

Court OK's More Road Surfacing

Move To Purchase Sanitation Firms Stalled at Meet

Contract for additional road-surfacing work amounting to $46,584.86 was awarded Monday by the Floyd fiscal court to the East Kentucky Paving Corp., Grayson, which in May contracted to do the major surfacing work in the county.

The first contract covering nine miles of county roads and streets in four towns was awarded on the firm's low bid of $303,236. Monday's contract extends surfacing beyond the points established in the first. The projects and bids on each are:

One mile of the Left Fork of Abbott Creek road, $17,339.96; .6 mile of streets in Emma, $11,365.30; .32 mile of the Frasure's Creek road, $12,454.80; .3 mile of the Stumbo and Yates road at Harold, $5,424.80.

All of the projects except the Frasure's Creek road require 1½-inch blacktop surface on a 15-foot-wide roadbed. Three inches of blacktop on an 18-foot road was awarded for Frasure's Creek.

Although more money was involved in the road contract, the subject of solid waste disposal and the two collection systems now operating consumed more of the court's time than any other. Magistrate Kenneth Roberts moved that the county buy both Floyd Sanitation which serves Magisterial Districts 1, 2

Protest Follow-Up Meeting Scheduled Friday at Lodge

Congressman Carl D. Perkins, as well as a number of federal and state officials, will meet Friday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, to discuss area problems and needed projects with Big Sandy Area Development District personnel, elected officials and concerned area citizens.

The meeting, which will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude around 3:30 p.m., is a follow-up to a June 24 Washington session when sixteen individuals from the Big Sandy ADD met in the office of Congressman Perkins along with officials from HUD and ARC to express their displeasure with the lack of HUD funding of priority projects for this fiscal year and to seek changes in the regulations which permitted over two-thirds of all HUD funds for fiscal year 1975-'76 to go into Republican Congressman Tim Lee Carter's Fifth District.

All citizens and elected officials concerned with the problems of the Big Sandy ADD are invited to attend the July 16 meeting to voice opinions and point out needs in the area.

A buffet luncheon which will be available will be "Dutch treat."

Carroll Names Allen and Reed To Floyd Coal Severance Board

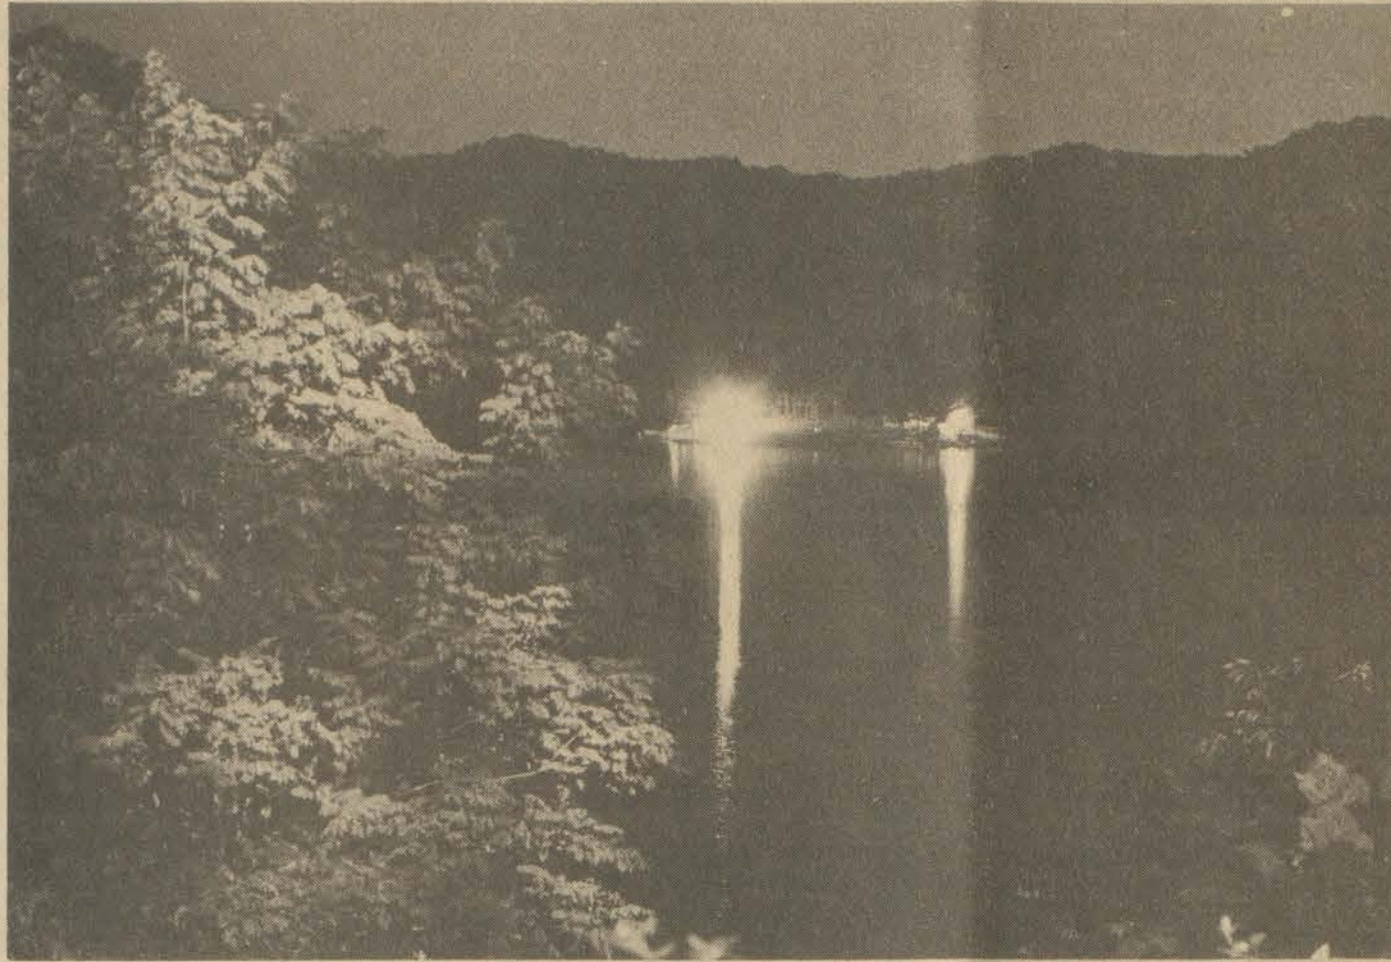

Floyd county's Coal Severance Economic Aid Board was completed last week with the appointment by Governor Carroll of the two members which the governor is to name in each of the state's 45 coal-producing counties.

Gov. Carroll named Richard E. Allen, of Wheelwright, and Jimmy Reed, of Drift. A third member, Superintendent of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr., was named by the Floyd County Board of Education. The other members, ex-officio, are County Judge Henry Stumbo and Mayor William O. Goebel, Jr., of Prestonsburg.

The 1976-'77 state budget, recommended by the governor and approved by the Kentucky General Assembly, allotted $5 million to the fund which is administered by a five-member board in each of the coal-producing counties. This two-year, $10 million fund goes only to the coal counties. The Coal Severance Economic Aid Boards will determine the uses of the money in their counties.

The formula that governs the distribution of this direct "flow-through" money is: Each county receives an amount equal to no more than the total of the severance tax returned from that county, up to a maximum of $10,000; 80 per cent of the remainder to be distributed to each county by an allocation based on the percentage of the total severance tax paid. The county's poverty level, as indicated by per capita income, will determine the distribution of the remaining 20 per cent.

A total of $47 million returns to the counties from which the severance tax was produced in Gov. Carroll's current budget.

SUMMER NIGHTS at Dewey Lake, with the lanterns and fires of campers reflecting on a mirror-like surface, are in sharp contrast to hectic days of heavy boating and large crowds. Photo looks across the lake from vicinity of Terry's Boat Dock.

Overcrowded Lake Cause of Concern

The 1100 acres of Dewey Lake are believed to be the most heavily travelled of all Kentucky waters.

At its two docks are no less than 400 boats ranging from fishing boats to 60-foot houseboats of the luxury class.

Add to these the craft towed to the impoundment, mostly on week-ends, from this and other counties of the state and neighboring West Virginia, and the lake at a given time may have two boats for every acre of its expanse.

The boating situation there is one of deep concern to both federal and state representatives.

Dean Murray, resource manager at the lake for the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers, last week said he is asking all civic groups and the public to give all possible assistance to promote water safety, particularly for boaters and swimmers. He added that drownings in the 26-year history of the lake have resulted from swimming in undesignated areas and reckless or careless boat operation.

Within the last four weeks two persons have drowned there and there have been eight near-drownings, Murray said. Two other boat accidents resulted only in property damage.

The Corps patrols the lake daily, but Murray said it is impossible to spot all violations when as many as 500 boaters must be watched. One state boating officer has been assigned to work Dewey and Fishtrap lakes.

At Jenny Wiley boat dock 219 boats are moored. Roughly, 180 are at Terry's dock in the lower section of the lake. An estimated 55 houseboats are among those at Jenny Wiley, and Terry has about 40 of these larger craft. The two docks together have no more than 30 fishing boats. Most of the others are high-powered runabouts.

Although many of the lake's acres are long and narrow, water skiing goes on as far upstream as the bridge at German.

Mr. Murray said that project personnel are showing safety films in camping areas at the lake and are checking boaters for reckless operation and the safety equipment being used. Required are observance of the maximum load capacity; a life jacket for each person aboard, plus a throwable device such as a cushion; a fire extinguisher; lights, bow and stern; an anchor; bailing device

This Town...That World

The Japanese beetles are not an unmitigated curse. They make good bluegill bait.

WHY?

Why will men plan and prepare for months, then labor in bitter cold to inch their way up a mountain, scale precipitous cliffs, face the danger of avalanches and venture where the slip of a foot would send them a thousand feet to ages of cold storage in a crevasse—just to reach the summit, spend a few minutes there in triumph, then being the slow, arduous descent that is as dangerous as the climb?

Answer that one, and you may be able to explain why grown men will travel 200 miles or more, drive a boat almost as far again, cast their arms off, eat out of a tin can, soak up burning sun and cold rain alike, and race a storm at nightfall back to the dock—just on the off chance of catching a miserable fish.

Company Offer Would Prohibit Blasts in Area

The first hearing on a strip-mine permit application ever scheduled outside Frankfort ended here Monday morning on a quiet note as a settlement was reached between attorneys for the B & H Elkhorn Coal Company and Everett Akers and others who protested the mining operation.

The coal company's proposal provided that no blasting shall be done on the 12-acre tract involved and that the TV tower erected by Akers at the top of the mountain overlooking Finance Hollow may not be disturbed or damaged in any way.

The actual mining area involves two acres of coal owned by the coal company in the vicinity of the tower, one guy cable of which is anchored on the two acres. The remaining 10 acres of the tract is in the main a haul road.

The company must submit a new mining plan which is subject to approval by Akers, the surface owner. If his approval is withheld, the matter could go again to a hearing as to the "reasonableness" of the plan.

B & H Elkhorn had contracted with Triple Elkhorn Coal Company to do the mining, and the tract in question is being re-permitted to B & H instead of Triple Elkhorn. The two acres actually lie on the Prater Creek side of the mountain between Finance Hollow and the Clark Branch area on Beaver Creek.

