

Court Approves Industry Bonds

2 Firms Backed With Bond Plan Of $6.8 Million

In a long-sluggish economy, welcome signs of growth appeared here last week as the Floyd fiscal court authorized the issue of $6.8 million in industrial revenue bonds to finance two new business ventures in the county.

A $4 million bond issue was approved for construction of a coal washing facility for the Diamond Coal Company at Ivel, and $2.8 million was authorized for construction of a K-Mart store at the junction of U.S. 23 and the Mountain Parkway.

Frank Mink, executive vice-president of Diamond Coal, told the court that the Ivel plant, which employed 200 Floyd countians before the economic downturn and tougher environmental laws caused the layoff of all but 65 employees there several years ago, is already planning to recall workers. The next year or two should see 25 more employed at the plant and another 150 mining coal, he predicted. It is hoped that construction of the new facility will begin in September and that it will be operational by next July.

William P. McKenzie, of McKenzie Properties, Inc., of Chattanooga, Tenn., one of the developers of the proposed K-Mart site, said that construction of an 8000-square-foot store, generating 90-100 jobs with an anticipated annual payroll of $900,000, will begin in October, with an opening date scheduled next August or September.

Industrial revenue bonds issued by the county are tax-exempt, and consequently more attractive to investors, but are underwritten by private financiers, without any liability on the part of the county. The bond issue for the K-Mart store has yet to be approved by the new state oversight committee, which meets September 17.

The recent theft and destruction of an ambulance belonging to the Mud Creek Volunteer Fire Department has brought to a head concerns of Mud Creek residents about the lack of law enforcement in that section. The question is complicated by a disagreement between the fiscal court and the sheriff's office over the funds available for hiring a law officer there—the court claims that $16,000 is due in sheriff's fees, while Sheriff Doug Lewis puts the figure at $10,800—and over the rehiring for that section of former Deputy Sheriff Gillis Conn, whom Lewis is said to oppose.

Magistrate Hershel Hamilton criticized Lewis for his failure to respond to the court's requests for a discussion of the problem and urged the court to "take some kind of action" to resolve the issue. County Judge-Executive Bill Wells said he hoped an anticipated auditor's report would clarify the question of what funds are available to the court for hiring an officer on Mud Creek.

Describing it as "probably the worst-looking roof I've ever seen," Martin architect Paul Hoffman told the court that the entire roof of the courthouse annex building will probably have to be replaced, at an estimated cost of $90,000. An examination showed that

An estimated $16,000 worth of marijuana growing on a plot at the rear of a Bypro man's home was confiscated last Wednesday by Deputy Sheriffs Randall Lewis and Phillip Neeley and Wheelwright Policeman Norm Thornsbury.

Doug Blevins, who was arrested as the alleged owner, was quoted by the officers as saying he had a doctor's permit to use marijuana. He was brought to jail here.

Sheriff Doug Lewis accompanied the same deputies and State Trooper Roger Castle on a productive raid, the same day, in the Salt Lick section of the county. They arrested Donnie Bailey on Cool Water Fork of Salt Lick and booked him on a third offense charge of possessing intoxicants for the purpose of sale. The arrest followed confiscation of 10 half-cases of beer, five half-pints of whiskey and 29 pints of wine from Bailey's premises.

On their way farther up the hollow they arrested Russell and Vickie Neeley on a first degree wanton endangerment charge for allegedly shooting into the car of their brother,

This Town...That World

I predicted that Truman would be defeated, that Cave Run would be a top bass lake and that the Cincinnati Reds were headed in the direction where perdition lies. Now, at the urgent request of fellow-sufferers, I boldly predict that the weather for the next four weeks will be hotter and drier than ever, if possible—and if that doesn't bring relief, the situation is as hopeless as I suspect it to be.

My favorite storyteller, Watt Hale, was on television, the other day, and I missed him. Egged on by Lenna Moore and "Snow" White, I later called him to inquire when he was leaving for Hollywood.

