

Court Gets Second Site For Waste

Middle Cr. Landfill Leased Five Years; Soon To Be in Use

The months-long search for another landfill site for the solid waste program apparently ended Monday afternoon with the acceptance by the fiscal court of terms of a lease of land offered by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hale.

The court agreed to pay a rental of $4,800 a year for a five-year period for the tract which is on the Left Fork of Middle Creek.

The court also voted to employ the Hill Engineering Company to survey the site as an aid to planning its effective use prior to opening the landfill. The site has been given preliminary state approval.

County Judge Henry Stumbo, however, advised the court to proceed with use of the landfill as soon as engineering work is completed and not to wait upon state agencies' approval. He indicated that this could be a long wait. "We still don't have approval on the Turkey Creek landfill," he said.

Rental of the site will be paid out of a $14,000 gravel fund created from revenue sharing funds. The Appalachian Regional Commission will reimburse the court its expenses for engineering, which was estimated at $1,500.

The Middle Creek landfill is expected to serve all of Magisterial District 1, and it could be used for other districts if the original Turkey Creek landfill, which now is receiving waste from all parts of the county, needs relief. It has been predicted that unless other landfills were opened to use, the Turkey Creek site would be filled to capacity within a year.

Board Claims Right To Haul School Refuse

The Floyd County Board of Education at last Saturday's meeting acted to assure removal of trash and garbage accumulations at six of its schools in Magisterial District 4 to the lone landfill now in operation in the county.

After continued negotiations with the franchised garbage collection agency in the district, the Lawson Sanitation Service, had failed of an agreement on the amount Lawson should receive for the services, the board of education withdrew an old bus which had been advertised for sale, then removed the seats and converted it into a truck and assigned a maintenance man to using it in the hauling of waste materials from the schools.

Later, an unidentified person reportedly told Town Newsome, supervisor of the county sanitation effort, not to permit the board of education to haul the waste collections in a school bus.

At Saturday's meeting the board authorized its attorney, W. W. Burchett, to sue whoever interferes with the use of the bus for this purpose.

Native of Norway To Tell 'What's Right with America'

Red, White and Blue Day here, which is widely regarded as Kentucky's greatest annual patriotic observance, will have for its 1975 renewal on Saturday, Oct. 25, a speaker of national reputation, and, appropriately enough, his topic will be, "What's Right with America."

In Any Event, Action To Cut County Funds

A suit filed to determine the method of allocating coal severance funds to the several counties could cost Floyd county between $68,000 and $200,000.

The suit was filed by State Finance Commissioner William E. Scent in Franklin Circuit court last week to get an Appellate Court decision on the method of making the coal tax rebates. It followed a dispute between Clay and Leslie counties in which Leslie County Judge Allen Muncy claimed that Clay county was receiving more than $270,000 that actually belongs to his county.

At issue is the question: Should the severance tax be paid to the county in which the mine opening is located or to the county in which the coal seam lies?

The attorney general recently handed down an opinion to the effect that the rebate should go to the county where the coal is located.

Floyd county's original severance tax rebate was set this year at $1,293,771. If the tax is to be paid on the basis of mine opening, the county's apportionment will be cut to $1,239,305. If it is to be paid to the county in which the coal seam is located, the figure would be reduced to $1,080,013.

Leslie county, whose officials requested a recent attorney general's opinion on the issue, would gain at least $80,741 as a direct result of the recalculations. Leslie was originally allocated $370,040 and would get $450,781, even if the court rules in favor of rebating the tax to the county where the mine opens.

However, Leslie would receive an additional $293,130, bringing its total allocation to $743,911 if the court decides the revenue should go to the county in which the particular coal seam being mined is located.

Clay county, the county which is opposing the seam method of calculation, would be the big loser should the court favor the seam method in its ruling.

Its original allocation was $528,511. Under the mine opening collection system it would still get $513,184. But

The View from the Top . . .

Court To Study Water Extension

A special meeting of the Floyd fiscal court will be held tomorrow (Thursday) and on decisions made at that session may rest the future of Beaver Elkhorn Water District expansion.

Extension of the water district from Brush Creek across the mountain and down the left fork of Middle Creek to David has already won a $300,000 grant from HUD, but the court as a participant in the program apparently is in the mood to ask for more than water service to David and the left fork area.

First of all, it was said here this week, the court wants the water district to hook up for service those customers on the existing system in the two Beaver Creeks who have already paid deposits.

Next, it wants the water system extension to serve not only the town of David and the area to the mouth of Buckeye but also the Caney, Spurlock and Buckeye forks and downstream to the forks of Middle Creek.

The court will also insist, The Times learned, that HUD funds remain with it and that it have the role of disbursing agent as expenses are incurred in extending the system. A resolution asking that the HUD funds be placed with the water district has been rejected. One official said HUD requires that the funds be handled by the court.

Education Budget Calls for $7,737,140 During the Year

The "close estimate" working budget adopted last week by the Floyd County Board of Education provides for the expenditure during 1975-'76 of $7,737,140.

Of that total, $3,970,716 is budgeted for instruction. For transportation $504,780 was earmarked. Food services will require another $240,000, and operation of school plants another $364,300.

Other budgeted items are: Administration, $123,797; attendance, $72,529; health services, $9,000; maintenance of plant, $191,636; fixed charges, $104,400; capital outlay, $12,000.

An additional $2,143,982 was budgeted for "below the line" expenditures—items such as those covered by Title I federal funds.

Election Officers Chosen Monday To Serve in Next Two Elections

The Floyd County Election Commission named Monday 176 precinct election officers to conduct the November election and next May's primary in the county's 44 voting precincts.

The commission is composed of Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson, by virtue of their offices, Sam Henry Fitzpatrick, Democrat, and Gorman Collins, Republican. Selection of officers were made from lists of eight names submitted by the Executive committees of both parties for each precinct. From the Democratic list the first two names were appointed; the Republican preferences were marked for each precinct.

In the list of precinct officials which follows the first two names are those of Democrats, followed by the two Republican officers:

This Town...That World

With the sun shining brightly (although the song says the sun shines bright), the temperature in the 70's and the trees still wearing the green, it's plumb difficult to be pessimistic. But as sure as I begin trala-laven and hark-hark-the-lark-ing, the raven will move in.

THE CHILLER

Had an idea I might help the Cincinnati Reds out with my presence and usual obstreperous show of loyalty next week (if they can get out of Pittsburgh alive), but hesitate to bring on the Queen City a king-size rain, or a light snow.

The boys and I left here last Thursday morning just as a light overnight rain ended, the weather balmy and all signs saying, "Go." We headed for Cave Run, an impoundment into which I have not yet fallen and one which has been rather kind to us in our fishing. But by the time we were at a launching site, the temperature could not have been above 40, the wind was whipping up whitecaps, and the only thing in our favor was that we hadn't forgotten the boat, or the gas can, or the keys, or anything.

On the way we had picked up a bag of ice for the cooler, but ice wasn't needed.

The chiller came when one of my clan produced a thermos jug and I reached, gasping, "Coffee!"

And he unfeelingly replied, "Nope—ice water."

A GOOD JOB

I doubt if I have been missed, but it has been several years since I graced a football game, here or elsewhere, with the presence. For a' that, I am one of the best armchair quarterbacks in these parts, and I keep tabs on the play around the country via the sports pages.

Having thus qualified as an expert, I give it as my considered opinion that this Phillip Haywood is doing a crackin' good job with his young Prestonsburg team. Just reading about the team, or listening to other experts talk, I gather that he has a bunch of boys who came to play, not to be shoved around.

Stai Says State Aid Promised

But Cost-Trimming Asked as Officials Support Comp Care

Richard T. Stai, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center's executive director, announced late last week that the numerous letters, telephone calls and petitions that went to Governor Carroll and Leslie Dawson, secretary of the Department of Human Resources, from citizens in the Big Sandy area, asking state aid for the ailing center, have been effective.

In a message prepared for the MCCC staff he said:

"State government has been very responsive to our problems and appears willing to work with us to find workable solutions. They have made a commitment to provide us whatever additional financing is necessary to prevent our having to reduce delivery of direct services or personnel requisite to such delivery. Consequently, there will be no general layoff at this period."

"However," he continued, "the state has exacted a commitment from us to take a look at our own program to see what we can do to improve the efficiency of our system, and they have offered us assistance in doing so. This may mean that we will be required to do some trimming of operational costs and of district level personnel. But we won't know to what extent we will have to trim until the state has made a definite commitment concerning the number of dollars we can expect and we have recomputed our budget."

According to Mr. Stai, the Center's critical financial situation was brought about by a loss of more than half a million dollars in funds as a result of stringent state regulations imposed upon the disbursement of Title XX funds of the Social Security Act. In addition to the promise of aid in the form of interim financing, the state has also relaxed the stringent regulations which will allow the center to reclaim some of the projected loss.

Suicide Attempt Fails as Girl Survives Plunge

The attempt of an 18-year-old girl to take her own life last Wednesday failed after she almost miraculously survived a 65-foot plunge from the Prestonsburg-West Prestonsburg bridge into the Big Sandy River, reportedly "without even a bruise."

Alerted to the girl's threats of suicide by a call from a West Prestonsburg resident, Prestonsburg police found Dianna Pelphrey sitting on the edge of the bridge railing. Policeman Dick Campbell, who approached Miss Pelphrey, said the girl told him she was going to jump. Policeman Campbell said he grabbed her by the arm once but she jerked away.

"I was reluctant to try it again because I was afraid any sort of struggle might actually cause her to fall," Campbell said.

The officer continued to talk to the girl and suddenly "she just disappeared," as Campbell recalled. Campbell said he heard the splash, looked over the edge of the rail, and the girl was on her feet and walking downstream.

Monopoly, Arab or American, Not Beneficial to the Nation

A small portion of the Congressional membership—34, to be exact—has called on Attorney General Levi to institute an anti-trust investigation "into the growing concentration of coal production in the hands of a few giant oil companies."

The call for such an investigation appears to us not to be unreasonable, in view of the fact that major oil companies already have acquired vast coal acreage and are continuing their search for more.

Obviously, these companies will argue that their interest in coal stems from the fact that the fuel is on the way to playing a major role in the production of oil through techniques already known and being further developed. But it does not follow that oil, whether flowing from the earth or from coal-to-oil conversion apparatus, must be owned and marketed by oil companies.

A fuel monopoly, Arab or American, will not work to the benefit of this nation and the world. Given control of both oil and coal, these few corporate giants will control production and prices alike.

If permitted to continue their "grab" for the coal industry, these powerful industrial complexes may "freeze out" the independent companies and producers on which the country has depended heavily for its coal. Already, some in the industry say, the process of the little fish being swallowed by the big is under way.

We talk of free enterprise. The power and influence of the federal government should support that principle.

