

Injured Driver Accused After Fatal Wreck

18-Year-Old Youth
Claimed in Wreck,
Moore Is Charged

A warrant alleging reckless homicide was issued Monday from the county judge's office for Forrest Moore, of Henry's Branch near Maytown, 29, driver of an auto which collided with a truck at Betsy Layne early Friday night and fatally injured 18-year-old Harold Paul Curry, of Banner.

State Trooper Don Weedman said Moore was driving his auto south in a northbound lane of the highway when it smashed into a pickup truck driven by young Curry. The tragedy occurred at the southern limits of Betsy Layne at 7:40 p.m.

Young Curry died two hours later at the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville, of internal injuries. Moore suffered a broken arm and lacerations. He remained hospitalized Tuesday.

At first Moore was charged with drunk driving.

The victim was driving toward his home at Banner after working at the Stumbo Service Station at Harold. He was a student at Mayo Vocational School at Paintsville. His father, Forrest S. Curry, formerly was principal of the John M. Stumbo School at Grethel and presently is assistant principal of Betsy Layne schools. He was a member of Calvary Baptist Church at Betsy Layne.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, Forrest S. and Claudia Ann Wakeland Curry, are two sisters, Mrs. Vera Lynn Warnock, Jeffersonville, O., and Mrs. Jennifer Ann Martin, Lexington, and one brother, Forrest S. Curry, II, of Banner. Funeral rites were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday from Calvary Baptist Church, the Rev. Cohen Campbell officiating. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens under direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

Pallbearers were Lonnie Allen, Rick Stone, Jim Osborne, Greg Osborne, J. R. Sammons, Tommy Collins, Mike Oliver, Tony Ratliff, Greg Clark, Jim Clark, and Greg Stanley.

Court Appoints Wells Receiver Of Auxier Firm

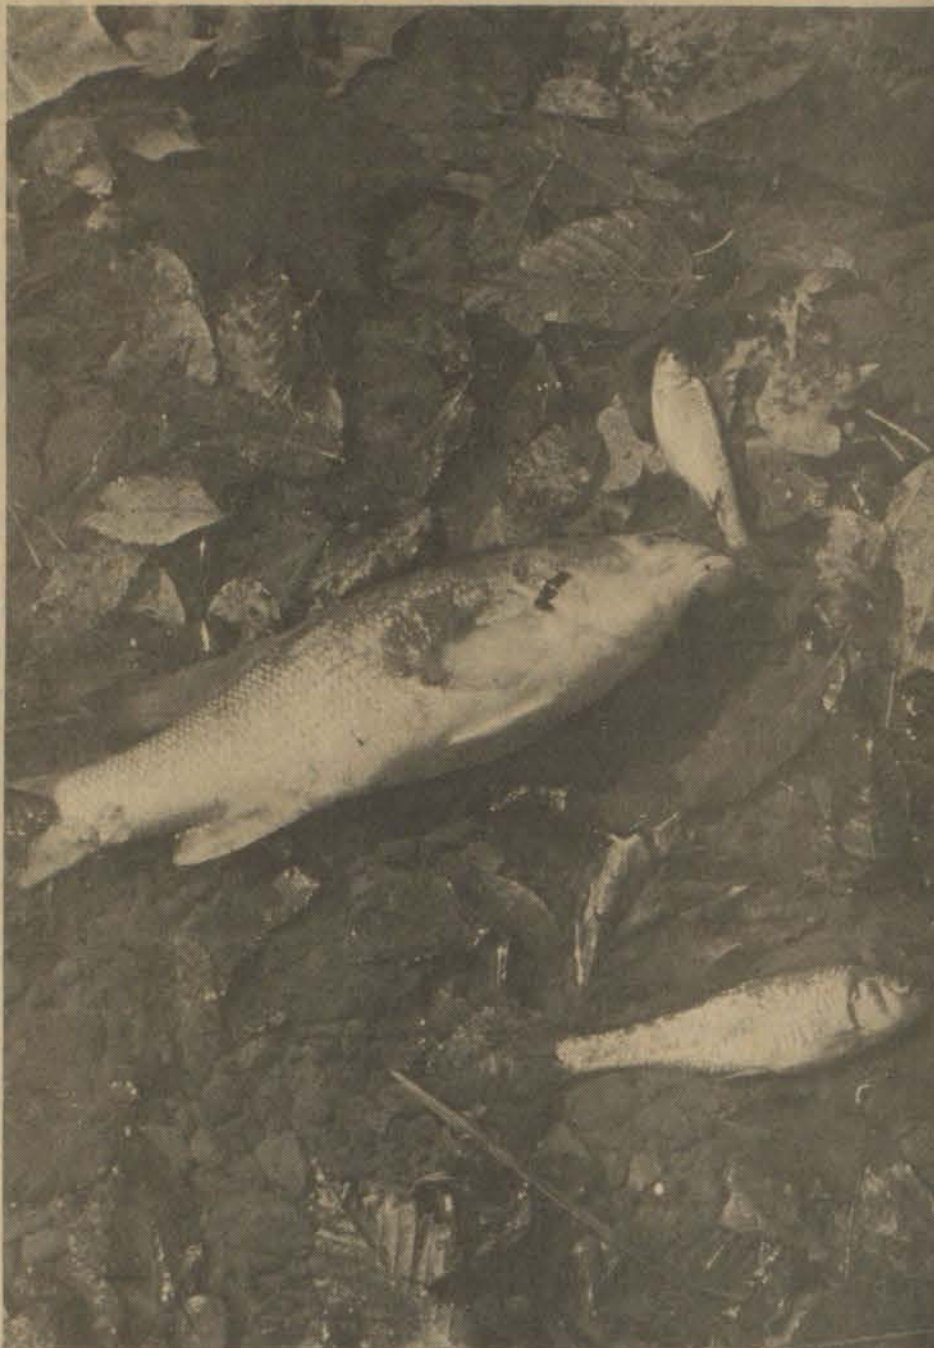

W. L. Wells, of Auxier, was named receiver of the Auxier Water Company, effective at 4 p.m. Monday, by order of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

The receivership followed Judge Conley's order of Oct. 14 in which he directed that Forrest Music, doing business as the Auxier Water Company, execute $54,000 bond to secure payment of all outstanding water bills. The deadline for posting the bond was set at 4 p.m. Monday, and when Music failed to comply the order provided for the appointment of Wells as receiver.

The receivership is the result of a suit filed by the City Utilities Commission of Prestonsburg in which it alleged that Music was due at least $54,000 for water which the commission had sold at wholesale to the Auxier firm.

The receiver said that all water bills due the Auxier Water Company after 4 p.m. Monday are to be paid to him at his Auxier address.

Wells had not at 2 p.m. Tuesday gained possession of all company records but expected to do so later in the day.

Fish Kill on Little Paint Creek

Little Paint Creek's fish population may have been wiped out by a week-end chemical spill which, residents say, has the odor of gasoline or kerosene. Smaller fish dotted the bottom of the stream, and the kill included several bass, one of which is shown in photo. Conservation officers were notified but did not report their findings, if any.

This Town...That World

In the playoffs I pulled mightily for Philadelphia in the National League and Kansas City in the American. Now in the World Series I've thrown my full support to Los Angeles. At this juncture (almost said, "at this point in time") it would appear that my druthers don't amount to much.

SURCEASE

Tired of city streets and brick walls? There's a sight for tired eyes waiting here in these hills, if you hurry. Crimson, gold, yellow, green and all the shades between—millions of leaves dressed in all their autumn glory, prepared for the grandest exit in all nature.

FISHING REPORT?

Did that girl at the check-out counter give me a sort of accusing look, the other afternoon when I bought some fish? Haven't had time to check with some of the other poor souls who fared forth, full of hope, last week for the bigger lakes. Been too busy dodging those pests who wanted to know how many I caught.

THE PLAYMATE

In Ohio they tell this one on hillbillies. But I gathered it was about two genuine Buckeyes. Anyway, the boss called at the home of an employee-friend, one afternoon, to find his host out in the backyard, engaged in a tussle with a full-grown bear. Horrified at the spectacle, he suggested with some authority that his

Court Puts $5 'Lid' On Monthly TV Fee

Cable television systems which are charging their customers more than $5 a month may be in for trouble with the Floyd fiscal court.

The court in special meeting last Tuesday directed the county attorney to notify all TV franchise-holders that they are to reimburse their customers for any charge of more than that monthly figure. The court action was taken on the motion of Magistrate Kenneth Roberts and was by unanimous vote.

In another action involving television, the court directed the county clerk to notify Jim Daniels that he has 30 days from the date of the court meeting in which to provide TV service the Auxier Heights, Auxier road and Auxier areas. Further action on the part of the court was indicated if he fails to provide the service in the specified time.

One cable system operator said the $5 ceiling may drive some franchises out of business, and in the cases of those continuing to operate will serve to curtail services, particularly extension of lines to new customers.

Legality of the court action also was questionable.

Other business transacted during the court meeting:

—Authorized Mamia Stanfield to lay a gas line along a county road at Justell.

Jarrell Death Ruled Suicide

The death last Thursday of Michael Odis (Skip) Jarrell, federal mine inspector, at his trailer home on May's Branch here was ruled by Coroner James Carter to be the result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Death was said to have been almost instantaneous from a .357 Magnum bullet in his head.

Jarrell, 29, had been released from a hospital a few days earlier, the coroner was told. Present at the time of the shooting were his wife, Teresa Ann Jarrell, and Phillip Horn, a friend of the couple whom Mrs. Jarrell had asked to talk with Jarrell.

Born June 22, 1948, Jarrell was a son of Mrs. Betty Collins Jarrell, of Prestonsburg, and the late Odis Jarrell. In addition to his wife and mother, he is survived by two sons, Michael Eugene and James Odis Jarrell, and two brothers, Charles Albert and Joan Martin Jarrell, all of Prestonsburg.

Funeral rites were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Carter Funeral Home by the Rev. Henry Crider. Burial was made in the Collins cemetery on Spradlin Branch.

Jail Escapee Nabbed Sunday, Two Surrender

Dwayne Williams, one of three juveniles who escaped from the county jail here Oct. 10, was arrested last Sunday night by State Police Sgt. Gary Rose on the Spurlock fork of Left Beaver Creek while the 17-year-old was driving a new Ford truck which reportedly had been stolen in New London, Ohio.

The other two escapees, Douglas and Charles D. Hall, brothers, had surrendered earlier in the week, and this week the two faced arson charges after a fire had been set inside the jail.

4 Firms Bought, Amount Involved Said $30 Million

Holdings of four companies headed by Harry Hale Ranier, of Prestonsburg, have been sold to a Houston, Texas firm for a reported $30 million, it was announced this week.

Involved in the sale to Zapata Fuels, Inc., of Houston, are Triple Elkhorn Mining Co. and Ridgeway Fuel Corp., both of Prestonsburg, B & H Elkhorn Coal Co., Lexington, and R & C Processing Co., Paintsville.

The coal properties will be operated by Zapata Elkhorn, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Zapata Fuels.

Most of the mines acquired are surface operations, but Zapata may soon begin deep mining, it was said. The mining operations of the companies are in the Martin-Allen, Betsy Layne and Sugar Loaf sections of this county, and the preparation plant is located near Patrick in Lawrence county.

The Texas company in the transaction acquired approximately 14,000 acres of coal lands, and R. A. Rankin, Jr., its corporate relations director, said its operations are expected to have an annual production of 1.4 million tons.

Mr. Ranier could not be contacted as to his future plans, but it was said he will continue his association with the new ownership for a time in an advisory capacity.

Ranier's is one of the sensational success stories recorded during the Eastern Kentucky coal boom. He was

Name Juveniles in Jail Blaze

Firemen search through dense smoke to find source of Monday's jail blaze.

A fire, which officials believe was deliberately set Monday morning at the Floyd county jail, forced the evacuation of prisoners and resulted in the hospitalization of two persons.

Juvenile petitions charging arson have been issued against Douglas Hall and Charles D. Hall, brothers, who allegedly set fire to several mattresses which were stored in an area immediately below their cell. It is believed the two started the blaze by lighting toilet paper and dropping the burning material onto the bedding. The brothers were involved in a break from the jail here, Oct. 10.

Prisoners were quickly removed to the women's section to avoid inhalation of the fumes produced by the smoldering bedding. Carl Nance, who was recently convicted of the slaying of Buster Carroll, and Paul Osborne, deputy jailer, were treated at Highlands Regional Medical Center after breathing smoke.

Although the fire spread to an electrical juncture, causing added problems, the Prestonsburg Fire Department was able to prevent extensive damage.

Saturday To Mark Eighth Red, White and Blue Event

The eighth annual Floyd County Red, White and Blue Day, which has been described as one of the most unusual events in America, will be held here Saturday, with associated events also scheduled on Friday and Sunday.

Red, White and Blue Day has been termed "unique" in that "it is a simple affirmation by citizens, young and old, of their faith and pride in their country, with no paid performers, just plain people joining in a mass tribute."

Prior to Saturday's main event, the Red, White and Blue pageant will be staged at 7 p.m. Friday at the Prestonsburg Elementary School auditorium under sponsorship of the Allen Woman's Club. The postlude to the patriotic celebration will be on Sunday at 2 p.m. when Marlow Tackett and the Southern Comforts will give a concert at the Municipal parking lot here.

Saturday's main event will begin at the Municipal parking lot at 10 a.m. with the invocation by the Rev. W. D. Jagers and the flag-raising by the Morehead State University color guard directed by Capt. Paul Cullinane, the playing of the National Anthem by the Knott County Central High School band, the address of welcome by Mayor Harold W. Cooley and the principal address by a general of the U.S. Marine Corps. Ted Nairn will be master of ceremonies.

The big parade will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday. In the line of March will be 13 bands, 13 floats, queen contestants, Scouts, Shriners from Ashland Lexington, the Pikeville and Paintsville color guards, the Morehead State University drill team, and an eye-filling variety of color in floats and costumes.

The parade will start at the corner of US 23 and Richmond street and follow US

23 (Lake Drive) to the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company building.

Preceding the parade, the Goins Brothers and Bluegrass and country groups will provide musical entertainment, beginning at 11 a.m.

Square dancing featuring the Hoedown Island Dancers will be sponsored by the Maytown Fire Department at the Municipal parking lot, beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday.

At 7:30 p.m. Saturday the Little Miss Patriotic pageant will be staged at the Martin school gymnasium by the Martin Woman's Club.

Red, White and Blue Day was founded by Mrs. Marcella Bailey, Eastern housewife, to honor America in the face of every attempt to dishonor it.

The day has attracted thousands here every year since its beginning in 1969.

BIRTHDAY REUNION
Mrs. Berta White, of Ypsilanti, Mich., and sister, Dorsie Thornsberry, of Middletown, Ohio, celebrated their birthday, Sunday, Sept. 4, 1977 with dinner on the lawn at Mrs. White's home in Ypsilanti. Mrs. White was 56 years of age and Mrs. Thornsberry was 64.
Among their guests were their five sisters and one brother, Mrs. White's two daughters and five of her four grandchildren, Mrs. Thornsberry's daughter and one of her six sons. There were many other family members, friends and neighbors present. There was much fellowship and prayer. They are the daughters of the late Steve and Sasa Childers, of Kite, Kentucky.

Ingot Found in Floyd County May Be Valuable to Collectors

By HELEN PRICE STACY
Some one said it: "Thar's gold in them thar hills."
Despite the grammar, the quote bears truth. Gold, continuing to rise in its monetary value, bears many forms. It can be golden burley tobacco curing in a barn or black coal glistening in the sun, corn ready to be harvested, Swift's silver awaiting a finder—or it can be gold.
What is thought, but not yet proven, to be a gold ingot was found recently in an old house in Eastern Kentucky. And if it is indeed gold, one area coin handler indicates the ingot is worth "a fabulous figure."

A recent article in The Floyd County Times, Prestonsburg, reports that what appears to be a $20 gold ingot was discovered by a bulldozer operator. The finder sold the ingot to Donald D. Horn, of Prestonsburg, for $125. Horn said he bought the ingot "to have it made into jewelry for my wife."

It isn't often that treasure seekers find that which they seek, and when they do it is not always in the expected form. What the Floyd countian thought would make find jewelry turns out to be too valuable for even that purpose.

According to the story in the newspaper, the ingot found is exactly like an ingot shown in the 1965 edition of "Guife Book of United States Coins." The obverse side is inscribed:

Parsons & C.
Assayers
Col.
1860
Twenty Dols

Mrs. Abigail Allen Grant, who is familiar with old coins, expressed a belief that no hoax is involved in the ingot, but said it would be necessary to have professional opinion to find out if the ingot is pure gold. Horn cleaned the ingot and is convinced that he owns a solid, pure gold ingot.

In listing the ingot in the 1965 coin guide, the publication noted that information about the John Parsons and Company mint is sparse, but the mint was located near Tarryall, Colo. and operated the summer of 1861.

In the 1860's Floyd county still was somewhat landlocked and conducted business chiefly by the Big Sandy River. There were roads leading to the county seat of Prestonsburg and other means of access, but the Sept. 21 newspaper account of the ingot discovery admitted that much of Eastern Kentucky was then "isolated."

The question is: How did the gold ingot get to the old house in eastern Kentucky?

The article said that a Civil war soldier could have brought it home with him.

The ingot might remain a mystery and become as legendary as the silver mine workings of Jonathan Swift.

Considering the scarcity of such market ingots, increasing its value to collectors, not to consider its value for gold's sake, it is a "real" find.

For those who dream of finding hidden treasure, gold, silver, platinum and the like, nothing is impossible. Do not, however, let such a guest take away other treasures. A new England couple who moved to the area in Wolfe county that now is part of Daniel Boone National Forest, spent their lives digging and searching for Swift's silver mine.

This couple lived in the forest in a crude house with few conveniences and lived a simple life. Most of the daytime and some of the night hours were spent outdoors, digging and thinking. They were surrounded by trees and shrubs, wildflowers and nature's bounty and endless beauty. They never found the treasure hidden to the world since the 1760's, but they found an intensely satisfying way of life that in itself was a treasure of infinite worth.

Around the old house in the eastern hills, especially at this time of year, nature is starting her own treasure show. While looking beneath, do not fail to look up and beyond and catch a gold sun casting gold leaf on trees and hills.

Senate Program Seeks Students

A search is currently underway for "tomorrow's leaders" to participate in the United States Senate Youth Program which honors 102 of the nation's most outstanding high school students.

