

Bonds May Help On Home Building

Floyd May Be Second County To Adopt Plan

Although it was described by those attending it as "a sort of learning seminar," a meeting held here Monday is firmly expected to result in new money for homebuilders at a comparatively low rate of interest.

The program discussed is similar to that which Johnson county adopted to help builders of homes through a mortgage bond issue. Johnson county was the first in Kentucky to float such a bond issue—in its case, $10,000,000—and as a consequence builders there may borrow money at 8% per cent interest over a period of 20 years.

As discussed at the meeting, the bond issue would be for $18,950,000, $15 million of which would be lendable funds placed with local banking institutions. The major portion of the bond issue—$3.95 million—would be held in reserve to handle defaults interest arrearages.

Joseph Reis, representative of Seagood & Meyer, Cincinnati bond firm, expressed the hope that the bonds could be sold at a rate so favorable that builders or purchasers of homes could get 20-year loans at 8½ per cent interest. Banks here are presently making such loans at 11¼ per cent and payable within 10 to 15 years.

The bonds would in no way constitute an indebtedness of the county, it was explained. After this point was made clear, the two magistrates at the meeting, Ray Wilcox and Eddie Caudill, (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

College Claims Detour Causes Campus Damage

Prestonsburg Community College likes visitors on campus but not caravans of coal trucks, automobiles and everybody on wheels.

Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of the college, has written District Highways Engineer Banks at Pikeville about the situation, and G. A. Cowan, business officer for the college, has contacted others.

The campus has been used as a detour around the area here where removal of an overhanging cliff on US 23 is under way. Sometimes it is an alternate route when traffic piles up, awaiting a flagman.

The result, Dr. Campbell wrote, is "quite extensive damage" to the streets and parking lot on the campus. Its use as a detour or alternate route also creates safety problems, he pointed out, since the campus parking lot of 350-car capacity is nearly full at any given hour of the day and the college is used not only by its (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Tipple at Hueysville May Be Given Permit

Although it was built and operated without a permit, the coal tipple at Hueysville which has been a target for community protests apparently will be granted a permit by the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

Robert J. Yarbrough, attorney for the department, is quoted as saying that if Beaver Elkhorn Fuels, Inc., owner of the facility, takes the steps asked of it to be in compliance with state regulations, and if it appears that the tipple can be operated without causing excessive dust, a permit will be granted.

At the same time Yarbrough filed suit against the tipple owners in Franklin circuit court, alleging that the tipple was built and operated without necessary permits. He asked that the company be fined $2,500. He also procured a restraining order to prevent Beaver Elkhorn from operating the tipple or receiving coal until it does get a permit.

Asked by a Courier-Journal reporter if it might appear inappropriate to grant the company a permit after accusing it of flouting the law, Yarbrough replied:

"We're not trying to put people out of business; that's not our job. We're just trying to ensure that people don't put out unacceptable limits of air pollution." Yarbrough also said the fine was designed to make the illegal construction and operation of the tipple uneconomical

Design for Improvement . . .

Planner Talks General Facelift

It appears that the efforts of a group of Prestonsburg business people to effect improvements and provide a general facelift for the town in coming months will not fall by the way as several such efforts mounted here in the past have done.

A meeting Tuesday morning of the Prestonsburg Merchants' Development Committee and Allen Johnson, president of General Designs, Inc., a Greenville, Ill., architectural planning firm, served to confirm the committee's determination to carry through with a city renovation program as Johnson's firm was officially hired to formulate a workable improvement plan for Prestonsburg.

The latest renovation effort on the part of Prestonsburg merchants began to take shape last October with the general agreement that the city stood to suffer a business drain from the continuing construction of major shopping centers and other commercial development in neighboring communities. At that time a group of merchants travelled to the Western Kentucky town of Russellville where a large-scale renovation project had caused a dramatic renewal in a downtown business climate that had deteriorated as a result of new shopping centers in the Russellville area.

Johnson, whose firm provided the Russellville plan as well project outlines for several other Kentucky cities, outlined the procedure for formulating a renovation strategy. After preliminary research, interviews with a variety of citizens is carried out to provide a list of priorities according to the opinions of local people, Johnson explained.

"We interview not only merchants but bankers, industrial representatives, county officials and shoppers," he

County To Get $188,000; Four Projects Listed

Floyd county will share in unexpected state road repair funds to the extent of $188,000 this fiscal year, and as a result four highway projects have been approved in this county by Otto Graham, deputy transportation commissioner for rural and municipal aid.

County Judge-Executive Yvonne Jones this week said these road projects are:

One mile of blacktop surfacing of the Frasure's Creek road; .7 mile of grade and drain on the right fork of Toler Creek; 1 mile of blacktop on the Corn Fork road and 1.1 mile of blacktop surfacing at Auxier.

The allocation to this county comes from $10 million found to be available this year for county roads.

The funds were on hand, unnoticed, after the state had set aside $40 million to match federal funding for coal-haul roads. The federal legislation for that purpose failed of passage, however, leaving Kentucky's road money unneeded for matching purposes.

Half of the state funds on hand, Governor Julian Carroll said, will be spent this fiscal year—$15 million for county road repair and $5 million to repair city streets. The remaining $20 million will be spent next fiscal year.

NEW CEILINGS at Prestonsburg High School replace the original heavy coating of asbestos which has been the object of removal work in recent weeks.

Sunday's Open House Marks Asbestos End

Prestonsburg High School, which had been closed since Feb. 23, reopened Sunday for an open house meeting to celebrate the completion of removal of asbestos from its ceilings. And, despite the loss of electricity which left the scene in gloom except for candlelight, a cheerful atmosphere pervaded the gathering of school officials, parents of pupils and friends of the school.

The school reopened for classes Monday morning. Pupils lost 10 days of classwork while contractors were removing the asbestos and repairing ceilings but the time lost will not have to be made up, since the State Board of Education granted "calamity days" to cover the period.

Presumably, the school is clear of asbestos, which is held to be a cancer-causing agent. Monitoring of the air was made during the work, and a report on final tests is awaited.

The remaining $17,205 due the J. L.

Seagull Co., contractor on the job is yet unpaid, but Supt. of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. said the Governor's Task Force has promised its help to get the balance financed and that the Parents for Better Schools (PBS) had indicated it would help.

"I am real well pleased with the job that J. L. Seagull did," the superintendent said. "I think it will be good for the community as well as for the school, and, hopefully, we can now get back to a real learning situation."

People for Better Schools began last fall its drive to get the asbestos removed. It demanded immediate removal. Tempers became short.

Mrs. Ruby Catherine Clifton, PBS president, said Sunday that the organization does not intend to stop its work, now that the asbestos is gone. "There are lots of other things that need doing in the school," she said. There is no reason that Eastern Kentucky and Floyd county can't have the best school systems in the state, and that's what we're going to work toward."

The asbestos situation here received national news media coverage and has been made a pilot project for Kentucky where a number of schools and other public buildings reportedly have the same problem.

"Our differences (those of the school board and PBS) lay in the time the work was to start," Supt. Grigsby said this week.

Of the total cost, $35,000 came from the governor's emergency fund, and $35,000 from the Floyd fiscal court's coal severance tax fund.

Board Plan To Make Up Time Voted

Budget Statement Reviewed at Board Meeting Last Week

Floyd county's schools began their current school term early after losing around 35 days last winter to the weather, but the winter now ending has taken its toll, too, through flood, snow and ice, and the Board of Education is trying to make up enough lost time to get out of school at a reasonable date.

With their early start, and if no time had been lost to bad weather and roads, the schools' closing date would have been May 5. But most of the schools have already lost at least 26 days, some 28, and now the board is shooting for a June 8 closing.

The board at its meeting last Wednesday evening amended the school calendar to eliminate two spring vacation days, March 16 and 23; one day, April 6, for the Floyd County Teachers' Association meeting, and the in-service day was moved to Saturday, May 5, saving four days in all.

But, looking ahead to the possibility of losing two or three more days to Eastern Kentucky's fickle weather, the board is applying to the State Board of Education for five "calamity" days.

It has not reached a final decision of going to Saturday classes or to extended day classes to save more time.

Asst. Supt. Ray Brackett commented briefly on the statement of Ex-Supt. Charles Clark (published in The Times last week) to the effect that when he left office there was no deficit—instead, an actual surplus—in the board of education's general fund budget. Brackett told the board that the final audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, when Mr. Clark retired, actually showed a deficit of $12,765.50.

He said that the earlier recapitulation of funds showed, as Mr. Clark stated, a balance of $48,082.43 but that the final (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

This Town...That World

All wound up, I wind up the longest day of the week with these few lines.

I BUMP INTO A NAME

When I read it, the other day, I took a second take. There it was in a daily newspaper story, the name, Natty Bumppo. Hadn't seen it since I quit Fenimore Cooper for the Hardy Boys. But Natty Bumppo is a real man's real name. He's the county attorney of Edmonson county. Says his real name is John Dean but late in 1974 he changed it to Nathaniel John Balthazar Bumppo to avoid being confused with the John Dean who worked with President Nixon. Although he declares he never has read "The Deerslayer," I'd almost lay a wager that he got that Balthazar from "Ben Hur."

Incidentally, can you name the Three Wise Men, one of whom was said to have been named Balthazar? And how do we know there were three, not two or even four? And aren't you glad that not all wise men ride camels?

Sunday Blackout Hits Seven Area Counties

Thousands of homes, business and churches in a seven-county area were without electric power most of Sunday after what was described as a malfunction had occurred at the Kentucky Power Company's major transmission station at Hi Hat in this county.

Electricity was lost here around 9 a. m., and service was not restored in some parts of Prestonsburg—apparently the last to get electricity back—until after 5 p. m.

The daytime blackout included all or parts of Floyd, Knott, Johnson, Pike, Letcher, Magoffin and Martin counties, according to Roger Dyer, public relations representative of the power company.

"Ironically," Dyer said, "we were just getting ready to start construction of a new transmission station that will cost $10 million."

Kentucky Power crews were already at the scene of the outage with equipment when the trouble developed. When the power went on the blink, all available employees were rushed to connecting substations to flip the switches manually. Most businesses were closed, but churches held their scheduled services, though central heating systems could not operate and candlelight was necessary. Service stations could not operate because their pumps are electrically powered. Sunday business at stores also was eliminated because their cash registers also depend upon electricity.

All hospitals of the area operated on their own emergency generators. Only one radio station, WPKE, Pikeville, was reported to have continued its broadcasts on its own generator, but only those with battery-powered radio could receive its broadcasts. Television stations reaching the area continued their telecasts—to blank sets.

Dyer explained why service was restored in some places within an hour or two but not until Sunday afternoon at others. "We had to go, section by section," he said. Turning the power back on had to be done carefully to prevent overloads.

It was estimated that between 6,000 and 10,000 customers of the power company lost service during the day when outside temperatures were in the 20s.

HRMC Auxiliary Members at Work

From pouring a hot cup of coffee to purchasing a major piece of sophisticated medical equipment, no service is too big or too small for the Highlands Regional Medical Center Auxiliary.

Since its formation in August, 1974, the Auxiliary has been an important force in delivering total patient care at Highlands.

The volunteers of the Auxiliary add a very special and necessary touch at the hospital in the words of Les Rankin, administrator.

"They give so unselfishly of their time and the money they raise. I don't know what we would do without the Auxiliary...I know a lot of the patients feel that way too."

Some 30 members belong to the group. About 20 are "very active" according to Sarah Goble, Director of the Auxiliary. In addition to her many Auxiliary activities, Mrs. Goble is a full-time employee of the hospital, serving as receptionist at the information desk.

"People just don't realize all of the activities our ladies in pink are involved in," says Mrs. Goble.

Thousands of dollars have been raised and used by the Auxiliary to benefit the hospital.

In the last four years a number of projects and purchases have been made possible by funds donated by the Auxiliary. Included are a patient mobilizer, blood pressure cuffs for all the rooms on the hospital's third floor, some audio-visual equipment, and a picnic area on the hospital's grounds. The price tags for these projects total over $12,000.

Presently on order is a fetal heart monitor that costs some $7,000 to be paid for by the Auxiliary. Another $500 has been set aside for pediatric equipment purchases, and immediate plans call for more blood pressure cuffs and additional improvements to the hospital grounds.

To generate their money, the Auxiliary maintains and operates the hospital's gift shop. They also provide a hospitality cart from which patients can buy sundries, reading materials, and other needed items.

In the past, the group has sold holiday fruit cakes and presently they sell weekly newspapers at the information desk for the convenience of patients and visitors.

The scope of services provided by the Auxiliary goes far beyond money-making projects. It is in these other service areas that the Auxiliary perhaps has its most significant and meaningful impact on patients and families in the opinion of Russell C. Dean, Jr., Director of Development and Public Relations at Highlands Regional.

"These dedicated ladies are always there to smile, lend a hand, and brighten sometimes dark and gloomy situations. They provide that something extra to compliment the care and concern demonstrated by our staff," said Dean.

For the families of patients in surgery, the Auxiliary serves coffee and relays information on the progress of the patient by maintaining contact with the staff in the recovery room. They also deliver and read mail to patients, help write letters for patients who can't, aid and comfort families, and oversee the hospital chapel. The Auxiliary provides certain personal care items to patients in the Intensive Care Coronary Unit without charge. They are also active in the bloodmobile program.

"Compared to other hospital Auxiliaries in the state, we really do very well, but we want to do so much more," says Sarah Goble.

A new patient escort service is one of the projects the Auxiliary would like to implement. Members would take patients to their rooms once they had been admitted. Time would be spent acquainting the patient with the room, hospital services, and procedures, and anything else necessary for the comfort of the patient. This type of service is presently among the duties performed by paid hospital staff. The volunteers in this role would allow paid staff more time for other vital duties.

The escort service is just one of the new activities the group wants to undertake. However, there is a "womenpower" shortage according to Mrs. Goble.

"We have just recruited five new members and they are wonderful, but, we do need more help."

"Now would be a good time to join the Auxiliary," in the words of Mosaleete Patton, publicity chairwoman for the group. She reports that the week of April 22 thru 28 is National Volunteer Week, and will be observed by Highlands Regional.

Membership in the Auxiliary is open to any woman in the region. Meetings are held the second Sunday each month at Highlands Regional. Each volunteer is asked to work one day a week during normal business hours.

