

David Gets Help with Cleanup

Heavy equipment at work in David ball park vicinity.

The clean-up and beautification project which was begun more than two months ago by the David Community Improvement Council gained momentum over the week-end as earth-moving equipment was donated and experienced operators volunteered their services to help residents in the work.

Bulldozers, along with an end-loader-backhoe, grader and three dump trucks were donated by the Prestonsburg-based Branham & Baker Coal Company, and seven employees of the company donated their time and experience to operate the machinery. Branham & Baker President Jay Sasall pointed out that none of the men was a resident of David.

The week-end's work was concentrated on the David ballfield where the heavy equipment was used to improve drainage of the area as well as general clearing.

David residents of all ages and members of the St. Vincent Mission joined in collecting trash and helping in clearing work. Also lending a hand was Matthew Ngwu, a native of Lagos, Nigeria, who is a student at Western Kentucky University. Mr. Ngwu had been invited to the clean-up by Sasall, who met the young Nigerian on a trip to that African nation.

Ashland Howard, president of the David Development Corporation, said a number of people had helped the community in its effort and he cited county officials for their cooperation. Explaining the purpose of the beautification effort, Mr. Howard said, "We're trying to build the town back up to where people of low income can live in decent surroundings and, maybe, to attract a few people to our community."

Salisbury Says Law Not Broken By Him, Trooper

ABC Agent Ted Salisbury responded this week to the statement by Magistrate Kenneth Roberts in The Floyd County Times, April 21, alleging that Salisbury and State Trooper R. Castle had violated the law in taking a prisoner arrested in his magisterial district to another magistrate.

Mr. Salisbury replied that he and the trooper did not violate the law and invited Roberts to take threatened legal action now without waiting for a second alleged violation.

He claimed:

1. That the arrest was not made in Wayland but after he and Castle had chased a car loaded with beer and other intoxicants from Wayland to a point near the foot of what is known as the Sizemore mountain, and that the arrest was made between 3 and 5 a.m., the morning of April 19.

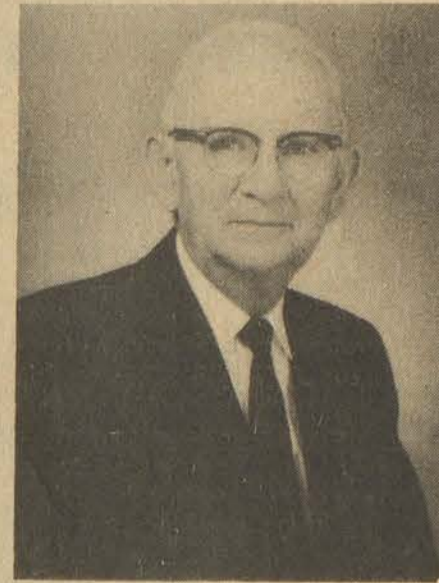

2. That he believes the arrest was made nearer Magistrate Akers, before whom the prisoner was taken, at McDowell.

3. That Trooper Castle called Roberts

Court To Award Work Contracts

Resigns Treasurer Post After 40 Years' Service

W. J. May, of Prestonsburg, submitted to the fiscal court at its Monday meeting here his resignation as county treasurer, a post which he has held for 40 years. His resignation will become effective May 1.

Upon accepting the resignation the court adopted a resolution which reads, in part:

"... W. J. May, the treasurer of Floyd county, Kentucky, having started his public service as treasurer of Floyd county in the year 1936 and having served in that capacity until the present date, and the said W. J. May having served Floyd county with honesty and diligence... the members of the Floyd county fiscal court wish to thank the said W. J. May for his faithful service to our county and the people. This county should appreciate his service because he has been a very capable and efficient public servant."

Now 85, Mr. May retired as president of the Bank Josephine, Sept. 1, 1973. At that time he lacked only two months of having served the bank in various capacities for 61 years, the last 17 years as president.

Severance Funds To Finance Work On Roads, Span

The Floyd fiscal court voted Monday to advertise for highway, street and bridge projects in the county's four magisterial districts which will cost an estimated $390,715.

The several projects will be advertised for construction bids, with the letting date set at 10 a.m. May 24. Work is planned for the summer months.

The work will be financed by coal severance tax funds.

All road surfacing for which bids will be asked is planned as Class I blacktop.

The projects listed for each district: District 1—Left fork of Abbott Creek, 3 miles surfacing $39,204; streets in Auxier, $15,742.38; streets in Emma, $6,265; other streets in Emma to a proposed plant site, $21,340—total, $82,551.38.

(Magistrate Bill Wells, of District 1, said expenditures in his district will approximate $100,000, in the range allotted each of the districts.)

District 2—Bridge over Right Beaver Creek at Eastern, $48,180; streets in Maytown, $17,212.80; Stamper Branch road, $6,883.80; Shop Fork at Wayland road, $6,883.80; Millard Allen road at Lackey, $9,332.50; Baptist Bottom road at Garrett, $14,688.85—total, $103,181.75.

District 3—Frazier's Creek road at McDowell, $100,053.25.

District 4—Little Mud road to top of the Spurlock hill, $75,899.45; Cedar Hills roads at Betsy Layne, $26,897.20 and $2,132.80—total, $104,929.25.

An attempt to terminate the employment of Charles Hall as sanitation inspector was stalled when the vote was tied, with Magistrates Kenneth and Dewey Roberts voting for the motion, Magistrate Leroy Akers and County Judge Henry Stumbo voting against. The

Bicentennial Caravan To Visit Here, May 17

"Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South," a traveling caravan of exhibits depicting the history and development of the South, will visit Prestonsburg, May 17.

The caravan will be located at the downtown parking area and will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. There will be no admission charge. The exhibit is co-sponsored by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Kentucky Army National Guard, and is being locally sponsored by the Bicentennial committee of the Prestonsburg Area Chamber of Commerce.

The caravan consists of five exhibit trailers which will be placed in a connected, U-shaped configuration. The interior of each trailer is designed so that the visitor will be taken back through time to the late 1500's, when Indian villages once dotted the region. Displays and sound effects have been combined to isolate the visitor from the outside world while recreating the movement of history as it took place in the South, from the distant past to the promise of the future.

A unique and exciting audiovisual presentation entitled "Celebration" will complement the historical theme of the caravan by featuring contemporary life in the South. This ten-minute program was awarded a grand prize at the New York International Film and Television Festival last November. It uses 15 simultaneous slide projectors and a large screen built into the side of one trailer. More than 900 slides are presented in synchronization with original music.

An outdoor exhibit of items of historical interest will also accompany the caravan. More than 100 artifacts are included in the caravan displays, and the outdoor exhibit, ranging from a 10,000-year-old Clovis spearpoint to a moon rock brought back during one of the Apollo space flights. These artifacts have been donated by various organizations, including the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), the Smithsonian Institution and individual collectors.

A special commemorative newspaper will be given to each individual or family attending the exhibit. In addition, seeds and seedlings from rare and historic plants will also be available for sale. Included among these will be seedlings from Franklania alatamaha, a beautiful small tree which was discovered about 1760 in southeastern Georgia and named in honor of Benjamin Franklin. Franklania are quite rare, with less than 100 mature trees in existence, and it is hoped that distribution and planting of these seedlings will ensure the preservation of Franklania for future generations to enjoy.

3 Projects, 1 in Floyd, Are Buried HUD-Approved List Omits Work OK'd By Big Sandy ADD

Three projects in as many counties of the area which had been recommended by the Big Sandy Area Development District for Housing and Urban Development funding have been buried deep in the list of projects given HUD priority, and the lone Big Sandy community undertaking winning HUD approval is Pikeville's, which Big Sandy ADD had given a very low rating.

The projects that are at least temporarily lost from HUD consideration are (1) expansion of Prestonsburg's water system to a capacity of 3 million gallons a day, (2) the Licking river cut-through at Salyersville to prevent flooding, and (3) a water project in Pike county.

Only one Big Sandy project was definitely approved by HUD, and that was for $342,000 to supply housing for persons displaced by the Pikeville cut-through. A second, Johnson county water line extension to cost about $350,000, was encouraged to continue in the struggle for HUD recognition. Neither of these projects was submitted through Big Sandy ADD but were entered independently.

Kathi Anne Mullins Named Miss Floyd County, 1976

The dream came true Saturday night for an area young woman when she was crowned Miss Floyd County, 1976. The winner's trophy was presented to Miss Kathi Anne Mullins, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Mullins, of Melvin.

To Mr. and Mrs. Mullins their daughter's triumph wasn't anything new, since another daughter, Linda, was crowned Miss Floyd County, 1971.

A freshman at Morehead State University, Miss Mullins was sponsored by the Beaver Valley Kiwanis Club. She presented an organ performance. At the conclusion of the evening, following evening gown, swimsuit and talent appearances, she was crowned the new Miss Floyd County by Miss Melissa Lafferty, reigning queen of 1975.

A record crowd was on hand at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse Saturday night when the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club presented its 13th annual Miss Floyd County Scholarship Pageant. The theme of this year's pageant was, "Star-Spangled Girls."

Miss Mary Lynne Wright was the winner of the first runner-up trophy as well as the talent award. She was also voted "Miss Congeniality" by fellow contestants. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elder Wright, of Prestonsburg.

Miss Sherry Lynn Music, 19, of East Point, won the second runner-up trophy. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Music.

After each phase of competition, clubwoman Janice Allen gave the judges' cards to the auditors, Paul P. Burchett and Ron Johnson, who tallied the votes.

Dan Rowland served as master of ceremonies and special entertainment was provided by Gus Kalos and the Prestonsburg Community College Stage Band. Escorts were Ricky Davis, Larry Brown and Dennis Walker.

One of the highlights of the evening was a salute to H. C. "Huck" Francis for being an outstanding citizen and providing guidance, assistance and support every organization that has sought his advice and help.