Those smaller operations which, in good times and bad, have mined coal, employed workers and made a singular contribution to the economy of the areas in which they have worked should be protected from any "freeze-out" and be permitted to produce coal for a free, open and competitive market.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark said an arrangement has been in effect for some time whereby the Floyd County Sanitation Service makes three pickups a week at the 25 schools in Magisterial Districts 1, 2 and 3 and receives $38.50 per school per month for the service. He said the same offer was made the collector in District 4 but that Lawson Sanitation asked $50 per school. "The board felt that this was a prohibitive charge," Clark said. The trash was piling up at all the schools, and after the fiscal court had told him it is legal for the board to haul the waste from the schools in its own vehicle, the board began this method of waste disposal, he added.

The superintendent said the board is willing to pay the regular fee of $1.25 per pickup truck load for dumping at the landfill and that two of four magistrates queried as to their position gave their assent to the board plan.

(Another use of school buses was authorized at the board meeting. See separate story.)

In other action the board employed certified personnel, as follows:

Kathryn Johnson, to replace Hollie Faye Wicker as special education teacher of a trainable unit at the Dwale center; Keith Martin to replace Hazel Dunnagan Wells as teacher at Auxier, and Judith Howard Carter to replace Hazel Clifton as teacher in the Prestonsburg Elementary School. Mrs. Clifton and Mrs. Wicker have been granted leaves of absence, and Mrs. Wells has resigned.

Non-certified personnel employed: Danny Watson, halftime custodian at Wayland; Pearl Williamson, substitute cook at Prestonsburg High and Grade schools; Howard Brown, halftime custodian at Betsy Layne; Darbin Newsome, bus driver; Janet Click, substitute cook at Allen; Rosemary Hall, halftime luncheon lunchroom clerk at Melvin; Sheba Prater, Maytown lunchroom clerk.

Organization of the Adult Basic Education program was completed with the hiring of Bobby Wells as director and the following staff members: Ralph O'Quinn, guidance; Ramona Auxier, Mabel Berger, Willie Elliott, Deniz Halbert, Hayes Hamilton, Jimmy Reynolds, Margie Watson, Neil Watson and Kathryn Youmans, teachers; Charlotte Stumbo, bookkeeper; Howard Brown, James Hall, Walter Henegar, Clinton Little, Willard Smith and Darrell Youmans, janitors.

On the motion of Lee Kidd, Jr. for a bill of particulars on the charge of transporting alcoholic beverages that has been lodged against him, the court ordered that the Commonwealth may, in lieu of these particulars, supply the defendant a copy of the case report. If the case report is not sufficient, the court added, defendant may again move for more particulars.

The civil term of court convened Monday.

Carroll Cuts Use of Forms

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll Friday abolished all forms currently in use by state government.

Any form which new form review committees find necessary will be recreated as of July 1, 1976. Any form not then approved will be abolished. Existing forms will continue to be used until then.

Gov. Carroll said discussions during recent "Governor to Government" days around Kentucky revealed that many state workers spend one-third to one-half of their time filling out forms or reporting information.

It is estimated that more than 20,000 forms now are being used by state agencies, although no one is sure of the number, he said.

"That fact alone shows how much a critical evaluation of forms is needed," Gov. Carroll said. "I hope this action will signal a black day for red tape."

He acknowledged many forms are needed to comply with federal and state laws and regulations and to guarantee the uniform operation of government.

"Still, efficiency, economy and the principles of good government dictate that forms should accomplish their intended purpose and be written in plain English," he said. "No form should be used unless it is proven necessary and non-duplicative."

The secretary of each cabinet department is to create a "Form Review Committee" representing each administrative body within the department and including state legislators and members of the public affected.

Each departmental committee is to make periodic reports to the secretary of the cabinet and submit all recommendations for new forms to it by April 30, 1976. The commission will submit its final report to the governor by May 31.

When policemen tried to approach Miss Pelphrey in the water, she reportedly told them to get away or she would drown herself. When she finally walked into deep water, Policeman Ronnie Newsome swam to the girl and helped her to shore.

Miss Pelphrey, who had been living at West Prestonsburg, was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center and released a short time later. Police said the depth of the water in which Miss Pelphrey hit, feet first, was only about four feet.

I FORGIVE Alexander Graham Bell should be given credit for his invention of the telephone, I suppose, but there are times when I do not rise up to call him blessed. The following is not a transcription, but it's pretty close to what I endured, a few days back:

"I just called to tell you I'm going away, next week. Goin' to-- to see-- and-- and-- maybe go on to-- and visit-- and -- and-- You never know, child. I'm a rambler, I tell you."

"But--" "I remember one time I went to the farm. Purtiest place you ever did see. Big trees. Iclim' one-- almost fell out. But Tom would have caught me--"

"Excuse me, but--"

"Tom was a big boy. You shoulda seen that horse of his. Him and his sister and me, we all rode it. At the same time, honey. Bareback. Ever ride bareback, on behind? And this big dog a-runnin' with the horse -- don't see what kept him from bein' tromped on, but--"

And on and on till the game on TV was almost over. Bless us all -- and I forgive Alexander G. Bell.

A landfill for each magisterial district is in the court's overall plan for the solid waste program.

The court employed Howard K. Bell Consulting Engineers, of Lexington, to make an environmental impact assessment of the proposed Floyd County Park, near Allen. This work will be done in anticipation of the county's acquiring the site, which includes the Beaver Valley golf course near Allen.

Richard E. Fitzpatrick resigned from the Joint Planning Commission, and Dixon Nunney was named to succeed him. Mrs. W. J. Reynolds, Jr., of Allen, resigned her position on the Floyd County Board of Health, and County Attorney James R. Allen was named her successor.

Floyd Unemployment Rate Jumps in August 2.3 Percent

Although the state's unemployment rate remained the same from July to August, Department for Human Resources (DHR) statistics indicate that only two counties were unchanged during the month. Increases in unemployment were registered in 67 counties and decreases in 51.

Statewide unemployment rates were 7.8 per cent for both months. August county-by-county figures show that the highest rate was in Powell County, with 22.8 per cent, and the lowest in Hopkins, four per cent.

Robert MacDonald, DHR's chief labor market statistician, says that the Bluegrass had the lowest area rate—6.2 per cent—and Eastern Kentucky the highest, 9.4 per cent. Other area rates are Northern Kentucky, 6.9; Western Kentucky, 7.3; North Central, eight; and South Central, 8.4 per cent.

DHR revised its July unemployment rates after receiving more information and refining its statistical date. The revised July rates and the August rates for Eastern Kentucky are:

Analysis Reveals Morphine in Hypo

Chemical analysis of the contents of two hypodermic syringes found in the Prestonsburg vicinity two weeks ago identified the contents of one as a morphine-based liquid. "And that's what you'd have to call 'hard' stuff," one city policeman said. The analysis work, which was conducted by the police department here, also revealed the contents of the other hypodermic as demerol, a drug described as an "upper" which may be addicting. Two empty hypodermics were also found at the same time. No clue as to the identity of the users has been uncovered.

Persons booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

State's Wild Rivers Get Monthly Exams

Kentucky's protected wild rivers get a physical checkup once a month from a staff of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (NREP).
"By monitoring the wild rivers regularly, we keep them clean and natural," said Wendell Van Hoose, supervisor of NREP's wild rivers program, who was preparing for a three-day trip down the entire 17-mile length of Rockcastle River in southeastern Kentucky.
"Streams selected for the wild rivers system must be free-flowing, aesthetically pleasing and essentially free from the works of man," Van Hoose added. "We try to keep them that way."
Van Hoose and his staff monitor each of the state's eight wild rivers.
The state's 1972 general assembly originally selected parts of five rivers—Cumberland, Red, Rockcastle, Green and Big South Fork of the Cumberland—for protection under the Wild Rivers Act. In 1974 these were supplemented by the addition of portions of the Little South Fork of the Cumberland River, Rock and Martin's Fork creeks.

Number of Attorneys As Public Defenders Reach Record Number

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky's chief public defender says more attorneys than ever before are participating in the state's public defender program.
Jack Farley said in a recent interview that a number of attorneys have joined the program since the first of the year, pushing the total number of participants over the 400 mark for the first time.
According to the Kentucky Bar Association, there are 4,577 licensed attorneys in the state. This means that more than 11 per cent of all Kentucky's licensed attorneys are public defenders.
Farley, who became chief public defender last February, said the growth in public defender strength is due at least in part to an effort he launched last spring to expand the services of the 2½-year-old program.

'Red Tape' Slows Watershed Program

By JENNY PULLIAM
FRANKFORT, Ky.—The small watershed program may be ailing nationwide, but in Kentucky it is managing to survive despite time lags in implementation.
According to Stanley Head, director of the division of conservation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, one problem involved in implementation of the federally-sponsored program "is the tremendous amount of planning and replanning. The bureaucratic red tape involved with the watershed projects slows things down. Besides an environmental impact statement for each project, various public hearings must also be held."
Speaking of a recent federal watershed review panel, Head indicated that the panel's findings show that too much time lags between the initial request and the actual construction and completion of the food control projects. Nationwide, the implementation time for a watershed averages eight years.
Citing another problem of securing easements and rights-of-way with climbing prices, Head said that the panel asked the federal government to "streamline its handling of the watershed projects. Less red tape would speed up project construction from beginning to end."

In their report, the panel also suggested that state governments become involved with the watershed projects from conception to completion. Currently, construction of the areas of land which drain off into streams, is mainly a local concern with assistance from the federal government.
Kentucky's conservation staff is involved in assisting soil and water districts in organizing and directing watershed conservancy districts, Head reported.

While developing the work plan for these watershed projects, conservation representatives encourage the sponsors to add other improvements besides flood prevention. These additions provide water for municipal, industrial and recreational uses.

A recent watershed being built in Kentucky, the Caney Creek watershed, located near Caneyville, will provide flood control and water storage for the Grayson County area. Construction of this structure began last spring and is expected to be completed by the fall of 1976.

Plans for the 97,000 acre Caney Creek watershed include nine flood-water retarding structures, one multi-purpose dam and 20 miles of stream channel improvements.

The first watersheds in Kentucky were pilot projects, which included the Twin Creek watershed in Harrison County, the Plum Creek watershed in Shelby and Spencer counties and the Little Green River watershed in Lincoln County.

Now there are 32 watersheds in the Commonwealth, three of which have won national awards.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

By JOHN WILSON
(Guest Writer)

Kentucky's farm pond owners who wish to participate in the Department of Fish and Wildlife's stocking program should act now, according to Pete Pfeiffer, assistant director of the division of fisheries.

All applications for this year's stocking must be received by Oct. 1. The pond owner's first step should be to get in touch with his local conservation officer, who will inspect the pond and furnish all the proper forms.

The pond owner will then be notified when and where to pick up his fish, which are packaged in waterproof boxes containing instructions for the proper method of placing the fish in the pond.

Bluegill and channel catfish will be stocked this fall and largemouth bass next spring. Applications received before Oct. 1 will qualify pond owners for both the fall and spring stockings, but no new applications will be accepted in the spring.

The easiest ponds to stock are either new ponds or those with no existing fish population. Ponds with aquatic weed problems or with an over-population of bluegill need special treatment before stocking. Again, the conservation officer is the man to see. He will either recommend treatment or if necessary call in a trained biologist for advice.

