KRTA Holds Fall Workshop at Jenny Wiley

The Kentucky Retired Teachers' Association (KRTA) held its Fall Workshop, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 4-5 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. The two-day meet featured numerous guest speakers and dealt with legislative proposals affecting KRTA members, insurance coverage and claim procedure, membership privileges, the Kentucky Teacher Retirement System and other matters of importance to association members. Officers of KRTA pictured at Friday's session include, from left, Les Wetherell, membership chairman; E. P. Hilton, secretary of the KRTA state legislative committee; Pat Miller, executive secretary of KRTA; Leon T. Smith, president of KRTA; Clyde Lassiter, KRTA president-elect; Dr. Marvin Dodson, editor of KRTA publications; Dr. John Ridgeway, board member, and Dr. Harry Sparks, past president of Murray State University.

Big Sandy FIVCO Fund Requests Still Pending; Other Districts Funded

Funding requests of Big Sandy and FIVCO Area Development Districts were still awaiting approval as State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts approved nearly $500,000 in second fiscal year continuation funding for transportation planning at the regional area development district (ADD) level in Kentucky.

The money will be made available to each participating ADD district through the Kentucky Department for Local Government during the current fiscal year on a 75 to 25 state-regional fund matching basis. Some federal money also will be made available for special projects.

According to Roberts, the regional planning program was organized about one year ago to give local government, industry and citizens a greater voice in determining the future development and operation of transportation systems and services, "both within their own areas and statewide as well."

"Rather than simply telling each locality what we in Frankfort think they need by way of short and long-range programs," he said, "we are asking that they look at their present services, evaluate them in terms of both current and future need, and then tell us where they believe construction, maintenance, expansion and development will do the most good for the most people."

Each ADD district has formed its own transportation advisory committee made up of local officials, citizens and business people from the district area.

The committee also receives administrative and technical support from the Department of Transportation's Division of Urban and Regional Planning at Frankfort.

Calvin Grayson, state transportation planning engineer, said that present scheduling calls for each ADD district to complete its regional transportation plan by the end of the 1978 fiscal year.

Notes Injuries to Boys

I appreciate very much the opportunity you give your readers to speak their feelings through your paper. I want to express my respect and sympathy to the young man who was injured playing football at Prestonsburg High School. My prayers are for his speedy recovery. I want to commend WDOC radio for informing the people of his injury and where they can send cards. We had a very serious injury to a ten-year-old boy in the Johnson county school system, October 14. Scotty Franklin, of Thelma, was injured by a metal pipe measuring 40 feet long by four inches in diameter, falling across his stomach, severing his duodenum. After long surgery and 14 days in a local hospital he was transferred to the University Medical Center, Lexington, Ky., in serious condition. At this date no local news media cared enough to say one word about this child's condition. The news was given to them.

Thank you

Commends Supt. Grigsby

On October 29, 1976, the new Pete Grigsby, Jr. Fieldhouse at McDowell High School was dedicated. The Fieldhouse was named in honor of Pete Grigsby, Jr. who coached for many years at McDowell High School with tremendous success. This is an honor that was well-deserved by Coach Grigsby. I refer to Mr. Grigsby as Coach because he will always be considered Coach to me. I have tremendous respect for this man.

While Pete Grigsby, Jr. was at McDowell High School, he always showed a great deal of interest and dedication to all of the students, not just the athletes that played on his highly successful teams. He had a sincere interest in the school and education in general. I feel certain that his interest and dedication are also guiding him in his new career as superintendent of Floyd county schools.

Mr. Grigsby has always been a man of high moral character and a man who is well-respected by his fellow citizens. I believe that the people of Floyd county should feel honored to have such a man as Pete Grigsby, Jr. as the Superintendent of their schools. All of the citizens of Floyd county should support this man of great integrity and help him to make the Floyd county school system the best school system in the state of Kentucky.

Gerokinesiatrics Fitness For Elderly

Pikeville, Ky.—Here is a new word for you master: Gerokinesiatrics.

It is a word coined by the Frankel Foundation of Charleston, W. Va., to reflect a program of reactivation of the elderly through reconditioning the muscles. In other words, it is a term for physical fitness exercises for the elderly, and Pikeville College's Center for Continuing Education announces that it will offer a special course on this subject for area citizens on November 13.

No less an authority than the man who heads the Frankel Foundation, Lawrence J. Frankel, will present the one-day course. He will be assisted by Mrs. Betty Byrd Richard, associate administrator of the Foundation. The class, which is scheduled to run from 9:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m., will be conducted at the Pikeville Public Library, 210 Pike St., in Pikeville. Registration is $5 per participant, payable to the College's Center for Continuing Education.

Beside gymnastics, chairside exercising, and other exercising techniques, for the aging will be discussed, demonstrated, and studied. One interesting topic to be covered: Broomstick lifting. Also known as Weight-lifting for the Elderly.

Parking for participants will be available at the library lot and at the old Pikeville High School lot, two short blocks away. For further information telephone the College Center, 432-3161, extension 336.

Dr. Frankel, Director of the Foundation bearing his name, was born in New York City and educated at Columbia and New York Universities. Through his life-long dedication to physical fitness, he has designed several exercise programs for diverse groups with special needs. Dr. Frankel is internationally known for his work in preventive care against aging.

Kathy Sohn, Center Director, said, "This course is specifically developed to inform the elderly, their friends, and relatives in easy exercising procedures. In fact, since all of us are aging, this course can help everyone prepare for a longer and more useful life."

The pre-registration price of $5 will be increased on the day of the program, costing $7.50 at the door. Student nurses may register at a special rate of $2.50. Registration and checks should be mailed to Center for Continuing Education, Pikeville College, Pikeville, Ky. 41501.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Dan Hicks, of Fredville, wishes to express its appreciation to all those who were so kind to us upon his recent death. We are grateful to all who sent food and floral tributes, to those who extended words of comfort or who helped in anyway. We would especially thank the ministers, and the Carter Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. God bless you all.

'Thanks for Friendship And American Hospitality'

Mrs. Sidney Bailey, Chairman
Red, White and Blue Day
Parade Committee
Prestonsburg, Kentucky

Dear Marcella,

I have written a note to Mrs. Collins expressing congratulations for a wonderful parade. Let me now thank you, Marcella, for the friendship and American hospitality which you so graciously extended to Priscilla and I last Saturday.

The parade was certainly beautiful and the American spirit which is so much a part of this great nation seemed to fill the hearts of all around us that day. I am, however, convinced that this same spirit would not be so apparent if it were not for wonderful and generous people like yourself who are willing to go out and generate such a feeling.

It was easy to see that the many fine people who I had the pleasure of meeting were just a little bit happier and prouder because of the friendship each shared with you.

In spite of the fact that you had a great deal on your mind, you continued to make Priscilla and me feel as though we too were honored guests. Through you, we had the distinct pleasure to meet and talk with Governor Carroll, Senator Huddleston, Congressman Perkins, the mayor, Mr. Bailey, Bill Gorman, Bill Dawahare, and many more.

Red, White and Blue Day was certainly a grand day for the Pershing Rifles Drill Team and its advisor. We are proud to have been a part of it and look forward to representing Morehead State University again next year in Prestonsburg.

Thank you, Marcella, for a most enjoyable day and God Bless You.
Most sincerely,
PAUL E. CULLINANE, JR.

Pet Owners Know Better

I would just like to say, "Thank you," to all dog owners in New Allen, Ky. who allow their pets to run free and thereby defecate all over everyone else's lawn, get into everyone else's trash and make more puppies who do the same. It really makes for beautiful surroundings. Pets know no better. Pet owners do.

ATTEND WEDDING
Mr. and Mrs. Hardin C. Short spent the week-end in Bristol, Tenn., to attend a wedding in which their daughter, Mrs. Carl Steinichen, was a participant.

Who's "To Fix It"?

I am writing this so the people of this county can read it and see and know what kind of roads we have through Wayland. In front of my house are so many big holes in the road and the traffic goes through here so fast cars throw the water all over the front of my house, all the way to the top of my windows and doors.

I have talked to different people about this situation. They always say Wayland is incorporated, and the state is supposed to fix it. I really would like to know who is supposed to fix it. The drains from the homes are running down front street through the main highway. I talked to the magistrate, and he did send a load of gravel. But the cars knocked the gravel all over the place. I have to scrub my porch and clean it every time it rains. We have a 25 m.p.h. speed through here but the traffic is more like 50 or 75 through here.

I do hope whoever reads this will take the time to look into this matter. It is a shame. I am not able to clean after this mess. I would like for some of our county officials to see this situation.
MRS. GOLDA VINCENT

Commends 'The Spotlight'

The other day some one asked Bob, "How come you're so informed on national issues?" In sarcasm it was asked! The answer was—"Whatever I know comes from much reading, especially of a paper named 'The Spotlight.'"

May I be permitted to give the address, in the Times, of this, by far the best conservative paper in America? Its editor is a fundamental christian. One of its frequent contributors is an ex son-in-law of F.D.R.—Col. Dall.

"The Spotlight" can be read in our public library, but every citizen who wishes "God's truth" in the political scene should subscribe.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

With Kentucky's small game seasons opening Nov. 18, the commonwealth's hunters are wondering what kind of success they can expect afield this year.

The answer, according to one survey conducted by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, is that hunters will find slightly higher populations of quail and rabbits throughout the state.

The survey, based on sightings made by rural mail carriers during June, July and August, shows that quail populations are up 2.2 per cent statewide, with the biggest increase in the far western part of the state.

The rabbit population shows a slighter increase—93 per cent statewide over last year, with the Hills of Bluegrass showing the largest jump.

Quail and rabbit hunting regulations remain basically unchanged from past years. The daily limit on quail is 10, with a possession limit of 20 after two or more days of hunting. The daily bag limit on rabbits is 6, with a possession limit of 12.

Rabbit season will close Jan. 31, while hunting for quail and grouse will continue for another month, through Feb. 28. Shotguns used for small game, dove and waterfowl hunting must be "plugged" to hold no more than three shells (one in the chamber and two in the magazine). Shotgunners are not permitted to carry slugs or buckshot in the field while small game hunting.

Remember also that small game seasons will close during the Dec. 4 through Dec. 8 gun deer season.

Squirrel hunting will also resume Nov. 18 with generally much better hunting conditions than those encountered during the early part of the season. The foliage will be off most of the trees, and squirrels will be more concentrated around mast producing trees such as oak, beech or walnut.

So if your luck wasn't too good during August and September squirrel hunts, don't give up yet. Winter hunting can be very productive. After the recess for the Dec. 4 through Dec. 8 deer season, squirrel hunting will continue through Dec. 31, with a daily limit of six and a possession limit of 12.

The taking season for furbearers will also open Nov. 18, and the big change in regulations this year is a limit on raccoons. This limit is one raccoon per hunter or three per hunting party of three or more hunters. This is a daily limit; there is no possession limit as such on raccoons.

For a complete rundown of Kentucky's hunting regulations, write for a free "Hunter's Packet" from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Public Relations, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

By TED KESING
"Booty Spruill's neatly mowed backyard runs smackdab into more than 120 square miles of weeds. But they're the kind of weeds every fisherman should have because they generate one of the nation's outstanding largemouth bass bonanzas," reports Angling Editor Homer Circle of Sports Afield.

The area is Currituck Sound, North Carolina's northeastern link in the Intracoastal Waterway. It measures, roughly, 40 miles long and six miles wide, using a fisherman's guesstimate. And at least 60 percent is cursed, or blessed, with Eurasian water milfoil. The choice depends upon whether you are a fisherman reaping a bass harvest or a pleasure boater pulling the stuff from a fouled prop.

These persistent upcroppers spread into Currituck Sound from Chesapeake Bay about 1966, and fishermen predicted doomsday had arrived for bass fishing in the sound. For a few years it appeared that they might be right, because bass fishing fell lower than a clam track.

But when the spring of 1969 rolled around, the word soon spread. Bass were hitting like crazy. Biologists deduced that bass not only became acclimated to the milfoil, but it obviously provided good habitat for young bass to survive from predators.

So take note, you long-rod lovers. Here is a fly-fisherman's paradise and, according to some expert anglers, it's not unusual to catch and return 30 to 40 bass a day. The keepable limit is eight.

Bass fishermen in this hot spot pray for a southerly wind because this moves water into the sound, and bass seem to come with it. Probably this is because forage fish come with it, too. Conversely, a northeaster pushes water out and lowers the level, to cause adverse fishing.

There aren't many places to stay close to the fishing, but if you write far enough in advance you will be accommodated. And it's among the best buys we've run across with pre-inflation prices like: about $35 a day for a guide who works and furnishes boat, motor, fuel and some first-rate push poling.

