Cold Slows Court Term Start Here

Pike Trial Results In Workman Case Continuance Order

Snow upon snow Monday morning not only slowed traffic, kept schools closed and sharply curtailed most normal activities—it hit the opening of circuit court so hard that it barely opened.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley did contrive to empanel petit juries and the grand jury, but he cut short his instructions to the latter in order to permit petit jurors to return home before travel conditions grew even worse.

The grand jury remained for a day's work—but later quit for the day when only one person appeared before it. It returned Tuesday to resume work, if any "witnesses" show.

The grand jury as of Monday had only one slaying to investigate, that of Tom Nelson. Tot Marsillett is under bond, pending the grand jury's action in the case.

Petit jurors are not expected to sit in any trials till later in the week. Some cases have been continued already, since the dates of their trials conflict with the trial of Eddie Jones set in the Pike circuit court to begin Monday and Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen is involved in the prosecution.

The Jones case was venued to Pike county after Special Judge Caswell P. Lane had decided a fair trial could not be had in this county. Jones is charged with the separate gunshot slayings of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley at Garrett and James Clayton Conley, near Wayland.

The Jones case in Pike is expected to be completed in time for the trial here Jan. 17 of John Henry Newsome and his two juvenile daughters who are charged with the knife-slaying of Gerald McBrayer, Prestonsburg merchant.

The Jones trial resulted in postponement of the Bobby Workman case. (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Woman Victim, Husband Held

The husband of a native Floyd county woman was held last week in the Carter county jail at Grayson for arraignment on a homicide charge after his wife had died of a bullet wound.

The accused man is Orville Waddell, 63, who had been arrested after his wife, Gertrude Jones Waddell, 46, and Charles Sexton, 15, had been shot Dec. 18 at the Waddell home at Hitchens. Both were shot in the chest by bullets from a .38-calibre revolver. The youth was described later as being in fair condition at King's Daughters' Hospital, Ashland.

Mrs. Waddell died at the Ashland hospital, Dec. 27. She was a daughter of the late Charles and Myrtle Sturgill Hall. Survivors include two sons, David Cavins, Ethel, W. Va., and Danny Cavins, Chapmanville, W. Va.; two daughters, Mrs. Carol Sue Miller, of Ethel, and Mrs. Norma Williamson, Crooked Creek, W. Va.; two brothers and a sister.

Mrs. Waddell's funeral was conducted last Wednesday from the Jones-Preston Funeral Home, Paintsville, and burial was made in the Dixon cemetery at Sitka.

Roads Safe for School Buses?—He Learns in 100-Mile Drive

The task of transporting an average of 7,951 pupils a day to the county's schools is not an easy one. Complicated and costly, the job also carries tremendous responsibility, and no one knows that better than Wayne Ratliff, Jr., transportation director for the Floyd County Board of Education.

It is the duty of Ratliff and Assistant Transportation Director John E. Campbell, Jr. to make sure that the 5,058.7 miles which the board of education's 55 school buses and 15 contract carriers travel each morning and afternoon are safe for travel.

Icy roads and flooding present the greatest hazards to school bus passengers, and this winter's severe weather has made Ratliff and Campbell's job particularly difficult. For it is during the cold and wet months, from November 1 until March 31, that Ratliff or Campbell, or both, must be on the road by 3:30 each morning when highway conditions are at all questionable. On such a morning the transportation officials will travel more than 100 miles over county highways and back roads, checking to be sure the county roads are free of snow, ice or high water before any Floyd bus is free to make a run.

Reed To Remain Mine Machinery Company Head

Envirotech Corporation, of Menlo Park, Calif., announced Monday that it has acquired the Elkhorn Industrial Products Corporation, the Floyd county manufacturer of mining machinery which has become nationally known.

Amount involved in the purchase was not available, but the transaction is regarded as in the multi-million-dollar category.

David F. Reed, of Langley, who has headed the Elkhorn Industrial Products operation at Warco since its beginning in 1964, will continue as president of the company.

Envirotech is a worldwide supplier of drills, drill jumbos and auxiliary equipment for underground mining and it also supplies equipment and technology for air and water quality control. Its gross sales in 1976 were reported at $476 million.

Elkhorn Industrial is a major manufacturer of battery-powered scoops and tractors designed for low-seam underground coal mines, and Envirotech expects its production to add to the variety of equipment it will be able to offer wherever coal mining is done.

Robert L. Chambers, Envirotech Corporation's chairman and chief executive officer, said, "Elkhorn Industrial Products is a well-managed and profitable company which will help us serve the expanding market for underground coal mining equipment."

Mr. Reed commented: "We look forward to a period of expansion and increased production. The county has not lost—we have gained. We would not have sold if the sale threatened to take anything away from Floyd county."

This Town...That World

Resolutions which I do not expect to break this year:
I will not write it "Ms."
I will not substitute meters for feet, yards and the like.
I will not say, "At this point in time." Not now.
I will not get pragmatic when being practical will do as well.
I will not wax wroth if, because of the foregoing, you repeat that I am a Square.

THE MAGICAL TIME

In spite of all our efforts to make it less, Christmas remains a magical time. And we do not confine that to the blessings of Santa for the youngsters, or the children all home for the oldsters, or the Tree and gifts for all. The spirit of Christmas is greater . . . when total strangers are known to smile and murmur, "Merry Christmas," and when faces that would be expected to crack if a smile broke across them beam a light from inside.

The children have all gone home now, the Tree has been taken down, some of the gifts have even been exchanged again (at the stores which sold them), and a new year has been hailed with varying degrees of frivolity.

Want to hold on to the magic? Try being Christmas-friendly.

NO SWEAT

Last week was one of the few times in memory when not a soul called to complain why an item was left out of the paper, or why one was printed in the paper, or why there was a mistake in it when it was published. There were none of those stomach-jerking hours while racing against a deadline, no frantic searching for a "live" item for Page 1. No, the Millennium didn't arrive last week—we simply did not publish a paper, as some of you may have discovered.

Leaders Dissatisfied As One Grant OK'd

The Economic Development Administration (EDA) dashed the hopes of counties and cities in the Seventh Congressional district for grants on a wide variety of public projects when fund allocations were announced, shortly before Christmas, and the lone grant made for the area was greeted with less than enthusiasm.

When Congressman Tim Lee Carter's district, the rockribbed Republican Fifth, received six of the 14 EDA grants made in Kentucky, Seventh District Congressman Carl D. Perkins commented, "They must have had a Republican computer down there."

And when EDA's one grant in the Seventh district was made for extension of Salyersville's water system instead of a new elementary school, Big Sandy ADD, as well as Magoffin school officials, was unhappy. The Salyersville preliminary grant approval was for $446,000.

Joe McCauley, executive director of Big Sandy ADD, said area planners are disappointed that the water extension project, lowest on the list of priorities, got the grant and in doing so may have killed off Magoffin county chances for a $1.5 million elementary school.

The disgust of planners was heightened by the water extension grant for Salyersville because, they said, water for the new lines won't be available for three years yet, and the city isn't sure of its source of supply.

"The board of education and the county government agree that the No. 1 need is for children. They wanted no competing application for fear they would lose the school—and they did lose it," Mr. McCauley commented.

County Judge Borders had even refrained from filing for funds for a new jail, fearing such an application would hurt the chances of the school.

Big Sandy ADD had a dozen other projects, but Magoffin received the only consideration, presumably because of its high unemployment rate.

McCauley said Kenney Engineers, of Lexington, worked with Salyersville Mayor John Combs in readying the application for water extension funds.

"Some consultants could care less about how the project fits into priorities," he added.

Gas Workers' Strike Enters Its 80th Day

The strike of approximately 300 members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union against the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company entered its 80th day Tuesday, and the end is not yet in sight.

The last meeting of company and union representatives with a federal mediator was held Dec. 30 at South Point, O., without result. Another meeting is scheduled Jan. 12 in Winchester.

Since the onset of the strike, the company has reported nine separate acts of vandalism which damaged gas lines and in some instances interrupted service.

R. T. Daniel, company representative, said nobody could say who is guilty of the dynamitings but added that such incidents occur only when there is a strike.

Hubert Halbert, president of the OCAW local union, declared the blasts were not the work of union members. He pointed out that others may have seized on time of strike as an opportunity for them to "get back" at the company. "And they have reason to do so," he added.

The last line damage resulted at Christmas. On Christmas eve a six-foot section of an eight-inch line was ripped out near Eastern, and on Christmas day a 16-foot section of the same size line was damaged on Turkey Creek. A 10-inch line also was dynamited near Fourseam.

Company Claims Its Coal Mined, Asks $1,650,000

A claim of $1,650,000 was made last week by a Floyd county coal company in a suit filed against another coal firm which was accused of encroaching upon plaintiffs' lease in the mining of coal.

Plaintiffs in the action are County Judge Henry Stumbo, Delmer Elswick, William L. Allen and Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen, doing business as the B & M Coal Company.

They allege that the T & R Coal Company, Cline Mitchell and Arnold Turner, Jr., authorized their employees or representatives to enter upon their 249-acre lease on the Akers Branch of Big Mud Creek and illegally and without right mine an estimated 25,000 tons of coal of a market value of $22 a ton. The mining was done, the suit alleges, between Jan. 1 and Oct. 1 last year.

