Four Floyd Co. Candidates Fail To Report Expenses

Four Floyd county candidates are among the 400 or more in the state who are "delinquent" in filing their primary election campaign expense accounts with the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance.

The Floyd list of candidates has been submitted by John Craig, Registry secretary, to Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen, and the candidates will be required to clear their belated reports through him.

Some were delayed by the flood conditions. Others plain forgot. Allen expects no trouble with gaining compliance by the Floyd county candidates.

If any candidate does refuse to file an expense account, however, the prosecutor could seek a court order demanding compliance, or he could prosecute the candidate.

The first campaign spending and contribution reports were due by 4:30 p.m.—closing time for the registry—April 23. However, Craig said there is a five-day "grace" period which expired at 4:30 p.m. last Wednesday. "We don't want to harass candidates," Craig said, "we don't want to interfere with the political process. We simply want to enforce the law."

Craig said, "We aren't interested in prosecuting anyone unless we have to." Yesterday he said that philosophy basically holds true. Prosecution, in any case, is up to each commonwealth's attorney. But Craig feels it should be done where candidates violated or deliberately attempted to violate the law.

Craig feels one of the problems with the failure to file the reports is that, in the past, the registry has not enforced the law. Craig explained, although the 1974 General Assembly tightened the law, that until recently the registry's staff was too small to enforce it.

Candidates from Floyd and other area counties who have not filed their reports are:

FLOYD—Holland B. Hurley, Jr., Harold, Sheriff; Henry C. Hale, Blue River, Ky., Sheriff; James N. Nunnery, Jr., Prestonsburg, Coroner; Vernon Stumbo, Price, Coroner.

PERRY—Fred Johnson, Hazard, Co. Judge Executive; Ronnie Collins, Dice, Co. Judge Executive; Daniel Jones, Bulan, Co. Judge-Executive; Robert 'Ken' Terry, Hazard, Sheriff; Odie

Notice to Candidates

Two Sue Board And Bus Driver

A school bus driver and the Floyd County Board of Education were named last week in a circuit court suit in which Don Keith Spurlock and Mabeth Keathley ask damages totalling $81,100.

The bus driver, Hershell Yates, according to the plaintiffs' action, was operating a school bus on KY 80, near Allen, so recklessly that it threatened a collision with the vehicle driven by Don Keith Spurlock. The Spurlock auto left the road and struck a culvert. The incident occurred in March, 1976.

Spurlock asks $80,000 for injuries suffered. Mrs. Spurlock set at $1,100 damages to her auto.

In another suit filed last week Garrie and Alen Turner and Sidney E. Lawson asked the court to enjoin Eugene Mullins from preventing future burials of the heirs-at-law of Greenville Turner and their spouses in their family cemetery which, they say, is at least 100 years old. Mullins is owner of the surface which was purchased in 1970 from the Elk Horn Coal Corporation, but plaintiffs say the cemetery has been under fence at least 74 years, and they ask the court to declare the heirs owners of the cemetery by adverse possession.

(Reports of civil suits present only one side of such cases.)

Report of Jury Expected Today

When the grand jury turns in its final report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley today (Wednesday), criminal work of the court will virtually be at an end till September.

One murder indictment was voted this week, naming Carl Nance in the recent shooting death of Earl "Buster" Carroll.

While Larry Spencer, the man whom he is said to have shot on Little Paint Creek last Saturday, hovers between life and death in a Lexington hospital, Ed Hall, Jr., was named in an indictment charging him with first-degree assault. Hall remained in jail Tuesday.

Floyd Coal Co. One of Seven Sued by State

The Left Beaver Coal Company of this county was one of seven mining firms against which the state Department of Natural Resources filed complaints last week, claiming they violated water pollution laws by permitting spills of "black water" into streams.

Perry White, legal counsel for the state department, said the state is seeking penalties against the companies ranging from $20,000 to $200,000. He added that the seven separate actions were initiated at the same time "to lend credence to the recommendations" made by district field inspectors of the Division of Water Quality.

This Town...That World

And now, after two days as hectic as I care to see, we bob up for air and assure others who may be in a worse fix that it's, for a' that, the merry, merry month of May.

FOND (?) RECOLLECTIONS

We've struggled so long and so hard this week to get this paper off our hands and into yours, and to date with such discouraging results, that I am reminded of the time a long while back when The Times hit the streets sorter by random, you might say—on Thursday this week, maybe Friday the next—till the late Judge Ed Arnold took to ribbing me by calling it "that tri-weekly—tries to get out one week and gets printed the next." (That is why they call 'em fond recollections—they help make present trials a bit easier.)

Cyclists Seek Lodging Here On 498-Mile-Long Trail

Efforts are currently being made to establish an overnight hostel here to provide lodging for bicyclists travelling the 498-mile-long Erie-Appalachian Bicycle Trail scheduled to open to bicycle traffic this summer, it was learned last week.

The hostel would be one of four which will be located at about 50-mile intervals along the route which will begin at Milford, Mich., near Detroit, and join the Trans-America National Scenic Bicycle Trail near Pippa Passes (Knott county).

Ken Russell, bicycle trail developer for the Columbus Counsel of American Youth Hostels, said it is hoped that home hostels might be established at first, and, later, a permanent overnight facility.

"We don't expect much traffic on the trail this summer," Russell commented, "and we're trying to locate local bicycle enthusiasts who might be willing to let cyclists stay overnight on their way through." Russell is also talking to local organizations which might lease space for a permanent facility. "All that's needed, really, is any sort of bunk house where cyclists can stay overnight and maybe cook meals," Russell explained.

Bicycling has experienced a tremendous growth during the past few years and Russell said 2,700 enthusiasts from every state in the U.S. as well as those from 17 foreign countries passed through the Knott-Perry county section of the Trans-America Trail last summer. "It's a great sport," said Russell, "and the Erie-Appalachian Trail offers a beautiful ride and good access to the Trans-America Trail."

The Erie-Appalachian Trail, as most other bicycle trails, follows smaller "back" roads which offer attractive scenery and receive relatively light vehicle traffic.

Russell said anyone who might be interested in helping with the establishment of the hostel or needing information on the Erie-Appalachian Trail route should contact Dick Seebode, Columbus AYH, 824 S. Remington, Columbus, Ohio 43209.

Floyd Gets HUD Grant Of $500,000

Denial of Financing To Other Projects Disappoints Perkins

Eleven projects under the HUD Community Development block-grant program worth $2,921,600, were approved last week for the Seventh district, Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Senators Wendell Ford and Dee Huddleston announced.

Among the projects approved were two involving $500,000 in Floyd county.

Rep. Perkins said he was gratified that the hard work done by the residents and officials of the communities, in conjunction with his office and the senators had been productive, but he said he was very disappointed "because many deserving projects had not been funded on this go-round."

"I am going to do everything I can to get funding for the projects which were turned down in the next allocation, or in the Public Works-Jobs allocation, which should be forthcoming later this year. The President should be signing a Public Works Jobs bill very shortly, and it will have more than $30 million for Kentucky projects, such as water systems, sewer systems and other public facilities," Perkins said.

The projects approved in the Seventh district are:

Prestonsburg, Floyd county (two projects), $500,000—housing rehabilitation, water, sewer, develop single-family sites.

Pike county (two projects), $500,000—acquisition of single-family and multi-family sites, utilities, grading, water treatment system.

'Dozer Operator Critically Shot In Road Dispute

A dispute last Saturday afternoon over bulldozing work on a roadway on Little Paint Creek resulted in the shooting of Larry Spencer, 26-year-old operator of the machinery, who is in a Lexington hospital with a .22-calibre bullet in his head.

Ed Hall, Jr., 30, was jailed here by State Detective Gary Rose and Trooper Sizemore shortly after the shooting. Named by Detective Rose in a warrant alleging first degree assault, Hall remains in jail while the outcome of Spencer's wound is awaited. His condition was described Monday as critical.

Spencer, a foreman for B & B Engineers, had borrowed one of the firm's bulldozers to work on a roadway off the main Little Paint road, and he and Hall apparently engaged in a dispute involving Hall's property. The shot was fired, Detective Rose said, while Spencer sat in the seat of the bulldozer.

One report says the bulldozer was in the county road passing Hall's home. The two men were neighbors.

County Attorney Harold Stumbo and County Detective Sam Hale this week questioned Ella Mae Keathley, of Mud Creek, who is in Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, apparently recovering from a shotgun wound in her leg. The officials had been told she was shot by a man, but the wounded woman insisted she tripped over a shotgun which discharged. She refused to take a lie detector test.

State Justice Department Says Organized Crime in Coal Area

Has organized crime moved in where the money is—into Eastern Kentucky's coal business?

John L. Smith, secretary of the state Justice Department, says it has happened. For months now, the rumor has been heard that the Mafia has "gone into the coal business."

But the Justice Department and officials in other branches of state government are sitting tight on a report outlining organized crime activity, although it was completed and delivered to Governor Carroll in March.

Smith said "high velocity action"—meaning rapid development of coal-rich land—has attracted criminal elements. "Any time there's a lot of money changing hands, the vultures descend," Smith said.

However, Smith, whose experience includes work on a U.S. Justice Department organized crime and racketeering strike force in New Orleans, said organized crime "has not obtained the foothold here that it has in other states. We want to make sure it doesn't."

Securities Director Bunnell said that organized crime apparently surfaced in Kentucky because it appeared that a lot of money could be made in the energy field.

Bunnell said the report indicated attempts had been made to acquire coal companies and leases in Kentucky, West Virginia, Alabama and Pennsylvania.

Smith declined to detail the Justice Department probe, but said the agency is evaluating the information to formulate the department's response.

"Most of the information came from the state police, so in that sense, it wasn't a surprise to us," he said.

He said the Justice Department is proceeding cautiously because dealing with organized crime is complex and can be dangerous.

"We want to be responsible about the action we take," he said, adding, "I'm not saying we're sitting back."

Special and general investigative units of the state police are continuing the investigation in the field, he said.

Flooded Pikeville Library Books Brought Here to Deep-Freeze

The public libraries in Pineville and Pikeville received extensive damage from the recent spring floods, according to Barbara Williams, state librarian. Mrs. Williams estimated the damage for both libraries to be between $130,000 to $195,000. "This is a very rough estimate. The mud left by the flood in both places has ruined much of the metal furniture in the libraries," she said. Mrs. Williams said the library at Pikeville did not burn as was announced earlier. "The water damage was great to the books in Pikeville," Howard Goodpaster, director of records and archives, commented. "However, they were able to salvage part of the valuable collection. The books have been put in plastic bags and sent to Prestonsburg where they were placed in a deep-freeze unit prior to taking them to St. Louis to be freeze-dried."

"The greatest threat to wet books is the mold that sets in within 48 hours," he added. "As soon as possible, all wet books should be placed in an area where the temperature is maintained at 60 degrees or less. Also fans should be used to circulate the air." By placing the books in a cool area the mold is checked from forming. Mrs. Williams said she estimated the damage to the Pikeville library to be between $15,000 and $20,000. The library was housed in two buildings. The library rented one building and owned the other which was a trailer attached to the rented building. The trailer was completely undamaged by the flood, even though it was six to eight inches off the ground. The damage to the Pineville library is between $50,000 and $75,000 to the building and $15,000 to $25,000 to the equipment, said Mrs. Williams. Several members of Goodpaster's staff were in Pikeville last week assisting with the salvage of books and clean-up operations.

Mother's Day First Observed By Ky. Woman, 90 Years Ago

By HELEN PRICE STACY
A marker at the junction of Green and Center streets in Henderson tells passersby that here in 1887 a Henderson county woman first observed Mother's Day. Mary Towles Sasseen Wilson, a teacher, began with her pupils to promote the idea of honoring all mothers with a special day, and in 1893 she received national recognition for her efforts. The Kentucky legislature credited her with originating the idea, and in 1914 Congress adopted the second Sunday in May as a holiday to observe Mother's Day.

In neighboring West Virginia, Anna Jarvis began campaigning in 1907 for a national observance honoring mothers, and to promote her idea she chose the second Sunday in May as the special day and began the custom of wearing a carnation.

On May 8, 1914 President Woodrow Wilson together with Congress signed a resolution to observe that day as Mother's Day. Julia Ward Howe is said to have suggested a special day for mothers in 1872, choosing June 2.

From the days of "Rock me to sleep, Mother, rock me to sleep," poets have honored mothers with their words.

In Boyd county, Juanita Johnson recalled earlier days through memories of childhood. She recalled a rustic fence, bright red geraniums on a window sill, red roses, an aster bordered lane and an old farmhouse where each night the children, in from play, sat around the hearth, "Where hymns are sung at end of day, and prayers are said at night."

Eve Spears of Scott county remembered an old superstition in her poem, "A Stranger to Myself." Her mother had said, "Take your son upstream if you would have good luck."

The late poet, I. N. Phipps, used his childhood memories to sustain him later in life when he found the world was not altogether a time "when youth lay wrapt in a golden dream." Resting on the banks of Licking River in Eastern Kentucky or Elkhorn Creek in Central Kentucky, he wrote his poems and made pen and ink sketches to accompany them. He wrote, "To that dear land of story books, O'er sunny meads and babbling brooks,

Where happy childhood plays its part, And where is found no breaking heart, I often turn, because I find Rest and solace for the mind."

In another poem, Phipps viewed the mother's side, this time one whose husband and son had gone to sea and perished. "O! a sorrowful life and a lonely lot must that of the childless widow be!"

Alma Robison Higbee, native of Eastern Kentucky, once wrote, "My mother was a gypsy and this is what she said, 'He who makes his pride a mantle finds a lonely bed.'"

A forgotten Kentuckian once wrote, "No memory will ever to me be more fair, than that of Mother combing her long, dark hair."

Elliott county native Rufus Click wrote many poems about his mother, one of the most poignant, "But Where is Ma?" He told about the empty log house in the hills if he came in from school and his mother was not at home. If he had been helping in the fields and came to the house for water, he first looked for his mother. When a lad and coming home from play with neighbor boys, his first thought was, "But where is Ma?"

Along the same thought is the poem by Taylor that goes,

"Who ran to help me when I fell
And would some pretty story tell,
Or kiss the place to make it well?
My mother."

Alexander Anderson, who died in 1909, wrote in his poem, "Cuddle Doon," thoughts of mothers everywhere:

"The bairnies cuddle doon at night
Wi' mirth that's dear to me;
But soon the big warl's cark an' care
Will quaten doon their glee.
Yet come what will to ilka ane,
May he who rules aboon
Aye whisper, though their paws be bald,

"Oh, Bairnies, cuddle doon!"

Lucy Green White, of Elliott county, wrote in her poem, "Mom's Dresses," that she had gathered all the "dresses on this day, and laid them in the cedar chest away; and tears I shed I surely must confess: A million tears for every folded dress."

One of 13 Cars Checked Found Faulty, Report

One of every 13 vehicles inspected in Kentucky during 1976 was found to have at least one mechanical defect, according to a report released by State Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson.

The Division of Inspections of the Bureau of Vehicle Regulation reported that 1,751,601 automobiles had been inspected at more than 3,000 official stations across the state.

Although the number of vehicles inspected increased by 7.3 per cent over 1975, the number of rejected automobiles was up by only four per cent.

Archie Craft, Director of the Bureau of Inspections, credited this to the upswing in new car sales during 1976.

On the average, inspectors found 1.5 defects for each vehicle they rejected.

As in past years, the most frequent cause of rejection was a faulty exhaust system. Other common defects found by the inspectors were turn signals, tires, tail lights, stop lights, head lights and windshield wipers.

Feltner Addresses Meet Of Mtn. Health Services

Mountain Health Services, Inc., McDowell Regional Medical Clinic, held its annual meeting recently at Jenny Wiley Lodge with Squire Feltner, president, District 30, U.M.W.A., as featured speaker.

The Board of Directors paid tribute to Mr. Feltner for his assistance and support in health legislative concerns and personnel-physician recruitment.

The Health Services Board also announced the joint effort of establishing an out-patient clinic with Pond Creek Health Center, Inc., in Pike county was entering its final stages and physician recruitment was underway.

The Pond Creek facility is to be approximately 4,700 square feet with out-patient services to include pharmacy, X-ray, laboratory, breathing clinic and a limited emergency room triage type service. Estimated cost of the building is $192,000 to be constructed by Marshall Erdman Associates of Madison, Wisconsin. Construction will begin once physicians are secured. District 30 U.M.W.A. Executive Board has contributed $1,000 toward the construction of this clinic.

Gov. Carroll Speaks At Pikeville College

Kentucky Governor Julian M. Carroll addressed the second annual President's Club dinner at Pikeville College Tuesday evening, April 26.

Among his remarks to more than one hundred persons attending the dinner, Carroll commended Pikeville College students, faculty, administrators and staff members for their efforts in serving the tremendous human needs that existed during the days immediately following the recent flooding in Pike County. "Hundreds of homeless victims found shelter in your Science Building here," Carroll said, "including elderly and infirm residents of Mountain Manor Nursing Home. Your cafeteria here served approximately 2,000 meals a day to flood victims. There is no easy way to put a dollar value on that contribution. But it must be recognized as one of the truly significant efforts during this flood."

Carroll pointed out that he signed an emergency regulation the morning of April 26 directing the State Higher Education Authority to reserve $100,000 in student aid funds for families that have suffered financial losses from the recent flooding in eastern and southeastern Kentucky.

Normally applications for these funds should be filed by April 1. Now this money for students victimized by the flood will be reserved until July 1.

The grants range from $200 to $850 for students at private institutions such as Pikeville College.

Additional federal money will also be made available to flood victims who need more aid this school year. Colleges can apply for the money and then pass it on to students under the college work study program and the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant program.

Pikeville College President Dr. Jackson O. Hall joined Carroll in his belief that Pikeville College will recover successfully from the losses it sustained as a result of the flood. "We will come out of this even stronger than we were before," Hall said. "I am committed to continuing our pursuit of more effective and meaningful ways of serving the educational needs of the young men and women of this region."

Honored at the dinner were Trustee Emeritus William Baird, Jr. for twenty-nine years of service on the college's Board of Trustees and outgoing Chairman of the Board Jarrett M. Wood.

MISSED IT

Thought I would watch "Noah's Ark" on the tube, the other night, but, remembering how the moviemakers hammed up some other Biblical subjects, settled instead for a bit of reading. In the same frame of mind I have never been able to sit idly by and watch a favorite character such as Huck Finn or Tom Sawyer "go Hollywood."

THE "BASS SNATCHER"

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources will go to all lengths to enforce the law against seining a body of water for fish, although they know only an occasional bass is netted.

Yet, when the use of the "Bass Snatcher" in a small lake such as Dewey was protested on the grounds that the lake was being decimated of its bass population and brood fish were being taken at the very time of year when they were ready to spawn, the head of the same department almost chortled as he remarked that he was pleased to learn the lake had that many bass.

The "Snatcher" isn't illegal, true. But it should be, especially in the spring and on a lake which a half a dozen fishermen armed with it can work almost every foot of its shoreline in a couple of days, with special attention to spawning beds.

Now, I've perhaps made some good friends sore about the matter. Let's see if any of the three clubs devoted to sportsmanship, conservation of fish and game, and the like will dare open their collective mouths.

Martin county (two projects), $400,000—housing site acquisition.

Elliott county, Sandy Hook, $325,000—housing site development, sewers, roads, lighting, etc.

Wolfe county, $174,600—elderly housing (40 units).

Morehead, Rowan county, $500,000—sewer line extension, entrance road, housing site plan, neighborhood facility.

The city of Hazard was approved for $400,000 from a special account to help pay for modernized gas transmission lines to protect public safety.

A year ago, when Republicans commanded HUD and the White House and there was a presidential election just around the corner, the heavily GOP 5th District ended up with 66 per cent of Kentucky's total allocation.

Public officials—mostly Democrats, mostly outside the 5th District—complained bitterly that politics had entered into HUD's decision-making process.

Rep. Tim Lee Carter, the Republican who represents the district, just shrugged off the criticism, rejected the charges of "politicking" and wondered why his impoverished district didn't get more.

This time around, however, with Democrats back in the saddle at HUD and the White House, the 5th District again has scored well—nothing like 66 per cent—in landing the federal money.

"We only got 40 per cent this time," Carter said with a grin. "We still have a lot of communities in our district with severe needs. But I'm pleased and thankful with what the administration has done."

"They've got a right good computer down there," he said.

The state's two senators, Wendell Ford and Walter (Dee) Huddleston, pointed out that there really is nowhere near enough money in HUD's coffers to fill the needs of rural Kentucky.

HUD received more than 130 applications from rural cities and counties, which, if granted, would have come to $150 million. The state's share of the grant pie, however, was only $13.2 million.

Huddleston said he was confident that congress will continue to support the bloc-grant program.

Ford said he was troubled by the fact that only 20 per cent of the total federal fund can go to nonmetropolitan areas.

"The program expires this year and I believe we need to take a close look at both the current funding level and present distribution formula to determine if a method can be devised to direct a greater portion of these funds into small towns and rural communities," he said.

Two second-degree manslaughter indictments were voted against Cisco Neeley in the deaths of Mrs. Jackie Howard and her unborn baby as the result of an auto wreck. (An unconfirmed report said prosecution of the case has been considered in Fayette county, since Mrs. Howard died in a Lexington hospital. The collision occurred on KY 7, near Hueysville.)

Ten Years Ago

(May 4, 1967)

With filing Tuesday of the Dry forces' brief, the Floyd court local option election passed into the hands of Special Judge Charles E. Lowe, of Pikeville. The board of directors of Princess Coals, Inc., announced last Friday that Russell Harman has resigned his position as president and that Ralph Huffman, executive vice-president, has been elected to succeed. A second Floyd county community has applied for housing construction under the FHA rent-subsidy program. The Times learned this week. The Highlands Hospital Corporation, the non-profit organization which now operates the Prestonsburg General hospital, is looking for a site on which to build a new hospital. Born to Mr. and Mrs. David Herman Price, of Prestonsburg, a son, April 30 at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, W. Va.; to Mr. and Mrs. Ishmael Salyers, a son, May 3 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. James David Campbell, of Milford, Mich., a daughter, Candace Loretia, May 2; to Mr. and Mrs. Yancy Horn, Jr., a son, May 2 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ray Moore, of Maytown, a daughter, Karen Renee, April 9. There died: Sidney Reed, 56, Friday at his home at Endicott; Isaac Thompson, 83, last Thursday at his home at Melvin; Mrs. Dora Allen, 68, of Hippo, last Thursday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Cora B. Fraley, 58, of Printer, Sunday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Charles H. Hunter, 53, Friday at his home at Martin; L. W. "Dock" Harmon, 65, of Stanville, Monday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Freddie Hamilton, 35, of Teaberry, last Thursday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville.