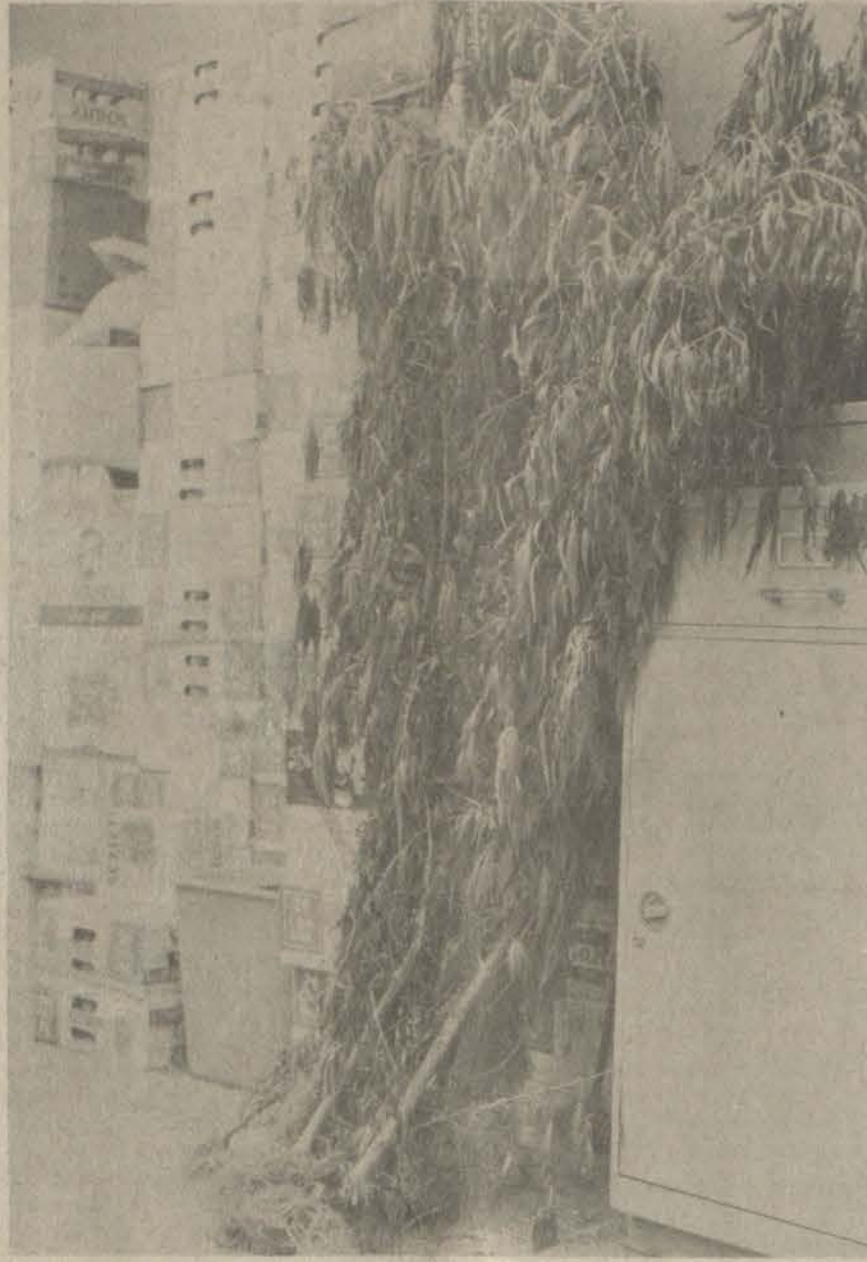

Quoth he: "There's a bunch of women out right now, taking up money to send me, but I'm a proud sort of feller—I want to go on my own."

THE NONSENSICAL

We add our voice to the crescendo of protest. The Census Bureau has gone and done it again.

