

Hale Dismisses Assistant After 3 in Jail Break

Says Door Left Open Despite His Warning; Four Fugitives Sought

The escape Monday morning of three juvenile prisoners from the county jail brought to four the number of escapees in the last two weeks.

The prisoners were listed as Dwayne Williams, Douglas Hall and Charles D. Hall, brothers.

Jailer Lawrence Hale later dismissed an assistant jailer, Jack Scott, whose alleged carelessness was responsible for the break.

Hale said Scott had gone inside the jail and had left the door open behind him. All prisoners were thought to be inside locked sections of the jail, but the juveniles apparently had jammed the lock to the juvenile cage by inserting a piece of paper in the lock. While Scott was in the section occupied by adult prisoners the three dashed through the door and down the stairway before any attempt to halt them could be made.

"I had warned him before, and since he would not follow my instructions I had nothing to do but let him go," Jailer Hale said of the firing of Scott.

Paul Osborne, the second assistant jailer from whom Homer Caldwell fled Sept. 28, said he had received a similar warning from Hale.

Monday's was Williams' second break from the jail since June. Officials said he had escaped from the Frenchburg Detention Center, or from the center's guards, on at least three occasions.

Williams was last jailed Oct. 2 on a first degree burglary charge. The charge against Charles D. Hall was listed as robbery. He was jailed Sept. 5.

Homer Caldwell, who escaped earlier, was in jail on a charge of wanton endangerment and terroristic threatening.

None of the four had been recaptured Tuesday morning.

Crime in Floyd Shows Increase Over 6 Months

Crime in Kentucky was down 12.6 per cent during the first six months of this year over the same period last year, but in Floyd county there was an increase of 11-plus per cent according to the Uniform Crime Report released last Friday by Justice Secretary John L. Smith and State Police Commissioner Ken Brandenburgh.

The crime figures for Floyd county for the first six months of this year, according to this report, were:

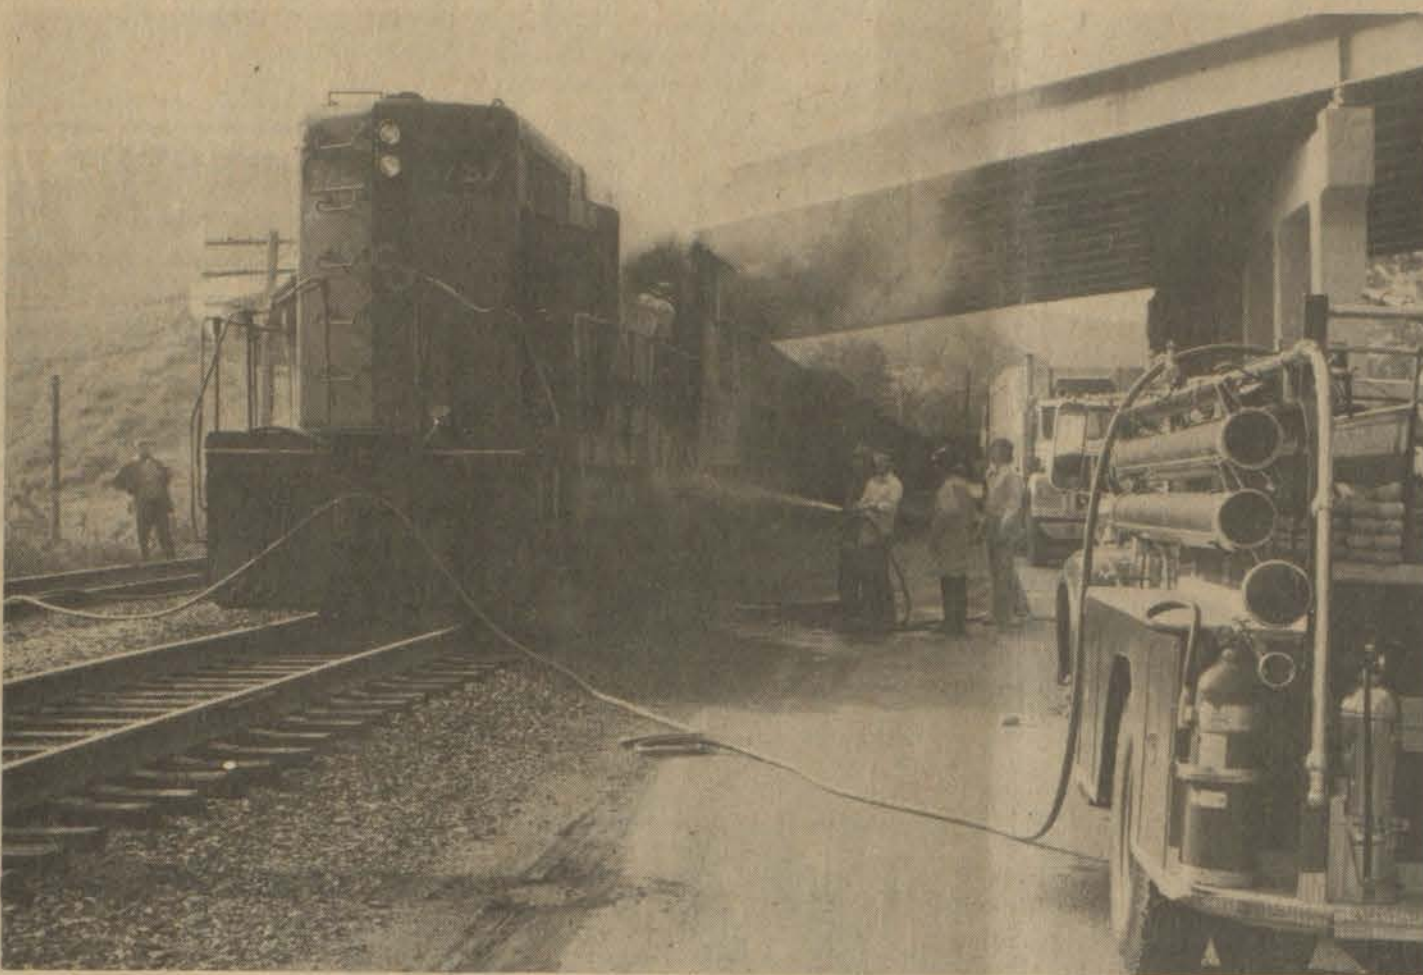

Murder and manslaughter, 4 (up from 2 in 1976); rape, 1 (4 in 1976); robbery, 5 (3 more than in 1976); wanton assault, 28 (1 less than preceding year); burglary, 66 (up by 11); auto theft, 20 (7 less); total larceny, 83 (up from 67 last year).

Violent crimes decreased over the state 15.1 per cent over the first six months of last year, while the report shows decreases in each reporting category. The largest decrease (26.9 per cent) was reported in the robbery category.

The 49,278 serious crimes reported during the first six months of 1977 were down from the 56,394 serious crimes reported the first half of 1976.

Murders dropped 10.9 per cent from 174 in the first half of 1976 to 155 in 1977. Forcible rapes went from 304 to 294, a 3.3 per cent decrease. Robberies fell 26.9 per cent from 1,666 to 1,218.

Fire Damages C. & O. Engine at Dwale, Monday

A detachment of fire fighters from the Prestonsburg Fire Department was called to Dwale, Monday morning, after a C. & O. diesel locomotive caught fire and presented, for a time, the threat of explosion.

According to Prestonsburg Fire Chief Tom Blackburn, grease and oil which had accumulated on the engine apparently ignited from the heat of the locomotive and the flames were concentrated dangerously close to the engine's diesel fuel reservoir. Blackburn said the firemen quickly extinguished the flames and cooled the engine compartment to prevent reoccurrence of the blaze.

This Town...That World

The Signs of the Zodiac and all predictions from weather satellites notwithstanding, get set for a nor'wester, batten down the hatches and start the fog horn tooting. Earl Castle has gone fishing, and I may follow suit before the week is out.

WEATHER VANES

Speaking of the weather, the NRTA Journal (whatever that is) assures one and all that frogs and bats are better weather prophets than the barometer. It claims frogs croak more before a rain because moisture irritates their skin, and bats fly low because their ears are extremely sensitive and can't tolerate the pressure which drops before a storm.

We are not inclined to argue the matter, but wonder what to do when the weather is too cold for either bats or frogs to do their thing.

All petty criticism aside, there also is a sure way to know the temperature without benefit of thermometer. Simply listen to a cricket chirp for 14 seconds, then add 40 to the number of chirps—and there you are. (Hope somebody will figure how long to count and how much to add to get Celsius.)

This, I believe, is National Newspaper Week. I knew something was wrong.

The maples have just about decided to call it a year and go out in a blaze of glory. And Mother Earth is just about ready to show the scars from her many operations.

If the Instant Replay is to have no force and effect except to give the viewer a thumpin' case of high blood pressure, why have it? First Ground Turned Monday for KY 80

Floyd county officials and citizens joined residents of adjoining counties, Governor Julian Carroll and the state Congressional delegation at the official groundbreaking Monday at Hazard for the construction of new KY 80.

Taking part in the ceremonies, which were attended by 200 or more, were Governor Carroll, Senators Ford and Huddleston, Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Former Governors Bert Combs and Louie Nunn.

State and national officials emphasized the role the new road will have in reaching untouched coal reserves in Knott county. Governor Carroll termed the occasion "one of the most exciting days in my administration" and the fulfillment of a promise he had made during his campaign for governor. He paid tribute to Ex-Governor Combs for building the Mountain Parkway, the first major highway into Eastern Kentucky, and Ex-Governor Nunn for his role in construction of the Daniel Boone Parkway.

Congressman Perkins recalled days when he followed his grandmother, barefoot, over much of the route the road will follow. He said he urged Carroll during the gubernatorial campaign not to mention the new road "unless we're going to do it."

All the speakers recognized the significance of KY 80 in the continuing development of the coal industry at a time when energy is a serious concern for the entire country.

A MATTER OF NAMES

The Kenneth Mullins listed in last week's Times as having been named on a burglary count is not the Kenneth Mullins of Mullins & Son Plumbing.

Carroll said that he has instructed Secretary of Development William Short and Secretary of Commerce Terry McBrayer to start planning for industrial and commercial sites along the new road.

"This road will have a stronger economic foundation," Carroll added.

Transportation secretary Calvin Grayson said the state hopes to have all the construction contracts let by the summer of 1978 for a hoped-for completion date in 1981.

Equal Opportunity Under Title IX . . .

Floyd Schools Ahead on Program

The Floyd County Board of Education last week adopted a policy in compliance with HEW regulations pertaining to handicapped students which will possibly require three years to complete.

At the same time, Supt. E. P. Grigsby, Jr. said Title IX implementation is complete in the Floyd county school system—well ahead of most school districts in the state.

Title IX, governed by federal guidelines, requires no discrimination against females as to employment or other opportunities, provides for equal sharing by the sexes in the school curriculum and athletic activities.

Its opening of all classes for both sexes makes, for example, welding or mechanics' courses open to women. At the same time, some male students are in home economics classes.

It was in the area of athletics that the Floyd school system scored heaviest in

16-Acre Tract Near Stanville Draws Interest

The Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Wednesday night took the first step that could mean the relocation of Betsy Layne's flood-prone schools.

This initial action authorized Supt. E. P. Grigsby, Jr. to begin negotiations with the state to acquire approximately 16 acres of land at Stratton Branch, near Stanville, as a possible future site for the Betsy Layne school plant.

Supt. Grigsby emphasized the point that this is only a first step, that no plans have been made and that final decisions remain for the future.

The state-owned site, created in the construction of new US 23, is above flood level.

Bids on construction of a central school bus garage at Hite will be opened tomorrow (Thursday). The new construction site, also beyond flood stage, is a 4.5-acre tract, near the Garth Vocational School, and will be adequate to provide parking of all buses as well as facilities for their repair.

The board of education voted to allow parents of kindergarten and first-grade pupils a grace period of six weeks in which to be in compliance with the immunization program. If compliance is not made within that time, temporary suspension of pupils from school will be necessary, it was said.

The response to the immunization program was described by health nurses as "the best yet," but a few remain—possibly an average of two or three per school—who are not in compliance, and this is the concern of school and health officials.

Council Hires New Personnel

Employment of personnel and purchase of equipment were major items in the City Council meeting here last Thursday evening.

Susan Johnson was employed as park administrator on a permanent basis, and Haroletta Potter as occupational tax administrator at a salary of $600 per month. Diana Sue Blackburn was hired as meter "maid."

Mrs. Anna Jean Tackett was renamed city treasurer, and she also will serve the city in an advisory capacity.

The police force was increased to nine members with the employment of Charles Murdock and Roger Webb as patrolmen.

A two-cubic-yard packer was purchased for the sanitation department from James Municipal Equipment on its low bid of $24,661.12, and a Nova police cruiser was purchased from Music-Carter-Hughes on its low bid of $6,314.

The Planning Commission submitted recommendations for the zoning ordinance to be adopted later.

Condition of the KAI building in West Prestonsburg was discussed, and an estimate on the cost of roof repair and painting of the building will be sought.

A complaint on the damage done to old KY 114 at West Prestonsburg by coal trucks was heard, and the Council indicated it will contact C. R. Hatton about the road repair. A request for surfacing of Hager street also was heard. Council explained that blacktop is difficult to get at this time but that the work will be done later.

She Has Always Loved Mountains—Especially Eastern Kentucky's

In mid-summer 1927 two adventurous and idealistic young public health nurses packed a few essentials into a five-year-old "Model T" Ford and departed from Berkeley, California on a difficult, cross-country trip which would end, three months later, in Prestonsburg.

With extra cans of emergency gasoline and large, canvas water bags, the two braved oppressive heat, barely passable roads, and the inevitable flat tire to come to this section of Appalachia where, they had been told by a doctor at the public health school which they attended, there existed an urgent need for medical services.

One of the women was the late Katherine Small, who would eventually return to her native California. The other, Regina Mayo Roberts, remained, and on Sept. 27 she observed the 50th anniversary of her arrival here.

