35 To Lose Jobs With Comp Care, Stai Announces

Richard Stai, executive director of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, announced today (Wednesday) the layoff of 35 of the agency's 150 employees, effective June 30.

The result of a year of steadily dwindling financial support from federal, state and local sources which manifested itself in a layoff of 86 employees in January, 1975, the employee cutback came as little surprise to MCCC officials.

Although Stai admitted that "funding-wise, it doesn't look good," he pointed out that some support may yet be obtained from local sources when county decisions on the allotment of severance tax monies are made. He also said MCCC's situation could be eased considerably by any additional state aid. Stai added, however, "I'm not looking for any miracles from the state."

Although most of the agency's services will be affected primarily in terms of staff reduction, some services will, of necessity, be discontinued. Mr. Stai said the adult activity program in Johnson county which serves developmentally disabled adults in that area will be transferred to the Greenhouse Training

This Town...That World

This Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South show which hundreds of children and their elders enjoyed here during a one-day stand Monday is one of the finest things of its kind to touch down here. It's a pity more didn't see it.

HANDS OFF!

One of many items that attracted attention was an oldtime cotton gin. And the "Don't Touch" sign on it inevitably recalled to somebody's mind the injunction ascribed to Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin, which runs to this effect: "Keep your cotton-pickin' hands off my gin."

THE TEST

The teacher was testing her pupils' powers of imagination and expression by asking them to describe what they saw as a dark cloud rolled overhead.

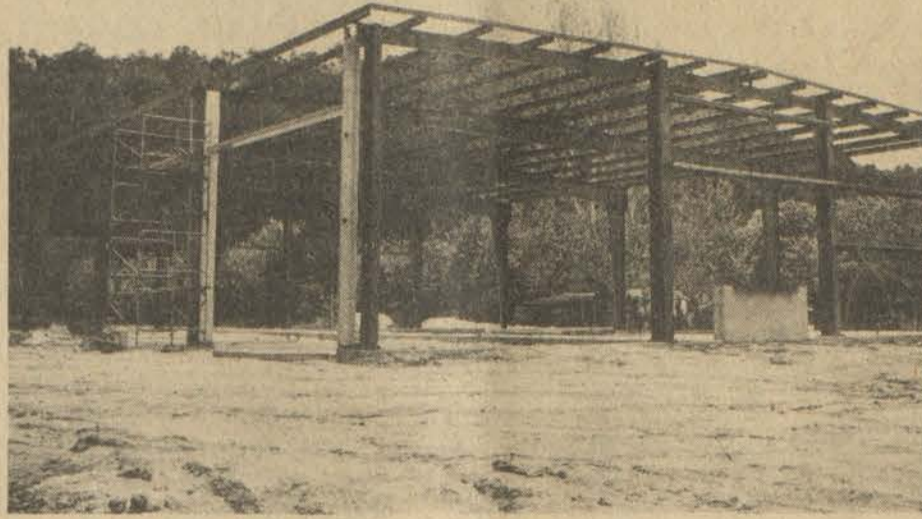

One girl, noting a strip of blue sky bordered by the wind-rolled mass of cloud, said, "The river gets narrower." Another, spotting a roundish expanse of blue, cried, "Oh, a lake between the hills!"

"Young poets!" the teacher applauded. Then came time for the boy in the group to speak his piece. Said he:

"Looks to me like it's gonna rain."

UPS Center Going Up at Emma

In an effort to offer an even more effective service to this immediate area, United Parcel Service has under construction at Emma a center into which the present centers at Salyersville and Pikeville will be consolidated.

Eastern Building Systems, Inc., a local contracting firm, is doing the construction work at Emma on a site acquired by UPS from Miss Flo Weddington. Completion is expected in mid-June, a company spokesman said.

Completion of a new bridge across the Big Sandy, connecting Emma with old US 23, has made the area attractive to development, and UPS officials said they were pleased with the selection of the Emma site for a new operating center.

It is not known how many will be employed at the center. Growth of United Parcel in volume of business and personnel numbers has necessitated many changes to bigger and better facilities, it was said.

Five Clubs Schedule Community Cleanup

Community Cleanup Day set for Saturday, May 22, will affect a sizeable portion of the county because development clubs of five communities will be involved.

Participating clubs will be those of Abbott Creek, Prater Creek, Stanville, (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

Two Coal Firms Pay Total of $9,000 Fines

Two Floyd county coal companies have paid fines assessed by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for violations of strip-mine reclamation regulations.

The heavier fine, $6,000, was paid by T & R Coal Co., of Grethel, which reportedly is headed by Cline Mitchell. The second fine of $3,000 was paid by Valley Tipple and Mining, Inc., of Prestonsburg, which is strip-mining under contract a 73-acre tract on Akers Branch of Mud Creek.

T & R Coal Company was fined for three alleged violations cited by inspectors in March and was closed, April 7. Valley Tipple was cited last February for failing to correct six violations inspectors listed.

County Judge Henry Stumbo, who has an interest in the B & M Coal Co., said his company's contract with Valley Tipple, which is headed by Tony Holliman, provided that Valley Tipple, which does the mining, is responsible for reclamation and all other compliance efforts. He said Holliman paid the $3,000 fine.

Commenting on a Lexington Herald news-story which pointed out that he and County Judge David Blair, of Elliott county, are two officials who sit in trial of overweight truck cases and have state strip-mine permits themselves which allow them to haul coal over roads in their counties, Judge Stumbo said:

"As most people who are acquainted with me know, I have never made any money as county judge. I decided that if I

Ballot Offers Voters Choice For President

Kentucky voters will for the first time in the history of the state have an opportunity at next Tuesday's primary election to register their preference for the Democratic and Republican nominees for President.

And the unprecedented political situation isn't causing any excitement. In fact, leaders of both parties and supporters of the candidates are concerned about the apparent apathy of voters.

Besides the Presidential candidates to be voted for, names of two Democratic candidates for the Seventh district Congressional post—incumbent Carl D. Perkins and Ray "I am a Democrat" Adkins—appear on the ballot. The fact that most Democrats have the feeling that Adkins is no threat to Carl Perkins is another factor that could preclude a heavy turnout of Democratic voters.

On the Republican side of the ballot will appear the names of President Ford, Tommy Klein and Ronald Reagan.

On the Democratic ballot are the names of Jimmy Carter, Henry M. Jackson, Ellen McCormack, H. R. H. Fifi Rockefeller, Morris K. Udall and George C. Wallace.

The ballot for each party has a square for an "Uncommitted" vote.

Although his name appears on the ballot, Senator Jackson is no longer an active candidate. Carter is considered the odds-on favorite to win in Kentucky.

The struggle for delegates between President Ford and Ronald Reagan will perhaps engender most heat in the state. The pre-primary campaign has brought both to Kentucky. Carter and Wallace have visited briefly in the state.

Delegates are shared by the candidates in proportion to their vote but only for the first ballot at the two parties' national conventions. After that first ballot, they are, in effect, not bound by the voters' preference.

Deputy's Wife Spots Looters, Three Arrested

Three Johnson county men accused of looting the machine shop of Hubert Gambill on the Paintsville-Inez road Tuesday night of last week were jailed here later in the week by Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis and are charged with first degree burglary.

Jailed were Herman L. Adams, of Nippa, Doug J. Music, of East Point, and Timothy M. Caudill, Paintsville.

Gambill told Lewis that the three virtually "cleaned out" his shop, taking new copper wire valued at $6,000 and tools worth an estimated $4,000.

A fourth man, an employee of Mountain Metal Company, West Prestonsburg, where some of the loot was taken, was arrested on a charge of theft by unlawful taking. He was listed as Ronald D. Yates, of East Point, who served as weighman for the company, and was accused of faking weights in collusion with those bringing stolen copper wire to the metal company for sale.

The arrests resulted when Deputy Sheriff Lewis' wife, who is employed in the metal company office, became suspicious of the men who brought the copper to the company for sale. Under pretense of contacting a local bank, she phoned her husband.

Gambill's tools were recovered, and a part of the wire is being held as evidence.

Randy and Sterling Hall, of Teaberry, were arrested by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis last week-end and booked on a theft by unlawful taking charge after they allegedly had stolen approximately 400 feet of copper wire and a "red devil" from the mine of the Carryback Coal

Arson Probe Asked After Hicks Home Destroyed by Fire

The old Joseph Hicks family one on Brush Creek was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin, the night of May 8, and its owner, Cecil Hicks, has asked a State Police investigation to determine if arson was involved.

The 70-year-old building was partially of log construction. It was not occupied at the time of the fire, its former tenants having moved. Another family was preparing to move into the home when it

Engineer Assigned Task Of Rushing KY 80 Plans

The appointment of a veteran state highway engineer "to expedite" planning for the relocation of KY 80 between US 23 at Water Gap and Hazard was announced in Frankfort last Wednesday.

Evans V. Hilton, a professionally certified civil engineer of 30 years experience with the state's Bureau of Highways, was named by Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts to serve as project engineer for the proposed 42.5 mile, four-lane road which, when completed, will link the Daniel Boone Parkway at Hazard with US 23.