Lodges get from $20 to $30 per day for room, meals and a lunch like Mom used to pack for you. If you're flying commercial or private, Norfolk, Virginia, is only an hour's drive. If you're driving, plenty of good roads lead to Poplar Branch which your road map will show you is about midway of Currituck Sound on Route 158.

Oh, yes, be sure to visit the little grocery stores and ask for "peach buds hardtack candy". It's a native specialty from way back, and it goes mighty good between picking bass and grass off your lure.

You can buy a daily, five-day or season license from these neighborly Tarheels. For a free list of guides and lodges write: Joel Arrington, Travel and Promotion Division, Box 27687, Dept. SA, Raleigh, NC 27611.

Troopers Make Big Beer Haul, 200 Cases Taken

One of the largest liquor hauls of the year was made Friday by state police officers in separate actions at Lackey and on Salt Lick, near Hueysville.

State Police Detective Gary Rose and Troopers Weedman, Stumbo and Sizemore seized a total of 200 cases of beer and two and a half cases of whiskey from two pickup trucks and arrested Donald R. Robinson, of Martin, Donnie F. Combs and Steven Gunnell, both of Garrett, and a juvenile, charging them with illegal transportation of alcoholic beverages. The two vehicles were impounded.

Two days later, Troopers Weedman and Stumbo arrested Loranzie Ramey and Dial Hall on charges of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages. The two were allegedly selling from a car on Big Branch, near Honaker. One case of whiskey and one and a half cases of beer were confiscated.

Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and J. D. and Melvin Martin arrested Ned Johnson at his home at Weeksbury Saturday on a charge of illegal possession for purpose of sale. Twenty-eight cans of beer and a pint of whiskey were seized.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each and arresting officers follow:

Over $1.8 Million For Traffic Safety

Frankfort, Ky.—Over $1.8 million in traffic safety program grants have been announced here by State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts.

The agencies named to receive those grants included the Traffic Institute at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, the Kentucky Department of Human Resources, Education and Transportation, Kentucky State Police, and five local police departments.

Roberts said that the grants are being funded, in large part, with federal money made available to the state through the Kentucky Office of Highway Safety Programs by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Federal Highway Administration. OHSP is an agency of the Kentucky Department of Transportation.

Patient Must Protest If His Medical Records To Be Kept Confidential

Frankfort, Ky.—If a court orders a psychologist or hospital personnel to produce the medical record of a patient, the order must be obeyed, according to an opinion from the office of the Attorney General.

The opinion, issued Oct. 22 by Mark F. Armstrong, assistant attorney general, was in answer to a letter from Dr. E. Paul Evensen.

Dr. Evensen, director of the psychology service at Eastern State Hospital in Lexington, had asked about the legal responsibility of a psychologist to withhold information which is considered privileged information.

While hospital personnel are required to testify, according to the opinion, the patient has the right to object to testimony. If the patient objects, and the court sustains the objection, the psychologist can't testify. If the patient doesn't object, "he is deemed to have waived the privilege and consented to its disclosure," Armstrong said.

In summary, he said, "Neither a psychologist nor any other hospital personnel may reveal information obtained as a result of their confidential relationship with a patient unless the disclosure of it is authorized by the patient or by law."

Armstrong added "an order of a court to compel the production of a medical record or to compel the psychologist or other hospital personnel to testify must be obeyed." He concluded, "It is the responsibility of the patient to assert the privilege."

BLACK WORKERS made up 11 percent of the labor force in 1975, about the same as their share of the population. However, 19 percent of the unemployed were black, according to "U.S. Workers and Their Jobs: The Changing Picture," a publication of the U. S. Labor Department.

Fire Destroys Hindman's Ben Franklin Store

HINDMAN, Ky.—No financial estimate was immediately available in a blaze early last Tuesday which destroyed the two-story Ben Franklin Store here, but a family spokesman said it will be high.

Vicci Thomas, granddaughter of owner Wilson Young, said, "He lost all his Christmas stock—it's pretty bad."

For a time the blaze of undetermined origin threatened the adjacent Young Hotel, which was evacuated, and the Young Department Store. There were no injuries but the department store sustained heavy smoke and water damage.

Art Weekend, for Entire Family

An art week-end to be successful must be devoted to art. However, not all members of a family are artists or aspiring painters; so it is that a new program by Kentucky Heritage Artists set at Lake Cumberland State Resort Park near Jamestown Nov. 19, 20 and 21 is truly one the entire family will enjoy.

Here in this fabulous lake-park setting are gift shops, antiques shops, caves to explore, scenery such as waterfalls and the rapids of Devils Jump to enjoy, fishing, hiking, history and museums. The park has children's programs as well as entertainment to please those in the adult category.

Still, this three-day art workshop will emphasize art. Here is an opportunity to look over the shoulder of Harold Collins of Lexington as he works on one of his famous ballerina sketches; or watch "stroke by stroke" as Louisville's Don Ensor paints the wick inside a coal oil lamp chimney, all while retaining the glass; or Russell May, of Prestonsburg, as he deftly uses a home-made brush to paint the limbs and twigs of a tree in a beautiful landscape.

The week-end starts with a get-acquainted session during registration from 2 to 7 p.m. Friday (Nov. 19). The business of painting gets underway at 4 p.m. with a session on acrylics, that medium that lends itself to a delicate watercolor effect as well as impasto.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday Gary Akers, native of Floyd county and resident of Florence, will conduct a paint-along using the uncommon medium of egg tempera. Egg tempera was used by the old masters, but most modern artists prefer a quicker method than the hours required to lay thousands of minute strokes, one over the other in such a way as to acquire a luminous quality. A Friday night special presentation of "Wyeth Country" begins at 9 p.m.

Saturday's all-day workshop starts at 9:30 a.m. Various sessions will be conducted simultaneously but in a flexible program that will strive to allow artists with various interests opportunity to work in different sessions with different Kentucky Heritage Artists.

Throughout the day, Doug Adams of Morehead State University's art faculty and Akers will demonstrate painting with watercolor. Louisville's Tony Oswald will paint an oil still life. May, together with Al Cornett who lives in Natural Bridge country, will paint landscapes in oil. Ensor will give insight on how to paint transparent glass in oils. Danville's A. Jack May will conduct field sketching. Robert A. Powell, of Frankfort, will work in pen and ink. Collins will do life drawing. Nellie Meadows, of Clay City and Helen Price Stacy, of West Liberty, will paint flowers, and Charles Spaulding will paint animals from life.

Sunday's coffee hour starts at 8:30 a.m. followed by the popular "Critique Session" at 9:30 a.m. Participating artists may bring their own paintings to the critique session for display and constructive discussion.

"It will be a fully, busy week-end," says Bob Powell, executive director of Kentucky Heritage Artists. "Though we have scheduled certain workshops, any session may be adjusted to suit the interest." He added, "However, if there is at least one person interested in any one of the scheduled sessions, it will be held."

Contest Suit Alleges Fraud In Johnson Co.

Voting irregularities in last Tuesday's election were alleged Friday in a series of suits filed in Johnson circuit court by lawyers for the Republican and Democratic candidates for Johnson county judge.

In a four-page affidavit, defeated Republican candidate Wayne Blevins claimed that the apparent winner and incumbent, James Witten, a Democrat, received votes from non-registered voters Tuesday.

The suit also charges that more votes were recorded than there are persons registered in some precincts and that alcoholic beverages were in the vicinity of the polling places.

Blevins' suit asks that certification of Witten as the winner be set aside.

J. K. Wells, attorney for Witten, filed a countersuit, asking that Blevins' suit be dismissed. The countersuit alleges that Blevins violated the corrupt practices act by buying votes and promising jobs if he were elected.

A third affidavit was filed later by Witten repeating the points made in the countersuit.

Circuit Judge W. B. Hazelrigg set a hearing on the suits for Friday of this week.

In Tuesday's election, Witten emerged the winner in the normally Republican county by 343 votes. Republicans outnumber Democrats by a registration margin of seven to five in the county.

A total of 8,503 votes was cast for the two candidates.

Johns Creek Firms Sign UMW Pact

After employees of Standard Sign & Signal and Raccoon Elkhorn Coal Company in the Johns Creek area of Pike county had signed cards requesting that the UMWA be their bargaining agent, a National Labor Relations Board election was held at the mine September 30, and the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the UMWA, Squire Feltner Dist. 30 UMW presided, announced last week.

On October 8 the United Mine Workers of America was certified as the collective bargaining agent for the employees of both companies, and District 30 officers began immediately to negotiate with management representatives for a contract to cover their employees. After three weeks of negotiating, District 30 was successful in obtaining a contract to cover the employees.

"In the opinion of District 30 officers the organizing of this large operation in the Johns Creek area of Pike county has been a great victory and should be followed by the organizing of other mines in the same area," Feltner said. "The Union hopes the operators in Eastern Kentucky will realize that coal miners are not satisfied to work without a union contract . . ."

SINCE 1925, service-producing industries have contributed almost 80 percent of the total growth in nonfarm employment. Among the industries creating the greatest number of jobs since 1950 have been state and local government, trade, and services such as health care, according to "U. S. Workers and Their Jobs: The Changing Picture," a publication of the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Martin Is Injured In Collision Here

Ted Martin, of West Prestonsburg was injured Tuesday morning in the collision of his car with a truck in the area of the Green Acres housing development here.

Martin's vehicle was said to have been struck by a Rockcastle Sand Company truck as he pulled out from Jerry's Restaurant, and the force of the impact reportedly knocked the car into another vehicle parked at Green Acres. Both cars were extensively damaged.

Martin was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center and the extent of his injuries was not learned as of Tuesday afternoon.

Musical Salute To Coal Slated Nov. 15

"I Am Coal: I Am America"—a live musical salute to coal and to America's 200th birthday—will make a one-day stop in Prestonsburg next Monday as the bicentennial road show continues its tour of key mining areas around the country.

This theatrical production, sponsored by the National Coal Association and the nation's major coal producers, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. at the Prestonsburg High School Fieldhouse. Admission is free.

A multi-media extravaganza, the show dramatically traces the critical role coal has played in the nation's growth and development. Rhythmic glimpses of America, coal and their parallel histories flash across three giant screens while a spirited New York cast sings and dances its way through 200 years.

"I Am Coal: I Am America" is being sponsored in this area by Turner Elkhorn Mining Co., Island Creek Coal Co., National Mines Corp., Pontiki Coal Corp., Martiki Coal Corp., Martin County Coal Corp., and Wolf Creek Collieries Co. The show is produced in cooperation with Wedgewood Productions, Inc., of Washington, D. C.

Official To View Coal-Haul Roads

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll said last Thursday that Secretary William Coleman, of the U. S. Department of Transportation, has accepted his invitation to come to Kentucky to inspect the Commonwealth's coal-haul road problems.

Gov. Carroll extended the invitation October 12, when he testified here at a Federal Highway Administration hearing that the problems of construction and maintenance of the road systems over which this nation's energy supplies are carried are not just the problems of the states in which those resources are developed, but are also federal problems.

In his testimony, as in testimony and speeches throughout the Commonwealth and on many occasions in Washington and across the country during the past two years, Gov. Carroll's main point has been that coal traffic burdens now placed on Kentucky roads and other coal states' roads are too severe, much less the load anticipated with estimates of the increased need for coal over at least the next decade.

Kentucky coal, Gov. Carroll continues, supplies 22 per cent of the nation's energy needs, so the coal that moves over Kentucky roads thus responds to a national energy requirement. Therefore, he concludes, there is a large national interest in an adequate system of coal-haul roads in Kentucky and a federal responsibility to help provide such a program.

No date has yet been set for Secretary Coleman's visit.

Brisky, New Manager Of Beth-Elkhorn Corp., Succeeding D.A. Zeeger

The appointment of Theodore J. Brisky as manager of the Elkhorn Division, Beth-Elkhorn Corporation, effective November 1, has been announced by Latham B. Gray Jr., general manager, coal, in the mining department of Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Mr. Brisky is advancing from assistant manager of the Elkhorn Division, which is headquartered in Jenkins. Until September 1 of this year, he had been assistant to division superintendent of Bethlehem's Kayford-Boone-Nicholas Division, headquartered in Charleston, W. Va.

He will succeed David A. Zeeger whose retirement, effective January 31, 1977, was announced previously. Mr. Zeeger will serve as a consultant to the division in the interim period.

Blevins Returns 'Home' As KET Representative

When Jim Blevins began working for KET eight years ago, it was his hope that someday a representative of the state's public television network would be stationed in Eastern Kentucky, solely to help people of that region better understand the services available from KET.

"But little did I think that that person would be me," he says.

