

Jury Votes Floyd Man 12-Yr. Term

Gary Castle Trial On Robbery Charge Near End, Tuesday

Gary Castle was convicted late Tuesday on two counts. On the charge of first-degree assault (shooting and wounding) the jury set his pen term at 17 years, and the robbery conviction drew an 11-year sentence.

A circuit court jury in the third day of the trial of Don Stephen Gearheart, charged with the slaying of Conley at Eastern, returned a guilty verdict last Wednesday after about four hours' deliberation and set his prison term at 12 years.

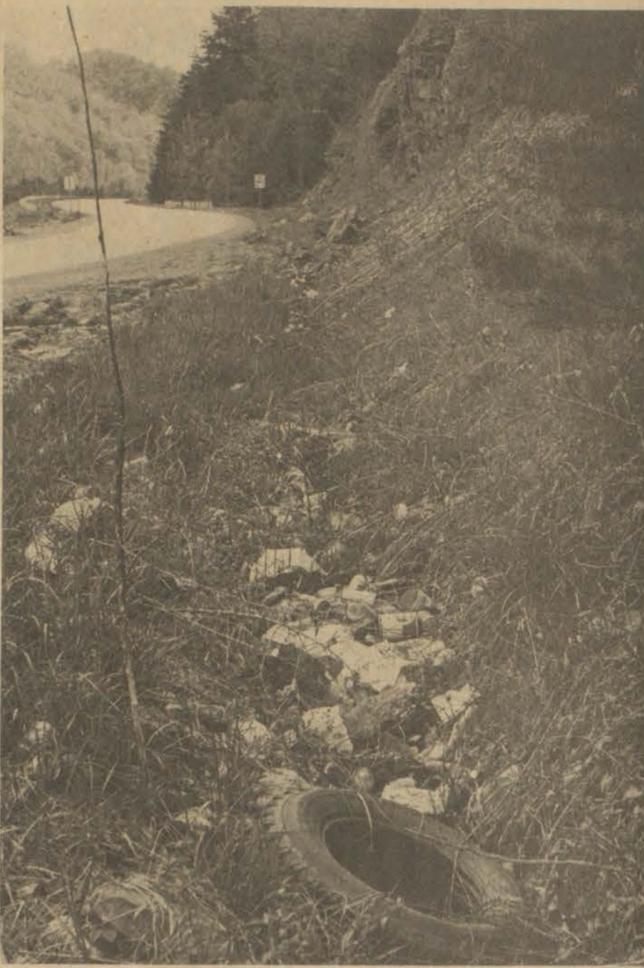

The defendant this week filed motion and grounds for a new trial.

Except for officers testifying as to their findings after the shootings, all witnesses but one admitted they were friends of the defendant.

Their testimony was to the effect that, following an argument between Conley and Gearheart over the labor situation prevailing at that time when a "wildcat" mine strike, Arnold Jones fired a shot from a rifle before Conley pulled away from the service station in his truck, and that Gearheart then took possession of the rifle and walked onto KY 80. Some testified that he had walked back into the service station when a shot was fired from the truck, then went outside to fire a single shot from the rifle.

Jan Hicks, owner of the rifle, and the only witness who did not say he was a friend of the defendant, testified that Gearheart took "dead aim" before the shot was fired from the truck and that

A MASSIVE CLEANUP, set to begin Monday, May 1, is aimed at ridding the county of such scenes as the litter-strewn ditchline pictured above which has become typical along area roadways. The month has been declared Cleanup and Beautification Month by the Floyd fiscal court and it is hoped that the campaign will develop into the most concentrated cleanup drive in the county's history. John M. Stumbo has been designated to head the effort which will involve a number of local agencies and the support of all Floyd countians is being asked by the court.

Three Arrested In Week's Raids

Sheriff Doug Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hughes arrested Ronald Stone on a third offense charge of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages after a raid, Friday, on Garth Hollow. A case of "fifths" of whiskey, 11 half pints and eight cans of beer were taken in the action.

In another raid last week Sheriff Lewis, Joe W. Lewis, Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Kenneth Hughes, arrested Bill Monroe Thompson and Darwin Thompson on a charge of illegal possession after a raid on Corn Fork turned up a quantity of illegal booze. The two pleaded guilty to charges, paid fines of $54 each plus court costs and were

Drastic Action Held Necessary To Whip Deficit

Supt. of Schools E. P. Grigsby, Jr. and the Floyd County Board of Education have begun possibly the toughest task of their experience—an across-the-board reduction of staff, ranging from the classroom to administrative offices.

The manpower cutback was mandated, the superintendent said, by the State Board of Education and it is intended to balance the school board budget which this year was $356,600 in the red. The effort to save money and balance the budget within the next two-three years, he added, will include "a general belt-tightening"—not only a reduction in personnel but savings, wherever possible, in fuel, particularly electric power, purchases of materials and supplies.

The superintendent and John M. Stumbo, chairman of the board, met with the state board recently on the budget. "They were very sympathetic but businesslike and suggested the staff reductions," Grigsby said.

The first step in the economy program was taken at the April board meeting here when the superintendent was directed to notify all non-tenure teachers that they may not be rehired for the next school term. "That does not mean that they definitely will not, but that they may not be hired," Grigsby explained.

"As bad as I hate to say this, it means that there will be no new teaching jobs for young, aspiring teachers," he added. "If a teacher retired, the board and I are thinking about not replacing them."

He explained that some school programs will be "minimized" but that an attempt will be made to keep as many as possible, with the number of instructors reduced.

How did overstaffing take place? "Because," the superintendent explained, "school systems are required under the Minimum Foundation to have

Mining Venture Fate May Rest on Courts

A simmering dispute over a coal company's right to operate a coal mine in the corporate limits of Prestonsburg is expected to hit the courts soon after the city zoning commission takes official action in the case next Monday evening.

The Co-Op Mining Company began opening an old mine at what is locally known as the Ball Alley Curve, on old US 23 here, and it claims it has already invested some $170,000 in the project. The work was begun after Donald L. Horn had appeared for the company at City Hall where he said he outlined his company's plans. He says he was told by Joe P. Tackett, Jr., building inspector, to proceed with the project. But Tackett says he was confused about the location of the operation and would not have approved it, had he known it was to be in the city limits.

The Ball Alley Curve area is zoned R-2 (limited to residential building).

The mine now is producing a reported 250-300 tons a day. Since its opening two orders to "cease and desist" have been served, without result. The application of the company for rezoning was set for hearing but the hearing was postponed till May 1.

Now, city officials expect the zoning commission to stand firm against the industrial rezoning that would be necessary for continued mine operation.

Officials of the coal company say they are prepared to wage a legal battle, if necessary. One pointed out that the coal under lease was conveyed by Broad Form deed—an instrument which entitles the holder to many rights, including the right to mine and rights of ingress and egress.

Court action already has been threatened against Co-Op after its failure to obey the stop orders served.

"We can't allow that," Mayor Harold W. Cooley said.

The company has the necessary state permit for mining, and says it will present no safety hazards at the site. It proposes construction of a wall and paving to make the site attractive rather than unsightly.

Prestonsburg has no ordinance prohibiting the mining of coal within its limits, and Mayor Cooley said "it is doubtful if a law restricting coal mining only would be unconstitutional. He indicated that study of a statute to govern extraction of minerals of all kinds will be made.

Joe E. Ousley, one of the company's stockholders, said city officials should favor the zoning change to permit the mine to operate, since the operation is now employing eight miners from whom the city would benefit in employees' tax.

And when the Shrine circus came to Prestonsburg recently the company announced that a royalty of 25 cents on every ton of coal mined at the Bald Alley location will go to the Shriners' hospital for crippled children at Lexington.

CYSTIC FIBROSIS FOUNDATION'S "Breath of Life" Spring Bike-a-Thon was held Saturday at Auxier and school children amassed hundreds of miles in support of the annual fund-raising drive. Bike-a-Thons are scheduled in all parts of the county in coming weeks with the Harold-Betsy Layne area's drive set for this Saturday. Pictured above is a bikers' checkpoint at Auxier.

New Allen Water Board Steps into Arid Situation

A new board of water commissioners was inducted to office Monday evening at Allen, and the five members immediately stepped into what was described as a distressing situation.

With little or no water service in Old Allen and surrounding areas—May Village, Dwale, Gas Fork and Hinton Hollow—also affected, the commissioners immediately began trying to decide which direction to go. They have the choice of investing more money in the old system or of buying water, wholesale, from Prestonsburg or the Beaver Elkhorn Water District.

Meetings of the commissioners are expected to continue almost nightly through the week.

The commissioners and the areas to which they have been assigned are:

Tom Porter, chairman, Old Allen and Gas Fork; Dr. Robert D. Marshall and Bill Smith, New Allen and May Village; Jimmy Sword, Dwale; Bill Woods, Jr., the lower section between New Allen and Emma.

Dr. Marshall said not only householders have felt the pinch as faucets dried up or the little water coming through was muddy. Professional and business people are feeling the shortage, and the Allen Elementary School has been dismissed for a week at noon.

The area was getting water for a few days from the Beaver Elkhorn district, but that supply was cut off, and it was not clear why.

Bill Harvey Howard, superintendent of the Prestonsburg water system, said, "We're selling them all they can use. We have not discontinued any service—we're trying to help."

But homes on higher elevations, above the Prestonsburg system tank, are not getting water, he said, because it depends on gravity flow. He said the

Autopsy Rules Out Foul Play in Frasure Death

A pathologist's report received by Floyd County Coroner James J. Carter this week indicated no foul play was involved in the death of 34-year-old Arnold Frasure who died after fire swept his mobile home near Maytown early last Tuesday morning.

The report revealed that Frasure, who lived alone, died of smoke inhalation before being burned in the trailer fire. Investigation by state police arson specialists is still under way, it was reported.

The victim, shop foreman and drill operator for Middle States Coal Company at David, was a son of Willie and Ollie Goble Frasure, of Langley.

This Town...That World

This, the last thing I'll do for the edition at hand, is the time of day that comes each week when I wonder how many mistakes we've made, what we should have done that we didn't do, and so on. Sometimes, around this time, I also wonder why I made the mistake, in the first place, of getting into this r-r, business. And to think that sometime, "way back there, some nitwit spoke of newspapering as a "game"!

NO BATTLE CRY

This is the sort of weather that palls. Poe must have been suffering from a cold drizzle when he wrote about the midnight dark and dreary. But any of us who can't see a day ahead and sunshine and soft winds should stop a moment and look and listen and wonder while a redbird defies the weather and whistles his head off.

Some who say they know contend that the male cardinal whistles no lovesong or paen to the joy of simply living. These prosaic fellows maintain the old rooster is simply declaring that this is his territory and challenging any dissenter to try and take it.

People like that should never have the pleasure of hearing a bird-note that is so liquid and pure that it could not possibly be to stake a claim or sound a battle cry.

Two Mishaps Here Tues. Injure One

Two auto wrecks which occurred within an hour Tuesday morning here "totaled" the four vehicles involved and resulted in injury to one person.

Janet Ruth Hale, of Harold, was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center suffering facial injuries after the car she was driving was struck head-on by a car driven by Elizabeth Hall, of Allen, near the Prestonsburg Auto Parts store. Prestonsburg Policeman Darrell Conley who investigated both of the morning's accidents said the Hall vehicle apparently swerved into the path of the other car.

The second accident occurred in front of Music-Carter-Hughes Chevrolet sales when a car driven by Carol Guffey Vogel, of Prestonsburg was apparently unable to stop and struck the rear of an auto driven by Larry Epperson, also of Prestonsburg. No serious injury was sustained in the mishap.

No charge was filed in either of the wrecks.

Records Cited as Department of Month

Medical Records has been selected Department of the Month for April, in recognition of their special contribution to Highlands Regional Medical Center's operations.

While not highly visible to the general public, Medical Records performs services vital to quality health care. Responsible for recording patient medical information, as well as collecting statistics, maintaining census reports, and coding records, the work demands attention to detail and a knowledge of medical terminology. Physicians dictate information directly to Medical Records from centralized dictating stations throughout the medical center or directly from their offices for automatic recording. These tapes are then transcribed and recorded as permanent records.

In addition, the Medical Records Department maintains the hospital's medical library, recently reorganized and gearing up for expansion. The department has access to the University of Kentucky medical library, and is presently awaiting the results of a grant application which would set up a consortium of several medical libraries in the region. If awarded, this would expand the libraries of each hospital within the consortium as well as setting up a regular system of exchange among the members.

Congratulations are offered to the hard working staff of Medical Records for efforts the year round: Vera Allen, file clerk; Teresa Bays, assistant director; Paula Blair, correspondence clerk; Ruby Daniels, transcriptionist; Teresa Huff, Librarian; Eadie Penix, transcriptionist; Delores Preston, art director; and Martha Shelton, transcriptionist.

Flood Insurance Problems Still Hang on, Deskins Finds

Floyd countians are not particularly concerned at the moment about the problem of flood insurance, since it's available to all who want it, but knotty questions lie ahead.

One of these is the matter of flood plain management, which will require zoning commissions and the fiscal court to adopt specific land-use regulations, and that is a task no official relishes.

State Rep. Herbie Deskins, of Pikeville, has discovered another, and it, he says, applies to all the Big Sandy watershed. This is the future amount and cost of the insurance.

Representative Deskins said, after returning from Washington where he conferred with Richard W. Krimm, an administrator of the National Flood Insurance Program, that the cost of maximum flood insurance coverage may double in this area within the next few years.

That apparently would come when the counties and towns of the area move from the "emergency" phase, where they are now, to the "regular phase" which will be required later.

The history of flood insurance is that it is enmeshed in a prolixity of regulations and verbiage that is difficult to understand. It is not clear if any increase in rates is intended. It may be that the insurance will cost more only because the amount of coverage can be doubled when the "regular" phase becomes effective.

Under the existing emergency program coverage is limited to $35,000 for a home and $10,000 for its contents; $100,000 for a business building and the same amount for its contents.

Homeowners are particularly uncomfortable with the limit of $10,000 for home contents. "Why, you can't even refurnish a kitchen of a small house for that," Deskins commented.

Deskins, whose legislative district lies mostly in Pike county but includes some voting precincts in the southern section of this county, admitted he knew nothing about flood insurance and that delving into its ramifications could be an exasperating experience. "You really have to get down in the regulations . . . and then it would take 15 lawyers and 14 accountants to figure out what the language means."

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH Health Educator

The Floyd County Health Department will conduct the following free clinics:

Tomorrow (Thursday) the health department's mobile van will be stationed at the Garrett Elementary School where a glaucoma clinic will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Being screened for Glaucoma is very important since it can detect this disease that can painlessly and silently cause blindness. It is recommended that all persons age 35 and older have a glaucoma check-up every two years.

An outpost clinic will be conducted at the Beaver Valley Clinic at Martin, May 1, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The community health nurse will be offering the following medical services: Immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, blood pressures, and pap smears. All persons in the Martin area are urged to take advantage of these services.

U.S. Shoe Plant Reopens

The Prestonsburg Shoe Company (US Shoe) has reopened its plant doors here after an early January closing that was feared to be final.

Two departments employing 95 are at work at the plant, cutting and fitting parts which are trucked to the company's Maysville plant for completion.

Roy Cardwell, temporary manager came out of retirement for the present operation here, said reopening of the plant has been termed "temporary," but added that "we're hoping it's permanent."

Tom Crabtree, former plant manager who still resides here, divides his time between the Prestonsburg plant and the company factory at Vevay, Indiana.

When in full production the Prestonsburg Shoe Company employed 335 workers, mostly women.

Only last week Congressman Carl D. Perkins announced that the U.S. Department of Labor will make trade allowance assistance available to those laid off at the plant here after last Oct. 29.

They will be eligible for about 70 percent of their average pay per week for a period of 52 weeks; will be given special assistance in finding new jobs; will receive free training, also transportation help if they train a distance away from home. An allowance will be paid them for transportation while looking for work, and relocation help will be available if they have to move.

IN APPRECIATION

We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere gratitude to all those who by gifts of food, flowers or other acts of kindness, showed their sympathy during the passing of our loved one, Sallie Smith. We wish to especially thank the doctors, nurses and staff of the Mountain Manor Nursing Home for the fine care they rendered, the ministers and church singers for their kind words and songs, and to the Floyd Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. Miss Burkett-Mr. Daugherty To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. David Haynes Burkett, of Chula, Ga., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara Gail Burkett, to Mr. Larry Douglas Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Raymond Daugherty, of Grethel.

Miss Burkett is a graduate of Tiftarea Academy and attended Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College in Tifton, Georgia. Mr. Daugherty is a graduate of McDowell High School and also attended Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College. Miss Burkett is the granddaughter of Mrs. Zenobia O. Powell, of Sumner, Ga., and the late C. W. Powell, and of Mrs. Frances K. Hobby, of Sylvester, Ga., and the late C. L. Burkett. Mr. Daugherty is the grandson of Mrs. Keith Yaus, of Jerusalem, O., and the late Raymond Daugherty, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Madison Jones, of Grethel. The wedding will take place at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 1, at the First Baptist Church of Tifton, Georgia.

Little League
Notes

Prestonsburg Little League coaches' and officers met last Thursday at the courthouse. The meeting was chaired by the president, Paul P. Hughes, and was attended by other officers, David H. DeRossett and Glen Copley, with eight coaches present. The subject of badly needed operating funds was given priority. The first money-making project of the league will be held to coincide with the May Day festivities here.

Mayor Harold Cooley has declared Saturday, May 4 Little League Day in Prestonsburg. Little League team members will be on the streets in uniform on that day to accept donations from all citizens.

Also discussed was League boundaries. Little League headquarters has said that specific boundaries exist and no youngster from one league may play in another; therefore, any player residing in the Allen-Harold boundaries can't play in the Prestonsburg Little League. This ruling came in response to questions from parents in the Dwale area.