Within the last few years Eastern Kentucky has had an unprecedented business boom stemming from the coal industry. Hundreds of men who had left the area for employment returned home to live and work. With them came their families. The influx of population, area-wide, was in the thousands. Housing has been critical. Week after week, this newspaper is asked to give would-be tenants advance information on ads to appear in the next edition, offering houses, apart-

INCREASINGLY, RAIDS by law enforcement officers in Floyd county yield more than the usual cache of beer and whiskey. Marijuana plants, such as those shown in photo which were "harvested" last week by sheriff's deputies at Bypro, now frequently take their place in the sheriff's office beside the ceiling-high stacks of confiscated alcoholic beverages.

Floyd School System Rallies To End Year "in the Black"

Supt. of Schools Pete Grigsby, Jr. and Asst. Supt. Ray Brackett were jubilant on two counts this week.

1. Brackett had made the official announcement at last Wednesday's meeting of the Board of Education that the budget deficit which two years ago stood at $668,000 has not only been licked but that the Board as of June 30, this year, was $287,392.90 "in the black" for a financial comeback amounting over the biennium to $955,000.

2. The county school system this year will expand its learning disability program from three units to 10 for the term beginning this week and will introduce three other programs which are new to counties of the area.

In reporting a hard-won surplus to the board last week, Brackett said, "I must hasten to add that a surplus condition simply enables us to hold the line with inflation. The cost of operating the Floyd county school system is $69,768 per day. This surplus ($287,392) would allow a fraction in excess of four days' operation under emergency conditions."

He added that he had been advised by the director of Local School District Finance that a district the size of Floyd county should have a 5% safety margin in its budget, which would mean a surplus of $645,359.

"The encouraging financial condition, as announced, has been verified by the Division of Local School District Finance, and, said both Brackett and Grigsby, the figures were not released to anybody till they were verified.

"The only variation from this surplus could be from a few unreported bills outstanding, possibly $2,000 or

Assessment of 4,000 Up, Only 17 Appeal

Of the approximately 4000 Floyd county property-owners whose assessments have been increased to meet demands of Commissioner Alphin, of the state Department of Revenue, only 17 have appealed the new values set on their properties. Lovel Hall, Floyd property evaluation administrator (tax commissioner) said this week.

Hearings on these appeals are being heard this week. Owners of property who lose their appeals have the option of carrying their cases on to circuit court.

Some appeals were forestalled, Hall said, when evidence showed that assessment increases were obviously inequitable.

Assessment raises made bring the total Floyd assessment to $168,000,000, meeting the $41 million increased asked for this county by Alphin.

The preliminary recapitulation of assessment totals now stands at $97,700 on residential property, not including the homestead exemption. It was originally $72,400,000. The adjusted farm lands assessment is $20,700,000, which is $4,300,000 above the original assessment, and the total for commercial properties is $49,600,000—up from $38,100,000.

A recent court decision that is adverse to the Revenue Department's demand for higher assessments from several counties is being appealed and its effect could remain in doubt for months. For that reason, evaluation administrators have been advised by their attorneys to get their assessments certified this year and hope to benefit in the future.

"If something isn't done," Hall commented, "the Department of Revenue could come back next year demanding even a 100% increase."

Council Ponders Shot-Paralyzed Chief's Status

Another Prestonsburg policeman resigned this week and a decision of the city council in executive session Monday appears to throw some doubt on the future of Keith Lawson as chief of police here.

Resigning is Robert Ranier, who has served on the force about one year. Police Chief Lawson, appointed to that position by the incoming city council in January of this year, faced a council vote on whether to move him from probationary to permanent status.

The council deferred the vote for two weeks, however, pending further discussions with Lawson. The deferral comes amid speculation that Lawson, confined to a wheelchair and under medication since he was shot during the course of a liquor raid on a West Prestonsburg house last year, may not be well enough to administer the department effectively.

In the same executive session, the council moved Fireman Larry Adams to permanent status and took under advisement an application by "meter maid" Sue Webb to join the city police force. Miss Webb is presently employed in the city parking division.