Hilton has been on the engineering staff of the Bureau of Highways' Division of Construction at Frankfort since 1974. Prior to that, he last served as district highway engineer at Somerset (1969-'74).

According to Roberts, Hilton's chief duties in his new job will be "to coordinate and expedite the essential, pre-construction planning phases of the project which must be completed before any ground for the new road is broken."

"What that means," explained Roberts, "is that Hilton will be working full-time as a coordinator, problem-solver and engineering idea man between us and the five private consulting firms which will draw up the design, final right-of-way and construction plans on which the relocation of KY 80 will then be based."

After that, Roberts said, Hilton will remain on the job to coordinate the actual construction.

Contracts with the five consulting firms have been signed, project work orders issued and the actual planning work begun, Roberts said.

"And in every case our first progress report indicates that the preliminary engineering work already is from eight to ten per cent complete, and proceeding on schedule," he said.

The first planning deadline falls due on June 1 of this year, when all preliminary line and grade inspection work is to be completed. The final deadline for all preliminary engineering work is January, 1978.

The five firms which have contracted with the Bureau of Highways for the preliminary engineering work are:

—Brighton Engineering Company, of Frankfort, which will be paid $1,450,289 for overall design supervision of the project and preparation of the final preliminary engineering report.

—H. A. Spalding, Inc., of Hazard, which will receive $1,125,000 for design engineering and right-of-way planning for 7.3 miles of the new road, extending from the end of the Daniel Boone Parkway at Hazard to the Perry-Knott county line. Under a second agreement, H. A. Spalding, Inc., also will be paid an estimated $269,500 for researching mineral and surface rights and conducting title searches along the entire length of the new road.

—Haworth and Associates, Inc., of Frankfort, $1,154,000 for engineering and right-of-way planning between the KY

777 junction south of Langley in this county to the US 23-US 460 junction at Water Gap, a distance of 8.3 miles.

—Hurst-Roche Engineers, Inc., of Frankfort, $2.9 million for design engineering and right-of-way planning between the Perry-Knott and Knott-Floyd county lines, including a spur to Hindman, for a total distance of about 20 miles.

—Johnson, Depp and Quisenberry, of Owensboro, $880,000 for design engineering and right-of-way planning from the Knott-Floyd county line to the KY 777 junction at Langley, a distance of 6.2 miles.

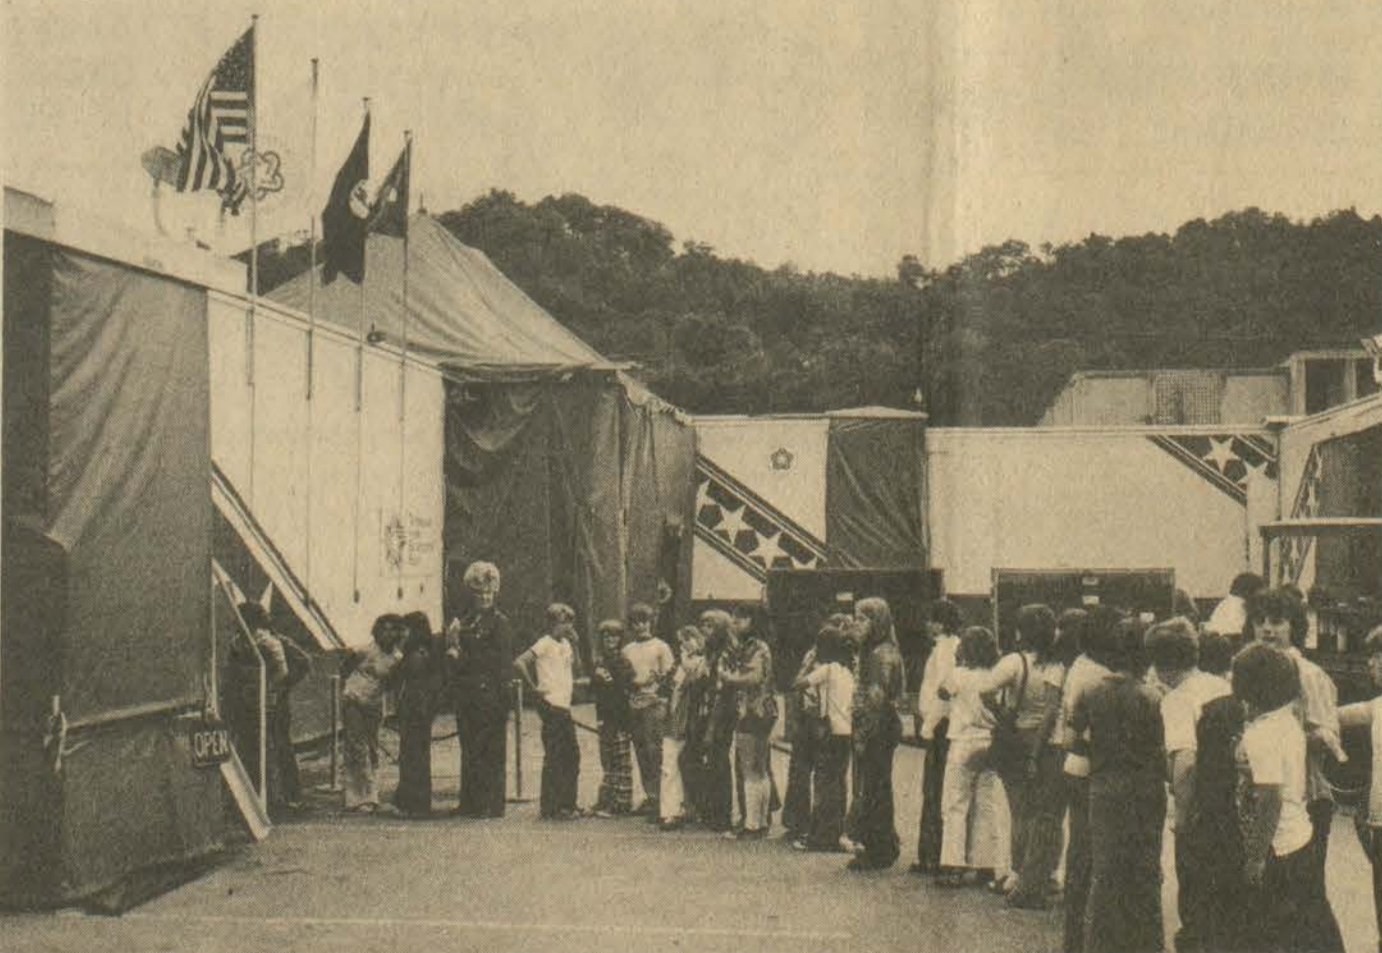

Roberts said that the appointment of Hilton to serve as project engineer and coordinator between the Bureau of Highways and the outside consulting firms, although unusual, is not considered "out of the ordinary, given the special circumstances of the KY 80 project."

Those "special circumstances" were made clear earlier this year when Gov. Julian Carroll, while signing the bill that makes financing of the new road possible, stressed the great impact which a new KY 80 promises for the whole economy of Kentucky, Roberts said.

"With the demand for coal escalating as a viable means of helping our nation solve its growing energy problems, a new KY 80 will give us the sort of resource recovery road that has long been needed to speed up production in the eastern Kentucky coalfields," the secretary said.

Hilton's assignment to work closely with the consulting engineers, and later with the contractors as actual construction gets under way, is a direct result of that "special sense of urgency and importance" which the governor has attached to the project, Roberts said.

Bicentennial Caravan Recreates History

During the one-day visit here of "Tennessee Valley Bicentennial South," hundreds of school children as well as a large number of other area residents were able to "walk back in time" and see the recreation of history as it took place in the South. Consisting of five exhibit trailers which were parked for the day in the municipal parking lot, the caravan, sponsored by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Kentucky Army National Guard, featured displays of Indian artifacts, exhibits, slide presentations and sound effects depicting different periods of American history in the South. The caravan was sponsored locally by the Bicentennial committee of the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce.

Lecture at Mayo Vocational

Representatives from Columbia Gas Distribution Companies, Lowell V. Reed, Chairman of the American National Standards Committee, and Robert J. Brown, Customer Service Training instructor, presented a program to the up-grading class, Gas Transportation and Service, being conducted at the Mayo School, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. They also gave a lecture to students at Johnson Central High School, Thursday, April 29, and to a number of students from the Mayo State Vocational-Technical School and Paintsville High School in the Mayo Auditorium, Friday, April 30.

The topics discussed were on natural gas and propane, the primary energy sources that do not have to be changed before use. Methods for using natural gas safely and economically were stressed and other facts relating to their properties were covered in depth.

SOLAR HEAT FOR POSTOFFICE

The U. S. Post Office building at Boulder, Colorado, has been selected for retrofitting with a solar heating and cooling system. The project is a joint effort of the Energy Research and Development Administration and the U. S. Postal Service and could develop a prototype for similar conversion of post offices nationwide.

The U. S. Department of Labor's migrant and seasonal farmworker program underwent significant changes during the 1975 fiscal year, with resources allocated to states on a formula basis and a development of competitive system for selecting prime sponsors, eliminating many past inequities, according to the annual report of the Department.

