

Task Force Study Set Next Week

Public Is Invited To Offer Comment At Two Sessions

Members of a task force named by Appalachian Regional Hospitals' President David K. Heydinger to study the way the individual hospitals within the system are governed will seek public comments during a two-day visit at the McDowell Regional Hospital next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The group coming to McDowell represents one of three task forces charged by Dr. Heydinger with "determining proper local governance." The results of the study, in the form of recommendations, will be presented to the ARH board of trustees.

Presently, he said, ARH has two levels of governance: a 33-member board of trustees with systemwide responsibilities, and a board of governors at each hospital.

The McDowell ARH board of governors has 16 members. The chairman is William E. (Peco) Hall, McDowell coal operator.

Edward V. Collins, administrator of the McDowell ARH, said the task force members invite public comments from 7 to 9 p.m., June 20, (Tuesday) and from noon until 2 p.m. on June 21 in the hospital library.

Appointments are not required, Mr. Collins said, but individuals who would like a specific meeting time with the group during the noon to 2 p.m. session June 21 may arrange for one by calling the administrator's office.

This Town...That World

The temperature hit 90 over the weekend, and promptly the air-conditioning in the courthouse went on strike. Since the weather has turned cooler, it may kick on, any minute, till needed again.

READING FROM RIGHT TO LEFT

Received this morning a letter from Mayor E. P. Grigsby, of Martin, and the envelope itself bore quite a message. It was an envelope from some years back, one which postoffices sold with the 8-cent stamp imprinted. To the left of that stamp was added a 5-cent stamp, and still farther to the left had been added two 1-cent stamps to make the required 15...And to the left of that was a rectangle in which Mr. Grigsby had written: "Reserved for future increases in postage rates."

TO THE RESCUE

Also in the mail was an envelope from Kansas City, Mo., addressed, "Mr. N. K. (Ink) Allen," and immediately I knew an old precinct, one Bob Harlowe, had been heard from. Aware of the needs of this column, he sent along the "Main Street" column from The Kansas City Times, with the quite accurate notion that I might borrow from it, and I did, as follows:

June, the month of brides, also is a month of laughter since romance is one of the major sources of humor. Evidence abounds in Missouri and Kansas newspapers.

"We heard," the Hopkins (Mo.) Journal said, "that statistics prove that at the age of 70 there are five women to every man. Isn't that a heck of a time for a guy to get those odds?"

The Kirksville (Mo.) Daily Express passed along from the Schleswig (Iowa) Leader: "My wisecracking friend says a few girls prefer to remain single but the majority would rather knot."

Darryl Wilkinson had some words of wisdom on husbands in the Grant City (Mo.) times—Tribune: "A husband is a man who wishes he had as much fun

To Assist Commonwealth's Atty.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen (right) congratulates Dan Rowland, Prestonsburg attorney, after announcing the appointment of Rowland as assistant commonwealth's attorney for the 31st judicial district. The appointment becomes effective, July 1.

Mr. Rowland, who has practiced law in Prestonsburg for the past six years, also served from 1974-'76 as public defender for Floyd county.

Commenting on the appointment, Mr. Allen said, "The appointment of Mr. Rowland was made to better serve the citizens of Floyd county, and he will be assisting in all phases of the work of the commonwealth's attorney."

The position is maintained through state funding, Allen pointed out. Allen and Rowland will continue to maintain separate offices here for their private law practices.

Ex-Sheriff Files Reply to Claim Of Defense Atty.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley said Monday that he expects to enter an order directing that the trial of Ralph Anderson, charged with murder in the slaying of Mack Lewis at Ivel last January, be shifted from his court to another county.

Judge Conley said the change of venue will be granted because he feels that claims made by Henry Hughes, defense attorney, are such that if the trial is held here the Court of Appeals would reverse the results of the hearing.

He said he would set the place of trial for any county in a list submitted by Hughes that is acceptable to the Lewis family. Madison county was said to be the likely choice.

In his petition for change of venue Hughes expressed fear of his own life as well as that of the defendant, if the trial is held here, and said he had received threatening telephone calls.

In response to the defense move for change of venue Ex-Sheriff Joe W. Lewis, brother of the slain man, entered in the record June 8 his affidavit to this effect:

1. He has no intent to do bodily harm to Anderson, his attorney or any participant in the defense of Anderson if the trial is held in Floyd county.

2. Neither he nor any member of his family has ever made a threatening telephone call to Anderson or his attorney or any other person engaged in the defense.

3. He is willing for Kentucky State Police to search each person entering the courtroom before the trial of the case and is agreeable to all weapons, except those of the state police, being confiscated.

4. He has never interfered with the defendant or his attorney in preparing the defense of the case, and neither he nor any member of his family will interfere.

If the venue order is issued, the date for trial will be set by the judge of the new trial court.

Judge Conley denied change of venue early in April and set the trial here, June 20, but the defense later filed a supplemental statement.

Judge Annuls Man's Arrest; Police Unhappy

Release of a prisoner who had been jailed on a harassment charge triggered a protest here Monday by several State Police officers.

Thomas Bartram, of Martin, was at the courthouse, ready to enter a plea of guilty to a marijuana possession charge, when he was arrested in the hallway by an undercover agent on the harassment count, Public Defender Gary Johnson said. Bartram was booked at the jail by Detective Dillion. What caused the harassment charge was not clear, but it was said Bartram called the officer "a

County Assessment Totals Show Rise Over Last Year

The first 1978 recapitulation Property Evaluation Administrator Lovel Hall of Floyd county's property assessment for taxes shows an increase in almost all categories, but the sharpest rise of all is reflected in the assessment of manufacturers' inventory of raw materials and goods, which jumped from $618,984 last year to $5,145,949 in the present assessment.

Overall, the assessment rose from a total of $227,693,083 in 1967 to $253,904,310. The first recapitulation of the assessment is subject to later changes by the board of supervisors.

Assessment losses this year were reflected in stocks, bonds and other intangibles and in merchants' inventories and manufacturers' finished goods.

The comparative assessment figures follow, the 1977 totals appearing in parentheses:

Residential lots and improvements, $65,354,360 ($57,548,320); farm land and improvements, $15,996,511 ($15,503,006); commercial and industrial, $26,644,773 ($23,344,879); oil, mineral and timber rights, $1,675,641 ($1,572,958)—total real estate assessment, $109,671,285 ($97,969,163).

The value of unmined coal, which is subject only to state tax, is listed at $14,891,639, compared with $12,022,586 last year.

Other items in the assessment recapitulation:

Motor vehicles, $44,550,000 ($43,897,612); aircraft, $994,900 ($431,450); watercraft, $674,975 ($526,525); merchants' inventories and manufacturers' finished goods, $14,289,504 ($15,088,448); professional trade tools and business furniture, $2,611,496 ($2,391,567); drilling, mining and construction equipment, $14,587,082 ($10,356,881); other tangible property, $881,711 ($1,324,929)—total tangible property $78,589,668 ($74,017,412).

Subject to state tax only, manufacturing machinery is listed this year at $4,227,756 as compared with $3,236,551 in 1977, and manufacturers' inventory of raw materials rose this year to $5,145,949 from $618,984 last. Stocks, bonds and other intangibles are down to $11,061,584 from last year's $16,875,859, but other intangibles, which bear only a 1/2-cent state rate, rose to $20,059,524 from $13,956,293 in 1977. Bank shares are up to $10,256,905 this year from last year's total of $9,001,235.

Calendar Sets Aug. 11 Opening Of School Term

Although the employment of teachers and other personnel was the major work of the Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Thursday, the matter of getting into classwork and back out again, with the possibility of another horrendous winter considered, also engaged its attention.

The school calendar adopted provides for an early opening of the county's schools. The first day for pupils will be Friday, August 11, following in-service days August 9 and 10 for teachers at their respective schools. August 14 will be devoted by teachers to plans, records and other school matters, and pupils will return for classwork on August 15.

Four holidays are in the calendar, which must be approved by the State Board of Education to be official. The holidays are Labor Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's. The Christmas vacation will begin Dec. 22 and end Jan. 2, and because of the week-ends only four days will remain to be made good.

Other breaks in the teaching schedule include election day, Nov. 7; two days of spring vacation, March 16 and 23; Floyd County Education Association, April 6; EKEA, Oct. 20; KEA, April 12 and 13; in-service days, May 3 and 4.

And, if all goes well, the school term will end May 7, 1979. The current term ended only last week—June 8.

The board also approved a full-year Head Start program, on recommendation of Big Sandy CAP, which pointed out that new guidelines require such a program rather than one only for the summer months, to void loss of funds.

Officers Say Clues Missing in 2 Murders

Two area murders apparently remain a mystery to investigating officers.

Jack Music, detective with the Paintsville Police Department, said this week there is not a "solid" lead to the identity of the person or persons who kidnapped and later killed James Leonard Wells, 27, night clerk at the Heart o' Highlands Motel, Paintsville.

And the investigation of the murder of Burton Conn, 47, watchman at the Triple Elkhorn Mining Company mine, between Allen and Martin, April 30, as in the same unsettled stage.

Investigation of the Conn murder was initially by State Police Detective Fred Bailey, but Sheriff Doug Lewis has more recently begun an investigation of his own. Neither probe has uncovered positive clues.

Conn was found possibly 10 hours after he had been shot at the mountaintop site of the mining operation. He lay behind his truck, face up, dead of a single bullet wound high in his chest. Robbery, officers say, was a not a motive, since $187 in cash was on the victim's person. The fatal shot was fired at close range, and Conn's shirt was powder-stained. Suicide (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Raiders Locate Mine Equipment; Building Burns

The Island Creek Coal Company did not know that at least $25,000 worth of its equipment had been stolen from its supply house at Price until what was intended to be a whiskey raid was made recently by Joe W. Lewis, Wheelwright deputy marshal, and Deputy Sheriff John D. Martin.

The two officers approached their search object, a small building on Tinker Fork of Mud Creek, and found the door open. They decided "the bird had flown," but found the structure filled with mining supplies.

They left about 11:30 a.m. to notify coal company officials of the find, and within an hour the building burned. Much of the equipment was rendered useless.

No arrest in the case had been made as of Tuesday.

Another raid last Saturday, this one on Carl T. Hall, of Grethel, netted six cases of beer. Officers in the raid were Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis, "Red" Ison and Charles Akers and ABC Agent Ted Salisbury.

Perkins To Address Black Lung Meeting

Congressman Carl D. Perkins will be guest speaker at a black lung meeting at 1 p.m. Saturday at the McDowell Union Hall. He will discuss the new black lung bill and new regulations governing the bill.

Other issues to be discussed include hearing on black lung regulations which is scheduled to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday in Charleston, W. Va.; black lung medical cards, and black lung clinics.

The Union Hall is located across from Moore's Grocery, and a spokesman said that everyone is welcome to attend the meeting.

Board's 'Belt-Tightening' May Cost Only Dozen Jobs

The Floyd County Board of Education's announced belt-tightening policy to cut expenses and work toward a balanced budget has resulted in the elimination of about 25 payroll salaries, it was said following last week's board meeting.

But, because of 15 retirements and resignations and two new programs financed by state federal funds, or both, the net job loss is only about 12.

The new programs are (1) expanded kindergarten to be either fulltime or part-time in all schools, financed by state funds; and (2) practical arts as a new unit of vocational education for pupils in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, financed by both state and federal monies. Practical arts has been added, it was explained, to give pupils an early introduction to future careers in the professions and occupations.

The 15 who retired or resigned are: Lindsay Blackburn, Allen Central High; Geneva Hamilton, Betsy Layne; Ruth T. Smith, Melvin; Richmond Slone, director of pupil personnel; Burnice Gearheart, principal of the Garrett Elementary School; Anna Mary Friend, McDowell; Charles Curry, Wheelwright; Wilma Crisp Montgomery, Martin; Illa Branham, Wayland; Mildred S. Salisbury, Allen; Sonia Greer, Martin; Bessie Draughn, Prestonsburg, and Donna Scaff, Betsy Layne.

Added to these were two—Dahlia Sue Jones and Dorothy Hall—who were granted leaves of absence.

The full dollars-and-cents impact of the board action will not be documented till all odds and ends of the program are picked up but will be ready for announcement by the next regular board meeting, Supt. E. P. Grigsby, Jr. said.

Vacancies remain in the post of principal at Allen and Maytown. At Allen Oliver Allen, principal, transferred to the Homebound teaching program. Ralph O'Quinn, principal at Maytown transferred to Garrett to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Burnice Gearheart.

Teachers employed: J. H. ALLEN CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL—J. O. Dingus, principal; Adrian Bentley, principal; Teresa K. Scutchfield, music; Nancy S. Dingus, home ec.; Howard W. Wallen, physical education and basketball coach; Stephen Halbert, special vocational careers;

Marie C. Mullins, home ec.; Rondall R. Prater, part-time driver education; Carolita O'Quinn, art, English; Jack Stevens, guidance; Joyce Stevens, librarian; Lois E. Frasure, athletic director; Patricia Murphy, health-social studies; Judy Mason Eversole, p.e. and girls basketball coach; Vinetta Bolen, English; Marcella Bradley, commerce; Lowell Conley, social studies; Lema Cooley, science; Lorena Hall, social studies; Marguerite Harmon, English; Bert Layne, social studies; Lowell Martin, biology; T. C. May, physical science; Charlotte Moore, math; Curtis Moore, science; Marvin Moore, math; Judy Slone, English; Joyce Watson, math

ALLEN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL—Jimmy Gray, girls' basketball coach; Emily Allen, Danese Amburgey, Glenda Blackburn, Imogene Caldwell, Phyllis Craft, Linda F. Gayheart, Frank Gray, Florene Harris, Lois P. Martin, Patricia Branson, David Mosley, football coach and boys' basketball coach; Libby Hall, part-time music; Diane Comstock, kindergarten.

Bank Executive

The Bank Josephine announces the employment of Gari K. Sutton in the capacity of executive vice-president, effective June 5.

Mr. Sutton was formerly a consultant in the Detroit office of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., and was responsible for the financial institutions consulting practice of that office. While with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., he has acted as consultant to financial institutions, public utilities, insurance companies, manufacturing firms, and community service organizations in the areas of management accounting, marketing, operations, organizational studies, and compensation administration.

Prior to joining Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, & Co., Mr. Sutton served in the banking industry, holding various executive positions such as executive vice-president, senior vice-president and controller. He previously served on the audit staff of a national CPA firm, and holds a B. S. degree in accounting and economics from Eastern Michigan University.

Mr. Sutton, his wife, Pat, and two sons, Scott and Ward, will reside in the Prestonsburg area.

Valley Group Hosts Annual Picnic, June 6

Twenty-two families enjoyed a potluck dinner June 6 at the second annual picnic sponsored by the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association. The group, meeting at the Dewey Dam recreation area, also enjoyed whiffleball and other outdoor activities.

During the picnic the families completed a survey indicating their desire for future group projects, such as talks by area professionals, an Association newsletter, group social activities, breastfeeding support meetings, and a group babysitting co-op. Mrs. William S. Kendrick, head of the Association, which is open to all area residents, reported that there were participants at the picnic from Floyd, Pike, Johnson and Magoffin counties.

HEALTH NOTES

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH

Cancer of the cervix can be one of the most curable of all cancers. Yet some 11,000 women in this country die of it each year—mainly, because their cancer isn't detected early enough.

The Floyd County Health Department will conduct a pap smear clinic tomorrow (Thursday) from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. All women needing the yearly pap smear are urged to attend for this free service.

Health Nurse will hold the regularly scheduled outpost clinic at Ethel Osborne's Store at Bypro, Monday, June 19. Clinic hours will be from 10 to 2, and the following services will be available: TB skin tests, diabetes screening, hemoglobins, blood pressures and immunizations. All persons in the Bypro area are welcome to attend.

The health department announces that there will be no nursing services available to the public Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 20-22. The nurses will be attending meetings on these days.

The Message—'Loud and Clear'

It happened in only one state, but the California vote approving Proposition 13 and its rollback of property taxes is a clear message to the leadership in every state, even in Washington.

The people whose money pays the bills have clearly said, "Thus far, and no farther."

The California mandate may be a bit radical, but it was needed. The brakes have been set in this one state, and what happened there last week should, and surely will, bring state governments and the nation's to their senses.

Although taxes are as inevitable as death, and no good citizen denies the right of government to assess them, they must not continue to mount till the taxpayer reaches the crisis of the last straw.

