

2 Districts May Build New Plant $1 Million Funding For Water Facility May Be Asked Soon

There is a possibility that application for funds to construct a water plant near Harold to serve two water-starved water districts will be filed shortly, it was said following a meeting last Thursday at the Big Sandy Area Development office here of water district, county and federal officials.

It is estimated that $1 million will be needed to finance a filtration plant of the desired million-gallons-per-day capacity. The Farm Home Administration (FmHA) would be the prime source of funds but Appalachian Regional Commission grant-aid also is possible.

The decision to try in this way to solve the long-range problems of both the Sandy Valley and the Mud Creek water districts came after County Judge Henry Stumbo, Magistrate Dewey Roberts and Jack Branham, chairman of the Sandy Valley commissioners, had said, in effect, that they would not be willing to entertain any idea of depending upon the Pikeville water system for water, as the two districts do at present. Both Sandy Valley and Mud Creek have had a water shortage for some time, and this is blamed mainly on the inability of the sorely taxed Pikeville system to provide enough water. They argued that future expansion of Pikeville will continue to make service to outlying districts uncertain.

Mud Creek system representatives asked at last week's meeting why the application for funds must be in the name

Third Flooding Evokes Decision To Quit Building

When Radio Station WPRT here was flooded recently for the third time it moved out and will not return to the building it has occupied since it first went on the air.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stephens Beerbower, president of the Kentucky Mountain Broadcasting Co., which owns and operates the station, said the studios have been moved into a mobile home in the vicinity of the nearby radio tower but that this location will be used only temporarily until a building nearer the business district of Prestonsburg is renovated. The station's business office and production room have been moved to a building at the rear of the D. C. Stephens Dental Laboratory building on Davis street.

Mrs. Beerbower, who assumed control of the station license last December for the parent company, Stephens Industries, commented on persistent rumors that the station has been, or is about to be, sold. "Absolutely not true," she said.

Instead, the station is planning large-scale improvements in its physical facilities and programming. Mrs. Beerbower said the tower already installed across the Big Sandy at Ball Alley here is to be activated later.

Minimum Repair Plan Outlined

R. Jackson Ingram, director of the HUD field office in London, Ky., this week outlined a minimum home repair program made possible by the federal agency in the 15-county flood disaster area of Kentucky.

Federal assistance is available, he said, for home repair as a part of HUD's temporary housing program. Both conventional and mobile may be eligible, he said. Not all repairs are eligible for assistance, but basic repairs to make a home tenable will qualify.

Repair work is to be done in two ways, it was pointed out. The work can be let to contract by HUD, or the homeowner can do the work himself and be paid for eligible repairs.

Basic furniture and household items may also be furnished those in need, Mr. Ingram said.

The Disaster and Information Center at Auxier has closed, but a temporary center at Martin will be open today (Wednesday) only. Applications also may be made at local HUD disaster field offices in Pikeville, Belfry, Hazard and Pineville.

LAVENDER AND OLD LACE

Besides worrying about the possibility of a malpractice suit against him and George Brown in the event that somebody tries one of their oldtime remedies and winds up hors d' combat, Watt Hale is a bit troubled by a mental picture which springs from recollections of 50-60 years ago.

That, he recalls, was in the dear, dead days when if a young couple came to a parting of the ways they returned each to the other the love letters exchanged during the courtship, including any gifts that were not edible, such as rings, locks of hair and the like. Which recalled for Watt this poignant scene:

A young man of his acquaintance sitting at the roadside slowly, painfully feeding a fire which he had kindled with letters from his loved and lost . . . stopping only to fortify himself, at regular intervals, with a swig from a self-sealer of corn whiskey.

Case of When Relief Came Day Too Early

The feeling grew last week that the number of agencies involved in the flood relief effort in Floyd county had become such that a coordination of their efforts was needed.

A meeting called by County Judge Henry Stumbo was held Saturday morning for that purpose—and still, officials say, it all wound up in a mess.

One of the difficulties encountered was the centralization of the relief effort in the Disaster Services office at Auxier in the northern end of the county, far removed from the centers of flood loss such as Allen, Martin, Betsy Layne, Harold and other river communities. In Martin alone, it was said, 83 business houses were flooded, with half of them suffering total loss. These and other business people, it was argued, were busy at cleanup efforts and they did not have the time or means to travel the distance required to file application for federal aid. They felt neglected.

But it was believed, when last Saturday's conference of city, county, state and federal leaders was over, that the isolation problem had been solved.

Claude Swiney, county planner, who presided at Judge Stumbo's request at the meeting, said Area Civil Defense Director Vernon Gross announced that he had been instructed from London, Ky. headquarters to open an office for HUD at Martin at 8 a.m. Monday. Swiney, State Representative "Jitter" Allen,

Board Views Losses In Money and Time

The Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Thursday was concerned with two effects of the recent flood disaster:

1. The damage to schools and school system equipment; 2. the threat of extension of the school term well into June to meet state requirements.

The meeting had been postponed from the preceding Wednesday, regular board meeting date, because of the flood.

Supt. of Schools E. P. Grigsby, Jr. said federal agency representatives asked at a meeting held in London, Ky. last week an itemized list of school losses. He said a conservative estimate of the damage was $2 million.

Grigsby said he has appealed to both Governor Carroll and the state Department of Education for lost-time relief. "Unless somebody gives us help, we will have to add days to the school calendar and not get out of school till well up in June," he said.

The possibility of Saturday classes is considered if the system is not "forgiven" some of the time lost. The superintendent said Governor Carroll has already given Floyd county five "disaster days" and the Department of Education has given an additional five days.

He and the board are awaiting a decision from Frankfort before changing the school calendar. The schools lost two days to snow, a few weeks ago, and all schools were closed four days by the flood.

But for the flood, with the schools in classes an extra hour a day, the schools would have closed June 2.

State Senator Jim Hammond and others said Gross left the meeting with the announced intention of going to one or more radio stations to announce the opening of the office, Monday morning.

But the office at Martin didn't open, Monday. It opened at 1 p.m. Sunday. It closed five hours later, with only seven applications for assistance filed.

The low number of applications resulted because few knew the office was open, officials here said.

State Senator Hammond blamed General Frymire, head of the Kentucky National Guard, for the "logistical error" of locating the disaster office at Auxier, too far from the scene of the "battle."

Now comes this announcement:

"Robert McFerren, deputy director for Disaster Emergency Services in Frankfort, notified County Judge Henry Stumbo's office that several federal and state agencies, including HUD, SBA and Human Resources, will be at the Martin Elementary School gymnasium Wednesday only (April 20) from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Any who did not get the opportunity to get to the Auxier Center should come to the Martin Elementary School gymnasium."

The Auxier center has been closed. A second meeting at the courthouse was scheduled Tuesday morning between contractors' representatives, HUD officials and others.

The badly flooded Martin school was back in session last Thursday; Drift school resumed work Monday, and Allen was expected to reopen Tuesday. But Betsy Layne and Harold schools remain closed and no reopening date was predicted for either.

Failure of the water system supplying Betsy Layne and Harold schools has compounded their problems. Water is being pumped from old wells during the cleanup effort.

Federal and state teams will visit all the schools and departments of the school system soon to make an on-site assessment of losses.

During its session the board of education adopted the textbook list for the 1977-1982 period. Supt. Grigsby said

Accused Slayer Of Carroll Held On $15,000 Bond

The delay in the return of the grand jury resulted last Friday in an examining trial for Carl Nance, 69, who had been held in jail here on a charge of murder as the alleged slayer of Earl "Buster" Carroll, of Martin.

County Judge Stumbo set his bond at $15,000. He had not executed bond as of Tuesday noon.

The preliminary hearing was brief as the defense offered no testimony and the Commonwealth heard only one witness, State Detective Gary Rose.

Rose repeated only what he said Nance told him after the shooting—that all four occupants of the car in which the shooting took place were drunk, that Carroll tried to choke him and that he pushed Carroll off and shot him.

The shooting took place April 5 on the Stephens Branch road. Willie Carroll, a brother of the victim, was said to have been the driver of the car. Carroll was shot six times and died a few hours later at the Highlands Medical Center here.

Study by HUD Shows Pike Was Heaviest Loser

Of more than 9,000 homes lost or heavily damaged in the 15-county flooded area, Floyd county has 1,158, it was estimated following a HUD survey last week.

Pike and Harlan counties had the greatest home loss and damage, according to the survey—1,858 in Pike, and 1,843 in Harlan. In other nearby counties the survey figures are: Martin county 501; Perry, 382; Johnson, 204; Breathitt, 52; Letcher, 22; Lawrence and Magoffin, 4 each.

No loss was reported from Knott county.

The survey admittedly was incomplete, and preliminary, and the figures are subject to change. Of the total of homes damaged or destroyed, 3,505 were standard dwellings and 5,746 were mobile homes.

There is no aid program that replaces destroyed mobile homes, James Long, public information officer for HUD, said.

Temporary housing has not yet been set up in the flooded area, Long said, but he added that, "staging areas," where the federal mobile homes would be stored before being distributed, have been picked.

He said HUD can provide up to 12 months of rent free housing and added, "but work begins right away with the family to find out permanent housing."

Long said existing housing for flood victims to move into is "preferable," but he said there was a "critical" shortage of available housing.

Temporary housing will most likely be mobile homes that are supplied from local businesses in the state.

Convicted Man Begins Serving 20-Year Term

Dallas Fletcher, former Magoffin county deputy sheriff who was convicted by a Floyd circuit court jury last Tuesday of manslaughter in the shooting death of Salsersville Policeman Mike Williams, later in the week began serving his 20-year prison term.

The second murder trial of the term, in which Jot Marsillett is charged with the slaying of Tom Nelson, was scheduled to begin Tuesday.

The grand jury is slated to return here May 2 to complete its flood-interrupted session. It will remain in session two days.

In the Fletcher trial the defendant admitted shooting Williams but claimed that he did so only in self-defense. He and two other witnesses, Conrad May and Henry Marshall, testified that the policeman was going for his gun when he was shot.

The Commonwealth offered the testimony of two who claimed to have been eyewitnesses to the shooting. Paul Marshall, a fellow-policeman of Williams', said he was following Williams after the latter had arrested Tracey Patton, a brother-in-law of Fletcher, when Fletcher told the policeman, "You're not going to take him to jail." A scuffle between Fletcher and Williams followed, he said, and when Williams started away with Patton Fletcher shot him.

Anna Mae Howard, who claimed she was attending the Bluegrass festival at the Community Center in Salsersville, the evening of the shooting, said she knew none of those involved. She testified she saw an officer in a blue uniform arrest a man. She said she saw another man in a brown uniform with a gun while he was inside the building and that she became frightened and left the building and saw the man identified as Fletcher shoot Williams. She said she did not see Williams with a weapon or see him make a threatening move.

The defense introduced three witnesses who testified that Paul Marshall, the principal Commonwealth witness, was not present at the time of the shooting.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen was assisted in the prosecution by Jarvis Allen. Defense attorneys were Paul P. Burchett and Burnis Martin.

Red Cross Stays To Aid Flooded

Of the more than $4 million which the American Red Cross has thus far committed in direct emergency assistance to flood victims in 15 effected Kentucky counties, $297,586.95 had, as of April 14, been spent toward relief in Floyd county.

Thirty-two Red Cross staff disaster specialists and more than 200 volunteers in the Floyd-Pike-Martin-Johnson county area have helped in the massive relief effort which has provided such things as food, shelter, clothing, rent, medical needs, bedding and temporary home repair to flood-stricken families.

Red Cross staff members from as far away as California, Oregon and Hawaii have been called to the area and much of the organization's activity has been centered in the Floyd county headquarters located in the county courtroom of the Floyd county courthouse.

Chartered buses, helicopters and vans and trucks of all types bearing the Red Cross have brought the necessary relief (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Park Bookings Out Till May 15

State Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery announced Monday that reservations to two state parks in Eastern Kentucky are being cancelled until May 15 so that the facilities can be used for lodging of flood-relief workers.

Affected are Jenny Wiley and Pine Mountain State Resort Parks. These parks have been closed to the public for the past two weeks.

"We are endeavoring to give the touring public consideration, but our first responsibility is to the flood victims," Montgomery said.

"This is the second series of reservation cancellations we have experienced. We are hopeful the cleanup operation will be completed within the next three weeks, but it may be necessary to extend our cancellations for as long as the need exists," he added.

The commissioner said the park facilities are being used to house and feed more than 300 representatives of various agencies engaged in the flood-relief effort.

Montgomery said his staff is contacting all persons with reservations at these two parks through May 15. "They are being informed that their reservations are being cancelled . . . and they're being told why," he said.

"The people we have contacted have been understanding and compassionate. They have cooperated in every way to make it easier for us to get relief to the needy flood victims," Montgomery said.

MINISTER ENDORSES LEWIS

Friends of Floyd County, as one of the Gospel ministers of this county, and a concerned citizen, I'm concerned about our laws of this county and making sure they are enforced, and to make sure they are enforced we need good, strong, honest and capable Law Enforcers.

I am proud of our present Sheriff and his staff. I am proud of our county. I want it to be a clean place where I can raise my children. It blesses my heart when I see our Sheriff's Department taking the stand that they are taking to try their best to rid our county of drug pushers and bootleggers. I praise God for these men.

That is why I ask all that are really concerned about our county, our children and the moral pureness of our society to vote in the May election for the only candidate who has proved to us with his experience that he is the man we need as Sheriff of Floyd County—a fine, outstanding man, Doug Lewis. He needs our vote—and we need him.

Wanted, Volunteers.

Today's Army is an Army of volunteers. The many people who are in the Army are in it because it's a good place to be in.

Partly because of the benefits. A monthly starting salary of $374 (before deductions). With a raise to $417 in just six months. Plus free housing and meals, free medical and dental care, free job training, 30 days paid vacation a year.

Partly, too, because of the personal challenge. The discipline. The mental and physical demands. The early risings, hard days, and late nights.

In the Army, we don't have time clocks. And in the Army, you don't get paid overtime. Soldiering is a full-time job.

We don't require prior experience. But we do require high standards. And if you meet them, you're the kind of volunteer we want. The kind your Country needs.