Perkins-Sponsored Education Bills Passed by House

Two major education bill sponsored by Rep. Carl D. Perkins have just been passed by the House of Representatives.

The bills provide funds to continue and improve vocational education programs and higher education programs.

"There are few better ways for the federal government to spend its funds than to provide its citizens with job skills," Rep. Perkins told the House, during the debate over the vocational education bill.

The higher education bill passed after the Kentucky Congressman said that "it makes significant changes in existing programs in order to insure more efficient and effective utilization of federal money."

Rep. Perkins related the vocational education legislation to the coal mining industry, and the need for training in mining techniques and in safety.

Camping To Feature Girl Scout Summer

As the school year draws to a close and regular troop meetings stop until fall, Girl Scouts and their leaders begin planning special summer activities.

First, there are day camps held for one or two weeks, and information about these is available from local Scout volunteers.

For girls interested in a more intensive camping experience, the Girl Scouts offer established camping during June, July and August. There are six one-week sessions and three two-week sessions at both Camp Judy Layne and Camp Cardinal. The camps are open to all girls entering the 4th through the 12th grades.

For campers enjoying the experience of camping for a week for the first time, the camps offer a general camping program involving swimming, diving, arts and crafts, cave exploring, hiking, nature appreciation, archery, folk dancing, camping skills, games, singing, and the experience of group living.

At Camp Cardinal, near Carter Caves, the special programming includes a horsewoman unit and a spelunking unit.

The horsewoman program will include riding instructions; care of mount, stable, tacks and clothing; and the health and safety of mount and rider. Classes will be held for beginners and intermediates. Trips to caves of varying difficulty will highlight the spelunking program. Basic caving skills will be taught along with cave conservation and safety. Cave-owner-explorer relationships will be stressed. Special equipment will be provided.

Special programs at Camp Judy Layne, near Cave Run Lake, focus on Marine activities, backpacking and mountain crafts. Canoeing and sailing programs are available for girls entering junior and senior high. Activities are available to girls of varying degrees of experience. Girls who have no canoeing experience will be involved in an Aquatic Unit, learning to canoe and participating in other waterfront activities. Cave Run Lake will be the scene of advanced canoeing instruction for intermediates. The two-week session will be highlighted by a two-day trip on Cave Run Lake and the Licking River. A one-week river canoe trip in a primitive setting will provide a challenge to experienced canoeists. There is even a unit for the girl who wants to combine canoeing and backpacking. No sailing experience is necessary for participation in the sailing unit. Sailing will be done on Cave Run Lake. Backpacking will be offered for beginners, intermediates, and advanced backpackers. The camp, located in the Daniel Boone National Forest, provides excellent trails for the girl just learning about backpacking. For those with more experience, trails outside the camp offer more challenge. Forty-miles in six days through the scenic Red River Gorge will require a spirit of adventure and good physical condition.

In honor of the bicentennial, a homesteading unit sets the scene for learning mountain crafts and skills that are part of this nation's 200 year history. "Foxfire" books will be the major resource material in this unit. Consultants will share their skill and experience with girls who will be involved in activities such as milking a cow, making butter and jam, dipping candles, making applesauce and pickles. What was it like to be a pioneer? That's what campers will find out while "homesteading".

For information and application to Girl Scout Established Camp, write the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council, 1000 West Main Street, Lexington, Ky. 40508.

In addition to day camp and established camp, there will be one-day activities sponsored by local Girl Scouts. Girls may get together for service projects or clean-up campaigns in their communities. Day care services may be provided by Senior Girl Scouts, while mothers go shopping or enjoy a morning of tennis. Special craft activities may be made available for younger girls. Contact a Girl Scout leader for information about the great summer the Girl Scouts have planned. There may be something in it for you.

A Program That Deserves Support

We are less than enthusiastic about the conglomeration of programs in this country of ours, but one which may be threatened with a cut in funding by the state we would defend.

This is the state program dealing with alcoholics and alcoholism.

Dr. William McElwain, commissioner of the Department of Human Resources, is quoted as having questioned the need of spending public money in this field. But if state monies aren't made available for educating, counseling and treating alcoholics, who will support this area of public health?

We refer to alcoholism as an "area of public health," because it has been listed as the third major health problem in the country.

The program may have obvious weaknesses, yet it is important to human beings. Don't kill it. Strengthen it. If some of those working at it aren't getting the job done, drop them, get others to do the work.

We can't resist adding that alcoholism is the only disease, the origin of which is socially accepted and promoted by every medium sponsoring and advertising intoxicating drinks. But that is not the fault of this program.

History does not record what teacher said after that. Maybe something like the teacher who informed a certain youngster that she didn't expect him to be President of the United States when he grew up but that with his absentee record he should make it to the Senate.

IF, PERCHANCE . . .

Not mentioning any names, but heard this week what purports to be the true story of the fisherman who was in the hospital and facing surgery. To say that he had qualms about the coming ordeal is a gross understatement. Then came one of his fellow-fisherman who offered about as much comfort as Job's friends provided him.

"Now, no use to worry about this little operation," he said. "No problem, I'm sure. But, just in case, would you mind signing this?"

And he produced a list of all the fishing gear owned by the patient, with the proviso that all such possessions were upon his demise to pass to the ownership of his friend.

CAR TROUBLE

Had a flat, late last Sunday afternoon, several miles up Middle Creek. Nothing to it but to unlimber the never-before-used jack and lay to the task of changing to the spare. Simple, you say? Not for one with a genius for mechanics such I have. The confounded jack would not go down.

Just when I was at the point of making tracks for the nearest telephone, the eleventh or twelfth car that passed returned to the rescue. My Good Samaritan was Truly Francis, of Garrett, who had recognized me and taken pity.

Speaking of Good Samaritans, it wasn't those who passed by on the other side that hurt but those who passed by on my side and zippingly close as the posterior was elevated skyward while I wrestled with that unspeakable jack.

PROPOSITION

Frost, cold weather, dry weather and everything else to the contrary, the poke is going to make it. So a poke warden is a must.

Facing that urgent need, Watt Hale and I have decided that if he will agree not to use the office to help the Republican party in the Presidential election next November, we will forfeit our claims to the office and give it to Lenna Moore.

Project on the Auxier road, near here. Suffering most from the cutback will be children's programs which MCCC maintains in the five-county area of Floyd, Pike, Magoffin, Johnson and Martin.

"Hopefully, these much-needed programs can be picked up by the schools," Stai said. One-third of the employee cutback will come from administrative services, Stai explained, and it is in this area that Floyd county will be most affected. Mountain Comprehensive Care's administrative offices are based here.

Stai said he is confident that after the present cutback the agency will maintain its staff as well as the quantity and quality of its services for at least a three-year period. "We'll be operating on a budget of about $2 million annually for the next three years," he pointed out.

Some consolation amidst MCCC's financial woes came during Friday's annual site review in which state and federal representatives presented their evaluations of MCCC's program as a whole. One summation during the review rated the agency "one of the best-operated and managed mental health centers in the state."

Letters to the Editor

District Forester Replies To Letter by Mr. Fields

The May 12th issue of The Floyd County Times had a letter to the Editor that I would like to reply to the charges.

While I am not an expert in as many occupations as Mr. Fields claims to be, I am a professional forester with 25 years' experience in forest management.

The fire that Mr. Fields referred to at Water Gap did more damage than he describes. It did kill some of the pines and also some of the hardwood trees and the seedlings that would make the next crop of timber after the larger trees are harvested. These pines would have made good pulpwood or dimension lumber, if they had lived; now, it will be an additional 10-15 years to replace the growth they had when killed.

Nearly 25 percent of our lumber produced in this area is low grade material. This is a direct result of past fire damage. The fires damage the butt of the tree which opens avenues for disease and rot to enter the tree and degrade it when harvested, if it doesn't die before maturity. All anyone has to do to see this is visit one of the sawmills in the area and watch the logs sawed to see the evidence of this past damage.

A forest with several years of leaf fall that has started to rot adds organic material to the soil and keeps a healthier forest growing. In addition, this humus material is like a sponge and holds much more water than bare soil would. Most residents of the area remember the floods of 1957 and 1963. Studies made after these floods indicated that poor land management was one of the major contributing factors to the floods and repeated forest fires was one of the poor land management causes.

A burned area may be easy to walk through the first year after a burn if you don't mind getting as black as a coal miner. After the first year there are three to five sprouts for each stem killed and the area becomes a thicket which is hard to walk through and furnishes cover for snakes and rodents.

I worked on the Dewey Lake State Forest for five years and only killed one rattlesnake and two copperheads in that time. The forest there has been under management long enough that it is clearing up underneath, now that the canopy has closed, and fires have been kept out of the area.

I am not an expert on reptiles, but I do know that tourists leave debris around camping and picnic areas which attracts rodents. These rodents are a food for snakes and if there is a big increase around the state park this could possibly be one cause.

If one wants to see what repeated burning of one year's leaf fall does, all that you need to do is drive to Auxier on US 23 and look at the hillside across from the Highlands Regional Medical Center. This hillside has burned nearly every year for the last 8-10 years that I know of, and a large portion is now just briars and weeds.