Akers, a former state representative from this county and owner of the Akers Television Service at Martin, said of the settlement, "This is a victory of sorts—the first step, but still a step."

Firm Here May Win Permission To Build Bridge

Although the bridge which they were building across the Big Sandy River at Graves Shoals, Lawrence county, has been halted, little more than half complete, since April by federal agencies, chances are that Harry Hale Ranier, of Prestonsburg, and Richard Cooper, of Ohio, will be permitted to finish the work they have begun.

The two, operating as Ridgeway Fuels, Inc., began the $228,000, 300-foot span without permits from the Coast Guard, the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers or the state Division of Water Resources and Water Quality.

But Martin Feamster, the engineer who drew the plans for the steel girder span, said that until the Coast Guard stopped the work he had been unaware of

Forfeited Bonds Fail To Finance Full Reclamation

The bonds of $500 to $800 per acre posted in recent years by surface mining firms to finance the reclamation of mined areas in Floyd, Bell, Laurel, Knox and Webster counties aren't sufficient to restore the land to state reclamation standards, a state official admitted last week.

"It's not going to be the same reclamation that we would require of an operator," Ira Gray, head of the Orphan Land section of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, said "It won't meet state law—no question about that."

The total of 668 acres in the five counties are not "orphaned"—that is, they haven't been abandoned after having been stripped of the 203 acres needing regrading and seeding, 47 acres are located in Floyd county, 110 acres in Knox and Laurel, 10 in Bell and 36 in Webster.

"In many cases the bond just wasn't sufficient on the old jobs," Gray said.

When the mining operations were begun the state could set the bonds to

Auxier Boy, 14, Drowns in Pond

Fourteen-year-old Paul Kevin Hubbard, of Auxier, was drowned shortly after noon Sunday while playing with companions in a farm pond at Auxier. He became the third water victim in the county this year.

A son of John Paul and Wilda Wilson Hubbard, the youth who could not swim, apparently drowned after wading into deep water. Companions, Jimmy and Kenny Hinton and Brad Young, all younger than the victim, were unable to rescue him. The body was recovered by Donald Wilcox and Scott Bagitts, both of Auxier, and Coroner James J. Carter ruled the death a result of accidental drowning.

A sophomore at Prestonsburg High School, the victim was born December 17, 1961 at Paintsville. Survivors, besides the parents, include three brothers, Dennis and Terry Allen Hubbard, of Auxier, and Timothy Edward Hubbard, at home, and two sisters, Dorita Wilcox, of Prestonsburg, and Joan Hubbard, at home. Also surviving is the maternal grandmother, Lucinda Wilson, of Auxier.

Funeral rites will be conducted today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m. at the Auxier Free Will Baptist Church with the Revs. John Frank Ratliff and Bennie Blankenship officiating. Burial will be made in the Wells cemetery at Auxier under the direction of the Preston Funeral Home.

Floyd County Clubs Are Winners In Development Competition

Floyd county communities won first-place awards in two of the three categories of competition Saturday night at the 14th annual Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development Association's awards banquet. The banquet, which recognizes community development effort over the region, was held at Ashland Community College and was sponsored by the Kentucky Power Company and the Second National Bank of Ashland.

In the Village category David was the winner, with West Van Lear in Johnson county the runnerup. West Liberty, Morgan county, took third place.

The second Floyd county first-place winner was Weeksbury, which won in the Rural Non-Farm division. East Point, Johnson county (which actually straddles the Floyd-Johnson line) was second, and Norton Branch in Carter county was third.

In the Farm category River, Johnson county, was the winner, with Lindsey-Pactolus in Carter county second, and Abbott Creek in this county third.

Twenty-three clubs competed as finalists after 71 others had been eliminated in the early judging of communities. Thomas Hereford, III, of the Abbott Club, was elected second vice-president of the Association at the business session. Other new officers for the coming year are Mrs. Cora Keeton, of Lindsey-Pactolus, president, and Gary Miller, Greenup county, first vice-president. The traveling trophy awarded annually to the county having the heaviest increase in participating communities was presented to Johnson county by James Shepherd, chairman of last year's winner, Floyd county. The Chamber of Commerce award was presented to the outgoing president, Bill Baldrige, of East Point.

Also competing were Load, Greenup county, in the rural non-farm category, with a blue ribbon; Rush-Kilgore, Boyd county, Little Sandy, Elliott, Fallsburg, Lawrence, and Ezel, Morgan, with red ribbons. Among villages, Hinchins, Danleyton-Naples, and Inez all drew red ribbons. Blue ribbons went to Burgett, of Magoffin, and KY 377 Club of Rowan in the farm category, with Stark of Elliott, Leatherwood of Greenup, Buchanan of Lawrence, and Caney Valley of Morgan taking red ribbons.

The review of accomplishments of winning communities included this data:

David, which won the village competition, has been acknowledged unusual in its position since residents of the mining community bought their town from the company which owned it. At a town meeting, they listed 41 problems to tackle, and attacked them on a priority basis. Of 35 families in town, 30 took part.

A mammoth cleanup campaign was launched; a recreation committee conducted movies for youth. Square dances, a town birthday party, and childcare carnival were held. The ball park got a facelift, a fish fry was held, and a rabies clinic conducted.

"The whole community is becoming involved in such activities as Boy and Girl Scouts, senior citizens programs, and adult education. A water system is about to become reality, and plans are under way to develop a sewer system. Homes are being remodeled and are being given a facelift, with plans to conduct a community-wide beautification program," the review noted.

At Weeksbury, a community newsletter was started, sewing classes organized, 23 underprivileged children taken to Camden Park, a fall festival staged, a handicraft club opened, 11 educational programs put on, and an addition built on the community center.

Other activities included helping transport and furnishing leaders for 114 youth to attend day camp; weekly fund-raising activities; collection and disposal of 120 loads of refuse; weekly community Sunday School; and a summer program for the retarded.

First Ky. Winery License Issued

Frankfort, Ky.—The Colcord Winery, of Paris in Bourbon county, has been granted Kentucky's first small winery license by the Kentucky Alcoholic Beverage Control board (ABC).

Legislation permitting the operation within Kentucky of wineries producing less than 50,000 gallons per year was approved by the 1976 General Assembly. The law, which became effective June 19, also limits on-site sales to one quart.

Francis C. Colcord, Jr. is listed on the ABC winery application as sole stockholder and chairman of the firm. Bill Peace is president of Colcord and James E. Faulkner is the secretary-treasurer. All are from Paris.

Colcord also owns Cane Ridge Vineyards in Bourbon county, where 37 acres of French hybrid grapes are now ripening. The vineyard had been selling its grapes to out-of-state wineries before the legislation was enacted.

The license application lists a 7,000 gallon capacity although Peace has stated that Colcord hopes to build up to the 50,000 limit. He explained that since wine production was a risky venture, the company hoped to obtain quality wines by starting out on a small basis. Peace predicted that Colcord wines could be sampled next spring.

Peace said the Bourbon county grapes were unique for the eastern sector of the country because they do not require the use of any sugar or water in the winemaking process.

A Victorian building in downtown Paris that once served as a livery stable-farrier shop and then a feed store will now house the Colcord Winery.

Rep. Jim LeMaster, D-Lexington, introduced the small wineries legislation during the General Assembly.

Bernard Keene, ABC distilled spirits administrator, said another application for a small wineries license is pending.

By LARRY BURKE

We often hear the remark: "Oh, it is just human nature."

We can't help but wonder just what "human nature" is . . . since there are millions of humans and each one acts differently.

There is one thing in common with all people, however. That is the need to be loved. No person on the face of the earth is without the need of love.

We heard of a family group sitting around one evening discussing the town character. Everyone had something bad to say about the poor fellow until it came around to the Mother. "Well, his Mother loved him very much," was all she had to say. Maybe the time had come when no one loved him. This could have been a big contributing factor to his life.

You know, this could be the secret to success or failure. We all need to do our share of sharing a little understanding with the less fortunate.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "Gratitude is born in hearts that take time to count mercies."

Two UK Extension Food Specialists Give New Tomato-Canning Directions

What is the right way to can tomatoes? In the face of recent conflicting directions on canning tomatoes, two UK Extension food specialists have come up with new preservation recommendations.

To be on the safe side, Dr. Fudeko Maruyama and Sue Burrier advise acidifying all tomatoes by adding bottled lemon juice, vinegar, or citric acid. This heads off any possibility of botulism poisoning.

Their directions: Add 4 teaspoons of bottled lemon juice to each quart of tomatoes or juice, or 2 tablespoons of 5 percent vinegar, or half teaspoon of citric acid. Use half these amounts for pints. Then process as usual in your boiling-water-bath canner.

Citric acid will have the least effect on the flavor of the tomatoes.

These recommendations are based on a study they have just completed of 106 jars of 1975 home-canned tomatoes collected from all parts of the state.

Upon analysis, they found that 10 percent of the tomatoes were low-acid, and this was not limited to the known low-acid hybrid varieties. Also, the home canner was not always sure what variety of tomato was in that jar, a situation that probably happens often.

Scientifically speaking, the lower the pH value of a food, the higher its acid content. Low acidity can permit the growth of highly-dangerous organisms such as Clostridium botulinum, the cause of botulism. High acidity prevents such growth. Adding the recommended amounts of lemon juice, vinegar or citric acid effectively lowers the pH value of tomatoes, making it safe to process them in a boiling-water-bath canner.

Alert to the recent confusion over the right way to can tomatoes, many people have resorted to processing them in a pressure canner, using 5 pounds of pressure for 10 minutes.

Actually, this is no safer than the water-bath method, according to the UK Extension food specialists, if the pH value of the tomatoes is too high (meaning the acid content is too low). To be safe, you would still need to acidify the tomatoes as recommended for the boiling-water-bath method.

Until they have conducted further research on canning tomatoes in a pressure canner, Dr. Maruyama and Mrs. Burrier cannot endorse this method of putting tomatoes by—unless you add the correct amount of one of the three acidifying agents described above.

NEVER use the open-kettled method for canning tomatoes, they add. There's too much danger of contamination as you transfer tomatoes from kettle to jar. NEVER can tomatoes that are dead-ripe, either, or that have any spoiled or soft spots. Save them for fresh eating. When tomatoes are too ripe, their acid content drops.

Something Extra

It is well that the Extension Service means something more than routine soil-testing, advising farmers and gardeners about crops and livestock, and helping fight the pests and doing only those things that are measured in material yields.

We like most what its people are doing with and for people: the 4-H club program for youngsters, the Homemakers' clubs for adult women, and the Community Development clubs for the young and old of both sexes.

The 4-H clubs are not only educational but also are character builders as truly as is Scouting. Competition and the long hours of training for it, the self-discipline required, the exercise of native abilities—all this is achieving. And Floyd county 4-H'ers have established a notable record in competition with the most-talented, best-trained youth in the state and nation.

The Homemakers benefit from the guidance of a trained home economist, learn much by doing, and have a community of interest in the home and in family living.

Only last week the full success of the year's work by Community Development clubs become evident. David and Weeksbury and Abbott Creek and East Point emerged the winners from a list of more than 90 such groups competing over the northeast Kentucky area. What these clubs and others have been doing and will undertake in the future will not make many headlines, nor will it earn for any individual wide praise, but the beautiful part of it all is, they aren't ambitious for the limelight. Winners or losers on the basis of records, these communities are getting leadership from people who find satisfaction in working with their neighbors and all together becoming winners.