A jury trial is asked.

PSC Approves Beaver-Elkhorn Service to 144

The Kentucky Public Service Commission has granted a certificate of convenience and necessity to the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District for the construction of water distribution facilities in the revised service area of the David Water District and has ordered the district to refund tap fees to 56 applicants who cannot reasonably and feasibly be provided with water service at this time.

According to a study conducted by Kenney Engineers, Inc., Beaver-Elkhorn can provide service at this time to 144 of its 203 applicants.

The Dec. 15 commission order requires the company to refund the tap fees, with interest at a rate of six per cent, to the 56 applicants who cannot be provided with service at this time.

The commission also ordered the district to attempt to secure financing to provide water service to any of these 56 applicants "where conditions result in the area being economically and hydraulically feasible for water service."

Financing for the proposed facilities in David, which will be operated by the David Water District, will come from a $300,000 federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant and a $286,000 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC).

Cold Extends School Holiday

Cold weather, a series of light snows and ice-covered roads conspired to reduce traffic and slow holiday activities in general to the point that Floyd county's was, generally, a quiet Christmas season.

No violence or major motor vehicle wreck was reported in the county while the state was having a traffic death toll of 15.

Floyd schoolchildren drew a Christmas vacation bonus when school buses were unable to operate, as scheduled, Monday. The holiday from school continued Tuesday and may extend longer into the week unless temperatures rise and a general thaw begins. Although main highways are open, secondary roads travelled by school buses are treacherously slick.

May Lodge Party To Continue Tradition of Old Christmas

By HELEN PRICE STACY
There is an honored legend in parts of the country that in olden days at the time of celebrating the birth of the Christ Child, cattle and other animals are given power of speech and some of them kneel at midnight in their stalls and beside mangers. That was Old Christmas, and it was on Jan. 6.

In the hills of Eastern Kentucky, Old Christmas was revived almost 45 years ago and each year is a time of singing, music, storytelling and fellowship around the wassail bowl while munching sweetcakes.

Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James, of Prestonsburg, is responsible for reviving the Old Christmas tradition during the bleak days of the Depression. Though the Fitzpatricks celebrated Christmas on Dec. 25 with a tree, gifts and family dinners, "we never forgot Old Christmas on Jan. 6. We always talked it and sang the old, old songs and made music," Mrs. James recalls.

Mrs. James works with a committee in planning the Old Christmas event. "Oh! but we do have the best time of it. We have all this pickin' and singin' and people telling Christmas stories. We try to pick a Sunday for the party, one that falls closest to Jan. 6." This year's Old Christmas party at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, will be 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 9.

Pickers and singers are invited from all over—from Tug River, Russell and Levisa forks of Big Sandy, from up Big Sandy and from down Little Sandy, from Beaver and Johns Creek and along the Licking.

The group also joins in Christmas chanting, sans music, and "sometimes we do singing from puddle notes." Puddle notes are described by the vivacious, white-haired Floyd countian as "shaped notes."

What happened to the date of Christmas? Mrs. James said the custom of Old Christmas was a survival of days in Old Europe when the Julian Calendar marked Jan. 6 as the day of the birth of the Christ Child. "When the present day Gregorian calendar was accepted in 1752, many early Anglo-Saxon settlers in America did not want to discontinue their heritage and discard old customs," she said.

Another version explains that for about 300 years after the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem, Christians celebrated on various dates. In the fourth century, Bishop Liberius and Christians of Rome marked the birth on Dec. 25. However, Christians of Egypt always celebrated Jan. 6, a custom still observed by many members of the Eastern Orthodox Church.

As adventurers and their families began leaving the coastal areas and crossing rivers and mountains to make new homes, they carried tradition with them. In the landlocked log houses of the Appalachian Highlands, Old Christmas customs were locked in with them for many years, then gradually gave way to Dec. 25.

"We'll have music makers from up and down the creeks," said Mrs. James, "and we'll dance the Killikranke and maybe the sword dance. Do come and observe a joyful time."

New Mexico Senator

Les Houston, formerly a resident of Meally, Johnson county, has been elected state senator representing the Albuquerque district of New Mexico.

Mr. Houston is a 1954 graduate of Paintsville High School, and was graduated in 1961 from the University of Louisville Law School. He spent 39 months in the U.S. Air Force as a legal officer, and was admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court in 1965. Mr. Houston has been a practicing attorney in Albuquerque since 1966. He was elected state senator on the Democratic ticket.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Houston, of Meally, and is the brother of Dr. Donald Ray Pelphrey, Ralph Houston and Donald Ray Houston, all of Prestonsburg.

ENLISTS IN ARMY

William Hunter, of Estill, recently enlisted in the U.S. Army. The son of Denver and Edna Hunter, he is a senior at Allen Central High School and will complete his studies there before reporting for training in the Army, since he enlisted through the delayed entry program. According to Sgt. 1-c Gordon Shepherd, recruiter, Hunter will be trained as a supply specialist and serve at Ft. Riley, Kansas.

17 Scouts Earn Eagle Rank

Seventeen Scouts in Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, earned the Eagle rank during the nation's bicentennial year, it was announced last week by Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg, Council scouting chairman. Troop 41, of Hurley, Virginia, led the troops of the council by having five Scouts earn the Eagle rank. Troop 24 of Maytown had four Scouts earn the award. Three Scouts from Troop 9 of Whitesburg were recipients of the Eagle award and two Scouts from Troop 81 of Millard earned Eagle rank. In addition, one Scout each from Troop 27 of Prestonsburg, Troop 90 of Hazard, and Troop 329 of Inez earned Scouting's highest rank.

Leach said that only one boy out of each 100 who join Scouting ever earns the Eagle rank, which is Scouting's highest award. To qualify for the Eagle award in 1976, each Scout was required to earn a minimum of 24 merit badges and 8 skill awards and also had to plan and successfully carry out a major service project involving not only himself but other young people.

Scouts earning the award during 1976 include Melvin May, John Flanery, Teddy Meadows, and Jeff Wicker, of Troop 24, Maytown; Jeff Turner, of Troop 90, Hazard; Greg Howson and David Fanning, of Troop 81, Millard; Richard Penix of Troop 329, Inez; Howard McClellan, Randall Estep, David Justus, Greg Smith, and James Estep, of Troop 41, Hurley, Virginia; Vince Yinger, Van Breeding, and Johnnie Ramsey of Troop 9, Whitesburg, and Mark Boatwright, of Troop 27, Prestonsburg.

In addition to these 17 boys, Glenn C. Leach, of Troop 27, Prestonsburg, was presented his award during 1976, although he completed the requirements in December, 1975.

Mr. Leach said these winners represent the greatest number of Scouts ever to earn the Eagle rank in the council in a single year.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN TO MEET

The Floyd County Democratic Woman's Club will meet at noon, Jan. 12, at May Lodge.

This meeting will be the beginning of the 1977 membership drive. Mrs. Olna Hamilton, 7th District governor, will be guest speaker.

New officers elected for the new year are Mrs. Ann Latta, president; Lena Mullins, vice president; Sally Mae Goble, treasurer; Dee Burchett, secretary.

BASSETTERRE, St. Kitts—The pace is leisurely on the twin islands of St. Kitts and Nevis in the West Indies. Speed limits are 20 m.p.h. in town and 40 on the open highway.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Greer, Inc., Box 460, London, Ky. 40741, intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 25 acres located north of Stanville in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 3/4 mile east of State Route 23's junction with Mare Creek Road and located north of Mare Creek.

The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Chester Layne and Windell Stratton. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Strip and auger.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, 405 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to object to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection as to the issuance of a mining permit must do so in accordance with KRS 224.081(2) and must forward same to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 1t.

Training Program Set for Operators Of Sewage Plants

Cleaner water in Kentucky streams and the proper certification of operators to meet new regulations are two primary objectives of a training program for operators of the many small sewage treatment plants which are located at schools, hospitals, trailer parks, restaurants and other sites in rural Kentucky.

A three-day training program for Eastern Kentucky operators will be held Jan. 10-12 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

David Blythe, associate dean for Continuing Education in the College of Engineering at the University of Kentucky, said that when package plants are properly operated, and are functioning as designed, they discharge clear, chlorinated water. Improperly attended, however, they can discharge raw sewage, thereby creating a hazard to public health.

The training program, funded by a grant through the Title I Higher Education Act, and supported since its inception by the Division of Water Quality at Frankfort, will be conducted through Dean Blythe's office, and will be taught by water quality consultant engineers.

Betty Johnson, of the Big Sandy Area Development District, and James Ratcliff, of Prestonsburg Community College, are coordinating the project locally. Instructor will be Ralph Johnson, Lexington practicing sanitary engineer.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all the friends and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy during the illness and at the death of our husband and father, Tom Nelson. We especially thank the doctors in Lexington, Ky. and at the Highland Regional Hospital in Prestonsburg for their consideration and dedicated care when he was hospitalized; also those who sent flowers and food and made donations; the Carter Funeral Home for its efficient service and the ministers for their consoling words. May God bless you all.