All over this country people are demanding that government waste and spending be given as much thought as the next "project" and its cost of millions. People are tired of working for those who will not work, of working to finance schemes that will not work. As they go about their jobs and then write their checks to pay their own personal tax bills they are wondering how many useless salaries from the county level all the way to Washington made these bills so steep.

California is now learning how to live with a reduced income. Some jobs will be lost, and they should be; some services will be curtailed, and some should be; those working at state jobs will find more to do and time hanging less heavily on their hands, which is good. In these next few months this one state will come to grips with reality. If the people find that it is operating satisfactorily with less money, their victory will be the greater. If they find that the cutback is too drastic, they, as good citizens, will be willing to pay more. But they will have to be convinced.

What lies ahead for other states? The "tax reform" movement will spread. And, if the federal government continues to waste tax monies and add to the burden of the taxpayer, there may come the time when the voters of the country will be passing judgment on a constitutional amendment to limit, or even roll back, the onerous income tax.

The House Appropriations Committee called Monday for the earmarking of $140,000 to start advanced engineering on the Fishtrap reservoir, bringing to two the number of impoundments in process of planning to prevent Big Sandy floods. . . . Nineteen persons have been convicted in quarterly court since June 3, records of the court disclose. . . . The so-called Pocahontas railway lines—the C. & O., N. & W. and the Virginian and Clinchfield—have filed notice of plans to reduce their freight rates on fine coal into the Carolinas by 35 cents a ton. . . . A statistical study of the records of the Agricultural Stabilization committee show that 403 Floyd county farmers earned a total of $38,480.02 last year in carrying out accepted practices, according to Elder Goble, office manager. . . . The fourth recipient of the Reatherford-Salyers Award, which is given annually to the outstanding Prestonsburg high school senior athlete, is Paul Phillip Hughes. . . . Married: Miss Dorothy Herald, and Bill Ray Thompson, June 6 at the Methodist Church here. . . . There died: Bascom May, 90, Friday at his home here; Bood Poe, 75, last Thursday at his home at West Prestonsburg; Malcolm Vanderpool, 52, Tues. at his home at Hueysville; Mrs. L. L. Meade, 82, June 6 at her home at Sitka; Sam Carver, 46, of Martin, last Wednesday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin; Wiley Wadkins, 75, of Blue River, Sunday at the Paintsville hospital; Mrs. Doris Jean Hall Blevins, 28, of Betsy Layne, Monday at Ashland.

Thirty Years Ago

(June 17, 1948)

The store of Raymond Turner at Drift was looted, early last Friday morning, of merchandise the value of which may run as high as $5,000. . . . The Dewey reservoir project was allotted $2,071,000 total appropriation for Kentucky flood control and navigation work given final Congressional approval Monday. . . . Top priority among Floyd roads has been given the Prestonsburg-Salyersville highway and the route from a point near David via Brush Creek to Northern on Route 80. . . . The machinery of trial courts in judicial districts over this section ground to a full stop Wednesday as uncertainty prevailed over the legality of old and new statutes as to boundary lines and court terms. . . . Negotiations toward a new coal contract broke down Tuesday with the walk-out of coal mine operators who complained that the parley was accomplishing nothing. . . . Milray Damron, 24-year-old Harold war veteran, died last Saturday, 30 minutes after he was struck by an automobile when the bicycle he was riding suddenly swerved onto the highway. . . . The Black Cats of Prestonsburg high school last Thursday night won at Parkway Field, Louisville, the high school baseball championship of Kentucky. . . . Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Webb, a son, Richard Spurr Webb, IV, June 12 at the Prestonsburg General hospital. . . . Married: Requa Kincoer, of Floyd county, to Charles C. Spears, of Pikeville, June 15 at the Methodist Church here; Miss Estelene Webb, of East Point, and James Eugene Martin, of Wayland, June 14; Miss Margaret Douglas Spurlock and Adrian Blackburn, both of Prestonsburg, June 11. . . . There died: Carl Crisp, 25, of Martin, at his father's home near Martin, June 15; Mrs. Molly Spradlin Burgess, 70, of Cliff, Sunday at her home.

Forty Years Ago

(June 16, 1938)

A verdict of murder and suicide was written by a coroner's jury in a Cow Creek home at midnight Monday where a 47-year-old woman was shot to death by her 50-year-old husband who then fired a bullet into his own brain. . . . Two Floyd county men were jailed at Inez Saturday and Mark Maynard, a 65-year-old Martin county farmer, was near death as a result of one of the two accused men firing his pistol from a speeding automobile "just for fun". . . . Meeting here last Thursday, the Floyd fiscal court ordered the rental of road construction machinery, with options to buy, for use on the proposed Johns Creek road. . . . Governor A. B. Chandler is scheduled for a speech, June 18, before an expected 5,000 persons as one of the highlights of the American Legion's 10th district convention here Saturday and Sunday. . . . John Warrick, salesman for the Howard Motor Company, local Ford dealer, won first prize for June Ford sales in the Cincinnati area. . . . Superstitions, firmly believed by many Floyd county farmers, are among the greatest hindrances to progressive agriculture found in seven years of work in this section, County Agent S. L. Isbell said this week. . . . Born: to Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Stephens, a daughter, Lyda Morgan, at a Paintsville hospital. . . . Married: Mrs. Maxine Fraley Walters to Belford Reitz, both of Drift, at Paintsville, Saturday. . . . Rehab Center Employee Preps For National Wheelchair Event

Wilma Vanlandingham, an employee of the Eastern Kentucky Rehabilitation Center at Thelma, will participate in the 22nd National Wheelchair Games scheduled for June 14-18 at the Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center, Fishersville, Va.

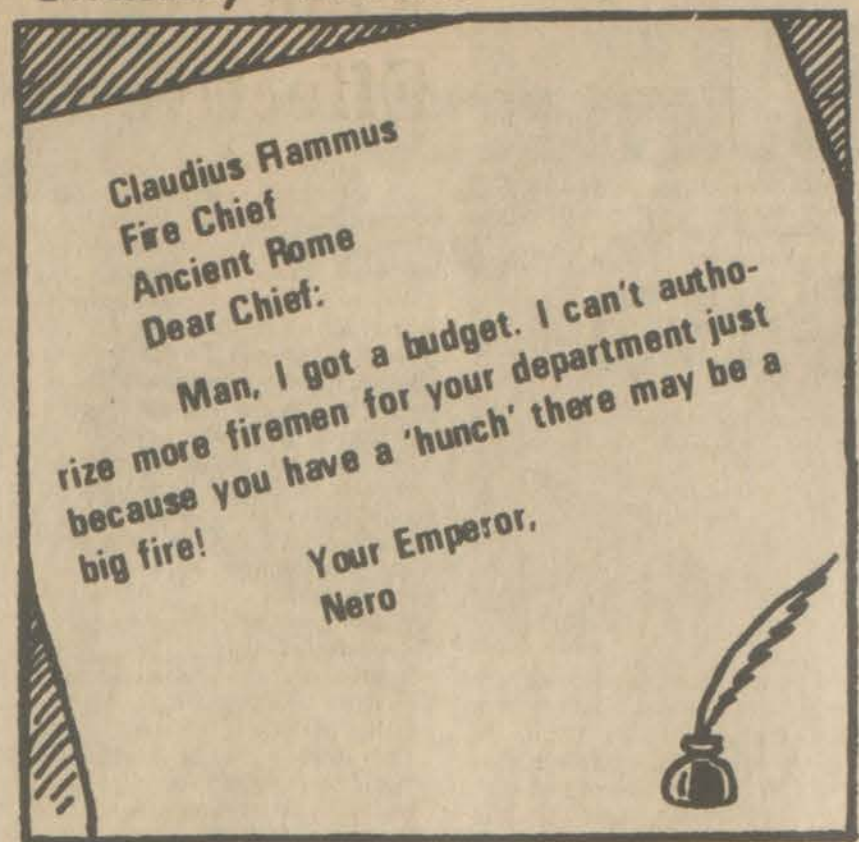

Last month, she won first place in table tennis at the sixth annual Wheelchair Games, also held in Fishersville. More than 200 participants from Tennessee, Delaware, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky entered the competition which included track and field events, swimming, weight-lifting, bowling and table tennis.

Vanlandingham has carried medals away from the competition for the past two years. Last year she won plaques for bowling and table tennis, and the year before, for pool and the 60-yard dash. Now in her late 30s, Vanlandingham is just beginning to catch up on the competitive sports and games missed during her childhood. She has lived in a wheelchair since infancy because a calcium deficiency at birth prevented normal physiological development. She has been working at the Eastern Kentucky Rehabilitation Center since it opened in 1974 and has learned to drive a car equipped with hand controls. When she is not working or practicing for competition, she studies. She is continuing her education by taking courses at Prestonsburg Community College. With her drive and competitive spirit, Vanlandingham serves as an inspiration to students who come to the center to learn a skill. Along with vocational training, the students receive medical services and treatment, recreation and social activities and adjustment services to help them on the job and in daily living.

Says Road Work Overdue

Even with our beautiful summer weather approaching, sadly enough many of our county roads are in worse condition than they have been in (20) years. We are simply destroying our automobiles, traveling these disintegrated roads. It just does not make sense. On the Slick Rock fork of Cow Creek, the ditches (only about a four-hour job) have not been pulled in eight years and consequently water stays on the surface because the road is lower than the eroded ditches. I have tried and tried but to no avail to get some relief for this road. What kind of heart beats within some of our elected officials when they are willing to draw a salary from the taxpayers and then fail to respond to our needs?

I think we should support all of our elected officials when they are right and oppose them when they are wrong and callous toward our needs. In our upcoming elections we need to launch a full-scale attack using our disposal money, time, camera and typewriter against some of our elected officials that fail to carry out their obligations to the good people and at least attempt to repair our deplorable roads.

I understand a meeting was recently held by some of our elected officials to discuss, among other things, the lack of general progress in Floyd county. Many attending this most useful meeting were my friends and I hope they will shortly be able to report to us that they have found the revenue and the incentive to declare war on our old worn-out roads.

Inquires about Bonds

On Feb. 23, 1977 (I believe) you ran an editorial on the Allen water system.

I am a bondholder on this system and I have not received any interest on these bonds for approximately two years, could you give me any information regarding my trouble? If you cannot supply this would you please be so kind as to forward this little note to the proper parties for a reply?

I am 71 years old and I sure do need this interest very much.

On the David Road

Last month, our corporation wrote to the Highway Department of Maintenance in Frankfort, to complain about the condition of Route 404. Route 404 is eroding in places north of David to the point where only one lane is passable. All commuter traffic is endangered.

We appreciate the danger signs the Department place along the affected curbs. We also appreciate that the State Division of Maintenance director answered our letter.

We do not agree that badly maintained roads are safer. Yet, this is in essence of what the state told us. The Department of Transportation responded to our letter with reasons why Route 404 cannot be immediately repaired with the following remarks: "In fact, it is apparent by studying statistics that the higher standard a road is constructed to, the faster people drive and when an accident does occur it is a more serious accident, usually resulting in more fatalities".

We need to keep lines of communication with the Division of Maintenance's important state officers open. We respect their opinions. So we publish this response reluctantly.

But, to answer that bad roads are safe roads is no answer. The people of Eastern Kentucky are entitled to a great deal more than that. We are entitled to properly constructed streets, and nothing less will suffice. ASHLAND HOWARD, Chairman, David Community Corp., David, Ky.

Thought It Wasn't Used

We have been following the letters to the editor on McDowell School. We hadn't been there since '59; so, while on vacation in June three years ago, we decided to drive by and show our kids where we went to high school. We were so sad to see our school was no longer being used. After arriving at our relatives we were informed that school had been in session the week before and would be resumed the following year. We couldn't believe it, for Mr. Belcher's letter described it well. Even if they don't build a new one, couldn't they at least get new shades, repair windows and clean it up? Even the schoolyard looked terrible. We hope something is done before it is too late.

Pest Can Be Eradicated, But . . .

Chemical Killer of Multiflora Requires Training of Handlers

Some years ago, Soil Conservation leaders promoted multiflora rose as a "living fence" for farms, and game conservation people recommended it for game cover.

It was both fence and cover. And beautiful in its pink springtime bloom.

But now it ranks among the plant pests, and its spread has been particularly wide and heavy in Floyd county fields, in places taking over valuable pasture land. Multiflora sends its roots deep, and it defies efforts to dig it up. One root left, and in a year or so it is back in business at the same old stand, says County Agent John Sparks.

There is a "remedy," however. It's called Tordon K and comes in pellet form. The chemical kills multiflora rose and the kudzu which also has a tendency to cover and smother out all other vegetation where it grows.

But Tordon K is highly toxic and must be handled carefully. For this reason it was not approved for use in Kentucky till this year—and now only after the person applying it receives training.

Extreme care in applying the stuff is required because it destroys tobacco, Kentucky's major agricultural crop, and is toxic to fish. As an example of its toxicity, one pellet on the wheel of a tractor used in a tobacco field could render the soil unfit for tobacco for as long as 20 years, Mr. Sparks said. Its application near a stream or lake could also result in the chemical reaching the water with destructive effect on fish.

These are among the reasons for the requirement that handlers of Tordon K be trained in how and where to apply it. One class of trainees met three weeks ago, and the county agent said another will be formed soon.

Tordon was approved earlier in West Virginia, and it works.

THE AWAKENING

Fellow reminded me, the other day, that I must be getting along, now that I've begun bird-watching-and-listening and referring to the experiences so enjoyed rather than turning to yarns about fishing and the like. He may be right. This year I have had my ears and eyes opened to delights of sight and sound that I have passed up for too many years.

A redbird is my 6 a.m. alarm clock with notes so liquid you can almost see them pour. Mockingbirds trill their arias, and groundhog occasionally makes his appearance on the hillside. We are still watching for last year's visitor, a gray fox, to return. And, the other morning, four squirrels showed up.

Things such as this make home indeed a shelter from the outside storm.

Wins Essay Contest

Holly K. Inhoff, fourth-grade winner of the annual Red Cross essay contest, was presented her prize recently at the Waco School in Crawfordville, Iowa. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Inhoff, of Wayland, Iowa, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Inhoff, of Wayland, Iowa, and Mrs. Stella Stumbo, of Harold, and the late John W. Stumbo. Holly learned about the Red Cross when she and her family were in Eastern Kentucky, helping her grandparents and other relatives with the cleanup after the April, 1977 flood disaster. She realized from this experience how valuable the Red Cross is.

Kindergarten for All Effective in 1979-80

Kindergarten will be a reality by the 1979-'80 school year for all Kentucky youngsters who want to attend. While it will not be mandatory that children attend kindergarten, school districts must provide the opportunity to attend for all children who are eligible. Randy Kimbrough, head of the state's Bureau of Instruction, said 64,000 Kentucky youngsters will be kindergarten age during the coming school year.

By the end of the biennium, kindergartens across Kentucky will be funded by the state. Kindergarten units are allocated to local districts on the basis of one unit per 50 children enrolled in the program. Kimbrough said the Department of Education received 300 new kindergarten units to allocate to the local districts this year, raising to 900 the total number of units in Kentucky.

Only five or six of Kentucky's 181 school districts still have no kindergarten program at all, according to Kimbrough. "Space is the biggest problem," she said. The districts without kindergartens have no facilities for the classes. She estimated that one-third to one-half of Kentucky school districts could have problems with space when the statewide kindergarten program is fully implemented. "Some districts will have new facilities finished by next year, but space will still be a problem, especially in districts with increased enrollments," Kimbrough said.

Local school officials may choose how they wish to operate their program. One alternative is to hold two half-day sessions with 25 children in each one. Another option is to let one group of 25 children attend all day for one semester and another 25 children attend the second semester. Some districts opt for alternate day sessions, where children attend kindergarten every other day.

The cost of operating a kindergarten program is estimated at $17,500 a unit, which includes teacher's salary, current operating expenses and capital outlay. Appropriations from the 1978 General Assembly did not include funding for transportation. Kimbrough explained that many districts go ahead and transport kindergarten children when there is room on their existing fleet of buses.

Regional Meet Sat., June 19-21 At Morehead U.

The first of a series of regional conferences planned to focus on Kentucky's economic development problems will be held June 19-21 at Morehead State University.

