Report on Study Notes 'Sed' Rate Worse at Dewey

Although the Huntington office, U. S. Corps of Army Engineers, is not ready to release the full report of findings from the Dewey Reservoir study conducted jointly by the Corps and the Geological Survey, a Corps representative commented briefly on the study Monday in a telephone conversation with The Times. Kenneth Harmon, chief of hydraulics for the Huntington district office, said the study shows that the sedimentation rate in Dewey Lake is worse but that in consideration of the projected life of the impoundment "it doesn't look too bad." Asked specifically about the lake water quality, Mr. Harmon said that "overall,

it's pretty good," that there has been no

Hall Wins Acquittal Of Bond Violation

Randy Hall, of Craynor, was cleared here last Thursday of charges that he had violated terms of his bail bond, and he was freed.

County Attorney Harold Stumbo said there was no evidence to support the charges made earlier to the effect that Hall had returned to the home of his father, McKinley Hall, in violation of provisions of his bond.

David District Gets Area Back By Court Action

Days after a work order had been issued by the Beaver Elkhorn Water District to a contractor to begin construction of the water main from the Brush Creek area to David, the Floyd fiscal court Monday rescinded its order of Feb. 6, 1975 which included a large section of the David community in the Beaver Elkhorn district.

Beaver Elkhorn had contracted with Pearson Brothers to construct the line for $437,000, using federal grant monies. J C. Wells, of Wayland, Beaver Elkhorn head, said the construction was planned and contracted on the basis of the court order enlarging Beaver Elkhorn district boundaries to include the David and Left Fork of Middle Creek areas for water

The court Monday rescinded the enlarging of the Beaver Elkhorn district to include that area on the ground that the order was illegal. It also adopted a resolution proposed by the David Water District to the effect that the new water lines to be constructed in the David district and future extensions by maintained by the David district and that upon completion of the lines Beaver Elkhorn should furnish water to the David district at wholesale rates as may be approved by the Public Service

Mr. Wells said the plan had been that Beaver Elkhorn would construct the line and sell water to customers, as is being done in the Beaver Creek section of the county, and that the project was funded on that basis.

'We'll do what we're supposed to do to help people, and we hope nothing disturbs the whole program that has been begun," Wells said. "We don't want the tail to wag the dog, and right now we're

$150,000 Bond Sale for Water Plant Work OK'd

The Prestonsburg City Council last Thursday night approved the sale of $150,000 in Prestonsburg Water, Sewer and Natural Gas System revenue bonds to the Farmers' Home Administration (FHA) at 5 per cent interest per annum.

Purpose of the bond sale is to finance extensions, additions and improvements to the city's water treatment plant, with $41,500 of the total going for the purchase and installation of a 2-million-gallon-perday capacity raw water pump and a 3 million-gallon finished water pump. The city's present pumps have a capacity of one million gallons per day. Remainder of the amount will finance the purchase of tube filters and mixed filter media. In other business the council enacted an ordinance providing that all solicitors in the city limits must register with the city manager or chief of police, and be approved. An ordinance was also passed which provides that any who do excavation work on city streets must pay for the time and services of an inspector provided by the city.

The problem of stray dogs in the city was also discussed and it was pointed out that Prestonsburg has met all the requirements to receive the $25,000 bequest of the late Susan Hawkins Liebig for the construction of an animal shelter in the Prestonsburg area.

Board To Battle Threat of Drugs

Problem Studied At Meeting Here Last Wednesday

The Floyd County Board of Education in open acknowledgment of the growing drug menace to students of Floyd schools devoted a major portion of its meeting last Wednesday evening to a conference designed to develop "battle plans."

Meeting with Supt. Grigsby and board members were members of the Floyd County Ministerial Association, County Attorney Harold J. Stumbo, school principals and parents.

Supt. Grigsby said alcohol was included in the discussion of the threat to pupils. He said narcotics is "a growing problem, and we are trying to cope with

The program being developed includes preventive work by school officials and constructive action when drug use is discovered.

In its early planning stages, the program is expected to involve: Drug education.

-A cooperative effort of principals, teachers and education officials with the Narcotics Division of the State Police and other authorities.

-A tightening of rules and regulations in the schools -Working with the child after he or she develops a drug problem.

The spread of drug use has been particularly alarming in high schools, it was said. In some cases, however, elementary pupils have been introduced to the use of narcotics.

In other action the board of education adopted a general budget for the 1976-'77 school year which envisions the expenditure of $6,812,700. Of this total. $4,454,539 will be expended for instruction. (The budget appears elsewhere in this edition.)

Ray Brackett, assistant superintendent, told the board that the budget for the last school year which ended July 1 was for the first time in three years in balance, although a $400,000 deficit was

DEATHLESS PROSE

Wonder how long it takes some items to die a natural death? Twenty or more years ago, I came out of the glooms long enough after having a paper come off the press a day or so late to try to recover a little from the wreckage by making a paragraph for this column. So I explained why the paper was late the preceding week. It all began, I recall writing, many months ago in a cornfield. From there the corn passed through a certain process, then our linotype operator got a jug of the by-product. And

The paragraph went the rounds, but I had forgotten it till this week when Mrs. Bert Dixon, of Baltimore, wrote me:

'Imagine our surprise tonight when we were watching the local 6 p.m. news on TV when the announcer said, 'And now

Mercury Found in Dewey Lake Not Believed To Be Dangerous

Congressman Carl D. Perkins told The Times Tuesday afternoon that Col. Scott Smith, chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' district office in Huntington, W. Va., had vouched for the authenticity of the report that mercury has been detected in Dewey Lake.

Col. Smith added that the concentration is not considered dangerous to human health or life.

Mercury, he said, was first detected in the lake in 1973 but has appeared only sporadically-sometimes in detectable concentration but most of the time at fairly low level and sometimes too low to be detected at all. There is no set pattern to the appearance of the element in the

The source of the contamination has not been found, Congressman Perkins was told. It is not known if upstream coal mining is suspect.

Pickwick Dam reservoir in Alabama was so contaminated by mercury from manufacturing plants a few years ago that fishermen were not permitted to take their catches home for the table. Mercury poisoning goes back to the expression, "Mad as a hatter," which originated with the use of mercury in the making of hats. Hatters handling the chemical transmitted it from their hands to their mouths, and the result was a form of mental disease-hence, "Mad as

Health Agency Makes Changes, Seeks Members

The East Kentucky Health Systems Agency is moving toward what its leaders hope will be an operating status by the time of its expected funding, October 1, and one of the moves was last Wednesday night's reorganization of its board of directors.

The board reorganization, demanded by a group known as East Kentucky Citizens for Better Health Care, resulted in the elected of seven new members with the aim of making the health agency more representative of all groups. New members include former miners, blacks, women and low-income representatives.

8-State Mine Strike Spreads into County 700 employees in Knott county, a few

Floyd county miners last week began joining the eight-state coal miners' strike, and this week more mines in the county were closing as pickets moved from mine to mine.

Several hundred pickets appeared Monday morning at the Garth operation of the Turner Elkhorn Mining Company, and the closing of that plant where coal is processed and loaded affected numerous smaller workings-perhaps as many as 200 workers.

From Garth pickets moved up both Left and Right Beaver Creeks and were expected to close mines on Left Beaver which employ 800 to 1000 men. Another 200 would be idled on Right Beaver Creek if the mines there are closed.

National Mines and its approximately miles south of Wayland, were also idle. The strike has been in effect for several days in Martin county. The walkout began as a job-posting grievance between Local 1759 and Cedar Coal Co. But when a federal judge fined the local $50,000 plus $25,000 a day, the strike began spreading on July 19. By last Friday, it had idled all of West Virginia and substantial parts of Kentucky, Indiana, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and Alabama.

The federal judge later offered to forgive all fines if the miners would return to work.

Paul (Kentuck) Lemaster, of Philippi, W. Va. recited the strikers' demands. He said he was District 31 representative on a "steering committee, not a strike mmittee. We're trying to steer this strike where we want it to go."

The demands are a lifting of all fines and injunctions, guarantee of no reprisals against strikers and a meeting with coal operators about "bargaining in good faith and without recourse to the courts," Lemaster said. UMW President Arnold Miller said in a press conference that federal court action was a problem, but he stressed that collective bargaining, not an illegal strike, was the way to handle it.

'I believe that 90 per cent of our membership today wants to go back to work," he said. "Sure, there's a problem, the court intervention. But some people are so irresponsible

While power companies and steel mills have said they have enough coal stockpiled to avoid being hurt by the strike, railroads that haul coal out of the region have furloughed more than 1,000

It's Back to Classes In County, August 23

The official opening of Floyd county schools for the 1976-'77 school year is August 20, but the first day for pupils to report for classes is Monday, August 23. These are items on a school calendar adopted for the year by the Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Wednesday evening.

A new state law requires 175 instructional days during the school year, but not all these are days to be spent in classes. There are four official holidays-Labor Day (Sept. 6), Thanksgiving (Nov. 25), Christmas and New Year's. The Thanksgiving holiday will extend through the following day, but that day must be made up. Christmas vacation will extend from Dec. 18 till Jan. 2, and spring vacation will be on March 18 and 25 to coincide with district and state basketball tournaments. Class vacation which will later be made up falls on April 8 for the Floyd County Education Association meeting and April 14-15 for KEA. Schools will close for the Presidential election, Nov. 2, and next year's primary election, 24, but this also is lost-time which must be made good later. The calendar provides for four system-wide in-service days for teachers-the first two on August 18 and 19 prior to the school opening, and the second two days on May 20 and May 23.

The last day for classes appears on the calendar as May 19, but the "disaster days" caused by bad weather could extend the closing beyond that date.

In an effort to prevent too many "disaster days" the board of education authorized County Supt. E. P. Grigsby, Jr. and Transportation Director Wayne Ratliff, Jr. to work toward a means of preventing cancellation of classes for an entire day on occasions when, for instance, bad driving conditions might prevail in the early morning but would disappear within an hour or two. The plan if to permit delayed opening school on such days till as late, perhaps, as 9

To Lead Evangelistic Crusade

The Rev. Ron Ball will return to his hometown, Prestonsburg, to lead Methodist and Baptist churches of the area in an evangelistic crusade beginning Sunday, Aug. 15, and continuing through the following Sunday. The revival will be held in the building of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here. Services will be at 7:30 p.m., daily.

The crusade leader, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Printess L. Ball, of Prestonsburg, was graduated from high school here. He received the A. B. degree from Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., four years ago, and was graduated from Asbury Theological Seminary last June with a Master of Divinity degree. Since his graduation from the seminary the Rev. Ball has been appointed an evangelist in the Louisiana Methodist Conference, and he has been active in evangelistic work.

He and his music leader for the crusade here, the Rev. Harold Custer, have worked together in revivals in widely separated areas of the country. The Rev. Custer has a degree in music, is a graduate of Asbury Seminary and currently is a pastor in West Virginia.

The sponsoring churches are inviting the public to hear this gifted team of young Christian workers.

Conn and "Country-Disco" Prove Winning Combination in Vegas

In finest "local boy makes good" fashion, 21-year-old Dean Conn has become something of a celebrity since he left his native Floyd county just over a year ago for the West Coast.

Based in Hollywood, Conn's name has appeared recently in a number of entertainment "trade" newspapers and magazines, especially in the Las Vegas area where he has been performing, and reviews of his "country disco" routine have been more than favorable. An accomplished musician (Conn is said to be proficient on several string and keyboard instruments), his club routine is said to blend the sound of country music with the modern beat of the discotheque sound.

Mary Anderson, in her colum, "Backstage" in the Las Vegas Panorama said of Conn: "Dean Conn, charmin' country boy from Kentucky, has settled down in decadent Hollywood and has been working full time for the past few months on his new nightery act with a thoroughly different theme—Country disco.' Combining the popularity of both sounds, Dean's first single release will be a discoversion of the country classic, 'Your Cheating Heart.'"

Mark Tan, writing in the Vegas Visitor, reported that Conn already has several bids from recording labels to record some of his own compositions. Tan said Conn's new single "has all the makings of a monster hit."

Mr. Conn is a graduate of Martin High School and is a son of Mr. and Mrs.

MIGRAINE PREVALENT

Migraine headaches affect from 10 to 20 percent of the world's population. Four out of five sufferers are children of a migraine-afflicted parent, the Reader's Digest notes in its August issue. One positive note: migraines tend to decline or disappear completely by the time the patient reaches his 50s and 60s.

Committee To Help With Development Of Industrial Sites

Frankfort, Ky.—Development Secretary William L. Short has announced the formation of a new interagency committee administered by the Development Cabinet to aid in the identification and development of multi-county industrial sites.

