

Change of Plan Delays Dredging

Work To Await Lake Drawdown About Nov. 1st

The dredging phase of the $880,000 improvement work at the Jenny Wiley boat dock on Dewey Lake may be delayed because of a change in plans for the removal and disposal of sediment from the boat dock harbor and the necessity of awaiting the lake drawdown before the work can be begun.

Originally, it was planned to pump the estimated 12,000 cubic yards of silt from the bottom of Brandy Keg Cove on which the dock is located to a waste area to be prepared in a hollow, a short distance upstream from May Lodge. But the subcontractor who was equipped to do the work could not begin operations immediately, and the plan was changed to improve the harbor by dredging and to haul the sediment to a dumping area outside the park.

Park Superintendent George Barker said initial dredging in the shallow head of the Cove will be begun as soon as the lake drawdown by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers begins, but Dean Murray, the Corps' manager of Dewey reservoir, said Friday that the drawdown will not start before Nov. 1. He added that the lake level will be reduced slowly, perhaps over a period of 20 days, in order to prevent the loss of fish.

4-Lane US 23 Goal Stressed At Meet Here

Four-laning of US 23 from South Shore, Ky. to the Kentucky-Virginia line, near Jenkins, was stressed as the objective of the US Highway 23 Association at its annual meeting Oct. 6 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Louis Quick, of Jenkins, was elected president to fill the vacancy created by the death of Herman Wheeler, of Paintsville. J. T. Norris, of Ashland, retiring vice-president, presided at the meeting.

A four-lane US 23 between its two Kentucky termini is less than one-third complete, with its major completed sector being the Prestonsburg-Pikeville portion of the highway. Work is now under way from Pikeville to Jenkins. The longest stretch remaining for four-lane construction is from a point near Catlettsburg to Prestonsburg, and this has not reached the planning board.

Other officers named by the new board of directors include Estill L. Carter, Prestonsburg, first vice-president; Howard See, Louisa, second vice-president; Lon B. Rogers, Pikeville, secretary-treasurer.

The new board of directors represents each county through which the highway passes. Its members are:

Estill Lee Carter and Burl Wells Spurlock, Floyd county; Lon Rogers and J. L. Balsler, Pike county; O. T. Dorton and Allen M. Perry, Johnson county; Louis Quick and David Zeeger, Letcher county; Howard See, Lawrence county; E. M. Anderson and L. W. Pilstl, Boyd county; J. T. Lawson, Greenup county.

Spradlin Retires as President Of Bank as New Bldg. Occupied

Almost simultaneously with the opening this week of the First Guaranty Bank in its new building at Martin came the announcement that Glenn C. Spradlin, president of the bank since its organization in 1946, is retiring.

Ben J. Spradlin, his nephew and vice-president of First Guaranty, was named to succeed him. The new managing officer of the bank has been associated with First Guaranty 18 years.

The retiring bank president had open-heart surgery in February, 1973 and at that time considered retirement, but the booming coal business, strong growth of the bank and the need for a new banking house caused him to remain at work during this growth period and during the bank's construction program.

Mr. Spradlin is a banking veteran of 47 years. He began with the Beaver Valley Bank at Weeksbury as assistant cashier, and when the bank closed during the Depression was named special deputy commissioner of banking and security to liquidate the bank. Beaver Valley's depositors were paid 100 per cent of their deposits.

This Town...That World

OOPS!
What follows Indian Summer? Squall Summer, naturally.

The visitor looked out the window and remarked, "See the Bonus Marchers?" I saw only two elderly men walking past and confessed my ignorance. So my visitor explained:

"Any time old geezers like us or those two get one foot ahead of the other, it's all a bonus. Bonus Marchers, that's us."

If you've ever seen these trees on our mountainsides at this time of year, there's no need for me to describe them for you. If you haven't seen them, there's still no need—you wouldn't believe it.

THE REDEEMING FEATURE

My friend, Bud Perry, of The Paintsville Herald, may get himself thrown out of the lodge. He's making it rough on us other editors who say the job of getting out a paper is a nose-to-the-grindstone job. Why, this Perry takes on the job of mayor of Paintsville after a stint as a city councilman, and in his spare time serves on three or four boards and runs for reelection. Just like that—nothing to it. I had thought to unlimber the old butterfly net and take out after him, but he has redeemed himself. He has—in his spare time—taken up fishing.

GIVE US A PROGRAM!

Received the current parody on "The Little Red Hen" from "Ott" Spurlock, now a resident of Arizona, and was tempted to reprint it again. I have, too, a zero of a U. S. News and World Report on the zany programs "they" are spending our tax monies on. For instance:

—Almost $500,000 to determine under what conditions humans and monkeys clench their jaws.

—$36,500 for a probe of the "Evolution of Song Learning of Parasite Finches."

—$81,000 to uncover the social behavior of the Alaskan brown bear, and $5,500 to

3 Mare Creek Men, Are Heart Victims In Period of 4 Days

Three well-known men, all closely related, and all residing with a distance of a mile on Mare Creek, have died within the week. All reported heart victims.

First, Edward Stratton, 69, died last Thursday at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville. On the following day as he was a passenger in a car, going to Martin, where Stratton's body lay at the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, the Rev. Ernest Walter Collins, 78, father of Mr. Stratton's son-in-law, was stricken. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

The minister's funeral was held at 11 a.m. Monday from the Hall Brothers Funeral Home chapel and Sidney Cline, 57, a son-in-law of the Rev. Collins, went there for the rites. He was stricken, shortly after arrival there, and died about an hour later at a Pikeville hospital.

Marijuana Haul Of $5,000 Value Made, 2 Booked

An estimated $5,000 worth ("street price") of marijuana was confiscated last Wednesday night, near Banner, two college students were arrested on trafficking charge and their auto was impounded.

The arrest of the two, Dois Edward Brown, of Mt. Sterling, and Rodney Tackett, of Dorton, was made by Deputy Sheriff K. Kelley, who had stopped them for alleged speeding. The two said they were Pikeville College mining technology students.

Sheriff Joe W. Lewis quoted Brown as saying the marijuana had been given him in Mt. Sterling by a friend but that he could not recall the name of the friend. The haul, which weighed 2 pounds, 14 ounces, was neatly tied like miniature bales of hay and was stored in plastic bags.

Morgan Joseph, of Prestonsburg, was arrested last Friday by Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis on a warrant alleging the sale of intoxicating beverages. The warrant was issued on the affidavit of a woman who said she bought whiskey from the defendant.

Sheriff Lewis arrested David Hall and Burl Conn Monday morning and booked them on a charge of unlawful taking by theft. They were accused of taking tools valued at $500 from the mine on Arkansas Creek of Ernest Graham Burchett. All the tools were recovered, however.

Humane Society Asks Court Help

The Floyd County Humane Society was asked last Friday to submit to the fiscal court from which it is asking financial support a tentative operational report for court consideration at a later meeting.

County Judge Henry Stumbo pointed out that most of the severance tax funds available to the county will be expended on "coal" roads but added that some help will be available to other programs from this source.

The delegation appearing before the court was headed by its president, Johnny Burke, of Prestonsburg. The court was told of the $25,000 bequest made to the city of Prestonsburg for the founding and operation of an animal shelter, but it was explained that this money is for building purposes only and that the Humane Society must show its financial ability to operate the shelter before construction funds will be released to it.

The court was told that Floyd county's will not be the ordinary dog pound but that its operation for the care and treatment of small animals (cats and dogs) will be under regulations of the U. S. Humane Society.

Bell county, which was the second county to benefit from a $25,000 gift, has its animal shelter in operation under an $18,460 budget for this year. It includes salaries of a dog warden and a manager, both of whom work six days a week, plus veterinary service, food and other items.

The animal shelter is viewed as a solution to the problem of controlling the cat and dog population, particularly its strays.

ARH Names 7 New Trustees At Meet Here

Seven new board members were elected to the Appalachian Regional Hospitals' board of trustees, along with five incumbent members, at the board's annual meeting October 3 at Jenny Wiley State Park.

The board also re-elected James H. Harless, of Gilbert, W. Va., as chairman, and Dr. David K. Heydinger, of Lexington, president of the non-profit health care system. ARH operates 10 hospitals and related facilities in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

The new board members are: Stonie Barker, Jr., of Lexington, president and chief executive officer of Island Creek Coal Company; L. D. Gorman, of Hazard, president of the Peoples Bank in Hazard; L. Felix Joyner, Chapel Hill, N. C., vice-president for finance of the University of North Carolina since 1968 and a former Ken-

Miss Whitaker Wins U.S. Runnerup Spot

Floyd county's Cathy Whitaker, 1975 Kentucky Apple Queen, was first runner-up to the Ohio girl who Saturday evening was named Miss Apple Queen, U.S.A., at the national pageant held at the Sheraton Inn, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

The 18-year-old Miss Whitaker, youngest of the four top entrants in a field of 13 state queens named from the nation's apple-producing states, received a cash award of $400. She represented Kentucky after winning the state honor at the Johnson County Apple Festival, two weeks ago. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Whitaker, of the Middle Creek road, and is a pre-med student at Transylvania University, Lexington.

Miss Apple Queen, U.S.A. is Ohio's Rebecca Lawrence, 20, who received a cash award of $1,000. The second runner-up was Maria Buck, 19, of Michigan. Lynn Denson, 22, of Georgia, was named Miss Congeniality.

Pact Includes Water Hookups, Plus Extension

The $300,000 HUD grant to the Beaver Elkhorn Water District will be used not only for extension of the water system to serve the town of David and vicinity but also to hook onto the water mains on Right and Left Beaver Creeks some 125 customers who have paid deposits and have been without water service.

In all, the proposed work will receive $586,000 in federal funds, with the Appalachian Regional Commission adding $286,000 to HUD's $300,000.

The two magistrates attending Friday's special fiscal court meeting—Bill Wells and Dewey Roberts—and County Judge Henry Stumbo emphasized the point that the connection of customers who have paid deposits for the service must be assured if the court is to disburse, or agree to the disbursement of, HUD funds on the extension work. But there was no argument on that point. Both J. C. Wells, manager of the sprawling water system, and its engineer, W. H. Kenney, agreed to the need for hookup of those who have paid for the service.

Lack of funds has been the main problem in early days of the system operation. The system is not at this time making any money, Mr. Wells said.

Hoffman Scores State 'First' As Stripmine Permit Voided

John S. Hoffman, secretary of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Monday revoked the permit to strip-mine Poor Bottom hollow in Pike county, and thus may have recorded a "first" in surface mining history in Kentucky.

The revocation was said to have been the first ever made in the state. Revoking the permit, Hoffman overrode an earlier ruling by a hearing referee who refused to halt the Poor Hollow operation.

The hearing decision was appealed to Hoffman by the Appalachian Research & Defense Fund, headed by John Rosenberg, of Prestonsburg. Hoffman's decision, in turn, could be subject to appeal to the Franklin circuit court.

Mr. Rosenberg hailed the Hoffman decision. "I'm proud of Mr. Hoffman," he said, adding, "but I wish it (the strip-mine operation) had been stopped earlier."

The case at issue involved Harve Childers and 17 other petitioners, who named the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection and the Hurricane Elkhorn Coal Company as respondents. C. Kilmer Combs, attorney for the coal company, said he and company officials would study Hoffman's order before deciding if an appeal is to be made.

Parade Details Announced

Anticipating a crowd in the thousands here Saturday, Oct. 25, for Floyd county's annual Red, White and Blue Day, planners for the afternoon parade this week outlined the route the parade will take and other arrangements for handling both pedestrian and motor traffic.

Mrs. Eva Collins and Phil Price, who are handling information on the parade and floats, said all units which will take part in the parade should be in their assigned spaces by 1 p.m. The parade will be at 2 p.m., and will be confined to Lake Drive (old US 23), beginning at the intersection of Richmond street and Lake Drive in the southern (upriver) section of Prestonsburg and moving along Lake Drive to Prestonsburg High School where the beauty pageant will be held. School buses are to unload in the vicinity of Music-Carter-Hughes and Brock-McVey, then are to be taken to the high school vicinity for pickup of passengers later.

If children become lost or separated from accompanying adults, they are to be taken to City Hall where they will be kept till their parents call for them.

Interest in the patriotic observance has mounted in recent weeks, and the show of floats, military units and costumed marchers is expected to be unusually large.

Allen Train Wreck Damage over $200,000

Dozers and other heavy equipment at work at Allen, scene of 18-car derailment, moving coal spilled from gondolas and clearing wrecked cars from the right-of-way.

Damage estimated in excess of $200,000 resulted from the wreck of 18 gondolas of a Chessie System coal train last Thursday night at Allen.

An estimated 1350 tons of coal were spilled from 16 cars which overturned, and the wreckage was not removed and track repaired for a period of 22 hours.

Some of the coal cars were twisted beyond repair. Charles F. McDavid, trainmaster at Martin, said the wreck was the result of "equipment failure."

Railway company employees and the Donahue Wrecking Service, Barbourville, W. Va., operating winches and heavy moving equipment, worked to clear the wreck scene. No injury to trainmen resulted.

Cats Win the Sorghum Bowl

By BRIAN STURGILL

The Prestonsburg Blackcats almost literally sopped up the West Liberty Sorghum Bowl last Friday night. Playing on an extremely muddy field, the Cats trounced the Morgan County Cougars, 34-0.

The scoring started in the second quarter when Prestonsburg received a Cougar punt on the Blackcat 33-yard line. From there the Cats drove 67 yards for a td. It was scored by William Goebel on a 31-yard run. The conversion attempt, a run by Dwayne Moore, failed.

No other scoring was made until the first play of the fourth quarter when Greg Dixon threw a 8-yard pass to Jeff Burchett for a Blackcat touchdown. The conversion, a pass from Greg Dixon, was intended for Jeff Burchett but was deflected by a Morgan County player, finally to be caught by Greg DeRossett for two points.

