

EDA Funding Set For City, County

Municipal Bldg., Bridge Projects Promised Funds

Allocations of funds by the Economic Development Administration (EDA) will finance construction of the long-planned Prestonsburg municipal building and will also provide a major part of the construction cost of a bridge across Beaver Creek to connect the Allen recreation center now under construction with the present KY 80.

The amount earmarked for Prestonsburg is $729,000. The county's share of the total of $30 million to be made available to Kentucky communities is $284,000.

Announcement of the availability of these funds was made last week by Senators Ford and Huddleston and Congressman Perkins to County Judge Henry Stumbo, Prestonsburg Mayor Harold Cooley and the Big Sandy Area Development District.

The actual awarding of the grants will await receipt from city and county of additional and required applications. Neither was included in the first round of grants some months ago, but their applications were held by EDA until last week's second round of grants.

Joe McCauley, executive director of Big Sandy ADD, expressed pleasure at the new turn of events following the earlier disappointment. He said four of the five counties in the district have been allocated a total of $1,485,000. Other allocations made include $107,000 to Johnson county, $111,000 to Magoffin and $254,000 to Pike.

The funds were made available under the 1977 Public Works Act to help local (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Mud Creek Mine Hearing Slated

A hearing on a petition to bar a Floyd county strip-mine operator from storing rock and debris above the homes of neighboring families will be held next Monday by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

The petitioners, Willard Johnson and Edgar Howell, are asking the state to deny the Sterling Hamilton Coal Company's request for a hollow fill permit and to revoke the mining permit granted for the operation at Teaberry on Mud Creek. The proposed fill is at the head of a hollow and is described as being 450 feet above several homes. Johnson and Howell also claim that state mine inspectors have cited Hamilton-owned mines 28 times in the last three years for silt control violations and improper handling of slopes below the operations.

Charles Dahlenburg, of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, which is representing the petitioners, said, "It's a matter of life and death for our clients. If those silt ponds fail, the hollow fill comes down on them."

Hamilton said fears of his silt dams and ponds are without basis, that the April flood came and nothing happened. "I've done everything the state reclamation people asked me to do."

Plea for Water Safety . . .

Dewey Reservoir Manager Cites 27-Year Death Toll at Lake

In the 27 years of its impoundment 35 persons have lost their lives by drowning in Dewey Lake, Dean Murray, resource manager, Corps of Engineers, said last week in a discussion of the Corps' attempts to emphasize the importance of water safety.

Already this season, two have drowned there, and a third died by electrocution while in the water, working on a houseboat.

The comparatively small area covered by the lake and the great number of boats it has attracted is one of the problems at Dewey, he pointed out. For example, he said, an estimated 45,000 persons were in the lake area on Memorial Day, and 700 water craft were in operation. The lake has an area of only 1,100 acres. Because the impoundment narrows sharply in its upper reaches, the number of boats on it are mainly confined to only a part of those 1,100 acres.

Ten of the 35 who have drowned were boating. Most of the others were swimming. The first victims, three in one accident, drowned May 13, 1951 when a boat capsized.

The Corps of Engineers, however, does not emphasize only boating safety.

This Town...That World

Times do change. A week ago, I was looking for a fur lining for this straw hat of mine. Today, I would throw the skimmer away if I didn't fear a blistered scalp.

A BIT OF THE PRIMITIVE

On this theme, I might suggest that maybe old times are staging a comeback. Examples:

Last week, I saw a gray fox standing in the middle of Highland here, near the grade school grounds. It disappeared behind a nearby building.

Then, a few days later, a hawk crashed into a rhododendron in our backyard to emerge with a small bird.

Most of us of rural origins can recall those spring days when the whistle of a hawk, several hundred feet in the air, would send the old hen clucking, nervously rounding up her brood and scuttling for cover. And usually the man of the house kept a 12-gauge full-choke loaded, just waiting for that "onery varmint" to show himself around the place again.

We're not entertaining any thoughts of welcoming that hawk back to our premises, and it may be that the hawk isn't too pleased with us, with a place so barren he had to settle for a sparrow instead of a chicken.

Rescue Squad Called To Scene of Drowning

The Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad was called Monday at about 7 p.m. to assist the Johnson County Rescue Squad in the recovery of the body of a 15-year-old River, Ky. youth who drowned a short time earlier in the Big Sandy at River.

The body of Lyle Welch was recovered by the Johnson county squad at 7:55 in a seven-foot-deep "hole" where the youth had been swimming with three companions. Floyd squad Captain Graham Burchett said the youth was described as a poor swimmer.

State Senator Tells Of Threats Received

State Senator Jim Hammond repeated here this week his claim that he has been threatened with either physical or professional harm by unnamed persons who, he thinks, seek to deter him from backing legislation which would set up a seven-member board to regulate all Kentucky insurance rates.

He added that, disturbing as the threats are, they have not "persuaded" him to desist from his support of the legislation. In fact, he said, he attended a meeting in Frankfort last Tuesday of the sub-committee planning to push the Literally hundreds swim in the lake at undesignated, unsupervised points, and this is one of the great dangers. Most swimming fatalities have occurred at Stratton Branch, German bridge and Goble Branch.

All the victims but four have been males.

Percentage wise, the number of fatalities has been small, since it is estimated that the lake has attracted to it 17,453,043 visitors since it was impounded. "But one life is too precious to lose," Murray remarked.

Mr. Murray said the Corps is encouraging everybody to take an active part in learning the principles of water safety and in practicing it. Corps of Engineers personnel has films on water safety and the equipment required for safe operation of all sizes of water craft, and it shows these at every opportunity.

Dewey Lake is patrolled this year only by Corps personnel. The state Division of Boating has not had an officer there during 1977. As a consequence, many violations go undetected, one of which is the operation of a boat drawing one or more skiers without a second person in the boat itself.

Pay Raise Dated From January 1

Meeting for the first time since the May 24 primary in which all its members were involved, the Floyd fiscal court voted unanimously Monday that salary increases previously voted be retroactive to last Jan. 1.

At the April 25 meeting of the court the salaries of magistrates were set at $12,000 a year and that of the county judge at $18,000. Salaries of the county clerk, sheriff and jailer were limited to no more than $18,000.

By a split vote the court voted Coroner James J. Carter $200 a month for expenses, effective July 1. The magistrates divided on the issue—Bill Wells and Leroy Akers voting for, Dewey Roberts and Kenneth Roberts opposing it—and County Judge Henry Stumbo cast the deciding vote. The coroner's salary was earlier set at $4,800 a year.

The court rescinded its order of August 7, 1974 in which it granted to Hershell Owens and C. J. McNally use of county-owned road right-of-way on the old Middle Creek road. Residents of the neighborhood had protested reported plans to install a coal-loading facility there which would have involved construction of a sidetrack.

A resolution adopted at Monday's meeting provides that the David Water District shall have ownership and title to that part of the water system under construction to that community by the Beaver Elkhorn Water District. The resolution provides that Beaver Elkhorn shall have title to the remaining portion of the system within its boundaries. The court action was in accordance with the position taken by HUD and ARC which are financing the water system extension from Brush Creek across the mountain to serve the left fork of Middle Creek and extend on to David. The fiscal court has received a $300,000 HUD grant for this work and is the administrator of both the HUD and ARC grants.

Magistrate Kenneth Roberts voted against the order directing that the court advertise for bids on painting the interior of first-floor offices in the new Court-house Annex building, and abstained on two other motions, both of which passed. These authorized play on the Allen golf course as long as work on the recreation center is not interfered with and the purchase of a mower for the golf course at a cost not to exceed $2,300.

The court also voted:
—To finance construction of a water line to Spradlin Branch, near here, when and if the funds are available, the work to be done by the city of Prestonsburg and to cost not more than $31,146.
—To authorize Otis Blackburn to install a 10-inch concrete pipe on the Mare Creek road at his own expense.

Supreme Court Upholds Sykes Murder Term

The Floyd circuit court conviction of Robert D. Sykes as a conspirator with three others in the slaying of Mrs. Gladys Deskins in 1971 in the Johns Creek section of Pike county was upheld Friday by the Kentucky Supreme Court.

Sykes, who was tried here in September, 1975 on a change of venue from the Pike circuit court, was given a life pen term. The jury found him guilty of conspiring with Mrs. Deskins' husband, Boone Deskins, Willard (Woody) Christian and William Eugene Thompson to kill the women.

Prior to the Sykes trial here, Deskins himself and Thompson were convicted in Pike county trials and sentenced to life terms.

The Supreme Court opinion, written by Justice Pleas Jones, said, in part: "This court is of the opinion that Sykes had more than a 'tolerably fair trial,'" Justice Pleas Jones wrote for the court.

Ohio Girls Here on Overland Ride

Kris Jensen (left) and Debbie Hart prepare to "hit the road" again after a brief stop here last Thursday to feed their horses.

Debbie Hart, 19, and Kris Jensen, 21, always talked about taking a long ride on horseback, so on May 16 they left on their long-planned trip from their homes near Cleveland, Ohio. Last Thursday when they stopped at the feed store on South Lake Drive here they were well over halfway to their destination—Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

The girls and their three horses, an Apaloosa and two "greys," have followed the backroads as much as possible on their equestrian adventure, staying overnight at farms and camping at state parks and public campgrounds.

Averaging approximately 20 miles a day, the young Ohioans have followed road maps, plotting their course from day to day and riding along the right-of-way of various routes. The horses are rotated, with each animal taking his turn as pack horse to carry bedrolls, food and other provisions. The girls say their trip thus far has been accident-free and, although a few passing motorists (mostly males) have shouted and waved, they have generally been greeted with

Alleges Fraud Marred Voting In 4th District

The lone contest action filed as an aftermath of the May 24 primary election is that of Sandy Boyd against Herschel Hamilton, the declared winner of the Democratic nomination for magistrate in District 4. On the face of the official returns Boyd lost the election by only 29 votes.

Boyd's suit was filed last Wednesday, the last day for a primary contest action.

His petition alleges that "there was such fraud, intimidation, bribery or violence in the conduct of the . . . election" that Hamilton cannot be adjudged to have been fairly nominated. He asks that the nomination of Hamilton be set aside and that he (Boyd) be adjudged the nominee; or, in the alternative, that the nomination be declared vacant.

The petitioner asked that the vote totals in two precincts be disregarded in the final tabulation. These precincts are Head of Mud and Antioch.

In the Head of Mud precinct, Boyd alleges, the votes recorded on the voting machine were 10 more than the number of voters who signed the precinct signature book, and Merie Tackett, deceased, was one of those listed as a voter. In the precinct 379 votes were tabulated but only 269 signed the precinct register, the petition claims.

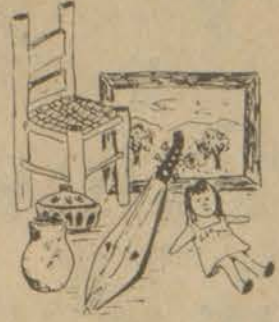

In Antioch precinct 367 votes were recorded by the voting machine but only 359 signed the signature book, it is alleged. The petitioner also claims that at least 15 of the signatures on the register were signed by the same person and that Sie Hamilton, deceased, was listed as having voted.

Boyd alleged that there were other instances of fraud and improper voting in the two precincts but these were not particularized.

We Missed Another

The Times attempted last week to correct the incomplete list of nominees for office when it added the names of two Republican candidates who were unopposed in the primary. Now it learns that yet another has been missed—Dallas Shepherd, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination for constable in District 2. Mr. Shepherd will oppose Bob Hackworth, Democrat, for the office.