Mrs. Roberts was born Regina Bitts in northern Idaho in 1894 where her parents had moved a few years earlier from Illinois during the Idaho silver rush. The family later moved to Portland, Oregon, on the western edge of the Cascade Mountains, and these early childhood years, Mrs. Roberts believes, instilled in her a love for hills and mountains.

Mrs. Roberts' friend also held an affection for rugged terrain and when the two decided to apply their public health training, it was Miss Small who suggested, "Let's go where there's pretty mountains."

"We knew there was a real need in this section for public health nurses," Mrs. Roberts recalled, "and we'd heard how beautiful the Eastern Kentucky hills were, so our minds were made up."

Before she and her companion set their sights on Appalachia, Mrs. Roberts had worked as an obstetrical nurse in Chicago, and in Portland was employed as nurse for a number of that city's wealthy residents. "But that got to be a bore," she said of her Portland work. Then came public health school where she met Miss Small.

Mrs. Roberts vividly recalls their approach to Prestonsburg after the gruelling journey: "We came to the top of Abbott Mountain and all we could see was endless mountains and valleys and we wondered how deep into that maze of trees and hills Prestonsburg could be. It was remarkably beautiful."

Funded by the Rockefeller Foundation, the young nurses bought a horse in Prestonsburg for their travel into remote sections of the county. Covering more than 50 one- and two-room schools, the young nurses would ride horseback, trains, and, as Mrs. Roberts noted, "go much of the way on foot," in an effort to reach residents of the county, many of whom had never been examined by a nurse or physician. The nurses administered thousands of typhoid immunizations, primarily to school children who were particularly exposed to the disease by swimming and playing in unclean water. Another task which occupied much of the nurses' time was the treatment of venereal disease, which Mrs. Roberts describes as "quite prevalent and widespread in the county at that time."

For more than a year the nurses endured great hardship in their field work in a land and culture much different than that of their native states, but their idealism was undaunted. "Oh, certainly it was a bit difficult at first," Mrs. Roberts said, "but the beauty of the area helped keep our spirits up."

"That first fall here was absolutely one of the most glorious experiences," she recalled. Mrs. Roberts said there were times when she would ride backward on her horse in an effort not to miss a beautiful view which would otherwise be behind her.

"I remember the sunrises and the colors," she happily recalls.

Due in large part to the work of Miss Bitts and Miss Small, a health officer from Louisville visited the area and told the nurses he would pick the best man available to come and head a county health program here. The choice was Dr. (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

The Tacketts of Kentucky won't forget Charlie Fleming and friends.

Because of them, the out-of-state visitors are convinced Ann Arbor has a heart.

Fleming is a 20-year veteran patrolman with the Ann Arbor Police Department.

A week ago, he went to University Hospital to visit his brother who recently underwent cancer surgery. While waiting outside the hospital for his ride, Fleming saw Mrs. Bernice Tackett walking toward him, a parking ticket in her hand.

"She told me she had parked her car in front of the hospital while her son was being operated on. She wanted to speak with the surgeon when the operation was over so she just waited. When she came back, the ticket was there. Worse than that, the battery in the car was leaking and dead," Fleming recalled.

Mrs. Tackett's son, 21-year-old Eddie, had been flown here two weeks ago for special surgery and treatment for a gangrenous leg. The gangrene had developed from a severe injury received in a motorcycle-car accident near Pikeville, Ky. Eddie's 26-year-old cousin had been killed in the crash.

Doctors at Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington said the only possibility to save Eddie Tackett's leg was to have him taken to Ann Arbor for the specialized treatment available at U-M Hospital.

When Mrs. Tackett came out of the hospital after the surgery to find the car ticketed and the battery dead she headed right for Fleming.

"I didn't know what to do," she said. "I was up here, and with the ticket and all, I had to tell somebody."

She blurted out her story to the officer.

He listened, told her to wait at the hospital, that he would be back.

SBA Help Approved For Beattyville

Gov. Julian Carroll was informed last Friday that the Small Business Administration has approved his request to declare the city of Beattyville a disaster area.

The action by the SBA makes Beattyville businesses eligible for low-interest loans for damages as a result of the fire September 24 resulting from a gasoline tanker truck explosion.

Total damage from that fire is estimated at between $750,000 and $1 million. In making the determination to seek the disaster assistance, Gov. Carroll had found that those who were damaged were underinsured or not insured at all.

Seven persons were killed, 11 businesses destroyed, 17 businesses damaged, and 14 automobiles burned during the fire, and 31 jobs were lost as a result.

Heads Housing Committee

Miss Julia M. May, Executive Director of the Prestonsburg Housing Authority, was elected President of the Kentucky Housing and Redevelopment Association, Inc., at the group's annual meeting in Lexington.

Miss May will serve a one-year term as head of the organization which is made up of housing authorities and community development agencies in the state. She previously served on the board of directors, representing district three which includes the eastern half of Kentucky.

Miss May, who has headed the local housing agency since 1973, was also recently named chairman of Kentucky Highlands Housing, Inc., a new regional non-profit housing corporation.

Before assuming her position here, she was an attorney on the Tax Court of the United States, and also served on the House Judiciary Committee in Washington, D. C.

The daughter of Robert V. May and the late Mrs. May, of Prestonsburg, she graduated from Wellesley College and the University of Virginia Law School, and received a master's degree in law from Georgetown University in Washington.

HUMAN NATURE has its ups and downs, as everyone knows. But according to the September Reader's Digest, using a theory known as biorhythms you may be able to plot your highs and lows accurately. When you're low—physically, emotionally or intellectually—you tend to feel fatigued, depressed and slow-witted. Some of these days are called "crisis days"—when you should be particularly alert. According to its proponents, a biorhythm chart can pinpoint the days when you should be especially careful.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Visitors at the Department of Fish and Wildlife's experimental game farm just west of Frankfort have been in for a disappointment lately, particularly those who come to view the birds and animals customarily on display there.

The animal pens are empty and many have been torn down. In fact, much of the Game Farm looks pretty much in disarray right now, and one is as likely to see a bulldozer as a buffalo.

Department officials ask the public to bear with them a while longer until the major face lifting at the Game Farm is completed. And when it is, chances are visitors won't recognize the place.

The old "exhibition row" which housed the living wildlife specimens is being torn down. In its place, if current plans go through, will stand a new administration building for fish and wildlife office staff (who now work at the Capital Plaza Tower in downtown Frankfort.)

The exhibition area will be moved to where the deer pens are now located, and the birds and animals will all have brand-new homes. The new area, according to Game Farm Superintendent Raymond Wiley, will have a much better design, with circular cages which will allow visitors to walk completely around each animal display.

The new pens will be larger, giving the animals more room for exercise and allowing more natural surroundings. A modern drainage and sewage system will be installed, providing better sanitary conditions than were possible in the old area, which was built about 20 years ago.

Wiley says that the emphasis in the new area will also change, with more native species and fewer exotics on display. "The main purpose of the farm's exhibits is to let people get a close look at the remarkable variety of our native wildlife," Wiley says.

The new exhibition area should be open to the public sometime next year, but the construction schedule will depend to a large extent upon the weather, Wiley says. Right now, he can only estimate completion "sometime from mid to late 1978."

The picnic area will remain open, as will the two fishing lakes on the farm. As in the past, closing time will be at sunset, and fishing will be limited to women, children under 16 and men over 65. The Game Farm's buffalo herd is still on public display, as are the white-tailed deer. The displays of mounted birds and animals in the present administration building will also remain open to the public.

Marvin Ransdell. According to Mrs. Roberts, "We had started various clinics in several sections of the county and they constituted about the only preventive type of medical care in the county." The doctors in the county were doing well to keep up with a curative type practice of medicine and it was the job of Dr. Ransdell and the public health nurses to attend to the business of heading off epidemics of common diseases before they had time to take hold. Their efforts represented the first real move toward establishment of a county health department.

Mrs. Roberts' first work experience here ended in 1929 when she married her first husband, the late John D. (Dick) Mayo, and later had a daughter which occupied most of her time. It was about this time that Miss Small returned to California, content, no doubt, in the feeling that her trip here had indeed been worthwhile.

Although for years most of her time was taken up being mother and wife, her "retirement" was bound to end, and, coincident with the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Roberts was asked by Mrs. Ada Harlow, then chairman of the local TB Foundation chapter, to serve as special nurse in seeking out tubercular patients who hadn't been seen before and to persuade them to submit to treatment.

By the time she began her work with the TB Foundation, typhoid and smallpox had practically been eliminated in the county, "so we could concentrate on tuberculosis, which still took a terrible toll," according to Mrs. Roberts. "I visited patients who had never been seen before," she said. "I would drive my car as far as possible and then, many times, have to walk rocks to cross the creeks." Mrs. Roberts' diligent work located twice the county's quota of tubercular patients in a short time. "This was about the time that the new 'miracle' drugs were first being used, so a great many of these patients were cured," she pointed out.

Of the many years of service which she gave to medical care in the county, perhaps her greatest contribution was in the area of parasite screening among residents of the county. She and Miss Small had spent much of their time in testing for parasites and their work revealed that from 65 to 67 per cent of school children were infested, and 75 per cent of adults.

Although Mrs. Roberts officially retired in 1960, she said she prayed, "If there's anything else You want me to do, let it be known." Then when the Ashland Sanatorium opened in 1961, serving mostly patients from Eastern Kentucky, she suggested to the hospital's director, Dr. Jones, that all patients admitted to the facility be screened for intestinal parasites. Her suggestion was heeded, and, as a result, hundreds of patients were successfully treated and cured.

Although in her 70's at the time, her retirement was a long way from complete, and Mrs. Roberts' expertise was called on again by John Milton Stumbo with the Community Action Program (CAP) which had recently been established then. "We outlined a project in a mining section of the county to demonstrate the extent of parasites in adults as well as children," Mrs. Roberts explained. That innovative endeavor, which would become known as the Ligon Project, helped identify the sources of the parasites and brought about changes in the environment that caused the unclean conditions. "Thirteen different varieties of parasites were identified—even some Oriental types that had been brought back by veterans returning from Vietnam," she pointed out.

Referring to her long work in the county, she said her "farewell cry" was to get the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare to screen returning veterans in order to prevent the introduction of Oriental parasites.

Now, 83, she appears to be, at least, retired, although she still corresponds with various agencies on health-related matters. She reads a great deal, "anything scientific," and takes pride in making varied and original dried flower and plant arrangements which are displayed on one of the many beautiful antique tables which fill her house near the Briarwood Addition here.

In April, Mrs. Roberts, who lives alone, suffered extensive flood damage to her home for the third time in 20 years. And for the third time she had to deal with the heartbreak of seeing her home and many possessions covered by silt and water. But, not surprisingly, she rebounded from the ordeal just as she did during that first flood in 1957.

Obviously, the same spirit that kept her going as she crossed the United States in a five-year-old Model T, or crossed frozen creeks on stepping stones in order to see an isolated patient, has sustained her throughout the years.

Now, if the camera's verdict had been permitted to correct the mistakes, well and good. But it isn't, and so it serves only to get a body all hot under the collar.

The recent rejection by the board of bids on flood-damaged buses paid off. The first bidder offered only $50 a bus. Readvertised, six of the buses were sold to Boone Bentley for $350 each; one to Bob Guthrie for $500, and two to Hobart Webb, Sr. for $375 each.

Hern Burke was awarded the contract to do the photography for the schools for the 1977-78 term.

Janet Lawson was employed as social studies teacher at Wheelwright High, and Judith Childers as teacher at Allen Elementary. Hazel Clifton was hired to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Bessie Draughn as special education teacher at Prestonsburg Elementary.

Teacher transfers included those of Freda Compton from Prestonsburg Elementary to Prater Elementary and Lula Bradley from Drift to McDowell.

Cora Robinette was hired as a certified substitute teacher, and Shelia Delores Linton and Onda Lowe Hunt, Prestonsburg, and Sidney Jane Bailey, Langley, as emergency substitute teachers.

Adult Education personnel employed: Para-professionals—Janice Prater and Madge Williams; part-time janitors—James Hall at Stumbo, Joan Cartmell at Prestonsburg, Don Ahannon at Martin, Clinton Little at Melvin, Thurman Handshoe at McDowell, and Walter Henegar at Wayland; teacher aides—Sturnal Duff at Wayland to replace Teresa Scott, and Billie Hunter to replace Agnes Kidd at Betsy Layne; cooks—Margie Hall, substitute at McDowell; janitors—James Garner Adkins to replace Bobby Bentley who resigned at Martin, Sept. 23; clerk—Gina Campbell, in the central office; bus drivers—Clyde Douglas DeRossett, regular driver at Allen, Wallace Vernon Ratliff and Sam Eversole, Jr. as substitute drivers.

from 2,179 last year to 2,004 this year, an eight per cent decrease. Breaking and entering cases fell 9.6 per cent from 15,492 to 14,006. Total larceny-theft reports decreased 14.2 per cent from 32,312 in 1976 to 27,712 in 1977. Auto thefts were down 8.8 per cent from 4,267 to 3,889, the report shows.

Justice Secretary John L. Smith said he believes many factors played a role in the reduction of crime across the Commonwealth, but he said one major factor is the increased emphasis the department has placed on crime prevention activities.

"When the citizens unite behind programs designed to curb crime, the ultimate effect is that crime is going to be reduced. It's a good commonsense approach, and it seems to be showing positive rewards," Smith said.

Trooper Thinks Woman's Death Was a Suicide

State Trooper Danny Stumbo, who conducted the investigation into the gunshot death last Tuesday night of Mrs. Audrey Ann Newsome, 44, postmistress at Teaberry, expressed the opinion Friday that Mrs. Newsome was the victim of a self-inflicted wound.

An official finding in the case, however, will await results of ballistics and powder residue tests being made at the State Police laboratory, Frankfort. One relative of Mrs. Newsome expressed the opinion that "it was murder."

Mrs. Newsome was shot one time in her breast with a bullet from a .32-20-calibre revolver. The weapon, found beside the body, had been fired only one time and it contained five loaded cartridges. A bullet removed from the wall of the Newsome home is believed to have been the same missile that passed through her body.