Community pride, a cleaner countryside, common enterprises—it requires no great amount of imagination to foresee that in the years ahead this is the spirit that will mean much to other generations.

and 3, and the sanitation service operated by Okie Lawson in District 4, but the motion died for lack of a second.

The court did agree, however, to submit sealed offers to the owners of the two systems to buy their franchises and equipment. The offers are to be made so that they may be accepted or rejected before the July 26 court meeting.

On motion of Magistrate Leroy Akers the court ordered that all county equipment be kept off the road at Hood's Fork of Frasure's Creek.

A resolution offered by Magistrate Dewey Roberts declared the bridge across the Big Sandy at Tram "extremely dangerous," and called on the Department of Transportation to build a new span. "This is a critical situation and it should be corrected in the immediate future," the resolution said.

Another Roberts motion directed County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson to notify Ralph Anderson that unless he could deliver tank cars purchased from him on bids by the county within 90 days, the contract will be forfeited.

Magistrate Bill Wells' motion was adopted directing the county clerk to request the Department of Highways to make a survey to determine state right-of-way boundaries on Katy Friend and also to locate the old county road right-of-way leading to residences in the area.

County Treasurer David D. Allen was directed to invest $200,000 of county funds in CD certificates for a period of 60 days at 10 per cent interest.

The tax rates set for the fiscal year remain as were last year's: County, 18.2 cents per $100 property valuation; health, 3.3 cents; library, 2.1 cents; CET, 1.4 cents; timber, 2 cents per acre; bank shares, 19 cents.

All water skiers must have a life preserver, Coast Guard approved, and in addition to the operator of the boat there must be a person 12 years or older aboard to watch the skier. A mirror also is required.

The Coast Guard will provide a courtesy check of boats, July 24 and 25, and will have a mobile unit showing all types of safety devices.

In the first five months of the year, before the boating season was in full swing, 477,326 persons had visited and used the lake, the Corps of Engineers' count shows. Of these, 23,980 were boaters, 14,778 were swimmers, and 4,444 were skiers.

Ten Years Ago

(July 14, 1966)

The death last Wednesday night at the Paintsville hospital of Miss Cora Lou Stanley, 17, of Buckingham, brought to three the death toll exacted by a two-car collision that afternoon on the Mountain Parkway, about 10 miles west of Salyersville. Almost instantly killed in the crash were Willie Hall, Jr., 43 St. Mary's, O., formerly of Bevinsville, and Ray Arnett, 35, of Lakeville, Magoffin county. Tree-planting teams from Floyd and Muhlenberg counties have won the annual Tree Planting Award Program, sponsored by the State Department of National Resources. Mud Creek and its tributaries have a water problem which amounts to an emergency, and state and federal agencies will be asked to initiate action on that basis to meet needs of that action of the county. Sp. 4 James M. Slone, 20, was seriously wounded Saturday in action against the enemy in Viet Nam, his mother, Mrs. Oda Selone, of Dwale, was notified the following day. Married: Miss Brenda Lynn Patton, of Allen, and Mr. Charles Franklin Willis, of Prestonsburg, July 2; Miss Donna Sherry Fowler, and Mr. James L. Penix, both of Dayton, Ohio, June 25. There died: Mrs. Bertha Caudill, 64, of Ligon, Monday en route to the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; James Lincoln Layne, 42, of Marion, Ohio, formerly of Stanville, Saturday at Marion; Roy B. Conley, 58, of Wheelwright, Saturday at Pikeville Methodist hospital; Proctor Slone, 79, of Dema, Monday at the Paintsville General hospital; Felix Dennis Wellman, Jr., 46, of Morehead, formerly of Prestonsburg, Friday at Morehead.

Twenty Years Ago

(July 19, 1956)

Basil Lee Wicker, 35, of Mousie, was electrocuted in a mine accident Wednesday of last week while hauling coal on a shuttle buggy for the Hall and Hagans Coal Company at Midas. Suits were filed Monday in Circuit Court here by the First National Bank asking it be allowed to bid as a depository for the school funds of the county Board of Education. "Warning, Allen is a speed trap," says the members of the City Council and Chief of Police Frank Crum. The two-way radio system envisioned by Sheriff Gorman Collins for the last two years as an aid to law enforcement in this county was becoming a reality this week. The Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce wants to mark the places on Dewey Lake where fatalities have occurred, it was noted this week. A small "twister" swept in Sunday afternoon and knocked down the "Old Fashion Gospel Hour" tent located at the twin bridge junction in Martin. There died: Mrs. Peggy Gibson, 65, of Dema, last Friday at the home of a daughter; Floyd Cornett, 61, former resident of the Johns Creek section of this county, Wednesday of last week, after being struck by a falling tree while at work on Big Creek, near Hatfield on a logging job.

Thirty Years Ago

(July 11, 1946)

Five suits seeking cancellation of as many whiskey licenses recently granted to Floyd county retail dealers were filed Saturday in the Franklin Circuit court by County Judge A. L. Davidson against three agents of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, the board as a whole and each of the licensees. Mrs. Hatler Collins, 18, of Hall, Knott county, was shot and killed Monday morning at the home of her parents at Hi Hat. Cecil Coburn, 30, former Handshoe resident, was killed, and his brother, John M., was seriously injured Tuesday in a truck wreck in North Carolina. Filling vacancies created in the Town Council of Martin by the resignation of three of its five members—Ted Salisbury, Demra Taylor and W. J. Ryan—was a task posing another headache for County Judge Alex Davidson this week as opposing factions in the community sought appointments for their friends. The Floyd fiscal court in its first meeting of the new fiscal year Monday called on the State Highway Commission to fulfill the five-year-old agreement of the commission to repair the bridge across the Big Sandy at Betsy Layne. Floyd county's rural schools will open their term Monday, July 15, concurrently with the beginning of the term as Superintendent of Schools of Palmer L. Hall. Married: Miss Leona Baldrige Hall, of Prestonsburg, and 2nd Lt. Thomas Oaks, of Jenkins, June 15; Miss Kelsa Gearheart and Mr. Jesse Elliott, both of Betsy Layne, July 1; Miss Bertha Gearheart, of Hueysville, and Mr. Guy McMillen, Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, June 8. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Lewis, of Prestonsburg, a daughter, July 9 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Lt. and Mrs. Moses Hall, of Albany, Georgia, formerly of Prestonsburg, a son, Michael Howard, July 6; to Mr. and Mrs. Randolph "Billy" Burchett, a son, Randolph, Jr., July 3 at the Paintsville hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hall, of Ivel, a son, Tommy Duran, June 28 at a Paintsville hospital. There died: Cpl. Edgel Johnson, 26, of Wheelwright, July 1 at Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C.

Forty Years Ago

(July 10, 1936)

Rains falling almost daily since Thursday, last week, have definitely broken the drought which has prevailed in this section for over a month. Prospects of procuring from the Public Works Administration an outright grant of part of the funds necessary to construction of an addition and of repair of the Floyd County Courthouse are excellent, it was said this week by County Attorney Forest D. Short and County Clerk A. B. Meade. T. J. Hagans, 67, of Langley, was killed, and his wife seriously injured, Friday morning, when their auto crashed into the side of a state highway oil truck at the intersection of the Mayo Trail and the Allen-Lackey highway near Allen. Corbett Hollifield, 23, of Garrett, died July 2 at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of the effects of an accidental bullet wound, sustained the preceding Sunday. A 2,000,000 cubic-foot gas well which came in on the J. W. Burchett farm, Cow Creek, Monday night, was attended by a burst of flame which destroyed the drilling rig of Garver and Williams drilling contractors at an estimated loss of $5,000. Deputy Sheriff Ite Fitzpatrick, assisted by Jake and Norman Holbrook, last Thursday, captured a moonshine still on the Ray Branch of Middle Creek. The auto of Ransie Marcum, Flo peace officer, was stolen last Thursday night. Married: Miss Irene Holbrook, of Salyersville, and Mr. French Cline, of Williamson, West Virginia, here, July 3. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Derossset, a daughter—Nella Joe, June 27. There died: Miss Mabel Waddell, 23, of Hueysville at the Beaver Valley hospital, Wednesday morning; T. J. Hagans, 67, of Maytown, July 3 in a car wreck at Allen.

range from $500 to $1500 per acre. The amount was increased to $3,000 by the General Assembly this year.

John Witt, commissioner of the Bureau of Natural Resources, said the state is spending on the Floyd county land and acreage in the other counties only the money that was forfeited. "In most cases that is not enough to reclaim according to the law." He added that the bonds forfeited provide only 20 to 30 per cent of the cost of the contract for reclamation, so a "do-the-best-you-can" policy was adopted after a legal opinion was handed down to the effect that the state cannot spend more on reclamation than the amount of the bond forfeited on each tract. Some of the mining was done four years ago, and inflation has had its effect on costs.

Gray maintains that the reclamation work will be "satisfactory," though failing to measure up to state standards. He says nobody in particular is to blame for the situation.

HEAD START BAKE SALE PLANNED

POSTED

You can't post a reward for the return of a wild groundhog, but I have been considering doing so since our cliff-dweller failed to show up Monday. The newcomer was discovered, just a few yards up the hill from our backyard, gathering leaves and taking them back into what we figure he has an idea of making his winter quarters. We spent a pleasant afternoon watching this wild thing, and on occasion the groundhog would condescend to stop and look us over.

Next day, however, he failed to show, and that's when we became concerned. But now he's back, and all who have an itchy trigger finger are hereby warned to stay off my property.

Backyard reading, however comfortable the seat and pleasant the surroundings, is not for me. I can't concentrate. The dirty villain can have the gal, for all I care, I just can't get down to cases. I'll even let a bee lure me ahead. And then there are other things... birds, butterflies, flowers. A breeze sweeps away the heat, and you stop reading to remark, "No air-conditioner can equal that." And then, finally, I'm back with the book I get drowsy... and... I need the protection of four walls for a good, steady spell of reading.

THE SEESAW BIT

Back in the days when we had linotypes, there was a trade publication aptly named "Shop Talk." And from an old copy of same we have the letter a West Indian bricklayer wrote to his employer, explaining some unusual consequences to his attempt to clean up some minor damage after a storm. It reads:

"Respected Sir:
"When I got to the building I found that the hurricane had knocked some bricks off the top, so I rigged up a beam with a pulley at the top of the building and hoisted up a couple of barrels full of bricks.

When I had fixed the building there was a lot of bricks left over. I hoisted the barrel back up again and secured the line at the bottom, and then went up and filled the barrel with extra bricks. Then I went to the bottom and cast off the line.

"Unfortunately the barrel of bricks was heavier than I was and, before I knew what was happening the barrel started down, jerking me off the ground. I decided to hang on and half way up, I met the barrel coming down and received a severe blow on the shoulder. I then continued to the top, banging my head against the beam and getting my fingers jammed in the pulley.

"When the barrel hit the ground it burst the bottom, allowing all the bricks to spill out. I was now heavier than the barrel and so started down again at high speed. Half way down I met the barrel coming up, and received severe injuries to my shins. When I hit the ground I landed on the bricks getting several painful cuts from the sharp edges.

