Human Resources Faces Deficit

The Department for Human Resources faces a potential $7.3 million deficit this fiscal year and has requested $4 million in additional appropriations from the Interim Joint Appropriations and Revenue Committee.

Joe Smith, executive director of policy and budget for the Human Resources Department said the deficit stems from four sources. These include a decrease in trust and agency revenue and Title XIX monies for mental health patients, increased costs in services provided by intermediate care facilities, meeting more stringent licensing and certification requirements, and increased staffing of comprehensive care coordinating staffs.

Explaining the deficit, Smith said trust and agency revenues' $2.2 million decrease was caused by a population shift in mental health facilities. Robert Slaton, commissioner of the department's Bureau for Health Services, said more mental health patients were between the ages of 21 and 65 years, an age group ineligible for federal Title XIX monies. "We're getting a younger population in our mental hospitals," Slaton said, "and we just realized it this fiscal year."

Slaton said many older patients who are eligible for federal funds to pay for their hospital expenses are staying in the state facilities longer than the 190-day lifetime limit, causing the department to pay the excessive amount.

Smith said the federal government allows $27 per day maximum payment for a patient's stay in an intermediate mental care facility. The average operating costs are approximately $45 per day.

Slaton added the department planned to close Central State Hospital, a mental health facility near Louisville.

Slaton said the facility operates annually at a cost of $2.9 million, serving an average of 150 acute psychiatric patients and about 100 long-term permits. He said department staff had anticipated using part of the facility to house only long-term patients, but found it "can not adequately serve the population. We simply didn't budget for it."

Another reason for the potential deficit, according to Smith, is meeting licensing and certification requirements. He cited specific instances at Western State Hospital, where licensing officials suggested the hiring of 45 additional staff members, and Hazelwood Hospital, where 88 new staff persons were hired to meet requirements. He estimated the costs of new personnel at $1.4 million.

Providing a monitoring and controlling coordination staff for comprehensive care posed another additional cost for Human Resources this year, Slaton said. He said 33 persons would have to be hired and salaried by the department in accordance with HB 686.

"Our basic request is a $4 million current fiscal year appropriation," Smith told Rep. Adams. Smith said the department expects $1.3 million in Title XIX monies from one of the state's health facilities to lessen the deficit. Also, Commissioner Slaton has been asked to cut $2 million within the Bureau for Health Services "by tightening the belt without destroying any programs," Smith said.

The Veterans Administration's work-study program is open to veterans attending college fulltime under the GI Bill. Students can earn a maximum $725 per semester above their GI Bill allowance, by agreeing to work 250 hours at $2.90 per hour.

Former Floyd Man Has Part In History-Making Operation

The operation which Dr. Charles C. Edwards performed over a period of 15 hours last July at the University of Maryland Hospital to save the life of 33-year-old Jessie Thomas was history-making.

He removed a huge, cancerous tumor which had wrapped itself around the patient's spinal column and pressed against nerves of the spinal cord as well as the body's two largest blood vessels, the aorta and the inferior vena cava. In the process, three and a half vertebrae were removed from the woman's lower spine, leaving her without a spine or spinal muscles from the rib cage to a point barely above the pelvis. The spinal cord itself lay bare, and the patient was immobilized to prevent damage to it. But there remained the threat of pneumonia if she remained long in that posture.

So Dr. Edwards drew plans for a spinal bridge, a metal-and-plastic substitute, and flew to Warsaw, Ind., where engineers at Zimmer U.S.A., Inc. constructed the spinal substitute.

All this was featured in a recent NEWSWEEK article, but one major point of interest to Floyd countians is the fact that Zimmer's engineer in charge of constructing the spinal bridge was William R. Wallen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wallen, formerly of Prestonsburg, who now lives in Warsaw. A graduate of Prestonsburg High School, he designs total implants of the human body, such as ankles, knees, hips and shoulders. He was formerly employed as an engineer by American Standard at Paintsville and Kentucky Appalachian Industries (KAI) at West Prestonsburg.

Dr. Edwards wrote Mr. Wallen last August 1:

"Please find enclosed my drawings for the custom spinal prosthesis we discussed in Warsaw last week. Please give me a call...if you have any questions. Otherwise, we will plan surgery for the patient in about two weeks. The patient and I appreciate the special consideration and prompt attention you are giving this job."

With the prosthesis completed and at hand, Dr. Edwards installed it in a 16-hour operation. The surgeon told Mr. Wallen little more than a week ago that the patient is on solid foods and in general care at the hospital. If all goes well, he expects her to be able to sit up in a wheelchair and possibly regain some feeling in the lower half of her body.

At the carnival, a Prince and Princess will be chosen from the Martin students according to best costumes, and a spooky, spine-tingling movie will be shown.

Annual Conservation Meet To Include Gorge Field Trip

The annual meeting of the Kentucky Conservation Council, the state's oldest conservation organization, will be held Thursday and Friday, this week.

A field trip, co-sponsored by the Forest Service and Soil Conservation, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and Morehead State University, will be held on Thursday. The trip will include a guided tour of proportions of Red River Gorge; the Frenchburg Civilian Conservation Center, which is operated by the Forest Service in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Labor; the Salt Lick Watershed project in Bath county, planned and developed by the Soil Conservation Service; and the Cave Run Lake area on the Morehead Ranger District, Daniel Boone National Forest.

Stops will be made at a small flood control dam and lake, the Clear Creek shooting range where the firing of muzzle loading rifles will be demonstrated, the group use area and campground in the Twin Knobs Recreation Area, a wildlife viewing area adjacent to Cave Run Lake, and the Scott Creek and Longbow Marinas on Cave Run Lake. A highlight of the trip will be the boat tour on Cave Run Lake during which shoreline trails, the Caney area future recreation development site, a lakeside timber sale area, and the Claylick Boat-In Only Campground will be viewed and discussed by members of the Kentucky Conservation Council.

Members of the Environmental Studies Club at Morehead State University have arranged for a picnic lunch which will be served at the group use area, Twin Knobs Recreation Area.

About 50 members and guests will attend a banquet Thursday evening at Natural Bridge State Resort Park. Elmer Boggs, county extension agent from McCreary county, will be presented the Council's Conservationist of the Year Award. An award-winning film, "Common Ground," produced by the Conservation Foundation in cooperation with the Forest Service, will be shown following the banquet.

The business meeting of the Council will be held Friday morning, October 25, at Natural Bridge State Resort Park. Dr. Jerry F. Howell, Jr., Morehead State University, is president of the Council and will preside. During the business meeting, the winner of the $500 scholarship award will be announced. This award is given annually, in memory of Mrs. Fred Wallis, to a forestry student at the University of Kentucky.

Over the years, members of the Council have been pioneers in bringing about many of Kentucky's conservation accomplishments which today are taken for granted. Some of them are:

Mammoth Cave National Park, Cumberland Falls State Park and Kentucky's splendid park system; A state-wide forestry program, Conservation education in public schools, A professional forestry curriculum in the University of Kentucky.

Completes Training

Dracula on KET For Halloween

"Count Dracula" consumes 2½ hours of prime time just before the witching hour of midnight when KET presents "Great Performances: Count Dracula," an encore presentation on Halloween, Wednesday, October 31, at 10 p.m.

Lois Jourdan stars as the Count in the Gerald Savory adaptation of the eternally infamous vampire based on the Bram Stoker classic. "I only accepted this role because I wanted to make this Dracula different from all the others," Jourdan remarks.

"In playing Dracula," he continues, "I try to make monstrosity—or if you prefer, villainy—attractive, very attractive. In the end, I make it quite clear that he is nothing but evil. But like so many evil people, Dracula believes he is doing good."

The quintessential tale of horror, "Count Dracula," begins as the young lawyer (Bosco Hogan) leaves London, bidding farewell to his fiancée Mina Westernra (Judi Bowers) and her sister (Susan Penhalligon) for the mountains of Transylvania and the castle Dracula where he meets the Count.

The eternal battle of good versus evil escalates as Count Dracula arrives in England and encounters Professor Van Helsing, a relentless vampire fighter.

The realistic portrayal of ritualistic horror in "Count Dracula" is not for the squeamish and parental discretion is advised.

Kentucky Afield

By JOHN WILSON

Kentucky had nine reported hunting accidents, seven of them fatal, in 1978. All of them probably could have been avoided by observing just a few rules of safe gun handline, according to Marion Mattingly, the senior hunter training officer for the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' conservation education division.

"Three of these nine mishaps occurred because the victim was in the line of fire," Mattingly says, "and the other six, including four self-inflicted casualties, were caused by careless gun handling."

A rifle was involved in only one accident and shotguns in the other eight. "Some hunters seem to think that shotguns aren't as dangerous as rifles," Mattingly says, "so they tend to handle shotguns carelessly. But at the close ranges involved in most accidents, shotguns are perhaps even more deadly than rifles and deserve at least as much respect."

None of the accidents involved deer hunters, although deer hunting has the unearned reputation for being particularly risky. Most accidents are caused by carelessness or improper gun handling and can happen anywhere and at any time, Mattingly says.

If there is such a thing as a typical hunting accident, it involves a teenager hunting small game with a shotgun. He leaves the safety off and carelessly throws the gun over his shoulder, keeping his finger on the trigger. Suddenly he stumbles and the gun discharges; the shot load strikes either the hunter or a nearby companion.

"Good safety habits, the kind we teach in our hunter education program, can prevent this kind of hunting accident and practically all others," Mattingly says. "The rules of safe gun handline are few and simple, but they are important and must be observed at all times if accidents are to be avoided."

First, Mattingly says, always treat every gun as if it were loaded. Never point a gun, even an "empty" one, at anything you don't intend to shoot. While in the field, keep the safety on and always hold the gun so you can control the direction of the muzzle should you lose your footing.

Second, be sure of your target—and beyond. Never shoot at sound or movement. Know where your companions are at all times. Unless you're hunting waterfowl, doves, turkeys or other game with color vision, wear hunter orange. Although it's required only of gun deer hunters, this high-visibility color gives any hunter an extra margin of safety.

Third, be sure all guns are unloaded when they're not actually in use or when hazardous conditions exist. Guns should be unloaded in the home, in the hunting camp or in a vehicle. It takes only a few seconds to unload a gun before crossing a fence, jumping a ditch or crossing a patch of slick mud or ice—seconds which could save a life.

