

Patsy Teenagers Have Their First Reunion

Pictured above are members of the Patsy Teenagers, at the time the well-known choral group was active during the 50's and 60's. They are, in front row, from left, Gwen Wells, Patsy Chapman, Toby Bussey, Clara Hager, Sue Thompson, Betty Honeycutt; second row, Johnny Everly, Viola Dawson, Janet Ward, Penny Castle, Shirlee Hager, Nancy Marshall; third row, Ballard Wright, Rex Music, Joe Marshall, Randall Wells, Roger Marshall, Bill Titlow, Gene Wright. Mrs. Kathryn S. Frazier is at the piano.

Former Patsy Teenagers gathered from several states for their first reunion Saturday night at May Lodge. Organized at David in 1948 by Mrs. Harry (Betty) Fiedler, who was also director, the group was widely acclaimed, performing on television and at functions in other states. When Mrs. Fiedler moved from David in 1952, Mrs. Kathryn S. Frazier became director of the group which gave its last concert in 1968.

Guests of honor at the reunion Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fiedler, who gave a dance program, and Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier. All the Teenagers were not there, but they sang the old songs and recalled many happy recollections.

A Patsy Teenager Association has been organized with Roger Marshall as president.

Attending the reunion were: Douglas and Helene Branham, of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Dana Stephens, of South Williamson; John and Joyce Everly, of Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Monte Moses, of New Lebanon, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Shag Branham, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ousley, all of Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Randall Wells, of Morehead; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ratliff, of Mousie; Vivian Young, of Winchester; Rex Music, of Van Lear; Elmer and Peggy Bussey Rhule, of Frenchburg; Sonny Carver, of Prestonsburg; Dexter Music, of Hager Hill; Carl D. # Deer Hunting Dates Set at Lex. Depot

Seven days have been scheduled for deer hunting at the Lexington-Blue Grass Army Depot this year. Bow-hunting will be on October 15-16 and 29-30. Gun-hunters will be in the field on December 3-4 and again on the 17th. Either buck or doe may be taken.

The number of hunters must be limited and will be selected by the lottery method. Persons under the age of 14 are not permitted to hunt and hunters between the ages of 14 and 16 must be accompanied by an adult who has been selected to hunt.

To be eligible for the annual event interested persons must send a post card to the depot with the following information: Name, address, phone number and method of hunting—bow or gun. Only one name on a card and one card for each applicant is acceptable and must be post marked no earlier than August 15 and no later than September 15. All cards must be addressed to: Chairman, Wildlife Management Subcommittee, Building S-14, Lexington-Blue Grass Army Depot, Lexington, Kentucky 40511.

All hunters, in addition to a valid, Kentucky hunting licenses and deer tag, are required to pay to the depot a ten dollar fee. These monies are used to improve the installation's wildlife habitat.

Hunting at the depot is a joint effort of the Army, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, US Department of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, and the Department of Interior.

Shooting of Miner in Pike May Be Grand Jury Topic

Evidence from the shooting of a United Mine Workers union member recently in eastern Pike county will be turned over to a grand jury for further action, a State Police official said last week.
Trooper Ron Dillon said conflicting statements and insufficient evidence for an arrest made a grand jury investigation necessary.
Woodrow Wagner, 22, of Phelps, was wounded by a shotgun blast early Sunday (Aug. 7) near a Canada Coal Co. tippel.
Wagner, who suffered multiple wounds from shotgun pellets, said he was shot by private guards as he rode his motorcycle past the tippel.
Six guards from Johnson Safety and Security Co., Inc. of Lexington, were on duty at the site, Dillon said, but they claimed Wagner fired at the tippel before he was shot.
Wagner said Thursday he was unarmed and had "no idea" why he was shot. "I don't even own a gun," he said.
A Johnson official said he had not received a report. But he added that he had faith in his employees, which included several former policemen.

It was the latest incident of sporadic violence in the Eastern Kentucky coal fields since roving bands of pickets began closing UMW mines in June.
Some 10,000 UMW members remained off the job last week in a dispute over cutbacks in health and retirement benefits, but union officials say most miners want to return to work.
Picketing spread to several independent mines, mostly in eastern Pike county, and operators reportedly began importing security guards, including many from Lexington.
A Pike county law enforcement official, who asked not to be identified, said the presence of guards probably "caused more trouble" than there would have been otherwise, though the work stoppage is an emotional issue.

Crippling Polio Fails To Deter Knott Woman as a Teacher

"If I hadn't learned to ride a horse, I might never have had an education," said Ursula Davidson, who has taught school in Eastern Kentucky for almost 30 years. "We didn't have good roads and I couldn't walk," Ursula recalled. "My father would help me mount the horse each morning and walk along beside me until we reached the highway. Then he would take the horse back home and meet me in the afternoon."