The next Blackcat marker came when Kermit Joseph intercepted a Cougar pass on the Morgan County 24-yard line. From there the Blackcats drove down the field, the td finally being scored by Dwayne Moore on a one-yard run. The two-point conversion try was no good.

Morgan County received the Blackcat kick-off on their own 30-yard line, then the Cougar quarterback threw a pass, which was intercepted by Sam Isbell, who ran 30 yards to score. The two-point conversion try failed.

The next Blackcat score came on a 42-yard drive, the td finally to be scored on a 1-yard run by Dwayne Moore. The conversion was scored on a run by Alvin Hall.

The Cats scored again when John Henson, with three seconds left on the clock, intercepted a Morgan County pass and ran 64 yards, but a holding penalty nullified the play.

The Blackcats had a great night. They brought home the Sorghum Bowl trophy, "Bear" May won the "Most Valuable Player" and the "Best Offensive Lineman" trophies, and Dwayne Moore, who ran the ball 120 yards, won the "Best Offensive Back" trophy.

The Cats will play Louisa Bulldogs Friday night at Louisa. Both teams have 4-3 records.

Spare Us More Laws

Governor Carroll's statement to the effect that not more strip-mine laws but the enforcement of those already enacted is Kentucky's need makes sense to us.

Kentucky law has already prohibited surface mining on slopes steeper than 27 degrees. It has taken into account the pollution of streams and the reclamation of the disturbed earth. The state's laws governing surface mining are among the strictest in the nation.

But if anybody has ever said that Kentucky's enforcement of those laws has been strict, we failed to hear it. Yet it has without doubt improved.

Fortunately for Kentucky, many operators, whether out of fear of the law or in answer to their own consciences, are making an effort to reclaim the land over which they have worked and to prevent the ruin of streams.

Yet hundreds of "orphan spoilbanks"—not really orphaned but deserted by those who fathered them—remain for the taxpayers of this state to care for, if they are ever to return to anything approximating the state that nature allotted them.

What dismays us is this inescapable fact: Wherever and whenever any individual or group is permitted to flaunt the law without penalty, there is at least one public official who is a partner in the crime.

New laws are not needed for surface mine control. New laws are not needed for control in any phase of American life. Enforcement of the laws that are now being ignored is, essentially, all that we need and all that the public should demand.

A siltation study now being made will preclude the possibility of an earlier drawdown, Mr. Murray said.

Mr. Barker said upwards of 100 boats have already been removed from the lake and that he is hopeful boat evacuation will continue as rapidly as possible.

Phase 2 of the improvement project calls for renovation of the boat dock and new construction.

When the contract for the work was awarded last month to P & N Construction Co., Lexington, the contractor was given 150 working days in which to complete both phases of the work. At that time the contractor was confident work on both phases could be done concurrently and that completion of the entire job would be made by the opening of the 1976 season.

Hoffman found in his order that the Poor Fork operation cannot be continued without considerable hazard to the personal safety and property rights of Poor Bottom Fork.

Hoffman's order said the department should not have approved the permit in the first place. His action is contrary to the recommendation of Allen Prewitt Jr., a Frankfort lawyer who was the hearing officer in the case.

Opponents of the permit maintained the hollow was too heavily populated to allow strip mining on its steep slopes. There are about 355 residents in the Poor Bottom community.

Jack D. Deskins, president of Hurricane Elkhorn, testified at the hearings in July that the nearest residence is within 200 feet of the upper seam and within 300 and 400 feet of the bottom seam.

But he maintained the mining constitutes no danger to the residents.

Its potential, however, is great, with 20,000 possible customers in its area, Mr. Kenney estimated.

The agreement entered into between the court and the water district provides the extension of water facilities as shown on a map filed with the court.

Members of the court also were insistent on the need to extend water service to Caney, Spurlock and Buckeye forks of Middle Creek and on down the Left Fork of Middle Creek to the vicinity where it joins the main stream, but Kenney pointed out:

"If we put in everything asked here, we will have to have 2-$3 million."

Kenney pointed out that a new area wanting water service must first file a petition to become a part of the existing system, then financing could be undertaken.

Formation of separate water districts is a possibility. Judge Stumbo suggested a water district board to work with community groups seeking central water supply.

County Attorney James R. Allen was designated to prepare petitions for residents of the Middle Creek sections, asking that the Brush Creek-David branch be extended to them.

Claude Swiney, county planner, was designated to act as a liaison between the fiscal court and state, regional and federal agencies.

Forrest G. McClosky & Associates, Lexington architects, were authorized to readvertise the courthouse annex, with revision of plans, for letting on or before Nov. 20. Bids received recently on the project were rejected as exorbitant.

The court voted to begin construction of approximately 2000 feet of roadway and a bridge on Clover Field hollow of Big Mud Creek on Oct. 23.

REVIVAL TO BEGIN FRIDAY AT MARTIN BAPTIST CHURCH

Revival services will be conducted at the First Baptist Church in Martin beginning Monday, October 20, through Sunday, October 26. The Rev. Joe Forman, of Providence, Ky., will lead the services which will begin at 7 o'clock each evening. Pastor of the church, Rev. Boyd Reynolds, extends a welcome to all to attend.

gain the same important information about prairie dogs. And so on.

We have a whole mess of problems that persist in stumping us, and I do not think I am being unreasonable when I call on the Congress to come to my rescue with appropriations for studies which will shed light on questions such as these:

—How many times will a tumblebug attempt to roll his burden uphill before finally washing his hands of the whole affair and going home?

—Why is the part of a pawpaw uneaten by a 'possum foraging in the dark of the moon more palatable than a pawpaw that has not been touched?

Need any more? Just write. Maybe the Appalachian Regional Commission would be interested in this one.

Miss Hopson-Mr. Schwanebeck Wed

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Ann Hopson and Mr. Frank Jarrell Schwanebeck was solemnized Saturday evening, October 18, in the Whitfield United Methodist Church in Savannah, Ga. by the Rev. J. Cohen Arms.

Miss Hopson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hopson, of Thunderbolt, Ga., and Mr. Schwanebeck is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Schwanebeck, of Savannah, Georgia.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight silk organza of Victorian styling. The bibbed yoke and long tapered sleeves were of French Princess lace accented with pearls. Ruffles outlined the yoke, neck, and cuffs, and the full skirt flowed into a long cathedral train. A deep flounce of lace encircled the hem line. Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged with Cluny lace held by a Camelot cap of the same lace accented with pearls.

Mrs. Harold Schwanebeck, Jr., of Savannah, Ga., was matron of honor, and Miss Lisa Foreman, of Thunderbolt, Ga., was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Pigott, Miss Cathy Arms, Mrs. Gwen Rycroft, and junior bridesmaid was Miss Rene Thomson, all of Savannah, Georgia. Miss Sherri Cowart was flower girl, and Master Allen Schwanebeck was ring bearer.

Best man was Mr. Harold C. Schwanebeck, and ushers were Harold Schwanebeck, Jr., William J. Palmer, Jr., Dana Rycroft, and Jeff Bizzell.

Following a reception at the church, the couple left for a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tennessee. They will reside in Thunderbolt, Georgia.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hopson, of Prestonsburg, and of Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson, of Thunderbolt, Ga., and the late John Joseph Thomson.

Autumn Beauty in Kentucky

By HELEN PRICE STACY

There are poets who have said that autumn is a beggar, but do not be misled by its poverty any more than many were about Appalachia's buried wealth. Beggars need not always be as poor as Job's turkey.

Although much depends upon the eye of the beholder, how could a field of autumn cornstalks be called poor when shafts of sun play up and down the rows, turning common stalks into uncommon beauty.

This is the gold season: the dull and tawdry gilded by sun and shadow, the gawdy and overbright dulled into subdued elegance by frost and weather. The play of season and weather on things of the earth—especially in Kentucky with its many changes—might dull a field here and there, but at the same time it brightens leaves and adds brilliance to many flowers.

Throughout the Commonwealth, autumn has taken over and for those longing for a look at this magnificent season, the time is now.

Walk autumn's rich path, past oaks as rusty as a garden hoe and maples as bright as a flirt's ruffled skirt. Gaze at wild asters, still lavender blue, swaying beneath bright red staghorn sumacs.

Talk back to jarring crows on a boney ridge, but stop every now and then to hear squirrels cutting on nuts.

Stop at tall milkweeds to scatter silvery fluff in sequined whirls and gather some pods for angel wings or tree ornaments in preparation for the season ahead.

Jump when you unwittingly frighten a rabbit from its home, but if you are quiet in this season of quietude you might come face to face with a deer, its brown eyes more startled than your own.

Look at your feet, for there beneath your eyes is a soft carpet of leaves and multitudes of dark beetles scurrying to winter homes. Pine cones might be wondering why you haven't been by sooner to pick them up for a table or doorway arrangement and bits of wood are ready for new showplaces.

Linger amid autumn and its magnificence. Soak up the reds, oranges, rusts, magentas and variances of color while you weave bright leaves into a bouquet.

If weeds and foliage are brown and spotted, think of them as the beauty marks on an otherwise flawless face—foils for other outstanding features.

If your thoughts wander skyward when you hear the droning of a plane, imagine what you could behold from that high window. Hills in shades and tints of all primary colors with subtle blendings into secondary and even tertiary hues. Hills and meadows looking like giant bouquets set in green vases, not at all unlike bouquets of handmade calico flowers.

Autumn is not a beggar in the things that really count. There is an inner radiance that glows in sunshine, enough to last when the sun goes down. Take a drive on Mountain Parkway or one of the other highways and interstates. See for yourself how this season of brown and beige is utterly beautiful in its crisp gown of changeable, rustling taffeta. And, when ravaged by the cold and other unkind elements, if the taffeta seems to be a bit worn, look beneath, for autumn will be wearing a flirty petticoat complete with scarlet ruffles.

EDA Contributes $774,400 Buckhorn Park Improvement

Kentucky's Department of Parks has received $774,400 from the U. S. Economic Development Authority (EDA) for capital improvements to Buckhorn Lake State Resort Park, near Hazard.

According to Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery, this money provides 80 per cent of the total $1,017,783.93 that will be used to construct a 12-room addition to the lodge, two employee residences, a personnel dorm and 60 additional open slips at the marina, as well as development of the picnic, parking and camping areas. Recreational facilities, a utility system and landscaping were also included.

The money administered by the EDA was part of a program designed to stimulate the economy of an area by providing jobs and encouraging private support industries to locate in the vicinity of the park. The funds presented to Montgomery by EDA Southeastern Representative Charles Oxley are to reimburse the parks department for money already spent to complete the project.

The Kentucky Department of Parks has participated in the EDA funding project since 1967. EDA funds are no longer available for park development activities and the money for the Buckhorn project is the last program in which the state participated.

Eight other parks in Kentucky have received EDA funds since 1967. They are: Jenny Wiley, Greenbo Lake, Carter Caves, Lake Barkley, Lake Cumberland, Rough River Dam, Pine Mountain and Kingdom Come.

 Mrs. Forrest Skaggs, of Lynch, was here several days last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy B. Sturgill. Mrs. Sturgill has been ill of the flu. Mrs. Skaggs has returned home.

FISHING AT BARKLEY LAKE
 Mr. and Mrs. Carol Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hagewood left last Saturday for a vacation, fishing at Barkley Lake for a week.

HERE FROM VIRGINIA
 Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mathis, of Waynesboro, Va. visited Mrs. Anna Stumbo and Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Frazier here last week-end, and other relatives in the county.

Miss Deanna Lynn Horn became the bride of Michael David Robinson in a candlelight ceremony Saturday, August 16, at the First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Everett Horn, of West Prestonsburg. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Truman Robinson, of Allen.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Walter Applegate before an altar decorated with emerald palms, spiraled and arched candelabras holding lighted tapers. A program of nuptial selections including "Someday, Somewhere," "I Love Thee," and "God Bless This Marriage," was presented by Mrs. Chalmers Frazier, organist, and Mrs. Kenneth Brown, soloist.

Miss Kellie Jo Herald, cousin of the bride served as flowergirl. She wore a similar gown and hat of yellow and carried a wicker basket trimmed with white silk net, yellow satin bows and streamers and filled with yellow rose petals.

Mr. Tim Vorbeck, of London, Ky., served the groom as best man. The ushers were Norman Parsons, uncle of the groom, of Ashland, Gary Thomas Herald, cousin of the bride, of West Prestonsburg, and Doug Clevinger, of Pikeville, Charles Britton Wells, cousin of the bride, of Paintsville, and Bobby Hughes, of Prestonsburg.

Glenn Hammonds served as ring bearer.

Mrs. Horn, mother of the bride, received the guests in a polyester floor-length beige gown with multi-toned lace bodice and gold accessories. She wore a silk melon rose shoulder corsage. Mrs. Robinson, mother of the groom, wore a floor-length gown of aqua polyester with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of aqua-tipped white carnation.

Mrs. Charlie Wells, of Paintsville, directed the wedding, and Miss Debbie Davidson, of Prestonsburg, presided at the guest register.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Fellowship hall. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Charlie Wells, Mrs. Woodrow Greenwade, Mrs. Carl Horn, Miss Patricia Lafferty and Miss Kathy Harris.

The bride's table was covered with a white Quaker lace cloth, centered with a three-tiered cake encircled with daisies and flanked by silver candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Upon their return from a week's honeymoon; the couple are residing in Ashland.

Pre-nuptial activities included a personal shower given by Miss Rose Sharon Sammons; a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Chalmers Frazier. Mr. and Mrs. William D. Herald were hosts to the rehearsal dinner at their home in Trimble Branch.