Carroll Office Confirms Study Of Highway 40

Governor Julian M. Carroll's office last week confirmed the statement made a week earlier by State Senator Jim Hammond in The Floyd County Times that the Kentucky Department of Transportation has been asked to expedite a project planning and environmental impact study for an improved route in the KY 40 or KY 3 corridor in Eastern Kentucky.

The study is examining both the existing routes and alternative locations for a highway between Paintsville and the West Virginia state line near Warfield, Martin county. The study will consider potential use, probable cost and the environmental impact of each alternative.

It will also include consideration of a new crossing of Tug Fork.

Senator Hammond requested that the Department of Transportation look into the feasibility of a more southerly route.

The study, already under way for some time, includes an alternate route south of KY 40, between Prestonsburg and Inez, according to State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts. Roberts said the project is being planned as a regular federal-aid primary project, should funding become available for construction.

No schedule for completion of the study has been made. Roberts said that any final decision about routing is still many months away, since the project must be reviewed by various local, state and federal agencies for its impact on the environment.

Mine Foreman Wins Discrimination Case

In an unprecedented lawsuit over mine safety, a 27-year-old underground coal miner has won 8½ months' back pay and reinstatement in his job as section foreman.

On December 6, Steve Ratliff returned to work on the evening shift at Standard Sign and Signal Company's May Mine in Pike county. He had been fired last March 23 for refusing to take his crew of men into a mine which had been closed down by federal mine safety officials for hazardous roof conditions.

Ratliff filed safety discrimination charges against Standard Sign and Signal under section 110(b) of the 1969 Coal Mine Health and Safety Act. He apparently was the first mine foreman since the passage of the Act to file safety discrimination charges against any coal company.

In late October, the Council of the Southern Mountains and United Mine Workers of America District 12 filed a joint suit to force the Department of the Interior to conduct investigations into 110(b) cases. If that lawsuit is won, such investigations will greatly improve the chances for more miners like Steve Ratliff who are fired because of actions related to safety matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Prater Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Prater, of Route 850, David, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary October 31, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. John Dotson, on the Middle Creek Road. They were honored by their children and relatives with a special dinner and gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Prater were married October 3, 1936, at Risner, by the Rev. Silas Bayes. Mrs. Prater is the former Alice Stephens, daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Tussey Stephens. Mr. Prater is the son of Miley and Laura Hicks Prater, of Pyramid, and is a disabled miner formerly employed by Princess Elkhorn Coal Company, David.

P'burg Woman Heads Libraries

Gov. Julian Carroll has announced the appointment of Mrs. Barbara Williams as state librarian, effective Jan. 1. Mrs. Williams replaces Charles F. Hinds who has resigned.

(The new state librarian, a native of Prestonsburg, is a daughter of Mrs. Bess Salisbury May and the late Andrew May.)

Prior to her current advancement, she was assistant state librarian. Mrs. Williams earned her masters degree in library science at the University of Kentucky in 1963. She came to the Department of Library and Archives, Sept. 1, after several years as librarian for the Department of Finance.

Hinds is leaving the Department of Library and Archives to become assistant to Education and Arts Secretary Wendell P. Butler. The Education and Arts cabinet includes the Department of Education, Kentucky Historical Society, Kentucky Heritage Commission, Kentucky Arts Commission, Kentucky Education Television, the Department of Library and Archives, the Bureau for the Blind and the State Advisory Council for Vocational Education.

Hinds became state librarian on July 1, 1973. Previously, he was librarian at Murray State University.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH (Health Educator)

The following is a list of upcoming clinics which will be conducted by the Floyd County Health Department:

Thursday, January 6, a pap smear clinic at the health department from 9 to 2.

Monday, January 10, an outpost clinic in the basement of the Methodist Church at Wayland; clinic hours, from 10 to 2. Services offered will be blood pressures, immunizations, TB skin tests and diabetes screening.

Thursday, January 13, a neurology clinic at the health department by the University of Kentucky's Department of Neurology from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. Any patient who wishes to see a neurologist at this clinic must be referred by a physician and must be under 21 years of age.

All of these medical services are offered to the public, free of charge.

The Floyd County Health Department would like to thank the staff members of the Floyd County Times office, WPRT Radio Station and WDOC Radio Station for the publicity they have provided for us this past year. We realize that without their cooperation it would be impossible for the people of Floyd County to take advantage of all the services offered to them by the health department, and we fully appreciate their kind support and faithful service to us.

Venereal Disease is the No. 1 communicable disease in the nation. It is a "social disease" that is now epidemic. But you can help fight venereal disease by learning something about it. Learn what the symptoms are, how serious it can be, and where someone who is infected can be treated.

Remember, minors in Kentucky can be tested and treated for V.D. without their parents' knowledge or consent. Anyone who suspects they have been exposed to venereal disease should get help from their private doctor or the Floyd County Health Department, immediately.

CAP Taking Applications For Repairs to Homes

The Floyd County Community Action program is now taking applications from homeowners whose homes need repair or painting. The homeowners must meet the C.S.A. guidelines and must purchase the paint or materials for the repair. The labor or carpentry work will be done by enrollees of the Title X and C.O.E. Programs.

Applicants should come in to the CAP office in the courthouse here or call 886-3697 for an application.

ENTERTAINS FAMILY

Mrs. Peggy Spurlock entertained to dinner, Christmas Day, having as her guests her family: Mrs. Elizabeth Garriott, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Wells Spurlock and son, Burl Wells, II, Mr. and Mrs. John Archer Spurlock, Mrs. Betsy Lambert, Edgar H. Lambert and Misses Locky and Margaret Jane Lambert.

Heart Fund Leaders In County Named

Three appointments to leadership positions in the 1977 Floyd County Heart Fund drive have been announced by the state campaign chairman, Attorney General Robert F. Stephens of Frankfort. They are:

Shirley Stewart, Langley, to serve as county Heart Fund chairman; Mrs. Donna Griffith, Prestonsburg, county school chairman, and Burl Wells Spurlock, Prestonsburg, as county Heart Fund treasurer.

He also announced that Mrs. Pauline Sparks, Prestonsburg, will continue to serve as the year-round Memorial Gifts chairman in the county.

The month-long Heart Fund appeal will be launched Wednesday, February 2, with Coffee Day. The house-to-house solicitation will be conducted on Heart Sunday, February 27.

Atty. Gen. Stephens urged full support of the 1977 appeal, noting that 500,000 Kentuckians suffer from heart disease and that 57 percent of all known causes of death in the Commonwealth are due to heart and blood vessel diseases.

A new high total of $812,512.90 was contributed last year to the Heart Fund in Kentucky, Stephens said.

VISITS PARENTS

Bobby Edwards, a student at the University of Arkansas, was here during the Christmas holidays, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Edwards.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Phoebe Kidd, wish to thank everyone who showed so much kindness in the time of our great sorrow; the ones who sent flowers and brought food and to Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service, and a special thanks to all the ministers who participated in the services. May God bless you all.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Neville Shackelford

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

In Winter, the austere season, I came in on the wings of the wind on December 21, and I will be with you until about the 20th of March. My days are short, my shadows long on the land. I will be the time of cold and my breath will sear every living thing, but I am not without compassion, comfort, or beauty.

I bring the glow of coals to the hearth, the most glorious sunsets and the richest moonlight. I am the time when lamplight shines out the brightest on gray afternoons, when country homesteads are close and warm, when cellars are rich with the goodies of summer, when barns are stuffed with sweet-smelling hay and bundles of fodder from the cornfield. I am also the time of snows.

Despite my cold, I am not all bad. To country people I bring surcease from labor and a time to feel secure in the preparation for my arrival. During my long evenings, old folks gather in close communion around the fireplace of the home or the pot-bellied stove of the crossroads store. Only when I have come with my snows do they have the time for unhurried talk, when the cheerful rise and fall of their voices bear witness to their moods, their strengths, their inconsistencies.

I dull the swift processes of life so that it may come again with renewed vigor. I allow mankind to enjoy the barking of a dog on the mountain, the lonely cry of the owl heard from the dark pines on the river bluff and the contented purr of the housecat in the comfort of a warm lap. But more than that, I, Old Man Winter, bring Old Father Christmas to deck the homesteads with holly and mistletoe and to fill tiny stockings with peppermint canes and bright yellow oranges. I bring the glad New Year, rabbit hunting for country boys and moonlight on the snow.

During my time a new hope for mankind was born in a manger on the barren slopes of Judea. It is no wonder, therefore, that my stars burn brightest in the pathways of Heaven for in the chill of my austerity is offered the warmth of eternal life where I and my cold will be known no more.

My cold and my chill have stilled the song of the wood thrush and banished the green from the meadow, but I am still a good season. My days are filled with hope, because when I pass from the scene, there will come the glory of spring. When I depart there will be not the death of autumn, but the joyous unfolding of spring and the resurrection of nature.

I am dark winter, nighttime of the year. Without me there could be no spring, no day of summer, no autumn, no variety of seasons to break the monotony of the years. I am cold, but my heart is warm.

Miss Robinson-Mr. Wells Wed

The marriage of Miss Deanna Robinson and Mr. Ernest Richard Wells was solemnized at one o'clock Saturday, October 16, at the Lancer Baptist Church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lee Caudill.

Miss Robinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Robinson of Allen, and Mr. Wells is the son of Mrs. Ernestine Wells, of Auxier, and the late Chester Wells.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peasant dress of ivory boile cotton lace and carried a bouquet of silk daisies.

