Perkins-Called Meet Urges Water Needs

Expansion of Plant May Precede Plans To Extend Services

Prospects for Economic Development Administration (EDA) assistance toward expansion of the production capacity of the Prestonsburg Water System's plant as one phase in a broad water program affecting other communities appeared brighter following a meeting held at May Lodge Monday evening.

The meeting was called by Congressman Carl D. Perkins, who spearheads in Washington the move for more and improved water for the area, and it was attended by Charles Oxley, Atlanta, Ga., regional director for EDA, Charles Mason, Economic Development representative for Kentucky, and a strong delegation representing area business interests.

The meeting, which began at 7 p.m. did not end till 10.

Mr. Oxley was impressed by statements made by two industrialists, plus those of officials, and admitted that the proposal for water plant expansion "looks more significant."

The long-range program includes not only a greater water supply from the plant here but also extension of lines to link the Prestonsburg system with the Sandy Valley Water District lines in the southern part of the county and with the Paintsville system to the north. The EDA regional director pointed out, however, that because of a lack of funds only the water plant enlargement should be in the initial preapplication, leaving the extension for future consideration.

This Town...That World

APOLOGY

I continue to have trouble with time, and I do not refer to the matter of years. Last week, for some unexplainable reason, I stated, without equivocation, that the grand jury would convene Monday, Aug. 21. The correct date is Monday, August 28. I apologize—and it will help none whatsoever to console me with the reminder that "we all make mistakes, to err is human," and so on.

TEMPERS MAY FIDGIT

Now, I turn to what I think promises to be an even more serious error: the claim by an Ann Arbor (Mich.) engineer who, watching the nation gradually switch over to the metric system in weights and measures, believes the clock should go metric, too.

Love a duck! The man suggests that each day be divided into 100 equal parts called "temps," and instead of minutes there would be decitemps (a tenth of a temp) and seconds would be centitemps (one-hundredth of a temp).

Adopt that, and then 'tempt to tell the time.

DAL—ALMOST

Ever shake in your boots for a moment upon seeing a face strongly reminiscent of one you know to have been long dead? For a moment last Saturday, Dal the old Dalmatian whom I know to be digging holes in dog heaven was there before us. It was the mascot which the Lancer fire department station has adopted. The presence of Rickey Davis at the other end of the leash reassured us.

This almost dead ringer for the dog which, a few years back, ruled the roost (See Story No. 8, Page 4)

Heart Transplant, His Only Hope

The youngster will be the first Eastern Kentuckian ever to have a heart transplant—if, and there are two big ifs:

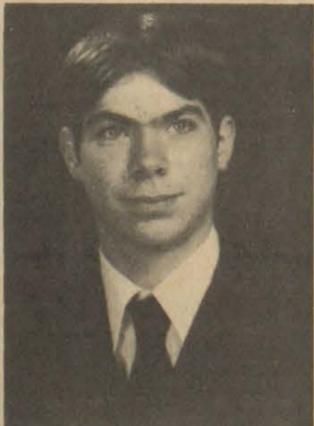

1. If he survives the time of waiting.
2. If the heart of Eastern Kentucky is big enough to supply the thousands of dollars that will be required to get him a new heart.

The heart patient is 16-year-old Charles Keith Davis, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Orion Davis, of Van Lear, now in intensive care at Highlands Medical Center here.

A heart transplant is his last hope for life, he knows. He is resigned to the ordeal, and now comes the drive, areawide, for the money—perhaps as much as $100,000—to cover the cost involved.

The boy became ill last April while attending junior ROTC at Norfolk, Va. as a freshman at Johnson Central High School. He entered Highlands Medical Center, later was sent to the UK Medical Center, Lexington, and finally to Dr. Gooding, Louisville cardiologist who diagnosed his case as end-stage heart disease—the only hope, a heart transplant.

This week, Charles Keith has pneumonia. Although naturally cheerful, the spectre of terminal illness and his immobilization to a hospital bed, cut off from all normal activities and from most of his friends, have dimmed his spirit.

Yet he is looking forward to going to California for a last try for life, Miss Billie Post, social worker at the hospital here, said Monday.

If the move for funds being initiated by Miss Post and others succeeds, Charles Keith will go to the Stanford Medical Center, Stanford, Calif., where Dr. Shumway, noted heart transplant (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Court System Has Troubles, Official Says

The district court system in this county is having its troubles.

District Judge Harold J. Stumbo says his job without a trial commissioner is "impossible," and only $200 a month has been provided for the employment of such help. He regards the proffered salary "ridiculous."

Besides, says County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., the system isn't working properly because the state isn't providing enough clerical help.

A third source of troubles in the fact that the state hasn't paid for office space occupied in the courthouse by its offices, and the fiscal court has notified the state that if rent isn't paid by Sept. 1 out the offices go. The facilities used by the state in the courthouse include the circuit clerk's and the district judge's offices and the district courtroom.

County Attorney Turner said neither the lack of help nor the non-payment of rent can be attributed to lack of money stemming from the district court system in the county. He pointed out, for example, that for May and June the state received in fines, forfeitures and court costs from the Floyd district court more than $27,000 and that for the month of July alone the proceeds from these sources exceeded $24,000.

Wrecks Claim Lives of Two; Ousley Named

A Van Lear man was killed last Thursday morning in a head-on collision on KY 850, near Pyramid, and in a one-car accident two days earlier a Floyd countian was fatally injured on the Mountain Parkway, eight miles west of Salyersville.

Harold Burton, 56, of Van Lear, was the victim in last Thursday's crash, and Phillip Ousley, of Hueysville, suffered injuries. Ousley later was charged with second degree manslaughter on the statement of State Trooper D. E. Williamson to the effect that the fatality resulted from his "gross negligence."

The collision occurred on or near the curve at the foot of the mountain between Middle Creek and Brush Creek as the two drivers were en route to work. Burton, a welder at the National Mines operation on Caney Creek, near Wayland, and Ousley a machine shop worker for Island Creek Coal Co. at Paintsville.

Ex-Magistrate Zeb Ousley, who signed the $15,000 bond for his grandson's release, said the highway was wet and slippery at the scene of the collision. Twenty-seven stitches were required to close lacerations on Ousley's neck.

In the Magoffin county wreck Virgil J. Justice, 53, retired miner, of Toler Creek, was dead on arrival at the Highlands Medical Center here. It was reported here that his auto struck a bridge abutment and rolled over an embankment.

He was a son of Mrs. Rissie Adkins Justice and the late James Marion Justice, and was a World War II Navy veteran. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Birdie Rogers Justice, and his mother, both of Route 1, Harold; a son, Keith, also of Harold, and six daughters, Mrs. Jacqueline Howell, Taylor Mich., (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Some Schools Record Losses In Enrollment

Floyd county's early school enrollment last week showed a gain of 139 over the preceding year, despite sizeable student losses at Auxier, Prestonsburg and Martin.

But enrollment, important as it is, was not Supt. Grigsby's greatest concern. Absentees and dropouts constitute what the superintendent describes as "alarming," adding, "and we must do something about it."

What can be done? Mainly, he said, fuller, more attractive school programs, seeking the cooperation of parents, calling on specialists and consultants for assistance.

The trouble lies mainly in the high schools, he said. And the compulsory attendance law does not apply after students reach the age of 16.

There was a time, Asst. Supt. Ray Brackett recalled, when parents employed on federal programs were required to keep their children in school. But no longer. The federal government has frowned on the requirement.

Each absentee costs the school system $8 for each day he or she is out of school.

The enrollment figures, compiled last week, are subject to change, it was expected. (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Student Accused In Porter Death Avers Innocence

Tony Greg Baril, 18-year-old high school student here, was formally charged last Friday with the knife-murder near here the night of August 12 of Earl Chester Porter, 25, night attendant at a service station on nearby Katy Friend.

Baril had been in jail under 30-day sentence for public intoxication since early last week.

No bond had been set by District Judge Harold Stumbo as of Monday morning. A hearing for Baril will depend, it was said, upon the decision of his attorney, Public Defender Gary Johnson, who was out of the county Monday.

The murder warrant was issued on the affidavit of State Detective Keith Scott, who led the investigation of the bizarre crime. Porter died of 39 knife wounds in his neck and body.

Young Baril continues to deny the murder charge but has admitted to having been at the scene of the crime after the crime was committed. Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said the investigation continues.

After the body of Porter was discovered the only obvious clue to the slayer lay in the print of a tennis shoe found in the blood near the body.

The first break in the case came when a driver's license bearing young Baril's name was found at the roadside along new US 23, near the junction of that highway and the Water Gap road.

When Baril was arrested on the drunk charge by State Trooper Tommy Shelton the suspect was wearing tennis shoes which had the distinctive sole said to be similar to the print found at the service station. The shoes had been washed, but dried blood remained between the upper and sole portions. Kentucky State Police laboratory test identified the blood on the shoe to be the same as that of Porter.

The murder weapon has not been found. Baril admitted he had had a (See Story No. 7, Page 4)

Court Move To Limit Deputies to 9 Fails

A special fiscal court meeting last week was devoted almost entirely to questions involving the sheriff's office, and an attempt to set a limit on the number of deputy sheriffs to nine failed.

Sheriff Doug Lewis, who was represented at the meeting by Burnis Martin as legal counsel, told the court that if it wants law-enforcement to give him the funds needed to do the job. Referring to the "freeze" on deputy salaries, Lewis charged that the court action was personal. He alleged that politics was behind the action.

He said that he wants to cooperate with the court and that he has removed his father, Ex-Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis, from the payroll.

In response to the sheriff's complaint of "politics," members of the court referred to a damage suit already filed because of an arrest made by deputy sheriffs last year and pointed out that the attorney general's office had said the court is open to liability now in event of a suit, since its members are aware that Ex-Sheriff Lewis has been on the payroll, although they had not formally approved his hiring.

Lewis said he paid his father out of his annual $18,700 salary and that he also has paid two other deputies. He added that 126 others serve as deputies on a fee basis only, with the authority to serve court summonses and make arrests for violations that result in fines. (Magistrates said they were aware that Pike county has 900 such deputies.)

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen told the court he had discussed the situation with Sheriff Lewis and added that he was prepared to take action "if anyone has evidence that Joe Wheeler Lewis is usurping the office of sheriff."

Court members said they weren't worried about usurpation of the office but (See Story No. 6, Page 4) about the liability of the county in event of a suit.

"What we're interested in is that we don't have the pants sued off us," County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones explained.

Members of the court claimed the 126 fee-paid deputies is an excessive number and that some are unfit for the work. Magistrate Kenneth Roberts termed some deputies "hop heads and dope fiends who aren't helping the county."

Sheriff Lewis said he was willing for the court to set the number of deputies if it would also pay their salaries.

In the end, Magistrate Roberts' motion to limit to nine the number of deputies died for want of a second. The later (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

Harkins Mineral Claims Damages of $10.5 Million

Harkins Mineral Associates, a limited partnership, comprised of Josephine Harkins Browning, Iley B. Browning, Jr. and Elizabeth L. Browning, has filed suit against the Floyd County Coal Company, Inc. and Island Creek Coal Company, asking a minimum of $10,500,000 for alleged violation of the agreement entered into by the parties.

The circuit court action involves some 30 parcels of land on Prater and Beaver Creeks which were leased by plaintiffs' predecessor, the Harkins Mineral Corp., to the Floyd County Coal Company. Floyd County Coal later subleased the acreage to Evans Elkhorn Coal Co., Inc., which still later assigned the lease to Island Creek.

Plaintiffs allege in their suit that the defendants failed (1) to account for and pay on or before the 25th day of each month, as agreed, the royalty for all coal mined; (2) to pay the minimal annual rental exceeding the tonnage royalty by the same date each month; (3) to mine and pay royalties on all coal that could have been mined at a reasonable profit; and (4) to deliver to plaintiffs mine maps showing the mining work done.

Plaintiffs say checks were sent them from time to time, accompanied by remittance advices, but they claim they were unable to determine from these the quantity of coal mined and sold. They say they rejected these checks until Oct. 18 (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

A PEEK AT A "HIGH" SKY through holly leaves almost confirms the feeling that "on a clear day you can see forever."

JENNY WILEY, EXAMPLE OF TRUE PIONEER SPIRIT

By Lynn Evans

In the mountains of eastern Kentucky there is a state resort park near Prestonsburg commemorating the heroism and endurance of a pioneer woman, Jenny Wiley.

On Oct. 1, 1789, an Indian chief's son was killed by Mathias Harman, and the Indians decided to take revenge on him and his family. They attacked a cabin on Walker's Creek thinking it was Harman's.

Just before the attack, Jenny Wiley was weaving before the cabin's fire with her four children, her brother and a neighbor at her side. Her husband was away at the time.

The door burst open and four Indians ran into the room, scalping three of the children, the neighbor and Jenny's brother. Jenny, in late months of pregnancy, grabbed her youngest child and tried to fight off her attackers. Because of the intervention of a chief in the party, they spared her life and that of her infant. After searching the cabin, the Indians realized that it was not Harman's.