Mrs. Patricia Beatty gave a description of the wardrobe which was presented to the new Miss Floyd County by local merchants. Her wardrobe was valued at $1,000.00.

Miss Mullins' next assignment will be to prepare for the Miss Kentucky Pageant in Louisville and, hopefully, for the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J.

Mountain Comp. Care Sees Possible Crisis

Mountain Comprehensive Care Center may be facing a second financial crisis since last year's major employee layoff, although agency representatives were conferring with Governor Julian Carroll this week in an effort to procure increased state funding.

Since dwindling federal, state and local financial support forced the layoff last January of more than 30 per cent of the Prestonsburg-based agency's 302 employees, renewal of funding has remained in doubt.

Richard Stai, executive director of MCCC, said without additional support, as much as $430,000 could be cut from the agency's total budget. "The cutback would be mostly in salaries, unfortunately," Stai said.

Negotiations were in progress Tuesday in Frankfort, Stai said, between board members from different centers around the state and Gov. Carroll in an effort to procure additional state funds. Stai pointed out that the state can legally provide up to 50 per cent of the agency's total budget although present state funds amount to only six per cent of the needed funds.

Stai said MCCC was also asking increased support from officials of Floyd, Pike, Martin, Johnson and Magoffin counties which are included in the agency's service area. "We're confident of support from local officials," Stai remarked, "although the severance tax and revenue sharing monies which the counties depend on are also uncertain."

Stai said the agency may be able to acquire local funding by providing its services to prisoners at the county jails on a contract basis rather than free of charge as it has in the past.

Stai said until current talks with officials at various levels of government have concluded, no accurate evaluation of the agency's financial status could be determined.

"We don't know the extent of the layoffs," he said.

$58 Million Allocation Seen For State Road Aid Program

Frankfort, Ky.—Based on current revenue projections, the Kentucky Department of Transportation expects to allocate more than $58 million to county, rural secondary and municipal road aid programs during the new fiscal year (1976-'77) which will begin July 1.

According to state Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, the largest share of those available dollars—about $35 million—will go to finance rural secondary road maintenance and improvement projects.

The remainder will be split, $15 million for county road aid and $8.5 for municipal road aid.

During the past fiscal year, rural secondary road program allocations totaled about $37.8 million. County and municipal road aid programs amounted to approximately $13 million and $8 million, respectively.

Roberts said that the department will start making announcements locally within a few days to report on allocation of 1976-'77 funds as individual rural secondary, county and municipal aid programs are completed. It is expected that the announcements will take several weeks to complete, he said.

The county road aid program is the oldest of the state's three road revenue-sharing programs. It was established in 1936, specifically to help the 120 county governments meet the costs of maintaining their county road systems.

Legislation establishing the rural secondary road program was not enacted until 1948 when the General Assembly recognized the need to increase the number of dollars available to maintain and improve farm-to-market and other essential rural roads.

The municipal road aid program was initiated in 1973. It is intended to assist incorporated communities and unincorporated areas with a population of at least 2,500 (as determined by the decennial census), in the maintenance of their urban streets and roads.

Funds to finance all three programs are derived from taxes paid on the sale of motor fuels.

State Deputy Highways Commissioner Otto Ingram, whose office is responsible for administration of the three programs, explained the tax apportionment formula as follows:

—Out of every nine tax cents collected on the sale of each gallon of motor fuels in Kentucky, the county road aid fund receives nine-tenths of one cent.

—An additional two cents goes into the rural secondary road fund.

—Another one-half cent is earmarked for the municipal road aid fund.

Allocation of those funds to support the three programs at county and municipal levels then are made—once annually on a fiscal-year basis—under a statutory formula which specifies that one-fifth of the total available funds be allocated equally among all 120 counties. The remaining four-fifths then are divided, one-fifth according to each county's rural population; another fifth according to each county's total rural mileage; and two-fifths based on each county's rural acreage.

Prior to splitting the funds according to the statutory "one-fifth formula", 12 per cent of the total available funds are set aside, six per cent to handle departmental costs for administering the program and another six per cent for special allocation—where needed—to cover the costs of special road and bridge repairs.

"While the allocation, management and administration of these programs is a state responsibility," Ingram said, "the department accepts recommendations and advice from county fiscal courts and town councils on how to best meet local needs."

Once those projects have been identified and funded, he added, the actual work may then be carried out by either county, city or state crews, or a combination of them. The rural secondary program is an exception, however. "In those cases, most of the work is done by contractors," Ingram said.

Lauds Conservative Paper

A lady with whom I am well acquainted has given a gift subscription to the Floyd County Library of one of the few conservative newspapers to be found in the United States. This paper is called The National Spotlight. It tells the taxpayer's side of all issues and how your Representative and Senators vote. By the way, do you know if your Congressman votes for his country or for the good of One World government?

Some things in National Spotlight that you won't find in the New York Times, or any other liberal paper are these: The real figure for foreign aid is $20 billion, not $7 billion as we have been told; one of Jimmy Carter's speech writers is Zbigniew Brzezinski, a director of a Bilderberger style group, and if you don't know about the Bilderbergers it's because the "free" press doesn't intend that you should; our country is prepared to help Mozambique as well as Zambia and Tanzania, both Communist dictatorships; Rhodesia, which gets the cold shoulder from our press is anti-communist, pro-American and a free country; last, and it may be the worst of all, the Atlantic Union deal. Have you read about it in your state's leading newspaper? The Atlantic Union will be the first step toward World Government. They would have power to bargain away U.S. sovereignty on all fronts. The forces of world government have gone so far as to actually draft a new constitution for us. Our new name will be "New States of America".

You may purchase this constitution for $10 by writing Liberty Lobby, 300 Independence Ave. S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003. Voting on this Union will soon be done. In 1973 it lost out by only seven votes. This Congress is the most liberal our government has ever had. Unless you protest to your Congressmen, what do you think will happen this time around? Floyd countians ought to read every issue (weekly) of N.S. as found in the Floyd County Library and keep themselves posted.

motion then was withdrawn. The court authorized the payment of $600 to Rutherford Kidd for the one month he served, early this year, as sanitation inspector.

The transfer of $4,500 from other funds to the county road fund was voted in order to pay road workers' salaries. (Most members of the road crew went on strike last Friday in protest to belated salary payment but were back at work, Monday.)

In other action the court:
 - Authorized the county judge to sign a requisition for the grant for the Beaver Elkhorn Water District and to make such requisitions each month hereafter.

- Adopted a resolution guaranteeing perpetual maintenance of the bridge to be constructed across Left Beaver Creek at the mouth of Shop Branch (Cushaw). Construction will be accomplished through use of federal Off-System Program funds.

- Added to the county road system the Toler Creek road from the Mart Wicker place through the Keathley farm to the residence of Ernest Akers.

by telephone but could not reach him.
 4. That Clarence Martin, whose son married Magistrate Roberts' daughter, paid the fine of Edgel Hall, of Teaberry, driver of the liquor car. Martin also was arrested and charged with drinking on the public highway.

Salisbury said he expects to take all prisoners before the county judge, a practise he says he has followed in the past.

The officer said Martin's truck and the auto driven by Hall were both equipped with two-way radio.

The liquor haul from Hall's truck was valued at $809 and included 1200 cans of beer, 72 bottles of beer, 24 half-pints of vodka, 24 half-pints and a "fifth" of whiskey. The trunk of the car and the space ordinarily occupied by the rear seat supplied room for the cargo of intoxicants, Salisbury said.

VISITING IN CHICAGO

Mrs. John Lafossett, Chicago, Ill., is being visited this week by Mrs. Sidney Garland, of Paintsville, and Mrs. Billy Gordon Francis, of Prestonsburg. Mrs. Lafossett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Francis.

Homecoming Reminder

Maytownites everywhere are requested to send news item on themselves and friends at once to Dr. and Mrs. Justin Turner, 1711 Lasassas Road, Murfreesboro, Tenn. 37130. The newsletter will soon be going to press. Plans for the programs are under way. One evening will feature some of Maytown's celebrities, who have scaled heights elsewhere, also the naming of ten localities known as achievers. Another evening will be devoted to recognition of visitors, presentation of 1976 high school king and queen, adult king and queen, and Top Male Citizen and Top Woman of the year.

The big event is scheduled for last week-end in July (23-25), with services in all three churches on Sunday as the celebration comes to a close. All programs will be in the Allen Central High School, to take advantage of air-conditioning. Meals will be available in the cafeteria there. School groups have all concessions, since the Homecoming staff will be busy throughout the entire period. Misses Bertha and Myrtle Ratliff are in charge of registration. Tickets are available. Local citizens are urged to attend.

remained standard. A traveller went into the Williamson bus station with an idea of going to Pikeville. At the ticket window he asked, "When does your bus leave for Pikeville?"

"Seven o'clock.
 "When does it get there?"
 "Seven o'clock."
 "How far is it?"
 "Thirty miles."

As the inquirer turned to leave the ticket agent asked, "Don't you want a ticket?"

"Nope," replied the other. "Believe I'll stick around and watch that bus take off."

A LIVING CROSS

Before I get bogged down in other matters, I want to pass on what just may be the best idea hatched here in years. Give Tom Dingus credit for it. It's this: If some group would clear out a space large enough in that beautifully wooded hillside across the river from Prestonsburg and plant dogwoods in the shape of a giant cross, the result in a few years would be something that would make the community unique at future Easters.

Can't you see that living cross formed by the pure-white bloom of dogwoods, bordered by the green of the native trees?

Just now, when I was about to become lyrical about the idea, it occurred to me that there would be some mundane matters connected with the undertaking. Protecting the dogwoods from forest fires and those vandals who delight in destroying things, for instance.

THE GOOD, OLD DAYS

This item from the Masonic Journal: When the white man discovered America he found Indians here with no debts, no taxes, no overhead, and with the women doing all the work. What a fool he was to think he could improve on the system!