John Reed, executive assistant for community and regional relations in the Development Cabinet, will serve as chairman for the Industrial Site Technical Planning Committee, the function of which will be to review and make recommendations for the planning and implementation of multi-county industrial sites throughout Kentucky.

"We will serve as a clearing house for proposals for industrial sites and will attempt to make some judgment as to the feasibility of such projects," Reed said. "In effect, we will be a screening committee for applications for site funding through such programs as the Economic Development Administration (304 Program), Appalachian Regional Commission, Kentucky Industrial Development Finance Authority, Coal Severance Economic Aid Funds and the Area Development Fund Program.

Although the committee's initial thrust will be multi-county or regional sites, local industrial site plans will also come under review by the committee, added Reed. "We hope our efforts will add coordination to the continued industrial development of the many potential sites available throughout Kentucky," said Reed.

In addition to Reed, the following persons will serve on the committee: Lowell McCourt, Department of Transportation; Frank Stanonis, Commissioner of the Bureau of Environmental Protection; Nicholas Keiffer, director for industrial development forhe L & N Railroad; Wibby Pratt, executive assistant for developmental planning for the Development Cabinet; Tom Fields, director of industrial development for the Commerce Department; Gene Cline, Commerce Department eastern Kentucky representative; Earl Kerrick Commerce Department Community Services division; and the director of the Kentucky Industrial Development Finance Authority (KIDFA). The position of KIDFA director is currently vacant

Reed said the Industrial Site Technical Planning Committee will meet as needed to assess site development proposals.

On July 3, 1775, 18 days after his appointment by Continental Congress as commander-in-chief of the Continental Army, George Washington took command of the forces besieging the British at Boston.

For the first time in the last few years the board was able to place teacher-aides in the remedial reading program. At one time 55 aides were employed, but loss of Title I funds eliminated their services. Now, funds are available to place 34.

The board approved an order declaring that an emergency exists in roofing conditions at various schools and asked state department approval of reroofing work to be done. It is estimated that the work will cost $100,000 or more.

The retirement resignation of Mrs. Nannie Hall, veteran librarian at Mc-Dowell, was accepted. The high bid of $525 offered by Clifford Reynolds for old school bus No. 10 also was approved. Fleet insurance was awarded to the Big Sandy Insurance Agency. All regulations and policies applying to Title IX were adopted by the board.

The court directed County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson to notify Wells to appear before the court at 10 a.m. August 23, and it requested commissioners of the David Water District also to appear at the same time.

Although the purchase of the Floyd County and District 4 sanitation franchises and equipment has not been formally effected, the court accepted at Monday's meeting an invoice of $10,000 from District 4 and one of $30,000 from Floyd Sanitation. It was said the invoices must be submitted to the Coal Severance Tax Board for approval. Magistrate Dewey Roberts voted against accepting the invoices, and County Judge Henry Stumbo did not vote.

The court's offers to buy Floyd Sanitation for $65,000 and District 4 Sanitation for $15,000 were accepted by the owners, late last month.

The court authorized issuance of a $2,000 check to the Senior Citizens' Program for gasoline and repair and maintenance of vehicles used in the program, also a $500 check to the McDowell PTA for reimbursement for recreational supplies.

The court will meet again Friday, and at that time it is expected to consider, among other matters, a notice received from Sheriff Joe W. Lewis that each month hereafter he will bill the court for summoning jurors. Pointing out that for several months this service has been rendered County Judge Stumbo's court by Sam Hale, county detective, Sheriff Lewis said he as sheriff is allowed $1 for each juror summoned in either court, county or circuit, and that Kentucky statute provides that the sheriff shall summon all jurors.

at one time faced. He explained that the board ended the school year "in the black" for several reasons, some of which were careful handling of funds, accurate estimates of receipts and expenditures, interest earnings on general fund and bond fund balances, a formula in effect last year by which state funds were received on a per pupil basis rather than the old Minimum Foundation formula based on the number of teachers, and an increase in the property tax.

The interest earnings, Mr. Brackett said, totalled $65,490.59. Earnings on bond money for school construction, however, may not be used except on the schools where construction was funded.

He said new problems face the board this year because the state return to the old Minimum Foundation formula of funding and because of feared fuel cost increases, among others.

The school tax rate for this year has been increased from 52.4 cents per $100 property valuation to 52.6 cents.

Some Asians need your prayers during the bicentennial...

and your help.

Americans have a lot to thank God for. During this country's 200th birthday, we're often reminded of that. In other parts of the world, many people have not had our prosperity. Right now, in Asia, millions of them are starving to death. Floods and earthquakes have left others homeless and penniless — and family-less. The God we worship expects us to help them. Join with others at your local church or synagogue and help make this world — and this country — a better place.

Welcome God to America's bicentennial... practice what you pray.

In Region 11 Dr. Henry Campbell, director of Prestonsburg Community College, and Thomas Michael Adams, of Salyersville, were replaced on the board by Jay Blevins, former Printer miner who is president of the East Kentucky Citizens for Better Health Care, and Mrs. Emma McClain, of Lookout—both representing the low-income group. The other member from this region is Dr.

Sallye H. Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, regional health planner, said this week the health systems agency is now preparing to form sub-area councils. In Region 11, she said, ballots will be mailed to all members so that "the election will be as democratic as possible." Severaal have been nominated for the sub-area council but more nominees are needed, she said.

Mrs. Stumbo added that more members are also needed. (In Region 11 there are only about 500 members in an area of 134,000 population.) Membership may be attained simply by signing a statement signifying the signator's desire to be a member of the agency. There is no obligation or responsibility involved, the health planner said.

Reorganization of the board of directors was effected at a meeting held at Winchester, which will be headquarters for the health agency.

Charles M. Dupier, Jr., of Williamsburg, president of the EKHSA board, expressed concern at the meeting that the new health planning group is underfunded. It will encouage proper distribution of hospitals, nursing homes and other health services and approve funding requests from community mental health centers and other health programs.

"We won't be able to employ enough staff," Dupier said. The federal government has reduced EKHSA funding from $273,000 to $259,027 for the first year.

He complained that the federal government has done a great deal to deter the program by forcing the reorganization of the thirty-member board.

Barbourville Attorney Charles DiSalvo said, however, "The planning effort has been strengthened, Congress intended that all strata (of society) be represented."

This old straw of mine wasn't a day older than two years when remarks made about it at home and, so to speak, abroad finally caused me to lay it aside. It is destined for a heap of curiosa which may include a high-button shoe or so and part of a celluloid collar.

I could go into the arguments that passed back and forth before I surrendered, but they aren't very convincing. Who wears a hat, anyhow? Neither Jerry Ford nor Jimmy Carter. And I could have replied that Harry Truman was the last President to wear a hat, and look what the barehead brigade that followed him got into, and so on, but let's get along with this jeremiad.

Here I am, prancing around town, shirt-sleeved and head bared, and now I know how that acquaintance of some years back felt when he laid aside the .38 which he had "packed" on his hip for half a lifetime. I catch myself glancing down, now and then, just checking to see if I have my pants on.

Moreover, the absence of the hat hasn't had any beneficial effect on me mentally. (I always was one who needed the shade for any spell of cerebration.) Only last Saturday, I left a grocery store here, climbed into the back seat beside the grocery bags, hauled out the ignition key and would have started the car if there had been any place for the key. Fortunately, the wife was in the front seat,

Co. Road Aid To Increase

Frankfort, Ky.—Final apportionments to Kentucky's local governments for highway aid show that this year's funding for the County Road Aid (CRA) program will increase 37.6 per cent over the previous year.

According to state Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, the $17.9 million expected to be collected through the state motor fuels tax for this program during the current fiscal year is $4.9 million more than the amount appropriated for the 1975-'76 fiscal period.

Roberts said that this year, for the first time, the CRA program is financed under a statute which provides that nine-tenths cent of the tax collected on each gallon of motor fuel sold in the state is set aside for allocation to the counties through the CRA program.

Previously, this program was funded through legislative apportionment. As of July 1 of this year, the CRA program will be supported by the tax which also supports the state's rural secondary and the municipal aid road program.

CRA is the oldest of the three local aid programs administered by the state Department of Transportation. It was established in 1936 and is used primarily for the maintenance of county roads.

Funding apportionments for rural secondary roads, the largest of the three programs, also is expected to gain 4.3 per cent in available funds this fiscal year. Founded in 1948, it is financed by two cents of every nine collected in motor fuel tax. The total amount available for apportionment to the counties during 1975-'76 was $37.8 million.

Apportionments under the municipal aid program, the newest of the three revenue sharing systems, will increase about five per cent, Roberts said. The estimate is $9.9 million for the current year, as compared with just over $9.4 million one year ago.

The municipal aid program also draws its funds from the motor fuel tax, receiving one-half cent of every nine collected.

The program was created in 1973 to assist incorporated communities—and eligible unincorporated urban areas—meet the rising costs of maintaining and improving their city streets.

Sutphin Participates In Ambassador Program

Jon Sutphin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sutphin, 613 Buckingham Lane, Lexington, and former residents of Prestonsburg, was selected to visit Europe and Russia this summer as a participant of the 4-H Citizen Ambassador Program.

The group of 34 youths traveled by air, bus and boat as they experienced home stays with host families in England, the Netherlands and Germany, visited with European 4-H groups and toured historical sites. The trip required 38 days and included England, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Netherlands and Russia.

A senior at Tates Creek High School, young Sutphin has been outstanding in 4-H Club work for several years. He is a teen leader of 6- to 10-year-old boys and has won blue ribbons at Bluegrass and State Fairs and in 1971 was selected Fayette county's outstanding 4-H boy.

His grandparents are Mrs. Johnnie Crisp and Mrs. S. J. Sutphin, of Prestons-

Tour Guides at Old Capitol Credited with Humorous Ballad

Frankfort, Ky.—The nicest thing about collaborating in song-writing with a group is that you have a ready-made, onhand, a capella choir for immediate performance.

The young tour guides at the Old State Capitol here discovered that recently when they turned out "The Ballad of William Goebel," a six-stanza tribute. of sorts, to the state's martyred governor who was assassinated in 1900.

Goebel was shot down in front of the Old Capitol Building here while en route to a General Assembly session on his contested election. A plaque outside marks where he fell and his bronze statue stands on the lawn.

Taking advantage of a lull between escorting groups of school children and tourists through the newly renovated Old Capitol, the guides turned out the following ballad to the tune of "El Paso." "Down on the streets of Old Frankfort,

Dear Willie Goebel was shot to the

An Old Wagon Bridge

I have always thought how interesting it would be if inanimate objects could talk. If this were possible, many old landmarks that are now being eroded with the passage of time could tell a very interesting story. Since this is not possible, I would like to act as the selfappointed spokesman for the old wagon bridge at Limestone.

At the time this bridge was constructed, Limestone was a thriving, prosperous town on the C. & O. railroad, three miles west of Olive Hill. Around the turn of the century, scores of people rode horseback or walked across this bridge to take their first ride on a passenger train.

In the early 1900's it was thought if you lived very far from the railroad that you were a hick, a hayseed, or at least a back number. It is surprising how long this attitude lingered. Somehow the individual's knowledge of worldly affairs was equated with the distance he lived from the path of the "Iron Horse". As late as the '30's, I heard a young man read some of the material that he had collected for a thesis for an M.A. degree. His material was about the amphibians of Appalachia. His material was quite good but he presented it in a very folksy manner. After he had finished, he asked, 'Are there any questions?" A student from the back of the room inquired, "How far do you live from the railroad?"

The passenger train did not penetrate deep into the Big Sandy country till later in the 1900's. In the late fall, oldtimers would make the long trek through the mountains, walk across the new bridge at Limestone, and wait patiently for hours to get their first glimpse of a passenger

The story is told of an old lady who had never seen a passenger train. She had expressed a wish to take a ride on the train before she died. Her granddaughters brought her to Limestone to take the ride to Olive Hill. They were standing on the platform, waiting for the train to arrive. As the train rounded the curve, the engineer gave a sharp toot on the whistle. The old lady almost leaped from the platform. One of her granddaughter's said, "Grandma, you are going to back out: you are not going to ride it." The old lady replied, "Oh, yes, I will, I'll ride it when it gets here if it's as big as a cow

As strange as it may seem in this modern age, this old bridge was one of the most modern in this section of the country when it was constructed near the turn of the century. The first beasts of burden to cross it were the slow plodding oxen with cumbersome wagons, heavily laden with tanbark. Even these unexcitable creatures were a bit leary about walking across the surface of this newfangled bridge. It was so constructed that the wood floor did not rest on the solid beams of steel but was cradled on long, slender slats of steel that were, in turn, supported by four lattice-like strips of steel suspended from the overhead beams. This caused the floor to give off a hollow sound like walking on the head of

Even the surefooted mule was frightened by this hollow, ringing sound. Sometimes it was necessary to get off the wagon and lead the mules across by the bridles. I feel quite sure that no wagon bridge had a wider variety of materials hauled across its surface.