Health Tip

SUN AND SKIN
Want to get a good, painful, blistering sunburn?

It's easy. Just stay out in the sun in your shorts or swim suit all day on the first truly hot, sunny day of the summer season. You'll get your burn.

Or, do you want to begin picking up a summer tan without burning?

That's easy, too. Just follow the simple rules of the American Medical Association: 15 to 20 minutes exposure the first day; 20 to 25 minutes the second day; 25 to 30 minutes the third day; 30 to 35 minutes the fourth day. Thereafter base exposure time on the degree of redness and tenderness of your skin. The shorter exposures are for those with light skin; the longer times are for darker skin.

Remember this about tanning—it can't be rushed. Trying to rush it will only result in a burn. The burned skin will peel, leaving you pale and pink again.

Of course, the AMA also points out that there is no health value in tanning. In fact, it contributes to early aging, and wrinkling of the skin, and to proliferation of skin cancer. But, if you insist on a tan, start slow and build up gradually.

Consider the time of day for your suntanning. The sun's rays are most potent between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., standard time. You won't get much tan before 8 a.m. or after 4 p.m., standard time. Don't forget that you can burn on cloudy days, on the water, and at high altitudes.

Suntan lotion can be helpful in preventing a burn and promoting a tan. The lotions contain a chemical sun screen that absorbs some of the rays, while letting others through. They also contain a lubricant to keep the skin from drying out too quickly. Suntan lotions must be reapplied at least once every two hours, and whenever the film may have worn off or washed off.

If you burn—ointments, wet compresses and soothing lotions will help the discomfort. A bland cold cream or a lightweight mineral oil may be applied to the skin. If the pain is excessive or if extensive blistering is present, consult your physician.

communities combat unemployment and at the same time provide needed public services and facilities. Only those areas where the average 12-month unemployment rate is at or above 6.5 per cent are eligible for the new funds.

Prestonsburg's grant exceeded the amount asked in its original application, but it was explained that the larger figure was to compensate for inflation.

Mayor Cooley said the municipal building construction must be let to contract within 90 days after the receipt of the EDA funds. "The appointed attorneys gave an outstanding performance in representing Sykes," Jones wrote. "The trial court (Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley) is to be commended for his patience."

"There were many in-chamber hearings. In each instance Sykes took over his own defense, was rude to the trial court, and insolent toward his attorneys."

The court also upheld the Pike circuit court conviction of Dwight Copley on charges of third degree rape, first degree sodomy and second degree unlawful imprisonment.

Burglars Hit Lackey Store

The hardware store at Lackey owned by Earl Moore was robbed Saturday night by persons, as yet unidentified, who also killed Moore's German Shepherd guard dog.

The burglars, who stole a quantity of tools and several pistols, entered the store by breaking out the front door glass and it is thought that the dog was shot before entry was made. The body of the dog has not been found but a trail of blood leading from the hardware has led officers to believe that the dog may have been dragged to a waiting vehicle and hauled away.

Moore's Hardware was also robbed in 1974 and another Lackey business, Collins' Hardware, was robbed two weeks ago.

Those arrested, charges against each, and names of arresting officers were listed at the county jail over the past week.

Howard Perry, drunk driving and no operators's license, by State Trooper Shelton; Reo Hamilton, drunk driving and attempt to elude police officers, by Deputy Sheriffs J. D. and Melvin Martin; Sam Hall, Jr., wanton endangerment in the second degree and criminal trespassing in the third degree, by Wheelwright Marshals Harold and Mildred Bates; John Preston, burglary in the first degree, by State Trooper Tommy Shelton; John Hamilton, drunk driving, by State Trooper Sizemore; Eugene Lyon, drunk driving, by Constable Bob Hackworth; Denvil Perkins, burglary in the first degree, by State Police Detective Gary Rose and County Detective Sam Hale; Newt Green, Jr., drunk driving, by Prestonsburg Policemen Trusty and Kelley; Henry Woods, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs Linzie Hunt and Ollie Leslie; James R. Hunt, drunk driving, attempt to elude police officers and leaving the scene of an accident, by Prestonsburg Policeman Keith Lawson.

other morning, when our weighty discussion was interrupted by a visitor. That made three engaged in the palaver, and as the caller prepared to leave he asked if we were brothers.

Lenna, ever the soul of veracity, assured him that we were, and the man said, "Thought so. You look alike."

Lenna took one look at me and considered suing. I settled with a stanza or so from the old poem, "Oh, Why Should the Spirit of Man Be Proud?"

THE TRANSGRESSOR

I have never before troubled those who read this column with any of my personal troubles, but, knowing that this will get around, anyhow, I may as well confess to my son's transgression.

I have tried my best for the boy, and he never before has given me cause for worry. But you never know. Until last week he had caused me to think I had succeeded in steering him along the right path. But now he has gone and done it.

Last Thursday afternoon he caught an 18-inch bass at Dewey Lake, and over my screams of protest he turned it free.

Six Floyd Students In ALCOR Program

Six current and former Alice Lloyd College students from Floyd county will be working in the Alice Lloyd College ALCOR Program this summer. (ALCOR stands for Appalachian Leadership and Community Outreach).

The Floyd county students working for ALCOR are:

Sheila Isaac, University of Kentucky junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Isaac, of Melvin; Brenda L. Caudill, ALC freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eshmel Caudill, of Melvin; Alan J. Sitterly, ALC sophomore, son of Mrs. Gloria Sitterly, of Wayland; Sally Hotelling, ALC sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ola Jones, of Wayland; Karen R. Duff, UK junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Duff, of Hueysville; Dalton R. Howard, UK senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Howard, also of Hueysville.

The ALCOR workers spend the summer living with area families and working in small ALCOR centers, serving as a bridge between area families and health-education agencies, in addition to providing recreational activities for all ages. Christine Stumbo is director of the program.

Alice Lloyd College will operate 14 ALCOR centers in four Eastern Kentucky counties this summer. The centers will be located at Wayland, David and Wheelwright in Floyd county; Cowan, Doty Creek, Pine Creek and Fleming in Letcher county; Pippa Passes, Bearville and Mallie in Knott county; and Vicco, Yards, Combs and Daisy in Perry county.

PINNES . . . Kathy Burke Mullins, of Hippo, is shown after receiving her pin which signifies completion of Morehead State University's two-year medical assisting program. The daughter of Thelma Burke, of Hippo, she now is eligible for state board examinations.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

The first song of the whippoorwill heard in springtime once signified to farmers that corn planting time was at hand. In due time came the melody of the wood thrush, which some ornithologists described as the most spiritually satisfying music in nature. But to farm boys the wood thrush song meant that corn hoeing time was at hand and there would be little time for going fishing, hunting wild mulberries and indulging in other boyish pleasures.

With modern methods of farming what they are, songs of this sweet singer of the woodlands do not portend long hours of toil in the offing. For that reason, we think it well to tell a bit more about this delightful little bird and how it lives.

Slightly smaller than a robin, the wood thrush has a rust colored head, extra large eyes and distinct brown spots on a snowy breast. It usually stays in the dense shade of deep woods where its eyes are not hurt by bright sunlight.

An early riser, it begins its songs at dawn, sings for an hour or so, briefly again at noon and near the close of the day. Its song inculcates all the beauty, glory and nostalgia of nature, and whoever hears the sweet, flutelike notes is not likely to forget them.

Most birds sing from a perch, but the wood thrush often performs in flight. It may interrupt its performance to drive off a marauding jay, but it can launch into the air and flutter back to its perch without missing a note.

The wood thrush winters in the brushy woodlands of Mexico and Central America and returns to Kentucky about mid-April to fan out in the eastern half of the United States and Canada. The males arrive first, start claiming territory, and burst forth with that magnificent music old time farm boys labeled the "Corn Hoeing Song."

When the females arrive, mated pairs build nests of grass and weed stalks in the forks of trees or on horizontal limbs. Streamers of cloth, paper, or strips of plastic, which wave and rustle in the summer breezes, often dangle from the nests. Ornithologists think perhaps these decorations are added to scare off hawks and predatory jaybirds.

The wood thrush has more or less accepted civilization and often becomes a bird of lawns, gardens and shade trees, and whoever has one of these mellifluous psalmists around his premises is extremely lucky. In the hush of the late afternoon, its transcendent melody brings back sweet-sad recollections of long ago. As it lends charm to the twilight, it gives cheer to the dawn.

Leaving School Principalship, Dingus Honored at Luncheon

The annual Martin Elementary School personnel luncheon culminated in an announcement of the promotion of the school principal, Philip Dingus, to the position of director of pupil personnel for the Floyd county school system.

In making the announcement, Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr. commented upon his personal and professional association with Mr. Dingus, and commended him for both his and his staff's work during the past school year. "He will be an asset as long as he's in the school system, and I appreciate him as a friend and an associate," the superintendent said. Adding his comments to those of Mr. Grigsby's, Assistant Superintendent Ray Brackett told the Martin teachers that, though their principal may be a hard taskmaster, they were losing a good friend.

Mr. Dingus attended Pikeville College for two years, Spencerian Commercial School for one year, and later earned both his BS and MA degrees at Western Kentucky State University. He was married to the late Virginia Campbell Dingus and is the father of three children: Mrs. Grace Scott, Mrs. Vivian Barnett, and Philip Arthur Dingus, all of Martin.

Terminating his position of Martin school principal for 12 years, Mr. Dingus will assume his new duties July 1st.

As a token of their esteem and appreciation, the school personnel presented to Mr. Dingus a Boston rocking chair, two table lamps, and a book of thoughts on friendship.

Special luncheon guests included Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., Assistant Superintendent Ray Brackett, Director of Transportation Wayne W. Ratliff, Jr., Director of Food Services Blanche Dingus, Elementary Supervisor Anna Sue Stumbo, Assistant Director of Transportation John Campbell, Alva Davis, Mrs. Grace Scott and Stephen Barnett.

ALC Summer Theatre To Begin 9th Season Next Sunday Afternoon

Pippa Passes, Ky.—The seventh season of Appalachian Summer Theater at Alice Lloyd College will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday (June 19) with the production of "The Remus Tales," a play for children based on the six most famous Brer Rabbit stories. Admission to the play is free.

"The play brings back all the old characters—Brer Turtle, Brer Bar, Brer Fox and Brer Rabbit—and shows how Brer Rabbit 'did in' Brer Bar and Brer Fox, once and for all," said Ken Baldrige, Summer Theater director.

"The adaptation for the stage by Stanley Vincent Longman retains all of the charm and gentle humor of six of the original Uncle Remus stories while at the same time adding action and 'gags' which will make these timeless tales exciting for children of all ages," Baldrige said. "We have changed a detail here and there. The originals were set along a road somewhere in Georgia, and of course the dialog was created for Southern Blacks. For the Appalachian Summer Theater production, we 'mountain-ized' the stories for our own audiences."

"The Remus Tales" will be presented on alternate Sundays. Upcoming Appalachian Summer Theater attractions include a new full-length Jack Tale for children and a presentation of Neil Simon's riotous comedy, "The Odd Couple."

State Troubles Assessing Coal Delays County Tax Evaluation

The state Department of Revenue undertook this year for the first time the assessment of coal holdings, and the difficulties it has encountered has delayed the property evaluation administrators (tax commissioners) of Floyd and other coal counties in having their tax assessment lists ready for public inspection.

