

Allen Says Grand Jury Probe Near Prosecutor Says He Will Not Wait Until July for Spl. Term

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen announced last week that he will not wait until the July court term but will call for a special grand jury session soon to investigate the gas explosion which recently wrecked the kitchen of Prestonsburg High School and injured seven persons.

Allen said he will wait for those who have been investigating the blast to complete their work before calling for the special jury. He explained that this delay is made so the grand jury, when it makes its final report, will be able "to give the people a clear picture."

The state fire marshal, insurance company engineers, state police detectives and others have been involved in the early probe into the explosion and circumstances preceding it.

The prosecutor said he will subpoena "some school people, perhaps some officials," to testify at the grand jury hearing and also will subpoena the records of engineers for the insurance company.

"I intend," he said, "to have the grand jury proceedings transcribed." Such a permanent record of the jury work is not ordinarily kept.

Both Supt. of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. and James A. Duff, vice-chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education, have denied that they had been warned of a gas leak at the school. Mrs. Ruby Catherine Clifton, head of PBS, the parents' organization which protested the presence of asbestos there, said the board was told last September of leaking gas.

Commonwealth's Attorney Allen said Mrs. Dolly Music, head cook at the school and one of those injured in the explosion, was misquoted in last week's Times. He pointed out that Mrs. Music did not say that there was no response to the 10 to 15 reports of gas she had made to the maintenance department. Maintenance workers did come to the school, she said, but did not inspect gas lines beneath the kitchen floor.

MARTIN RESIDENTS hear report of County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. on the current status of the long-proposed Beaver Creek channelization project.

Status of Stream Job Told

By RON MARSTIN

About 35 Martin residents heard a sobering report last Thursday on the state of the proposed Beaver Creek channelization project. The group, called Concerned Citizens of Martin, had invited County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. to bring them up to date on the 10-year-old plan to straighten and widen 4.5 miles of Beaver Creek in the Martin vicinity.

It has been variously estimated that the completion of the project would have reduced the April, 1977 flood level in Martin by from three to five feet.

Turner told the group that, while the cost of the project—estimated by the Army Corps of Engineers as $3.3 million in 1968—has more than doubled since it was first approved, it is no closer to realization now than it was then. In fact, the project might well have been killed outright before now, according to Turner, if it were not for the interest taken in it by Congressman Carl Perkins.

As Turner narrated the sequence of events:

Though Congress appropriated money for the channelization in 1968, it remained for the county to provide the right-of-way. In 1970, the Floyd fiscal court committed $100,000 for the acquisition of condemned property, on the understanding that a grant for that purpose would be forthcoming from the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (DNREP).

As it happens, there is no such grant available, although DNREP could reimburse the county AFTER the county has incurred an expenditure of not less than $125,000.

"If you consider that the total Floyd county budget is around $900,000," Turner said, "it is clear that the county does not have the financial ability to spend that much."

In any case, it is not known whether the $100,000 is anything like an accurate estimate of the cost of acquiring the necessary property. Some estimate that inflation has increased the cost threefold. Others say that the cost is, in fact, less, since many owners have freely given condemned parts of their property to the county for the sake of seeing the channelization project completed.

Why not simply check the records? Because such records as there are, according to the county attorney, are in a shambles. "We still do not have an engineers' map with an overlay showing property boundaries," Turner lamented. "We have no up-to-date research on titles. We have unrecorded easements. Nothing has been catalogued. The record keeping has been horrendous."

2 Students Say Dynamite Stolen

This Town...That World

Please be patient. We have done the best we could to get the paper on the streets and in the mails at the usual early time, but must admit that the last two weeks have just about licked us.

HOLIDAZE

Coming up, a long, long week-end—Saturday, Sunday, Memorial Day on Monday, then Tuesday the 29th. All of which would be very good, if Monday and Tuesday weren't workdays for us, with just about everybody else skylarking and most offices closed. I do not view the holiday with any great anticipation for that reason only but am glad to be around, even if it is to complain.

The longer I dabble with the English language, the more I'm humbled and the more convinced I am that any foreigner who gets the hang of it is a howling genius. There's so much that's without either rime or reason. For example:

Why does the bough or the bow bend, or a man bend his knee, but a proud man unbends? Whoops!

THE OLD SALT

At hand is a letter from one of the more durable sex challenging Lennie Moore's pitch for Poke Warden. But he hasn't been around for some time, so it would appear he's letting the office go by default. He's usually missing, just before election-time. Perhaps shopping for a boat for that post-election journey he has been known to take.

Polygraph Tests Support Stories Told by Youths

The discovery last Wednesday morning of approximately half a case of dynamite on the grounds of Prestonsburg High School added terror to mounting terror in the schools here.

Prestonsburg police and fire department members were joined by a special state police detachment and personnel of the U.S. Treasury's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in the subsequent investigation which included a foot-by-foot search of the school itself and its grounds for other explosives. None was found.

A day later, two 16-year-old boys, students at the school, were accused of planting the explosives beneath the high school football stadium, and they confessed their guilt, shortly afterward.

The dynamite and dynamite caps were stolen, the youths said, from the Harris-Construction Company at Water Gap, then hidden in an abandoned house and later buried. Still fearing the explosives would be found, they said, they recalled that they had once stolen a case of soft drinks and hidden it beneath the football stands at the high school, where it remained undetected. So, they said they concluded, the same spot would be a secure hiding place for the dynamite.

The youths were released to their parents but agreed later to undergo polygraph (lie detector) tests. The polygraph examination was administered by a state police technician at Ashland Monday, and the results confirmed that the two had told the truth in their confessions.

County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., who arranged the polygraph tests, pointed out the two should be asked specifically if any adults had knowledge of the placing of the explosives on the school grounds, either before or after their discovery and if the juveniles had any intention to detonate the explosives.

Both denied any adult was involved or that they had planned to detonate the dynamite, and the polygraph examiner said the test indicated they were being truthful.

Arson Suspected In Hospital Fire

Arson Investigator Barry McKenzie, of the Kentucky State Police, is investigating a fire which broke out in the basement of the Highlands Regional Hospital around 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Suspecting arson, McKenzie has forwarded parts of a burned chair to state police laboratories.

Four nurses on the third and fourth floors of the hospital suffered from smoke inhalation, and two firemen, Fire Chief Tom Blackburn and David Caudill, were overcome by smoke.

Damage to the hospital was from smoke and was confined to the basement area.

The main source of the blaze was a locker room where a flammable substance apparently had been poured onto two chairs, then ignited. Another fire was in a waste basket, some 30 feet away.

Dense, black smoke escaped from the basement up an elevator shaft, affecting the nurses on upper floors. Patients were not affected, but the medical staff was alerted.

Prestonsburg firemen fought the fire, mainly employing firefighting equipment of the hospital.

Democrats Lead 2-1 In Number on Ballot

Hopes of 56 Democratic and 28 Republican candidates for county, district and state office ride on the results of next Tuesday's primary election.

Although the Republican party is fielding only half the number of candidates entered by the Democrats, it has candidates for all offices except for State Senator in the 29th district, which includes most of this county, and for State Representative in the 95th district (all of Floyd county except six precincts in the southern end of the county) and for the same office in the 94th district which is composed of a part of Pike county and the six Floyd precincts.

In the 25th Senatorial district, which edges into this county to include the Abbott Creek and Auxier precincts, Lowell Hughes, incumbent, is unopposed on the Democratic ballot. Two Republicans, Clyde VanHoose and Michael R. Dowling, are competing for the right to oppose Hughes in the November finals.

Ronald H. Frasure is unopposed for the Republican nomination for County Judge-Executive in this county.

The voting machines will present voters with this array of candidates next Tuesday:

Juvenile Center Costs Here May Be Highest in Ky.

The highest cost per capita for prisoner care in Kentucky will perhaps be recorded this year in the operation of the new regional juvenile center here.

It already has 15 employees, is looking for two more—and there wasn't a juvenile held in the center as of 3 p.m. Monday.

The center, located on the second floor of the new courthouse annex, was opened March 7, but only for the detention of juvenile girls because staffing of the section for males has not been completed. That situation still prevails.

There never has been more than three females held in detention at one time, although the center is designed to accommodate juveniles from Floyd, Martin, Johnson, Magoffin and Pike counties.

The center now has eight female employees, including a social worker and one cook, and four male employees, plus the director and assistant director.

Two other male employees are needed but the center will be opened for the detention of juvenile males if one more is hired.

Collins Challenges Election Officer List

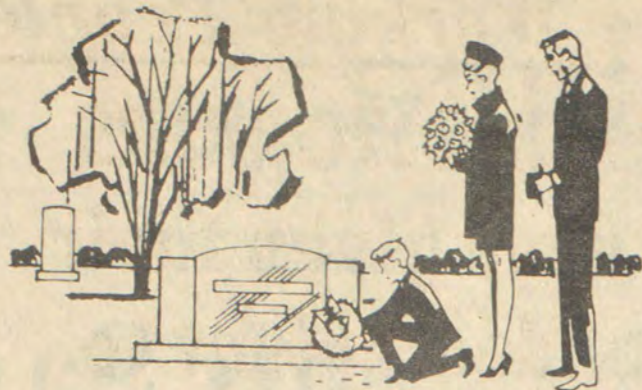

Gormon Collins, Republican member of the Floyd County Election Commission, said Tuesday afternoon that some election officers apparently have been picked without a meeting of the commission, as required by law.

Collins said the commission is required by law to meet prior to the primary election to replace officers who served at the preceding November polls but who have since died or moved out of the precinct.

County Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson, chairman of the election commission, could not be reached for comment.

Mr. Collins said the list of officers which he had seen contained for some precincts only two precinct officials. He added that the only meeting of the commission has had was held recently for the inspection of the voting machines.

Two Drivers Injured In Mishap at Allen

A truck plunged into the side of a semi-trailer laden with corn on US 23, near its intersection with KY 80 at Allen, early Monday morning.

The driver of the semi-trailer, Lawrence Campbell, 42, of Ohio, lost control of his vehicle as he was traveling south on the rain-slick highway at about 4:45 a.m., hitting a center guardrail and coming to rest across the two southbound lanes. The coal truck, driven by Kenneth Music, of Staffordsville, then struck the stranded vehicle, tearing a gaping hole in its side.

Campbell suffered head injuries and Music a bruised knee. Both men were treated at Our Lady of the Way hospital in Martin.

State Police troopers, Joe West and Don Weedman, investigated the mishap.

In his campaign for State Senator, Benny Ray Bailey has stuck to a discussion of the issues. We had hoped that all candidates would do this. Personal grudges, slander, and spreading of lies about a candidate have no place in a political campaign and only serve to show that a candidate cannot deal with the complex issues that are of concern to all our people.

Benny Ray Bailey has offered the voter his views on the issues in a positive manner that demonstrates his ability to deal with the complex workings of State government and make them work for us. "I have nothing bad to say about any of my opponents. I urge my supporters to not engage in any type of mud slinging campaign. People who publish little "slander" sheets, tear down candidates signs and tell lies about people are not helping the candidate that they are for. People throughout America judge our people by their public image. Much of that public image is through political campaigns. Let's put our best foot forward in this campaign so that we can look people in the face after the election is over. I ask all my supporters to show their respect for the intelligence of our people by sticking to our position on the issues and by not participating in this type of negative campaign about any person."

We can safely say that we can judge how a candidate will act in office by the manner in which he conducts his campaign. We know that Benny Ray has made every effort to contact the voter, to publish his views on the issues, and has not participated in any type of "mud slinging." We know that Benny Ray will operate in this manner as our State Senator. Benny Ray Bailey has demonstrated that he understands the issues, can deal with the complex workings of government, and that he has the interest of our people at heart. ## Why Not a Warning?

While the U.S. Senate was debating a routine bill to renew the funding of the federal government's alcohol abuse and alcoholism treatment program recently, Senator Strom Thurmond introduced an amendment to the bill which would require a warning label on liquor bottles.

And, to the surprise of many, the Senate approved it. Now, if the House of Representatives approves, and the President signs, the measure, the warning on liquor bottles will parallel the warning printed on all cigarette packages, reading: "Caution: Consumption of alcoholic beverages may be hazardous to your health."

And why not so warn the public? It is contended, and pretty generally admitted, that alcoholism is a disease. And that the disease is "contracted" only by drinking alcoholic beverages. It takes the form of liver cirrhosis, damage to the brain cells delirium tremens, and so on.

Kentucky's senators, Ford and Huddleston, opposed the labelling, arguing that more discussion of the warning was needed before Senate action. That opposition was their surrender to the wishes of liquor interests and the powerful lobby representing a major Kentucky industry.

Their opposition does them no credit. Their argument reflects the thinking that has caused many of us to consume cyclamates and other substances in food, even in medicines, for years before an official warning that they are dangerous is sounded.

Officials Must Get Tough

A series of incidents bordering on terrorism has disrupted the normal activities of Prestonsburg schools to the point that school and court officials must surely be convinced that tough measures must be taken if the situation is not to become chaotic, even ridiculous.

For several years now, anybody—pupil, crackpot, whoever—has had only to make a telephone call, report that a bomb is in a school, and succeed in closing the school.

This is no mere prank. Youngsters are losing precious time, the educational process is being reduced to turmoil, teachers and parents are worried, the school year is being lengthened and the entire situation is one that is expensive in time and opportunity as well as in dollars and cents.

Persons making such threats can be caught. They should be caught. And, once caught, they should not be turned free with a mere slap of the wrist.

One sensible reaction to such a threat came only this week when Prestonsburg High School refused to dismiss but met the situation simply by emptying the building temporarily until a search of the school was made. That must have been plumb discouraging to the terrorist who thought his or her telephoned warning again would send pupils home and cause the loss of another day of classwork.

Letters to the Editor

School Board Member Says Report Untrue

It has been reported in the newspaper that the Floyd County Board of Education was notified of a gas leak at Prestonsburg High School in September of 1978, and nothing was done about it. This statement is completely untrue and at no time to my knowledge has a gas leak been reported to any member of the Board of Education.

The School Board members deeply regret the injuries to the workers caused by this accident. This is an unfortunate accident and in my opinion no person or group of people is responsible.

The present Superintendent has inherited many buildings in bad need of repairs. It takes time and money to correct these problems. The Board of Education is being criticized unjustly. We are acting in good faith to correct any problem that may exist within our school system. I have confidence in Superintendent Pete Grigsby, that he will do a good job and that the school buildings will be repaired as finances become available.

I realize there are those who feel they can do a better job as Superintendent and as School Board members. These people are entitled to their opinion. However, I do not feel the people of Floyd County can find a more dedicated group of Board Members to formulate and implement policies necessary to operate our school system. The Superintendent and Board Members have tried earnestly to work with any person or group of people with a reasonable program to better our school system. We have been successful with some and with others we have been unable to please.

I shall continue to serve the good people of my Educational Division who elected me as their representative on the Board of Education. I shall continue to work with the other fine School Board members of whom I have the utmost respect, to bring about a better educational environment for the school children of Floyd county.

JAMES A. DUFF
VICE-CHAIRMAN, Floyd County Board of Education

VISIT IN LOUISA
Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins, Sr. were in Louisa on business recently, and while there visited her sisters, Mrs. Fannie Merritt and Mrs. Lucy Watson.

Supports School Board

We, the faculty and staff of the McDowell Grade and High School wish to voice our concern for the welfare of our schools, our students, and all parents. We are firmly convinced that the willful acts of violence that jeopardize the lives of innocent children, as well as adults, only breed more violence.

We believe anyone who uses the schools to vent his anger is totally without concern for the students' mental, physical, and emotional growth.

We also believe the Floyd County Board of Education has handled, and will continue to handle, all situations admirably, and we know that each individual member does have the interest of all Floyd County at heart. We, the undersigned, wholeheartedly support our board members and our superintendent in their endeavors.

(Editors note: This letter was signed by 44 members of the faculty and staff of the McDowell schools.)

Thanks Those Who Helped

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who donated to the cause of placing Bible holders, bud vases and The Lord's Last Supper plaques in the Golden Years, Jenny Wiley, Crest Haven and Castle Fork Rest Homes.

Until you have visited one of these rest homes, you will never realize how much your gifts mean to these people. They were as excited as children at Christmas time. I'm just sorry you couldn't all have been there to see how much happiness you brought into their lives by giving so unselfishly so these gifts could be given to these dear people.

I would also like to add that this has been a very rewarding experience for me, because, while obtaining donations for this project, I met some very wonderful and sensitive people; people who genuinely care enough about bringing a little sunshine into the lives of others not so fortunate to give unselfishly of themselves.

Again, I thank each and every one of you, and I know that because of your donations and generosity, the sweet people in these rest homes really feel there are individuals out there in the world who care for them.

Ten Years Ago

(May 22, 1969)

What began as a dream almost four years ago will begin to assume the aspect of reality next week when contractors will move machinery into Mud Creek to begin construction of a water distribution system. Major portion of the work will be done by H. B. Ranier Construction Co., Prestonsburg, whose bid on two contracts for laying of water lines total $905,587.60. The bids of all contractors total $1,229,145.60. The Big Sandy Area Development Council voted recently to apply for a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission to finance the cost of a pilot solid waste disposal system to serve Floyd and four neighboring counties. Cost of such a disposal system was estimated at $35,000 a year. The present population it would serve about 148,000. Kentucky schools would get $164,375,000 in additional federal funds for public education if Congress enacts legislation introduced earlier this month. The bill would appropriate $7.8 billion in general federal aid. Its drive for local support of the proposed regional hospital to be built on U.S. 23 near Auxier, successfully completed, the Highlands Hospital Corp., sponsor of the $5.2 million facility now is marking time, awaiting plans for the structure. The fund drive staged by Highlands had a goal of $150,000. More than $180,000 was pledged. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Music, Jr. announce the birth of their third child, May 15. (May 28, 1959)

At 12:37 p.m., Wednesday, Kentucky's bitterest, most suspenseful modern-day primary election ended with Harry Lee Waterfield, of Clinton, conceding the Democratic nomination of Bert T. Combs, of Prestonsburg, for Governor of Kentucky. The primary election in this county was quiet, on the whole, but election night saw the serious stabbing of a Buffalo Creek man. A 45-minute downpour of cloudburst proportions caused heavy damage at David Monday afternoon. Floyd county's Bert Combs, the Democratic party's nominee for Governor, is expected to poll a majority of better than 2,500 votes in Magisterial Districts 1 and 2 of this county. The Prestonsburg Zoning Commission was told last Thursday evening by spokesmen for a delegation of West Prestonsburg citizens that its plans for zoning that part of Prestonsburg are unacceptable. There died: Mrs. Puss Louise Hatfield, 88, at the home here of her daughter; Mrs. Lue Combs, 69, formerly of Right Beaver section, at Sewickley hospital, Pittsburg, Pa.; Tom Hamilton, 77, of Teaberry, at McDowell hospital; Elaine Hunt, 69, at his home at Lancer; Frank Cooley, 13, Wayland, at North Bevard hospital, Titusville, Fla.; Mrs. Edna Schulte, 81, native of Zurich, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hatcher, Harold.

