

Dull Drive For Votes Nears End

Local Races May Provide Interest In Nov. 4 Polling

Another dull election campaign was drawing to its close this week, with city races supplying most of the interest in this county, despite a full slate of candidates for state office from both major political parties.

Beginning with railroad commissioner and ranging on through the offices of state senator, representative, commonwealth's attorney and circuit court clerk, Democratic nominees in this county are unopposed except in the case of Lowell Hughes, Democrat, who is opposed in the 25th senatorial district by Ronald B. Halleck, Republican. Two Floyd precincts, Cliff and Little Paint are in that district.

The state slate of candidates includes: For Governor—Robert E. "Bob" Gable (R) and Julian M. Carroll (D), the incumbent; lieutenant-governor—Shirley W. Palmer-Ball (R) and Thelma L. Stovall (D); secretary of state—Huda Jones (R) and Drexell "Drex" Davis (D); auditor of public accounts—Richard T. "Dick" Combs (R) and George L. Atkins (D); state treasurer—Larry S. Perkins (R) and Frances Jones Mills (D); superintendent of public instruction—James M. Taylor, Sr. (R) and Dr. James B. Graham (D); commissioner of agriculture—J. Robert (Bob) Miller (R) and Tom Harris (D); clerk of the Court of Appeals—Joseph E. Lambert (R) and Martha Layne Collins (D).

Voters also will decide the fate of two constitutional amendments. Amendment No. 1 is known as the Judicial Amendment to restructure the state's court system. The second is to include property exempt from taxation real property maintained as the permanent residence of the owner who is 65 years old, or older, up to the assessed valuation of $6,500.

This Town...That World

Red, White and Blue Day worked its magic again. For the sixth year in a row October's "bright blue weather" prevailed, and the spirit of the occasion caught most of us. And surrounding all the color of the parade was the coat of many colors of the late October hills.

WITH A CUD, OF COURSE

George Brown tells of hearing the merits and demerits of chewin' tobacco discussed by some of the fellows gathered here the other day in a sidewalk forum. It was at the point of developing into an old-fashioned jawin' match when one of the fellows was criticized for his use of the weed. But another plumb snatched away the bone of contention when he mildly asked:

"How do you think the Reds won the World Series?"

THE BARGAIN-HUNTER

I have more trouble with hats. If I wear one, it takes on an irreparable slouch which is so slouchy that it never is through mistake taken by anybody, not even at church. Then, again, I am so unobservant of details of dress that I get into trouble. I have never been asked again what anybody wore at any function since the time when I remarked that I was certain the lady in the question wore a dress.

This hat of mine, I left it behind when I visited the old home on Salt Lick, a few weeks back. No problem, I would pick it up, next time there. Well, last Thursday I went back, and they were having a yard sale. Dresses, coats, dishes, and so on. Mrs. Bee Bailey showed me the array.

Mayor Sets Rules For Trick-or-Treat

Witches may be abroad, and goblins may make the evening eerie, but in Prestonsburg for "Trick or Treat," tomorrow evening (Thursday) they may not be more than 12 years of age and their covens must disperse by 9 p.m.

Rules governing Halloween-time were stated in a proclamation issued by Mayor William O. Goebel at the request of various groups. He pointed out that:

Trick-or-Treat is limited to one night only, Thursday, Oct. 30; no person above the age of 12 will be permitted to wear a mask of any kind, and a curfew of 9 p.m. will be in effect for all engaged in Trick-or-Treat celebration.

Auxiliary police will join the regular police force in patrolling Prestonsburg during the evening.

RESPLENDENT in authentic, American Revolutionary War period uniforms, the Bicentennial Color Guard of the 101st Airborne of Fort Campbell, Ky. added to the color and patriotic spirit of the Red, White and Blue Day parade. Other military personnel in contrasting modern-day dress are in background.

Thousands Under Clear Skies Witness 6th Patriotic Parade

Saturday's Red, White and Blue Day was blessed by the same, almost ideal weather that has characterized the event each year since the original celebration six years ago, and, as in years past, Red, White and Blue Day 1975 was bigger and more impressive than the preceding year's observance.

Thousands of people from Floyd, surrounding counties and a number of neighboring states crowded Prestonsburg to witness the area's special salute to America. Mrs. Marcella Bailey, of Maytown, founder of the observance, said the attendance this year was clearly greater than in years past. Generally clear skies and balmy temperatures enhanced the day's activities, and rain, which had been predicted for the day, interrupted only the final minutes of the square dance late Saturday night.

Preceding the two-hour-long parade which customarily highlights the day were oldtime country and gospel music groups performing at the municipal parking lot, including the Morgan county band of Linville Ball, as well as a group of American Indians selling crafts from a genuine tee-pee in the same area. The day was officially opened by the singing of the National Anthem by the Prestonsburg high school chorus under the direction of Mrs. Carlos Haywood, the Pledge of Allegiance and flag-raising. At noon, the honorary speaker for the day, the Rev. Oddvar Berg, addressed a large group gathered in the municipal parking lot on the topic, "What's Right With America." Berg, widely-known minister and lecturer, and native of Sweden, pointed out facts and statistics illustrating the great prosperity and affluence of the average American as compared with the lot of citizens of other nations.

Twenty-five floats, military units, eight marching bands, Oleika and El Hasa Shriners, and dozens of groups of majorettes, cheerleaders, Scout troops and school representatives featured this

Lake Drawdown Date Uncertain As Work Begun

Although preliminary work toward the dredging project in Brandy Keg Cove of Dewey Lake where the Jenny Wiley boat dock is located has already been started, no definite date for the lowering of the lake level has been set by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Dropping of the lake level is necessary for the dredging work which is planned to remove 12,000 cubic yards of silt from the bottom of the harbor.

It was said that a continued sedimentation study being made at the lake has delayed an announcement of a definite date for lowering the water. State Parks had understood the date would be Nov. 1, but no such date has yet been set.

The contractor on the harbor project has begun work on access to the scene of operations and to moving the dock. All boats and structures in the water must be moved for the dredging.

The silt removed from the harbor will be hauled outside the park, possibly to be dumped in a lowlying area near the mouth of Corn Fork.

year's parade which began at 2 p.m. and followed U.S. 23 from the center of town to Prestonsburg high school. Besides five county high school bands, three bands from Elliott, Johnson and Pike counties also participated, indicating widening interest in the day which has become a multi-county event. Allen Elementary's float, depicting the theme, "Past, Present and Future," won first place in the float competition. Second place went to the Mize church float of Morgan county depicting "The Church in the Wildwood," and third was won by Prestonsburg Elementary's first grade float. One of the most impressive groups in Saturday's parade was the Bicentennial color guard of the 101st Airborne unit of Fort Campbell, Kentucky. Dressed in authentic uniforms of the Colonial army of the Revolutionary War, the unit carried out the bicentennial celebration theme. Modern army units with armored vehicles from Ft. Campbell were also featured in the parade. Eva Collins and Ted Naim were in charge of this year's parade.

Delegation To Seek Curb on Truck Speed

Lives of school children transported to and from school by bus are being endangered by heavily loaded, fast-moving coal trucks, Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark said this week.

Because of the growing seriousness of the situation, particularly along US 23 between Prestonsburg and Auxier, a delegation of school officials, teachers and parents has planned to call on the fiscal court at its meeting next Wednesday afternoon for help.

Supt. Clark said that on two occasions recently school buses which have stopped to unload passengers have been passed by coal trucks which ran onto the gravel on the right side of the buses.

Clark said coal trucks in various parts of the county are travelling at such speeds that if, rounding a curve, they came on a loading or unloading school bus, they would be unable to stop in time to avoid a crash.

"We have simply been lucky, so far," he added.

The superintendent said bomb threats received by schools are being investigated and that if those using telephones to make such threats are identified there will be no weakening in his resolve to prosecute.

2 Food Markets Open Thursday

Tomorrow (Thursday) will mark the opening of two new supermarkets in Prestonsburg.

One, Shopper's Choice, will open in the former Kroger building on Court street. The other, the Sav-U Discount Food Market, will take the place of the Piggly Wiggly Supermarket at the corner of Lake Drive and Friend street.

Jess Stover, Piggly Wiggly manager here who will continue as Sav-U manager, said the ownership of the business stands unchanged. The store will discontinue issuance of Green Stamps and the marketing of Piggly Wiggly brand foods and will concentrate, he said, on "selling cheaper than anywhere in Eastern Kentucky."

Personnel of the store will not be affected by the change.

Shopper's Choice is opening its first Eastern Kentucky supermarket here after establishing an unusually successful marketing records with stores in central Kentucky and in other sections. Its store opening here is a prelude to the Shoppers' Village construction project here which will include a Shopper's Choice store, Heck's, the Herrick & Johnson Pharmacy and possibly other stores.

Beginning of work on Shoppers' Village has been delayed because of a zoning ordinance on which a hearing is scheduled Nov. 5.

Carroll Speaker At Rally Here, Stresses Roads

Governor Julian Carroll came to Prestonsburg Monday to deliver the first speech made in the county during the current campaign by a candidate for major office.

Speaking of the needs of the region and the state, he gave high priority to transportation and declared his intention to build "a good connector" road, KY 80, from this county to Hazard to link with the Daniel Boone Parkway.

Asked later by The Times if his letter of Sept. 22 to this newspaper could be quoted, Gov. Carroll did not hesitate to give permission. It read, in part:

"It is my hope to see KY 80 constructed from the Mountain Parkway to the Daniel Boone Parkway during my administration and I am not going to let any doubters... stop us. KY 80 is a legitimate project and, in my opinion, one of the most important in Kentucky, and I intend to see it built."

Governor Carroll admitted that the four-lane road program begun 10 years ago is "about done," but insisted that roads linking sections of the state to these arterial highways are necessary.

He added that he proposed to continue the road repair program which he has begun and which has drawn some newspaper criticism.

"The coal severance tax this year produced $98 million, and spending a fifth of that amount to repair roads is a wise investment—and I intend to keep on doing it," he added.

The governor also said the state is preparing to build a Kentucky National Guard armory in this county.

He reviewed the potential of the area for industry and tourism but pointed out that these depend upon good roads, schools, housing and trained workers and indicated he will bend his efforts toward attaining all these. At the same time, he declared, the people of Kentucky cannot afford to pay more taxes.

"You householders, senior citizens, even business men know what it is to make do with what you have in times such as this, and we (state government) have got to learn to take what we have and make it do," he said.

"But," he added, "beware of any candidate who comes telling you he will reduce taxes... He simply is not telling the truth..."

Clinic Doctors' Offices Looted During Weekend

Offices of six doctors in the Archer Clinic here were entered during the week-end and $901 in cash was taken, Prestonsburg police reported.

Officers pointed out that the clinic apparently was entered, not broken into, and that the burglar apparently knew where each of the doctors kept cash receipts. The entry was effected between 8 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Monday.

The clinic burglary was one of a series over the county. Pierce's Food Market at Hueysville was broken into Monday night, with 40 cartons of cigarettes and a tape player taken. Frozen foods were

Ted Salisbury New ABC Agent

Ted H. Salisbury, of Martin, has been named Floyd county agent for the Alcohol Control Board, succeeding Arvil Nelson, of Prestonsburg.

Mr. Salisbury served one term as constable in Magisterial District 3 and more recently was special local officer for protection of Island Creek Coal Company properties. He is a retired employee of the C. & O. Railway Company with 25 years' service.

Mr. Salisbury has attracted attention in recent months with his lectures at Alice Lloyd College which centered on the illegal liquor business in Appalachia. The experience at the college, he said, "was the turning point of my life."

He recently praised Sheriff Joe W. Lewis who, he said, "has made a great effort and spent a lot of time to control liquor in Floyd county."

"I have friends and relatives who are in the liquor business, and I ask them now to do themselves and me a favor by getting out," Salisbury said.

"You know the rules of the game and the consequences," he added. "Don't blame me if you are caught."

Red, White and Blue Day Queens, 1975

Winners of Annual Awards

Pictured above are Orville Collins and Mrs. Waneta P. Newsome who were presented the annual awards given by Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, on Thursday, October 16. The Annual Sister Angelo Award was presented to Mrs. Newsome, RN, who has been employed by the hospital since its opening in 1947. The Annual Employee of the Year Award was presented to Orville Collins, chief engineer at the hospital since 1967. Both Mrs. Newsome and Mr. Collins received a $50 Savings Bond and an engraved plaque. These awards are presented each year to employees chosen by employees through popular vote.

$22 Million Plus Allocated Highway Safety Improvements

Frankfort, Ky.—More than $22 million was allocated to fund highway safety improvement projects at state and local levels in Kentucky during the past fiscal year, according to a report published here.

In releasing the report, prepared by the state's Department of Transportation and its Office of Highway Safety Programs, state Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts explained that the total allocation figure represented $8.9 million in state money, plus over $13 million in additional federal funds.

The federal money was awarded to Kentucky by the Federal Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

A breakdown of how those fiscal year expenditures were made showed that approximately $5.1 million was paid out to support five specific highway safety construction programs authorized under the federal Highway Safety Act of 1973.

The five programs authorized under that act are rail and highway crossing improvements, elimination of roadside obstacles, elimination of high accident locations and two special safety demonstration projects.