The Appalachian Development Conference will address specific development issues facing Kentucky Appalachia in an unprecedented effort to get to the source of the major problems facing eastern Kentucky. Gov. Julian Carroll said in announcing the conference.

The reason for the regional approach, it is explained, is to look specifically at regional characteristics which determine the economic structure of an area. "Studying the problems on a regional basis makes it easier to analyze them and come up with solutions," he continued.

William L. Short, development secretary, said four task force workshops are planned and will include: streamlining state government for Appalachian development; socioeconomic impact of energy production, human economic development needs in Kentucky Appalachia and economic diversification and development financing.

"On the last day of the conference," Short said, "the meeting will be opened to the public to give the people of Kentucky's Appalachian area the opportunity to voice their opinions and ideas concerning the recommendations which come out of the task forces."

Individuals invited to address the conference participants include: Gov. Carroll; Harry Teter Jr., executive director of the ARC; William E. Albers, federal co-chairman of the ARC; Leonard Mercure, assistant secretary for rural development in the United States Department of Agriculture; state commerce commissioner W. Terry McBrayer and others.

Highlighting the Appalachian Development Conference will be the official opening of Morehead State University's Appalachian Development Center, which will become fully operational this summer. The purpose of the center will be to develop programs to enhance economic, social and educational growth throughout Appalachian Kentucky.

David School
Gets Big Share
Of Allocation

Approval of funds totaling $101,945 for Floyd county law enforcement-related projects was granted over the past weekend at the quarterly meeting of the Kentucky Crime Commission in Lexington.

Bulk of the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds in the amount of $95,000 was approved for the David School, an alternate learning center which was established three years ago at David. Under the direction of Dan Greene and manned by a staff of six instructors, the school offers special educational opportunities for young people who find adaptation to conventional classroom situations impossible, and the money will help maintain the facilities staff and curriculum as well as provide funds for school vocational materials and learning aids.

David Evans, criminal justice planner for the Big Sandy Area Development District, said the grant for continuance of the David School was particularly pleasing, since the funding actually exceeded the $80,000 originally requested.

A total of $5,600 was approved for the Prestonsburg Police Department for the purchase and installation of a completely new communications system for the force. The equipment includes a new base station, antenna and mobile units.

Funds totalling $1,345 approved for the Floyd Sheriff's Department will provide for the purchase of a specialized ID camera for taking "mug" shots, a 35-mm. camera, narcotics analysis kit, fingerprint kit and an evidence collection kit.

Need for the funding was researched and given local approval by the Big Sandy ADD board early this year, according to Evans, with final approval being given by the Kentucky Crime Commission at the meeting last weekend.

Officials Move To Close Eagles

County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen and Sheriff Doug Lewis jointly prepared for immediate filing late Tuesday a complaint asking that the Eagles Club here be closed as a public nuisance.

Their petition, to be filed in circuit court, alleges that:

Within the last 12 months the Fraternal Order of Eagles, through its club, has allowed the possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale and has conducted the sale of such beverages on the premises.

Within the past 12 months a disturbance at the club resulted in the stabbing of Mack Johnson and that later gunplay resulted in the deaths of Loran Stumbo and Mack Johnson.

The Order of Eagles has allowed "boisterous drinking and obnoxious behavior on the premises, along with said illegal acts of violence," and that the criminal laws of the state and county are ineffective to correct the disturbances and violations.

The Prestonsburg City Council last week also moved to initiate proceedings for the closing of the club.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our deepest gratitude to all who were so kind to us upon the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Edith Blair. We thank all who sent food and flowers, Our Lady of the Way Hospital staff, and Benny Blankenship, minister, Church of Christ, for his comforting words.

Earl Blair and daughters,
Mrs. Patty May and Mrs. Eileen Banks

Miss Brown To Head
ALC Summer Theatre

Alice Lloyd College's Appalchian Summer Theater will begin its eighth season in two weeks under the leadership of Susan D. Brown, of Prestonsburg, a teacher at Prestonsburg High School.

For the past three summers, Miss Brown has worked professionally at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theater at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Miss Brown said that ALC's Appalchian Summer Theater will produce three plays this season—two children's plays, and a comedy for general audiences. "The Aesop Fables," an adaptation of the famous fables for children, will be presented Sunday afternoons on the ALC campus in Pippa Passes. A new Jack Tale, "Jack and the Fork-Tailed Bugher," a play for children by John Michael Hughes, a May graduate of the College, will tour local communities through the summer.

"The Importance of Being Ernest," the comedy classic by Oscar Wilde, will be Summer Theater's full-length Saturday evening offering, Miss Brown said.

Originally from Coatesville, Pa., Miss Brown has studied drama at Point Park College in Pittsburgh; Franklin and Marshall College, in Lancaster, Pa., and at West Chester State College, in West Chester, Pa., where she earned a bachelor's degree in 1977. She teaches speech, English, and sponsors the Drama Club at Prestonsburg High School.

"Being new to this area, I am excited to find so many people in the region who are as interested in the arts as I have always been. As for the college, ALC seems to be an ideal place for students to begin their fine arts education," she said.

June 30 Deadline Set
For Scout Ranch Signup

June 30 is the deadline date for signing for the 1978 Philmont expedition sponsored by Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Scouts who are participants in this year's expedition will leave the council on Thursday, July 20, and travel by train via Chicago to the Philmont Scout Ranch, near Cimarron, New Mexico. Already more than 16,000 Scouts from throughout the United States have registered for 12 days at Philmont, Scouting's national 150,000 acrea high-adventure base located in the Rocky Mountains of northeastern New Mexico.

Boys from throughout the council have signed for the Philmont adventure which will be led by Phillip Craft, one of the council's district executives, of Letcher county. Boys who participate in this year's Philmont expedition must be at least 14 years of age by September 1 of this year and must be in excellent physical condition, since members of the expedition will be expected to hike and camp for 12 full days, including the possibility of a climb up one of the 14,000-foot mountain peaks located on the ranch.

Additional information regarding the Philmont expedition may be obtained by contacting the office of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, in Pikeville, phone 437-6209.

Regional Magazine
Publication Slated

The 25 counties of Eastern Kentucky comprising "the Kentucky Highlands" will soon have their own regional magazine, according to an announcement from Robert L. Marsh, president of Highlands Publishing Company, Inc., of Paintsville.

Several months in the planning and development, KENTUCKY HIGHLANDS MAGAZINE will begin monthly publication with its August issue, Marsh said.

"There is a wealth of talent in this region. People who can and do write well, people who paint, write poetry, make beautiful pieces of art and unique craft items. We plan to solicit their talents and to write about some of the things they are doing," Marsh said.

Other features planned for future issues, according to Marsh, are personality profiles of men and women in Eastern Kentucky who are or have made notable contributions to life in the highlands; articles on business, industry, transportation education and history of the region; reviews of books by or about people of the region; and features on food, gardening, interior design and decorating and forthcoming activities.

HERE FROM FLORIDA

Mrs. Bertie Nash, of Brooksville, Fla., has concluded a visit with her brother, Bill Pettrey, Mrs. Pettrey, and Mrs. Rebecca Ransnick, and has returned to her home.

Magoffin Sheriff Convicted, Lawrence Officials Accused

The probe by U. S. authorities into official fraud in Eastern Kentucky in labor-connected cases has resulted in the conviction of an ex-sheriff of Magoffin county and the arrest of two Lawrence county officials.

Ex-Sheriff Ben Patrick, of Magoffin county, has been convicted on extortion charges alleging that he conspired with a union official to sell pipefitters' permits and is awaiting federal court sentence. Arrested last Tuesday by FBI agents were Sheriff Charlie Vinson, 59, and Magistrate Arlie B. Thompson, 48, of Lawrence county—both charged under the federal Hobbs Act with using public office to extort money.

They were arrested at Louisa on a complaint signed by Bill Cheek, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent. Cheek said the arrest followed delivery of a packet of money—the second such delivery made.

Cheek alleged that Vinson and Lawrence County Jailor Bo Davis contacted Jim Williamson, vice president of United Coal Company of Proctorville, Ohio, and Vinson told Williamson he expected to get 20 cents a ton for coal transported in Kentucky. If the money was not paid, Vinson indicated he would close United's operation in Lawrence county by harassment of the firm's coal trucks, the complaint alleged.

Between May 8-12, Vinson contacted Williamson at Proctorville and said his representative would pick up the first payment on May 12 in front of the state liquor store in the Ceredo Plaza. On May 12, FBI Special Agent Ronald D. Anderson met Vinson's representative at the Plaza. The representative was Thompson, the complaint alleged.

Anderson said he handed Thompson an envelope containing $1,200 and this transaction was witnessed by Special Agents Douglas T. Klunder and Herbert E. Cohrs.

That process was repeated, Tuesday of last week, when Anderson handed Thompson another envelope, this time with $1,301, FBI officials said. Officers followed Thompson to Lawrence county, and both men were arrested there. A preliminary hearing is tentatively set for June 23.

Jailor Davis has not been accused of any wrongdoing.

If convicted, Vinson and Thompson could face prison terms of up to 20 years and fines up to $10,000 each.

Observes National Hospital Week

Martin sixth grade pupils with clown during their visit to Our Lady of the Way Hospital.

Hospital Week activities at Our Lady of the Way Hospital at Martin, May 7-13, were carried out by a special Hospital Week Committee.

Our Lady of the Way, a Catholic institution dedicated to serving the surrounding community within the context of Christian concern, used this opportunity to look at its staff, its services and its philosophy, and to share it with the community.

National Hospital Week is an annual observance which began 58 years ago and is sponsored by the American Hospital Association.

A poster contest for the sixth graders of Martin Elementary School started the week's activities. Posters were displayed in the hospital lobby and on the walls of the second-floor corridor commemorating the 30-year history of the hospital and its services to the community.

Each day of the week, on all three shifts, different departments treated the other departments—some with breakfast, brunch, lunch, and a buffet-style dinner.

A "patient of the day" was also selected at random daily. A poster was placed on the patient's door, a gift presented, and his or her picture was displayed in the lobby and a picture presented to the patient.

A prayer service and a slide presentation was held for employees, visitors, and patients under the direction of Frank Cancro and Sr. Marie Gangwish.

The hospital was host to the sixth grade students of Martin Elementary School, teachers and principal. A tour was conducted by "Dr. Frankie" the clown (Frank Cancro). Punch and cookies were served to the children. Posters from the contest were judged and prizes awarded by Sr. Loretta Anne and Sr. Mary Felix, co-administrators. First prize went to Stephanie Barnette; second, to Jeffrey Robinson; three third prizes went to Debra K. Hutchinson, Doris Spurlock and Jeffrey W. Powell. Honorable mentions were Samuel Dean Mullins, Carolyn Jeanette Shepherd and Melissa Sammons.

Hospital Week activities were extended to Mother's Day to honor working and hospitalized mothers. The hospital honored all hospitalized mothers and mothers staying with hospitalized children with a special decorative breakfast tray. An arrangement of flowers was sent to employee mothers who were working that day. At the end of the day, a drawing was held and Mrs. Sandy Manns won the flowers to take home with her.

Retires after 31 Years

Wilma Snavely Montgomery was recently honored on her retirement after 31 years as a teacher.

The reception in her honor was held at the Hut Restaurant of Martin. Clem Martin, former supervisor for Floyd county school, was the guest-speaker. Many friends, relatives, former and present students gathered to express their appreciation of the excellent work she has completed. Twenty-eight of her 31 years as a teacher were spent in the Martin Elementary School.

Mrs. Montgomery said of her teaching experience, "I really enjoyed the children. Teaching is great, and I have enjoyed every day.

Future plans include work as homemaker and traveling. Mrs. Montgomery will be at home at 712 North Main Street, Ada, Ohio.

Morehead Seminar To Study What Coal To Mean for Area

What will the anticipated increase in coal production mean to the people of Eastern Kentucky. Will it mean more jobs, better health care and housing and an overall improvement in the way of life in eastern Kentucky? Or will Eastern Kentuckians suffer from a "boom and bust" economy?

Gov. Julian Carroll is making an effort to address these questions, define the problems facing Kentucky Appalachia and work toward solutions by calling together leading citizens from eastern Kentucky to represent Kentucky's Appalachian area in an Appalachian Development Conference. The conference will be June 19-21 at Morehead State University.

The conference is being held through the coordinated efforts of the Appalachian Regional Commission, the Governor's Economic Development Commission and the Kentucky Development Cabinet, headed by development Secretary William L. Short.

The conference will be the first meeting of its kind in any of the 13 Appalachian states and will for the first time "focus specifically on the economic development of Kentucky Appalachia in an effort to set the groundwork for the growth which must occur Kentucky Appalachia in an effort to set the groundwork for the growth which must occur in that area if Kentucky is to meet the energy demands required in the next decade," according to Short.

The theme of the conference is "Focus on Economic Development in Kentucky Appalachia." Gov. Carroll has said that the Appalachian region could be at the threshold of an economic explosion, and that in terms of energy resources, "We have more energy in the Appalachian region in the form of coal than there is in the Middle East."

Kentucky's surface and underground mining produced 147,827,929 tons of coal last year, despite the drop-off in mining caused by the coal strike, according to figures recently released by the governor.

That figure is more than five million tons above 1976 production levels and is higher than the previous production record of 144,204,511 tons set in 1975.

It is little wonder that Appalachia lately has been termed the Saudi Arabia of coal.

Yet, the Carter administration has called for a doubling of coal production by 1985 in an effort to develop national energy independence.

According to Gov. Carroll, that tremendous increase in production must be achieved while at the same time protecting the lives, health and safety of the men and women who work in the mines and assuring that land and communities are not destroyed in the quest for coal.

According to Short, "The Kentucky Appalachian Development Conference will look at ways to ensure not only that eastern Kentucky is ready for the sudden increase in coal production, but also to ensure that the people and culture of Kentucky Appalachia are protected."

And what about when the coal is gone? The gold rush towns of early California come to mind when one considers the effects of a sudden boom in mining. Those settlements, once teeming with people they could not adequately support, were completely abandoned when the gold was gone.

Residents of Appalachia, as well as industrialists considering locating in eastern Kentucky, wondering if the rush will be away from Appalachia when the "coal rush" has ended and the black gold of Appalachia is depleted, or when an efficient alternative energy source is developed.

The Appalachian Development Conference also will determine the best course for ensuring the development of a sound economic base diversified enough to support job needs after the coal is gone or no longer needed.

Short said the conference will be divided into four task forces to include the following: streamlining state government for Appalachian development; socioeconomic impact of energy production; human economic development needs in Kentucky Appalachia, and economic diversification and development financing.

Individuals invited to address the conference include Gov. Carroll; Leonard Schwartz, the state's Washington representative with the Appalachian Regional Commission; William E. Albers, alternate federal co-chairman of the commission; Alex Mercure, assistant secretary for rural development in the U.S. Department of Agriculture; state commerce Commissioner W. Terry McBrayer and Herb Ligon, chairman of the Governor's Economic Development Commission.

The development policies and recommendations which result from the concurrent task force workshops will serve as cornerstones for an overall state development plan, Short said.

The obstacles to be overcome in the economic development of Kentucky Appalachia remain in the same areas as have been traditional: housing, transportation, health care and job opportunity, he noted.

Building sites in eastern Kentucky are costly. Most of the land available for housing development lies on the flood plain, and many eastern Kentuckians cannot afford the 26 percent average downpayment or the average monthly payments.

It has been estimated that it could take as much as $5 billion to upgrade and maintain coal haul roads in Appalachia.

In the meantime, the mining industry is faced with such problems as the 30,000-pounds and can haul 22-24 tons of coal.

Some 16,000 additional miners may be needed by 1985 to handle anticipated production. Because coal mining has evolved into such a specialized and highly skilled profession, most of those miners must be trained.

With more people moving into Kentucky Appalachia every year, health care facilities, doctors, nurses and other health care personnel are overextended today. Further development of health care programs and facilities is imperative in anticipation of the increase in population by 1985.

Such dilemmas will be discussed by the delegates at the Appalachian Development Conference, according to Short.

"We know we can't solve the problems of Kentucky Appalachia in a three-day conference, but we do believe we can begin to more efficiently pool our resources on the local, state and federal levels to work toward the eventual solutions to these problems," Short said.

