Wreck Claims Paintsville Man

A Paintsville man was killed and his sister critically injured in the collision, Tuesday morning, of two cars and a gasoline tanker in front of the Plantation Motel, on U.S. 23 about three miles north of here.

Ray Jones, 69, was pronounced dead at the scene after the car he was driving collided with an auto driven by Barbara H. Hamilton, 35, of Wittensville, wife of Frank Hamilton, assistant superintendent of Johnson county schools.

According to State Police Trooper Terry Hall, the tragedy occurred when Mrs. Hamilton's auto, which had stopped in the southbound lane to turn into the motel entrance, was struck by a southbound tractor-trailer which apparently was unable to stop, and was knocked into the path of an oncoming northbound car driven by Jones. Driver of the Beattyville Transport truck, Curtis Armstrong, of Columbus, O., escaped serious injury, as did Mrs. Hamilton. The victim's sister, Marie Wheeler, 54, of Paintsville, suffered multiple injuries and was hospitalized at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

No charges had been made in connection with the tragedy Tuesday afternoon.

Mother-in-Law Held in Death Of Melvin Man

A family quarrel culminated early Sunday night in the fatal shooting of Roger Dale Little, 26-year-old Melvin miner, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Hall, 55, was held in jail here Monday as his slayer.

A bullet from a .28-calibre revolver, one of two shots fired, entered Little's forehead and emerged at the top of his head. He was dead on arrival at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

The shooting took place about 8:30 p.m., outside Mrs. Hall's home at Melvin. Her son-in-law and daughter lived in a mobile home nearby. State Police Detective Fred Bailey said Little had a butcher knife in his possession. The shot apparently was fired from Mrs. Hall's yard while Little stood on a nearby elevation.

State Senator Indicted After Parkway Crash

Five murder bills and a reckless homicide charge against a state senator featured the list of 60 indictments filed Monday afternoon by the grand jury at its adjournment.

The grand jury session, which was interrupted early in the term because of lack of air-conditioning in the courthouse, was one of the most productive in recent years.

Named on murder counts were: —Don Stephen Gearheart, charged with the July 21 slaying at Eastern of Brian Conley.

—Ernie Lee Cole, slaying of his brother, Charles Cole, at Melvin.

—Edward Roy Jones, slaying of James Clayton Conley, near Wayland. (Jones, who has during long court hearings been listed as Eddie Jones, was acquitted in a trial at Pikeville, a few months ago, of a charge of murder in the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley at Garrett.)

—Edd Hall, Jr., April 30 slaying on Little Paint Creek of Larry Spencer.

—Pearl Miller, slaying of her husband, Richard Miller, on Middle Creek.

The jury also voted a reckless homicide indictment against State Senator Jim Hammond. The charge grew out of the wreck of motor vehicles on the Mountain Parkway, near here recently, in which Bill DeRossett was killed, his wife seriously injured and Hammond himself less seriously hurt.

An early report of the tragedy said Senator Hammond attempted to pass another vehicle and was meeting an oncoming truck but returned to his lane

Two Contracts On KY 80 Seen, One in Knott Co.

Two construction contracts for the new KY 80 (the Hazard-Water Gap road) will be among the state Transportation Department's list of projects going up for bids during the October 20 bid letting at Frankfort.

According to State Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson, one of the contracts involves grade and drainage construction in Knott county beginning a quarter mile east of the Perry county line and extending 2.1 miles to one mile west of Bearville.

The second KY 80 contract, also for grade and drainage work, calls for 1.8 miles of construction in Perry county beginning at the KY 15-Daniel Boone Parkway interchange and stretching easterly to Homing Mill Branch.

Another project up for bids is for surfacing more than nine miles of Pike county roads, the work to be financed by Energy Road Fund monies.

Bell Denies Hamilton Permit To Strip Mine

Sterling Hamilton, Mud Creek coal operator, may be out of business as a strip-miner as the result of precedent-setting action taken last week by Robert Bell, secretary of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Bell refused Hamilton's two applications for permit to strip-mine 66 acres on Mud Creek on the ground that Hamilton has a long record of reclamation violations.

Perry White, general counsel for the department, said it apparently was the first time the department has refused a permit exclusively for this reason.

Bell said that his decision to refuse the permits means that in the future more attention is going to be paid to a mine operator's record of performance.

Hamilton has been in trouble before with the department, and last year paid a fine of $20,000.

John Rosenberg, director of the Prestonsburg-based Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, who led the fight for Willard Johnson and Edgar Howell, members of two Mud Creek families which have been opposing Hamilton, said of the Bell decision: "I'm delighted. We have said all along that when an operator applies for a permit, the department ought to pull out his record and review it, and they can schedule a hearing to determine whether or not the permit should be issued on that basis."

"It's the thing we've been screaming about for years and years," Rosenberg added.

Clifford B. Latta, Prestonsburg, attorney for Hamilton, said Monday that "at this point we're considering an appeal to the Franklin circuit court."

"The thing about this that concerns me," Latta said, "is this: We had two days of hearings on the permit application. The hearing officer took two to three months and recommended the permit. Then the secretary overturned that recommendation. He could have accepted the hearing officer's recommendation because he (the hearing officer) had heard the testimony, studied it and accepted it. Instead, the secretary overruled this recommendation without reviewing the testimony."

The attorney said he knew Bell did not review the testimony heard at the hearing—"because, when I called for a copy of the transcript the hearing reporter told me she had not typed it yet, and that was after Mr. Bell had made his decision."

Mr. Rosenberg said, however, that Bell did not act until after he had filed a brief citing the facts in the case and asking that the secretary overrule the hearing officer.

State law empowers Bell to approve or reject permits. The law also requires the Natural Resources department to consider the performance record of a strip-mine operator in deciding on new permits, but the department has never obeyed a 1974 legal mandate to write regulations covering cases of repeated non-compliance.

In the Sterling Hamilton case, Bell said he is particularly concerned about a "massive" hollow-fill site where the company intended to place some 75,000 cubic yards of soil and rock taken from the actual mining site. "I believe below the fill there was going to be a series of silt structures and below the silt structures a couple of homes."

Bell was reluctant to allow mining activity there because, as he said in his legal findings in the case, "The evidence shows that the (Sterling Hamilton) Company, since November, 1972, and up to the week before the hearing in this proceeding, has committed continuous violations . . . and has failed to alter the pattern of conduct that precipitated the violations in question."

During that time, Bell said, the company was cited for more than 100 violations including strip mining without a permit, the placing of silt off the permitted areas, improper construction and maintenance of access roads and silt structures, excessive spoil over the outslope, and improper bench construction, grading and seeding.

NO EDITORIAL NEEDED

Somebody wanted to know why we hadn't followed up with another editorial on the Garfield Place situation. The answer is: Readers have been doing the editorializing for us and doing the job as well as we could. Letters from Florida, Virginia, Ohio, Floyd county—all over. A lot of people are going to be disappointed if we sit around and let that grand, old link with the past be lost.

IN DEFENSE OF THE GAIT

It has been brought to my attention more than once that my pace afoot is so slow that if I had got into that fabled hare-and-tortoise marathon both of them would have run me down.

It is on such occasions that I give with my best forbearing smile and quote that ancient proverb which runs to this effect: "Walk slowly. All you can ever come to is yourself."

I might, also, while I'm about it, remind those who are not admirers of my get-up-and-go, or lack thereof, that it's the natural thing to do, to walk slowly.

Grand Jurors Point to Need Of More Police in County

The final report of the grand jury to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley this week was brief, but it endorsed the report filed by the April grand jury and commented that the problems then mentioned are still in existence.

The report, signed by Gerald DeRossett, foreman, recommended that more police protection be provided for the entire county, with emphasis on the Right Beaver Creek area. It also asked that no juror be excused from service for any reason other than sickness.

The April grand jury report, which the new report indicated it would incorporate as current, asked that the fiscal court explore the possibility of moving the county jail from the third story of the courthouse and the building of a new jail. It also pointed to plumbing and other defects in the courthouse and asked that a qualified maintenance man be employed.

The April report also expressed the opinion that, since the fiscal court members' salaries were being increased, they should give fulltime service. It was this report which called for the fiscal court to adopt an ordinance requiring coal trucks to be covered and asked representatives to the General Assembly to push legislation prohibiting the use of plastic, throwaway bottles.

The report asked that in the event the fiscal court did not carry out the grand jury's recommendations, its members be asked to appear before the September grand jury.

This week's grand jury report noted that "the problems and recommendations stated therein are still in existence."

The trial of Cisco Neeley, charged with second degree manslaughter in the auto collision death of Mrs. Jackie Lynn Howard, was postponed when the Commonwealth learned that the Lexington doctor who attended Mrs. Howard at a hospital there was out of the country and that his testimony would not be available. Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said arrangements have been made to take the doctor's depositions Oct. 14, and that the case then will be set for trial.

Define Requirements Of Strip-Mine Act

The first of what is likely to be many speeches on the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977—the federal strip mine bill—was made in Louisville last Thursday by Robert D. Bell, secretary of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Bell spoke at the 34th annual convention of the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts. Bell pointed out that the group was the first statewide association to publicly endorse Kentucky's first "tough" strip mine legislation.

He outlined for the association the interim standards that will have to be met by new strip mine operations in the state, as early as February of next year and the standards that will be required of all strip mining operations under the bill's permanent program.

All strip mine operations granted permits after Feb. 3, 1978 must comply with the interim standards. According to Bell these operations must:

- Restore mined areas to an equal, or higher and better, premining land use.
- Return areas disturbed by mining to their approximate original contour.
- Segregate topsoil to provide a base for satisfactory revegetation.
- Minimize or prevent disturbances to underground or surface waters.
- Maintain coal waste piles in conformance with strict criteria to be established by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.
- Use explosives in a more restricted manner and according to detailed specifications regarding blasting.
- Revegetate all regarded areas to equal the natural vegetation of the area.
- Place no material over the outcrops of a strip mining operation on steep slopes (defined as over 20 degrees) and to return the site to its approximate original contour. Also there is to be no disturbance of land above the highwall of the operation.