In the early days this was one of the main arteries of transportation that provided an outlet to the railroad for the western half of Elliott county. Wagons came through Grocery Gap and followed the old trail down Thompson Branch to Limestone. Hundreds of tons of tanbark, thousands of hand-hewn crossties and countless numbers of hogsheads of tobacco were shipped by freight from Limestone. There was a keg factory in the bottom below the bridge. They manufactured kegs or barrels which were transported across the bridge and shipped to various places throughout the country. Also, thousands of stave and stave bolts were loaded on freight cars here and shipped to various places. Many thousands of gallons of liquor were hauled across this bridge from the Eli Johnson Wholesale Distillery on Sinking Creek in Elliott county. I should also mention that a railroad bridge was built across Tygart Creek about a hundred yards downstream from the wagon bridge. It served one of the largest rock quarries in this section of the country at that time. It was located near where the new Pentecostal Church now stands. For a long number of years, it was operated under the efficient management of Watt Hillman, who now resides in Olive Hill.

For a short time in the '20's, Limestone became the blackberry capital of Eastern Kentucky. The Raybourn Store at Lawton did a land office business in this same product during this same period. At this time, there were some six passenger trains through Limestone each day. There were two local passenger trains, 26 going west, and 27 going east. One day the conductor, who lived in Ashland, picked up a bucket of berries at Limestone. The word was spread around Ashland and scores of people came on 26, had their buckets filled with berries, and returned the same day on 27. At the height of the season, two or three hundred gallons of berries were transported from Limestone and Lawton in this manner each day.

Another thing that accounted for much traffic across this old wagon bridge was that two of the largest stores in Elliott county received all their merchandise at the freight station at Limestone. James McFarlin, of Gimlet, and S. L. Green, of Ibex, had wagons on the road, daily.

This old bridge is still standing, but is no longer in use for cars and trucks. There are still a few floor boards in the center that provide a walkway. All of the steel seems to be well preserved.

Safe Hunter Courses Scheduled by State

Frankfort, Ky., August 9-The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources has scheduled safe hunter certification courses in each of Kentucky's nine wildlife districts.

The classes, to be conducted by the department's Division of Conservation Education, are designed to prepare hunters for the written and shooting exams required for a Safe Hunter Certificate. Following instruction, the certification test will be given.

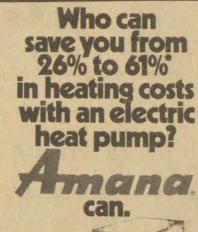

Though Kentucky hunters presently do not need the certificate, 23 other states require it before any hunting license will be issued. Among these are such big game states as Arizona, Colorado Montana and New Mexico.

Hunter safety instruction is scheduled August 26-28 at Prestonsburg Community

Instruction will begin at 6:30 p.m. (local prevailing time) and continue until 9:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. Attendance is required at all sessions to qualify as a safe hunter. There is no fee for the classes.

Bill Bell, director of conservation education, is urging prospective participants to register as early as possible "In this event we feel enough participants haven't signed up," says Bell, the course could be cancelled at that location.

Interested persons should contact the Division of Conservation Education, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call 502-564-4762. Additional information and a registration form will be mailed to them.

eliminating fraud in Kentucky's public assistance program, begins this month, according to Commissioner Gail S. Huecker of the Bureau of Social Insurance, Department for Human Resources.

"All cases suspected of intentional misrepresentation will be referred to local county attorneys who will be responsible for starting court action, Commissioner Huecker said.

The bureau's income maintenance supervisors will work with county attorneys and testify in court proceedings when necessary

"This is part of our ongoing efforts to make sure all people receiving assistance are, in fact, eligible," said Commissioner Huecker.

Since last year, state law requires that public assistance recipients over age 18

Frankfort, Ky.-Aid to Families with have social security cards. Using the Dependent Children, a new approach to social security number, income reported by the client is compared to records kept by the bureau's unemployment insurance office, explained the Commissioner.

This system is already used by many states. Some states, including Kentucky, also use a computer program which compares social security benefits reported by clients to records kept by the federal Social Security Administration. In the future, wage records will be compared to reported income by computer process for all Kentucky counties.

"In most instances we find that clients have reported their income correctly if they have any at all," Commissioner Huecker said.

The U.S. Department HEW provides about 70 percent of the funds for the state's Aid to Families with Dependent Children Program. It is estimated that less than five per cent of the total being paid to assistance families in Kentucky is to clients suspected of misrepresen-

Referrals to the Jefferson County attorney will be delayed since there are approximately 150 cases of probable misrepresentation to be prepared.

Should the state supreme court's chief justice be empowered to call statewide or regional grand juries when necessary?

Questions such as these are fermenting now in at least two studies designed to cope with one impact of the new judical article approved by Kentucky voters last November.

Currently, most are paid from money derived from fines, court costs and bond

Frankfort, Ky.-Should Kentucky have forfeitures, though a few urban areas already have shelved the fee system. Thus, 112 years hence about 170 prosecutors will have no pay unless other arrangements are made for them.

The prosecutor has perhaps the most important role in the criminal justice

As Atty. Gen. Robert Stephens said, "He is a sort of quarterback" in the operation.

Most observers realize the commonwealth's attorney has a profound effect on grand juries, sometimes writing their reports or influenceing their indictments.

And they know a county or commonwealth's attorney can determine the intensity of prosecution-or lack of it.

'The state recognizes that since it's going to get the court fees and costs under the new system it should pay the prosecutors," Stephens said.

But that assumption raises many questions anew. How much should prosecutors receive? Should they work fulltime? Which should have how many assistants and investigators? How much secretarial help and office equipment?

'We now have a potentially unified and integrated judicial system and also a full public defender program," Stephens said. "It's incumbent on us to have the same in the prosecutor field."

To try to come up with answers, the attorney general's office is studying the system and options under a $50,000 grant from the Kentucky Crime Commission.

It has proceeded on two roads to get some suggestions for a bill for the legislative special session next fall, when judicial reform will come up.

-The National Association of Attorneys General has been hired to go over the entire topic and offer possible solutions to all the problems. Included will be the estimated costs of a unified prosecutor setup.

-An oversight committee has been appointed to work with Stephens on the same matter, and it includes representatives of the commonwealth's and county attorneys.

Stephens said he and other interested law officials also recently visited North Carolina, from where the proposed judicial article was borrowed for last November's referendum, and South Carolina which like Kentucky is about to implement the article.

The report from the attorneys general organization, which has a branch in Lexington, may be on Stephens' desk by mid-August. The oversight committee will meet here one week later.

Among the proposals may be those for a specialized prosecutors, statewide grand juries and substitute prosecutors for sensitive areas.

Stephens said he is keeping a low profile on the subject.

Couple To Observe 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Robinette will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Dewey Honaker, 504 Scott Ave., Pikeville.

In this, our Bicentennial Year, let's have for our motto: "We care." Let's be deeply concerned about the defiling of our land by garbage and the pollution of our streams. Let's have for our goal:

"America, the Beautiful. Our fair land still has much beauty left, even after man has destroyed a lot of it. We can keep what we have and add to it. Let us begin in our own backyard, on our own street. If one neighbor has a beautiful flower garden, this will inspire others to plant more flowers. The Creator endowed this earth with beautiful flowers and flowering shrubs, because He knew man had to have beauty to feed his soul and inspire his heart.

light destroys darkness. Let's have a program for improving and beautifying our environment.

1. Organize groups or workers who will help to clean up our roadsides and streams of all garbage and unsightly, broken-down furniture. Some of this might be salvaged and used again.

2. Plant more flowers in yard or garden. Roses are a must, and rambler roses add a scenic touch on a porch trellis.

3. Let's set out more ornamental trees and flowering shrubs. Beautiful evergreens, such as holly and eastern hemlock, are highly desirable for planting, as ornamentals or as a border. The hemlock (spruce pine) makes an excellent shade and is fine to attract warblers and other birds.

4. Roadsides can be beautified by planting dogwoods and redbuds.

5. Organize a tree-planting campaign and enlist our young people in this great work. Who plants a tree, plants his future hope and faith in the good works of Beauty destroys ugliness, the same as nature. He also contributes something of value to future generations.

6. There are many varieties of beautiful shrubs suitable for lawn or for borders. Among these are: Pink azaleas and flame azaleas, the great laurel (rhododendron), mountain laurel, the holly, the fringe tree, which is a fine ornamental producing clusters of white blossoms that shimmer and dance in the slightest breeze. The blossoms have a sweet perfume

7. The wild Sweet Crabapple is a medium-sized tree, which is easily transplanted. It produces an abundance of pink blossoms, which fill the air with sweet perfume. It also bears the small crabapples highly prized for making tart

8. Let our motto be: Change ugliness into beauty. Be a crusader this Bicentennial Year for building a better environment; vigorously oppose those who despoil the environment. A ghastly destruction of the environment is wrought by strip-mining. While it is necessary for the sake of our economy, still we should insist on 100 pct. reclamation of the land, by sowing grass and setting out useful trees instead of thorny locusts.

9. Let's keep a sharp watch for polluters of the environment; we need laws to prevent strewing of garbage; it should be a heavy fine to scatter garbage, especially along roadsides. Those who are caught dumping garbage along roadsides or in streams should be reported and fined.

College Seminar To Study Needs

"Community and Continuing Education" will be the topic to be discussed at a workshop to be held at Prestonsburg Community College next Tuesday afternoon, Invited to the workshop are community leaders and educators who are concerned with community and continuing education.

The program, which will begin at 1 p.m. in the college auditorium, will include a statement on the "Philosophy and Direction of the Community Service Program at Prestonsburg Community College," by James Ratcliff, coordinator of Community Services. Later, a panel of community leaders will discuss what people in the service area of Prestonsburg Community College expect of their college in the way of continuing education. The discussion will seek to find ways in which the college, other agencies and the general community can join together in efforts to offer educational opportunities to all of its citizens. All participants will be invited to ask questions and share their ideas.

Featured speaker will be George Eyster, executive director, Appalachian Adult Education Demonstration Center, Morehead State University. His topic will "The Community College Faculty and the Personnel of Other Agencies Cooperating To Provide Comprehensive Community and Continuing Education.'

Dr. Charles Wethington, assistant vicepresident of the University of Kentucky Community College System, will conclude the program with a discussion of Standard IX and its implementation by the University of Kentucky Community College System.

LOST OUR LEASE

To the People of Prestonsburg and Surrounding Area:

We at Shoppers Choice are sorry, but the owner wants his building. Due to the fact that it took longer to get construction under way than we had planned for our new store, we have been thrown off schedule. As it is, the owner let us have the building longer than we had leased it for originally and now he needs his building.

"WE WILL BE BACK" with a bigger and better Shoppers Choice store in the new Shoppers Square Shopping Center to better serve our great customers of this area.

Thank you for your past support and looking forward to your support in the future.

Hazard Forester Retires Recently

FRANKFORT, Ky.-Walter N. Green, an area fire control supervisor for the state forestry division at Hazard, recently retired after 38 years of service with the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Environmental Resources

Green first began working with the forestry division in October, 1928, when he was employed as chief warden for the Red Bird Forest fire protection unit at Peabody. At that time, fire protection was arranged by an agreement with individual landowners who paid the state a small amount each year. Prior to joining the division, he had been employed by the Civilian Conservation Corporation as a foreman.

In 1945, Green moved to Pineville where he became a supervisor of the Kentucky Ridge State Forest. Three years later, he moved to Wooten where he headed a special program of fire tower, road and telephone line construction.

CHILD'S DEATH, CITIZEN PROTEST SLOW COAL HAULERS IN DAVID

Since February, when a community improvement council was organized in David, residents of the town have sought ways to slow down the daily caravan of coal trucks, which, citizens say, speed through the narrow streets of the town, endangering life and property. Their protests, which had made little headway, were intensified last Thursday after the tragic hit-and-run death a day earlier of a three-year-old child on nearby Howard Branch, in Magoffin county.

A spokesman for the David citizens' group said the incident involving a coal truck which regularly hauled through the community and which took the life of Jackie Shepherd, of Fredville (see story elsewhere in this issue) served to remind residents of the gravity of the problem.

"We realized that the little boy who was killed could just as easily have been one of our children," said Mrs. Dorothy

A group of about 40 residents visited each of the four tipples which operate in the David area and were granted permission by officials to erect posters in tipple loading areas.