They dragged the 30-year-old Jenny and her child into the darkness to escape. The weight of the infant and of the unborn child caused Jenny to have great difficulty in keeping up. By the fourth day she was staggering, stumbling and lagging behind. This angered the Indians because they were losing time. One of them grabbed her 15-month-old child and crushed its skull against a tree.

They swam the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River with the river current pulling Jenny. They stopped at a rock ledge at when she heard the screams of a young white man being burned at the stake. The Indians then came for her because they desired another death. An old Cherokee interceded and bargained for her life so that she could become one of his wives.

The next morning the old chief was to come for her. The Indians were going hunting that day, so they tied her to a tree with dried deer things to keep her from running away.

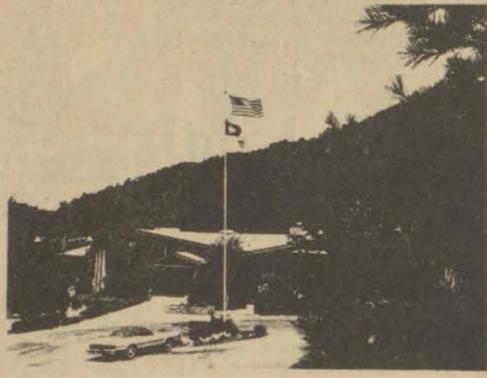

Late in the day it began to rain, drenching her completely and loosening the bonds that held her. She struggled free and began running. At dawn she reached John's Creek. On the other side she could see men working.

She called for help. One of her former neighbors crossed the creek and brought her to the opposite bank to safety.

As she climbed up the slippery side of the creek, the old Cherokee chief and the Indian hunting party appeared at the place where she had stood. He shouted in broken English, "Honor, white squaw, honor!" In his own mind she belonged to him and had no right to run away.

Jenny was in captivity for 11 months. She rested for awhile at Walker's Station before starting on the trip to join her husband.

They had five more children. Jenny Wiley died at the age of 71.

Jenny Wiley State Resort Park near Prestonsburg was named to honor Jenny's courage and fortitude during her 11 months of captivity near the park site. Shown above is the park's lodge which has 48 guest rooms, dining room, gift shop and recreation room.

IF YOU'VE HEARD THIS BEFORE, WHY HAVEN'T YOU DONE IT?

Once a year, even if you're feeling terrific, see your doctor for a checkup. A checkup can detect cancer before any signs or symptoms appear. And early enough for your doctor to do something about it.

For adults, a complete physical checkup from head to toe should include a procto. And for women, a Pap test for detecting cancer of the cervix.

If there's something wrong, your doctor can find it. If nothing is wrong—great.

Don't be afraid. Cancer is one of the most curable of the major diseases in the U.S. today. But it must be caught early.

Get a checkup today. Even if you never felt better. It's what you don't know that can hurt you.

Miners Offer Help With Medical Cards

Social Security representatives will be at the Martin Elementary School Saturday (August 26) at 8:30 a.m. to assist miners in filing for the Black Lung medical card.

Miners already receiving Black Lung benefits should not delay in applying for the medical card as the new law places a deadline on filing, Jim Kelly, area Social Security manager, said.

The new Black Lung law expands the definition of miner to include those people who work in transportation of coal, surface mining, mine construction workers and self-employed miners. Another important provision permits miners who are still working to file a claim and receive a decision.

Time To Get Serious About a Serious Problem

It is time for Floyd county, its officials and citizens to get serious about this drug problem.

If what has been done, or undertaken, in the past has had any beneficial effect, it is not apparent to the naked eye. Drug education in the schools is commendable; young people need to be told, in school, at home, in the churches, wherever, the dangers that are inherent in even the most casual experiments in narcotics of any type.

But stronger lessons than mere words will be needed. There are laws forbidding the trafficking in narcotics. These need to be enforced. The main target must be those who introduce young people to drugs, then prey upon their addiction and reap financial rewards through selling the stuff.

To get at the source of the problem, to hit the suppliers—individuals and "rings"—state and federal help will be needed. The victims must be known, but the real target for the law is the victimizer. And these will be brought to trial only through the most skillful detection methods known to the law-enforcement system.

Senseless, horrifying crimes resulting from the use of drugs have plagued the nation. It can no longer be said that it can't happen here. It's quite possible that it already has.

surgeon, will operate. He will have to be prepared to remain there from seven to 10 months and to be hospitalized from four to six months.

Miss Post has contacted every known source of public funds—the Heart Fund, Social Security, Handicapped Children, Medicaid. There are no funds available for a patient of his age going outside the state for surgery. Medicaid will pay for only 21 days' hospitalization.

The boy's parents are powerless, financially.

Miss Post spoke Monday of the efforts being planned on behalf of the youth. First of all, Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen is forming a non-profit corporation, the Charles Davis Heart Fund. The Prestonsburg National Guard unit has offered its new armory without charge for a series of benefit dances. The first dance there will be this coming Saturday (August 26), with the band, "Quadro," donating its services. All bands in the area have made offers of free performances, Miss Post said. Ron Wright, father of Stewart Wright, the Prestonsburg High School boy who was paralyzed as the result of a football injury, and his brother, Gary, will do a benefit for young Davis at the Highland House, Paintsville.

For Labor Day week-end, three benefit dances are planned at the armory here, funds will be solicited at "road blocks," and a radiothon over a local radio station is planned.

Meanwhile contributions, which are tax-deductible, may be sent to the Charles Davis Heart Fund, care of Gary Hoefler, Highlands Regional Hospital, Prestonsburg.

plained. They show that Auxier Elementary is down from 189 last year to 164; Prestonsburg Elementary, from 951 to 913; Prestonsburg High, from 828 to 808, and Martin Elementary, from 510 to 478.

Offsetting these losses were sizeable gains elsewhere, notably at Clark Elementary, increase of 40 pupils; Betsy Layne High, up 37; Betsy Layne Elementary, up 19; Allen Central High, up 86; McDowell High, up by 30.

Exclusive of kindergarten, the total enrollment as of last week was 9,354, as compared to last year's 9,215. With nine full units and two itinerant units operating, 454 pupils had enrolled in kindergarten. Last year, the county had only five full units.

The enrollment at each school last week follows:

Bonanza, 63; Daniels Creek, 26; Drift, 58; Home Branch, 58; Prater, 158; Spruce Pine, 29; Allen, 345; Allen Central, 617; Auxier, 165; Betsy Layne Elementary, 456; Betsy Layne High, 597; Clark, 561; Garrett, 420; Harold, 362; John M. Stumbo, 667; Martin, 487; Maytown, 222; McDowell Elementary, 706; McDowell High, 313; Melvin, 329; Osborne, 411; Prestonsburg Elementary, 913; Prestonsburg High, 808; Wayland, 268; Wheelwright, 317; Home Inst. Elementary, 17; Home Inst. High, 10; Spradin Branch Trainable, 8; Dwale Trainable, 9.

1976 when they were accepted on the express agreement that they could be accepted and collected without prejudicing plaintiffs' claims.

The suit also alleges that defendants began a mine or mines in the Elkhorn No. 2 seam and employed "careless and negligent" operation methods which permanently damaged the seam, and by inadequate protection by uniform pillars and other support left Elkhorn seams Nos. 3 and 4 unmineable, then abandoned the mines or parts of them.

Plaintiffs demand an accounting as to the quantity of all coal mined and its gross sale price from May 22, 1975, plus a judgment for the value at the tipple of all coal mined and sold after that date, less any amounts already paid.

Judgment for $31,500,000 and recovery of coal wasted is asked under KRS 381.350, but if the court adjudges that that statute is not applicable, the $10,500,000 be adjudged the plaintiffs for alleged violation of the agreement.

hunting knife and that he had thrown it into the Big Sandy when he became alarmed about a possible accusation, but a two-day search of the river at bridges here by officers using metal detectors and magnets failed to recover it.

Baril explained the presence of blood on his shoes by saying that he stopped at the scene of the tragedy and approached the cashier's cubicle in which the body was found, then retreated and left when he saw the body. He returned to the scene later and was searched by officers. He did not explain why he returned.

The money believed to have been taken by the slayer—estimated by the station owner, Floyd Skeans, to be $247—has not been found.

Investigators have learned that the youth went home and changed from Levis to another pair of trousers and also changed shoes before returning to the crime scene. These have been confiscated, but no shirt has been found. Baril claims he was not wearing a shirt when he stopped at the service station. His mother said she washed the Levis. Officers said both parents, James Baril and Edna Brown Baril, of the left fork of Abbott Creek, have been cooperative during the probe.

Commonwealth's Attorney Allen said he and County Detective Sam Hale were called to the Baril home about two months ago after the accused youth had slashed both wrists. He said they removed him from a car with difficulty and brought him, handcuffed, to jail. A lunacy charge was lodged against Baril at that time, but he later was released.

The case is expected to be the first to be convened by the grand jury when it considers next Monday.

Involved in the investigation at different times, in addition to Detective Scott and the commonwealth's attorney, were Coroner James J. Carter, State Detective Kenneth DeBoard, Sheriff Doug Lewis' office, Prestonsburg Policeman Keith Lawson, County Detective Sam Hale, and County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr.

Baril's Bond Set Tuesday at $25,000

Tony Greg Baril, who is accused of the slaying of Earl Chester Porter, was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before District Judge Harold Stumbo. Represented by Public Defender Gary Johnson, he waived preliminary hearing, and Judge Stumbo set his bond at $50,000.

A preliminary hearing was held Tuesday in district court for Ruby Collins, Prestonsburg woman, who was named in a second degree homicide warrant following a wreck near McDowell in which members of an Elliott family were killed.

State Trooper Terry Hall and State Police Sgt. Asher testified at the hearing that they did not file charges against the accused woman because they did not think a criminal act was committed. The charge was reduced to reckless homicide.

Boggs Is Named To Shelby Post

Robert Boggs, native of Floyd county, began work Aug. 14 as the new administrative assistant to Shelby County Supt. William Laceyfield.

His primary duties will be facilities planning. The position was created during July's meeting of the school board as a first step in the development of a long-range plan to meet the needs of the local school system. Boggs' annual salary will be $25,500.

A graduate of Pikeville College, Boggs received his master's degree and Rank I certification from Morehead State University. His undergraduate work was in chemistry and mathematics. His graduate work was in education including administration and supervision.

Boggs taught eight years in this county and served one year as assistant principal at Boyd County High School. He was also principal of Morgan County High School for two years, Boggs was superintendent of Morgan county schools.

By LARRY BURKE

Many years ago Colton wrote these words: "That we require with the most difficulty we retain the longest."

This is true. A person never forgets how to read and write. And I'm sure each of us can remember the difficulty we had in acquiring these feats.

... with most difficulty. How many great lessons have been ours that way. Then on the other hand, how useless have been the accomplishments with little or no difficulty involved.

So, the rough, hard road of life has, it seems, more than our share of difficulties. Out of these have come every worthwhile accomplishment, every treasure worth keeping.

Say to yourself: Today is difficult, but the results are sure to be wonderful, and they will last forever.

Funds To Aid in Implementing New Mine Laws

After several months intense negotiations, the state of Kentucky and the U.S. Department of Interior have agreed to a $2 million strip mine program support grant.

The grant, which is a reimbursement for costs associated with implementing the federal strip mine reclamation program, was announced jointly by Gov. Julian Carroll, Sen. Walter D. Huddleston and Sen. Wendell H. Ford.

The grant will be used for additional mine inspectors, opening three new field offices and equipment and support services with which Kentucky will carry out the federal interim surface mining program.

Secretary Eugene Mooney of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection said that the grant essentially is reimbursement for past and anticipated costs to be absorbed by the state during the first year of the interim program's operation which ends Sept. 30. The reimbursement is over and above the more than $3 million the state has set aside for the program.

The federal strip mine bill passed last August required coal producing states to adopt an interim program reflecting the new standards in the federal bill. The 1978 General Assembly passed enabling legislation for the state to undertake such a program beginning June 17. Program grants from the Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement to assist states in interim program implementation required program approval.

Carroll called the award to the department a "tremendous accomplishment under very trying and pressing circumstances." He added, "this reimbursement will be of great value to the Commonwealth in our goals of continued coal production and effective environmental protection."

"We have moved ahead dramatically with major state appropriations and the anticipation of these supplemental federal funds," said Carroll. "We have already shown our commitment by allocating over $3 million in the first year for the surface mining program."

Huddleston said, "We are pleased that Kentucky has been awarded this grant because it is essential to provide adequate and fair enforcement of the new strip mining regulations and at the same time allow miners to efficiently produce coal in an environmentally sound manner."

Ford indicated he was extremely pleased that the grant was approved, noting these funds will be essential for Kentucky to properly and effectively enforce the new surface mining regulations.

According to Mooney, Kentucky will receive the lion's share, about one-third, of the total federal appropriation for the first year of the program. He said the state's leadership in the initial development phase would provide a guide for others to follow, even though the funds have been delayed due to an extensive negotiation period during which various grant conditions were debated and revised continuously.

"In the future, we definitely need to spend more time in implementing the surface mining program and less time negotiating over grants," said Mooney. "If we are to continue to be the nation's top coal producing state and at the same time protect our environment and reclaim land that has already been affected by mining, we have no time to spare."