WILBURN AKERS

For Magistrate, Dist. 4

Giving a great deal of thought to the overwhelming problems of the people of Eastern Kentucky since the recent flood disaster, and especially friends, neighbors, and people in my area, I have had to reevaluate myself as to my readiness for the most important job of Magistrate (if and when I might be elected).

At the same time I ask: Am I doing everything possible now to eliminate or at least alleviate some of these problems. Aware of the needs people of District 4 had prior to the flood, believe me I am even more aware of how much greater they have become. This only means I am going to apply myself to a greater extent, as the job of any Magistrate during this crucial time is going to pose a huge challenge. I am in sympathy with the people I hope to serve, but at the same time I am making every effort to familiarize myself with information that will be of benefit to these same people. I could not as a fellow human being help but be concerned about all the people involved in the tragedy mentioned, and I am now making efforts to assist in any way I can as well as be prepared for the job I seek by:

(A) Seeking information from our local officials, or appropriate persons about federal, state or other sources of financial aid.

(B) How much of the funding will be appropriated for each District (especially Dist. 4)?

(C) Will there be a certain category for assistance programs, such as personal property, schools, roads, bridges, business, etc.?

(D) Will there be task forces to study the needs of each district, or public meeting? If so, when and where?

If you have a personal interest or are concerned about our people, I invite you to help in my efforts now and hopefully throughout the next four years. The people of District 4 must have good representation and equal service for all.

Federal Funds Possible For Flooded Farmlands

Farms suffering severe flood damage may be eligible for assistance under the Emergency Conservation Measures Program (ECM) administered by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) if the damage:

- Is unusual in character and is not the type which would recur frequently.
- Materially affects the productive capacity of the farmland.
- If not treated will impair or endanger the land.

-Will be so costly to correct that the farmer cannot do it without federal assistance and is truly an emergency condition for the farmer; that is, it is so severe that the farmer cannot correct it using his normal labor supply and farm equipment that is normal to the area and his other resources are such that assistance is required to restore the land.

A farmer qualifying for ECM assistance may receive up to 80 per cent of the cost for performing the following types of measures:

- Removing debris from farmland.
- Grading, shaping, or releveling severely damaged farmland.
- Restoring permanent fences.
- Restoring conservation structures and other similar installations.

Farmers, who feel the damage is sufficiently severe and their capabilities are such that assistance is necessary to correct the problem should contact the county ASCS office and request assistance not later than May 6, the deadline for filing requests.

ARNOLD TURNER, JR. FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

HE DESERVES YOUR SUPPORT

That is a question that deserves the consideration of the people throughout this county.

Arnold Turner, Jr. is a young man of 29 years, born and reared in McDowell, Kentucky, the product of a coal mining family. His father has been connected with coal mining since he first entered the mines at the age of 16 years. His grandfather and four of his uncles are all United Mine Worker's members, whether retired or active. His mother and her family are deeply imbedded in the mountain way of life, and the life experiences of the working man and woman.

Arnold Turner, Jr. graduated from McDowell High School in 1966. From there he went on to the Prestonsburg Community College for two years, and then on to the University of Kentucky to complete his undergraduate work. He then fulfilled a long-time ambition of himself and his family by entering the University of Kentucky Law School. He graduated from that institution in 1973. During his last year and one-half there, he not only was a full-time student, but worked 20 or more hours a week as a law clerk to then Kentucky Attorney General Ed Hancock, driving daily from Lexington to Frankfort, Kentucky after classes and home again to complete his studies before the night was done. While there as a law clerk, he comprised one of the original three-member staff of the Kentucky Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division and participated in the successful prosecution of the "Dare to be Great" consumer investment fraud that made national headlines.

At last, completing his legal education, he found like many other young men and women that doors do not open easily for the inexperienced. He located in our neighboring Pike County, and was employed as an Assistant Commonwealth Attorney to that two-judge Circuit Court. For two years he prosecuted felons from murder to incest, and maintained a near 90 percent conviction rate. During that time he was described by John Paul Runyon, President of the Kentucky Commonwealth Attorney's Association as "probably one of the best young prosecutors in the entire state" of Kentucky.

However, native F. Countians seldom remain satisfied with any arrangement other than their home. So, in November of 1975, he opened a private practice here in Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Now, for the first time, he is seeking public office. Not as a seasoned politician, but as a young man who now feels he has the experience, honesty and know-how to be a good County Attorney for our people. His heart and interests lie here. Look to his family ties and relations.

His father, Arnold Turner, of McDowell, fed himself and his family by the wages of a coal miner for over 21 years as an underground miner and then worked an additional 12 years as a Kentucky State Mine Inspector. This young man's grandfather, Joe "Hoss" Turner, is the son of Joel and Margaret Coburn Turner of the Right Beaver section of Floyd County. His paternal grandmother is Mertie Martin Turner, daughter of Keene and Martha Robinnett Martin, who are from the Drift-Minnie area of our county. Arnold Turner, Jr.'s mother, Annette Newsome Turner, was a working woman, employed 17 years as the Housekeeping Supervisor at the Appalachian Regional Hospital at McDowell. She is the daughter of the late Milford Newsome who was from the Ligon-Mud Creek section of this county. His maternal grandmother was Dona (Donie) Hall Newsome, who was well-known as a restaurant owner in Martin and McDowell for many years. Her parents were Robert and Henrietta Hopkins Hall of the Spewing Camp-McDowell area.

Other family members consist of three sisters and two brothers-in-law, all of whom live at McDowell, and those being Donise Turner, Joan Chaffins, Anita Gibson, Phillip Chaffins, son of the late Dave and Mint Chaffins of Wayland, and David S. Gibson, son of Selton and Bertha Gibson, of Maytown.

He is married to Elizabeth Ann Burga, the daughter of Bill Burga of Hager Hill and Alta Burga of Wheelwright. She is the granddaughter of Dewey and Eula Osborne of Wheelwright. They have one son, Arnold Brent Turner, currently enrolled in the Allen Elementary School.

It should never be suggested that family relations should determine your vote, but a man's background is a good indication of a man's desires for the future. Arnold Turner, Jr. is a native Floyd Countian whose hopes, dreams, and ambitions stand to see Floyd County prosper and progress.

In January, 1978, Kentucky will begin a great experiment called the District Court. All violations of law heretofore processed through our County Courts, Magistrates Courts, and City Police Courts, will go through this one judicial body. The County Attorney taking office at that time will be its chief prosecutor and driving force. Now is the time for a new face to be joined with a new beginning. The supporters of this young man sincerely believe that he will bring honesty, openness and effective service together for all of us as our County Attorney.

Make It a 'Thank Offering'

The Times will not undertake to identify every individual who has helped the flood-stricken with their heavy problems, these days, or even to list all the organizations that have been helpful. To attempt to do so would be to do an injustice to those whose names most certainly would be overlooked.

The American Red Cross is mentioned here because it has done its compassionate work not only during this most recent disaster but to remind us all that the Red Cross has over the years been with us to help when people could not help themselves. And to point out that this week the Red Cross is here and tomorrow will be involved in helping people in another area, or state, or even in another country—wherever there is need.

This is the organization that in 1957 spent in Floyd county more than $150,000 of pre-inflation money . . . that was back in 1963, and other occasions.

Although Floyd county has consistently failed to meet its small quota in annual Red Cross fund-raising drives, the Red Cross has not returned rejection for rejection. That is the forgiving spirit some of us who criticize the Red Cross for quite human errors so badly need.

The people of Eastern Kentucky are said to remember their friends. Or is that mere tradition?

If it isn't, surely Floyd county will not refuse to contribute generously to the Red Cross during the fund drive which coincides with our present time of trial.

Make your contribution a "thank offering."

and we thought we each would announce as candidates on the same "ticket," then over the period of weeks take turns lambasting the other, listing faults, weaknesses, calling on high heaven to witness our respective crimes, and so on, ad infinitum, ad absurdum.

But we never got around to it. Perhaps because he was as afraid as I that we might get all worked up in the heat of battle and tell the truth on one another.

FROM WEBSTER'S

"Disremember"—now, there's a good, old, mountain word for you. It's listed in Webster's, too, but as a colloquialism or dialect. And the dictionary makes it more memorable by quoting Davy Crockett:

"Not to disremember the old saying, but let every man skin his own skunk."

NEWS ITEM

INDIANAPOLIS—It is unconstitutional for public schools to use a ninth-grade biology textbook that promotes the biblical theory of creation and says "there is no way to support the doctrine of evolution," a judge ruled. Marion Superior Court Judge Michael T. Dugan said the book, "Biology: A Search for Order in Complexity," is clearly one-sided and violates constitutional provisions on separation of church and state.

But it isn't unconstitutional to use textbooks which teach atheism, contempt for government and include a complete glossary of words once seen only on outhouse walls!

of the Sandy Valley district, and were told this is because Sandy Valley is current on its bond payments and is more financially able. Then to a query about the possibility that Sandy Valley might, after the new plant is in operation, cut Mud Creek customers off, the reply was that the plant would be a joint venture, with both districts sharing in the water service.

The application for funds depends upon FmHA being satisfied with certain information pertaining to the two districts. Gene Graves, FmHA representative, asked that both districts supply him with the following:

- 1. Audits for the last two years; 2. the status of their bonded indebtedness; 3. last year's operating budgets; 4. their bond maturity schedules; 5. the number of customers of each district; 6. the number of commercial customers (those using 10,000 gallons or more of water per month); 7. their rate schedules.

Graves also asked for figures showing the number of gallons of water bought by Sandy Valley from Pikeville last year as against the gallons sold to Mud Creek, also the volume of water bought by Mud Creek as compared to its sales to customers.

Program To Discuss 'Our Welfare Dollar'

The program will provide historic, philosophical, religious, economic, and political views of the development of public welfare in this country. The purpose of the evening presentation will be to share two very different opinions regarding this subject.

From 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., panel and group discussions will be held, and from 7 to 9:30 p.m. the two opinions on welfare will be given.

There will be time for questions to the panelists from the audience.

Thoughts for the Week

By DR. RICHARD D. HOWARD

- THURSDAY— Then say: "I shall be given help to meet anything that comes today, everything will be the best. I shall succeed in whatever I undertake, I can not fail!"
- FRIDAY— Hitting the ceiling is the wrong way to get up in the world.
- SATURDAY— Your life lies before you; the past, let it sleep; its lessons alone are the things you should keep.
- SUNDAY— But mortals are always complaining! Each one thinks his own a sad lot, And forgetting the good things about him, Goes mourning for those he has not. Instead of the star-spangled heavens, We look on the dust at our feet; We drain out the cup that is bitter, Forgetting the one that is sweet.
- MONDAY— The difference between gossip and news is whether you hear it or tell it.
- TUESDAY— The average man has five senses: touch, taste, sight, smell, and hearing. The successful man has two more—horse and common.
- WEDNESDAY— Passion unsupported by the spirit or brain, lasts a week, a month, a year. Love, in its perfect complexity, lasts forever—through life, death and eternity.

Wallace Invention Patented

Dr. Gabriel R. Wallace EF01, an employee at Marshall Space Center, Huntsville, Ala., was recently awarded a patent for his invention, according to Chief Patent Counsel L.D. Wofford.

Dr. Wallace received a copy of the patent for his invention, entitled, "Method and Means for Testing A Tape Record-Playback."

The original patent was retained at NASA Headquarters because it was assigned to the U.S. government. The patent is available for licensing in accordance with NASA licensing regulations. This is Dr. Wallace's second invention to be accepted for patent. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace, of Prestonsburg.

Pick-Up Caravans Express Out-of-State Generosity

One group has been in existence a dozen years now, coming to Kentucky every September in a helping role. The other, brand-new, was born of the recent Eastern Kentucky flood disaster.

Both arrived here Saturday—truck after truck, filled with clothing, food-stuffs, mattresses, blankets, cleaning supplies, disinfectants, whatever—truck after truck, they came.

First was Aid to Appalachia, the Mattoon, Ill. organization headed by Bob Shook—17 pickup trucks and one of two tons capacity, each loaded with approximately 1200 pounds of things needed in a disaster situation.

Some of the drivers of these trucks were in their 60's. Those involved are from all walks of life—doctors, lawyers, truckdrivers, teachers, members of all churches in the Mattoon area. Aid to Appalachia is subsidized by nobody, no worker is paid anything. Everything done is strictly on a voluntary basis.

That was Caravan No. 1. Then came No. 2—seven pickup trucks loaded to their tops to help those in need. These came from the Ypsilanti, Mich. area where reside three former Floyd countians who heard of the disaster back home and decided to do something about it—Vernon Garrett, Delmar Kendrick and Frank Goble. (Mr. Garrett is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Whitten, of Prestonsburg.)

Their cargo, plus that of the Illinois group, was too much to be housed in the former Southern Dollar Store building on Court street from which materials are being issued to flood-stricken families. So one semi-trailer load was sent to Grundy, Va., 10 pickup loads to Martin and a liberal portion to Pikeville.

City Manager Curtis Clark, who greeted the open-handed visitors, said it is impossible to thank all involved in the twin missions because their names are not available but expressed on behalf of all citizens of the area deepest gratitude to those who so generously gave of their time, money and effort.

Cash, Merchandise, Netted in Break

Prestonsburg Police reported this week that $100 in cash and a quantity of clothing were stolen from the I. Richmond Department Store here, sometime between Saturday night and Monday morning.

Owner of the store, Fred Cottrell, reported the break-in Monday morning and police are continuing their investigation.

Persons booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

Darrell R. Hall, drunk driving, by State Troopers Sizemore and Stumbo; John Adkins, drunk driving, by State Troopers Castle and Bevins; Thelma Greathouse, receiving stolen property, by State Trooper Castle; Grover Shepherd, wanton endangerment, by Constable Bob Hackworth; Rodney Blackburn, possession of alcoholic beverages and no operator's license, by Deputy Sheriffs J. D. and Melvin Martin; Michael J. Huff, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs J. D. and Melvin Martin; Herbert C. Stephens, operating motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicants, by State Police Detective DeBoard and John T. Akers; James P. Ferrell, drunk driving, by Allen Policeman Virgil Conn; Abe Shepherd, drunk driving, by State Troopers Weedman and Sizemore; Jeffrey Glenn Martin, indecent exposure, by State Trooper James Stephens; Frank M. Leslie, drunk driving, by State Troopers James Stephens and Tommy Shelton; Franklin Hunt, drunk driving and no operator's license, by State Trooper Bevins; Robert E. Adkins, drunk driving, by State Trooper Bevins; Earnest Hunter, assault in third degree, by State Troopers Stumbo and Sizemore; Lon C. Gibson, drunk driving, by Prestonsburg Policemen Trusty and Kelly.