Order of Arrow Sets Meet Date

Clyde DeRossett, Jr., of Prestonsburg, chief of the Tomahaken Lodge of the Order of the Arrow, Boy Scouts of America, has announced that the Order's fall fellowship will be held at the Lonesome Pine Council's Camp Shawnee, on the head-waters of Dewey Lake, over the week-end of October 24-26. Assisting DeRossett with the fellowship program will be Les Rogers, of Hazard, lodge advisor; Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg, Council camping chairman and Bill Shambora, of Prestonsburg, district executive.

The fellowship program will begin Friday evening upon the arrival of Arrowmen who are expected from all 13 counties comprising the Lonesome Pine Council.

On Saturday the Arrowmen will work together to construct several needed improvements to the physical facilities at Camp Shawnee. The group will spend most of the daylight hours constructing physical improvements at the camp such as the construction of a walk-in refrigerator. Saturday night will see the completion of the Ordeal induction ceremony, which is to begin on the preceding evening, and the induction of new members into the Brotherhood honor. Arrowmen from throughout the council have been selected to serve on ceremonial teams which will conduct the various inductions. Late Saturday night, upon the conclusion of all the ceremonial activities, the group will reassemble in the dining lodge for fellowship. Sunday's program calls for a lodge business meeting.

The Order of the Arrow is a society of Scout-honor campers. Scouts are selected for this honor by their fellow troop members who feel that their activities in the troop and in school have exemplified lives of cheerful service.

In September 1822, the first Labor Day celebration was held in New York City, according to "Important Events in American Labor History," a publication of the U. S. Labor Department.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH
October is Immunization Action Month—a perfect time to be sure your children are fully protected against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, measles, mumps and rubella. Parents, if your children aren't fully protected against these serious childhood diseases, see your doctor or the Floyd County Health Department, right away, and protect your children from needless illness.

untreated and it usually strikes persons 35 years of age and over. For this reason, the health department urges all persons age 35 and over to take advantage of this free glaucoma screening.

The Floyd County Health Department announces that there will be no nursing services available on Friday, October 17 while the health nurses will be participating in a gonorrhoea workshop.

Monday and Tuesday, October 20-21, the health department will be closed. The health department staff will be attending a regional conference at Jenny Wiley State Park on these two days. Regular business hours will resume Wednesday, October 22, at 8 a.m.

MAYTOWN COMMUNITY NEWS

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Noleeka Jones who passed away early Saturday morning after an illness of several months.

Glenford Moore, of Beaver, Ohio, was here last week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Moore, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Jones and children, of Newcastle, Ind., were here last week due to the death of his mother, Mrs. Noleeka Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Webb and children, of Beaver, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Tauby Tussey and children and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Webb and Katina, of Springfield, Ohio, were here last week-end to attend the funeral of Ed Stewart and also to visit Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click and Mrs. Earl Webb were shopping in Huntington and Chesapeake, Ohio last Wednesday.

Mrs. Libby Flanery and Mrs. Wilma May were shopping in Ashland, Friday.

Jerry Martin and Mrs. Marie Martin and Yvette were shopping in Lexington last Wednesday.

Mrs. Marcella Bailey reports she received a call from Gov. Carroll's office last week declaring the week of Oct. 25 Red, White and Blue Week. Also a call from Sgt. Maj. Sanders at Ft. Knox telling her the Bi-Centennial Color Guard will be here for the big day dressed, in Revolutionary War attire. She is also expecting a 13-man color Guard from Ft. Campbell.

Mrs. Sandy Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd, underwent major surgery at Pikeville Methodist hospital last Friday.

John Sammons, missionary for Enterprise Association, occupied the pulpit at the Maytown First Baptist Church, Sunday. Rev. Rush Slone will preach at the church, next Sunday.

REPORT FROM MARCELLA BAILEY
An auction sale was held at the old Fred Bailey storehouse Saturday night, Oct. 3, serving a dual purpose. Everyone gathered for the event which also served as an old-fashioned get-together for old friends and young who grew up at the little town of Eastern. Those attending were Vada Osborne, Mrs. Fred Bailey, Mrs. Goldia Salyers, Mrs. Ruth Gunnels, Earl Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Jones Martin and Rosie, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Tuttle, Mrs. Shirley Martin Stumbo, Rhomer and Ada Osborne and some of their children, Sakes, Hersh, John, and Judy Perk, Rube Osborne, Jenny Osborne Martin and Hawley Martin, Marcella Rowe Bailey and Janie. The gathering brought memories of yester-year when the store was a gathering place, especially on Saturday evening when everyone would gather in and sit on the old "lazy bench." The women, wearing their starched dresses, gathered to talk while the men talked and whittled. Everyone who enjoyed those days, please return to Eastern next Saturday for another get-together.

JR. WOMENS CLUB
COMMITTEE MEETS
The International Affairs Committee of the Prestonsburg Junior Womens Club held their first committee meeting, October 2, at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Virginia Boss. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss money-raising projects, and other projects relating to international affairs that the committee will coordinate throughout the coming club year. The women in attendance were Mrs. Virginia Boss, chairperson; Mrs. Cheryl Rosenberg, vice-chairperson; Mrs. Jeanne Brown, president of the Jr. Womens Club; Mrs. Carole Burchett, 3rd vice-president, and Janice B. Allen, immediate past president.

To Appear Here Tuesday, October 21

The New Christy Minstrels are a modern version of the Christy Minstrels formed in 1842 by Edwin Christy. The "New" group has brought the best in folk music and good entertainment to millions through recordings, including two gold albums, a weekly television show on NBC, TV appearances with Bob Hope, Danny Thomas, Vikki Car, Alan King, as well as personal appearances all over the world. The Minstrels became the first American artists ever to win the San Remo Folk Festival.

Second in the Concert Series will be Javier Calderon, Bolivian guitarist who made his formal debut in 1965 with the National Symphony of Bolivia. When he participated in the Marlboro, Vt., Summer Music Festival, he was acclaimed by two world-renowned musicians, Pablo Casals and Andres Segovia. He later studied with Segovia at his home in Spain. He will perform here November 20 at the Prestonsburg Community College Auditorium.

Presenting the third program of the Series, January 22, will be the Central Kentucky Youth Orchestra predominantly composed of high school age musicians. The 100-piece orchestra has been well received in previous appearances here.

In early February, the Dancers of Ljubljana, composed of 45 dancers, singers and instrumentalists, will appear at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium. This group, with the National Company of Yugoslavia, is opening its tour in this country at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D. C.

Paul and Taka Kling, who are well-known to Concert Series audiences, will appear here on March 30. Mr. Kling, native of Czechoslovakia, is a concert violinist who has held concert master posts with orchestras in Vienna, Tokyo, and since 1959, in Louisville, where he also teaches at the University. Taka Kling, native of Kyoto, Japan, came to Louisville as teacher of harp at the University there, and joined the Louisville Orchestra later. She has performed as harpist with the Philharmonic Orchestra of the Japan Broadcasting Corporation, with the Austrian Radio and Television Network, and has toured extensively as soloist with the Chicago Little Symphony.

The appearance of Peggy Cowles in "Just Between Us" a one-woman show composed of a series of sketches ranging from intensely dramatic to archly comic will conclude the Concert Series current season on April 22. Miss Cowles has appeared on Marcus Welby, M.D., The Bold Ones, and a world premiere movie, "A Howling in the Woods". She has a co-starring role with Jon Voight in a Warner Brothers film, "The All American Boy."

The entertainment scheduled this season ranges from folk music to classical and once again offers an opportunity to enjoy the best in entertainment. Memberships are now being sold at Francis Store, or those interested may call 886-2185 for further information.

The New Christy Minstrels, folk music artists with a world-wide following, will appear at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, October 21. This outstanding group is the first of six scheduled by the Eastern Kentucky Concert Series in its 1975-'76 season.

Invest In Quality

For centuries Europeans have invested a substantial amount of their earnings in good "Works of Art" — hand crafted Silver, quality Furniture, fine Paintings and Porcelains — and they have proven to be one of the best investments yet! Natural Bridge-Gorge-Cave Run Recreation Area Being Planned

By AL MARCH
(In The Lexington Herald)

Sen. Walter Huddleston's interest in making Red River Gorge a national recreational area has sparked a study by the state Department of Parks on the expansion of Natural Bridge State Park. "I think the whole area is just tremendous as a tourist attraction. If there is a possibility for major development, we ought to complement it," said Bruce Montgomery, commissioner of parks.

"We're in the information-gathering stage," Montgomery said. He said there was a "good possibility" of expansion if the present level of business continues. Several eastern Kentucky state parks have been helped by the coal boom, he said. Equipment salesmen and coal industry related people use the parks for lodging.

In addition, Natural Bridge State Park, located across the Mountain Parkway from the gorge, has been aided by the controversy over construction of a dam in the gorge area.

L. L. Baker, superintendent of the park, said there is a "tremendous need for expansion." He said he is not at liberty to reveal details, but said the park lodge has 99 to 100 per cent occupancy from early spring to Thanksgiving. He said he has been requested to gather data and describe the needs of the park.

A staff aide to Huddleston has told the Herald twice this week that an announcement is pending from the senator on Red River Gorge.

Huddleston is known to favor a national recreational area linking Cave Run Lake to Red River Gorge by a scenic road. He earlier favored a national park, but withdrew from the idea when it was learned there are 50 areas waiting to be considered for national parks. Also, a spokesman for the National Park Service said his agency is short of money and personnel.

The recreational area would feature a visitor reception center and museum near Pine Ridge, Ky., at one entrance to the gorge. Most of the visitor impact would be absorbed in the Cave Run area, which would be developed for recreation and lodging. Red River Gorge, under the proposal, would become an educational area.

Portions of the gorge where valuable archaeological sites are located would be off limits to campers and hikers, but would be seen on supervised tours.

Final details of the proposal are being refined by Huddleston's staff. The cost of the proposal is expected to be over $50 million. Half of the money probably would be required for construction of the scenic road.

Jenny Wiley Trail May Be Completed Through ARC Aid

Hikers may next year follow the 200-mile route travelled from South Portsmouth, Greenup county, to Blockhouse Bottom, near Combs Airport, in Johnson county by Jenny Wiley, pioneer heroine, while a captive of Indians.

Work on the Jenny Wiley Trail is scheduled to start, with approximately 25 workmen clearing the trail and building rustic overnight shelters for hikers. It is predicted the work can be completed within six months.

For the undertaking the Appalachian Regional Commission approved a grant of $150,000. The work is being undertaken by the FIVCO Area Development District and the Jenny Wiley Trail Conference.

WAYLAND NEWS

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Hansel Bradley, of Garrett. Mrs. Gene Mullins, program leader on "Spiritual Values," was assisted by Mrs. Edward Sturgill, of Garrett, who showed colored slides of the Holy Land.

Prior to the program Mrs. Hansel Bradley led the Pledge to the Flag and Mrs. Otto Martin read the Club Collect, followed by devotions by Mrs. Earl Castle.

During the business session Mrs. J. C. Wells, club president, announced that the Drift Woman's Club had set Friday, April 9, 1976 to celebrate its 25th anniversary, with the Wayland club invited.

It was agreed that the club will again sell pecans to raise money for its various civic endeavors and will also include the sale of peanuts this year.

The arthritis fund was discussed and a contribution voted for it by the club. A discussion was also held concerning the Central Kentucky Blood Bank. This will be continued at a later date and definite plans made.

The October 17 Seventh district meeting of the K.F.W.C. was discussed and there will be at least three members attending from the Wayland club, which is a smaller group this year due to the break in precedent of having the meeting on Friday instead of Saturday as in the past.

A discussion was held of the plans for the club to entertain its daughter clubs November 17 at the May Lodge. "Dollars for Veterans" were collected from the clubmembers.

Mrs. Wells announced that Mrs. S. M. Martin had agreed to serve as chairman of the Crime Prevention Commission for the Seventh district and will have a program on "Rape".

The hostesses, Mrs. Felix Coburn, Mrs. Gene Mullins, and Mrs. Hansel Bradley served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting to the following: Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. Don Hughes, Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. E. E. DeCoursey, Mrs. Earl Castle, Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. M. M. Collins, Mrs. Marcellous Dunfee, Mrs. Brady Collins, Mrs. James A. Duff, Mrs. Jack Stevens, Mrs. Ronnie Patton, Mrs. Otto Martin, and Mrs. Edward Sturgill.

The next club meeting will be November 17 at May Lodge, with the Wayland club entertaining its "daughter" clubs.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Maggie M. Hall returned home last Friday from the Cabell-Huntington Hospital where she was a medical patient. Her sister, Miss Anna Laura May, was with her there. She will have nurses on 24-hour duty at her home until her recovery.

PCC Co-Op Education Program In Fourth Year Gains Support

The Cooperative Education Program at Prestonsburg Community College, a plan which enables students to blend theory and practice, now in its fourth year, has received widespread acceptance from employers in the five-county area which the college serves.

The students alternate classroom study with jobs in their related fields, thus getting both practical experience and academic credit, as well as cash.

The program and its participating employers have enabled students to find employment in this area after graduation.

Interested employers should contact Ron Carter or Mrs. Marsha Goble at the College (886-3863-Ext. 209).

Students now involved in the program and their training stations follow:

Plan Art Workshops At PCC Next Month

The Prestonsburg Community College Community Service Art Guild and the Kentucky Arts Commission will co-sponsor two workshops at the college next month.

Doug Adams will teach a watercolor workshop, November 1, and Joe Sartor, a composition in drawing workshop on November 8. Classes will begin at 10 a.m. and will be limited to 20 students.

Mr. Adams will lecture and present demonstrations emphasizing freshness and value relationships. Associate professor at Morehead State University, he is known throughout Kentucky and neighboring states for his watercolor landscapes.

Mr. Sartor will work with pencil and charcoal in demonstrating drawing techniques. Stress will be on composition. An assistant professor in drawing and ceramics, Sartor has been at Morehead State University since 1968. He has had several shows in the South and Midwest.