Following is a list of the dedicated volunteers who represent the Auxiliary: Jeanette Harris, President; Jean Burke, vice-president; Sarah Goble, director and treasurer; Mosaleete Patton, publicity; Garnet Fairchild, secretary; Ruth Patterson, Henri Etta Reffitt, Judy Biggs, Mable Hapson, Grace Derosset, Margaret Gladwell, Leslie Burke, Shelby Willis, Sarah Lavens, Christine Spradlin, Beverly Pruitt, Dorothy Harris, Thelma Wallen, Katherine Frazier, Pat Sutton, Viola Cooley, Dinah Hall, Leona Winkler, Joyce Lafferty, Anna Stumbo, Dee Burchett, Jean Jones, Barbara Mosley, Anita Hudler, Martha Leake, Olna Hamilton.

One of the most important activities of the Highlands Regional Medical Center Auxiliary is keeping the families of surgical patients informed after the family member has been taken to the recovery room following surgery. Here Auxiliary member, Dorothy Harris, left, confers with recovery room nurse, Ruth Osborne.

Did They?

By WILMAY

Two weeks ago this column contained a quotation from a Bible commentary, whose author said God did not dictate the passages of scripture. My Bible says he did. In the first three chapters of Revelation alone God spoke nine times to John, commanding him to write. What thou seest write in a book, Rev. 1:11, also 1:19, 2:1, 8, 12, 18, 3:1, 7, 14, Jer. 36:2 says, Take thee a roll of a book and write therein all the words that I have spoken unto you. Add Jer. 30:2, Ex. 24:2; 32:16; Deu. 10:2, (all about the Ten Commandments) And I have put my words in thy mouth, Is. 51:16. See Ez. 1:3; II Chr. 24:20; 28:19; I Peter 1:21, to cite a few more. Most people have heard someone say the Bible is bound to contain mistakes because men wrote it. DID THEY? They only penned it, the way a secretary takes dictation. Satanic forces do not agree.

Writing the Bible required around 1600 years, by approximately forty different writers, few of whom knew each other. The Bible has outlast all other books, appeared in more languages and dialects than any other. Though some in every generation vow to destroy it, it remains the best seller. Voltaire, famous French philosopher, author, and infidel of the 18th century, predicted it would soon be nonexistent, but for years Bibles have been sold in his former home.

Not long ago one young teacher in this county flung the Bible on the floor, called it "just another book." A second teacher in Floyd declared it was only one of many good books. It is THE BOOK of books. One man disdainfully threw down a copy, stamped it hard, and died suddenly a few weeks later. Its central figure in Old and New Testaments is Christ, who is the Word. Jn. 1:14 reads, And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us. Since God protected his Son—even raising Him from the dead—He will preserve his Word. Luke 21:33, Prov. 30:6, Deu. 4:2 and 12:32 warn against adding to or taking from the Word. Its critics ignore this. In various colleges and seminaries of different faiths some instructors are doing everything possible to convert future ministers and Christian workers to their beliefs, which water down the Word, sometimes denying it. Public apathy and the desire not to get involved keep most persons from condemning such. Instead of denouncing those guilty of casting aspersions on the Bible, a few may even criticize the ministers and others exposing heresies. This is equivalent to defending a murderer and condemning those who report his crime. It is a bit analogous to laws that protect criminals far more than their victims. Several recent translations are excellent for study, but a number are "way out" as they omit the blood, atonement, deny the virgin birth etc. Some make hundreds of changes not confirmed in the Greek or Hebrew. People minus biblical backgrounds often do not recognize blatant alternations, which their posterity likely will accept without question.

Time has proved the Bible is true. Archaeology supports it over and over. Mideast events substantiate its prophecy. The Dead Sea scrolls verify its truths. Most convincing of all, millions of born-again people in all strata of life authenticate its chief message, of salvation, by their changed lives. It does contain some parables, allegories, and symbols, as indicated in it, but it is truth itself. Were it as incongruous as some claim, it could not have survived, for no one has confidence in inconsistent books or persons. Someone asks, "Don't scholars to today—with high degrees and years of research—know more than the early writers did?" That is beside the question. The point is, do they know more than his creator? More than one authority of high repute in different fields has declared "So-and-So" to be indisputably true, only to find later how mistaken they were. And God often used some humble individual of limited education to show them. I Cor. 1:27 reads, But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise. We should learn a lesson from seeing how God is blessing churches, large and small, whose leaders in many faiths stress the reliability of his Word. It is dangerous to tamper with his book. Fewer converts then may be just one sign of his disapproval.

Will what we and future generations believe about the scriptures depend upon men of today, or on the King James Version, which has been the hallmark of the most outstanding leaders of prominent denominations since St. Paul, and also of Christianity as a whole, for nearly four centuries? Will our faith and that of posterity be determined by scholars and what they claim, or by God himself? The ultimate future of this nation may rest upon the answer a majority of Christians—clergy and laity—give to that question.

In addition to such matters as traffic flow and parking, the work of the planning firm will make recommendations for street surveys, landscaping, and general cosmetic upgrading including the use of store fronts. Mrs. Grant also said that General Designs will explore the possibility of a mini-park with restroom facilities and benches in the downtown section.

Johnson said work on the design and planning of the improvement program would take from two to three months.

Besides Mrs. Grant and Mayor Cooley, the development commission is composed of George Brown, Burl Wells Spurlock, Tommy Rose, Hubbard Francis, Ilene Burchett, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Gari Sutton and Earl Castle.

audit, which included June bills not in the earlier statement of condition, eliminated the surplus and left the deficit.

Supt. Grigsby and Brackett commented that they feel the former superintendent made no intentional misrepresentation in his statement and that the error on his part lay in the fact that Clark had not, to their knowledge, seen the final audit figures after leaving office.

The three board members present at the meeting—Dr. J. D. Adams, Ray Campbell and John M. Stumbo, chairman—announced that until the present board deficit is wiped out they will waive their per diem pay and serve without charge. James A. Duff, another member, later concurred in this policy. The fifth member, Dr. Mary Hall, had not been contacted but is expected to agree with that policy.

The board heard from Don Wallen, of Linton & Co., accountants, a review of the school system audit through June 30, 1978. He reported that the deficit at that time was $660,000 and pointed out that the situation was attributable to inflation, higher cost of transportation and utilities, repair and renovation of flood-damaged schools, and overstaffing. Wallen said the schools had followed correct bookkeeping procedures.

Two new school nurses, Joy Blevins Wells and Susan Stewart, were employed. Almeta Allen, the one nurse previously on duty, recently retired. Jan Akers was employed as teacher at Osborne Elementary, replacing Donald Tackett who resigned, and the resignation of Ruth Ann Blanton at Prestonsburg Elementary as of Feb. 2 was accepted. Certified substitute teachers hired are Flora Estelle Tackett, Edith Anderson and Reba Sue Gibson. For the Prater Elementary School Verale Joseph was hired as janitor and Bruce Joseph as cook.

remarked that they would be "crazy" not to be for something that would bring money into the county and help develop building.

The bond issue was expected to be discussed at the full fiscal court meeting this (Tuesday) afternoon.

The First National Bank, The Bank Josephine and Floyd Federal Savings & Loan Association will participate in the mortgage loan program—the two banks with $6 million each, and Floyd Federal with $3.5 million.

The financial institutions will have two years in which to loan or commit the $15 million.

In addition to the two magistrates and Mr. Reis, the meeting was attended by County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones, Assistant County Attorney Eric Hall, Burl W. Spurlock of the First National Bank, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr. of the Bank Josephine, Bill Broom of Big Sandy ADD, County Planner W. R. Callahan and Sam Hale, director of the county's flood plain management program.

If low bids opened by the Department of Highways in Frankfort last Friday are accepted and contracts are awarded, construction of two roads and bridge projects costing $2,304,789 will be begun in this county within the next few weeks. The Economic Development Administration (EDA) this week gave its approval to bids totaling $1,229,145 for construction of the Mud Creek water system, and formal awarding of contracts to the four successful bidders is tentatively scheduled for next Monday. Gordon Moore, owner of one of eight Dewey Lake summer cottages which have been vandalized in recent weeks, said Tuesday that owners of the property will meet here Sunday to complete the posting of a $1,000 reward for persons committing violations on the property in the future. Astor Meade was low bidder for the construction of an addition to the Floyd County Library here. Meade's bid was $47,900, lowest of three. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. William Battons, a daughter, on January 8, at Navy Hospital, Millington, Tennessee. Mrs. Batton is the former Jenny Meece, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meece. There died: John Derossset, 86, Water Gap; Mrs. Gladys Marie Newman, 60, at her home at Hi Hat; Mrs. Clara Petry Clarke, 68, Garrett, Thursday at Mountain Manor Nursing Home; Mrs. Milda Hobbs, 88, of Langley, at Mountain Manor Nursing Home; Jim Jones, 84, Hi Hat, Thursday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Willie Crisp, 82, Langley, at Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

Twenty Years Ago

(March 19, 1959)

Based upon applications received for admission to state sanatoria, Floyd county has the third highest number of cases of tuberculosis in the two districts that serve Eastern Kentucky. Only Pike and Boyd with their greater populations exceed this county. Auxier high school was again designated as an emergency institution for the next school year by the State Board of Education, Tuesday. Governor Chandler refused Wednesday to send National Guard troops to Pike county in response to a coal operator's call for protection against violence. Harry Lee Waterfield, administration-sponsored candidate for Governor, invaded the home county of his opponent, Bert T. Combs, to speak at the courthouse here Tuesday evening before an overflow crowd. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Combs, a daughter, Radcliff Shelby, March 2, at Central Baptist hospital, Lexington. There died: William Hyden, 78, Friday at his home on Johns Creek, C. D. Patrick, 87, Wednesday at the home of a grandson at Hueysville; Leo Gibson, 72, of Wayland, last Thursday at Pikeville Memorial hospital; Sarah Patton, 75, Saturday at her home at Warco.

Thirty Years Ago

(March 17, 1949)

Newest of inter-county highways being studied by the State Highway Commission is that which would connect the Left Beaver Creek section of this county with the Right Beaver section of Knott county. Prestonsburg may be in for a years-long siege of ringworm and may indeed never be entirely rid of the infection, Dr. Marvin Ransdell, director of the Floyd County Health Department, told the Lions Club at its Tuesday evening meeting here at the Brown Hotel. The first driver training course to be instituted in a Floyd county school began with the second semester at Garrett Consolidated school and has proved so popular that Garrett townspeople have sought entrance to the class. Better than 50,000 Kentucky mineworkers, half of whom are in the Big Sandy and Hazard fields, had worries this week as the two-week shutdown ordered by John L. Lewis, UMW leader, began Monday. The Karston Show, a live stage show billed as "the show with every thrill in the book," was scheduled to appear at a local theatre this week. Receiving top billing was "Nature Girl Roberta in her awe-inspiring Fig Leaf Dance". Born: to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Turner, a son, John Bud IV, March 12 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Neeley, a daughter, Mary Jane, March 13 at the Paintsville hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Elder Wright, a daughter, Sharon Leigh, at their home at Water Gap. There died: Elliott P. Murphy, 41, of Martin, Saturday after suffering injuries in an auto accident near Stephens Branch; William M. Brooks, 56, Friday at his home at Hunter; Mrs. Sarah Amanda Adams, 83, Thursday at the home of a daughter at Wayland.

Forty Years Ago

(March 16, 1939)

Work on Prestonsburg's $120,000 grade school building is expected to be resumed within the next 10 days, school board officials said this week after finance problems have been solved by the sale of bonds of the Prestonsburg School Corporation, a holding company organized to supply the WPA with the sponsor's share of funds. Bonds of the holding company bear interest of 5 1/2 per cent, and mature within 20 years at the rate of $4,000 a year. Though the fiscal court Friday made a "blanket order" directing the expenditure of Floyd County's share of the state rural highway department, County Attorney Forest D. Short said Tuesday that the matter of naming the particular roads on which the money will be spent yet remains with the rural highway department. Born: to County Agent and Mrs. S. L. Isbell, a daughter, Barbara Jane. There died: John Hunt, 37, at his home at Garrett; Matthew Scodellars, 42, Wayland, at his home; Glenn Walter Green, 39, Prestonsburg, at Neon, Ky.; Mrs. Lou Etta Stephens, Gearheart hospital, Martin.

Two Are Jailed In Drug Charge

Robert L. Justice, 38, and Eddie D. Hall, 21, both of Wheelwright, were jailed here Monday night on a charge of trafficking in marijuana after they had been arrested on Jacks Creek by Deputy Sheriffs Phillip D. Neeley and Ed Isaacs.

Neeley said the wholesale value of the two pounds of marijuana confiscated from the two is $800.

Armed with search warrants, state troopers moved into the Wheelwright area Tuesday and searched five places, but no marijuana was found. They told County Attorney Arnold Turner, however, that scales for weighing the weed and plastic bags for its storage were found.

Others booked at the county jail over the past week, charges against each, and arresting officers follow:

Willie G. Harvey, drunk driving (DUI) by Deputy Sheriffs Chuck Akers and Randall Lewis; Joe David Dillion, DUI, by State Trooper Weedman; Ida Mae Slone, burglary in first degree, by Deputy Sheriffs Phillip Neeley and Randall Lewis; Dewey Shepherd, possession alcoholic beverages for purpose of sale, by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Phillip Neeley; Timothy Wheeler, DUI, by Prestonsburg Policemen Wright and Kilgore; Harold L. Senterfeit, DUI, by Prestonsburg Policemen Lawson; Everett Adkins, DUI, by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Chuck Akers; Hubert Spurlock, DUI, by State Trooper H. J. West; Clyde Justice, DUI, by Deputy Sheriff Randall Lewis; Darvin Thompson, criminal mischief, by Deputy Sheriff Phillip Neeley.

Blood Drive Set Here March 24

The Prestonsburg Fire Department will sponsor a blood drive, Saturday, March 24, at the new municipal building. The times will be 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The goal for the Floyd county blood program this year is to see that total coverage is acquired for all Floyd countians. Total coverage means that all county residents and their families have blood coverage for any amount needed whether they can donate or not. However, in order to make this possible 780 pints of blood must be donated by Floyd countians during 1979.

"In order to reach this goal," a CKBC spokesman said, it is imperative that as many able-bodied Floyd countians turn out for each blood drive that is scheduled.

"In order to reach the 780 pint goal," the spokesman continued, "it is necessary that close to 100 pints are donated at this drive. The first blood drive only produced 41 pints!"

CKBC is asking the help of civic groups encouraging their members to donate, churches, and industries and business asking their employees to come out and give. Some individuals will be receiving personal phone calls it was said.