Fellow was telling me that there are two kinds of fish—one which bites, another that strikes. The kind I fish for strikes; has, in fact, been on strike ever since I got enamored of the sport.

Folks have been known to walk or drive miles, just to show me their catch and watch me grow green around the gills. Now comes Mrs. Dan Goble, of Prestonsburg, to tell me that her four-year-old grandson, Paul Dean Reffett, last Saturday caught 19 fish at Dewey Lake. Four years old!—there ought to be a law. . . This youngster also put his dad, David, in my class (Dad caught only three). This toddler baits his own hook, I am told, but that's not what interests me—what I want to know is—when is he gonna take me fishing?

HE WON THE RACE

Edward F. Robinson, chief of the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department, writes to tell of some of the experiences of his group while they were out covering hamlet and countryside, selling tickets to the Renfro Valley Jamboree which the firemen and the Beta Club of Allen Central High School will present at the school Sunday afternoon. Six of the gang went up Brush Creek to Hippo, calling house-to-house. There were some near-dogbites, but the most memorable encounter came when Tom Flannery was attacked by a rather pugnacious rooster. Robinson says Tom lost the battle but that all six feet of him succeeded in outrunning the rooster.

Family Intervention Helps Alcoholics

The old adage that an alcoholic has to hit bottom before he can be helped doesn't always hold true. A new method, called family intervention, helps him realize his desperate situation and gets him into treatment for his disease before he totally ruins his life and those of the ones he loves.

John G. Hubbell writes about the process in the May issue of Reader's Digest. It is based on the findings of Vernon E. Johnson, an Episcopal priest who began recovering from alcoholism in 1962. In his own studies and those of others he learned that the recovery rate was the same for alcoholics who had been forced to enter an alcoholism program and those who entered one voluntarily. Thus, he reasoned, if the alcoholic can be helped to face this chronic and terminal illness early in the game, he has a better chance of recovering without completely damaging his health and his family's happiness.

In a program developed by experts at the Johnson Institute in Minneapolis, Minn., the interveners—family, close friends or business associates—are taught the physiological and psychological facts of alcoholism so they can better understand what the victim is facing. The point is to give him full information about himself—information he has been ignoring, forgetting and transferring to others—in a non-hostile and objective fashion. Thus his wife may point out auto accidents, broken friendships, family fights. His youngster can catalogue failed promises, ruined birthdays, unruly behavior in front of friends. If he accepts the need for treatment, he will be hospitalized for about six weeks for detoxification and an intensive training period where he learns all the facts of his disease.

Following this phase there is a two-year outpatient program for the victim and his family, and after that, Alcoholics Anonymous for himself, Alanon for his spouse and Alateen meetings for teenage children. Treatment for alcoholics—there is no cure—is an ongoing process. "The first, enormously difficult step, though, is to make a willing patient out of a victim," writes Hubbell. "And the Johnson Institute's method for doing this—educated early intervention—is seen by many as the most effective yet devised."

The HUD decisions on Eastern Kentucky projects drew some caustic comment at last week's meeting at May Lodge of directors and staff members of Big Sandy ADD.

Projects on which planning and engineering had been done were originally scheduled by HUD for 100 points to start with in assessing their priority ratings. Engineering studies had been done on all three rejected projects. Neither received the 100 rating points. All finished far down the list. Pikeville, without the 100 points and without Big Sandy ADD recommendation, finished 17th in the list of 22 projects approved by HUD.

Joseph S. McCauley, director of Big Sandy ADD, said Roger Reckenwald and Dick Graff, of the Big Sandy ADD staff, were to confer with HUD officials in Louisville Tuesday in an effort to get a clear definition of the specific reasons for the ratings of the several communities and counties.

McCauley pointed out that HUD had encouraged communities to apply for funds and that in each instance this required spending money for HUD-recommended studies and engineering. "HUD even paid some of the money for these studies, asked us (Big Sandy ADD) to set the priorities, and then apparently ignored both," he said.

He suggested that the Big Sandy Area Development District should spend any extra money it had on hand at the end of the year toward repaying the cities for their expenses in getting engineering studies made.

"We asked for $800,000 for Prestonsburg's water extension, which would have opened up acres and acres of land to home building and development," McCauley said of the rejected project here.

While disappointment was being expressed locally, other communities over the state through their leaders were voicing indignation and suspicion as Republican Congressman Tim Lee Carter's Fifth district received 62 per cent of the entire $10.7 million allotted to Kentucky for community development grants, although his district had filed only 23 per cent of the applications made to get such funds.

The Seventh district allocation is for $1,523,150 and is divided among Breathitt county ($225,000), Pikeville ($342,150), Powell ($531,000), Perry ($200,000), Letcher ($225,000). Other Congressional district allotments: First, $900,000; Second, $694,000; Third and Fourth, none; Sixth, $198,548.

"I think that the grants were distributed for political reasons," said Marshall Long, the mayor of Shelbyville, in the 6th congressional district. Similar views were expressed by Murray mayor John Ed Scott of the 1st District, and Maysville mayor J. C. Rash, in the 7th District.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, a Republican who represents the 5th District and who recently announced his support of President Ford, said that "not one cent" in community development grants is going to his district for political reasons.

Carter, whose hometown of Tompkinsville is receiving $900,000 for an urban renewal project, said that if politics entered into the process, "it's without my knowledge or acquiescence."

"I'm getting poison pen letters daily from unsuccessful applicants—county attorneys, county judges, mayors," said Louisville area HUD director Virgil G. Kinnaird.

Kinnaird said his office followed specific standards in deciding where the $10.7 million should go. "We have never made a decision in the area office based on politics," he said. Several Democratic Kentucky congressmen, including Sen. Wendell Ford and Reps. Carl Perkins and John Breckinridge, have complained to HUD Secretary Carla A. Hills. And a top-level meeting has been scheduled for early May to discuss the issue.

Gunshot Death Of Truck Driver Is Investigated

Although Coroner James J. Carter had not made an official ruling Monday afternoon in the gunshot death early Saturday of Lummie Click, Jr., 29, Banner coal truck driver, the investigation of the death by State Police and Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen was said to indicate that the shot was either self-inflicted or the result of an accident.

Investigators called to the scene of the death, just off US 23 at Banner, said Click had been shot one time in the upper right chest by a bullet from a .22-caliber revolver which was found beneath the body as it lay in the cab of the truck. Ballistics tests showed that the fatal bullet was fired from that weapon, and a paraffin test made by State Police showed evidences of burnt powder on the victim's hand.

The body was found by Click's brother, Richard, who reported the tragedy at the nearby home of State Trooper Leeman Bevins. Click was a driver employed by Onda Hunt and resided on Rice Branch of Prater Creek, near Banner. He was an Air Force veteran of four years, with 11 months service in Vietnam.

Surviving are his parents, Lummie Click, Sr. and Ida Burchett Click, of Banner; his widow, Mrs. Clara May Click; one son, Kevin; three stepsons, Steve, Gregory and Clint Spears; two stepdaughters, Donna and Suzanna Spears; one brother, Richard Click—all residents of Banner and vicinity; and two sisters, Mrs. Gloriana Layne, of Martin, and Mrs. Anna Rose Collins, of Stambaugh, Ky.

The funeral was conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday, from the home of the victim's parents by ministers of the United Baptist Church. Burial was made in the Akers and Hamilton cemetery at Banner under direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Kidnapping Plea By Three Draws 12-Month Term

Three young men who last week entered guilty pleas to the charge of kidnapping were later sentenced by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley to serve 12 months each in jail.

The three—Kenneth Ray Webb, Earl Ray Slone and Richard Hale—were accused of abducting a girl who was later released.

The court session was interrupted Monday morning by the sudden death of Mrs. Mary Irene James Spears, veteran court reporter, and was not expected to resume work before tomorrow (Thursday).

The only jury trial of the week was in the case of Cisco Neeley, who was convicted last Wednesday of a charge of knowingly receiving stolen property and given a one-year pen term. His later motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge Conley. The liquor possession charge against Neeley and Johnny Conley was postponed till September for trial.

Three other defendants entered pleas of guilty. They are:

Paul Carter Jackson, for failure to appear on bail bond; transferred to the Department of Corrections for a period not to exceed two years.

Harold Damron, theft; 30-day jail term and fine of $100.

Don Howard, third degree assault and battery; $250 fine.

The charge of wanton endangerment lodged against Fred Osborne was dismissed at the request of the prosecuting witness.

Coal Truck Citations Up, Convictions Low

Fewer truckers were cited for overweight violations on Kentucky highways last year, and O. B. Arnold, commissioner of the Bureau of Vehicle Regulation, attributed the 23 per cent decline from the 1974 figures mostly to the increase in the weight limits which took effect in January last year.

At the same time, Governor Carroll was expressing concern about the low rate of convictions after citations had been issued.

Overweight citations last year totalled 4,590 as compared to 5,967 in 1974, but coal truck weight violations increased last year to 2,864 from 1974's 2,259.

But, according to Department of Transportation figures, convictions of overweight coal truckers remained low in Eastern Kentucky counties.

Boyd county led in convictions with 69 truckers fined $11,382 out of a total of 117 citations, 97 of which were to coal trucks.

Floyd county had the next high conviction rate—59 out of 314 truckers cited, but the fines assessed amounted to only $2,863.25, according to the Department of Transportation data.

Greenup county cited only two overweight trucks, neither of them coal trucks, and none was convicted. Elliott cited 15, seven of them coal trucks, with no convictions.

Martin, one of the biggest coal-producing counties in the state, cited 32 coal truckers and seven others in 1975, but convicted none.

Magoffin cited even more, 67 coal trucks and 88 others, but none was convicted.

In Pike county, the second largest coal producing county in the state, only three truckers were convicted out of a total of 198 citations, 123 of those hauling coal. Fines totaled $208.50.

In Carter, 55 of 131 violators were convicted, bringing in $2,980.