Blevins, formerly of Paintsville, has moved back to his hometown to be the Eastern Kentucky region utilization specialist for KET. He is the first full regional representative for KET, a pilot program that could lead to other similar positions being established across Kentucky.

Blevins' new duties include increasing awareness of KET at both community and school levels; collecting utilization data to be used for future in-school and evening programming decisions; collecting feedback from Eastern Kentuckians about their state network; and, assisting area residents with reception problems.

His region includes the county and independent school districts in Johnson, Pike, Magoffin, Martin, Knott, Perry, Leslie, Breathitt, Letcher, Floyd, Elliott, Wolfe, Lawrence, Morgan and Harlan counties.

Blevins, 34, is a 1960 graduate of Paintsville High School and received his B. A. and M. A. degrees from Eastern Kentucky University. He is the son of Clyde and Ruth Ann Blevins, Paintsville.

SOUTH CAROLINA, Iowa and Minnesota, in that order, are the first three states to complete all developmental steps in their respective job safety and health plans as required by the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970; the state plans will be monitored and evaluated for at least a year to determine if the program is at least "as effective as the federal program," according to the U. S. Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

With all the summer's field and garden crops made and, hopefully, all harvested and stored away in barn, crib and cellar, we now come to November, the "wind month" of the ancient Anglo-Saxons. While also sometimes known as the "death month," it is more truly a month of rest, enjoyment and festivity. It is a season when life down on the farm slows down a bit and, therefore, takes on added charm—a time when the farm home is or should be a snug haven of good cheer, plenty and solid comfort.

Although the landscape has lost most of the green of summer and the gorgeous colors of autumn, November is by no means without its special attractions. Many lovers of the outdoors find the hazy, lazy, mystical days of Indian Summer one of the most delightful seasons of the year. It is a wonderful month for hiking over the mountains and for hunting the little grey fox with melodious-voiced hounds under the enormous moon that lights up the nighttime sky. It is a time when wild grapes, persimmons and others of Mother Nature's fruits reach the point of eating perfection, and when on clear, frosty nights, the wild lonely call of migrating geese stirs the imagination and stimulates an atavistic urge to be up and away.

As history reveals, November was one of the months to which the Romans never troubled themselves to give a specific name.

They simply called it the "The Ninth Month," for that was originally its place in the succession of months in the year. It was from the Latin word, novem, meaning "nine" that came the present name, November. Later, when two extra months were added, November became what is today, the eleventh of the series, but its name was never changed. At one time, however, a change was suggested. July had been named for Julius Caesar and August for Augustus Caesar, so a

Water Operators' School To Be Held In Lexington

Frankfort, Ky.—Operators of water and wastewater treatment plants and water distribution systems in Kentucky will soon be going to school to become certified for proper operation of the facilities.

Sponsored by the division of sanitary engineering and water quality in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the 23rd annual water and wastewater operator's school will be held Nov. 15-18 at the Continental Inn, Lexington.

The operators will be eligible for certification after qualifying on tests covering water laws, bacteriology, chemistry and monitoring plans. Kentucky state law requires that water and wastewater operators be certified for one of nine job classifications. To be promoted from a lower classification, an operator must first become certified in a higher grade classification. Sanitary engineering director Nick Johnson said that since the certification became a requirement in 1967, more than 2,000 water and wastewater treatment plant and water distribution system operators have been certified. The first year the school was held, when certification was still optional, 40 persons attended. This year Johnson estimates about 400 applicants will enroll for the school and certification.

According to Johnson, the upcoming training session will complement the regional schools in preparing water and sewage operators for certification. "The satisfactory operation and maintenance of the drinking water and wastewater treatment plants," he said, "can only be assured when the operating and managing personnel are properly trained and qualified."

toading, subservient Roman Senate offered to call this eleventh month after Tiberius Caesar. To his everlasting credit Tiberius declined, saying, "What will you do if you have thirteen emperors?"

In November, all the outdoor would seems to be resting and catching its breath. Many of its activities are at a standstill, seemingly for the purpose of storing up energy for another spring. If all the crops are secure in the barn, cellar and pantry, the gutters cleaned of leaves, the "tater" onions planted in the ground, and a few of the other most pressing odd jobs out of the way, it is recommended that readers of this column also take some time off to rest and catch their breath.

Take some time away from raking leaves to attend football games, and by all means, don't neglect taking the youngsters out on a wild grape, walnut and hazel nut hunt. Consider ways and means of improving the old homestead and make plans for carrying them out. Above all, make plans for having fun and enjoying the great festival of Thanksgiving. Remember November comes but once a year. It is a time for relaxing, not only for a tired, hard-working mankind, but also for a tired earth.

Make the most of November—and Happy Thanksgiving!

Honaker Youth Electrocutted

Sixteen-year-old Johnny Kidd was electrocuted early Monday morning as he attempted to set up a CB radio antenna on the porch of his home at Honaker.

Floyd County Coroner James J. Carter said the youth apparently was killed when the antenna which he was erecting came into contact with high tension lines which pass over the house. The accident occurred shortly before 1 a.m.

A son of Millard "Tommy" Kidd and Bertha Case Kidd, he was born at Honaker, March 23, 1960, and was a member of the Regular Baptist Church. Besides the parents, the victim is survived by two brothers, Timmy and Tony Kidd, and three sisters, Sheila Faye, Jenny Lynn and Lena Mae Kidd, all at home.

Funeral rites will be conducted today (Wednesday) at 10 a.m. at the home of the parents with ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be made in the Kidd family cemetery at Honaker under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Jenny Wiley Council Leads Johnson Workshop

Members of the Jenny Wiley Reading Council, an affiliate of the International Reading Association, sponsored a workshop in teacher-made materials October 14, at the W. R. Castle School in Johnson county. Several persons from Johnson county participated in the workshop. Floyd county was represented by Judy Carter, Delphia Hicks, Larry Jervis, Bertha Ratliff, Myrtle Ratliff, Paulene Hicks, Kathleen Keithman, and Nadine Hicks. These members gave assistance and participated in the activities.

Prior to the workshop, Kathleen Keithman, Council president, presided at a directors' meeting. She announced that the next meeting is to be held November 9 at the Pikeville Grade School with a program about the follow-through in some projects in the Pike county schools.

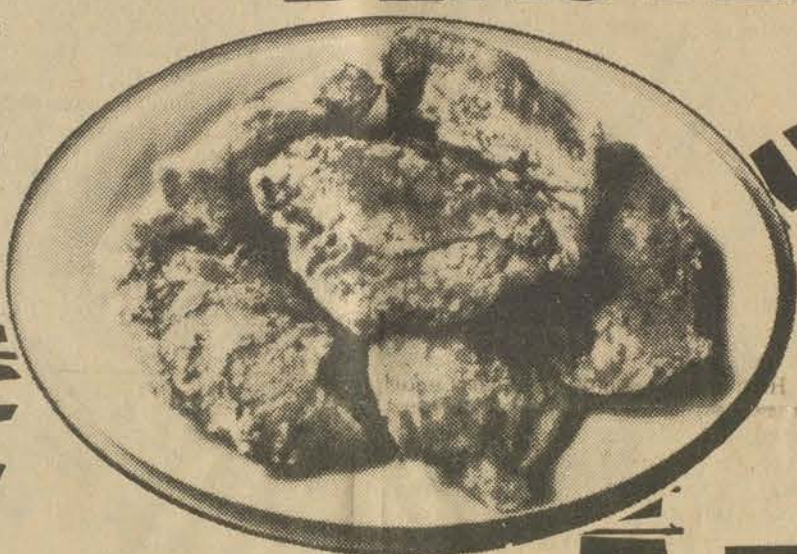

All persons interested in reading improvement are invited to become members of the Council.

Mrs. Sowards To Speak At Dedication Sunday At Highlands Regional

Mrs. Oscar C. Sowards, of Pikeville, will give the dedication address at the presentation of the kidney dialysis machine to the Highland Regional Medical Center at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, at the hospital.

Mrs. Sowards is presently treasurer of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and is president-elect of the General Federation and will assume this office in June, 1978. Mrs. Sowards is a member of the Pikeville Woman's Club Inc., and is past president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs.

Three years ago the Pikeville Woman's Club, the Pikeville Junior Woman's Club and the Elkhorn City Area Woman's Club began collecting S&H Green Stamps to purchase a kidney dialysis machine. It was first offered to the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, but it decided it could not accept it. It was then offered to the Highlands Regional Medical Center, which gladly accepted it. The hospital has two specialists, Dr. John W. Sutherland and Dr. James Cox, who will supervise use of the machine. The hospital has another machine in operation and presently is treating patients from Floyd, Pike and other counties.

Miss Lena T. Porter, general chairman of the project stated that this was a much-needed service and that the three clubs were pleased to have a part in it.

HERE OVER WEEK-END

Miss Linda Sue Stephens, who teaches in Charlotte, North Carolina, spent the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Clayborne Stephens, on Trimble Branch. Miss Stephens was here to attend the funeral of Ralph LaPointe.

Name of New Attorney Omitted from List

Omitted from the list of area attorneys recently admitted to the bar was the name of David Stone, of Pikeville, formerly of Garrett.

Mr. Stone, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Stone, is now associated with the Pikeville law firm of Combs, Stephens and Page.

A Tribute to My Daddy, Eite Gibson

By Mary McGuire (Daughter)

He was a gentle man who possessed inner strength which he did not have to prove; but did by his life style and the way he treated mom and his children and friends.

If truly cleanliness is close to Godliness, then my Daddy was always close to God, because he always believed in cleanliness of the body as well as the mind.

My Daddy was not always a demonstrative man in expressing his affection and love in words; but his actions always conveyed the message that he loved his family and that we, and my Mom especially, came before everything in this world.

He devoted his life to us and the qualities he emphasized most were those of kindness and gentleness and to always have respect and care for your fellow man.

When my Daddy had strong convictions, he never compromised but fought in his patient and fair way for what he believed in.

My Daddy was not a violent or revengful man. He believed in fairness and felt everyone should make the most of their abilities given to them by God.

He worked hard all his life until his health failed him. When his suffering became unbearable God took him home. It.

Wins Promotion

Merrel Robinson, son of the late Bill and Mae Robinson, of East Point, recently received a two-grade promotion with the Environmental Protection Agency where he is employed as a research biologist in the Toxicological Assessment Branch, Health Affects Research Laboratories, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

As leader of the Acute and Subchronic Toxicity group he is responsible for the execution of broad experimental design in toxic affects and cancer-causing potentials of waterborne chemical agents.

Mr. Robinson received a Bachelor of Science degree in biology and German from Berea College, is currently working, part-time, toward a Master's in Environmental Health at the University of Cincinnati.

Robinson's wife, Mary Frances, former resident of Auxier, is a teacher in the Kenton county school system. They and their sons, Brent and Chad, reside at Walton, Ky.

Ashland Oil Buys Coal Mining Firm

The acquisition of Addington Brothers Mining Co. by Ashland Oil Inc., was announced last Wednesday by representatives of the two companies.

In making the announcement, the companies agreed only to say the transaction had been completed, according to Donn Rooks, an Ashland Oil press relations representative.

Ashland Oil announced Sept. 23 that it was negotiating for the possible purchase of Addington Brothers, which is one of the largest independent coal companies in Kentucky.

The operation of Addington Brothers will continue under present management, according to Larry Addington, president of the company. The firm was formed in 1970 by Larry and Robert Addington, both natives of Sandy Hook.

In early 1971, the two left the highway construction business and began leasing coal lands in Eastern Kentucky. Addington Brothers, first based in Elliott county, expanded its operations with the increasing demand for coal. The firm now has offices in Sandy Hook, Grayson, Ashland and Coal Grove, Ohio.

Ashland Oil's growing interest in coal resulted in July, 1975 with the formation of Ashland Coal, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Ashland Coal was formed to acquire, produce and market coal in the Appalachian region, Rooks said. The company now has more than 100,000 acres of coal land leased or under option to lease in Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee.

Other Ashland Oil Coal interests include Arch Mineral Corp. and Ashland Oil Enterprises.

Ashland Oil owns 48.9 per cent of Arch

Hospital Honors Employees

Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, held an Awards Day November 4, to honor all of its staff. Efforts of the Dietary Department, exemplary of the virtues the hospital was seeking to extol, produced a special chicken and dumpling dinner.

Each year the employees nominate and select two individuals they wish to honor especially with the Sister Mary Angelo and Employee of the Year awards. Nominees this year were Helen Bradley, Sister Marie Gangwish and Pauline Wallace for the Sister Mary Angelo Award; and Linda Bartrum, Pearl Halbert and Pauline Wallace for Employee of the Year. Winners this year were Sister Marie Gangwish and Pearl Halbert, respectively. Each received a plaque and a corsage of red roses.