It was also decided that no team member will be allowed to change teams unless its for transportation reasons, and that youngsters moving up to regular Little League from the farm system, from Beginners farm league to Advanced farm league, and new players signing up will be allotted to the various teams by the lottery system.

Drawings will be Thursday April 27 at the courthouse. All coaches are urged to attend. If coaches aren't present, the draw for their teams will be by the secretary-treasurer.

HOSPITAL ADMISSIONS

Admitted to the Highlands Regional Hospital last week were Hazel Adams, Roma Barnes, Betty Ann Calhoun, Brenda Collins, Gorman Collins, Minnie Endicott, Bobby Hackworth, Loretta Hackworth, Jonah Hall, Donald Hatfield, Deloris Hicks, Ellen Jarrell, Kermit Joseph, Connie Kelly, Luki Korowski, Tom Henry Music, Roy Reid, Nell Stone, Michael Spradlin, Martha Vaughn, Gertrude Wallen, Otis Wallen and Josephine Wells, all of Prestonsburg; Worley Boyd and Wanda Elste, Endicott; Virginia Daniels and Dorothy Stover, Auxier; Grover Deskins, Dwale; Eunice Johnson, Banner; Earnestine Sammons, Martin, and Vernie Prater, Water Gap.

Rural Child Care News

The Rural Child Care Centers at Dwale and Drift have been very busy the month of April. A main activity has been nature hikes. The children have been studying the outdoors and observing the trees and flowers as they "come back to life" after resting for the winter. The children at Dwale have planted potatoes, radishes, lettuce, and onions in their garden. They are watching the growth and plan to eat the results before school lets out for the summer.

Graduation services are being planned at both centers. Drift will graduate twenty-seven on May 25 in an outdoor ceremony, if the weather permits. Dwale will graduate twenty, but a time has not been set for their ceremony. The mothers are making new caps and gowns for the children to wear.

The Drift center had two visitors from Washington, D.C. on April 19. Chris Stunkard and Lora Sullivan, from the office of Applied Science and Management, visited the center and observed the children with speech problems.

Mrs. Pamela Stumbo, of Martin has been hired as an emergency senior teacher at the Dwale center to replace Carol Wallen, who recently resigned. Mrs. Sue Johns, a teacher at Drift, has been granted a maternity leave.

The Dwale parents wish to thank everyone who bought a ticket on their handmade quilt. Mrs. Shirley Davis, of Dwale, was the lucky winner. The winning ticket was drawn by Tonya Goble, three-year-old daughter of Bonnie and Rick Goble.

The Drift parents are having a rummage sale across the street from the McDowell hospital this week. The public is urged to come out and support this event. The money will be used to pay for the children's pictures in the Floyd county annual and to buy the graduates a small gift.

A County Policy Council meeting will be held Wednesday, April 26 at 10 a.m. at the Drift center. Mrs. Mary Davis will show a movie of the Dwale Easter egg hunt at the meeting. All parents are urged to attend this meeting.

ATTEND HONOLULU CONVENTION

The Kentucky Automobile Dealer's Convention was held April 11-18 in Honolulu, Hawaii. Attending from here were Mrs. Betty Porter, representing Porter Chrysler Products, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hughes, representatives of Art's Auto Sales. Among the convention speakers were Ronald Reagan, former California governor, and Abigail Van Buren ("Dear Abby").

ATTEND BANQUET

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Sammons attended the Sigma Sigma Sigma Founders Day banquet Saturday at Morehead State University with their daughter, Rose Sharon, who is a member of the sorority.

most of Third Street. It would be more interesting if they had installed a device to count the teeth lost when cars take the big jolt at unjudicious speed.

This week, I am informed, is National Secretaries Week. I have never been able to afford one of these angels who reportedly attend to so many irksome details for their employers. But I have a gal who cleans this desk, occasionally, to my consternation, checks me out to see if I have a tie of the wrong color, or any tie at all, and so on. The week, then, might be a good time to buy the wife some flowers.

And now for the report I make twice annually. I do not draw on my own knowledge but depend on Clifford Wright to keep me from getting a week or so ahead of the calendar, as, I am reminded sometimes, I once did.

when it was fired Gearheart fired the rifle.

The defendant testified to his emotional state, relating it to the fact that he witnessed the fatal shooting of his father when he was a small boy.

James Harmon, a former Kentucky state trooper, and State Detective DeBoard testified that they test fired the rifle used in the shooting, that it was seven inches off-target and that if Gearheart had taken "dead aim" with it his bullet would not have hit Conley.

Conley was employed at a mine during the strike. Gearheart was a union member. The shot fired from the truck as Conley drove away went wild. Conley died almost instantly from a rifle shot in his head.

The trial Monday of Gary Castle on robbery and assault counts was interrupted Monday afternoon by the illness of Circuit Judge Hollie Conley but was resumed Tuesday.

Castle is accused of robbing the TCT Truck Stop, near here, in January, 1977 of approximately $240 and of shooting the service station attendant, Cleatis Boyd, in the neck and shoulder.

Commonwealth testimony heard Monday said that Castle went to the service station late at night and bought gasoline. After paying Boyd, he walked out the door, turned and fired, witnesses said. Shortly afterward, Trooper Stevens stopped him and a search of his car uncovered a .357 Magnum pistol, a .38-caliber revolver and two bottles of pills. While the search was under way the trooper received news by radio of the robbery.

Defense testimony heard Monday made no denial of the charge but was mainly based on defendant's mental condition. Castle testified that he had no recollection of the incident, that he had been drinking and taking drugs for pain resulting from a back injury. He also said he spent two years in Vietnam and had never since been as he was prior to service there.

Dr. Kim Larrimore, of the Veterans Administration, Lexington, testified that, according to Castle's family history, he was born with the umbilical cord around his neck, and that as his mother was attended only by two midwives suffered loss of oxygen. He said this history also recorded a head injury suffered in a fall, and that he was of the opinion that the defendant was incapable of distinguishing right from wrong.

The murder trial of Randy Hall, accused of the slaying of his sister-in-law on Mud Creek, is scheduled to begin next Tuesday. The trial of Forrest Moore, charged with reckless homicide in the death of a Banner youth, was continued to the September term. Trial of James Lee Hall on a theft charge was docketed for Tuesday, this week, and that of Terry Rowe, charged with reckless homicide, for tomorrow (Thursday). Trials of Ronnie Hall on a burglary count and Gary Thornsberry for traffic in a controlled substance are marked for next Monday.

Males More Deadly than Females As Drivers, Fatality Report Says

Traffic fatalities in Kentucky last year claimed 958 lives, an increase of 9.6 percent over 1976, and injured another 43,957 persons, according to information released by the Kentucky Department of transportation (KYDOT).

A total of 147,647 accidents was reported by Kentucky law enforcement agencies, state and local, during 1977, an increase of 7,262 over the previous year.

The report is only the second of its kind to be compiled in Kentucky reflecting all accidents, fatal and non-fatal, reported in the state. Prior to 1975, local law enforcement agencies were not required to report non-fatal accidents to Frankfort.

Kentucky State Police compile the report and make it available to KYDOT's Office of Highway Safety Programs (OHSP). The data is used by OHSP to assist state and local agencies develop various traffic enforcement, highway safety engineering and educational programs and obtain the necessary federal funding to support them.

During the past fiscal year, OHSP approved federally-funded traffic safety grants to state and local agencies amounting to more than $1.7 million.

Additional information contained in the 1977 report revealed that the worst time to be on the highway last year was at 6 p.m. on Saturdays when 15 fatalities and a total of 1,322 accidents were reported. In contrast, midnight Monday was the safest travel time.

Males between the ages of 25-34 led the list for the most accidents—55,960, including 282 fatal accidents.

Males were involved in more than twice as many accidents as females, according to the report.

Walking on the roadway contributed to 44 of the 115 pedestrian fatalities reported, and 179 children between the ages of five and nine were injured while crossing the street, at places other than intersections.

Fifteen bicycling deaths were also reported. Bikers injured from being struck by a motor vehicle totaled 625.

Although most two-vehicle accidents involved one parked vehicle, the head-on collision caused the most fatalities. Rear-end collisions led to the most injuries.

Failure to yield right-of-way was the biggest single cause of all accidents, but speed and alcohol was involved in the largest number of fatalities.

In accidents where mechanical failure was identified as the cause, tire failures led the list, with defective brakes a close second.

Unlikely LETTERS By Williams

Letters to the Editor

Fears Another Tragedy

In The Times, March 8, 1978, I read, "Senate Marks 1958 Tragedy" and I felt such sadness.

I was a young girl at that time and never dreamed some day I would have children and would understand in a small way how the families of these children felt.

Now that I have learned the condition of McDowell High School, I feel great fear for the lives of my son and all other children having to attend this school.

The building has been condemned for years. Last summer made 20 years the building has been held together by cables—two upstairs—two downstairs. What happens if the cable breaks?

I pray to God no children will be in the building. Life is too precious to gamble with. Parents, let's protest! McDowell was supposed to have gotten a new school, years ago. Let's don't let our officials play politics with our children's lives.

Will we read headlines?—"Another Tragedy in Floyd County. High School Building Collapsed." Your child may be listed among the dead.

Let's all pull together and get a safe building for our children.

MRS. DOUG BAILEY
Box 206, McDowell, Ky.

(Supt. of Schools—E. P. Grigsby, Jr. says McDowell High School and all other schools in the county have had stringent inspections, particularly so since the tragedy of the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire, and that the building passed the fire marshal's inspection. Besides, he said, a state Division of Buildings and Grounds team inspected the building two years ago, and no mention of structural weakness was made, then or since. An old building on the campus was condemned, but it has since been torn down and replaced with a new addition, and its site is now occupied by the new gym and lunchroom. The superintendent said the school has had renovation work which includes the auditorium and entrance, with new roof and doors.—Ed.)

W'wright Senior Center

Dedication Set April 30

The Senior Citizens Center at Wheelwright will have its dedication ceremony Sunday, April 30, at 3 p.m. Speakers will be Sister Jeannette Tenbarge, and Bob Meyer, Title VII director. Refreshments will be served after the ceremony, and the public is invited to attend.

The Senior Citizens have scheduled a bake sale and bazaar on Saturday April 22, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., in front of the theater at Bypro.

The Center is open to anyone 60 years of age or over, and games, books and crafts are available as well as hot meals. Crafts taught in the past weeks are macrame, burlap wall hangings, yarn pictures, art foam butterflies and peacocks, and craft stick baskets. Crafts scheduled to be taught in the near future include basket weaving, Ojo de Dios, and "holy lanterns". All Senior Citizens in the Wheelwright area are urged to attend. Meet your friends, have a good time, and learn a new skill.

Picture Tells the Story

I understand they are starting to clean up Floyd county's garbage. I can stand in my kitchen, look out the window and see this dump (see picture). I pay $1 every Tuesday for my garbage to be hauled away, but cars go by my home and dump this garbage in sight of my home. This dump is a health hazard. The rats are coming to my home and the mosquitos are bad. You can see this dump for yourself from the highway if you want to, and I am going to have this garbage stopped. Some pay, some not. Why should you try cleaning up the county? I want to see it all cleaned up.

'Ifs' and 'Howevers' Needed

Your editorial on "Sex Education" in the last issue was superb.

On TV this is unquestionably "the year of sex". The writers or producers of the programs appear to be determined to convert the public to their own way of thinking and (or) doing; or they are unwilling to accept any responsibility for upholding moral standards or proper behavior. From the degree to which sex saturates the air waves and from the tenor of the programs, they would strip it completely of any sacred, moral or private characteristics.

It is true that ignorance can create problems, physical and psychological. But it is also true that facts without the "ifs" and "howevers" of responsibility, without all the facts necessary to present the truth, may create more problems than they solve.

The responsibility for proper and adequate sex education must lie primarily with three institutions, the school, the home and the church. Neither can do it adequately alone. The media—entertainment and otherwise—can have great impact in any area. The responsibility of the media to act in the best interests of society should be equal to the magnitude of its influence.

Little Miss Floyd County Winners

Winners in each of three categories were chosen in the Little Miss Floyd County Pageant held at the Betsy Layne School auditorium Saturday evening, April 15. Tiny Miss Floyd County, Lisa Renae Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hall, of Grethel, is in picture at left with her escort, Dougie Marcum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Marcum, of Allen. Little Miss Floyd County, Tracy Lynn Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Hall, of Hi Hat, is pictured in center, and Pre-Teen Miss Floyd County, Melissa Ann Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reynolds, Jr., of Allen, is in picture at right. First place winners were each presented a tiara, trophy, flowers, and gift certificate from local stores. The pageant is sponsored annually by the Allen Woman's Club.

Garrett Residence Is Damaged by Fire

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgel Hicks at Garrett was severely damaged by fire recently. The upper floor of the two-story structure was said to be a total loss while the first floor was damaged by smoke and water. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, who were visiting her sister, Mrs. Dora Combs, in Whitesburg at the time of the blaze expressed appreciation to Norman Bentley, Arlen Duff and all who helped the Wayland Fire Department in controlling the fire, and Doug Harvey who discovered and reported it.

Robinson, Speaker On Judicial System

County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson, was the speaker at a recent meeting of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club on the subject, "The New Judicial System." Club members meeting at the home of Mrs. Jack Stevens, Garrett, bombarded Mr. Robinson with questions, not only pertaining to the new judicial system but also to local government, with a wide range of topics being discussed.

Mr. Robinson advised that one of the changes brought about by the system is that it completely does away with city government. He stressed that the system has its good points and its bad points, and that lots of work is yet to be done on it before it can work smoothly.

Mrs. Don Hughes was program leader, with the subject, "Public Affairs." Prior to the program the Pledge to the Flag was given and the Club Collect read by Mrs. S. M. Martin, with devotions by Mrs. J. T. Spillman.

Mrs. Marie Mullins announced that Troy Bragg, of Garrett, a student at Allen Central High School, who represented the club in the recent district contests sponsored by the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, won second place in drawing and third place in crafts.

It was decided to sponsor Samantha Combs, a student at Garrett Elementary, in the Junior Miss contest this spring.

It was announced by the club president, Mrs. Bobby Jo Castle, that a total of 300 cupcakes had been baked by the club members and sent to the Golden Year's Rest Home recently.

A Nominating committee, composed of Mrs. S. M. Martin, chairman, Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Mrs. James A. Duff, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, and Mrs. John Reed, was elected to pick candidates for the new club year.

A unanimous decision Mrs. J. C. Wells was re-elected to serve another term as trustee of the club.

Those present were Mrs. Bobby Jo Castle, Mrs. Stanley Bamer, Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Mrs. Lula Coburn, Mrs. James A. Duff, Mrs. Don Hughes, Mrs. James E. Martin, Mrs. Marie Mullins, Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. Ronnie Patton, Mrs. Jack Stevens, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. Otto Martin, and the speaker, Mr. Robinson.

What's Better Than Money In The Bank?

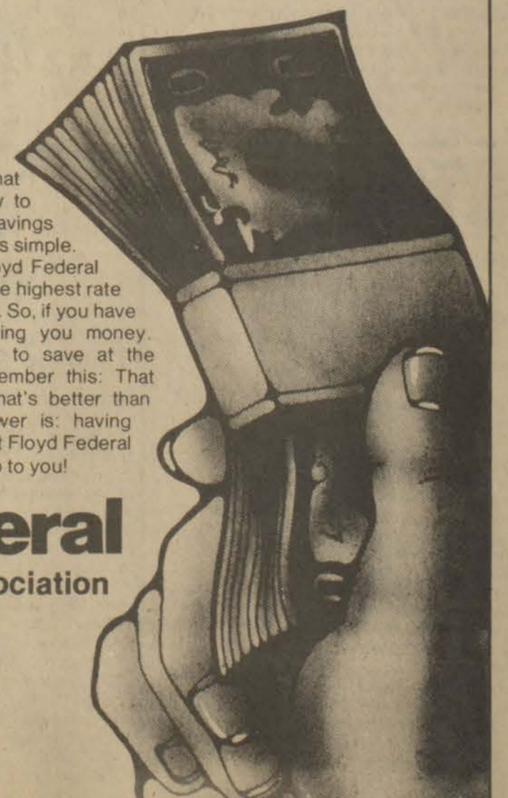

Well, when you consider that no bank is permitted by law to pay you as much interest on savings as Floyd Federal can, the answer is simple. A Passbook Savings Account at Floyd Federal in Prestonsburg pays 5 1/4% interest. The highest rate any bank is allowed to pay you is only 5%. So, if you have a savings account at a bank, it's costing you money. While you may feel that it's convenient to save at the same place you do your checking, remember this: That so-called "convenience" is expensive. What's better than having money in the bank? The answer is: having money in a Passbook Savings Account at Floyd Federal in Prestonsburg. The choice is up to you!

Life of the Party Turned Killer

By A. K. WEBB

Drinking has been tough for Can Collins.

"I was the life of parties with a few drinks, and a killer when I was drunk," reflects the Layne House manager, who supervises the alcohol detoxification facility located in Prestonsburg.

"Everyone kept telling me I had a drinking problem but I wouldn't believe it until the second attempt at killing someone while being intoxicated—that convinced me!"

Tagged for his persistence, Collins said that after deciding to quit drinking six and a half years ago, that was it. He hasn't had any since.

"I'm stubborn," admits Collins. "When I want to do something, I do it."

Shyness encouraged his drinking; alcohol made him appear friendlier and well-liked—or so he thought. "I've always hated the taste of liquor and at first even forced myself into drinking because I liked the feeling. Then it became an obsession, although the flavor was never pleasing," he said.