For all individuals who donate, except those who are giving directly to a patient who has used blood, the donor and his or her spouse, children to age 18, parents and parents-in-law will receive blood coverage for one year with each donation. This means that should any of these family members require blood not a single pint will have to be replaced. All that is required to keep this active is the donation of a pint of blood one time a year to the Floyd county blood program.

TV, Not Roads May Be Hottest Issue in County

Roads after a long, hard winter is the hottest subject in the county, these days.

Within 30 minutes at the Tuesday afternoon session of fiscal court were heard:

1. A would-be TV customer complaining of a $100 hookup charge that had been asked.

2. A demand from a TV system owner that his $200 fee that was paid when he submitted his bid for a franchise be refunded and the franchise readvertised.

3. A motion from a magistrate that the entire board appointed to handle the TV franchise program be dismissed.

The motion was made by Magistrate Kenneth Roberts, who complained: "It looks like the commission has undone everything the court has done." He referred to rates higher than the $6 set by the court.

At the suggestion of Judge Stumbo, who said no action should be taken until a joint meeting of the court and the commission is held, Roberts withdrew his motion. The meeting was scheduled for Saturday at 10 a.m.

Meanwhile, the court directed that the $6-per-month rate stand unchanged till the situation is reviewed.

The Butcher TV Service, which serves customers in both Johnson and Floyd counties, asked for a refund of its $200 fee, and the request was promptly granted. Mr. Butcher said he was charging Johnson county customers $7.50, and that that was his bid when franchises were awarded.

"I will not make two different charges," he said.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Clyde Junior Evans, who died March 14, 1977:

Dear God, please take this message To our loved one up above Tell him how much we miss him And give him all our love.

He bade no one a last farewell He said goodbye to none The Heavenly gates just opened wide And a loving voice said "Come."

Although his soul is now at rest And free from care and pain The world would seem like Heaven If we had him back again.

If broke our hearts to loose him But he did not go alone For a part of us went with him The day God called him home.

A previous one from us is gone A voice we loved is still A chair is vacant in this home Which never can be filled.

God gave us strength to face it The courage to meet the blow But what it meant to lose him No one will ever know.

Mother, sister, two brothers and a host of friends.

Howard Assailant Gets 12-Month Term

Jimmy Moore, of the Middle Creek section, was convicted March 5 on three of four counts lodged against him after a recent attack on Graydon Howard, Pyramid merchant and former postmaster.

He drew three jail terms of four months each on two assault charges and one of territorial trespass. Moore was acquitted of criminal trespass. Besides the total of 12 months in jail, he was fined $250 on each of two counts.

"He will serve the whole 12 months," District Judge Harold Stumbo later said.

Shirley Newsome, who was charged with transporting alcoholic beverages after State Trooper Terry Hall had arrested him and confiscated 51 cases of beer from his compact-type auto, was fined $100 and costs, given a 30-day jail term and placed under $1000 bond when he pleaded guilty in district court, March 2.

$4 Million Suit Hearing Started

Trial of a $4 million damage suit growing out of road construction in 1970 on Floyd county road construction began last week in Franklin circuit court at Frankfort, and it is expected to continue for several weeks.

In the suit Goebel Mattingly, president of the Mattingly Bridge Co., Caneyville, Ky., alleges that he and an Illinois contractor lost out on three multi-million-dollar contracts on US 23 in this county through the improper influence of two other contractors.

Mattingly has been pushing the suit for several years, even though his original partner in the suit has lost interest.

The suit was filed by Mattingly and C. D. Barter Construction Co. of Harrisburg, Ill., against two officials of the Kentucky Association of Highway Contractors.

They sought actual damages of $2 million for the loss of anticipated profits from the three jobs and $2 million in punitive damages against Jack Ruth, of Georgetown, president of the contractor's association, and Victor Comley, of Nicholasville, the executive director.

Barter, which now operates mostly out of the country, had withdrawn as a plaintiff at one time, but was restored on a motion by Mattingly's attorneys.

The Barter firm submitted low bids totaling $9,782,754 for the reconstruction of three sections of U.S. 23 in this county, but the bids were rejected by the state Bureau of Highways.

Mattingly said he was a joint-venturer in the Barter bids and had suspected a possible bid-rigging before the bids were made.

Mattingly, the first witness in the trial, charged that Ruth and Comley conspired to influence then-Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss to reject the bids.

Mattingly's attorney, Irwin Waterman, said in his opening statement that Ruth's firm owned or partly owned quarries that were expected to sell limestone to the companies that had submitted the second-lowest bids.

The defendants are trying to prove that Mattingly was not a partner in the bids but only a potential subcontractor, which would negate his right to continue the suit.

Among those who have been subpoenaed to testify at the trial are Goss, several other officials of the administration of former Gov. Louie Nunn and several highway contractors.

Allen Woman's Club News

Allen Woman's Club held its March membership meeting at the clubhouse. Prospective club members, Ferne Ankrone, Dinah L. Webb, Sharon Setser and Violet Goodman, were introduced.

Meeting was called to order by the club vice-president, Pat DeRossett, and the devotion was read by Bonnie Spencer. Pledge to the flag was given, and both treasurer's and secretary's reports were read and approved. A skit was presented by Lois Marshall, Nancy Marcum, Anita Lafferty and Diane Reed.

Diane Reed reported on the FREE program and that the contestant entering the speech contest is Roger Brown from Betsy Layne High School. The club voted to pay Roger's expenses while on the trip.

The Little Miss Floyd County Pageant was discussed. The date for the pageant has been changed to April 7, at the Martin Grade School auditorium. The entry deadline was changed to March 17. To enter, call Wanda Boyd, 478-5597, Diane Reed, 874-9528 or JoAnn Adams, 886-6833. A report of all committees was given.

Mrs. DeRossett reminded all members that the spring district meeting is March 31 at the Hazard School cafeteria, and the Hazard Woman's club needs to know those who will be attending by March 26.

The nominating committee presented its slate of officers for the new club year. President, Anita Lafferty; vice-president, Mary Hinchman; treasurer, Pat DeRossett and secretary, Paula Collins. The above mentioned will be installed at the April 10 meeting. The installation dinner menu was discussed and those needing to know what to bring may call Pat DeRossett.

The club decided to sponsor an Allen girl in the Miss Floyd County Pageant, provided we are able to find someone interested.

Refreshments were served to the guests and following club members: Pat DeRossett, Bonnie Spencer, Diane Reed, Lois Marshall, Carol Collins, Belle Conn, Hollie Blanton, JoAnn Adams, Anita Lafferty and Paula Collins.

Medicines, Adoptions Discussed on KET

Americans spend from $200 to $500 million more than necessary for prescription drugs each year, charges "Consumer Survival Kit," a series which provides consumers with cost-cutting tips and information each week on KET. Advertising techniques and the problems facing those involved in adoptions are also treated on "Consumer Survival Kit" Friday, March 23 at 9:30 p.m. (ET), 8:30 p.m. (CT).

Drug companies are costing the American public huge sums of money because many doctors and pharmacists cooperate in prescribing expensive private label drugs instead of identical generic labels. Consumers learn why this has been a common practice and what they can do to help prevent it.

Experts now estimate that for every baby available for adoption, there are over 100 couples waiting to adopt. "Consumer Survival Kit" visits a meeting for prospective parents sponsored by one of 450 adoptive parent groups scattered throughout the country to discuss the problem.

"Consumer Survival Kit" also talks with a leading creator of advertisements to see how he manages to get his message through to the average American who is bombarded daily with 1600 advertising messages.

WORK ON CLIFF which borders US 23 near the Pic-Pac Supermarket here has not been without complications. In addition to frequent traffic tie-ups, some damage has resulted to nearby structures as a result of falling rock. In above photo, anxious onlookers watch a rock and dirt fall from B. & W. Gas and TV's building opposite the cliff. B. & W. received considerable damage from small rocks which crashed through the store's display window when the work to remove the hazardous rockface began several months ago.

Shift of Funds May Get Water Job Under Way

Financial troubles of the developing Bull Creek-Water Gap Water District may be over, it was said here last week.

The district has been delayed in getting work under way because of KY 80 construction in the Bull Creek area. Homes of some of those who had signed for water service were taken for right-of-way or moved. Lines could not be laid until road location was established. And while the district waited inflation caught up with it.

It had $400,000 for line construction, but latest FmHA estimates say $300,000 more will be needed.

Last Friday, while a delegation representing the district and Congressman Carl D. Perkins were meeting with William Short, Kentucky secretary for the Appalachian Regional Commission, and FmHA representatives in an effort to get additional funds, State Rep. James "Jitter" Allen told Secretary Short in a telephone call that he had contacted Mayor Hambley, of Pikeville, and that Hambley had agreed to release $280,000 which the ARC had provided for the Pikeville water system. Pikeville could not use the money this year, but will have No. 1 priority for funds next year when it is ready for work.

Short assured the delegation that this amount would be diverted to the Bull Creek project, subject to approval by ARC in Washington, and FmHA agreed to increase its loan or grant to the water district by an amount necessary to bring its funds to the increased cost estimate.

Representing the water district at the Frankfurt conference were Curtis Hatfield, water district chairman; Jesse Wallen, commissioner; Gregory Stumbo, attorney for the district; Bill Harvey Howard, superintendent of the Prestonsburg water system and a resident of the Bull Creek area, and Tom Lafferty, landowner in the district.

Congressman Perkins is pushing for final ARC approval of the additional funds, and Stumbo said that, barring unforeseen problems, the project should be advertised for bids within four to six weeks and that construction may begin about June 1.

Ronald Frasure

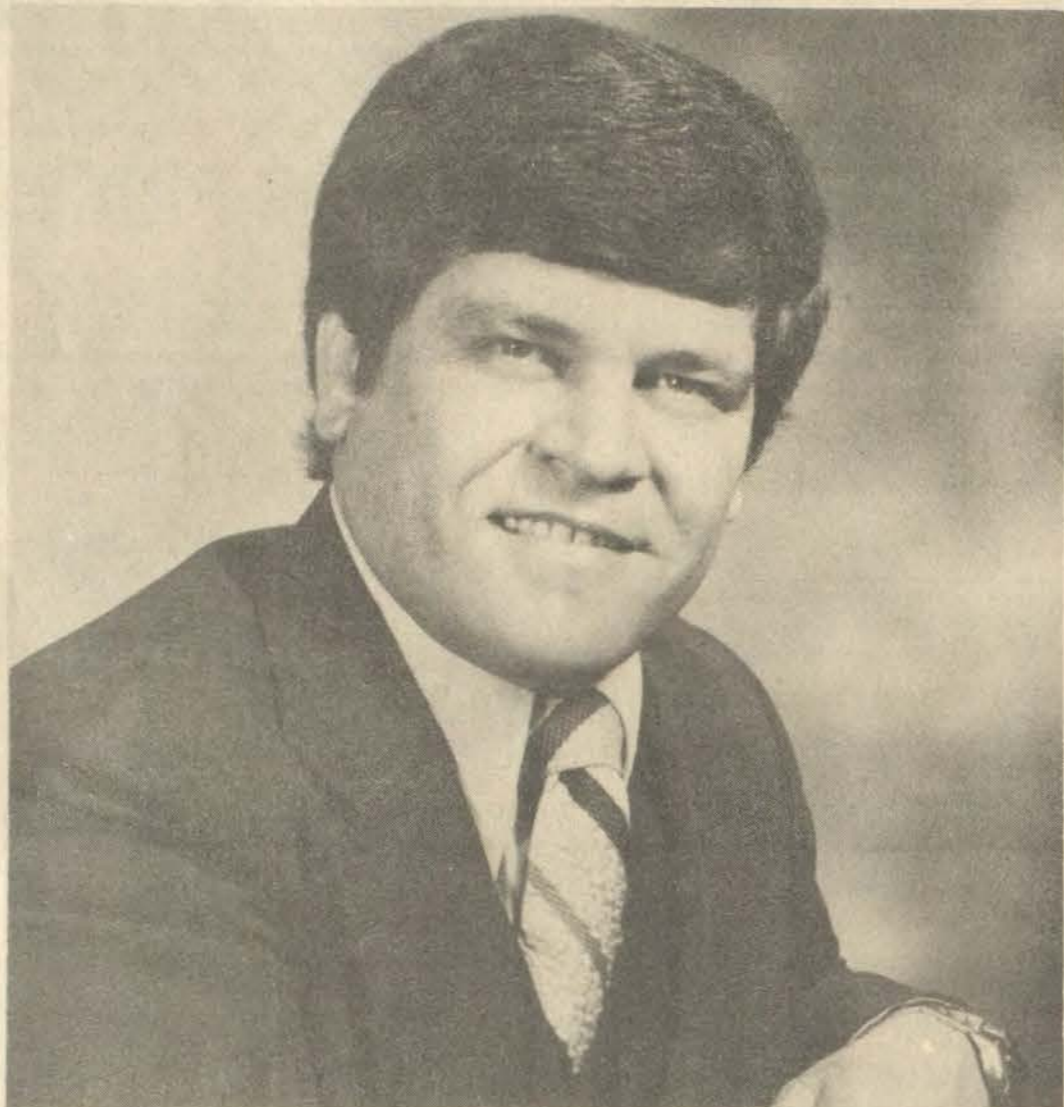

It was good to see Ronald Frasure's name in the TIMES for Judge-Executive. Looks like he's our only hope to get some roads fixed that have NEVER had anything done to them. Especially, the Cushaw bridge and road. Maybe he will find the money that was supposed to have been used for the bridge, and put it in action. We will have to wait another year, but one more won't be long. The people on Cushaw have waited many, many years, and got nothing but PROMISES.

Let's get some action! I believe Ronald will do his best to help the poor people. God knows they need someone who cares!

Thank you, Nora Martin Printer, Ky.

"RURAL ROADS: THE PROBLEM DEMANDS OUR ATTENTION"

The President of the United States listened attentively as the Secretary of one of his Departments outlined his suggestion that a major road building program be undertaken in Appalachia. The Secretary's idea was that it was in the best interest of the Nation to assist this vastly wealthy area to develop along with the rest of the Nation. That Secretary was Henry Knox, Secretary of War, and the President was George Washington. This little bit of history is mentioned only to point out the fact that the condition of the roads in Appalachia has concerned our leaders since our Nation's founding.

With the election of East Kentucky's own Bert T. Combs in 1959, we began to see some action on Secretary Knox's proposal. Governor Combs began the Mountain Parkway, one of the most useful roads to be built in East Kentucky. Over the next 19 years, we have seen our major highway system improved by Route 23, the Daniel Boone Parkway, Route 15 and, more recently, the construction of a new Route 80.