The council listed city roads scheduled for resurfacing this year. They are: Earl St., from South Lake Drive to Highland Ave.; Arnold Ave., from Court St. to Goble St.; Graham Lane, from University Drive to U.S. 460; Green Acres Dr., from main office to

Prestonsburg Plans Recount Within 10 Days

County and city officials were shaking their heads in disbelief as preliminary census figures were released this week, and some are vowing to do their own census counts. The word from census officials, however, is that the figures are substantially accurate—and, if local officials think otherwise, they had better be prepared to document their claims.

Nevertheless, housing and population statistics issued by the Ashland census bureau are termed unofficial "working" figures and are being released at this time precisely for review by local government officials. Final figures are due to be released later this year, and the completed census report is scheduled to be on the President's desk by January 1, 1981.

The accuracy of the census is of concern to local governments because various federal funds are apportioned on a population basis and not a few officials fear that the population here is being under-reported.

The census puts the current population of Floyd county at 39,785, a 10.9 percent increase over the 1970 population. Housing units are said to number 15,887, up 39.2 percent.

County Planner Dick Leslie said this week he does not dispute the housing figures but that he has some doubts about the population count. A 1979 study prepared by the University of

Grand Jury May Have No Murder Cases To Probe

Unless there is an outbreak of major crime within three weeks, the grand jury of the Floyd circuit court will not have a murder case to investigate when it convenes, Sept. 5.

Although the county has had its share of lesser violations—notably, theft and breaking and entering—not a slaying has been recorded since Jan. 1, peace officers say.

Senator Bailey Urges Area Synfuel Plants

I have forwarded to Governor Brown a copy of your recent editorial which echoes the feeling of most of our Mountain people concerning the development of the synfuels industry in Kentucky. I also wrote the governor, as follows:

"Most of our leaders have, for generations, talked of diversifying our economy and 'development' of the coal industry. For the past decades, 'diversification' has meant the development of 'shirt' and 'shoe' factories which employ our people for poverty level wages and move out, once the tax incentives and government contracts expire; 'development' of the coal industry has meant that we 'dig it,' with the accompanying adverse affects on the people and the environment that goes with it, and the majority of the benefits of the coal are transported out of the area so that others can become 'energy independent.'"

"With the new national policy to develop our coal resources and the encouragement of synfuel development, it seems especially cruel to East Kentucky that our area is left out of consideration for the construction jobs, economic diversification, cleaner transport of synfuels, and area economic development that would accompany the development of synfuel plants in the heart of the nation's coal fields. It seems ironic that those of us who suffered so long to produce coal for the nation are now told that we cannot participate in a real seeing and touching level in the development of this industry which has been both a blessing and a curse to us."

"Despite the renewed interest in coal in the nation and the abundance of coal resources in East Kentucky, things are not going well here in East Kentucky. Every day we see more and more of our mines being closed and more and more of our coal miners out of work."

"In the past, East Kentucky furnished the raw materials that fueled the Industrial Revolution. Yet, while other parts of the nation and the world moved into a post-industrial society, we here in East Kentucky were left with the same industry, coal mining, and still have not fully participated in the gains our labors brought about for the rest of the nation. With the new national push for energy independence, we are hopeful that we will be allowed to fully participate in the development of our coal resources."

"According to my calculations, a large part of the federal funds committed to synfuel development is coming to Kentucky. This is logical, since Kentucky is the nation's largest coal producer, and also reflects your administration's success in selling the potential of Kentucky to federal authorities. I know of your deep and continuing interest in the development of East Kentucky and urge you to consider our area as the most logical site for a major push toward developing a synfuel industry for our nation."

EAST KENTUCKY 4-H VEGETABLE CONTEST

Floyd County 4-H club members scored high in the annual East Kentucky 4-H Vegetable contest held last week at the U.K. Agricultural Experiment Station at Quicksand.