The postmistress had been dead perhaps two hours when the body was discovered by her husband, Dennis Newsome. She had attended a meeting of the Wheelwright Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, of which she was chaplain, earlier in the evening and had returned home shortly after 10 p.m., a woman friend who accompanied her home told the trooper.

A reported $1,100 was missing for a time, but later was found.

A native of Ligon, Mrs. Newsome was a daughter of the late Tim and Mary Elizabeth Henson Bentley. Surviving, in addition to her husband, are a son, Gary Newsome, Castlewood, Va.; one daughter, Miss Denise Newsome, of Pikeville; a brother, Claude Bentley, of Grethel, and two sisters, Mrs. Draxie Newsome, of Ligon, and Mrs. Dora Newsome, of Price.

Funeral rites were conducted at 10 a.m. Friday from the chapel of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home, the Revs. Orville Hamilton and Elster Elswick officiating. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens.

Floyd Mine Is Among Dozen Fined for Strip Violations

The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection collected $27,000 in September from 12 companies, including one in Floyd county, for violations of strip mine regulations.

The Conn & Hayes Coal Co. was fined $3,000 for working on an expired surface mining permit, placing spoil off the area under permit for surface mining into the floodplain of Little Mud Creek, and constructing a channel change without a permit from the department's Division of Water Resources on a site near Harold. The company agreed to submit a renewal application for a permit and submit to the water resources division all engineering data to determine what remedial work is needed on the channel change. If the remedial plan is approved, the company will have 30 days to complete the work.

Others fined were:

—Stewart Coal Co., $2,000 for strip mining prior to completion and certification of a necessary silt structure (a basin or dam used to control water runoff and sedimentation from strip mining) and constructing an access road off the area under permit for surface mining near Himyar in Knox county. The company agreed to construct the silt structure and renew permit maps.

—Leemike Coal Co., Inc., $3,000 for not maintaining silt structures and not grading or seeding a strip mine site near Cutshin in Leslie county. The company agreed to submit a plan for control of silt and complete reclamation.

—Mountain Clay, Inc., $2,000 for allowing spoil from strip mining in a "no-spoil" area. The company agreed to remove as much of the spoil as possible from the disturbed area and to grade and dress down the affected area on the company's site near Booneville in Owsley county.

—Watts & Cole Mining Co., $2,000 for pushing material over the outcrops of an operation on Cope Fork in Breathitt county. The company agreed to remove as much of the spoil as possible and to dress down the disturbed area.

—E & M Coal Co., Inc., $2,000 for strip mining in a drainage area without constructing silt structures on a site near Belcher in Pike county. The company agree to construct the structures and have them certified by a registered engineer.

—Greenbriar Coal Co., $2,000 for directing water from a site near Lacy Creek in Morgan county into an area with no silt structures and for placing spoil in a "no-spoil" area. The company agreed to remove as much of the spoil as possible, construct silt structures and dress down the disturbed area.

—Greenbriar was also fined $3,000 for removing equipment from another permitted site on the Morgan-Magoffin county line before completing reclamation. The company agreed to put back the equipment and complete reclamation on this site.

—Stansbury and Co., Inc., $2,000 for strip mining prior to certification of silt structures and allowing some material off the area permitted for surface mining on the company's site near Hoskinston in Leslie county. The company agreed to have structures certified by a registered engineer and to dress down the area disturbed by the spoil.

—Kem Coal Co., $2,000 for strip mining in a drainage area prior to construction of silt structures. The company agreed to build the structures and have them certified by a registered engineer.

—Triangle D. Coal Co., $2,000 for allowing water off permitted area and into streams near Beulah in Hopkins county. The company agreed to treat water prior to release from silt basins.

—Nally & Hayden Coal, Inc. $2,000 for constructing silt structures before submitting design plans for approval by the department's Division of Reclamation. The company agreed to submit the plans and have silt structures certified by a registered engineer.

Opinion Holds Courts May Let TV Franchise

An attorney general's opinion advised Pike county this week that the Kentucky Supreme Court's recent voiding of the home-rule statute did not deprive the county of its authority to award cable television franchises.

The high court ruled three weeks ago that the General Assembly has no authority to delegate to fiscal courts the power to enact laws because the courts are not legislative bodies. But Assistant Atty. Gen. Charles Runyan said in an opinion to James Pruitt Jr., a Pikeville attorney, this does not necessarily take away the powers of counties.

Runyan said the declaring of the home-rule law as unconstitutional does not affect the right of fiscal courts to grant cable television franchises because that step is handled under the state constitution.

"The constitution is our supreme law," he said. "(Sections) are self-operative or self-executing and require no implementing legislation on the part of the General Assembly."

Runyan said Section 164 of the constitution gives cities and counties authority to grant franchises pertaining to subjects over which "they were given supervisory jurisdiction by the laws of the state."

Since fiscal courts have control over county roads and bridges, the assistant attorney general said, they are authorized to grant franchises for the use of the public ways. Runyan told Pruitt that the fiscal court still cannot project its franchises into cities and towns. He said that power extends only to unincorporated territory inside the county.

Thoughts for the Week

By DR. RICHARD D. HOWARD

- THURSDAY: Give me strong new friends when the old prove weak Or fail me in my darkest hour of need; Why perish with the ship that springs a leak, Or lean upon a reed?
- FRIDAY: I can laugh at the world and its sages. I am greater than seers who are sad. For he is wise in all ages who knows how to be glad.
- SATURDAY: If you want to be really unique, go along and act as if Fate had not done you a wrong, and declare you have had your desserts in this life.
- SUNDAY: There is no puny planet, sun or moon, of Zodiacal sign which can control the God in us. If we bring that to bear upon events, we mold them to our wish.
- MONDAY: Believe in others. Let them see and feel esteem.
- TUESDAY: A bore is a person who insists on talking about himself when you want to talk about yourself.
- WEDNESDAY: The greatest ability is dependability.

Miss Allen-Mr. Shawhan Wed

The Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church with Rev. Walter Applegate officiating, was the setting for the wedding July 2, of Miss Betty Lynn Allen and Mr. Joseph A. Shawhan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Allen, of Prestonsburg, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Pauline Shawhan and the late Robert Shawhan, of Rush, Kentucky.

Selections of nuptial music included "We've Only Just Begun," "Evergreen," and "Wedding Prayer" by soloist Jerry B. Lafferty and Mrs. Kathryn Frazier, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza over taffeta, fashioned with a high neckline, bibbed bodice and long tapered sleeves of venise lace and pearls. Her princess-line skirt was accented with appliques and terminated into a cathedral train with a deep flounce of matching lace. A camelot cap held her elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white phaleanopsis orchids with a cascade of stephanotis, ivy and white silk flowers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Margaret M. Mitchell, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Dianna A. Zemo and Sharon Ellis. They wore floor-length sleeveless gowns of yellow plaid organza, fashioned with a scoop neck, natural waistline. Their Aline skirts were enhanced by a deep flounce as were the necklines. They carried bouquets of yellow cymbidium orchids accented with dracaena foliage.

Kathy Hensley, cousin of the bride, who was flower girl, wore a floor-length hooped dress of yellow chiffon. She carried a white basket with yellow sweetheart roses. Robert Parsons, nephew of the groom was ringbearer.

Mr. Mike Bryant, of Ashland, served as best man. Ushers were Albert Parsons, brother-in-law of the groom, and Greg Blevins.

The bride's mother chose a floor-length peach chiffon dress with silver accessories and white phaleanopsis orchids for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother wore a navy street-length dress with matching accessories and white phaleanopsis orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Blue Room of the church. Assisting were Mrs. Keith S. Alley, Mrs. Palmer Marshall, Jr., and Mrs. Carl R. Horn. Gail Hensley and Sandy Honeycutt, cousins of the bride, served cake and punch to the guests. Karen Hensley, cousin of the bride, assisted at the guest register.

After a wedding trip through the South, Mr. and Mrs. Shawhan are residing on Short Street, Prestonsburg.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

Members of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club held their regular monthly meeting, last Thursday evening, in the clubroom of the Floyd County Library. Mrs. Helen Ankrom, president, presided. Mrs. Garnet Fairchild led the group in prayer. The Pledge to the Flag was led by Mrs. Ankrom. Mrs. Martha Hicks was accepted as a new member of the club. Mrs. Hicks' sponsors will be Mrs. Nancy Martin and Mrs. Jo Ann Johnson.

Michael Parlier, of the Kidney Foundation at Highlands Regional Hospital, was introduced by Mrs. Dorothy Stover, program leader for the meeting. Mr. Parlier showed a film on the diseases of the kidneys and their treatment. A question-and-answer period followed the showing of the film.

Mrs. Ankrom announced that the first 50 Kentucky club women submitting reservations for the trip to Phoenix, Arizona next June for the installation of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sowards, of Pikeville, as GFWC president, will be allowed to serve as hostesses during the meeting there. Reservation blanks may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ankrom or Mrs. James Adams.

Representing the club during Red, White and Blue Day, on October 22, will be Mrs. Rhoda Brickley and Mrs. Docia Woods.

Names and money collected for the Birthday Calendar were submitted to the treasurer, Mrs. Stover. Mrs. Bill Pettrey submitted 260 birthday names and $75.00 for advertisements sold by her. The total amount collected by the club members will be announced after these amounts have been totaled.

The president gave a report on the Seventh District meeting, which was held at Martin, October 1, and the fall board meeting and conference, held at Ft. Mitchell, September 25-27.

Hostesses for the evening were Mesdames Donald Fitch, James P. Davis, Marshall Davidson, Byron Nunnery, James Donahoe, Henry Curtis, Stanley Combs, and Zella Archer. Refreshments consisting of cake and coffee were served to Miss Christine Spradlin, Mesdames Lucy Regan, Minnie Grace Sutherland, Dolly Pettrey, Wonnell Godsey, Hermania Rivera, Mable Brown, Rhoda Brickley, Jo Ann Johnson, Beatrice Collins, Garnett Fairchild, Turp Combs, Dorothy Stover, Docia Woods, Helen Ankrom, and Dorothy Burke.

The club's next meeting will be Thursday evening, November 3, at 8 o'clock, in the Floyd County Library. The leader will be Mrs. Tom O. McGuire, and the hostesses will be Mesdames Ed Ousley, Clyde Burchett, D. L. Brown, C. M. Rivera, Victoria Spradlin, Robert Rennie, George Shannon and Ed Bierman.

A MESSAGE TO DEMOCRATS

There is a drive as never before by the Republican Party to put a Republican candidate in the Court House, whether it be County Judge, Sheriff, or Magistrate. All Democrats accept the premise that a man is but a man, but the current list of Republican candidates consists of men who have opposed the election of Jimmy Carter, Julian Carroll and even Carl Perkins, for U.S. Representative. In fact, their "slate" is headed by the Chairman of the Republican Party, who in that capacity, has fought and opposed the election of every county and state Democratic Official that has had any Republican opposition.

These Republican candidates have, and will continue to fight for the defeat of every Democratic Candidate and Official you may nominate hereafter. As a Democrat, do you want to see them continue this fight from the strength of office in the Court House, and then for the next four years challenge the candidates and goals of your party?

Vote for the party you chose and the Republican Candidates rejected, vote for your party.

MITCHELL-HAMILTON VOWS SAID

The marriage of Miss Sharon Kay Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mitchell, of Beaver, Kentucky, to Mr. Aubry Dean Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hamilton, of Teaberry, was solemnized at 2 p.m. September 17, at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah Witnesses by William Wells, officiating minister.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Quiana gown with embroidered french lace at the high neckline and down the shoulders forming a split cap sleeve, around the waist and edging the cathedral-length train. Her cathedral-length illusion veil and blusher were edged with the matching lace. The bride carried a snow shower bouquet cascading with white carnations, pink miniature sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath with pink and white lace streamers.

Mrs. Donna Rice, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a burgundy halter gown with a chiffon cape. Her burgundy picture hat of horsehair was edged with burgundy maribu. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink miniature carnations, miniature sweetheart roses and baby's breath with matching streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Loretta Mitchell and Mrs. Alva Mitchell, sisters-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Charolett Frasure, sister of the groom. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns in pink with pink horsehair hats edged with pink maribu. Their colonial bouquets were of burgundy carnations, miniature pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath with matching streamers.

The flower girl, Lisa Mitchell, niece of the bride, wore a pink floral print gown. She carried a miniature colonial bouquet identical to the bridesmaids.

Audrey Hamilton, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Gary Mitchell, James Mitchell, brothers of the bride, and Patrus Newsome, brother-in-law of the groom. David Mitchell, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Gregory Frasure nephew of the groom, was aisle attendant.

A pool side reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mitchell following the ceremony. The hostesses for a buffet dinner that served 150 guests were Mrs. Jenny Pagliard, of Pickerington, Ohio, and Mrs. Jeanette Trott, of Columbus, Ohio. The four-tiered wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Sharon Newsome, cousin of the bride.

Out-of-town guests were Delmer Jones, Shelby Jones and family, of Pataskala, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Trott, James and Dana, Mrs. Clara Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Howell, of Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jones and Angie, of Wyandotte, Michigan; Miss Gail Burkett, of Chula, Georgia; Mrs. Jenny Pagliard, of Bickerington, Ohio, and Mr. Arvett Sturgill, of Dayton, Ohio.

After a wedding trip to the Great Smoky Mountains, the couple is now residing at Beaver.

Pikeville College Gets $15,000 Grant

A grant of $15,000 was received October 3 by Pikeville College from the Gulf Oil Foundation for unrestricted use by the school.

Dr. Jackson O. Hall, president of the college, said the money will be used to assist in rebuilding made necessary as a result of the April flooding.

The grant is part of approximately $3 million that Gulf will distribute this year to further educational programs of colleges and universities in the United States and its territories. The grant to Pikeville College is a result of a proposal made by Dr. William J. Higginbotham, vice president for development and public relations.

Visiting the Pikeville campus to present the check to President Hall were Larry M. Johnston, of Louisville, sales director for Gulf Oil in Kentucky; Richard Ray, of Lexington, sales supervisor for central and eastern Kentucky; and C. R. Rice, of Prestonsburg, all markets representative for Gulf.

