

Board Adopts Salary Raise For Teachers Name Jones Head At Martin; Await HEW Funding Aide

Under a new salary schedule adopted at last Wednesday night's meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education, teachers in Floyd county schools will earn $705 more during the coming school year than in the 1976-77 term.

"The adoption of this salary schedule represents a lot of work and a lot of input from different groups and individuals," said Supt. Pete Grigsby, Jr., who cited the cooperation of the Floyd County Board of Education staff, the Floyd County Education Association and the state board of education as vital in its formulation.

Under the new schedule salary of the beginning teacher with minimum experience has been increased from last year's $8,263 figure to $8,968. The other end of the salary scale which would be paid teachers holding the Ph.D. degree with eleven year's experience is $12,683, compared to last year's $11,978.

Grigsby said the schedule represents 100 per cent of the county's total allocation for salaries for the year.

Hired by the board to replace Denward Johnson, who resigned as principal of Martin Elementary during a special board meeting in June, was Bobby Jones, of Burton, a teacher and guidance counselor with 18 years' experience at Wheelwright and Osborne Elementary schools. Grigsby said of Jones, "I feel personally that he will do an outstanding job at Martin and will prove to be a fine administrator."

Others hired by the board at Wednesday's meeting included the following:

Vickie Butler as clerk at Prestonsburg High School; Bobbie Bentley as janitor at Martin to replace Linkie Robinson, and Glenda and Thurman Handshoe as janitors at McDowell.

Headstart Personnel hired included (drivers)—Glenda Handshoe replacing Judy Frasure at McDowell; Melvin Newman replacing Alma Keathley at Stumbo, and Peggy Osborne replacing Juanita Hall at Stumbo; (teacher)—Mabel Berger at Melvin; (mother chaperones)—Brooksie Gayheart and Maggie Newman at McDowell, and Gwinetta Mitchell and Edna Bryant, both at Stumbo.

Supt. Grigsby and Assistant Superintendent Ray Brackett stressed at the meeting that negotiations are still in progress with the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) in an attempt to reach an agreement on funding to help with the replacement of 10 busses which were destroyed during

Lake Claims Fifth Victim

The body of Dewey Lake's fifth victim this summer, James H. Franklin, was recovered from the Stratton Branch swimming area shortly after noon Friday.

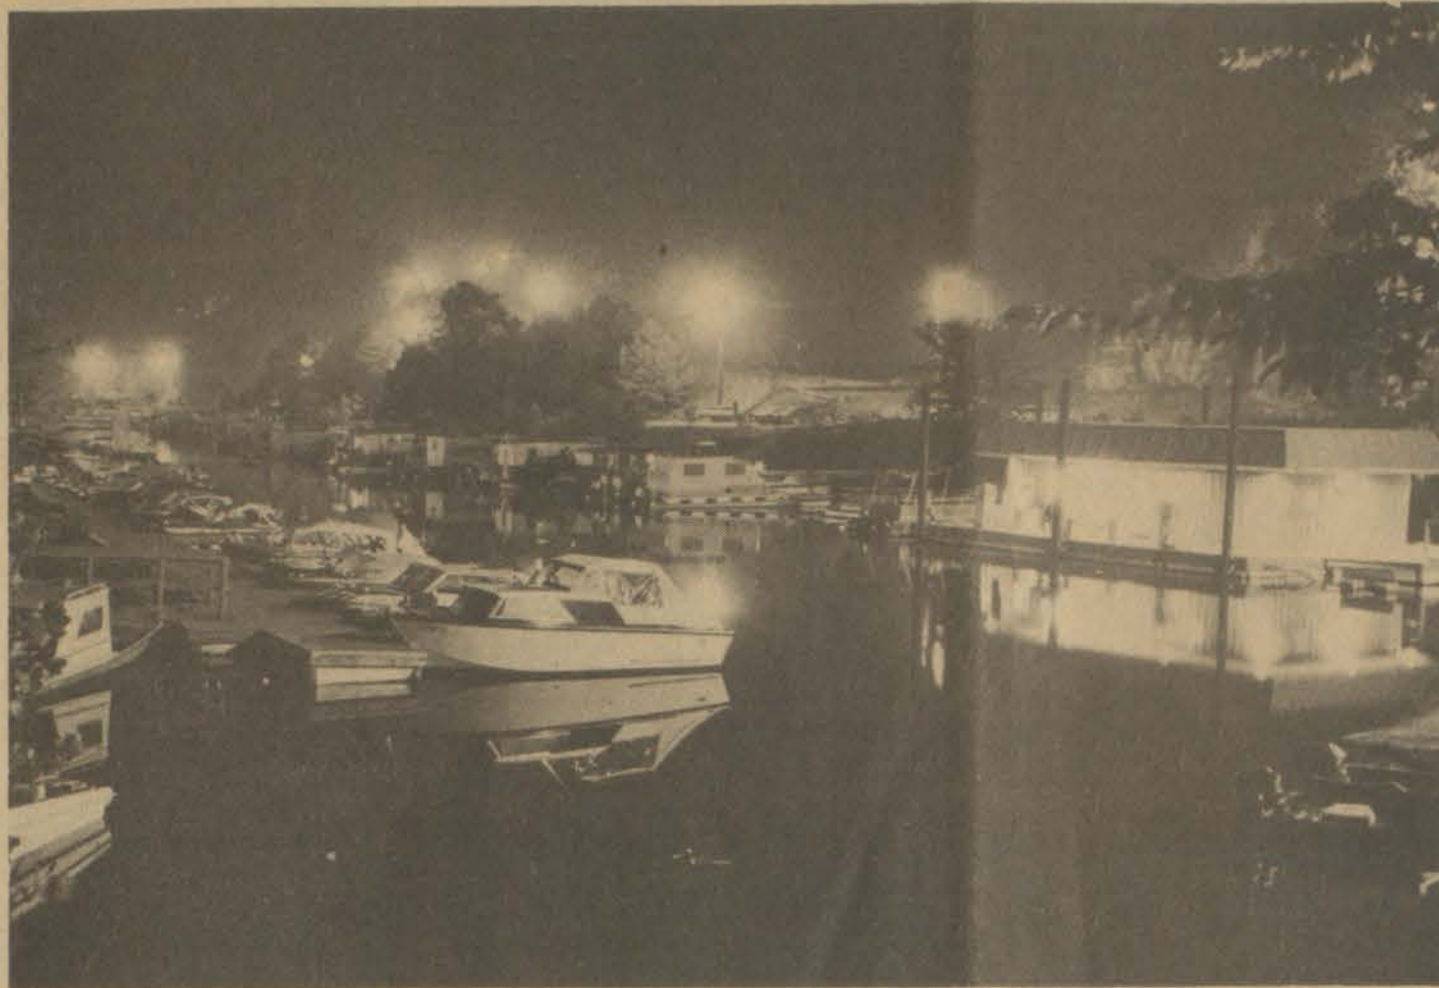

Franklin, 52-year-old postmaster, and merchant of Staffordsville, was last seen at the swimming area Thursday afternoon. When he failed to return home that evening, his family began inquiries in an effort to find him.

Discovered in water about seven feet deep, the body was brought to shore by Gary Maynard, of Beauty, and officials were then notified. Park Rangers Beverly, Hayes, Dewey Reservoir manager Dean Murray, State Trooper Sizemore, State Detective Isom and Coroner James Carter were called to the scene where a cursory examination was made. Coroner Carter, assisted by members of the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad, accompanied the body to Highlands Regional Medical Center where Carter said a thorough examination of the body showed no indication of foul play. A definite ruling had not been made in the death Saturday awaiting a decision as to an autopsy which Carter recommends.

A history of heart disease has given rise to speculation that Franklin may have suffered a heart attack while swimming early Thursday evening.

A veteran of World War II, Franklin was born September 15, 1924, a son of the late Toral and Fannie Dixon Franklin. Surviving him are a son, James Toral Franklin, of Birmingham, Ala.; a daughter, Mrs. Linda Morgan, of Mansfield, O.; a brother, Charles Franklin, of Staffordsville, and one grandson.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Old Union United Baptist Church in Staffordsville by Elder J. T. Bailey. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Redbush under direction of Paintsville Funeral Home

Woman Killed In Collision

Mrs. Marian Stephens, 48, of Salyersville, was dead at the scene of a head-on collision of her car and a coal truck, near here last Wednesday afternoon.

The accident occurred six miles west of here on KY 114 at 1:40 p.m. According to a state police report, Mrs. Stephens was traveling toward Salyersville when a coal truck driven by Bert Belcher, of Pikeville, traveling in the opposite direction, apparently swerved onto her lane, Belcher was not injured.

Kentucky State Trooper A. P. Cantrell investigated the accident.

Mrs. Stephens was born April 2, 1929, a native of Michigan.

She is survived by her husband, John Ward Stephens; two daughters, Mrs. Sharon Sallie and Mrs. Chessie Scrible, both of Munith, Mich., and one son, Doug Frey, of Jackson, Michigan.

Betsy Layne Youth Electrocuted Monday

Victim of electrocution, Larry N. Simpson, 17-year-old Betsy Layne youth, was killed instantly Monday afternoon when he came in contact with high-voltage wiring while working on air-conditioning ducts beneath a house at Betsy Layne.

According to reports, young Simpson who had previously been doing work on the flood-damaged house, returned there Monday with another worker who subsequently left, and Simpson continued to work alone.

Following discovery of the body, the death was investigated by State Trooper James Stephens, County Judge Henry Stumbo, County Attorney Harold Stumbo, and Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis. Although heavy rainfall hampered officials, it is surmised that the power source was left intact, and that Simpson's death occurred when he touched a transformer at approximately 2 p.m.

He was a son of Neil and Florence Simpson, of Pike-Floyd Hollow, Betsy Layne.

Floyd Schools Set To Open August 19

Although opening day of schools in Floyd county is scheduled August 19, first day for pupils to report for classes will be Monday, August 22, according to the 1977-78 Floyd school calendar adopted and approved at last Wednesday evening's meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education.

Adoption of the calendar came a few weeks earlier than in the past few years in an effort, according to Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr. to give teachers and other staff members sufficient notice. Supt. Grigsby said in the past some instances of schedule mix-ups had occurred and he expressed the hope that early announcement of the calendar would eliminate any such conflicts.

Teachers will attend two in-service days (Aug. 17 and 18) in keeping with a state ruling which requires a total of four system-wide in-service days during the school year. May 18 and 19 were set as tentative dates to complete the in-service requirement. Official holidays will include Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, the

Three Jailed in Shooting At Wheelwright, Saturday

An exchange of gunfire on Branham Hollow at Wheelwright Saturday night resulted in the wounding of Tom Green, one of three men who were charged in connection with the incident.

