They came again and I said, "The blood is over the door. The world is dead to me and I am dead to the world. You cannot enter under the blood." They backed off. Again and again they would come, but I simply pointed to the blood over the door: the mind. I THOUGHT of the BLOOD whenever they came; and soon their power was gone, and they ceased their visitations. My torments ceased; my mind had rest, as I committed all to God His everlasting curse, and yet wants to and THOUGHT on the BLOOD. The spotless Lamb of God has shed His most cover and free and keep you, not only

The blood is your one safety; not a death-dealing, troubling, tormenting, fearful visitor could enter the room that night in Egypt where the blood was on the door. And dear, tormented soul, a thousand-fold more real and powerful than the blood of the little lamb is the precious blood of the Lamb of God. See by faith His blood sprinkled over the mind, the door to your being, and when these things appear and knock for attention, throw up your hands, helpless souls and point them to the blood on the door. By faith put death between them and you. Consent to your death in the blood and take your place definitely and continually under its protection.

Say to thoughts and all hindering visitors to the mind's distraction from God and peace. "I am dead to you, and you are dead to me." Say it in faith; say it over and over; say it persistently; believe that the blood IS on the door of your mind, and that it IS protecting you as God said it would. "We have the mind of Christ." -I Cor.

Glen E. Murray, state conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Lexington, announces that William H. (Bill) Dempsey, of Prestonsburg, has been recognized by the Secretary of Agriculture for completion of 25 years' service with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The award for length of service was presented by Luther C. Gabbard, area conservationist, in an informal ceremony in the SCS field office at Paintsville, June 25. Other SCS personnel taking part in the ceremony were James H. Marcum, district conservationist, Junis Moore, conservation technician, and Mrs. Prudence Bailey, district clerk, all of the Paintsville field office staff.

Mrs. Dempsey has spent his entire SCS career in eastern Kentucky. He is presently assigned to the position of project coordinator of the Big Sandy Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Project, with headquarters here. The project includes the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike. Other points of service have been at field offices in Stanton, Hyden, Beattyville and Williamsburg.

Dempsey is a native of the Holland community of Allen county, where he grew up on a farm and graduaed from the old Mount Zion High School in 1941. Following this, he entered military service and was decorated for valor during action in France. He graduated from Western Kentucky University in 1950. He is the son of the late Harvey Dempsey and Mrs. Alta Brown Dempsey, and is married to the former Edna Stinson, of Holland. They have three daughters and one grandson.

It was Emerson who said in 1871: "If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor . . . the world will make a beaten path to his door."

Quite frequently you hear the portion of this quote about the mouse trap. We very seldom hear it in its full content. The book . . . the sermon these are both important, and in all probability the most important part of the statement.

If everyone set out to build better mouse traps the world would soon be depleted of mice, and the need for new traps would not exist.

Better books? Better sermons? We believe there will always be a demand for these. These are the essentials that make better people, and not fewer mice.

Be sure and quote Emerson in full context. I'm sure he was more interested in better books and sermons than mouse traps. We all should be, too.

Advise New Taxes To Aid Wildlife

Just the hunters and fishermen? Or should birdwatchers, photographers and other non-hunting outdoorsmen share the cost?

And how should wildlife money be spent? Mainly on game species that interest the sportsmen? Or should our fish and wildlife agencies pay more attention to animals that have only esthetic and ecological value?

These questions have racked and to the Interior Department. divided the conservation movement since the early 1900's. With two landmark laws, the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration (Pittman-Robertson) Act of 1937 and the Federal Aid in Fisheries Restoration(Dingell-Johnson) Act of 1950, Congress put most of the financial burden on hunters and fishermen, requiring them to support state and federal wildlife programs through taxes on their firearms, ammunition and fishing gear.

With revenues from these taxes, the federal government has provided $600 million in matching grants to state fish and wildlife agencies over the years, and the states have spent more than $100 million of this money acquiring 3.5 million acres of land and water for wildlife habitat. In addition, an estimated 42 million Americans shell out about $240 million a year for state hunting and fishing licenses. Most of the money is spent on programs designed for the people who provide it—the hunters and anglers.