Under one project—called the Safer Roads Demonstration Program—more than 80 rail-highway crossings have been identified for priority action to eliminate potential crossing hazards to motorists and pedestrians by installing automatic crossing gates, bells and flashing lights.

The program also includes a priority listing of other roadside hazards which are to be corrected in at least seven counties.

The second demonstration program calls for implementation of a pavement marking project which includes 62 miles of raised pavement markers and another 495 miles of painted markings.

Roberts also noted that an additional $11.5 million in federal money for highway safety construction work still remains unspent.

"We have until 1978 to pair that money up with specific projects," he said.

Studies to identify the most urgent safety problems on Kentucky highways are underway now, "and we expect to allocate that money to correct those problems just as soon as the studies are completed and recommendations for correction made," Roberts said.

The remainder of those funds expended during the past fiscal year were reported as follows:

—$1.3 million in federal money for safety improvements on Kentucky's interstate system;

—$7.2 million in state dollars, plus $700,000 in federal funds, for safety improvements on other federal-aid roads—the state's share of that cost representing an average expenditure of more than $27,000 per project;

—$1.7 million in state money for non-federal aid road improvements such as lane widening, improving sight distances to intersections, guardrail installations and resurfacing slick pavement;

—$4.2 million in federal money to replace unsafe bridges, plus another $2 million for a Traffic Operational Program To Improve Capacity And Safety (TOPICS).

TOPICS was started in 1971 as a federally funded program to assist the states in responding to requests from urban communities for minor road improvements—such as the construction of a left turning lane—either to improve road safety or the flow of traffic at specific locations.

Although federal highway safety program requirements no longer stipulate that the states spend a certain amount of dollars annually on TOPICS projects, Roberts said he personally believed the program to be an "excellent one" and would continue allocating available federal dollars for that purpose.

DRIFT WOMAN'S CLUB NEWS

The Drift Woman's Club met October 20 at the clubhouse with Mrs. Bill Ward, second vice president, presiding. Mrs. William Hoffman and Mrs. Ward Reed gave a report on the KFWC district meeting October 17. Members were asked to continue saving S & H stamps, cash value to be donated to St. Jude's Research Center.

Miss Ruby Akers, Drift chairman, reported a total of $156.66 had been collected for the arthritis fund.

After the business meeting, Mrs. William Hoffman presented the skit she did at the district meeting.

Members present were Mrs. Bill Ward, Mrs. Glen Ward, Mrs. William Hoffman, Mrs. McKinley Little, Miss Ruby Akers and Mrs. Ward Reed.

Since 1966, almost 800 water withdrawal permits have been issued by the division of water resources in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection. Just over 600 are still active. Anyone who withdraws more than 10,000 gallons of water a day from Kentucky streams and lakes must obtain a permit from the division.

Something of a Confession

Editors are sometimes supposed to be pundits, and pundits are supposed to pontificate. Infrequently they are forced to admit, "We just don't know"—a fact which they perhaps should admit more frequently.

The proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1—the so-called Judicial Amendment—which will be on the ballot in next Tuesday's election is one for pondering.

Both candidates for the Kentucky governorship are agreed on one thing, if nothing else. Both urge passage of the amendment. Both of the state's senators in the U. S. Congress say the amendment is needed to clear cluttered court dockets, place the judiciary on a professional level and make of the courts of the state, from the lowest to the highest, what they should be. The Kentucky Bar Association, eminent lawyers and students of government endorse it.

One finds it difficult to find fault with the amendment in the face of such endorsement from men who should know what Kentucky needs in its courts. True, members of fiscal courts who would lose their judicial power and prestige oppose the change in the court system, but some would question their motives.

Apart from all that, however, there are questions to be raised.

Will a separation of judicial and administrative powers and a pyramidal court system presided over only by attorneys get more cases brought to trial and more final decisions rendered? As long as judges—in whatever system—continue the practise of continuing cases till later trial dates on the flimsiest plea of defense or prosecution, the backlog of cases will never be cleared. Until the higher court gets down to the plain business of hard work for longer hours, its docket, too, will be jammed—whether it is known as the Supreme Court, or whatever.

In this connection one recalls that the U. S. Constitution assures to every citizen the right of fair and speedy trial. It is good that no individual may be held in jail indefinitely while his accusers and the state delay the day when his guilt or innocence is to be decided by a jury of his peers.

But this constitutional provision for the defendant does not provide for the state or the society which is a part of the case at issue. Some law should provide that a fair and speedy trial be given as a service to the state that is offended and the society that is, or may be, endangered by the individual accused.

Again, if Amendment No. 1 is approved by the voters and only qualified attorneys may serve as magistrates and judges, what will be the cost? The lawyer who is elected, the amendment provides, may not practice his profession; he must attend solely to the business of being a judge. Then how many lawyers will forego a lucrative practise for a judge's office at a greatly reduced salary? What will the annual salary be to attract legal talent to the bench—$40,000, $50,000, more? Or will the bench be occupied only by the retired, the superannuated whose days of active legal practise are, for one reason or another, over? Or will it be occupied by the young, untried and inexperienced?

It is well that the man presiding in the trial of another human being hold the highest qualifications of mind and heart, that the law be protective as well as punitive. But it seems passing strange, as one well-known attorney points out, that a justice of the peace would, under Amendment 1, be required to possess qualifications not required of the chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, who may serve though not a lawyer.

Having said this, we confess: "We just don't know."

gathered in the Prestonsburg High School fieldhouse for the Miss Red, White and Blue competition. Hundreds cheered their own favorites as the contestants were judged on the basis of beauty and poise. Named Miss Red, White and Blue for 1975 was Rita Akers, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Akers, of Martin, and a senior at Allen Central high school. The Junior Miss selected for 1975 was 13-year-old Becky Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Collins, of Lackey, and an eighth-grade pupil at Wayland Elementary. Selected as this year's Little Miss Red, White and Blue was Karen Moore, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Moore, of Maytown, and a third-grader at Maytown Elementary. The Allen Woman's Club sponsored the Miss Red, White and Blue competition.

A square dance featuring Hack Thornsburg and the Floyd County Mountain Boys ended the day. A greater participation in the dancing was noted this year.

Filming the day's activities was Kentucky Educational Television (KET), which also presented in the circuit courtroom Saturday morning a video tape, entitled, "Bert T. Combs, Distinguished Kentuckian." A film of the parade was shown on Hazard television Sunday night, with narration by Mrs. Eva Collins, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Marcella Bailey, of Maytown, founder of Red, White and Blue Day.

MOSCOW—Sculptor Ernst Neizvestny said Monday his application to emigrate had been turned down a second time by Soviet officials.

The 50-year-old Neizvestny—who told Nikita Khrushchev in 1962 that the Soviet leader knew nothing about art and later was engaged to design his tombstone—appealed to President Nikolai Podgorny to allow him to emigrate to Israel and to help stop official harassment against him.

The sculptor said Soviet officials told him he couldn't leave because he had two elderly parents, although he said his parents feel he should leave the country.

Unopposed are these Democrats: Jimmy "Gabe" Turner for railroad commissioner, Jim Hammond for state senator, James (Jitter) Allen for state representative from the 95th district, Herbert "Herbie" Deskins for representative from the 94th district which includes seven precincts in the southern end of this county, James R. Allen for commonwealth's attorney and Frank DeRossett for circuit clerk.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley also is unopposed for re-election on the Judicial ballot.

The two enlivening city races are in Prestonsburg and Martin. At Martin Mayor E. P. "Pete" Grigsby is opposed for re-election by James (Jack) Conley. The Independent slate of candidates there for city council is composed of Glenn C. Patrick, John Quincy Salisbury, Harlan Bradley, Wheeler D. Crisp, Joe Everage and Howard Hamilton. The opposing Progressive Party ticket is composed of Denzil Halbert, Clyde Hogsed, Sanford Ousley, John L. Maddox, Raymond Griffith, Jr. and J. C. Skeans.

The race for city council in Prestonsburg involves four tickets. The Independent ticket (with Open Book) includes Harold W. Cooley, George C. Brown, Abigail Allen Bolling, Paul Joseph, E. "Shag" Branham, Hansel Cooley, Ronald L. Hager and Donald D. Nunnery. On the Independent ticket with no emblem is Edward R. Nairn. Cloyd Johnson is the Progressive Party candidate, and Paul P. Hughes is the candidate on the Liberty ticket.

Both Wayland and Wheelwright have unopposed tickets for board of trustees. Wayland is composed of Hobert Webb, Sr., James Castle, Willard Ratliff, Elmer H. Morrison and Hobert Webb, Jr. The Wheelwright candidates are Delbert Davis, John Bartuka, Frank Childers, Roy Curry and Robert Fields.

Louisville uses more water than any other municipality in the state. It takes between 120 and 130 million gallons of water from the Ohio River every day. Lexington takes 32 million gallons a day from the Kentucky River.

Then I espied a hat and inquired the price.

"Two dollars."

"You've just made your first sale," I remarked, hauling the old pocketbook.

I hate to see a woman reduced to tears, even by laughter, but she was at that stage when she reminded me that I was on the verge of buying my own hat.

Why do I tell this and admit I am something of a goof? Well, I've got to fill this column with something.

DESPERATION CALL

It was perhaps with some measure of relief to readers that we made no announcement of last Sunday's time change. Especially those who recall the time when we got the dates mixed up and had school buses running an hour early and men driving to work at all hours. Be that as it may, we had a call last Friday—after the paper had been printed—and the caller wanted to know when the time change would be made. "You're kidding," my son replied to the query, himself bearing in mind our prediction for outdoing the calendar, clock, International Dateline and everything connected with time. "No, I'm desperate," the caller said. The son stoutly refused to commit himself, and later we conferred. And we agreed—the guy must be desperate, forsooth, to be willing to take our word for it.

Senior Citizens Group Enjoys Frankfort Tour

A group representing the Archer Park Senior Citizens Centers travelled to Frankfort, October 17 on a tour of the state's capitol. The group visited Gov. Julian Carroll at the Governor's mansion, where they enjoyed refreshments, toured the Capitol building, and visited with other officials.

The group later met with members of the Franklin County Senior Citizens Center and viewed a movie, compliments of the Franklin center.

Taking part in the tour were Darcus Lafferty, Amanda Lafferty, Stella Justice, Jesse Burchett, Anna Mae Spencer, Lula Wallen, Goldie Vance, John Morgan Slone, Mr. and Mrs. Hawley Scott, Bessie Isaac, Hazel Crisp, Vanie Turner, Mary Compton, Emma Mitchell, Era B. Mullins, Mary Ellen Ratliff, Hester Prater, and Ella Griffith. Myrtle Ann and Larry Leedy, director and J. R. Miller, driver of the bus accompanied the group.

KUWAIT STOPS SELLING OIL

KUWAIT—Kuwait has asked foreign oil companies to stop paying for their oil purchases in British currency, a move interpreted Sunday as detrimental to the already troubled status of the pound in monetary markets.

Oil Ministry officials said payments for oil by British Petroleum, Gulf Oil of America and others during the third quarter of 1975 will be settled by the end of October in U. S. dollars.

Bug Which Decimates Forests Not Here Yet But Is Near

Those pines which have become brown and are losing their foliage in this county are not victims of the southern pine beetle which is cutting a destructive swath through pine forests of other sections of the state, the Division of Forestry office here said Monday.

It's the ips beetle, which is similar to the southern but not so destructive, that has infested pines in this county, the division spokesman said. That and, according to Extension Agent John Sparks, drought conditions and temperature fluctuation which causes defoliation of young lolly pines.

A study made recently by a state entomologist in the Jenny Wiley State Park area showed that the southern pine beetle has not reached that area yet, and no evidence of that beetle has been found in the county.

In neighboring Martin county, however, the southern beetle is at work, and the proximity of that county to Floyd poses a threat.

State Forester Harry Nadler terms the problem serious and said the bug has been discovered at Pine Mountain State Resort Park, where the Mountain Laurel Festival is held.

He said if the problem becomes more serious, the park could "look pretty rough."

The insect was discovered in Kentucky forests during an aerial survey last summer.

Amel E. Landgraf, a U. S. Forest Service assistant director from Atlanta, told an audience at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington Sunday the beetle infestation began in 1972 and is "the worst in history."

The beetles have destroyed enough timber in 12 southern states to build 190,000 homes, Landgraf said. He reported in a speech to the Sixth Governor's Conference on Forestry that 1.9 billion board-feet of timber have been destroyed.

The area affected in Kentucky includes 66,000 acres, Peter P. Kovalic of the U. S. Forest Service office in Winchester said. The Winchester office is the headquarters for the Daniel Boone National Forest.

Portions of the Daniel Boone National Forest in Whitley, Pulaski, Laurel and the eastern edge of McCreary counties are affected, Kovalic said.

Nadler said Kentucky Ridge State Forest in Bell county and Kentonia State Forest in Harlan county are threatened.

In about a week Kovalic will forward an $8,500 plan for controlling the beetles in Kentucky to the U. S. Forest Service office in Atlanta for approval. The control program might begin in December, when cold weather slows the beetles' appetite.

Nadler said he plans to develop a state plan in November. State officials plan to use a mobile sawmill, originally purchased as a demonstration project, to salvage dead trees.