By May 3, 1978, all existing operations will have to conform the remaining portions of their operations to the interim standards.

"These standards which are set forth in the Act of Congress and the regulations which will be issued pursuant thereto will demand a level of mining and reclamation that is not required within the several states at this time," Bell commented.

He indicated that during the interim program his department would be developing a state regulatory program to assume primacy, or primary responsibility for enforcement of the act. Such a plan must be submitted to the Department of the Interior by Feb. 3, 1979.

One key requirement for the state program is that a state law must be passed that is consistent with the federal bill. "It is absolutely imperative that the 1978 General Assembly pass the enabling legislation which will qualify our state program for primacy under the act," Bell said.

In addition to enforcement responsibility, an approved state regulatory program could mean approximately $20 million annually for the state from a national trust fund for reclamation of land strip mined prior to state or federal reclamation law.

Beginning Oct. 1, a new federal tax of 35 cents per ton on surface mined coal and 15 cents per ton on underground mined coal will be imposed to develop the fund. Fifty per cent of the funds collected in any state must be returned to that state. The $20 million figure was derived from 1976 production figures for Kentucky.

In explaining the new legislation, Bell also touched on a provision designed to protect prime farmland. This is the only element in the bill that became effective on the date of enactment, Aug. 3.

Under the provision a strip mine operator would have to follow certain practices to restore such lands within a reasonable period of time to equivalent or higher levels of yield than existed before mining. The U.S. and Kentucky soil conservation services have been working with the state and permit applicants to determine if prime farmland exists on a proposed mining site.

Louisa-Fort Gay Span Bids Seen For October 20

The Kentucky Department of Transportation will open bids Oct. 20 for construction of the Louisa-Fort Gay bridge, Governor Julian Carroll announced last week.

The new bridge will cross both forks of the Big Sandy, the Levisa and Tug forks, at the Kentucky-West Virginia state line. It will be located downstream from the existing structure.

The Louisa-Fort Gay bridge carries the traffic of KY 3 and of State Route 37 in West Virginia.

Like the one it replaces, the new bridge will include an intersection for KY 3 traffic from the Point section of Louisa.

According to Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson, projects of this kind frequently require eight years to be completed. With cooperation from all the agencies involved, the time required to open this bridge will be only half of that, approximately four years.

The governor said that much credit is due a special Task Force, including state, federal and local officials, which worked to cut through red tape and helped Transportation Department officials make prompt decisions since it was named to assist KYDOT in March, 1976.

An October letting has been the Task Force's objective during the 18 months it has served, Carroll said.

Included in the Task Force were representatives of the Louisa-Fort Gay Bridge action group, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the KYOVA Interstate Planning Commission, FIVCO Area Development District, the U.S. Coast Guard, the Norfolk and Western Railroad, the West Virginia Department of Highways and the Kentucky Department of Transportation. Chairman of the Task Force has been Charles G. Cook, director of KYDOT's bridge division.

Construction will be funded by the federal bridge replacement program and the two states. The federal share is 75 percent. The two states will divide the remaining 25 percent on the location of the state line. Kentucky's share is expected to be about four-fifths of the total state's share.

Perry Mine Fined $25,000, Heaviest Levied for Pollution

The heaviest civil penalty ever imposed on a single company for violations of Kentucky water pollution laws was paid recently as a result of legal action by the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Blue Diamond Coal Company of Leatherwood was assessed $25,000 for discharges of black water, coal solids and coal fines from its coal preparation plant on Clover Fork in Perry county.

Blue Diamond is the sixth company in recent months to sign settlement agreements with the department after being charged with violating state water pollution statutes. Almost $80,000 in civil penalties has been paid by the companies to the state.

In addition to the civil penalty, a water pollution abatement plan will have to be implemented by the company at their Leatherwood Mine which will cost Blue Diamond $2.4 million, according to company estimates.

"We feel like these settlements represent a major mobilization of our enforcement efforts in the area of water quality, particularly with coal preparation plants, in Eastern Kentucky," says Tom Glover, department attorney who has handled settlement negotiations with Blue Diamond and the other companies.

He added that action against the companies has been in response to citizen complaints and inspections by department personnel.

"One company will notice another discharging into streams and apparently getting away with it or a company will fail to maintain equipment that will prevent discharges, thinking that no action will be taken against them, and before long you have a rash of problems like we have had in the past few months," says Glover.

Water pollution problems from mining operations apparently aren't ending with Blue Diamond since the department is currently negotiating settlements with three other companies charged with violations, according to Glover.

"We do think we've made significant progress and hopefully the civil penalties will deter other companies from discharging into streams," says Glover, "but what we're really interested in, rather than the generation of revenue, is implementation of the abatement plans which virtually eliminates the possibility of further discharges."

Kentucky law calls for civil penalties of up to $5,000 for each violation of water pollution statutes and a $1,000 penalty for failing to report the discharges to the department's Division of Water Quality. Failure to implement the abatement plan would result in the revocation or suspension of the companies' water quality permit.

Interim Study Group Assail Some Nursing Home Conditions

The interim study committee on long-term care last week attacked conditions in nursing homes ranging from "indifferent and apathetic" personnel to dried urine on floors and "roaches climbing the walls."

The committee, part of the Interim Joint Committee on Health and Welfare, made more than 20 recommendations in a final report expected to range from 160 to 200 pages. The recommendations are based on visits by committee members during a year of study.

The final report includes a proposed "Comprehensive Patients' Rights Bill" for all residents of long term care nursing homes and a request that the Department for Human Resources study the feasibility of creating an "Office for Long Term Care."

Committee Chairman Rep. Gerta Bendt (D-Louisville) described her visits to nursing homes as "a cross-section of good, average and bad homes. But more were below average than above."

One chapter in the report dealing strictly with observations by the committee cited instances of neglect, inappropriate placement of patients, the lack of privacy for residents in nursing homes, and other deficiencies. Included were Rep. Bendt's observations of patients being over-medicated and poorly cared for.

Speaking of his tours of the homes, Rep. Sidney Adams (D-Littcarr) said, "I experienced things I never expected to see, as far as the human race goes. We certainly can't do too much to improve things."

One recommendation calls for a rating system for nursing homes to be set up by human resources. "Like restaurants, you shouldn't have to pay to be poisoned," Rep. Bendt said. "A rating system would recognize those nursing homes that are better than others."

The study group added that information should be available to families and residents of nursing homes and that ratings should be posted prominently.

The report further calls for a review by human resources of the guardianship officers employed by human resources to oversee the well-being of nursing home residents and patients in institutions. The committee said the four officers in the department "have an average case load of 700 patients each." And a study by the Legislative Research Commission "found that the guardianship officer at Eastern State Hospital had a caseload of 1,200."

In the report, human resources is asked to review legislation for statutory changes to clearly define the responsibilities of the guardianship officers.

One plan outlined in the report would create "residents' councils" which would establish lines of communication to nursing home directors and others who have direct influence on the lives of nursing home residents. Another recommendation calls for human resources audits of homes receiving medical assistance payments. Nursing homes received $52 million in 1976, the report notes.

The final document approved last week will be forwarded to the Joint Committee on Health and Welfare for approval. At least some of the recommendations are expected by committee members to result in legislation to be filed before the 1978 General Assembly.

Vietnam Vets Idle Rate High

U. S. Under Secretary of Labor Robert J. Brown recently called attention to what he and Kentucky Department for Human Resources officials consider to be a growing problem—unemployment among Vietnam veterans. "For five solid years both Vietnam and disabled veterans have had higher unemployment than their non-veteran counterparts," said Brown.

Robert Barnes, Kentucky's veteran's employment representative, said the situation in Kentucky is improving although Kentucky's disabled, minority and young veterans unemployment rate is more than double the total for the state.

During July the unemployment rate among the 20 to 34 year old veterans was 8.1 per cent as compared to 7.9 per cent for the nation.

This summer President Carter initiated the HIRE program (Help through Industrial Retraining and Employment) which contains incentives for the nation's largest employers to put the nation's veterans to work.

The goal of the program is for national placement of 100,000 Vietnam-era and disabled veterans in jobs. In his address to the nation's personnel directors Brown concluded by saying, "What in the world lets Americans forget Vietnam veterans? What allows this shameful deficit to continue?"

Barnes said while the situation in Kentucky is improving there is a continuing need for increased hiring of veterans to enable the state to erase the deficit in opportunities for their veterans.

FOUR-DAY WEEKS

About 750,000 fulltime workers were on four-day weeks in May 1976, the U.S. Department of Labor says.

Big Sandy ADD Shares $120,000 ARC Grant

Gov. Julian M. Carroll has announced that a $120,000 Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) grant has been awarded to Kentucky for initiation of areawide Action Programs in the Big Sandy, Buffalo Trace, Gateway, Kentucky River and Barren River Area Development districts and the continuation of the same program for the Lake Cumberland, Cumberland Valley, Bluegrass and FIVCO ADD's.

According to Development Secretary William L. Short, Carroll's alternate on the commission, the Areawide Action programs are overall economic development programs designed to pull individual plans together to give an overall picture of future development within a particular area development district (ADD).

The state will subcontract the $120,000 to the ADD's, Short said, and "no grant funds will be retained for state expenses in the administration of the program."

Through the subcontracts, the ADD's will be required to prepare an action program which will include the following objectives:

- Determine area development needs and priorities;
- Define area resources and policies in development, and
- Establish goals, objectives and priorities for area development.

"The Development Cabinet will provide uniform action program procedures for use by the ADD's in developing the programs and will assume responsibility for monitoring the programs," Short added.

Coal made the day.