Barlow said that the state by state breakdown of Red Cross disaster aid committed is as follows: Kentucky: $2,900,000 to 6,015 families; West Virginia: $600,000 to 2,603 families; Virginia: $550,000 to 2,127 families; Tennessee: $60,000 to 200 families.

Commenting on the difficulty Red Cross workers have had in getting into the flood affected areas, Barlow said: "We've been trying very hard to get in with staff and supplies as quickly as possible, but geography hasn't been in our favor. In many cases we've had to go over the mountains by car to reach the victims, and what's made it even more difficult—the roads have often been washed away or mud-covered.

"The only way open to us has been by air—and thank the Lord for the Tennessee Civil Air Patrol. They've had 10 of their planes and scores of pilots airlifting our people and supplies into such hard-to-get-to towns as Grundy, Pikeville, Prestonsburg and Williamson."

Red Cross disaster aid has included food, new clothing, medical aid, and for those who have been fortunate enough to be able to return to their homes—household items to help them return to normal routines.

Some 300 disaster workers are assigned to the four-state area and their efforts are being complemented by the expertise of hundreds of local Red Cross volunteers.

According to Barlow, cash contributions are the main needs at the moment to effect a quick outpouring of Red Cross aid to the flood victims. He urged those more fortunate to give generously and send their checks or money orders to the Red Cross chapter in their community.

Music for the series of meetings will be led by Gus Kalos, music director for the church.

The pastor, the Rev. W. D. Jagers, and congregation invite the public to these services.

Middlesboro Pastor To Lead in Revival

The Rev. Jesse Buell, pastor of the Middlesboro Baptist Church, will lead Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church in revival, beginning with services next Monday evening and continuing through the following Sunday. Services will be at 7:30 p.m. daily, and nursery facilities will be provided.

To Appear in Piano Recital

Miss Susan Elaine Compton, a senior music major at Pikeville College, will present a senior piano recital Monday, April 25, at 8 p.m. in Chrisman Auditorium. Miss Compton will present selections by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Turina, Lecuona, Tauriello, and Gershwin.

A native of Martin she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Compton. At Pikeville College she has been a student of Prof. Lou Wilfong Egger. She previously was a student of John Grant Wheatley, of Paintsville.

Miss Compton has been active in college and civic affairs, was recently selected as one of the "Outstanding Young Women of America" and was elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." She presently is president of Alpha Mu Gamma foreign language fraternity, past president of the Pikeville College Music Chapter, Student Government Senator, Student Representative on the College Academic Affairs Committee and is a presidential scholar. During her college years at Pikeville she has served as pianist for several civic organizations. She hopes to attend the University of Kentucky Graduate School of Music next fall.

Title I Meeting Scheduled Here

The Kentucky Department of Education has scheduled meetings across the state in May to explain recent Title I regulation changes, and one of the sessions will be held May 9, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Prestonsburg Community College.

Title I is a federal grant program designed to provide for the special needs of educationally disadvantaged children.

The regulations spell out specific information that should be included in project applications. As a result, a clear indication of the relationship of Title I services to the educational needs of children is required. The regulations also make it absolutely clear that Title I services must be directed only to selected educationally deprived students even if Title I employees provide these services in regular classrooms.

To assess local needs, each district must now:

—Review existing test data for all children residing in eligible attendance areas to determine the incidence and severity of their educational needs.

—Choose project or building attendance areas, ages, or grade levels to be served, and areas of greatest educational need.

—Identify all educationally deprived children at the grade levels to be served.

—Select those children most in need of special instructional assistance.

—Set specific selection criteria for choosing Title I participants.

—Use adequate diagnostic procedures to determine the specific educational needs of the children being served.

—Consult with parents, teachers, and others knowledgeable about the needs of these children.

The money from the federal Community Services Administration will be channeled through local Community Action Agencies for a variety of purposes but the CAPs have agreed to reserve $30,000 of it to provide cleanup supplies.

The money also can go to low income people who need temporary housing assistance, moving and storage help, emergency food and clothing and transportation.

The Big Sandy Area CAP (Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, Pike counties) was allotted $50,000. The remaining $44,000 was divided among three other CAP districts.

Annual Book Fair Held Here

Opal Holmes (foreground) out-going president of the Prestonsburg Elementary School PTA, and Brenda Vanderpool (background), in-coming president, are shown distributing books which were purchased by students at the recent Book Fair.

A large variety of books on all reading levels were on display in the Prestonsburg Elementary school library for one week where the children could browse through them and place their orders as part of the school's annual Book Fair.

Books of fairy tales to horror stories, cookbooks to karate books, and coloring books to chemistry books, plus instructional books on mathematics, reading, science, etc., were among those from which to choose. Also offered were maps, puzzles and quizzes, stamp collection kits, coin catalogues, and record albums. Prices of the books ranged from $.29 to $3.95.

In the lower grades, most of the children chose books or records of fairy tales, books about animals, or Sesame Street Books. In the upper grades, books on sports were the favorites among the boys, while most of the girls chose romance or mysteries. Top seller of all was Movie Monsters which sold 25 copies.

Parents were also invited to the school to view the books and several of the parents bought books for their pre-school children.

This year's Book Fair, which is a yearly event, was one of the most successful ever held at the school and over 1,250 books were sold.

The PTA received a large World Atlas as a free bonus for their sales. It was presented to the school library. Mrs. Minerva Cooley, librarian, expressed her gratitude, saying the school really needed an up-dated atlas.

Thomas Tackett, principal of the school, said "The Book Fair is a lot of work for the PTA, but the children's enjoyment makes it all worthwhile".

Water-Swept Allen, Martin Get Belated Flood Insurance

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced last week that Allen and Martin, the two Floyd county communities whose residents were not eligible for flood insurance when the recent flood came, have been approved for the insurance, effective April 14.

At Martin a few individuals and businesses had purchased flood insurance, reportedly unaware that the city government had not voted the compliance required before the insurance is effective. Later, their policies were cancelled on non-compliance grounds. Some of the cancellations were made, only a few days before the recent flood.

It was said last week that some of those who had paid the required premiums, only to learn later that their insurance was not in effect, plan legal action to collect on the insurance. It also was said the city of Martin may be named in the suit.

Last week, a representative of the American Insurance Association interviewed policyholders at Martin. No determination of the validity of their claims was made.

All other incorporated towns in the county and all Floyd county outside the limits of corporate communities have been eligible for flood insurance since last year when their city governments and the Floyd fiscal court voted compliance with the National Flood Insurance Program.

Coverage may now be obtained in all parts of the county for all buildings and their contents. The limit of coverage for single-family homes is $35,000 and $100,000 for other residential buildings at the rate of 25 cents per $100 of coverage. The rate is 40 cents per $100 for non-residential buildings, and coverage is available up to $100,000. The contents of all residential buildings can be insured up to $10,000 per unit at 35 cents per $100 of coverage. The rate is 75 cents per $100 for contents of all non-residential structures for a maximum of $100,000 in coverage per unit.

Policies are effective immediately during the first 30 days the insurance becomes available. After the first 30 days, there is a 15-day waiting period.

Flood insurance policies can be purchased from any licensed property insurance agent in Kentucky.

Flooded Areas Get IRS Break

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has announced that taxpayers in the 15 Eastern Kentucky counties declared federal disaster areas would not be penalized for late filing of their 1976 federal individual income tax returns, according to Paul Niederecker, IRS District Director for Kentucky.

Floyd, Bell, Breathitt, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Perry, Pike and Whitley counties were declared disaster areas by the President on April 6 in the wake of the severe storms and flooding which started about April 4.

The IRS requested those taxpayers who are unable to file returns on time because of the flood to identify themselves by marking the words, "FLOOD VICTIM," on the top of their late returns. This will be considered as reasonable cause for not assessing late filing or late payment penalties when processing returns. Interest charges will apply, however, because IRS has no authority to waive them.

Niederecker encouraged taxpayers to file as soon as possible, and said that he will implement measures to expedite refunds for flood victims.

For information about this and determining and claiming a disaster loss, taxpayers can call the IRS, toll-free, at 1-800-292-6570, weekdays, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

HUD Offers Temporary Housing To Area's Disaster Victims

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) continues to take applications for temporary housing at the Auxier Disaster Assistance Center.

HUD's temporary housing program is coordinated by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA), which is responsible for coordinating Federal assistance efforts in the 15 Kentucky counties declared a major disaster area by President Carter.

Applications also are being taken in this area at the new Hazard High School gym, Warfield Elementary School and Pikeville High School.

The centers will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

The major responsibility of HUD at this time is to provide temporary housing for disaster victims. Temporary housing resources are of three types: (1) existing housing; (2) minimal repairs to owner-occupied housing and (3) mobile homes.

Assuming existing housing resources are unavailable, a determination is made if minimal repairs to a house or mobile home will be appropriate. The purpose of the program is quickly to restore disaster-damaged residences and mobile homes to a habitable condition. Minimal repairs can be provided by contracting or reimbursement for homeowner completed repairs.

The last major available housing resource is mobile homes. Mobile homes provided by this program may be placed on private sites or on parks which will be developed later. Surveys indicate extensive park site development will be necessary.

Temporary housing may continue to be occupied based on need. However, all temporary housing occupants will be expected to obtain other permanent housing at the earliest possible time.

JAY LEE HAMILTON BACK AGAIN!

Asking for the office of Jailer of Floyd County. I was defeated for this office in 1957 by Brother Hayes.

I was born at Betsy Layne, and I spent most of my life at Big Mud Creek, an area in Floyd County where the Hamilton generation is wellknown. I am a grandson of Elder Red John Hamilton. In the past I have served on many boards, clinics, and other programs of the sort.

When I am elected for this position I promise to be a Jailer that will best serve the people. The turnkeys I hire will be upstanding men, on their duty at all times. Also, the janitor that I hire will keep it clean and neat—inside and out. All prisoners will be treated as citizens, regardless of race, creed, or color, or the crime that was committed. The prisoners will be allowed to call their loved ones—local or long distance. Any prisoner requiring medical assistance will be treated immediately.

When elected as your New Jailer—"I WILL be available.

Not only will I do my duty in this office, but I will be of help to the people in other ways—such as State Government.

REMEMBER thru your VOTES and SUPPORT I will become the NEW JAILER of FLOYD COUNTY.

Floyd Friends of KET Join in Festival '77

Many friends of KET from Floyd county participated in Festival '77, a nine-day celebration of the network's good programs and Kentuckians' good viewing. This third annual awareness and fund-raising campaign was successful in contributions and in the number of people who joined the festivities at home and at the KET studios.

Friends of KET came to the network's headquarters in Lexington from all over the state to offer assistance.

From Floyd county were KET Mini Board members, Miss Ruby Akers (Drift), Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo (McDowell), Mrs. Paul C. Combs and daughter, Mary Lynn Blakeman (Prestonsburg), Mr. and Mrs. M. Dixon (Wayland) and Mrs. James D. Adams (president of the Prestonsburg Mini Board). Friends of KET who came to Lexington from Martin were Mrs. Eulene Ratliff and daughter, Sherry, and Mrs. Tina Robinson.

Many years ago Froude said: "Of all the evil spirits abroad at this hour in the world, insincerity is the most dangerous."

We see so many people who are not sincere. They fill positions from governmental spheres down to person-to-person levels. Someone has said that if you are too sincere you are regarded as weak, and you can be exploited and maneuvered by the hard-core individuals in the world. We don't agree with this thinking. It is still a good feeling to meet people who are sincerely good, and honest. It is through the "holding-on" of the sincere people in this world that the destiny of man can and will be reshaped. It is through the efforts of sincere people that we can say—"God has truly blessed our land."

Perkins Says Aid Inadequate

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., told President Carter last Thursday many families in flood-stricken Eastern Kentucky are "literally on the brink of starvation," and that federal and state disaster assistance has been inadequate.

In a letter to the President, Perkins said he toured Pike and Floyd counties and found "serious shortcomings" in flood relief efforts.

"Contrary to some of the local news reports, the first stages of disaster assistance have not been completed and emergency manpower forces are needed to provide food, shelter, (and) blankets in particular, for thousands of people and to undertake the first stages of cleanup," Perkins said.

"In group after group that I visited, the plea was for blankets and food which were not available," the congressman said.

Thomas Little, spokesman for the state disaster services unit, denied that there were known food needs or a shortage of blankets. "There is plenty of food available for distribution," Little said.

Little acknowledged that state emergency services have not been "perfect" in every instance. "If they had been we'd all be up for sainthood." But he said that the work has gone smoothly and he maintained that the major need now is for cleanup.

County judges in the affected area now are making plans to apply for help from the Army Corps of Engineers with the cleanup, he said. The judges also have the option of contracting for the work and being reimbursed by the federal government, Little added.

In his letter to the President, Perkins said in the area of Buskirk, at the mouth of Blackberry Creek across the Big Sandy River from Matawan, W. Va., hundreds of families were affected.

"There is 15 feet of mud in the residences of this area and there is no food or water," he said.

He said some 600 families in another area, at the mouth of Big Creek on the Martin county side, "are in destitute circumstances."

Perkins said assistance from the armed forces was urgently needed because of its equipment and resources and the self-sustaining nature of the units. He noted that such assistance has been provided in West Virginia.

Little said that the only armed forces that might be needed would be the Corps of Engineers.

He noted that most Kentucky National Guardsmen are being pulled out of the area this week-end though one unit is remaining in the hard-hit area of South Williamson for an indefinite time.

It is also planned to phase out some of the eight federal disaster centers where individuals apply for aid next week. The number of applicants has slowed down at some centers already and it is felt that the emergency workers can be transferred to other phases in the areas of greatest need, Little said.

Meanwhile, federal disaster officials were working to find staging areas for locating federal mobile homes for temporary housing. But the sites must include adequate electric, sewage and other utility facilities which will have to be built, Little added. It is believed that temporary housing for several thousand families will have to be established but preparing the sites will take time, Little said.

