Woman Accused In Man's Death; One Bill Voided

One of the 29 indictments reported by the grand jury at its adjournment last Thursday afternoon listed a woman and a man on murder charges.

Named in a murder indictment was Kathy Phillips, of Wheelwright, in the fatal shooting of her husband, Eugene Phillips.

Robert Hall, of Garrett, was erroneously listed in an indictment charging him with the knife-slating Nov. 29 of his brother, Paul Edward. Hall has been jailed here after his dismissal from Highlands Medical Center, but it is doubtful if he will be indicted later.

Three were charged with jail escape, a Class D felony. They are Dwayne Williams, Alvin Brice Branham and Jeff Mullins.

Bruce F. Wright was named in a reckless homicide indictment, accused of driving a vehicle in such a manner as to cause the collision in which Ivan Green was killed at Auxier recently.

Other indictments reported:

Dora F. Reed, theft by deception; Sherman Moore, third offense possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale; Reao Hamilton, first degree wanton endangerment, charged with firing a shotgun charge in the direction of Teresa

Health Board To Seek Early Work at School

The lid blew off again on the Prestonsburg High School asbestos situation last week after the Floyd County Board of Education had voted to postpone removal of the asbestos insulation from the school until after the end of the term next May instead of next month.

The action was taken in a four-hour meeting of the board after it had received petitions from 29 of the school's 37 faculty members and approximately 500 of the 785 students, requesting the delay, Supt. E.P. Grigsby, Jr. said.

The motion to delay the work was made by Dr. James D. Adams, and it was seconded by the other doctor-member of the board, Dr. Mary L. Hall. The vote was unanimous.

The reaction was strong. "I am still in a state of shock...I can't believe it," said Mrs. Ruby Catherine Clifton, head of PBS (People for Better Schools), the organization which made the initial protests relating to conditions at the school and advanced the claims that the presence of asbestos in ceilings at the school constitutes a health hazard.

Following a meeting Monday evening of the Floyd County Board of Health, its chairman, Dr. Ernest C. Holbrook, announced that the board's unanimous decision was to take "every step possible to see that the asbestos is removed as soon as it can be—not next spring."

He added that he has contacted "pulmonary people" at the State Board of Health and that they have held that "a significant hazard does exist" at the school.

Dam Leak Spurs Mass Evacuation

The largest evacuation of people ever undertaken in Kentucky took place last Saturday when upwards of 10,000 residents of the Paint Creek valley in Johnson county and the towns of Paintsville, Staffordsville, Thealka and Thelma were ordered from their homes before the threat of a break in a dam.

The evacuation order came after the Army Corps of Engineers reported that several cracks in an earthen coffer dam at the site of construction of the Paint Creek dam had been discovered and that water seeping through it could breach the temporary structure.

It was unofficially reported that a break in the dam could send roaring into Paintsville a 10 to 12-foot wall of water. The evacuation was orderly. Most of those warned of the danger left their homes, but some stayed. Those who stayed home live on higher ground. State police stopped traffic into Paintsville, and police and sheriff's deputies patrolled the town, guarding against possible looting. There was none.

Red Cross shelters were established in the W.R. Castle Elementary School at Wittensville and the Porter Elementary School in Johnson county, and in both Prestonsburg High and Elementary schools and the Kentucky National Guard Armory, near here. Fifty-six of the evacuees spent Saturday afternoon and night at the high school here, and some came to the homes of relatives and friends here and elsewhere in the county. Most stayed in the Johnson county schools. Among those evacuated were Paintsville Hospital patients, who were taken to the Highlands Medical Center.

A cold front changed the steady 48-hour rain to snow Saturday morning and averted the feared dam disaster. Water behind the 84-foot coffer dam—a temporary barrier built to contain Paint Creek while work on the main dam was under way—rose to within about 14 feet of its top but crested around noon Saturday.

By Sunday afternoon deserted homes were occupied again.

Floodwaters from the Big Sandy reached low-lying sections of Paintsville, but no homes or business houses were flooded.

In Salyersville, however, water from the Licking River rose to a depth of 6-8 feet in the downtown business district, and 500 residents were evacuated to Salyersville High School. The situation there was serious.

Meanwhile, "low country" areas were hard hit. Frankfort had its worst flood of the century.

In Eastern Kentucky, Inez was isolated by water Saturday, and Warfield and other parts of the county were hard hit. Residents of Meta and Freeburn in the headwaters of Johns Creek, Pike County, were evacuated to the Johns Creek High School. The upper Big Sandy, however, escaped major rainfall.

This Town...That World

That sound you heard may have been a mass sigh of relief when danger of the dam break in Johnson county passed. After all, that crisis may have served a good purpose. People were drawn closer together as they shared a common problem and the Johnson-Floyd county line was pretty well erased. Have an idea that if you can't sympathize with people in that sort of trouble, trouble will find you.

Public Information at Frankfort has a writer whose name in the by-line should get a second glance from editors. It's Rip Rhorer.

CHANGE FOR THE WORSE

I recall the late evening, a summer or so back, when a friend, home from another state for a visit, stopped by to tell me of the wonderful feeling it was to be able to walk Prestonsburg streets at dusk, as she had, without fear of molestation. She spoke of the relief from the city, the locked doors, the watchdogs, the fear that often kept her inside.

Water Shortage, Not Flood, Hits Hundreds

It wasn't flood water but the lack of drinking water that created the worst situation in Floyd county during a week-end of heavy rain and swollen streams.

Almost the entire length of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District system was out of commission after two breaks in its water mains.

A creek crossing at Estill washed out, and a break in the main at Martin left hundreds without water in their homes and businesses.

In Prestonsburg Sunday afternoon after an inspection tour of the Paintsville Dam situation with Congressman Carl D. Perkins, Governor Carroll mobilized the Kentucky National Guard unit here, and the Guard brought to Martin, Wayland and Maytown 5,400 gallons of drinking water in half-gallon cartons from Ashland.

Meanwhile, Army Corps of Engineers personnel at Dewey Dam had stationed a 250-gallon tanker at Allen and another of 1000 gallons at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, and water to these was supplied from the Prestonsburg water system.

Efforts to contact officials of the water system failed Tuesday morning, but it was reported that water service had not at that time been permanently restored.

Sandy Valley Water system customers in the southern end of the county also were without water from Friday till 7 p.m. Sunday.

The water shortage also affected heating at Our Lady of the Way Hospital which uses steam heat.

Otherwise, Floyd county escaped major flood damage. Low-lying sections of Martin and Garrett perhaps were hardest hit. At one time Saturday night

First Patients Arrive at Riverview Manor

The $2 million Riverview Manor nursing home near Briarwood Addition here went into operation Monday morning and the first two patients to be admitted were Mrs. Mayme Patrick (at left), mother of Riverview administrator Eleanor Robinson, who stands behind Mrs. Patrick, and Mrs. Rebecca Dingus, mother of Tom G. Dingus (behind Mrs. Dingus), one of the owners of the facility, and William Dingus (center).

The 43,000-sq. ft. facility, one of the finest and most modern of its kind in the state, has a 116-bed capacity offering 56 skilled and 60 intermediate care beds. The two-story structure also features a complete physical therapy room, various recreation and lounge areas including a huge central multi-purpose room complete with large stone fireplace and dining area, a combination barber-beauty shop, chapel, ultra-modern kitchen area and offices.

Grand Jury Asks Suit To Fix Lewis' Rights

The grand jury in its fourth and final session of the year directed in its final report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley last Thursday that Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen file a declaratory judgment action "to resolve, once and for all," the issue of Ex-Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis' authority as a marshal of the city of Wheelwright to make arrests in the county outside Wheelwright.

The jury directive was made after it had asked Public Defender Gary Johnson to appear and explain why an appeal which he had said he proposed to file in the case of Roger Sparkman, who had been arrested by Lewis in the Drift vicinity on charges of possession of alcoholic beverages and marijuana, had not been filed.

Johnson later said he explained the case to the grand jury, pointing out that he did not file an appeal because the charges against Sparkman were dismissed in district court at the request of the prosecuting witness. He said the dismissal followed a five-hour hearing before District Judge Harold Stumbo, who held that the former sheriff has authority to make arrests elsewhere in the county. An attorney general's opinion also has held that he has the right to make arrests outside Wheelwright.

Johnson said he has maintained, however, that, regardless of title, the ex-sheriff has been performing the functions of a deputy sheriff in making arrests at various places in the county, and that the state constitution prohibits him as ex-sheriff to do so.

Commonwealth's Attorney Allen said Monday that he will file the suit for declaratory judgment, as directed, but that he will ask the attorney general to assist in the case.

3 Women Victimized By Pursesnatchers; Mrs. Latta Injured

Police here are interested in learning the identity of a person involved in three separate incidents of purse-snatching here recently.

Mrs. Lucy Regan lost her purse while walking on Second Avenue, Saturday, only seeing the back of the rapidly departing thief. Another woman's purse was taken last week while she was walking in front of Cato's, on Court street. In both cases, the thief was described as young, "perhaps a teenager," and blond.

Mrs. Olga M. Latta was knocked to the sidewalk Monday afternoon while walking to her Second Avenue home and her purse containing between $70 and $80 was taken. Two men reportedly were involved in the incident.

Roof of School Near-Complete, Contractor Says

Jim Washington, Huntington, W. Va. roofing contractor, told the Floyd County Board of Education last week that the roof of Prestonsburg High School is now in such condition that it will not leak, although the work here has not been completed. Except for a few small areas, the school has a new roof, Supt. E. P. Grigsby, Jr. said.

Cold weather has stopped large-scale roof repair, and for the present the contractor will do only emergency patching of the roofs of the Wayland and Bonanza schools, and next spring will do new roofing jobs at the two schools.

The board of education employed Ted Naim, of Elliott Contracting, Inc., to complete all flood-related work at the Prestonsburg gymnasium and at both the high and elementary schools of Betsy Layne.

At the same meeting the board entered into a contract with Marvin Crider, Jr., architect, to do the plans for the proposed

Church Rests on Early Graves

The Community Church of Wheelwright, pictured above in a photo made about 1929-31, is unusual in the fact that the church building sits on top of a graveyard with several graves, complete with original stone markers, underneath the church.
 Graves of famed Floyd county lawmen "Big" Ed Hall and John Hall are reportedly beneath the church as well as John W. Hall, father of John. Original grave markers in the churchyard, originally of uncut stone, have been replaced by formed concrete and identities of those buried there have been lost in transition. The original photo, which has been copied and filed in the Alice Lloyd College photographic archives, was provided by Bob Hall, of Wheelwright, and submitted by Carolyn Stumbo, Wheelwright Journalism teacher.

Community Meeting Set
 For Prater Residents

Announcement was made this week of a meeting planned for January 5 to organize concerned citizens of Upper and Lower Prater Creek for the purpose of working on needed community projects.
 One topic slated for discussion will be the need for a gymnasium for Prater Creek Elementary, but the overall purpose of the meet, according to one Prater Creek resident, will be to "bring back the unity that once was the pride of all residents of Prater Creek."
 The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Prater school and all residents of that section are urged to attend.

Funds Available To Help Needy Meet Utility Bills

By BENZ. HERSHERG (In The Courier-Journal)

About $8.6 million is available in Kentucky to aid families who cannot pay utility bills and other emergency costs this winter.

Eligibility for the funds, which come from two government programs, is based on income and other financial assets. Families can get once-yearly emergency payments from each of the state and federally bankrolled plans.

Up to 46,000 individuals could receive utility-bill aid of up to $80 from the Energy Cost Assistance Program. Another 21,000 families could receive from $75 to $345 from the Emergency Assistance Program, said Joan Riehm, executive assistant to the secretary of the Department for Human Resources.

Ms. Riehm said applicants for aid from the two programs must take the following information to the Bureau of Social Insurance office in their home counties:

- Proof of all income, such as paycheck stubs. And proof of financial assets, including checking or savings account books and other holdings, such as securities, that could easily be converted into cash.
- Proof of age, such as driver's licenses or birth certificates, or Medicaid or Social Security cards.
- Social Security numbers for each adult member of the family.
- The name and phone number of a friend or neighbor who can verify the family situation.

The purposes of the two plans differ somewhat, and eligibility requirements also vary, according to Ms. Riehm.

This $5 million state-funded program was proposed by Gov. Julian Carroll in the last General Assembly.

Households must have at least one member who is 62 or older or blind or permanently disabled. Individuals receiving Supplemental Security Income payments are automatically eligible.

The maximum payment under the program is $80. An individual with monthly income up to $197 can receive the maximum aid with the income limit rising by roughly $63 for each additional family member.

A smaller payment is available to households with somewhat higher incomes.

Ms. Riehm said 3,500 applications for the program have been received since Dec. 1, when the agency began to accept them. Applications can be processed immediately in local Bureau of Social Insurance offices over a statewide computer network, she said. Applicants should receive checks to pay current utility bills or for use as credit against future bills within a week after visiting the county BSI office.

State and federal funds totaling $3.6 million are available for this program. It is aimed at families lacking food, shelter or utilities. To qualify, households must include children younger than 21.

The income limit for eligibility is $150 a month for an individual, $183 a month for households with two people, and rises from that level by $67 to $50 for each additional family member.

Payments range from $75 to $345 according to family size.

Families can qualify for the program within a day or two of applying. Vouchers that can be used to buy necessities are given to families that do qualify. Utility companies or retailers accepting the vouchers are then reimbursed by the state.

Additional aid is available to victims of flooding, storms or other natural disasters.

1643 Students Complete ETV Nutrition Course

Jack M. Friar, county extension agent-4H, announced this week that 1643 Floyd county students, primarily in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, have successfully completed the 4-H club Mulligan Stew activity through ETV. This project is a nutrition class presented weekly for six weeks on ETV.

Fifty-five classrooms completed the Mulligan Stew, with the following elementary schools participating: Allen, Betsy Layne, Clark, Martin, McDowell, Prestonsburg and Stumbo.

More than 600,000 workers protected by federal wage and hour laws were illegally underpaid by almost $129 million during the 1978 fiscal year, the U.S. Labor Department reported.

A Horse Called Goat

If this horse gets into the Kentucky Derby, to which he has already been nominated, Floyd county will have a special interest in his fortunes.

For the two-year-old thoroughbred is owned by Cline Mitchell and sons, Rex and Tex, and Rex Mitchell's wife, Paula, of Grethel—and the horse is named Goat Burchett.

The Mitchells named their Derby hopeful for their friend, Williard "Goat" Burchett, well-known Prestonsburg man. Mr. Burchett, a World War II veteran, has long been a racing enthusiast and has been known to risk a wager himself on the "ponies."

The equine Goat Burchett is now at a training track, near Cincinnati, but will be brought, along with other thoroughbreds, to this county when the 12-stall racing stables being built by the Clines on their Mud Creek farm is completed. Link Hamilton, a trainer at Beulah Park, Columbus, O., and River Downs, Latonia, who is a brother-in-law of Cline Mitchell, will help with the stables and train the horses kept in this county.

Two other horses owned by the Mitchells are now racing. Coal Train led from wire to wire in his first race at Keeneland and is now at Oaklawn, Hot Springs, Arkansas. Another of their horses, Trisha Tyson, is racing at Latonia now.

Goat Burchett, a big gray colt, was sired by Big Spruce and was bought by the Mitchells at the Keeneland fall sales.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

Notwithstanding the time of year, for people who live on the farm or own a home with a backyard garden, there is always something to be done to keep the place in shape and the good work going on. For instance, now before heavy freezing and thawing, it is a good time to clean out the gutters. Unless this is done the drain holes in the gutters are likely to clog, freeze and seriously damage not only the drains, but also the buildings, or buildings. A cleaning out of such should be done before freezing weather sets in. Tools should be cleaned, sharpened and stored during the next two months. Anyone who has ever tried to do some farm garden work early in the spring knows how exasperating it can be for the tool he needs to be inoperative. Don't let this happen to you. Also before winter closes in, give the old compost heap a final turning over. This will hasten decomposition of the latest additions such as autumn leaves. A generous sprinkling of hydrated lime will help things along and correct any tendency to acidity.

