

'Little Shepherd' To Begin 6th Year

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" will begin its sixth summer season in the Whitesburg area tomorrow (June 30). This summer a professional director, David E. Williams, has been employed to stage the show.

Darwin Singleton, of Hindman, will portray Chad Buford, the wandering "wood-colt" whose loves and adventures in the Bluegrass and mountains are chronicled by the John Fox, Jr. novel from which the play was adapted. Other members of the cast are: Mahala Caudill, as the Blue grass belle Margaret Dean with whom Chad falls in love; Beverly Caudill plays Melissa Turner, Chad's mountain love; Charlie Engle is Major Buford, Chad's Bluegrass benefactor; Vera Hale and Enoch Smallwood play Ma and Pa Turner of Kingdom Come who take Chad in as a child, and Randall Caudill is the stern patriarch, General Dean.

The drama will be running every Thursday, Friday, and Saturday night at 8:30 until September 3.

THE EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT Income Security Act (ERISA), signed into law on Labor Day, Sept. 2, 1974, was enacted 16 years after enactment of the Welfare Pension Plan Disclosure Act, and 10 years after the first "pension reform bill" was introduced in Congress. The pension act protects the interests of workers who participate in private pension and welfare plans, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

State Plans New Library

NEW STATE LIBRARY . . . State Librarian Barbara Williams and Assistant State Librarian Danny Kruetzer show an artist's conception of the new state library. Gov. Carroll revealed plans for the structure of an Advisory Council for Library and Archives breakfast.

Gov. Julian Carroll unveiled plans for a new state library building last Thursday at a breakfast for members of the Governor's Advisory Council for Library and Archives.

The new structure will be located in west Frankfort near King's Daughter's Hospital. The approximately 126,000 square-foot structure will house state library offices. Carroll said the building should be ready for occupancy by September, 1978.

The new library is being built under a lease-purchase contract. Carroll explained that this arrangement allows the state to design the building, lease it from the building firm, and later buy it. This way, the agency for which the building is being built can have input into the design of the building.

Carroll remarked that the new state library building will be practical in design. "The state does not have to build mausoleums or Greek-columned structures to house its offices."

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "March 77," your subscription will expire at the end of March.

Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.

Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

Lawrence County Candidate Sues State Election Registry

J. J. Jordan, the Democratic nominee for county judge executive in Lawrence county, has won the first round of his fight to remain on the November ballot. Jordan obtained a temporary restraining order last Wednesday requiring the county board of elections to issue him a certificate of election.

He also filed suit against the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance, the county board and County Court Clerk Gallie Isaac.

The circuit court suit asks that the county board be restrained from obeying any instructions issued by the registry and that the board be required to issue Jordan a certificate.

The state registry ordered Jordan's name removed from the November ballot on ground that he failed to submit a campaign finance report before the May primary.

Jordan contends that no formal notification was served on him and that he learned of the registry's decision, primarily through the news media and "this caused the publication of various news stories which reflect adversely upon my candidacy and personal character."

John Craig, executive director of the registry, said every delinquent candidate was notified, as was the commonwealth's attorney in each county.

Craig said the commonwealth's attorney had to decide upon each case. "If any candidate's failure to submit a campaign finance report was a willful violation of the law, then it's up to the commonwealth's attorney to present the case to the grand jury."

Craig said Jordan submitted his report after the May 24 primary, a point on which Jordan agreed.

Jordan said, however, in his suit that the delay was caused by the critical illness of his wife, who was admitted to a Huntington, W. Va. hospital on May 9 and released May 27.

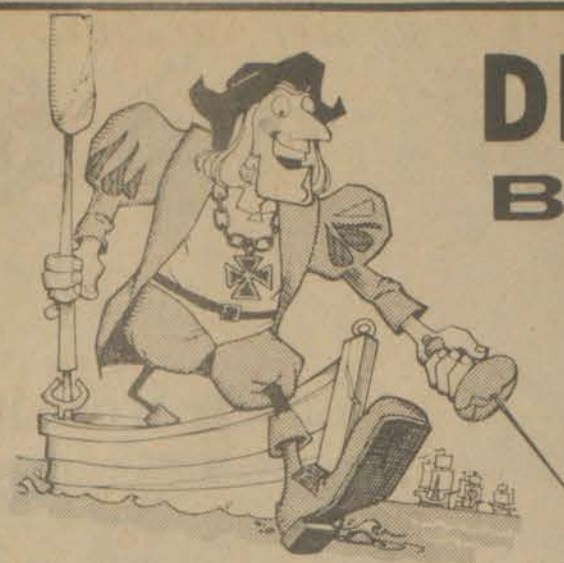

The affidavit further states that Jordan explained the circumstances to his commonwealth's attorney, who agreed that he had a valid reason for being late.

Jordan's suit further contends that he was given no opportunity to contest the registry's decision and that the voters would be denied their civil rights if he is kept off the ballot.

Jordan said he was informed that more than 100 candidates for local offices in the state failed to file on time but were excused by the registry.

Craig denied this, declaring that "no one has been excused. We still have a number of candidates who haven't filed their reports and we are working on their cases."

If Jordan wins his suit, his opponent in the fall will be Republican Phil Carter, of Louisa.

Kentucky Power's Insulation Program Wins SEC Approval

Kentucky Power Company has announced the availability of its new Residential Insulation Financing Program following recent approval by the Securities Exchange Commission.

Waldo S. LaFon, executive vice president, said that the program is an attempt to help residential customers to conserve energy which is in line with national conservation goals and to keep their heating and cooling bills as low as possible at the same time.

"There is no question", La Fon said, "that proper insulation offers residential customers the single most opportunity for savings in heating and cooling their homes."

He explained that under the program residential customers of the company can borrow up to $750 at an annual interest rate of 8 percent on the monthly unpaid balance with up to three years to repay the loan. Repayment will be made through the use of coupon books.

The loans are available to all existing residential customers but are limited to customer-owned and occupied single-family houses, duplexes, triplexes and four-family residences.

Customer service representatives in each division will assist individual homeowners by preparing heat loss information and other cost-benefit data before recommending the type and amount of insulation needed. The company will provide industry accepted installation guidelines and procedures whether the customer chooses to install the insulation or has it done by a contractor.

Further details of the program can be obtained by calling the nearest Kentucky Power office.

IRS Reminder Issued To Flood Victims

Individual and corporate taxpayers in the flood-stricken areas of Eastern Kentucky are being reminded by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) of the provisions for filing amended Federal income tax returns.

Form 1040X for individuals and Form 1120X for corporations must be filed to claim deductions for complete or partial destruction of property because of the flooding if those deductions were not already claimed on an original return for 1976.

Losses to business property are generally deductible in full while non-business losses are limited to the amount of loss exceeding $100, according to the IRS. Deductions are not allowed for the portion of any loss reimbursed or expected to be reimbursed by insurance or other compensation.

Amended returns—both individual and corporate—must be filed within three years from the due date of the original return or two years from the date of the tax payment, whichever is later.

Taxpayers already should have compiled lists of those items damaged or destroyed, and determined their value immediately before and after the loss occurred. Before-and-after photos of the damaged property and judgments of appraisers are helpful in establishing the amount of loss.

Those who need help in preparing amended returns may visit the IRS office in Ashland (Monday-Friday, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.); and, Pikeville (Monday and Friday, 8 a.m.-4:45 p.m.).

Or phone the IRS, toll-free, at 1-800-292-6570 for assistance and to receive two free booklets.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Prestonsburg City Council will receive bids on July 7, 1977, at 7:30 p.m., at City Hall for the following described materials:

The 4-way bracket assembly will provide 8" plate holders, die formed from 16 gauge steel and shall have a square center rod of at least 3/8" size to prevent name plates from turning and will be attached to post cap by means of heavy rust-reisting lock washer and nut.

126 post-galvanized tubular S.F. Type; 10 ft., long and dia., to be of a size to fit sign bracket—wall thickness .08 inch weight approx., 20 lbs.

100 4-way street signs—green with white letters 6" wide with 4" letters 16 ga., formed street plate holders are to be adjustable with 3/8" square center rod to prevent turning, rod to extend into post cap and to be firmly welded.

All name plates to be printed with epoxy primer and finished with E.T. Dupont de Nemours enamel or equal enamels.

Bids will cover all work and transportation costs. We are exempt of State sales tax. All bids must be received by the City Clerk by 7:30 p.m., July 7, 1977, at the Prestonsburg City Hall to be opened by the clerk at that time, and contract awarded to the lowest or best bidder. The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Engineers' Wives Form Auxiliary

A special meeting of the Big Sandy Chapter of the Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers was held recently in Pikeville to consider hosting next year's state KSPE meeting and the organization of a chapter auxiliary.

Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. George Rassenfoss, of Paris, Ky., who is state chairwoman of the KSPE Council of Auxiliaries, and Russ Reynolds, KSPE executive director from Frankfort. A Big Sandy Chapter Auxiliary to KSPE was organized and charter officers elected from the engineers' wives attending the meeting.

Mrs. Don Batten was elected Auxiliary president; Mrs. T. A. Combs, vice-president, and Mrs. Bruce Elliott, secretary-treasurer.

In other actions at the meeting, the Big Sandy Chapter of KSPE approved a plan to co-host the 1978 KSPE state convention to be held at the Hyatt-Regency in Lexington. The other co-hosting chapters will be Ashland, Cumberland Falls and Kentucky River, all from Eastern Kentucky.

And now, at the first opportunity to clear my fair name, I hasten to assure one and all that I'm as innocent as the proverbial lamb of this offense. It was a son whom I should have taught better who identified those berries.

Why, I have been the prime target for "raspberries" for a generation or so now. I not only know when I'm being given "the raspberry," I know one when I see it.

THANKS, GENTLEMEN!

I am indebted to my friend, State Senator Jim Hammond, for inducing Governor Carroll, in recognition of my 50 years in this business (syn., vocation, profession, racket, etc.), to designate me as "Kentucky's Ambassador of Good Will," and I also appreciate the Senator's accompanying letter. It is always pleasant to get something other than the "raspberry" (see foregoing item).

But that is as far as I'm going, Jim. No picture of the presentation. Sorry, but I forgot my wig.

THE FADING REDS

The Cincinnati Reds sent young hopeful Hume back to the minors, the other day, and recent games convince us they may as well send all the rest of the pitching staff, except two or three, there to keep him company. I am convinced the Reds have, in a word or two, had it. And if that statement doesn't bring them out of it, they're hopeless.

HE TOOK THE OATH

It's quite possible that there are two or three men who will assure you that Lenna Moore indeed is the official Poke Warden of Floyd county. It happened this way:

Soon after we staged that historic race for the office between him and Watt Hale, Lenna's commission as a notary public expired. He got a new one and had to go to the county judge's office to take the oath.

As two or three men sat by he barged in and announced that he wanted to be sworn in as Poke Warden. Judge Stumbo took the commission and administered the proper oath in low tones, Lenna reclaimed his official emblem of office, and left without explanation. So . . .

Letters to the Editor

Critical of Water District

I think that its time for the residents of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District to be made aware of the things that have been going on concerning the water district funds.

The Water District office revealed at a Public Service hearing in Frankfort, on June 7, 1977 that the reason for the proposed rate increase in water was because the District has been operating at a deficit since 1974.

However, the Beaver Elkhorn Water District carelessly invested $15,000 for a survey for a sewer project to operate along with the water project. If the water district is operating in the red, why did they invest this much-needed $15,000. Many other items were discussed at this hearing that have been kept away from the public, such as, all the customers of the water district at the present do not have meters, and can use all the water they want for a specific charge.

The proposed rate increase by the Beaver Elkhorn Water District would raise the small consumers (household users) by 58 percent and the large consumers (commercial users) by only 23 percent. Does this sound reasonable?

Every Beaver Elkhorn Water District customer should attend this very important meeting June 16 at Wayland School and hear the rest of the facts, and to organize for the final hearing in July.

G. L. MARTIN, Chairman
Water Protest Committee

Prestonsburg with 2,500 population, is not the largest town in the county. This distinction goes to Wayland-Garrett, incorporated as one. . . . Resignations of Prestonsburg's Chief of Police, Bill Spradlin, Fire Chief Mitch Thomas, and City Attorney E. P. Hill, will become effective July 1, it was announced by Mayor Arthur C. Carter, following the decision by the city council Saturday night that all city officials who are candidates in the campaign for county offices should resign. . . . The cry, "Shine, Mister?" will no longer be heard on Prestonsburg's streets due to an ordinance enacted by the city council Saturday which rules that henceforth all shoeshine boys must not seek business on the city streets or in public buildings, such as the courthouse. . . . An advertisement for a reportedly miraculous medicine appeared in this week's issue with the heading: HOT WEATHER IS HERE—BEWARE OF BILIOUSNESS! . . . Married: Miss Beulah Mae Bentley, of Garrett and Mr. Wash Shepherd, also of Garrett, June 19 in the office of the Floyd County Times; Miss Mary E. ## Only as Driver Must Woman Take Name of Her Husband

A married woman in Kentucky cannot be compelled to take her husband's surname when filing for a license (with the exception of a driver's license), according to an Attorney General's opinion.

Carolyn S. Bratt, a Lexington attorney, requested the opinion on behalf of her client, Mrs. K. P. Gail, who applied to take a test for a salesman's license from the Kentucky Real Estate Commission.

The commission returned Mrs. Gail's application stating that she must apply under her "correct married name," which they contend is "Gail Ponnacha," a combination of her given name and the given name of her Indian husband.

According to the opinion authored by Assistant Deputy Attorney General Charles Runyan, "K. P. Gail" is the "Indian equivalent of a married woman's use of her husband's name in the United States."

Runyan wrote that the use of a husband's surname is Kentucky common law (unwritten). In his opinion, a married woman can use any name she pleases, excluding any intent to defraud, by simply using the name or going to her county court for a name change under a statute that allows her to do so.

However, in the absence of a Kentucky appellate court ruling on the common law, a commission regulation requiring use of the "married legal name" would probably be upheld in federal courts because Kentucky courts had not ruled against it.