Tax Commissioner Lovel Hall's office said Monday that the coal assessment print-outs for Floyd county were received from Frankfort only last Friday and that preparations are being rushed to set the inspection period possibly as early as next week. The public inspection normally is held here, the first week of June.

Some counties expect to be as late as July 1 with the inspection. Kentucky's first effort to find all mineable coal and to assess it for property tax is being ignored by thousands of property owners and balked at by dozens of coal companies, state tax officials say.

According to Kentucky law, failure to file a tax return or report is punishable by a fine or jail sentence, as is failure to give complete information when repeatedly asked to do so.

Officials of the Department of Revenue say they are too busy trying to cope with what one of them has called the "monstrous job" of valuing the state's coal to even think about prosecuting any one right now.

"We haven't even discussed it," Tarleton Rogers, who is in charge of the program, said.

And while they aren't pleased with the situation, they say the amount of revenue at stake, about $1 million, "is a peanut in the barrel" compared to the $91 million in coal severance tax money collected last year.

In theory, however, the potential state property tax revenue is enormous.

The 1976 legislature placed a state tax of 31.5 cents per $100 valuation on "coal in place." About 20 billion tons of coal in Kentucky are considered mineable by today's methods, according to the U.S. Bureau of Mines. The difficulty started in valuing, and taxing, all those tons.

State officials say the problem is threefold: 1. It is not clear who owns it all; 2. It's not clear how much of it belongs to any one owner; 3. It's hard to put a price tag on any one tract because such a judgement must take into account the coal's quality, how close it is to existing mines, railroads and roads, how thick the seam is, how much rock is above it and so on.

"The larger corporations have had a higher rate of compliance than individual property owners," Rogers said, but he and Maurice Carpenter, the commissioner of revenue, agreed that even some of the largest companies were less than candid.

"We got resistance to filling in those blanks," Carpenter said. "The big companies were reluctant to give us that information. We got some responses by very few."

Floyd Students In ALC Summer Theatre Series

"Howdy, Brer Rabbit. You lookin' sorter stuck up dis ev'nin," says Brer Fox (left), played by Harold Hamilton, a University of Kentucky senior and Alice Lloyd College graduate from Perry county. "You better say you' prayers, Brer Rabbit, cuz dis here is de las' day ob yo' life," says John Michael Hughes (right), an ALC sophomore from Floyd county, as Brer Bar, as he surveys Rabbit entangled in the Beautiful Tar Baby. Brer Rabbit is portrayed by Felisa Akers, an ALC sophomore from Floyd county. The Tar Baby is Andrew Erdman, of Pippa Passes. All four are featured in ALC's Appalachian Summer Theater production of "The Remus Tales", a play for children, which will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday (June 19) on the ALC campus. Admission to the play is free. Last week's outdoor rehearsal was held outside Founder's Shack, a Kentucky historical landmark. Founder's Shack was built by community residents for Mrs. Alice Lloyd in 1916. She lived in and taught in the three-room building her first year on Caney Creek where Alice Lloyd College is located.

REACT SAFETY BREAK TIME GIVES PAUSE FOR 250 TRAVELERS

Approximately 250 men, women and children took advantage of the Right Beaver REACT team's hospitality, REACT style, during the Memorial Day week-end, and helped prevent traffic accidents in the bargain.

Travelers from seven states and from almost every county in Kentucky were among those who stopped for free refreshments during the three days of the accident prevention project. The safety break, planned and operated by the Right Beaver REACT team, in cooperation with those who donated coffee, cups, soft drinks, doughnuts and rolls, was centered at the junction of KY 7 and 80 at Lackey. Free coffee and other refreshments were served to road-weary travelers from Friday noon through Saturday midnight and again on Monday from 6 a.m. through midnight.

In addition, the REACT monitors handled all calls on emergencies and for motorist assistance on Channel 9 of the Citizens Band radio service. The Right Beaver team provides a 24-hour monitoring service for this purpose. The local group is one of more than 1,700 affiliates of REACT International which sponsors the nationwide Safety Break program with the support of the American Trucking Associations.

"There is no way to determine what effect our project had on the total accident picture," said Marion Huff, activity chairman and overall chairman of the project. "We are convinced, however, that just getting people off the highways long enough for a Safety Break is a contribution to accident prevention. If accidents should happen, we contact the proper authorities immediately."

Bush Gallery Here Slates Open House

The opening of Bush Art Gallery here will be marked by open house next Friday, featuring arts and crafts of leading artists and craftsmen of Eastern Kentucky.

The gallery, a donation by Travis Bush, of Pikeville, is the display and sales portion of the Appalachian Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, Inc.

Opening from 12 noon until 7 p.m., the gallery will display pottery, sculpture, weaving, quilting, paintings, drawings, handmade musical instruments and other art works produced by artisans of this area. Refreshments will be served throughout the day, and the general public is encouraged to visit the gallery.

Information on how to become a member of the Appalachian Guild will be available at the Gallery. Artists and craftsmen who wish advance information on membership may call the Office of Community Services at Prestonsburg Community College (886)3863.

State Environmental Department Adds Three To Complete Staff

Frankfort, Ky.—With the hiring of three attorneys the legal staff of the state's environmental department is now at full force. The new attorneys, all recent graduates of the University of Kentucky School of Law, bring to 10 the number of lawyers working for the department.

"Our caseload is such that for us to continue to be effective in enforcing strip mine regulations and other areas of environmental law, we have to have a full staff," says Perry White, general counsel for the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

The volume of work carried on by the staff, which White described as "unbelievable at times," was instrumental in attracting one of the new attorneys, Barbara Edelman, to the department. "I had several offers but I was interested in getting immediately involved in litigation and there is plenty of it here," she says.

Carol Hendricks also sought a position with the legal staff of the department but for different reasons—"There is a core of concern for the environment that developed when I was in undergraduate school and I'm part of that group," she says.

Miss Hendricks became aware of the department and its legal staff through an environmental law course developed recently at the U.K. law school.

The third attorney, Bob Yarbrough, was probably hired by the department more for his undergraduate engineering degree than anything.

"So much of our work is concerned with the engineering aspects of strip mining or air emission standards that if a new attorney here doesn't have any engineering expertise he or she has to pick it up," White said, adding that Yarbrough's educational background should be invaluable in some of the work he'll be assigned.

Although litigation involving strip mining is the most publicized of all activities of the legal staff, department attorneys become involved in personnel cases, tax cases, real estate and bankruptcy cases, negotiations of settlements and criminal cases.

"For an attorney just starting out it would be hard to beat a position here for experience," says White, who noted that in what he jokingly referred to as "spare time" attorneys on the staff draft regulations, help determine department policy on environmental matters, and become involved in all aspects of environmental legislation during sessions of the General Assembly.

Home Canning of fruits & vegetables

By Sue Burrier, Fudeko Maruyama, Sherrell Foree
UK Extension Specialists in Foods and Nutrition

PART I: THE BASICS

Over the next few weeks we plan to bring you a potpourri of information on canning. These weekly articles will add up to an almost-complete replay of our popular circular, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," now in short supply at county Extension offices around the state. We will also include any new recommendations, such as on canning tomatoes, that have come out since the 1976 edition of our circular.

Our information is based on food-preservation research conducted by food scientists in the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Most home economists and most manufacturers of food-preservation equipment fall back on USDA for these important ground rules that will insure a safe, high-quality product.

Some of your questions may still go unanswered, because there is never enough room to put EVERYTHING down that everyone would like to know. If this happens, the county agent for home economics in your local Extension office is a good person to go to with a food-preservation problem. Chances are she can help, or she'll know where to find the answer for you.

Families are using up the remaining supply of last year's home-canned fruits and vegetables these days—and looking ahead to a new canning season. As Mom gets out the canning equipment for that upcoming food-preservation period, her "little helpers" do their own "checking out" and through their normal curiosity get some early learning from Mom's activities. Gardening and "putting food by" call for a lot of hard work—so it pays to do it right.

The Ground Rules

Safe canning procedures are based on two elementary facts:

1. The correct temperature and the correct processing time are necessary to destroy food-poisoning and food-spoilage bacteria, spores, and micro-organisms.
2. A tight seal is necessary to keep the food safe until you're ready to eat it.

Then, storage in a cool, dark place is necessary to keep the food quality high over the months to come.

Canning is a lot of hard work. You want the results to be worth all your time, effort, and investment in equipment. So can only fresh, high-quality produce, and do it right. Each new season, take time to study an up-to-date canning manual, then follow carefully the step-by-step directions given for each fruit and vegetable.

YOUR EQUIPMENT

Boiling-water-bath Canner

Fruits, rhubarb, tomatoes, and pickled vegetables may be safely processed in a boiling-water-bath canner.

You can buy a special canner for this purpose, or you can use a big metal container with a close-fitting lid. Just be sure it is deep enough to allow about 4 inches above the tops of quart jars set in on a rack. This gives room for the necessary 2 inches of water above the jars, plus room for the water to be kept at a rolling boil throughout the processing time.

A lard can or a big kettle can be a good boiling-water-bath canner. You can use a round cake rack to set the jars on, or make a rack from sturdy wire. The best rack is one with full sides and handles.

If it is deep enough, a pressure canner may be used for boiling-water-bath canning. Do not fasten the cover tightly, and make sure the petcock is

Steam-pressure Canner

Most vegetables must be processed in a pressure canner with an accurate gage. That's because these low-acid foods need to be processed at a higher temperature than the boiling-water-bath canner. There is no other sure way to kill the spore that causes the rare-but-deadly Botulism toxin.

Steam-pressure Saucepan

A pressure saucepan with an accurate gage for controlling pressure at 10 pounds may be used for canning vegetables in pint jars. However, you must add 20 minutes to the processing time. This is necessary to make up for the quick climb in temperature at the beginning of the processing and for the more-rapid cooling at the end. Follow carefully the directions that come with your pressure saucepan.

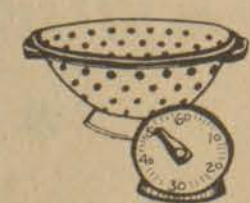

Jars & Lids

JARS—Use special canning jars. Don't use ordinary "one-trip" food jars, such as the ones in which you buy mayonnaise, peanut butter, pickles and other commercial foods. These packers' jars have not been heat-treated and may break during the canning process. Often they do not seal properly, and your food will spoil.

Although you'll find half-gallon jars on the market, don't use them. USDA doesn't recommend them because the food in the center of the jars may not get hot enough for safe processing.

If you have the old-fashioned glass-top jars with wire bales ("Lightning" jars), you may still use them.

LIDS—You can use either the modern two-piece metal lids or the porcelain-lined zinc caps with a rubber ring. Glass-top Lightning jars also need rubber rings. Always buy new rubber rings at the beginning of each canning season.

Other Useful Equipment

- Several large kettles
- Paring knife and vegetable brush
- Measuring cups and jar funnel
- Jar lifter and tongs
- Collander
- Dish towels and dish cloths
- Wire basket or cheese cloth for blanching
- Timer
- Labels for marking jars
- Marking pen

GETTING YOUR EQUIPMENT READY

Boiling-water-bath Canner

Check for leaks. Make sure canner has a rack and a tight-fitting lid. Wash thoroughly in hot, soapy water, and rinse well.

Steam-pressure Canner

Be sure that the petcock and safety valve are clean and the rubber gasket is in good condition. Have the pressure gage tested at your county Extension office before the canning season, and also part-way through the season if it is used often. If the reading on the dial is off 5 or more pounds, you should buy a new gage.