Thirty Years Ago

(June 2, 1949)

Work started here by H. D. Fitzpatrick on a two-story business building adjoining the new theater structure on Broadway (Mayo Trail) will cost an estimated $40,000, it was said this week. Attorneys for the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company have filed motion and grounds seeking a new trial following the $25,000 verdict rendered by a jury in the trial of the damage suit of Mrs. Bessie Yates. Southern soft coal contract talks have been halted for a week by the latest move of John L. Lewis. A report County Superintendent Palmer L. Hall was considering a new principal for the Wayland Consolidated school brought a group of citizens of the town here Tuesday to ask Mr. Hall to retain the services of the Rev. Lawrence B. Price, the present school head. Not only half the present passenger train service now in effect on the Big Sandy division is threatened—all such service on both Beaver Creeks of this county will be suspended unless the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company is ordered by the Kentucky Railway Commission to do otherwise. Magistrate Dewey Roberts said this week, he and Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill were told in Frankfort last week by Doc. Beachamp, commissioner of rural highways, that a contract had been awarded for survey of the highway from Harold up Mud Creek to Hi Hat on Left Beaver Creek. There died: Mrs. Nancy Ousley Wright, 65, at her home near Eastern; Mrs. Helen Salyer Johnson, 74, a resident of the Middle Creek section, at the home of a daughter at Brainard; Cleveland Williams, 34, Grethel.

Forty Years Ago

(May 25, 1939)

At a meeting of the fiscal court last week $2,250 was appropriated for the continuance of the Floyd county health department for the year beginning July 1. At the same meeting the license for the retail sale of beer was placed at $20; for the retail sale of liquor, $100. Lending its full endorsement to the distribution of surplus commodities, under WPA direction, the Floyd fiscal court recently wrote A.H. Bornwasser, that this service has been of real benefit to the county. The City of Prestonsburg's essay at purchase of the Prestonsburg Water Company continued this week in the "dickering" stage, with the money available but the amount to be asked by E. S. Mays, head of the water company, and the sum to be offered by the city, remaining to be stated. According to a new WPA ruling one-half the cost of materials for street and sidewalk paving is to be met by persons whose property will be involved, A. C. Carter said this week. Although the union shop contract between the operators of this district and the U.M.W.A. has been signed for more than a week, several hundred Floyd county miners are temporarily unemployed. Convinced by a Pike Circuit Court jury last week in connection with the death, last September of Kathleen Francis, 18-year-old former resident of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Emma England Williamson and Joe Coleman were each sentenced to three years in the state reformatory. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Worland, a daughter, Rosalee, on May 22. There died: Fox Dale, 72, New Boston, Ohio, native of Auxier, died at the home of a daughter in Cincinnati, Marion Sherman, 63, at his home at Emma.

The Log on Bomb Threats

Bomb threats to schools in this and other counties are not exactly news, they come so frequently, but the continuing class interruptions here have created what has been described as "chaotic conditions." Here's a run-down on what has happened, beginning with the gas explosion at the high school, the morning of May 11:

School resumed Monday, May 14, but a bomb threat closed it the same day. A full day of classwork, Tuesday. Wednesday, dynamite discovered on school grounds; school evacuated and remained closed through Thursday. Elementary school closed Thursday by a telephoned threat.

Friday, the high school attempted to open, but another threat closed it.

Monday, this week, high school evacuated after threat but was reopened after a search of the building.

Tuesday, another threat to the elementary school, which was dismissed.

This last call resulted in a charge of terroristic threatening being issued against a juvenile who allegedly made the call about 9:30 a.m. A juvenile hearing was expected to be held later in the day.

"I feel the case against this juvenile is a sound one and should forewarn any potential offenders who are contemplating such threats toward the schools that they are not acting free of criminal liability and prosecution," County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said.

Supt. of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. added: "We will push for the prosecution of all offenders."

HERE FROM WILLIAMSON

Mrs. George Conley, Jr., of Williamson, W. Va., arrived here Tuesday, for a visit of several days with her daughter, Mrs. Jess Stover, Mr. Stover and children.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

Mrs. James D. Adams, aide to the national president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, recently attended the 48th annual spring convention of K.F.W.C., which convened at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel, in Lexington.

HRMC "was still primarily a Floyd county hospital." Now, he pointed out, more than half of patients served are from other counties. He called Highlands "a model hospital for a regionalization plan," and added, "It's been a beautiful thing to watch over the past four years."

Rankin said the addition of a variety of specialists to the hospital had acted as an important growth catalyst at the facility along with vastly increasing the quality of health care in the area. He pointed out that the acquisition of specialists had relieved a great deal of pressure from physicians in general practice and had created "a fine environment for practicing physicians." He said the existence of specialists in an area invariably attracts other doctors, thereby increasing the quality of medical services.

Rankin said he felt particularly proud that HRMC had encouraged continuing education, referring specifically to the nursing program at Prestonsburg Community College which was reinstated through the hospital and the fact that state universities utilize the facility as a site for seminars and student training sessions. "We've earned the respect of colleges and universities, and that's important," Rankin emphasized.

Even though he is leaving, Rankin is perhaps most excited by what the future holds for HRMC. Pointing to a 347-page certificate of need application which will be submitted in June for preliminary review by a local health planning board, he outlined proposed expansion work which he terms "simply carrying out plans outlined in the '60's." The work, which would include building of a new wing as well as major basement construction, would expand the hospital's patient capacity to 184 beds rather than the 250 beds outlined in original plans, and hospital rooms would be enlarged. A new emergency room, lab, intensive care unit, physical therapy department and expanded surgery are also called for in the plans as well as larger waiting areas, a first floor chapel and a variety of convenience features for staff and visitors. "I'd love to be here to see it through," Rankin commented.

Rankin, who described his new position in Lafayette as "a unique opportunity that doesn't present itself very often," said he will miss the area and its people. He spoke of local pride and how "it's always the quality of the people who staff a facility that determines the ultimate success."

After discussing his experiences here and his upcoming move, Rankin stressed the importance of looking to the future. "What's really important is not that an administrator is leaving, but what lies ahead for Highlands Regional Medical Center."

The full complement of employees would insure operation of the center on a round-the-clock basis, staff members working in shifts.

The center is designed to house a maximum of 26 juveniles, evenly divided between the two sexes.

Roy Stivers, director of the center, explained that the state has insisted on high standards of care and adequate staffing because this is the first regional juvenile detention center to be operated by the state and so it is important that supervision, care and all the other work involved are done right.

"The state doesn't want to start with one shoe off," he added.

Some county officials have pointed out that, were the center operated by the county, a staff only a fraction the size of the one being recruited by the state would be operating it.

County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said under the prevailing circumstances, with male juvenile offenders excluded from the center, court officials have two alternatives:

"They can send the boy home, which may be treatment that is too light; or, they can commit him to an institution, which may be too harsh."

(A court ruling has forbidden the jailing of juveniles in sight and sound of adult prisoners.)

Mr. Stiver estimated that the operation of the center on a regional basis "will pump approximately a quarter of a million dollars a year into the local economy."

PURE SCOTCH

A wise man once advised all and sundry against setting anything down in writing or print. "It will come back to haunt you," he said.

Sometime ago, I suggested in this column that a penny wasn't worth picking up. And that statement has caught up with me.

Reminding me of my rashness, Mrs. Hassie H. Martin, of Hindman, writes:

"Everyone in the 'good, old days' that you are always mentioning in your 'This Town—That World' had drilled into them Franklin's 'A penny saved is a penny earned.' My mother taught her young ones another one: 'Find a penny, pick it up, all that day you have good luck. Find a penny, let it lay, have bad luck all that day.'"

"I like that last one. I always pick them up. I put them in a box marked, 'Found Money.' When I get a few dollars ahead I contribute them to a good cause. Not long ago, I sent the collection to a little church in the community. Shortly thereafter, I received a note of thanks with the statement that the 'found money' would pay for children's Sunday School cards for a year and added that if this small fund hadn't come, no cards for the children."

"So—find a penny, pick it up."

And the lady—bless her Scottish heart!—adds: "I'm sending this by Jon Lindstrom to save 15 pennies on a stamp."

What title work has been done dates back to 1970-1972. It has been estimated that updating it would employ an attorney, fulltime for six months. In the case of owners deeding tracts to the county, the county would have to seek waivers of their rights under the 1970 federal Property Acquisition Act, rights apparently ignored at the time of the original transactions. The cost of the legal and engineering work needed to be done even BEFORE the condemnation of any property is put at between $20,000 and $35,000.

No money has ever been committed, however, for this pre-condemnation legal and engineering work.

Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones has reportedly listed it as a top priority in her request for Technical and Professional Assistance funds from the Big Sandy Area Development Board, of which she is a member, and a decision on the request is anticipated within a month.

Turner went on to explain again the distinction between permanent and temporary easements, and between the easement line and the water line, matters which have caused some confusion in the past. But Thursday's audience did not appear to need further persuasion. As one member of the audience, Steve Halbert, put it, "We need channelization much more than we need a four-lane highway." "The highway," he added, referring to the new KY 80 presently under construction, "is a luxury, while the channelization is a necessity."

A preliminary hearing for the two is scheduled at 10 a.m. tomorrow (Thursday) in juvenile court. Names of the defendants were not released.

Each faces two counts—terroristic threatening and first degree wanton endangerment.

"I believe," Turner said, "the results of this polygraph examination should be made available to the public immediately, hopefully to reassure all the concerned parents of the county that all persons responsible for the placing of the explosives are now under the jurisdiction of the court. It is my sincere hope that now both the parents and the students can attempt to salvage what is left of this academic year."

Bomb threats continued to interrupt the school this week, and one of these was reported Tuesday morning as having resulted in the arrest of a juvenile. The call was traced to a home here, and one or more juvenile petitions were being prepared by the county attorney.

Anonymous telephone calls, warning of bomb plantings in the high and elementary schools, preceded the gas explosion at the high school and continued into this week.

Thomas Tackett, principal at the elementary school spoke of the fear prevailing in the community. "You can see it in the faces of the mothers. Everyone is scared, including me."

In Washington last week, State Senator Jim Hammond conferred with Congressman Carl D. Perkins about the situation here, and Perkins called on U.S. District Atty. Patrick H. Mallow and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms to investigate and prosecute "to the full extent of the law those persons responsible for the threats."

Betsy Layne High School was dismissed last Wednesday after a bomb threat had been received.

FOR

STATE SENATOR JIM HAMMOND

I give my sincere and whole hearted support to State Senator Joe Prather, President Pro-Tem of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, for Lieutenant Governor because:

JOE PRATHER HAS WORKED FOR AND SUPPORTED PROGRAMS FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY—

JOE PRATHER has given me great assistance in helping me:

1. To enact the Resource Recovery Act which is responsible for the reconstruction of Ky. 80 to four lanes, connecting the Kentucky river Valley near Hazard to the Big Sandy River Valley near Prestonsburg; the reconstruction of Ky. Route 3 into four lanes, connecting the Big Sandy River Valley near Prestonsburg to Inez, Kentucky and Kermit, West Virginia, of the Tug River Valley; and the building of the Hazard By-pass, for a total of 350 million dollars of major road construction here in Eastern Kentucky from your severance tax dollars.
2. To secure increased funding of our schools through the severance tax program of power equalization.
3. To have monies returned to the coal counties for grant projects through the Coal County Economic Aid Boards in each coal producing county.
4. To secure more money for rural and county roads through the return of severance tax money via the Energy Road Fund for coal producing counties.
5. To secure funding for community parks and convention centers in coal counties through the return of coal severance tax.
6. To make Workmen's Compensation Benefits to coal miners suffering from Black Lung payable for life and in the maximum amount, paid for by severance tax money through the Coal Miners Pneumoconiosis Fund.

JOE PRATHER IS THE BEST QUALIFIED CANDIDATE FOR LT. GOVERNOR—

- *JOE PRATHER served six years in the House of Representatives as a Representative, reaching the position of majority whip for the Democrat Party.
- *JOE PRATHER has served six years as a State Senator.
- *JOE PRATHER has served four years as President Pro Tem of the Senate, assuming the duties of the Lieutenant Governor when the Lieutenant Governor was unable to serve.
- *JOE PRATHER has served as Governor of Kentucky when the Lt. Governor and the Governor were out of the state.
- *JOE PRATHER has served the last four years as co-chairman of the Legislative Research Commission which runs the legislative process when the Senate and House are not in session.

JOE PRATHER HAS PROVEN THAT HE CAN HANDLE THE JOB—

As you know, during the Special Session of 1979, JOE PRATHER stood up for Kentuckians and presided over the Senate in his role as President Pro-Tem of the Senate. Working together, he and I were able to:

- *Put a lid on property taxes
- *Take the sales tax off utility bills
- *Balance the budget, putting 45 extra million dollars into the rural highway program for the repair of our roads and bridges within the next 18 months.

JOE PRATHER has worked closely with me to assure that my district, not including the major highways funding, gets back $13.00 of state revenue for every $1.00 that is paid in state taxes by the people of this district.

JOE PRATHER HAS COMMITTED TO ME AND ALL THE PEOPLE OF EASTERN KENTUCKY TO WORK FOR THE FOLLOWING THINGS FOR US:

1. To double the money for rural highways and county roads by the state, with a de-emphasis on any new and future super highways.
2. To dramatically increase funding for education, increasing the proportionate share of that to be spent on elementary, secondary and vocational education.
3. To set up a Kentucky Electric Power Authority to locate coal-burning electrical generating plants in Eastern Kentucky.
4. To effectively reduce our utility bills and provide a means for our senior and disabled citizens to meet the payment of their utility bills.
5. To see that the next governor, whoever he may be, appoints a rural highway commissioner from Eastern Kentucky; a secretary or chief deputy secretary for the Department for Human Resources from Eastern Kentucky; and the secretary for the Department of Natural Resources and-or the Commissioner of Mines and Minerals from Eastern Kentucky.

Hospital Sanitation Stressed

Sanitation in extended and acute health care facilities was the subject of a recent seminar held on the Eastern Kentucky University campus in Richmond. "I don't know if most people realize how important sanitation is in hospitals and how significant routine things like cleaning floors and changing beds can become," said Rebecca Vaughn, LPN, executive housekeeper at Highlands. "We work very hard at keeping patient areas sanitary and other parts of the hospital as clean as possible for effective infection control," she added. Vaughn was one of four who attended from Highlands and one of 75 who attended from across the state. Also attending from Highlands Regional were Laura Skeens, linen room supervisor, Janice Griffith and Kathryn Bentley, housekeeping aides.

In 1853, money took America to the banks. Of the Rio Grande.

Kentucky Litter Corps To Help Floyd Cleanup This Summer

The summer campaign to clean up litter is almost under way, and Floyd county will be a part of it.

The Kentucky Litter Corps will hire 62 crews of high school students to collect litter along the roadsides of 18 counties participating in the program. Crews will be supervised by local school teachers and county coordinators.

The eight-week project, sponsored by the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, will begin on June 18 and run through Aug. 10.

"We hope to heighten awareness of the litter problem in Kentucky and to encourage recycling efforts," said Lili

Palmore, director of the program.

Litter will be collected in plastic bags and carried to sanitary landfills by the Department of Transportation. Workers will be encouraged to recycle returnable containers and aluminum, and will keep all money derived from recycling.

"The program," Palmore said, "will further demonstrate to the community the effectiveness of a small group of motivated citizens toward reducing unsightly litter."

For additional information on the litter program, Mrs. Palmore can be contacted in Frankfort at (502) 564-6718.

McDowell, First-Year Coach King, Enjoy Successful Season

By KENNY RICE
 "I think we'll be tough. We look strong overall with only a few question marks. We have experience and talent, we're ready to play." So said McDowell baseball coach Dennis King, last March.

King was a confident and anxious man at that time, only a week before McDowell launched its 1979 baseball season. With all but three boys returning from the 1978 district championship team, King's early season confidence was understandable. And with the nucleus of the Daredevils' diamond talent back for another season, plus the season being the first for King as a head coach, his anxiety was also understandable.

King's preseason enthusiasm carried over to his team and the result was a second straight 58th district tournament championship and a semi-final finish in the 58th regional tournament last week at Johnson Central. King's gung-ho approach to coaching made for an enjoyable and successful season for the Daredevils and their followers and for the rookie coach.

"I try to be as excited about playing as the players," King said, "I think the players relate better to me because of my attitude. To be successful the coach and players have to have a good relationship."

For King, the highlight of the season was the district title and the low point was having his club's nine-game winning streak snapped by Pikeville in the regional semi-final.

"I'm a little disappointed that we didn't make it to the regional finals, but I guess everyone that lost out feels the same way," King commented. "We are a better team than Pikeville and we should have had a better performance against them. We were not mentally ready for the Pikeville game and we didn't start playing good baseball until the fifth inning. The district final against Prestonsburg was one of our better games and the first win in the regional against Belfry is a memorable game because we won (6-5) and the game set regional records for most innings (12) and longest playing time (4 hours and 15 minutes). I was glad when that game was over. I had chewed off my fingernails by then."