Twenty Years Ago

(May 2, 1957)

The January flood caused the Big Sandy river basin a total of $38,698,000 damage, with $30,389,000 of that total being suffered by the Big Sandy valley in Eastern Kentucky. Civil Defense funds have enabled the city of Prestonsburg to begin repair of damage to the Second street fill which badly sagged and became almost impassable after the January flood. A solution to the dispute over which route KY 7 will follow down Salt Lick Creek to connect with KY 80 was seen this week as a spokesman for one of the two opposing groups agreed to a plan which would serve both. Floyd county's eighth annual post-war band festival will be held here Saturday, and a colorful parade of beautiful girls as candidates for Festival Queen is scheduled. The Prestonsburg Black Cats baseball team may have established a record baseball score Monday as they walloped a good Fleming-Neon high school squad, 43-4. Married: Elizabeth Allen Collins, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Thomas R. Cadenhead, of Wabasso, Fla., April 29 at Pikeville. There died: Clevis Turner, 46, of Garrett, Monday at McDowell Memorial hospital; Orbie Osborne, 47, of McDowell, Saturday at the home of a sister at Price; Morgan Newsome, 41, Sunday at his home at Teaberry; Steve Sherman, 82, of Dema, formerly of this county, Wednesday of last week at the home of a daughter; Mrs. Vaney Frances Akers, 89, Saturday at her home at Banner; Mrs. Matilda W. Branham, 91, of Water Gap, Saturday at the home of a son; Virgil N. Wooley, 75, of Garrett, Saturday at the Beaver Valley hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(May 1, 1947)

Baseball in Floyd county drew the "color line" this week when representatives of the six teams comprising the Eastern Kentucky Baseball League met at Allen Monday night and voted to bar Richard Mims, black Prestonsburg pitcher, from further play. (Probably couldn't hit him.) Fire of undetermined origin and a resulting explosion destroyed the main building of the Gilley Oil & Refining Company at Betsy Layne last Saturday. The last murder trial of this term of circuit court—the shooting of Mrs. Sylvia Helen Parsons near Betsy Layne last April—has been continued till Sept. 24. Southern soft coal operators have balked at industry-wide bargaining with John L. Lewis as the government sought to stave off the threat of a new coal strike, July 1. Prestonsburg's new Junior Chamber of Commerce received its state and national charters Wednesday evening, last week. A gas well said to be the biggest drilled in Eastern Kentucky was hit this week on Oakley Creek, near Royaltown. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. James Mullet, of David, a son—Alvin—last Wednesday at the Paintsville hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Miller, of Betsy Layne, a daughter, April 27 at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. There died: Lewis Likens, 72, at home at Hunter, Sunday; Mrs. Grace Hamilton, 48, at home at Grethel, Sunday; Donald, 16-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Slone, of Ligon, at the Beaver Valley hospital, Sunday; T. J. Bentley, 57, formerly of Allen, at the Prestonsburg General hospital, Friday; Elford, 13-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Cooper, of Grethel, Saturday at the Gearheart hospital.

Forty Years Ago

(April 30, 1937)

Sid Kenney, 27 years old, of Weeksburg, was shot and killed Tuesday afternoon in a Weeksburg restaurant. While trying to persuade a man to stop beating a woman, Johnny Beran, 26-year-old Allen man, was shot and killed Wednesday noon at Jimmy Patterson's restaurant at Allen. Circuit Judge John W. Caudill this week said that a special venire will be called May 4 to investigate increasing lawlessness in Floyd county; at the same time he scored the apparent flaunting by county liquor outlets and roadhouses of the 12 midnight closing hour set for them and hinted at grand jury action in the matter. John Caldwell, 44, well-known Betsy Layne trucking contractor, was found dead on the highway near Betsy Layne, Sunday morning. The first Junior I.O.O.F. Lodge in the state was organized Thursday night at the Oddfellows hall here. The fire which destroyed the barn and its contents of Jonathan Hicks, of Cliff, is believed to be a case of arson. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lee May, of Prestonsburg, a son—Frederick Theodore—Sunday at home.

State's Crash Bridge Program Mainly to Skip Floyd County

While bridge replacement in a number of surrounding counties has been radically stepped up by the Kentucky Bureau of Highways in recent weeks as part of an effort to take advantage of a $9 million federal windfall, no such work is planned for Floyd county, a Department of Highways spokesman said this week. "The question of which bridges will be replaced is simply a matter of priorities," said Freddie Goble, chief bridge engineer at the Dept. of Highways district office at Pikeville. Goble explained that bridges slated for replacement are primarily concrete structures with weight limits in the two- to three-ton range which receive relatively heavy traffic, especially from coal haulage. "We're replacing several bridges of this type in Lecher, Lawrence, Pike and Knott counties," Goble pointed out, "but the need in Floyd county at this time is just not as urgent." Eighty-two of the 7,800 bridges on the 25,000 miles of state-maintained roads will be replaced during the next few years, according to A. R. Romine, assistant state highway engineer. State highway officials received word of the federal money in October, 1976, and the funds must be obligated by this October or Kentucky could lose it. Goble said a state funded bridge project last year resulted in the replacement of several county bridges, especially in the Mud Creek area. Bridges which will not be replaced under the federally-funded project and are considered sub-standard will be inspected regularly, according to Goble, and repairs will be accomplished through the use of state funds. Goble said, as an example, that the German bridge, which crosses the headwaters of Dewey Lake at the confluence of Buffalo and Johns Creek, "is being inspected weekly." He said reinforcement work on the bridge is scheduled in coming weeks. Kentucky's bridges are in good shape, much better than those in many states, Romine said. The state has had a program for several years in which money was earmarked for bridge maintenance, he said, with about $9.2 million in state funds going into that program annually. Each of the highway districts has a bridge engineer whose primary duty is to inspect bridges. State inspectors also make an annual inspection of most bridges in the state system, he said. City and county bridges are the responsibility of local governments, but the state assists local road departments in watching for problems, he said.

Letters to the Editor

In the Aftermath of Flood

We were among the flood victims too, but not nearly so badly as many other people whom I pray for and sympathize with, heartily. Although we had raised our house eight feet in recent years, the water got in, though not so deep.

I do thank God for our good relatives and friends, who came to us and took out what we saved. Also, we are thankful for all the outside assistance to the community, especially the Army, which has set up the water filtering plant and furnished us with water, and the Red Cross which always does so much (and here, you wonder why solicitors during drives are talked "mean" to, and refused by many to even contribute $1, when a drive for Red Cross is on. How could we forget so quickly all the $157,000 or more spent in the county after 1957?)

The people who were not in the flood have been so good to help others, and we deeply appreciate that. The two churches, Baptist and Church of Christ, have worked so hard to distribute food and clothing sent in by individuals.

Some of the local ladies on higher ground have kept their washing machines going constantly, from the water of their private wells. Others have taken people in, kept and fed them, or sent food to them.

One man, who is not a member of the Methodist Church, after helping all he could to move, took his four grown children, who are members, and took up the pews, removed the soggy carpet, etc. till others were free to help clean.

We can't say all our thanks in one letter, but we, first of all, thank God and we pray that others will turn to Christ, as Savior and Lord. We appreciated worshipping at the Calvary Baptist Church, Easter Sunday, and at Vogel-Day Methodist Church, yesterday, and the reminders given by Rev. Cohen Campbell of our hope in the Risen Savior and those given by Rev. Floyd Tackett that God is with us and that we must consider Him first, and should not question Him but trust Him all the way. One thought of Bro. Tackett's was for us to examine our attitudes and keep them in touch with God.

Along with our editor's fine editorial, with which we heartily agree, the thought has recurred to us about a dream and drive, started by Dr. O. W. Thompson, of Pikeville, and urged and helped by others, many years ago, for the canalisation of the Big Sandy. Many trips were made to Washington by him and others but not enough Senators and Representatives saw the need. Would not our federal government spend less money by cleaning out the river than helping to clean up after the floods? We call on our Representatives and Senators to re-consider, or at least study, the feasibility of canalisation.

Is it not true that our river has been filled a lot from road-building, as well as dumping by persons? The water has to go some place, when the river bed is filled with silt, garbage, and growing trees.

Yes, we do appreciate the dams which have helped us a lot.

Most of all, we need to put our trust in God and accept Christ's plan of salvation. We need to stop our craze for earthly things and "Lay up treasures in Heaven." As our own pastor, Bro. Charles Rowe, has so often said from the pulpit, "It is only what we do with Christ and do for God, on earth, that will really count in heaven."

So, with thanks to God; to helpful people, who have come from other states to help; those who have sent food and clothing, have prayed and encouraged; to the Red Cross and churches; to our government and other agencies or outside churches and organizations, and with gratitude to our kind local neighbors, we shall have our morning devotions and I'll don my boots, tie on my straw bonnet and try to get my body to work enough to get to our Methodist Church to tackle a mite of the mud and debris that has not been touched in the church basement.

(Mrs.) ANGELINE GEORGE

Recognition of Service

Will you allow us to use your good paper to express our sincere thanks to the many organizations, and individuals who contributed so freely of their time, money and other services during the recent flood. In times of distress such as we experienced, it is a wonderful feeling that even strangers care and are willing to share their worldly goods in times of disaster.

Through near perfect team work of many people, Prestonsburg was partially spared complete flooding. Suffering was held to a minimum. No one went hungry and all had a place to sleep.

I am sure that we will miss many people who contributed and we are sorry. The ones that we know did assist are: State Highway Dept., 68 trucks and 204 workers, Red Cross, National Guard, Police and Fire Depts., City Utilities employees, Ky. Power Co., South Central Bell, David May, Winston Ford Jr., B & T Co., B & M Co., C. J. McNally, Bill H. Howard, Seldon Horn, Thomas Blackburn, Floyd County Rescue Squad, and the Prestonsburg Churches, Floyd Co., Board of Education for housing flood victims; our good neighbors from Matton, Ill., with their 17 trucks of food and clothing; the good people of Ypsilanti, Michigan with their seven truckloads; and Vernon Garrett, Delmar Kendrick and Frank Goble, all former Floyd countyans who organized this drive. Also, to the many volunteers who filled sand bags and helped people to move furniture. If we have forgotten anyone, we are sorry.

HAROLD W. COOLEY
Mayor, City of Prestonsburg

REACT Says, "Thanks"

The Right Beaver REACT Team 3520 would like to thank everyone for their help in the flood emergency. We are really thankful to all the people who worked so hard. We would like to express our thanks to the Rescue Squads, Radio Stations, C. B. Club members and all the good-hearted people who helped.

The stores in the area really helped. We especially want to thank the Lonesome Pine C.B. Club for the trucks of food and clothing that were donated from the C.B. Clubs in Louisville. To the following clubs in Louisville our heartfelt thanks: Pleasure Valley C.B. Club, Big Boys C.B. Club, Eagles C.B. Club, the Murphy Motor Freight Company for the tractor-trailer truck that was used; to the drivers, Jerry Ashley, Bill Adkins and Eddie Holbrook; to the men and women who worked so hard to help load and drive 10 pickup trucks into the flooded area.

As a member of the Right Beaver REACT team I can't get over the way people really came across and helped when needed. As co-captain of the Right Beaver REACT Team I want to say I am really proud of everyone. Our REACT Team that worked so hard without rest for so many hours. May God bless every one who helped in any way.

Tribute to Emma May

Few women will leave the imprint on their home town and county as did Emma May. Persons who only knew of her were saddened to hear of her unexpected passing, for many had heard about her continuous work through the years. She was versatile, competent, willing, enthusiastic, helpful, dedicated, had a sense of humor and possessed vision, which is always essential to achievement. A former teacher, an instructor in Latin, highly educated, with a brilliant intellect of her own, Emma May surpassed most of us. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him much will be required. Luke 12:48. Mrs. May fulfilled this passage. It helped account for her deep concern over the welfare of others, the progress of Eastern Kentucky.

Though born and married into two of the most illustrious families of this section, she was as interested in one individual as another, was at home in any societal stratum. This trait endeared her to all acquaintances.

Emma was not only an outstanding leader in various organizations, but she had the unique knack of being as good in the role of follower as director, the hallmark of every really great commander. Whether in command or in obedience to same, she never lost sight of those with whom she labored, often bestowing honors or recognition personally deserved on teammates. She never sought the limelight. Instead, the spotlight sought her. One hesitates to say she lost her life recently because some of us who knew her think she was gradually giving it away to others after reaching adulthood. What higher tribute could be asked? She gave generously of time, funds and self in capital letters, making frequent trips at her own expense on behalf of one project or another, and was remarkably successful in attaining desired goals.

Had Emma May done nothing except spearhead the county library here we should rise and call her blessed. May the Lord give Floyd county more like her.

Playground Equipment Lost

The Allen P.T.A. really works hard for things they feel that the children, school or teachers need. Not that many parents help, but we try to get the job done.

The children had been without playground equipment for a couple of years, when finally we were able to purchase new swing seats and chains for the play area. In order to make sure the swings would be there the next morning, each evening they were taken down and put inside. When the flood came, the swings were inside the basement. When the school cleaning began, the swing seats and chains were picked up and placed in a milk crate in order to be carried outside and later cleaned so the children could play and enjoy them again.

Now it seems that anybody with commonsense would have known how valuable they were. But last Sunday, April 17, when the maintenance men cleaned up the basement, the swings vanished.

If these swings were not thrown away, would someone please return them to the school? I'm sure the children would appreciate them.

Gardner, 'Common Cause'

Regarding John Gardner and "Common Cause":

This is an organization whose leadership is controlled by those on the "left side." It opposed the Vietnam War. It works for "reforms" that aid liberal politicians. And Philip Abbott Luce, who should know, states that C. C. was "a key in the formation of a new leftist foreign policy lobbying group last year."

Mother

By WILMAY

Some think she is just a housewife, but hers is the most difficult job of all. It is never finished. She is a jack-of-all trades, excels in a dozen disciplines, needs no signed diploma or degree, for her professions are engraved on her heart and reflected in the lives she fashions. Her career is the grandest on earth. The other whose life manifests and teaches love of God and fellowman, self-denial, compassion, understanding, forgiveness, truth and honesty, who warns her children of the evils of covetousness, jealousy, holding grudges, anger, pride, etc., is worth more to any nation than any celebrity. She is like a magnet—a magic one—to whom others go, and never a soul is turned away. She trebles every joy and cuts each sorrow in half. Mother is like music, poetry, nature, and fresh flowers on the table, all rolled into one!

It is mother who makes a home out of a house, for home is where she is, whether a mansion or a cottage. She brings laughter, plans picnics and outings for the family, plays games with the kids, guides little footsteps daily, with a listening ear for her brood. It's Mom who reads them Bible stories and hears their bedtime prayers, goes with them to Sunday School more often than Dad does, answers their questions, settles disputes and keeps secrets, waits up at night until the last one comes home. Mother knows it is easier to build boys than it is to repair men. She gives so many things money cannot buy, things some millionaires may never have, like faith, trust, hope.

Mother is the one who says, "Run along, honey, or you'll be late. I'll do that job for you." If anyone goes without new clothes, a trip, or needed appliance, usually it is Mother. She can juggle the budget, stretch the dollars, concoct a swell new dish from leftovers, design an evening gown for Sister from old lace curtains if funds are low, bandage the baby's sore thumb, mend the wounded heart of four-year old Teddy, mentally outline her talk for the P.T.A.—all in less time than is needed to tell it. She can do two or three things at once, converse with a friend on the phone, tell Charlie where to find his pants to wear to school, remind Mary to brush her teeth before she leaves, answer Dad's query—simultaneously—and remember every word each of them said!

Her children may feel like prisoners growing up, fastened in by "Do's" and "Don'ts." During their adolescence she may seem out of date, but in later years when they return and note the blighted lives of some whose mothers had no restrictions, they are glad their Mom did! In the process of rearing their own offspring they glimpse the wisdom Mom had when besieged by "Why, how, what, when, where, whose, which?" They realize how largely she molded their minds and ideals.

Dickens attributed his passion for reading to his mother. Lincoln gave his mother credit for all he became. Hannah Wesley, mother of two renowned sons, devoted one hour weekly to spiritual instruction for each one of her fourteen living children. Childless Hannah dedicated Samuel to God before he was conceived, as she prayed for a son. It was through the teachings of his nurse-maid mother that Moses, adopted son of the Egyptian princess, found strength to lead his people out of bondage instead of becoming heir to the throne. Eunice and Lois, mother and grandmother of young Timothy, shaped the life of Paul's spiritual son and warrior of the cross.

Most mothers are down to earth, preferring simple things, family, friends, books, and flowers. The symphony of their matchless lives will never be heralded. The proponents of ERA are doing everything they can to downgrade motherhood and homemaking, to make Mother feel neglected, cheated, worthless, unfulfilled. But her contribution to life so far outshines theirs that comparison is impossible. It's good to know that Mamie Eisenhower, Prince Charles, Ronald Reagan, Dr. Jerry Falwell and other notables feel as we do about such.

Sometimes social workers say, "Old Mrs. So-and-So is in the rest home, and her children seldom visit her," or "They're counting the days until she's gone, so they can get what she leaves." For many, twilight years are closing in. Do you brighten them or increase her load, multiply her pleasures or burden her with problems? Who sees to her food stamps, buys her groceries, hoes her garden, mows her lawn, prunes her fruit trees or shrubs, drives her to the doctor or church? Do all the children show their love for her by sharing in duties she should no longer perform, or do the majority push them off on one or two affectionate, faithful ones?

The young man saw the faltering footsteps of the aged woman as she stood nervously waiting to see the light turn green. He left his buddies, dashed to the side of the stranger, gallantly escorted her safely across. "Was that your mother, or your grandma?" companions asked.

"No, fellows, but chances are she's somebody's mother," he replied. "She could be yours!"

Correction: Last week's line about pornographic literature should have read: "No one has to sell SUCH." By error, it read, "No one has to sell much."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Inflation has hit the wooden nickel. It now costs 6½ cents.

William R. Moore, executive vice president of Pickle Packers International, gave the distressing news to members at their annual convention in Jacksonville recently. Over the past 20 years, Moore said he has distributed thousands of wooden nickels, used to call attention to pickles.

Receives Degree

Darla Miller Hicks was graduated from Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, March 17. Mrs. Hicks, formerly of this county, lives in Morral, Ohio with her husband Randolph and two children, Jessica and Rondel.

Mrs. Hicks is the daughter of Ella Miller Ousley and the late Joe Miller, of Manton. She received the bachelor of science degree in education and will be teaching in elementary school this fall.

Task Force To Hold Hearing at Library

One of five hearings for noncertified school personnel scheduled this month by a subcommittee of the Governor's Task Force on Education, will be held May 19 at the Floyd County Library here.

The hearings will be from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at each location. Noncertified personnel includes secretarial, service, maintenance, teacher's aides, cooks and bus drivers.

Among areas of concern for the subcommittee are fringe benefits, sick, emergency and personal leave, pay scales, tenure, health requirements, qualifications for employment, and communications between noncertified and certified personnel and administrative personnel.

Coal Firm Engineer Discusses Pollution

"Every individual the world over has a valuable stake in the conservation of natural resources. That stake is his health, well-being, even his life," Don Willis, environmental engineer for National Mines Corporation, said as the speaker at a recent meeting of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club. "Ninety-five percent of all life on earth is found in a layer around the earth that is only two miles thick. Within this envelope circulates air and water that is used over and over again by earth's living things," he explained. He continued by emphasizing that in spite of the natural ability of land, air and water to cleanse themselves, man is throwing more pollutants into these natural resources than can be cleaned up naturally, so dangerous buildup of pollution is occurring.

Mr. Willis pointed out that this problem is worldwide, mentioning the pollution of the Rhine River and the River Jordan, as well as the seas and the oceans, with estimated millions of plastic bottles adrift in the North Pacific.

"The federal government is now trying with a series of acts to clean up in 13 years what has been accumulating for hundreds of years, which is virtually impossible. So, the war continues between the environmentalists and the polluters, with the citizens and regulatory agencies in the middle, and the courts as the battleground," the speaker added.

By the use of slides Mr. Willis emphasized the alarming statistics on pollution and also indicated ways in which individuals can help to do their part to make the earth a less polluted place in which to live.

Prior to the program Mrs. Otto Martin read the Club Collect, followed by devotions by Mrs. J. T. Spillman.

Letters were read, thanking the club for the scholarships recently contributed to Alice Lloyd College and Prestonsburg Community College. A report was given on funds collected for the Heart Fund. A discussion was held concerning the May 9 dinner honoring the daughter clubs to be held at the Woodland Place Restaurant, Paintsville. A nominating committee was appointed, as follows: Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. Rex Martin, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, and Mrs. Otto Martin.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rex Martin, at whose home the meeting was held, to Mrs. Margaret Sherman, guest from Beckley, W. Va., Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, Mrs. Don Hughes, Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. James A. Duff, Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. E. E. DeCoursey, Mrs. James E. Martin, and Mrs. Otto Martin, and the speaker, Mr. Willis.

Georgia Tech Signs W'wright Net Star

Georgia Tech last week signed Kentucky all-state high school star Jeff Riley, of Wheelwright, to a basketball grant-in-aid.

The 6-foot-6, 195-pound Riley also was named to The Associated Press all-state team.

Riley was Tech's second signee. Sam Drummer, the national junior college player of the year, who played at DeKalb South, (Ga.) signed earlier last month.

Riley was sought by a number of other colleges and universities, including the University of Kentucky.

- Let's work for better roads for our school buses and school trucks.

- If elected I will work this job like a Magistrate should. There will not be a selected few gaining the favors—we are all created equal and should be treated the same.

The Attorney General Says . . .

Mr. Frank M. Leslie
Box 186
Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653

Dear Mr. Leslie:

You ask what duties in the sheriff's office can an outgoing sheriff perform for his immediate successor?

The answer is simply "none". Section 99 of the Kentucky Constitution prohibits a sheriff from being reelected or acting as a deputy for the succeeding term. Since a sheriff's assistants are really deputies, this means that an outgoing sheriff can hold no position on the immediately succeeding sheriff's staff.

Sincerely,

MAGISTRATE
District 3

The election is drawing near and I would like to ask the voters of District 3, to give me the chance to serve as your next Magistrate.

I am the son of Mrs. Anna Hall Stumbo and the late Lee Stumbo of McDowell. I have lived in District 3 all my life.

I am married to Gertrude Turner Stumbo and the parents of nine children. We live on Sizemore Branch at Minnie.

I am a World War II Veteran and a disabled miner. I have been active in many elections in the past. However, this is the first time that I have asked the people to give me a chance to fill a public office.

If elected, my main aim will be to serve the people. I will be a full-time Magistrate and will devote my time helping to make District 3 a better place for all.

I feel that the tax payers of Floyd County should get the best possible services for every tax dollar spent. I pledge to the people of District 3 that I will do everything in my power to improve our roads. I would like to see roads that people could travel safely to and from their homes.

If you want a Magistrate who will be available for ALL THE PEOPLE OF DISTRICT 3, then give your vote and support to Walter L. Stumbo, No. 10 on the ballot in the May Primary.

Your vote will be appreciated.

The 'Unsinkable' People

By BETTY ARCHER DAVIS

Floods bring out the best in people, and the people of Appalachia are at their best when we look around us to see our neighbors suffering.

The '77 flood will be one of life's memories to all of us, but for me there will be some special ones. The first urge we all have is to do something—and David had a building full of clothes. The Red Cross was snowed under meeting housing and food needs, and so they told us, "Go do it."

Joe Weddington had an empty building, the City Police blocked off parking space; we loaded the David Child Care vans with clothes and the Floyd County Emergency Clothing Center was born.

We were immediately swamped with people needing clothes—and people donating clothes. Nearly every business in downtown Prestonsburg did something to help us. Abby's put their phone number on the air for us and for several days she and her husband coped with most problems we had.