Owners of ponds which need treatment for over population should act as soon as possible, since the first week in September is usually the best time for such treatment.

Once the fish are stocked, the pond should not be fished for at least two years. When fishing begins, the ratio between the number of bass and bluegill taken from the pond should be carefully watched. Unless five to seven pounds of bluegill are removed for each pound of bass caught, the pond may well become over-populated with bluegill.

The pond owner's only obligation under this program is that he pick up his fish (usually at the county seat or some other central location in each county).

He retains the right to limit public access to his pond, or to place more restrictive limits on the number or size of the fish taken from it than apply on public waters. However, if chemical treatment is needed, the owner is responsible for purchasing and applying the chemicals.

If the pond owner does not know the local conservation officer, he can get his name from the sheriff's office or from the county judge or county attorney.

Papal Decree Cites Monk's Achievement

VATICAN CITY—Pope Paul VI approved decrees yesterday opening the way for proclaiming a Lebanese monk a saint of the Roman Catholic Church, and for beatification of a German nun.

The Lebanese monk was Charber Makhlof, who lived from 1828 to 1898 in a Maronite monastery.

The German nun was Sister Maria of the Divine Heart, a member of the Order of the Charity of the Good Shepherd, whose lay name was Droste zu Vishring. She was born in Munster in 1863 and died in Oporto, Portugal, in 1899.

The decrees gave papal approval to events interpreted by the Catholic Church as miracles obtained through the intercession of holy persons. This is the final step toward proclamation as blessed or saint, but no dates were set for the ceremonies in which the titles will be bestowed.

Hindman Pharmacy, Jenny Wiley Council Clerk's Office Hit To Meet in Magoffin

A $6,000 haul by burglars from a drug store and the looting of the Knott county clerk's office were reported Monday from Hindman.

The report received here said the Rexall Drug Store was burglarized Sunday night, with an estimated $6,000 worth of drugs, jewelry and other items missing. The Knott county clerk's office also was broken into during the night, its record scattered and the entire office and its furnishings left in disarray.

It was the second break into the drug store in recent weeks. Officers had no clue as to the identity of those entering the buildings.

The Jenny Wiley Council, an affiliate of the International Reading Association, will go to nearby Magoffin county Tuesday evening, October 14. The 7 p.m. meeting will be held in the new Salyersville Grade School on Route 7, behind the Superior Food Market.

The theme for the evening will be, "Bring-a-Parent Night." A presentation featuring different schools' key personnel will be given to inform parents of various aspects of school programs. Nadine Hicks, council president, urges each council member to bring one or more parents.

The four-year-old reading council, which encompasses the counties of Knott, Martin, Magoffin, Pike and Floyd, was organized to aid the improvement of reading and reading instruction in this area. Composed of educators and parents, the Jenny Wiley Council has sponsored many projects such as the grant of scholarships and materials construction workshops.

The general public is cordially invited to attend any council meetings. Membership information may be obtained by contacting Bertha Ratliff, McDowell, Ky., telephone 874-2208.

Every county in Kentucky, except one, has a conservation district. Logan county has two conservation districts. Districts work with the division of conservation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection to protect the state's natural resources.

Cats Smother Undefeated Pirates

By BRIAN STURGILL

The Belfry Pirates came to Prestonsburg last Friday evening, an undefeated football team. At the end of the following action they had joined the ranks of the defeated. In short, the Prestonsburg Black Cats smothered them, 40 to 16.

The Blackcats received the opening kickoff on their own 17-yard line and drove 72 yards to the Belfry one. Then Greg Dixon, the Cats' junior quarterback, went in for the touchdown. The conversion, also a Dixon keep, failed. Next Belfry, held by the Blackcat defense, punted the ball away. The Blackcats received the ball on their own 32 yard line and drove down the field finally to score on a three-yard run by William Goebel. The conversion, a pass from Greg Dixon to Tim Patrick, was incomplete.

Early in the second quarter, the Pirates tried to tame the Blackcats by scoring two touchdowns. The first was on a 11-yard pass from Belfry quarterback Chuck Johnson to Garrett Blackburn. The point-after try, a pass from Johnson to Blackburn, was good.

The Pirates' second touchdown, a 25-yard pass from Johnson, was caught by Jim Matney. The conversion, another pass from Johnson to Blackburn, was good.

The Blackcats decided not to be behind at half time and scored on another 1-yard quarterback sneak by Greg Dixon. The conversion, a pass from Dixon to Thomas Slone, was good, making the score at half-time: Prestonsburg 20, Belfry 16.

The Cats in the second half ran over the Pirates. First, in the third quarter, Mike Dixon recovered a Pirate fumble on the Belfry 3-yard line. Then Dixon threw the touchdown pass to Goebel. On the conversion the Belfry defense stopped Dixon behind the line of scrimmage.

In the fourth quarter Bear May recovered a Belfry fumble on the Belfry 30, which set up a Blackcat touchdown scored by William Goebel on a 16-yard run. The conversion, a Dixon pass, was incomplete. Then, with a little more than two minutes left in the game, the scoreboard clock failed to operate. The game was resumed with the time being kept by the referees on a stop-watch. The Blackcats went on to another touchdown by Greg Dixon on a 1-yard quarterback sneak. The conversion, also a quarterback sneak, was good.

Prestonsburg's Greg Dixon and Belfry's Jim Matney both had good nights, offensively. Dixon ran the ball 24 times for 143 yards and threw the ball nine times for six completions and 95 yards. Jim Matney ran the ball 12 times for 57 yards.

On defense Prestonsburg's Kermit Joseph had eight tackles, four unassisted; Bear May, two unassisted and a total of 11, and Mike Click had one unassisted and a total of 11.

Grade School Grid Play Begins

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Prestonsburg area Grade School Football League got under way last Tuesday night at the Prestonsburg High School football field with three games played. In the first game, the Prestonsburg 5th-6th grade Red team won over the Allen 5th-6th, 28 to 6. In the second game the Auxier 7th-8th grade team defeated the Clark 7th-8th team by 14 to 8. The third game of the night was a scoreless deadlock between the Prestonsburg 7th-8th white team and the Allen 7th-8th.

The Prestonsburg 5th-6th Red team got off to a 14 to 0 lead at halftime, thanks to the running of Loran Ranier and the quarterbacking of Carlos Harris.

In the first game Ranier picked up two touchdowns and Dennis Flanagan added two extra points in the first half. The second half was about the same, as Ranier scored two more touchdowns while Quarterback Harris added two points on a run. Allen's Craig Coleman scampered 51 yards for a touchdown and Allen was threatening again in the closing minutes; however, Brent McCormick stopped their offense as he recovered a fumble.

In the Auxier-Clark game Auxier led at halftime, 6 to 0, as Quarterback Jeff Wright scored the long touchdown. In the second half Auxier scored its second touchdown on a run by Gary Meade, and Jeff Wright added the two extra points on a run. Clark scored its lone touchdown in the second half as David Pitts scored on a one yard plunge and the two extra points was picked up by Greg Chaffins.

Next Tuesday night, in the first game at 6 p.m. the Prestonsburg 5th-6th Red team will face the Prestonsburg 5th-6th White team. In the second game the Prestonsburg 7th-8th White team will play the Allen 7th-8th, and in the third game of the night the Prestonsburg 7th-8th Red team will battle the Martin 7th-8th. We want to encourage all parents and all of those interested in future football to attend these games.

Floyd Native Leads Ohio Golf Amateurs

Jim Rollins, native of Wheelwright, is literally showing golfing enthusiasts in and around the Cincinnati, Ohio area how the game should be played.

Since he started coaching golf at Bethel-Tate High School in Bethel, O., golf has become a varsity sport with Bethel winning two of the last three Clermont Country League titles, along with a winning streak which included 11 straight matches this past season. Rollins, Wheelwright High School graduate, got most of his early golf training on the course there. He attended Cumberland College on basketball and golf scholarships, and says of his team, "I've read about how good the high school teams are in the eastern Cincinnati area. Well, we've beaten all those teams."

In addition to his efforts as a coach, Rollins plays a fair game himself. He won the longest drive contest at Friendly Meadows Golf Course near Bethel, and recently he and a friend survived a six-hole sudden death playoff to win the first amateur-amateur match sponsored by the Cincinnati Recreation Commission. Rollins is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Rollins, of Wheelwright.

Humane Society To Meet Monday

The Floyd County Humane Society has changed meeting dates from Tuesday to Monday evenings, it was announced this week by John Burke, Jr., president.

Although location and time of the meetings remain unchanged, the meetings will not be held on the second and fourth Mondays in each month. The next regular meeting will be held next Monday night, October 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Martin Grade school. All persons interested in the humane and effective control of stray dogs and other animals should attend this meeting.

VISITOR HERE Mrs. Isabel Reed, of Drift, visited Mrs. H. D. Hewlett Sunday.

Grade School Grid Program Gets Support

The Boosters Club, which has successfully promoted Little League football in four schools in the northern end of the county, has become a school-connected program and thus will benefit from the use of school buses in transporting the young players and from the use of the football field here.

The Floyd County Board of Education voted Saturday its cooperation with the club and the Little League program, adopting Supt. Clark's recommendation that the board extend temporary recognition to the club and Little League and grant them the privileges asked as a school-connected activity.

The action followed talks with Carl Castle, president of the Boosters Club, and E. B. May, Jr., Little League president. The program, as now developed, is functional in Prestonsburg, Auxier, Allen and Clark elementary schools. It recently received from the Floyd fiscal court a $1,000 grant.

Pete Grigsby, Jr. and Denzil Halbert, both former basketball coaches in the county system, were named to represent the board of education in developing a policy governing the Little League, and the board employed Charles Collins, physical education instructor in the elementary school here, as coach of the Prestonsburg team.

It was said that the State Board of Education requires a copy of policy for such organizations to be on file at its office and that a once-a-year updating of policy is demanded.

"This is an enthusiastic group," Supt. Clark said of the Boosters Club and Little League for football. "They already have their teams organized and schedules in operation. We want to work with that enthusiasm."

A policy, for example, was necessary to be adopted for the conduct of an elementary athletic program in the county, since the Kentucky High School Athletic Association (KHSAA) governs only high school athletics and leaves elementary schools without regulations unless they are developed at the local or county level.

At Saturday's board meeting these resolutions were adopted, effective immediately, to govern elementary school athletics:

1. Eligibility sheets signed by each principal shall be sent to the other school five days before contests are held between the schools;
2. Each school shall provide equal opportunity for practice with both boys' and girls' teams;
3. The player must play for the school which he or she attends, unless his or her school does not have his or her sport;
4. If a student reaches age 16 before the season of that sport which is designated, he or she shall be ineligible to participate in that sport. If the participants become 16 after the season begins, they shall be allowed to finish competition for the season of that sport.

Seasons designated for the various categories of sports are: Football, Sept. 1; basketball, Nov. 1; spring sports, April 1.

Approve Campus Drainage Plan

At signing of measure plan for PCC campus improvement were, from left, seated—Dr. Henry A. Campbell, director of Prestonsburg Community College, and L. R. Johnson, conservation district chairman; standing—H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., secretary of the Big Sandy RC&D Council, and Ollie J. Arnett, chairman of the council.