If your gage is off 4 pounds or less, you can still use it if you follow the instructions given below.

| If Gage Reads High | Process At |
|--------------------|------------|
| 1 pound high | 11 pounds |
| 2 pounds high | 12 pounds |
| 3 pounds high | 13 pounds |
| 4 pounds high | 14 pounds |

| If Gage Reads Low | Process At |
|-------------------|------------|
| 1 pound low | 9 pounds |
| 2 pounds low | 8 pounds |
| 3 pounds low | 7 pounds |
| 4 pounds low | 6 pounds |

The reading you need to use for processing should be marked on the canner as a reminder each time you can. Or hang a reminder tag on the gage.

Wash pressure canner or pressure saucepan thoroughly. Don't put the cover down into the water. Instead, wash it thoroughly with a soapy cloth, then wipe it with a damp cloth wrung out in hot rinse water.

Clean petcock and safety-valve opening with a string or narrow strip of cloth. Dry canner well and leave the top off when canner is not in use.

Jars & Lids

JARS—Examine jars to see that the lids fit, that the balls on the glass-top jars are tight, and that there are no nicks and scratches, hairline cracks or chipped places around the rims of the jars. Don't ever use a jar with cracks or chips—it won't seal.

The wire balls on glass-top jars should be tight enough to make a clicking sound when the lower ball is pulled down to make the seal.

Wash jars and lids in hot, soapy water and rinse thoroughly in hot water before using. There is no need to sterilize them. If you plan to fill them right away with hot food, leave them in the hot rinse water until ready for use. If you wash them way ahead of time, let them drain dry, then put their lids on to keep the insides clean. Warm them up before filling them with hot food.

LIDS—Use new lids for two-piece metal tops, and follow the directions on the box. Each manufacturer has slightly-different instructions for his product, and it pays to do it exactly his way. Don't use screw bands that are rusty or dented.

Porcelain-lined zinc caps should be in perfect condition—no chips, no dents, nor corrosion.

If you use rubber rings, buy new rings the right size for your jars. Don't test them by stretching them. Wash in hot, soapy water and rinse well before using.

Williams To Speak At Saturday Meeting

Columbia Begins Drilling, Seeking Further Gas Sources

Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation has begun a major drilling program aimed at developing additional sources of gas. Work is under way on more than 30 wells out of 99 scheduled in five states this year at a cost of $15.5 million.

The program includes 68 development wells in areas where there are known to be gas deposits, and 31 exploratory wells in areas where there is believed to be gas.

Of the 99 wells, 32 are scheduled in West Virginia (28 developmental and four exploratory); 25 in Kentucky (20 developmental, four exploratory and one deeper drill); 22 in Ohio (eight developmental and 14 exploratory); 11 in New York (five developmental and six exploratory) and nine in Virginia (five developmental, three exploratory and one deeper drill).

Columbia already operates nearly 5,900 wells in the Appalachian region. More than 10 per cent of the gas it supplies to 75 distribution companies in the East and Midwest comes from these wells and from purchases from independent producers.

Columbia also has resumed work on two experimental gas well programs in cooperation with the federal Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), seeking to develop technology for freeing gas trapped in dense rock formations underlying the region.

Two tests have taken place so far this spring, and more are planned during the summer and fall. Columbia is providing about $4.25 million of more than $9 million for these projects.

One program involves three shale wells, drilled within an area of about one mile in Lincoln County, W. Va. A second program includes tests on 13 shale or sandstone wells in Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky.

Massive hydraulic fracturing is being employed in both programs. This technique had not been used anywhere in the East until these programs got under way last year. Massive hydraulic fracturing entails use of very large volumes of liquids and sand to force new cracks in very tight formations and to extend existing fractures.

Columbia also has an interest in a third ERDA shale-gas project. Liquid explosives are being used in this three-well program on Columbia leases in Lincoln County, W. Va. The actual testing is being handled by a West Coast firm.

Many of the region's gas-bearing fields at fairly shallow depths have been depleted, and Columbia also has been exploring ultra deep areas after establishing that a geological formation called the "Rome Trough" has the potential for prolific gas production.

The company has been involved in five deep wildcat tests in West Virginia—ranging in depth from 13,222 to 19,537 feet—with no commercially producible gas finds being made. The cost of the wells has been $29 million; Columbia's share has been $8 million.

Other Columbia exploratory efforts since 1969 have cost $12 million. Only eight of 60 wells drilled were commercially productive.

Other construction projects by Columbia Transmission, including extensive work on its underground gas storage system and on the company's 18,000-mile pipeline network, will raise overall construction and supply expenditures in 1977 to $87.3 million.

About $15 million will be spent this year to begin a large new storage field, underlying parts of Fairfield and Hocking Counties, Ohio.

Columbia recently received authorization from the Federal Power Commission to carry out the first phase of the Crawford storage project. This will take about four years for completion and will provide storage for about 32 billion cubic feet (bcf) of gas. Of that volume, 40 percent will be available for winter use by Columbia customers.

Columbia has offered the 75 distribution companies it serves an opportunity to contract for storage space in Crawford.

In addition to Crawford, 33 more wells are to be drilled in the Coco storage fields in Kanawha County, W. Va., if the FPC approves that project. The work will take about three years and will provide an additional annual turnover of 8.4 bcf of the stored gas from those fields for winter use. Coco expenditures this year will total about $2.2 million.

Columbia Transmission now has 50 storage fields with a total capacity of 590 bcf in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York. About one-third of Columbia's overall winter deliveries came from underground storage.

Included in the Transmission company's gas development expenditures for 1977 is about $2 million in payments for rights to possible new gas discoveries by producers in the Gulf of Mexico. The Gulf is the source of a large portion of gas obtained by Columbia to supply wholesale customers in Kentucky, Maryland, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Other companies in the Columbia Gas System also are involved in developing new gas supplies for the pipeline company in the Gulf, from other offshore areas, from Alaska and from overseas.

Summer Art Fest Slated at Pikeville

The Pikeville Arts and Crafts Association will sponsor its fourth annual Summer Art Festival Saturday August 13, in the Pikeville City Park. In the event of rain, the festival will be postponed to the following Saturday.

The festival annually attracts Kentucky artists who display and sell their art work and crafts. Artists from as far away as Florida and California have participated.

Various demonstrations, continuous entertainment, and plenty of refreshments are also part of the festivities.

SURPRISE CLASSMEMBERS

An early morning surprise was in store for Beth Martin, Margaret Buchanan, Paula Martin, Lee Ann Owens, Marjorie Jagers, Nina Fannin, Susie Wright, Dee Dee Kalos and Leslie Ford when their graduation day was started early with a "come-as-you-are" breakfast given by Mrs. Vera Ford and Mrs. Winston Ford, Jr., at the home of the latter.

HOSTS TO FAMILY REUNION

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Prater, of the Abbott Road, celebrated Mr. Prater's 75th birthday recently with a family reunion.

Mr. Prater is a son of the late Wesley and Polly Prater, and Mrs. Prater is a daughter of the late Solon and Parrott Waddle. All 12 of their children along with their husbands and wives attended the celebration on Memorial week-end. This was the first time in 20 years that all 12 of their children and their parents have been together at one time.

The couple has 28 grandchildren, 25 of whom attended the reunion, and one great-grandchild who also attended.

Also attending the reunion were Mr. Prater's brothers, Norman Prater, of the Abbott Road, and Sherman Prater, of Bonanza, with their wives and several of their children and grandchildren. Altogether approximately 75 people attended the reunion.

Dinner was served outside on picnic tables, and gifts were presented to the couple.

Receives Award

Charles Michael Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Brooks, of Betsy Layne, now a student at Mercer University's Southern School of Pharmacy, in Atlanta, Ga., has been awarded recognition by the Gamma Alpha Chapter of Rho Chi Society. This award is in recognition of high scholastic achievement, character, personality and leadership. To be selected for membership in the chapter is the highest honor that a student can earn at the School of Pharmacy.

Coal Leader Urges Cooperative Effort To Improve Mine Safety

The head of the nation's second largest coal producing company told Congress last Thursday that, "it is time to put aside the good-guys-bad-guys atmosphere that has clouded government, labor and industry efforts to bring greater safety to the nation's coal mines" especially in light of President Carter's call for greatly increased coal production.

Ralph E. Bailey, chairman of Consolidation Coal Co., said that the federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969 and government enforcement efforts have dramatically improved the physical condition of the nation's coal mines and equipment and substantially reduced the fatality rate. But further improvements in safety will require a shift in emphasis to safety training and education, and enforcement tailored to the root causes of accidents, he said.

Bailey, in testimony prepared for a House Labor subcommittee, said that while safety gains were made as the result of the law, "the thrust of much of the enforcement effort is misdirected." He said that a study of accidents in his company found that more than 85 percent were related to lack of training and education, poor work habits or lack of motivation. "In other words, even if the mine and equipment were in perfect condition and in full compliance with the law, a substantial majority of the accidents would still have occurred," Bailey said.

Robert H. Quenon, senior vice president of Carter Oil Co., also said that under the 1969 law, "all violations, whether serious or trivial, are made to be of equal severity. And, over the long term, both inspectors and operators lose sight of the conditions and factors which are really important." He said that meeting the standards then becomes an end in itself.

Bailey and Quenon were members of a panel of coal executives and safety experts that testified in a joint presentation by the National Coal Association, the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, and the American Mining Congress. In addition to their prepared remarks, the panel presented an in-depth 237-page industry analysis of the operation of the 1969 law.

That analysis concluded that the causes of violations usually have little relationship to the causes of accidents and that enforcement of the law is frequently directed as issuing violation notices and mine closure orders, and not at reducing accidents. It said that the level of disabling accidents in underground coal mines which can be prevented by current enforcement practices has reached a relatively fixed plateau.

Not enough attention, the report said, has been given to the fact that accidents are most often caused by human factors which can only be corrected by training and education. Many regulations have been adopted without adequate technical foundation, it said. The enforcement tolls available under the law often have been abused and improperly applied to the point that many coal miners and their supervisors look upon the 1969 law with cynicism and lack of confidence, the industry study said.

AMERICANS RECOVERING from one of the worst winters in history may have lost sight of what was for Europeans the worst summer in history—1976. The May Reader's Digest reminds us that because of the drought and heat, rivers plunged to new lows, fish died from lack of oxygen, crops shriveled and forest fires raged across the Continent. For archeologists, however, it was a boon. Buried pits and ditches of ages past retained enough moisture to sprout grassy traces of ancient construction. Several new finds came to light this way.

Elkton To Be Locale Of Made-for-TV Film

Filming will begin in Elkton next month on a made-for-television movie tentatively entitled "Hawkins," according to Development Secretary William L. Short.

Harry Sherman will produce the two-hour movie in conjunction with E.M.I. Television, Inc. for airing on NBC sometime next season.

"Hawkins" is the biography of the first black man to be elected sheriff in the Deep South since reconstruction. The story traces the election of Hawkins, who as a non-violent follower of Martin Luther King, refuses to carry a gun. Lou Gossett, who portrayed the character Fiddler in "Roots," will play the title role.

Jerrold Freedman wrote the story "Hawkins" and will direct the movie.

Filming, which will begin July 11 and run for approximately three weeks, will be done entirely in the Commonwealth. Sherman plans to film in Hopkinsville, Pembroke and Guthrie as well as Elkton. Betty Lampkin, executive assistant with the Kentucky Film Commission, was instrumental in showing Elkton and the surrounding area to Sherman.

According to Secretary Short, who is chairman of the Film Commission, the production of "Hawkins" in the Elkton area will have "a significant economic impact on the area."