Finally, consider taking a hunter education course. These courses are being offered across the state and there is no charge for the 10-hour program, which includes four hours of actual range firing. Although the beginning hunter will benefit most, even old hands will very likely find they have a few unsafe habits which need correcting, Mattingly says.

To get information about a hunter education course in your area, write the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Conservation Education, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call (502) 564-4762.

Flu Vaccine Sent To Health Depts.

With the influenza season approaching, the Department for Human Resources is sending vaccine to local health departments for vaccination of high-risk persons.

Health departments now have about 31,000 doses on hand, and an additional 24,000 doses will be distributed by the end of October, said Dr. Carlos Hernandez of the department's Bureau for Health Services.

The U.S. Public Health Services has granted the state $134,750 for the purchase of vaccine and for administration costs, Hernandez said.

The vaccine will be available to persons who, because of age of physical condition, might suffer life-threatening complications from "flu." For healthy persons, flu is a relatively mild disease. But for persons with chronic diseases which lower resistance to infection, flu can be dangerous, Hernandez noted. Persons over 65 years old also are considered to be at risk, he added.

This year's vaccine offers protection against the three influenza strains that national influenza experts expect will be prevalent this winter, Hernandez said. Depending on the patient's vaccination history and age, either one or two doses are necessary, according to Hernandez.

Hernandez noted that last year's flu incidence in Kentucky was light compared to previous years.

Observe 56th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ousley, of Hippo, Ky. observed their 56th wedding anniversary September 20 at their home. Cake and refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hanke, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Lurla Allen and daughters, Barbara, and granddaughter, Christy, of Willard, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Junior Hunt and daughter, Jamie, of Hippo; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepherd, of Hueysville; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Shepherd and son, Darryl, of Hueysville, and Tim Shepherd, of Hippo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ousley have six children, 27 grandchildren, and 21 great-grandchildren.

Gas Prices Still Climbing

The average price per gallon for gasoline in central and eastern Kentucky increased one cent at full-service stations over the past month, and more than one and a half cents at self-service pumps.

According to the Blue Grass Automobile Club's (AAA) fuel gauge report, the average cost at full-service stations is $1.01 per gallon for regular; $1.06 for premium; $1.05 for no-lead, and $1.01 for diesel.

Self-service prices are 94.4 cents for regular; $1.01 for premium and 98.3 cents for no-lead.

AAA's report also shows service station operating hours have changed since the September survey. Twenty-three percent of the stations contacted are open past 8 p.m. during the week, compared to 30 percent last month. Sunday hours fell, too, with 27 percent of the stations staying open, compared with 35 percent last month.

A substantial increase, 16 percent, was reported in Saturday hours, with 64 percent open past 6 p.m. No stations reported being out of any grades of fuel or placing limits on the amount of gas their customers can buy.

Ninety-five percent of all species in the animal kingdom are invertebrates—spineless creatures such as insects, worms, and crustaceans—according to the National Wildlife Federation. Among vertebrates, there are about 12,000 species of fish, 8,500 species of birds, 4,000 species of mammals, and 3,000 of amphibians.

California leads the nation's Vietnam Era veteran population with 990,000, followed by New York, 610,000; Texas, 507,000; Pennsylvania, 493,000; and Ohio, 446,000. The Golden State also leads the nation in total veteran population with 3.3 million. New York, again, is second with 2.5 million residents who once served in the military.

BILL WELLS

Democratic Nominee For

COUNTY JUDGE EXECUTIVE

Friends, the number one issue in this campaign for County Judge-Executive is what political party do you think is in the best interest of Floyd County. Now my opponent comes out of the Republican party; he was nominated and hopes to be elected by the Republican party.

I have several good friends and supporters in the Republican party. On the other hand, I proudly come out of the Democratic party, I was nominated by them and now all of my primary opponents are supporting my candidacy. The Democratic party has always been the party of the people—the party of the working union man and woman. Our party initiated the Social Security system as well as many other social programs for the people. This was accomplished over stiff Republican opposition in Washington.

I want to say to my many good coal miner friends in our county, that I am now and will continue to be a friend to labor after I am elected your Judge. I will gladly support the UMW candidate for President of The United States next year. We need to get coal rolling again in Floyd County. I will go to Washington or anywhere else with the coal miners to protect you and your industry. I invite you (my coal miner friends) to ask my opponent if he will support the UMW candidate for President of the United States in 1980. My point is that I am a friend of the coal miner and my opponent is a member of the Republican Party which has always opposed everything that labor and the coal miner has stood for.

I do not own a business nor will I have any other activity that could take up my time while serving as your County Judge. I will treat all sections of our county fairly and will always be available when you need me. My home telephone number is and will continue to be listed in the telephone directory for your service, day or night.

Your vote and influence will be always appreciated and, together, we can and will keep the "PEOPLE" in control of our local government.

Your friend,

Supt. Grigsby Named Educational Coordinator

Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Y. Brown, Jr. has announced the appointment of Pete Grigsby, Jr. as educational coordinator for the Seventh district. He will be working closely with school administrators, board members and others within the district's educational system.

"I feel sure the Mr. Grigsby's experience in the field of education will prove a tremendous asset," said Brown. "I am looking forward to working with him."

Mr. Grigsby is superintendent of the Floyd county schools, is a member of the Eastern Kentucky Superintendents Association, and also serves on the board of directors of the Eastern Kentucky Educational Development Corporation.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL
Director of Environmental Studies
Morehead State University

According to the National Clearinghouse on Deposit Legislation, Michigan's container deposit law, which went into effect in late 1978, has already practically done away with roadside litter. The law, passed in 1976, requires a minimum deposit on all soft drink and beer containers, whether bottles, cans or plastic. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources reports that the law has resulted in about a five percent reduction in total solid waste, which translates to an annual savings of $15 million in pickup and disposal costs. The law has also permitted energy resources to be channelled to other uses.

Another energy-saving process has been developed by the Energy Research Group, Inc., of Portland, Oregon, ac-ording to Environment magazine. To help recycle some of the 200 million used tires piling up in the nation's dumps annually, Energy Research plans to convert some of them into useable energy. A new variation of a current pyrolytic process used to break down other forms of solid waste with high-temperature destructive burning in the near-absence of oxygen has been developed by the company. Tires are a primary target for pyrolytic recycling because the by-products can be reused and the heating value of the tires is about 14,000 Btu's per pound, roughly equivalent to that of coal.

The company contends that its process can be adapted to wood and other organic wastes. Because homes and businesses produce nearly one million tons of waste per day, we can potentially save an amount of energy equivalent to 30 million tons of coal annually. With the help of Barnard and Burk, an engineering firm, Energy Research plans to market portable models of its pyrolytic plant worldwide.

Substituting one energy form for another is also a goal of gasohol advocates. Gasohol, a mixture of 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent grain alcohol, has been praised as a partial answer to the energy crisis, but actually its production is an energy-losing proposition. For every five Btu's of energy used to produce gasohol, only three can be recovered in operating an automobile. However, it does save oil by substituting grain and subsidizing farmers instead of middle east oil barons.

Amoco, the first major petroleum refiner to offer gasohol, is now marketing the product to 13 midwestern states. One advantage of gasohol has been a ruling by the federal Department of Energy that retail dealers who sell the product will not have the alcohol portion included in their gasoline allocation. This means that they receive approximately 10 percent more gasohol than they did of the unleaded gas it replaced. Amoco secured a reliable supply of 200-proof alcohol, distilled from corn, and reported that the distilling process does not destroy the food value of the corn, which is fed to livestock.

NEW METHOD COULD BOOST PRODUCTION OF OIL IN U.S. BARTLESVILLE, Okla.—Conventional methods of oil recovery leave almost two-thirds of the oil in the ground, according to Department of Energy official Lyle Reed.

By igniting part of this oil to produce heat, or by injecting chemical polymers, carbon dioxide or steam, 5 to 10 percent of that oil can be loosened and made to move the production well, he said.

In 1970, over 4 million Americans had been disabled for a decade or longer, according to the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped publication "Facts About Handicapped People."

According to the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, most disabled employees at a leading chemical company required no special arrangements or job accommodations.

According to a President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped publication, 79 percent of the disabled workers at a major chemical company had average or better than average attendance.

BROWN BAG MEET HELD NEAR HERE
Mrs. June B. Lee, president of the Kentucky Education Association, along with several colleagues, held a Brown Bag meeting October 3 at the Plantation Motel. The meeting was held to insure that local education association leaders understand the proposed PN law, to explain KEA's lobbying plan, and to help the locals organize for getting out the vote on November 6. Each person attending was given a brown bag filled with information concerning KEA's 1980 legislative program. The team stressed several things that the local educators can do to help insure that the bill is passed. Things such as the following: Elect friends of education to the legislature; Get to know your legislators—on a first name basis if possible; contact your legislators—make sure they know what your concerns are; Be sure to vote and encourage others to do so; Don't forget to thank the legislators when they do something for you.

Our Community is suffering a plague of burglary, rocking of cars and homes of elderly people, window-breaking and other upsetting episodes.

First we need to pray for those who have nothing better to do; then, we need to work together to report to law officers and to helping each other and officers find out who the guilty are. If the property wreckers think Halloween is here, they are mistaken and a movement of cooperation is spreading among the citizens to expose the guilty ones. We need to help each other and we appeal and feel that we can receive help from the Sheriff's office and the State Police.

Attend Louisville Conference

Phi Beta Lambda is an organization for future business leaders. Included in this year's schedule were officer training sessions, an orientation session to acquaint new members with PBL, workshops, discussion groups, a talent show, and a banquet luncheon. The officer training sessions were for those who are current officers and for those who plan to hold offices in the near future.

Membership in PBL indicates not only an interest in preparing for entrance into business, but also in experiences that strengthen and develop the individual. Belonging to PBL is an honor that carries responsibilities as well as privileges.

One of the major objectives of PBL is to develop self-confidence and strong-aggressive business leadership so that these future businessmen and women may participate more effectively in the business and community life of which they are soon to be an integral part. PBL also serves to bring students together to deal with vocational preparation, national problems, community improvement and worthwhile relationships with local, state, and national groups interested in the welfare of the individual.

she is expected to undergo surgery.

Mrs. Perris Clark is reported by her husband as slowly recuperating from injuries suffered in a car accident near her home.

Mrs. Emma Grace Hartley visited her daughters, Donna and Marie, their husbands and her three grandchildren in Indiana for part of last week.

Miss Lynette Hill, who is a senior at Pikeville College, spent last week-end, here with her mother, Mrs. Maudie Hill, and her sister, Joetta.