Measure sponsors have approved the RC&D land drainage measure on the Prestonsburg Community College campus.

The measure is for installing an underground drainage system (using tile or plastic conduit) on about 20 acres of poorly drained land in the southeast corner of the campus. The objective is to drain the land in order to establish and maintain sod on the area for more efficient land use as open space and recreation.

Local measure sponsors are the Floyd County Conservation District and the college. The measure plan was signed in a brief ceremony, September 25, in Dr. Henry A. Campbell's office at the college. Others present at the ceremony were Ollie J. Arnett, of Salyersville, H. D. Fitzpatrick, of Prestonsburg, W. H. Dempsey, project coordinator, USDA, Soil Conservation Service, and William J. Cantrell, district conservationist, Soil Conservation Service.

The construction costs will be borne on a 50-50 basis by the college and the Soil Conservation Service. SCS is providing all engineering and contracting services. Total cost is estimated to be $11,600.00.

The Big Sandy Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Project covers the counties of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike. Other RC&D measures in various stages of planning for Floyd county are flood protection for McDowell High School and streambank protection for Archer Park. Final plans are almost complete for flood protection for Salyersville Elementary School, Magoffin county.

SEWING CLASS IN WEEKSBURY

The Weeksbury Community Action Club is again sponsoring a free sewing class of ten lessons of its community center. The instructor is a local resident, Mrs. Molly Tackett.

Previous sewing classes held in the fall and winter of 1974 proved successful with a good attendance. The object of these classes is to teach sewing to beginners, especially housewives with families.

For further details, prospective members are asked to call the center president, Miss Peggy Bradford, at 452-2256.

Report 66 Cases Of Encephalitis

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky now has a total of 66 cases of viral encephalitis, or "sleeping sickness," under observation by the Department for Human Resources (DHR).

DHR's Bureau for Health Services has confirmed 26 of these cases: 15 in Jefferson County, two in Fayette and Union and one each in Boyle, Bullitt, Clark, Daviess, Kenton, Muhlenberg and Oldham counties.

The following counties have reported 14 probable cases: Jefferson, four; Union, three; and one each in Calloway, Fayette, Graves, Henderson, Hopkins, Kenton and McLean.

DHR also has received reports of 26 suspected cases in the following counties: Jefferson, five; Henderson, four; three in Fayette and Union; and one each in Anderson, Boyle, Bullitt, Daviess, Franklin, Fulton, Hardin, Hopkins, Kenton, Muhlenberg and Powell.

"The latest confirmed case of encephalitis was a Jefferson County resident who became ill on Sept. 12," according to Dr. C Hernandez, director of DHR's division of preventive services. "While the number of new cases reported to DHR is declining, we are not able to predict any trends at this time," he continued.

Begley Quits Action Against Ex-Gov. Nunn

Elmer Begley's lawsuit against former Gov. Louie Nunn over an alleged unreported $100,000 campaign contribution was reported tentatively settled at Begley's expense this week.

Begley, a resident of Ayden and an unsuccessful Republican gubernatorial candidate during the May primary, charged that Nunn received the money in 1971. Testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee revealed that the money—part of the campaign chest of former President Richard Nixon—was delivered to Nunn by White House counsel Herbert Kalmbach.

Nunn's attorney, Lyle Robey, told U.S. District Judge Bernard Moynahan that Begley had agreed to the settlement. Begley, acting as his own attorney, then asked to approach the bench.

The two conferred with Judge Moynahan for several minutes. Without comment, the judge set the case aside.

City Dwellers Encouraged To Pick Farm Crops

PETALUMA, Calif.—Harvest time in Sonoma County, north of San Francisco, is a time of incentive for city dwellers to take a leisurely drive through the countryside—and harvest their own crops.

In 1972, 100 of the small farmers of the county organized a Farm Trails Plan, in hopes of encouraging more city visitors. A map of the small farms where persons could drive up, pick their own and pay less was available at every Chamber of Commerce office in the county. The 1975 maps include 150 members, offering everything from berries, apples, plants, mushrooms, persimmons and herbs to chickens and pheasants.

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING

"The countdown is ticking away in California. Any second, minute, hour or day it could happen. A world-record largemouth bass will be caught smashing the present 22 1/2-pound, 43-year-old mark by a substantial margin. Conjecture? Nope, we have movie films of such a bass."

This is the prediction made by Angling Editor Homer Circle in the September issue of Sports Afield. It is based on the sighting and photographing of a monstrous bass, believed to be in the 28 to 30-pound category, while Angling Editor Circle and producer-photographer Glenn Lau were filming a segment of the TV show The Fisherman on Lake Miramar.

The existence of such a fish is no accident. Way back in the 1950s a group of bass fishermen had a dream. Why not import some of Florida's giant bass to California? Maybe they would do better than those brought to the state from Vermont and Michigan in 1847, to give California its first bass population.

So they took their dream to the right place, and it became a reality in 1959. This is the year when the City of San Diego, San Diego County and the California and Florida fish-and-game departments cooperated to put it all together.

Some 20,000 robust fry, representing the best of Florida's giant strain of largemouth bass, were planted in Upper Otay Lake. It had been voided of all other species. These Florida largemouths responded by showing a remarkable growth rate. The next year the bass spawned in Otay were transplanted into a number of other California lakes.

But now why this visible monster in Lake Miramar? First of all, the Florida bass in that lake found competition from "northern bass" as the other bass are called by Californians. And being more aggressive, the Floridas got the lion's share of the available food.

There is also a matter of longevity. The Florida bass appear to be more intelligent, or selective than the northern bass and do not fall for fishermen's lures as readily. The result is that they live longer, which when added to their genetic advantage results in older and bigger Florida bass.

Lake Miramar has two other advantages for the bassfisherman who is hoping to land that world-record bass. One is clarity of water, and the other is accessibility from the bank. Both combine to make it possible for a fisherman to make regular patrols and watch carefully all areas where bass are known to spawn. Once he spots a huge bass on a nest, he can stay with it all day. If he cannot reach it from shore, he can rent a boat and work on it.

Also, now that it is legal for fishermen to catch, but not transport, shiners to fish with, they learn the trick of taking them on barbless hooks baited with bread doughballs. And once they learn how to catch the bigger shiners, they will use them to catch the biggest bass.

Experts Say One Gun Killed Robert Kennedy

LOS ANGELES—A panel of seven independent experts reported unanimously Monday that there was no evidence to substantiate a belief that a second gun was fired in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Superior Court Judge Robert A. Wenke read a "final joint report" of the ballistics experts who had re-fired the gun wrested from Sirhan B. Sirhan and examined the bullets taken from Kennedy's body compared to those with bystanders wounded in the shooting in the Ambassador Hotel in June, 1968.

As a packed courtroom waited breathlessly, Judge Wenke dispelled the suspense immediately by saying the experts had found no reason to believe that anyone other than Sirhan was involved in the murder of the Senator.

The shooting was witnessed by a score of persons and Sirhan was convicted of murder in 1969.

East Kentucky Income Up

It's still well below the national average, but the per capita income of residents of Kentucky's Appalachian counties rose more rapidly than that of the rest of the nation during the 1969-1972 period, according to a recent article by a staff member of the federal Appalachian Regional Commission.

The report, based on the most recent figures available from the Census Bureau and the Office of Revenue Sharing, says that in the state's 49 easternmost counties per capita income rose from $1,732 in 1969—or 55.5 per cent of the U.S. average—to $2,201 in 1972—which was 58.2 per cent of the national average.

The two counties showing the most rapid per capita income growth during the period were coal-producing Pike and Martin. Income growth ranged from 37.7 to 55.7 per cent in those counties.

Other coal-producing areas also had rapid increases. Per capita income growth of 28.3 to 37.7 per cent was recorded for Floyd, Harlan, Letcher, Knott, Bell, Leslie, Cumberland, Wayne, Perry, Clay, Laurel, Owsley, Magoffin, Morgan, Wolfe and Estill counties.

The only eastern Kentucky counties whose per capita income increases at rates lower than the national average were Boyd, Monroe, Fleming and Lewis.

Despite the rapid increases in many counties, none of the state's Appalachian counties had a 1972 per capita income above the national average. Only two counties—Clark and Boyd—were above 80 per cent of the national average, while Madison, Green, Garrard and Greenup were between 70 and 80 per cent of the U.S. average.

Counties with per capita income levels between 55 and 70 per cent of the national average were Adair, Casey, Lincoln, Pulaski, Laurel, Estill, Powell, Harlan, Pike, Floyd, Carter, Rowan and Fleming. Those between 40 and 50 per cent of the national average were Letcher, Knott, Monroe, Cumberland, Clinton, Russell, Wayne, Whitley, Knox, Bell, Rockcastle, Perry, Lee, Magoffin, Johnson, Martin, Lawrence, Elliott, Morgan, Menifee, Lewis and Bath. Counties with per capita incomes below 40 per cent of the national average were McCreary, Clay, Leslie, Owsley, Jackson, Breathitt and Wolfe.

In Kentucky, the report says, Appalachian income per capita increased "appreciably more rapidly than non-Appalachian income." The $2,201 average per capita income for the Appalachian part of the state represented a

Chances of Gorge Being National Park Dim as Money Lacking

The chances that the Red River Gorge could become a national park have diminished following disclosure that the National Park Service is short of money.

And the Army apparently is losing interest in building a dam there.

Prior to the disclosure of the tight park service funds Sen. Walter Huddleston had been reported to be in favor of making the area a park.

An aide to Huddleston said that a decision on how best to preserve the gorge and make it a nationally important recreational area "will take longer than we thought."

Another alternative Huddleston had been considering was to develop it as a recreational area under the U.S. Forest Service.

Traveling Exhibits Offered Statewide

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Exhibits featuring such skills as photography and printmaking are no longer confined to a few of the state's urban areas.

The Kentucky Arts Commission's traveling exhibition program currently makes 10 shows available to the public, free of charge, at such unlikely places as libraries, public schools, colleges, banks and civic centers, as well as museums.

A listing of current exhibits includes a show devoted to photographs by the late Barney Cowherd, former news photographer for the Courier-Journal, Louisville Times and Life magazine.

Another photography exhibit includes a feature on Eastern Kentucky between the 1800s and 1930s. Selected from Alice Lloyd College's Appalachian Learning Laboratory, the photographs portray mountain families, logging and mining operations and early railroad construction.

Rare scenes of Louisville in the 1920s have also been preserved by the camera and are now available for showing through the arts commission.

Kentucky's largest city also has yielded an art form unique to the state. Rubbings from 19th century coal hole covers found in the sidewalks of downtown Louisville are on display.

In addition, several silkscreen prints and multi-media exhibits may be booked through the commission.

Charles Curro was recently hired by the commission to direct the traveling exhibition program since requests for the service have now warranted a fulltime supervisor. The program was first initiated in 1965 when the arts commission was formed, but shared the spotlight with other projects under a visual arts director.