State and federal officials said the cheapest method of control is to remove trees infested with the beetles. The bugs attack in spots, infesting perhaps only a few trees per 10 acres, the officials said.

Dr. Thomas Hansbrough, chairman of the University of Kentucky's department of forestry, told the conference Thursday that strip mining and other activities will reduce Kentucky's nearly 12 million acres of commercial forests to 10.6 million.

Hansbrough said strip-mined land is not capable of producing commercial forests in the future. He said the coal mining industry must change its philosophy from earth moving and covering up to engineering for maximum productivity after the coal is gone.

Miss Smith-Mr. Horvath Wed in Toledo, O. Oct. 20

Miss Glenda Sue Smith and Lester Harvath were united in marriage at Trilby Methodist Church in Toledo, Ohio, October 20.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Steven Smith, and Jim Smith served as best man. Maid of honor was Karla Fulkert, and bridesmaid was Patti Eisenbrandt. A reception followed at Olander Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Horvath will make their home in Toledo after a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and New York City.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Louise Price Smith and the late Lylal Smith, of Toledo, and granddaughter of the late Mrs. Sadie Price, of West Prestonsburg.

Education Group Studies Assembly Impact on Schools

The possible impact of the 1976 General Assembly on school systems of the state, including Floyd's, was discussed at a recent meeting of the Legislative committee of the Floyd County Education Association at Martin High School.

One point raised at the meeting was the claim that far too many grade school teachers do not have a planning and rest period during the school day. The committee expressed the opinion that the scheduling of such periods would improve the professional performance and emotional well-being of these teachers.

Because many small schools with limited staffs cannot schedule such periods, the committee agreed that the Legislature and the Governor should provide for the hiring of relief teachers and thus eliminate the problem existing in these schools.

The following general statement of policy was issued:

"We believe that the vast majority of the citizens in our Commonwealth want the best schools possible in which our youth can be educated and trained to the limit of their varying abilities, efforts and desires.

"We further believe that more realistic and adequate financing of our schools can no longer be delayed if we are to meet the demands of our rapidly changing society.

"Teachers are asking for salary increases to reach the average paid in surrounding states. We believe that the Governor and the Legislature should provide funds in the state's biennial school budget not only to meet the petition of the teachers but also to grant a wage increase to bus drivers, janitors, cooks, maintenance workers, clerks and stenographers in order that they may share more fully in the American Way of life.

"We realize that money (important as it is) is not all that troubles our schools today. However, we believe that the common sense of our citizens will finally prevail and our schools will improve.

"We ask that teachers, administrators, parents, students, officials and other interested citizens join together to build a better school system in our state."

Edgar Bingham, chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting. Members participating were Gleason Slone, David Hinchman, Nadine Hicks and Phillip Dingus.

Job Safety Course At PCC Next Spring

A course entitled "Occupational Safety" will be offered during the 1976 spring semester at Prestonsburg Community College. The course will aid supervisors in developing skills to train employees in good safety procedures on and off the job. Emphasis will be placed on the standards developed as the result of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 and the Kentucky Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1972. Those interested may call Robert R. Allen, 886-3863, ext. 200.

Let's Set the Record Straight for Martin

For the past eight years the Town of Martin has been moving forward. We are proud of the following accomplishments by the PROGRESSIVE TICKET and offer them for everyone's consideration:

1. We have exemplified sound and efficient fiscal responsibility for our town. We have not borrowed any money to promote our projects but have kept the town's business within its own means and income. We have spent money only as we have taken it in, and still we have been able to accomplish our goals and purposes.
2. We have not raised property taxes in the past eight years!
3. The town is in good financial condition and we are not in debt!
4. We initiated and procured funds for the present Federal Flood Control Project for Martin. We also raised the funds necessary for the preliminary channelization of this project, WITHOUT additional taxes.
5. We planned and worked zealously for the present Housing Project in downtown Martin for the elderly and disabled citizens of our town. It took several years of persistence and patience in working out this project with the Federal Government—BUT WE DID IT!
6. We secured the right-of-way to Bridge Street and elevated the road above flood level, which was a vast improvement for that part of our town.
7. We are paving our streets and building new sidewalks in town, which has helped substantially to improve appearances and conveniences for our citizens. Furthermore, the Floyd Fiscal Court has never provided any money for streets or roads in Martin.
8. We improved our law enforcement and protection of our town when the present city policeman, Herschel Lester, was hired several years ago. Mr. Lester is a very popular and respected law officer with all age groups of our community.
9. We have SUPPORTED and will continue to SUPPORT progress in our school system for our Martin Elementary School. With the addition of a new P. E. building and gymnasium, we shall continue to fight for the complete renovation of our old High School building.
10. We supported and gave needed funding to the renovation of our athletic field. A new backstop, seats for spectators and a new fence, all were installed to improve the present facility.
11. We have supported and will continue to support and donate to our Martin Little League, Babe Ruth League and Ladies' and Girls' Softball League.
12. We have improved cleanliness and sanitation in our town.

Some Past Accomplishments by Mayor E.P. Grigsby and the Progressive Ticket from 1951-1955 and the Present Administration of 1967-1975:

1. Bought the FIRST FIRE TRUCK for Martin at a cost of $14,000, with no extra taxes or assessments from citizens.
2. Bought land and built the present City Hall at a cost of $16,000, with no extra taxes or assessments from citizens. This also included a better and more modern jail for prisoners.
3. Installed all the present modern street lights in Martin, with the exception of one that the Independents installed.
4. Bought one new and one used Fire Truck at a cost of $20,000, also bought land and built a new addition to Town Hall for the fire trucks at a cost of $6,000.
5. Reduced fire insurance rates up to 50 pct. by purchasing the fire trucks and organizing the volunteer fire department.

Wonderful Story

Wonderful story of infinite grace,
Story of One crucified in my place,
Hanging forsaken between earth and sky,
Shamed and tormented and left there to die,
His kingly head bowed with the weight of my sin, (Foul was I, Lord, without and within).
Angels still carol the story through space,
Wonderful story of infinite grace!

Wonderful story of infinite love.
Wanting me there in Heaven above,
Seeing me, blood-washed, as spotless as He.

Building a home for a sinner like me.
O, how it eases the pain I must bear,
Only to dream of that home waiting there,
Its windows aglow with the light of His face!

Wonderful story of love and of grace!

McDowell Girls Open Net Season

The McDowell Daredevils (girls' edition) will travel to Allen Central, the night of Nov. 1, to open its 1975-'76 basketball season.

Last year, McDowell advanced to the 15th region finals before bowing to Sheldon Clark, 56-55. McDowell also won the Tom Wiley Invitational and was co-champion of the Floyd County Conference, en route to a good 21-5 season.

McDowell will return a veteran squad headed by junior all-stater Geri Grigsby who averaged 41.5 points per game and scored 1,069 points for a new school record. Returning with her as starters from last year's team are 5-7 senior center, Rita Roberts; 5-5 senior forward guard, Pam Reid, and 5-9 junior forward, Jamie Martin. Other girls with experience returning to help out are Gina Carter, Donna Humphrey, Donna Caudill, Marcia Stone, Lisa Stegall and Kathy Howell.

The team also begins the new season with a new coach, Johnny Ray Turner. Mr. Turner was head coach of the boys' team at Salyersville High School, the past two seasons. A graduate of McDowell High School, he played under former McDowell mentor, Pete Grigsby, Jr.

The schedule for the season follows:

GIRLS' SCHEDULE
 November 1, Allen Central, away; 5, Virgie, home; 10-14, Tom Wiley Tourney away; 18, Wheelwright, home; 21, Millard, away; 25, Betsy Layne, home.
 December 1-6, Pre-Season Tourney, away; 11, Feds Creek, away; 18, Allen Central, home.
 January 5, Salyersville, away; 8, Feds Creek, home; 12, Prestonsburg, away; 14-17, McDowell Tourney, home; 21, Virgie, away; 29, Open.
 February 2, Betsy Layne, away; 9, Belfry, away; 12, Salyersville, home; 16, Prestonsburg, home; 19, Wheelwright, away; 23, Johnson Central, away; 24, Millard, home.

Wheelwright Board Names Recktenwald Citizen of the Year

Roger Recktenwald, of the Big Sandy Area Development District office here, has been designated Wheelwright's Citizen of the Year.

Mr. Recktenwald was presented the Citizen of the Year plaque at last Thursday's meeting of the town's board of trustees. The honor had been voted him at an earlier board meeting.

City officials pointed out that Recktenwald was accorded the honor because he had devoted almost all his free time to Wheelwright. He resides there.

Recent arthritis research efforts have been in three main areas: identifying a possible viral or infectious agent as the cause of arthritis; pinpointing the malfunction of the body's defense system that occurs in the chain reaction leading to arthritis; clarifying the inflammatory process that causes the heat, redness, pain and swelling in serious forms of arthritis.

'Cats Ambush Indians, 14-8

By BRIAN STURGILL

Last Friday night was Parents' Night at the Prestonsburg High School football field, the Blackcats honored their elders by beating the Madison Central Indians, 14-8.

The first quarter went without score, but with the second quarter only having been in progress 51 seconds, William Goebel recovered a Madison Central fumble and ran five yards to score. The conversion, a pass from Greg Dixon to Tim Patrick, was complete.

Madison Central scored the next touchdown when John Hissom received a pass from Mike Harville. The point-after, another Harville pass, was received by Ozzie Beck, making the score at half-time, 8-8.

The final score of the game came for the Cats in the third quarter when Greg Dixon, quarterback, sneaked the ball 30 yards to score the winning marker.

The Blackcats had a super-defensive night. Leslie "Bear" May and Mike Click had 25 tackles each, Scotty Walker had 20 and Sam Isbell recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

Both teams had a good night, offensively. For the Indians, Ozzie Beck ran the ball 123 yards and Doug Vesco rushed for 52. The Blackcat's also had two outstanding rushers—William Goebel with 90 yards and Greg Dixon with 76.

The Blackcats with a 6-3 record go to Raceland, Friday night.

Hospital Union Vote Scheduled On November 13

The National Relations Board (NLRB) has set Thursday, Nov. 13 as the date for the union representation election at which employees of the Highlands Regional Medical Center will decide by secret ballot if they will or will not be represented by a union.

The NLRB-supervised voting will take place in the second floor lounge of the hospital, from 6 to 10 a.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. Tabulation of the ballots will follow, soon after close of the voting.

The drive for representation by the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees began in August. The three groups of employees listed as eligible to vote are:

1. Non-supervisory registered nurses;
2. technical employees—licensed practical nurses, cardio-pulmonary technicians, X-ray, orthopedic, physical therapy, respiratory therapy technicians and trainees and certified laboratory assistants;
3. service and maintenance employees—nurses' aides, nursing technicians, ward clerks, housekeeping, laundry, dietary, maintenance, operating room technicians, genitourinary technicians, physical therapy aides, central sterile supply technicians, EKG technicians, uncertified laboratory assistants, and housekeeping floor supervisors.

What To Do in November

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD

(UK College of Agriculture)
 November, according to the encyclopedia, has had fewer good words said for it than any other month. Burns wrote:

"When chill November's surly blast Made fields and forests bare."
 And Taylor in his "November", tells how "Wrapped in his sad-colored cloak, the Day, like a Puritan standeth stern in joyless fields, rebuking the lingering color."

Perhaps the reason few kind words are the portion of November is because it seems the season of death. In temperate regions, the fields are bare and shrill, and gusty winds whirl about the dead leaves that have lost their last vestige of their gorgeous autumn color. Autumn seems over, winter has not begun, and there usually isn't any snow to cover the bareness of the landscape.

The ancient Anglo-Saxons, who had a talent for naming things simply and picturesquely, called November the "wind month" and the "blood month." The reason for the first name is obvious; the latter probably stemmed from the fact, that, in November, animals were slaughtered for the winter supply of meat.

Despite its many "melancholy days", which William Cullen Bryant immortalized in verse, November is by no means without its special attractions. There is sweet cider fresh from the press, football games, and Thanksgiving Day—and many a lover of the outdoors finds the hazy, mystical days of Indian Summer one of the most delightful seasons of the year.

As Mother Nature seems to be holding her breath, many of the out-of-door activities on the farm are at a standstill. The harvesting season is over, the crops of the field and garden are secure in the barn, pantry, and cellar, but there are still some things to do, or that can be done, UK Extension specialists say.

Rake leaves often to prevent grass from being killed. Clean out the gutters which may be full of leaves. Plant deciduous trees and shrubs and mulch these trees to reduce freezing and thawing and keep the plants from "heaving." Plant tulips. Spray roses for the last time, cut the plants back to 30 inches and tie the tops to help protect them from wind damage. Water evergreens and lawn if they need it. Wrap newly planted trees to prevent winter wind burn and bark splitting. Winterize power equipment and clean, oil, and repair all garden tools.

November is indeed a bleak month but we are urged by Sir James George Fraser to "Fear not its challenger bold. We've books and friends, and hearths that never can grow cold: These make amends."

Wounded Man Dies At Hospital Here

James Edwin Arnett, 31-year-old Magoffin man who died Saturday morning at the Highlands Medical Center of a gunshot in his head, may have died of a self-inflicted wound, Magoffin authorities said later, but they are continuing an investigation.