Remembering a drinking episode, Collins recalled "leaving home, with Mom preaching 'don't get drunk', and within 30 minutes returning to Wheelwright, stoned into oblivion, with the entire right side of my car smashed and torn off," frowned Collins, with a shake of his head. He still doesn't know what happened.

In the rapid progression of his disease, sober days became a rarity with everyday drinking developing during military service.

"I was stationed in North Dakota without a leave for 13 months, lonely and bored, so regular trips to the bar were made; then on to Japan for two years where I really hit the bottle hard," said Collins.

His sobriety was three years going when the detox unit was established, and Collins began his career working with problem drinkers at Layne House, which serves as an entry point into treatment by reaching persons at crucial moments.

"We provide sobering up assistance to any Floyd countian on a 24-hour daily basis. The Layne House provides an individual with the chance to gain sobriety in a relaxing, supportive atmosphere that is helpful in motivating the desire for change."

"The Layne House experience is not an end in itself, but rather a beginning. Though people don't necessarily come here with the idea of pursuing treatment, statistics show that almost half of our clients leave the facility entering treatment, and the other consumers show a greater awareness of the scope of their problems and begin to recognize treatment possibilities if they desire help later," explained Collins.

"If you want to refer someone to the Layne House, call or bring the person in, contact us at 1-800-422-1060, or write Alcohol, Prestonsburg," concluded Collins.

QUESTION BOX

The Question Box answers from the Bible to questions from readers. By Pastor Forrest Howe, M Div., Box 462, Allen, Ky.

QUESTION: Would you explain the apostle Paul's statement: "Ye are not under the law, but under grace" (Romans 6:14). Doesn't that pretty well remove the Ten Commandments from the Christian?

Seventh-day Adventist Church of Prestonsburg.

ANSWER:

In this setting, the apostle Paul is addressing the converted Christian, encouraging him not to let sin reign in his life (verse 12), that is, control him. "For," said he, "sin shall not have dominion over you? for ye are not under the law, but under grace." In the context of the epistle the citation may be understood in either of two senses:

1. You (the converted Christian) are not under the LAW AS A METHOD OF SALVATION—that is, salvation by works of law (See Romans 3:20)—but you are under GRACE AS A METHOD OF SALVATION—that is, salvation by faith in Christ (see Romans 3:21-28).

2. In view of the apostle's discussion in chapters 6-8, it may also mean, "You are not under the CONDEMNATION OF THE LAW, but you are under THE FORGIVENESS OF GRACE." This meaning is stressed in Romans 8:1: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus."

Neither perspective abolishes the moral law of the Ten Commandments or renders it useless. The apostle is quite clear that the Decalogue is holy, just, and good; that it functions as the Christian's guide to inform him of the will of his Father; that it convicts him of sin when he moves out of the path of rectitude (Romans 7:7,12).

In God's covenant relationship with each believer, it is His intent to write His Law, as it were, upon the heart (Hebrews 10:16). That is, God intends to so change and transform the mind of the believer that he will delight to obey God's will as expressed in the Ten Commandments. The Christian's obedience to God's law, his good works resulting from loving God supremely and his neighbor as himself, in no way earns his salvation. His loving obedience results as a natural fruit of his salvation.

The First National Bank, Prestonsburg, Kentucky . . . Plf.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

George L. Shannon, Vivian C. Shannon, George L. Shannon and Associates, Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of Revenue, and Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of Economic Security, Division of Unemployment Insurance (now Department for Human Resources, Division of Unemployment Insurance) . . . Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the April 21 term, 1977 and by Supplemental Judgment of April 4, 1978 in the above styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the location of the property on the west side of the Old Mayo Trail in South Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 29 day of April, 1978 at 10 o'clock a.m. same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Floyd County, Kentucky, being the same land conveyed George L. Shannon et al by Anna B. Allen, widow, on September 11, 1963, recorded in Deed Book 183, page 274 and being the same property conveyed to George L. Shannon by Clifford B. Latta and Betty P. Latta, his wife, by deed dated the 16th day of November, 1965, and duly recorded in Deed Book 189, page 154, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, and which is more particularly described as follows, viz:

Beginning at a stake and corner common with the line of Mason Moore and R-W line of the Kentucky Department of Highways, thence running as follows: N 20 degrees 30' E 651.03' to a stake and corner; S 53 degrees 07' E 126.81' to a stake; S 26 degrees 57' E 165.58' to a stake; S 33 degrees 07' E 62.46' to a stake; S 72 degrees 02' E 120.58' to a stake; S 38 degrees 03' E 145.28' to a stake; S 40 degrees 19' E 58.44' to a stake; S 65 degrees 07' 30" E 226.07' to a stake; S 35 degrees 19' 30" E 218.59' to a stake; S 32 degrees 59' 30" E 124.96' to a stake; S 31 degrees 45' E 155.18' to a stake; S 23 degrees 28' E 71.14' to a stake; S 12 degrees 54' 30" E 131.76' to a stake; S 03 degrees 36' E 140.84' to a stake; S 04 degrees 07' 30" E 119.36' to a stake; S 16 degrees 00' W 10.0' to a stake; S 39 degrees 29' 30" W 8.20' to a large sycamore in the R-W line of the Kentucky Department of Highways; thence running with the Highway R-W line 1430' to the beginning, containing 15.45 acres.

There is excluded from and not included in the above mortgaged description, that certain tract or parcel of land conveyed by George L. Shannon, et. us. to Donald L. Horn, by deed dated August 2, 1969, and recorded in Deed Book 200, page 248, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, to which reference is made for a more particular description of said exclusion.

Subsequent to the judgment of April 21, 1977 this tract of land has been surveyed and platted into ten lots, all lots fronting on the right of way line of the old Mayo Trail, now Kentucky Highway No. 1428 which forms the southwesterly boundary of the entire tract, Lot 1 beginning at the beginning corner of this tract and running in a southeasterly direction with the right of way line of the State Highway a distance of 174.0' to a stake, and thence a straight line S 43 degrees 30' W a distance of 512' to the end of the fourth call of the tract as described and thence with the back line of the tract as described, to a stake at the extreme northern point of the land and thence in a direction of the reversed bearing N 20 degrees 30' W a distance of 651.03' to the point of beginning. The remaining lots Nos. 2 and 3 are rectangular in shape with their westerly and easterly boundaries, all having the same direction of S 43 degrees 30' W except that lot 10 for its easterly boundary has the direction S 39 degrees 13' W; all lots have as their southwesterly boundary the right of way line of the highway and have as their northwesterly boundary the back line of the tract as described. The width of the lots fronting on the highway of Lots 2-10 are respectively: 100.0'; 102.0'; 110.0'; 110.0'; 112.0'; 100.0'; 103.0'; 116.0'; 113.0'; the depth of the lots on their north-easterly boundaries are respectively, as follows: 543.0'; 516.0'; 482.0'; 500.0'; 516.0'; 478.0'; 435.0'; 385.0'; and it is noted at this time that these distances mentioned in the descriptions of these lots are all approximate.

These lots are subject to an easement for a road or street having a width of 50' and extending from the southeasterly boundary of Lot 1 through the easterly boundary of Lot 10 adjacent to the highway right of way line so as to provide a street running down the front of each lot and it is noted that this easement is for the joint use and benefit of these 10 lots, only.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the sum of $5,600.00 with interest thereon at 7 percent annually from August 10, 1975 until paid, and in the sum of $8,100.00 with interest thereon at 7 percent annually from November 24, 1975, the additional sum of $13,000.00 with interest thereon at 7 percent annually from the 30th day of August, 1975 and the sum of $11,410.00 with interest thereon at 8 1/2 percent annually from April 10, 1975 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 7 day of April, 1978.

Mark Twain Walks
Clark School Stage

Members of the Jenny Wiley Reading Council were regaled at their April 11 meeting at Clark Elementary School with the "appearance" of the late, great American author and humorist, "Mark Twain."

Parents, children and teachers were delighted with his speech and traveled back through the years to enjoy the dry wit of one of America's most famous authors.

Actually, the speaker was Dr. Gene Rich, of Bowling Green, Ky., doing his portrayal of "Mark Twain." Dr. Rich is at present the coordinator of reading education at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green. He earned his degrees in secondary education with majors in reading, English, speech, drama and administration from Oklahoma A&M Junior College and the University of Arkansas. His years as an educator have taken him from Bowling Green, where he was born, to Kansas, to Arkansas, to Tennessee, and back to Bowling Green.

While in Eastern Kentucky, Dr. Rich spent a few days at Jenny Wiley State Park. Mrs. Rich and their two daughters were traveling with him.

Phil Dieckhoff, Elizabethtown, Ky., representative of the Tarmac Publishing Co., which sponsors Dr. Rich in his "Mark Twain" characterizations, spoke briefly. Larry Jervis, reading council president, presided.

Annual election of officers will be held at the May 9 Council meeting at the Martin Elementary School. A pot-luck supper will be served.

Improvement
Plan at Clark
Wins PTA OK

The Clark School PTA at its April 18 meeting unanimously approved the site development plans prepared and presented by senior landscape architecture students from The University of Kentucky.

The plans include play areas for young and older children; an obstacle course for use in physical education and play; a new parking and bus loading area; basketball and volley ball courts; an environmental studies area including an outdoor classroom and nature trail with overlooks on the hillside behind the school and along the creek; a greenhouse; a track around the football field; bleachers for football and baseball; a utility building for storing athletic equipment, and restrooms. The proposal includes recommendations for tree plantings throughout, which serve as barriers and dividers between areas and enhance the overall appearance of the site.

The proposed plans seek to meet the needs of the school for adequate athletic and play areas as well as providing students the opportunity to explore and learn in the natural surroundings of the school. The plans also provide for community needs for recreational and park facilities in after-school hours and on weekends. Efforts to economize have been made wherever possible. For example, it is suggested that part of the bleachers and the outdoor classroom be made from discarded railroad ties, which are placed into the hillsides. The project also depends on continued use of volunteers and help from the county with site preparation. The overall development costs have been estimated at $55-$60,000. So far the PTA has raised approximately $4,500 from donations and sponsored events such as horseshows, and it hopes for matching funds from the Board of Education. The plans have also been submitted to the Economic Aid Board for funding from severance tax monies.

P'burg Community Chorus
To Offer Spring Concert;
'Pops' Concert Scheduled

Two music events are scheduled at Prestonsburg Community College.

The Prestonsburg Community Chorus will present its annual spring concert Monday, May 1, at 8 p.m., in Pike Auditorium at the college under the direction of Gus M. Kalos. The chorus will present a program of secular and popular music. The program will include music by Cole Porter and Rodgers & Hammerstein.

The Prestonsburg Community College Music Department will present an all "Pops" concert Sunday, April 30, at 3 p.m., also in Pike Auditorium. Performing will be the college jazz ensemble and a vocal ensemble. The jazz group is patterned after the big bands of the 40's and 50's, and will be playing numbers by Count Basie, Stan Kenton, Woody Herman, Maynard Ferguson, Burt Bacharach and the Carpenters.

The general public is invited to attend both presentations.

Within professional and technical occupations, there is expected to be strong demand for workers to develop and utilize computer resources, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook.

Cousteau (on KTV) Searches For the Lost City of Atlantis

"There occurred violent floods and earthquakes and in a single day and night of destruction, all the warlike men in a body sank into the earth, and the island of Atlantis in like manner disappeared into the depths of the sea."—Plato

Ever since Plato wrote about the lost civilization of Atlantis in 355 B.C., the mystery surrounding its disappearance has captured the imagination of men. Captain Jacques Cousteau and his son Philippe have now entered the search for the elusive island and their quest is the subject of a two-part special, "Calypso's Search For Atlantis."

Airing Monday and Tuesday, May 1 and 2 at 8:00 p.m. (ET), 7:00 p.m. (CT) and back-to-back on Saturday, May 6 beginning at 7:00 p.m. (ET), 6:00 p.m. (CT) on KET, the programs follow the Cousteau's systematic investigation of the Atlantis legend. Philippe journeys to sites which have previously been associated with the story such as Easter Island, Coco Island and Bimini. Jacques Cousteau centers his efforts in the Aegean Sea off the coast of Greece.

The Minoan civilization flourished on the islands in the Aegean until the fifteenth century B.C., when it went into a sudden and dramatic decline. It is this fact, plus the evidence of interesting natural phenomena which coincided with the demise of the culture, that prompted Cousteau and his crew to begin searching in the waters of Crete and smaller islands for the remnants of the Minoans—and possibly the lost civilization of Atlantis.

On an island near Crete called Dia, the Calypso's crew begins one of the most extensive underwater excavations ever attempted. After peeling away many layers of successive strata divers find artifacts that clearly belong to the Minoan epoch.

On the nearby island of Pseria Cousteau and his crew find immense underwater deposits of buried artifacts—again of the Minoan culture. After exploring the island, Cousteau and archeologists from the Greek government decide that the island civilization was once destroyed by a tremendous tidal wave.

On another island of Santorini, approximately 75 miles north of Crete, Cousteau talks with the world's foremost volcanologist, Haroun Tazieff, about a volcanic explosion that took place there about 1450 B.C. According to Tazieff, the eruption that took place at the time might have been the largest explosion of any kind that the world has ever known.

Were the people of Atlantis Minoans? Did they live on Pseria, which was destroyed by a tidal wave, or was the day and night of destruction that Plato talked about really a volcanic eruption? Cousteau concludes that there are powerful arguments that any of the Aegean islands could have been Atlantis, but now, as always, the disappearance of Atlantis is still a mystery.

Says Stiffer Penalties Needed For Prostitution of Children

While law enforcement officers still cling to the notion that prostitution is a victimless crime, the fact is that thousands of young children—boys and girls—are being brutalized and traumatized at the hands of their paying customers and their pimps, according to an article by Nathan M. Adams in the May Reader's Digest.

"Last December in Boston, police broke up a child molestation-prostitution ring that trafficked in young boys, some only nine years old," Adams writes. "Los Angeles police... say there are more than 3000 juveniles under 14 being sexually exploited in that city alone."

Former Washington, D.C., police chief Maurice Cullinane says: "Time after time, I have asked (judges and prosecutors) to increase fines and award jail time, but they consider dealing with prostitution a nuisance. Well, they don't live in affected neighborhoods. It's not their daughter who is on the street. They don't see how these girls are scarred, physically and emotionally. Believe me, there's nothing 'victimless' about prostitution."

The prostitutes' ranks are swollen every year by runaways. A Washington study found that seven out of ten runaway girls become involved in some form of prostitution. Afraid, alone and usually broke, the girls are picked up by pimps, who shortly turn them out on the street. A pimp with a large stable of girls can earn up to $1 million a year—of that, the girls see practically nothing.

Young male prostitutes can bring in even more. "In Los Angeles, investigator Lloyd H. Martin, head of the police department's Sexually Exploited Child Unit, says that some under-age male prostitutes earn up to $1000 per day for their pimps," Adams writes.

Organized crime, quick to recognize a fast profit, has entered into ancillary services: "trick pads" and "tourist homes." Massage parlors exist in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Atlanta and New York, among other cities.

Prostitution can be curbed, the author believes, provided Congress, state and local governments take certain forceful steps. Among them: making it easier to convict pimps and panderers and increasing penalties for pimping. City governments can invoke and enforce building-code and health-code laws to close down establishments that cater to the prostitution trade. And runaways must be shown that there are alternatives to moving in with a pimp—youth shelters must be made available and their services publicized.

Hazard Girl's Essay Second in Contest

Kay Wood, of Mason county, has won first prize in a high school feature writing contest and students from Perry and Kenton counties have earned second and third prizes.

The Kentucky Press Women and the state Department of Public Information sponsored the event. Announcement of the winners was made by contest chairwoman Thelma Taylor, of Cynthiana.

Miss Wood's winning entry was "Burlley Makes Cents," a feature article which appeared in the Mason county high school paper, "The Royal Pinnacle." She will be awarded a $50 bond and will represent the state in national competition at San Antonio in June.

Suzanne Johnson, of Hazard High School, will receive a $25 bond for second place and Maribeth and Terri Bertalsman, of Notre Dame Academy, Park Hills, will share a $10 cash prize for third place.

"BONDING"—the practice of bringing the newborn and mother together immediately after birth—has won the approval of the American Medical Association, reports the May Reader's Digest. Originally dismissed as a childbearing fad, bonding is now recognized as being very important to the healthy development of the infant.

McKinney will compete in the State Skill Olympics at Laurel County Vocational School in London. James Chapman, of Louisa, was second-place winner, and Robert Sizemore, of Martin, placed third. The winners of the State Skill Olympics will compete in the National Skill Olympics held in Birmingham, Alabama in June. VICA is a national organization of youth boys and girls enrolled in secondary and post secondary vocational technical industrial education.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., April 24—The overall fishing picture across the state's 15 major lakes is now fair, but some "hot spots" have good to excellent angling for black bass, crappie, trout, and even walleye. The lake-by-lake rundown, as compiled by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources:

BARREN: Black bass excellent with some limits on the upper lake on spinner baits and dollies with pork rind trailers and fair to good on the lower lake on artificial nightcrawlers and crank baits off deep rocky points and banks; crappie good and improving at the first riffle on the upper lake and over submerged cover; in tailwaters, trout fair to good, white bass fair; clear to murky, rising slowly, nine feet below summer pool and 60 degrees.

LAUREL: Crappie good around stick ups; black bass good on surface lures and spinner baits in inlets and bays and timbered coves; clear, stable, two feet below power pool and 57 degrees.

DEWEY: Crappie fair to good over submerged cover and creek channel drop-offs; black bass fair still fishing nightcrawlers at run-ins in inlets and bays; clear to murky, rising slowly, four feet below summer pool and 58 degrees.