To encourage Kentucky institutions to book the shows, the arts commission not only provides the service at no cost, but also foots the insurance premiums. Curro said that many states with similar programs require the borrower to pay the insurance fee.

Exhibits are rotated on a monthly basis.

Curro is well-qualified to coordinate the arts commission's traveling exhibition program. A graduate of the University of Cincinnati, he has installed exhibits at the school's Tangeman University Center Art Gallery and the Contemporary Art Center. In addition, he is a former preparator for the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York City and is a practicing artist with a specialty in large drawings.

TO THE CITIZENS OF MARTIN:

We would like to take this opportunity to clarify our position as related to the Water and Sewer Commission in our town. Since 1957 The Town Council lost control over the Martin Water Commission. A decision handed down at that time by the Court of Appeals, declared that a 3 man Water Commission would be established and the commission would operate independently from the jurisdiction of The City Council. The court established the terms of these commissioners as 6, 4, and 2 years with the 2 remaining commissioners selecting the new commissioner. Under this system it is possible for the commission to continually stay in office. The Water Commission, by law and statute, is solely responsible for the WATER and SEWER systems in our town.

The Mayor and Town Council are not responsible and do not control the activities and decisions of The Martin Water Commission.

Thank you.

Mr. Turner is a 1966 graduate of McDowell High School, and a 1973 graduate of the University of Ky. College of Law.

Red, White and Blue Day Here— A Day that's for Everybody

By HELEN PRICE STACY

If you still have your crayons and coloring books, then color Saturday, Oct. 25, red, white and blue. If you want to be a part of history, then be a part of Marcella Bailey's sixth annual Red, White and Blue Day in Prestonsburg on that date.

"I'll tell you why I decided to use so much time and energy to get this started," said the friendly, vivacious Floyd countian. "My dad was a veteran of World War I, my brothers and my husband Sid served in later wars. I don't think we can let people down who didn't let us down. Look at all the men in years past who left loved ones to go away and do their part in protecting us and our country. Forget them? Never! Not as long as I live!"

She means it. Patriotism at the Bailey home at Langley is a part of life. "We talk it, eat it and swing it. If you don't believe it, come here to our house and sit on our front porch with Sid and me and swing in our red, white and blue swing."

The founder of this patriotic celebration admits that she gets discouraged at the complacent attitude of many towards our country and what it stands for. "Then along comes someone like our bread man who says his company wants to have a float in the parade. They've even got patriotic bread wrappers!"

The program will start at 12 noon at the municipal parking lot with the raising of the flag by the Kentucky National Guard of Prestonsburg, after which Mrs. Carlos Haywood will direct the Prestonsburg High School chorus and the audience in singing the national anthem. Students from Pike county will lead the pledge to the flag, and Sgt. Balsler, also of Pike county, will lead in the Lord's Prayer.

"We're so thankful to have with us again this year Richard Frymire, adjutant general of the Kentucky National Guard, and others of the military. We're expecting a color guard from Fort Campbell and the Bicentennial Color Guard from Fort Knox."

Special invitations went to Gov. Julian

Carroll and the acting lieutenant governor, State Sen. Bill Sullivan.

Reo Johns, the master of ceremonies, will introduce Mrs. Bailey, who will then introduce platform guests, including Prestonsburg Mayor William Gobel, Jr. and City Manager Curtis Clark.

"Our main speaker," she said with much pride in her voice, "will be the Rev. Oddvar Berg of Russellville, native of Oslo, Norway. His topic will be 'What's Right With America.' He has traveled in 48 of the states, looking the country over. It's important to him, too, for he's now a citizen of the U.S."

Following the address, the high school chorus and Mrs. Haywood will lead everyone in singing "God Bless America." As the song nears its end, Hassell Tackett of Pike county will release hundreds of red, white and blue balloons into the air.

An Indian group will march in the parade along with a tepee float; other marchers or riders will be the first preschool-age Little Miss Patriotic (who will be selected Oct. 10 in a pageant at the grade school in Martin), other pageant contestants, numerous floats of business and civic groups and hundreds of schoolchildren. "I want to involve as many youngsters as possible, because they will need patriotism if we're to survive tomorrow," said Mrs. Bailey, who will be riding with her 17-month-old grandson, Sean Bailey, and nephew, Greg Rowe.

In the Prestonsburg Field House following the parade, pageants will be held to select the 1975 Little Miss Red, White and Blue, Junior Miss Red, White and Blue and Miss Red, White and Blue.

We're inviting everyone to Prestonsburg to help us celebrate," Mrs. Bailey said, "and asking them to dress in red, white and blue and help dress up America."

Kidney Foundation Candy Sale Begins

The Kidney Foundation volunteers are once again selling Tootsie Roll Midgees throughout Floyd county. Kicking off their 7th annual candy sale, the volunteers are determined to exceed last year's sales.

"An increased number of volunteers selling candy and a more organized selling program assures us of the most profitable results ever," says Mrs. Bruce Spradlin, Floyd county chairman.

The 9 oz. bags of Tootsie Rolls are being sold for $1 each. Proceeds from the sale are channeled to research efforts seeking cures and prevention of kidney disease. Also, a large percentage of the profits are used in local programs aimed at increasing the number of transplants and services to those with kidney disease.

One of the many programs which will benefit from the candy sale is patient services. This program provides money for dialysis and transplant patients for medicine, patient identification tags and some transportation costs for those patients commuting from outlying counties to a transplant and dialysis center.

If you are interested in selling or purchasing candy to support the Kidney Foundation, please contact Mrs. Spradlin at 886-3405.

C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON Clerk, Floyd County Court

Announcing an average 29% mileage improvement for 1976 cars over 1975's at your Lincoln-Mercury dealer.

This is a weighted average based on a comparison of projected 1975 and 1976 sales of all models of Lincoln-Mercury cars and our computation of EPA test results for combined city/highway testing mix. While most of our cars improved for 1976 on the EPA City/Highway basis, some 1976 mileage improvements were not as dramatic as this average since their big improvements were made in 1975 models—like our MPG cars introduced in June. Note: California cars have different results.

Continental Mark IV. 16 mpg highway, 12 mpg city. America's classic personal luxury car introduces the Designer Series. Choose from Cartier, Pucci, Bill Blass and Givenchy editions.

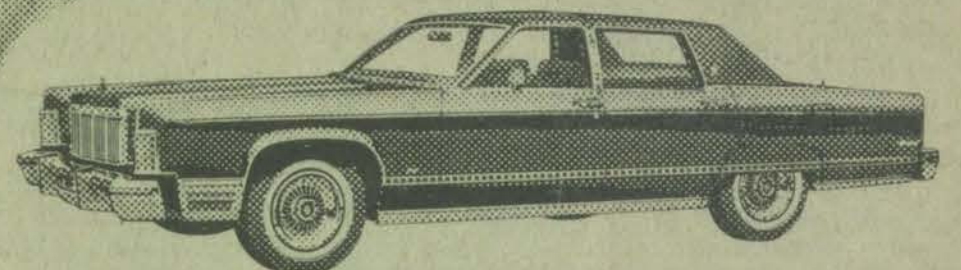

Mercury Grand Marquis. 17 mpg highway, 13 mpg city with 400 2-V V-8 engine. The ultimate degree of Mercury luxury and elegance. From the car that made the blind-fold ride tests famous.

Mercury Montego MX Brougham. 19 mpg highway, 13 mpg city with 351 2-V V-8 engine. Mid-size price, gas economy and easy handling. Without sacrificing roominess, luxury and Mercury riding comfort.

Mercury Comet. 23 mpg highway, 18 mpg city with 250 6-cylinder engine, manual transmission. Our tough, durable compact. In this dashing new optional Sports Accent Group and Sports Vinyl Roof, Comet's still low priced.

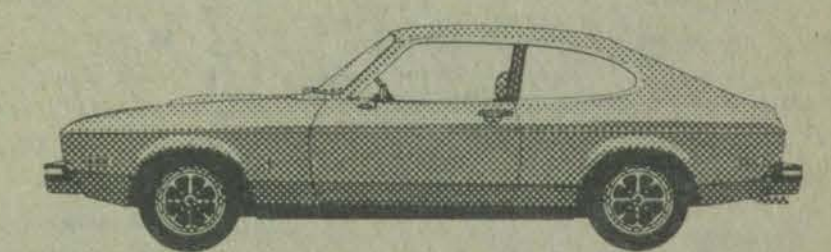

Lincoln Continental. 16 mpg highway, 12 mpg city. A new Town Car. Offering the elegance of a deeply padded Coach Roof option with distinctive crown molding and frenched rear window.

Mercury Cougar XR-7. 19 mpg highway, 13 mpg city with 351 2-V V-8 engine. As unique in its own class as Continental Mark IV. And now you can select a Silver Cat, a gleaming new Cougar at a new price.

Mercury Monarch Ghia. 24 mpg highway, 18 mpg city with 250 6-cylinder engine, manual transmission. Last year, based on eight tests of handling and driving comfort on American roads, 41 out of 50 owners of American cars judged a 1975 Monarch Ghia superior all-around to a new Mercedes 280.

Capri II. 27 mpg highway, 18 mpg city with 2.3 liter OHC 4-cylinder engine, manual transmission. An all new Capri. At a surprisingly low price. With a list of sexy European features that goes on and on.

And two Bobcats estimated at 34 mpg highway, 24 mpg city.

Mercury Bobcat MPG. 34 mpg highway, 24 mpg city with manual transmission. 3-door or Villager wagon, Bobcat is a solid little Mercury that gives you hundreds of pounds more car than most little imports.

All fuel economy numbers are estimates based on EPA tests. Because of many engine and transmission combinations and optional equipment, the car you choose may perform differently. Furthermore, the gas mileage you actually get depends on you. Your type of driving. Your driving habits. Road and weather conditions. And how your car is maintained.

Mark IV and Town Car with optional bodyside molding, forged aluminum wheels and wide whitewall tires. All others, except Capri II, with optional WSW tires and bumper protection group.

See all the new '76's at your Lincoln-Mercury dealer.

Psychiatric Unit Planned at LaGrange

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian M. Carroll announced today that the Department for Human Resources (DHR) and the Department of Justice are proceeding with plans for the construction and operation of a new forensic psychiatric unit at LaGrange Reformatory near Louisville.

This new facility will provide additional resources for the psychiatric diagnosis and treatment of mentally ill inmates of the correctional system and for persons needing such services before a court appearance.

In the LaGrange facility, psychiatric assistance will be provided through-DHR's Bureau for Health Services. Security and maintenance will be provided by the Department of Justice.

According to C. Leslie Dawson, DHR secretary, "LaGrange would appear to be the most appropriate location. Its proximity to Louisville and a large professional community would be two desirable elements of that site."

Funds for planning and construction of a forensic psychiatric facility were appropriated to DHR by the 1972 legislature. Dawson explained that "inasmuch as the construction will be adjacent to and connected with a facility operated by the Department of Justice, it would appear appropriate for them to assume the responsibility of construction with the understanding that DHR will design the program area."

William P. McElwain, commissioner of DHR's Bureau for Health Services, said that "an agreement has been made for each department to name two individuals to a working committee which would proceed to develop written agreements to implement those decisions that have already been made."