The congressman praised the work of Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll to aid the victims, but said "the situation is such that the National Guard and other units are simply inadequate to the emergency task ahead."

"It is impossible to sense the desperate plight of these people who are literally on the brink of starvation unless you have walked on the ground, as I have, and talked and seen the actual circumstances," Perkins told the President.

Perkins added he was concerned about a possible public health problem because of a lack of clothing, adequate sleeping accommodations, and sanitation, and asked that the Public Health Service and other available government resources "be focused on preventing disease that would compound the disaster."

SBA Says 3,994 Interviewed After Area Flood Disaster

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) announced that as of 6 p.m. last Wednesday it had conducted interviews with 3,994 Eastern Kentucky disaster victims.

R. B. Blankenship, director of Louisville district office, SBA, said that his agency will do everything necessary to speed disaster relief loan funds to flood victims. He urged persons who suffered loss as a result of flooding earlier this month to seek help from the nearest Disaster Assistance Center as soon as possible.

"SBA representatives are in the centers to help. Flood victims needing assistance to recover from the effects of the disaster should not be hesitant to seek the benefits available to them," Mr. Blankenship said.

According to the district director the major purpose of an SBA disaster loan is to restore a victim's home, including mobile homes or business property, as nearly as possible, to pre-disaster conditions.

This includes furniture and other eligible household effects or personal property in a residence, and inventory, furniture, fixtures, machinery, equipment, and leasehold improvements in a business structure. Most home or property owners, residential tenants, businesses of any size, religious, charitable or non-profit organizations are eligible for SBA disaster loan assistance. Farmers, stockmen, and others engaged primarily in agricultural activities should seek assistance from the Farmers Home Administration before coming to SBA.

The present interest rate for SBA disaster loans is 6% percent. The loans may be repaid over a period for as long as 30 years, and loan payments do not begin for at least five months from the time the loan is approved.

Mr. Blankenship said that one of the most encouraging signs pointing toward quick recovery was the attitude of the areas victims, many of whom suffered severe loss. "Never have I witnessed better determination and cooperation by individuals and communities in getting on with the task of rebuilding than that being displayed in Eastern Kentucky," Blankenship said. The district director emphasized that SBA will stay in the affected area and continue to provide help as long as necessary to assist flood victims.

The following is an office by office report of SBA Disaster Loan activity of applications given out:

Prestonsburg—home, 318, business, 52; Harlan—home 582, business 129; Pikeville—home 511, business 66; Middlesboro—home 271, business 66; Corbin—home 138, business 22; Warfield—home 122, business 15; Belfry—home 122, business 13; Hazard—home 71, business 24.

Timesavers Can Be Dangerous

Power mowers, those great week-end timesavers, will soon be used in record numbers as householders begin their annual lawn grooming and landscaping. A word of caution about these labor saving machines, however, comes from the state Department for Human Resources (DHR), which reports an estimated 50,000 Americans will receive hospital emergency room treatment this year for injuries caused by power mowers.

In addition, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission estimates that some 40,000 serious injuries result yearly from chain saws, hedge trimmers and other outdoor power equipment.

Injuries range from cuts and bruises, to amputation of fingers and toes, projectile wounds, burns, electric shock and death, according to E. Edsel Moore of the Division of Consumer Health Protection in DHR's Bureau for Health Services.

"The prime hazard with power mowers is obviously contact with the rotating blade," Moore says, "but other hazards are gasoline, inadequate footwear such as sandals and gym shoes, loose clothing that may get tangled in the equipment and children operating the equipment."

Moore offers the following suggestions to avoid injuries associated with the walk-behind or "push" power mowers:

—When purchasing such a mower, check for: A rear guard to protect hands and feet from blade, a grass discharge opening that is aimed downward, handles that have "upstops" to prevent them from moving forward when the mower hits an obstacle, an exhaust system aimed away from the grass-catching bag, and a complete set of operating and safety instructions.

—When using the mower: Read and heed the advice in the owner's manual; rake away wires, rocks, and twigs before mowing; never mow a wet lawn; never refuel mower while it is running; and keep children away from machine and gasoline.

—When maintaining the mower: Replace all loose or broken parts, especially blades; keep gasoline in well-ventilated area and tightly sealed; and get expert servicing regularly.

Gasoline or electric chain saws are the second leading hazard in such equipment. These tools frequently cause injury when the operator inadvertently touches the moving chain or swings the saw downward when used at or above waist level. Injuries may also occur when control of the saw is lost or malfunctions.

Power hedge trimmers also cause a considerable number of injuries each year, primarily amputated fingers, according to Moore. "People trying to change hands while the trimmers are running, people moving branches out of the way with one hand while operating the trimmer with the other or people trying to hold the cord away from the blade are the most frequent situations where fingers are lost," he said.

For both the power chain saw and hedge trimmers, Moore advises operators to read instructions and follow recommendations, have equipment serviced regularly and keep children away from the equipment.

A limited number of promotional outdoor power equipment safety kits, which include user's guides for power mowers, hedge trimmers, chain saws, riding mowers and garden tractors, are available free of charge.

The kits also include safety decals, litter bag, meeting announcement flyers, press releases and radio scripts.

For a free packet, write E. Edsel Moore, Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Health Services, Division of Consumer Health Protection, 275, East Main, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call (505) 564-4537.

This and That

By WILMAY

It was a pleasure on a recent bus journey to the South to meet Hazel Jones McCullough, of Georgia, formerly of Hueysville, also to help her recall the name of her favorite teacher (Clem Martin, of course) in Bosco, years ago. We travelers were interested in a young man traveling alone with a baby girl barely a year old, cynosure of many eyes. We wondered if the tot's mother were dead, only to find it was just another broken home, that the father got custody of his baby because her mother was an alcoholic who abused the child. He was en route to a distant state, had given up his job, gone on welfare three months to prove to the authorities he could and would properly care for his child, whom he was taking to her maternal grandparents, adding that under no condition would he want his parents to help him rear any child. He said he had dedicated her to God when she was born, that he would never give her up, was trusting the Lord to help him find new work so he could remain near the blue-eyed doll. One could only admire his resolve and wish that more parents put first things first.

Child abuse is one of the worst crimes today. Nor is it limited to physical maltreatment. (We know of a case in this county where the mother burned hers with cigarettes when things did not please her. The Welfare took the children from the home for some time). Tongue lashings can cause terrific trauma, too, often for life. Sadly, one hears these in public more and more, frequently to children too young to understand a word being yelled at innocent victims. Unfortunately, many young people marry with no thought about what type parent a spouse will make. The preceding incident brought to mind the story of a fine young man we met for the first time on a recent visit home, only son of a college chum of over fifty years ago. A more likable chap could scarcely be found, magnetic personality, sharp intellect, exceptionally well read and informed, successful businessman, keen student of scripture, deeply earnest but sincerely wrong on so many points his mother is worried about him; for he believes in evolution, has marked antipathy toward the Jews, thinks Palestine never did belong to them, considers Moses nothing more than a thief and murderer who was motivated by love of power and wealth. In short, he is one of the most mixed-up persons with whom we ever talked. He has been on a church roll since he was about twelve, but has no conception of what being born again means, never had a confrontation with Christ, knows so little about God that he said he himself would never let an enemy burn, which shows his inner feelings toward the Creator, and his total misinterpretation of the Word. Why all the erroneous views, with a mother as godly as his? He got them from his later father.

The trip to the coast was a delight if only to see the millions of azaleas in full bloom, many fifteen feet high and across; plus the pink, white and orchid wisteria trees and vines, the latter sometimes smothering complete streets of trees, equal to the Kudzu vine.

Few joys surpass seeing friends and loved ones of childhood days, high school and college mates, particularly when one has not seen some for decades. After worshipping on April 3rd in the church of girlhood, some of us drove out to see Mrs. Virgie Fortenberry, now 86, tiny and spry as a wren, living by herself in the country a mile from the nearest neighbor, still filled with a zest for life. Her children in New Orleans compelled her to winter with them, but she could not wait to return to flowers, the garden and farm; and she is not alone after all, for the Good Shepherd is always with her. Miss Virgie is a tonic for everyone. She was almost insulted when her persistent invitation to lunch was declined by our trio who drove on past many places replete with beautiful memories of yesteryear.

The manner in which Eastern Kentuckians are rebuilding and replenishing homes and businesses is typical of our spirit. Bad as the plight is all realize that earthquakes and hurricanes are infinitely worse. Smiles on faces of many victims of the flood are reassuring, and contagious. Laughter is a marvelous medicine.

Persons privileged to attend funeral services for Emma May will never forget the message Rev. Jagers gave or the beautiful, deserved tribute Walter Wells May paid his mother.

Louisa Bypass Meeting Slated

A public meeting concerning the proposed Louisa bypass has been scheduled by the state Transportation Department (KYDOT) for 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 20 at the Lawrence county courthouse at Louisa.

Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson said the meeting will allow area residents a chance to review a KYDOT engineering report describing six possible routes for the proposed bypass, including cost estimates for each.

Grayson said this will be the second such report to be reviewed by the community, the first being unveiled in 1974. The Secretary explained that the rapid growth and development of the Louisa area in recent years necessitated updating the original report.

Four of the six routes outlined in the update would circumvent the town around its western edge, beginning at the US 23-Issac's Road junction and running north to the US 23-KY 3 intersection. All four proposals average about five miles in length.

Grayson said the plans also call for the bypass to be four-laned, and include a junction with KY 32 about midway of whichever corridor is finally approved.

The two remaining alternatives call for updating existing US 23 or leaving the route as it is.

Construction of the bypass would be financed under the federal Appalachian Development Program.

Tallent Calls It A 'Peculiar' Year

Washington, D. C.—For some, George Washington's basketball season may not have been all they had hoped for. But for head coach Bob Tallent, native of Maytown, it was far from a disappointing year. Peculiar, perhaps, but certainly not a disappointment.

"We had some good wins," says Tallent in discussing his club's 14-12 season. "We won some games that I didn't think we would win, and we lost some games I didn't think we would lose. I guess you'd call it a peculiar year."

Tallent is particularly proud of his team's 10-point win against Maryland at College Park and GW's 74-73 victory over a highly-regarded Georgetown team. He also points to the Colonials' record in the Washington area with wins over every area school (Catholic, Georgetown, Maryland and Navy) except American U., which caught GW flat-footed in the regular-season finale, 90-80.

"You don't like to call any season a rebuilding year," says Tallent, "because it sounds like you're making excuses before the season begins. But, in truth, that is exactly what this past year was for us."

"We had lost two outstanding players in Pat Tallent and Haviland Harper and had to rely on three freshmen extensively."

But it was the play of these three freshmen that Tallent sees as the key to next year's club. Each averaged over 17 minutes playing time this season and are slated for important roles next year. Along with the return of 6-4 forward Les Anderson with 15.1 points and 9.2 rebounds, Tallent will have a good nucleus with which to build.

Damage 'Minimal', with Exceptions, To Area Mines, Plants, Report

Kentucky Commerce Department officials report minimal flood damage to the mining industry and manufacturing plants in the Eastern Kentucky flood areas when they returned to Frankfort last Friday from a fact-finding trip.

With some exceptions in Pikeville where several plants were badly damaged, and in Middlesboro, where one company was hard hit, Existing Industries Division personnel of the Commerce Department found little physical damage to plants in the flood area, but said production loss occurred in varying degrees of severity.

According to Lyle Cobb, director of the Existing Industries Division, banks, light businesses—lumber yards, for example—and commercial offices were hardest hit, since most were located in the downtown areas of towns covered by flood waters.

Commerce representatives went into flood-stricken areas earlier this week to get an overview of the damage and to assist industries in returning to full production.

Commerce Commissioner W. Terry McBrayer said he instructed Commerce officials to make visits to 38 Eastern Kentucky industries "to offer what help the Commerce Department could provide, and to obtain an understanding of the needs of those businesses."

In Middlesboro, Commerce representatives found that Middlesboro Tanning Co. lost a large amount of expensive machinery and inventory. They assisted plant officials in preparing for a Small Business Administration loan application to repair damages and replace equipment.

In Pikeville, the East Kentucky Beverage Co., the Big Sandy Electric & Supply Co., and the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. were badly damaged. Greatest damage to those operations came as a result of loss of records, particularly of computer data.

The most severe business problem in Pikeville was caused by damage to banks and computers—businesses depending on computer accounting are not able to run payroll checks for their employees. Some banks have managed to open, but their operations are severely limited, according to Commerce representatives.

To Unveil Marker At Renfro Valley Saturday, April 23

A state historical marker saluting Renfro Valley's role in the development of country music will be unveiled in this Rockcastle County community on Saturday, April 23.

The Renfro Valley Barn Dance began national radio broadcasts in 1939. Announcer John Lair introduced "the first and only barn dance on the air, as presented by the actual residents of an actual community."

Since its premiere, the Barn Dance has helped launch the careers of several prominent country music artists, including Homer and Jethro, Little Jimmie Dickens, Merle Travis and Red Foley. The program has entertained in the White House and given a command performance for British royalty.

The unveiling ceremony for the historical marker will begin at 2 p.m. and continue until 5 p.m. The ceremony will include a special old-time country music stage show. The public is invited.

The Kentucky Bureau of Highways would like to contact anyone having knowledge of the next of kin of the deceased interred in the above mentioned cemetery.

Several operations of the Porter Electric Company at Allen were under water and damage to inventory was heavy. Also, area access roads to the Mountain Parkway were torn up.

Damage to industry in Hazard was minimal, although production loss occurred. The Pepsi-Cola plant there is preparing to assist the Pikeville Pepsi-Cola plant with repairs.

Each of the Existing Industries Division personnel provided the companies they visited with a disaster fact sheet which contained disaster aid information, and with a directory of industrial services to guide them to consulting firms and equipment suppliers that could help them with repairs, rebuilding and return to production.

Cobb said his division plans to go back to the area in several weeks to talk to industry and community leaders and get directions as to how the Commerce Department can help.

"For the most part," Cobb said, "companies in the flood area are back in production or soon will be. But we stand ready to assist those that were damaged in any way our department can."

KET Transmitter Engineer Holds Post During Flood

Jimmy Napier, a KET transmitter engineer from Hyden, remained on his job at the network's Pikeville transmitter during the recent flood devastation in Eastern Kentucky.