The community reads about and extends congratulations to Jack Tomlison on his most recent experiments in the fuel field, and his extension of gas refining over the past years. In addition to his accomplishments, Mr. Tomlison is a Christian and has been one of the more helpful citizens to church, to many people, to the volunteer Fire Department and other organizations.

The United Methodist Church is planning, as soon as possible, to buy several copies of the Ten Commandments to be placed in the local school and possibly one rural school. We cannot buy enough for each room of the Betsy Layne School and it is the hope that other churches in the community will join with us in their effort. The copies are made up by the Heritage Foundation of Kentucky and are very attractive and helpful.

Jason Hall, son of Terry and Rhonda Hall, celebrated his first birthday, Sunday, friends and relatives were treated to cake and ice cream. He is the great-grandson of Georgia and Ballard Lewis.

Mrs. Clara Hale Friar was surprised on her birthday with a birthday cake from the cooks of the Betsy Layne lunchroom. Mrs. Friar is a teacher in Betsy Layne Grade School.

Mrs. Myrtle Howse is spending this week in Huntington, W. Va., where she will be reunited with her brothers and sisters.

Floyd Grid Teams Win By Identical Scores

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
Both the Prestonsburg Blackcats and the Wheelwright Trojans won district football games over the week-end, and the oddity was, scores were identical—40 to 14 each.

For the second straight week, the Betsy Layne Bobcats lost a tough one to the Lawrence County Bulldogs by the same score as last week, 14 to 0. The Bobcats, under Coach Don Daniels, are improving with each game.

Coach Phillip Hayward's Cats went over the 500 mark by winning their fifth game against four losses, defeating the Morgan County Cougars at West Liberty. Quarterback Jack Wells and halfback Randy Tinker were injured and could be doubtful starters in the final home game of the season Friday night when the Cats will meet the Hazard Bulldogs. This is also Senior Night. Hazard lost to highly regarded and undefeated Leslie County, 14 to 7. The Bulldogs will come to town with a record of 5 and 4.

The Blackcats rolled up 535 yards against Morgan County, with Dewey Layne rushing for 153 yards on 12 carries and scoring two touchdowns. Thomas Hastings rushed for 88 yards on 13 carries and also scored two touchdowns. Jack Wells, with limited time due to the injury, rushed for 68 yards on four carries and threw a 35-yard touchdown pass to his end, Danny Daniels. Wayne Rodebaugh was a standout on defense as he intercepted two passes and ran one back for a touchdown. He also kicked four extra points.

Rice's Crispies . . . Hunter Waiting, Learning at UK

By KENNY RICE
As one scans the roster of the University of Kentucky football squad, the number 99 stands out. Not only because on the numerical roster 99 is the last to appear but also because of what reads after 99: James Hunter, DT, Fr. 6-4 230, Wheelwright.

James Hunter, the ex-Trojan running back and lineman, is working hard to learn about the college game and Fran Curci's method of practice and conditioning. Hunter is also learning something else about football that he didn't have to in high school.

"I am more patient now," Hunter says. "In high school I was always used to starting but I'm trying to learn when I'm on the sideline watching the game. There are a lot of guys here who were high school stars who are adjusting to playing mostly in practice and on the jayvee squad."

Hunter is at a position, defensive tackle, where UK has some talented players and where the Wildcats are deep. And while the depth and experienced players in front of Hunter are seeing action this season, he still foresees a good three years ahead at UK.

"I believe we lose at least two defensive tackles this season. The coaches are always looking at how I could be better and they have helped me improve a lot since I came here. The freshman year is really the hardest and I am willing to work and wait to get an opportunity. Look at Terry Henry (the freshman quarterback who had an impressive debut against Mississippi two weeks ago). He kept working and never gave up. Now he is starting at quarterback. There are always injuries and I'm ready to play when they call on me," Hunter noted optimistically.

He is listed third on the depth chart at right tackle behind a pair of juniors, Tim Gooch and Luis Lopez. Hunter feels he might have had a better chance at moving up on the chart, had he not injured an ankle in Kentucky's opening jayvee game of the season.

"I twisted my ankle and that kept me from getting to travel to Indiana. I was on the traveling squad for that game, but the injury set me back a couple of weeks. I'm hoping to be ready to get back on the traveling squad and to return to jayvee action for our games against Georgetown and Tennessee."

"Being away from home, being on your own more or less for the first time is difficult. What to do with free time is a problem for most freshmen but here the coaches have study hours set up and they make sure you are in class plus we have tutors to help us out. It is tough to play football after class in the afternoon and then settle down to studying again that night but I'm getting in the groove."

"In high school we didn't lift weights in the off season but here we lift weights throughout the season. Conditioning is really stressed and although I was in shape when I came to Lexington this fall I have put in a lot of hours on conditioning just to keep up with the team. Things are going ok for me now, I'm learning."

Hunter said his parents have been to Lexington to visit him and watch him play jayvee ball and his coaches at Wheelwright, Don Daniels and Wilbur Jamerson, have been in contact.

"It's good to hear from people back in Floyd county. Coach Daniels said he'd be coming to watch me play after his season is over and Coach Jamerson comes to all the home games and he writes me. I have a lot of support from the Eastern Kentucky area," Hunter said.

He still maintains his positive approach to the game. He is already talking about a well rounded work out program over the winter to be ready for practice in the spring.

"I'm happy with the situation here. The line has individual coaches and they have been able to point things out to me that have helped me. I'm really learning to like football more each day. I'm going to hang in there because I think I will get to play here. I'm going to make it happen."

And while number 99 will remain at the bottom of the numerical roster he continues his climb to the top spot on the depth chart.

TABLE TENNIS

Two of Floyd county's top table tennis players, Jeff Hall, of McDowell, and Greg Goble, of the Auxier road, finished second and third, respectively, in the Lexington table tennis tournament last week.

Hall and Goble, both engineering students at UK, served and smashed their way through the field of more than 50 entrants to come close to setting up an all Floyd county final.

YESTERDAY

Three years ago this week, Wheelwright's Dewey Jamerson closed out a brilliant high school career with a 300-yard rushing performance, including five touchdowns in the Trojans' 48-20 win at Jenkins. That victory gave Wheelwright a 7-0 district record and a tie for the district title with Paintsville.

"It was a great way to close out my career and not just because I had a good individual performance but also because we were able to go unbeaten in the district. Also I was coming off an injured thigh and had played sparingly for a couple of weeks so I was glad to get back on the field for my last game," Jamerson recalled.

His biggest disappointment was when Paintsville was selected to play in the state play offs instead of Wheelwright. "They had a good team but there isn't a doubt in my mind we were better and I feel we had a legitimate shot at the state Class A title. The KHSAA should have set up a play-off between us and Paintsville and then there would have been no doubt."

Jamerson went from Wheelwright to play in the Kentucky East-West game and signed a letter of intent with Western Kentucky.

ANOTHER PRO TEAM?

The Appalachian League is planning on adding at least one team for next season and is hoping to add two. There is a report in the Paintsville Yankees press release saying there has been talk about adding an independent franchise at Pikeville, giving Eastern Kentucky two pro baseball teams.

So far this proposal is still in the talking stage, although the success of Paintsville's team might be an incentive for some Pikeville investors.

Blaze Damages Goble-Roberts Residence, Mon.

Although fire which erupted, Monday morning, from the furnace area of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chaffins, of the Goble-Roberts Addition, resulted in little structural damage to the single-story, frame dwelling, smoke and heat damage was extensive, according to Prestonsburg Fire Department Chief Tom Blackburn.

Blackburn said the blaze apparently broke out when the floor furnace overheated, the result of a "stuck" thermostat. Blackburn advised homeowners to carefully check heating systems before colder winter necessitates heavy use.

'Romeo and Juliet' To Encore on KET

Patrick Ryecart and young Rebecca Saire star as the world's most famous lovers when "Romeo and Juliet" encores on "The Shakespeare Plays," on KET Saturday, November 3 at 4 p.m.

"Romeo and Juliet" is a uniquely passionate play, written relatively early in Shakespeare's career. Its teenage lovers, willing to risk—and give—all for love, express themselves in lyrical poetry which predicts the power of Shakespeare's later language.

Audiences have made "Romeo and Juliet" one of Shakespeare's most popular plays. Filmed dozens of times, adapted into other settings and genres and continually presented on the stages of the world, "Romeo and Juliet" has become one of the world's best-known stories.

Many of its phrases and images have passed into common usage: "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet..."; "What light through yonder window breaks?"; "Parting is such sweet sorrow." The name of its leading male role has become synonymous with "Lover."

Saturday, November 10, is the date for the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club's annual Pancake Day which will be held at the Prestonsburg Grade School cafeteria from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. The event is the club's chief means of raising funds to finance its youth programs.

Thanksgiving Fare Set At State Resort Parks

Kentucky's 12 year-round state resort parks will again serve a full holiday dinner on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22, repeating a seasonal offering that has by now become a Kentucky tradition.

The menu is to be the same in all of the parks—turkey, ham and roast beef with an assortment of vegetables, salads and popular desserts such as rum cake, mince pie and pumpkin pie.

Serving hours will be from 12 noon to 8 p.m. No reservations are necessary.

Parks serving the Thanksgiving dinner include Jenny Wiley. Because the lodge at Cumberland Falls State Resort Park is being renovated, that park's dining room will be closed.

Further information may be obtained by dialing 1-800-372-2961, toll free, from anywhere in Kentucky.

Caprice Classic 4-Door Sedan

Highest EPA mileage estimates ever in a full-size Chevrolet.

Exciting things have happened to The New Chevrolet Caprice for 1980. America's favorite full-size car features:

- New aerodynamic styling
- Newly standard 3.8 Liter V6 engine
- New standard high-pressure tires that roll easier than last year's tires.
- New anti-corrosion measures.

Even though Caprice has been redesigned to improve its fuel economy and driving range, it still maintains six-passenger roominess and comfort. Chevrolets are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. Ask a salesperson for details on this and on Chevrolet's new three-year limited warranty against perforation (rust-through) due to corrosion.

Remember: Compare the EPA estimated MPG to the estimated MPG of other cars. You may get different mileage and range depending on speed, trip length and weather. Actual highway mileage and range will probably be less than highway estimate.