Wheelwright Marshals Harold and Mildred Bates arrested Gomer Little for the shooting of Green, charging him with assault in the first degree. Green, who was hospitalized for a time and treated for shotgun pellet wounds of the chest, arms, legs and feet, was later booked at the county jail on the same charge. The other man, Tommy Johnson, of Bevinville, was charged on the same count for his alleged involvement in the fray.

According to the Wheelwright officers there had been trouble between Little and Green all day, and the apparent shooting match ensued when Little began firing from his residence into the house of Green. The three men were released from the county jail over the week-end on $3,000 bond each.

Sheriff's Department officers along with State Trooper James Stephens and ABC Agent Ted H. Salisbury raided the same establishment on the Coolwater Fork of Salt Lick Creek, Friday, which two weeks earlier yielded the largest haul of illegal intoxicants to be seized in the area in several months. Charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for purpose of sale was Mike Neeley. Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, Deputy Sheriffs Linzie Hunt, Ollie Leslie, Carl Jarrell, Trooper Stephens and Salisbury recovered 509 cans of beer, 10 pints of whiskey and 37 fifths of wine in the raid. In the earlier raid, officers seized 170 cases of beer and a quantity of wine.

Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis charged Ronnie Joseph with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages, June 29, after they confiscated 184 bottles of beer and 12 fifths of whiskey from Joseph's trailer at Cliff. Joseph pleaded guilty in Magistrate Bill Wells' court and was fined $119.50.

Arrested at Beaver, July 5, by Deputy Sheriffs Bob Newsome and Gary Hamilton was J. E. Bentley. The officers seized 156 cans of beer, nine half-pints of Christmas holidays and New Year's. The Thanksgiving holiday will extend through the following day but that day must be made up. The combined Christmas-New Year's holidays will run from December 22 through January 2, and constitutes the biggest change from last year's schedule which started the Christmas break on December 18. Schools will also close October 14 for meeting of E.K.E.A.; Nov. 8 for election day; April 7 for the meeting of the Floyd County Teachers' Association; and April 13 and 14 for the K.E.A. meet. These days will be counted as "lost time" along with spring vacation, March 17-24 which coincides with the state basketball tournament.

May 17 was set as the last day of classes although teachers and staff are scheduled to attend through May 22, the official closing day. Supt. Grigsby pointed out that the school closing date is the earliest in years although he stressed that "disaster days" could alter the calendar.

Fiscal Body Adopts Budget Here Monday

The deadlock within the fiscal court which since last Tuesday had held the Floyd county budget in a state of suspension was apparently settled Monday afternoon after several hours of deliberation in a special, closed door meeting of fiscal court members.

The budget, for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and ending next June 30, which emerged from Monday's session revealed a number of changes, most in the form of salary and personnel cutbacks, from the budget presented to the fiscal court by County Judge Henry Stumbo for approval or rejection at last Tuesday's meeting. At that time Magistrates Bill Wells, Kenneth Roberts and Dewey Roberts declined to rule on the budget in objection to certain budget provisions and because of their contention that they had not had sufficient time to examine copies of the budget.

From the budget total of $962,928, the fiscal court cut $36,000 from the payroll and personnel of various county offices.

Salary of the Commonwealth's Attorney was reduced from $5,040 to $2,000 and the secretary of that office received a cut from $7,200 to $3,600. These figures represent only the salary supplements paid by the county. Bulk of the salary payment for the Commonwealth Attorney's office comes from the state.

Several cutbacks were made in the County Judge's office including the reduction of a secretary's salary from $7,409 to $3,700 and the same reduction for other help and expenses. The judge's expense allotment was reduced from $2,772 to $1,800. The salary of the pro-tem judge remained the same at $10,272.

The County Attorney's salary was cut from $12,000 to $6,000 for the next six months. (Since the state will take over payment of the County Attorney's salary as of Jan. 1, this actually represents no reduction.) Allotment for office supplies was cut from $1,200 to $600.

City Leaves Police Chief Job Vacant

Although the resignation of Prestonsburg Police Chief Ralph "Hack" Thornsbury became official with its acceptance by the city council at Thursday night's council meeting, no action was taken toward filling the vacant position.

Thornsbury, whose resignation became effective last Sunday, has served as Police Chief for the past year and until a successor is named, City Manager Curtis Clark will serve as temporary police commissioner.

In other action by the council, the bid of $40,778 submitted by Antrout Davidson Co., of Louisville, for a new pump for the flood wall here was tentatively accepted. Before final acceptance of the bid is made the machinery will be carefully inspected by city utilities commission officials, it was said.

Of three bids submitted for reflectorized street signs and posts the council accepted the bid of $4,488.90 submitted by Clayton Co., of Louisville.

The council also approved the appointment of Jack Hyden as assistant city manager. Hyden was hired in this capacity on a six months probationary basis and carries full supervisory powers of city manager.

STREET AND GENERAL CLEAN-UP work has occupied a group of local high school students hired recently by the City of Prestonsburg on a special summer work program. This group is pictured working in the Town Center vicinity.

Health Notes

The Floyd County Health Department will be conducting glaucoma clinics Thursday and Friday, July 14 and 15. Clinic hours will be from 9 to 11:30 and 1 to 3.

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness and it is estimated that one out of every 50 Americans over 35 years of age have this disease. However, glaucoma can be prevented by early detection and treatment. All persons age 35 and over should be screened for glaucoma approximately every two years. Having this simple and painless test will help you avoid possible serious loss of your vision.

These clinics are free and open to the public.

Dewey "Experiment" May Determine Future of Tiger Musky in State

By JOHN WILSON

Within the next few years, Kentucky anglers may have the chance to decide for themselves if the tiger musky gets its name from its coloration or from its disposition.

If this fish does prove to be nasty-tempered, it comes by the trait honestly; with a muskellunge for a mother and a northern pike for a father, it couldn't be anything but mean.

Its disposition, along with its rapid growth rate, is what makes the tiger musky a promising fish for Kentucky waters. It is supposed to grow to the 30-inch legal size faster than a musky and is easier to catch, according to results in other states where this hybrid has been stocked.

The tiger musky has the long, lean toothy look typical of members of the pike family, but can be separated from both his parents by his distinct, tiger-like stripes. He's been around since the early 1960's, and the current world record is 26 pounds, seven ounces. But no one knows for sure how big the fish can grow.

Like Frankenstein's monster, the tiger musky is a product of the laboratory. Since musky and northern pike spawn at different temperatures, it is most unlikely that a tiger musky would occur naturally. But he can be produced easily under hatchery conditions.

Approximately 1,500 of these fish were raised at the department of fish and wildlife's Clark Hatchery this year and were recently stocked in Dewey Lake in Eastern Kentucky when they were four to five inches long.

But some legal sized tiger musky should start showing up on fishermen's stringers this year, since 580 of these fish were placed in Dewey two years ago. Dewey Lake was chosen for these experimental stockings because of its high rough fish population.

Charlie Bowers, the director of the department of fish and wildlife's fisheries division, expects the tiger musky to grow fat and sassy on the carp, shad and suckers which infest the lake. Enough of these predatory musky could, in addition to offering some exciting angling, actually help restore a more favorable balance between game fish and rough fish populations, Bowers says.

While some bass fishermen have expressed fears that stocking musky or other large predator fish in a lake will decrease bass populations, Bowers maintains that such stocking programs will actually have the opposite effect.

Studies at Cave Run Lake, for example, show that carp are the favorite food of the musky there, while the primary predator of the largemouth bass is the fisherman.

"With anglers putting heavy pressure on game fish populations," Bowers says, "rough fish can take over a lake if something doesn't keep their populations in check. And so far, stocking large predatory fish, such as the musky and rockfish, seems to be the best ways of doing this."

So if the tiger musky program now under way at Dewey Lake works out as expected, Kentucky's fishermen may be hearing more and more about this fish in the future.

If you enjoyed the display of fireworks at Archer Park on July 4th then you should thank the above people for their contributions which made the display possible. It was estimated that 35,000 people viewed these fireworks. Next year we are hoping to make our display the largest in Kentucky.