Two Kentucky high school juniors or seniors who are elected officers in their schools and have also achieved high scholastic standings will be selected to go to Washington, D. C. for an intensive, week-long learning experience.

Each of the 50 states and the District of Columbia will designate two high school students to attend the program which has been sponsored since 1962 by the United States Senate and has been totally funded by the William Randolph Hearst Foundation.

The agenda for the week in Washington will include interviews with the President, senators, and high government officials; briefings at the departments of state, defense and justice and at the Supreme Court; and a day of internship in the offices of their state's senators.

In addition to the trip to Washington, each student delegate will be eligible for a $1,500 scholarship from the Hearst Foundation.

School systems are now screening candidates for the all expense paid program. Delegates from each state will be announced December 2 by their state's senators.

Co-chairmen for the Senate Youth Program this year are Senators George McGovern (D-S.D.) and Bob Packwood (R-Ore.).

PHS, Class of '57, Hold Reunion at Lodge

Pictured above are members of Prestonsburg High School, Class of '57, who held a reunion at Jenny Wiley Lodge July 16 with 80 people attending the dinner, and social hour on Friday and Saturday nights.

After 20 years and many miles, they came from coast to coast with our principal Mr. Otis Spurlock attending from Arizona.

William T. Bailey was our master of ceremonies and gave a welcoming speech. Prizes were given to Most and Least Changed, and one who traveled the farthest.

Entertainment was furnished by Ronald J. Wright for the Friday night gathering and Saturday social hour. Since some of the class members hadn't been back in 20 years, they couldn't believe our lovely lodge and how much everything had changed and moved forward.

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers met October 11 in the clubroom of the Kentucky Power Company. Becky Short, president, presided. Otella Smiley gave the devotions, entitled, "Talents." Phyllis Herrick, secretary-treasurer of the club, gave her reports. Mrs. Pearl Crum was welcomed as a new member. Lessons on candlemaking will be held October 25. The first lesson will be held at 9:30 a.m., and a second session will be conducted at 12:30 p.m. Leaders from the Day Homemakers who are scheduled to attend the afternoon session are Mary Sue Moore, Dorothy Burke, and Phyllis Herrick. Frances Pitts, home economist, announced that the Extension Service will sponsor a program on "Winterizing the Home," on October 18, at 7 p.m., at the Martin Grade School. The public is invited to attend this program. The lesson on, "Drying and Preserving Flowers" was presented by Phyllis Herrick and Mary Sue Moore.

Since the regular monthly meeting date for November falls on Election Day, the date of that meeting has been changed to Wednesday, November 16, at 1 p.m., at the Kentucky Power Company. Hostesses for the November meeting will be Mrs. Dorothy Burke, and Mrs. Isabel Reed, and the lesson will be on "Candy Making."

The hostess, Mrs. Eleanor Horn, served refreshments to Mesdames Frances Pitts, Gladys Blackburn, Mary Jane Brown, Dorothy Burke, Beatrice Collins, Opal Dingus, Grace Burke, Ruth Francis, Phyllis Herrick, Mary Sue Moore, Isabel Reed, Becky Short, Otella Smiley, and Pearl Crum and two guests, Miss Catherine Cundiff and Mrs. Maude Smith.

Three Strikes, and You're Out

One wonders why all the concern about changing the state constitution and the almost total lack of interest in Kentucky law that must be changed if all the millions being spent on crime prevention are to have any effect.

The laws governing juvenile crime are particularly ineffective, not to say frustrating, to enforcement and court officials. For example:

In this county a seventeen-year-old youth, now in jail, has had more than 40 charges lodged against him, with possibly another eight to be filed—and yet the law apparently is helpless in its purported role of protecting society against him.

Officers say they are tired of hunting down and arresting and jailing juveniles and of then seeing them turned free under existing law. Victims of their atrocities are more disgusted, if possible, than the officers.

Young offenders deserve a second chance. They should not be labelled criminals for a single crime. But the law should bear down hard on repeaters, those who thump their noses at the law and persist in making of crime a career.

Three strikes and you're out in a baseball game. Three offenses and the juvenile should be out of the protective embrace of this namby-pamby law. After that, he or she should be treated as an adult criminal.

friend take that critter immediately to the zoo.

A day or so later, as he drove around the neighborhood, the foreman almost wrecked his car when he beheld his friend bowling along down the street with the bear seated alongside him.

"Thought I told you to take that bear to the zoo," he yelled as he screeched to a halt.

"Did," the other replied. "And we had such a good time, thought I'd take him to King's Island, too."

THE DEFLATED PENNY

George D. Brown writes to this effect about "the lowdown penny":

The question is, what will it buy today? To test the value of a penny, we placed one on our warehouse floor, and hundreds of footsteps passed over it all day long, and none would stoop so low as to pick it up—or, we might say, to rescue Honest Abe from the dust. Times, alas, have indeed changed. I can remember when a barefoot boy would sprint all the way across the street and snatch one lone penny from the gutter. It might be so today if it were made of bronze or silver like its original English counterpart. (Only a cheapskate would offer a body a penny for his thoughts.)

If you think the situation never grows tense out on the farm, be there the day after a heavy frost and a rain threatens to ruin a cane or sweet potato crop.

RETURN HOME

Ten Years Ago

(October 19, 1967)

County Supt. of Schools Charles Clark took R. Buckminster Fuller, internationally-known architect-designer, on a tour of Floyd county Monday. Reorganization of the Prestonsburg Fire Department has been effected by the City Council in compliance with a directive from the Kentucky Inspection Bureau. Halloween limits, including a curfew, was set by Prestonsburg Mayor George P. Archer, this week. Married: Miss Margarette Jean Crum, of St. Charles, Mo., formerly of Langley, and Dennis Clark Gibson, of Langley, September 23. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Blevins, a son, Glenn Milford, Oct. 3 at Meriam, Kansas; to Mr. and Mrs. Ira Branham, of Ligon, a son, October 9; to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matherws, of Ligon, a son, October 12; to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hall, of East McDowell, a son, October 14; to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Howard, of Mousie, a daughter, October 15. There died: Rev. George Washington Bolen, 77, Tuesday at his home on Rock Fork, near Garrett; Mrs. Nancy Music Hill, 79, of Abbott Creek, Saturday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Polly Ann Conn, 67, of Martin, Friday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; J. W. (Cud) Rose, 73, of Town Branch, Saturday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Luther Allen, 65, of Garrett, Sunday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Gladys Little, 54, of Bevsinsville, Saturday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Mrs. Nancy Ann Griffin, 22, formerly of Garrett, Saturday at Kalamazoo, Indiana; George Crager, of Wayland, Friday at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville; Henry Johnson, 63, formerly of Buckingham, last Thursday in a Louisville hospital; Willard Eden, 63, of Columbus, O., formerly of Martin, Wednesday in a Columbus hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(October 17, 1957)

Flood protection work for Prestonsburg became a virtual certainty this week as a spirited drive for the local fund contribution necessary to get the work done was within striking distance of the $22,000 goal. The Court of Appeals ruled Wednesday that a special ballot must be printed for the special Senatorial election in this and the other two counties of the 29th Senatorial district. Twelve residents of Prestonsburg and two from Toms Creek are receiving anti-rabies treatment after having been bitten or otherwise exposed to the danger of hydrophobia from two rabid dogs. The Prestonsburg Youth Center will re-open Saturday evening in its new quarters in the basement of the Fountain Korner, it was announced. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Allen, of Weeksbury, a son, recently. There died: Grover C. Lowe, 71, last Thursday at his home here; Mrs. Malissa P. Francis, 80, of Prestonsburg, Friday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Rachael Sturgill, 86, Friday at her home at Lackey; Mrs. Rebecca Campbell DeRossett, 94, of Cliff, Saturday at the home of a daughter, here; Jeff Frasure, 79, formerly of this county, Sunday at Albion, Mich.; Sherman Burchett, 85, of Emma, Tuesday at the home of a daughter on Cow Creek.

Thirty Years Ago

(October 16, 1947)

A funeral ship brought 3,000 war dead back to the U.S. from the Pacific theatre for burial in home graves recently. Among the first returned was Pvt. Curtis Lee Sizemore, of Wheelwright. Employees of Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company are to receive a $1-a-day pay increase, it was announced. 5,854 men are presently employed in 14 mines in the area. The Sadie Hawkins Day celebration has been set for Oct. 18 with the race set to begin at 6:30 p.m. Married: Carr Watson, and Orzie Sparkman, both of Pippa Passes, here Oct. 9; Mason Arnold, Minnie, and Hermia Johnson, Bevsinsville, here, Oct. 10; John L. Taylor and Lillian Steele, both of Betsy Layne, here recently; Carl Daniel and Glada Blair, both of Lowmansville, here, Oct. 11; Clabe Watson and Cora Smith, both of Pippa Passes, here, Oct. 15; Curtis Ousley, Willard, O., and Della Johnson, Goodloe, here, Oct. 15. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Boyd, a daughter, Barbara Ann, Oct. 9, at Eastern. There died: Clay Hyden, 43, in an auto wreck near his home at East Point; McKinley Harvey, 18, victim in a car wreck; Miss Estelene Parsons, 28, at Manton; Cpl. Bill Claude Daniels, 33, at San Antonio, Texas; Mrs. Hester Allen, 76, of Wayland; Judge Hi Pauley, 63, at home in Pike county last week.

Forty Years Ago

(October 14, 1937)

The Floyd County Times is moving its equipment from the present Court St. location opposite the courthouse to the former Floyd County Independent building on Third Street. The Times and Independent are now consolidated under the name of The Times. The first portable organ, "toted mule-back" years before the railroad, will be used in a program presented by Mrs. Edith F. Jamies and Mrs. C. P. Stephens. G.O.P. voters trail Democrats in this county by a margin of 3 to 1. No killings this week. Part of the old John Graham stable, built 139 years ago at Emma, came to Prestonsburg a few days ago. Nails used in the pioneer structure were hammered out in 1798 in Abingdon, Va. and brought here horseback by Ben Burchett, veteran of the Revolutionary War. Married: Miss Flossie Conley and Ted McPeck, both of West Garrett; John Blankenship and Eunice Adams; Bennie Meadows and Amie Morrison; Freddie Collins, Water Gap, and Mary Coburn, Lancer; Raymond Hall and Irene Powell, both of Water Gap. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wallen, of Water Gap, a daughter, Sept. 25; to Mr. and Mrs. Claybourne Stephens, of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Linda Sue, Oct. 10 at the Paintsville hospital. There died: Milton S. Burns, 81, native Prestonsburg man, at his home at Louisa; Daniel Skeens, 83, at the home of a sister; Mrs. Jesse Dillon Lewis, 34, of Banner; Mrs. Lennie Harris, 66; Mrs. Georgia Goodman, of Dwale, recently at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin.

Letters to the Editor

Parent-Teacher Cites Parental Responsibility

Two weeks ago, you had a letter from a concerned parent, describing the ills of public education. This parent asked for one perfect week, free from all the frills and extras of education. This parent said "let them do what they're supposed to do... teach!"

I agree 100 per cent—for, you see, I, too, am a concerned parent.

However, since I am also a concerned teacher, could this "perfect week" also include the items listed below?—

May each day of the week begin with you, the parent, rising and preparing breakfast and seeing that your child neither skips nor misses the bus? May this week have the scheduled dental appointment on Saturday, rather than on a school day? May this week refrain from shopping trips that must be made to nearby towns, and that always seem to bring a call to "excuse your child from school today"? May this week be free from TV and other time consumers that interfere with homework and other assignments? Could this week include time for you, the concerned parent, to talk to your child about his work? check over his homework? question him about his learning?

Could this week include time for you to attend a PTA meeting at your child's school so you may talk to his teacher? Could we also find time for you to purchase his necessary supplies, such as pencils, paper, etc.? Could this week be free from the necessity of keeping your child home to help with the kids; work on the house; drive you to the doctor, etc.? Could you also find time to impose a curfew so your child gets enough rest to be able to function the following day?

I'm concerned... you're concerned, dear parent. It's a two-way street. Isn't it time we got together and put this generation back on the right track? Neither of us can be successful alone. Call me, concerned parents, because we sound a lot alike. We both want to hand over the reins some day to responsible, educated adults.

'Relax... Let Worries Fade'

I didn't realize I liked to get the Times so much until I did without it these last two weeks and I find that what my mother always said, "You can leave Floyd county but you never forget it or its people," is true. I've really missed reading your paper from the first page to the last. So I'm sending my check to renew my subscription another year.

I particularly like the editorials and articles. Some of the editor's comments sure make you think and bring back memories. Mr. Preston says, "I live on the shores of Cumberland Lake now, am retired and can go fishing any time the notion strikes me. But you know, even now I have days just like he describes, and when I have one of those days I think of something I've read in the Floyd County Times and have to laugh. Then I feel better because I know I'm not alone in my misery."

Right now the bass are really hitting on Cumberland, and everything is really beautiful down here. The waters are a beautiful blue and with this as a start leisurely along and really look around. The trees are putting on their fall colors of red, orange, gold, purple, brown and green. Find a long, lonesome stretch of water and stop, look at the water, the beautiful hills, reflecting in it so that it seems they're in the picture twice, and the blue, blue sky with maybe one or two white, fleecy clouds floating above and not another sign of man anywhere. The only sound is maybe a squirrel chattering to his mate in a tree nearby or a hawk or crow flies by overhead calling to another. Then get a good, deep breath of unpolluted air, relax and let your worries fade away.

At a time like that I don't think there's a fisherman in the world who worries about whether he keeps up with the other fellow or not.

In Appreciation

I want to express my appreciation to Our Lady of the Way hospital, especially the nurses and nurses' aides. I appreciate all the kindness and thoughtfulness given to me and all the patients the many times I have been there. The hospital itself is more like a Christian home.

Many thanks are to be given to Dr. Lowell Martin who has helped me remain on earth this many years. Also, the Wells family are to be remembered for the help they gave to my wife and now me.

I sincerely say the hospital is a Christian home and the staff is wonderful.

Dedication Scheduled, Oct. 29

Dedication of the new Floyd County Juvenile Detention Center, shown here, will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 29. The public is invited to attend the ceremonies.

WHEELWRIGHT NEWS

The Wheelwright Community Action Club held its regular club meeting October 13 at the Wheelwright High School cafeteria. The president led the meeting and introduced new persons to the club.

Reports were given by officers concerning the on-going opinion poll, fund raising activities and publicity. The president stated that he would contact a band to have another dance, locate a building to have our regular monthly meetings and contact Alice Lloyd College to see if their choir would perform at Wheelwright in December. A new treasurer was elected.

The County Extension Agent gave an informative talk on the advantages of winterizing your home.

Guest speaker was a candidate for county office who spoke admirably of our community and encouraged the club in its activities.

Announcements included: Free adult education classes every Tuesday and Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.; free exercise classes every Thursday at 6 p.m.; free pre-natal class, October 26, at 2 p.m. The preceding classes are held at the Wheelwright Clinic.

Approximately 17 persons attended the meeting. All citizens are urged to attend the next scheduled meeting November 10 at 7 p.m. at the Wheelwright High School cafeteria.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL
Director of Environmental Studies
Morehead State University

Energy-associated environmental effects on the land and people tend to be localized and preventable. Environmental disasters are not prevented because of a lack of enforcement or unwillingness to spend money for corrective measures.

Often the lack of enforcement is due to agency boondoggles, impotent administration, and-or political graft. Reservoir siltation is an excellent example. Every lake is destined to become a mud flat, but some, because of location or man's interference, receive so much silt they become dry land long before their time.

The life of a manmade lake generally varies between 50 and 250 years, according to the Corps of Engineers. Some lakes, such as Fishtrap and Dewey in Kentucky have had their life expectancy reduced by one-half and it is estimated that if no corrective measures are taken, they will become swamp land within 20 years. The reason is siltation, primarily from strip mining. Both lakes, and dozens like them all over the U.S., are continually muddy.

The obvious solution is to ban strip mining, but because that is not presently feasible for various reasons, the next best solutions involve trying to remove present siltation and preventing future deposition. Both processes are very expensive and represent additional costs to all of us, not to mention the intangible cost to the ecosystem. Degraded lakes can be dredged of accumulated silt, but the problem of disposal is nearly as great as the expense involved. The equipment alone used to desilt only a portion of the Imperial Dam on the Colorado River cost one and one-half million dollars.

To stop siltation before it reaches the main lake, secondary upriver dams can be built. Water can be periodically released from a secondary dam to flush out the main body of water. This is also an expensive operation, running into millions of dollars.

Another example of lax enforcement was the Buffalo Creek, West Virginia disaster in 1972. An earthen dam, carelessly built with unstable mine spoil deposited over the years, broke during a rainy period, killing more than 75 people and rendering five thousand survivors homeless. The lake was 50 feet deep and nearly one-half mile long.

This tragedy was localized in time and place, the accumulative effect of past sins. It was also preventable because the U.S. Geological Survey had warned of the danger from unstable spoil dams, especially Buffalo Creek, but the Bureau of Mines denied responsibility for the tragedy because although mine spoil was within their scope of responsibility, dams were not! Of course, proper mining law enforcement would have prevented the catastrophe, but costs would have been added to the mining process and utility companies would have had to petition for higher rates. The people in New York would have protested.

Floyd Federal Savings and Loan Association, Prestonsburg, Ky. . . Pif.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE
CR 12, 842

Clara Hutto, widow, Oscar Reynolds, and Ruth Reynolds, wife . . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the September 14 term, 1977 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 28th day of October, 1977 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Floyd County, Kentucky on the left hand fork of Bull Creek and being the same land conveyed to Catherine Reynolds by Ernestine Reynolds Cheekmore and A. C. Cheekmore, her husband, by deed dated February 12, 1964, recorded in Deed Book 184, page 437 and 438, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office and described as follows: Beginning at a haw tree at the county road; thence a straight line up the hill to the top of a red oak; thence down the hill to another red oak; thence down the hill with a drain to the county road below the barn; thence with the county road to the beginning at the haw tree.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $10,243.98 with interest thereon at 6 percent annually from the 14 day of April, 1977 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 6th day of October, 1977.

AFDC Error Rate Most in Jefferson

Frankfort, Ky. (Oct. 12, 1977)—Efforts to decrease the error rate in Kentucky's Aid to Families with Dependent Children program (AFDC) will save an estimated $800,000 in state and federal money this year, Department for Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn said today.

Quality control measures taken by the department between January and June resulted in a 1.9 per cent drop in overpayments, underpayments and payments to ineligible persons. The total annual savings of $800,000 includes $200,000 in state funds, reported Conn.