The district win by the King-coached Daredevils continue the impressive showings made by McDowell teams over the last two decades in regional play, first under coach Pete Grigsby, Jr. in the 1960's and carried on by David Turner in the early 1970's.

King is aware of the McDowell tradition on the baseball field and even though he loses five starters off this season's 13-9 squad, he confidently states, "If I'm back at McDowell next season we will have a winning team. I know that sounds boastful, but I sincerely believe you have to have a positive and confident attitude to be a winner. That's the attitude we had this season and it paid off for us. We had a good ball team at McDowell."

As long as Dennis King is around to coach, lead cheers and promote his team, McDowell's future and tradition on the baseball field looks bright.

ALL-TOURNEY TEAM

MUSIC ON ALL-STAR SQUAD

Prestonsburg's 6-1 center, Dee Dee Music, has experienced the type of individual season that most female athletes in Kentucky dream about.

Music led the state girls in scoring (34.6 per game) and rebounding (21.7). She made the first unit of every major all-state team. She was signed to a college scholarship by the best women's basketball team in the state, Morehead State. And just over a week ago, Music received icing on the cake by being selected, after a tryout with the best girls in the state, to play on the Kentucky All-Star team in the annual series with the best girl players from Indiana.

Joining Dee Dee on the team are: Beth Wilkerson (Miss Basketball from Paris), Sharon Garland (Laurel County), Gayle Horstman (Assumption) forwards; Janet McNew (Butler) center; Lea Wise (Lafayette), Patty Jo Hedges (Western), Lori Edington (Covington Holy Cross) and Rosalind Smith (Butler) guards.

Kentucky All-Star Coach Roy Bowling will select two more players, probably after the East-West All-State game June 8, to complete the 11-girl squad. Music will be playing in the East-West game.

The girls' and boys' Kentucky-Indiana All Star games will be in Indianapolis on June 16 and Louisville on June 23.

BOYS ALL-STAR TEAM

Kentucky boys' All-Star coach, Paul Patterson, of Ashland, has selected the 11-man All-Star team.

The guards are Dirk Minniefield (Mr. Basketball from Lafayette), John Parrott (Ballard), Kenny Hart (Cristian County), Mont Sleet (Eminence) and Guy Minniefield (Henry Clay). The forwards are Charles Hurt (Shelby County), Charles Nance (Christian County), Steve Ware (Westport) and 5 Jeff Schneider (DeSales). The centers are Mark Fothergill (Somerset) and David Youngblood (Mayfield).

Two first-team all-staters, Melvin Turpin (Bryan Station) and Tony Wilson (Lafayette), are not on the team because of injuries. The 6'11" Turpin is suffering a hairline fracture in his left foot and Wilson, has tendonitis in his knees.

Supply of 'Gas' Adequate Here

Motorists traveling into Floyd county and most other parts of the Big Sandy valley for the Memorial Day week-end apparently will have no trouble at the gasoline pumps.

A partial survey of bulk suppliers of fuel indicates that the farther the motorist gets from the larger population centers, the fewer his worries about a refill. In Lexington last week, with no holiday or special event increasing the demand, motorists were not left without gas but in some instances had to hunt for it.

The Gulf, Texaco, Phillips and Pure Oil dealers supplying stations in the county and elsewhere in the valley are operating on allotments, but they see no problem for the week-end, except for those stations which remain closed on Sundays.

The Texaco distributor said there is a possibility that 10 per cent of his stations in an area of seven counties could be out of gasoline by the end of the month but saw no shortage for drivers in the Big Sandy valley.

Gulf was certain of "an ample supply" its stations.

Pure Oil reported "no problem for any of our stations," but all except perhaps two which are operated in connection with grocery stores close on Sundays.

Phillips has no gas supply problem, but most of its stations also close, Sundays.

Gasoline allotments to most bulk plants in the valley have been cut 20 to 25 per cent.

"THE GOOD, THE BAD AND THE UGLY"

A few years ago the above caption was the title of a popular western movie. To Greg Stumbo this phrase is symbolic of the plight of Floyd County over the past four years.

"THE BAD"

You don't have to go very far to see for yourself the terrible condition of the rural and secondary roads throughout our county. While MILLIONS of coal severance tax dollars are being used to build new highways downstate, we here in the coalfields must travel roads that destroy our cars and trucks. We put up with the potholes, and choke with the dust.

If you or your children are connected with the school system in Floyd County, then it's no surprise to find us classifying this as another "bad". For teachers to be effective they must have adequate facilities in which to teach the children. While the children in other areas of our state sit in air-conditioned rooms using modern educational techniques to learn, the children of Little Mud Creek sit in a two-room school, the children at Melvin use a leaky, outdated auditorium and the children at McDowell attend classes in a building that could be classified as unsafe. And only recently (just before the election) did the children of Prestonsburg get the cancer-causing asbestos removed from the high school. These are but a few examples of the deplorable plight of the Floyd County School System.

"THE UGLY"

The garbage problem remains one of the most serious situations in our county. If our officials believe this problem can be solved by declaring a "Clean-Up" month they are sadly misinformed. Do you see anyone picking up bottles or cans?

"THE GOOD"

Over the past four years there has been some "good" coming our way from Frankfort.

The problem is the "good" has only benefited the "few". The "few" have received special treatment in obtaining their strip-mining permits. While your Representative was busy walking these permits through for his friends, legislators from other areas of the state were "busy" taking Our Coal Severance Tax Dollars to build NEW ROADS in Jefferson County and other places.

The "few" have also enjoyed high-paying state jobs and state contracts while our children have to almost beg for the money needed to buy school equipment like new band uniforms.

Also "good" is the sudden effort being made to cover up the failures of the past four years by patching a few potholes, spreading a load of gravel here and there and laying an inch or two of blacktop. If you can fool them once you can fool them twice, right?

Greg Stumbo believes all of this is wrong. We don't need a "rubber-stamp Representative" in Frankfort that merely "votes and supports" legislation. We need affirmative leadership.

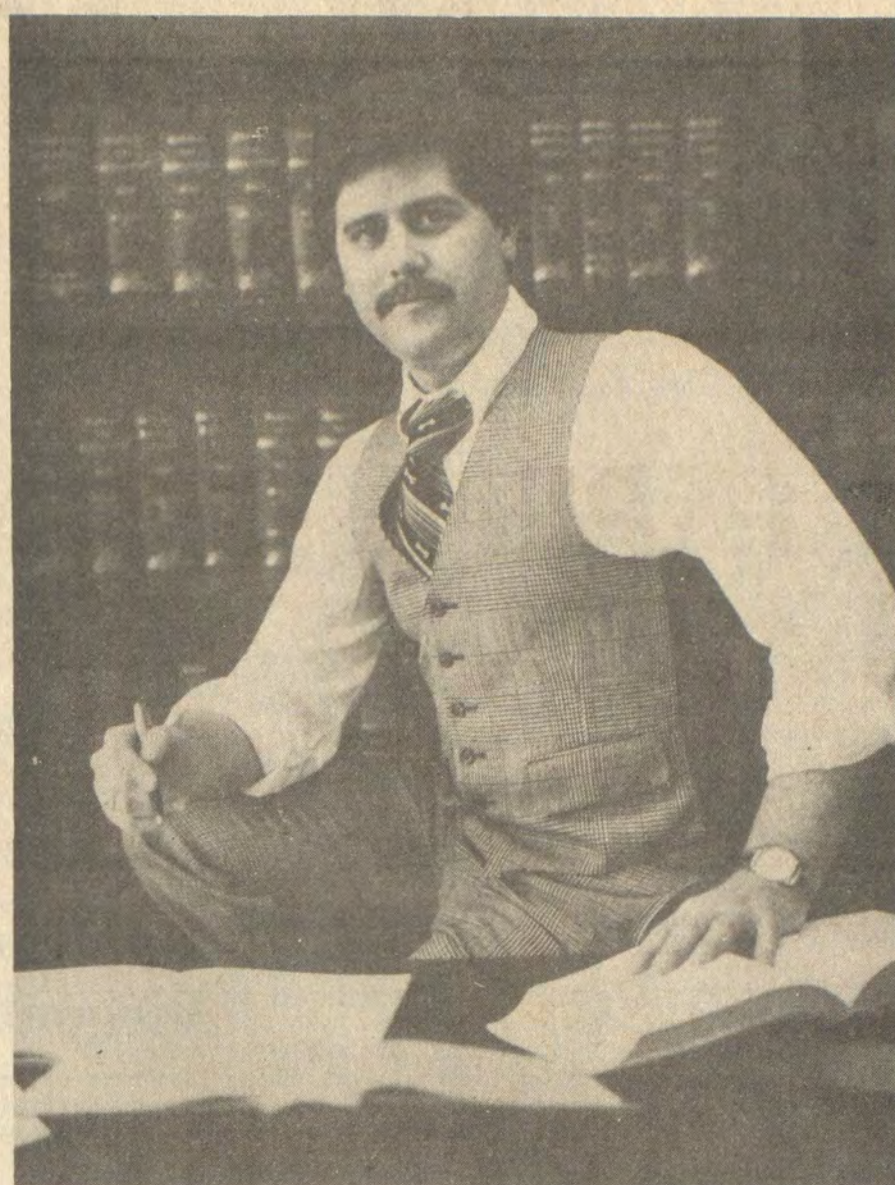

Greg's plan for a Pro-rated Return of the Coal Severance Tax Dollars is designed to bring the needed dollars back to Floyd County. This will be his number one concern in the 1980 Legislature. With this money we can:

- 1) Repair the rural and secondary roads.
- 2) Upgrade our school facilities.
- 3) Initiate a garbage, and collection plan that will work.

Greg is also pledged to work toward enactment of the following legislation:

- 1) Removal of the Utility Tax from the bills of all disabled persons.
- 2) Outlawing the "Fuel Adjustment Clause."
- 3) Expanding the military exemption to Vietnam war veterans.
- 4) Enactment of the Professional Negotiations bill for teachers and removal of politics from the school systems.
- 5) The removal of sales tax on automobiles and boats to stimulate tourism, along with a full-fledged effort to expand the park system in Floyd County.

These programs are Greg's ideas. As a young, qualified State Representative, he will be responsive to the needs of "all the people." The Tax and Educational Programs which Greg's opponent is desperately trying to claim credit for were actually part of the Governor's Budget which was voted for by ALL members of the House of Representatives.

During four years as State Representative, "Jitter" Allen has sponsored only ONE bill—a bill designed to aid non-union strip mine operators ("the few"). And because of a CONFLICT OF INTEREST he could not vote on that bill.

A conflict of interest occurs when one is employed, bound or obligated to those subjected by the bill in such a manner that would prejudice his vote. (The "good" for the "few".)

On May 29th let's end all this. Your vote for Greg Stumbo will give Floyd County a qualified, aggressive Representative.

Greg is not obligated, controlled or owned by anyone. He is a candidate because he cares about Floyd County, and he's tired of the mountain people being treated like "second-class citizens."

State Commerce Dept. Plans Marketing Program for Coal

Commerce Commissioner Carroll Knically has announced plans to establish a coal marketing development program in the Kentucky Department of Commerce.

Knically said Gov. Carroll has previously discussed with him the almost unlimited potential of Kentucky coal and the need for a concerted marketing program in the Commerce Department. "I have discussed this proposal with numerous coal industry leaders—representatives of both major producing companies and the smaller independent operators—and with our coal association," Knically said. "I first mentioned the plan publicly more than two months ago at a Labor-Management Advisory Council meeting in Lexington, where I discussed the possibilities with coal industry and association leaders. I later outlined the proposal at meetings of the Municipal Electric Power Association in February, and at a meeting of Morgantown businessmen in March, and I felt that the idea was favorably received."

Three staff members have been researching the approach the Commerce Department should take to establish a new coal marketing and development function. "I was convinced," Knically said, "that Kentucky, as the nation's number one coal-producing state, was not capitalizing enough on this valuable resource."

"Instead of trying to develop new, permanent markets, we were allowing the fate of this vital state industry to ebb and flow with the scarcity or abundance of foreign oil supplies. Within state government or within the coal industry itself, there was no central informational service agency on coal marketing, domestic or international, to which the large and small coal industries alike could turn for assistance," he said.

Knically said since he became Commissioner of Commerce in January 1979, he has noted the numerous requests for coal information that pour into the commerce offices from Europe—generally through the state's Economic Development Office in Bursseles—from India, from islands in the Carribean and from South American countries.

"At the present time, we are not equipped to supply that information directly," Knically said, "and the urgency for early establishment of the coal marketing-development office has been driven home."

Knically said his department is presently working with a coal liquefaction company on development of markets for new coal derivatives. "We will," he continued, "pursue all possibilities of metallurgical mixes and new uses for coal, and we intend to be in a position to provide full assistance to coal producers and coal processors. We can't afford to overlook this vital segment of Kentucky's development. We must endeavor to gain full economic benefits from our most plentiful resource, and especially now—when our coal can fill a critical need for new energy."

Use your dishwasher when fully loaded, and try to use it during off-peak time. Call your utility company to find out what the peak load period is in your area. Open the door of the dishwasher after the rinse cycle so that dishes can air dry.

Accompanied by Mrs. Janice Pack at the piano, the program began with the singing of "Jesus Loves Me" by the group. The welcome address by Chrys Lindstrom was followed by a poem by Reva Sue Hale and Jodi Marie Allen. The Pledge to the Flag was led by Sloane Dixon Onkst. "America, the Beautiful," was sung by the group, and a poem was recited by Jason Earl Waugh. A program, entitled, "Things We Did in Kindergarten," was given. The "Thank You" message was delivered by Ray Eugene Stephens and Melanie Gayle Minix. Mrs. Waugh and Mrs. Patton presented diplomas and white Testaments to Jodi Marie Allen, Beth Ann Darby, Lesley Karen Gray, Reva Sue Hale, Jonathan Keith Leslie, Chrys Lindstrom, Melanie Gayle Minix, Michael Curtis Nuckolls, Sloane Dixon Onkst, John Paul Reynolds, Angela K. ## Some surprising news about mileage from America's luxury leader.

1979 Fleetwood Brougham by Cadillac... 55% better EPA estimated mpg than its 1974 counterpart.

Cadillac has long been a leader in luxury... and today continues to demonstrate this kind of leadership with a full line of fuel-efficient luxury cars.

1. Fleetwood Brougham and DeVilles... 55% better EPA estimated mpg.

Our customers benefit from this new generation of luxury cars that brings fuel efficiency and cruising range to a level of comfort and convenience that's unmistakably Cadillac. What's more, the percentage of increase referred to above is based solely on EPA estimated mpg (city). No EPA highway test was conducted in 1974.

Fleetwood Brougham, Coupe deVille & Sedan deVille		EPA est. range (city)		EPA est. range (hwy)
Year	City	City	Hwy	City	Hwy
1974	24	Not Avail.	27	243 miles	Not Avail.
1979	14	20	25	350 miles	500 miles

Remember: Compare the estimated mpg to the estimated mpg of other cars. You may get different mileage and range depending on your speed, trip length and weather. Your actual mileage and range will be lower in heavy city traffic. Your actual highway mileage and range will probably be less than the highway estimates. California figures will be lower. All comparisons are based on standard engines. Cadillacs are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various GM divisions. See us for details.

2. An estimated cruising range of 350 miles per tankful (EPA city)—500 miles (EPA highway) for Fleetwood Brougham and DeVilles.

As Seville led the way in efficient size and Cadillac luxury... Fleetwood Brougham, Coupe deVille and Sedan deVille continue that leadership in combining fuel economy with luxury. Lively, responsive, beautifully agile... these are automobiles designed for the way you live today. Yet, cars with classic Cadillac elegance through and through. Their impressive cruising range estimates are obtained by multiplying the EPA mpg (city) estimate by the car's standard fuel tank capacity rating... also by multiplying the estimated highway mpg by the car's standard fuel tank capacity rating.

3. Seville: first of the fuel-efficient U.S. luxury cars... by Cadillac.

Seville was introduced as a dramatic new concept in U.S. luxury cars. Since then... our customers have helped make Seville an American success story. With its EPA estimated 19 mpg (city) and its highway estimate of 19 mpg... Seville continues to lead the way as the luxury car of the decade.

4. 40% better EPA estimated mpg for 1979 Eldorado compared to 1978 model.

We're also the people to see for the magnificent new Eldorado. An EPA estimated 19 mpg (city) for the 1979 Eldorado is 40% better than its 1978 counterpart. Based on the estimated highway mpg of 22, this year's Eldorado shows a 46% higher highway mpg than last year's. Comparisons are based on standard engines. California figures are lower. And the new Eldorado offers a combination of standard features found on no other U.S. car. Including electronic fuel injection, front-wheel drive, four-wheel independent suspension, four-wheel disc brakes and electronic level control—all standard. It's easy to understand why the 1979 Eldorado is the best selling Eldorado ever.

5. It's a golden opportunity to own the Cadillac of your choice right now.

Now is the time to see us. We're most likely to have the Cadillac model you want... with the available features you want. It's a golden opportunity but it won't last forever.

Boone Day Celebration To Honor Top Historian

Governor Julian Carroll will present the Governor's Award for the best book on Kentucky history at the annual Boone Day celebration at Frankfort at 11 a.m. June 7.

The Governor's Award will be given away each four years on the Boone Day preceding the close of a governor's term. Dr. Hambleton Tapp, state historian and head of the Kentucky Historical Society publications department, will present the Richard H. Collins Award for the best article to appear in "The Register," the society's official magazine. Both awards are being presented for the first time this year.

Harry Caudill, renowned author and spokesman on Appalachian culture and history, is the guest speaker for the Boone Day program. He has written six books and 40 magazine articles about the Appalachian mountains, their people, history, problems and potential. "Night Comes to the Cumberlands" and "The Watches of Night," a sequel, have received awards from the American Library Association. Caudill left his law practice in 1977 to teach Appalachian studies at the University of Kentucky.

Other guests will include Al Dix, owner and publisher of the Frankfort State Journal, who will serve as master of ceremonies, Frankfort Mayor Jim Burch and Pikeville Judge Jean Auxier, president of the society.