All of us here in East Kentucky, while we may disagree with some of the methods used to move people from their land and some of the prices paid for family homeplaces, have supported this welcomed development of major highways for East Kentucky. However, those of us who live along the hollows and creeks know that these developments have not solved the road problem in East Kentucky. Our rural secondary roads are in terrible condition and have largely been neglected.

There are places in our area where the only reliable means of getting to one of these major highways is using a horse and buggy. Once we reach a "super highway" there is a big sign saying "no horse drawn vehicles allowed." We need to concentrate our attention and our resources more on our rural secondary roads.

President Carter has asked that we double coal production by 1985. While our people have always responded favorably to any national emergency, it is unrealistic for the President to ask our people to double coal production without some major effort on the part of our government to develop and maintain these rural secondary roads that are the main link in transporting the coal to market.

Over half of all East Kentucky coal is transported by truck on all or part of its journey to market. As much as 30 percent of the total cost of production of coal is related to transportation. Our rural secondary roads simply are not constructed to support the kind of coal production the President wants. In order for us to meet the demands of our Nation for energy, in the form of coal, we must have adequate rural secondary roads for transportation of the coal.

Benny Ray Bailey understands this problem. Benny Ray knows that while the potholes in our roads may be a local problem, the complex social and political problems which create them directly relate to our Nation's need for coal energy. Benny Ray will work for more funds for our rural roads so that we can not only meet America's need for energy, but also meet the needs of our people for an adequate rural roads system. Vote for Benny Ray Bailey for State Senator. It's a vote for a better system of rural secondary roads for our area.

Architect's rendering of restored gymnasium.

For the first time since the devastation of the flood of '77 there is good news in Pikeville for all who loves basketball, that is. The gymnasium at Pikeville College will at last be restored.

Dr. Jackson Hall, president of Pikeville College, announced plans for the work last Thursday following a decision by the board of trustees to go ahead with plans for the athletic facility.

Dr. Hall, obviously happy with the decision, explained the position of the board regarding the long delay. "For some time college officials have not been satisfied with the manner in which the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration arrived at the original level of grant support for the renovation of the gym."

Now, however, bid specifications have been developed which will permit a final agreement with FDAA officials as to what the actual cost would be in Pikeville to return the gym to pre-flood condition, according to Dr. Hall, and the long stalemate is broken. The FDAA will provide grant support only to restore the facility to its original condition, and Dr. Hall noted, "This is not a satisfactory course to follow. We need an improved gymnasium."

An architectural rendering (reproduced above) reveals a structural shape familiar to everybody, but immediately noticeable are two entrances on the side nearest the tennis courts, rather than in front as was the case in the pre-flood structure. These doors are approached separately from long concrete ramps at each end of the building adjacent to parking both in front and back. The entrances open into a large lobby and ticket booth.

Inside the main level, the court has been turned laterally instead of lengthwise, as in the old gym, to allow for greater seating capacity along each side. Floor level seating is planned with chairbacks for greater comfort. There will be 364 seats to a side, bringing a capacity of 728 seats at the main level, and the seating will run the full length of the floor. Fixed bleachers will provide 480 additional seats on the upper level, bringing capacity seating to more than 1,200.

Crawl space under the gym will be filled with crushed stone and a concrete slab will be built on top, with a tartan surface applied to the playing floor. This is a new surface material, impervious to flooding, can actually be hosed clean, and is somewhat soft or cushiony under foot. The playing floor will consist of the long court and two cross courts for intramural sports activity.

New gas radiant heating units will be installed for the gymnasium, with ducted forced air heating used for public facilities and locker rooms, altogether far more efficient and suitable than the old gas blower system.

Corridors will be provided on each side for separated access to public facilities and to the locker rooms. Under the new plan there will be space for two extra classrooms. Restroom facilities will be modernized and partitioned. There will also be a storage area for a portable stage and related equipment on the main level. Adjacent to that area will be the concessions area.

The men's exercise room, lockers, and coaching office will be on the main level to the right of the lobby area, while opposite the lobby, at the far end of the gym, the women's section is to be located, with lockers, laundry, showers, and a women's coaching office. Already, plans are being introduced for a women's varsity basketball and expanded intramural athletic program and a women's coach is being sought for the college.

Second floor alterations will provide bleachers and a radio broadcast booth. Most of the remaining space on the second level will be used for offices, mechanical services and storage. Access to storage will be by an external stairway completely separated from main level corridors. Also a separate exit from offices will be provided by a stairway at the opposite end of the building.

The architectural firm of Chrisman, Miller, Wallace, Inc., of Lexington, designed the project. The general construction will be carried out by Construction Associates, of Pikeville.

The original commitment from FDAA for restoration to pre-flood condition was $268,832. Estimates in Pikeville at today's prices come to $408,832 with restoration only, no improvements. That represents a potential cost increase to the FDAA of $139,342 and is probably close to the amount that can be expected in federal support. The college expects some word from the FDAA within a week.

Improvements and renovation, as well as restoration to pre-flood condition, brings total costs for architects, general construction, and mechanical, electrical and other contracts to approximately $721,200. Less the FDAA participation, Pikeville College faces the need for an additional $315,000. It already has $55,000 toward this goal, leaving $260,000 to be raised.

Nurse-Midwife To Speak On Family-Centered Birth, Pre-Natal Care

Thursday evening, March 15 at 7 p.m., the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association will sponsor a talk on nurse-midwifery service, "Family-Centered childbirth and Pre-Natal Care." Liz Robinson, certified nurse-midwife, will present the discussion at Prestonsburg Community College in room 207 of the Pike Building, explaining what a nurse-midwife is and what a nurse-midwife does in a hospital setting. She will give details on what the nurse-midwifery service has to offer to expectant parents in our area.

Robinson, who has two children, took her clinical training at Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn, New York, in association with a New York Downstate University program sponsored by the Maternity Center Association of New York. A nurse since 1951, she received her nurse-midwife certificate in 1972 and has been a practicing nurse-midwife since then. She was associated for two years with the Booth Maternity Center in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, one of the nation's leading parent-centered, consumer-oriented birth centers. After coming to Kentucky, established the nurse-midwifery service at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington.

Anyone interested in hearing the discussion is invited to attend. Babysitting will be provided at the college during the hour-long presentation.

I am greatly concerned with the way in which the coal severance tax money is being handled. I feel that a greater portion of this money should be returned to the counties for local use. Local citizens should control these funds as well as make suggestions and studies concerning their use.

We must be allowed to use returned tax money to maintain and build local roads and highways. It is vital to the road system in this area that these additional funds be used for this purpose.

Additional coal severance money could and should be used to upgrade the educational system throughout Eastern Kentucky.

Our area has great potential for additional industrial development. A series of industrial parks could be established in this region that would provide a substantial boost to the economy of not only Eastern Kentucky but the State as a whole. The use of coal tax in this manor would provide us with a rich return on our investment.

These are but a few ways our area could benefit from the proper use of coal severance tax money. Programs such as litter and garbage removal, free landfills, rural medical programs, youth centers, recreational programs and developments, fish and game replenishment for the sportsman, as well as other vital community and area issues will be discussed in future newspaper releases.

On these issues, I promise to you that if elected I will do everything in my power to see to their proper implementation and will serve with your best interest in mind.

If you have a question or comment please feel free to contact me by phone or mail.

I am interested in what you have to say.

Seek Alternate Route for Dwale

Highway engineers are exploring the possibility of an alternate route into and out of Dwale after a meeting there March 3 between residents of the community, state and county officials, representatives of the Chessie System and state highway department.

Dwale residents have for some time voiced consternation at the frequent and lengthy blocking of the only road to and from their homes by trains on a C&O crossing there.

County Judge Yvonne Jones said that efforts to secure cooperation in the matter from the railway have in the past proved unsuccessful.

Officials attending the meeting Saturday included Congressman Carl D. Perkins. County Judge-Executive Yvonne Jones, Representative James "Jitter" Allen, Magistrates Ray Wilcox, District 1, and Eddie Caudill, District 3, Bert Banks, District Engineer, Department of Highways, Chris Moncenie, Engineering Department, C&O Railways, Teddi Pence, Urban Development and Community Action Committee, and William R. Callihan, county planner.

Highway engineers are expected to report on their findings at another meeting scheduled March 24.

I'm proud to say that I know what the inside of a coal mine is like. I am proud to say that my face has been covered with coal dust after a shift under the hill. I can humbly say that I have a "gut" feeling for the miner. In my heart I am still one of you and will always be.

Little Mud Residents Air Road Concerns

If you are going up Little Mud Creek these days, there is only one way to go—very slowly. That seemed to be the consensus among the 50 Little Mud residents who gathered at the Spruce Pine school last Friday night in an effort to have something done about their deteriorating roads.

Speakers at the meeting complained angrily of bone-jarring ruts and heaves, of numerous deep pot holes, of muddy sections impassable except with tire chains and four-wheel-drive vehicles, of missed school days, damaged cars, and of what they see as a lack of response on the part of state and county officials. "We're tired of putting up with these conditions," said Mrs. Bulavene Hall. "We hardly ever see the state or county in here, and then it's only to do a bit of patching. We need a decent road." KY 2030 and several county roads serve the area.

No one at the meeting needed to be told that the main causes of the road damage are the trucks that haul coal from the hollow's six active mines. But on this issue the mine operators insist that they are on the same side as the other residents. "I'm fed up to my neck with this," explained Caner Hunter, who operates a deep mine on Little Mud. "The county tells the people to blame the operators, but this hurts us the same as everyone. The roads tear our trucks to hell."

A resolution of the Floyd fiscal court last week urged coal operators trucking coal over the Little Mud road, the Cedar Hill road near Harold, and the Robinson Creek road on Left Beaver Creek to begin upgrading the roads at once or risk having a weight limit imposed on the roads. Operators at the Little Mud meeting said they resented having to pay severance taxes on their coal and then being expected to maintain the roads themselves. "If they let us keep the taxes," Hunter offered, "we'll fix the roads ourselves." About 5000 tons of coal are hauled from Little Mud every week, severance tax levied at "a little over a dollar" a ton.

Some recognize that a large part of the problem is that trucks licensed to weight 40 tons are plying roads designed to bear 15 tons. But the answer to the problem is not to reduce the loads, according to Bulavene Hall, whose husband is a mine operator. "Without the loads, the operator can't make a living," she said. "The answer is to build better roads." Mrs. Janice Pullum, the principal organizer of Friday night's meeting, said she was disappointed that, of the various state and county officials she invited to the meeting, the only one to attend was State Highways District Engineer Arthur Perkins. Perkins said he would try to get Little Mud included in next year's road maintenance budget, but many indicated that a quicker solution was needed.

A road committee was appointed and it was decided that a delegation should present the group's complaints to the Floyd fiscal court at its March 27 meeting.

Nursing Home Honors Two on Valentine Day

Residents of Mountain Manor Nursing Home here enjoyed a Valentine party, Feb. 14. Mrs. Nancy Webb, daughter of Ethel Powers, gave a brief discussion of the origin and history of Valentine's Day.

Mrs. Mousie Howell and Robert Frazier were elected as the nursing home's resident "Valentine Day Sweethearts." Each was awarded a crown and presented Valentine pillows, by administrator, Goldie Rorrer. All the residents and staff enjoyed the three-tiered Valentine cake and punch provided by the dietary staff. Maureen Mayo and Onda Lee Boyd and staff members volunteered their services for the occasion.

Perkins Bill Would Halt Ban On Kentucky Coal in Ohio

Congressman Carl D. Perkins has introduced legislation to stop the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) from preventing Ohio utilities from buying coal from states other than Ohio.

The bill is cosponsored by Congressman Thomas L. Ashley of Ohio and John M. Slack, of West Virginia. EPA has attempted to interpret the clause, "regionally available coal," in section 125 of the Clean Air Act to mean that the state of Ohio was the "region." This prevented Ohio utilities from purchasing low-sulfur coal from Kentucky, West Virginia and other states to meet EPA air quality standards in an economical fashion. Under the EPA proposal, Ohio utilities would be required to purchase high sulfur Ohio coal which would require the purchase of expensive "scrubbers" and delay the meeting of air quality standards. The consumers would be forced to pay higher utility bills because of the necessity to purchase expensive "scrubbers" as well as to suffer unnecessarily from dirty air.

Since Perkins' legislation will lower the cost of producing electricity in Ohio, it will help fight inflation, it is argued. Under the terms of the bill, "regionally available coal" must be defined to mean at the least a region composed of the consuming state and all states which border on that state. In the case of Ohio, it means that Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Indiana must be included in the region.

McGraw-Hill To Sponsor Coal Conference, Expo V

McGraw-Hill, Inc. has assumed sponsorship of the Coal Conference and Expo V from the National Coal Association and Bituminous Coal Research Inc. Coal Age, a McGraw-Hill publication serving the coal industry, will sponsor the event held at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville, October 23-25.

Hughes Says Public To Benefit

Sen. Lowell Hughes, D-Ashland, says that, even though many difficulties were encountered during the five-week special session of the Kentucky General Assembly, the people will benefit tremendously from the work of the Legislature.

"We, in fact, cut taxes by some $50 million per year and all taxpayers will see some direct tax relief," Hughes said.

"In addition," Hughes said, "we have seen government growing, growing and growing and during the growth process we have seen some waste developing...some programs started that probably are not necessary."

"Once we limit the amount of revenue the government has to spend," Hughes added, "we are going to stop some of the growth and waste and hopefully cause government to be more efficient and responsive in the future."

The call for the session included enactment of legislation dealing with property and income taxes, utility rates and traffic fines.

Those issues are complex enough, Hughes said, but the real problem is determining the financial status of the state.

"One of the biggest problems facing legislators looking for ways to finance tax cuts was the totally conflicting versions of the financial status of Kentucky," Hughes said.

The first-term senator said, "The Senate had to work very hard as a Committee of the Whole (the entire Senate meeting as one committee) in an attempt to determine the financial posture of the state so we could proceed with the tax issues."

Hughes is vice chairman of the Senate Public Utilities and Transportation Committee and a member of the Judiciary-Statutes and Labor and Industry Committees which reviewed much of the legislation considered during the special session.

Old Campaigner Here

Former Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler, a political veteran of more than half a century, was deep in Eastern Kentucky politics last week as he toured the 29th Senatorial district on behalf of his longtime friend, Joe D. Weddington, of Prestonsburg, who is a Democratic candidate for state senator.