Little Miss Patriotic Pageant Is Scheduled For Friday at Martin

The Little Miss Patriotic pageant at which a little girl will be named for an important role in the Oct. 25 Red, White and Blue Day observance here, will be held at the Martin school auditorium Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The Martin Woman's Club, sponsor of the pageant, said 19 pre-school girls (ages 2-5) are entered as contestants. The winner will be crowned by Stephanie Stumbo, 1974 Little Miss Patriotic.

An entertainment feature of the pageant will be performances by two groups from the Ward School of Dance.

Let's Set the Record Straight for Martin

For the past eight years the Town of Martin has been moving forward. We are proud of the following accomplishments by the PROGRESSIVE TICKET and offer them for everyone's consideration:

1. We have exemplified sound and efficient fiscal responsibility for our town. We have not borrowed any money to promote our projects but have kept the town's business within its own means and income. We have spent money only as we have taken it in, and still we have been able to accomplish our goals and purposes.
2. We have not raised property taxes in the past eight years!
3. The town is in good financial condition and we are not in debt!
4. We initiated and procured funds for the present Federal Flood Control Project for Martin. We also raised the funds necessary for the preliminary channelization of this project, WITHOUT additional taxes.
5. We planned and worked zealously for the present Housing Project in downtown Martin for the elderly and disabled citizens of our town. It took several years of persistence and patience in working out this project with the Federal Government—BUT WE DID IT!
6. We secured the right-of-way to Bridge Street and elevated the road above flood level, which was a vast improvement for that part of our town.
7. We are paving our streets and building new sidewalks in town, which has helped substantially to improve appearances and conveniences for our citizens. Furthermore, the Floyd Fiscal Court has never provided any money for streets or roads in Martin.
8. We improved our law enforcement and protection of our town when the present city policeman, Herschel Lester, was hired several years ago. Mr. Lester is a very popular and respected law officer with all age groups of our community.
9. We have SUPPORTED and will continue to SUPPORT progress in our school system for our Martin Elementary School. With the addition of a new P. E. building and gymnasium, we shall continue to fight for the complete renovation of our old High School building.
10. We supported and gave needed funding to the renovation of our athletic field. A new backstop, seats for spectators and a new fence, all were installed to improve the present facility.
11. We have supported and will continue to support and donate to our Martin Little League, Babe Ruth League and Ladies' and Girls' Softball League.
12. We have improved cleanliness and sanitation in our town.

Some Past Accomplishments by Mayor E.P. Grigsby and the Progressive Ticket from 1951-1955 and the Present Administration of 1967-1975:

1. Bought the FIRST FIRE TRUCK for Martin at a cost of $14,000, with no extra taxes or assessments from citizens.
2. Bought land and built the present City Hall at a cost of $16,000, with no extra taxes or assessments from citizens. This also included a better and more modern jail for prisoners.
3. Installed all the present modern street lights in Martin, with the exception of one that the Independents installed.
4. Bought one new and one used Fire Truck at a cost of $20,000, also bought land and built a new addition to Town Hall for the fire trucks at a cost of $6,000.
5. Reduced fire insurance rates up to 50 pct. by purchasing the fire trucks and organizing the volunteer fire department.

For Continued Civic Progress and to Keep MARTIN MOVING FORWARD, vote the

Outlines Red, White, Blue Day Plans

Mrs. Marcella Bailey, left above, founder of Red, White, and Blue Day, is shown with Mrs. Willa Dean Frasure, who is assisting her in coordinating plans for the patriotic parade here, October 25.

Mrs. Bailey spoke at the October meeting of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, Tuesday evening, tracing the celebration from its inception through its six-year growth. The club is supporting Red, White, and Blue Day, Inc., and its purpose of giving Americans, young and old, an opportunity to show pride in our country. Mrs. Bailey was introduced by Mrs. Stanley Combs, who showed a letter to Mrs. Bailey from the 1973 POW Rear Admiral Jeremiah Denton who said as he stepped on to American soil "God Bless America." He, as well as many other well-known Americans, encourage Marcella to spread the celebration of Red, White and Blue Day beyond Kentucky throughout the nation. Mrs. Bailey outlined the October 25 activities. The program will be in the Prestonsburg parking lot. The speaker will be Oddvar Berg, of Russellville, whose album "What's Right With America," has become most popular. The parade will follow at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Bailey was accompanied by her aide, Mrs. Wella Dean Frasure, of Langley.

Mrs. Bailey has been given splendid support by the Prestonsburg City Council and City Manager Curtis Clark.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Jack Stumbo, and the devotions were led by Mrs. Glen Brickley. Mrs. Stumbo urged members to attend the annual meeting of the Seventh District, Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs at Pikeville, Friday, Oct. 17, at the clubhouse of the Pikeville Woman's Club. Mrs. Paul C. Combs announced the Blood Bank will be at McDowell Hospital Tuesday, Oct. 14, and Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, in November.

The new club year book was given to members present by Mrs. Tom McGuire, 2nd vice president.

The club will cooperate with the Floyd County Friends of KET Mini Board in its Oct. 25 Red, White, and Blue Day activities as outlined by Mrs. J. D. Adams. The director of K.E.T. and his crew will be luncheon guests of the club when they are here showing movies of the former Governor Bert Combs in the Courthouse, as well as taking pictures of the day's happenings.

Mrs. Stumbo welcomed new members who were introduced by Mrs. L. B. Fairchild, membership chairman:

They are Rosemary Devine, Julie Curtis, Ethel Burke, Carolyn Frances, Bea Collins, Murty Hicks, Dorothy Stone and Carol Wright.

Hostesses were Mesdames James Donahoe, Robert Burchett, John Sutherland, Fannie Runnels, Clyde George and Misses Christine Spradlin and Alice Harris.

Workshop Marked by 'Raku Feeling'

By JAMES W. RATCLIFF

"Fantastic," "wild," "beautiful," "superb," were a few of the adjectives used by those present to describe the recent Prestonsburg Community College workshop in raku by Paul Soldner. One participant characterized the two days as "an atmosphere of energy and excitement." Another commented on Soldner's "down to earthness" in talking and demonstrating to those in attendance. His eagerness to answer questions, his obvious knowledge in the chemistry of clay and glazes, and his masterful handling of the wheel, which he himself designed, greatly impressed all 33 participants, some of whom had travelled more than 350 miles to see and hear this amazing innovator.

The week-end workshop (September 27-28) is one of four co-sponsored by the Community Service Program's Potters Gulf of Prestonsburg Community College and the Kentucky Arts Commission. Leaders of the other workshops include Charles Counts (August 30-31), Naoma Powell (March 13-14, 1976) and Okey Jackson (May 15-16, 1976).

On the first day, Soldner concentrated on the potter's wheel in the morning, and during the afternoon session he modified wheel-thrown pieces into hand-built forms and plaques. The entire morning of the second day was spent on glazing. That afternoon, Soldner constructed a temporary raku kiln, and while the first pieces were being fired he presented a film and slide show of himself and his works.

Paul Soldner became interested in raku in the 1960's and he is now well-known as a raku potter. The term raku has been defined as comfortable. According to potter Okey Jackson, "It was a very comfortable workshop. Everyone felt raku."

Nature Trails

More Free Foods from Nature's Bounty

Many of the best wild greens may be canned for future use. Wild mustard mixed with cress makes a good combination for canning. Garden mustard mixed with turnip greens is very good, too. Poke shoots are ideal for canning, as is lamb's quarter, a wild spinach growing profusely in fall gardens.

First, clean the greens, then boil until tender. Then put in glass jars, seal and cook for one-half hour in the pressure cooker. Once I saw a family in Pike county cooking several basketfuls of poke shoots in a large copper kettle suspended on posts in the yard. They cooked the poke thoroughly before canning.

No treatise on wild greens would be complete without a chapter on dandelion, the gay cosmopolite of the Plant World. This too-common wild flower originally came from Greece and has spread to the four corners of the earth. . . . Dandelion—that's a romantic name for you! It comes from the French, dent-de-lion, meaning teeth of the lion. It got this name from the jagged teeth of the leaf lobes. The leaves, flower buds and the golden yellow blossoms are all edible and are among our earliest wild greens. Some persons complain of the bitterness of the leaves when cooked, but this can be overcome by draining off the water after the first cooking; also by adding a pinch of soda.

Dandelion has great value as a spring tonic. The Dutch say: "Eat dandelion on Maundy Thursday and you'll stay healthy all the year." The roots are bitter and contain milky juice, and are scarcely edible. They are recommended as a good stomach medicine and spring tonic. The roots are scraped and dried and boiled to make the medicine.

Dandelion has one of the most effective means of multiplying, since it equips its seeds with silken parachutes and the brisk spring winds carry them far and wide. If we didn't eat dandelion and help to eradicate it, the plants would soon cover the earth. As it is now, they quickly spread over lawns and soon smother out the grass.

To prepare dandelion for greens, gather a basketful of the young plants, wash and boil one half hour, then drain off the water. Fry in hot grease, season with salt and pepper. Add small pieces of salt pork while cooking. Another good way, boil the greens as above, drain off the water and add a sauce made of milk, raw eggs and vinegar boiled down, then pour over the greens. The fresh flower buds make a tasty omelet if gathered before the flowers begin to show. Pick a quart cupful of buds and fry in butter; add eggs, salt and pepper and you have an appetizing dish.

The golden yellow flowers are large and showy and rich in nectar; they make an excellent dish when picked fresh and fried in butter, with salt and pepper added. The flowers can also be used to make a delicious wine. Gather one gallon of the fresh flowers and pour over them a gallon of boiling water. Keep covered and let stand for 48 hours. Then drain into a stone jar. Add orange juice, sugar and a cake of yeast. Stir several times daily and keep well covered. In about two weeks, strain and bottle for future use. This makes a fine wine, good as a healthful tonic.

Floyd County Health Notes

This is Immunization Action Month—the right time to check to see that everyone in your family is fully protected against polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, measles, mumps and Rubella (German measles).

Every child has a right to grow up healthy, able to play and able to enjoy sports. These childhood diseases can cripple, and even kill. But they can be prevented.

Babies should start getting their shots when they're just two months old and should be fully protected against these diseases by the time they are two years old, in which case only booster doses will be required to maintain their level of protection.

The health department asks all parents to take a minute to check their children's records to make sure they are fully immunized against these seven childhood diseases. And if they aren't fully protected, please see your own doctor or call the Floyd County Health Department at 886-2788.

The health department offers preventive vaccines against all of these diseases, free of charge, Monday through Friday from 8 to 4 p.m.

The Floyd County Health Department will be conducting a general pap clinic, Thursday, October 9, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The health nurses remind all women that in order to have continuing protection against cervical cancer, they should have a pap smear at least once a year. This clinic is free and open to all women.

Monday, October 13, a public health nurse will conduct an outpost clinic in the basement of the Methodist Church at Wayland, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with the following free services being available: Immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening and blood pressures.

All persons in the Wayland vicinity are urged to take advantage of these free services.