If the homeowner expects to secure any landscape service soon, the time to do that is now. As this is generally a slow time of year for landscapers, the one you select will have more time for you now than later in the season. Moreso while your grounds are bare, the landscaper can get a better idea of the problem and how to correct it.

Something else to do as winter comes on. Save all the ashes from your wood-burning stove or fireplace for garden use in the spring. They are a fertile source of potash, an essential plant food.

Store the ashes in water-tight containers over the winter and keep them dry. This is very necessary because their strength easily leaches away. When applying them in the spring, use them thinly, especially on lawns. Ashes are said to protect Asters against the blight and if used consistently, will loosen the soil.

Something else that will help you with your gardening. Attract birds. Feeding winter birds is an interesting, useful and humane pastime. Don't start it, however, unless you intend to keep it up. Once birds come to depend upon your largess, they may starve to death if you stop feeding them.

PSC Says KU Should Unload Coal Itself

A study shows that Kentucky Utilities Co. could save money by operating its own coal unloading facility instead of solely contracting with another firm, but KU contends that the operation has saved money.

The issue, being considered by the Kentucky Public Service Commission, concerns KU unloading practices for its Ghent Plant Unit No. 2 in Carroll County.

Low-sulfur coal from eastern Kentucky is transported by rail to Cleancoal Terminal where it is transferred to Ohio River barges for transportation to the Ghent No. 2 unit, a distance of one-quarter mile.

KU contends this practice is less costly than constructing and operating a rail unloading facility on the plant site. The consultant's study says that even if KU constructs rail unloading facilities and meets its contractual agreement with Cleancoal, it would still save money.

KU officials say it would take about two-and-a-half years to construct rail unloading facilities. KU already has barge unloading facilities at the plant for coal received by river barge.

The $75,000 study by Arthur Young & Co., of Louisville, an accounting and consulting firm, determined that KU could save 48 cents per ton over a 30-year period by operating its own rail unloading operation.

During that period, the study shows, the Cleancoal arrangement would cost $1.78 per ton while the rail operation would cost $1.28 per ton. KU says its operation with Cleancoal presently costs 96 cents per ton, but the study contends that KU has not allowed for escalation in costs.

Additionally, KU pointed out that the Cleancoal arrangement is for 10 years—not 30 years.

The PSC ordered the study when the unloading operation came to light during hearings earlier this year on KU's fuel adjustment charges.

The PSC ordered KU to pay for the study.

More than 600,000 workers protected by federal wage and hour laws were illegally underpaid by almost $129 million during the 1978 fiscal year.

HISTORY OF CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Christmas gift-giving grew out of both pagan and Christian traditions.

The Christian practice of giving presents to friends and relatives follows the example of the Magi, "three wise men from the East" mentioned in the New Testament (Matthew 2:1-12) who traveled to Bethlehem to present gold, frankincense and myrrh to the Christ child 12 days after his birth.

Another tradition credits the ancient Romans, who exchanged presents during their midwinter Saturnalia festival from December 17 to 24 in honor of the birth of the sun.

It was not until 353 A.D., when Pope Julius I set December 25 as Christ's probable birth date, that the feast of the Nativity was first observed in Rome. Before that time, many Christians felt gift-giving was a heathen custom.

By the Middle Ages, however, the practice was firmly established. Tradesmen honored their patrons, while servants temporarily enjoyed some of the good things of life with their masters. In Russia peasants received gifts while they sang outside the houses of lords.

Puritan New Englanders outlawed such festivities when they came to the New World, but the Dutch colonists of New Amsterdam continued their Old World celebrations, as did the Southern planters, who observed Christmas with feasting, singing and dancing.

DURABLE GIFTS, like traditions, last and last.

Today, there's a trend to practical presents, and now that we've become a country full of competent amateur home-fixers and improvers, hand tools have earned a prominent place under the tree and as stocking stuffers. A Boker pocket, whittling or utility knife will brighten the eyes of any man, junior or senior. Gleaming Wiss scissors will gladden the homemaker and fabricator, and a Weller Mini-Shop for carving, sanding, drilling and more is like giving a one-tool complete crafts workshop.

Whatever your tradition and choice, the Christmas spirit of loving thoughtfulness is expressed in every gift.

Bank Employee Injured In Truck-Car Collision

Otis Bach, data processing manager for the First National Bank of Prestonsburg, remains in intensive care at King's Daughters' Hospital, Ashland, as a result of injuries suffered last Wednesday in an early-morning collision with a semi-trailer truck near Ashland. Bach was driving a small car and sustained various broken bones and severe bruising to the heart area.

The 25-year-old Prestonsburg resident is a native of Salyersville.

Nurse-Midwife at Our Lady of the Way

Our Lady of the Way Hospital announces the addition of a certified nurse-midwife to the hospital staff.

Eunice "Liz" Robinson came to Our Lady of the Way from Lexington, and began her practice in nurse-midwifery in the Family Health Center directly across KY 80 from the hospital on December 4. A native of Old Greenwich, Conn., Mrs. Robinson was employed as a nurse-midwife from August, 1974, to the present.

Mrs. Robinson is a graduate of the Department of Nursing, Kansas University School of Medicine, Kansas City, Kan., with a diploma in nursing. She obtained a Bachelor of Science in Nursing Education from the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston, Texas. She received her diploma in nurse-midwifery from the Maternity Center Association, an affiliation of the State University of the New York Downtown Medical Center, Brooklyn, N.Y., and interned in nurse-midwifery in the Department of Obstetrics, King's County Hospital, Brooklyn, N.Y. She holds nursing registrations in Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, New York and Pennsylvania, and has a Midwife License from the American College of Nurse-Midwives in the states of Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

While she was at the University of Kentucky, Mrs. Robinson served on the obstetrical staff with residents, interns and medical students and helped establish the nurse-midwife program at the University of Kentucky. Since 1975, she has been fully engaged in all aspects of nurse-midwifery service with a full caseload including direct management of normal patients throughout the maternity cycle. She also obtained two years of experience as a nurse-midwife at Booth Maternity Center, Philadelphia, Pa., where she was responsible for all aspects of family-centered maternity care in a team approach with physicians and staff.

Her nursing career has also included responsibilities in teaching nursing and maternal and child care in Haterstown Junior College, Hagerstown, Maryland. At Norton Memorial Infirmary, Louisville, she taught pediatric nursing and participated in team teaching for the nursing of children. She also taught medical, surgical and neurological pediatric nursing at Children's Hospital, Louisville. She still is an adjunct faculty member of the College of Nursing, University of Kentucky. Mrs. Robinson will be working in a team concept with Dr. Ellen Joyce, family practitioner, and Dr. Yousef Banoud, obstetrician-gynecologist. She will accept her own patients and will be in consultation with physicians whenever needed. High-risk patients or patients with particular problems will be referred to the appropriate physician.

Mrs. Robinson has moved from Lexington to a home near Manton.

Blood Donations Set At Medical Center

"This Christmas, give your family the most valuable gift of all by donating blood Wednesday, December 20, at Highlands Regional Medical Center from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.," a representative of the Central Kentucky Blood Center suggested this week. "If you or a member of your family have not donated blood in the past year, you have no blood coverage and there is no guarantee should any of you need blood, that it will be available for you," the statement added.

Donation of one pint of blood gives the donor and his or her family blood protection for a year.

The Economy and You

This week's article will deal with listing and describing certain economic terms that have been used and will be used in future articles. These terms are ones that we (S.I.F.E.) hope the readers will keep and use for future reference, especially when reading articles that deal with the economy and-or watching regional as well as national news on T.V.
 One term that is used quite frequently in talking about our economy is "Gross National Product". This can be described as the total value of all final goods and services produced in an economy in a given time period. In the U.S., this figure is approximately $1.6 trillion dollars. Another term used is "Free Enterprise System". This designates an economy that is characterized by freedoms such as: choice, private ownership, free entrance and exit of firms, and competition. The U.S. economy is considered a Free Enterprise System, because of these freedoms.
 Our final term is one that consumers are faced with each day. It is one that deals with prices in an economy. The CPI (Consumer's Price Index) describes in percent terms what prices have done since 1967 (base year). Today, the CPI stands at approximately 200.9. This shows that consumer prices have gone up 100.9 percent since 1967. This shows that prices have averaged increasing 9.2 percent each year since 1967.
 If you have any questions concerning economic problems, write S.I.F.E., Prestonsburg Community College, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Toll-free telephone service is available to Veterans Administration regional offices in all fifty states. Some 3.9 million toll-free calls were received last year.

U.S. Is Preparing To Give State Disaster Relief

By ED RYAN
(In The Courier-Journal)

WASHINGTON—Although the White House hasn't yet formally declared flood-stricken Kentucky a disaster area the federal government reportedly is already gearing up to provide relief.

This apparently has been the situation since early Saturday, when Rep. Carl Perkins, D-7th District, called from Kentucky to notify President Carter's staff of the floods.

Before the federal government can officially begin to provide emergency services, a major disaster must be declared by President Carter.

Late Monday, Gov. Julian Carroll's staff—headed by top aide Jack Hall and state adjutant general Billy Wellman—was preparing the formal request for disaster relief, as required.

"We are putting it together and updating it by the hour," said Gary Auxier, the governor's press secretary.

Meanwhile, government agencies such as the Farmers Home Administration already were beginning to organize their emergency efforts in Kentucky.

"It's as if a (disaster) declaration already had been made," said Perkins, whose Eastern Kentucky district was hard-hit by the flooding.

The Farmers Home Administration provides, among other things, low-cost loans to help farmers recoup losses.

One of the problems encountered in the devastating floods of April 1977, in southeastern Kentucky, was that a disaster declaration was quickly made, but federal agencies seemingly weren't prepared to go into action.

Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., said yesterday that he and his staff have attempted to avert that situation by informing the White House and federal agencies about the flood damage.

Ford dispatched an aide, James King, to Kentucky on Sunday morning to advise the senator on the flood damage.

Meanwhile, Ford talked to White House officials about the floods at the Democratic mid-term convention at Memphis, Tenn., over the weekend. He has talked to them at the White House several times this week.

And Rep. John Breckinridge, a Democrat whose 6th District includes Frankfort, said he also had talked to the White House in support of federal disaster assistance in Kentucky.

The governor must present evidence of flood damage in his request for disaster assistance, a problem because flood waters at Frankfort and elsewhere in the state are just beginning to recede.

So the White House has told the state officials that they can revise their damage estimates after the original request is received.

"There is frequently prima facie (at first sight) evidence of a disaster, and this could be that situation," said Dan Tate, a White House aide.

Federal disaster assistance programs take up three single-space pages, and include everything from crop-loss and school-maintenance assistance to small business loans.

Disaster assistance is intended to supplement the efforts and resources of state and local governments.

The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration administers grants to the states from the president's disaster relief fund and directs and coordinates the disaster functions of all federal agencies.

Coal Company Gives 7 Acres For Mock Mine

The State Board for Occupational Education last week conditionally accepted the donation of a seven-acre tract of land near the Garth Vocational School for construction of a mock mine.

The site, on Garth Hollow, has been offered for that purpose by the Turner-Elkhorn Coal Co., of Drift, without cost to either state or county.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Ray Brackett said that, in addition to a mock mine with all its equipment, plans for the development call for construction of a large classroom building, for mining technology students. "It's a very logical tie-in with the Garth vocational education program," he commented.

Mr. Brackett said that, although plans for the program have not been developed, it will in all probability involve every phase of mining technology, including mechanics, engineering, electricity and heavy equipment.

The mock mine would, it is expected, "go through all the motions" of mining for the practical training of students.

Supt. of Schools E. P. Grigsby, Jr. and Brackett initiated the addition of a mock mine to the vocational training program at Garth through conferences with Billy R. Howard, of Frankfort, Floyd native who heads the state vocational education program.

About 600,000 babies are born to American teen-agers yearly, reports The National Foundation-March of Dimes. One of ten of their babies will have low birthweight—the highest rate of any age group for the nation's most common birth defect.

Eighty-two per cent of all American women do not receive early, adequate prenatal care, according to The National Foundation-March of Dimes. The sooner a woman sees a doctor, the better protected she is for a healthy outcome of pregnancy.

Homemakers' Work on Display Here

Some of the prettiest quilts and afghans to be seen anywhere are currently on display at the Floyd County Library here in an exhibit of the Floyd County Homemakers. The work represents traditional and original design and will be on display through Dec. 30. Although all the examples of handiwork is first rate with consistently high quality, the following homemakers were cited for excellence by a judge from Ashland, Ky.: Ruth Francis, Dresden Plate, applique top; Ora Bussey, red and white pieced and quilted; Marie Salisbury, white and rust afghan; Dorothy Harris, green-pink applique, and Gail Osborne, log cabin, pieced top.

Area Disaster Plan "Proven" During Recent Flooding

State and national Red Cross officials who came here in response to the past weekend's flooding in this section praised the efforts of the Floyd County Red Cross Chapter and local volunteers for the efficiency with which an area disaster plan was carried out.

The plan, which has been a major focus of the local chapter since the severe flood of April, 1977, was "put to the test" over the weekend as hundreds of residents, primarily from Magoffin and Johnson counties were displaced from their homes.

With the large-scale evacuation of Paintsville in the face of a potential dam failure on Paint Creek and the displacement of hundreds of people along the Licking River in Magoffin county, the Floyd Red Cross chapter speedily established three disaster service centers in the Prestonsburg area, although only the one set up at Prestonsburg High School was utilized to any large degree.

Shelby Willis, executive director of the Floyd Red Cross said the state Red Cross organization was alerted to the situation and in a short time, emergency supplies were headed this way. In fact, the response from both the state and other Red Cross districts was overwhelming as two tractor-trailers from the Louisville office hauled in supplies to the shelter here as well as shelters all along the Big Sandy and elsewhere. A short time later, two more trucks brought additional supplies from Dayton, O. and by the time area shelters had begun to be used they were fully stocked with various foodstuffs, coffee, personal toilet kits, baby formula and bottles, cots, blankets, etc.

Red Cross workers manned the shelter here while others from the Floyd chapter helped set up disaster centers in Salyersville and at Porter Elementary, in Johnson county. Eight Red Cross workers from Kingsport, Tenn. along with rescue squad members and Floyd Red Cross personnel also helped with evacuation procedures and distribution of supplies.

At both Prestonsburg and Porter, round-the-clock nurses were on hand to take care of any medical problems, and all prescription medicines were administered every four hours, "just like in a hospital," according to Mrs. Willis.

Lewis Bondurant, director of public relations with the Kentucky Red Cross, who helped at the shelter here and in other centers in the area, said the operations at the disaster center here were a "model of efficiency" and he further commended the local organization saying, "Your people here were already well-organized before outside help got here. There's a lot of your chapter workers who haven't slept for the past 24 hours."

Mrs. Willis said many of the people who stayed at the shelter here and in other locations "came in their robes with hardly any other clothes," especially those Johnson county residents who were faced with the prospect of a dam break.

Although relatively small-scale flooding hit the county requiring only partial implementation of the county-wide disaster plan which has been devised by the Red Cross chapter here, Ray Brackett, Floyd County Chapter board chairman, said, "we couldn't be sure how extensive the flooding would be, but we were ready with disaster service centers all over the county if the need arose."

Jim Landrum, disaster director for the South Florida Red Cross Division, who is here this week working on assistance applications, said he was "amazed" by the fact that after the shelter here was closed, an inventory of supplies showed nothing had been taken from the shelter, "not even a towel." He also added, "Your local people did a fantastic job on this shelter operation."

One in every 1,000 babies born in the United States has spina bifida, a congenital defect in which the spinal canal is left uncovered. The Easter Seal Research Foundation is financing investigations into causes and prevention of this paralyzing birth defect.