BUCKHORN: Crappie fair and improving over submerged cover; black bass fair on medium runners off deep mud banks; in tailwaters, trout good with some limits; clear to murky, stable, eight feet below summer pool and 62 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Black bass fair casting nightcrawlers on the upper lake and casting spinner baits and surface lures and jigging minnows on the lower lake in the heads of inlets and bays; crappie fair drifting minnows on the upper lake and jigging minnows on the lower lake over submerged cover; in headwaters, white bass fair on Rockcastle River and slow on Laurel River and Main Cumberland; in tailwaters, sauger and trout fair to good; clear to murky to muddy, rising slowly, eight feet below the timberline and 55 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Black bass fair on crank baits off deep banks; crappie fair around stick ups; in headwaters, white bass slow; clear to murky, stable, eight feet below summer pool and 59 degrees.

NOLIN: Crappie fair over creek channel drop-offs; black bass slow on crank baits off shallow banks; in tailwaters, walleye good to excellent with some limits on dollies and minnows; clear, rising slowly, three feet below summer pool and 60 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Black bass slow to fair on medium runners off points; crappie slow to fair casting do-jigs and still fishing minnows around stick ups; in tailwaters, trout fair; clear to murky, rising slowly, one foot below summer pool and 60 degrees.

FISHTRAP: Crappie in inlets and bays and around stick ups; bluegill slow in inlets and bays around stick ups; in tailwaters, trout fair; clear (rash in lake), rising slowly, 14 feet below summer pool and 68 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Crappie fair over submerged cover; black bass and walleye slow still and drift fishing big minnows over medium mud banks; clear, stable, 4 1/2 feet below summer pool and 61 degrees.

GREEN: Black bass slow to fair on crank and spinner baits off points and over drop-offs; crappie slow over submerged cover; in headwaters, white bass slow; in tailwaters, trout fair; clear to murky, rising slowly at summer pool and 56 degrees.

KENTUCKY: Crappie slow and improving over submerged cover; black bass slow on crank and spinner baits off points and in inlets and bays; in tailwaters, catfish good; clear to murky, stable, one foot below summer pool and 62 degrees.

BARKLEY: Crappie slow and improving along brush line in inlets and bays and over submerged cover; black bass slow on crank and spinner baits off points and in inlets and bays; in tailwaters, crappie and white bass slow; clear to murky, stable, one foot below summer pool and 62 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Musky slow to fair casting crank and spinner baits off shallow banks; black bass slow to fair on spinner baits and artificial nightcrawlers around stick ups; in tailwaters, crappie slow; clear to murky, rising slowly, 1 1/2 feet below summer pool and 59 degrees.

GRAYSON: Black bass slow on spinner baits over drop-offs crappie slow around stick ups; in tailwaters, trout fair to good; clear to murky, rising slowly, two feet below summer pool and 58 degrees.

Big Sandy ADD Told Wage Rate Bar to Building

The extent to which increased area wage scale guidelines will hinder new construction in this section was the primary topic of discussion at the April 17 meeting of the Big Sandy Area Development District board of directors.

State-established wage scales, which control all construction where state or federal funding is involved, have nearly doubled under new area guidelines and skilled rates have increased by as much as $8.50 per hour in a number of classifications, figures reviewed by the board revealed. According to the guidelines, bidders and contractors must pay the wages set in the state-established scales on state and federally-funded projects, which includes nearly all construction programs for cities and counties.

Pikeville Mayor William Hambley told the board that the higher costs resulting from the increased wage scale would mean a sharp reduction in the size and number of construction projects in the ADD district. In order to stay within available fund limits under the new wage scale, Hambley said, a 100-unit housing project would have to be cut to 70. Citing Pikeville's experience, he said nine of eleven contractors planning to bid on a city high-rise project dropped out after the wage scale requirements were increased. He said a swimming pool for Pikeville, funded and estimated to cost $160,000, was bid under the higher wage guidelines at $195,000.

The board approved a motion by Pike County Judge Wayne T. Rutherford to take "any necessary action" to revise wage scale guidelines to conform more closely with local standards.

The meeting was featured by an unexpected visit from Kentucky Commerce Commissioner Terry McBrayer who spoke to the group about his department's continuing efforts to bring diversified industry to Eastern Kentucky. McBrayer, considered by many to be a front-runner for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, pointed to difficult terrain, lack of suitable sites and transportation problems as hindering the location of industry. McBrayer pointed to tourism as a good bet for the area, calling it "the cleanest and the only smokeless industry." He said the legislature's recent decision to create a special department of tourism was a significant step forward.

In other business at the meeting Judge Rutherford outlined progress on Pike county's coal gasification plant, industrial site and housing project which he said would be "an entire new community" upon completion. Rutherford's request for an allocation of $130,000 in area development funds to acquire an additional 100 acres adjoining the industrial park was deferred for study.

District Court Tries Peace Bond To Curb Floyd Liquor Sales

District court is turning to the peace bond in liquor cases in the hope that it will be a stronger deterrent to bootlegging than a fine or a brief jail term. County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said this week.

For example, when Hershell Hall entered a plea of guilty to possession of intoxicants for the purpose of sale, District Judge Harold Stumbo fined him $20 and suspended his 30-day jail term on the condition that he execute $1,000 peace bond for a five-year period, with the bond in that amount to be forfeited if he again violates the liquor laws. The court insisted on a good bond, and Hall made two attempts to execute bond before the court accepted his surety.

Cisco Neeley was given trial last Thursday on a drunkenness charge, and the jury set his fine at $75 and added 20 more days in jail to the 30 days he was already serving on a charge of escaping custody.

Barry Scott Holly was fined $225 and costs on a first-offense drunk driving charge; Vernon L. Carr was fined $200 for permitting an unauthorized driver to operate his vehicle, and James A. Prater, pleading guilty to indecent exposure, was fined $20 and costs.

The second-degree assault charge against Randy Hall was referred to the grand jury.

VA PERSONNEL answered nearly 23 million telephone inquiries from veterans requesting assistance in 1977, the VA said today.

Floyd County Scout Named Conclave Officer

Teddy Meadows, member of Troop 24, Maytown, and Christopher Smith, a member of Troop 91, Jackson, were elected at the recent sectional conclave of the Order of the Arrow to the positions of vice chief and secretary, respectively.

The Order of the Arrow is a society of Scout honor campers, and the section encompasses Order of the Arrow lodges headquartered in Paducah, Owensboro, Louisville, Lexington, and Pikeville. It will be the responsibility of these two eastern Kentucky Scouts to assist in the organization and conduct of activities which involve Scouts from all parts of Kentucky.

Amends Road Program To Provide Surfacing Of Roads in County

State Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson has approved an amendment to the Rural Secondary Road Program for Floyd County.

The project provides for stone surfacing on 44.9 miles of various county roads. Project costs will be financed out of rural secondary road program money already allocated to the county for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Sound Happenings

By COEY HARRIS

Yeah—eatin' that greasy grit gravy and gizzard greens! I say, has this poor music freak flipped her starved cracker box from ear lobe to ear lobe? Well, what is real is real, and it seems to be occurring in groups. One group of artists in particular have a song about that taste tempting greasy grit gravy and gizzard greens. Who? On Bobby Bare's new album "Bare", Waylon, Willie, Shel Silverstein, and Florence Warner join Bare in singing the "Greasy Grit Gravy" song. The album also contains two other rolls with the flow zanies, namely, "Big Dupree" and "Yard With the Rusty Cars." The sounds come down to earth a little more as Bare mellows it out with "Too Many Nights Alone." Cowboy country would be a good descriptive class for this production—A definitely good catch.

NEWS FLASH!! Willie Nelson's "Stardust" has been released and is now available in your local shops.

Now for some rock 'n roll.

Another solo artist springs from a great group—Randy Bachman from Bachman Turner Overdrive. The album, "Survivor", with all songs written by Bachman tells the story of rising to stardom and then being caught up in the circles of change. The dream begins as a child with a guitar, a phonograph and a desire to be a star in the song, "Just A Kid." A band is formed, grabbing gigs anywhere, and playing music out of their style just to gain a little green ("One Hand Clapping"). These first two songs resemble the early Beach Boys with the high toned background vocals and intermittent deep "bow-wow-wow." The lead voice is echoed slightly as with the early Elvis material. Each effect reflects the time and style at this point in the story.

The band moves up a level from hometown star to flunky front band where they feel the rush ("Lost in the Shuffle"). The music style progresses as the band adapts to current trends and is allowed to move into their own. Success moves them quickly up the professional level with labels, managers, road work and encores. Each member begins to grasp for realities including a stable romantic relationship ("Is the Night Too Cold for Dancing?"). The musical style shifts again to aid the storyteller with soft music, romantic lyrics and the prominent organ solos so familiar to waltzes of the late 60's and early 70's. Progress continues and with stardom in sight, the band's sound is coming together. Competition and pressure increases, and that stable relationship is more heavily depended on ("You Moved Me"). An upbeat in the tempo, a little more heavy guitar, introduction of the synthesized, and a little smile from lady luck makes the break—stardom ("I Am A Star").

The band reaches its peak, burns out, and gives up center stage, but stays in the wing. A comeback, the show of real talent and true musicians, tells them they can "survive". The album has "survivors" in the background such as Burton Cummings, Ian Gardiner, and Tom Scott. The sound is good, the structure is together and solid—pick one up.

The soundtrack to the movie "FM" is currently available locally. Check out this cast: Boston, Jimmy Buffet, Doobie Bros., Eagles, Dan Fogelberg, Foreigner, Billy Joel, Randy Meisner, Steve Miller, Tom Petty & the Heartbreakers, Queen, Linda Ronstadt, Boz Scaggs, Bob Seger, Steely Dan, James Taylor, and Joe Walsh. Get 'em while they're HOT!

For the persona and spirit of Ronnie, Steve, Dean, and Cassie." Such a memorial to Lynyrd Skynyrd appears on 38 Special's new album "Special Delivery." Don Van Zant (Ronnie's brother) is the lead vocalist with a boogie backup band of Don Barnes—electric guitar, acoustic 12 string guitar, and backup vocals, Jeff Carlisi—electric, acoustic and slide guitars, Larry Junstrom—Bass, Steve Brookins—drums, and Jack Grondin—drums. Special help comes from Skynyrd's Billy Powell on two cuts and an Edgar Winter sax arrangement on one. This group could be Lynyrd Skynyrd's child with three major similarities—vocals, instrumentation arrangement, and material written from within the band. This group is not, however, riding into fame on a memory; they have their own style. Check 'em out and watch carefully!

What do you do in the summer when you're tired of softball, have a terrible fear of drowning, and just don't like to raise a racket (tennis, that is)? Well, how about volleyball? Sandy Boyd, a known rock 'n roller and spinner of C & W in Floyd Co., is having a volleyball tournament, Sat., April 29. We need teams, people, to get this thing going. Who knows maybe out of this happening we can create a league. Ever hear of the Olympics? Contact Sandy at 478-9919 for complete info.

That's it for this week. Be cool.

Prepared Childbirth Classes Slated May 1

The Community Service Office of Prestonsburg Community College will begin another class in Prepared Childbirth, conducted by Mrs. Jean Rosenberg. The class will meet on Mondays, beginning May 1, at 7 p.m., and will continue for six consecutive Mondays. The six training sessions for husbands and wives will include techniques of prepared childbirth, conditioning exercises, and discussions on the process of labor and delivery. For more information, contact the Community Service Office, 886-3863, Extension 243.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S famous character—The Little Tramp—came into being in the dressing room of a movie studio in 1934, the May Reader's Digest reveals. Chaplin donned a pair of Fatty Arbuckle's pants, a too-tight jacket and too-small derby. Hughe shoes, a cane and false mustache completed the costume. When he tried a few routines in front of the cameras, the crew doubled up with laughter, and the Tramp became a permanent part of Chaplin's repertoire.

ALC Mt. Dew Competitors Include Nine from Floyd

Nine Alice Lloyd College students from Floyd county were among 38 Alice Lloyd College students who participated in last week's annual Mountain Dew Festival in Prestonsburg.

The Mountain Dew Festival provides an opportunity for students enrolled in 11 two-year colleges throughout Kentucky to compete in a wide variety of intramural events, along with competitions in beauty, art and talent.

Floyd county entrants, and the events in which they competed include:

Jack Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Watkins, of Salyersville, who won a first place trophy in chess. He is a freshman at ALC and a graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

Timothy Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Moore, of Garrett. He also was on ALC's first place chess team, as well as the second place volleyball team, and the bowling team. He is a graduate of Allen Central High School.

Lisa Grigsby, daughter of Mrs. Janice Brown, of Wheelwright participated in bowling and volley ball. She is a freshman and a graduate of McDowell High School.

Kim Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnis Martin, of Eastern, won a third place trophy with a sculpture in the art competition. Miss Martin is an ALC freshman and a graduate of Allen Central High School.

Roy Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah R. Johnson, of Halo, participated in tug-of-war and badminton. He is a freshman and a graduate of Wheelwright High School.

Gary Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Anderson, Jr., of Halo, won second place in horseshoe pitching, and was on the volley ball team. He is an ALC sophomore and a graduate of Wheelwright High School.

Anthony Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Budge Moore, of Garrett, played volleyball and participated in the archery competition. He is an ALC sophomore and a graduate of Wheelwright High School.

Terry Scott, a sophomore and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Scott, of Estill, was on ALC's bowling team. He is a graduate of Allen Central High School.

John M. Hughes, son of Mr. William R. Hughes, of Martin, a graduate of Allen Central High School, was on ALC's tug-of-war team.

Schools entered in the Festival compete for prizes on the basis of total points earned in various events. ALC this year earned 190 points for a fourth place finish.

Competing schools, in addition to ALC, included community colleges in Prestonsburg, Hopkinsville, Ashland, Elizabethtown, Somerset, Madisonville, Maysville, Southeast Community College, Hazard, and the Lexington Technical Institute.

120 Attend Awards Banquet

The annual Conservation Awards banquet held at Allen Central High School Friday evening attracted 120 essay and poster contestants, their parents, teachers, officials and leaders.

Terry Wilson, environmental education consultant, Kentucky Department of Education, was the speaker and he discussed environmental education. Mr. Wilson pointed out that this phase of education teaches of man's dependence upon plant and animal life; prepares people to make responsible choices in the management of all resources; is based on personal involvement with human, natural and physical resources of the school and the community, and is a lifelong learning experience that produces personal responsibility for human impact on the environment.

Lloyd Wells served as master of ceremonies. The program included recognition of county officials, teachers and parents; the presentation of a color film by William Dempsey, RC&D coordinator, showing projects in the five-county conservation program; introduction of Conservation District supervisors and presentation of awards to the winners in the Conservation essay and poster contests.

The county essay winner was Arbadellia Bailey, who received a $12 cash award. The county award of $8 was presented Deanna Smith in the poster contest.

The Merry, Mad Month of May

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
UK College of Agriculture

For, lo! the winter has passed, as it says in the Holy Scriptures, and along with a multitude of caterpillar-eating warblers that follow the ever-burgeoning leaf up from the south, the merry, mad month of May is at hand. When Mai, the goddess of spring, rules supreme over our land, it is time to plant most warm weather vegetable crops. Also time to make successive plantings of green beans, corn and other crops to insure a continuous supply of fresh produce.

In order to have transplants ready by mid-July for fall crops, sow seeds of cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli by late May. Set out sweet potato slips in late May, check with your county Extension agent for the most recent control recommendations for common garden insects and diseases and sidedress fertilizer your transplants about three weeks after setting out in the garden.

The cold, frosts and freezes are usually gone from the scene in May, but like March, weatherwise the month is often unpredictable. There have been many instances of frosts in May (even in early June) and as a matter of weather record, there once was a heavy snowfall during the month.

This happened during the night of May 19, 1894. According to information furnished this writer by three men now in their nineties, this snowfall covered most of central Kentucky. Corn, potatoes, beans and other garden crops were flattened under the weight of the heavy snow which ranged from four to 24 inches in depth.

According to the old timers interviewed, at bedtime on the evening of May 18, the temperature was balmy with a light drizzle of rain falling over the landscape. Shortly after midnight, however, sleepers were awakened by the "popping and cracking" of tree limbs breaking under the weight of the snow. Incidentally the great damage was done to the timber, cattle and other livestock being killed or hurt by falling trees, branches, barns and sheds collapsing.

One of the men who vividly remembers this big snow is 95-year-old D. B. Snowden, of Lee county. Mr. Snowden said the snowflakes were of the size of a half dollar and that just about every road in the county was blocked by uprooted trees. In out of the way forest lands today crooked "horse trees" can be found. As saplings, these trees were deformed by the weight of the "May snow" that fell 84 years ago this month.

Snowden stated that the snow stayed on the ground until about 10 a.m. and melted off in a rush that caused every branch, creek and river to overflow. After the snow melted off, the field and garden crops straightened up, swiftly recovered and, as mentioned before, little damage resulted except to forests, apple orchards, livestock and unsubstantial outbuildings.

There was no blizzard or freeze accompanying this strange weather aberration. It was just a quiet snowfall that came at an odd time of the year.

We are not likely to have any snow this month, but we could have a killing frost. So it would be a good idea to have a supply of paper boxes, hot caps, or some other kinds of protective covers to put over tender transplants such as eggplant, pepper, tomato, etc., in case frosts threatens. It will be wise too, to place paper or tar paper collars around these transplants to ward off cutworms. Check the plants for injurious insects—and happy gardening.

Dr. Sloane Announces Candidate for Governor

Harvey I. Sloane, M.D., of Louisville announced Monday his candidacy for the May, 1979 Democratic nomination for governor.

Dr. Sloane, who was mayor of Louisville from 1973 to 1977, announced he will hold five press conferences throughout the state, one at the Henry Clay hotel in Ashland, to affirm his intention to run for governor and no other political office in 1979.

Dr. Sloane will stress his philosophy that the public and private sectors must work in partnership for government to be effective in meeting the basic needs of the people.