Those interested in registering for these workshops should contact the Community Service Office, 886-3863, Ext. 208.

Wanted—Ideas on Promoting Kentucky

These are some of the logos and slogans used in the past by the Department of Public Information to promote Kentucky. The department is conducting a publicity campaign to recruit citizen participation in selecting a new logo and symbol.

A campaign to recruit citizen participation in selecting a new slogan and logo to promote Kentucky's $850 million tourist industry was launched today (Wednesday) by the state Department of Public Information.

"The old symbols and slogans we have used, 'Call of Kentucky' with the trumpeting jockey and 'Rediscover Kentucky,' have served us well, but now a fresh approach is needed," said James C. Vernon, commissioner of the department.

"We're searching for something short and catchy that will have wide appeal... something in the same vein as those being used now by West Virginia and Virginia—'Almost Heaven, West Virginia' and 'Virginia Is For Lovers.'"

Vernon said members of his staff have begun contacting newspapers and radio and television stations throughout the state to publicize the effort and get citizen participation.

"We also have written to schools in Kentucky seeking to enlist the enthusiasm and artistic talents of our students," Vernon added. "We want all citizens of Kentucky to participate in this search."

Persons who want to submit their ideas and designs for a new Kentucky slogan and logo should mail them to Commissioner James C. Vernon, Department of Public Information, Capital Annex, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Most Wanted Bird in America

Perhaps not many of my readers know there is a highly popular book entitled, "What You Should Know About the Purple Martin," with the sub-title: "The purple martin is the most wanted bird in America."

This book has proved so popular, it has been re-printed several times with some new additions. Its author is J. L. Wade, of Griggsville, Ill., "the purple martin capitol of the world."

The entire growth and recent prosperity of the town are built around the popularity of the martin. The town has erected hundreds of beautiful and expensive apartments for the martins. One of these imposing apartments is as tall as a ten-story building and contains 504 apartments for the birds. People from all parts go to Griggsville in the summer to see the thousands of martins nesting there. The town has a "purple martin capitol building" and Mr. Wade patented and sells the popular 12-compartment aluminum houses for martins. He claims the starlings are afraid of an aluminum box and won't chase off the martins.

Griggsville once had a severe mosquito infestation, but none since the martins come to nest there by the hundreds. The governor of Illinois proclaims a "purple martin time" each year for his state and has a martin apartment standing on the lawn of the governor's mansion. It is claimed that any purple martin can consume its own weight in flying insects each day. If we take mosquitoes as their diet, this would equal about 14,000 of these obnoxious insects, which spread the dread disease, "sleeping sickness."

Of course, martins also capture any flying insect, such as houseflies, moths, beetles, bugs—almost any flying insect is fair game for the purple martin.

The purple martin is the largest member of the Swallow Family. From a distance, the male bird appears all black, but he is really a dark purple. The males do a lot of chattering and calling around the nesting place; the male has a rich, liquid voice, which expresses contentment and happiness with his new family. He renders guttural solos and gives out a throaty tee—chew, wew, too—too—wedde-tee.

The martins left the states earlier than usual this year—around the latter part of July. Some say this is a sign of a hard winter. Great flocks of them settled on the wires and spent a few days training their young for the long and arduous flight to Brazil, where they spend the winter. You'll not get to hear any glad chirping of the martins until the latter part of March, 1976.

So you have plenty of time to get your martin house ready. If you make a new one, put it on a pole about 12 feet high. If your box has been used this season, clean it out and dust it with sulphur to kill the mites. These pests can destroy young martins. If you use a wooden pole for your box, be sure to place guards on it to keep the blacksnakes and cats from climbing it. Martins greatly fear these snakes, and when one climbs the pole and swallows their young, they will not come back to the same place next year.

Do not put up a martin box near trees, as martins like to have a wide view of the countryside; they are also high flyers and need to be able to spot their box from high in the sky. They also keep a sharp eye out for hawks and crows and will fight these viciously, should they come too near the nest.

Be sure to protect your martins against roving cats. These predators will capture and kill the adult martins if they can get up the pole to the nest.

Our mosquito problem seems to grow worse, with the spread of sleeping sickness. I truly believe if all rural families would provide houses for the martins this would go a long way in helping to control these dangerous pests.

A Special Thank You for Bill and Eunice, Nell, Thurman and Gerry.

Just how does one go about To say thank you just right For all you've done all these long Past days and nights To help a love one We all love so dear You've made him feel comfortable And safe, while he was here.

You have seen to his every Want and needs You have showered him with Love and good deeds You've helped him keep his faith Is the Best part of all So that his soul would be ready When Jesus did call.

The rest of us could never Ever repay you enough For what you've all gone through with Lately for him sure has been rough But you've all done it with nothing but Love, care, concern, and no regrets All the goodness you've shown I for one, will never forget.

Each day I'll thank God For people like the five of you And in Heaven you'll be rewarded for The kindness you've done and will do Yes, you're all a special kind of people Not like others I could name Wouldn't it be a beautiful world If we all felt the same

Thank you, MARLENE

Unemployment Rate Falls in State

By JEANNE BECKETT

Unemployment in Kentucky fell three-tenths of one per cent in September to 7.5 per cent, the lowest rate since February.

Robert MacDonald, labor market analyst for the Department for Human Resources, which released the figures, attributed the decrease "primarily to laid-off workers returning to their jobs. There also was increased employment in the mining, construction and trade industries."

The current state jobless rate is six-tenths of one per cent lower than the national unadjusted rate of 8.1 per cent.

MacDonald reported an increase of 18,900 jobs in the state during September, raising the overall job total to 1,331,000—the highest number of jobs since October, 1974, constituting another record.

For 1976, Dodge introduces a store full of values.

CORONET is all family car. More than enough room for six. Plus a large trunk to match. Coronet—it'll be a welcome addition to your family.

CHARGER has a new low price for '76. And now there are four Chargers to pick from. All with the ride, handling, and good looks Charger is known for.

SPORTSMAN is the most versatile wagon on the road. The Maxiwagon seats up to 15. And Dodge gives you a bigger choice of Sportsman-type wagons than anyone.

SWINGER makes "small" easy to live with. It's got room for six. Basic operating economy. And a dependable reputation.

MONACO has all the luxury you could ask for. Along with all the room, comfort, security and convenience you expect in a full-sized car.

RAMCHARGER takes you where the action is. Four-wheel drive is great for main road, back road, or where there's no road at all.

If you have a head for cars, head for Dodge.

Miss Compton Wins At Allen Central

Jean Carol Compton has been chosen as the J. H. Allen Central High School winner in the Bicentennial seniors scholarship competition, a part of a nation-wide scholarship program for high school seniors currently being conducted by the National Association of Secondary School Principals with funds from the Shell Oil Company. Runners-up are Linda Boggs and Debbie Reynolds.

Miss Compton's winning composition consists of a "Bicentennial Minute" and a commentary discussing the relevance of this "minute for today and for America's future." She also scored high on a current events test.

The selection committee was comprised of Leona Fouts, Marguerite Harmon, and Jack D. Stevens.

The Allen Central winner will now compete with other high school winners to become one of the two state representatives to the national competition. Two winners from each state and the District of Columbia will receive a scholarship of $1,000 and an all-expense paid trip to Williamsburg, Virginia from January 16-19, 1976 to attend seminars on educational and social issues and to be on hand for the selection of the national winner.

The grand prize winner will receive a $10,000 scholarship and will have her "Bicentennial Minute" presented on the CBS television network.

Martin Veteran Loses Suit To Collect for Draft by Error

A Vietnam veteran who was drafted by mistake last week lost his bid for Supreme Court review of his claim for damages against the government.

The government had said an incorrect draft number assignment resulting from an error by Local Board 69 in Inez, caused the man to be drafted.

The court let stand a decision of the U. S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati overturning a judge's award of $31,000 for damages to Clyde Fitch.

Fitch was drafted July 13, 1970, after having been given an erroneous number in the national draft lottery. The number he was entitled to should have assured he would not be drafted.

He was informed of the mistake in July 1971, while in Vietnam. In October 1971, he was returned to the United States and discharged.

In reversing the award of damages, the circuit court said federal law bars claims against the government for "negligent misrepresentation."

It cited cases in which the plaintiffs relied on a government appraisal and bought property at a price which turned out to be excessive, in which cattlemen sold cattle at reduced prices after being incorrectly advised by government inspectors that the animals were diseased, and in which a farmer gave his hogs a fatal dose of vaccine after being wrongly informed that they had cholera.

Attorneys for Fitch and his wife, Sharon, said these cases were not to the point because they all had to do with "business transactions where the plaintiffs freely relied on information provided to them."

Hotline Handles Consumers' Calls

Frankfort, Ky.—More than 1,800 calls concerning such items as no-fault auto insurance, workmen's compensation and utility rate increases have been handled by a "hotline" for Kentucky's Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet since its inception last April.

Simply by calling a toll-free number, 1-800-372-2967, Kentuckians may receive information pertaining to the 11-agency cabinet headed by Elijah M. Hogge.

Hogge said the organization's diverse activities might confuse some people as to just what matters are supervised by the cabinet. He added, however, that a caller would be directed to the proper agency if it fell outside Public Protection's jurisdiction.

"Basically, we're providing the public with an ombudsman to help solve problems and answer questions related to business of the cabinet," Hogge said. "We have not called him an ombudsman, however, to avoid confusion with a similar service in the Department for Human Resources."

Bob Arnold, Hogge's administrative assistant, has the principal responsibility for handling the calls. Arnold said most calls occurred in June when 600 queries were received. He explained that as no-fault auto insurance went into effect July 1, Kentuckians then had many questions about the new law's effect.

The telephone continues to ring as callers are kept informed on all 11 agencies within the cabinet. Those agencies are: Alcoholic Beverage Control, Department of Banking and Securities, Kentucky Registry of Election and Finance, Kentucky Harness Racing Commission, Department of Insurance, Department of Labor, Department of Mines and Minerals, Public Service Commission, Kentucky Quarter Horse and Appaloosa Commission, Kentucky State Racing Commission and the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

To Tell McCoy Side of Feud

Piecing together the history of the Hatfield-McCoy feud, Paul McCoy (left), a great-grandson of Randolph McCoy, famed leader of the McCoy family during one of Eastern Kentucky's most colorful eras, and Dr. Leonard Roberts (right), director of the Pikeville College Appalachian Studies Center, scour maps to determine points where parts of the feud took place. McCoy and Roberts are publishing a book telling the story of the feud from the McCoy version. Roberts believes this may be the only account of the feud as told by the McCoy family.

What may well be the only account of the Hatfield-McCoy feud as told by the McCoy's is now being edited for a book-length manuscript.

Dr. Leonard Roberts, of Stanville, director of the Pikeville College Appalachian Studies Center, and Paul R. McCoy, a great-grandson of Randolph (Randal) McCoy, are currently scouring maps, double checking dates vital to the feud, and writing and re-writing a text originally collected by Paul McCoy's mother, Trudy McCoy.

Paul McCoy explained, "This is something I have wanted to do for years. Mother started collecting the material in 1920, from members of the family who were eyewitnesses to the events of the feud."

McCoy added, "When it was completed in 1935, it was intended as a history for the children and grandchildren. We wanted to publish the manuscript before now, but a series of unfortunate events forced us to wait."

McCoy and Roberts said the book should be on the market around March 1, next year. Said Roberts, "We're not intending this to be a Bicentennial best seller, the manuscript just happened to surface at this time. With what is almost a revival of interest in the feud not only in Pike county and Mingo county but throughout the United States, it's fitting the book should be published as soon as possible."

Previously, several accounts of the feud have been published, but all were told by the Hatfields. As Paul McCoy said, "My family just wouldn't talk about it."

NOTICE

The coal trucks that are taking a short cut through Jackson Street have been asked not to do so but continue to wake us up at 4:15 a.m. There is a sign that says "no trucks allowed." The land owners paid for that street and will be paying for many years and we wish to ask that the proper authorities take some action on this matter.

WANT RESULTS?—Times Want Ads!

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK (Attorney General)

"Going, going, gone" are the words that attract anyone in search of bargains or unusual merchandise unobtainable in a retail store. All of us would like to get "the buy of a lifetime" at a nominal price. But, the informed consumer should approach auction buying with an eye toward facts and practicality.

Before you arrive, try to find out all you can about the auctioneer and his merchandise:

—Does the auctioneer have an established reputation in his field?

—Do the claims made in the advertisement sound valid or are they "a little too good to be true?"

—Check the validity of estate auctions. Find out if the goods are being sold on consignment or if it is a collection of merchandise bought to be sold at a profit.

When you arrive at the auction, closely examine the merchandise and:

—Be wary of claims of "original" artworks and museum pieces.

—Be skeptical of written appraisals presented by the auctioneer. If you are not familiar with the appraiser it would be difficult to know whether or not the prices stated were correct.

When the auction starts, observe the activity. You should:

—Watch for "buy bidders" who are placed in the audience to increase the bidding.

—Notice whether the merchandise is being sold for substantially less than the auctioneer states that it is worth.

—See if the auctioneer points to the irregularities and flaws of the merchandise as well as the attributes.

The most important consideration is you—the buyer. Set limits on how much you are willing to spend. Determine what type of goods you want to buy. Don't be an impulse buyer. If you are well informed and exercise self-control, auction buying can be an enjoyable experience.

State Agency Files First Suit

Frankfort, Ky.—Most strip mine operators in Kentucky reclaim the land they disturb and therefore don't forfeit their reclamation bond.

But Southeastern Kentucky Coal Co., of Ann Arbor, Mich., failed to reclaim its strip-mined land, presenting a new wrinkle in a changing reclamation bonding picture.

