

Cliff Work On US 23 Here Seen

Contract Expected Late Next Month After Long Delay

The one spot on US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville which is regarded as most dangerous in a long list of danger spots apparently is marked for improvement.

The Times learned "unofficially" Tuesday that the Department of Highways will ask bids Friday on cutting back and terracing the overhanging cliff on the route, opposite the Pic-Pac Supermarket here and that a contract on the job may be awarded late next month.

This particular spot is regarded by many as most dangerous of the many danger points along the highway because vehicles entering the parking lot of the store often hold up traffic behind it, and occupants of cars at standstill beneath the precipice are at the mercy of any slide or rockfall that may come.

Utility lines across the site are expected to be moved next week. Rights-of-way or easements have been procured for a place to store the rock removed during the work.

The Department of Highways began, about two years ago, work on the cliff on force account, but clumsy blasting operations drew protests and the work was stopped.

Attention to the hazards of driving US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville was attracted by the publication Tuesday by The Courier-Journal of a news-story by Carolyn Colwell. She quoted Joe Anderson, a department engineer, as saying action toward eliminating the admittedly dangerous situation has not been taken earlier because of the cost and because of plans to relocate US 23.

One unofficial source, for instance, estimated the cost of the one project here to be $250,000.

Anderson also was quoted as saying this stretch of US 23 has been given low priority because it was considered "adequate" when the highway was added to the Appalachian Regional Commission's program.

In fact, however, the ARC has not added this sector of US 23 to its program, despite repeated efforts to induce it to do

Charred Body Of Floyd Man Found Sunday

The charred body of a Floyd county man was found early Tuesday morning in a burning automobile on a Huntington, W. Va. parking lot, and authorities there ordered an autopsy in an effort to determine if he was dead before the fire broke out or had died as a result of burns.

The victim was 24-year-old Eddie Gene Hamilton, of Teaberry. Interior of the 1963 Grand Prix Pontiac which he occupied was ablaze.

The report of findings from the autopsy, which was performed in Charleston by the West Virginia medical examiner, had not been made Monday afternoon.

Huntington police said a man in a nearby apartment building told them that around 5:15 Sunday morning he heard "a crack like a shot but did not get up to see what was going on" in the parking lot where the auto burned.

The victim, a son of John Hamilton, Jr. and Lizzie Hamilton, of Teaberry, worked in coal field reclamation as a hydro-seeder. Surviving, besides his parents, are six brothers and four sisters, Charlie Hamilton, Dayton, O., Tolbie, Emmitt Eugene, Donald Ray, Bobby and Rickey Hamilton, all of Teaberry, Mrs. Normalene Perdue, Southgate, Mich., Mrs. Ailene Tripodi and Mrs. Margie Costello, both of Detroit, and Mrs. Christine Combs, of Hazard.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. today (Wednesday) at the home of his parents at Teaberry by ministers of the Regular Baptist Church. Burial will be made in the family cemetery on Tinker Fork under direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Trial of Anderson Slated October 10

Reuben G. Walker, assistant commonwealth's attorney in Madison county, has notified Floyd Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen that the murder trial of Ralph Anderson for the slaying of Mack Lewis will be held in the Madison circuit court at Richmond, October 10.

The trial was shifted from this county to Madison on change of venue granted by Circuit Judge Hollie Conley after defense counsel had petitioned the change, claiming a fair trial of the case could not be had in this county.

Prevailing Wage Topic of Hearing Conducted Here

Eastern Counties Now In Region with Ashland; Wage Increase Expected

Representatives of both labor and industry made presentations at the hearing held at the courthouse here last Thursday by the Department of Labor on the wage scale that is to prevail in the region.

Out of the hearing will come a new prevailing wage scale for the region, which now includes the Ashland area. These wages apply to construction projects in which state or federal funds are involved.

The wage scale which became effective Jan. 1, it was said here, has already heavily increased public construction costs. One example given was that of a sub-contractor who was paying employees $6 an hour when he took the contract on the Prestonsburg municipal building last October. On Jan. 1 the pay scale jumped to $12 an hour. At that time common labor on such projects rose from about $3.50 an hour to $8.68.

A new increase is expected. One effect is reported from Pikeville, where $6 million was allocated for a high-rise for the elderly. When the bids were in, the lowest was about $9 million, and the project is at least temporarily stalled.

Southern contractors, in particular, are discouraged about the prospects.

At that, according to one source, a lot of construction work is expected in the area.

Progress reports will be heard on the Mountain Manor Skilled Nursing Home, Pikeville, Riverview Manor & Mountain Manor Nursing Home, Prestonsburg, and the Pike County Health Care Center, Inc. Phelps.

Grants to be reviewed: Mountain Comprehensive Care Center Continuation Staffing Grant, Prestonsburg; University and Local Cooperation for Rural Primary Care, Homemaker-Home Services aide training, state system of allied health education, emergency medical specialist training project and A-95 East Kentucky Health Systems Agency—Appalachian Regional Hospital.

These projects will be forwarded to the East Kentucky Health Systems Agency for review on September 19, and at the governing board meeting, September 20, at the Sheraton Inn, Lexington.

The public is invited to attend all meetings.

Bonds of Two In Hall Death Set at $25,000

Two Left Beaver Creek men were named last week in warrants sworn out by Wheelwright Officer Joe W. Lewis, charging them with the July 21 slaying on Jack's Creek of Walter G. Hall, 23, of Letcher county.

The accused men, Danny Meade, of Hi Hat, and David Slone, of Halo, came here with Meade's attorney, Lester Burns, and executed $25,000 bond each, immediately after the warrant was issued in district court.

Their examining trial was scheduled at 10 a.m. Saturday, but the hearing was postponed till August 14 when the Commonwealth found that its witnesses were missing.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen, who said he has made his own investigation of the Hall slaying, said the case is very involved. State Detective Keith Scott said there were perhaps 10 witnesses but none had supplied information of value. Ex-Sheriff Joe W. Lewis said one witness had given him a description of the man who fired the shot which killed Hall.

Hall was shot one time below his eye as he reportedly fled the Jacks Creek home of Hester Slone where several persons had gathered during the night.

This Town...That World

HONORED UNCLE SAM

I suspect that the New York news media may have contributed to some of the troubles of Billy Martin, Reggie Jackson, et al, but one of those writers, Dick Young, did a piece so cleverly last week that most people will forgive him for failing to be a peacemaker. He was recounting the troubles of Jackson when, referring to Jackson's suspension indefinitely without pay, he added this: "When you are Reggie Jackson, that means about $2,500 a day, gross, before taxes. The government can't stand too many days of that."

Wish I had said that.

WHO AM I TO RESIST?

My resistance to a changing language, new terms and the like may be earning for me the deserved reputation of being an old fuddyduddy. I, for example, detest this "finalization" of matters and insist that mere "completion" would suffice. Then, too, I get plumb stuffy when they inform me through the written word that this gal is a Ms. and not a plain Miss or Mrs.

What brings me around to mood of repentance is the reminder that we eastern Kentuckians have perhaps manufactured more words than the most radical wordmonger of the present day ever dreamed up.

This reminder came, the other day, when I heard somebody say that a certain person had the "favorance" of another. Then I thought of the way our people in some quarters took a good noun like "pleasure" and wound it around to say they would be "pleasured" if such and such a thing happened.

I'm of the generation which was known to use the word(?) "cluver" for "generous."

And still I won't go along with spelling "crappie" with an "o." Oh, well!

ANOTHER MOUNTAIN FEUD

Things are reasonably peaceful around our place except for the feud between our neighbors. These neighbors, we hasten to explain, are a couple of crows and a hawk

Immunization Clinics To Begin This Week

In an effort to have all children entering school for the first time adequately immunized, the Floyd County Health Department is conducting pre-school immunization clinics throughout the county. Many of these clinics will be held on school grounds in the health department's mobile van, while others will be held in the office of the health department. Services available at these clinics will include immunizations, TB skin tests, hemoglobins and urinalyses.

This year the Floyd County Board of Education requires all kindergarten students, first grade students and transfer students to have a TB skin test, plus a physical examination by a doctor. Children who received a physical examination last year for kindergarten, however, will not have to have another physical by a doctor in order to enroll in the first grade.

An immunization certificate also will be required of all first-grade and eighth-grade students showing that their immunizations are up to date or that they have been started with assurance that they will be completed by the end of the school year.

A list of scheduled pre-school immunizations clinics follows:

Wednesday, July 26, McDowell High School, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Friday, July 28, Betsy Layne High School, 10 till 2; Monday, July 31, Martin Elementary School, 10 till 2; and Tuesday, August 1, Floyd County Health Department, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Wednesday, August 2, Allen Central High School, 10 till 2.

Setting the Record Straight—We Hope

The Times' attempts in recent weeks to record district court activities have resulted in at least three erroneous reports. These errors have resulted from an involved system of recording court proceedings which are almost as frustrating to workers in the office as they are to the public.

Our reports originated in the court calendar, but mistakes occurred, anyhow. For instance:

The reported fine of $100 and jail term of 30 days for Danny Allen on a public intoxication charge was incorrect. Mr. Allen paid a fine of $32.50, some time before the item reached this newspaper, and there was no jail sentence.

Robert Justice was reported in The Times as having been one of three who were fined $500 and given a jail term. He had already paid a fine of $122.50. There was no jail term, nor was his bond forfeited.

Wreck at Auxier Fatal to Hayden

Charlie Hayden, 35, of Auxier, was almost instantly killed late Saturday afternoon when the dune buggy which he was driving plunged over a hill in the Patton Hollow-Mary Luck Hollow section of Auxier.

The accident reportedly occurred as Hayden was taking his son, Bobby, and stepson, Kenneth Hinton, for a ride on a trail near the home of his parents in Patton Hollow. A spokesman for the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad said tracks at the scene indicate that the vehicle backed over the hill, and it is thought the buggy may have flipped as it was being turned. Hayden apparently suffered a broken neck after being thrown from the vehicle. The younger Hayden suffered back injuries while Hinton was uninjured.

Mr. Hayden, a son of Shirley and Sylvia Alexander Hayden, was born September 15, 1942 at Auxier and was a self-employed contractor and bricklayer. A veteran of the Vietnam War and a member of the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church here, he is survived by his wife, Shirley Ousley.

Other survivors include a son, Charles Robert Hayden, and two stepsons, Jimmy Gene and Kenneth Ray Hinton, all at home; five brothers, Gene Hayden, of West Prestonsburg, Jimmy Hayden, of Nashville, Tenn., Billy and Clifford Hayden, both of Marietta, Ga., and Raymond Hayden, of East Point, and four sisters, Mary Chancellor, of Bear, Delaware, Betty Simon, Phoenix, Arizona, Jackie Golden, of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Sharon Music, of Auxier.

Suspect Sought In Store Holdup

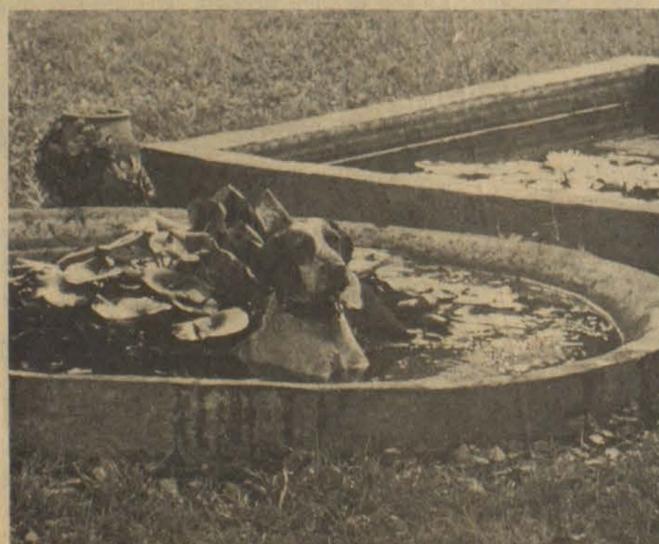

A warrant for the arrest of Alvin Bruce Branham, Jr., of Auxier, was issued by the district judge's office last week charging him with the July 21 slaying here of a girl-clerk in the Service Grocery.

The warrant was issued on a affidavit of State Detective Keith Scott after Attorney James R. Allen, Commonwealth's Attorney, advised that he had identified a youth accused of the slaying.

The officer, Arnold B. McCoy, was arrested by State Trooper Ralph Hall. McCoy is said to be one of two paid deputies on the staff of Martin Sheriff Tommy Muncey.

Tradition—Class of '68

Tradition, tradition—that seems to be the word of the day as another 10 year graduating class from Prestonsburg High School celebrates with their annual reunion. This July 4th week-end saw the class of 1968 gather again.