The coal industry provides the good things in life for Kentuckians like Butch Ratliff. He earns a good salary as a coal mining engineer. So he and his family are able to enjoy weekends of camping and boating. The Ratliffs and families like them can look forward to a lot more. Because there's ample opportunity ahead for men like Butch in the coal industry.

More than 40,000 Kentuckians work directly in coal mining; another 20,000 are involved indirectly. That's 60,000 jobs—more than three quarters of a billion dollars in wages—all generated by Kentucky's leading industry.

Jobs in Kentucky's coal mining industry are secure because increasing energy requirements will put higher demands on coal as a fuel source each year. The same demands are opening job opportunities—for high school and college graduates, and for people who want on-the-job training that leads to higher positions.

Coal has made life in Kentucky good. And it will for a long time to come. Kentuckians who want a solid future will find it right here—in coal.

McDowell PTA Moves Ahead

With the opening of school this year the students of McDowell School saw several improvements to their buildings and campus, thanks to the efforts of the PTA which has contributed greatly to the school.

Concrete sidewalks now connect every building on the school campus. This project was made possible as a result of the parents' and teachers' cooperative action in money-raising projects such as the Hallowe'en carnival last year.

The primary building received a facelift during the summer with paint provided by the PTA. The primary building provides classrooms for the first and second grade, one special education class, the music department and the grade school library. The PTA employed Don Paek to paint the ceiling of the entire building, which was spray-painted because of the steel structure which comprised the ceiling. The classrooms and hallways were painted by the NYC aides under the supervision of art teacher John Stumbo. The interior of the building was changed to soft tones of golds and blues which changed the atmosphere of the building to a great degree. Mr. Stumbo then added his artistic abilities to the door of each room by painting vivid Disney characters on them.

The students in the junior high building also benefited by the works of the PTA. In this building are located classrooms for the sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes, one special education unit, the school art department, and one fifth grade class. The outside temperature does not bother the students now because of the air-conditioning which was installed shortly after school began this year. Last fall a candle sales project was completed by the PTA mothers in conjunction with grade school students, which resulted in the sale of nearly 3,500 ornamental and Christmas candles. The profits from those sales made it possible to air-condition every classroom in the junior high building. The Floyd County Board of Education also helped with air-conditioning by matching funds and providing the maintenance crew for installation of the units.

The PTA is very thankful to the Floyd Board of Education for still another improvement in the junior high building. The practically new structure, which was built for open classrooms, had no permanent partitions between the classes, but rather bulletin board-type dividers which were detrimental to the learning situation in the classes because of noise interference. The paneled-wall partitions which were installed during the summer have proven already to be a great improvement. Noise interference has been reduced to a minimum and students as well as teachers are much happier with the change. The learning and teaching situations have been remarkable improved by the partitions.

The PTA has in the past and will continue to provide such services for the school as: supplemental funds for teacher-student supplies, a textbook fund for needy high school students, plastic garbage bags to classrooms and janitors, and first-aid supplies for use in emergencies. The PTA also purchased a heavy-duty lawn mower for use by the school custodians in keeping the school grounds mowed.

The McDowell PTA is now in the process of listing priorities for further improvement projects for the 1977-78 school year. Elementary school students and teachers are now implementing a membership drive which needs the support of every person who is interested in McDowell School. The membership card can be purchased from a student or teacher for $1. All parents and interested persons are invited to attend meetings.

First Safety Talk For High Schoolers Set at May Lodge

A series of regional traffic safety conferences has been scheduled for Kentucky high school students. Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson has announced.

The first will be at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, next Tuesday (Oct. 11), beginning at 8:45 a.m.

Grayson said the one-day conferences, to be held in October and November, will serve to acquaint the participants with highway safety problems and to solicit possible solutions to the problems.

"The conferences will serve to alert young Kentuckians to the magnitude of the problem of highway safety. They will also provide each participant with information to be used in supporting traffic safety in their local communities," he said.

"As part of the conference agenda, prepared by our Office of Highway Safety Programs (OHSP), new members of the Kentucky Youth Traffic Safety Advisory Committee (KYTSAC) will be selected at the regional conferences," Grayson added.

KYTSAC members, selected by their fellow students, serve in an advisory capacity to the Kentucky Department of Transportation.

According to Transportation Safety Coordinator Bennie Maffet, who heads OHSP, conference participants will discuss motorcycle safety and the problem of drinking and driving.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS

Out-of-state guests of Mrs. Lula Hale Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pruitt, and Mr. and Mrs. Worth Music last week at their homes on the Abbott road, were their cousins, Mrs. Bertha Lenington, Chadron, Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McClaran, Cody, Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Hale, Wichita Falls, Texas, and Taylor Hale, Sheisher, Idaho. The visitors were amazed at the growth of this section during the time they have been elsewhere, and marveled at the beauty of the mountains at this season of the year.

Cost-Sharing Available For Winter Cover Crops

Farmers now beginning to harvest their crops may take advantage of the winter cover crop component of the Agricultural Conservation Program offered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Last year many acres of usually productive farmland was damaged by flooding because it had been allowed to lie dormant following harvest. An established cover crop would have prevented much of this erosion and the subsequent siltation. For further information on winter cover crop, contact the Floyd County ACS Office, 886-2802.

To Offer Free Class For Amateur Operators

Did you know it is unlucky to kill a robin?
It is also bad luck to take an egg or a fledging from a robin's nest. The same thing, according to an old Greek legend, applies to the wren, hence the rhyme:
"The robin, aye, the redbreast
The robin and the wren
If you take out of their nests
You will never thrive again."
The old legend holds that as a boy, Christ loved robins and often fed them. The birds loved Him, too, and the legend goes on to say that they followed Him to the place of crucifixion where in their frantic efforts to draw out the nails that bound Him to the cross, their breasts were forever stained with His blood. Failing in the attempt they followed Him to the sepulchre, never leaving the scene until His resurrection and ascension where, at this latter event, they joined in the singing of the angels.

Scandinavians are credited with giving the swallow a role in the Crucifixion. Their legend is that the bird fluttered around the cross upon which Christ hung crying "Svala! Svala!" which means "console, console." For this reason the swallow is sometimes known as the bird of consolation.
There are many legends associated with birds. They are mentioned all down through literature and folk narrative. Take, for instance, the owl. It was this bird that screamed when Macbeth was in the inner sanctum slaying Duncan, the Scottish king. An owl sat above the head of Herod of Agrippa in a theater in Caesara and warned him of his doom. It was an owl that roamed with satyrs that were lambasted by Isaiah in his denunciations of Edom.
One of the most interesting legends relating to the screech owl is why it wails, rather than hoots as do most other owls.

The old story is that while on His many journeys, Christ stopped at a baker's shop and asked for bread. He had no money to pay for the bread but the kind-hearted baker gave it to Him anyway. A daughter of the baker hooted at Christ and called Him a beggar.
This, according to the legend, proved her undoing. Perhaps angered by her lack of compassion for the hungry, Christ turned her into a screech owl and lest her stinginess become a trait of all other owls, caused her to wail instead of hoot.

So in view of these legends, to kill or otherwise harm an innocent little songbird is to risk the disfavor of Christ. So don't do it. Whether the legends are true or false, songbirds should be protected and to kill one is to risk breaking a leg or worse.

Parks Show Record Year

Despite an uncooperative Mother Nature, 1977 attendance at Kentucky's 15 state resort parks already indicates a record year.

Figures compiled by the Department of Parks show an 8.9 percent increase in total park sales for January-July, 1977, compared to the same period last year. The largest increase was in cottage rentals, up by 6.1 per cent over last year, and followed closely by a 5.7 percent increase in meals served. Lodge rooms experienced a 4.2 per cent increase and campsite occupancies rose four per cent.

Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery said that although the department is pleased with the 8.9 per cent increase in sales, inflation consumed that increase. He noted that inflation took its greatest toll through wage increases for parks employees, utility increases and a rising cost of goods sold.

The parks figures reflect a consistent increase in attendance although weather problems this year have been more severe than usual. The past winter, one of the worst on record, cut back on park attendance, as did extensive flooding last April in southeastern Kentucky.

Montgomery said the coal boom in eastern Kentucky had benefitted parks in that area. However, Lake Barkley and Kentucky Dam Village State Resort parks in western Kentucky continue to attract the most visitors to any one park, he added.

Out-of-state visitors accounted for over 60 per cent of the parks' business in 1976, although 45 per cent of the lodge rooms were occupied by Kentuckians.

Montgomery noted that while some Kentuckians may believe they should be given park privileges over out-of-staters statistics show that they (the out-of-state park visitors) account for a large portion of the Commonwealth's multi-billion dollar tourist industry. A 1976 economic impact study on Kentucky's park system notes that out-of-state visitors spent over $20.7 million in 1974 at the resort parks.

Montgomery further pointed out that visitors to Kentucky spend money in the state for food, gas and related travel expenses. They thus contribute far more to Kentucky's economy than just revenue generated from the parks, he said.

Montgomery added that fall reservation bookings at the parks appear promising.

State Pledges Help On Hitchens Gasifier

Governor Carroll announced last Thursday the signing of an agreement between the state and General Refractories Co., Bala Cynwyd, Pa., covering Kentucky's support for a coal gasifier demonstration project at Hitchens.

The Governor stressed that the initiation of the refractory's plant project is an important step in achieving Kentucky's overall goals of finding new, practical uses for Kentucky coal and of offsetting natural gas curtailments in the State.

The Hitchens project covers engineering, construction and operation of equipment to produce low-Btu gas from low-sulfur Kentucky coal to feed existing refractory kilns. The kilns now are fired with natural gas and oil, which are subject to gas curtailments.

A Woodall-Duckham two-stage gasifier will be used. It has a capacity of 54 tons of coal per day. Output will be approximately 1.5 billion cubic feet of gas per year with a heat content of 210 Btu's per cubic foot.