Campton Lake Work To Cost $400,000

Improvements to the dam at Campton Lake will cost about $400,000, according to an architectural estimate by Kenney Engineers of Lexington.

Under the project, the existing dam in Wolfe county will be brought up to current state standards for Class B structures. The height will be increased, embankment slopes will be modified to provide greater stability, and emergency drawdown facilities will be provided.

Bid date on the project is Oct. 26.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

The surface temperature at most of Kentucky's lakes is now in the mid to low 70's, a signal for those anglers who stay in the shade during the heat of summer to start getting back on the water.

Beneath the surface, the bass are starting to sense this drop in water temperature and they, like us, recognize that winter is, one the way. They are beginning to stir around and become more active, leaving their deep water lairs where they have spent most of the summer, and are prowling the shoreline in search of food.

We usually get some fairly heavy fall rains about this time of year, rains which will give some color to the crystal-clear waters of summer. The light penetrating the water won't be as harsh now, won't bother the sensitive eyes of the bass. He'll start spending more and more time in shallow water, where the temperature and light penetration are within his comfort range, and where food is abundant.

His primary food—shad—have been growing all summer and are now large enough to make a mouthful for even a lunker bass. He likes this, too, because his appetite is increasing. When the water turns cold, his metabolism will slow down, he will become less active and will take less food. But now, in the fall, he is "storing up" for the lean months ahead.

The experienced angler knows all of this, is aware of what is happening in the under water world of the bass, understands the physical changes in the fish's environment and the physiological changes in the fish itself. Like the bass, the bass fisherman starts getting restless in the fall. The shortening days, he knows, presage the coming of the gloom of winter when only the hardest of souls continue fishing.

Time is short and the water is waiting; conditions are right for some of the best fishing of the year. Compared to summer, the lakes seem almost deserted—the same cool water that brings the bass near the surface has also sent most pleasure boaters and water skiers to other pursuits inland. Even many sportsmen have left the lakes with the departure of summer, lured away perhaps by the call of squirrel, dove or bow deer hunting.

Yes, fall is one of the best fishing seasons of the year in Kentucky. Those surface lures which have lain in a back tray in the tackle box all summer can be brought out now and chugged or twitched along the edge of shoreline cover, cast beside stumps or exposed treetops or pulled enticingly over submerged logs or rocks. Spinner baits and medium running lures also usually work well at this time of year, and that old standby, the plastic nightcrawler, will take its share of fish, too.

The knowledgeable fisherman also keeps alert for disturbances out in the lake, away from the shoreline. He knows that shad are schooling near the surface and that hungry fish—both black bass and white bass—often pursue these schools. At the first sign of surface activity, he moves his boat quietly into casting range and lets fly with either a surface lure, a spinner or a shad-imitating lure.

Night fishing for white bass and crappie is also productive in the fall.

WISCONSIN—The Badger State—is so called not because of animals but because of people. The October Reader's Digest relates that Cornishmen from England came to work Wisconsin lead mines in the 1820s. Because many of them dug shelters into hillsides like batgers, people started calling them that. Wisconsin is also known as the Land O'Lakes for the 10,355 lakes that splash its countryside.

although the chilly nights can be a little uncomfortable. Daytime crappie anglers can also often locate schools of fish by drift fishing over submerged cover areas. And fishing the tailwaters below the dams on our larger lakes can yield a surprising number and variety of fish. So don't put your boat and fishing tackle into winter storage yet—there's still a lot of good fishing in front of you this season.

Notice of Intention To Mine

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Western Coal Corporation, P. O. Box 940, Paintsville, Kentucky 41240, intends to file an application for the surface mining of approximately 207 acres located southeast of Odds in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 3 miles southeast of State Route 3's junction with Right Fork of Daniels Creek road and located south of the Right Fork-Daniels Creek, latitude 37 degrees 43' 32", longitude 82 degrees 37' 47". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Pocahontas Land Corporation. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Top removal and hollow fills.

The application will be filed at the Division of Reclamation, Prestonsburg Area Office, 327 North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described strip mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must be forwarded to the Director, Division of Reclamation, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

You have more power over your electric bill than you think.

No matter what we do to help keep your electric bill in line, there's one thing we have no power over.

The amount of power you use. So we'd like to point out the most significant places where only you have the biggest opportunities to save.

Insulation

6 to 12 inches of insulation in your attic could save you real money each year. You'll save even more if you insulate your walls, heating ducts and hot water pipes.

Caulking, weatherstripping, storm windows, shades and drapes also help keep heat inside in winter, and outside in summer.

Thermostat Control

Lower your thermostat in winter. Each degree below 68°F can save three percent of the energy needed for heating. If you have air conditioning, a higher thermostat setting will also save energy in summer.

Hot Water Use

You can save up to 5% a year of the energy needed to heat water if you turn your water heater thermostat down to 120 degrees and take quick showers instead of baths.

Fix leaky hot water faucets promptly. And wash clothes in cold water, if you can. Washing and drying only full loads of clothes and dishes is more economical, too.

Appliance Efficiency

If you're in the market for appliances and equipment, look for the new energy saving features on refrigerators, freezers, and dishwashers. Choose an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) of 8 or higher on room air conditioners.

While there are a lot more ways to save electricity, these are the ones that will make the biggest impression on your bill.

Can We Wave The Flag Too Much?

by SIDNEY L. DeLOVE

Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Provided, of course, that you wave it with integrity? Is it possible to study Lincoln or Shakespeare too much? Is it possible to read the Bible too much? The great, the good, the true, are inexhaustible for inspiration, example and strength. I believe that we are not waving our flag enough, not nearly enough. It seems to me that we are developing a tendency to be timid or even apologetic about waving the stars and stripes. Walk up and down the streets on July 4th and count the flags. It is our nation's birthday, a sacred day in world history, the most important day of America. Why isn't the flag flying on every rooftop and from every home and building? This complacent attitude is strong evidence of cancerous patriotic decay. The flag is a symbol of our national unity. It is the spirit of our undying devotion to our country. It stands for the best that is in us . . . for loyalty, character, and faith in democracy. Isn't our flag a synonym of the United States of America? Does it not represent man's greatest, noblest, most sublime dream? Is it not the zenith of achievement, the goal to which generations have aspired? Ladies and gentlemen, I believe it is time for us . . . for the mad, rushing Twentieth Century American . . . to stop for a moment and think. Let us arrest our near reverential admiration of material success and return to the spiritual and ethical values. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded. Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions? Isn't the flag Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Franklin, Washington, Nathan Hale, Gettysburg and Valley Forge, Paul Revere, Jackson and other great men and women who have given us our heritage. When you look at the flag can't you see the Alamo, Corregidor, Pearl Harbor, Bataan, Merrimac, Wake Island, and Korea? Lest we forget, isn't the flag Flanders Field, Bataan, Iwo Jima, Normandy, Babe Ruth and Davy Crockett? The great events of our past and present are wrapped up in our flag. It is a symbol of this blessed nation, a giant in industry, education and commerce. Millions of fertile square miles, wheatlands, coal mines, steel plants. Our great republic, the chosen infant destined to be man's last and remaining hope for suffering humanity, a shining beacon of light, noble and glorious, the haven for the oppressed and persecuted and truly God's gift to mankind. That is what the flag means to me. Can we wave it too much? I don't think so.

Reply of S. L. DeLove on the Know Your History Hour, December 30th, 1956, to a listener who wrote as follows: "Your programs are wonderful — especially the no commercials — but you are waving the flag too much." The above has been reprinted annually in many national magazines, newspapers and radio stations, and is a part of the Congressional Record. Dr. DeLove is the author of The Quiet Betrayal and president of Independence Hall of Chicago.

HOW RED, WHITE AND BLUE DAY BEGAN

By MARCELLA BAILEY, Founder of Red, White and Blue Day

A lot of people, both young and old, have asked me time and time again, "Marcella, how did you come up with the idea on the parade?"

Remember back in the '60's when our country was being treated very, very badly—burning of the flag, draft card burners, people just trying to destroy our beautiful country called, America... news media, television, etc., giving all the publicity to those types of people—never giving our good kids any publicity for the good deeds they were doing. So this bothered me, each day as I worked at home... I really had time to think, being a housewife and I love Mother Nature and all the things God has given us here on this good earth and yet a lot of people take 'em for granted.

As I worked each day, I wanted to do something, and then I would say, "No, Marcella, not you, you're not a college graduate,"—sorta had a complex but I overcame this and I went to work, getting a parade together. I wrote letters to people who I thought might help, used the telephone talking to the schools, principals, teachers, parents, kids—everybody—spent many hours, but while I was working on the parade, I also took care of my family, trying not to neglect them. I loved what I was doing, made many, many friends; and the first parade was put together in three weeks' time and they say it was the biggest crowd to ever be in Prestonsburg, Ky. We operated on a shoestring budget. People are so patriotic and willing to spend their own time and money for such a good cause. They realize that their freedom is worth everything and God has been so good to everyone.

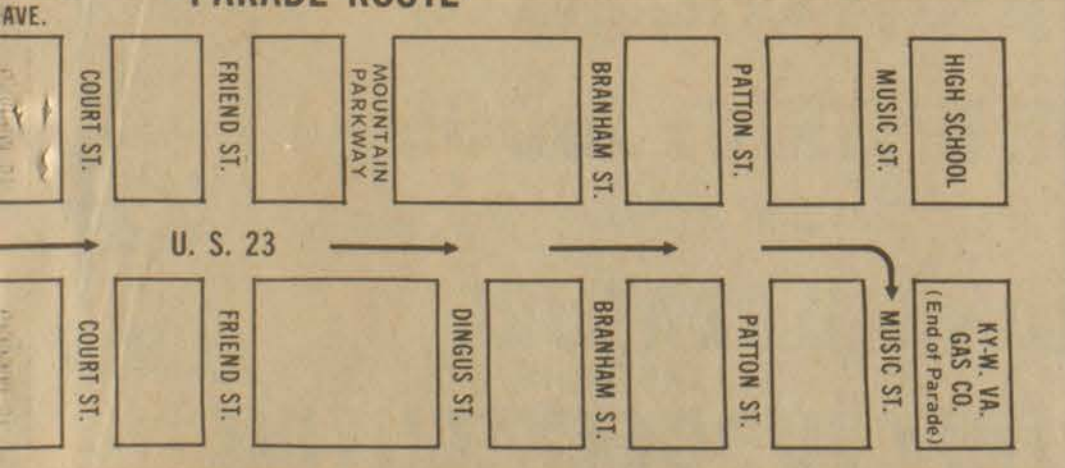

God comes first and then our freedom—without it what would we do? I surely wouldn't be sitting here writing for a free press. People, stop and think and go to work, encourage every American to go to work, also, and help preserve our freedom that God has given us.

All you good people living away in other states—try and make it back home for our eighth annual event, come Saturday, Oct. 22. You're all welcome to participate. We need you.

All you Veterans, Gold Star mothers, the deceased ones who fought and died for all—we want to remember everyone. Red, White & Blue Day has grown by leaps and bounds but it still needs to grow all over the nation. You good, patriotic citizens get busy and write Governor Carroll, Senator Walter Huddleston, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510, and Senator Wendell H. Ford, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510, or Congressman Carl D. Perkins, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20510, and urge them to give more support and get a national holiday declared. Next to God what is more important than your freedom? So, people, please get busy, go to work, work for a great cause—Freedom and love of God—let's revive patriotism throughout America.

God Bless all,
MARCELLA BAILEY

Big Sandy CAP Given $369,567 For Home Work

Secretary for Human Resources Peter D. Conn has announced that five Eastern Kentucky Community Action Agencies (CAA's) will receive federal grants totalling $369,567 to provide funds for weatherization programs for a period of six months.

Grants were awarded to:
—Big Sandy Community Action Program, Inc., Paintsville, $128,304.
—Lake Cumberland Community Services Organization, Inc., Somerset, $116,808.
—Northeast Kentucky Area Development Council, Olive Hill, $30,795.
—Bell-Whitley Community Action Agency, Pineville, $53,520.
—Harlan County Community Action Agency, Inc., Harlan, $40,140.

Weatherization programs repair and improve energy savings of the homes of elderly and low-income people. The purpose of these programs is to lessen the impact of high fuel costs to individuals and families, and to reduce the amount of energy their homes consume.

ATTEND MEETING

Mrs. Edith James and Miss Betty Rowland recently attended the Big Sandy Valley Historical Society luncheon and meeting at Pikeville College, and later the same day they went to Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, where they attended the Folk Festival in progress there.

Work of Pike Co. Woman To Be Bush Art Feature

The Appalachian Guild of Artists and Craftsmen will feature Sharon Lee Tackett, of Pike county, beginning Saturday, October 15, and continuing through October 30.

On the evening of October 15, there will be a reception between 4 and 8 p.m. at which Miss Tackett will be present to discuss her work with interested individuals. The artist's work will be presented at the Bush Art Gallery in Prestonsburg.

Forty-one-year-old Miss Tackett, who is currently a student at the Eastern Kentucky Rehabilitation Center at Thelma, Kentucky, has been a quadriplegic since the age of 21, when she fell victim to polio. She devoted two years to learning to write her name again against odds of almost total paralysis. She now has partial freedom of movement through use of an electric wheelchair.

Since coming to the Rehab. Center in 1973, Sharon has been devoted to the study of art and has received instruction from artist Clyde Pack, of Paintsville. With no previous training in the field, Miss Tackett has currently been accepted by the Appalachian Guild of Artists and Craftsmen and by the international Sister Kenny Institute of Art for the Handicapped in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Her works include colored pencil and ink drawings, oils, and will feature portraits and landscapes.

The Bush Gallery is located next to Sears on North Route 23 in Prestonsburg, and is open 10 a.m. through 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday.

VOTING ONLY ONE WAY IS DEADLY!

Careless, unthinking voting habits become a way of life that is dangerous. Practice good voting habits every year. Here's a checklist that you could call "preventive medicine":

1. Unlike the people ruled by the men pictured above, you have the right to choose our leaders. Use that God given right.
2. Vote for the candidate you believe will best serve the interest of all the people, regardless of party affiliation.
3. Vote for someone with fresh ideas, someone who believes in progress for all of us.
4. Don't vote for a man because someone else told you to...and don't be intimidated. We have a secret ballot. You and God are the only ones who know how you vote.
5. Remember: a one-party system results in having leaders like the men above.