In a television appearance at Hazard Mr. Chandler not only endorses Weddington but also declared his support of Terry McBrayer, Democratic candidate for governor. Many had expected him to support Mrs. Thelma Stovall for the post.

At 80 the legendary Chandler amazes friends over the state by his physical stamina and mental alertness.

E.K.C.E.P. Applying For $21,580,897 Grant

The Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program, with central offices in Hazard, is applying for $21,580,897 under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

The purpose of this application is to combine the activities into one Master Plan and one Annual Plan called a Comprehensive Employment and Training Plan (CETP), it was said.

The CETP and a comparison of performance against the prior year's plan through the most recent quarter can be reviewed at the central office of EKCEP, 625 Memorial Drive in Hazard, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Questions and comments may be directed to Mr. Virgil Osborne, Executive Director of EKCEP, by calling (606) 436-5751 during the hours listed above.

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION ASKS SCHOOL CALENDAR CHANGE

In a letter to the Floyd County Board of Education, it has been proposed by the Floyd County Education Association that the school calendar be revised in order that school may be in session on those days which are now scheduled as free days.

In other action, the group's officers and board of directors appointed Mrs. Judy Carter vice president of the association until September. The office was formerly held by Mrs. Ruth Blanton. A $50 check was presented to Tammy Arnett, Floyd County spelling champion, for expenses to Morehead where she will compete, and the group also voted to pay expenses to Louisville for the delegate to the KEA meet.

Carroll Creates Commission To Study Criminal Sentencing

Governor Julian Carroll last Thursday announced the creation of a special commission on sentencing and the release of criminal offenders. The 14-member special commission will consider the current sentencing system, the state's parole system, post-release supervision and the good-time award system. Governor Carroll noted that a bill supported by the attorney general, which would have altered the sentencing and release practices of the Commonwealth, was considered in the 1978 General Assembly. "The task of the special commission will be to look at the current system as well as alternative systems of sentencing and release," Governor Carroll said. The commission is charged with reporting to the governor and General Assembly on its findings and recommendations by December 31. Governor Carroll appointed Attorney General Robert Stephens and Corrections Commissioner David Bland to serve as co-chairmen of the commission. Other members appointed by the governor to serve on the commission are: John Paul Runyon, Pikeville; Will Shadoan, Wickliffe; Senators Walter Baker, Glasgow and Delbert Murphy, Owensboro; Representatives Bob Jones, Crestwood, and Bill Weinberg, Hindman; Judge Julia Tackett, Lexington; Burnett Napier, Frankfort; Mrs. David Cole, Bowling Green; Mrs. Gloria Neal, Louisville; Kenneth Silvers, Lexington and Donnie White, Lexington.

Seek Miss Floyd Co. Pageant Contestants

Every young girl dreams of becoming Miss America. The girl who is selected Miss Floyd County Pageant queen has taken the first step toward realizing this dream, Debbie Biliter, pageant entry chairman, said in calling for candidates to enter the pageant. The pageant will be conducted Saturday, April 28, at 8 p.m. at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre.

Civic and social organizations in the area may sponsor candidates, and young women are also asked to submit their own names as entries.

To qualify, a young woman must be between 17 and 26 years of age on the Labor Day holiday, must be a high school graduate by Labor Day and must never have been married.

Talent will be considered in the judging and each contestant should possess some quality of talent, either trained or potential. In the talent qualification, it is stressed that the range is varied and that no young woman must necessarily be trained in any specific field. There have been state queens who have presented dramatic readings or comedy monologues as their talent presentations before a panel of nationally prominent judges.

Judging of the candidates will be based on the same categories as those considered at the Kentucky State Pageant and at the National Miss America Pageant. Each contestant will be judged in private interview, evening gown, and swimsuit, as well as in the presentation of her talent.

The pageant is sponsored annually by the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club.

Calamity Days

Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. America is on an elevator. Is she going up or down? Seemingly, we have become victims of amnesia and spiritual adultery.

Jesus said, I will laugh at your calamities and I will mock when you call. Organized religion and organized crime are taking over. We have forsaken the authoritative word of Almighty God, and the constitution of our United States.

Let freedom ring and let us be honest with God and we will be honest with man.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats and the Allen Central Rebels both lost in the first round of the 15th regional basketball tournament that got under way at the Johnson Central gym last Wednesday night, and the Allen Central Rebelettes and the McDowell Daredeviltes also lost in the first round of girl's regional basketball at the Lawrence County High School at Louisa.

In boy's regional play in the upper bracket Wednesday night, the Pikeville Panthers upset the Belfry Pirates, 73 to 60. Pikeville was runner-up from the 59th district and Belfry was the winner from the 60th district. Sheldon Clark upset the Betsy Layne Bobcats that same night by a score of 57 to 56 in an overtime. Paul Layne led the Bobcat attack with 20 points, and Ronnie Akers had 18. Coach William Newsome, Jr. and the Bobcats closed out their season with a record of 22 wins and 7 losses.

In the lower bracket Thursday night, the Virgie Eagles, the tourney favorite, defeated Phelps, 75 to 67. The same night, Johnson Central downed the Allen Central Rebels, 70 to 56. The score doesn't indicate, however, how close the game was. In fact, Allen Central led at halftime, 28 to 27, trailed by only 44 to 41 in the third quarter, but in the fourth everything went wrong for Coach Howard Wallen and his Rebels.

David Couch scored 19 points in the fourth and for the night he had 39 points. Phil Slone, playing with a badly sprained ankle, had 14 points. Ralph Caudill had 14. Mark Martin was injured in the fourth quarter and was taken to a hospital. Coach Wallen's boys closed their season with a record of 23 wins and 13 losses.

In the semi-finals Sheldon Clark defeated the Pikeville Panthers, 61 to 52. Pikeville closed out with a 12 and 20 record.

That same night, Virgie won over the Johnson Central Eagles 77 to 61. Coach Wendell Wallen and his Golden Eagles end their season with a 22 and 7 record.

The championship game pitted the Virgie Eagles (27-3) against the Sheldon Clark Cardinals (17-15). Sheldon Clark was very impressive in the first half, leading by a 27 to 21 count, but lost the lead in the third quarter by scoring only five points. Virgie scored 14 points in the fourth quarter, pulled away and won the 15th championship by a score of 51 to 47. Virgie will be making its third straight trip to the state tournament which will be held at Rupp Arena in Lexington, starting Wednesday, and Virgie will play the champion of the second region in the last game Thursday night, Virgie will carry a 28 and 3 record to the tournament.

The winner's trophy was awarded to Coach Bobby Osborne and his Virgie Eagles. Runnerup trophy was awarded to Coach Johnny Martin (Garrett High School graduate) and his Sheldon Clark Cardinals. Individual free shot trophy was awarded to Jimmy Kiser, of the Virgie Eagles team. The free shot trophy was won by Allen Central, the Rebels hitting all of their free shots. Johnson Central won the cheerleader trophy, while Phelps High School won the pep squad trophy. The All-Regional Team was selected and the following players were selected:

Mike May, Stoney Newsome and Greg Newsome, all of Virgie. Randy Lafferty, of Sheldon Clark; David Couch and Terry Branham, of Johnson Central; Ervin Stepp, of Phelps; Bo Adkins, of Pikeville; Ronnie Akers, of Betsy Layne; Phil Slone and Mark Martin, of Allen Central.

Championship Game
Virgie (51)—Stoney Newsome 25, Mike May 15, Greg Newsome 4, Jeff McPeck 4, Jimmy Kiser 2, Rowe 1.

Sheldon Clark (47)—Randy Lafferty 19, Tim Moore 8, Claude Jude 7, David Marcum 5, Frank Robinson 4, Tim Sizemore 4.

Rice's Crispies . . .

Harry Burke: One of the Best Ever To Wear a Striped Shirt

By KENNY RICE

The 62nd Kentucky State High School Basketball Tournament opens today (Wednesday) at Rupp Arena in Lexington. Sixteen teams will bask in the spotlight of fan and media attention for the next four days. These teams are the best in their sections of the Commonwealth. Whether they were favored all the way, or whether they pulled off upset after upset, they are their region's best at this time.

To be in the "Sweet 16" is to be among the best. And that goes for the overlooked group of 11 men in striped shirts with whistles around their neck. Being chosen to referee in a State Tournament is an honor bestowed only on a few across the state. Selected to referee two state tourneys means the first tourney performance was very impressive. To be picked for a third carries the prestige of being one of the top officials in the Commonwealth.

Prestonsburg's Harry Burke has been one of the few to call in three State Tournaments, Burke's ability and poise on the hardwood made him one of the state's most respected refs during his 12 years of wearing the black and white. During this time of countless regular season, district and regional tournament games, the popular Burke called 11 games in the three "Sweet 16s" including the championship games in 1970 and 1972.

With his State Tournament record, it's no wonder one of his most memorable games is a "Sweet 16" contest. "I'll never forget my first state tournament game," he recalls. "The biggest crowd I'd called in front of was a packed house at Morehead State's gym and that was around 5,000 or so. There at Freedom Hall with 17,000 looking on, was something I'll always remember."

Another game Harry won't forget was the first time he trotted out on the hardwood to referee. "That was the hardest game I ever called. The game was Virgie against Dorton and this was the first time in four years these schools had played each other. The two coaches, Virgil Osborne and Ronald Curry, called E. B. May and told him they needed another referee. E. B. asked me to call the game with him. If it wasn't for E. B., I would never have got into the business. E. B. did a lot for referees in this area. And I've always had a soft spot for Virgil and Ronald for letting me call their game and for getting me for games later on. But the first game seemed like it lasted an eternity. After the game I was handed a popcorn bag that was stapled at the top. Inside was pay for the game. There were dollar bills and silver inside. I didn't count it until I got home. There was $15 in the bag."

Burke's talent did not go unnoticed among college conferences. On several occasions he was approached by conference representatives to find out if he was interested in calling college ball. He declined because, he says, "You have to call high school ball closer. The reason is, college players are more polished, there's less awkward bumping. The better high school teams have the ability to play in a loose game and the ref doesn't have to call as close, but here in the mountains the fans demand a closely called game. I think it is damaging to our players here in Eastern Kentucky to have to play in such a controlled game. I didn't take the college offers because I don't think you can call both at the same time. I'm not saying it can't be done, but I've never seen anyone who could call them both at the same time. When you call the looser college game, it's tough to adjust to the tighter high school game."

Burke called games through the 60's and into the early 70's. He doesn't feel that the players and teams are better now than during the time he called games. "Believe me, we were just as good then as any team in our area now. I know it is the habit of all people as they get older to think that their era was the best, but there isn't a big improvement. Most people think the athletes get better, and overall they do in some ways, but there were a lot of good outside shooters a few years ago and I've noticed that's changed over the years. The teams are all consolidated now, it seems. The rivalries are lacking."

And what advice would one of the premiere refs in the state for over a decade give to a person interested in refereeing today?

"Don't go into it," Harry laughed. "Referee as many intramural games as possible. When I started, I hadn't called any junior varsity or intramural games but I went back and called them after I started calling varsity games, to help me improve. When you call a game, try to forget anyone in the stands. Don't worry about anyone else, just get lost on the floor with the players and you won't have pressure. Don't ever look at the score clock except at timeouts. Don't look for trouble on the bench, but don't back away from it. To be a good referee, you have to be well prepared."

Harry Burke knows what it takes to be a good ref. He's one of the best ever to wear a striped shirt.

MARTIN'S MAGIC

Sheldon Clark Coach John Martin was happy to be in the regional tournament last week at Johnson Central. His team wasn't suppose to be in the final eight; they were supposed to lose to Paintsville at Paintsville in the semi-finals of the 57th District Tournament. Instead, they beat the Tigers to advance into district finals against Johnson Central. The SC team lost and had to play 58th District champ Betsy Layne on the opening night of the regional. The Martin county team beat the Bobcats, avenged an earlier loss

Floyd Closed to Deer-Hunting, Shorter Season for Quail, Rabbit

The Fish and Wildlife Commission last week approved regulations for the 1979 Kentucky gun and archery deer seasons similar to those in effect last year, according to Carl E. Kays, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Gun and bow hunting will be permitted in 110 counties, with an archery season for either sex deer running Oct. 1-Nov. 9, Nov. 13-Nov. 19 and Dec. 4-31. In addition, an 11-day crossbow only season for either sex deer is scheduled for Nov. 20-Nov. 30 in all open counties, according to the proposed regulations.

For the gun deer season, Kentucky's open counties have been divided into four zones, each with differing regulations.

In 75 counties, the gun deer season will consist of two "long weekend" hunts—Nov. 10-12 and Dec. 1-3. Only antlered deer (deer with at least one antler 4 inches long or longer) may be taken in 68 of the counties, while in three counties there will be one day of either sex and five days of antlered deer only hunting. In one county and in portions of three others, either sex deer may be taken on all six days.

In 35 counties, hunting will be permitted for antlered deer for three days only, Nov. 10-12. Ten counties are closed to both gun and bow deer hunting.

The "zone 1" counties (open to either sex deer for six days) are Edmonson, Barren west of Interstate 65, Hart west of I-65 and south of Kentucky 88, and Ballard north and west of U.S. 60. The other portions of these counties are open for antlered deer only on all six days.

"Zone 2" counties, with one day of either sex hunting (Dec. 1) and five days of antlered deer only hunting, are Crittenden, Livingston and McCracken counties in western Kentucky.

The "zone 4" counties, open for three days (Nov. 10-12) for antlered deer only, are the following: Adair, Bell, Bourbon, Breathitt, Clark, Clay, Clinton, Daviess, Fayette, Garrard, Greenup, Hardin, Harlan, Jackson, Jefferson, Jessamine, Kenton, Know, Laurel, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Lyon, Madison, Marshall, Mercer, Metcalfe, Montgomery, Morgan, Owsley, Pike, Rockcastle, Simpson, Whitley and Woodford. All other open counties are classed as "zone 3" and are open for all six days for antlered deer only.

The 10 closed counties are Estill, Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lincoln, Magoffin, Martin, Perry, Powell and Wolfe. Information on firearms requirements, special area hunts and details of the upcoming deer hunts will be announced at a later date.

Shorter seasons and reduced bag and possession limits for quail and rabbit hunting were enacted by the Commission, meeting in regular quarterly session in Frankfort. The changes were made, according to Commissioner Kays, because severe weather of the past three winters has drastically lowered statewide populations of both wildlife species.