The total cost of the gasifier project will be approximately $4,245,000. About one half of the total amount will be borne by the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), about 37 percent by General Refractories and about 13 percent or $566,000 for engineering and construction, by the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Kentucky's funds will be made available from the Energy Development and Demonstration Trust Fund authorized by the 1974 Kentucky Legislature.

The timetable for the project calls for engineering to be completed in the Spring of 1978 and construction to be finished by January or February 1980.

David D. Drake, Administrator of the Kentucky Center for Energy Research (KCER), stated that "the Hitchens project resulted from proposals submitted to ERDA and to KCER."

A total of six proposals nationwide were selected by ERDA for negotiation and possible support. Three of those, including the Hitchens project, are for facilities to be located in Kentucky.

Floyd Women Attend Democratic Woman's Club 50th Convention

Eight Floyd County Democratic women were among the more than 400 who gathered for the 50th Anniversary Convention of the Democratic Woman's Club of Kentucky in Lexington, Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

The local delegation boasted the State Second Vice-President, Mrs. Tom G. Dingus, Seventh District Director Mrs. Wall Hamilton, and State Board Member and Floyd County Club President, Mrs. Cliff Latta, all of Prestonsburg.

The five delegates, representing Floyd county's 50 members were: Mrs. Roland Burchett and Mrs. Trilby May, Langley; Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, Elizabeth Frazier, and Mrs. Phyllis Stanley, Prestonsburg.

Midge Costanza, special assistant for public liaison to President Jimmy Carter, was the principal speaker at the Friday night banquet at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel.

Costanza, the first and only woman to hold the title of "Assistant to the President of the United States" and one of the White House "inner circle", gave a rousing speech to the dinner crowd of more than 700 Democratic women and guests.

Gov. and Mrs. Julian Carroll, Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, Mrs. Wendell Ford, Congressman John Breckinridge and many state and local officials were featured at the convention.

State President Mrs. Richard Bell, Frankfort, presented the first annual award for the state's outstanding Democratic woman to Mrs. Dan Byck, of Louisville.

Members of the Floyd delegation will report on highlights of the convention at the local club's next regular luncheon meeting at 12 noon, Oct. 12, at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Mrs. Latta urged all members and all Democratic women of Floyd county who would be interested in becoming members to attend this meeting.

County Judge Henry Stumbo will be the featured guest and plans will be made for a county-wide Democratic rally scheduled for Oct. 15.

Further information on the meeting may be obtained from Mrs. Latta at 886-9287.

FIRE-LOSS SHOWER AT MARTIN, FRIDAY

A shower to replace, in part, household goods lost by Mr. and Mrs. Curt Hughes when their home on Buck's Branch burned last week-end is scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday Oct. 7, at Frazier's Restaurant in Martin. The Martin Woman's Club, which is sponsoring the shower, urges all those who can to attend. The Hughes home with all contents was destroyed.

TO ALL GOOD DEMOCRATS

Last week my Republican opponent ran an ad in this paper stating he was the "Democratic" Candidate, and asked you to look in Webster's Dictionary to prove it. The reason he asked you to look there is he knows that by no other definition may you find him to be a friend to a true Democrat.

Instead of a dictionary, look to the county registration. When you and I decided to be a member of the Democratic party, he rejected you and your party. He chose to become the chairman of the Floyd Republican Party and to support Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew when I fought for the defeat of those men.

He chose to fight for the defeat of Jimmy Carter and Governor Carroll while I supported those Democrats. Just a short time ago, he chose to support Robert Holcomb, a rich coal operator from Pike County, when he ran against Carl D. Perkins for the U.S. Representative seat. I fought Ron Frasure and others in this county to help elect Carl Perkins.

Throughout this campaign, I have and will refrain from personal attack on my opponent, in spite of the fact that he has weekly "swung" at me in this paper. But when a man who has consistently attacked and opposed every National, State and County Democrat running for election authorizes an ad saying he is the "Democratic Candidate," I must question how far he will go to be elected. He has chosen his party and should admit it, instead of trying to lure uninformed Democrats into thinking he is a "Democratic Candidate" and their friend.

I humbly ask you for your vote, not only because I feel I am the best man, but also because I am one of you . . .

I AM A DEMOCRAT.

JUDGE HENRY STUMBO and the FLOYD FISCAL COURT will continue to build and maintain roads just as fast as money is available.

The severe weather of last winter, and the April Flood caused tremendous damage not only to Floyd County roads, but throughout Eastern Kentucky. JUDGE STUMBO and the FISCAL COURT are working hard to get every available State and Federal dollar to repair the hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage. The cost is tremendous!

If ALL of your tax dollars were spent on these roads, it would hardly "scratch the surface." State and Federal dollars must be received to get the entire job done.

In addition to the roads built and improved in Floyd County during this period, other projects were the New Floyd County Courthouse, the Courthouse Annex and Juvenile Detention Center, work on the Floyd County Park and Mini Parks. All of these have taken place without increasing your local taxes one single penny.

Federal regulations do not permit the money which is being spent on Parks to go for building or maintaining roads. These are SPECIAL funds set aside by the Congress of the United States and can only be spent on recreational facilities.

Good recreational facilities are one of the things which industry looks for when considering whether or not it will move a new plant into a particular City or County. As a result, we MUST build recreational facilities to make our County more attractive to firms which may be looking for new plant sites.

Floyd County Democrats Can Best Work With State and Federal Democrats To Get The Job Done!

YOU CAN COLLECT MOONDUST WITH BUCKET, SCIENTIST SAYS

WASHINGTON—Want to collect some moondust? It's easy, according to scientist Eugene M. Shoemaker. "Little bits of the moon are falling on us all the time," he says. To collect some samples, place a bucket under a downspout leading from the roof of a house. After a rain, carefully empty the bucket, leaving only silt. Almost all the meteorite dust in the pail will contain iron, so it can be picked up with a magnet.

A Plea for a Child's Life

Dear Driver:

A few weeks ago, I saw a little girl struck by a car as she tried to cross the street. I saw a father race toward her and hold her to him as she struggled in the agony of death. I saw all the plans that had been made for her dashed and I saw the look of despair that came over his face. I could only offer a prayer that such a thing might never happen again.

Today my daughter, who is 6 years old, started off to school. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is Scott, watched her leave and whined his belief in the folly of education.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, a girl with yellow curls, and about the boy across the aisle who makes faces; about the teacher who has eyes in the back of her head; about the trees in the school yard and the big girl who does not believe in Santa Claus.

We talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital and unimportant things. Now, as this is written, she is sound asleep with her doll "Paddy" in her arms. When her doll gets broken or her finger gets cut or her head gets bumped, I can fix them. But when she starts across the street—then, Mr. Driver, she is in your hands.

Much as I wish I could, it's not possible for me to be with her all the time. I have to work to pay for her home, her clothes, her education.

So, Mr. Driver, please help me to look out for her. Please drive carefully. Please drive slowly past schools and at intersections. And please remember that sometimes children run from behind parked cars.

Please don't run over my little girl. With deepest thanks for whatever you can do for her, I am, Very sincerely yours, (Signed) FATHER

City Treasurer
P. O. Box 31
Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS:

The City of Prestonsburg and Floyd County propose to request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) to be used for the acquisition of a 12 to 15 acre housing site, extension of water and sewer facilities, curb and street repairs, and rehabilitation grants.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The project activities include: 1) acquisition of approximately fifteen (15) acres on Abbott Mountain for the development of forty (40) low and moderate income housing units with FmHA funds; 2) construction of an access road with Kentucky Department of Transportation and Appalachian Regional Commission funds to provide access to ninety-four (94) units of New Section 8 housing proposed for the Cliffside site and to an industrial site; 3) construction of sanitary sewers in the Old Lancer neighborhood; and 4) provision of forty (40) rehabilitation grants to repair flood damage to homes in the Old Lancer area.

These funds would also provide sanitary sewers in the Old Lancer area of Prestonsburg and Floyd County. A total of forty-eight (48) homes are located in this area, of which it is estimated that forty (40) grants will be required to rehabilitate the area as a result of the damage inflicted by the April 4, 1977, flooding of the Big Sandy River.

It has been determined that such request of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment; and, accordingly, the City of Prestonsburg has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

An Environmental Review Record respecting the project has been made by the City of Prestonsburg which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reason why a statement is not required. The Environmental Review Record is on file at the following locations and is available for public examination and copying, upon request at Prestonsburg Housing Authority, Green Acres, Prestonsburg; Floyd County Community Development Agency, Allenburt Building, Court Street, Prestonsburg. No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request of Federal funds. The wedding took place in the United Methodist Church at Wayland and was solemnized by the Rev. Mabry Holbrook.

A program of nuptial music was presented by pianist Mike Cooley, brother of the groom, and by Mrs. Carolyn Puckett who sang "Evergreen" and "If."

The bride was given in marriage by two of her brothers, Charles Collins, of Prestonsburg, and Marvin Collins, of Wayland.

She wore a long white gown of satin and lace fashioned with long sleeves and a modified Victorian neckline. The A-line skirt featured a train length veil of lace with a pearled head piece. Her bouquet was of white orchids and baby roses.

Mrs. Donna Collins, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a peach floral knit gown and matching hat, and carried a long-stemmed rose.

The bridesmaids, Miss Lisa Collins and Miss Lynn Collins, neices of the bride, and Miss Mary Sue Martin, cousin of the bride, wore identical gowns of coral knit with coral hats and each carried a long-stemmed rose.

Mr. Barry Combs, of Garrett, served as best man.

Ushers and taper lighters were Delmar Collins, brother of the bride, Johnny Slone, cousin of the bride and Kern Patton, friend of the groom.

Chris Collins, of Prestonsburg, and Jimmy Collins, of Wayland, nephews of the bride, served as aisle attendants.