She continues to live in her childhood home at Carrie, about four miles from Hindman. The house is located about one and a quarter miles from Highway 80. A polio victim at age 2, Ursula sometimes uses a wheelchair, but generally walks with a brace and crutches.

Getting an education proved to be a challenge, but Ursula graduated from Morehead University with an A.B. degree in biology and English. She later attended the University of Kentucky and obtained a Master's in botany.

Ursula rode horseback again during the early years of her teaching career at Lower Mill Creek school in Knott county. In 1953 she got her first car, which was equipped with hand controls, and she has been driving since.

For the past 25 years, Ursula has taught biology and freshman English at M. C. Napier High School in Hazard. Winston Fields, the principal, was one of Ursula's students, some 15 years ago.

What are the difficulties of a high school teacher with a disability?

"I really haven't had many, but I recall being turned down and feeling frustrated," Miss Davidson said. "On one occasion, I was told I couldn't take a course in recreation which I needed to complete my teaching certificate."

She insisted and argued until the faculty agreed that she could take the course.

She was later turned down for a teaching position. "One superintendent told me that seniors in high school wouldn't want a handicapped teacher," Ursula said. "Another, who was less bold, wrote a nice letter explaining that my application had been denied because of my handicap."

How do students respond to a teacher with a handicap?

"The students have never displayed any feelings of resentment and I have never had any unusual discipline problems. The young people are a joy to work with and frequently ask me to speak to groups about living with a disability," she says.

Last October Ursula was selected as a delegate to represent Kentucky at the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals in Washington, D. C. Ursula attended the conference and is continuing to work with the 19-member steering committee appointed by Gov. Carroll to study the needs of Kentucky's handicapped individuals.

"The primary goal of the conference is a mass awareness program geared to teach people how they are more alike than different," explains Ursula. "The key to living with a handicap is to recognize your abilities, as well as your disabilities."

She emphasized that the media could help in the thrust for public awareness by depicting handicapped individuals in a more positive and realistic way. "The media should depict handicapped persons as 'normal' and include them in situation comedies as members of a family and on talk shows discussing topics other than their disability."

Ursula has always regarded her handicap as a "challenge" and believes that "any person, regardless of a handicap, can have what he or she wants by going after it and working for it."

TO PRESENT BIBLE MUSICAL

Former high school choral director and Kathryn Kuhlman Foundation choir director, V. Lee Harrity, says he wrote the Biblical musical, "I Am," with the dual purpose of glorifying God and preserving the memory of evangelist Kathryn Kuhlman. "I Am," an opera-cantata, will be presented in Cynthia, September 1, at 8 p.m. at the Harrison County High School auditorium. The Royal Way Choir and Orchestra, of Pittsburg, under the direction of V. Lee Harrity, will perform the sacred musical.

Johnson Enrollment Up by 500 Pupils

(From the Ashland Daily Independent)
Johnson County schools opened their doors Monday and were overwhelmed by the rush of new pupils.

Supt. Orville Hamilton said enrollment jumped from the 4,100 students of last year to 4,600 yesterday, a jump of 500 the system had not anticipated.

Johnson schools have been subject to continuing steady growth in enrollment since the beginning of the current coal boom in Eastern Kentucky. Hamilton said, however, he thought the economy had leveled off, and he expected an increase in the neighborhood of 100 to 200 pupils.

"We were surprised, and it has put us in a bind." He said the Johnson system is "bonded to the limit" as far as building new buildings, indicating there is no money to put up new schools or additions to house the growth.

Hamilton said his first move would be to tell the 50 Paintsville students who had enrolled at Central Elementary there would not be room for them. This would mean they would have to go to city schools.

Next, he said, youngsters from Lick Fork of Jennys Creek will be transferred from Central to Porter Elementary, where there is room for them, and teachers will be added at Porter.

Delafields Found at Jenny Wiley More Than Stage Romancing

BY KEITH SHANNON

When the curtain falls on this summer's final production at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre Sunday night (Aug. 21), some of the cast members will no doubt pack their bags and hurry off to what they probably consider more exciting, more glamorous jobs.

But for the husband and wife team of Dan and Tina Delafield, leaving the theatre will probably be a bit harder. The theatre at Jenny Wiley first brought them together three years ago. And Jenny Wiley is their first place of employment since their marriage in May.

For Dan, Jenny Wiley was a starting point in an acting career that almost didn't materialize. He came to the theatre four years ago at the insistence of some friends from Prestonsburg. He had no acting experience and was admittedly "scared to death" at the thought of being in front of an audience.