Lawrence county officials cited 45 truckers, 32 of them hauling coal, and convicted 24 for a total of $1,461.50.

There were only two convictions in Johnson county, of 313 cited, with 288 of those being coal trucks. The total fines were $73.50.

Eastern Kentucky counties had the most citations issued, but many of those counties recorded the fewest convictions. In both Breathitt and Clay counties, for example, which had the list of the number of citations issued, there were no convictions at all.

Laurel county convicted the greatest number of violators, 117, on a total of 238 citations.

There were 1,395 convictions, statewide, with total fines of $167,870.86.

"My previous statement that the law should be enforced faithfully continues to be my firm conviction," the governor commented after seeing the citation-conviction figures.

Last January, Carroll threatened in a news conference to seek the ouster of county judges who were flagrantly allowing overweight truckers to go unpunished.

Later in the day, however, he expressed his intent to fulfill his obligation under the constitution to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed," but said he would leave to the attorney general the interpretation of the manner in which that responsibility is executed.

In his comments last week in response to the statistics, Carroll noted that "of necessity" the problem of enforcement of overweight violations will "be addressed by the General Assembly when local court jurisdiction is redefined."

Under the judicial reform article approved by voters last fall, county judges and other local judicial officers will be stripped of their judicial powers effective the first of next year, when the judicial powers will be invested in a new district court system.

Career Education More Than Mere Training for Vocations

Frankfort, Ky.—Career education is a popular concept in education these days. It has been recommended by the governor, funded by the legislature, approved by the state Department of Education and generally applauded by parents, who believe it will make education more relevant.

Unfortunately, career education is also a source of confusion, associated in many peoples' minds with vocational education, which it is not.

"It should be emphasized that career education is not synonymous with the term, vocational education," said Dr. Carl Lamar, director of the Bureau of Vocational Education.

"As we view the concept, vocational education is an integral and significant part of the total career education program."

The primary difference between the two, as Lamar sees it, is that vocational education provides students with the specific skills necessary in a specific occupation. Career education, a much more general program, "includes activities and experiences that prepare students to choose wisely the type of occupational preparation which fits their unique needs and abilities and to make that choice based upon knowledge of himself and the world of work," Lamar said.

A major influence of career education on vocational education, Lamar said, is that in the future, students who choose vocational programs will do so with a full awareness of their potential and of the many career choices open to them. This means that they will be more likely "to come to the program with an adequate knowledge of what it has to offer, with the attitudes necessary for success in the program and on the job and with a stronger commitment to the program as an avenue to satisfaction and success in a future career."

Career education should lead more students to wise choices of relevant vocational education programs, Lamar said. In any case, a sound career education program should "guide students toward wise career decisions and preparation programs."

You Must Force Satan To Surrender To You!

Satan, by his deceptions and accusations, lays claim to everything in this world. Looking into the face of Jesus Christ, he laid claim to "all the kingdoms of this world" and had the audacity to promise to deliver them to the Lord of Creation, if Jesus would forget His earthly mission and worship the Devil.

Just as Satan, the father of liars, came to Jesus with his offer of earthly power, so he has laid claim to your own body, or your home, or your loved ones, or your church, or your mission station, or anything else you treasure, and he will try to maintain that claim and he will hold onto it until you rout him off and out by using the authority delivered to you in Luke 9:1,2, and take from him, in Jesus' Name, that which belongs to Christ as Victor. John 14:13, 14.

When any battle comes to a conclusion, we always have two sides, the victor and the vanquished. Those who represent the victor go into the territory of the vanquished the demand a surrender of those properties and people which the victor wishes to bring under his own control.

In this battle of the ages, Christ is the Victor. He came to destroy all the works of the Devil (I John 3:8) and we know He succeeded for "having spoiled principalities and powers He made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it. (Col. 2:15) and "Our Lord Jesus has overcome the whole evil world," says S. D. Gordon. "He is dragging them behind in His conquering train all those whom He has taken captive."

As Christ is the Victor, and as you and your's belong to Him, then you must step, by faith, right over into Satan's territory and assert your right to your health, your loved ones and all your possessions.

Refuse Satan any rights at all. Eph. 6:12

Demand that he leave your body in the Name of Jesus Christ. Ps. 91:14, 15

Demand that he leave your affairs, in the authority of Jesus's Name. Jn. 14:13

Demand that he leave your loved ones. Isaiah 54:13

Demand that he leave your home. Psalm 50:15 Isa. 32:18. Cast him out!

Take possession in the Name of Jesus, the Victor. Col. 2:15

Take the financial supply you need. Demand that Satan's poverty demons shall no longer bind and control the money which belongs to you and which God wants you to have. Phil. 4:19 and 3 John 2. EXPECT TO PROSPER!

We are to be "more than conquerors." Rom 8:37 Jesus gave us this power when He said, "Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and NOTHING shall by any means hurt you." Luke 10:19

Geo. Washington U. and Tallents Record Outstanding Season

"A disappointing end to a great season," was the way George Washington University basketball coach and former Maytown high school star described his feelings as the NIT selection committee failed to issue an expected bid to his 20-7 Colonials. Athletic Director of the Washington, D. C. university Bob Faris said, "Personally, I am not only disappointed at the NIT's snub of our fine basketball team, but I am quite bitter about it. A member of the NIT selection committee told me that the loser of the ECAC's Southern Division championship game was 99 per cent sure of getting an NIT bid. When we lost to Georgetown, I thought we would certainly be going to New York for the NIT."

Despite the failure to get into a post-season tournament, it was a banner year for GW basketball. The 20-7 record was the finest in 20 years. It marked the first 20-win season since 1954-'55 and only the fourth 20-win season in the school's history. The Colonials finished the year winning eight of their last nine games and 12 of their last 15. Included were two victories over West Virginia at Morgantown and an 81-79 overtime triumph against Georgetown at the Hoyas' McDonough Gym.

Senior guard and Coach Tallent's younger brother Pat Tallent finished his career as GW's all-time leading three-year scorer with 1,725 points and 2d all-time leading scorer. He finished the season with 23.0 scoring average, shot 53.3 percent from the field, 81.7 percent from the foul line, had 101 rebounds and was second on the team in assists with 113. He was named to the ECAC weekly all-star team seven times (in 11 weeks), scored in double figures in every game, went over 20 points 10 times and over 30 points seven times.

The Colonials beat area rivals Georgetown, American U., Navy, Catholic U., and George Mason, losing only to Maryland. GW finished with a perfect 5-0 ECAC Southern Division mark with wins over Georgetown, West Virginia, Duquesne, Navy and St. Francis (Pa.). Other season highlights included wins over future Eastern Independent Collegiate Basketball League foes Pittsburgh, Penn State, Duquesne and West Virginia and the championship of the Presidential Classic.

Senior forward Haviland Harper became only the 15th player in GW history to score over 1,000 points in a career as he finished with 1,050.

Junior guard John Holloran, who formed a backcourt along with Tallent that coach Tallent said he wouldn't trade for any guard combination in the country, finished as the Colonials' second leading scorer with a 14.3 average. He shot a remarkable 58.2 percent from the field, 84.5 percent from the line and set a new school record for assists in one season with 150.

Les (High Rise) Anderson, the Colonials' leaping 6-4 sophomore forward wound up as the team's third leading scorer (13.7) and leading rebounder (8.5). And Kevin Hall, the 7-2 junior center, came on like gangbusters at season's end. Hall ended the season with averages of 6.5 points and 7.1 rebounds, but his play in the ECAC tournament was awe inspiring. Hall had 18 points and 13 rebounds in the opening night win over West Virginia and then followed that with an 18-point, 16-rebound performance in the championship loss to Georgetown (68-63). Coach Tallent said Hall was the dominant force against the Mountaineers and one of the few bright spots against Georgetown. He was named to the all-tournament team along with Tallent.

With four starters returning (Holloran, Anderson, Hall and Jim Smith) and prospects for an excellent recruiting year in sight, coach Tallent has a lot to look forward to in 1976-'77. The new Eastern Independent basketball league, which includes GW, Rutgers, Massachusetts, Villanova, West Virginia, Pittsburgh, Penn State and Duquesne, begins next season. The 1975-'76 season could have marked the start of many future 20-win seasons at GW.

Trial of Knott Men Under Way In Fayette Co.

The trial of two Knott county men accused of murder in the stabbing death of a go-go dancer in Lexington began Tuesday in Fayette circuit court.

James Amburgey, 34, and David Jacobs, 28, both of Pippa Passes, are charged with the Jan. 29 murder and rape of Janet Whalen, 18, of Lexington. Amburgey is also charged with two counts of sodomy.

The nude body of Miss Whalen was found in a shower stall at the Gables Motel in Lexington. Her throat had been slashed.

Amburgey and Jacobs have also been charged in Indiana with the strangulation death of John Simmons Jr., 46, of Louisville, whose body was found alongside Interstate 65 the day after the girl's body was found.

Miss Whalen, a go-go dancer at a bar on South Broadway, allegedly accompanied the two men and a 17-year-old girl to the motel the day before her death. The three allegedly hitchhiked to Louisville the following day.

Proceedings against the girl held in the slaying are still pending in juvenile court. She is being held in protective custody as a material witness.

Jacobs surrendered to Indianapolis, Ind., police two days after the girl was killed. Police said he led them to a second body.

The body of Simmons, a Louisville truck driver, was found in a ditch alongside the Interstate, near Columbus. He had been strangled to death.

Amburgey and the girl were arrested the following morning, asleep on a bench in an Indianapolis bus station.

Indiana charges against the three are still pending in the death of the truck driver.

OLD FASHIONED SUNDAY HELD AT EAST POINT

The East Point Area Development Club held its third "Old Fashioned Sunday" on Sunday afternoon, April 25, at the Community Center.