It has been told this practice of reunion at our glorious alma mater has become a foregoing tradition. But why? What is its purpose? Why do some people travel hundreds of miles to attend, while others can not even travel a few miles for the occasion? These seem to be questions people run through their mind prior to their first reunion. The questions are answered to those who attend. This gathering is not just people getting together to relive the past, but it becomes a period in time when ideas are exchanged, new friendships are started and old ones renewed. Social and athletic "clics," which dominated the halls, are completely forgotten and any and all barriers are disregarded. New avenues are explored and new grounds for friendship are found.

It is a time when people with ten more years of life's experience gathered together to exchange and grow.

The graduating class of 1968, Prestonsburg High School, continued for another year this tradition. Tradition that this day and time should and must have. May it go on for years to come.

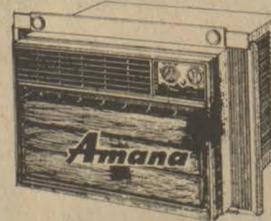

The class would like to thank the following people for their time and trouble: Jennifer Barkett, Glenna (Fannin) Cox, Rita Harris, Pam Hazelett, and all others that were not recognized. These people made the difference between a mediocre and successful reunion.

Friendship to all. See you in '83.

No More Regionalization, Please

The Times agrees with Pike County Judge-Executive Wayne Rutherford in his recent statement opposing the change of the present health department system from a program centered in a single county to one of multi-county, regional scope.

It is argued that regionalization, with one administrator directing the health work in all counties within a specified area, would eliminate duplication of services, provide more specialized programs and, in effect, get more done for less money.

That is a bureaucratic pipedream. The actual work still would be done at the local level by the county health offices, leaving for the regional administrator and his staff the planning—and the odds are that the regional staff would pull down no small part of the money available for health work.

By and large, local health departments have functioned well. They can continue to take directions from the State Department of Health and get the job done. More people at the top to pass on these directives to the local health departments aren't needed. Says Judge Rutherford:

"There's got to be a stopping place somewhere before they regionalize everything. The next thing you know, they'll regionalize churches."
We agree.

All Can 'Get into the Act'

In this edition of The Times appears a news-story which should not be overlooked. It is a reminder that a new state law requires a public hearing to be held during the coming school year at every school in the state to give parents, teachers, students, all concerned, an opportunity to contribute their views of the schools' strengths and weaknesses.

The same law (HB 579) also provides that every student in the third, fifth, seventh and tenth grades shall be administered a screening test to measure the student's progress or achievement in such basics as reading, writing, spelling, language and mathematics.

It is a good law. If the public does not attend these mandated meetings and contribute to the overall improvement of the schools, it is not the fault of the legislators.

It is to be hoped that these public meetings will be neither lovefests nor gripe sessions. The law was not enacted to provide school people a sounding board to proclaim their virtues, nor was it intended to give chronic faultfinders an opportunity to rail at others or to vent their spleen on individuals.

Rather, this is an opportunity for all to "get into the act," to help in calm, sensible fashion to pinpoint the weaknesses of the schools and at the same time in positive fashion stress their good points.

In any event, these are important meetings, for it is intended that out of them will come information that will result in a solid plan for improvement.

so. The assessment made perhaps 10 years ago that the route was adequate to traffic needs has caused ARC to withhold its support, it has been said.)

Chalmer Howard, who has led the Jaycees here in urging improvement of all the parts of the highway bordered by steep rock walls, spoke of the frustration experienced by residents of the area as they see highway workers spending weeks "on landscaping projects" along I-75 while "down in Eastern Kentucky rocks are falling on people and nothing's being done about it."

Assistance of the FBI in locating Branham was asked after it was warned that Branham had last been seen at a Cleveland, O. address. He had not been arrested as of Monday morning, Commonwealth's Attorney Allen said.

In the grocery store robbery the robber forced the clerk, 17-year-old Kathy Hackworth, to empty cash contents of the cash register and a bank deposit bag into a paper sack. The haul was about $2,000. He used a sawed-off shotgun to enforce his orders, Miss Hackworth said.

A sister of the accused man admitted to investigators that she saw her brother saw off a part of the barrel of a shotgun prior to the time of the robbery.

Marvin Crider, Jr. was reported last week as having been one of several whose cases had been continued, and the charge against him was listed as drunk driving and no operator's license. It was learned this week there were no such charges involved.

We're sorry. Also a bit confused.

which apparently have nests within whistling or cawing distance of each other.

Almost every afternoon the hillside erupts in a blast of sound. The hawk, whether out for a bit of exercise or sightseeing, goes aloft, circles over the crows' domain, and up they go like two fighter planes to do battle.

Nobody has been shot down, but to date the crows have contrived by indignant squawking and wheeling and darting to chase the marauder from their doorstep.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING

Watching the aforesaid hawk circle, riding air currents without any apparent effort, I sometimes envy him. What wild sense of freedom is his, and how great it would be to glide through the air and over the countryside, plying space that is utterly uncrowded, with none to cause a collision! Then it occurs to me that most things are relative. That free-wheeling hawk may not be out just for a joy ride. He's looking for his next meal. It's all in the day's work, and that, my friend, can, they tell me, become a very humdrum matter.

THE NEW CLUBMEMBER

Our friend, Marvin Crider, Sr., has joined the club—and how. When he retired recently and took to Cave Run Lake he had not done much fishing, so he asked Tom Oak McGuire what bait to use. "Try the Rapala," he was advised.

And he did—with such effect that on a recent morning he landed a dozen bass, some seven or eight of which were keepers, the largest measuring 21 inches. If somebody could guarantee something of the sort for me, it might hasten my retirement. But, seriously, I doubt that anybody is going to risk his reputation so far as to make free with such assurances.

Unlikely LETTERS By Williams

Property Tax Study May Be Seen on TV

The interim joint Appropriations and Revenue Committee will hold a meeting this fall to discuss the issue of property taxes, and will ask the Kentucky Educational Television Network to televise the meeting.

Rep. Joe Clarke (D-Danville) noted that few people actually understand the property tax, and the issue needs to be discussed publicly in a way that makes some sense.

The committee also agreed to look into the idea of holding hearings on the property tax throughout the state.

Tax changes produced by legislation passed in the most recent session of the General Assembly will bring in nearly $50 million more over the biennium, although this figure, in a Legislative Research Commission (LRC) report, did not include increases in fees. The committee requested a report that would also include fee increases in the projection.

Proposition 13, which limited property taxes in California, received a good amount of attention at a committee meeting last Friday and various interpretations of the success of the measure were offered. Gilmore Dutton, of the LRC staff, said that Proposition 13 was "really a revolt against government spending, not against the property tax."

Sen. Robert Martin (D-Richmond) on the other hand interpreted passage of the measure as an expression of dissatisfaction with government interference in the lives of citizens.

Rep. Harold DeMarcus (R-Stanford) noted that "anything we put on the ballot as far as reducing taxes is going to pass," and added that "people who are actually rebelling" won't pay attention to possible consequences of tax reductions. He added that inflation is increasing taxes "regardless of whether the rate is increased."

Rep. Lloyd Clapp (D-Wingo) said he feared "overreaction" to tax reform could stifle the growth of the Commonwealth, and Clarke cautioned that "you have to be careful not to equate California's situation with ours."

He added that California has the highest property taxes in the nation while Kentucky's is among the lowest and that the western state has a $5½ billion surplus contrasted with Kentucky, whose annual budget is less than that amount.

Clarke expressed the hope that the California measure would focus public attention on state expenditures and lend support "to what this committee has been trying to do for a long time," as far as reducing state expenditures.

Clarke said government has been growing faster than personal income. An LRC study presented to the meeting indicated that government revenues are growing 27.5 percent faster than personal income in Kentucky. Over the period from 1968 to 1977, average yearly growth in personal income was 10.5 percent while the general and road fund increases were 12.4 percent.

The committee agreed to study the family tax burden in Kentucky as compared to other states. In action today the committee also agreed to—Look at the capital construction fund, long-term state debt, legislative control over federal funds, revenue bond projects, the salary of state employees and the state retirement system.

Carter Proposal To Cut Hospital Costs Loses Out

A House committee dealt President Carter and his anti-inflation fight a major defeat last Tuesday by dismantling the administration's proposal to place a lid on rapidly rising hospital costs.

By a one-vote margin, the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee amended the administration bill and removed a provision for mandatory controls on hospital costs, which increased 16 percent last year. The remaining legislation encourages hospitals to reduce costs voluntarily by 2 percent a year.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph A. Califano Jr. denounced the committee vote as "a defeat for the public interest and a victory for the special hospital interests."

The organized medical community, however, was pleased with the committee's endorsement of its voluntary cost-control effort, which began earlier this year. A typical comment came from Dr. Robert B. Hunter, chairman of the board of the American Medical Association, who called voluntary efforts "the only responsible approach" to cost containment that would preserve "continued delivery of quality health care."

The committee vote had important implications beyond the health field because President Carter has consistently named the cost-containment bill as one of his major efforts against inflation. Califano said Tuesday that the bill "remains the No. 1 unfulfilled priority now before the Congress in the fight against inflation."

But when asked whether the administration would continue to fight for the bill, Califano replied: "I don't know." He said administration and congressional figures would evaluate the situation before making a decision. Most Capitol Hill analysts said they thought the outlook for the White House version was not good.

The Commerce Committee was considered more sympathetic to the bill than the Ways and Means Committee, which also has jurisdiction over the issue, and it was believed that there was little chance now that the Ways and Means would report a bill containing mandatory controls.

He was a director of the National Coal Association for two decades and was named its Man of the Year in 1976. He was also the first president of the Kentucky Coal Association and was named its Man of the Year in 1977.

He also organized and served as the first president of the Big Sandy-Elkhorn Coal Operators Association.

His civic participation included membership on the Board of Regents at Morehead State University, membership on the old Kentucky Council on Higher Education, serving as a trustee of the Methodist Hospital at Pikeville and Highlands Regional Hospitals here, and membership on the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission, a forerunner to the Appalachian Regional Commission.

His firm also won a major antitrust lawsuit against the United Mine Workers union and the Consolidation Coal Co. during the 1960's.

In the lawsuit, LaViers' firm charged that the UMW and Consolidated Coal had conspired to drive medium-sized firms like his out of the coal business. In making the charge he took on UMW President John L. Lewis and one of the nation's biggest coal companies at the same time.

And he won, collecting $8.9 million in damages and penalties from the two defendants.

He is survived by his wife, Maxie Auxier LaViers, a son, Harry Jr. of Irvine, and four grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our precious mother, Frona Slone, who passed November 17, 1972 and our father, Johnny Slone, who passed away January 13, 1971.

Dear Mom and Dad,
We wanted so much to keep you both, sick or well. We loved you both more each day. Our hearts were broken when you had to go away. God watched over you while you suffered. He knew you had your share of suffering, so He took you to be with him in heaven. He tenderly closed your weary eyes and took you in His care.

You will never know how much we miss you each day. There is such a vacant place since you went away. Often we think we hear your voices and your footsteps and see your smiling faces. Sadness still comes over us, but memory keeps you near us even though you left us so many years ago! You are sadly missed by all of us.

The Family of Johnny and Frona Slone. It.