The now defunct company, which operated during the coal boom of 1970-'71, abandoned some strip-mined areas in Laurel and Rockcastle counties.

This action by the Michigan company has led to the first lawsuit filed by the state to force collection of a reclamation bond. The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection and the state attorney general have sued Utica Mutual Insurance Co., of Utica, N. Y., for forfeiture of $9,000 in strip mine reclamation bonds. Utica Mutual wrote the bonds for Southeastern Coal Co. According to the suit filed in Franklin circuit court, the department's reclamation division sent bond forfeiture notices to the insurance company in 1973.

Ken Ratliff, acting director of the division of reclamation, said the Utica, N. Y. company is the first to refuse to pay the reclamation bond. "We had some foot-dragging before," said Ratliff, "but this is the first refusal."

Ratliff said the department forfeits bond when a mining company moves its equipment off a job before reclamation is complete. "Often if we threaten forfeiture, the company moves the equipment back and reclaims the area. Sometimes, the bonding company applied pressure to get the reclamation done," said Ratliff. "Most don't force us to forfeit their bond."

Last year, about $43,000 in reclamation bonds was forfeited to the state.

When bond on strip-mined land is forfeited, it is placed in a special bond account. The state advertises for bids to reclaim the land, then issues a contract to a low bidder and pays for the reclamation out of the bond account.

Until 1974, the maximum bond allowed by state law on an acre of strip-mined land was $1,000. Due to rising costs of reclamation work, the 1974 legislature raised that maximum to $1,500.

Since then, the average bond on an acre of strip-mined land has risen from $500 to about $800. Higher bond is required for hard-to-reclaim areas.

Ratliff said the bond that was established several years ago is not enough to pay for the reclamation of abandoned strip-mined areas today. However, he said the new bonding rates should cover the expenses.

No strip mines, bonded under the system of higher rates, have yet forfeited their bond, said Ratliff.

EKEA Convention Set for Oct. 17

Frank D. Ratliff, EKEA Executive Secretary, has announced that Thomas P. Bell, Lexington Attorney and National Football League Official, will be the keynoter for the annual EKEA fall convention.

Tommy Bell is a full-time practicing attorney in the Lexington firm of Fowler, Rouse, Measle & Bell.

He is general counsel and director for Citizens Union National Bank & Trust Company and the Kentucky Family Security Insurance Company.

Mr. Bell is an international speaker. He has spoken in the British Isles, France, Germany, Canada, Mexico and most of the states in the United States.

As a National Football League official, he has been selected as the referee in six championship games and two Super Bowl games.

His honors include the Distinguished Alumni Award from the University of Kentucky, Henry T. Duncan Memorial Plaque as a distinguished attorney in Fayette County, the Brotherhood Award of the National Conference of Christians & Jews, and the Outstanding Football Official Award of the Touchdown Club of Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Bell is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Second Presbyterian Church in Lexington, Board of Directors of Fellowship of Christian Athletes for Kentucky, Board of Directors of the Kentucky Easter Seal Society, and the Board of Directors of the University of Kentucky Athletic Association.

Mr. William T. Nallia, Executive Secretary of the Kentucky Association of School Administrators, will speak to the school leaders during the departmental meetings which begin at 1:15 p.m., October 17, 1975, on the campus of Morehead State University. Other speakers and the departments they will be addressing are:

Department of Vocational and Business Education, Dr. James B. Graham and Mr. James M. Taylor, candidates for Superintendent of Public Instruction; Department of Elementary Teachers, Mrs. Geraldine Kinder, Pike county, I. G. E. Team Leader.

Mr. Ratliff urges all EKEA teachers to attend the annual convention for a rejuvenation in the teaching of children.

LETTERS To the Editor

Calls It 'Non-Service'

In April, 1975 my brother had a very serious, almost fatal, car accident on a Floyd county road. From the scene of the accident he was placed in a State Police car, half dead, and taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital. There he waited for almost two hours while my parents tried desperately to contact an ambulance from another county. In this time period of waiting my brother almost died. I am very concerned about this fact of negligence on the part of your county officials. Could you please tell me why your people put up with this kind of non-service?

17 YEARS' GAS SUPPLY?

WASHINGTON—About 22.3 trillion cubic feet of natural gas is consumed in the United States each year. New natural-gas reserves are being discovered at the rate of about 9.5 trillion cubic feet a year. At these rates, the nation could be out of natural gas in 17 years, the U. S. Department of Interior reports.

School Boards Set Park Meet

School board members and administrators from seven school districts will meet next Thursday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, for the annual meeting of the Eastern Kentucky Region (South) of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA).

Paul D. Hinkle, chairman of the Pikeville Independent Board of Education and chairman of the Eastern Kentucky Region (South), will preside at the dinner meeting, scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

Meeting topics will include presentations on legislative matters and Association programs and services. KSBA officers said they view this meeting as an opportunity for area school board members and administrators to discuss their local problems, concerns and issues of interest.

The meeting will also elect officers of the Eastern Kentucky Region (South) for 1976.

Attending the meeting will be school board members and administrators from the school districts of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike counties, and the independent school districts of Paintsville and Pikeville.

Earle Combs: "Country Gentleman" of Baseball

ONE OF THE 1927 YANKEES—Kentucky's Earle Combs, far right, was the fleet-footed centerfielder for the New York Yankees from 1924 to 1935. Combs played alongside lefffielder Bob Meusel and the legendary Babe Ruth, center. Combs says he believes this photograph was taken in 1927, the year Ruth set his long-standing record of 60 home runs.

By JOHN DAVIDSON

Paint Lick, Ky.—As baseball stories go, perhaps the most famous is the one of Babe Ruth, who with two strikes on him stepped out of the batter's box, pointed to the center field wall and proceeded to hit the next pitch over it. But one of Ruth's teammates did virtually the same thing, without the theatrics.

In a game against Boston, Earle B. Combs had badly missed two Danny McFadden slow curves. He stepped out of the batter's box and told the Boston catcher, "One more of those and I'll hit it out of here." The catcher told him to get ready because another one was coming. When McFadden delivered the next slow curve Combs hit it out of the park.

Combs said that he remembers that occasion graphically because "I hit so few homers, I can remember them all." But the former Yankee centerfielder did hit more than just the one home run in his career and he commented, "I was watching a ballgame the other night on television, and a boy hit a home run in Boston in the exact same place I hit one once."

Now 76 years old, the Hall of Fame centerfielder from the New York Yankee dynasty lives on a farm at Paint Lick, just outside of Richmond. The classic white brick mansion in which Combs and his wife live sits on their 400-acre farm with a tree-lined driveway and a small lake near the front yard.

Born near Richmond, Earle B. Combs attended Eastern Kentucky University where there is now a dormitory bearing his name. He played minor league baseball briefly in Louisville and semi-pro ball in Lexington before being called up to the major leagues by the Yankees.

Compiling a .325 lifetime batting average with the Yankees, Combs was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame in 1970.

A story some of Combs' friends tell about him is that when he was offered a professional baseball contract, he had to debate between teaching school for $40 a week and signing the professional baseball contract. Combs laughed when asked about the debate and said that it was not a tough decision. "I always wanted to play baseball," he laughed.

A long-time friend of Combs, former Eastern Kentucky University baseball coach Charles "Turkey" Hughes, said that Combs' Yankee teammates called him "The Country Gentleman." He said that Combs never drank, smoked or chewed tobacco.

He added that Combs did not "carouse around" with the most famous member of this team, Babe Ruth. "If you wanted to play ball, you couldn't keep up with Babe," Combs remembered.

Hughes also said that Combs was a big player for those times, standing 6-2. "With those long strides of his, he didn't look like he moved real fast. But he was smooth and very fast," said Hughes. "Earle never really got credit for his speed."

Combs remembered that he stole 49 bases for Louisville the year before he joined the Yankees, but he was under strict instructions not to steal bases for the Yankees.

Combs was lead-off hitter for the club. He said that he really did not have to steal any bases and was instructed not to get picked off base, because he was followed in the batting order by the legendary Yankee Murderer's Row—Tony Lazzeri, Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth.

His career with the Bronx Bombers lasted 12 years, from 1924 through 1935. A member of the famous Yankee outfield of Bob Meusel in left field, Combs in center and Ruth in right, Combs explained that his career was cut short by unexpectedly colliding with the centerfield wall in St. Louis' Sportsman's Park while chasing a fly ball.

Although he only played 12 years, Combs was named to the all-time great New York Yankee outfield—consisting of himself, Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio—by his manager Joe McCarthy. McCarthy also managed Combs in the minor leagues at Louisville.

After retiring to his Paint Lick farm, Combs suffered a stroke a few years ago. He is not nearly as active now as he once was. But his face brightens up, he grins broadly, giggles like an excited child and shows perfect recall when he talks about his baseball playing days.

He said that his teammate Babe Ruth set so many records in his career that his mark of hitting 60 home runs in one season "was just another record he set."

Remembering that Ruth's "average speed" in the outfield slowed down during his later years with the Yankees, Combs said he had to cover "pretty much" of Ruth's territory in right field. Combs' son, Donald, who is the athletic director at Eastern Kentucky University, said that his father played a prank on Ruth one game, when Ruth was expecting Combs to help him cover right field.

"It was late in the season, the pennant had already been decided and in a rare situation the Yankees were getting beaten badly," Donald Combs prefaces his story. "A line drive was hit between center and right field. Ordinarily daddy would have run the ball down. But this one time, he took off running as hard as he could in the opposite direction of the ball. Ruth looked over and saw dad running away from the ball, and lumbered off after it. When the inning was over and the team went into the dugout, Babe walked over to dad and said, 'Earle, you never did see that ball, did you?'"

Smiling broadly and continuing recollections of his career, Earle Combs said that Philadelphia's legendary Lefty Grove was the best pitcher he ever faced. "Lefty threw the ball hard. One morning in Philadelphia he was throwing so hard that he literally knocked the bat right out of my hands," he remembered, chuckling about the incident now.

He explained that they played several morning games in Philadelphia because "Connie Mack thought that if they had a morning game and then an afternoon game on the same day, he could charge two admissions."

To help preserve her husband's memories, Mrs. Combs has kept a scrapbook of his press clippings and mementoes. The giant scrapbook has clippings from his college days through his induction into the Hall of Fame. "He wouldn't have any keepsakes now if I hadn't done it all for him," Mrs. Combs said. "He gets embarrassed by a lot of attention being paid to him."

One of her prized possessions in the scrapbook is a get-well card from Lou Gehrig, sent to Combs when as a rookie with the Yankees, he broke his leg sliding into home plate to win a game.

After his retirement from playing, Combs coached for the Yankees awhile. "I quit three times," he laughed. "The last time I quit, I got fired, so I knew I had really quit that time." He coached briefly for Philadelphia and Boston, also.

When he returned home to Kentucky, he began raising cattle and tobacco on the farm. He rekindled a friendship with former semi-pro teammate Happy Chandler, Chandler, a former baseball commissioner, became governor after Combs returned to Kentucky, and appointed his former teammate commissioner of banking for 18 months. Former Gov. Chandler also appointed Combs to Eastern Kentucky University's Board of Regents, where he served from 1956 to the beginning of 1975.

One of Combs' fondest memories, he said, was being presented an honorary doctor's degree from his alma mater, Eastern, at the university's 1974 spring commencement.

Sitting in the farmhouse that looks like it came from the movie "Gone With The Wind," Combs proudly stated that throughout his baseball career, he had not been kicked out of a game. His wife chided him with, "You came very near it once, though." Combs laughed and recalled, "The umpire told me 'One more word and you're out of the ballgame.' I never said that one more word, though."

"The Country Gentleman" paused, and then laughed and said, "I don't guess Leo Durocher would think too much of me for that."

Permits Slump Again after Peak

Issuance of strip mine permits is decreasing during the early fall.

During the past 12 weeks, the division of reclamation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has issued an average of 24 permits a week. Compared to the 31-permits-per-week average during the late spring—April, May and June—the lower issuance indicates a declining coal market.

The slump began in July when a total of 108 permits were issued for the month. During the peak in June, 144 strip mine permits were issued.

Kenneth Ratliff, acting director of the division of reclamation, believes fewer small coal companies that would normally speculate on a rising coal market just aren't getting into it.

"Even some of the large companies," said Ratliff, "that can't find a market for coal have closed down and are waiting for the market to get better. When the coal market improves—probably in October or November—they'll work out their permitted areas and then apply for additional permits."

POLICEMAN'S 'LOOKS' CAUSE SUSPENSION

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa—A policeman was suspended here for violation of grooming standards.

Patrolman Michael Woodbury received a five-day suspension for wearing a choker necklace and wearing his hair too long.

It was the first suspension for grooming violations since the department instituted the standards last year. Woodbury, who has been with the department since January of 1974, said he would appeal the suspension.

SOUTH AFRICANS SAY URANIUM STORY WRONG

WASHINGTON—The embassy of South Africa said Monday that a Washington Post story (published in yesterday's Courier-Journal) was incorrect.

South Africa uses a process for enrichment of uranium developed in South Africa and does not depend on technology invented in other nations, the embassy said.

Dr. Bolaji Akinyemi of Nigeria had been quoted as believing West Germany was supplying a uranium enrichment process to South Africa.

From Dan to Beersheba

(First of a series of letters written by Cecil Van Hoose, of South Shore, Ky., describing the Holy Land as seen and experienced and felt during his tour of the land—from Dan to Beersheba—this year.—Ed.)

By CECIL VAN HOOSE
Jerusalem

Dear Sheba,

I will start this series of letters to you by telling you how I spent Independence Day in the Holy Land. A party of four of us, Father Joseph Gallagher, an Irishman from the "auld sod" serving in Manila, P. I., Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Mitchinson, English from New Zealand, and myself, a corn bread eater from Kentucky, also our guide, "Mike", an Armenian Christian.