But now, the National Wildlife Federation reports, two federal agencies are taking a new look at this system of taxes and expenditures. The Council on Environmental Quality, which makes policy recommendations to the President, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which administers wildlife policy for the Interior Department, are studying a proposal to tax non-hunting and non-fishing users of public wildlife species—animals that are not hunted or caught.

The proposal is contained in a report prepared for the two agencies by the Wildlife Management Institute, a private, non-profit conservation organization. Although it has not been made public, the WMI study has triggered a lively discussion among Oor conservation leaders who have seen it.

Thomas L. Kimball, executive vice president of the National Wildlife Federation, has called it "an imaginative study offering many constructive suggestions that merit serious consideration." If its recommendations were adopted, Kimball pointed out, "all

Who should pay for wildlife habitat? who enjoy wildlife might share more equitably in paying for the protection of badly-needed wildlife habitat." The report points out that there has been a marked trend in recent years toward greater use of state and federal recreational lands by birdwatchers, photographers, skiiers, campers, and other "nonconsumptive users." More than 12 million participate in just wildlife observation and photography, according

A key recommendation of the WMI report calls for the funding of non-game fish and wildlife habitat programs with federal manufacturer's excise taxes on recreational vehicles, tents, sleeping bags, lanterns, snow skis, wild bird seed, scuba diving equipment, binoculars cameras, film, and other photographic equipment.

Excise taxes of from one to ten per cent on these goods could yield as much as $149.6 million annually and easily fund a recommended $40 million federal matching grant-in-aid non-game wildlife habitat program with the states, according to the report.

Other suggested excise tax sources include: strip mining royalty fees; zoo admissions; non-returnable bottles; building permits; recreational stamps in the absence of hunting or fishing licenses; a surcharge on timber sales on public lands; and a one-dollar check-off on federal and state income taxes.

In explaining this new funding approach, the WMI report notes "state fish and wildlife agencies are conducting non-game programs almost entirely with funds obtained from hunters and fishermen. While the Institute believes that it is appropriate to use some funds from thse sources for nongame work, the states' ever-present need for greater funding for traditional programs must be acknowledgedandrespected.Further, all members of society, not solely hunters and anglers, are the beneficiaries of nongame programs. Hence, a broader cross-section of society must share in the costs."

Crackdown Planned On Gorge 'Vandals'

Each year hundreds of pieces of the puzzle drift away to amateur collections, junk boxes and dozens of other private places. Already several "pictures of the past" have been lost through unknowing or deliberate vandalism by the thousands of visitors to the Daniel Boone National Forest, including the Red River Gorge. Forest Service officials who manage the 25,600-acre geological area intend to crack down this vacation season on visitors who damage or remove articles from the historic sites and cliffs. Arrowhead gatherers, by digging for artifacts from the past Indian cultures, are liable for a $500 fine or imprisonment. The muscle behind the Forest Service program is the American Antiquities Act. For more than 70 years it has been illegal to excavate or destroy any historic ruin or Federally controlled Several sites in the Gorge, homes to past Indian tribes, are already disturbed. Vandals have removed or defaced several clues to the cultures.

The Forest Service officials at the Daniel Boone National Forest ask visitors' cooperation in preventing further damage to the natural and human history represented in the Red River Gorge.

Caudill To Appear On National Series

Harry Caudill, Whitesburg lawyer and author of the book, "Night Comes to the Cumberlands," will appear on MAN BUILDS, MAN DESTROYS, Wednesday, July 16 at 8:30 p.m. (EDT) on Kentucky Educational Television.

MAN BUILDS, MAN DESTROYS, an award-winning environmental education series in its third season on the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS), emphasizes man's interaction with his fellowman to preserve the delicate balance of nature and suggests actions citizens can take to help correct environmental problems.

The July 16 program, "Scars on the Surface," views the earth as seen by astronauts and then takes a closer look at what man has wrought.

With the need for energy sources expanding, man has begun digging deep into Mother Earth. Already, strip mining threatens to deface the Cumberland Mountains and desolate Appalachia. West Virginia and Kentucky both yield their quota of coal energy, with Kentucky being the nation's leading coal producer.

Caudill makes a correlation between the impoverishment of the land and the well-known poverty of the people of Appalachia.