SPECIAL JUDGES RULING HALTS CIRCUIT JUDGE CASE

Court of Appeals To Rule On Point

Proceedings in the case of C. B. Wheeler vs. A. T. Patrick involving the Republican nomination for Circuit Judge of this district came to a sudden halt in the Floyd Circuit Court last Friday when Judge J. C. Carter, special judge, sustained Judge Patrick's demurrer to the jurisdiction of the court to try the case. Speaking on the demurrer Judge Patrick Joseph D. Harkins made the point that the demurrer of Judge Wheeler was insufficient and void because it called upon the contestee to "answer in the court room" when the case, only legal place to answer was in the office of the circuit clerk. Judge Carter deemed the question raised sufficiently doubtful to make advisable for the Court of Appeals to pass upon it, before the parties should proceed further in the case, thereby incurring expense which might be needless, should the Court of Appeals in reviewing the whole case sustain the demurrer. Accordingly, Judge Wheeler took an immediate appeal and the papers in the case were forwarded to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals last Monday morning. Under a special provision of the law applying only to election contest cases, it was not necessary to copy the record, and when the original papers were filed in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, it was immediately docketed and given precedence over all other cases, so that an early decision may be expected. The effect of Judge Carter's ruling is to throw the case out of court, at least temporarily. Should the higher court reverse Judge Carter, the case will proceed in due course, unless the appeal should be dismissed because of some defect in the appeal itself—always a possibility in hard fought cases. In the opinion of lawyers a ruling by the court of appeals may be expected within two weeks. Counter Contest By Patrick Answering Judge Wheeler's petition Judge Patrick on Thursday afternoon filed a counter contest in the suit. As one of the grounds for contesting Judge Wheeler's right to receive the nomination, Judge Patrick claims that Judge Wheeler had not resided within the district for the legal period of two years prior to the day of the primary. Other grounds alleged are the voting for Wheeler of numerous illegal votes in each and every precinct in the district, numbering at least 200, consisting of votes of minors, non-residents, and persons permitted to vote on the table without first making the legal affidavit of disability, and also numerous votes cast for Wheeler as a result of bribes by Wheeler or by his workers with his knowledge and consent, that in every precinct in the district voters were bribed by Wheeler and by others for him and with his knowledge and consent; that in Precincts Nos. 8 and 25 in Floyd County and Nos. 5, 7 and 12 in Knott County less votes were counted for Patrick than were cast for him and more votes were counted for Wheeler than were cast for him. Answering the charges contained in Judge Wheeler's petition with reference to the part taken by relatives of Judge Patrick in his race while employed by corporations, Judge Patrick states in his answer that the type writer and stationery used in connection with the activities of these relatives belonged to them and the services rendered were rendered on their own time. In reference to the returns from the Mouth of Mud Precinct No. 14 Judge Patrick charges that a change was made in the result of the election as certified by the election officers, at some time on Aug. 10, while the vote of the election was being canvassed and tabulated by the County Board of Election Commissioners. The original return from that precinct as certified by the election officers, it is alleged, was that Patrick received 77 votes and that Wheeler received 63 votes, and that when the County Board came to canvass and tabulate the vote from Mouth of Mud it was found that the 6 in 63 had been changed to 8 thereby adding 20 votes to those originally certified as cast for Wheeler. After setting forth the filing of the injunction suits on Aug. 12 and 13, by Patrick against the election officers and the election commissioners to compel the officers to reassemble and recertify the vote, and to restrain the commissioners from canvassing and certifying the result, until the vote had been re-certified by the election officers, Judge Patrick alleges that the Commissioners, after being served with the restrain orders in these cases, nevertheless and in contempt and disobedience of said orders, did tabulate and certify to the County Clerk that Wheeler received 83 votes and Patrick 77 votes, and that said tabulation and certification was illegal and void, and that the only legal tabulation and certification by the commissioners of the vote in Precinct 14 was the corrected tabulations and certification subsequently made by the commissioners under compulsion of law, showing that Wheeler received but 63 votes in that precinct. Judge Patrick asks that the contest of Judge Wheeler be dismissed; that he be adjudged the nominee for Circuit Judge on the Republican ticket; that the ballot boxes of every voting precinct in the district be opened and re-counted and that Judge Wheeler be adjudged ineligible to receive the nomination.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF FLOYD COUNTY

I wish to thank my many supporters in the recent primary in which I was defeated. You certainly made a game fight. Our organization was made up mostly of young men and women and many ex-soldiers but you demonstrated that you were able to cope with the old veteran politicians in ever precinct in which we made a fight. But we lost, and regardless of how it happened, I am for the nominee. And I will call your attention to the quotation from my speech at the May term of court "When told that I can no longer ride a big white horse and lead the procession then give me an old musket and I will hobble along in the rear rank, and obedient soldier and stick to the nominee if he goes to hell." These words are as true today as the day they were first spoken. The face of the returns showed the majority of the people were in favor of me waiting a while, so as you soldiers know how we waited in line for mess, waited for our compensation etc. When it comes to waiting we can do so without getting mad, as we are experienced. So let us show that we can smile on defeat and that our organization still lives. Let's elect the nominee this fall by fighting beside the one who fought us in the primary. With the best regards for all my supporters and without malice towards those who opposed me.

Chick Howard, and John May resigned, and in their stead three were elected to serve during the unexpired term Messrs. W. H. Layne, B. P. Carter and George B. Archer. The reason assigned for the resignation of the retiring members was that the pressure of their business affairs. It is probable, however, in the opinion of persons familiar with municipal matters that the changes in the personnel of the Board in the foreground of important developments in the management of the affairs of the city.

ASHLAND BOOSTERS TAKE PRESTONSBURG

They came, they saw, they conquered—so may be epitomized the result of the visit of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce Boosters to Prestonsburg yesterday afternoon. Issuing forth from a ten coach pullman train, one hundred and fifty good fellows, business men, men of affairs, representing the material, mental and moral power of the fair city of Ashland, were met with cordial welcome by Prestonsburg people at the station shortly after one o'clock. In a short time, mutual greetings and introductions had initiated acquaintanceship that will ripen into lasting friendship, to the mutual advantage of all concerned, if the many cordial expressions of the visitors are to be taken as a criterion. After selections rendered at the station by the Boosters Brass Band, an aggregation of twenty pieces, the reception committee, band, boosters, and citizens forming in parade in the order named, proceeded to the city park, where the visitors were welcomed by Hon. A. J. May on behalf of the people of Floyd County and the City of Prestonsburg. In fitting and eloquent terms the speaker gave to the visitors assurance of Floyd County's friendship for Ashland in the development of the marvelous resources of the Big Sandy Valley. Rev. Paul S. Powell, pastor of the First M. E. Church South, of Ashland responded on behalf of the visitors. In an interesting and graceful speech, Rev. Mr. Powell made his audience feel the genuineness of Ashland's interest in and fellowship with the whole Big Sandy Valley, and emphasized the fact that the men who composed the Booster delegation represented the moral and spiritual aspirations of Ashland, no less than its ambitious for material accomplishments. Hon. E. B. Hager, next introduced, made a touching and humorous address, in the spirit of a boy who grows to manhood in a place removed from his native hills, comes back to the scenes of his first loves and his early joys, to renew acquaintance and to tell the folks how proud he is of them and his own country. A feature of Mr. Hager's speech was his fine tribute to the character of his father—at the moment one of the audience, but seated—whom he referred to as "the best man ever born in Sandy Valley"—calling on him to stand up. The elder Hager did so, and stood in dignity—a distinguished figure—while the throng gazed and applauded. The frequent rounds of applause that greeted and interrupted the speakers, demonstrated that those assembled there responded to the spirit and sentiment of the occasion. Ashland won entrance, within the portals of Prestonsburg's heart, when the Booster Quartette took the stage and held the people in thrall for half an hour, with sweet songs of an earlier and the present day, such as "When You and I were Young Maggie" and "Blowing Bubbles" and ending with a humorous selection "Old Nick Arnold Had a Farm". When they had done, Prestonsburg had taken Ashland in to its heart of hearts. Messrs John S. Hager, Harry McIntosh Nelson Weedon and Harry Moore, composing the quartette will be long held in affectionate remembrance by Prestonsburg people to whom music is language of the soul. Under the direction of Mr. B. F. Forgy, President of the Ashland Daily Independent Company, the crowd when maneuvered while motion pictures were taken from the stage. Mr. Forgy announced that motion pictures taken here and at other Big Sandy points on the trip would be shown at the Liberty Theatre, and the people, especially the youngsters showed no bashfulness at this prospect. From the park, at the close of the program there, the guests were escorted to the offices of Harkins and Harkins where they were received by a committee of ladies and Messrs Harkins. Delicious punch and cake, cigars and cigarettes were served and at this point good cheer and good fellowship reached its climax. The length of the program prevented the visitors from seeing much of the city and there was no time to visit points of interest in and around the city. But they promised to come again next year—stronger than ever—and pledge was made that city of good streets and automobiles accommodations would be waiting for them then. The Boosters departed with warm expressions of appreciations for the manner in which they had been received. The following were the committee in charge of the arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the Ashland guests:

- RECEPTION COMMITTEE: T. R. Cartmell, Chairman. A. C. Harjowe, Chas. Oppenheimer, J. C. Hopkins, M. D. Powers, Dr. C. L. Hutsinpillar, J. D. Harkins, C. P. Stephens, W. W. Williams, G. W. Cornette. COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS: H. F. Patton, H. F. Patton, Chairman. Dr. E. D. Bagby, W. S. Harkins, Jr., N. M. White, Jr., M. J. Leete.

STATE CONVENTION AMERICAN LEGION

Members of Floyd Post 139 and all who take interest in American Legion activities should take occasion to converse with W. S. Wallen about the Third Annual State Convention held in Lexington Sept. 1 and 2. Mr. Wallen attended as a delegate of Floyd Post and took active part in the work of convention as a member of the Committee on War Risk Insurance and Compensation, and was elected by the convention a member of the Legislative Committee for the ensuing year and delegate for the 10th Congressional District, Annual National Convention to be held at Kansas City Mo., October 31, Nov. 1 and 2. But it is not concerning his part in the convention proceedings nor of the honors it conferred upon him, that Mr. Wallen talks. His theme is the convention—its personnel, its purposes and the work it is doing for the country in general and for worthy ex-service men in particular. Mr. Wallen speaks warmly of the pleasure of mingling with the delegates in informal gatherings, where good fellowship and a spirit of patriotism prevailed. He says the comrades that failed to attend the convention missed something, the pleasure and spirit of which they will not realize till they attend some future convention. In the conventions oratory and solicitude for the permanence of American institutions was apparent at every moment of the sessions, said Mr. Wallen. The convention went on record against narrowness of every character. With the legionaires there is no sectionalism, no religious, political, class or race prejudice. An evidence of this was the unanimous adoption against all associations secret or open, the purpose of which may to array class against class or race against race. The adoption of this resolution was a rebuke to the movement to stir up hostility against the Jews, and a condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan whose activities were considered calculated to cultivate race hatred for the negroes. That the American Legion is not or selfishly zealous in behalf of the ex-service men as a class, Mr. Wallen states, was plain, not only from public speeches, but from private expressions. Mr. Wallen says the Legion is as solicitous that unworthy ex-service men shall not impose on the bounty of the government, as that every needy ex-soldier shall be assisted. According to Mr. Wallen, the government is not well supplied with hospitals for men who came out of service suffering from nervous and mental disorders. A bill to appropriate $5,000,000 to supply this need, now

WINCHESTER COAL COMPANY

Another Diamond in the Field. Another cap a pie, as it were, in the field of modern equipment and facilities, for operating and marketing its fine quality of coal, the Winchester Coal Company, organized, financed and managed by Prestonsburg men has announced that it will begin shipping coal on the 20th of this month, and will make its bid for business in the coal market of the country. The Winchester Coal Company was organized last March with an original capitalization of $50,000 which was increased to $65,000, which is now fully paid up. The company has a large acreage of the finest quality Millers Creek coal on the east side of Big Sandy River near Emma, Ky., where it has been operating a 62 inch vein for the past seven months. This has resulted in the accumulation of a large stock ready for the market. The Company's plant, one of the most complete and up to date in this district, will be operated by electricity produced from its own power plant, and is equipped with a two bucket Broderick and Bascom tramway 700 feet long with an hourly capacity of 75 tons and a siding 1,200 feet long. The company will supply prepared sizes of coal for domestic purposes, it is announced. The officers in charge are N. M. White Jr., President and W. D. Judy, Jr. Secretary and Treasurer.

Econ Aid Fund For Floyd Set At $143,828.82

Kentucky's coal-producing counties have another $5 million in severance tax funds for local projects through Economic Aid Boards, and Floyd county's share for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is $143,828.82.

Each county first receives $10,000. To this figure, dollars are to be added from their allocations according to two formulas.

Pike county, the state's biggest coal producer, has been allocated $626,289.27 for Economic Aid projects. Knott county's allocation is $171,082.62; Johnson's, $118,264.02; Martin county's $340,556.57; Magoffin's, $92,866.47.

(Economic Aid allocations from severance tax funds are separate from other severance tax allocations.)

Economic Aid projects are developed at the county level by the Economic Aid Board functioning in each of the counties. Then they are submitted to the Department for Local Government review, with final approval made by the Department for Finance and Administration.

Traffic Citations Show Increase

Citations written by highway enforcement officers last month increased by 13 percent over those of a year ago.

According to state Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson, 2,637 citations were issued in June compared with 2,324 last year.

Drawing the most violations—945—were missing cab cards. The cards are required to show that a truck owner paid state fuel tax, is licensed, and has authority to operate in a particular area.

Overweight coal truck citations ranked second among those issued by highway enforcement. According to highway enforcement director Dick Horn, 376 violations in June compared with 532 last year.

Horn attributed the reduction to better compliance with the weight limit laws, and a better than 50 percent conviction rate for overweight offenders.

Truck operators in Hardin county led the state in citations with 494, followed by Laurel, Shelby, Scott, and Henry counties.

Nineteen counties reported no citations issued. Highway enforcement's 74 field officers are charged with the responsibility for policing truck and other commercial traffic on Kentucky's highways.