CB Coffee Break

Have you ever wondered what a CB'er does besides talk on his radio? After investigating and joining one club, the Floyd County Citizens Band Radio Club, I have found the following events scheduled:

1. Memorial Day week-end, a coffee break for the traveling motorist, at the junction of the Mountain Parkway and US 23, one mile west of Prestonsburg. Purpose of this coffee break is to allow motorists to take a break from the tedium of highway driving in the hope that it will help save some lives on this long week-end. This is free of charge to all motorists. The stand will be set up and maintained by members of this club.

2. If you haven't gotten the CB bug yet, visit the Floyd County CB'ers Club Jamboree and get bitten. The jamboree will be held at the Prestonsburg High School Cafeteria, June 25, 26 and 27. At 3 p.m. on the 27th a nice prize will be given to the CB'er from the greatest distance, and tickets will be drawn for the Pearce Simpson Bearcat 23 channel base station and one SX007 Robyn Mobile 23 channel with antennae, mounting bracket and cable, plus other prizes. Every hour there will be a drawing for a prize during the jamboree. There will be different types of entertainment and sundry events and entertainments, plus meeting other bucket mouths and ratchet jaws.

If you have already been bitten, have a CB and would be interested in joining a CB Club, you are invited to come to the next meeting, May 23 (Sunday) at 2 p.m. in the Floyd county courtroom. Any information can be obtained from the president or secretary at 886-3078 after 6:30 p.m. We have 120 members and monitor Channel 22.

Campaign Reaction

After seeing all the television pictures and hearing all the flamboyant speeches of the various candidates in this primary election for the presidency, am of the opinion Thomas Jefferson would turn over in his grave and old Honest Abe would close his eyes and shake his head sadly, while Harry Truman would hop up in a chair, flap his arms like a bantam rooster and say, "Boys, I got ya all beat."

Says Alcoholism Funds Cut Would Be Tragic

Being a concerned citizen and a member of the Kentucky Association on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, Inc. (KAA), I feel compelled to state some facts in reference to proposed curtailment or possible elimination of desperately needed funds for alcoholism programs. Makes me wonder if Dr. William McElwain, of the Bureau for Health Services, and Mr. C. Leslie Dawson, Department for Human Resources, realize just what would happen? It would most certainly cause the state of Kentucky to go backward at least twenty years in the area of Alcoholism as well as Mental Health-Mental Retardation services.

Alcoholism is a disease but a treatable one. I am among many people who place it as the number one health problem—before heart disease, stroke and cancer.

In order to pursue research, to further education and to treat victims of this disease, and their families, it takes money. Any cut in funds would be tragic.

Regional Education Board
In Last Official Meeting

Among those attending the last scheduled KEDR XI board of directors meeting were, from left, Dr. Curtis Phipps, director of the Division of Guidance; Charles E. Spears, board vice-chairman and superintendent of Pikeville independent schools, and Charles F. Clark, board chairman and superintendent of Floyd county schools.

The KEDR XI board of directors met last Tuesday at the KEDR XI office here for its last scheduled meeting to transact official board business. Charles F. Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools and chairman of the board, presided. Reo Johns, executive director, welcomed members and guests.

Board members and guests heard Shirley Duff, Division of Dissemination, discuss services available to local school districts through her division. She asked that each district appoint one contact person to be responsible for channeling requests for information to the Division of Dissemination.

Bronelle Skaggs, regional vocational director, discussed the expansion of vocational programs in Region XI and new vocational construction.

The board directed that employment of all special project personnel and KEDR XI staff members be terminated, effective June 30. This motion was made "with regret" by Vice-Chairman Charles E. Spears, superintendent of the Pikeville independent schools, and with the hope that some type of procedure will be used to fill the vacuum left by the loss of the KEDR XI organization. Mr. Spears' motion also included an expression of great pleasure and satisfaction with services rendered by the KEDR XI staff.

The board also voted that:
—Testing materials purchased with Title IV-B funds remain in school districts in Region XI which participated in the project.

—Instructional materials purchased with Title VI-B project funds remain in Region XI for the use of the area special education consultant.

—Audio-visual equipment purchased with guidance funds be kept in Region XI for the use of the area guidance supervisor.

—The school bus safety film be left in the custody of Floyd county schools for the use of all Region XI school districts.

—Floyd county schools be appointed to receive and disburse all KEDR XI mail after June 30 and be appointed custodian of KEDR XI records after that date.
—Official minutes of the KEDR XI Board of Directors be transferred to Frankfort following the last board meeting.

—The board present certificates of appreciation to past and present board of directors and advisory council officers.

Reo Johns, executive director, read a letter from board member, Dr. Kenneth Hansson, Eastern Kentucky University, expressing his regret for the loss of the Kentucky Educational Development regions and commending the board chairman and staff for the services rendered during the life of KEDR XI. Johns said he was hopeful that some type of regionalization would exist because of Governor Carroll's desire to have the boards remain intact.

Don Burchett, area guidance supervisor, expressed his gratitude for the opportunity given him to work closely with the superintendents as a group.

The final portion of the meeting was devoted to board members' concerns. Herald Whitaker, Superintendent of Magoffin County Schools, expressed deep appreciation for the assistance given him as a new superintendent. He also expressed his regret for the approaching retirement of Mr. Clark and Mr. Spears. Mr. Whitaker told the retiring KEDR XI officers that the best wishes and prayers of the KEDR XI superintendents go with them, and moved that the Department of Education be requested to consider funding Region XI from some other source at any time funds might become available. This motion was unanimously approved by the Board.

Board Chairman Clark compared eliminating the regional staff to "removing a human heart and expecting the body to keep on moving." He said that he did not feel this could happen. He also said that without a coordinating staff, regionalization could only happen by accident, if at all, and that at best it would be a fragmented semblance of regionalization. Mr. Clark also expressed his personal appreciation to the KEDR XI staff and said that the Board had been fortunate in its selection of staff members. He credited the Board's selection of staff with KEDR XI's success. Mr. Clark also stated that it was a source of pride to him to know that he was the only chairman Region XI ever had, and that he hoped he would not be the last.

Board member, Dr. Curtis Phipps, director of the Division of Guidance Services, told the board that the regional concept had given guidance services a springboard that it hadn't had before.

A special joint board of directors and advisory council meeting will be held in early June, at a date and location to be announced, to honor retiring members of the board and council.

Governor Appoints Commission To Effects of Judicial Article

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has signed an executive order creating a special Advisory Commission on County Government to study the changes effected by the Judicial Article on county government and to propose legislation to deal with them.

The order directs the commission to review organization and administration of county government and report its findings, along with proposed legislation to implement those findings, to the Office for Local Government, the Legislative Research Commission and the Secretary of the Cabinet on or before September 1.

A special session of the legislature is to be held between Thanksgiving and Christmas of this year.

The Judicial Article calls for restructuring of the court system in the state and, according to the executive order, "will cause a significant change in the functions, duties and responsibilities of certain county officials."

Gov. Carroll named John Stanley Hoffman, chairman of the state Board of Tax Appeals, as commission chairman. Appointed to the commission are Attorney General Robert Stephens, the heads of the house and senate committees on counties and special districts in the General Assembly, Rep. Gross Lindsey, (D-Henderson) and Sen. Daisy Thaler, (D-Louisville); and Area Development District officials.

County officials appointed by the governor are: Judge Robert O. Miller, of Calloway county; County Court Clerk Bremer Ehrler, Jefferson county; County Attorney William L. Shadoan, Ballard; Commissioner Joseph Schwalback, Campbell; Sheriff Jerry English, Marshall; Jailor Lloyd Berry, Mason; Circuit Court Clerk James Groves, Todd; Commonwealth's Attorney John P. Runyon, Pike; Property Valuation Administrator Charles Hale, Calloway; Coroner J. B. Morris, Pulaski; President of Kentucky Association of Counties Robert Aldemeyer, Kenton; County Court Clerk Charles Baesler, Jr., Fayette; County Attorney E. V. Holder, Lewis; and Commissioner Tom Helm, Jefferson. County Judges Lambert Hehl (Campbell county) and James Fallin (Hancock county) were also appointed. In addition, Frank Martin, (Ohio county); C. Vernon Cooper, (Perry county); Phyllis Byron, (Bath county); Charles Livisay, (Fayette county); and Betty Jo Heick, (Bourbon county) will serve on the commission.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH (Health Educator)

A public health nurse will hold an outpost clinic next Monday at Mellie Tackett's store at the mouth of Tackett Fork at Beaver. Clinic hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and the following medical services will be available; immunizations, diabetes screening, blood pressures, hemoglobins and TB skin tests.

All persons living in the vicinity of Beaver are urged to take advantage of these free medical services being offered in their community.

With warm temperatures here again, many outdoor enthusiasts will be coming out of hibernation. Unfortunately, accidents seem to accompany outdoor activities and bicycling is certainly no exception.