Craig Collins, of Prestonsburg, nephew of the bride served as ringbearer, and Miss Laressa Puckett, of Wayland, was flower girl.

Mrs. Collins chose for her daughter's wedding a street-length dress of pale blue with white accessories and a white orchid. Mrs. Cooley chose a street-length dress of white and navy, with navy accessories and a white orchid.

A reception was held, following the wedding, in the church basement. Those assisting were Mrs. Jennie Dixon, Mrs. Arendle Wells, Mrs. Lois Collins, Mrs. Vanessa Collins, Mrs. Melvina Scott, Mrs. Molly Holbrook, Mrs. Doris May and Mrs. Toby True.

Kentucky Coal Output May Approach '75 Record—If...

(From The Kentucky Business Ledger) Spokesmen for Kentucky's coal industry say coal production in the state during 1977 should exceed figures for 1976 and might come respectably close to 1975's record output of 144 million tons.

But they hedge their predictions with a lot of "ifs".

—If UMW members don't go on strike December 6, considered by some to be a virtual certainty.

—If there's no recurrence of the wildcat strikes that spread into Eastern Kentucky coalfields from West Virginia mines and shut down many operations for 10 weeks.

—If new strip mines are able to get permits, which the state is denying if part of the operation touches "prime" farm land that has been worked for at least five of the past 20 years.

—If new transportation difficulties don't crop up.

—If another bitter winter doesn't take hold, freezing coal piles and coalhaul roads and rendering machinery inoperable.

While it's an impressive list of unknowns, coal producers are encouraged by figures that show total state production for the first 34 weeks of the year up from last year's comparison period. While Western Kentucky coal output is down, production of Eastern Kentucky coal has been up sufficiently to account for an overall statewide increase of more than two per cent.

The production figures and current activities that affect production are being looked at more closely these days due to national concern about energy shortages and the knowledge that under existing technology, coal reserves are the country's only abundant energy source for the future.

Yet there are many paradoxes to the supply-and-utilization future of coal.

While President Carter has called for increased utilization of coal and a doubling of coal production by 1985, coal producers and industries that burn coal complain of restrictive legislation that hinders coal production and use. At the same time, industries are resisting forced conversion to coal use and interests that are exploring methods of turning coal into other cleaner-burning fuels say they need more financial help from the government to build and operate experimental plants.

34 Weeks (August 27) (Tonnage, 000 omitted)
	1977	1976	% Change

Western Kentucky	28,112	31,836	-11.7
Kentucky	88,638	86,756	+2.2
West Virginia	60,113	80,784	-25.6
United States	437,880	428,405	+2.2

Tom Duncan, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, cited as an example of legislation that restricts new production the 1977 Surface Mine Act. If the proposed regulations under the act are implemented substantially in their present form, he said, "Kentucky won't be able to recover in a few years from the set-back we'll take." As an illustration, he pointed out that the regulations would prevent a coal haul road from being built within a state's 100-mile flood-plain—the area that could reasonably be expected to be subject to flood within the next 100 years. Under this stipulation, Mr. Duncan said, "you couldn't have built an interstate in Kentucky; only the tips of a few mountains" could be used.

Coal-burning industries are concerned over possible requirements that costly scrubbers be installed to smokestacks to remove sulphur-dioxide gas. The Tennessee Valley Authority in September approved construction of a prototype facility to test a new scrubber system at TVA's Shawnee plant in Western Kentucky. Other experimental scrubber work has been done by Louisville Gas and Electric under a demonstration project of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

State coal producers have mixed feelings about scrubber requirements, recognizing that they would increase costs which eventually would be passed on to the consumer but at the same time realizing that mandatory scrubbers would put much of Kentucky's high-sulphur coal in a better competitive position with the low-sulphur (and cleaner-burning) coal mined in the western United States.

Growing production of western coal has been a concern of Kentucky miners, who view it as cutting into the traditional markets of the eastern coalfields. Cloyd McDowell, president of the National Independent and Harlan County coal operators associations, fears a future of heavy western production with eastern fields remaining relatively stable rather than growing as had been predicted a few years ago.

"On the basis of national production, the western fields are supposed to increase in production by 500 percent between now and 1985. If we're going to come up with 1.2 billion tons of coal by 1985, this means the western producers will be mining about 700 million tons and the eastern field will produce about 500 million tons which is practically what is being produced now," he said.

"If things had developed the way we anticipated them, the eastern field would have gained in production by at least 90 per cent by 1985."

Western coalfield mines are capable of producing vast tonnage at less expensive prices than the eastern field coal mines because the western fields primarily have strip mines. And there are no large mountains to contend with—operators simply remove a few feet of soil and they are in thick coal seams.

"While they have this advantage, the only thing now that seems to be keeping them from just coming in and taking over our markets wholesale is there are not enough transportation facilities to do so," Mr. McDowell continued.

"If the western field gets the slurry pipeline, and it appears as though they can within a reasonable period of time, then that transportation disadvantage will be removed to a certain extent."

A bill considered by Congress would give condemnation powers to builders of slurry pipelines that use water to move crushed coal.

However the transportation problem and regional competition are settled, the federal commitment remains to increase coal production and use. A bill passed by the U.S. Senate immediately upon return from its August recess would flatly prohibit all new electric generating stations and most major industrial plants from burning oil or gas as a primary heat source. Existing plants, except for carefully spelled out exemptions, would be required to convert to coal by 1990 and plants now using oil would not be allowed to switch to gas in the meantime. By and large, plants not now equipped to burn coal would be required to convert to coal if their fuel consumption exceeds 250 million BTUs per hour. Federal loans and loan guarantees would be available to assist companies in the process.

As Walter A. Romanek of the Federal Energy Administration explained in a recent Louisville speech, "The President's program sees coal as the principal means for the United States to cope with rising demand and declining oil and gas supplies during the next several decades."

Another type of coal conversion—experiments to turn coal into gas or some other fuel—has also colored the need for increased coal production.

Tying all these various proposals and developments together, however, is the nation's—and Kentucky's—ability to produce the additional quantities of coal needed. And according to Kentucky Coal Association's Tom Duncan, the ability can become reality only through more realistic governmental action.

Wins Ribbons

Michael Parsons, member of the Betsy Layne FFA chapter, won three ribbons at the Floyd County Fair. He won two blue ribbons for his entries of hickory nuts and walnuts. The red ribbon was for his apple entry. A sophomore, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Parsons, of Honaker.

THE FIRST STATE legislation permitting a state to attempt to settle labor disputes was in Maryland in 1878, according to "Labor Firsts in America."

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT

Prestonsburg-Floyd County Section 407 Disaster Program

APPLICANT:

The City of Prestonsburg-Floyd County
c/o Mrs. Anna Jean Tackett, City Treasurer
P. O. Box 31
Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653
606-886-2336

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS:

The City of Prestonsburg and Floyd County propose to request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-333) to be used for the acquisition of a 12 to 15 acre housing site, extension of water and sewer facilities, curb and street repairs, and rehabilitation grants.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The City of Prestonsburg and Floyd County intend to conduct a rehabilitation program within the areas devastated by the April 4, 1977, flooding of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River. The project activities include the acquisition of approximately 12 to 15 acres of Abbott Mountain to be used for the development of 40 to 45 low and moderate income housing units with HUD funds. An access road to serve 94 units of Section 8 New Construction at the Cliffside Site and an industrial area will also be constructed in combination with Kentucky Department of Transportation and Appalachian Regional Commission Funds. Community Development Funds would then be used to extend this road and water and sewer lines up to the Abbott Mountain Site.

In connection with the Community Development effort to rehabilitate the Old Lancer Neighborhood in Prestonsburg the Section 407 Disaster Application extends this effort to include the neighborhood of West Prestonsburg, the community of Martin, and the unincorporated areas of Allen, Betsy Layne, Emma and Harold. Section 312 Rehabilitation loans will be made available to both businesses and residents of the area who desire to repair their property to minimum property standards as adopted by the City of Prestonsburg and Floyd County. Through the Section 407 Disaster Application rehabilitation grants will be made available to low income, elderly and handicapped where it is essential that the house be brought up to minimum property standards and where additional Federal and State Funds are not available. Also a rehabilitation grant will be made available to the Highland Heights housing project, owned by the Church Housing Association, a non-profit private housing corporation.

(Rehabilitation aid to this non-profit corporation is not available through the FDAA regulations for the 20 flood damaged units.) Rehabilitation grants will be issued in accordance with the criteria adopted by the City of Prestonsburg and Floyd County for flood damaged structures. This rehabilitation efforts combined with the new construction of Section 8 housing and the New Section 202 housing project, should provide a comprehensive approach to dealing with the housing needs created by the April 4, 1977, disaster.

It has been determined that such request of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment; and, accordingly, the City of Prestonsburg has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).

An Environmental Review Record respecting the project has been made by the City of Prestonsburg which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reason why a statement is not required. The Environmental Review Record is on file at the following locations and is available for public examination and copying, upon request at Prestonsburg Housing Authority, Green Acres, Prestonsburg; Floyd County Community Development Agency, Allenburt Building, Court Street, Prestonsburg. No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request of Federal funds. Public comment on these activities of the City of Prestonsburg-Floyd County may be submitted to the office of the Community Development Agency through

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER:

Obstructions Close Airport Temporarily

The Pikeville-Pike County Airport Board has been told by the Kentucky Department of Transportation that the Pikeville airport may no longer be used for take-offs or landings until light poles and fencing on the northwest approach to its runway have been removed.

In a letter dated September 23 directed to Airport Board Chairman Frank J. Forsyth, Sr., Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson gave notice that the airport's "landing area designation certificate," is being withheld temporarily.

Grayson explained that the light poles and fence obstruct the northwest approach to the extent that the airport no longer meets the requirements of KYDOT's regulations.

Forsyth was later quoted as saying the obstructions would be eliminated at once.