A lesson on environmental awareness and how other countries deal with the after-effects of strip mining is also on the July 16 program.

city warehouses. It is the opinion of the own. Attorney General's office that any such tax increase cannot be allowed, since Kentucky statutes do not provide for a "compensating tax rate" for any year subsequent to 1972.

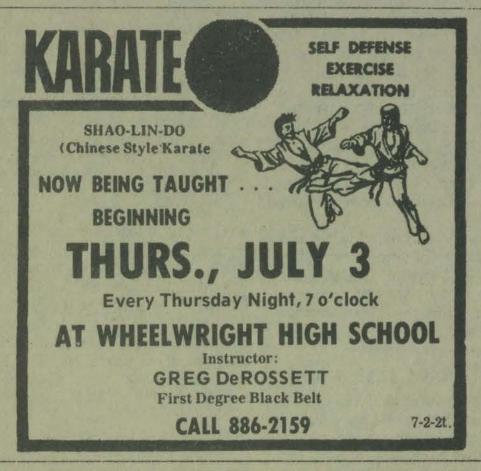

Clarence Martin, editor-publisher of the Tompkinsville News, asked if an occupational ordinance published in the Monroe County Messenger, which does not qualify to publish such legal notices, can be considered legal and enforceable. The Attorney General's office held that the notices would be legal until a court ruled otherwise, since it already has been published.

James E. McDaniel, an Owensboro attorney, asked if city policemen may assist a member of the Daviess sheriff's office-at the request of that officewhen making an arrest for a felony committed outside the jurisdictional limits of the city. 8 new small MyoG cars

ALL WITH 34 MPG FUEL ECONOMY.

The MPG cars:

34 mpg. EPA hwy. test. 23 mpg. EPA city test.

Today, you don't have to buy an import to get a car that gives high gasoline economy. Now, at B. & D., you can order one of Ford Motors' newly reengineered Pintos, Mustang II's or Bobcats-the new MPG cars—that were rated in EPA tests at 34 miles per gallon for highway driving and 23 miles per gallon for city driving. Each of the new MPG's got EPA test mileage that's better than 135 little toreign cars. Better than any American as well, except two that you have to equip specially with an optional engine with a $50 extra sticker price. We also have the widest choice—eight models. VW has five at our mileage or better. Datsun, only three. All of GM, only two. Toyota, none. As we said before, you don't have to buy an import to get a high gas mileage rating. Or to get low prices. No GM cars, and only three of the 153 import cars have lower sticker prices than a Ford Pinto MPG

Breathing Clinic Program Slated To Begin July 21

First year of the operation of the outpatient respiratory therapy clinic funded by the National Institue of Occupational Safety and Health and the Appalachian Regional Commission, with the support of the United Mine Workers' Department of Occupational Health, will begin shortly at three Floyd county

The diagnostic center will be located at the Highlands Medical Center here and will be under the direction of Dr. Chris Rivera and Douglas Fleming, certified respiratory therapist.

Two treatment centers will serve the program—one at the McDowell Medical Clinic, under the direction of Jan Lenker, clinic director; the other, at the Mud Creek Health Project, with Dr. James Squire as director.

Although the services of the breathing clinic will naturally center on respiratory diseases associated with coal mining because of the large number (a reported 3,000) of black lung cases in the county, the diagnostic and treatment centers will be open to anybody, of any age or occupation, suffering from a lung disease of any kind.

The Prestonsburg and McDowell centers, which will be known as the Big Sandy Breathing Clinic, will open July 21. Date of the Mud Creek Breathing Clinic opening was not announced last week. Suffers from Pike county will be accepted at these clinics, and the founding of clinics in that county is planned for next fall.

The program in this county will share in the $513,000 allotted Kentucky in the initial funding for one year. Its leaders hope to make it self-supporting, even-

"We can't cure men who have black lung, we can't put them back to work," Miss Lenker said here Saturday in a discussion of the program. "We will work to make life more enjoyable, and no patient's benefits for black lung or other disability will be jeopardized by taking advantage of our services."