The posters, which read, "Our children's lives are at stake. Let your conscience be your guide," were apparently effective, as Mrs. Clark reported that truck drivers for the past week had obeyed the posted 25-mile-perhour speed limit and in many cases traveled even slower.

A petition, bearing the names of 85 David residents as well as several from Magoffin county and other sections of Floyd county, has also been sent to coal companies urging the observance of legal speed limits, it was reported.

FORMER HAIR STYLIST GETS CONTRACT TO PRODUCE FILMS

LOS ANGELES—Former hair stylist Jon Peters has signed a multiple-picture contract with Columbia Pictures.

Peters made his debut as a producer with "A Star Is Born," starring Barbara Streisand and Kris Kristofferson. His first film for Columbia will be "Eyes," described as "a highly stylized murder suspense drama set against the romantic background of the high-fashion world.'

Truck Driver Held After Child Killed On Howard Branch

A Stella, Ky. coal truck driver has been arrested by Kentucky State Police in connection with the hit-and-run death last Wednesday of three-year-old Jackie Shepherd, of Fredville, Magoffin county.

The victim, a son of Hazel Shepherd, was struck by a coal truck allegedly driven by Jim Stephens, 50, as the child attempted to cross the Howard Branch Road (Ky 404), near the Floyd-Magoffin county line. The youth was dead on arrival at Highlands Regional Medical Center here Wednesday morning.

Investigating Trooper Joel Newsome said an eyewitness to the accident told him the driver of the coal truck tried to stop and skidded more than 120 feet, stopped for a moment and then kept

Stephens has been charged with reckless homicide and failure to stop and

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT STEPHENS Attorney General

Consumer fraud-the "con game"has taken a thousand different forms over the course of as many years, and yet one thing has always been true of it: A grieving family is the con man's delight. The con man knows that persons in grief over the loss of a family member are the most vulnerable to empty, emotionallycharged sales pitches. All he need do is offer some product in memory of the deceased. Complaints recently registered with Kentucky's Consumer Protection Division show that his oldest and most unprincipled "sting" is operating effectively even today.

Fraudulent enterprises can enter the lives of mourning families by simply following the obituary columns of local newspapers. They then usually telephone or visit the families, taking orders for such things as portraits of the deceased or Bibles bearing the deceased's name.

The family member, emotionally susceptible to anything involving the deceased, places an order and pays in advance. You can guess the all-tofrequent result: The ordered merchandise never arrives, and the salesman is nowhere to be found. The grieving family has been most morbidly

Of course, not all businesses that direct their sales at families of the deceased are fraudulent. Some are legitimate businesses wishing only to sell their special line of products and provide a service to, rather than take advantage of, grieving families. But how to tell the differnce between these firms and the frauds? It's not difficult it you will keep several things in mind:

First, be especially careful of any offer relating to a deceased family member or friend. Recognize that your emotions for the deceased can work against the business sense you would normally be

Secondly, inquire how the salesperson gained knowledge of the death. A legitimate salesperson should readily admit to his source, whereas a con man may be thrown off his pitch.

Third, be even more careful if the offer requires that you make full or substantial payment in advance of delivery. If full payment is required, inquire about the guarantee you have against failure to

HUSSEIN VISITS SAUDI ARABIA

NICOSIA, Cyprus-King Hussein of Jordan began a short visit to Saudi Arabia Saturday, flying to King Khaled's summer palace in Taed, the official 8-11-4t-pd. Saudi Radio reported.

Finally, if the offer is made at your door or on the phone, give yourself a day or two to think it over; don't be pressured into an immediate decision. Any legitmate salesperson should be happy to contact you again.

Remember: There are those who would take advantage of you and think nothing of it. Their best opportunity is often when you're in grief.

If you have any questions about such sales, or about any consumer problem, you may wish to contact the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40601. Though complaints are best handled through receipt of your letter, emergency situations can be handled by calling the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

Recession or Not, Heck's Had Record Sales, Report Says

Hecks, which will open its eighth Kentucky store here August 23, had in 1975, a so-called "recession year," record net sales of $151,059,296 and net income of $5,354,852, its president. Russell L. Isaacs, said in the company's annual report. In addition to the eight stores in this state, Hecks has 27 in West Virginia, eight in Ohio and two in Virginia, plus Woodrum's, Village Stores, Goodman Fashions and Lory's Fashion Shops in West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Ohio and Hecks will open here in a new building erected by J. E. H. Development, of Lexington, as a major part of a shopping center located near the Archer Clinic.

Sr. Citizens To Have Day At State Fair, August 26

Louisville, Ky.—Senior Citizens Day at the Kentucky State Fair will be Thursday, August 26, beginning with registration at 10 a.m. in the newly airconditioned east wing of the exposition

"This day has been set aside for senior citizens from all over Kentucky so they can attend and enjoy the State Fair together," said Gov. Julian Carroll. The Institute for Aging will act as host for the day's sponsor, the state Department for Human Resources. Awards will be given to the oldest man and woman attending, the largest group and the group which has traveled the farthest.

All senior citizens are welcome and are encouraged to dress in Early American fashion as a part of this year's Bicentennial celebration. At noon, a fashion show is scheduled for senior citizens who wear Early American costumes.

Entertainment includes continuing talent programs, with groups performing choral, religious and bluegrass music. One of the groups, the McLean County Bicentennial Band, has 20 members, all over 60-year-old.

Senior citizens may watch the video-taping of WAVE-TV's "Morning Show," which will focus on the day's activities. The program will be aired the following

State Fair personnel will operate a free shuttle bus to and from the Fair's activities for the senior citizens. From 7 a.m. to noon, the Fair admission will be discounted to $1.50 per car or bus-load.

Notice to Property Owners In Mays Branch Area

Notice is hereby given to property owners in the Mays Branch Area of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky that Ordinance No. 10-76 was adopted by the City Council of such City on July 1, 1976, authorizing the construction and financing of a sewer improvement project pursuant to Chapter 107.030 of Kentucky Revised Statutes, affecting the property known as Mays Branch Area, duly incorporated as a part of the City of Prestonsburg, Ky. Such Ordinance provides that such sewer improvements shall be financed according to the assessed value of the property within such area. Such Ordinance was published in the Floyd County Times on July 7, 1976, and a copy of same is on file in the office of the City Clerk for public inspection.

Pursuant to KRS 107.060, any owner of property benefited by the proposed project, may within thirty days after passage and publication of such Ordinance, (a) file an action in the Circuit Court of Floyd County, Kentucky, seeking relief by declaratory judgment, injunction or otherwise, or (b) file in the office of the City Clerk, at the City Hall, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, a written, notarized statement of intent to file such an action, endorsed by a licensed attorney at law, to the effect that, in his opinion, his client has a reasonable and legitimate probable cause for such proposed litigation, in which event the time for filing such action shall be extended for fifteen days after the date on which such statement is filed. It is further provided that after the lapse of time as provided therein, all actions by owners of property to be benefited shall be forever barred.

Therefore, unless action is taken by owners of such properties within thirty days after the publication of this Notice, all actions by owners of properties to be benefited shall be forever barred.

Bluefield Coal Show Set Sept. 9, 10, 11

Bluefield, W. Va.-With all the exhibit space under contract, final touches are being put on plans for the revival of the famous Bluefield Coal Show at the Brushfork Armory-Civic Center September 9-10-11.

The latest in mining equipment and supplies will be shown by 100 manufacturers and suppliers from over the nation with the more ponderous machines demonstrated on the outside of the Armory. In all, there will be 205 exhibit spaces, according to Charles A. Peters, general chairman of the event, produced by the Greater Bluefield Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsors emphasize that the three-day exhibit, revived after a lapse of several years, is "A coal show for coal people." Admission, while free, will be limited to those in mining or related businesses so that exhibitors can better display their products. "It decidedly is not a festival," Peters, himself a coal preparation plant builder, explained.

Coal companies are being asked to preregister their employees to expedite admission to the show, whose hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. the first two days and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. the final day

Citizens of Bluefield, remembering the prestige of the old show which was held off and on for three decades, are enthusiastically cooperating to make its 1976 revival a success. The Pocahontas Electrical & Mechanical Institute will help set up the displays, the Quota Club will handle registration, the Junior Women's Club will furnish booth hostesses, and the Fraternal Order of Police and Rescue Squad will handle security and first aid.

Panel Okays $1.53 Million For East Kentucky Projects

Frankfort, Ky.-A coal severance tax advisory panel yesterday recommended approval of $516,000 for 32 recreational projects in Pike County

The panel also recommended approval of $400,000 in the severance tax surplus money for a Knott county courthouse to replace the one which was heavily damaged by fire and $500,000 for road improvement projects in Letcher county.

All totaled, the seven-member panel recommended approval of $1,640,502 in coal tax money for 44 projects in eight

Of the projects receiving approval yesterday 40 totaling $1,530,430 in coal money were for five Eastern Kentucky counties-Knott, Knox, Letcher, Pike and Rockcastle All allocations made to the coalproducing counties under the old severance tax revenue sharing program adopted in 1974 must be reviewed or recommended by the panel-although it has no real power to reject them. The projects approved by the panel must be okayed by Finance and Administration Secretary Russell McClure before the funds are released. This has generally been a routine step.

State Rep. Clayton Little, D-Hartley, a member of the committee, said the $516,000 for Pike county is for 32 recreational facilities to be located at elementary and high schools.

In April, when Pike county first submitted the proposal for recreational facilities the committee refused to recommend the approval of $604,188 for

Committee members said at the time they couldn't approve a project for which the county didn't even list the sites where the recreational facilities were to be Little said the original plan, whih he opposed, called for the building of two or three large county parks with swimming

He told the committee in a county as large an area as Pike the parks would not have been readily accessible to many people. He also said by locating the facilities-which include tennis and basketball courts and baseball fields-on school properties the cost of purchasing property is eliminated. And the representative added it will enhance the school's physical educational programs.

The following is a money breakdown of the projects: Bevins Elementary, $14,300; Dorton High, $41,000; Elkhorn City High, $52,600; Fern Creek High, $14,300; Freeburn Elementary, $800; G. P. Officials from the Department of Local Government, the agency which does much of the administrative work involved in administration of the program, reported funding of some previously approved recreational facilities at schools has been held up for lack of legal agreements between different governmental bodies.

The committee has previously adopted a policy that any facilities for schools must be open to the public during nonschool hours and events and the local fiscal court must agree to this.

A department official said the problem has been that attorneys for three state agencies-the Departments for Finance and Administration, Education and the attorney general-have not been able to

KPA May Test Lump Sum Pay Audit Reports

Frankfort, Ky.-An opinion issued from the state attorney general's office to the general counsel for the Kentucky Press Association maintains that only one lump sum of salaries paid to teachers and other school employees must be shown in financial statements in newspapers, and KPA may file suit for a declaratory judgment to clarify the issue. Charles A. Runyan, assistant deputy attorney general, wrote in the opinion to Michael L.

"The practical result of this clearly expressed legislative intent is that the newspaper the carrying financial statement will get paid for publishing the lump sum statement of total salary paid to all teachers and employes, but it will not get paid for publishing the factual list of individual salaries by the name of recipient."

The local school boards must furnish lists of individual salaries to newspapers under the law, but publication is at the discretion and expense of the newspaper, the opinion reads.

Board Approves Riverview Manor For More Beds

Application of Riverview Manor's application for the addition of 11 intermediate care beds to its alreadyapproved Certificate of Need authorizing construction here of a facility containing 49 intermediate care and 56 skilled nursing care beds was approved by the state Certificate of Need and Licensure Board at its recent meeting.

The board's action clears the way for construction according to Riverview Manor's plans, but a contract is not expected to be awarded till late this year.

The two-story facility will be built on a two-acre tract purchased from the Mayo heirs, just south of Briarwood here. The 11 additional intermediate care beds will give Riverview 60 beds for this type of care, which is for persons who with intermittent nursing and continuous supervisory help can care for themselves. The addition will add an estimated $220,000 to the original cost estimate of $860,000.

Riverview Manor will be built by the owners of Mountain Manor here and Mountain Manor of Pikeville: H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Tom G. Dingus, Dr. J. D. Adams and Jack Absher.

Other construction-Highlands Manor at Pikeville and Bel-Aire at Ashland-is problematical, although both have been approved by the Certificate of Need and Licensure Board.

In other action the board at its recent meeting approved: -Daniel Boone Convalescent Center, Morehead, to convert 34 beds from personal care to intermediate care.