Todd O'Brien was the senior overall champion scoring 1355 of the 1500 points possible. He is the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob O'Brien, of Stanville, and is a member of the Betsy Layne Teen Club. In winning the overall championship, Todd finished first in vegetable identification and insect control, second in disease control and third in seeds.

Michael Bentley, of Langley, was second in the senior division with a score of 1350 points. In addition to being second overall, Mike was second in vegetable identification and insect control.

Other senior judges were Tina Ritchie, seventh overall and second in seed identification; Johnene Reynolds, eighth overall and second in vegetable placing.

In the junior division, Floyd County 4-H members placed second, third and fourth.

Richard Maggard was second overall in the junior division with a score of 1275 points. He was the champion in vegetable identification, second in insect control, vegetable placing and seed identification.

Rondell Martin was third in the overall contest and was second in vegetable identification and third in insect control and seed identification.

Troy Sammons was third overall and was second in disease control and third in vegetable identification.

Other junior judges from Floyd county included Gary Hall, Pat Banks and Clyde Reed.

Senior Citizens Have Busy June-July

The months of June and July were busy ones for members of the Archer Senior Citizens Center.

Director Patsy Evans was honored by Archer seniors on her birthday, June 24 with a gift of money as well as numerous expressions of gratitude for her performance as center director. All center members who had birthdays in June and July were likewise honored, Friday, July 18 with a party which featured cake, ice cream and other refreshments.

With the center decorated in a western-cowboy motif, 80 persons enjoyed a western country breakfast on July 24. Eggs, gravy, biscuits and a number of other "country" dishes were enjoyed at the occasion.

One of the highlights of the summer season began July 13 as a busload of senior citizens from the Archer center and the E.P. Grigsby Center at Martin departed for the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. Five busy days were spent in the popular resort area before returning July 19.

Plans for August thus far are as follows: ballgame at Cincinnati the 6th; trip to Morehead Senior Citizens Center on the 7th, and five days at Myrtle Beach, S.C., Aug. 24-29.

In addition to special activities, senior citizens enjoy daily schedules of quilting, crocheting, other crafts and games as well as just socializing. In addition, a well-rounded dinner, furnished by Meals On Wheels, is served daily.

Sparks Recognized At Nat'l Meeting

John E. Sparks, extension agent for agriculture in this county, was twice honored for his work at the 65th annual meeting of the National Association of County Agriculture Agents in Oklahoma City, Okla., August 10 to 14.

As state winner in the Horticultural Professional Improvements Awards Program which is sponsored by O.M. Scott and Sons and the National Association of County Agriculture Agents, he was recognized at the Turf-grass Awards luncheon. At the Public Information Awards banquet, he was recognized as state winner for his Garden Newsletter, sponsored by Rhom and Haas Company and the Agriculture Agents Association.

24 Ky. Counties Fatality Free

State police report that 24 counties had had no fatal accidents as of July 25.

At the end of last year, only three counties could claim no deaths due to traffic accidents. These were Adair, Cumberland and Trimble.

"We'd like to think that this reflects the public's concern over traffic fatalities as much as it reflects our efforts to reduce the number of speeders," said Leonard Kimball, spokesman for the State Police 55-Please anti-speeding program.

"Some of these counties have shown a dramatic turn around," he added.

One of the 24 counties with no fatalities this year, Bell County had 11 fatal accidents last year. Five other counties had five or more fatal accidents last year.

Presently, the state's traffic fatality toll is 83 less than last year's toll for the same period. Property damage accidents have decreased by 13 percent and injury accidents have been running 11 percent behind the number occurring last year.

Under the federally funded 55-Please program, state police troopers have worked thousands of over-time hours enforcing traffic laws. The number of speeding citations issued has increased by 36 percent over last year.

Kimball said two-thirds of the over-time hours were worked on state and U.S. numbered two-laned roads where most fatalities occur.

The use of non-traditional vehicles, unmarked radar-equipped cars and trucks, continues to be one of the most effective tools of the program in areas of high accidents, he said.

"These will continue to be used at least throughout the summer where and when the post commanders feel they will do the greatest good," Kimball said.