Gail Huecker, commissioner of the department's Bureau for Social Insurance, calls the decrease "particularly noteworthy" because state eligibility workers experienced "major problems and changes" during the six-month period.

"The eastern Kentucky flood and the expansion of the emergency assistance program placed tremendous demands on our workers. They did an incredible job to meet these demands and, at the same time, made progress in our quality control efforts."

Since April, 1973, when the federal government first required AFDC quality control for all states, the Bureau for Social Insurance has reduced Kentucky's case error rate from more than 47 per cent to the present 13.2 per cent. Current federal guidelines specify that errors be reduced to 13 per cent.

The federal government, which provides approximately 72 per cent of AFDC program funds, has been threatening since 1973 to withhold a portion of its support unless states continue to reduce errors.

The January-June sampling indicates that 55 per cent of the errors were client-based. Of the client errors which resulted in overpayment or incorrect eligibility, Huecker said, almost 27 per cent involved misrepresentation, 26.9 per cent involved failure to report changes, and 28.1 per cent involved information reported incorrectly.

The total error rate in Jefferson county (23.5 per cent) continues to be more than double the rate in the rest of the state. Almost half of the errors involving ineligibility and overpayment in that county are caused by client misrepresentation.

"Metropolitan areas nationally have had difficulty in controlling error rates because of population density, the mobility of clients, erratic part-time employment opportunities, and more changes in individual case circumstances which are difficult to follow and verify," said Conn. "Our staff in Jefferson county is making an impact on the problems."

"While error-control efforts will continue throughout the state," he added, "a specialized corrective approach may be warranted in Jefferson county."

Ky. Economy Strange Statistics Revealed

Kentucky's economy remains strong, according to figures released last week by the Department for Human Resources.

Unemployment in September dropped 0.5 percent to 4.1 per cent from the August figure of 4.6 per cent. The September rate was the second lowest for the year, with May's figure of 3.7 percent remaining the lowest.

Robert MacDonald, chief labor analyst for the state said, "The number of Kentuckians working increased in September by 21,900 workers with the unemployed rolls decreasing by 5,900. This compares favorably with September of 1976, when there were an additional 7,500 unemployed."

According to MacDonald, the downward trend may be attributed to increased hiring by all of Kentucky's major industries. Government employment was the only major employer to show a decrease last month.

MacDonald said the 4.1 per cent figure places Kentucky 2.5 percent below the national rate of 6.6 percent during the same period.

Although the state unemployment rate is low, there are more than 25,000 people looking for work, some for the first time and others trying to re-enter the labor force.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

"O, mickle is the powerful grace that lies in herbs, plants, stones, and their true qualities: For nought so vile that on the earth doth live, but to the earth some special good doth give."

These lines from Friar Laurence in Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet could very well apply to Amaranth, the weed now seen going to seed in the gardens and rich barn lots across the land.

Although decidedly unprepossessing in appearance, not a bit handsome and indeed a pesky weed, growing to as much as six feet high, bearing flowers barely visible to the naked eye and with dark green spikes as rough as a corn cob, it does seem to have some strange powers, at least over poets. It has inspired such poets as Milton, Browning and Tennyson to mention it with honor and to cause Cowper to think of it as a synonym for immortality.

Introduced into this country from the Old World and no matter that many poets have highly praised it, most farmers and gardeners would have been glad had it stayed at home. If not kept under control early in its life, it is capable of crowding out most all other plants and completely taking over a garden or hoglot—even worse than Lamb's Quarters.

As a rule, country people do not know Amaranth as such. To them it is pigweed, rooster's comb, spleen weed, or wild beet—the latter because its taproot is red like a beet. The reddish tinged flower spike may account for the name "rooster's comb."

How does Friar Laurence's observations fit in this story? True, it is a plant pest and has little eye-pleasing beauty, but it may still have brought good. Since early times herb doctors and old granny women, who sometimes doubled as gynecologists, considered Amaranth as good medicine.

Each fall these medical practitioners would gather Amaranth, tie it in bundles and hang it up to dry. A strong tea was made from the dried plant and the patient ordered to drink freely for treatment of such ailments as menorrhagia, diarrhea, dysentery or hemorrhage of the spleen. The tea was also used to treat ulcers of the mouth and throat, as an injection for leucorrhoea and a wash for tired, aching feet. Modern medicine credits the plant with astringent virtues.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Patton are spending three weeks in Florida visiting relatives and friends and several tourist attractions. While in Miami Mrs. Patton will attend an advanced institute for executive and administrative secretaries, sponsored by the American Hospital Association.

Mrs. Claude Webb went to Stockdale, Ohio Sunday to spend a few days with her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Salisbury, who is recuperating at her home after being a patient at a Portsmouth hospital. Mrs. Webb returned home, Thursday.

Kent Flanery was home for the weekend. He is a student at UK.

Mrs. Chalmer Hicks was in Pikeville Thursday for a medical checkup.

Mrs. Edgar May entertained to lunch Friday complimenting Mrs. Tom Hatcher, of St. Petersburg, Fla. Another guest was Mrs. Stanley Combs, of Prestonsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miles, Steve and Andy, of Jonesville, Va., Bennie Fraley, of Saudi Arabia, and Miss Ginger Anne Fraley, of Nashville, Tenn., have been here visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Haley Webb, and other relatives. Bennie accompanied Ginger to her home in Nashville, then returned here for a longer visit. He is employed in Saudi Arabia and will return there in December.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robinson is a patient in a Lexington hospital.

Tommy Moore observed his 90th birthday, October 14. He is still able to take walks every day and is interested in everything around him. He attends church services regularly and is still able to sing, especially the most requested song, "The Third Man."

THE RAILWAY LABOR ACT, passed in 1926, required employers to bargain collectively and not discriminate against their employees for joining a union. The act also provided for the settlement of railway labor disputes through mediation, voluntary arbitration and factfinding boards, according to a U.S. Labor Department publication, "Important Events in American Labor History."

To The Voters of District No. 1:

I am interested in our County being cleaned up, especially District 1, job opportunities for our young people, our old people being cared for, better roads, safer bridges, more work—less play, more of the truth—less promises. I want to run on my own record, not another Republican's or some other man's. Let us face the facts: anything that gets one-sided always gets out of balance. You the voters can put things in balance if you want to.

I Pledge As Your Sheriff:

- (1) To enforce the law as passed by the Legislature, the Congress, and as voted by the majority at local option elections.
- (2) Prefer to have all Deputies in uniform and paid a decent Salary, working with all local and state law enforcement agencies.
- (3.) To have a Deputy on 24-hour, seven-days-a-week duty at the Sheriff's office to answer calls and serve the public.
- (4.) To provide every district with a uniformed Deputy, salary paid. Every community will have a stand-by Deputy in case of emergencies—but only to be active when requested by the Sheriff or another officer on duty.
- (5.) Special Deputy to direct traffic for all funeral session.
- (6.) I will not allow abuse, discrimination or in human treatment by an officer of the Sheriff's department.
- (7.) All Deputies will be chosen by equivalent education—knowing how to conduct themselves as officers.
- (8.) No delays with warrants—All warrants will be served by me or a Deputy if presented to the Sheriff's office.
- (9.) All laws pertaining to local, state and federal citizenry will be posted conspicuously for the interest of all concerned.
- (10.) Equal law enforcement for ALL the people.

DEMANDS Most Wanted By The People of Floyd County

(Pol. adv. paid by candidate, 1t-pd.)

A MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY

Our County Judge Could Appropriate Money for Better Law Protection for Our Communities...

It is a sad commentary that our good people in almost every section of our county feel insecure in some cases even in our own homes and on our highways. You want and deserve better police protection in your communities. I respectfully suggest that my opponent could do something about this problem if he only had a concern and an interest in the safety of our people. The Sheriff of any county can only hire salaried deputies contingent on the fees he collects from his office, unless he is given assistance by the County Judge. When I am elected your Judge, I will strongly suggest to the Fiscal Court that we appropriate funds that will enable our next Sheriff to employ one salaried deputy for each of our four Magisterial Districts. We are living in a civilized society and we should put a higher premium on the protection of our people's property and lives.

I want to be your next Judge because I see so much that can be done and should be done to make our county a better place to live. You want a County Judge that will take the time to meet with you in your communities, and not just at election time.

This campaign is coming to an end and I hope you have made up your mind that when you get behind the voting curtain, you will vote for Ronald Frasure for County Judge Executive. Remember, the ballot box can and should be the strongest weapon in the hands of a free people. If it is used intelligently and prayerfully, it can be an instrument to change the things that are not so good in our county.

I believe that you plan to vote in this County Judge Executive race in such a manner that when you return from the polls you will be able to look your children in the eyes and say to them with all honesty, "Today, I put my party politics aside and voted for your future. Today, I voted for a better Floyd County."

(Pol. Adv. Pd. by Frasure for Judge Committee, Clyde George, Treasurer)

Appeal to Our Friends: Think Before You Vote

We take no delight in criticizing anyone, but a promise made should be a promise kept. We've begged, we've pleaded with our county officials to fix our road so we and our neighbors can get to our church—all to no avail.

O, yes, they have promised and promised but staggered at every one of them. They have refused even to come and see.

We think we have a moral obligation to call for a new leader. One day we may all wax old on the job; may we have the grace to step aside. If not may our friends gently nudge us.

We think we advise you best when we ask you to please vote for

A Promise Was Kept

For months now, the David Woman's Club and other mothers from the David area have been talking to the Highway Department about fixing our road. Feelings run high when your children are involved, and after several weeks of various things, including blocking the buses, and a meeting with Judge Stumbo, the highway people and "Jitter" Allen in the middle of the road, in sheer frustration after flagging traffic in the dark foggy mornings, the women descended on the courthouse, although they knew it was a highway problem and not county officials who were to blame. And crews are working on our road—so we have been successful!

But our main problem was how to get the buses safely around that curve during construction, and Judge Stumbo promised us he'd get flagmen up there. It seems, however, that county highway workers don't go to work that early. So, as you went around that awful curve at 6:45 in the morning, I hope you noticed our flagmen. It is called keeping a promise, and on one end was our Judge Henry Stumbo with a flashlight, waving traffic through, and on the other was his grandson, flagging there. Our kids went through safely because he kept his promise—and after three mornings of standing there in the fog and dark—I can't impress on you how dangerous it was—and how deeply we appreciate what he has done for us. How many of our elected officials would have served us in such a manner? With the courthouse and county behind him, he did it himself! That is beautiful—and we must publicly express our appreciation and our gratitude to him for everything.

Sincerely,
BETTY A. DAVIS
David, Ky.

P.S. With all our pictures, that would have been the prize!
(1t-pd.)

INVITATION FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Floyd County Board of Education, Prestonsburg, Kentucky (Floyd County), at the office of the Floyd County Board of Education, on November 2, 1977 at 7:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read aloud for the furnishing of all materials and labor and performing all work as set forth by this Invitation for Bids, the Instructions to Bidder, the General Conditions of the Contract, the Specifications, and Drawings prepared by Crider and Associates, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

The work to be bid upon: A NEW SCHOOL BUS GARAGE, GARTH, KENTUCKY

Proposals will be received as follows: Plans, Specifications and Contract Documents, may be examined at the following places: Builders Exchange of Louisville, Kentucky; Dodge Corporation of Knoxville, Tennessee; Charleston, W. Va.; and Lexington, Kentucky; and at the office of Crider and Associates, Architect 315 N. Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Copies of the documents, not to exceed two (2) sets, for the General Contractors, and his major Subcontractors; Mechanical, Air Conditioning, Plumbing, and Electrical only, may be secured from Crider and Associates, 315 N. Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, upon payment of $40.00 per set, which payment will be refunded upon return of the plans, specifications, and other documents, in good condition, within ten (10) days after date of bid opening. If more than two sets of documents are requested, they may be obtained upon payment of $35.00, which payment will not be subject to refund. All deposits on hand after expiration of ten-day period, become the property of Crider and Associates.

All subcontractors, material suppliers, and other interested parties, may obtain a full set of Drawings and Specifications for a total deposit of $50.00, made payable to Crider and Associates, in two separate checks: one in the amount of $35.00 completely refundable; and one in the amount of $15.00—not subject to refund; or they may obtain the necessary sheets required to estimate their work, upon payment of $2.50 per sheet of the drawings, which charge will include the corresponding section, or sections of the specifications.

Bids must be accompanied by a bid bond payable to the Owner in an amount not less than five percent (5 pct.) of the Base Bid.

Bids received after the scheduled closing time for the reception of the Bids, will be returned, unopened to the bidders.

DOCUMENTS AVAILABLE on or about October 20, 1977.

In the event an award is made, and the successful bidder fails to furnish a satisfactory Performance Bond within fifteen (15) days after written notification of acceptance of the Proposal, and fails to execute a Contract for the construction of the work under the award, then the Bid Bond shall be forfeited as liquidated damages for such failure.

The Proposals including the Big Bond, shall be in a sealed envelope, bearing the Bidder's Identification, addressed to the: FLOYD CO. BOARD OF EDUCATION PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY and labeled in the lower lefthand corner: PROPOSAL: A NEW SCHOOL BUS GARAGE GARTH, KENTUCKY

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Bids and to waive informalities.

C. & H. RAUCH JEWELERS

Conns Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Conn, of Salisbury, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, September 24.

A buffet dinner was served at the Salisbury Regular Baptist lunchroom building. In attendance were their 10 children, 42 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, many relatives, friends, neighbors and a special visit by County Judge Henry Stumbo. Many gifts and cards were received. Later, cake and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Conn were married July 14, 1927 at Spurlock.

Parent-Child Group Holds First Meeting

The Parent and Child Association held its first meeting Thursday, October 13. This newly formed group of parents and interested people met at the First Presbyterian Church, here.

Edith Kowalsky, R.N., presented a multimedia program on emergency first aid for babies and small children. Control of bleeding and poisoning as well as techniques of artificial respiration were discussed. Using volunteer Michael Rosenberg, she demonstrated measures to relieve choking.

Refreshments were enjoyed by everyone as were the services of Prestonsburg High School's Future Homemakers Club that provided babysitting for those attending the meeting.

The next meeting will be November 10, on the subject of parent-child communication. Anyone interested is invited to attend. Families are encouraged to bring their children.

HERE FROM VIRGINIA

Mrs. Ruby Bentley and son, Richard, of Newport News, Va., were here recently visiting relatives at Maytown, including Rochella Chaffins, Tony and Terry, Mary, Danny and Eugene Hicks, also Joe Paul Hicks and family, of Wayland.

Little Miss 4th of July

Crystal Ann Welch, daughter of Robert and Ann Welch, of Martin, was crowned Little Miss Fourth of July at the pageant sponsored by the Martin Woman's Club. Crystal is six-years-old, an avid swimmer and the highest ranked diver in her swimming class.

Senior Citizen News
Senior citizens celebrated their monthly birthday party Friday, October 14, with a dinner at the center for all who had birthdays within the past month. This event is a planned monthly activity. Among those observing birthdays were Cora Pennington, Gypsie Baldrige, America Johnson and Taulby Slone. Congratulations to Susan Johnson, Archer Park Administrator, for a super job done on the Senior Citizen Center at Archer Park. Hopefully the center will be opened within a few days. Open house will be observed and senior citizens are invited to visit the center. The date is to be announced. Our appreciation goes to Music-Carter-Hughes for the use of a truck for the Johnson county Apple Day parade. Jim Kelly of the Social Security Administration, spoke recently to a group of senior citizens at the center.

Mrs. Marino Honored

Mrs. Catherine Pandzic Marino, formerly of Wheelwright, has been nominated and elected for inclusion in the first edition of "Who's Who in Health Care." Recommendation for this honor comes from recognition of her position in the health care field, professional accomplishments, and contributions to betterment of health care in this country.

She has been active in health care since 1953 when she was graduated from St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing in Huntington, where she was an active member of the Pallottine Missionary Sisters. Mrs. Marino holds a master's degree in nursing with a double major in biological sciences and curriculum development. She was acting director in St. Mary's Hospital for one year and from 1965 to 1966 was supervisor and later director of nursing service of St. Vincent Pallotti Hospital in Morgantown. While she was a faculty member of West Virginia Wesleyan College, she helped introduce community public health nursing in that area. Mrs. Marino is now working on her doctoral degree at West Virginia University.

Mrs. Marino is a daughter of Mrs. Mary Pandzic, of Elizabethtown, Tenn., and the late Ivan Pandzic, who lived in Wheelwright until retirement. Her brother, Lt. Col. (retired) Eckener Pandzic, now resides in Johnson City, Tenn. Mrs. Marino is married to Joseph Marino and resides in Bridgeport, W. Va.

Approval of Health Program Funds Made

Congressman Carl D. Perkins announced recently the approval of an $108,949 Appalachian Regional Commission grant for the funding of a program to develop health services in Eastern Kentucky.

The project will provide a small professional staff for the East Kentucky Health Systems Agency to develop programs and grants that address the critical health manpower shortage problems in the 49 counties of the Appalachian region of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

The staff will work in cooperation with the health planning staff of the Area Development Districts and with the Kentucky Development Cabinet.

Total Project cost if $150,232. Local sources will provide $37,558 and $3,725 from HEW will be available through Health Systems Agency funds under PL 93-641.

NOTICE

The Kentucky Bureau of Highways, in order to assist those people displaced by highway construction, desires to obtain listings of available housing and building lots which are for sale, rent, or lease in Floyd County in the Betsy Layne, Harold, Mud Creek area.

Information concerning any property listed with the Bureau will be made available, free of charge, to those people displaced by highway construction and at no cost to the property owner offering the property.

Any property owner having property for sale, rent, or lease, is requested to send a brief description of the property; giving the lot size, type (brick, frame, block), number of rooms, type of heat, if gas and water are available, location, and whether or not the house has a bathroom. If the house is for rent, state monthly rent; if house is for sale, the sale price. Be sure to indicate the name and address of the owner and telephone number, if any.

All properties listed just be decent, safe, and sanitary, and available for sale or rent without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin.

All replies should be sent to C. M. Coleman, District Relocation Assistance Agent, Bureau of Highways, P.O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501.

Signed: Gail Mullins, District Engineer

3-16-1f.

What Is a District Judge?

In Floyd County, the District Judge will do the work now being done by five City Police Judges, four Magistrates, County Judge, Judge Pro-Tem, Trial Commissioner and Juvenile Judge. Floyd County will still have a County Judge (now known as County Judge Executive) and Magistrates, but their duties will be limited to fiscal matters, making up the budget and supervising the spending of the county tax money.