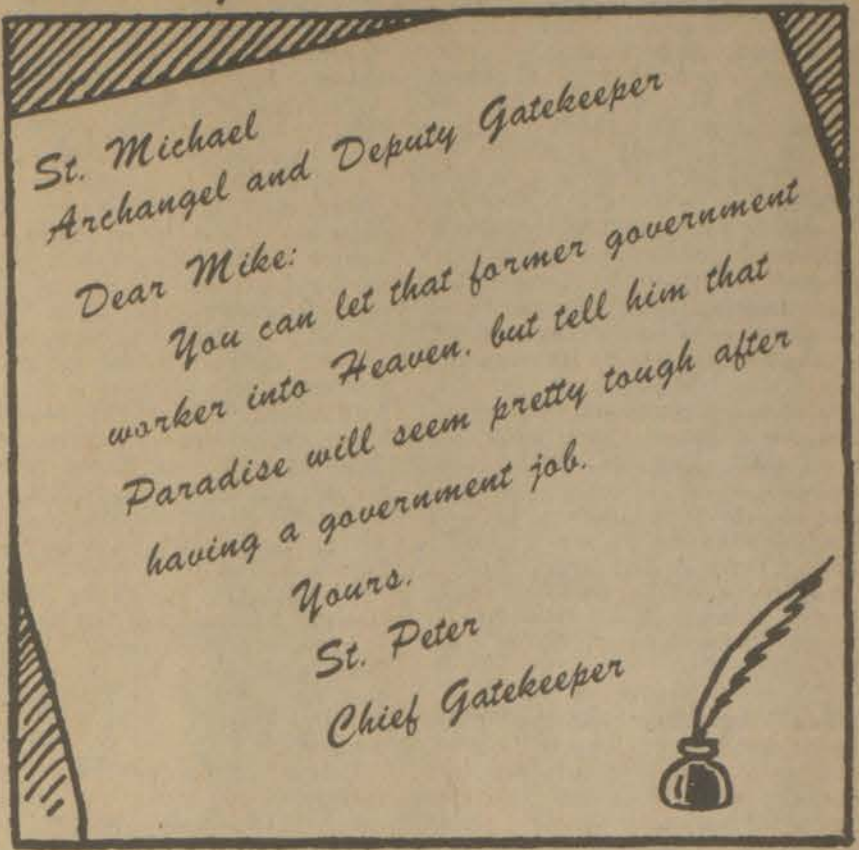

Like the Department of Transportation, the commission could justify the regulation by saying that it was needed for proper identification.

The opinion concluded that "K. P. Gail" should be recognized in Kentucky as Mrs. Gail's married name, since it is recognized in India and does not violate public policy.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Fannie Jarrell has returned to her home here after having spent several days in St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington. During part of the time that Mrs. Jarrell was there, two of her daughters, Mrs. J. Lee Hall, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. George Glenn Hatcher, of Frankfort, were also patients. At the same time, another daughter, Mrs. Olga Rykalsky, was a hospital patient in Detroit. All are recovering nicely at their homes now.

April Flood Study May Lead to Inquiry

WASHINGTON—A study that may lead to a full scale Congressional inquiry into the correlation between strip mining and record-level April flooding in Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia has been initiated by House investigators.

The role of strip-mining in intensifying the damage has been a public issue since record level flooding hit coal-producing areas of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

A field trip to the area by a staff investigator and a review of pertinent scientific papers led the subcommittee staff to conclude that there is cause-and-effect relationship between flood levels and strip mining.

"Most of the evidence, not all, but most, indicates there is a link between strip mining and water runoff and soil movement," said a subcommittee aide. "There is a more conclusive link between striping—particularly auger-mining—and sedimentation and erosion into streams."

Rep. Leo Ryan, chairman of a House Government Operations subcommittee, is expected to decide during the summer whether to turn his subcommittee on conservation, energy and natural resources' onto the issue. Hearings, if they are conducted, could not occur before early fall.

If Ryan gives the green light, as anticipated, the subcommittee would continue with its investigation and then come up with recommendations to Congress and President Carter for corrective action, if needed.

As an investigative body, the Government Operations Committee has a free hand to look into the activities of any federal agency and the effectiveness of federal laws.

Earlier, under another chairman, Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., the same subcommittee carried out an investigation of detrimental effects to federal reservoirs caused by inadequately regulated strip mining.

The subcommittee found that the Army Corps of Engineers and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in at least one instance—Fishtrap Reservoir in Eastern Kentucky—had a poor record.

Siltation from nearby strip mining was determined to be filling Fishtrap at a quick rate, thus substantially reducing the lake's projected life-expectancy.

Because of widespread stripmining in another nearby area, the corps constructed a costly silt-filtering system to protect the integrity of Carr Fork Reservoir.

The Ryan subcommittee could become involved in the flood-strip issue through water-pollution control law or, as is more likely, on the ground that the about-to-be approved strip-mine control bill is related to flood situations.

"We have a responsibility here to see that a law like the pending strip-mine bill works," a Ryan aide said. "If we could develop a record here, it would be helpful as the Department of Interior draws up regulations."

Various observers and citizens groups throughout the Appalachian region charged after the floods April 3 and 4 that strip mining had a direct impact on the intensity of water runoff.

They charged that sediment from strip mines had clogged streambeds, forcing high water even farther out of the banks of streams, and that strip-mine disturbance and deforestation had reduced the water-retaining character of the land.

Gov. John D. Rockefeller IV of West Virginia, among others, agreed with the general theory that strip mining contributed to the intensity of flooding in the region.

But Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll and Robert Bell, the state's natural-resources secretary, disagreed that strip mining had any more impact than other types of massive land disturbance, such as urban development and highway construction.

ENTERTAINS FAMILY MEMBERS

Mrs. Docia B. Woods entertained members of her family to dinner at the Star Fire Cafeteria in Paintsville following church services, Sunday, Mrs. Julia B. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stephens and son Ray.

QUILTS, brightly colored and in a variety of patterns catch the eye at the newly-opened Bush Art Gallery here.

COACH DENZIL "HOSS" HALBERT'S RESPONSE TO GYM DEDICATION

Superintendent Grigsby, Senator Hammond, distinguished guests and fellow Purple Flashes.

I am most grateful to Supt. Grigsby and the Floyd County Board of Education for naming this Gym for me. I consider this the greatest honor of my life.

I also want to thank my wife and children for their patience and understanding during the years I was coaching.

I wish it were possible for me to thank each of you personally for being here tonight. Certainly I want to thank the Martin Woman's Club for their interest and effort. The Finance Committee of the District Championship Teams deserve a great big "Well Done". They are:

1949, Jean Spencer Johnson; 1953, Tommy Westfall; 1958, Phyllis Mayo Gayheart, Charles Doug Dingus, Edgel Bide Click; 1964, Raymond Griffith, Jr.; 1965, Larry Hall, Steve Halbert.

I have devoted 37 years of my life to the Martin School, 12 years as a student and 25 years as teacher and coach, Martin Johnson.

Mrs. Kendrick Awarded Master of Arts Degree

Mrs. William S. Kendrick, of Cow Creek, has been awarded a Master of Arts degree by the University of Kentucky College of Arts and Sciences, it was announced recently.

Mrs. Kendrick received the M. A. degree in English, May 8.

School will always be my first love. My greatest satisfaction is not in my personal accomplishments but in the achievement of the many fine girls and boys it was my privilege to teach and coach.

I have known the joy of victory and the despair of defeat but if I had my life to live over I wouldn't do one thing differently.

I feel very humble in your presence; there are so many of you that mean so much more to me than I do to you.

I shall never forget those who wore the Purple and Gold.

Thank you and God bless.

ONCE FILLED with the noise of children, the screech of chalk on slate and the crackling of coal in a pot-bellied stove, this abandoned one-room school on Corn Fork now serves only to stir memories in many residents of the Brandy Keg-Corn Fork section who received their first schooling there.

New Strip Mining Method

Further information from last week's issue of The Times regarding new strip mine method, devised and patented by Charles M. McCoy, of Prestonsburg, Ky.

In studying the problems caused from stripping operations of our present day method, we see the damages to the land and the environment, the great scars left in the mountains, the great dirt, mud and rock slides caused by pushing the rock and dirt over the cut down the mountain sides, destroying the timber below, contaminating the streams, killing the fish, routing and destroying the wildlife habitation, defacing the land and ruining its natural beauty. Thus the beautiful home land we love will ultimately be destroyed, unless something is done to stop it.

I don't mean stop the operation, I mean stop the present way of doing it. I have devised a way of doing it which will put the land back in its original condition, and nothing pushed down the mountain side. We can get the coal and save our land and preserve the natural beauty thereof for our people to live in, for the oncoming generations to see, for the tourist from far and wide to come and see our beautiful unique scenery. They won't come and see a land of desolation, the land of the lost.

The method I have devised will be cheaper for the operator, thus making him more profit and doing it faster. Naturally, he should be pleased with the plan. The landowner should be pleased, as his land won't be torn to bits and left in unusable condition, also preserving or saving most all his timber.

It should be pleasing to the people in general, as they won't be living in a forlorn, dismal country side. The beauty of their land will be preserved.

Today's use of huge trucks in carrying away the overburden from off the coal and piling it wherever they can, and a lot of it is pushed over the hill, is an expensive, inefficient way of doing the job, and the reclamation in this manner is very poor. They can not with the present method put the land back in its original condition. With my unique system I can.

By the use of a conveyor system on the high wall, the dirt and rock can be transferred from the front of the operation where the dirt and rock is taken off the coal, to the rear of the operation where the conveyor system takes the dirt and rock to the top of the cut and spills it back into the cut at the end of the operation, thus filling in the cut to a gentle, rolling contour behind the working operation on the coal bench, and all moves forward simultaneously. A roadway at the toe of the fill will be maintained for the coal trucks to remove the coal.

The conveyor system will be operated on ledges made on the highwall, so the system operates up and along the wall in a series until the conveyor reaches the top at the rear of the operation and spills the rock and dirt back into the cut behind the working operation, filling it back to its original condition and nothing goes over the mountain, and it's ready for vegetational reseeding, and also for replanting of trees if desired. ### Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Peter Fork Mining Company, P. O. Box 2666, Pikeville, Kentucky, intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately eight acres located south of Harold in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately three miles north of state road 1426's junction with state road 979 and located one mile north of forks of Toler. The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Robert Billips. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is area strip with hollow fill.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Pikeville area office, Pikeville, Ky. 41501.

Persons wishing to object to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection as to the issuance of a mining permit must do so in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must forward same to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Poplar and Pine would be good choices, as they are valuable and grow fast.

If an operator prefers to have a vertical highwall without ledges, borings can be made into the side or face of the wall and steel shafting can be inserted to put the conveyor system on, which will work just as well as on ledges. The shafting can be made in such way to hold the conveyor system securely in place, and of course can be used over and over.

Some may wonder about handling the rock, especially large rock. A new kind of blasting material or explosives has been devised, which fragmentizes the rock and overburden into small, easily conveyed material, also making it easier on other machinery in the operation, it will last longer and operate more efficiently.

All operations are different, the conveyor system can be adapted to any and all of them.

I know where the right kind of Conveyor Systems can be obtained on purchase, lease or lease purchase and are far less expensive than the huge trucks that are used in back haul, and will save lots of money over the expensive truck method and do it faster, also leaving the land in its original condition, which the trucks and present day methods can't do. I'll be glad to talk to any one about the new method. I believe I can save you money and make everybody happy. Call me 886-6115 or write Box 467, Prestonsburg. Thank you.

Perkins Blasts Postal Service Proposed Cut

Congressman Carl D. Perkins has sharply criticized the proposed cut in mail delivery and has sponsored legislation to prevent the Postal Service from going ahead with the proposed cut.

"The Postal Service is supposed to be just what the name implies—a service—which helps the people and it does not help anyone to cut out Saturday mail deliveries," he said.

"Important mail, such as letters or funds or medicine, could be delayed from Friday through Monday if Saturday mail delivery is eliminated," Congressman Perkins said.

He also pointed out that in small and medium-sized communities, many people receive newspapers by mail, and important information would be delayed if the Postal Service terminated deliveries on Saturday.

The Postal Service is no longer under the direct control of Congress, as it used to be, but Congressman Perkins said he would do everything possible to continue six-day mail service.

ALLEN NEWS

ALLEN WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS
The Allen Woman's Club held its June meeting at the clubhouse. Guest speaker was Earl W. Thompson, organizational fund-raising specialist for Colortex Studios.

Instead of a dinner with proceeds going to the Allen Volunteer Fire Department, the club decided to sell photo certificates, all proceeds to go to the fire department.

Club President Nancy Stevens advised that the Cystic Fibrosis Bike-a-thon had been cancelled. She also discussed the workshop for fund-raising club projects which is to be held at Breaks Park, July 23. She also advised that she plans to attend the General Federation of Woman's Clubs' presidential installation in Phoenix in June, 1978, and urged other members to attend.

A club donation is to be made to the Allen Elementary "A-Team Cheerleaders" to assist them in attending cheerleading camp.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, JoAnn Adams and Bonnie Spencer, to Anita Lafferty, Deloris Dunaway, Mary Hinchman, Vicki Boyd, Pat Derossett, Wanda Weber and Nancy Stevens.

A Journey into July

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
(UK College of Agriculture)

July is the high noon of the year—the time when another golden period of sunshine and warmth begins its downward slide into brown autumn and drear winter. By about a minute each, the days grow progressively shorter and by the end of the month at least 30 minutes of daylight have been lost.

In the meantime tomatoes, green beans, roasting ears, bell peppers, cucumbers and many other wonderful delicacies from the garden are appearing on dining room tables of this good land. Blackberries are ripening on briars in old fields and by the wayside, and from the depths of the swamps comes the basso profundo, "jug-of-rum, jug-of-rum," of the bullfrog.

Except for the "calk, calk, calk," of the caterpillar-eating raincrow calling from secret hiding places in the woods and the haunting cry of the whippoorwill drifting from the same places at twilight, the bird music of spring is easing off. Soon this music of the wild will be replaced by the dry orchestration of the katydid, jarfly, cricket and all the other clacking, rasping insects of autumn.

In old fields and in waste places, daisies, Queen Anne's Lace, milkweed, forbidding thistles, blue chickory and pungent yarrow add their beauty to the day and to the season, while from time to time crashing thunderstorms jolt the hills and sheets of rain turn dusty country lanes into ribbons of warm mud that feels so delightful to bare feet. At night the blinking lights of fireflies trace curious, graceful arabesques against the backdrop of a darksome sky and from a fence post somewhere out there, the disturbing tremolo of that tiny little waif, the screech owl, adds to all this wonder of July.

But much, much more is this first full month of summer. It is a time of patriotic festivals, memorial meetings, homecoming celebrations and get-up-and-go vacation time.

At this time of the year, everything seems to be predicated on fun—family picnics, old swimming holes, front porch sitting and getting away to the lake, seashore, or back to see the old folks down on the farm. This is the month when the cool realms of the country have all the attractions, but none of the dangers of that fabled, enchanted Isle of Circe, the sorceress of Homer's Odyssey.