With the Bicentennial as the theme, the program began with the pledge to the flag being led by Bill Baldrige. The devotional, "A Nation Built on the Bible," was given by Mrs. Susie R. Gray.

The guest speaker was Edward Hazelette, teacher, historian and writer, of Paintsville, who spoke on "The Early History of East Point and Eastern Kentucky." The informative program provided new information to many persons present. Mrs. Annette Combs, Paintsville teacher, conducted an old fashioned song fest by lining and leading several very old hymns.

Gifts of homemade applebutter were given to Mrs. LaRue Robinson, the oldest lady, to Talbie DeRossett, the oldest gentleman, to Mrs. Gypsy Baldrige, the lady with the most children, and to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Conley the couple married for the longest period of time. Miss Lisa Wisniewski and Mrs. Annette Combs received the prizes for their old-fashioned costumes. Door prizes went to Mrs. Josephine Robinson, Edward Hazelette, Mrs. Ola Ramey, Talbie DeRossett, and Mrs. Annette Combs.

Following the singing of "God Bless America" by the audience and the benediction by Dave M. Flanery, the group enjoyed a social hour with refreshments.

The proposals will be for furnishing labor, materials and performance of all work described and set forth by the general and technical specifications and working drawings prepared by Howard K. Bell, Consulting Engineers, Inc. Immediately following the scheduled closing time for the reception of bids, all proposals which are submitted in accordance with this advertisement will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The work to be bid upon is described as follows:

Contract XII—Water Plant Settling and Filtering Equipment Division "A"—Tube Settler Modules Furnishing and Installing Tube Settler Modules in Existing Settling Basins.

Division "B"—High Rate Filter Media Removal of Existing Filter Media, and Furnishing and Installing New High Rate Media in Existing Filters, Including Polymer Feed and Control Equipment.

2. All bids must be made on the blank forms of proposal to be furnished.

3. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bidder's bond payable to the Owner for five per cent of the total amount of the bid. As soon as the bid prices have been compared, the Owner will return the check or bond of all except the three lowest responsible bidders. When the contract is awarded, the checks or bonds of the remaining unsuccessful bidders will be returned. The check or bond of the successful bidder will be retained until the contract and surety bond have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned.

4. A performance and payment bond in the amount of 100 per cent of the contract price with a corporate surety approved by the Owner and the Engineer, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract, and the bidder shall state in the proposal the name and address of the surety or sureties who will sign this bond in case the contract is awarded to him. A maintenance bond guaranteeing the repair of all damage due to improper materials or workmanship for a period of one year after the acceptance of the work by the Owner will also be required.

5. The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required forthwith to execute the contract and a performance and payment bond within ten calendar days from the date when the written notice of the award of the contract is mailed to the bidder at the address given by him. In case of failure to do so, the Owner may, at his option, consider that the bidder has abandoned the contract, in which case the certified check or bidder's bond accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the Owner.

6. The Owner reserves the right to reject any and all bids for any justifiable reason. It is understood that the work to be done is being financed with a loan from the Farmers Home Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Contractor's proposals shall hold firm for sixty (60) days to allow the Owner time to complete its financing arrangements. Mutually agreed upon extensions of time may be made, if necessary.

7. If the prospective contract exceeds $10,000, the bidder must submit Form FHA 400-6, "Compliance Statement," with his bid. An Equal Opportunity Clause will be a part of all construction contracts exceeding $10,000.

8. If the prospective contract exceeds $10,000 and the contractor has one hundred (100) or more employees, he will file Standard Form 100, "Employer Information Report," with the Joint Reporting Committee, P. O. Box 12, Springfield, Virginia 22150, within thirty (30) days after the contract award and annually on or before March 31st thereafter for the life of the contract.

9. If the prospective contract is for $50,000 or more and the successful bidder has fifty (50) or more employees, he will develop and place on file within 120 days of the contract award written affirmative action compliance programs using Form AD-425, "Contractor's Affirmative Action Plan for Equal Employment Opportunity," as a guideline.

10. Before the award of the contract, any bidder may be required to furnish evidence satisfactory to the Owner and to the Engineer of the necessary facilities, ability, and pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the said contract.

11. Prior to signing the contract, the Contractor shall submit on a form acceptable to the Owner and Engineer, an overall construction schedule for the project. This construction schedule shall start with the proposed date of signing the contract, and the completion date shall be the date specified in the contract.

12. Bidders must satisfy themselves by personal examination of the location of the proposed work, by examination of the Plans and Specifications and requirements of the work and the accuracy of the estimate of the quantities of the work to be done, and shall not at any time after the submission of a bid dispute or complain of such estimate nor assert that there was any misunderstanding in regard to the nature or amount of work to be done.

13. The Construction Contract and the Detailed Specifications contain the provisions required for the construction of the project. No information obtained from any officer, agent, or employee of the Owner on any such matters shall in any way affect the risk or obligation assumed by the Contractor or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

14. Proposals which are incomplete, unbalanced, conditional or obscure, or which contain additions not called for, erasures, alterations or irregularities of any kind, or which do not comply with the Detailed Specifications may be rejected at the option of the Owner.

15. A bidder may withdraw any proposal he has submitted at any time prior to the hour set for the closing of the bids provided the request for withdrawal is signed in a manner identical with the proposal being withdrawn. No withdrawal or modification will be permitted after the hour designated for closing the bids.

16. For the purpose of clarification it is understood that the work to be done is being financed in whole or in part by means of a loan and/or grant made or insured by the United States of America acting through the Farmers Home Administration of the Department of Agriculture. The Farmers Home Administration will, therefore, require approval by its representatives of all contracts, attachments, and similar documents, all partial and final payment estimates, and all change orders.

17. Computation of quantities that will be the basis for payment estimates, both monthly and final, will be made by the Engineer.

Road Workers Strike When Pay Delayed

Most of Floyd county's roadworkers went on strike for a day last Friday in protest of the county's failure to pay their salaries when they were due, the preceding Tuesday. They were back on the job Monday, however.

The fiscal court had set twice-a-month paydays for the road crew—on the 5th and 20th—but a fund shortage in the county road fund delayed last week's pay.

A spokesman who declined to be identified, lest it "cost me my job," told The Times by telephone that perhaps two of the approximately 15 on the payroll worked Friday. He added:

"The magistrates get mad at the judge, and the judge gets mad at the magistrates, and we get hurt for it."

County Judge Henry Stumbo said Monday that he had warned the fiscal court that road department spending was excessive and that funds budgeted for the department would be exhausted. He also said state aid was given the county last year and that this help will again be sought.

"God's Looking Glass," a gospel trio from Cynthiana, Ky., will bring a concert to the Vogel-Day United Methodist Church Sunday evening, May 2, at 7 o'clock. Since its beginning in 1970 at Morehead State University by the late Rev. Robert Dunaway, the "Looking Glass" has appeared in nine states and two foreign countries, cut two albums and made three television appearances.

Rhonda Cooper, a 23 year-old graduate student at Morehead, is the only original member still with the group. She is the group's leader, soprano and pianist.

Donna Clark, a native of Allen, is the guitarist and alto. Also a 23 year-old graduate student, she joined the singers in January, 1972.

Chuck Cooper, Rhonda's brother, is the tenor and bass guitarist. He is a 21 year-old junior at Morehead. The Coopers are from Cynthiana.

There is never an admission charge for a "God's Looking Glass" concert. The public is invited.

DAV Field Service Unit To Be at Pike Courthouse

Free service to veterans and their families will be available when a field service unit of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) visits the Pike county courthouse, May 5 and 6. This is the third consecutive year that one of these 26-foot mobile offices has toured the state in order to provide free counseling and claims service to veterans and their families.

DAV officials urge that veterans of all wars, particularly disabled veterans, should visit the organization's mobile service units to discuss any problems they have concerning benefits. Special emphasis is placed on Vietnam Era veterans, because large numbers of these young men are not taking advantage of the benefits which they have earned, specially in the areas of education and vocational rehabilitation.

Nursing Home Week To Be Observed Here

Although Mountain Manor welcomes visitors at any time, Eleanor Robinson, administrator, said, "We especially urge the public to share in Nursing Home Week, a nationwide effort to help remove any lingering doubt concerning nursing homes' role in and importance to the community."

New KEA Head Says Teachers And Schools Used as Scapegoat

Louisville, Ky.—James Sproul, the 33-year-old Knox county principal and choral director who became the Kentucky Education Association's first full-time salaried president at the close of KEA's annual convention here, says teachers "cannot and will not any longer let society use our public schools and our profession as a scapegoat."

"Teachers are not the only people who should be held accountable and it's about time that we say this publicly," Sproul told KEA delegates after he succeeded Mrs. Billye Pope, Fayette County social studies teacher, as KEA president. He had been president-elect.

"The education profession for years has found itself in the dilemma of trying to be all things to all people," said the Flat Lick Elementary School head. "We are expected to support the entire community by allowing the community to impose upon us the responsibility for solving all its social problems."

"It's time for Kentucky teachers to say to the courts, the family, the church, the banks and industry and others, 'You must recognize and accept your share of the responsibility of solving these problems.' . . . We will not let our schools be so burdened that we can't do our job, which is to teach."

"If teachers are to be held accountable," Sproul said, "they must obtain control over their profession and its destiny and KEA must play a vital role in achieving this end."

This means, he continued, that teachers must seek control over entrance into the profession, standards of certification, how persons are prepared, how their education is continued as they practice in the profession, necessary working conditions for proper performance of duties, and selection of the best methods to accomplish educational goals.

Sproul said school people are being pushed to associate the word "accountability" with a specific, limited notion of responsibility; namely, holding the teacher responsible for improving the arithmetic and reading scores of the children in his or her class.

"Few would deny the general premise that teachers and other school people should be accountable, liable and responsible. But to say that for a particular child it is more desirable in a particular year to seek to improve the child's measurable reading skills than to strengthen his or her self concept and ability to relate to others is open to question, as is the assumption that the teacher's responsibility for this improvement can be fairly identified and compared with the results obtained by another teacher and other children."