The District Judge will preside over all civil cases where the amount involved is $1500, or less, all juvenile matters, and the violation of all state laws and city and county ordinances, except offenses punishable by penitentiary confinement or death.

In addition to the other duties, the District Judge will also preside over a new court, known as the Court of Small Claims (matters under $500).

It is estimated that 68 of every 100 persons having business before the courts will come first to the District Court.

The office of District Judge will require a person with not only a law degree, but also with considerable administrative ability. It will require a person with good health, good nerve and a willingness to work long hours. How the office is operated for the first time may set the pattern of justice in Floyd County for a long time to come.

Believing that I am qualified for the job, I respectfully urge you to vote for me in the November election. If I am elected, the fact that my residence is next door to the court house (and jail) will somewhat ease the problem of having your District Judge available after hours.

The office is non-partisan and I welcome the vote of my Republican friends as well as my fellow-Democrats.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS
Attorney General

You bought an outfit at a department store and charged it. When you received the bill, the store had charged you a different price than appeared on the tag at the store. What do you do?

Under the Fair Credit Billing Act there is a procedure you can follow to clear up billing errors which in the past may have taken months or years to correct. The Fair Credit Billing Act not only sets up a procedure for clearing up these disputes, but it also limits the time a company may take to respond to your complaint. If the company does not follow the required procedure for solving your billing disputes, it can lose the amount of money involved in the dispute, or you may under certain circumstances sue the company.

A billing error exists if you are charged for something you didn't buy; or charged the wrong price for something; or charged for goods you didn't receive; or charged for an item that you can not decipher from the billing statement as to what it refers to; or charged for something you or the person you designated did not accept; or charged for goods or services which were not delivered according to the agreement with the company; or not properly credited for goods you returned; or charged incorrectly due to an arithmetic mistake; or not receiving a billing statement as it was not delivered to the correct address.

If you discover any of the above billing errors on your statement, you should follow this recommended procedure to clear up these billing mistakes. First, you need to write the company within sixty days of the receipt of the erroneous bill. A phone call will not be sufficient to notify the company of the error. Write to the company at the address that should be listed on the bill, or on the notice you received when you opened the account.

In the letter you should include your name and account number and explain to the company what you believe to be the billing error. Be sure to keep a copy of this letter for your files. You may want to send the letter by registered or certified mail if the dispute involves a large sum of money, to be sure the company received it. The receipt for the registered or certified mail will also give you proof that you sent the letter within the required sixty days.

The company must then send an acknowledgment of your letter of the billing dispute within thirty days. A correction of the bill may be explained in this letter. If not, the company has two billing periods, or a maximum of ninety days, to inform you of its decision of how to correct the error. Your statement must then either be corrected, or an investigation must be conducted with your being given notice explaining why the company feels there is no billing error. In either case, you can ask the company to send you evidence of the charge it claims is correct, such as the charge slip, or the sales tag of the merchandise.

If the company determines there has been no billing error, it may require you to pay the minimum payment amount of the bill which you did not pay because of the pending dispute. The company can not make you pay the outstanding balance all at once even though no billing error was found to exist.

If you have a problem or complaint involving credit and the law, you can write the Truth-In-Lending Division of the Federal Trade Commission in Washington, D. C. 20580, or contact the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation or just need some information, you can call the toll-free consumer hotline at 1-800-372-2960.

15 HANGING FROM TRAIN KILLED WHEN HIT BY SECOND TRAIN

CAIRO, Egypt—Fifteen people hanging from the doors and windows of passing trains were knocked to the ground and killed in a town 24 miles north of Cairo, the Al Ahran newspaper reported Saturday.

The victims died instantly when they fell between the trains that passed from opposite directions at the town of Tukh, the report said. It did not elaborate.

Crowded buses and trains with passengers hanging on the outside area a common sight in Egypt.

$7,694,000 to Floyd County!

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION GRANTS

On September 28, 1977, in the Floyd County Times, Mr. Clyde George paid for a Republican Ad which made the following statement:

"Why are our Neighboring Counties receiving grants and loans to provide thousands of jobs for their Citizens? What about leadership in your Floyd County Courthouse?"

Is the above statement True or False?

Since the Economic Development Administration is the Number One Federal Agency which funds projects for promoting INDUSTRIAL GROWTH and JOB DEVELOPMENT throughout the United States, let's compare the number of GRANT DOLLARS which twenty Eastern Kentucky Counties in our section have received since EDA came into existence in late 1965:

Name of County	Amount of EDA Federal Funds
FLOYD	7,694,000
Bell	4,366,000
Perry	4,116,000
Johnson	2,286,000
Martin	1,920,000
Harlan	1,694,000
Pike	1,693,000
Leslie	1,160,000
Letcher	1,072,000
Wolfe	1,062,000
Owsley	974,000
Powell	893,000
Knott	886,000
Rowan	769,000
Jackson	732,000
Lee	699,000
Clay	672,000
Breathitt	608,000
Morgan	600,000
Knox	559,000

The RECORD ABOVE comes from the OFFICIAL RECORD published in 1977 by the Economic Development Administration.

Mr. Clyde George and his Republican Candidate must admit that ONE of the following is TRUE:

1. He and his republican Candidate are trying to deceive the voters of Floyd County,
- or
2. He is publicly admitting that he and his Republican Candidate don't know what is going on.

When Mr. Clyde George tells you that his Republican Candidate will "build Roads and Bridges, sewer systems, provide the Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars, can YOU believe it? Is he again trying to mislead the voters, or is he admitting that he doesn't know what is going on?

If the Candidate of Mr. Clyde George is purposely trying to mislead the Citizens of Floyd County, by giving incorrect information in paid ads, we think that this is stooping to the "Old Nixon Style of Politics."

The Democratic Leadership of Floyd County HAS been awake during the past ten years. They are EXPERIENCED in working with State and Federal Government Officials to get the job done.

D.A.R. CHAPTER MEETS

John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at the Floyd County Library at 7 p.m., October 11. The regent, Mrs. James B. Goble, presided. Mrs. Opal S. May, chaplain, conducted the ritualistic service. The President General's message was read by Mrs. Ray Brackett. Mrs. Virginia Goble presented the National Defense Program, "Embassy Eavesdroppers."

It was announced that all members are invited to attend the homecoming at Duncan Tavern, Paris, Ky., October 27-28. Each member attending is asked to bring such items as jelly, canned pickled, shucky beans and old jewelry, to be used for an auction sale during the meeting. Dinner will be served at Duncan Tavern.

Mrs. Ray Collins, leader for the evening, introduced Mrs. Frankie Sue Best, who gave a report on the trip which she made with other members of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church to New Mexico last summer to work with the Pueblo Indians. Mrs. Best illustrated her discussion with many interesting pictures.

Following the program, an impressive memorial was given by the chaplain, Mrs. Opal S. May, and the assistant chaplain, Mrs. Sallye F. Clark, with Mrs. Edith F. James at the piano, honoring two deceased members of the Chapter, Mrs. Emma Wells May and Mrs. Helen Darnell Osborne. Assisting with this program were Mrs. Ray Brackett, Mrs. Margaret Collins, Mrs. Victor Hale, Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, and Mrs. J. G. Stepp.

At the close of the meeting the hostess, Mrs. Opal S. May, assisted by her sisters, Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, Mrs. Virginia S. Goble and Mrs. Mae S. CONGREGATION IN NEW CHURCH

Interior of new First Assembly of God Church, near Martin.

A congregation which five years ago began worshipping in the home of the pastor, the Rev. Lorie Vannucci, and his wife, Annette, at Martin has had a remarkable growth.

As the congregation increased, it first moved into a small store-front in Martin. Recently, it occupied its new sanctuary and educational department which, with site and furnishings, is valued at $225,000.

The new church, which seats 260 and includes a baptistry, is located one-eighth of a mile up KY 122 (the Left Beaver highway) from the junction of that route with KY 80, near Martin. A wing of the L-shaped brick structure contains nine Sunday School rooms and a nursery.

The Assemblies of God, one of the fastest growing religious organizations, emphasizes the outpouring of the Holy Spirit which is known as the Charismatic Renewal.

Airport Board To Ask $25,000 For Combs Field

While sites for a new regional airport are being explored, the existing facility at Combs Airport between Prestonsburg and Paintsville needs extensive work to bring it to an acceptable level of safety, the Big Sandy Area Development District board of directors was told Monday night.

The report of Big Sandy ADD's airport committee came at the board's regular monthly meeting at Jenny Wiley State Park, and the committee's chairman, Dr. John Turner, told the group, "We can't take care of the traffic."

Dr. Turner said houses and mobile homes have been built in recent years in great numbers in the bottoms adjacent to the air field and he added that there had already been a number of "close calls" on takeoffs and landings. Turner said the field needs to be fenced, graded and drained. "Even if a large regional airport is built, I still think Combs field would serve a useful purpose," he added.

In reaction to the report of the airport committee, the board approved a motion to apply for a $25,000 state grant to provide for the needed renovations.

Roger Recktenwald, Big Sandy ADD planner, introduced two representatives of the National Demonstration Water Project, Columbus, O., who are here for the week to make a preliminary assessment of area water problems. The project provides assistance in the management of water systems and the organization's personnel may in the future be contracted to take over management of water systems.

In connection with the discussion of water problems and projects to be approved for ARC funding, the board moved to emphasize water as ADD's primary concern in Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties.

Featured speaker at the meet was state Department of Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson. Outlining his philosophy and that of his department, Grayson said he considered the contact of the Department of Transportation with the state's Area Development Districts as a working relationship of great importance. "The combined strength of five counties working as a unit is far more valuable and influential than the action of individual counties," Grayson pointed out.

Grayson said the present thinking of the state in relation to road building is to please both landowners and the travelling public. "No longer is engineering being done from an ivory tower," Grayson commented. He also said that the state is following a program of road planning even though funds may not be available at the time. In this way, Grayson pointed out, "we're ready to go when the funds become available."

Several county judges from the five counties told Grayson that major highway projects were no longer their primary concern, considering the poor condition of much of the area's secondary and "back" roads. County Judge Henry Stumbo pointed out that the problem of secondary road maintenance is more efficiently accomplished when a work program such as Floyd county's is employed. He referred to the fact that Floyd does its own road work and is reimbursed by the state rather than depending entirely on the state to provide the funds and work crews.

HALLOWE'EN HERE MONDAY, OCT. 31

Dowdy-Hornsby Vows Said at Winchester

Miss Donalda Joyce Dowdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dowdy, of Winchester, Ky., and Michael French Hornsby, son of Mrs. Jean Hornsby, of Winchester, formerly of Garrett, and the late Charles Hornsby, were married at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 20 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Rankin D. Skinner, Winchester, with the Rev. Robert Yates officiating.

Charles Hornsby sang "The Twelfth of Never" and Mrs. Judy Adams and Billy Kennon sang "The Wedding Song."

Mrs. Diane Eades, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was matron of honor, and Bunice Eades, of Cincinnati, was best man. Ushers were Charles Hornsby, brother of the groom, and Dennis Dowdy, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the Rankin home following the ceremony, with Mrs. DeLinda Palfrey, Mrs. Lorraine Cornett, Miss Betty Burgess, Mrs. Vicki Hudson, Miss Connie Rainey and Mrs. Betty Sykes, assisting. Miss Jackie Summers presided at the guest book.

The bride is a graduate of George Rogers Clark High School and is employed as a dental assistant for Dr. R. D. Skinner.

The groom attended Garrett High School, served in the U.S. Navy, and is a student at Eastern Kentucky University.

Following a wedding trip, the couple is residing in Clark county.

Mr. Hornsby's parents owned and operated the Garrett Drug and Sundries Store and Jean's Beauty Shop at Garrett before moving to Winchester.

EKEA Elects Floyd Women

Two Floyd county women were elected to EKEA posts last week at the annual assembly of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association in Morehead.

Mrs. Janice Allen, of Prestonsburg, was elected director of Region 5, and Miss Blanche Dingus, of Martin, as a member of the teacher's retiring nominating committee.

Eileen Ramey, of Johnson county, was installed as the new KEA president. Ruth Payne, of Ashland, was named president-elect, and Viola Wright, of Pike county, vice-president elect.

The EKEA went on record as supporting the Kentucky Education Association in its stand against mandatory Social Security.

What could have been the most controversial resolution was easily sidestepped when the assembly agreed to have its first two meetings next year at Ashland, and its annual meeting at Morehead.

Two resolutions called for the meetings in different places, Ashland and Morehead, but delegate Phillip Dingus, of Martin, moved for the compromise and it was unanimously approved by the assembly.

Charles Mullins, a delegate from Greenup county, called for unity not only within EKEA but also KEA.

"We've got to stand up and start being united or we're never going to get anywhere in this state if we keep fighting and clawing at each other," he said.

Mullins referred to some teachers' demands concerning wages, classroom sizes and benefits as divisive issues among teachers. With different outlooks on what is needed most for education, teachers and schools will continue to get the run around from the state legislature, he said.

Other resolutions adopted include requests for increased federal aid with a distribution formula that would equalize state funds for education; exemption from taxation of all annuities paid to retired teachers; and that KEA delegate assembly meetings be recessed or adjourned at or before midnight.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Lewis Edward Hall, of Sturgis, Mich., who passed away from a car accident, Oct. 30, 1971.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we loved from memory pass away.
Your memory to us is a keepsake,
With which we shall never part.
Though God has you in his keeping,
We still have you in our hearts.
Nothing but memories as we journey on.
Longing for a smile from you, but you are gone.
None will ever know the depths of our deep regret.
But we will always remember after others shall forget.
You have gone out of sight, but never out of mind.
You're cherished in the hearts of your Father, Mother and Brothers, and Sisters.
Who are left behind.
Greatly missed by all your family.
It.

CANCER Answer line

American Cancer Society

(A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.)

A construction worker asks: "Is a cancer specialist the only physician who is able to detect early cancer? I want to have a checkup, and I want the best."

ANSWER line: Every physician has basic training in cancer detection. He or she also receives the latest information in journals and other publications provided by medical societies and the American Cancer Society. Thanks to continuing professional education, information about special cancer tests (such as the Pap test, for uterine cancer, the "procto" for bowel cancer and others) and known to physicians across the nation. A well-trained community physician is usually the first one to spot early cancer because he or she is most likely to see a patient first. Also, when one physician performs a checkup on a regular basis, he or she is able to detect any slight changes in the body that may warrant further attention.

A commercial artist explains: "My wife is receiving radiation treatments because of cancer and doesn't have much appetite. I know that it is important for her to eat well. What should I do?"

ANSWER line: A high protein diet will help your wife respond to her treatment and regain her health. Your local American Cancer Society has a booklet entitled, "Nutrition For Patients Receiving Chemotherapy and Radiation Treatment" which is full of tempting special recipes and ways to make the idea of eating more attractive. It is available to you free of charge at your local American Cancer Society Unit.

An engineer writes: "About eight years ago I quit smoking cigarettes. I had smoked a pack each day. I am healthy, but I worry that I might still be affected by my smoking. What do you think?"

ANSWER line: Each year that you have been off cigarettes means a year that your body has been reversing the effects of the cigarette habit. By the time you reach the tenth anniversary of the day that you quit, you should be as safe from illness from a smoking-related disease as a nonsmoker your age. There are great benefits to quitting, and unless a smoker already has an irreversible disease, ending cigarettes means an immediate start to better health.

A schoolteacher notes: "I have a sore on the inside of my cheek. If it doesn't disappear, should I see a doctor or a dentist?"

ANSWER line: Either professional is trained to diagnose your condition. If the sore persists, make an appointment for a checkup. Cancer can occur in the mouth, and if it is present, the sooner a professional diagnosis is made the better the chance of cure.

OLDEST FOSSIL FISH DISCOVERED IN AUSTRALIA
CANBERRA—Australian scientists have found the remains of what is believed to be the world's oldest fossil fish. It is thought to be 480 million years old.

The fish was a primitive jawless creature that lived in what is now central Australia and would have been about six inches long. It was tadpole-shaped, had armor plate over its head and scales on its body.

MCCC Terms Drunken Drivers in Area A Serious Problem

There is a serious problem in this community that needs attention.

That is the problem of the drunk driver—he must be taken care of. Responsibility for his actions on the highway have to be dealt with.

In the five county area (Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, Pike) there are an estimated 12,705 people with drinking problems.

It is safe to assume that these drinkers drive. It is also logical to believe that many of them are drinking while they drive.

Since this region has a mountainous terrain where 86 percent of the area population resides in isolated areas or small rural communities outside of the county seats with poor roads and no existing public transportation system—it can be concluded that drunk drivers spend a tremendous amount of time driving.

The more time that a drinking driver spends traveling, the possibility for high-way accidents is higher.

The problem of drinking and driving affects everyone in the Big Sandy Area. We need to be concerned about the problem and involved in a solution.

For further information write Alcohol, Front Avenue, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653 or call 1-800-422-1060.

Sorghum Making on Salt Lick an Annual Event

Proves It's All Right To Raise a Little Cane

Coal may be Floyd county's major money-making product, but surely the most delectable is its sorghum molasses. Although not a big producer of the "fruit of the cane," this fall's output in the county appears a little greater than usual and one of the operations which has become a yearly event is the 'lasses mill at the head of Salt Lick near Handshoe. At top left, the cane is shown going into the mill. The raw juice drips into a receptacle in middle photo, above, and at top right, Ollie Howard skims the foam off of the boiling syrup. At lower left, a galvanized trash can with spout serves to fill Mason jars with the finished product. In middle photo, below, Ebb Gibson is shown feeding in more cane in to the mill's crusher, and the waste product of the work, a mountain of crushed cane stalks, is pictured at lower right.

Winter No Wonderland For Poor and Elderly

Winter brings frosty air, lacework snowflakes, festive holidays—and hardships. For the poor and the elderly, the joys of winter can be buried under an avalanche of problems. Sometimes, survival itself is at stake.

The Kentucky Department for Human Resources (DHR) is working to ease the winter burdens of some of the state's low-income citizens. The department's Bureau for Social Services recently obtained more than $3 million for projects to make their homes easier, safer and cheaper to heat.

Most of the work is being done through the state's 21 community action agencies (CAAs) which are regional, non-profit service organizations. The CAAs with a federal grant, are hiring unemployed or under-employed people to do the "weatherization," which includes home repairs and improvements designed to minimize heat loss.

Crews will be installing insulation and weatherstripping, caulking, replacing broken windows and sealing loose-fitting windows and doors with plastic, repairing roof leaks and, when necessary, repairing and adjusting heating systems. At this time, improvements cannot exceed $250 per house.