The Employee of the Year Award honors outstanding performance of duty and willingness to go beyond the call of that duty. The Sister Mary Angelo Award was established in memory of Sister Mary Angelo Dusini, one of the founding sisters of the hospital.

A special slide presentation which captures the work of most hospital employees was shown after the presentation of awards. It was offered again throughout the day so that all shifts of employees had benefit of the honor being done them.

Receives 50-Year Pin

Miss Lena T. Porter was honored at a recent meeting of the Pikeville Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Miss Porter was presented a 50-year pin from the chapter and Miss Katherine Ratliff, chapter regent, commended her for her work in the chapter and also for tireless effort in the state and national organization. The pin was presented to Miss Porter by Mrs. Olive Burchett, of Ashland, who is vice-regent of the Kentucky Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. Miss Porter is a past regent of the Pikeville Chapter and is presently serving as its librarian.

Miss Porter also served as state librarian and has served as state chairman of magazine advertising, state chairman of student scholarship and loan, national vice-chairman of American History Month. She is a member of the State Officers Club, has served as a director of the club, and has served as president of the Chapter Regents Club of Kentucky. Miss Porter has been a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution 51 years, first as a member of John Graham Chapter, Prestonsburg, and later transferring to the Pikeville chapter.

VISITORS FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Earle B. Martin, of Winter Haven, Fla., were here Monday while visiting relatives at Minnie and Langley. Mr. Martin, a former editorial employer of The Times, retired recently after 19 years' service as night city editor of an Orlando (Fla.) daily newspaper.

Employment in the occupation of architect is expected to increase much faster than average for all occupations as a result of growth of nonresidential construction, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's "Occupational Outlook Handbook in Brief, 1976-77 edition." About 3,000 annual openings are predicted through 1985.

To My Fellow Floyd Countians

I wish to thank you for your expression of confidence in me in the recent November election. This election was only for a one-year term but during the next year I will do my best to give you one year of decent, honest government in the County Attorney's office.

I do not wish to be a powerful politician but I do wish to be remembered as a simple, decent man who has the foresight to see right from wrong and to correct a wrong which is within my power to correct. I cannot promise and will not promise something that I cannot deliver. I will continue to work for the best interest of our County.

Sincerely,
Harold Stumbo

Salysville Native's Work To Be Displayed At Floyd Co. Library

An exhibit of a number of the works of Byrd Williams, well-known portrait artist and a native of Salysville, will begin Monday, November 15 at the Floyd County Library here.

Byrd's color pencil portraits which have been displayed in state and national parks, schools, malls and shopping centers all over the nation as well as in more than 60 public libraries in eight states, will be exhibited at the library through November 30. The artist will be at the library to talk with the public most of the day on November 18 and 23.

GRETHEL NEWS

The Grethel Homemakers met Nov. 1 at the John M. Stumbo School, with the president, Cosetta Newsome, presiding. Devotions were led by Mrs. Glenna Evans, who used "Forgiveness" as the theme from Colossians 3:8-15.

The lesson of the evening, "Mixes You Make at Home," was taught by Floyd County Extension agent Frances Pitts. Each member brought a homemade Christmas gift or decoration to display before the group. These included Christmas candles, table centerpieces made of chicken wire and decorated with Christmas greenery, a decoration made from a potato chip can, a wreath made from peppermint candies, crocheted bedroom socks and a Christmas tree made from foam egg cartons.

The next meeting, Dec. 16, will be a "Christmas Nibble Party." Each member is to bring cake, bread, cookies, dessert, or salad appropriate for the season.

Homemakers present were Mrs. Cosetta Newsome, Mrs. Glenna Evans, Mrs. Annette Martin, Mrs. Arietta Hall, Mrs. Maisie Anspaugh, Mrs. Eileen Martin, and Mrs. Frances Pitts.

Wheelwright Chapter No. 477, Order of Eastern Star, will have initiatory work next Tuesday at 7 p.m., and all Eastern Star members are invited.

Goal Achieved: Fire Department And Lower Insurance Rates

Volunteer firemen with one of their two firetrucks.

Fire insurance costs have been reduced from 20 to 30 per cent within the Betsy Layne Fire Protection Area, in a three-mile radius of the Betsy Layne fire station.

Eighth class rates apply to insured dwellings on all-weather roads that are accessible to firefighting apparatus and within 1,000 feet by all-weather road of a creditable fire hydrant that is accessible to firefighting equipment.

Ninth class rates are applicable to dwellings within the area that are more than 1000 feet from a fire hydrant but within three miles of the fire station by roads that are accessible to firefighting apparatus.

Distances are measured over roads accessible to the fire equipment.

The drastic reduction in rates is an aftermath of the organization, training and equipping of the Betsy Layne Fire Department which now has two fire trucks and its own fire house.

"This is the completion of our public water district goal that began in 1966," a spokesman of the Sandy Valley Water District said.

The water district has supplied fire hydrants at various points in sufficient number, and this, accompanied by the fire department improvement, has resulted in the reduction in insurance rates, it was pointed out.

The protection area along US 23 begins .7 mile east of the Pike-Floyd line, north of the Green Meadows Golf Course, and extends downriver to a short distance north of the mouth of Mare Creek. It extends up Mare Creek to 200 feet west of the school and up Mud Creek to Amba.

"The Betsy Layne Fire Department must rely upon private donations to continue the good fire rates, so we urge the people to contribute to the department at least one-half of their annual savings on the new fire insurance premiums, a leader in the fire protection move there said. Contributions should be mailed to Betsy Layne Volunteer Fire Department, Betsy Layne, Ky. 41605.

The number to call, in the event of fire, is 478-5555.

Student of the Month

Jodi Hayes, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hayes, of Hueysville, has been designated the outstanding piano student for the month of October at the Patricia Flanery Klatka School of Music.

Among those criteria a student must meet in order to achieve such distinction is perfect attendance for private lessons and theory classes, daily practice, and consistently well-prepared lessons.

A seventh grade student at Martin Elementary, Jodi is a member of the band and a cheerleader. She has studied piano for 2 1/2 years, during which time she has earned two achievement trophies.

WAYLAND NEWS

OBSERVES 88TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. M. V. Wicker observed her 88th birthday on the week-end of October 2. Dinner was served to about 40 relatives. Her four sisters were present. They are Mrs. Mary Martin, of Estill, Mrs. Jo Martin and Mrs. Byrd Wicker, of Lackey, and Mrs. Marie Smith, of Hindman. Her four daughters were also here for the occasion. They are Mrs. Imalee Spillman, of Wayland, Mrs. Irma Haney, Vero Beach, Florida, Mrs. Shirley Myers, Wabasso, Florida, Mrs. Christine Stewart, Franklin, Ohio. Several grandchildren and great-grandchildren enjoyed the day with their grandmother, great-grandmother, aunts, great-aunts and Bill Smith, of Hindman, Fonzo Wicker, of Lackey, J. T. Spillman, Bud Myers, and Carl Stewart.

Mrs. M. V. Wicker suffered a broken hip October 5 and was taken to Lexington where she stayed for two weeks. She is now in Highlands Regional Medical Center, Prestonsburg.

Mrs. Shirley S. Sikes and son Tom, of Louisville, Mrs. George Stout and Mrs. Donald Carter, Tim, Kelly and Patrick, spent the week-end of October 2 with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Spillman while here for the birthday of Mrs. M. V. Wicker.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Spillman spent the week-end in Lexington where they enjoyed hearing their grandson, Timothy Carter, perform with the Central Kentucky Youth Orchestra in the Lexington Opera House. Timothy plays second violin.

Dr. and Mrs. George Barber and three sons, of Morehead, and Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Haney and two daughters, of Aurora, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Horsely, of Olive Hill, came to see their grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. M. V. Wicker, the week-end of her birthday.

Calvary College Slates Agape Players Group

The internationally traveled Agape Players will present the patriotic musical, "Sights and Sounds of America", at 7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 17 and 18, at Calvary College, Letcher, Kentucky.

Utilizing period costumes and colorful drama, "Sights and Sounds of America" vividly portrays the growth of our nation from its earliest days; a solemn scene at that first Thanksgiving feast, heart-breaking reminders of wars that have torn our nation apart, careening antics of the Keystone Kops, a sparkling visit to an old "St. Louie" fair, and a stirring salute to "Old Glory". But through it all runs the real theme—a calling of America, and Americans, back to the God upon whom their great nation was founded. "If my people . . . shall humble themselves . . . and turn from their wicked ways, then will I . . . heal their land." (II Chronicles 7:14)

The Agape Players is a group of 21 college-age young people from all over the United States who have dedicated this Bicentennial year to sharing through song, drama, and testimony, the need for Americans to return to the faith of the founding fathers.

Swine Flu Clinics On Friday-Wednesday

The Floyd County Health Department will be holding two swine flu clinics which will be free of charge and open to the public. The first clinic will be held Friday evening, November 12, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., and the second flu clinic will be next Wednesday, November 17, from 8 to 12 and 1 to 4.

All persons over 18 years of age who are interested in getting this swine flu shot, or any child between 3 and 17 years of age who is considered a high risk child may attend either of these clinics. However, any child under 18 years of age must be accompanied by a parent or guardian before they can receive their flu vaccination.

School's Solar Energy Unit Costs $8, Wins Recognition

Frankfort, Ky.—Walker Buckner's conviction that solar energy is "the coming thing" created a vocational education project which is the only one of its kind in Kentucky. It also resulted in recognition from the state Bureau of Vocational Education, which feels the rest of the state's vocational schools should take notice.

Buckner, a teacher in the Carroll County Area Vocational Education Center, decided that his classes in heating and air conditioning should include solar energy. He wasn't stopped by the lack of existing teaching materials, either. Gathering information from brochures and magazines, Buckner created his own teaching materials and put his students to work.

Last year his class made a solar cooker, which they put to practical use in cooking chicken. The class also designed and built a portable solar unit for storing and releasing heat. It's being used to heat the classroom which is about the size of a small warehouse.

Buckner grinned as he talked about the unit's price—a grand total of eight dollars. "Of course," he said, "we scrounged a lot of stuff and some was donated and we got some from Army Surplus."

This year's class is studying the portable unit prior to building a permanent one. By modifying the unit, enlarging it and determining the best angle for catching sunlight, the class plans to build a unit which will heat the entire classroom.

The students are really interested in a solar energy, Buckner said, and they look forward to that part of the class. More important, Buckner thinks the country will be going to solar energy and that his students will be ready.

Along with recognition, the Bureau of Vocational Education is also providing a $350 grant to help make sure other Kentucky students will be ready too. Information on Buckner's project, one of 15 demonstration sites, will be sent to vocational schools throughout the state.

Holidays To Open With Martin Parade

The official opening of the holiday season will be marked by a special "Holiday Kickoff Parade" in Martin, Saturday, November 27.

Beginning at 1 p.m., the parade will feature Floyd county marching bands, queen representatives from county high schools, princesses from the grade schools along with school floats. The shriners will also participate in the parade and several local and state officials will speak. Trophies will be awarded for best marching band, best playing band, and best float.

Immediately following the parade will be the official lighting of the community Christmas tree and judging in the queen and princess competition.

The Martin Woman's Club, sponsor of the event, is requesting that residents along the highway decorate their homes and have lights turned on for the holiday kickoff. A prize will be awarded for the best house decoration.

Seminar on Diabetes Slated Here, Nov. 16

"Diabetes: Detection and Treatment" will be the topic of a three-hour seminar here for area pharmacists on Tuesday, November 16.

Sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy and Prestonsburg Community College, in conjunction with the Floyd County and Tugg Valley Pharmaceutical Associations, the program will be held at 8 p.m. in Room 104 of the community college's Pike Building.

Designed to provide current information in fields of interest to pharmacists and other local health professionals, the program will be conducted by John J. Piccoro and Robert Rapp, both of the UK College of Pharmacy.

Information concerning registration and other details of the meeting may be obtained from pharmacist-coordinator Ronald Johnson, telephone (606) 886-6536. All interested health professionals are invited to attend.

IN APPRECIATION

We, the family of Mitchell Prater, wish to thank everyone and express our appreciation for all the donations of money, food, clothing, furniture, the use of trucks and the Maytown Fire Department's help that we received when our house was destroyed by fire. We also thank everyone who helped with the shower and dance. We also thank the radio stations and the Methodist Churches, and anyone else who helped that we may have omitted.

PAUL P. HUGHES

AMC announces a $253 price reduction on a 1977 Gremlin now listing for only $2995.*

Here's why AMC is taking this action.

For a number of reasons, the small car market has substantially contracted during the last two years.

This has hurt American Motors which is exclusively a small car producer.

Due to increases in costs, small car prices have risen over $1000 in the last five years.

These price increases have driven many small car buyers out of the market place.