ON ELECTION DAY, VOTE FOR THE MAN— NOT THE PARTY!

I was raised on a small farm on Johns Creek. I have 12 years' mining experience. I have been in the lumber business—have owned two saw mills, have been a service station operator, owned Foley's Bakery and Restaurant eight years and have been Electrolux representative for 15 years.

I don't like Floyd county being called a poverty area. We all know Floyd county has the richest coal and gas fields in the state. I would like to do something about it.

Apple Butter Sale Reported Successful

The East Point Area Development Club met October 6, with W. L. Baldrige, chairman, presiding.

It was reported that club members and others of the community made 1997 quarts of apple butter for the 1977 Apple Festival and sold almost all of it, leaving less than 50 quarts unsold at this time.

The $63.75 in tickets sold on the gallon of dried apples (Mrs. Glenda Penix, Paintsville, won it) will be presented to the Blue Grass Woodman of the World Youth Camp, October 15, at Lexington. The Sulphur Spring project will be continued until next year.

Checking on the Masonic grave at the Taulbie DeRossett farm will be made soon.

It was also reported that the "Green Box" placed near the Community Center recently was serving quite adequately and area surrounding it is being kept neat and clean.

Landon Tackett will install lights for the "Applebutter Shelter" built recently with Revenue Sharing Funds. He will also order new windows for the Center out of these same funds. The club will also buy a canopy for front door of the Center, and plans for concrete steps were discussed.

A motion made by Herbert Spradlin to give appreciation certificates to all 70 years of age or older, who helped the club make apple butter was passed. Chairman Baldrige said women of the club could plan an "appreciation party" to be held soon.

Plans were discussed about making a booth which would withstand rain and inclement weather.

Fried apple pies were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Leake, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Baldrige, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spradlin, Mr. and Mrs. Landon Tackett, Bill Williams, Mrs. Dells Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis DeLong, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gray, Mrs. Dorothy Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dunnagan and Mrs. Alma Baldrige.

Shepherd-Ousley Vows Said

Miss Glenda Joyce Shepherd and Mr. Danny Ousley were united in marriage at the bride's home in David, Monday, August 1, at 6 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlen E. Shepherd, of David, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornealis Ousley, of Risner. The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Ashland Shepherd.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long gown of white satin with long sleeves of white organza.

Virginia Pitts, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and David Ousley, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Mrs. Shepherd chose for her daughter's wedding a street-length dress of white polyester. Mrs. Ousley, mother of the groom, wore a street-length dress of peach polyester.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ousley are residing at Risner.

'Back to Basics' Declared
Need in Kentucky Schools

"Back to basics" was a phrase heard over and over again in meetings of the Governor's Conference on Education in Louisville last week.

Concerns over test scores and illiterate high school graduates and cries for accountability in the schools have produced a vocal segment in support of returning to a strong basic education.

The vice-chairman of one subcommittee (there were 33 formed to study Kentucky education) said his committee was concerned with seeing school children "learn the basics of finding and holding a job, writing checks, reading newspapers and living in today's society."

One parent delegate from eastern Kentucky told a subcommittee, "The basic skills need to be stressed. My children aren't getting them in school. The curriculum is so broad that teachers have no time to teach the basics."

Another conference participant said, "When the legislature is allowed to mandate consumer education, drug education and career education, there's no time for teachers to teach basics."

A teacher told the program accountability subcommittee, "I resent being held accountable for teaching language arts and having time taken away from that to teach consumer education and career education."

The subject of "basic" figured prominently in a subcommittee dealing with goals of education. James Melton, executive director of Kentucky School Boards Association, said that over the years schools have been mandated to teach consumer, career, character and other types of education.

"For too long schools have been a panacea for all society's ills," said Melton, adding, "Schools can't assume the total responsibility for the viable condition of the societal structure of each community."

Delegates attending the goals meeting expressed feelings that Kentucky's educational goals should be more specific and should limit the schools' responsibilities in areas other than basic education.

The question of competency based education also came under heated discussion during one of the conference's subcommittee meetings.

The subcommittee on curriculum submitted a preliminary report calling for the initiation of a uniform student assessment program, implementation of a local district educational improvement program and initiation of a minimum standard of competency program.

Dr. Thomas Kelley, of Louisville, noted, "Not having some measure of competency connected with receiving a high school diploma is perpetrating a fraud."

Others opposed standardized testing as not accurately reflecting what a child has learned. Ann Hutchins, a remedial reading teacher from Henderson, said, "The tests are not valid."

SPAIN'S KING VISITS PANAMA, CALLS FOR TREATY RATIFICATION

PANAMA CITY, Panama—Panama's head of government, Gen. Omar Torrijos, told Spain's King Juan Carlos Saturday that his visit to Panama "symbolizes for us the re-encounter with our past, our culture and our customs."

For his part, the king praised the new Panama Canal treaties and said: "I hope President Carter and Gen. Torrijos find the necessary support from their respective peoples which is necessary for ratification of the treaties."

The two leaders exchanged the comments during Juan Carlos' one-day visit to Panama, the last stop on a 10-day tour of Central America with Queen Sophia.

Governor Says Requests For Education Too Costly

In a speech which ended the four-day Governor's Conference on Education, Gov. Julian Carroll pledged his strong support for the concept of accountability and promised that every recommendation from the conference would be presented to the 1978 General Assembly.

Gov. Carroll, frequently interrupted by applause, assured the group that he would place high priority on escalating funding for kindergartens, trying to meet competitive teachers salaries of seven sister states and responding to the special educational needs of exceptional children.

The task would not be easy, he noted. "The price tag on many of these recommendations are astronomical." The governor said that basic recommendations identified so far would require three to four times more new dollars than will be available for the entire state government.

The general fund for the next biennium will contain 125 to 150 million new dollars he said. In looking for new sources of funding, Gov. Carroll said he was not planning to suggest added state taxation. "I don't believe however, that local support of the school system has been adequate," he said, adding that there was no reason why property taxes alone should be the primary source of local school money.

Gov. Carroll placed the blame for poor support of education in Kentucky on a lack of public confidence in the educational system.

"The people of this state are not fully convinced that we are spending our educational dollars responsibly and wisely. They are not convinced that they are getting full value for their dollars."

"Until we can convince them, they will not willingly give any more money to education," Gov. Carroll continued.

"We want a high school diploma to insure that when a student goes out in the world, he is ready to fill out employment forms, that he can write legibly, that he can spell the words correctly, that he can speak distinctly with the specific knowledge he needs to convince that employer to hire him or her," he said. "It concerns me that Kentucky has had one of the highest high school dropout rates in the United States," he said.

It also concerned him, he said, that Kentucky has a low level of educational attainment, that so many youngsters have to repeat the first grade, that the juvenile crime rate in Kentucky is astronomical, that support for education in Kentucky has been so low.

Many of the concerns he named and other concerns were addressed during the four day meeting which brought together teachers, parents, administrators and concerned citizens to discuss the future of education in Kentucky.

Hundreds of recommendations from 33 subcommittees will be forwarded to the Governors task force on education steering committee and the 1978 General Assembly.

Miss Lafferty-Mr. Hites Vows Said

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lafferty, Jr., of Prestonsburg announce the marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Mr. Timothy Ross Hites, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hites. The candlelight ceremony was solemnized August 13, at 6:30 in the evening at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church with the Rev. W. D. Jagers officiating.

The church was decorated throughout with talisman roses, peaches and cream carnations, and greenery. Spiral candle holders flanked the front of the church, and candles also were used to decorate the aisle, and the rear of the church.

A pre-nuptial recital was presented by Mrs. Alice Grey Buchanan, organist, and Mr. Jerry Bryan Lafferty, brother of the bride. Mrs. Buchanan presented a contemporary program consisting of "Theme From Love Story," "A Time for Us," "Speak Softly Love," "My Cup Runneth Over With Love," "We've Only Just Begun," "Close to You," and for the ceremony she played Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary," Gounod-Bach's "Ave Maria," as well as the traditional wedding marches. Mr. Lafferty sang "If," "One Hand-One Heart," "The Wedding Prayer," and played a concert arrangement of "Colour My World."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of ivory silk and French Alencon lace, fashioned with an Alencon lace bodice, high crown collar, long fitted sleeves, and an A-line skirt that swept to a chapel train. Alencon lace edged the hemline, and a vertical row of lace accented the front of the gown. Her headpiece, a fingertip silk illusion mantilla, was edged in matching lace. She carried white cymbidium orchids, talisman roses, and stephanotis in a cascade.

The maid of honor, Miss Marsha Kay Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, wore a gown of melon knit, fashioned with a shirred bodice, complimenting an A-line pleated knit gown with a georgette chiffon cape.

The attendants, Mrs. Anita Lafferty, of Allen, Miss Kathy Harris, of Prestonsburg, Miss Terri Russell, of Pomeroy, Ohio, and Miss Dianne Dossett, of Frankfort, wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried peaches and cream carnations and talisman roses in a colonial bouquet, and wore sweetheart roses in their hair.

Miss Martha Michelle Lafferty served her aunt as flower girl. She wore a printed gown over a melon underlay, and carried talisman roses in a wicker basket.

Mr. John Feltman, of Lexington, served Mr. Hites as best man. The groomsmen were Jerry Bryan Lafferty, of Allen, Jeff Wells, of Auxier, Ricky Yates, of Prestonsburg, and Melvin Scarberry, of Louisa.

Miss Lisa Lafferty, cousin of the bride, was at the guest registry.

Mrs. Lafferty chose for her daughter's wedding a mint green chiffon dress with a georgette chiffon cape and matching accessories. She wore a white phaleanopsis orchid corsage. Mrs. Hites wore a pastel blue Qiana dress with matching accessories and white phaleanopsis orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bryan Miller, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a pink Qiana gown with chiffon overlay, and Mrs. Jerry Lafferty, Sr., paternal grandmother wore a coral Qiana dress with an overlay of floral chiffon. Their corsages were also of white phaleanopsis orchids.

The reception was at the Plantation Motel where hostesses were Mesdames Harold J. Stumbo, Clifford Wright, Print Ball, Adrian Lafferty, James H. Lafferty, and Thomas D. Lafferty, all of Prestonsburg.

After a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S. C., the couple have resumed their studies at Eastern Ky. University, Richmond.

Akers' Amended Answer, Claim Ask $801,000

The pending litigation between Everett Akers, of Martin, and the Triple Elkhorn Mining Company was marked Oct. 1 by the filing by Akers, the Akers Cable System and the Big Sandy Telecasting Company of a second amended answer and counterclaim in which they ask of the coal company a total of $801,000.

Items in the counterclaim allege that: —The cable system was worth $500,000 before blasting in the vicinity of the mountaintop tower but is now worth only $160,000.

—The system had a $250,000 loss of income over a period of 25 months.

—The company owes Akers $100,000 for coal haulage over his land.

—Akers' home has been damaged $100,000 and his land $10,000.

In support of Akers' claims a report made by John Andrews, Dallas, Texas structural engineer, was filed. Andrews reported that "a conservative estimate of head and equipment, building and reception antennae would be in excess of $100,000, exclusive of support tower."

Warren L. Braun, Virginia engineer, recommended on the basis of Andrews' report that the present tower site be abandoned "to avoid predictable demise of the tower at some unknown near future date, which would essentially put the Akers Cable System out of business."

(Plaintiffs' claims reported in damage actions do not reflect both sides of such cases.)

Blood Needs Cited As Drive Scheduled At Martin, Oct. 20

A Floyd county blood drive is scheduled next Thursday (Oct. 20) at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Martin, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., it was announced this week by the Central Kentucky Blood Center.

Urging residents of the county to respond to the urgent need for blood, a spokesman for the Center said, "There are many hospitalized patients right here in Floyd county having surgery who may be wondering where their blood is coming from."

It also was emphasized that a blood donation guarantees the donor and his or her immediate family all their blood needs for the next year.

As a prelude to the blood drive at Martin, Our Lady of the Way Hospital there, in conjunction with the Central Kentucky Blood Center, is sponsoring a poster contest on giving blood. The contest is open to Martin elementary students through Oct. 13. Judging will be on Friday, Oct. 14, with one winning poster from each grade. Winners will have posters displayed at the church during the blood drive. The posters also will be used in future drives.

For further information relating to either the blood drive or poster contest, contact Brother Dave Fitzgerald at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Phone 285-3251.

Wrong? Oh, nothing much. They were just born. It seems odd that they have to pay with a lifetime of hunger. The statistics are so crushing in many parts of the world that even the cynics are moved. And we're getting people to help these children. Peace Corps Volunteers. Yes, the Peace Corps. Remember us? We've been quiet for a while, but in case you've forgotten, we're alive and well. And waiting for you. If you've got the commitment, we'll give you the skills you need. You've always said you wanted a meaningful career. Well, our job specs won't lie to you. The hours are tough. The pay is lousy. But you'll become a part of a community and learn a new language, discover a new culture. You'll learn more than you teach. The impossible may take a little longer, but it can happen, in small pieces. 2,000 wells here. 50 schoolrooms there. A couple of hospitals. Go ahead and tell these children that it's not much. They won't believe you. Not the first time a well comes in nor the last time. A field of beans can be more rewarding than you can imagine.

The Peace Corps wants you. We need thousands of you. Call toll free: 800-424-8580.

2-Day Crafts Program Held at David, Drift

Members of the Crafts Program of David and Drift participated in a quilting workshop, the week of September 26. The workshop was funded by the Kentucky Arts Commission and was taught by Mrs. Patricia Cory and Mrs. Charity Arter, both professionals who make quilts for a living. The classes, which were held two days in David and two days in Drift, included lessons in drafting accurate patterns for quilts, choosing color combinations that are attractive and making quilt blocks. Besides the demonstrations and active participation by the participants, there were many slides showing pictures of new and antique quilts in beautiful colors and designs.