In a telephone interview, Napier said that he went to the transmitter site on Flat Woods Mountain in Pike county at noon Sunday, April 3, and remained there until the following Tuesday night.

The transmitter went off the air at 6 a.m. Tuesday.

"Jimmy Napier stuck to his post," says Don Littleton, KET's assistant director of engineering. "He was without electricity and telephone service, but he remained on the job so the transmitter could go back on the air as soon as the power came on."

A two-way radio provided Napier with his only means of communication. "I never even tried to get down," he commented.

Food provisions are stocked at the Hazard and Pikeville sites in the event of such emergencies. Beds, kitchen and lavatory facilities are also available.

In total, KET's Pikeville transmitter was off the air for 18 broadcast hours.

When normal operations resumed, Napier travelled down the mountain in his four-wheel drive vehicle. He said he had no trouble, but "it was bad. It was all about to wash out."

May To Receive Award

The 1977 Derby Festival will begin Friday, April 29 with the annual "They're Off Luncheon". Guest speaker for the event will be Heywood Hale Broun, TV personality, sports columnist, book critic, and Broadway actor.

The annual "Silver Horseshoe Award" will be presented to William H. May, of Frankfort, formerly of Prestonsburg, at the luncheon for his contribution to the thoroughbred industry in Kentucky.

The "Silver Horseshoe Award" is presented at the "They're Off" luncheon each year by the Derby Festival to an individual who has made a significant contribution to the Thoroughbred industry in Kentucky. The 1977 recipient is William H. May. May has spent the better part of 20 years on the Racing Commission and currently is serving as its chairman.

Mr. May founded and still heads the highly successful Brighton Engineering Corporation in Frankfort. He is a self-confessed "political animal" who has served on the commission under five governors.

May was president of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners in 1968 and has been on the executive board of that organization ever since. He was honored as Man of the Year by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association that same year.

Courier-Journal columnist Earl Ruby cited him for "experimenting with dates, raising purses, improving the conditions of stable areas at all tracks . . . (May was) one of the first commissioners to make an effort to limit the number of races in a day, and number of races in a year to prevent the over-saturation of racing . . ."

Past recipients of the "Silver Horseshoe Award" have been Penny Tweedy, former Senator Thurston B. Morton, John Galbreath, Lynn Stone and C. V. Whitney.

No Arson Evidence in Fires

By BRYAN WILKINS
(In The Lexington Herald)

PIKEVILLE, Ky.—Luther Hall and his wife sat on the steps of the house across the street from what used to be their home in the community of Justiceville, south of Pikeville, and looked at the burned-out remains.

"My house was the second one to burn here," Hall explained. His wife, Adelaine, said that she had just finished cleaning out the house of thick mud deposited by the record flood waters that covered 150 houses in Justiceville, last week.

"I returned from watching a trailer down the street burn after the juice (electricity) was turned back on and saw smoke coming from underneath the southwest corner of the house" Hall said. Their house burned to the ground. Hall estimates he lost $75,000 in the flood and fire. He says insurance won't cover his losses.

He believes a short circuit caused the fire.

With no water and no telephone communication, there have been an undetermined number of houses and trailers burn down in the wake of flood waters that devastated much of Pike county.

Scores of families are in a similar plight—first flooded and then burned out.

The fires have been so numerous that some firemen have expressed suspicions of arson but no official charges have been brought, according to State Police and the State Fire Marshal's office.

Many other observers say that arson is unlikely in most cases because few of the homes were covered by insurance.

In Justiceville alone, Hall said eight houses burned to the ground after the floods. Between Prestonsburg and Pikeville, a 25-mile distance, more than eight homes and trailers are now smoking ruins, this reporter noted.

Because there is almost no way to dry them out, many mobile homes are virtually beyond repair.

The Johns Creek Fire Department on US 119 northeast of Pikeville has responded to many house fires since the flood.

"We've been to more than I can count," said one of the volunteer firemen.

"Several times we have been told 'to let them burn' after we got there," the firemen said.

"What else do you think can be done in this case?," he asked. "Many of these homes have been moved off their foundations and have problems," he added.

While it is the belief of the firemen that several of the homes have been set fire to because of flood damages, disaster officials at the Pikeville High School say that most of the families coming in for aid do not have any forms of insurance to cover their losses.

Warren Southworth, state fire marshal, said, "Some of the fires are suspected to have been started," but he added that private dwellings are not in his jurisdiction.

According to a spokesman in the arson unit of the Kentucky State Police, there have been no requests for investigation of fires in any of the 15 flood-hit counties.

To Observe 50th Anniversary

Hugh and Kittie Rowland, of Langley, will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary, April 27.

Looking toward the event, they said, "It has been a wonderful 50 years together as we have celebrated each day as it came."

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland were married by the Rev. O. P. Smith, pastor of the Maytown Methodist Church, in a ceremony performed at the home of the bride's parents, the late T. J. and Sallie M. Ratliff Hagans, of Langley. They have three sons—Hugh Douglas, of Langley, Dan Ray and Roy Cleatis, both of Prestonsburg—and seven grandchildren.

Mr. Rowland retired in 1965 after 35 years' service with the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company. He is the son of the late Daniel Martin and Louverna Robbins Rowland, of Dingus, Morgan county.

"We still are enjoying our home, flowers, music, church, TV, neighbors and family," Mrs. Rowland said recently. Both are members of the Martin Free Will Baptist Church.

JARVIS ALLEN

Candidate For

DISTRICT JUDGE

Wishes to explain to the people that this is an office that covers Floyd County and is not confined to a certain district within the County. It is a Non-Partisan office in which all qualified registered voters may vote whether Democrats or Republicans. The candidates for this office will be listed separately under a label "Judicial Ballot" and the voter, after voting his party ticket, may then vote for his choice under the Judicial Ballot. I would ask each voter to determine in his own mind who is the qualified candidate, has the most experience and knowledge of the law, who would be fair and honest in his dealings with the attorneys and people who come before the Court, whether wealthy or poor, and who would try to give unbiased opinions, and when you are fully convinced, vote for that candidate because you, the people, deserve the best service you can get and the best cost no more than the poorest in this case. Your welfare is what will be at stake. I will abide by your judgment, but let it be your judgment and not that of others who may mislead you for their own selfish interest.

CB Club News

By HOMER DOBSON

Two unique teams were on the Wayland softball field at Wayland Saturday, April 9—the Right Beaver CB Club and the children of the community.

This was not a softball game. It was an Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Right Beaver CB Club for all the children of the community.

First up were members of the club, hiding some thirty dozen Easter eggs, while out in the field were the children hunting for the eggs.

They were classified in age groups. First to hunt for eggs were the 1 to 4 years of age group. Next were the 5 to 8 years of age group. Last were the 8 to 12 years of age group.

Each group was allowed to hunt for 30 minutes.

The eggs were counted and an Easter basket of equal value was given to the winners in each of the three age groups. The eggs were then divided among the children. Everyone had Easter eggs and fun.

The Right Beaver CB Club has a new home. Future meeting of the club will be held at the Wayland Elementary School building.

TO THE PEOPLE OF MAG. DIST. 4

As you know, I am a candidate for Magistrate in District 4 of Floyd County. I am Magistrate at present. I have always fought for my district, and help the people to get what is due to come to our district. I spend much time on the roads of our district. I have built roads so the school bus could get near your homes to pick up the children. There is not one child that has to walk one mile to a school bus stop or near that distance in our district.

If you are interested in the facts you may inquire from other members of the Floyd Fiscal Court. They will tell you how hard I work for you people in District 4. I know about the fiscal affairs of Floyd County. I know the tax base of the county, and know there is just so much money to do with. You need some one in this office who is qualified and has the ability to do things.

There are some who say I am fat and rich. As to the fat, I plead guilty, but as to being rich that is another matter. By working hard and making some wise investments, I have made a fair living and an honest one. Who can begrudge me for that. I always admire anyone who can make a living.

I have served the people as a dedicated public official. I will always do that to the best of my ability.

Some one talks about building roads. I don't think they know very much about road building. You cannot build roads without money. It is not as plentiful as some seem to think it may be.

The voters have the right to know the qualifications of a candidate for office and his ability to get things done. My record is an open book to any one who wants to see it.

You will always find me the same person and always ready to help you.

Let me repeat: Ask those who know, who has made a good Magistrate. The record will speak for itself and from the hearts of the people on May 24, 1977.

BROWNIE SCOUT KIMBERLY LAWSON (at right in photo), of Troop 841 at Drift, was honored at a luncheon with Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall in Frankfort, March 18. The luncheon was given to honor all Girl Scouts who sold 200 or more boxes of Girl Scout cookies. One hundred seventeen girls attended this luncheon. Kim was the only girl from Floyd county to attend. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Lawson, of Drift.

AFTER FLOOD, WATCH OUT FOR GERMS AT LAUNDROMAT

When you do your wash at the local laundromat, don't carry another family's germs home with you. In fact, don't pack your own germs out of there either. "Disease-causing bacteria survive the laundering process to a frightening degree," according to Florence Parker, Extension home management specialist with the UK College of Agriculture. "In flood-ravaged areas of Kentucky, people have to be twice as careful now about sanitizing their wash." No matter what laundry detergent you use, she explains that it still takes either the proper disinfectant or extremely hot water to kill germs. The average wash temperature of 110 degrees F. is just not high enough to kill many bacteria. Time is important, too. For instance, it takes 3 to 5 minutes at 212 degrees F. (boiling water) to kill some bacteria, or 20 minutes at a water temperature of 140 degrees. But water temperatures in either home or laundromat equipment are seldom that hot and washing machine cycles are not 20 minutes long. "Automatic dryers and line drying in the sun will kill some bacteria, but it won't do away with all of them," she adds. "The only sure way is to use the right disinfectant. The 'right' disinfectant means one that will do the job at your wash-water temperature and without damage to the fabric. Your product label is your cue to which disinfectant to buy. A chlorine bleach with at least 5.25 percent of sodium hypochlorite in it will do the job in any temperature water on fabrics the label lists as safe in this solution. Pine oil disinfectants and phenolic disinfectants are effective in hot water. However, the wash water at the laundromat often runs out only lukewarm, even at the "hot" setting, when the equipment is in heavy use. Pine oil disinfectant should contain at least 70 percent steam-distilled pine oil. A phenolic disinfectant should have one of this terrible twosome on the label: "ortho-bensyl-parachlorophenol" or "ortho-phenylchlorophenol." Mrs. Parker says your best choice might be a quaternary disinfectant, the kind used to sterilize dairy equipment. It is effective in all water temperatures and is safe for all fabrics, even wool. Sometimes you can buy it at the supermarket or drugstore, but you're most likely to find it in janitor, hospital, dairy and poultry supply houses. Look for these tongue-twisters on the label: "benzalkonium chloride" or "n-alkyl dimethyl benzyl ammonium chloride." Unless you want to go back to Grandma's way of stirrin' and a boilin' in a big pot on her wood-burning stove, clean is really clean only when you use a good disinfectant properly.

CO-ED Y TO SPONSOR CAR WASH, SUNDAY The Prestonsburg High School Co-ed Y will sponsor a car wash, Sunday, April 24 in front of the high school building here, between 1 and 5 p.m. All proceeds will go to the local flood relief fund.

Disasters Stress Clean Water Need

Every day's headlines tell why the National Wildlife Federation chose the theme "We All Need Clean Water" for the 40th annual observance of National Wildlife Week. More than 10 million Americans are expected to participate in the week's activities under the chairmanship of actor-environmentalist Robert Redford. "We couldn't have picked a more appropriate year to focus the country's attention on the importance of having a clean and plentiful water supply," said G. Ray Arnett, president of NWF, in announcing plans for the week. "Our water supply is threatened on many fronts, and it also happens to be a year in which Congress must renew its commitment to a nationwide clean-up of our waterways." Arnett referred to the fact that Congress must act this year to fund sewage treatment facilities and other pollution controls called for in its 1972 amendments to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act. Those amendments set a timetable for making all the nation's waters "fishable and swimmable" by 1983 and ending all discharges of pollutants into those waters by 1985. Those amendments also set a July 1, 1977, deadline for improvements in the treatment of municipal and industrial wastes discharged into navigable waters.

Most industrial polluters will meet that deadline, but many municipalities are far behind schedule, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, and 32 states are running out of clean-up funds. Water pollution comes from two basic sources—"point" sources, or sewage and wastes from municipalities and industries, and "nonpoint" or runoff from the land's surface. Point source pollution includes oil, metal, acids, toxic chemicals from mines and factories, and human waste. Non-point sources include runoff from agricultural lands (containing animal wastes, fertilizer, and pesticides), dumps, and silt. The EPA in February estimated that the total cost of cleaning up both the point and nonpoint pollution of the nation's waters would be $150 billion. The NWF, with 3.5 million members and supporters in all 50 states, had mailed out 7 million stickers, 700,000 posters, and 189,000 teachers' information kits stressing the importance of clean water to all living creatures. The kits suggest a number of Wildlife Week projects for schools and conservation groups, such as tracing the sources of water supplies and water pollution. "Because we see a lot of water, many people take it for granted," Arnett said, "but with demand increasing continually, our supply of usable water isn't all that abundant. For one thing, 99 percent of the earth's water is either salt-water or locked in polar ice. We have got to teach millions of people to apply the conservation ethic to water—don't waste it, don't pollute it. Our survival depends on it."

Floyd Red Cross Chapter Fund Drive At $4,414 thus Far

Hershell Joseph, executive director of the Floyd County Chapter, Kentucky Division, of the American Red Cross, said this week that contributions to this county's fund drive thus far has reached a total of $4,414. Although the fund drive goal for 1977 is $12,000, Joseph said he is pleased with the total thus far. "Because of the flood disaster in the county," Joseph said, "we haven't been able to put in any work on the fund drive, so this total represents contributions which have come in without much active soliciting on our part." He also pointed out that an additional $5,000 quota set by the national Red Cross for the disaster relief fund in the county puts the overall county quota at $17,000. Joseph said the fund drive would be extended so that fund raising committees could be reorganized after the disruption of the flood, and he added: "After the response which Red Cross has shown in the relief of Floyd county flood victims, we're confident that the people of this county will be willing to help out in the fund-raising and meet this year's quota."