Leaving Jerusalem we passed through the Damascus gate, taking the old Damascus road Paul walked on his way to persecute Christians. We passed thru Bethel, site of Jeroboam's golden calf, on past Shiloh, the center of worship in time of the judges. We stopped in Sychar at Jacob's well in Samaria and drank its cold and refreshing water, where Jesus himself drank from the sinful woman's pail, and where He gave her the Living Water she thirsted for. I got a bottle of it to take home with me.

We passed between Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim (the former Mount of Cursing, the latter Mount of Blessing). There is a natural amphitheater on the side of each mount where the people gathered to hear the blessing promised if they heeded the law, and the curses that would follow if they forsook it.

We passed thru Dothan where Joseph was sold by his jealous brethren to the Ishmelites and taken into Egypt and resold to Potifer, and on thru Jezreel where wicked Ahab and still more wicked Jezebel reigned and sinned, and where they met their just fate, the dogs licking Ahab's blood in Naiboth's vineyard, and gnawing Jezebel's bones in the palace yard.

We passed Nain on the right where Jesus raised the widow's son when He stopped the funeral procession. We next entered Nazareth, the sacred city where Jesus lived as a boy and as a young man. We spent some time there exploring the scenes Jesus knew and loved. I will write more of Nazareth in a future letter. I cannot do it justice in these few words.

We next passed thru Cana where Jesus performed his first miracle, turning water into wine at the wedding feast. We soon came to the Sea of Galilee, passing thru Magdala, the home of Mary Magdalene out of whom Jesus cast seven devils.

We continued on around the north end of Galilee to Capernaum, the home of Peter, the man who had grace enough to live with his mother-in-law. We viewed the ruins of this place that the Lord cursed. It is a shambles of wreckage of a once prosperous city.

We found a place near the lake and ate our lunch and rested before starting back to Jerusalem. After lunch I got my camera ready and pulled out the American flag I had brought from home and said to our party: "Today is our Independence Day, and I would like a picture of me holding the flag with the blue Galilee in the background." Mrs. Michinson, the English lady playfully assumed an injured air and said, "Put it away! Put it away!" I approached Father Gallagher and said: "Father Gallagher, I know you are a good rebel, will you snap my picture holding the flag?" With his broad Irish face beaming, the good father snapped my picture which happened to be black and white and the last one on the roll. I quickly put a roll of color film in and asked the Englishman to snap one of me in color. I knew I was bearding the lion in his den, but I had to show my patriotism on this day of independence, so he obliged with a grin.

We then started back to the Holy City by way of the beautiful Jordan Valley, but I will tell you of this in another letter. We arrived in Jerusalem at six thirty p.m. and found the city full of armed soldiers. A terrorist bomb had exploded in Zion Square, killing 13 and wounding 73 others. Such atrocities are beyond my ability to fathom. The Bible tells us to "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem." I wonder how many take this to heart? I, for one, have not prayed to this end as I should. But I will try and remember to now.

ARH President Harless Cites Hospital Services to Area

Appalachian Regional Hospitals' officials reported here recently that the non-profit health care system continued to demonstrate during the past year its ability to respond to the needs of the communities it serves.

Assessment of the year's activities were given in annual reports by James H. Harless, chairman of the ARH board of trustees, and President David K. Heydinger, M.D., at the board's 12th annual meeting at Jenny Wiley State Park. ARH operates 10 hospitals in Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Harless told the board that the past year "may be best remembered as the period during which the Board of Governors' concept was implemented."

Boards of governors were installed in five of the 10 community hospitals served by ARH, he said, and the remaining five boards should be formally instituted by the end of this year. The boards are replacing advisory councils.

"With this sharing of responsibilities between the system's board and the local boards of governors comes a promise that we can better respond to the health needs of the people we serve," Harless said.

Boards of governors have been formed at Harlan, Middlesboro, Hazard, Whitesburg, and South Williamson, all in Kentucky. Boards are now being selected for ARH hospitals at McDowell and the Morgan County Hospital at West Liberty, at Man and Beckley, in West Virginia, and at Wise, Va.

In his report to the board, Dr. Heydinger cited several examples of ARH's "continued sensitivity" for Central Appalachia's health care requirements.

He said ARH has converted extended care beds—for which demand has lessened—to acute care use in Hazard and to intermediate care in Middlesboro and Harlan.

Dr. Heydinger said the June Buchanan Clinic, opened at Hindman during the past year, is considered by ARH to be a model primary care center. Also opened last year was an emergency care center in Hazard that included intensive care-coronary care facilities.

"All ARH activities from improving physical facilities and equipment to providing employees with equitable wages and benefits," the president assured the board, "continue to have high quality patient care as their objective."

Reviewing the performance of the ARH system last year, Harless reported a 16.5 percent increase in out-patient service, a 14.7 per cent increase in emergency room service, and a 10 per cent increase in laboratory examinations. The hospital treated 42,151 in-patients, four percent more than the previous year, he said.

Harless said ARH spent $42 million—$22 million for wages and salaries—during the fiscal year ending last June 30 and had revenues of $41.5 million. A significant increase in expenses, he noted, was a 37 per cent jump in the cost of utilities.

The deficit of slightly more than $500,000, the chairman said, was the system's lowest since 1970 and was a considerable improvement when compared to the $2 million deficit the previous year.

Harless said a major factor in the deficit was the $2.4 million in "free care" the ARH system gave to those unable to pay for services. This is an increase of 25.1 per cent over the previous year.

The chairman said ARH, since its founding Oct. 1, 1963 has provided $13.6 million in "free care."

Mrs. Pearl Webb Wicker, widow of the late Dr. M. V. Wicker, Wayland, observed her 87th birthday, October 4, with a covered dish dinner at her home, with her four daughters attending, Mrs. Irma W. Haney, Vero Beach, Fla., Mrs. Shirley W. Myers, Wabasso, Fla., Mrs. Christine Stewart, Franklin, O., and Mrs. Imalee Spillman, of Wayland, and her sisters, Mrs. Mary Martin, Estill, Mrs. Byrd Wicker and Mrs. Jo Webb Martin, of Lackey. Others attending were J. T. Spillman, A. L. Myers, Wabasso, Fla., Carl Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stewart, Jr., son, Christopher and daughter, Martie, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stewart, sons, Terry, Wayne, David and Scott, and daughter, Tammie, Franklin, O., Mr. and Mrs. Dan P. Stewart, Morehead, Mrs. Shirley S. Sikes, son Tom and Mrs. Kay Stout, of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Don Carter, sons, Kevin, Timothy and Patrick and daughter, Kelly. Visiting in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Mabry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Martin, Mrs. J. Crit Wells,

Mrs. Orbin Childers and daughter, Joanna, Mrs. Charles Scott, daughters, Mary and Kathy, of Hindman, R. H. Wallace and Mrs. Willard Rader, of Lackey, Mrs. Jan Burke and daughters, Sherry and Elizabeth. Mrs. Wicker received many gifts, floral arrangements, cards and phone calls from other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wells, of Estill, gave a dinner party at May Lodge to honor Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Myers and Mrs. O. O. Haney, of Florida, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Spillman, of Wayland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Myers, of Wabasso, Florida, and Mrs. Irma W. Haney, of Vero Beach, Fla., have returned home after a visit with Mrs. M. V. Wicker.

NOTE OF THANKS

I want to take this means to thank everyone who sent flowers and cards or who called or helped me in any way during my past illness. I appreciate everything that was done for me.

BARBARA STUMBO

and your help.

Americans have a lot to thank God for. During this country's 200th birthday, we're often reminded of that. In other parts of the world, many people have not had our prosperity. Right now, in Asia, millions of them are starving to death. Floods and earthquakes have left others homeless and penniless — and family-less. The God we worship expects us to help them. Join with others at your local church or synagogue and help make this world — and this country — a better place.

Welcome God to America's bicentennial... practice what you pray.

Exceptional Children Topic of Oct. 17 Meet

Frankfort, Ky.—As many as 1,000 teachers and administrators from across Kentucky may be attending the 11th annual conference on programs for exceptional children, scheduled for Oct. 17-18 at the Executive Inn in Louisville. The exceptional child has been described as one who, for one or more reasons, is unable to benefit from the regular school-day routine.

The conference, sponsored by the state Department of Education's Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children, will be attended primarily by educators, but any interested person will be welcome.

Friday will be devoted primarily to workshops dealing with assessing learning and behavioral problems or with programs and practices which can be used in educating the exceptional child. This is the first year the workshops have been offered and, according to a bureau spokesman, "the response has been fantastic."

The workshops, which have already been expanded to accommodate more people, will provide information for which people have expressed a need. One workshop, for example, will deal with various aspects of educating exceptional children at the secondary level, reflecting the increased emphasis on this area.

On Saturday, participant may attend sessions on various subjects, according to their interests and needs. Several sessions will deal with "activities designed to help and encourage local school districts improve and expand their programs so that exceptional children can receive appropriate educational opportunities in the least restrictive alternative," said Dr. George Troutt Jr., bureau director. He added that "there will be sessions on how to integrate (mainstream) these children into appropriate activities with their peers."

The Saturday sessions will conclude with the keynote address by Dr. Edward Meyen, professor and chairperson of the Department of Special Education at the University of Kansas. His topic will be "In-service Training: The Only Alternative."

Special features of the conference will include a tour of the American Printing House for the Blind and a talent show presented by students from the Kentucky School for the Blind, Louisville, and the Kentucky School for the Deaf, Danville. Many conference visitors will also be interested in the exhibits of Title VI, ESEA Model Projects, which will be on display throughout the conference. People who work directly with these projects will be available to discuss them and new ideas for providing programs for exceptional children.

For further information, write to Carlene Gobert, Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children, Department of Education, West Frankfort Complex, Route 127 South, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or phone (502) 564-4970.

Let's Set the Record Straight for Martin

For the past eight years the Town of Martin has been moving forward. We are proud of the following accomplishments by the PROGRESSIVE TICKET and offer them for everyone's consideration:

1. We have exemplified sound and efficient fiscal responsibility for our town. We have not borrowed any money to promote our projects but have kept the town's business within its own means and income. We have spent money only as we have taken it in, and still we have been able to accomplish our goals and purposes.
2. We have not raised property taxes in the past eight years!
3. The town is in good financial condition and we are not in debt!
4. We initiated and procured funds for the present Federal Flood Control Project for Martin. We also raised the funds necessary for the preliminary channelization of this project, WITHOUT additional taxes.
5. We planned and worked zealously for the present Housing Project in downtown Martin for the elderly and disabled citizens of our town. It took several years of persistence and patience in working out this project with the Federal Government—BUT WE DID IT!
6. We secured the right-of-way to Bridge Street and elevated the road above flood level, which was a vast improvement for that part of our town.
7. We are paving our streets and building new sidewalks in town, which has helped substantially to improve appearances and conveniences for our citizens. Furthermore, the Floyd Fiscal Court has never provided any money for streets or roads in Martin.
8. We improved our law enforcement and protection of our town when the present city policeman, Herschel Lester, was hired several years ago. Mr. Lester is a very popular and respected law officer with all age groups of our community.
9. We have SUPPORTED and will continue to SUPPORT progress in our school system for our Martin Elementary School. With the addition of a new P. E. building and gymnasium, we shall continue to fight for the complete renovation of our old High School building.
10. We supported and gave needed funding to the renovation of our athletic field. A new backstop, seats for spectators and a new fence, all were installed to improve the present facility.
11. We have supported and will continue to support and donate to our Martin Little League, Babe Ruth League and Ladies' and Girls' Softball League.
12. We have improved cleanliness and sanitation in our town.

Some Past Accomplishments by Mayor E.P. Grigsby and the Progressive Ticket from 1951-1955 and the Present Administration of 1967-1975:

1. Bought the FIRST FIRE TRUCK for Martin at a cost of $14,000, with no extra taxes or assessments from citizens.
2. Bought land and built the present City Hall at a cost of $16,000, with no extra taxes or assessments from citizens. This also included a better and more modern jail for prisoners.
3. Installed all the present modern street lights in Martin, with the exception of one that the Independents installed.
4. Bought one new and one used Fire Truck at a cost of $20,000, also bought land and built a new addition to Town Hall for the fire trucks at a cost of $6,000.
5. Reduced fire insurance rates up to 50 pct. by purchasing the fire trucks and organizing the volunteer fire department.

Floyd To Receive $38,108 For 'Off Systems' Road Work

Floyd county will share in the new federal "off systems" road program designed to assist local government in improving roads not otherwise eligible for federal aid. The county's apportionment is $38,108.83.

Gov. Julian Carroll said state Department of Transportation Secretary John Roberts has sent letters to county judges inviting them to explanatory meetings. The meetings are scheduled at highway bureau district offices during the two-week period which began Oct. 6.

Kentucky's share of federal funds authorized by the Federal Aid Highway

Amendments of 1974 amounts to $3,557,480.

Gov. Carroll said this money is being apportioned to the counties by the same formula used to distribute county road aid and rural secondary funds. The largest share is that of Pike county—$64,548; the smallest, Robertson county's $10,816.

The federal act allows 70 per cent for acceptable projects. The remaining 30 per cent of cost must be supported by other means.

Gov. Carroll said, "I recognize the limited resources and tight budget that restricts the ability of many county governments to come up with a substantial part of the cost of these projects. I have directed Secretary John Roberts to examine the possibility of using state road-aid funds for matching money when that is necessary."

Projects ultimately selected by state and local officials will be accomplished through the normal operations of the Bureau of Highways. Deputy Highway Commissioner Otto Ingram has been assigned responsibility for development and implementation of the program.

"Any road work that meets federal and state tests—including eligibility as an 'off-system' road—will be acceptable in this program," Roberts said. "However, we expect to urge local officials to give first attention to bridges and blacktop projects."