Approval of the initial grant application is expected to make easier the job of securing future grants, according to departmental officials. A second application for funds is being prepared for the next fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. Mooney anticipates that the agreement on this initial grant will result in a new, positive working relationship with federal surface mining officials.

"Everybody is looking to us," Carroll said. "This grant is only the tip of the iceberg. As Kentucky continues moving forward in the regulation of its own coal industry, more federal financial support will follow. However, we know that as the Office of Surface Mining gets better organized, the grant process will come along more smoothly," he added.

Carroll's support of the federal bill was based on the concept that each state should control its strip mine programs.

Officials are hopeful that a permanent state reclamation program will be approved in the future which will qualify the state for additional funds and total administration of the law of Kentucky.

Use of the grant money includes paying for new four-wheel drive vehicles which were ordered in May in the anticipation of the grant and financing a project to assess the department's automated information management needs. This will involve developing a system for computer storage of strip mine permit applications and other data. Also, Mooney said money would be used to lease two helicopters to increase the state's surveillance capacity. Enhanced permitting capabilities and coordination will also be a major objective of the program.

Commenting on expansion of field support, Mooney said that in addition to the new field offices, the department's divisions of water quality and water resources and the blasting program of the state Department of Mines and Minerals will receive some of the federal money.

Dulcimer Workshop-Convention Set

It is dusk in the mountains and as the peaks begin to lose themselves in rising night mists, only small sounds of crickets and chirping-creeping creatures are heard. To one of mountains, the sounds are comforting, telling one night is near. Without prelude, the plaintive sounds of a dulcimer, coupled with the voice of a mountain woman, blends with the stillness. Muted harmony casts its melody up the mountainside, down to the valley people and over the hills.

No wonder the hold of mountain music and mountain ways. Old instruments and older ballads combine to create harmony so clear as to rival notes from an alpenhorn.

The art of dulcimer making, the playing of this instrument and the purity of voices are features of the second annual Great American Dulcimer Convention at Pine Mountain State Resort Park, Pineville, Sept. 29-30.

Jean Ritchie of the famed singing Ritchie family, of Viper, will participate in the convention program. Deep in the Cumberlands, the Ritchies, Combes, Engles, Halls, the Fugates and other families sang the songs that followed them across the sea.

An aged Ritchie kindswoman, who was born on Troublesome Creek, Knott county, said, "Everybody sang 'Barbry Allen.'" In her church no instruments were used, due to strict religious belief, but neighbor-families played dulcimers, banjos and fiddles. "On Troublesome we used to sing George Riley, Fair Ellender and the one about Roseannie's blood sprinkled like hard drops of rain. Polly Fugate was a good hand to sing. She could sing 'Little Omie' awful pretty."

Featured with Miss Ritchie on the dulcimer-workshop program will be Dick and Ann Albin, Homer Ledford, John McCutcheon, Warren May, Nancy Johnson, Blake Barker, Larkin and David Bryant, James Miracle, Mason Combs, Muggs and Muff Jones, Robert Dickey and others.

A popular part of the week-end will be children's concerts and song swaps. There will be various displays including crafts from Fort Boonesborough Crafts, all coordinated with the dulcimer theme.

Years ago, the wilderness road opened Kentucky to development with villages established at crossroad trails and on navigable waters. For many families, the stopping place was that part of the Cumberlands that would not have improved roads for many years. A neighbor would be miles away and church sometimes a 10-mile walk each way. The families were closeknit. They continued to sing words that ancestors sang in Britain and for an unusual event would create a song to fit the happening.

Many of these early ballads and folk songs that tell stories will be sung and swapped on Pine Mountain. From the beautiful park lodge that looks out over a magnificent countryside, the heart-catching tones of dulcimers and other instruments and the words that frequently do double-time to catch up with the melody will provide a memorable weekend.

For room reservations or other information call area (606) 337-3066.

While at the park take time to enjoy the scenery and nature trails. Most of all, enjoy the serenity and comfort of Kentucky mountains. It can be a soothing, fulfilling and long-to-be-remembered time. Listen closely, for some one might sing about a bright Kentucky morning and hearing "the birds sing sweet, and to seat myself in some cool shady place to see two true loves meet."

Thanks All Who Helped

(In loving memory of Lilly May Caudill Nelson who passed away 10 years ago.)

I would like to thank all the Nelson and Marsillett families for helping in purchasing a lot on the Richmond Cemetery for Lilly May Caudill Nelson beside her husband, Jim (Boley) Nelson, and also for helping to move her. I want to especially thank Sam Nelson for giving us permission to move her from his cemetery, and the Carter Funeral Home and David Hereford for the help and kindness they showed us.

Also, a special thanks to the following people for their help: Hiland Nelson, Nelson Mobile Homes, Arvel (Mush) Nelson, Jack Nelson, Don Nelson, Grady Nelson, Ed Nelson, Bill Nelson, Will Nelson, Mack Marsillett, Tom Marsillett, Jot Marsillett, Paul Marsillett, Alpha Marsillett DeRossett, and Lilly Fay Marsillett Stone.

Squad Honors Former Officers

Members of the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad, Inc. held an honor dinner Aug. 11, for former Capt. Tom Graham Burchett and Secy Treas. James B. Goble. The two, who are charter members of the Squad, have stepped down from active leadership of the organization but still remain active members and in an exoffices executive capacity.

Organized April 15, 1958, the squad has since grown to be No. 1 in the state. Present at the dinner, held at May Lodge, were the guests of honor and their wives, members and new officers of the Squad and their families, members of the newly formed Knott and Magoffin County Rescue Squads and other special guests and City Council members.

In his closing remarks to the members, Capt. Burchett stressed the importance of team effort in the organization and also the need of public support for the maintenance of the programs. "No one man can build and maintain an organization of this caliber," it is the result of all the members," he said, adding: God willing, I will be active in it as long as I live."

Mr. Goble expressed similar sentiments.

John W. Shepherd, secretary-treasurer-elect, said, "Capt. Burchett will always be our captain and Beady will always be our treasurer."

The men were further honored with plaques and letters of appreciation.

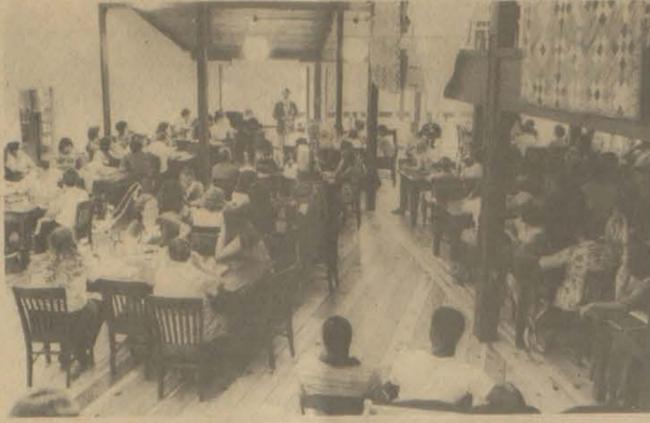

COWLICKS IDENTIFY HORSES JUST LIKE FINGERPRINTS

Pullman, Wash.—Researchers at Washington State University say that one day a horse's identity may be determined quickly and conveniently by studying the cowllicks—whorls—on its head.

Veterinarians R. Keith Farrell and Mike Conway have found that, like human fingerprints, no two horse cowllicks are alike.

They have devised a way to make a mold of a hair whorl that provides an exact duplicate which can be inked and printed on identification documents.

WELCOMES NEW STUDENTS

Pippa Passes, Ky.—A large crowd is welcomed by Dr. Jerry C. Davis, Alice Lloyd College president, at an orientation session for new ALC students and their parents at the college, Aug. 12. In his welcome, Dr. Davis outlined for students plans for new recreational facilities, dormitory improvements and a new student snack bar as well as other preparations being made for the arrival of the new freshman Sunday.

Fest To Include Arts, Crafts

The Highlands Folk Festival on Labor Day week-end 78 promises to be one of the best this region has ever seen. A great musical program will include many individuals and groups. Performances will be September 1 at 7 p.m., September 2 at 7 p.m., and September 3 at 5 p.m.—all at the amphitheatre in Jenny Wiley State Park.

Displays of a wide variety of handicrafts and paintings will be exhibited and sold by artists and craftspeople from all over Eastern Kentucky. Many members of the local Appalachian Guild of Artists and Craftsmen will show their fine work. There will also be a booth representing the arts and crafts from Prestonsburg's Bush Gallery. Some examples of the crafts on display include woodworking, pottery, weaving, broom-making, patchwork and quilting, jewelry making, leatherwork, crocheting, musical instruments and paintings. Throughout the day there will be demonstrations by skilled craftspeople.

Any artists and craftspeople of the area who would like to exhibit at the festival should contact either Ann Wharton at 886-3472 or Mary Pineau at 886-2377. Non-members of the Appalachian Guild of Artists and Craftsmen are asked to pay a booth fee.

The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival is an annual event where musicians, dancers, tale tellers and craftspeople gather to share the wealth of lore of the Southern Mountains. The public is invited to share in this preservation of the traditional expressions of the people of the mountains by attending the crafts show and musical performances of the festival.

Road Contract Awarded

State Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson has announced the award of $1.1 million in road contracts for 10 Eastern Kentucky counties.

According to Grayson, the largest single contract, $314,845, was awarded to Nally and Gibson Surfacing, of Springfield, for surfacing 11 miles of Harlan county roads.

In Pulaski county, Hinkle Contracting Corp., of Paris, was awarded a $78,886 contract to surface 1.7 miles of the Hacker road.

Ashland Asphalt Paving Co., of Ashland, was awarded a $54,051 contract for surfacing nearly 3 miles of Boy Schout Road (KY 1012) in Boyd county.

A $246,640 contract was awarded to East Kentucky Paving Corp., of Grayson, for surfacing 10.2 miles of Carter county roads.

In Clay county, 3.1 miles of county roads are to be surfaced under a $128,688 contract with the Carpenter Construction Co., of Annnville.

Nally and Gibson Surfacing, of Springfield, was awarded a $68,616 contract for surfacing 1.8 miles of the Buffalo Road (KY 511) in Whitley county.

In Elliott county, 1.3 miles of the Doctors Branch road is scheduled to be surfaced by the East Kentucky Paving Corp. under a $18,207 contract.

Carpenter Construction Co. was apparently low with a bid of $85,695 on a two mile surfacing contract of the Ward Road in Jackson county.

More than 1 mile of the Edna-Harper road (KY 1081) in Magoffin county is to be surfaced by East Kentucky Paving Corp. under a $51,048 contract.

In Wolfe county, two miles of the Lacy-Creek-Gilmore-Wilhurst road (KY 1419) is scheduled to be surfaced by the Hinkle Contracting Corp. under a $74,909 contract.

L&N Fined $1 Million In Coal-Car Shortage

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., under heavy criticism because of a coal-car shortage in Eastern Kentucky, was fined $1,051,600 by the Interstate Commerce Commission last Thursday.

The fine, which is expected to be reduced in negotiations between the L & N and the ICC, received faint praise from members of the Kentucky congressional delegation.

"The magnitude of the fine reaffirms what we've been contending all along—that L & N is not delivering adequate service to coal shippers in Eastern Kentucky," Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., said.

"L & N can pay the fine, but it's not going to guarantee that roadbeds will be improved, and that additional cars and power will be forthcoming...."

Leo Koester, an L & N assistant vice-president for public relations, said the railroad will have no comment until it receives official notice of the fine.

The fine was levied on charges of "numerous violations of car service orders" affecting the placing, removal forwarding and repair of coal cars during three months ending July 31.

The fine is separate from a proposed ICC rule to force the L & N and its parent, Seaboard Coast Line, to provide more locomotives and coal cars for Eastern Kentucky.

The fine was based on a minimum levy of $500 against L & N for each violation of failing to move coal cars that are in short supply. Another $50 per day was added for each offense not corrected.

The fine could have been much more, ICC sources said, perhaps double, if the agency had applied a past rule that required railroads not to keep cars standing at loading or unloading for more than 24 hours.

Instead, the ICC used a new rule that took effect Aug. 8, which gives a railroad 60 hours to move the cars.

Coal Reports Next Month

Starting next month, Kentucky coal producers and processors will be required to make monthly reports of coal hauling activities to the state Department of Transportation under a revenue-sharing program created by the 1978 General Assembly.

Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson said that House Bill 546 established a Coal Impact Road Fund for highway construction and maintenance in the so-called "coal impact counties" which do not produce coal but whose roads are affected by coal transportation.

The new fund is financed by the coal severance tax, Grayson said. Allocations are to be made each fiscal year to coal impact counties, starting in 1979-80.

Grayson said each county's share of the fund is based on its percentage of the coal transported in all coal impact counties, measured in "ton miles." A figure of 50 ton-miles, for example, could result from 50 tons of coal hauled one mile or one ton hauled 50 miles.