Commitment Procedures Under Committee Study

As a result of a recommendation by the Kentucky Judicial Council, the Supreme Court has appointed a Mental Health Advisory Committee which will undertake a project to research and make recommendations on mental health commitment procedures in Kentucky. The initial meeting of the Committee was held on Wednesday, December 6, 1978, at the Administrative Office of the Courts in Frankfort.

The work of the Committee will be directed toward reviewing the existing procedures, identifying the problems related to the procedures whether they be statutory or budgetary, and making appropriate recommendations to the Supreme Court and the General Assembly for improvement.

The problem of how to handle the mentally ill has been identified by judges across the state as one of the most significant problems they have in performing their duties.

A grant was made by the Kentucky Crime Commission to conduct the study, which will take a year to complete.

Sudden infant death syndrome, once called "crib death," strikes some 8,000 babies each year, reports The National Foundation-March of Dimes. It seldom affects infants under one month or over one year of age. The March of Dimes currently provides more than $70,000 for research aimed at understanding and preventing this mysterious killer.

Amana TOUCHMATIC II Radarange

MICROWAVE OVEN

EVERYTHING YOU COULD EVER WANT IN A MICROWAVE OVEN...AND MUCH, MUCH MORE.

The Amana Touchmatic II Radarange is so versatile... so advanced... so unbelievably automatic... yet as simple to use as 1-2-3. Truly the next generation of microwave ovens.

The Amana Automatic Temperature Control "System." Amana Touchmatic II Radarange features the Amana Automatic Temperature Control System—a complete system of cooking by temperature that is so precise, a medium rare setting will give you a medium rare roast... every time.

Amana Automatic Temp Hold. Amana Touchmatic II includes Automatic Temp Hold, an important part of the "System" that performs two amazing functions. One, it will maintain an internal meat temperature and hold it for extended periods. It's also perfect for holding all kinds of foods, casseroles, and soups at serving temperature. Two, holding at exact temperature actually improves meats. Provides more even cooking and browning. Makes meats more moist and tender.

Amana Touchmatic II is so automatic you can program it before you leave home, so it will start cooking later on—and have your roast ready to serve when you return.

A Wide Range of Cookmatic® Power Levels because different foods cook best at different speeds. You can change speeds as you cook. Or set cooking programs to change cooking speeds automatically.

The Most Advanced Timer and Clock. Amana Touchmatic II displays a digital time or temperature readout when cooking... when it finishes, a buzzer sounds and the time of day is displayed.

PROVEN SAFETY. After passing a series of torture tests, Amana became the only manufacturer of microwave ovens to be granted a U.S. Government exemption from the regulation requiring the display of a safety warning label. This applies to Amana Models RR-10, RR-9, RR-8, RR-7 and RR-7D.

Amana Touchmatic II Radarange Oven—the Christmas gift that keeps on giving—three times a day—year after year.

Committee Asks Special Session Look at Taxes

The Interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue last Tuesday requested that the call for the upcoming session of the General Assembly be expanded to include a look at the state income tax.

Since only items which are included in the call for a special session can be considered by the legislature, the committee requested changes in the call issued by Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall.

The original call for the session had asked the General Assembly to increase the standard deduction for state income tax; however, the committee noted that only about half of all taxpayers take advantage of the standard deduction and recommended looking for changes in the tax that would affect more people, such as an income tax credit.

The committee also requested that the executive budget be considered in the upcoming session, since in order to cut taxes some expenditures must be cut.

The committee motion was carefully worded, however, to include only increases or decreases in expenditures or eliminating or decreasing programs. Members of the committee said they wanted to avoid opening up the budget to the point that almost any legislation or new programs could be considered in the special session.

Rep. Joe Clark (D-Danville), chairman of the committee, said that he had asked the lieutenant governor to appear before the committee to explain her proposed legislation, but that she had refused. In a letter to the committee Stovall had said that it was "inappropriate" for her to appear at the meeting, adding "I would be happy to discuss it at such time as my own legislation is finally prepared."

Sen. Joe Prather (D-Vine Grove) said that the legislative leadership had met with the lieutenant governor and "the best we could determine," she would have something more specific "by the end of next week."

The committee heard a staff report on the sales tax on utilities. Legislative Research Commission staff member Linda Kubala said that while elimination of the tax on residential sales would cost the state about $54.4 million over the biennium, the average electric customer would save only about $1.25 a month. The average customer who heats with gas might save about $2.50 to $3.50 a month she said, and the average natural gas customer would save only about $1 a month.

Rep. Harold DeMarcus (R-Stanford) said, "I don't think the utility sales tax is as big a political issue as people think it is." He added that the "big issue" is the fuel adjustment clause, which is added into utility bills, and noted that the taxes people mention first "are the ones they pay in a lump at a time," such as the property tax.

The committee also heard an LRC report on alternative changes in the state property tax system, ranging from a freeze on the property tax revenues to allowing a fixed percentage increase in the revenues. Clark asked for figures from the LRC of the financial impact of the different proposals.

Maytown Man Held On Shooting Count

Curtis Winford Tufts was jailed here Monday evening on a first degree assault charge after he allegedly had shot and wounded his step-son, Arnold Wicker, Jr., at the Tufts home in Wayland earlier in the day.

He was booked by State Troopers Sizemore and Phipps. Wicker was shot in the stomach by a shotgun charge said to have been fired at close range. Wicker was reported in serious condition and underwent surgery at the McDowell Regional Hospital, but is expected to recover.

Details of the shooting are lacking.

MIRIAM HOSTS LODGE

Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31, under the direction of Beatrice Patton, Noble Grand, was hostess to the Lodges in District No. 4 December 2 at the I.O.O.F. Lodge Hall.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and an exchange of gifts and the awarding of door prizes preceded the meeting. Rebecca Layne, vice-president, officiated in the absence of Marie Roberts, president, who was ill.

It was a great honor to welcome five state officers from our district and especially to have one of our members, Mable Jean Lemaster, president of the Rebekah State Assembly of Kentucky. Also attending were Maman Leslie, Page; John N. Burchett, Grand Marshall; Bill Harvey Howard, Deputy Grand Master; and Mary Spradlin, Pikeville, District Deputy President.

The regular routine of business was conducted and the following Lodges represented: Pleasant Valley, Lodge 116, Paintsville, Freedom Lodge 200, Thealka; Allison Lodge 134, Inez; Queen Esther, Lodge 53, Pikeville; Ruth, Lodge 45, Freeburn; Miriam R. Lodge No. 31, Prestonsburg. Venelia Rinehart was installed as musician with Mabel Jean Lemaster, installing officer, assisted by Mary Zemo, past district president. Mary Spradlin, district deputy president for the ensuing year was given special instruction and recognition.

The next District meeting will be held at the R.E.C.C. Building, Paintsville, in March with Freedom Lodge 200, Thealka, hosting the group.

Disaster Plans Prove Effective With Swift Reaction of HRMC

The threat of a devastating flood and the weekend evacuation of Paintsville had a direct impact on Highlands Regional Medical Center.

As concern for the leaking cofferdam on Paint Creek grew, authorities began making arrangements to implement disaster procedures. As early as 3 a.m. Saturday, Highlands Regional was notified of a possible evacuation of Paintsville and more specifically, the Paintsville hospital. Within a short time, disaster plans at Highlands Regional were in full effect.

The actual call to evacuate Paintsville came a few hours later, at 8:58 a.m. Immediately, the transfer of patients to Highlands Regional began.

Official sources at Highlands Regional indicated that the complete transfer of 17 patients took less than two hours. The Paintsville Rescue Squad, local ambulance services and some private automobiles were used. Sources reported that the transfers were completed in remarkably rapid time and without incident.

"Because of a comprehensive disaster plan and regular rehearsals, we were prepared to deal with the situation," according to Les Rankin, administrator at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

"I am so very proud of our staff here at the hospital for the way they responded and performed their duties in this critical situation." He also said, "I think the success of the evacuation is a real tribute to many people but particularly to the planning and preparedness of Jim Tom Newman, director of Civil Defense, and other Paintsville and Johnson county officials.

In addition to the 17 patients who were transferred to Highlands Regional, a large number of other evacuees came to the hospital seeking care and shelter. After hospital personnel determined their needs, some were taken to evacuation centers in Prestonsburg while many others were fed and given a place to stay at the hospital.

The "all clear" was given Sunday afternoon at 4:58 p.m. by the Army Corps of Engineers and Paintsville residents were allowed to return to their homes. Most of the patients from the Paintsville Hospital were returned to the hospital, though some did remain at Highlands Regional for further treatment.

Nat. Energy Act Explained to State

Federal Energy Regulatory Commission officials told members of a state agency and a legislative committee Friday that the National Energy Act of 1978 will promote conservation of energy resources and will encourage substitution of abundant resources for less available fuels.

Addressing a combined meeting of the Kentucky Public Service Commission and the Interim Joint Committee on Public Utilities and Transportation, Jim Rogers said the five-part energy act "is the most comprehensive package of energy legislation to be passed by Congress." The five sections, he said, include the Public Utilities and Regulatory Policy Bill, the Natural Gas Policy Bill, the Coal Conversion Bill, the National Energy Conservation Building Bill and the Energy Tax Bill.

Rogers noted the provisions of the Natural Gas Policy Bill, effective as of today, allows state regulatory agencies to set prices with federal review of the state actions. The division of oil and gas in the Department of Mines and Minerals will set those prices in Kentucky, he said.

Rogers said the natural gas section of the act will encourage gas production in both eastern and western Kentucky gas fields, and that the energy conservation section will require "energy audits" of schools, hospitals and other public facilities to determine the efficiency of the buildings' energy use. The audits will also be the basis for issuing federal grants for energy conservation projects, he said.

The Coal Conversion Bill calls for electricity generating plants to switch from using fuels such as oil to coal. New generating plants are required to utilize coal as their major fuel, according to Rogers.

Rep. James "Jitter" Allen (D-Martin) questioned the value of the energy legislation, noting that federal "seed money" to states for projects often phase out. This leaves the states paying for projects that were not necessarily wanted by the states, he said.

Fifteen million Americans have birth defects, reports The National Foundation-March of Dimes. About 1.2 million infants, children, and adults are hospitalized each year for treatment of birth defects.

Footrot Problem Expected

With muddy conditions on farms, an Extension veterinarian says that catlemen can expect footrot problems in their cattle.

All breeds are susceptible and the disease can affect cattle on pasture as well as in confinement lots, according to Bill Wise in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. Although the problem may show up any time of the year, its incidence is higher from December through March.

Tissue-destroying footrot is caused by an anaerobic germ which means it lives in the absence of oxygen. The germ thrives in wet, dark places such as mud and wet manure.

"Early detection and treatment are important," says Wise. He points out that the germ enters the tissue of the feet through small cuts or bruises, then multiplies under the skin and in the outer tissues. Other organisms can then move into the wound and increase the infection.

Lameness is usually the first sign of footrot. Wise says that an examination of the foot may show little more than a reddening and swelling of the skin between the claw or at the upper border of the hoof. But intense pain often can be noted by touching the infected part.

Infected cattle lose weight when feet get sore enough to interfere with their movement to get feed.

Under wet conditions when footrot is actively spreading, Wise recommends isolating infected cattle and mass-treating the entire group with antibiotics or sulfa drugs. He says tetracycline antibiotics may be added to the feed, sulfa drugs put in the drinking water, or a combination of these treatments may be used.

Copper sulphate foot baths will help control the disease. Wise also recommends spreading a 1-to-20 mixture of powdered copper sulphate and slacked lime around water troughs or where mud and manure accumulate.

Treatment of individual animals is most effective, according to Wise, under dry conditions when the disease is no longer spreading in the herd.

Valuable breeding stock usually should be treated individually. The Extension veterinarian says an antibacterial ointment may be applied to open lesions and the foot bandaged. A single therapeutic dose of penicillin or tetracycline, or a long-acting sulfonamide will cure the infection if given early in the course of the disease.

"No form of treatment is satisfactory if infected animals are not kept in a clean, dry place free of mud and manure during treatment," Wise warns. "Repeated outbreaks can be expected if unsanitary conditions persist in the barn lot or pasture."

Wise suggests discussing your situation with your local veterinarian to achieve effective control of footrot. Request information on drug preference, method of administration, dosage and treatment schedule.

Keep Records Of Your Plastic Money

During this Christmas buying season, be protective of your credit cards. Lost or stolen cards result in millions of dollars of unauthorized purchases each year.

Consumers are partially protected by the federal Truth-in-Lending Act when cards are misused. The maximum liability of a credit card holder is $50.00 for unauthorized charges made on a credit card. But if you carry a number of credit cards and lose 10 cards, you're liable for $500.

Check your monthly bill carefully to recognize signs of theft. If your bill is larger than your individual charge slips, see if you're being charged for a purchase you did not make.

If your bill doesn't arrive, call the insurer. Someone may have stolen the card and sent in an address change.

To avoid problems follow these tips:

-Cut up and throw away all cards not needed or used regularly.

-Maintain in a safe place a list of all credit cards, their numbers and a list of the toll-free number to contact if cards are lost.

-Notify the issuer of a lost card immediately.

-Upon receiving a new card, sign it immediately.

-Never loan a credit card to anyone who hasn't been authorized to use it by the issuer—this is a violation of contract.

OLM Fruit Orders To Be In This Week

Citrus Sale Chairman, Mrs. William Cook, of Our Lady of the Mountain P.T.O., announce that this week all fruit will be shipped and received at the school. Fruit will then be promptly delivered to customers. Those desiring to pick up their own fruit may do so at the school.

Extra fruit of all varieties has been ordered this year, so for those who failed to place an order, this limited supply will serve on first come, first served basis. Call Mrs. William Cook, 886-3672, or Mrs. John Brown, 886-2968, or any P.T.O. member for orders or information. Extra fruit may also be obtained by coming to the school.

The P.T.O. members thank the individuals, businesses, and communities for their support of this project.

Teen 4-H Clubs Organize

Teen 4-H clubs have been organized in Allen Central and Betsy Layne High Schools. In addition to participating in all the 4-H activities, these club members also serve as teen leaders in all 4-H activities and camps.

Officers and leaders of the two clubs are:

Allen Central—Sandy Duff, president; Byron Hansford, vice-president; Toby Spradlin, secretary-treasurer.

Betsy Layne High—Greg Collins, president; Anneita Smith, vice-president; Joey Collins, secretary-treasurer; Rusha Cecil, reporter.

OUTDOOR LORE

by Neryle Shackelford

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY • COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Back in 1519 when Hernando Cortez was subduing the unfortunate Aztecs of Mexico, he found these people flavoring their tobacco with a substance they called "xochiocotzoquahuitl." They also burned this substance as incense and used it to treat a great number of ailments ranging from skin disorders to colds.

Cortez recognized this substance as liquidambar which Europeans of his time obtained by trading with the East where it was harvested from the Oriental sweetgum tree, Liquidambar orientalis.

This liquidambar from the Orient was also used by Europeans in the manufacture of perfume, incense and medicines. The liquidambar used by the Aztecs came from the American sweetgum, Liquidambar styraciflua.

History records that American sweetgum was first found in the United States by another Spanish explorer, Alvar Nunez Cabeza De Vaca, in 1528 when he was exploring in Florida. He used the liquidambar obtained from this tree to treat insect bites and stings received by his men. This substance, by the way, is still collected from wounds in the trunk of the tree and extracted from its bark. It is known to the drug trade as American Storax and is still used to flavor tobacco, to scent soap and in the preparation of some medicines. One of these preparations is used to treat a skin disease known as scabies.

The American sweetgum whose unique, star-shaped leaves turn a bright purple in the fall makes a wonderful, attractive shade tree for the lawn. Its wood is valuable too and is widely used in the manufacture of veneer, flooring, furniture, boxes and other items of wood.

The tree can be identified by its star-shaped leaves, corklike "wings" on its twigs, and its dangling seed burr which has the appearance of a Medieval skull-cracking weapon known as the Spanish Mace. Seed shaken from these burs in autumn will readily sprout come spring. The seed are also relished by squirrels, chipmunks, quail, towhees, chickadees and other birds. The seed burs will often hang on the tree all winter. On the lawn they can be a nuisance in spring. Although not much bigger than a golf ball, they need to be raked up before getting out the lawnmower.