2-Day Heart Clinic Set for This Area

A two-day consultative and diagnostic heart clinic for medically indigent patients will be held in the Pike County Health Department, Pikeville, on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 8 and 9.

The clinic is being organized so that adults only will be admitted to the clinic on August 8 and children only will be seen on August 9.

Physicians from the departments of Medicine and Pediatrics at the University of Kentucky Medical School will conduct the clinic.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Heart Association, the Bureau for Health Services and the county health departments, the clinic will provide a diagnostic service for the patient, along with recommendations for treatment and management of the case. It also will provide an opportunity for the referring physician to consult with the clinician regarding his patient.

Only those patients who have been referred by a physician and have a written referral will be admitted to the clinic. Counties in this clinic area are Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike.

Knott Road Hearing Held after Injunction

Residents along Ogden Creek in Knott County have been trying to prevent highway construction on the new KY 80 from blocking access to their homes. A hearing was held July 19 in the district court of Judge J. Robert Morgan at Hindman on a restraining order issued July 12 which, temporarily prevented road construction in the area from blocking the road.

After residents in the area had complained that the road being blocked on Ogden Creek was endangering the lives of those who live in the area, the Knott County Citizens for Social and Economic Justice (CSEJ) and Citizens for Social and Equal Opportunity joined the residents in processing the restraining order. The July 19, hearing was at the request of the Bizzack Brothers Construction Company and Bush and Burchett Construction Company, defendants in the case.

Carl Richtie, who lives on Ogden Creek, told the court that the road over which citizens were forced to travel was full of potholes and turned the normal 15-minute trip to Hindman into a hour and 15 minute trip. Other residents told of how the hill over which they would be forced to travel if the detour was upheld was impassable during the winter. Many of the witnesses expressed concern for the length of time it would take emergency medical help to reach the area over the detoured road.

A continuance was granted until August 11 so that information in the case could be obtained from the Governor's office. A meeting will also be held July 24 between area residents and the Department of Transportation to see if an out-of-court settlement can be reached.

LETTERS To the Editor

Where Have the Churches Been?

Have we been too busy building beautiful buildings, rehearsing melodious choirs, or perhaps visiting holy places?

Couldn't we work together and offer prizes for posters of the Ten Commandments to be placed in each classroom, made by the pupils with their own materials and illustrated with their work? They could also be judged by the pupils. How much more meaningful this would be to them than a cold, printed one costing the state $10,000!

Yet we must give the church credit for having spawned this caliber of legislators who could see this great need.

Grayson Urges Counties To Handle Road Programs

Local governments are being encouraged by state transportation officials to become more involved in their county road aid programs and to develop programs of their own to enforce weight limits on county roads.

Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson addressed his remarks particularly to county judges and fiscal court members in an afternoon session of the Governor's Local Government Issues Conference at the Galt House in Louisville last Thursday.

"I believe we need to place greater control of the County Road Aid Program in the hands of county governments," Grayson told an audience of about 100 local officials.

He said that this fiscal year the program will distribute between $35 and $40 million among Kentucky's counties to help them maintain and improve local roads. That figure includes a percentage of the state motor fuel tax revenue, plus $15 million in special funds recommended this year by Gov. Julian Carroll to offset flood and winter damage to roads.

"Our department is responsible for 25,000 miles of state-maintained roads in Kentucky; we just don't have the manpower to maintain the state system and 19,700 miles of county roads at the same," Grayson said.

He added that county governments can maintain their roads better than the state because they can pay their workers more and are more familiar with local contractors and suppliers.

Presently, 84 counties have cooperative arrangements with the Transportation Department, Grayson said. He urged the other 36 counties to start similar efforts in their county road aid programs.

Grayson said he would like to see the transportation department's role in the program "gradually reduced until it is completely out of the picture, and the state gives the money to the counties to plan and implement their own programs."

To accomplish that goal would require legislative action, but Grayson said that could happen if the benefits of cooperative arrangements are demonstrated.

Also speaking at the session was Col. Richard Horn, director of the Transportation Department's Division of Highway Enforcement, which patrols all state-maintained roads to enforce weight limits and safety regulations. Horn discussed alternatives for county officials who want to develop weight regulation programs for their roads.

"Because of our increased responsibilities on state-maintained highways, we aren't able to effectively patrol county roads also, but we can help you police and enforce weight limits on your own roads," Horn said.

He said his division can advise local sheriffs on the type of equipment needed and how it is best used to enforce weight limits. He also offered legal advice when citations are contested in courts.

Another alternative suggested by Horn is for counties to require industrial haul permits for truckers using the roads. In that way, he said, the people using the roads help pay to maintain them.

Horn also said that county governments have the alternative of issuing their own regulations for weight limits on county roads.

Miss Stewart-Mr. Herrin Wed June 17

The marriage of Miss Cynthia Ann Stewart to Mr. Robert Charles Herrin was solemnized Saturday, June 17, at 2 p.m. at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here by the Rev. Dean L. Pack.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Doris Stewart, of Riverside, New Jersey, and Mr. Glen D. Stewart, of Kingsport, Tennessee. Mr. Herrin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herrin, of Inkster, Michigan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, sheer fitted sleeves, and cummerbund waist. Vertical bands of lace adorned the skirt and chapel-length train. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid centered in white stephanotis and white sweetheart roses.

The marten of honor, Mrs. William Mariott, of Charleston, Arkansas, wore a sleeveless yellow polyester knit gown fashioned with a scooped neckline and a matching chiffon cape. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and white daisies.

Niece of the bride, Miss Dawn Marie Christine, of Brown's Mills, N. J., was flower girl. She wore a yellow print chiffon dress with full skirt and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and white daisies.

Best man was Mr. Roger F. Herrin, of Inkster, Michigan, brother of the groom. Ushers were Mr. Robert Christine, of Brown's Mills, N.J., brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. William Mariott, of Charleston, Arkansas.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stewart wore a mint green sleeveless knit dress with a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Young, of Okmulgee, Okla., chose a full-length peach print chiffon dress with a white orchid corsage. Also present were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Robert Christine, of Brown's Mills, N.J., Miss Kathy Stewart, of Riverside, N.J., and Miss Glenna Stewart, of Vienna, Virginia.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the church annex, under direction of Mrs. Dorothy Tiner, of McDowell. Assisting were Miss Linda Nichols, of Prestonsburg, Miss Mary Poole, of McDowell, and the bride's sisters.

After a wedding trip to Nag's Head, North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Herrin are residing at McDowell where Mrs. Herrin is employed by McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital Home Health Agency. Mr. Herrin is associated with Parkway Motors here.

Response to Complaint Made to Judge Stumbo

I am writing concerning the letter "a good Christian person" wrote to Judge Harold Stumbo.

You say you are a "good Christian citizen." If you are, then why aren't you going to church and praying for Mr. Wallen, instead of going and writing a letter to Mr. Stumbo. In my opinion, if you were a Christian, instead of going out here and saying all of these things about Mr. Wallen you and your church would be trying to help him and his family.

And as far as Mr. Wallen carrying a gun in his truck, it is hunting season, and you can't judge a person by what you have heard is going on. Mr. Wallen carried the gun in his truck long before any trouble was started between him and the Nelson boy. As far as the gun business goes, there are more than just Mr. Wallen carrying his gun around in the truck with them. If you take one gun, then you have to take them all.

How do you know Mr. Wallen has got the worst record around? In my opinion, if a lot of people would just tend to their own business instead of someone else's, everything would be a lot better. Also, you say in your letter that the children are afraid to go out and play. How many kids has Mr. Wallen run over and hurt? As to my knowledge, Mr. Wallen has never ran over anyone, and everytime I've been through Town Branch there have been plenty young kids out playing. Besides, Mr. Wallen has four children of his own.

Burkett-Daugherty Vows Said July 1

Miss Barbara Gail Burkett, of Chula, Georgia, and Mr. Larry Douglas Daugherty, of Grethel, Kentucky, were united in marriage on July 1 at 4 p.m. in the chapel of First Baptist Church, Tifton, Georgia, with Dr. W. Ches Smith, III, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Burkett, of Chula, Georgia, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Daugherty, of Grethel, Kentucky.

Preceding the double-ring ceremony, David Bowen, pianist, and vocalist Mrs. David Johnson, Miss Beverly Cameron and Miss Jo Lynn Tyson, all of Tifton, Georgia, presented a program of wedding music.

Donald Daugherty was his son's best man. Larry Burkett, brother of the bride, Mark Daugherty and Darrell Daugherty, brothers of the groom, served as ushers-groomsman.

Miss Karol Summers, of Tifton, Georgia, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lynn Burkett and Miss Kay Burkett, sisters of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Watkins, all of Tifton, Georgia. They wore floor-length sleeveless gowns of daffodil yellow organza. A self ruffle defined the round sheer yoke and bordered the hemline of the A-line skirt, and a satin sash of contrasting yellow accented the empire waistline. Complimenting the gowns were yellow picture hats.

Flower girl was Miss Lisa Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mitchell, of Beaver, Kentucky, cousin of the groom. Ring-bearer was Chip Coarsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh E. Coarsey, Jr., of Brookfield, Georgia, cousin of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white chiffon. The sleeveless empire bodice was designed with a sheer rounded yoke and appliqued with imported French alencon lace embroidered with pearls. The full circular skirt swept into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of white illusion outlined with lace was attached to a camelot headpiece of matching lace and pearls.

She carried a slenderized cascade bouquet with long miniature polished ivy garlands centered with three yellow roses and designed of white butterfly roses and Stephanotis accented with seed pearls and white bridal maline attached to a white satin-covered Bible which was carried by her mother in her wedding.

For sentiment, the bride carried as something old an embroidered lace-trimmed handkerchief she brought from a trip to Belgium; something new, her wedding gown; something borrowed, her mother's Bible; and something blue, the traditional blue garter made by her mother.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown fashioned of tangerine chiffonette designed with a rounded neckline and long floating sleeves, complemented by a cattleyan orchid tinted in a lighter shade nestled in matching ribbons. The groom's mother wore a floor-length gown of aqua polyester knit with matching short lace jacket. Her corsage was a cattleyan orchid tinted a lighter shade of aqua nestled in matching ribbons.

Grandparents of the couple present were Mrs. Zenobia Powell, of Sumner, Georgia, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Hobby, Sr., of Sylvester, Georgia, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Keith Yaus, of Jerusalem, Ohio, grandmother of the groom.

The bride's parents were hosts to a reception in the Fellowship Hall immediately following the wedding, where a color scheme of white and yellow accented with pastel colored flowers were used.

Highlighting the bride's table was a four-tier white wedding cake embossed with yellow roses and sweetpeas, separated with grecian pillars and topped with a bride and groom under a canopy of white and yellow flowers. Mrs. Marcus Land, cousin of the bride, baked the cake. Serving the cake were Mrs. Lindon Williams, of Houston, Texas, and Mrs. Robert Burkett, of Poulan, Georgia, aunts of the bride. The chocolate groom's cake was a two-tiered square cake topped with a basketball player dressed in green and gold uniform with the number 12 on the shirt depicting the groom's basketball palying days with the Stallions of ABAC where the bride and groom first met. Mrs. Mitchell Hunt served the cake. Miss Teresa Hand and Miss Marianna Moore, of Chula, Georgia, served punch. Mrs. John Hunt, of Tifton, Georgia, welcomed guests to the reception and Mrs. Robert Hammond, of Tifton, Georgia, guests to the receiving line. Mrs. Micheal Womack, of Chula, Georgia, aunt of the bride, presided at the bride's book table.

Also assisting at the reception were Mrs. James Allen, Miss Terri Baker, Miss Regina Warren, Miss Lynn Doss, Miss Leslie Jones, Miss Jan Stone, Miss Julie Smith and Miss Lisa Dickens, all of Tifton, Georgia. Mrs. Elvin Walker, pianist, presented selections of wedding music during the reception.

Following a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C., the couple will be residing in Richmond, Kentucky where the groom will be attending Eastern Kentucky University in the fall.

Among the out-of-town relatives attending were Mrs. Zenobia Powell, Mrs. Marcus Land, Mrs. Gorday Raney, Mrs. Merritt Fletcher, all of Sumner, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Hobby, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Shiver, Wes and Carmen, all of Sylvester, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burkett and Chris and Miss Shannon Burkett, all of Poulan, Georgia; A. M. Burkett, of Ashburn, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. Lindon Williams, Gerald and Linn, of Houston, Texas; Mrs. Russell Sullivan, of Jacksonville, Florida; Mrs. Lemuel W. Parr and Miss Laura Parr, of Clayton, Alamba; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Daugherty, Mark Daugherty, Darrell Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bentley, Lucia and Stephanie, all of Grethel, Kentucky; Mrs. Keith Yaus, of Jerusalem, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mitchell, Lisa and Chad, Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell and Davy, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rice and Tina, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hamilton, all of Beaver, Kentucky; Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Jones, Bryan and Bridgett, of Ligon, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Burkett entertained out-of-town relatives with a buffet dinner at their home in Chula after the wedding and reception.