It was explained that for each patient the program will involve eight days, about two hours a day. Each day, doctors and therapists will discuss with the individual his case in detail. The patient will be given instruction in the way to better breathing; how to stop smoking; the medicines they will be taking and their effects, including side-effects, if any; how other members of the patient's family may help, and the like.

Family members will be asked to accompany patients to the centers, so that they may benefit from the instruction to be offered.

After the patient leaves the program, the clinic will follow up with home visits from the McDowell Regional Hospital's Home Health Department.

In another phase of service Kentucky Miners Health Care will provide counselling for any individual having difficulty in getting any type of benefits due them and will also provide transportation for patients to the clinics.

The three centers in this county will employ about 12 persons, all of whom, it was said, will be members of the families of disabled miners.

No Safe Cigarette, KLA Warns Smoker

Waiting for a "safe" cigarette? Better

There's no such thing as a safe cigarette. And little hope for one.

There is some evidence that cigarettes with lower tar and nicotine levels may be less hazardous than those with higher levels. But anything that burns-tobacco, lettuce, Kentucky bluegrass-creates gases that assault the lungs.

Insurance companies know the statistics. About two dozen of the nation's life insurers provide discounts to people who don't smoke. Some companies offer lower rates to nonsmokers for automobile insurance, homeowners insurance, and disability income insurance. Smokers are involved in more traffic accidents, cause more home fires, and suffer greater disabilities than nonsmokers.

Before granting lower rates, some companies require that the person has never smoked. Generally, though, the emphasis is on present smoking habits. At least three major companies require only a simple statement that the person hasn't smoked for one to three years. Several others rely on interviews and inspection reports.

The benefits of quitting smoking can come quickly. One experiment in Canada showed remarkable improvements in lung function after only six weeks of stopping smoking. Sensitive tests showed there had been a reversal of the lung damage. Blockage of the small breathing passage done by smoking was lessened even in one subject who had smoked for 46 years!

The benefits are usually permanent, too. Staying off cigarettes for ten years forces the premature death rates for smokers down to the level for nonsmokers.

To find out ways to quit smoking for yourself and those you love, contact your Kentucky Lung Association, the Christmas Seal people. You may get lower insurance rates and a much healthier life.

Query about Office Tenure Creates Appointment Interest

Attorney James R. Allen as Allen leaves a good job in the office I already hold." the office to become commonwealth's attorney next Jan. 1, the appointment will be for only one year and an election for the office will be held next year.

This, in effect, was the reply given by the office of Attorney General Ed Hancock last week in response to a query from Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo.

Stumbo's query gave rise to questioning by associates of his plans after his term as prosecutor ends this year. Did he ask the attorney general the question about the appointment because he himself hopes to be appointed an successor to Allen?

Asked that question this week, Mr. Stumbo said he wrote the attorney general after he and others had discussed the situation and some difference of opinion had resulted. Yet, he added, "I'm keeping my options open as to the future.

When a successor is named for County Right now, I'm interested in trying to do

County Judge Henry Stumbo will name a county attorney to fill the vacancy created in the office next Jan. 1 when Allen, the present holder of the office, becomes commonwealth's attorney. But the appointment is only till a successor is elected. The Democratic party will name a nominee for the office, next May. The Republican party may do likewise, in which case a county attorney would be elected in November for another year till the regular 1977 county election when the county attorney would be elected for the full four-year term.

All that appears to be a lot of running for whoever is appointed, but it isn't as much as it appears. Historically, heavily Democratic Floyd county elects the Democratic nominee to the office. So the appointee would be concerned mainly with two primary campaigns.

40 ways not to be fuelish.

- Adjust your home thermostat to the recommended fuel-saving temperatures: between 65 and 68 degrees during the day. Down to 55-60 degrees at night.
- 2 Make 50 miles per hour your top speed when driving. On the average your best mileage happens around 35 mph.
- 3 Turn off lights, electrical appliances and TV sets when you're finished with them. Unplug instant-on TVs.
- 4 Start or join a carpool. And when you use your car, use it efficiently. Combine trips to the supermarket, the drugstore, the bank, etc., and make one clean sweep.
- 5 Drive at a steady speed, accelerating and slowing gradually. Especially avoid "jackrabbit" starts. They really eat up gas.
- 6 Don't idle your engine more than two minutes.
- 7 Avoid congested traffic. That kind of stop and go driving consumes gas quickly and adds to air pollution. Plan trips for off-hours.
- 8 Have your home's heating system checked to make sure it's operating at peak efficiency.
- Install a humidifier on your heating system. Humidified air is comfortable at substantially lower temperatures than dry air and healthier for you.
- 10 Close off any areas of your home that don't require heat all the time. Guest rooms, for example.