Other businesses did various things; and it was beautiful, the way racks to hang things on just turned up—or a broom showed up—or a neighbor washed our windows as he washed his. We had trucks unloading in the back and front, and all sorts of confusion, but the Mattoon, Ill. convoy stopped and blocked traffic. Tables came from St. Theodore's and the Rescue Squad, and the Sisters of Divine Providence brought us a large coffee pot. The Red Cross and St. Vincent's Mission got the power turned on. Presbyterian Meals on Wheels fed us each day. The Methodist van and minister picked up clothing daily for people who couldn't deliver them—and members of the various churches showed up to help sort or straighten.

This was a beautiful example of a wonderful bunch of Christians doing their best—never mind what denomination it was, they were all doing God's work together!

We were literally flooded with clothes and much of it came from the people here (twelve pages of them are listed, not to mention many who wouldn't leave their names). Senior citizens and high school students came to help sort clothing. Some of our volunteers were flood victims who saw the spot we were in and pitched in to help. WDOC—worn out after days and nights on the air, apologizing because they had got an announcement mixed up; the faithful few who never missed a day and tried to cope with whatever came up. One Red Cross official assured one that disasters were always disorganized. Our part certainly was! The problem was that our supply and our demand were so ever-present that we gave away tons of clothes—our list has 900 families and at times our record-keeping was sketchy. We sent clothing to Martin, Mud Creek, Drift, a tractor-trailer-load went to Grundy, Va. Another tractor-trailer-load, or more, was distributed in the county by truck before we got it. Many pick-up loads went to various places. Clothing is still coming in, but a large part of what we gave out came from here—from neighbors who wanted to help. The heart of Appalachia was coming out—and they swamped us with their goodness. This wasn't rummage stuff, this was good clothing, often beautiful things, some with price tags still on. Our people have been down so much, they need to help and they did, in any way they could.

Most of the flood victims were holding their heads up, and I'll always remember a man going through a baby-car bed of baby clothes, dividing them with a lady who had a baby, and telling us he got wiped out in 1957, 1963, was in the tornado in Frankfort and got wiped out again in 1977. But he was smiling.

That is the heart of Appalachia, and to see it you will know why has Appalachia the world's greatest people.

There are so many who helped, it would be impossible to mention them, but I must mention a special few: John and Charlotte, Otela, Blanche, Mary S., Tommy Slone, Jr., Wanda, Juanita, Irene, Lois, Gracie, Leatha, Jerry, Brother Tim, and his staff, the city policemen, the Rescue Squad, the church people, all the businesses, Brother Ed Nadalsky from Dayton who brought a tractor-trailer-load, the city of Mattoon, Ill. for their 17 pickups, the gentleman who said he was from Ypsilanti till we found the Floyd County Times in one of his boxes, the ordinary people who broke our backs by pulling up every few minutes with loads of stuff—Knott County, Magoffin County and Floyd County.

Dean of Admissions At Pikeville College Magoffin County Native

Twenty-nine-year-old Dan Adams, of Pikeville, has been named dean of admissions at Pikeville College by President Jackson O. Hall. Adams' appointment was effective March 1. Prior to that time, he served as assistant director of admissions and assistant basketball coach.

A native of Salyersville, Adams graduated from Pikeville College in 1971 with a bachelor of science degree in history, health and physical education. He is currently working toward a master's degree from Morehead State University.

A graduate of Salyersville High School, Adams taught for one year in the Magoffin County school system before joining the staff of Pikeville College in 1972. He and his wife, the former Rebecca Sanders, of Jenkins, reside on 4th Street in Pikeville with their seven-year-old son, Carl Neil, and their five-year-old daughter, Lori Jane.

My overwhelming memories of the 1977 flood will be of people—their generosity, their support, their courage, their love for their fellow humans. This flood won't beat us. If the people of our mountains ever realize what they are capable of, they will be unsinkable! It takes more than a flood to out do them—and I have to be proud as never before that I'm a mountain gal, a hillbilly, if you will, a woman of Appalachia. And I'm proud to be a part of a heritage and a culture that produces people like this. So for me, any way, the 1977 flood will bring memories of pride in my land and my people. And to everyone who helped, I have to say, Thank you, and God bless you!"

Disaster Victims Urged To Return SBA Applications

The U.S. Small Business Administration this week urged Eastern Kentucky disaster victims to return their completed disaster loan applications to Agency representatives as soon as possible.

According to R. B. Blankenship, director, Louisville district office, SBA, the agency has conducted nearly 7,000 interviews with persons who suffered loss as a result of flooding.

"We have received 688 individual and business applications totaling $12.3 million that are now in processing," Blankenship said.

The district director said six SBA disaster loan offices have been established. Among these are offices at Prestonsburg Community College, the old Pikeville High School, and at the law offices of Herbie Deskins, Jr.

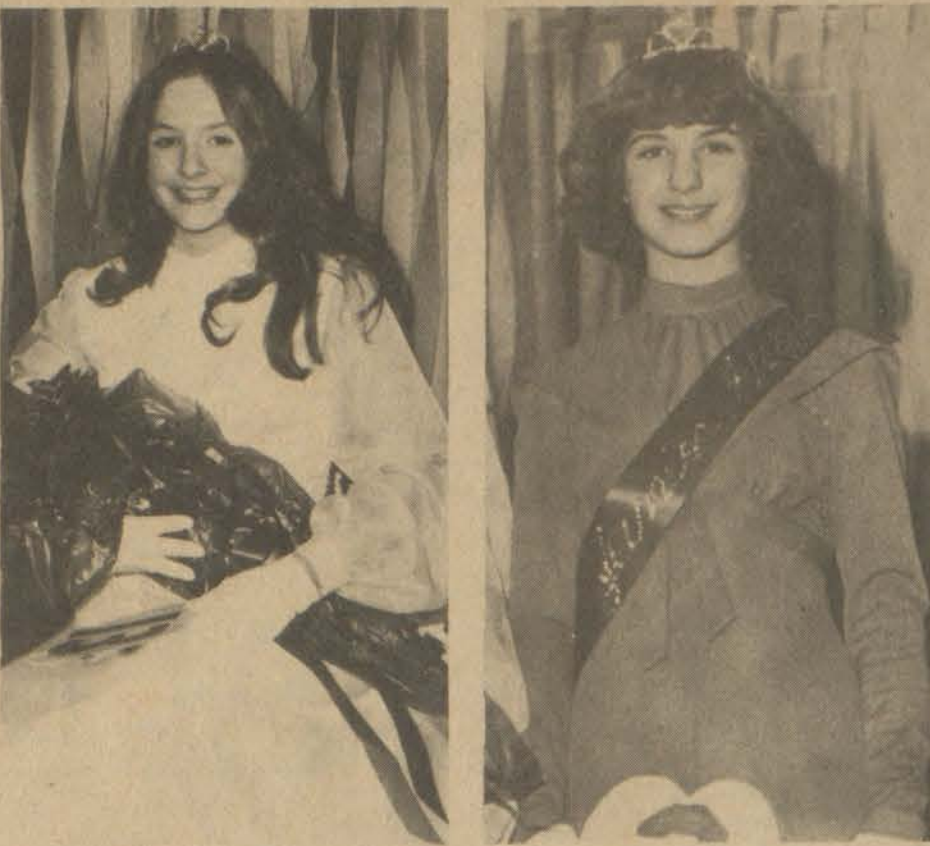

All offices are open, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week.

In addition, offices will be open Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Martin county courthouse in Inez, and at Hazard High School's new gym.

Any person whose property was damaged by the recent severe storms and flooding is eligible to apply for an SBA disaster loan.

"Basically, we ask three questions: Did you own it? Was it damaged or destroyed in the flood? and, Can you repay the loan?" Blankenship said.

4,000 Apply for HUD Help; 600 Homes OK'd for Repair

Jack Ingram, director of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Disaster Field Office in London, Ky., reviewed last week-end HUD's activities in Southeastern Kentucky.

As of April 30, HUD had received more than 4,008 applications for temporary housing assistance. These applications are assigned to damage assessment inspectors whose job is to determine eligibility of the application and if eligible, what type of HUD program is needed.

To date, nearly 600 homes have been approved for the Minimal Repair program (MRP). Repair contracts for more than 200 homes which can be made livable and safe with a few basic repairs have been awarded.

Regarding mobile homes, Ingram stressed that "mobile homes are used as temporary housing as a last resort. Not everyone who applies to HUD for help will live in a mobile home. Where possible, existing resources and MRP are used to provide temporary housing assistance."

Contracts have been signed with private firms for towing, setting up and installing utilities. HUD is moving mobile homes, but there have been some delays caused by rain, mountainous terrain, acquiring vacant pads in commercial parks and acquiring proper authorization for debris removal.

It was anticipated that by last Sunday night more than 500 mobile homes will have been delivered to the two staging areas near Corbin and Pikeville. Over two hundred of these have been dispatched to sites which are being prepared and will soon be ready for occupancy. Some have already been occupied.

Contracts for the construction of two group sites with a total capacity of 135 units were awarded Friday. HUD is working closely with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, locating, leasing and planning additional group sites.

The furniture and living kit program is getting under way. Families who are ready to be placed will be notified of when to pick up their living kits (kitchen items and linen service), at their local HUD Disaster Field Office.

(The local Disaster Field Office for Floyd county and some adjacent areas is located in the Floyd County Health Department, Prestonsburg.)

Families who are housed first will be notified first when to place their orders. The furniture kits are loaned to the families who are being assisted by HUD's existing resource or Minimal Repair Program.

If any family has any question about the HUD temporary housing program they should contact their local HUD office. Families who need temporary housing assistance should apply at their local HUD office before June 5. However, if a family has already made application to HUD in one of the centers or offices, there is no need to reapply. "HUD people are doing all they can, working fifteen hours a day, seven days a week in order to rehouse families as quickly as possible," Ingram said.

In addition to the office here, Disaster Field Offices are located at Pikeville College, Belfry, Inez and Hazard.

Concert To Climax Annual 3-Day Clinic

The Eastern Highlands Music Educators' Association will present next Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Paintsville High School gym a concert climaxing the annual three-day clinic.

Several hundred young musicians will be performing in five different ensembles. Guest clinicians include Vasile Venetozzi, of Morehead State University, for the senior high school chorus, and Elizabeth Sutherland, of Prestonsburg, junior high school chorus. Both senior and junior high school bands will perform, and Gus Kalos, head of the music department of Prestonsburg Community College, will conduct the newly organized jazz ensemble.

Proceeds will go into the Jesse Elliott Scholarship Fund. Each year, a music student from member schools of the Eastern Highlands Music Educators' Association is selected by audition to receive this scholarship to be used at the college of the student's choice.

To the Voters of Floyd County: I am the son of the late Claude Branham and the stepson of the late Charlie and Mornor Lafferty. I am married to Carrie A. Blevins, of Prestonsburg, who has been a licensed practical nurse for 10 years.

The Coroner's job is to deliver a just and honest investigation of any suspicious fatality or accidental death. A vote for me will insure FULL TIME (24 hours a day), honest and just service in the office of Coroner.

I would also like to bring to the voter's attention that I am not associated with any funeral home in Floyd county. Your vote and support will be most appreciated. Thank you. 5-4-2f-pd.

Nominate and Elect HOWARD KEATHLEY FLOYD COUNTY JUDGE

A Man For All the People...Last (No. 4) On the Democratic Ballot

We are, now, living in the year 1977. There is no reason why our school children should have to walk out of a hollow to reach a school bus. There is no reason why we should have to face a situation where an ambulance is stopped because of road conditions and/or a sick person has to be carried a mile to the emergency vehicle!

I am a peace-loving man, but, I realize, as do other peace-loving Floyd countians, that these living conditions are simply intolerable! We cannot expect our county to prosper and have, here, at home, job opportunities for our growing children if we allow these conditions to continue!

The value of an administration should be proven within the first year. May 24, given another chance, the same people will bring the same results! These "Same Results" lead to the bad living conditions we are now having to face!

Floyd County needs someone with new ideas in order to have new and better results! I have these new ideas! I am positive they will work for all the people of Floyd County! Give me the chance, May 24, to put these ideas to work!

VOTE FOR HOWARD KEATHLEY FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Mud and Destruction Are Signs of Flood

First, you hear it. No matter where you twirl the dial on your car radio, it's the same. Broadcasters hoarsely interrupting other, regularly-scheduled programs to repeat, over and over again, the locations of food distribution points and disaster relief centers . . . warning sightseers to stay away.

And then, almost without warning, you're there. Trash and barely-recognizable articles of clothing festoon the tops of forty-foot trees. A grey, dusty haze blankets the streets ahead. The mud and the dust is everywhere. And everyone seems to be washing, cleaning, sorting and throwing something away.

Although more than a week has passed since the Cumberland and forks of the Big Sandy River boiled over their banks to inundate entire towns in their path, it's easy to imagine what those first terrible hours must have been like.

The signposts are still there. Just north of Pikeville, Vaughn Syck watches wearily as a crew of seven state highway workers clear debris from around his parents' house. If you look closely enough, some of that debris still is recognizable as chairs, kitchen appliances, knick-knacks and clothing.

Vaughn's son was pleading with his father to salvage a child's pedal car half-buried in the mud.

And Vaughn's house? With a wave of one sweat-stained hand, he points at a row of concrete blocks sticking through the mud. "That's where my own house trailer was. They haven't found it, yet," he adds.

Eugene Carver, a truck driver with the state highwaymen helping Syck, has never seen anything like it.

He, along with a large number of other highway crewmen brought into the area from Carter County to assist in the cleanup operation, has "been helping folks every day, now, from daylight to dark for almost a week." They have no idea, yet, when the job will be finished, and they can return home.

Gail Mullins, state highway engineer at Pikeville, said that the only reason his men weren't working around the clock was because the town hasn't been able to turn its street lights back on yet.

"But, we have been working 10-11 hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week, trying to get things cleaned up," he said.

You hesitate to ask Mullins how he fared in the flood. But, as you watch him and his men helping others, you wonder. Someone mentioned that Mullins and some 20-25 of his personnel were among those washed out by the flood.

At Pineville, one of the areas worst hit by the rampaging flood waters, the tell-tale, high water mark is still plainly evident, 15 feet above street level in the downtown area.

The once-green courthouse lawn is a sea of river mud, and a trailer, without its tractor, kneels crookedly in a three-cornered stance at the foot of the courthouse steps.

A highway crew from Somerset mans a street cleaner circling the downtown streets, futilely trying to keep the choking dust at a minimum.

And for truck driver Stan Rutledge, loader operator Phil Fisher and other members of a highway crew brought in from neighboring Knox county, it's been seven long days of moving mud and trash with no end in sight.

Mack Arthur Blevins lives at Dizney and is a member of both the Harlan County maintenance crew and the local National Guard unit. He has been on the Harnessing energy used to be simple.

Years ago, most energy needs were met by what you had in your right arm. Or by something you kept in a stall, in your barn.

Today, meeting energy needs is a gigantic undertaking. And a complex problem. Because the need is still growing.

Even conservative estimates tell us the demand for electricity alone will double in the next 15 years.

Just keeping up with this increase is going to be tough. It's going to take new facilities. But major facilities take from five to ten years to build.

And a lot of money. Building a power plant today, for instance, costs five times what it did 15 years ago. And it was costly even then. Besides that, everyone knows how the price of fuel used to generate electricity has skyrocketed since 1973.

But, while we continue to make every effort to hold down our costs in meeting your future energy needs, there are some things you can do to help conserve that energy and keep your costs in line at the same time.

By using your electricity wisely. Insulating your home properly. Checking into more energy efficient appliances and systems, like the heat pump.

And by understanding that the generation of electricity is a costlier and more complicated process than it used to be.

When you get right down to it, the best way we know to harness the energy we all need for the future is by working together today.

The Prestonsburg boys' track team continued its winning streak last week as they defeated Allen Central High School, 89-38, and then rolled over Pikeville High School, 107-20. The running Cats are now 5-0 on the year. Against Allen Central it was junior Paul Ackerman leading the way as he won the long jump with a leap of 18 ft., 5 inches; the triple jump, the 440-yd. dash in 57.0.

James Brown, outstanding sophomore distance runner, continues his undefeated running as he won the mile and two-mile runs, both in school record time. In the mile Brown blazed to a new record of 4:39, and then, less than a hour later, won the two-mile in another fast time at 10:08. Other outstanding efforts for the team came from Jim Campbell as he won the 120-yd. high hurdles and the 180-yd. low hurdles. Kerry Sloan, a new runner for PHS, won the discus with a toss of 111 feet, finished second in the shot put with a toss of 39 feet and won the 220-yd. dash in 24.2. Gary Mosier continued his fine running as he won the 100-yd. dash, finished second in the 220-yd. dash and was a member of the winning 880-yd. relay team of Scott Freels, Jamie Latta and Wayne Tibbs.

Against Pikeville it was Kerry Sloan who led as he won the discus with a toss of 118 feet, 6 inches, finished second in the 100-yd. dash, first in the 220-yd. dash with a fast time of 23.2. He also was a member of the winning 880-yd. relay, was second in the long jump, and was a member of the winning mile relay team with Bill Knarr, Jim Derosssett and Paul Foley. Other highlights were Tony VanDine's win in the high jump, and James Brown's win in the mile as he again lowered the school record, this time down to 4:36 as he stamped himself as a threat to win the regional meet. Brown, a sophomore, also won the 880-yd. run. He is undefeated this year, winning all 10 of his races.

The PHS girls were also doing some running as they defeated Allen Central, 79-11, and Pikeville High School, 82½ to 36½, as the Lady Cats ran their overall record to 4-0. Against Allen Central it was Bridget Clay winning the long jump and the high jump and Brenda Wright winning both the 60-yd. and 110-yd. hurdles. Both Clay and Wright are undefeated this year. Other winners for PHS were Barbara Hackworth in the shot put and discus throw; Sherry Allen in the 100-yd. dash, and Paula Roberts in the 440-yd. dash. In the Pikeville meet, again it was total domination by the Lady Cats as they won all but two events. Bridget Clay continued her undefeated high jumping and long jumping as she won both events, while her teammate, Brenda Wright, also remained undefeated in the hurdles. Other winners for Prestonsburg included the 880-relay team, the medley relay team of Clay, Traei Wright, Sabrina Little and Kim Hilton, the 440 relay team, Kim Hilton in the mile run and Barbara Hatfield in the shot put.

Leo Music
Magistrate District One

I, Oliver Prater, will support Leo Music for Magistrate. Because he is the only man running qualified for the job. I have worked road construction work with him and we have worked together in the mud, snow and the cold. He is the man that District One needs on country roads. He can operate and repair any equipment that the county has. We need someone that lives in the country and understands the needs of the country roads and the needs of the people in the country. He will devote full time to being Magistrate of District One.

For President of District 30 Vote For
ROBERT CARTER

On May 10, 1977 the Membership of District 30 United Mine Workers of America will be electing a District President who will serve you for the next four years. I would like to be the President that will represent you for this period of time and if elected I Pledge to you the following:

FIRST: In the District Convention in September, 1977 I will recommend for the approval of the membership, that in order to run for a District Office that no more than THREE Nominations shall be required in order to run for a District Office. This will give many more of our members a chance to run for these offices.

SECOND: With the approval of your District Executive Board, I will recommend that the membership be informed as to what they are doing in regards to the interest of the membership of the District; for instance, I will try and issue a monthly report.

THIRD: I will do everything in my power to see that ALL District Representatives are Elected by the membership of the District and not appointed as they are now.

FOURTH: I will do everything that I possibly can to see that the District Office is expanded, so that when we have a District Meeting we will not have to rent a place to meet in and this will also give the Local Unions who have no Union Hall a place to hold their Union Meetings in.

FIFTH: I will do everything in my power to see that the Membership of this District elect at least TWO more Field Representatives to handle the grievances of the membership of this District, and if Finances permit, I will so recommend this to the membership. There are several changes that need to be made in our District Constitution and I will recommend them to the membership at our Convention in September. I pledge to all the Local Officers and membership that I will be available at all times to the extent practicable and if I am not in the Office your message will be taken and you will be given an answer or visit as soon as possible by myself, if you want me. I will meet with any Coal Company along with any Local Union Officers if they think that I can help them settle their differences or help relationships with the Company.

During the Nominations there were LIES, HALF TRUTHS and INUENDOES told and circulated in regards to myself. I did not stoop this low and do not intend to in regards to my opponent. If you want an energetic and conscientious President to lead and serve you in the next four years then I ask you to ELECT me, ROBERT CARTER, as your District President. The decision will be yours on May 10, 1977.

IF ANY MEMBER SEES ANY IRREGULARITIES IN THE ELECTION PLEASE FEEL FREE TO CALL ME, COLLECT, AT 606-832-2216, or if any member has any questions in regards to the position that I might have on any issue, feel free to call for a direct answer from me and not take just a rumor from someone else.

I am well qualified for this job. I have served as Mine Health and Safety Committee and Financial Secretary of Local Union 5741 since 1952. I have served on the Policy Committee as an Elected Delegate from District 30. I have attended every International Convention since 1952, except one, also served as your Lobbyist in Frankfort.

FOR SHERIFF

I am a candidate for Sheriff of Floyd County now and will be until the election is over. Some people are evidently anxious for me to come off because they keep starting the rumor. If you hear this rumor don't pay any attention to it because I have no intention of quitting.

I will state again that I want to be your sheriff. If elected I will:

1. Have competent deputies in full uniform that will treat each and every person fairly and equally.
2. I will have a deputy in each magisteral district.
3. I will do my utmost to stop bootlegging, selling and use of illegal drugs and drunk driving.

If you will check the records you will see that I am the only candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket who has not been a law enforcement officer.

Vote for a man that has never had the chance to serve you. I promise if elected sheriff of Floyd County you will say after my term is up, "A job well done".

Your vote and support will be appreciated.

(Pd. by the candidate)

DEAR VOTERS OF DIST. 3:

We have had too much slack on the part of our Magistrates in keeping up our roads and building new ones. We need someone who will devote their entire time to this task. We need a Magistrate who will travel through the District, looking after our roads, and when some one needs help on their roads not put them off with some excuse, but come to their aid.

If you will vote for me as your Magistrate, I will do all in my power to do as I have told you. I will use the money that is allotted to me to build and repair your roads.

Dear voter, I have been in the church for 22 years and my word is my bond. The reason I am running for this office is to make our roads better for our cars to run over. I have been over these roads and see that they need repairs very badly. We need new roads built and our bridges looked after.

When you need help, come to me and I will do all in my power to see that you are taken care of. Your vote for me will be a step toward new and better roads.

LOOKING TO BE YOUR SERVANT,
GEORGE C. COCHRAN, SR.

Attention, Supt. of Public Schools

Thomas "Tommy" Boyd, candidate for the House of Representatives, asks James Graham, the State Supt. of Public Instruction, to back Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr. on the number of calamity days that he considers Floyd County must have in order to get out of school on time, and thinks he should make a quick decision on this matter.