This day of honor pioneer Daniel Boone has been celebrated by the Kentucky Historical Society for more than 100 years. Country ham and beaten biscuits head the menu for the luncheon to be served on the Old Capitol grounds at noon. Entertainment will be provided by the singers who perform in "My Old Kentucky Home," an outdoor drama at Bradstown.

Luncheon reservations should be made in advance. The luncheon is open to the public. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Edna Flowers, administrative manager, (502) 564-3016.

Allen Woman's Club Awards Scholarship

The Allen Woman's Club held its May meeting at the clubhouse. A devotion entitled "Happiness," was given by Fern Ankron, and guest speaker was Mrs. Margaret Tackett with an interesting introduction and presentation on CPR. Mrs. Tackett is a specialist in this area and encouraged members to attend CPR classes being offered in the area. Following the program the majority of the members voted on organizing CPR classes to be given at the clubhouse. Paula Collins agreed to work on the idea and report at the June meeting.

Treasurer's and secretary's reports were read and approved. Club president, Anita Lafferty, announced that Roger Brown had won third place in the speech contest. She modeled a hat which she had made at the Drift Woman's Club dinner club meeting which was held in April. Members who had attended enjoyed the occasion. Two club members agreed to attend the KFWC state convention to be held in Lexington.

A motion was made and carried that our club give a PCC scholarship to an Allen student. The scholarship would include tuition for two semesters and members voted Kim DeRossett this year's scholarship recipient.

The president suggested that all members check the New Year's committee and hostess listings.

The meeting was adjourned, and refreshments were served by hostesses, Anita Lafferty and Mary Hinchman, to Lois Marshall, Jo Ann Adams, Pat DeRossett, Bonita Porter, Carol Jo Collins, Belle Conn, Hollie Blanton, Fern Ankron, Diane Reed, Violet Goodman, Paula Collins and Mrs. G. L. Maddiwar.

Issue and Debate

Is Rent Control of Apartments Beneficial to Consumers?

PRO: The following represents the statement of John Atlas, an attorney from Shelterforce, a national pro rent control organization.

Rent control has been found to be an effective mechanism to control inflationary rents. It holds the line against rent gouging, prevents speculation, and can reduce housing deterioration and abandonment.

What is rent control's effect on the larger community? John Gilderbloom, a housing expert who has made one of the few comprehensive studies of rent control that has not been sponsored by the real estate industry, has concluded that rent control works. It stabilizes rents without adversely affecting new construction, property maintenance, and the tax base. Unlike the real estate supported experts, Gilderbloom compared rent-controlled and non-rent-controlled cities in an effort to isolate rent control itself from other factors affecting a city's housing stock.

The simple truth is that modern rent control laws have no effect on construction rates. New construction is usually exempt from rent control. Moreover, broad economic and political factors such as unavailability of mortgage money, the high cost of land, maintenance, and financing, and government aid determine whether new housing will be built.

Gilderbloom also analyzed the data on building maintenance and abandonment. He concluded that maintenance did not decline, and in some cases actually improved under rent control. This was to be expected since modern rent controls allow landlords to pass the full cost of some repairs and all improvements on to tenants. Rent control systems often tie maintenance to rent increases and thereby act as an inducement for the landlord to fix up their property.

The argument that abandonment is caused by rent control fails to take account of the fact that landlords neglect and abandon buildings even where there is no rent control. Besides Gilderblooms', a number of studies have laid to rest the old bugaboo that rent control causes abandonment. A National Urban League study of abandonment ranked New York fifth behind four cities that don't limit rents: St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago, and Hoboken. The prestigious Woman's City Club's (NYC) extensive abandonment study in 1977 found that "buildings with higher rents were as likely to be abandoned as comparable ones with lower rents," and concluded that rent control is not a reason for abandonment.

Even the Temporary State Commission on Housing and Rents in New York City concluded, "Rent control...can have little effect for it's clear that it is the oldest, least desirable tenement housing which (is) abandoned—housing which is unable to produce substantially more income in a free market."

Gilderbloom also addressed the contention that rent control erodes the tax base. Again, he found no adverse effect. In the rent-controlled cities in New Jersey, for example, only seven showed decreases in property valuation. In 26 controlled and non-controlled New Jersey cities, Gilderbloom found an identical 25% increase in the tax base of each grouping.

The fact is that real estate operators are bent on making as much profit as they can from housing and are willing to use scare tactics in opposing rent control. The tax base argument is meant to enlist homeowners in the rent gouger's battle against tenants.

But homeowners should not be fooled. First of all, rent control often stabilizes neighborhoods, taxes remain stabilized, and if the community wants to increase taxes, commercial taxpayers can and should bear the brunt.

Rent control can begin the process of shifting the tax burden to those who can afford it and away from the poor, middle, and working class family.

Moreover, rent control gives people security that they will not be evicted next week or next year because of some exorbitant rent hike. This stabilizes neighborhoods and tenants gain a stronger sense of community. And when people have a greater sense of security and community they become involved socially and economically.

Rent control is not a solution to the housing problem. But for the elderly, the poor, the unemployed, the average working family, as well as the financially burdened middle class, rent control is an excellent short term solution.

For further information on rent control, contact Shelterforce at 380 Main Street, East Orange, N.J. 07018.

Con: The following statement represents the position of the National Apartment Association.

Rent control advocates claim that because there is a shortage of rental housing, rent controls are needed to provide well maintained apartments at low rents.

Let us examine this argument. Rent control is the surest way to turn decent housing into slums. Apartment operating expenses, such as energy costs, building maintenance, and personnel salaries, are increasing at a greater rate than rents. (Since 1967, rents have increased 66%, compared to a 100% increase in the price of general goods and services.) Because these expenses are increasing more rapidly than rents, the building income eventually becomes insufficient to maintain the property if rents are not increased. Since rent control prevents the owner from raising rents enough to cover increased expenses and receive a fair return on the investment the owner is forced to cut back services and maintenance.

To make this point clearer, assume that you own a couple of rental units. This is not so strange an assumption, since most rental units are not owned by large conglomerates, but by small investors. As the expense of running your rental units keeps rising at a faster rate than rents, your profit starts shrinking. So, when a rental unit needs a repair, you might delay the repair or use less costly materials. You might delay replacing old sinks, refrigerators, and other appliances. Eventually the rental units become run down. Then even if you wanted to make repairs, you could not obtain a loan from a bank because of the physical and financial condition of the rental units. Banks in New York City, D.C., and other localities with rent control are reluctant to lend money to repair apartment buildings because they fear there will be a default on the loan.

The scenario just described is not fanciful. It has happened in New York City, Washington, D.C. and other cities with rent control. Apartment buildings become so run down and unprofitable, the owner cannot even sell the building to cover delinquent property taxes. Then the building is abandoned and the neighborhood deteriorates. Senator Proxmire's Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs unanimously concluded that rent control is a major cause of the abandonment of dilapidated rental units. The Committee found that, since 1960, over 300,000 rental units have been abandoned in New York City and presently an average of 30,000 units are abandoned every year. Before officials in your locality consider rent control, a careful study of its effects should be made.

Rent control achieves just the opposite of what its advocates intended. Instead of supplying the consumer with well-maintained low-cost housing, it provides him with low-rent slums.

Even individuals who do not rent suffer because of rent control. Rent-controlled buildings are worthless, so they pay less property tax. The local governments must raise both income and property tax rates to make up the difference. For example, in Cambridge, Massachusetts, the Principal Tax Assessor stated that Cambridge suffered its first decrease in its tax base since the Depression. He attributed the decrease wholly to the imposition of rent controls. Consequently, a non-renter ends up paying more taxes because of rent control.

Even with all these adverse consequences, rent control advocates claim rent control is merely a temporary measure due to the rental housing shortage. But rent control cuts off future housing construction which further increases the shortage. Remember, no one works for free. If an investor can't make a fair profit by owning an apartment building, he will not build one. In all cities where there is rent control, private construction of apartment buildings has ground to a halt. The consumer discovers that, as a result of the "temporary" rent control measure, the housing shortage has gotten worse. He no longer can find a vacancy and waiting lists develop. Already vacancy rates are at a 23 year low.

Rent control fails to achieve the goal of its advocates, and the consumer ends up with the worst of all worlds. The apartment shortage is worsened and the existing apartment buildings begin to deteriorate. The solution to the housing problem is not rent control, but increased production of housing and government rent supplements to low-income groups.

OSM Grant To Relieve Johnson Slide Danger

The U.S. Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining has approved the expenditure of $13,686 to design a project to alleviate a slide danger to a home in Johnson County, Kentucky.

The slide threatening the home of Mrs. Nannie Belle Sites, of Meally, originates from an old strip mine bench, according to a report from OSM's Region II office in Knoxville, Tennessee.

David C. Short, regional director for OSM's Region II, said a contract for the work to correct the situation will be let as soon as the design phase is completed. In the meantime, Mrs. Sites is staying at the nearby home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Waller.

Money for the project comes from reclamation fees levied on coal for abandoned mine land projects under the U.S. Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977.

"One shabby camel carries the burden of many donkeys."

What Pollution Has Done to a Sea

"Like an underwater dust storm," says Capt. Jacques Cousteau, "the silt from the advancing shore line coats every living thing in a smothering cloud, an impartial catastrophe which makes no distinction among the species."

The object of Cousteau's concern is the Mediterranean Sea, which is examined in the latest edition in public television's "The Cousteau Odyssey" series. Entitled "Mediterranean: Cradle or Coffin," the program airs on KET Sunday, May 27 at 8 p.m. (ET).

Commissioned by international committees as well as individual Mediterranean countries, Capt. Cousteau and the Calypso team conducted a broad variety of research in the Black Sea and the Mediterranean—a virtually and-locked body of water, into which flow the urban and industrial wastes of nations with a total population of more than 300 million people.

The broadcast shows film taken a year after World War II, in which Capt. Cousteau is seen with officers of the French Navy testing the waters of Veyron near Marseilles, and finding the sea teeming with marine life.

Three decades later, Cousteau and his Calypso crew returned to the Veyron and discovered the sea floor a desert—the rich abundance gone, the sea virtually empty of fish.

The major role played by industry in pollution damage is illustrated by Venice, where the emission of surrounding plants and complexes are eating into the city's historic structures. Dr. Valentino Fossato, of Venice's Institute of Marine Biology, discusses the threat to the city's ancient buildings with Capt. Cousteau.

The program also covers the 1973 cholera outbreak in Naples, which was traced to polluted shellfish beds.

Fourth Folk Festival Set at Grayson Lake

Mountain music will ring through the foothills of Grayson Lake for the fourth annual Kentucky Folk Song Festival, June 9 and 10.

The weekend will feature authentic mountain music of the past, arts and crafts exhibits, an antique car show and recreational activities in a relaxing woodlands setting.

A fiddlers' contest has been added this year to be held on Sunday at 4 p.m. Those interested in entering the contest may call Hubert Rogers at (606) 474-6735.

The festival will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and close at 10 p.m. On Sunday it will begin at noon and last until 6 p.m. An admission fee will be charged for any over 12 years of age.

Among the performers will be Lonzo and Oscar, longtime performers with the Grand Ole Opry, accompanied by Ron Sweet. They will perform Saturday at 3 and 7 p.m., doing both comedy and music.

The following musicians will be among the performers: Kentucky Foothillers led by Hubert Rogers; the Hill Climbers; the Blue Goose Group (named for the Eastern Kentucky passenger train); the Chapman Valley Boys; the Carter Music Makers and the Fraley Family.

An old fashioned square dance will be held Saturday night.

Craft exhibits, contained in a large tent which will be secured at night, will be open during the entire festival. Exhibits will include: crafts in leather, hand crafted pottery, wood carving, needlework of all kinds including quilting, silk flowers, candle, broom, furniture and wood toy making, lapidary arts, jewelry made of wire and of horsehoe nails, macrame, and the design and fabrication of dulcimers. There also will be artists in residence.

There are more elk and deer in the U.S. today than there were in 1900, according to National Wildlife magazine.

FOR KENTUCKY STATE SENATOR

As far as I know, every man that is running for Kentucky State Senator is a good and honorable man.

But one good man is running that a lot of people do not really know. To try to know a man is to know him inside out, his moral character, his attitude toward his fellowman, his mental and physical capacity, his capability of getting things done for the people he proposes to serve in the office he seeks to hold.

This man needs to have strong friendly contacts in government and in the business world. Whereby his influence can get things done for the people he wishes to serve, which are the people of his district, first and foremost.

This man has all the qualifications necessary to get the job done for the people of his district. This man is well-educated. This man has contacts and influential friends in county and state government and in the business world, far and wide throughout the country, which, as we all know, is a "must" in getting things done for the people of his district.

I believe this man, if elected, will work fair and square for all the people of his district, and will faithfully and persistently work for the general welfare of the people he serves.

This man is sincere, congenial and considerate to his fellowman, and that is what we need in a man who is going to serve his people in a most honorable capacity.

THIS MAN IS JOE D. WEDDINGTON, OF PRESTONSBURG, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR KENTUCKY STATE SENATOR. He knows the many needs of our district and has the ability to solve our many problems.

COAL is our lifeline in Eastern Kentucky. Joe knows the coal business and will do everything possible to make it boom again in East Kentucky. He certainly knows our school system in Eastern Kentucky is in deplorable condition, especially right in our district. He will fight to improve such low standards and conditions.

Joe D. Weddington believes in law and order, he will fight to get some teeth and sting back into the judicial process. Don't bring 'em in and turn 'em loose—give them what they deserve and make it stick.

He knows the rural road situation is very bad indeed, he will fight to get good roads to the people in the rural areas. Roads, of course, are always something all candidates mention that they will improve, but none of them ever does anything about it, I believe Joe Weddington will do something about the bad road conditions in the rural areas.

Joe D. Weddington knows health care is a "must" for our people; he will work to improve on it in our area. He will also work for the benefit of the elderly people. He knows their plight, that inflation has robbed them of their meager income and that they need all the help they can get. He will fight for them.

I could go on saying more and more about this man. I hope you will elect him, and I have faith in him that he will get things done for our people.

So cast your vote for the man that will and can help you.

There has not been a complaint filed with me or a letter asking help that has not had my immediate and personal attention. With the help of the other two Railroad Commissioners, I, as chairman, rejected the application of the L. & N. Railroad for a 32 percent intrastate freight increase.

Signal lights were installed at Lacky Nov. 8, 1978. The same type of lights will be installed at McDowell crossing, near the Foster Stumbo store, within the next few months.

I have 44 counties in which I run, but my home county is Floyd and you are my people.

I was born on Simpson Branch, near Drift. I am for all who have complaints pertaining to the railroads.

Amphitheatre Readies for Full Season of Musical Productions

By KEITH SHANNON

One cool night in the summer of 1965, a young actor sauntered across a stage in eastern Kentucky, singing the opening song of the Broadway musical "Oklahoma!"

Since that first show, hundreds of actors, singers and dancers have crossed that same stage at Jenny Wiley State Park in Prestonsburg, appearing on over fifty productions and bringing musical theatre to thousands of visitors and residents of eastern Kentucky.

This summer the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre will celebrate its Fifteenth Anniversary. William Campbell, general manager of the theatre, is proud of that.

"It's amazing to think that a community this size could produce a theatre that has done so many quality productions," he said. "That shows that the community is really dedicated to the theatre. That makes us work harder." Campbell has been with the theatre for five seasons. This is his first year as general manager. The dedication he speaks of was around long before he came to Jenny Wiley.

The idea of putting a summer theatre in Prestonsburg came about after a local resident, Katherine Frazier, attended a performance of "The Stephen Foster Story" in Bardonia, KY. and decided that Prestonsburg could produce a similar drama. According to Mrs. Frazier, the theatre was originally intended to house a continuing production of the life of Jenny Wiley, a young pioneer woman whose escape from Indians over the rugged mountains of eastern Kentucky made her a local legend.

Playwrite Paul Green designed the theatre with the intention of writing the play. However, it was later decided that Prestonsburg did not have enough motel space to accommodate the visitors needed to maintain a continuing outdoor drama. The theatre was built, but the idea of a continuing drama was scrapped.

For years, the theatre was used mainly by touring companies, with a few local productions being produced each year. Local residents devoted long hours of their spare time to produce shows like "H.M.S. Pinafore," "South Pacific," and "The Sound of Music."

In 1968, the theatre was staffed with a mixture of local residents and actors imported for the summer to work full time on the shows. Since then, the theatre's company has been professional, doing three or four productions each summer from late June until the August.

The shows have included several major Broadway musicals as well as some lesser known plays. They have ranged from shows with small casts and tiny sets ("The Fantasticks") to shows which feature lavish production numbers ("Hello Dolly").

Campbell said this season will offer a mixture of both. "Starting Here, Starting Now," a three-character musical revue, will open the season, playing June 20 through June 24 and continue on Friday evenings through August 17. Three "larger" musicals will be presented Wednesday through Sunday nights (excluding Fridays) starting with "The Robber Bridegroom" (June 27 through July 15) and continuing with "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" (July 18 through July 29) and "Pippin" (August 1 through August 19).

Curtain time for the performances is 8:30 p.m. and ticket information may be obtained by calling (606) 886-9274 or by writing the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, Box 22 Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

Many changes have taken place in the theatre over the years, according to Campbell. This year's company will be housed in mobile homes that are owned by the Jenny Wiley Drama Association. In previous years the companies have been housed in the theatre's dressing rooms or have had to search for housing in the surrounding communities.

Even with the mobile homes, the actors' accommodations are less than extravagant. "It is a six-mile drive from the theatre to the mobile homes," Campbell said. "Two of those miles are on a dirt road which goes through a construction site. It is not an easy drive."

WHY DOES BILL WELLS WANT TO BE COUNTY JUDGE-EXECUTIVE? WHO WILL REALLY RUN THE COUNTY JUDGE'S OFFICE?

Bill Wells, candidate for County Judge-Executive, says he will establish a mini-court if he is elected. Have we forgotten? This candidate once held for 12 years one of the four mini-court positions in Floyd County. What did this past office holder do with his mini-court office?