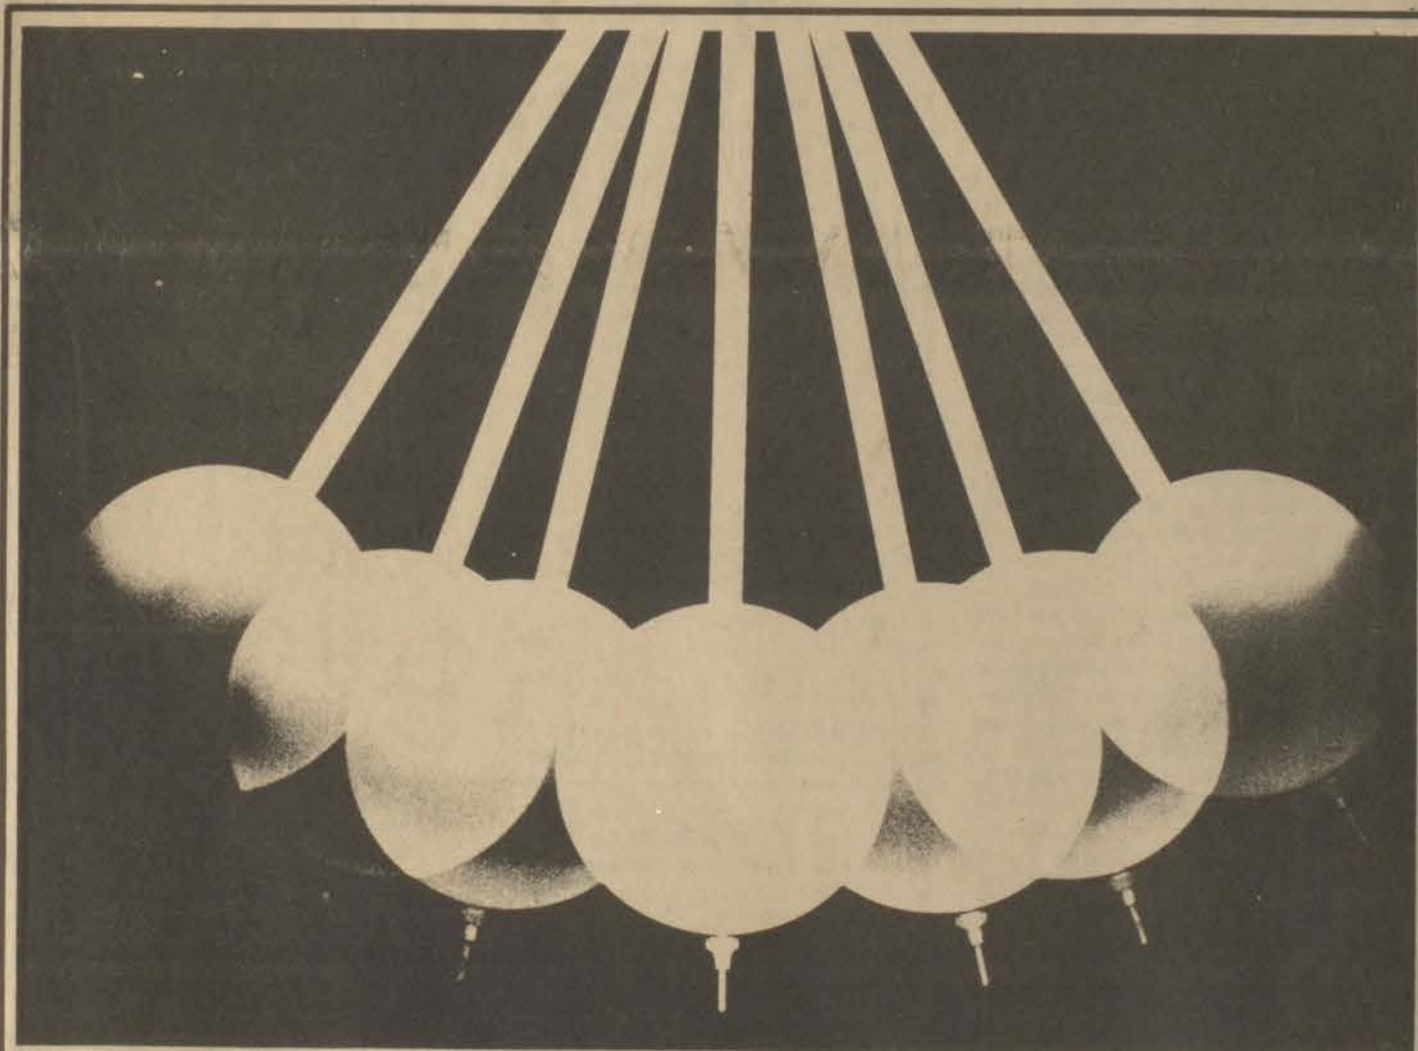

July 4 Traffic Death Total 17

Seventeen persons died as a result of traffic accidents on Kentucky roadways over the Fourth of July week-end.

Lt. Ernest Bivens, State Police safety education director, said he is "very upset, especially since 13 of those killed were between the ages of 15 and 33." Traffic deaths are the number two killer of young people in this country.

Last year, 21 persons died over the long week-end. "It's shameful that we have come to be pleased with a reduction and just expect so many people to die each holiday," said Bivens.

So far this year, the traffic toll is 428 compared to 433 this time a year ago.

While working in her potato patch in the garden of her mother, Allie Wicker, on the Mink Branch of Mud Creek, Irene Moore discovered the plant shown in the above photo—a potato plant which also bore small tomatoes. Letters to the Editor

Acknowledges Help From Ohio Schools

The devastating flood of April 4, 1977 caused much destruction to homes and property in Eastern Kentucky. It also left many of our schools in such a state of desolation that had it not been for the efforts of many devoted people school would probably not be in session yet.

Out of all this desolation came an inspiration from some people not involved in the flood. The Lorain School Board in Lorain, Ohio heard of our plight. They very generously donated to our school, through our PTA, some surplus desks (over 200) and textbooks. Thanks to them, our school children have good usable desks. The many books were used every day by students and teachers alike.

The Harold Elementary School was one of these schools almost completely destroyed. Everything except the structure and some of the desks were ruined. Everyone involved with the clean-up spent many sad and disheartening hours working to put our school in order. The children had already had an extended school year due to the harsh winter they had just experienced. The prospect of further extension seemed inevitable.

The members of the Harold PTA, school staff and children would like to express their thanks to the Lorain School Board, Dr. Nunley, Superintendent, and the Garfield Elementary School, Mr. Lute, principal. Special thanks go also to the school children at Garfield Elementary School, Lorain, Ohio, for all the time they devoted to the project.

The April flood disaster as well as with general renovation and clean-up which the flood damage has made necessary. "We're confident that we will receive the funds eventually," Asst. Supt. Brackett said, although he pointed out that work on damaged school facilities must await the arrival of the money.

We'd like to express our appreciation to the Avon Lake Schools, Avon Lake, Ohio for all the textbooks they donated to our students.

A letter from State Superintendent of Public Instruction James B. Graham was presented at the meeting giving formal approval and citing Floyd county's formulation of the "Kentucky Plan for Improving the Professional Performance of School Personnel," a type of self-improvement blueprint which the state requires each county to draft. Supt. Grigsby called the plan a "self-appraisal-type thing," and added, "I think it shows that we have a certain accountability to demonstrate improvement and progress in the school system."

Since the completion of this project our school children have sent correspondence to the children at Garfield Elementary School, Lorain, Ohio.

The Floyd County Board of Education provided the vehicle and driver used for the transportation of these supplies. Without their help this project would not have succeeded so easily.

Kenneth Osborne, PTA parent, and Ned Bush deserve a great deal of credit for their assistance in the transfer of these supplies.

The heartfelt appreciation due so many people involved can't be expressed adequately. A special thanks goes to Vance Akers, of Vermilion, Ohio, for all the personal time he devoted to this project.

The people of Lorain are fortunate to have educators who are willing and in a position to help other children affected by such a disaster. Their genuine concern for children has been truly demonstrated.

In other business, the board agreed to rejoin the Eastern Kentucky Educational Development Commission, a group of school districts involved in the computer handling of school records. Linton & Linton Accountants, Pikeville, were granted the board's audit contract for the 1977-'78 school year and the Big Sandy Insurance Agency of Martin was named official insurance representative for the term.

A $4,800 salary for six months for a juvenile judge and a cut of $750 for a clerk and car expense of $250 provided by the budget is not immediately applicable since the post has been assumed by the County Judge's office.

Also reduced in the new budget are jury funds, from $6,000 to $3,000, and the salary of the Commonwealth's Detective from $4,000 to $2,000. Eliminated from the Tax Commissioner's office was $6,000 for a county mapping program.

The fiscal court increased hospitalization insurance for county employees from $24,000 to approximately $45,000, depending on the total employed during the coming fiscal year. Six thousand dollars was set aside for county civil defense and the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad's allotment was upped from $2,000 to $6,000.

Dist. 1 Magistrate Bill Wells said the funds freed by the cutbacks would be used for roads—"primarily gravel."

Concerning the matter of magistrates' salaries and expenses which had caused some dispute among the fiscal court, the new budget allows $100 per month expenses with an additional $100 available for special expenditures which must be documented by magistrates. The magistrates originally asked a set $200 a month for expenses and requested that the expense account boost be made retroactive to last January 1. These requests were termed excessive by Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyan in a letter to Floyd County Attorney Harold Stumbo last week. Salary for magistrates effective January 1 will be $1,000 per month according to the budget.

Many of the budget's revisions depend on the assumption that the state will make up the salary losses caused by the county fund cutbacks after January 1. County Attorney Harold Stumbo pointed out that this may not be necessarily true.

"No one is certain at this time what the state will be willing to take over after the first of the year," Stumbo said. If the state fails to assume certain salary responsibilities as expected, he pointed out, certain county positions "may be hurting."

County Judge Henry Stumbo said he believes revisions in the budget will be necessitated when decisions on state policy concerning the positions in question become final.

Washington Meet On Handicapped

"It was like trying to get a drink of water from a firehose, we were so busy," says Gerald Williams of his experience as a delegate to the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals. The conference was held recently in Washington, D. C.

Williams and the others in Kentucky's delegation came back tired—they started early each morning and kept going until 10:30, 11 or even midnight each night of the five-day meeting. "Our people were beautiful. They worked hard and really knew their job," says Mary Louise Sandman, executive director of the Kentucky White House Conference and chairman of the group.

Another member of the delegation was Barbara Curry, ombudsman of the Department for Human Resources. She attended in the capacity of observer, someone who could provide information to the delegates and report back to her or his home state on the actions taken at the conference.

Curry and Williams feel that people are becoming more aware of the problems confronting individuals with handicapping conditions and that some of the old images are being destroyed.

Another delegate, Sandra Deaton, Lexington, thinks that the conference was an important step forward: "If just some of the suggestions are implemented, a lot of progress will be made." She also says that it was her impression that all the workshop groups wanted to see more preventive programs and early diagnosis and treatment of handicapping conditions.

Harry M. Sparks, Jr. of Frankfort was an alternate delegate. He, too, believes that the event was "a big step forward in bringing problems to the attention of the general public, especially problems of employment and education. Over and over, I heard people with handicaps saying that they want to work, they want to have meaningful jobs, but they've got to get the education and training to be able to get those jobs."

Sparks says that he noticed many conferees with handicaps seemed to develop a sense that together, they could be far more influential than they would be as representatives of agencies serving individual conditions.

Several Kentucky delegates say that it was an "unbelievable" experience to have so many individuals, with such a differing range of handicaps, attending the conference. "They had to learn to adjust to each other," Sandman notes. "For example, those in wheelchairs had to slow down in the halls, to accommodate people with other mobility problems."

However, another of the alternates, Joan Page, of Frankfort, has a different opinion. She criticizes the "custodial and dictatorial attitude" of the conference directors, noting there was little opportunity for free discussion among participants, and that only two minutes were allotted for asking and getting a response to questions. She further feels that needs were identified, but no solutions were presented to meet those needs.

Sparks cites two needs he feels were identified:

—A need for a coordinating agency to disseminate information and to provide specific responses to specific questions.

—A coordinated system to serve the individual with more than one handicapping condition.

Sparks said that at present, the multiply-handicapped person must often go to several agencies to get needed help, and because that person is being served by one agency, another agency may not accept him-her in its program.

Sparks feels that if all handicapped people work together to make the public more aware of their problems, they'll gain a tremendous response. Williams is also hopeful: "I think we'll see some very definite results in two or three years, particularly in the areas of transportation, housing and accessibility."

Two Churches Here Sponsor Discussions

First Presbyterian Church and Saint Theodore Catholic Church will co-sponsor several small group discussions open to the public during July and August. "The Crisis of Middle Age" will be discussed in two parts on July 24 at First Presbyterian, 7:30 p.m. and on July 31 at Saint Theodore, 7:30 p.m., with the first session focusing on problems in the aging process and the second session dealing with coping ability.

A ten-week personal theology study will run from July 20 to Sept. 28 on Wednesdays limited to 12 participants to be led by Rev. William H. Thomas and Cindy Sartor. The study will help Christians to develop a theology or spirituality and to claim it. The structure of the study will center on the words: history (I am), law, salvation, forgiveness, discipleship, silence (wilderness), community, and pilgrimage. Meetings will take place at the Kentucky Power Company lounge 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. each Wednesday night except August 10.

There will be a special memorial service on July 22 at Saint Theodore Church to commemorate the 35th anniversary of the destruction of the Warsaw Ghetto. July 22, 1942 was the day that the death sentence was passed on the Warsaw Ghetto. Almost 400,000 Jews died in the planned extermination. The service will include prayer of petition for forgiveness for Christian complicity in crimes against the Jewish community.