Where Some WPRT Announcers Are Now

In the "Whatever happened to . . . ?" department, there comes word this week from Scott Ferve as to the whereabouts of several former staff members of radio station WPRT. Richard Jaggerz is with WAYL radio in Minneapolis, Minn.; Scott Ferve with KUVR radio, Holdrege, Nebr.; Joe Milwaukee with a radio station in Missouri; Rick Valley working in St. Paul, Minn.; C. C. Crow in Amarillo, Texas; Dick Ross in Albert Lea, Minnesota.

SBA Opens Office At College Here

The U.S. Small Business Administration this week announced the opening of six loan offices in Eastern Kentucky, one in Floyd county, to help victims of the recent severe storms and floods apply for disaster loans. "We intend to do everything we can to get disaster relief loan funds to Eastern Kentucky disaster victims as soon as possible," R. B. Blankenship, director of SBA's Louisville district office, said. "All offices will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week, beginning Wednesday morning." In this area SBA offices will be located in: —Prestonsburg, at Prestonsburg Community College. —Pikeville, at the old Pikeville High School, Room 5A. —Belfry, at the law offices of Herbie Deskins, Jr., Route 119. In addition, offices will be open Thursdays, also from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Martin county courthouse in Inez, and at Hazard High School's new gym. SBA disaster loans are designed to help victims of natural disasters restore or repair damaged or lost property to pre-disaster condition, at low interest, long-term rates. "Any person whose property was damaged by the recent severe storms and flooding is eligible to apply for an SBA disaster loan," Mr. Blankenship said. "Low-income persons who may not be able to repay an SBA loan should also apply, as they may be eligible for state grant consideration. The offices will remain open as long as necessary to help disaster victims apply for loan assistance."

Workers at the relief distribution center in the former Southern Dollar Store location on Court Street said Monday that receiving these supplies does not affect the recipient's eligibility to food stamps. Those who need this help are being urged to take it.

Kentucky Power Co. Contributes $15,000 For Flood Victims

Kentucky Power Company contributed $15,000 Monday to the American Red Cross for use as relief for flood victims in eastern Kentucky.

Waldo S. LaFon, executive vice president of Kentucky Power, said, "The company itself suffered damages in this disastrous flood, but our damage didn't compare with that experienced by some eastern Kentuckians, many of them our customers and employees."

He also reported that employees of Kentucky Power, Appalachian Power Company and the American Electric Power Service Corporation in New York—all affiliates in the AEP System—had started a voluntary flood relief fund. "All of these people are also concerned about the disaster and want to do their part in helping the folks in the flood stricken areas," he said.

He indicated that contributions from employees of the three companies are expected to reach $15,000 and that the companies will match the employee contributions which could mean an additional $30,000.

La Fon said that Appalachian Power also has made $15,000 corporate contributions to Red Cross for flood victims in each of the two states it serves, West Virginia and Virginia.

Coal Could Regain Throne

By PAUL R. JORDAN

Coal, once king of the energy realm, could regain at least a princely portion of usage through an advanced method for burning it cleanly and directly in boilers.

This advanced method is called a "fluidized-bed" boiler. Burning coal directly is the most efficient way to use it. But because most Eastern coals contain high amounts of sulfur, their use is restricted by clean air standards. Most U.S. coal comes from mines in Kentucky, West Virginia, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Coal represents 80 to 90 percent of the nation's fossil fuel reserve, enough to last several hundred years, depending on rates of growth, consumption and conservation. Last year, the United States produced an estimated 665 million tons of coal, up 17 million tons from the previous record year and representing about 20 per cent of the total energy consumption. Some estimate that coal production needs to double by 1985 and triple by 2000 to meet increasing demands that would otherwise have to be filled by oil and gas—probably imported.

Cleaning coal before burning can eliminate up to 90 per cent of the pyritic sulfur, but essentially none of the organic sulfur, which constitutes about half of the sulfur in coal. Most coal contains more than 2 percent sulfur and deep cleaning alone cannot produce a coal which can be burned freely without pollution.

All that could change in the near future. The Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), is exploring ways to increase the use of high sulfur coal in an efficient and environmentally acceptable manner.

Federal researchers believe a new day is dawning for coal, even for the "dirty" variety found in abundance in the Appalachian fields, through the burning of coal directly and cleanly in fluidized-bed boilers to generate electricity.

In a fluidized-bed boiler, particles of limestone and coal are suspended by a stream of air passing upward through a bed of ash and limestone heated to about 1600 degrees F. (870 degrees Centigrade). Crushed coal injected into the combustion zone burns very rapidly as a suitable amount of limestone is added continuously. Calcium in the limestone reacts with sulfur dioxide released by the burning coal. This produces calcium sulfate, an inert substance discharged with the ash, and the polluting sulfides have been effectively eliminated from the combustion gas going up the stack and into the air.

To avoid creating a solid waste problem from the discharged limestone ash, a method for regenerating and recycling the material is being developed by ERDA. The sulfur could then be separated in pure form for other uses.

Compared with conventional, coal-fired boilers, fluidized-bed systems offer higher power generation efficiencies and cleaner exhaust gases, even when burning high sulfur coals. If the fluidized bed system is operated under pressure, additional economics are possible through decreased construction requirements and lower operating costs.

The nation's first pilot plant, a 30-megawatt boiler, is now ready for operation at Rivesville, 15 miles south of Morgantown, West Virginia.

Another fluidized-bed project is an advanced study by ERDA's Oak Ridge National Laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, on the feasibility of a small total energy system. This would be powered by a gas turbine operating on compressed air heated by coal in a fluidized bed combustor. The waste heat would be used to heat buildings, process potable water, and drive air conditioning systems.

If all goes well, coal-fired fluidized-bed boilers could be in the commercial marketplace in the early 1980s, thereby releasing premium fuels for more specialized uses in the Nation's oil and gas shortage-plagued economy.

DANIEL HOUSTON STEPHENS COUNTY JUDGE—EXECUTIVE

For those of you who are not acquainted with me. I would like to present you with a quick look at me.

I have spent approximately 7 of the last 10 years working in construction engineering. After deciding that I liked this type of work, I re-entered college at Prestonsburg Community College, where I was elected by the student body as a representative to the Student Congress. While there I was majoring in engineering until October when due to personal business I was forced to withdraw.

Now I have decided to run for County Judge-Executive and if elected, I assure you that my past experience and schooling more than qualify me to fill this office and work for the best possible county road, water and sewerage treatment systems for the entire county and not just part of it. My primary dedication is toward improvement in these three areas. I assure you at 30 years of age, I am mature enough to use the best possible judgement available when it comes to directing the expenditures of your and my tax dollars.

I think it's time this county had a vigorous, young, healthy, capable and able county judge with which Floyd County can move forward as the rest of Eastern Kentucky is doing, rather than stand still. A vote for me is a vote for you.

"LIFE BEGINS AT CALVARY"

How many times have we heard the old cliché, "Life begins at forty". I am sure if we were to make a survey and interview any number of men and women we would find many amusing answers such as "Yes, and arthritis and many other aches and pains too".

Then on the other hand we hear the younger generation say "Life begins at twenty-one". Twenty-one is a beautiful age with life before one. There seems to be no limitations as to what can be done. They reach for the moon, make it their goal, and within a few short strokes they have succeeded and their fame has reached from pole to pole.

But what about those for whom years have flown by? Left them with the ghost of the past life flitting here and there to remind them that youth has past, middle age has caught up with them so fast.

For many who have not come face to face with these ghosts of the past and met them head on have been left miserable and today they are confused, lonely and feel that life has dealt them a hard blow.

Even many who have lived for Christ for a good many years were not ready when that time of their life arrived. It seemed that every thing was thrown out of kilter and they were left spinning into an endless abyss. There must have been a reason for all this. They desperately reached out for an answer, for a hand to lead them and help them to understand. Many of those hands they reached for were not there. Doors were closed in their faces and signs dangled before them, "No employees over forty". Then we hear those same people say, "No man heard my cry".

Friend let me tell you that someone does hear your cry and that you are not left alone. Life didn't begin for you at forty, nor did it begin at twenty-one, but life for you begins at "Calvary".

Ponce de Leon, a Spanish soldier, who discovered Florida said he had discovered the Fountain of Youth. It is no small wonder that he would say that, judging from the climate and temperature. But he was very much wrong my friend. Life doesn't begin at any of these places or at any given place in this universe, but life does definitely begin at "Calvary".

The Bible tells us in Psalms 36:9 "For with thee is the fountain of life". We sing the old hymn, "There is a Fountain Filled with Blood drawn from Emmanuel's vein and sinners plunge beneath that flood lose all their guilty stain". The word, lose, here means not to have any longer. That is just what Christ does for us. He takes away all the sins of our life and washes us in His blood that He shed at Calvary. There His royal blood begins to flow in our veins and we experience a new birth, and new life begins. We experience a new freedom; a freedom from the power of sin and Satan. You have received a new lease on life...

If you have been in a "straight betwixt two", as the great Apostle Paul said, have a desire to just die and get it over with because you feel that you can't face the world—then let us pause and look at the other side of the picture. Paul said for me to live is Christ. That is life, peace and joy, and all that you need is in Him. Have you found that Life? Has Satan made you think that life is over? Then turn to the Fountain of Life and truly find the Fountain of Everlasting Life. Not tomorrow, but just now.

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

Nature's Teas and Tonics

Now is the time to rejuvenate your winter-rundown system with the rich teas and tonics found abundantly in the fields and woods. The wild greens now becoming plentiful are rich in vitamins and minerals. They will regulate the bowels, replenish the blood supply and benefit the health in general.

The three best teas to drink are sassafras, spicewood and sweet birch. Dig out the roots of the red sassafras, cut up in small pieces and boil to make the rich, red tea. Sweeten with honey and drink three times a day. The dried leaves of sassafras may be used to thicken soups. The blooms may be steeped to make a delicious tea. Sassafras is a splendid tonic for a sluggish liver. The tea is also recommended for gout, stomach ulcers, catarrh and dysentery. To make a real, powerful tonic and body bracer, boil wild cherry bark and goldenseal roots with the sassafras. This is a great tonic and blood purifier.

SPICEWOOD TEA—This was a highly popular tea with the soldiers during the Civil War. The bark and twigs are steeped to make the tea. It is aromatic and is better when sweetened with honey.

SWEET BIRCH TEA—Use the bark and twigs to make the sweet, aromatic tea. It has a pleasant wintergreen flavor. You can tap a large birch tree and catch the sap in a trough or vessel. Add a handful of shelled corn and let set long enough to ferment. This makes a wholesome beer and is a good tonic for what ails you.

WILD GREENS. Now is the time to gather the crisp young shoots of poke, mix with plantain and wild beet (speckled John), cook with side meat until tender. Plantain leaves impart a tangy flavor to the greens.

Wild mustard and yellow dock make another good combination. Recognize the wild mustard by the rich, yellow blossoms. Turnip greens, if available, make a valuable contribution to this combination. These greens are rich in iron and other minerals.

WILD ONIONS AND GARLIC. Don't overlook these this spring. Gather the bulbs and mix with lettuce for a good tonic. Eat plenty of onions, both wild and tame, and you needn't fear the swine-type flu virus. Onions are rich in sulphur and will drive out any virus infection. Garden lettuce is also a good nerve medicine and promotes sound sleep.

SHEPHERD'S PURSE AND CRESS. These two make a splendid combination when cooked together. Look along brooks for water cress, a delicious, peppery green. The juice of Shepherd's purse squeezed on cotton will stop nosebleed when all else fails.

Fried poke stalks are a good substitute for fish. Gather the young poke stalks, cut into short pieces, then slice down the middle. Roll the pieces in meal and fry in grease until brown. These have the distinct flavor of pan fish.

Let's go browsing in the spring. Every spring, when everything in the woods was putting forth green leaves and sprouts, the Indians went browsing; they nibbled a bit of this and a bit of that to get their bodies replenished with nature's vitamins and minerals. It is a good thing to take to the woods every spring, and do as the Indians did, plucking the leaves of birch and sassafras and beech to chew and swallow the juice. The blooms of sassafras are good to eat and make a fine tonic. The Indians also ate the buds of sweet birch; they peeled off the bark and scraped the inside sap to eat. Another favorite food of the Indians was the young sprouts of beechnuts. Under a large beech, hundreds of the nuts sprout and send up a little plant with the two cotyledons (seed leaves) plainly showing. These are good to eat and have a rich, nutty flavor.

The young sprouts of peavine were also relished by the Indians, as these have the flavor of peanuts. New grapevine leaves also make a tasty food and the sap of the vine is good to drink. Another tasty raw food of the Indians was the fiddleheads of Xmas fern. The Indians ate these to "gain evergreen strength for the hunt."

The Indians also ate wild ginseng roots for a potent tonic.

In the book of Ezekiel, we read: "The fruit of the trees shall be for meat and the leaves thereof for medicine." And in Revelations, we read: "The leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations."

Employment Rise Noted in March

Kentucky's employment figures for March reflect a sharp upturn for the state's economy. A drop in unemployment rolls from 7.1 per cent in February to 5.6 per cent last month compares favorably with the .6 per cent drop in the national unadjusted figure of 7.9 per cent.

Department for Human Resources' Chief Market Analyst Robert MacDonald stated there were an estimated 81,200 persons unemployed in March, 21,400 less than last month, and 30,700 below the estimate for February of 1976.

MacDonald listed several factors that caused the large drop in March:

1. The extremely cold weather in February;
2. Good weather in March plus a better supply of energy, which encouraged Kentucky employers to step up their activities and increase employment by 25,300 since February;
3. The national economy continues to improve, which reflects part of the improvement in Kentucky's economy.

Employment gains in March occurred in construction, up by 4,600 workers; trade, up by 4,000 workers and agriculture, up by 6,400 workers. Employment in manufacturing was only slightly higher in March, up by 500 workers.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: F. The surface of the area to be mined is owned by the Sallie G. Webb Estate, Marguerite W. Harmon, Administratrix.

PHS Boys, Girls Win Meet

Both the Prestonsburg High School boys' and girls' track teams scored their first victories of the season. The boys crushed Louisa High School here Tuesday afternoon by a score of 72-44, winning 10 out of the 14 events.