According to the new regulations adopted by the commission, the 1979-'80 quail hunting season will be shorter by 11 days, opening as usual on the third Thursday in November (November 15) but continuing only through February 17. The bag limit for quail was reduced from 10 to 8, and the possession limit from 20 to 16. The rabbit season, shorter by 10 days, will also open November 15 and will close January 21, with limits of 4 and 8 instead of 6 and 12.

Other small game seasons and limits set by the commission were virtually unchanged from last year and are as follows:

Squirrel, Aug. 18-Oct. 31 and Nov. 15-Dec. 31, limits 6 and 12; grouse, Nov. 15-Feb. 29, limits 4 and 8; furbearers (trapping), Nov. 15-Jan. 31, no limits, and furbearers (by other methods), Nov. 15-Jan. 31, no limits except that no more than one raccoon per hunter or no more than 3 per party of three or more hunters may be taken. Falconry hunting will be allowed from November 1 through the last hunting date for the species hunted with the above bag and possession limits to apply.

Trapping and hunting for all species except waterfowl, rails, gallinules, woodcock and snipe will be closed throughout the entire state during the gun deer season, Nov. 10-12 and Dec. 1-3, except on eight wildlife management areas where hunting and trapping will be allowed. Those areas are: West Kentucky, Higginson-Henry, Land Between the Lakes, Fort Knox, Fort Campbell, Yellowbank, Kleber and Clay.

Berea Program Offers High School Students Look at College Life

High school students who want a taste of college life may have the opportunity to enroll in Berea College, Berea, Ky., for a special summer program. Four-week sessions in wildlife biology, creative writing, astronomy and mathematics begin on June 10 as part of the Rising Seniors Program at Berea. Each carries four semester hours of college credit. A week-long workshop in graphic arts for high school publications is scheduled from June 10 through 16.

Because of the intensive nature of these summer classes, only high school students who have completed their junior year and have strong academic records (3 point average on the 4 point system) can be accepted. Preference will be given to applicants whose families have limited financial resources and are residents of the Appalachian region.

A maximum of 40 students will be accepted for the Wildlife Biology program which is being funded by the National Science Foundation. The class provides field-laboratory experiences in wildlife management and environmental conservation with approximately one-fourth of the student's time to be spent in a student-initiated research project. To participate, those accepted must have completed at least one year of high school biology and must have a recommendation from a biology or science instructor. Field work will be done in the 6,000-acre Berea College Forest and watersheds and in the Daniel Boone National Forest. The class will be taught by Claude Gentry, professor of agronomy and biology at Berea.

Dr. William Schafer, who holds the Seabury Award for excellence in teaching at Berea, will conduct the creative writing course in which students will produce original works that will be duplicated and reviewed. In addition to the instructor, a poet and a writer will be in residence for one week each. Students should have completed at least three years of high school English with a B plus average in the subject.

Students who have completed at least one year of high school algebra are eligible to enroll in an astronomy class to be conducted by Dr. Smith T. Powell. The class will explore the possibility of the existence of intelligent life throughout the universe. The 25 students accepted will use both the Berea College physics laboratories and the Gilbert Roberts observatory.

The mathematics class, "The Geometry of Bending and Twisting: Point-Set Topology" will involve problems solving, functions, real numbers and the major concepts and techniques of topology. Enrollment will be limited to 20 students who have completed three math courses including Algebra I and II. Normally, applicants are expected to have a B plus average in math. Dr. Philip Schmidt will be the instructor.

Graphic arts instructor Greg Spaid will conduct the one-week workshop for high school students who are working with, or plan to work with, school publications. Twenty-five students will be accepted and will have the opportunity to practice the various processes of offset, silk screen printing and photography. During the session students will produce a class publication.

Those enrolled in the four-week courses will, like all students at Berea College, participate in the on-campus labor program. The pay earned in this work may be applied toward the $153 fee which includes room, board, insurance, health, and some activity fees. These expenses total $45 for the week-long graphic arts class. Scholarships are available on the basis of financial need.

High school students planning to enroll should apply no later than April 20. Application forms and additional information may be obtained from John S. Cook, Director of Admissions Box 2344, Berea College, Berea, Ky. 40404.

Three Killed In Collision

Three men were killed last Thursday when their pickup truck and a sand truck collided on KY 40, about one-half mile from the Inez city limits.

State police identified the victims as Billy Belvins, 23, the driver; Gary Stollings, 23; and James Floyd Stollings, 20, all of Chapmanville, W. Va.

Homer Martin, 19, of Louisa, who was driving the unloaded sand truck, escaped injury in the morning accident.

State police said Martin told them that he rounded a curve and saw the other vehicle was in a skid, heading toward him. Martin said the pickup caught fire after the collision and he attempted to put the flames out with a fire extinguisher.

Members of a rescue team and Inez volunteer firemen worked more than an hour to free the bodies from the wreckage.

State police said the West Virginia men, employed by a Chapmanville house-moving firm, were on their way to a job in Paintsville.

State police said the accident was under investigation.

PLATFORM OBJECTIVES

 - March 7, 1979, Floyd County Times: 10 MAJOR OBJECTIVES ON SPORTS

MY 10 MAJOR OBJECTIVES FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

- 1. REST HOMES
Will begin at once to propose legislation for strict inspections on a periodic basis of the rest homes in the area. Most of us do not realize how miserably our loved ones are being treated in some of these places. Many are living in squalor and degrading circumstances without ample food and care. In the meantime visit your loved one and inspect for yourself. I want to go on record that there are some very good rest homes in our district and I am most aware of that—I salute these few!
- 2. AUTO LICENSE
Will begin at once to try to get a fifty percent discount on auto license tags for persons age 65 and older.
- 3. DRIVERS LICENSE
Will propose a bill to provide our senior citizens with free driver's license after age 65.
- 4. GARDENING
Will do everything possible to promote more gardening in our area. We believe that this can go a long way in helping to combat inflation and provide a terrific past time for our senior citizens. This district is as suitable for truck farming as any in the United States. This could be a fine thing for everyone and help to bring back some of the "good old days".
- 5. SEEDS
Will move toward a system to provide free seeds to our senior citizens.
- 6. COUNTY FAIRS
Will put more interest in our County Fairs to display what has been grown—Just like the good old days!
- 7. DISCOUNTS
Although legislators have no control over private merchants offering discounts I feel that many would welcome the opportunity to offer discounts on such things as groceries, clothing, garden supplies, fishing equipment, etc., to senior citizens. I will move to encourage such discounts. I believe many area merchants would be happy to cooperate.
- 8. TELEPHONE
In order to give you the best of service, I will have installed a telephone system that will enable you to contact me at all times.
- 9. NEWSPAPER LISTINGS
Will list the proposals made in local newspapers. I will post everything so that no one will be in the dark as to what your Senator is doing.
- 10. TEN COMMANDMENTS
Will continue to promote the 10 Commandments in our schools. Some are fighting us on this issue saying such things as "outdated, foolish, not necessary, silly," to name a few. This country was built on Christian principles and despite negative reaction we will continue to fight for this legislation.

Florida Backs Coal-Slurry Plan

A Florida Senate committee last week voted to give land condemnation powers to a group of utilities that wants to build a pipeline to carry Kentucky and Illinois coal to Florida power plants.

The Judiciary-Civil Committee voted 4-2 for a controversial bill—which the railroad industry opposes—that gives eminent domain powers to coal-slurry pipeline companies.

Approval came after the panel added language that would grant the land-taking power only if the Public Service Commission and other states approve the project's environmental and economic plans.

The sponsors also agreed to draft language designed to protect sensitive areas, such as wildlife refuges, but no specifics were worked out.

The bill would allow Florida Gas Co. and a group of utilities to condemn privately owned land for their 1,500-mile coal-slurry pipeline from mines in Kentucky and Illinois to Florida power plants.

The pipeline builders said they need eminent domain powers in order to cross railroad-owned property.

Railroad industry officials objected that the pipeline would siphon off the most lucrative coal-moving jobs that they are counting on for future revenues to finance modernization of their equipment and tracks. Railroads and other forms of pipelines have condemnation powers.

Environmentalists said they had no major objections to the project but they expressed concern that the pipeline might cross parks or sensitive lands where a slurry spill would be disastrous.

TO OPPOSE DESKINS

Tom E. Dotson, of Meta, has announced his candidacy for State Representative, 94th Legislative District, which includes six precincts in the southern portion of Floyd county. He will oppose incumbent Herbie Deskins in the Democratic primary, May 29.

RECEIVING ATTENTION

Some of the bitter opponents of coal slurry pipelines, especially the railroads, seem to be softening their opposition. Railroads in Kansas recently agreed to let coal slurry pipelines cross under their rights-of-way. Two plans for building slurry pipelines to move coal from Kentucky coal fields into Florida, Georgia, and other areas of the country have recently emerged.

Are the Seasons Changing?

By NEVYLE SHACKALFORD

Do seasons come earlier or later than they used to?

Some old-time farmers and outdoorsmen say "yes, the seasons come earlier in the year" while others are of a different opinion. Each group offers proof to back up the belief.

One 85-year-old farmer, who has spent a lifetime cultivating a Middle Fork River farm in the Quicksand Extension Area, says that back in his younger days, spring came a lot earlier than now. Back then, he said, farmers made a point to have all their corn planting done by the last of March. Another old-timer sitting around the stove in a country store where this discussion took place agreed. He said he remembered hoeing corn in April.

Another senior citizen sitting by the stove chimed in with the statement that for all practical purposes, winter came earlier than now. He recalled that many times during his youth, it often snowed in September when leaves were still on the trees. He recounted how he and his brother went to school barefooted one warm autumn morning. That afternoon they went home with some schoolboy friends to spend the night. In the soft, seductive warmth of that early fall evening, they had a fine time playing "whoopie hide" outdoors but when they awoke next morning, the weather was a different story. During the night a six-inch snow covered the landscape.

With their shoes at home, the two boys had no alternative but to hit the snow barefooted.

Without access to weather records to times past it is difficult to figure out whether, on the average, the seasons came earlier or later than in times present. Recalling tales of the big snow of May 19, 1894, it is easy to believe that springs came later than usual. On the other hand tales of planting corn in March and hoeing it in April is proof that the vernal seasons came earlier. One thing for sure, not one old-timer present complained that "we don't have the big snows like we used to." The big snows of this winter and last winter have put a damper on that complaint.

DETECTIVE SERIES AIRS ON KET

The presentation is the first of five Sayers' mysteries to air under the title "Murder Most English." The stories, each four parts, will be repeated on KET Sundays at 4 p.m. (ET), 3 p.m. (CT), beginning March 25.

FOR COUNTY JUDGE-EXECUTIVE

(Pol. Adv. Pd. by Candidate)

The future development of Floyd County is, once again, in our hands this coming election. If we are to achieve our chosen objectives, we must have leadership in our county offices that exhibits qualities of DETERMINATION, MOTIVATION, and SINCERE DESIRE for PROGRESS, GROWTH, and PROSPERITY in this county.

The opportunities of achieving these chosen objectives are abundant and the only shortage of opportunity is the shortage we declare and accept. If a sincere, positively determined desire for progress exists in our county's leadership nothing can cause us to accept less than what we are striving to achieve.

The one realization we all must face is that in order to have the means of support to BUILD and MAINTAIN our county we simply cannot afford to take our tax dollars elsewhere. We must make beneficial use of them here and intelligently apply the return profit to our county's use, also.

The reason I am seeking this office is one of DEMOCRATIC DESIRE and DETERMINATION for a more POSITIVE, ECONOMICALLY-BALANCED future for ALL Floyd Countians.

TOGETHER WE CAN HAVE IT THE WAY WE WANT IT!

ELECT HOWARD KEATHLEY FLOYD COUNTY JUDGE, EXECUTIVE —

A TRUE DEMOCRAT

WHY YOU SHOULD SUPPORT ANNEXATION

In 1964 there were 17 empty business places and 35 empty rent houses in Prestonsburg. Very few houses had been built for years because there was nobody to rent to. A third of the Floyd County's and Prestonsburg's population had gone north to get jobs. The whole area was near bankruptcy.

A group of local business people and local leaders met and tried to work out a plan to improve the area. The first thing that was decided was that we weren't doing things that should be done. Different groups decided the best thing to do was to visit other places that were prosperous and were attracting industry: Upon their return a meeting was held to find what they had learned.

It was decided that we would have to make Prestonsburg and the area a more attractive place to live in if we were to attract industry (the coal business was dead at that time).

We would do this:

1. Improve our educational facilities—Community College, improved High Schools.
2. Improve our churches and look to them for additional leadership; new churches, improvement of older ones.
3. Improve our housing—385 public housing units, 150 new houses.
4. Improve our recreation facilities—State park—Archer Park — Tourism.
5. Improve the Business section—new parking lots, 50 new businesses employing hundreds of people.
6. Improve roads—end isolation—Mt. Parkway, U.S. 23, KY 3 to Inez, KY 80.

7. Improve medical facilities—new hospital, two nursing homes, two clinics, 14 fine doctors, 5 pharmacies.

8. Jobs to bring our people back from Michigan and Ohio—U.S. Shoe, KAI, Princess Mfg., Brock-McVey, Elliott Glass, Mountain Mental Health, May Metal Co., R. & S. Body Co., Overnite Transportation, Worldwide Equipment, 5 fine automobile agencies, UPS, and many others.

Suddenly there was enough people to fill the jobs available. People started coming home.

Prestonsburg suddenly became a boom town, even before the coal boom. Today, we have a nighttime population of 4000 people but a daytime population of 10,000. 18,000 cars a day pass through the city. People from all the surrounding counties work in the city. Our banks have doubled in size. While we were improving, so was the whole area, look at the trailer parks in Cliff, Branham Village, Hydens Trailer park. Sally Stephens Branch trailer courts and the Stumbo courts, plus hundreds of new homes. Prestonsburg is busting at the seams—we must have room to grow.

We could lose this trend for more jobs, unless we in the northern part of the county pull together. Your property is worth 10 times what it was 15 years ago. But will it continue to grow if we stop attracting industry and have no housing for additional workers.

Won't you help keep the area growing by supporting annexation.

IF WE LOSE OUR PRESENT PROSPERITY, IT MAY TAKE 50 YEARS TO GET IT BACK.

By JOHN FULLER

(In The Lexington Herald)

Coal—Kentucky's ace—is in the hole. The state's coal industry, seemingly always on a financial roller coaster, is on a downhill ride following a slump in coal orders.