The Transportation Department has drawn up forms to be used by all severance taxpayers to report coal tonnage and routes over which it is shipped. For each fiscal year, said Grayson, the department must publish coal road mileage by county, and total ton miles of coal transported in each coal impact and coal-producing county.

Starting next August, the department must also publish a yearly directory of the state coal road system. However, all data requested will be held in confidence.

Grayson said the directory and other information required under the law will be compiled by his department's Division of Systems Planning. Difficulties in establishing procedures to collect the data have delayed the effort by about one month, he said.

Over the next biennium the Coal Impact Road Fund is to receive 25 per cent of severance taxes collected beyond $165 million in fiscal year 1978-79 and beyond $192 million in 1979-80. The law sets aside 60 per cent of the money for state primary roads and 40 per cent for county road projects.

ARTHRITIS COSTS Americans $4.7 billion in lost wages annually. An additional $955 million is lost in income taxes each year.

A list of 22 alternative projects was approved in case any of the projects in the first group fail to be contracted. These projects are being submitted to the U.S. Department of Interior for consideration for additional funds available February 1, 1979. All of the projects must be approved in Washington prior to commencement of work or release of funds.

The commission members also okayed three projects for state grant funds. These are: Greer Gymnasium, Buckhorn Lake community, Perry county, stabilization and fire protection, $25,000; Farmington, Bardstown Road, Louisville, interior restoration, $10,000; and Savage Cave, Logan county, protection, $5,000—pending inspection and restrictive covenant.

11 from Floyd Complete Summer Program at ALC

Eleven high school students from Floyd county have recently completed a six-week Upward Bound summer residential program at Alice Lloyd College. They are:

Martha Elste, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Elste, of Endicott; Regina Epperson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Epperson, of Prestonsburg; Ron Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Johnson, of Ivel, all students at Prestonsburg High School.

MeloDee Meade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Munice Meade, of Dema; Kathy Frasure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Frasure, of East McDowell, students at McDowell High School.

Claude Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Allen, of Wayland; Everett Kidd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kidd, also of Wayland; Bill Kilburn son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Kilburn, of Garrett; Jeff Prater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fair Prater, of Hueysville; MaDonna Bates, daughter of Mrs. Hazel Bates, of Hi Hat; and Sherry Dempsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dempsey, of Garrett, all students at Allen Central High School.

The students will continue their Upward Bound activities during the regular school year with monthly follow-up meetings on the ALC campus and meetings during the regular school day between students and Upward Bound follow-up teachers.

Upward Bound is a joint venture between the College and the U.S. Office of Education. The program is intended to provide special help for qualifying high school students who have the potential for success in college.

With the start of school this fall, the Special Programs Division, which includes Upward Bound, will be directed by Bill Phillips, 34, who has worked since 1972 in a number of educational positions in rural Appalachian Tennessee.

Miss Little-Mr. Harp Wed Here

Miss Sabrina Jo Little, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Steven Anthony Harp, also of Prestonsburg, were united in marriage at 1 p.m. Saturday, June 24, at the Community United Methodist Church here with the pastor, Rev. Taylor Biggs, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Little, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Harp is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Anz, of Louisville.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of wedding music was presented by David Banner Leslie, pianist, and Miss Dee Dee Kalos, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of white silk organza and chantilly lace styled with an empire waistline and Queen Anne neckline with long sheer sleeves gathered at the wrist with a cuff of lace. The bodice was lace-covered and was encrusted with tiny seed pearls. Panels of lace which formed the skirt fell into a cathedral-length train with skirt and train edged with chantilly lace. Her matching veil of illusion was attached to a pearl-encrusted cap of lace. She carried a cascade of blue and white silk roses.

Miss Tammy Nichols, maid of honor, wore a floor-length floral gown in colors complementing that of the bride and bridesmaids, Miss Shari Frasure and Gina Little, who wore floor-length gowns in cream color with matching bouquets of carnations.

Best man was David Woods, and ushers were Mike Fitzpatrick and Mike Correno.

Flower girl was Bonnie Hensley, and ringbearer was Mark Fitzpatrick.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of dusty pink with matching orchid, and the groom's mother chose a cream-beige dress with matching orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harp are now residing in Prestonsburg after a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, Florida.

Miss McClung, Mr. Osborne Wed

The marriage of Miss Terri Lynn McClung and Mr. James Clay Osborne was solemnized at 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, July 5, at the First Presbyterian Church here.

Dr. Roger R. Keller, of Pikeville College, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McClung, of Prestonsburg, Mr. Osborne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Osborne, also of Prestonsburg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white taffeta, with sheer nylon overskirt trimmed in satin brocade lace at the high neck, fitted bodice and long sheer button sleeves. The bride's fingertip veil of nylon was trimmed with matching satin brocade lace, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of white miniature carnations and white roses, scattered with baby's breath, camelia foliage and variegated pittosporum.

Rose Marie Harmon served as matron of honor. The bridesmaid was Leona Marie Osborne, daughter of the groom, was her junior bridesmaid. They wore full length gowns of blue organza trimmed with white lace and carried Colonial bouquets of white roses, blue miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Marshall Douglas Osborne, brother of the groom, served as best man. James Anthony and John Lawrence Osborne, sons of the groom, served as groomsmen and ushers. Holly Bond was flower girl. Nathan Osborne served as ringbearer.

The vows were spoken before an altar decorated with a cathedral candelabra arrangement made of white snapdragons, white carnations and variegated tree ivy, with spiral candelabra on either side and brass candelabra pew markers. The profile kneeling bench was decorated with a small matching arrangement of white snapdragons, miniature carnations and held the bride's white family Bible.

A selection of Wedding Music consisting of "Nadia's Theme," "Color My World" and "Evergreen" was rendered by Suzanne Harris Nelson.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the church. Assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Grant, Mrs. Pearl McClung, grandmother of the bride, Jean McClung, the bride's aunt, Linda Baldrige May, Lydia Howard, and Myrtle Allen.

The bride's parents presented the bride and groom with a champagne toast at their home prior to their honeymoon departure attended by the wedding party, friends and relatives.

The newlyweds are residing in Prestonsburg.

Out-of-town friends and relatives attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Vicars, Pam, Susie and Kim Vicars, of Middlesboro, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Freels, of Clinton, Tenn., Mrs. Sue T. Blackburn, Teresa Blackburn, Jeanne Sturgill, David Horton and Nita Spencer, of Pikeville, Ken Griff, of Princeton, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Thompson, of Portsmouth, Ohio, Robert Crouse, of Charleston, W. Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Young, grandparents of the bride, of Beckley, W. Va.

Going to the Fourth

By GEORGE L. MOORE

As I grew up as a boy on the farm, there were two events you didn't miss if you lived in a ten-mile radius of Olive Hill. One was the fourth of July; the other, the circus. Every country boy had his heart set on going to Olive Hill for the Fourth of July celebration. In those days they called it "Going to the Fourth". Quite often, the father would hitch up the team to the jolt wagon and take the entire family to town.

I can recall as a boy on the farm that I, along with my brothers and sisters, worked very hard to get the corn laid by in order to take in the grand and glorious Fourth. When one arrived in town there was always a carnival with the merry-go-round, booths where you could throw three balls and win a cupid doll, providing you knocked over two of the milk bottles or whatever target was being used.

Most of the farm boys and girls considered it quite a thrill to mount a brightly painted pony and ride the merry-go-round for three or four minutes for the token price of five cents. In those days, most of the girls rode, sidesaddle.

There was also a variety of cold pop on ice. This was also a rare treat, especially when all the cold liquid you had been consuming was water from a cold spring or a deep, walled-in well. It should also be noted that you were considered among the affluent if you had as much as a dollar to spend for the entire day.

The circus was the event that I enjoyed most as a farm boy and, I might add, I still do. Most grown-ups would say the only reason I go is to take the children, but the plain truth was that mom and dad enjoyed the circus as much as any of the children did. I was always fascinated by the elephant and the beautifully trained equestriennes.

On one occasion, I accompanied my father to Olive Hill to hear Governor Morrow speak. My father called it, "Going to the speakin'". On this occasion, the governor told of a tall, gawky boy going with his father to see the circus. As the giraffes passed by, the boy stared at them in complete bewilderment and turned to his father, saying, "Pop, I don't believe there's any such a damned animal".

Community Service Classes Set at PCC

Four Community Service classes are scheduled to begin at Prestonsburg Community College this month.

Jean Rosenberg will be conducting training for husbands and wives in techniques of prepared childbirth. The first session begins August 7 and will meet Monday and Wednesday nights through September 18.

Beginning tennis lessons will be taught by Kenneth Fuller and Ron Chaffins at the Archer Park courts on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 6-7 p.m., August 24 through September 19. Enrollment is limited.

A class in folk dancing will be taught by T. Auxier, and may be taken for two semester hours' credit. Classes will meet on Wednesdays, 6:30 to 9 p.m., August 30 through December 13.

Jazz ensemble offers one semester hour credit. Gus Kalos will be directing this class on Mondays and Wednesdays, 3-4:15 p.m., beginning August 30.

For more information regarding registration for these and other adult classes at Prestonsburg Community College, contact the Office of Community Services, Prestonsburg Community College, telephone 886-3863, extension 243.

The versatile peanut turns up in soup, penicillin, axle grease, metal polish and innumerable other products. Sen. Barry Goldwater once used it instead of shaving cream. The latest development, according to the August Reader's Digest, is a high-pressure, high-temperature method for converting the peanut's carbon content into industrial diamonds.

A Competent Government Is Not Too Much To Ask

by David Cohen

David Cohen is President of Common Cause, a non-partisan citizens' lobby.

Politicians fiddle, problems go unsolved, and taxpayers' tempers flare. More and more, our government is viewed by its citizens as being unable or unwilling to deal with crucial issues.

Today, special interests dominate our political system and these interests—usually focused on a single issue—pursue their own narrow agendas. Through the use of political money and hidden lobbying, they wield considerable clout with the Administration and Congress. In effect, they paralyze government and stop it from performing on behalf of its citizens. No single special interest alone is responsible or wants to create this paralysis, but when they have all acted, that's the result.

Nowhere is this effect clearer than in our inability to stop inflation. Each special interest—the dairy industry, airlines, highway builders, truckers, doctors, building trade union members, lawyers, and a cast of thousands—has a particular inflationary favor it wants from government. With their immense power, special interests get the rewards they seek, from invisible tax subsidies to government regulations which protect an economic interest.

To combat the heavy special interest influence, citizens must take an active role in framing the debate on the critical issues facing the nation. We have a responsibility to shape the alternatives and advocate the choices that will work. We cannot abandon the field to the special interests. Our challenge is to build support for systematic changes that will stop wasteful spending, unnecessary regulations, and unfair taxes.

If government is to perform on behalf of the people and work to solve problems rather than duck them, Congress has to act responsibly by taking the necessary steps to make government competent, Congress should:

- Pass Sunset legislation to require Congress to discard outdated, inflexible, and wasteful government activities and permit room for new initiatives. Citizens are frustrated by the inability and unwillingness of Congress to end unfair taxes, and government programs and regulations which do not work and are no longer needed.

- Reform the civil service to hold our civil servants to high standards of performance and protect those who blow the whistle on wrongdoers. The American public is entitled to a federal civil service that is both efficient and accountable, responsive and responsible.

- Curb the two worst special interest abuses, political money and hidden lobbying. Enact Congressional campaign finance reform by enabling small contributions to be matched by the voluntary dollar tax check-off already used in the Presidential election. Enact lobby disclosure legislation to require the powerful lobbies to disclose how, what and on whom they're spending their money to influence the system.

A healthy political system requires citizens who know what's going on. Nobody can do it for us. After all, you don't have to be an expert to know you want competence from your government.

UK Expects 21,500 when Fall Semester Opens Next Monday

The University of Kentucky will begin its 1978 fall semester Monday, August 28, with a "catch-up" registration in Memorial Coliseum.

Fall semester classes start Wednesday, August 30, with

UK residence halls opening at noon Sunday, August 27.

Dr. Elbert W. Ockerman, dean of admissions and registrar, said that most students have already completed advanced registration. Returning UK students registered last April and new students registered during the July Summer Advising Conference.

The remaining students will participate in the Aug. 28 registration in Memorial Coliseum. These are graduate and undergraduate students who have been cleared by the Admissions Office.

The UK dean expects the 1978 fall enrollment to be about the same as last fall; enrollment of 21,488 students.

Increases over last year are expected in the freshman class and the graduate school.

These figures do not include the UK off-campus program at Fort Knox, the College of Education Appalachian Education Satellite Project, extension classes and the UK community colleges.

The cut off date for acceptance to UK for the fall semester was Aug. 16. Any undergraduate student not cleared for admission should contact the Admissions Office immediately at (606) 257-1606.

Tuesday, August 29, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. is add-drop day in Memorial Coliseum for students who have completed advance registration.

Late registration is Aug. 30-Sept. 6 for returning students who did not advance register and students cleared for late admission. The first two days students will register on the mezzanine of the Patterson Office Tower; the remaining days they will report to room 2 of Miller Hall. All students who register during this period will be assessed a $20 late registration fee.

HECK'S

THIS COULD BE THE START OF SOMETHING BIG.