PICNIC FOR PATIENTS

The picnic, given by the Floyd County Mental Health Association recently, at Archer Park for Floyd county patients, at the Eastern State Hospital, Lexington, and their families, was a great success. Mrs. Glen Brickley, on behalf of the Association, states: "If you could have seen the happiness you helped to bring to these people, you would know it was worth any effort that you put forth." The Association wishes to thank everyone who furnished the food, and those who helped in the serving, and with the entertainment. Mrs. Brickley adds that a few unmarked dishes, left from the picnic, are at her home, and asks that persons to whom these dishes belong contact her there.

IN HUNTINGTON

Mrs. Paul Francis and Mrs. Hardin Short spent a day last week shopping in Huntington.

Inflation Hits Housing Plans

Inflation may have stopped a $2.7 million housing project here.

Highlands Terrace, the 80-unit mini-rise housing complex planned for the elderly by the Church Housing Association, was originally funded for $2,700,000, but the contractor first raised the construction cost figure to $240,000 more than that, and was last reported to have upped the cost to $310,000 more than the amount allowed by HUD.

The Rev. Taylor L. Biggs, chairman of the Housing Association, said Tuesday that "there is a possibility we will not be able to build this year."

The Church Housing Association has operated the Highland Heights housing complex in the Goble-Roberts Addition for several years. Highlands Terrace was planned for location at the mouth of May's Branch here, near the Indian Hills low-rise project operated by the Prestonsburg Housing Authority.

'RED-LETTER DAYS' WERE RELIGIOUS

The phrase, "a red-letter day," comes from Christian calendars on which feast days connected with the life of Christ or dedicated to saints were printed in red ink.

Proposed Law Would Make PSC Fulltime

The Interim Joint Committee on Public Utilities and Transportation last week voted to establish a fulltime Public Service Commission (PSC).

The proposed legislation, adopted by the committee for pre-filing, provides for a five-member PSC paid the same salary as circuit court judges. The governor would make appointments to the commission, subject to Senate approval, on a staggered-term basis.

Commission members may not have any business or financial interest in any utility.

Speaking in behalf of the measure, Sen. Tom Easterly (D-Frankfort) said: "A part-time Public Service Commission is not only wrong, it's ridiculous." He said matters handled by the PSC are too complex to deal with on a part-time basis.

Forty-five states now have full-time utilities regulatory agencies, Easterly said.

Grant To Finance Housing Assistance

Gov. Julian M. Carroll has announced that a $37,000 Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) grant has been awarded to hire a housing-director-coordinator to organize and implement a housing technical assistance program for the Human Economic Appalachian Development Corporation (HEAD).

The technical assistance will include the following activities:

- Develop one new non-profit housing corporation;
- Provide technical assistance and training to HEAD-related housing organizations and activities;
- Conduct a research program including the development, costing and obtaining of FmHA approval of low-cost hillside housing, together with the development of Appalachian-based resources for the production and procurement of housing materials;
- Design a regional building supply cooperative which would procure housing construction materials at a low cost through volume purchases.

Bluegrass Is Set For "Black Beauty"

A novel by an Englishwoman, set in Maryland, is now being filmed in Kentucky and will be shown on NBC television on five consecutive nights late this year.

The film, "Black Beauty," is being shot this week on horse farms around Lexington, and filming will continue until the first or second week of November. Producer Ben Bishop said locations will include Shakertown at Pleasant Hill, downtown Lexington, downtown Frankfort, Winchester, Fayette and Bourbon County horse farms, and rural locations in several central Kentucky counties.

Pete Fisher, who wrote the screenplay and is executive producer, said, "the setting of the film is Maryland, but we were able to find ideal locations and superior cooperation in Kentucky." He added that assistance offered to the Universal production company by the Kentucky Film Commission was one of the primary reasons Kentucky was chosen.

Commission Executive Director Tom Clark-Todd said the film is set from about 1870 to the turn of the century. Its basic plot, he said, is "boy meets horse, boy loses horse, boy finds horse."

Among the actors who will be filming in Kentucky are Martin Milner, Clu Gullager, Jack Elam, Cameron Mitchell, Farley Granger, Eileen Brennan, William Devane, Forrest Tucker and Warren Oates. Oates, best known for his roles in "Dillinger," "The Wild Bunch," "Two Lane Blacktop" and "92 in the Shade," is a native of Louisville and a member of the Kentucky Film Commission.

Clu Gullager, who was a regular on the television series "The Virginian" and was in "The Last Picture Show," played a featured role in "Lawman Without a Gun," filmed in western Kentucky earlier this year.

The film is directed by Dan Haller, a highly respected Hollywood director. Haller has directed episodes of the television programs "Ironside," "Kojak" and "Charlie's Angels," among others.

Commerce Commissioner Terry McBrayer, chairman of the commission, emphasized the economic impact of motion picture production in Kentucky, pointing out that the University production will cast more than 70 speaking roles in Kentucky, is employing some two dozen Kentucky residents in technical and administrative positions and brought with them a company of nearly 100 persons who will be housed and fed in central Kentucky during the eight week production.

"It is impossible at this stage to assess the exact dollar figure that 'Black Beauty' will add to the Kentucky economy," McBrayer said. "But based on figures from past productions, we know it will be significant."

Clark-Todd joined Commissioner McBrayer in praising the quality of the Universal production company. "The people from Universal are efficient, responsible business people who are producing a motion picture of the higher calibre," Clark-Todd said, "and we are very excited about having them film their entire project in Kentucky."

Health Tip

Carbon Monoxide

From the American Medical Association

A silent killer may be loose in your house.

The criminal is carbon monoxide—CO—a colorless, odorless, tasteless gas produced every time a carbon-containing material burns.

The American Medical Association points out that CO combines with blood 200 times more easily than oxygen. If you breathe air containing a normal amount of oxygen and a moderate amount of carbon monoxide, your blood will be starved for oxygen. When blood cannot supply oxygen to your brain, permanent brain damage or death may result.

Dangerous quantities of CO accumulate when a cool, slow fire burns in limited air space. Since you can't see, smell or taste it, the gas is hard to detect except by your symptoms—drowsiness, headache, tightness across the forehead, confusion, nausea and muscular weakness. CO poisoning may confuse you so that you cannot reach fresh air to relieve the symptoms and prevent serious injury.

To prevent a carbon monoxide attack in your home—

—Have all heating systems checked annually for operating efficiency. Make sure that vents, pipes, flues and chimneys are tight.

—Make certain your heating plant is not starved for air.

—Be sure that all heating devices designed for venting are properly vented to the outside.

—Provide additional fresh air for charcoal grills and hibachis used indoors. Better still, don't use these charcoal cookers indoors.

—Never tamper with ducts or vents of a heating device to get more heat out of it.

—Be sure that heating devices have been tested by a reputable firm. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for installation and use.

—When changing types of fuel, ask a qualified serviceman to adjust all appliances involved.

—Don't close your fireplace damper until you are certain the fire is entirely burned out.

—Be sure your garage is sealed from the house. Never run the car in a closed garage.

WHAT'S A SOOK? A female crab. How can you tell? The October Reader's Digest says sooks have bright red claw tips. Males do not.

Commends Committee

I have sent to Governor Julian Carroll a copy of the following letter addressed by me to Senator Nelson Allen, chairman of the Interim Joint Committee on Education:
"The Kentucky Education Association wishes to commend you and the members of the Interim Joint Committee on Education for your endorsement of the recommendation of your Subcommittee on Issues and Legislative Proposals that no so-called 'educational accountability' legislation be introduced in the 1978 General Assembly.
"We are aware of the thorough research that the Subcommittee conducted before reaching its conclusions. I have written to Senator Joe Wright, chairman of the Subcommittee, to express our appreciation.
"KEA believes your decision was the right one. As then KEA president James Sproul testified before the Subcommittee earlier this year, it is KEA's position that teachers should be held accountable for classroom preparation and professional knowledge but not for student achievement, for there are too many variables (such as attitudes, values, and background) over which teachers have no control.
"We are gratified that you and your fellow legislators have not allowed yourselves to be stampeded into following what several seasoned writers have called 'a fad which will predictably die a natural death.' Those commentators have noted that accountability is essentially a scientific structure superimposed on an unscientifically defined process—teaching and learning—and thus is unworkable."
WAYNE HARVEY, President Kentucky Education Association

ARC Makes $172,402 Grant For Knott Care Center Funding

Gov. Julian M. Carroll has announced that a $172,402 Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) grant has been awarded to the Appalachian Regional Hospitals, Inc. for fourth year funding of the June Buchanan Primary Health Care Center.

Located in Hindman, the clinic serves some 12,000 residents of Knott and Breathitt counties, according to Development Secretary William L. Short, Carroll's alternate on the ARC Commission.

"This is the first attempt by the ARC to combine emergency and obstetrical services in an ambulant care center," Short said.

The project also serves as a demonstration in the use of dental hygienists as dental extenders for the University of Kentucky School of Dentistry.

In addition to continuing the seven-day per week, 24-hour service, specific project objectives for the coming year include:

- Increase the involvement of physician extenders in providing primary health care;
- Recruit an additional physician after a nurse midwife is recruited;
- Continue regular oral health surveys of Knott county children;
- Develop a unit for the dental hygienist to serve as an extender;
- Continue the Children's Incremental Dental Care Program, adding three more schools;
- Contract with the University of Kentucky Dental School for an evaluation of the dental program;
- Complete implementation of the computerized Pharmaceutical Support System;
- Continue to advocate a primary care payment mechanism from the state Medicaid program;
- Maintain a productivity review of all staff;
- Assess patient flow and patient satisfaction;

-Increase the number of babies delivered at the facility to 200 per year;
-Develop the governing board as fully responsible body.

Total cost for the project, according to Short, is $820,964. Local sources will provide $648,562 in cash. The project's budget period is Sept. 1 through Aug. 31, 1978.