Those who took the workshop were Rosie Reffitt, Eva Tussey, Darcus Howard, Barbara Griffith, Renis Ousley, Minnie Hackworth, Pearl Johnson, Ruth Pitts, Joy Ousley, Della Moore, Juanita Ousley, Ada Ousley, Ocie Ousley, Mary Pineau, Tressie Collins, Donna Newsom, Della Cocheran, Angie Whitmoyer, Helen Walters, Doreen Martin, Virgie Shepherd, Virgie Spriggs, Armina Hall, Laura Preston, Tangie Spriggs, Gayle Kidd, Lassie Tackett, Annie Mullins.

Stage Model Rocketry Program

Scene at rocket launch, outside Martin Grade School.

Approximately 80 students and teachers of the Martin eighth grade class were treated Oct. 6 to an excellent model rocketry program presented by Lowell L. Martin, biology instructor at Allen Central High School, S.W.A.T. (Science Watchers Acting Together), sponsor, Allen Central High Model Rocket Club and members of that club, Randy Bentley, Byron Coburn, Paul Combs, Joe Crum, Billy Jarvis, James Layne, John Ousley, Jeff Prater, Larry Porter and Roy Clifton.

During an hour-long program in the gym, Mr. Martin and members of the club presented various aspects of model rocketry and how it is related to the understanding of the national rocketry program. Each member participated in part of the model rocketry program which consisted of displays, demonstrations, model application, overhead transparency illustrations and oral reports.

The application of the study of physics, physical science and general science was presented. In addition to Mr. Martin's discussion of various aspects of model rocketry and science, Paul Combs gave a report on model rocket parts, the electrical launching system, the club system of ranking model rocket members, and talked about his own model rocket. James Layne gave a report on Dr. Robert Hutchings Goddard, model rocket engines, how they operate, and an illustration of club rockets. Byron Coburn talked about his own model rockets, gave a report on Werner von Braun, and discussed the model rocketry safety code.

The other members, Randy Bentley, Joe Crum, Billy Jarvis, John Ousley, Jeff Prater, Larry Porter and Roy Clifton, assisted in the program by helping the program speakers in various capacities.

In addition Paul King, a member of the photography section of SWAT, took pictures of the program inside the gym as well as at the launch of an Estes, Alpha rocket outside. Launch control officers, James Layne and John Ousley, launched the rocket. The tracking crew, Paul Combs and Jeff Prater, using an altimeter, calculated the altitude at 264 feet, and the recovery team of Byron Coburn and Randy Bentley made sure the rocket came back to the parking lot launch site in good condition. Other members assisted in the important aspect of crowd safety.

RETIRED COAL MINER SAGE FRASURE of RISNER, KY.

Asks his fellow UMWA members to support and vote for his son,

RONALD FRASURE for FLOYD COUNTY JUDGE

Sage has been a union member for some 38 years and he says, "I know my son will be a good County Judge and will be a friend to all coal miners."

"My son knows how important the coal mines were to him while he was growing up. The income that I received as a miner paid for his education at the University of Kentucky."

"I believe that the duties of the Judge's office will come first with my son. He will not be out seeing after the affairs of some mining operation when the problems of this county need so much attention."

"Citizens of this County should be able to get to see their County Judge and be able to talk about their problems. My son will see you and treat you with respect."

"So vote and elect my son, Ronald Frasure, your next County Judge this Nov. 8."

May God bless you all,
SAGE FRASURE

Frasure for Judge Committee; Clyde George, Treasurer

A MESSAGE TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

Before the November 8th election is held, I feel I have a duty to put certain facts before the voters of Floyd County. I am sorry I must bring this up because Yvonne and Jack Stumbo are my friends, but Floyd County is my home and I have an even stronger kinship and belief that its people should be treated openly and fairly.

The Big Sandy Area Development District Board has three members from each of its five counties: the County Judge, the Mayor of the county's largest town and a third member CHOSEN JOINTLY by that Judge and that Mayor. Over a year ago, Dr. James D. Adams was apparently allright with Henry Stumbo when he was chosen as the third member. However, this June at the Board's annual convention in Lexington, when Henry Stumbo was Chairman and our Mayor could not be present, Doug Adams was FIRED so he could be replaced with the Judge's own yes man, his hand-picked County Attorney, James Allen.

I was present, as the Mayor's representative, and I know this doublecross was already sealed early in the morning of the second day of the meeting in a closed executive session of the Board by Henry Stumbo, but it was not made known until one half hour before the end of the convention that afternoon.

Dr. Adams is a close personal friend of mine and I believe he is one of the most conscientious and hard-working friends of all Floyd countians. He has served on many public boards and commissions, but the only salary he gets from tax money is $15.00 a month as a member of the Floyd County Board of Education.

Dr. Adams has been involved in county affairs because he loves Floyd County and not because he makes his living as a Floyd County office-holder. He took the non-paying job on the ADD Board because he hoped he could help Floyd County get some of the millions of dollars in Federal money which is going to the other four counties in the ADD District. In my four years on the Prestonsburg City Council, Henry Stumbo has not brought in one cent of ADD money to Floyd County or Prestonsburg.

I do not like double-dealing or double crosses, and I do not like to see a hard-working good friend of the county put out of a job to make room for a political yes man. Therefore, I ask all my friends, if I have any, to give me a vote for RONALD FRASURE against Judge Stumbo on November 8th and give me a vote FOR good, clean, honest government in Floyd County.

Old Highway Booklet Shows State Trend Toward Tourism

By HELEN PRICE STACY

You know the ads that feature, "You've come a long way . . ." Well, so has Kentucky. You know it as well as anyone, but found recently among old books was a brochure published in 1942 by the Kentucky Department of Highways.

"Kentucky Highways—The Bluegrass State" contained 63 pages about 4 by 10 inches and printed in a "rotogravure" style. The front cover in color, as was the back cover, depicted a lovely water scene and the back reproduced John James Audubon's Kentucky cardinal.

You would have to compare the booklet's tourism potential with today's publications to find out how far the Commonwealth has come in relation to tourism attractions. Records now prove tourism is one of the state's top three industries.

The booklet called U.S. 68 and 150 "The Historic Trail" plus "Kentucky's Main Street."

From Maysville on the Ohio by way of Lexington and Bowling Green the route took travelers westerly, almost the entire breadth of Kentucky.

"Romance and history attend this famous old route," stated the publication. The trail "presents a panorama of diversified scenery and matchless historical attractions which challenge any similar length of highway in the nation."

Pointed out in a listing of attractions were the widely known ones that are popular places for visitors today. But some sites are not so well known as Mammoth Cave, Shakerstown, Lincoln Memorial and the like.

From Brooklyn Bridge, the brochure stated, may be had an excellent view of the Kentucky Palisades. This bridge on U.S. 68 was a gateway to the West. Not to be ignored were the much-talked Dix River Dam and Herrington Lake and nearby High Bridge. The bridge was the world's largest railroad bridge that crossed a navigable stream.

Near Bowling Green in Smith's Grove Cemetery, the sister of Patrick Henry, Mrs. Thomas Madison, is buried, and at Elkton is the Milliken Memorial Community House as well as Blue and Gray State Park on U.S. 68.

Hopkinsville was the center of the Snuff Tobacco Industry and Cadiz was near a turnoff to the Kentucky Woodland Wildlife Refuge. Golden Pond was 340.7 miles from Maysville, it was noted. Fenton led to Murray State Teachers College and home of Nathan Stubblefield who was successful in wireless voice transmission as early as 1892. Then on to famous Reelfoot Lake. Benton in 1942 was known for its Annual Potato Day, a day that usually is termed Tater Day now.

Paducah rated with Lexington and Harrodsburg in number of attractions. Here in the state's Western metropolis, the well known places of interest were pointed out and a few not so well known. Among those not always emphasized were Bob Noble Park and "Wildflower Patch."

Paducah was known for its Strawberry Festival each year, but many visitors wanted also to see Mrs. Charles de Werthern's wildflower garden. Here in a four-acre tract, the Paducah lady had collected and cultivated more than 130 Western Kentucky wildflowers. Is the Wildflower Patch still blooming?

Kentucky has long been a promoter of its tourist sites and the old booklet proves it. But 35 years has added scores of attractions, and the Commonwealth still seeks out the historic and unusual in people and places to add to its highway marker system.

Your corporation can buy your life insurance with tax deductible dollars.

Advantages both ways. It's good for the corporation regardless of size, because the premiums for life insurance on corporate owners, executives, key employees... all employees... are tax deductible as a business expense under a recent government regulation. So the employee gets the benefit of increased compensation, up to $50,000 in term life insurance purchased by the corporation, with no current income tax liability for either party! The employee can even have permanent life insurance, retain the cash values and benefits, and pay only the tax on the premium. It's a good concept.

Now, all you need is a little help to do something about it. Kansas City Life, The Lioness, would like to introduce you to one of our people who knows the ins-and-outs of this new concept.

Our people have a Concept 79 Planning Kit which provides you with an easy way to understand and plan this new benefit program for you and your employees.

Urges Return Of More Funds To Coal Area

State Commerce Commissioner Terry McBrayer strongly endorsed efforts aimed at returning a greater share of coal severance tax funds to the coal producing counties of Kentucky in the keynote address to a group of civic and governmental leaders in Hazard Thursday afternoon.

McBrayer said, "I believe coal must primarily benefit the people from the coal producing areas of our state. That's why I, like all of you, am anxious to see more severance tax money returned to the coal producing counties."

He advocated that more severance tax revenues be spent on regional water and sewer facilities, industrial sites, schools, health services and, generally, to aid in more industrial and economic development in Kentucky's coal producing counties.

McBrayer's audience, a coalition of representatives from a wide variety of professions in Eastern Kentucky, has recently organized to rally support for returning more severance tax revenues to the coal-producing areas.

"We cannot ask that any region of our state totally exhaust itself of its wealth for the benefit of the economy of the whole state without something in return. Kentucky's coal-producing counties must receive a fair return for what they give up," McBrayer said.

"When that coal is gone, McBrayer added, "no miracle will take place. The mountains won't turn into rich farmland and they won't turn immediately into thriving industrial sites." And he concluded, "Therefore, I believe the future economic well-being of Kentucky's coal-producing counties will depend, considerably, on how much coal severance tax is returned to the areas for the enrichment and enhancement of life."

Corn Squeezin's ... Fuel of the Future

Expressing concern over surpluses in corn crops and thus reduced prices to Kentucky's farmers, the Governor's Council on Agriculture last Wednesday urged members of the state's congressional delegation to explore the use of grain alcohol in operating automobiles.

In a resolution drafted for the Council's Steering Committee, the citizens' group noted that surplus corn in the state could be used for the production of such alcohol.

"Grain alcohol when mixed with gasoline in limited quantities has been proven to provide an adequate fuel for automobiles without alteration to engines and to reduce pollution from exhaust," the resolution noted.

It further pointed out that such a program would be in line with efforts to create new energy sources and would reduce the nation's dependence on foreign crude oil and thus favorably alter this country's balance of payments deficit.

A copy of the resolution was forwarded to Robert Bergland, Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Members of the Steering Committee include William Kuegel, Owensboro, chairman of the committee and vice chairman of the Council; Dr. Charles E. Barnhart, Dean of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture; Jack Griffith, Maysville; Richard Walker, Columbia, and David Alexander, Henderson.

Animals Predict Earthquakes? Magazine Says they Can

To many scientists, Chicken Little's warning, "the sky is falling, the sky is falling," may be more than a nursery tale. Many experts now agree that some animals may get advance warning of the earth's natural disasters and weather patterns well before man's most sophisticated instruments can detect them, according to the (current) September-October issue of International Wildlife Magazine.

From the beginning of recorded history, human beings have been intrigued by specific animal behavior that seemed to indicate some supernatural power to predict weather changes or disasters. Just recently, scientists have begun taking this unusual animal behavior seriously, says the bi-monthly magazine of the National Wildlife Federation.

Scientists in the United States, the Soviet Union and China are using animals to determine if they can accurately predict earthquakes.

Several months before a massive earthquake shook China's Liaoning Province in 1974, the animals there were acting strangely. Hibernating snakes crawled up from the ground. Pigs climbed walls and bit each other's tails. Agitated rats appeared in packs. Chinese scientists, who have long had an abiding respect for the earthquake sensing abilities of animals, were alerted by this strange behavior and began checking the area's water levels. They were able to predict the earthquake accurately enough to save perhaps a million lives.

This phenomenon, however, does not always work. Last year one of China's deadliest earthquakes struck—killing an estimated 655,000 persons. Unusual behavior was reported for 33 species of animals before the quake—but not in enough time for a warning to be issued. In the United States, scientists have stationed chimpanzees, kangaroo rats and cockroaches along earthquake zones in California, hoping to learn more about these baffling behavior patterns that are termed "pre-quake agitation," the National Wildlife Federation publication reports.

At a recent U.S. Geological Survey conference, scientists speculated about possible causes for the bizarre agitation. Some suggested it was caused by changes in air pressure, the magnetic field, or animals hearing low frequency sounds. Others thought that gasses released from the ground before earthquakes might be perceived by the animals.

Since at least 1969, the Russians have established animal warning centers in quake-prone areas of the U.S.S.R. One Soviet geophysicist believes that once you can read the animals' behavior, "they are the most sensitive barometers known to science."

For thousands of years animals have been better known for their ability to detect weather changes. If horses yawned or roosters crowed, in Finland it meant upcoming drizzles. When flies bit eagerly and fish broke water, early Americans knew a rainstorm was on its way. If geese flew south early and turkeys grew thicker feathers, one could expect a cold winter.

American scientists want to find out what the animals are sensing so they can build instruments to pick up the same signals. But this may be difficult. Our radar, for instance, which many think is a marvel of modern science, is primitive in comparison with that of a bat. The bat's radar, weighing less than half an ounce, was "invented" by nature several million years ago.

Until these instruments are built, if ever, scientists may have to pay heed to Chicken Little and watch for agitated rats, frenzied pigs and other peculiar animal behavior to predict earthquakes and other important changes in nature.

Floyd County Health Notes

Monday, October 17, a Community Health Nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will hold an outpost clinic at Ethel Osborne's Store in Bypro, Kentucky from 10 to 12 and 1 to 2.