Christian Life Conference

The eighth annual Campmeeting Crusade and Christian-Life Conference of the Cumberland Mountain Evangelistic Association, Middlesboro, is slated for July 25-30 at the Southside Baptist Church there.

Program personalities include Miss Bertha Smith, an international missionary, author and speaker; Dr. F. F. As that eminent outdoor writer, Hal Borland once said, July is indeed a picnic—"red canoes, sunburned necks, softball games and ice tinkling in tall glasses." It certainly is a month for fun, relaxation and letting the hair down but for those who live down on the farm, there are some jobs that must still be done to extend the crop year.

For instance to have late cabbage to store away for winter, get the plants in the ground by late July. If collards are wanted for late summer greens, plant the seed by the middle of the month. Other garden crops that can be planted in early July with a reasonable expectation of satisfactory harvests are beans, broccoli, sweet corn, cucumbers, sweet pepper and tomatoes. An old time planting date for late roasting ears was

July 4. Kale can also be seeded in mid July.

After July 1, much labor can be saved by mulching, which inhibits weed growth and conserves moisture. Grass clippings from the lawn make excellent mulch, but don't use more than an inch at any one time. Otherwise this form of mulch will overheat and give off a rotting odor.

Injurious insects and plant diseases seem to build up at this time of year so keep a sharp eye out and take steps to keep these pests under control. But in completing these chores, don't lose sight of the fact that July is recreation month. Take time out to have fun and above all, take time out to enjoy the fruits of your labor because, as Emerson once said in effect, it is the soul's highest duty to have fun and be of good cheer.

ACNE, that unsightly scourge of adolescence, may have finally been conquered, reports the July Reader's Digest. Dr. Sidney Hurwitz of Yale University has treated 1104 teen-agers, moderately to severely afflicted with acne, with application of vitamin-A acid combined with benzoyl peroxide. Most of the youngsters—88 percent—reported good to excellent results within eight weeks.

Thirty-Day Notification Prior to Review Assumption

Health Tip

(From the American Medical Ass'n.)

SUMMER HEALTH HAZARDS

Winter is commonly the time for colds and flu and sneezes. But there are some diseases and accidents that do their worst in hot weather.

Some of these are obvious. Sun strokes and heat strokes are more likely to occur in July and August than in January. Too much exposure and too much exercise in the hot sun may produce sun stroke. Prolonged excessive heat, either in or out of doors, can cause heat stroke. In either case it is important to keep the victim cool and call a physician at once.

Sunburn has hospitalized many a vacationer. Everyone should know, says the American Medical Association, that gradual exposure to the sun, beginning with a few minutes a day, is the recommended course. But many of us forget to watch the clock and to take precautions against sunburn in the excitement of the first day at camp or at the seashore.

The bacteria that cause diarrhea and stomach upsets multiply much faster in lukewarm foods, and it's important to keep cold foods in refrigeration and to keep hot foods hot.

Swimming is fine exercise and also is good for cooling off on a hot day. Those with sinus or ear trouble should be careful about swimming. Swimmers should make certain that the water is safe from pollution. A clear mountain stream may look attractive. It also may be loaded with germs. And there still are cases of typhoid and dysentery from drinking untreated water. Campers can disinfect water by boiling or by commercial disinfectant tablets.

If there are horses or cows around, there is likely to be tetanus. Tetanus (lockjaw) is very serious. It can be prevented by injection of tetanus toxoid. If your family hasn't had tetanus boosters recently, get your shots before going to the country.

Flies, roaches, mosquitoes and ticks are troublesome in the hot months. Insecticides and screens usually can keep them under control. In tick country it is important to make a close examination after disrobing and remove all ticks.

Senior Citizen News

Directors from the five-county Senior Citizens Program met June 20 at Big Sandy ADD with aging planners to plan a multi-county picnic at Jenny Wiley State Park, July 15. Directors present were Verlie Newman, Prestonsburg; Dee Burchett, Martin; Lila Rowe, Salyersville; Dixie Stone, Inez, and Barbara Abshire, Pikeville. All senior citizens are urged to attend.

Senior citizens will celebrate the July 4 holiday with a watermelon party at the Archer Center, Thursday, June 30, 11 till 2 p.m. Any needing transportation, call 886-6855.

Registering at the center the past week were Cora Pennington, H. C. Church, Prestonsburg; Cynthia Ousley, Angie Adams, Elsie Prater, Middlecreek; Mr. and Mrs. Rainley White, Willie Warrens, Ora Warrens, Lula Wallen, Beulah Williamson, Prestonsburg; Darcus Lafferty, Melpha Tackett, Martin; Edith Elkins, Sola Blackburn, Gypsie Baldrige, East Point; Clarence and Mae Crum, Stanville; Mrs. Ben Parker, Vivian Fraley, Lillian Hardin, Prestonsburg; James Martin, Drift; Alvie Goble, Jeff B. Wells, Rhoda Brickley and Emma Rice, Prestonsburg.

IN LEXINGTON HOSPITAL Homer Salisbury is seriously ill at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington. His family has been with him during his illness.

WEDDING GUESTS Mrs. Priscilla Hager and Mrs. Alma Baldrige, of East Point, attended the Davidson-Hicks wedding at the First Methodist Church here, Sunday.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY Don Carlos Hall, of Wise, Va., was honored on his 29th birthday with a dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos L. Hall, of Town Branch. Enjoying the occasion with him were his wife, Sherlene, and their two children, Jennifer and Scott Christopher Hall; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos L. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Odis Ousley, of Risner, and Miss Rita Tackett, of West Prestonsburg.

Earning Pioneer Merit Badge

MAYTOWN COMMUNITY NEWS

Mrs. Earl Webb has been confined to her home following a fall as she was leaving church. She was taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital for X-rays. No bones were broken, and she is able to walk with the aid of crutches.

Mrs. Libby Flanery spent several days recently at Our Lady of the Way hospital for tests and treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Martin, of Orlando, Fla., were here recently visiting relatives.

David Webb and son, Davie, of Lexington, were here visiting his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Webb, and other family members last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tauby Tussey, Jeff, Scarlett and Shasta Jean, Springfield, Ohio, Christa Jean Webb, Beaver, Ohio, Mrs. Claude Webb, Mecca Webb, Dawn Dinglein and Delbert Milton Goins spent Tuesday at Natural Bridge State Park.

Mrs. Alva Flanery, Mrs. Tommy Jones and Mrs. Belinda Halbert and Kris have been vacationing in Myrtle Beach, S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Moberly, of Lexington, have been here visiting her mother, Mrs. Haley Webb, and her aunt, Mrs. Emma Turner, and Zeda at Wayland.

Mrs. Mildred Stewart and son, Keith, have returned from a vacation in Florida.

A large group of employees of Kentucky Hydrocarbon and Kentucky West Virginia Gas companies and their families attended the annual picnic at Camden Park in Huntington, Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Hicks, Melissa and Mary Beth have returned from a vacation spent at Pigeon Forge, Tenn., Cherokee, N. C. and several places in Florida.

Christa Jean Webb, Beaver, Ohio, Scarlett and Shasta Jean Tussey, Springfield, Ohio, Dawn Dinglein and Mecca Webb were Wednesday night guests of Mrs. Shirley Stewart.

Bess Ratliff has moved into one of the Shirley Stewart apartments.

Mrs. C. J. Sparks and Mrs. Lillian Claiborn, Oak Ridge, Tenn., came here Monday and spent the night with Mrs. Bradas May. Mrs. Sparks' daughter, Linda, and friend from Elkins, W. Va. brought Mrs. Sparks' son, who had been visiting his sister, here to meet his mother, and he, along with Mrs. Josephine Webb, who had spent almost a month here with Mrs. Bradas May, returned home with them. Mrs. Sparks called on Mrs. Octavia Combs while here.

Friends calling on Dr. J. H. Allen and family Monday were Dr. Henry Martin, of Richmond, and Mrs. Janet Sparks and Mrs. Lillian Claiborn, Oak Ridge, Tenn. Bob Allen and daughters, Teresa Ann and Mary Beth, Mt. Vernon, Ill., visited them on Thursday.

Flood Victims' Rehousing Said 85% Complete

As of June 21, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) had rehoused 85 percent of the Kentucky families who were affected by the flood. Jack Ingram, director of HUD's Eastern Kentucky operations, said, "Half of the 4500 families have been able to move back into their homes that were made safe, sanitary and secure under HUD's Minimal Repair Program (MRP). The mini repair work has included, repairing buckled floors, replacing decayed walls, flooded out water pumps, and water heaters. In some cases it was necessary to repair wells and septic tanks, replace steps and landings that had been torn away by the swift current."

In addition, Ingram said, "Over 2000 families are living in mobile homes that were towed from HUD storage centers across the country to the Corbin staging area. Within 24 hours many of the mobile homes were picked up by experienced short-haul totes who pulled them across mountain roads to private sites, commercial parks or one of 14 HUD parks built after the flood."

"With the exception of the HUD Disaster Field Office in Hazard, which has completed its mission of assisting 108 families, HUD employees continue to work seven days a week, Ingram said.

New Varsity Cheerleaders

HERE FROM HUNTINGTON

Mrs. Mae H. Hinchman, of Huntington, stopped in town this week on way to Harold to visit her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Ferrell. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell and Mrs. Oscar Blackburn, of Meta, for a week.

3 GI Bills Help Educate Almost 17 Million Americans

During the 33-year life span of the biggest free schooling program in the nation's history, nearly 17 million Americans have been educated under one of the three GI Bills passed since World War II, the Veterans Administration said today.

The program trained nearly 8 million World War II veterans, more than 2 million Korean conflict vets and nearly 7 million post-Korean conflict servicemen and women.

Free to the students, the three GI Bills cost the taxpayers $40.7 billion and are regarded as one of the most successful and widely used of all veterans' benefits.

VA's latest figures on GI Bill usage cover the period through November, 1976, a month before the traditional program was replaced with one requiring financial participation by the serviceman or woman.

The November enrollment figures, incidentally showed large drops from those of a year previous due to the fact that the semi-annual VA compilation was the first since GI Bill eligibility ran out for 3.6 million post-Korean and early Vietnam Era veterans. The GI Bill carries a 10-year "use-it-or-lose-it" limit.

Even with the smaller enrollment figures, VA said 1.2 million veterans and active duty service personnel were taking GI Bill training in November.

THANK YOU

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped us in so many ways upon the passing of our loved one, Dona Henderson. We would like to thank each one for the beautiful flowers, the food, and so many little kindnesses shown to us. A special thanks to Brothers James Johnson and Clinton Huff, for their kind words and to the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service.

Attends Midway Legal Institute

Deborah Lynn Pack, of Drift, legal secretary to L. Owen Doyle and John A. Gardner, Attorneys at Law, recently returned to work after attending an intensive, 10-day Institute for Legal Assistants sponsored by Midway College and held on the college's campus in Midway.

She is shown above, right, discussing with William P. Statsky of Washington, D. C., a point in his lecture on Legal Research. Mr. Statsky was an instructor for the Institute for Legal Assistants held June 5-17.

Designed by Midway trustee, Judge Henry V. Pennington and the college's Legal Advisory Council as an adjunct program to the school's two year Associate Degree Curricula in Legal Assistance, the institute's purpose was to increase the skills and confidence of the 65 participants, all of whom were experienced legal or para-legal personnel.

Faculty for the Institute numbered 28 persons, all recognized as experts in their fields. Subjects required in order to receive certification from the Institute Dean and the college included courses in Criminal Law, Civil Law, Trusts and Wills, Family Law, Commercial Law, Tort and Insurance Law among others in addition to her selections from a list of elective classes.

Pledges Not Received, Says Chapter Director

Mrs. Shelby Willis, executive director of the Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, said Monday that the chapter still lacks $788 in pledges made during the recent Red Cross radiothon.

Although the radiothon, which was held at Marlow's Country Palace, near Pikeville, was successful in raising much-needed funds, Mrs. Willis stressed that a significant number of pledges had never been received by the Floyd or Pike chapters.

Mrs. Willis said that Kentucky's Southeastern Division had raised $191,548.36 for the special Red Cross disaster relief fund—more than any other Red Cross division involved in the fund drive.

Mrs. Willis also gave the final total of Red Cross expenditures in Floyd county during the April flood disaster as $1,101,276.95.

Highway Death Toll Reached 84 in May

In May, 84 persons were killed on Kentucky highways.

This is about average for the past 16 years, Kentucky State Police Safety Education Director Lt. Ernest Bivens said recently, "but that's 84 lives."

Bivens said he is "optimistic about keeping the overall traffic toll down for 1977, though."

In the State Police monthly traffic report for May, Kentucky equalled the national average of 4 deaths for every 100 million miles traveled. This is lower than last year with a 5 per cent increase in total miles traveled over 1976 figures.

The worst year for traffic fatalities was in 1973 when 1,117 lost their lives on Kentucky roadways.

Consumer Comment

A local bank recently received a bill from California for a listing in a business directory. The invoice stated that a person in the bank "authorized" the listing. After close inspection of the invoice, the bank accountant noticed at the bottom of it there were the statements "THIS IS NOT A BILL, this is a solicitation. You are under no obligation to pay unless you accept this offer."

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Office has recently been swamped with complaints about such deceptive solicitations, and the complaints are coming from businesses all over Kentucky.

Another very similar problem involves merchandise "invoices which are really just solicitations. Companies typically telephone local businesses asking if they can send a few samples of their merchandise. They assure these businesses that confirmation of the order will be made before shipping, but often these confirmations are not made with an authorized employe, or are not made at all.

The merchandise shipment usually includes several dozen times more than the few agreed upon, along with a bill for hundreds of dollars more than the normal retail price of the order. When local merchants attempt to return the merchandise, the company refuses to accept delivery and demands payment for the order.

Before paying a suspicious bill compare it to your purchase order for the merchandise, and check each business invoice for proper signature, type of product, number of units, price per unit, total cost, and date of delivery. If the invoice does not contain the correct information or if it does not contain a disclaimer such as "THIS IS NOT A BILL" or "This is a solicitation. You are under no obligation to pay unless you accept this offer", report the company to the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or to the Postal Inspection Service in Cincinnati, Ohio, 45201 for investigation. Also, be sure you do not pay a bill before delivery of the merchandise is made. You may end up paying for something that you never receive.

Any mailed material that could be mistaken for a bill or invoice, but is actually a solicitation for an order, cannot be mailed unless the words "THIS IS NOT A BILL" are printed on the front of the invoice in easily readable type. It does not have to be printed on the envelope. The phrase must be typed in boldface capital letters that are at least as large as the other print and of a contrasting color from the background against which it appears.