Farmers Are Asked To Make Choices

Farmers are asked to nominate candidates of their choice to be on the ASC county committee ballot. The ASC county committee election will be conducted from Nov. 25 to Dec. 5 by mail ballot. Floyd county farmers have the opportunity to nominate persons they feel would best serve the farm community. Farmers have received petition forms by mail and are now submitting them to the county ASCS office. A few basic considerations should be kept in mind when circulating petitions. In order to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters in the ASC community, and must be received in the county ASCS office no later than Oct. 31. A farmer may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as he chooses. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the ASC committee election may contact the county ASCS office for full details, including eligibility requirements for officeholders. The county ASCS office welcomes all valid petitions, it was said. The opportunity to nominate, vote, and be elected to office is guaranteed to all farmers regardless of race, religion, sex, color, or national origin. THE FIRST COLLECTIVE bargaining agreement in construction was by bricklayers in New York City in 1885, according to "Labor Firsts in America," published by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Aged, Infirm Urged To Take Flu Shots

Older Kentuckians or anyone who has a chronic illness like heart or kidney disease should receive a dose of influenza vaccine now available to local health departments, according to Dr. Carlos Hernandez, preventive services director for the Department for Human Resources.

In a letter to the health departments, Hernandez noted that the new flu vaccine is available in a limited supply to immunize only "selected individuals who are over 65 or chronically ill."

The chronically ill are listed in four categories, regardless of age, who have heart disease, chronic lung disease, chronic kidney disease, diabetes or other chronic disorders.

Hernandez said the aged and chronically ill stand a much higher risk of suffering complications from influenza, so they have been singled out for immunization prior to the coming flu season.

The vaccine now available is a split virus type which has been associated with fewer side effects than the whole virus type, Hernandez said. It is made up of two strains of flu virus, A-Victoria and B-Hong Kong. Several outbreaks of both strains occurred last year, according to the prevention services director.

"We can anticipate local outbreaks of flu in Kentucky this fall and winter and this risk of complication from flu in the elderly and chronically ill far exceeds the slight risk of any side effects from the vaccine," said Hernandez.

Hernandez noted that Guillain Barre', a disease which usually results in a temporary paralysis, has been studied thoroughly since it was associated with last year's swine flu vaccination program.

"In any given eight-week period, there is one case of Guillain Barre' per million population without flu vaccination," said Hernandez. "The risk increases to ten cases per million among vaccinated individuals," he said. "And among the high risk population, the threat from influenza far exceeds the chance of Guillain Barre'."

Hernandez suggested that high risk individuals should go to their family physicians or local health departments for a dose of the vaccine. The shots are free of charge at local health departments.

Spurlock and Horn New Army Enlistees

Two Floyd county residents have enlisted in the Army as cannon fire direction-fire support specialists.

Sgt. First Class Gordon Shepherd and Staff Sgt. Darrell Layne of the Pikeville recruiting station announced the enlistments of Dana T. Spurlock, of Martin, and Michael Horn, of Ligon.

Spurlock is a 1973 graduate of Allen Central High School. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Spurlock, he said he joined the Army for job training and because he received assignment at his station of choice—Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Horn also said he enlisted for job training and travel. He is a 1977 McDowell High School graduate and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Horn. He will be assigned to Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Budget Hearing Slated Here

BUDGET HEARING SITES—These are the 11 locations for Gov. Julian Carroll's state budget hearings scheduled during October. The Governor's cabinet secretaries will be meeting with Kentuckians to inform them on the current status of state government and to get their ideas on future directions for state government. Comments and suggestions will be considered as the state's budget proposal for 1978-80 is prepared for presentation to the 1978 General Assembly.

Gov. Julian Carroll has announced a series of budget hearings to be held here and at 10 other locations throughout Kentucky during October.

The hearing here will be held at 1 p.m. Oct. 28 at Prestonsburg Community College.

"We have scheduled these sessions because we want to inform citizens of the current status of state government programs and to hear their ideas for the future direction of state government," Carroll said.

The hearings will consist of presentations by the governor's cabinet secretaries and a multi-media program on state government. The secretaries will talk about current programs, budget priorities, and will solicit citizens' ideas concerning the 1978-'80 Executive Budget.

Gov. Carroll said the hearings will give taxpayers an opportunity to participate in the budgetary process. "After all," he noted, "the taxpayers, the citizens of this Commonwealth, are the ones who foot the bill for services and programs."

Ideas gathered at the hearings will be considered as the Governor prepares his 1978-'80 Executive Budget for presentation to the 1978 General Assembly. The 1976-'78 Executive Budget was $5.8 billion.

KY 80—a New Road To Solve Old Problems

Gov. Julian M. Carroll's plan to construct a new KY 80 between Hazard and Water Gap may have a familiar ring to followers of Eastern Kentucky history. The road will be new; the problems it will solve are old ones.

The cost of building roads in the mountains, like the mountains themselves, are high. Old local roads, in many places impassable or nearly so even in good weather, are a familiar story in this mountainous section of the state. Many state and local officials have considered the problem. Influential residents have worked doggedly for solutions.

But, with the advent of the energy crisis and the sudden importance of coal on a national scale, the renewed coal-hauling activity further deteriorated the roads.

Taking office at the time of the first gloomy predictions about other fossil fuels, Governor Carroll recognized the gravity of the situation for the eastern counties which would bear the brunt of the increased hauling activity.

After calling on the federal government for help (since the Eastern Kentucky coal resources were of critical importance to the nation) the Carroll administration next sought and got a solution in the Kentucky General Assembly in 1976.

The governor's legislative package on "Resource Recovery Road System" received enthusiastic support from Eastern Kentucky legislators and supporters. House Bill 676 opened the way for the new KY 80. The measure was applauded by members of the KY 80 East Association, other civic groups and business leaders.

The Kentucky Department of Transportation immediately went into action, hiring design consultants and appointing a veteran KYDOT engineer, E. V. Hilton, to expedite the project.

Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson notes that right-of-way acquisition and utility clearance are proceeding on schedule. A construction contract for the first segment was let in August, and Grayson said that all segments will be under contract for consideration by next summer.

As the first of the "resource recovery roads," the new KY 80 is also the culmination of years of planning and the dreams of a great number of individuals interested in eastern Kentucky's future.

The history of the drive to improve KY 80 is worth repeating, going back as it does to the 1940's. Lack of roads kept the area in virtual isolation.

Out of the gloom that shrouded eastern Kentucky's mountains during a bad year for the coal industry and the disastrous flood of '57 came a beam of hope aiming to develop the rugged area and improve the regional economy.

This dream for a brighter future for the people of the mountain centered around the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission (EKRPC), a nine-man committee named by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield to create an economic development plan for that area.

Members of the committee were Rex Blazer, Ashland Oil; Adron Doran, then president of Morehead State University; Harry Laviers, Sr., president of Southeastern Kentucky Coal Company, of Paintsville; R. H. Worden, Pikeville; the Rev. William Hute, Corbin; B. F. Reed, president of Turner-Elkhorn Coal, Drift, and chairman of the EKRPC; L. O. Davis, Hazard; Dr. Alex Spencer, West Liberty, and S. C. VanCuron, at the time general manager of the Harlan Daily Enterprise.

Paramount in the commission's economic plan was construction of an arterial road system through the eastern mountains, and with the upcoming construction of KY 80 connecting Hazard and Water Gap, that system will soon be complete.

The construction of KY 80 will complete the network of modern eastern Kentucky highways that have involved the construction of or upgrading of the Bert T. Combs Mountain Parkway, the Daniel Boone Parkway, the Cumberland Parkway, US 119, US 23, US 25E, KY 15, KY 90 and, of course, interstates 64 and 75.

Former Gov. Bert T. Combs, in a 1976 interview following Gov. Carroll's announcement concerning KY 80, with Van

Curon, now editor-emeritus of the Frankfort State Journal, said, "This (KY 80) is part of the old EKRPC dream, and I don't think the commission ever envisioned this road would be built any time soon... probably not in their lifetime."

Combs said he and US Rep. Carl D. Perkins have been advocating a new KY 80 since the late 1930's and nearly every man who has run for governor in the last quarter century has either promised to build it or to give it priority attention.

What Is a District Judge?

In Floyd County, the District Judge will do the work now being done by five City Police Judges, four Magistrates, County Judge, Judge Pro-Tem, Trial Commissioner and Juvenile Judge. Floyd County will still have a County Judge (now known as County Judge Executive) and Magistrates, but their duties will be limited to fiscal matters, making up the budget and supervising the spending of the county tax money.

The District Judge will preside over all civil cases where the amount involved is $1500, or less, all juvenile matters, and the violation of all state laws and city and county ordinances, except offenses punishable by penitentiary confinement or death.

In addition to the other duties, the District Judge will also preside over a new court, known as the Court of Small Claims (matters under $500).

It is estimated that 68 of every 100 persons having business before the courts will come first to the District Court.

The office of District Judge will require a person with not only a law degree, but also with considerable administrative ability. It will require a person with good health, good nerve and a willingness to work long hours. How the office is operated for the first time may set the pattern of justice in Floyd County for a long time to come.

Believing that I am qualified for the job, I respectfully urge you to vote for me in the November election. If I am elected, the fact that my residence is next door to the court house (and jail) will somewhat ease the problem of having your District Judge available after hours.

The office is non-partisan and I welcome the vote of my Republican friends as well as my fellow-Democrats.

Self-Neglect Among Abuses Suffered by Many Adults

By FRAN SALYERS

In the 15 months that Kentucky's Adult Protection Act has been in effect, the state Department for Human Resources has investigated over 1,000 reported cases of abuse or exploitation of persons over 18.

The Adult Protection Act was passed by the 1976 Kentucky General Assembly and provides for protective services to anyone 18 years or older who is too impaired physically or mentally to act on his or her own behalf and who is without responsible friends or relatives who are available to assist.