State police began the 55-Please program to reduce the number of speeders in the state and to lower the traffic fatality toll. A state police study revealed more than a third of last year's fatal accidents were caused by speeding motorists.

The 24 counties presently reporting no traffic fatalities are Bell, Clinton, Cumberland, Estill, Fleming, Fulton, Gallatin, Henry, Knot, Larue, Lee, Lincoln, McLean, Martin, Menifee, Morgan, Nicholas, Owen, Owsley, Robertson, Scott, Trimble, Wayne and Wolfe.

Deanna Leslie Named Allen CF Chairman

Charles Thayer, president of the Kentucky-West Virginia Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, has named Deanna Leslie as chairman of the 1980 Cystic Fibrosis "Breath of Life" Campaign for Allen.

The annual campaign, designed to raise funds to support programs aimed at combating the disease and providing improved patient care, is also regarded as the major public education tool of the CF Foundation. Details of the Allen campaign, to be held this fall, will be announced soon by Leslie.

In addition, Thayer also announced that September 21-27 will be recognized across the country as "National Cystic Fibrosis Week." The purpose of the week, recently signed into law by President Carter, is to increase public awareness and understanding of Cystic Fibrosis.

Thayer commended, "By supporting Allen's 'Breath of Life' Campaign, local citizens will be buying time and hope for the many thousands of children and their families whose lives are affected by Cystic Fibrosis."

Two Floyd Parks Get Funding Aid

Six counties have received federal approval for funds totaling more than $260,000 for development of public parks and outdoor recreation areas.

Wilburn Pratt, commissioner for the state Department for Local Government, said the approved funds are part of a $4.5 million allocation to Kentucky by the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

In applying for the funds, local communities agree to supply half the project's cost with the remaining amount coming from the Federal Land and Water Conservation fund.

Among the approved projects are $15,000 grant for development of sports and playfields in the Wheelwright Neighborhood Park, $37,477 to be used for development of sports and playfields in Archer Park, Prestonsburg, and $61,260 for development of sports and playfields in Paintsville.

Barber Says Budget Losses To Cost Schools $18.5 Million

The state's estimated $114 million budget shortfall will greatly affect elementary, secondary and vocational education, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber.

Speaking last week at a meeting of educators attending the Kentucky Association of School Administrators' annual conference in Louisville, Barber said that new cutbacks will amount to about $18.5 million.

"It could have been worse," Barber explained. "Earlier estimates called for paring the $855 million education budget by 4.5 percent or $38 million."

According to Barber, negotiations with state finance officials resulted in halving the $38 million figure. He credited Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. for helping to achieving this.

"For the past several years, we have had ample money," Barber said. "But the nation is now in a recession and we must all learn to do with less."

According to Barber, Gov. Brown has promised to restore proposed cutbacks in the educational budget if the financial picture improves and money becomes available by the end of the current fiscal year.

Barber stressed that the state's minimum foundation program monies will not be affected greatly. Exceptions to this were higher "deducts" for students in vocational and special education. Cutbacks in these areas would amount to about $6 million.

Cuts in the total educational budget are $6 million in student fees; $2.6 million in power equalization money; $100,000 in school lunch matching money; $400,000 for out-of-district children; $50,000 for testing; $200,000 for public service training; $100,000 for GED; $1.08 million for vocational education facility upkeep; $1.24 million for School Building Authority debt service; $600,000 for vocational education teachers from 12 to 10 1/4 months; $80,000 for rehabilitation; and $50,000 for residential services of the blind and deaf.

On another topic, Barber praised the late Rev. Bob Brown, Lexington pastor and former member of the state Board for Elementary and Secondary Education, for his service to Kentucky education. Brown died recently while speaking at the KASA conference.

Commission Approves Auxier Road Gas Cut

The state Energy Regulatory Commission has approved rate decreases requested by Auxier Road Gas Co. due to a reduction in wholesale gas cost.