Ask the good people in District No. 1 who live up the creeks and hollows about how much time this candidate devoted to his mini-court that he occupied for 12 years. Does this same candidate want to be County Judge-Executive so he can stay in JOHNSON COUNTY, regulating your electric bill?

Other candidates have not made any silly promises that they cannot carry out when they are elected County Judge-Executive's but, certainly not BILL WELLS. He has told you the voters that if elected he will blacktop all roads in the county; however, no one person can do that and you the VOTERS know better than that.

LET'S VOTE FOR A SENSIBLE CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY JUDGE-EXECUTIVE ON ELECTION DAY.

There have also been other major changes. In the early years, music for the shows was provided by pianos. A few years ago, an orchestra pit was installed, and a 12 piece orchestra now accompanies the performance. A wooden floor is being installed on the stage to replace the cracked, uneven concrete one. A new sound system and new lighting trees are being installed.

These improvements have been needed for many years, according to Sally Murphy, assistant general manager. Because the theatre is outdoors, the harsh winters take their toll on the facilities. "With these improvements and with the help we've been getting from Lowell Baker, Superintendent of Jenny Wiley State Park, it looks like we may be able to make the theatre presentable again", Murphy said.

Another big change has been the costs of the productions—they have continued to rise. Campbell said the theatre welcomes contributions and has special Patron arrangements for different levels of contributions. "With these improvements being made in the theatre, we need all the financial support we can get," he said.

One thing that hasn't changed is the dedication of the actors, according to Campbell. Hundreds of actors have spent time at Jenny Wiley, and while some have traveled on to careers cloaked in obscurity, others have become famous. Perhaps the most famous former cast member is Ron Palillo, who created the role of Arnold Horshack on television's "Welcome Back Kotter." Palillo, acted and directed at the theatre in 1970. Cynthia Bostic, a 1969 cast member, went on to become Miss Kentucky and was later featured in the daytime drama "For Richer, For Poorer." Eileen Barnett, who appeared at Jenny Wiley in 1968 and 1969 now appears on "Days of Our Lives." Randy Jones, a member of the group "The Village People" was a member of the company in 1972.

This impressive list of alumni is proof that Jenny Wiley ranks among the best summer theatres in the country, according to Campbell.

"We've come a long way, and we've learned a lot in our first fifteen years," he said. "The quality of the performances this season will reflect that."

But, he added, the theatre will not stop getting better. "our next fifteen years are going to be dynamite!" he said.

Kentucky Afield

Every bass fisherman dreams of catching a stringer full of fat and sassy three- to four-pound largemouths, with a couple of lunkers—seven and eight pound fish—thrown in for good measure.

Although this dream occasionally comes true, the actual situation is quite a bit different. On a national basis, according to figures compiled by the Sport Fishing Institute (SFI) and based on scientifically collected data from the various states, an average catch is one "keeper" bass for every 20 to 30 hours of fishing.

The SFI also calculates that, on the average, every square foot of potential bass habitat is fished at least three times each season. If all the waters in the nation which could harbor bass were divided among all the fishermen, each angler would have to depend "upon the productivity of only 3/4 of an acre of water to satisfy his annual recreational fishing needs," the SFI says.

It's obvious from these sobering figures that enormous angling pressure is being exerted on bass populations and that some means of regulating bass harvest must be imposed if any kind of quality fishing is going to be maintained at all.

"Among the tools available to fisheries managers," the SFI report concludes, "none offers more potential for improving bass yields and angling quality than appropriate minimum size limits."

Kentucky is entering its second season with what the SFI considers an "appropriate" minimum size limit—12 inches. Biologists who work closely with bass can already see the difference, particularly in smaller lakes and ponds (always the first to respond to changes in management).

Bass fishermen should also be able to note a change, according to Kentucky's Fisheries Director Charlie Bowers. Bowers predicts that both the total number of bass caught and the total pounds of bass harvested will increase this year.

Bowers says the anglers should notice an increase in the average size of the bass they catch this spring. Even the fish they must return to the water will be larger—10 and 11 inches instead of eight or nine, as was common under the 10-inch limit.

Although the new size limit is still under evaluation, biologists feel it is working as predicted and the quality of bass fishing will continue to improve.

But like other fish and game laws, Bowers says, this one will work only if fishermen observe it. Keeping undersized bass is not only illegal, it's also unsporting and harms the future of bass fishing for us all.

A Shopper's Guide to Quality Furniture

By Richard Lacayo

The average piece of home furniture is less expensive than a car and less complicated than a stereo system. But when it comes time to make a purchase, it is no less difficult to choose a sofa than it is a station wagon.

For one thing, the decision to buy is commonly made on the basis of appearance rather than craftsmanship. It is often not so much a decision as an impulse, a response to design rather than quality construction; a stylish fabric can be a lot more interesting than a snug-fitting corner joint.

Another problem is that even those buyers who want to look more closely at a sofa or chest of drawers may not know what to look for. When it comes to upholstering or cabinetry, most customers are at a disadvantage, and unscrupulous salesmen know this. At first glance, the interior of a sofa might appear to the uninitiated to be as simple as a clam. But as clam lovers can tell you, there are clams and there are clams.

Shopping For Furniture

There are two basic categories of home furnishings: upholstered pieces (chairs, sofas, and recliners, for example) and case goods (such as dressers, cabinets, tables, and desks).

The anatomy of an upholstered item has four main areas. Proceeding outward from the center, these include the frame, which can be made of wood, plastic, or metal, the spring foundation, the cushion filling, and the outer fabric covering.

When shopping for a sofa or chair, look for frames made of kiln-dried wood, which resists warping, rather than air-dried wood.

Check the visible joints. These should be tightly joined, and there should be metal reinforcements, particularly at the corners.

There are two kinds of internal spring construction. The less expensive of the two, called the "zig-zag" design, produces a kind of interlaced trampoline surface. It has a reputation for being firm and not very flexible. The alternative, "coil" construction, is known for comfort and bulk.

Cushions are likely to be filled with latex or urethane foam. Check the labels—the best foam contains a high percentage of urethane. Fiberfill produces the deep-sink "stuffed" look. In some cases, fiber is inserted around a foam core.

Nylon and olefin make the longest-lasting cover fabrics. The most durable coverings are also the most tightly woven, such as damask and tweed. Vinyl is wear-resistant, too, plus easy to clean and a good deal less expensive than leather. However, with time, vinyl can harden and split. The best vinyl coverings are also the thickest.

Keep in mind that cover fabrics constitute the single largest factor in determining the final price of a finished item. But furniture manufacturers receive no guarantees from manufacturers concerning the durability of their materials. Consequently, you won't be receiving any guarantees, either.

In shopping for upholstered items, there are a number of general questions to keep in mind:

- Is the frame well-padded, especially at the corners?
- If there are hanging skirts along the bottom, are the hems even?
- Are the cushions snug?
- Are the buttons sewn on tightly?
- Are the seams straight?
- If there are quilted surfaces, is the stitching secure?
- Do the fabrics have any protective finishes to guard against wear, soiling, or fading?
- Do patterns, plaids or stripes match at the seams?
- Do sofas and heavy recliners have casters?

If you are thinking of buying two or more upholstered pieces of the same color, order them all together. There can be variations within a single shade between one fabric dye-lot and the next.

Buying case goods requires you to know something of the vocabulary of woodworking. Oak finish means that woods other than oak have been used, but finished to resemble oak. "Solid oak" signifies that all exposed surfaces are of oak. A "veneer" is a thin layer of wood affixed by glue to a solid base.

A well-finished case item should be smooth from adequate sanding and rubbing. Run your hands around it, especially around the undersides. Look for hairline cracks and streaks of lacquer or stain.

Check the drawers. Do they move smoothly? Look for "glides"—plastic, wooden, or metal tracks that keep drawers moving evenly—and "stops" that keep drawers from pulling out too far. Make sure that drawers don't wobble and that there's no more than a 1/4" of sideways play. Check between drawers for dust panels that help to keep contents clean.

Look at joint construction on drawers and elsewhere. Be wary of drawer panels that are simply glued together; in a well-constructed drawer they should interlock. An abundance of staples should make you suspicious, too. Staples should not substitute for screws in holding on back panels or other attachments.

Most manufacturers of case goods have an informal guarantee policy that applies to defects that appear within a year after manufacture, but this guarantee is not an industry-wide policy. Problems that turn up more than a year after purchase will be treated as the result of usage.

The imperfections covered by the typical case goods guarantee include the loosening of glued joints, warping, splitting, and "de-lamination."

Channels For Complaint

If the springs start popping through your new recliner and your recently purchased desk collapses when you lean on it, what can you do? Well, it depends. Most consumer complaints involving furniture are resolved by the retailer. In a few cases, the manufacturer steps in. But an organization does exist to help solve consumer problems not settled through those channels. The Furniture Industry Consumer Advisory Panel (FICAP) is a voluntary, non-profit group that seeks to encourage high standards in the furniture industry, and to assist consumers directly by providing advice on how to satisfy their claims and by advising the industry of general consumer concerns.

FICAP makes available a free furniture buyers' guide which is available from Box 591, High Point, N.C. 27261. This booklet emphasizes that FICAP is an advisory body, with no authority to enforce action against an offending retailer or manufacturer.

What FICAP can do is obtain a review of your complaint from management executives of the store or manufacturer involved in your complaint. It can recommend to them "affirmative action" appropriate to complaints like yours and suggest a possible solution to your particular case.

According to FICAP, the procedure by which consumer complaints are handled in the furniture business involves several steps. The retailer inspects the merchandise involved in the complaint. If the problem is a result of a manufacturing defect, rather than wear, repairs might be made on the spot or in the retailer's service shop. If that is not possible, the manufacturer must authorize the return of the damaged piece for factory repair or replacement. In some cases, the retailer may offer to substitute a new item for the imperfect merchandise, but cash refunds are highly uncommon, and specially-ordered upholstered pieces are almost never accepted for return or exchange.

Unfortunately, the entire complaint process can take weeks or even months to come to a conclusion, and it may not be a satisfactory conclusion at that. Obviously, the best thing to do is to avoid the whole process by shopping carefully.

How To Get the Bugs Out

By Joan McClusky

Cockroaches can make you feel like gate crashers in your own home. If you've ever clicked on your kitchen light, only to see hordes of the little monsters grabbing the cheese dip and running for the baseboards, you know the feeling. Roaches are also embarrassing, somehow, their presence hints of banana peels under the bed and penicillin cultures in the refrigerator.

When you do battle with the roach, you are fighting something that has been around for millions of years longer than man, can live anywhere in the world, and can survive on any kind of food. With enough determination, however, you can beat the little monsters, and with enough care, you can prevent them from coming back.

There are more than 50 known types of cockroaches living in the U.S., but of these 50, only five species infest homes. These five, when fully grown, range in length from 1/2 to 2 inches, and range in color from yellowish or reddish brown to black. The most common type, the German cockroach, grows to 1/2 inch in length and has two dark stripes on the edge of its head.

Cockroaches come seeking warmth, moisture or food. They can come into your home in beverage or grocery cartons, in paper bags, from a neighbor's apartment or home, or up the elevator or stairs. Once they arrive, cockroaches make themselves right at home, and immediately begin propagating their species.

Baby roaches, or nymphs, hatch from egg capsules, or oothecae. Since there are about 40 nymphs in every German cockroach ootheca, you can see why missing only a few will mean another showdown between you and the roaches in a very short time.

You may be tempted to scream for the exterminator the first time a roach appears, or you may have tried to get rid of them yourself without success. Although some pests, such as rats or woodpecks, definitely call for the services of a professional exterminator, you can usually take care of cockroaches yourself.

Picking an Insecticide

The first and most important step towards ridding your house of roaches involves choosing the right insecticide. First of all:

- Choose the right type for the job. Look for an insecticide specifically labeled for use against cockroaches. Some brands are labeled "ant and roach killers."

- Check for an EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) registration number on the product you choose. The EPA registers all of the more than 30,000 pesticides marketed in the United States, and the EPA number assures you that the product is safe and effective when used as directed.

Next, check the substances in the insecticide that are listed on the label. The product will only be as effective as its ingredients.

- Diazinon, malathion, propoxur, and ronnel will kill all kinds of cockroaches.

- Lindane will control all but the ever popular German cockroaches, which have built up a resistance to the substance in most areas.

- If you have German cockroaches, use only a product containing diazinon, malathion, propoxur or ronnel.

- Dichlorvos and pyrethrin, two common chemicals, do not leave behind an active residue. This is a drawback, because roaches that are missed when you spray may come into contact with an insecticide residue days later, and so still be killed.

Dichlorvos is seldom the only ingredient in a roach spray, so the other chemicals will insure an active residue. But pyrethrins are sometimes called organic, and sold in health food stores; they're extracted from chrysanthemums and are relatively nontoxic to people and pets. Unfortunately, they also are pretty ineffective, unless you can hit the roach directly, because they have practically no residual effect.

After checking to make sure that the insecticide has the proper ingredients to send your little friends to their greater glory, you'll have to decide on the form of the insecticide. Here are the most popular types:

- Surface sprays are widely used. They leave a deposit or residue that remains deadly to the roaches that crawl over it. The maximum life-effectiveness of any product, however, is limited by the EPA for 30 days. Use only enough to moisten surfaces thoroughly; the deposit shouldn't drip or run. Remember, you're not trying to drown the bugs.

- Space sprays contain extremely fine particles that float in the air and make contact with exposed or flying roaches. They may be used in deep cracks and crevices and hard to reach places. Although it will rarely kill roaches, it will drive them into the open where you can kill them with a surface spray or chemical dust.

- Some aerosols can be used for both surface and space spraying, but a surface spray should never be used for space spraying unless the manufacturer specifically recommends it.

- Dust insecticides can be used for killing roaches driven out by the space spray. In cases of severe infestation, you can use a surface spray first and then force the dust into cracks and crevices difficult to reach with a spray.

- A high-power defogger, which automatically dispenses the insecticide into a closed room or house, can be effective in heavily infested homes.

- Poisoned food is also available; you put it where the bugs will be sure to find it, and they will carry it back to friends and family. This product is not a good choice if you have children or pets around, and even if you have an entirely adult household, you should watch out for spills from broken containers.

There's another type of insecticide that works very well, although it has some drawbacks. The substance is boric acid powder, and most drug stores sell it. It's not highly toxic and once it's put in place, a single application can work for years.

Applying the Insecticide

These basic guidelines and precautions will apply no matter what form of insecticide you choose.

- Wear old clothes, a long sleeved shirt, and gloves; keep contact between you and the spray to a minimum.

- If you are going to be cleaning any of the surfaces you're planning to spray, do it before you spray. Otherwise, you'll just wash off the spray and lose the residual effect of the chemicals.

- Make sure children and pets are out of the way, and will stay clear for the time it takes the spray to dry.

- If you're spraying in the kitchen or bathroom, take everything off shelves and out of the room. All food, dishes, utensils, pots and pet food dishes should be well out of the spraying area. The same goes for soap, towels, and personal effects in the bathroom.

- Read the directions that come with the spray. Make sure you know what you're doing, how much to use, and how long it will take before you begin to use any product. Read the first aid instructions, as well, in case a person or animal is accidentally poisoned.

- Plan where you're going to spray. For best effect, insecticide should be applied where roaches hide—beneath sinks and drainboards (around but not on pipes—heat will destroy the chemicals); along cracks around or underneath cupboards and cabinets, and inside—especially in the upper corners. Roaches also hide where pipes or conduits pass along or go into walls, behind window or door frames, behind loose baseboards and moulding strips, on the undersides of tables and chairs and on closet and book shelves. Basically, spray anywhere where there's a space big enough for a roach to crawl through. Very large cracks should be filled. Think like a roach; you're looking for moisture, darkness, peace and quiet.

- Open a window. Make sure your face is away from and to one side of the cap.

Start spraying low and work up, so you won't have clouds of insecticide in your face. You may see the dissemination of whole communities, or no roaches at all; it all depends on the type of product you're using. Be careful with carpets and floors—some sprays will stain.

As soon as you're finished, leave the room while the spray dries and the room airs out. Wash your hands and clean up immediately. Be sure to leave any leftover insecticide in the original container; it contains valuable warning and ingredient information, should a child or pet get hold of it. Make sure to put it away on a high shelf, well out of children's reach. Before putting utensils or towels back, put down a fresh layer of shelf paper, so that the shelf contents won't come in contact with the insecticide.

In badly infested homes, you may want to use dust or a high-power fogger in addition to a surface spray. You may also find that one application isn't enough, and that the roaches have come back. In that case, try another product with different chemicals.

To make sure roaches do not return:

- Good housekeeping is the real key. Bugs are looking for food, so keep food covered and keep the kitchen free of grease and crumbs. Since roaches are also quite happy eating garments, papers, and anything else that contains starch and glue, keep them out of your house.

- Check all boxes and packages as they come into your home. Get rid of stacks of brown paper bags. Dispose of garbage promptly.

- Seal holes and crevices where roaches might be able to make their way in.

If all of this fails, you should probably call in a professional exterminator. But it is certainly worth your effort to try to rid your home of roaches on your own first.

Support Of The Working People

Small Businessmen, Factory Workers, Professional People, Laborers throughout the Senatorial District have given their support to Benny Ray Bailey because they recognize that a person who has been a friend to the common, working man in the past will continue to be their friend as State Senator.

We have seen the results of having people in state government who oppose our working people. Our area cannot afford to make a mistake by sending to Frankfort anyone who has proven that they will not support our people in their efforts to gain additional jobs and additional benefits. People throughout our district must get together and send Benny Ray Bailey to Frankfort as our State Senator. He'll stand up for all our people.

I was born at Beaver, Kentucky, head of Mud Creek. My father was Elder J. S. (Joe) Reynolds. My mother was Frances Henson Reynolds. My grandfather was Riley E. (Big Dock) Reynolds. My grandmother was Polly Henson Reynolds. My grandfather was T. P. (Tim) Henson. My grandmother was Abby Kathern Hamilton Henson. I married Shirley Hamilton Reynolds, the daughter of Jay Lee Hamilton, Sr. She was the daughter of Goldie Hall Hamilton, also the granddaughter of Elder Red John Hamilton and Vina Newsome Hamilton, and the granddaughter of G. V. Green and Marry Tackett. I have one daughter, Vicki Lynn, who is married to Ralph Bryant.