"At this point, I must have lost my presence of mind because I let go the line. The barrel then came down, giving me another heavy blow on the head and putting me in hospital. I respectfully request sick leave."

State Senator Jim Hammond, who represented Akers and others protesting the permit, said, "This is a case where the company behaved responsibly," but he expressed doubt that the company will ever be able to develop a plan to mine the two acres. "It would be such a difficult task under these conditions."

The company owns 130 additional acres of coal in the area, it was said.

ALL THAT FOR A BULB?

AMSTERDAM—In the 17th century a Dutch chronicler noted that for one Viceroy tulip bulb these goods were exchanged; 4 loads of rye, 2 loads of wheat, 4 fat oxen, 12 sheep, 8 pigs, 2 hogsheads of wine, 4 barrels of beer, 2 barrels of butter, 1,000 pounds of cheese, a bed, a suit of clothes and a silver beaker.

To the Editor

Jurors Blast Condition Of Floyd Courthouse

We, the undersigned citizens of Floyd county, have just completed our duty and responsibility, serving as jurors in the civil term of the circuit court. We, like those before us, did not like this responsibility. Yet it must be done. We did our best.

Is it little wonder that the good citizens try every means possible to be relieved of jury duty when they enter into a new courthouse and see the deplorable condition that it is in?—roof leaking from one end of the building to the other, plumbing leaking, Celotex falling from ceiling in every direction, panelling bursting from the walls, the water fountain out of order, air-conditioning on the blink, lights out, paint peeling from walls, clocks not working.

These are a few things that we observed that need attention at once.

We are not qualified from the few facts we have to determine if the contractor is liable for correcting these conditions or not. If he is, we call on our elected attorneys to file suit and force the contractor to correct these wrongs immediately.

We are, as taxpayers and citizens qualified and know that the Floyd County Fiscal Court, as individuals and elected officials, are responsible for the upkeep and protection of the property owned by the taxpayers, and under their jurisdiction. They are sworn and bound by law to do so.

We call on the Floyd County Fiscal Court to get busy and have these repairs made. The money is available, the work force is available, there is no just cause why this work can't be done—and done now.

We also call on each citizen to use his or her influence to see to it that these repairs are made and continue to see to it that our courthouse is kept in a good state of repair.

We can see no need to use taxpayers' money to construct a new building to house the juvenile offenders and some new office upon when we have a new courthouse falling apart, due to total neglect.

We call on the jailer as caretaker of the courthouse, to kick up more dust before the fiscal court to see that these repairs are made.

One sure way to see to it that our courthouse falls down is for the citizens of the county to sit back and say nothing.

Allen Turner, Palmer Martin,

Joe H. Garrett, Henry Hackworth,

Forrest R. Moore, Jean Lafferty,

Nero Ousley, Ruth S. Hall,

Ella Jane Howard, Johnny M. Osborne,

and Mrs. Frank Martin.

Appreciates Public Spirit

The Mayor, members of the City Council and myself, would like to use your paper to publicly thank C. J. McNally, Phil Damron, Barkley Sturgill, W. J. Reynolds, James (Jitter) Allen, W. O. Goebel, Jr., for taking time off from their own businesses and at considerable expense to themselves to fly to Washington, D. C. to plead with officials of H.U.D., F.H.A. and other agencies to grant the City of Prestonsburg request for funding for our water plant and housing.

This spirit of cooperation is the factor responsible for the tremendous growth of our county. With leadership like this, there is no limit to what we can achieve.

Sincerely yours,
CITY OF PRESTONSBURG
Curtis Clark
City Administrator

By HOPE CARLETON

Department of Fish and Wildlife

It's that time of year again - high water temperatures, banks washed to the extent that the water along the shoreline is often muddy and "too many" pleasure boaters combine to make many fishermen feel it's almost more trouble than it's worth to wet a line in most of the big lakes.

Well, as we've said before, good strings of both pan and game fish can be caught during these hot summer months in the major lakes by fishermen who know how and who are willing to put forth a little extra effort. For example, casting at night or in early morning, before the lake is churned up, can be very productive for black bass, and fishing worms or crickets along deep walls, weed beds or other likely bluegill "hang-outs" account for many a fine summer supper, but there are alternatives to fishing in the main bodies of the major lakes and one is to move down - in fact, to move below the dam - and fish the tailwaters.

And if you think tailwater fishing is merely "second best," think again, and check that Kentucky record fish list, because you'll quickly see that three of the current records were tailwater catches.

First, there's a 100-pound blue catfish, caught by the late J. E. Copeland, Benton, from below Kentucky Lake Dam on August 21, 1970. Then on September 10, 1972, Jim Mattingly, of Somerset beached the record 14-pound, 8-ounce rainbow trout from the tailwaters of Cumberland Lake, and finally, the most recent state record which came out of tailwaters was the 37-pound, 8-ounce white perch caught April 25, 1976 by Ernest E. Morgan, of Henderson from below Kentucky Dam.

Obviously then, tailwater fishing can be productive for the "big ones," but perhaps more important, it also offers just plain good, easy fishing for a variety of species and can be enjoyed as "serious" fishing or as a family outing. "Bait" fish are attracted to the current which is nearly always found below the large dams and where there are bait fish, there are also those fish - such as white bass, crappie and catfish (and sometimes trout) - which feed upon the bait. Other species frequently taken include white perch, rockfish, sauger, bluegill and even black bass.

In most tailwaters, the anglers fish from the bank, casting artificial lures or still fishing live or cut baits. Generally the tailwater areas offer ample parking space and rest rooms and some have picnic tables, camping sites and boat launching facilities.

One may drive to within a short distance of the water's edge (an important factor when it's a family trip) and fish from the shore or riprap area. Children should be required to wear life-jackets, even when fishing from shore, (as should adults who aren't quite as steady as they'd like to be.)

All in all, tailwater fishing is one of my favorites during the hot summer and if you haven't yet given it a try, there's no better time than now.

ALLEN BAPTISTS HONOR WAUGHS

The First Church of Allen honored Rev. and Mrs. Earl Waugh and family with a dinner June 29 when more than 200 persons from various churches came to join the local congregation in paying tribute to the pastor and wife for their dedicated leadership and faithful service for eleven years. Aside from enjoying the sumptuous meal, the group was entertained with music by Mrs. Irene Stephens and sons Mark and Toni, and Luther Stephens and daughters, Debbie and Rhodena. Serving as toastmaster, Gene Davis called upon Chalmer Whitt for the Invocation, after which Leo Watts extended the welcome, and expressed appreciation to the Waughs for their very successful ministry. Gene Davis spoke of the work by the pastor, as did Luther Stephens, of the Free Will Baptist Church, Jimmy Delano Gray, of the Allen Methodist, Mrs. Walter Pritchard, of Allen Baptist, Mesdames Sandy Bradley and Edgar May, of Maytown Baptist Church.

Mike Halfield led in congregational singing. Leo Rice and Danny Branson presented a freezer to the Waughs from the church. Mrs. Gene Davis pinned a corsage on Mrs. Waugh. Tony Childer took snapshots and movies of the occasion, while Mr. Davis taped the entire program, to provide the Waughs with additional mementos. Mr. Branson described the services rendered by the Waughs, the high esteem in which they are held, the growth of the church in more than one way. He was followed by Raymond Childers who told what the pastor meant to him and others as well, concluding the evening with the benediction.

Bean Diseases Discussed

By JOHN E. SPARKS
County Extension Agent

"WHAT IS WRONG WITH MY BEANS?"

This is the question that is puzzling the home gardener who is trying to grow beans.

This spring the weather has been very favorable for root rot, bean mosaic and bacterial blight.

The most common bean disease that is affecting the white half runners are root rot (Rhizoctonia) and bean mosaic.

The fungi which decays the lower stems and roots of green beans are present in almost all soils in which beans are grown. This fungi shows up when weather becomes unfavorable for the best growth of bean plants.

The tap root and lower stems are affected by the fungus and show reddish lesions which later turn brown to black.

The red colored taproot may decay, shrivel and die. The way the stem decays does cause confusion, making it look like worms have bored through the stems.

In controlling root rot you need to rotate 4 to 5 years between bean crops which is helpful and the longer the better.

Plant after the soil has warmed in order to produce rapid, vigorous growth. Cool soils do increase the incidence of root rots. Shallow plantings may be helpful.

Seed treated with captan can reduce seedling rots (1 teaspoon per pound of seed), spray the furrow, where seeds are going to be planted with captan before covering the seeds (1 teaspoon per 20 feet of row as dust or mix in water).

Most bean varieties are susceptible to root rots under certain conditions but some more so than others. White half runners and Kentucky Wonder Pole Beans among the most susceptible with vine type beans more susceptible than the bush varieties.

Bean viruses are causing serious problems. More than one virus disease may be involved. Symptoms are different from root rot with vine tips and new leaves crinkling, downward cupping of leaves, yellow mottling, and a dead area appearing along the veins of infected leaves. You can tell by pulling the plant and looking at the roots. The above symptoms would indicate bean mosaic.

Bean yellow mosaic virus is carried to beans by aphids from nearby white and alsike clover or other related legumes. White and alsike clover should be destroyed in fence rows and near the garden. Control of aphids may help keep the disease from spreading. Use Malathion at the rate of 1 1/2 tablespoons per gallon of water.

In general, bush beans are more tolerant to the virus disease than Kentucky Wonder Pole and White Half Runner Beans. Later plantings of these beans may escape the disease.

Bacterial blight is a brown or tan dead area on the beans, with a yellow border. To prevent this, the gardener needs to use disease-free seed, avoid saving seed from one growing season to the next, can spray with copper sulfate using 3 teaspoons plus 4 teaspoons of hydrated lime mixed to one gallon of water.

IRS Rules David School Tax Exempt

The Internal Revenue Service has issued a ruling recognizing the tax-exempt status of the David School, Inc., a private school located at David that has announced a racially nondiscriminatory policy in admission of students to all activities of the school, Paul Niederecker, district director for Kentucky said recently.

The ruling has been issued under the statement of position announced by the IRS on July 10, 1970, concerning the tax exempt status of private schools. In that statement the IRS concluded that it could no longer legally justify recognition of exempt status to private schools that practice racial discrimination. Nor can it allow gifts to such schools to be treated as charitable deductions for income tax purposes. The IRS position is applicable to all private schools throughout the United States.

The David School, Inc., advertised its open admission policy in the Floyd County Times.

Where a school has publicly announced a racially nondiscriminatory policy, Mr. Niederecker explained that for purposes of issuing a ruling the IRS will assume that such a policy has been adopted and will be maintained in good faith. This is in accord with normal IRS procedures in processing requests for rulings based on future activities.

Revenue Sharing Funds Listed

Rep. Carl D. Perkins has announced the amount of revenue sharing funds that each eligible unit of government in the Seventh Congressional District received in the April-May-June quarter of fiscal 1976.

This payment is the 16th regular payment of shared funds since the Revenue Sharing program was started in 1972. The U. S. Treasury Department's Office of Revenue Sharing has paid $27.6 billion dollars directly to local governments since then, for projects decided to be high priority on the local level.

Kentucky received a total of $25,746,433 this quarter, for a grand total of $435,754,441 since 1972.

A community or county gets funds based on its population, income of the people in the area, and taxes paid by local citizens.