Pickup Riddled by Gunshots

Bullet holes in front glass and a shattered rear window of pickup truck owned by Leonard Poe offers further evidence of an apparent upswing of violence in the county in recent weeks. The vehicle was fired into during the early morning hours of Sunday, October 13 while parked near Poe's residence on the head of Buck's Branch, near Martin. The truck was riddled with bullets fired from a high-powered rifle and at least one handgun and one shot entered the nearby home of Cale Hughes from whom Poe rented. Officers are investigating the incident.

Jehovah's Witnesses
To Meet Oct. 27-28

Delegates from western Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky will be in attendance.

The theme of the convention, "Providing Ourselves Fruitful Disciples" will be interwoven in the program to show how every person can be a disciple of Christ in his life each and every day. On Sunday at 2 p.m., Paul A. Allen, convention chairman from the world headquarters in New York City, will be the featured speaker for the discourse "Whose Disciple are You?" Mr. Allen, convention chairman from the world headquarters in N.Y. City, will be the featured speaker for the discourse "Whose Disciple are You?" Mr. Allen, a graduate of the Watchtower School of Gilead, has been traveling in his ministerial activity for the past 30 years. He will explain in his discourse how millions of people have placed their trust in human leaders and have been brought to grief such as the case of James Jones founder of Jonestown colony in Guyana. At the behest of Jones, 909 committed suicide. "We need to resist the influences that would take us away from Christ," adds Mr. Allen in his continuation of the in-depth discussion of 2 Peter the 2nd chapter.

Clarence Willard, the travelling overseer for this area, made clear that all persons are invited to the sessions and that no collection will ever be taken.

Reading Fun?—Pupils Prove It

READING IS FUN, Clark grade schoolers discover at recent book fair.

For those who remember when the school library meant a few shelves of determinedly high-minded volumes chosen mainly for moral edification, the contrast at Clark Elementary School library last Thursday could hardly have been more striking. The room was a sea of books through which children sailed eagerly, testing the waters where they would. And the emphasis was on fun.

Across the nation, Thursday was Reading Is Fun Day, part of a project sponsored by Reading is Fundamental (RIF), a nonprofit organization that helps local communities motivate their young people to read. By matching funds raised locally, RIF distributes thousands of books to youngsters annually through participating organizations, such as schools and local libraries.

The project is not without serious purposes. Governor Julian Carroll's proclamation of Reading Is Fun Day in Kentucky referred to some 20 million Americans who are functionally illiterate, unable even to read a want ad, and spoke of encouraging young people to "acquire the basic skills necessary for responsible citizenship."

But if some of the titles scattered across the tables in the Clark school library seemed only remotely connected with responsible citizenship, that was less important, according to school librarian Mrs. Louise Howard, than the fact that children were taking up books that they genuinely wanted to read. "The important thing is that reading becomes a habit with them," Mrs. Howard explained.

Popular titles Thursday included The Guinness Book of World Records, a glossy volume on Frankenstein, books featuring TV cartoon characters and sports stars, a nature series, and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club contributed $200 to the Clark School RIF project, the school put up another $100, and the RIF organization matched the local monies with another $300. In addition, a semi-trailer load of books and posters was contributed by the Xerox Corporation.

1980 Is Deadline Set for Gas Co. To Cure Faults

The Kentucky Energy Regulatory Commission has ordered the B & H Gas Co., of Stanville, to correct several deficiencies in its system by early 1980. By Jan. 1 the company must:

—Make available a map of the gas system of sufficient scale and accuracy to show location of sources of supply, mains, valves, regulators, relief valves and drips.

—Satisfy the requirement of metering all sources of supply.

—Establish an emergency plan.

—Establish a maintenance and operation plan.

—Organize all meter test records in a manner to ensure availability for commission review.

—Install two additional pressure relief valves to prevent the possibility of overpressuring the system.

—Adopt welding procedures in the event any welding of the steel system is required in the future.

—Perform required regulator and relief valve maintenance and maintain record of same.

—Satisfy the requirements of cathodic protection of system piping.

By March 1 the company must:

—Conduct required pressure surveys to ensure adequate service to all customers.

—Conduct a check of odorant level with appropriations equipment to ensure that the natural gas is detectable at one-fifth of the lower explosive limit.

—Install required line markers with the name and phone number of the B & H Gas Co.

If the company does not comply with the schedule, it will be fined $50 a day for each violation.

The company told the Commission in August, 1978 it would correct most of its deficiencies by Nov. 1, 1978. Subsequent commission inspections early this year showed some progress had been made, but a Sept. 12 inspection showed little additional compliance has been achieved.

The commission's order was based on the findings of the Sept. 12 inspection and the opinion that the company has had ample time to correct many of its deficiencies.

The Commission has approved rate increases for two Floyd county natural gas companies.

The Elzie Neeley Gas Co., and the Martin Gas Co. were granted the increases to offset the increased cost of wholesale natural gas supplied by Columbia Gas of Kentucky.

Elzie Neeley's customers will now pay a minimum monthly bill of $10.15 for the first 3,000 cubic feet of gas. A rate of $3.47 per 1,000 cu. ft. will apply for all amounts of more than 3,000 cu. ft.

Customers of Martin Gas will pay a minimum monthly bill of $5.50 for the first 2,000 cu. ft. A rate of $4.07 per 1,000 cu. ft. will apply for all amounts over 2,000 cu. ft.

Former Student Is Now ALC Recruiter

(Reprinted from the Alice Lloyd College Newsletter)

Adrian Hall, of Minnie, reserves a special place in his heart for Alice Lloyd College. One only has to ask him to recall his fondest memory of the school, then called Caney Junior College, to get a sense of the devotion and warm appreciation Adrian feels about the school and its founder. Before offering an answer, Adrian will lean back in his chair, acquire a thoughtful—if not faraway—look in his eyes, and smile. Within moments both the speaker and the listener will be swept away in a personal reverie of the past.

When Adrian arrived at the college some forty years ago, it was quite different in appearance than the campus today. At that time, the students and visitors from the neighboring mountain hollows encountered a tiny junior college nestled along Caney Creek. People were enchanted by the magical names of the wooden buildings dotting the hillside—names like "Star House," "If," "Firing Line," and "Eagle's Nest." During the winter, students could be seen carrying wood and coal up the hill for stoves in the dormitories and classrooms. Plumbing was nonexistent, electricity was used sparingly, and the segregation of boys and girls was rigidly enforced.

Adrian's most vivid recollection stems from this background. As usual, he had gathered with the other boys in the brisk morning mountain air. Few of the students knew for sure whether it was the damp coldness of the morning or the normal apprehension of the occasion which sent chills shuddering up their spines. Traditionally, they would dutifully recite the pledge of allegiance and then await her questions. No one ever had any idea what she would ask, and each was afraid they would be the unlucky one.

She stood motionlessly on the porch above them. Slender and frail, Alice Spencer Geddes Lloyd clung to the post with her one good arm and surveyed the nervous gathering below.

"Adrian Hall?"

"Yes ma'am."

"What does the word 'indivisible' mean?"

Adrian remembers the event far more clearly than he recalls his answer. Over the following weeks and months, however, he was steadily promoted to jobs and positions of higher responsibility. For a time he even carried Mrs. Lloyd from her living quarters to her office. Eventually he was selected as one of the students receiving a scholarship to the University of Kentucky.

Adrian has never forgotten the special confidence Alice Lloyd placed in him, nor his appreciation for the opportunities found at the college. Since August 1977, he has served the school in the admissions program, recruiting students for enrollment and speaking at area social functions on behalf of the college. After spending some thirty-one years in the public school system, he regards his present job as "ice cream topping on cake." Not only does his heavy recruiting schedule keep him in touch with old classmates and friends, he is also serving the college in a vital area.

The message that Adrian gives to prospective students is borne out by his personal experiences. When he tells individuals and groups that "Alice Lloyd College has had a greater impact on our region than any other college," he notes that his statement is always confirmed by positive feedback from former students or friends of the college.

Adrian Hall, in his words and actions, personifies the bright future of Alice Lloyd College. He envisions an enrollment of four or five hundred mountain students within six years and hints of new buildings to come after the library is completed. Yet this growth will not dilute the mission nor responsibilities of Alice Lloyd College. Whether 1939 or 1979, the uniqueness and essence of the college remains its proud tradition and dedication to the mountain people. It is people like Adrian Hall who guarantee the success of the ideal.

SHOULD JOHN Y. BROWN RELEASE INFORMATION ON HIS INCOME TAXES?

Here is what his friend, present Governor Julian Carroll says:

"I think it is important that public officials do more than talk about personal governmental honesty—they must prove their honesty. I think the voters of Kentucky have a right to know what sources of income an individual may have that would possibly influence his or her actions on government."

—Quote from article in Lexington Herald, Oct. 21, 1979.

Kentucky Tales for Hallowe'en its ghostly journey and healing the spot where it stood. The late Henry P. Scalf, of Floyd County, told about men marking timber in the area, including the tall tree, for cutting. The next day the crew returned to find everything as if the great tree had never existed. In the Ashland area, one resident is reluctant to discuss mysterious music he frequently hears about midnight. The soft tones of a calliope sound over the broad Ohio River. Sometimes sounds of laughter accompany the music, "but on occasion the woman is heard sobbing," the Ashland man says. Try as he might he has never seen a boat or anything to indicate the source of the sounds, he adds. Ouida Jewell, of Fulton, said a man he knew well was hunting and fishing in the Murphy's Pond section in Hickman County when he discovered enormous footprints. He didn't hang around too long, but returned home to get a friend, Jewell said. The two men went back to the spot in the pond area armed with guns. They saw the creature which they described as large, hairy, manlike. They didn't shoot because they were not being harmed and in return did not want to injure or kill the creature. They left to report their findings to the sheriff's office. "Animals know about these things," stated an older resident of Campbell County. "Once our dog Sport started whining and howling low. When Papa investigated, he came inside the house, white as a bedsheet. He wouldn't talk for some time, but later said he'd seen a spirit out on the lawn. "People living on the place next door said they would tell us things but never did," she added. Science has done much to explain many strange happenings, but the old ghost stories remain. They are events to tell and retell when days grow short, mists cover the land and Halloween is just days away.

Tribute to George L. Moore

"A SECLUDED FARM"...Tony Cumpton's print captures the spirit of the late George L. Moore's stories of Eastern Kentucky life and of his farm, "The Royal Oaks."

By ELAINE and NELSON COX

George L. Moore departed this life on September 22, 1979, peacefully and in the home he loved so well. For the past several years, he devoted much of his retirement to writing newspaper articles for his many friends and admirers.