Auxier Road's supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky, has decreased the cost of gas by $5,831 on an annual basis. Under the lower rates, Auxier customers will pay $4.93 for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas per month and $4.18 per 1,000 over that amount. The old rates were $5 and $4.25, respectively.

The company serves almost 500 customers.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NOTES

JANET E. HICKS
Health Educator

Glaucoma is the second leading cause of blindness, affecting one out of every 50 Americans over age 50. Here in Kentucky there are more than 26,000 victims of this eye disease that damages nerves involved in the process of vision.

Blurred vision and headaches, frequent change of glasses, poor adjustment in the dark, halos around lights and loss of side vision are all signs which suggest glaucoma. Pressure and pain in the eye are key symptoms of the disease.

The best way to prevent needless blindness from glaucoma is to be screened for the disease. You may be screened for glaucoma at the Floyd County Health Department on the following dates: Wednesday, August 13, and Monday, August 18, from 10 to 12 and 1 to 3. If higher than normal blood pressure is found in your eyes, you will be referred to an eye physician who can give you further tests and diagnose the problem.

Monday, August 18, the regularly scheduled Bypro Outpost Clinic will be conducted at Ethel Osborne's Store in Bypro. A nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will be at this clinic offering immunizations, TB skin tests, urinalyses, and blood pressure from 10 to 12 and 1 to 2.

These clinics are free services, and the public is welcome to attend.

Asks No Delay For Syn-Fuels

Delaying the development of synthetic fuels in Kentucky is a risk this state and the nation cannot afford to take, Kentucky's Deputy Secretary of Energy David Drake told the Ashland Rotary club last week.

Drake noted every positive endeavor undertaken by man—from the discovery of fire to the invention of the automobile—has involved risks. Yet mankind has continued to pioneer with new and innovative technology to improve the quality of life.

Today, Drake said, the nation faces dire consequences because of our dependence on foreign oil. "Unless we can meet our energy needs at home," he said, "we risk economic ruin and the continued threat of involvement in armed conflicts abroad."

The answer to solving these critical problems, Drake said, lies in converting Kentucky's vast coal resources into environmentally acceptable sources of energy. To do this, he noted, "is a gigantic undertaking not without risks itself. There are certain to be problems and the state and industry are working to meet them."

But these risks are minimal, Drake stressed, when compared to the dangers of continuing the nation's reliance on foreign oil.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, employment in the professional and technical occupations is expected to increase by 2.6 million by 1990.

The Drug Situation

If the narcotic situation in this county is not to grow worse, law-enforcement work in addition to sporadic raids by the sheriff's department is needed.

The threat is obvious. Sellers of everything from marijuana to heroin are reported busy, with even grade school pupils their customers.

His efforts aren't enough, largely because of manpower limitations.

These dope-peddlers are a shadow group. Evidence against them comes hard. A buyer must be willing to testify in court.

Officers in plain clothes, undercover agents, are needed, and it appears that the Kentucky State Police is the hope of getting the matter down to cases.

The courts and all law-enforcement agencies of this county should insist on their help, and then commit themselves to seeing that people of this stripe are put out of circulation.

They could, of course, echo the argument heard from those who oppose control of drugs, including alcohol, by saying, "You can't legislate morals."

ments, trailers, whatever, for rent. In Prestonsburg housing within the last 10 years has increased about 30 per cent.

And yet the Census Bureau says its preliminary figures give the shocking news that the population of the place has dropped almost one per cent below the 1970 total.

One citizen remarked: "Looks like they could take the housing increase here of 30 per cent, use their own figures as to the number of persons per house, and by simple rationalization—"

"But when has the government ever been rational?"

TREASURE

A recent Times article on John Fox, Jr. drew from Mrs. Charlotte Martin, of Martin, a letter in which she reminisces, not about the good, old days, but about the good, old books that have brightened her hours.

She writes, in part, of the Fox article:

"What memories came flooding my mind!...I went to my favorite reading place, "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" in hand, and began to read. It's so good, so very good, to greet an old friend again..."