After his first year here, appearing in bit parts in "Fiddler on the Roof," "West Side Story" and "Funny Girl," he decided to make acting his career and was offered a role in the 1975 production of "Godspell" at Jenny Wiley.

To Tina (who uses her maiden name of Tina James onstage), Jenny Wiley was an escape from the hunger she had experienced when she was trying to land an acting job in New York City. She, too, came to do a role in the 1975 production of "Godspell."

Both say their first summer together at Jenny Wiley was a variation of the old formula of "love at first sight." They were interested in one another, but both were too busy to do anything about it.

The hectic rehearsal schedule of the theatre made dates between the two impossible. The only time they really had a chance to talk to each other was during the bus rides to and from the Pikeville College dormitories, where the company was being housed.

After that summer, Tina went on tour for five months with a show, and Dan landed a job waiting tables and doing bit parts at Diners' Playhouse in Lexington. When Tina returned to Diners' after the tour, she was thrilled to find Dan there.

"I guess that was the beginning," she said. "That first night, we talked for a long, long time, and then Danny left with a girl."

"I just went up to my bedroom and pouted."

Because both had been cast in the Jenny Wiley production of "Godspell," it was easy for them to land parts in a Diners' production of the show. That's when they began to get serious about each other.

After a separation (caused by each of them having separate jobs), the two made a vow never to work separately again. After returning here last summer for the Jenny Wiley productions of "1776," "South Pacific," "The Grass Harp" and "Showboat," they began a rather extensive tour of "Godspell," the show that had brought them together initially.

Then followed roles opposite each other in "Hair," "Bus Stop," "Catch Me If You Can" and "Butterflies Are Free." Their return to Prestonsburg and Jenny Wiley this summer is especially sentimental for the couple because they are again playing roles in "Godspell."

They are also playing roles in "Oliver!" and "Camelot."

Being a husband-and-wife team in the acting profession has its hazards, according to Dan. One of those hazards is the possibility of the couple having a marital "spat" just before going onstage to do romantic roles opposite one another. Although it doesn't happen a great deal between the Delafields, they have had their fill of such experiences.

The hard feelings rarely last a long time, though. "By the time we've been onstage for a while, things are pretty much forgotten," Dan said. "We pretty much try to keep the upsets to a minimum."

Another drawback of the marriage-theatre combination is the prospect of having to sit in an audience and watch your mate being romanced onstage by someone else. Both say that, try as they may, they are never comfortable in such situations. But it is just "an occupational hazard," according to Tina.

This Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights the theatre will offer its final performances of "Camelot." "Godspell" will close Friday. (Curtain for all performances is 8:30 nightly.)

After they leave Jenny Wiley, the Delafields plan to travel to Pennsylvania to star again in a production of "Butterflies Are Free." Beyond that, their plans are somewhat nebulous. Because the plans for the 1978 season at Jenny Wiley are not complete, they can't say if they will be making a return trip to the theatre here.

Whether or not they return, both say Jenny Wiley will always be a "special place" for them. It brought them together and helped keep them together until they could be married in May.

And working together for the couple, according to Dan, "is the only way."

PCC Receives 4th Real Estate Grant

Robert R. Allen, assistant director of Prestonsburg Community College, announced this week that the college has received a $1,200 grant from the Kentucky Real Estate Commission. This is the fourth consecutive year that the college has received a grant from the commission.

Blackcats To Face Johns Creek In Season Opener Here, Aug. 26

Members of the Prestonsburg High School Blackcats football team returned here last Friday from a week of football camp in Tennessee with their sense of humor intact and looking forward to a new season. One player said, "They sure thought we were strange down there," and another commented, "Very mysterious. Maybe we'll be a mystery team this year."

Whether the strangeness and mystery were the result of the brand of football the boys play, or just a regional difference was not made clear, but any mystery will be dispelled when the Cats meet Johns Creek in their first game to be played here Friday, August 26.

Head football coach Phillip Haywood said he felt the camp was very beneficial to the young Blackcat squad, adding, "We accomplished two or three times as much as we could possibly have in the same amount of time here." Haywood said he was particularly pleased with the attitude of his team, "We really got after it down there. It didn't matter how tired they were, our players always seemed to have a little bit extra left. They laughed, whooped, hollered, and overall just had a big time. And that's the way this game is supposed to be played."

Although Prestonsburg's squad lost 16 to 22 starting positions on offense and defense through graduation of players last year, Haywood says he has about 30 young men who really want to play football, and "I have no idea what kind of season we will have, but whatever it is, I believe we'll have some fun."