George L. as his friends called him, spent most of his adult life as an educator, teacher and principal. Even in retirement he continued educating. Through his articles, he told people about themselves, their heritage and the beauty of nature.

Born in Elliott County, George L. saw himself as a part of a continuing saga. He very much belonged to the land and the people. He saw learning as a lifetime pursuit and believed that the primary purpose of life was to cultivate God's greatest gift, the human mind.

The stories George L. wrote were a mini-history of day-to-day life in rural Kentucky. Many others were familiar with the stories, characters and locale, but it was George L. who wrote the stories for the pleasure and edification of thousands. He told his stories with love and respect for his subjects.

After many years of professional life as an educator in the Big Sandy region of eastern Kentucky, George L. and his wife, Nellie, retired to the "Royal Oaks", a beautiful farm atop a high hill in Elliott County. George L. took pleasure in managing his farm in a sound ecological manner, but in his heart he saw himself as a custodian of the land, rather than the owner.

The little white house where George and Nellie lived was sparkling clean and spartanly simple. A broad expanse of well-kept lawn surrounded the house and ancient oak trees framed the view as one approached the house.

Simplicity was the keynote of George L.'s life. He kept his farm groomed as if it were all a garden, repaying its bounty with fertilizer, lime and care.

The "Royal Oaks" was a mecca for friends and relatives. On sunny Sunday afternoons, they sat on the front porch soaking in a panoramic view and recounting old stories and recollections. This was a source and inspiration for many of George L.'s stories.

In their many years of teaching, George L. and Nellie taught thousands of youngsters. Many of their students went on to become important in their chosen professions and all of them were enriched. Their fellow-teachers and former students often made the long trek to Elliott County and up the steep, gravel road to visit the Moores and enjoy their warm hospitality. Even when they weren't in a classroom, they went on teaching with the example of their lives and the quality of their conversation. The tenor was always kindness, compassion and understanding.

If an individual eats more fuel foods than is needed for energy and warmth, it is well known that the additional amounts may be converted into body fats and stored for future use. The storage of excess fuel food as body fat is of great importance to those who have difficulty in maintaining body weight within a normal range. It is important to be conscious of one's own calorie intake and to know how many calories are required to keep the metabolism running at its best without storing up the excess.

Leasing Splurge Foreshadows Better Days Nearer for Coal

There's a growing cynicism about the Eastern Kentucky coal industry.

Heard more frequently are statements to this effect:

"The coal business will be good after the big boys push the little ones out."

Many of the "little fish" have already been swallowed, some have "died," a relative few are hanging on, hoping for better days.

Whatever the facts are about control of the coal mining industry, a leasing splurge is under way in the area—mainly, by larger companies—and there's a feeling that, maybe, the time is near when the coal market will take an upward turn.

Who will be left to profit from it? The Lexington Herald's Lee Mueller last Friday published the following story relating to the situation:

A prolonged market slump apparently has forced at least 859 coal operations in Kentucky, most of them small, independently-owned mines, to close during the past 15 months.

At the same time, a flurry of leasing activity is being reported in some areas of the Eastern Kentucky coalfields—a development some observers believe may indicate an upswing for the coal industry.

"There's been quite a bit of leasing going on during the last three or four weeks," said McKinley Morgan of Hyden, who also serves as county attorney in Clay County. "I've prepared eight or 10 coal leases. I've heard the other attorneys are doing about the same kind of business."

"Always before, this (activity) has indicated something good is coming. Lord knows, we can use it. Things have picked up a little lately, but right now you can't buy a job around here."

A Western Kentucky coal executive agreed with Morgan.

"It's a traditional indication of an upturn in the market," said Robert Carson, president of Natomas Coal Co. in Muhlenberg County. "The leasing frenzy always comes before the sales frenzy. Most of the minerals in the Big Sandy area are leased, so companies are now going into the marginal areas—like Clay and Leslie counties. I don't think there's much leasing in Western Kentucky. The high-sulfur coal in this area is not particularly popular right now."

Most of the leasing in Clay County is being done by oil companies, Morgan said. "Heck, this might be a good thing. If they can be as successful at manipulating coal prices as they were with oil, we'll all be rolling in money."

In other areas of Eastern Kentucky, however, there is less optimism.

The number of mines now operating in Pike County—the state's largest coal-producing county—has dwindled from 601 a year ago to 384 as of Thursday, according to Everett Brown, president of the county's coal association.

"It's definitely an all-time low for this county," Brown said.

Quoting from a state department of mines and minerals bulletin, Brown said 859 mines in Kentucky went out of business between July 1978 and July 1979.

"There are around 3,000 mines licensed in the state," said Bill Caylor of the Kentucky Coal Association. "A goodly number of these are small, family-owned mines. Consequently, it's difficult to get a handle on exactly how many have been squeezed out during this slump."

Estimates from other coal-related sources ranged between 600 and 950.

Both Brown and Wendell Knight, president of the Highlands Coal Association in Paintsville, say there is little leasing being done in their areas now, despite the number of small companies that have stopped production and have gone out of business.

"Right now, I don't know of a single acre that anybody can lease," Brown said.

"There's not a lot of leasing going on," Knight said. "But a lot of outside people are coming in and trying to get started in business."

"Around here, the old land companies have got most of it pretty much tied up."

"I understand a subsidiary of the Miller Brewing Co. was trying to locate on Jenny's Creek in Johnson County. Mostly, though, they're just picking over leftovers."

Many coal companies which have stopped production apparently are retaining their mineral properties, waiting for the market to open up again, said a Harlan County operator, who asked not to be identified. "By and large, the people hit hardest by this slump have been your small operators in Eastern Kentucky."

Some small operators, he said, have not been affected by the market slump.

"Regardless of what you hear, many of the small operators are mining for larger companies, which have the ability to go into the market and sell that coal. The small companies that have contracts with the Island Creeks and the Pittstons and Mapcos haven't been hurt a lot, but the others—especially the ones with their own little block of coal—most of them are gone."

In Clay County, Morgan said he represented 74 coal companies in 1974 when the latest boom was at its peak. "I now have three coal company clients," he said.

"More to the point," Morgan said, "there were 115 coal companies here in 1974. Now there's only 28—and most of them are owned by big oil companies outside Kentucky. There's only four independent operators left."

Most coal officials blame environmental and mining regulations and a lack of a consistent national energy policy for the market slump.

Aid for Small Business Aim of Commerce Div.

A 45-day-old state Department of Commerce division is working to fill a void that has been present in Kentucky's, and most other states' economic development, says Commerce Commissioner Carroll Knicely.

The state Commerce Department expanded its office of minority business enterprise Sept. 1 to form the small and minority business development division to work closer with small businesses in the state.

"Small business development is one area that has been virtually neglected by the various state governments until recently," said Colin Phillips, assistant director for the small business development section of the new division.

Floyd Taylor, director of the office of minority business enterprise since 1972, was named director of the small and minority business development division.

Taylor and Phillips are preparing a program for the Commerce Department to follow in giving aid to small businesses already operating and to prospective entrepreneurs.

Phillips, who recently attended a seminar sponsored by the Small Business Administration in Denver, Colo., said he is defining a small business as "one that is not dominant in its field, is either privately owned or closely held and Kentucky-based," in order to work with the entire small business community.

"As programs are developed which offer specific aid," Phillips said, "then appropriate limits will be placed on the size business that can participate."

The small business development program is divided into four areas of assistance—research and planning, management, financial aid and procurement.

Phillips said the research and planning assistance will enable the office to plan effectively for the development of future services and actions affecting small businesses. It also will help the Commerce Department maintain contact with the various agencies working for small business growth.

The new division will serve as a one-stop consulting service, helping the businessman find and gain access to the appropriate organizations that can offer assistance, he said.

The management assistance area would also help small businesses get involved in exporting, franchising and joint ventures, when necessary.

The packaging and presenting of certain loan proposals also will be handled by the small and minority business development division, Phillips said, and firms will be referred to various financial institutions such as banks and governmental loan guarantee authorities.

Ky. District Judges To Attend 'College'

Twin sessions of the 1979 District Judges' Judicial College will be held at Lake Cumberland State Park, Lure Lodge, Jamestown, Ky., October 22-26 and October 29-November 2.

In order to provide Kentucky's 114 district judges the opportunity to maintain their professional competency and to remain abreast of recent methods and trends in the areas of law enforcement and adjudication, duplicate sessions of the college are being presented to enable all district judges to attend.

The District Judges' Education Committee, with staff assistance from the Administrative Office of the Courts, has planned the program, which will include lectures, panel discussions and workshops on various topics, including: relations between the judge and other local officials—powers of the judge; docket control; fines and costs; default judgments and post judgment remedies; extraditions; and probation and parole.

Start Business Now? CPAs Say It Could Be the Best Time

Most of us harbor at least occasional ambitions for starting our own business. Thousands try and fail. Other thousands try and succeed. It has been estimated that nearly a million jobs a year are added to the economy by small businesses.

But how do you decide whether you have what it takes, especially in times like these, when inflation and recession make simultaneous inroads?

The national economy doesn't make all that much difference for the small enterprise, according to the Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants. If there's a market for your output you can make out fine regardless of what is happening nationwide.

The fact is, the CPAs assure us, that inflation and recession offer unusual opportunities—for unusual individuals. First of all, a person thinking about starting his own business is likely to be contemplating a service company, rather than one that will manufacture a product. This improves the chances of success during a depressed economic period; most service companies came through the 1973-75 recession unscathed.

Right now all sorts of companies that wring additional usage out of old products are booming:

—Auctioneering firms are busier than ever finding buyers for objects that once would have been considered ready for the junkpile.

—The market for used furniture, formerly confined almost exclusively to antiques, now takes in virtually any household item that's serviceable, or can be made serviceable—especially if the work can be done by the owners, themselves.

—Instruction in do-it-yourself arts and crafts and the supplying of tools and materials used by the do-it-yourselfers are both prospering.

—Companies that recycle building materials—lumber, bricks, steel beams, even bathtubs—can't keep up with demand.

—And buildings, themselves, are being recycled. Those who do this work at first were limited chiefly to fixing up homes for families priced out of the new-house market, but now they are doing a lot of renovating of commercial and industrial buildings.

As for what it takes to succeed with a new, small business, the CPAs cite three essentials: a genuine need for your product or service; your ability to deliver at a competitive price; and capital sufficient to start you off and keep you going until the business is established.

And it's that third element, they emphasize, that can give you a clue to your chances for success.