In order to convince these buyers to return to the market and look to American Motors, we've reduced the price of the 1977 AMC Gremlin by $253.

What's in it for AMC?

By reducing prices we expect to significantly increase our sales volume to offset the effect of the price reductions. In fact, we are banking on a 30% increase in Gremlin sales.

What's in it for small car buyers?

This reduction in Gremlin price means that now the AMC Gremlin lists for $254 less than Chevy Vega and for $104 less than the Ford Pinto Pony.

The base list prices are as follows:

Gremlin	$2995
Vega	$3249
Pinto	$3099

Compare Gremlin's performance.

Gremlin gives you a 6 cylinder engine as standard equipment for superior acceleration to pass at city or highway speeds. The Pinto and Vega come standard with 4 cylinder engines.

The Gremlin has a wider track for greater stability, and at 2806 pounds Gremlin has more road-hugging weight.

Compare room and comfort.

Gremlin has the greatest overall width for more hip and shoulder room. Gremlin also has the longest wheel base which combined with its wider track and road-hugging weight gives you a smooth, stable ride.

Compare Gremlin's versatility.

The Gremlin is no ordinary 2-door sedan. Only the Gremlin comes standard with a big wide hatch, fold down rear seat and even a carpeted cargo area, making the Gremlin a great small car for people who use a car for more than just transportation.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price. Destination charges, dealer prep, state and local taxes, other options extra.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to be able to personally thank the numerous good people who in any way assisted during the recent death and the funeral services of my husband, Bruce Spradlin. Since this is not possible, I take this means of expressing my gratitude to the Rev. Ted Green and the Rev. Bill Campbell, who officiated at the funeral; to the Rev. Bill Amburgy, who stayed with the family one entire day; to Dr. J. D. Adams, for his helpfulness and his kindness when these were so needed; to the Carter Funeral Home, where so much assistance and thoughtfulness were rendered; to those who sent flowers and food and who contributed to the Bruce Spradlin Memorial Fund, at the Bonanza Freewill Baptist Church; to Sheriff Joe W. Lewis for escorting the funeral procession, to all other county officials for their kind assistance; and to all who helped in any way to make the burden lighter. May God bless each and everyone of you.

His wife,

MRS. MARTHA ELLIS SPRADLIN

Suit Attacks Ky. Commitment On Paintsville Dam Recreation

A coalition of property owners and environmentalists last Friday filed suit in Franklin circuit court with the aim of halting construction of the Paintsville Dam and three others in the state.

The court action contends that contracts signed by former Governor Wendell H. Ford committing the state to share the cost of recreation facilities at the four reservoirs illegally obligated the state Legislature and taxpayers to spend money and that the agreement violated six sections of the state Constitution.

Bill Martin, Louisville attorney who filed the suit on behalf of the Kentucky Rivers Coalition, said federal law requires the state to sign a contract that it will pay one-half the cost of recreation facilities on all Army Corps dams and reservoir contracts.

However, he said that would obligate the state over a period of about 50 years for $14.6 million.

The constitution prohibits the state from incurring more than "casual debts" and requires anything in excess of that to be put to a vote.

He also said only the legislature, and not the governor alone, can authorize spending money.

Martin said exhibits were filed with the suit showing that as governor, Ford wrote the Army Corps of Engineers saying he couldn't sign the contract because he didn't have the power to do so under the constitution.

Ford, in a 1972 letter, told the Corps that the contract must include a phrase to make the agreement contingent on the appropriation of money by the legislature periodically. Martin said Ford said in the letter that he could not sign the contract if the statement was not included.

The attorney said the exhibits also show that Ford met later that year, however, with a number of persons, including Rep. Carl Perkins, and about 20 Johnson county residents. Johnson county is the area where one of the dams was to be constructed.

Several months after that meeting, on Jan. 5, 1973, Ford signed the first of four contracts with the language required by the Corps, doing "what he did not have the constitutional authority to do," Martin contended.

Contracts for the three other dams—containing similar language, were subsequently signed March 19 and April 18.

The suit asks the circuit court to issue a declaratory judgment, to interpret the contracts and to void them because they are in violation of the Constitution.

Blackcats Claw Tigers In Homecoming Game

The Paintsville Tigers were in the process of taking control of Highway US 23 from Raceland to Elkhorn City until they met a roadblock last Friday in the form of the Prestonsburg Blackcats. A hard-hitting defense and a ball-control offense sent the Tigers home with their first loss of the season. Paintsville was 9-0 and ranked third in Class A, going into the game.

Prestonsburg scored on its second possession of the first quarter on a 12-play, 70-yard drive. The key play of the drive was a 23-yard run by Quarterback Greg Dixon on a fourth and one situation. Tim Patrick got the final 10 yards for a score, hauling in a perfect pass from Dixon. On the ensuing kickoff, the Cats' specialty team downed the Tigers on the 10-yard line. On the following play, the Blackcats defense forced a fumble and recovered. Immediately, on the option play, Dixon pitched to William Goebel who went in untouched from 13 yards out to give the Cats a 12-0 lead. The offensive line of Gene Holland, Greg DeRossett, Scotty Walker, Bobby Osborne, Kenneth Campbell and Mike Click was outstanding, and receivers, Patrick, Ricky Morgan, Paul Ackerman, and backs, Kerry and Thomas Slone, along with Goebel and Dixon, did an outstanding job.

After the two first quarter scores the Cats' defense took over and nullified the Tigers' potent offense. Patrick, K. Slone, Osborne, Mark Chafin, and Walker handled the inside beautifully while DeRossett and Click played the run as well as the pass exceptionally well. The Blackcats secondary of Goebel, Alvin Hall, Morgan, and T. Slone played like professionals, coming up hard on the run and smothering Tiger receivers while intercepting six passes. Goebel, Morgan, T. Slone and DeRossett had one each, while Hall had two. The big defensive effort came early in the third quarter as Paintsville had driven the ball to the Cats' 10-yard line. With a penalty aiding the Tigers, they ran six plays from the 10, but the Prestonsburg defense rose to the occasion and handed the ball back to their offense on the three. The Tigers did get two points on a safety as the center snapped the ball out of the end zone on a punt attempt.

"It was a great team effort against a good football team," Coach Phillip Haywood said. "It's the best team defense we've played all year and that was the key. I'm also well-pleased with my coaches who did an outstanding job in preparing our team for this one. This is the kind of effort we will need from everyone as we go into the playoffs."

The Blackcats finished their regular season with an 8-3 record, and move into the Region Four title game against Whitesburg this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Prestonsburg field.

Wayland Elem. Wins First Invitational

Wayland Elementary school won its first Wayland Invitational Tournament, defeating Garrett Friday night, 67 to 37. High scorer for the game was Tim Branham with 51 points. Wayland won three games during the run of the tournament, winning over Martin Wednesday night, 58 to 26. In the semi-finals, the Wasps defeated Jones Fork school, 59 to 30. Betsy Layne placed third in the tournament defeating Jones Fork, 59 to 27.

Tim Branham was the high point producer in the tournament with a total of 110 points. Next in scoring was Trent Mullins from Jones Fork with 56 points. Mike Wilson from Betsy Layne scored 46 points; Randy Conley from Garrett scored 44 points, Wayne Morris from Betsy Layne scored 34 points; Brian Hunter from Garrett scored 27; Keith Collins and Wally Ridener, both from Wayland, scored 26 each.

Trophy winners included the following: Winners Trophy, Wayland; Runner-up, Garrett; Third Place, Betsy Layne; Team free throw, Wayland; Individual free throw, Tim Branham with 81 percent; Wayland; Sportsmanship, Beckham Combs; First Place Cheerleaders, Wayland; Second Place Cheerleading trophy, Betsy Layne.

Named to the all-tournament team were: Tim Branham, Keith Collins, Wally Ridener, Harvy Martin, all of Wayland; Randy Conley, Brian Hunter, Roger Prater, Shawn Francis, all of Garrett; Wayne Morris and Mike Wilson, both from Betsy Layne; Trent Mullins and Charles Collins, both from Jones Fork; Gilford Hall, of Osborne; H. Kilburn, of Martin; Edward Slone, from Beckham Combs.

Margie Jaggers Named PHS Homecoming Queen

Named 1976 Prestonsburg Homecoming Queen during half-time ceremonies at Friday night's Prestonsburg-Paintsville football game was Miss Margie Jaggers (seventh from left in photo), 17-year-old senior and a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William D. Jaggers, of Prestonsburg. Her escort is Randy Gearheart. Other members of her court and escorts pictured, from left, include—Nina Fannin, daughter of Bill Fannin, of Prestonsburg, and escort, David Leslie; Annette Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, Abbott Road, and escort, Marty Osborne; Sandy Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips, of Allen, and escort, Cohen Swiney; Miss Jaggers and escort; Paula Martin, daughter of Sue Martin, of Prestonsburg and Paul Martin, of Allen, and escort, Jimmy Patton, and Susan Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark, of Middle Creek, and escort Grady Stephens.

Pitches Perfect Game

Robie Tackett, member of the 1976 Prestonsburg all-star team for boys, ages 11-12, is the first boy to hurl a perfect game since the organization of Little League baseball was formed here some 20 years ago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tackett, of Prestonsburg. His perfect mound performance came in the playoff between the Pikeville All-Stars and the Prestonsburg All-Stars at the Martin Little League field. Robie faced 18 batters, allowed no hits or runs and struck out nine.

Blackcats To Face Whitesburg In Regional Playoff Encounter

The Region IV District II champion, Prestonsburg Blackcats, will be facing the Whitesburg Yellow Jackets, winners of Region IV, District I, Friday night at 7:30 on the Cats' home field. Whitesburg has rolled to an impressive 9-2 record for the season. Prestonsburg, with a big win over Paintsville last Friday, finished the regular season at 8-3.

Whitesburg is an experienced team composed mainly of seniors. Coach Haywood said, "They are big. It will be one of the biggest teams we've faced. They hit and pursue well defensively and have good quickness. Offensively they come right at you. Nothing fancy. They have some big backs and a big line and stick mainly with power plays. They can also throw the football, but their halfbacks do the passing off of their power sweep which is something we haven't faced. Overall, they are a real good, sound football team. They do everything well."

Will the Cats have anything special prepared for them? Said Haywood:

"We usually have one or two surprises ready each week, but we'll be doing our basic things. We'll be in some kind of five defensively and we'll be lined up in a wishbone. At this stage of the season, it's certainly too late to change anything. We'll just do what we do best. The main thing is getting mentally prepared. Whitesburg has an outstanding football team, but I think we'll be ready to play."

Woman Shoots Clerk

GRAYSON, Ky.—A Grayson woman was shot to death Tuesday, last week, while she was working at a department store in Grayson.

Police said Lois M. McCoy, 22, a clerk at the Dollar General Store in the town's downtown area was shot and killed. Authorities said they arrested an Elliott county woman in connection with the incident, but no charges had been filed.

Police report the suspect fired at the victim with a revolver, left the store, and fired at several other persons in the downtown area, but none were injured. Law enforcement officials were continuing their investigation into the shooting.

Floyd Native, Partner Win National Team Golf Tourney

Woody Blackburn, native of Betsy Layne, realized any young golfer's dream Sunday when he and his partner, Bill Kratzert, won the $200,000 National Team Golf Championship at Lake Buena Vista, Florida. They entered the third and final day tied with Jerry McGee and Allen Miller at 22-under-par 194, and were termed "a pair of long shot rookies" in a Courier-Journal story Sunday.

Other former Kentuckians, Gay Brewer and Bobby Nicholls, were also in close competition, and many who watched the nationally televised match Sunday afternoon didn't realize they were seeing an Eastern Kentucky native accomplish a rare feat for beginning professionals, many of whom play for four or five years on the PGA tour before winning a tournament. Blackburn-Kratzert won over the veterans, Brewer and Nicholls, on the third hole in the "sudden death" playoff.

Blackburn has been on the tour only since June when he completed the PGA

School at Myrtle Beach, S. C. as its top graduate.

A son of Clyde Blackburn, former assistant basketball coach at Betsy Layne, and the late Kathryn Chandler Blackburn, he attended the University of Florida on a golf scholarship, as now is his brother, Mike. The two have played for the past two years in the Paintsville Invitational Tournament with Woody runnerup one year and his brother the winner another.

Though the Blackburns have resided in Jacksonville, Fla. for several years where Mr. Blackburn teaches in the city school system, they have close ties in this county. Woody Blackburn is a nephew of Glenn Blackburn and Mrs. Billie Jean Osborne, band director, and a grandson of Mrs. Eliza Blackburn, all of Betsy Layne. He is also a grandson of Mrs. T. J. Chandler, of Roanoke, Va., and the late Dr. Chandler, who practiced at Lackey. Mrs. Chandler was visiting in Prestonsburg when she learned of her grandson's profitable Sunday afternoon.