Medical services available will be immunizations, diabetes screening, TB skin tests, hemoglobins, and blood pressures. These services are offered free of charge, and the public is welcome to attend.

Glaucoma is a serious disease that can cause blindness and it usually affects one out of every fifty Americans who are over 35 years of age.

Glaucoma comes in one of two forms. It may strike suddenly, inflicting cloudy vision, with or without severe pain in or around the eyes. This is known as acute glaucoma.

The more common type of glaucoma is known as chronic glaucoma. It first affects side vision and its symptoms may come and go. This type of glaucoma progresses slowly and painlessly so that total or partial blindness can result if the disease is not diagnosed and treated early.

The best way to prevent needless blindness from glaucoma is to be tested for the disease. The Floyd County Health Department will be doing glaucoma screening, free of charge, on Friday, October 14, from 9 to 11:30 and 1 to 3. If higher than normal pressure is found in your eyes, you will be referred to an eye physician who can give you further tests and diagnose and treat the problem.

The Floyd County Health Department recommends a glaucoma check-up every two years for persons 35 and older.

Low-Income, Elderly To Get Help with Fuel Problems

Gov. Julian Carroll said more than $3 million will be used to make the homes of Kentucky's low-income and elderly persons more "energy-efficient."

The money is the unused portion of funds from the federal Special Crisis Intervention Program (SCIP), which channeled $4.6 million into Kentucky's Department for Human Resources in July.

"First priority for the funds was to provide relief to people who have been unable to pay last winter's high fuel bills," Gov. Carroll said.

According to Department for Human Resources (DHR) Secretary Peter Conn, the department's Bureau for Social Insurance received approximately 22,500 requests for SCIP assistance by the Sept. 15 extended deadline.

The $3 million-plus balance is being transferred from the social insurance bureau to DHR's Bureau for Social Service, which will contract with local community action agencies for the weatherization projects.

The money will pay for insulation and other materials. The community action agencies, which are non-governmental, regional service organizations, will use federal money under the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) to hire workers for the program.

Not all counties in Kentucky are served by community action agencies. Conn said, however, that arrangements have been made for these agencies to provide weatherization services to all 120 counties.

When the SCIP program was established, the federal government required that any portion of grant money used for home insulation had to be matched 40 per cent by state funds.

Unmatched funds were to be returned to the federal source. "None of us, of course, could have predicted the severe winter," said Conn. "Most states, including Kentucky, were unprepared for the match requirement."

CHICO THE POLICE DOG MAKES 26TH ARREST IN LEXINGTON

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Chico the police dog made his 26th arrest recently.

Lexington metro police officer Chuck Bentley said he and the German shepherd responded to a burglary call at a downtown drugstore.

Within minutes, Chico, who's trained to sniff out burglars, found the 18-year-old suspect, who was charged with burglary.

It was Chico's seventh arrest this year.

26 Homemakers Attend Training Session Here

Wheelwright, Ky.—A training session on drying and arranging flowers was held for Floyd County Homemakers Clubs, Oct. 4 at the Kentucky Power Building in Prestonsburg.

Kathy Bullen demonstrated several methods of drying flowers and foliage. Materials for drying were available and homemakers in attendance started drying flowers at the session.

Hot apple cider with cinnamon and cookies was served to approximately 26 persons representing 13 Homemakers Clubs. Representing the Wheelwright Homemakers were Freda Bartuka, Kathy Bartuka Tackett, Katie Newsome and Linda Holbrook.

The next meeting of the Wheelwright club will be Oct. 20 at 7 p.m. The lesson will be on drying and arranging flowers. Guest speaker will be Jobie Branham, of Branham's Florist & Gifts, who will demonstrate flower arranging.

All regular members are urged to attend.

A Message To My Good Democrat Friends

It is now obvious that my opponent and his advisors have developed a strategy in this campaign in which they plan to mislead and confuse the good voters of our county. My opponent thinks there will be enough people that will go to the polls and blindly vote "Straight Democratic" to save him from defeat.

As I travel throughout our county, listening to your many concerns, I have found the response to my candidacy tremendous. You and I feel that our present County Judge is not doing enough; you feel that we can do much better. The good people of Allen, Martin, Maytown, Garrett, Wayland, Wheelwright, Mud Creek and all other sections of our county have problems that cry out for solutions.

When I was a child I dreamed that there would one day be a time in Floyd County when we would choose our elected officials not by the party that they happened to belong to, but by the candidate's character, qualifications and energy to act and get our county moving.

Should I be defeated for County Judge simply because that I am a registered Republican, then who among us would be content with educating our children? Who among us would want our children to learn about government and citizenship as well as the principles of the Two-Party System and the evils of the One-Party System of Communism?

TO ALL GOOD DEMOCRATS

Last week my Republican opponent ran an ad in this paper stating he was the "Democratic" Candidate, and asked you to look in Webster's Dictionary to prove it. The reason he asked you to look there is he knows that by no other definition may you find him to be a friend to a true Democrat.

Instead of a dictionary, look to the county registration. When you and I decided to be a member of the Democratic party, he rejected you and your party. He chose to become the chairman of the Floyd Republican Party and to support Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew when I fought for the defeat of those men.

He chose to fight for the defeat of Jimmy Carter and Governor Carroll while I supported those Democrats. Just a short time ago, he chose to support Robert Holcomb, a rich coal operator from Pike County, when he ran against Carl D. Perkins for the U.S. Representative seat. I fought Ron Frasure and others in this county to help elect Carl Perkins.

Throughout this campaign, I have and will refrain from personal attack on my opponent, in spite of the fact that he has weekly "swung" at me in this paper. But when a man who has consistently attacked and opposed every National, State and County Democrat running for election authorizes an ad saying he is the "Democratic Candidate," I must question how far he will go to be elected. He has chosen his party and should admit it, instead of trying to lure uninformed Democrats into thinking he is a "Democratic Candidate" and their friend.

I humbly ask you for your vote, not only because I feel I am the best man, but also because I am one of you . . .

I AM A DEMOCRAT.

Now Comes October

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
(UK College of Agriculture)

October, the somber month, has come and as we walk through the valleys and along the ridgetops of this good land, we notice with a bit of sadness that the summer-long pageant of wildflower blooming is drawing to a close. In the lowlands the purple-pink plumes of the stately joe-pye weed are turning to a patriarchal gray while here and there a few madder-purple heads of late-flowering ironweed still gleam among the fading yellow of the massed goldenrod. Great stretches of "farewell summer," that tiny aster that offers the last source of nectar of the year for wild honeybees, cover old abandoned cornfields and in moist ditchlines along country roadsides, large patches of golden-yellow tickseed or stickights abound.

All this portends that soon the incomparable pageantry of autumn leaves will reach its peak in magnificent hues of russet, brown and gold and the whole of the rolling countryside of Kentucky will appear as a gorgeous multi-colored tapestry beautiful beyond the ability of even an artist to depict. Hopefully the fabled "bright blue weather" of October will hold sway and contribute to all the wonders of this, another Kentucky fall.

There are many things unique to October. For one thing studies have revealed that babies conceived this month are larger and healthier than the average. This is the month when we feel most fit, that our general health is best and that our creative ability is at its peak.

Other studies have indicated that in October there is a disturbing and sometimes an all but overpowering sense of urgency in a lot of people to be up and away to distant places they know not where. Scientists who have made such studies of human behaviour think perhaps that this strange urge to be the remnant of a primordial instinct for migration that once was common to man as well as to birds and animals.

Something else about October weather: In most cases it is close to being perfect. Generally it is a month of calm blue skies and sunny days, often a bit on the cool side, but invigorating after the intense heat of August and September.

The seasons of cyclones, tornados and hurricanes are largely over. High winds and thunderstorms are virtually non-existent, and, according to weathermen, the same temperature is found over a greater portion of the United States than at any other time of the year. The only thing wrong with October is that when it goes, it ushers in the long and lonely gray months of winter when the earth lies bare in the cold.

With all the beauty and attractions present in October, it is often difficult to indulge in work of any kind. However, for those who live on the land and do a lot of gardening, here are some things UK specialists recommend doing during the month.

After the vegetables are gone, sow rye to provide much needed organic matter when the garden is plowed next April. Pull out old vegetables, weeds and grasses and put in a compost heap. This material will not only provide organic matter to improve the soil structure and fertility of the garden, but might also get rid of some form of plant diseases and hibernating insects.

Plow or spade the garden and leave it rough. This will expose hibernating insects and their eggs to freezing temperatures.

Before the ground freezes, dig up parsnips, carrots, beets, turnips and other hardy root crops for storage and over winter use.

Winterize power equipment and store in a dry place. Clean garden tools with a steel brush and give them a light coating of oil. And, if you need to set out some shade trees, October is a good month in which to plant deciduous trees as they love their leaves. Wait until next spring, though, to plant the thin-barked species such as magnolia, birch, vitex, althea and others. Support trees with stakes to protect them from rocking in the winter wind and injuring root systems. Also it will be a good idea to wrap young tree trunks and mulch them heavily for this first winter.

Then to wind out the month, lay in a supply of goodies for Halloween trick or treaters.

It's Red, White and Blue Day, Oct. 22

Take a bright October sun, a throng of sincere patriots and a gentle breeze to cause the stars and stripes to snap, crackle, curl and furl against the bright-hued hills, and you have what should be one of the most meaningful days to Kentuckians and to the nation. On Oct. 22 in Prestonsburg, the eighth annual Marcella Bailey Red, White and Blue Day will march for its cause—to continue and revive patriotism in America.

"This is a great country we live in," said the day's founder, Mrs. Bailey, a down-to-earth mountain woman with a heart big enough to hug the world. Give this East Kentuckian five minutes with a country, a people or an individual and she would be praising America. In a twang and vernacular that would delight students of traditionalism, Mrs. Bailey would start converting her listeners to Americanism.

"Honey, they just weren't getting the job done. People everywhere were not respecting the flag and what it meant. I woke up one night just sick at the way America was going and knew something had to be done. You know what I mean. Guess I was crazy as all get-out to think I could make people realize that the flag was important to us. It was our symbol, and when some people began snubbing the flag and started acting un-American, I had this feeling someone had to do something. Well, here was Marcella Bailey. 'Who is she?' they might say. Yes, here I am, a housewife and mother living in a simple home surrounded by hills, but I was free and I wanted to stay that way."

"Oh some, might say what could she do to change the world, and they might be right, but I decided right then and there that if the Marcella Baileys of America didn't take a stand for what is right in America, then who would?"

This Floyd countian has deep patriotic roots. Her ancestors stood up for America in years past and her father, brothers and husband did the same. "Well, I've had my times when I wondered if it was worth all the long hours, planning and making Red, White and Blue Day a part of breakfast, dinner and supper, but now that we're in our eighth event I'd have to say, yes, it's been worth every heartache. The Shriners, state officials, veterans and men, women and children of this area have been just great to help."

Entertainment at Red, White and Blue Day starts around 10 a.m. and continues with patriotic talks by officials and outstanding personalities. There will be bands playing rousing music and school children marching along with many groups and organizations.

There will be musical entertainment throughout the day and introduction of various pageant winners all the way from Little Miss Red, White and Blue through the Queen of the Day.

People who have attended past Red, White and Blue days have praised the founder and the purpose and agree with Mrs. Bailey that "it's a step in the right direction."

Said Mrs. Bailey, "I am real glad that so many children participate in the day. God bless each one. They look to us for guidance, and it is up to us to lead them in the right way."

On the big day everyone dons red, white and blue and with the bands and groups forming the parade through Prestonsburg, it is a beautiful sight. In the past, the eastern hills have worn a coat of many colors, and bright sun has beamed as if in approval. "Get set, America," commented Mrs. Bailey. "You'll all, every state, be invited to join us for Red, White and Blue 1977. Come and help us promote all that's good about our great country. I love and trust in the Lord with all my heart, and I know if we do our part He will surely bless America."

(For further information, contact Mrs. Bailey at Langley, Ky.)

This is just to remind you to remember how the Sheriff's Department, and especially his deputies, manhandled the women at the factory, August, 1974. They had chains around their arms and we were told they would wrap them around our heads, and one of the ladies was thrown over the hood of a car at the front door and her back was hurt. Also, at this time, five of the ladies were taken to jail for 24 hours.

All of this was done by deputies under the supervision of the present sheriff. We have not been shown any justice by any of the courthouse officials. We feel we have enough proof, and that it is definitely time for a change.

So, all relatives and friends of employees of Princess Mfg. Co.—Please remember this when you go to the polls to vote.

Food Stamp Fee To Be Abolished

In the spring of 1978, Kentucky food stamp recipients will get their food stamps without paying a fee, according to Gail Huecker, social insurance commissioner in the state's Department for Human Resources.

Under the current system, persons eligible for food stamps must buy them, paying a slide-scale fee less than the value of the stamps they receive. A bill signed last week by President Carter removes the payment system from the federal food stamp program.

When the new law takes effect next spring, each client will receive free food stamps equal to that client's present "bonus" amount. "Right now, for instance, a person may be paying $40 for food stamps with a value of $100," Commissioner Huecker explained. "Under the new law, this person will receive what we call the bonus value of stamps free of charge—in this instance, stamps worth $60 at the grocery. To buy their usual amounts of food, clients will need to supplement their bonus food stamps with the amount of cash they have been paying for the stamps."

The revision will not increase the state's cost per food stamp client, Huecker said. State money is involved only in administrative functions of the program. The cost of food stamps is paid totally by federal funds.

According to Lela Bentley, manager of the food stamp branch in the Department for Human Resources, the new law will make a difference to people at both extremes of the food stamp eligibility scale. "The income ceiling is being lowered, so some recipients with incomes at the top of the scale may no longer be eligible," Mrs. Bentley said. "On the other hand, persons who could not get food stamps because they had no income to buy them may now be eligible."

She anticipates a slight increase in the number of food stamp recipients in Kentucky as a result of the new law. According to August statistics, there are 378,099 persons in 112,430 households enrolled in the food stamp program in the state.

Federal Grants To Help Elderly

Two federal grants will help the Department for Human Resources (DHR) make it easier for more than 285,000 older Kentuckians to obtain two vital needs—food and transportation,—says Peter D. Conn, secretary of Human Resources.