POTPOURRI

By WILMAY

Two days after the publication of this column on Modern Education the July 11th issue of U.S. News & World Report arrived with an article wherein the U.S. Commissioner of Education expressed the same philosophy in regard to emphasis on the basics in academic study. This writer stressed that need in a small book twenty years ago, not due to personal foresight as to decline in quality of education, but because countless educators, teachers, and parents were then questioning and protesting the abandonment of such and many other new trends of that day.

Many were saddened by the death of Dr. Werner Von Braun, one of the best minds of any century. Perhaps nothing reveals his greatness more than his strong faith in God, in prayer, and in a life hereafter, and his firm belief that the Master Creator plays an important role even in the history of nations, as Biblical students know. So, students, when some little professor tries to undermine your faith, tell him about Von Braun's, or that of the late J. D. Dana, for years professor of geology at Yale, one of the most outstanding scientists of his day, who rejected Darwin's theory of evolution—still unproved—and accepted the Biblical record of the creation, as have scores of other distinguished scientists.

Like others, the Maytown Fire Department, which renders invaluable service day or night, requires donations from all. Many forget and some neglect to donate to these splendid volunteers and those in rescue squads, who do so much for humanity, at great cost in time and money to self and family. Failure to contribute calls to mind folks who let others support churches and pastors but use both for weddings and funerals etc., also well-to-do people who frequent these Senior Citizens places across the nation for meals, and according to reports, often drop in only small coins. Many feel that these meals should be solely for the disabled and persons in lowest economic strata. It is a small wonder that our government owes multiplied billions, and the national debt keeps mounting.

Unless enough citizens care sufficiently to protest soon, loud, and long to senators and congressmen, the U.S. will surrender the Panama Canal. Misleading propaganda favors same. Sol Linowitz, one of our two top negotiators, is an old friend and associate of Panamanian head, Torrijos, who is pro-Castro. Linowitz, a Washington attorney, was once an agent for Chilean leftist Allende, so whose interests do you think he will favor? Polls show that 75 per cent of Americans oppose this planned giveaway, promoted by several presidents for reasons obvious to anyone who keeps up with the news. It's time to care enough about our own freedoms and national security for posterity, too, to rise and be counted, and to contact our representatives if we want the canal retained.

Now comes a flood of propaganda about cocaine, pro and con, via magazines, papers, radio, and T.V. Chances are it will be legalized, though addiction to less potent drugs—if only psychological—often leads to use of stronger ones. If not true, who wants indulging in any kind of drug made easier? Those who sell it or vote to legalize it are no less guilty than those using it. Many will vote for it, knowing the dangers, and that its high cost will leave countless families destitute of the necessities of life. Following are quotes from August 16, 1976 copy of The Spotlight, a publication at 300 Independence Ave., S. E. Washington, D.C. 20003, quotations permitted provided full credit is given the paper. Headline of that issue was: Carter's Cocaine Connection of Capricorn, handling public relations and taking care of Walden's political relationships. 'My responsibility was to introduce Walden to the right people and to give him legitimacy,' said Hall to a Spotlight investigator. Walden, a multimillionaire at the age of 36, is a kingpin in Carter's behind-the-scenes political infrastructure. He is responsible for raising one million dollars for Carter's presidential campaign. He is under investigation in a rapidly-spreading narcotics scandal in Georgia. Thirty-six people have so far been indicted.

"Phil Walden, president of Capricorn Records, was introduced to Jimmy Carter by Cloyd Hall, who was then a special assistant to Carter when he was governor of Georgia. Toward the end of Carter's term, Walden made Hall a V.P.

"During the early stages of Carter's campaign, he called and said money was really critical, that they would have to raise $50,000 or the campaign would be in trouble. I told him I'd get busy," Walden told the Macon Telegraph.

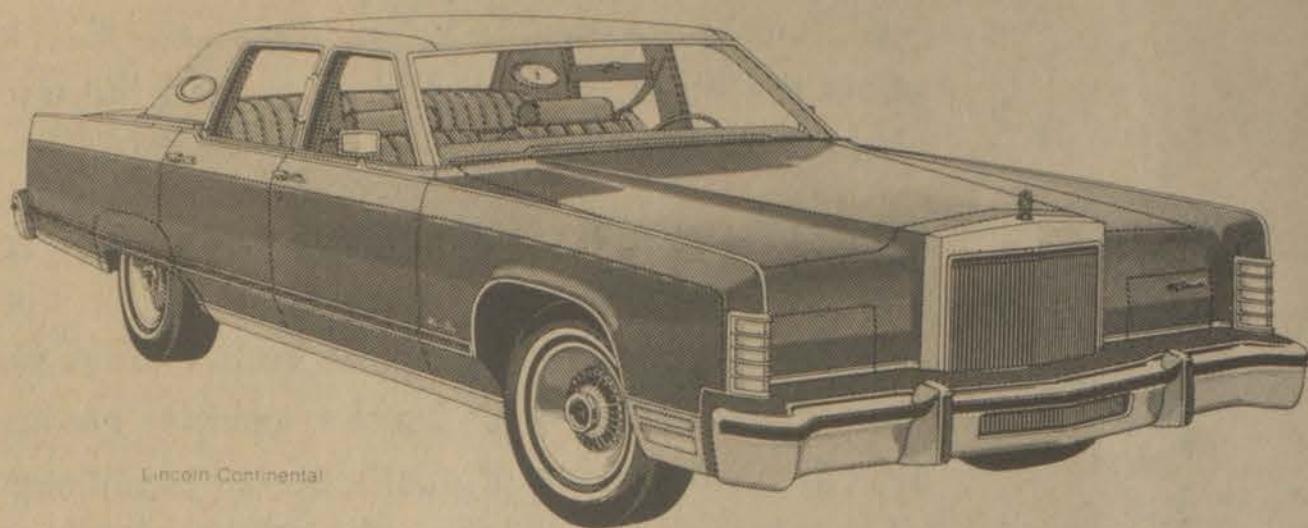

"When Jimmy Carter comes to Macon, he goes straight to Walden's office. He never tells the mayor or police when or how he is coming. Security for him is very difficult," a Macon police officer told Spotlight investigators.

"According to a story in the Macon Telegraph on 7-16-76, 'Walden was sporting a Walter Mondale pin on his blue safari shirt less than an hour after the Minn. senator was named Carter's choice for V.P.' There was no explanation how he was able to manufacture a button 'less than an hour,' indicating that he was privy to Carter's choice well in advance of its public announcement. . . . Possibly because of his success in raising money for his nationally prominent friend, Phil Walden reportedly has plenty of 'clout' in Georgia politics."

Anyone wishing full particulars can write The Spotlight, which someone mailed this columnist anonymously.

From the land of Ambrym we hear of a beautiful word, the native word for love. Literally translated it means: "The heart keeps calling, calling for me."

This is very likely the best of all translations of the word "love."

Think of young lovers—their hearts are calling out to each other, that's why we say they're in love. A child has the same call going out for a parent, and a parent's heart calls to a child.

Friendships based on love are moulded through the staying in touch by way of the heart.

If the hearts of mankind kept calling, calling for one another, what a different world it would be. There would be no room for envy, hate and prejudices.

Wars would be eliminated if all people practiced the natives of Ambrym's description of love.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "TO BE LOVED—ONE MUST FIRST LOVE."

A Subtle Kind of Segregation

By BILL KISER

In America no signs say "Able-Bodied Here and Handicapped Here." Bus drivers do not order disabled people to the back of the bus. We are free to come and go. No laws govern our conduct. But I assert that we experience segregation. You may ask, "How can handicapped citizens consider themselves to be segregated in today's society?"

As one who has had a severe cerebral palsy involvement all of my life, I know from personal experience that many forms of segregation are not spelled out. My parents were not told that I must go to a certain school, they were just told that I could not go to school. No sign has ever forbidden me to enter a public building or told me which restroom to use. Architectural barriers have been more than enough. No bus drivers or conductor has told me where to sit, but a few have refused to carry me since I cannot get off and on unassisted. Some cab drivers have made me feel smaller than a grasshopper—and some won't even take me. No law has kept me from marrying and establishing a home, but society's belief that it's beyond my reach has had much the same effect.

The segregation handicapped people experience is different from that experienced by racial and other groups, but we have many things in common. Like all other segregation, our problems are a result of ignorance and misunderstanding on the part of others. Education can do much to break down the barriers of ignorance and prejudice. The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and similar groups are helping the public see disabled persons as whole individuals with certain limitations.

The outsider may be puzzled about the fact that handicapped people today are making more noise about their rights despite having more opportunities than ever before. This is again a similarity with other minority groups. Research has proven repeatedly that people on the bottom of the socioeconomic ladder seldom are able to voice their longings and desires. Once they make a few gains they become more vocal and are able to express their goals more clearly. No newcomer to the ranks of the handicapped myself, I freely admit trying to break through barriers that I would have accepted 20 to 30 years ago. For example, as a teen-ager I accepted the fact that all colleges and universities were closed to people like myself. The thought of joining with other handicapped students in legal action to force a college or university to make its campus accessible never occurred to me.

The line between reality and unnecessary segregation is often unclear. When a group of my friends decides to go for the week-end to the mountains, where there are unbelievable natural and architectural barriers, I usually go too. In spite of my feeding difficulties, I attend an increasing number of public dinners. All of this points up the fact that much of the segregation we experience can be mitigated by our own attitudes and our own willingness to assert ourselves in spite of our limitations.

While progressive laws, better education, and special devices can do much to prevent the segregation of handicapped people, true integration in the long run depends on overcoming the barriers of ignorance and misunderstanding. When we are able to see each other, handicapped and nonhandicapped alike, without labels, then we will have overcome the most subtle kind of segregation.

Editor's note—Bill Kiser, of Winston-Salem, N. C., and 1976 Handicapped American of the Year, authors a weekly syndicated newspaper column, a weekly radio program, and edits a newspaper column for the North Carolina Rehabilitation Association. This column is one of a series provided monthly to this newspaper by the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Do you have a shut-in or an invalid or a child who needs a playmate or needs to be entertained? I have a solution: Let me give you one or two kittens. They are the most entertaining things in the world. All you need is a paper bag, a basket and a kitten.

Pressure Gauge Off? Here's What To Do

All is not lost if the dial gauge on your pressure canner is off 4 pounds or less.
"For safe canning, you need to know if your gauge is accurate. If it's not, you can process your foods at a different reading to compensate," says Sue Burrier, an Extension nutritionist with the UK College of Agriculture.
Take the whole top of the canner in to your local county extension office to have your dial gauge checked. Weighted pressure gauges don't need to be tested.
"If the reading on the dial is off 5 pounds or more, you should buy a new gauge," Burrier says. "If your gauge is off 4 pounds or less, you can compensate for it by following the instructions below."
"Hang a reminder tag on the gauge so that whoever uses it will know at what reading foods should be processed."