I think the people are tired of PROMISES—they want ACTION and ACTION MEANS WORK. YOUR SUPPORT APPRECIATED.

I was elected State Representative in 1970-72. The Black Lung bill was the first bill to go through 83 to 0. I also helped get the teachers' raise by taxing cigaretttes and liquor.

I think Floyd county should have their coal severance tax money back for their roads. I will fight hard to get it back. I will go to Frankfort.

I know a lot of friends in Frankfort. I think I could get things done for Floyd county. I will work hard.

"A RICH HERITAGE"

Martha Jane "Mammy" Tackett and Benjamin Franklin "Pa" Tackett

THE ABOVE IS A PICTURE OF THE MATERNAL GRANDPARENTS OF BENNY RAY BAILEY

Martha was the daughter of Greenberry Tackett and Minda Hamilton Tackett. "Mammy" had seven brothers: Andy Tackett, Georgia Tackett, Noah Tackett, Thomas Tackett, William Tackett, Henry Tackett and Sie Tackett, and one sister, Beck Tackett Newsome.

Ben was the son of Bud Tackett and Martha Caudill Tackett. "Pa", as everyone of the family called him, had six sisters, Sarah Tackett, Hattie Jones Martin, Mellie King, Lisa Johnson, Fanny Jones and Belle Tackett; one brother, Ellis Tackett; two half-brothers, Jim Bob Elswick and Luther Elswick, and one step-brother, James Elswick.

Ben and Martha had ten children: Ella Tackett Burga, Viola Tackett Bailey, Mellie Tackett Moore, Hannah Tackett Meade, Curt Tackett, Jim Tackett, Cora Tackett Booth, Mary Tackett Hall, Fannie Tackett Newman and Mae Tackett Howell. Viola Bailey is Benny Ray's mother. Benny Ray has two sisters, Aileen Bailey Hamilton and Emogene Bailey Smith, and two brothers, Hedy Douglas Bailey and Earl Shannon Bailey.

There are many things which help to qualify a man to be State Senator. Benny Ray believes that one of the most important qualities a State Senator can have is the ability to relate to and understand our people. Benny Ray believes in the intelligence of our people and their ability to make the right choice when given the facts. "I have tried and will continue to try to run my campaign in a manner that respects the intelligence of the people. My Grandpa always said that people resort to lying, spreading rumors and mud slinging when they cannot discuss the real issues. I sincerely believe that every time you sling a little mud, you lose a little ground. My Grandparents were never rich, so they could not leave me a great deal of money or material things. However, they always treated people fairly, were honest, worked hard, believed in our God, and never talked about other people. My grandparents left me something more valuable than money and material things. They left me A RICH HERITAGE."

Benny Ray Bailey understands our people. He grew up here in the mountains, worked his way through college, and came back home to work with us to build a better East Kentucky. Benny Ray Bailey combines outstanding academic training, proven leadership abilities with the background of growing up here in East Kentucky that enables him to relate to our people. Vote for Benny Ray Bailey for State Senator. Benny Ray will represent us well in Frankfort. He's one of us.

Examine The Candidates

And then vote your feelings!

It's as easy as A, B, C, D, E to choose the right senator. If you want a man who is:

- A—Able and accomodating.
- B—Believable and better trained.
- C—Capable and concerned.
- D—Dedicated and deserving.
- E—Educated and experienced.

then mark your ballot like this—

JAMES GAYHEART

As we conclude our campaign for State Senator, each candidate has discussed the issues. We all know that:

- The issues are many and varied;
- There are as many lists of issues and promises as there are candidates, all about the same things;
- The issues have been the same issues for the past several years.

Each candidate, now and in the past, has addressed the public on the issues of—roads, schools, energy, inflation, coal severence, coal development, old people, young people, sanitary landfills and housing—but very little has been done about any of them.

PERHAPS THE REAL ISSUE IS—

Which of the candidates will have the time to represent the voters of the 29th District??

Of the fine candidates for State Senator four have spent a lot of time, energy and money to become well known in the 29th District. Examine these four men and their backgrounds and see which one would have the time to best represent the 29th District—

Joe Weddington—Joe has a long-established business in real estate. This type of business is very time demanding and has been Joe's lifelong career.

Benny Bailey—Benny is the administrator of a Health Care Center in Knott County. He says he is doing an excellent job for a much-needed service for Knott County. He travels all over the United States raising funds and working with other clinics, so he is gone from the district much of the time.

Ralph Johnson—Ralph is a dentist. When the people of Knott County must travel to Hazard, Whitesburg, Prestonsburg and Lexington for dental work, then this is evidence enough for the need for another dentist in Knott County. Ralph is presently very involved in the family coal business and doesn't have the time to practice denistry. Will he have the time to find out about the problems of the voters of the 29th District?

James Gayheart—At present I own and operate Gayheart's Ashland in Hindman. I have a manager who is capable of taking over, as he has during this campaign. With the increasing reality of the gas shortage I will have more time to spend with the voters of the 29th District. I need the job of representing you and will work hard to earn the income from being State Senator. I have not always been a service station owner—I have a Business Administration Degree from the University of Kentucky and worked as Business Manager and Assistant to the President at Alice Lloyd College for several years. One summer I attended an institute on government programs in Washington, D.C. I am qualified and have the time to represent the 29th District.

Most important of all is whether the voters send to Frankfort—

- An honest man.
- A man that will work.
- A man that does not owe the office to the donors who bought it for him.
- A man who has the time to represent the people of the 29th District.

"What should I do if the power goes off?"

Unfortunately, when the weather gets bad, the chances of the power going off get better.

We do everything humanly possible to anticipate, prevent and repair any break in service. But there are some things only you can do to help in case it happens.

First, call us immediately. The problem may be localized and quickly solved. If our line is busy chances are one of your neighbors is reporting it.

Then, turn your heating thermostat to its lowest setting, turn off your electric water heater, lights, range, water pumps, clothes dryers and any other appliance that was on when the power went off.

(Leave one light on so that you'll know when the service has been restored).

These precautions are necessary because if the electric load is too great the instant service is restored, the system could overload and the power could go out again.

Often this forces us to restore service in one small area at a time, causing even greater delay.

When the power is back on it will help if you turn your heating thermostat up gradually and don't turn everything else back on all at once.

Working together, we can minimize your discomfort and restore service as soon as possible.

Kentucky Power
Working together is the only way.

FRED A. JAMES KENTUCKY STATE SENATE

29th District—No. 1 on the Ballot

The Only Promise He Makes Is Hard Work

(Pol. Adv. Paid for by the candidate)

Paintings, Photography On Exhibit

Several facets of the artist's varied experience are reflected in the paintings and photographs presently being shown at the Floyd county library. The artist is Judy Yunker, a native of Evansville, Ind., who now lives at Maytown.

An education specialist with Mountain Comprehensive Care, Miss Yunker is also a member of the Benedictine Sisters, a religious order based in Ferdinand, Ind. She spent seven years as a missionary in Latin America and has recently specialized in art and music therapy for the mentally handicapped in Evansville.

A number of the paintings in the present exhibition of her work clearly reflect the artist's therapeutic practice. Two, entitled "Accommodating Tension," appear to celebrate the rather upbeat faith of humanist psychology in the capacity of people to integrate conflict in their lives.

Colors blend rather than clash; lines are drawn cleanly; edges are crisp and decisive. There are no jarring angles here, no ominous swirls that might suggest some unresolved conflict.

"Creation I," "Creation II," and "The Snail in Each of Us" suggest the key to the resolution of conflict that permeates Yunker's artistic vision. All hark back to simpler forms of life and a slower pace—as a counter to the haste and complexity of the modern consumer society.

In these photographs and paintings, texture is important—the texture of the bark of a tree, the earth, the rough lumber of a house. The point about slowing the pace of our lives, apparently, is that this is necessary if we are to notice the texture of things, the detail of a blade of grass, the passage of a drop of rain on a window pane, the smell and feel of a spring breeze.

The current exhibition of the artist's work will continue until June 2.

Three Qualify for State Meet

PHS track standouts Jack Wells, James Brown, and Richard Burchett. For the first time in memory Prestonsburg High School has qualified three members of its track team for the state tournament after finishing third overall in the regional track meet, May 12, at Hazard.

The three who will compete in the state championships, May 25 and 26 at Shively Sports Center on the University of Kentucky campus are Jack Wells, Richard Burchett and James Brown.

Wells, a 6-ft. 2-inch 185-pound sophomore, qualified for the state championships by winning the 440-yard dash in a time of 56.1 at the regional meet. He also finished third in the high jump and was a member of the fourth place mile relay team.

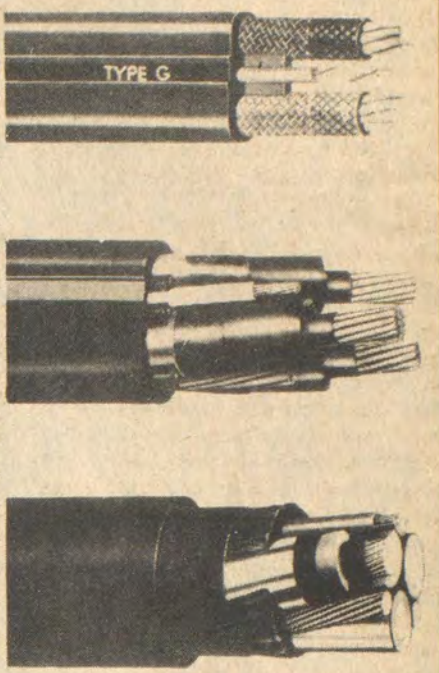

PHS record holder in the 220-yard dash, Richard Burchett, a junior, won the regional 220-yard dash in a time of 24.3, to qualify for the state competition. He also finished third in the 100-yard dash and was a member of the 880 relay team which finished third and the fourth-place PHS mile relay squad.

James Brown, 6-3 senior and a holder of three PHS school track records qualified for the state meet by finishing second in the mile in the regional competition and second in the two-mile event. Brown also finished fifth in the 880-yard run.

Forrest Hughes, who has served as track coach for this year's outstanding team, commented that if interest could be maintained in the track program in coming years, PHS could have a regional winner, perhaps as early as next season.

Observes Nat'l Hospital Week

"The Voluntary Effort—It's Working for You" was the theme for National Hospital Week, 1979, May 6-12, and Our Lady of the Way Hospital at Martin had many activities going all week long in observance of the week.

Under the direction of the Hospital Week Committee, composed of Annette Webb, chairwoman, and employers from all departments of the hospital, a schedule was set up for the celebration of National Hospital Week and also to emphasize the voluntary effort to contain health care costs.

Results to date at Our Lady of the Way have been significant, largely by its participation in the WEEP (Work Efficiency and Effectiveness Program). Employees participating in the program demonstrated projects which could realize a savings of $30,000 per year at Our Lady of the Way.

The schedule of activities for Hospital Week included a non-denominational prayer service for hospital employees followed by a reception honoring employees on May 7. On May 8 a free blood pressure clinic was held in the emergency room lobby. Approximately 73 persons participated in the clinic, and several of these were referred to a physician for follow-up. Wednesday, May 9, the committee and employees honored the medical staff and their families at a tea in the afternoon. Dr. Gan Maddiwar, president of the medical staff, wrote a letter addressing all the employees especially in view of the Voluntary Effort. Thursday, May 10, the students of the sixth grade at Martin Grade School toured the hospital. This was the culmination of a poster contest sponsored by the hospital. Prizes were awarded.

Friday, May 11, all employees participated in a pot-luck lunch. At this time, also, Cindy Kidd, who recently resigned as director of Nursing Service, was honored. Open house was held in the emergency room lobby with refreshments served to visitors all day long.

During the week, also, members of the ministerial community said evening prayer services over the hospital's public address system. All week long a "patient of the day" was chosen by lot. Photographs were taken and gifts presented these patients. During the week, a poster display was in the lobby showing photos of various employees, the medical staff and patients. During the Week, with the cooperation of radio stations WPRT and WDOC, spots recorded by hospital employees were played at intervals.

"AN HONEST AND TRUE FRIEND OF THE WORKING MAN"

"I know and sincerely believe that our economic system cannot function without the working man having a safe, healthy and productive working environment that also gives him secure financial rewards."

STRONG UNION FAMILY BACKGROUND—

"My mother's brother, Uncle Alben Cooley, is a member of the Chemical Oil & Atomic Workers, which is the organized union of his employer, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company. Many of my cousins and relatives on my mother's side are members of the UMWA and the Chemical Oil & Atomic Workers Union. My great uncle, Fred Johnson, of Estill, Kentucky, has been a life-long member of the UMWA and is a retired union miner. Many of my relatives on my father's side have been supporters and members of the UMWA. My father-in-law, Elzie Campbell, of Mousie, Kentucky, has been a long-standing UMWA mine worker and presently is employed by National Mines in Knott County in a classified union job. His family has many life-long UMWA members. I come from a strong union background from both my mother's and my father's families, as well as from my wife's family."

SHARES AND UNDERSTANDS THE WORKING MAN'S PROBLEMS AND PLIGHT—

"I know the working man's problems and understand the plight of the insecurity that an unstable coal industry can bring to his family. I have and continue to dedicate myself to stabilizing the coal industry so that the working man and his family can have a secure and rewarding life, both now and in the future. I have had firsthand knowledge of the problems of all the working men in Eastern Kentucky who have been employed in the coal industry, the gas industry, the rail and transportation industries, as well as the supporting industries for these, through my being reared here in the coal fields of Eastern Kentucky and through my work as a dentist. I have also learned that you can't make any man join a union or any company accept the union. The only thing you can make somebody is "mad". I cannot dictate what relationship any employer will have with his employees or an employee will have with his employer, nor can anyone else. This is something to be worked out between them."

STRONG ECONOMY FOR EASTERN KENTUCKY—

"I am for a strong economy for Eastern Kentucky, recognizing that the coal industry, through a partnership of employers with employees, has to provide a stable, safe and rewarding environment in which to live in Eastern Kentucky for today and provide the means to have a diversified economy for our children in the future; and I will work with all the people, regardless of the type of employment, to assure that we have a better place in which to live, not only for ourselves but for our children and grandchildren. This is my pledge to all the people of Eastern Kentucky."

... about your Social Security

By JOHN FAULKNER
Manager of the Prestonsburg
Social Security Office

Q—At the beginning of the year, I hired a woman to do housework twice a week. I understand that I'm supposed to pay social security taxes on her wages and file a report with IRS. When should I do this?

A—If you pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in a calendar quarter, you must deduct social security taxes from the wages and pay an equal amount as the employer. Before the end of the month after the calendar quarter, you must send the taxes and a report of the wages to the Internal Revenue Service. The report, Form 942 (Employers Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees), is available from local IRS offices.

Q—In 1978, I worked for two different employers. Each employer deducted social security taxes from my pay and, as a result, I paid excess taxes. How do I get a refund?

A—If you work for more than one employer in any year and pay social security taxes on more than the maximum amount—$17,700 in 1978—you may claim a refund of these excess taxes on your income tax return for that year. If you have already filed your 1978 income tax return, or if you have any other questions about getting a refund, contact your local Internal Revenue Service Office.

Q—Back in January, I retired and started getting social security checks. I know that if I go back to work, my earnings may affect my checks. But, what about income I receive from savings and investments?

A—When figuring what income may affect your social security checks, you must count earnings from work of any kind, whether or not it's covered by social security, except tips amounting to less than $20 in a month with one employer. However, income from savings, investments, insurance, or royalties won't affect your checks.

COUNTY JUDGE-EXECUTIVE

As the campaign comes to a close I would like to take this opportunity to pledge my SUPPORT of Jerry Lafferty, Jr., for County Judge-Executive in the May 29th, Democratic primary, Number 2 (XX) on the Ballot.

Jerry has stated that he is for a UNITED FLOYD COUNTY and a UNITED FLOYD COUNTY PEOPLE. He is the man for the job, because of his sincere desire to place Floyd County ahead of a "POWER STRUGGLE" to make the government one of "PETTY POLITICS," as some candidates have promised to do.

Jerry Lafferty, Jr., will have only one BOSS, you, the TAXPAYERS of Floyd County, to answer to; Jerry will be a FULL-TIME, hard-working County Judge-Executive. He seeks to punish no one with the office of County Judge-Executive, and will be a friend to all.

That is not an old campaign promise, but you will learn to know that Jerry Lafferty, Jr., is a man that you can TRUST AND DEPEND upon.

This is the reason that I am supporting and VOTING for Jerry in the May 29th, Democratic Primary, Number 2(XX) on the Ballot.

White Grubs, Webworms Damage Summer Lawns

In the coming summer months homeowners may encounter problems with two major lawn insects: white grubs and sod webworms. Ruby Scheibner, Extension entomologist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, has some advice for those who discover these pests infesting their turf. For both pests, Scheibner says too early treatment is wasted because the pesticides are lost by the time larvae develop. Instead, July and August are the months to apply chemicals to control white grubs, the most damaging of the two insects. Late June, early July and mid-September are the appropriate times to treat lawns for sod webworms. Beetles which lay eggs that develop into white grubs are flying now and soon will lay their eggs, according to Scheibner who is deputy state entomologist. He says white grub infestation is marked by large brown patches of lawn, but treatment must be applied before the patches are visible. White grub infested lawns usually will be dead by late August or early September if grubs haven't been controlled in July and August, says the specialist.