Many of Kentucky's poor and elderly suffered severe physical and financial hardships last winter," said DHR Secretary Peter Conn. "By making their homes more energy-efficient, we will help them reduce cold-weather illnesses and lower their fuel expenses. We estimate that weatherization will stretch some families' income during the winter months by as much as 20 per cent."

Persons eligible for this service include individuals and families whose incomes fall within guidelines set by the federal government. A family of two whose income does not come from farming must make less than $4,912 annually. The income of a four-member "non-farm" family must not exceed $7,312. The limit for a family of six is $9,712. Maximums for farm families are slightly lower.

A person or family who rents and pays utilities is eligible to apply for weatherization assistance if the landlord agrees to the improvements and agrees not to raise the rental fees or eject the tenant for a specified period after the improvements are made. There are similar requirements for landlords who pay the heating bills.

Persons wanting application forms or additional information about this service should contact the nearest community action agency or their county social services office.

The Big Sandy Community Action Program for Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties is headquartered in the Johnson County Courthouse, Paintsville.

Wildlife Group Asks Whale Hunting Ban

The National Wildlife Federation has asked President Carter to support a ban on hunting the endangered bowhead whale, a source of food for Alaska's aboriginal tribes.

The ban, which would take effect in 1978, was voted by the International Whaling Commission at its June meeting in Canberra, Australia.

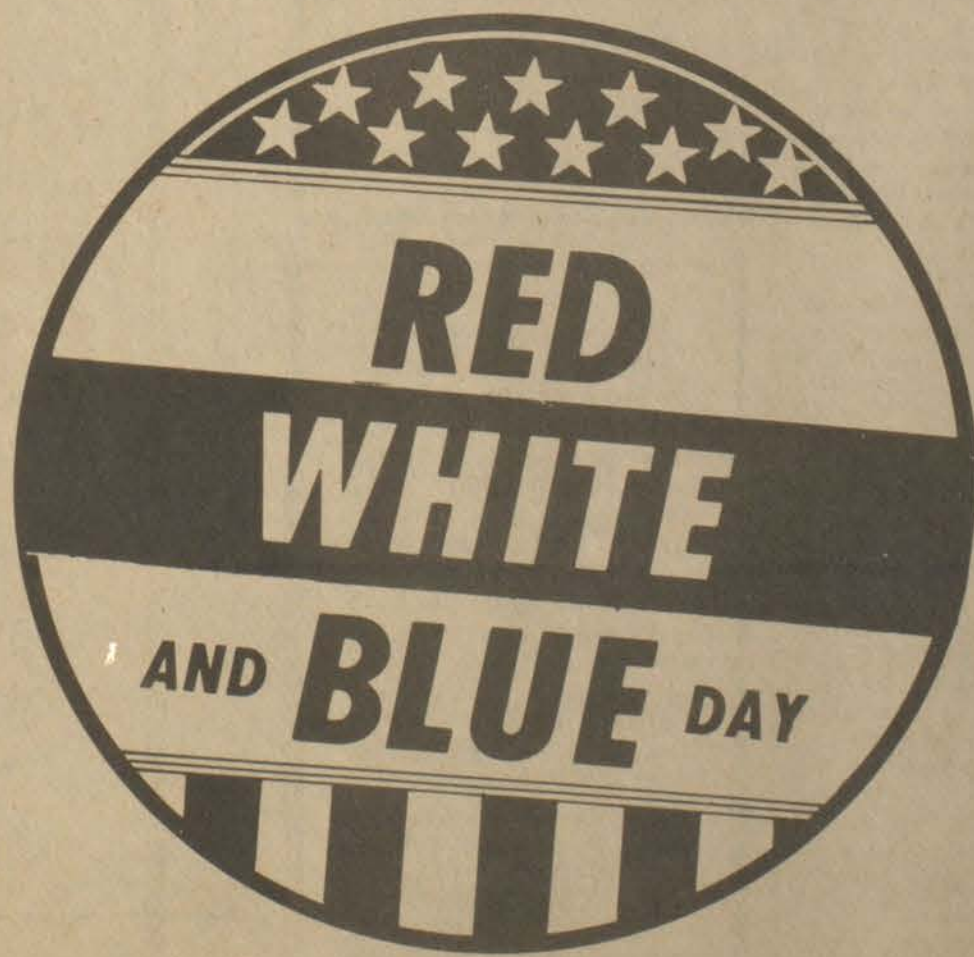

"Further taking of the bowhead could drive the population beyond the point of recovery, which would have an even more adverse impact on the Eskimo culture than would a temporary cessation of all hunting," said Thomas L. Kimball, executive vice president of the National Wildlife Federation, in a letter to President Carter. The President is expected to decide early in October whether the U.S. will enforce the proposed ban.

"While we are generally supportive of native subsistence rights," Kimball said, "we believe the best scientific data available clearly indicate a need to totally protect the remaining brood stock of bowhead whales, at least temporarily."

State Police Ask Help of C.B.'ers

The Kentucky State Police are calling on citizens band radio operators for help in keeping roadways safe.

In an effort with the Associated Public Safety Communications Officers (APCO), thousands of cards are being printed and distributed to C. B. clubs and related organizations advising motorists on how they can assist.

The instructions on the cards tell the C.B.'ers what information is needed by the State Police. For example, in an accident situation the call should include any injuries, whether an ambulance has been called, if the road is blocked, and the exact location or "10-20."

Information should be relayed to a local C. B. base station, and the nearest State Police post will be telephoned since all the patrol cars do not have citizens band equipment.

The same procedure should be followed for any unusual incident to be reported . . . from cattle in the road to discovering a crime.

State Police Public Affairs Officer, Lt. Ernest Bivens, said, "Of all the information we seek, the location is most important. Wasted minutes lost searching for an accident or crime location could aggravate the incident."

Bivens added, "Our officers rely on C.B.'ers for information, and consider them interested citizens who want a better community and are willing to assist."

WELLS-STICKLER VOWS EXCHANGED

The marriage of Misty Wells, daughter of Patty Wells, of Thealka, and Eddie Stickler, of Drift, was solemnized on June 19 at 3 p.m. at the Thealka Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. Cecil Sherman performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of matching candelabra holding lighted tapers nestled in emerald fern.

Mrs. Brenda Boyd provided a program of nuptial music which included the traditional wedding march for processional and recessional.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her uncle, Rev. Don Fraley, wore a designer gown of sheer organza, styled with a U shaped neckline, long fitted sleeves and appliques on the full skirt flowing into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion flowed from a Juliet cap of matching venise lace and lace borders. She carried a bouquet of baby white roses surrounded with baby's breath and greenery with white streamers.

The maid of honor, Mrs. Teresa G. Daniels, was attired in a floor-length gown of yellow polyester knit with shoulder-length cape trimmed with pale yellow lace. She wore a matching white picture hat with white dotted yellow streamers down the back and carried roses and baby's breath tied with a white ribbon.

Miss Wells chose as her bridesmaids Mrs. Kathy Guion, of Somerset; Mrs. Rita Tackett, West Prestonsburg, and Miss Diana Robinson, of Lick Fork. They wore gowns, headpieces and carried bouquets identical to that of the maid of honor.

Howard Stickler served as best man for his son. Ushers were David Guion, of Somerset; Archie Fugate, Jr., and Jeff Miller, of Drift. Jeff Miller and David Guion also acted as taper lighters. Mr. Guion and Mr. Fugate, Jr. were special ushers for the Stickler and Wells families, and they also laid the aisle cloth.

Mrs. Wells, mother of the bride, wore a street-length pleated white dress with a matching white jacket and a corsage of white orchid. The groom's mother wore a green street-length dress with an empire waist line and white orchid corsage.

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The refreshment table was covered with lace-edged linens, and a white three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with yellow roses and yellow ribbon surrounded by greenery, white carnations and baby's breath, centered the table.

Serving as hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Erma Justice, of Paintsville, Dora Daniels, of Tutor Key, and Imogene Burton, of Paintsville.

Miss Shawn Daniels presided at the bride's register in the church vestibule.

Following a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Stickler, are residing at King Addition, Paintsville.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

With the opening dates for several of Kentucky's hunting seasons just around the corner, sportsmen are busy with their pre-season preparations.

But there's one activity—a review of firearm safety—that should be on every hunter's check list, although it is often overlooked.

Kentucky hunters are safe—last year, there were only four reported hunting accidents, two of them fatal, involving firearms. With over 300,000 licensed hunters in the commonwealth, that's an excellent safety record. (For comparison, there were 135 boating fatalities during the same year).

But four hunting accidents are still too many, especially since not a one of the four should have happened or would have happened if those involved had observed the basic rules of firearm safety.

Two of the accidents resulted in self-inflicted wounds. In both cases, sloppy gun handling was the cause. The other two (the fatal ones) also resulted from ignoring safety rules. One fatality involved horseplay with a loaded gun, while the other was a "mistaken for game" accident in which the victim was dressed in camouflage clothing—with no hunter orange—while deer gun hunting.

Virtually all hunting accidents can be prevented by observing a few simple, basic rules. First, treat every gun as if it were loaded at all times—even guns you know are empty. This kind of respect for firearms helps develop instinctive safe gun handling habits.

Second, be sure that all guns are unloaded when they are not actually in use or when hazardous conditions exist. Guns should never be kept loaded at home, in the hunting camp or in an automobile. In the field, unload firearms before climbing fences, jumping ditches or crossing patches of slick mud, snow or ice. And never assume that a gun is unloaded—always check both chamber and magazine for shells.

Third, be sure of your target, and beyond. Don't shoot until you can see and positively identify the entire target. Never shoot at a movement or sound or something that "might be" a deer. Respect the range of modern firearms—even a .22 caliber bullet will travel over a mile. And know where your hunting companions are at all times.

Finally, remember that while only gun deer hunters are required by law to wear hunter orange, it is also an excellent idea for all hunters to wear garments of this color whenever circumstances permit. You wouldn't wear it in a duck blind, or course, or while turkey hunting, but there's no reason why rabbit, quail or squirrel hunters shouldn't take advantage of the extra margin of safety hunter orange affords.

Obeying these few simple rules and applying a modicum of good, old fashioned common sense will eliminate almost all hunting accidents. Hunting is a safe sport, but we all need to strive to make it even safer. Remember, the best safety record is no accidents at all.

Annual Fruit Sale By Catholic School

Mrs. William B. Cook announced today that members of Our Lady of the Mountains School P.T.A. will again conduct a fund-raising sale of Indian River Grapefruit and Oranges from Florida. The sale will begin October 20 and end December 5.

Advance orders will be taken and when the fruit arrives it will either be delivered to each customer or available for pick-up at the school in Paintsville.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for new school bus and various school expenses.

Committee members for the project are General Chairman, Mrs. Jan Cook; Publicity, Mrs. Betty Marshall; Treasurer, Mrs. Kathy Rubado; Distribution, Mrs. Marilyn Thomas.

Anyone wishing to place an order or desiring more information can contact any member of Our Lady of the Mountains School P.T.A. or call Mrs. William B. Cook, 886-3672 or Mrs. Shirley Holbrook, 886-6619.

The City of Prestonsburg will honor eight state and federal officials of the American Red Cross for services rendered during April's disastrous flooding as a part of this week-end's Red, White and Blue Day activities.

Invited by the Floyd County Chapter, American Red Cross, was Dave Ely, assistant national director of disaster services, Washington, D. C.; Dorothy Westcott, assistant to the director of disaster services, Washington, D. C.; John McGraw, director of the Kentucky Division, American Red Cross, Louisville; LaVerne Brodie, supervisor of family services during the April flood here, Myrtle Point, Oregon; Grover Adams, disaster director, Ky. Division, Louisville; Jim Stringer, Bluegrass Division, Lexington; Roger Congdon, division of finance, Ky. Division, and Sharon Counselman, supervisor, records and reports during April flood, Los Angeles, California.

An informal reception will be held Friday night at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, from 7 till 9 p.m. The general night at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, from 7 till 9 p.m. The general public is urged to attend and meet the Red Cross officials to express appreciation for the great relief effort which was directed to this area by the organization.

The Red Cross personnel along with Floyd chapter officials will ride in Saturday's parade. Executive director of the Floyd chapter is Mrs. Shelby Willis.

Indiana Man To Aid In Housing Program

Clarence P. Beaven, of Indianapolis, has been employed as field representative for planning and technical assistance services to local governments which have received housing rehabilitation funding under the new disaster assistance program.

Eight local projects have been allocated $4 million by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in Kentucky areas which suffered extensive flood damage April 4.

Local rehabilitation staff will administer the program with Beaven working through the Kentucky Department for Local Government to provide assistance and monitoring.

Department for Local Government, utilizing a separate HUD grant of $100,000 and $50,000 allocated by Gov. Julian Carroll, will train local rehabilitation staff and provide additional staff support.

Beaven has worked for the City of Indianapolis in the area of rehabilitation and has been employed in the contracting field both in sales and in construction.

He will be working with staff in Floyd, Bell, Martin, Harlan and Pike counties and in the cities of Prestonsburg, Pineville, Martin, Harlan, Loyall, Pikeville, Williamsburg and Middlesboro.

Commerce Sec. Kreps To Appear in Lexington

The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce announced last week, U.S. Secretary of Commerce Juanita Kreps will be in Lexington, October 28. Dr. Kreps will be in Kentucky to discuss with business, commerce, and government leaders specific programs affecting Kentucky's economic growth.

The highlight of Secretary Kreps trip will be a luncheon scheduled for 12:45 in the Lexington Center Central Ball Room. Tickets for the October 28 luncheon are $12.50 each and may be obtained from the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce office in Frankfort.

Radiothon To Raise Funds for Bluegrass Music Hall of Fame

A radiothon to raise funds for the establishment in this area of a Bluegrass music Hall of Fame and Museum will be held at radio station WLSI, Pikeville, from 12 noon until 7 p.m.

A variety of Bluegrass groups and personalities will appear on the show and continuous music and interviews will be a feature of the radiothon. The Hall of Fame is a project being spearheaded by Melba and Kellard Lawson, of the Little Mud Creek Section.

IN APPRECIATION

We would like to take this opportunity to extend our most heartfelt thanks to all who helped or expressed their sympathy in any way during the recent passing of our loved one, Telia A. Burchett, of Banner. We wish to thank the supervisor and men who helped with the work on the graveyard, the ministers of the United Baptist Church for their comforting words, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for the kind and efficient service.

Firemen Demonstrate Techniques

In observance of "Fire Prevention Week," last week, members of the Prestonsburg Fire Department conducted a series of fire-fighting and life-saving demonstrations at a number of area schools. A favorite with the students was the firemen's demonstration of rappelling, a technique of descending steep inclines or, in this case, the Prestonsburg Elementary School.

5th Annual Prayer Breakfast Attended by 600 State Leaders

U.S. Sen. Clifford Hansen (R-Wyoming) told a gathering of some 600 business, civic and religious leaders in Kentucky that Americans must "rise above the jealousies that rise up so often within us."

"It is not always easy to rejoice for blessings that are not our own," Hansen said. He addressed the fifth annual Governor's Leadership Prayer Breakfast held in Frankfort's Sports and Convention Center, October 11.

Hansen recalled Christ's parable on the laborers in the vineyard, who were envious of other laborers who had joined the work late in the day, yet received the same pay as those who began in the morning. "It is more prudent for us to consider that we may be among the late-comers," Hansen noted.

Also participating in the non-partisan, non-denominational gathering were Gov. Julian Carroll, Mrs. Carroll, Kentucky's U.S. Senators, Wendell Ford and Walter "Dee" Huddleston, state Sen. Gene Huff (R-London), Dr. William Butts, president of Kentucky State University, Mrs. Lillian Sternberg, vice president of Church Women United of Kentucky, and the Most Reverend Thomas McDonough, Archbishop, of Louisville. Music was provided by the Kentucky State University Concert Choir and the Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra.

Sen. Ford, who as governor first began the prayer breakfasts, commented that Christian faith "is the fiber and this is the thread that keeps our country strong."

Gov. Carroll said he has "deep convictions" that men are better able to perform their jobs with daily consultation with their Lord. "As humans we are incapable," he said, "without the help of the Almighty."

Agreement To Restrict Stream Channelization May Set New Pattern

After nearly six years of litigation, a compromise has been reached which will restrict the channelization of a North Carolina watershed by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Channelization—the straightening and ditching of small streams and rivers by dredging—usually destroys wildlife habitat.

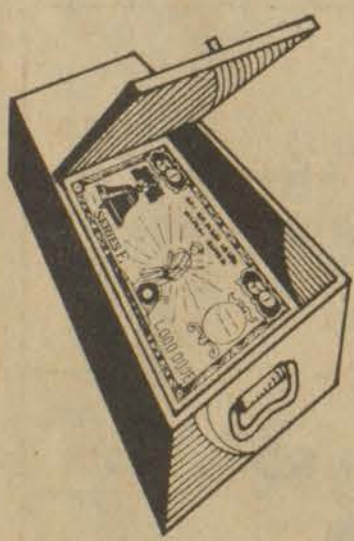

The new agreement, approved by Judge John D. Larkins of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of North Carolina, restricts the construction of artificial channels in the Chicod Creek, in the eastern part of that state. There, before the agreement, the Soil Conservation Service planned to dredge 66 miles of the watershed.

Under the settlement, construction will be limited to a few areas designated as necessary for flood control and drainage. Along most of the waterway, only "clearing and snagging"—the removal of fallen timber and snags which unduly block water flow—will be permitted.

The settlement further specifies strict environmental controls, including the deposit of dredged material on only one side of the stream, construction of sediment basins, and establishment and maintenance of a buffer strip at least 15 feet wide along both banks of all channels within the project.

HAS GUESTS

Blackcats Down Maysville For Fourth Consecutive Win

The Prestonsburg Blackcats contained the lightning-quick, explosive backs from Maysville and used their ball control wishbone offense to grind out the yardage and eat up huge chunks off the clock Friday night to defeat Maysville High School, 33-6. It was the Cats' fourth victory in a row.

Maysville scored first as Johnny Green went in from the 4-yard line midway the first quarter. The 2-point conversion try was stopped cold by the Blackcat defense.

Prestonsburg then began a 6-minute drive that ended with Kerry Slone going in from the 7 behind good blocking from Monty Branham, Kenneth Campbell, Dewey Layne and Gene Holland. The extra point failed and the first quarter ended, 6-6.