If Gauge Reads High	Process At
1 pound high	11 pounds
2 pounds high	12 pounds
3 pounds high	13 pounds
4 pounds high	14 pounds

If Gauge Reads Low	Process At
1 pound low	9 pounds
2 pounds low	8 pounds
3 pounds low	7 pounds
4 pounds low	6 pounds

Church of God Asks TV Cut Profanity

Anderson, Ind.—The General Assembly, policy-making body of the Church of God, issued a strong statement urging presidents of major American television networks to eliminate the use of profanity and violence from their telecasts.

Supporting action recommended by the church's Commission on Social Concerns, the Assembly protested "an alarming increase in the use of profanity, violence and portrayal of life-styles inconsistent with Christian values in an increasing number of telecasts."

Dr. W. E. Reed, executive secretary of the church's Executive Council, explained the action began with the Ohio General Assembly and proceeded through the Commission to the General Assembly, which has concluded annual sessions here.

He said the Assembly's resolution noted the current trend of "profanity on television is detrimental to the well-being of our families—especially our children and youth."

Safety Posts Still Vacant

Mines and Minerals Commissioner Harrel Kirkpatrick told a special subcommittee on Mining Legislation Implementation that the state should complete training of its deep mine inspectors and safety analysts by Oct. 1.

Kirkpatrick told the subcommittee that the state has hired 19 safety analysts, but said the initial salary proposal had discouraged applicants in the Pikeville and Hazard districts. He said Gov. Julian Carroll responded to the lack of applicants by raising the pay scale for safety analysts.

The Hazard district has since received applications for the positions available, Kirkpatrick said, but Pikeville still has not filled its analyst positions. He said he expects more interest in the jobs after the national miners' vacation ends later this month.

Kirkpatrick said the analysts would be responsible to one of two supervisors. One supervisor will cover mining districts in Eastern; the other supervisor oversees districts in the western part of the state.

The safety analyst program is part of a deep mine safety legislative package approved in the December 1976 special session of the Kentucky General Assembly. Another part of the law established a deep mine inspector program, and created a state Board of Miner Training, Education and Certification.

Kirkpatrick said that in late September the department will send applicants for mine inspector positions to an eight-day training course in Beckley, W. Va. After completion of the course, the applicants must pass a two-day examination to become inspectors, he said.

The inspectors will then be assigned to a mining district near their home area. In Pike county, Kirkpatrick said, about 20 inspectors will be assigned to the county's 450 deep mines.

Concerning the miner education, training and certification program, Lynn Tackett, coordinator of the industrial education unit in the Bureau for Vocational Education, said the training program should begin in either August or September. The program has hired some 85 part-time instructors.

Tackett said the training program would be conducted in five vocational education regions, Madisonville, Owensboro, Paintsville, Hazard and Harlan. Thirty teacher-coordinators have been approved by the state and await approval by the federal Mine Enforcement Safety Administration (MESA).

Tackett said the program aims to be the best in the nation, and said it may construct three simulated deep mines to aid in miner education.

Inexperienced miners will be required to complete a 48-hour training course under the certification program; and experienced miners must take a 16-hour retraining course.

KET Slates Program Of Victor Herbert

"The World of Victor Herbert," a sumptuously-staged musical special saluting the man who was called king of the American musical circa 1890-1920, airs Tuesday, July 19 at 9 p.m. on KET's "Opera Theater."

Canadian soprano Barbara Shuttleworth is featured in this extravaganza of music from many of Herbert's beloved operettas, including "Naughty Marietta," "The Red Mill," "Eileen," "Sweethearts" and "The Fortune Teller." Other principal singers in the programs are Christine Chandler, Robert Jeffrey and Allan Stewart Coates, with performances by child actors Cynthia and Vincent Dale.

The cast is supported by a 12 member vocal chorus under John Fanwick's direction and 10 dancers executing the brisk choreography of Don Gillies. Sets and period costumes are also used to recreate the spirit of old New York.

Social Sec. Office Says Wage Reports Due For Household Workers

Quarterly wage reports and social security contributions for household workers are due by August 1, according to Jim Kelly, social security manager. "People who pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month quarter must send a report of the wages, along with the social security contribution, to the Internal Revenue Service within one month after the end of the quarter," Kelly said.

Quarters are January-February-March, April-May-June, July-August-September, October-November-December. Wage reports and social security contributions for the 2nd quarter of 1977 are due by August 1, Kelly said. "The date would be July 31, but July 31 falls on a Sunday this year," he said.

People who employ household workers may file the wage report on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service Office—Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for social security)."

The social security contribution for a household employee is 5.85 percent of covered wages, and the employer pays a matching amount.

Social security contributions help build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare hospital insurance protection for workers and their families. People who employ household workers can get a free copy of the leaflet, Social Security and your household employee, at the social security office located on Auxier Road, Prestonsburg.

IN MEMORIAM

By DORITA L. WILCOX
 In memory of our brother, Paul K. Hubbard.

At first we could not understand, Why God had chosen you to take in his hand.

We wanted you to stay here with us, To laugh, to cry, to quarrel and to fuss. We know that God had a purpose in mind, And that he takes the best that he can find.

So with the knowledge that our God knows best, It helps make our sorrow hurt somewhat less.

Missed by his family.

CONSUMER TIP . . .
COMPARE COSTS PER SERVING WHEN BUYING MEAT. IS THE RECOMMENDATION OF UK extension food and nutrition specialists. Chicken usually costs less per pound than round steak, but you may get only two servings from a pound of chicken and get four from a pound of round steak. Comparing price per pound can be misleading—some cuts include bone and fat, while others are all edible meat.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Neville Shackelford
UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

One reason why insects are so hard to control is that they have the same five senses possessed by man. As a matter of fact, some entomologists have voiced the suspicion that they have other senses of which man has not suspected or become aware. In their domestic life many insects show such ingenuity and intelligence that naturalists have often wondered if they didn't have something more than instinct to guide them. They were here on earth long before man and it may just be they will be here after he is gone and the next period of geologic time could very well be the "Age of Insects." One thing for certain, insects are without peer in the art of survival.

Hardly a year goes by without scientists discovering new facts about these incredible fellow travelers. One recent discovery is that while some angry bees and hornets seem to attain the speed of a .45-caliber bullet, they really aren't going that fast. A scared bare-foot boy can usually outrun a provoked bald-faced hornet.

Most insects, entomologists say, fly much more slowly than they seem to travel. Although dragonflies can cut through the air at a rate of 40 miles per hour, the top speed of a hornet is about 25 mph. Providing they are not heading into a wind, a honey bee in a hurry can travel at the same speed as a hornet. But if the wind is much over eight miles per hour, bees fly close to the ground in order to take advantage of windbreaks in their line of flight.

Honey bees have been known to travel up to 8 1/2 miles for food. On the average, however, beekeepers say they do not usually fly more than two miles in search of nectar. Mosquitoes get the most mileage per gallon of fuel, and monarch butterflies can fly the farthest.

Male mosquitoes dawdle along at two and a half miles per hour, but some scientist once figured out that they got 450 million miles per gallon of nectar—their fuel.

What female mosquitoes get from a gallon of fuel (animal blood) has not been figured out—at least as far as we know.

Big old horseflies, scientists say, can't do over 15 mph and as for flight distance, a good tailwind helps all insects. With a good breeze behind it, some entomologists believe a monarch butterfly could probably cross the Atlantic Ocean without refueling. Without a wind, the monarch butterfly has chalked up a laboratory flight record of 650 miles.

As these few facts alone indicate, the world of insects is an incredible place and with their amazing ability to adapt, it is not inconceivable that ultimately they will inherit the earth.

Mrs. Martin To Conduct U.S. Bureau of Census Area Employment Survey

Mrs. Caulene B. Martin, of Garrett, representing the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of July 18-23, Joseph R. Norwood, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Charlotte, announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 70,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 97.2 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 90.4 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 6.9 percent, virtually unchanged from the 7.0 percent recorded in April and substantially below the recession peak of 8.9 percent reached in the second quarter of 1975.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

JOINT PUBLIC NOTICE, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region IV, Water Enforcement Branch, 345 Courtland Street, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia 30308, 404-881-2328, in conjunction with Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Division of Water Quality - Century Plaza, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, 502-564-3410, Public Notice No. PH 77KY0086, July 15, 1977. NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING (DATE CHANGE). The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection will conduct two public hearings to receive comments on the coal mines and coal preparation plants (SIC Codes 1211 and 1213) in Kentucky. These existing discharges all enter receiving waters which are classified for Fish and wildlife. The hearing dates have been changed from the previously announced dates of July 6 and 8, due to the large number of persons in the effected area being on vacation during that time. Please note the new dates listed below. On August 16, a hearing will be held at Pikeville College, in the Christman Auditorium of the Science Building, Pikeville, Kentucky, to receive comments concerning more than 600 NPDES permits to be issued to facilities in the Eastern portion of Kentucky. The hearing will begin at 2:00 p.m. On August 18, a hearing will be held in the Madisonville Community College Auditorium, Madisonville, Kentucky, to receive comments regarding 56 NPDES permits to be issued to facilities in the Western portion of Kentucky. The hearing will begin at 2:00 p.m. In Public Notices announcing the proposed permits, the facilities were grouped according to County. These Notices, dated April 15, 1977, were then posted in the City Hall and Post Office of each County Seat. Public Notices were also mailed to interested persons on the EPA mailing list. In response to these Notices, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency received several requests for a public hearing concerning the proposed permit issuances. It was determined that a public hearing, pursuant to 40 CFR 125.34(a) would be held to receive comments on the Agency's tentative determination to issue the permits. The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection will co-chair the hearing to receive comments relative to state certification. The proposed NPDES permits contain limitations on the amounts of pollutants allowed to be discharged and were drafted in accordance with the provisions of the 1972 Amendments to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (P.L. 92-500) and other lawful standards and regulations. The pollutant limitations and other permit conditions are tentative and open to comment from the public. The hearing will be conducted informally; formal rules of evidence will not apply. Both oral and written comments will be accepted; however, the EPA Regional Administrator or his designee reserves the right to fix reasonable limits on the length of oral presentations. Written comments may also be submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency, Region IV, 345 Courtland Street, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia, 30308, Attention: Mona Ellison, no later than August 30, 1977. Copies of the draft permits are available from EPA. The applications, comments received, and other information are available for review and copying at 345 Courtland Street, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia, between the hours of 8:15 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. A copying machine is available for public use at a charge of 20c per page. After consideration of all written comments and of the requirements and policies in the Act and appropriate regulations, the EPA Regional Administrator will make determinations regarding permit issuance. If the determinations are substantially unchanged from those announced by this notice, the EPA Regional Administrator will so notify all persons submitting written comments. If the determinations are substantially changed, the EPA Regional Administrator will issue a public notice indicating the revised determinations. Requests for adjudicatory hearing may be filed after the Regional Administrator makes the above-described determinations. Additional information regarding adjudicatory hearing is available at 40CFR 125.36 or by contacting the Legal Support Branch at the address above or at 404-881-3506. Please bring the foregoing to the attention of persons who you know will be interested in this matter.