"By feeding on grass roots, the white grubs seriously reduce the ability of sod to withstand the stresses of hot or dry weather conditions," notes Scheibner. He adds that dead sod can be rolled back like a carpet and the grubs exposed to view. The invasion of moles into a lawn may indicate the presence of white grubs, although moles may be attracted by earthworms as well, says Scheibner. He says that instead of waiting for sod to die or be damaged by moles, people can check for grubs by cutting square foot samples of sod from various parts of the lawn and examine the roots. "The sample can then be replaced with little or no sign of disturbance to the lawn," says the entomologist. If pesticidal controls are needed, Scheibner suggests Dylox, Dursban or Diazinon. For best results, mow the lawn and rake out dead grass and thatch before treatment and wash down the soil immediately after treatment. Sod webworms also cause dead patches in the lawn, although smaller ones. "If damage is severe, small patches may run together and form a single large area," says Scheibner. The webworms have four stages in their life cycle, with the adult moth being the final stage. The moths are small, tan insects about one inch long with wings held close around the body. When the moths are present, they are stirred from their hiding places in the grass as you walk on the lawn, says Scheibner. And at night, they come out of hiding and are attracted to house lights. Sod webworms clip off grass blades close to the ground and pull them back into their tunnels to feed. "Adequate watering to keep lawns growing vigorously will lessen the amount of damage resulting from webworm feeding," according to Scheibner. The watering also may hinder development of webworms. Dethatching of lawns will remove some larvae hidden in the thatch. "The lack of thatch makes a lawn less desirable to webworms as a breeding place," notes Scheibner. Chemical control of webworms must be properly timed, stresses the entomologist. He says insecticides should be applied when young larvae are most abundant, which occurs 10-14 days after the moths are most abundant. Although timing may vary throughout the state, Scheibner says late June, early July and mid-September usually are the best times to treat webworm-infested lawns. Recommended chemicals include carbaryl, chlorpyrifos, diazinon, propoxur and trichlorfon. County Extension agents have more information on lawn insect control.

Consumer Comments

By ROBERT F. STEPHENS Have you ever wished for an easier way to handle your money and pay your bills than making endless trips to the bank?

Electronic Funds Transfer—EFT—is a computerized banking method by which wires, magnetic tapes and electronic impulses help you carry out financial transactions.

Consumers can have their paychecks deposited directly into their savings or checking accounts.

There are several banks in Kentucky already using a form of EFT known as Automatic Teller Machines (ATM).

To use the machine one inserts a "debit card" containing an account number that triggers electrical impulses.

To obtain a debit card, you should contact your bank to see if they distribute these cards and offer this service.

If your "debit card" is lost or stolen, your maximum liability is $50, if you report the loss or theft within two business days.

Here are a few tips for using Electronic Funds Transfer:

—Compare the cost of EFT service among financial institutions about any charges for the service.

—Ask for the institution's policy on error resolution and the procedure to follow.

—Ask for the telephone number and address of the person or office to be notified in case of loss or theft.

—Ask about the limitations on frequency of or dollar amount of EFT.

—Ask how to initiate a "stop-payment order" on a "pre-authorized transfer."

—Ask whether the institution will be liable if they fail to make transfers.

If you have a consumer complaint or question, write to Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Fermented Berries, Sweet Sap Martinis of Animal World

Humans have long been known for their fondness of the fruit of the vine. But inebriation is not just a human foible, according to the current issue of International Wildlife magazine. Some animals also overindulge.

Take the case of hundreds of waxwings which, explains the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication, fell victim to the intoxicating effects of fermented rowanberries in Sweden. While motorists were trying to cope with a stretch of icy roadway one winter day, some of the drunken birds began to weave back and forth along the shoulder, while others dive-bombed right into windshields. Many of the birds, rendered totally helpless, just sat in the middle of the road.

Ripe pyracantha berries have also been responsible for many a bird's drunkenness. "Robins in Florida sometimes get so tipsy on ripe pyracantha berries that they bump into each other or fly into telephone wires and windows," reports International Wildlife. And in southern Nevada, hordes of migrating robins were seen staggering around after lingering too long at the pyracantha bush. A few days later, sobered up, they continued on their way south.

"Drunk" may not be the correct term for birds in this condition. Ornithologist Stanley Temple of the University of Wisconsin explains in International Wildlife that when a bird or mammal gets intoxicated, the cause is usually not alcohol but some other toxic substance. That poison, Temple speculates, may be a particular plant's way of discouraging wildlife from eating it.

Other naturalists point out that wild fruits can indeed ferment, producing in animals the kinds of reactions normally associated with human intoxication. The big difference between inebriated people and animals is that humans may set out deliberately to addle their senses, while animals are usually taken unawares.

Insects are also susceptible, says International Wildlife. This weakness is recognized by butterfly hunters who use a devilish concoction of squashed bananas and sugar to tranquilize their quarry. Some insects are attracted to the sweetness of tree sap. When the sap ferments, wasps and butterflies are suddenly unable to fly. Bees, too, have been observed veering wildly after partaking of overripe nectar.

In addition to man, the elephant is a mammal with a long tradition of inebriation. This is due to the elephant's habit of feeding on various fermented fruits and then engaging in noisy drunken brawls. In Kruger National Park in South Africa's Tansvaal, they eat the pale yellow, plumsized fruits of the marula tree. These delicacies have a sweetish acid taste which seem to have a special appeal and are said to ferment in the elephants' stomachs.

Probably the only animal ever grateful for having one too many is the pink pigeon of the island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean. This rare bird eats a plant that stupefies him—but also produces cyanide when exposed to water in the pigeon's system. The same plant contains another chemical which accumulates in the bird's body, making its flesh poisonous to people.

While other, tastier pigeons were consumed to extinction, the tipsy pink variety was identified as a species to be left alone. "Thus," says International Wildlife, "the pink pigeon's renown as a drunk may be responsible for its survival as a species."

Cancer Hopeline

Q—My sister has just been diagnosed with Hodgkin's disease. Is Hodgkin's a kind of cancer? Please explain staging.

A—According to the National Cancer Institute, Hodgkin's disease is a form of cancer affecting the lymphatic system. The lymphatic system is part of the circulatory system which plays a major role in the body's ability to fight infection.

The disease usually begins with a painless swelling of the lymph glands (nodes) in the neck, armpits, or the groin. The lymph glands manufacture lymphocytes, white blood cells that fight the spread of infection. In Hodgkin's disease, these cells grow rapidly in a variety of abnormal forms. Thus, leaving the body with fewer normal lymphocytes to fight infection.

Hodgkin's disease begins in one area of the lymphatic system and if left untreated, may spread throughout the system and to other tissues and organs. As the disease progresses, changes occur in the blood structure and may cause anemia (a reduction in the number of red blood cells). The body is less able to fight infection and damage to vital organs may occur.

"Staging" is a diagnostic X-ray examination used to determine the extent of the disease. Appropriate diagnosis and "staging" are crucial to selecting the most effective treatment for a particular patient.

Hodgkin's is classified into one of four stages depending on the extent of the disease. Below is an explanation of each stage:

Stage I—When the cancer is localized or confined to one lymph area.

Stage II—If the disease has spread to adjacent lymph regions, but is confined either above or below the diaphragm.

Stage III—The disease is present in lymph regions both above and below the diaphragm.

Stage IV—When the disease has spread to the lung, liver, bone, kidneys, or other outside the lymph node system.

Each stage is then subdivided into groups A or B according to whether or not the patient experiences symptoms such as strength loss, fever or night sweats.

Hodgkin's disease often responds well to treatment. Improved diagnosis and treatment provides hope that more patients with this disease will be treated effectively.

A CANDIDATE FOR THE PEOPLE

During the past few months, Benny Ray Bailey and his family have visited with many thousands of our people. The response to Benny's campaign has been tremendous. Record breaking crowds have attended every single function that Benny Ray has had. People have shown their appreciation of a candidate who respects their intelligence, sticks to a discussion of the issues and doesn't lower himself to the mud-slinging, rumor-spreading tactics that characterized political campaigns of long ago.

Benny Ray was born and grew up here in East Kentucky. Throughout his life, he has demonstrated both his abilities to put complex programs together for our people and his concern that our people have an equal voice in all matters affecting them.

Benny Ray has a simple and straightforward reason for running for political office. "I grew up here in East Kentucky and I have only positive memories of my childhood. I knew my neighbors, loved my family, respected my elders and have a strong faith in God that was taught to me by my family. I want my children to grow up here in East Kentucky just like I did. I think that our way of life here in East Kentucky is something that we can all take pride in. The things we value and appreciate are things that people in other areas strive for. I want East Kentucky to be a better place to live and raise our families. This is why I am running for State Senator."

Next Tuesday is election day and we will be making a decision regarding our representation in Frankfort during the next four years. Think about the candidates, how they have conducted themselves during the campaign. We can expect Benny Ray Bailey to go to Frankfort and fight for us so that we get equal consideration in all matters. All working people throughout the District have given Benny Ray their unanimous endorsement because they know that he has proven by his past that he is for them. Vote for Benny Ray Bailey for State Senator. It's a vote for a better future for us and our children.

WHO IS BEST QUALIFIED TO REPRESENT KENTUCKY IN THESE TRYING TIMES? Thelma Stovall has served the people of the State of Kentucky in elected offices for 28 years. She served three terms as State Representative, three terms as Secretary of State, two terms as State Treasurer, and is now our Lt. Governor.

It's Eastern Kentucky's Time Again!

This year Eastern Kentuckians have a chance to elect one of their own as Governor. Terry McBrayer was born and raised in Eastern Kentucky. He has traveled our roads all of his life, grown up in and sent his children to our schools, been involved in the coal industry and worked to find jobs for our young people. He knows the problems of our area, and as Governor, he has a commitment to see that Eastern Kentucky grows and prospers along with the rest of the state.

Roads

Terry McBrayer has pledged that rural roads will be the highest transportation priority of his administration. He has a commitment to double the amount of money provided by statute for rural roads—WITH NO NEW TAXES. He'll not only spend more money but he'll build GOOD roads. And he is creating special maintenance crews for patching, ditching, sealing and bridge work on rural roads.

Jobs

Terry McBrayer believes we need to develop a solid base for jobs and a more diversified economy throughout Eastern Kentucky. By attracting industry directly into the mountains we can insure that in the future Eastern Kentucky has a stable, self-sustaining economy. As Commissioner of Commerce Terry McBrayer worked to bring not just jobs, but QUALITY jobs to Eastern Kentucky. As Governor he can do even more.

Education

Terry McBrayer thinks it's time to make sure that our tax dollars are buying the best possible education for our children. He's calling for a return to the basics, to the three "R"'s—reading, writing, and arithmetic. Our young men and women must be graduated from our schools with the skills necessary to build a secure future.

Coal

Terry McBrayer is committed to working as a partner with the coal industry in the promotion and sales of Kentucky coal, and will seek the industry's input in working to place coal as the major source of this nation's energy. In the McBrayer administration state officials will help the coal industry meet the requirements of the law, while also working for the elimination and prevention of any unnecessary barriers to maximum coal production.

Terry McBrayer knows Eastern Kentucky and he knows its problems. And he's ready to go to work to solve them. Let's elect one of our own as Governor. Let's elect an Eastern Kentuckian for Eastern Kentucky!

Nat'l Magazine Features Local Asbestos Work

An in-depth article on events leading to the removal of asbestos in the high school here will be featured in the June 26 issue of Family Circle Magazine. The magazine carries pictures of the school and of Mrs. Ruby Catherine Clifton and Mrs. Joyce Everly, two of the leaders of the People for Better Schools.

Mrs. Clifton said this week that while national exposure of the asbestos situation which exists in many schools throughout the country is welcome, the article errs in giving the impression that only she and Mrs. Everly were active in effecting its removal.

In a letter to the publishers of Family Circle, Mrs. Clifton said, in part, "...the battle to remove the asbestos from our school was not fought only by Ruby Catherine Clifton and Joyce Everly, but by all the people of People for Better Schools. Without their unity, I could not have done anything."

Mrs. Clifton went on to say that in addition to PBS members, "the main credit for the job done...must go to Gov. Carroll, Judge Jones, the Governor's Task Force Team and State Representative Jitter Allen. They and Secretary Eugene Mooney were responsible for Dr. Sawyer coming to Prestonsburg..."

Mrs. Clifton and Mrs. Everly have both been asked recently to appear on a national television talk show sometime between June 10 and June 28.

Let's get down to the business of serious government.

And a serious business it is. That's why Todd Hollenbach cut the tax rate 4 times as Jefferson County Judge. He considers "over-regulation" by government the greatest cause of inflation.

Hollenbach helped unite the "urban-mountain coalition" to return coal severance tax to Kentucky counties for road repairs.

A former member of the Federal Coal Advisory Council, Todd Hollenbach will lead the fight to utilize our coal resources.

Todd Hollenbach has a lot to offer Kentucky. Seriously.

Hollenbach...
Lt. Governor for Kentucky.

THANK YOU

I would like to express my appreciation to everyone who made possible the bike-a-thon held at Minnie, Wednesday, May 2. The winners were Leroy Akers, who rode the longest miles, and Crystal Osborne who won a 10-speed bike donated by Ted Lawson arranged by Ralph D. Johnson. All proceeds were made to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Q. I know two people who have had their cars stolen within the last month, and I'm getting worried about my own. Aside from locking my car and taking my keys, what can I do to discourage this from happening to me? J.B., Alexandria, La.

A. This is one of two questions received this month concerning car theft. It's a bad problem getting worse. Nearly one million motor vehicles are stolen a year, 20% left unlocked with keys in the ignition by their owners. More than two-thirds of all auto thefts happen at night, and more than half of thefts occur in residential areas. And the thief who drives a car he's stolen is 200 times more likely to become involved in a serious accident than would the car's owner.

What can you do to discourage theft? Of course, take your keys, lock the doors, and close the windows. Also, park in a well-lighted area, with your front wheels turned sharply to the left or right. This makes it difficult for a professional thief to tow away your car. Make sure any alarms or other deterrent devices are activated. If you don't have one, do some shopping. CB radios, tape decks, packages, and other valuables should be locked away or hidden.

And remember to keep your registration and license always in your wallet or purse. Thieves can use these documents to sell your car, or to impersonate you when confronted by police.

Q. I'm about 15 pounds overweight, and although I've tried dieting a number of times, I always become discouraged because it takes so long and I get so hungry. Also, I have certain spots on my body that always seem to be flabby, no matter what I weigh. On a talk show the other night, I heard a svelte actress tell how she'd lost 25 pounds with shots of the urine of pregnant women. She claimed she was never hungry, lost the weight fast, and was able to trim the fat from her thighs and stomach. Can you tell me about these shots: what they are, if they work, and how to get them? T.B., Reading, Pa.

A. These shots are actually of a hormone called HCG (human chorionic gonadotropin), which is extracted from the urine of pregnant women. HCG is useful for treating some disorders, including infertility in women. But HCG has yet to be proven useful for weight loss. The injections are only part of a treatment which includes a 500-calorie-a-day diet and a lot of encouragement. Although the clinics advertising the use of HCG claim it banishes hunger pangs, prevents weakness, and redistributes fat, there is no proof that weight loss is the result of anything but a strict low-calorie diet and a lot of support. Tests at Lackland Air Force Base showed that patients who received the shots while on a weight loss program lost an average of 15 pounds, while those who only thought they were being injected with HCG lost an average of 15.4 pounds!

The Food and Drug Administration now requires statements on labels of HCG to the effect that it has not been proven to aid in weight loss, and clinics which advertise HCG treatments must show FDA statements to the potential customers which indicate that HCG has not been approved as safe or effective in the treatment of obesity. The clinics are also being forced to advertise the fact that patients also go on a strict diet while on the program.

The best advice we can give is: go to your doctor, get a sensible diet plan you can live with, and do spot exercises for those flabby places.

Q. A number of unpleasant conditions exist in my apartment building which violate local housing ordinances. The elevator seldom functions properly, rats are infesting the premises, and large sections of plaster are crumbling off the walls and ceiling. Our landlord keeps saying he'll take care of everything, but for months now nothing has been done. My neighbors and I are considering holding back our rent until we get some action, but we're unsure as to whether it's legal or not. Just where does the law stand concerning this matter? B.F., Lake Wales, Fla.

A. An increasing number of states will allow you to deduct an amount of money from your rent to cover repairs that the landlord refuses to make. In states such as New Jersey, the full value may be deducted, but other states set specific limits. Massachusetts allows a maximum deduction of four months' rent, and in many states you cannot take off more than $100.

Have your building inspected by a government investigator and ask for a copy of the inspection report for your files. Armed with such findings, if your state does not allow you to pay for repairs out of your rent money, you may be able to withhold your rent legally until the owner does the required work. Consult with an attorney, legal aid society, or established tenant association for specific guidelines.

Q. I bought a sofa at a discount store that I knew wasn't among the highest quality dealers in town. So I had no unrealistic expectations as to how good the sofa would be. But this poor excuse for a piece of furniture has fallen apart right before my very eyes. I've never seen such shoddy craftsmanship! I've complained to them, but the furniture store refuses to give me satisfaction. What can I do? S.Z., Reno, Nev.

A. Gather up the following information and records:
• Name and address of the store and manufacturer
• Copy of the sales slip
• Date of purchase
• Description of the sofa and the price paid, including style number, finish and fabric color
• Any unusual characteristics of the sofa or unusual circumstances regarding the purchase.

Then contact the Furniture Industry Consumer Advisory Panel at Box 951, High Point, NC 27261. They're an advisory panel only, with no authority to enforce action on the part of the furniture dealer, but they can steer you to the right people. Call your local office of the Better Business Bureau, too—chances are, they'll offer arbitration services.

Q. I'm trying to establish some credit for myself. All the different types of credit plans, however, make figuring out which is best for me confusing. Can you give me some impartial details on some of the more common types? E.S., Stockton, Ca.

A. Sure. Here are four common credit plans:
• Revolving credit. Retail credit and bank cards usually work on a revolving credit basis. You can charge to a specified limit and get cash advances with some bank cards. Your minimum payment each month is based on your outstanding loan balance—by paying more than the minimum amount you can reduce the size of future interest payments. With some creditors, if you pay in full within a specified time—usually 25-30 days from your statement date—you may not be charged interest at all. Interest rates for revolving credit are higher than for some other forms of credit. Nonetheless, if your bill is paid before the due date, revolving credit cards can provide up to six weeks or so of interest-free money.

• Single payment. Most travel and entertainment cards are based on this plan, where you must pay your bill in full each month. If you pay by the due date, you generally won't be assessed a finance charge.