-Johnson Family Care Home, West Liberty, to establish a three-bed family

-Campbell Family Care Home, Grayson, to establish a three-bed family

-Ison Family Care Home, Ashland, to establish a three-bed family care home. -Smith Family Care Home, Ashland, to establish a three-bed family care

-Suttles Family Care Home, Ashland, to establish a three-bed family care

-King's Daughters' Hospital, Ashland, to reduce the pediatric beds by five (from 32 to 27), and to use the space for home health service.

-Jones Family Care Home, Beaver, to cease operation.

-Wellman Ambulance Service, Inez, to cease operation, as requested by operator and recommended by the Big Sandy Comprehensive Health Planning Council and the state Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

-Big Sandy Valley Ambulance Service, Paintsville, to establish a conforming ambulance service.

The application of the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital, Hazard, was approved with the stipulation that the hospital provide evidence of linkages with existing services.

The board denied the application of the Roark Family Care Home, Ashland, to stablish a three-bed family care home. Since five members of the family are living at the home, the applicant would need to install a second bathroom in order to meet license standards.

The board also rescinded an earlier denial of a Certificate of Need to the Hazard Nursing Home, Hazard, and referred it back to the state Comprehensive Health Planning Council. This action was taken because the regional health plan is being revised; the new regional plan will affect the Hazard facility's application.

The certificate of Big Sandy Health Care, Inc., Prestonsburg, extended until the day after the next meeting of the board, Sept. 8.

Contract Awarded For Harlan Work

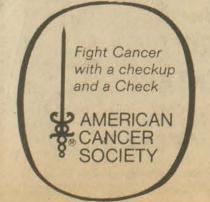

Frankfort, Ky.-The Kentucky Department of Transportation has awarded its second major contract within 30 days for the reconstruction of US 119 in Harlan county.

According to State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, the contract was awarded to R. R. Dawson Bridge Co., of Bloomfield, and Bizzack Brothers Construction Corp., of Frankfort, on a low bid of $4.5 million.

An earlier contract also was awarded to the same two firms late in June on a bid of $4.3 million for grading and drainage construction along US 119 east from a point near Ky 160 for a distance of about two-thirds of one mile.

Roberts said that this latest contract will extend that work from the limits of the previously-approved project near Ky 160 into the vicinity of the western city limits of Cumberland, a distance of about 1.3 miles.

The two contracts also call for the construction of bridges spanning Clover Lick Creek, Looney Creek, Ky 160, the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and the Poor Fork of the Cumberland River.

Named Chairman Governors' Comm.

Frankfort, Ky.-Gov. Julian Carroll today said he counts as a high honor his appointment as chairman of the Natural Resources and Environmental Management Committee of the National Governors' Conference. The appointment was announced by Gov. Cecil Andrus, of Idaho, chairman of the con-

"I have a deep feeling that we in America are on the threshold of a new age of energy independence, coupled with broad and abiding concern for the quality of our environment," Gov. Carroll said.

"I believe that it is a proper test that, as we plan ways to effectively and efficiently put to the best uses possible our nation's vast energy resources, the methods we use must be of a lasting, environmentally sound nature."

Gov. Carroll points out that Kentucky is the nation's leading producer of coal and that coal is the single source of energy that is still in abundance in this country. "Coal and the many ways to tap its power," he said, "are, in my view, a key to a continued economic growth in my Commonwealth and in this nation. I am appreciative that I, as governor of the leading coal state, through this appointment, may be able to help shape policies that could guide this nation, economically and environmentally, for ages to come.

Gov. Carroll has held membership on the committee for the past year, and was a member of the Transportation, Commerce and Technology Committee. In addition, he is presently chairman of the Natural Resources and Environmental Management Committee of the Southern Governors' Conference.

Gov. Carroll's appointment is effective September 15. He will replace Gov. Thomas Salmon of Vermont whose term expires at that time. The committee chairman prior to Gov. Salmon was Democratic Presidential Nominee Jimmy Carter, former Governor of

Paintsville Mining Firm Signs Reclamation Order

Frankfort, Ky.-Jewell Mining of Paintsville has signed an agreed order with the state environmental department to carry out proper reclamation procedures at its Johnson county strip mine operation.

The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection had issued a suspension order July 15, for the firm's failure to maintain adequate silt control, removal of reclamation equipment from the site before completing reclamation, failure to maintain haul roads properly and failure to maintain current seeding.

The coal firm agreed to cease depositing any spoil material in the existing silt structure. The firm will also have an engineer deterime the remaining storage capacity of the structure and submit the figures to the department to review. If the department determines that the silt structure is inadequate, the company has agreed to modify or replace it according to departmental standards. Jewell Mining has agreed to return reclamation equipment to the site and keep it there until reclamation efforts are completed. Agreement has also been reached that the company will repair its haul roads and seed, mulch and fertilize the outslopes and haul road no longer used, in addition to those that are currently in use.

Upon the company's fulfillment of the order's provisions, the environmental department has agreed to rescind its suspension order

EARLY ALPHABET FOUND ON TABLET IN ISRAEL

TEL AVIV-Israeli archaeologists have unearthed a broken clay tablet inscribed with one of the world's first alphabetic scripts.

The shard, or pottery fragment, dating from the 12th century, B. C., was discovered near Tel Aviv, Prof. Moshe Cohavi of Tel Aviv University said Saturday.

'The table was written only two or three hundred years after alphabetic writing was invented," Cohavi said.

"It provides a missing link in the earliest development of the Hebrew, Greek and Roman alphabets.'

Researchers have still not deciphered the text. The alphabet uses 80 to 85 letters, said Cohavi.

4th Class City Councils Serve Under Fixed Pay

Frankfort, Ky.-Councilmen in a fourth class city are not entitled to additional compensation for special council meetings, according to an opinion issued by the state Attorney General's office.

The opinion was written July 13 in response to a question from Mark E. Edison, city attorney for Shepherdsville. Mr. Edison asked, "If a special meeting of the city council is requested by an individual for some purpose in which the individual is interested and the city council subsequently calls the special meeting for that specific purpose, is it in controversy with any statute to charge some type fee for each councilman to defray expenses for holding the special meeting .

In the opinion, Walter C. Herdman, assistant deputy attorney general, noted that compensation for councilmen, not to exceed $3,000, was to have been fixed under terms of KRS 64.580 no later than the first Monday in May in which such officers were elected, that being in May,

Once the compensation is fixed, it cannot be changed during the councilmen's terms for special meetings or any other reason, Mr. Herdman wrote.

Floyd-Johnson US 23 Sector Shy on Priority

The Times' report in its Aug. 4 edition of the status of the US 23 section between Prestonsburg and Paintsville was generally correct but was inaccurate in its implication that the sector is not included in the Appalachian Regional Commission's highway corridor for the

This explanation of the situation was made by Frans Moravitz, acting ARC director, in a telephone communication with Joseph S. McCauley, executive director of the Big Sandy Area Development District.

Mr. Moravitz explained that the sector of highway in question is low on the priority list of ARC because at the time ARC was created the section of the thennew road between the two county-seats was regarded as the best road in the Big Sandy corridor.

The ARC director added that the corridor system would never be considered complete till the 12-14-mile stretch is four-laned but offered no encouragement as to when that will be

Stewart Victor, assistant to Commissioner Roberts, of the state Department of Highways, had earlier said his department has consistently submitted cost estimates on the road sector to ARC but that it had never succeeded in getting it moved up in the priority ratings.

As plans for US 23 now stand, the highway will be of four lanes, all the way from Catlettsburg to the Kentucky-Virginia line, except for the Prestonsburg-Paintsville gap.

Carroll Appoints New Eddyville Supt.

Frankfort, Ky.-Gov. Julian Carroll, upon the joint recommendation of Justice Secretary John L. Smith and Corrections Commissioner Dr. David Bland, announced today the appointment of Donald E. Bordenkircher Jr., as superintendent of the Kentucky State Penitentiary near Eddyville.
The governor said Bordenkircher's appointment is effective immediately. The new superintendent will fly to Eddyville this afternoon to begin his duties.

The 40-year-old Bordenkircher is a professional penologist, having served nearly 18 years in the corrections field. His most recent assignment was as warden of the maximum security correctional institution in West Virginia. He began his career going through the ranks at San Quentin Prison in

Gov. Carroll said, "We are extremely fortunate to have attracted a man of Bordenkircher's professionalism and experience to head our state penitentiary. His proven expertise in the corrections field will make him an integral and vital link in our goal of making the Commonwealth's corrections system a true model for the nation.

The superintendent's position at the penitentiary has been filled for the past three months in an acting capacity by Ken Brandenburgh, following the resignation of former superintendent of Henry Cowan

Brandenburgh will now return to the state Department of Justice as deputy Secretary Smith said, "The people of Kentucky deserve to know the excellent job Ken has done in his temporary duties, and the high esteem I hold him in. He stepped into an extremely difficult position and made several significant improvements to the institution. I deeply appreciate his accepting these difficult and trying responsibilities, and I am looking forward to getting his tremendous administrative abilities back to work here in Frankfort.'

Bordenkircher was the unanimous selection for the position by the Management Team, which as been leading the restructuring of the Bureau of Corrections for the past three months. In the screening process for the superintendent's spot, the Management Team interviewed over a dozen applicants with intensive interviews conducted with five.

Bordenkircher also served for six years in the U.S. Department of State's Office of Public Safety. He was assigned to Vietnam as deputy assistant public safety officer and deputy chief and senior correctional system.

Dutch See U.S. Via Bike Tour

Frankfort, Ky.-"In Holland the of only American city people busy with bicycle is a means of transportation and nothing more. Where you Americans use cars, we use bicycles," says Peter Ham of Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

There would be nothing unusual about the observation were it not for the fact that Ham, along with three men and one woman from Holland, have been in the U. S. bicycling for nine weeks from Eugene, Ore. on their way to Yorktown, Va.-A trip that figures to be 4,100 miles long. In Kentucky alone, the route is 623 miles.

What has brought them to the United States, along with approximately 70 other Dutch, is the Trans-America Bike-Centennial, but the reasons go beyond the Bicentennial event.

Berand Nout, of Utrecht, The Netherlands, says getting to know different kinds of people, especially the people in rural America, makes the trip worthwhile. "Europeans have an image making money, but in the country we've found it different." Nout and Ham, who are bicycling, also with four Americans, report that the biggest "cities" they traveled through were Missoula, Mont., and Pueblo, Colo.

When interviewed the group was in Bardstown, preparing to see "My Old Kentucky Home." They had entered Kentucky from Cave-In Rock, Ill., and biked to Sebree, where they stayed overnight. The stop prior to biking to Bardstown had been the Abraham Lincoln Birthplace National Historic Site in Hodgenville

The cyclists' impressions of Kentucky were good. "Kentucky is more lovely and is a friendly country, slightly rolling and very green," says Ham. The Europeans compared the land in appearance to southern Holland and Belgium. As for the nation as a whole, the travelers were quick to point out that they found differences between people in different parts of the country. They found Westerners not too sociable, but reported that Mid-westerners in Kansas and Missouri had brought them in off the roads to feed them.

"We were surprised a bit at the differences in the people, but all Americans we have talked with on the trip are extremely proud of their country," says

"We can only make a trip like this on a package basis (bicyclists participating in the Bike-Centennial are getting reduced rates in camping areas across the country), and of course, traveling by bike, it is only costing us $3 or $4 a day,'

The trip for the Dutch was arranged by a student who organized it for a grade in travel studies

WASHINGTON-A method of processing cottonseed has been patented recently for the Agriculture Department. It is described as producing an edible high protein flour eminently suited for human nutrition.

Edw. Ray Attends International Meet

Edward O. Ray, vice president in charge of operations for Kentucky West Virginia Gas Co. recently attended a twoweek international conference in Austria, conducted to consider, in a uniform global framework, the future availability of natural petroleum and

The conference was sponsored jointly by the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) and the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis (IIASA). The meeting as conducted July 5-16 in Laxenberg, which is near Vienna.

Ray received an invitation from UNITAR to present a paper at the meeting, which was part of UNITAR's special project on the future and was one of several projects on energy conversion, arid land studies and geothermal

Ray said he was invited to talk about the "Devonian Shales of Eastern Kentucky." He described the geological and production characteristics of this "highly important" natural gas-producing formation to technical and scientific experts from leading universities and research institutes, both private and governmental.

This was the first time an attempt was made for an international conference. Previous efforts were either national or regional in scope.

IIASA is a research institute, founded in 1972 under American-Soviet auspices, which was basically set up to deal specifically with the long range problems industrialized countries.

According to Ray, the Soviet representatives and those from the United States were major contributors to the conference. The U.S. participants included representatives from the U.S. Geological Survey in Reston, Va., the World Bank in Washington, D. C. and Laramie Energy Research Center in Laramie, Wyo. There were also representatives from such universities as Stanford, Houston, Southern California and Texas-Tech.