The coal slump has put more than 2,000 miners out of work in Eastern Kentucky. And now the merchants and bankers, who rely on coal employee expenditures, are beginning to feel the pinch.

Coal orders have fallen off drastically from utility, steel and industrial customers. The coal operators blame everyone from Mother Nature to Uncle

Sam for their difficulties.

The small coal operators are the hardest hit. They rely on spot or short-term contracts and those markets have dried up.

Small operators also are uncertain how they are going to cope with federal strip mine legislation which takes effect this year.

Some of those who watch the industry closely say they expect the overall coal slump to last through this summer and possibly until late this year.

But others see orders picking up with better weather approaching and a gasoline shortage growing.

And there are some sectors of the coal industry, particularly coal firms with long-term contracts, that are not as hard hit.

Merchants in communities like Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Harlan and Hazard report that shoppers are only buying the essentials, but they don't expect the coal problems to last through the summer.

Lexington, the shopping center for the region and headquarters for more than a score of coal companies, has suffered a little from the coal slump.

Store managers in Lexington say January and February traditionally are slow periods, and it would be hard to tell whether the coal slump is adding to their woes.

There were two Lexington merchants who said they are seeing fewer shoppers from Eastern Kentucky.

"We are definitely not getting the Big spenders we have in the past," A.F. Dawahare, president of Dawahare's stores, said.

"Normally, we know when people from the mountains are shopping; many of them buy only in cash," he said.

Rick Hardesty, assistant manager at Ben Snyder's Eastland store, said "We have noticed that some of our regular customers from the coal mining region are not shopping on the weekends when they usually come in."

However, other merchants blamed slow sales on the weather.

"It hasn't changed too much here; this is usually a slow time of year and when the weather breaks, we'll be all right," said Pat Avery, manager of Stewart's downtown store.

First Security National Bank & Trust Co., Lexington, has a large number of coal company accounts. Tom Murrell, a First Security vice president, reported that most of the bank's coal customers have long-term coal contracts.

"I think what we are going to see from this coal slump is that many of the small-to-medium size coal operators are going to go out of business; they entered the business when times were good, and now the orders are not there," he said.

Charles Hazelrigg, vice president of Citizens Fidelity Energy Corp., said the delinquency rate on coal mining equipment loans has increased slightly and the number of new loans on such equipment has decreased.

Hazelrigg said his Louisville company is financing some large-scale development projects for coal companies that hold long-term contracts.

"The coal market is down overall. Some operators are selling coal below cost or are just trading dollars to stay in business," Hazelrigg said.

Some bankers in the coal mining communities are seeing some depletion of assets.

Citizens State Bank in Hazard reports that assets are about $500,000 to $1 million below the 1978 year-end figure of $27 million.

Harlan National Bank's Herbert Kelly said his bank's deposits are down a little, "but it's nothing to be alarmed about. Overall we are doing all right."

Reggie Smith, a vice president of Pikeville National Bank and past president of the Pikeville Chamber of Commerce, said the coal sales slowdown "has definitely affected retail trade here. People seem to be buying only what they need."

Smith said his bank's assets have remained the same. "There are some people who keep saving, and we are writing up a great deal of new car loans," he said.

Dan Thomas, branch manager in Pikeville for Whayne Supply, a major seller of coal equipment, said business is a little slower than average.

"I've seen fooling with the coal industry for 26 years and there are good times and bad times. The good times will be back," he said.

NOTICE

Legal Notice to families who lived in public housing projects operated by the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or lived in public housing projects in any other city between March 16, 1971 - September 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the Prestonsburg Housing Authority or any other Public Housing Agency (PHA) during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support and/or;

2. A dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971 to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submittal of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form made a part of this Notice and must submit it to the Public Housing Agency's address indicated on the claim form, or such other appropriate Public Housing Agency if different from the address indicated, within 120 days from Dec. 6, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 5, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and/or a dependent in the household was employed.

Coal Sampling Workshop Slated at Paintsville

SGS Control Services, Inc. (formerly Superintendence Company, Inc.) will conduct a two-day coal sampling workshop, March 16 - 17, in Paintsville. Purpose of the workshop is to provide in-house training for SGS coal samplers from many areas of the United States. At the same time it will include participants from the host companies and also a few mining students from Pikeville College.

The workshop will combine field work, lab work and classroom instruction. The several loading sites in Eastern Kentucky which have been selected for taking samples will demonstrate a cross-section of sampling situation such as flow, belt, car-top and mechanical.

Sample preparation of both coal and soil samples, also coal and water analysis, will be demonstrated at the SGS Lab at Paintsville.

SGS has recently opened a coal lab at Harlan, as well as at Paintsville.

Under the Occupational Safety and Health Act, employers must provide places of employment that are free from recognized hazards to safety and health.

"To Know Kentucky Better Is To Love Kentucky More"

"...to know Kentucky better is to love Kentucky more."

This is part of a sentence from a 16-page booklet published several years ago by Ashland Oil Co. There is no date in the red-and-white cover collection of facts about the bluegrass state, but it was in the days of radio and was based on the popular "Romance of Kentucky Quiz Show" radio programs.

KNOW YOUR KENTUCKY!
The booklet contains questions and answers about Kentucky history, sports, geography, travel, literature, prominent persons, music, laws, government and other subjects. Many of the answers would not be correct today since parkways and interstates have shortened travel distances, trains have been discontinued and road changes made.

In the geography section, names of cities in states bordering Kentucky were given and the person answering was to name the Kentucky city "just across the river." The river was the Ohio. Can you name the city across the Ohio from Evansville, Indiana? New Albany, Indiana? Ironton, Ohio? Aberdeen, Ohio? Brookport, Illinois? Jeffersonville, Indiana? (Answers at the end of question section)

This question reveals a clue as to when the booklet was published. "This current best seller contains some of the facts and some fancies about the dramatic Sharp-Beauchamp murder trial of the 1820s."

What is the name of the story and who wrote it about a man who gave all he could to his community—the job of burying the dead in time of epidemic?

Who wrote "The Belled Buzzard" and "Words and Music"? Who wrote "Black Is My True Love's Hair" and "The Great Meadow"? Who wrote "The Thread That Runs So True" and "Hie to the Hunters"? Who wrote "World Enough and Time" and "Night Rider"? Who wrote "Hunter's Horn" and "Mountain Path"?

What town is known as the Golden Buckle on the Burley Belt? What city is known as the Gateway to the South? What city is on the Ohio but never in it? What is the Capital of Western Kentucky? What is known as the Biggest Little City in Kentucky?

Whose tomb is reproduced on the dome of Kentucky's capitol? What famous Kentucky thoroughbred was known as "Big Red"? What do the names Elmendorf, Mereworth and Walnut Hall have in common?

In the section on music, questions included finding the names of towns or cities in musical selections. The music played: "Buffalo Gal," "The Last Time I Saw Paris," "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition," "Warsaw Concerto," "Martha," "Mary," "Cecilia."

The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) requires every sponsoring government to have a planning council whose members represent labor, business, education and community organizations representing target client groups.

Some answers:

Across from Evansville is Henderson; across from New Albany was Louisville; across from Ironton was either Ashland or Russell; across from Aberdeen was Maysville; Brookport, Paducah, and Jeffersonville, Louisville.

Robert Penn Warren wrote "World Enough and Time" about the Sharp-Beauchamp trial.

James Lane Allen wrote "King Solomon of Kentucky" who buried the dead in an epidemic.

Irvin S. Cobb wrote "The Belled Buzzard" and "Words and Music." Elizabeth Maddox Roberts "Black Is My True Love's Hair" and "The Great Meadow." Jesse Stuart "The Thread That Runs So True" and "Hie to the Hunters." Robert Penn Warren "Night Rider." Harriette Arnow "Hunter's Horn" and "Mountain Path."

Maysville is the Golden Buckle on the Burley Belt; Louisville is the Gateway to the South; Henderson is on the Ohio but never in it; Paducah is the capital of western Kentucky, and Glasgow is the Biggest Little City in Kentucky.

Napoleon's tomb is reproduced atop the Capitol in Frankfort; Man O'War was known as "Big Red;" Elmendorf, Mereworth and Walnut Hall are names of horse farms.

Cities and towns in the musical selections are Buffalo and LaRue County; Paris in Bourbon; Praise in Pike; Warsaw in Gallatin; Martha in Lawrence; Mary in Wolfe, and Cecilia in Hardin.

The booklet is fascinating with its questions and games. An update would be useful today. Such a booklet could help children pass time on long trips and also be educational.

For instance, who are these people: Pewee, Hoot, The Baron, Oom Paul, Wah Wah, Tiny, Banana Nose, Uncle Ed, Bo, Shipwreck, and Big and Little Clug?

Sister's 'Gift' Ends Long Ordeal For Mrs. Mitchel's Grandson

A 21-month ordeal of fighting for his life is finally over for Jon Moore, thanks to his sister, Theresa Yates, who on February 7 gave him a kidney for transplant.

Young Moore's ordeal began in May 1977 when he was struck on the leg while riding a bicycle by something which Jon believed to be a copperhead. At first, there was a fairly mild reaction to the possible snake bite, but a few days later, the youth became sick at school and on the following day was rushed to Southeastern Kentucky Baptist Hospital. Thus began the long ordeal of sickness and constant medical care which accompanies kidney disease. Jon and his mother, who is a widow, moved to Versailles to be near the Albert B. Chandler Medical Center in Lexington where he had undergone dialysis treatment three times a week since November, as well as having to take up to 45 pills per day.

When doctors first suggested a transplant, his sister said, "We were so excited. We begged them, 'Test us. Test us.'"

Mrs. Moore and another son, Brian, who lives in Florida, could not be accepted as transplant donors because their blood types are incompatible with Jon's. And, while Jon and Theresa's blood types are compatible, other tests showed that they didn't match in other respects for the operation. Then came word that possible the tests were inaccurate, and further tests confirmed that the transplant had an 80-85 percent chance for success. Mrs. Yates, 29, who is a nurse, didn't hesitate to make the donation. She says there are "very few times you can look at something with real pride, to be able to say, 'I gave the gift of life.'"

Two weeks ago, Jon said, "I feel great. I can eat just about anything. I got bored yesterday. I felt like jogging up and down the hall to run off some of this energy."

He says that when he is released from the hospital, "I plan on being in Florida...in a heated pool." And his mother agrees.

But there are other things that Jon is concerned with. He wants to spread the news of his good fortune and soothe the fears of kidney disease victims and potential donors.

"I know this 30-year-old man who's been in dialysis for three months. He's afraid of a donation," Jon said. "When I get out of here, the first things I'm gonna do is go see him."

Dr. Bruce Lucas, Lexington surgeon who performed the transplant has said, "I couldn't ask for Jon to do any better. The operation went very well."

Mrs. Dora Mitchell, of Prestonsburg, is Jon and Theresa's grandmother.

Library Week Start To Honor Children From Each County

One child from each Kentucky county will be honored at a luncheon at the Governor's mansion March 31, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The luncheon will be the kick-off for National Library Week, April 1-7. Mrs. Julian Carroll, honorary chairwoman for Kentucky's observance of the International Year of the Child, will be the hostess for the luncheon, along with daughter, Elly.

Some of Kentucky's finest are being asked to help entertain the children. Gov. Carroll and Colonel Sanders will be there. Author Lilly Chaffin will come and tell the children a story. Artist Bob Powell will come and talk about his art work. All children have an individual photo taken with Mrs. Carroll and Elly.

Rules for the contest:

1. One entry per child; 2. child must be 5-12 as of April 1; 3. child must be a resident of Floyd county; 4. child must have transportation to Frankfort, March 31.

Forms for registration will be available from school or public librarians. Parents and-or drivers will be invited to a reception while the child is at the Governor's Mansion. Parents' reception will be at the Department of Library and Archives in Frankfort.

The early history of New England and New York was vitally affected by the creation and development of "The Old Post Road". This was the first overland route between Boston and New York City. Benedict Arnold travelled it often, and it is said that George Washington slept in 100 taverns alongside it. The Daughters of the American Revolution urge that you observe February as American History Month.

WHO IS THIS MAN and WHY IS HE RUNNING FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE?

The young man pictured above is Gregory D. Stumbo. He is a Democratic Candidate for State Representative, 95th District, in the May Primary.

Greg would like to take this opportunity to tell the voters a little about himself.

He is the son of Harold Stumbo and Pluma Martin Stumbo, of Prestonsburg, Ky.

He is the grandson of Wayne D. Stumbo (deceased) and Barbara Hopkins Stumbo of Minnie, Kentucky, and Dewey Martin and Magnolia Sizemore Martin of McDowell, Kentucky.

He is the great-grandson of Eli and Belle Gayheart Stumbo, Johnny and Maggie Hall Hopkins, Alexander "Squint" and Nancy Osborne Martin, Edward and Florence "Hebads" Hall Sizemore.

This is not to suggest that you should vote for a man just because of his family; but, rather to point out the "Roots" and heritage that have given Greg a strong sense of dedication to the needs and problems of our area.

Greg is a native of Floyd County. He grew up in Prestonsburg and attended school there. He also spent a lot of time visiting with his grandparents and family in the areas of Drift, Minnie and McDowell. This type of background enables Greg to know and understand the particular problems of our urban and rural communities.

As your State Representative Greg intends to call for a coalition of coal producing counties to press for special legislative funding to repair, upgrade and maintain the rural and secondary road system for those counties.

Greg is a candidate for State Representative because he believes the time is NOW for strong, dedicated leadership in Frankfort. He sincerely feels that we can have in Floyd County what other areas of our state have experienced, namely economic growth.

When you are considering who to vote for as your State Representative, remember there is one candidate who:

- 1.) Is young, sincere and dedicated;
- 2.) Knows the problems of our area;
- 3.) Wants to build a better area for all of us to live in.

So why is he running for State Representative?

BECAUSE HE CARES!!

Medicaid Clients Offered Home Health Care Service

Some sick or disabled persons prefer to remain at home rather than move to a nursing home for health care. For the past 12 years, participants in Kentucky's Medicaid program have been offered that alternative.

The home health care program, administered by the Department for Human Resources, Bureau for Social Insurance, continues to expand in the number of clients it serves and the number of services it offers, said Gail Huecker, bureau commissioner.

"Studies suggest some ill patients cope much better with illness when they remain in the familiar surroundings of home. Through this program, Medicaid clients have an opportunity to do that," he added.

Through the program, services such as skilled nursing care, physical and speech therapy, social services and medical supplies are offered by 52 home health agencies throughout the state. Medicaid reimburses agencies for those services.