Foresters say that springing from a seed, the sweetgum will grow at the rate of about a foot a year. So if you would have a sweetgum shade tree in a shorter period of time, it will be best to dig up a sprout from the wild or purchase one from a nursery.

For Meditation, for Fun and All Good

Take all the gifts, all the glittery trimmings, all the children, grandchildren, parents and grandparents and put them all together for the wonderful holiday of Christmas. But if you don't have food that everyone enjoys, you still have a houseful of dissatisfied guests.

To paraphrase an old expression: Weak gifties, manners rude; day saved if food is good.

This year you who cook might want something besides turkey for your dinner—or, in addition to a smaller bird, Mrs. Anderson's ham balls, a Rowan county version of a popular dish, is the perfect answer.

"Have your butcher grind together 1 pound sugar cured ham and 1 pound lean pork," said Elizabeth. "Then you mix with this 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 cup milk and 2 eggs, form into two-inch balls and place in casserole. Make a sauce of 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 cup white vinegar and 1/2 cup water. Mix and pour over ham balls. Bake in 375 degree oven, basting occasionally, until golden brown."

From Benton comes a recipe for potato-cheese balls. No name is attached, but since everyone likes potatoes, you could try this. "Add dash of salt and pepper and 1/2 cup grated cheese to 2 cups mashed potatoes. Beat 1 egg, add 1 tablespoon milk to egg. Form potatoes into balls, roll in egg-milk mix, then in bread crumbs and bake on greased baking sheet at 450 degrees till browned."

From Dreama Price, of Morehead, is a recipe for sausage quiche "that my family enjoys as do friends when we entertain." She gave a double recipe that will serve 12: "Mix 1 pound mild sausage and 1 pound hot, fry, drain well, then set aside. Put in blender 1 small onion, 1/2 green pepper, 2 tablespoons flour, 4 eggs, 2 cups evaporated milk, 2 tablespoons parsley flakes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon each garlic salt and pepper. Blend till onion and green pepper are fine textured. Put drained sausage in two 9-inch unbaked pie shells, then place slices of Swiss cheese from two 8-ounce packages over this and pour mixture from blender over the contents of both pies. Sometimes I alternate layers of sausage, cheese and mixture. Bake 35 to 40 minutes at 375 degrees. I like to let mine set for about an hour before slicing to serve."

Anna Jean Allen, of West Liberty, thinks "Ella's Boiled Custard" would make a festive food for the holidays. "Blend 2 cups of sugar and 8 tablespoons of flour well. Beat 5 egg yolks. Mix in 1/2 gallon (8 cups) milk with yolks - part with yolks and add to sugar-flour mix, gradually with rest of milk. Mix all together in kettle and cook slowly, stirring often, till full bubble boil. Remove from fire, add 1 teaspoon vanilla. This keeps well in refrigerator."

Top with nutmeg and whipped cream if desired. My husband and three sons love this."

Ann Kabler of Salvisa in Mercer county makes delicious banana cup cakes and fruit cookies, but for now you might want to serve her simple potato cake recipe as a treat the day after the BIG meal. "I should write a cookbook '1001 Ways to Fix Potatoes,' she wrote her pen pal friend Mrs. Allen in West Liberty (they started exchanging recipes two years ago as a result of an article on foods). I make potato patties from leftover mashed potatoes. Roll the patties in flour and fry in a little butter or margarine. They are real good!"

Here is a cake especially for you at Christmas. Mrs. Dean Payne, Box 5, Harmony, W. Va., says the ingredients for Scripture Cake are: 1 cup Psalms 55:21; 3 cups Jeremiah 6:20; 6 each Isaiah 10:14; 3 1/2 cups I Kings 10:10; 1 pinch Leviticus 2:13; 1 cup Genesis 24:17; 2 cups - one each 1 Samuel 14:25; 1 cup Numbers 17:8. Cream sugar, butter or margarine. Add eggs one at a time beating after each. Add honey. Sift flour and all dry ingredients together and add alternately with water. Pour in tube pan or two round cake pans. Bake at 350 degrees 30-35 minutes, testing for doneness. Make sure pans are greased and floured and chop figs and almonds."

Oh, we can be merry with what's neat the tree
If the cook is quick to please thee and me.

Social Security Manager

The appointment of John L. Faulkner as manager of the Social Security office in Prestonsburg has been announced by James D. Kelly, district manager in Pikeville.

Faulkner, a Pike county native, has previously served in Social Security offices in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana. He has served as operations supervisor in the Prestonsburg office prior to his promotion.

More than 27,421 Social Security and Black Lung beneficiaries receive $4,195,443 a month in these counties. Faulkner is a graduate of Pikeville High School and the University of Louisville.

Manual Details Rights For Disabled Persons

A series of seminars designed to inform advocates, lawyers and service professionals about the rights of developmentally disabled persons is being presented across the state.

According to Diane Schneider, director of the Developmental Disabilities Law Project, there are more than 182,000 disabled Kentuckians with rights that have never been specified to them.

"No matter how severely developmentally disabled a person may be," she said, "the ability to assert one's rights is seldom found to be completely lacking."

Much of the information presented at the seminars is drawn from a manual Schneider edited. The manual entitled "Disabilities Law in Practice," is more than 500 pages in length and was published in November by the Developmental Disabilities Law Project and printed by the Office for Public Advocacy. Included in the manual are articles defining developmental disabilities, state federal and local assistance programs and services, estate planning and institutionalization.

The manual is available for $10 through the Developmental Disabilities Law Project, Short-Long Term Residential Care, Newport, Kentucky 41071, or through the Office for Public Advocacy, Protection and Advocacy Division, State Office Building Annex, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Elk Horn Coal Treasurer

Albert K. Logan has been elected treasurer of The Elk Horn Coal Corporation, a 96-percent owned subsidiary of Ethyl Corporation. He also will continue as Elk Horn's controller.

A native of Portland, Me., Mr. Logan joined Elk Horn as chief accountant in 1976 and was named controller in May 1978. Prior to joining Elk Horn, Mr. Logan was associated with the former Oxford Paper Division of Ethyl for 10 years.

He joined Oxford in Rumford, Me., as a budget analyst in 1966 and transferred to Richmond in 1970. He was promoted to supervisor—general accounting in 1975.

Mr. Logan is an accounting graduate of Northeastern Business College, Portland, Me. He was employed as an assistant office manager at Portland Motor Sales for three years.

Mr. Logan is married to the former Nancy L. Casey of Portland and they have two children.

Elk Horn, headquartered in Richmond, owns approximately 140,000 acres of coal lands in Eastern Kentucky, part of which it leases to others for mining. An Elk Horn subsidiary, West Virginia Belt Sales & Repairs, Inc., based in Mt. Hope, W. Va., makes and markets mine and mill supplies.

Flood Delays Special Session; Carroll Adds Items to Call

The special General Assembly session scheduled to assemble Monday has been delayed till today (Wednesday) by a record-breaking flood in Frankfort.

Gov. Julian Carroll meanwhile added three items to the call for a special session of the General Assembly, including specific aspects of the state budget.

Carroll said in an afternoon press conference last Friday that consideration of both appropriations and spending is required by the Kentucky Constitution and that reductions in the budget would require equal reductions in spending.

"We don't expect a surplus by the end of this fiscal year that concludes in June, 1979," Carroll said, although he said there could be a substantial surplus in the first two quarters. "We don't make quarterly estimates and the first quarters are usually the best," he said.

Carroll also asked the General Assembly to clarify legislation dealing with the state's welfare fraud unit to "make it absolutely clear to the courts of our intent to deal responsibly with crime against the taxpayers."

Finally, Carroll is asking the legislature to appropriate revenue to provide assistance for the South Shore, Ky. area, near Portsmouth, Ohio, to contract emergency medical transportation across the Ohio River. The U.S. Grant Bridge there was closed last August 31, preventing Kentucky residents in the area from relying on emergency medical treatment services available in Portsmouth, Ohio.

Carroll said that a "reasonable proposal" is under consideration with a West Virginia contractor for a 24-hour on-call ferry service which could begin as early as this week. Emergency helicopter service will be reinstated between the two communities if conditions render the river impassable.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Tom Nelson who passed away two years ago on Dec. 17 1976:

It's been two years since you've been gone. We still miss you around our home. It's seemed so lonely without you, Dear. But life must go on. Through heat and cold I have often gone to the place where you lay in the clay, with flowers I place with tender love. The flowers we place upon your grave may fade and decay, but the love for you that's in our hearts will never fade away. The snow has covered your grave, but springtime will come once again. The birds will sing over you while you are sleeping away.

Sadly missed by wife and son, Sally and Tommy Nelson, and grandchildren, Margaret Ann and Shawn Thomas Nelson

NOTICE

Legal Notice to families who lived in public housing projects operated by the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or lived in public housing projects in any other city between March 16, 1971 - September 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or any other Public Housing Agency (PHA) during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support and/or;

2. A dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971 to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submittal of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form made a part of this Notice and must submit it to the Public Housing Agency's address indicated on the claim form, or such other appropriate Public Housing Agency if different from the address indicated, within 120 days from Dec. 6, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 5, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and/or a dependent in the household was employed.

Christmas Cactus Brightens Winter

By JOHN E. SPARKS County Extension Agent

The Christmas Cactus (Zygocactus Sp.) is a member of the cactus family native to Brazil, and is also known as the Thanksgiving or crab cactus. They bear exquisite blossoms from late October into January.

Christmas Cactus roots easily and should be grown in a good indoor potting medium and appreciates plenty of water while in active growth. The plants need sun in fall and winter, so are well suited to a sunny window; it should receive some light shade during spring and summer. Fertilize with house plant fertilizer according to the label during the active growing periods.

To encourage flowering, reduce watering and allow the roots to become somewhat dry in October. Growing in cool conditions (50-60 degrees F) with 12 hours of uninterrupted darkness for a month encourages flower bud formation. This should be done in October for flowering around Christmas. After blooming, reduce watering somewhat and fertilize when new growth begins.

COMMON PROBLEMS: Flower bud drop—May be caused by overwatering, exposure to cold drafts, or high temperatures; yellowing leaves - May be caused by low humidity or poor nutrition, poor growing media, or too much water.

A number of selections of Christmas Cactus have been developed.

Some of these are: 'Amelia Manda' with large crimson flowers; 'Gertrude W. Beahm' with bright red flowers; 'Llewellyn' with orange flowers; 'Orange Glory' with pale orange flowers with white throat; 'Symphony' with delicate shade of orange, petals white at base.

Boyd Co. Sheriff Begins Crackdown on Coal Trucks

By STEVEN R. FARLEY
(In Ashland Daily Independent)
CATLETTSBURG—Coal truck traffic on U.S. 23 here came to a stop last Wednesday after Boyd sheriff's deputies—in light of an accident Tuesday involving a school bus and coal truck—cracked down with radar and weight scales.

Boyd Sheriff Tom Jackson said coal traffic was stopped as deputies set up positions on U.S. 23 south of here.
Jackson said his five-man department could keep it up until Friday, but would then have to resume its normal duties of service to circuit court by serving papers and warrants.

Speaking to a group of more than 50 concerned citizens at Catlettsburg Junior High School, Jackson said he would request funds from the Boyd Fiscal Court at its next meeting to pay for three additional deputies. Those deputies,
Jackson said, would patrol U.S. 23.

Jackson said he cited 25 trucks for overweight yesterday and made a number of truckers clean dirt off their license plates.

In an interview last week, Jackson said he was concerned more with operators driving recklessly or speeding, not overweights. He said he had cited only four trucks for overweight before the Wednesday check.

"The situation is going to get a lot worse before it gets better," Jackson said, adding that approximately 2,000 coal trucks use U.S. 23 from the county line to city limits here a day.

The emotional audience facing Jackson was not appeased. Parents indicated they will continue to make their voices heard on the matter. Members of the group said they would attend the upcoming fiscal court meeting to support
Jackson's request and that they planned to visit Kentucky State Police and the state Department of Transportation.

Plans were also made to visit an attorney's office where petitions are being drawn up asking for controls on drivers who speed and drive recklessly.

"U.S. 23 is atrocious," said Mrs.
Fredda Hulett, a spokesman for the group.

"We'll walk with signs knee deep in snow to protest against the coal truckers who run at an excessive rate of speed and can't control their vehicles," she said.

Capt. James Cromer of the Ashland
KSP post also complained of lack of manpower.

"This problem could be cleared up in one day," he said. "It's up to the drivers to obey the laws. The problem could be corrected if they decide to honor the presence of other people on the road."

Cromer added that is unlikely "as long as greed is involved and the quest for the almighty dollar."

To resolve the problem, Jackson said more pressure will have to be placed on the Department of Transportation to get more enforcement officers up here, although he added the one man DOT has in Boyd County is doing a fine job.

Jackson said he knew an accident like the one Tuesday in which three persons were treated at an area hospital was coming, but said he expected it at the busy intersection of U.S. 23 and Interstate 64. "That's like a time bomb up there," Jackson said of the intersection.

Parents were critical of a lack of enforcement on the part of Kentucky State Police, DOT and Jackson's office, but according to DOT figures, more citations, convictions and fines have been levied this year concerning overweight trucks.

Former Sheriff Rice, contacted at his Ashland Coal Inc. office, said that during the height of coal traffic last summer he was issuing 40-50 tickets per week. Those tickets were not included in DOT figures, Arnold said.

"We really weighed those things,"
Rice said, but added 95 percent were dismissed in county court.

While Ashland Coal, a division of Ashland Oil Inc., does not own any coal trucks, it does publish safety booklet and advises drivers of the need for safety,
A.V. Rash, a spokesman for the company, said this morning.

Ashland Coal uses independent drivers on contract to haul its coal, Rash said,
"and there are only so many things you can do with a contract hauler. You can talk to them, advise them, but you can't be as direct as with an employee."

Independent truckers are required to be level-loaded and covered with a tarpaulin before they leave the mine area, Rash said. That policy has been in effect approximately one year.

Rash said his company is aware of the heavy road traffic along U.S. 23. That is one reason Ashland Coal is constructing a truck-to-barge facility below Ashland
Oil refinery to reduce coal truck traffic through urban areas.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE AN EXPERT TO MAKE THIS HOLIDAY COOKIE HOUSE

You don't have to be a craftsman to build this cookie house. Since the base is a cardboard box, it's much simpler to make than most cookie houses and won't put a big dent in your holiday budget.

You don't even have to make the cookie dough, because this uses refrigerated slice and bake sugar cookies. Two rolls of refrigerated cookie dough will make enough cookies to cover the whole house. Walls and roof are covered with your own butter cream frosting or frosting mix.

The cookies should be completely cooled before you work with them, so you can make them a day ahead. But if you'd rather complete the house in one-half day session, bake the cookies first. Construct the cardboard base while they are cooling, then decorate the cookies and "build" your house.

Cookie houses can be kept from one year to the next, with just a little patching necessary the second year.

COOKIE HOUSE

Materials Needed:
2 rolls Pillsbury Refrigerated Sugar Slice 'n Bake Cookies
Red tinted sugar
3 - 15.4 oz. packages vanilla frosting mix or 6 to 8 cups homemade butter cream frosting
Pressurized cake and cookie decorators (red and green) or pastry tube and tips and tinted frosting
Cardboard box with top flaps (9" x 12" x 9")
Heavy cardboard for roof (14" x 15")
Masking tape

First Bake The Cookies:

1. For Roof Shingles: Slice one roll of the cookie dough into 50 slices (less than 1/4-inch thick); sprinkle each with red sugar. Bake at 350° for 8 to 10 minutes until light golden brown around edges. (Do not overbake.) Cool on rack.
2. For Wall Bricks: Slice

28 1/4-inch slices from second roll of cookie dough. (Refrigerate rest of dough.) Cut each slice in half. Bake as for Roof Shingles.