Gov. Carroll said, "This is a substantial addition to the work that can be done on local roads in Kentucky this fiscal year. I urge county officials to react quickly but carefully in recommending projects to the Bureau of Highways. The success of the 'off-system' road program will depend on the wisdom of their choices."

Allocation made to other area counties:

Boyd, $18,728.29; Breathitt, $32,658.60; Carter, $33,167.61; Clay, $34,751.27; Elliott, $19,199.22; Greenup, $29,312.76; Johnson, $25,516.41; Knott, $26,787.55; Lawrence, $28,483.51; Leslie, $27,138.47; Letcher, $29,559.33; Magoffin, $23,758.02; Martin, $18,725.42; Menifee, $16,278.49; Morgan, $26,895.06; Perry, $29,121.33; Rowan, $22,835.20; Wolfe, $18,393.78.

BONN—More than 120,000 West Germans belong to the Judo Association, six times the 1966 membership. About 20 per cent are women.

Scutchfield Named Dean

Dr. Frank Douglas Scutchfield has been named associate dean for Academic Affairs in the College of Community Health Sciences at the University of Alabama.

(Dr. Scutchfield is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Beecher L. Scutchfield, of Martin.)

He will continue to serve as chairman of the Division of Family and Community Medicine, a position he has held since November, 1974, until other arrangements are made for the administration of that division.

As associate dean for Academic Affairs, Dr. Scutchfield will exercise general administrative supervision and coordination of the academic programs of the college, including continuing education, allied health, nursing and Family Practice Center programs.

He will also continue teaching residents and students in the College of Community Health Sciences.

Dr. Scutchfield, a native of Wheelwright, received his B.S. degree from Eastern Kentucky State University and his M.D. from the University of Kentucky Medical Center, where he was an associate professor in the Department of Community Medicine prior to going to the University of Alabama.

TO THE CITIZENS OF MARTIN:

We would like to take this opportunity to clarify our position as related to the Water and Sewer Commission in our town. Since 1957 The Town Council lost control over the Martin Water Commission. A decision handed down at that time by the Court of Appeals, declared that a 3 man Water Commission would be established and the commission would operate independently from the jurisdiction of The City Council. The court established the terms of these commissioners as 6, 4, and 2 years with the 2 remaining commissioners selecting the new commissioner. Under this system it is possible for the commission to continually stay in office. The Water Commission, by law and statute, is solely responsible for the WATER and SEWER systems in our town.

The Mayor and Town Council are not responsible and do not control the activities and decisions of The Martin Water Commission.

Thank you.

Region 11 Cited as Example Of Regionalization Success

By some standards Kentucky may rank 49th in education based on per pupil expenditures, but the state's management of available revenue has attracted national attention, according to Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, state superintendent of public instruction.

Dr. Ginger points to the regional organization for educational services (often referred to as ROPES), and cites Region 11, centered in Floyd county, as an example of the program's success.

Ginger explained that in 1972 the formation of the Kentucky Education Development Regions divided the state into 17 geographic areas. Through this systematic delivery of state services to the local level, tax dollars were stretched further and Kentucky's students were provided with better school programs.

By making use of regionalization, a small school that otherwise could not afford a driver's education class, for instance, can share costs of the course with neighboring schools in a similar financial situation. Kentucky's school systems have continued to develop this idea in such areas as special education and the purchasing of supplies.

Although two regions (Jefferson and Fayette counties) remain inoperative, Ginger noted that the program is two years ahead of schedule. "I think the achievement in those regions is nothing short of phenomenal," he said.

Ginger's enthusiasm for the regions is also voiced by William Birdwell, state director of the program. He explained that one answer for regionalization's success lies in the fact that whereas public education previously relied on about 10 different geographic locations for handling state programs, now there is only one. And, more important, independent districts with a common interest are working cooperatively instead of at odds, the better to educate children in the communities.

Birdwell said that while the regions primarily were set up to improve state services to the local districts, school superintendents now also have a greater influence on education in Kentucky. All superintendents whose districts participate in regionalization serve on a board along with local collegiate, vocational education and manpower personnel and someone from the state Department of Education.

While these professionals usually meet as a group every month, the day-to-day activities of regionalization are coordinated by a small staff. For instance, Reo Johns directs Region 11, an area composed of Floyd, Magoffin, Johnson, Martin, and Pike counties. The region is composed of seven school districts with more than 36,000 pupils.

Johns said that the region has not implemented cooperative purchasing except in a few isolated incidences. He suggested that since the area was especially large and very mountainous, supplies would be more difficult to transport from one location to another, as opposed to the flat areas in Western Kentucky where most regions use cooperative bidding to a greater extent.

Johns said the region had purchased a school bus safety film to instill in the students a knowledge of possible tragic consequences from horseplay during bus rides. He said that teachers had observed that discipline on school buses had greatly improved since the film's introduction.

Region 11 employs a special education consultant to organize inservice workshops, select teaching materials and plan next units. The consultant also works with a parent advisory council. Johns added that the number of special education teachers in the region had recently increased from 34 to 60.

Several Eastern Kentucky educators help Johns in continuing to improve school programs. Among those serving on Region 11's board of directors are several superintendents, including Charles Clark, Floyd county; Charles Spears, Pikeville independent; Harold Whittaker, Magoffin county; Sheldon Clark, Martin county; James Dotson, Pike county; Oran Teater, Paintsville independent, and Orville Hamilton, Johnson county.

The board membership is completed by Dr. Henry Campbell, Prestonsburg Community College; Escrom Chandler, Regional Vocational Advisory Council; O. T. Dorton, Big Sandy Area Development District; James Reed, Economic Security; Dr. Kenneth Hanson, Eastern Kentucky University; Dr. John Duncan, Morehead State University, and Dr. Curtis Phipps, State Department of Education.

Communiques Help Veterans

Each of the 50,000 men and women leaving military service every month can expect at least five Veterans Administration communications within six months of their separation date, the agency noted today.

Upon notification by the Department of Defense of termination of active duty under conditions other than dishonorable, the VA tells the new veteran of his eligibility for benefits.

The veteran is urged to contact the nearest VA regional office or a representative of a veterans' service organization for complete application procedures.

Separate communications are sent to veterans providing them with GI Loan Certificates of Eligibility for homes, condominiums and mobile homes and also information on insurance and educational programs.

Six months after release from the military, veterans receive a follow-up VA letter, again reviewing the veterans' benefits timetable. Particular emphasis is given to those benefits which require application within a year of separation.

—Register with local state employment service office. Veterans have up to one year to apply for unemployment compensation, but applications filed after a long period of unemployment could result in a lower rate of unemployment compensation.

—Within 10 days, if previously registered with Selective Service, report address through local board.

—Within 90 days, apply to former employer for re-employment.

—In 120 days, (up to one year if totally disabled) convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to five-year Veterans Group Life Insurance.

—Within one year from date of notice of VA rating on disability, apply to VA for special National Service Life Insurance based on service-connected disability, if applicable.

—Within one year, apply to VA for dental care.

—As soon as possible, apply to VA for GI education or training, which must be completed within 10 years of separation from military service.

There are no time limits for veterans to:

—Apply for GI loan guaranty to buy, build or improve a home.

—File claim with VA for compensation for service-connected disabilities or disease, or apply for hospital care.

—Seek assistance from local state employment offices in finding work or entering Labor Department job-training programs.

Seven Conservation Workshops Planned

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has announced that Kentucky's 3,000 manufacturers will soon be receiving invitations to seven regional energy conservation workshops designed to prepare Kentucky industries for an environment in which interstate supplies of natural gas for industrial uses may be unavailable by 1980.

"The increasing shortages of natural gas for industry make conservation an absolute must for Kentucky manufacturers," Gov. Carroll said. "The seminars will educate our industries on methods of conserving energy and use of alternate fuels."

According to Kentucky Energy Commissioner Damon Harrison, the sessions, which are a joint undertaking of the Energy Department and the University of Kentucky College of Engineering, are "only the beginning of a broad, continuing conservation program which will involve government, schools, hospitals, businesses and the general public."

"A top priority of the energy department is to keep Kentucky industry operating so that people will have jobs," he said. "This can only be accomplished if industrial firms install adequate standby facilities for alternate fuels and conserve in every way possible, particularly in the use of natural gas."

Program participants will include engineering specialists from the university, representatives of utilities serving each area where the seminars are held and officers of firms which have already established effective conservation programs.

Harrison said that specific locations have not been set in each city where the workshops will be held, but they will begin in Lexington on Oct. 28. Other workshops are scheduled for Louisville, Oct. 30; Covington, Nov. 5; Ashland, Nov. 11; Somerset, Nov. 13; Bowling Green, Nov. 19; and in Paducah on Nov. 20.

The department will also sponsor a "Focusing on Energy" conference in January at Lexington, with primary emphasis on improving the energy efficiency of buildings. That conference will be co-sponsored by the UK Office of Continuing Education and aimed primarily at architects and consulting engineers. The conference will cover information useful in designing buildings more efficiently.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to acknowledge our appreciation to those who helped during the illness and passing of our loved one, Henry Lafferty.

Thank you to Dr. Cox and Dr. Holbrook and their nursing staff, Dr. James D. Adams, Judy, Betty, and Helen, for their kindness upon each visit. Thank you to Mrs. Viola Hurd for the use of the hospital bed. Words cannot express our deep appreciation for it. Thank you to all the family, friends, and neighbors for their daily visits and prayers. They will always be remembered. To those who brought food and flowers, we thank you. Also to the Trimbleaires for their beautiful singing.

Thank you to the Revs. Charlie Rowe and Bill Campbell for their comforting words. Also to Larry Burke and the Floyd Funeral Home for their efficient service and kindness and concern.

East Kentucky Paving Among Firms Threatened with Penalty

Three companies which were recently fined $10,000 in a highway bid-rigging conspiracy could be barred from bidding on federal-aid road work for as long as three years, Federal Highway Administration officials said last week.

The firms are East Kentucky Paving Corporation, of Grayson, Hoover, Inc., Nashville, Tenn., and Standard Slag Co., Youngstown, Ohio.

Livingston Taylor reported developments in the case in The Courier-Journal:

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts said later that barring the firms from bidding on projects financed wholly by the state also is a possibility.

Standard Slag, a materials supplier rather than a prime contractor, is not on the qualified bidders' list and might not be subject to being barred.

Although a criminal case against the three firms and five other defendants was settled last month, all eight still face federal civil suits for double damages, a total of $1.23 million, arising from the alleged bid rigging.

Roberts said the state also may file suit to recover its 10 per cent share of costs added to an interstate highway project by the defendants' alleged conspiracy.

The criminal case was disposed of Sept. 3 at Catlettsburg before federal Judge H. David Hermansdorfer, following negotiations between the U. S. attorney's office and the defendants.

After East Kentucky Paving, Hoover, Inc. and Standard Slag changed their pleas from not guilty to no contest, the U. S. attorney's office moved that the conspiracy charge be dismissed against the other five defendants.

Hermansdorfer accepted the changes of plea and the motion for dismissals. He then fined East Kentucky Paving, Hoover Inc., and Standard Slag the maximum of $10,000 and $35 costs, each.

The conspiracy charge that was dismissed concerned Hot-Mix, Inc., Nashville; Eph Hoover Jr. Antioch, Tenn., principal owner of Hoover, Inc. and Hot-Mix; Jack E. Ruth, Georgetown, president of East Kentucky Paving; John Jenkins, Nashville, vice president of Hoover, Inc., and Robert S. Jones, North Ridgeville, Ohio, sales manager of Standard Slag.

Asked why the government agreed to the dismissals, Assistant U. S. Atty. James Cook said in an interview, "We concluded that the three who entered the (no contest) pleas were those responsible for the violations . . . and by their entry of pleas the purpose of the prosecution had been satisfied."

The Eastern District of Kentucky court docket is one of the most crowded in the federal system and Hermansdorfer commended the parties for the settlement.

"It has saved the court untold time which can be devoted to other pressing matters," Hermansdorfer said, according to court records.

The eight defendants were indicted in 1973 by a federal grand jury at Lexington. The indictment charged that:

—Hot-Mix, low bidder in 1969 on an I-64 construction project in Rowan and Carter counties, agreed to withdraw its low bid by claiming it contained errors, and to not re-bid the project.

The Kentucky Department of Highways, relying on Hot-Mix's false statements, allowed the low bid of $2,219,664 to be withdrawn.

—East Kentucky Paving increased its own bid by $181,630 on the second bidding, but was still low bidder and was awarded the contract.

Kentucky Road Oiling Co., Georgetown, of which Ruth is part owner, and The Allen Co., Winchester, also submitted "inflated" bids in the second bidding as part of the scheme to generate excess profits, the indictment charged.

—Hoover was rewarded for having Hot-Mix removed from the bidding through a series of "sham" stone-hauling contracts on four I-64 and US 60 construction projects in Rowan, Carter and Boyd counties.

—Through Standard Slag, Hoover, Inc., was hired to haul stone for the projects. According to a companion civil suit, Hoover, Inc., sub-contracted for actual hauling for $502,475, but was paid $938,558, a difference of $436,083.

The civil suit, filed last Aug. 20 by the U. S. attorney's office, alleges that the conspiracy had the effect of boosting the cost of the I-64 project by $684,130—the difference between Hot-Mix's initial low bid and East Kentucky's successful low bid in the second bidding.

The federal government's 90 per cent share is $615,717 and the suit seeks damages of twice that amount.

State Transportation Secretary Roberts said that, after hearing of the three firms' changed pleas, he wrote the FHWA on Sept. 8 inquiring about possible actions against the three companies.

The state will take "appropriate action," but "we wish to see what further consequences will ensue from FHWA interest before coming to a decision about Kentucky's interest," Roberts said in a statement released last week.