The Cats were coached by Forrest Hughes and were led to victory by sophomore distance runner James Brown as he won the 880-yard run, mile run, and the two-mile. Brown became the first PHS runner to go below five minutes in the mile as he blazed to a 4:45.2 victory, breaking the old record by 20 seconds.

There were several other stars for the young Blackcats. There are only five seniors on the 30-man squad. Ken Powers won the shot and discus; Paul Ackerman, the long jump at 18 feet, 5 inches, and the 440-yard dash in 57.2. Gary Mosier and Wayne Tibbs contributed to the team victory as Mosier finished second in the 100-yard dash and was a member of the winning 880 relay team, while Tibbs grabbed third place in the 220-yard dash behind PHS sprinter William O. Goebel who won the 220 with a fast 23.2. Tibbs also was a member of the winning 880 relay of Jim Derossett, Jamie Latta and Mosier.

The PHS girls' track team, coached by Sharon Meade, edged the Louisa girls, 66-62, in a hotly contested meet.

The PHS girls were led by basketball star Bridget Clay as she won or helped win four events. She won the long jump, high jump and ran a leg on the winning 440 relay and medley relay teams.

The PHS girls were also greatly aided by the outstanding performances of Barbara Hatfield, who won both the shot-put and discus; Brenda Wright, who won the 60-yard and 110-yard hurdles, ran a leg on the winning 440 and medley relay teams and added a second place in the high jump for good measure.

The Mud's Out—School's In

Phillip Dingus, Martin Elementary principal, indicates the flood-level mark on the recently renovated classroom building.

Remember the old World War II song, "We Did It Before and We Can Do It Again"? The Martin school personnel had these same thoughts in mind as they once again attacked the mud-covered structures and campus resulting from the recent flood.

The entire school plant—three classroom structures, lunchroom annex, a metal building which houses a classroom unit, gymnasium, two Title I trailers, and the principal's home—was deep in floodwaters.

Due to the unrelenting efforts of those involved in the massive clean-up, classes were resumed last Thursday. Phillip Dingus, Martin Elementary principal, attributes the speedy school reopening to the following: Blaine Hopkins and the COE workers, NYC workers, members of the National Guard, the Floyd County Board of Education maintenance crew, the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department, Sol Samons, State Department of Highways foreman, his crew and trucks, the Martin school janitorial staff, the Martin Fire Department, volunteer teachers and members of their families, student volunteers, Jimmy Branham, who provided heavy equipment and a truck, and volunteers from Alice Lloyd College. The work and cooperation shown by the Martin lunchroom staff and their families were especially commendable, Mr. Dingus said.

Highway Dept. Involved In Eastern Ky. Cleanup

By last Saturday, more than 300 Kentucky Bureau of Highways personnel and more than 160 major pieces of equipment were working in Eastern Kentucky communities hard-hit by heavy flooding nearly two weeks ago.

Gov. Julian Carroll also noted that about 200 Kentucky National Guardsmen will remain on active duty until necessary emergency flood assistance assignments are completed.

"I want to assure the people of Eastern Kentucky who continue to desperately need the clean-up services that Kentucky Government can provide, that there will be no lag or gap in that assistance because a major element of the National Guardsmen are being de-activated by this week-end," Gov. Carroll said.

"Most of the workmen assigned to the Highway Bureau's maintenance crews have, like the National Guard, been on duty in the flooded areas for nearly two weeks now and their forces are being beefed up by more than a hundred men and more than 50 pieces of equipment," he continued.

Gov. Carroll said Friday that the additional highway crews are coming from other counties and even other highway districts. "We are marshalling the people right now," he said. "They will be at work at 8 a.m. tomorrow." The focal points for this strengthened cleanup effort are in Pike and Martin counties and in Pineville and Harlan.

While visiting in those communities and counties on Wednesday, Gov. Carroll explained that the National Guard would have to be pulled out when feasible, citing a number of reasons for the move. He explained that the principal role of the 981 Guardsmen that were activated was to provide emergency relief, rescue operations, ambulance runs, food delivery and the kinds of help that civilian agencies and citizens cannot provide for themselves in the middle of such a massive disaster.

Except in basically isolated situations such as the continuing distress being experienced by citizens of the South Williamson area, the need for such emergency kinds of help is past, and most that remains now is cleanup. "I feel that the Bureau of Highways personnel, and local contractors with whom local officials can contract to do the work, are better suited and better experienced to perform these cleanup tasks," Gov. Carroll said. "And the tax dollars we spend will be reimbursed by the Federal Government for all of these expenses."

The Governor pointed out that the cost of activating the National Guard, though totally necessary to deal with the early aftermath of the tragic flooding, amounts to about $40,000 per day and is not recoverable from the Federal Government. "Every penny of expense incurred by Highway Department personnel and by local contractors whose services are acquired by local officials will be paid back," he said.

Still, not all Guardsmen are being removed. Gov. Carroll pointed out that South Williamson, possibly the hardest-hit area in the 15 counties in which the disaster occurred, will still have 140 Guardsmen in addition to scores of Highway Bureau men and equipment. On hand in South Williamson for an indefinite period will be 125 members of the 207th Engineering Battalion, and 15 military policemen.

Additionally, National Guard aviators, with their helicopters, will remain on duty. Also, an Army Reserve supply unit

District No. 1

The election is near and it may be that I will not be able to personally solicit the vote of everybody in Magisterial District No. 1.

I think that every voter who knows me will say that I am qualified. I have lived in District 1 all my life at Bull Creek. I am the son of Alex and Loma DeRossett. My Dad was a teacher for years in Floyd County—most of them on Spurlock, Katy Friend and Middle Creek.

I am married to Katie Burton who has worked at Prestonsburg General, United States Shoe Corporation and at present Highlands Regional Medical Center as a nurse for 16 years. We have four children, ages 2 through 14, Gerald Doug, John Bryant, Leslie E. and James Alex.

If elected, I pledge four years of hard work and an administration of the office based upon Justice, Understanding, and Goodwill to my fellowman. Area School Loss Set at $20 Million
As Eastern Kentucky recovers from record-breaking floods, school officials are busy determining the damage suffered by 16 school districts in the area.

Preliminary estimates gathered by Department of Education officials Monday indicate that losses may total about $20 million. Dr. Graham cautions that it is too early to make a realistic estimate of damages.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Taylor Stone, who died April 20, 1975.
It's hard to believe two years have passed away, Death is darkness where there is no light. He sleeps beneath the ground out of sight. He cannot hear me, or even say What it's like, but I'll know someday; To lie in the ground, Not to move or make a sound. The dog he loved is still alive, But when it dies he wants it by his side. He is now at rest under the pine trees so still Upon a beautiful green hill, And there is where he will stay Until the end of time comes one day.

Ky. National Guard Begins Phasing Out Relief Effort
The Kentucky National Guard's massive flood-relief effort in southeastern Kentucky began phasing out last Friday as troops began returning home, according to Adj. Gen. Richard L. Frymire.
The force totalled nearly 1,000 last Thursday but was reduced to fewer than 100 by Sunday, Frymire said.
The troops have assisted in debris removal, traffic control, security, medical evacuation, transportation of food, water and other essential supplies, and in cleaning homes of the elderly and handicapped.
Meeting with Gov. Julian Carroll last Wednesday, Bell County Judge Willie Hendrickson and Pike County Judge Wayne Rutherford both expressed their appreciation for the Guard's work, saying that the communities could not have met the people's needs without the Guardsmen.
Frymire said that the only significant force set to remain on active duty will be stationed in South Williamson, a particularly hard-hit area of Pike county. Members of the 207th Engineer Company and the 198th Military, both from Louisville, will remain in that area. No withdrawal date for those units has been set.
Frymire also said that small forces will remain in Prestonsburg, Middlesboro, Pineville, and Harlan to meet temporary needs.
While announcing the withdrawal, Frymire said, "I am very proud of the work the Guardsmen have done throughout this crisis. I know that they have saved lives and they've met needs that have simply been too massive for government to deal with."
"Their work days have been long, and the work has been dirty and exhausting, but I know they've earned the undying thanks of all of the people in Eastern Kentucky."

Frymire also thanked the many employers who saw their Guard employees leave on short notice for active duty.
"Any time you call people away from their jobs, it disrupts many lives," the general explained, "but we've had very few complaints and a great deal of support. That type of support certainly makes these massive tasks easier to accomplish."
ATTEND MEETING
W. H. Dempsey and Bill Pettrey, committee members of the Big Sandy Conservation and Development Resources organization, attended a meeting of the group in Salyersville, last week. The purpose of the meeting was to make plans for flood relief in this section.

SUPPORTS JOHNSON FOR MAGISTRATE DISTRICT NO. 1

I, Barbara Slone, would like to take this opportunity to say I'm sorry for each and everyone who suffered from the flood.
Four years ago I ran for Magistrate in Dist. No. 1. A lot of people said they wouldn't vote for a woman, but I received many votes, thanks to my friends and supporters. And I appreciate everything they did for me.
I'm asking each and everyone who voted and supported me to help and support Charlie Johnson for Magistrate in District No. 1. I would have liked to run again at this time, but because of my bad health I am unable to. So I urged Charlie Johnson, my nephew, to run.
I promise each and everyone in District No. 1, who will help and support Charlie Johnson, that we will have better roads and a fulltime Magistrate.
I urge all my friends to vote for Charlie Johnson for Magistrate of Dist. No. 1.
Thank you,
BARBARA SLONE
(Pd. by Barbara Slone, 4-20-21.)

TAXPAYERS AND VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

- Let's work for better roads for our school buses and school trucks.
- I believe in a four-year term. We could build a few roads to some of our neglected cemeteries.
- If elected I will work this job like a Magistrate should. There will not be a selected few gaining the favors—we are all created equal and should be treated the same.
- I have no political backing or financial support. I am in this on my own for the people.

Floyd Crafts Group To Display Products

Women from two crafts groups in Floyd county will soon be displaying and selling their handmade crafts at the Cincinnati Appalachian Festival for the fifth year in a row. The David Appalachian Crafts, sponsored by St. Vincent's Mission, includes 35 women from David, Drift and surrounding areas. The items made either individually or as a group include quilts, pillows, pillow tops, weavings, sachets, calico flowers, dolls, and many other fine crafts. The director of this program is Mary Pineau of David. Rosie Reffitt, of Risner, assists in teaching, and Foreen Martin organizes the Drift group. The Appalachian Festival was originally designed to develop retail outlets for quality handcrafted items as well as to promote identification with proud heritage. It is sponsored by the Appalachian Community Development Association of Cincinnati. The dates for the Festival are April 28 to May 1, 11:00 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. daily, except Sunday when it closes at 5 p.m. The festival is held at the Cincinnati Convention-Exposition Center at 5th and Elm Streets, in downtown Cincinnati off I-75.

PRESERVATION, like charity, begins at home—support the Kentucky Heritage Commission during National Historic Preservation Week, May 8-14, and throughout the year.

Floyd High Instrumentalists Win 'Superior' at Music Fest

Nineteen solo performers and 16 duets and ensembles from Floyd county high schools had, as of April 4, won Superior ratings at the Kentucky High School Music Festival's instrumental section held at Pikeville College.

The festival, in progress since March 30, is open to students from high schools in Floyd, Perry, Knott, Letcher, Pike, Magoffin, Wolfe, Breathitt, Johnson and Martin counties. It is one of 11 state level festivals held throughout the Commonwealth annually.

Associate Professor of Music Bill McCloud, coordinator of the festival, explained that the festival is not a competition in the usual sense. "Each student is judged in comparison with how well he or she does against perfection, not against other students," McCloud pointed out. These students, particularly the choirs, choruses, bands and ensembles, have been practicing for this festival since last September, working on intonation, balance and blend. The solo musicians have spent at least one month on each solo piece. All of this practicing is done outside school hours.

To the Voters of Floyd County:
I am the son of the late Claude Branham and the stepson of the late Charlie and Mornor Lafferty. I am married to Carrie A. Blevins, of Prestonsburg, who has been a licensed practical nurse for 10 years.
I would like to explain to the people that the qualifications for the office of Coroner does not have to necessarily be that of a funeral director or embalmer. The Coroner's job is to deliver a just and honest investigation of any suspicious fatality or accidental death. A vote for me will insure FULL TIME (24 hours a day), honest and just service in the office of Coroner.
I would also like to bring to the voter's attention that I am not associated with any funeral home in Floyd county. Your vote and support will be most appreciated.
Thank you.

Democrat, Magistrate, Dist. 1
I would like to introduce myself. I am the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Johnson, of Risner, Ky. I have lived on Spurlock all my life. Now I live at Risner, Ky. So I know the need for better roads.
We have had promises for many years, but the County roads are still the same. The little children of this county are really the ones who suffer, trying to get to school.
Let's make a change. You voted for a young President. So why not vote for a young Magistrate?
With your help I will be elected. It's time for a change.
(Pd. for by candidate 1t.)

JARVIS ALLEN
No. 1 on the Judicial Ballot... asks the voters to check the qualifications and ability of each candidate for Judge before you cast your vote.
Such a candidate should be well-versed in the law by experience and training; should be a moderate, stable-minded person who cannot be influenced by power politics on those of great wealth.
He should have no prejudices because of past action, public or personal. He should be a person who has never been engaged in a serious crime and should have the patience to hear the case and argument of all persons and their attorneys before rendering a decision or instructing a jury.
He should in no way be biased or radical in his thinking but should strive to follow the law in all decisions. In fact, he should conduct the court in such a manner as to provide equal justice for all.
With my background of military service, 10 years as a trial attorney for the Commonwealth of Kentucky, 4 years as County Clerk and approximately 1 year as assistant County Attorney, I believe that I have the experience and ability to preside over a court of real justice. When elected, I shall do so, and no person will be denied a fair trial because of any action of mine.
When you, the voters, consider the above qualifications, your choice should be Jarvis Allen, No. 1 on the Judicial Ballot.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph and Children.
I would like to introduce myself. I am the son of Leonard and Sarah Prater Joseph, of Prestonsburg. I am married to Delle Ray Johnson Joseph, daughter of Pearlle Rowe Johnson and the late Columbus (Chum) Johnson, of Risner. I have lived in Prestonsburg the past 31 years. We have two wonderful children, a daughter, Laura Jean, and a son, Leonard Dale. They both attend Prestonsburg Grade School.
MY PLATFORM IS AS FOLLOWS:
1. Fair treatment to all the people, not just a select few.
2. I will assume full responsibility for my turnkey.
3. There will be no beatings in the jail during my tenure. This, I pledge.
4. 24-hour medical treatment will be available to all prisoners.
5. If anyone is brought in needing medical attention, they will be taken to the emergency room immediately. This I pledge.