Mrs. Deanna Lynn Robinson Horn, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Lisa Branham and Miss Tina Lynn Branham, nieces of the groom.

Mr. Henry Taylor Risner acted as best man, and Mr. David Campbell, of Ashland, and Mr. Paul Litz, of Auxier, served as ushers.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the church. Presiding at the guest register was Mrs. Stella Mullins, of Zebulon, and assisting with the reception were Mrs. Mullins, Mrs. Florence Pleasant, Mrs. Mary Lou Stone, and Mrs. Susan May, of Pikeville.

Pre-nuptial events included a personal shower honoring Miss Robinson which was given by Mrs. Ella Dean Litz.

After a wedding trip to Cumberland Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Wells are now residing at Auxier. Mrs. Wells is employed by Kentucky-West Va. Gas Company here, and Mr. Wells is employed by the Long Branch Coal Company in Martin county.

Artists, Photogs' Winter Weekend at Jenny Wiley

What better way to start the new year than by planning a leisurely week-end get-together with friends in one of Kentucky's most beautiful and comfortable state parks. The sixth annual winter week-end for artists and photographers is set for Jan. 28 and 29 at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

Registration for this popular event will start at 4 p.m. Friday (Jan. 28) and planned programs will begin at 8 p.m. Appearing on the Friday evening program will be Donna Walker, of Irvine, and Al Cornett, of Slade. Miss Walker, graduate of Famous Artists School and recent winner of first, second and third places in pastels at the Blue Grass Fair, will demonstrate painting with pastels. Al Cornett, Kentucky Heritage Artists, will present a slide program on "How I See the Subject." Cornett is well known for his woodland and gorge scenes painted in pastels and oils.

At 10 a.m. Saturday, Jim Thompson, director of photography for Ashland Oil Inc., Ashland, will speak about his art medium and later will lead field trips in the park to demonstrate his photography technique.

At 11:30 a.m. Saturday judging of art and photography in various categories will begin. All photos and art work must be assembled before this time in order to qualify for judging, according to Nellie Meadows, artist of Clay City and director of the program.

Lexington artist Harold Collins who studied at the Art School of Chicago and Boston Museum School of Art, will speak at 2 p.m. Saturday and demonstrate his use of pencil, charcoal, watercolor and ink. Collins is a Kentucky Heritage Artist.

At the Saturday dinner at 7 p.m. winners in art and photography will be announced and honored. The speaker will be William T. Williams of Owensboro, professor of art at Kentucky Wesleyan College and director of publications of Communication Art Productions.

A LIFE SPAN OF 200 years may be a possibility in the 21st century, observes the November Reader's Digest. Some scientists believe the body secretes an "aging hormone." If it can be identified and a drug found to block its action, mankind may live to unprecedented lengths. Make way for the Fountain of Youth!

publisher of the new magazine, "Kentucky Artist & Craftsmen." Williams, member of the Society of North American Artists, will demonstrate his tempera wash technique.

The following rules and categories will apply to art: All pictures must be original and framed. Ribbons will go to first, second and third place winners in all categories of classes. Grand winner will receive a rosette.

Classifications are:
PAINTING—1. Objective oil, landscape and seascape and still life; 2. Objective acrylic; 3. Objective watercolor, landscape and seascape, still life, and animals, flowers and birds; 4. Objective portraits, any medium. 1. Non-objective oils; 2. Non-objective acrylics; 3. Non-objective watercolors.

DRAWING—1. Objective Pastel; 2. Objective pencil; 3. Objective charcoal; 4. Objective ink. 1. Non-objective pastel; 2. Non-objective pencil; 3. Non-objective charcoal; 4. Non-objective ink.

MINIATURE—Oil. Paintings not falling within any of the mentioned categories will be judged in a category listed "Miscellaneous." Any painting entered for judging must have been painted by the exhibiting artist and all paintings must stay on exhibit in the judging area until 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Rules for entry in photography judging must be strictly observed, according to Robert Powell of Frankfort, Jim Mellon and Dr. Z. S. Gierlach, of Lexington.

A. Categories for entries: 1. People (portraits, character study, reportage, groups); 2. Pictorial (landscape, seascape, still life, etc.); 3. Creative (including experiments); 4. Animals—Birds (domestic-wild); 5. Sports (animals-people or animals and people); 6. Miscellaneous (anything which cannot fit into other categories).

B. Category designation: 1. Photographer is responsible for designating category in which each entry is to be judged; Category designations will be placed on front of each entry and readily visible to judges; 3. Entries not properly designated will not be judged; 4. Designate category by name.

C. Entries: 1. Each photographer is limited to four pieces; 2. Medium: color or black and white; 3. Size including mat, minimum is 11 x 14 inches and maximum is 20 x 24 inches; 4. Presentation, all entries must be mounted on heavy matboard, and framed entries will not be acceptable for display or competition.

For further information in art exhibit, contact Nellie Meadows, Clay City, Ky. Phone 606-663-2264 or Helen Price Stacy, West Liberty, Phone 606-743-3799. For information in photography, contact Robert A. Powell, 412 Winston Way, Frankfort, phone 502-223-5742. For park information contact 606-886-2711 or recreation director Ted Hall. Others assisting with the week-end are Mr. and Mrs. Russell McClanahan, Irvine.

Boldman Youth Wins 'Duty to God' Award

John Mark Porter, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Porter, of Boldman, has been honored with the "Duty to God" award by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, it was announced last week by John W. Fanning, president of the Boldman branch of the church. Young Porter is a senior student at Mullins High School. To earn the Duty to God award, which is made available through cooperation of the church and the Boy Scouts of America, a young man must attend 75 percent of his Sunday church meetings, including Priesthood meetings, Sunday School and Sacrament service (evening worship) and must also attend 75 percent of the youth activity nights which are held weekly on Wednesdays. In addition to these attendance requirements, the young man must maintain the high moral standards of the church, must be a full tither, and must observe the church's "Word of Wisdom" which directs members to abstain from tea, coffee, tobacco and alcoholic beverages.

"We are proud of Mark Porter," Fanning said, "and are pleased to report that he has been accepted for entrance into Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah in the fall of 1977."

IN FISCAL 1975, about 4,374,000 job placements were made in nonagricultural industries by the U.S. Employment Service.

McDowell High Defeats Virgie To Win Highland Classic

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
The McDowell Daredevils won the second annual Highland Basketball Classic at Allen Central High School by defeating the previously undefeated Virgie Eagles, 77 to 68. Virgie had won 11 straight games and included in the 11 wins were victories in two tournaments. Steve Newsome was the big gun for the Daredevils in the championship game as he racked up 32 points. Newsome also was named the tournament's most valuable player and he won the individual free shot trophy. McDowell as a team won the team free shot trophy. This was the ninth championship game that McDowell has played since Coach David Turner took over as head basketball coach at McDowell, and this was his first championship win.

To win McDowell had some tough opposition to face. On Monday night in the lid-opener the Daredevils won over Johnson Central, 73 to 60. Steve Newsome pumped in 32 points while Steve Reid racked up 15 points. Betsy Layne advanced by winning on a forfeit over Cordia, Tuesday night. Rick Pack set a new scoring record by scoring 52 points against the Magoffin County Hornets. Jack Holthouse had 16 and Jeff Ellis connected for 14 as Allen Central won over the Hornets, 90 to 62. On the same night the Virgie Eagles won over Todd County Central, 67 to 54.

In the semifinals, McDowell defeated Betsy Layne, 73 to 69. The Daredevils were led in the scoring by Jerry Flanery with 23 points, and Steve Newsome had 19 points. Also in the semifinals the Virgie Eagles defeated Allen Central, 77 to 70. Stonie Newsome was high man with 25 points. Jack Holthouse connected for 21 points, and Rick Pack had 19 points for the losers. In the consolation game the Betsy Layne Bobcats won third place by defeating Allen Central, 76 to 69. Ricky Pack took scoring honors with 26 points, Jack Holthouse had 17 and Jeff Ellis had 16 for Allen Central. Betsy Layne was led in scoring by Jim Rose with 22 points, Randy Ferrell had 20, and Ken Cecil 14. Rick Pack was named the best offensive player; Jim Rose, best defensive player, and Robert Newsome, best rebounder.

Tournament scoring:
McDowell (73)—Steve Newsome 32, Steve Reid 15, Doug Tackett 10, Jerry Flanery 7, Sam Bentley 4, Steve Ward 2, Brian Kidd 2, Hugh Hall 1; Johnson Central (60)—Ken Murray 15, Steve Lemaster 10, Brian Taylor 9, Larry Crum 9, Scotty Murray 6, Greg Blair 2, David Couch 3, Mark Murray 2, Gary Preece 4.
Allen Central (90)—Rick Pack 52, Jack Holthouse 16, Jeff Ellis 14, Mark Martin 4, Doug Bailey 2, Gary Howard 2; Magoffin County (62)—Tom Carpenter 23, Jim Shepherd 16, Bowling 8, Keeton 4, Wireman 2, Jones 3, Green 3, Hundley 2.
Virgie (67)—Robert Newsome 15, Stonie Newsome 12, Chester Johnson 12, Mike May 11, Jeff M. Newsome 8, Greg Newsome 9; Todd County Central (54)—Crenshaw 10, Woodward 10, Muir 11, Teener 8, O'Shoney 4, Everett 3.
McDowell (73)—Jerry Flanery 23, Steve Newsome 19, Steve Reid 15, Doug Tackett 6, Steve Ward 6; Betsy Layne

Martin Downs Allen

By GINA CRISP
The Martin Glashettes defeated the Allen girls at Martin Dec. 27, 24 to 16. Kristi Frye led the winners with 13 points, followed by Lisa Spradlin who fouled out with 5 points, Gina Crisp with 4 points and Kathy Layne with 2. Renee Marshall led the Allen Eaglettes with 8 points, followed by Smith with 3 points, Clifton with 2, Stapleton with 2 and Cline, who fouled out, with 1.