The Blackcats football schedule follows:

Aug. 26, Johns Creek, home; Sept. 2, Pikeville, away; Sept. 9, Johnson Central, away; Sept. 16, Caywood, away; Sept. 23, Breathitt Co., home; Sept. 30, Belfry, home; Oct. 7, Louisa, away; Oct. 14, Maysville, home; Oct. 21, Morgan Co., away; Oct. 28, Somerset, home; Nov. 4, Paintsville, away.

September 2, October 7, and Oct. 21 are district games.

C.&O. Approves Johns Cr. Work

The Kentucky Coal Company announced this week that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company has approved Kentucky Coal's application to construct sidetracks and coal loading facilities on John's Creek, near Adkins, Pike county.

The plan approved by the railroad calls for the construction of a single sidetrack of sufficient initial size to hold 30 loaded and 30 empty hopper cars.

Stephen C. Rapchak, president of Kentucky Coal Co., said that the 200-acre site, owned by the N. B. and Susan Williamson Land Co. is ideally suited to future expansion of both the side-tracks and coal loading facilities. Mr. Rapchak said his company plans to initiate construction on the premises within a month.

Rains Lower Lake Temperatures

Frankfort, Ky., August 15—Recent rains around Kentucky have lowered surface water temperatures on most of the state's major lakes, in some cases into the 70's for the first time this summer. The lake-by-lake rundown, as compiled by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources:

CUMBERLAND: Black bass good on the lower lake on spinners and crawfish in run ins and off rocky points and slow on the upper lake on surface lures and spinners in run ins and on artificial nightcrawlers off deep banks and points; catfish good still fishing nightcrawlers and cut bait in heads of tributaries; in tailwaters, trout fair; clear to murky to muddy, rising slowly, 35 feet below the timberline and 82 degrees.

Wins Award

Belinda Hayes, of the seventh grade, has won the scholastic achievement award for the girls in the 1976-'77 class. She is the daughter of James and Viola Hayes, of Langley.

rocky points and drop-offs; bluegill slow still and drift fishing worms and crickets off deep banks; clear to murky to muddy, rising slowly at pool and 78 degrees. CAVE RUN: Musky slow to fair casting and trolling deep runners over main channel and drop-offs; black bass slow to fair early and late on surface lures off rocky points and over submerged cover off deep banks; clear, stable, six inches below pool and 82 degrees.

Eight Arrested In Seven Raids

Eight persons were arrested on charges of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages in seven raids carried out in various sections of the county since last Tuesday by county and state officers.

A raid on a trailer and mine area on Toler Creek last Tuesday by Sheriff Joe W. Lewis and Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis and Ollie Leslie resulted in the arrest of James "Brud" McKinney and Theodore Parker. The officers confiscated 157 cans of beer.

The same day, the officers arrested Denzil Martin after a search of weeds along the roadside on Stumbo Hollow. Six half-pints of whiskey and 144 cans of beer were seized, and Martin was fined $39 after pleading guilty in Magistrate Dewey Roberts' court.

Another raid that day by the three officers netted 280 cans of beer and 22 half-pints of whiskey and resulted in the arrest of Ronald Gayheart in the Royal Hollow vicinity at East McDowell. Gayheart pleaded guilty in Magistrate Roberts' court and paid a fine of $39.

Sheriff Lewis, Deputy Sheriff Doug Lewis and State Trooper Stephens arrested Pauline Barnett Thursday at the head of Buck's Branch, near Martin, and confiscated 96 cans of beer and three "fifths" of whiskey from a car and dwelling.

The following day Sheriff Lewis, Deputy Doug Lewis and State Troopers Stephens and Shelton confiscated 52 cans of beer from a trailer and car in the Cow Creek section and arrested Charles E. (Carl) Bentley.

The same day, Chester (T. Y.) Jarrell was arrested after Sheriff Lewis and Deputy Sheriffs Doug Lewis, Ollie Leslie and Carl Jarrell found 18 half-pints of whiskey and 96 cans of beer in a nearby dwelling. Jarrell was fined $72 in Magistrate Bill Wells' court after entering a plea of guilty.

A Saturday raid on Sugar Loaf by the same officers netted 60 cans of beer which were seized from a car. Arrested was Clyde Ronnie Jarrell who pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $45 in Magistrate Bill Wells' court.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

Brook, theft by deception, by State Trooper Shelton; Randall McKinney, wanton endangerment in second degree, by State Troopers Stephens and Shelton; Leo W. JAPAN REDUCES TRAFFIC DEATHS TOKYO—For the first time in 18 years, traffic deaths in Japan last year dipped below the 10,000 mark. The National Police Agency reports that 9,734 people died, down 1,058, or 9.8 per cent, from the 1975 toll.