Following are some of the reasons he should act quickly on this decision:

1. Some teachers in Floyd County need to work on their Master's Degree this year to step up on the pay scale.
2. Some teachers must have their Master's Degree or lose their jobs.
3. A great number of the students' homes were hit by the flood, and they are needed to help at home on repairs.
4. Seniors need this time to consider their future and to plan what direction they are going to take.
5. Students who already have summer jobs will lose this needed income around the home.
6. The Board of Education needs this time to study the damage done by the flood and to plan for next year.
7. Schools that were flooded do not have proper heat, books, audio-visual aids, regular lunch service and physical education equipment.
8. Many classrooms are not suitable for housing students.

If the Superintendent of Public Instruction is worried about the teachers in the County putting in the number of days that should be taught, I would like to inform him there isn't a teacher in Floyd County who hasn't put in countless hours of overtime and never was paid for those hours.

For STATE REPRESENTATIVE

The Fox Hunters of Floyd County know that candidate coach, Thomas (Tommy) Boyd's main concern is the problems of the working women, men, teachers and people living on fixed incomes. We know that Tommy, if elected, will introduce or vote for any bill that is brought up in the House of Representatives to improve these conditions.

Fox Hunting in Eastern Kentucky is one of our oldest sports and our ancestors have been climbing these hills to fox hunt for over a hundred years. The Fox Hunters are alarmed because the red fox is being trapped and killed at an alarming rate, and we're afraid he will be eliminated in Eastern Kentucky.

We know that Tommy has an interest in fox hunting because his uncles, John Boyd, Green Boyd, Bill Boyd and Emmitt Boyd, liked to hunt around the hills of Wayland, Estill, Punkin Center, Glo-Lackey, Garrett and Goose Creek in their spare time when they worked for the Glo Gloria Mine Company.

If elected, Tommy has said he will introduce or vote for any bill to have a closed season on the trapping and the killing of red foxes in Eastern Kentucky.

Also, he will not support or introduce any bill that will result in an increase in the cost of living for people living on fixed incomes.

Statement by Dr. Edward B. Leslie

I, Dr. Edward B. Leslie, ask the voters of Floyd county to support my cousin, Frank Mayo Leslie, for Sheriff of Floyd county at the May primary.

Dr. Edward B. Leslie

(Adv. pd. by Frank M. Leslie)

To All the People of Magisterial District 2

As you all know, the election is drawing near. It is in your hands to choose who will be your next Magistrate. I was your former Magistrate and worked very hard to help all you people.

We built several roads and bridges, and we got several roads graveled and blacktopped.

Now, with all the coal severance tax and revenue sharing tax coming into the county, I could do a lot more if you will elect me as your Magistrate. I will be in favor of removing the dumping fee from the landfill. Your tax money has already paid for this. The people can haul their garbage to the landfill instead of dumping it out alongside the roads. I have no other job and won't have any other job if elected. I will be available at all times so you can call upon me in time of need.

While I was Magistrate all members of the Fiscal Court got along good. We got along well with the District Engineer and Rural Highway Commissioner and the Maintenance foreman when we met with them to set up our county aid program.

I notice there hasn't been any force account roads built in the last three and a half years. I don't know why, it is a good program.

I believe this old saying is true—"United we stand, divided we fall." As long as the members of the Fiscal Court doesn't get along in the right way and work together, the people are the losers.

So you people elect me and I will do all I can that is good for you and your children. Let's try to make Floyd County a better place to live in.

May God bless you all is my wish.
Your friend and brother in the Lord,

ZEB OUSLEY for MAGISTRATE No. 4 on the ballot.

(Ad. pd. it. by the candidate)

LEO MUSIC for Magistrate Dist. No. 1 — Democratic Primary

Last week the Fiscal Court raised the salary of the Magistrates to $12,000 per year plus $200 per month expense pay. Now, to earn this kind of money you need a full-time Magistrate. Some of my opponents already have jobs that pay $15,000 or $16,000 per year that would put them to about $27,000 per year. They could buy them a new Lincoln every year on the taxpayer's money. If you, the voter and taxpayers, want to donate a new Lincoln every year to one of these people, that will be your decision. To earn this kind of money I think even more than ever, that a qualified man should have this office.

Four years ago I ran for Magistrate against a man who made all kinds of promises but fulfilled few, if any, of them. I am a man who lives on the country roads and knows the needs of the people.

Now I am running against seven or eight more candidates about the same as the one we now have. They all have jobs and don't have the time to be a Magistrate.

There's only one qualified man—and that's LEO MUSIC.

Here are the qualifications of some of my opponents:

- Hardware store clerk.
- Clothing store clerk.
- Gas company worker.
- Another gas company worker.

Do you think these men could put in a drain pipe?

I have worked about 20 years as a heavy equipment operator, mechanic on heavy equipment and road-building. I think that makes me the only one on the ticket that is qualified to be a Magistrate.

Vote for me, LEO MUSIC, the only qualified candidate and the only fulltime Magistrate on the ticket—and the only man qualified to put in a drain pipe.

A vote for me is a vote for you and your roads.

(5-4-It., adv. pd. by the candidate)

Elect Larry D. (Bug) Goble For Constable District No. 1

A man can do nothing without a chance to prove himself. The only way I'll have a chance is through your vote and support. Give me your support and I'll give you my services.

Pd. by candidate, It.

What Is a District Judge?

In Floyd County, the District Judge will do the work now being done by five City Police Judges, four Magistrates, County Judge, Judge Pro-Tem, Trial Commissioner and Juvenile Judge. Floyd County will still have a County Judge (now known as County Judge Executive) and Magistrates, but their duties will be limited to fiscal matters, making up the budget and supervising the spending of the county tax money.

The District Judge will preside over all civil cases where the amount involved is $1500, or less, all juvenile matters, including the violation of all state laws and city and county ordinances, except offenses punishable by penitentiary confinement or death.

In addition to the other duties, the District Judge will also preside over another new court, known as the Court of Small Claims (matters under $500).

It is estimated that 68 of every 100 persons having business before the courts will come first to the District Court.

The office of District Judge will require a person with not only a law degree, but also with considerable administrative ability. It will require a person with good health, good nerve and a willingness to work long hours. How the office is operated for the first time may set the pattern of justice in Floyd County for a long time to come.

Believing that I am the best man for the job, I respectfully urge you to vote for me in the coming May Primary. If I am elected, the fact that my residence is next door to the court house (and jail) will somewhat ease the problem of having your District Judge available after hours.

The office is non-partisan and I welcome the vote of my Republican friends as well as my fellow-Democrats.

ARVEL (Mush) NELSON Democrat for SHERIFF

Vote for protection for you and your family. I pledge an open line to the Sheriff's Dept. 24 hours a day. (Formerly ABC Agent) Your vote will be deeply appreciated.

-It-pd. (by candidate)

To the Voters of Floyd County:

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to the voters of Floyd Co., as time is drawing short and I realize that I can not possibly contact each of you personally, as I would prefer to do.

I am Arvil Nelson, (known better as "Mush"). I am a Democratic candidate for Sheriff of Floyd County.

My qualifications for this important office are: four years as A.B.C. Agent; I was born and reared in Prestonsburg, the center of Floyd County; I am one of ten children, raised by an old, retired, disabled hand-loading coal miner.

My father, Hiland Nelson, is a charter member of the United Mine Workers of America, having fought the union's battles, since it's inception. Our family believes and trusts the U.M.W.A.

My mother is the daughter of the late Pat (Patsy) Osborne and Alice Delong Osborne, of Near East Point, Kentucky.

My father, Hiland Nelson, is the son of the late Tom (Tussey) Nelson and Alpha (Hubbard) Nelson.

I can list in my blood lines the following: The Nelsons, Tusseys, Hubbards, Robinettes, Hamiltons, Osbornes, Wrights, Webbs, Crisps, the Hammonds, Delongs, Banks, McKeids, DeRossetts and Laynes and further back the late Judge Eddington.

This is my first time to ask the good people of Floyd county to employ me as a public servant, and when you elect me as your next Sheriff, I will be your servant.

My aims are:

1. An open line to the Sheriff's office 24 hrs.-a-day, seven days a week.
2. Full protection for all citizens: escorts for all funerals and church services, when requested.
3. A full-time field deputy in each magisterial district, with deputies serving under him, all these to be chosen by citizens of each district.
4. I propose humane treatment for all accused, under the Constitutional right granted that anyone is innocent until proven guilty.
5. I propose equal enforcement of laws pertaining to drugs as well as illicit liquor trafficking in this and other dry, local option territories.
6. I pledge to you, the citizens of Floyd county, full and complete support of the State Police and, or, any other law enforcing agencies in or around our jurisdictional district.
7. I pledge full support of church and schools—to keep drunk driving at a minimum, to keep roads to churches and schools clean.

I leave you with this thought: As Franklin D. Roosevelt said, thirty-five or six years ago—"the only thing we have to fear is fear itself," and "with God's help and your support, we will survive."

Thank You, God Bless You and Keep You.

The ARC and Eastern Kentucky

(First in a series of three articles reviewing the region's plight and what has been, or may be, done, to solve its problems.)

By MAC HARRIS

What does Appalachian Kentucky want for itself? State ARC people hope the area's citizens will help answer that question at a series of public meetings held in each of the Appalachian area development districts last month.

What is ARC? What has it meant to Appalachian Kentucky, and what will it mean in the future?

Eastern Kentucky, the epitome of Appalachia—called "The Other America" by Michael Harrington in his 1960 book by that title—suffered greatly in comparison to the rest of Kentucky and the nation 20 years ago. By 1960 it was clear that poverty was becoming a way of life and the future for many Appalachian Kentuckians.

The Appalachian Regional Development Act passed by Congress in 1965 helped change that sad outlook.

"Since 1965 the population trend away from Eastern Kentucky has reversed," said Kentucky Development Cabinet Secretary William L. Short. "The average per capita income has increased, employment has increased, and there are significantly fewer persons with below-poverty-level incomes."

"Eastern Kentucky would not have made the progress that it has without the Appalachian Regional Commission," Short said. "It hasn't solved all our problems there—far from it. Appalachian Kentucky was so far behind—and it still isn't up to—the rest of the state, but ARC has to receive a large share of the credit for the progress we've made."

The ARC is a unique partnership between local and state governments and the federal government.

"ARC is the best example of state and federal cooperation there is," Short said. "Unlike other federal programs, the states are full partners."

ARC policy and priorities are determined by the 13-member governors and a federal co-chairman, with much of the input to the governors coming from their states' local development districts.

Why was such a program for the nation's eastern mountains undertaken? Isolation—the mountainous terrain had virtually cut off Appalachia from America's social, economic and cultural mainstream.

The commission was created in a time of crisis for the region. Because of the expense of building roads in the mountains, little industrial development had occurred in Appalachia. The existing roads were poor, making it difficult for residents to keep up with the outside.

Only coal had provided jobs for Appalachian residents before the 1950's; mechanized farming methods had made the small farms of the region uncompetitive with larger producers in flatter lands.

But the demand for coal began to diminish after World War II, and new mine technology put even more miners out of work. Local governments, with no tax base, could not provide necessary social or utility services. With no work available, young people left the region in droves during the 50's to search for jobs and a better life.

Appalachian states were left with an economic problem they could not solve alone—communities in the region could tax only a small percentage of the diminishing population, and the ones they could not tax demanded more and more services as their plight increased.

That was the situation when the Appalachian Regional Development Act was passed. Appalachian states' governors had begun to work around 1960 to find a solution to their problem, and the Appalachian Regional Commission established by the 1965 law was the result.

The first step was access to the region. "The reason the Appalachian highway program has been so important to us," Short said, "is that little more than 15 years ago Eastern Kentucky did not have one highway adequate for economic development transportation requirements. We've come a long way."

After ten years of ARC, over half of the nearly 2500 miles of highways planned for Appalachia were completed or under construction.

In Kentucky, by 1975, nearly 275 of the total 422 miles of the Appalachian Program highways were completed or under construction. Together with the state's Mountain Parkway and Daniel Boone Parkway, and Interstates 64 and 75, they opened Eastern Kentucky for industry, and the region's people no longer are so limited in their social and cultural lives.

As the new highways provided access and stimulated growth in Appalachian Kentucky, ARC was investing money in other projects—water and sewer improvement, health care, vocational education, child development, housing, community facilities and energy and environment projects.

Although ARC officials quickly admit the commission is not without problems and that not all of the program has been successful, they also claim great successes—both in the program and in the state-federal partnership.

So while Eastern Kentucky is still a long way behind, each time the sun rises over the Appalachian Mountains, Kentuckians there are a little better off—"largely due to ARC," says Secretary Short.

PRESSURE POLITICS

FLOYD COUNTY OFFICIAL(S) ACCUSED IN COAL DEALS

PRESTONSBURG—Floyd County Judge Henry Stumbo . . . (has) been accused of using undue pressure to exert pressure to help coal ventures in which . . . (he holds) an interest.

Stumbo denies any such pressure.

In the first dispute, Floyd County coal operator Cline Mitchell, who operates next door to a mine run by Stumbo . . . and others, said Stumbo used "political persuasion" to get a closure order and fine against him.

State reclamation inspector Ernest Croot, whose investigation led to closing of Mitchell's mine, confirmed that Stumbo had threatened to call him before the governor. But Croot went on to say he doesn't know what Stumbo meant by the remark and it did not influence his judgment. He said the Mitchells have also tried to pressure him.

Croot said the two companies, T & R and B & M, are "at each other's throats," apparently over a boundary dispute. Reclamation records show the Mitchells were closed March 2 for failing to keep up reclamation, and fined $6,000.00 civil penalty. B & M, in which the official(s) have interest, was the subject of an order handed up last December 15 by Croot. B & M drew a $3,000.00 civil penalty.

Croot's superior, Nevard Wells, said he had not pressured Croot nor had he been pressured by Stumbo to close the Mitchell mine. Wells and Croot both said the violations warranted closure.

A couple who refused to lease property to the coalmen, Harry and Mamie Leslie, and retired miner Elkana Sexton, who sold some of his land, said . . . (they were) told . . . if they didn't lease the land, it could be condemned. Both said they understood . . . Stumbo meant (he) as (a) county official(s), could condemn and take land, but they did not believe such to be true, and resisted the pressure to lease.

"I knew they couldn't do that," said Sexton, who held out and sold the men a strip of land for a rail siding at a price of $20,000.00. The rail has not been installed because of the dormant coal market.

Stumbo denied threats were made. "I know better," added the judge. "There's no law to do that." . . . (He stated he) had entered the coal business because state law limits . . . salaries to $14,000.00 a year. . . . (He) sees no conflict of interest between . . . (his) coal interest and duties as coal-county officer(s).

Strip Mining Justices

2 Judges Who Try Overweight Truck Cases Haul Coal Themselves Over Same Roads

By HERBERT SPARROW
United Press International

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Two Eastern Kentucky county judges who try overweight truck cases have state strip mine permits which allow them to haul coal over roads in their counties.

Both Floyd County Judge Henry Stumbo and Elliott County Judge David Blair have permits on file with the State Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection which include transportation plans for hauling coal from their mining sites to loading tipples.

Stumbo's permit calls for hauling coal over three class B state roads — Ky. 979, Ky. 1929 and Ky. 122 — from his Floyd County strip mine to a tipple at Orkney.

Blair's permit provides for hauling coal over Ky. 205, US 460 and Ky. 7 in Morgan, Elliott and Carter counties from his Morgan County strip mine.

A total of 228 of the 314 overweight trucks cited by the Department of Transportation in Floyd County in 1975 were coal trucks, while seven of the 15 overweight trucks cited in Elliott County were carrying coal.

Conviction Records

There were no convictions of overweight trucks in Elliott County in 1975, while Stumbo collected fines totaling $2,863 from 59 of the trucks cited in his county.

There is no record of trucks hauling coal for Stumbo's B&M Coal Co. or Blair's TBS Mining Co. being cited.

Blair's TBS strip mine permit was applied for on Jan. 27, 1975 and became effective Feb. 19, 1975 after approval of his reclamation plans by the Bureau of Reclamation.

The permit calls for mining 32.8 acres in Morgan County near Grassy Creek. A suspension order was issued by the reclamation bureau on March 31, 1976 because of noncurrent backfilling and some spoil being pushed into small streams.

Agreed Order

Blair agreed to a $2,000 fine in an agreed order signed April 20.

B & M paid a $3,000 fine Thursday on charges of reclamation violations, including an improperly constructed access road and inadequate silt control.

Stumbo leases the coal rights on the 73.2 acre site on Akers Branch for one dollar a year from the Elk Horn Coal Corp.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenis Akers, surface owners of the strip mine site, contested the permit in December, 1974 under a 1974 law requiring a surface owner's permission for strip mining. However, their appeal became moot when the law was declared unconstitutional by the state Court of Appeals.

Stumbo applied for the permit that December and it became effective Aug. 1, 1975.

PERSONAL GAIN AT THE COUNTY'S EXPENSE

2 Floyd Firms Fined For Mining Violations

By BRYAN WILKINS
East Kentucky Bureau

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. — Two Floyd County coal companies yesterday were fined by the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for violations of strip mine reclamation laws.

Valley Tipple and Mining, Inc., Prestonsburg, under contract to B and M Coal Company, Prestonsburg, to strip 78 acres of Akers Branch in Floyd County, was fined $3,000, while T and R Coal Company, Grethel, was fined $6,000.

Valley Tipple was fined for failing to correct six strip mine violations after the company was cited by state reclamation inspectors last February. A suspension order closing the mine was later issued in March by the Division of Reclamation.

T and R Coal was fined for three strip-mine violations cited by inspectors in early March. The mine was closed by order of the division on April 7.

Paid Fine

B and M Coal Company paid the $3,000 fine with a check signed by a partner, Delmer Elswick, according to Perry White, legal counsel for the department.

Floyd County Judge Henry Stumbo has an apparent interest in B and M, which leased the mineral rights in Akers Branch. Stumbo is listed by the Harold Telephone Co. records as applicant for Valley Tipple telephone service.

Stumbo could not be reached yesterday for comment on the strip-mine violations and fines.

Citations

Valley Tipple was cited for improper construction of an access road; inadequate silt control; placing spoil in a non-spoil area; having an area not scalped (properly leveled); spoil placed in drainways causing a slide, and an outslope needing to be seeded and mulched.

3. I am against any county official having a financial interest in any business which may affect the lives or living conditions of any citizen of this county.

THESE THINGS I STAND FOR

1. The salary set by the State Constitution for County Judge is public record and well known. If any person feels he cannot live on this salary he should resign the office (or at least decline to run again) and go into private business full time. I have previously stated that I am able to support myself and my family on the County Judge's salary and I have no other business interests.
2. The County Judge is charged to protect the laws—not to abuse them, for whatever reason. I pledge there will be no abuse of the laws while I am your County Judge.
3. The County Judge is the Chief Executive of the county and, as such, should be the chief protector of the people's rights. It is morally wrong for him to pressure private citizens for his own financial gain. This will never happen in my administration.
4. Coal is one of Floyd County's most important resources. It plays a major role in our economy. However, the mining and removal of coal also causes problems sometimes. The Floyd County Judge should, on the one hand, be free to recognize coal's contribution to the entire county's revenue, not his own personal revenue, and on the other hand, be uninvolved so that he can deal objectively with coal problems. This, I pledge I will be.

Thanks Citizens

The Board of Trustees, City of Wheelwright, takes this opportunity to express our appreciation to citizens of the Wheelwright, Weeksbury and Jack's Creek areas. During the recent crisis precipitated by the flood, the persons in this area again demonstrated how really fine mountain people are. So many of you were generous with your time, money and possessions and you were helpful beyond our power to express in words.

Such selfless love for our fellowman in his hour of need is just what this world is all about.

So, you good people who helped us help others, thank you!

Vocational Schools To Get Flood-Damaged Cars, Trucks

General Motors is offering new but flood-damaged cars and pickups to Kentucky vocational technical schools that have auto mechanics or auto body classes, according to W. F. Griffin of Motors Insurance Corp., Division of General Motors.

Griffin explained that GM dealers in Pikeville had 132 cars and pickups damaged by the recent flood waters. He said the vehicles "are valued at more than $1 million."

"These vehicles are parked near the mouth of Katy Friend, off the Mountain Parkway near here."

"At first we thought about putting them into the crusher, but it would be such a waste. All but five of the vehicles, which are 1976 models, are 1977 models," Griffin said. "Then a suggestion was made to donate the cars to vocational schools that offer auto mechanics or auto body classes. The vice-presidents of each GM division voted yes on this suggestion."

"We think these vehicles will serve a good purpose in the vocational schools auto classes," said Griffin. "These are new models which many of the students do not have an opportunity to work on otherwise."

General Motors has sent a bulletin to its dealers in the state explaining the giveaway. Griffin said the cars and pickups will be donated to schools on the condition that the vehicle is not operated on the roadway and that the parts are not exchanged with another car. Cars claimed by Kentucky vocational schools will be distributed to vocational schools in surrounding states, Griffin added.

General Motors is cleaning them at its own expense. Pikeville dealers participating in the donations are Wells Motor Co., Childers-Venters Cadillac-Pontiac Inc. and Johnson Motor Company.

The required planning is being done throughout the County to qualify for federal funds. To date, all RURAL AREAS are at the BOTTOM in the federal priority system. Not ONE dollar is available right now for these projects in Floyd County.

Without federal assistance, sewage treatment by conventional methods would cost each of you at least $30 per month. Federal dollars will be necessary to accomplish this task.

Revenue Sharing Funds

During the first two years of Revenue Sharing, Floyd County received only $212,168 per year. At my request Congressman Perkins arranged for James Allen (County Attorney) and myself to meet with the Washington Revenue Sharing Office people in Washington.

Result: Our annual revenue rose to $363,704 per year, plus a $258,000 check for adjustment over the first two years. This one conference has been worth $875,000 to Floyd County.

Our Floyd County Magistrates all know that Revenue Sharing Funds must be spent within two years of being received. These funds cannot lie idle in financial institutions.

Manpower Programs

Many of you know that I have always worked with OEO, CETA, EKCEPTS, CAPs, to provide every possible job for our Floyd County people. I have served on the Board of all of these organizations and presently am a member. I will work to continue to bring every possible job to our County.

Coal Haul Roads

Our economy depends on hauling coal. At present neither the State of Kentucky nor any of its Eastern Counties can maintain the roads needed to support our coal industry and have the roads in a condition that is suitable for all of our Citizens.

I am working with Congressman Perkins, Governor Carroll, Senators Ford and Huddleston to get SPECIAL FEDERAL FUNDS for our coal haul roads. This is necessary if we are to provide the types and quality of roads needed for our Area.

Only large sums of money will accomplish the above. It costs NOTHING to PROMISE better roads. It costs HUNDREDS of THOUSANDS of dollars to BUILD and MAINTAIN good roads.

The Mud Creek Water Problem

Floyd County's elected officials, officials of EDA, and the Public Service Commission all placed faith in Pikeville's pledge to supply the necessary water to Sandy Valley and Mud Creek. We all know that this was a mistake. It will be corrected by building the WATER TREATMENT PLANT for Sandy Valley and Mud Creek. This is a top priority project.

The Next Four Years, 1978-1981

In my past years as your County Judge, I have worked to help bring over $16,000,000 in federal grants and loans to our County for water projects, hospital facilities, parks. The next "County Judge-Administrator" will have more time to work on new programs and improve upon the operation of old ones.