One man. One match. One small trash fire. It all seems harmless enough.

Yet, add to this a light wind. A flying spark. A dry forest ready to explode. And you've got all the makings of one raging Wildfire.

For this reason, unauthorized trash burning is illegal. And dangerous.

If you plan to burn trash or debris, call your local forestry agent for permission. Before you start something too big to handle.

Kentucky Highlands Association To Sell East Kentucky in Canada

The Kentucky Highlands Association, Inc., representing 31 Eastern Kentucky counties, is spending 22 days (August 15 through September 5) showing and telling the Canadian world what Eastern Kentucky has to offer in tourism.

The CNE (Canadian National Exhibition) in Toronto, Canada, is similar to a small World's Fair. It draws up to 3 1/2 million people. This exhibition is a prime market for Canadians who will pass through Eastern Kentucky next year as tourists. Kentucky Highlands Association, Inc. will be working closely with the Kentucky Highlands Association, Inc. will be working closely with the Kentucky State Department of Public Information in promoting Kentucky in the 21 days in Toronto.

The five Area Development districts of Big Sandy, Cumberland Valley, FIVCO, Gateway, and Kentucky River will be represented by Nana Lou and Van Trout, of Owingsville, Bernice and John Renfro, of Williamsburg, Kathryn and Chalmer Frazier, of Prestonsburg, Ginalee and Wayne King, of Renfro Valley, Buzz Carlotis, of Fort Sequoyah (Livingston), Tim Wagner, of Morehead, Buddy Westbrook, of London, Charley Dibble, of Barbourville, Dorothy Salven, of Winchester, Racine and George Clarke, of Hazard, and Vickie and Greg Napier, of Hazard.

The Kentucky Highlands Association is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting tourism (Kentucky's third largest industry) in thirty-one Eastern Kentucky counties to the remainder of Kentucky and the World by personally letting others know what Eastern Kentucky has to offer in the tourism industry.

Lawmakers Take to Rough

Rep. James "Jitter" Allen, of Martin, was among the Kentucky legislators who "took to the rough" last week when they attended an ecology workshop sponsored by the Interim Joint Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources. The 5,000 acres of orphan lands they visited was purchased by the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources from the Peabody Coal Co. Presently, only basic reclamation has been performed on the land which is inadequate under the new stringent surface mining regulations. Dr. Jerry Howell, of Morehead State University, led an ecology discussion during the workshop.

13 Floyd Students On MSU Dean's List

Morehead State University's spring semester dean's list includes 13 students from Floyd county. Included are:

Colleges To Offer Enrichment Program For Senior Citizens

The Council on Higher Education, acting in its capacity as the state agency for the administration of Title I-A of the Higher Education Act, will sponsor a consortium project by Prestonsburg Community College and Pikeville College, entitled "What Are You Doing for the Rest of Your Lives? Problems in Aging." The project is to be under the co-direction of James W. Ratcliff, Prestonsburg Community College, and Katherine K. Sohn, Pikeville College. Part-time administrator is Amelia Allen, of Paintsville.

The grant will include $9,000 from Title I-A, with $21,163 institutional matching from the two colleges. It will enable the two institutions to use their resources and community resources to focus on enrichment programs for senior citizens in centers of Pike and Floyd counties. It is proposed that with the success of this year's program, activities will be expanded to include other centers in subsequent years.

SLONE-LYKINS VOWS SAID

Mr. and Mrs. Van Ray Slone, of Auxier, announce the marriage of their daughter, Chicita L., to Mr. David Lykins, son of Mrs. Arlie Lykins, of Oil Springs, Ky. The double-ring ceremony was solemnized at the Katy Friend Free Freewill Baptist Church, Friday evening, June 9, at 7 o'clock with Elder Bill Campbell officiating.

The bride wore a gown of sheer organza styled with venise lace, wedding ring collar faced with a sheer yolk, and bishop sleeves secured to a ruffled cuff. Her A-line skirt had a ruffle flounce that extended into a chapel train.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The maid of honor was Vanessa Slone, sister of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was Gay Lykins, sister of the groom. The flower girl was Christie Lykins, sister of the groom. Ringbearer was Chris Caudill. Phillip Caudill served as best man, and ushers were Norman Schaffer and Joe Ferguson. Junior usher was Mark Cantrell.

Preceding the ceremony, Waunda Sue Lykins, sister of the groom, presented selections of wedding music.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Church dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Lykins are residing in Auxier after returning from a wedding trip to Florida.

ALLEN NEWS

Methodist Women Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Allen United Methodist Women was held August 8 in the home of Mrs. Carl Martin, who entertained the group with a cook-out served from her patio. Those enjoying the supper were Mrs. Jewel Allen, Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey, Mrs. Tincy Crisp, Mrs. Karen Marcum, Mrs. Kay Gray, Mrs. Kay Lemaster, Mrs. Edna Mae Callison, Mrs. Maude Snodgrass, guest Mrs. Mildred Hall and the hostess, Mrs. Jerry Martin. Following the meal, the business meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Jerry Martin. Mrs. Tincy Crisp led the group in prayer. The main item for discussion was the Christmas bazaar for 1978, which will be held November 3-4. It was suggested that all women of the Church be asked to make and donate at least two items each.

Mrs. Kay Gray had the program for the evening. Due to the fact that the women are working on the Christmas bazaar for 1978, Mrs. Gray used the theme of Christmas and the importance of making family plans early in order to enjoy the beauty of Christmas and all the old customs. Mrs. Gray stressed the important part that women play in making a happy and memorable Christmas and entertained the group with a poem, "Winter Comes To Still Meadows" and a reading, titled, "Legend of the Christmas Candle."

Next meeting of the group will be on September 11 at the home of Mrs. Maude Snodgrass, with the program by Mrs. Kay Lemaster.

W'wright with Experience, Size Wins 18th in Season Opener

By KENNY RICE

The Wheelwright Trojans won their 18th consecutive district game Friday night with a 20-6 win against Virgie.

The game was significant for two reasons: The winning streak was extended and it is one of only three home games on this year's lineup. Why is one of the state's best Class A teams playing before the state's best Class A teams playing before the home crowds only three times?

"The reason is simple, we couldn't get anyone from our area to play us, so I had to schedule whoever I could," Coach Don Daniels said. "Most of the teams on our schedule are in the same boat we are in, no one in their region would schedule them."

After checking the opponents' credentials, it is easy to understand why most teams in their region would not play them. South Point (Ohio) High has not lost a football game since Gerald Ford was President. Ketrion, Tenn. High has been ranked in the top 10 of AAA schools every year in this decade. Greenup County has established one of the strongest high school football programs east of Lexington and are defending state 4A champions. Belfry is a good AAA team that has a reputation of losing a home game as often as a tourist visits Buffalo, New York in January. These clubs make up a third of the Wheelwright schedule.

"I am looking for a good season. We could have a 6-5 or 5-6 record and still have a good year with the caliber of competition we have on the schedule," Daniels said.

This is not to be confused with concession on the part of Daniels and the team. They will play anybody with the idea the Trojans are going to win another one.

"I did not schedule anyone, thinking it would be an automatic loss. I feel we have the size and talent and experience to give anyone a tough football game," Daniels, who is in his 16th year of coaching Wheelwright football, says with some pride.

There is one team not on the schedule this year that disappoints Daniels. Paintsville, the team that has represented Class A's Region 4 District 2 in the playoffs the last two seasons, while Wheelwright with back-to-back 7-0 district marks stayed home, could not or would not play the Trojans this season.

"I contacted Paul Trimble (then Paintsville principal) last year and offered him four open dates to play us. They said they could not play us on any of those dates," Daniels said.

The Wheelwright attack looks impressive on offense and defense. The big reasons are very big for local high school ball, an experienced and strong line. Victor Rhea at 6-3, 267 pounds is an all-Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference pick at tackle on offense and defense. Rhea is also one of five linemen weighing over 200 pounds. Senior Gilbert Tackett, 205-pounder at guard, Greg Isaac, a 220-pound senior guard, Anthony Rhea, a sophomore tackle who tips the scales at 250, and junior Henry Isaac, who weighs 205 pounds and is starting at defensive end, are the members of the "200" club. Veteran Joe Little, an offensive end, just misses at 195, as does guard Henry Hunter, sophomore, who scales in at 195. A sixth member of the "200" club is sidelined with an injury. Tommy Hunter, 6-3, 230-pound senior, who plays end and fullback, is expected to return to action this week-end or next. A pair of juniors with varsity experience play key roles on the offensive line. Donnie Daniels, 170-pound junior, is in his second year as starting center and Victor Tackett, also a junior, a 185-pounder who plays end and, like most of the other linemen, plays most of the game because of having to play offense and defense.

The defensive front line, weighing over 200 pounds and a fast and aggressive secondary led by Strawn Berger, 5-7, 147-pound junior and a pair of seniors, Timmy Eads, 6 ft., 140 lbs., and Lanny Hall, 5-9, 165 pounds. Ronnie Samons is a good outside linebacker who joins some of the linemen that switch to the second line on defense. Samons is 6 ft., weighs 150 and has quickness.

"We have a dandy defense," Daniels sums up. "They can move well and hit solid and hard."

The offensive backfield is in contrast to the teams a few years back that featured the big, strong runner such as Dewey Jamerson and Ricky Thornsberry.

"This backfield is one of the quickest and also smallest that has been at Wheelwright. They have experience, some young boys have given us depth and we have good speed to break away. When Hunter is back in the lineup he can be used at the fullback position to beef up the backfield," said Daniels.

Joe Tackett a 5-11, 197-pounder, is a senior who has been a starter since grade school. The strong-arm Tackett is one of the area's best quarterbacks. "This year, if the opposition stacks the line at us, rather than slam against them we are going with the pass. Joe is throwing really well." Another veteran is Lanny Hall at fullback. He was the second leading scorer (behind Darren Little) last season. Sophomore Alan Tackett, 5-11, 140-pounds, and Tony Hall a 6 ft., 165-pound junior, are the halfbacks in the fast Trojan ground game.

Freshman Eddie Johnson has been impressive in pre-season drills as the backup quarterback, and Buddy Spears, Mike Triplett and Ronnie Bartley are being counted on to supply backup punch.

"We have the experience, size and depth needed to be successful this season. The schedule is tough but we will play with anybody. No one better take us lightly. I put my team out there to beat them," Daniels commented.

It has been that philosophy that has given Wheelwright proud football tradition. Shorty Jamerson and Daniels have been instrumental in establishing the teams that have been perennial Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference and Class A powers. No one will be taking the Trojans lightly this season.

The Wheelwright Schedule:
Aug. 26, Fleming-Neon, away (district); Sept. 2, South Point, Ohio, away; Sept. 8, Belfry, away; Sept. 16, Greenup County, away; Sept. 21, Betsy Layne, home (district); Sept. 23, Ketrion, Tenn. away; Sept. 29, Elkhorn City, away (district); Oct. 20, Jenkins, home (district); Oct. 26, Cumberland, away. All home games start at 8 p.m.

GOSPEL SING SATURDAY AT FITZPATRICK BAPTIST
A gospel sing will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Fitzpatrick Baptist Mission with six special groups taking part. Rev. John Henry Woods, pastor, invites all to attend.

Lancer Man Lands Big Paddlefish

Curtis Bartley, of Lancer, is pictured with the 60-inch paddlefish he caught while trotlining at Cumberland Lake, June 22. The paddlefish, also called spoonbill cat, was one of several which Bartley caught on the trip and weighed a whopping 65 pounds. The paddlefish, is a primitive and relatively rare species and like its distant saltwater cousin, the shark, has no bones. Bartley, who caught three paddlefish at Cumberland last year over 60 inches, reports the flesh to be excellent table fare.

In Nat'l Tourney

Henry Butcher, Jr., 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Butcher, Sr., of Miamisburg, O., plays third base and is catcher for the Miamisburg American Legion Post 165 team which recently represented the Dayton, Ohio area in the National DABC Sophomore Tournament in Birmingham, Alabama.

The team finished fifth in the national tourney. Young Butcher is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dunnagan, of East Point, and the late Ollie and Beecher Butcher, of Williamsport.

Petry Furniture Team Wins Softball Tourney

A softball team sponsored by Petry Furniture, of Martin, won the slow-pitch softball tournament held at Archer Park last week. The tournament, staged by the Martin Jaycees, featured 14 teams from Floyd and Pike counties. Petry Furniture captured first place with wins over Garrett, Coca Cola of Pikeville, Weeks-bury and Marlow's of Pikeville in the finals.

Petry was led in hitting by Rudy Robinette who received the offensive trophy and by Larry Burke who was voted best defensive player for the tourney. Other players who contributed to the victory were Carl Hall, Tim Tucker, Garland Colegrove, Tim Bailey, Phillip Tucker, Henry Shepherd, Greg Hall, Don Hurt, Bill Lucas, George Akers and Tim Shepherd.

BUCKHORN—Crappie fair with some catfish at night over deep cover; in tailwaters, catfish fair; clear, stable at pool and 84 degrees.

DEWEY—Crappie slow early and late over submerged cover; clear to murky to muddy, stable at pool and 83 degrees.