PERMAFROST UNDER MUCH OF WORLD Permafrost, or permanently frozen ground, underlies about 20 per cent of the world's land surface, a calculation based on estimates by engineering geologists, U.S. Geological Survey says.

LOS ANGELES BEACHES The city of Los Angeles is reported to have 36 miles of ocean beaches.

Task Force Recommends Legislation

The Energy Task Force of the Governor's 1,000-member Economic Development Commission met at Frankfort last week to make recommendations for 1978 legislative action, according to Development Secretary William L. Short who is vice-chairman of the commission.

The recommendations completed by the Energy Task Force Aug. 11 will be presented to Gov. Carroll at the third annual Conference on the Economy in October.

Carroll will use those recommendations in preparation of his economic legislation package for the 1978 General Assembly, according to Short.

Recommendations and suggestions offered by the Energy Task Force included the following:

- Development of a comprehensive program for training in the energy disciplines;
-Development of workshops to allow inter-relations and contacts with industry;
-Making available more money to Natural Resources for the development of more technical expertise;
-Movement by the state to get technical assistance to meet requirements;
-Endorsement of Gov. Carroll's efforts for coal haul roads;
-Comparative study between states on standards and development of know-how to make value judgment of causes and effects;
-Making monies available to build roads;
-Making available more research and development monies for desulphurization;
-Mapping out a program on direct use of coal and low-BTU gasification;
-Study by the state on the possibility of a "site bank" program.

CITY USING HAWKS TO GET RID OF RATS SATELLITE BEACH, Fla.—Taking a cue from nature, city officials plan to use birds of prey to attack a growing rat population.

Two red-tailed hawks were to be released today in front of City Hall. A day later, more hawks and maybe barn owls may be released, said City Manager Richard Shinn.

"From what I've read they should be very effective," said Shinn. "Rats and mice are their favorite dishes."

Shinn has been searching for ways to get rid of the rats, estimated at hundreds in this city of 8,000. The problems was brought home to him last month when his cat showed up lugging a six-inch rat.

The hawks are being supplied by Carlton Teate, director of the Florida Wildlife Sanctuary in Melbourne, who nursed the injured hawks back to health. The sanctuary routinely takes in injured animals.

STATEMENTS OF MISS PRATER, MOTHER ON WRECK, ARREST

I, Carolyn Sue Prater, better known as "Susie", was a passenger in the automobile driven by Morgan Joseph July 2, 1977. Approximately 4:15 p.m. the automobile was involved in an accident in Magoffin county.

I, Clara Prater, mother of Carolyn Sue Prater, would like for a few facts to be published. I feel that it's necessary for me to write this after Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis requested a few of his statements to be published in the Salyersville Independent.

Kentucky Economic Report Indicates '77 Excellent Year

The year of 1977 is shaping up as one of the best years ever for Kentucky's economy, according to a Commerce Department study prepared for Commerce Commissioner W. Terry McBrayer.

The study, which covers the first half of 1977, shows a substantial increase in Kentucky's economic growth over the comparable period last year.

"This is great news for Kentucky," McBrayer said of the findings. "Our economy is growing much faster than last year and faster than the nation in general. I'm extremely pleased. Our hard work is paying off," McBrayer added.

The Commerce Department analysis is based on a variety of leading economic indicators, and enables department officials to determine future economic trends in Kentucky.

Included in the findings: -New investment by Kentucky business and industry in 1977 has nearly doubled the 1976 amount. From January through June, 1977, investment in new and expanded manufacturing plants totaled over $178 million.

-1977 nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Kentucky stands more than 30,000 higher than 1976. Job increases were recorded in all major employment sectors, wholesale and retail trade leading with over 9,000 new jobs.

-1977 unemployment rates have reached their lowest levels in over two years. Statewide unemployment stands at 5.3 per cent, a one per cent drop from the same period last year.

-Personal income received by Kentuckians is expected to reach $20 billion in 1977, an increase of about nine per cent over 1976.

-Kentucky coal production during the first six months of 1977 is estimated to be one million tons above 1976 production levels. And, this year's production has been limited by the winter freeze, spring floods and transportation problems.

-Recent growth in the state's economy has generated additional revenues for state and local governments. State tax collections are up about 12 per cent over last year's figures.

"These facts make us very optimistic," McBrayer said. "Nothing is holding us back from achieving a sound economy for Kentucky. Not even the cold winter of 1977 could stop us," said McBrayer.

In any category, construction, manufacturing, agriculture or energy, we're growing. It's growth we can be proud of, but growth we must maintain and build upon in the future," McBrayer concluded.