Answers Vets' Questions

Q—Why was my National Service Life Insurance dividend smaller than that received by a friend who has the same type of policy?
A—Dividends depend on the policy one holds, the amount of insurance, veteran's age at issue of renewal, and the length of time the policy has been in force.
Q—How many times can a veteran receiving GI Bill benefits change schools?
A—There is no limitation on the number of times an eligible veteran or serviceman can change schools if no change of program is involved provided his conduct and progress were satisfactory at the previous institution.

Brett Davis and Greg Porter, students at Prestonsburg high school who participated in a Presidential Classroom, talked with Kentucky Sen. Walter (Dee) Huddleston during their recent trip to Washington, D. C. Procedure Changed for GI Bill Checks

A previously announced procedure that would have caused a break between summer and fall checks for veterans attending school under the GI Bill has been changed.

Kenneth McDonald, director of the VA regional office in Louisville, said Administrator of Veterans Affairs Max Cleland has relaxed the procedure that would have caused a break between summer and fall checks. Students who continue in the fall with less than a month's break will be paid on schedule providing the student is continuously enrolled or preregisters early enough to allow for processing the paperwork.

There is no change in the legal requirement that allowances be paid at the end of the month rather than at the beginning, McDonald said. That law will result in a 60-day break between the "prepayment" check which came May 1 and the "postpayment" check that will come July 1.

Students who are not eligible for continuous payment because there is more than a calendar month break between terms have the option of receiving either an advance payment or regular end-of-month payment.

New procedures permit advance payment for the first partial or full month, plus the following month, only if the student makes a written request 30 days prior to registration and the school agrees to process the advance payments.

Rock Concert at Fishtrap To Benefit Flood Victims

An outdoor rock concert will be held on the lakeside of Fishtrap Lake in Pike county beginning at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 23.

Proceeds from the concert, a Michael Williamson production, will be donated to the American Red Cross to aid victims of the April flood.

Groups taking part will be Peril, Michael Copperfield, Shade, Tracks of Mind, Eternity, and Hell's Exit.

In addition to the concert, there will be an open pit barbecue with two hives roasted.

THE POSTWAR baby boom is about to develop a middle-aged bulge. According to the July issue of Reader's Digest, there will be 41 million people in the 35- to 44-year-old age group by the 1990s. That's in contrast to 23 million in the same age bracket today.

KET's in-school programs are used by 1,049, or 75 per cent, of Kentucky's schools.

Insecticide Fed To Control Flies

A research entomologist in the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture reports that results of an experiment with an insecticide mixed in cow feed can mean better fly control with less effort and possibly lower costs to dairy farmers.

Fred Knapp says this new way to control flies is effective when used as part of a total pest management program. Cows eat the insecticide which passes through the digestive tract, treating manure and urine so that fly larvae are killed before they hatch into adult flies.

Rabon Oral Larvicide, a product recently approved as a feed additive for milk-producing dairy cows to control manure-breeding flies, was used in the experiment. The treated dairy farm had a herd of 60 to 80 milking cows kept in dry lot with no access to pasture. They ate the larvicide mixed in silage. The product also was included in the mineral mixture fed to dry cows, and in the creep feed of young calves.

Knapp reports that laboratory tests of manure from treated cows showed an excellent larvae kill during the entire fly season—a 100 percent reduction in the case of face flies, 99 percent for house flies and 98 percent for stable flies. The population of adult flies in and around the barns, however, was not reduced to a reasonable level until 8 to 10 weeks after the larvicide treatment started. Once the fly population was reduced, the entomologist says that control was maintained at a level ranging from a 56 percent reduction the eighth week to an 81 percent reduction the twentieth week.

Control of flies by feeding cows the larvicide was not as good as the researchers expected, however, because they discovered flies were breeding in areas missed during the clean-up at the start of the experiment. To get effective fly control, they used a hand sprayer occasionally to apply insecticide around feed bins, open silage pits, wet drainage areas and in scraps of old manure under feed troughs.

"This emphasizes that the new feed-through method of fly control must be used as part of a total pest management program, including sanitation and supplemental use of sprays or baits," says Knapp. "Dry cows and replacement heifers should be fed the larvicide—even if kept on another farm as was the case in the experiment—so that an effective level of larvicide is maintained in the manure when these animals are brought into the milking herd."

Rabon is safe to feed to cows when used according to directions on the label, the entomologist assures dairy farmers. At recommended dosages, there are no residues found in milk or animal tissues. The insecticidal effect in feces is short-lived, lasting about four weeks, so manure can be spread safely on crop land.

Although the experiment was on a dairy farm, Knapp says the larvicide also can be used to control manure-breeding flies in beef cattle herds. Rabon should be fed in the mineral mix, protein supplement or other feed that cattle eat every day.

"If cattle miss getting the larvicide for only a couple of days, fly larvae will develop into adult flies that are not affected by the treated feed," says Knapp. "Use dust bags, back rubbers or sprays along with feeding a larvicide to control adult flies that can move in from other areas."

KET-TV To Present Best Truffaut Film

KET presents "Jules and Jim," acclaimed as Francois Truffaut's finest film, on "PBS Movie Theater" Saturday, July 23 at 8 p.m. (ET), and Saturday, July 30 at 2 p.m. (ET).

The award-winning drama, adapted from the novel by Henri-Pierre Roche, features Jeanne Moreau, Oskar Werner and Henri Serre.

Truffaut evokes the romantic nostalgia of pre-World War I. Catherine, amoral and classically beautiful, loves two men and must have them both—even if she must die to do so. In her eyes, no commitment is forever and only death is final.

"PBS Movie Theater" also presents "Beauty and the Beast," an adult film version adapted from the fairy tale, Saturday, July 30 at 8 p.m. (ET), and Saturday, August 6 at 2 p.m. (ET).

"Beauty and the Beast" concerns three beautiful sisters. All three are attractive, but only one called Beauty. When a monster captures the girl's father, it is Beauty who sets out to free him. Her faith and love cause the monster to turn into a handsome prince.

US 23 Work in Boyd Co. To Cost $3.9 Million

A $3.9 million contract for approximately 1.5 miles of US 23 near Lockwood in Boyd county led the list of the latest highway projects to be announced last week.

The contract award was announced by State Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson who said that the project will provide for grade and drain construction and surfacing, to be carried out from about one-half mile south of Lockwood north to the White Creek road (KY 757). Contractor on the project will be Bizzack Brothers Construction Corp., Frankfort. Awarding of the US 23 contract followed a June 23 bid-letting which resulted in more than $20.5 million worth of bridge and road improvement contracts being approved statewide. The figure raises to nearly $160 million the total value of highway contracts awarded thus far this year.

Other road contract awards in counties of the area:

Boyd County
Under a second contract announced for Boyd county, three surfacing projects were awarded to Ashland Asphalt Paving Co., Inc., of Ashland, on a total bid of $97,267. The roads to be surfaced under that contract are:

- US 60-Rockdale-Catlettsburg road (KY 538) southeast from US 60 to Peterman's Marsh Run Road (CR 1001), a distance of about 3.2 miles.
- Blue Ribbon road, northeast from KY 1937 to KY 757, about 1.6 miles.
- Carty Drive, northeast from KY 538 for one-half mile.

Breathitt County
Approximately 12.5 miles of Breathitt county roads are to be surfaced under two contracts, totaling $539,539, awarded to Hinkle Contracting Corporation of Paris.

The roads covered by those contracts are:

- Clear Ford road, east from KY 378, for one mile.
- Gauge-Lambic-Waldo road (KY 542), east from KY 30, 5.1 miles.
- Salyers Cemetery road, southeast from KY 30, one-half mile.
- Leatherwood-Caney Creek road (KY 1278), southwest from 1.2 miles south of Old KY 476 Loop No. 2 road (CR 1119), for about 3.9 miles.
- Old KY 476-Loop No. 2 road, from New KY 15 at Watts to KY 1278, about one mile.
- Leatherwood-Caney Creek road (KY 1278), south from Old KY 476-Loop No. 2 Road, for 1.3 miles.

Grayson also said that an $87,576 contract for deck repairs to two bridges in Breathitt and Estill counties was awarded to Safety Engineering Co. of Paint Lick. The Breathitt county bridge crosses Hunting Creek on the Jackson-Salyersville road (KY 30) near Rousseau. The Estill county bridge is located over the Kentucky River on Richmond-Irvine road (KY 52) at Irvine.

Perry County

In Perry county, one Energy Road Fund contract, costing $474,360, was awarded to Adams Construction Corporation of Pikeville for two surfacing projects.

The Clover Fork-Delphia-Gordon road (KY 463) will be surfaced northwest from the Letcher county line to KY 699, a distance of about 6.5 miles, and the Busy-Typo road will be surfaced northeast from KY 451 for nearly one mile.

Adams Construction also was the successful bidder ($112,918) on another contract to surface the Ary-Talcum road (KY 1087), north from KY 476 for 7 mile; Rogers Branch-Barrett Mountain road (KY 1165) southwest from KY 7 for 1.5 miles; and Campbell Creek road, southwest from KY 451 to the Leslie county line.

Knott County

State Contracting and Stone Co., of Beaver Dam, was the successful bidder on two separate surfacing contracts costing a total $386,407 for Knott county. One will provide for the surfacing of about 4.9 miles of Pine Top-Mallie-Brinkley road (KY 1393) north and northwest from KY 582 to KY 160.

The other—an ERF-funded contract—covers Ogden Branch-Vest road, north from KY 80 for 1.5 miles; Pippa Passes-Wayland road, northeast from KY 1697 to KY 7, about 8.6 miles; and the access road to Irishman Recreation Area south from KY 15, about one-tenth mile.

Letcher County

Nearly 12 miles of roads in Letcher county were included in another ERF contract awarded to State Contracting and Stone of Beaver Dam. The amount of that award was $273,990. The roads to be surfaced are:

- Millstone-Democrat road (KY 113), north and northwest from Old US 119 at Millstone for nearly three miles.
- Tillie-Roxana-Gordon road (KY 160), northeast from KY 463 to KY 931, about 7.7 miles.
- Millstone-Deane road (KY 803), northeast from KY 113 for 1.2 miles.