3. For Front of House Decorations:

Slice remaining cookie dough into 1/4-inch slices.
Santa - Use two slices. Cut narrow strip from two sides of one slice, forming a triangle. Place triangle over one edge of whole slice for Santa's hat. Use two narrow strips for moustache. Add chocolate chip eyes and candy mouth. Bake and cool on rack. Frost hat and moustache with vanilla frosting, using a decorator tip, if desired. Sprinkle hat with red sugar.

Angel - Use one and a quarter slice. Cut narrow strip from two sides of full slice to form triangular body. Place cut-off strips at sides for wings. Roll 1/4 slice into ball for head. Place at top of triangle and add candy eyes. Bake and cool on rack. Outline body and wings with decorator writing tip.

To Make the House

Cut the two longer flaps from box (reserve one for the chimney and the other for reinforcing). Shape shorter flaps into triangles, cutting from top center of flap to corners of box, to form peak at front and back of house. Reinforce triangles on the inside by taping cardboard over the flap fold. Fold 14" x 15" piece of cardboard in half to form roof. Tape securely to house. From reserved flap, form and tape chimney, cutting bottom at same angle as roof. Tape to roof.

To Decorate

1. Prepare frosting. (Keep it covered as you work.) Spread frosting over sides of chimney. With red decorator, pipe on lines of frosting, using small writing tip, to resemble bricks. Spoon frosting around top of chimney to resemble snow.

2. Spread thick layer of frosting over sides and back of house. Press cookie "bricks" securely into frosting.

3. Spread frosting over roof. Starting at the bottom, arrange a row of red sugared cookie "shingles." Overlap remaining shingles in rows to cover roof. (Carefully press cookies into frosting to secure.)

4. Spread frosting over front of house. With leaf tip and green decorator, make door and shrubs. With small writing tip make window.

Arrange decorated cookies on front. Press into frosting to secure.

5. Spoon remaining frosting on peak and around edge of roof to resemble snow. (If frosting becomes too stiff, add a few drops of warm water.)

Today is the first day of the rest of your life.

Give blood,

Red Cross is counting on you.

so it can be the first day of somebody else's, too.

TWIN STUDY

USING San Diego Zoo armadillos, Dr. Kurt Benirschke explores single-egg twinning, which in humans is associated with increased risk of birth defects. Armadillos are the only species that regularly produce multiple offspring from a single cell. The project is funded by the March of Dimes whose aim is prevention of birth defects.

Helpful Tips On Low-Cost Decorating Ideas
MAKING REMODELING EASY

ASSEMBLE SAMPLES OF PAINT COLOR AND WALL PANELING, floor tile, drapery and upholstery fabrics and accessories to get a preview of the completed remodeling project.

Remodeling or adding on to your home without adding on trouble takes careful advance planning. Here's how to go about it.

Before you begin work, it's important to assess the scope of the job you have in mind: Know how much of the work you can do yourself and what part of it, if any, will require professional help. Schedule workers to arrive just when you need them.

You should also check with the local building authority to find out whether the project will require a building permit. If you plan to remove walls, see whether they contain pipes or heating ducts that must be rerouted. Be sure that moving them does not interfere with the structural safety of the house.

Once you've settled these matters, you are ready to get down to details:

1. Using a sheet of graph paper on which every block represents a square foot of space, draw a floor plan of the area you intend to remodel. (Locate on it all doors and windows, projections, pipes, electrical outlets, fixed equipment, etc.) When the plan is complete, do the same for each wall, showing the height, width and location of openings.

2. Note the dimensions of all features on the graphs in inches, checking and re-checking your measurements.

3. Decide which materials and how much of each you will need. If you plan to paint or panel, be sure you purchase enough to complete the entire job. Manufacturers like Georgia-Pacific offer quality prefabricated panelings in a wide range of colors and styles that are beautiful, durable, and suitable for any room in the home.

4. If you plan to panel any walls, place paper cut-outs (at the same scale) of 4' x 8' panels over the wall diagram to help you estimate how many panels you will need.

5. Line up the right tools.

6. Know beforehand just what your completed project will look like. To help you visualize this, assemble samples of all important elements in your decorating scheme and place them against a neutral background in proportion to the space they will occupy in the finished room. The resulting "swatchboard" can give you an excellent idea of how the scheme will look.

7. When you begin putting up paneling, wallboard or partitions, follow the sequence suggested by the manufacturer or a good do-it-yourself project manual. You can order the illustrated booklet, "How To Make Beautiful Things Happen With Walls," for 25¢ from "Beautiful Walls," Dept. NAPS, Georgia-Pacific Corp., 900 S.W. Fifth Avenue, Portland, Oregon 97204.

With this kind of careful planning, you can transform any dull or unused space into the most beautiful room in your home.

NOTICE

Legal Notice to families who lived in public housing projects operated by the Housing Authority of Martin, Ky. or lived in public housing projects in any other city between March 16, 1971 - September 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the Martin Housing Authority or any other Public Housing Agency (PHA) during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support and/or;

2. A dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971 to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submittal of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form made a part of this Notice and must submit it to the Public Housing Agency's address indicated on the claim form, or such other appropriate Public Housing Agency if different from the address indicated, within 120 days from Dec. 6, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 5, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and/or a dependent in the household was employed.

ALLEN COMMUNITY NEWS

Mrs. Goldia Porter Williams entered Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington last Sunday, and underwent surgery there Tuesday, Dec. 5. Among those from Allen visiting her this week were Mrs. Thomas Porter and daughter, Pam, who spent the weekend there. Mrs. Williams will probably be released from the hospital this week.

Thanksgiving dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stephens were Mrs. Charlotte Stumbo and daughters, Angie and Traci, and Kenny Bentley, all of Allen, Miss Terri Hall, of Martin, and Steve Castle, of Salyersville. Other family members there were Tony, Mark, Sandi, and Rita Stephens.

Wayne Ratliff, Sr. of Bonanza, and formerly of Allen, underwent surgery last Monday at Highland Regional Medical Center at Prestonsburg. Mr. Ratliff was released Sunday to return to his home.

Mrs. Manford Davis, of Dwale, spent most of last week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Stephens, Mr. Stephens, and family here at Allen.

Ken and Virginia Allen have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Mitchell in New Allen, and will be moving there within the next few weeks.

Mrs. Stephen R. Brackett and Linda Little were in Lexington at the University of Kentucky, Thursday, on business for Prestonsburg Community College.

Kenneth Donta, accompanied by his fiancée, Miss Nancy Koier, both students at Eastern Kentucky University, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Donta, Sr. this weekend. Mrs. Donta's father, J.N. Gilliam, who makes his home with her, is visiting his son, Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Gilliam in Flatwoods, for several weeks.

Mrs. Gertrude Clay has been ill at her home this past week.

Clarence Stephens was surprised with a birthday party at his home November 25 by his wife. Family and friends enjoying the party were: Mrs. Charlotte Stumbo, and daughters, Angie and Traci, and Terri Hall, of Martin; Steve Castle, of Salyersville; Mrs. Manford Davis, of Dwale; Dorothy Bentley and Mickey Bentley, Martin; Gracie Campbell, Audrey Belcher, Luttrell Bentley and Kenny Bentley, of Allen; Marlowe Tackett, Bruce Reitz and Sonny Tackett, of Pikeville; Gary Stewart, a country star of Nashville, Tennessee, and family members, Sandi, Rita, Tony, and Mark Stephens.

Mrs. Terry L. Hicks and son, Jeremy Michael, of Millard, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crisp, Sunday. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brackett.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Joe Reynolds announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, who has been named Andrea Jill, born at Highland Regional Medical Center, Wednesday, December 6. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Marcum Reynolds of Allen, and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Frazier of Abbott Road.

Mrs. Linda Blair, accompanied by daughters Angie and Michelle, has been vacationing in Orlando, Florida, this week.

Any person in Kentucky who wishes to get more information about the Talking Book Library program for the blind and visually handicapped can call Frankfort, Kentucky—1-800-372-2968—toll-free.

Wayne Wendell Ratliff, and sons, Chris and Chip, Danny Branson, and Mike Halfhill of Prestonsburg, were in Fort Knox this weekend hunting. Congratulations to Chris on his first deer, with Mike being the other party to also get a deer.

We are sorry to learn that the home of Mrs. Betty Jo Salyers Humble, of Dwale, burned around 4 a.m. Sunday morning. The family was away at the time of the fire, but the Allen Fire Department kept other nearby homes from catching on fire.

Mrs. Lucy Crum, who has been visiting her son, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Crum, in Michigan, has returned home. While in Michigan, Mrs. Crum broke her arm in a fall, but is recuperating nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stephens, Mark Stephens, Kenny Bentley, and Mrs. Manford Davis, of Dwale, spent last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clarence "Buddy" Stephens and family of Ypsilanti, Michigan. The group also visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Davis, also of Ypsilanti, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stephens and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bentley, of Chelsea, Michigan, returning home Wednesday night.

Happy 84th birthday to J. Frank Preston at Ulysses, father of Mrs. Ray Brackett, on Friday, December 8.

VA Queries Answered

Q—Can a service-disabled veteran receiving compensation get additional payment for a spouse in need of aid and attendance?

A—In lieu of the additional compensation a disabled veteran rated 30 per cent or more is entitled to receive for a spouse, the veteran may elect to receive a special allowance for a spouse who is in need of the aid and attendance of another person.

Q—Can a veteran make more than one change in an educational program approved for GI Bill benefits?

A—Any change of an educational program beyond the first change could necessitate mandatory VA counseling. Consult VA for assistance.

Q—Where may a veteran go to seek a VA guaranteed home loan?

A—The veteran may go to places one normally would go for real estate financing, such as mortgage companies, savings and loan associations and banks. They should be familiar with details of the VA loan program.

Q—Is a prescribed VA form necessary when making a change of beneficiary on government life insurance?

A—Beneficiary designations are best submitted on VA Form 29-336, available at any VA office. However, any written request over the insured's signature, and received by the VA during the insured's lifetime, will accomplish a change of designation.

School Board Authority To Set Priorities for Funds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Dec. 6, 1978)—The newly formed Kentucky School Board Authority should have a classification system including a priority list of schools and a cost participation formula prepared by January, acting Director Arnold Guess said last week.

In a report to the subcommittee on program implementation oversight of the Interim Joint Committee on Education, Guess also said that although funds for the program won't be available until July 1, the authority may get permission from the commissioner of finance to begin issuing bonds in early spring.

The authority was created by the 1978 General Assembly to close the "historic gap between the needs for schoolhousing in the Commonwealth school districts and their ability to construct schoolhousing," according to House Bill 627.

The authority has been funded with $7 million for fiscal year 1979-80, said Guess. The rate of state funding could be from zero to 90 percent, but the rate has not yet been determined.

The acting director told the subcommittee that the School Board Authority is a separate corporate entity but is still closely allied with the Department of Education.

The authority serves a multiple purpose in that it gives incentives which may cause local school districts to put more into capital construction, it acts as an additional equalizer between wealthy and poorer school districts, and it acts as a bond holding company, said Guess.

Guess said a school's placement on the priority list will be determined by three factors:

Need for construction on a per pupil cost basis as determined by state and local teams;

Effort by the local school district as determined by (a) examining construction under the three present funds, capital outlay, special voted fund, and the general fund and (b) division of that total by the average daily attendance for a per pupil rate;

Percent of pupil growth experienced by a school district over the past five years.

Guess said he is "determined that this (placement on the priority list) will be objective and not political."

There is a possibility that "very wealthy" school districts may be funded by the authority during the first year, noted Guess, but that funding would probably be near 30 percent while poorer school districts would get around 70-80 percent funding.

Subcommittee member Rep. Pete Worthington (D-Ewing) expressed concern about districts where, for one reason or another, little effort has been expended to obtain new construction. These may be low on the priority list even though the need is great, he said.

Guess responded that need will be the "overpowering" factor in determining the priority list.

Worthington also stated that the School Board Authority is taking a different form than he thought was created by the bill. He felt that the authority would be acting solely as a bonding agent, with no appropriations, to enable a school district which has bonding potential but an "unstable" financial condition to receive bonds at a lower interest rate by working through the School Board Authority.

Guess said that although funds are available from the authority, the authority could still act only as a bonding agent with a school district providing 100 percent funding.

Several subcommittee members stated that they wanted Guess to return to a meeting after guidelines are completed in January for further discussion of the authority's role.

Also speaking before the subcommittee were Richard M. Burnett, a fiscal agent with Johnston, Brown, Burnett and Knight Investment Bankers in Louisville, and Frank Hatfield, Bullitt county school superintendent and a member of a superintendents advisory committee to the authority.

Burnett, whose firm has set up bonding for schools and also underwrites, buys and distributes these bonds, told the subcommittee that Kentucky school bonds are already in a favorable position and are being bought by many banks and individuals. The new School Board Authority will add further "credence" to the school bonds.

Hatfield said so far local school officials have been active in the authority formation and he hopes that interest continues.

In other action, the subcommittee, with Sen. Kenneth Gibson (D-Madisonville) as chairman, voted to approve a resolution authored by Sen. Nelson R. Allen (D-Russell) and Rep. Jody Richards (D-Bowling Green), chairmen of the Interim Joint Committee on Education, relating to the intent of the Educational Improvement Act of 1978. The resolution outlines the committee's understanding of the act's funding, responsibility for administration, and specific provisions for carrying out the act.

The subcommittee voted to send a resolution relating to the state-supported kindergarten program without action to the full committee. The resolution, also authored by co-chairmen Allen and Richards, asked that the 1980 General Assembly change the pupil-teacher ratio from 50-1 to 40-1.

Since the first Easter Seals were introduced in 1934, millions of dollars have been translated into research and rehabilitation in crippling. Some 275,000 disabled persons benefit annually from Easter Seal programs at treatment centers, pre-school classes, workshops, camps, and mobile therapy.

It Takes Money to Make Money Private Enterprises Want To Loan You Money

Borrow For Your Business Venture From Businesses That Understand Your Business

A new trend has been developed that makes investment money available on businesses like yours FROM lenders and investors that relate to businesses such as yours. Small and large companies alike are becoming reluctant to obtain expansion, investment and venture capital from lending institutions that will talk in their terms only.

Now, WORLDWIDE FINANCE EXCHANGE is providing a new concept in exposing you to new sources of capital that know and understand your business requirements. They talk money to you on YOUR terms!

Four Basic Categories

More than 1,100 investment capital-heavy companies throughout the nation have been brought together by WORLDWIDE FINANCE that want to loan or invest money in four basic areas of business:

BUSINESS EXPANSION CAPITAL

Number of Funding Sources: OVER 150
 Lending Range: $3,000 to Unlimited

- Excellent for revolving lines of credit
- Inventory financing
- Accounts receivable
- Factoring
- Equipment purchases
- Times sales contracts
- Rediscouinting

LEASING SOURCES

Number of Funding Sources: OVER 500
 Lending Range: $500 to Unlimited

- Office furniture
- Business equipment
- Computer hardware and software
- Construction equipment
- Transportation (airplanes, trucks, etc.)
- Farm equipment
- Electronic equipment
- Oil field supplies and equipment

VENTURE CAPITAL

Number of Funding Sources: OVER 450
 Lending Range: $50,000 to Multi-million

- Long term & intermediate lending for general business expansion
- Manufacturing
- Construction
- Movies
- Oil & gas development
- Energy sources development
- Electronic development

REAL ESTATE

Number of Funding Sources: OVER 150
 Lending Range: $50,000 to Unlimited

- Apartments
- Motels/hotels
- Shopping centers
- Housing developments
- Recreational facilities
- Business & office complexes
- Mobile home parks
- Agricultural
- Nursing homes
- Medical institutions

These four categories offer a broad spectrum of business interests that represent loaning power into the billions of dollars. Loans from a few hundred dollars to long-term arrangements amounting to multi-million dollar agreements are available from interested individuals and companies who want to help you meet your growth and financial desires. In fact, in many transactions the bigger the loan requirement, the more attention you will demand.