"If you can raise the capital," says J. Donald Riney, CPA, President of the

New Services Provided At Louisa Hospital

Two new patient services have been added at Louisa Community Hospital, electroencephogram or E.E.G. and echoencephogram will now give the physicians another diagnostic tool to help patients, according to Elmer Crozier, hospital administrator.

The tests are performed at the hospital and transmitted to a neurologist who then reads them and reports back to the hospital.

E.E.G. and Echo, as the services are popularly known, can determine disturbances or abnormalities in the brain. The tests may be used to diagnosis epilepsy, migraine headaches, strokes, brain tumors and numerous other problems, Crozier said.

In the past such patients at the hospital would have been referred to Huntington or Ashland for treatment.

"I might go out there and have more fun than the people in the theatre," was Roger Miller's quip before a recent appearance on The Wheeling, West Virginia Jamboree U.S.A.

Roger Miller.

The two performances on Jamboree U.S.A. were a warm-up of sorts for Roger Miller, one of country music's more creative artists for over 20 years. The following night, he was honored at the Smithsonian Institute in the nation's capitol.

"I've reached the top of another mountain in my life, from the Jamboree to the Smithsonian, where I'll be honored with a plaque during my concert there," Miller said, prior to the first of his two performances in Wheeling. "They wrote me a letter and wanted me to do a concert, sort of honoring me for the contributions I've made to American music," he said.

To those who know Roger Miller, it may come as a surprise that there are serious nerves in his system, but he said "I cried when I read the letter telling me of this great honor."

Miller has reached another highlight in his personal life and when he's not performing, he's at his new home, a ranch outside of Santa Fe, New Mexico. "It's just a small place; I call it a ranch, with a nice house, but it's in one of the most beautiful areas I've ever known, and believe me it offers me more peace of mind than I've ever known. And that's very important," he said while smiling at his wife, Mary, who at one time was a member of the First Edition with Kenny Rogers.

"Back at my dream home," he said, "I've been digging holes for fence posts." He laughed at his hands, which were without blisters normally associated with that type of hard work and said, "They're insured by Lloyds of Los Angeles... for fifty dollars."

And for those inquiring about an album titled "The Texas Hits of Lefty Frizzell" on Oavac Records—there is no such record label, at least none that has any rights to the distribution of Lefty Frizzell material.

Lefty Frizzell

In checking with an industry spokesman who wishes to remain unidentified, this album is available on eight track only, and contains some unlawful reproductions of some Frizzell recordings, mixed with some 'sound alike' cuts. This is an outright act of tape piracy, and should you find any, check out the source, and contact your local law enforcement officials.

Lightfoot Launches New Season on KET

Canadian balladeer Gordon Lightfoot launches the new season of "Soundstage," Thursday, November 1 at 10 p.m. (ET), 9 p.m. (CT), on KET.

Lightfoot's flowing folksongs follow one all-time favorite after another during the hour-long program in which the singer-songwriter performs his newest song, "The Ghost of Cape Horn."

"Early Morning Rain," "Cotton Jenny," "If You Could Read My Mind," "Sundown" and "Don Quixote" are among Lightfoot's most famous ballads that are a part of his "Soundstage" performance.

"The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald" was written by Lightfoot to commemorate the major ship disaster that occurred on November 10, 1975. Its non-sentimental poignancy typifies Lightfoot's musical style. Sung against the background of actual video footage of the Edmund Fitzgerald's launching, and Coast Guard footage showing the hull of the ship underwater, the ballad takes on a piercing realism.

Lightfoot's performance opens the sixth season of "Soundstage," KET's highly acclaimed contemporary music series. Upcoming guests in the new season include The Temptations, The Doobie Brothers, Doc Severinsen, John Prine, Chick Corea and Ella Fitzgerald.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: "We were devastated," Carol Burnett recalled, "crying ourselves to sleep every night." What caused the devastation was when she and her husband, Joe Hamilton, realized that their 13-year-old daughter, Carrie, was involved with drugs—all kinds, "uppers, downers, cocaine, the heavy stuff," as Carrie now puts it. That was two years and one long nightmare ago. Today, Carrie, 15, is being treated at the Houston headquarters of the Palmer Drug Abuse Program, which claims a 70 percent recovery rate. Carrie looks back on times when "my head was in one place, my legs in another. First you take the drug, then the drug takes you," she told me. For Burnett, the strain exacted its toll: "I started to stutter. I was nervous and exhausted. I could talk or think of nothing else." After Carrie's first 30 days in Houston, mother and daughter had a reunion in which they held each other for 15 minutes and cried. Carrie lives with a sponsor and attends a Houston high school. Burnett and Hamilton urge parents with similar problems to "pull their heads out of the sand." And as for insisting that their daughter get treatment even though she was angry and resistant, Burnett said, "You have to love your kids enough to let them hate you."

TV-TICKER: Lou Ferrigno and Bill Bixby exploded at each other on the set of CBS-TV's 'The Incredible Hulk' the other day. Their on-again, off-again feuding has been going on almost since the beginning of the series. But it sank to new depths when Lou once more said he was tired of playing second fiddle to Bixby. "I'm sick of your complaining," Bill replied. And, he added, it didn't take someone with any brains to play a green monster and jump around. Looks like the Hulk isn't the only green thing on this show... Kristy McNichol will not return to ABC-TV's 'Family' after this season. The two-time Emmy-winner has told the producers of her show, she wants a series of her own. She's tired of being a co-star, says the 17-year-old. "I want to do something that is more in line with my talent and my stature in this business," Kristy added... An off-screen romance has already struck the set of the new CBS series 'California Fever.' Sexy Lorenzo Lamas and pretty Michele Tobin are a new twosome definitely worth keeping an eye on... A postscript to the recent Emmy Award ceremonies—Katharine Hepburn, who was a nominee for 'The Corn Is Green,' sent this reply to her invitation to attend the festivities: "Tell them I'm dead."

CELEBRITIES IN CANDID: The average television series usually has the longevity of a snowflake in you know where. Others, of course, go on years and years. An outstanding example of the latter is 'The Danny Thomas Show' which began its video life in 1953 as 'Make Room For Daddy' and ran for 11 years. Danny Thomas' show is still being shown today. Asked why the series is still hot in so many countries, Danny shrugs and smiles. "We were a family on the screen doing a family show," he explains. "As long as there are families coming along who want to see clean television, our series will always be popular..." Actress Jane White plays evil psychic 'Tante Helene' on CBS-TV's smash daytime hit, 'Search For Tomorrow.' But off camera, the soap star has actually experienced many frightening real-life psychic phenomena. "Something or someone touches me on the shoulder or arm. I turn around to see who it is and no one is there..." Young people, as well as their elders, will have a chance to see how the age of chivalry originated when they tune to MGM's 'Knights of the Round Table,' a pre-Halloween TV special presented by the SFM Holiday Network. Robert Taylor will star as Sir Lancelot, Ava Gardner as Queen Guinevere, and Mel Ferrer as King Arthur.

SPORTSWHIRLED—I'd like to take time out this week and thank the many readers who have sent me some very interesting questions about sports that they would like to have answered. Keep on sending in those blurbs! Of course, you can't please everybody all the time and such is the case with a reader of my column in Wallaceburg, Ontario, who claims that my story on the inferiority of the CFL in comparison to the old WFL and NFL was ludicrous and inaccurate. Everybody is entitled to his/her opinion, but facts are facts. Every week when the CFL sends me their weekly stats, it hasn't failed to mention the addition of many NFL rejects to the CFL rosters. When the NFL had its final cutdown day in September, high and mid-round NFL draft picks were cut, including the New York Jets' Emmett King. King, a great running back in college, just couldn't measure up to NFL standards. Mind you, not one of the other NFL teams picked him up after he was 'jet-tisoned.' The Ottawa CFL franchise scooped him up, and now he's a big star. The CFL rosters are mostly made up of local Canadian product, but check to see who the key offensive players are and you'll find the likes of Jerry Tagge, Tony Adams and Bill Troup in the lineup. All are American products who have failed in the NFL. It's true that the CFL game is somewhat different, but it's basically the same game and it still takes superior talent to score a touchdown or kick a field goal. Plus, it's a known fact that maybe two CFL teams have the necessary money to support 'big-time' football. I doubt if an Ottawa or a Calgary could hold its own in the NFL. And I believe the CFL was more afraid of losing out on some prime American talent when the WFL was formed. Sometimes I find it hard to believe that people can be so naive when it comes to pro sports. The American-Canadian rivalry also gets kind of interesting when it comes to hockey. But that's another story for another time...

SPORTS JEST—The way Howard Cosell has been getting his share of lumps lately, one wonders whether one of the networks will offer a 'Celebrity Announcer Toss' with Cosell getting sacked by the Giants' Gordon Gravelle. Say, how about a 'Quarterback Toss' as well with rival NFL linebackers getting to throw their favorite signal caller as far as he can go? The catch is that all NFL quarterbacks are revered so they get to land in the arms of the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders. That should cushion their fall.

SPORTS NOTES—Glad to see Roy Gerela kicking again with the San Diego Chargers. At least he's still with a playoff squad... You think Tampa is amazing, check out Marv Levy's K.C. Chiefs. They may not be world-beaters, but they are in contention for a playoff spot. Last year they were simply horrible... If the Giants draft one more quality receiver and another top-flight offensive lineman, watch out...

Grant of $65,415 Okehed for Site

Commissioner William S. O'Daniel, of the Department for Local Government, has announced approval of a direct grant in area development funds of $65,415.59 to Big Sandy Area Development Authority toward the acquisition of land for an industrial park in Magoffin County.

Big Sandy Area Development District recommended the funding to retire the debt owed on the first installment toward the purchase of the 143 acres and appraisal fees. Total purchase price of $200,000 is to be paid during a three-year period. In order to fund the total purchase price and allow for development costs, the Big Sandy ADD approved a total of $275,000 for this project.

Area development funds were made available through action initiated by Gov. Julian Carroll and approved by the 1976 and 1978 legislatures. Each biennium $12 million is allocated for the fund.

Final authorization is made by the Department of Finance following a technical review of each subject.

‘People’s Voice’ Airs State Issues

“The People’s Voice” speaks out on the issues beginning Tuesday, October 30 at 7:30 p.m. (ET). This new KET-produced series speaks with Kentuckians through the local forum covering selected topics which address the concerns and questions of the Commonwealth.