That's all we've heard for eight years! We're sick and tired of hearing, "I'll build you a bridge at Cushaw!" "I'll fix the Cushaw road!" NOTHING HAS BEEN DONE YET!!! Let's vote for a man that has the same problem. He has a road full of holes and trouble getting his children out to school. He doesn't live on a blacktop road! THIRD: I spent many hours on the new park at Allen, Kentucky and I have saved the county several thousand dollars during the construction of this park. This money is your money and I have made every effort to save the money paid by the tax payers.
I owe this duty to you and I will continue to perform this duty.

To The Voters of Floyd County,
I want the voters of Floyd County to know that I am a candidate for Sheriff of Floyd County, and that I will be a candidate up to and including election day. Some people are spreading the rumor that I am coming off and I want to take this opportunity to let you know that I have no intention of not running. I will try to get around to see as many of you that I can before election.
I know that many of you are suffering great hardships because of the flood conditions and I want to offer my sympathy to each and every one of you.
I ask you to not pay any attention to rumors and to help me to become your next Sheriff of Floyd County.
DELMER (DICK) ELSWICK
1t-pd. by candidate

To the Concerned Citizens of District No. 1
I am running for Magistrate of District No. 1 for a purpose. That purpose is a desire to see the removal of garbage from our highways, our back roads, our streams and especially from the property of persons who do not want their land to become public dumps. I know that a sanitation program with a set of rules to guide it, and given the full cooperation of the county government and not county bickering, can be set in motion by interested individuals that will succeed. It will take interest, hard work and dedication by those operating such a business but I know that this can be accomplished.
I made public a pledge to three different funds I would contribute to if I am elected. The three—The Crippled Children's Fund, the Kidney Fund and the Heart Fund. I have a personal interest in these handicaps and these three promises will be kept if I am elected. What have others running for public office pledged to give or to work for?
I will become the most frequent visitor to the areas in this district that need attention, those areas being back roads, streams, bridges, drains and wherever garbage is dumped legally or illegally.
And I will be a demanding visitor at our county courthouse. Demanding to know where county support is and to publish and to make public those places in your district needing attention. I will be your voice. We can whip this thing together.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

This world in which we live and think we understand is of three dimensions, namely length, breadth and thickness. There is, however, a school of thought that assumes there may be a fourth dimension, a sort of a superstate which we cannot conceive or visit, but existing right alongside our own existence. This school of thought defines this fourth dimension as the "relationship of matter in space to time," an explanation incomprehensible to most of us, but cally soluble. With this recognition, say the mathematicians, will come something akin to that "sixth sense" so often heard about and will open up a startling new understanding of the universe.

At the sight of a piece of paper or some other inanimate object blowing in the wind, a horse, unable to interpret what it sees, will sometimes bolt and throw its rider. For the same reason that a horse may not correctly interpret the phenomena of physical life, man's interpretations may be limited in the same way when it comes to things beyond the third dimension.

The story of Plato's "Shadows" and the quotation from St. Paul, "Now we see as in a glass, darkly," further explains our inability to always accurately interpret what we see. As these two great mystics, along with the Russian mathematician, Ouspensky, whose arguments support the idea of another existence, would have us believe, life as we know it, may indeed be but a shadow of the real life that dwells or coexists somewhere in the beyond.

So if you ever see a UFO, a ghost, or have a loneliness for a person you know not whom, a nostalgia for a place you know not where, or a yearning for a time you know not when, you may be sensing the fourth dimension, if not exactly seeing it. Research may eventually find the key to the invisible world, or at least reveal some of the answers to questions about this fourth dimension.

it could explain such things as UFO's and much that is now attributed to intuition, instinct, extrasensory perception and the supernatural. Who knows but what the creatures that presumably travel in the UFO's now so often reported in our nighttime skies, have broken away from the three dimensional outlook of we terrestrials and have found the key to the door of this fourth world of mystical, mathematical hypothesis.

It has been said that in order to break away from the three dimensional world, man must develop a new space consciousness and recognize the fourth dimension whose relations with the other three dimensions are mathemati-

History in Kentucky Place Names

Names are interesting and not always what they seem. It is correct to assume that Washington county was named for George Washington, though his rank was given as "General" in an old publication and not President of the United States. Many think Lincoln county was named for Abraham, but the county bears the name of Gen. Benjamin Lincoln.

Some persons think Morgan county was named for John Hunt Morgan of Civil War fame, but the honored Morgan goes back to the Revolutionary War and Gen. Daniel Morgan.

Most people would know that Shady Lane has lots of shade trees, that Long Branch either was a long stream or named for one with the name Long, but would they know that Betsy Layne in Floyd county is not a country lane but an Eastern Kentucky town named for Elizabeth Johns Layne?

The fact that Lovely in Martin county was named for a family with the name of Lovely does not make it less lovely; and Martin county was not named for the birds that frequent the area but for Col. John P. Martin.

Paintsville has a number of artists but the Johnson county name is taken from painters of a much earlier age. The city took its name from Paint Creek, a stream with an ancient history that was once inhabited by Indians who enjoyed painting pictures of birds and animals on tree trunks, bark and rocks.

Jim Armstrong, of Boyd county, writes about the naming of streets in Ashland. Some streets were given numbers and some letters, but a 17-year-old from Montgomery county had other ideas when he was given the job of naming some of the streets. John Winston Prewitt, of Mt. Sterling, was sent by his father Nelson Prewitt to Ashland to work with a surveying team.

The elder Prewitt was a stockholder in the newly formed Elizabethtown, Lexington and Big Sandy Railroad in 1854, according to Armstrong writing in the Ashland Independent, and the New York firm hired to survey for the railroad also was surveying for the city of Ashland.

"Nelson decided he didn't want John loafing around Mt. Sterling where the family made their home... his job was carrying the chain for one of the surveyors."

The survey completed, there yet was the need to name streets. It was late in the day and apparently the surveyor was tired and wanted to leave, so he asked young John Prewitt to name the streets. Prewitt named the street paralleling the Ohio River Front Street and the next one Greenup, "for that was the county in which the new city was built."

John Prewitt named one street "Carter" because that county was next to Greenup and another street Montgomery for his own county. Armstrong thought Prewitt named one street Bath "because it was a short street and a short word," but more likely it was named for Bath county which adjoins Montgomery.

Prewitt named one street Lexington, "because his sister had just married and moved to that city."

It didn't take the Central Kentucky youth too long to complete his job. A main thoroughfare he named Winchester because it was an important

How To Get Historic Places Listed in National Register

Historic places aren't only those that are already famous—they can also be taverns, bridges, factories, houses, parks, schools, churches, stores, and even complete districts situated in a local area. According to Mary Cronan Oppel, an historian with the Kentucky Heritage Commission, any of these have the possibility of being listed on the National Register of Historic Places. With National Historic Preservation Week being May 8-14, officials of the Kentucky Heritage Commission explain some ways people can help preserve historic places.

"For example," said Oppel, "for an individual trying to get his older house on the National Register, the first step is to get it listed on the Survey of Historic Sites in Kentucky, which is the state survey. When the process is started by an individual, the commission staff determines whether or not the building is eligible for the National Register. If the staff started the placement process during a county survey, they would pick the site that is most significant, either historically or architecturally."

The next step, noted Oppel, is for the owner to do basic research, such as finding out the name of the original owner of the structure, determining the date of construction of the building, and developing a statement of the house's significance. "If the house is architecturally significant," she said, "what features of the house are outstanding? If it's historically significant, what event and people made it so? And, if it's significant because of an individual, what was that person's contribution and occupation?"

Another main requirement in preparing for a nomination is a basic architectural description of the structure including the construction materials, the architectural style, and the setting. Also required are good photographs that show the architectural details of the house and written information about them.

"After the form is completed," explained Oppel, "it must be approved by the state historic preservation review board, which meets four times a year and looks at approximately 25 forms at each meeting. If the application passes the state review board, it's then sent as a nomination to the National Register of Historic Places in Washington, D.C. There it is approved or rejected."

"The federal government's part in the process," said Oppel, "sometimes takes as long as six months—making the average time for the complete process about one year."

Wheelwright Star Named All-state

Wheelwright All-Stater in action.

Jeff Riley, the Wheelwright High School basketball star who recently was named to the All-State first team, has been contacted by more than 150 colleges and universities but has narrowed the field to four schools, his coach, James E. Francis, said last week.

The 6-6 Riley has narrowed his choices to Georgia Tech, George Washington, Tennessee and Morehead.

Beginning varsity play at Wheelwright as a freshman, Riley increased his point production each succeeding year, scoring 294 points as a freshman, 401 in his second year, 533 as a junior and 846 in this his senior year for a four-year total of 2,074 points.

Said Coach Francis: "Jeff is an outstanding player, and he also is an outstanding young man off the basketball court. He has a 3.9 average out of a possible 4.00 and is one of the best young men I have ever coached. I feel he will go far in life and be a great person as well as a fine basketball player."

Selection of Riley to the all-state teams came as no surprise. The Wheelwright high honor student averaged 28.1 points this season for the Trojans and set a school scoring record, hitting for 50 points against Elkhorn City. Riley also scored 48 points in games against Menifee County and Whitesburg and hit 55 per cent of his shots this season.

He is a son of Niagara and Nell Riley, of Wheelwright.

Most Pike Flood Victims Take Disaster in Stride

Pikeville, Ky.—This community of 5,300, located in extreme Eastern Kentucky, has begun the process of recovering from recent flooding.

Although county and city officials are predicting 30 days to six months for complete resumption of normal life, most victims of the most devastating flood since 1957 are taking the disaster in stride.

Jimmy Coleman, of East Shalbiana, said disaster relief officials had assessed his family's losses at $7,000, "but I still don't believe that quite covers it . . . (but), I really didn't want to put it any higher because they've got to take care of other people."

Coleman said he didn't know if he would receive the full amount of his estimated losses, but noted "anything's better than nothing."

Pikeville insurance agent John Moses placed his property losses at $40,000, and could not estimate his business damages. He noted ironically that the building that housed his insurance office was completely washed away.

"I managed to get the file folders, but not the file cabinets," he said. "I don't know if I have anybody left to do business with." He said he plans to open a temporary office to serve his customers—as soon as he can locate an office.

Mrs. Evelyn Dawahare and her sons continued work on cleaning their home, which they had begun late last week. They shrugged off the damages, saying they had become accustomed to floods, having been through similar experiences in '57 and '63.

Georgia Ward, owner of Pikeville radio station WLSI, explained that the flood was unexpected because "people took it for granted that they wouldn't be flooded." The city had been assured by federal government engineers that three flood control dams could protect it.

But she noted that the water had risen pretty high in the previous two years.

Pike County Judge Wayne Rutherford expressed appreciation for National Guard and other state and federal aid assistance during the disaster. "There wasn't any way the local government could do it (handle the disaster). We made the (aid) request to the Governor and he responded. They've done a magnificent job."

Rutherford said there were some dissatisfied flood victims out in the county, but noted, "If I'd lost my savings and everything, I'd feel the same way."

"But these men (the National Guardsmen and aid officials) have been dedicated; they've been gentlemen; they've been tolerant; and we couldn't have made it (without them)."

"It's going to take us awhile to get over this, but they've eased our burden . . . they're going to be here awhile," Rutherford said.

Meanwhile the Guardsmen continued their work, coordinating traffic and cleanup work, and trying to reach victims in isolated areas. At least once during the day, the Guard's medical evacuation helicopter made a run to Lexington with an infant who was critically ill. The child's disorder was unrelated to the flood situation.

Prisoners Help In Pike County

An additional 25 state inmates were sent to Pike county Sunday afternoon to aid in flood cleanup efforts in the South Anderson community. Corrections Commissioner David Bland announced.

Bland, who spent Friday in Pike county, sent an initial 25 inmates from the Frankfort Career Development Center to Pikeville Wednesday, April 13. He said these men will be returning to Frankfort Saturday, April 16, and will then return to Pikeville Sunday afternoon for another week's work.

The additional 25 inmates are volunteers for the project from the Blackburn Correctional Complex, near Lexington. They are expected to work in the South Anderson community for about a week, Bland said.

The commissioner said the request for inmate assistance in helping Pike county cleanup efforts following recent massive flooding in the community came from local officials.

He said support for the additional 25 men leaving Sunday from Blackburn came from a visit Gov. Julian Carroll made to Pike county last Wednesday, when he said he was proud and impressed with the work the inmates were doing.

Bland has similarly mobilized inmates at the Bell and Harlan County Forestry Camps to aid in cleanup efforts in their respective communities, following the recent flooding.

At Friday's meetings with the state inmates already in Pike county and with Pike county officials, Bland said he will try to insure the inmates are being housed and fed properly and also try to determine the direction the remaining work will take.

Bland said inmates from the Frankfort Career Development Center and the Blackburn Correctional Complex are classified as minimum security inmates and are considered to be minimal security risks in any community.

If you're not careful your CB antenna could put you in touch with a lot more than you bargained for.

Unfortunately, your CB base station antenna will not only help you reach more people, it could also put you in touch with our power lines.

And the slightest contact between you, your antenna and our lines could be fatal.

So, before you put up your antenna, here are a few suggestions you should follow.

First, we recommend you have a professional do it for you.

Okay, if you're determined to do it yourself, look out for power lines. The ones attached to poles. And the ones attached to your house.

If you can't tell a power line from a phone line, don't experiment. Steer clear.

Then make sure you locate your antenna (including supporting mast and guy wires) at least one and a half times its total height from all power lines. Which means, a 30-ft. high antenna should be 45 feet away from all power lines in all directions.

That way, if it falls during construction, or gets blown down during a storm, it won't hit any lines and endanger you or your neighbors.

Trying to carry an antenna, climb a ladder and keep your balance all at the same time is risky business, too.

Wait for a calm day, assemble the antenna where you intend to put it up, be sure to ground the antenna properly and get somebody to help you.