The U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates that over 460,000 persons suffered bicycle-related injuries serious enough to require hospital emergency room treatment in 1974. In order to reduce this figure in the future the CPSC offered many safety tips. The following are some of them:

- When Selecting a Bicycle—
1. Buy a bicycle that fits the size of your child today, not one he will "grow into" later.
 2. Ask for reflectors that will make the bike visible at night from front, back and sides.
 3. Attach headlight and taillight.
 4. Don't buy a bicycle with sharp points and edges, especially long fenders, or with protruding bolts that could scrape or tear clothing.

When Using the Bicycle—

1. Observe all traffic laws and signals, just as automobiles must do.
2. Don't ride double or attempt stunts.
3. Ride near the curb in the same direction as the traffic.
4. Walk—don't ride—your bicycle across busy intersections and left turn corners.
5. Find alternative routes rather than riding through busy intersections and heavy or high-speed traffic.

For Maintaining the Bicycle—

1. Remember that an experienced repairman should do complicated work.
2. Cover sharp points and edges with heavy, waterproof tape.
3. Replace all missing, damaged, or worn parts: for example, chain guards, chain links, spokes, and handlebar grips.
4. Inflate tires to recommended pressure, and replace worn tires.

Underworld informants, often criminals themselves, pay off for local police, the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service. In fiscal 1975, reports the Reader's Digest May issue, the IRS collected about $19 million in back taxes because of tipsters' leads. The informants, for their trouble, received a total of $323,408. Money is a big motivator.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Floyd County Fiscal Court desires to allocate $4,000 of its total $1,694,644.50 Coal Producing County Development Fund for the purpose of making emergency renovation of the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad building, including materials for a new roof and interior repair. This project will significantly increase the county's level of vital health and emergency services and thereby enhance the county's prospects for future enterprise development. A public hearing on the matter will be held in the Floyd County Courthouse at 10 a.m. May 24, 1976. All interested citizens are encouraged to attend.

Kentucky Health Council Endorses Immunization Plan

The Kentucky Health Services Advisory Council has adopted a position paper endorsing the nationwide flu immunization and urging support of all citizens in the effort.

Dr. William P. McElwain, commissioner of the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Health Services, said federal action has occurred so swiftly because time is of the essence. "We can expect the flu season in December, January and February so action now is necessary," he told the citizens' advisory group.

The commissioner also noted that this is the first time that influenza studies have provided such an early warning.

"Our objective is to immunize 90 per cent of the high risk population with bivalent influenza vaccine (protection against both Hong Kong flu which struck the state in 1974 and the New Jersey strain or swine influenza which evolved in the 1975-'76 flu season)," Dr. McElwain told the council.

High risk persons are those over 65 and those already under a doctor's care for certain chronic illnesses.

"A single dosage vaccine providing immunization only against the swine virus will be administered in Kentucky to 90 percent of the school children and 85 per cent of the remaining population," the commissioner said.

"Private physicians and all health agencies will be cooperating in achieving the objectives," Dr. McElwain said.

Federal guidelines for securing financial assistance have already been received and Kentucky has filed its request for needed funds and supplies.

County health departments which will serve as the headquarters for the effort in each county have begun organizing for the program.

"As soon as we receive the money and vaccine we will be ready to begin," Dr. McElwain said.

The vaccine is currently being tested by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to determine accurate dosages.

Road Work Ban Hits Companies; Could Up Costs

Three road-building firms, one of which has been active in this section, have been banned from highway work involving federal aid funds for a period of three years as a penalty for their alleged involvement in a bid-rigging conspiracy.

Similar bans are proposed by the Federal Highway Administration against three other firms and five individuals. Banned, effective April 1, were the East Kentucky Paving Corp., Grayson; Hoover, Inc., Donelson, Tenn., and Standard Slag Co., Youngstown, O.

The firms and individuals proposed for the same penalty are Jack E. Ruth, Georgetown, president of East Kentucky Paving and East Kentucky Road Oiling Co.; Eph Hoover, president of Hoover, Inc. and Hot-Mix, Inc.; John T. Jenkins, Nashville, Tenn., vice-president of Hoover, Inc.; Robert S. Jones, North Ridgeville, O., sales representative of Standard Slag, and James B. Allen and the Allen Co., both of Winchester.

Meanwhile, Kentucky Secretary of Transportation Roberts is awaiting, he said, further action in the federal cases before deciding whether to ban the firms from bidding on projects that are wholly funded by the state.

The federal bans are subject to administrative hearings. A shorter suspension term has been urged, and some say the action could result in higher costs of road-building—construction of KY 80, for instance—because the bans would reduce the competition for the construction jobs.

Roberts said he is "not going to be stamped" in taking action against the contractors as to state-funded projects.

"I'd hate to debar them and then have them go to court and have what the federal government has done set aside," Roberts said. "... As soon as their (the highway administration's) action is firm, we're going to address the matter."

Roberts said that, when he does take action, "I'm not going to give anybody a break ... (or) any favoritism." "We've got other problems up there (in East Kentucky) too, like no competition if you debarred them," Roberts added. "... It looks to me like it's going to hurt the state worse than it's going to hurt them (the contractors)."

The alleged conspiracy involved 1969 bids opened by the Kentucky Highway Department on construction of an Interstate 64 segment in Rowan and Carter counties.

The bid-rigging raised the project's cost by $684,130, according to a later civil suit. The project was paid for with road-tax dollars, 90 per cent federal and 10 per cent state.

In 1973 a federal grand jury at Lexington indicted four companies and four individuals on conspiracy charges.

Last Sept. 3, East Kentucky Paving, Hoover, Inc., and Standard Slag entered no contest pleas and were fined the maximum $10,000 each. Charges against five other defendants were dropped.

At the same time, the U. S. attorney's office filed a civil suit seeking more than $1.2 million in damages—twice the federal loss of $615,717.

U. S. attorneys and the defendants later settled that suit for $500,000, with East Kentucky Paving paying $100,000, Hoover, Inc. $225,000, and Standard Slag $175,000.

WASHINGTON—Legislation restoring the 10-cent postal rate for first class letters and abolishing the third-class rate was proposed Friday by Rep. Ken Hechler.

The West Virginia Democrat said his bill would wipe out the recent Postal Service increase which brought the cost of mailing a letter up to 13 cents.

ALC To Begin 8th Annual ALCOR Program, June 21

Pippa Passes, Ky.—Alice Lloyd College's eighth annual ALCOR program will begin in four eastern Kentucky counties June 21. (ALCOR stands for Appalachian Leaders in Community Outreach.) This summer's program will operate in 12 centers through Floyd, Letcher, Knott and Pike counties.

Twenty-four college students employed in the ALCOR program will spend seven weeks this summer living with families and working in small ALCOR centers, usually a schoolhouse. Students provide a bridge between isolated families in rural hollows and health-education agencies.

Some of the activities Alice Lloyd College has planned for this summer include arts and crafts, many sports activities, cookouts, films on health, nutrition, dental hygiene and folkways of Appalachia. Eye examinations will be given and a reading specialist will be on hand for both children and adults. ALC's Appalachian Summer Theatre will present a play in each of the 12 ALCOR communities. In addition, the ALCOR program plans to sponsor a free lunch program at its centers.

ALCOR was started at Alice Lloyd College in 1969 as part of the College's commitment to service in the mountains.

The ALCOR program has since been incorporated and now is sponsored by a total of six eastern Kentucky colleges, with central offices in Hazard. Jack Burch serves as administrative head of the program.

In addition to providing recreation in the isolated areas of eastern Kentucky, ALCOR emphasizes health, nutrition, education, and community development. "We don't try to teach people, as such, but rather we allow them to learn by providing them with an environment and equipment conducive to that learning," comments Christine Stumbo, ALCOR director at Alice Lloyd College.

"I strongly believe in the worth of the ALCOR program and its benefits to the mountain people. We are delivering a needed service to area residents as well as providing a terrific learning experience for college students. The students learn a new sense of pride in their mountain heritage and are trained in leadership techniques at the same time," Miss Stumbo added.

ALCOR center locations in Pike, Knott, Floyd, and Letcher will be announced later this month. Beginning June 21, the centers will be open at 9 a.m. and close at 4 p.m., each week day.

Johnson Sheriff Can Stay In Office Pending Appeal

The Attorney General's office said last Wednesday Johnson County Sheriff Ray Melvin, who was convicted earlier this month of extorting money from bootleggers, can remain in office while his appeal is pending.

The opinion, written by Assistant Deputy Attorney General Charles W. Runyan, said under Kentucky law, when an appeal is made from a felony conviction, the conviction is considered to be suspended and is not final until the appeal is acted upon.

"Under the present circumstances, until the defendant's post-conviction procedures relating to his appeal have been exhausted or abandoned, the removal for disqualification cannot be sought," Runyan said.

Under state law, a person convicted of a felony is disqualified from holding office and statutes also provide for the removal of an officer convicted of a felony.

Melvin was sentenced last week to four concurrent four-year prison terms and fines totaling $30,000. Melvin has not resigned and is up for reelection in the fall of 1977. In the meantime, the duties of the sheriff are being handled by Johnson county deputies.

PSC Subpoenas 14 Utilities

The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has ordered 14 utilities, including two from Floyd county, to appear at a hearing in Frankfort yesterday (Tuesday) to explain why they have not filed required reports of gross operating revenues for 1975.