- 11 Don't waste fuel heating the garage.
- 12 Keep windows near thermostats closed.
 Otherwise the cold air will cause a lower reading, and your furnace will run longer but not make you any warmer.
- 13 When you're not using your fireplace, make sure the damper is tightly closed so heated air won't escape.
 - 14 Weatherstrip or caulk around drafty doorframes and windows.
 - 15 Install storm windows. You'll cut down heat loss by 10-15%.
 - 16 Close draperies at night. Keep them open during the day. Closed, they'll act as insulation.

 Open, they'll let in additional warmth from the sun.
 - 17 Move furniture that blocks forced air registers.
 - 18 Keep the area near your furnace free from obstructions, especially the space around air intakes.

19 Check the color of the burner flame in driving speed to 50 or slower.

- 19 Check the color of the burner flame in your gas furnace. If the flame is yellow, instead of blue, there's too much air in the combustion mixture. A repairman can fix you up in a jiffy.
- 20 Clean or replace furnace filters regularly.
- 21 Eliminate outdoor decorative lighting, such as spotlights, floodlights and lights lining driveways.

- 22 Turn off your gas yard light. It's a real gas gobbler.
- 23 In the kitchen, try to cook all foods for a meal in one area of the range—on top, in the oven, or under the broiler. For cooking small quantities of food, use a portable appliance like an electric skillet.
- 24 If you cook with gas, don't use more flame than necessary. Flames should just touch the bottom of cooking utensils.
- 25 A clear blue flame on a gas range means the burner is operating properly. If the flame is yellow, have a repairman make adjustments.
- 26 On electric ranges, turn off burners several minutes before the end of the proper cooking period. The heating element will stay hot, and your food will finish cooking without using additional energy.
- 27 Do not preheat ovens more than a few minutes. And don't set the temperature higher than you need.
- 28 Run full loads in the dishwasher, so that you can run it less often. Don't use it between 4 and 8 p.m.
- 29 Run full loads in the washer and dryer. Same reason.

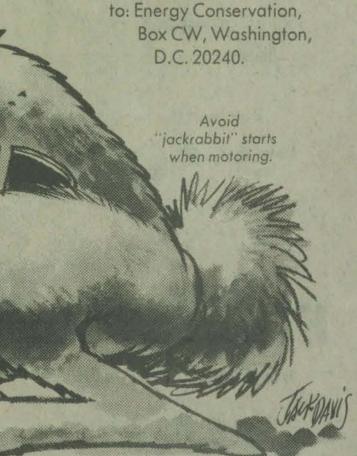

30 Whenever practical, wash with cold water.

31 Use the shortest possible drying cycle. And clean the dryer lint trap after each load. (A clogged trap lengthens drying time.) In winter vent the dryer blower into the house.

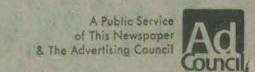

- 32 Once a month, flush the sediment out of your hot water tank by draining a couple of buckets of warm water from the faucet at the bottom of the tank. If allowed to build up, this sediment insulates the water from the heater.
- 33 Make sure the temperature on your water heater isn't set excessively high. 110 degrees is about right. Wrap hot water lines with insulation.
- 34 Repair leaking water faucets—especially hot water faucets.
- 35 Take showers instead of baths. You'll use a lot less hot water.
- 36 Make sure your home is adequately insulated. It should have at least 6 inches of insulation in the attic, 3 inches in walls and under floors over crawl spaces.
- 37 Wrap heating ducts that go through cold spaces with fireproof insulation. And while you're there, check ducts for leaks.
- 38 Seal air leaks from living spaces into the attic—around ceiling fans, electrical fixtures, heating ducts, and pull-down stairways. (But don't seal off ventilation in the attic. You need that to prevent moisture buildup.)
- 39 Before summer comes, have your cooling system checked to insure efficient operation.
- 40 Right now, write for a free booklet with these and more tips on how to save fuel. Just send your name and address

Don't go hiking alone. If you go with a friend and one of you has a fall or gets sick, the other can go for help.