Tom Clark-Todd, executive director of the Film Commission said, "We are glad to be working with such a high caliber production company, and we're doing all we can to aid E.M.I. Television in the production of this picture."

Court Ruling Gives Widowers, Husbands Social Security Break

A widower or a husband can get monthly benefits on his wife's social security record without proving dependence on her under a recent decision by the U.S. Supreme Court, according to Jim Kelly, Prestonsburg Social Security manager.

Previously, a man was required to prove he was dependent on his wife to get benefits on her record if she retired, became disabled, or died after working long enough in jobs covered by social security. A woman did not have to prove she was dependent on her husband to get benefits on his record.

"Starting with payments for March, 1977, neither men nor women have to prove dependency. Husbands and wives can get reduced social security payments starting at 62 or full payments starting at 65," Kelly said.

Widowers and widows can get payments starting at 60—or starting at 50, if they're disabled.

Men who think they may be eligible under the court ruling can get information about applying for benefits by calling or writing any social security office.

"Social security payments may be affected by earnings," Kelly noted. "You can earn as much as $3,000 in 1977 and still get your full social security payment. But over $3,000, social security payments are reduced by $1 for each $2 earned."

"That means that if your full social security benefit is $225 a month, you could earn over $8,000 for the year before your social security payment would be reduced to zero," he said.

"But no matter how much you earn for the year," he said, "you can get your full social security payment for any month you neither earn over $250 nor do substantial work in your own business." Kelly cautioned, however, that these earnings allowances do not apply to persons receiving disability payments.

A man already getting social security benefits may also be eligible for payments on his wife's record under the court ruling, according to Kelly. "But he can only be paid an amount equal to the higher benefit—not both benefits," he said.

The Prestonsburg Social Security office is located on U.S. 23 between the entrance to Jenny Wiley State Park and the Highlands Hospital. The phone number is 886-8525.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Parker Coal Company, Pikeville, Kentucky intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 7 acres located Southeast of Osborn in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately .25 miles northeast of State Route 1426's junction with Aker's Branch Road and located northeast of head of Toler Creek. Latitude 37-27-20. Longitude 82-35-38. The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Adkins heirs. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is auger only.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, 327 N. Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described strip mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081(2) and must be forwarded to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Area Residents and Perkins Ask Lower SBA Interest Rate

A parade of Kentucky witnesses led by Congressman Carl D. Perkins appealed to the House Small Business Committee to enact into law reductions in the interest rate on Small Business disaster assistance loans, both to help small businesses get operational again after heavy flood losses and to enable individual families to restore their residences.

Perkins called for a maximum 3 percent on disaster business loans and a graduated interest on residential loans, consisting of 1 percent on the first $5,000, 2 percent on the second $5,000, and 3 percent on all in excess of $10,000.

Perkins asked for quick action on legislation that would accomplish a reduction in the interest rates at the earliest possible date.

Joining Perkins in testifying that as many as 1,200 small businesses in the flood-stricken areas of Eastern Kentucky could not recover from flood losses at the current SBA interest rate of 6 1/2 percent were:

Ervin Pruitt, Pikeville; Paul Porter, Porter Industries, Allen; Thomas Black, Big Sandy Electric Co., Pikeville; Barbara Porter, Barbara's Flower Shop, Harold; Bob Murphy, Hatfield Maytag & Marine Co., South Williamson; Avery H. Harmon, H & H Grocery Co., Stanville; Paul H. Thompson, IGA Stores, Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Westfall, Culligan Water Conditioning, Ivel; James T. Dotson, superintendent of schools, Pike county; William F. Alley, Alley Furniture Co., South Williamson; Evelyn Akers, Allen Lumber Company, Allen; State Senator Jim Hammond, Prestonsburg; Arlie Hayes, Hayes Metal Co., Pikeville.

Kentucky witnesses cited the extent of their losses in the April 4 flooding of the Tug and Levisa forks of the Big Sandy River and other streams in Pike, Floyd, Letcher, Martin, Perry and Knott counties.

Rise, He Calleth Thee
Mark 10:49

When our Lord was leaving Jericho with His disciples and a great number of people, Blind Bartimaeus, a seated beggar by the side of the road inquires, "What meaneth this anxious throng which moves with such haste. Someone replied in a loud voice, "JESUS OF NAZARETH PASSETH BY!" Evidently the blind beggar had some knowledge of the living, liberating, love of Jesus of Nazareth. He immediately cried out, "Jesus, Thou Son of David, Have mercy on me." He was rebuked for crying out at such a time and was commanded to keep quiet. His answer to this was a louder cry with the same prayer. Our Lord, ever ready to hear this kind of praying, "Commanded that he be called." This beautiful story brings to us four wonderful calls from our Lord Himself—

1. His first call is the call from "Death unto Life". "He that heareth my word, and believeth Him that sent me, hath everlasting life — is passed from (or out of) death into Life" (John 5:24). This call of Christ still rings out to every creature where the Gospel, which is the power of God unto salvation goes. And it still saves! It is still the only means unto salvation!

2. The call to Discipleship. This call goes out to all who have heard and heeded the first one. "Come unto me, — Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me —" (Matt 11:28-29).

3. Soul winning work. "Come ye after me and I will you to become fishers of men", (Mark 1:17). Jesus is in the business of making disciples, churches, personal soul winners, homes in heaven, etc. Yield to Him and trust Him to make you a man, or woman, after His own heart. Remember, "Pay day, some day".

4. "Come up Hither". This is the revelation of Rev. 4:1 and I Thessalonians 4:13-18. We do not advocate an idle star-gazing attitude on the part of believers. WE DO URGE upon every Child of God the admonition of 1 John 2:28, "and now little children, abide in Him; that when He shall appear, we may have confidence (boldness) and not be ashamed before Him at His coming," "He that hath this hope, 1. Will purify himself". 2. Will preach to others, evangelize and edify. 3. Will praise Him continuously for the honor and help conferred. "One day He is coming, oh glorious day!" "What if it were today!"

Jesus, through the "Way of the Cross Outreach", reaches out to you, will you reach out to Him? Some one is always ready to take your hand and help lead you to peace, joy and happiness through Christ Our Lord.

ARC Supports 4-State Group In Flood Study

Gov. Julian Carroll announced last Wednesday the establishment of a four-state consortium that will guide long-range recovery efforts in states hard-hit by the disastrous April flood.

Gov. Carroll said the consortium will locate its offices at Pikeville College. It is a project of the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) and involves the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

In a joint statement, the governors of the four states said the consortium would be the first step in the long-range rebuilding effort.

"No other agency is equipped to administer this kind of comprehensive recovery program," said Gov. Carroll. "We are pleased that the offices will be in Pikeville, because it is centrally located and accessible to the other three states, and because it lies in the center of the region devastated by April's flooding."

Approval for the project came during a conference call Monday among Gov. Carroll and Governors Ray Blanton, of Tennessee, Mills Godwin, of Virginia and Jay Rockefeller, of West Virginia. Gov. Rockefeller was chosen chairman of the consortium.

At an early May meeting in Atlanta the ARC voted to provide initial funding for the consortium. Initial funds will total $200,000—$100,000 from ARC and $25,000 from each of the four states.

The objective of the ARC project is to prepare a program for the economic recovery of the 45-county, four-state disaster area, to seek special funding from Congress to assist in implementing the program, to direct specific capital investments into the area in conformance with the program and to help define the future role and policy of ARC in disaster occurrences.

Gov. Carroll emphasized that the program will not be a "study program," but an "active program of investments in recovery projects."

An executive director will be hired to oversee the program. In addition, a policy board composed of the four governors or their alternates, and the federal co-chairman (non-voting) of ARC, has been established.

The four flood-state governors said a long-range economic recovery program should be ready for presentation to Congress late this year. The ARC program will complement existing state and federal efforts.

Over a three-year period, ARC will provide up to an additional $300,000 for planning and administrative purposes to be matched by up to an additional $75,000 from each state.

Another task of the group will be to analyze the total nature and extent of flood damage and to plan for the redevelopment of the area.

The consortium approach will allow participation by the residents of the affected areas and local governments in this flood recovery effort. An evaluation will be made as to redevelopment, new development, flood protection facilities and identification of funding sources to implement recovery activities.

Gov. Carroll said that as part of the program he will appoint an Economic Recovery Advisory Committee comprising local elected officials, Area Development District directors and citizen representatives. Along with similar committees from the other three states, the committee will serve as an advisory body to the Consortium Policy Board.

Theatre Group Asks Furnishing Help

That old lamp gathering dust in the attic, or the bed that's just plain old but not antique, can be put to good use by members of the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre who are in dire need of these items.

Ed Smith, general manager of the group, said that a 50 per cent increase in rental of quarters from Pikeville College presented a financial hurdle which was solved by the offer of a house in Van Lear by Carl Castle. And as they say, that's the good news. Now for the bad. The house is unfurnished. Hence the need for beds and bedding, dressers, lamps.

Anyone who can donate any of the above may call Ed Smith at 886-9274, or Mrs. Barkley Sturgill at 886-2477.

ARNETT-HATCHER REUNION CANCELLED THIS YEAR

The Arnett-Hatcher family reunion has been cancelled for this year because of illness in both families. Plans will be announced later for next year's reunion.

VISIT IN INDIANA

Mrs. Myrtle Conley and daughter, Mrs. Elmer Hyden, Mr. Hyden and children, of Silver Lake, Indiana, have been visiting another daughter, Mrs. Bill Blanton, Mr. Blanton, and children on the Abbott road.

RETURNS HERE

Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick has returned home from a three-week visit with her daughter, Mrs. Don Harris, Mr. Harris and children, Becky Lou, Frank, and Sandra, in Lexington.

HAS MAJOR SURGERY

Arthur Haywood underwent major surgery at the Highlands Regional Medical Center last Thursday. His condition is satisfactory. Mrs. Haywood and other members of his family have been with him throughout his illness.

Akers-Hensley Vows Exchanged

Miss Ula L. Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Akers, of East McDowell, became the bride of Mr. Ronnie E. Hensley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hensley, of Weeksbury, at 2 p.m. May 28 in a lawn wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bill Tackett.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white nylon organza and lace over satin, trimmed with pale blue bands. A camelot style cap with clusters of simulated pearls and polyester lace bands held her veil of sheer nylon organza. She carried a nosegay bouquet of white roses and chrysanthemums tinted in blue with pale blue and white streamers.

Mrs. Diana Case, of East McDowell, matron of honor, wore a floor-length gown of white polyester trimmed in pink and blue, and carried a long-stemmed red rose with red and white streamers.

Miss Pamela Akers, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. She wore a floor-length gown of white polyester and she also carried a long-stemmed red rose with red and white streamers.

Mr. Jeffrey Case, of East McDowell, served as best man. A reception immediately followed the ceremony. The beautiful three-tiered wedding cake was made by the bride and Mrs. Shirleen Elliott, aunt of the bride.

Camp Shawnee To Open June 26 for Its 25th Season

Sunday, June 26, will mark the beginning of advancement, adventure and fun for nearly 100 Scouts of Lonesome Pine Council for whom it will be opening day at Camp Shawnee.

Operated by the Council, Camp Shawnee at the head of Dewey Lake will begin its 25th camping season.

Scouts normally attend camp for a one-week period beginning on Sunday afternoon and continuing through the following Saturday morning, although some Scouts camp for more than one week.