Short pointed out that the Appalachian area of Kentucky, with help from all levels of government as well as from private industry, already has made great strides with the construction of a highway system which ended the region's years of relative isolation. Health care programs as such are being developed in Morehead and throughout the region, and there are housing developments such as the joint federal-state-local-private industry housing project in Jenkins. Also, a model deep mine safety program has been launched at the Hazard State Vocational Technical School.

"But we must look ahead," Short said. "We must concentrate our efforts on the further development of Kentucky Appalachia to prepare for the growth which is to come."

Short said the Appalachian Development Conference will be the first of a series of regionally oriented conferences planned to focus on Kentucky's economic development. An Urban Development Conference and a Rural Development Conference are also in the planning stages.

Highlighting the Appalachian Development Conference will be the official opening of Morehead SState University's Appalachian Development Center, which will become fully operational this summer. According to university officials, the purpose of the center will be to develop programs to enhance economic, social and educational growth throughout Appalachian Kentucky.

People have believed that small gems left in the ground would grow.

Bible Club Has 17th Annual Program

TROPHY CUP WINNERS...Lowell Duke Martin, Madonna Branham, Angela Gayheart, Mitsy Branham.

VIEWING AFRICAN CURIOUS...Greg Martin, Miss Tromp, Angela Gayheart.

The 17th annual achievement program of the Joy Bible Club, of Eastern, was presented recently. Children from the areas of Eastern, Maytown, Martin and other nearby communities took part. Many of the exercises and recitations took place in front of a handmade castle. Tables of crafts made by the children were on display. Among these were country painting, ceramics, leathercraft, matchstick work, flowers, yarn dolls and others.

The program began with the older children singing a medley of songs, with solo parts. Following this was memorized scripture by Lowell Duke Martin and Angela Gayheart. The public also enjoyed four puppet plays, entitled, "Born into God's Royal Family," "The Battle Against Dying," "The Battle Against Telling Tales" and "The Christian Two Natures". This was followed by a medley of songs and verses by the boys and girls of the Thursday class. Cavan and Robin McCann taking solo parts.

Karen Prater illustrated how first graders are often taught Bible drilling. In this were Hope Grey, Vickie Clark, Robin McCann and Mary Christine Hlicks.

One of the main events of the evening was when Dana Bradley presented the Bible Club's gift of $200 to Miss Roberta Tromp, missionary to Durban, South Africa. Miss Tromp is a member of the Evangelical Alliance Mission (TEAM), an organization which promotes mission work through the world. Her showing of many curios and pictures held audience attention. The Joy Bible Club boys and girls have given much to missionary work around the world. Some of the children held red, white, brown and yellow candles as they sang, "The Light Of The World Is Jesus".

Awards were presented: The Gold Trophy Cup was given to Angela Gayheart for excellence in Bible drilling. Runnerup for the silver cup was Madonna Branham. A silver cup was won by Mitsy Branham for her Bible drilling, and the bronze cup was awarded to Lowell Duke Martin, runnerup.

A full week at Bible Camp was awarded Mitsy Branham as top award. Angela Gayheart and Beulah Prater were camp runnersup. Partial camp awards were presented to Madonna Branham and Dana Bradley and Karen Prater. Mandy Cooley and Craig Tackett were Bible drill runnersup in their own classes. Christy Clark, Hope Grey, Karen Prater and Vickie Clark were honored in drilling.

Other awards were presented to Greg Martin, Craig Tackett, Lowell Scabberry, Duke Martin, Greg Ison, Paul Shepherd, Glen Shepherd, Charles Bradley, Paige Bradley, Kelly Branham, Mandy Cooley, Vickie Clark, Kathy Spencer, Vanessa Burke, and Mary Christine Hicks. Those rewarded for Bible Verse memorization were Karen Prater, Sabrina Burke, Christy Clark, Hope Grey, Robin McCann, Cavan McCann, and Mitsy Branham.

Puppet players were Beulah Prater, Madonna Branham, Dana Bradley, Angela Gayheart, Greg Martin, Lowell Scabberry and Craig Tackett.

Mrs. Orville Cooley presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Vetrica Gayheart served the decorated cakes.

The Bible Clubs will resume again in September at Eastern. They meet in the home of their teachers, Miss Barbara Wynsma, and Miss Lois Holmquist, Allen Central High. Miss Sarah Helmentoler has been a helper this year.

New Law o Deter Shopliftingn Effect

Legislation to durage shoplifting, described by its spor as a consumer protection bill, w become law this week.

The new law tiens existing state laws on shoplifting allowing a merchant to detain a suct for a reasonable period of time unbolice arrive.

Existing state lay limits merchants' ability to deal withoplifters that "it's given professional plifters a license to steal," said Repim LeMaster, D-Lexington, sponsor the bill.

U.S. Commerce arment statistics for 1975 indicate les from shoplifting nationally that yeamounted to more than $5 billion.

LeMaster estimd that shoplifting costs each Kentu consumer $40 a year.

Physical Condition of School Stressed at Meeting Held Here

A group of some 30 concerned parents who toured Prestonsburg High School Monday evening found the 23-year-old building to be in a state of general disrepair with plaster falling because of a roof that has leaked over the years, broken windows, leaky plumbing, and wiring exposed where switchplates are missing.

The group met here with Assistant Superintendent Ronald Hager, Board Member Dr. James D. Adams, Principal W. R. Hughes, and Assistant Principal Gene Wright to discuss ways in which the parents, school personnel and the school board could work together to improve conditions at the school.

Ceilings which appear to be covered with an asbestos-like material caused most concern as a health hazard, and tests to determine whether fibers are present in the air of the building will be done with the aid of Charles Webb at no cost to the school system. In the event that such fibers are present, Dr. Adams said that there was no question of whether the material would be replaced, adding "It would have to be replaced, or the school could not open." Fiberglass and asbestos fibers have been placed on a list of cancer-causing agents and their use in schools discontinued.

Dr. Adams said that work on Prestonsburg High's roof probably would begin in July or August, and that three other schools are on the priority list for roof work. He termed Prestonsburg Elementary as a "creeping monster" in that the building which was designed to handle 600 students now has an enrollment of 900. The school board is now negotiating to buy property in Prestonsburg for a junior high school which, he said, would take much of the pressure off the burgeoning grade school and, possibly, the high school.

Adams said the present school board "is not consolidation oriented in its philosophy," and that the smaller schools such as Allen, Garrett, Clark, Martin and Auxier will be retained. He added that the Bonanza school might be "in trouble" because it is a two-room structure.

Mr. Hager, who was principal of the high school here for several years, said that one of the best ways for parents to help their children and their schools would be to see that homework was done before the TV set was turned on. "Take time to talk to them about values...behaviour... These things have changed drastically in the last few years."

Mr. Hager also noted that most parents do not realize that the school system loses approximately $6,000 per day through absences, and that this is money sorely needed to take care of some of the very problems being discussed. In one upstairs hallway, Mr. Hager pointed out

FLOYD PARISH BIBLE SCHOOL IN PROGRESS; SPECIAL MEETS SET

Summer Bible school is in progress this week and next at Saint Juliana Church in Martin on the theme of the Ten Commandments. The program runs from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Staff includes Sr. John Martin Herzog, Ellen Hillander, Bro. Ted O'Neil, James Shaughnessy, Roger Kalscheuer, Sr. Pat Hussey, Sr. Susan M. Van Baalen, Sr. Sharon Schmitz, Sue McDonald, and Debbie Draves. All children are welcome. For local transportation, call 285-3254 or 285-3960.

Saint Theodore Church in Prestonsburg is conducting an adult spiritual formation program known as Genesis II beginning the week of June 18. The program consists of films, audio cassettes, and small group discussions on the stages of human development as related to Christian spiritual formation. All are welcome to participate.

Another project of the Floyd County Catholic Parish is to work with some prison parolees and probationers and to write letters to those in penal institutions. Those interested receive a kit on prison reform prepared by the National Federation of Priests' Councils. A group from the church visited the Federal Correctional Institution in Ashland and LaGrange Penitentiary near Louisville. Anyone interested in this project may contact Rev. William Poole at 285-3254.

Heads Toastmasters

Woodrow Wells Allen, formerly of Prestonsburg, now of Kansas City, Mo., was elected governor of District 22, Toastmasters International, May 20 at Davenworth, Kansas. The states of Kansas and Missouri comprise district 22.

Another honor recently accorded Mr. Allen was his election to the Mid-American Health Systems Agency' board of directors. As a consumer director he represents Platte county, Missouri on the agency for the eight-county Kansas City Metropolitan region.

Allen, a mechanical engineer in the special projects division of Black and Veatch Consulting Engineers, is a registered professional engineer and a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Allen, of Prestonsburg.

Perkins Advocates Rollback On Middle East Oil Prices

(From the Big Sandy News)

A boycott of Middle East oil prices demanding a rollback to $6 a barrel and a crash program for synthetic fuel from coal was advocated at the state meeting for the National Association for Retired Veteran Railroad in Louisa.

The speaker was the dean of Kentucky's congressional delegation U. S. Rep. Carl D. Perkins, who predicted the energy picture as bleak.

"I wish I could say that here is a good solution to the energy situation on the horizon, but I must report that the situation is bleak.

"The oil exporting countries...especially in the Middle East...have us by the throat when it comes to the price of energy.

"It was the 1973 cost increases in imported oil, after the embargo, that drove this country into its worse recession in a long, long time and it is the price of imported oil that is creating the problem today because the price of that oil drives up the price of just about every other product we buy," the 7th district Democrat said.

"So, somehow, the government has to find a way to restore some equity in the price of oil, or we will never have a stable economy.

"I just wonder what would happen if the President of the United States, under authority granted to him by Congress, would say that after a certain date, a few months off, no oil would come into this country at a price higher than $6 a barrel.

"There would be a lot of hollering and screaming by the Sheik of Abu Dabi and some of the other sheiks that are buying up all the good farmland and everything else in this country worth anything.

"But if we stuck to it, if we prepared ourselves to take it right on the chin if we have to, and said not one drop of imported oil is allowed into the country at a price higher than $6 a barrel, I think we would crack the oil exporters' cartel.

"Back in 1973, before they started their embargo, they were getting a little better than $2 a barrel, for oil that cost less than 25 cents a barrel to get out of the ground.

"Now it is costing about $12 a barrel, so the figure of $6 seems more than fair to me.

"At the same time we limit the price on oil, and let the exporters decide what they are going to do with it, we ought to go into a crash program to create synthetic fuel from coal plants.

"Many of you know that a pilot plant is being built near Catlettsburg, to test one of several processes that exist on converting coal to liquid fuel.

ARC Marks $787,000 More For Jenkins Housing Work

Gov. Julian M. Carroll has announced that a $787,000 Appalachian Regional Commission grant has been approved for the Jenkins Housing Project in Letcher county.

The grant is supplemental to $541,500 already awarded by the commission for the project.

According to state development secretary William L. Short, Carroll's ARC alternate, the Jenkins Housing Project is a model for what can be done throughout Appalachia to improve housing.

The housing project is being developed on an unclaimed strip-mine bench, and according to Short, "is turning a former commercial mining area into a pleasant and functional residential area for low and moderate-income families in the Jenkins community."

Short indicated that the project will be a planned community with a mixture of single-family, multi-family and cluster housing sites and will accommodate more than 300 people.

The ARC also has approved some $210,000 in rural access road money which is being matched with $90,000 in state funds, Short said.

The Jenkins Housing Project is part of the Appalachian Housing Program and is being developed through the efforts of the Kentucky Housing Corporation, the Letcher county fiscal court, the Kentucky River Area Development District, the United Mine Workers of America, the City of Jenkins and the ARC staff of the Kentucky Development Cabinet.

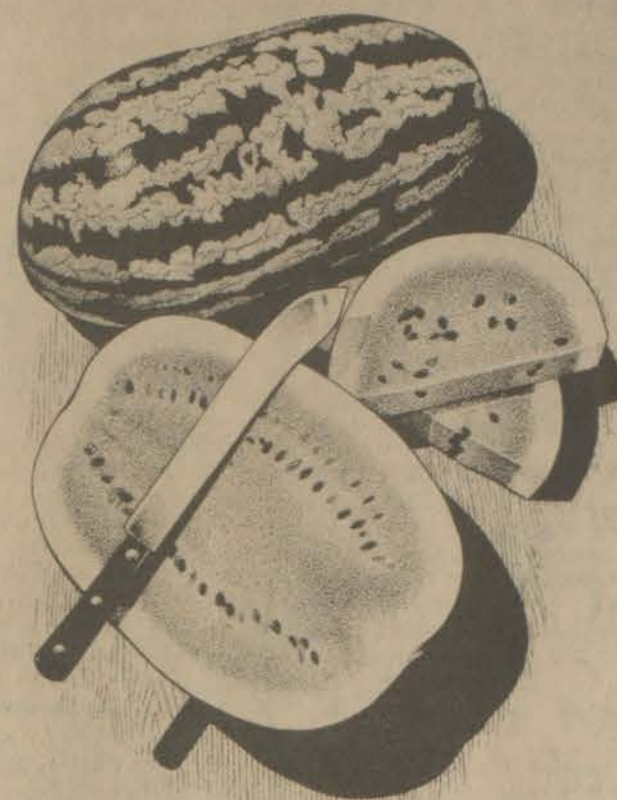

"This project points up the great importance of coordination between all levels of government and private industry in providing jobs and modern housing for the Jenkins community," Short said. "and it is only the first of a number of similar projects involving our ARC program." Short said that similar projects are also planned for Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Hazard and Somerset.

Despite a growing demand for lawyers, competition for available jobs in the legal field is expected to intensify from a burgeoning supply of law school graduates, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook.

A small amount will get you started, but the return is sizeable.

A small amount is all you need in the beginning . . . then, some time and patience . . . and, later, the pay-off. Whether you're cultivating a Passbook Savings Account or growing watermelons . . . the principle is pretty much the same. In both cases, the results are sweet.

Vietnam Vets Urged To Use GI Benefits

Over 63,000 Kentucky veterans from the Vietnam Era have used their GI Bill educational benefits, Mrs. Mary G. Sindors, director of the VA regional office Louisville, says.

"Another 53,000 veterans from this era have not used educational benefits, and for many the 10-year period of eligibility has expired," Mrs. Sindors said.

The VA will pay a veteran student $311 a month as an assistance benefit in helping him go to school. These benefits increase if the veteran has dependents.

Mrs. Sindors said that the GI Bill program was not intended to pay full costs for a veteran's schooling, just as it the other two GI Bills. However, an eligible veteran may borrow up to $2,500 per academic year to pursue a course leading to a standard college degree, or for a course leading to a professional or vocational objective which requires at least six months to complete.

Veterans who wish to finish high school, attend colleges or universities, take business or vocational training under the GI Bill should check the date their eligibility expires.

Assistance and information is available from the VA regional office or from veterans service organizations.

Two Floyd Mines Among 9 Fined for Strip-Mine Breaches

The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection collected $62,000 in May from 19 coal companies, including two Floyd county firms, for violations of strip mine regulations. The Floyd companies were fined $2,000 each. One of the firms is B & H Elkhorn, fined for cutting black water out of the hill and over the outcrops of its New Creek side. The other is the S & O Coal Co. at Risner, which was fined for blasting material into a non-spoil area.

River Processing Inc. and Titus Frederick of Perry county paid the largest fines totaling $16,000 for violations on their strip mine sites near Hazard.

Titus Frederick was fined $8,000 for failing to backfill, grade, seed and mulch its mine site, providing sudden releases of water over the outcrops and placing spoil (material removed in gaining access to the coal) off the permitted area. The company also neglected to provide adequate silt control. The company has agreed to properly backfill, grade, seed and mulch the mine site, provide adequate silt control and drain all future impoundments by pumping or siphoning. The company also has agreed to cease placing material outside the permitted area.

The company has agreed to build new settling basins, clean all existing ponds, relocate culverts and drains and build the access roads to the satisfaction of the department.