Public To Have Say At School Meetings

School districts across Kentucky will hold public hearings during the coming school year to determine how local citizens think their educational programs can be improved.

The public hearings, which were mandated by House Bill 579, the Educational Improvement Act, will be held at each school in Kentucky and will give parents, students, teachers, administrators, and other citizens input into the development of a plan for local educational improvement.

The Educational Improvement Act, passed by the 1978 General Assembly, provides for statewide competency testing and remedial training, as well as the development of local educational improvement plans.

Using information gathered during the public hearings and the results of screening tests, local school personnel will determine the strengths and weaknesses of the school program and develop the local improvement plan to address the educational weaknesses.

HB 579 was enacted to "assure the right of each student in the public schools of this state to acquire the basic knowledge and learning skills essential for completing high school, pursuing a course of study in post secondary education, or entering the work force in our society."

It provided that each student in grades 3, 5, 7 and 10 be administered a screening test to measure student progress and achievement in the basic skills, defined in the legislation to be reading, writing, spelling, language arts, mathematics and learning skills.

Diagnostic tests will then be given to students identified by the screening tests as being weak in any of the six basic skills areas.

The state Department of Education will assist the local districts in the implementation of the act. The Office of Research and Planning, headed by Dr. Donald Van Fleet, will help the districts with the administration and interpretation of the tests. The Bureau of Instruction, headed by Randy Kimbrough, will lend assistance in the areas of program development and remedial training. The bureau will also provide technical assistance in conducting the public hearings.

The department is currently developing guidelines to help the local districts implement their educational improvement plan. Department personnel are available to conduct inservice workshops as districts request them. About 30 districts have already scheduled inservice training on the educational improvement program.

The screening tests will be conducted on the local level during April and May 1979, using the Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills. The CTBS was chosen because 150 districts already use the test and are familiar with the administration of it. The state department also has the capacity to score it.

Test results will be returned to the districts by Aug. 1. Scores will also be made available to the governor, the state advisory committee for educational improvement, the Legislative Research Commission, State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education and local boards of education.

During September and October next year, each district will administer a diagnostic test to students identified by the screening test as being weak in some basic skills. Tests will be provided by the state department of education, but the local district may choose to develop one of its own or use another test already developed.

On Oct. 1, 1979, the district's educational improvement plan must be submitted to the department of education. Each year the plan will be revised to reflect the previous year's activities.

When the plan is approved by the Department of Education, remedial training can begin for students whose tests indicated educational weaknesses. During the second year of the program, $1.75 million has been allocated by the legislature for remedial programs.

HB 579 specifies that the test results will not be used as a means of evaluating teachers and administrators for the purpose of promotion, demotion, transfer or dismissal.

The Educational Improvement Act does not require students to meet minimum requirements for graduation or promotion.

An advisory committee for educational improvement made up of citizens, parents, teachers and administrators has been appointed in accordance with HB 579 to advise the governor and the department of education on the implementation of the act. The committee, which will meet at least three times each year, is holding its first meeting today (Wednesday) which in Frankfort.

Clark Pre-Registration Set for August 2

Clark Elementary School will use parent volunteers to run a pre-registration program for students enrolling in Clark's kindergarten and first grade and other students entering the school for the first time.

The registration will be held twice, Wednesday, Aug. 2, to accommodate parents. Parents may come to the school in the morning between 9 and 12 noon or in the evening between 7 and 8. Parents are requested to bring birth certificates and immunization records for their children.

At the registration there will be tours of the school and demonstrations of the educational materials and equipment used by Clark students.

What's Happening to Clean Water?

This trash dump is on KY 1929, near McDowell. Solid waste or trash is considered the second most pressing problem in Floyd county. The solution to this problem requires more of a change in daily habits than using new technology.

Roadbank erosion on KY 80, at this site near Hueysville resulted in adding silt to the stream just below it and required the construction of an expensive retaining wall.

By LARRY J. LEACH

Kentucky Division of Conservation Have you looked at our creeks and rivers lately? They don't look too good. I mean, they aren't very clean. Most of the creeks and rivers have been that way for some time.

It was because of problems like ours that Congress passed the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments in 1972. The Act sets high water quality goals. An interim goal has been established for water to be pure enough by 1983 so that fish can live and reproduce in it. That may sound ridiculous, but many of our streams are so dirty that fish cannot live in them. Waters are also supposed to be clean enough by 1983 to be "swimmable." Another goal is set for 1985 when all discharge of pollutants into navigable waters is to be eliminated and the water is to be "drinkable." We can see that these goals are high indeed. Maybe the goals seem too unrealistic. But it was because we had taken clean water for granted that Congress reacted in this way to the problem. We have let too much sewage run into the creek, have thrown too much garbage into the creeks, and have let too much soil erode from the hills.

Under the guidance of the Environmental Protection Agency each state is developing its own program to solve the problem. Task forces have been established to: (1) identify the water quality problems, (2) identify pollution sources, (3) recommend guidelines for "best management practices" to curb pollution from identified sources, (4) recommend regulatory programs as needed, and (5) recommend state and local agencies needed for implementing long-term Water Quality Programs.

In Kentucky, the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection's Division of Water Quality has been designated as the state's lead agency. They are responsible for coordinating all input from interested individuals, groups, and governmental units. Step 1 (identifying the water quality problems) and Step 2 (identifying the pollution sources) have been completed with the help of Kentucky's 121 conservation districts. Conservation districts were requested to help, since they have worked with natural resources for 25 years or more and they encompass the entire area of Kentucky.

Section 208 of the Water Quality Act deals with nonpoint sources of pollution. Pollutants that come from a pipe are called "point" sources of pollution. That is, they can be traced to their origin from the pipe. Other pollutants are called "nonpoint" since they can't be traced to a particular point. Examples of these "nonpoint" sources are: cornfields, which produce silt from erosion; strip mines, which produce silt and chemical pollutants at times; house lots where bare soil easily erodes before construction and grass seeding are finished.

Silt is the eroded soil that has moved downhill or downstream from the erosion. Other sources of pollution include untreated sewage from outhouses, septic tanks that overflow, gas and oil wells that leak, and garbage dumps.

In 1977 the Floyd Conservation District conducted a pollution survey of Floyd county. The objectives of the survey were to locate all sources of pollution and sediment producing areas, and to determine the quality of water in the county. The supervisors of the district included L. R. Johnson, Prestonsburg; Ruby Akers, Drift; Lloyd Wells, Auxier; Billy Merritt, Abbot Creek; Anna Sue Stumbo, McDowell; Hobert Younce, Middle Creek; H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Prestonsburg. They, along with representatives of forestry, reclamation, agriculture, conservation, and health agencies determined that Floyd County's biggest pollution problems, starting with the most serious are: (1) surface mining, (2) solid waste or garbage disposal and septic tank or sewage problems, (3) roadbank erosion. The water quality in Floyd county was called poor, in general. All streams within the county have been affected by sediment.

Environmental Protection Agency memoranda have stated that control or mandatory programs will not be required where the state plan shows that substantial water quality problems do not now exist and are not likely in the foreseeable future. That means the state must prove a voluntary program has already been working to eliminate water quality problems. If the state can't prove this, some mandatory programs (regulations) will be necessary for people like us who are accustomed to having no controls on the way we handle soil and water.

This legislation could eventually involve a large proportion of America's outdoor workers—home builders, construction workers, loggers, farmers, and miners. Clean water—it's something we can't take for granted any more.

(Interested individuals or groups should contact the Floyd Conservation District or the Soil Conservation Service office in Prestonsburg to make comments or request further information.)

State Farm Mutual Asking Rate Increase

The Kentucky Insurance Regulatory Board is hearing evidence on State Farm Mutual's petition for a 9.9 percent auto insurance premium increase.

A company official testified last week that the increase is being sought because State Farm lost almost $2.1 million on its Kentucky auto insurance operation in 1977.

Hearing examiner Manny Frockt explained that the evidence gathered will be studied by the board and a decision made at a later date. This process is expected to take more than a month.

George O. Burt, State Farm assistant vice president, said his company's 1977 auto insurance operation loss was due primarily to a 39.6 increase in the cost of bodily injury liability claims between 1976 and 1977. There also were sizeable increases in the cost of claims for property damage and collision, he said. State Farm, Kentucky's largest auto insurer, last was granted an increase in its auto insurance rates in October, 1977. That amounted to 13.1 percent, Burt said.

He also said that if the proposed increase is granted, it will mean that State Farm's rates will be about 30 percent higher than at the end of 1970. Other costs, such as hospital rooms and doctor's fees, have risen more sharply than auto insurance premiums, he said. Between 1970 and 1977, he said, hospital room rates rose 106 percent and doctors' charges went up 69.7 percent.

If State Farm's request is granted, the average premium would increase $7.86 per six-month policy, Burt said.

Actress Patricia Neal To Narrate KET's Ky. History Series

Academy-award winning actress Patricia Neal has agreed to perform in KET's newest series, "This Other Eden." Neal, a Packard, Kentucky native, will be featured in on-camera narration throughout the documentary about people and events that shaped Kentucky's history.

Neal was born in Packard and lived there until the age of three. Although she spent most of her growing-up years in Knoxville, Tenn., her mother, Mrs. W. P. Neal, says that she still considers herself to be a Kentuckian. "She's a Kentucky Colonel," Mrs. Neal says with pride.

Neal starred on Broadway at the age of 19 in "Another Part of the Forest" for which she swept all of the major awards for newcomer of the year. She went on to Hollywood and a distinguished film career, winning an Academy Award in 1963 for her role in "Hud." In 1965, however, she had a stroke which left her unable to walk or talk. After two years of intensive therapy she made a comeback in "The Subject Was Roses," for which she earned an Academy-Award nomination.

"This Other Eden" will begin production in August and will visit locations in all parts of the state by the time shooting is concluded next May.

A Thought to Remember

By LARRY BURKE

The weaver as he fashions a tapestry works on the back side of his piece. To him and to everyone else the whole thing seems a confused and tangled mass of varicolored threads and knots. But the weaver works according to pattern; and when he turns the piece over and looks at the other side, behold, the promise of the pattern has been fulfilled.

So many of us fail to fulfill the patterns of life.

Do young people carry the religion of a godly household to the college campus?

Do we leave the high ideals of youth behind when we become involved in the exciting-turmoil of the business world?

Even more tragic, are we failing to establish the right patterns for our lives—our children's lives?

Our Thought To Remember: Establish a pattern, and follow it closely.

In the covered wagon days, it was a common practice to cure fresh meat with salt in order to preserve it for later use. It's not surprising then, that the saving of money (in reserve, for later use) is often called "salting" it away. That's precisely what we encourage you to do with our Certificates of Deposit; your best choice when considering long-term investment. "Salt some away" with one of these high-yielding Certificates of Deposit.

Effective June 20, 1978, annual interest rates and requirements payable on Passbook Savings and Certificates of Deposit are as follows:

TYPE OF ACCOUNT	PER ANNUM INTEREST RATE	EFFECTIVE  YIELD	MINIMUM AMOUNT
Passbook Savings	5.25	5.389	NONE
6 Months Certificate	5.50	5.614	500.00

Sound Happenings

By COEY HARRIS

Two long-awaited, exciting, ear tingling happenings! First—Ruby Starr is coming to little old Floyd Co.! Second—the long-desired Boston album is finished and ready for release. Now, reread the first part, take a breather, and calm yourself for details. Ruby Starr and the Grey Band will be coming to the Betsy Layne gym, Aug. 5, Saturday. The rockin' Diamond Reo will be their special guest. This mind blowing show is being presented by Red, Hot & Blue Productions and Adam Estep Productions, just for you. Tickets are available at local merchants, check posters and radio spots for exact locations. A sell-out is expected, so get your tickets now! Word is that there will be an autograph party open to all for you to meet and talk to the stars - exact details next week. Don't miss it!

SECOND—It's definite! Boston has completed a new album. "Boston 2" is due for release in mid-Aug. To assure you this is not just another rumor or false alarm, check this list of cuts from the album - "Take A Chance", "Don't Look Back", "It's Easy", "A Man I'll Never Be", "Don't Be Afraid", "Use to be Bad News", and "The Journey." Not only that but Boston will be in concert at Lexington's Rupp Arena, Aug. 17. Tickets are now available.