Sproul said that if KEA is to remain a strong organization it must continue in the courts and in the legislature to protect and define the rights of its members.

KEA's success in political action has "finally laid to rest the feeling that it is unprofessional for teachers to become involved in politics," Sproul asserted. But he said KEA "must not only elect people to office who are committed to education, we must have the power to make sure they deliver after they are in office."

Sproul said KEA must see that teachers are not penalized for their involvement in association work, negotiating agreements, seeking redress of grievances, taking positions on issues as citizens and teachers, participating in political campaigns, and writing or speaking on matters of public concern. "KEA must also see that teachers achieve sound financial levels accorded other respected professions. When this is realized, teachers will have a sense of pride and dignity and will truly be professional in every sense of the word."

Sproul, a bachelor and former chairman of KEA's Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities, automatically succeeded Mrs. Pope as president of the 27,000-member organization. He lives in Flat Lick.

Elected to succeed Sproul as president-elect was Wayne Harvey of Smithland, who had been KEA vice president.

Delegates elected Mrs. Doris Morton, of Bowling Green, to succeed Harvey as vice president. She is a KEA board member and social studies teacher at Warren (County) Central High School. A former president of the Warren County Education Association, she was Kentucky's Outstanding Young Educator in 1972.

Re-elected as one of Kentucky's two National Education Association directors was Joe Pessarelli, of Waddy, a former chairman of the KEA Commission on Professional Negotiation and former president of the Fifth District Education Association.

Council Girl Scouts To Assemble May 8 For Friendship Day

Girl Scouts will be gathering in Prestonsburg on May 8 for a Friendship Day of fun and fellowship. Girl Scout troops will display their dramatic skills in skits based on events from the country's history. Waves of green will sweep into the Prestonsburg High School auditorium as Girl Scouts continue their celebration of the country's Bicentennial.

Scouts from the 57 counties of the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council will meet to make their contributions to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. The fund, dedicated to Girl Scouting's founder, is to promote the Girl Guide-Girl Scout movement as a contribution toward world peace and friendship among young people.

More than 12,000 girls in the 57 counties of the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council are Girl Scouts.

By LARRY BURKE

Several years ago one of the giant Sequoia trees in California was cut down, and scientists were given the opportunity to make a detailed examination of it. They counted the rings in the wood, and this is their findings.

"This Sequoia was a seedling in 271 B.C. 516 years later it was severely damaged by a forest fire. But nature immediately set to work to repair the damage. For the next hundred years nature folded new tissue over the ugly scar left by the fire, and the tree was entirely healed."

"The healing power of nature." How it helps men as well as trees. We all realize that time is a great healer. We can all recall joys far more vividly and in greater detail than we can recall sorrow.

Like the great tree—men and women regain their composure after bereavement, and they recapture happiness after sorrow has devastated their world.

God seems to find a way for us to look out and not in, forward and not back, up and not down.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "Search for the courage to endure—you will find it."

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Ancel J. Terry who passed away April 29, 1970 in Viet Nam.

Its so hard to believe
That six years have gone by,
And your memory never ceases
To bring tears to the eye.
Time heals all wounds
Or so they all say,
But the scars that remain
Will they never go away,
And no matter how many times
I go home like I did before
I find I haven't forgotten
I only miss you more and more.
Your memory's in every corner
And hanging on every wall,
And I think for a fleeting moment
You haven't left us at all.
A tear trickles down mom's face
And Dad----need I turn to see?
The pain in a father's eyes
For a loved one who ceases to be.
Gone but not forgotten, yet
In our hearts you're still the same
The grandson, the son, the brother who left us,
Your memory will forever remain.
Oh! the joys and laughter you brought us
Before you went away.
These things remain to sustain us
Through the dark and cloudy days,
And though you're gone forever
From this earth which we now roam,
You took your final journey
And at last you're safe at home
With God's arms to enfold you.
He wiped all the tears away
He healed your pain-wrecked body
As only God can to today
So why the tears and sorrow,
When I know in my heart that someday
I'll see you again Dear Brother
But just when, only God can say.
Sadly missed by
Sis, Mom and Dad,
Grandparents,
Family and Friends

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Duran Newsome who died May 7, 1970

WHEN I MUST LEAVE YOU
When I must leave you for a little while,
Please do not grieve and shed wild tears,
Or hug your sorrow to you through the years,
But bravely start anew with a gallant smile,
And for my sake and in my name live on,
Do all things the same.

Feed not your loneliness and empty days,
But fill each waking hour in happy ways.
Reach out your hand in comfort and in cheer,
And I in turn will comfort you and hold you near,
And never, never be afraid to die,
For I am waiting for you in the sky.
Forever missed by,
Claudette Newsome Tallent, widow,
Melody Renee Newsome, daughter, the William Newsome family, the Blankenship family and the Stumbo family.

The following Tuesday, Dr. Robert Strauss, chairman of behavioral sciences at the University of Kentucky College of Medicine, will address the class on the subject "A Sociologist Looks at Alcohol Abuse." Dr. Strauss, a specialist in the field for 30 years, is internationally-recognized for his work and is the author of two books dealing with alcoholism, "Alcohol and Society," and "Escape From Custody."

The seminar, which meets each Tuesday night at Prestonsburg Community College as part of the college's community services program, is presented free of charge and is open to the public. Steve Knowles is director of the course.

Scout Camp Meets National Standards

Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg, camping chairman for Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced last week that he and William Shambora, also of Prestonsburg, who will serve as camp director, are engaged in conducting their annual pre-camp inspection at Camp Shawnee in order to insure that national Boy Scout standards are being met for facilities, equipment, staff services, and program.

Leach said the inspection is required of all Scout camps by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, and without the inspection and whatever corrective action the inspection indicates the camp would not be allowed to open.

According to Leach, 26 mandatory national standards must be met to insure the health and safety of all Scouts and leaders who attend Camp Shawnee. The mandatory items include tested drinking water, safe milk supply, refrigeration, physical examination for all participants, medical inspections, the maintenance of a health log, safe latrines, adequate waste disposal, and state and local permits to operate a youth camp.

In addition to these 26 mandatory items, the camp is expected to comply with approximately 90 other items defining facilities and operating standards for troop site facilities, food service, health, safety, camp staff, troop leadership, program, and administration.

Leach said the inspection is being conducted now to insure that the camp will be ready to provide a safe and effective program for the first Scout campers who will arrive on Sunday, June 20. The first three weeks of camping will be limited to those who are Scouts, or who wish to be, boys between the ages of 11 through 17, and that the final two weeks of camp will be operated in cooperation with Dilenowisco Educational Corp., Inc., Norton, Virginia, to provide camping experiences for the young people served by that agency.

Area Projects Up for Review

Frankfort, Ky.—The Department for Human Resources has received five applications from Eastern Kentucky facilities which, because of their estimated costs, come under the jurisdiction of Section 1122 of the Social Security Act. This segment of the law applies to capital expenditures by health care facilities which, if not justified by increased services or efficiency, would result in unreasonable increases in costs to patients.

The applications and their estimated costs are: —Clover Fort Outpatient Medical Project, Evarts, to construct a primary center to replace its current temporary facility, $434,387.

—Appalachian Regional Hospital, Harlan, to install air conditioning, $325,000.

—Mary Chiles Hospital, Mt. Sterling, to modernize and add 12 acute care beds, $3,365,000.

—Williamsburg Nursing Home, Williamsburg, to establish a bi-level nursing care facility with 50 skilled nursing beds and 50 intermediate care beds, $1,200,000.

—Wurtland Manor, Wurtland, to construct a 36-bed intermediate care addition to its present facility, thus bringing its capacity to 96 beds, $288,000.

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council will review these proposals at Louisville, April 21. The reviews will be held at Holiday Inn East, I-64 and Hurstbourne Lane, and will be open to the public.

Two Day Care Centers Receive Sales Earnings From Sarah Coventry

Earnings derived from the sale of Sarah Coventry jewelry were presented last Thursday morning at the Kentucky Research Center office here—$65.68 to the Drift Day Care Center and $15 to the Dwale Day Care Center. Lucy Wallen received the check for the Drift Center, and the Dwale check was presented to Nelva Lewis.

Mrs. Wanda Elste, Sarah Coventry representative, contributed to the two centers her commission on sales made. The Rev. G. K. Elste, chairman of the county policy committee, commented in particular on the Drift center's effort. "These Drift parents," he said, "would be a credit to any community."

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

Two of the hottest artificial lures showing up on the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' fishing report these days are spinner baits and crank baits.

These types of lures are fairly new, and many fishermen may not be familiar with them. So let's take a fishing trip—on paper—with these baits.

First, we'll tie on a spinner bait. Unlike the older and more familiar spinner, which has blade, body and hook on a single straight shaft, you'll notice that the spinner bait has a "safety pin" configuration, with a lead head and single hook resembling a jig on one arm of the "pin" and a spinner blade (or sometimes two) on the other arm.

Tie the line to the loop where the two arms meet, and you're ready to go. No, you don't need a swivel, because this style of spinner won't twist your line. Now cast the contraption right into the middle of that clump of partially submerged weeds.

No, you won't get hung up. You see, the hook, as on a jig, rides upright, and the top arm (the one with the spinner blade) acts as an effective weed guard. This makes the spinner bait an excellent choice for fishing in shoreline cover areas or through submerged treetops.

Now reel the lure back toward the boat with a moderately fast retrieve. And don't worry about that log just under the surface, just pull the spinner bait over it, and then let it drop straight down on the other side for a couple of feet. If there's a bass under the log, he'll take it on the way down, so stay alert.

See—you missed him. A bass can take and reject a lure in a matter of less than a second, so set the hook as soon as you feel anything, or if you see your line twitch.