Any solicitation that states it has been approved by the Postal Service or the Postmaster General or that it conforms to any postal law or regulation is non-mailable. These matters should be reported to either the Attorney General's Office or to the Postal Inspection Service.

Remember to always check bills carefully to be sure that the proper amount, price, personnel signature and dates are included and that you do not pay for merchandise that has not been delivered.

If you have any questions about mail solicitations or phony invoices, contact the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the Consumer Hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

Jimmy Thornsby and Group Bring Mountain Sound to Southwestern U.S.

Floyd county has always produced its share of musicians—fiddlers, banjo pickers, guitar or mandolin players—but most of these have been of the "front porch" or "shade tree" picker variety and relatively few have developed their musical skills to a professional level. An exception is Jimmy Thornsby.

Always a fine musician, Thornsby, a native of Emma, headed west in 1962 where he met his wife, the former Edna Byrd, of Texas, and it was in the Phoenix, Ariz. area that he renewed his lifelong interest in 5-string banjo and guitar.

First appearing on what his wife called "a little radio show," Thornsby was soon booked at small clubs in Phoenix, and, after picking up a full backup band, he began playing shows at a popular Phoenix club, "Magoo's." Under the performing name Jim Beam, Thornsby played several years at the club and toured with such stars as Tom T. Hall, Leroy Van Dyke and Bobby Bare. More recently, Thornsby and his group, The Moonshine Music Co., have worked regularly out of the El Tango Mexican Restaurant and recently appeared in a country festival along with Ronnie Milsap, Donna Fargo, The Earl Scruggs Revue, Hank Williams, Jr., Mel Street, Johnny Paycheck, Asleep At The Wheel, and others.

The 39-year-old Thornsby has made use of his mountain music background in his performances which are made up of a combination of bluegrass, country and even rock. His skill on the 5-string banjo as well as lead guitar and vocals make Jim Beam and group top calling cards in the Southwest.

Thornsby does not hesitate to let audiences know where he is from and one entertainment publication, "Spotlite," said of the performer: "He talks freely of his early days in Floyd county, Kentucky, of walking up the hollow every morning to drink from the creek, not because he had to, (for they had a well just outside the house that brought water up in a pail), but, because he thought the creek water tasted a little sweeter."

Thornsby, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Thornsby, of Emma, is a brother of Prestonsburg Police Chief Ralph "Hack" Thornsby (also a talented musician), and Mrs. Bill Potter, of Prestonsburg.

Griffith Named In Stearns Case As One Wounded

A man listed as Lee Griffith, 35, of David, a security guard at the Justus mine of the Stearns Coal Company, was charged last week with first degree assault following the wounding of a mine picket.

The wounded man, Ray Hamlin, of Pine Knot, Ky., was shot in the leg. State Police Lt. Harold Watson said "the pickets allegedly threw an explosive of some type into or near the mine compound and opened fire into the compound toward the mine guards." He said the guards fired back, wounding Hamlin, the fourth person to be shot near the mine in the last few months.

Benton Pigman, supervisor of the Prestonsburg office of the Storm Security System, confirmed the report that the David man accused in the shooting is "one of several" security guards from this county assigned to the Stearns area. He said he knew nothing of the shooting incident or the situation at Stearns.

Security guards employed by Storm Security, he said, have legal rights only on the property which they guard and are charged with protecting lives and property. All guards are bonded and insured, he said.

The company has 12 guards assigned to protection work in this county, Pigman said.

Raid on Salt Lick Nets 170 Cases Beer

The largest haul of illegal alcoholic beverages in recent months was netted Friday morning in a raid on the Cool Water Fork of Salt Lick, near Huesville.

Acting on a search warrant, Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, Deputy Sheriffs Doug and Randall Lewis and State Trooper James Stephens seized 170 cases of beer and nine "fifths" of wine from several vehicles around the residence of Chester Neeley. Neeley and Donald Bailey were charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages, and Bailey's truck was impounded. Sheriff Lewis valued the haul at $2,076 in terms of bootleg prices.

Later the same day, Sheriff's department officers booked Roger Gayheart on a possession charge after confiscating 100 cans of beer from his home at McDowell. Gayheart paid $45 in Magistrate Dewey Roberts' court. Charles Kidd, of Harold was arrested last Wednesday by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Randall Lewis in connection with two robberies. Kidd is accused of the breaking and entering Thursday of the home of Earl Justice at Pikeville. Valuable old coins were missing. He also is accused of breaking into the home of George Hicks, of Harold, and taking a .38-calibre revolver, a rifle, a coin collection and other items. His father, Edward Kidd, was charged with knowingly receiving stolen property.

Arrested by State Trooper Castle, Larry Wright was booked on transporting and drunk driving counts. Sill Bert Hall was charged by State Trooper Weedman with illegal possession.

Thomas Moriarty, of Virginia, was booked by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Ollie Leslie on a charge of first degree wanton endangerment after he allegedly had fired a shotgun blast into the mobile home of Randolph Parsons.

Others arrested, the charge against each and names of arresting officers follow:

Oliver Setser, drunk driving, by State Police Sgt. Pendleton; John T. Clark, drunk driving, by Deputy Sheriffs J. D. and Melvin Martin; Elzie R. Campbell, drunk driving, by State Trooper Shelton; Estill Fannin, drunk driving, by Sheriff Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Linzie Hunt; Curtis Sword, drunk driving, by Deputies Martin and Martin; Doug Nelson, first degree burglary, by State Trooper Shelton and Kilgore; Charles Collins, drunk driving and no operator's license, by Town Marshals Harold and Mildred Bates, of Wheelwright; Brenda Burchett, wanton endangerment, second degree, by State Troopers Stephens and Weedman; Lenville J. Sword, speeding and attempting to elude an officer, by State Trooper Hall.

Mine Vacation Breaks Strike For Two Weeks

More than 10,000 Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia miners were on strike last week protesting a cutback in the UMWA health and retirement funds, but the annual two-week miners' vacation began Saturday, at least temporarily cancelling the walkout.

About 2,000 miners were off the job in District 30 alone, it was said.

Health and Retirement Fund officials conceded that the "wildcat" walkouts resulted mainly from the cutbacks which will result in miners having to pay up to $500 a year for their families' medical and hospital expenses, beginning July 1. The Fund has been taking care of all that expense.

The fund is created by per-ton royalties paid by coal operators on coal mined and the man-hours worked. Strikes were blamed for the loss in royalties to the point that the Fund was unable to carry the entire health cost load.

UMW President Arnold Miller, reelected only last week, said he forecast the cutbacks earlier this year. He also said wildcat strikes such as the current one only worsen the situation.

"I don't blame them (the miners) for striking," Miller said. "This is not a one-way street. The operators are going to have to cooperate. I can't solve this by myself."

He added, "It's time for the membership of this union to learn that you have to live in reality. They (the miners) were warned March 21 that if the wildcats didn't stop, this would happen. There's no mystery about it."

Miller asked the Bituminous Coal Operators Association (BCOA) to take company royalties from the financially healthy 1974 pension trust and put them into the troubled 1964 and 1950 benefit funds. But BCOA apparently was unwilling to do this.

Wayland Man Wins In Skill Olympics

James Bradley, of Wayland, was one of three Kentuckians who won medals in the U.S. Skill Olympics held at Convention Center, Cincinnati, last week.

A student at Mayo Vocational School, Paintsville, Bradley, won a silver (second place) medal in the post-secondary level drafting competition.

More than 2,000 students representing 30 states participated in the Skill Olympics and the National Leadership Conference. Another 2,000 attended as delegates to the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America national meeting.

Another Mayo student, Harry Williams, of Wheelersburg, won third place in post-secondary radio and television repair. The third Kentuckian to win a medal was Jeff Cowan, of Owensboro, who placed second in air-conditioning.

Medal winners were honored at an awards ceremony.

Hazard Hopes To Get Gas System Repairs Under Contract Soon

Hazard city officials are hopeful reconstruction of the leaky gas distribution system which the city bought from Floyd county private owners can be begun by August 1.

"We were losing 50 per cent of our gas through leaks at one point last winter," Mayor W. P. Morton said in a telephone interview.

Contract bids to start service line repairs are scheduled to be opened July 14. "If we have four good months for construction, we should be a good way along on replacement of the entire system before winter comes," he said.

The replacement will be paid for in part with $1.3 million in federal funds approved this week. The Economic Development Administration will provide $900,000, and the Department of Housing and Urban Renewal $400,000.

"We got a low-interest loan from two local banks to pay our one-third share, and the EPA and HUD will provide the rest," Morton said. "The HUD funds were based on a threat to public health and safety from the old gas lines," he added.

"We had two businesses damaged by gas leak explosions last fall and winter. A barber shop blew up one hour after it had been closed and two male restaurant employees were burned in an early morning restaurant explosion last October."

During the worst of last winter, some area residents had to leave their homes for a short period.

The municipally owned gas company has 2,200 customers.

"We serve all the way from Jeff downriver to Hazard, Airport Gardens and Bulan in Perry county, as well as Emmalena, in Knott county," Morton added.

The city-owned firm gets some of its gas from its own wells, but buys most of its supply intra-state from the Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Co. "I wish the city owned more wells, but it takes about $100,000 to drill one now."

Morton said city officials had been working on its application for gas line replacement since last October.

With reports from federal authorities that gas deliveries next winter will fall far below last year's level, shortages are expected to be more acute and mandatory cut-offs will be more severe.

Morton said Hazard plans to continue its gas conservation efforts next winter.

Martin County Jail Gets $5,000 Help

Gov. Julian Carroll has awarded seven grants totaling $146,546 for corrections programs across Kentucky.

The governor's approval came after the Kentucky Crime Commission reported favorably on the projects at its June meeting in Lexington.

Funding was given to the following projects:

—Martin county, $5,000 to construct a heating and ventilation system in the Martin county jail.

—Owensboro, $14,296 to continue operation of the Voluntary Action Center which places adult and juvenile offenders in community service agencies to do volunteer work in lieu of fines and incarceration;

—Department of Justice, Bureau of Corrections, $30,000 to establish a staff allocation procedure to improve personnel recruitment and scheduling of treatment services in the state's adult correctional institutions, and $58,500, to initiate a program to compensate employers for training parolees while in their employ;

—Jefferson County, $1,200 to train Volunteers in Corrections in presenting a structured personal development program for female correctional institutions in Kentucky;

—7th Step Foundation, $22,000 to continue the operation of the Kentucky State Penitentiary 7th Step program which works for rehabilitation of the "hard core incorrigible" criminal;

—Boone County, $15,500 to determine the feasibility of a regional jail for Boone, Grant and Gallatin counties.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) will provide $131,997 of the total amount. The remainder will be matched with state and local funds.

ALLEN UNITED METHODIST WOMEN MEET, JUNE 14

The Allen United Methodist Women met June 14 at the home of Jerri Martin. Maude Snodgrass, president, presided over the business meeting. Opening prayer was by Edna Mae Callison. Tincy Crisp read the treasurer's report. Maude Snodgrass read a letter from Bessie Howes telling of meetings of interest to United Methodist Women to be held in the near future and encouraged U.M.W. to attend as many of these meetings as possible.

The Allen United Methodist women plan to each take a name of a person in the rest home at Lackey and be responsible for a visit and gift on special days.

Following the business meeting a program entitled, "I'm Talking To Myself," was led by Maude Snodgrass with Jewel Allen and Elizabeth Bailey taking parts. The hymn, "Open My Eyes That I May See," was sung by the group.

Tincy Crisp, pastor of Emma United Methodist Church, gave a very interesting report on the annual United Methodist Conference which was held June 7-10.

After adjournment of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess to Maude Snodgrass, Jewel Allen, Edna Mae Callison, Tincy Crisp, Kay Lemaster, Kay Gray, and Elizabeth Bailey.

The next meeting will be July 12, at the home of Elizabeth Bailey with Jewel Allen program chairman.

Old Law Applies For Fines, Costs

Fines and costs assessed in quarterly and magistrates' courts prior to next Jan. 1, but not collected until after that date, will be handled under the present statutes, according to an opinion by the attorney general's office.

This means that fines and costs such as the commonwealth attorney tax, county attorney tax and county judge tax assessed quarterly and magistrates courts should be reported and turned over to the circuit court by the court of collection. The receipts should then be forwarded to the department of Finance and Administration.

The opinion was written by Charles Runyan, assistant deputy attorney general, in response to a letter from Joseph L. Moore, in charge of county fee systems for the state finance department.

The state's new four-tier court system will be fully operational next January.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Neville Shackelford
UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

From the earliest times animals, both wild and domesticated, have been associated with superstition. Some of these quaint old beliefs are very much alive today. For instance some country folk are still convinced that rain can be predicted by sheep, cats and chickens. When a cat sneezes, chickens preen their feathers, or sheep "baa" loudly in unison, you can look for rain in the very near future. In the same vein of belief, settled weather is assured when cows lie down in the pasturefield.

The snake also holds a high place in superstition and strange as it may seem, you can find people today that still firmly cherish the belief that blacksnakes milk cows. Some also regard fried rattlesnake meat as a specific for intestinal ailments and that the best cure for a severe headache is the dried skin of a puff adder tied around the aching topknot.

In pioneer times in the Appalachian Mountains it was generally believed that an epidemic of whooping cough could be checked by letting children so afflicted ride on the back of a bear. Sometimes, according to notes left by noted pioneer doctor, Daniel Drake, some backwoods communities kept a tame bear around for this purpose.

One such community was said to have been on a fork of Upper Devil's Creek in what is now Wolfe county. The story is told that one day while taking the bear to service a bunch of children sick with the whooping cough, an old razorback sow with a litter of pigs attacked and treed both bear and his owner. In the melee, the bear got away but the old sow kept the man up the tree until a pack of dogs came by and chased her away. Incidentally, the bear was never recaptured.

Dogs were once thought to have an uncanny ability to hear the rustle of the wings of death angels, to see ghosts, and after death, becoming ghosts themselves. The late well-known and highly-respected American author, Albert Payson Terhune, believed in ghost dogs and wrote many accounts in support of the belief.

Foxes and weasels have long been regarded as animals of ill omen. Oddly enough, though, only when seen in packs are foxes of sinister connotation. When spotted running alone, it is a sign of good luck for the spotter.

Weasels are supposed to be the associates of witches, who are said addicted to taking the form of a weasel. A weasel is a bad omen for a homestead that has a henhouse, being capable of killing more than 20 hens in a single night. Also, a weasel crossing your path from the left is a sign danger lies ahead.

Dewey Yields "Hawg" To Osborne

Paul Osborne, of Prestonsburg tied into this lunker largemouth last Tuesday night fishing in the upper section of Dewey Lake with a small spinner bait. The big bass measured 22 1/2 inches and weighed 6 lbs. 2 ounces.