Maysville came back in the second quarter with two quick first downs, but the Cats' defense jarred the ball loose on the next play and Gene Holland recovered for Prestonsburg. The Blackcats drove for two first downs before Slone took the option pitch from Alvin Hall and, with the good fake of Mark Chaffin and a strong lead block from Jimmy Campbell, dashed 35 yards, untouched, to the end zone. Dwayne Rodebaugh kicked the first of his three extra points to make the score 13-6.

After another Maysville fumble was recovered by Holland, the Cats began another long scoring drive, with Campbell going in from 12 yards out behind Tony Clevenger, Brian Fulks and Marvin Marsillett. The kick was good and the half ended with the score, 20-6.

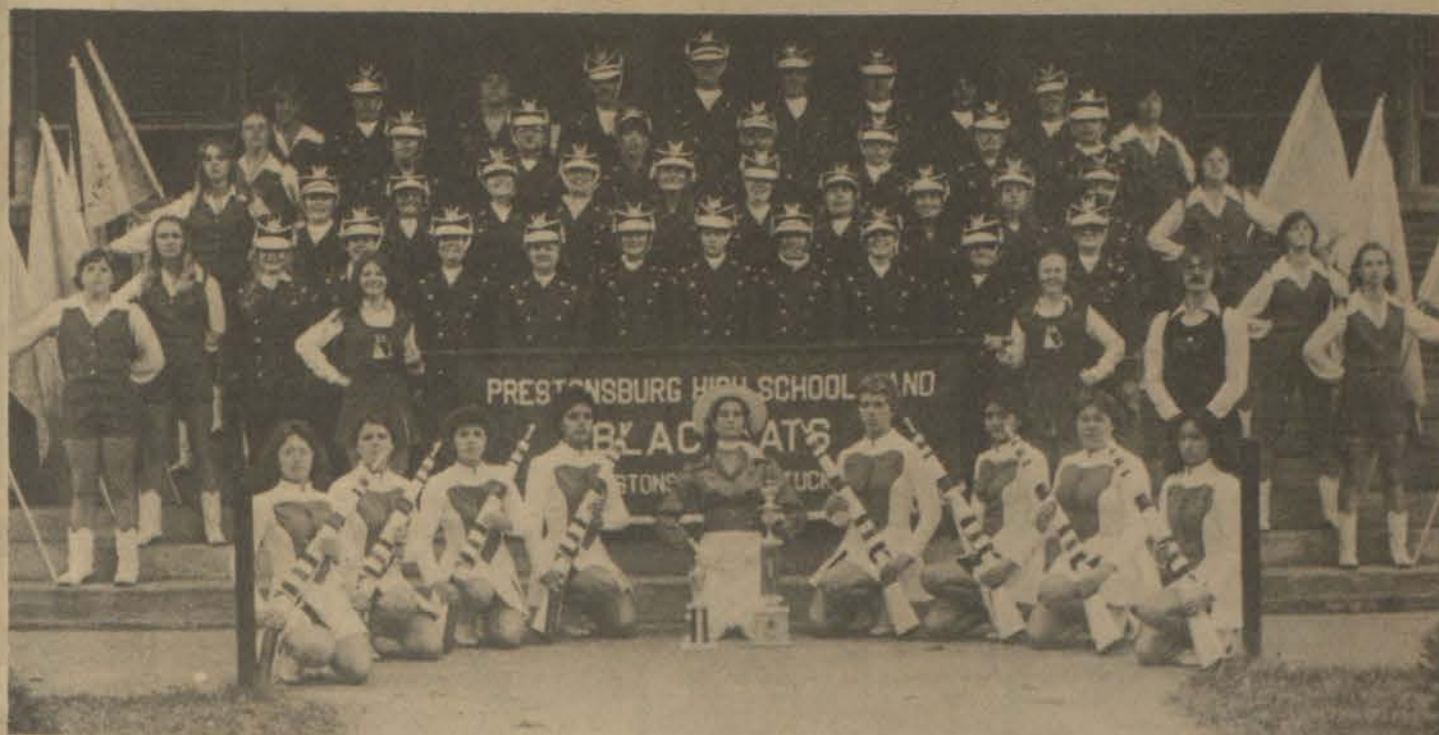

After an exchange of punts in the third quarter Maysville began a long drive, using up most of the quarter as the Blackcat defense yielded ground grudgingly behind the efforts of Chuck Hilton, Keith Colvin, Chaffin, Holland, Layne, Campbell, Marsillett, Rodebaugh and Wayne Tibbs. The Blackcat secondary of Paul Ackerman, Hall, Campbell and Slone came up to thwart the drive as they stopped a fourth down pass reception short of a first down at the beginning of the fourth quarter. The Blackcat offense then began a 7-minute march to the goal line. Hall hit Ackerman with a 20-yard strike to seal the game. The kick failed after the first conversion was nullified by a penalty.

Bo Dean almost broke the following kick-off, but Harry Adams caught the speedster on the sidelines with a touch-down-saving tackle. Maysville was forced to punt, and the Cats began their final drive of the night. With Bobby Wells, John Holland, Lee Carter, Desi Whitt, Adams, Scott Verley, and Curtis Holbrook leading the way, the Cats continued to eat up the yardage and the clock. With Danny Daniels, Dwayne Rodebaugh, Richard Burchett and Tibbs toting the ball, the Cats moved to the Maysville 25 before Rodebaugh took a pitch from Daniels on the option play and rolled into the end zone behind a good block by Tibbs. The point after was good, making the score 33-6.

Freshman Blackcat defenders Gerald DeRossett, David Collins, Stephen Wright, Lonnie May, Terry Click, Jack Wells, Robbie Horton, Greg Haywood, Greg Slone, Mark McKenzie, Danny Ousley and Alan Frazure stopped the Bulldogs the rest of the way as Prestonsburg won its fifth game of the season.

The Blackcats travel to West Liberty Friday to take on Morgan County.

LOCAL SPORTS

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

The Prestonsburg Blackcats picked up their fourth straight win by walloping Maysville, 33-6, in a game played Friday night, and the Wheelwright Trojans swamped Mullins, 50 to 22. Betsy Layne lost to Fleming County, 56-8.

Other scores in the area:
Paintsville 13, Raceland 8; Johnson Central 30, Lawrence Co. 6; Belfry 58, Johns Creek 8; East Carter 22, Morgan Co. 0; Phelps 40, Gilbert, W. Va. 0; Whitesburg 21, Hazard 8; Corbin 19, Somerset 10; Harlan 20, Fleming-Neon 0; Greenup Co. 20, Boyd Co. 0; Russell 17, Ashland 0; West Carter 9, Bath Co. 9.

This Week's Schedule

Friday night—Prestonsburg at Morgan County, Jenkins at Wheelwright, Lawrence County at Paintsville, Rowan County at Johnson Central, Pikeville at Mullins, Fleming-Neon at Virgie, Phelps at Elkhorn City, Whitesburg at Cumberland, Estill Co. at Breathitt, Leslie Co. at Hazard, M. C. Napier at Johns Creek; Saturday—Clay County vs. Betsy Layne at Prestonsburg (homecoming for Betsy Layne).

NOTICE OF ELECTION CITY OF ALLEN, KY.

The City of Allen, a Kentucky municipality of the Sixth Class situated in Floyd County, Kentucky, acting through its Board of Trustees as its governing body, hereby gives public notice that in conformity with the requirements of Section 96.540 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, it has called, and does hereby call, a special election which shall be held within the corporate limits of the City of Allen, Kentucky, on November 3, 1977 (upon the occasion of the general elections which are provided to be held by law on that date), for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the City of Allen, Kentucky, a certain question in the following text:

"Are you in favor of the City of Allen selling the Allen Water System to the City of Prestonsburg in consideration of the City of Prestonsburg assuming all outstanding indebtedness of the Allen Water System in the dollar amount of approximately $255,000.00?"

It is shown as a matter of public record that the City of Allen, Kentucky, originally acquired the water system and properties which are referred to in the aforesaid ballot question, by the purchase thereof in 1966, and in order to finance the acquisition thereof, the City of Allen authorized and sold at public sale its $280,000 "Waterworks Revenue Bonds" and applied the proceeds thereof to the payment of the purchase price; and for a number of years the City operated the aforesaid water facilities without difficulty, supplied water service to the water customers in the City of Allen and also in the adjacent unincorporated areas known as New Allen and Dwale, paid its expenses of operation and paid, in due course, the principal of and interest on its aforesaid "Waterworks Revenue Bonds" which the City issued in order to acquire such water service facilities. Unforeseen and unanticipated events and developments thereafter occurred, including especially a flash flood which washed out the under-river water main originally installed under the bed of the Levisa Fork for providing service to the areas known as New Allen and Dwale, and the accumulation of unfortunate happenings and events increasingly reduced the capacity of the City of Allen to continue rendering satisfactory water service; and despite the best efforts of the City of Allen, and many unsuccessful efforts to obtain financial relief from outside sources, the City of Allen became unable to pay the expenses of operating such water facilities and defaulted in the payment of the interest on and principal of its outstanding Waterworks Revenue Bonds; all with the result that the City of Allen is unable to pay from the Revenues of said water facilities obligations which aggregate more than $35,000; including not only defaulted principal and interest on its outstanding Waterworks Revenue Bonds, but also substantial obligations incurred in its endeavor to keep the aforesaid water service facilities in operation pending applications for relief to every source which could be imagined to be available; all without success.

As a final resort, the City of Allen has entered into a "Proposed Contract" with the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and with the Utilities Commission of said City, which contemplates the conveyance by the City of Allen to the City of Prestonsburg of all of Allen's right, title and interest in and to the water service facilities herein referred to, upon condition that the City of Prestonsburg, through its Utilities Commission, will initially assume and pay the defaulted and overdue obligations of the City of Allen in its water system obligations; and that henceforth the City of Prestonsburg (from the resources of its Utilities Commission only, and not as a general obligation of the City of Prestonsburg or a charge upon its general funds) will assume responsibility for the management and operation of the aforesaid water service facilities of the City of Allen, and will gradually cause the same to be improved to the extent that such improvement may be made from the revenues and resources of the Utilities Commission of the City of Prestonsburg.

It is required by law that this avenue of financial relief (which appears to be the last available resort) must be approved by the qualified voters of the City of Allen, Kentucky, at an election called and held for that purpose; and this is the occasion for the giving of this notice and the calling of the election hereinabove provided for.

Public notice is hereby given that there are on file, in the offices of the City Clerk of the City of Allen, the City Clerk of the City of Prestonsburg, and the Utilities Commission of the City of Prestonsburg, copies of the "Proposed Contract" which is hereinabove referred to and that the same are open for public inspection by any party having a legitimate interest therein, in any of said offices, during business hours when such offices are ordinarily open for public business.

All proceedings in this matter are public records, available for public inspection. All qualified voters of the City of Allen, Kentucky, are hereby notified of all of the foregoing, and are urged and invited to vote upon the above-quoted ballot question upon the occasion of the general elections which are to be held within the corporate limits of the City of Allen, Kentucky, on November 8, 1977.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 17—Although poor weather reduced week-end angling activity, black bass and crappie fishing is still fair to good on several lakes around the commonwealth. The lake-by-lake rundown, as compiled by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources:

NOLIN: Black bass good on crank baits along shoreline cover; crappie fair to good over submerged cover in 8-10 feet of water; clear, rising, 11 feet below summer pool and 69 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Black bass fair to good casting spinner baits and crank baits in upper lake inlets and bays and by trolling medium runners in the heads of inlets and bays in lower lake; white bass fair in upper lake trolling deep runners with spinner trailers; crappie fair around stick ups in upper lake and by drifting over creek channels in lower lake; in tailwaters, trout fair, crappie excellent (but small) with some limits; clear, to murky to muddy, falling slowly, 30 feet below timberline and 64 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Black bass and white bass fair on plunker and fly combination; and by trolling deep runners off points; clear to murky, stable, one foot below summer pool and 65 degrees.

BARREN: Crappie fair to good (better on lower lake) over submerged stump beds; black bass slow on crank baits over submerged cover and shallow stump beds; clear to murky, falling, one foot below summer pool and 60 degrees.

BARBLEY: Crappie good over submerged cover; black bass slow on crank baits in inlets and bays; in tailwaters, catfish slow; clear, falling slowly, 3 1/2 feet below summer pool and 65 degrees.

KENTUCKY: Black bass slow on surface and medium runners over shoreline cover; crappie slow over submerged cover; in tailwaters, catfish slow; murky, falling slowly, 3 1/2 feet below summer pool and 64 degrees.

GREEN: Black bass fair on spinner baits off points and around stick ups; crappie slow over submerged cover; muddy, falling, five feet above summer pool and 60 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Black bass fair in the jumps early in the morning and on artificial nightcrawlers and dollyies late afternoons and nights; crappie slow over submerged cover; clear to murky, falling slowly, six feet below summer pool and 59 degrees.

LAUREL: Black bass fair on medium runners off deep points and steep banks; crappie fair in timbered coves; clear to murky, stable at power pool and 62 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Musky fair casting medium runners in timbered coves; clear to murky, stable at six inches below summer pool and 60 degrees.

BUCKHORN: Crappie fair over submerged cover; black bass slow on medium runners off rocky points in lower lake; muddy, falling rapidly, three feet below summer pool and 61 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Black bass slow on medium to deep runners off points and over drop offs; clear to murky, stable at summer pool and 60 degrees.

FISHTRAP: No activity; muddy, falling, 16 feet below summer pool and 55 degrees.

DEWEY: No activity; clear, stable at one foot below summer pool and 58 degrees.

GRAYSON: No activity; clear to murky to muddy, falling slowly, one foot below summer pool and 60 degrees.

"Fishing Unlimited" To Begin

Fishermen of every description, from greenest beginners to shrewd veterans, will be competing in various categories during this fall's "Fishing Unlimited" series sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Parks.

Openings are still available at two state parks that will host the competition. Lake Cumberland State Resort Park has vacancies for its week-end fishing schedule, October 28, 29 and 30, that will be followed by Rough River Dam State Resort Park's week-end slate on November 4, 5 and 6.

Reservations and further information may be obtained by writing Kentucky Department of Parks, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or by calling toll free 1-800-372-2961 in Kentucky. Residents of surrounding states should dial 1-800-626-2911. Letter and telephone inquiries should be addressed to "Fishing Unlimited."

Although registration for the "Unlimited" contests is free, every participant should be a guest, either in the host park's lodge rooms, its cottages or its designated camping sites.

Action begins Friday at noon and continues until noon the following Sunday. Evening programs on Fridays and Saturdays will feature current fishing techniques and tackle trends with door prizes awarded at each session. A representative from a major fishing tackle manufacturer will speak at each Saturday meeting.

Trophies will be awarded in seven categories: largest black bass, largest string of black bass, largest crappie, largest string of crappie, largest fish other than a black bass or crappie, oldest fisherman to catch a fish and youngest fisherman to catch a fish. All catches must conform to regulations of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

A package price for the "Fishing Unlimited" week-ends is based on two nights' lodging and six meals in the parks' dining rooms: $45 per person, double occupancy in a lodge room or minimum occupancy in a cottage. For children under age 12, the rate is $15.10 when accompanied by two paying adults.

The rate for fishing campers is $30 per adult for a campsite and six meals; $15.10 per child when accompanied by adults. Campsites will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

Tiny Miss Springtime

Pamela Ann Burke was crowned Tiny Miss Springtime May 14 at the Maytown Woman's Club Style Show. She was also runner-up in the Little Miss Patriotic Beauty Pageant October 15 sponsored by the Martin Woman's Club.

Pamela is the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie T. Burke, of Martin. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ferrell, of Manton, and Mrs. Bessie Burke, of Martin. She was sponsored by Big Sandy Aviation Corporation.

USDA Tells 1978 ACP

Washington, October 5—The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) recently announced the 1978 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP)—the federally funded program which shares with the farmer and landowner the cost of carrying out specific conservation and pollution measures. The 1978 ACP, which is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), will be funded at $190 million—the level authorized by Congress.

In addition to soil, water, and woodland conservation, there will be an increased emphasis on rural pollution abatement—particularly from non-point sources. Local county ASC committees will develop a priority system for the identification and proper solution to the farmers' conservation and pollution problems. USDA through the ACP will emphasize providing enduring solutions to these problems.

Previously, USDA assistance had provided between 50 and 75 percent of the cost of performing approved conservation practices. Under the 1978 ACP, federal assistance will range up to 90 percent for the highest priority problems.

A set of national practices has been developed that represents a wide range of conservation and pollution problem solutions. State and county AC Programs will be based on the national practices. County programs are to be developed in the near future. When announced in the county, farmers may begin making applications for ACP.

Practices under the 1978 ACP will fall into six categories:

Prevention of soil loss from water and wind erosion; solutions to water conservation problems; solutions to water quality problems; conservation of soil and water through forestry; conservation of wildlife habitat; solutions for local soil on water conservation problems.

Interested persons should contact their local county ASCS office for specific details concerning the federally funded Agricultural Conservation Program.

All programs administered by ASCS are eligible for any qualified person, regardless of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH
Health Educator

The Floyd County Health Department in Prestonsburg, will be conducting a pap smear clinic Thursday, October 20, from 9 to 11:30 and 1 to 2. The community health nurses remind all women that a pap smear is not just a once-in-a-lifetime event. Since your body changes continuously, the possibility of cervical cancer continues throughout your life and having a pap smear, at least once a year, is the best way to protect yourself.

Also, while this clinic is being conducted an 8-minute film regarding the detection of breast cancer will be shown to all women who are interested.

This clinic is a free service and all women are welcome and urged to attend.

Monday, October 24, a community health nurse from the health department will conduct an outpost clinic at Hamilton's Kentucky Food Store in Teaberry. Medical services offered will include immunizations, TB skin tests, hemoglobins, diabetes screening, and blood pressures. This clinic will last from 10 to 12 and 1 to 2 with these services being available, free of charge.

By LARRY BURKE.

Someone wrote these words: "The sugar of life is at the bottom of the cup." He was referring to the magnificent era of life known as growing old.

So many great and wonderful people have achieved their greatest rewards in their "old age." Tintoretto painted "Paradise" at eighty. Tennyson wrote "Crossing the Bar" at eighty-three and Titian at ninety-eight painted his historic picture of the "Battle of Lepanto."

It is true that we can all not be shining Apollos in later years. We can be our age. We can refuse to grow old and, instead, grow up.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: If we keep mentally and spiritually young life will be better all about us.