If the bass are feeding near the surface, keep the spinner bait near the top of the water, so it makes a visible wake. Or if the bass are deeper, let the lure sink to the desired depth before beginning your retrieve. Keep trying various depths and speeds until you hit on the right combination.

In summer, when the bass are in deep water, you can fish the spinner bait on the bottom, much as you would a plastic worm—with a pull-and-pause retrieve. But most of the time, a steady pace is best.

Okay, now let's switch to crank baits. You'll notice that these look much like traditional plugs, with a fish-shaped wood or plastic body and two or more sets of treble hooks.

Many of the newer crank baits have a distinctive profile—fat bellied and humpbacked—and contain built-in rattles which make a sound that seems to attract bass. There are older designs that are fished in the same way, but it's been only within the last couple of years that these lures, and the term "crank bait," have become popular.

Since these lures aren't weedless, you will have to be more careful where you cast. A very productive technique with these lures (and with spinner baits, too) is to cast parallel to the shoreline and retrieve the bait along, instead of out from, the bank.

That cast was okay—about five feet out from the shore. Now you'll see why they are called crank baits—just crank it in steadily at a fairly rapid rate. Although the plug floats while at rest, you notice that it dives (the depth depending on the lure design and the speed at which it's cranked) when you start the retrieve.

These lures have their own built-in action, so all the fisherman has to do is cast and crank. In the water, a crank bait resembles a small bait fish trying to get somewhere else in a hurry, an activity which (we hope) ol' mister bass will take exception to.

Usually, crank baits are used when the bass are in less than six feet of water and are feeding actively. During very hot or very cold weather, the fish move into deeper water, where a slow, bottom-bouncing lure such as the artificial nightcrawler or dollyfly is the choice of many experienced anglers.

Crank baits and spinner baits are usually most productive in the spring or fall, when surface temperatures are within the bass' comfort range. That means that they are catching fish now, and will continue to do so until the summer heat forces the bass into deeper water. But even in July and August, spinner baits can be effective lures for night fishing.

I'm going back to the dock now, so you're on your own. As you gain more experience with these lures, you'll pick up some of the more refined techniques yourself. The important thing is to use a lure enough to become familiar with it and to have confidence in it.

So just keep fishin', and I'll see you when you come in with your limit.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Of all trees known to mankind, none perhaps has a more hallowed place in folklore, legend, superstition, and history than the Yew. A product of Jurassic times when most of our conifers developed (some 165 million years ago), it has become an emblem of immortality. In the meantime, it has provided the materials for human survival, both in supplying meat for the table and for warfare.

The fame of English archers with bows and arrows of Yew is well known and well documented, and recently in a peat bog in Europe, the ribcage of a prehistoric elephant was found with a spear of Yew sticking between the bones.

As in human history, the Yew also holds an important place in the religious history of mankind. As matter of fact, there is evidence that, even before the dawn of Christianity, the Yew was considered a sacred tree. Druids, the priestly caste of the British Isles and Gaul, preached the doctrine of immortality and used the evergreen foliage of the Yew to bolster their doctrine. There is even evidence to support the theory that the Yew was a sacred tree in Britain before Druidical times. Actually, according to some English theologians, the Yews, as sacred symbols, may be older than the church.

Yews were brought to America by the early colonists, mostly to set out in lonely country graveyards and around churches. They considered the perpetual verdure of the Yew to be emblematical of the immortality of the soul. Some believed, too, that Satan could not linger in the vicinity where Yew trees grew.

Perhaps one of the strangest superstitions surrounding the Yew is that if, when planted in a churchyard, it is allowed to grow tall as the church belfry, the end of time will come at the exact moment both tree and edifice match in height.

From the activities to ward off this terrible moment comes the ancient religious rite once celebrated in England called "Clipping Sunday." Once each year, members of churches with Yew trees in the yard clipped the tops off the trees to slow down growth.

With reference to legend, it is said that the famed Robin Hood of Sherwood Forest used a bow made of Yew and, as he lay dying, asked for his good Yew bow and arrows. "Bury me where this arrow falls," he entreated as he fired the missile out an open window. The arrow fell at the foot of a Yew, and with a sigh, Robin was no more. His remains were buried, as he had bidden, under a Yew.

$3,000 in Narcotics Lost to Burglars

Narcotics valued at $3,000 were taken in the recent burglary of the Inez Drug Store owned by Fred G. Dickerson, formerly of Prestonsburg, it was reported last week. Nine watches valued at $150 and $60 in cash also were taken.

It was the fifth time in the last three years that the drugstore, located across the street from the Martin county courthouse and sheriff's office, has been burglarized. Mr. Dickerson said that the three break-ins have resulted in the loss of approximately $7,000 in cash and merchandise.

Entrance to the building in the latest break was made by breaking two locks on a rear door. State police were investigating the break last week.

Tourism Plan Includes Europe

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky Department of Public Information Commissioner James C. Vernon kicked off the most ambitious tourism promotion in the state's history, recently.

"Last year Kentucky's tourist revenues were $893 million," said Vernon. "This year our goal is $1 billion—and it's a realistic goal."

"Our promotions are designed within a concept that is totally different from anything the state has presented before," he added.

Promotions in 1976 will be presented on three fronts: within the state of Kentucky; out-of-state, concentrating on the South and the Eastern Seaboard; and internationally.

"Our 'Kentucky for Kentuckians' campaign will be carried by every newspaper and radio and TV station in the Commonwealth," Vernon said.

The ads are intended to instill pride and a sense of Kentucky's rich heritage in its citizens, according to the commissioner.

"Kentucky has the best of both worlds," Vernon said, "with a wilderness area which remains almost as it was 200 years ago and, only minutes away, a very modern cosmopolitan section which offers everything that any large city would have—and much more. And let's not forget our waterland area, where swimmers can spend all the time they want in the water without worrying about 'Jaws'."

The Department of Public Information's task will be to spread an image of Kentucky as a state where vacationers can bring the whole family for an entire vacation—not just overnight.

If the department can accomplish this, Kentucky will garner its share of the 30 per cent of eastern U. S. residents who intend to go south for the Bicentennial.

Currently, the average traveler's stay in Kentucky is 1½ days, while in Florida, travelers spend an average of four days.

Many people believe that in order to entertain their families they must go to the site of some major attraction, Vernon explained, giving the ocean and Disney World as examples. "Some people think Kentucky needs an amusement park like Disney World," he said, "but the indications are that people soon will want a place to just get away from the rest of the world."

Vernon related also that Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery had predicted that the Kentucky State Horse Park now under construction could serve as the Commonwealth's Disney-World—except "it will be the real thing, not a fantasy."

The most ambitious and unusual facet of Kentucky's 1976 tourism promotion is its campaign in Europe—something the state has never tried.

"We will actively and aggressively seek the European market," Vernon said, pointing out that Kentucky should attract Europeans because they, more than Americans, are camping, boating and hiking enthusiasts.

"In fact, surveys show that 60 per cent of European travelers prefer a natural atmosphere and outdoor activities. Urban areas are fourth in their priorities," he said.

In June the public information department will launch its promotional campaign in western Europe, specifically England, France and Germany.

The first phase of the campaign calls for advertising in newspapers and magazines, which will, of course, also be seen in nations bordering those three countries. These first advertisements will include a coupon to be returned to the department for further information about Kentucky.

The coupons will provide a means of evaluating the effectiveness of Phase I.

In late October, Phase II of the campaign will begin when a group of Kentucky's private citizens and government representatives go to Europe to meet and host European tour brokers and travel agents. They will also open the Department of Public Information's two-person European office.

The office, to be located in either Brussels, Belgium, or Dusseldorf, Germany, will serve as a travel agent for Kentucky, organizing tours to the Commonwealth for European residents, and keeping a close watch on the success—or failure—of the European promotions.

"If this doesn't work," Vernon said, considering the possibility of failure, "I'll be the first to admit it and the first to stop our promotions in Europe. But if our office can convince just 515 Europeans to visit Kentucky, it will have paid for itself. Obviously, we believe it's possible to surpass that figure, hopefully bringing thousands, not hundreds, to Kentucky."

The Department of Public Information has requested federal matching funds from a United States Travel Service grant to help open the European office. This would double the advertising money available for promoting Kentucky and would help the Kentuckians on the European Promotional Tour pay their expenses.

"Here is a chance for Kentuckians to see an actual return for their tax dollars," Vernon said. "We want this European campaign to be a catalyst for the private sector, as well as our state-operated travel facilities."

He added, "If we want these people to visit again and send other Europeans, we will have to be accommodating, with more travel aids like the foreign information service at Standford Field in Louisville. We'll have to show them that this reputation for warm hospitality, delicious food and delightful accommodations in Kentucky is not something we concocted just to lure them over here."

COURIER-JOURNAL REPORTER WINS WILLIAM LEIDT AWARD
 Keith Runyon, staff writer for The Courier-Journal, has won the William E. Leidt Award for religion news reporting in 1974-'75. The award is presented annually by the Executive Council of The Episcopal Church in New York.

The award is for a seven-part series, "The Seminaries," published in the summer of 1974. The stories examined changing trends in religious education at seminaries in Kentucky and Southern Indiana.

Runyon, who has been a reporter for The Courier-Journal since 1972, will receive a certificate and $100.

Carroll Expresses Concern Over Proposed ARC Fund Cut

Frankfort, Ky.—Secretary of Development William L. Short said last week that Gov. Julian M. Carroll has asked him to send telegrams to Kentucky's congressional delegation expressing his concern over the Ford administration's proposed cuts in the budget of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Short said Carroll is asking the state's congressmen and senators to appear before the House and Senate appropriations and budget committees to support full restoration of ARC non-highway funds.

President Ford's budget decreased the non-highway appropriation by $22.5 million. Of the funds cut from the budget, $20 million were in area development and one-half million were in technical assistance and research.