Other companies fined were:

- Watts & Cole Mining, $7,000, for allowing material to leave the permitted area, providing inadequate silt control, and failing to properly grade, seed and mulch its mine site near Bethany in Wolfe county.
- Wooten Construction Co., $4,000, for strip mining without a permit, placing material over the outcrops, and failing to construct a hollow fill according to approved plans on its site near Big Creek in Clay county.
- Seitz Montgomery Coal Co., $4,000, for failing to maintain adequate silt control and neglecting to properly backfill, grade, seed and mulch its site near Fritz in Magoffin county.
- Golden Homes, Inc., $3,000, for failing to properly backfill, grade, seed and mulch its mine site near Racoon Creek in Pike county, failing to provide adequate drainage and neglecting to construct the hollow fill according to approved plans.
- T.C. Bell Inc., $3,000, for failing to maintain adequate silt control, disturbing approximately 1.3 acres outside the permitted boundaries, and violating the approved method of strip mining on its site near Lily in Laurel county.
- Hawkeye Elkhorn Coal Co., $3,000, for shooting material onto an existing slide which had been previously addressed in an agreed order and pushing material into the hollow fill. The company also allowed material to leave the permitted area near McCombs in Pike county.
- Cally and Haydon Coal Co., $2,000, for stripping on an expired permit near Helton in Leslie county.
- Cleary Mining Co., $2,000, for failing to maintain the access road according to approved plans.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt appreciation to our many friends for their kindness during the recent illness and death of our loved one, Mrs. Ocie Mae Crace. You Will Never Forget

People have died just to live in the HOLY LAND. Others have lived just to die in the HOLY LAND. Why? Why Israel in the heart of the HOLY LAND, in such a little place?

You can drive over it in a day, fly over it in an hour. In it are a sea where nothing swims, and a desert where nothing grows. As real estate, it is nothing much.

Yet, there, in that little place, every ethic of Western Man was born. The Bible, or much of it, was written. And every man has a root deep in the stubborn soil.

When you arrive in Jerusalem, in Bethlehem, in Galilee, you will be following the course of a life that changed the course of billions of lives. Yet, if Israel is only a dot on the map of the world, Jerusalem is only a dot on the map of Israel.

Wander where you will, every inch is history.

And the Bible is still the best tourist's guide book to the HOLY LAND.

In a land of miracles, miracles are to be expected. And so you will see the harvesting of chemicals from the Dead Sea where nothing swims, and oranges from the desert where nothing grows.

Expect to find the cities sprawling, the people vital, the night life hectic, the weather mild, the beaches uncrowded, the hotels superb, the mood elated.

You will find that the HOLY LAND has no beginnings or endings. Time there collapses utterly. You can touch the past and the present with one hand. Your hand.

You will find a new sense of Christian history. You may even find a new sense of yourself.

All in the HOLY LAND on a journey you will never forget . . . Because you won't want to!

Plan now to go with us this Fall, see the places you read about in the Bible, all Israel, the pyramids of Egypt, Corinth and Athens of Greece.

Wage, Hour Law Change, July 1st

Kentucky Labor Commissioner James R. Yocom said today that changes in Kentucky's wage and hour laws will necessitate adjustments by many employers.

There is the new minimum wage and a change in the pay period regulations. Both changes are effective July 1.

"The new minimum wage will be increased to $2.00 an hour from the present $1.60 an hour and this will apply to all workers now covered by the state labor laws. Those persons subject to the federal minimum wage will not be affected," Yocom said.

The other change relates to the pay period. "Some businesses are now paying their employees once a month. This will no longer be acceptable under Kentucky wage and hour laws," Yocom explained. He said businesses operating in Kentucky will have to pay employees no less than twice a month.

"I want to emphasize that this change takes place July 1. We want employers now paying on a monthly basis to have time to adjust their payroll schedules and computers," the commissioner added. These labor law changes were adopted by the 1978 General Assembly.

Growth in the economy between 1976 and 1985 is expected to create nearly 17 million jobs, according to the U. S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook.

McDowell High Class Leaders

TAMMY CHILDERS HALL
Valedictorian

Valedictorian of the McDowell High School graduating class this year was Tammy Childers Hall, daughter of Mrs. Betta Turner, of Drift, and granddaughter of Mrs. Audrey Moore, of Price. McDowell's graduation exercises were held June 2.

Mrs. Hall has been an honor student at McDowell 12 years and a majorette three years. She has conducted twirling classes, has been a member of the marching and concert bands eight years, and was Miss Red, White and Blue in 1974. During high school she was named to the Outstanding Teenagers of America.

Her husband, Greg Hall, is a pre-law student at Pikeville College. She will enter the University of Kentucky, next fall.

ROSEMARY BROWN
Salutatorian

Salutatorian of McDowell High School's graduating class, 1978, is Rosemary Brown, daughter of David and Verna Brown, of McDowell.

Among the top five seniors, Miss Brown has been named to Who's Who Among High School Students and was voted "most likely to succeed" by her class. At graduation, she was awarded a scholarship to Prestonsburg Community College which she plans to attend next fall.

Kentucky To Host Development Meeting

Community and rural development leaders from 13 southern states, including Kentucky, will meet June 20-22 at Natural Bridge State Park, near Slade.

Focal point of the event will be the annual meeting of the Southern Extension Regional Community Resource Development Committee.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a bus tour of Powell county which received national recognition last year for "outstanding service in rural development." The tour includes the high school and vocational school, city park, public and private housing projects, water plant, courthouse under construction, radio station, nursing home and the Stanton woodcraft industries.

The three-day meeting will convene at 8 a.m. June 20 in the state park lodge.

GUESTS IN LOUISVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morgan and Leslie, of Abbott Road, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Childers and Todd, of Louisville. While there they visited Mrs. Morgan's aunt, Rhoda Schrader, at Jewish Hospital.

Mormon Revival Set At Martin, June 19-21

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) in Martin will be sponsoring a three-day open house titled "A Mormon Revival", June 19 through 21. Beginning at 8 p.m., the one-hour program for each night will feature a short 16mm movie, special musical number, and a distinguished guest speaker. The featured speakers for the three-night event will be Pete Grigsby Jr., Superintendent of Schools in Floyd County, C. Cheff Villier, Head Anesthetist at McDowell Regional Hospital, and President Reed A. Benson, President of the Kentucky-Louisville Mission for the Church.

President Benson is the oldest son of Ezra Taft Benson, former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture in the Eisenhower cabinet and now President of the Quorum of the Twelve of the Church. A nationally known speaker on the subject of America, agriculture and the Church, President Benson has been described by the National Observer as having "the zeal of an evangelist" and the Indianapolis Times calls him "articulate, attractive and persuasive." He was a missionary to Great Britain where he established and directed the Church at Oxford. Benson is a graduate of Brigham Young University with both Bachelor's and Master's degrees.

Since Mormons believe in a strong family, church, and community; these will form the major theme of the three-night program. The Martin Church is located across from Our Lady of the Way Hospital, and the public is invited to attend these meetings.

VACATION IN WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Worrix, Jr., of Allen, accompanied by her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kearsse, of Camden, South Carolina, have just returned from a three-week vacation spent touring the West and old Mexico. The trip was made by the southern route visiting points of interest in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada. After spending several days in California, they returned by way of Denver and St. Louis.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Nevyle Shackelford

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Although listed in the annals of pioneer medicine as an important herb in the treatment of a wide range of ailments ranging from backache to shortness of breath, "Aralia spinosa," the Devil's Walkingstick, was considered a sovereign remedy for toothache. In fact, in some localities, it went by the name, "toothache tree."

Years ago an aged relative, now long a resident of another dimension, told me this relieved she went to the barn to help with the evening chores. Just as she sat down to start milking a cow, there was a sort of an explosion in her mouth and the offending tooth split in four pieces which she easily plucked out, thus ending her problem. Further research has revealed that, although with less dramatic results, the inner bark of the toothache tree was, and still is, somewhat effective in treating some forms of toothache.

Devil's Walkingstick is quite common in Kentucky and many other states in the east and south. It is so covered with spines that only the devil can handle it without getting scratched, but it is a very attractive shrub and at one time was cultivated as an ornamental. In the spring it puts out leaves of silky bronze that turn red and gold in autumn. In early summer it produces huge terminal masses of tiny white flowers that mature into pods of purple-black berries relished by birds. Birds carrying the seed are largely responsible for the spread of this shrub. It is said also that despite the thorns, deer browse on the tender branches.

Devil's Walkingstick is also known as "Hercules Club."

story having to do with the toothache tree: She was about the age of 15, she said, when a cavity came in one of her molars. This tooth became infected and for a couple of days almost drove her berserk with pain. Finally her father thought of the toothache tree. Locating one of these shrubs, he scraped away some of the inner bark and crammed it into the cavity.

In a matter of minutes the pain began to ease and thus

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Thermal Jackson Prater. Known as "T. J." who left us January 31, 1978 for a better place.

High on top of a lonely hill,
A silent grave in death so still,
It's only a grave that needs our care,
Because our loved one is buried there.
Death was sudden, the shock so severe,
We had to give up one so dear.
The pain of parting without a goodbye,
We will remember until we die.
He was only 20 when God called him away,
We will never forget that sad day,
We will never forget him, now that he's gone
And his memory will live with us from now on.

Sadly missed by
Kathy, Shane, Geraldine,
Adam, Robert, Kathy,
Dwayne and his friends and family.
It-pd.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her stepfather, Randall Perkins; a brother, Walter Fick, of Melvin; paternal grandparents, Mrs. Agnes Stevenson, in Illinois, Walter Fick, of Birdsboro, Pa.; maternal grandparents, Robert and Irene Harris, of Melvin.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Sunday at the residence at Melvin by ministers of the Regular Baptist Church; and burial was made in the Harris family cemetery under direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

Job opportunities between 1976 and 1985 are expected to be good for bookkeepers, cashiers, secretaries and typists, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Occupational Outlook Handbook.

INSPECTION PERIOD FOR THE PROPERTY TAX
ASSESSMENT ROLL

The Floyd County property tax roll will be opened for inspection from June 19 through June 23, 1978. Under the supervision of the property valuation administrator or one of his deputies, any property owner may inspect the tax roll to check the assessment of his property and compare it with the assessment of comparable property to determine whether it is equitably assessed. The tax roll may not be inspected for any other purpose.

This is the January 1, 1978 assessment on which state, county, and school taxes for 1978 will be due on September 15, 1978.

The tax roll is in the office of the property valuation administrator in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Schools Not Accredited

All but 20 of Kentucky's public, private and parochial schools were accredited last week by the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education. The 20 schools not accredited included 19 Christian schools involved in a lawsuit challenging the board's right to approve private schools.

The board did not accredit the David school which did not submit an application to operate as a school and has met none of the criteria for accreditation.

The 19 private Christian schools involved in a lawsuit against the board were not considered for accreditation because of an injunction issued by the Franklin circuit court, according to Bill Hampton, director of the accrediting division.

More than 1600 Kentucky schools were approved during the annual accreditation process. Compulsory attendance laws require that children attend accredited schools, and the elementary and secondary board is charged by law with approving and accrediting Kentucky's schools. Schools must meet certain minimum standards concerning school facilities, curriculum, certification of teachers and student services and activities to be fully accredited. Fully accredited schools are classified as either provisional, basic, standard or comprehensive with provisional being the lowest ranking and comprehensive the highest.

By 1980 the "basic" rating for high schools will be phased out and secondary schools must meet either "standard" accreditation criteria or risk losing their accreditation. Only 18 high schools in Kentucky still retain the "basic" rating.

Two high schools, Calloway County High and Knott Central High School, were upgraded from a standard rating to a comprehensive rating. Four high schools were upgraded from basic to standard. They were Elliott County, Fancy Farm and Farmington High in Graves county, and Auburn High in Logan county.

The 19 schools involved in the lawsuit are:

They are Bethel Christian Elementary in Boyd county, Bullitt Christian Academy High in Bullitt county, Central Christian High in Carlisle county, Owensboro Christian Academy (elementary and high schools) in Daviess county, Clays Mill Road Christian Academy (elementary and high school) in Fayette, Dawson Springs Christian High in Hopkins county, Metropolitan Christian (elementary and high school) in Jefferson county, Orchard Street Baptist High in Kenton county, Calvary Christian Academy (elementary and high school) in Letcher county, Mayking Christian Elementary in Letcher county, Lakeland Christian Academy High in Marshall county, Hazard Christian Academy (elementary and high school) in Perry county, Saline Christian Academy (high school) in Pulaski county, and Campbellsville Christian Academy (high school) in Taylor county.

In other action, the board adopted a regulation aimed at preventing redshirting in the elementary grades. Redshirting involves holding a promising athletic student back voluntarily one year in school to give him an age advantage over his peers in high school. The board's regulation states that no student in grades one through eight in the public schools may participate in interscholastic athletics a second year in the same grade. On the high school level, eligibility requirements established by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association prevent redshirting.

The board also delayed a decision requiring textbook publishers to establish a textbook depository in the state until after a public hearing to be held on July 12.

Martin School Hosts Open House for Parents

The Martin Elementary School recently held open house for the parents of children who are involved in the Title I reading program. The group met in a general session in school's auditorium and then dispersed to the different reading centers to view their children's work and to discuss individual progress.

The following committee was selected to serve as the Martin Elementary Parents' Advisory Council: chairman, Ilene Thompson; chairman, Sheila Lee; secretary, Darlene Hughes; alternate chairman, Orlean Flannery; alternate secretary, Barbara Hancock; alternate vice-chairman, Katie Hamilton; general alternates, Roalsie Conn and Magdalene Ferrell.

TEACHER QUALITY

A recent New England study of students in 18 colleges who selected education as a major shows that their academic quality, as shown on standardized tests, has declined. At eight of the colleges, the verbal SAT test scores of freshmen education majors had gone down by 50 to 100 points between 1970 and 1975. This decline is greater than the national average. On the ACT math test, the score at all colleges studied had declined 17 percent, compared to 7 percent nationwide. The researcher notes that the verbal test score decline is particularly alarming, since several studies indicate that the verbal ability of teachers is the only variable to teacher behavior that makes a significant difference in student learning.

Many Veterans Miss Benefits

About half of the eligible Vietnam Era veterans in the state of Kentucky have taken advantage of their GI Bill educational benefits, Mrs. Mary G. Sindors, director of the VA regional office in Louisville, says.

Slightly over 53 percent of the 116,000 eligible veterans have enrolled in some form of training. Mrs. Sindors pointed out that veterans have only 10 years from the date of discharge to use their benefits for education, and that the average age of these veterans is now nearing 33.

Educational benefits must be used before the end of the 10 years, so for many of those who served early in the Vietnam war the period of eligibility has already ended. In order to get in four years of training, veterans would have to begin their schooling no later than six years after discharge.

The VA director said benefits are available for college, high school, vocational, correspondence or business schools. A single veteran going to school full time now receives $311 a month from the VA as an assistance benefit toward his education. Married veterans with dependents receive $370 for one dependent, $422 for two, and $26 for each additional dependent.

Mrs. Sindors urged veterans who plan to enroll this fall in a GI Bill training program to complete their details as soon as possible in order to receive their checks after the first month of training.

DOWNPLAYS SPORTS

Local school committees (boards) in Massachusetts have been directed by the state board of education to develop physical education activities that stress individual achievement instead of competition. The new emphasis is on sports in which all students can participate and which students can use for the rest of their lives. Organized sports, says a state department official, are structures so "a lot of kids who might have developed a little later are culled out," and young students are expected to handle adult games and rules "but they're not able to handle them emotionally."