Following are units of government in this area, and the amounts they received:

Floyd county received $86,501 this quarter, for a total of $1,494,739 since the program began; Martin received $2,185 this quarter, for a total of $30,184.

Prestonsburg received $27,466, for a total of $450,955; Wayland, $1,124, for a total of $14,863.

Wheelwright, $1,989, for a total of $23,990.

The current revenue sharing law will expire at the end of this year, Rep. Perkins said, but Congress is working on a measure which would renew the program. The House of Representatives has already passed a new bill, and the Senate is expected to start work on its bill soon.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Alroy Click, of Martin, Ky., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sharon Lynn, to Thomas Jeffrey Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Jones, of Langley, Kentucky.

Miss Click is a 1975 graduate of Allen Central High School and is also a 1976 graduate of Mayo State Vocational School where she received her diploma in business and office. She is currently employed by the First Guaranty Bank of Martin.

Mr. Jones is a 1975 graduate of Allen Central High School and is now a sophomore at Prestonsburg Community College, majoring in engineering. The wedding will take place at 7 p.m. Saturday, August 21, at the Church of Christ, Lancer, Kentucky. The gracious custom of open church will be observed. The reception will be held immediately following the ceremony at the Martin Grade School lunchroom.

THREE KILLED AS BUS CARRYING AMERICANS OVERTURNS IN BRITAIN

GATWICK, England—A bus carrying 20 Americans on a bicentennial tour of British historic sites skidded off a rain-slick road June 19 and overturned in a ditch. Police said three women were killed.

They reported that 17 passengers were injured. Three were admitted to a hospital, and the others were treated and taken to a nearby hotel for the night.

Survivors said the tourists, most from New York and the Boston area, had arrived at London's Heathrow Airport a few hours earlier.

A police spokesman identified the three dead as Mrs. Elizabeth Moss of Newton, Mass. Mrs. Mary Martin of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Hinkle of Chestnut Hill, Mass.

The spokesman said Mrs. Martin's husband, Louis Henry Martin, was not injured.

What To Do in July

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
 UK College of Agriculture

Summer begins on June 21, but reaches its full maturity in July which, in the north temperate zone, is likely to be the hottest month of the year. The heat, however, is not so oppressive as it is later in August when the humidity is nearly always higher.

Under the burning sun and voracious insect attacks, the foliage of tree and shrub begins to lose the freshness of June, but flowers thrive and many of them reach their prime in this month. The roses have not completely gone and poppies, dahlias, sweet peas, nasturtiums and marigolds come into full bloom. The rain crow, or yellow-billed cuckoo, calls dismally from the woods, and the air is full of the hum of jarflies and the dry rasp of grasshoppers.

All in all, July is a season of abundant life and a good month in which to do many things—things like visiting the old swimming hole or eating watermelons, green beans and ripe tomatoes. Unfortunately, it's also a time for doing some work in the garden and lawn, UK Extension horticulturists point out.

In the garden, July means harvest season for many vegetables. Take advantage of this situation by having fresh vegetables on the table every day and by canning, drying, or freezing the surplus for austere times to come. In most parts of the state, beans and corn can be planted in July with the expectation of a harvest well before frost. Seed kale about July 15, and sow cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli for transplanting the fall crop. Also keep up the dusting and spraying routine to control insects and plant diseases. The Mexican bean beetle really comes into its own in July and, unless kept under control with Sevin or malathion, can swiftly consume a bean patch.

On the lawn and in the flower garden, prune climbing roses and remove flowers from annual bedding plants after they have begun to fade. This will result in plants with greater vigor and blooms of greater profusion. Repot house plants and place outdoors in protected areas to encourage vigorous growth for the winter months. Sink the pots in soil to prevent drying out.

If the weather in July is dry, soak the lawn thoroughly at regular intervals and raise the cutting blade of the power-mower to at least three inches. Start some perennials—columbine, foxglove, campanula—from seed, and kill red spiders on evergreens with a malathion spray.

For those with a sense of history and a love of country, July is a month in which to celebrate and to observe Independence Day on July 4. It is also a time to be thankful for the privilege of being born American and of living in the best and most fruitful country on earth.

July is the month of Julius and was so named because it had the honor of being the birth month of that great but ill-fated Roman soldier and statesman, Julius Employment in manufacturing is expected to increase about 23 percent through the mid-1980s and to reach about 3.2 million in 1985, the U. S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook reports.

Blackburn-Stephens Vows Said

In a candlelight ceremony, Miss Karen Grey Blackburn, daughter of Mrs. Betty C. Riddle, of West Williamson and W. F. Blackburn, Jr., of Forest Hills, Ky., became the bride of Dana Miles Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Stephens, of Pyramid, Ky.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized May 15, at 7 o'clock in the evening at the Memorial United Methodist Church in West Williamson, with the Rev. Ira Hill, pastor of the church officiating.

The couple exchanged nuptial vows in a setting featuring candelabra, two large altar vases containing mixed white flowers with greenery and candles nestled in ivy in the church windows.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Katrina Johnston, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Dorothy Calfee, who sang several bridal selections including, "Twelfth of Never" and "A Time For Us."

The bride was given in marriage by her great-uncle, S. P. Goodman. She was attired in a white quana dress, designed and made by herself. The gown was fashioned with a square neckline, a sewn in capelet that fell over the shoulders to a triangular peak in the back. The design was classic, devoid of lace, and the fabric was soft, full of drape and had a soft satin sheen. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, daisies, pink and white carnations and baby's breath, accented with pink and white streamers. The bride also wore a single white gardenia on a satin ribbon tied around the neck and waist to the left side to compliment the simplicity of the gown.

Suzie Shook, of Miami, Fla., served as the bride's maid of honor and bridesmaid was Sue Ellen Riddle, of Williamson, sister of the bride. Serving as junior bridesmaid was Karen Grey Charles, the bride's cousin, of Miami, Fla. Flower girl was Maurena Allen, of Pyramid, cousin of the groom.

The honor attendants and bridesmaid's dresses were designed and made by the bride and her maid of honor. They were pale pink single knit with a simple A-line and scoop neckline.

The junior bridesmaid's dress was identical fabric, with a cape, but had a higher neckline. The flower girl was dressed in white. The attendants wore crowns of baby's breath as their headpieces.

Larry Corea, of Birmingham, Ala., served as best man to Mr. Stephens and ushers were Mike Clark, of Louisville, Bill May, of Pyramid, and Chuck Riddle, of Williamson. Mr. Riddle and Mr. Clark also served as taper lighters. Master Eddie Henry, son of Mrs. Barbara Henry, of South Williamson, served as ringbearer.

Mrs. Riddle attended her daughter's nuptial wearing a floor length aqua gown of quana, designed with a jewel neckline, long sleeves with a sash at the waist. Her ensemble was designed by the bride and made by Mrs. Mary E. Walters. The bridegroom's mother wore a formal lavender print chiffon gown fashioned with sheer sleeves and jewel neckline. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall, directed by Mrs. Irene Hayes. Assisting were Misses Mary Bruce and Robin Blackburn, sisters of the bride; Nina Conley, Ernestine Hatfield, Debbie Weaver, Miss Leslie Osborne and Mrs. Jean Osborne, Mrs. Charlene Ryan presided at the guest registry.

The couple is residing at Happy Valley, Ky., following a wedding trip to Ormond Beach and Ft. Myers, Fla.

The new Mrs. Stephens is a 1966 graduate of Williamson High School and has received her B.S. degree in Textile Merchandise and Design from the University of Kentucky and her M.S. degree in Adult Education from Florida International University. While attending the University of Kentucky she was a member of Alpha Xi Delta, social sorority, serving as publicity and social chairman; Phi Upsilon Omicron, the National Home Economics Honorary and was a Doctoral candidate at the University. She is currently director of Retail Management at Southern West Virginia Community College.

Mr. Stephens received his B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering in 1970 from the University of Kentucky, where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity, initiated member of Pi Tau Sigma and national honorary fraternity of Mechanical Engineers. He received his Master of Business Administration degree from Murray State University and is presently employed as Assistant Manager of Rectron, Inc., of Williamson.

Producers Advised Not To Destroy Damage Evidence

Disaster program eligibility for feed grain farms is dependent on evidence of crop damage, it was emphasized this week in a release from the Floyd County ASC office.

Producers who believe they may be eligible or may later become eligible for disaster payments (for corn) should notify the local county ASCS office of intentions to destroy acreage before actual destruction of any crop acreage.

If a producer believes that a natural disaster (such as flood, drought, insects, etc.) has caused a substantial loss to his program crops, and he chooses not to carry a portion of these crops through harvest, he should notify the county office. He should not destroy the residue until he has notified his local county office.

An ASCS farm visit will be made to determine crop loss.

The disaster program for feed grain is authorized by the Agricultural and Consumer Protection Act of 1973. Coverage under provisions of the Act extends only to planted acreage up to the historical allotment on each farm.

Johnson-Gibson Vows Said

On Saturday, June 26, at 2 p.m., Miss Judith Lynn Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Johnson, of Bevinville, became the bride of Mr. Thomas Monroe Gibson, son of Mrs. Laura Gibson, of Cromona, Kentucky.

The Rev. Charlie Jones, grandfather of the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony, in a lawn wedding at the home of her parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long white satin gown fashioned with an empire waistline, and long sleeves edged with lace at the wrist. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a cap of lace, and her bouquet was of pink miniature carnations and white baby's breath.

Serving as matron-of-honor was Mrs. Debra Kay Johnson, of Bevinville, who wore a pink floor-length gown with a pink and white carnation corsage.

Mr. Burt Lawson, of West Liberty, served as best man. Randy Jones, cousin of the bride, was usher.

Mrs. Johnson chose a pink dress for her daughter's wedding and white carnation corsage. Mrs. Gibson chose a blue dress and a white carnation corsage.

After a short honeymoon at Cedar Point on Lake Erie, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will reside at Bevinville. They will return to Morehead in the fall where both are seniors.

'South Pacific,' Next At Summer Theatre

After opening its season with the smash musical "1776," which ran through July 11, the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre is in preparation for its next production of the summer, "South Pacific," the Rodgers and Hammerstein Pulitzer Prize winning musical, has been scheduled for production beginning July 14 through August 1.

This great hit played for nearly five years on Broadway, from April, 1949 to January, 1954, centering on the romances of a Navy Nurse and a Navy Lieutenant with, respectively, a French planter and a Tonkinese girl on a South Seas island during the war. The Jenny Wiley production of "South Pacific" will signal the return to center stage three popular favorites for recent theatre goers at Jenny Wiley State Park—Mary Stout, Tina James and Benjamin Middaugh.

This will be Miss Stout's fourth year at Jenny Wiley, where she won audiences with performances in "Carousel," "The Most Happy Fella" and "The Grass Harp". Tina James will be remembered for her performances in "Brigadoon," "Godspell" and "Most Happy Fella". Benjamin Middaugh starred at JWSMT last summer with his roles in "Brigadoon," "Most Happy Fella" and "My Fair Lady".