In addition, there were officials from France, Canada, Ethiopia, Shell International of London, the U.S. government, the Soviet Union, OPEC (Oil Producing Exporting Countries), and several oil and gas cc npanies.

Ray attended the universities of Louisville and Kentucky, majoring in geology. He joined Kentucky-West Virginia Gas in 1951 as a field geologist and has served in Prestonsburg, where he is presently stationed, and at the corporate headquarters of the company, Ashland. Active in professional and industry related organizations, including the Kentucky Oil & Gas Association and the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, Ray has had several papers published by the Kentucky Geological Survey, the National Academy of Sciences and the A.A.P.G. He is also a registered professional engineer. His wife, Shirley, accompanied him to Austria for the conference and attended some of the meetings. The couple, who maintain a home on Greenway Road in Ashland, had some time to see the sights and Mrs. Ray found Austria to be Echoing his wife's sentiments, Ray also noticed that "there was a lot of construction going on." But the thing he noticed most was "the lack of small children in the country-side."

Mrs. Ray said although the country was "very pretty," she "would not want to go back anytime soon," because she missed her children.

SOUL INSURANCE How To Get It Free!

insurance on your car, insurance on your health. Such forms of insurance are very necessary and they cost you money. But do you have any soul insurance?? This is the most important insurancé you can have, and it is free for the asking. Jesus himself issues the "policy". For by grace (God's mercy) are ye saved, through faith, (in Jesus), and that not of yourselves. It is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast." (Ephesians 2, 8,9). God's blessed Son. Jesus. gave his life, and spilled his precious blood on Calvary. to provide soul insurance for all who would repent of their sins, and receive him into their hearts, through faith, trusting Jesus for eternal life. (Romans 5-8)

Many people died last night. Where did their immortal souls go? The Bible, God's Holy Word, pictures two places. Hell and Heaven. The only way to stay out of Hell and get to Heaven is through Jesus. God's son, and the soul insurance he gives to all who repent and believe. He that believeth on him is not condemned but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God," (John 3: 18)

For all have sinned and come short of the Glory of God, (Romans 3, 23). There is none righteous, no, not one, (Romans 3, 10). Any God-called preacher should preach often about Hell and the awful punishment in Hell, which burns with fire and brimstone, "Where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched." (Mark 9 43-48) Moreover, the Soul's Destiny is fixed

Coming back from a trip to Kentucky this summer, I noticed a large sign along the road in Tennessee, which If you go to Hell It's your own fault

How true that is," I thought

God does not arbitrarily put a person's soul in Hell. 'God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved." (John 3-17) A person's soul goes to Hell because he will not accept God's love, and his remedy for sin — Jesus Christ, God's Son. A person's soul goes to Hell because he will not repent of his sins. and come to Jesus and receive him into his heart as his own personal savior and lord. "He that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him," (John 3 36). "The unbelieving shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone." (Rev 21 8)

Let me add quickly. Jesus died and spilled his precious blood at Calvary for sinners. But this does not automatically keep sinners out of Hell or take them to Heaven. I wish preachers would give more Emphasis to this point. Jesus only provided the remedy for man's sins by his death on Calvary. There is something for man to do himself before the saving process is completed. Man must seek Jesus and accept Jesus. man must repent of sin and believe in Jesus Jesus himself came, into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God, and saying "the time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand. Repent ye and believe the Gospel." (Mark 1, 14-15). Jesus does not force any man to accept him. The predestinated choice belongs to man. If a man refuses to receive Jesus, he has already rejected him and is headed toward Hell. Bewarel Jesus himself says, "Behold I stand at the door (of your heart and knock, if any man hear my voice, and open the door,"I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me " (Rev. 3: 20).

You can go to your doctor, and get medicine for your ailments, but if you do not take the medicine, it will do you no good. I can hold out my hand with a twenty-dollar bill in it, meaning to give it to you, but it is not your money until you receive it into your own hand The choice is yours. Likewise with Jesus. He came to call sinners to repentance, but Jesus' love is effective in a sinner's life, only when the sinner repents of his sins, and receives Jesus into his heart, through faith, as his own personal savior and lord "As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God," even to them that believe on his name." (John

There is a Hell to shun, and don't you ever forget it. Let's see what the Bible says about Hell It is a lake of fire, (Rev. 20 15). Hell is a bottomless pit into which the angel from Heaven will cast that old serpent the Devil, (Rev. 20: 1-3). Jesus himself speaking in Matthew 25: 41 to those on his left hand who had no soul insurance "Depart from me ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the Devil and his Angels." Jesus talking in Matthew 13: 41-42 says "the Son of Man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and furnace of fire, there shall be wailing and gnashing of in of Hell is given by Jesus himself. "There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day. And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus which was laid at his gate full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs from the rich man's table. And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom, (referring to Heaven). The rich man also died and was buried, and in Hell he lift up his eyes, being in torment, and seeth Abraham afar off and Lazarus i his bosom. And he cried and said, "Father Abraham have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am tormented in this flame." (Luke 16: 19-31)

Thus you can see the contrast between Lazarus and the Rich Man Lazarus did not get to Abraham's bosom because he was a Poor Man. But he did get here by believing in God. He had soul insurance. The rich man did not go to Hell because he had barrels full of money. He went to Hell because he worshipped his money, and had left God out of his life. He had no soul insurance. The rich man is still in torments in Hell, and he will be in Hell forever and forever, Pool Fellow! And millions more are there with him. The Biblis says. 'for what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul," (Matthew 16, 26)

There is a Heaven to gain, whete all is peace and joy, love and happiness. Only those who have soul insurance will go to Heaven. Jesus speaking in John 3: 16 says. Tor God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten. Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. Neither is their salvation in any other (except Jesus), for there is none other name under Heaven, given among men whereby we must be saved. (Acts 4: 12) Jesus himself speaking in John 14 6 says, "I am the Way the Truth and the Life; no man cometh to the Father but by me," Another scripture says, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt, be saved, (Acts 16 this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of Godl God does the saving through His Son Jesus; Man, through faith in Jesus, does the believing in this same Jesus. It is clear from the scriptures and many more, that God, the Father, intrusted into the hands of Jesus, His blessed Son all aspects of salvation and complete soul insurance

You have now heard the Gospel, dear friends enemies, and sinners. Today is the day of salvation behold now is the accepted time; behold now is the day of salvation," (II Corinthians 6: 2) You might not be alive tomorrow. This might be your last chance to get in touch with Jesus, God's Son, "in whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins," (Ephesians 1: 7). "The blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, cleanseth from all sin," (First John 1 7) Cho you this day whom ye will serve " (Joshua 24 15)

The Sinner's Prayer. Won't you pray this Sinner prayer with me, right now, and mean every word of from the bottom of your heart, and get your sou insurance from Jesus, this very minute? "Lord Jesus," know that I'm a sinner, and deserve to go to Hell because of my many sins. But I now confess all my sins to you, having been led by the Holy Spirit, and I now repent of all my sins, and ask you to blot them out with the precious blood you spilled for me at Calvaly; through faith in you, dear Jesus, I now accepyou and receive you into my heart as my Savior and Lord I believe, dear Jesus, that you are God's Son, that He raised you from the grave on the third day, and that you are alive forevermore up there with the Father in Heaven making intercession for me. I believe that there is none other savior except you, dear Jesus. And right now, I trust my immortal soul into your hands. Thank you, dear Lord, for saving my soul, and giving to me eternal life, now, and forevermore.

Jesus was listening: he heard your prayer. He has already written your name in his Lamb's Book of Life God's Holy Spirit has already taken up residence in your body, and there is rejoicing in Heaven because you have repented of your sins and have accepted Jesus as your have been born from above spiritually:

Now Jesus wants you to go further with him: (1) He wants you to be baptized by immersion. Jesus himself was baptized in the Jordan River by John the Baptist. "And straightway coming up out of the water he saw the Heavens opened, and the Spirit, like a dove descending upon him. And there came a voice from Heaven, saying, 'Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased,' and immediately the Spirit driveth him into the wilderness," (Mark 1 9-12), Jesus was already perfect before he was baptized. He was God's Son, without sin, and he needed nothing. But his baptism marked the beginning of his earthly ministry, and gave us an example in humility. His baptism showed a picture of his death, his burial and his resurrection from the grave. Go thou and do

(2) Jesus wants you to join a church which preaches the fulness of God's word, the Bible: one which preaches Jesus. God's Son, as the pre-eminent Savior and Lord of Life, and the only Savior and Lord of Life it a church does not preach these Bible truths. I would never join it. Jesus is the head of the Church. The Church is the body and bride of Jesus. the body of believers, not the building where the church assembles to hear the word preached and songs of praise sung. Moreover, Jesus wants you to attend his church regularly, and support his church with your money, time, and talents

(3) Jesus wants to get glory and fellowship out of you. He wants you to grow in his grace by reading the Bible daily, by praying frequently and witnessing to others, especially sinners; telling them about the precious soul insurance which Jesus gave to you, an gives to all who will receive it. Jesus wants you to lov your neighbor and help those in need. Jesus wants you

The greatest decision you ever made was to accept Jesus as your Savior and Lord, and to get this soul insurance from Jesus, which assures you a home in Heaven - far away from the torments of Hell

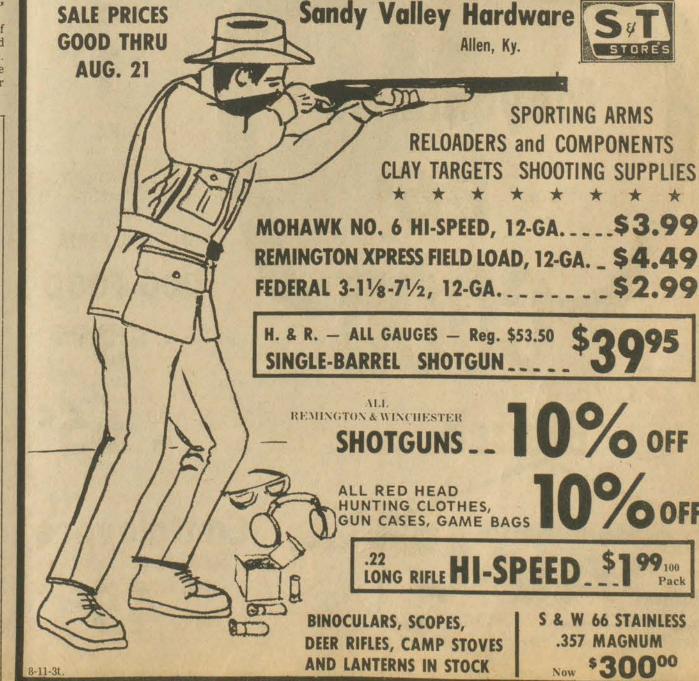

And they all said "Amen.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH Health Educator

That big moment is just a few days away for some children in Floyd county who will be enrolling in the first grade this fall and as every parent knows, those last few days can go by in Certain immunizations are required by state law before a child can be eligible to enroll in school. Ideally, every youngster should be immunized against diphtheria, pertussis (or whooping cough), tetanus, polio, measles and rubella by the time he is two years of age. In which case, only booster doses will be required before school entry.

It is extremely important that parents check with their physicians or the county health department now, to see if their children have had all their required immunizations. These immunizations are important because a serious illness from any of these infectious diseases can cause death, or severe complications that cause permanent health problems.

Department offers immunizations against all of these diseases, free of charge, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 12 and from 1 to 4.

Prepare your child for a healthy school year.

Miner Certification Proposed by Haley

Frankfort, Ky—A new Division of Education, Training and Certification in the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals was proposed by the Deep Mining Safety Commission task force on Miner Training and Certification. The proposed division, would set standards and approve programs concerning preemployment and continuing training and certification of underground miners in the Commonwealth.

The task force unanimously endorsed Chairman Ted Haley's recommendation to require all coal production personnel, including all laborers and all supervisors, to be certified.

The subcommittee, after discussing various plans to achieve the overall certification, adopted a proposal that said, "As of the day of enactment of this legislation, any person presenting evidence of 90 work days of experience, along with 40 hours of documentel training, shall be presented a miner's certificate."

This requirement would have the effect of a "grandfather clause" by providing for the certification of presently working, experienced miners.

Haley called it a "good compromise" between automatic certification and their complete retraining.

The miner's certification would be renewed annually, following a mandatory eight-hour, minimum, retraining program provided by the coal company.

According to guidelines established by the task force, a Board of Education Training and Certification would be appointed by the governor to approve all the educational and training programs by coal companies, schools and agencies prior to their implementation. The proposed board would assume all the duties of the department's present certification board, in addition to its function as an approval agency.