Average U.S. Home May Soon Cost $78,000

7-A, Monday, October 24, 1977

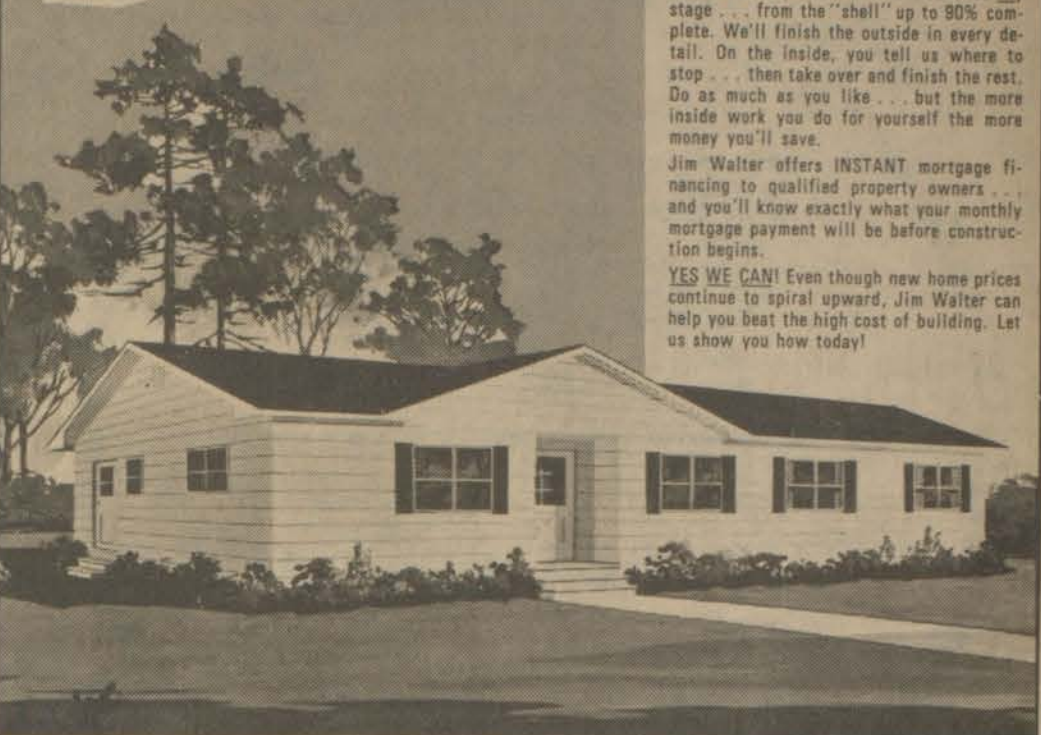

The average price of a typical American home could reach the almost incredible level of $78,000 within five years. This startling information was released in early March 1977 in a report by the Joint Center for Urban Studies of Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The price of housing in the past few years has jumped twice as fast as family incomes. Contributing to this rapid rise in the price have been inflation, government regulations, and union government shortages of mortgage money — all of which has caused a sharp decline in housing starts since 1972.

For over three decades, Jim Walter has been building and financing homes that families of all walks of life can afford. NOTHING HAS CHANGED! If you own property, we can still custom build a home for you for far less than "average" prices being reported in newspapers, on television and radio. YES WE CAN! Let us show you!

We'll also show you that, by doing some or all of your own inside finishing work, you can save more. Here's how: Jim Walter will custom build your new home to almost any stage... from the "shell" up to 90% complete. We'll finish the outside in every detail. On the inside, you tell us where to stop... then take over and finish the rest. Do as much as you like... but the more inside work you do for yourself the more money you'll save.

Jim Walter offers INSTANT mortgage financing to qualified property owners... and you'll know exactly what your monthly mortgage payment will be before construction begins.

YES WE CAN! Even though new home prices continue to spiral upward, Jim Walter can help you beat the high cost of building. Let us show you how today!

To Spend Week at Camp Webb

Eager to get going is this group of youngsters, part of the 55 fifth and sixth graders from all over Floyd county who left Monday morning with Conservation Officer Dalton R. Conley for Camp Webb, the state conservation camp at Grayson reservoir. The group will participate in a number of outdoor activities and nature studies during the week they are at camp.

Floyd County's 1978 Priorities

Floyd county members of the Big Sandy Area Development District, assisted by two county magistrates recently gave priority to Floyd county projects to be included in the 1978 Regional Comprehensive IMPROVEMENT Program (RCIP).

RCIP is a program encouraged by state and federal funding agencies designed to channel grant monies to those projects selected by local, elected officials and regional boards.

A tentative list of Floyd county projects was published in the May 10 edition of The Floyd County Times to allow citizens to respond and add their suggestions to the list. On June 2, Floyd members of the board, together with Magistrate Ed Caudill of District 3 and Magistrate Hershell Hamilton of District 4 developed the following list of priority projects for the county:

Solid waste—Development of an efficient countywide system for solid waste collection and disposal to serve all districts.

Water-wastewater—Expansion of the Prestonsburg water treatment plant (Magisterial Districts 2 and 3); renovation and expansion of the Martin water and wastewater system (Magisterial District 3); construction of Mud Creek emergency water treatment facility (Magisterial District 4); construction of wastewater system for the Harold-Mud Creek area (Magisterial District 4); construction of Right Beaver wastewater system (Magisterial District 2); renovation and expansion of Wheelwright water and wastewater system (Magisterial District 3).

Housing—Development of sites for single family dwellings to serve all Magisterial districts; location of housing sites for private investors (to serve all magisterial districts); development of public housing units to serve all Magisterial districts.

Transportation—Improvement of secondary and rural roads to serve all Magisterial Districts.

Public Facilities—Completion of Floyd County Park (to serve all magisterial districts); development of community park at Martin (Magisterial District 3).

Planning and technical assistance—Increased technical and planning assistance for human resources programs, with special regard for senior citizens and youth (to serve all magisterial districts).

Several members of the fiscal court indicated that this project list will soon be ratified by the court.

CONCERNING THE CONSTRUCTION OF A COAL PROCESSING FACILITY AT DAVID, KENTUCKY

The Branham and Baker Coal Company has applied to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for a permit to construct a coal processing facility at David, Kentucky. A preliminary determination has been made to grant a permit to construct. This decision was based solely on the determination that the construction of this air contaminant source will not cause a violation of either the applicable emission or ambient air quality standards. Copies of the report on this determination are available for public inspection during normal business hours at the following locations:

Division of Air Pollution Control
Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection
West Frankfort Office Complex
U.S. 127 South
Frankfort, Kentucky 40601

or
Division of Air Pollution Control
Appalachia Regional Office
825 High Street
3rd. Floor
Hazard, Kentucky 41701

Any member of the general public who considers himself affected by this facility, on the basis of air quality, is invited to make written comments and may request a public hearing. To be considered, any comments or requests for public hearing must be postmarked within thirty (30) days of this notice, and should be addressed to Mr. Michel Mashni, Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Division of Air Pollution Control, Capital Plaza Tower, 5th Floor, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 11.

Miss Allen-Mr. Hall Wed

Miss Brenda Gail Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Allen, of Stanville, became the bride of Mr. Scottie Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hall, of Galveston, on March 30. The Rev. Arnold B. Johnson officiated at the ceremony which took place at the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church.

The bride wore a gown of ivory lace over satin with scoop neckline, fitted bodice and full A-line skirt. Gathered lace sleeves forming ruffles over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged in lace and attached to a band of satin and lace, and she wore a diamond pendant and earrings, gift of the groom, and her grandmother's pear necklace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis atop a lace covered Bible belonging to her great-grandmother.

Mrs. Doris D. Niece, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a two-piece mid-length dress with ruffles and high neckline and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

Lonnie Ray Allen, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride and her mother designed and made the bridal dress and veil.

A reception followed in the Church fellowship hall.

The couple are now residing at their home at Stanville.

CATV Opposes Court Ruling On TV Rate

The 90-member Kentucky CATV Association last week wrote County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones and members of the Floyd fiscal court to express its opposition to the setting of a flat rate for all TV systems in Floyd county.

The court has set $5 as the monthly fee to be charged by the TV distribution systems in the county.

The Burkesville-based CATV Association also wrote:

"The Association objects to this method of setting rates because we do not feel that there is consideration for the different levels of service. We further feel that in a democratic society the free enterprise system should be allowed to operate and that the marketplace should determine the value of the cable services."

The Association added that it supports the suit filed by Everett Akers, of Martin, and others.

The letter was the result of action taken by the association's board of directors at its March meeting in Owensboro where Akers reported on his suit against the fiscal court. Two CATV members were named to investigate the Floyd situation.

The fiscal court this week advertised for new bids from cable TV system owners on franchises. The bids will be opened at the June 27 meeting of the court.

Court Order Bans Hamilton From Home

Elder Lee Hamilton has been banned by district court order from his Mud Creek home in a move designed to prevent further trouble between him and members of the family of the Rev. Hatler Hamilton, who was shot and killed May 18 during an altercation between the two.

The court order was issued last week at the expiration of a seven-day agreement by the defendant in the slaying case to stay away from his home.

The first order of seven-day duration for Hamilton to stay away from home was agreed to after County Attorney Aronold Turner, Jr. had filed a motion for court action to keep Lee Hamilton out of the area where the shooting took place. Authorities feared a recurrence of trouble because Lee Hamilton must pass the home of the late Hatler Hamilton in order to reach his home, farther up the hollow.

After last week's more permanent order to keep Hamilton out of the area he filed a request to be permitted to attend his church last Sunday, and District Judge Harold J. Stumbo had entered an order permitting him to do so but later denied the request after receiving from a peace officer word that it would be unsafe for Hamilton to be in the area.

The new order provides that Hamilton is to stay away from his home unless accompanied by his attorney or a peace officer. The order also provides that in case of emergency, or if it appears the order could result in property loss, Hamilton may come to the court for relief.

ATTEND STATE UNITED METHODIST CONFERENCE

Rev. Walter Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers H. Frazier spent the past week in Richmond, Ky. where they attended the annual Kentucky Conference of the United Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Frazier were delegates from First Methodist and Mrs. Frazier was organist for the conference.

Tuesday evening, the rhythmic choir from First Methodist presented a program with Elizabeth Lynn Frazier accompanying them singing the "Lord's Prayer" and the trio, Dorothy Wells, Diana Williams and Elizabeth Frazier sang "Fairer Lord Jesus."

The rhythmic choir is composed of Susan Wells, Karen Bradley, Sandra Goble, Jennifer Burke, Rhondetta Goble, Angelia Goble and Jayne Pitts.

Others from Prestonsburg attending Tuesday night's session were Mrs. Arthur Haywood, Mrs. E. D. Roberts, Miss Dee Dee Kalos, David Leslie, David D. Allen and Mickey Williams.

Also attending the week's conference were Mr. and Mrs. Hern Burke, delegates from the Community Methodist Church and their pastor, Rev. Taylor Biggs and Mrs. Biggs.

Mrs. Marietta Crager was a delegate from Horn Chapel and attended the conference.

Dr. Basha To Open Paintsville Office

Nabi Basha, M.D., announces the opening of his office July, in the Paintsville Clinic, 111 Main Street, Paintsville, for the practice of general surgery.

After graduation from Damascus University Medical School in Syria in 1973, Dr. Basha completed one year of internship at Wheeling Hospital, Wheeling, W. Va., and four years of residency in general surgery at Providence Hospital, Southfield, Michigan. Dr. Basha is now eligible for the American Board of Surgery.

He is married to the former Lois Cain, R.N., and has a three-month-old daughter.

Between 1976 and 1985, the U. S. Department of Labor predicts, an estimated 29 million jobs will become available to replace workers who die or retire.

Fuel Adjustment Rule Restricted

The Administrative Regulation Review Subcommittee today approved a regulation standardizing and restricting use of the fuel adjustment clauses by six Kentucky electricity generating companies.

The regulation was developed by the Kentucky Public Service Commission in response to a request from Gov. Julian Carroll that the PSC examine present fuel adjustment procedures. The PSC held public hearings in September, February and May.

According to Richard Heman, executive secretary to the PSC, the regulation standardizes the fuel adjustment clauses used by the utility generating companies. Previously, the companies used different clauses to compute fuel adjustment costs; now the companies will use the same method of computation.

The regulation also restricts the clauses to the actual cost of coal for generating, and to shipping costs from the coal's acquisition point to the unloading point. The fuel adjustment clauses had previously contained additional factors that could hike utility bills.

Further, Heman said the regulation requires that contracts between the generating companies and coal suppliers be filed with the PSC for public inspection under the provisions of the state Open Records Law. The regulation also requires explanations of contracts between a generating company and a coal supplier which is owned by the generating company.

The regulation also calls for explanations of escalation provisions in contracts with suppliers. Escalation provisions denote that increased labor costs and other factors affecting the supplier's cost of production will be passed on to the generating company, Heman said.

Public hearings reviewing the use of the clause are required every six months by the regulation, as well as hearings held every two years. The bi-annual hearings will study the trend in fuel costs and could result in transfers of any existing fuel adjustments into the utilities' basic rates.

The regulation also requires the companies to file their actual fuel costs with the PSC at least 10 days prior to customer billing, Heman said.

The six companies affected by the regulation are the Big Rivers Electric Cooperative, Louisville Gas and Electric, Kentucky Utilities, East Kentucky Power Cooperative, Kentucky Power Co. and Union Light, Heat and Power Co.

Pikeville Seminar To Discuss Mining

The Coal Industry Technical Assistance Center (CITAC) at Pikeville College will host a day-long seminar and panel discussion concerning the Surface Mining and Reclamation Act of 1977 (Public Law 95-87) and the relation of the act to hydrology, Dr. Charles Jordan, associate professor, has announced.

The seminar will be held June 22, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in Chrisman Auditorium in the Armington Science Learning Center on the Pikeville College campus. The seminar is open to the public, and there will be no fee.

Purpose of the seminar is to inform members of the coal mining and processing industries and other interested persons about methods of obtaining permits, constructing dams and sedimentation basins, and other problems and principles associated with hydrology and Public Law 95-87.

Representatives of both industry and government will speak, and each will respond to questions.

CHURCHWOMEN MEET

Women of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Lucy Ransdell, the evening of June 5. The president, Mrs. Julia Curtis, presided and opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Opal Dingus reported that she and Mrs. Harrington took flowers for the church, to the grave of Miss Annie Allen, who served for many years as a missionary here and is buried in the Richmond Memorial Cemetery. Following the close of the business session, the leader for the meeting, Mrs. Opal Dingus, presented Mrs. Mabel Brown, president of the local churchwomen's group, who gave an interesting discussion of the work being done, and what the organization hopes to attain. The hostess, Mrs. Ransdell, served refreshments to Mesdames Pat Minns, Edna Dempsey, Margie Gunnells, Opal Dingus, Pat Minns, Maman Leslie, Janice Pack, Shirlee Branham, Julia Curtis, Isabell Stephens, Eva Collins, and Helen Clark, members; and Mrs. Ann Alley and Mrs. Mabel Brown, guests.

Little League Play Heavy Over Week

The past week was the third week of Little League action, and, as usual, the fans, parents, and players enjoyed the excitement this type of baseball can bring.

Glen Copley, Little League official, encouraged local baseball fans who haven't attended any of the young baseballers' games to take advantage of the weekly games. "There's only four weeks remaining on the Little League schedule to come and enjoy baseball at its best," Copley stressed. "Or if softball is your bag," Copley continued, "our 9-12-year-old girls play a pretty good brand on Tuesday and Thursday nights at Bloomer Field."

In girls action last week, the Sluggers downed the Rolling Stones, 24 to 17, Tuesday night. Thursday's games were postponed due to school activities.

Monday night's boys action saw the Music-Carter-Hughes Braves beat the Auxier Cubs, 18 to 4, and the East Kentucky Mack Mets defeat Branham and Baker Coal Company's Yankees by a score of 10 to 1. The Clark Indians thrashed Goble Lumber 18-0 Tuesday night while Thursday's games were postponed.

Friday night, in what was considered the two best games played so far, East Kentucky Mack beat Branham and Baker 4 to 1 and after trailing 10-4 after five-and-a-half innings, Goble Lumber came back in the sixth inning scoring seven runs to hand Clifton-McDonald their first loss of the season in a final score of 11-10. In a make-up game, Saturday morning, Clark beat Goble Lumber, 19-4.

Umpires officiating were Carl Castle, Bill Bottoms and Gary Goble.

Local Historical Preservation Group Formed at Meeting

The effort to restore and preserve the Garfield House was continued Monday night, as a second meeting of concerned citizens was held at the Floyd County Library.

The meeting resulted in the formation of a non-profit organization dedicated first to the restoration and preservation of Garfield House in Prestonsburg, and ultimately to other historical sites in the Big Sandy area, and to foster an appreciation of the heritage of the crafts, folklore and culture of the area.

Choosing the name, "Big Sandy Historical Preservation Society," the group elected a board of directors composed of Mary Pinau, Leo Weddle and Charles Wharton. This board, with other members of the organization, will investigate the possibility of grants from state and national sources and will seek to enlist the aid of other concerned citizens in the area.

The next scheduled meeting of the group will be held at the Floyd County Library, Thursday, June 22, at 7 p.m. Those interested in this project are invited to attend.

County's Outstanding 4-H Club Girl for '77

Mary Westfall, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Westfall, of Ivel, recently received recognition as Floyd county's outstanding 4-H girl for 1977 in the Courier Journal Achievement Contest.