The program’s producers, Mili Fazey and Charles Thompson, travel the state seeking out people familiar with and close to the issues. Town meetings or personal interviews are then arranged to discuss concerns related to the topic.

The first of nine, 60-minute segments examines Kentucky’s tobacco industry. “Ordinary Kentuckians, not the newsmakers,” states Thompson, “from the growers and warehouse workers to the experts at the Tobacco Institute,” are sought after and interviewed for their opinions and insights on the trade and how the tobacco business affects their everyday lives.

In future segments “The People’s Voice” will address such topics as the coal industry, nuclear power, alternative energy sources, rural health care, juvenile justice and transportation.

Individual program formats vary, but the basic philosophy remains the same: to give the people of Kentucky a chance to speak out and be noticed.

Fall—In Love With Potatoes

by Bruce Foster

If they could, potatoes would probably have an inferiority complex. Now here's a squat, lumpy, brown and decidedly unglamorous vegetable that prefers to hide underground until someone comes along and wrests him from his earthen bed.

Then comes the disrespect. The potato is stripped of his only skin, blemished though it may be, and is mercilessly mashed, whipped, sliced up or reduced to dust. If he's lucky, he'll meet his demise with some dignity by being baked intact. Life is tough for the lowly potato.

It used to be even worse. Back in the 1500s, Europeans believed potatoes were a dangerous aphrodisiac. Agronomists charged that they would ruin the soil in which they were planted. Potatoes were grown in British flower gardens as a mere curiosity.

It took a famine in 1771 to make the vegetable a staple in Sweden. And in northern Europe, the potato finally caught on after the poor realized its true value. The Irish grew it to the exclusion of almost all other crops, and ate an average of 8 - 10 pounds per person per day. When crops failed due to the potato blight of 1845-46, Ireland was nearly devastated.

Today there are five types of potatoes, including the new Butte variety, which was developed in recent years by a plant geneticist.

- Russet—America's favorite, with a dry, mealy texture, netted skin, and shallow eyes. This is the best baking potato.
- Round red—Firm texture, smooth skin, red color.
- Round white—Firm texture, creamy buff color. There are many varieties of varying moisture content.
- Long white—Firm texture, smooth skin, light tan color, with shallow eyes.

• Butte—This new variety is 50% higher in vitamin C and 15-20% higher in protein than the Russet, which it closely resembles.

The potato is often thought of as fattening, but actually nothing could be further from the truth. A medium-sized potato (about 5 ounces, or 150 grams) has only 90 calories. Toppings like butter, sour cream and gravy are the true culprits. Potatoes are, however, loaded with a wide variety of essential nutrients (see table).

Few other vegetables, whatever their stature, can measure up nutritionally to the potato. So give it some respect! And do yourself a favor by eating more of them. Here's one delicious way to take away the chill of cold fall days:

Old Ways vs. New Is Focus of "Catholics"

Martin Sheen and Trevor Howard are the featured players in Brian Moore's film adaptation of his critically acclaimed short novel, "Catholics." The 90-minute special airs Monday, October 29 at 9:00 p.m. (ET) on KET.

A young, contemporary priest from Rome (played by Martin Sheen) is assigned to order the monks at a remote abbey off the Irish coast to cease their celebration of the traditional Latin Mass in favor of a shortened English liturgy.

The conflict and eventual admiration which develops between the priest and the old abbot (Trevor Howard) forms the core of the drama. The abbot's anguish at having to order his monks to obey Rome's directives and the young priest's increasing questioning of the validity of those mandates completes the major theme.

"Catholics," which has received rave reviews from the Vatican, earned a Peabody Award and praise from American critics when it was first broadcast as a "CBS Playhouse 90" presentation.

Senate Votes Bill To Double Funds for Boyd County Plant

The U.S. Senate last Thursday passed an Interior Department spending bill including funds for the coal liquefaction plant at Catlettsburg.

The measure, approved 86-9, now goes to a joint House-Senate conference committee. The House provided substantially less money for the coal conversion and four other Kentucky items in the bill.

A spokeswoman for Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston said the conference committee could start work as early as Monday, this week.

The Senate version provides a grand total of $64.5 million for the Catlettsburg facility. The Huddleston aide said that is $29.5 million more than the House wanted. The facility, largest of its kind, is expected to be in full operation next spring and will use 600 tons of coal a day.

A recent month-long test of the process conducted at Trenton, N.J., concluded Western Kentucky coal is excellent feedstock for the Catlettsburg process. "This was the most successful run we've ever made," said Alan G. Comolli, manager of the lab test. "This marks the first time Kentucky coal has been run at this scale for so long a time." The Trenton unit processes three tons of coal a day.

The Senate included $47 million for the solvent refined coal process to be built at Newman. The process turns high-sulfur coal into a clean-burning solid fuel. The Senate added the funds, not in the House version, after President Carter agreed to fund both that project and a West Virginia synthetic fuels program.

The Interior Department appropriations bill as passed by the Senate also includes $15.5 million for completion of the next construction phase of the Cumberland Gap tunnel in Southeastern Kentucky. The tunnel would allow the relocation of U.S. 25E which crosses the Cumberland Gap National Park. That, in turn, would permit the National Park Service to complete its master plan for the park. The existing road is also a traffic hazard. The House put no money for the tunnel in its version of the bill.

Other items in the bill: —$7.5 million for commercialization of the coal liquefaction process. The House bill provides nothing.

—$120 million for energy impact aid to areas that suffer adverse environmental and other effects from energy development projects. There is no money for this in the House bill.

—$20 billion for synthetic fuels development. These funds could become part of an Energy Security Fund Congress is thinking about creating. The house had $1.5 billion for "synfuels" in its measure.

Perkins To Keynote Meet in Louisville

Congressman Carl D. Perkins will deliver the keynote address before a conference on basic skills in learning to be held Friday and Saturday at the Galt House in Louisville which will focus on parent participation and the importance of home and school cooperation in the learning process.

The conference offers parents one of their first opportunities to participate in such a meeting. School administrators and teachers will also attend the programs.

"Enhancing Parent-School Communications in the Basic Skills" is sponsored by the Right to Read program of the Kentucky Department of Education and by the University of Louisville.

The conference will feature reports on five national programs during its Friday session, and Saturday's session will include 29 interest sessions on topics such as the role of the home in teaching basic skills, parent as teachers and the enhancement of parent-school communications.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY—

I am a widow (age over 60) living in a nice little town, but I have a real problem. It seems that when I try to talk to anyone on our City Council about cleaning up my street and making some much needed repairs, I can never find anyone with enough time or concern for me to listen. They either say they will look into it or check on it and get back to me—then they never even give me the courtesy of an answer.

Anxiously Waiting,
A FRUSTRATED CITIZEN

DEAR FRUSTRATED CITIZEN—

It seems as though your problem is not an uncommon one in your town. I have received a pile of letters similar to yours from people of all ages and from all neighborhoods in Prestonsburg. I feel the only solution to the problems that you have is to get out on Nov. 6th and elect someone who will LISTEN and RESPOND to your needs. Since I am available 6 days a week and easily accessible to everyone, I promise to do my very best to be of service to you and to every person in your town.

HOLD ON A WHILE LONGER—I REALLY CARE ABOUT YOU.

Plastic Surgery: A New Look

by Caroline Barnes

There was a time when only the very wealthy consulted plastic surgeons. If they happened to be famous as well as rich, they most likely kept their operations out of the public eye. Today, however, plastic surgeons are seeing more and more middle class people who want to improve their appearances and who no longer feel any stigma about having an operation purely for cosmetic purposes.

Plastic surgery is one of the fastest growing specialties in U.S. medicine today. Over one million people a year are consulting plastic surgeons for facelifts, hair transplants, removal of skin defects, reshaping of eyes, ears, noses and chins, and in some cases, even for "body contouring."

Finding a Plastic Surgeon

If you are considering cosmetic surgery, you may be wondering how you can find a competent plastic surgeon. One way is to ask your regular physician for a referral. Another way is to contact your local county medical society for a list of plastic surgeons in your area, or you can write to the Executive Office of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons, 29 E. Madison, Suite 800, Chicago, Illinois 60602.

A full-fledged plastic surgeon must have completed four years of medical school, an approved three-year residency in general surgery, plus two more years in plastic surgery. Make sure that the surgeon you choose is board-certified. This indicates that he has passed a rigorous examination after the required training.

Dr. George J. Berakha, a New York-based plastic surgeon who is on the staff of Lenox Hill Hospital and who is a surgical instructor at New York Medical College, recommends that you find out where the surgeon works. "If the surgeon is affiliated with a first class teaching hospital that has a plastic surgery residency program, and he's involved in the teaching of future plastic surgeons, chances are that he's going to be well-trained and up-to-date."

When you have selected a physician and arrive for your initial appointment, don't be afraid to ask questions. You should know what costs are involved, risks or complications that could result from the surgery, how much pain or discomfort to expect, length of recovery period, and how long your new look will last.

The Operation

Many kinds of cosmetic surgery can now be performed right in the doctor's office. More and more plastic surgeons are equipping their offices with operating and recovery rooms. This helps keep down the cost for patients whose medical insurance doesn't cover hospitalization for cosmetic surgery. The patient arrives in the morning, the surgery is performed under local anesthesia with sedation, and after the patient spends a few hours resting in the recovery room, he goes home with a friend or relative.

A wide range of cosmetic surgery procedures can be done out of the hospital. They include facelifts, breast lifting operations, eyelid surgery, nose surgery, dermabrasion and hair transplants. But some patients belong in the hospital. "People should be in excellent health and of normal weight to be considered for ambulatory surgery," according to Dr. Berakha. "Patients requiring general anesthesia should usually be hospitalized. Major surgery such as breast reduction or abdominoplasty (abdominal plastic surgery) must be done in a hospital setting."

Most cosmetic operations are done under local anesthesia and take anywhere from two to four hours. Pain is usually minimal and recovery is fast. Most patients can be back to their regular activities in about one to two weeks.

Rhinoplasty, an operation to improve the shape of the nose, usually takes about one to one and a half hours and can be performed on an outpatient basis or in the hospital. If it is done in the hospital, the patient stay may range from one to five days. Most patients who have this kind of surgery are back to their normal activities within two to three weeks.

A facelift operation takes about three or four hours and if done in the hospital, the patient stay is about two to five days. Most patients look presentable in about a week, and swelling and discoloration usually disappear in about two or three weeks. It may take several months, however, for all signs of the operation to disappear.