NEWEST EAGLE . . . Bridget Clay, right, discusses basketball and college with Prestonsburg High School Track Coach Sharon Meade and Morehead State University President Morris L. Norfleet during MSU's recent reception at Jenny Wiley State Park. Miss Clay has signed a basketball grant-in-aid at MSU. She averaged 32.8 points and six assists per game last season at Prestonsburg High. MSU is the current basketball champion of the Kentucky Women's Intercollegiate Conference. "Bridget is a fine all-around player," said Mickey Wells, who will be her coach at MSU. "She plays the game smartly and will be a great asset this season." A two-sport star in high school here, she played for Coach Charles Collins and was a member of Coach Meade's track team. The MSU recruit is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clay, Highland Heights, Prestonsburg.

Prater Creek Little Leaguers

Gerri Grigsby Sets Scoring Record As Kentucky Girls Sweep Series

As in the first game of the Kentucky-Indiana all-star basketball series played in Indianapolis a week earlier, McDowell High School's All-American Gerri Grigsby led the Kentucky girls' squad Saturday night to victory over Indiana at Freedom Hall, Louisville.

In the 71-54 win the Floyd county star broke the series scoring record with 30 points. Her 24 points in the game at Indianapolis was the record till she went on a second-half rampage Saturday night. Incidentally, the Kentucky All-star boys defeated Indiana at Freedom Hall, 85-84, to make a clean sweep of their 1977 series. Both games were played Saturday night.

Wrote Cindy Morris in The Courier-Journal of the girls' victory: For the Indiana Girls All-Star Team, it was like trying to catch a locomotive last night at Freedom Hall.

They grasped, and fought, and came close, but they could not catch up with the Kentucky All-Stars, who pulled away in the final quarter to win 71-54. Kentucky now has a 3-1 record against Indiana in the two-year series.

Kentucky held a slim four-point lead at the end of the first and second quarters, and led by five going into the final period. But the lead mushroomed to 21 with only three minutes to play—primarily because of Kentucky's Miss Basketball, Gerri Grigsby, who scored 30 points, 22 of them in the final half.

Grigsby, whose point total broke the All-Star scoring record of 24 she set during last week's 78-69 win over Indiana, scored four consecutive field goals during Kentucky's fourth-quarter spree. The 5-foot-5 guard from McDowell knifed through Indiana's defense on repeated drives to boost Kentucky to a 67-46 lead.

The Hoosiers, who had played fighting catch-up ball all night, hung in determinedly, but were hopelessly behind and could only narrow Kentucky's lead to 17.

Kentucky coach Roy Bowling from state girls' champion Laurel County was not the least surprised. Nevertheless, the Hoosiers held Kentucky in check throughout the first three quarters, although they led only twice. Indiana's high-point woman, Dru Cox, swished a 17-footer seconds into the game to give the Hoosiers a 2-0 lead.

Kentucky quickly tied it up and went ahead with a jump shot from outside by Jennifer Lyons, a 5-10 forward from Bellevue.

Lyons, a center during the regular season, scored 12 points during the first half at forward. While Indiana kept the pressure on Grigsby, who likes to barrel in close to the basket, Lyons became a formidable presence.

After leading only 45-42 with 7:33 remaining, Kentucky began to click. Grigsby scored two consecutive field goals to widen the gap to seven. Jayna Farris, of Corbin, connected to make it 51-42.

It was the beginning of the end, and Indiana called a timeout.

The margin widened to 13, 15, 17, 18, and 21 with field goals by Grigsby and Debbie Johnson, a scrapper from Lexington Tates Creek.

At about that time, Grigsby started to smile the way she does during practice. She was still wearing the grin as she bounced out of the locker room, in complete uniform and sopping wet.

"Excuse my appearance," she told a circle of reporters jovially. "I just got thrown in the shower. They've got Jennifer in there now."

Miss Jenkins is instructed by Vera Harris, of Rocky Hill Terrace, who has coached many celebrities, including Dorothy Hamill. This is her second gold medal.

She is the granddaughter of the late Dr. James W. Archer and Dr. Alpharetta Archer, of Paintsville.

First National Team Wins Walter Hagan For Cancer Fund

Teams representing county banks came in one-two, in the Walter Hagan Golf Tournament held at the Jenny Wiley golf course near here last week-end.

Winning team members were Johnny Ray Turner, Steve Clark, Ralph Little, and Clyde Woods, representing the First National Bank. Runners-up were Bill Hoppman, Jeff Conn, Mike Conley, and Terry Sizemore, representing First Guaranty Bank. The winning score was 11 under par, with runners-up at 8 under par.

Eight teams of four members were in competition during the rainy event, with all proceeds going to the American Cancer Society.

The two winning teams will play in the regional competition at the Ponderosa Country Club in Ashland in August.

Honored at Family Reunion

On May 29, Mrs. Mary Alice Howell was honored at a family reunion at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Foster Jones at Grethel.
 The 84-year-old Mrs. Howell was born January 1, 1893 at Craynor and has lived there all her life. She was married to Evan S. Howell Dec. 12, 1912. They had 10 children, of which two died as infants. Their eldest son, Joe, died in 1975. Mr. Howell died in 1955.
 Attending the potluck dinner were her seven surviving children, Mrs. Stella Newsome, Mrs. Della Jones, Mrs. Zella Slone, Mrs. Hannah Newsome, Robert Howell, Emmitt Howell and Charles Howell. Of her 40 grandchildren, 21 attended and 29 of her 71 great-grandchildren. She has one great-great-grandchild. Many in attendance came from as far away as Ohio and Michigan. There were 80 members of her family who attended the reunion.

Historical Society Library Has Help for Genealogists

The genealogical library of the Kentucky Historical Society (KHS) attracts genealogists from all over the United States, according to Anne McDowell, librarian.
 Nancy Cornelison Roberts, of Panama City, Fla., and Edith Cornelison Kates, of Hardin, Mont., recently came to Kentucky to research their family histories. They met in the stacks, started talking and found they were related. Both were researching the line descended from John Cornelison, a Revolutionary War soldier.
 "During the same week a professional genealogist from Dallas, Tex. was also working in our library," Mrs. McDowell said.
 The ladies who discovered they were distant cousins were especially impressed with the file the library keeps of persons who have contacted them on the same family name. "This file enables genealogists to contact someone in another state who may have just the information you are looking for," said Mrs. Roberts.
 Both women agreed that "the tax lists on microfilm, the family folders and the Dutch Reform Church Records provide valuable help for the researcher." Other sources of genealogical reference in the library include abstracts of wills, marriages, deeds, pensions and cemetery records. Also available are indexed rosters of Kentucky soldiers in the War of 1812, the Civil War, Mexican War, Spanish American War and World War I.
 "Genealogy is a recorded family history and a hobby that appeals to all age groups," said Mrs. McDowell. She advises those interested in tracing family histories to "talk with the oldest living relative—they can give you leads you couldn't possibly get any other way."
 Mrs. McDowell and her staff of five assistant librarians respond to every request from Kentuckians seeking genealogical information. They also send packets of materials to local historical societies and those in other states to use in conducting genealogical seminars.
 The Kentucky Historical Society also provides an extra source of information to persons who join the organization—KENTUCKY ANCESTORS. Published quarterly, KENTUCKY ANCESTORS contains vital statistics, court records, cemetery records and other material to aid persons doing genealogical research.

Aid to Unemployed Fathers To End as Idle Rate Drops

Kentucky's two-year-old public assistance program for unemployed fathers will end July 1 because the state's unemployment rate dropped below the compulsory cut-off level during a four-month period which ended in May.

Gail Huecker, commissioner of the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Social Insurance, said the final checks for June have already been issued to approximately 7,800 Kentucky families with unemployed fathers participating in this portion of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program.

Legislation enacted by the 1974 General Assembly requires the state to halt the unemployed fathers assistance program when Kentucky's unemployment rate falls below 5.5 per cent (based on a four month average). A 5.2 per cent average was recorded for the period which ended in May.

The program was previously scheduled to be discontinued April 1, but the severe winter resulted in a higher-than-expected unemployment rate and postponed the program's demise for three months, Miss Huecker said.

"Those who experienced difficulty finding work during this past winter really benefited from this program. With the economy currently on the upswing, we anticipate an expanded job market which should provide opportunities for our unemployed fathers," she said.

Miss Huecker urged them to visit or contact their local Manpower Services office for information about additional assistance available through the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

Families of unemployed fathers are also eligible for medical assistance and food stamps. "Recipients of our discontinued unemployed fathers program should report that change of income to their local food stamp office. Some people may become eligible for stamps as a result of the change, while those already receiving coupons will pay less for them," Miss Huecker said.

In May, the state paid approximately $1.7 million to unemployed fathers, an average of about $250 per family. Miss Huecker said approximately $31 million was expended during the program's 24-month duration.

Should Kentucky's unemployment rate again rise to six per cent or above, legislation provides for the unemployed fathers program's reinstatement.

Senate Passes 2 Clean Air Amendments

The Senate has passed two amendments by Senator Walter (Dee) Huddleston designed to assure that compliance with clean air standards does not impair the development and use of new coal and other energy technologies.

Huddleston said that if new clean air performance standards "are applied prematurely to unproven technologies it could result in either hindering the progress of necessary research and development of that technology or eliminating investigation of the technology entirely."

Huddleston and Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Maine), floor manager of the clean air bill now before the Senate, both urged the Environmental Protection Agency to work closely with the Energy Research and Development Administration to make sure energy research technology is not impeded.

The first Huddleston amendment urges special consideration be given small businesses and government facilities, especially those engaged in energy research and development, in their efforts to meet clean air standards.

It would require that the National Commission on Air Quality, which will conduct a study of alternative pollution control strategies for new construction in areas with excessive air pollution, specifically address the problems of small business and government agencies. Huddleston said he is especially concerned about those government facilities engaged in the development of cleaner uses of coal.

The second Huddleston amendment deals with the application of the "best available control technologies" to new emission sources in areas that already meet air quality standards.

The amendment clarifies the definition of "best available control technology" to make sure all new technologies are included.

"It is the purpose of my amendment to leave no doubt that in determining the best available control techniques that all actions taken by the fuel user be taken into account—be they the purchasing or production of fuels which have been cleaned or upgraded through chemical treatment, gasification or liquefaction, use of fluidized bed combustion, and (or) post-combustion treatment of emissions with clean-up like stack scrubbers," Huddleston said.

LEGAL NOTICE

On or about June 15, 1977, the City of Prestonsburg and the Floyd County Fiscal Court submitted an application to the State and Area-Wide A-95 Clearinghouse (Kentucky Department of Finance and the Big Sandy Area Development District). This application was submitted under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 for a Community Development Block Grant Discretionary Program in the amount of $500,000. The application will assist in providing rehabilitation loans and grants to families residing in the Old Lancer Neighborhood of Prestonsburg and Floyd County, in providing funds for purchase of a single-family housing site, in providing utilities and an access road on Abbott Mountain, and in providing for funds to assist the Kentucky Department of Transportation and the Appalachian Regional Commission in the development of an access road to the Prestonsburg Section 8 Cliffside Housing Site. This application will be submitted to the Louisville Office of the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development on or before August 1, 1977. Copies of the application are available for review at the Prestonsburg Housing Authority, the Prestonsburg City Hall, and the Floyd County Planning Office. Persons wishing to make written comments on this proposed application should address all correspondence to Mr. Harold Cooley, Mayor, City of Prestonsburg, Municipal Building, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653, prior to August 1, 1977.

The new recruiter will live in Pikeville with his wife the former Mary Ann Ward, and their two sons, Keith and Chad.

Woman's Club Hostess In Paintsville Meeting To Its Daughter Club

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club recently entertained its daughter clubs at the Woodland Place Restaurant, Paintsville.

Speaking on "Environmental Noise Control," William S. Coakley, director of the Enforcement and Surveillance Program, Division of Air Pollution Control, Frankfort, urged his listeners to watch for announcements of various meetings in preparation for the drawing up of state standards on noise...

By means of charts and slides Mr. Coakley showed the anatomy of the human ear and the danger to it from excessively loud noises. He also pointed out various ways by which noise could be lessened in order to protect the human ear.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Bill Hoffman, former Seventh district governor of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, installed officers for the 1977-78 club year in a candlelight ceremony. Those installed were Mrs. James A. Duff (in absentia), president; Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, first vice-president; Mrs. Marie Mullins, second vice-president; Mrs. James E. Martin, recording secretary; Mrs. Otto Martin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Don Hughes, treasurer.

Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, first vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. James A. Duff. Mrs. Otto Martin introduced the speaker.

Those attending from the Drift Woman's Club were Mrs. Ward L. Reed, Mrs. McKinley Little, Mrs. Sophia Cahill, Mrs. Emma P. McDowell, Miss Ruby Akers, and Mrs. Anna Hoffman; from the Magoffin County Woman's Club—Ressie L. Allen, Virginia Prater, Pauline Finlayson, Mishie Reed, Barbara A. Reed, Alyce Gardner, Alma Frazier, Mary Salyer, Helen Patton, Maude Niles, and Leona R. Bomb Blast on Train Kills One Passenger LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia—A bomb exploded on the Dortmund-Athens international train early Saturday morning, killing one passenger and injuring eight, police reported.

Two of the injured were Finnish students. The identity of the dead passenger was not immediately established.

Scuba Diving Added To Police Training

Scuba diving has become the newest addition to the law enforcement training programs offered by the Kentucky Bureau of Training.

In addition to the training sessions 24 local police officers and training staff underwent this month, they got an opportunity to try their new skills in real life.

The day before the training session was to end, Deputy Sheriff Ed Tucker of Wayne County asked the class to assist in recovering a body reportedly drowned in Beaver Creek Lake, part of Lake Cumberland.

The advanced scuba diving class was sent to Wayne County to help, and spent two days diving in water up to 95 feet deep. Aided by the Louisville Police Department diving team, they reported that visibility at the lower depths was virtually nonexistent. Their efforts were unsuccessful.

"We learned from this experience that underwater recovery is an aspect of law enforcement training that has been neglected in the past. We are very optimistic that this will now become a vital part of our curriculum and enable us to give the Kentucky police officers a truly effective background for their highly diversified job functions," Stone said.