Gov. Carroll Stresses State Government Can't Do Everything

Gov. Julian Carroll said last Wednesday that after 18 years of public service, he continues to be amazed at the workings of Kentucky's biggest business—state government.

The occasion was "State Government Day," with activities centered around a multimedia presentation on operations of the various departments and agencies in state government.

However, in his remarks, Gov. Carroll stressed that state government must accept a "responsibility to the people of Kentucky... that we cannot do everything for them."

"One of our major problems is the fact that we've told them (the citizens and taxpayers) for years—for decades—that we can do everything for them," Gov. Carroll said.

The governor addressed some criticism of state personnel, saying, "Sometimes I fear we forget our real purpose... and that is to serve the people."

Carroll said the "State Government Day" multi-media presentation will be made available to groups around the state who request it.

He said that while the presentation cannot hope to explain fully the complexities of state government, it may help improve the public's perception and understanding of its services and concerns.

Three Kentuckians Join Alcor Board

John M. Rosenberg, chairman of ALCOR, Inc. (Appalachian Leadership and Community Outreach), announced this week the recent election of three new directors to the board of the six-college ALCOR Program in Southeastern Kentucky.

Joining the present 15-member board will be Thomas M. Ward, executive director of the Governor's Task Force on Welfare, Frankfort; Treva Louise Howell, a graduate student at the University of Louisville's Kent School of Social Work and a native of Breathitt county; and Jerry C. Davis, president of Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes.

In announcing the elections, Rosenberg expressed ALCOR's satisfaction in expanding its board to include additional persons whose backgrounds and experience will significantly strengthen the program's leadership in terms of the region ALCOR serves and its activities.

ALCOR, Inc. is a non-profit corporation established in 1970 to provide human and community service programs in 20 Southeastern Kentucky counties. Employing over 300 local college students each year, it is operated in association with Alice Lloyd College, Cumberland College, Hazard Community College, Lees Junior College, Southeast Community College, and Union College.

It is supported by contributions and grants from foundations, businesses and individuals, and is presently seeking funding to permit the program's continuation after the end of this year.

ALCOR's Central Office is located in Hazard, Kentucky. Christine Stumbo, of McDowell, is ALCOR program director.

Carroll Names Chandler To UK Trustees Board

Frankfort, Ky.—Governor Julian Carroll has named former Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler to a four-year term as a member of the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees.

"It is a pleasure to be able to appoint to the board a man who has worked so hard over so many years for the benefit of the University of Kentucky," Governor Carroll said.

Chandler replaces John R. Crockett, Louisville, whose term has expired. Chandler's term will expire June 30, 1981.

Floods Indicate Need for Disaster Preparedness

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky Senator Walter D. Huddleston last week told State Disaster Preparedness Officials that he intends to continue to press for a new comprehensive disaster law. Four members of the State Division of Disaster and Emergency Services, headed by Executive Director Wilbur R. Buntin, Jr., were in Washington to meet with the Senator and to discuss a bill that he has submitted with members of the Senate Armed Services, Public Works, and Governmental Affairs committees. Huddleston said that the recent floods in eastern Kentucky, coupled with the problems in the nuclear preparedness program have convinced him that there is a serious need for new legislation. He noted that the basic legislation now governing civil preparedness programs was enacted in 1950. Buntin said that he was pleased with the reaction of the committee staffs, noting that they generally agreed that there is need for extensive reform. The Huddleston bill would redefine the roles of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA) and the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency (DCPA). The Kentucky delegation also met with a representative of Wisconsin Senator William Proxmire, who has introduced another reform bill into the Senate. The staffs discussed possible ways to merge the two proposals. Huddleston told the state officials that the legislative process would be long, since at least three committees have jurisdiction in this area. He said, however, that the results should be worth the effort. "In Kentucky, we've seen the problems that exist in the current system, and I'm convinced that we need to revise our programs, so that we can get better assistance for planning and recovery to the county level," Huddleston said.

Scouts End Season With Swim Party; Registration Sept. 1

Troops that were represented were Goble Roberts Addition Jr. troop 991 and Brownie troop 19; Prestonsburg troops, Brownies 996 and 742, Jr. troops 686 and 665, Cadet troop 125; Auxier Jr. troop 65; Allen troops, Jr. 227, Brownie 894, Cadet 228, Senior 532; Martin Jr. Troop 676. Girl scout leaders will hold a service unit meeting Thurs. Sept. 1, at 9:00 a.m. at the Methodist church in Allen.

IN APPRECIATION We, the family of Dr. J. H. Allen, would like to express our appreciation for each one who has shown sympathy and kindness upon the passing of our father and grandfather. We thank the James W. Alley Masonic Lodge and Merion Funeral Home for their kind service.