Kentucky law requires the reports to be filed on or before March 31. Commission Chairman Barkley Sturgill warned the utilities by letter that if the data was not received April 26 they would be subpoenaed for a hearing.

Gas utilities directed to appear before the PSC include the C.S. Phillips Gas Station, Blaine; Elzie Neeley Gas Company, Inc., Prestonsburg; Holly Creek Production Corporation, Jackson; Lyda Gas Company, Inc., Elkhorn City, and the Mike Little Gas Company, Inc., Melvin.

Eight water utilities did not file reports. They are the Lovelaceville Water Company, West Paducah; Oak Haven Water and Sewer Company, Falmouth; Farmdale Water District, Frankfort; Nicholas County Water District, Carlisle; North Woodford County Water District, Frankfort; Salt River Water District, Shepherdsville; Huntsville-South Hill Water System, Inc., Morgantown; and Levee Road Water Association, Inc., Mt. Sterling.

Southern Ohio Radio, Telephone and Page of Cincinnati was also ordered to appear.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wayne Shepherd, of West Prestonsburg, announce the birth of their first child, a son, Christopher Wayne, May 1 at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jake Fraley, of Drift, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bud Shepherd, of West Prestonsburg.

Congratulated By President

Mrs. Burke pictured holding letter of congratulations from President and Mrs. Ford.

May 9 was more than just Mother's Day for Mrs. Lockie Burke, of Long Fork, near Virgie in Pike county—it was also her 101st birthday.

Born in 1875 in Pike county where she has lived most of her life, she was married in 1898 and widowed only 14 years later. Illness and accident had claimed both her children, Lonza and Flossie, by 1949, and although she has spent most time alone throughout her life, she remains witty and enthusiastic.

A letter of congratulations from President and Mrs. Gerald Ford highlighted her birthday-Mother's Day celebration. In his letter President Ford said: "Mrs. Ford and I were delighted to learn from your great-granddaughter, Annette, that you will be celebrating the grand occasion of your one hundred and first birthday, and we want to be sure to be included among those expressing congratulations to you at this happy time."

Most of her grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present along with a number of friends from Pike and surrounding counties to honor Mrs. Burke. She received many flowers and gifts.

Mrs. Burke is the grandmother of Garner Burke, of Ivel.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Virginia M. Spencer who passed away May 22, 1975. Our loved one has left us but she remains in our hearts.

The following obituary was published at the time of her death:

Mrs. Virginia M. (Virgie) Spencer, 73, of Garrett, died last Thursday at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Mrs. Spencer was a former post-mistress at Garrett and had taught in the Floyd County school system. She was also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club, and was a Kentucky Colonel. A daughter of the late John Wesley and Geneva Martin Moore, she was born March 13, 1902 in Knott County.

Survivors include her husband, Rudolph Spencer; a foster son, T. J. Johnson, of Lexington; two sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, of Lexington, and Mrs. Bill Pettrey, of Prestonsburg; a foster sister, Mrs. Jackie Shahady, of Laurel, Maryland.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m., Sunday, at the Garrett Missionary Baptist Church by the Revs. W. D. Jagers, Rush Slone, and Edward Sturgill. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

I would like to add: She was a member of the Garrett Baptist Church having served the church in different offices. She had taught a Sunday School class for the past 25 years or more and did so until she was forced to give it up, due to her illness. She was a devout christian, working always with the children and lending a hand wherever needed.

Survivors also included a niece, Mrs. Don C. Harris, two great-nieces, Becky Lou and Sandra Harris, and a great-nephew, Frank Harris, all of Lexington, Ky.

This poem seems to fit her life:
The more of everything you share,
The more you'll always have to spare.
The more you love, the more you'll find
That life is good and friends are kind.

Lovingly, her sisters,
REBECCA RASNICK
DOLLY PETTREY

Embezzlement Becomes Easier With Increased Computer Use

Frankfort, Ky.—Financial institutions are becoming increasingly concerned about possible embezzlements through the use of computers, revealed John L. Williams, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Banking and Securities. Williams said about one-half of Kentucky's 263 state banks have switched to computers in lieu of the more conventional bookkeeping system. He noted that a bank teller and a computer programmer could embezzle as much as $500,000 before the loss was noticed because many bankers are not yet completely familiar with electronic data processing.

The commissioner said two state bank examiners will attend a computer audit and control conference May 24-28 to help cut down embezzlement possibilities in Kentucky. The Clarksville, Ind., meeting is jointly sponsored by both the Hoosier and Kentucky banking departments and the Conference of State Bank Supervisors (CSBS).

Most of the 20 participants will be required to pay a $4.50 course fee but the Kentucky examiners are entitled to free instruction through the department's sponsorship of the program, Williams said.

A similar conference was held in the area last year and the commissioner said CSBS plans to sponsor the programs in all states on a continuing basis.

Williams is director-at-large of CSBS.

The Prestonsburg Blackcat baseball team won the 58th (Floyd county) District tournament last Friday at the Drift Ball park by defeating Wheelwright High School, 9 to 4. Both schools will be in the regional baseball tournament starting at the Johnson Central High School baseball field.

Prestonsburg was limited to only three hits, one each by Mike Dixon, Kevin Sturgill and Allan Herrick. Betsy Layne collected seven hits, two each by Ricky Roberts and John Boyd. Terry Akers, Tim Rice and Tony Ratliff each had one hit.

In the championship game Prestonsburg's Jeff Burchett was the winning pitcher as he twirled a one-hitter and gave up only one run until the bottom half of the seventh when Wheelwright scored two runs on three walks, a wild pitch and a base hit. Burchett got Ballard Jones to fly out in the seventh to end the rally.

Betsy Layne closed out their season with a 11 and 5 record; Allen Central, 16 and 9; McDowell, 3 and 12. Going into the regional tournament, Wheelwright is 9 and 9 while Prestonsburg's record stands at 17 and 15.

Prestonsburg's scoring punch was provided by Mike Click, Kevin Sturgill and Greg DeRossett, each connecting for two hits. Click connected for a three-run homer in the sixth inning to give him a total of 4 RBI's for the day. Wheelwright's two hits were Gilbert Tackett's double in the second and a single by Charles Hall in the seventh. Jeff Burchett was the winner, his fifth win of the season against four losses. The loser was Sheldon Berger, his second loss against one win.

The all-district baseball team was selected following the championship game. Selected were: John Boyd, George Kidd, and Tony Ratliff, of Betsy Layne; Greg Dixon, Mike Dixon, Jeff Burchett and Mike Click, from Prestonsburg; Gary Anderson, Joe Tackett and Charles Hall, of Wheelwright; Terry Tuttle, Steve Newsome and Stevy Ward, of McDowell.

U.S. INDIANS REPORTEDLY DIDN'T BURY FISH FOR FERTILIZER

NEW YORK—The belief that burying fish for fertilizer was an American Indian custom is just a "lovely legend," says Mrs. Lynn Ceci, a doctoral candidate in archaeology at the City University of New York.

She says Squanto, the Indian who supposedly told the Pilgrims how to fertilize their corn, had picked up the idea from other Europeans while he was in Europe.

No Other Time

The mystery of time has captured men's thoughts from the beginning of history.

Solomon said that to everything there is a season and a time for every purpose under heaven.

Benjamin Franklin once remarked that we should guard well our time, for it is the only ingredient of life.

C. S. Lewis declared our future is what we are all rushing into at the rate of sixty minutes an hour.

Nothing is able to impede the relentless march of time. From the cradle to the grave, time circumscribes our whole being. As the great hymn writer Isaac Watts poetically echoed:

Time, like an over-rolling stream, Bears all its sons away; They fly forgotten as a dream Dies at the opening day.

Time is not only persistent; it is mysterious. When did time begin? When will it end? From the Scriptures we know that time began at creation, for "in the beginning" everything was created by God (Genesis 1).

At some point in God's sovereign plan, the Scriptures also tell us, time will cease. The God who created the heavens and the earth, at the beginning of time, has said that they will one day be replaced by a new heaven and a new earth, and this age of time will come to an end (Revelation 10:6; 21:1).

Time is the great parenthesis between two mighty acts of creation!

But time is not fully explored until we recognize its momentous significance! During the time that each person dwells upon this planet, he is called upon to make a decision that will determine his eternal destiny. How that choice is made here and now will have everlasting consequences.

God has given us the Bible so that we might make our decision in line with His will. The Scriptures tell us: "The Lord is . . . not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (2 Peter 3:9). God translated man's willingness to repent into the most wonderful act of love. "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

It is the response we make to Jesus Christ in time that determines our eternal destiny. The only way that you and I as sinners may become acceptable before God and be assured of spending eternity with Him, is by receiving the full pardon for our sins which was secured by Jesus' death on the cross and resurrection.

It is a choice that each person must make—a choice that may soon slip away: The clock of life is wound but once. And no man has the power

To tell just where the hands will stop. At late or early hour. To lose one's wealth is sad indeed, To lose one's health is more; To lose one's soul is such a loss As no man can restore. The present only is our own, To seek to do God's will; Tomorrow holds no promise, for The clock may then be still.