Volunteer Fire Department To Serve Beaver Area

The Wheelwright Area Volunteer Fire Department was formed and incorporated recently to provide fire protection for citizens in 10 upper Left Beaver communities.

A board of directors consisting of Paul Bailey, Haskell Hall, Elbert Gibson, Lawrence Hall, Delbert Davis, Bill Johnson, and Paul Osborne was formed to govern the department. Officers are Everett Hall, president; Wilbur Jamerson, vice-president; Audrey Yates, secretary.

No fees will be collected by the fire department; it will be financed solely by donations or grants. Volunteers will be trained from each of the communities served, and phone lines will be set up to answer calls.

The fire truck will be housed in the garage building, opposite Hall's Market at Bypro. The building is being donated by Mrs. Ethel Osborne as a fire station. Because of its central location, the fire truck can reach any community in the area in 8 to 10 minutes.

The Wheelwright Area Volunteer Fire Department signed a contract with the Fire Apparatus Operation Company, of Tipton, Ind., to purchase a new fire truck with a 1000-gallon water tank for approximately $35,000 on April 12—debt must be paid off during the next five years. The Weeksbury Community Redevelopment Corporation and other groups are supporting and raising funds for this truck.

All citizens of the area are being urged to support and donate to the volunteer fire department. Donations may be made in person or mailed to Everett Hall, Wheelwright; Lawrence Hall, of Melvin, or Miss Peggy Bradford, of Weeksbury, personally.

Since the fire department is a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation, donations are tax-deductible.

Communities to be served are Meade Hill, Bevinsville, Buckingham, Jack's Creek, Burton, Wheelwright Junction, Wheelwright, Melvin, Abner Fork and Weeksbury.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hall, of Melvin, announce the engagement of their granddaughter, Miss Sharmon Sue Rains, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Rains, of Springfield, Ohio, to Mr. Terry Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Johnson, of Melvin.

Wedding plans are incomplete at this time.

Heck's and Felsway Agree in Principle To Felsway Merger

Carlestown, W. Va., April 19—Heck's Inc. and the Felsway Corporation today jointly announced an agreement in principle whereby Heck's would acquire through merger all the issued and outstanding shares of Felsway with each Felsway stockholder receiving $20 per share cash. The aggregate purchase price would be approximately $20.5 million.

Fred Haddad, chairman of Heck's, and Lionel Levey, chairman of Felsway, said the proposed acquisition is subject to various conditions, including final approval by the Boards of Directors of both companies, approval by Felsway shareholders at a meeting expected to be held in July, 1978, execution of definitive merger agreements which would include customary conditions, and compliance with various federal and state regulatory requirements.

PRESTONSBURG SPRING CLEAN-UP PROJECT

The Prestonsburg City Council and Mayor have proposed May as the month designed for "The Spring City Clean-Up." The city has sectioned off in different areas to be cleaned on different weeks of this month. Each sectioned area will be notified by the two area radio stations, in advance of their area to be cleaned. In the cleaning of these areas, the city would appreciate the cooperation of citizens. Cooperation of the citizens would be the moving of cars from the streets during this time and all trash that requires removal by the city hauling truck be placed by the curb.

The project will begin as follows:

- Section I, West Prestonsburg - May 1-2
- Section II, Goble-Roberts - May 3-4-5
- Section III, Briarwood and Lancer Addition - May 8-9-10
- Section IV, Porter Addition, starting from Prestonsburg High School including Mays Br. and Green Acres - May 11-12
- Section V, All the area starting from Prestonsburg High within Arnold Ave. and Central Ave. to Friend St., including Trimble Branch - May 15-16-17
- Section VI, All the area starting from Friend St., within First Ave. and Highland Ave., to Graham St. - May 18-19
- Section VII, All the area starting from Graham St., within Riverside Dr., and Highland Ave. - May 22-23

Summer Grain Storage Tips

Farmers planning to store grain through the summer can take steps to insure that its quality will be high at sale time.

"Storing grain through the summer requires careful management if a high-quality product is to be delivered to market," notes Doug Overhults, Extension agricultural engineer at UK's West Kentucky Substation, Princeton. Overhults points out a number of practices farmers can follow to prevent deterioration of corn or soybeans in storage during warmer months and suggests that farmers plan in advance what to do with their grain should problems arise.

"If most of its storage life was used up during the fall and winter, grain may not make it through the summer," he says, noting that, for year-round storage, the grain must be clean and dry—and it must have been in good shape going into storage last fall. If it was not damaged with mold or moisture accumulation in wintertime, he points out, then it should be in good shape for getting through the summer.

The specialist says that for summer storage, corn should be dried down to 13 percent moisture content or lower, and soybeans should be at or below 11 percent. He also points out that grain being readied for summer storage should be warmed to around 70 degrees F, to prevent pockets of moisture condensation which could cause spoilage.

air in the cool grain which can cause spoilage.

"Check your grain often after it has been warmed—at least once a week," the engineer says. "Look for molded grain, smell for musty odors, and check for elevated moisture content or temperature. If you discover pockets of high moisture or temperature, turn fans on immediately to bring these conditions down to desired levels." He advises that farmers take special care to look for hot spots and insects.

"In general," he concludes, "the farmer needs to poke, smell, look and feel for any changes that might have occurred since the last time he was in the bin."

ARTHRITIS SUFFERERS in the U.S. lose a total of 14,500,000 work days a year, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

Why all-nitrate nitrogen in Chilean 15-0-14 and Bulldog Soda can produce more profit per acre than other nitrogen fertilizers.

Almost 50% of all tobacco is sidedressed with Chilean 15-0-14 and Bulldog Soda.

The reason is shown in the above photo of tobacco 6 weeks after transplanting in fumigated soil. Tobacco at left was sidedressed with Chilean all-nitrate nitrogen fertilizer, tobacco at right with ammonium nitrogen.

This big difference can make a big increase in your profit this year.

Chilean is the ideal tobacco fertilizer because it's 100% nitrate nitrogen—the only desirable form of nitrogen that's immediately available to tobacco plants, even in acid, cold, wet or fumigated soils.

Because Bulldog Soda or Chilean 15-0-14 go right to work, your young tobacco plants get started faster. You can also expect early, uniform maturity and excellent color.

Tests show that as the percentage of nitrate nitrogen in fertilizer increases from 0 to 100%, tobacco yields and profits increase substantially also—especially in fumigated soils.

This year, assure yourself a better profit by using Chilean nitrate of soda-potash 15-0-14 or Bulldog nitrate of soda.

Place your order now while your dealer has a big, fresh supply. Chilean Nitrate Sales Corp., One World Trade Center, N.Y.C. 10048. Home of the Bulldog.

TV Franchise Readvertising Now Expected

Readvertisement of Floyd county TV franchises may come after May 23, if the fiscal court approves the form of advertisement submitted to it by County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr.

The court last Saturday agreed on the readvertising procedure and directed Turner to draft the advertisement and submit it for court approval or disapproval.

The county attorney said one provision he will include in the advertisement for bids will require each successful bidder to post a performance bond of $6,000 to assure adequate service to customers of each system.

The court ruled that the storage tanks of Marvin Music, Gulf distributor, are all within the Prestonsburg city limits and that response to a petition of West Prestonsburg citizens protesting the bulk plant location there following a recent gasoline spill is a matter for the city, not Floyd county, to handle.

Turner, who determined for the court the location of the tanks, also reported to the court that the state fire marshal had stated in writing that all storage facilities of the bulk plant are in complete compliance with state regulations.

The court voted unanimously to set a 20-ton load limit on the road leading from KY 80 across Beaver Creek to the railway crossing at Eastern.

Summer Youth Camp, Prepared Childbirth Class in PCC Plans

A summer program for youth is being planned by the Office of Community Services at Prestonsburg Community College which will run Monday through Friday, beginning in late June and continuing through the first week in August.

The program will include activities such as arts and crafts for individuals (ages 6-16) and other areas of interest including vocational and occupational skills, drama, puppetry, carpentry, brick-laying, individual and team sports, photography, movies, and other activities. Director of the camp is Mrs. Paula Collins, graduate of Berea and Pikeville Colleges with many years experience working with children.

SINCE PRESIDENT Franklin Roosevelt signed a 1944 law creating the nation's largest free schooling program, more than 17 million veterans have trained under the GI Bill, according to the Veterans Administration.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Gibson, of Manton, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Marcella Miller, to Mr. Rodney Damron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clemit Damron, of McDowell.

Miss Miller's grandparents are Mrs. Audrey Ousley, of Manton, Mrs. Ella Miller Ousley, of Martin, and Mrs. Bessie Gibson, of Wayland.

The marriage ceremony will be performed at the Martin Free Will Baptist Church, on Friday, May 12, at 7 p.m. The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

Joe Hall, UK Coach, To Speak at Lodge

Joe Hall, who took over the reins of UK's basketball team from the famed Adolph Rupp, a tough act to follow, and has this year led the Wildcats to the NCAA championship, will speak at the annual Prestonsburg-Floyd County Area Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held at May Lodge Wednesday, May 24. Tickets to the banquet are on sale now, according to Roy Ramey, Chamber president.

Morehead To Host KACTE Meet, May 5

Morehead State University is hosting the Spring Conference of the Kentucky Association of Colleges for Teacher Education on Friday, May 5.

Guest speakers will include Dr. J. T. Sandefur of Western Kentucky University, president of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AACE), and Dr. Ed Pomeroy, executive director of AACE.

Dr. Ray Alexander of Georgetown College is president of KACTE and Dr. James Powell, dean of MSU's School of Education, is president-elect.

The KACTE membership includes 22 colleges and universities.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT
Cr. 13361

Edward Caudill and Faye Caudill, his wife . . . Plfs.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

Earl Caudill, James Mason Caudill and Elaine Caudill, his wife, Larry Edward Caudill and Cindy Caudill, his wife, Linda Joyce Caudill . . . Defs.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the April 6, 12 and 24 term, 1978 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the premises at the Martin Addition of Estill, Floyd County, Kentucky to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 13th day of May, 1978 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

A certain tract or parcel of land situated and being in Floyd County, Kentucky on Right Beaver Creek near Estill and being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning on the upper side of the C & O Railway right-of-way of the Bill Miller line; running up the creek with the C & O Railway right-of-way a distance of 100 feet; thence up the hill a straight line to a stake on the state highway to the Bill Miller line to a stake; thence down the hill with Bill Miller line to a stake at the beginning, at the C & O Railway right-of-way; being a lot of land fronting C & O Railway right-of-way 100 feet and state highway 100 feet.

This conveyance includes the store building and equipment and other improvements thereon.

Being the same land conveyed from Nelson Slone and Martha Slone to Jesse Caudill and Ora Caudill, on the 5th day of September, 1951, and recorded September 6, 1951 in Deed Book 148, page 478, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

This property is being sold to settle the estate of the late Jesse Caudill and Ora Caudill.

Bidding at the sale will be conducted by Ivan Childers, auctioneer, of Garner and Hindman, Ky., under the supervision of the Commissioner.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall include the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 24th day of April, 1978.

Weightlifters of the Week

Steve Rice, a 5-10, 150-pound eighth grader from Clark Elementary has been selected as Blackcat Weightlifter of the Week. Rice said he was working to increase his strength and speed through the Cats' off-season conditioning program. Weight coach Bob Stetson said Rice was one of a number of eighth graders who had a great deal of potential as Blackcat football players and "the main thing is just to keep working at it." He said, "A lot of our players, especially the younger ones, don't realize the future they could possibly have by being a Prestonsburg football player. It's just a matter of looking ahead a little way."

Bill Greer, a 5-10, 185-pound sophomore has been recognized again. Coach Stetson said, "The main thing Bill needs to do is to put on some weight. He's getting stronger and faster and he works hard at it. Greer needs to get up to about 200 pounds and, with the attitude he has, he could become a pretty good football player. If we could get Clevenger and some of these other guys getting after it the way Bill does, we wouldn't have a thing to worry about."

Phillip Minns is a 5-10, 135-pound freshman. Phillip has been working hard," said Coach Stetson. "His strength and speed are increasing, but he needs to put on some weight. The big thing is that he is here all the time and he's putting out the effort. With this good effort, it's just a matter of keeping after it."

PRE-REGISTRATION SLATED

Pre-registration for Kindergarten will be held Friday, April 28, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at McDowell Elementary. For further information, contact Mrs. Pamela Frazier at the school.

Winners in Art Show

Four Allen Central students were winners in an art show sponsored by the Seventh district Woman's Clubs.

Kathy Heintzelman, of Martin, was first place winner in two divisions. Miss Heintzelman was presented an engraved silver tray and blue ribbon for her pencil drawing and water color. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Dan Heintzelman.

Dale Howell, of Langley, placed third in papercraft with a mobile. He is the son of Mrs. Minnie Howell.

The exhibits were sponsored by the Martin Woman's Club. Miss Heintzelman's will be entered in state competition. The club's fine arts chairwomen are Mona Ratcliff and Bonnie Crisp.

The second place winner in the area of drawing was Troy Bragg, of Garrett. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Bragg.

Wilford Slone, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Slone, of Wayland, placed third in oil painting.

Both of these entries were from the Garrett-Lackey-Wayland Woman's Club. Chairwoman of the fine arts committee there is Marie Mullins.

Caralita O'Quinn is their art instructor. Counties represented in the art contest were Floyd, Knott, Pike, Letcher, Magoffin, Johnson and Martin.

'TOTAL WOMAN' CLASS SET TO BEGIN MAY 1

Archer Park Senior Citizen News

The new choral group which was formed two weeks ago at the Center is growing and members are encouraged to join it. The group will meet at Prestonsburg Community College, Tuesday.

Wednesday, a beauty consultant from Merle Norman cosmetics will be at the Center. Thursday is crafts day, and on Friday, a nurse will be present to take blood pressures and conduct a clinic.

Members of the Center will attend an open house at the new Wheelwright Center next Sunday. Monday, May 1, Pikeville Senior Citizens will be guests at the Center here, and on Tuesday, members of the Center here and of G. P. Grigsby Center at Martin have been invited to join a senior citizens' group from Louisville at May Lodge.

Mrs. Patsy Evans, director of the George P. Archer Center, reminds all area residents over 60 that they are invited to come join the Center activities.

NAME OMITTED

The name of Kathi Ann Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Mullins, of Melvin, was inadvertently omitted from the Pikeville College list of honor students which was recently published in The Times.

Clerical workers are the largest and fastest growing occupational group; cashiers, receptionists and secretaries are expected to be among the fastest growing jobs within this group, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook.

Vote Weinberg 'Outstanding'

In the last few days of the recently completed session of the Kentucky General Assembly, the Lexington Herald conducted a poll of news reporters covering the 1978 Legislature, and it named Rep. Bill Weinberg, D-Hindman, the Outstanding Freshman Legislator of 1978.

Reporters who voted for Weinberg mentioned his knowledge of the legislative process and the fact he was well-informed about the issues discussed by the General Assembly.

"Weinberg was articulate and he worked hard on the subjects he was interested in," one reporter said. "It's usually more difficult for first-time legislators to know their way around but he learned very quickly."

During the legislative session much of Weinberg's time was spent working on getting a greater share of the state's coal severance tax returned to the counties where the coal is mined. And, in the last week of the Legislature, a bill was passed which will change Kentucky's severance tax program.

"The new law will make a lot more money available to coal-producing counties to maintain their roads and to spend on other projects they need," Weinberg said.

Beginning in the 1978-'80 biennium, coal-producing counties will get 75 percent of the surplus severance tax collected by the state. The money will be used to repair and maintain roads in the coal counties.

Starting in 1980, the coal counties will receive 1-24th of all the severance tax collected in the state.

Weinberg is a strong supporter of allowing county fiscal courts more authority to spend severance tax money the state sends back to the coal counties. And, partly as a result of his work, the new law will allow fiscal courts full power to select the roads where almost half of the severance tax money will be spent in each county. Previously, the state's Department of Transportation made the decisions on where road repair money would be spent. Also, for the first time, county roads will be eligible to be repaired with some of the severance tax money.

Weinberg was also instrumental in having the state's tax on unmined minerals reduced to one-half cent per $100 of valuation. Reducing the tax to this level has practically the same impact as abolishing the tax.

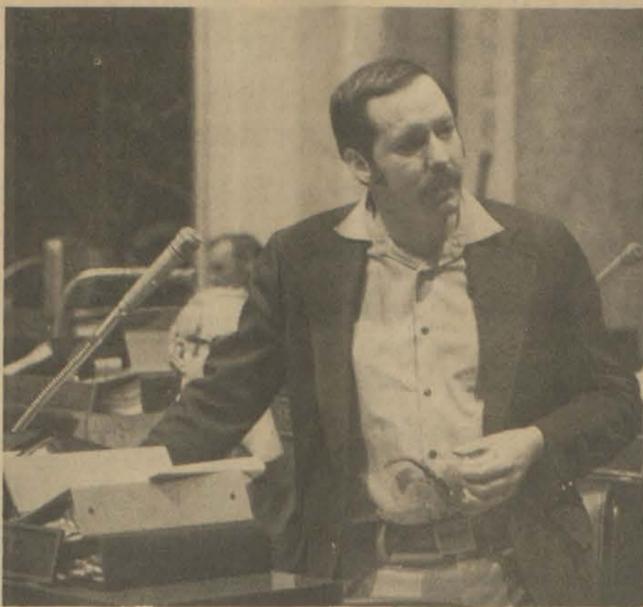

"It's foolish to try to levy a tax when there's no realistic method for determining the value of what's being taxed," Weinberg said.

Weinberg also sponsored a bill which will tighten the laws dealing with absentee ballots. When this new law becomes effective it will provide new safeguards for people asking for absentee ballot applications. The law will also impose stiffer penalties on persons violating absentee ballot laws.