Coach Raymond Griffith's Martin Purple Flashes downed the Allen Eagles, 36 to 21. The Flashes plucked the Eagles, 17 to 1, in the first quarter. At halftime they led by 17 points. Bruce Mullins led the winners with 11 points, followed by Hardy Kilburn with 8, Steve Lafferty with 7, Dwayne Salyer with 4, John Ousley 4, Tommy Dingus 2, D. Collins led the Eagles with 9. T. Spencer had 4, V. Finney 2, S. Hinchman 2, M. Conn 2, B. Marcum and T. W. Dods, 1 each.

Last Wednesday night the Flashettes had to make a comeback against the strong Melvin Cougarettes in the second half after being behind 8 to 20 in the first half. Martin went on to win, 39 to 31. The outstanding shooting of Kristi Frye led the Flashettes with 24 points, followed by Kathy Layne with 8, Martha Kilburn 5, and Lisa Spradlin with 2. Leading scorers for Melvin were Bobbie Caudill with 12 points, Doris Little 6, Tina Turner 5, Kim Sanders 4, Tammy Little 2, Charlotte Mullins 2.

The Martin Flashes beat the Melvin Cougars 47 to 33. Bruce Mullins led the Flashes with 20 points, Steve Lafferty 11, Tommy Dingus 5, Hardy Kilburn 5, Jeffrey Meade 3, Gary Little led the Cougars with 16 points, followed by Little 8, Tackett 4, Isaac 3 and Tackett 2.

Martin's next games will be January 5 against Maytown and on January 6 against Prater at Betsy Layne.

Days Grow Longer in January

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD (UK College of Agriculture)

After the gale of Christmas and the great and raucous hullabaloo of New Year's eve, the year grows quiet and in January, "the first month in the rest of time," the days grow longer. As these days lengthen, the cold strengthens and a period of relaxation seems to settle down over a cold, frozen earth. The metabolism of life is at its lowest ebb and it is truly a happy interlude when there is some time for reflection and anticipation of a joyous springtime to come.

It is during this time of quietness that a colorful and delightful extravaganza makes its appearance in the homes of the land. Colorful as Santa Claus and a masterpiece of publisher's art, it is fit, even in the dead of winter, to conjure up visions of opulence and to stir the imagination like nothing else in the world short of the Gospels of the New Testament. Brought in on the backs of postmen, this wonderful morale-building publication is called the seed catalog.

As unflinching as the robin and the little creek frogs, whose elfin voices announce the impending spring, these panegyrics to seed come in bright fantasies of color depicting wondrous fruits from the vine, stalk, root and branch. The sight of such lusciousness pictured in oils and Kodachrome titillates the tastebuds almost to the point of pain and moves even the tired businessman, whose appetite has been dulled for so long on creamed chicken and green peas, to squirm in his chair and vow, come spring, to put in a garden.

The profuse green landscapes and sparkling panorama of fruits and plenty, such as were never enjoyed by the Caliph of Bagdad in Arabian Nights, has a strange enchantment. Persons who wouldn't know a rototiller from a nuclear reactor look at these catalog pictures and start groaning for a plot of earth to set out a tomato plant, plant a hill or two of muskmelons, or set out a grapevine.

A perusal of these seed catalogs is sheer delight and coming as they do in the dark of winter, they stimulate to greater heights of imagination even the experienced and long time gardener.

From the vantage point of his rocking chair in front of the stove, great vistas of flower and vine and leaf unfold before his eyes as he plans, through the medium of the seed catalog he holds, to bring all this into reality come spring.

As he sits there dreaming of green corn, purple grapes, scarlet tomatoes and golden carrots, forgotten are the scourges of the bug, beetle, cutworm, drought, crabgrass, hot sun and the endless plowing, spraying and hoeing. Gone too are recollections of depredations of ground hogs, chipmunks, plant diseases and the trespass of corn-pulling blackbirds. In January, no gardener perusing a seed catalog permits such thought. There'll be time enough for that come spring.

The dreamers who think up and publish seed catalogs are to be commended for their service to humanity. A product of the dust, man has never lost his affinity for the earth to which he will eventually return. Because of this, perhaps, no other avocation has a greater universal appeal than gardening. Therefore, seed catalogs not only portend the coming of spring, which in itself is enough to instill undiluted joy in the heart of most people, but also have the quality of stimulating the spirit to soar far beyond the narrow confines imposed by winter and to transcend the tribulations that, since the days of Adam, spring perennial.

Exploring The Stars

For the first time astronomers at the University of Pennsylvania, under the direction of Professor Robert H. Koch, are reaching out beyond the Milky Way to measure double star systems in a systematic way. The painting behind Professor Koch shows one such system, in the Large Magellanic Cloud, our nearest neighboring galaxy, 200,000 light years away.

In Memoriam

Johnny Franklin and Cora Pennington would have had their 48th anniversary on Dec. 22, 1976, but God called him away to Heaven to be in peace forever. He had told me many times that he was going where there would be peace and joy forever, where there is no more heart-aches or pain; where the roses bloom forever and the flowers never fade.

From his wife, Cora Pennington; three daughters, Juanite Reid, of Auxier, Dollie May Insko, of Huntington, W. Va., and Mary Elizabeth Newman, of Lima, Ohio; and three sons, Phillip, Rudolph and Bobby Dean Pennington, of Lima, Ohio.

Greatly and sadly missed by all of us.
May God bless you!

Hammond Co-Sponsored 4 Bills But Loses Data Amendment

Senator Hammond in action on Senate floor.

Frankfort, Ky.—First-year Sen. Jim Hammond (D-Prestonsburg) saw Senate Bill 20, the last of four bills which he co-sponsored, complete its long journey through both legislative houses during the final day of the recent special session of the General Assembly. SB 20 relates to the new judiciary courts system.

However, later that Dec. 18 afternoon, Hammond watched with disappointment as his amendment to House Bill 28 was defeated by a roll call of 15 to 21 with one abstention. His amendment had provided for increased availability to the public of insurance statistical data used as a basis for rate increases.

Other legislation co-sponsored by Hammond that now awaits the Governor's signature includes:

—Senate Bill 5, which provides for the establishment of a division of mine safety analysts within the state Department of Mine and Minerals.

—Senate Bill 6, relative to the sales and use tax, would exempt machinery used directly in the processing and packaging of raw materials and finished products, the processing and packaging of farm and dairy products for sale and the extraction of minerals, ores, coal and natural gas.

—Senate Bill 18, which requires election in each county of a county judge-executive, beginning in 1977 for a four-year term.

Two bills, still under consideration in committee, could not be voted on because of time limitations. House Bill 21, co-sponsored by Hammond, provided for county marshals as peace officers and Senate Bill 26, introduced by Hammond, would have established a review board to regulate workmen's compensation insurance rates.

Hammond is currently vice-chairman of the Senate Cities Committee and a member of the committees on Industry and Labor and Judiciary Statutes.

In addition to his current legislation, Hammond also spoke of his involvement in the development of his section of Eastern Kentucky. The area is rapidly growing into the center of a 13-state area which Hammond proudly described as having two-thirds of the nation's population and controlling three-quarters of the country's financial reserves and with enough fossil energy (coal, oil and gas) to meet the nation's energy needs for the next 300 years.

Hammond is also one of his area's biggest boosters for the creation of Ky 80 which will close the gap between I-75 and US 23 and help create an economic development corridor connecting the Kentucky River valley with the Big Sandy river.

He said his recommendation to Gov. Carroll for the needed improvement of Ky 40 has led to the Governor ordering a needs study by the Kentucky Department of Transportation for the reconstruction of Ky 40 between the Prestonsburg-Paintsville area and South Williamson, terminating in South Williamson with highway access into Inez. Reconstruction of Ky 40 south and parallel to existing Ky 40 will also give access into Inez.

In addition, reconstruction of US 23 and Ky 119, due to be finished in 1985, will give direct access to Cincinnati and Columbus from the Big Sandy area.

Hammond said this will give Eastern Kentucky an outstanding system of highway transportation, connecting existing rail and barge facilities. He noted this will be a definite attraction for out-of-state industries seeking relocation as well as a significant asset to existing industries in the Kentucky River basin area, while also helping move more coal to market.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
(Attorney General)

If you are building or purchasing a new home, you should be concerned with how a home warranty works. You may also want to check into the HOW—Home Owners Warranty program. The HOW Program, established by the National Association of Home Builders, is now in Kentucky.