A man reported to have been with Arnett prior to the shooting has not been found, and he is wanted for questioning, a Salyersville report said.

The victim, who is a resident of Gifford, was shot at Hendricks, on KY 30. He was a son of Oscar and Jewell Henry Arnett, now residents of Aberdeen, Ohio. Surviving, besides his parents, are his widow, Mrs. Phyllis Arnett, two sons, a daughter, three brothers and one sister.

The U. S. Department of Labor reports that the multiple jobholding rate of whites was higher than that of blacks; however, a greater proportion of black than white moonlighters held second jobs

AVERAGE U.S. WORKER READS FROM 1 TO 4 HOURS DAILY

WESTPORT, Conn.—The average American employe probably spends from one to four hours a day reading material necessary to the performance of his job, according to a reading skills institute.

If this employe works 40 hours a week and earns $12,000 a year, he is being paid $2,400 to $6,000 a year just for reading, the institute estimates.

Invest In Quality

For centuries Europeans have invested a substantial amount of their earnings in good "Works of Art" — hand crafted Silver, quality Furniture, fine Paintings and Porcelains — and they have proven to be one of the best investments yet! Since World War II "good" works of art have proven to be a better investment than most stocks and bonds in your lock box! Think about that — Please accept our invitation to visit and let us show you one of the largest and finest collections of Antique furniture and silver in the country. We do our own buying in the British Isles and import directly to Kentucky — with no middleman — so our prices are more reasonable than in the East. There is so much to see — including our Gallery of Limited Edition Porcelains from all the important studios in the world. Write for our illustrated catalogue, available for $2.00. We're located on I-64 between Lexington and Louisville and are open every day, except Sunday 9:00 a.m. — 5 p.m. Our latchstring on our front door is always out!

Girl Scout News

The semi-annual Area 4 meeting of the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council was held at the First Christian Church in Pikeville, September 17. Area 4 is composed of Pike, Floyd, Martin, Johnson and Magoffin Counties. Mrs. Charles VanHoose, area chairman, called the meeting to order and welcomed old and new adult leaders. Mrs. Paul Patton, Area 4 field director, introduced the visitors, Mrs. Evans McGraw, executive director, Lexington, Mrs. Harry Cowherd, first vice president, Frankfort, and Mrs. James Scott, field services director, of Lexington.

Membership is growing in four of the five counties. Total Council membership for the 57 counties is now 12,388 girls. To meet the needs of more and better training, a director of training has been hired. She is Mrs. Kathy Duvall, former field director in Area 6, 9 and 10. She will work with your Area Training Coordinator, Coleen Reffett. There will be a council-wide bi-centennial project next spring, details will be announced later. Two council-wide events will be held next spring. Prestonsburg will host the event and a tentative date of April 10 was set.

Mrs. Julian Carroll, general campaign chairman, was hostess at a luncheon for community chairmen to kick-off the 1975 fund drive. The following fund drive chairmen from Area 4 are: Pike County, Mr. and Mrs. William Baird III; Floyd county, Mrs. William Smith, of Allen; Johnson County, Mrs. Jan Lunsford, of Paintsville; Martin County, Mrs. Charles Arnett, of Inez.

Following lunch which was provided by the church circle, Mrs. Cowherd presented the proposals to be voted on at the October National Convention.

The business meeting finished with a discussion of local events, Brownie Days, encampment and forming an area cadette planning board.

Coal-Oil Company Collusion Alleged by UMWA Attorney

The United Mine Workers of America has uncovered evidence of possible collusion between Amax Coal Co. and Standard Oil of California (SOCAL) involving the leasing of western coal lands, UMWA Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick told the Senate Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly last Wednesday.

INVITATION FOR BIDS (RE-BID)

Sealed Proposals will be received by the Floyd County Fiscal Court, Prestonsburg, Kentucky (Floyd County), at the office of the County Judge, on Thursday, November 20, 1975, at 1:30 P.M., Eastern Standard Time, at which time and place, they will be publicly opened and read aloud for furnishing of all materials, and labor, and performing all work as set forth by this Invitation For Bids, the Instructions to Bidders, the General Conditions of the Contract, the Specifications and Drawings, prepared by Forrest G. McCloskey & Associates, Architect, Lexington, Kentucky, and Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

The Work to be Bid Upon:
FLOYD COUNTY COURTHOUSE ANNEX & DETENTION CENTER & DETENTION CENTER
Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653
Proposals will be received as follows:
PROPOSAL NO. ONE TO INCLUDE ENTIRE PROJECT.

Plans, specifications, and contract documents, may be examined at the following places: Builders Exchange of Knoxville, Tennessee, and Louisville, Kentucky; Dodge Corp. of Knoxville, Tenn.; Louisville & Lex., Ky., & Cincinnati, Ohio; Associated General Contractors Office, Lexington, Kentucky; & Forrest G. McCloskey & Assoc., Architect, 248 East Short St., Lex., Ky.; & Forrest G. McCloskey & Assoc., 315 North Lake Dr., Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Distribution of the documents, not to exceed two (2) sets, may be secured from the Architect, Lexington Office only:

Patrick made the charge in testimony in support of the proposed Interfuel Competition Act of 1975 (S.489) introduced by South Dakota Senator James Abourezk. The bill would make it illegal for energy producing companies to own or control companies which own or produce competing energy resources.

"Our evidence strongly suggests that a degree of collusion exists between AMAX and SOCAL which makes a mockery out of competitive bidding on federal and Indian coal lands," Patrick declared. "The further we dig the more strong is the smell of something rotten."

Patrick said the UMWA will meet with the Federal Trade Commission later this week to share its information with the staff of the Bureau of Competition and urge the FTC to make a comprehensive investigation of SOCAL-AMAX collusion. The union has filed a complaint with the FTC against the recent merger of the two companies. SOCAL, the nation's 4th largest oil producer, purchased 20 per cent of the stock of AMAX—the nation's 4th largest coal producer—in June 1975.

Patrick told the committee that the merger of the two companies was "another step towards completion of a project which has now been underway for 12 years—the effective control of all energy resources by the giant oil companies of the United States."

Both AMAX and SOCAL are heavily involved in the development and production of coal, oil, and natural gas as well as minerals and fertilizer production. The two companies would have been natural competitors, were it not for the merger, Patrick told the committee.

"Now it is clear that they will work together—and any possible benefits of competition will be lost to the energy users of America," he testified.

Since 1963, Patrick told the committee, the oil-gas industry has acquired control of 40 per cent of the nation's future coal production and that now three out of the top four coal-producing companies are controlled by major oil companies.

"The implications for the American consumer of this silent takeover by the oil interests of the energy market are enormous," Patrick declared. "These corporations are not accountable to us. They set their own timetables, make their own commitments, exercise great influence over the prices we pay for their products, and control the future availability of those products."

"If these companies are permitted to continue consolidating their control of these resources, the consequences are clear: first, from the standpoint of price there will be no such thing as 'competing' fuels—they may be interchangeable for each other, but the basic price structure will be established in a handful of corporate executive offices, far beyond the reach of even the most outraged consumer; and second, these companies will block the development of any true national energy policy based upon what the public needs, wants, or deserves."

Patrick said that evidence of the harmful effects of the increasing monopoly control of energy can be seen in the increases in coal prices which he said closely followed the recent increases in oil prices.

Half May Lose Food Stamps

The Ford administration introduced a food stamp reform bill Monday that it said would save taxpayers $1.2 billion annually by eliminating from the rolls or reducing benefits for almost half of the 18.8 million people receiving the food coupons.

Kentucky officials in Frankfort hurriedly checked through their records to determine the impact of President Ford's sweeping changes in the federal food stamp program.

Gail Huecker, Commissioner of the Kentucky Bureau for Social Insurance, said departmental officials would check through state records and determine by today how many Kentuckians would become ineligible for food stamp assistance under Ford's proposal.

"It's too early to determine the effect, but we are going through and should have an answer by tomorrow (Tuesday)," she said. "We don't want to make a statement and go out on a limb and be wrong."

The plan, outlined before a Senate committee by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, would tie food stamp eligibility to the official poverty figure established each year by the federal government.

This figure currently is $5,050 for a family of four, but the administration plan allows a "standard deduction" of $100 a month or $125 if the household contains a person over age 60 in figuring food stamp eligibility. The deduction would raise the annual gross income figure to $6,250 or $6,550.

It would also change the method of calculating eligibility, and the change would reduce benefits for another 5.3 million who would still qualify under the new standards, Department of Agriculture officials said.

The plan, which is more conservative than earlier versions outlined unofficially at Congressional hearings, would limit participation by workers who lose their jobs through layoff or strike by determining income from an average of three month's salary, rather than estimating of one month as is currently done.

Fate of $200,000 Hinges On Appeals Court Test

Floyd county stands to lose $200,000 of its original $1,293,771 coal severance tax rebate if a ruling made last week by Judge Squire Williams of the Franklin circuit court stands a Court of Appeals test.

Judge Williams upheld the opinion of Attorney General Ed. W. Hancock that counties in which coal seams are located are eligible for the severance rebates, not those where the coal is loaded for shipment or where the mine opening is located.

The current severance rebate may be the largest this and most other counties will receive. This is the situation which looms for Floyd county for two reasons: 1. More and more coal loaded over Floyd county tipsles is coming from coal seams located in other counties; 2. The reduced selling price of coal will cut into the amount of the tax.

John D. White, an attorney for Clay county, said an appeal would be filed immediately with the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

White said it was his position that coal taxes should be paid in counties where the mineral is brought out of the ground because that would result in rebates which would help to support the maintenance of roads and bridges on which coal is hauled.

He said he felt that was the intent of the legislature when it passed coal severance tax legislation to return money to coal producing counties.

The suit also involved Leslie county, where the coal seam in question is located. The mouth of that mine, the Shamrock Coal Mine, is in Clay county.

The suit was filed in an effort to settle the controversy which involves a total of 11 counties in Kentucky.

Leslie County Attorney Robert C. Muncy said that his county would not be eligible for any severance tax rebates if the attorney general's opinion was not upheld because there are no facilities to move the coal in Leslie County.

The suit was filed Oct. 2 by state Finance Commissioner William Scent, naming Leslie and Clay counties as defendants. Also named in the suit were officials of both counties.

Clay and Leslie aren't the only two counties that will be affected by the suit, which Scent said will be appealed to the state Court of Appeals. But those two counties have been involved in the most recent dispute over the collection and return of coal tax money.

Scent said the purpose of the suit is to settle the question once and for all, that no facts are disputed and that all sides merely want a ruling from the state's highest court.

Scent said he expects the high court to rule on the matter within four weeks.

Some coal operators report production for tax purposes on coal taken from mine openings while others report on the basis of which counties the coal was taken from.

If the courts uphold the attorney general's opinion, Leslie county stands to gain more than $290,000. But Clay County would benefit if the appeals court ultimately holds that coal tax s should be collected in counties where the mouth of the mine is located.

Scent's suit said no severance tax money has been sent since Sept. 9 to the 11 counties that would be affected and that none will be until the outcome of the litigation is determined.

The 11 counties involved are Clay, Leslie, Floyd, Harlan, Hopkins, Johnson, Knott, Letcher, Martin, Perry and Webster.

Stanville Organizes Development Club

Stanville residents met at the Betsy Layne Fire Department, Tuesday, September 30, to discuss community development. Members from the Weeks-bury and Prater Creek Development Clubs gave brief talks on what their development organizations had done in their communities. The group from Weeks-bury included Peggy Bradford, Causby Branham, Ida Burke, Debra Smith, and Dena Tackett. The Prater Creek Club was represented by Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Akers, Loretta Conn and Glenna Childers. Rose Robinette, C.A.P. agency, and John Sparks, county extension agent, talked about services offered through their agencies.

The new club appointed a nominating committee which consisted of Howard Jones, president, Pam Epling, Darlene Daniels, Lula Thompson, William Barker, Jr., and Georgia M. Conn. When the club met again October 21 it elected their officers who are Erman Ratliff, president, Leon N. Stratton, vice-president, Revia Smith, secretary, Alice Clark, treasurer, and Darlene Daniels, publicity chairman. The projects the club chose to work on first were: Road improvement such as speed bumps, clean out ditch lines, private driveway drainage and road repair on Mare Creek, the establishment of a playground, and to participate in "Operation Santa Claus". The next meeting will be Tuesday, November 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Betsy Layne Fire Department Building.

Those present at the meeting were Nancy Leedy, Velva Stratton, Ocie Daniels, Darlene Daniels, Richard Daniels, Tammy T. Daniels, Revia Smith, Alice Clark, Virginia Jones, Myrtle G. Hamilton, Joseph S. Jacobs, Erman H. Ratliff, Leon N. Stratton, Bert Stratton, Jerry Wayne Robinette, II, Shawntel L. Robinette, Robin L. Robinette, Rose Robinette, of the Community Action Program office, and Novella B. Froman, development assistant.

is what comes naturally

With ARMOUR TESTENDER BEEF, you know in advance . . . you eliminate the chance. Naturally Tender Beef every bite, every cut, every purchase. It's guaranteed. Look for the TesTender Seal in our meat case. You'll find it on steaks, roasts, beef for stews, prime ribs, chucks, rounds and briskets. The TesTender Seal is your assurance of natural tenderness, that elusive, sought-after quality that can't be added on, built-in or imagined. Nature has to put it there and Armour knows how to find it for you, every bite, every cut, every purchase.