Coal Industry Needs Manpower

"Kentucky sits on a wealth of coal, and it takes manpower to get the coal out of the ground," said Billy Howard, former Floyd man who is assistant superintendent of the Kentucky Department of Education's Bureau of Vocational Education.

In an interview during the recent "Kentucky Week" at the United States Office of Education in Washington, D. C., Howard said that additional manpower must be trained before the coal industry can meet President Jimmy Carter's goal of increasing coal production by two-thirds by 1985.

Vocational education is changing rapidly in Kentucky to meet the changing needs of Kentucky industries. "We are putting emphasis on the training of manpower to produce coal," Howard said. "In view of the energy crisis, it is certainly a step in the right direction."

A proposal is currently under consideration that would allow the Bureau of Vocational Education to construct four mock, or simulated, mines above ground that would resemble actual coal mines. "We hope to train men on the kinds of equipment that they would use in the production of coal," Howard said. Mine safety is also an important element of the training.

When asked how they get men interested in working in the mines when traditionally the trend has been to leave the mines, Howard explained that the coal mines are where the good-paying jobs are, especially in eastern Kentucky. "It's a different kind of mining now, too. Big equipment has replaced the physical, back-breaking labor of past years," he said.

Howard emphasized the close working relationship between vocational education and the coal industries of Kentucky. Kentucky coal mines have offered to supply the expensive equipment that is needed to train miners in the ever-changing industry. Howard explained the plan as being "a cooperative venture of benefit to us both."

Lax Enforcement Threat to Safety, GAD Report Says

Coal officials and others were quick to deny the accuracy this week of the statement by the General Accounting Office (GAO) that lax federal regulation of coal-waste disposal sites poses a serious threat to public safety in Eastern Kentucky.

Among those denying the factual worth of the GAO statement was County Judge Rutherford, of Pike county.

GAO pinpointed the Pikeville office of the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration (MESA) as a weak link in the program. The office serves the Eastern Kentucky coal-field.

The report claims that millions of tons of waste material from mining operations have been piled across mountain hollows, forming dams that often are dangerous. Large piles of the waste also burn perpetually, or are dumped down mountainsides, the report continued.

Among the Kentucky waste sites where GAO found potential for loss of life or injury if structural deterioration continued were:

A refuse pile at Loftis Coal Co., Huddy, Pike county; a dam and pile at Eastern Coal Corp. preparation plant, Stone, Pike county; two refuse piles at Island Creek Coal Co., Price, Floyd county; two piles and a dam at Republic Steel Corp. sites, Pike county; a refuse pile at Kentland Elkhorn Coal Corp. preparation plant, Feds Creek, Pike county; refuse pile at Lynn Branch, Biggs, Pike county; dam and refuse pile at Pikeville Coal Co., Phelps, Pike county; diked ponds at Sovereign Coal Co. preparation plant, Pike county; a refuse pile and slurry pond, Beth-Elkhorn Coal Corp. preparation plant, Jenkins, Letcher county; refuse pile and dam at Martin County Coal Corp. preparation plant, Inez, Martin county.

More First, Ninth Graders Held Back

School teachers hold back more first graders and ninth graders each year than any other group of students attending public schools, according to statistics supplied by the state Department of Education.

While 53,000 first graders were promoted to the second grade last spring, 9,000 of their former classmates are repeating the first grade this year.

Lee Tyler, director of pupil attendance for the Department of Education, said that many teachers feel that when a student needs to repeat a year, "It should be done in the lower grades when adjustment is easier. A lot of children are immature at first, or they haven't been to kindergarten like some of their classmates," he said.

Fewer youngsters were retained in the second through the sixth grades, but the rate of retention rose steadily among sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth graders. Retention rates peaked for ninth graders with 3,000 of 60,000 students being held back.

"The seventh through the ninth grades mark a switch from elementary to high school for most students. It is a pretty big jump and some students have trouble keeping up."

The number retained usually declines for tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. "By the time some students who have been retained reach the ninth or tenth grade, they're 16 and old enough to drop out of school," he said. "That's just what they do. The poor attenders and the poor students have already dropped out before they enter the upper grades," Tyler explained.

New Farm Bill Sets Normal Crop Acreage

The new farm bill, The Food and Agriculture Act of 1977, which was signed by the President September 29, provides that ASC County Committees (COC) will establish a Normal Crop Acreage (NCA) for each farm, so reports Beverly G. Yeiser, Sr., State Director for the Kentucky Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

According to Yeiser, COC's will make this determination based on the planted acreage reports farmers have been asked to make to their county ASCS office concerning all their crop and land use. "Since the Normal Crop Acreage is based on the non-conserving crops—wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, upland cotton, strawberries, soybeans, peppers, tomatoes, etc.—it is very important that each producer who has not reported all his crop and land use for 1977 to do so at once," says Yeiser. "Each farmer's report is necessary if he expects his NCA to be correct," adds Yeiser. Marketing quota crops, such as burley, dark fire- and air-cured tobaccos, will not be included in determining NCA's.

Program benefits will be determined for future crop years from the NCA established by COC's from farmers' 1977 plantings and land use. Such benefits include commodity loans, disaster payments, and deficiency payments when applicable.

Yeiser reports, "There will be a 20 percent set-aside for the 1978 wheat crop. This means that for farmers to be eligible for any program benefits, they must comply with the 20 percent set-aside requirement on the planted acreage of wheat." "The Department has not firmed up final decision relative to set-aside for 1978 corn," adds Yeiser.

All farm producers and operators are urged to contact their local county ASCS office immediately to report all their 1977 crop and land use acreage.

All programs administered by ASCS are eligible for any qualified person, regardless of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Meet on Exceptional Children, Oct. 21, 22

Magoffin Man Returns Relic

John Arnett, of Wellington, Ohio, shows Humphrey Marshall, of Atlanta, how to crank the machine gun that Arnett's great-grandfather stole from Marshall's great-grandfather during the Civil War.

A Civil War machine gun is once again on display at the Kentucky Military History museum after an interim of 87 years. The gun was last on display at the museum in 1890.

John Arnett, of Wellington, Ohio, presented the gun to the museum and the Kentucky Historical Society. The story is that Arnett's great-grandfather, Capt. Reuben Patrick, stole it from Confederate Gen. Humphrey Marshall in the spring of 1863.

The gun was on display in the Old Arsenal until 1890 when Patrick decided to take it home to Salyersville for a Patrick family reunion. Arnett said the gun was displayed on the lawn of the Patrick home until 1950 when he moved it to his home in Cleveland Heights, Ohio. For the past few years, Arnett has displayed it on his lawn and in his basement in Wellington.

When Arnett made a trip to Salyersville and visited the Patrick family cemetery for the first time last year, he noticed the large monument of his great-grandfather. "Looking at the monument made me decide to return the gun," Arnett said.

The weapon was the first machine gun successfully used in combat during the early part of the Civil War. The seven-foot long cannon is hand-cranked and fed, and has a four foot barrel.

Farmers Requested To Report Crop, Land Use Acreages

As requested earlier, many Floyd County farmers have reported their planted acreages of 1977 corn and grain to the Floyd County ASCS Office. Since that time, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has requested that ASCS obtain an additional field-by-field report of all land on the farm devoted to other crops not listed above, including hay and pasture.

All farmers, including those who have previously reported zero grain acreage by phone or at the ASCS Office, are requested to report 1977 crop and land use acreages even though no grain crops were planted. This crop and land use information will be used by the ASC County Committee in complying with provisions of the "Food and Agriculture Act of 1977" which requires that a "Normal Crop Acreage" be established for each farm.

The local ASCS office has been authorized to continue accepting acreage reports for awhile following the October 15 deadline if you have not made a complete field-by-field report of all 1977 crops and land uses for your farm, we urge that you attend to this extremely important matter as promptly as possible.

TWO BURMESE OFFICIALS FIRED

RANGOON, Burma—Burma's ruling Council of State announced the dismissal of two government ministers but gave no reason for the move.

They were the minister of finance and planning, U Than Sein, and the transport and communications minister, U Tun Lin.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sexton celebrated their golden wedding anniversary October 1 with their family at their home at Drift.

Mr. and Mrs. Sexton are the parents of six children, Christine Stumbo, of Drift; Pauline Sexton, of Chicago, Ill.; Lucille May and Judy May, both of Prestonsburg, Donald Lee Sexton, of Winchester, and Edgar Ray Sexton, deceased. They also have nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Sexton received many lovely gifts and enjoyed having the family all present.

MAYTOWN NEWS

Mrs. Bertha Click has been a patient at Our Lady of the Way Hospital for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Webb spent several days in Stockdale, Ohio last week due to the illness of her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Salisbury, who is a patient at Scioto Memorial Hospital in Portsmouth, Ohio. They report she is much improved.

Mrs. Ruth Martin has been a patient at Our Lady of the Way Hospital for diagnosis and treatment.

Mrs. Gertrude Webb, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham May and children and Mrs. Sharon Waddles, of Allen, spent last week-end in Lexington visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Webb and children.

Mr. and Mrs. James Meadows have moved into one of the Shirley Stewart apartments.

Ben Baker, Kihei, Hawaii, has been visiting relatives on the mainland. He spent some time with his daughter, Sherry, at Purdue University where she is a student, then flew to Lexington where he was met by Margaret Ann Vaughn who brought him to Maytown where he visited his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, and his cousin, Harriet Allen. He left Friday and is visiting his son, Ben, Jr., and Mrs. Baker in Santa Barbara, Calif. He will attend some business meetings in San Francisco, before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey were in Huntington, Friday, on business.

Luncheon guests of Ben Baker Thursday at Jerry's in Prestonsburg were his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, Mrs. Teddi Pence, Mrs. Elizabeth Conley and Mrs. Lydia Howard.

Ben Baker and Mrs. Elizabeth Baker visited Mrs. Gene Combs at her home in Pikeville, Thursday afternoon.

Glenn Ramey, of Alexandria, Ky., was the Saturday night guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramey. He also visited his aunt, Mrs. Thurmal Click.

TOWN WON'T GET U.S. HELP TO PAY GAS BILL

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex.—Federal funds apparently won't be used to help pay the overdue natural gas bill in Crystal City, where gas supplies were shut off to all residents Sept. 23 because the city wouldn't pay its bill.

Other South Texas towns complained that they had paid their bills and that the government shouldn't pay Crystal City's.

County: Pike, SP NO. 36-476-12R1, 36-496-4R1, Fed. No. RS 5358 (1)
Termini of project; Ky. 1426-979 From 0.3 W. of Ky. 979
1426 Junction to C&O Railroad Crossing in Harold

The purpose of this announcement is to advise all persons whose property will be affected by construction of the above project that negotiations for right of way on this project began September 30, 1977.

It is the policy of the Kentucky Department of Transportation, Bureau of Highways, that no person shall be displaced by a State or Federal-aid Highway Project until adequate replacement housing has been obtained by him or he is offered adequate housing which is immediately available without regard to race, color, religion, sex or national origin, and the housing offered is within his financial means.

The owners and/or tenants of residences, businesses, farm operations, or nonprofit organizations who are displaced by this project will, if they meet the eligibility requirements, be entitled to receive the following payments:

- Moving Expenses
- Replacement Housing
- Increased Mortgage Interest
- Expenses Incidental to the Purchase of a Replacement Dwelling

Any occupant who plans to move must first contact the district relocation agent so that eligibility for these payments can be established. DO NOT MOVE UNTIL ADVISED TO DO SO BY THE RELOCATION AGENT.

In order for owner occupants to be eligible for relocation benefits, title to the property required must be conveyed to the Bureau of Highways.

The eligibility requirements for and the limitations on payments are contained in the Relocation Assistance Program Informational Pamphlet.

Prior to this time, each relocatee should have been contacted and given one of these pamphlets. Additional copies of the informational pamphlet and additional information may be obtained from the undersigned district relocation assistance agent.

Special Training Sessions Slated for Foster Parents

Specialized training for foster parents who will care for emotionally disturbed children will soon be a reality, thanks to a cooperative project sponsored by the Department for Human Resources (DHR) and the College of Social Professions at the University of Kentucky.

The first step in the project took place during a workshop held Oct. 8 in Frankfort. DHR's Bureau for Social Services called together more than 100 social workers and foster parents to find out what kind of help each group wanted, in anticipation of having children with problems placed into foster care homes.

In opening the program, Commissioner for Social Services Jack C. Lewis said that emotionally disturbed children "have been the forgotten youngsters. Before state government was reorganized (in 1973), the Department of Mental Health stated they were not in a psychotic condition, and therefore not our concern, and the Child Welfare Department stated they couldn't take care of children with these severe problems. But now, the responsibility is clearly on the Department for Human Resources. Very few states are trying to do what we're going to do to take care of these children."

Lewis said that an estimated 61,000 children are, to some degree, "disturbed," and only half of those children are being treated through private resources. "The others must be taken care of through public agencies—Comprehensive Care Centers, residential treatment centers, school counselors or other publicly-funded agencies," he said.

"These children have problems and we all need every bit of help we can get in working with these youngsters. We all need training," Lewis continued. He pointed out that it would be necessary to form a "network" for emotionally disturbed youngsters—and that foster parents would be part of a treatment team for the children.

"Governor Julian M. Carroll has instructed the Department for Human Resources to make every effort to develop programs to meet the needs of our children with emotional and retardation problems," Lewis said.

UK's Dr. Vernon Wiehe said that the first part of the training project would be to find out what parents and workers wanted from that training, "and that's what you're going to do today."

Foster parents' comments about proposed training suggested:

The need for more assistance from social workers when a foster child had school-related problems;

Help in dealing with a child's natural parents (if there is contact between foster and natural parents), and with the child's feelings about his or her own parents;

Information on child development, and a need for better interpretation of the foster care program to the general public, schools and to the foster parents' own friends.

Social workers said that they wanted to receive the same training the parents received. They also wanted:

General information on behavior problems, and ways to treat those problems;

Training in understanding psychiatric or psychological diagnoses and in how to interpret those reports to foster parents;

Information on parent effectiveness training and behavior modification principles which they could pass on to foster parents;

Ways to support foster parents who are caring for emotionally disturbed children; and

Wayne to improve coordination among the various agencies and professionals involved in treating a child.

Lewis says that Human Resources anticipates starting the first training classes in approximately three months. He also says that the classes will be held once a month, and will be organized as regional sessions.

TO ALL VETERANS OF FLOYD COUNTY

Saturday, October 22nd, Floyd county will be observing Red, White and Blue Day - a day that means so much to the veterans of this county.

So many of our fellow Floyd countians fought and died so that we might have a freedom of choice when it comes to choosing our leaders in this nation. After reading recent issues of the Floyd County Times, I got the feeling the people in this county have not had the freedom of choice, when it comes to electing the officials in Floyd county. I don't like to be told that I must vote "The Straight Ticket." I gave 19 years of my life serving this nation and I know what it means when a country does not the freedom to vote for the leaders of their choice.

I urge you to get out and vote this Nov. 8th and vote for

Three Are Named To Higher Posts

Major promotions involving three Kentucky Power Company supervisory employees in Pikeville were announced recently by J. M. Wood, division manager.

L. J. Horne has been promoted to customer services manager of the Pikeville division to succeed W. W. Zoellers who earlier was named Hazard division manager. Emil Mayor replaces Horne as engineering supervisor and Robert B. Weddle succeeds Mayor as line and station supervisor.

Horne joined the company in 1958 as a distribution engineer. He moved to commercial and power sales representative in 1968 and was promoted to power sales engineer in 1969. He was named engineering supervisor in 1970.

Mayor began as a distribution engineer in 1967. He was moved to station foreman in 1970, area supervisor in 1973 and assumed the position of line and station supervisor in 1974.

Weddle started with the company as a laborer in 1938 with the transmission and distribution department. He moved to the engineering department in 1941 as a rodman and was promoted to engineer in the same year. He became senior distribution engineer in 1956.

State Requires X-Ray Technicians Be Trained

The Department for Human Resources (DHR) is for the first time enforcing regulations which require x-ray machine operators to be trained and certified.

According to Don Hughes of the radiation control branch in DHR, "In the past, anyone could walk in off the street and be hired as an x-ray operator without training or certification of any kind."

Hughes said radiation officials in human resources have been working since March to implement the new regulations, which will eliminate the possibility of x-rays being improperly used by untrained individuals.

"There will be no increase in the cost to patients as a result of the new regulations," Hughes said. "X-ray machine operators will be able to continue to work as long as they can pass the test required by next July." Those who cannot pass the test should not be operating the equipment anyway, he said.

Businessmen To View Anglo-American Ties

British-American economic relations will be the subject of the 28th Kentucky World Trade Conference to be held Nov. 9 and sponsored by the University of Louisville's International Center.

The statewide conference, which will feature both British and American businessmen as speakers, will begin at 9 a.m. at the Commonwealth Convention Center, 221 River City Mall in downtown Louisville.

The purpose of the all-day conference, said Dr. George Brodschi, executive director of the International Center, is to help Kentuckians better understand the economic ties between Great Britain and the United States.

The morning session will begin at 9 a.m. with a discussion of "What Foreign Trade Means to Kentucky." Gov. Julian Carroll will be the keynote speaker.

"Experiences in British and American Trade Relations" will be the topic discussed during a panel session beginning at 9:45 a.m.

Daniel C. Ulmer Jr., president of the Citizens Fidelity Bank and Trust Co., will moderate the panel, which will consist of Forrest E. Behm, senior vice president of Corning Glass Works; John P. Gallagher, president and chairman of the board of Chemetron Corp.; F. E. Newbold, senior vice president of Rolls-Royce, Inc.; Graham J. Powell, chairman of the board of EMI Technology, Inc.; Dr. Richard L. Robinson, deputy commerce commissioner of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and Raymond W. Smyth, president of Josiah Wedgwood and Sons, Inc.

Speaking at a luncheon on "The Climates for Foreign Investments in Britain and the United States" will be Lord Greenhill of Harrow, director of B. A. T. Industries in London, England, and Edward L. Palmer, chairman of the executive committee of Citicorp.

The conference will adjourn until 7:15 p.m. when Lord Bridges, C.M.G., commercial minister in the British embassy in Washington, D. C., and Richard D. Vine, senior deputy assistant secretary for European affairs with the U.S. Department of State, will speak on "British-U.S.A. Economic Relations."

The conference is sponsored by the International Center in cooperation with the U.S. Department of State, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the Kentucky Department of Commerce, the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and the Louisville Area Chamber of Commerce.