• Installment credit. This is a loan available directly from the lending institution which you pay back in regular intervals over a fixed period. It's usually granted for a single, specific purpose, such as a vacation or the purchase of a car.

• Consolidation loans. This is an installment loan designed to pay off a number of pressing debts. Because the payments are extended over a longer period your monthly payments will usually be less than the total monthly amount on the consolidated bills.

Q. What causes moss to grow in a lawn? P.S., Trenton, N.J.

A. Lack of fertility is the most common cause. Moss should never develop in a healthy lawn. Other reasons for moss are poor drainage, improper watering, high soil acidity, soil compaction, too much shade, or a combination of these factors.

If your lawn has moss, remove it by hand-raking or burning with ferrous ammonium sulfate. Apply the sulfate to the moss spots in concentrated amounts when the moss is damp, but do not wash the material into the soil. If you don't eliminate the cause of the moss, it will only return.

Sometimes algae growing in moist areas under trees is mistaken for moss. It's a fresh-water plant that also can be killed with ferrous ammonium sulfate.

Q. I recently read your column and someone asked if there was a surefire way to get rid of ink stains in a shirt pocket. I would like to share the way I've found that works most of the time. Before washing, simply spray hair spray (aerosol works best) on the stain. Let stand a few minutes, then wash as normal. S.W., Hammond, Ind.

A statement from Joe Wallen about Bill Wells, Candidate for County Judge-Executive

Ladies and gentlemen voters of Floyd County, I want you to consider the promises that Bill Wells has made in his campaign for County Judge-Executive.

Bill Wells promises:

1. For the working man . . . In November, 1970, Bill Wells filed a RESTRAINING ORDER against the employees of the Big Sandy Rural Electric Cooperative (Union No. 317), to stop UNION MEN from getting a pay raise while Mr. Wells' salary continued to rise. Mr. Wells' salary increased substantially after this action and he asked the court for a judgement of about $10,000.00 against the Union.

Bill Wells has never been for the working man, the common man, who has made AMERICA what it is today. Why should he change now?

2. Buy blacktopping equipment and blacktop every road in Floyd County . . . Bill Wells was Magistrate in District No. 1 for (12) years and the good people of that District as well as the record (he speaks so much about) will show that very little was done, why should it be different now?

3. Establish garbage collection . . . Once again the record speaks to the opposite.

4. Make available sanitary water and sewage to all citizens . . . The group that supports ANNEXATION in District No. 1 are singing the same song, but they don't mention the restrictions and the extra tax that is involved. We have enough TAX!

5. Establish a flood control system for the Beaver Creeks . . . Why should Bill Wells be so sure of his ability to do this, when he can't (or so he claims) even refund RECC customers their share of the Coop they own?

6. Work with the school system, being a former SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER . . . The Fiscal Court is bonding agency for our school system and Bill Wells claims, being formally one of them, "They need the County Judge-Executive to be their friend." Can we take a chance on a 3 percent utility tax from the school system if we elect one of them for County Judge-Executive?

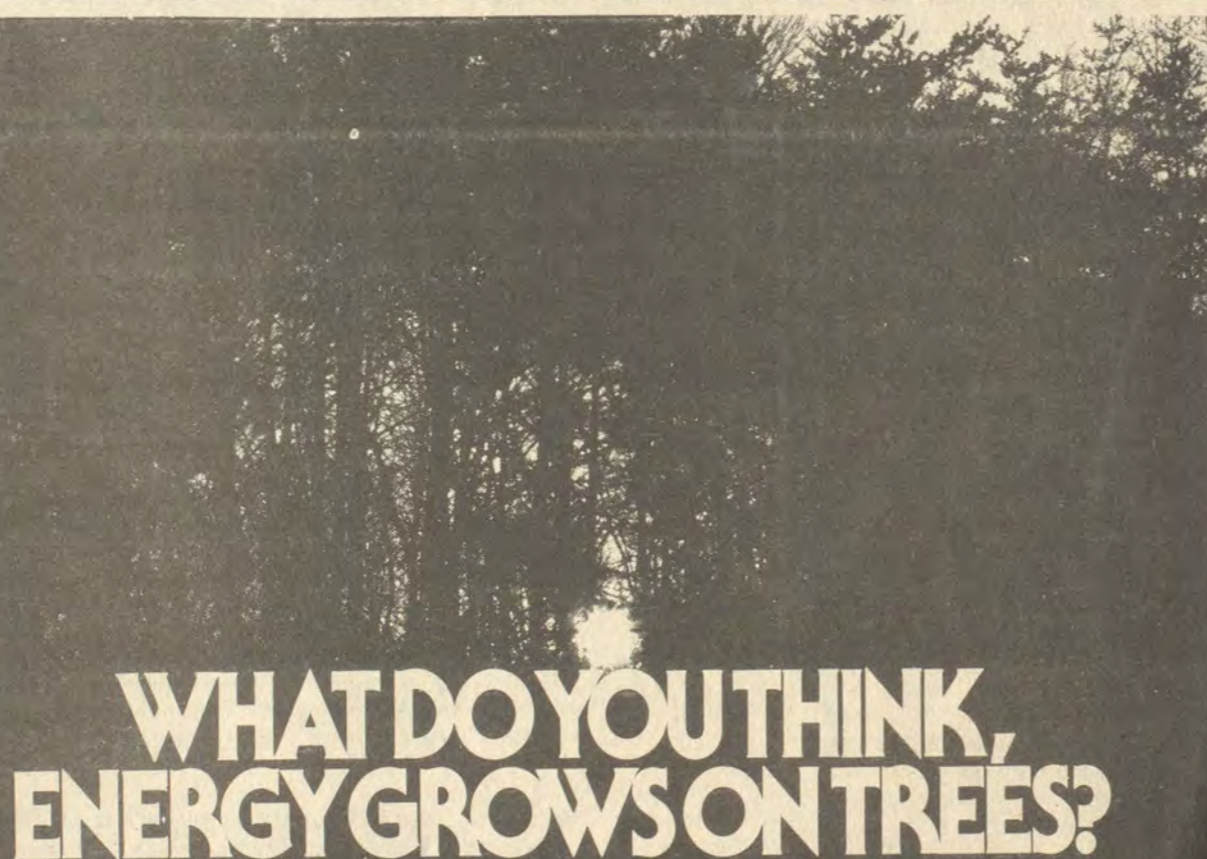

Bill Wells makes a reportable salary of about $30,000 per year. Why does he want to run for an office that pays $18,000? He pledges to be a full-time Judge.

Bill Wells spent the majority of his time in JOHNSON COUNTY when he served (three) terms as Magistrate in District No. 1. Do we want a JUDGE that stays in JOHNSON COUNTY?

When you consider VOTING for Bill Wells, Tuesday, May 29th, ask yourself if he will do the same thing as he did when the good people elected him for Magistrate and stay in Johnson County; then who will run our County Judge-Executive's office for him, WHO WILL REALLY BE COUNTY JUDGE-EXECUTIVE????

WHAT DO YOU THINK,
ENERGY GROWS ON TREES?

Buck Stove Owners Know It Does.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if energy grew on trees? Every morning the sun could come up and, from sea to shining sea, America could sprout a little more energy.

Naturally, energy does grow on trees. Trees, in fact are our only expandable energy source.

The only problem with using energy from trees has been that the sun does a great job of packing energy into trees, but people do a poor job of getting it out again.

Until Buck Stove, that is. Buck Stove is almost as good at getting energy out of trees as nature is at getting it into them. Buck Stove is the wood stove for modern America.

How well do Buck Stoves work? Well, a recent owner survey uncovered the fact that 96% of the families surveyed used their Buck Stove as their primary heat source. Doesn't that tell you something?

Another interesting fact came to light during this survey. Of all the really great reasons for buying a Buck Stove (like saving 50-80% on your heating bills, as a majority of our customers do), fully 88% of the customers surveyed listed outstanding quality as their number one reason for buying a Buck Stove.

Of course, this didn't surprise us. We know all about that quality; which is why we can conditionally guarantee your Buck Stove for the lifetime of the original owner.

Buck Stoves are safe and easy to install, too. These all-steel, heavy-duty stoves meet the strict safety standards set by the National Fire Protection Association and Underwriter's Laboratories. And every Buck Stove dealer has trained, certified installers who assure you of the safest, most effective installation. Or, you can even do it yourself.

Because energy grows on trees, and money doesn't, Buck Stove is the sensible alternative for the American homeowner.

Morgan Sheriff, Judge, Attorney Named in Probe

A Morgan county grand jury which has been investigating rampant bootlegging since February has returned three indictments charging county officers with failure to perform reasonable functions in prosecuting persons charged with sale of alcoholic beverages in dry territory.

Named were the sheriff, district judge, and county attorney.

The indictments are an outgrowth of an investigation spurred by unusual circumstances in which Kentucky State Police cracked down on bootleggers, only to find their efforts at apprehension allegedly hampered by local enforcement officers and efforts at prosecution stymied in the court system.

Indicted were:

—Sheriff James Brooks, charged with destroying or eliminating evidence held for use in bootlegging trials, namely 6,521 cans of beer and 614 bottles of whiskey.

—District Judge Sam Long, charged with abusing his discretion as judge by dismissing numerous cases involving bootlegging.

—County Attorney Thomas Davis, charged with failing to prosecute and enforce alcoholic beverage laws.

The jury which handed up the indictments has been in session since Feb. 19, but not continuously. It got permission for extensions, finishing its work on Friday of last week. The term officially ended yesterday.

A report handed up with the indictments noted the jury had investigated not only the officers, but "certain other citizens, with a possibility of connection between bootlegging offenses and organized crime."

The report noted several persons arrested in the last year for bootlegging had been summoned before the jury, but refused to answer questions, citing the fifth amendment on advice of their own attorneys.

During its term, the jury delved deeply into the sensitive area, asking questions about its own responsibility and authority, and at one time brought Kentucky Supreme Court Chief Justice John Palmore into chambers for conference on the judicial matter. Two other state officials, Paul Willis from the office of courts, and Barbara Edelman from the attorney general's office, were called before the jury on that same day.

The jury's report noted that on May 11 Morgan Commonwealth's Attorney Robert Hutchinson had asked to be relieved of participation, with appointment of a special prosecutor. On May 15, Ray Larson of the attorney general's office was named to head the investigation and aid the jury.

Meanwhile, a motion has been filed, asking that the three indictments be quashed. Circuit Judge Ralph Walter is expected to rule May 31 on that motion.

THE FINAL WORD

Throughout this campaign Greg Stumbo has offered fresh new ideas to people who have lost their trust and confidence in government. We have received many compliments, and the reception Greg and his supporters have been given throughout Floyd County has been outstanding.

We took a big chance when beginning this race because Greg decided it was time to give Floyd County an open, honest, and sincere campaign NOT FULL OF EMPTY PROMISES. So far it appears to be working. The last telephone survey conducted shows a whopping 59 percent of all voters interviewed supporting Greg Stumbo for State Representative.

All campaigns have their ups and downs. Greg had actively sought the endorsement of the United Mine Workers of America and was successful in obtaining the support of District 30 officials. However, due to political pressure from the Governor's office delegates from other districts voted the endorsement to Greg's opponent.

When this news spread throughout Floyd County the "rank and file" miners rebelled. A voluntary petition was circulated by concerned miners and over 300 signatures were obtained from miners pledging support to Greg Stumbo for State Representative. The coal miners DO REMEMBER Your Police Governor!

During this campaign Greg has spoken to several groups, large and small. He addressed the Floyd County Teachers Association (FCTA) and sought the endorsement of the Kentucky Teachers Association (KTA). Again the State office made the decision to back Greg's opponent even though the FCTA had made no recommendation. Many local teachers, however, are openly supporting Greg because they know that "Jitter" Allen resigned his position on the Education Committee to take a seat on a mining committee concerning stripping operations. It takes QUALIFIED LEADERSHIP to deal with the complicated legislation facing the Kentucky General Assembly in 1980. The "city slickers" have out thought the mountain Representatives too long. Look to Pike and Knott Counties and see new roads, buildings and public facilities. Young, qualified men represent those people in Frankfort, men like Greg.

Greg believes in Floyd County, he believes the voters won't be fooled any longer. Open your eyes and vote for him, as your next State Representative. ISN'T IT ABOUT TIME WE GOT BACK ON THE GO.

$5,000 Allocated To Auxier Fire Dept.

A $5,000 allocation recommended by the Floyd County Coal Severance Economic Aid Board has been approved, according to Commissioner William S. O'Daniel, Department for Local Government.

The allocation to the Floyd fiscal court will be used by the Auxier Volunteer Fire Department to purchase equipment including hose, nozzles and sirens.

Economic aid funds were established by Gov. Julian Carroll in 1976 and approved by the 1976 and 1978 legislatures with $10 million allocated from coal severance money each biennium.

Funds were allocated to the 47 coal-producing counties on a formula that includes population and per capita income. An economic aid board in each county selects the projects to be presented from its allocation to the Department for Local Government.

Annual ADD Meet Sees Changes in Board, Bylaws

The Big Sandy Area Development District adopted new bylaws at its annual meeting Monday, and later the same day added new faces to its board of directors.

In the reorganization session at May Lodge Monday evening County Judge-Executive Wayne Rutherford, of Pike county was named chairman; Mayor Tim Bostic, of Salyersville, vice-chairman; J. B. Wells, Paintsville, secretary, and Mayor Harold Cooley, of Prestonsburg, treasurer.

Judge Rutherford is the fifth person to serve the district as chairman in its 11-year history. He succeeds Russell Williamson, of Inez. Others who have held the post include the late Mayor George Archer, Pikeville Mayor W. C. Hambley and the late Judge Henry Stumbo, of this county.

New directors are Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen, named by County Judge-Executive Yvonne S. Jones and Mayor Harold Cooley; Representative James "Jitter" Allen, named by Judge Jones and mayors of Floyd towns; Linda Montgomery, of Magoffin county, and J. B. Wells, of Johnson.

Directors bumped in the process were Dr. Henry A. Campbell, of Prestonsburg, Allan Perry, of Paintsville, and Ollie J. Arnett, of Salyersville. Perry, however, remains as permanent alternate for Johnson County Judge Wayne Blevins.

Dan Branham, superintendent of Martin county schools, won as representative of educational interests by a 15 to 1 vote over Supt. Pete Grigsby, of this county, who has held the post since he became head of the Floyd school system.

The new bylaws provide for year-around meetings rather than the former nine-month schedule, and future meetings will be alternated, county to county, since Jenny Wiley State Park, regular meeting-place, cannot be reserved for sessions during the summer months.

They also call for annual meetings in January instead of May; 26 board members instead of 25; and tenure of directors to last through January, 1981 to permit new appointments to be made by new judges taking office at that time.

The board named Hambley its representative to the Appalachian Development Council and nominated Wells and Rutherford for consideration for at-large seats on that body.

Speaking on health planning, Sister Loretta Anne Hummendorf, of Martin, told the group the overall object of planning efforts should be "to provide the best care to the largest number of people at the least cost," and said health planning has become both an art and a science. She emphasized the great responsibility of the East Kentucky Health Systems Agency in serving as a regional planning body and a clearing house for various health-related projects in a 68-county area of the state which includes Big Sandy ADD and said EKHSA's primary focus was in promoting an "area-wide system based on preventive medicine."

She also mentioned the "serious responsibility" which faces the 30-member council in weighing the relative value of two certificates of need which are being submitted for Highlands Regional Medical Center expansion and the construction of a new Paintsville hospital. "We'll have to act on the basis of which proposal best fits the area-wide plan," Sr. Hummendorf pointed out.

Larry Smith, speaking on housing in the district, called the issuance of mortgage revenue bonds "the most important event of the year" in housing in the Big Sandy. The $18.9 million made available in Floyd and Pike counties, along with the $12.4 million in mortgage money issued earlier in Johnson were among first such actions in the state, a route which other counties may follow, Smith stated.

Pike County Judge-Executive Rutherford stressed the importance of programs dealing with aging and told of the considerable effort which his county has made in serving what he termed "the forgotten generation." Rutherford pointed out that more than $600,000 is spent in the region on such programs with almost half that amount provided through ADD funding. "It's one program that will give you your money's worth," he told the group.

Mike Ferguson spoke of the difficulties to transportation which had arisen through rising fuel prices as well as soaring initial costs of vehicles and maintenance expenses. "Aging programs are hindered as well as health services of all types," Ferguson said pointing to the importance of adequate transportation services, especially in an area possessing rugged terrain and isolated homes. He urged the ADD board to assign high priority to transportation saying, "I think the money's going to become available, so we have to be ready to make an effective bid."

Featured speaker at the dinner session of the day-long annual meet was Fred Porterfield, area manager of the Louisville area office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Referring to housing in the Big Sandy as well as most other sections of Eastern Kentucky, Porterfield said, "We think we all have a long way to go," and he pointed to "a thousand reasons" why we haven't been able to secure more housing for Eastern Kentucky. Increased development costs, developer disinterest, and inadequate water supplies were named as problems and the HUD official pointed out, "We all have a sense of urgency and yet we're not getting it done." Porterfield said HUD put together an Eastern Kentucky Task Force "and although it has not accomplished what we'd hoped, it still is ongoing and very much a citizen group."

"Maybe we've exhausted all our remedies," Porterfield suggested, "but if that's true we'll tell them in Washington that we need a new strategy and a new direction."

VISIT RELATIVES

Judge Edward P. Hill, of Frankfort, and sons, Dr. Edward P. Hill, III, of Auburn, Ala. and John Hill, of Columbus, Ohio, visited Floyd county relatives, Mother's Day.

To the Citizens of Floyd County:

May 29th, you have the opportunity to elect a new County Judge-Executive. For the past twelve weeks, my family and I have been campaigning throughout Floyd County. We have met and talked to a great number of people whom, at this time, we would like to thank everyone for all their kindness and encouragements. The people are the county and we will always treasure the warm hospitality shown to us. Our apologies to those we did not find at home or somehow failed to contact. We also ask your vote and support.

If elected I will do my best for all citizens of Floyd County and will be looking forward to making regular visits to each community again.