Troops presently signed to participate in the summer camping program include Troop 10 of Pikeville; Troop 41, Hurley, Va.; Troop 33, Van Lear; Troop 81, Millard; Troop 91, Jackson; Troop 328, Ashcamp; Troop 48, Grundy, Va.; Troop 222, Prestonsburg; Troop 30, Wise, Va.; Troop 27, Prestonsburg; Troop 22, Elkhorn City.

Some space remains for troops or individual Scouts to camp at Shawnee, especially during the second week beginning July 3. Parents who are interested in sending their Scout sons to Camp Shawnee are invited to contact the office of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, in Pikeville.

Following the regular Scout summer camping season which ends July 16, Lonesome Pine Council will, in cooperation with Diversified Educational Cooperative of Norton, Virginia, and Keene State College, of Keene, New Hampshire, conduct a special camp for handicapped children during the last two weeks of July.

AT BAPTIST CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kalos are representing the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church at the Southern Baptist Convention in Kansas City this week.

ENJOY CUMBERLAND CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carter Tackett, Dr. and Mrs. Carl E. Tackett, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Neil Allen returned recently from a week-end at Cumberland Lake where they cruised the Wolf Creek section of the lake aboard a rent houseboat. The otherwise uneventful excursion was nearly aborted when the craft was run aground at near full throttle and stranded for a time on a mud flat. Although one of the occupants was nearly hurled from the craft's railing and a jar of mayonnaise was shattered as a result of the incident, no real injuries resulted.

WHEN NOTHING LESS THAN A WAGON WILL DO,
SEE B. & D. MOTORS...
 THE WAGONMASTER.
 WE OFFER A FULL-LINE OF FORD WAGONS.

Pinto.
Traditionally America's best-selling Wagon. Seats four. And has a surprising capacity up to (57.2 cu. ft.) for toting other things as well. Choose from the Pinto Wagon, Squire or Cruising Wagon versions.

LTD II.
All-new, trim-size Wagon. The whole idea is to give you a mid-size Wagon that's trimmer than full-size and still gives you plenty of room. LTD II seats six comfortably (eight with optional rear facing 3rd seat) and holds plenty (almost 85 cu. ft. of cargo space). 3-Way Magic Doorgate. Choose from the LTD II S, LTD II or the top-of-the-line LTD II Squire.

Ford LTD Wagon.
Full-size comfort and capacity, too. Ideal for big Wagon families like yours. From the big 400 CID V-8 engine, to the family roominess of the luxurious interior, to the 94.6 cu. ft. of cargo space, to the 3-Way Magic Doorgate, Ford fills your Wagon needs in a big way. Yours in full-size LTD and LTD Country Squire versions.

Ford Club Wagon.
A Better Idea in Van-type Wagons.

Catching on fast, Ford's Club Wagon offers you a novel way to handle your hauling needs. It combines many car features—convenience, comfort for as many as twelve passengers and great handling—with the durability of a truck—Twin-I-Beam front suspension and unique body/frame construction. Yours in Custom and Chateau trim levels. Better hurry.

Buy or lease a better Wagon idea from us soon.

Don't Put It Off Until It's All Off

F. W. Dangler will be back in PIKEVILLE, KY., MONDAY, JUNE 20 & TUESDAY, JUNE 21. Now is the time to act on this great opportunity. Every man and woman now losing hair should take advantage of this FREE CONSULTATION.

GUARANTEED
You will be given a written guarantee on a prorated basis from the beginning to the end.

CAN'T HELP
Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. Lesley Hair Specialists cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

But if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss?

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

FREE CONSULTATION
Just take a few minutes of your time on MONDAY, JUNE 20 & TUESDAY, JUNE 21 and go to the LANDMARK MOTEL, PIKEVILLE, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the Desk Clerk for F. W. Dangler's room number.

Don't Put It Off
There is no charge or obligation... all consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way.

Have You Earned Tomorrow?

Is anybody happier because you passed his way?
Does anyone remember that you spoke to him today?
The day is almost over, and its toiling time is through;
Is there anyone to utter now a kindly word of you?
Can you say tonight, with the day that's slipping fast,
That you helped a single brother of the many that you passed?
Is a single heart rejoicing over what you did or said;
Does the man whose hopes were fading, now with courage look ahead?
Did you waste the day, or lose? Was it well or sorely spent?
Did you leave a trail of kindness, or a scar of discontent?
As you close your eyes in slumber, do you think that God will say,
"You have earned one more tomorrow by the work you did today."

—John Hall

Wallen-Littrell Vows Solemnized

The First Presbyterian Church of Winchester, Kentucky was the scene of the wedding of Miss Dell Wallen and Mr. G. Wayne Littrell at 2 p.m. Saturday, with the Rev. Edward Mesta officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wallen, of Allen, and Mr. Littrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Littrell, of Winchester.

The altar was decorated with cathedral candelabras with white flowers and greenery flanked by arrangements of greenery. A program of nuptial music consisting of "Evergreen," "New England Love Song," "I Write The Songs" and "Mandy" was presented by Mrs. Carl Gravett, pianist, and Robert Brashear sang "The Wedding Song."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of ivory sata-peau in an "A" line silhouette, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, empire waist and cap sleeves of Alencon lace and seeded pearls. Her flowing skirt terminated into a cathedral train embroidered with Alencon lace. A Juliet cap of Alencon lace with seeded pearls held her floor-length ivory mantilla veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of a white orchid, yellow sweetheart roses, and white daisies.

Her maid of honor, Miss Rita Wallen, of Allen, wore a floor length, empire waist, blue polyester knit dress overlaid with flowered ivory voile. Bridesmaid, Mrs. Rebecca Littrell, of Birmingham, Alabama, wore a floor-length, empire waist, blue polyester knit dress with capped sleeves. Each carried a cascade bouquet of blue and white daisies.

Arthur Littrell served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Joe Wallen, of Frankfort, Kentucky, Kent Lowe, of Lexington, Johnny Wallen, of Allen, and Marvin Bush, of Lexington.

The mother of the bride wore a floor-length gown of mint green. The groom's mother chose a floor-length gown of apricot arnel jersey with matching jacket. Each wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the Old South Inn immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table centered with a floral arrangement of summer white and blue flowers was decorated with a crystal punch bowl, blue and white mints, finger sandwiches, and a champagne fountain. A smaller table held the three-tier ice cream wedding cake decorated in blue and white topped with two white bells. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Deborah Henry, Mrs. Linda Smith, Miss Joyce Jordan, Mrs. Linda Wallen, Miss Melinda Outlaw, and Mrs. Sandra Wallen.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will reside in Winchester.

The couple has been the incentive for the following events: Mrs. Pierce Johnson was hostess for a shower given by the First Presbyterian Westminster Circle Group on May 5th and Mrs. Linda Smith and Mrs. Deborah Henry were hostesses for a miscellaneous shower on May 15.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

We would like to take this opportunity to thank our many friends and neighbors for their help and kindness, during the sickness and death of our loved one, Elzie Hicks. Thanks to all who sent food and flowers, Dr. Martin and the staff of Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Hall Brothers Funeral Home, the Regular Baptist ministers and Chapter 128 of the Disabled American Veterans of Garretth. Again, our sincere thanks to all of you.

Mine Inspectors, Analysts Get Pay Raises, as of June 16

Kentucky Commissioner of Mines and Minerals H. N. Kirkpatrick announced last week that the Department of Personnel has approved a recommended pay improvement plan for the state's mine safety analysts, mining inspectors, and mining instructors.

Salaries for state employes in these job classes will be raised, effective June 16, according to Personnel Commissioner Addie Stokely.

Citing Gov. Carroll's long-standing interest in Kentucky deep mine safety, Kirkpatrick said, "These badly-needed pay improvements will enable the Department of Mines and Minerals to recruit and retain workers at salaries generally comparable to those paid by federal and industrial employers."

Commissioner Kirkpatrick, noting the Governor's commitment to securing top-quality mine safety personnel, said, "We are determined that the national trust placed in Kentucky coal as a key energy resource will continue to be a trust wisely made and zealously guarded by the coordinated efforts of the Governor, the state's Mines and Minerals officials, and the on-location men who ultimately are responsible for guaranteeing that this vital industry grows, and that its growth is matched by our knowledge, and practice, of the latest and best safety measures."

The pay improvement plan follows:
Mining inspector, increased from the $15,288-$16,860 range to $16,860-$18,588; senior mining inspector, from $16,860-$18,588 to $18,588-$20,484; mining inspector supervisor, $18,588-$20,484 to $20,484-$22,584; mining instructor, $15,288-$18,588 to $18,588-$20,484; electrical instructor (mining), $15,288-$18,588 to $18,588-$20,484; mine safety analyst, $15,288-$16,860 to $16,860-$18,588; senior mine safety analyst, $16,860-$18,588 to $18,588-$20,484.

Thanks To Voters

I wish to thank each person who helped me in my recent race for the Democratic nomination for Magistrate, and at the same time assure those who opposed me that I hold for them no ill will.

I have tried to serve the people of our district to the best of my ability and wish for them continued efficient service from those elected to serve them.

Crutcher-Blankenship Vows Said

Miss Brenda Kay Crutcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Crutcher, of Lebanon, Tenn., and Mr. Darrell Franklin Blankenship, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Blankenship, of Prestonsburg, were united in marriage May 14 at the College Street Church of Christ, Lebanon, Tenn., in a candlelight ceremony.

The vows were solemnized at 2 p.m., with the father of the bridegroom officiating. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Noel Yelton, organist, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Brown, vocalists, all of Lebanon, Tenn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an all over rose point chantilly lace gown, featuring a scooped ruffled neckline and long Edwardian sleeves. The full-skirted tiered scalloped gown extended into a chapel sweep train. Her fingertip mantilla veil of soft French illusion was enhanced with Venice lace. She wore a diamond pendant belonging to her aunt, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, baby carnations and baby breath.

Sandra Crutcher, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Diane Blankenship, of Prestonsburg, sister of the bridegroom, Martha Cross, Lebanon, Tenn., cousin of the bride, and Cindy Hall, of Nashville, Tenn. The attendants wore floor-length gowns of rainbow pastel colors and carried French bouquets of daisies and baby breath, with matching streamers.

Kelly Griffin, Lebanon, Tenn., cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Fred Setser, of Prestonsburg, served as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Crutcher, Lebanon, Tenn., brother of the bride, Ronnie Moore, of Virgie, cousin of the bridegroom, and Kippy McNally, of Prestonsburg. Phillip and Timmy Blankenship, brothers of the bridegroom, served as ringbearers.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length dress of navy and white floral organza. The mother of the groom wore a floor-length dress of light blue knit.

Out-of-town guests included Bethel Click, of Martin; Debbie Porter and Madge Doran, of Prestonsburg; Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Cribbs and children, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Noggle and David, of Salem, Ind.; Dr. and Mrs. John H. Brown and children, of Nashville, Tenn.; and David Harrington, Nashville, Tenn.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church, immediately following the ceremony.

The couple is residing in Prestonsburg.

Tackett Family Ass'n Sets Date of Reunion

Members of the Tackett Family Reunion Association's board of directors met May 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hatler Tackett, of Indian Creek, Pike county, to plan activities and to set the date and location for the 1977 Tackett family reunion. Board members present were Reo Johns, Hatler Tackett, Hassell Tackett, Stanford Tackett and Amil Little.

The 1977 reunion will be held July 31 at the G. F. Johnson Elementary School, Virgie. Registration will begin at 10 a.m.; the program, at 12 noon, and dinner will be served at 1 p.m. The Information Room, a popular feature introduced during the 1975 reunion, will be repeated this year.