How You Find These Investors

WORLDWIDE FINANCE has been years in developing four portfolios of companies ready and willing to talk with you immediately about your financial requirements. These specialized portfolios contain names, companies, responsible persons, range of lending or investing power and most instances specific areas of business activities.

If your financial requirements are specifically suited to just one or more of the four general categories, send for that portfolio and allow it to open a new world of financial growth power for your business ventures. YOU choose the potential source of lending activities.

Follow-Up Meets on Housing In Eastern Kentucky Planned

Housing officials will follow up later on ideas developed at a two-day Lexington conference last week on the Eastern Kentucky housing shortage, the state director of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development said.

"The word is follow-up," said Fred Porterfield, Kentucky HUD director. A meeting already is planned for early January to discuss the progress, if any, toward relieving the region's housing shortage, and bring up other steps that might be taken, Porterfield said.

Nearly 200 persons from many walks of life in Eastern Kentucky attended the conference Monday and Tuesday.

Recommendations ranged from simplifying and coordinating federal housing loan procedures to encouraging the state housing authority to float a regional bond issue to provide additional mortgage money in Eastern Kentucky.

HUD has said 42 percent of all housing units in the region are classified as substandard.

Porterfield said there are firm plans to follow up on the conference.

"Early in January a steering committee composed of the group chairmen and co-chairmen that were appointed or elected during the conference will meet with representatives of HUD and Farmers Home and the Veterans Administration to talk about what has been accomplished in the balance of December, if anything—and generally what directions they want to go to initiate some housing starts," he said.

He said the meeting probably will be held Jan. 3 or 4 in Louisville or Lexington, and then, "in May or June we may want to reconvene the whole conference for a progress report—and possibly get some new ideas and take it from there."

He said there are problems such as water supplies inadequate for large numbers of new houses, "which is something the state, counties and private citizens are going to have to come to grips with, by floating bond issues, directing coal severance taxes or whatever."

A shortage of land to build on in the mountains also is a problem, Porterfield said.

The task force includes delegates from the Veterans Administration and Farmers Home Administration, the two other federal agencies that loan money for housing, in addition to various eastern Kentuckians.

Conference participants split into groups representing the Big Sandy River area, the Kentucky River region and the Cumberland Valley. One suggestion all three groups made was a HUD regional office in Eastern Kentucky.

Despite comments that such an office would demonstrate HUD's commitment, Porterfield said however, there wasn't enough guaranteed business for the agency in the area to justify spending money not in his budget.

But he said even without an Eastern Kentucky office, help is no farther away than a phone call to Lexington or Louisville.

"Honest Dick" Not; Bulletin Tells All

Who was the only Kentucky governor to serve two consecutive full length terms? What Kentucky treasurer embezzled some $247,000 from the Commonwealth and fled the state never to be relocated?

These are two of the questions from a history quiz which will appear in the December issue of the Bulletin, the bimonthly publication of the Kentucky Historical Society. "New features are being added to appeal to history lovers of all ages," according to Dr. Jim Klotter, managing editor of the publications staff. "The answers to the questions are not as easy as they seem."

Isaac Shelby, John L. Helm, James B. McCreary and A. B. Chandler served two terms as governor, but not consecutively. J. C. W. Beckham filled the remainder of assassinated Gov. William Goebel's term, then a full one of his own. But Kentucky's second governor, James Garrard, is the only governor who served two full consecutive terms, 1796-1804. After that, the Constitution of 1799 prohibited consecutive terms.

"Honest Dick" Tate had been elected treasurer every two years since 1867 before he fled the state in 1888 with state funds. His last recorded location was in Brazil.

Along with history quizzes, the Bulletin also will feature old photographs. Readers may submit old photographs which will be copied and returned. "This will help the Kentucky Historical Society expand the photograph collection," Klotter said.

Photographs or any material to be used in the Bulletin should be sent to Klotter, Kentucky Historical Society, Box H, Frankfort, Ky. 40602. Society membership dues are $10 per year and members receive the Bulletin, Kentucky Ancestors and the Register, publications with genealogical information.

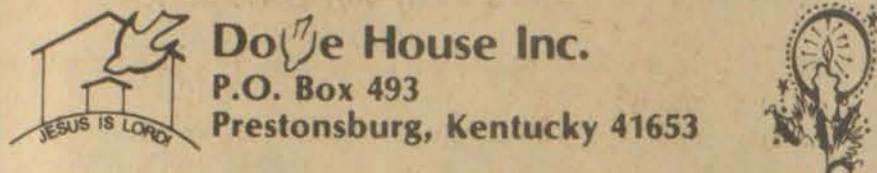

The South American country of Brazil derives its name from the reddish tree the Spanish and Portuguese call brasil, and which we call Brazilwood.

Burial was made in Adkins Cemetery at Galveston under the direction of Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

JAPANESE NETWORK TO USE PORTIONS OF KET'S

"ATLANTIS CONNECTION" Kentucky Educational Television (KET) has granted Japan's largest television network permission to use portions of a KET-produced program in three documentaries which are being produced by the Japanese network.

Tak Inagaki, producer-director in the documentary division of Nippon Television Network (NTV), had asked KET's permission for the use of two animated portions of "The Atlantis Connection," which is a segment of KET's multi-award-winning instructional series, "Universe and I." "The Atlantis Connection" explores the legend of the lost continent to help explain the theory of continental drift.

Inagaki is currently working on three programs on plate tectonics and continental drift. According to Inagaki, "The Atlantis Connection" is "...of exceptional quality in its content and its presentation. It can make the general public get interested in the whole field of earth sciences."

Akers Releases Print

Gary-Lynn Galleries is announcing the newest limited edition print by Gary Akers, "Winter's Grays," a painting of an old homestead in Kentucky, that lingers in the memories of practically all of us. The original painting was recently the winner of the Friends of The Kentucky Watercolor Society Award of Merit, in the Kentucky Watercolor Society First Annual Exhibition.

Child's Fun, Vital Info for Teacher

A new program and a unique tool, which children love, are helping Kentucky's kindergarten teachers meet the needs of their students this year.

The program, Kentucky's Individualized Kindergartens, is a cooperative effort between the Bureau of Instruction and the Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children. The tool, called LAP-D for "learning achievement profile-diagnostic edition," assesses a child's motor, language and thinking skills.

"The program was begun in August to help kindergarten teachers create individualized education programs for their students," said Betty Bright, director of the program. "We held eight workshops in August to train and certify teachers in the use of the LAP-D," she said. "Local school districts have been so enthusiastic about the program that we had to schedule another workshop to meet the response."

Of Kentucky's 181 school districts, 103 sent representatives to the first training sessions. Twenty-five more sent representatives to the latest training session in Lexington. There are now 200 teachers certified to train others in the use of the LAP-D.

The LAP-D is not a test that a child passes or fails. Developed by the federally funded Chapel Hill Outreach Training Project in North Carolina, the LAP-D is a series of tasks which a child performs with his teacher.

Contained in the bright orange LAP-D box, which resembles a tool box in size and weight, is a mixture of puzzles, building blocks, pictures and toys. The child counts the blocks and builds steps, catches a ball, draws pictures, cuts with scissors, works puzzles and finds similarities and differences in pictures.

"It's just playing to the children," said Bright. "But I've never seen anything better for getting a good look at what a child can and cannot do. It can tell the teacher which child needs more work in counting or learning the alphabet, and which child needs to practice catching a ball or stacking blocks. But most important, it can help the teacher find the exceptional child and begin working with him earlier," said Bright.

It takes a teacher about an hour and a half to give the LAP-D to a child. Theoretically, it should only take forty-five minutes. Because of the time involved, said Bright, teachers usually give the LAP-D in parts over a period of days.

"If you do it all at once," Bright said, "you lose the child's interest and then fatigue becomes a factor in the results. We're working on a quick screening instrument based on the LAP-D that will only take about ten minutes."

The developers of the LAP-D at Chapel Hill are interested in the quick screening instrument. "Many children can perform all the tasks, so there really isn't any need to give it to every child," noted Bright. "A child who performed poorly on, say, eight or ten out of twenty tasks could then be given the whole LAP-D."

One of the original goals of the program was to establish regional and state norms on the LAP-D, but this idea has been dropped. "We're just going to establish averages. There's no need to compare one child to another. In fact, that defeats the whole purpose of the individualized education program."

"We're going to establish means so a teacher can find exceptional children. We should know regional and state means by January," added Bright.

Children who do very poorly at the tasks are referred to their schools for further testing. The Bureau of Instruction and the Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children encourage teachers to keep exceptional children in the regular classroom. "These children may develop better in a class with their peers than isolated in a special program," said Bright.

For most kindergarten children the LAP-D is just an hour and half of fun with their teacher. For the teacher it's a serious way to get to know a child better.

KHSAA'S NEWEST MEMBER GRIGSBY, CONSIDERED BOOST FOR LOCAL ATHLETICS

The election of Floyd County Superintendent of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. to the Kentucky High School Athletic Association Board of Controls this fall is a boost to eastern Kentucky athletics in general and girls and 15th Region athletics in particular.

Grigsby won the election over Belfry high principal Frank Welch. The position became open when Paul Trimble, of Paintsville, resigned. Grigsby will serve the unexpired two-year term left by Trimble. He represents Section 8 (Regions 15 and 16) of the KHSAA.

With his election, Grigsby has brought state-wide recognition to himself and Floyd county. For several years, only high school principals could be elected for membership on the KHSAA Board of Controls. That rule was changed on July 1, 1978 enabling superintendents, coaches and other school personnel in addition to principals to have the opportunity to be elected to the Board of Controls. Grigsby is the first non-principal to win an election for the Board since the new ruling became effective.

Top priority has been given on locating the regional basketball tournaments for boys and girls, Grigsby said. There seems to be justification for the speculation that the Grigsby election means regional basketball tournaments will be held in Floyd county for the next two years.

Second on the priorities list is a topic that, under Grigsby's leadership, has progressed rapidly in Floyd county but has not moved as fast statewide—fulfilling Title IX.

"I am going to work toward implementing Title IX statewide," Grigsby commented. "Floyd county has been recognized for the quick and successful use of Title IX. Before my term ends I plan on offering the method we have used in Floyd county to influence other areas in Kentucky that have not implemented Title IX as it was proposed. This is not only for girls' basketball practice and seasonal play, but also working toward equality for district, regional and state tournament set ups and all-star games."

Third on the list of goals set by the only person from Floyd county to be elected to the Board of Controls while still residing and working in Floyd County, is to expand the number of athletic programs for the Eastern Kentucky high schools.

"I will continue to work for more athletic programs in Floyd county and throughout our area," Grigsby said. "I want to get a strong minor sports program started with high schools offering golf, track and tennis in addition to the revenue sports of basketball and football, if the school is large enough to have a football program."

Establishing a good spring sports program (the time of the year when most minor or low non-revenue sports are played) is an impressive goal. Grigsby has already proven his dedication to fulfilling Title IX by giving Floyd county one of Kentucky's better women's athletic programs and appears just as determined to bring the eastern Kentucky region a solid minor sports line-up, something high schools in Eastern Kentucky need.

"Getting more high school students involved in sports is a worthwhile goal that creates interest and pride in the schools," Grigsby added. "Establishing a good minor sports program is important to achieving this goal."

Grigsby has set some impressive goals. Goals that, upon their achievement, should leave the high schools in Floyd and surrounding counties with fine athletic programs.

WELL DESERVED AWARD

Paul Fyffe, president and general manager of the Paintsville Hillanders, was named "Executive of the Year" at the fall meeting of the Appalachian League. Fyffe was voted the award by fellow Appalachian League executives based on his work in landing a franchise for Paintsville and for the professional manner in which the franchise was operated this year.

Fyffe and area baseball fans received great news a couple of months ago when the New York Yankees signed a player development contract to operate Kentucky's only pro baseball team as a farm club of the world champs.

TOURNEY CHAMPS

Stumbo won the Wayland Invitational Tournament for girls by defeating the host team, 36-22 over the weekend. The Mustangs raced to a 14-2 lead at the end of the first quarter. Wayland rallied to play close with Stumbo for the remaining three quarters, but could not overcome the early twelve point deficit. Missing seventeen free throws did nothing to help Wayland.

"The first quarter and the poor free throw shooting killed us," said Wayland coach Roger Johnson, "but Stumbo (the defending county girl champs) is a well-coached team. They will be tough for anybody to beat this season."

Knott County Middle School beat Garrett in the third place (it sounds so much better than consolation) game.

The all-tourney team: Molly Hughes, Tammy Hicks, May Lee, and Robin Roope from Wayland; Shelia Johnson, Kim Tackett, Connie Hall from Stumbo; Angie King, Gwynn Ford and Carol Estep from Knott County; Beth Little and Lori Hamby from Melvin; Lisa Green and Mallie Vanderpool from Garrett; Kim Shepherd from Maytown and Gina Hicks from Jones Fork.

Garrett girls won the cheerleading trophy and Wayland's cheerleaders were runners-up. Kim Tackett won the individual free throw trophy and Wayland won the team free throw trophy. Jones Fork won the sportsmanship trophy.

DYNAMIC DUO

Allen Central's Mark Martin and Phil Slone shuffled and dealt the Cards of Sheldon Clark out of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Classic. Howard Wallen's fine backcourt duo scored 32 points apiece including 12 each in Central's 26-point fourth quarter in which the Rebels rallied for the 87-74 win.

Central trailed 66-61 with 7:07 left in the fourth quarter and then the Rebs scored fourteen straight points to take the lead for good. You guessed it, during the spree, Slone pumped in ten and Martin notched four. If it wasn't for the two-for-two free throw shooting of Randy Conley in the final eight minutes, Martin and Slone would have accounted for every Rebel point of that quarter.

WHAT A PLAY!

Sheldon Clark advanced to the quarter finals of the sixteen-team affair with a 64-62 first round win against Wheelwright. Randy Lafferty, son of former Martin High standout Elmer Lafferty, hit a spinning shot from just inside the mid-court strip to beat the buzzer and give Kenny Newman's Trojans their first loss of the season.

Lafferty's heroic toss was set up when the Cards' 6'5" center, Tim Moore, who blocked a Wheelwright shot with seven seconds left in regulation time, forgot what coach John Martin told him—to call timeout, and fired the outlet pass to Lafferty.

"I knew it was too late to get a timeout and set up a play by the time Randy got the ball, so I yelled for him to shoot," said Floyd County native Martin, who came up with a dandy line. "We've been working on that play since the middle of July. Randy was supposed to make a 360 degree turn before he shot, but he only turned 320 degrees which made the shot more difficult," Martin added with tongue still firmly in cheek. "I think one game we will hold the ball thirty-one minutes and fifty-nine seconds and go for the last shot."

Lafferty's shot has been about the only luck to come Martin's way this season. Sheldon Clark's leading scorer, David Marcum, is sidelined until January with a broken foot and Moore has become the second Cardinal to badly sprain his ankle, the other being guard Raymond Horn.

With that kind of luck, Martin probably won't rely on his "last shot play" very often this season.

Kittens Treed

By Allen Central

Allen Central's girls team defeated the Ashland Kittens Monday night by turning on the steam in the fourth quarter. Going into the quarter 6 points behind, Allen Central emerged at the end with a 4 point lead and the game, with a final score of 42-38.

KOVACH HONORED

University of Kentucky linebacker Jim Kovach has been selected as a fall nominee for the NCAA's Today's Top Five Award.

The other four nominees are Robert Dugas, Louisiana State offensive lineman; Steve Fuller, Clemson quarterback; Chuck Fusina, Penn State quarterback, and Ty Keough, St. Louis soccer player.

The five winter-spring nominees were announced in September. They include UCLA's Willie Banks, Brigham Young's Henry Marsh and California-Irvine's Steve Scott (all track and field representatives) North Carolina State swim Dan Harrigan and Southern California volleyball player Bob Yoder.