Ms. James will portray Nellie, the nurse from Arkansas, and will sing (among other songs that have become immortal from this show) the famous "I'm in Love with a Wonderful Guy", meaning the older French planter she has met on the island. Benjamin Middaugh will appear as this Frenchman, Emile, with the checkered past, whose memorable songs include "Some Enchanted Evening" and "This Nearly Was Mine". Mary Stout will play the mercenary native woman, Bloody Mary, who sings the exotic ballad, "Bali H'ai", the song that sets the theme of the Pacific Island with its brooding tones of native music. Jeff Oetjen, another Jenny Wiley returnee, will enact the enterprising, irrepressible "big dealer" (there was one in every war outfit) who leads the chorus of hard-boiled Seabees in their famous incantation of longing "There's Nothing Like a Dame". Other leading members of the cast will be Bruce Marquis as Cable, Guy Downey, as Captain Brackett, Janet Michaud, as Liat, plus Paul Looney and Dan Delafield.

The production is being staged by Barbara Desiato with settings by Mary Beth Mann. For ticket information call (606) 886-9274 or write Jenny Wiley

Summer Music Theatre, Box 22, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Barbara Moore, general manager and executive director for the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, announced this week a change in this season's schedule. "South Pacific" will now be performed Friday, July 16, replacing "The Grass Harp" originally scheduled for this date. "The Grass Harp" will open its summer run on Friday, July 23 with a special performance to be given Tuesday, July 27.

Blaze Damages Halbert Residence

The combined efforts of the fire departments of Martin and Prestonsburg Monday afternoon checked the spread of a fire which originated in the attic of the residence of John Halbert and for a time threatened to burn Halbert's welding shop located on the first floor of the same building.

The blaze reportedly originated around some high voltage wiring which ran from the attic and powered equipment in the welding shop. Although damage to the welding shop was negligible, an estimated 40 per cent loss resulted in the Halberts' residence due mainly to smoke and water damage.

No other calls were reported by the Prestonsburg Fire Department over the past week.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
Attorney General

From time to time, the Consumer Protection Division receives complaints about the shrinkage, discoloration, fading, damage or destruction of items of wearing apparel made from natural and synthetic materials. These complaints usually come after the clothes are washed or dry cleaned. When this happens, consumers tend to blame the persons who cleaned or sold them the clothes or material. These parties, in turn, point at the manufacturer as the party responsible for seeing that proper care instructions are included with the materials from which the clothes were made. Indeed, with so many synthetic and exotic fabrics on the market today, and with so many of these coming into the country from overseas, this clothing or fabric care information is very important. The consumer and the cleaning establishment can only follow the directions given by the manufacturer.

The Federal Trade Commission requires that any textile product in the form of a finished article of wearing apparel must have a label or tag permanently attached to it which clearly discloses instructions for the care and maintenance of the article. The commission also requires that any textile product in the form of piece goods, which is made for the purpose of immediate conversion by the consumer into a finished article of wearing apparel, must be accompanied by a label or tag which provides clear instructions for the care and maintenance of such goods and can, by normal household methods, by permanently affixed to the finished article by the consumer. This label or tag must be provided by the person or organization manufacturing the goods.

Instructions for the care and maintenance of any article covered by the regulation must fully inform the purchaser how to handle the regular care and maintenance necessary for the ordinary use and enjoyment of the article; for example, washing, drying, ironing, bleaching, dry-cleaning, and any other procedure regularly used to maintain or care for a particular article. They must warn the purchaser as to any regular care and maintenance procedures which may usually be considered as applying to such articles, but which, in fact, if applied, would substantially diminish the ordinary use and enjoyment of the article. The instructions must also be made readily accessible to the user and be provided in such a manner that they will remain legible for the useful life of the article.

Exemptions to the regulation may be considered when the physical characteristics of the article or its utility or appearance would be substantially impaired by a permanently attached label. If an exemption is granted, the clothing or fabric care information described above must accompany the article whenever it is sold, but it does not have to be included on a label or tag permanently attached or affixed to the wearing apparel or material. An exemption may also be granted for specific articles intended to be sold at retail for three dollars or less and which are completely washable under all normal and reasonable foreseeable circumstances.

If garments or fabrics do not bear the required labels, think twice before you buy them. Notify the store manager or the manufacturer regarding the absence of the label. You may also want to notify the Federal Trade Commission. If instructions are followed and the garment or fabric is damaged in some way, notify the retailer or the manufacturer. If you have a complaint which is not resolved, contact the Division of Consumer Protection, Room 34, Capitol Building, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

State Police Make Job Training Survey

Frankfort, Ky.—In an attempt to reflect the actual requirements of a trooper's job in their training program, the Kentucky State Police Personnel Department is conducting a survey with the help of Civil Service officials from the Personnel Programs Division located in Atlanta.

The purpose of the study is to develop a standardized entrance test that will meet the job requirements without being discriminatory, according to Lt. Ernest Bivens, public information officer for the state police.

On Sept. 1, 1975, State Police Commissioner Truitt Ricks ordered a task analysis "so that we can evolve some measure of performance from our testing."

Sgt. Miles Hart, an instructor at the police academy, was in charge of information-gathering and method-development with the project. Hart said, "We hope to develop a selection test that will yield a high correlation between selection scores, training test scores and on-the-job performance."

Sixteen troopers, one from each post in the state, came to Frankfort to participate in the analysis. Two different methods of evaluation are used in the study, the Position Analysis Questionnaire (PAQ) and the Critical Analysis (CA).

The PAQ, a standardized test, is designed to determine the time that should be devoted to each subject in training, based on the frequency of use for a particular skill by a trooper on the job.

Each trooper participating in the study recounts, in writing, critical incidents or situations that he has encountered on the job in the CA phase of the testing. This, too, will be used as a guide in the development of the training program.

Presently, the entrance exam is a 100-question, multiple-choice test. As of now, no physical agility test is administered.

"This (the physical agility test) is something we need because we can develop skills, but a trooper must have the ability to perform certain tasks," Hart said.

He added, "If the study shows that changes in testing or training need to be made, I think they will probably be made, although the final decision is left to the commissioner."

County's First Bluegrass Fest Termed Success

Clear skies, warm temperatures and an outstanding lineup of talent helped make Floyd county's first Bluegrass music festival, held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Archer Park here, a successful one.

Although crowds varied during the three-day festival, an estimated 1,000 Bluegrass fans viewed Saturday's program and a number of visitors attended from several eastern and mid-western states as well as those from Floyd and surrounding counties.

Bluegrass fans were treated to three days of almost constant performances by such groups as Larry Sparks and the Lonesome Ramblers, Charlie Moore and the Dixie Partners, the Goins Brothers, The Outdoor Plumbing Company, Frog and the Greenhorns, the Laurel Mountain Boys, Lum Patton and the Half Mountain Boys and many others.

Melvin Goins, of Prestonsburg, promoter of the festival and lead singer of the popular Goins Brothers Bluegrass group, said he was pleased and encouraged by the week-end's turnout. Goins said he hopes the festival may become a yearly event and views this year's turnout as an indication that local music fans will support it.

Rescue Teams Plan Entrance Of Scotia Mine Wednesday

The Scotia No. 1 mine near Oven Fork, Letcher county, in which 26 men, including two Floyd countians, lost their lives in separate explosions, last March 10 and 11 will be entered today (Wednesday) by three rescue teams headed by H. N. Kirkpatrick, chief of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals.

The Floyd victims, both claimed by the second blast, were Richard Sammons, 55, of Branham Village, near here, and Grover Tussey, 45, of Allen. Both were federal mine inspectors.

The mine has been sealed since March 12—the day after the second explosion in as many days. The first blast, two days earlier, killed 15 men.

The 11 victims of the second explosion went into the mine to shore up the roof so that a federal investigation of the first explosion could begin.

The explosions were blamed on methane gas, which is both odorless and colorless.

Kirkpatrick, 56, spent 35 years in the coal industry before becoming Kentucky's top mining official. He said he worked 15 years as an underground miner.

Despite the danger, Kirkpatrick said he plans to be in the mine along with rescue teams when the bodies of the 11 men are recovered.

"I will be one of the first ones in," he said. "I've been on recovery work several times. I went in 1969 in Mexico five miles underground. One hundred and seventy-five people were killed in that explosion, and we were there about a week recovering the bodies."

The recovery plan has been approved by Blue Diamond Cal Corp., which owns Scotia, the Scotia Employees Association, the federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration and the state Department of Mines and Minerals.

Kirkpatrick said it will take at least 60 days to reach the bodies because every precaution will be taken to prevent another explosion.

If the recovery operation goes according to plan, there will not be enough oxygen in the "two-southeast" section—the site of both earlier blasts—for another explosion, he said.

The bodies are located about three miles from the point where the recovery teams will enter the mine and are about 1,400 feet below the surface, Kirkpatrick said.

"We will enter the main portal—that's where the men went to work," he said. "The main portal will be unsealed. We will proceed in with selfbreathing apparatus and build air locks every 500 feet.

"You can't tell how far we will go on the first day. It's going to take a little while to get started."

He said the recovery teams will go in 500 feet at a time, secure each area with plastic curtains and allow oxygen to enter only one section at a time.

School Discipline Workshop Topic

Richmond, Ky.—Disciplinary problems in schools will be studied this Thursday in a workshop sponsored by Eastern Kentucky University's College of Law Enforcement and College of Education.

The workshop from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Stratton Building is for junior and senior high school teachers, counselors, and principals.

It will assess the nature and extent of school disciplinary problems and discuss methods of coping with these problems within the normal classroom and through alternative school programs, Mrs. Elizabeth Horn, workshop coordinator, said.

The morning program of the workshop will be conducted by Dr. Andrew H. Griffin, director of human relations, Teacher's Rights Division, National Education Association. He will "focus on interpersonal skills that enable the teacher to enter the learner's frame of reference, with an emphasis on problems that emerge in the classroom because the teacher does not enter the learner's frame of reference," Mrs. Horn said.

The afternoon session will include discussions of several alternate school programs by their directors: Jessie Beasley, Paducah City Schools; Randy Kimbrough, Bowling Green, and Cheryl Luken, Hardin County.

Boulder Kills Martin Couple

A 50-ton boulder which crashed from a mountainside near Inez early Sunday morning killed Ronald Horn, 27, and his wife, Connie, 26, in their sleep.

Their children, Dennis, 8, and Rhonda, 2, escaped with minor cuts and bruises. The huge rock, which broke from an overhanging cliff, smashed into the Horn residence, between 1 and 2 a.m. Sunday. Mr. Horn apparently was killed by falling framing of the house, but his wife was pinned beneath the boulder. Another boulder half the size of the first stopped 15 feet short of the house.

A work crew was scheduled Monday to go up the mountain to break the rock down. Explosives, bulldozers and air compressors were not used to avoid another rockslide.

County Judge Ray Fields said the boulder broke loose from a larger rock at the top of the 1,000-foot mountainside and carved a 25-foot path down the side. Fields said the larger rock was not in danger of falling, and people who were evacuated began returning to their homes. KY 908 was reopened to traffic after being closed for some time.

Ronnie Davis, a Martin county motorist who had stopped for gas, heard the rumbling noise and at first thought a nearby dam had burst. Upon further investigation he found the wrecked Horn home.

The boulder hit the rear of the house and flipped over inside, a Kentucky State Police trooper said. The five-room wooden house was destroyed.

The Horns' bodies were trapped in the wrecked house and were freed by neighbors and others who brought their own power tools and equipment to help, the trooper said.