Miss Westfall has been a 4-H club member since the fourth grade. She received numerous awards at the county, area and state levels in talent, demonstrations, speech, vegetable judging, clothing and food judging. She attended 4-H camp nine times and has been a teen leader at camp for the last four years. In 1975 she was selected to represent the county at the older youth conference at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C.

She is presently attending Prestonsburg Community College.

All as described further and shown upon a map now on file, or to be filed in the Floyd Circuit Court Clerk's office prior to June 5, 1978.

2. Upon awarding of bids as described hereafter in this Resolution, franchisees will be issued to the successful bidder getting the exclusive right to operate a cable T.V. service within the community television area for a period of fifteen (15) years.

3. The successful bidder shall be as determined by the fiscal court, and will be awarded to the "highest and best bid."

a) The highest bid, shall be bids based upon a percentage of the gross income of the successful bidder, with said gross income to be determined by the number of customers served, and said percentage of gross income to be paid directly to the Floyd Fiscal Court.

b) The best bidder shall be the person selected by the Fiscal Court, taking into consideration the ability financially and educationally to operate such a system, to give full and prompt service, and the moral character and fitness of such bidder.

4. All rates to be charged by the successful bidder shall be subject to the regulation of the Floyd Fiscal Court, with an immediate rate of $5.00 per month per customer, with an additional charge of $1.00 per month per additional unit in the same dwelling. A hook-up fee of $25 for initial customers, hooked-up subsequent to the awarding of the franchise herein may be allowed, and in areas with less than 15 customers per mile, an additional charge of $1.00 per month per customer may be charged. All other rates are subject to the Resolution of the Floyd Fiscal Court establishing the Community Television Areas, and authorization, of Feb. 4, 1974, reference to which is made.

5. A performance bond of $6,000 must be filed by each successful bidder within 15 days of awarding of the franchise herein, and said bond shall guarantee his performance of full compliance with the resolution and ordinance of the Floyd Fiscal Court passed on Feb. 4, 1974, reference to which is made, and to the bringing of the successful bidders system into full compliance with all Federal Communication Commission regulations and requirements, and the competent rendering of three (3) channels, including ABC, CBS and NBC affiliated stations and a Kentucky station, if permitted by the Federal Communication Commission Rules and Regulations.

6. All bids shall be made in writing, shall be sealed, and shall contain not only the bid percentage of the gross income of the proposed franchise operator, but shall include a signed statement by the bidder reflecting his equipment, and assets now in place in the community television area on which he is bidding, as well as a statement as to whether service is now being rendered in said community television area. The bids shall be filed by no later than June 23, 1978, at 4:00 p.m. in the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

7. All bids shall be opened at a full meeting of the Fiscal Court, on June 27, 1978, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., Fiscal Court shall within 24 hours of the opening of said sealed bids announce and issue in writing acceptance of the highest and best bid as described heretofore.

8. Any community television areas for which no bids have been received, or bids accepted from qualified persons, shall have promptly re-advertised solicitations for bids for said area, within the discretion of the Fiscal Court.

9. Should a person other than the actual operator of a system in an area be the successful bidder, then said successful bidder must purchase the existing system at a price to be determined by an appraisal arrived at by 3 competent appraisers, one appointed by the owner of the system, one appointed by the successful bidder, and one appointed by the Fiscal Court. The present owner of the system shall, at his option, withhold the sale of said system, whereupon the successful bidder shall not be relieved from his responsibilities of giving competent service within a time limitations described heretofore.

10. The February 4, 1974 resolutions and/or ordinance of the Floyd Fiscal Court, Floyd County, Kentucky, authorizing a division of Floyd County into a community television area and authorizing the advertisement for bids on community cable television area franchise, is amended and any and all appropriate sections including paragraphs 3, 7, and 11, as they may be inconsistent with the foregoing.

ADOPTED AND APPROVED, this 24 day of May, 1978.

Osie and 'Little' Amos

By DOCIA B. WOODS

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Puckett (known to most people as Osie and "Little" Amos) are standing in the yard, in front of their house, on the side of a hill at the head of the Steve Hall branch, on the Left Fork of Abbott Creek.

Until a few years ago, this couple had never owned a home. (They'd always paid their rent by working for other people—usually for low wages like a dollar a day for both of them to hoe corn all day, or a quarter, or something like a used purse, in payment for Osie's doing a family wash.)

But one thing Osie and Little Amos have always had, and still have, is friends. Not long ago, after this couple had saved enough to buy a little strip of land, some of their friends gathered in and, while the women cooked, the men used materials that had been donated by persons who had their well-being at heart, to build them their very first home.

There isn't actually a "Welcome" sign hanging on the door of their little house, and such a sign isn't needed—for guests coming to Osie's and Amos' home soon know that they are welcome.

When this couple hears a car coming up the branch, they start running to meet their guests. After exchanging greetings with their friends, Osie and Little Amos take them on an excursion through their house, where Osie displays quilts she has managed to make since their friends were last there, and points out the many things that people have given them over the years. As their guests depart, following a heart-warming visit, they are accompanied a part of the way down the branch by Osie and Little Amos, who tell them, over and over, in the sincerest language, how grateful they are for their visit.

Little Amos is 69 years old now, and has dropsy. The teddy bear, held by Osie in this picture, was given to her along with three similar ones by Little Amos for her last birthday.

Airco Coal Sues L&N

Airco Coals Inc. has charged that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has discriminated against it by refusing to allocate unit coal trains to a Kentucky mine owned by the company.

Unit trains in question in the Airco suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Cincinnati Tuesday, carry 4,500 tons or more of coal from a single loading point to a single destination.

Under the Railroad Revitalization and Regulatory Reform Act of 1976, railroads are allowed to establish separate pools of cars for unit-train service and separate pools for single-car service.

When cars are in short supply, as is the current situation in Eastern Kentucky, they are to be distributed according to ratings established for shippers based upon loading capacity.

If a railroad is able to supply only 30 percent of the cars required by customers, each shipper should get about 30 percent of his rating, according to regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

But unit-train shippers are treated as a separate class from smaller shippers. Since unit trains can be handled more efficiently and thus are more profitable, according to railroad authorities, users of unit-train service generally get a higher proportion of cars than do smaller shippers.

Eastern Kentucky coal operators estimate that single-train shippers on the L & N currently receive less than 20 percent of the cars they need, compared with the 60 percent to 80 percent most unit-train shippers receive.

To take advantage of the better service to users of unit trains, Airco recently installed additional track and loading facilities at the Kodak mine it owns at Chester in Perry County, explained Fritz R. Kahn, an attorney with Vernern, Lipfert, Bernhard & McPherson, the law firm representing Airco.

The company claims that in addition to its 40-car daily rating, Kodak can load a unit train a week with its new facilities. The Kodak mine received an 81-car train on May 24 and loaded it in 18 hours, according to the attorney.

Because the railroad says unit trains must be loaded within four hours, it counted the 81 cars as single cars, Kahn said in an interview, and will not give the Kodak mine a unit-train rating.

The attorney claimed that the Interstate Commerce Commission does not call for a loading time limit in its definition of unit trains. He said the L & N may establish a tariff setting a time limit, but said Airco is willing to pay extra for taking longer to load a unit train. However, Kahn said, Airco must be allotted unit trains under ICC regulations.

Joseph L. Lenihan, the L & N attorney in the case, would not comment on Airco's contention because the suit is now in court.

David S. Porter, U.S. judge for the Southern District of Ohio, has indicated he will set a hearing on it in mid-June, according to Kahn.

Claims made in filing a lawsuit give only one side of the case.

New Litter Law in Effect

Revenue Commissioner Maurice P. Carpenter announced last week that the Department of Revenue has taken initial steps toward implementation of the litter assessment law enacted by the 1978 General Assembly.

Funds from the new assessment are earmarked for use by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection in combatting litter. The assessment, which is three cents for each $100 (three one-hundredths of one percent) on receipts from sales of "covered items," is expected to produce about $2 million annually, Carpenter said.

Covered items include newspapers, magazines, auto and truck tires (except recaps and retreads), and any and all personal property which is packaged, wrapped or contained in glass containers, metal containers of less than 55 gallons, plastic, paper or other fiber containers, according to the commissioner.

Carpenter said the assessment is effective June 17. It applies to sales by manufacturers, processors and wholesalers of covered items to Kentucky retailers for resale to consumers. The assessment also applies to manufacturer-processor receipts from sales of covered items directly to Kentucky consumers. The assessment is not paid by retailers.

Although Carpenter expects that fewer than 5,000 businesses will be subject to the assessment, he said that a general information letter was mailed last week to about 40,000 businesses to insure complete coverage. Carpenter said that anyone not liable for the assessment should disregard the information letter. Those liable for the assessment should promptly complete the identification statement contained in the information letter and mail it back to the Department of Revenue, he said.

The first report will be due, Oct. 20.

Outstanding Teenagers at McDowell

Graduates of McDowell High School, 1978, Miss Jeanette Daniels and Mrs. Rita Hall Moore, have been named Outstanding Teenagers of America, and will be listed in "Who's Who Among High School students."

Mrs. Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Hall, of Beaver, is married to Ernie Ray Moore, and they reside at Grethel. She has been an honor student for three years, a cheerleader for six years, and served as co-captain her senior year. Mrs. Moore was Homecoming attendant in 1974 and '75; and was selected as honorary page of the Kentucky House of Representatives. She also served on the senior class committee.

Miss Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Daniels, of Beaver, has been honor student for four years, is one of the top five seniors scholastically, and was a member of the senior class committee. She was a member of the Math Club, Pep Club, and was also selected as an honorary page of the Kentucky House of Representatives. At commencement exercises, June 2, she received awards in math, home economics, and for scholastic achievement.

Miss Daniels plans to attend Prestonsburg Community College next fall.

Now Comes Time To Plan Ahead For Next Year

With students taking tests and teachers grading papers, the current school year is drawing to a close across Kentucky. But for school administrators work is just beginning as they plan school calendars for next year.

Planning the school calendar has taken on added importance since the last two severe winters forced many schools in Kentucky to close for long periods of time. With many schools missing 20, 30, or as many as 45 days due to bad weather, some districts found it necessary to extend the school year into June to make up the lost days.

State law requires that schools be in operation 185 days a year. Ten of those days are taken up by the opening and closing of school, teacher inservice days and holidays, leaving 175 actual instructional days.

When last year's severe weather forced school cancellations, local school officials were faced with the decision of how to make up lost days. Extending the school year into June, extending the length of the school day and holding school on Saturdays and during weeks scheduled for spring break were options available to the local districts.

Local school officials and the state Department of Education are planning ahead on next year's calendars in case another severe winter forces extending school closings.

Randy Kimbrough, head of the Bureau of Instruction, said local school districts are being asked to indicate on school calendar forms how they would make up days if they missed 10 days, 20 days, or 30 or more days.

Districts are also asked to indicate whether they wish to build up emergency days in advance under the provisions of Senate Bill 198, which was passed during the 1978 General Assembly. SB 198 gives districts the option of extending the school day to make up days missed during an emergency prior to the emergency if they have approval by the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education.

Many schools plan to begin the coming school year during the week of August 7, Kimbrough said. If no days are missed due to bad weather next winter, most schools will dismiss around mid-May.

COURTESY AFLOAT is a tradition in boating. Respect your fellow skippers and, if they need help, give them a hand, advises the committee for National Safe Boating Week, June 1 through 7.

Floyd Girl Awarded Salutatorian Honors

The annual Awards Day program at the Kentucky School for the Deaf in Danville was held June 1 in the Thomas Physical Education Complex. Awards were given for vocational, academic and leadership-citizenship.

Diana Burke received the Parent-Teacher-Cottage Parent salutatorian award. She welcomed parents, teachers and friends to the Commencement exercises on June 2. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Devella Hall, of Bevinville. She was a manager of the girls' basketball team, and plans to attend Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., next fall.

THE WORLD'S OCEANS have a surface area over 16 times the size of the Soviet Union, reports International Wildlife magazine, and cover 70 per cent of the earth's surface.

NOTICE

The Kentucky Bureau of Highways, in order to assist those people displaced by highway construction, desires to obtain listings of available housing and building lots which are for sale, rent, or lease in Floyd County in the Betsy Layne, Harold, Mud Creek area.

Information concerning any property listed with the Bureau will be made available, free of charge, to those people displaced by highway construction and at no cost to the property owner offering the property.

Any property owner having property for sale, rent, or lease, is requested to send a brief description of the property; giving the lot size, type (brick, frame, block), number of rooms, type of heat, if gas and water are available, location, and whether or not the house has a bathroom. If the house is for rent, state monthly rent; if house is for sale, the sale price. Be sure to indicate the name and address of the owner and telephone number, if any.

All properties listed must be decent, safe, and sanitary, and available for sale or rent without regard to race, creed, color, or national origin.

All replies should be sent to Bill Edmonds, District Relocation Assistance Agent, Bureau of Highways, P.O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501.

Utilities Ordered To Reveal Details of Coal Purchases

By MARIA BRADEN

The Kentucky Public Service Commission refused to change a controversial section of a proposed regulation on fuel adjustment charges that would require electric utilities to make their coal-purchasing contracts public.

The commission took issue with the utilities' contention that public disclosure of coal prices would result in increased prices of coal and higher electricity rates for consumers.

"Public disclosure of such information is just as likely to have the effect of decreasing coal prices to utilities where one coal supplier may wish to undersell another in order to obtain a long-term contract with a utility," the commission said in a memorandum submitted Thursday to the Legislative Research Commission.

"This lack of firm evidence of anti-competitive effects resulting from public disclosure of coal price information must be weighed against the public's rights to have access to information relating to a major component of their utility bills," the commission said.

The commission proposed that utilities make public all documents related to coal buying as part of an attempt to regulate the use of fuel adjustment clauses.

The provision drew heated opposition from utilities at a hearing on the PSC's proposed regulation last month, and William M. Sawyer, PSC deputy executive director for legal affairs, said he expects some utilities will take that provision to court.

The PSC memo to the LRC gives "affirmative consideration" to objections to the proposed regulation as required by state law, the final step required before a regulation is given final approval.

The regulation will come up before the LRC's Administrative Regulations Review Subcommittee today (Wednesday).

The PSC also refused to back off from a provision which several utilities opposed that would permit a utility to pass along higher costs to consumers as a result of a power outage only if the outage is the result of "Acts of God, riot, insurrection or acts of the public enemy."

"We did not change anything of substance (in the regulation)," Sawyer said.

The fuel adjustment method allows utilities to automatically pass along higher costs to consumers, without PSC approval.

The proposed regulation would also establish a uniform fuel adjustment clause for each of the state's six electric generating utilities, would require monthly review by the PSC of each utility's proposed charges before they are added to customers' bills, and would restrict the costs that could be passed along through the fuel charge.

Two Floyd Students Among 24 Getting Rural Med Loans

Two Floyd countians are among the 24 Kentuckians whose applications for financial assistance as medical students were approved recently by the trustees of the Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund.

The Floyd county applicants are Mark A. Lafferty and Gregory D. Wells, both of Prestonsburg.

The board of trustees also approved 31 renewal loans to medical students for a total loan amount of $220,000.

Applicants for loans from the fund must be residents of Kentucky, admitted to an accredited medical school in the state, and agree to practice in an approved rural area of the state one year for each loan received.

According to Dr. Gaihel L. Simpson, Greenville, chairman of the board of trustees, the fund now has a total of 210 physicians in practice in 87 counties in Kentucky. Approximately 65 students are presently enrolled in medical school and 30 recipients are in residency training.

In addition to Wells and Lafferty, the first loan applicants are:

William G. Bacon, Jr., Somerset; Bobby C. Baker, Springfield; David W. Brewer, Greenville; Danny M. Burns, Morehead; Greta L. Combs, Hazard; Ricky E. Crawford, Franklin, Jansen C. Diener, Louisville; Scott E. Gaines, Madisonville; David A. Gammon, Shelbyville; Roy P. Germano, Jr., Louisville; Ralph A. Hicks, Jeffersonton; Charles D. Jarboe, East View; James O. Jarvis, Albany; Kevin Keown, Bowling Green; Jeffery A. Kopp, Louisville; Dwight E. Lewis, Cynthiana; Keith G. Meador, Scottsville; Eric A. Norsworthy, Hartford; Terry K. Spears, Shelbyville; James R. Thomas, Nicholasville; Ronald L. Wilson, Fancy Farm; Hubert W. Williams, Ashland.