With my BROAD EXPERIENCE, with MORE TIME, and the DESIRE to bring existing plans and programs to a successful conclusion, I PLEDGE to you that EVERY EFFORT will be made to provide more jobs, better roads, expanded recreational facilities, improved services to all Citizens in so far as it is honestly and humanly possible to do so.

Together we HAVE made progress in the past. Together we WILL make progress in the future.

Your vote and influence is again greatly appreciated.

SPRING BLOOMING NOSEGAYS DEFINITELY NOT FOR EATING

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD

Please don't eat the daisies. Or the azaleas. Or bleeding heart. The absentminded outdoor stroller or hiker who nibbles on a wildflower, a seed, or root is courting danger. Many beautiful and innocent-looking common plants, says James W. Herron, are poisonous, and you'd better believe it. Herron is an extension weed control specialist in UK's College of Agriculture.

Take the lily of the valley for instance. Its fragrance and delicacy are misleading. This herb with bell-shaped flowers contains a dangerous drug similar to digitalis, the powerful heart stimulant. Nibbling on the leaves, even if not fatal, could cause digestive upset, mental confusion and irregular heart beat.

Two of the world's prettiest shrubs—mountain laurel and rhododendron—are deadly. Hunters have been made deathly sick by eating broiled over a fire fueled with branches from these two shrubs.

Mushrooms perhaps offer the greatest temptation, and danger, to outdoor wanderers. If you are ever tempted to gather a mess from the wild, remember this—only an expert can distinguish between an edible fungus and one containing deadly poison. There are lots of wild mushrooms that are good to eat, but before gathering a batch from the fields or woods, frying them in butter, and eating them down, remember this bit of Roman history. When the matriarch Agrippina decided her son Nero should take over the throne, she hastened the matter by feeding Emperor Claudius a mess of toadstools.

The Greeks dispatched enemies with poison hemlock. This plant, very common in the United States, says Herron, poses a double threat. The leaves resemble parsley and the roots look like parsnips, but both parts are lethal. An absentminded nibble on any part of poison hemlock can result in violent and painful convulsions and death.

As Herron goes on to say, the flower and vegetable gardener who doesn't pay too much attention to what he is doing, can also sometimes get in trouble by chewing on a leaf.

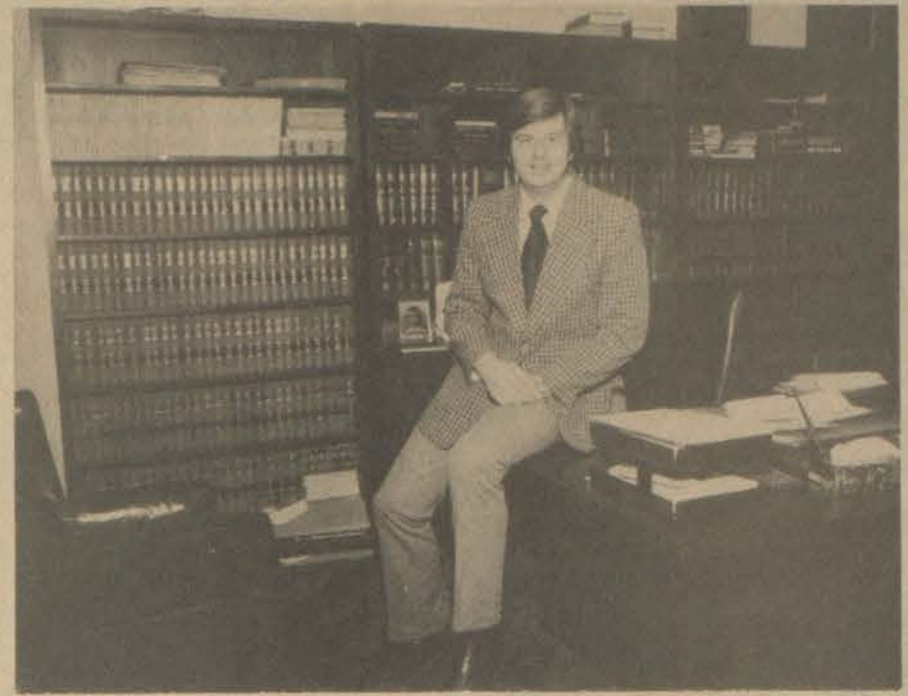

A lot of flower garden plants such as the larkspur, iris, foxglove, star-of-Bethlehem and monkshood can be lethal. Even the foliage of some vegetable plants can kill or make a person very sick. Rhubarb, the succulent pieplant, is one garden plant that can be very dangerous. Only the fleshy stalks are edible. The roots and leaves contain harmful substances that can cause serious illness.

Then there's the castor bean, or "dog tick." This large ornamental plant with big, dark green leaves aids man by producing castor oil and substances useful in industry—protective coatings, lubricants and plastics. (Some say it will banish moles). But the seeds also contain a poison so lethal that three have been known to kill an adult.

Herron warns that children tend to be attracted to berries and fleshy plant parts and when taken afield should be closely watched to be sure they do not eat any strange seed, plant leaf, or berry. Every child, he adds, should be taught never to eat any part of a plant or berry not commonly used as food.

With only the minimum of caution, a person can be completely safe in the outdoors among the fauna and flora. All that is necessary is to keep the eyes open, watch the step, watch where the hands are placed, stay away from hornet nests, and refrain from eating the nosegays. That is, of course, unless a person is familiar with what is being eaten.

ARNOLD TURNER, JR. FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

On January 1, 1978, a new County Attorney will take office in Floyd County, the same date a new District Court begins.

If this new system is to succeed, it must be matched with a new face, a man who is fresh in commitment, energy and ideas.

We cannot afford to miss this new opportunity. Therefore, I ask you for your vote and support. In return I promise you four years of hard work and dedication to do the things that must be done for all of us. My office will have an open door for every man and woman, whether rich or poor, with a sympathetic ear to your problems and difficulties. My official duties will be carried on in the open, visible to all, with a complete explanation to anyone as to why any certain thing has been done. Decency, fairness and honesty will be our sense of direction for the future.

Vote Arnold Turner, Jr. For County Attorney

A Democrat.

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

A framing shop owner writes: "My cousin in California has told me about a 'cancer consultation service' there, and I would like to know more about it."

ANSWERline: In the San Francisco area a number of experts have formed a special review panel to discuss difficult cancer problems with any physician who requests it. The experts are drawn from many institutions and serve on the panel for three month-periods without pay. This is another example of today's team approach to treating cancer when a patient may require the skills of several specialists from surgeons, radiologists to chemotherapists and rehabilitation experts. In the communities not far from the nation's 19 Comprehensive Cancer Centers there are professional "Outreach" programs, some using special telephone arrangements which offer local physicians expert consultation. The primary physician, the one who is often the first to suspect cancer, is crucial because cancer is best treated in an early stage, and the primary physician is in the best position to make the earlier diagnosis.

A clothing manufacturer asks: "Just what is ultrasound, and how is it used in relation to cancer?"

ANSWERline: Ultrasound uses high-frequency sound waves instead of x-rays to locate tumors deep within the body. It is a useful tool in the diagnosis of cancer and it may also be helpful in treatment. When a cancer patient is being treated with radiation, ultrasound may be used to pinpoint a hidden tumor with great precision in order to determine the exact radiation dosage.

The mother of two explains: "I am embarrassed to say that I know only one of the seven warning signals - a lump or change in the breast. What are the others?"

ANSWERline: Your local American Cancer Society Unit will be glad to give you a free leaflet about the seven warning signals. Please note that the first letter of each one, when put together, spell the word, CAUTION. Here, for all the ANSWERline readers, are the important seven: Change in bowel or bladder habits; A sore that does not heal; Unusual bleeding or discharge; Thickening or lump in the breast or elsewhere; Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; Obvious change in wart or mole; Nagging cough or hoarseness. If you have a warning signal please see a physician right away. Most likely it won't mean cancer, but if cancer is present you may have helped save your life. Please don't wait for the signal to "go away" because that can cost precious time. Remember that of the two million Americans alive and well today after a diagnosis of cancer, most can be considered cured. There are many effective treatments for cancer but first it must be diagnosed properly. Help yourself and your physician by heeding "CAUTION."

Helped with Communications

Tuesday morning, April 5, the Division of Forestry took one of its radios to Combs Airport to Norman Greene, who was then flown by helicopter to the Pikeville State Police barracks, thus establishing radio communications for Pike county through the Division of Forestry and the State Police. These men spent from 24 to 72 hours on continuous duty, relaying radio messages and keeping communications open in Pike county. Messages for the telephone transmittal could be radioed to the district Forestry office here, which had telephone service. The district office also had direct radio contact with the Floyd County Rescue Squad and helped coordinate rescue and disaster operations while the water was up and until additional communications were established.

Consumer Comment

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
(Attorney General)

Many consumers have been attracted or persuaded by advertisements which declare, "Thousands of fabulous jobs are opening up . . . Let us qualify you for a high paying, prestigious career . . . All you need is ambition to secure the job of your dreams . . . and only $10 down . . . sign here . . ."

Unfortunately advertisements of this type often mislead consumers into investing in an illegitimate private vocational or trade school that results in a great loss of both money and time.

If you are considering enrolling in a private vocational or trade school, consider the following:

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Big Sandy Area Agency on Aging is now accepting bids on two, 12-passenger vans for transportation of the elderly. Specifications are: V-8 engine, automatic transmission, power steering, air conditioning, overhead signal lights, extra side step. All bids should be submitted by May 15, 1977 to Big Sandy Area Development District, 552 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Ky. For further details call 886-6869. 5-4-2t.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "March 77," your subscription will expire at the end of March.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

First, obtain the school catalogs or brochures. Study these carefully, be sure to note the educational objectives.

—Consider the advertising. The school should be honest in its advertising and promotional activities, including "honest" salespeople. Remember, an honest school does not pressure its clients into signing the contract. Look carefully at the "enrollment application"—is it really a contract that will obligate you to pay money to the school?

—Check for a reasonable tuition collection and refund policy. Make sure you understand it. Many schools require you to pay in full for the course if you attend 50 percent of the course or more. Thus, if the course is 2 years long, and you only attended one year, you may have to pay for the entire remaining year.

Second, obtain further evaluation of the school's courses and service through visiting the school and contacting present and former students and graduates.

Third, secure information concerning job opportunities available through state employment agencies, prospective employers and professional counselors. Beware of schools that guarantee employment. Some schools fail to keep their "promise." Check the value of the schools "placement services" by checking with school graduates.

Last, carefully read and understand the contract before you sign. Never sign any contract unless you intend and expect to live up to its obligations. Avoid oral promises suggesting that you can break the contract. Remember, even if you only have to make a small down payment, with the Federal Government loaning you the rest of the tuition, eventually you will have to pay the loan off! This will be due whether or not you finish the course. Also don't sign anything until you have taken time to consider the offer.

If you have questions about a vocational school or a consumer complaint write to the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Kentucky residents may use the toll-free Consumer Hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

HONEST • CAPABLE • EFFICIENT

RAY WILCOX, CANDIDATE FOR MAGISTRATE, DISTRICT 1

(Pd. by candidate, It.)

Red Cross Aid Is $4,358,550 In Kentucky

John McGraw, manager of the Kentucky Division American Red Cross, reported this week that 8,673 families have been assisted at various Red Cross centers in Southeastern Kentucky since the April 4 flood waters inflicted heavy damage.

In the four-state affected area of Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee and Virginia, 16,864 families have registered for assistance, and the final registration total will probably surpass 19,000 families according to Red Cross officials in the area.

Red Cross financial commitments to the disaster victims have now reached $6,894,000. By far the greatest expenditure is in Kentucky where $4,358,550 has been committed.

Red Cross dollar commitments in the other three states are as follows: West Virginia $1,619,130, Virginia $847,000, Tennessee $69,320.

The largest expenditure $4,130,157 has been for food, new clothing, and other essentials needed by families in their recovery. A total of $2,394,615 has been spent on household furnishings for those families that have been able to return to their homes. Another $317,746 has been spent on mass care which includes all emergency feeding in Red Cross shelters, cots, blankets, and other commodities needed for the comfort of the victims in the early days of the operation. Medical and nursing assistance has totaled $42,209.

The 47 Red Cross mass care centers, where a cumulative total of 7,615 victims were housed, have now been closed. These facilities were made available to Red Cross by boards of education, religious institutions, municipalities, and other civic institutions.

Hundreds of volunteers are supplementing the relief efforts of over 350 Red Cross staff assembled from throughout the Eastern United States.

Mr. McGraw said "Early in April those of us at the disaster site projected our disaster commitments in the Appalachia area would come to about $10,000,000. Based on our reports to date, it looks like that figure is going to be realistic. Cash contributions are needed to make sure the needs of the victims are met. Those who can help should send a donation to their local Red Cross Chapter or to the Kentucky Division American Red Cross P. O. Box 1675 Louisville, Kentucky 40201 and mark their check for "flood victims."

First Aid Course Planned Two Days

A multi-media first-aid course will be offered at Prestonsburg Community College in Building B, May 9-10, from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. The class will fulfill certain OSHA requirements. Each participant should bring a blanket and a pencil or pen. For more information contact the Office of Community Services at P.C.C., telephone 886-3863.

In accord with the aforesaid Motion, the specifications of each bridge and road repairs will be in the Floyd County Judge's office for inspection by any person or corporation who is interested in submitting a bid for the reconstruction of each bridge and the repairs of road projects.

Any person or corporation will submit a sealed bid in the Floyd County Judge's office on or before the 16th day of May, 1977 at 10 a.m. Said bids will be opened by the Floyd County Fiscal Court on the 16th day of May, 1977 at 10 a.m. The low bid will be accepted by the aforesaid Court if said bid is in accord with the specifications.

The Floyd County Fiscal Court does reserve the right to reject any of the bids.

$475,000 Funding For Cleanup OK'd

The U.S. Department of Labor has granted $475,000 for hiring workers to clean up flooded eastern Kentucky counties.

The funds provide 253 jobs in the 15 counties hardest hit by the floods. The grant will be administered by the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program (EKCEP), the prime sponsor for employment grants in the eastern counties.

"I'm grateful for the speedy response to our request for this federal aid to clean up our flood-ravaged counties," Gov. Carroll said. "This money will allow many Kentuckians now unemployed to provide for their families while performing a needed service to their communities."

Department for Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn secured the special flood grant at the request of EKCEP Director Virgil Osborne, whose central office in Hazard was severely flooded. Most of the agency's records were destroyed.

Human Resources, working in cooperation with the Department of Labor in Washington, applied for the special jobs grant April 20. Formal approval of the funds arrived last Wednesday and 90 per cent of the 253 job slots have been filled, Osborne said.

Strict procedures normally involved in grant application were waived in view of the crisis situation, according to Dave Lollis, federal-state coordinator for human resources. Some restrictions concerning the eligibility of job applicants have also been lifted, Lollis said.

The special flood grant is part of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, administered by EKCEP in 22 Eastern Kentucky counties. The funds will be used to hire workers to rebuild public as well as some private facilities destroyed or damaged by floodwaters early this month.

The 253 jobs are to be distributed according to the extent of flood damage in each of the 15 counties in the disaster area.

JAMES A. HALL

Democratic Candidate

FOR CONSTABLE, Dist. 4

Four years ago, I ran 2nd to Paul Stilton. Your vote and help will be appreciated.

Pd. by candidate, 4-27-71.

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT 3

I, Terry David Bentley, was born at Drift, November 13, 1947, and later moved to Garth, on Left Beaver Creek. I am the son of Mance Bentley and Thelma Osborne Bentley, of Hite. I am the grandson of the late Fair Bentley, who was a railroad worker at Martin. I am also the grandson of the late Fred Osborne, coal miner at Weeksbury and Wheelwright. I am the great-grandson of the late Dent Osborne and Carrie Hall Osborne, of Garth. I married Deborah Meade, from Salisbury. She and I have four lovely daughters, Terri, Tamara, Tariana and Trena.

I was brought up hard and know what it is to work for what I get. I also know what it is to wade mud down the hollow to a bus stop a mile away.

If elected to the office of Magistrate, I have an office set aside for the duties and obligations of such an office. The office phone will never be unlisted or left off the hook. My home will also be available for any assistance of which I can be to my fellow citizens. I believe if a person has a problem and is in need of assistance, he needs it then and not days later.

If elected to the office of Magistrate, I pledge to have at least five outstanding citizens from each community to take turns and sit in with me at the Fiscal Court meeting each month. By doing this, our problems will be made public, and therefore can be acted upon.

I was reared to believe that "a man's word is his bond." Citizens of District 3, take me at my word. If elected, I will stand behind any pledge or publication made during my campaign.

(Adv. It-pd. by the candidate)

Winter's Temperatures Influenced Plants Differently

Some of the flowering dogwoods, even though within the same neighborhood or area, have produced only sporadic color this spring.

The question as to why is explained by Robert McNeil, UK extension horticulturist, as possibly being due to genetic or plant location differences.

"The plants with reduced color had their outer bracts killed by the winter cold and the inner bracts slightly damaged," McNeil said. The bract is a modified leaf that grows at the base of a blossom, such as is normally produced by the dogwood, it was explained. As a result a dogwood that was in an un-protected area was more likely to have a reduced color output.

"Plants showing good color were usually found in protected areas—or they may be one of the cultivars which have been selected for increased hardiness," McNeil stated.

But while the extreme winter weather did do severe damage to some plants, it enhanced the flowering and development of others.

He described the flowering dogwood and the southern magnolia as plants which have marginal cold hardiness in Kentucky and thus can be injured by severe weather, such as experienced this past winter. He noted while the flowering dogwood had bracts damaged by the cold, the southern magnolia suffered leaf damage.

"The southern magnolias are starting to leaf out and the next few weeks will tell the extent of the winter damage," the horticulturist said. He advised that any green leaves still remaining on a magnolia not be removed. "It is recommended that even slightly damaged green leaves should be left on the plant so that it is not placed under any greater stress," McNeil said.

Noting the winter damage in the case of the dogwood and magnolia, McNeil said, "it may sound as if the cold weather can only be a problem. That is probably true if the plant is not hardy enough for the particular area in which it is located. However, cold temperatures are beneficial to many of the plants that are adapted to the colder areas."

He said many such plants require a certain amount of cold temperatures for maximum floral bud development. "If one of these plants is influenced by only a limited quantity of cold, then only a few flowers may open and set seed," he observed, noting if such plants are exposed to cold weather for a longer period of time, more flower buds are promoted, giving a greater abundance of flower buds and probably a heavier seed set.

Another possible reason for heavy flowering and fruiting could be a reaction from the weather of the previous year. He said frosts during April and May in 1976 killed many flowers and thus reduced the amount of fruit for that year—such as was the case with apples. The horticulturist pointed out the reduced fruit set encourages heavier flowering the following year.

"Since this past winter was cold for such a long period of time, many of the landscape plants that are adapted to northern areas are flowering in what appears to be record quantities," McNeil observed. "The spring flowering maples, crabapples and wildflowers are examples of this." He noted the maples have developed large quantities of seed this spring—and so far the crabapples "have presented a very splendid floral display," as have the wildflowers.

In summary, McNeil said cold temperatures are thus of great benefit to some plant varieties, but in doses such as occurred this past winter can be very damaging to others. The extreme cold for such a long period probably caused damage to even the hardiest of plants in many instances because the normal winters are not of prolonged severity. "But Mother Nature has a way of being kind to her plants, even under extremes—and a lot of the plants that were affected probably have only suffered a temporary setback," he concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph and Children.

I would like to introduce myself. I am the son of Leonard and Sarah Prafer Joseph, of Prestonsburg. I am married to Delle Ray Johnson Joseph, daughter of Pearl Row Row Johnson and the late Columbus (Chum) Johnson, of Risner. I have lived in Prestonsburg the past 31 years. We have two wonderful children, a daughter, Laura Jean, and a son, Leonard Dale. They both attend Prestonsburg Grade School.

MY PLATFORM IS AS FOLLOWS:

1. Fair treatment to all the people, not just a select few.
2. I will assume full responsibility for my turnkey.
3. There will be no beatings in the jail during my tenure. This, I pledge.
4. 24-hour medical treatment will be available to all prisoners.
5. If anyone is brought in needing medical attention, they will be taken to the emergency room immediately. This I pledge.

What I Am For As Your Representative

- I. To do away with the sales tax.
 - II. To do away with the Ky. Income Tax (other states don't have it)
 - III. Stop destroying our beautiful mountains by strip and auger mining.
 - IV. This will stop the flooding of our homes. Deep mining of coal will create more union jobs for our citizens.
- Let our mountains and streams remain the way God made them. He did a good job.

QUESTIONS FOR THE VOTER

1. Why is Floyd County 28 years behind the times? Answer: Bad Management
 2. Why doesn't Floyd County buy blacktopping equipment and start a road program to blacktop every county road in Floyd County? Answer: Bad Management
- I proposed this two years ago as a member of the Floyd County Fiscal Court, but this idea was rejected by the County Judge. Floyd County has hundreds of thousands of dollars from Revenue Sharing money and Coal Severance Tax money in the bank on savings which could be used for a blacktopping program.

3. Why doesn't Floyd County have clean water and sanitary sewage system that serve all the people who want this service? Answer: Bad management
- Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in Mud Creek for a clean water system and yet 60 percent of the people who paid for and want this service are still waiting for it.

4. Why doesn't Floyd County have a garbage collection system that works? Answer: Bad management
5. Why don't the people at Martin and on Left and Right Beaver Creek have a Flood Control Project? Answer: Bad management

The Federal Government will pay 100 percent of the cost of any Flood Control Project for Floyd County if Floyd County will only take the necessary steps to apply for this money.

As your County Judge I promise to:

1. Buy blacktopping equipment and start a ROAD PROGRAM to blacktop every county road in Floyd County.
2. Establish a GARBAGE COLLECTION PROGRAM that works for all citizens at a reduced rate.
3. Make available SANITARY WATER and SEWAGE to all citizens who want this service.
4. Establish a FLOOD CONTROL PROGRAM for Martin and Left and Right Beaver Creek.

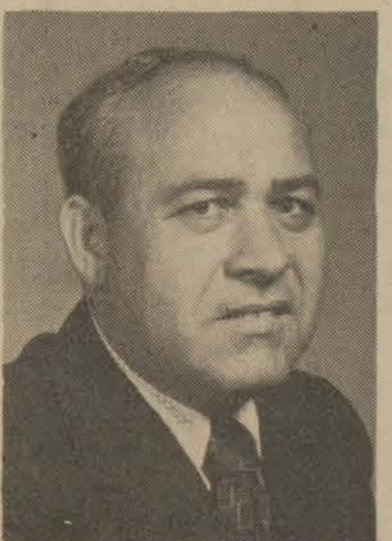

If you are a voter of Floyd County and share with me the ideas that we can have a better County; that your Tax Dollar, your Revenue Sharing Dollar, and your Coal Severance Tax Dollar can be better managed; that we can have blacktopped roads, clean water, sanitary sewage, a workable garbage collection system, and Flood Control, then I ask you for your vote and your support on May 24, 1977.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE

(Pol. adv. pd. by candidate, It.)

THIS IS TO RIGHT A WRONG

I have lived in this county all my life, being absent only for three years, which were spent in the service of my country. I have three sons and one daughter.