'Big Six' Henderson Recalls His Years as Dreaded 'Revenooer'

By JOHN DAVIDSON

Kentucky folklore is full of tales about illegal homemade whiskey and moonshine stills hidden away in hollows, mountainsides and creek beds. And, depending upon one's perspective, either the hero or the villain was that often shot at, often cussed at, federal lawman—the revenuer.

These unpopular characters would come sneaking through the woods to destroy many families' sole means of income and cart most of the male members (and sometimes female) off to prison for manufacturing their homemade brew.

But one of these dreaded lawmen, through 27½ years of tracking down moonshine stills, kept the respect and friendship of many of these backwoods distillers. Described by many as a combination John Wayne-Matt Dillon, William B. "Big Six" Henderson just recently hung up his guns as U. S. marshal for Western Kentucky, following a long and colorful career as the most successful revenuer in Kentucky for the Internal Revenue Service's division of alcohol, tobacco and firearms.

Breaking up some 5,000 stills in his career, Big Six Henderson claims to have put more than 5,600 Kentuckians behind bars. But his easy-going joking manner put the moonshiners at ease and helped maintain their respect for him, even to this day.

Now 72 years old, Big Six Henderson has retired to his home in Louisville. But his retirement is not a passive one. The big, white-haired gentleman has rare gun and bottle collections to look after and a backyard full of apple, apricot, peach and lemon trees and grape vines, strawberry patches and tomato plants to take care of.

But on his back porch is Henderson's pride and joy. Constructed from the best parts he could collect from several of the stills he raided, the rapid-talking gentleman has reconstructed a genuine backwoods, 50-gallon, double-coil, copper moonshine still that would do any moonshiner proud.

But Henderson quickly explained that he has not turned an abrupt about-face and that he uses the still for demonstrations at various fairs and speaking engagements.

His retirement also includes plans to write a book on his experiences. A wall full of pictures of the many stills he raided, drawers and files full of his daily records from 27½ years of revenuing and a fascinating memory of the not-so-ordinary incidents he encountered make Henderson believe he may have to write the book in volumes to tell it all.

Big Six Henderson explained that his nickname stemmed from the days when he pitched semi-pro baseball. He said many moonshiners changed it though, to "Six Gun," because of the big gun he wore on his hip.

During his career, Henderson arrested one person 11 times. Henderson remembered, "Back when I was chasing down moonshiners, I sent this guy to Terre Haute federal prison so many times I think they probably put his name on a cell door. The first time I raided him he ran from me, but from then on he just stood there and smiled and yelled, 'Hi, Big Six. Where you been keeping yourself?' You know, I think he still has a little cooker going down on his property."

Henderson's exploits on Coe Ridge, in Cumberland county, are legendary with Kentucky folklore collectors. He claims that the first time he went to Coe Ridge he busted up seven stills in one day and could have gotten more if word of his visit to the community had not spread so quickly.

But none of his adventures continue to fascinate him as much as a still he raided in Edmonson county. He said it was the biggest still he ever saw and pictures taken of the raid show the over six-foot-tall Henderson dwarfed by it. He said they confiscated 7,000 pounds of sugar in the raid, and labored over the destruction of the 600- and 800-gallon mash fermenters.

Explaining that nearly every raid involved a foot-race, except those he had raided previously, Henderson proudly stated that no moonshiner ever escaped.

"Track coaches look at the four-minute

Big Six Henderson kneels to inspect his "home brew," made in the moonshine still on his back porch. The former revenuer built the still, using the best parts of the over 5,000 stills he raided during his career as a U. S. marshal.

mile as something special," he related. "But I knew at least a dozen moonshiners who could do it."

"When they took off running I'd yell at them to stop or I'd blow their head off. That stopped a lot of them. They didn't know I wouldn't have shot them," he laughed.

But a lot of raided moonshiners would still take off for the hills and Henderson acted astonished, saying now, "I still don't understand how I could outrun those boys." Claiming to have never smoked "and I only drank a little," Henderson said that his fleet-footedness and endurance could have come from a fright he encountered when he was a youngster.

"Lightning struck our schoolhouse when I was 10. It just scared me to death. From then on, if I'd be out playing ball and a storm blew up, I'd just drop the ball and run straight home to safety," the retired lawman remembered. "We had quite a few storms when I was a boy, so I made a lot of sprints home."

One of Henderson's fondest memories is of a moonshiner of high repute that he had arrested four or five times. "Every time we raided this guy, we sent his whiskey off for analysis. It always tested out 100 per cent pure. He just had a knack for making good whiskey," Henderson said.

Once after sending the whiskey-maker to prison for two years, he got a request for the man's parole. Henderson cleared the request through his boss, then drove to a Kentucky distillery to see about getting the guy a legitimate whiskey-making job.

The distiller told Henderson that it was a slack season and they really did not have any openings. But then the owner told him, "Big Six, if you care enough about a moonshiner to drive 150 miles to get him a job, we'll create a job for him."

Henderson proudly stated that the man worked for the distillery for six or seven years, saved his money and bought a farm.

After paroling the man, and before sending him to the distillery, Henderson and his wife kept him at their house for a few days to help in the switch from prison life to society. Henderson's wife asked the man why he had never married, and he replied, "Big Six is the cause of that. I was engaged to be married, but four days before my wedding I was sent to the federal pen."

In Henderson's collection of memorabilia are several letters tipping him off to stills in various parts of Kentucky. The letters, frequently unsigned, read similarly to one which read: "Go to the hollow where you were last Easter. Go down to the creek and follow it about half a mile past the first farm. You'll find a big still in operation there. My children have to walk near there to go to school, and the drunkards they have to walk by are awful. Please help us, Big Six."

Driving through a small Kentucky town several years ago, he recognized a man he had arrested on such a tip. The man remembered Henderson's car and drove over to pay his respects. It was then that Henderson noticed the official-looking car the man was driving. Rolling down his window to exchange pleasantries, Henderson found out that the man he had arrested a few years before for moonshining had become chief of police of the town.

An uncountable number of stories are told about Henderson, but one which has kept Kentuckians entertained for many years involves his pet skunk.

Taking the skunk with him on a raid near Bowling Green, Henderson put two captured moonshiners in the back seat of his car with the skunk between them. He looked at the men and said, "I think she'll be alright as long as you don't make any sudden moves." Henderson remembered that the two men hardly even breathed all the way into Bowling Green. He laughs now and says, "I never did tell them I had my skunk de-scented."

Henderson said that now moonshining is dying out in Kentucky. He said he doubted if more than 25 arrests were made last year. "We used to arrest 1,400 to 1,600 a year," he remembered.

Henderson credits the late federal judge Mac Swinford for putting an end to moonshining in Kentucky. "He was tough on them," Big Six remembered. "When they went before Judge Swinford, they knew they were going to do time."

The former federal agent said that all agents in Kentucky combined, probably had about a 91 per cent conviction rate; but in his career he had a 97.3 per cent conviction rate.

Although he worked at his job 24 hours a day, seven days a week, Henderson still found time to serve as a timber and scorekeeper for University of Kentucky basketball games for 22 years. A life-long sports enthusiast he is given much credit for recruiting athletes to U.K., and with a wink asserts that Cliff Hagan chose to wear number "six" on his basketball jersey throughout his career.

Stories of his career have dazzled listeners for years, but Henderson still prefers to think the tales of his father's life as much more exciting. For instance, Henderson's father, who was a Union Army soldier in the Civil War, used to play poker in Elizabethtown with General George Custer.

Then Big Six Henderson gets to the part of the story he considers really amazing. In 1900, his 60-year-old, white-haired, bearded father married an 18-year-old girl. Three years later they had their only child—Big Six.

Inland Promotions Awarded Brothers

L. M. Hopkins, manager of operations of the Inland Gas Company, announced two employee promotions this week, that of brothers, Bethel and James Terry, who work in the Midas District at Hueysville.

Bethel Terry first joined Inland Gas Company in 1952 as tool dresser and later worked as office and warehouse clerk, field and stores clerk. In 1974 he was promoted to instrument mechanic in the Midas district and his recent promotion to construction foreman with the district became effective October 1. Mr. Terry and his wife, Inez, reside at Hueysville and are the parents of five children.

James Terry, whose promotion to drilling foreman became effective October 1, joined Inland in 1972 as a bailing machine operator and was earlier this year promoted to general equipment operator. He is married to the former Joyce Combs, of Garner (Knott county) and the Terrys have three sons.

Both men are Knott county natives.

Incentives Program Works at Prisons

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Reports from the seven state prisons and the Bureau of Corrections central office strongly indicate that inmate incentive programs are working.

Prior to 1972, incentive programs were practically non-existent. Today, they generously dot Kentucky's correctional landscape and have become an important, integral part of Corrections' over-all treatment and rehabilitation effort.

Optimism of state corrections officials over the apparent success of the programs has been generated from a number of informational sources. But the two sources which seem to paint the clearest picture are a program-by-program breakdown and a special report covering bad conduct incident during the last half of 1974.

Possibly the oldest and most successful of Kentucky's incentive programs is "five-minute parole," which allows inmates on good behavior for 90 days one long-distance, collect call a month. Officials at each of the seven state facilities said the program has resulted in reductions in bad conduct reports.

With the knowledge that their privilege will be terminated if they break a prison disciplinary rule, roughly 70 per cent of the state's 3,000 inmates currently are eligible for the dial-home program. That means 70 per cent of the inmate population now has been on good behavior for at least three months.

According to one central office staff member, "A few years ago, we'd been pleased just to know that half the population was on good behavior, let alone 70 per cent. A figure like that is a good indication that the program is causing inmates to think twice before stirring up any trouble."

At the reformatory, the state's largest prison with 1,500 inmates and the last to get the dial-home program, about 900 inmates are signed up for the monthly call. So far, 65 per cent of the calls have been long distance, covering 25 states, including California, New Mexico and Florida.

Gene Nygard, a corrections officer who heads up the reformatory's program, said, "Inmates really look forward to making that call, and they grumble and tell me how much they miss it when they're tagged with a bad conduct write up."

Both Nygard and Janice Van Gundy, program coordinator at the Kentucky Correctional Institute for Women (KCIW) at Pewee Valley, where 73 per cent of the women are using the privilege, claim the "parole" has resulted in significant reductions in write-ups.

Mrs. Van Gundy said KCIW even provides an additional incentive not available at the other prisons in rewarding extraordinarily good behavior with an extra call each month.

And the reports from the other institutions follow the same pattern: Dial-home is reducing bad conduct write-ups. Even at the state's maximum security prison for the system's most sophisticated criminals, the penitentiary at Eddyville, the story is the same.

But the penitentiary's picnic program is the one officials there are most proud of. It was born there and, until a similar program recently was instituted at the reformatory's Honor Unit, was the only formal, on-going picnic program in the system.

Thirty days good behavior earns inmates a picnic on week-ends and holidays with friends or relatives. After two years, the number of inmate-picnickers has increased from an average of 50 in the program's early stages to as many as 200 now.

According to Bill Reynolds, associate superintendent for custody and head of the program, "It makes them stay out of trouble, because it offers a reward. It's only human nature to work for something which will benefit them. In the inmate's case, they work at being good."