Johnson County

In Johnson county, approximately nine miles of roads will be surfaced under an ERF contract awarded to Adams Construction, of Pikeville, on a bid of $193,206. The roads are:

- Prestonsburg-Paintsville road (KY 1428), northwest from the Floyd county line to US 23, a distance of about 3.3 miles.
- Flatgap-Barnrock-KY 469 road (KY 1092), northwest from KY 689 for about four miles.
- Staffordsville-Little Mudlick road, beginning one mile southwest of KY 201 and extending south to US 460, a distance of 1.6 miles.

Martin County

In Martin county a $35,793 contract to surface the Castle Branch and Saltwell roads was awarded to Adams Construction of Pikeville.

Work on the Castle Brand road will begin at KY 3 and extend northeast for .7

mile. Surfacing of the Saltwell road will start at the end of the existing pavement, 1.4 miles southwest of KY 3, and extend westward for one-half mile.

In Morgan county, N. H. Stone, Inc., of Sharpsburg, had the low bid of $42,007 on replacing the bridge over the North Fork of the Licking River, 2.3 miles east of KY 7 on the Wrightley-Redwine road (KY 711).

Floyd Fire Departments Benefit from State Funds

Seven Floyd fire departments and the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad are among the state groups which will benefit from a total of approximately $515,000 allocated to Kentucky fire departments and rescue squads for the improvement and expansion of existing facilities.

State Fire Marshal Warren Southworth said the grants have been made to 466 eligible fire departments and 157 rescue squads. Allocations have also been included for volunteer firefighters' workmen's compensation insurance. About $118,000 has been budgeted in that area.

Each of the 466 fire departments are to receive $783.26 from a total $365,000. The department must maintain a fire truck and have a chief and at least 12 firefighters in order to meet state requirements for the funds. Southworth noted that all applications are verified by state field investigators employed by the fire marshal's office.

Another fund provided $150,000 to the rescue squads, with each receiving $955.41. Rescue squads were included in the grants for the first time two years ago when $50,000 was directed to them. Each squad must remain active if their grants are to continue, Southworth said.

The Eastern Kentucky area encompassing what was the Seventh Congressional District until 1972 received $53,261.68 for 68 fire departments and another $14,331.15 was budgeted for 15 rescue squads.

The following fire departments in the county received state aid:

Education Program For Migrant Young

Kentucky's Migrant Advisory Council met for the first time last week as members got acquainted with the state's educational program for the children of migrant workers.

Federal regulations require that states receiving federal funds for the education of migrant children set up an advisory council made up of parents of children who would be served or persons knowledgeable of the needs of migratory children, said Don Hart, director of the Division of Compensatory Education in Kentucky's Department of Education.

Kentucky will receive $2.73 million dollars this year "to meet the special needs of migrant children," Hart said. That is an increase from the $1.9 million received last year and $80,000 the year before.

As of January of this year, 7,555 migrant children had been identified in Kentucky. L. D. Knight, unit director for Migrant Programs, told the newly-appointed advisory council, "We tend to think of migrant workers as a steady stream constantly moving from place to place."

Knight explained that federal regulations define migrant children as "any child whose parents have changed school districts within the last five years in search of agricultural employment."

Last year 45 school districts offered migrant programs. In the coming year 55 districts will offer programs ranging from remedial classes for migrant children to tutorial assistance in the home. Nineteen districts are sponsoring summer schools for migrant children.

It was stressed that the migrant child does not have to be educationally deprived or functioning beneath his grade level for the school to receive funds. Gifted programs can be planned for migrant children as well as remedial programs.

The advisory council members are Ralph Alexander of Union County, David Boswell of Carlisle County, Bill Kuegel of Daviess County, Mrs. Joe Mays of Clark County and Mrs. J. W. McKinney of Lincoln County.

Summer Theatre in State Parks

By PAULA C. MOORE

This summer, Kentucky's State Park theaters will present everything from rousing Broadway musical comedies to a haunting Biblical drama—plays as varied as the Kentucky countryside. The excitement and anticipation, though, will be the same in amphitheaters across the state as the sun goes down and the lights come up on some of the finest entertainment to be found anywhere.

In July and August, Pine Mountain State Resort Park at Pineville presents "The Book of Job," an internationally recognized choral interpretation of the Biblical book. The production, given in Laurel Cove Amphitheater, is famous for its unusual lighting and stage technique and especially for the mosaic makeup and costuming which give the characters the appearance of images which have just stepped out of a stained-glass window. The effect is almost eerie when giant shadows of the players are cast against cliffs in the background and characters seem to appear from out of thin air in this stirring and powerful spectacle.

"The Book of Job" is presented nightly except Sundays, beginning at 9:30 p.m. For tickets or information, write "The Book of Job," Pineville, Ky. 40977. Overnight accommodations may also be arranged through the production office.

Old Fort Harrod State Park in Harrodsburg will be the scene of "The Legend of Daniel Boone," an exciting historical drama about Boone's adventures on the frontier around the time of the American Revolution. The drama unfolds on the very ground which Kentucky's early settlers cleared and defended against Indian attack.

"The Legend of Daniel Boone" runs nightly except Sundays, beginning at 8:30 p.m., June 18 through August 27. For ticket information, contact Michael Y. Walters, Managing Director, "The Legend of Daniel Boone," P. O. Box 365, Harrodsburg, Ky. 40330.

"The Stephen Foster Story" is a colorful, fun-filled musical production based on the life and songs of one of America's greatest composers. It is performed at My Old Kentucky Home State Park in Bardstown every summer, right on the grounds of the Rowan plantation house called "Federal Hill" that was Foster's inspiration for Kentucky's state song, "My Old Kentucky Home."

Performances are nightly except Mondays, starting at 8:30 p.m., June 11 through September 4, with Saturday matinees beginning June 18 at 3 p.m., in an air-conditioned indoor theater nearby. For ticket information, contact Bert Ballard, General Manager, "The Stephen Foster Story," P. O. Box D, Bardstown, Ky. 40004.

The Eastern Kentucky mountains provide an unusual but beautiful backdrop for some of Broadway's most popular plays this summer, as Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater presents another season of fine entertainment in Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, Prestonsburg.

June 24-26, June 29-July 4, and each Friday thereafter through August 21, the play will be "Godspell," a popular musical based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew. Then, July 6 through July 24, "Oliver!", the smash-hit musical adapted from Dickens' "Oliver Twist." To top off a season of family fun, Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater will present "Camelot," the magical musical based on T. H. White's book, "The Once and Future King."

Performances at Jenny Wiley are given nightly Wednesday through Sunday (plus the July 4 Monday evening performance), at 8:30 p.m. For ticket information, write Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater, P. O. Box 22, Dept. B, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Baptists' Report Critical of TV

The Southern Baptist Convention has approved a sweeping report on the morality of television.

The report, written by executives of the denomination's Christian Life Commission, was adopted by the 16,000 messengers (delegates) to the recent annual business session of the Southern Baptist Convention in Kansas City.

"Television fails us, and it fails itself when it dumps into our homes a steady stream of illicit sex, casual violence, alcohol promotion, materialism, vulgarity, blaspheming, cursing and the dead-in notion that everyone should eat, drink and be merry because tomorrow we die," declared Foy Valentine, executive secretary of the Christian Life Commission, in presenting the television document to the messengers.

"If we do not control television, television will control us," Valentine added. "Christians cannot indiscriminately give television our eyes, our minds and our time."

Specifically, the program calls on Southern Baptists to "courageously confront television's moral challenge, evaluate television's impact, use moral discernment regarding television, communicate their convictions about television to station and network officials as well as congressional representatives, the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and advertisers, and cooperate with others concerned about current television programming."

In a related development, messengers accepted an amendment commending the producers of "The Wonderful World of Disney."

Hager Is Member Of Task Force

Ronald L. Hager, assistant superintendent, Floyd County Board of Education, is one of 30 Kentuckians who have been selected to serve on a metric task force which will help local school districts prepare for the transition to the metric system.

"The task force will provide resource people more conveniently located to help schools and communities make the transition to metrics," said Lydia Wells Sledge, math consultant for the Kentucky Department of Education.

Other members selected from Eastern Kentucky are Wanda R. Maxey, of Flemingburg, Stewart McPeck, of Pikeville, Virginia K. Murphy, of Grayson, Richard Russell, of Hazard, Sherril Stone, of Jeremiah, Jenny H. Templeton, of Ashland, Marvin E. Wilson, of Booneville, and Pam Douglas, of Stearns.

A metric workshop for members of the task force will be held July 18-21 at the Holiday Inn Midtown in Louisville. They will receive instruction on activities for teachers in classrooms, on how to hold in-service programs for teachers, and on how to plan metric programs for presentation to community civic groups.

In September 1975 the State Board of Education resolved that by the school year 1980-'81 the metric system will be the predominant system of measurement taught in Kentucky schools. "The workshop will help us accomplish that goal," Sledge said.

Members of the task force will also preview the educational series, "Measure Metrics," which was developed and financed by a 25-state consortium under the direction of the Agency for Instructional Television.

The keynote address at the workshop will be given by Dr. Robert Kansky, Professor of Mathematics Education at the University of Wyoming in Laramie. Kansky is a member of the U.S. Department of Commerce Metric Speaker's Bureau and is currently conducting extensive metric dissemination activities.

Solvent Refined Coal Utilized Successfully

Electricity from a new type of clean-burning coal was generated commercially for the first time.

The fuel was produced from a high-sulfur coal by the solvent refined coal (SRC) process, under development by the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA). The process cleans coal by removing almost all of its ash content and most of its sulfur.

The successful first commercial run of SRC coal was at Plant Mitchell, Putney, Georgia, using a 22.5 megawatt pulverized-coal-fired boiler.

With SRC fuel, utility power plants could make use of the nation's abundant reserves of high-sulfur coal while minimizing pollutant emissions. Preliminary results from the Plant Mitchell run of SRC coal indicate that this could be done with some modification to conventional coal-fired plant design.

Solvent refining uses a coal-derived aromatic solvent to dissolve the organic components of coal. The solution is filtered to remove ash and insoluble organic materials. After recovery of the solvent, a pitch-like material remains, almost totally free of ash and with substantially less sulfur than in the original coal.

KET is the second largest public television network in the world. Japan has the largest.

Summer Blood Needs More, Donors Fewer

The word "rare" can mean life or death to patients who depend on Tri-State Red Cross Blood Center and local Red Cross bloodmobile visits.

During the summer months, the blood donor is often a "rare bird." As more patients require blood around this time, less donors seem to be around to give it through the Red Cross Blood Program. The reason is that accident rates tend to increase and more people take off for vacation. This situation makes blood even more the precious resource that it is.

It is more than a rare occurrence that Tri-State Red Cross Blood Center finds itself low in blood supply which over 90 hospitals depend upon daily. It happens each summer that people forget that it takes their own blood to save a life.