According to John Denton, adult services specialist with the department's bureau for social services, Kentucky was one of the first states to pass such legislation. He estimates that approximately 20 states now have an adult protection law and that "several states are following our lead."

According to Denton, 41 percent of the cases reported for investigation under this law have been classified as "self-neglect." Most often, he explained, the victim of self-neglect is female, 70 to 75 years old, living alone and becoming increasingly unable to take care of personal needs. Such a person usually does not want to leave familiar surroundings to go to a nursing home or to move in with relatives, even if these options are available.

Denton cited other examples of persons helped through protective services:

—An elderly woman's alcoholic son used her Supplemental Security Income check for his own needs and neglected his mother.

—A young mentally-retarded woman was left to live alone after the death of her father and was unable to care for herself without some help.

—An elderly woman refused vital medical care despite the urging of friends.

—A man was evicted from his apartment because he forgot to make regular rent payments.

"Our goal is to help these individuals remain independent for as long as possible in familiar surroundings," Denton said. The bureau offers, either directly or by referral, a number of services, including counseling, homemaker services, home health care and home-delivered meals, guardians, money-management counseling, landlord agreements, legal aid and other help.

The bureau also tries to locate relatives and friends who will help care for persons in need.

"A person has the right to refuse service," Denton said. "We cannot force anyone to accept the help we offer. But we are required by law to investigate every report."

When necessary, social workers may obtain search warrants. "Legal intervention is a last resort," Denton emphasized. "Above all, we are committed to insuring each individual's legal rights."

Reported violations of the adult protection act generally fall into five classifications: Physical abuse, self-neglect, caretaker neglect, exploitation or a combination of those factors. While it is usually a concerned neighbor, friend or relative who reports a violation, reports also come from medical personnel, law enforcement officials, schools personnel and social workers. In a small percentage of cases, adults have requested protective services for themselves.

Denton stressed that names of persons making reports are kept confidential and that these persons may remain anonymous. Anyone who reports a case of suspected abuse is granted immunity from civil or criminal liability and from participation in resulting judicial proceedings.

Reports should be made to county social services offices. Written inquiries may be sent to John Denton, Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Services, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

By LARRY BURKÉ

There is a story told about a man riding down the beach on a bicycle and he saw a young man out in the water calling for help. Immediately the man jumped from his bicycle and swam to the boy's rescue.

"Thanks, mister, for saving my life," said the boy. "That's all right, son; just prove that your life was worth saving."

You may feel that the man made a rather crude rather, and in a sense it is rather a hard way of looking at the situation. Or is it? There are so many blessings in the lives of all of us that we take for granted. The cost and sacrifices that have been made for us are so often forgotten.

Our freedom was won by others—and by looking today at many of our actions they could easily say, "Were they worth it?"

It was Goethe who said: "... each generation must win anew its basic freedoms." In a sense, we must start from scratch, and that is a great responsibility.

Reported Child Abuse Cases Average More than 1,000 a Month

More and more cases of suspected child abuse and neglect are being reported to the Department for Human Resources (DHR), says Lynn McCarthy, protective services specialist in DHR's Bureau for Social Services.

Last spring, McCarthy's office received about 900 reports each month—now the average is over 1,000 per month. Kentucky law requires anyone who believes that a child is being abused or neglected to report the case to the bureau. People who report abuse-neglect cases are immune from liability.

"I don't think it's a question of more actual cases of neglect or abuse—we're just seeing more cases reported," McCarthy says. "People are more open, now, in talking about these problems."

She notes that there are seasonal patterns to the reports. During the next few weeks, she expects to see teachers reporting that they have a neglected child in their classrooms. "They'll see a child who comes to school dirty, day after day—or a child who isn't properly clothed, when cold weather hits . . . no socks or still in shorts or a cotton dress. Sometimes a teacher will say she or he thinks the child isn't getting an adequate diet," she says.

McCarthy says there are two cases of child neglect for every child abuse case. "Lack of supervision" is commonly reported in the summer months. "The Louisville office received 35 calls like that in just one day, right after school let out last summer! That's when neighbors become aware of kids running around without parental supervision."

PRATER HOMEMAKERS MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Prater Creek Homemakers Club was held in the Prater Creek school lunchroom, Sept. 26, at 7 p.m.

The vice-president, Gail Taylor, presided. Frances Pitts, county extension agent, gave the lesson on Crock-Pot Cookery. Hostess for the evening was Toda Tackett. Members present were Loretta Conn, Gail Taylor, Toda Tackett, Doris Akers, Katherine Akers, Lynn Boyd, Ruth Slone. The club welcomed these new members: Pacilla Conn, Sharon Akers, Belle Jones, Pauline Akers, Ellen Campbell, Wanda Hall, Susan Akers, Sereda Brown, Willena Campbell. The lesson for October will be on drying flowers. The next regular meeting will be October 24 at 7 p.m.

ENJOY EXCURSION

Mr. and Mrs. Larry C. Roberts, Scott and Stacey Tackett and Glenna Childers, of Banner, went by railway excursion from Elkhorn City to Spartanburg, S. C., Sept. 24, returning home on Sunday.

McCarthy describes the child abuse-neglect problem as "gigantic." She doesn't believe there are just a few major causes, but rather, a number of contributing factors: Single-parent families, families with either insufficient income or who misuse their income, parents with heavy child-care responsibilities, and parents with drinking problems are among the factors frequently cited. "Yet none of those factors occurs more than 10 or 12 per cent of the time," she says, "and social workers often report several factors."

She quotes some of the findings in a national survey taken by Parents Anonymous, a self-help group for abusive parents:

—Seventy-five percent of the abusing parents were once abused children. Verbal and emotional abuse were cited more often than physical abuse, and 17 per cent of the once-abused parents were sexually abused.

—Fifty-eight per cent reported that they had at least one child with a handicapping or "special" condition. "The handicapped child seems to run a higher risk of being abused than a normal one does," McCarthy adds.

Courses which help parents to be more effective in raising their children would mean fewer cases of neglect and/or abuse, McCarthy believes. "That's a more positive approach. We sometimes find that just pointing out alternatives—other ways of disciplining a youngster, for instance—is enough to correct a problem."

"There are two victims of child abuse—the child and the parent. We're here to help both," McCarthy says.

Your corporation can buy your life insurance with tax deductible dollars.

Advantages both ways. It's good for the corporation regardless of size, because the premiums for life insurance on corporate-owners, executives, key employees... all employees... are tax deductible as a business expense under a recent government regulation. So the employee gets the benefit of increased compensation, up to $50,000 in term life insurance purchased by the corporation, with no current income tax liability for either party! The employee can even have permanent life insurance, retain the cash values and benefits, and pay only the tax on the premium. It's a good concept.

Now, all you need is a little help to do something about it. Kansas City Life, The Lioness, would like to introduce you to one of our people who knows the ins-and-outs of this new concept.

Our people have a Concept 79 Planning Kit which provides you with an easy way to understand and plan this new benefit program for you and your employees.

Court Ruling Review Asked

House Speaker William Kenton (D-Lexington) today requested two interim joint committees of the General Assembly to review a recent state Supreme Court decision which declared the 1972 Home Rule Act for counties unconstitutional.

In a letter to Sen. Gus Sheehan Jr. (D-Covington) and Rep. Gross Lindsay (D-Henderson), Kenton calls the present state Constitution "exceedingly restrictive" and "inflexible", and states that a constitutional amendment may be "the only way to insure permanent home rule powers to our counties."

Sheehan chairs the Interim Joint Committee on Elections and Constitutional Amendments, while Lindsay heads the counties and special districts interim committee.

The Supreme Court decision, Kenton states, places Kentucky counties' participation in the Federal Flood Insurance Program in jeopardy because of Kentucky's constitutional limitations. According to program requirements, county fiscal courts must approve certain plans and implement certain controls over flood plains to become eligible for federal flood insurance.

The recent Supreme Court ruling found that "fiscal courts of this Commonwealth are not legislative bodies under the Constitution and the General Assembly cannot declare them as such." The Home Rule Act had granted counties legislative powers on limited matters.

Last week, an Associated Press story reported that, an official in the federal Department for Housing and Urban Development indicated that Kentucky could now be suspended from the federal flood insurance program, since the counties no longer have authority to take the action necessary for eligibility.

If the AP story is accurate, Kenton states, "then out citizens, particularly in eastern Kentucky, have been threatened with a most tenuous situation."

Kenton announced that he had communicated with the members of Kentucky's congressional delegation, asking them to check into the possibility of the state's being suspended from the insurance program. If such is the case, he states, "I am further requesting that appropriate congressional amendments be offered to maintain Kentucky" within the program.

"Meeting any of the challenges confronting local county governments is nearly impossible without necessary lawmaking powers," Kenton states. "If we expect fiscal courts to function in a responsible manner and provide effective leadership, we must act with dispatch to devise a mechanism to provide them the authority essential to achieving these goals."

A MESSAGE TO DEMOCRATS

★ There is a drive as never before by the Republican Party to put a Republican candidate in the Court House, whether it be County Judge, Sheriff, or Magistrate. All Democrats accept the premise that a man is but a man, but the current list of Republican candidates consists of men who have opposed the election of Jimmy Carter, Julian Carroll and even Carl Perkins, for U.S. Representative. In fact, their "slate" is headed by the Chairman of the Republican Party, who in that capacity, has fought and opposed the election of every county and state Democratic Official that has had any Republican opposition.

These Republican candidates have, and will continue to fight for the defeat of every Democratic Candidate and Official you may nominate hereafter. As a Democrat, do you want to see them continue this fight from the strength of office in the Court House, and then for the next four years challenge the candidates and goals of your party?

Vote for the party you chose and the Republican Candidates rejected, vote for your party.