HOW gives consumers a nationally insured, ten-year warranty on the structural integrity of a new house. During the first two years of the warranty, the builder must make good any defects in the workmanship and materials. After two years, the national insurance plan directly insures the owner against major structural defects for the next eight years.

However, if the builder cannot or will not perform his warranty obligations in the first two years, this same insurance program backs the builder's warranty. And, if the house is sold before the warranty coverage has expired, the remaining coverage passes to the new owner.

When you are considering buying a new house, ask the builder whether he offers a warranty and then compare warranties among different developments. To find out if the builder offers a HOW warranty, ask him or check with your local home builders' association.

If you decide to purchase a HOW-insured house, ask the builder for all information materials explaining the HOW program. When you sign the contract to buy a HOW-insured house, you should get a copy of (1) the warranty agreement that has been signed by both you and the builder; (2) a consumer information booklet that explains HOW in detail and (3) a "Certificate of Participation" in the master insurance policy that underwrites the warranty.

Before you move into your new house, have a "walk through" with the builder and develop a "punch list" of things that you want fixed. Under the HOW program, this "walk through" is a requirement.

If the repairs you requested on the "punch list" are not made by the time you move in, give the builder a reasonable time to make good on his guarantees. Then if you have a complaint about delays in repairs, put it in writing and send it to your local HOW council. The council will contact the builder in your behalf and, in most cases, corrections will be taken care of. If, however, after 10 days, the builder still has not responded you have the right to request conciliation of your complaint.

When you take possession of the house, make certain that the manufacturers warranties on such things as the furnace, water heater, air conditioner and the major appliances are handed over to you. Fill out and mail the cards that make this protection effective.

If, after you move in, you notice additional items that need repair, contact the builder to have them fixed. If the builder takes no action, contact the HOW council, putting your complaint in writing. If, after 10 days, the builder doesn't respond, you can request conciliation.

If conciliation does not resolve the problems, either you or the builder can request arbitration.

For more information on HOW, write: Mr. Leonard Mills, Home Owners Warranty Council, 1800 Arther St., Louisville, Ky. 40217, phone 1-502-637-9739 or Home Owners Warranty Corp., National Housing Center, 15 & M Streets, N.W., Washington, D. C. 20005; or call 202-452-0450.

When your home is not covered by a Home Owners Warranty program, the only protection is the integrity of your builder. If he is not a reputable builder, it may cost you a great deal to enforce your rights in a court of law.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the Consumer Hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Cedar Mining Co. Inc., Route 3, Box 44, Pikeville intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 20 not to exceed 25 acres located south of Boldman in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles southeast of State Route 979's junction with US 23 and located southeast of Levisa Fork.

The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Paul Gearheart, Joe Justice, David Justice, Estill Stewart, law heirs.

A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Strip and auger by hollow fill method.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, 327 N. Lake Dr., Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to object to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection as to the issuance of a mining permit must do so in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must forward same to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

TWO OF THREE veterans who enter college-level training under the GI Bill normally obtain a degree, the Veterans Administration reported.

May Named Chairman In College Fund Drive

Walter E. May, president of East Kentucky Broadcasting Corporation, Pikeville, has been named chairman of the Pikeville College Founders and Century Clubs, annual fund organizations for those persons and corporations donating unrestricted gifts to the college up to $999.

The appointment was announced jointly by Pikeville College President Jackson O. Hall and Charles B. Chrisman, chairman of the PC Annual Fund. "We are, indeed, privileged and proud to have a leader of Mr. May's stature to add to our Annual Fund organization," Dr. Hall said. "We are certain that his efforts to help raise funds for the College this year will be highly productive."

Dr. Hall and Mr. Chrisman recently announced that Pike County Coal Operator Paul Patton would serve as chairman of the President's Club Fund, for persons and firms donating $1,000 and more to the College during fiscal year 1976-77.

Mr. May's Kentucky Broadcasting Corporation is operator of Radio Stations WPKE and WDHR in Pikeville. Other broadcasting firms he heads operate radio stations in Louisa and Nicholasville, Ky., and in Jellico, Tenn. He entered the broadcasting business in 1955 upon leaving Pikeville College, where he was a student, and did early radio work in Prestonsburg.

A Pike county native, May is a member of the board of directors of the National Association of Broadcasters and the Methodist Hospital of Pikeville, Kentucky. He is a past president of the Kentucky Broadcasting Association and the Pike County Chamber of Commerce. He is married and lives in Pikeville with his wife, the former Mona Hughes, of Prestonsburg, and their four children.

CAP To Sponsor Organization Meet

The Floyd County Community Action Program will sponsor a countywide organizational meeting of all food stamp recipients, NYC, Title X, Title VI and C.O.E. beneficiaries, senior citizen enrollees and all other consumer group representatives. The meeting will be held in the county courtroom on Friday, January 14, at 10:00 a.m.

"We need to organize a countywide Community Club to comply with the C.S.A. guidelines and the recommendation of the Evaluation Committee of the Big Sandy C.A.A.," John M. Stumbo, county coordinator, said.

The agenda includes election of officers and Policy Advisory Board members.

Appointed EKU Bursar

Jesse E. Samons, a native of Martin, this week became bursar of Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond.

His appointment was approved recently by the EKU Board of Regents. Samons succeeds William A. Stapleton, who has been at Eastern since 1967 and who is retiring.

Samons has served as cashier in the bursar's office since he went to Eastern in 1968. He also has taught general science and social science at the university.

He has earned three degrees in chemistry—the associate of arts from Alice Lloyd College, and the bachelor of science and the master of science from Eastern. He also has taken study at the University of Kentucky in the College Business Management Institute.

He is a member of Sigma Xi. His hobbies are basketball, fishing, and racquetball. Samons and his wife, the former Deanna Patton, are the parents of a daughter, Jessica, and a son, Anthony.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is utilizing computer data to determine which reservoirs are best suited to walleye stockings. Known information on selected reservoirs, such as number of surface acres and type of spawning habitat required by walleyes, size and number of stocked walleyes, standing crop of native fish and the total surface acres of the impoundment are fed into the computer for a readout.—SPORTS AFIELD

Pesticide Applicator Training Scheduled
By JOHN SPARKS
County Extension Dept.

All pesticides will begin to be labeled as "General" or as "Restricted". Many of the pesticides that you growers have been using may fall in the "Restricted" class. You will not be able to continue using these pesticides unless you become a certified applicator.

If you apply pesticides to your own or rented property or to your neighbor's as a favor for some service he has performed for you, you are a private applicator. However, if you charge a fee for applying pesticides to another property, then you are a commercial applicator and must obtain a commercial applicator's license through DNREP.

If you employ workers who apply pesticides to your own or rented property, they will not be required to be certified. They will, however, be working under your direct supervision, and if a restricted-use pesticide is to be used, you will have to instruct them as to the proper precautions and applications techniques and how the workers can contact you, if needed.

You can become a certified private applicator by attending the Pesticide Applicator Training Program January 7 at 1 p.m. at the Floyd County Library. There is no fee or test involved in becoming a certified private applicator—just attend the training meeting. It will take about 2 1/2 hours of your time, so plan your schedule. If you can't make the meeting, there will be two more meetings: Weeksbury, January 20, 6:30 p.m. at the Community Center, and another scheduled for Bonanza.

The training will be conducted by the Extension Service. Certification will be done by DNREP. For more information, call the County Extension Office, 886-2668.

Prepare for Program Students

Getting ready for Kentucky January Program students to visit and work in Prestonsburg are Linda Gindlesperger, radiation technology student, and Chalmer Frazier, president of the Highland Regional Medical Center, who is serving as location coordinator of the program.

The program, originated in 1972 by the University of Kentucky College of Allied Health Professions, will send approximately 200 students of various health-related disciplines to 25 appointed sites throughout the state this winter. The location coordinator, serving as a liaison for the Kentucky January team at Highlands Regional Medical Center, will work with students as they participate in health care delivery and will relate the activities and objectives of the program to people in the community. More than 100 health agencies in the state are involved in the current project.

Transportation Report Shows Importance of State's Rivers

By JIM CLARKE

Frankfort, Ky.—Few if any Kentuckians remember the giant, flatbottom riverboats that once plied our rivers with their rich cargoes of pelt, Eastern Kentucky hardwood and other goods or the hard-drinking and hard-fighting rivermen whose exploits have become a permanent part of Kentucky folklore.

But the importance of Kentucky's waterways still is very real and very major force to the economic growth and development of the Commonwealth as was pointed out in a recent report compiled by the Kentucky Department of Transportation (KYDOT) here.

In announcing the release of the report, KYDOT Secretary John C. Roberts revealed that more than 195 million tons of cargo were transported via Kentucky waters in 1974 alone, including almost 100 million tons of coal.

"Waterborne transportation is particularly suited for bulk freight—such as coal, aggregates, petroleum produced for farm commodities—and is quite efficient in the consumption of energy," the secretary said.

In cataloging the state's rivers, the report shows that 71 per cent of all Kentucky waterborne cargo moves along the Ohio-Mississippi River system that stretches 660 miles from Catlettsburg to the far western end of Fulton County.

Of the 139 million tons of cargo hauled on this system, coal accounted for 67 million tons, petroleum products 21.5 million and aggregates 18.4 million.