The agencies may be associated with public or private organizations, most commonly health departments and hospitals. All but four Kentucky counties currently are served by home health agencies. The services they offer vary, but all provide skilled nursing care.

To receive home health care, a Medicaid patient must request and receive physician authorization for such care. The physician develops a treatment plan detailing services needed by the patient. Every 60 days, the physician reviews the plan and decides whether to authorize continued home health treatment.

Home health care is available both to chronically-ill patients and to persons suffering short-term illnesses, Huecker said.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1978, an average of 1,623 patients per month received home health care under Medicaid. Total Medicaid enrollment averaged about 170,000 persons per month during that fiscal year.

Health Department Get Immunization Aid

Thirty-six county and eight district health departments have been awarded grants totaling $130,650 for the expansion of immunization projects during the next six months, state Human Resources Secretary Peter Conn announced today.

The grants, allocated from federal funds for immunization expansion, were awarded on the basis of the number of children in each local health unit area.

"Protecting the children of Kentucky through the immunization program is one of the most important public health services we can offer," Conn said. "We must maintain a high level of service and public awareness to stem the chance of widespread outbreaks of communicable diseases," he said.

Sixteen health units received grants in excess of $3,000. Floyd county was among 28 which received less than $3,000 each.

In Anglo-Saxon times, a "silly" person was one who was "blessed" or "innocent."

Fire Losses Less in '78

With a new forest fire season at hand, the State Division of Forestry has taken a look at what has happened in recent seasons.

A total of 1,820 forest fires occurred in Kentucky during calendar year 1978, destroying 38,020 acres, according to records from the division.

This total represents a 48 percent reduction when compared to 3,487 forest fires that occurred during 1977 destroying 94,550 acres.

According to Kenneth Imes, commissioner of the Bureau of Natural Resources, the reduction can be attributed to fewer dry spells during 1978 and intensive fire prevention training that all forest rangers have received during the past year.

The major cause of forest fires was debris-burning fires, caused by rural residents of eastern and southeastern Kentucky. Rural dwellers who burn household garbage because collection is not available and farmers who attempt to burn old foliage and clear gardens without taking necessary precautions to prevent fires from spreading are the main contributors to debris-burning fires, according to Imes.

Smoking was the second highest cause of forest fires destroying 6,480 acres last year. "Cigarettes that are thrown out of passing cars, particularly on a dry day, can ignite dry brush and quickly spread to become a major forest fire," said Elmore Grim, director of the Division of Forestry.

Incendiary fires (deliberate burning) accounted for 349 fires destroying 9,300 acres. "On many occasions, incendiary fires are started out of sheer meanness," said Grim, and added, "a grudge against a neighbor, a grudge against the government or a neighbor wanting to promote an action can be the cause of this type of fire."

Legal action has been stressed in violations pertaining to debris burning and incendiary fires through 27 prosecutions.

Children playing with matches caused 78 forest fires last year, and neglected campfires ignited 64 forest fires.

Although most people don't think of railroads as a major contributor to forest fires, records show that 763 acres were destroyed last year by trains. According to Grim, carbon sparks from a train's exhaust system or sparks from the brake shoes can ignite dry grass and spread to become a forest fire.

Likewise, sparks from farm equipment caused 28 fires last year. Electric fences, chain saws and bulldozers all have the potential to emit sparks which can cause extensive fires during a dry spell.

Burning houses, automobile and broken power lines along with other miscellaneous sources accounted for 320 forest fires which destroyed 1,097 acres.

ANSWERS To QUESTIONS

Citizens May Want To Ask ANNEXATION

QUESTION: What will my property tax be when I am annexed?

ANSWER: Look at your last county bill and see what they say your land, building and car are worth, then multiply that figure by $3.00 and that will be your city tax bill. Example: say your land is valued at $5,000, your building at $14,000 and your car at $1000—the total of $20,000 multiplied by city $3.00 per $1000 valuation would be $60 city tax. Remember—your county tax rate is about three times as high as the city tax.

Q. I have a frame house insured for $40,000. My fire insurance now is $373. What would it be in the city?

A. $219. Prestonsburg, because of its efficient fire equipment and trained firemen, has one of the lowest rates among the fourth class cities in Kentucky. Call your insurance agent and ask him what your insurance would be in the city.

Q. Will the city raise my taxes just as soon as I get in?

A. Prestonsburg has not raised property taxes since 1964. The legislature adjourned last month. It passed a bill freezing all taxes as of last year, except cities may raise their assessment 4 percent after getting state approval. We don't see any reason to ask for this raise in the foreseeable future.

Q. I now pay $4 for garbage collection each month. What would I pay in the city?

A. The lowest rate of ANY CITY in Kentucky $1.75 per month. This for twice-a-week pickups.

Q. Would I have to pay extra charges for having such things as kitchen stoves, mattresses, refrigerators and tree limbs hauled away?

A. No, there is no charge, for we have an open truck for this service. However, in the spring and fall the demands for this service sometimes takes a week to answer.

Q. What will my water bill cost?

A. Much cheaper per thousand gallons, same as the people in the city pay. Call the water company for the difference in rates.

Q. Will we have street lights. Do I have to pay for them?

A. Yes, where there are several houses together. If there are only a few houses the street lights will be about 500 ft. apart (until the area builds up). No, the city pays for the lights.

Q. If I have a fire, will I have to pay for the fire trucks?

A. No, it's free—in fact, we are now furnishing it free, whether you are in the city or out.

Q. Will I have city sewer service?

A. Between the city and the hospital the sewer is already in. There will be a hook-up fee. Plans are being made for the Cliff, Katy Friend and Upper areas for sewer systems.

Q. I have my own septic tank and it works good. Do I have to hook on?

A. No, if it passes the State Health Dept. standards.

Q. I am over 65 years old. Do I get the Homestead exemption on my tax?

A. Yes, on your home but not on your car.

Q. Will our church have to pay taxes?

A. No. Church property is exempt by law.

Q. I live on a farm. Can I continue to raise livestock and have gardens?

A. Yes, unless you divide your farm into city lots and sell them.

Q. Will I have police protection 24 hours a day?

A. Yes, we will have to put on more policemen. We have three well-equipped police cruisers and another on order, all radio equipped. They can be reached by telephone and can reach any place in the new city limits within 10 minutes.

Q. Will we have playgrounds for our children?

A. Yes, we have Archer Park and one at Goble-Roberts and will build more if there is a need.

Q. Is the city in debt? Will I have to pay on it?

A. No, the city is in the black and has been so for several years. Any city indebtedness is for sewer and water bonds to improve these plants, and an amount sufficient to retire these bonds is set aside from income to retire the bonds as they come due. Your property is not liable for these bonds. The city this past year retired $100,000 outstanding bonds on our parking lots. This was 11 years before they were due but we had the money in the bank and there was no reason to pay interest when we didn't need to. Ask your bank about Prestonsburg's financial condition.

Q. I understand that the city annexed the Goble-Roberts and Mays Branch subdivisions. Did the city live up to its promises and are the people happy to be in the city?

A. You must know some one who lives in one of these places. Call them and ask if they like being in the city. Have you noticed how Goble-Roberts has grown since coming into the city? It is one of the most desirable places in the city to live.

On any other questions, please write City Clerk, City Hall, Prestonsburg, Ky., and we will try to answer.

Poison Prevention Week—March 18-25

During National Poison Prevention Week, March 18 to 25, the Department for Human Resources would like to make every Kentuckian aware of the tremendous danger of accidental poisoning, said Peter Conn, Secretary of the Department for Human Resources.

Last year, there were about 2,500 reported poisonings in Kentucky, Conn said. Most of the victims were children. Children, because of their size, are susceptible to more serious poison-related injuries than adults are, he noted, adding that "almost all of these poisonings could have been avoided if adults had taken proper precautions."

Accidental poisoning can be the result of the misuse of many things, Conn said. Overdoses of drugs and medications, exposure to poisonous gases or fumes, chemical drain cleaners, cosmetics, pesticides or lead poisoning from old paint can cause injury due to poisoning.

The Kentucky Electronic Injury Surveillance System lists the following as the five most common products that caused poisoning in 1978:

- (1) Drugs and medications approximately 1,500
- (2) Adhesives and adhesive products 350
- (3) Bleaches and dyes 300
- (4) Gasoline 240
- (5) Genital area products 200

Recently, "very good progress" has been made in combatting accidental poisoning, Conn said. Most medicines and toxic household products now are packaged in child-resistant containers. By law, the lead content of household paints and most products with paint surfaces had dropped to the level of .06 per cent.

Department for Human Resources statistics also indicate that even though most poison-related injuries involve children, more adults than children are involved in fatal poisonings.

Edsel Moore, director of the department's consumer product safety branch, said this occurs because children usually get prompt medical attention at the slightest hint of poisoning. "Parents do not take chances when they suspect that their children have been poisoned. But, an adult who suspects that he or she has been poisoned often will wait until symptoms have started or try self-treatment."

"By the time symptoms appear it is often too late for effective treatment," he said.

"When dealing with poisons, do not take any chances," Moore said. "If there is the slightest hint that you or someone else has been poisoned, seek medical attention immediately."

The Department for Human Resources has these suggestions for preventing accidental poisoning:

Use safety packaging when available. Re-secure safety lids on potentially dangerous substances after use.

Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of your children.

Read the labels on all products and heed warnings and cautions.

Always turn on a light when giving or taking medicines.

Avoid taking medicines in your child's presence. The child may try to imitate your action.

If you have young children, keep household products stored where they can't get to them.

Never leave potential poisons unattended. If you are using a product when called to the door or telephone, take it with you; don't leave it where your child could get into it.

Keep handy the phone number of your doctor, poison control center, hospital and police.

In the event of an accidental poisoning, be prepared to tell emergency personnel what the poison was and how much of the poison the victim consumed.

Carrots, parsley, celery, parsnips, dill, anise and caraway are all part of the same plant family.

A STATEMENT FROM JERRY LAFFERTY, JR.

As we begin this campaign for County Judge-Executive, I want to voice my support for a united Democratic party and a united Floyd County people. It has been said a journey of one thousand miles must begin with a single step. When I am elected your County Judge-Executive, I will take that first step to help bring our people together again. I will work in harmony with all of our elected officials to promote progress for our county. I will not use my office to support or oppose any other Democratic candidate for public office. We as Democrats need to concentrate on the many assets that unite us, instead of belaboring the few problems that some would divide us.

Since I believe you need and desire to meet all your candidates for public office, I plan to campaign full time, meeting as many of you as possible prior to the election. I urge you to ask your neighbors and friends about me. Then I believe you will decide to vote for me for County Judge-Executive.

Floyd Well Represented During Recent Artists Winter Weekend

The weekend of February 23-25 saw the return of Kentucky's Artists' and Photographers' Winter Weekend to Jenny Wiley State Park after the event's postponement over the two previous years due to snowy weather.

Exhibits represented the work of artists from various parts of the state as well as entrants from Ohio and West Virginia and the weekend featured demonstrations and seminars conducted by well-known artists and photographers which included Kentucky Heritage Artist Russell May, of Prestonsburg.

Work exhibited was of a high quality and Floyd county was particularly well represented with four county artists winning first or second place ribbons. Floyd artists who were ribbon winners included the following: Tom Whitaker, Prestonsburg Community College art instructor, second place in portrait and first place in miscellaneous; Paul Branham, of Prestonsburg, second place in drawing; Jean Mann, of Prestonsburg, second place in acrylic objective, and John Paul Francis, first place in oil still life.

Gregg Keaton, of Lexington, was grand prize winner in the art category with a watercolor landscape, and Julia Noel, also of Lexington, won the top award in the creative photography category.

★ Kentucky Afield ★

By JOHN WILSON

Kentucky's annual trout stocking program begins March 19 and by the end of the month 50,000 adult rainbow trout will have been placed in suitable waters around the Commonwealth.

Since there are around 25,000 licensed trout fishermen in Kentucky, there will be two new trout per angler after this initial stocking. Many streams and lakes also contain what biologists call "holdover" trout—those which have survived from stockings in previous years, so even if everyone who buys a trout stamp decides to go fishing April 1, there should be enough trout to go around.

This stocking program is one which actually pays its own way. Every trout fisherman who is required to possess a fishing license must also buy a trout stamp ($3.00 this year to match those new $6.50 fishing licenses). The revenue from the sale of these stamps pays the costs of the stocking program.

The trout themselves are obtained free from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. In previous years, stocking crews had to travel down to Celina, Tenn. for trout. But this year, a new federal trout facility, Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery located just below Lake Cumberland's dam, will provide most of the trout for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' stockings.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service also stocks trout in Kentucky, but only within the Daniel Boone National Forest. In addition to stocking adult trout, the fish and wildlife service also stock some remote streams with young fish—around two to three inches long. These fish grow up in a wild setting and offer a challenge to the angler nearly equal to that presented by native trout.

There is some suitable trout water in all sections of the state. The streams, lakes and tailwaters chosen for stocking are those which can support trout all year. In the west central and western portions of the state, these are usually shady, spring fed streams offer numerous opportunities for trout fishing.

Some good trout fishing also occurs in the tailwater areas below dams on our larger lakes. Water released from the lake's depths is often too cool for warm water species such as bass or crappie but offers ideal conditions for trout. The current state record, a 14-pound, 6-ounce rainbow, was caught in the tailwaters of Lake Cumberland.

Biologists emphasize that trout stocking is designed to complement existing fisheries. Since the places trout are stocked are often too cold and too infertile to support catchable populations of other game fish, the trout program provides fishing in waters where there otherwise might be very few angling opportunities.

Trout stocking will continue throughout the spring and summer, finally concluding in the fall. Most waters are stocked monthly through September (October in some of the Daniel Boone National Forest Streams), except in May, the Division of Fisheries' busiest month, since many spawning warm-water species on both lakes and hatcheries require special attention.

While there is no attempt to keep specific stocking dates secret, it's also impossible to announce them very far in advance, since each month's schedule must depend upon the growth rate and availability of the trout themselves. A guide listing Kentucky's trout waters and the months they are stocked is available. A phone call to departmental offices in Frankfort (502-564-4336) around the fifth of each month will provide specific stocking dates for your favorite stream, but remember that fishing—and fishing conditions—are often better a couple of days after stocking, so don't think you have to meet the truck to catch trout.

For a copy of the 1979 trout fishing pamphlet, write Division of Public Relations, Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources, 592 East Main, Frankfort, KY 40601.