One of the disappointments Weinberg experienced during the 1978 Legislature was the failure of the "bottle bill" which he was supporting. The bill would have imposed a five cent deposit on all beverage containers sold in Kentucky. Weinberg said he favored the bill because it would have reduced litter and encouraged the saving of natural resources. The bill died, however, when it failed to get reported out of the committee to which it was assigned.

HOME FROM FLORIDA

Mrs. Shular Cecil and Evelyn, of Olive Hill, Mrs. Anna Neeley, of Roundhead, Ohio, and their friend, Rita Matheson, of Grayson, spent the week-end recently with Mr. and Mrs. James Gunnels and Mrs. John N. Stratton and family, of Ivel. From there, they motored to Orlando, Fla., where they spent a week and also spent some time in Panama City, Fla., where they were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Gunnell. They have now returned home.

INVITATION FOR APPLICATIONS FOR SECTION 202 FUND RESERVATIONS— The Department of Housing and Urban Development will accept applications for newly constructed and/or substantially rehabilitated housing units under the Section 202 Direct Loan Program for Housing for the Elderly or Handicapped.

Section 202 direct loan authority in the amount of $5,495,000 for metropolitan and $6,199,219 for non-metropolitan areas is being made available to the Louisville HUD office jurisdiction to finance an estimated 176 units for metropolitan areas and 210 units for non-metropolitan areas for the elderly or handicapped. The areas listed below, within this Louisville Office jurisdiction, have been identified as to where additional housing for the elderly or handicapped is warranted based on the goals expressed in local housing assistance plans. Applications from the designated areas for the amount of units indicated below will be evaluated first, and only in the event that an insufficient number of approvable applications are received from the designated allocation areas will applications from other areas be considered for approval. Notwithstanding the above preference for applications received for a designated allocation area, applications for housing designed exclusively or primarily for the non-elderly disabled or handicapped from any allocation area will be accepted and evaluated.

Ornamentals

Plant annuals and bulbous plants such as dahlias and tuberous begonias. Weekly plantings of gladioli after danger of frost has passed will give cut flowers for an extended period of time.

Divide daffodils, chrysanthemums, Shasta daisies, phlox and daylilies.

Don't cut off spring bulb foliage until it has died down. It is needed to make food for next year's growth and flowering.

Look for chlorosis in roses, shrubs and azaleas in clayey and sandy soils. Spray leaves with foliar-strength iron chelates, then water soil with it at a regular strength for more lasting results.

Prune after flowering—forsythia, spirea, deutzia, rhododendrons and azaleas.

Prune flower clusters off the lilacs, but do not remove any buds just below the clusters.

Cutworms are destructive to early season plantings of carnations, mums, dahlias, roses, marigolds, gladioli and zinnias. Push 3-6 inch high cardboard or plastic collars into the soil about 1-2 inches around the new plants to prevent cutworm damage.

Clip off dead blooms and seed pods from perennials to produce blooms on the side shoots.

Check with your University of Kentucky County Extension Agent for the most up-to-date insect control recommendation on whiteflies, cankerworms, leaf miners, mites, borers, scales, aphids, sawflies and tent caterpillars. Check on diseases such as anthracnose, fireblight, azalea galls and juniper twig blight.

Lawns

Fertilize bermudagrass or zoysiagrass lawns. Fertilize bluegrass and fescue lawns if color needs to be improved.

Vegetables

Plant tender vegetable transplants after danger of frost is over about mid-month. Put collars around the plants an inch or two into the soil to deter cutworms or use a soil insecticide.

Make successive plantings of green beans, corn, etc. to insure a continuous supply of fresh produce.

Sow seeds of cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli by late May in order to have transplants ready by mid-July for the fall crop.

Sidedress fertilize 3 weeks after transplanting into the garden.

Set out sweet potato slips.

Check with your University of Kentucky county extension agent for the most recent control recommendations for common garden insects and diseases.

Fruits

Consult fruit spray schedules with the University of Kentucky County Extension Agent in your county.

Start a series of sprays for the lesser peach tree borer. The first spray should be early in the month, the second about the 21st.

Program To Curb Theft, Vandalism

The state Office of Crime Prevention and the Department of Education are embarking on a joint crime prevention program aimed at reducing vandalism and theft in Kentucky schools, Justice Secretary John L. Smith has announced.

The venture is being kicked off with a school vandalism and theft questionnaire, which is being mailed out to 500 Kentucky school districts this week. The Office of Crime Prevention expects the initial survey results to be compiled within two weeks, Smith said.

The questionnaire asks school superintendents to pinpoint what type of vandalism takes place in their schools, when it occurs, how much money vandalism costs the school district, how frequently the vandalism occurs, what types of theft occur, when it occurs and the cost of theft to the school district.

Smith said that when the Office of Crime Prevention compiles the responses to the questionnaires, they will begin to develop "preventive strategies to combat vandalism and theft in our schools."

"An essential step in assuring that we have law and order in our society is to give good, positive examples of lawfulness in the schools," Smith said. "We believe that if children accept lawfulness as a way of life, this will carry into their adult lives. We also feel that if school children get involved in crime prevention programs while they are young, the future successes of our crime prevention efforts will be insured."

Smith said the results of the questionnaire will be made public when the Office of Crime Prevention has had a chance to compile the responses.

Lincoln Gibson

Lincoln Gibson, 85, of David, died last Tuesday at Highlands Regional Medical Center after being stricken a short time earlier by an apparent heart attack while at a grocery store here.

Born August 15, 1892, he was a son of the late Isaac and Hannah Brown Gibson. A retired miner, he had been a member of the Church of God for 40 years. His wife, Mrs. Dora Bailey Gibson, preceded him in death in 1971.

He is survived by three sons, Jack Gibson, of West Prestonsburg, James Gibson, of Prestonsburg, and Herbert Gibson, of Dayton, O., five daughters, Mrs. Stella Smith, of Borger, Texas, Mrs. Julia Ousley, of Martin, Mrs. Thelma Goble, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Jolene Castle, of Auxier, and Mrs. Bobbie Wright, of Fayetteville, N. C.; 19 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Friday at the Pentecostal Assembly of God Church at David by the Revs. Woodrow White and Malcolm Wireman. Burial was made in the family cemetery at David under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Clyde Jones

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Banner United Baptist Church for Clyde Jones, 47, of Berlin Heights, O., who died Sunday evening at Sandusky Memorial Hospital of injuries sustained in an auto accident earlier. Officiating ministers will be the Revs. Richard Crisp, Arnold Johnson, and Fred McGinnis.

Formerly of Banner, Mr. Jones was born October 27, 1930, a son of Leonard and Virgia Akers Jones, of Banner. He was a carpenter by trade.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Geneva Newsome Jones; a stepson, Lonnie Saunders, of Lorain, O.; a stepdaughter, Miss Linda Saunders, at home; four brothers, E. G. Jones, of Mt. Sterling, Hubert and James Jones, both of Springport, Mich., Ronald Jones, of Banner; three sisters, Mrs. Irene Adkins, of Huntington, W. Va., Mrs. Ellen Campbell and Mrs. Sereda Brown, both of Banner.

Burial will be made in Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Mrs. Margie A. Osborne

Mrs. Margie Akers Osborne, 55, of Martin, died last Wednesday after being stricken by a sudden illness.

Born December 16, 1923, she was a daughter of Mrs. Nollie Akers, of Martin, and the late Kessie Akers. She was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Surviving her are her husband, James W. Osborne; five sons, Randy Osborne, of Garrett, Mike Osborne, of Langley, Morris Osborne, of Lorain, O., Roger Osborne, of Westville, O., and Keith Osborne, of Martin; four daughters, Mrs. Marcella Duleson, of Shiloh, O., Mrs. Judy Ward, of Dinwood, Mrs. Rosemary Spears, of Banner, Mrs. Gail Martin, of Garrett; a brother, Rudolph Akers, of Martin; two sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Patton, in Indiana, Mrs. Aileen Scarborough, of Martin, and 18 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church in Martin by the Rev. Harve Johnson. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Martin under direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our heartfelt gratitude to all who were so kind to us upon the recent death of Mrs. Hattie Porter. We would especially thank those who sent food and flowers, the ministers for their comforting words, those who helped prepare the grave, and Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service.

Dedicated to John Shepherd, whose birthday is April 30, and who died January 15, 1971.

This poem is dedicated to our dad and mom. Their wedding day was June 29, 1932.

To live and love from this day on with loving words "I do."

From this time on, each second year, a child came into the world,

Until at last there was a family of six boys and six girls.

Our dad worked hard in an old coal mine, and our mom worked hard at home.

But one day our dad was called away, and left mom and us alone.

Some day we'll meet in heaven, we know dad awaits us there.

Oh, what a joy that it would be to know the day and hour.

And when at last we're together again, then we may finally see.

There's nothing more important than a husband, wife, and family, with love like ours, you see.

Clothes Can Help

Tots Learn To Dress

The way clothes are made goes a long way toward teaching a child to dress himself, according to an Extension home economist in the UK College of Agriculture.

"A two-year-old child begins to show independence by wanting to dress without help" says clothing specialist Bette Jo Dedic. "At three, youngsters probably will want clothes they can get into and out of by themselves. But the age at which children can handle their own clothes depends on the individual, the training the child receives and the way clothes are made."

The specialist lists a number of qualities mothers should look for in buying clothes for children in this age group. Among them are the following:

Front openings, with big buttons, buttonholes and zippers—but as few as possible. When placed where the child can see them they are easier to handle. Learning is easier if fastenings are of the same type and in the same place, according to Dedic; easy-to-tell fronts and backs; necklines large or stretchy enough to slip easily over the child's head; suspenders fastened with large buttons. Elastic or stretch waist bands in pants or skirts. The specialist notes that boxer shorts are easy for little children to pull on and off; pockets easy to reach and big enough to use; knits and stretch materials that "give".

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Martin Hall wishes to express its deepest thanks to all who expressed their sympathy and concern upon his death. We especially thank those who sent food and floral tributes, the ministers for their messages of consolation, and the Hall Brothers Funeral Home for its efficient and courteous service.

Mrs. Bertha L. Curry

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Thursday at the residence for Mrs. Bertha Little Curry, 78, who died at her home at Bypro, Monday, victim of an apparent heart attack. Officiating ministers will be Rev. Ellis Holbrook and others.

She was a daughter of the late Gus and Mary Hall Little, and was married to Ukle Curry, who preceded her in death.

She is survived by five sons, Ellis Curry, of Bypro, Dawson Curry, of Dearborn, Mich., Gus Curry, of Melvin, Bruce Curry, of Albertville, Ala., and Chet Curry, of Coleman, Ga.; four daughters, Orangie Curry, of Bypro, Mrs. Boots Shrewsbury, of South Point, O., Mrs. Mary Lee Crace, of Walton, Mrs. Melva Pippin, of Lexington; 18 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial will be made in the Curry cemetery at Bypro under direction of Merion Funeral Chapel. Friends may call at the funeral home to pay their respects.

Mrs. Amanda Patton

Mrs. Amanda Patton, 97, died at her home at Langley last Wednesday following a long illness.

One of this county's oldest residents, she was born October 15, 1880, a daughter of the late Joseph and Nancy Hughes. She was the widow of Allen Patton and was a member of the Regular Baptist Church.

Survivors include two sons, Allen Patton, Jr., of Langley, and Clyde Patton, of Zionsville, Ind.; five daughters, Mrs. Margie Green, of Florence, Ariz., Mrs. Effie Post, of Langley, Mrs. Evie Wilhite, of Martinsville, Ind., Mrs. Goldia Jones and Mrs. Rebecca Hayes, both of Zionsville, Ind.; two brothers, Dave and Willie Hughes, both in Arizona; 33 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren, and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at the Bethel Regular Baptist Church at Langley, and burial was made in the May cemetery there under direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

Bobby Gene Martin

Funeral rites will be conducted at noon Thursday at Hall Brothers Funeral Home chapel by the Rev. Bob Martin for Bobby Gene "Buck" Martin, 45, who died Tuesday at his home at Eastern, victim of a sudden illness.

Born October 19, 1932, he was a son of Homer and Essie Gayheart Martin, of Eastern. He was a construction worker employed by James Allen Construction Company at Langley, a member of the Floyd County Coon Hunters Association and of the Floyd County Fish and Game Club.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Allie Wishie and Miss Rebecca Joy Martin, both of Eastern, and Mrs. Mary Patton, of Hazard; five brothers, Carl Martin, of Lucasville, O., Vernon and Bill Martin, both of Langley, Palmer Martin, of Hueysville, and Dennis Martin, of Martin.

Burial will be made in the Allen cemetery.

Donations Asked For Trooper Island

Again this year, the Kentucky State Police are asking for donations for their boy's camp, Trooper Island. Post 9 will be selecting 28 boys from this area to send to camp. The camp will be conducted one week from July 24 through July 28, 1978.

Through the summer, approximately 500 boys will enjoy the beautiful campgrounds located at Dale Hollow Lake in South Central Kentucky. There is canoeing, boating, fishing, archery, rifle range, swimming, baseball, football, softball, hiking, outdoor camping, besides other recreation for our boys. Ages for boys eligible to go are those, 10 to 13 years of age who have never been to any camp before. Kentucky State Police enjoying relations with youths in every community is a very rewarding experience for both the State Police as well as the boys.

If you can give, send donations to Kentucky State Police, P. O. Box 2117, Post 9, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501. Make checks payable to Trooper Island Boys Camp.

THE BIG BAD WOLF is not such a bad fellow, according to the May Reader's Digest. Wolves are highly socialized, live in packs, are only fair hunters, and have never been known (unless rabid) to attack a human being.

Kroger
BRAND SALE

COMPARE QUALITY
 Tests prove that the quality of The Kroger Brand is usually as good as the comparable National Brand. Whether Kroger Brand products are made by us or for us, they must meet our rigid quality specifications. They are spot-checked for quality throughout preparation. All Kroger Brand products are sold with a replacement or money-back guarantee of total quality satisfaction.

COMPARE SAVINGS
 Even on National Brands, we believe our Low Prices save you more than other local food and discount stores. As for Kroger Brand products, because we ship the ones we make direct from plant to store with no middleman expenses...and because our advertising and selling costs are less than National Brands, we can sell The Kroger Brand at prices that are lower than comparable National Brands.

ADVERTISED ITEM POLICY
 Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale in each Kroger Store, except as specifically noted in this ad. If we do run out of an advertised item, we will offer you your choice of a comparable item, when available, reflecting the same savings or a rain-check which will entitle you to purchase the advertised item at the advertised price within 30 days.

TOTAL SATISFACTION GUARANTEE
 Everything you buy at Kroger is guaranteed for your total satisfaction regardless of manufacturer. If you are not satisfied, Kroger will replace your item with the same brand or a comparable brand or refund your purchase price.

Rules for Wild Rivers Timber Not Specific Enough, Claim

A proposed regulation drafted by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection that would set requirements for selective cutting of timber by landowners in Wild Rivers areas last week drew criticism as not being specific enough. The criticism came during a meeting of the state Environmental Quality Commission.

Commission member Oscar Gerald, of Lexington, said the regulation, which would require landowners to secure a permit from the department before cutting, does not have guidelines that specify what constitutes selective cutting. Gerald expressed concern that what the department might consider selective cutting would be clear cutting to others.

Roy Hogg, of the department's Division of Water Resources, conceded that determination of what could and could not be cut would be a "judgment type of thing" but that foresters in the department would be relied on to help with those judgments. He added that the regulation refers to and is mindful of legislation establishing the Wild Rivers system and its requirement that these areas be maintained as natural areas.

A public hearing on the regulation is scheduled in Frankfort May 4. The commission also heard from John Smither, director of the natural resources department's Division of Air Pollution Control, who advocated repeal of a regulation dealing with indirect sources of air pollution. Such sources cause air pollution through generation of auto traffic.

He said that approximately 20 states and cities had adopted such a regulation but that the majority had repealed it, and in areas where the regulation was still on the books it was not being enforced.

Smither, who described the regulation as "a bit ahead of its time," said attempts to solve indirect air pollution through the regulation were "not really appropriate" and that what is needed is an attack on the vehicles themselves.

A public hearing on the repeal will be held May 24.

Smither also reported that the division currently is conducting an emissions inventory as part of work on a revised state air pollution control plan required by the federal Clean Air Act. He said that in particular, "non-attainment areas" or areas where air quality does not meet minimum state and federal standards are the focus of the inventory. Twenty-one areas in the state were designated as such earlier this year.

In two non-attainment areas where vehicular emissions are a large part of the problem, Louisville and northern Kentucky, Smither said that overall air quality would not be improved until auto emissions are dealt with. The department unsuccessfully sponsored legislation during the 1978 General Assembly to have a mandatory automobile inspection and maintenance program established in those areas.

Smither said that he had been in contact with the Louisville air pollution control officials and that his division and officials in Louisville were investigating whether individual areas could establish their own mandatory emissions program under "home-rule" legislation.

In another area the commission passed a resolution calling on Governor Carroll to reactivate a special ad hoc committee on the Maxey Flats nuclear waste disposal site so that the public could be informed as to the problems, available options and possibilities of closure at the site.

Strange Alliance

After two days of finding the spigots dry when he went to do the milking, Elmo Bradley found the reason when he went back for a third try. A greedy pig and a placid cow had formed a not-unheard-of, but rather unusual alliance, and the picture above resulted when Mr. Bradley grabbed his camera instead of yelling "Soo-ee".

Almost Eight Years Later

A lot can be said about Vernon Almond. The Virginia native, who has been an interesting part of Pike county since 1957, is sober today and celebrating seven and a half years of non-drinking.

The sweet-talking southern gentleman loves these mountains. "This is my home, it's friendly here. When I go to Roanoke for a visit, I'm ready to come back to Pikeville after the week-end!"