Roberts also pointed out that with the completion of the 253-mile Tenn-Tom Waterway, which will connect the Tennessee River at the point near the Tennessee state line to the Tombigbee River near Selma, Ala., the tonnage figures will greatly increase.

The secretary said "the Tenn-Tom Waterway will allow more Kentucky coal to be transported via river barges."

Current projections estimate over 18 million tons of coal will be carried through the waterway in its first year of operation around 1986.

The report also states that since the depth of the Ohio River is subject to considerable seasonal fluctuation, 11 locks and dams have been constructed to maintain the required nine-foot channel depth.

The Tennessee River was ranked second in 1974 for cargo tonnage with 27 million tons (14 per cent); the Green river was third with 15.6 million followed by the Cumberland River, 10.9 million; the Big Sandy River, 1.4 million; and the Kentucky River, 652,607 tons.

The navigable mileage—at least 5.5 feet deep—of Kentucky rivers totals 1,453 miles, with the Ohio River the longest at 664 miles.

The Kentucky River is the second longest with 266 miles. But the report states that since the meandering nature of the river results in a very round-about route between points, there is little commercial navigation activity on the Kentucky River.

The navigable mileage of the other rivers in the state is listed as follows: Green River—149 miles; Upper Cumberland River—105; Mississippi—80; Cumberland River—71; Tennessee River—63; Barren River—30; Big Sandy River—13; and Licking River—10 miles.

Eblen To Head Scout Council

M. K. Eblen, Hazard attorney and businessman, has been elected president of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, to serve during the 1977 term, according to John Fischer of Big Stone Gap, retiring president.

Fischer said that Eblen brings with him to the presidency of the Lonesome Pine Council the experience of a long and varied career of service. He has served on the board of regents of Morehead State University, on the board of trustees at Union College, Barbourville, and on the board of Kentucky Wesleyan College at Owensboro. He has also served as a director of the Kentucky State Chamber of Commerce, and was elected to serve two terms as mayor of Hazard.

Other officers elected for the 1977 term include H. E. Greer, of Hazard, honorary president; Vice Presidents: A. R. Barber, of Hazard, Burlin Coleman, of Pikeville, H. C. Van Meter, of Grundy, O. T. Dorton, of Paintsville, and Barbara Polly, of Big Stone Gap. Elected as treasurer was Brandt Mullins, of Pikeville. E. M. Bane, of Grundy, will serve as National Council representative. John Fanning was re-elected as secretary and Scout executive, and Fischer will continue his service with the board as immediate past president.

Members of the executive board for the 1977 term include William J. Baird, James Cauley, Burlin Coleman, Donald Combs, Raymond Hammond, Paul D. Hinkle, Robert Linton, Judge Wayne T. Rutherford, John M. Stephens, Walter P. Walters, George C. Wells, and J. M. Wood, all of Pikeville; Paul Patton, of Virgie; E. M. Bane, Paul Elswick, F. B. Fowler, Robert Sichts, and H. C. Van Meter, of Buchanan County, Virginia; Arley R. Barber, M. K. Eblen, Rev. A. D. Ellison, H. E. Greer, Sr., and Leslie Rogers, all of Hazard; Judge Estill Blair, of Whitesburg; Raymond A. Bradbury, of Inez; Fred Brashear and Judge Alan Muncy, of Hyden; Luther G. Carpenter, of Salyersville; E. L. Carter, Arthur Leach, and E. B. May, Jr., all of Prestonsburg; O. T. Dorton and Kenzie Jones, of Paintsville; John Fischer, J. Lincoln Kiser, Harry W. Meador, Jr., and Barbara Polly, of Big Stone Gap; Louise B. Hatmaker and J. Phil Smith, of Jackson; John Kiser, of Wise; Dr. Paul Odom and C. B. Wolfe, of Jenkins; John Preece, of Hindman; B. F. Reed, of Drift; Frank Reffitt, of Wayland; William L. Skeen, of Clintwood, and Henry Stout, of Norton.

East Kentucky Jobless Rate Increases 1/2%

Frankfort, Ky.—Eastern Kentucky's unemployment rate went from 6.1 per cent in October to 6.6 in November, according to figures released by the Department for Human Resources. This was higher than the state rate of 5.4 per cent during November, but below the national rate of 7.4 per cent.

Floyd county held at 7 per cent unemployed. Martin county's 3.4 per cent was lowest in the area.

The number of unemployed persons in the area was estimated to be 17,196.

Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the department, says that 94 counties had a higher rate in November than in October, 17 counties registered a decrease in their unemployment rate, and nine counties remained the same.

Three Kentucky counties, Bourbon, Union and Woodford, shared the lowest unemployment rate, 2.3 per cent. Powell, at 13.0 per cent, and Edmonson's 13.2 per cent were the highest.

The Eastern Kentucky unemployment percentages, by counties, follow:

Bath 7, Bell 7.4, Boyd 4.8, Breathitt 7.5, Carter 9.6, Clay 8.5, Elliott 5, Floyd 7, Greenup 5.7, Harlan 7, Jackson 8.7, Johnson 5.8, Knott 6.7, Knox 7.8, Laurel 5.1, Lawrence 7.1, Lee 11.5, Leslie 7.2, Letcher 6.5, McCreary 9.5, Magoffin 10.4, Menifee 8.9, Montgomery 4.8, Morgan 9.7, Owsley 9.3, Perry 6.6, Pike 6, Pulaski 5, Rockcastle 6.2, Rowan 4.7, Wayne 7.6, Whitley 7.3, Wolfe 7.4.

Maiden Name Use By Married Women To Draw Citations

Frankfort, Ky.—Married women who continue driving under their maiden names may soon find themselves in serious conflict with the law.

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts said here today that he will ask the Kentucky State Police to start citing married women who have not complied with a state requirement that they must use their husband's legal surname on their driver's license.

Roberts said that offenders will be cited for "driving without a valid operator's license." Conviction could result in a fine of not less than $2 nor more than $500, and (or) up to six months in jail.

The Secretary said the action was being taken in the wake of a recent US Supreme Court decision to let stand a ruling by the 6th US Court of Appeals that Kentucky legally refused to issue a driver's license to Sylvia Scott Whitlow, of Lexington, in her maiden name.

MSU Youth Team To Lead Revival

"The Young Disciples," a group of Morehead State University students, will conduct a week-end revival Friday through Sunday, Jan. 7-9, at the First Baptist Church of Maytown.

Charles Stephens will be the evangelist; Rick Howerton, song leader; David Burchett, social coordinator, and Reuben DeBord, accompanist.

The services will be at 6 p.m. each day, and the public is invited to attend.

Has First Christmas Party

TOPS Chapter No. 196 held its first Christmas party since becoming a chapter, at the Landmark in Pikeville. The chapter's first KOPS (Keep Off Pounds)—Dencie Gayheart, of Eastern—was honored. She received the honor for losing 35 1/2 pounds, reaching her goal and maintaining that goal for 13 weeks.

Also honored were Lessie Cooley, Division 2 winner, with a loss of 28 pounds; Hollie Wicker, Div. 3, loss of 58 pounds; Joyce Everly, Div. 4, loss of 39%, and Mike Gibson, Div. 6, loss 5.

Following dinner and awards a gift exchange was held, and Christmas carols were sung.

The chapter hopes to make the dinner an annual event. TOPS is a non-profit organization dedicated to weight loss by group participation and encouragement. Those who have a weight problem and feel they can't solve it alone are invited to join. The chapter meets Monday nights at 7 at the First Presbyterian Church.

Middle Schools Become Part Of State Educational Picture

Frankfort, Ky.—Recognition of the special educational needs of preadolescent and early adolescent youths has been a determining factor in the growth of middle schools in Kentucky, according to D. C. Anderson, director of the Division of Supervision-Accreditation-Organization.

The development of middle schools in Kentucky is part of a national trend as educators begin to question whether junior high schools are bridging the gap between elementary schools and senior high schools.

More than 80 middle schools are presently operating in Kentucky, with most concentrated in the western part of the state. They are usually a combination of any three grades between five and eight. Some existing junior high schools operate with a middle school concept.

In describing the students, who are between 10 and 14 years old, Anderson said, "They're 'in-betweeners.' They're not children and they're not yet adults."

As more educators realize that, they also recognize that the transition from the self-contained classroom of the elementary school to the highly departmentalized high school can be a difficult one. Middle schools are often begun to help bridge the gap.

"The junior high school is all too often just a 'little' senior high," Anderson said, "without recognizing the different needs of the youngsters in that age group."

According to Anderson, middle schools in Kentucky first "started getting down to brass tacks" in 1965 and the concept has been gaining momentum ever since.

Most middle schools offer a wide range of exploratory courses and career education courses. Many of the courses last from six to nine weeks to give the students a chance to see how they like the subject before moving on to another area.

Exploratory courses may vary from courses in foreign languages, industrial arts and home economics to inviting local people to explain what they do. Having a local doctor speak to a class may alert the children to health care fields as career possibilities. Students may gain insight into the local government of their community by having the local judge or sheriff speak.

"The middle schools are encouraging true team teaching," said Kent Richards, a general education supervisor. He explained that teachers may coordinate activities to help a child's weak subjects.