Surface Mines Pay Fines

A total of $53,800 was paid in fines to the state Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection last month by 10 coal companies and one quarry operation that either violated state surface mining regulations or water quality statutes.

The companies fined for strip mining violations were:

—S & O Coal Co., paid $2,000 and agreed to reclaim land at Risner in Floyd County not included in the strip mine permit granted the company.

—Marty Corp. paid $2,000 and agreed to remove material that slid from their surface mining operation near Wilstacy in Breathitt County onto a public road and into a stream. The company also agreed to reclaim the disturbed area.

—Dave Cheek Coal Co. paid $2,000 and agreed to complete reclamation and to build a silt structure on their site near Adele in Morgan county. Division of Reclamation inspectors had cited the company for failing to backfill, grade, and seed the site and to construct a silt control structure.

—T & T Darby Coal Co. paid $5,000 and agreed to reduce the bench width, maintain adequate silt contro, cover auger holes and backfill and grade a strip mine site at Holmes Mill in Harlan County. The fine results from the company's failure to comply with an earlier agreed order with the department.

—Middle Fork Mining, paid $2,000 and agreed to reclaim an area not included in their mining permit near Walverine in Breathitt County. The company also agreed to apply for a permit for the disturbed area and to post bond to insure its reclamation.

—Brushy Mining Corp. paid $4,000 and agreed to divert water runoff from a slide area on their operation at Lower Brushy in Pike County, created by pushing materials over the outslope. The company also agreed to terrace dirt on the operations' bench rather than placing it on the outslopes.

—Flackey Construction Co. paid $1,000 and agreed to reclaim a strip mined area the company had mined for coal without a permit while performing road construction in Leslie County.

—Cleary Mining Co. paid $2,000 and agreed to complete reclamation on two different areas permitted for strip mining in the Johns Creek section of Pike County. Reclamation inspectors had cited the company for not seeding and mulching the areas.

—Harrison Gap Quarry paid $2,000 and agreed to reclaim an area that the company had surface mined for sand and gravel without a permit near Cumberland in Letcher County.

Companies paying penalties as a result of water quality violations were Sovereign Coal Corp., which paid $8,000 for discharges of black water from its coal preparation plant at Phelps in Pike county, and Newera Resources, Inc., which paid $23,800 for 13 discharges of black water into Little Robinson Creek, also in Pike county.

WANT ADS REALLY GET RESULTS!

by Nevyle Shackelford

Since most country people no longer depend upon open wells for a home water supply, one doesn't hear too much any more about the "water witch."

Time was, however, when the services of this individual were in frequent demand and few there were who would have thought of digging for water without first calling him in to locate an underground stream.

Once upon the scene and after selecting the proper forked twig—usually cut from a peach, hickory, or dogwood, the water witch would grasp one fork of the twig in each hand with his fingers turned upward so that the free end of the branch would be higher than the level of his hands. Then he would wander slowly over the premises until the twig suddenly began to twist downward. When it pointed directly at the ground, there the well was dug and water found.

Witching, dowsing, or divining for water is a very ancient practice and its origins supposedly stem from the Scriptures. In Numbers (XX) it is written that "there was no water for the congregation" until Moses "lifted his hand, and with his rod he smote the rock twice; and the water came out abundantly." Whatever the origin, this ability to find water with a forked twig is supposed to be hereditary in families, passing down from generation to generation.

The mysterious power of the water witch to locate underground water sources is as unexplainable as the homing instinct in birds and animals. As a result many persons scoff at the idea as just another superstition. Even Old Cicero, the noted soothsayer, sarcastically remarked he couldn't see how two water witches meeting on the street could look each other in the face without laughing.

But despite the skepticism (and ridicule) that has long haunted water witches, they have more often found water than not—and in the most unlikely places. The ones we have known were men of unquestionable character and used their "gift," always without charge, solely for the benefit of their fellow men. To charge a fee for such an accommodation, they believed, would be to lose their gift forever.

Scientific investigators delving the mysteries of water witching have concluded that the twisting of a forked twig in the hands of a conscientious practitioner is purely physics—a result of a "reflex action stimulated by impressions subconsciously received."

But to its proponents, the efficacy of water witching is not a matter of speculation or conjecture, but an ascertained fact. They believe, like Shakespeare, that there are things in heaven and earth not hitherto dreamed of in our scientific philosophy.

May Lodge Slates Two Entertainment Features, Workshop

Jenny Wiley State Park has announced two entertainment features for Thursday and Friday this week, and both are offered without admission charge.