Prizes will be awarded to the oldest person present, the youngest person, the person who traveled farthest, the largest family present, and others.

Kentucky Veterans' Unemployment Rate High, Data Shows

Although the April unemployment rate in Kentucky was 4.4 percent, well below the national figure of 6.8 percent, Kentucky's veterans did not fare nearly as well, according to Department for Human Resources (DHR) figures.

Nationally, the rate of unemployment for veterans between the ages of 20-34 years stands at 7.3 percent. The Kentucky rate for the same group is 7.9 percent.

DHR, in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Labor's Veterans Employment Service is fighting unemployment among veterans.

U.S. Secretary of Labor, Ray Marshall said, "Of all the priorities facing the nation, perhaps one of the most urgent is finding jobs for the unemployed veterans of the Vietnam conflict."

According to Robert Barnes, Veteran's Employment Representative for Kentucky, "An even greater problem is the disabled veteran who came home to face another disability—the indignity of being able to support himself or a family."

"More and more employers in Kentucky and throughout the nation for that matter, are finding that disabled veterans can fill many occupational needs," said Barnes.

He urged all employers to interview a disabled veteran for the next job opening. "When placed in the right job, one which utilizes their abilities, disabled veterans make fine employees," Barnes stated.

Local employment offices of the Bureau for Manpower Services provide veterans and employers with information on training and job opportunities.

Neglect Could Cause Return Of Polio, Dr. Hernandez Says

"Since the early 1960's we have had no cases of polio in Kentucky but this good fortune in the past decade or so may cause neglect and could mean a polio outbreak in the future," Dr. Carlos Hernandez, preventive services director in the Department for Human Resources, said last week.

Speaking of the recent measles epidemic in the state, Hernandez told the Council for Health Services that "in 1977 one case of measles is one too many." But, he said, "We are seeing a trend of parents not immunizing their children against a lot of things like polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and other communicable diseases."

During the first week of this month, 57 cases of measles were reported to state health officials compared with 33 for the same period last year, Hernandez told the citizens' advisory body. He reported that 746 cases of the disease were reported during May, representing a 73 per cent increase over last year.

"In 1969, just 74 cases of measles were reported and we thought we had it locked," Hernandez said. But he noted that a dangerous trend exists which could bring about an outbreak of other diseases if parents do not make sure their children are immunized.

"Measles is the one that just happened to hit us this time," he said, indicating the possibility of other epidemics. The paradox, he noted is that "we should not have to be so concerned with this problem because we have the ability to eliminate many of these diseases entirely."

Council for Health Services Chairman Dr. John Bell asked Hernandez if enforcement of laws requiring immunization of school children would have prevented the recent measles epidemic. Hernandez speculated that perhaps one-half of the reported cases could have been prevented. He said 32 counties have been identified where compliance with the school immunization law was less than 70 per cent.

Additional health services staff are to be placed in those 32 counties to help with the immunization program, Hernandez reported.

"We must maintain a level of service and public awareness or we stand a chance of future outbreaks of polio or other communicable disease," he said. Currently small children have low levels of immunity to polio, he indicated.

Hernandez announced that a meeting later this month still bring allied health professionals, school officials, parents and teachers together to discuss public awareness about immunization. He reported that immunization action month has been set for August, about the time many children return to school.

He emphasized, however, that final responsibility for children's immunizations rest with parents who have no excuse for neglect because vaccines are free to anyone unable to pay.

Lawyers To Increase State Legal Services

July 1 has been selected as the date for the start of the Kentucky Bar Association's new Lawyer Referral Service.

The Association's director, Leslie G. Whitmer, whose staff will conduct the service from the Kentucky Bar headquarters in Frankfort, said the special toll-free WATS telephone line throughout the state will be operative on July 1. The state-wide service excludes Jefferson county, which is served by the lawyer referral service of the Louisville Bar Association.

On or after that date, a person may telephone, without charge, from anywhere in the state to Bar headquarters in Frankfort. There the Lawyer Referral Service staff will refer the caller to an attorney in his area who has expressed a desire to accept the type of case the caller appears to have.

The referral plan is a public service whereby a client, not otherwise represented, will be referred to a practicing lawyer selected from a panel for an initial consultation period of up to 1/2 hour for a fee of $10.00. Any additional time spent or service rendered to the client is at a mutually agreeable fee.

Receives Music Honor

Gina is five years old and is a graduated student at Allen kindergarten. Gina has been taking piano lessons for four months and is a student of Paula Hinchman, of Allen.

To be eligible for this honor, a student must hold the following qualities: have perfect attendance, show great improvement at each lesson, daily practice, good sight-reading, and a good attitude and liking for piano lessons.

3,400 State Families Get HUD Assistance, Area Director Says

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has, as of last Thursday, assisted more than 3,400 Kentucky families who were affected by the April flood, according to Jack Ingram, director of HUD's Eastern Kentucky operations.

With more than 64 per cent of the families rehoused, HUD continues to make progress through its mini repair and mobile home programs.

"Though the daily rate of families housed may vary, during the past week HUD has placed an average of 100 families a day in the 15-county area," Ingram said.

Dairy Industry in America More than 350 Years Old

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
Along with being the month of roses and brides, June is also the month of the dairy cow and for more than 350 years this gentle farm animal has contributed tremendously to the agricultural economy of North America.

Historians say that the dairy industry had its beginnings in this country one cold, blustery day in March 1624. This was when the good ship, "Charity," late of Devon, England, sailed into the harbor of Plymouth Colony with a bull and three heifers on board—the first of such animals to arrive in the Colonies.

These animals were imported by Edward Winslow, who later became governor of the Plymouth Colony. The existing governor, William Bradford, in taking note of the arrival of these animals, described them as "the first beginning of any cattle of that kind in the land."

With each arriving ship the cattle numbers grew and at the time were valued more for their hides and their worth as draft animals, than for their milk and butter. As the story continues, in a few years the Massachusetts Colony had its first oversupply of cattle.

By 1632, as an early history states, there was in New England not only a domestic, but also an export demand from the West Indies. This led to dairy breeding for sale, but the market was soon overstocked. The price of cattle went down from 20 to five pounds per animal and milk was peddled for four cents a gallon.

Cowkeeping in those early days of settlement was a far cry from dairy practices today. In this effort whole towns would go together, hire young men as "cowkeeps," and pasture the cattle on common grazing lands. At that time croplands were fenced in to keep the cattle out.

The cowkeeps trained the cows to obey the sound of a horn and to follow them to and from the grazing grounds each morning and night. A young cowkeep received 10 pounds for herding 100 cows all summer. However, for each time he failed to bring in all the cows at night for milking, he had to forfeit three pence from his salary.

These cows were not the prolific milk producers found on most farms today. Milk yields were extremely low. As colonial farmer and writer, Israel Acrelius, once reported, "Where the pasture is fair, a cow does not give less than two quarts of milk at a time—that is, twice a day." Cows of today commonly produce at least 25 quarts a day and it is not unusual for a cow to produce twice that amount. Some exceptional animals have produced 75 or more quarts of milk in a single day.

Workmen's Comp Rate Reduction Is Approved

Kentucky Department of Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey last Tuesday approved an overall 34.8 per cent reduction in workmen's compensation insurance rates for underground coal mine employers. The decision is to be retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year.

The decrease was requested by the National Council on Compensation Insurance and reviewed at a May 24-25 public hearing before the Department of Insurance. The Kentucky Coal Association intervened, stating that the reduction could be even greater.

The department approved an overall 20.4 decrease for all other workmen's compensation insurance rates in late March. The underground coal mine rates were heard separately because of the industry's unique factors that figured in the rates: occupational disease (black lung) and the traumatic rate (injuries from accidents).

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "March 77," your subscription will expire at the end of March.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre: 'Launching Pad' for Show People

(The following article by Keith Shannon, of Prestonsburg, first appeared as a two-part feature in the Kentucky Kernel, University of Kentucky student publication. It develops the theme that the Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre has served as a launching pad for young actors and actresses who have moved up to television, stage and screen prominence.—Editor.)

On Thursday nights on television screens across the country, the high-pitched voice of Ron Palillo as Arnold Horshack can be heard echoing through the halls of a mythical high school...

"OH MR. KOTERRRR...!" Seven years ago, that same voice resounded among the hills surrounding a small eastern Kentucky outdoor theatre. Back then, there was no Arnold Horshack, and Palillo was a theatre "unknown."

But that tiny theatre, the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre in Prestonsburg, seems to have a penchant for unknown actors who are destined to make some kind of name for themselves someday. During the 1969-'70 summer seasons, Jenny Wiley employed a whole regiment of actors who were pointed in just such a direction.

Palillo was one of those young actors. At that time, a patron scanning the souvenir program at the theatre wouldn't have been able to find Ron Palillo. But listed as an actor-director-graphic artist was the short-haired, soft-spoken Ronald G. Paolillo.

His acting that summer consisted of character roles, not a great deal different from the type of role he has on Welcome Back, Kotter. He appeared as Barnaby Tucker in Hello, Dolly! and Senex, the old man, in A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum. He directed productions of Little Mary Sunshine and Spoon River Anthology. And he drew a whole truckload of pictures for souvenir programs and press releases.

Now things are a little bit different for Ronald G. Paolillo.

He has shortened his name by one letter. ("They told me 'Paolillo' was too hard to remember.") And he doesn't have to draw pictures unless he feels like it.

His role on Kotter has been such a success that he may have a series of his own soon.

Success has not dampened his memories of Prestonsburg and Jenny Wiley, though. He recently said he harbors fond memories of that summer. "I really love Kentucky," he said. "It's the only state I feel absolutely calm in." He even raved about the topography and the (gasp!) weather.

He said he was considered a "little tyrant" when he directed the shows at the theatre. His direction of Little Mary Sunshine called for a very broad comedy style that was hard for some to achieve. Because Spoon River was a workshop production (i.e. more like an afterthought), the rehearsals had to be scheduled behind all of the others.

That meant that Palillo's rehearsals were held late at night. Sometimes the lines of Spoon River could be heard coming from the theatre as late as 2 a.m.

But he did some unusual things with the show. He threw out some of the songs typically performed with it and replaced them with contemporary folk music. His actors were more mobile than usual readers' theatre troupes.

His acting style was just as broad and comedic as it is today. His scream of "Mr. Vandergelderrrr...!" in Hello, Dolly! was strangely similar to that of Arnold Horshack screaming for his teacher.

Margaret Silbar, who played the title role in the same production that summer, thinks Palillo always showed the potential to become famous.

"I think Ron Paolillo was destined to do well," she said. "Aside from being rather physically unique, he was a theatre person inside out and backwards."

"He used to eat, sleep and drink nothing else but career. That's what it takes."

After Palillo left Jenny Wiley, he received a degree in theatre from the University of Connecticut and began to trudge the seven-year road that led to his becoming an "overnight success." As recently as three years ago, he appeared in Play It Again, Sam at Winchester, Ky.'s Barn Dinner Theatre. That was followed by appearances in A Midsummer's Night Dream with Mickey Rooney and Hot L Baltimore. After that he was "discovered" for his role on Kotter.

Ron Palillo says he "would love to" come back to Kentucky.

But it looks like the chances for that might be rather slim. When the pilot for a possible series based around the character of Welcome Back Kotter's Horshack was aired last month, the ratings were "dynamite," according to Palillo.

If the series becomes a permanent part of television, he will not only star in it, but he will also try to keep up his co-starring role in Kotter.