Kenny Loggins has a new sound, "Night Watch." All songs except "Easy Driver" and "Down in the Boondocks" are penned by this genius lyricist with occasional help from Eva Ein. The title cut, "Nightwatch" is just a sample of the modern poetic lyrics and talented arrangements, nothing shabby or sing-song here. The use of a constant bass and a slight echo on the vocals give the song a haunting, dream atmosphere used in Fleetwood Mac's "Dreams." "Is this moment a fantasy or a vision of what will be" is spoken well with a yawning sax and stirring wind sounds. This man's voice is not to be underestimated as he can switch rockin' "Easy Driver" and "Somebody Knows." Loggins completes "Whenever I Call You Friend" with vocal help from Stevie Nicks and lyrical assistance from Melissa Manchester. The arrangement of Joe South's "Down In the Boondocks" is uptempoed with a blue blend of harmonica. The talent of Kenny Loggins shines on this vinyl.

Tammy and George plus Conway and Loretta are all at it again. Tammy Wynette's new album, "Womanhood" is good country. Only one hang up—no progression. Tammy is still full of lovesick blues and none of the cuts reach out and grab you with greatness, as always "they have to grow on you." The cuts "Womanhood" and the slightly corny "I'd like to See Jesus (On the Midnight Special)" add the touch of religion to the barroom blues, to keep the album "good'n country." The lyrics, especially on "What's A Couple More," "Memories," and "Love Doesn't Always Come (On the Nights It's Needed)," which Tammy helped to pen are expressive and moving in their composition. Tammy is still the Queen of Heartache and has one more "tear jerking" album to her credit.

But as for George and his "Bartender's Blues" LP, you just wouldn't believe. Side one, beginning with James Taylor's "Bartender's Blues" is typically Mr. Country Music. But flip it over and old George will surprise you. "I Don't Want No Strangers Sleepin' In My Bed" produces an upbeat only to warm you up for "I ain't Got No Business Doin' Business Today" which is actually funky - a term not often applied to music in the country field, especially in George's corner. "Leavin' Love All Over the Place" if full of catchy, suggestive phrases such as "it would take a dozen carpenters to fix the bed." The Jones' humor continues with "(When Your Phone Don't Ring) It'll Be Me." George wraps it up with his version of the Oak Ridge Boys' "Julianne."

Loretta and Conway, the Dynamic Duo, again put down their unbeatable harmonies and magnetism on vinyl with "Honky Tonk Heroes." The album contains the hit single "From Seven 'Till Eleven" and the duo's rendition of L.E. White and Lola Jean Dillon's "You're the Reason Our Kids Are So Ugly." "How High Can You Build A Fire" is the best cut on the album and should be released as a single. The song reflects Loretta's country spitfire she is loved for and Conway's suggestive sexual appeal that makes hearts throb. "Country Blues" is a beautiful refreshing country love song, more of love than lust. The addition of Loretta to Conway's previously famed "I've Already Loved You in My Mind" will most likely bring the song back to a new glory. The theme of cheating wives and husbands and lonely, guilty divorcees backed up with Pig Robbins, Charlie McCoy, Bob Moore, and the Jordanaires make this album all country. Allow me an understatement—nobody can sing like this duo can.

Don't forget the Eagles, Eddie Money, and Steve Miller concert in Cincinnati Riverfront Stadium, Aug. 16. Tickets are still available. Coey

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the Public Service Commission of Kentucky has scheduled a hearing at 9:00 a.m. EDT on August 2, 1978 at its offices at 730 Schenkel Lane, Frankfort, Kentucky, with respect to the undersigned that it desires to place in effect the following rates for electric service:

Terms and Conditions of Service

RECONNECTION AND DISCONNECT CHARGES.

In cases where the company has discontinued service as herein provided for, the company reserves the right to make a reconnection charge, payable in advance, in accordance with the following schedule:

- 1. Reconnect for nonpayment during regular hours $ 9.00
2. Reconnect for nonpayment when work continues into overtime at the end of the day (No "Call Out" required) $12.00
3. Reconnect for nonpayment when a "Call Out" is required (A "Call Out" is when an employee must be called in to work on an overtime basis to make the reconnect trip) $25.00
4. Reconnect for nonpayment when a "Call Out" is required (Sunday and holidays) $31.00
5. Disconnect trip for nonpayment when the customer pays the bill or signs a Company form indicating payment will be made by the end of the following day and no disconnect is made $ 6.00

BAD CHECK CHARGES.

In cases where a customer tenders in payment of an account a check which upon deposit by the company is returned as unpaid by the bank for any reason, the customer will be charged a fee of $5.00 to cover the cost of handling such unsecured check in its accounts.

FUEL ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE

To Tariffs R.S., G.S., L.P., C.P.O., L.C.P., H.T.P., T.P., M.W., E.H.S., E.R.G., S.S. AND C.P.

1. This rate shall provide for periodic adjustment per kilowatt-hour when the unit cost of fuel [F (m)/S(m)] used to meet the company's Net Energy Requirement [S(m)] is above or below the base unit cost of 1.200 cents per kilowatt-hour [F(b)/S(b)]. The charges provided for in the net monthly rate shall be increased or decreased respectively by the product of the kilowatt-hours furnished during the month and a Fuel Adjustment Factor (A), where "A", calculated to the nearest .001 cent per kilowatt-hour, is as defined below:

Adjustment Factor (A) = (F(m) - F(b)) / (S(m) - S(b))
In the above formula, "F" is the expense of fossil fuel in the base (b) and current (m) periods and "S" is the kWh sales in the base (b) and current (m) periods, all as defined below.

- 2. Fuel Costs (F) shall be the most recent actual monthly cost, based on weighted average inventory costing, of:
a. Fossil fuel consumed in Kentucky Power Company's generating plants and the Company's share of fossil and nuclear fuel consumed in jointly owned or leased plants, plus the cost of fuel which would have been used in plants suffering forced generation or transmission outages, but less the cost of fuel to substitute generation, plus
b. The actual identifiable fossil and nuclear fuel costs associated with energy purchased for reasons other than identified in paragraph (c) below, but excluding the cost of fuel related to purchases to substitute the forced outages, plus
c. The net energy cost of energy purchases, exclusive of capacity or demand charges (irrespective of the designation to such transaction) when such energy is purchased on an economic dispatch basis. Included therein may be such costs as charges for economy energy purchases and the charges as a result of schedule outages, all such kinds of energy being purchases by the Company to substitute for its own higher cost energy, less
d. The cost of fossil fuel recovered through inter-system sales including the fuel costs related to economy energy sales and other energy sold on an economic dispatch basis.
3. The cost of fossil fuel shall include no items other than the invoice price of fuel less any cash or other discounts. The invoice price of fuel includes the cost of the fuel itself and necessary charges for transportation of the fuel from the point of acquisition to the unloading point, as listed in Account 151 of FERC Uniform System of Accounts for Public Utilities and Licensees.
4. Forced outages are all unscheduled losses of generation or transmission which require substitute power for a continuous period of six (6) hours. Where forced outages are not as a result of faulty equipment, faulty manufacture, faulty design, faulty installations, faulty operation, faulty maintenance, but are acts of God, riot, insurrection or acts of the public enemy, then the Company may, upon proper showing, with the approval of Public Service Commission, include the fuel cost of substitute energy in the adjustment.
5. Sales (S) shall be all kilowatt-hours sold, excluding inter-system sales. Where, for any reason, billed system sales cannot be coordinated with fuel costs for the billing period, sales may be equated to the sum of (i) generation, (ii) purchases, (iii) interchange-in, less (iv) energy associated with pumped storage operations, less (v) system sales referred to in section (2) (d) above, less (vi) total system losses. Company used energy shall not be included in the determination of sales (S).
6. Sales (S) shall be modified to reflect line losses on the Company's delivery of energy to Kentucky Jurisdictional Customers.

When the customer furnishes and maintains the complete substation equipment including any and all transformers and/or switches and/or other apparatus necessary for the customer to take his entire service at the primary voltage of the transmission or distribution line from which service is to be received, a credit of $ 2.21 per kw of monthly billing demand will be applied to each monthly net bill.

MEASUREMENT OF ENERGY AND DETERMINATION OF DEMAND. Customer's demand shall be taken monthly to be the highest registration of a 15-minute integrating demand meter or indicator, or the highest registration of a thermal type demand meter. No billing demand shall be taken as less than 2.5 kw.

Any industrial and coal mining customer contracting for 3 phase service after October 1, 1978 shall contract for capacity sufficient to meet their normal maximum requirements in kw, but not less than 10 kw. Monthly billing demands of these customers shall not be less than 60% of contract capacity and the minimum monthly charge shall be $2.75 per kw of monthly billing demand, subject to applicable equipment credit.

SPECIAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS.

See Terms and Conditions of Service. This tariff is also available to customers having other sources of energy supply but who desire to purchase service from the company. Where such conditions exist the customer shall contract for the maximum amount of demand in kw which the company might be required to furnish, but not less than 3 kw. The company shall not be obligated to supply demands in excess of that contracted for. In the event that the customer's actual demand, as determined by demand meter or indicator, in any month exceeds the amount of his then existing contract demand, the contract demand shall then be increased automatically to the maximum demand so created by the customer. Where service is supplied under the provisions of this paragraph, the billing demand each month shall be the contract demand instead of the billing demand defined under paragraph "Measurement of Energy and Determination of Demand" and the minimum charge shall be as follows instead of the minimum charge set forth under paragraph "Minimum Charge" above:

First 3 kw or fraction thereof of contract demand..... $14.90 per month
Each kw of contract demand in excess of 3 kw..... $ 3.00 per month per kw.

For the delivery and measurement of energy at voltages less than the voltage of established distribution lines operating within these limits an additional charge will be made of $2.21 per month per kVA of monthly billing demand.

EQUIPMENT SUPPLIED BY CUSTOMER. When the customer owns, operates and maintains the complete substation equipment, including all transformers, switches, and other apparatus necessary for receiving and purchasing electric energy at the primary voltage of transmission lines operated at approximately 46,000 or 69,000 volts and when the customer owns all equipment beyond the delivery point of service, bills hereunder shall be subject to a credit of $.34 per kVA of monthly billing demand.

The minimum monthly charge so determined shall be subject to (a) adjustments as determined under the "Fuel Clause", (b) credits as determined under clause entitled "Equipment Supplied by Customer".

MEASUREMENT OF ENERGY AND DETERMINATION OF DEMAND. Billing demand in kva shall be taken each month as the highest 15-minute integrated peak in kilowatts as registered during the month by a 15-minute integrating demand meter or indicator, or at the company's option as the highest registration of a thermal type demand meter or indicator, divided by the average monthly power factor established during the month, corrected to the nearest kva. Monthly billing demand established hereunder shall not be less than the customer's contract capacity except that where the customer purchases his entire requirements for electric light, heat and power under this tariff, the monthly billing demand shall not be less than 60% of the customer's contract capacity, nor shall it be less than 50 kva.

C Equipment Supplied by Customer. When the customer furnishes and maintains the complete substation equipment including any and all transformers, switches and other apparatus necessary for the customer to take service at the voltage of the primary transmission or distribution line from which said customer is to receive service, the following credits in addition to that set forth in the next preceding paragraph will be applied to each monthly net bill.

EQUIPMENT SUPPLIED BY CUSTOMER. When the customer owns, operates, and maintains the complete substation equipment, including all transformers, switches and other apparatus necessary for receiving and purchasing electric energy at the primary voltage of transmission lines operated at voltages in excess of approximately 34,500 volts and when the customer owns all equipment beyond the delivery point of service, bills hereunder shall be subject to a credit of $.34 per kw of monthly billing demand.

DEMAND MEASUREMENT. The billing demand in kw shall be taken each month as the highest single 30-minute integrated peak in kw as registered during the month by a demand meter or indicator, or at the company's option, as the highest registration of a thermal type demand meter or indicator.

For service rendered July 20, 1979 thru July 19, 1980, the billing demand shall in no event be less than 50% of the contract capacity of the customer, nor less than 800 kw. Citizen Participation in Strip Law Enforcement Stressed at Meet Here

A special meeting recently at Prestonsburg Community College focused on citizen involvement in enforcement of new federal laws regulating strip-mining and emphasized the point, as one speaker expressed, that "it's no longer necessary to stand in front of a bulldozer to protest illegal mining practices."

About 50 persons heard representatives of federal and state regulatory agencies discuss the new laws and explain the role citizens could play in their enforcement at the three-hour meeting which was sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and the Appalachian Coalition.

Glenn Shadoan, inspector with the federal Office of Surface Mining (OSM), described the more technical aspects of the new laws and told citizens of specific "symptoms" such as the presence of black water or overburden deposited over a hillside which could indicate violations. Private citizens, whether landowners or not, he explained, may inform authorities concerning suspected violations, and actually accompany inspectors on the site.