The most recent incentive to be implemented—and perhaps the most popular—is the furlough program. In a few short months since the first Kentucky inmate was furloughed last Thanksgiving, more than 300 men and women from every state prison have been granted the temporary visits home.

Amid fears by the program's detractors that at least a few inmates would not return, the Bureau of Corrections reports that currently every furlougher except one has returned without incident.

State Corrections Commissioner Charles Holmes has said inmates are carefully screened at every level of Corrections staff and only those sentenced for less serious crimes, with good prison records and nearing release are even eligible. He said the program is admittedly conservative so as not to draw fire from detectors who earlier had charged that furloughs, which are authorized by state law, would result in escapes.

Perhaps the most effective incentive to newly imprisoned first offenders is the knowledge that they have a chance to get out of prison in three months or less. That's shock probation, a three-year-old program which has "sprung" about 600 new inmates after they had applied to their sentencing judge for release within 30-120 days of their imprisonment.

Since 1972, only six per cent—or about 40—have been reimprisoned for technical violations of their parole conditions or new convictions. By contrast, the over-all return to prison rate for Kentucky is about 40 per cent.

Acknowledging there is a risk factor in shock probation, as in furloughs, Brett Scott, deputy commissioner for community services, contended the program "teaches a valuable lesson" and is "well worth the small chance taken in letting generally trustworthy inmates out."

By LARRY BURKE

There is an old proverb that has been in existence for centuries. It goes this way "For a swift arrow pull hard on the string." Actually there is no other way to shoot a swift arrow.

There are few things of real importance in life that are not accomplished without the "hard pull."

The geologist will tell you that it takes a million years to make a ruby. Imagine a million years this beautiful gem is in the formative stage.

If a ruby could be made overnight it would have little value. So it is true with most everything we do. The real and sincere efforts of people are most always recognized. The "hard pull" of accomplishments is what makes them important!

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: Our greatest rewards come from the difficult tasks we accomplish.

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK

There's a new law to help consumers who feel they have been billed incorrectly. It's called the "Fair Credit Billing Act," and it becomes effective in October, 1975.

Under this new law, if a consumer receives a bill he feels is incorrect and complains within 60 days, the company is required to respond within 30 days and—within 90 days—either correct the error or explain why the bill was correct.

If a company does not follow this procedure, it loses the right to collect the amount owed—up to $50.

The new law also requires that a company must send out bills at least 14 days before they are due so that consumers have time to pay without a late fee. A company must promptly credit any payments sent on time so that consumers are not charged finance charges if they pay promptly.

In addition, if a consumer makes an overpayment, the company must promptly credit the consumer's account or make a refund, if the consumer requests it.

The Fair Credit Billing Act also provides for those consumers who use credit cards. If a consumer buys an item or a service at a store and charges it on a non-store credit card, the consumer can refuse to make payments for the product if he finds it unsatisfactory and if he has tried to get satisfaction from the store; the items or service costs more than $50; and the store is within 100 miles of the consumer's home or within the same state.

If you have a consumer complaint, first notify the company, manufacturer or retailer. If your complaint is not promptly resolved, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division by writing Consumer Protection, Room 34, The Capitol, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Kentucky residents may call toll-free on the consumer hotline by dialing 1-800-372-2960.

Club Gives $200 Program Aid

The Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club recently renewed its support of Project R.I.F. at Clark School by presenting a check for $200 to John K. Pitts, the school principal. Making the presentation is Fayette Miller, representing the club.

Project R.I.F. (Reading is Fundamental) began last year at the school through combined efforts of the club and school resources. One hundred fifty children having reading difficulties in grades 4-8 were included in the program, and they read more than 4,849 library books to earn 750 paperback books of their choice to keep.

"We are happy the Junior Woman's Club is again helping us with the project," Mr. Pitts said. "Our children have been asking since school began when the program would start this year. We can now tell them very soon. We also encourage any other organization to join our efforts in order to expand the program."

Questions concerning Project R.I.F. may be forwarded to any staff member at the school.

To buy or not to buy, that is the question.

Because substance and quality are absolutely essential in this questionable economy, buying an Audi* 100LS makes more sense today than ever before.

You'll be buying the roominess and comfort of a full-sized car: legroom and headroom usually associated with cars twice the price; orthopedically-designed seats that adjust to your body, that reduce fatigue.

You'll be buying German engineering: the control of front-wheel drive and independent suspension; the raciness of rack-and-pinion steering; the extra security of negative steering-roll radius and outboard-vented front disc brakes.

You'll be buying the added economy of fuel injection: 18 miles per gallon* in the city and a startling 28 miles per gallon* on the highway.

It's an elegant, finely-engineered medium-priced luxury car that is built to last. And that's substance and quality in any economy, no question about it.

State Transportation Needs Expected To Be $35.6 Billion

Kentucky would need to spend an estimated $35.6 billion over the next 15 years to fully meet its transportation needs, according to a new study compiled by a member of the Legislative Research Commission (LRC) staff in conjunction with the Kentucky Department of Transportation and others.

The total cost, estimated by the department, includes $33 billion for highways, $363 million for aviation programs, $254 million for mass transit and $1.2 billion for administration of the various programs.

The state's share of the cost would total approximately $21.4 billion, or more than $1.4 billion a year for the next 15 years, with federal and local governments paying the rest.

"Such sums of money are not available for transportation expenditures in Kentucky and it would appear highly improbable that they ever will be," says the report, compiled by LRC staff member Brian Kiernan, entitled, "Kentucky's Future Transportation Needs."

"It is clear that only by examining alternative levels of service in much greater detail can a transportation system be developed whose costs are within the state's financial means," the report says.

The study was directed by House Resolution 41 of the 1974 legislative session. A copy of the report has been delivered to the governor.

Copies of the report are available upon request from the Legislative Research Commission, Public Information Office, State Capitol, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

"The results document a startling problem of major proportions," Secretary of Transportation John C. Roberts said in a letter included with the report.

Although the report includes several general recommendations it contains no specific legislative proposals.

"The findings of this study are presented for the executive and legislative branches of government to assist them in making the appropriate policy decisions," the report says.

In line with its contention that Kentucky must look for levels of service that are in keeping with its financial means, the report calls for more research "to determine what alternative systems are truly available."

The study's forecast of transportation needs through 1990 was completed by Battelle Columbus Laboratories under contract to the Department of Transportation. The forecast projected the following changes between now and 1990:

- The demand for highway travel will increase from 69 million vehicle miles per day to 87 million.
-Freight traffic, which now accounts for 13.6 per cent of the total highway mileage, will increase to 18.6 per cent.
-Rail freight will increase from 115 million tons annually to 182 million tons.
-Barge transportation, which carries 45 million tons a year now, will increase to 74 million tons.
-The number of licensed drivers in Kentucky will increase from nearly 1.8 million to more than 2.1 million.
-Automobile registrations will increase from more than 1.4 million to more than 1.7 million, with total vehicle registration (including trucks, farm vehicles, trailers and other vehicles) increasing from 1.9 million to 2.3 million.
-Despite the projected increases in vehicle registration and highway use the report foresees a reduction in gasoline consumption from 1.9 million gallons to

1.85 million. This prediction assumes a modest improvement in the average miles per gallon achieved by most cars and a marked increase in the use of compact and sub-compact cars.

The report notes that when Kentucky's gasoline tax was seven cents per gallon (prior to 1972) and gasoline sold for approximately 30 cents per gallon, the tax represented approximately 30 per cent of the cost minus the tax. Today, with gas selling for around 60 cents a gallon and the state tax at nine cents a gallon, the tax represents approximately 18 per cent of the cost minus the tax.

The report also recommends that no new revenue bonds be issued for the construction of transportation facilities.

"Current debt obligations have reached a significant proportion of the transportation budget and further increases could jeopardize on-going programs," it says.

Prayer Breakfast To Be October 8

FRANKFORT, Ky.—More than 600 civic, business, labor and religious leaders are expected to attend the third annual Governor's Leadership Prayer Breakfast Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 8:30 a.m. at Frankfort's Convention and Sports Center.

The nondenominational and non-partisan breakfast is patterned after the National Prayer Breakfast, held annually in Washington, D. C. for the past 23 years. Laymen from all sections of the state comprise the sponsoring committee headed by John A. Reisz of Owensboro. Reisz, president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the breakfast.

Featured speaker at the breakfast will be U. S. Rep. Don Bonker, elected to Congress from Washington state in 1974.

Bonker served as a research assistant to U. S. Sen. Maurine Neuberger from 1964 until 1966, when he was elected county auditor of Clark County at Vancouver, Wash. Wellknown for his accomplishments in election reform in Washington, he was the first in that state to computerize voter lists and his was the only county to mail election notices and sample ballots to all registered voters before every election. Bonker is most noted for introducing electronic voting to his state. His active support in the 1967 legislative session made it possible for Clark County to use punch card voting for the first time in 1968.

Bonker graduated from Lewis and Clark College in Portland, Ore. in 1964 with a degree in political science. He has done post graduate work in public administration at American University, Washington, D. C. and at Portland State University.

He is a veteran of four years active duty service with the U. S. Coast Guard.

Gov. Julian Carroll will participate in the program as will U. S. Sens. Walter D. Huddleston and Wendell H. Ford, former Gov. Louie Nunn and State Sen. Eugene Stuart. Former Gov. and U. S. Sen. Earle C. Clements, who is recovering from surgery, has also been invited to participate in the program.

Choral arrangements will be performed by the Kentucky State University Concert Choir, directed by Carl H. Smith.

The third annual program, according to the governor's invitation, is being held "at a point in history when the nation is afflicted by many grave problems. We will pray for God's guidance in finding the proper solutions and for the happiness and well-being of all Kentuckians and people everywhere."

Board Plans KET Activities Here During Oct. 25 Event

Floyd county's mini-board of Friends of Kentucky Educational Television (KET) last Thursday coordinated plans for a series of KET activities to be undertaken as a salute to Red, White and Blue Day which will be held here Oct. 25.

First of the scheduled KET activities will be in the Floyd circuit courtroom with the presentation of a video tape of "Bert T. Combs, Distinguished Kentuckian" on Red, White and Blue Day, from 10:55 a.m. to 1 p.m. This will be an informal presentation, and persons viewing it may enter and leave at their convenience. The courthouse elevator will be operated for the convenience of the elderly and handicapped.

KET will also have a tent erected in the nearby municipal parking lot, housing closed-circuit television and information about its role in the area of television.

A float carrying mini-board officers and O. Leonard Press, executive director of KET, will be a part of the afternoon parade.

KET will film various activities of Red, White and Blue Day for Kentucky magazine, which is a television program in magazine format and which brings the reader face-to-face with Kentucky citizens in their home towns. These films later will be available for showing, statewide.

Mrs. James D. Adams, a member of the KET board of directors, presided at the meeting planning these events. Others attending the meeting were Mrs. Douglas Brown, Mrs. Marshall Davidson, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. Helen Wells, Mrs. Tom O. McGuire, Denzil Halbert.