ATTENTION All grocery stores, restaurants, service stations and drive-in restaurants, your new occupational license will be due July 1, 1977. If you sell cigarettes or any type of tobacco (vending machines included), soft drinks, ice cream or sell prepared foods (such as restaurants or drive-in restaurants), you must have a license to sell any or all items. This is for any grocery store, drive-in restaurant, service station or any restaurant located in Floyd County, including the corporated towns of Prestonsburg, Allen, Martin, Wayland and Wheelwright. If you have a vending machine in your business (cigarettes, soft drinks, etc.) whether you own the vending machine or not, you must have a license for each machine. Your license to sell tobacco, cigarettes, soft drinks, ice cream or operate a restaurant or drive-in restaurant is due on or before July 1, 1977 and this will run through June 30, 1978. Licenses are now available at your County Clerk's office.

You can do it! Enjoy heating comfort AND maximum efficiency with a LENNOX DURACURVE Gas Furnace. Exclusive heat exchanger design makes it extra efficient, extra quiet, extra dependable. Built for lasting comfort. Central cooling is easy to add, too. Don't settle for less for your home and family. WE SERVICE WHAT WE SELL.

Don't settle for less. Call for a free home estimate. Elliott Glass & Electric Co., Inc. South Lake Drive Phone 886-2781 Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653 YES, YOU CAN. Save energy... be comfortable.

With all the talk about insulating, Kentucky Power is doing something about it.

To help you avoid heating bills like last winter's, we have a way to help make your home more economical to heat whether you use electricity, gas or oil. It's called the Insulate Now, Pay Later Plan. And this is how it works. If your home needs more insulation, or energy-savers like storm doors and windows, we'll tell you. And after you qualify, we'll lend you up to $750 to do the job. At 8% interest with 3 years to pay. If you're in the market for a way to make your home more economical to heat and cool, we'd like to help. For more facts on the Insulate Now, Pay Later Plan, call our Customer Services Department. And get started saving right away.

Engineer Pacts On New KY 80 Win Board OK

The Personal Service Contract Review Commission approved Monday $10,040,000 in contracts for engineering supervision of KY 80 construction. The major contracts approved are: Hurst-Rosche Engineers, $3,550,000; Brighton Engineering, $1,850,000; Haworth & Associates, $1,630,000; H. A. Spaulding, Inc., $1,560,000; Johnson, Depp & Quisenberry, $1,450,000.

The first construction contract is expected to be awarded within a matter of weeks for a Perry county sector of the four-lane road from Water Gap in this county to Hazard.

Acting as chairman of the Personal Service Contract Review Commission, Gov. Julian Carroll noted that he had "inherited a substantial amount of contracts" from previous administrations.

He said every contract that comes up for renewal is listed as an administration contract, but suggested that the number of administration contracts should "be measured in terms of contracts initiated rather than contracts renewed."

Kentucky Afield

By HOPE CARLETON

Kentucky's big lakes can get rough in a hurry when the wind comes up, and sometimes fisherman are forced to stay off the water because of unfavorable weather. At other times, particularly on holidays or long week-ends, it seems that there are just too many pleasure boats roaring around the lake to permit much productive fishing.

But there's no reason to just sit on the dock and wish you would be out fishing. Instead, try tailwaters—the streams just below the dams. Many of these tailwaters offer some good fishing either from the bank or from a boat, and fishing pressure is usually light.

Here is a brief rundown of the angling opportunities below the dams at 15 of Kentucky's major lakes and a description of some of the other facilities available. So give tailwater fishing a try—you'll probably find it a most satisfying alternative to lake fishing.

BUCKHORN: Trout, crappie, white bass, bluegill and catfish harvested spring through fall. The first three miles are the most productive. Bank fishing only. Parking area, camping and picnic tables available. No launching ramp.

GREEN: Trout, white bass, crappie, bluegill and catfish the year around. Bank fishing best within two miles below dam. Parking area and rest rooms available. No launching ramp.

GRAYSON: Crappie and trout harvested spring through fall. First mile most productive. Parking area available. No launching ramp.

CUMBERLAND: Trout, crappie, white bass and bluegill the year around. Good fishing for some 30 miles. Camping, parking and launching ramp (for johnboats and up to 20 HP outboards) available.

ROUGH RIVER: Trout, white bass, crappie, bluegill and catfish harvested spring through fall. Most productive area, first four miles. Parking area and camp sites available. No launching ramp.

NOLIN: Trout, white bass, crappie the year around. Most productive area, first mile. Parking available, no launching ramp.

BARREN: Trout, crappie, white bass, black bass and bluegill, best spring

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION BUREAU OF HIGHWAYS NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received by the Bureau of Highways, at its office, Frankfort, Kentucky until 10:00 A.M. The Bureau of Highways hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that the contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation, and will not be discriminated against on the ground of race, color or national origin in consideration for an award.

Bid Proposals for all projects will be available until 9:00 A.M. EASTERN DAYLIGHT TIME, THURSDAY, July 7, 1977, at the Division of Contract Procurement. Bid Proposals for all projects will be available at a cost of $2 each and remittance payable to State Treasurer of Kentucky must accompany request for proposals.

(NON REFUNDABLE) BID PROPOSALS ARE ISSUED ONLY TO PREQUALIFIED CONTRACTORS.

Specimen Proposals for all projects will be available to all interested parties at a cost of $2 each (NON REFUNDABLE). Specimen Proposals cannot be used for bidding. 6-22-77.

through fall. Parking, camping and launching off gravel ramp (best suited for johnboat and 5 HP outboards).

CAVE RUN: Crappie, black bass, bluegill, catfish and musky, best spring through fall. Most productive area, first mile. Parking but no launching ramp.

LAUREL: White bass, crappie, catfish and black bass, best in spring. Accessible only by boat from Lake Cumberland.

DEWEY: Bluegill, crappie and catfish, best spring until fall. Most productive area, first three miles. Parking but no launching ramp.

BARBLEY: Crappie, sauger, white bass, black bass, bluegill and catfish the year around. Fishing good for some 30 miles. Parking and launching for small and large boats.

KENTUCKY: Crappie sauger, black bass, white bass, bluegill and catfish the year around. Some 20 miles of suitable waters. Parking camping and launching for small and large boats.

DALE HOLLOW: Tailwaters located in Tennessee.

FISHTRAP: Crappie, trout and black bass, best in fall. First three miles most productive. Parking but no launching ramp.

HERRINGTON: Not advisable for fishing due to lack of access and poor fishing conditions generally.

A trout stamp is needed by all trout anglers at a cost of $2.25.

Blood Drawing Set Today at Hospital

If someone in your family is a victim of an injury or disease, can you be assured that blood will be available for transfusion if necessary?
 If transfusion is prescribed, can you rest comfortably in the belief that the blood is of the safest quality?
 Highlands Regional Medical Center will hold a mobile blood drawing today (Wednesday) in the second floor lounge from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.
 Contrary to popular opinion, blood is not necessarily available on demand. It cannot be synthesized. Blood is a human resource which can only be manufactured by the human body.
 "You can help provide an adequate supply of blood for you, your family, and all Floyd counties by joining the Floyd County Blood Program and donating one pint of blood annually," a representative of the Central Kentucky Blood Center said.

AT CAMDEN PARK

SOUL INSURANCE How To Get It Free!

No doubt you have fire insurance on your home; insurance on your car; insurance of your health. Such forms of insurance are very necessary and they cost you money. But do you have any soul insurance? This is the most important insurance you can have, and it is free for the asking. Jesus himself issues the "policy". "For by grace (God's mercy) are ye saved, through faith, (in Jesus) and that not of yourselves. It is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast." (Ephesians 2: 8-9) God's blessed Son, Jesus, gave his life, and spilled his precious blood on Calvary, to provide soul insurance for all who would repent of their sins, and receive him into their hearts, through faith, trusting Jesus for eternal life. (Romans 5: 8)

Many people died last night. Where did their immortal souls go? The Bible, God's Holy Word, pictures two places — Hell and Heaven. The only way to stay out of Hell and get to Heaven is through Jesus, God's son, and the soul insurance he gives to all who repent and believe. "He that believeth on him is not condemned, but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." (John 3: 18)

For all have sinned and come short of the Glory of God." (Romans 3: 23) There is none righteous, no, not one." (Romans 3: 10) Any God-called preacher should preach often about Hell and the awful punishment in Hell, which burns with fire and brimstone, "Where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched." (Mark 9: 43-48) Moreover, the Soul's Destiny is fixed when death strikes.

Coming back from a trip to Kentucky this summer, I noticed a large sign along the road in Tennessee, which read
 If you go to Hell
 It's your own fault
 "How true that is," I thought.

God does not arbitrarily put a person's soul in Hell. "God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved." (John 3: 17) A person's soul goes to Hell because he will not accept God's love, and his remedy for sin — Jesus Christ, God's Son. A person's soul goes to Hell because he will not repent of his sins, and come to Jesus and receive him into his heart as his own personal savior and lord. "He that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him." (John 3: 36) "The unbelieving shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone." (Rev. 21: 8)

Let me add quickly, Jesus died and spilled his precious blood at Calvary for sinners. But this does not automatically keep sinners out of Hell or take them to Heaven. I wish preachers would give more emphasis to this point. Jesus only provided the remedy for man's sins by his death on Calvary. There is something for man to do himself before the saving process is completed. Man must seek Jesus and accept Jesus; man must repent of sin and believe in Jesus. Jesus himself came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God, and saying "the time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand. Repent ye and believe the Gospel." (Mark 1: 14-15) Jesus does not force any man to accept him. The predestinated choice belongs to man. If a man refuses to receive Jesus, he has already rejected him and is headed toward Hell. Beware! Jesus himself says, "Behold I stand at the door (of your heart and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." (Rev. 3: 20)

You can go to your doctor, and get medicine for your ailments, but if you do not take the medicine, it will do you no good. I can hold out my hand with a twenty-dollar bill in it, meaning to give it to you, but it is not your money until you receive it into your own hand. The choice is yours. Likewise with Jesus. He came to call sinners to repentance, but Jesus' love is effective in a sinner's life, only when the sinner repents of his sins, and receives Jesus into his heart, through faith, as his own personal savior and lord. "As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God," even to them that believe on his name." (John 1: 12)

There is a Hell to shun, and don't you ever forget it. Let's see what the Bible says about Hell! It is a lake of fire. (Rev. 20: 15) Hell is a bottomless pit into which the angel from Heaven will cast that old serpent, the Devil, (Rev. 20: 1-3) Jesus himself speaking in Matthew 25: 41 to those on his left hand who had no soul insurance "Depart from me ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the Devil and his Angels." Jesus talking in Matthew 13: 41-42 says "the Son of Man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity, and shall cast them into a furnace of fire; there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth."

A most vivid description of Hell is given by Jesus himself: "There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day. And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus which was laid at his gate full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs from the rich man's table. And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom, (referring to Heaven) The rich man also died and was buried; and in Hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment, and seeth Abraham afar off and Lazarus in his bosom. And he cried and said, "Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame." (Luke 16: 19-31)

Thus you can see the contrast between Lazarus and the Rich Man. Lazarus did not get to Abraham's bosom because he was a Poor Man. But he did get there by believing in God. He had soul insurance. The rich man did not go to Hell because he had barrels full of money. He went to Hell because he worshipped his money, and had left God out of his life. He had no soul insurance. The rich man is still in torments in Hell, and he will be in Hell forever and forever. Poor Fellow! And millions more are there with him. The Bible says, "for what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul." (Matthew 16: 26)

There is a Heaven to gain, where all is peace and joy, love and happiness. Only those who have soul insurance will go to Heaven. Jesus speaking in John 3: 16 says, "for God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Neither is their salvation in any other (except Jesus), for there is none other name under Heaven, given among men, whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4: 12) Jesus himself speaking in John 14: 6 says, "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life; no man cometh to the Father, but by me." Another scripture says, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." (Acts 16: 31) Another scripture says, "that whosoever believeth in Him (Jesus) should not perish, but have eternal life." (John 3: 15) First John 5: 11-13 puts it this way, "and this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in His Son. He that hath the Son hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God, that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God! God does the saving through His Son Jesus; Man, through faith in Jesus, does the believing in this same Jesus. It is clear from the scriptures, and many more, that God, the Father, intrusted into the hands of Jesus, His blessed Son, all aspects of salvation and complete soul insurance.

You have now heard the Gospel, dear friends, enemies, and sinners. Today is the day of salvation "behold now is the accepted time; behold now is the day of salvation." (II Corinthians 6: 2) You might not be alive tomorrow. This might be your last chance to get in touch with Jesus, God's Son, "in whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins." (Ephesians 1: 7) "The blood of Jesus Christ, His Son, cleanseth from all sin." (First John 1: 7) Choose your this day whom ye will serve." (Joshua 24: 15)

The Sinner's Prayer. Won't you pray this Sinner's prayer with me, right now, and mean every word of it from the bottom of your heart, and get your soul insurance from Jesus, this very minute? "Lord Jesus, I know that I'm a sinner, and deserve to go to Hell because of my many sins. But I now confess all my sins to you, having been led by the Holy Spirit, and I now repent of all my sins, and ask you to blot them out with the precious blood you spilled for me at Calvary; through faith in you, dear Jesus, I now accept you and receive you into my heart as my Savior and Lord. I believe, dear Jesus, that you are God's Son; that He raised you from the grave on the third day, and that you are alive forevermore up there with the Father in Heaven making intercession for me. I believe that there is none other savior except you, dear Jesus. And right now, I trust my immortal soul into your hands. Thank you, dear Lord, for saving my soul, and giving to me — eternal life, now, and forevermore"

Jesus was listening; he heard your prayer. He has already written your name in his Lamb's Book of Life. God's Holy Spirit has already taken up residence in your body, and there is rejoicing in Heaven because you have repented of your sins and have accepted Jesus as your only Savior and Lord. You are now a new creation; you have been born from above spiritually.

Now Jesus wants you to go further with him: (1) He wants you to be baptized by immersion. Jesus himself was baptized in the Jordan River by John the Baptist. "And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the Heavens opened, and the Spirit, like a dove descending upon him. And there came a voice from Heaven, saying, 'Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased,' and immediately the Spirit driveth him into the wilderness." (Mark 1: 9-12) Jesus was already perfect before he was baptized. He was God's Son, without sin, and he needed nothing. But his baptism marked the beginning of his earthly ministry, and gave us an example in humility. His baptism showed a picture of his death, his burial and his resurrection from the grave. Go thou and do likewise!

(2) Jesus wants you to join a church which preaches the fulness of God's word, the Bible; one which preaches Jesus, God's Son, as the pre-eminent Savior and Lord of Life, and the only Savior and Lord of Life. If a church does not preach these Bible truths, I would never join it. Jesus is the head of the Church. The Church is the body and bride of Jesus, the body of believers, not the building where the church assembles to hear the word preached and songs of praise sung. Moreover, Jesus wants you to attend his church regularly, and support his church with your money, time, and talents.