Some 30-30 Rifle Cartridges Recalled

Minneapolis, Minn.—Federal Cartridge Corporation is recalling certain 30-30 rifle cartridges and empty unprimed 30-30 cartridge cases which have a structural weakness making them potentially dangerous to shoot.

The recall is for 30-30 ammunition or empty 30-30 cases with lot codes ending in -5289 through -6285. Lot codes are stamped on the back of each box. Boxes may have the brand name of Federal, Revelation, Wards, or Hiawatha.

Shooters who have this ammunition should call 800-328-7525 (in Minnesota call collect to 612-333-8255) or write Customer Service, Federal Cartridge, Anoka, Minnesota 55303 for proper disposition and refund information.

The case heads of a small number of these cartridges may separate on firing, resulting in a jammed rifle and possible injury from escaping gas. Although no serious injury has been reported, they should not be used.

Only a fraction of one per cent of the several million cartridges and unprimed cases produced are suspect.

Jenny Wiley Council Members Participate In Ky. Council Meet

Members of the Jenny Wiley Council of the International Reading Association were active participants at the Kentucky State Reading Council's fall conference on the University of Louisville campus in Louisville, October 8-9. Theme of the conference was, Good Reading Ideas from Good Teachers.

Paulene Hicks, primary teacher at Clark Elementary School, and Kathleen Keithman, primary teacher at Porter Elementary School, displayed materials and shared ideas. Their presentation, titled "Primary Reading Ideas," explained ways they managed their classrooms, kept records, taught their respective classes, and how they regarded reading in general.

Seventeen local councils, of which the Jenny Wiley Reading Council is one, have representatives on the State Reading Council. Lexie Allen, Langley, is the treasurer; Delphia J. Hicks, West Prestonsburg, is corresponding secretary; Bertha Ratliff is a board member, and Kathleen Keithman, by service as the Jenny Wiley Council's president, automatically serves on the board.

Floyd County Health Notes

Thursday, November 11, the health department will conduct a pap smear clinic. This clinic will last from 9 to 11:30 and 1 to 2.

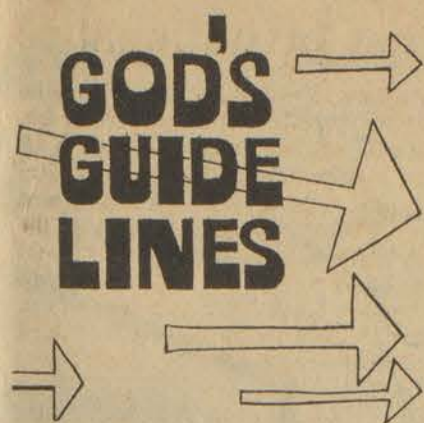

Most doctors recommend that women have a pap smear at least once a year, and the community health nurses urge all women to take advantage of this free cervical cancer screening.

Also available at this clinic will be a six-minute film regarding the detection of breast cancer. All women are welcome to attend this clinic.

Monday, November 15, a community health nurse will be at Osborne's Store in Bypro, offering the following medical services: blood pressures, diabetes screening, TB skin tests, immunizations and swine flu shots.

Clinic hours will be from 10 to 12 and from 1 to 2. This clinic is free and open to the public.

THE FIRST federal labor relations law was enacted in 1888, providing for arbitration and Presidential boards of investigation for railroad workers, according to "Important Events in American Labor History, 1778-1975."

Sincere Christians always seek God's guidance. They depend on the word of God for daily direction. Often, however, situations arise that test the ability of the Christian to discern right from wrong or to make the better choice. Situations vary, but the word of God remains an absolute guide.

Use the following scripture verses for personal assistance in keeping your walk within God's will.

1. Can you ask God to bless it? The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it. Proverbs 10:22

2. Can you thank Him for it? And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him. Colossians 3:17

3. Is it to the glory of God? Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. I Corinthians 10:31

Or is it of the world? Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. I John 2:15

4. Is it a stumbling block to others? But take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumbling block to them that are weak. I Corinthians 8:9

5. Will it be a weight? ... let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us. Hebrews 12:1

6. Is it to please God rather than man? And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men. Colossians 3:23

7. Do I realize the consequences? Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. Galatians 6:7

8. Is it expedient? Does it edify? All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but 'all things edify not. I Corinthians 10:23

9. Will it serve the right master? No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Matthew 6:24

10. Will His indwelling presence permit it? What? Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's. I Corinthians 6:19, 20

11. Would I want to be doing this when Christ comes again? Therefore be ye also ready; for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh. Matthew 24:44

12. Does it promote love? Owe no man anything, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the laws. Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law. Romans 13:8, 10

SOUTH PRESTONSBURG HOMEOWNERS MEET

The October meeting of the South Prestonsburg Homeowners Club was held at the home of Grace Derossett. The devotional, "Stewardship of the Earth," was given by Joyce Allen. After the business session a most interesting lesson on macramé was presented by Ora Bussey, Grace Derossett and Frances Pitts. Each person "learned by doing."

Refreshments were served to Joyce Freels, Becky Derossett, Carlos Haywood, Ora Bussey, Theckley Short, Joyce Allen, Ruth Hall, Frances Pitts and new members, Wanna Stephens, Lillian Harding and Vivian Fraley.

The November meeting will be at the home of Joyce Freels.

Grand Jury Indicts Four in Cooperative

Stanton, Ky.—The Powell county grand jury returned indictments against four men in connection with fraudulent practices in the organization and operation of Commonwealth Farmers Association, a farm cooperative operating in the area.

The Oct. 22 indictments were against Robert Nelson, one of the original promoters of the association; William Breneman Jr., sales manager for the "special trust agreements"; Malcolm Roy, president of Commonwealth Farmers; and Danny R. Mack, a salesman for the co-op.

It has been estimated that the co-op had sold approximately $180,000 worth of securities, known as "special trust agreements" before Powell circuit court issued a temporary restraining order stopping the sales earlier this year.

OLIVER SPRINGS, Tenn.—East Tennessee coal operators have posted a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of vandals who damaged equipment at three Anderson County surface mine operations last week-end.

Pikeville Center Gets $120,000

Gov. Julian Carroll has approved funding for five projects affecting Kentucky's adult corrections programs. The total of $782,809 was awarded after the program received favorable recommendations from the Kentucky Crime Commission.

A breakdown of the grants: —Pike county, $120,000, for establishing a detoxification center for the rehabilitative treatment of alcohol offenders.

—Montgomery county, $30,000, to initiate a feasibility study on a regional jail in Montgomery county.

—Kentucky Department of Justice, three grants: $374,200, for third year funding of adult halfway houses in Kentucky; $240,000, initial funding of the Boone County Special Detention Facility for Women; $18,609 for the expansion of the Seventh Step program.

Of the total, $703,948 will come from federal monies. The remaining $78,861 will be matched on a percentage basis by local and state agencies.

Observes 90th Birthday

Dave Burke, of Halo, celebrated his 90th birthday September 23, when he was surprised with a supper by his wife, Sophia Burke, his children, in-laws, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Mr. Burke was a coal miner for 35 years. He and Mrs. Burke are parents of seven children. They are Mrs. Bennie Hall, of Greenup, Mrs. Ervin Breeding, of Price, Mrs. Noah Johnson, of Halo, Garfield Burke, and Walter Burke, both of Halo, Russell Burke, of Bevinsville, and Daniel Burke, of Catlettsburg.

The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) provides for state and local manpower services, public service employment programs, and national manpower programs, including the Job Corps.

Uplifting Thoughts In Memory of Bascom Sammons

INFLUENCE
Drop a pebble in the water,
And its ripples reach out far;
And the sunbeams dancing on them
May reflect them to a star.

Give a smile to someone passing,
Thereby making his morning glad;
It may greet you in the evening
When your own heart may be sad.

Do a deed of simple kindness;
Though its end you may not see,
It may reach, like widening ripples,
Down a long eternity.

Wife Susie and all of their family. It.

$25,000 REWARD

($100,000 Maximum)

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has suffered certain malicious acts of sabotage involving explosives against its property and equipment, beginning October 18, 1976. Law enforcement officers, including federal, state and local, have been notified.

The Company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the Company or to any law enforcement agency of the state of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person willfully or maliciously interfering with the flow of gas or oil or injuring or destroying any of the Company's operating equipment or facilities by the use of any explosive devices or by setting any explosive devices for such purpose or for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act.

The maximum of reward payable in each instance or interference with the flow of gas or oil, or injury, or destruction of property by an explosive device or by setting any explosive device for such purpose is $25,000 and the total amount of the rewards payable for all such instances shall not exceed $100,000. The Company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate March 1, 1977, subject to extension by the Company.

In addition to the reward noted above regarding explosives, the Company also offers a $5,000 reward ($50,000 maximum) for other types of willful or malicious interference with the flow of gas or oil subject to the following conditions:

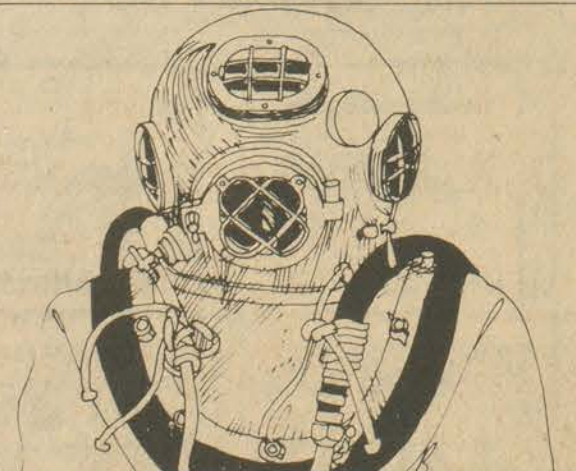

The Company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the company or to any law enforcement agency of the State of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person willfully or maliciously interfering with the flow of gas or oil, injuring or destroying any of the company's operating equipment or facilities, or for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act, without the use of explosives.

The maximum of reward payable in each instance of interference with the flow of gas or oil, injury, or destruction of property is $5,000 and the total amount of the rewards payable for all such instances shall not exceed $50,000. The company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate March 1, 1977, subject to extension by the Company.

Such acts of sabotage endangers the public which is dependent on gas for safety, health, and comfort. Any such acts affecting any of the company's facilities will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law as part of Kentucky West Virginia's obligation to provide safe and dependable gas service to its customers.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL
Director of Environmental Studies
Morehead State University

Urbanization and its adverse effects on the quality of life were discussed in the last article. This article further examines the plight of our cities.

Unparalleled and sprawling growth remains a major city problem today. Planning and zoning commissions in many major cities were not considered forceful tools until very recently. But once city fathers began to step back and take a critical look at the "Frankenstein" they had created from piecemeal parts, they began to give more authority to planning commissions.

One of the biggest problems in land use planning has been enacting provisions in existing regulations to allow for some open space. Poor planning is never more evident than when one enters the downtown section of an older city and is greeted by litter-filled streets, stark grey air pollution-tainted buildings, groups of young people lounging on the sidewalks, pigeons and starlings, and the noise of jackhammers digging up crumbling city streets. Every available niche is filled with evidence of the greed displayed in previous years. It becomes obvious that no thought was given to providing places for humans to relax in this unnatural environment or if open usable space, in the form of small parks or recreation areas, was considered at all during the planning stages, it was quickly discounted for economic reasons.

Some cities have humanized their downtown areas and they are presently enjoying a healthy business boom while their counterparts who have not enhanced the quality of life in deteriorating downtown sections bemoan the migration of shoppers to modern suburban shopping centers where parking is free and ample and congestion is at a minimum.

Lexington, Ky. is a good example of how both downtown businesses and those in the suburbs can coexist. For the past 20 years the shopping trends in Lexington have been moving to the outskirts of town, but the recent completion of a new civic center, parking facilities, an opera house, and several urban renewal projects emphasizing open areas have combined to alter the flow of business back to the downtown area. This revitalization still permits the existence of three major suburban shopping malls. Louisville, Ky. has not been so progressive. Its downtown area has suffered from deterioration and a lack of open space for several years and only recent city administrations have begun to provide open malls, plazas and other "people" places.

Ironically, another urban problem is the exact opposite of a lack of open space and that is too much of it in the wrong places. The process responsible for the situation is called "leapfrogging." Leapfrogging occurs when developers buy less expensive land farther away from the city's core rather than the more expensive land closer to town. The result is a complicated pattern of developed and undeveloped land which is difficult and expensive to serve with fire and police protection, sewage facilities, and other conveniences.