"It will sort of make television history because no one has ever starred in a show and co-starred in another one at the same time," he said.

But Palillo's success story is not the only one that started at Jenny Wiley State Park...

A young Lexington native, Jim Varney, strutted across the Jenny Wiley stage as Marco the Magnificent in Carnival! in 1969. Now he struts across the stages of such talk shows as The Tonight Show, Dinah and The Merv Griffin Show doing comedy routines about growing up in the mountains.

After leaving Jenny Wiley, Varney appeared at the Pioneer Playhouse in Danville, Ky. From there, he went to Nashville, Tenn., where he started to do comedy routines for Opryland and some clubs there. He recently completed a television pilot called Hearts of the West, based on the film of the same title.

Varney uses a unique approach to his comedy. Rather than using typical stand up monologues, he uses characters that are made up of composite traits of people he has known throughout his life. He calls it a type of "conglomerate character."

The results (such as a routine based on the beauty queen contestant who is using hair rolling as her talent) can be very effective.

But the theatre's success stories don't end with Varney. Working along with him that summer was a young lady named Cynthia Bostick. She had the title of "apprentice," meaning that she was required to do technical work as well as the usual theatrics. It also meant that she, along with the other apprentices, had to submit to spending part of the summer with a blue stripe painted along the length of her nose.

But in a few years, that didn't matter. Bostick went on to become Miss Kentucky the following year and later enrolled in the American Academy of the Dramatic Arts. After graduating from that institution a year earlier than most students, she found an agent and started doing commercials. And more commercials.

She classifies herself as looking like "your typical housewife." This has led her to memorable one minute debuts for Mop and Glow, Grease Relief ("I never get the products that flow off your mouth.") and Excedrin. She cut her teeth in the commercial making business as an excited user of Certs.

Bostick has one film to her credit, soon to be released as That's the Way of the World, with a soundtrack by Earth, Wind and Fire. She recently appeared on a segment of television's Andros Targets. But there's more.

Bill Hayes worked along with Bostick and Varney. He didn't have to contend with the indignity of having a blue streak down his nose because he was cast in lead roles for the summer. He played Paul, the lame puppeteer in Carnival!; Albert, the talent manager in Bye, Bye Birdie; and Billy in Anything Goes.

A few years after Jenny Wiley, Hayes landed a role in the Broadway production of Grease. Sometime later, he went to Seattle, Washington, to visit a friend. Two days later he had a job there.

Hayes has since appeared in a television movie entitled The Private Life of Walter Chapman, which was aired in January.

There is another side to the story of the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre. While some actors were trying to work their way up, another was gradually phasing out what had earlier been a lucrative acting career.

Tommy Kirk had been one of Walt Disney Studio's biggest stars in the late 50's and early 60's. He had appeared in Old Yeller, The Swiss Family Robinson, The Shaggy Dog, The Monkey's Uncle, and Bon Voyage.

Kirk didn't have to paint his nose blue either.

Appearing in leading roles in Anything Goes, Hello Dolly!, Little Mary Sunshine and A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, Kirk fell in love with the town of Prestonsburg. Today, in what he refers to as "semi-retirement," Kirk says he hopes to come back and visit.

After leaving Jenny Wiley, Kirk made a few movies, but lately he has lost interest in acting as a career. Instead, he is working for a drug company in California and is more interested in his work with health food and church than in acting.

"I had 20 years of all that (acting)," Kirk said. "Maybe it was just one year too many."

This summer, the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre will present Oliver!, Camelot and Godspell.

A Home Not A House

What more could you want in a residential lot? After a hard day's work would you like to get away from the "rat race" to a quiet, private, secluded place of your own? A home on a large lot surrounded by natural beauty and protected from intrusion by beautiful hills all around? Add a mountain brook and modern building restrictions and you have something hard to beat.

All this—yet a very few minutes from a major highway, downtown Prestonsburg, Jenny Wiley State Park with its May Lodge, marina, Dewey Lake and golf course. And still yet city water, underground utilities, good streets. Of course you want sound management of building lots of prestigious proportions which make a great investment that should grow in value. Also consider that this residential development is aimed at being considered as an unusual, high quality place where residents live "the good life".

Check about "Brandykeg Estates" to begin selling early this summer, as all the improvements are completed. You may want to put your name on a lot now.

Call 432-3570, 432-2148, 252-3059, 293-0408 for more complete information.

No Wheelchair Prisoner

Although Wilma Vanlandingham lives in a wheelchair, she lives independently. She participates in sports activities, drives a car equipped with hand controls, and recently boarded a plane and flew to Washington, D. C. to attend the White House Conference on the Handicapped.

Wilma uses a wheelchair because she was born with a calcium deficiency which prevented the proper development and functioning of her bones. For the past four years, she has worked as a clerk-typist at the Eastern Kentucky Rehabilitation Center in Thelma, a small town outside Paintsville. In her spare time, she works to improve conditions for the handicapped.

"The attitude which a handicapped person develops about his or her disability can mean success or failure," said Wilma. "An attitude of inferiority, even if it is the reflection of attitudes around the individual, is no less real and no less damaging."

As one of the 30 participants from Kentucky in the White House Conference, Wilma studied social attitudes, culture and recreation. Later she related some of the recommendations made at the conference to improve social attitudes and to help eliminate prejudices about handicapped individuals.

"It is not possible to change attitudes by passing a law, but it is possible to direct behavior," she said. "In addition major businesses and governmental agencies can help the effort by removing architectural barriers, translating elevator buttons into braille and broadcasting captioned news on television."

Another recommendation is tagged "mainstreaming services" by Wilma. By this she means that services should be provided to handicapped persons in the same ways as they are provided to others. The handicapped do not need and should not be segregated into separate parks, restaurants, theaters, schools, employment or housing. "When handicapped children are included in the public schools, the other children can grow up thinking of them as being more alike than different," Wilma explained.

Encouraging companies and service agencies who deal with handicapped individuals to develop a policy of affirmative action was another suggestion. "It should be a matter of routine for companies and agencies to inform their employees of this policy," added Wilma. "From the sales clerk to the garage mechanic, every worker should receive a clear statement of the employer's position on this issue, reinforced as necessary by in-service training."

Informing the public about new legislation and the issues can help promote better understanding and acceptance of persons, regardless of handicaps. "The continued effort to provide awareness of the handicapped person's needs through the media is a vital way in which each disabled individual can help.

"Last, but not least, just being a good example yourself is one of the most effective ways to change attitudes and combat prejudice," Wilma said.

The national plan of action developed during the conference will be submitted to Congress and printed by the end of the year.

Completes Year at MMI As Honor Roll Student

Cadet James Brent Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Reed, of Drift, recently completed his junior year at Millersburg Military Institute as an honor roll student. He had an overall 3.5 standing.

During the graduation exercises of May 22, which featured as guest-speaker Lieut. Gov. Thelma Stovall, Reed was presented the French medal. In addition, he ended the year with a promotion to command sergeant major.

The president of a college stands before a thousand students who have completed their studies and are present to receive their diplomas.

"I confer upon you the degree recommended by the Dean, I accord you its privileges, and I remind you of its duties."

Every privilege carries with it a duty. It is sometimes hard for us to understand this.

We are free—not to do as we want to do but to do as we ought to do. Freedom does not mean license; it means the opportunity to do what is right. When personal liberties are increased—so are personal duties. At this particular time in our nation—we all need to be reminded of this fact.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: To be really free—one must accept the obligations of freedom.

Rural Med Grants
Raised to $4,000

The Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund has been increased from $3,500 to $4,000 for medical students who are first loan applicants. The applicant must be a resident of Kentucky and agree to practice in an approved rural area of the state one year for each loan received. Forgiveness features are applicable to recipients who establish practice in designated critical counties of Kentucky.

According to Dr. G. L. Simpson, chairman of the board of trustees, the Fund, which is one of the nation's pioneer scholarship funds for medical students, now has 210 physicians in practice in 87 Kentucky counties, 55 students enrolled in medical school and 28 recipients in residency training.

The board of trustees approved a total of 51 new and renewal loans and also three Establish Practice loans for a total loan amount of $200,500. During the past 12 months, 22 physicians loans have been forgiven for practice in critical areas in Kentucky for a total of $43,000.

The 14 first-loan applicants include John H. Darnell, Jr., Greenup; Miles K. Gibson, Prestonsburg; Lonnie C. King, Pine Knot; Marshall E. Prunty, Jenkins; Reva D. Tackett, Hueysville; Jacqueline A. Taulbee, Lee City; Charles Trommler, Jr., Louisville, and Earl C. Wood, Morehead.

Five Floyd Students On EKU Dean's List

Sandra K. Richter, of Garrett, Patricia L. Webb, of Langley, Deborah D. Fannin and Dora L. Webb, both of Prestonsburg, and Patricia A. Leach, of West Prestonsburg, have been named to the Dean's List for the 1977 spring semester at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond. Miss Richter had a perfect 4.0 standing.

Dr. John D. Rowlett, vice president for academic affairs, said the list, totaling 1,263 students, includes 392 who made a perfect 4.0 academic standing.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Newsome Coals, Inc., c/o Fred Newsome, Grethel, Ky., intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 11 acres located south of Grethel in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 2 miles south of State Route 979's junction with Branham Creek road, and located west of Branham Creek, latitude 37 degrees 36' 00", Longitude 82 degrees 38' 37". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by R. S. Newsome Heirs and Orville Frasure.

A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is surface mining by the contour cut, auger and hollow fill method.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described strip mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081(2) and must be forwarded to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Micro-Wave Oven
Topic of Program

Using a micro-wave oven was the topic of a program presented by the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service. Those attending saw the uses and care of the oven demonstrated and tasted several foods prepared in the oven.

Presenting the information was Suzanne Smith and those attending were: Dorothy Harris, Betsy Baldrige, Mary Sue Moore, Otelia Smiley, Grace Sutherland, May K. Roberts, Eleanor Horn, Phyllis Herrick, Linda Holbrook, Priscilla Holbrook, Juanita Dancy, Eunice Spradlin, Kay Cooley, Shyla Meece, and Ruth Carol Hale.

A second demonstration using the micro-wave oven is planned for August 30 at 6:30 p.m.

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Abbott Homemakers recently had a chair-caning workshop in which chairs were caned with Hong Kong grass. Those attending were Cynthia Frasure, Muriel Hill, Jane Howard, John Howard, Grace Conley, Ethel Ratliff, Sharon Neeley, Eukie Merritt, Ruby Frasure and Alta Hall.

A second workshop will be held August 10, at 6:30 p.m. at the Development Building.

BOYD REUNION SLATED

Reunion of the Spencer Boyd family will be held at Camden Park, Sunday, June 19, beginning at 10 a.m. All relatives are urged to attend.

DETECT SOVIET TEST

Seismic signals, presumably from a Soviet underground nuclear explosion, were recorded by the U.S. Atomic Energy Detection System, May 28. The signals originated at 10:57 p.m. EDT at the Semipalatinsk nuclear test area in southwestern Siberia.

FORTY-FOUR percent of the married women living with their husbands were in the labor force in March 1975.

Kentucky's state parks and resorts have it all... from the most luxurious lodging and modern recreational facilities to wilderness backpacking trails and primitive camping areas. We figure there's more natural beauty here per square mile than just about anywhere else in the world. And this beautiful land of ours is called home by the most genuinely friendly and helpful people we think you'll ever meet.

There's a whole lot of beautiful America in Kentucky.

Kentucky...

We'd like to show it to you.