(3) Jesus wants to get glory and fellowship out of you. He wants you to grow in his grace by reading the Bible daily, by praying frequently and witnessing to others, especially sinners, telling them about the precious soul insurance which Jesus gave to you, and gives to all who will receive it. Jesus wants you to love your neighbor and help those in need. Jesus wants you to do his commandments and follow him.

The greatest decision you ever made was to accept Jesus as your Savior and Lord, and to get this soul insurance from Jesus, which assures you a home in Heaven — far away from the torments of Hell!

And they all said "Amen"

What Can Be Done When Air Pollution at Alert Level

Ominous fog enshrouded the state recently when little air movement combined with normal industry and traffic to cause poor air conditions. Many wonder, "What can be done about it, especially if it gets worse?"

What could have been done, had the situation worsened, was enactment of "preplanned abatement strategies" by the state Division of Air Pollution. The strategies, or emission reduction plans, call for reduction of air contaminant emissions by industry and some regulation of traffic flows in cities with air pollution problems.

"Our emission reduction plans are primarily aimed at major industries," says John Smither, director of the division. "On a given day the pollutant responsible for poor conditions or an alert situation might be particulates, sulfur dioxide or any other pollutant and we can require emission reductions or industries emitting that particular pollutant."

The division knows the source of various air pollutants because state regulations require sources of air contaminants to apply for construction and operating permits with the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection. Required in the applications is analysis of the properties and volume of air contaminants based on samples taken under normal operating conditions. Also required is formulation of standby plans by the industry if a reduction or elimination of emissions becomes necessary.

When an alert level is reached, as it was in May in Lexington, Louisville and Northern Kentucky, industries are required to put their standby plans into operation and reduce emissions by 25 per cent.

Specifically, coal or oil-fired electric generating plants are requested to use fuels having low ash and sulfur content and to conduct soot-blowing only between noon and 4 p.m. when atmospheric turbulence is highest.

For chemical, petroleum refining and primary metals industries, reductions of emissions are to be achieved by "curtailing, postponing or deferring productions and all operations."

If air conditions go beyond the alert stage to warning or emergency conditions the division can require maximum reduction or closing of pollution sources. With motor vehicles, persons are requested to use public transportation and are urged not to drive in downtown areas in cities unless absolutely necessary.

"We can also ask the Department of Transportation to cease work on any projects that are causing traffic congestion," Smither said, adding that while transportation is discouraged it is best to keep existing traffic moving to reduce pollution. The division is considering drafting regulations that would require auto emission inspections, but legislation won't be ready until next year.

Presently monitoring stations are operating in Ashland, Henderson, Louisville, Lexington, Newport, Owensboro and Paducah. Pollution levels for ozone, sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide, nitrogen dioxide and total suspended particulates are determined from air samples taken daily in those cities and converted to a number on a scale of 0 to 500. When the total for all four pollutants reaches 200 or more (except for ozone, with a 117 limit), an alert is called for that locale, addressing the specific pollutant.

College Sets Registration For Graduate Education

The second summer session at Pikeville College, July 5 to August 5, is the last chance available for teachers and other people interested in graduate education in this immediate area to enroll in courses providing graduate credit before school opens in the fall and normally busy routines resume.

During this second four-week term, the Morehead State University-Pikeville College Appalachian Graduate Consortium is offering a wide range of courses—13 in all. Nearly all are offered in the late afternoon or evening. Included among them are The English Romantic Period, taught by Dr. Harold Branam and World History for Teachers, taught by Dr. Steve Fritz.

Registration will be held July 5 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the lobby of the Administration Building. Classes begin July 5.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

A Bill from "The Good, Old Days"

Harry Vincel Cooley, of Prestonsburg submitted this bill from the Prestonsburg Gas & Water System as a reminder of the depressing course which inflation has taken over the years. The bill is dated Sept. 8, 1947 and amounts to $1.55 for the period including July 18 through August 19, 1947. On the reverse side is the one-cent stamp required to send the bill.

Wanted—'Angels' for Theatre

The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre production of "Godspell" is in need of some angels.

Wings or halos are not needed. Instead, the job is open to anyone who is interested in keeping the theatre alive.

No auditions are necessary. All that is required is the purchase of a patron's ticket from the theatre.

Immediately thereafter, the purchaser's name is added to a plaque in the theatre lobby which is headed with the words, "Our Angels." For the entire season, the patron is entitled to fringe benefits which include standing reservations for the best seats in the house.

There are already about 100 "angels" for this season, which includes productions of "Godspell," "Oliver!" and "Camelot." Jenny Wiley could still use more, though, according to Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., president of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association. He said patron's ticket purchases have not increased in proportion to rising production costs.

In addition, the purchase of two mobile homes to provide housing for company members has created an added expense, the bulk of which must be paid for by patron's ticket sales.

There are five basic types of patron's tickets, all of which entitle the purchaser to attend as many performances as he or she wishes for the entire summer. Patrons' seats, the best in the theatre, are held until 8:15 each evening, 15 minutes before curtain for each performance.

Ed Newman Smith, general manager, said a patron's ticket can be a bargain for a theatre fan who enjoys seeing more than one performance of the same show. A single patron pays only $25 for the whole season, compared to a single adult season ticket cost of $15 for only four admissions.

A family patron's ticket costs only $50, with patron's benefits being extended to members of the purchaser's immediate family. Again, a comparison to regular season ticket rates shows a savings of $10 for a family of four adults at $15 per adult season ticket.

The purchase of more expensive patron's tickets entitles the patron to bring guests other than immediate family. A $120 sustaining patron's ticket purchase includes two season tickets for guests. For $30 more, an organizational patron's ticket (which includes 10 season tickets for guests) can be bought.

Loyal fans of the theatre can purchase the $500 benefactor's ticket. Benefactors' names are engraved on a separate plaque in the lobby of the theatre.

Benefactors are entitled to "whatever they want," according to William Campbell, assistant general manager.

Patron's tickets may be purchased by sending a check to the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, P. O. Box 22, Dept. B., Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. The number of cards needed and the names of persons to receive them should be included.

Further ticket information can be obtained by calling (606) 886-9274.

Patron support is essential to the continued success of the theatre, according to William Campbell. All three shows scheduled for this summer will be expensive to produce.

"To continue the quality we have established in the past three years, we need to continue at our present budget," he said.

That quality has resulted in a good reputation for the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre in theatrical circles across the country, Campbell said.

"At our auditions at the Southeastern Theatre Conference this year, people were begging us to hire them. We combine the people we get at those auditions with people in the community here to get the caliber of people that we want."

He also pointed out the value of the theatre to the community. The theatre attracts tourists to Prestonsburg and Jenny Wiley State Park. The employees of the theatre (55 of them this summer) rent housing in the community and do their shopping there.

"The amount of revenue from the company and the tourists the theatre brings in is substantial," he said. "And the cost of keeping it up is minimal compared to that."

"Godspell" will be presented from June 24 through July 4 and each Friday through August 21. "Oliver!" will run from July 6 through July 24, and "Camelot" will be presented July 27 through August 21. Performances are nightly, Wednesday through Sunday.

Stonehenge of Eastern Kentucky

Re-discover KENTUCKY

It's been used as a blacksmith shop, millhouse, church, school, hog pen, bear pen, road and just about anything such a formation could be used for, including a barn. It's Barn Rock, an unusual natural bridge in the Johnson county community of the same name.

Barn Rock is well known locally, but not too many travelers are aware of this rock that is 63 feet long and 37 feet wide—wide enough for a road on top and high enough for a road through the opening beneath.

Lloyd Hill, of Flat Gap, remembers that the rock served well as a country school. "It was always comfortable and open on two sides and didn't seem like a school."

Writing in The Paintsville Herald a few years ago, Dana Lyons said Barn Rock might be "the rarest natural phenomenon existing in Johnson county today."

Alonzo Skaggs in the 1960s said his father acquired Barn Rock from the Stenson family well over 100 years ago when "my father swapped his place at Red Bush for this one," adding, "people used to swap farms like they swapped knives."

As a flailing floor for grain, Barn Rock was unequalled. Years ago, the Skaggs used the rock to thresh wheat and oats. "You talk about an ideal place to thrash grain," Skaggs said, "was on that large bare rock. It also was the passway for all our neighbors when they passed our house. Everyone rode their horses under it."

In appearance, Barn Rock looks like an elongated Stonehenge, and like Stonehenge, figured in worship services. "Church has been held off and on at the rock from about 1900 till the 1960s."

An unusual feature of the rock is a hole which leads to an underground cavern. "It's called the Bear Hole," Skaggs said. "It's so big it would hold 30 or more hogs. Whenever I'd go in there to feed the hogs in the winter, it would be so warm steam would be standing just inside."

The giant formation also shelters trees, one an ash that is considered somewhat rare in the county and another an old-fashioned chestnut.

According to Lyons, "the view of the rock from the Skaggs' yard is like one from a storybook." The yard slopes gently to a dip that goes beneath the formation and on top a well-tended layer of lush grass extends over the edges, tapering out to bare rock.

The Skaggs family members consider themselves caretakers of the rock and several years ago when road-builders wanted to make a road in the area they were warned not to harm the rock. Little damage was done as the roadway was built through the opening that since those years has been used as a place to hang tobacco to cure.

Hill described the rock as "beautiful and unusual and similar to Natural Bridge in Powell county in looks." He said local people were familiar with Barn Rock and its uses through the years. "Skaggs used to have a millhouse on one side of the rock and beneath one part he operated a blacksmith shop."

Sixty-six years ago, when a school was wanted in the neighborhood, it was decided to hold classes beneath the rock. "Pupils had the outside world as part of their classroom," Hill said. In 1911 Barn Rock School was built.

Barn Rock has served well as a natural formation, sheltering untold scores of woodland animals and birds. When mountain ingenuity took hold more than a century ago, the big rock found new life. Who knows what the future will bring? In years ahead, Barn Rock might still have a few chapters to add to its ancient past.

Home Canning of fruits & vegetables

By Sue Burrier, Fudeko Maruyama, and Sherrell Foree, Extension Specialists in Foods and Nutrition

PART II: BOILING-WATER-BATH CANNING

Use this method for canning fruits, tomatoes, rhubarb and pickled vegetables. All other vegetables must be canned by the steam-pressure method. For safe eating, they need to be processed at a higher temperature than the 212°F reached in your boiling-water-bath canner. Pressure canning is the only sure way currently known to kill spores that cause deadly botulism toxin to develop in canned low-acid vegetables, meats, poultry and fish.

Preparing Fruits & Vegetables

Choose fresh, firm fruits and young, tender vegetables. If possible, process them within a few hours of when they are picked. Sort them for size and ripeness, and can only the perfect ones.

Wash them thoroughly, even if they are to be pared. Dirt contains some of the hardest-to-kill bacteria. Wash them in small batches. Don't leave them to soak, or they will lose some of their good flavor and food value.

STEP-BY-STEP DIRECTIONS

- 1 Prepare fruit for canning by washing, peeling, coring, etc.
- 2 Fill jars, using either hot-pack or raw-pack method.
- 3 Fill canner half full of water.
- 4 If you are using the hot-pack method, bring the water to a boil. For the raw-pack method, have the water in the canner hot, but not boiling.
- 5 Have a pan of extra boiling water ready.
- 6 Using a jar lifter or thick pot holders, place the filled jars on the rack in the canner with enough space between them to allow water to circulate freely.
- 7 Add more boiling water to a depth of about 2 inches over the tops of the jars. Pour the boiling water down the side of the canner, not directly onto the glass jars.
- 8 Put the lid on the canner and bring the water quickly to a rolling boil.
- 9 Start counting processing time. Keep water boiling the whole time. Add boiling water if needed to keep the jars covered by about 2 inches of water.
- 10 When processing time is up, raise the lid carefully on the side away from your body to prevent a burn from the escaping steam.
- 11 Remove the jars immediately from the canner. For both safety and convenience use a jar lifter.
- 12 Set jars on a rack cloth, top up. Allow space between jars for free circulation of air. Keep them out of drafts.
- 13 Follow direction for completing the seal if necessary.
- 14 Wait at least 1 hour before checking the seals and storing jars in a cool, dark, dry place that will be safe from freezing temperature.

This is extremely important, as it insures proper processing and a good seal.

FRUIT-CANNING TIPS

Sweetening Fruits

The natural flavor of fruits is intensified by canning them in a light sirup. Less sugar is needed to sweeten fruit if you add it during the canning process. Sirup doesn't help preserve the fruit, but it does help it keep its natural color and firmness.

- Sirups to Use.—For each quart of fruit, you will need from 1 to 1½ cups of sirup. Make the sirup by mixing water and sugar together, stirring until all the sugar is dissolved, and bringing it slowly to a boil. Keep sirup hot until ready to use.
- Light Sirup—1 cup sugar to 3 cups water
- Medium Sirup—1 cup sugar to 2 cups water

Heavy Sirup—1 cup sugar to 1 cup water
(Recommended for sour cherries, gooseberries, and rhubarb.)

Fruit may also be canned in unsweetened juice, instead of either water or sirup.

Anti-darkening Treatment

To prevent darkening during preparation of apples, pears, apricots and peaches, drop pieces into a solution of 2 tablespoons each of salt and vinegar per gallon of water. Drain or lift from solution. Do not let fruit soak for more than 20 minutes, because nutrients will be lost. Work with small amounts of fruit at a time.

FILLING JARS

Two Methods

Foods can be put into the jars raw, or they can be pre-heated and packed into the jars hot. Both methods have their advantages.

The hot-pack method calls for packing a raw food into the jar, then adding boiling liquid and pressing. This method is quick and easier than the hot-pack, but the foods do have to be processed longer in the boiling-water-bath canner. The pressure canner, however, processing times are usually the same, since raw-packed foods are thoroughly hot by the time the 240°F temperature is reached.

The hot-pack method calls for a short pre-cooking or pre-heating. Then the boiling-hot food is packed into jars and processed. Preheating makes the food pliable so that it can be packed more tightly into the jars. Some fruits keep their color better when hot-packed.

Raw-pack Directions

1. Put prepared raw fruits into hot, clean jars and cover with boiling-hot sirup, juice, or water.
2. Pack most vegetables tightly into jars, because they shrink during processing. Pack corn, lima beans and peas loosely, because these expand during processing. Cover with boiling water.
3. Press tomatoes down in jar so they are covered with their own juice. Don't add liquid.
4. Fill jars to within 1/2 inch of top.
5. Remove air bubbles by working the blade of a table knife gently down the sides of the jar. Add more liquid if necessary to cover the food. Be careful not to chip the jar with the knife.
6. Wipe rims of jars with clean cloth.
7. Close jars, following the directions for the type of lid you are using. Process as directed.