It is open to all business and civic leaders as well as students interested in economic and political science. Interested persons may register by sending a check for $16 to the International Center, University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky., 40208, by Nov. 4. Further information may be obtained by calling Brodschi at (502) 588-6602.

Food of Our Early Settlers

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
(UK College of Agriculture)

If you have ever wondered as to what our forefathers ate in the early years of North American settlement, this may throw a bit of light on the subject.

At first, of course, they ate a lot of wild meat such as bear, deer, turkey and fish. Then they started raising hogs to provide a better quality and less monotonous type of eating.

The standard cereal food was corn which, along with sweet potatoes, peppers, pumpkins, squash, peanuts, sunflower seed, and cranberries, was introduced to the settlers by the Indians. Following the instructions of the redmen, the corn was pounded into meal and consumed mainly as cornpone, hoeecake and crackling bread. Later, when cows became common, corn meal mush and milk became staple foods.

Although there were no nutrition experts in those days to tell the pioneers about vitamins, minerals and such, they well understood the need to eat quantities of wild plums, wild apples and berries in season. They were eaten fresh and whenever possible, preserved for winter use by drying or packing down in honey or maple syrup.

Sauerkraut was an important source of vitamins for nearly every pioneer family during the winter months. It was made by packing chopped up cabbages in salt and changing the brine from time to time as the cabbage fermented. Sweet corn, beans, pumpkins, squash and other vegetables were dried or pickled.

Apple trees soon came to be grown on many farms, and this fruit was made into cider, dried and sulfured apples and apple butter. Apple pie came to be the almost universal dessert, but not all of it was the kind that made grandma famous.

In 1759, Israel Acrelius, writing about the apple pies baked by his fellow pioneers from Sweden, said they were made from apples "neither peeled nor freed from their cores. And the crust can scarcely be broken even if run over by a wagon wheel."

According to the Chicago based Institute of Food Technologists, our forefathers who, in Europe, boiled their meat, learned from the Indians that it was delicious when broiled over a bed of coals or roasted on a spit. The Indians taught the pioneers how to make spoonbread, hominy and how to put beans through a long, slow cooking process to produce what we now know as Boston baked beans.

In addition to the meats, fruits and vegetables previously mentioned, the pioneers soon learned about dandelions, poke, creasies and other forms of "wild salad," which they added to their diet.

So when you come right down to it, except for the manner in which it was preserved and prepared, the food our forefathers ate was much the same as we eat today.

Notice of Public Hearing

RATES FOR

DAVID WATER DISTRICT

A public hearing will be held before the Public Service Commission, November 7 at 10 a.m. on the 24th floor of the Capital Plaza Tower in Frankfort. The purpose of the hearing is to determine the water rates that will be charged for the new David water system and discontinuation of the old system. The David Water District is asking for a flat rate of $3 per 1,000 gallons of water, to become effective as soon as the new system is operative and the old system is discontinued.

Your corporation can buy your life insurance with tax deductible dollars.

Advantages both ways. It's good for the corporation regardless of size, because the premiums for life insurance on corporate-owners, executives, key employees... all employees... are tax deductible as a business expense under a recent government regulation. So the employee gets the benefit of increased compensation, up to $50,000 in term life insurance purchased by the corporation, with no current income tax liability for either party! The employee can even have permanent life insurance, retain the cash values and benefits, and pay only the tax on the premium. It's a good concept.

Now, all you need is a little help to do something about it. Kansas City Life, The Lioness, would like to introduce you to one of our people who knows the ins-and-outs of this new concept.

Cordial-Flannery Wedding Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cordial, of Wayland, announce the marriage of their daughter, Bonnie, to Mr. Johnnie Michael Flannery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Flannery, of Martin.

The ceremony was held May 14, at the Martin Branch Church, of Estill at 2 p.m. and was solemnized by the Rev. Larry Leedy, of Prestonsburg.

The bridesmaid was Connie Cordial, the matron of honor, Latrilla Flannery, and best man, William Flannery. The bride was escorted by her father, Clifford Cordial.

The couple now resides at Martin.

Health Tip

Student's Health Makes Difference

(From the American Medical Association)

Is your child having trouble keeping up his or her grades in school?

The American Medical Association points out that there may be a physical reason for the poor record.

Does the child squint, strain, rub his eyes or complain that they hurt, water or itch? Does he hold his book very close to his face when he reads? Has it been some time since his last eye examination? He may have defective vision. He may not be able to read the teacher's notes on the blackboard.

Does he often ask you to repeat a question or statements? Does he sometimes miss, or seem to miss, a point made in a movie or on television by the spoken word? Does he turn his head to one side as he listens? He may have defective hearing. It might be as simple as impacted wax in the ears, which can be removed by your physician in a simple office procedure. Of course, the inattentive child may have no hearing problem at all. Children know we will repeat the question or instruction, thus encouraging a habit of not listening.

Has he had an infection, disease or accident whose effects may be lingering on? Is there a possibility that poor nutrition may be holding him back? He may be eating considerable quantities of food and still be undernourished, if he eats improperly, or if his tastes in food are too limited.

If your child isn't performing properly in his school work, ask yourself whether it is time for an examination to determine whether his problems are caused by a physical problem that might be corrected.

MAYTOWN HOMEMAKERS HOLD OCTOBER MEET

The Maytown Homemakers met in the school lunchroom for the October meeting. The meeting was called to order by the president, Helen Boyd. The devotional was given by Aida Gibson and then the group was led in the Lord's Prayer.

A report was given on the rummage sale which netted $66.15. The homemakers will have a workshop at Margie Sammons at Martin, Oct. 27 at 1 p.m. on Swedish weaving. Plans were made for the club's Christmas visit to the Golden Years Rest Home when treats are taken to the patients. The club will also treat the MCCC at Maytown.

The lesson on drying flowers was given by Gloria Allen and Margie Sammons. Carolyn Puckett and Kitty McCann were the hostesses and served refreshments to Carolyn Moore, Trilby May, Minnie Gearheart, Francis Pitts, Alice Hayes, Margie Sammons, Gloria Allen, Aida Gibson, Dora Reed, Sue Osborne, Helen Boyd, Betty May, Kitty McCann, Betty Bentley, Imalee Spillman and Carolyn Puckett.

Revival of Tribal Language Aided by U. of L. Professor

By RICK McDONOUGH

Explaining that "my purpose is to work myself out of a job," Dr. Robert St. Clair, associate professor of linguistics at the University of Louisville, returned from his summer in Washington state with a feeling of success.

St. Clair was referring to his work with the Yakima Indians of central Washington. For the past three years he has been aiding the Yakima in an effort to revive their language.

"Their language was going out," St. Clair said. "It had reached the point where only the old people could speak it. But now, in a short time, they have reversed the process."

The Yakima and four other Sahaptin River tribes in the Northwest are trying to strengthen and preserve their knowledge of the tribes' history and culture, of which the language is a vital part.

St. Clair serves as a language consultant for the Warm Springs, Nez Perce, Colville and Umatilla tribes as well as the Yakima. But most of his time has been spent with the Yakima, and their success is generating national interest.

St. Clair explained that when one culture and its language are imposed on another—as happened to the American Indians—the native language will likely go through a number of changes.

First, the people will be monolingual, but soon they will become bilingual because of the need to interact with the other culture.

However, as the natives speak their own language less and less often, it will enter a period during which it becomes unstable. From this point, the language can enter a critical stage where the people lose control of it.

St. Clair said many people are interested in what the Yakima have done because, in the past, few believed that a language could be revived from what linguists call the critical stage.

"In a period of two years," St. Clair said, "they reached the point where the little kids were talking to the old-timers, and many of the middle-aged people are now left out feeling guilty."

He said this has created a demand among adults to learn the language, and now adult education classes are being offered.

The desire to learn the language also took an unexpected upturn when the citizens band radio craze hit the area.

St. Clair said the tribe members started using their Indian names as "handles," and the ones who were able spoke to each other in Yakima. It seems they reasoned that, this way, the FCC would find it difficult to monitor their calls.

St. Clair has been instrumental in developing the curriculum for elementary schools on the reservation and has been active in the training of language teachers.

He has also established the framework for language teaching in the secondary schools, which he expects to be implemented soon.

There are now 25 trained language teachers among the approximately 60,000 Yakima people.

"We're trying to get everybody there to know the language and make it come alive again," said St. Clair.

He said much credit for reviving the language should go to Dr. Bruce Rigsby, of the University of Oregon. About 10 years ago Rigsby developed an alphabet for the Yakima language.

Prior to Rigsby's work, no alphabet existed and, therefore, the language could not be written.

"The alphabet definitely helps solidify the language," St. Clair said.

He added that the lack of an alphabet is not unusual. Out of nearly 4,000 languages in the world only about 200 have ever been written.

Rigsby was also responsible for getting St. Clair involved with the Sahaptin tribes.

"He came to me because I did my doctorate on the Eskimo language, which is similar, and I had experience in applied linguistics," St. Clair said.

St. Clair described himself as being part of a group which believes that "not only linguists can work with language."

So, rather than attempting to teach the language to the entire tribe himself, St. Clair concentrates on teaching educated members of the tribe who can, in turn, teach the other members.

St. Clair is currently working on the Yakima dictionary which was started by Rigsby. The dictionary translates English to Yakima, and St. Clair wants to expand it and add a Yakima-to-English translation.

St. Clair thinks an increased acceptance of "cultural pluralism"—where all groups respect the unique offerings of other cultures—has helped spur interest among Indians in their own cultural history.

He said he has also observed a change in Indian attitudes which has led to self-determination in other areas as well as language instruction. Indian tribes have taken control of programs that were traditionally operated for them by the federal government.

"Rather than retreating," said St. Clair, "Indians are now becoming more active for self-determination."

He thinks this desire to take control of their lives and preserve their culture represents a positive change in how Indians view themselves and how others see them.

"We wanted to help them develop a positive self-concept," he said.

It seems this goal has been reached with the Yakimas. And, while he still works with them as a part-time language consultant, St. Clair recognizes that they have reached the point where their language can survive without him.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

A surprise birthday party was given for Mrs. Myrtle Robinson, of the new Bull Creek Road, Friday, October 7. She was taken out for a birthday supper by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warren, while others gathered at her home to surprise her when she returned home.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. James Howard and son, Jim II, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hopson and children, Jackie, Mary, Brenda and Kevin, Lloyd Robinson and daughters, Tara and Katie, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Sellars and son, Greg, II, who is Mrs. Robinson's great-grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warren and children, Shannon, Eric and Lori, and Mrs. and Mrs. Sammy Prater, of Allen.

A special cake was baked by Mrs. Bonnie Crisp, of Martin, and punch and ice cream were served.

Mrs. Robinson received many nice gifts.

UMWA Retirement Funds To Receive U.S. Steel Settlement

The United Mine Workers of America (UMWA) Health and Retirement Funds recently reported that the Funds will receive a settlement of $9.7 million from United States Steel Corporation as royalty payments for coal purchased from other companies which had not previously paid royalties on that coal.

The settlement is the result of a Funds' counterclaim against U.S. Steel. The Funds' claim charged that U.S. Steel, an employer signatory to UMWA wage agreements, was required to pay royalties ranging between $1.18 and $1.55 to the Funds for each ton of purchased coal for which royalties had not previously been paid, as specified in Article XX, Section (d) of the National Bituminous Coal Wage Agreement of 1974. U.S. Steel had been actively contesting that section of the Agreement.

In separate actions during the months of August and September, the Funds filed complaints against an additional 18 employers allegedly delinquent in paying royalties on coal production. The amounts in question total more than $195,000. Of the 18 companies involved, four are construction companies, four are trucking companies and the remaining ten are coal companies. In addition to that $195,000, the Funds' regional auditors have discovered $1.3 million owed to the Funds since the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1. Overall, more than $4 million is now pending in litigation as a result of suits filed by the Funds during the last three years.

Litigation is the final step in the Funds' program of monitoring income to assure that all monies owed to the Funds are paid by signatory employers. When it appears that a company is delinquent in its royalty payments and the amount due is not forwarded promptly, it is standard procedure to institute legal proceedings. In all cases, it is general policy to enter litigation to recover all royalties due, plus interest, attorneys' fees and court costs.

Miss Turner, Mr. Bartuka Wed

On Saturday evening August 6, Miss Connie Lynn Turner, of Milford, Ohio, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth Edward Bartuka, of Wheelwright, Kentucky. The candlelight ceremony took place at 7:30 p.m. at Zion United Church of Christ, Norwood, Ohio, the Rev. Gary Minton officiating.

Before the ceremony, a selection of taped music was played. These included "Better Days", "Colour My World", "I Only Have Eyes For You", "Evergreen," and "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face." The bride and groom gave their mothers one sonia rose each. The couple chose and exchanged their own wedding vows.

The bride's dress was ivory quiana trimmed with venice lace. The gown was sleeveless, had a shirred bodice with lace inserts, and the skirt had a chapel-length train. She wore a fingertip veil of ivory illusion with matching lace inserts. Her bouquet consisted of sonia roses, gardenias, stephanotis, and baby's breath trimmed with an ivory ribbon. The bride's only ornament was a pair of diamond earrings, a gift from the groom. Christie Turner, sister of the bride, attended her as the maid of honor. She wore a dark salmon gown of quiana with an empire waist gathered and tied in front. The gown had a flowing chiffon cape. She carried one single long-stem sonia rose.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Janie Beagle, Milford, Ohio, Mrs. Cindy Mays, aunt of bride, Norwood, Ohio, Miss Cindy White, Louisville, Kentucky, Miss Debbie Imbus, Milford, Ohio, and Miss Charlotte Holbrook, Lexington, Kentucky. They all wore coral gowns matching the maid of honor.

Mr. Michael Bradstreet, of Franklin, Ohio, served the groom as his best man. The groomsmen were Mr. Gary Witt, Richmond, Ky., Mr. Randy Hord, Mt. Gilead, Ohio, Mr. Ron Alkers, Bethel, Ohio, Mr. Steve Kemp, Mt. Gilead, Ohio and Mr. Randy Snyder, Knoxville, Tennessee.

Miss Raquel Hunter, cousin of the groom, Wolcottville, Ind., was the flower girl. Mark Jennings, cousin of the bride, Norwood, Ohio, was the ring-bearer.

Mrs. Turner chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of yellow quiana with a detailed empire waistline and matching chiffon cape. She wore a gardenia wrist corsage. Mrs. Bartuka, mother of the groom, wore a gown of mint-green quiana with an empire waistline and a floor-length chiffon cape. She also wore a gardenia wrist corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the American Legion Hall, Milford, Ohio.

The catering was done by Neihesal Catering, of Cincinnati. The reception music was provided by The Keynotes, also of Cincinnati.

Following a wedding trip to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the couple is residing in Atlanta, Georgia. The bride is employed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company's regional credit office. The groom is a first-year student at Mercer Southern School of Pharmacy.

Arts-Crafts To Feature Week-End At Natural Bridge, Oct. 22-23

By HELEN PRICE STACY
Gather cornshucks while you may, and come the week-end of Oct. 22-23 you can observe a cornshuck-dollmaker creating her winsome gifts that in years past were the only toys some mountain girls possessed. The dollmaker will be one of many artists at the annual Natural Bridge Fall Arts and Crafts Show and Sale.

The event this year has been scheduled at a time when the Powell county hills are expected to be most colorful, adding a bonus reason for visiting the park at Slade.

Mrs. Gordon Bellamy, of Powell county, is the dollmaker. She will bring many cornshuck dolls to the Activities Building, near the park's main lodge, but she also will bring the corn blades and bits of field bounty to wrap, twist and tie into the lovely folk dolls that so delighted mountain children and continue to be popular gifts.

For those visitors who want to observe an artist "throw clay" on a potter's wheel, start the wheel spinning and soon see a handsome jar, vase or pot emerge. Bybee Pottery will be the demonstrator.

Demonstrations in weaving and broommaking will be done by artisans from Fort Boonesborough.

Artists who will demonstrate painting and offer original works as well as print reproductions include James Hicks, of Bowling Green, Bill Granstaff and bird artist Glenn Wilson, Russell May, of Prestonsburg, who will paint landscapes, Don Ensor, of Louisville, who will show the technique of painting a realistic aqua fruit jar still life, Al Cornett, who will work on an oil landscape, Nellie Meadows, of Clay City, who will do wild-flowers and Helen Price Stacy, flowers in oils. Gary Akers, Charles Spalding and Brett Johnson will include the painting of animals, still life and landscapes in their demonstrations.

Hours for Saturday (Oct. 22) will be 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Over 134,800 Kentucky school children watched "The Electric Company" on KET during the 1976-77 school year.

Miss Park To Give Piano Recital

A piano recital at Prestonsburg Community College's Pike Auditorium Sunday, October 23, at 7:30 p.m. will feature Sue Park, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Park, Hager Hill.

She will present a 30-minute program consisting of repertoire from five contrasting periods in music: Baroque, Classical, Romantic, Impressionistic and Modern. The program will consist of works by Domenico Scarlatti, Ludwig Van Beethoven, Edward Grieg, Claude Debussy and Alexander Tcherpnire.

The Grieg composition (piano concerto in A minor) will be played on two pianos with Miss Park as solo piano and Nancy Lyon assisting with the orchestral accompaniment on the second piano.

Miss Park will present the program again at the University of Louisville School of Music on October 30 at which time she will be playing for a state competition title. The winner of the state contest will compete on the national level at the Music Educator's National Conference next spring.

Also included in the October 23 recital will be Karen Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frazier, of Paintsville, and Amanda Lyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lyon, of Salyersville.

The program is presented under the direction of Nancy Lyon Studio of Music, Paintsville and is open to the public.

ALC Among Aetna Life's Aid Recipients

Travel Group Director

Hazard, Ky.—Radio newsman Seldon Short, of Vanleve, has been named executive director of the Kentucky Highlands Travel Association.

The appointment was announced by Dr. John Renfro, of Williamsburg, president of the non-profit group organized to promote the travel industry in 31 counties of Eastern Kentucky, including Floyd.

Short, a Breathitt county native, has been news director of WMTC Radio in Vanleve for 18 years. The Methodist clergyman is a graduate of Asbury College and Morehead State University.

"This is a tremendous challenge," said Short, who was the first president of Kentucky Highlands. "I'm looking forward to working with everyone in Eastern Kentucky who wants to develop tourism."

His primary duty in the part-time position will be the editorship of the association's travel guide.

He is a past president of the Kentucky Extension Council and a former member of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky River Area Development District.

Short is married to the former Janet Mielke, of Fremont, Ohio, and they have four children.