Blackcats To Meet Frankfort In First Game of Season

By STACE MCQUEEN

The sparks will fly this Friday night when the Prestonsburg Blackcats collide with the Frankfort Panthers. This first game of the season promises to be an exciting one and it will be one of the few played on Prestonsburg's field this season.

Although the Blackcats are a young team (having lost 12 to 13 seniors) and have only three seniors on the squad, their training has been grueling and they show a lot of determination. They only recently returned from football camp, and the work has not let up. Phillip Haywood is coaching the team again this year, and the Cats are mentally and physically prepared.

Coming out of this battle victorious won't be easy for Prestonsburg as Frankfort is a tough opponent. The Panthers were 1977 Class A finalists and are rated fourth in the state (Class A). They, like the Blackcats, are a young team, having themselves lost a dozen seniors.

This is the first time these two teams have met and, since both have solid reputations of playing good, clean football, the game is definitely not to be missed. The game will begin at 8 o'clock.

"Our Gang" Prestonsburg Needs Game Experience

By KENNY RICE

"Our team is young. Some of the boys started last season, others had some playing time, but they have not been on the field together enough as a unit. They lack that important game experience. They have been playing in spurts. Sometimes they look real good, but other times they look like the 'Our Gang Comedy Hour'." It was Prestonsburg Coach Phillip Haywood discussing his team, a week before the season opener.

The key word for this season's Blackcats is consistency. This was evident in a preseason scrimmage against 4A Greenup County.

"We looked about how I expected," Haywood commented. "I was surprised by the play of the defense." They looked good, however it was only in spots early in the game. They got tired and you have a tendency to make mistakes when that happens. The defense would hold them for eight or nine plays and then Greenup would get the big play because of a breakdown on our defense."

Two important players for the defensive unit are linebackers Dewey Layne, 6 ft., 205-jr., and Dwayne Rodebaugh, 5-11, 210-jr., both returning starters. "They have good size, pursue well and hit solid. I am counting on them this season to help us out a lot on defense," Haywood anxiously noted.

The defensive line has some depth, but needs game experience. Lee Carter, 6-1, 225, jr., is a returning letterman at tackle. Other tackles with experience are Bobby Wells, 5-9, 195-jr., Bill Greer, 5-11, 195-jr., and then a pair of sophomores Alan Frazier, 5-10, 190, and Terry Click, 6-1, 215 are being counted on to see action.

Keith Colvin, 6-2, 185-jr., returns at defensive end. Monty Branham, 6-2, 190-sr., and Harry Adams, 6, 185-jr., are returning lettermen. Two sophomores—Lornie May, 5-10, 175, and Mark McKenzie, 5-10, 185—will all see action at the end position.

John Holland, 5-8, 165-sr., and Desi Whitt, 5-9, 185-jr., will alternate at nose guard.

The defensive secondary has Jack Goodman, 5-7, 155-jr., Ralph Gilliam, 5-9, 160-soph., Greg Slone, 5-9, 160-soph., Richard Burchett, 5-11, 170-jr., and Greg Dillion, 5-10, 170-sr., at cornerback. Jack Wells, 6 ft., 175-soph., Danny Daniels, 5-10, 180-jr., and Tom Hastings, 6 ft., 175-jr., will play the strong safety position. Greg Haywood, 6 ft., 165-soph., will have support at the free safety spot from Andrew McClanahan, 5-9, 160-jr., and Dennis Daniels, 5-11, 155-jr. Randy Chaffin, who led the team with seven interceptions last year, doesn't return.

"We can't give up the big play. What the defense lacks in experience and size, it must make up for it with aggressive play. We have to have 11 people out there making contact. That is what defense is all about," Haywood pointed out.

The offensive line is "big and young," according to Haywood.

Layne plays tackle on offense as well as defense. He has also been working at guard. Carter is the other tackle. Greer and Adams are the guards and Wells is the center. All five saw a lot of action on the varsity last season and started some games, all five are juniors who just need playing experience as a unit. Four sophomores are listed as backup linemen. They are May at guard, Click and Frazier at the tackles and Sam Huffman at center. Freshmen Joe Frazier, 5-10, 165, guard, and Ray Marcum, 5-10, 185, cneter, are expected to get some varsity playing time. Prestonsburg loses no one from the offensive line this year and the Cats are expected to stronger at that position with time.

The backfield lost quarterback Alvin Hall and running backs Mark Chaffin and Kerry Slone through graduation. That fine trio is replaced by Danny Daniels moving into the quarterback spot, Rodebaugh appears to be the starting fullback with Whitt and Holland seeing action at that spot. Goodman, Hastings and Dillon are the halfbacks that will play a lot. There are a number of others working in the backfield. Haywood is being used as a quarterback, split end and half back in preseason drills. Jack Wells is working out at three positions also, quarterback, halfback and tight end. Gilliam, Slone and McClanahan are young and will be used as backups.

"The offense looks decent at times and then they make a lot of mistakes. The backfield has the ability to run, there is pretty good size in the backfield. Again, they are young and need playing time and working together experience. Our wishbone offense is an explosive type of attack and yet it involves finesse because it is also a ball control offense. To work the wishbone effectively, the backfield has to work together," Haywood said.

The offense also is plagued by lack of a consistent performance.

"We haven't played yet, so it remains to be seen how well our execution is. We have good size at fullback, the halfbacks have good speed inside-and outside and we throw better this season, so the ingredients are there for the wishbone".

Haywood has been impressed with the passing game in preseason and gave an indication that the Cats might put the ball in the air more this season. Branham and Colvin saw action at tight end last year and newcomers Steve Wright, 6-1, 185-soph., Richard Burchett, 5-11, 170-jr., Gerald DeRossett, 6 ft., 170-soph., and Dennis Daniels give depth and youth to the receiving corps.

A very bright spot for the Blackcats on offense is the kicking of Rodebaugh, one of the region's top kickers. He will handle the kickoff, point after and field goal chores again this year. "We hope for the touchdown every time, but if we are around the 20 and have a fourth and eight or even a fourth and five, we have the man who can kick it through the uprights," Haywood happily said. The punting game is another story. "Usually you have one guy on the team each year who can punt. This year we are a little shaky. We have a number working on it, but..." sighed the coach.

The Blackcats do not have as many older players on this squad to help the youngsters make the transition from jayvee or limited action player to varsity starter or key reserve. This could manifest in the early season where the Cats play two district games in the first three weeks of the season and then have a stretch of three consecutive road games. Haywood comments:

"We are only playing four home games right now. I naturally wish we could play every game before the home crowd. I would like to get a fifth home game. The date of our open spot is usually the Paintsville game, but this year they have a game scheduled at that time. We are trying to work that out. The early district games are tough on a young team and the district is going to be strong this season."

How does the second district of double A region four look this year?

"Anybody in the district is going to be tough for us. Pikeville (the defending champs) look strong everywhere. Their fine backfield returns. Some linemen are gone but they are replaced and they are big. The third factor is their experience. East Carter went undefeated in the district last season and should be good again. West Carter is much improved. Morgan County played us a tough game last year and they are better this season. Lawrence County always plays us a good game."

Haywood and first year assistant Tony Burchett are now in a wait and see situation to find out "how fast and how soon" the young Blackcats develop into a consistent unit on the football field.

"We could look decent or we could look like 'Our Gang'," Haywood laughed. This Friday night he will have his first indication if there is a need to replace the blackcat mascot with a dog named "Petey".

The Prestonsburg schedule:
Aug. 25 Frankfort, home; Sept. 1 West Carter, away (district); Sept. 8 Pikeville, home (district); Sept. 15 Johnson Central, away; Sept. 22 Breathitt Co., away; Sept. 29 East Carter, away (district); Oct. 6 Lawrence Co., home (district); Oct. 13 Maysville, away; Oct. 20 Morgan Co., home (district); Oct. 27 Hazard, away; Nov. 3 Open.

Suit Claims Strip Mining Rules Illegal

A suit filed by the state of Indiana in federal court in Indianapolis claims that the federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 is a violation of states' rights.

The suit, filed last Wednesday by Attorney General Theodore Sendak, says the federal mining law regulates "activities purely local in nature within Indiana."

The complaint, filed for Gov. Otis R. Bowen, Natural Resources Director Joseph Cloud and the state Department of Natural Resources, says that federal officials "have retained complete and overall enforcement powers under the act, regardless of the sufficiency of any present or future state laws."

Indiana has had a reclamation program since 1941, the suit states.

In Frankfort, Eugene Mooney, secretary of Kentucky's Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, said that he hadn't heard of the Indiana suit until he was called by a reporter and that he doubted that Kentucky would be interested in taking similar action.

"We have accepted money from the federal government on the basis that we were taking part in the federal (strip mine) program, so that would seem to commit us in a way," Mooney said.

He said he wouldn't know if the state would be interested in filing a friend of the court brief until he read the Indiana suit. "I doubt if we would want to get involved," he said.

In most cases, Mooney said, the Supreme Court has ruled that the federal government can take jurisdiction in areas in which interstate commerce is indirectly involved, such as coal.

"Obviously, it's a fairly grave matter and an interesting legal question worth raising," he said, "but in most of these cases the courts have favored federal jurisdiction."

The Indiana suit charges that the federal law has resulted in substantial initial capital expenditures by Indiana coal operators and that it will be necessary to pass those costs along to Indiana consumers.

"The process of surface coal mining, reclamation and/or the subsequent uses of reclaimed lands have no substantial, direct or indirect effects on interstate commerce," the suit says.

Claims made in filing a lawsuit give only one side of the case.

'Majestic Rendition'

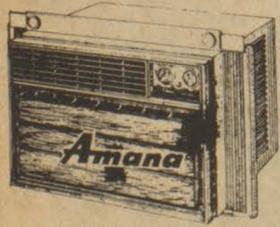

The New York Times' review of "The Book of Job" says, "The Book of Job" is an awesome and most majestic rendition. "The imagination is stirred...the eye magnetized...should not be missed."

The production is presented nightly, except Sundays, in Pine Mountain State Resort Park Amphitheatre at Pineville. Now in its twentieth season, "The Book of Job" will continue through August 31.

Notice of Blasting Schedule

Notice is hereby given that Superior Elkhorn Mining Co., Inc., P.O. Box 29, Betsy Layne, Kentucky, having been issued surface mining permit No. 6949-77 situated in the U.S.G.S. Quadrangle of Martin in Floyd County at Latitude 37 degrees, 36' 00" and Longitude 82 degrees, 46', 20" are conducting blasting activities in accordance with all state and federal laws. Blasting will be conducted on weekly basis, Monday through Saturday at 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 2:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. At least ten minutes prior to each blasting activity, all access to the area will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry, and a warning signal will be audible indicated by four long blasts with horn five minutes prior to the blast signal, which is indicated by eight short blasts with horn one minute prior to the shot. One long blast will be sounded as an all clear signal. Blasting signs are posted along access and haul roads at the edge of the blasting area. Blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced without appropriate notification, or in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, or other atmospheric conditions, or operator or public safety requires unscheduled detonation.

10 Sons, Birthday Party Guests

Pike Mine Hearing Slated

An administrative hearing was scheduled in Frankfort Monday, for a Pikeville-based coal company that has been ordered to halt mining activities at a Pike county site.

Representatives of the Mill Branch Mining Co., a subsidiary of the Shelby Fuel Corp., of Pikeville, were scheduled to meet with officials of the state's Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection to discuss several alleged violations of the state's strip mining laws.

The action followed a special departmental inspection of the site during a recent rainy period. The inspection revealed that a large landslide, endangering the lives and property of neighbors, was imminent unless the company ceased its heavy equipment operations on the site, halted blasting and immediately instituted corrective and preventive measures. Verbal orders for the company to discontinue activities were delivered from Frankfort via radio and telephone by department Secretary Eugene Mooney. The verbal order was followed by a written order, dated Aug. 14, which halted the operation.

The site is on Mill Branch, off upper Chloe Creek.

The company has been cited with a formal order to "abate and alleviate," subsequently issued by Mooney for "causing potential earth slides, maintaining inadequate silt control, overloading the bench area with spoil material and numerous other violations."

According to the order, one of the potential slides "creates an imminent danger close to the site." Also, spoil material and landslides are reportedly off the permitted area and enter a public stream. This, according to the order, causes "a significant, imminent, environmental harm to land and water resources."

The order requires the company to cease operations at the site and begin corrective measures.

The hearing will give the company representatives an opportunity to present any proof which might refute the department's charges.

All such proceedings are held before a departmental hearing officer who hears both sides of a case.

IN APPRECIATION

We, the family of Menda Mullins, would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to: Dr. Mary Hall and McDowell Hospital staff, and all the people who were so kind during her illness and upon her death.

We would also like to extend a special thanks to Rev. Ted Shannon and Drift Pentecostal Holiness Church singers, and Rev. Bob Martin, Rev. Raymond Wright, and Hall Brothers Funeral Home, Barbara's Flower shop, and all those who visited, brought food, flowers or helped in any way.