Place gently down the sides of the jar. Add more liquid if necessary to cover the food. Be careful not to chip the jar with the knife.

6. Wipe rims of jars with clean cloth.

7. Close jars, following the directions for the type of lid you are using. Process as directed.

Hot-pack Directions

1. Heat fruits in sirup or water.
2. Preheat tomatoes and juicy fruits without adding liquid and pack them in the juice that cooks out.
3. Precook vegetables in water, or steam. Pack in hot, clean jars. Cover with cooking liquid or boiling water. The cooking liquid will contain minerals and vitamins dissolved from the food. If there is not enough cooking liquid to cover vegetables, add boiling water.
4. Fill jars to within 1/2 inch of top, except when directions call for 1-inch headspace.

CLOSING JARS

Metal 2-piece Lids

1. Wipe jar rim clean after jar is packed with food.

2. Follow manufacturer's directions for boiling or pre-heating lids. Put lid on, with sealing compound down against the jar rim.

3. Screw metal band down tightly by hand. When it is tight, lid has enough give to let air escape during processing.

4. Do not tighten screw band further after taking jar from canner. You could break the seal by doing this.

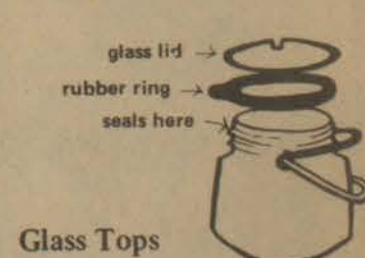

As the food cools, the vacuum that forms at the top of the jar pulls the center of the lid down and it seals tightly with a little "click."

Porcelain-lined Zinc Caps

1. Fit wet rubber ring down on jar shoulder. Don't stretch ring any more than necessary.
2. Fill jar. Wipe rubber ring and jar rim clean.
3. Then screw cap down firmly and turn back 1/4 inch.
4. As soon as jar is removed from canner, screw it down tightly to complete seal.

Glass Tops

1. Fit rubber ring down on shoulder of jar. Don't stretch ring any more than necessary.
2. Fill jar. Wipe rubber ring and jar rim clean.
3. Place glass lid down on jar.
4. Partly seal by putting upper bail in place. Leave lower bail up. Process jars of food.
5. Immediately after taking jar from canner, completely seal by pressing down lower bail.

Stonehenge of Eastern Kentucky

It's been used as a blacksmith shop, millhouse, church, school, hog pen, bear pen, road and just about anything such a formation could be used for, including a barn. It's Barn Rock, an unusual natural bridge in the Johnson county community of the same name.

Barn Rock is well known locally, but not too many travelers are aware of this rock that is 63 feet long and 37 feet wide—wide enough for a road on top and high enough for a road through the opening beneath.

Lloyd Hill, of Flat Gap, remembers that the rock served well as a country school. "It was always comfortable and open on two sides and didn't seem like a school."

Writing in The Paintsville Herald a few years ago, Dana Lyons said Barn Rock might be "the rarest natural phenomenon existing in Johnson county today."

Alonzo Skaggs in the 1960s said his father acquired Barn Rock from the Stenson family well over 100 years ago when "my father swapped his place at Red Bush for this one," adding, "people used to swap farms like they swapped knives."

As a flailing floor for grain, Barn Rock was unequalled. Years ago, the Skaggs used the rock to thresh wheat and oats. "You talk about an ideal place to thrash

Wanted—'Angels' for Theatre

The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre production of "Godspell" is in need of some angels.

Wings or halos are not needed. Instead, the job is open to anyone who is interested in keeping the theatre alive.

No auditions are necessary. All that is required is the purchase of a patron's ticket from the theatre.

Immediately thereafter, the purchaser's name is added to a plaque in the theatre lobby which is headed with the words, "Our Angels." For the entire season, the patron is entitled to fringe benefits which include standing reservations for the best seats in the house.

There are already about 100 "angels" for this season, which includes productions of "Godspell," "Oliver!" and "Camelot." Jenny Wiley could still use more, though, according to Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., president of the Jenny Wiley Drama Association. He said patron's ticket purchases have not increased in proportion to rising production costs.

In addition, the purchase of two mobile homes to provide housing for company members has created an added expense, the bulk of which must be paid for by patron's ticket sales.

There are five basic types of patron's tickets, all of which entitle the purchaser to attend as many performances as he or she wishes for the entire summer. Patron's seats, the best in the theatre, are held until 8:15 each evening, 15 minutes before curtain for each performance.

Ed Newman Smith, general manager, said a patron's ticket can be a bargain for a theatre fan who enjoys seeing more than one performance of the same show. A single patron pays only $25 for the whole season, compared to a single adult season ticket cost of $15 for only four admissions.

A family patron's ticket costs only $50, with patron's benefits being extended to members of the purchaser's immediate family. Again, a comparison to regular season ticket rates shows a savings of $10 for a family of four adults at $15 per adult season ticket.

The purchase of more expensive patron's tickets entitles the patron to bring guests other than immediate family. A $120 sustaining patron's ticket purchase includes two season tickets for guests. For $30 more, an organizational patron's ticket (which includes 10 season tickets for guests) can be bought.

Loyal fans of the theatre can purchase the $500 benefactor's ticket. Benefactors' names are engraved on a separate plaque in the lobby of the theatre.

Benefactors are entitled to "whatever they want," according to William Campbell, assistant general manager.

Patron's tickets may be purchased by sending a check to the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, P. O. Box 22, Dept. B., Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653. The number of cards needed and the names of persons to receive them should be included.

Further ticket information can be obtained by calling (606) 886-9274.

Patron support is essential to the continued success of the theatre, according to William Campbell. All three shows scheduled for this summer will be expensive to produce.

"To continue the quality we have established in the past three years, we need to continue at our present budget," he said.

That quality has resulted in a good reputation for the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre in theatrical circles across the country, Campbell said.

"At our auditions at the Southeastern Theatre Conference this year, people were begging us to hire them. We combine the people we get at those auditions with people in the community here to get the caliber of people that we want."

He also pointed out the value of the theatre to the community. The theatre attracts tourists to Prestonsburg and Jenny Wiley State Park. The employees of the theatre (55 of them this summer) rent housing in the community and do their shopping there.

"The amount of revenue from the company and the tourists the theatre brings in is substantial," he said. "And the cost of keeping it up is minimal compared to that."

"Godspell" will be presented from June 24 through July 4 and each Friday through August 21. "Oliver!" will run from July 6 through July 24, and "Camelot" will be presented July 27 through August 21. Performances are nightly, Wednesday through Sunday.

PART II: BOILING-WATER-BATH CANNING

Use this method for canning fruits, tomatoes, rhubarb and pickled vegetables. All other vegetables must be canned by the steam-pressure method. For safe eating, they need to be processed at a higher temperature than the 212°F reached in your boiling-water-bath canner. Pressure canning is the only sure way currently known to kill spores that cause deadly botulism toxin to develop in canned low-acid vegetables, meats, poultry and fish.

Preparing Fruits & Vegetables

Choose fresh, firm fruits and young, tender vegetables. If possible, process them within a few hours of when they are picked. Sort them for size and ripeness, and can only the perfect ones.

FILLING JARS

Two Methods

Foods can be put into the jars raw, or they can be preheated and packed into the jars hot. Both methods have their advantages.

The raw-pack method calls for packing a raw food into the jar, then adding boiling liquid and processing. This method is quicker and easier than the hot-pack, but the foods do have to be processed longer in the boiling-water-bath canner.

In the pressure canner, processing times are usually the same, since raw-packed foods are thoroughly hot by the time the 240°F temperature is reached.

The hot-pack method calls for a short precooking or preheating. Then the boiling-hot food is packed into jars and processed. Preheating makes the food pliable so that it can be packed more tightly into the jars. Some fruits keep their color better when hot-packed.

Raw-pack Directions

1. Put prepared raw fruits into hot, clean jars and cover with boiling-hot sirup, juice, or water.
2. Pack most vegetables tightly into jars, because they shrink during processing. Pack corn, lima beans and peas loosely, because these expand during processing. Cover with boiling water.
3. Press tomatoes down in jar so they are covered with their own juice. Don't add liquid.
4. Fill jars to within 1/2 inch of top.
5. Remove air bubbles by working the blade of a table knife gently down the sides of the jar. Add more liquid if necessary to cover the food. Be careful not to chip the jar with the knife.

6. Wipe rims of jars with clean cloth.

7. Close jars, following the directions for the type of lid you are using. Process as directed.

Hot-pack Directions

1. Heat fruits in sirup or water.
2. Preheat tomatoes and juicy fruits without adding liquid and pack them in the juice that cooks out.
3. Precook vegetables in water, or steam. Pack in hot, clean jars. Cover with cooking liquid or boiling water. The cooking liquid will contain minerals and vitamins dissolved from the food. If there is not enough cooking liquid to cover vegetables, add boiling water.
4. Fill jars to within 1/2 inch of top, except when directions call for 1-inch headspace.

5. Remove air bubbles by working the blade of a table knife gently down the sides of the jar. Add more liquid if necessary to cover the food. Be careful not to chip the jar with the knife.

6. Wipe rims of jars with clean cloth.

7. Close jars, following the directions for the type of lid you are using. Process as directed.

Headspace

It is important to follow directions for each fruit or vegetable on how much headspace to leave at the top of the jar. This gives the food room to expand and also leaves space for the liquid to bubble up into during processing. Without this headspace, some of the food might be forced out of the jar with the air, causing a deposit of food on the jar rim and ruining the seal.

If you leave too much headspace, food at the top might discolor, or the jar might not seal if all of the air is not exhausted during processing. (The vacuum created between the top of the food and the lid is what helps cause the jar to seal.)

CLOSING JARS

Metal 2-piece Lids

1. Wipe jar rim clean after jar is packed with food.

2. Follow manufacturer's directions for boiling or preheating lids. Put lid on, with sealing compound down against the jar rim.

3. Screw metal band down tightly by hand. When it is tight, lid has enough give to let air escape during processing.

4. Do not tighten screw band further after taking jar from canner. You could break the seal by doing this.

As the food cools, the vacuum that forms at the top of the jar pulls the center of the lid down and it seals tightly with a little "click."

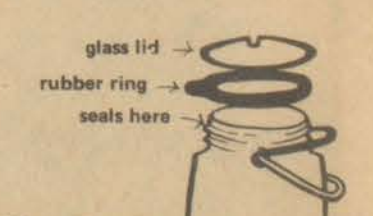

5. Remove air bubbles by working the blade of a table knife gently down the sides of the jar. Add more liquid if necessary to cover the food. Be careful not to chip the jar with the knife.

6. Wipe rims of jars with clean cloth.

7. Close jars, following the directions for the type of lid you are using. Process as directed.

Porcelain-lined Zinc Caps

1. Fit wet rubber ring down on jar shoulder. Don't stretch ring any more than necessary.
2. Fill jar. Wipe rubber ring and jar rim clean.
3. Then screw cap down firmly and turn back 1/4 inch.
4. As soon as jar is removed from canner, screw it down tightly to complete seal.

Glass Tops

1. Fit rubber ring down on shoulder of jar. Don't stretch ring any more than necessary.
2. Fill jar. Wipe rubber ring and jar rim clean.
3. Place glass lid down on jar.
4. Partly seal by putting upper bail in place. Leave lower bail up. Process jars of food.
5. Immediately after taking jar from canner, completely seal by pressing down lower bail.

To Attend Rising Sun

Chris Conn, of Stanville, has accepted an invitation to attend Camp Rising Sun at Rhinebeck, N. Y., from June 27 through August 29.

Camp Rising Sun is a scholarship camp located on the Hudson River, approximately 100 miles from New York City. It was founded in 1930 for "boys eager to make their lives useful". Each year invitations are extended to 60 boys between the ages of 14 and 16.

Young Conn will leave on June 27 where he will spend two days as a guest of a campmate in New York City. He is the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Conn, of Stanville.

AT CAMDEN PARK

Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Turner and children, Amy and Stevie, Mrs. Aileen Howard and children, Mike, Kenneth, Terry, Donna and Tina, Miss Gwen Allen, Miss Kathy Allen and Larry Shipley, all of Garrett, were in Huntington Sunday, spending the day at Camden Park.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Shawnee Mining Co., 444 By-pass Road, Pikeville, Ky. 41501, intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 16 acres located southeast of Teaberry, Ky. in Floyd county.

The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Bobby Hall, 444 By-pass Road, Pikeville, Ky. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is contour stripping and augering.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, Rt. 23 and 460, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to object to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection as to the issuance of a mining permit must do so in accordance with KRS 224.081(2) and must forward same to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. It.

By LARRY BURKE

We read a bit of good, sound logic the other day. Someone had simply written these words: "A smooth sea never makes a skillful mariner."

There is much truth in this statement. A sailor becomes skilled only as he guides his ship through raging seas and stormy voyages. Anyone can plot a course through a calm—but only the best can face a storm, weather it—and bring the ship safely to harbor.

It is through the storms of experience that the mariner becomes skillful. Isn't that true with life? The hard and difficult days tend to make each of us a better person—better fitted for life.

Everyone's life will be filled with many calm voyages, but there are sure to be storms and gales, because they are part of life, too.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: Life is a sea—both calm and stormy.

Parents Urged To Speak Up on Group I.Q. Testing

The National Education Association, representing 1.6 million teachers, has recommended that group I. Q. tests be discontinued. A similar recommendation has been passed by the National Association of Elementary School Principals.

Children who are quick and facile may score higher than those who stop to think and reason. The more questions that are answered in standardized group testing, the higher the score can be.

Arline Silberman, writing in the July Reader's Digest, says: "I believe that reducing a child's intelligence to a single number, as though it were a zip code, is both unwise and unfair."

Frequently the tests are a measure of information rather than intelligence.

that these are all money words and select "bank" or "purchase." The child would be marked wrong.

Children who are quick and facile may score higher than those who stop to think and reason. The more questions that are answered in standardized group testing, the higher the score can be.

"Success in life," Silberman points out, "results from a mix of abilities and attitudes. Think of some of the characteristics that matter in real life: initiative, dependability, pluck, resourcefulness, commitment—the list is very long; yet a standardized group I.Q. test cannot evaluate these qualities."

Parents, through their tax dollars, are paying for the administering of these tests and it is their children whom the tests discriminate against. "If you feel that your children are being mislabeled and falsely classified by standardized group I.Q. tests at school, you have questions to raise, perhaps through your PTA," she concludes.