The grants, which total $159,402, will be used to hire 14 "nutrition aides" and 14 "escort aides." The new workers will be DHR employees, but assigned to local agencies which serve senior citizens.

The nutrition aides will be outreach workers for nutrition programs which are funded through Title VII of the Older Americans Act. They will contact older people who would benefit either from group meals or home-delivered meals, telling them about those services and encouraging them to take advantage of them.

The escort aides will act as dispatchers or drivers for agencies which provide necessary transportation for low-income elderly and/or handicapped people.

In Eastern Kentucky, 45,000 older residents may benefit from the two grants. There will be eight job openings, four nutrition aides and four escort aides. Counties whose residents are eligible for the positions are Bath, Boyd, Greenup, Laurel, Lee, McCreary, Montgomery, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Rowan, Wayne and Whitley.

The grants were awarded under the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, which provides opportunities for low-income people. They apply to the 89 counties for which Gov. Julian M. Carroll is "prime sponsor" for training and employment programs.

To Voters in Dist. 2:
You voters don't know this, but I will tell you. I am 11 years old, and deserted by my mother. My father is the only dependence I have got. He only draws one check, and I have a brother in school.
I am the daughter of Andy Conley. If you will vote for him, it will help us to get through school. He sends me to school every day and advises me to do the right thing.
Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

Floyd Federal Savings and Loan Association, Prestonsburg, Ky. . . Plf.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE
CR 12, 842

Clara Hutto, widow, Oscar Reynolds, and Ruth Reynolds, wife . . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the September 14 term, 1977 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 28th day of October, 1977 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Floyd County, Kentucky on the left hand fork of Bull Creek and being the same land conveyed to Catherine Reynolds by Ernestine Reynolds Cheekmore and A. C. Cheekmore, her husband, by deed dated February 12, 1964, recorded in Deed Book 184, page 437 and 438, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office and described as follows:

Beginning at a haw tree at the county road; thence a straight line up the hill to the top of a red oak; thence down the hill to another red oak; thence down the hill with a drain to the county road below the barn; thence with the county road to the beginning at the haw tree.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $10,243.98 with interest thereon at 6 percent annually from the 14 day of April, 1977 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 6th day of October, 1977.

'Bernie' Carter Named Head
Of National Resources Bureau

Governor Julian M. Carroll last Friday announced the appointment of Bernard T. Carter, one of his administrative assistants, as commissioner of the Bureau of Natural Resources in the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Carter will succeed John D. Witt, who returns to the Department of Transportation to serve as assistant to the Secretary of Transportation Calvin Grayson.

In the discussions concerning a commissioner for the new Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, both Secretary Robert Bell of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection and Governor Carroll said that Witt was the only individual under consideration.

Last week, however, Witt asked to return to the Department of Transportation, where he had spent most of his career.

Carter will oversee the state programs in forestry, conservation and water resources. Witt had been responsible for these functions, plus the reclamation of strip mined land, but the latter function has been assigned to a new Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, which was announced last week.

Carter began his career in state government as a field biologist in 1948 and was promoted to director of the Division of Fisheries and assistant commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He was an executive assistant in the natural resources and environmental protection department before joining the governor's staff in March, 1975, as an advisor on water quality and other natural resources related matters.

"I hate to lose Bernie Carter from this office, but I know, first-hand, his capabilities and I have every confidence that he will move his bureau along a sound and progressive course," Governor Carroll said.

The 52-year-old Carter holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Missouri and a master's degree from the University of Louisville. In addition, he has done graduate work in natural resources management at Pennsylvania State University and in natural resources economics at George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

Carter is current chairman of the University of Kentucky's Water Resources Advisory Council and of the Intergovernmental Reservoir Operations Coordinating Committee.

No announcements were made regarding the appointees for the posts of Commissioner of the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, and the other division directors which will be needed to implement the organizational plan announced earlier this week.

Look At the Record!

Once each month the State of Kentucky and the Federal Government publish an UNEMPLOYMENT RATE for each county in Kentucky. This RATE determines how well each County is doing in providing jobs for its citizens in both private business and government employment.

A HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT RATE means that comparatively more people are out of work. A LOW RATE means fewer people are unemployed.

In a study of 18 counties surrounding FLOYD COUNTY, the unemployment rates during 1975 ran from a low of 3.2 for Martin County, to a high of 17.3 for Lee County. Floyd County had a rate of 7.7. ONLY FOUR of the surrounding counties had better rates than Floyd. THREE of these counties with lower rates were the COAL PRODUCING counties of Martin, Pike, and Harlan. FLOYD COUNTY ranked in the TOP FIVE as having one of the BEST EMPLOYMENT RECORDS.

In 1976 with the exception of these same COAL PRODUCING COUNTIES, only five counties had better records than did Floyd.

Floyd County IS moving forward under Democratic leadership! Floyd County Democrats have EXPERIENCE in GOVERNMENT. These DEMOCRATIC LEADERS KNOW that "Dreams" and "Promises" don't build water systems, parks, sewage treatment systems, public facilities, coal haul roads. These FLOYD COUNTY DEMOCRATIC LEADERS KNOW that there are only TWO possible ways to get these things done:

- 1. Work with Democrats on the State and Federal levels of government to get HELP on these projects, OR
- 2. MAKE YOU pay 100 PERCENT of the COST!

Local Floyd County Democrats ARE working with Democrats in State and Federal Government to secure HELP on these programs. The job IS being done!

Keep Floyd County moving Forward!

200 Years of History on Exhibit

A tour of Frankfort's historic sites would not be complete without a visit to the Kentucky Military Museum on East Main Street. Ethan Allen's sword, Daniel Boone's rifle, Gen. John Hunt Morgan's Confederate cavalry uniform and Isaac Shelby's musket, called the "British Brown Bess," are just a few of the items in the museum collection which spans over 200 years of Kentucky military history.

One of the most interesting parts of the tour is listening to Mike Housh, assistant curator, tell colorful stories about museum pieces, such as the dueling rifle from the 1930s.

"Two newspaper editors in Louisville had been bitter enemies for many years. One challenged the other to a duel using long rifles and the choice of weapons was the only thing the two ever agreed upon," said Housh. "One of the editors was too nearsighted to see a handkerchief dropped, and the other was too deaf to hear a call signal. Because they couldn't agree on an appropriate signal, the duel was called off."

Another interesting item is the Billingshurst-Requa Volley gun, one of the first machine guns. The Kentucky Historical Society acquired the gun after it was used to defend Frankfort's covered bridge (presently the St. Clair Street bridge) during a Civil War skirmish in 1861.

"The gun was prepared for use during the Goebel crisis—a period which resulted in the assassination of Governor Goebel in 1900. Finally, it was used by a caretaker at the Old Arsenal, but not as a weapon," said Housh. "One winter during the early 1900s, it was so cold that the caretaker pulled one of the barrels off the gun to stir up a fire. Unfortunately, he lost it and that is why the gun has only 24 barrels, instead of the original 25."

Housh also explains that there are two versions of how the Perryville cannon got to Frankfort. The official version is that during the battle of Perryville in 1862, the Federal Cavalry captured the Confederate cannon and took it to Frankfort to be displayed.

The unofficial version is more likely, according to Housh. "The Union forces had many newly recruited troops and a supply of new weapons. During the battle, several of the new recruits panicked and ran away, leaving entire batteries of new guns. When the Confederates came riding along and saw a new shiny, Federal cannon, they grabbed it in exchange for their old one. The union troops later found the old cannon and took it to Frankfort, as if they had captured it."

Almost all of the items in the museum have some amusing or interesting anecdote attached to them, Housh explained.

General Wainwright, commander of the troops at Bataan-Corregidor, gave his coat to a Kentuckian, Morris Perkins. Perkins had served as his pilot and asked for Wainwright's coat as a souvenir of the war. "At Perkins' request, the general not only gave him the coat, but all the ribbons and medals on it, as well," Housh said.

In addition to the weapons, the museum collection includes flags, bugles, photographs, posters and personal items which belonged to famous Kentuckians, such as Governor Simon Bolivar Buckner's bearskin cape, which he generously gave to his mail carrier on cold, wintry day. The museum also features a library containing over 1,200 volumes and periodicals.

As assistant curator, Housh spends a great deal of time doing research, setting up displays, planning exhibits and cataloging the museum's acquisitions. Both he and the curator, Nicky Hughes, are available for speaking engagements.

Housh is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, where he studied history and political science. He collects 19th century military medals, primarily from the Eastern European countries. One of his prize possessions is a collection of medals from Montenegro, a country which has not been in existence since World War I. Housh also has an extensive collection of world maps which trace the political changes of several decades.

Kentuckians who have significant historical items and would like to donate them to the museum, may contact Housh or Hughes, at (502) 564-3265.

What Is a District Judge?

In Floyd County, the District Judge will do the work now being done by five City Police Judges, four Magistrates, County Judge, Judge Pro-Tem, Trial Commissioner and Juvenile Judge. Floyd County will still have a County Judge (now known as County Judge Executive) and Magistrates, but their duties will be limited to fiscal matters, making up the budget and supervising the spending of the county tax money.

The District Judge will preside over all civil cases where the amount involved is $1500, or less, all juvenile matters, and the violation of all state laws and city and county ordinances, except offenses punishable by penitentiary confinement or death.

In addition to the other duties, the District Judge will also preside over a new court, known as the Court of Small Claims (matters under $500).

It is estimated that 68 of every 100 persons having business before the courts will come first to the District Court.

The office of District Judge will require a person with not only a law degree, but also with considerable administrative ability. It will require a person with good health, good nerve and a willingness to work long hours. How the office is operated for the first time may set the pattern of justice in Floyd County for a long time to come.

Believing that I am qualified for the job, I respectfully urge you to vote for me in the November election. If I am elected, the fact that my residence is next door to the court house (and jail) will somewhat ease the problem of having your District Judge available after hours.

The office is non-partisan and I welcome the vote of my Republican friends as well as my fellow-Democrats.

School Boards Meet Set in Salyersville

Area school board members and school administrators will meet at Magoffin County High School in Salyersville Tuesday, October 18, for the annual meeting of the Eastern Kentucky (South) Region of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA).

Board members and administrators from the seven school districts in the region will study the 1978 KSBA legislative program for improving Kentucky public schools. They will also discuss implementation of a model policy for improving communications between school boards and their staff. Regional officers for 1978 will be elected.

KSBA's President, Dr. J. E. Johnson, chairman of the Bourbon County Board of Education, says that "The Eastern Kentucky (South) Region meeting is an excellent opportunity for school board members and administrators to exchange ideas, consider state-wide education developments, and tell KSBA officers and staff their concerns and priorities for education."

Richmond Salyer, member of the Magoffin County Board of Education, is chairman of the Eastern Kentucky (South) Region, and will preside at the dinner meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m.

John Stumbo, chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education, is vice-chairman of the region, and Magoffin County Superintendent Herald Whitaker is regional secretary. Wendell Knight, a member of the Paintsville Board of Education, serves on the KSBA Executive Committee, and is a member of the KSBA Federal Relations Network, maintaining liaison with Congressman Carl Perkins.

Attending the regional meeting in Salyersville will be board members and administrators from the school districts of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike Counties, and the Independent school districts of Paintsville and Pikeville.

The Kentucky School Boards Association is a state-wide, non-profit organization of local boards of education. Founded in 1936, KSBA works with and through elected public school boards to improve educational opportunities for Kentucky youth.

Two-Day Workshop Planned at College

The Kentucky Nurses Association, District 11, and the Prestonsburg Community College Nursing Department announce a two-day workshop on "Physical Assessment of the Child and Adult". The workshop will be held in PCC's Pike Auditorium, Tuesday, October 25, and Wednesday, October 26.

Registration will be at 8:30 a.m. on both days. The workshop will conclude at 5 p.m. Tuesday afternoon and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday afternoon. Pre-registration is important, it was said. For additional information, contact Mrs. Madonna C. Combs, Prestonsburg Community College. The workshop is open to all registered nurses and any other health personnel.

School Boards Meet Set in Salyersville

Area school board members and school administrators will meet at Magoffin County High School in Salyersville Tuesday, October 18, for the annual meeting of the Eastern Kentucky (South) Region of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA).

Board members and administrators from the seven school districts in the region will study the 1978 KSBA legislative program for improving Kentucky public schools. They will also discuss implementation of a model policy for improving communications between school boards and their staff. Regional officers for 1978 will be elected.

KSBA's President, Dr. J. E. Johnson, chairman of the Bourbon County Board of Education, says that "The Eastern Kentucky (South) Region meeting is an excellent opportunity for school board members and administrators to exchange ideas, consider state-wide education developments, and tell KSBA officers and staff their concerns and priorities for education."

Richmond Salyer, member of the Magoffin County Board of Education, is chairman of the Eastern Kentucky (South) Region, and will preside at the dinner meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m.

John Stumbo, chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education, is vice-chairman of the region, and Magoffin County Superintendent Herald Whitaker is regional secretary. Wendell Knight, a member of the Paintsville Board of Education, serves on the KSBA Executive Committee, and is a member of the KSBA Federal Relations Network, maintaining liaison with Congressman Carl Perkins.

Attending the regional meeting in Salyersville will be board members and administrators from the school districts of Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike Counties, and the Independent school districts of Paintsville and Pikeville.

The Kentucky School Boards Association is a state-wide, non-profit organization of local boards of education. Founded in 1936, KSBA works with and through elected public school boards to improve educational opportunities for Kentucky youth.

Two-Day Workshop Planned at College

The Kentucky Nurses Association, District 11, and the Prestonsburg Community College Nursing Department announce a two-day workshop on "Physical Assessment of the Child and Adult". The workshop will be held in PCC's Pike Auditorium, Tuesday, October 25, and Wednesday, October 26.

Registration will be at 8:30 a.m. on both days. The workshop will conclude at 5 p.m. Tuesday afternoon and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday afternoon. Pre-registration is important, it was said. For additional information, contact Mrs. Madonna C. Combs, Prestonsburg Community College. The workshop is open to all registered nurses and any other health personnel.