I started in business in the community in which I live at the age of nine years as a shoeshine boy, then as a paper boy, later as radio repairman, furniture business, and Amusement Company, at the present time as owner of Akers Television Community System.

My life is an open book and the issues which I believe in I strongly support and speak for, and those issues which I am against and which I believe would be detrimental to the people I strongly speak against and always will! I am not afraid, and no man can buy me or unduly influence me.

If you see fit to elect me as your Representative of District 95, I will attempt, with all the power and influence at my disposal, to do away with the sales tax and the income tax. Also, the strip miners will not be able to go on to our land without permission, to destroy and mutilate our beautiful hills, ruin our water supply, and utterly destroy our homes.

I will work religiously for the interest of ALL the people, especially the aged individuals, who are not getting their fair share of the monies being doled out and are being taken advantage of by the rich, greedy strip miners. I will attempt to have the Reclamation & Environmental Agencies live up to what their title implies—they will be made to verify their efforts to have the devastated, stripped land reclaimed to its original contour—rather than words, they will SHOW the landowner the end result.

I give my word of honor that I will work religiously for the betterment of local government and when the next flood occurs—and you may rest assured that as long as the strip miners are allowed to tear the mountains apart, that the next flood will be even greater—if you have flood insurance, I will make every effort to see that your flood insurance is not cancelled.

I will be available at all times to the people whom I represent and who elected me. I will listen to your problems and I will attempt to help each and every person.

Another issue which is very close to my heart and which I believe is directly responsible for the unemployment rate and the poverty in this County, this is the poor educational system which has prevailed in our County for many years. I would attempt to help develop all our human resources so that we may have the Scientists, the Artists, the Statesmen, the Businessmen, the productive, honest, active citizens which we so desperately need.

If elected to represent you in the Legislature, this County will cease to be an educational wasteland, the extra-curricular activities will be less prominent and the basics—reading, writing, comprehension and arithmetic—would again be paramount in the school systems. A child will not be allowed to graduate from high school on his ability to throw a ball in a hoop but on his ability to read, write, comprehend, and to figure.

Voters of Dist. No. 1

As all of the people that I have spoken with know, my main concern is the road conditions in Dist. No. 1. If elected improving these roads will be my goal and fulltime task.

All of you know promises aren't any good unless action and work stand behind these promises.

Please try to keep this in mind from now until you cast your vote. I was raised on bad roads, traveled on bad roads to and from school, and still travel bad roads to and from work. Just as so many of you have done in the past and still do today.

Asking for the office of Jailer of Floyd County. I was defeated for this office in 1957 by Brother Hayes.

I was born at Betsy Layne, and I spent most of my life at Big Mud Creek, an area in Floyd County where the Hamilton generation is wellknown. I am a grandson of Elder Red John Hamilton. In the past I have served on many boards, clinics, and other programs of the sort.

When I am elected for this position I promise to be a Jailer that will best serve the people. The turnkeys I hire will be upstanding men, on their duty at all times. Also, the janitor that I hire will keep it clean and neat—inside and out. All prisoners will be treated as citizens, regardless of race, creed, or color, or the crime that was committed. The prisoners will be allowed to call their loved ones—local or long distance. Any prisoner requiring medical assistance will be treated immediately.

Welfare Workers To Get Training To Reduce Error

Kentucky welfare workers will be trained to get more accurate and complete information on medicaid clients to reduce payments to ineligible recipients, Gail Huecker, commissioner of the state Bureau for Social Insurance, said last week.

That is part of a corrective action plan submitted to the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare recently, along with figures on how many erroneous payments occurred in Kentucky between April and September, 1976, she said.

Another part of the plan, she said, is to check more extensively before a client is approved for Medicaid benefits to make sure he is not receiving similar benefits from other sources.

"If a person has private medical insurance we'll make sure that pays before the Medicaid is paid," Mrs. Huecker said.

The national survey, released last Thursday, indicates the federal and state governments are paying $1 billion a year to ineligible recipients in two portions of the Medicaid program.

The report gave the amounts each state paid to ineligible recipients during the six months studied and the percent of error found.

In Kentucky, the amount was $698,000 and the error rate 9 per cent. Among surrounding states, Ohio paid $25,730,000 for an error rate of 17.4 per cent; Virginia $4,556,000, 7.1 per cent; Tennessee $1,552,000, 5.3 per cent, and Indiana $1,323,000, 2.1 per cent. West Virginia's report was incomplete.

Mrs. Huecker noted that while Kentucky has the second-highest error rate among those states, the amount erroneously paid out was the lowest.

The reason, she said, is that Kentucky "has less people institutionalized, because of our commitment to keeping people in their own homes."

It costs less per client to care for people at home, she said. "It is the most cost-beneficial way, as well as providing a more meaningful way of life for the individual."

SAN ANTONIO—U.S. Air Force Staff Sgt. James D. May, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. May, of Garrison, Ky., has graduated with honors from the Air Training Command Noncommissioned Officer Leadership School at Randolph AFB, Texas. He is a personnel specialist at Randolph.

Sgt. May is a 1964 graduate of Cyprus High School, Magna, Utah. His wife, Linda, is the daughter of Mrs. Cornelia B. Brown, of Garrett, Ky.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF DIST. 3

I would like to take this opportunity to let you know that I have tried my very best during my 3 1/2 years in office to make you a good Magistrate. I have tried to fix every road and bridge in the district when I had the equipment and materials to do this with.

When I was elected Magistrate the Floyd County Road Department had two graders that would run and some old equipment. This equipment was shared among the four districts. During my term in office the Floyd Fiscal Court has purchased two new graders, two dump trucks, two bulldozers, one backhoe, one tractor trailer to haul the equipment. This equipment was bought out of the coal severance tax money, also this equipment is shared among each district. The Fiscal Court paid $37,500.00 for the land for the Mini Park at Minnie, Ky. for Dist. 3. The right of way has been bought from C. and O. Railroad for the new Cushaw bridge at Printer, Ky. During my term of office I have blacktopped two and one tenth miles of the Frazier Creek road which cost $100,883.45. The Salisbury Road blacktopped two and one tenth miles, the cost $82,500.00. Weeksbury road .6 of a mile, $12,000.00; Arkansas road has been resurfaced with the help of the Kentucky State Highway Department. The Floyd Fiscal Court bought the land for the new Floyd County Park at Allen, Ky., and the work has now begun on it.

The above was all paid for out of the coal severance tax money. In the new Fiscal year 1977-78 Floyd County will be allotted $256,000.00 in severance tax money. On February 2 the Fiscal Court met with the highway engineer and this is what was proposed for Dist. 3:

Simpson Branch at Drift, one mile to be resurfaced; Bryant Branch road, one mile to be blacktopped; Garbage Hollow at Wheelwright, one mile to be blacktopped; Frozen Road at Jack's Creek, one mile to be blacktopped.

The following projects have already been approved by the State Finance Officer out of the recreational funds for Dist. 3: Wheelwright Swimming pool, $36,300.00; City of Martin, $20,000.00; Weeksbury Community Center, $12,000.00; Mini Park at Minnie, $32,000.00.

I'm sure that everyone will agree that this past winter has been the worst in many years, and the recent flood has not helped matters any. I am trying to get the roads and bridges that were damaged fixed again. A Federal official and the county road foreman finished their inspection this week of the roads and bridges.

This is my record . . . It speaks for itself.

For Continued progress in District 3, re-elect

ARNOLD TURNER, JR. FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

TO THE GOOD MEN AND WOMEN OF FLOYD COUNTY, WHETHER WORKING, RETIRED OR DISABLED:

When you go to the polls to vote for a County Attorney, you should look for a candidate who will serve your best interest.

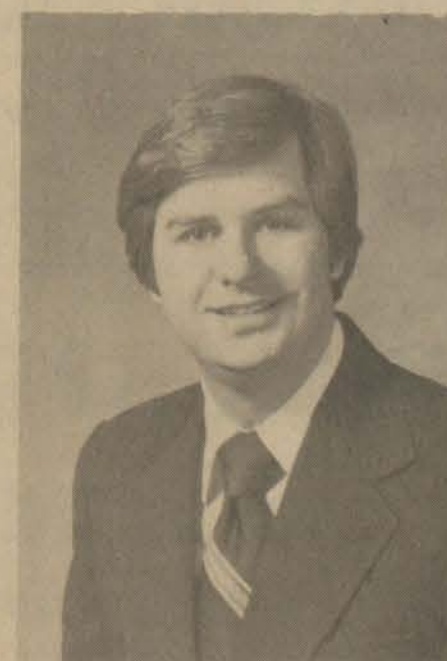

So please consider the following: My father, Arnold Turner, was a man with over 18 years in the UMW; my grandfather, Joe "Hoss" Turner, is a retired United Mine Worker; four of my uncles are United Mine Workers, three active and one disabled.

In my wife's family, her father, Bill Burga, has dug coal all his life; her grandfather, Dewey Osborne, is a disabled UMW member, and two of her uncles are UMW members.

My mother, Annette Newsome Turner, worked over 17 yrs. at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital and my wife's mother, Alta Burga, has worked nearly 30 yrs. to raise her family.

What does all this mean? Simply that my background is rich in working men and women, people who know what it is to work daily and worry nightly for the welfare and safety of their family and children. I have seen how cruel life can be to people, to your friends and to neighbors. I have seen how these people often need a friend or assistance. I have seen how they can need someone to speak for what is right and lawful.

I pledge to you that if elected your County Attorney, when you enter my office, you will be dealt with honestly, openly and with all the courtesy and respect you deserve. No man or woman, rich or poor, will be turned away without a fair opportunity to be heard. You will find a man eager to serve, with a desire to earn your respect and friendship.

I ASK YOU TO GIVE ME YOUR VOTE AND I WILL GIVE YOU A FRESH COMMITMENT TO FAIR, HONEST AND EQUAL APPLICATION OF THE LAW FOR EVERYONE.

Begley Says It's 'Too Early' To Predict Bill's Benefits

It is still too early to predict the environmental benefits of strip-mine control legislation moving toward final passage in Congress, a Kentucky environmentalist said last week.

"It hasn't really gone far enough," said

J. T. Begley, lawyer and environmental specialist of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund in Lexington.

A final version of the bill was passed by the house Friday.

A companion measure is moving through the senate energy committee. When the Senate passes its bill, differences will have to be worked out in a House-Senate conference.

Committees in both chambers have made their own modifications.

"We'll have to wait and see what happens there," said Begley. "It's a little too early to see what the final thing is going to look like."

"They've sure got plenty of time left to gut it," he said.

Changes already made that would especially affect Kentucky include a temporary exemption from the law for small and medium-sized operations and a relaxation of restrictions on the mountaintop removal method of strip mining.

A Senate energy subcommittee approved a 2½ year exemption from all provisions of the bill for mining operations producing 200,000 tons of coal or less per year.

Coal operators' representatives have said the exemption would affect up to half the operations in Eastern Kentucky and could save many from going out of business.

But Begley said the exemption would only extend the damage to the environment. "It's just going to be 2½ more years," he said.

"We don't need to revise the law to suit their economics. They have to revise their economics to suit the law. That's the American way," he said. "If they haven't got it they get out of business. If they have it they get to stay in. They don't need to be subsidized."

As for mountaintop removal, Begley said its effects will depend on how strictly it is controlled.

Coal operators, and Natural Resources Commissioner John Witt, have said that in many cases, in the steep hills of Eastern Kentucky, coal can be mined with less environmental disruption by mountaintop removal than by contour mining.

One advantage of mountaintop removal, said Begley, is that "they could save the topsoil."

But currently, he said, "they don't. It's taken over and dumped in a hollow fill first of all. It winds up underneath everything."

"Mountaintop removal, like every other type of mining, requires a lot of pre-planning, which they very seldom do," Begley said.

Coal interests are still trying to get rid of a provision in the legislation that requires full restoration of mined land, including elimination of highwalls—the bare cliffs left when the mining is through.

Begley said "there is some merit to that (opposition). There is an angle of repose for different materials."

"For the sandstone and shale, the stuff that is worked in Eastern Kentucky, there is an angle of repose of about 26 degrees."

If the material has to be piled up more steeply than that to cover the highwall and restore the contour of the mountain, he said, "you may have a slide."

"If it came down to me to choose between having a slide or having a little highwall left I'd pick the latter," he said.

Though he agrees with the operators on that point, Begley said, "their objection is because it costs more to do. It's a lot easier to sling it off to the side."

"My objection is that if you pile it up there (steeply enough to cover the highwall) a few years later it could come down on somebody's house," he said.

CATHOLICS TAKE OVER CHURCH TO PRESS FOR MASS IN LATIN

LILLE, France—Roman Catholic traditionalists took over a Lille church yesterday to press their campaign for celebration of the Mass in Latin.

The parish priest said he allowed the traditionalists to use his church after they threatened violence. The group left the building after celebrating two Masses in the ancient language.

Traditionalists, who oppose the Vatican's decision to use modern languages in the Mass, have been occupying a church in Paris for weeks.

United Mine Workers Local Union Officers In Floyd County Endorse Squire Feltner As President of District No. 30, U.M.W. of A.

TO ALL THE MEMBERSHIP OF DISTRICT NO. 30, UMWA:

We, the officers of Local Unions in Subdistrict 4 of District 30 feel that Squire Feltner has made us a good President and has moved District 30 forward more in the four years he has been President than any advancements over any period of time in the past. We realize that our District is financially strong only because of him and the other officers of District 30 doing a good job. We further feel that if you have good officers then there is no need for a change.

Therefore, we would request all the members of our Union to vote for and otherwise support Squire Feltner in every way they possibly can and let's keep him as our District President and show our appreciation for a job well done.

Our District election is scheduled for Tuesday, May 10th, and all members will be receiving letters of the time and place of the voting at each Local; so make every effort, both working and retired coal miners to go out and support Squire. This is a very important election for our District and we cannot afford to lose good leadership like Squire Feltner has provided for our District. All the undersigned officers give Squire Feltner our full support in any way we can and ask that the membership of our District do the same.

Tom Rorrer's Car Derby's 'Best-Looking'

Tony Crabtree, of Pack 4, Big Stone Gap, was the winner of the first annual council Cub Scout Pinewood Derby which was held April 24 at Clinch Valley College, Wise, Virginia.

The derby, which was the racing of small, wooden model cars built by the Cubs and their fathers, was sponsored by the Cub Scouting Committee of Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Taking second place was Steve Crabtree and in third place was Brian Montgomery, both of Pack 4, Big Stone Gap. Matt Sturgill, of Pack 3, Wise, took fourth place.

The cars were also judged in two additional categories: best looking and most original. Winning the medal for having the best-looking car was Tom Rorrer, of Pack 21, Prestonsburg. In second place was Wesley Cantrell, of Pack 3, Wise, and third was Donald Maness, of Pack 4, Big Stone Gap. Billy Thompson's car took first place as the most original. Billy is a member of Pace 4. Second place was won by Maxwell Roberts of Pack 504 Johns Creek in Pike county. Third place was won by Kevin Bolinsky of Pack 4.

Each pack was allowed to enter one car for each five Cubs enrolled in the pack. Representing Pack 21, of Prestonsburg, were Tom Rorrer and Eric Jenkins.

WOULD-BE ASSASSIN INJURED

CAIRO—Libyan President Moammar Khadafy was wounded in the hand last week by a would-be assassin, Egypt's official Middle East News Agency said yesterday.

The agency quoted travelers coming from Libya as saying the gunman, a Libyan, shot himself to death after failing to kill Khadafy. The report did not say where or when the attempt occurred.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Spring is when a camper, hiker or fisherman might encounter young wild animals in the woods. The first impulse, in many instances, is a desire to "adopt" the baby skunk, raccoon, fawn or other creature.

But the best course of action, according to Joe Bruna, fish and wildlife's director of fame management, is to leave baby animals, even those seemingly "orphaned," where they are.

Although this advice may at first glance seem hard-hearted, it is actually kinder in the long run for both the animal and the humans involved, Bruna says.

First, the baby animal may not be orphaned at all. A fawn, for example, that seems all alone in the big woods probably has an anxious mother waiting nearby, but she will not show herself while a human is in the vicinity.

Second, the care and feeding of a young animal is demanding and complicated, so most of those taken from the wild will die unless they are given the expert care that only a knowledgeable person can provide.

And if the animal does survive past infancy, other problems arise. Unlike dogs or cats, which have been domesticated for centuries, wild animals seldom lose their "wild" nature. An adult deer, particularly a buck, can be extremely dangerous, and a raccoon, even one raised in the house, starts thinking he can whip anybody in the family when he gets to weigh about 25 pounds—and he's right.

Wild animals raised in captivity can seldom be returned successfully to the wilds, creating the problem of what to do with an unmanageable adult fox, raccoon, skunk or deer. Often the animal must be destroyed, since it is almost impossible to get zoos to accept wild pets.

Then there's the problem of disease. Wild animals can carry and transmit to man several diseases, the most serious of which is rabies. Often, an animal which allows itself to be captured is diseased, so any animal which does not show a normal fear of man or displays signs of distress should be left strictly alone.

Skunks are particularly dangerous, since they can carry the rabies virus for six to eight months before symptoms appear. Even a skunk bought from a pet store and certified disease-free could develop rabies months after it is purchased.

Skunks and foxes probably represent the most common reservoirs for rabies in the wilds, although virtually all mammals are capable of carrying this disease and transmitting it to man. The danger of rabies, by itself, is reason enough to leave wildlife in the woods.

Finally, there's the legal aspect. To keep wildlife as pets, a permit from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is required, and a permit will be granted only for those animals taken during the open season for that particular species or for animals obtained from pet stores or other legal sources.

Without a permit, the animal is subject to confiscation and the owner can be

Most FHA Members Quizzed Are Opposed to Abortion

What do teenagers today think about teenage pregnancy, divorce, abortion, mental health, gun control? More than 1,000 Kentucky future homemakers discussed these topics and others at a recent state Future Homemakers of America (FHA) meeting in Louisville.

During the session, national FHA advisor Mildred Reel ran a series of "Me Shops" in which small FHA groups discussed current social concerns and their values.

The girls broke into groups to discuss a topic given to them by the group leader. Some of the issues, rape, divorce and ERA, provoked spirited discussion from the members. At the end of the discussion period, reports were given by selected groups.

Miss Reel explained that the "Me Shops" give a person a chance to discover and express what she believes. "The exercise is to teach the participants what value is."

A majority of the members believe abortion to be wrong, but they contend there are situations in which an abortion should be allowed. It was noted that in all cases the mother, father and baby should be considered in making the decision. And the choice of an abortion is not completely the woman's choice, in the group's opinion.

Majority opinions on other topics: —Death and dying—it is all right to withdraw life support system. —Pregnant teenagers—should attend separate schools or classes. —Energy crisis—energy conservation is the responsibility of each person, not industry.

—Alcohol—people should not use it to escape problems. —Family Planning—the number of children a couple wants should be their decision.

—Mental Illness—yes, there is a stigma surrounding mental illness. However, treatment should be sought by an individual just as if he or she were physically ill.

—Gun control—it is not necessary for everyone to buy and carry a gun. Society is not all that dangerous.

The groups were split on the issues of rape and divorce. Half of these voicing an opinion believe most women who are raped really "ask for it" by their dress or behavior. Many felt that the laws and rules of our society should continue changing to make divorce an easy decision while an equal number advocated the philosophy, "once married, always married."

A majority of the members frowned on pre-marital sex, noting, "sex should stay in marriage."

And on ERA, one group stated that FHA should not support it. However, there were howls of protest from other groups to this statement.

An Open Letter to All Retired Miners in District 30, United Mine Workers:

Greetings:

The time for the election of your District Officers is fast arriving and I have been trying to keep from taking part. However, I began to look back, and to compare the past, and present conditions before and after the election of your presently elected President, your Secretary-Treasurer, including District Representatives and District Executive Board.

As many of you old timers will recall I served as your International Executive Board as District 30 under John L. Lewis for fifteen years. I worked with Sam Caddy, District 30 first President. Also, I was field manager of the Big Sandy Office in Pikeville for over twenty-five years.

I have seen District 30 and been a part of its great progress, and at times of distress, since July 4th, 1933, over forty years, and it is natural that now you are in the process of once again electing officers that you expect to handle the affairs of your union for the next four years, that I cannot set idly by without trying to help you elect whom I personally feel would be best for our membership.

I find that your District under the leadership of President Squire Feltner is in good hands. When you elected your present District Officials your District was broke, and had to borrow money to carry on the important functions of the District. Squire successfully led his union in getting a New Constitution and a New District Contract calling for increased wages and better working conditions, and for the first time in forty years you now are the proud owners of a District Office Building. All paid for.

Today you have over $140,000 in your treasury and a New Contract soon will be up for negotiations. I feel that we Retired Miners have much at stake and should become involved in the outcome of this election. After all it was the old timers like you and me, who helped John L. Lewis build the greatest and strongest union in the world, and we should fight to keep it great.

I would like to request that you join with me in working and voting on Election Day to reelect Squire Feltner as President and his entire staff to another four year term.

Best Wishes and Kindest Regards, TOM RANEY RETIRED MINER PIKEVILLE, KENTUCKY 41501

They Got Out of Home 'Rut' By Helping Flood Victims

"You kind of get into a rut at home. You work and work and work, but nobody appreciates it. You ask yourself, 'What have I accomplished? Is it worth it?' Then you come here and see a situation like this."

Judith Douglas is one of more than 1,000 employees of the state Department for Human Resources who volunteered to help eastern Kentucky flood victims. She and colleague Dorothy Richards, residents of Scottsville in Allen county, volunteered to help staff the disaster relief center in Pikeville.

Like all of the 1,000 volunteers, they received no promise of extra pay or special privileges for their work. Many of the volunteer employees left their families on short notice. Most turned in 15-20 hour days in less than ideal conditions.

"We left home not knowing what to expect or how long we'd be here," Miss Douglas said. "We spent the first night on Army cots in the chemistry lab at Pikeville College, where there were only three sinks for 24 women."

Their predicament that night was relatively serene, compared to what followed. Pikeville's water supply was shut off the day after the women moved to cluttered third-floor rooms in a men's dormitory at the college.

"We averaged about two hours of sleep the first two nights," they said. "After hauling our belongings up three flights of stairs, we had to move junk out of rooms which had no screens on the windows. After awhile, we actually had to stop and try to remember what day it was."

When asked whether they were anxious to return to their families, Douglas and Richards preferred to talk about the valuable "education" they were receiving and the "tremendous" spirit of the people they were serving.

"You keep your enthusiasm because of these people," Douglas said. "They really appreciate everything you try to do for them. We've got a home to go back to; they don't. We can bundle up and go home—dust off our shoes and sleep in a clean bed. These people's troubles have probably just begun."

When the disaster centers closed on Tuesday, April 19, several state offices relocated in more convenient locations, in or near downtown areas of towns struck by the flooding. With reinforcements on the way and a general decrease in the number of applications for relief, many Human Resources volunteers have returned to their families. Most were eager to go home, but many said they intend to return to the disaster areas.

As they prepared to return home, Douglas and Richards recalled their experiences. "I asked a man, 'Where do you start?'" Douglas said. "He said you start with a pick and a shovel."

"Dorothy forgot her toothbrush, so we tried to find one the first morning," she said. "We pulled up in front of a small market where a young man was outside cleaning up. He told us he might have a toothbrush, if it hadn't been washed away. He went in and came back out grinning from ear to ear, but he refused to accept payment for (the toothbrush)."