1 Color this good lean pork. It is what you want most of all.
2 Cut away bone and fat. It is what you want least of all.

More lean meat. Much less fat. That's why ARMOUR Veribest pork chops make a better meat bargain. And because ARMOUR Veribest pork chops do have larger lean areas, you don't end up paying for useless fat. But you do end up with pork chops that shrink less when cooking than fattier, "average" pork chops. Make more out of your pork chop meals. With leaner, protein-packed, great-tasting ARMOUR Veribest pork chops. Try some today.

A cut above the rest.

WHAT IS BABY BEEF?

In response to consumer demand for lower priced meats, Shoppers Choice is now offering you an economical beef buy - Baby Beef. Although a lower-priced meat, it does not mean a reduction in its nutritional value.

Baby Beef is the meat from young cattle, too old to be classified as veal but younger than the widely available mature beef.

For these reasons, cooking procedures which supply some fat either by the cooking method (braising, pan-frying or deep-fat frying) or marinating are desirable.

Baby Beef is a mild, delicate-flavored meat that requires less cooking time than for comparable cuts of beef and should not be cooked too well done.

Addingtons Get Third Contract

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15—The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) has awarded the fourth short-term coal contract in five months to a Kentucky firm, calling for low-sulphur coal at $23.45 a ton, the agency reports.

A TVA spokesman said the price is slightly higher than those under the three contracts awarded earlier this year when the prices averaged $21.78 per ton.

Low-sulphur coal is now being used at TVA's Shawnee Steam Plant at Paducah, Ky. because Western Kentucky farmers complained of crop damage caused by sulphur gas emissions.

The latest contract, to Addington Brothers Mining, Inc. of Elliott County, Ky., calls for an additional 35,000 tons of low-sulphur coal to be delivered to the plant over a four-week period.

The coal will come from strip mines operated by the company in Eastern Kentucky said TVA spokesman Lee Sheppard.

(Some weeks ago, Addington Bros. received a contract from TVA for 100,000 tons of Eastern Kentucky coal, and a few weeks later received another order from TVA for an additional 100,000 tons.)

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT CR 11,216

First National Bank, Prestonsburg, Ky. . . Plf.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

Leonard Joseph, Jr. and Della Joseph, West Prestonsburg . . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the August 26, October 9, term, 1975 in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 7th day of November 1975 at 10 o'clock a.m. same being day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

Being one-half of said lot and being 37 ft. x 54 feet adjoining the property of Bill Blackburn on the back, Frank Price on the northside; on the south by Leonard Joseph, Jr. and on the front by the street. A 7 foot passway in front of Leonard Joseph's property to the stree is excepted and not conveyed.

Being the same property conveyed to the defendants by Deed recorded in Deed Book 216, page 401, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $9,652.73 with interest thereon at 8½ percent annually from the 31st day of December 1974 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 20th day of October, 1975.

New Clinic Opposed By Jackson Council

By BRYAN WILKINS
(In The Lexington Herald)

Jackson, Ky.—The City Council of this Breathitt county seat has come out in opposition to the construction of a health clinic—even though the county's fiscal court has already voted funds toward its construction.

The council notified Paul Townes, executive director of the KYRADD (Kentucky River Area Development District) in a letter to "express opposition to the project."

"We have four active, full-time general practitioners of medicine, two drugstores and four full-time dentists. It's our opinion that subjecting our businesses to competition here in Jackson is not justified."

The fiscal court has already voted to contribute $110,000 toward construction of the proposed health clinic. The funds would come from coal severance tax revenues. Mountain Comprehensive Health Corp. has also promised funds of $150,000 for the clinic.

Jackson's four doctors are among the main opponents of the clinic. In a letter to Mrs. Lois Baker, administrator of Mountain Comprehensive Health, they said:

"We are offering the people of Breathitt county the best type of medical care that can reasonably be expected of general practitioners in a rural area of this type.

"An increased number of general practitioners in Breathitt county will not alleviate the necessity for major medical and surgical services . . . we feel that this type of structure will not offer any more services to our people than we are now offering."

The four doctors, Robert Cornett, F. C. Lewis, Price Sewell III and Emmanuel Turner concluded their letter, "We wish to object strenuously to any type of subsidized, socialistic program competing with our private practice of medicine."

Carbon copies of the doctors' letter were sent to Gov. Julian Carroll, Cong. Carl Perkins, representative from the Seventh District and heads of state government agencies.

Magoffin Co. Official Auto Wreck Victim

Magoffin County Attorney Robert E. Adams, 52, of Salyersville, was killed instantly at 3:30 a.m. last Thursday when the car he was driving ran off US 460, two miles west of Salyersville, overturned, and came to rest in a ditch beside the road, police said.

Adams was the sole occupant of the car.

Mr. Adams was born March 24, 1923, in Magoffin county, a son of B. F. and Winnie Cooper Adams. He was a resident of Salyersville for the past three years and had been county attorney for the past two years.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are his wife, Mrs. Mae Begley Adams; a son, Bobby Adams, of Stillwater, Okla.; four stepsons, Johnny Humphrey, of Pikeville, Gordon Humphrey, of Stanford, Chester Humphrey, of Frankfort, and Jean Humphrey, at home; two brothers, Bennett Adams, of Salyersville and Edwin Adams of Rt. 2, Salyersville.

State Board Investigating Alleged Merit System Violations

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The State Board of Education has resolved to undertake a full investigation of alleged merit system violations by Department of Education personnel. The decision was made at a special board meeting Oct. 22, called by Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, state superintendent of public instruction.
The allegations stem from the sale of tickets to a bean supper held on April 28 to support the candidacy of Dr. James Graham for the Democratic nomination for superintendent of public instruction. Graham won the nomination and is elected Nov. 4 will succeed Ginger.
Since the state's merit system law prohibits soliciting political contributions from merit system employees, the state Personnel Board has been investigating the matter since late May and has now requested a reply from Ginger before Oct. 24.

The purpose of the special meeting was to determine an appropriate response to the Personnel Board's request.
The Board of Education responded that it will conduct its own investigation Nov. 13-15. This will give the school board time to review the material assembled by the Personnel Board and to determine the scope of the problem, said Henry E. Pogue Jr., a Board of Education member.
Rev. Bob Brown, school board chairman, said the Board of Education had allocated three days for the hearing in order to allow a thorough investigation. The board will hear testimony, make its judgment and send that judgment to the Personnel Board.
In response to a question after the meeting, Ginger said the Board of Education has subpoena power and will use it if necessary.
"The board is anxious to get the complete picture—the whole scope of it," Ginger said. "The board is very serious about this."

Area School Boards Elect New Chairman

School board members and administrators from seven area school districts last Thursday elected Holmes Cassidy chairman of the Kentucky School Boards Eastern Kentucky South Region for 1976. Mr. Cassidy, who is chairman of the Martin County Board of Education, will also serve on the KSBA board of directors.
The KSBA regional dinner meeting was held at May Lodge, with Paul Hinkle, the retiring chairman, presiding. Mr. Hinkle is chairman of the Pikeville Board of Education.
Participants, including local district school board members, administrators, KSBA officers and staff, heard presentations on legislative matters and association programs and services, and discussed issues and concerns of interest to school boards in the Eastern Kentucky South Region.
Richmond Salyer, a member of the Magoffin County Board of Education, was elected vice-chairman of the region, replacing Carl Billiter, member of the Pike County Board of Education. Sheldon Clark, superintendent of Martin county schools, was elected to succeed Pikeville School Superintendent Charles Spears as secretary.

Birds of English Literature

1. THE NIGHTINGALE. As this bird's name indicates, it sings only at night, and, like the famed English skylark, it is not found in any other region except Europe. This renowned songster was immortalized by John Keats in his famous poem, "Ode to the Nightingale." It is said the haunting melody of this bird's song so deeply touched the poetic heart of Keats that he would sit for hours at night listening to its song while the tears coursed down his cheeks. It is also said that few gaudily colored birds have a superb gift of song. Nature seems to compensate for the nightingale's drab, brown color by endowing it with the gift of sublime melody. The bird's classical name is philomel. It is about the size of our native song sparrow but is perhaps the most gifted songster of the world.

Now a word about Keats. His one great ideal was Beauty. Once he wrote: "Truth is beauty and beauty is truth . . . A thing of beauty is a joy forever; it will never pass into nothingness."

It was the ethereal beauty of the nightingale's song that inspired him to write his immortal poem about the bird. Keats was one of the great geniuses of English Literature, and it is a stark tragedy that he died of tuberculosis at the early age of 26. Yet, in that brief life span he accomplished more than most men who live to a ripe old age.

Our own mockingbird is sometimes called "The American Nightingale," but his song lacks the haunting beauty of the English nightingale.

2. TENNYSON'S EAGLE.

The golden eagle of Tennyson's England built its nest on high cliffs overlooking the sea. Our golden eagle of the west builds its nest on high cliffs in the mountains.

Tennyson often watched the great, golden eagle as he leaped from some high crag and fell like lightning upon his prey far below. He was thus inspired to write one of the most beautifully descriptive poems in the English language entitled, "The Eagle." Here is a poem which in a few descriptive lines describes the ways of the eagle better than a naturalist can with a whole page of prose. I quote his poem, "The Eagle:"

"He clasps the crag with crooked hands
Close to the sun in lonely lands,
Ringed with the azure world he stands;

The wrinkled sea beneath him crawls,
He watches from his mountain walls,
And like a thunderbolt he falls!"

The golden eagle is one of the most magnificent birds of the world, having a wing span of nearly eight feet and a golden brown neck like burnished gold.

This eagle and our National Emblem, the bald eagle, are both in grave danger of extinction. Poisoned fish have wrought havoc with the numbers of the bald eagle, reducing them to a dangerous low. The golden eagle of the west has been wantonly slaughtered by ruthless men shooting it down from airplanes. It was accused of capturing lambs, a reputation it scarcely deserves. Its food consists mainly of small mammals. I feel strongly that we should do all in our power to save these eagles from extinction.

Wueste-Allen

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Allen, of Betsy Layne, announce the marriage of their son, Herbert Allen, to Miss Judy Kay Wueste of Lexington, Ky., in ceremonies held in Winchester, Va. on Friday, Oct. 3.

Mrs. Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wueste, of Eagle Pass, Texas, is a graduate of the University of Texas, Austin, Texas. She is presently employed by IBM Corporation in Lexington, Ky.

Mr. Allen is now employed as engineering manager of Tube Loc Products, a subsidiary of Portland Wire and Iron Ore, in Illinois.

The couple will reside in Charleston, Illinois.

Working wives with full-time jobs reported average (median) weekly earnings of $139 in May 1975. In real terms, their earnings showed no change relative to 1974 but remained lower than in 1973, according to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Now Available to Public

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Now for the first time, over 225,000 different topographic maps and hydrographic charts published by the Canadian and United States Governments, have been carefully indexed by the U.S./Canadian Map Service Bureau. This agency has compiled two pages each showing land maps and water charts available to the public of the Eastern and Western halves of the U.S. and Canada with the Mississippi River due north to the Hudson Bay as the approximate dividing line. These up-to-date catalogs are now available from the U.S./Canadian Map Service Bureau.

Information on these catalogs which describe both governments maps and charts in detail can be ordered at no cost, by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: United States/Canadian Map Service Bureau, Room 500, Midwest Distribution Center, Box 249, Neenah, Wisconsin, 54956.

While maps and charts have long been fundamental tools for the planning and execution of major construction projects, they have recently been discovered as having various advantages for outdoor activities such as hunting, fishing, boating, camping, hiking and snowmobiling to name just a few. Businessmen, educators, state and municipal governments, planners, outdoorsmen and other map users can now have at their fingertips a complete listing in two convenient catalogs, of all government maps and charts in the U.S. and Canada.

These most current and accurate maps and charts are a visual inventory of the geographic features of the earth's surface and clearly show the topography of specific areas aiding the map reader at home or on location a thousand miles away.

KET To Rebroadcast "The Judicial Article"

Kentucky Educational Television (KET) will rebroadcast THE JUDICIAL ARTICLE on Thursday, October 30, at 8 p.m. (EST).

The program, which was originally shown earlier this month, explains the issues of a Constitutional Amendment for Kentucky's courts which will be voted on this November 4. If approved, the amendment would establish a Court of Justice composed of a Supreme Court, an intermediate Court of Appeals, circuit courts and district courts.

Kentucky's present court system, which has been in operation since 1891, includes a Court of Appeals, circuit courts, and more than 1,000 lower courts.

The program offers a detailed examination and comparison of both court systems as well as interviews on the subject with judges and officials across the state.

Nat'l Mine Service Plant Doubles Capacity

GREENUP, Ky.—National Mine Service Company now has in service a new plant at Greenup which will allow more than doubling its capacity for manufacturing mining machinery.

The new facility will be an assembly plant for continuous mining machines, mine locomotives, shuttle cars and feeders, according to Kenton E. McElhattan, president. It will operate with components and subassemblies furnished by the existing National Mine Service plant at Ashland, eight miles away.