Students Working With Area Doctors

Mary Benett, a clinical associate student from the University of Kentucky, and Don Bryson, a fourth-year medical student from UK, are working in Martin under the supervision of Dr. Vasantha Sastry and Dr. Lowell Martin.

Miss Benett will be with Dr. Sastry until August 25, and Mr. Bryson will be with Dr. Martin until September 8.

The students were sent to work under the supervision of local physicians to acquaint them with the practice of medicine in a rural area, and familiarize them with the culture and social system of a rural area.

The long range goal is to have students return to the area for employment. This summer three clinical associates have been employed—one by Dr. Larry Leslie, here, one at the Mud Creek clinic, and one at Salyersville. Two physical therapists have been employed by the Methodist Hospital of Kentucky at Pikeville, and two former nursing students have jobs with a state agency that serves this area.

The students stay in the area is coordinated by the Big Sandy-FIVCO Area Health Education System, which is a program of the Council on Public Higher Education funded by the state.

More Classes, More Horses Seen For Club Horse Show Here

"More classes to attract more horses for a bigger show" is the way Janice Allen, show manager, describes the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club horse show as final plans are made for the 14th annual event to be held Saturday (August 26) at Archer Park, beginning at 3 p.m.

Four additional classes have been added to bring the number to 26, with $2,525 to be awarded in prize money, the largest amount ever offered, Mrs. Allen reported.

Classes include lead line, pleasure pony, open pleasure, flag race, road pony, walking pony, plantation pleasure walking, junior walking horse, equitation, rescue race, pacing class, barrel race, two year old walking horse, western pleasure, three gaited pony, amateur three-gaited, road horse to bike, five gaited horse, amateur walking horse, three gaited stake, walking horse stake, style racking, ladies western pleasure, men's western pleasure, western pleasure stake, and racking class.

Honorary Pallbearers were Kermit Hall, Roy Hunt, Paul Douglas Keener, Gene Morris, Howard Wagner, Herman Crisp, Douglas Hall, Paul Morris.

Enemy Laid Low

Playing in a grassy field can be among the more exciting pastimes in this area. This became apparent recently to three East Point boys, Mike Conn, Ken and David Watkins, when one reached down for a ball and narrowly escaped coming up with a 37-inch copperhead.

One of the boys wielded a nearby axe much to the snake's discomfort, and the above picture was snapped a few moments later.

MAYTOWN NEWS

Mrs. Judy Halbert, Warren and Aaron Nicholas, Mrs. Sherry Shepherd and Mrs. Joyce Salisbury and April were shopping in Huntington last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Webb and sons have returned from a vacation spent in Canada, the New England states, New York and Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Miles Frasure, Sidney, Ohio, Rhonda Webb and Tommy Moore attended the funeral of Kendal Hayes, Tuesday.

Rhonda Webb, Paula Webb, Wanda Salisbury and Bill Slone attended a going-away party for Daniel Jaidellier, Joe Aurelia, Agnes Benhaim and Alain Benhaim, all of Nice, France, given at the Steak House by Lorraine Beach, Saturday evening. Music and refreshments were enjoyed. Daniel Jaidellier and Joe Aurelia also visited Mr. and Mrs. Rob Lewis, Tommy Moore and Rhonda Webb. The young people from France and their parents were touring the United States on their way to Canada when they had car trouble which kept them in the Maytown area for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashland Salisbury, Tony and April recently spent a night in Columbus, Ohio visiting his sister, Mrs. Allen Taylor, and Mr. Taylor, then a night in North Judson, Ind. with another sister, Mrs. Wes Ison, and Mr. Ison. They also visited Mammoth Cave before returning home.

David Webb, Maria and Trudi, of Lexington, were guests of his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Webb, Monday night. Davie, who had been here visiting, returned home with his father, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Halbert and Warren attended a ball game at Riverfront Stadium, visited the Cincinnati Zoo and spent a few days camping recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salisbury, and son and Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Dudley spent the week-end in St. Paris, Ohio visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dudley and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hicks.

Mrs. Edgar May, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ray Flanery, Ann and John have returned from Meridian, Miss., where they attended a coast-to-coast reunion of relatives. Reunion of the immediate family was held at Gulfport, Miss.. While in the South, Mrs. May also attended a reunion of four college classmates, some of whom had not met in more than 50 years. Eric May also attended the family reunion, then returned home to Kansas City, Kansas.

Friends here were grieved to learn of the death of Arville Caudill, of Martin, formerly of Maytown.

HERE THIS WEEK

WINE SURGE LED TO CONTROLS

Paris—France's production of quality wines jumped from 132 million gallons to 370 million between 1930 and 1934. The sharp rise spurred legislation in 1935 that set up a system of "controlled origin" that guarantees the authenticity of wines made in a designated area.

Hostage Taken In Jail Break

Two prisoners escaped from the Johnson county jail in Paintsville Friday night, taking another prisoner hostage, police said, but one escapee and the hostage were back in custody within a few hours.

It was at first reported that all three men were escapees.

City police dispatcher Rich Hughes identified the escapees as Terry Jude, of Martin county, and David Maynard. The dispatcher said he did not know Maynard's address.

The third prisoner, Ken Colvin, was in the jail on a public drunkenness charge and was taken hostage by the other men, who fled in a pickup truck, Hughes said.

Details of the escape were sketchy, but two of the prisoners apparently took a .38-caliber revolver from an assistant jailer during the escape. The dispatcher said he was uncertain of the charges against those two men.

Maynard and Colvin were back in custody late Friday night.

ABOUT $485 million is wasted annually on worthless arthritis "cures" and remedies.

LITTLE MORE THAN $35 million a year is spent on arthritis research. This means that for every dollar spent by legitimate organizations, more than $15 is being spent on useless devices and phony products.

THERE STILL is no cure for arthritis, but prompt and proper medical care can help relieve pain and prevent crippling.

Bentley Reunion

A reunion was held at the Highbanks Metropolitan Park, in Columbus, Ohio, August 6, for the families of John M. Bentley, Charlie Bentley, and Frances Bentley Tackett.

A picnic lunch was served and many games played.

Those present were John M. Bentley, Myredia and David Armstrong, Ronald, Jackie and Teri Beth Armstrong, Roger, Maggie, Teresa and Lisa England, Shirley, Steve and Mike Mitchell John, Jenny, Sammy and Mandy McCrary, Donald, Magdalene and Donna Lynn Little, Denzil and Ruth Tackett, Ivan and Bessie Jean Sharp, Linda, Todd and Becky Turner, Vernace, Bobby, Steve, Stanley, Donna and Missy Bentley, Elder Sam Bentley, Joe, Buna, and Patty Bentley, Lewis and Eugyle Martin, Tommy Gayle Bentley, Ronnie, Beth, Elizabeth and Kristy Bentley, Lavoid, Jody and Chris Bentley, Ricky and Lori Martin, Vickie and Randy and Joey Caudill, Timmy and Birdie Martin, Gary, Janice, Jessica and Cindy Salyers.

LOVED BY MANY, HATED BY MANY—Liked by few. When it comes to Paw Paws it seems that there are few people who merely like the wild fruit. You either love 'em or hate 'em. "Hard core" connoisseurs anxiously await the late summer and early fall season when the fruit ripens and find the "mountain banana" particularly satisfying after it has turned almost black and become quite soft. Those who would downgrade the fruit say it is too rich and complain of the consistency. Whatever the culinary pros and cons, the Paw Paw is a handsome little tree and the fruits' aroma is particularly pleasing when ripe. The Paw Paws pictured above are property of Bill Pettrey, of Prestonsburg.

A family reunion of the family of Greely Hackworth, of Bonanza, was held at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Hackworth, in Dola, Ohio. Hackworth was 94 years old.

Committee Opens Guidelines For Pupil Testing Program

The Advisory Committee for Educational Improvement last week approved guidelines for local districts to implement the new Educational Improvement Act.

The guidelines will now be considered by the State Board for Elementary and Secondary Education at its quarterly meeting, September 5-6. When the guidelines are approved by the board, they will be sent to local school districts to aid education officials in developing their educational improvement plan.

House Bill 579 calls for a statewide competency testing program and remedial training for those students with educational weaknesses. The Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills, already used to test students in 151 counties, will be used to determine student competencies.

Once the screening tests have been administered, diagnostic tests will then be given to students identified as being weak in any of the six basic skill areas. The basic skill areas are defined in the legislation as reading, writing, spelling, language arts, mathematics and learning skills.

Each district will use test results from prior years and information gathered during public hearings at each school to determine the strengths and weaknesses of the local school program and develop a local improvement plan to address the educational weaknesses.

State education officials said that local districts will be asked to list their weaknesses in the order of priority. Depending on the resources available, districts would not necessarily address all areas of weakness in the educational improvement plan, according to Randy Kimbrough, head of the Bureau of Instruction.

Dr. Donald Van Fleet, head of the Office of Research and Planning, said that reading would probably be a priority subject in many districts since there is a high correlation between reading weaknesses and weaknesses in all other subject areas.

"If a child scores low on a reading test, he will probably score low on other tests," Van Fleet said.

The advisory committee, made up of 18 citizens, parents, teachers and administrators, was appointed by Gov. Julian Carroll in June to advise the Department of Education on implementation of the Educational Improvement Act.

HAROLD NEWS

REUNITED AFTER 32 YEARS

Mrs. Cindy Stumbo and Rex, Brenda, Michelle and Katie Orgill, all of Pocatello, Idaho, were recent guests of Mrs. Stella Stumbo, of Harold.

Cindy was reunited with many old friends and relatives after 32 years. This was the first time the Orgill family has ever met most of their relatives from Kentucky.

Her husband, the late Walker L. Stumbo, died in 1964. His sister, Nancie Martin, died in 1975 and their brother, John W. Stumbo, died in 1977. They were united for their last time in 1944.

By JOHN WILSON

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources seldom gets a new commissioner—only four men, including the current one, have held the department's top administrative post since this agency was organized in its present form in 1945.

Thus, many sportsmen are naturally curious about the person their representatives—the nine men on the Fish and Wildlife Commission—selected to head the department.

Carl E. Kays, who assumed the duties of commissioner Aug. 1, brings a rural background, sound academic qualifications and 21 years of professional wildlife work to the job.

Kays grew up on a Missouri farm where his parents still live and where he first began hunting, fishing and running a trapline for some "pocket money." After graduating from high school, he earned a BS degree in wildlife biology from Central Missouri State University and a masters from Louisiana State University.

He served a tour of active duty in the U.S. Coast Guard (1951-1954) and continued in the active coast guard reserves until 1971, achieving the rank of commander and becoming the commanding officer of the Louisville reserve training unit of the guard.

Kays came to work for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources in 1957. Among his first duties as a game biologist was conducting exotic game bird experiments. In 1965, he was appointed Kentucky's first chief wildlife surveys biologist and is responsible for many of the survey techniques currently used to keep track of wildlife population trends, habitat and the many other factors which must be taken into account before each year's hunting seasons and limits are set.

During his 18 years as a wildlife biologist, Kays lived in Madisonville. He moved to Frankfort in 1975 when he was named assistant commissioner of the fish and wildlife department, a post he held until Aug. 1, when, as the unanimous choice of the Fish and Wildlife Commission, he took over from the retiring Arnold L. Mitchell.

Kays says that the sportsmen should not expect any major or sudden changes in the operation of the department. "I don't believe in change just for its own sake," he says, "but I do think we need to evaluate all the department's programs from time to time and make beneficial changes."

Kays sees poaching as one of the most serious problems the department has to face. "If there is one area I'd really like to see us concentrate on," he says, "it's finding more effective ways to control illegal poaching, particularly of deer. Right now, we suspect that the illegal harvest of deer at least equals our legal harvest each year—and that's a lot of deer that sportsmen never get a chance at."

Kays also says that his administration will never lose sight of the important role the sportsmen of Kentucky play in wildlife conservation. "Our hunters and fishermen," he says "are responsible for the formation of the department of fish and wildlife and for its continued existence. Their license fees provide the bulk of our financing, and we should not forget that we exist to serve them."

23 Kentucky Stores Lose Rights to Food Stamps

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service reports that 23 Kentucky grocery stores were removed from the food stamp program during the first six months of 1978 because of violations.

Edward W. Davidson, Southeast regional director of the food stamp program, said most of the violations resulted from stores selling ineligible items for food stamps and discounting food coupons for cash.

Since there are more than 8,000 grocery stores in Kentucky authorized to accept food stamps, Davidson said it is obvious that the vast majority of Kentucky food retailers voluntarily comply with food stamp laws.

Currently, there are approximately 33,000 persons in Kentucky on the food stamp program. Each month they are issued more than $14 million in food coupons. Of this amount, over $9 million is in bonus stamps.

Dinner Honors Mrs. Ratliff

Ronald J. Wright, income maintenance supervisor here for the Department for Human Resources, presents on behalf of her co-worker Mrs. Ratliff a silver tray.

An appreciation dinner was held at the May Lodge dining room for Mrs. Ruth Wright Ratliff, honoring her 30 years and 4 months of service with the Department for Human Resources.