"As he handed the toothbrush to Dorothy, he said, 'No, ma'am, if you'd lost as much as I have the last nine days, one toothbrush isn't going to make that much difference.' Of course," Douglas said, "we all cried."

In Pineville, where flood waters reached the second-floor level in most homes and businesses, Jim Roberts directed a crew of Human Resources volunteers who often worked late into the night unloading truckloads of donated supplies.

"We don't have any control over when the trucks come in," said Roberts, assistant director of community services for the department. "If someone comes from Michigan with a load, we can't tell them to wait until we get ready to unload it. We've unloaded at 3:00 or 4:00 in the morning. The biggest truck we had carried something like 15 tons of just canned food on it. It took us from 9:00 until midnight to finish."

Roberts coordinated the operations of 80 volunteers from the federal disaster center at Ward Chapel School, five miles south of Pineville. Home deliveries and an extensive supply of food and clothing at the center enabled the volunteers to serve more than 2,000 families during the first week after the floods.

Jack Nugent, coordinator of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration's Harlan office, said his staff included at least 14 volunteers, assisting with registration, reception and exit interviews.

"Many of these flood victims have lost their jobs, so they may be registering for unemployment benefits for the first time in their lives. We have a system set up here where, within a matter of hours, we can give them a check so they can go down to the post office and actually pick up their food stamps," Nugent said.

Paul Simpson, a co-supervisor of food stamp, family grant and unemployment insurance operations in Harlan, commended the volunteers from Human Resources. "I think the biggest sacrifice made by our employ volunteers was that many of them had family and friends coming in for the Easter week-end. Some had already asked for leave. They gave all that up to come here, even though they were not assured of any compensation," he said.

TO ALL OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF DISTRICT 30

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

I take this opportunity to correspond with each of you concerning our upcoming election which is to be held on May 10th in District 30. The first thing I would like to do is to apologize to you and your membership for not writing you earlier and expressing my gratitude for the nominations that I received; during nomination time in District 30 I received an encouraging vote of confidence from all Local Unions of District 30, even though there were a few of the Locals that nominated my opponent I still received several votes in those Locals and therefore I lost the nomination in those Locals by small margins. I did receive an overwhelming nomination of twenty-six Local Unions in our District and to tell you that I am pleased with that kind of response from the membership of our District would be an understatement.

We have moved our District forward faster than any other District in this Union membershipwise and, of course, financially, but we have a long way to go and I am certainly not satisfied with the progress we have made; if we are to continue to progress in our District then we must turn our efforts toward organizing non-union mines and in order to do this we must have more representation from the District level. If I am elected your President to serve another four years I assure you that in the Convention this summer we will ask the delegates to give us additional representatives in District 30 under our Constitution.

One other thing that I have been deeply concerned with is education for our membership. If I am elected President, before next Fall we will begin an educational facility in our office wherein we can teach an entire Local Union in Contract or Health and Safety with instructors that will be employed by District 30 with Union Funds and, of course, Federal Grants.

I don't want to go into making all kinds of promises to the membership of things that I cannot do but I will do everything in my power to help the District membership in every way I possibly can; I feel I have done this for all the 18 years I have spent as an Officer of District 30 and I will never change my feelings toward the coal miners in District 30 or anywhere.

All of the Local Unions and delegates at our Contract Conference that was held at Pikeville College a few weeks ago made their demands known to District 30; these demands have been cataloged and they will be delivered to the Bargaining Council by me if I am the President. In these demands we have asked for a substantial wage increase for our miners; we have also asked for an equalization of the pensions that our retired miners are receiving. We have asked that the eligibility of health service cards be determined by the Local Union Officers and not take ten to twelve months waiting on Washington to either approve or cancel a health service card. We have also asked for a complex seniority wherein the companies would not have the right to lease out coal lands and deprive our older members of jobs just because they had leased to some small company, and, of course, many other things that are cataloged in the booklet to be presented to the negotiators at bargaining time.

One other thing that I would mention and it applies to my above statement of the condition of our District. I am sure you are all aware that we now have our own office building that is paid for. We have also set up subdistrict offices in Prestonsburg and Jenkins to better serve our membership in these areas. The District 30 treasury is in a fairly sound condition. We have Certificates of Deposit where your money is drawing interest and if you would like to check these savings accounts you can check with Secretary-Treasurer Mullins who has the Certificates of Deposit in the safe or you can check with the banks. We have your money in Floyd Federal Savings and Loan and First National Bank both in Prestonsburg; Pikeville National Bank and Trust Company in Pikeville; First Guaranty Bank in Martin, and in the UMWA Federal Credit Union. None of these deposits are less than $20,000; most of them are $30,000. Further, we always maintain from $15,000 to $35,000 in the District checking account to pay Umpires and other necessary expenses your District must pay. This is just part of the things that through proper management we have been able to accomplish with the help of all the Officers of District 30.

I will not burden you any further with this letter; I would only ask that you and your membership vote and support me in this election in any way you can and I will remain available to you at any hour you wish to call.

Thank you for letting me serve the last four years for you and I am hopeful that you will elect me to serve you for the next four years.

With best wishes and kindest regards to our membership of District 30, I remain

Fraternally yours,
SQUIRE FELTNER, President
District 30, UMWA

State Law Requires Septic Tank Cleaners To Get Bond, License

Septic tank cleaning services may be operating in Kentucky without bonding and licensing required by state law. And according to reports received by consumer health officials in the Department for Human Resources, the unlicensed tank cleaners could cause health hazards.

"An unlicensed septic tank cleaner could do damage to septic systems and may not dispose of waste products properly," Don Dixon, sanitation branch manager of the Division of Consumer Health Protection, said.

"Consumers may have no recourse if improper cleaning methods used by unlicensed persons result in property damage," Dixon said.

Licensed septic tank cleaners must post a $1,000 bond before they can operate in Kentucky. The bond covers any property damage which could occur, Dixon explained.

"Consumers should ask a septic tank cleaner for proof of licensing in Kentucky," said Dixon. Law requires the license number to be painted on the operator's vehicle.

"Persons licensed and bonded in Kentucky are held accountable for their procedures and disposal of waste," Dixon said. "Unlicensed or 'fly-by-night' operators, on the other hand, may not use hygienic methods and could be dumping septic waste improperly."

Dixon noted that anyone questioning whether a cleaning service is licensed should contact the nearest local health department.

Kentucky's $1.2 Million To Help Ashland Facility

Ashland, Ky.—Kentucky Commerce Commissioner W. Terry McBrayer announced Friday that the state will provide $1.2 million for establishment of a convention center and Appalachian cultural park here.

"The state Convention Center Advisory Board is happy to approve the request of the Greater Ashland Area Cultural and Economic Development Foundation for $1,259,600 for this project," McBrayer said at a news conference.

"The state feels that the park and convention center complex will help provide entertainment and employment opportunities for the people of the area," McBrayer added.

Total cost of the Ashland project—the state grant represents a 50-50 matching fund—will be $2.4 million. It will include a convention center, designed to accommodate large meetings of civic and other groups, and an amphitheatre.

Also, a cultural park to preserve and exhibit Appalachian culture is planned. Part of the park will contain a reconstruction of author-poet Jesse Stuart's one-room school house, as well as museum of Appalachian artifacts housed in the Jean Thomas "Wee House in the Woods," which will be moved to the park site.

The state grant money is part of a $7.5 million Convention Center Development Fund set up by the 1976 General Assembly at the request of Gov. Julian M. Carroll in order to help medium-size Kentucky cities develop convention facilities.

Three other areas—Bowling Green, Paducah, and Northern Kentucky—have requested convention center funds.

Floyd County Needs Lewis as Sheriff

As the election is only three weeks away, I feel that I should make the following statements:

I have a son, DOUG LEWIS, who is seeking the nomination for Sheriff of Floyd County. His position on the ballot will be number 8.

Doug was 26 years old in January, of 1977. He graduated from Betsy Layne High School in 1968. He graduated from Prestonsburg Community College, also attended Law Enforcement School and has a certificate completing his class. He worked as part-time clerk while he was attending Prestonsburg Community College. For the past three and a half years he has worked as Commonwealth Detective and as Deputy Sheriff. As a Deputy Sheriff he has worked long hours, and without his help I would have been faced with many hardships, of which he has been a great relief. When I would have to be away for a day or two he was left in charge and things went exactly the way he was told.

As of this date I have never had to whip Doug Lewis for anything. He has always been eager to follow my advice. I have never known or ever heard of him ever having any dealings with any kind of narcotics or alcoholic beverages.

Under our present Constitution the outgoing Sheriff cannot be an active deputy, but there is no law saying that I could not ride with a deputy to investigate a crime of any kind. If Doug Lewis is elected to serve you as your Sheriff, I promise you I will assist him in every way possible in office as well as in the county. I further assure you that that there will not be any type of organized crime and that the office be operated honest as it has been in the past three and a half years.

Your vote will be appreciated, and, if elected, we will do our best.

MINISTER ENDORSES LEWIS

Friends of Floyd County, as one of the Gospel ministers of this county, and a concerned citizen, I'm concerned about our laws of this county and making sure they are enforced, and to make sure they are enforced we need good, strong, honest and capable Law Enforcers.

I am proud of our present Sheriff and his staff. I am proud of our county. I want it to be a clean place where I can raise my children. It blesses my heart when I see our Sheriff's Department taking the stand that they are taking to try their best to rid our county of drug pushers and bootleggers. I praise God for these men.

That is why I ask all that are really concerned about our county, our children and the moral pureness of our society to vote in the May election for the only candidate who has proved to us with his experience that he is the man we need as Sheriff of Floyd County—a fine, outstanding man, Doug Lewis. He needs our vote—and we need him.

PREACHER BOB VARNEY
Pastor, Benedict Baptist Chapel

T and T Coal Company endorses Doug Lewis for Sheriff

T and T Coal Company, of Galveston, Floyd County, with the greatest of pleasure endorses Doug Lewis for Sheriff of Floyd County, Kentucky.

We have known Doug Lewis since he was a small boy and have especially known him as a Deputy Sheriff and his outstanding work he has done in catching bootleggers, drunks, drunk drivers and dealers and users of narcotics.

He has arrested our own boys for public intoxication and placed them in jail. He has been seen at late hours of the morning watching for law violators while you and I were asleep.

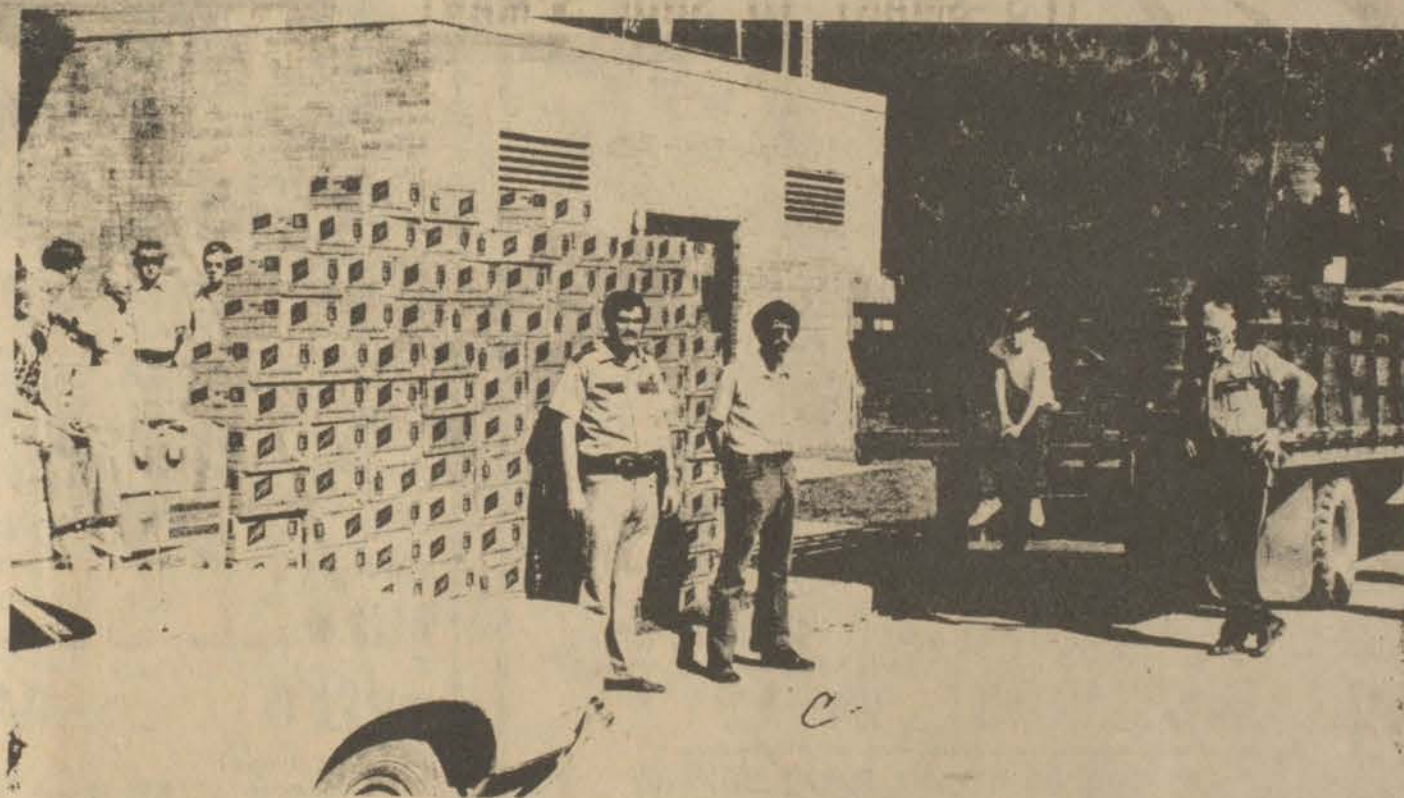

Go to the election on May 24, 1977 and cast your vote for Doug Lewis for your next Sheriff. The life he may save could be yours or mine. It is much easier to go to jail and pay a small fine and get your boy out of jail than it is to go to some lonesome graveyard.

BENNIE TACKETT
Galveston, Ky.

Item 1. — One Reason Why We Support Doug Lewis For Sheriff

On the 13th day of July, 1974 at 3:45 a.m., this load of alcoholic beverages was confiscated by Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis and Deputy Williams. This is ONE reason the Floyd County Christian Dry League endorses Doug Lewis for Sheriff of Floyd County.

FLOYD COUNTY CHRISTIAN DRY LEAGUE
DELMER SANDERS, Chairman
D. M. HUTCHINSON, Vice Chairman

ILLEGAL BOOZE—Floyd County deputy sheriffs pose beside a big load of whiskey and beer taken in one of 85 raids conducted by the sheriff's office this year. Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis, the first sheriff ever reelected in Floyd County, considers a crackdown on bootleg operations as one of the chief responsibilities of his office.

C and H Coal Company Endorses Doug Lewis for Sheriff

As the election is getting closer, I feel it is time for each and every concerned citizen of Floyd County to seriously consider who will be best fitted and who will make the best SHERIFF for all the people of Floyd County, Kentucky.

All candidates should be judged by their past record as well as their record at the present time. Two of the candidates have served you as SHERIFF in the past, I am sure you are familiar with their terms in office. Others have been with the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, some have been employed as Jenny Wiley Lake Patrolmen. I am sure some people are familiar with their reputation as officers.

I have personally known Doug Lewis practically all his life and I have worked with him as a deputy sheriff and I have never seen any officer, old or young, who could conduct himself any better than Doug Lewis while making an arrest. His record to you speaks for itself as being active in the fight against bootlegging, narcotics dealers and users as well as catching thieves, drunks and drunk drivers.

I am asking all good citizens, old and young, to go to the election on May 24, 1977 and cast your vote for a better Floyd County and by so doing you will cast your vote for DOUG LEWIS for your next Sheriff. His position on the ballot is Number 8.

COMMUNISTS BACK KIDNAPING OF EL SALVADOR OFFICIAL

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador—El Salvador's outlawed Communist Party expressed support Saturday for the kidnaping of Foreign Minister Mauricio Borgonovo.

A statement given to news agencies said the party had no connection with the Farabundo Marti Popular Liberation Front that abducted Borgonovo Tuesday. But it said the kidnaping was "a just action of self defense for human rights grossly trampled in our country by the military dictatorship."

The marriage of Miss Karen Lynn Williams, of McDowell, and Mr. Elisha Branham, Jr., of Banner, was solemnized at the Old Beaver Church at Minnie, April 8. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the bride's father, Elder Clifford Williams.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, James Williams.

After a wedding trip to Columbus, Ohio, the couple are now residing at McDowell.

Perkins Sees Opportunity To Improve School Situation

Pledging his "whole-hearted cooperation" in solving school financial problems, U.S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins (D-Kentucky) in a speech at Lexington assured educators from 10 southern states that Congress recognizes the financial plight of elementary and secondary schools.

Speaking before the Southeastern Conference for School Finance Equalization, Perkins said, "I view this period (the upcoming legislative session) as a tremendous opportunity to improve elementary and secondary programs, and at the same time make these programs for you people at the state and local level less burdensome to administer."

Perkins commented that the federal government must become a better partner in supplying additional funds to the schools in the future.

"Pressures at the local level have intensified in the past decade to broaden and improve curricula, reduce class size, utilize new technology and media, provide supplemental services and to improve and update school facilities," Perkins said.

"Along with these demands, school systems have, like every other segment of our economy, been confronted with substantially rising costs," he continued.

Despite substantial increases in federal funding, federal money "represents less than seven per cent of the funds being expended for elementary and secondary education."

According to Perkins, states are moving in the direction of more equitable distribution of funds for school finance.

But equal educational opportunities for every child, regardless of his place of residence, will not be possible, Perkins said, "until additional federal funds are made available to the states to assist the states in augmenting funds to those school systems which cannot adequately finance elementary and secondary school programs."

Perkins also expressed confidence that the present administration and Congress can work together to simplify educational programs which have become complicated to administer.

He recommended that Congress "take a long, hard look at each and every program, receive input from a wide range of groups and gather all the information we can about how they are operating now."

The conference focused on school finance equalization and its status in the southeastern states. Educators from Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee attended the conference, which was coordinated by the Kentucky Department of Education.

State Supreme Court To Hear Floyd TV Case

Oral arguments will be heard by the Kentucky Supreme Court at 10:45 a.m. May 19 in the case of the Akers TV System vs. the Floyd fiscal court.

The appeal is from the Floyd circuit court decision affirming the action of the fiscal court in granting television franchisees and limiting areas of TV service.

The Poor People's Candidate

HOLLAND B. HURLEY

Democratic Candidate for

SHERIFF FLOYD COUNTY

Strong Union Man...Vietnam Veteran.

Ladies and gentlemen, I am Holland B. Hurley, Democratic candidate for Sheriff of Floyd county.

I know that the election is just a few weeks away. This election will determine who will run your Sheriff's office for the next four years. I hope when you go to the election that you will think about it on the way.

I know a lot of you people haven't talked to me and I also was flooded and haven't been out like I should.

As you know a Sheriff is a public servant—he should serve all the people, not just a chosen few. He must have deputies who can and will serve the public.

I pledge to not hire anyone that is a relative of mine. I also will clean up drugs and bootleggers. I promise that I will have deputies on the highway 24 hours a day. Also, someone will be in the Sheriff's office at all times.

I want it understood if elected Sheriff, I will be your Sheriff from the first day I take office to the last. I will have an up-to-date Sheriff's Department.

I will try to get some Federal money so deputies can have the proper training. A law enforcement officer should be neat and respectful, and set an example for the public.

I would also like for the public to know that I didn't put any big signs up. I am putting all the money up myself. I won't be a puppet on a string—if elected, the people of Floyd county will do it, not the bootleggers. A vote for me now, is a vote for yourself. And I would like for the people who are tearing down my signs to know, I hope you are having fun. Thank you.

HOLLAND B. HURLEY

Pike Airplane Crash Fatal to Ohio Man

FAA officials are investigating the cause of a Sunday morning plane crash that took the life of a Columbus, Ohio resident at Pikeville.

Officials said that a single-engine Beechcraft plane piloted by Alonzo Worrax, 45, apparently suffered engine failure while approaching the Pikeville airport. Worrax was the plane's only occupant. State Police said the plane brushed some power lines and crashed onto U.S. 23, north of Pikeville.

The victim was pronounced dead on the scene by Pike County Coroner Bradford Hall.

Mr. Worrax was a native of Pike county, where his mother, Mrs. Thursa Worrax, yet resides. He also is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen Skeans Worrax, and two children, of Columbus, and a sister, Mrs. Linton Blackburn, of Pike county. He was a cousin of Bradley Worrax, of Allen.

Student Funds In Flood Areas Total $100,000

Gov. Julian Carroll has signed an emergency regulation reserving $100,000 in college student aid funds for families affected by the flooding in Southeastern Kentucky earlier this month.

In addition to setting aside the $100,000 specifically for grants to the flood victims, the Higher Education Assistance Authority regulation will give the families more flexibility in updating their financial status to reflect their loss of homes, businesses or other property.

Gov. Carroll also said he had been advised that additional federal money will be made available to flood victims who need more aid this school year. "Colleges can apply for the money and then pass it on to the students under the College Work Study Program and the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant Program," Gov. Carroll said. "We are working on trying to get additional federal funds for the flood victims for next school year as well."

The assistance authority estimates there could be approximately 2,000 students affected. Those students may plan to attend any of the eight post-secondary education institutions in the flood-stricken area or elsewhere.

Students normally are encouraged to apply for grants administered by the assistance authority by April 1 and the available money is distributed soon after that. The money for flood victims now will be reserved until July 15.

The grants start at $200 and range up to $850 for students attending private schools and $300 for those at public institutions. Eligibility is determined by a family's income and assets.

Paul Borden, executive director of the authority, said that agency is investigating the possibility of getting increased federal funds for students in families affected by the floods.

By LARRY BURKE

There is a story told on the light side, that goes something like this:

A young man was writing to his girl friend. "Darling, there is nothing I would not do for you. I'd swim the widest ocean, I'd climb the highest mountain, I'll see you Saturday night, if it doesn't rain!"

It's remarkable how sometimes inconvenience can change a person's attitude. Some people will do anything as long as it is convenient. The great people of the world are those who are helpful and considerate regardless of conveniences. The world becomes a better world because of such people. A community becomes a better place to live when you have considerate neighbors. Nothing stands in the way of people who are determined to be helpful. And for these people—we breathe a prayer of thanks.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "CONSIDERATE PEOPLE, ARE THOSE WHO ARE MOST LOVED."

WHY?

To the Citizens of Floyd County:

During my term of office, I gave a statement to the Floyd County Times that I would not be a Candidate for Public Office in the future. As most of you know I was having problems with my health. Since that time the following events have occurred:

1. Thank God that my physical condition has cleared up. My doctor has given me a complete physical and pronounced me in excellent health.