"Freeway Sunday" To Play at College

Rebecca Jernigan's "Freeway Sunday" will be presented in the auditorium of Prestonsburg Community College this Wednesday (July 26) at 8 p.m. Hosted by Prestonsburg Community College, it is sponsored by the Kentucky Humanities Council and produced in conjunction with Somerset Community College and the Blue Troupe.

"Freeway Sunday" is a one-act play about the breakdown in communications between two people. Basically, it details the emotions, memories, and perceptions of a woman and a man following their divorce.

"Smoke in the Wind," a series of seven songs, precedes and sets the stage for "Freeway Sunday." Following the play, a forum consisting of actors, directors, writers, humanities professors and members of the hosting group will lead the audience in a discussion of some of the questions raised by the play. Prof. Laura Weddle, of Prestonsburg Community College, will be a member of the forum.

"Freeway Sunday" was written and is directed by Rebecca Jernigan, an assistant professor of Arts and Humanities at Somerset Community College, while "Smoke in the Wind" is directed by its author, Clifford Lee Johnson, III, executive director of the Blue Troupe. Performers for both works are Sharon Whitehead and Clifford Lee Johnson, III.

No admission will be charged.

Gene Stewart, representing the state Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, said state laws follow very closely with federal regulations and added that state law is sometimes even more stringent. As an example he pointed to the fact that federal laws do not control sites less than two acres in size while state law does.

Stewart's reference to stiff state law was challenged, however, by one area resident who pointed out that an off-city Mud Creek coal operator was still stripping even though he had been guilty of extreme violations of existing mining laws.

A resident of Poor Bottom, Pike county, Edith Easterling, told of the success of a citizens' group of which she was a member to stop extensive strip-mining in the heavily populated Poor Bottom hollow four years ago. She explained that through the determination of the residents and the legal aid of the Prestonsburg-based Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, the striping was stopped, and she stressed, "that was long before the new regulations."

J. T. Begley, solicitor for OSM, also discussed current strip-mine laws and how citizens could serve in a "watchdog" capacity. The speakers emphasized that the new laws apply only to jobs begun after May 3 and then with the exception of some smaller strip jobs. All types of surface mines will fall under the new laws after December, 1978, however, it was pointed out.

Citizens were encouraged to contact the central OSM office in Knoxville, Tenn. at (615) 584-4940 or 588-5398, or the district office at Hazard, 436-5626, if violations were suspected.

Saturday's meet was one of three which have been held in Eastern Kentucky this spring with two earlier meetings in Harlan and Hazard.

Tagged Fish Worth $1,000 to Angler

Roger D. Coffey, of Valley Station, is $1,002 richer today and all because of a fish or—to be more precise—because of three fish, each of which was sporting a bright orange plastic tag when it ended up on the "business end" of a crank bait. Coffey was fishing in the Skaggs Creek area of Barren River Lake in late May. And how does all that money figure into what began as a few quiet days of family fishing for the 30-year-old Coffey, his wife, Peggy, and their 4-year-old son, Todd?

Back in the spring, fishery biologist with the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, began tagging and releasing black bass in certain lakes and streams and in a portion of the Ohio River. Each of the tags was assigned a monetary value, chosen by random selection, ranging from $1 to $1,000, with intermediate values of $5, $10, $25, $50 and $100. A fisherman catching a tagged bass had only to return the tag, along with several of the fish's scales, a few vital statistics about the fish and tell how and where the fish was caught, to the fish and wildlife department in order to claim their cash reward.

And so Coffey, a native of Glasgow who was reared in Louisville, proceeded to catch not just one "tagged" bass but three—all taken in the same area within three- or four-day period (he can't remember now whether the first was caught two or three days before May 30 when the last two were added to his stringer), and either the second or the third bass worth a whopping $1,000. (Each of the others bore a $1 tag.)

"I knew the department was conducting some kind of tagging program," Coffey said when he, Peggy and Todd dropped by the fish and wildlife department's Frankfort offices to pick up his checks, "but I was amazed when they said I'd won $1,000."

Coffey was presented the "reward" by Carl Kays, commissioner elect of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

"So far we're getting higher returns (of the tags) than we thought we would," Ted Crowell, fisheries biologist in charge of the project, said, adding that the statewide average is now 13.6 percent and as high as 40 percent in some areas.

"Increasing the return rate was the purpose of the cash rewards," he said, "because we must get the tags back if we're to achieve our purpose of learning more about black bass. We're particularly interested in evaluating the effects of the new 12-inch size limit and also hope to more accurately gauge the fishing pressure on black bass."

The study is planned to run for at least two years, according to Crowell, and more fish will be tagged next spring. The tags themselves will be honored "from now on," he said.

A Journey into August

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
UK College of Agriculture

Pausing for a brief moment on a high hill flanking an idyllic little valley of neat farm homes, opulent gardens and green hayfields, the wanderer gazed away into the horizon made purple by the mysterious haze which, in the Kentucky mountains, is the mark of midsummer autumn.

In the oaks and hickories lining the hilltop, a jarrily droned out a monotonous melody which, at the same time served as a love song and a musical salute to summer. Stretched out on the decaying top rail of an old fence, a giant blacksnake dozed away in the heat. From the depths of a wilderness canyon at the end of this little valley came the "calk, calk, calk," of a rain crow and the faint, sad, fluted notes of a wood thrush singing a farewell song before starting on the long journey to its winter home in Argentina.

Over all this pleasant scene hung an atmosphere of euphoria and a drowsy solitude that produced a state of mind favorable to fancies and no doubt inspired Washington Irving to write wonderful tales of the Catskill Mountains. For this was early August, the month of summer's gradual decline into autumn and a slowing down of the year.

Everywhere—in the woods, pasturefields and meadows—were portents of summer's passing. Under rocks and in the grass of old fields chirped the coal-black field cricket that will later seek out the warmth of the

Check the Label Is Trade Group Advice

Washington, D.C.—When the Society of International Cellulose Insulation Manufacturers (SICIM) tells you "it's in the bag", they aren't kidding.

"We're cautioning the homeowner to read the label on the bag before they purchase insulation," says Gregory J. Fitzgerald, executive director of the non-profit national trade association.

"The label contains useful information for the consumer and enables the individual to determine if the insulation complies with stringent federal and industry standards," said Fitzgerald.

Inssofar as cellulose insulation is concerned, SICIM requires as a condition of membership in its organization that a manufacturer of the product submit to tests by a qualified laboratory with third party followup assurance. "We have been working toward this objective since our inception as a trade association in early 1977," he said, "and cannot accept the idea that any other method will provide the safeguards needed, especially in this age of increased consumer awareness."

Fitzgerald noted that cellulose insulation is well suited to the nation's massive retrofit insulation programs, as it is a natural and recycled product. It also reduces tremendous amounts of energy consumed in the manufacturing processes needed in the production of other types of insulation materials.

For additional information on your home insulation needs, write to SICIM at 7610 Pennsylvania Ave., Suite 307, Washington, D.C. 20028.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

If you see a wild animal acting strangely, leave it strictly alone. There's always the possibility that it has rabies.

Although this dread disease is most commonly associated with dogs, virtually all mammals can contract rabies and transmit it to man. Foxes, bats and rats are among the most common carriers of rabies, but skunks may actually be more dangerous, since they can carry the rabies virus for six to eight months, according to Joe Bruna, director of the Department of Fish and Wildlife's game management division.

This means that even a "deodorized" skunk bought from a pet store and certified disease-free could suddenly develop rabies months after it is purchased, Bruna says.

A wild animal with rabies often does not exhibit the fear of man that is natural among wild creatures. This can lead many people to think that the animal is a lost "pet." Children are especially prone to try to adopt such an animal, since they have been conditioned by tv shows and movies depicting all wild animals as cuddly, loveable creatures.

In one recent case, a group of youngsters at a church-sponsored children's home captured a fox. They thought the animal looked sick, so they brought it to the Game Farm at Frankfort for treatment. After a few days, the fox died, and the Department of Health confirmed that it was rabid. Two of the Game Farm employees and all the children who had come in contact with the fox had to take the painful series of rabies shots.

All children, particularly those living in rural areas where the chances of encountering wild animals are great, should be warned about the dangers of handling, or even approaching, any animal that is acting sick or unusual, or which does not seem to be afraid of them.

Rabies is transmitted from one animal to another, or to man, by the saliva from the diseased animal, usually through a bite. But the virus can enter the skin from any open wound which the saliva contacts.

Any suspicious animal should be reported to the local authorities—either the county health department, the local conservation officer or the sheriff's office. If someone is bitten or otherwise attacked, he should seek immediate medical aid and every attempt should be made to kill or capture the animal.

By the time the symptoms of rabies appear, it is too late to counteract the disease by vaccination. Health department officials can determine, by examining the animal's head, whether or not it is rabid. If the animal cannot be located, then the victim usually must undergo the rabies treatment as a precaution.

Of course, all dogs, cats or other pet animals should be inoculated as directed by a veterinarian, and even an immunized pet should be watched closely if it is bitten by a suspected rabies carrier.

SPENDING BILLIONS on employment, training and other social programs since the 1960's has not narrowed the gap in unemployment rates between whites and blacks and other minority group members, according to Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall in the 1978 Employment and Training Report of the President.

Miller Says Board Meeting
Not To Be 'Three-Ring Circus'

UMWA President Arnold Miller is in no mood "for foolishness."
 Miller said last week, "I have heard rumors there will be a determined effort by some UMWA members to 'storm' the next session of our International Executive Board meeting."
 In response he said he wanted it understood that this meeting and all meetings of the International Executive Board will be conducted in a business-like manner. "I will not allow any disruptions or disturbances of the meeting," he declared. "This Union will proceed with its business. Our members have indicated to me that the 'three-ring circus' atmosphere of the past must be cleared up."
 "I welcome the membership's attendance at the International Executive Board Meeting," Miller said. "Our Constitution as adopted by majority vote of the last International Convention contains specific procedures for members' attendance."
 The UMWA constitution provides that, members wishing to attend the meeting in question must forward their requests to International Headquarters by certified mail, return receipt requested. Members who are to attend will be selected at International Headquarters by lot, taking into account available space.

 "At this time, I have had only two requests from the rank-and-file coal miners to attend this meeting," the UMWA leader said.
 Miller pointed out that these two members will be paying their own expenses to this meeting, as stipulated by the UMWA constitution.

Sheriff Says 'Feds'
Interfere with Him
In Bootlegging Case

(From The Salyersville Independent, July 20)
 Magoffin Sheriff Thomas R. Salyer this week suggested that his efforts to contain a particular bootlegger have been stymied by a couple of federal agencies which apparently are using the services of the aforementioned person as an informant.
 Salyer explained a curious set of circumstances he encountered recently following a raid on Raleigh Barnett, 55, of Howard Branch on Wednesday, July 12. "He was caught with three gallons of moonshine, a federal offense," Salyer stated. "It was about an hour after we raided him that he was booked and lodged in the Magoffin County jail, at around 1 a.m. July 13. About 15 minutes after he had been lodged, a phone call was received at the jail from a man identified as an FBI agent who asked what was going on, and if Barnett was bootlegging again."
 Salyer reported that Barnett has had a number of previous bootlegging convictions.
 The next morning, a Mr. Beam with the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms division of the U.S. Treasury phoned Salyer and stated that he didn't have a case. The ATF man called from Lexington and told Salyer he was notified of the situation by interagency reports of a phone call from Barnett's wife stating that he had been picked up.
 Sheriff Salyer said he felt the ATF people had managed to usurp his authority in a local bootlegging case, and said he felt more cooperation in matters of this type are needed.

USDA To Make Up Schools 'Shortfall'

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will make cash payments totaling $615,512 to schools in Kentucky to make up for a shortfall in food donations for school lunches. The funds are part of a national payment of $47,026,743.

The cash payments are to be used only to purchase foods that are produced in the United States and that meet specifications of the school lunch and breakfast programs.

"The National School Lunch Act provides that states are to be given a specified value of donated foods for each lunch served in their schools. If they are not provided all the foods programmed in their state, they are given cash payments to make up the difference.

For the 1978 school year (ending June 30) the value of donated foods was programmed at 12.75 cents per lunch. As of May 15, the foods actually donated and scheduled to be donated amount to approximately 11.05 cents a lunch; so, the Department is making cash payments of approximately 1.70 cents a lunch for the 4.2 billion lunches being served this year. The per lunch amount will vary from state to state.

State Park Offers New Nature Center

Where can you learn about trees—those green and growing and those felled in the early logging days in East-Central Kentucky? Where can you find out about Niter Mining, oil and gas energy in days gone by, rocks and minerals, stone arches, manufacture of iron in past decades, fossils, a ghost railroad, birds and bones, prehistoric Indians, pioneer farm tools and primitive kitchen implements—and view hundreds of art works all in one day?