THE LARGEST MAMMAL ever to roam the earth was an ancient ancestor of the modern day rhinoceros, according to International Wildlife magazine. Today's white rhinoceros weighs three to four tons.

White Hall Shrine Flower Show Slated

Kentucky's White Hall state shrine, near Richmond, will be the setting of a Flower Show Weekend, June 24-25, sponsored by the Richmond Garden Club.

Former home of the famous statesman and abolitionist, Cassius Marcellus Clay, the mansion was one of the grand estate houses of post-Civil War Kentucky.

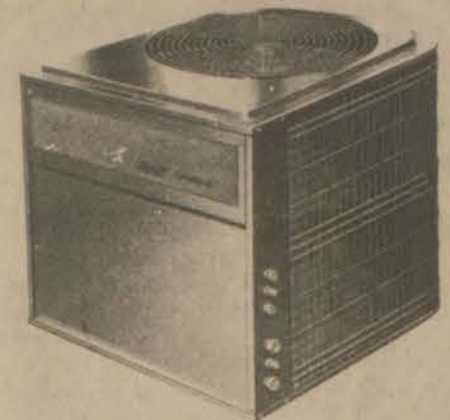

Flowers will decorate rooms throughout the mansion and will be judged in their respective settings. Chamber music will be performed throughout the week-end. There also will be an exhibit on growing an old-fashioned herb garden, and a showing of art focusing on historical sites in Madison County.

White Hall is south of Lexington and northwest of Richmond off I-75 and US-25 & 421.

The hours for the White Hall flower show are 3-5 p.m., Saturday, June 24, and 9 a.m., Sunday.

$73,617 Allotted To CAP Agencies

Nine Eastern Kentucky Community Action Agencies will receive federal grants totaling $73,617 to provide funds for weatherization and crisis intervention programs for a period of six months, according to human resources Secretary Peter Conn.

Grants were awarded to:
—Big Sandy Community Action Program Paintsville, $17,563. Bell-Whitley Community Services Administration, Pineville, $8,075. Daniel Boone Development Council, Manchester, $9,023.—Gateway Community Organization, West Liberty, $5,171.—Harlan County Community Action Agency, Harlan, $5,171.—Knox County Economic Opportunity Council, Barbourville, $2,660.—Lake Cumberland Community Services Organization, Somerset, $11,550.—Leslie, Knott, Letcher, Perry, Inc., $7,971.—Middle Kentucky River Area Development Council, Jackson, $5,885.

Weatherization programs repair and improve energy savings of the homes of elderly and low-income people. The purpose of these programs is to lessen the impact of high fuel costs to individuals and families and to reduce the amount of energy their homes consume, Conn said.

Community Action Agencies are local organizations which operate on a regional basis. They provide services geared to the needs of local low-income people. The agencies are an outgrowth of the former Office of Economic Opportunity.

The funds are awarded under the Head Start, Economic Opportunity and Community Partnership Act of 1974.

The Secretary of Labor, nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate, heads the U. S. Labor Department. He is the President's chief adviser on labor matters.

The Bank Josephine announces Money Market Certificates

An investment opportunity that earns you the same interest as U.S. Treasury Bills.

The Bank Josephine is now issuing new 6-month Money Market Certificates on deposits of $10,000 or more. The interest on these non-negotiable time deposits will be equal to the average discount yield on the most recently issued 6-month Treasury Bills.

Because the offer is a new one, we have tried to anticipate any questions our customers may have regarding Money Market Certificates, such as:

How do I purchase a Money Market Certificate?

In the same way you would invest in a Bank Josephine Certificate of Deposit. For each deposit of $10,000 or more, we will issue a Money Market Certificate that matures in 6 months.

How do I know the interest rate of the Money Market Certificate?

Interest rates will vary each week. Contact the Main Office of The Bank Josephine to find the current rate.
(The rate on June 6 was 7.095!)

Is interest compounded daily on a Money Market Certificate?

Yes, over the 6 month term of the certificate, and daily compounding increases effective yield.

Who can benefit from a Money Market Certificate?

Any investment-oriented individual desiring a short-term, high-interest opportunity will be interested in this certificate. The 6 month term, in conjunction with the high interest rate based on the yield of U.S. treasury bills, makes the Certificate a particularly attractive investment vehicle.

Is the Money Market Certificate limited to individuals?

No. A Money Market Certificate is an excellent investment opportunity for corporations, partnerships, and proprietorships.

Is the Money Market Certificate insured?

Yes. Each depositor is insured up to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

May I redeem my Money Market Certificate at any time?

Since the term of the Certificate is only six months, the need for early withdrawal is greatly reduced. However, should you at any time withdraw all or part of your Certificate, federal regulations prohibit the payment of a time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of interest is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to passbook rate.

Pictured above are eighth grade students who were graduated Sunday, May 28, from Our Lady of the Mountains School in Paintsville. They are, in front row from left, Tom Rowland, Ray Dean Clark, Tom Hereford, David Greene, Beth Holbrook, Mary Burchett. In back row, from left, are Stanley Sharkey and David Hereford.

Preceding the graduation, a brief religious ceremony was held on the front lawn of the school. Graduation exercises were held in the chapel at the school with Father David P. Shockey conducting the services. Recognized for scholastic achievement were David Greene and Beth Holbrook.

The day ended with a swimming party and wiener roast at Archer Park in Prestonsburg.

Group Hopes Proposition 13 To Spur Action in Kentucky

The leader of a Kentucky tax reform group wants to seize the momentum generated by California voters last week when they approved a drastic cut in property taxes.

"We need, while the door is open—while we have all this response, because people do forget so quickly — to get together and decide just what kind of legislative action is required," said Faye Ellercamp of Louisville, secretary of Taxpayers Action Group.

"While this is all fresh on people's mind we had better get something constructive done," Mrs. Ellercamp said.

The suburban housewife said the group was initially formed as a grass roots protest to reassessments of property in Jefferson county. She said the assessment issue will still be a key target of the group, although she hopes it will eventually take a look at the entire tax structure.

"Kentucky's property tax rates are not too bad," she admitted. "But it is the assessments that continually increase. There has to be an alternative. Perhaps property tax should cease to be a source of revenue for government."

She also conceded that "Proposition 13 (the California-approved measure limiting property taxes to 1 percent of assessed valuation) was a little radical. It is pretty strict."

Meanwhile, a state revenue official pointed out it would be difficult to apply the California proposal strictly to Kentucky because of the various property taxes.

Paul Tanner, head of research for the Department of Revenue, noted there are state and county property tax rates, in addition to city and school levies and levies by special service districts.

State law limits most of the property tax rates (except taxes for schools and in cities with more than 15,000 people) to 1 percent, or $1 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

Tanner said there is a question of how a blanket ceiling would affect individual tax rates which are under that ceiling.

In many rural counties, the total tax rate, combining several taxing districts, is still less than 1 percent.

Mrs. Ellercamp said her group wants to act in an orderly way to get elected officials to listen to its concerns about taxes. "We don't want to be an emotional group. We are trying to be a dignified, respectable group."

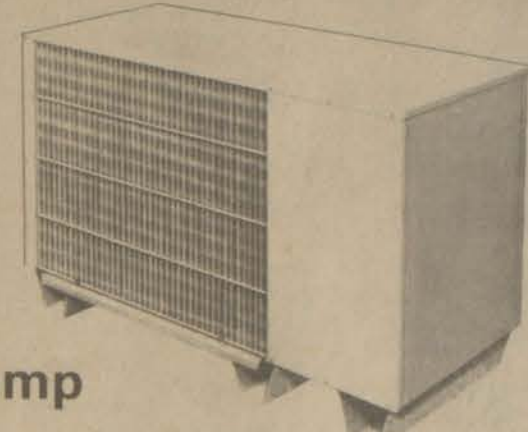

She said while she felt a majority of TAG's members would not want to resort to some form of tax strike or revolt, "Our elected representatives have not been listening to us and we will do whatever it takes to make them listen and to discuss the problems and to be accountable."

Mrs. Ellercamp said she hoped to have a leadership meeting this week and form some committees.

She said she also hopes to get organized statewide, but admitted a lot of rural counties with low tax rates may not be as interested in the assessment and property tax issue.

"But everybody is interested in taxes and everybody feels burdened by taxes," she said. "It's the Boston Tea Party revisited."

Snow, Ice Slowed State Speedsters

The number of speeding tickets written by the Kentucky State Police dropped drastically during the first quarter of this year for basically two reasons, according to Justice Secretary John L. Smith. From January through March, Kentucky State Police wrote 18,188 speeding tickets. This is down from 28,001 for the fourth quarter of 1977. During the first quarter of last year, 22,752 speeding tickets were written.

"The first quarter of the year is traditionally a low period as far as speeding tickets are concerned," Smith said. "Because of the hazardous conditions normally found on the roads during this time, not many people drive at very high speeds."

"This year, the weather was coupled with the fact that we had a great many troopers off the roads because of the coal strike."

Scout Camp Opening Set

Sunday, June 18, has been marked as opening day of the 1978 camping season at Camp Shawnee which is operated by the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America.

More than 250 Scout campers and their leaders are expected to participate in this year's camping program. Scouts from as far away as Louisville and Lexington as well as other central Kentucky cities have registered for the program at Shawnee.

Camp Shawnee is located on the headwaters of Dewey Lake and may be reached from state highway 194 which crosses Dewey Lake near its upper end.

Although the first camping week, June 18 through 24, is already full, plenty of additional camping sites remain during the remaining three weeks of camp operation. Attending camp the first week will be Troop 4 of Big Stone Gap, Troop 9 of Whitesburg, Troop 10 of Pikeville, Troop 40 of Grundy, Va., Troop 41 of Hurley, Va., and Troop 81 of Millard. Those registered for the second week of camp, June 25 through July 1, include troops from Louisville and Lexington along with Troop 27 of Prestonsburg, Troop 91 of Jackson and Troop 328 of Ash-camp.

The third week of camping operation is July 8, and the fourth and final week, July 9-15. Troops registered for the final two weeks of camp include Troop 42 of Maxie, Va., Troop 48 of Grundy, Va., Troop 49 of Breaks, Va., Troop 143 of David and Troop 504 of Meta.

The basic camp fee is $40 for each boy attending which includes all meals, the use of a tent and cot, and all of the camp's many program features which include swimming and swimming instruction, rifle marksmanship, boating, canoeing, archery, nature instruction, and camp-craft instruction. Boys who are eligible for free or reduced-price lunches in school will be given an automatic reduction in fee because of the council's participation in the Summer Food Service Program for Children. Boys who need additional financial assistance should apply through their Scoutmaster or to the office of the Lonesome Pine Council, as considerable financial assistance is available this summer for those requiring it.

Additional information about Camp Shawnee may be obtained by telephoning the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, in Pikeville (606) 437-6209.

ATTENTION

ALL PROPERTY OWNERS AFFECTED BY THE CHANNELIZATION OF BEAVER CREEK:

Any property owners desiring the assistance of the Army Corps of Engineers to come upon their property and identify the portion of their land to be acquired for the Beaver Creek channelization, should promptly come to the Floyd County Attorney's office, in the courthouse, in Prestonsburg, Ky., and complete a request form. This request form should be completed no later than June 22, 1978.

Search on for Victims By Motel Training Co.

Attorney General Robert F. Stephens is looking for persons who may have been victimized by a company in 1973 and 1974. A court in Kentucky has ruled that Motel Training Company of America violated Kentucky's Consumer Protection Act by engaging in deceptive practices. The court is now in the process of determining how much, if any, money is to be returned to each of these consumers. The amount of these refunds will range from $195 to approximately $950. "It is necessary for consumers having claims against Motel Training Company of America to contact the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office," Stephens said. "They will be scheduled to appear before a trial commissioner appointed by the court to hear their claims and determine how much money they are eligible to receive. These claims are being heard on June 14th and 16th in Louisville." Individuals who may have purchased from Motel Training Company of America are urged by the Attorney General to call the Consumer Protection Division and ask for Sarah Duncan. She may be reached by Kentucky residents by dialing the toll free consumer hot-line (1-800-372-2960). Persons now living out of Kentucky but who may have been victimized by Motel Training while living in Kentucky may contact her by dialing 1-502-564-2200.

Breeding-Conn Vows Spoken

The marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Breeding, daughter of Mrs. Helen Conn, of Teaberry, and Mr. Winford Tackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tackett, of Beaver, was solemnized May 20 by the Rev. Andy Hamilton. The ceremony, witnessed by members of the families and friends, was performed on the lawn of the home of the bridegroom's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Tackett are residing at Beaver.

State Cancels Contracts Held by Adams in Area

Nineteen stone delivery contracts granted Adams Construction Corp. and Adams Stone Corp., including delivery to Floyd county, have been cancelled by the state Department of Transportation, and Adams has been suspended from bidding on further contracts of the sort for a period of two years. The Pikeville-based firms have appealed the action. Cancellation of the contracts which covered road projects in Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Pike, Martin, Perry and Lawrence counties, followed what department officials described as repeated failures to meet delivery requests. Adams was informed of the contract cancellations in a May 22 letter from Danny L. Shearer, DOT director of purchases. According to the letter, the cancelled contracts cover periods from 1973 through this year and "involve a total of 95,610 tons of aggregate..." The letter states that DOT records show that "as of my March 31 and April 3 correspondence only 29,091 tons had been delivered against these contracts or roughly 31 per cent." It adds since the two letters from Shearer "and extending through May 16, 1978, an additional 10,407 tons has been delivered." "You will note that the departments' period of evaluation was extended from 10 days to 32 days for the April 3 correspondence and 33 days for the March 31 correspondence." The letter adds that as of May 22, "a total of 39,498 tons has been delivered; leaving 56,112 tons remaining to be delivered." Adams Construction Corp. is one of the major surfacing and resurfacing contractors in Kentucky, DOT officials said. The firm's surfacing and resurfacing contracts are not affected by the cancellation of the 19 stone delivery contracts, Grayson said. DOT officials had no immediate figures available as to the total value of the cancelled contracts, but they estimated the contracts probably totaled between $700,000 and $800,000 when let.

Shearer's letter to Adams states that a review of the 19 contracts shows "a very poor delivery response" by both Adams Construction and Adams Stone to DOT's requests for delivery. Asked what excuses Adams has offered for the delays, Grayson said he preferred not to discuss that since Adams has appealed his decision and he is granting the firms a hearing. Highway Engineer G. F. Kemper said the cancelled projects are being rebid. Grayson said a hearing officer will conduct the hearing and then recommend to him what action to take. He could leave the cancellation order stand, modify it or reverse his previous decision. The Adams firm could appeal Grayson's decision in the courts. Asked why DOT has waited so long to act, Grayson replied, "The fact that aggregate is so hard to get and the sources are so limited are the only two answers I can give." Grayson said in the Eastern Kentucky counties where the Adams firms have the contracts often only one or two bid on these stone supply contracts. That situation has concerned Rep. Bill Weinberg, of Hindman, who said, "Perhaps the most infuriating factor of the maintenance system in Eastern Kentucky is its reliance on a few contractors for its road work and gravel supply." Ways to encourage more competition in that area is one area Weinberg hopes an interim legislative committee could come up with before the 1980 legislative session. He has asked that the matter be taken up by the State Government Committee. Weinberg has expressed concern over what he says was Adams Construction Co.'s failure to deliver gravel to four communities in Knott county before this year's severe winter—although money was available and a contract was let before the winter. The contract for the gravel in Salt Lick, Quicksand, Lotts Creek and Yellow Creek was one of the 19 cancelled, Kemper said. Weinberg said in Quicksand, Lotts Creek and Salt Lick mail could not be delivered much of the winter and residents often could not leave their residences without a four wheel drive. And Weinberg expressed concern whether the time consuming rebidding process will permit the work to be completed before next winter. "I really couldn't answer that possibly," Kemper said, "except that we will make every effort to do it. But here again the availability of material is going to be a determinating factor." Grayson agreed with Weinberg that "alternative solutions" have to be found. He said DOT is looking for them. Sandstone which is readily available is being used on one type project it has never been used before, the secretary added.

Martin-Haas
Mr. and Mrs. Sam Martin, Jr., of Minnie, Ky., announce the marriage on May 25 of their daughter, Violet Elizabeth, to Charles Anthony Haas, of Minneapolis, Minnesota. A reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Haas will be held later this month.