Carroll said that a similar decrease in the 1976 ARC funding resulted in the loss of over $900,000 in key projects to local Kentucky communities. The proposed cuts the Governor is concerned with are in the ARC's budget for FY 1977.

Short said Gov. Carroll has also asked him to send similar telegrams to his counterparts in the other 12 ARC member states, in hopes of their encouraging their own congressional representatives to appear before the appropriations committees to demand the funds be restored. Short is Kentucky's alternate representative to the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The Development Cabinet's ARC staff, charged with coordinating projects and funding with the federal commission, has determined that the budget cut could result in the loss of approximately $2 million in FY '77 project funds from the ARC, Short said.

"I know that the other member states will share this concern," Short said, "so we have every expectation they will join Gov. Carroll's efforts to convince the administration and Congress these funds should be restored."

Short said the governor was particularly concerned because the projects would affect the 49 Eastern Kentucky ARC counties, and although the funds are not yet earmarked for particular projects in Kentucky, "there are many proposals in progress to be submitted for FY '77 funding, and we want to assure that money will be available for them."

Graham To Adhere To Retirement Rule

Frankfort, Ky.—Sixty-two full-time Education Department employees will be affected by a decision to adhere strictly to the Kentucky Personnel Merit System Rules setting the normal retirement age at 65.

Employees who will be 65 or older on or by June 30, 1976, will be retired at that time, according to Dr. James Graham, state superintendent of public instruction.

Merit system rules permit year-to-year employment after 65 with the superintendent's approval and prior approval from the personnel commissioner.

"I will not exercise this option," Graham announced.

The decision, which affects employees both in Frankfort and across the state, includes all department employees—administrators, teachers and support staff, according to Ed Rose, the department's director of personnel.

"I make this decision with no intention of causing difficulty for any employee," Graham said. "However, I believe it to be in the best interest of the Commonwealth and the Department of Education to require retirement at age 65."

Help Line: A Place To Turn

Mountain Comprehensive Care Center's Help-Line, presently in its fourth year of service, has, for the past three years, offered 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week service to the Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin county area.

The toll-free line is maintained by trained counselors who are qualified to handle any crisis that may arise. The help-line staff is on duty to receive emergency calls and give fast, accurate, competent and concerned response to the needs of people for help or information. The help-line deals with such matters as alcohol and drug counseling, suicide prevention, abortion information, marital counseling, depression, and domestic problems.

Names of callers are, of course, kept confidential and the primary purpose of the help-line service is to serve as "somewhere to turn" in times of personal crisis.

The toll-free Help-Line number is 1-800-422-1060.

New State Pay Plan In Effect July 1st

Frankfort, Ky.—A new pay system for employes of Kentucky State Government, developed by Governor Julian M. Carroll during preparation of the 1976-'78 Executive Budget, is rapidly taking shape.

The new system, scheduled to take effect July 1, has already been endorsed in principle by the Kentucky Personnel Board and is now being completed by the Department of Personnel and the Board.

Basically, the Governor's plan includes three major elements, which are:

1. Appropriation of $28 million over the biennium to be used in raising the salaries of job classifications (groupings of employes performing similar work) where pay is least competitive and where recruitment and retention of employes are most difficult. These funds will be allocated on the basis of studies and recommendations by the Department of Personnel. The studies will focus on such factors as salaries paid by industry and other governmental jurisdictions; the relative level of duties and responsibilities of various groups of employes; and the ability of the state to recruit and retain employes for specific types of work.

2. Conversion of the present 5 percent "annual merit increments", which are granted on a discretionary basis by agency heads, to a system of 5 percent automatic cost-of-living pay increases. This means each employe, as he or she becomes individually eligible due to length of service, will automatically receive a 5 percent upward adjustment in pay. The change injects a cost-of-living concept into the state pay system for the first time, and assures employes of basic pay increases on a regular basis. Funds for this purpose are also included in the state's 1976-'78 budget.

3. Authorization for each agency of State Government to annually grant 5 percent "outstanding merit increments" to a maximum of 30 percent of the agency's employes. These pay increases, which are over and above any other adjustments, are presently limited to 10 percent of each agency's employes and employes are eligible only after two years' continuous service. Funds for this aspect of the pay system are not included in agency budgets for the biennium, but rather must be derived from savings generated in each agency—as has been the case in the past. The idea here, according to personnel experts, is that agencies with the most productive employes can effect savings through which the best employes can be rewarded for outstanding service.

The new pay system will apply to employes covered by the Merit System, which encompasses approximately 87 percent of all state employes.

Vietnamese Enroll In English Classes

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Special centers established for Vietnamese refugees may be practically empty, but the assimilation process for these new Americans still continues.

In Kentucky, the state Department of Education is providing them with English classes, through its adult education unit in the Bureau of Vocational Education. These classes have been provided since last July even though the federal funds for them were not yet available, said Ted Cook, director of the unit.

The classes have been funded through the regular adult education budget, which will continue to be used until the federal funds are available, Cook explained.

"We wanted to provide the Vietnamese with what they needed as soon as we could," he added.

Currently, about 300 of the estimated 380 Vietnamese adults in Kentucky are enrolled in one of the unit's program. Although some of the Vietnamese are learning English in adult learning centers or regular adult classes, most are enrolled in classes designed specifically for their needs.

"Basically, we are trying to enable the Vietnamese to cope with the language in an everyday setting, to get along in their daily lives," Cook said.

He also pointed out that the unit is developing a teachers' workshop to aid in the instruction of English as a second language. The planners are now identifying those teachers' needs in terms of techniques and materials. When that phase is completed, the materials will be obtained and the teachers trained.

What this means, said Cook, is the teachers should be even better able to help the Vietnamese become integrated into American society.

Taxpayers Can Correct Return Errors after Filing

Taxpayers who discover after filing their return that they made an error can correct the mistake by filing a Form 1040X, Paul Niederecker, IRS district director for Kentucky, said last week.

The forms are available at local IRS offices or can be obtained by using the handy order blank in the tax package, Niederecker said.

On the Form 1040X—specially designed to process corrections—taxpayers need only fill in the changed portion of their tax return, according to the District Director.

The 1040X form must be filed by taxpayers within three years from the due date of the original return or two years from the date of the tax payment, whichever is later, Niederecker advised.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "March 76," your subscription will expire at the end of March.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

Our good planet earth is chock full of beautiful things of many kinds, and if we have eyes for beauty we can surely see much of it. We should never be like the man in the old rhyme:

"Two men looked out of prison bars, One saw mud, the other saw stars." We should always look up and try to see the stary beauty of this good earth.

Once when I was teaching Nature Study to a group of 4-H members, I asked them to help me make a list of the most beautiful things of earth. After much thought and discussion, the group finally compiled a list, somewhat as follows:

1. AN AUTUMN SUNSET. Often the western sky blazes with clouds of glowing orange and fiery red, suffused with gorgeous pink, all framed by patches of pure, cerulean blue. Then again, we may see a sunset glowing with vivid rainbow hues. There are few sights more beautiful than this.

2. BIRDS OF BRILLIANT COLORS. There are many kinds of birds all decked out in brilliant colors which set them up as paragons of beauty. Among the most brilliantly colored birds there are, the flamingo, dressed in solid pink; the scarlet tanager, with a breast so red in the spring it seems to set the foliage on fire as the bird flits through the trees; the Baltimore oriole, red and black; the wild whistling swan, full of grace and beauty; the peacock, proud of his brilliant plumage; the Bird of Paradise; the scarlet ibis, a rare bird of deep scarlet.

3. BEAUTIFUL TREES. There are literally thousands of beautiful trees. Among the most beautiful are: An apple tree with a solid mass of pink and white blossoms; a large white oak towering like a silver column in winter woods; a mimosa tree in gorgeous pink; the fringe tree, arrayed in shimmering white; the redbud all dressed up in gorgeous reddish-purple; the dogwood in pure mystical white—the whitest white of all spring blossoms; the royal princess tree arrayed in violet blue, giving forth a strong, sweet perfume; a winter hemlock humbly bowed with its burden of snow; a grove of tall, stately pines . . . it would take a big book to list and describe the beautiful trees of earth.

4. SPRING WILD FLOWERS. Among the most beautiful of these are the moccasin lady's slipper, the yellow lady's slipper, the wild rose; the white and red trilliums, most glamorous of the spring wild flowers; bloodroot, in pure white; the fringed gentian, immortalized in poetry by Bryant; the cardinal lobeia, reddest of all the red flowers, and many more.

5. PINK AND FLAME AZALEAS. The flame azaleas of our region burst out with a solid mass of showy orange or deep yellow. They are often called "The beauty queens of the Appalachian Highlands." These lovely azaleas, locally called "honeysuckles," appear in bloom about mid-April.

6. BUTTERFLIES. These are the fragile beauties of the insect world, and many have gorgeous colors. Among the loveliest are the delicate spring azures; the mourning cloak, the buckeye, the red admiral, and the monarch, most gorgeous of all the butterflies.

7. THE LARGE SILK MOTHS. Among the large moths, there are found some of amazing beauty. One of these is the luna moth, with solid green and tails curved like a half moon. The cecropia moth is one of striking beauty, with hues of red, brown, white and black, its body covered with red fur. Moths and butterflies help in the pollination of flowers.

8. A TALL GREEN MOUNTAIN, covered with trees. In summer the leaves on a mountain light up in sunlight and display a brilliant silvery sheen; it looks as if liquid silver had been sprinkled on the trees.

9. A LARGE SANDSTONE CLIFF on a mountainside, with its face adorned with moss and lacy lichens. Here is one of Nature's fine art works.

Two Appointments Made To Environmental Group

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has appointed two new members to the Environmental Quality Commission, a citizens' group acting in an advisory capacity to the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Robert Carter, Hopkinsville, who is president of the Kentucky Press Association, succeeds Sterling Crawford. Jon E. Rickert, an Elizabethtown attorney and former state legislator, succeeds T. K. Stone.