The last regularly scheduled performance at the park this season of the Dick and Anne Albin Folk Music Concert will be given at May Lodge at 8 p.m. Thursday. Much of the Albins' music, which is based on mountain folklore and tradition, is played on instruments which they themselves have made.

The Master Puppets, a group of Ashland church youths supervised by the Rev. Gary Southard, will present an 8 p.m. performance Friday at the lodge. Dick and Anne Albin will also be at the lodge at 10:30 a.m. Friday for a workshop on the making of mountain musical instruments. As in the case of the performances, there will be no charge for the workshop.

By WILMAY

If the Hall of Fame were continuing, we would nominate Anna Crum, of Allen, whose loyal devotion to her invalid husband, Raymond, deserves plaudits galore. Never complaining, always smiling, she thinks only of his welfare. With Dewey and Della Hicks, her parents, and Toby, her brother, one would expect no less, for all are truly fine people.

Maytown salutes Roy May, who is retiring after many years as Scoutmaster of the local troop. Roy and a number of his boys returned recently from a trip to Western Kentucky, where they spent two weeks on the lakes, sailboating, etc. Not many men would devote their entire vacation to others. It will not be easy to replace him.

Patrons of Allen Central are happy that J. O. Dingus is back as principal. Spring-time rumors were to the effect that he was returning to Martin. J. O. is one principal never found idle on the job. He is here, there, everywhere, keeping close tab on all phases of the work. Those of us who have had the privilege of working with him recently or in days long past know how easy he is to get along with, despite holding strict standards—a rare combination.

With school opening Monday, many mothers whose youngsters are leaving home for the first time experience heartache and concern. Mother can do much to prepare the little ones for their first days in school. And she of all people can do most to determine the child's academic progress. We hope by now that children everywhere are permitted to take their books home. If allowed to do so the first year, the majority form good study habits. Parents see whether or not the child is learning and can step in to assist if not. Two favorite poems come to mind each year when school starts. The first is for Moms and Dads: "I had a mother who read me things, That wholesome life to the boy heart brings, Stories that stir with an upward touch, Oh that each mother of boys were such. You may have tangible wealth untold—Caskets of jewels and coffers of gold—Richer than I you can never be, I had a mother who read to me." By Strickland Gillilan. One hour of daily reading to all little folks will pay rich rewards.

The second poem applies more to teachers. Its author is unknown. "I took a piece of plastic clay, And idly fashioned it one day, And as my fingers pressed it still, It bent and yielded to my will. I came again when days were past; The bit of clay was hard at last. The shape I gave it still it bore, But I could change it then no more. I took a piece of living clay, And gently formed it day by day. Molded it with power and art, A young child's soft and loving heart, I came again when years were gone, He was a man I looked upon; The early imprint I gave him, still he bore, But I could change him then no more."

If all teachers kept the meaning of the last beautiful poem in mind, there would be fewer dropouts, less misbehavior in the classroom. If parents, particularly mothers, devoted more time to cultivating the minds of their preschoolers more "A" students would be the result. Many Floyd countians years ago in the First Methodist Church of Prestonsburg one evening heard the late Bishop Darlington address a crowd under auspices of the Floyd County Club. Some remember his saying that if you start in time you can teach a child to love a snake and hate a bird. How true! (These poems are paragraphed like prose here, for the convenience of the printer.)

One of the surest ways to improve a child's standing in school is to give him a few chores at home. Idleness has been called the devil's workshop. Too many youngsters—even good ones from the best of families—have almost nothing to do at home. All many know is TV, play, sports, good times, staying on the go. Some go all summer without reading a good book. There are numerous exceptions, and countless youths today excel on any test, character included. But look at the average, and more especially at the high percentage which falls beneath same. Their potential should be tapped. Multiple diamonds are in the rough, waiting until some teacher or Christian leader discovers and develops, inspires, and challenges them, particularly the ones whose parents cannot or do not.

A "death pill" is just out abroad, so folks can end their misery and lives easily, anytime they wish! Some will favor its wide usage in time. Others will oppose it vigorously, for only God should take lives, except in war and when capital punishment is necessary, both biblical. It is hoped the doctors who believe in this new pill will experiment on themselves. So far it has not reached the U.S. but it will and thousands will promote it, as many did wholesale abortions; moreover, its use can be abused by the small percentage of unscrupulous men in the medical profession. As the horrendous days of the closing of this age and gospel dispensation draw closer chances are that eventually some nations and perhaps states here as well, may decide to dispose of the elderly, retarded, and handicapped persons this way, by law. Too terrible to contemplate, but scripture makes clear that the tribulation will be such as was not since the beginning of the world. (Mt. 24:21-22.)