Five of these 10 student-athletes will be selected as winners of the awards and will be presented January 8 at the Honors Luncheon of the NCAA Convention.

Kovach, an All-Southeastern Conference selection and a four-time All-SEC academic selection, is UK's leading career tackler. He is a medical school student.

On College Golf Team

John McCauley, sophomore, is a member of the Cumberland College golf team and is participating otherwise in the college athletic program. He is trainer on the student coaching staff and is assistant trainer for the junior varsity team.

The Cumberland student is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCauley and is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

Lady Kat Tournament Scheduled Dec. 14-16

Eight schools will compete in the high school division and four schools in the collegiate division of the annual Lady Kat Invitational Tournament scheduled Dec. 14-16 in Memorial Coliseum on the University of Kentucky campus.

Laurel County will meet Fort Knox at 8 a.m. Thursday to start activities in the high school division. In the same upper bracket are Lexington Catholic and Paris, which will not meet until 6 p.m. that night. Meanwhile, lower bracket action will feature Notre Dame vs. Russell at 1 p.m. and Butler vs. Tates Creek at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Winners of the lower bracket will meet at 1 p.m. Friday while upper bracket winners will meet at 2:30 p.m. that day. The final game is scheduled at 6 p.m. Saturday. Auburn and Dayton will square off at 6 p.m. Friday in the opening game of the collegiate division. Coach Debbie Yow's Lady Kats will meet Florida at 8 p.m.

The third-place game is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. and the championship game at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The Lady Kats have won three games in a row since losing two close games in the Middle Tennessee State Tournament at the beginning of the season.

UKIT TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE SAYS HAGAN

University of Kentucky athletics director Cliff Hagan reports that upper arena tickets priced at $8 per book, are still available for the University of Kentucky Invitational Basketball Tournament scheduled Dec. 22-23 in Rupp Arena.

Nationally ranked Syracuse will meet Illinois, at 7 p.m. Friday, in the opening game while Joe Hall's Wildcats will meet Texas A&M in the second game. Losers will meet losers and winners will meet winners the following night.

Tickets are sold in book form only, with a book consisting of one ticket to each night's session.

Persons ordering by mail should include $1 for postage and handling. Certified checks or money orders should be made payable to the UK Athletics Association and mailed to: Basketball Ticket Office, Room No. 3, Memorial Coliseum, Lexington 40506.

The ticket office in Memorial Coliseum is open from 9 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Local Club Offers Reward for Slayer Of "Tame" Deer

The Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club this week advertised a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the killing of a young buck deer last Sunday on the H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr. farm on the Middle Creek road.

The deer had grazed alongside Mr. Fitzpatrick's cattle for the past few months and had become so tame that he would not flee at the sight of curious passers-by who stopped to observe the "wild" animal. The guilty party shot the deer (out of season) and, apparently alarmed by some passing motorist, left it dying.

The Dewey Lake club as well as the Floyd County Fish & Game Club have for some time offered a reward for any out-of-season deer kills but, since this deer was familiar to so many people and of such a tame nature, the reward has been upped.

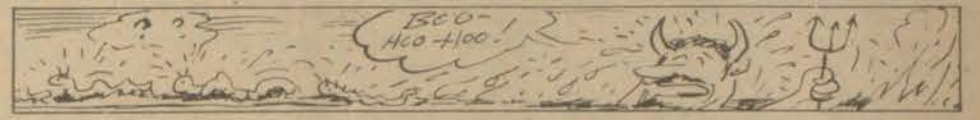

Anyone with any information concerning the killing of the deer may contact Conservation Officer Dalton R. Conley at 874-2779, or the Dewey Lake Fish & Game Club, Inc., Box 43, Prestonsburg.

BY FRIDAY, swollen streams had rendered numerous rural roads in the county impassable. This photo was taken on the Left Fork of Bull Creek. (Residents of the Bull Creek section also reported that mud slides from KY 80 construction also caused a serious problem making travel in all but four-wheel-drive vehicles practically impossible.)

Rev. Joseph Payton has recently come to Prestonsburg as the new pastor of the Prestonsburg Church of the Nazarene. Rev. Payton and his family moved here from Mansfield, Ohio in early November.

Rev. Payton and his wife, Gretchen, have four children: Rhonda, a sophomore at Mt. Vernon Nazarene College; Jodi, a freshman at Prestonsburg High School; Joe, in the 4th grade at Prestonsburg Elementary; and Steve, four years old this month.

The church welcomes everyone to the services Sunday morning and Sunday evening, and to the Wednesday evening prayer meeting. The Church of the Nazarene is located on route 1428 between route 3 and Allen.

Gov. Carroll Asks Operators To Join Him in Rules Protest

Gov. Julian Carroll last Friday called on the state's seven coal associations to join him in voicing concern over "unreasonable and over-restrictive" permanent strip-mining regulations proposed by the federal government.

Carroll requested that the various coal associations and the editor of the Kentucky Coal Journal meet with him in Frankfort, Monday.

In a telegram sent to the association presidents, Carroll said it is "absolutely imperative that you, and your members, as many as possible, attend this meeting to discuss this matter with me."

"We need to take immediate and positive action in order to make our concerns heard," he said. "It has been made abundantly clear that we need to speak with one voice and join together in order to clearly demonstrate that (the) proposed regulations are unreasonable as viewed from any perspective."

The U.S. Interior Department last month denied Carroll's request for a two- to three-month extension for filing comments on the proposed federal regulations.

Carroll had appealed personally to Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus in a telegram Nov. 15, complaining about the time allowed for filing comments and the complexity of the proposed regulations.

States had until Nov. 27 to file comments on the proposed regulations, which take effect Jan. 15.

Carroll also asked Andrus for an extension of the Feb. 3 deadline by which the state must file its permanent regulatory program with the U.S. Office of Surface Mining.

Officials of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection also have sought an extension of the program submission deadline. They say the federal government's delay in issuing the permanent regulations left the state too little time to comply.

Walter Heine, director of the Office of Surface Mining, said on a recent visit to Kentucky that it was very likely that all coal-producing states would receive a six-month extension for filing their programs. Kentucky, however, still has not been notified whether it will receive extension.

A six-month extension would give state officials until Aug. 3 to develop a permanent regulatory program under the 1977 federal Surface Mining Act.

Federal approval of the state program would give Kentucky strip mine inspectors primacy in enforcing the law.

Girls Write Winning Essays on Libraries

Diana Lynne Stivers, of Manchester, and Sherrie Palis, of Danville, are the winners of an essay contest sponsored by the Governor's Pre-White House Conference on Library and Information Services earlier this year.

Stives, currently a freshman at Eastern Kentucky University, won the high school division representing Clay County High School. Her essay was entitled, "The Ideal Library in the Rural Community."

Palis, who is currently a student at Boyle County High School, won in the elementary division of the contest while still a student at Boyle County Elementary. The title of her essay was, "Libraries in the Year 2000."

They will receive $125 each for the selection of their essays at the state level. They will participate in the Governor's Pre-White House Conference on Library and Information Services in Lexington, next March.

 THE TREASURES OF CHRISTMAS IN
 A VICTORIAN
 FAMILY ALBUM
 OF FRAGRANCE.

For Christmas 1978, Estée Lauder captures all the gaiety of holidays at the Victorian hearthside! There's Youth-Dew, the original fragrance masterpiece, in paper-embroidered boxes of blue and white, each lined with the sprigged print of a finespun morning gown. Estée, the superstar fragrance, wears its own rich blue, touched by a blizzard of snowy Estée "e's," while the great green scent—Aliage!—nestles into leafy sprigs of new green-and-cream colored wrap. And here, for their first Christmas are The New Romantics. A whole new adventure in fragrance for giving, for wearing, now...one, two or all three together! Come, celebrate the holidays with an Estée Lauder gift of fragrance.

Gas Pipeline Firms Get Rate Increase Go Ahead

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has issued new rules which allow natural gas pipeline companies with purchased gas pipeline companies with purchased gas adjustment (PGA) clauses to adjust their rates to reflect increases in purchased gas costs attributable to the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA).

The new rules, which were issued last Friday, will allow an orderly and gradual flow-through or changes in purchased gas costs due to NGPA, a Commission spokesman said. It was also said that the historic approach it rejected—to allow all pipelines to increase their rates simultaneously—would have produced a more abrupt increase in costs to the ultimate consumer and would have a greater impact on the economy as a whole.

The Commission contends that the special adjustment will minimize the time that pipelines must carry costs attributable to NGPA in their deferred accounts as well as finance charges which would have been incurred in deferring the collection of NGPA costs.

It held that special relief is necessary to avoid an undue and adverse impact upon interstate pipelines because of the NGPA, which became effective December 1. A preliminary staff estimate indicates that the first-year impact of NGPA on pipelines could be as much as $1.7 billion.

The new rules allow pipelines, to the extent they do not know actual costs, to estimate the impact of the NGPA from December 1 up to the date of their first regularly scheduled PGA rate adjustment in 1979. This estimated amount may be added to the actual amount of purchased gas costs in the deferred account to calculate the total PGA adjustment, which will be collected through a six-month surcharge.

A PGA clause allows a pipeline, subject to Commission review, to pass on to its customers increased costs of gas it purchases without having to file a full general rate increase.

2 Hired To Coordinate Education Programs

The Kentucky Department of Education has hired two consultants for its environmental and nutrition education programs, according to Dr. James B. Graham, superintendent of public instruction.

Nancy Theiss, LaGrange, will coordinate the environmental education programs. Theiss has a master's degree in education and environmental science from Murray State University. She has taught in Louisville and served for a year as a naturalist for the Museum of Natural History in Louisville.

Mickie Hudson, of Berea, will coordinate nutrition education programs. She received her master's degree in education and home economics from Eastern Kentucky University in August and has taught preschool and home economics in Berea schools.

East Ky. Horse Show Group Holds Meet

The newly organized Eastern Kentucky Horse Show Association held its first business meeting December 2 at Pikeville. An election of officers was held and the following officers were elected: President, Denzil Allen, of Prestonsburg; First Vice-President, Larry Pinson, of Pikeville; Second Vice President, Winfred Cheek, of Salyersville; Treasurer, Anna Hoffman, of Drift, and Secretary, Janice Allen, of Prestonsburg. Directors elected are Dr. Ernest C. Holbrook, Lawrence Bentley, Delno Conn, Terri Hall, Sophie Cahill, Sherry Goeing, Charlene Stumbo, all of Floyd county; Elaine Hopson, David Jones, Virgil Young, Glenn Adkins, Paul Rowe, Claude Maynard, Wilma Francis, all of Pike county, and James Back and Otto Collins, of Magoffin county.

Allen outlined the following purposes of the Association:

To set non-conflicting dates for member shows; to provide for the shows a broader advertising outreach; to provide assistance in obtaining qualified judges for shows; to promote uniform rules which are fair and equal to all; to maintain and promote an interest in horses; to unite horse owners and exhibitors of eastern Kentucky, and to provide a point system for exhibitors who have participated in association shows.

Annual dues were approved for family and individual memberships. A directory will be published reflecting the programs for the various shows.

Committees appointed are, membership, Larry Pinson, chairman; Carlos Robinette, Buddy Hall, Dr. Ernest Holbrook, Sophie Cahill, and Betty Hall; rules and regulations, Sherry Goeing, chairman; Charlene Stumbo, David Jones, Elaine Hopson, and Wilma Francis; high point awards, Winfred Cheek, chairman; Terri Hall, Claude Maynard, and Glenn Adkins, by laws, Janice Allen.

The next board meeting will be held January 14, in Prestonsburg.

In Appreciation

Paul Ritchie, of Martin Municipal Housing, wants to express his gratitude to all the people and churches who made it possible for him to get his motorized wheelchair. People donated from surrounding counties and different parts of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and as far away as Idaho. All donations were greatly appreciated.

Advices Influenza Inoculations

It's that time of year when virus infection, including influenza, occurs in various geographic areas with consequences from mild upper respiratory infection to pneumonia or death.

In a span of 10 years (1968 to 1978) more than 150,000 excess deaths are estimated to have occurred during epidemics of influenza A in the United States.

Evidence shows that influenza-related deaths are primarily among chronically ill adults and children and people over age 65.

Influenza goes under many names, Hong Kong flu, China strain, Russian strains. Strains of influenza A are found more frequently than influenza B, but influenza B can also cause death.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) of the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Atlanta, Ga., recommends annual vaccination for all persons at increased risk of adverse consequences from infection of the lower respiratory tract. This statement appears in the November issue of the Annals of Internal Medicine, the official journal of the American College of Physicians, the national professional association of more than 40,000 specialists in internal medicine and related areas.

Some people suffer adverse reactions to the vaccine, but the influenza vaccine of 1978-79 has been associated with few side effects.

There are three types of systemic reactions to influenza vaccines: (1) fever, malaise, myalgia, and other systemic symptoms of toxicity; (2) allergic reactions due to sensitivity to some vaccine component; (3) Guillain-Barre Syndrome (ascending paralysis).

According to the CDC, there is no evidence to suggest that influenza vaccination of pregnant women poses any special maternal or fetal risk.

The science of pediatrics was founded by 18th-century Swedish physician Nils von Rosenstein.

Liquor Netted In Three Raids

Floyd law officers were busy over the past week in carrying out three liquor raids which netted a sizeable total of illegal beverages.

Biggest haul of the week came last Wednesday in a raid on the Coolwater Fork of Salt Lick near Hueysville in which Sheriff Doug Lewis and Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis, Chuck Akers, and Ed Isaacs, and State Trooper Roger Castle netted 1,219 cans and bottles of beer, 48 half-pints of whiskey, 12 half-pints of vodka and 63 pints of wine. The illegal goods were found stored in some junk cars and Tivis "Bo" Neeley was charged with illegal possession for purpose of sale.

Separate raids a day earlier at Wayland resulted in the arrests of two Wayland residents for illegal possession. Sheriff Doug Lewis, Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Ed Rickman, and ABC Agent Ted Salisbury arrested Buster Jacobs after confiscating 135 bottles of beer from his home. Jacobs paid a $50 fine and was released on $1,000 peace bond. Joyce Jacobs (no close relation) was booked at the jail here after Sheriff Lewis, Deputy Sheriff Randall Lewis and ABC Agent Salisbury uncovered two pints and two half-pints of whiskey at her home.

Generally, a light week was recorded at the jail here in terms of numbers of persons booked. A list of those, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

Donald Newsome, wanton endangerment and assault, by State Trooper Forsythe; Chester Howell, possession of alcoholic beverages for purpose of sale, by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis, Dennis Crisp, and Chuck Akers; Elmer Hackworth, wanton endangerment in first degree, by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis, Dennis Crisp, and Chuck Akers; Deborah Moore Adams, arson in second degree, by State Troopers James B. McKenzie and Roger Castle; Robert Whitten, resisting arrest, by Prestonsburg Policemen Kilgore and Woods; Robert Whitten, assault in first degree, by Deputy Sheriff Randall Lewis; Okie Nelson, Jr., drunk driving, by Prestonsburg Policemen Kilgore and Wright; Lon Irvin Slone, drunk driving, by Prestonsburg Policemen Wright and Kilgore; Ricky Scarberry, shoplifting, by Prestonsburg Policemen Kilgore and Wright.

Crest Coal Pays $8,000 Fine

The state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection collected $40,380 in fines last month for violations of strip-mine regulations.

Crest Coal Co., of Salyersville, paid the largest fine of $8,000 for violations on two sites in Magoffin county.

The company allowed backwater to run from its site near Foraker and into Craft Fork. On another site near Waldo, the company failed to maintain back-filling and grading and failed to provide adequate silt control.

Eleven other companies that were fined are: W-2 Inc., $5,000; Ford Energy Corp., $5,000; Mullin & Mullins Coal Co., $5,000; R.B.S. Inc., $4,000; Rough River Coal Co. Inc., $3,500; Bartley & Hughes Coal Corp., $2,500; Triple B Corp., $2,000; R.J.F. Coal Co., $2,000; General Refractories, $2,000; MGA of Kentucky, $880; and P & N Coal Co., $500.