Hazardous Waste Study Funded

The division of solid waste of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has received a $45,000 grant from the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency to make a survey of Kentucky industries that produce hazardous waste. Combined with $45,000 furnished by the state, the federal grant will be used to determine the amount of hazardous waste produced in Kentucky and where it is being disposed. The state will also survey site problems related to hazardous waste and report on its findings.

There are not permitted disposal sites in Kentucky for potentially dangerous chemical and liquid wastes, according to Karl Patterson, director of the hazardous waste program in the division of solid waste.

Although no one will know how much hazardous waste is produced in Kentucky until late spring when the study should be finished, Patterson said: "It must be a lot."

Patterson predicted that the study will show most of the hazardous material is centralized in the large metropolitan areas such as Louisville, Northern Kentucky and Lexington. "The 15 or 16 paint manufacturing plants in Louisville produce about 20,000 gallons of hazardous waste during one week alone," he said.

After the survey of the 1,500 industries in Kentucky is completed, Patterson should know where the state's hazardous waste is being disposed. "Since there isn't a permitted place to put the stuff in Kentucky, I suspect we'll probably find that a lot of the waste is being dumped where it shouldn't be," said Patterson.

He said hazardous wastes have probably been dumped illegally into rivers and solid waste landfills and so far, the only way an industry can dispose of its hazardous wastes legally is to transport it out of state to a suitable, legal disposal site. "The expenses of transporting the waste out of state probably prompts some people to get rid of it illegally . . . and dangerously."

Two of the closest sites for disposal of hazardous waste are in Columbus, Ind. and Franklin, Ohio. At these sites, oil is separated from the remainder of the material and the waste is treated. Then the waste is disposed of and the oil is sold.

Judicial Reform, Topic At Jr. Club Meeting

The regular meeting of the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club was held October 16 at the Floyd County Library, with the president, Mrs. Kenneth D. Brown, presiding.

Mrs. C. Ollie Robinson, first vice-president, presented William G. Francis, local attorney and vice-president of the Floyd County Bar, whose topic was "Judicial Reform." Mr. Francis distributed copies of a pamphlet entitled "Judicial Reform: It's Up to You!" and "Acts of the General Assembly" approved March 20, 1974. The speaker explained the present three-tiered judicial system and the Kentucky Judicial Reform Plan which is a four-tiered court of justice system. Mr. Francis explained that this amendment will appear on the Nov. 4 ballot and urged that support be given this proposal.

Mrs. Terry Webb, recording secretary read letters of resignation from Mrs. Ted Hicks and leaves-of-absence requests from Mrs. Gordon Johnson, Mrs. Tom Rose, Mrs. Danny Hamilton, Mrs. Paul Clark Combs, and Mrs. Fred Meece. She also read, in the absence of corresponding secretary, letters from the Jenny Wiley Drama Association thanking the club for the outstanding support given the Association during the 1975 season; from KFWC 4th vice-president Miss Pat Lee and clubmember Cheryl Rosenberg. The treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Stumbo, reported a balance of $2,745.60 in the club treasury. Mrs. Ron Wallen and Mrs. Paul Burchett gave reports of the Bike-a-Thon to be held at Jenny Wiley State Park. Mrs. C. Ollie Robinson, first vice-president, made yearbook corrections.

In the president's report, Mrs. Brown reported on the KFWC fall board meeting in Louisville, told of writing letters to all Seventh district junior clubs recommending that the district junior project be a clubwoman scholarship, told membership that Miss Floyd County, Melissa Lafferty, will appear on a float in the Red-White-Blue parade and reminded all clubwomen of Seventh district meeting in Pikeville.

Parliamentarian, Mrs. Charles Johnson talked to membership regarding a "tabled motion" and Conservation Chairman, Leah Hicks told of two meetings held by her department, of a booth at Red-White-Blue Day parade and a car wash to be held on October 26.

Education chairman, Mrs. William G. Francis told of one committee meeting at which the committee decided to participate in a Colgate-Palmolive Co. School Action Plan being conducted by Prestonsburg High School for purpose of securing air-conditioning for the school. Mrs. Francis asked the club to help the department participate in the Action Plan by collecting labels and boxtops from various products. She also asked clubwomen to gather up books and magazines to be distributed to nursing homes in the area, reported on an inquiry she had made regarding how the department could lend a hand in getting the Auxier Grade School library reopened. Mrs. Fred Sessler, member of the Education Department distributed a list of 50 parliamentary terms.

Home Life chairman, Mrs. Eddie Stanley, reported a meeting at which the committee decided to entertain a foster child to dinner, to purchase glasses and shoes for indigents, and announced a demonstration session in first-aid and cardiac resuscitation to be sponsored by the department on November 13.

Mrs. Bruce Boss, International Affairs chairman, told of one department meeting, a bake sale to be held on October 25; a UNICEF party on October 28, and a chili dinner at Prestonsburg High School on November 7. She also presented Mrs. Michael Rosenberg, department vice-chairman who distributed UNICEF pamphlets.

Mrs. Lloyd Kidd, chairman of Public Affairs reported activities planned by her department.

Mrs. Brown initiated 12 new members who had fulfilled all membership requirements. During the ceremony, the theme centered around a liberty bell. Each initiate held the bell rope as the ceremony was performed. Initiates were Mrs. Carl Ankron, Mrs. Jeff Bingham, Miss Karen Evans, Mrs. William T. Goble, Mrs. Tom Keith, Miss Sharon Mitchell, Mrs. Hans Naumann, Mrs. Dan McGrew, Mrs. Judy Nelson, Mrs. Doug Prater, Mrs. Steven Stout, Mrs. Ronald Vipperman. (Mrs. Ankron and Mrs. Prater were not in attendance.)

During the business session motion was adopted for finance committee to develop budget for the New Years Eve Dance Advisory Board and for this board to assume complete responsibility for the Dance. The club's 1975-1976 Community Improvement Project was adopted, this being to purchase a Insufflator, air pump, which can also be used in surgery as a light source. This project is valued at an approximate cost of $2,000.00. Motions were also approved to support the candidacy of Mrs. Harold Cooley for Seventh District vice-governor, to support the GFWC junior project by organizing an adult chapter for children with learning disabilities. Membership was reminded by Betty Allen to contact Mrs. Bruce Spradlin in order to obtain candy to sell for the Kidney Drive.

Hostesses for the meeting were members of the Conservation Department, Leah Hicks, chairman.

Coal Man Asks More Inspectors

FRANKFORT, Ky.—More inspectors are needed to oversee procedures aimed at reclaiming land scarred by strip mining operations.

Roy Mullins, reclamation supervisor for the Falcon Coal Co., said yesterday before the state Environmental Quality Commission here that current state laws governing reclamation of lands are strong enough. But, he added, they are not adequately enforced.

"I think it is ridiculous, with the emphasis being placed on reclamation, with all the money, that they (the state) can't afford to hire competent people to go out there and do the job," the Breathitt County coal firm official said.

He added that most large strip mine firms already reclaim stripped land adequately, but that small coal operators either are unable to do so or make little effort to restore original landscapes near mines.

Mullins showed slides which demonstrated how his firm has reclaimed land near strip mine sites.

One showed a vineyard that had been planted three years ago on surface materials from a strip mine location.

Willis Vogel, an official of the U. S. Forest Service, told the commission that reforestation of stripped areas is "the best goal if there are not other land use plans."

He too showed slides demonstrating methods of reclaiming land but said the most important factor in the process must be to "quickly establish vegetation to prevent erosion."

parade. Some others at the festival from here were Mrs. Pearl Ellis, Mrs. Bucky Ellis and Mrs. Sandy Bradley and children.

Mrs. Mander Moore celebrated her birthday Sunday, Oct. 12, three days early as she was given a surprise party by Mr. and Mrs. James E. Moore. Mr. Moore took her for a drive while preparations were made and the family gathered at her home. She had two birthday cakes and received several nice gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Moore, Belinda, Diane, Eddie Salisbury and Scott, Waverly, Ohio, Mrs. Minnie Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil R. Moore and children, Forrest Ray and Carolyn Moore and children, Julius Moore, James Earl and Ruby Moore and daughter, Stacia Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Dudley, all of Langley and Mr. and Mrs. James Monroe Caudill, Blackey, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Patton recently spent a vacation at Land Between the Lakes on Lake Barkley.

Mrs. Carl Bañ, Ruthie and Archie and friend, Curt, of Burning Springs, W. Va., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Lewis and Tommy Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Patton and Stephen Halbert visited Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Patton in Lexington, Friday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Patton are students at U.K.

Mrs. Emma Turner, of Wayland, gave a birthday dinner for Mrs. Bola Cottrell, of Lexington, Monday evening. Mrs. Cottrell visited her mother, Mrs. Hallie Webb, here and accompanied her to Wayland where they both spent the night. Mrs. Turner is Mrs. Webb's sister and Mrs. Cottrell's aunt. Others attending the dinner were Zeda Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Turner and Tramble Turner. Mrs. Cottrell returned to Lexington on Tuesday.

Robert Webb, Brian and Casey, of Delphos, Ohio, spent Friday night here with his mother, Mrs. Hallie Webb, and Beatrice Chaffins.

Mrs. Barbara Salisbury, of Hite, spent Thursday night with Mrs. Hallie Webb and Beatrice. She and Beatrice called on Mrs. Bernice Arnett while she was here.

Mrs. Judy Allen and children gave a birthday party for Mrs. Bud Hagans, Sunday. Those enjoying the party with Mrs. Hagans were Mr. Hagans, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Branham, Mrs. Zeda Martin, Mrs. Helen Hagans, Mrs. Wanda Vanderpool, Mrs. Donna Gray and children and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hagans and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ramey and Tim, of Alexandria, Ky., spent the week-end here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Thurmal Click and at Eastern where they visited Mrs. Marie Martin and Yvette and other relatives.

Immunization Required For Childhood Diseases

Kentucky children are required by law to be immunized against polio, whooping cough, tetanus and diphtheria early in life. Immunization should begin at two months of age. It is also recommended that children should be immunized against measles, mumps and rubella when they are one year old. A new combined vaccine can now give permanent protection against all three of these diseases in a single shot.

October is Immunization Action Month, a perfect time to see your doctor or your local health department to be sure your children are fully protected against these serious childhood diseases. The Floyd County Health Department offers immunizations against all of these diseases, free of charge, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 4.

KET Film in Top Americana Finalists

The film, "Ralph Eugene Meatyard, 1925-1972," produced by three Kentucky Educational Television staff members, was one of the top 10 finalists in the 1975 Eudora Welty Americana Award contest sponsored by the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

KET staff members Martha Chute, Stanley Majka and Guy Mendes created the 10-minute film dealing with Ralph Eugene Meatyard—an internationally-known photographer who worked as an optician in Lexington. Like Charles Ives, Wallace Stevens and William Carlos Williams, Meatyard was a businessman (Eyeglasses of Kentucky) who devoted week-ends and spare time to his art.

The film, done in black and white, includes many portraits and self-portraits of Meatyard. It is occasionally used between programs on KET.

GOVERNOR Julian Carroll's First Ten Months in Office

WHAT GOVERNOR CARROLL'S DOING TO SOLVE OUR PROBLEMS

He's Off To A Great Start

Last December, Julian Carroll became Governor, after 11 years in our State Legislature and three years as Lieutenant Governor. In this short period of time as Governor, he has used his experience to cut through the red tape of State Government and start solving Kentucky's problems.

EDUCATION - Critical

Governor Carroll has assigned education his first priority. By freezing all new State expenditures, Governor Carroll has been able to add $40 million to education programs. Money that will serve to benefit all Kentuckians.

In channeling these funds away from other areas and to education, Governor Carroll was able to do something new . . . fund education without increasing taxes.

ECONOMY

When Governor Carroll came into office the nation's economy was depressed, and other states were starting to show 10% and 12% unemployment.

Governor Carroll acted quickly, providing financial assistance and employment opportunities for 14,000 Kentuckians.

ELDERLY

Since his early days in the State Legislature, Governor Carroll has been an advocate for Kentucky's elderly.

He has established the position of Special Assistant for Aging in the Office of the Secretary of Human Resources, and made appropriations for two programs for the elderly.

Governor Carroll changed Kentucky's State Retirement Policy, raising the compulsory retirement age from 65 to 70.

ENVIRONMENT

When Governor Carroll took office he appointed a known conservationist to the top strip mine enforcement job. Since then 190 strip mine permits have been revoked for violating Kentucky law. Responsible miners continue to produce the coal necessary to meet our energy needs.

In other action to protect our environment, Governor Carroll cancelled the proposed Red River Dam, and allocated funds to place pollution abatement equipment in state buildings.

Forestry Office Here To Have Plane for Fire Detection

Frankfort, Ky.—Falling leaves are ushering in Kentucky's annual fall fire season.

As Harry Nadler, director of the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, points out, "The bright orange and red leaves of autumn are falling to the ground, turning brown and drying out. Unfortunately, some of those same colors will be reborn in orange-red flames of forest fires that will feed on the newly fallen leaves."

Nadler said this fall the division of forestry is extending its use of airplanes in forest fire detection to two additional districts. The six-county eastern district with headquarters at Prestonsburg and the 12 counties of the Green River district headquartered at Madisonville have been selected for the expanded aerial detection system this fall.