2. We have elected a Democrat President and he has outlined an excellent program for counties such as Floyd.

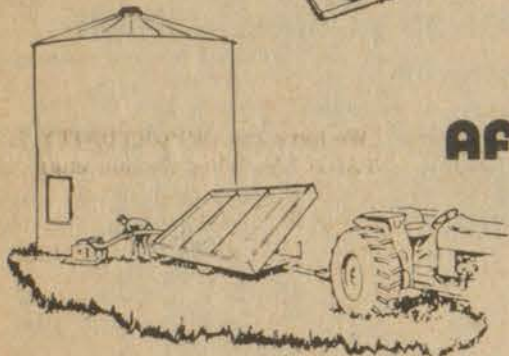

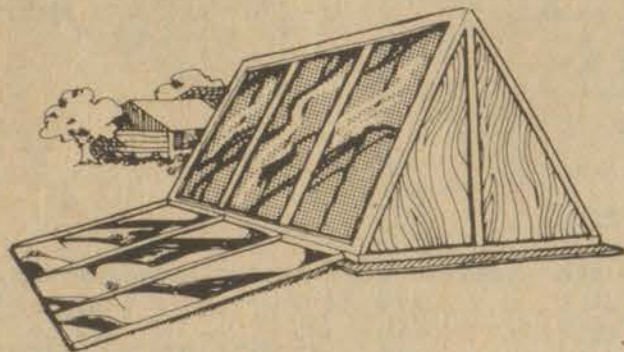

3. I have been elected Chairman of the ADD Board for this District, which includes several counties in Eastern Kentucky. This Board is responsible for placing large sums of Federal Money in this District. As Chairman of the ADD Board I am in a position to see that Floyd County receives its fair share of such funds. If someone else were elected Judge of Floyd County, the Chairmanship would go to another county. For these reasons I have been persuaded by the good people of Floyd County to seek re-election.

Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

In the Matter of:

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION RATES
UNDERGROUND COAL MINING

NOTICE AND ORDER

WHEREAS, all underground coal mining employers in the Commonwealth of Kentucky subject to Workmen's Compensation are affected by the proposed rate decreases recently filed by the National Council on Compensation Insurance, and

WHEREAS, the National Council on Compensation Insurance has filed a proposed rate decrease for all such annual Workmen's Compensation rates, NOW, THEREFORE, pursuant to KRS 304.13-050, you will take notice that the Commissioner of Insurance deems it in the public interest to hold a public hearing to determine whether or not the filing of the National Council on Compensation Insurance dated April 25, 1977, meets the requirements of KRS 304.13-010 through KRS 304.13-330.

The hearing will be held on Tuesday, May 24, 1977, at the hour of 10:00 a.m. (EDT) in Rooms 1-3, Capital Plaza Sports Center, Frankfort, Kentucky and will continue so long thereafter as may be necessary.

The proposed rate filing is based upon the following considerations:

1. The effect of Kentucky House Bill 28 on Compensation rates and on the overall cost of Workers' Compensation for underground coal mines. The overall change in benefits effective January 1, 1977, represents an average decrease of 4.9 percent.

2. The effect of the automatic benefit increase effective January 1, 1977. The effect of this benefit change increases workers compensation rates for coal miners by 3.7 percent.

3. The effect of revisions of disease and traumatic rates effective January 1, 1977.

A. The proposed change in disease rates for codes 1005 and 1009, which reflects the combination of state and federal occupational disease rate, results in a 58.4 percent decrease in the present disease rates. The proposed change in the disease rate for code 1016, which reflects the combination of a state and federal occupational disease rate results in a 64.0 percent decrease in the present disease rate.

B. The large mine revised traumatic rate represents a decrease of 19.0 percent below the existing traumatic rate while the small mine revised traumatic rate represents a decrease of 21.5 percent below the existing traumatic rate.

The filing and supporting information filed therewith is open for public inspection in the Department of Insurance, Second Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky, during regular office hours on any Monday through Friday prior to the hearing date.

Pursuant to 806 KAR 2:080, any person with a valid interest wishing to intervene as a party herein (with the right to present evidence and cross-examine witnesses) shall file with the Commissioner of Insurance a written application showing good cause therefor. This Notice and Order to be effective this 28th day of April, 1977

Flood Cause Report Nears Release Date

A comprehensive analysis of factors that may have contributed to the devastating floods in Southeastern and Eastern Kentucky will be released by the state early next week.

The report, which will include information regarding what possible effects strip mining and other factors had on the disaster, is being coordinated by the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Gene Brandenburg, director of the division of water quality, was assigned to head up the study and said the report was still being compiled as of yesterday.

"We plan to work the week-end on it," Brandenburg said. "But we hope to submit it to the commissioner by Monday."

The study began immediately after the flooding in Southeastern and Eastern Kentucky earlier this month to determine what factors caused the flooding to be so severe. Preliminary damage estimates peg the loss at more than $100 million from the flood, which left thousands homeless and affected a 15-county area.

Brandenburg said the report will also offer recommendations the state can undertake to prevent a similar occurrence not only in Eastern Kentucky but the entire state.

"The major purpose is not to cast the blame on anyone or any one thing," Brandenburg said. "We're going to try to offer some recommendations to prevent a disaster of this magnitude from happening again."

Gov. Julian Carroll, several days after the flood, said he didn't believe strip mining would be labeled as the major reason the flooding was so severe. However, other officials, including some in neighboring West Virginia, have maintained strip mining helped contribute to the disaster.

Brandenburg said the conclusions could not be released at this time, but gave some indications as to what will be contained in the report:

—A survey of what effect industrial development in flood plain areas had on the flood.

—The effect, if any, that strip mining and coal production had on the area of the flood.

—The exact amount of precipitation that fell in certain areas and how fast the waters rose on the Cumberland, Big Sandy and Levisa Fork Rivers.

—The success or failure of the dams and floodwalls in the area to prevent more serious flooding.

Brandenburg served as coordinator on the survey, with information being obtained from the bureau of reclamation, bureau of land resources and director of reclamation. In addition, field workers quizzed U.S. Army Corps of Engineers officials and river forecasters at the National Weather Service offices across the state.

However, no residents of the affected areas were interviewed by the state.

"We had great cooperation from everyone concerned in compiling this report," Brandenburg said. "We have a lot of data to sift through yet this week-end, however."

A problem encountered by the researchers was the inability to get all of the information in such a short amount of time.

"Take the weather service, for example. They had the rainfall figures we needed but to get all of the information we needed in a matter of two weeks was rather difficult," Brandenburg said.

Brandenburg said, once the report is released, he is sure other "follow-up" studies will be made and there would be ample discussion of the survey. However, at this time, he said he was not aware of any plans by the state to conduct any full-scale hearings in Southeastern or Eastern Kentucky to obtain the views of victims of the flooding.

CATHOLICS TRYING TO DECIDE POLICY TOWARD COMMUNISTS

MADRID—Now that the Communist Party is legal in Spain after being banned for 38 years, Roman Catholic leaders are grappling with what the church's policy should be toward Catholics who are active in the party.

Enrique Prefasi, the Spanish Communist leader in charge of relations with religious groups, says there are about 400 Catholics active in the party, including 12 priests. He says another 30 priests are sympathizers.

Health Tips

Psoriasis

The name of the ailment is psoriasis (so RYE ah sis).

It is a skin disorder that affects at least one out of 50 persons in the United States.

It's exact cause is not known. There is no sure cure.

Psoriasis appears as itchy, silvery-scaled red patches on the elbows, knees, scalp, trunk, and on the hands and other parts of the body.

The under arm and genital areas may be involved. The elbows, knees and trunk most frequently are the areas with the characteristic thick red scaling plaques. In the scalp, red plaques with sharp borders usually are visible at the hair line. These shed large quantities of silvery white scales resembling severe dandruff.

Acute psoriasis causes many small, raindrop-like lesions on the body.

Much more is known about psoriasis today than in the past. It is not an infection, and is not contagious. It may be hereditary. Injury to the skin sometimes precedes psoriatic lesions.

Changes in the seasons cause variations in the lesions. Psoriasis usually improves during the summer and worsens during the winter.

Certain medications and treatments are now available that often alleviate the symptoms and ease the problem of psoriasis. They do not cure, and the condition returns when the treatment is discontinued. In some instances psoriasis responds well to sunlight at the beach or outdoors elsewhere, particularly during the summer.

There are medications that your physician can prescribe to help remove the scales and ease the itching. Research still continues in a number of centers in efforts to learn the cause and to find means to prevent and cure psoriasis. Until that time arrives, the patient's understanding of the disease and sympathetic understanding by his friends, family, physician and others will greatly lessen the burden for those who must live with it.

To Observe Hospital Week

Sister Gabriella prepares decorations for Baby Day which will be observed Thursday, May 12. All mothers who gave birth at Our Lady of the Way between May, 1976 and May, 1977 are invited to bring their babies for a party in their honor. This is a part of the hospital's National Hospital Week observance.

National Hospital Week, May 8-14, will be a time for Our Lady of the Way Hospital to spotlight services it provides all year.

This year's theme, "We Put the Care in Health Care," salutes hospital people for preserving the old-fashioned quality of caring while providing the most modern medical treatment.

At Our Lady of the Way, several events have been planned for the week. Free coffee and donuts will be served daily in the lobby; gifts will be presented patients upon admission; quilts given to all newborn babies; selection of a "Patient of the Day"; and evening prayers will be led by local ministers. In addition to these activities, a special event is planned for each day.

National Hospital Week is an annual observance sponsored by the American Hospital Association to give people an opportunity to learn more about hospitals in their community and to celebrate good health care. Our Lady of the Way Hospital hopes that as many Floyd countians as possible will participate in this observance.

Talks on Aging Set May 18-19 at WKU

The Department for Human Resources' (DHR) Institute for Aging has scheduled a "Conference on Aging" for Kentucky's Older Citizens on Wednesday and Thursday, May 18-19 at Western Kentucky University at Bowling Green. Gov. Julian Carroll, the conference's sponsor, is scheduled as a speaker.

Fannie B. Dorsey, chairperson of the Institute said, "We have been forced to limit attendance at some of the functions at the conference because of inadequate accommodations available to us. There are," she indicated, "few places large enough to contain all of Kentucky's active, interested and involved older citizens."

"However," Mrs. Dorsey continued, "everyone—older citizens as well as those involved or interested in the process of aging—is welcome to attend any or all of the general sessions. There are three general sessions planned."

Dr. Arthur Flemming, commissioner of the National Administration on Aging will address the May 18 opening session at 1:30 p.m. Regional director for the administration, Frank Nicholson, is scheduled to welcome the conferees.

The second general session is scheduled for 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesday and will be followed by entertainment. The final session is scheduled for 11 a.m. Thursday.

Those interested in attending should contact their Area Agency on Aging at the office of their Area Development District (ADD) as soon as possible.

Lost Opportunities

"He found no place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears". Hebrews 12:17.

The story of Esau is very enlightening to us and of that certain day when he yielded to a physical appetite. He surely must have given some deliberation to the value of his birthright—the family overlordship or clan leadership. But this was very vague to him at this moment because his body was crying out for immediate satisfaction. So, "for one morsel of meat, Esau sold his birthright". But despite his earnestness and sincerity Esau found the door to yesterday forever closed.

An Ancient Greek statue, long since crumbled to dust, lives in a famous dialog which has survived our times between a traveler and the statue. "What is thy name, O' Statue?" "I am called opportunity." "Who made thee?" "Lysippus." "Why art thou on thy toes?" "To show how quick I pass by." "But why is thy hair so long on thy forehead?" "That men may seize me as they meet me." "Why then is thy head so bald behind?" "to show when I have passed I cannot be caught".

Little children love to play along the beach, grasping in their hands the golden sand, and the lighter they hold and squeeze, the faster the tiny grains seems to escape from their clutch. It is thus, alas, that many of life's priceless opportunities trickle through our careless fingers day by day.

Take for example the opportunity to TRUST IN JESUS. The heart of Jesus hungers for trust and confidence in Him. The day Phillip said, "Whence shall we buy bread to feed this group of people. Two hundred pennyworths of bread would not be sufficient for such a crowd. Yes, it is true this was a great company of people, tired, hungry and weary but Jesus had just what they needed. He challenged Phillip's faith that day to completely trust him but Phillip failed the test of trusting Jesus even tho he could not see how it could be done. Phillip might have thrilled the spirit of the master that fateful day, but he failed even tho the miracle was performed. I wonder if we, by our trust, are gratifying the expectant heart of our blessed Saviour?"

Then, too, there is the OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW OUR COLORS. Pilate called out one day, "What shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ? They cried, Let Him be crucified!"

Way of the Cross Outreach

Rev. Miss Jean C. Hale, Pastor

You say, how awful, what a terrible scene this was. Had not Jesus touched the eyes of the blind and recovered their sight? Did He not open their deaf ears, cleanse the lepers? Yes, even raised the dead? And now in the desperate hour of His need where were His apostles? Where are the faithful ones? Where are the multitudes He has blessed and comforted? There is not a single protest, there is not a single voice cast for His acquittal.

The times in which we live demand that we show our colors also. We must declare on which side we fight. For God or the god of this world.

There are opportunities to WIN OTHERS. "I ought to have been yours", said a young woman one day to Francis Ridley Havergall. "What do you mean, my dear?" "I was desperately anxious and troubled," replied the young woman, "and so I put myself in your way, hoping you would speak to me. But it was someone else who introduced me to Jesus Christ, (you passed me day by day and knew I was astray)".

And what about our loved ones, friends, neighbors and fellow-workers? Have we not tongues to speak, pens to write, lines to consecrate and prayers to offer? There are so many in whom we are truly interested. We mean to speak to them—sometime. But the days go by, our programs are full, and then one day we learn that OUR PROSPECT IS DEAD.

We have the OPPORTUNITY TO STAND BY. When Joshua engaged the forces of Amalek, Moses gave himself to intercessory prayer, and while his arms were uplifted, Israel prevailed, but when they dropped, the advantage was with Amalek. Then Aaron and Hur came to the aid of Moses, each supporting an arm. So Joshua and his men won the victory.

The last opportunity I wish to speak to you is given in a "Glorious Invitation". Do not answer as Felix did, "Go thy way this time, when I have a convenient season I will call for thee". That convenient season never returned for Felix. So, it could happen to you and your life replaced by some one else. The OPPORTUNITY TO ACCEPT JESUS CHRIST as Lord of your life and saviour is now. Don't put off tomorrow what you can do today.

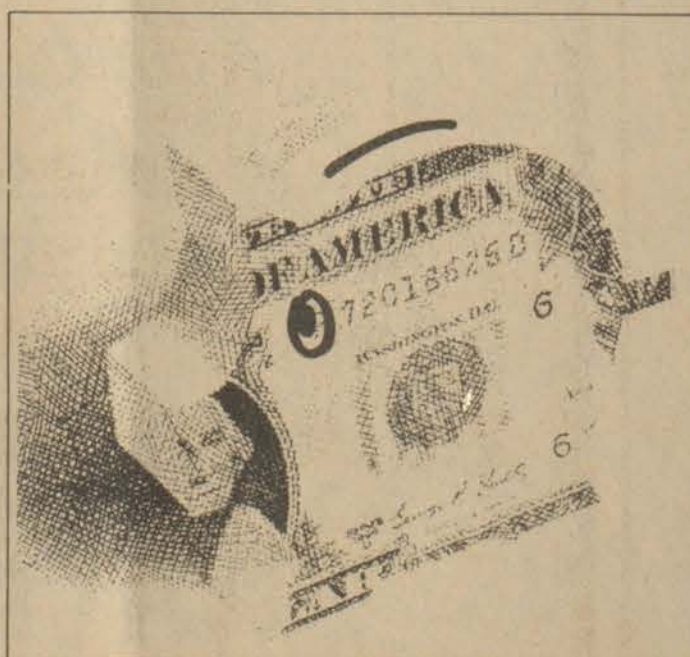

Meet with us at the "Way of the Cross Outreach". We are ready to help you at any time, day or night. We care but most of all, Jesus cares. Ph. 886-8727.

Avon Sends Relief Supplies

Response to the needs of flood victims in Floyd county and other areas hit by the recent flood disaster has been great, with contributions coming from various sections of the county. One of the most recent loads of relief items to be received here consisted of a truck load of various crates of tooth paste, soap, shampoo, hair brushes and shaving cream donated by Avon and received here last Wednesday. Avon branches in Kansas City, Mo., Rye, N. Y., Atlanta, Ga., Springfield, O., and Cincinnati, O. donated goods. The relief items were turned over to the American Red Cross here for distribution.

350 Scouts and Leaders Are Expected at Camporee

More than 350 Scouts and their leaders are expected to assemble at Breaks Interstate Park for the annual camporee of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, according to Arthur Leach, of Prestonsburg, chairman of the council's Scouting committee.

Leach said he had appointed Robert Carpenter, of Prestonsburg, to serve as camporee chief and that the program director responsibilities would be handled by Clyde DeRossett, Sr., also of Prestonsburg. Program events, under the direction of Mr. DeRossett, will be prepared and manned by members of Explorer Post 21 which is sponsored by the Floyd County Rescue Squad.

Scouts from each of the 13 counties (10 counties in Kentucky and 3 in Virginia) have indicated their plans to participate in the camporee which will be held over the week-end of May 13-15 at Breaks Interstate Park.

The camporee is an annual event with the Scouts competing in such activities as knot tying and pioneering abilities, first aid, fire building, tree identification, and active Scout games. All participating Scouts will cook their own meals and plan some of their own activities.

Visitors are welcome at the camporee especially to participate in the Saturday night fun and awards campfire which will start at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 14. An inter-denominational worship service will be held for all of the Scouts on Sunday morning after which time they will be their own until they break camp and return home.

Leach said that each participating Scout will receive a camporee embroidered emblem and each patrol (small group of Scouts) will receive a yellow, red, or blue ribbon depending upon their Scout competence as witnessed by the scores they earned in each of the competitive events.

LET THE BIBLE BE YOUR GUIDE.

A trip to Israel is like leafing through the pages of a living Bible. With illustrations you can't see anywhere else on earth.

See your favorite passages come to life. Visit the domed church on the shore of the Sea of Galilee, traditional site of the Sermon on the Mount, "Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven." (Matthew 5:3)

Travel through Judea to Jericho, the River Jordan and Bethlehem, birthplace of David. You can still visit the grotto where Mary placed the infant Jesus because, "there was no room for them at the inn".

From there, a seven-minute drive (an hour by donkey) will bring you to the gates of Jerusalem, City of Peace, "Go through Zion, walk around her, counting her towers, admiring her walls, reviewing her palaces..." (Psalms 48:12)

Page by page, town by town, you'll relive biblical epics. And you'll follow the words of Jesus and His disciples, "through the cities and the villages, teaching and journeying..." (Luke 13:22)

Come to Israel. You won't need to buy a guidebook because you've already got the best one ever written.

Vote for a Qualified And Experienced Coroner JAMES J. CARTER

My campaign for re-election as Coroner of Floyd County is based on experience and qualifications.

Since you elected me as your Coroner, I have constantly tried to give you my very best service. I have been available by day and night, to go wherever I was needed, to serve in the capacity for which I was chosen. Ask anyone who has witnessed an inquest or an investigation I have conducted about my thoroughness. My record shows I have conducted my office as it should be—with ability and fairness, efficiency and integrity, knowledge and impartiality.

The office of Coroner is important—important to you and important to me. We never know when it will be one of our loved ones who will need the services of a qualified Coroner.

This is an office of dignity and respect, knowledge and experience. Together, we can keep it that way. Remember, when you cast your vote, that you now have a Coroner in office who is reliable, dependable, efficient, available, honest, experienced and qualified. My only interest is upholding the laws and duties of the Coroner's office.

In addition to my 25 years of Coroner, I am a graduate of the Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science. I had two years pre-medical study at Eastern Kentucky University. During World War II, I served three years with the United States Army Medical Department as a surgical technician in the operating room—two years of this service overseas in the European Theater. I have been a licensed funeral director and embalmer for 31 years in my own business.

A vote for me is a vote for the best interest of your friends, your family and yourself. You know you have a Coroner who is qualified by education and experience, who has served you well and will continue to do so.

I will serve you in the future as I have in the past.

Older Buildings . . .

MANY OLDER buildings and places are not only our roots—they are sources of pride in our past achievements. And they enrich our lives today. Support preservation through the Kentucky Heritage Commission during National Historic Preservation Week, May 8-14, and throughout the year.

Volunteers . . .

VOLUNTEERS, bless 'em, provide an estimated $34 billion worth of time every year to churches, schools, hospitals and social agencies. The April Reader's Digest figures that some 37 million volunteers work an average nine hours per week—that's a total of more than 17 billion hours for the year.

Re-elect

J.B. TROUT

International Executive Board Member

J. B. Trout, International Executive Board Member District 30, of Pikeville, Kentucky the UMW of A, states that the Unions' Pension system for retired coal miners and widows is unfair, and needs revising. He is definitely against the "two-pension" plan set forth in the 1974 Coal Wage Agreement with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Under that system, miners who retired prior to January 1, 1974, receive monthly pensions of $225 to $250. Miners who retired after that date receive as much as $500 monthly.

I believe we're all United Mine Workers and should be treated equally. I favor combining the 1950 and 1974 pension plans and so making all pension payments equal. The two plans must be combined for the purpose of protecting all our retired miners. The older retired miner must not be forgotten, because they built this union and made it what it is today.

Miners should not be penalized for having black lung, yet, under the 1974 contract, miners who receive black lung receive $225 whereas, miners who do not, receive $250 monthly.

This union is penalizing a coal miner $25 monthly, because he has black lung. Certainly, miners didn't get black lung because they wanted it. This is one of the reasons I voted against the 1974 Contract. The only way to improve the Contract is through tough bargaining with the coal operators this fall. If I am re-elected, as your District 30 International Executive Member in May, I will be on the Bargaining Council in support of the retired and disabled miners as well as the working miner.

To the People of Dist. 3

I want to introduce myself to all the wonderful people in District 3. I am a candidate for the office of Magistrate and my name is Barbara R. Newsome. I am the wife of Preacher Kermit Newsome. He is the son of Preacher Bert Newsome and Nellie Hamilton Newsome. We have three children—one daughter who resides in Michigan and two sons. We have one grandson. Our family tree consists of the Newsome's, Hamiltons, Halls, Martins, Moores, Tuffles, Tacketts, Jones, Hopkins.

What is more important to you good people is what I would like to do for District 3 if you elect me your Magistrate. I'm not going to make you big promises that I may not be able to fill, but I am going to be a fulltime Magistrate and do all that is in my power to improve the job that a Magistrate should do for everyone and be fair to everyone, not just a choice few. I have a dream for District 3 and with all you good people's help I can make my dream come true. I know this won't be an easy job as it has been neglected so long, but I will do my best to get it done and with your help and confidence I know I can do it. I love the young people. They are our future. I will listen to their ideas and be fair to everyone. I feel very close to our older citizens. They cannot get out and fix these roads themselves as they have already done their part.

I will do all that is in my power to improve ALL our roads that are in such terrible shape. There are bridges that have been neglected for too long. Working together as a community, we can change these things. I want to make this a District we can be proud of. We can do it hand in hand if you will elect me your Magistrate and if you want a change from what we've had in the past.

I am No. 6 on the ballot. Your help and vote will never be forgotten. Go to the polls May 24, 1977, and give me a chance to show you I will do the job.

Your friend,
BARBARA R. NEWSOME