Eye surgery to correct puffy upper and lower eyelids usually takes from thirty minutes to two hours. Like the facelift and the rhinoplasty operations, it can be done on an outpatient basis or in the hospital. Most doctors prefer that the patient be hospitalized, however, if a facelift and eyelid surgery are to be performed at the same time.

Dermabrasion, a process that removes acne scars or fine wrinkles, has a longer recovery period. If you have this kind of operation, it may be several months before you are happy with your appearance.

The most common complication resulting from cosmetic surgery is postoperative facial bleeding after a facelift. The bleeding is under the skin and can be either a minor or a major problem. It can often be corrected by simple aspiration to suction off the blood, but it may require reopening the incision. The final result could be skin loss and excess scarring, but this complication does not occur very often. Another problem occurs if the surgeon pulls the skin too tight and circulation is impaired. This can cause the skin to die and slough off. Fortunately, this too can usually be corrected.

What It Will Cost

Surgeons' fees for cosmetic surgery vary a great deal and are generally higher in large cities like New York and Los Angeles. The following costs reflect surgeons' fees only and exclude charges for hospitalization or use of an outpatient facility.

- A facelift can cost anywhere from $2,000 - $4,000. The average cost in large cities is about $3,500; in smaller cities it's about $2,500.

- Eyelid surgery, from $1,500 to $2,500.

- "Pinning back" the ears, from $1,500 to $2,000.

- Dermabrasion, from as little as a few hundred dollars to $2,000, depending on the extent of the work.

- Rhinoplasty (reshaping of nose), from $1,500 to $2,500.

- Breast enhancement through insertion of silicone-filled bags, from $1,000 to $2,000. A breast reduction can cost about $4,000.

Expectations

Before undergoing cosmetic surgery, you should think very carefully about your expectations and discuss them openly with your doctor. It's important to realize that while cosmetic surgery will alter your appearance, it won't necessarily change your life. Most plastic surgeons take the time to screen their patients before accepting them as candidates for surgery.

Dr. Berakha says he finds it necessary to turn some patients down. He does this if he feels they have unrealistic expectations about what the surgery can do. Occasionally he sees someone who is very unhappy about a life situation and who believes that fixing an aspect of his or her appearance is going to solve the problem. In such a case, Dr. Berakha feels it isn't wise to operate.

Sometimes the defect is so slight that it's just not sound judgment to operate, even though he can see what the patient is talking about. The risks aren't worth it.

Some people bring pictures to their plastic surgeons, most often showing noses they would like to have. Dr. Berakha doesn't discourage a patient from showing him a picture of a nose he or she would like, but he does try to make it clear to the patient that he cannot necessarily give him that nose.

How long can you expect a facelift to last? Dr. Berakha says, "In one sense, a facelift is permanent, in that you'll never look as old as you would have looked without it, even 20 years later. But if someone wants to maintain an optimal youthful appearance, then a facelift has to be repeated. The time varies tremendously with the tissues of the patient, how elastic they are, and how much excess there was to begin with. I would say in general a facelift should last between five and ten years."

What can you expect in the way of scarring after cosmetic surgery? A facelift leaves few visible scars. The surgeon makes the incision so that any evidence of the surgery appears just above and in front of the ear, and behind the ear. Most scars are hidden within the patient's hairline. Most nose surgery is performed inside the nose, with no incision to create external scarring.

In surgery for protruding ears, the scar is hidden behind the ear, in the natural fold of the skin. No incision is made in front of the ear. Even light scars are an inevitable part of cosmetic surgery; if you are concerned about this issue, be sure to discuss it with your doctor.

Cosmetic surgery is not right for everyone, but it has helped millions of people feel better about themselves. Over a period of time it has evolved as a true surgical specialty, and while it cannot work miracles, it can truly make a difference.

Ox Teams Once Provided More Power on Less Feed

By NEVYLE SHACKELFORD
UK College of Agriculture

In this swift-paced age of gasoline and diesel-engined farm equipment it is a rare sight indeed to see a yoke of oxen. There was a time, however, when ox teams were common and many farmers preferred them over horses as draft animals.

In the first place, horses required twice the amount of provender to sustain them. Also, unlike horses, oxen could subsist without grain. In summer they could eat grass, and in winter live on hay and corn stalk fodder. Then when they were no longer fit for work, they could be fattened and turned into beef steak for the table.

Oxen were tough creatures, too, and much harder than horses. They could haul heavy loads over long distances without tiring out. Loggers in Eastern Kentucky used oxen to haul much of the virgin timber from the hillsides to sawmills and to streams where the logs were rafted and floated down-river to market. Also during the oil boom in this part of the state some 50 years ago, oxen were generally used to haul the heavy steam-powered drilling equipment from the railroad to drilling locations. Sometimes as many as 20 teams would be required to haul the massive steam boilers.

The slow, placid, and patient oxen were better suited than the more high-strung horses for use on hilly or rocky land and on new grounds full of stumps and roots. They could be driven without checklines, a feat which would have been impossible with horses. At the shouted command of the driver, the oxen would "gee" to the right or "haw" to the left, and at the crack of a whip, really buckle down and pull. Old time ox drivers also said a lot of loud "cussin'" was necessary to get the best work out of an ox team.

When roads were improved, especially after turnpikes were built, horses began to gradually replace oxen as draft animals and a means of travel. The development of horse-drawn machinery, beginning about 1830, contributed a lot to the slow but sure decline of the ox team, but yokes of cattle could still be found on a few mountain farms up until the mid-1920's.

The favorite names for oxen were "Buck" and "Berry". As a rule they were gentle, amiable animals, often mistreated by sadistic drivers, but always ready to work. These animals, however slow and plodding, contributed a lot to the agricultural progress of America.

Represents Floyd Co. At Recent Employment Policy Conference

Mrs. Joe McCauley, administrator of the CETA PSE program for the Floyd County Fiscal Court, attended the National Association of Counties, Eighth Annual Employment Policy Conference in Louisville, October 14-17. The conference, which was sponsored by the NACO and its affiliate the National Association of County Employment and Training Administrators, was attended by 1400 delegates from all over the nation.

The conference was opened on Sunday evening by Representative Carl Perkins who, using the theme of the conference, "CETA WORKS," stated that "CETA really works." Rep. Perkins said that he was going to try to come up with a supplemental appropriation early in 1980. Without such a supplement, approximately 225,000 jobs would be slashed by the end of September, 1980.

During the conference it was brought out that, across the nation, Title VI was cut by 42 percent and Title II was cut by 21 percent for fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. Floyd county had a cut of approximately 35 percent in Title VI and an increase of approximately 6 percent in Title II-D. Overall, Floyd county had a cut of $64,000 for FY beginning October 1.

The conference featured speakers such as Secretary of Labor, F. Ray Marshall, Hugh Duffy and Nat Semple from the House Education and Labor Dept., Susan Grayson, House Subcommittee on Employment Opportunities, Martin Jensen, Senate Committee on Labor and Human Resources, Jim O'Connell, Chief Legislative Assistant to Senator Javits, and many other representatives from the Department of Labor.

Others from eastern Kentucky who attended the four day conference were Linda Montgomery, Magoffin County Deputy Judge-Executive; Pike County Judge Executive, Wayne T. Rutherford; Virginia Robinson, Pike county CETA administrator; and Jeanette Watson, personnel director; Virgil Osborne, executive director EKCEP, and Ike Caudill, field coordinator of EKCEP, both from Hazard.

KSBA Area Meets Involve over 1,000

The 1979 KSBA regional meetings, which were recently completed, involved more than 1,000 local school board members and superintendents. Local education leaders heard KSBA President Bill Land and Vice-President Charles Brauch stress the necessity of involvement and hard work by board members and superintendents to gain passage of the 1980 legislative program. A meeting of the KSBA Legislative Network was also held in each region. Dr. Larry Powers, KSBA director of Governmental Relations, reviewed plans for operation of the network.

Jim Melton, executive director of KSBA, informed those attending the regional meetings that the Unemployment Compensation Program had 179 districts participating, while 121 districts are currently participating in the Worker's Compensation Program. These service programs operated by the Kentucky School Boards Insurance Trust have saved districts over $4 million in the first nine months of 1979.

The following Eastern Kentucky regional offices were elected for 1980: Upper Kentucky River—Shirley Treadway, Jr., chairman; Roy McFadden, vice-chairman; Charles Singleton, secretary.

Eastern Ky. (North)—Dr. Warren Proudfoot, chairman; Catherine Simons, vice-chairman; John Brock, secretary.

Eastern Ky. (South)—Gifford Varney, chairman; James T. Dotson, secretary.

APPARENTLY CARRIED DISEASE 400 MILES

A freak windstorm over the southern end of California's San Joaquin Valley two years ago has recently been implicated in a sharp increase in cases of a fungus disease last year as far as 400 miles farther north.

New cases of the disease—called coccidioidomycosis—appeared in areas where the illness has been considered rare.

WHAT BRINGS OUT THE CHEESE IN MACARONI AND CHEESE?

What can evaporated milk do for macaroni and cheese? Just what it does for all foods—brings out the special flavor you want to taste most. Try this recipe and see.

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 1 pkg. (7 or 8 Oz.) elbow macaroni                | 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese                  |
| 1 teaspoon salt                                   | 1 can (13 fl. oz.) evaporated milk (1-2/3 cups) |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper                               | 1 tomato—cut in wedges                          |
| 1/4 teaspoon oregano, crumbled                    | 1 tablespoon butter, melted                     |
| 4 thin slices onion                               | 2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs             |
| 1/2 pound sharp cheddar cheese, shredded (2 cups) | 1/8 teaspoon sweet basil, crumbled              |

Drop macaroni gradually into 3 quarts briskly boiling water to which 1 tablespoon salt has been added. Cook until macaroni is tender, about 7 minutes. Drain. Place half the macaroni in a well buttered 1-1/2 quart baking dish or casserole. Mix salt, pepper, and oregano. Sprinkle half over macaroni in dish. Break two of the onion slices into rings over macaroni. Layer half the cheddar cheese over, then sprinkle with half the Parmesan. Pour about half the evaporated milk over. Repeat. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 °F) for 30 minutes. Top with tomato wedges. Mix butter, crumbs and sweet basil, then sprinkle over top. Continue baking 10 minutes longer. Four to six servings.

There's a season for maturing when we think and work and grow.

There's a season for the harvesting of all we've come to know, and each successive season grows still richer than the last as treasures of the present add to memories of the past.