The six-member body would be made up of the commissioner of the state Department of Mines and Minerals, who would serve as its chairman, none miner from both Eastern Kentucky and Western Kentucky; one coal operator from each of the two areas and the director of the proposed Division of Education, Training and Certification.

The director, who would serve as a nonvoting member of the board, would be required to have five years practical experience in underground mining, in addition to being familiar with all phases of coal mining.

His duties would include the formulation and introduction of educational and training programs to the board for approval. He would also be placed in charge of all educational and training facilities in the division.

Excluding the commissioner and director, one board member would initially be appointed for a period of one year; one member for two years; one member for three years and the remaining member for four years.

After the initial appointments, each member would be appointed to a full four-year term and could be reappointed, according to the group's plan.

"The staggered expiration dates will produce the needed overlapping necessary for continuity," said Tom Barton, a member of the task force.

The task force also decided that every mine superintendent should be required to have a first-class mine foreman's contificate.

The group proposed that the state Department of Mines and Minerals should maintain records of training for all miners and suggested the creation of a data bank for records of all currently certified miners.

Fall Clean-Up Set Oct. 11-15

Frankfort, Ky.—A state high school education club—DECA—is planning a fall cleanup in coordination with the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for the second consecutive year.

State DECA, or the Kentucky Association of Distributive Education Clubs of America has set the week of Oct. 11-15 for its statewide fall clean up and beautify Kentucky project. By encouraging Kentucky DECA members to become involved in the beautification of the state, DECA officers said they hope to promote community civic consciousness and environmental

According to Mary Helen Terrell, assistant supervisor in the beautification section in the division of special programs in the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the group would like for the cleanup week to stimulate Kentuckians to clean up the state, once and for all, and then keep it that way.

They also recommended that mines with an employment figure of less than 200 should be an access plan, approved by the Department of Mines and Minerals, to a trained rescue squad.

In another section, the task force endorsed a proposal by the United Mine Workers of America which would change the present 10-year experience requirement for state mine inspectors to a five-year requirement.

The five-member group is one of three task forces of the state's Deep Mining Safety Commission. The commission, created by the governor, will send its recommendations to the appropriat committees of the Kentucky General Assembly for consideration during the special legislative session this fall.

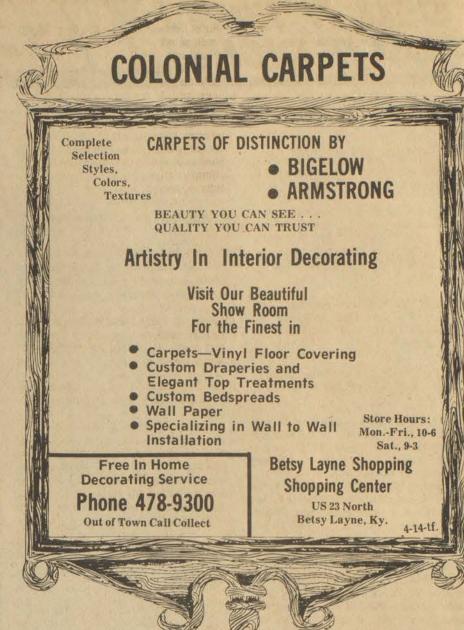

Members of the task force on Miner Training and Certification are Haley, Barton, Willard Stanley, Robert Carter and state representative William Blair.

The meeting was held on the University of Kentucky campus in Lexington.

Wins Annual Award

Laura Jayne Collins, winner of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club $25 award. This award is made annually to a graduating senior of Allen Central High School and is based equally on citizenship and scholarship. Miss Collins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brady Collins, of Lackey.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics' "Occupational Outlook Handbook in Brief," employment opportunities for private household workers are likely to increase between now and the mid-1980's due to demand exceeding supply. But low wages, tedious nature of the work, and lack of advancement opportunities may discourage many prospective employees, the publication says.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

Clifford Hayden and Sylvia Hayden . . .

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the July 9th term, 1976 in the abovestyled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 27th day of August, 1976 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying on the waters of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River in the village of Auxier, Kentucky, and being the same property conveyed Defendants on March 31, 1975 by Forrest and Betty Music, as recorded in Deed Book 222 pg. 64 in the records of the Floyd County and described more particularly as follows:

BEGINNING at the intersection of the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, at the present roadway and the access road leading to the cemetery; thence running with the access road to twenty feet beyond the last grave on the cemetery; thence turning at left angle and running down the hill with the Music line to the westerly line of lot No. 212 in the map of the village of Auxier, map of which is on file in the office of the Clerk of the Floyd County Court; thence turning at left angle and running down the westerly line of the row of lots to the right of way line of the C & O Ry Co and-or the roadway running in a westerly direction; then turning left and running with said roadway and-or the C & O Ry Co. to the point of beginning.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $6,804.38 with interest thereon at 6 percent annually from the 9th day of July, 1976 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 4th day of

Walk Your Way into History

One of the best ways to see Kentucky is to walk along its foot paths and trails. Throughout the Commonwealth are marked hiking trails that lead through woodlands, dense and lush with summer foliage, and along streams and lakes that abound in wildflowers. These trails lead past rugged cliff areas that are as adventurous to today's foot traffic as they were to pioneers and through gentle meadows as soothing now as they were in settlement days.

Why a walking vacation?

Everyone remembers car trips when someone calls out, "Oh! Look at that view," and you turn to look and ask "What view?" The answer is, "The one we just passed. Sorry.

A walk, however, leisurely paced or however fast, still gives the hiker time to see the peaks and trees above as well as the wildflowers starring the earth.

Two new hiking trails beckon those who love outdoors and nature. Grayson Lake Nature Trail in Grayson Elliott counties is less than two miles long but contains nearly everything including a look at beavers building their A 60-mile length of the new Jenny Wiley Trail was opened in the spring.

Lake State Resort Park in Carter and

When completed, this trail that bears the name of Kentucky's famous pioneer heroine will be 200 miles long and lead through 10 Eastern Kentucky counties. Grayson Lake Nature Trail had been in the planning stage by the U.S. Corps of Engineers, Huntington District for some time and recently was opened to the Jim Napier, manager of the reservoir located between Grayson and Sandy Hook on Ky. 7, said the trail begins near the mouth of the dam and follows Little Sandy River. "The trail then cuts back around a cliff area to a plateau high above the surrounding land and overlooking the dam.'

CPAs Warn Churches Of Tax Obligations

Churches owning businesses not related to their religious or charitable activities should be aware that they now are subject to federal income taxes, the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants warns.

Actually, say the CPAs, Congress voted seven years ago to end the tax. exemption for unrelated church businesses, and all such firms set up since May 27, 1969 have been taxed like any other business.

But a grace period to the end of 1975 was granted to church businesses that were then in existence. And many of those in charge of these older church businesses, the CPAs fear, may have overlooked or forgotten that the requirements now apply to them, too.

and connections with other trails and with Eastern Kentucky state parks.

Beginning near the ancient Indian Village Shawnee, the trail has an unbroken ridgeline path with one ridge branch leading to Tennessee and another to Indian Oldfield in Clark county.

The Jenny Wiley Trail leads to the Floyd county park near Prestonsburg that bears her name and to her gravesite near River in Johnson county. After months as a prisoner of Indians, Mrs. Wiley escaped and with her husband Thomas returned to what would become Johnson county. In about 1800 they built a cabin and, all their children having been killed by Indians, reared five other children for a new life in the Kentucky Hills. Jenny Sellards Wiley died in 1831.

John Howerton of South Portsmouth, Ky., is project director. Also assisting in the trail's development is FIVECO Area Development District with offices in Catlettsburg

From now through summer's end the trails are expected to attract many tourists and nature lovers, with autumn's beauty expected to add many school groups to the list of visitors. Some of the region's most beautiful scenery and most interesting links with history may be

ALCOR Ends Summer Work

Alix Cover, dental assistant, screening ALCOR children.

The Alice Lloyd College ALCOR Program (Appalachian Leadership and Community Outreach) which ended for the summer Aug. 6, has been in full operation at its 12 centers in the four-county area of Pike, Floyd, Knott, and Letcher. Alice Lloyd College students have operated community centers at Burgey's Creek, Bearville, Mallie, Salt Lick, and Pippa Passes, in Knott county; Wheelwright, Drift, and Spruce Pine in Floyd county; Dorton in Pike, and Haymond, Doty Creek and Pine Creek in Letcher. These students provide activities in health, nutrition, recreation, education, and community development.

This summer ALCOR has sponsored health fairs, screening clinics for children, dental, hearing, and vision screening. In addition, the program sponsors community productions of three plays by Alice Lloyd College Summer Theatre, cookouts, financing of community improvement projects, and many recreational, arts and crafts activities.

The ALC-ALCOR Program works with approximately 1,500 families each summer. "The Program's success is dependent on community response and area people are receptive to both the student workers and the ALCOR Program," Christine Stumbo, ALCOR director, said.

Carroll Sees Public Confidence

Needed by Kentucky Schools

A recent poll by a national opinion research center shows that only 31 percent of the public had a "great deal of confidence in the people running education," said Gov. Carroll. "This is the opinion of people who pay the taxes and pay our bills," he added.

conference held at Ramada Inn.

"We must let the public know about the good programs that are going on in our Louisville, Ky.-Gov. Julian Carroll school systems," said Gov. Carroll. He told the school administrators they should emphasize classroom achievements and accomplishments-"There is a challenge for restoring public confidence in our schools."

"Working together we can move Kentucky's education system forward," said Gov. Carroll. The governor informed the group that in order to improve the quality of education in the Commonwealth, $147,000,000 has been included in the budget for elementary and secondary education over the next two years. "This represents a 23 per cent increase in general fund support for elementary and secondary education for the first year of the biennium and another 12.5 per cent increase for the second year of the 1976-'78 biennium," he

"My goal over the next three years is for our teachers to get salaries comparable to the salaries of those teachers in the seven states surrounding Kentucky," said Gov. Carroll. He said the Office of Policy Management advises him that if this administration's projections are correct, the average teacher's salary in Kentucky will be $11,900 by 1977-'78.

Gov. Carroll said the state budget already contains:

-$7.6 million to buy textbooks for high school students

-$4.4 million for the 1976-'77 school year to help eliminate students' fees related to instructional programs

-Funds to finance a career education program in the Commonwealth

-Funds for the needs of exceptional children

-Funds for the addition of 150 new kindergarten units in 1976-'77, with an additional 150 units for the 1977-'78 fiscal

-Funds for 228 new vocational education units for 1976-'77, and another 274 units for 1977-'78.

Gov. Carroll reminded the group that administrators and counselors must stop encouraging all people to go to college. He said schools must develop plans in order to match the occupational needs of all students with the job market demands. "One major problem facing today's schools is helping young people better plan for their own future," said

W'wright To Receive $9,312 Street Help During Fiscal Year

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts announced last week that Wheelwright will receive $9,312 to support its 1976-'77 municipal road improvements program, which began July

Of the total amount allocated, $3,797 was identified as new money. The remainder consists of previously allocated funds remaining unexpended from last fiscal year

According to Roberts, the city will use the money to provide for sidewalk construction, traffic signs, blacktop patching and resurfacing on 1.8 miles of streets within the city limits.

Similar allocations to other communities also are being announced locally. The allocations to the communities are announced once annually, on a fiscal-year basis.

National Forest To Request State Denial Of Strip Mine Permit

The Daniel Boone National Forest will request the state deny a surface mine permit to the Stearns Coal and Lumber Company in the same area which was the stage of a mining controversy more than Forest Supervisor Richard H. Wengert said today the Forest Service will request the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources deny the permit for a 19-acre mine in McCreary county because Kentucky law prohibits surface mines on public land. The Stearns Company filed the plan with DNR and the Forest Service last week, and state and federal officials visited the site with company representatives.

The forest is preparing a request that DNR deny the permit, based on a ruling in Franklin Circuit Court upholding the state law in a similar application by Greenwood Land and Mining Company to surface mine in the Daniel Boone National Forest," Wengert said.

Under an agreement between the two agencies, the DNR requests the forest's recommendations on strip mine permit applications that may effect national forest land.