The process also tends to eventually eliminate the open spaces remaining in the piecemeal pattern because the open areas have been previously zoned for development and are later built upon.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Floyd County Humane Society will until 12 noon (EST) Dec. 20, 1976 receive bids on the construction of an animal shelter approximately 30 x 60 feet, one-story, no basement. Plans and specifications may be had by contacting John Burke, Jr., president of the Floyd County Humane Society, P. O. Box 158-B, Abbott Road, Prestonsburg, Ky. No deposit for plans required. Bid bond of 5 per cent and 100 per cent performance bond required.

The Floyd County Humane Society reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Ghost Stories Have a Place In Hill Country or in West

By HELEN PRICE STACY

Nowhere in all the land are stories more meaningful than here in the Kentucky highlands. Still, one year ago when the article, "These Are the Days When Dark Shadows Appear," it was read to a group of children in Arizona. These youngsters in the west were as captivated by ghost stories at Hallowe'en as any group of children in the deep, dark hollows of the Commonwealth.

Shirley Adams Terry, her husband Norvin and their 11-year-old daughter Kopana found it necessary to leave Morgan county for the dry climate of Tucson.

"This column struck at the right time," wrote Mrs. Terry, a former worker in the Kentucky Department for Human Resources. "We have often told stories and happenings to Kopana and her friends here. They listened with open ears and wide eyes. They even re-tell the stories next day in their school classroom. Kopana and her neighborhood friends were out playing this afternoon. I called for them. We all sat on the ground in the warm sunshine and I read the story to them. They were spellbound."

In the Kentucky hills in deep autumn there is an unexplainable melancholy accompanied by deep, brooding silence and always shadows that seem unfathomable in their density. The setting is conducive to tall tales and yarns that provided entertainment in long ago years when families were landlocked.

George L. Moore, of Route 3, Olive Hill, is just the age to recall many nights in his childhood when he shivered and shook with countless ghosts who walked along narrow paths in deep woods, who opened doors thought to be securely latched with a "country bar" slipped through wood pockets, who rattled chains on the steep stairs leading to a loft bedroom and who frequently rode beside travelers.

Old wagon roads had their share of haunts—or "haints," as spoken in the hills. Along Tygart Creek in Carter county was such a road that in spring was so full of water "the team would sometimes have to swim and water would rise several inches in the wagon bed." Everyone traveled the same way, using rough and rutted wagon roads. "The later Governor (William) Fields would on rare occasions travel this way," he writes.

In the section of Elliott and Carter counties where one such road followed the creek up Sinking and through Grocery Gap to join the road to Olive Hill, staunch citizens, church-goes, told of seeing strange apparitions. The late Rufus Click once wrote about these specters and spirits.

Another road said to be populated by ghosts was the Tarkiln road in the same area. One old mule team driver told about a woman dressed in white, visible as he neared a cliff.

"She would mount the wagon," he said, "and sit silently beside men until we reached the clearing at the top of the hill, at which point she would silently disappear into a thick growth of pines."

A man on horseback said the woman in white always waited at the foot of the cliff. It would be dark and often late in the night. He was not really afraid of the "woman in white who would effortlessly mount the horse behind his saddle. She would ride silently up the hill until we came to an open space where she would disappear into the pines."

Most ghosts who are "main characters" in stories—the stories told as true ones—do not harm anyone and often do not frighten. The majority of story tellers claim that ghosts are friendly and are trying to be helpful.

"I'd be for sayin' that 99 per cent of all haints and ghosts are not out to do harm," opines an oldtimer, "but in their way are trying to get a message across or trying to help a friend or loved one." He added, however, that "there are the others who fall in the one per cent class who are out to get even with someone who did them wrong."

It would seem then that at this season everyone who has ever done a wrong to another should start now to make amends for the wrong. It could be insurance against that day when the person walks a lonely path through dark woods or has to drive home alone late at night. The person in white beside the traveler might be there to help in a strange way that some day could become a story to be retold around a hearth to a group of spell bound youngsters, or to children sitting in the autumn sunshine in a western state.

Gov. Carroll Urges Economy in Design

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll has signed an executive order creating a Design Advisory Council. The council will advise the Governor on matters involving state policy in design. Creation of the council is an outgrowth of last summer's Design Assembly, a two-day event which was attended by planners, designers, architects, civic leaders and government officials.

Nash Cox, director of the Kentucky Arts Commission which sponsored the assembly, was named chairman of the council. "Creation of the council," Cox said, "is a significant step toward demonstrating the administration's support of good design."

At the assembly Gov. Carroll had urged "wise use of resources," and "wisely spending tax dollars for effective, useful design." He stressed that public structures should be designed "to meet a public need, no ore and no less." He said, "Many dollars are wasted when projects are designed to spend an appropriated sum of money."

In addition to Cox, Gov. Carroll named Russ McClure, secretary, Executive Department for Finance and Administration; William Short, secretary, Development Cabinet; John Roberts, secretary, Department of Transportation; and Peter Webb, president, Kentucky Society of Architects, to serve as ex-officio members of the council.

Members named for varying terms include Anne Dretzka, Frankfort, appointed for a one-year term; Joe Clark, Lexington, for a two-year term and Sarah House Tate, Nicholasville, for a three-year term.

Grady Clay, of Louisville, and Charles P. Graves, Lexington, will both serve four-year terms.

Upon expiration of any term, the new appointment will be to a four-year term.

Ky. Receives Reclamation Funds

Gov. Julian M. Carroll (third from left) was recently presented a check for $600,000, the first payment from the Tennessee Valley Authority for their demonstration orphan land program to reclaim coal strip mines abandoned before effective reclamation laws were passed. Delivering the check were (from left), Ira Gray head of the orphan land section, John Witt, commissioner, and Ralph Waddle, director of reclamation, all of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection. The state expects to receive $10 million during the five-year program to restore some 40,000 acres of orphan land and 1,450 acres of coal haul roads in 12 southeastern Kentucky counties.

SINCE 1925, service-producing industries have contributed almost 80 percent of the total growth in nonfarm employment. Among the industries creating the greatest number of jobs since 1950 have been state and local government, trade, and services such as health care, according to "U. S. Workers and Their Jobs; The Changing Picture," a publication of the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

KET 'Magazine' To Feature Lotts Creek Community School

In 1933 the people of Lotts Creek, Perry county, made the richest of all investments... the establishment of an educational institution to help insure the quality of their children's lives. Today, Lotts Creek Community School, Inc., under the direction of one of its founders, Alice H. Stone, not only draws children from its own valley but also from hamlets on Clear Creek, Defeated, Cutshin and other tributaries.

The story of the school dedicated to the education of mountain children will be told on Kentucky Educational Television's (KET) "Kentucky Magazine," Sunday, Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. and again, Wednesday, Nov. 24, during the same time period.

That edition of "Magazine" also will include segments featuring a senior citizens program in Frankfort and the renovation of a Harrodsburg courtroom.

"Nobody needs to be lonesome," says one happy member of the Frankfort Senior Citizens Center.

"Magazine" joins the young in spirit for a look at the project which helps many of Franklin county's older residents enjoy each other's company and life. With the guidance of Viola

Brawner, approximately 2,700 men and women are now registered for services, including entertainment, a meal program, and money earning projects.

Don A. Hill is a Danville architect, who tackles the project of renovating a Harrodsburg courtroom. The result of his design is a "model courtroom," emphasizing the witness more than the judge.

Explore Kentucky and get to know its people with "Kentucky Magazine," Sundays and Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m.

EXPLANATION

The Times has been asked to explain that the Lowell Marcum who was listed in last week's paper as having been arrested on a drunk driving charge is not the man of the same name who resides at Allen and is employed by the C. & O. Railway. The sheriff's office identified the man arrested as living in Martin county.

Ky. Cities Guide Available at U.K.

A guide for administrative and legislative decision making has been prepared for Kentucky cities by the University of Kentucky Center for Public Affairs.

"Personnel Data for Kentucky Municipalities" reports the total salaries, wages and fringe benefits paid to municipal employees of 115 cities.

Six categories of Kentucky cities, arranged according to population, are listed in the guide. The cities range in population from 500 to 100,000. Departments included are administrative and clerical, engineering and public works, park and recreation, trades and labor, police department and fire department.

Fringe benefits listed include vacation leave, sick leave, holidays, longevity plan, probation period, retirement plan, clothing and uniforms, insurance policies, and Workmen's Compensation.

Salaries ranged from $29,208 for a manager of a larger city downward to laborers in smaller cities who earned $2.20 per hour.

The study was funded in part by a grant from the U. S. Civil Service Commission under the provisions of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act and administered by the Department for Local Government, Frankfort.

Copies of the guide are available from the UK Center for Public Affairs, Rm 409, Commerce Building, University of Kentucky, Lexington (40506). The price is $10 per copy.

She Voted Despite Age and Blindness

Blind for the last eight of her 91 years, Mrs. Kate McGlothen, of Printer, went to the Halbert precinct polls last Tuesday to cast her vote. In fact, age and physical handicaps have never prevented her from exercise of her voting rights.

"Aunt" Kate is the widow of Millard McGlothen and is the grandmother of State Representative James (Jitter) Allen. "I still would like to thank all the wonderful people of Floyd county who helped elect my grandson for State Representative," she said last week.

Another grandson, Jackie Osborne, resides with her at Printer. She is the mother of Charles McGlothen, at home; Ada Osborne and Ora Mae Allen, of Martin; Russell McGlothen, Winchester, Ky.; Mildred Halbert and Herb McGlothen, of St. Mary's, Ohio. One son, James, was killed during World War II and another son, Morton "Shikepoke" McGlothen, died a few months ago at St. Mary's, Ohio.

Leach Announces '77 Boy Scout Camporee

Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg, chairman of the 1977 National Scout Jamboree Committee of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced that the council has begun accepting applicants for participation in the 1977 Scout Jamboree.

The National Jamboree is held every four years and will be held again, August 3-9, 1977, at Moraine State Park, near Butler, Pennsylvania. More than 40,000 boys and their leaders will be attending the 1977 Jamboree and the contingent will include Scouts from many foreign countries as well as all fifty United States. The theme of the 1977 Jamboree is "Forward Together—Scouting-USA".

Scouts may apply for participation in the Jamboree if they will be at least 12 years of age by April 1, 1977, is a First Class Scout and has earned the Hiking, Camping, First Aid, and Cooking skill awards.

"Any boy interested in learning more about the 1977 National Scout Jamboree", Leach said, "should write to the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, P. O. Box 110, Pikeville, Ky. 41501."

By LARRY BURKE

In our present day thinking—the majority seem to have the conception that all men are actually good at heart. If he destroys property of others it is because he had a frustrated youth. If he steals, kills or abuses the rights of others—he is simply ignorant or is surrounded by adverse environment.

Fifty years ago and as far back as 2,000 years ago this was not the thinking. Man was considered bad until he made the effort of "change." We used to think man was evil when he made evil choices, and good when he finally decided to make good choices.

Today—as hundreds of years ago—the teachings concerning the wickedness of the human heart still holds good.

Evil and bad is simply a matter of choice with people today. Our children need the important lesson taught them—they must choose to be good. Only those who choose good become good.

Our Thought to Remember: "As a man thinketh, so shall he be."

Highway 80 To Cut Through Historic Mountain 'Kingdom'

(From The Knott County News)
Possibly the last first generation Knott County Farm left wholly intact from the dissection of highways, stripmines, or decisions within the family is now threatened by the new Highway 80 now in the process of right of way purchasing. The farm and its beautiful old farmhouse belongs to Albert Stewart, Knott County teacher and poet. Stewart, who is editor of Appalachian Heritage magazine, is presently trying to convince the Kentucky Bureau of Highways to spare the farm because of its historical, and sociological significance, not to mention its literary importance. The farm is referred to locally as "the Kingdom". Stewart says "the place has come to be called The Kingdom of Yellow Mountain through time, chance, and change. A visitor came one night without the opportunity to see how the valley suddenly opens up into a pleasant and harmonious arrangement of bottom lands and home seat, between four hills where three streams meet. The next morning he claimed, 'Why, you have a pyore kingdom here.' Eventually it became "The Kingdom of Yellow Mountain" or just "The Kingdom."

Al Stewart is not the only person upset about the plans for Highway 80 to cut through the farm recently placed on both the Kentucky Historical Society's list of historic places and the National Directory of Historic Places. Harriet Arnow, a Kentucky native and the author of "The Dollmaker" and other novels, said "I can't believe the powers that be will let the new 80, which is not needed, certainly not there, destroy such a unique and beautiful piece of social history." Mrs. Arnow further stated, "It is a rare place. I know of nothing else that speaks to me so clearly of the past and at the same time is beautiful. The place is a museum worth a high fee."