The painting, Washington Crosses the Delaware was done in Germany in 1850, and the river used as a model was the Rhine.

MAXI CARE FOR MINI PATIENT

FOR TWO DECADES Myrtle Blaylock, R.N., has been caring for infants in the intensive care nursery (ICN) at Grady Memorial Hospital in Atlanta, Ga. These babies, born too soon, too small, or at risk for other reasons, need skilled continuous care. This life-saving support is available at the Grady ICN, which receives funding from the March of Dimes through its programs for prevention of birth defects.

CAMP CAPERS

FOR HANDICAPPED children, summer can be boring. Not so in Houston, Tx., where the March of Dimes sponsors a camp for youngsters with special needs. Counselor Billy Folts joins Iris Shuler for crafts. Other activities include swimming and dramatics. The March of Dimes aim is birth defects prevention.

THE VICTORIAN JUBILEE

BY FORMFIT ROGERS

Let's celebrate the most flattering sleep things ever dreamed up. Empire washlines. Sugarings of white lace on carefree nylon tricot that shimmers and glisters. And jubilee colors! Royal Purple. Ruby. Blue Sky. Pink Cloud. Come see. Treat yourself. stash some away for gorgeous gifts.

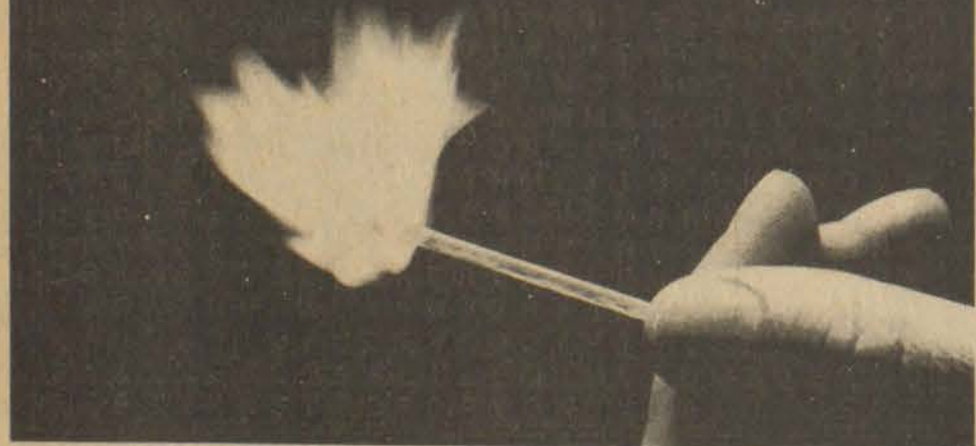

THE MADELEINE MOTTO IS LIVE THE GOOD LIFE WITH FORMFIT ROGERS

The good life, meaning looking lovely 24 hours a day. This corselet gown, laced like the heroine's in a French play, is pure lure. It's Enkalure® satiny nylon tricot, with a deep flip of ruffle. The companion coat, a most romantic robe of velvety quilted Arnel fleece, is lined to match the colors of the gown. Enjoy, enjoy!

Salyers

105 Main St., Paintsville, Kentucky

THIS COULD BE THE START OF SOMETHING BIG.

One man. One match. One small trash fire. It all seems harmless enough.

Yet, add to this a light wind. A flying spark. A dry forest ready to explode. And you've got all the makings of one raging Wildfire.

For this reason, unauthorized trash burning is illegal. And dangerous.

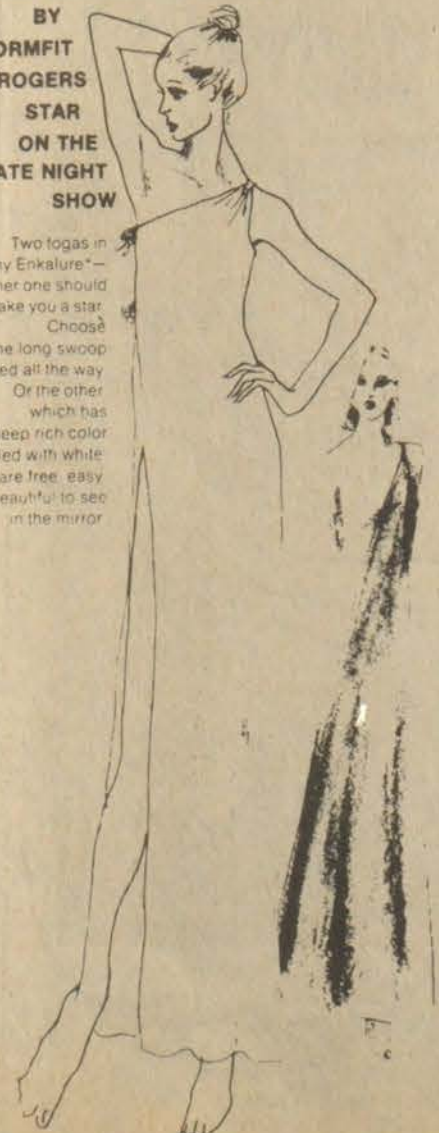

If you plan to burn trash or debris, call your local forestry agent for permission. Before you start something too big to handle.

ONE SHOULDERED SIRENS BY FORMFIT ROGERS STAR ON THE LATE NIGHT SHOW

Two togas in creamy Enkalure™—either one should make you a star. Choose the long swoop slashed all the way. Or the other which has a deep rich color tinged with white. Both are free, easy and beautiful to see in the mirror.

THE LOU LOU LACES BY FORMFIT ROGERS

Next best thing to spending the night in Paris might be treating yourself to the look they love in France. Enluring lace, very sensuous and sheer, tops hooping skirts of catfleece, non-cling Arnel III. Terrific for a housewreath yours or for your chere amie.

Celebrates Birthday

Tax Relief Tough Issue For Session

After a week of near-disaster, flood damage and thoughts of Christmas bills, the possibility of tax relief resulting from the special state legislative session to convene this week stands as a bright spot on the horizon.

The special session, called by Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall last month when Gov. Carroll was out of the state, is to consider relief in property, utility and income taxes.

The tax issue, however, is a complicated one, and many believe it to be too big for legislators to resolve in a limited special session. The property tax relief is expected to still be an issue in the 1980 General Assembly.

Mrs. Stovall has proposed a freeze on state property tax revenues. If the Legislature enacted such a freeze, it would mean homeowners would continue to pay 31.5 cents per $100 assessed property value, but would be spared higher taxes if assessments increased because of inflation.

That leaves one important question unanswered: how to keep tax revenues equal with inflated costs of running government.

A legislative committee has been looking into ways to allow taxes to increase slightly, while preventing sharp hikes that result from inflation.

Two proposals have been advanced to provide relief from utility rates: elimination of the 5 percent state sales tax on utility bills and abolition of the so-called fuel adjustment clause.

The sales tax is a fraction of the average consumer's total utility bill, but it can still add up.

Figures provided by Columbia Gas Co. indicate the average residential gas bill is about $30 a month — so the sales tax would be $1.50 a month, for a yearly savings of $18 if the tax were eliminated.

Owners of a typical all-electric home served by Kentucky Utilities Co. pay about $70 a month, so they would net a savings of about $3.50 a month or $42 a year.

The impact of eliminating the fuel adjustment clause is harder to gauge. Use of the clause has been unpopular, because it has added sudden increases to monthly electric bills as the cost of coal has gone up.

But spokesmen for the state's electric utilities say elimination of the clause won't lower rates because higher fuel costs still have to be paid by the consumer. They say a delay in covering the added costs could mean the utilities will have to borrow money — and roll those added interest costs into the basic monthly bill along with higher fuel costs.

An increase in the standard deduction from $650 to $850, as proposed by Mrs. Stovall, is meaningful only to taxpayers who take the standard deduction. Those who itemize wouldn't benefit. And the state Revenue Department has estimated that most eligible taxpayers would get less than $12 benefit from the $200 increase in the deduction.

Mrs. Stovall also proposed extending the state's $40 tax credit to all taxpayers over age 62, lowering the age from 65. That break would provide an additional $40 discount for about 50,000 eligible Kentuckians.

The tax relief measures must be weighed against both the cost of the special session, which the governor has estimated at about $25,000 for salaries and staff — and more importantly, against program cuts that may be necessary to balance the budget if revenues are reduced.

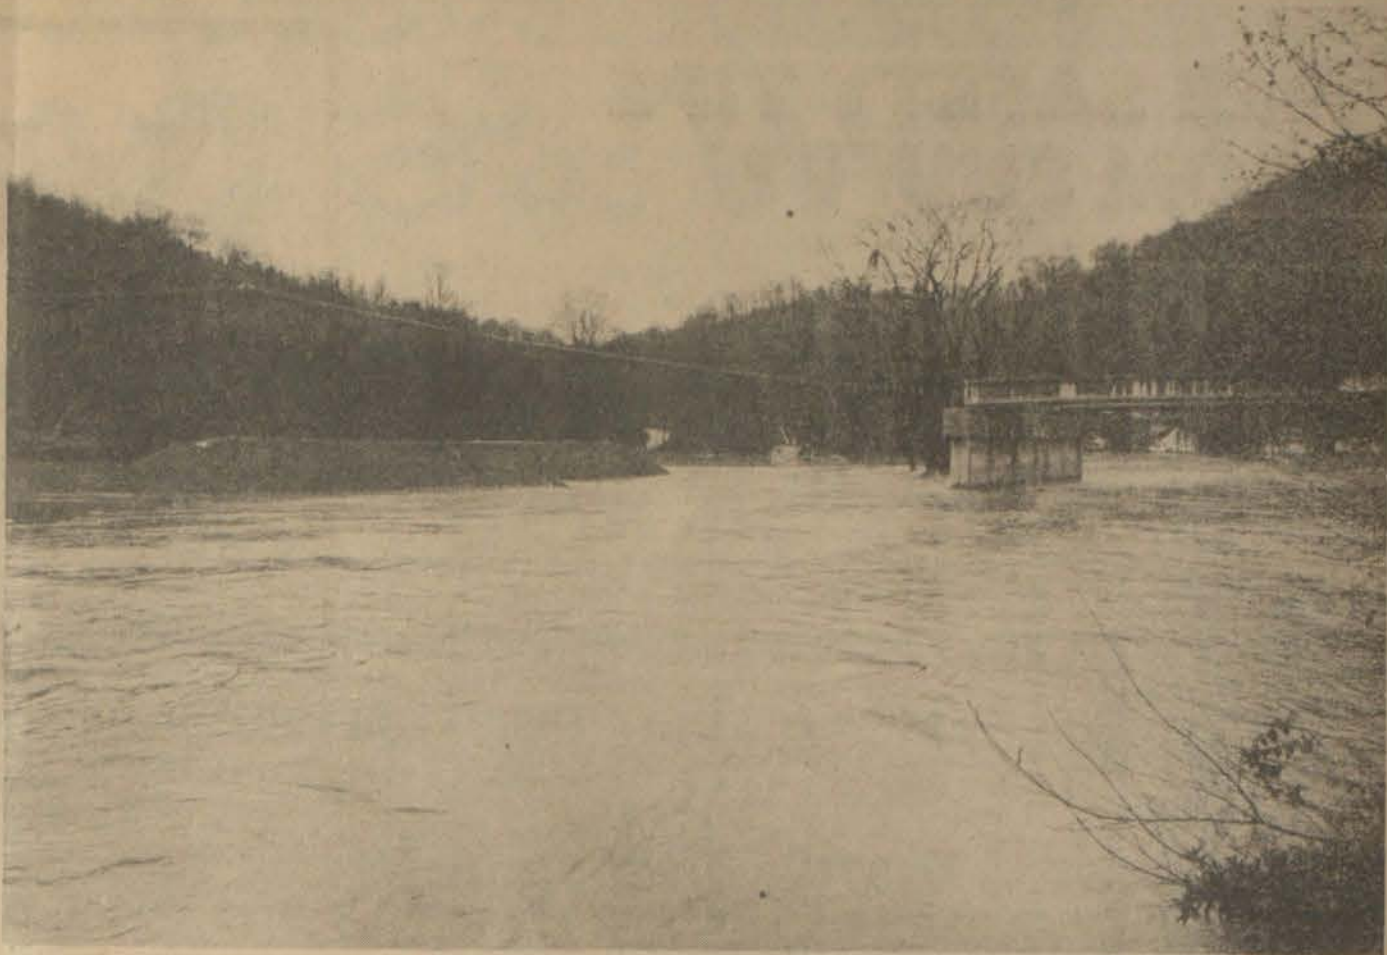

Teacher Here Among Outstanding Women

Susan Diane Brown, Prestonsburg High School English teacher, has been named one of the outstanding young women in America for 1978. This award was given to her in recognition of her contributions to her job, community, church, and county.

A native of Pennsylvania, Brown moved to Prestonsburg last January where she teaches speech and English at Prestonsburg High School. A 1977 graduate of Westchester State College in Pennsylvania, she also attended the Pittsburgh Playhouse School for Performing Arts.

Aside from her teaching responsibilities at Prestonsburg High School she is sponsor and director of the Drama Club, attends competitions with the Speech club, and works with the Co-ed Y club to prepare for State conferences.

A member of St. James Episcopal Church here, she takes an active part in the church and has worked at Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre for three years in the costume design department. Last summer, she was director of Alice Lloyd College's Appalachian Summer Theatre.

FILL WORK on the new KY 80 bridge at Garrett, stopped in recent weeks by the protests of residents of that community who feared the work would result in increased flooding, was apparently halted just in time as Garrett was particularly hard hit by the past weekend's high water. Some state engineers who claimed that water which overflowed into the area of the fill would be still or pooled water, were proven incorrect as a strong current was evident over all the flooded bottom.

Flames Destroy Two Homes Over Weekend

Two county homes were destroyed by fire over the cold, wet weekend. The brick home of Dickie Martin, located near the old No. 6 tippie at Garrett was surrounded by high water when fire broke out early Saturday afternoon. Because of the high water, some furniture had been removed, but the house itself is said to have been valued at $100,000.

In Dwale, the home of Mrs. Betty Jo Salyers Humble caught fire around 3:30 a.m. Sunday. The Allen Volunteer Fire Department called for assistance from Prestonsburg, but the house could not be saved. Mrs. Humble and her two children were away for the night and no injuries were sustained in either of the two fires.

The FBI has 169 million fingerprints on file—no two of which are exactly alike.

Seeks Family Information

I am tracing the genealogy of the family of John Morris who came to Floyd County, Kentucky around 1805. He was one of the founders of the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church near Garrett. I would appreciate hearing from anyone who knows about the family history and, in particular, about John Morris' son, Zachariah, who was born around 1830 in Floyd County.

Park Employee Here Gets Patent On Anti-Pollution Invention

Charles B. Rector, of Prestonsburg, has received a patent from the U.S. Patent Office for a simple steam scrubbing process for capturing pollutants that are emitted by industrial stacks or chimneys. Mr. Rector's invention uses superheated steam that condenses within the stack and then drains off, carrying particulates and soot with it.

The design allows for high or low sulfur coal, and can be installed in existing stacks. Since there are no moving parts, the entire assembly is almost maintenance-free. It also allows for a conversion from fuel oil to coal without excessively expensive anti-pollution devices.

Governor Julian M. Carroll is seeking assistance with the University of Kentucky for testing and evaluation. An interested manufacturing company of Sharon, Pa., also has a pending option agreement to proceed with negotiations for either outright purchase or exclusive license arrangements.

Receipt of the patent culminated five years of work on the scrubbing process by Mr. Rector.

The 35-year-old Rector is a Department of Parks employee at Jenny Wiley State Park. He has been with the department five years and moved to the park here from Buckhorn State Park, Sept. 1.

A native of Little Rock, Ark., Rector's home is at Vine Grove, Ky. He attended the University of Kentucky, the University of Maryland and Newark State College.