According to Nadler, the system has been used successfully in the western and northeastern districts for several years. Nadler said the airplanes permit forestry officials to spot fires quicker and with more accuracy. The airplanes are very helpful to the ground crews in providing directions for the shortest route into a fire. This should be particularly useful in the heavily forested eastern district.

Nadler said use of the aerial detection system does not mean the forestry division is abandoning its system of fire lookout towers. Several key lookouts will be operated in the eastern and Green River districts to aid in communications. The remaining towers will be used in emergencies.

This fall the division will start receiving fire weather forecasts from the National Weather Service in Louisville, rather than Cincinnati as had been done in the past. These forecasts, combined with information the division receives from local weather stations, help the fire control people predict both the likelihood of fires starting and how rapidly they might burn if they do start.

Nadler said that this past spring Kentucky had its least destructive fire season, with 945 fires burning 9,452 acres. "If everyone exercises reasonable care this fall," said Nadler, "1975 will be the best year that Kentucky has ever had."

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK
(Attorney General)

Have you bought land in Kentucky or out-of-state that isn't what you thought it was? If so, you may be taken again by dishonest salesmen.

There are people who know about the land you bought and how much you paid for it. This information may be used by these people in an effort to convince you that they can sell the property for you. Don't be taken in.

Beware of two sales pitches often used by these people.

In one, a salesman contacts you saying he has a "buyer" waiting to purchase your land. It will cost you several hundred dollars to have the land sold, but this money, according to the salesman, is applied to closing costs and attorney's fees. The money will be required in advance. If he gets your money, chances are good that you won't see him or the money again.

The other sales gambit is asking you to "list" your land for sale. The price to list the land is several hundred dollars for the first listing and additional money for listings thereafter. Again many Kentucky consumers have paid their money and never had the property listed or sold, since no real listing service exists as represented.

Beware of land salesmen that come to your door or call you on the phone. Check their reliability. Don't be taken the second time.

If you have a complaint about a land salesman or any other matter, write to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, The Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call toll-free on the consumer hotline: 1-800-372-2960.

Reclamation Methods Talked At Environmental Group Meet

By MARVA GAY

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Members of the Environmental Quality Commission (EQC) heard various methods of reclaiming strip-mined land, how to keep track of reclamation activities and what to do with repeated violators at its recent meeting in Frankfort.

Representatives from the U. S. Forest Service and the coal industry discussed reclamation and reforestation techniques. A consultant with a Louisville engineering firm explained proposed computer techniques for keeping track of reclamation activities. And, officials of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection explained, a proposed regulation concerning repeated noncompliance with state reclamation regulations.

NOTICE

Harold Rothwell has filed application with the Floyd County Court for license to operate a place of entertainment, the Garrett Entertainment Center, at Garrett, Ky.

C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
Clerk, Floyd County Court

Willis Vogel, of the U. S. Forest Service, emphasized that careful planning must be done before a strip mine is begun to insure that environmental damage is held to a minimum and that the land is prepared for some desirable use after mining is finished. The surface owner should determine what that use will be, said Vogel. When the landowner shows no preference for future land use, Vogel said it probably will be developed into forest land.

Roy Mullins, reclamation supervisor for Falcon Coal Co., said one of the biggest problems with reclamation is that the surface owners often do not have say in deciding what the future use of strip-mined land will be.

"I would like to see the mine operator working with the surface owner and the division of reclamation in working out the plan of restoring the area," said Mullins.

David Ferguson, of Shimpler and Corradino Associates, reported that his firm has completed a study of the state's reclamation offices and computerization of the reclamation files has been recommended.

State officials hope to solve the problem of what to do with repeated violators of state reclamation regulations with a proposed regulation that will be subject to a public hearing Nov. 18 in Frankfort.

Perry R. White, Jr., general counsel for the department, explained that it was an attempt to come out with something fair that would not unduly punish those operators who were trying to do a good reclamation job but would, at the same time, not permit an operator to repeatedly ignore reclamation regulations.

The next EQC meeting is scheduled for Nov. 19.

Mark Russell Special On KET, November 8

As a 14-year resident comedian at the Washington, D. C., Shoreham Hotel, the political satirist Mark Russell has impartially squelched the leaders of both political parties.

He brings his topical humor to public television on the "Mark Russell Comedy Special," the first of five specials Russell will be presenting on the Public Broadcasting Service. The 30-minute program airs Saturday, November 8 at 8:30 p.m. (ET), 7:30 p.m. (CT) on Kentucky Educational Television (KET).

Russell has performed in night clubs throughout the country; has performed on all the major talk shows; and has cut three record albums: "Up the Potomac Without a Canoe," "The Face on the Senate Floor," and "Wild, Weird, Wired World of Watergate." His syndicated column for the Los Angeles Times appears in over 100 newspapers.

FACTS

THE VOTERS IN MARTIN SHOULD KNOW

Let me set the record straight, Mr. Opponent. I asked you to tell the truth about the City Finances. Through guilt you answered, saying the merchants were paying revenue lost on our parking meters. You must have become worried after I started questioning you about the City's Finances, and began sending the Police around town trying to collect some lost revenue in order to establish a record of collection.

I recently made a survey over town and find some merchants have never been contacted about paying for loss on parking. One merchant paid $25.00; some paid for 3 months out of 9 months. That is being unfair to the merchants. You want them to pay for your customers' parking.

Why don't you be truthful and admit you stopped meter collection after a new business located in or near the City of Martin. Not only did you stop meter collection, but you had signs ordered and installed, allowing free parking in or near your place of business. This was all done at the taxpayers' expense.

To top it all, Mr. Mayor, you even tried to prevent the new business from locating in the city limits. You even made the statement that Martin was big enough, and did not need to grow. This also added to our loss of revenue because of taxes from the new business.

By the way, Mr. Mayor, if you should be re-elected, do you still plan to use the payroll tax plan against all working in the corporation limits?

I want to state that I was born and raised in or near the City of Martin, and my life's ambition was to do everything I could to make the City of Martin a better place in which to live.

I make this last appeal to the voters of Martin to vote for and elect me your next Mayor of Martin, Ky.

Thanks,
JAMES (JACK) CONLEY

A Thought to Remember

By LARRY BURKE
Someone has said that there are five foods which are essential in a person's growth. They are love, learning, beauty, service and suffering. Without these foods the soul does not grow.
Given hunger the soul grows in an experience of love. We are nourished when one hungers for learning, studies, seeks mastery of a subject. Beauty comes only when we strive to appreciate or create the beautiful.
Suffering as food may seem to us hard experiences, but have you not noticed that men intent upon spiritual achievement have grown more surely and rapidly when suffering was their lot, rather than when life moved along like a song.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: No high or higher stage in life is reached without devotion.

Jenny Wiley Council Hears Work Reviews

The doors of the new Salyersville Grade School were opened recently to the October meeting of the Jenny Wiley Reading Council. Teachers and parents representing three counties gathered to review and discuss various programs peculiar to individual schools in this area.

Linda Conley, reading teacher in the Prater-Borders Elementary School in Magoffin county, gave the group a brief description of the school's total reading program. Now in its fourth year, the program involves every teacher as a reading teacher, and designates the first hour of each day as a teaching of reading period. This project, according to Mrs. Conley, has been successful, and a marked improvement in the students' overall reading ability can be seen.

A report prepared by kindergarten teacher Donna Gray and supplemented by first-grade teacher Wilma Crisp described the pilot kindergarten program now in progress in Floyd county's Martin Elementary School. Emphasizing social growth and language development, the Martin kindergarten consists of both morning and afternoon sessions. Some of the objectives include the teaching of alphabet names, numerals 1-20, listening skills, and identification of colors. Because of the child's involvement in kindergarten activities, the first grade readiness period is sometimes eliminated.

Parents and teachers were introduced to the ita (initial teaching alphabet) method of teaching reading currently used in the McDowell school. An alphabet consisting of 44 characters instead of the traditional 26, ita enables the student to associate one character with only one sound, according to reading teacher, Bertha Ratliff. The transition from ita to the traditional alphabet usually occurs around the end of the first grade or the beginning of the second.

Highlighting the evening activities was an entertainment act by students from the Prater-Borders School. Refreshments were served by the Magoffin county school personnel.

Polltaker Reports Citizens Favor Judicial Amendment

Approximately 90 percent of the voting-age Kentuckians contacted in a recent survey favor having a modern court system in the state and, by a margin of nearly five to one, indicated that they would vote "Yes" on a Constitutional Amendment for the courts that will be included on the November 4 general election ballot.

In answer to the question "Are you in favor of amending the Constitution of the Commonwealth to revise the Judicial Branch of Government by establishing one Court of Justice, composed of a Supreme Court, a Court of Appeals, a trial court of limited jurisdiction known as the district court, but retain the non-judicial powers and duties conferred upon the county judge and justices of the peace; providing the location, composition, administration and jurisdiction of such courts; providing for the eligibility, term of office, election removal, filling of vacancies, prohibited activities, compensation, and retirement of judges of such courts; providing for the election, selection and removal of the clerks of such courts; and providing a schedule of transition for those judges in office on the effective date of the amendment?" 43 percent said they would vote "Yes", nine percent said "No", and the remainder said they "don't know".

These are some of the results of a survey by the John Kraft Opinion Research Company of Washington, D. C., to determine the reaction of Kentucky voters to certain aspects of the Court of Justice as contained in the amendment.

The amendment would establish a Court of Justice for Kentucky composed of a Supreme Court, an intermediate Court of Appeals, circuit courts, and district courts. The amendment would also require that all judges within the Court of Justice be licensed attorneys elected to office on a nonpartisan basis.

The survey showed that Kentuckians are greatly in favor of the professional, structural and financial changes contained in the amendment as they compare to the present court system.

For example, 82 percent favor having judges elected rather than appointed and 74 percent feel that judges should be elected in a nonpartisan manner with no political party involvement. Also, 66 percent of those surveyed felt that, once elected, judges should be required to give up any outside law practice.

Regarding structural changes 75 percent felt that Kentucky needs two courts for appeals, an intermediate court for lesser cases and a higher court for more important cases.

Although 58 percent of those surveyed favor having the county judge handle only executive and fiscal duties and not serve as a judge in the courts, 72 percent feel that each county should have at least one full-time lower court judge.

Concerning the appointment and removal of judges, 50 percent agree that vacancies should be filled by the Governor from a list of three names chosen by a panel of lawyers, laymen, and judges. Sixty-nine percent favor having a 6-member commission of one lawyer, two laymen, and three judges that could remove judges for good cause.

Financially, 53 percent agree that state government should pay the cost of all Kentucky courts, but 65 percent feel that fines and fees collected for the violation of local ordinances should be returned to local governments with the remainder going to help finance the new courts.

Finally, 74 percent of those surveyed feel that Kentucky should have a court system that was a model for the country, while 12 percent are in favor of keeping the present court system as it was established in 1891.

EDUCATION OFFICIAL FAVORED IN RULING

FRANKFORT, Ky.—A judgement in favor of Ben F. Coffman, assistant state superintendent of public instruction for rehabilitation services, has been entered in a slander suit filed by a blind Louisville woman.

Mrs. Betty Gissoni, an employe in the Louisville office of the Division of Services for the Blind, filed the $660,000 suit against Coffman in Franklin Circuit Court last June.

Admitted to Appellate Court Practice

In a formal session of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, 208 newly licensed attorneys were presented to take the constitutional oath which admits them to practice before the state's highest Court. Frances Jones Mills, Clerk of the Court of Appeals, administered the oath to all the attorneys. Shown above is William S. Kendrick, Prestonsburg, receiving the oath from Mrs. Mills.

Attorney Kendrick graduated cum laude from the University of Louisville Law School in May, and successfully completed the State Bar Examination.

A 1964 graduate of Prestonsburg high school and Vietnam veteran serving in the U. S. Army, Mr. Kendrick attended Prestonsburg Community College, received his B.A. in English from the University of Kentucky in 1968 and later earned a Master of Arts degree in English from UK.

A son of Mae S. Kendrick and W. B. Kendrick, of Prestonsburg, Attorney Kendrick will be associated with Dan Rowland with offices in the Ford-Ranier Building, Prestonsburg.

Mr. Kendrick resides with his wife, the former Leatha Freas, of Franklin, Ky., at their home on Cow Creek.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 27—With one lake reporting good trout fishing and another fair musky angling, the black bass and crappie fishing across Kentucky remains fair to good. The lake-by-lake rundown, as compiled by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources:

BUCKHORN: Crappie good still fishing small minnows in inlets and bays; bluegill good by the same method off deep banks; clear to murky, falling slowly, eight feet below summer pool and 66 degrees.

LAUREL: Black bass good casting medium runners and still fishing minnows in timbered coves; trout good casting and trolling medium runners along deep banks; clear, stable and 61 degrees.

BARKLEY: Crappie good around stick ups in inlets and bays; black bass fair on surface to medium runners along points; below dam, catfish and crappie slow; clear to murky to muddy, rising, 2 1/2 feet above winter pool and 62 degrees.