A unit worker covering the midnight to morning shift in Pike county's Alcohol Treatment Counseling (A.C.T.) Center, Almond says he isn't indebted to Roanoke, Virginia. "I did most of my drinking here in Pikeville, and I feel that I owe them something," smiles the alcoholism counselor.

"Virginia has a lot of dignity and rigid class systems," explains Almond, describing his home state, "but that's not putting Kentucky down. Money doesn't get to people's heads here—I can walk down Main Street to Hobbs' and have coffee with doctors and lawyers."

Almond characterizes his alcoholic years as periodic drunks occurring no more than three times during the year. His drinking spree usually lasted ten days.

"Being a periodic drinker was in my favor," remembers Almond. "Most New Year's Eves, when everyone was drinking, I stayed sober! After a drunk I got so nervous, depressed and embarrassed that it would be months before I drank again. I'd have to forget the previous drunk before another one."

"I began social drinking at parties," he recalls, a little bashful, I even took dancing lessons and then wouldn't dance at a party. With a few drinks I had confidence to ask ladies to dance. I learned stalling hangovers by taking a drink the next morning, then it became two drinks, three and so forth."

During his salesman years when working from commissions created stressful anxieties, Almond relied on evening drinking to unwind.

"I was different from the other salesmen. When they invited me for a drink before dinner I'd already have a pint in my hotel room."

Through Almond's drinking years he avoided any reading and media coverage about alcoholism. "I started recognizing my drinking problem when I hid booze and was ashamed to let people know that I drank."

Responding that alcoholism is a disease, he totally agrees that he, like other alcoholics, have a chronic, progress illness. "I don't think anyone would deliberately destroy himself unless it is a disease. The alcoholic might enjoy drinking the first few times but after that he takes it to live."

With enthusiasm, he details the Pike County A.C.T. Program "It's hard to sober up by yourself. Alcoholics are human and not to be put down. Here we offer kindness, not criticism of the problem drinker."

Finishing the early morning interview, Almond says, "I didn't slip around to drink, and I'm not going to slip around staying sober. Some guys are ashamed to go to a treatment facility or A.A. but not to go out drinking!"

High School Science Club Sponsors Annual Event

SWAT'S model rocketry division blasts off a model rocket.

J. B. Carr, Elkhorn Industries engineer, speaking at opening ceremonies of Science Awareness Days.

The Allen Central High science club, S.W.A.T. (Science Watchers Acting Together) sponsored their fourth annual Science Awareness Days, April 3-5, in the Allen Central gym and main school building. Lowell L. Martin, biology instructor and S.W.A.T. advisor, along with 38 members of the club, developed a science fair atmosphere along the lines of careers in science and science ideas. Exhibits and science posters were on display, portraying various areas of science. Guest-speakers from the science field were on hand to lend their expertise to the program. A science-oriented film, "The Outer Space Connection," was shown to stimulate thinking. About 250 eighth grade students and teachers from Maytown, Martin, Wayland, and Garrett were brought to Allen Central on April 5 to view the exhibits and posters. Open house was established April 3 from 4 to 6 p.m. to offer parents and the community in general a view of the various kinds of science work on display.

To kickoff Science Awareness Days on April 3, Ed Jones, of the JRM Coal Co., of East McDowell, donated his helicopter, and his pilot, Ken Trana, flew it in to Allen Central before school so that students could inspect it and talk with him about his field. At the same time this was happening, the S.W.A.T. Model Rocket Club put on a demonstration of model rocket launchings. Approximately nine rockets were launched and recovered in the school parking lot. At 9 a.m. on April 3 S.W.A.T. had a science program in the gym for all Allen Central students, with J.B. Carr, an engineer with Elkhorn Industries, the guest-speaker. Other guest-speakers who came to talk to various science classes on the importance of science as a career were:

Mrs. Cindy Kidd, director of nursing, Our Lady of Way Hospital, Martin; Dr. P.S. Sabharwal, associate professor of biological sciences, University of Kentucky, Lexington; Dr. Charles Robinson, assistant professor of physics, Prestons-burg Community College; John Sammons, associate professor and chairman of the Division of Physical Sciences, Prestonsburg Community College; Kenneth Fuller, assistant professor of chemistry, Prestonsburg Community College; Dr. Fred Lawson, veterinarian, Pikeville; Dr. Jit Ghosal, physics professor, Pikeville College; Ken Trana, helicopter pilot for JRM Coal Co., East McDowell.

The following organizations and schools entered exhibits which added a new dimension to the science displays:

Gray, Mark Martin, Donna Roope, Connie Sisco, Vanessa Akers, Ramona Conn, Carla Hayes, Clyde Lee, Nippy Ratliff, Jill Elliott, Sherry Flanery, Melissa Martin, Beverly Moore, Joan Samons, Sheri Martin, Randy Slone, Lisa Spradlin.

Curt Moore's chemistry class also participated. The following produced exhibits: Bartley Bartrum, Jennie Cox, Sandy Duff, Iris Flanery, Flo Flanery, Sybrina Hicks, Vicki Jacobs, Deborah Johns, Melissa Lykens, Melvin May, Toby Spradlin. And these chemistry students did science posters in two categories: Factuals—Deborah Johns; Humorous—Arbadellia Bailey.

Curt Moore's general science class participated by doing posters in one exhibit. Factual—Harry G. Allen, Teresa Bradley, Thomas Crum, Ricky Frasure, Carla Huff, Wade Prater, Cecil Slone, Rita Vanhoose; Humorous—Cindy McKinney; General Science exhibit—Carla Huff, Cynthia Hall;

One physics student, Joyce Jones, did a poster in the factual division.

Mrs. Cooley's general science classes participated in exhibits and science posters. Exhibits—Donna Stumbo, Tammy Bradley; Posters: Humorous—Faye Wiley, Tammy Bradley, Mary McCallister; Factual—Donna Stumbo, Bobby Allen, Keith Howard, Sherry Osborne, Gary Robinson, Derek Click, Myra Martin, Ronnie Thompson, Benny Rose.

Mrs. Cooley's human physiology and anatomy class had three students to do a poster in the factual division. They were Teresa Duncan, Pam Lykens, Carol Shephers.

Mr. May's physical science classes came through with many factual science posters. Students participating were Todd Bailey, Don Caudill, Connie Cordial, Johnny Frasure, Herman Gunnels, Melinda Hall, Kenneth Howard, Steve Howard, Delmal Johnson, Johnny McKinney, Jerry Mills, Wendell Owens, Carol Shepherd, Recilla Slone, Daryl Salisbury, Steve Moore, Shannon Prater, Nathan Reffett, Chris Salisbury, Jennifer Tackett, Mack Watson, Tommy Webb, Sharon Wright, Karen Gilde, Steve Vanderpool, Jennifer Cooley, Phyllis Bentley, Hubert Bradford, Marlene Conn, Bonnie Flannery, Connie, Barbara Hall, Sherry Hall, Steve

What To Do with Damaged Alfalfa Stands

Reseeding alfalfa fields is the only chance to save stands that were severely damaged by winter heaving, even though seeding this late is a big gamble on the weather, according to a forage crops specialist.

"A lot of damage is showing up throughout the state in new alfalfa seedings made last fall, and some of last spring's seedings are in trouble," says Ken Evans, Extension specialist in the UK College of Agriculture.

This has come as a surprise, adds the specialist, because normally a heavy snow cover as thick as last winter's would have protected the plants. But it didn't work that way.

Evans explains that the air was cold enough some days to penetrate the snow blanket and freeze the soil. Alternate freezing and thawing heaved plants out of the ground, shearing off roots so plants couldn't get needed moisture.

The test of whether a damaged stand will survive or not is how far the plants have been heaved out of the ground.

"If they are pushed up two or three inches, or enough that the mower will cut off the crowns, they will die after cutting even if they are alive now," says Evans. "You may get one hay crop of sorts from such fields, but no more."

He points out that a light disking and reseeding as late as May 1 is worth a try unless you want to give up growing alfalfa this year and start all over by seeding next fall. It's a weather gamble.

"Timely rains will be needed to get late-seeded alfalfa up to produce a satisfactory stand," says Evans. "The later seed is planted, the poorer are the chances to get enough moisture, and insects are more of a problem."

Some winter-damaged alfalfa will survive even though it doesn't look good now, says the forage specialist. He recommends keeping a stand if there are six to eight plants with green shoots per square foot and if they aren't pushed up far enough for the mower to cut off their crowns.

"The stunted alfalfa will grow slowly until new root systems are developed, but

Big Sandy Facility Listed As More Air Travel Predicted

An airports study just released by the Kentucky Department of Transportation predicts that the number of passengers boarding commercial aircraft in the state will increase to nearly 8.5 million by the year 2000.

Lexington's Blue Grass Field will experience the greatest percentage growth in passengers, about 330 percent, according to the new Kentucky Aviation System Plan. But Greater Cincinnati Airport will record the largest growth in actual numbers, approximately 3.2 million, the plan predicts.

The new plan, prepared by the transportation department and Landrum and Brown Aviation Consultants of Cincinnati, was released by state transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson. Grayson said, "The plan represents the culmination of a long-term planning effort by state and local groups to develop recommendations for guidance in providing a level of air transportation services appropriate to the future needs of the Commonwealth."

Among the major statements made in the plan is a proposal to increase the number of existing airports in Kentucky. Those sites discussed include one facility within the five-county Big Sandy Area Development District and three others at Carrollton, Williamstown and Falmouth in northern Kentucky.

The review of the state's 60 existing airports showed that while they have been "admirably developed in most instances, some notable deficiencies are apparent due to growing aviation activity."

Pinpointed is the fact that in eastern Kentucky no airport has a lighted runway. The study also shows that only 11 of the state's airports have adequate taxiways.

"This absence of taxiways limits the capacity of the airports and raises the potential for delay and accident," the study said.

The study also suggests that the 55-mph speed limit on the highway has been a factor in the growth of aviation. The number of registered private and business aircraft is expected to leap from about 20,000 this year to over 50,000 by the end of the century.

"The slowing effects of the speed limit have made air travel more attractive for the business community as well as tourists," Grayson said.

And he predicted the continued growth of general aviation throughout this century. However, he also noted that 10 of the state's airports will be unable to keep in step with the growing demands for auto parking and aircraft space.

Grayson congratulated the department's Division of Aeronautics and Airport Zoning which has been successful in obtaining large portions of federal funds for airport development in the past. But he also noted that the study warns that other states have become more competitive in seeking federal money.

"That may mean that more local funding will be necessary to support airport expansion in Kentucky in the future," he said.

According to the study, Kentucky's airports will need more than $332.5 million if they are going to meet service demands projected to the year 2000.

The study was begun in February 1976. Since then, 15 meetings have been held regionally at which five alternative plans for airport development were discussed. The alternatives ranged from a "do-nothing plan" to the plan released here recently which would provide scheduled air service within 60 miles of virtually all Kentuckians.

Grayson noted that the plan is "an ambitious one with high goals," and called attention to the fact it was one of the first to be funded and completed under provisions of the federal Airport and Airways Development Act of 1970.

Profit Prospects for Creep-Feeding

Feeder cattle prices and feed costs indicate that creep-feeding beef calves nursing cows on pasture will be profitable this year, the way prospects look to a beef cattle researcher in the UK College of Agriculture.

Nelson Gay says that the price outlook is for spring calves to bring 50c or more a pound when they are weaned next fall and for corn to cost less than $2.50 a bushel or 4.5c a pound this spring and summer.

With $2.50 corn and 50c calves, creep-feeding will pay if you can get a pound of calf gain with 10 pounds of feed or less. You'll about break even if it takes 11 pounds of feed per pound of gain, considering the cost of cracking shelled corn for young calves.

Feed-gain ratios vary from about 5:1 to 15:1 in research trails on creep-feeding calves. However, Gay says that 10:1 is a good guideline to use if you don't know how much creep feed it takes to make a pound of gain on your own farm.

If you plan to keep your calves instead of selling them next fall, creep-feeding will pay only if you continue to feed a high-energy finishing ration from weaning to market, says Gay. He adds, "Don't creep-feed if you intend to winter your calves on a growing ration."

Regardless of what you do with your calves after they are weaned, Gay recommends creep-feeding calves nursing young cows or poor-milkers when pasture growth is short or low in quality. On the other hand, he says that as a general rule it doesn't pay to creep-feed calves nursing good-milking cows grazing plenty of high-quality forage. Calves born in the fall need creep feed, says the specialist.

3 Eastern Ky. Students Rank High in Contest

Suzanne Johnson, of Hazard High School, won third place in the survey portion of the 1978 Poster and "Ability Counts" Survey Contest. She and three other eastern Kentucky students are among 17 state winners who will receive certificates of merit.

The other three who also placed in the survey half of the contest will receive Honorable Mention Awards. They are Mark Salyers and Jane Adams, both of Somerset High School, and Craig Allan Hall, of M. C. Napier High School.

Award presentations, which include cash prizes, will be made during the next four weeks by the local offices of the Bureau for Manpower Services of the Department for Human Resources.

The annual contest is sponsored by the Kentucky Committee on Employment of the Handicapped in conjunction with national efforts of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Road Work To Cost $3.8 Million

More than $3.8 million in road and bridge contracts for Eastern Kentucky have been announced by State Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson. The secretary's announcement followed a bid-letting held March 24. According to Grayson, the largest single contract approved calls for the re-surfacing of I-75 in Rockcastle county for a distance of about 14.4 miles at a total cost of $1,029,987.45. The contract was awarded to Allen Co., Inc. of Winchester. Allen Co., Inc. also was the successful bidder ($32,946) on a second Rockcastle county contract to surface approximately one mile of US 25 north of Mt. Vernon; and KY 1326 from US 25 to Main Street. In Pike county, two contracts—one for 10.1 miles of surfacing and the other for replacement of a bridge superstructure over Peter Creek on KY 1056—were announced. The surfacing project is to be completed by Adams Construction Corp. of Pikeville at a total cost of $361,489. The road sections to be surfaced are KY 80, from US 460 for about 2.5 miles; US 119, from US 23 to Elkins road; US 460, between KY 80 and the south end of Millard bridge.

In Johnson county, East Kentucky Paving, of Grayson, was the successful bidder ($246,597) on another contract to surface 5.1 miles of KY 1107 between KY 3 and KY 302. In Boyd county, US 60 will be surfaced from the end of the curb and gutter section to US 23 (13th Street) by Ashland Asphalt Paving Co., Inc., of Ashland, at a cost of $135,606.

Nearly 2.5 miles of KY 1715 in Lawrence county will be surfaced by East Kentucky Paving Corp. at a cost of $112,067. The work will extend from the Left Fork of Blaine road to the Morgan county line. In Carter county, East Kentucky Paving, of Grayson, was awarded a $87,301 contract to surface 3.7 miles of KY 1 from KY 773 to US 60. In Knox county, four bridges will undergo deck repairs under two separate contracts awarded to Safety Engineering of Paint and Ramco Construction Co., Inc., of Frankfort. The total cost for both contracts was $61,878.

In Lee county, nearly one mile of KY 11 will be surfaced northeast from Kentucky and Main Streets by Kentucky Stone, of Louisville, at a cost of $38,523. In Breathitt and Wolfe counties, three bridges are being scheduled for cleaning and painting by M & J Painting Co., of Campbell, Ohio, at a total cost of $13,195. Grayson also reported that a $208,334 contract awarded to Gus T. Handig & Son Painting Co., of St. Louis, Mo., to replace raised pavement markers in 40 Kentucky counties includes Eastern Kentucky mileage located in Floyd, Boyd, Carter, Greenup, Rowan, Bell, Knox, Clay, Harlan, Laurel and Pike counties.

Receives Arthritis Award

Miss Patty Lou Davis, associate executive director, Kentucky Chapter Arthritis Foundation, Louisville, last week presented Miss Buriela Gearheart a 100 per cent Service Award for her work as chairman of the Floyd County Arthritis fund campaign.

The Drift Woman's Club led with the largest amount of contributions for the 1977 fund drive, and a certificate was presented to Miss Ruby Akers, chairman for the Drift-McDowell area, at a meeting of the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs in Owensboro.

Other chairmen recognized for their work in the fund drive are Mrs. Harold Cooley, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Ganell Clark, Betsy Layne; Mrs. Jake Halbert and Mrs. Jerry Banks, Maytown, Eastern, Langley; Mrs. Betty K. Hall, Martin; Miss Nancy Stephens, Allen, and Mrs. Lillian Sturgill, Harold.

Miss Davis expressed her appreciation for the work by all volunteers which put the county over its goal of $1300 with $1,404 which she said was "especially gratifying in view of the coal strike and the very bad winter."

The bridge contract will cost $38,412. It was awarded to Cee, Inc. of Lexington.

In Clay county, 10.7 miles of KY 11 will be surfaced, between US 421 and KY 66, at a cost of $314,789 by Carpenter Construction Co., Inc., of Annnville.

Deck repairs to four Clay county bridges also are being scheduled under an $88,442 contract given to Safety Engineering Co. of Paint Lick.

In Pulaski county, two surfacing contracts for 11.2 miles of KY 39 and 2.2 miles of KY 1247 were awarded to Hinkle Contracting Corp., of Paris, on a total bid of $304,983.

The bridge over the Southern Railroad, on KY 1247 in Pulaski county, also was included, along with two Cumberland county bridges, in a $12,700 cleaning and painting contract awarded to Atlas Sheeting and Painting Co., Inc., of Campbell, Ohio.

In Perry county, Adams Construction, of Pikeville, also was the successful bidder ($297,967) on a project to surface 7.9 miles of KY 80, beginning at the Leslie county line.