Don't keep your plans a secret. Tell somebody where you're going, and when you expect to return. Don't brush up against Poison oak and poison ivy are no fun. Don't take shortcuts in the mountains. Stick to the trails and avoid sudden dropoffs. Don't get chummy with forest animals. Example: a cute little bear cub probably has a large, angry mother nearby. Don't take chances when fording streams. Mossy rocks and strong currents can give you a dangerous dunking.

Don't leave a campfire till you know it's dead out. In seconds, it could turn into a

Grant To Help Aging Services

Announcement was made last week by the Aging Advisory Council of the Big Sandy Area Development District of a grant of $67,431 for the provision of services to the elderly in all five counties of the Big Sandy Area Development

Link LeMaster, aging planner, said that, with the amount of money allocated and the number of services needed, plus the number of senior citizens (18,000, plus), the most feasible plan of action was to sub-contract to an agency which is already providing services and can expand to meet the needs of the elderly population.

An advertisement for such an agency was published in area newspapers an only one response was received. It came from the Big Sandy Community Action

Joan Johnson presented the CAP proposal at the Aging Advisory Council meeting June 19 at Jenny Wiley State Park. In brief, CAP proposes to establish Title III centers in Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties, thus having a center in each of the five counties from which the program would operate. Also proposed is one bus for each center as a start for the transportation service. Other services proposed are: outreach, escort, and information and referral.

After much discussion the Council voted to accept the CAP proposal.

Red Cross Gives Safety Hints

That time is here again, so the Kentucky Division American Red Cross is offering suggestions to keep fishermen from hooking themselves and others, or suffering more tragic accidents as they wade into the fishing season.

To help prevent drownings and other accidents among the nation's fishermen, Mr. Robert Spangler, manager of the Kentucky Division, lists the following Red Cross recommendations for safety:

1. All fishermen should know how to swim, know how to give first aid, and remember to carry a first aid kit with them on fishing trips

2. Fishing enthusiasts should listen to weather forecasts and not go on the water when threatening weather is

3. Fishhooks can catch anglers as well as fish, so fishermen should carry needlenose pliers, wire cutters, and a pocketknife in tackle boxes. Always keep hooks in covered containers. 4. When casting, anglers should make certain there is room to do so without hooking someone else. Always look before casting and use an overhead cast while in a boat with others. 5. If you go on a fishing trip alone, leave word where you will be and when you plan to return. However, it is much safer to fish with a companion.

6. Stay away from water where there are swimmers, water skiers, and skin and scuba divers.

7. Along the shore, wade cautiously to avoid slipping on hidden rocks or stepping unexpectedly into deep water.

8. Learn how to hold a fish properly while extracting a hook. Many species of fish have sharp teeth or fins that can cause painful hand wounds.

9. If you snag yourself deeply with a hook, cut off the line, bandage the wound, and go immediately to the nearest doctor or hospital. Don't risk further injury trying to remove a deeply imbedded

10. When fishing in channels or rivers, never tie your boat to channel buoys, which are traffic markers and must be kept clear. 11. Never stand up in a boat while fishing, and always have a properly approved personal flotation device for every person. 12. While fishing from the bank in snake-infested country, watch where you step and sit and what you touch. Wear high boots, because most snake bites are below the midcalf.

Mr. Spangler said that many of the Red Cross chapters throughout the Kentucky Division would be offering classes this summer in first aid and water safety. The Louisville Area Chapter will also be offering small craft classes to those interested. Information about classes may be obtained by contacting local Red Cross Chapters.

FORD EXPECTED TO VISIT ISLAND MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich .-President Ford is expected to visit Mackinac Island on July 12 for a two-day

White House spokesman would neither confirm nor deny the report carried in yesterday's editions of the Detroit News.

While on Mackinac Island, President and Mrs. Ford will stay in the stateowned governor's summer mansion, with Gov. William Milliken and his wife, the paper said.