With our faith in Christ we can face time and eternity without fear, knowing that God is with us both now and forever. If we believe in Him, let us redeem the time, using all that God has given us to share what Christ has done for us. But if you have not yet believed, there is no better time, and there may be no other time than today.

Magoffin County Man Jailed Here In Combs Death

Kenneth (Bo) Holbrook, 21-year-old Magoffin county man, was being held in jail here this week, pending arraignment at Salyersville on a charge of shooting to death last Friday his distant cousin, C. J. Combs, 47, in the yard of the Combs home on the Elk Creek road, seven miles west of Salyersville.

Holbrook was jailed here by State Detectives B. J. Music and Kenneth DeBoard, who said Holbrook had not admitted the crime.

The victim's wife, Etta Mae Combs, told officers, however, that she saw her husband shot. She said her husband, a truck driver, had come home from work around 3 p.m. and that they were inside the house, talking, when a car pulled into the front yard and the horn began blowing. She said she accompanied her husband to the door and that he walked to the car. Mrs. Combs added that she recognized the driver as Holbrook and that he immediately began shooting. Shot six times, Combs died almost instantly.

Mrs. Combs told officers she knew of no trouble between her husband and Holbrook, and officers were unable to find a motive for the slaying. No weapon was found at the scene of the shooting.

Circuit court records at Salyersville show that Holbrook was indicted two years ago for the knife-slaying of a man named Montgomery, but the case was dismissed when the prosecution was not pushed.

County Fairs To Get More Financial Aid

Frankfort, Ky.—County fairs around Kentucky got a shot in the arm recently as the 1976 General Assembly passed House Bill 579, making available $285,000 annually in financial aid for local agricultural fairs.

That amount represents a 171 per cent increase over the $105,000 previously available for such fairs, according to Dusty Lashbrook, who handles the aid program for the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

There are four areas in which fairs may receive aid. The first is money to be used for agricultural premiums paid to exhibitors. In this category, a fair may receive a maximum of $3,000 as compared with the $2,000 previously authorized. The total amount of the allocation is based on the premiums offered and the amount of premiums actually paid. Also, the local fair must match the state money on a 50-50 basis.

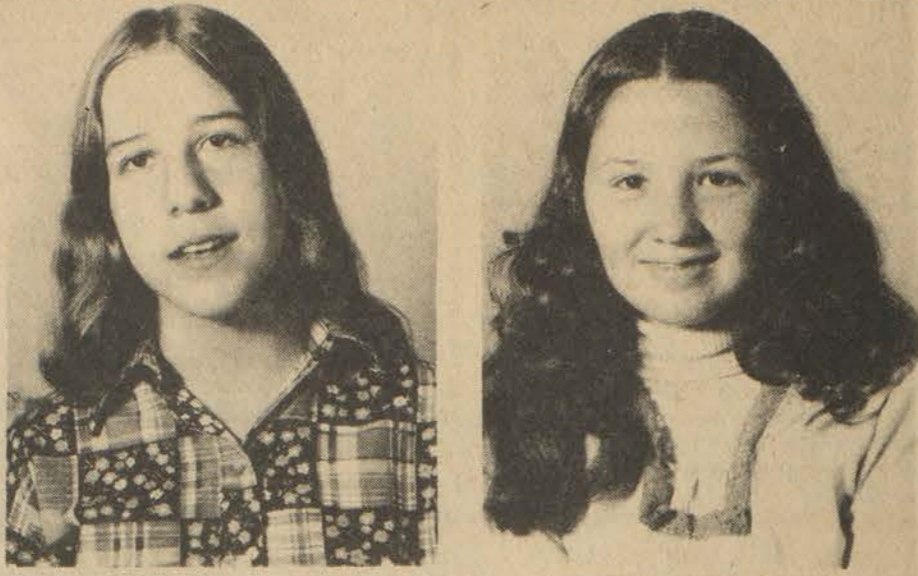

The second category is for building or repairing fair facilities. That limit, formerly $500, now has now been raised to $1,000. New building or improvements on existing structures used for any part of the fair can qualify.

Thirdly, a fair will now be able to qualify for up to $1,000 on a matching basis to be used for premiums for horse shows and other horse events associated with the fair. This amount will be in addition to the $3,000 limit for agricultural premiums.

The final area is harness racing. A fair interested in starting a harness racing program can now receive up to $5,000 to be used for stakes races if the regulations of the department and the Kentucky Harness Racing Association are met. The money provided for this may not exceed $750 per race with the fair or other sponsors matching that amount.

In addition, local fairs may also be eligible for financial help on capital improvement projects through their Area Development District. Gov. Julian Carroll has set aside $6,000 for use in economic development in the state. Improvements to recreational facilities, such as local fairgrounds, could qualify under this program.

CHARLES CLARK Supt., Floyd County Schools

Tribute to a 'Country Doctor'

(Dr. Lloyd M. Hall, one of the last of a vanishing breed, the "country doctor," was honored May 2 when the Lloyd M. Hall Community Center was dedicated at Salyersville.

During his early practice, Dr. Hall used various methods of transportation. There was only one fairly passable road which went through the county to Mt. Sterling, and it was a graveled road.

Sometimes Dr. Hall went to Royalton and walked the railroad tracks to Ivyton, timing his calls so that he could catch the B. S. and K. R. train back to Royalton, which cost him at that time fifteen cents.

He rode up and down muddy roads on mules and on horses. One particular mule he rode, stopped suddenly, at various times, and its owner told him that the mule probably thought he was drunk for that's the way the mule behaved for him when it thought he had been imbibing.

Reminiscing, Dr. Hall tells often about visiting Buck Oliver's wife, who was ill, and who lived in an almost inaccessible place in Breathitt county. He went by car to Royalton, walked a long distance, rode a mule for ten miles without even seeing one house, and finally reached his destination.

Sometimes Dr. Hall had to walk long distances to visit patients at night. On one such occasion he was walking through the woods on a night when the moon was shining brightly, but somehow he had a rather uneasy feeling.

The period that the Doctor had to practice medicine by riding horseback, was about twelve years in duration. Then roads were built in parts of the county and he could use a car in some places and a jeep in most others.

Dr. Hall's first years here were the Depression Years, and "hard cash" as the old timers called it, was hard to come by. So accordingly, his fees were very low compared to our present day medical bills.

Fortunately for us, all those days are behind us, and many medicines came into being during Dr. Hall's years of practice, that helped to cure, and to all but obliterate the prevalent diseases of earlier days.

Medical practice, too, has changed. Once everyone expected the doctor to come when they called, no matter what time it was, nor how difficult it was to get there.

During his many years of practice, Dr. Hall has had many interesting experiences, made many lasting friends, and gleaned a wealth of understanding and knowledge about this country and its people. Perhaps no one else knows his way around to every creek, branch and hollow as well as does Dr. Hall. He has always been unassuming, expecting no praise for doing what he considered to be his duty.

It is typical of Dr. Hall that he once said, "If I had my life to live over I'd practice medicine in Eastern Kentucky, marry the same girl, and vote in every election."

Cancer hasn't stopped 1,500,000 people from living.

They did it by not letting fear kill them. They did it by going to the doctor in time. They did it with the help of the effective methods of treatment today—surgery, radiation, chemotherapy. They did it because of the advances made through research. More than 1,500,000 Americans are living proof cancer can be cured. The American Cancer Society needs millions to save millions more. Please, give more today. We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.

Clark School Read-a-Thon Winners

Winners of the Read-a-Thon held recently at Clark Elementary School are shown getting ready to order the prize of their choice from catalogues of school and book supply companies.

The Read-a-Thon was open to all students enrolled in the school, and 333 of them participated for the five-week duration. Several children read an average of one book per day. Three children, Marina Allen, Glen E. Slone, and Pam Dingus, read 50 or more books each over the five-week period. The total group read 2,943 books for the period.

Fifty-six children were eligible to place an order for a small prize, and 65 other children will select the paperback book of their choice to own as a result of the reading that each did. To win, each child had to read ten or more books during the five weeks.

"Because enthusiasm ran so high during the Read-a-Thon, and so many library books were being read, we definitely plan another one for next year," sources at the school said.

What To Do In May

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
(UK College of Agriculture)

When April steps aside for May, as the poet said, in comes one of the most interesting and pleasant months of the year. The chilly days of early spring are largely gone, the heat of summer not yet begun; and the vegetation is at its lushest, freshest best. Fish bite best in May. "Like diamonds all the raindrops glisten, fresh wildflowers open every day, and to some new bird each hour we listen."

The derivation of the name for this month has been the source of controversy among calendar scholars and chroniclers of history. The consensus, however, is that it was named in honor of Maia, the Roman goddess of spring and increase.

Other authorities hold out the theory that 31-day period was sacred to "majores," or old men, and it was from this source that the month got its name. But at this late date, this is neither here nor there. It doesn't make much difference either that the month's flower is the hawthorn and its special gem is the emerald. What does make a great difference is that, in May, the winter is over and gone, and it is high time to get out and plant and sow and to enjoy the many festivities that are a part of the month.