Mrs. Ratliff began her service with the agency on April 1, 1948, working as a field worker in the Prestonsburg office. She continued in this position until 1965 when she was promoted to case supervisor with the Work Experience and Training Program, serving in this capacity until the program phased out in late 1968. She then served as social worker with the Public Assistance Unit until she was promoted to senior eligibility worker on June 16, 1975, and continued in this supervisory position until her retirement, July 31, this year.

Miss Sara Lee Honn, district program manager for Big Sandy ADD, commented: "This is such a bittersweet occasion to lose such a fine co-worker and friend." She presented Mrs. Ratliff a letter from Mrs. Gail Huecker, commissioner of the Bureau for Social Insurance, complimenting Mrs. Ratliff on such an outstanding career with the agency. An engraved silver bowl was presented to Mrs. Ratliff by Miss Honn in behalf of her fellow supervisory staff members of District 11.

Ronald J. Wright, income maintenance supervisor of the Prestonsburg office, expressed his appreciation for Mrs. Ratliff's devotion to the agency and fellow-workers. He reminisced with the group on some of Mrs. Ratliff's experiences during her career, especially the humorous ones. She was presented an engraved silver tray by Mr. Wright from her co-workers in the Prestonsburg Bureau for Social Insurance. Mrs. Ratliff was presented many other gifts from friends, relatives and co-workers who attended the dinner to honor her.

Out-of-town guests included: Miss Sara L. Honn, Jackson; Mrs. Ernestine Dingus, Mrs. Mary Ruth Henderson, Mrs. Billie M. Mason, Mrs. Linda Clark, and Mrs. Louise Penix, all employees in the Paintsville Bureau for Social Insurance office; Mrs. Nell L. Howell, Pikeville, Mrs. Venelia Rinehart, Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Trilby A. May, of Maytown, all retired co-workers of Mrs. Ratliff.

THE FIRST USE of federal government contracts to restrict the employment of child labor took place in 1918, according to the U.S. Department of Labor booklet, "Labor Firsts in America."

Christian Schools' Status Argued

The state's right to approve private Christian schools was debated Monday, last week, as closing arguments were presented in a case pitting the state Department of Education and State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education against the Kentucky Association of Christian Schools and pastors and parents of children attending those schools.

Former Gov. Bert T. Combs, counsel for the state, said that church-related schools in Kentucky serve two functions: that of providing secular education and religious instruction.

He said that the state wants only to regulate the secular education the children are receiving, without interfering with the schools' religious instruction. "The state has a compelling interest in seeing that Kentucky children have the opportunity to obtain a proper education," Combs said.

William Ball, Harrisburg, Pa. attorney representing the Christian schools, had earlier contended that the state presented no evidence that the minimum standards private and public schools are required to meet represented a "compelling state interest."

Ball later denied that the private church-related schools have a secular function. "They are only religious and totally religious," he said.

Combs said the court would "have to go further than any court has ever gone to say that Kentucky cannot impose minimum standards on these schools."

The controversy began in May 1977 when the state board of education refused to accredit 20 Christian schools for failing to meet minimum standards in such areas as textbooks, facilities and certification of teachers.

Compulsory attendance laws exempt children from attending public schools if they are "enrolled and in regular attendance in a private or parochial regular day school approved by the state board of education."

The lawsuit filed last September by representatives of the Christian schools charged that the law is unconstitutionally vague and does not authorize the board to accredit or approve such schools.

During three days of testimony in June, Combs had contended that "the state has not only the right but the obligation to set minimum standards for the education of children in Kentucky."

Combs said that Ball, who argued that the First Amendment's freedom of religion clause gives Christian schools the right to operate without state interference, had not shown where any regulation has infringed upon the free exercise of religion.

Evidence presented by the state in June included testimony by the heads of two Christian schools and a representative of the Seventh Day Adventist Schools who said that meeting minimum state standards had not encroached upon their free religious exercise.

Although 20 Christian schools were not accredited in May 1977, 310 private and parochial schools do have state accreditation, state education officials have said.

Parents of children not in compliance with compulsory attendance laws can be prosecuted for truancy. Six parents testifying for the Christian schools in June said they would face fines and jail to keep their children in church-related schools.

In November 1977 Judge Henry Meigs of Franklin Circuit Court issued a temporary injunction to stop truancy proceedings until the case was heard.

No decision in the case was handed down after last week's closing arguments and no indication was given as to when a decision would be ready. The injunction will remain in effect until the decision is made, Meigs said.

Atty. General To Help In Search for Tires

Attorney General Robert Stephens has asked Kentuckians who bought certain kinds of steelbelted radial tires to contact his office as part of a search for possibly defective tires.

Stephens said he has been asked by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to help gather information about purchases by Kentuckians of three types of tires manufactured by the Firestone Co.

They are the Firestone 500, the Grappler Radial 8000 sold under a Montgomery Ward label, and the Super Shell steel radials sold by the Shell Oil Co.

The federal agency made a preliminary determination last month that there were safety defects in those tires. Public hearings held last week indicated that personal injury and property damage may be caused by those defects, but Firestone officials contend they are not defective.

A final determination on safety of the tires will be made next month.

Anyone who has purchased the tires in question may contact the attorney general's Consumer Protection Division tollfree at 1-800-372-2960.

Democrats Schedule County Conventions

State Democratic Headquarters has announced that the Democratic county and legislative district conventions to ratify and select Kentucky's delegates to the national party conference has been scheduled for 2 p.m., prevailing time, Saturday, September 2. Each county convention will be held at the Court-house, and each legislative district convention will be held at the voting place of the legislative district chairman.

All registered Democrats are welcome to take part in the selection of delegates to the national party conference, to be held in Memphis in December. To be eligible to vote in a county convention, Democrats must be registered to vote in that particular county. The same holds true for the legislative district conventions.

LENNOX IS MAKING A LOT OF OTHER HEAT PUMPS OBSOLETE.

HP10 Energy Saver Heat Pump

EFFICIENCY — The HP10 is our most efficient heat pump yet! In cold weather it takes solar heat from outdoor air to deliver up to 3¢ of heat for every 1¢ of energy used. In warm weather the HP10 air conditions your home with Energy Efficiency Ratios* over 8.0, far better than past heat pump industry performance.

DEPENDABILITY — The HP10 is built with our most dependable components. You not only get economical heating and cooling, but the durability and long life Lennox equipment is known for. The HP10's indoor partner, the CBP10, is a specially matched coil/blower unit that ensures maximum performance and efficiency.

SERVICE — As an independent Lennox dealer, we provide fast, effective service. We're experts — you can count on us to install and service your equipment right. Call or visit us, the energy savers at:

OUTDOOR LORE

by Neryle Shackelford
UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Associated with my bucolic boyhood high upon the North Fork River is the haunting, primordial, basso ostinato of that old "deacon of the mire," the bullfrog. Even now in my mind's ear, I can hear the deep-throated refrain, "Jug o' rum, Jug o' rum. Uk! Uk! Caronk!" of this old croacker whose song is one of my more pleasant recollections of yesterday.

The bullfrog is quite a critter and as Wm. H. Hudson, the writing naturalist, once wrote, its nocturnal song is one of the most impressive sounds in nature. Unfortunately over much of the land, the draining of marshes and the pollution of streams has heavily decreased its population. In places where it does exist, the roar of planes and automobiles drowns out its voice. Only occasionally over much of the countryside does one hear its timeless voice lending enchantment to the summer night.

Zoologists say the bullfrog often lives to be 16 years old and dines on about anything it can catch and swallow. This includes minnows, snakes, mice, ducklings and baby turtles. It is also very fond of dragonflies that prey on its progeny in the tadpole stage.

Many people love fried bullfrog legs and pay a steep price for a mess. Their flesh is all but snow white and is said to taste somewhat like chicken. But for a couple of reasons, I never ate bullfrog legs. One reason was that I was so fond of listening to a bullfrog sing and observing its ways, I didn't have the heart to kill and eat it. Secondly, when a bullfrog's legs are dropped into a hot skillet of shortening, they will bounce, flounce and kick around like something being tortured. This turned off my appetite for frog legs. I have no scruples, however, against others eating them if the frogs are taken legitimately and according to wildlife conservation laws and practices.

One peculiar characteristic of the bullfrog is that sometimes when caught, it will give a cry of terror that is almost human in sound.

Another strange thing about the bullfrog is that he has no ribs and his breathing is not accomplished by expansion and contraction of the chest. He breathes by swallowing air that is then conveyed to the lungs. When he plunks into the water at the approach of an enemy, or imagined enemy, he stops breathing. Blood circulating in his skin absorbs enough oxygen to keep him from suffocating for an extended period of time.

Yes, Old Rana, the bullfrog, is some critter. He has been around since the Miocene epoch of some 30 million years ago. Naturalists say he is our only frog to exceed four inches in size.

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

A woman explains: "I had a mastectomy a year ago and need information about breast reconstruction. What can you tell me?"
ANSWERline: The surgeon who performed your mastectomy is the first person with whom you should speak to find out if reconstructive surgery is appropriate for you. If so, your surgeon may be able to refer you to a plastic surgeon experienced in breast reconstruction. In general, plastic surgeons will do reconstruction about 18 months after the original mastectomy. For some women, (for example, those who have had skin changes because of radiation therapy given in addition to mastectomy) plastic surgery is a more involved procedure. A frank, detailed discussion with a plastic surgeon will be most helpful to you. You must understand that a reconstructed breast will never be exactly like your remaining breast.

people because of melanin. This pigment substance filters out the damaging ultraviolet rays of the sun and is present in greatest quantity in people with dark-to-black skin. Fair-skinned people, notably redheads and blonds, are most susceptible to sun-caused skin cancer because they lack sufficient quantities of melanin.

An insurance salesman explains: "I am in my 50's and lately I have had urinary difficulties. I am worried that I may have cancer - and this worry is keeping me from seeing a doctor."
ANSWERline: Urinary problems are something to be checked by your physician without delay. There are many benign conditions, infection, for example, that are responsible for urinary problems in your age group. However, the incidence of prostatic cancer does increase after the age of 50. You are right to be concerned about your condition. The real worry is the fact that you are delaying seeing a doctor. Chances are that you do not have cancer, but if you do, such a delay can be very dangerous. Cancer is a disease that is most successfully treated when detected in its earliest stages.

A high school student asks: "Why don't black people get skin cancer as often as white people?"
ANSWERline: The most common form of skin cancer, caused by overexposure to the sun, is rare among black

Morehead State Teachers College

Many years ago, we were Morehead State Teachers College. We were well known as a good place to go to school — if you wanted to be a teacher.

Times have changed. Today we're Morehead State University and we still are preparing outstanding teachers but we also offer nearly 150 different fields of study for all types of careers.

The areas shown here are just the tip of the iceberg. If you'd like to know more about the programs available at Morehead State, write to Director of Admissions, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351.

You still have time to be admitted to MSU for the fall semester. We invite you to contact our Director of Admissions through our new toll-free number, 1-800-262-7474.

Now Transportation Dep. Has Endangered Non-Human Species

The Cumberland bean pearly mussel is a rare animal—so rare, in fact, that experts were not sure until now whether specimens found last month in Kentucky were the real thing.

Confirmation of the discovery in the proposed path of KY 461, between Somerset and Mt. Vernon, is apparently the state Department of Transportation's first endangered species find.

Transportation officials emphasized there is no comparison between their findings and the discovery of the snail darter which has halted the Tellico Dam project on the Little Tennessee River. The snail darter's only known habitat is near the dam.

"We anticipate no impact on the habitat of the Cumberland bean pearly mussel which has other known habitats," said Floyd Hughes, director of the division of environmental analysis for transportation.

Under the federal Rare and Endangered Species Act, any of about 220 plants and animals found by agencies like Transportation must be reported to the U.S. Department of Interior, Fish and Wildlife Resources Division. Along with the report comes what Hughes termed "a consultation process" with federal agencies.

The consultation and associated red tape are set up to protect endangered and threatened critters like the Cumberland bean pearly mussel from disturbance which could disrupt their breeding and multiplying, according to Hughes.

Buck Creek, a tributary of the Cumberland River northeast of Somerset, is where it all started last month. A staff of biologists from the transportation department was taking samples of various plant and animal life near the site where the department has designed reconstruction of KY 461 across the creek.

"We were aware of the possibility of this creature existing there," Hughes said. He pointed out a listing from a Fish and Wildlife Resources Publication which shows the Cumberland and Rockcastle rivers as the only places in the world where Cumberland bean pearly mussels are known to exist.

"The specimens collected July 17 were not live samples," Hughes said. Instead, he explained, "shells from the clam-like water creature were identified. This, however, indicates the virtual certainty of live pearly mussels (VILLOSA TRABILIS) in Buck Creek."

The shells were positively identified by Eastern Kentucky University Professor Donald Batch last month. This early identification was later confirmed by Dr. D. H. Stansbery of Ohio State University museum of zoology. Stansbery is the recognized authority on North American mussels, Hughes said.

Hughes said the next step will be consultation with the Department of Interior, required under Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act. He said his division and the Federal Highway Administration will offer to decide what design changes for KY 461 will be necessary to protect rare mussel.