KENTUCKY: Black bass good in the mid-section tributaries on deep runners over submerged cover; sauger good in mid-section tributaries trolling island bars; crappie fair over deep cover; below dam, catfish, crappie and sauger slow; murky, stable, 2 1/2 feet above winter pool and 60 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Bluegill good along deep banks and stick ups; rockfish slow casting and trolling deep runners on the lower lake; clear to murky, falling slowly, four feet above winter pool and 65 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Black bass fair on medium runners in heads of inlets and bays and in scattered jumps on the lower lake; white bass and crappie fair still fishing minnows off deep banks at night; below dam, trout good with some limits; clear, falling, 27 feet below timberline and 64 degrees.

NOLIN: Black bass fair on surface lures and artificial nightcrawlers in timbered coves and over weed beds; bluegill fair off deep banks; clear to murky, rising, 7 1/2 feet above summer pool and 63 degrees.

DEWEY: Crappie fair over submerged cover; murky to muddy, stable and 60 degrees.

BARREN: Crappie slow to fair over drop-offs and submerged cover; black bass slow to fair on medium runners along points and drop-offs; clear to murky to muddy, falling, one foot above summer pool and 61 degrees.

GREEN: Black bass fair on medium to deep runners along points; crappie slow to fair in timbered coves; clear to murky, falling, three feet above summer pool and 63 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Musky fair casting and trolling deep runners along shallow banks; black bass slow casting medium to deep runners and still fishing minnows in inlets and bays; clear to murky to muddy, falling, 1 1/2 feet below summer pool and 51 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Black bass fair on surface to medium runners off deep banks; crappie slow over submerged cover; clear, stable at winter pool and 65 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Crappie fair over submerged cover; black bass slow on medium to deep runners in inlets and bays; below dam, bluegill good, trout fair; clear to murky, falling slowly, four feet below summer pool and 60 degrees.

FISHTRAP: Crappie fair around stick ups; clear to murky, stable, 18 feet below summer pool and 62 degrees.

GRAYSON: Black bass slow to fair casting surface to medium runners and still fishing minnows in inlets and bays; crappie slow over submerged cover; below dam, trout fair; clear to murky, falling, four feet below summer pool and 57 degrees.

MISS HEARST, HARRISES JUST MISSED DETECTION

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Patricia Hearst and Emily and William Harris narrowly escaped detection in March after the body of a murder victim was found near their hideout, police reported Sunday.

Detective Sgt. Sam Somers said the hideout, a rundown duplex, was visited during the investigation of a robbery and murder that was unrelated to SLA activities.

But Somers denied a report in this week's Time magazine that the aliases used by the three were found on police records after federal agents discovered the hideout.

Son of Former Floyd Couple, Auto Victim

Six-year-old William David Patton, son of a former Floyd county couple, died at 11 a.m. Sunday at Children's Hospital, Cincinnati, O., of injuries sustained Friday night when struck by an automobile near his parents' home in Erlanger, Ky.

The child was struck by an auto driven by an 18-year-old youth whose identity was not released by Erlanger police. The driver was not held, police holding that the tragedy was unavoidable because the child darted into the path of the auto.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Patton and one sister, Jennifer, all of Erlanger; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie B. Patton, of Langley, and Mrs. Mary C. Pierce, of Louisville.

The body was taken from the Linermann Funeral Home, Erlanger, to the Pearson Funeral Home, Louisville, where funeral rites were conducted. Burial was made in St. Louis cemetery, Louisville.

Arthritis symptoms may come and go but the disease is chronic and not yet curable.

2-Day Heart Clinic Slated Nov. 12-13th

A two-day consultative and diagnostic heart clinic for medically indigent patients will be held at the Floyd County Health Department, Wednesday and Thursday, November 12 and 13.

The clinic is being organized so that adults only will be admitted to the clinic on November 12 and children only will be seen on November 13.

Physicians from the departments of Medicine and Pediatrics at the University of Kentucky Medical Center will conduct the clinic.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Heart Association, the Bureau for Health Services and the County Health Departments, this clinic provides a diagnostic service for the patient along with recommendations for treatment and management of the case. It also provides an opportunity for the referring physician to consult with the clinical regarding his patient.

Necessary expenses of the clinic are being underwritten by the Kentucky Heart Association and the Bureau for Health Services. Clinic personnel as well as space and equipment will be provided by the Floyd County Health Department as well as the Bureau for Health Services and the Kentucky Heart Association.

Only those patients who have been referred by a physician and have a written referral will be admitted to the clinic. Counties in this clinic area are Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike.

The proportion of all employed persons who held more than one job in 1975, at 4.7 percent, was also about the same as a year earlier.

Former Policemen Back on Job Here

Two former policemen here have returned to the Prestonsburg police force, bringing the department up to full strength after a few months of manpower shortage.

Returning to the force are Kenneth Kelly and Craig Kilgore, both of whom were deputy sheriffs for a time after leaving the police department.

City officials said this week Prestonsburg's two new parking lots are ready for blacktopping and that when they are put to use, hopefully within the next 10 days, Prestonsburg will have possibly more municipal parking facilities than any town of its size in Eastern Kentucky.

One of the lots, on the site of the former Sallye L. Clarke home on Arnold Avenue, lies between the City's First avenue lot and the Courthouse parking facility. The other is on property purchased by the city from the Anna Stephens heirs.

The multiple jobholding rate for men, at 5.8 percent, remained substantially higher than the rate for women, 2.9 percent. Men 25-54 years old and married men continued to have the highest multiple jobholding rates.

Floyd County Health Notes

A public health nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will conduct an outpost clinic Monday, November 3, at the Beaver Valley Clinic in Martin. Clinic hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the following services being available: immunizations, pap smears, TB skin tests, blood pressures, and diabetes screening.

All persons in the Martin vicinity are urged to take advantage of these free services in their community.

A pap smear clinic will be held at the Floyd County Health Department Thursday, October 30, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. This clinic is free and open to all women.

The public health nurses remind all women that in order to have continuing protection against cervical cancer, they should have a pap smear at least once a year.

Local Avon District Wins Nat'l Contest

The success of Avon ladies in this district will go a long way toward bringing a bit of cosmopolitan life to this section soon.

The district, which includes Floyd and Pike counties, has won Avon's national sales contest—which means that Avon representatives in this area under the supervision of Mrs. Betty Galliher out-sold those in 2,800 other districts, nationwide.

The president of Avon and other company officials will be here Tuesday, November 11, for a fete in honor of their super-salesladies. This will not be just the usual dinner, but will also see the presentation of $15,000 in awards, including a car, color TVs, fur wraps, and other items.

Arthritis attacks infants and children. There are at least 250,000 children in the U. S. today who have juvenile rheumatoid arthritis.

Safe Venting of Furnaces, Stoves Can Prevent Deaths from Monoxide

Every winter some people die, usually in their sleep, from inhaling the fumes of an improperly-vented or malfunctioning stove or furnace.

Combustion fumes leaking into the house or backing up into a heating unit kill people and cause fires every heating season, according to UK Extension agricultural engineers. Don't give this hazard a chance at your house.

Carbon monoxide fumes from any fuel-burning range, space heater or furnace are poisonous. That's why you shouldn't use a gas oven to take the chill off your kitchen, why you should leave pilot lights on, and why you must always vent any type of fuel-burning heater or furnace safely to the outdoors.

So keep your chimney clean, removing soot, broken bricks, bird nests, and anything else that might hinder the escape of gas. Test the chimney to see if it draws well by holding a lighted match or piece of burning newspaper near the clean-out or other opening. If smoke goes right up the chimney, it is drawing properly.

If it's not drawing properly, check the outdoor height of your chimney or stovepipe. If chimney is not at the roof peak, it should extend at least 2 feet 6 inches above the highest point. The top of the chimney at the peak of the roof should come at least 2 feet above the peak. On a flat roof, the top of the chimney or stovepipe should extend at least 3 feet above the rooftop.

Ideally, each stove or furnace should have a separate flue to vent into. Every time you add another pipe to a flue, the other pipes get less of the suction action that draws smoke and fumes up and outdoors. If you have a part-time stove you use in the same flue as a furnace, be sure to plug the chimney hole or close the damper tightly when the stove is not in use.

If you must vent two stoves into the same flue, run them in at different levels, at least 2 feet apart. Close each stove's damper when it's not in use. If you remove the stove, plug the chimney hole so the regular heating system can do its job more efficiently.

If nearby trees or tall buildings create downdrafts in your chimney, installing a regulation hood or chimney top may help deflect these air currents. These will also help keep out rain and snow.

Check vent pipes routinely to make sure there are no holes or loose connections that would let gas fumes escape back into the house.

Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning are drowsiness, headaches, dizziness, confusion, nausea, muscular weakness, and unconsciousness. If someone is overcome by carbon monoxide gas, get him to fresh air, start mouth-to-mouth rescue breathing right away, and call a doctor.

But It's Not For Free We Pay For It All

Governor Julian Carroll has collected from the Kentucky taxpayers nearly $300 million in unnecessary taxes over and above the amount called for in the state budget.

This money comes out of your pockets. It is money you could have spent. Instead, it went to the politicians in Frankfort.

Carroll collected and spent nearly $1 million to finance his primary campaign when he was generally accounted a sure winner.

From these facts arise a disturbing question . . . What Promises did Julian make to his campaign financiers to raise such an exorbitant amount of money and why did he find it necessary to come up with a $300 million excess in taxes? A disturbing correlation could be drawn and summed up in the simple work "kickbacks."

Kentuckians deserve better than this . . .

Facts On Increased Taxes 1972- 1975

CATEGORY	UP	FOR EVERY DOLLAR YOU PAID IN 1971, YOU NOW PAY
SALES TAXES	36.2 Pct.	$1.36
PERSONAL INCOME TAXES	59.5 Pct.	$1.60
PRIVILEGE TAXES	689.1 Pct.	$7.89
STATE GASOLINE TAX	46.1 Pct.	$1.46
STATE GENERAL REVENUE TAXES	49.1 Pct.	$1.49

Julian Wants More Taxes

Julian isn't satisfied with the extra $300 million in taxes he collected from you in 1974-75. He has his Revenueurs seeking ways TO GET MORE TAX MONEY. For example, they are studying a proposal to prevent you from claiming on your state income tax report what you paid on your Federal income tax return. THIS WILL COST YOU ABOUT 22 per cent MORE THAN YOU ARE ALREADY PAYING.

All In The Family

Few people in Frankfort have benefitted financially from the Carroll Administration as has Steve Wilson, Brother-in-law of the Governor.

Wilson has reportedly become a wealthy man in less than a year as a "promoter" and a "public-relations" man. He has used his family influence most recently to realize large profits in producing such state events as the Boonesborough Bicentennial. Wilson also received thousands of dollars from the campaign coffers of his brother-in-law, the Governor.

WILL NOVEMBER 4 BE HIS WATERLOO?

Julian: "My Position On Busing"

IF THE POLITICIANS ARE REALLY AGAINST FORCED BUSING, WHY DOES YOUR STATE GOVERNMENT CONTINUE TO BE A PARTY IN THE SUIT WHICH IS FORCING THE BUSING OF SCHOOL CHILDREN?

Why do the politicians continue to say one thing while doing another thing?

When Julian was Lt. Governor, he hired busing attorney Tom Hogan at $21,000 a year and allowed Hogan to spend his work days in Judge Gordon's court.

During the 1974 legislature, Julian Carroll condoned the Blume Merger Bill which led to forced busing.

Then Julian's friend "lost" the application for a Constitutional Convention to stop forced busing.

In February, 1975, Jefferson County parents pleaded with Julian for his support in stopping the merger which would lead to forced busing. Julian sent his final answer: "The Governor has decided not to get involved."

There is only one reward for a record like that:

BUS JULIAN BACK TO PADUCAH

Scandals

When Julian Carroll ran for Lt. Governor, his campaign committees received thousands of dollars in illegal under-the-table contributions from a big oil company and from strip-miners in Virginia.

This year, Julian received money from an unregistered political committee, a violation of Kentucky law.

The Grand Jury is now investigating the many illegal activities found by the Congress while auditing a fund-raising campaign in which Julian participated. The activities include 81 illegal corporate contributions, secret safety deposit boxes, interest-free loans and kickbacks from contractors.

How does Julian get away with it? He gave a $90,000 personal service contract to a member of the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance. And that member is a business associate of Julian's bag-man in his million dollar primary campaign.

Workshop for Package Sewage Plant Operators

Morehead, Ky.—Two universities and the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection will sponsor a workshop for package sewage plant operators on Nov. 5, 6 and 7.

Morehead State University and the University of Kentucky are backing the program to stress maintenance and operation of the small plants, commonly used by school systems, industry and housing developments. To be conducted at the Minor E. Clark Fish Hatchery, near Morehead, the workshop is designed to help local systems meet criteria established by the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974. Sessions are scheduled daily from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

In Memoriam

In memory of Lewis Edward Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Hall:

Loving thoughts and solemn tears Have marked the passing of four years; Tears may dry and fade away, But in our hearts you will always stay. Memories are treasures that no one can steal, Death is a heartache that no one can heal.

In our hearts your memory lingers, Sweetly, tender, fond and true, There is not a day, dear Lewis, That we do not think of you. He passed away beyond the River, We hear his voice no more; He is resting, sweetly resting Over on the other shore.

Sadly missed by Mother and Father, Sisters and Brothers