A child who does poorly in English but well in industrial arts courses may improve his English skills if his English teacher gives letter-writing assignments which concern ordering parts.

A math teacher may work with a home economics teacher to help a child having problems in that area. Comparison shopping for the home economics class may improve the child's math skills.

"The middle schools are holding the interest of the youngsters, meeting their needs, and keeping them from dropping out," Anderson said.

$25,000 REWARD

($100,000 Maximum)

Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company has suffered certain malicious acts of sabotage involving explosives against its property and equipment, beginning October 18, 1976. Law enforcement officers, including federal, state and local, have been notified.

The Company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the Company or to any law enforcement agency of the state of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person willfully or maliciously interfering with the flow of gas or oil or injuring or destroying any of the Company's operating equipment or facilities by the use of any explosive devices or by setting any explosive devices for such purpose or for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act.

The maximum of reward payable in each instance or interference with the flow of gas or oil, or injury, or destruction of property by an explosive device or by setting any explosive device for such purpose is $25,000 and the total amount of the rewards payable for all such instances shall not exceed $100,000. The Company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate March 1, 1977, subject to extension by the Company.

In addition to the reward noted above regarding explosives, the Company also offers a $5,000 reward ($50,000 maximum) for other types of willful or malicious interference with the flow of gas or oil subject to the following conditions:

The Company offers to reward any person or persons furnishing to the company or to any law enforcement agency of the State of Kentucky, or the federal government, or to the sheriff of any county, or to the police of any municipality, information directly leading to the arrest and conviction of any person willfully or maliciously interfering with the flow of gas or oil, injuring or destroying any of the company's operating equipment or facilities, or for aiding or procuring any person to do such an act, without the use of explosives.

The maximum of reward payable in each instance of interference with the flow of gas or oil, injury, or destruction of property is $5,000 and the total amount of the rewards payable for all such instances shall not exceed $50,000. The company reserves the right to determine the person or persons entitled to the reward and the proportionate amount to which each is entitled. This offer shall terminate March 1, 1977, subject to extension by the Company.

Such acts of sabotage endangers the public which is dependent on gas for safety, health, and comfort. Any such acts affecting any of the company's facilities will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law as part of Kentucky West Virginia's obligation to provide safe and dependable gas service to its customers.

ALLEN CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Allen United Methodist Women met at the home of Mrs. Tincey Crisp for their annual Christmas party, December 14. Unfinished and current business was discussed and pledges for 1977 were made. The president, Mrs. Maude Snodgrass, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Tincey Crisp, who had the program in the absence of Mrs. Kay Gray, gave an interesting quiz on the Christmas story.

The Crisp home was decorated in the Christmas theme. Gifts were exchanged and refreshments of red velvet cake, red and green ribbon salad and holiday punch were served to Mrs. Jerry Martin, Mrs. Jewel Allen, Mrs. Maude Snodgrass, Mrs. Edna Mae Callison and Mrs. Kay Lemaster by the hostess, Mrs. Tincey Crisp.

The next meeting will be on January 10, at the home of Mrs. Kay Gray, with Mrs. Kay Lemaster having the program.

Chandler Views Old, New Issues

Frankfort, Ky.—"If we'd been a little more diligent, we could have beat the Judicial Article the first time, and I wish to God we had," A. B. Chandler, former Governor of Kentucky, told the Senate recently.

The 78-year-old Chandler, speaking from the seat he occupied as a state senator more than 46 years ago, embarked on what he called a sentimental journey.

Interspersed with his recollections of his years in state and federal government were observations on legislation currently before the special session and short quips.

He took issue with a newspaper story which had called him old, but noted "there are three states of life, youth, maturity, and 'my don't you look good.'" He put himself in the last category.

Chandler commented on the death penalty. "You've got to have a death penalty. The one thing they fear is the death penalty." He also castigated police for "hiding in the weeds, waiting for someone going 10 miles per hour above the speed limit," instead of chasing criminals.

Chandler said, "We budgeted carefully and left money in the bank" in his days in state governor. He added that would be considered "subversive" nowadays.

He said that he had "hand picked" Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall and announced that she would be his Secretary of State.

He recalled that he had had one disagreement with Mrs. Stovall, "She was a women's libber, and I am a male chauvinist pig."

TO SPEAK AT CHURCH

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Taylor, son-in-law and daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Cordell Martin, of Hindman, will be speaking at Faith Bible Church, Martin, on the night of Jan. 9. The Taylor's are engaged in Missionary words in Brazil. The service will begin at 6 p.m.

TREE-PLANTING DEVICE SPEEDS UP PROCESS

EAST LANSING, Mich.—A newly designed fruit-tree planter incorporating ideas from four homemade machines already in use has planted—with a tractor and three people—500 trees an hour in Michigan tests.

The prevailing planting method takes five people all day to plant 500 trees.

The machine opens a trench in either sod or cultivated ground, the tree is planted, and then the unit closes the trench and compacts the soil around the tree. Only the planting is done by hand.

Point Reduction Law Draws Mixed Reaction from Officials

Frankfort, Ky.—State transportation officials are expressing mixed reactions to the legislation that would reduce penalty points against Kentucky drivers caught speeding on interstate and four-lane limited access highways.

The measure, tacked onto House Bill 21, eliminates penalty points for motorists ticketed for speeding up to 70 miles per hour on interstate and four-lane limited access highways only. Point assessments remain the same on all other roads.

Since Governor Julian M. Carroll did not sign the bill, it will become law without his signature.

Speeders still will be subject to a fine, officials pointed out, under a uniform fine schedule provided for in the house bill itself.

Under current law, motorists are assessed three penalty points when ticketed for speeds up to 70. The new amendment changes that law to read that those caught exceeding 70 miles per hour will receive six penalty points.

The original House Bill 21, which provided for a uniform traffic fine schedule, got strong support from transportation officials who agreed, along with nearly everyone else, that it could work to effectively reduce the load on the state's already overburdened courts.

But the amendment, which affects the point system was not so universally accepted. Enforcement of the point system is a direct responsibility of the transportation department and its Division of Driver Licensing.

State Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts indicated that his major concern is the safety of all motorists on Kentucky highways. The new point system raises the possibility that motorists might also be prone to drive faster on roads other than those with four lanes and limited access, as well.

"That, in turn, could provoke a rise in our fatal and injury accident rate," he said.

"There is no doubt that the points levied against the driver's license helped to keep speeds down close to the 55 mph limit," says State Director Eugene Hodges of the Division of Driver Licensing. "I am confident that in some cases the points were a stronger deterrent than the fines that could be given for violations of the 55 mph speed limit."

The 55 mph limit was imposed as a fuel-saving measure in 1974 in response to the Arab oil embargo. An unexpected benefit was the reduction of fatalities, especially on the high-speed four-lane arteries.

All safety officials are convinced that lowered speed cuts down the number of accidents occurring on interstates and other four-lane highways and lessens the severity of those that do occur.

To what extent "55" as a safety factor has been is hard to assess. The number of lives that could be saved by strict adherence to the 55 mph speed limit has been estimated as high as 300 per year in Kentucky.

Nationally, the statistics indicate that the number of fatalities has dropped by as much as one third on the interstates and that possibly half of that reduced figure may be attributed directly to the 55 mph speed limit.

Under the new law, points will still be assessed against drivers caught driving in excess of 70 mph and accumulation of 12 points within two years can still mean loss of license for the driver.

State Transportation Safety Coordinator Bennie R. Maffet points out that drivers can still be stopped and fined for going faster than 55 mph. He added that the task of enforcing the law will be more difficult under the new law.

Maffet said that it may be premature, however, to say that speeds will automatically increase because of the law "and therefore we can't say for sure how safety will be affected."

He added that it is not yet known what effect passage and signing of the bill would have on future federal funding of highway projects in Kentucky.

Three Gas Firms Win Rate Boost

The state Public Service Commission has granted rate adjustment increases to three gas utilities serving customers in Floyd County.

The new rate schedules for the three companies, Bucks Branch Gas Co., Martin Gas Co. and Auxier Road Gas Co. became effective for gas supplied on and after Dec. 1.

A $1,453 rate adjustment increase was granted the Bucks Branch firm. The approved increase was an amended filing of the firm's original request for a $2,268 increase. The new rates establish a minimum monthly bill of $3.20 for the firm's customers.

The new rate schedule of Martin Gas, setting a minimum monthly bill of $3.15, increases the firm's present rates by $6,297.

Auxier Gas will increase its rates $0.173 per MCF under the newly-approved schedule. The firm's minimum monthly bill will be $4.00.

All three companies were granted increases because of comparable increases in the wholesale cost of gas from their supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky.

By LARRY BURKE

There is a remarkable story about an Englishman by the name of James Holman.

Holman lost his eyesight at the age of twenty-four, and he became the most restless blind man in history.

He kept on the move, touring and traveling around the world. The fascinating part of this man's story is that he published several books on travel and things to see. Even though he was blind he compiled the finest book written on sightseeing.

This is a classic example of what a person can do if he really has the desire.

So many of us—with all our faculties—end up many times with few or no great accomplishments. We don't have the nerve of the blind man who went sightseeing around the world.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: Life is going to be exactly what we make it.