The FHWA can bar individual company officials as well as companies from future bidding, an FHWA attorney said. However, because the individuals were not convicted in this case they would have the right of a hearing if any FHWA sanctions are proposed against them.

The I-64 affair involving Hoover has marked similarities to a 1970 incident in which another out-of-state contractor underbid Kentucky contractors on an East Kentucky project but wound up not getting the job.

In 1970, J. D. Barter Construction Co., Harrisburg, Ill., was low bidder on three US 23-460 projects in Floyd county. However, then Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss rejected the bids and the work eventually went to a Kentucky firm.

Later that year, Barter and a sub-contractor in the rejected bids, Mattingly Bridge Co., Louisville, filed a $4 million conspiracy suit in Franklin Circuit Court against Ruth, then president of the Kentucky Association of Highway Contractors, and others.

In a deposition, Goebel Mattingly of the bridge firm claimed that a group of Kentucky contractors had offered to put up $300,000 if Mattingly and Barter would get out and stay out of the bidding. However, others denied the $300,000 offer.

The Barter-Mattingly suit is still pending.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Mrs. Clara H. Stephens and Maurice Allen, social workers in the Floyd county school system, recently attended the annual state Kentucky Association of Pupil Personnel Workers Conference held in Lexington at the Hospitality Motor Inn. Guest speakers were Dr. Jack R. Frymier, Ohio State University College of Education, and Col. Sherman Ragland, director of the Race Relations Institute at Walter Reed Hospital.

Akers-Stumbo

Mr. and Mrs. Otis K. Akers, of Ivel, announce the engagement of their daughter, Pamela, to Mr. Kenneth Ray Stumbo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stumbo, of Harold. Mr. Stumbo is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School and is employed by the Greer Construction Company. A February wedding is planned.

PORTER CHRYSLER PRODUCTS PROUDLY PRESENTS THE CHRYSLERS AND PLYMOUTH FOR '76!

Cordoba.

The small Chrysler.
So very luxurious, so suprisingly affordable. And every bit a Chrysler. Chrysler Cordoba for '76. See it now.

Chrysler New Yorker.

It's the talk of the town.
Here is a car with elegant styling and comfort. A car backed by a long heritage of Chrysler engineering excellence. All at a New Yorker price.

Feather Duster.

Light on gas. Large on room.
In E.P.A. tests, Feather Duster with optional Overdrive-4 transmission got 24 mpg in the city and a remarkable 36 mpg on the highway! E.P.A. results are estimates; your actual mileage may differ depending on how and where you drive, the condition of your car and its optional equipment. But one thing is sure, Feather Duster is light on gas! Yet it has room for 5 people, too!

Fury.

Not too large, not too small. It's just right for '76.
The '76 Fury gives you the economy of a mid-size car. But it seats six, like a full-size car, without the full-size car price. Beautiful!

Another Look at Tom T. Hall And the Spell Woven by His Songs

By GEORGE L. MOORE

The thing that surprises me most about Tom T. Hall's songs is how well informed a great number of people think they are about the characters.

Recently, I talked with a couple who had been on a long trek on their vacation. The woman said that she had a cousin that belonged to the Harper Valley P.T.A. Her old man nodded his head and added, "We visited the school building and I rested on the very steps that the woman walked over when she went in to sock it to the Harper Valley P.T.A."

Another informant said, "I reckon everybody knows he was talking about the school at Carter City. There were more people who knew the Little Lady Preacher at the Limestone church and Old Luther Short than any other characters. (Those who are familiar with Tom T. Hall's songs will recall that Old Luther Short was the principal character in the hit song, "The Little Lady Preacher at the Limestone Church.") Tom T. described him as that hairy-legged soul cast out in sin. One lady told me that she was absolutely sure that the Little Lady Preacher was Old Simon Brown's girl. A closer investigation revealed that Old Simon Brown had no girl members of his family.

On my way to Olive Hill I picked up a hitchhiker at Limestone. He looked me over and said, "Did you ever know Old Luther Short?" I told him that I never knew him. He said, "Well, you ort to, he was born and raised right here in Limestone." Another man had told me that Old Luther grew up at Lawton and still another had him domiciled on the head of Mocabee Creek. On one point they all agreed: Old Luther was the Lochinvar of the Tygart Valley. He had a way with women that no man has had, before or since.

In listening to the various accounts told about his romantic adventures, one is reminded of these lines from Kipling's poem:

I've taken my fun where I've found it,
I've rouged and I've ranged in my time;

I've had my picken of sweethearts
And four of the lot was prime.
One was an art cast widow,
One was a woman at Promé,
One was a wife of a jimadas-sois,
And one was a girl at home.

Evidently the Little Lady preacher at the Limestone Church was the girl at home. After hearing the various accounts of his activities, I am not surprised that this hairy-legged soul would skip the country with the Little Lady Preacher and leave her old man and Old T. holding the bag as they stood there in the studio that day.

My passenger talked on as we rode on into Olive Hill. He said, "I know that you knowed Old Bad-Eye Thompson." Again my answer was no. He said, "If I'm not mistaken, he was with yore brother the night they shot up the church house."

In one last effort to see if I were totally ignorant, my companion said, "That was a good one that Old Tom T. made up about Romonie. He told about her mother but he never said a thing about Old Crunch. Everybody thought that Old Crunch was her father but if ye ask me I'd say there is no tellin' who her pa was. Her mother use to drive one of them little yaller buses."

You have to grow up on the farm and work with animals to really appreciate the song, "Who Is Going To Feed Them Hogs?" I recently played the recording to an old-timer. He said, "I know exactly who that was—it was Old Ben Stegall. Old Ben did come down with a liver ailment and had to be taken to the hospital. The reason his wife couldn't feed them hogs, she had the female misery and couldn't do nothin! There is one thing shore, Old Ben hain't never had 400 hogs, he must have meant 40."

The characters in his later songs are somewhat harder to identify. Although it must have been more than half century since Old Coot Marsilles lived down in Mississippi, I have every confidence that I will run across someone who use to live right beside him and who sat up far into the night listening to him as he played his guitar.

It is wonderful what the imagination can do. Henry David Thoreau, the great American writer and philosopher, never

Program on Cancer, Pollution Scheduled On CBS, October 15th

CBS will present an hour-long special, "The American Way of Cancer," Oct. 15 at 10 p.m. This documentary will show how cancer-causing agents in food, air, water and at the work-place appear to be the cause of most human cancers. This could be the first realization by many Americans that cancer is an environmental disease. The special may help dramatize the need for Congress to pass a strong Toxic Substances Control Act.

Whether or not we approve we are all governed by laws. Laws that control practically every aspect of our lives.

For example: in order to have friends, we need to be governed by laws. You don't think so? Well, there is a very important law that is essential to friendship. It is the law of association.

Two people can live next door to each other become the greatest of friends. One moves far away. For months they correspond. Gradually they lose contact. One day they come to the realization that they haven't heard from each other in years. What happened? The old unchanging law of association was broken.

Well, maybe you can't really call it a law, but association is the greater part of friendship.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: Go often to the house of your friend lest weeds grow up in the path.

Former Mine Productive

Harvesting and stomping time have come and gone for the grapes that were grown on a reclaimed Kentucky strip mine. Now it's time to sit back and wait until the grapes ferment.

Although the question now is what kind of wine the grape juices will produce it won't be answered until its quality is determined after the aging process.

According to Larry Springate who is in charge of revegetation for the division of reclamation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection the grape vines were grown on a Falcon Coal Co. strip mine in Breathitt county on an experimental basis. He said "This summer was the third growing season for the grapes. In early August men from the company's reclamation section picked more than two tons of grapes."

"About two years ago," said Springate, "Bill Oliver, who's a native of Hazard, came up with the idea of growing grapes on the top of an Eastern Kentucky mountain which had been strip-mined. Oliver, who owns a winery in Bloomington, Ind., suggested the idea to officials of Falcon Coal Co., which chiefly uses the mountain top removal method of mining."

When Falcon decided to cultivate the unique form of reclamation in 1973, 2½ acres of vines were planted and 2½ more were planted last year. After being cut back the first year, the vines were allowed to grow last year and this year, producing a small harvest at the end of the season.

The reclaimed mountain strip mine is a good area for a prospective vineyard for various reasons, including soil content, climate and location.

When the land was being reclaimed, 100 feet of material was put between bedrock and the surface. Because the land has been mined, the soil—containing shale and sandstone that is broken and crushed—allows the roots to penetrate into the ground.

The southeastern Kentucky mountain climate and location suits the growing of grapes. The location high above the frost line protects the grapes from frost damage occurring in the low spots. A lack of humidity is another advantage of the elevation. The resulting free air movement keeps the grapes dry and protects them from disease.

"Our regulations—which call for grasses, legumes and, in some cases, trees—don't designate other types of vegetation, such as grapes," Springate continued, "but the division encourages coal companies to experiment with different kinds of approved plants. Our objective is to establish vegetative cover as soon as possible to prevent erosion and to stabilize the area. However, at the same time we're interested in making the highest land use possible."

Another coal firm which has initiated vegetation not usually approved by regulations is Peabody Coal Co. in Western Kentucky. The company's reclamation section there has seeded continuous wheat on a selected area rather than permanent grasses to determine if it would be economically feasible for strip mined areas. Springate added, "Since these are the exceptions rather than the rule, we usually approve the project on an individual basis. It's not only to the division's benefit, but also to the coal operator's benefit for him to write and request approval on experimental vegetation. With these advancements and enforcement of revegetation requirements, surface-mined land could have tremendous potential for future land use."

Weeksbury Cleanup, Festival Sponsored By Community Club

The Weeksbury Community Club and the Weeksbury-Melvin Youth Action Club sponsored a joint clean-up at the "Y" in Weeksbury, September 29. Those participating were Barry Tackett, Robin Humphrey, Dena Tackett, Debra Smith, Dennis Mullett, Gordon Mullett, Tim Thornsby, Anna Hall, Carol Hall, Lynn Johnson, and Peggy Bradford.

A fall festival was also held, October 4. The festival included such events as a bicycle race, track and field activities and various games. Winners of the bicycle races were Ronnie Little and Bobby Johnson. Both groups extend their deepest gratitude to all those who donated their time, prizes and money to make the event a success. Money received from the festival will be used for community development projects.

Free sewing classes are being held each Tuesday at 12 noon at the Weeksbury Community Center. Beginning and intermediate sewing students are urged to attend.

The Handicraft Club also meets twice monthly on Monday nights.

All citizens of Weeksbury are urged to participate in the community development projects and to attend the community meetings each Thursday night at 7:00 p.m.

Harlan Fuel Co. To Bar Pollution At $70,000 Cost

Harlan Fuel Co. has agreed to spend $70,000 on pollution control, in addition to paying the state $15,000 in damages, as a result of action taken by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (NREP).

In an agreed order signed recently by John S. Hoffman, NREP secretary, the Harlan Fuel Co. agreed to complete renovations to prevent black water spills at its coal preparation plant Yancey by mid-November. The controls—planned by J. W. Miller & Associates Mining Engineers of Charleston, W. Va.—are estimated to cost $70,000 and have been adopted by Harlan Fuel. NREP approved a copy of the plan on July 31.

Harlan Fuel Co. was purchased in mid-March by the Getchell Mining Corp. At that time, charges of violating state water pollution regulations by allowing black water and coal solids into Slaters Ford and failure to report the discharges were already pending against the company.

The new management engaged a consulting engineer to study the coal preparation plant at Yancey to develop plans to prevent further violations of state environmental regulations.

MINNIE NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Collins, of Minnie, recently spent a vacation traveling through five states, sight seeing and visiting relatives. They visited their son, Paul and family in Jefferson, Ohio, and while there observed their 43rd wedding anniversary at the home of Charles Hamilton. They spent a day with their grandson, Terry Michael Hall, in Ashtabula, O., where Mr. Collins and Terry observed their birthdays, and were dinner guests of Verna Lynn Collins, a granddaughter. Their daughter and son-in-law, Pauline and Hezzie Hall, took them to New York, where they visited Niagara Falls and Canada. On their way home they stopped in Ravenswood, W. Va., for a visit with Mr. Collins' brother, Clint.

In Medical Sciences Program

Garland Scott (center), University of Kentucky College of Medicine student and director of the SAMA Summer Program, talks to Carl E. Steels (left), of Betsy Layne, and Jolene Crawford, of Melvin, about a laboratory device used at the UK Albert B. Chandler Medical Center.

Two Floyd county young people have spent this summer working and learning at the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, University of Kentucky, as part of the "Summer in Medical Sciences" program conducted by the UK chapter of the Student American Medical Association (SAMA).

Carl E. Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steele, Route 1, Betsy Layne, and Jolene Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delzie Crawford, Melvin, participated in the program to introduce Appalachia, inner-city minority and black youths to career opportunities in health professions. The students worked at the UK University Hospital and the Cooper Drive Veteran's Administration Hospital.

Designed to provide students a working-learning experience, the eight-week project offered health care exposure in the fields of nursing, respiratory and physical therapy, kidney dialysis and many allied health professional fields. The students also received orientation in the professions of medicine, dentistry, pharmacy and nursing.

Knott County Grocery Out of Stamp Program

Atlanta, Ga.—A Knott county, Ky. food store—the Nettie Hall Grocery, of Topmost—has been removed from the federal good stamp program for one year because of violations, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

The store, which is owned by Mrs. Nettie Hall, was disqualified for one year, starting Oct. 6. It had been charged with redeeming food coupons accepted in violation of the food stamp regulations.

Robert L. Cunningham, in charge of the Prestonsburg field office of the Food and Nutrition Service, explained that the store will not be allowed to accept food coupons during the disqualification period. Cunningham added that food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food. The only exceptions, he said, are garden seed and plants to be used to produce food.