Joint funeral services for the Horns were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Turkey Nazarene Church. Burial was in the Howe cemetery.

College Students In Work-Study Plan

FRANKFORT, Ky.—While summer employment may be hard to find, more than 400 Kentucky college students are currently working to earn money for educational expenses this fall. Jobs are provided through the Commonwealth Work-Study Program, a college student off-campus summer work program, planned and implemented at the direction of Gov. Julian Carröll. Up to $385,000 has been made available by 17 participating colleges and special grant funds designated by the Governor for the program from the Federal Comprehensive Education and Training Act of 1975.

The Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority is coordinating the program and has subcontracted with 21 community action agencies in Kentucky and the county judges in the four counties not served by a community action agency, to select work sites and supervise student workers. The Department of Human Resources, Bureau of Manpower Services offices are making job referrals and placements. All jobs are with public or private non-profit agencies and involve work such as clerical, general maintenance, recreation, social services, teacher's aides and research assistants. Participants receive $2.30 per hour and may work up to 40 hours per week.

The program is for residents of Kentucky attending institutions of higher education in the Commonwealth. To be considered for employment a student must apply for financial aid with the financial aid officer at the educational institution in which he or she is enrolled or has been accepted for enrollment this fall.

Sufficient funds have been committed to help additional students before the program ends September 30.

"Pray One for Another" (James 5:16) I cannot tell why there should come to me A thought of some one miles and miles away! In swift insistence on the memory, Unless a need there be that I should pray. Too hurried oft are we to spare the thought, For days together, of some friends away; Perhaps God does it for us, and we ought To read His signal as a call to pray. Perhaps, just then, my friend has fiercer fight, And more appalling weakness and decay Of courage, darkness, some lost sense of right; And so, in case he needs my prayer, I pray. Friend, do the same for me. If I intrude Unasked upon you, on some crowded day, Give me a moment's prayer as interlude; Be very sure I need it, therefore, pray. And when you pray, dear friend, I ask of thee, That thou will seek of God not mine own way; Not what I want, but His blest thought for me, Do thou through Jesus Christ implore, I pray. -Marianne Farningham. South Korea was invaded by North Korean troops in 1950 and President Truman ordered U. S. troops into the area.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
(Attorney General)

A Kentucky consumer bought a new refrigerator and signed a time-payment contract arranged by the seller. After a few months, the refrigerator broke down and the dealer refused to repair or replace it. When the consumer tried to stop payment on the contract, he discovered that the contract had been sold by the dealer to a financial institution. The financial institution claimed that it had purchased a valid contract and had no responsibility for fixing the refrigerator. It did, however, claim the right to collect payments on the contract.

This type of consumer complaint arises from a legal situation involving a "holder-in-due-course." By having and holding the contract, the financial institution is the holder-in-due-course and can collect on the contract. The consumer, however, has practically no defenses in this kind of situation and must often pay for products or services that do not work.

On May 14, 1976, the Federal Trade Commission issued a regulation which abolished the doctrine of holder-in-due-course. Kentucky's General Assembly followed suit during their 1976 session.

Under the new laws, an installment contract arranged by the seller and signed by the consumer must contain language which states that the financial institution holding the contract is subject to all claims and defenses which the consumer could assert against the original seller. This gives the consumer some protection and leverage with respect to getting what he or she paid for, as well as not having to pay for defective products or poorly performed services.

These laws will not hurt the lines of credit of established and reputable businesses. Financial institutions are likely to think twice, however, about doing business with people or companies that indulge in questionable practices. Consumers should do likewise.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Room 34, The Capitol, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

Sports Afield

By TED KESTING

"Ontario offers, without question, the greatest variety of fishing to be found in any of the Canadian provinces," declares Robert O'Byrne, Travel Editor of Sports Afield. "This huge province borders the northern shores of four of the Great Lakes. These waters offer excellent fishing for such species as northern pike, muskellunge, walleyes, smallmouth bass, largemouth bass, rainbow trout, splake and such exotics as kokanee, chinook and coho salmon.

"Move north anywhere, and you run into countless lakes. Move far north to the shores of Hudson Bay and you will find a number of immense rivers providing a true wilderness adventure in your quest for some of the fantastic brook and lake trout fishing they provide."

O'Byrne selects some of the most popular species for special discussion and here, in condensed form is what he has to say:

Conditions for smallmouth bass fishing are ideal at a number of points in Ontario. Georgian Bay forms an enormous part of the northeastern portion of Lake Huron. It has long been famous as one of the best areas, if not the best, for smallmouths on the North American continent. Another very good section is in Lake Erie in the region of Long Point. Smallmouth bass fishing is well known in the St. Lawrence River, but this region gets a lot of pressure from the New York as well as the Canadian side.

In southern Ontario there are 26 tributaries of the Great Lakes that have good runs of rainbow trout. Ten of the best rivers are in the southern part of Georgian Bay in the region from Midland to Owen Sound. The best fishing is during the spring and fall spawning runs.

There is good brook trout fishing in the Lake Nipigon region, but it is largely ignored in the hunt for other species. Another overlooked area is the northern shore of Lake Superior from Marathon to Wawa. This is wild country, and the only way to fish it would be to use a cabin cruiser as a base. From Thunder Bay down to Sault Ste. Marie, there are plenty of places to stay. Your final region for top action is the far north where a number of big rivers interconnecting numerous lakes flow into the James and Hudson bays. This is fly-in fishing.

Muskies are never easy to catch, and though Ontario has some pretty fair water for these battlers, you will have to put in time if you want to nail one. The Kawartha lakes are in a built-in area but their muskie fishing is as good as any in the province. Pigeon River and Pigeon Lake are especially good. Lake of the Woods as well as Georgian Bay and the French River are worth trying. In the Kenora District are the Vermilion Lakes, Lake Nipissiny and Eagle Lake which yielded a 62-pounder many years ago.

Lake trout, northern pike and walleyes are found in virtually all of Ontario's waters from the Great Lakes in the south to the far north. Many of the remote areas are fly-in only.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL
Director of Environmental Studies
Morehead State University

The recent surge of anti-hunting sentiment and specific charges against hunters were examined in the last article. This article will attempt to express some hunter reactions to these sentiments and charges.

The animal cruelty charge leveled at the hunting establishment generally results in a countercharge. Hunters cite various examples of accepted cruelty to animals to defend their taking of wild game. Raising cattle for the explicit purpose of eating the product has been cited, along with the inherent cruelty of slaughterhouses. Slaughterhouses commonly cut the jugular vein of cattle, then hang them upside down, still alive, on hooks before they are cut into steaks. Other domestic animal slaughter practices, especially in regard to lambs and hogs, have been cited by hunters as being publicly accepted, but cruel. They claim that their sport is no different and perhaps even more humane.

The cruel practices of some animal trappers have also been criticized. Several states, including Kentucky, have recently had usually unsuccessful bills introduced to outlaw steel traps and cyanide guns, both common trapping practices. Designed to reduce animal suffering, rules have also been proposed regarding the frequency of trap visitations by the trapper. Although not usually considered trappers, coon hunters have been cited as inhumane because they sometimes let their dogs rip their quarry apart to aid in reinforcing the hunting instinct. Many organized sportsmen groups have also advocated stricter controls over these practices, although they usually stop short of endorsing complete trapping bans.

I believe that true sportsmen are sincere in their concern about this problem and that they grieve over domestic pets losing a leg in a steel trap just as much as nonhunters.

Another argument against hunting is that it upsets the natural balance between producers, predators and prey. Hunters are quick to point out that they have helped restore the balance in many areas by reintroducing animals formerly present. Deer are frequently cited examples and hunters are proud that these animals are present in Kentucky, for example, in higher numbers than when Daniel Boone was a resident. Sportsmen also point to the fact that they have contributed more than $3 billion to fund state game and fish departments for the explicit purposes of perpetuating, protecting and promoting the fish and wildlife. These funds come from excise taxes on fishing tackle, ammunition, sporting arms, and archery equipment and from license fees for hunting and fishing.

These monies are also used to acquire land for wildlife preservation and duck hunters alone have contributed an additional $100 million for stamps (the right to hunt). This money is used for duck research, protection and habitat preservation. Ducks Unlimited, a sportsmen's group, has bought and preserved more than three million acres of prime waterfowl nesting and migrating habitat.

Hunters are also proud of the additional $50 million they contribute annually to habitat protection on private lands. They also generally support and lobby in Congress for legislation favorable to establishing refuges and other wildlife areas. Hunters do have commendable environmental records in these aspects, but other ecological misdeeds have been attributed to them.

Red Cross Stresses Poolside Dangers

Seconds of inattention at the side of a swimming pool can be fatal for a young child, Mr. Robert Phillips, Safety Programs Director for the Kentucky Division American Red Cross, cautioned today.

Lack of adequate adult supervision and of fences and locked gates at pools were called the twin causes of deaths to young children in the water. The majority fell in or went in on purpose while adults were not looking on.

A study of swimming pool deaths nationwide by the National Safety Council shows that 114 out of a total of 301 were in the under-five age group. Most of these were in home pools. Only three deaths occurred when children climbed fences to reach the pools.

The remaining casualties occurred with either no fence, access through a space in the fence or under it, or unlocked gate. Careful adult supervision could have forestalled many if not most of these deaths.

"The great increase in numbers of backyard pools nationwide and here in Kentucky is ample reason to make us aware of the hazards," Mr. Phillips said. Mr. Phillips recommended that pool owners take a water safety course offered by their local chapter of the Red Cross as a means of becoming more knowledgeable about safety precautions to be utilized in and around the pool.

Carroll Boosts Local Government Office

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has removed Kentucky's Office of Local Government from the Executive Department for Finance and Administration and elevated it to the Department of Local Government.

The new department will be headed by newly-appointed Commissioner Ralph Ed Graves, of Frankfort. It will be placed under the office of the Secretary of the Cabinet, Jackson White.

"It is my personal conviction that this refinement of state government reorganization increases the visibility of local government's problems as it also grants greater perspective for resolving them through a better system of service," Carroll said.

The governor, by executive order, also established three new bureaus within the Executive Department for Finance and Administration and appointed their commissioners. The commissioners and their respective bureaus are: Joyce Morse, Frankfort, Administrative Services; David Pritchett, Frankfort, Facilities Management; and Robert C. Stone, Jr., Frankfort, Computer Services.

Carroll announced the appointment of Gordon C. Duke, Frankfort, as deputy secretary of that department.

All the newly appointed officials were sworn in today by Chief Justice Scott Reed.

On April 12, 1861, South Carolina troops attacked Fort Sumter, forcing Union troops to evacuate, and touching off the Civil War.

TIMES WANT ADS REALLY GET RESULTS!

Just because there's plenty of coal, doesn't mean there'll be plenty of electricity.

By now almost everyone knows what a great resource America has in its vast coal reserves. And how important it is in making electricity.

But just having the coal doesn't make it electricity.

It has to be mined, first. Then we have to convert that coal into electricity and get it to your homes and factories.

Without facilities to do all that, all the coal in the world wouldn't generate the first kilowatt of electric power. The lights wouldn't burn. And the machines that help us do our jobs wouldn't run.

Unfortunately, the cost of building these facilities has gone up drastically. For instance, building a power plant today costs five times as much as it did 15 years ago. And it was costly, even then.