From the very earliest times, the first of May has been a time for outdoor festivities and activities. In ancient Rome, it fell within the period which was sacred to Flora, goddess of flowers, and historians tell us that along with throwing Christians to the lions, the Romans staged great flower-bedecked processions almost every day. In medieval and early modern times, the English started the custom of the May Pole and the May Queen, which is still a common event in many educational institutions where the music and the dances of the early days of the festival are reproduced.

As indicated before, May is the month when the larger part of the vegetables are planted. By the middle of the month it is reasonably safe to plant the more tender vegetables such as cucumbers, squash, melons, beans and eggplants in the open ground. In the old tradition, every Saturday in May is supposed to be a fine time to plant watermelons and muskmelons, but nothing will be gained if the ground is still cold. Melons will mature if planted late in the month.

If a sweet potato patch is planned this year, get the slips set out by May 10, and to have tomatoes by early July, get the plants set out by early May. Frosts sometimes occur in May, but early tomato plants can be protected by covering them over with paper boxes or something similar if a frost threatens.

Flea beetles, cucumber beetles, bagworms, cutworms and other pests start feeding to beat the band in May, and insecticides should be ready to do battle. Sevin and malathion will take care of most garden insect problems, but if they don't, better check with your county Extension agent. The same advice is in order if some plant diseases are noted. Bagworm feeding on ornamental evergreens and other shrubs start in May. Eggs, that have overwintered in gray cases swinging from twigs on shrubbery, hatch out and the larvae start eating. It is at this active stage that sevin or malathion should be applied. And for what it may be worth, some say that bagworms make the finest sunfish bait in the country—even better than field crickets.

Some other things to do in May besides dancing around the Maypole, going fishing, and planting vegetables include mowing the grass when it needs it and pruning Deutzia, Spirea, Forsythia, Weigela and other spring blooming shrubs (take out one-fifth of the old stems at ground level is the advice of horticulturalists). Also set out bulbs and tubers like dahlias, canna lilies and gladiolus. Sow seeds of marigold, cosmos, zinnia, coxcomb and annual phlox.

May is a great and good month; don't fail to enjoy it.

Anita Lou Auxier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Auxier, of Emma, will give the valedictory address. She achieved a 4.0 grade average for her academic work. Included in her extra-curricular activities while in high school are membership in the Beta Club, 4-H Club and Quill and Scroll; secretary and president of her FHA Club and Region, has been a delegate to the national FHA convention, and attended state FHA Leadership Camp two years. She was junior usher, editor of the school yearbook, selected as best leader by the senior class, selected for Who's Who Among American High School Students; in The Courier-Journal essay contest, she has won the school contest four years, was county winner two years, county runner-up one year and third in the state. Sharing the salutatorian honor are three students:

1. Howard Brown, 19-year-old son of Mrs. Sereda Brown, of Banner, who had a grade point average of 3.96. While in high school he was made an honorary page by the Kentucky State Legislature, junior usher, a member of the Beta Club, band, and lettered in golf and basketball. He was selected for Who's Who Among American High School Students and "brainiest" by the senior class. He has attended Prestonsburg Community College one semester.

"Few of the men and women about us today have what they want, and few want what they have."

The above words sum up man as well as any we know.

It's human nature to find our little world is actually a prison wall. Within these walls we must spend our days—spend them happily, or resentfully. We gain our victories, not by assaulting the walls, but by accepting them.

We accept life by looking at it in this respect: However uncontrollable our past, however disappointing our present—our future can be what we choose to make it.

We may seem at times to be the prisoners of fate, while we are actually its master.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: The mastery of life is often just a simple adjustment.

TWO GREAT GERMAN-ENGINEERED CARS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE

Most people can only dream of enjoying legendary German engineering. It can cost $13,000 or even a great deal more.
The Audi 100LS is $7,100*, roughly half. The Audi Fox is $5,100*, an extraordinary value.
The basic thing all these German-engineered cars have in common is the attention to detail. The identical thinking and feeling about how a car should be made.
So it's no wonder that both of our Audis share safety and performance and handling features with the most expensive German cars.

Both have front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering and CIS fuel injection. Even steel-belted radial tires and child-proof locks are standard equipment.
The Audi 100LS is classically styled and impeccably finished, as a luxury car should be. The Audi Fox is a spirited sports sedan, a touch smaller and even more nimble (0-50 in 8 seconds flat).
If $13,000 sounds like a lot of money for one great car, you can buy two great Audis for the same price.
Or you can buy one great Audi and smile a lot.
*Suggested 1976 retail price. East Coast P.O.E. Transportation, local taxes and dealer delivery charges, additional. Whitewalls optional.

SQUATTERS KILL POLICEMAN TRYING TO DRIVE THEM AWAY
 POZA RICA, Mexico—A Veracruz state police chief was lynched by machete-swinging peasants when he tried to clear 150 squatters off farmland in an area called La Mesa, authorities said Friday.

Cmdr. Roberto Masin Martinez, police chief of the small town of Castillo de Teapp, was surrounded and killed by the squatters late Thursday when he tried to talk with their leaders, officials said. The eight policemen who had accompanied him fled when the squatters started swinging machetes. Veracruz is located on the Gulf of Mexico, 350 miles east of Mexico City.

Community Gardens for Elderly To Get Trial in Some Counties

By RON GEORGEHGAN

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian M. Carroll today announced an allocation of almost $30,000 to test the feasibility of "community gardens" for Kentucky's elderly persons on fixed incomes.

The demonstration project will be activated in 30 counties and will serve more than 2,400 older Kentuckians.

The Governor said the Department for Human Resources' funds will be channeled through seven Community Action Agencies and the Paducah Cooperation Ministry. The money will provide for seeds, plants and fertilizer.

All work on the gardens can be done by volunteers, Community Action employees and possible CETA workers. (CETA is the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act with funds jobs programs.)

Although there is no work requirement for senior citizens who will benefit from the gardens, the Governor said he was "personally inviting the elderly when physically able to help with the gardening."

The Governor called the project an "action pursuant to my commitment to our state's older citizens." The gardens will supplement the nutritional needs of low income persons in the eight areas chosen for the project, he said.

These areas are Paducah-McCracken county; Louisville-Jefferson county; Lexington-Fayette county and Nicholas county; Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Greenup and Lawrence counties; Daviess, Hancock, Henderson, McLean, Ohio, Union and Webster counties; Allen, Butler, Edmonson, Logan, Simpson and Warren counties; Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties; and Bath, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan and Rowan counties.

The funds were allocated to the Kentucky Association of Community Action

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who brought food, contributed flowers, or helped in any way during the recent passing of our loved one, Pearl Clemons. We especially thank Drs. Akers and Ray and the nurses and staff of Our Lady of the Way hospital, the ministers of the Old Regular Baptist Church for their consoling words, and Dale Merion and the Merion Funeral Chapel for the kind and efficient service which we received.

The Family

Agencies, which will initiate the project. The agencies will provide garden equipment and develop distribution methods.

The Governor has asked Community Action to cooperate with the Department for Human Resources and other agencies handling social service and nutrition programs under the Older Americans Act to determine the most needy elderly in the areas.

The project is aimed at ten per cent of persons over 60 who qualify for such aid under federal guidelines.

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

By JOHN WILSON A farm pond can offer many hours of pleasant "backyard" fishing but it takes some attention to make sure the pond remains a good fish producer.

Although the deadline for stocking applications is Oct. 1, now is a good time to start working on getting fish in your pond, says Pete Pfeiffer, assistant director of the department's fisheries division.

For one thing, most folks are thinking about fishing now and are more likely to remember that their ponds need some attention. In September, most outdoorsmen are getting ready for hunting seasons and may forget about that until after the deadline has passed.

Previously stocked ponds which offer poor fishing may need extensive and time-consuming work before they can be restocked, Pfeiffer says. So it's a good idea to get in touch with the local conservation officer now to see what work your pond needs before it can be restocked this fall.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is happy to offer assistance to pond owners and make recommendations about pond fertilization, weed and algae control or how to restore or maintain the proper balance between bass and bluegill in the pond.

If you are catching only small bluegill and no bass, chances are your pond is out of balance, Pfeiffer says. Often the only solution, particularly for a pond of one-half acre or less, is to completely renovate the pond by removing all the existing fish and starting over.

If your pond does have a good balance between bass and bluegill populations it is important to catch enough bluegill to keep it that way. Pfeiffer recommends that five to seven pounds of bluegill be harvested for each pound of bass.

This means that for every 13-inch bass removed from the pond, between 50 and 75 five-inch bluegill should also be caught. If this ratio is not maintained, the bluegill will often overpopulate and become stunted because of insufficient food.

The man to see for stocking applications or about pond problems is the conservation officer in your county. He can answer your questions himself, or he may request that a fishery biologist visit your pond for further investigation.

If you don't know your conservation officer call the county court clerk or the local sheriff's office and ask for his name and phone number.

One final note—having your pond stocked by the Department of Fish and Wildlife does not obligate you to open the pond for public fishing or in any other way interfere with your right to control access to your land. As a pond owner, you may also place more restrictive size and creel limits on your pond than those in force on public waters.