The company's action renews an issue which was dormant for more than 20 years. In 1955, the Secretary of Agriculture turned down a company request for the same area because "strip mining of lands acquired by the United States from the Stearns Coal and Lumber Company in McCreary county would not be in the public interest . . " The Company did not contest the Secretary's ruling in the courts. The mining site in southwestern McCreary county is part of the 47,000 acres the Stearns Company sold to the United States in 1937 as one of the largest purchases of the Cumberland National Forest. The company was instrumental in obtaining an extension of the forest boundary to include large tracts of its land cleared of merchantable

The company reserved the sub-surface minerals with terms in the deed that the Forest Service could approve the company's plans for any mineral operations. Last year, the Service's Regional Forester F. Leroy Bond declined an offer

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Floyd County Fiscal Court will be accepting Bids for the construction of : Outdoor Basketball Courts, Tennis Courts, Parking Facilities, Shuffle Board Court, Baseball Field Facilities, Chain Link Fencing, and a small Park Building for a new Left Beaver District Park at Minnie, Kentucky

All Bidders will be required to provide lump sum bids, for all facilities, and unit costs for each facility in the total project.

All Bids must be accompanied by a 5 pct. Bid Bond, and the successful bidder will be required to furnish a 100 pct. Performance Bond. All Bids will be received at the Floyd County Fiscal Court, in sealed envelopes, no later than 1:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, Wednesday, August 25, 1976.

Plans, Specifications, and Bid cuments, will be available at the office of Marvin Crider, Jr., & Associates, Architect: 315 N. L. Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, 41653, phone 886-8384; F. W. Dodge, Lexington, Kentucky, and Builder's Exchange of Louisville, Kentucky.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Bids, and to waive informalities.

by Stearns President Robert C. Gable to sell the mineral rights to the public. "Our policy is not one of acquiring private mineral rights for the purpose of 'locking up the resource' ", the regional forester said. "... Rather than the United States purchasing, I feel our role should be as surface manager insuring that the use of all resources is compatible.'

In the April, 1975 letter ne reiterated the reasons why Stearns first request was denied in 1955.

"Surface mining in similar (McCreary county) topography can cause severe environmental impacts and alter the surface resources significantly. We do not consider this as being in the public's interest and have opposed surface mining, in general, on national forest land based on the damage that would be done," Bond said. He pointed out mineral recovery, such as the company's deep mine, can be compatible with managing the surface resources by modifying mining techniques, using methods to protect the environment, and using reclamation practices to restore disturbed areas to production.

Hindman Man Appointed Meet on Handicapped

Hindman, Ky.-Gov. Julian M. Carroll has appointed Edward Darrell Ritchie, 26, of Hindman, to the Kentucky White House Conference Committee on Handicapped Individuals.

Ritchie will be working toward a degree in business administration at Hazard Community College this year.

The 19-member committee is planning four regional consumer meetings which will prepare Kentucky for a national conference on handicapped individuals.

"Being handicapped doesn't make anything easier, but the big problems are lack of acceptance and lack of accessible facilities," said Ritchie, who was injured in a helicopter accident in Vietnam and now uses crutches or a wheelchair.

He worked for the Department for Human Resources last spring surveying state buildings for accessibility to handicapped individuals.

'At least half of the handicapped population who are not working could be if they had the chance. It's a matter of public acceptance and doing away with architectural barriers," he said.

Employment of the handicapped is one of the central issues to be considered by the conference participants.

Ritchie realizes what needs and problems handicapped individuals face and by being on the committee he hopes to make it easier for all people who have handicaps. "I hope the conferences make big steps toward acceptance and awareness of needs.

In the hands of the right people, the tip of a finger can be an impressive device that helps keep electric costs in line.

Especially when that finger flips off light switches, radios and television sets before it leaves the room.

Or when it nudges refrigerator doors closed between snacks and waits until the dishwashers, clothes washers and dryers are filled before it turns

What's the most under-harvested game fish in Kentucky waters?

"The walleye," Charlie Bowers, director of the department of fish and wildlife's fisheries division, will answer without hesitation.

Bowers says there are three lakes in the Commonwealth-Rough River, Barren and Cumberland-with good walleye populations but with almost no fishing pressure for this species, except perhaps for a short burst of activity during the spring spawning runs.

The problem seems to be that walleyes, while fairly easy to catch, are often difficult to locate. Unlike black bass, walleyes won't be found along shoreline cover, nor do they announce their presence by chasing shad on the surface, as white bass do when they're "in the

Instead, the walleye is a bottom fish which prefers not to chase its dinner any more than necessary. It is also a school fish, which means that most of the walleyes will be concentrated in small areas of the lake, usually off points or around some other natural bottom

These characteristics necessitate slow, deep fishing-usually by trolling-and some rather specialized techniques and tackle designed to keep the lure as near the bottom as possible.

This is a style of fishing that most bass or crappie anglers just aren't used to, but there are persistent reports from Rough River and Barren of fishermen from northern states (where walleye fishing is popular) doing very well indeed.

So if you'd like to try your hand at walleye fishing this summer, a good bet would be to find a transplanted yankee with some experience with this fish and offer to take him fishing with you.

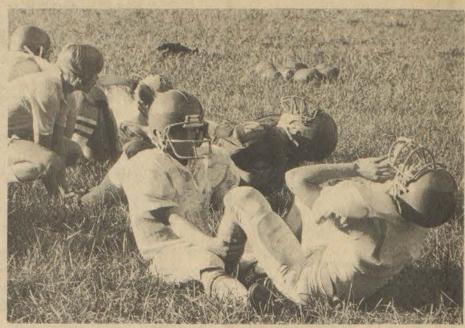

But if all your buddies are bass or crappie fishermen, it's still possible to learn how to catch walleyes. Most of the major outdoor magazines offer good articles on walleye fishing from time to time, and many libraries have back issues of these publications. Or you can be a pioneer and work out your own techniques for catching these fish in

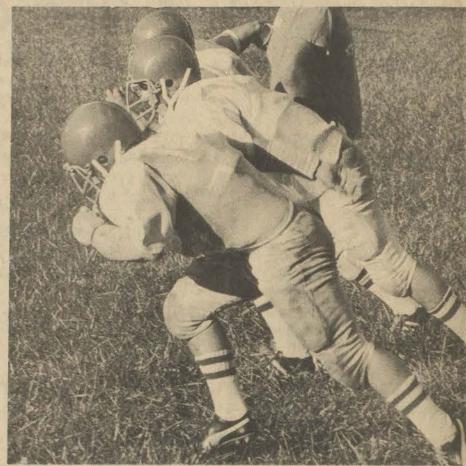

Later in the year, the fisheries division, which put those walleyes in the lakes in the first place, may have some good advice on how fishermen can pull them out, Bowers says. Fisheries biologists will undertake a study this summer to determine just what areas of our lakes walleyes prefer. They plan to use depth finders to locate schools of fish, then send down scuba divers to see exactly what kind of fish are showing up as blips on the recorder's screen.

Bowers hopes some specific advice for walleye anglers will come out of this study. And in the meantime, the fisheries division would also like to know about any legal-sized walleyes, rockfish, musky or black bass of five pounds or more you catch.

In return for a few scales from these fish, the department of fish and wildlife will send you a certificate of achievement and a lapel pin. The scales submitted are examined microscopically to determine the growth rate, stocking success and other biological characteristics of the fish. Information and envelopes for mailing in the scales are available at most docks.

U.S. Forest Service To Ask Bids on First Laurel Lake Marina

The Daniel Boone National Forest released last week a prospectus for development of the first marina on Laurel River Lake, near London and Corbin. The brochure outlines the criteria for private bidding on the proposed 170-slip marina to be built on a 31-acre site at Holly Bay as part of the recreation development on Kentucky's newest lake. Bids will be opened November 11.

Laurel River Lake is a 5,600-acre impoundment built by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on the Laurel River. It extends 20 miles upstream, and has more than 200 miles of shoreline. The U. S. Forest Service is responsible for the recreation and land management aspects associated with the project. The Corps of Engineers is responsible for hydro-electric production and dam

The marina prospectus calls for the 170 rental slips, a minimum of 20 rental boats, rental motors, sanitary facilities, retail and food service, and repair service. The federal government will provide a paved parking area, a sewage treatment plant, water and utility lines to

The Holly Bay Marina is the first of two planned for private investment and development.

Visitation on the lake, which opened two years ago, is expected to reach more than one million annually. More than 30 million persons are within an eight-hour

Copies of the prospectus and further information are available at the Supervisor's Office, Daniel Boone National Forest, 100 Vaught Road, Winchester, Kentucky 40391.

Wayland, Martin Held Co-Winners In Recent Softball Tournament fall football practice Monday, August 2,

The Wayland softball team held its second tournament July 30, 31 and August 1st at Wayland. The tournament was held in memory of Butch Ring, last year's coach, who was killed in a mining Wayland and Martin were in the championship game. Darkness forced the game to end before completion. Since the score was tied at this point, the two teams were declared co-winners. Wayland advanced to the finals by defeating Garrett, Hueysville and Beaver. Martin's first game was a loss to Garrett. They came back to defeat Hueysville, Garrett, Porter and Wayland. The tournament was doubleelimination.

Martin's players: Bobby Meadows, Hobert Webb, R. B. Conn, Joey Jones, Jeff Jones, Jr. Slone, David Chaffins, Mike Yates, Silas Slone, Roy Conn, Ronnie Blackburn, John Chaffins, coached by Bob Hackworth.

Wayland's players: Roy Christy, Mike Froman, Paul Baker, Elmer Castle, Tom Murphy, Herman Bentley, Mack Stewart, Jim Crager, Ray Crawford and Darrell Patton coached by Tom Murphy. Wayland is currently third place in the league at Hindman.

All proceeds of the tournament will go to the Area Volunteer Fire Department. The workers at the game for the fire department were Patsy Murphy, Sybol Bentley, Mae Cox, Shirley Collins, Lola Hall and Aileen Collins.

Floyd County Had Biggest Mine Payroll Increase in '75

(From The Kentucky Coal Journal)
Coal mines in Kentucky paid out $649,521,163 in wages and salaries in 1975, an increase of $189,676,041—or 41.2 per cent—over the previous year.

At the same time, direct employment by Kentucky coal companies rose from 34,024 in 1974 to 41,458 in 1975, a gain of 7,424 employes or 21.8 per cent.

These figures, reflecting the coal industry's impact on the economy of the Commonwealth, were compiled by the Division of Research and Special Projects of the state Department for Human Resources. They were provided by coal companies in their reports for unemployment insurance purposes.

All company employes, including management personnel, are covered in the Division's report.

By LARRY BURKE

We were reading about the Seven Wonders of the World. Of all these great and wonderful things—only the remains of one, the pyramids of Egypt, are standing.

After a description of each, these words appear. Destroyed in wars, or no trace remains.

I wonder how wonderful they were to have gone the way of time—and no longer exist on the face of the earth.

There are many wonders of the world that exist day after day. Those wonders are love, dedication, concern, loyalty and a hundred other acts that are performed by men. Instead of diminishing—these grow and make life wonderful for others.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: Give lasting qualities to others . . . these only remain.

(The Division's employment figures differ from those of the Department of Mines and Minerals, which reported 48,405 total employes in the coal industry. The explanation: The Department records every employe who was on the payroll during the year.)

The Division's reports show that the income of the average coal company employe increased 25 per cent last year. The average weekly wage in 1975 was $325.53, compared with $259.83 in 1974.

Pike county benefited most from the boom in the coal industry. Its coal wages totalled $122,407.215, an increase of $31,397,757 over the previous year. Harlan county ranked second with $55,521,384, a gain of $15,921,633. Although Muhlenburg county came in a close third with $54,733,713, its gain over 1974 was $16,776,747 and exceeded Harlan's increase.

Floyd county had the biggest increase in coal mining employment and experienced the largest percentage gain in payroll—102 per cent—among the big coal-producing counties. Floyd's mines reported an average monthly employment of 2,957 persons, up 1156 over 1974. The annual payroll was $40,000.104, a gain of $20,189,647.

Among the state's 45 coal-producing counties for which comparative figures were available, Morgan and Lawrence out-ran all the others in percentage gains in payroll and employment.

Morgan enjoyed a 299.4 per cent rise in total wages and a 325 per cent jump in employes. Its totals for 1974 were: wages $3,216,413, up $2,422,241; unemployment 234, up 55. Lawrence county coal mines paid out $2,886,685 in wages, a gain of $2,038,351 or 240.2 per cent, and employed 205 persons monthly, up 131 employes or 177 per cent.

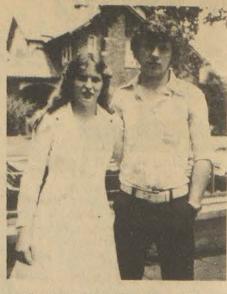

Only two coal counties failed to benefit from the increased prosperity of the coal industry. Knott's wages declined from $14,543,107 in 1974 to $9,504,070 in 1974, while is average monthly employment dropped from 1176 to 704. In Knox county, total wages decreased from $5,968,684 to $5,610,777, but the number of mine employes went up from 443 to 476.