On top of that, building new facilities takes time. And it takes the cooperation and understanding of the people who will benefit from them.

You might say it's a kind of power partnership between you and us that takes a realistic approach to the needs of today. And tomorrow, too.

Without your help and understanding about the needs and the cost, facilities may never get built.

And coal, which can become electricity, will just stay coal.

'Welcome' Banner Flies at Maytown

Langley, Ky.—The Homecoming "Welcome" banner is flying high over KY 80 here for the small town whose hospitality in 1971 brought alumni and others from coast to coast, from Michigan to Florida. The 1976 registration will begin at Allen Central High School Friday, July 23, at 10 a.m. in the gymnasium.

Since Mrs. James Allen, Homecoming director, has been called to Oklahoma because of illness in her family, Mrs. Gene Hopkins and Miss Lorena Hall are temporarily in charge for completion of arrangements.

Both evening sessions, July 23 and 24, will begin at 7 o'clock. Reunions for classes and residents will be in classrooms at Allen Central Saturday morning at 10. Older folks, former teachers, residents, past and present, and any who have ever been employed here but were never students in Maytown, will also have brunch at the same time. Hosts and hostesses for the older group include Mesdames Kenneth Short, of Prestonsburg, Elizabeth Allen, Trilby May, Thomas Patrick and others wishing to attend and reminisce.

Violet Allen, Homecoming president, says that every Maytownite of all ages, past or present, is invited for every program and event of the three-day celebration, which is not limited to graduates and students of Maytown Schools. Tickets, news letter, and booklets will be available at the registration booths. Spouses of Homecomers are equally welcome at every feature their mates attend.

Tallent Looks Forward to Next Year's Season at George Washington

George Washington University, Washington, D. C., loses its second all-time leading scorer, 6-3 guard and Maytown native Pat Tallent, but head coach Bob Tallent (Pat's older brother) is certainly not brooding as he looks ahead to the 1976-'77 season and the start of the new Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League.

Coach Tallent welcomes back 10 letterman, including four starters, from last year's 20-7 team that reached the finals of the ECAC Southern Division playoffs. The 20-7 record was the finest at GW in 20 years. It marked the first 20-win season since 1954-'55 and only the fourth 20-win season in the school's history. The Colonials finished the year winning eight of their last nine games and 12 of their last 15. Included were two victories over West Virginia at Morgantown and an 81-79 overtime triumph against Georgetown at the Hoyas' McDonough gym.

Pat Tallent averaged 23 points per game and finished his career with 1,725 points. Also graduating is 6-7 forward Haviland Harper, who became only the 15th player in GW history to score over 1,000 points in a career as he finished with 1,050.

But coach Tallent expects another good season in his third year at the helm of the Colonials (he's 37-17 in two years) with the return of guard John Holloran, a 6-1 senior, forwards Les (High Rise) Anderson and Jim Smith and center Kevin Hall.

Holloran finished as the Colonial's second leading scorer with a 14.3 average. He shot a remarkable 58.2 percent from the field, 84.5 percent from the line and set a new school record for assists in one season with 150, breaking the old record by 43. Anderson, the Colonials' leaping 6-4 junior, wound up as the team's third leading scorer (13.7) and leading rebounder (8.5). And Hall, the 7-2 senior center, came on like gang-busters at season's end. Hall ended the season with averages of 6.5 points and 7.1 rebounds, but his play in the ECAC tournament was awe inspiring. He had 18 points and 13 rebounds against West Virginia and 18 points and 16 rebounds against Georgetown.

This spring's recruiting has landed highly-touted 6-10 Mike Zagardo of Baltimore, Virginia all-state guard, 6-4 Bucky Roman, and 6-7 Tom Glenn, who averaged 22.8 pts. and 13.5 rebounds at Fork Union (Va.) Military Academy. In addition, 6-4 Jack Kramer, a transfer from Rider, is expected to battle Roman for the opportunity of filling Pat Tallent's shoes.

Also, the Colonials begin play in the new EIBL along with Rutgers, Villanova, Massachusetts, Pittsburgh, Duquesne, West Virginia and Penn State. The EIBL's post-season tournament winner gets an NCAA tournament berth.

Commission Discusses Oral History Project Grants to Colleges

The Kentucky Bicentennial Oral History Commission's executive committee discussed procedure for making grants to the state's oral history programs, amended grant application guidelines and approved an emergency grant for an eastern Kentucky oral history project at a recent meeting.

The commission was authorized by the 1976 General Assembly to record interviews with prominent persons and knowledgeable Kentuckians about the history of the Commonwealth. The commission is the first of its kind in the nation.

Russellville newspaper publisher Al Smith, the commission's chairman, said the executive committee should consider the commission's relationship with eight established programs at colleges and universities in the state, asking, "Do we have a role to play" in their programs.

Executive Secretary Charles Hinds, director of the state Department of Library and Archives, responded, "One of the (commission's) primary missions is to encourage them," referring to the institutions with oral history programs.

One of the projects, at Lees Junior College in Jackson, applied for an emergency grant of $2,700. Since the grant would enable the program to continue during the summer, it was approved.

But the emergency grant request forced the committee to consider amending its application guidelines. Commission Vice Chairman John Ed Pearce, of the Sunday Courier-Journal and Times Magazine, felt the application form was not specific enough about the intended use of the grant.

This discussion led to questions about the commission requirements for a final project report in April of the year following the issuance of a grant. Since on-going projects could not write a "final" report, the commission decided to allow those programs to submit "interim" reports on the sections of the project benefited by the grant. Other oral history programs will still be required to make a "final" report.

SCOTT-TAYLOR REUNION

The first reunion of more than 100 descendants of Garfield Scott and Angeline Easter Lowe Scott, Angeline Lowe Scott Taylor and Wallace B. Taylor, Wallace B. Taylor and Mary Burchett Taylor was held in the Breaks Park, June 26th.

Materials and names were collected and copies of family trees were prepared by Fon Taylor (a Scott-Lowe grandson) and Charles E. Spears (a grandson of the Taylor-Lowe union). These showed and gave the names of six children born to the union of Garfield Scott and Angeline Lowe Scott; namely, Thomas, Walker, Orrison, Bird, Dixie and Ben. To the union of Angeline Lowe Scott Taylor and Wallace B. Taylor, 10 children were born—England, Eliza and Elizabeth (twins), Clinton, Mont, Octavia, John, Bertha, Burley, and Elmon, and to the union of Wallace B. Taylor and Mary Burchett Taylor there was one daughter, May Taylor Thompson.

There are five of the 17 brothers and sisters living. Of those living there were present at the gathering Eliza Taylor Blackburn, and Elizabeth Taylor Spears (twins), Bertha Taylor Cornette and John Taylor. May Taylor Thompson was unable to attend.

There were present three widows of sons of the Taylor family—Amy Taylor (wife of Mont), Jettie Taylor (wife of Clinton), and Lou Taylor (wife of Burley).

Many of the 82 grandchildren, several great-grandchildren, and some great-great-grandchildren were present, along with their families, to represent the Scott and Taylor families.

Emphasis was placed on the memory of Easter Angeline Lowe Scott Taylor (1865-1911). There were only two grandchildren present, who remembered her in person. They were Mrs. Leslie Scott Adkins and Clarence Scott.

Charles Spears presided and welcomed everyone. A medley of favorite rymns was sung by Billie Jean Blackburn Osborne, daughter of Eliza Taylor Blackburn. Prayer and thanks for family blessings and food was given by Rev. Clell Scott, Pentecostal minister from Harpers Ferry, W. Va. (son of Orrison Scott).

The date for the 1977 reunion was set for the last Saturday in June, in the same place, at the same time.

During the repast, more visiting took place and many pictures were taken. Many lingered, as late as possible, to recount family history and anecdotes of past years.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Mrs. Grover Lowe attended the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Campbell, at Garrett last week. Mrs. Campbell died of a heart attack.

Allen Baptists Honor Waughs

The First Baptist Church of Allen honored Rev. and Mrs. Earl Waugh and family with a dinner June 29 when more than 200 persons from various churches came to join the local congregation in paying tribute to the pastor and wife for their dedicated leadership and faithful service for 11 years. Aside from enjoying the sumptuous meal, the group was delighted with music by Mrs. Irene Stephens and sons, Mark and Toni, and Luther Stephens and daughters, Debbie and Rhodena. Serving as toastmaster, Gene Davis called upon Chalmer Whitt for the invocation, after which Leo Watts extended the welcome and expressed deep appreciation to the Waughs for their very successful ministry. Gene Davis spoke eloquently of the work by the pastor, as did Luther Stephens from the Free Will Baptist Church, Jimmy Delano Gray, of the Allen Methodist, Mrs. Walter Pritchard, of Allen Baptist, Mesdames Sandy Bradley and Edgar May, of Maytown Baptist Church.
Mike Halfield led in congregational singing. Leo Rice and Danny Branson presented a freezer to the Waughs from the church. Mrs. Gene Davis pinned a corsage on Mrs. Waugh. Tony Childers took snapshots and movies of the occasion, while Mr. Davis taped the entire program to provide the Waughs with additional mementoes. Mr. Branson described the services rendered by the Waughs, the high esteem in which they are held, the growth of the church in more than one way. He was followed by Raymond Childers who in words touched with pathos told what the pastor meant to him and others as well, concluding the evening with the benediction.

There will be an estimated 3,000 average annual job openings for photographic laboratory technicians through 1985, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's "Occupational Outlook Handbook in Brief, 1976-'77 edition."

Frankfort, Ky.—The Office for Program Administration was established today by an executive order issued by Gov. Julian Carroll.
The new office is the result of a consolidation between the Office for State Planning and the governor's program administrator.
The office was created "because there is a need for improved coordination of planning and research studies in order to ensure greater economy and efficiency consistent with overall goals and objectives of this administration," Gov. Carroll said.
Peter Conn, executive assistant to the governor, was appointed as the director of the Office of Program Administration.

State Sets Rules For Trailer Parks

Frankfort, Ky.—Mobile home park operators must meet state requirements before constructing or expanding parks.

State regulations require a minimum of 4,000 square feet per lot for each mobile home and compliance with applicable water, sewage, sanitation and plumbing regulations.

William P. McElwain, commission of Bureau for Health Services, Department for Human Resources, said the larger areas between mobile homes will minimize the danger of fire spreading from one mobile home to another while stricter adherence to state plumbing standards will alleviate past problems with substandard plumbing and sewerage.

"The regulations are in response to the public's expectation of high standards of sanitation and safety in all aspects of their environment," said McElwain. These regulations were adopted under the Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Act of 1972.

Additional requirements include a minimum distance of 20 feet between a mobile home and any street used for parking.

McElwain said the parking distance requirements should help prevent accidents in which children dart out in front of cars.

Park operators must submit construction or expansion plans to the Department for Human Resources and obtain a construction permit before beginning construction. A $25 fee to cover processing and reviewing costs and an application must accompany the plans. After construction is completed and prior to occupancy, park owners must obtain a permit to operate from the Department.

According to figures from the Human Resources' permit office, the state's mobile home parks have increased from 1,552 in July 1970 to 1,907 in February 1976. The number of spaces for the same period increased from 35,564 to 39,250.

For copies of the Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Park Law and Regulations, contact the local county health department or the Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Health Services, Environmental Sanitation Branch, 275 East Main Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.