Rare also refers to blood type. A network of Red Cross blood centers, the National Red Cross Rare Blood Donor Registry and a frozen red cell bank in Washington, D. C. and centers including Tri-State in Huntington, make sure blood for persons with rare types can be accommodated. Without records and a stockpile of rare blood, a patient with a rare blood type may have little chance to live.

Take the case of Rev. David Crum, of Seth, W. Va. Rev. Crum's blood type is O negative, which alone is uncommon. But what makes his blood rare is the lack of certain protein factors called antigens. Because no other match for it has ever been found, Rev. Crum donates blood every so often and his red cells are kept frozen and in storage at the center should he need it.

No matter what your type is, patients need you in the summer months when donors could be a rarity.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

Taking a moment's respite from gardening a few days ago by stretching out on the ground under one of my chestnut trees, I observed an inchworm fly straddling a caterpillar, more than twice its size, making its way across fallen leaves and twigs.

This fly, which looks something like a dirt dauber, soon came to a small hole bored in the earth and with ease born of instinct and experience, upended the caterpillar and carried it underground. Emerging from the hole, the laboring insect gathered up bits of leaves and after tamping them into the top of the hole, made like a terrier digging for a rat and finished the job by filling the hole with dirt. Then it flew away.

The action of this fly brought to mind an old conservationist saying, "Take care in stepping on bugs. The life you save may help your own."

Gardeners who have fought injurious insects all spring may not be in any mood to heed this saying. It is the truth, however, that many insects are on man's side in the struggle for survival. Entomologists say that eight out of every 10 living creatures are insects and if more than a small fraction were pests, human tenure upon the earth would be precarious indeed.

Beneficial insects prey upon harmful ones. Likewise they serve as food for more desirable forms of wildlife. They produce silk, honey, wax, shellac and dye. They pollinate more than 50 valuable crop plants, act as scavengers, and improve the soil by aeration and fertilization.

Some of the insects that are of great economic value to the gardener include the tiny ladybug, the dragonfly, preying mantis, tumble bug, doodle bug, damsel fly and aphid lion. The tiny black and red spotted ladybug is especially valuable because it devours incredible quantities of aphids, scale insects and other garden plant feeding species.

With all the poisons available, it is still doubtful if cabbage and lettuce could be grown in Kentucky without the help of a little wasp imported long ago from England. Because it eats its way into the cabbage head, the cabbage caterpillar is difficult to reach and kill with poison. But not for the little imported wasp. It hunts down the caterpillars, lays its eggs on them and lets the young wasps do the rest.

The spider is not a very handsome thing to look at, but it is of great benefit to mankind. While making itself a nuisance by spinning dust-gathering cobwebs inside houses, it also gobbles up every fly, mosquito and moth that comes within reach. Garden spiders are also death on leaf-sucking aphids, weevils and cucumber beetles. Without insects to serve as pollen carriers, such things as apples, cherries, plums, onions, clover and alfalfa could not produce seed.

Notice of Intention To Mine

Girl 'Too Dumb To Learn' Now Recognized as Talented

Julie is no longer easily discouraged, but she still remembers the phrase used by those closest to her, "You are just too dumb—you'll never learn anything." Both attractive and talented, Julie only recently learned to tell time. With the help of a tutor, Julie is learning to read and write more proficiently. Although she did not graduate from high school, she has a number of skills, such as knitting, crocheting and flower arranging. She earns a living by working as a clerk in a fabric shop in Ashland.

Julie has a handicap—a learning disability. Randy is a 22-year-old high school graduate with two jobs, but his handicap is more noticeable than Julie's. He was born with cerebral palsy which affected the right side of his body. During the day, Randy works as a drill press operator, and spends his spare time doing bookkeeping for his father's firm in Lexington.

Both Julie and Randy are successful, despite their handicaps, because of a special program offered at the Eastern Kentucky Rehabilitation Center in Thelma, located a few miles from Paintsville.

"The center is only one of eight in the United States," according to Carroll Burchett, the center director. "The center provides medical treatment, physical and occupational therapy, recreation and adjustment services to the students as they learn one of 17 different vocational skills."

Each student who enrolls in the center's program is assigned a counselor. The counselors work with the students during their rehabilitation program to help them interpret test results, to determine what services are needed and how to make the wisest career choice.

"The center's program is not just designed to teach the students a job skill, but to help them learn to accept their disabilities," said Burchett. "They can learn to care for themselves and live independently."

The center offers adjustment services and special classes to teach students how to care for themselves. "These special classes teach social skills and basic things which we use everyday," said Julie. "Students learn how to select, organize, decorate and clean an apartment. They learn to prepare meals and how to care for their personal clothing."

"The most important thing a student learns at the center," said Randy, "is how to get along well with others."

Julie and Randy were two of about 30 graduates who returned to the center for an alumni luncheon on June 25. Since opening in 1973, the center has served approximately 1,400 persons and 290 have graduated. Why do some of the graduates return to the center? "We are still coping with acceptance problems," Julie answered. "The staff at the center care about the students and they teach us to care more about ourselves as people."

Randy returned to the center to talk with those graduates who have not found employment. "Many employers are skeptical about hiring a handicapped person, but there's always one who will take a chance," Randy said.

The center is coordinated by the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services, Kentucky Department of Education.

AUCTION

CHILDERS FARM DISPERSAL

JULY 16, 1977

Saturday, 1:30 p.m.

We will sell this beautiful farm located in Powell County, Kentucky, approx. 4 miles by road south of Clay City, Kentucky. This farm is highly improved and is one of the finest farms in Powell County for its size. Containing 100 acres more or less and fronting on Red River for over 1/2 mile. You will find some of the finest river bottom land to be put on the market in this area.

This farm is boundary line fenced and cross fenced. At the present there are approx. 25 acres in clover and the balance is in pasture. For several years Mr. Childers has bred and raised registered Angus cattle. There are feed lots which are fully equipped with feeders, troughs, etc. There is a good barn for which hay and feed can be fed straight to the troughs. There are pens and loading chutes adjacent to the barn. There are 5 ponds stocked with fish, and also running spring water. There is an equipment building with work benches, concrete floor and electric service. There is a corn crib and a tool house. There is a nice, comfortable, brick home having 3 bedrooms, electric baseboard heating system, drilled well with good water, and a cellar house with upstairs storage above it. The yard is well landscaped with a circular driveway.

The amenities of peace and quiet prevail on this farm, since there is no through traffic or any nearby traffic. The service road from the county road dead ends on this farm. This farm lies in the bend of Red River so it is bounded by 1 boundary fence from the northeast to the southwest and Red River on the other sides. The farm is above flood stage and does not overflow. During a high flood there is approx. 1 acre that the water will back up on. This is one of the most beautiful farms to be ever offered for sale at public auction in Powell County. This farm lies only 45 minutes from downtown Lexington, a 20-minute drive from Winchester or Mt. Sterling, and approx. 1 1/2 hours from Pikeville or Hazard, Kentucky, and is very easy to get to off the Mt. Parkway. This farm will be shown by appointment after June 30, 1977.

Also selling will be a herd of Angus cattle consisting of 8 cows, 6 calves, and one 3-year-old bull. The cows and the bull are registered. The calves could be registered. These cows will calve around Nov. 1, 1977. These are fine cattle and would make a good foundation herd.

Also selling will be farm equipment as follows: A Ford Diesel tractor; new mowing machine; hammer mill; drag harrows; set of cultivator plows; 1960 Chevrolet farm truck with 16-ft. dump bed; a Kemper silage chopper with 3 point hitch, like new; 1966 Chevrolet 1/2-ton pickup; 1 set of bog harrows and a 14-ft. John boat. Also a number of household items of furniture and appliances. Lots of tools, hand tools, barb wire and electric fence, and many other items too numerous to mention. This farm will be sold in the bulk including all livestock, farm equipment, tools and supplies, except for the pick-up truck, bog harrow, silage chopper and boat which is partnership-owned and will be sold separately, and the right will be reserved to sell the farm equipment and personal properties separately.

You as a prospective buyer will have the opportunity to buy this outstanding farm, intact and ready to move in to. For further information contact the selling agent, and for an appointment to inspect the property before auction time contact the selling agent. To get to this auction from the East, take the Mt. Some Anti-TB Medication Off Prescription Drug List

A dozen drug products including one brand of anti-tuberculin medication, isoniazid, have been removed from the list of prescription drugs available in Kentucky, as a result of action by the state Drug Formulary Council.

The council, attached to the Department for Human Resources (DHR), is a regulatory body which designates the prescription drugs and their equivalents which can be legally dispensed by pharmacists.

The 12 drugs, produced by Kasar of Niles, Ill., were ordered removed from the list after it was reported to the council that the manufacturer is under federal injunction and has failed to provide date requested by the council. The injunction prohibits Kasar from manufacturing any of its products.

Council consultant Dr. Fred Shainfield said the council "acted to protect citizens of the Commonwealth from ineffective or potentially harmful drugs."

Meeting last week, the council learned that at least one of the company's products was purchased by DHR which dispensed it to tuberculosis hospitals.

Dr. Shainfield said he is notifying federal Food and Drug Administration officials, tuberculosis hospitals in Kentucky and other appropriate agencies concerning the council's action.

"If and when this company can reassure the Formulary Council of the effectiveness and safety of their products, the council will reconsider the drugs on an individual basis," said Dr. Shainfield.

Richard Manuel, a purchasing agent for the state Department of Finance and Administration and a licensed pharmacist, said the last state contract with Kasar was April 9, 1976. Manuel noted that since DHR no longer operates tuberculosis hospitals, it no longer purchases drugs for them.

"Chances of any of Kasar's isoniazid being in the hospitals is remote," Manuel said. "By now it would be at least 14 months old and probably used or destroyed," he said.

Manuel said isoniazid has been purchased under three contracts since April, 1976, but from another manufacturer.

Dr. Shainfield noted that the federal injunction on Kasar's manufacturing does not necessarily mean the company's products on pharmacy shelves are defective. He said it is not yet known exactly why the injunction was imposed but "if the company's products were shown to be harmful, a seizure of the drugs from pharmacies would have been ordered," he said.

Auto Registration Regulation Adopted

Owners of new and used cars not previously registered in Kentucky will have to register their vehicles each year during the month of first registration starting in January, 1978, according to a Department of Transportation regulation filed today.

The Administrative Regulation Review Subcommittee voted to file the regulation after hearing opposition from the AAA Clubs of Kentucky and Assistant Attorney General Gerard Gerhard who said that registration should be based on the birth month of the owner. They said this system would result in more even distribution of the work load.

However, since law requires that a license plate stay on the vehicle, some subcommittee members thought that the transfer of cars between owners having different birth months would cause more confusion.

Legislation passed in the 1976 General Assembly called for the vehicle registration work load to be distributed as "uniformly as practicable". The subcommittee interpreted the phrase as giving the Department of Transportation latitude to administer the law.