In addition, Pantelis Painting Co., Inc., of Campbell, Ohio, was awarded a $20,094 contract for the cleaning of painting of two Perry county bridges. One of the structures is located on KY 80, over the L & N Railroad and North Fork of the Kentucky River, 3.3 miles from KY 15. The other crosses the Kentucky River at Cornettsville on KY 2450.

In Elliott county, 12.2 miles of KY 7 are to be surfaced between KY 32 and the Carter county line by East Kentucky Paving Corp., of Grayson, on its bid of $281,347.

The bridge over Little Sandy River in Elliott county, one mile south of Newfoundland on KY 7, also will be cleaned and painted under a $7,700 contract awarded to Pantelis Painting from Ohio. The contract also includes another bridge on KY 32 in Fleming county.

In Laurel county, 10.1 miles of KY 363, from KY 312 to the I-75 Overpass, and KY 488, between KY 80 and KY 1305, will be surfaced by Kentucky Stone Co., of Louisville, at a total cost of $262,829.

Stanville Bike-a-Thon Scheduled Saturday

Pat Conn, chairwoman of the Cystic Fibrosis Breath of Spring Bike-a-Thon, has announced final plans for the Stanville Bike-a-Thon. Starting time will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 29, at the Stanville cut-through. Chris Conn, of Stanville, has been appointed executive director of the Bike-a-Thon. Roger Johnson, of Stanville, will be Safety and Route Committee chairman.

Riders of all ages are invited to ride. There will be refreshments and prizes. Every precaution is being taken to insure the safety of the riders. Mrs. Conn asks that all the residents and businessmen of Stanville and surrounding communities support the Bike-a-Thon either by riding, sponsoring a rider or donating money or prizes.

In northern England it was once considered unlucky to leave the house on the first day of the new year until someone else had come in.

A System, Eastern Kentuckians, that worked for you last winter.

utilize all these resources and keep the power flowing.

By the time the strike began, the System had built up a 105-day supply of coal. And even though the strike was prolonged, our coal supply never fell below 37 days. The AEP System not only sought out coal from non-union mines in the East, but also received nearly 1.5 million tons from the West. Our Western coal got through because of AEP's transportation system which includes rail hopper cars, barges, towboats and a major coal transfer terminal that was the only facility of its type operating on the Ohio River during the strike. If Western coal had not been available, AEP's coal stocks would have been depleted to the point where major power curtailments would have become necessary.

Although Kentucky Power's Big Sandy Plant used no Western coal, at times all of the electricity used in this area was coming from other AEP plants.

Just as important as our continuing coal supply was our power delivery system which features 1300 miles of 765,000-volt transmission lines, the world's largest. Huge amounts of electricity were moved over these AEP System lines from all directions. Customers of neighboring utilities also benefited because power could be delivered through our lines to them.

And finally, the power stayed on because the men and women of Kentucky Power did their jobs well and worked together with their fellow employees across the AEP System.

You depended on us. And we depended on you to get us through last winter. It's good to know we can count on each other.

These spring days are a welcome relief from the tough winter. The severe weather and the 109-day coal strike jeopardized the supply of electricity and threatened a major disruption of business, industry and schools in many parts of the country.

How were we able to keep the power on? First, you did your part by responding to our appeals to conserve electricity wherever you could. This helped us stretch out our supplies and saved thousands of tons of coal.

Second, the resources of the American Electric Power System include 13 coal-fired generating plants, a nuclear plant, extensive fuel transportation facilities, and the strongest network of transmission lines in the world. As part of the AEP System, we were able to

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Although the fishing season has just begun, Kentucky already has a new state record—and it's a whopper!

Porter Hash, Edmonton, was trolling a deep running lure in Dale Hollow Lake March 13 when he hooked and landed a muskellunge that tipped the scales at an even 43 pounds, one pound more than the old record.

Apparently cold weather is the time to catch big muskies. The 42-pounder which held the record since 1973 was taken in February, and the one before that (39 pounds, 14 ounces) was caught in January 1969.

It's also interesting that Hash's fish is the first state record musky to come from a lake; the two previous record muskies came from the Green River and the Licking River. But lake fishing for muskellunge is getting more and more attention these days, particularly at Cave Run Lake, which is becoming known nationwide as one of the best musky waters anywhere.

And the new state record will probably make trophy musky fishermen take another look at Dale Hollow. At least one other large musky has been landed from this lake in recent months, a 30-pounder caught by Chuck Eiche, Louisville, in December, 1977.

At 43 pounds, Hash's musky is the sixth largest fish on the state record list. The leader is a 100-pound blue catfish (caught below Kentucky Dam), followed by a 97-pound flathead catfish, a 72-pound spoonbill, a 54-pound, 14 ounce carp and a 44-pound, 4 ounce rockfish.

Kentucky can boast one world record fish, the 11-pound, 15-ounce smallmouth bass that David L. Hayes, Leitchfield, caught in 1955—and this fish also came from Dale Hollow.

The commonwealth's largest largemouth came from a small lake, Greenbo, in Greenup county. Only 12 states can boast of heavier record largemouth bass, while two states, Mississippi and Texas, are tied with Kentucky's official state record of 13 pounds, 8 ounces.

If you catch an extra-large fish of any species, it's worth checking to see if you might have a new state record. The first step is to have the fish weighed on an "official" scale—that is, a scale certified legal for trade. Usually a nearby grocery store is the best place to find such a scale.

Have the weighing witnessed by at least three people and get their signatures. Record the length and girth, then contact the local conservation officer or write the Department of Fish and Wildlife, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 for an official entry blank. Have a photograph made of the fish and keep it intact in a freezer if there is any possibility of confusion with a similar species (largemouth bass and Kentucky bass, for example) in case it becomes necessary for a biologist to make a positive identification.

Even if it turns out that the fish isn't a state record, you still might be eligible for one or more awards from various outdoor organizations. Following the procedure outlined will establish the veracity of your catch for such awards programs.

Bicycle Safety Winners

Winners in the bicycle safety program held at Prestonsburg Elementary School last Friday are pictured above. They are, from left, Rachel Osborne, third place with 98 points; Sharon Mims, second place with 99 points, and Jim Frazier, first place with a perfect score of 100 points.

Twenty-six members of the third grade took part in the two-day program which was directed by State Trooper Leeman Bevins and sponsored by the General School Safety graduate class of Morehead State University. The program included instruction in bicycle safety by teachers of the class, safety films and a question and answer period conducted by Trooper Bevins on Thursday. Friday afternoon, he set up a bicycle safety course on the school ball field where competitors were judged on hand signals, stopping distances, and maneuvering between obstacles.

Each of the winners was presented a certificate, with free cokes donated by Burger Queen. Trooper Bevins personally contributed a cash award of $3 to first place winner, Jim Frazier, and $1 each to Miss Osborne and Miss Minns.

Beauty of Trees Threatened By Caterpillars, Sawflies

It's that time of year again when trees are beginning to turn nice and green, but unfortunately all that nice greenery is what caterpillars thrive on.

According to officials in the state Division of Forestry, Kentuckians should particularly beware of three defoliating insects: the Virginia pine sawfly, the Arkansas pine sawfly and the Eastern tent caterpillar.

Probably the most abundant pest of the three is the Eastern tent caterpillar which feeds on the foliage of cherry, apple, crabapple and other hardwood trees in most of the Eastern United States.

Forestry officials have estimated that the amount of Eastern tent caterpillars thriving in Kentucky will be slightly higher than in previous years. Silken webs or tents can already be spotted in the branches of host trees throughout the state.

The insect can completely defoliate hardwood trees during April and May, but tree mortality is rare. However, the combination of hundreds of caterpillars, silken tents measuring three or four feet in diameter and naked branches can be unsightly.

Several varieties of caterpillars can cause these "tents." If you have these white tents scattered on your fruit trees but are not sure whether they are Eastern tent caterpillars, these are usually two inches long, hairy and have a white strip down the back bordered by reddish-brown patches and blue spots on the sides.

The Virginia pine sawfly attacks Virginia, Shortleaf, and Pitch Pines in eastern and southcentral Kentucky. Although the presence of this insect has been detected in those regions, forestry officials estimate that the overall damage will be light this spring.

This insect begins defoliating trees during mid to late April when the larvae is in the caterpillar stage and can strip a tree within two weeks. However, they feed entirely on one-year-old needles and complete their development before the new needles appear. In other words, if these creatures thrive on your pines for one year there is little to worry about. If other conditions are favorable after the insects are grown, the trees can produce enough new foliage to survive.

It is time to worry, however, if the trees have been heavily defoliated for three or more consecutive years because the pines are severely weakened and highly susceptible to attack by other insects and diseases.

If you've seen these green caterpillars with shiny, black heads and four gray or black stripes running the length of their bodies for the past three or more years on your pine trees, it could be time to get rid of them once and for all.

The characteristics of the Arkansas pine sawfly are very similar to that of the Virginia pine sawfly but they attack loblolly pines in Western Kentucky during April and May.

Forestry officials estimate that defoliation by this insect will also be light with only a 10 to 20 per cent loss of foliage of loblolly pines expected this year.

Like the Virginia pine sawfly, this caterpillar causes little damage when he thrives on a tree for one season. But loblolly pines that suffer attack for three or more seasons can be susceptible to other insects or diseases.

The insects are light green with reddish-brown heads and dark stripes which run the length of their bodies.

For additional information concerning these insects and how to control them, (or any other tree insect or disease), contact your nearest Kentucky Division of Forestry office.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Nevyle Shackelford

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

So many good people feed birds in winter that naturalists believe the pastime is changing wildlife habits. For instance, more birds are staying north and other birds like the purple finch are being attracted outside their normal range.

No wonder bird feeding is so popular. These little creatures are like animated winter flowers outside the window, highly decorative and aesthetically satisfying. This is the way to have wild pets, natural and self-sustaining, yet always there as good company, to be observed, provide interest, charm and entertainment.

ing roof over the board to protect it from rain and snow. Keep the feeding station as open as possible and use no metal. Experts think metal can injure birds' tongues when frosted.

A 24 by 36 inch feeding board is even better. It cuts down on bird bickering and fussing and gives small birds like wrens, kinglets and chickadees an even chance with jays and larger birds. An alternative is to have a cluster of several stations, some on the ground for ground feeders like juncos and sparrows.

One important thing to remember—don't start feeding birds unless you are willing to bear the expense and keep it up. Otherwise, the birds may starve if the feeding is stopped.

Also you must be willing to clean up the mess birds leave around a feeder. Not the most fastidious creatures in the world, with scattered bird seed, hulls and droppings, they can be somewhat messy.

A little pile of sand and some salt is a good idea for, like chickens, birds need some grit in their craws. Some water should be kept handy for the birds to drink. The catch to keeping a water supply is preventing it from freezing. Thermostatically controlled heaters, such as those used by poultrymen, offer the best solution to the problem.

But if you wish to feed birds this winter, don't let the water supply keep you from doing so. If there is feed available, the birds will find their own way.

Annual Table Tennis Tourney Set at PCC

The third annual T.A.T.T. Club's Spring Table Tennis Tournament will be held in the Martin Student Center, Prestonsburg Community College campus, Friday and Saturday. Doubles competition will be held Friday and singles competition will be held Saturday. All events will be double elimination and all players should report 15 minutes before starting times.

Friday, Class B doubles (intermediate and below players) will begin at 6 p.m. Class A doubles will begin at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, beginning class will begin at 9 a.m. Novice singles will begin at 10 a.m. Intermediate singles will begin at 11 a.m. Advanced singles will begin at 12:30 p.m. Championship singles B (players not seeded in A) will begin at 1:30 p.m. Championship singles A (open to all players) will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to first and second place finishers in each class, and for third place in the championship singles. U.S.T.T.A. rules will govern all play. Class B doubles event is closed to players ranked in the advanced or higher divisions. Players may enter up to two divisions higher than their ranking. For entry fees and other information, contact Ken Fuller, Prestonsburg Community College (886-3863).

Bird feeding has been called the fastest growing indoor and outdoor hobby and there's nothing difficult in getting started. There are all kinds of commercial feeders on the market. Veteran bird feeders say a flat board attached to the window sill on one side and extending outward is as good as any.

Start with 12 by 18 inch board. Leave it unroofed. Use chunks of white bread on the board which the birds can easily see. Along with the bread, sprinkle a handful of sunflower seed, cracked walnuts, or something else birds love. After they begin to call regularly, put a slant-

He's suffering from a Heart Attack, but he may die from ignorance

Because the people around him have no idea what to do. And, because they don't, he may die. Needless to say, if you don't know how to help a heart attack victim, it's time you learned. If you discover someone who has collapsed, chances are you can save him if you know CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation). CPR will teach you how to tell whether his heart has stopped, or whether he has just fainted. If his heart has stopped, you'll know how to keep him alive until medical help arrives, with mouth-to-mouth ventilation and closed chest cardiac compression. CPR has to be learned. Contact your local American Heart Association for information on CPR training in your area. If you don't know CPR, the only thing you can do is call the emergency medical service as fast as you can. Because if his heart isn't beating, he'll be past any kind of help in six minutes. So remember what we've told you. Take the time to learn CPR. Ignorance is a terrible reason to die.

Employees in Double Role

FOUR SWORN AS FEDERAL AGENTS . . . Leslie Y. Pounds (left), director of the Atlanta area Consumer Product Safety Commission, swears in four Bureau of Health Service employees as federal agents. They are (from left): Robert J. Beebe, Landis R. Mays, E. P. Conyers, and Edsel Moore, manager of the bureau's Pesticide and Consumer Product Safety Branch. Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn (left, rear) watches.

Kentucky has become one of the first states in the nation to have state employees empowered to act as agents of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The commission is a regulatory agency which tries to keep harmful products off the market.

Four employees of the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Health Services were sworn in as agents. The new agents will have authority to perform regulatory functions that are covered by federal law but not by state statute. For example, until now state employees were not allowed to put an embargo on flammable fabrics or require preventive packaging for poisonous products.

Leslie Y. Pounds, director of the Atlanta Area Office of the Consumer Product Safety Commission, said, "These appointments are a matter of more eyes for us. Our commission has a specific authority to empower state officials, but until this year we had not done so." Pounds administered the oath to the four agents in human resources Secretary Peter Conn's office.

Those commissioned were Edsel Moore, manager of the Bureau of Health Services' pesticide and consumer product safety branch; E. P. Conyers, D.V.M., assistant manager of that branch; Landis R. Mays and Robert J. Beebe, both health services inspectors.

Conn told the new agents, "We're proud that the federal government thinks enough of our state and our program to honor us and you all with this kind of confidence."

Pounds said that Kentucky's has been one of the leading state agencies across the nation. "We've got things in place in Kentucky that other states haven't even thought of yet. You've been doing a bang-up job."

Prominent Writer To Speak at Midway

Midway College President Lynn H. Draper has announced that Prof. Suzanne Britt Jordan, of North Carolina State University, will be Commencement speaker Sunday, May 7. Professor Jordan will speak on "The Critical Mind".

The speaker is a graduate of Salem College in Winston-Salem, and Washington University, St. Louis. She has also attended the University of Oslo, Norway, and Southern Connecticut State College, New Haven. She is a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Professor Jordan is co-author of The Complete Guide to Basic Grammar, and has had articles, essays and reviews published in the New York Times, The Boston Globe, Magill's Literary Annual, Reader's Digest, and Newsday. She has published poetry in Southern Poetry Review, Lake Superior Review, Graffiti, The Cape Rock, and Poem. Her guest editorial in the November, 1977, issue of Newsweek magazine, entitled "I Wants to Go to the Prose", has won national acclaim.

Travel Pays Off In State Exports

State Commerce Commissioner W. Terry McBrayer announced recently that as a direct result of his export development mission to Latin America last month, a contingency of Venezuelan governmental and business leaders will visit Lexington, Saturday, on what is being billed as a "Venezuelan buying mission to Kentucky."

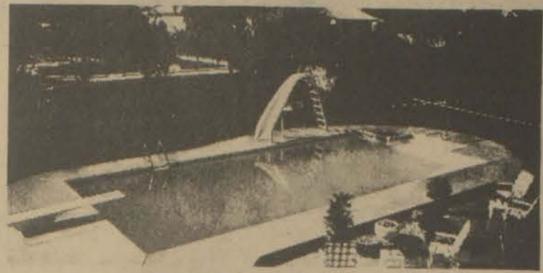

McBrayer said the Venezuelan officials will negotiate with several Kentucky firms concerning the purchase of specific types of manufacturing equipment.

During his recent trip to Latin America, McBrayer said the Venezuelan representatives requested meetings with Kentucky companies which manufacture agricultural machinery, medical and mining-related equipment and food processing equipment.

"We're already seeing positive results from our trade mission to Latin America," McBrayer emphasized. "We know that Latin America and Venezuelan in particular offer us the opportunity to secure new markets for Kentucky companies."

Presently, nearly half of the Kentucky firms involved in exporting report sales to Latin America. On a national scale, over half of Venezuela's annual imports come from the United States.

Mother's Day Story Written by Area Author

A Mother's Day story by Mrs. Alice J. Kinder, of Pikeville, will appear in the May 14 issue of Vista, an adult Sunday School periodical published by the Wesley Press, of Marion, Ind.

Based on the Bible story of Ruth and Naomi, the story is entitled "Dear Mother-In-Law."

The March-April issue of the National Story League magazine carried a story by Mrs. Kinder, entitled "Mama's Oldest Brother." Members of the League are telling stories from Mrs. Kinder's new book to patients in nursing homes and hospitals.

Mrs. Kinder's book is now selling for Mother's Day gifts. Entitled "Mama's Kitchen Window," it is the story of a Kentucky mountain mother. Copies are available at R. H. Hobbs Co. and Cumberland Mt. Galleries in Pikeville, or the book may be obtained from Alice J. Kinder, Route 6, Box 666, Pikeville, Ky. 41501.