The farm, the farmhouse, and the Stewart family is shrouded in Kentucky history, politics, and literature. The Stewart family has been an integral part of the social, political, and cultural development of Knott County, Eastern Kentucky, and the Commonwealth. "The Kingdom" has been for more than 110 years the heart and soul of this distinguished family.

The story of "the Kingdom" and the Stewart family began with Alexander Stewart of Scotland who immigrated to American in 1770. By the 1780's he found himself in Kentucky, and when the Indians became overly hostile in the Bluegrass, Alexander moved his family to the mountains. William Stewart, Alexander's son, moved to Ball Creek in what was then Perry County to hunt and the family has been domiciled in the area to this day. William's son, Dr. Jasper "Bird" Stewart moved a smile up Ball Fork to the present location of "The Kingdom" and built the first house there in "The Spring of the Surrender." Al Stewart relates that Jasper was Knott County's first medical doctor and a model for the character of Old Doc Ross in Lucy Furman's novel, The Lonesome Road.

While Dr. "Bird" Stewart was practicing medicine and building on the famous home, a young doctor came to Knott County and raised an objection to Jasper practicing medicine in the area without having attended a Doctor's College. Doctor Stewart, who had never even been to grade school, was extremely popular in the mountains, being particularly well known for his indefatigable efforts in fighting the fever, and his willingness to attend to his patients with little or no fees. Recognizing the talent and professional dignity of the old country doctor, the Kentucky legislature passed a special act and granted Dr. Stewart a license to practice medicine.

Dr. Stewart was in every way a mountain doctor. Although he had never attended college, he had studied under Yale graduate Dr. Hix, and an old mountain herb doctor, Dr. Patrick. Jasper inherited the medical library of Dr. Hix and the faith in Nature's Remedy represented in Dr. Patrick. In final tribute to the kindly old doctor Knott County elected him County Assessor even though the doctor was one of the few Republicans in the county.

The part played by the Stewarts in Knott County history continued with Jasper's nephew "Preacher Jim" Stewart being elected to the Kentucky State Senate. He died on the Senate floor while giving a speech. William, Dr. Jasper's son and Al Stewart's father, stayed at "The Kingdom" and used the old logs plus new ones to build a double log house with added rooms and porches to make an L-shaped house with weatherboarding—a style prestigiously popular at the time.

Dr. Jasper Stewart's lineage also includes Dr. Alexander H. Stewart, graduate of Cincinnati Medical College, mountain physician, author of four books dealing with medicine and sociology, Kentucky State Senator, physician for the old Frankfort Penitentiary, organizer and Captain of the mountain men who fought in the Spanish American War, participant in the development of Oklahoma, a man of unusual and diverse talents.

Alexander's son, Lee Stewart, was perhaps the most famous of the family. Lee went to school under Professor George Clarke in Hindman. He went on to the University of Kentucky and taught school at Carr Creek until 1896. In 1899 he graduated law school in Indiana. He was elected Circuit Court Clerk of Knott County on the Republican ticket and went on to be elected to the Kentucky House of Representatives. Although his career included such activities as Assistant Secretary of State for Kentucky, and secretary to U. S. Congressman John Langley, Lee became well known throughout the state as a no nonsense U. S. Deputy Marshall and Revenue agent. His forty years as a wrecker of moonshine stills ranks him in Kentucky history with "Big Six" Henderson as a fearless lawman in a lawless era of Kentucky whiskey making.

Lee participated and was wounded in the famous Ballard raid, one of the bloodiest shootouts between moonshiners and Federal agents. Lee, who always walked or rode horseback in his pursuits, was run down on the side of the road by a moonshiner in a car. Lee escaped with a broken arm, but his career as a revenuer ended with the ironic incident.

Lee Stewart, the man reputed to have destroyed more moonshine stills than any other lawman of his time, retired to Morehead where he spent his last days as a writer of some fine local history.

Albert Stewart, who presently resides at "The Kingdom," is the author of The Untoward Hills, a volume of poetry. He is a recognized folklorist and editor and in the family tradition has a deep love for "the Kingdom." Stewart says "I now live in and own by legal process the house where I was born. It is a quiet place, a place for birds and wild flowers with the old field growing up and lost in second growth timber. All the bottoms are in grass except for the acre-plus of garden that has been tended, for more than a hundred years regularly as the seasons."

If there were Federal funds involved in building of Highway 80, it would be required that places on the National Register of Historic Places be spared. But Highway 80 will be entirely financed with coal severance tax funds, and no such protection is guaranteed. Mrs. Stewart has been in contact with the engineers of the Bureau of Highways according to the fate of "the Kingdom" but as yet there is no indication that plans to build the road through the farm will change.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Kentucky's sportsmen know that the ultimate reward of any outdoor trip should be the delicious meals provided by fish and game, although some are discouraged because their fish sometimes taste strong or their birds or animals "gamey."

The experienced outdoorsman knows that unpleasant tastes in wild meat or fish are often caused by improper handling. With proper care, both game and fish can provide some excellent eating, but handled improperly, they can taste terrible.

The first rule for proper handling is to clean and dress both fish and game as soon as possible. If there is no time for a complete cleaning, game should be eviscerated and kept as cool as possible until it can be dressed out completely.

Fish should be kept alive until they are cleaned, but any dead fish should have the intestines and gills removed at once. A fish with unclouded eyes, red gills and firm flesh is still suitable for the skillet.

Small pan fish, such as bluegill and crappie, are usually prepared by scaling and removing the head and intestines. Be sure to remove completely the kidneys which are located along the backbone in the upper rib cage. If not removed, they can taint the flavor of the fish.

Larger fish, such as bass, are best if they are filleted since this process removes both the skin and bones, leaving only strips of fine white meat. The skin is often the source of strong flavors, and it should be removed from any large fish.

A good trick in dressing squirrels and rabbits is to soak the animals in cold water before skinning. This will keep loose hair from sticking to the meat. If any hairs get on the meat, they should be removed at once, since this is another source of objectionable flavor. Also the meat should be inspected carefully and any bloody areas removed.

After the fish, birds or animals are cleaned, they should be cooked as soon as possible. If they are to be stored for more than a day or so, they should be frozen. An excellent way to freeze both fish and small game is to cover the meat completely in a container of water and put the container in the freezer. This protects against both freezer burn and against the meat picking up objectionable tastes or odors during storage.

Larger cuts such as large fillets or cuts of venison should be wrapped in strong plastic or freezer paper and sealed tightly. In freezing any meat, it is important that the wrap be airtight.

Official Draws Jury Reprimand

Salersville, Ky.—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Stephens was reprimanded by the Magoffin county grand jury last Tuesday for his "reluctance" in assisting an investigation of County Judge Earl Borders, Sheriff Ben Patrick and Magoffin Fiscal Court.

In its final report, the October grand jury said its own investigation of the elected officials had produced evidence of wrongdoing.

The jury criticized Stephens and local prosecutors for not taking up the investigation.

"There was possible various evidence showing that the county judge, Earl Borders, had possibly violated the law of misfeasance of office concerning the confiscated alcoholic beverages seized in Magoffin county," the jury report said.

In addition, the jury said it had possible evidence that fiscal court members had violated state law by making expenditures of more than $2,500 without proper public notice.

The jury also said it possibly had found evidence that Sheriff Patrick had "committed nonfeasance, neglect of duty of office" and was engaged in private enterprises.

However, according to jury foreman Don Bailey, the panel felt it needed legal guidance in order to prepare indictments.

Bailey said the attorney general's assistance was requested when County Atty. Marcus Mann and Commonwealth's Atty. Afton Smith demonstrated a reluctance to help.

Raymond M. Larson and Samuel Isaacs, of the attorney general's staff, spent one day with the grand jury and "said they didn't want to fool with coming back," Bailey said.

However, Thomas C. Jacobs, deputy attorney general, said it was the state's policy not to intervene in cases where a local prosecutor was available. "We thought we made a legitimate effort," Jacobs said.

Mann said he told the jury he would be "glad to help," but that he had a suit pending in court to determine the county attorney's obligations to serve a grand jury.

The panel recommended referring the evidence to the February grand jury.

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

Like dead and wounded birds down they come in the autumn of the year. The falling of the leaves is one of the great spectacles of Nature, and one of her most important contributions to the stability and endurance of the earth.

All our broad-leaved trees are deciduous (from the Latin word, "decidere," to fall). The yellow poplars are the first trees to shed their leaves, to stand gaunt and bare in the bleak, winter weather. The oaks and beeches shed last. The tough-butted white oaks growing along the lower hillsides refuse to shed their leaves, which cling all dry and curled up on the twigs; they sigh and sing sad dirges in the cold winter winds.

On any large tree, the number of leaves reach into the multiplied thousands, and all must come down. The number of leaves on all the trees is so great, it is utterly beyond human comprehension. Yet all are destined to fall.

With some trees, shedding their leaves is a quick thing. Overnight they drop all their leaves, which lie in a crumpled heap around the tree. Other trees shed slowly, one leaf at a time, but let a wild North wind sweep through the forest and it will pluck the leaves off by the millions, and one may see them flying through the woods like a flock of startled quail, slapping against tree boles, colliding with one another, while some are caught by the fingers of smaller trees and held fast, to fall at another time.

The falling of the leaves is a stern phenomenon of nature. She decrees that when the work of the leaves is all done for the season, they must fall; she operates a pair of scissors, so to speak, in the form of a cutting-off layer of cells, which cuts across the leaf stem at its base, so it then must fall.

The fallen leaves are beyond doubt Nature's most valuable contribution to the fertility and preservation of the earth. At first they fall all over the woods and lie loosely on the ground. If you should walk the woods through the newly fallen leaves, they make a loud, protesting, crunchy noise as you step on them. But wait and see how nature settles them down. She sends a heavy snowfall to flatten them and press them down tight against the earth. Then they form a snug winter coverlet for seeds and dormant plants, to keep them safe until spring; they keep warm the toes of the trees; they furnish a snug bed for many kinds of small animals. The larger animals carry dry leaves to make beds in their dens.

The leaves, well soaked by rains and snows, settle down and begin the process of forming a thick leaf mold; this is the first step in making the rich humus to add to the soil. The spongy leaf mold absorbs the rainfall and prevents soil erosion. It enriches the soil and keeps it fertile for future growth.

As the leaves decay, they release spiritual entities in the form of atoms, which wait in the forest for the new leaves of spring to appear. Then they are added to their cells and become teachers with rich experiences to impart to the new crop of leaves. In a sense, then, the leaves have a link with immortality.

Accounting Firm Here In Ownership Change, Is in New Location

O. Weldon Luginbyhl, certified public accountant who for several months has been managing principal for the Lawton Ray Allen accounting firm here, has purchased Mr. Allen's accounting business here and at Martin. It was announced this week. The business will be operated under the firm name, W. Luginbyhl and Associates, Certified Public Accountants.

Completed this week was the work of moving the accounting offices from the second floor of the Allen-Meade building to the former Lakeway Carpet building, near the intersection of South Lake Drive and the road to Jenny Wiley State Park at Lancer. Open house in the new location will be held Nov. 10 and 11.

Mr. Luginbyhl has been a CPA 10 years and before moving to this section a year ago was president of a Houston, Texas bank for three years. His wife is the former Rosemary Hall, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Ranier Hall and the late Wade Hall.

Mr. Allen will devote his time to the management of his Lexington accounting office, it was said.

Calls for Blood Donors

By PATTY BOWEN

How many times have you been called in the middle of the night to donate blood for a member of your family or friend? Or, you are a rare donor and a patient with your type needs blood, and the hospital calls, but you cannot donate because you have a cold?

In case you haven't noticed, this hardly ever happens any more in Floyd county. Under the old system used by your hospitals, the patient had to bring in blood donors which had his same blood type a day or two before surgery in order to have this blood on hand. In emergencies donors were called in the middle of the night to give blood.

Now, McDowell, Our Lady of the Way, and Highlands Regional Medical Center simply order fresh blood each week from the Central Kentucky Blood Center and have it ready on the blood bank refrigeration shelves. This means that someone, somewhere, has to give a pint of his or her blood to the blood bank in order to have the blood available for the hospitals in Floyd county.

So, you see, if you and your family do not support the volunteer blood donor drives whenever a mobile drawing is held in Floyd county then the blood bank may not have the blood to supply your hospitals. This may mean that you will again be called out of a sound sleep to donate blood.

If you donate ahead of time, before the need for blood arises, then you can guarantee that you and your family will have all the blood they need. This may not mean anything to you now, but what if you or one of your children were hurt in a car accident and needed blood, and you had the opportunity to donate and didn't. How would you feel then?

Come to McDowell ARH on Thursday, November 4th, from 10 to 4. Give blood, the gift of life, for you and for Floyd county.