At Natural Bridge Stone Resort Park, just off the Mountain Park in Powell county, you can spend a day examining all of the above and wish you had a week. And if you are camping, have a reservation for a room or cottage or are lucky enough to show up at the time of a cancellation, you might decide to stay an extra day or two.

On the ground floor of the park's new activities building an Interpretative Nature Center has been developed. Some of the exhibits are in glass showcases and locked cages, but most are in the open with signs, "Please Touch." For snake lovers, there are gentle pythons to twine around your arm; others not so gentle remain in locked cages.

The new nature center adds an impressive touch to the 13th annual Mountain Parkway Art and Crafts Exhibit on Sunday, Aug. 13 of the park's beautiful Hoedown Island. Show hours are 9 a.m. till 5 p.m. In case of rain the arts and crafts will move to the multi-purpose activities building where artists will occupy the first floor, just above the nature center.

The Powell County Art Club is sponsor of the art show in cooperation with the Kentucky Department of Parks. Approximately 1,000 works of original art in all media will be on exhibit and most will be for sale. Some artists will demonstrate oil, acrylic and watercolor painting. Many quality crafts items, handmade and traditional, will be for sale.

Hoedown Island where Richard Jett directs week-end square dancing and music and dance competitions has been engaged in recent years, providing more space for displays, but artists usually find room alongside the walkway should the island patio overflow with artists and craftspeople.

Any artists may exhibit and sell original works and crafts for an exhibitor's fee of $2. Each person brings along easels, tables and other materials to display his or her works.

For more information about the art and craft show, contact Mrs. Felcia McIntyre, secretary Powell County Art Club, Route 2, Stanton, Ky. 40380. For information about the nature center or possible reservations, contact the desk at the park or Central Reservations, Frankfort.

Dan Glass, park superintendent, invites all visitors to enjoy the nature center, a new game room, the skylift, fishing, hiking, horseback riding, other activities and the Aug. 13 art and crafts show. In charge of the nature center is Park Naturalist Dell Sasser.

State Education Support Up But Aid at Local Level Low

The latest edition of "How Kentucky Ranks" shows the state ranking 49th in the percent of revenue—only 16.3 percent coming to public elementary and secondary schools from local government.

At the same time the percent that Kentucky state government put into public schools in 1977-78 jumped from 58.4 to 71.6 percent. This causes Kentucky to rank second in the nation in that category. Hawaii ranks first.

In percent of revenue coming to public schools from the federal government, Kentucky ranks 10th in the nation with its 12.1 percent. In 1976-77 it was 11th with 12.2 percent.

The new Kentucky Education Association (KEA) publication, "How Kentucky Ranks, 1978," notes that in 1976-77 the state ranked 40th in percent of public-school revenue (29.4 percent) coming from local government and 10th in percent of revenue (58.4 percent) coming from state government.

The shift stems from the state's new power equalization law, under which the state on July 1, 1977, began collecting the first 30 cents per $100 property valuation of school taxes—formerly collected at the local level—and then distributed it to school districts.

Under power equalization the state makes up a portion of the difference between what a school district's tax rate raises and what the rate would raise in the state's wealthiest district. Increased state appropriations for schools were another factor in raising the percent coming from the state.

Other data highlights from the publication, available at $1.50 from Charles Whaley, KEA Division of Public Relations and Research, 101 West Walnut St., Louisville, Ky. 40202:

—For the 1977-78 school year the estimated amount spent from local, state, and federal funds on each Kentucky public-school pupil in average daily attendance was $1298. This puts Kentucky in 45th place, two spots higher than the previous year when $1156 was spent. But Kentucky still ranks below all seven of the states that border it.

—Apparently Kentucky will continue to rank 40th, as it did in 1976-1977, in estimated average salary of public-school teachers. The 1977-78 estimate was $11,700, compared with last year's actual $10,926. (The actual average for the 1977-78 year now ended was slightly higher—$11,723, according to the State Department of Education. But this does not change Kentucky's rank.) The national average is estimated at $14,244.

In average salary of classroom teachers in 1977-78 Kentucky ranks below all seven of the states that border it.

—In class size, Kentucky had the 11th highest pupil teacher ratio in the nation. In the fall of 1976 there were 21.5 pupils enrolled per teacher in Kentucky's public elementary and secondary schools. The national average was 20.3.

Latest figures on per capita expenditures of state and local governments show Kentucky in 22d place for public welfare ($120.22), in 23rd place for highways ($133.84); in 29th place for higher education ($115.79), and in 49th place for local schools, including capital outlay ($219.40). (Data are for 1975-76, the latest year available.)

For the previous year the ranking for higher education was the same. For public welfare the new rank is three notches higher; for highways it is one notch higher. But for local schools it is two notches lower.

"How Kentucky Ranks, 1978" draws on data from the National Education Association (NEA) research report entitled "Rankings of the States, 1978." It shows Kentucky's relative standing in 128 categories.

A Boulder APPROACH: OR how Hoover Gave a DAM.

In the early 1900's, a concrete solution was needed to prevent flooding along the Colorado River.

The Hoover administration provided it. 4,400,000 cubic yards' worth. Enough concrete to pave a two-lane highway between New York and San Francisco.

It was the Hoover Dam at Boulder City, Nevada. And it not only controlled flooding and irrigation, but today it generates power for Southern California, Arizona and Nevada.

The cost: $385 million.

And one of the ways money was generated was by Americans buying government securities and taking stock in America.

Today, you can take stock in America by buying United States Savings Bonds. It's easy when you join the Payroll Savings Plan.

That way, a little is automatically set aside from each paycheck to buy Bonds. Before you know it, you'll build up a nice reservoir of savings.

So buy Bonds. It's one savings plan that holds water.

Series E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

From Cannonballs to Snowballs

By DANIEL G. SHAW

In February, 1863 one of the biggest snowball fights in American history was staged by soldiers of the Confederate Army.

The battle—involving an estimated 12,000 to 15,000 men per side, and spread over an area of 10 square miles—lasted all day, despite orders issued by Gen. Robert E. Lee and Lt. Gen. James Longstreet forbidding such activities in camp.

Similarly, when soldiers of the 4th Texas Regiment awoke early one morning to find it snowing, a rousing snowball battle involving five brigades and the cavalry was hastily organized. The fight lasted well into the evening.

Scenes like these—which were considered "serious" sporting events by both Union and Confederate soldiers—were not uncommon during the Civil War, according to Dr. Lawrence W. Fielding, sport historian and assistant professor in U of L's Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Fielding, one of the nation's leading experts on Civil War sports, is researching this aspect of history for his forthcoming book, "Sport Along the Road to Appomattox: In the Shadow of Army Life." He has been researching Civil War sports for nearly 10 years, using as his sources diaries he has picked up at flea markets in the East, letter collections and personal journals.

Fielding, who became interested in history and philosophy as a graduate student in physical education at the University of Maryland, believes there are some "very startling parallels" between the Civil War period and contemporary America in light of the emphasis placed on athletic competition.

During the Civil War, for instance, sport was used as a "measuring stick" of an individual's "manliness." In order to be considered a "man" in the soldier society (and in some cases soldiers actually achieved a "hero" status as a result of their athletic abilities), a man had to prove himself physically through competition in a wide variety of games.

"You had to be able to participate," Fielding noted, "and that got you through the first level of acceptance; and then you really needed to excel in a particular sport in order to get the recognition soldiers apparently wanted. It boils down to the fact that you were not considered a 'man' unless you possessed physical abilities."

Officers also were measured on their sporting skills and were either acclaimed or derided depending upon their physical prowess.

Early in the war, Gen. Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson was dubbed "Tom Fool Jackson" because he stressed marching rather than individual sport activities like baseball and horse racing for his soldiers. In comparison, Lt. Gen. James Longstreet was extremely popular among his men because he organized horse jumping contests every afternoon in camp. In addition, he was an avid hunter and good poker player.

"For some reason," Fielding observed, "the soldiers at that time felt more secure fighting for a man who was a good gambler and sportsman. In some cases, generals were popular because they were good baseball players."

There were other reasons, of course, why the soldier society during the Civil War was intensely sports-minded.

First, some of the men—particularly the Confederates—had great difficulty obtaining reading material. Second, sports counteracted much of the boredom of camp life.

"Confinement was a tremendous problem for soldiers, because they had never really been confined up to this time," he noted, "and had never before been told to stay in camp. Soldiers were used to going where they wanted, when they wanted. And some soldiers continued to do so even though they were in a war."

"This was probably more often the case on the Confederate side, where soldiers—if they wanted to go into town or hunting—went; and officers, in many instances, were powerless to stop them."

Fielding said that during the war Union and Confederate soldiers "played a little bit of everything" in the way of sports.

Horse racing was the most popular sport. In this sport a soldier's worth wasn't necessarily measured by his ability to ride and win, but his skill at picking the winning horses.

This activity became so popular that Gen. George Meade in 1864 issued an order prohibiting horse racing because it was so disruptive. Soldiers would actually leave their posts in camp to attend a race.

Baseball also was a very popular sport during the Civil War, and was played by both the North and South.

Soldiers organized and policed their own games, and in almost every instance, the activity got "out-of-hand." So much so, that officers often had to come in and control the situation, but ended up joining in the games themselves. The job of policing the games was then kicked up to the higher commands.

"Most of the time," Fielding pointed out, "officers were expected to participate. If they didn't, their subordinates would be apt to 'get them' afterwards. Sometimes soldiers would hide behind trees and shoot at the officers; and because of the heavily wooded areas around camp it was difficult to catch them in the act."

One of the more interesting forms of baseball played by soldiers during the war was "corner ball." The idea of the game was to throw the ball at the opponent to get him out. This type of baseball was used by the soldiers even though the "New York" game—what we refer to as baseball today—was actually being played by the national baseball association in 1858.

In the spring of 1863 there was a tremendous baseball boom. An eyewitness—standing on a hill overlooking the plains of Falmouth, Va. where Union soldiers were encamped—described seeing 200 baseball games being played at one time.

"It's possible at Falmouth," Fielding said, "because the lay of the land lends itself to athletics on a large scale. The soldiers had the space for it. Actually having tramped across such fields myself, it gave me a little insight on why such a thing was possible."

Fielding, an avid sportsman himself, coached two junior college teams to the national tennis championships while in Maryland, and currently is operating a series of tennis and golf camps from U of L's Shelby Campus.

When his book is completed this fall, it should give Civil War historians both understanding of the kinds of sporting events popular among Union and Confederate soldiers, and an interesting glimpse at the personalities of the men who fought on American battlefields nearly 120 years ago.

Education Official

Warns Letcher Board On Equalization Fund

A ranking official with the state Department of Education is advising members of the Letcher county school board not to use monies available through the state power equalization plan to raise teachers' salaries.

Gail Bowen, a finance officer with the state agency, said, "I am advising all school boards against putting the money into teacher's salaries, bonds, or any other continuing expense which commits the money permanently. We have no assurance that the money will be appropriated by the next General Assembly in 1980."

"If the next legislature discontinues the program, then recurring expenses, like salary raises, would have to be made up out of local funds," he said.

Bowen visited the board to explain the school district's financial condition and to answer questions raised by teachers who had thought some power equalization funds would be spent to augment salaries.—Whitesburg Eagle.

Kentucky Ends Year in Black

Kentucky finished the 1977-78 fiscal year in sound financial shape, with General Fund receipts a fraction above estimates, according to the Department of Revenue.

The state's General Fund totaled $1,476,114,586 at the end of the fiscal year June 30, just barely topping the budget estimate of $1,475 billion.

"I think it puts us in pretty good shape," said Paul Tanner, director of the state Revenue Department's research staff.

Revenue officials were concerned that the long coal strike last winter would cut about $10 million from anticipated severance tax receipts.

But a record month in May and the department's collection of back taxes put coal severance tax receipts within $3.5 million of what had been anticipated.

Severance taxes totaled $121.5 million for the year, short of the $125 million estimate but an increase of 14.8 percent over the previous fiscal year.

Transportation fund receipts were 8.9 percent for a total of $512.3 million. The receipts increased by 8.6 percent, representing about $349.3 million of that total.

Motor vehicle usage tax receipts of $109.4 million were up 20 percent for the year, well over the estimate, but motor fuels taxes did not meet expectations.

"Our great strength is the motor vehicle usage tax," Tanner said. "People continue to buy cars and trucks and continue to put things on them, and they cost a lot of money."

But motor fuels taxes increased by only 3.4 percent. Tanner said the big loss occurred in January when heavy snow resulted in road closings and hampered travel. "When you lose a period like that you never get it back," he said.

The rickshaw was invented by an American Baptist minister in 1869 to transport his invalid wife around the streets of Yokohama.