Then she mentions other old favorites, "Scottish Chiefs," by Porter, "John Halifax," by Mulock, and "Wildfire," by Zane Grey.

To Charlotte Martin and her kind a collection of books does not constitute a mere library. It's a treasure house.

$3,000," Brackett, who also is treasurer of the Board, said.

Supt. Grigsby said the deficit battle was won, despite an extra $100,000 cost of gasoline used in school buses and the cost of electricity which rose by $64,000. Meanwhile, 14 major roofing jobs were done at a cost of about $100,000, wages of cooks and custodians were raised from $2.55 to a $3 minimum per hour this year, and eight new school buses have been bought.

The school officials said the biggest saving during the fight with the budget deficit was made through the reduction of teaching units by $360,000 a year and a power equalization increase last year.

"One of our troubles is shared by most school districts," Grigsby pointed out. "We are required to maintain a given number of teaching units in order for a school to have accreditation but the state gives no assurance the money will be available for paying the bill."

Three programs in effect this year are new to the area. One of these is a multi-handicap unit for the benefit of school children who have more than one handicap. Training for such children formerly was a part of the day care program operated by Mountain Comprehensive Care.

Another program new to Eastern Kentucky will offer training in Floyd county schools for the deaf or those with partial hearing disability. An itinerant teacher will go to where the children are.

Another itinerant teacher will shuttle between Prestonsburg and the Clark Elementary School in an instructional program for talented and gifted children. This program, it was pointed out, requires 75 pupils per teacher.

A fourth innovation is an artist-in-the-schools program, which is partially financed by the Kentucky Arts Commission. Elementary pupils will be taught pottery.

CODY, a work experience program in effect last year for disadvantaged youths has been approved, with new pupils to be added and those involved in the program last year to continue training if they still qualify.

"These programs weren't ours, just for the asking," Mr. Brackett said. "We had to ring some doorbells."

Floyd Anglers Net Lunkers

No, Floyd county fishing frenzies, these lunkers weren't caught at Dewey Lake! But they were netted by Floyd fishermen Danny Lawson, of Drift and Audrey Caudill, of Prestonsburg on two recent Saturday nights at Bert Combs Lake on the Mountain Parkway near Campton. Kenneth Lawson, 10 (left), displays the six-pounder caught by his father, and Sean Caudill, 11, hefts the 10 1/2-pound bass netted by his grandfather. Both fish were large-mouths and were caught on spinnerbaits at night.

Louisville Urban Studies Center, he points out, projected a Floyd population this year of 44,199.

The importance to the county of the population count may be gauged by the fact that, of the $1.8 million city budget this year, $509,811 is in CETA funds and $168,000 in revenue sharing, both funds apportioned at least in part on a population basis.

The figures for Prestonsburg actually show a 7 percent drop in population over the 10-year period—down from 3422 in 1970 to 3399 this year. At the same time, housing units are said to have increased 29.5 percent—up from 1256 to 1627.

City Administrator David Evans said he estimated the actual city population to be at least 4000 and possibly as high as 4400. Of the city budget of $843,749, $123,000 is in revenue-sharing monies. Coal severance tax monies and Law Enforcement Assistance Administration disbursements are also dependent on population figures.

The most precipitous decline, in both population and housing, is recorded for the city of Allen, where the population within the corporation is said to have fallen by a staggering 64.4 percent, down from 724 to 258, and where housing units are said to have fallen by 54.6 percent, down from 260 to 118. The population is also said to have fallen by 31.6 percent in the Risner-Bull Creek census division, by 15 percent in Wheelwright, and by 2.4 percent in the McDowell area.

Substantial population increases are recorded at Wayland (up 45.1 percent), the Mud Creek section (28 percent), and the Mare Creek section (17 percent).

Jim Keene, field operations supervisor at the Ashland census bureau, told local officials here that the bureau would consider any objections to the census figures based on local sources data, such as residential utility connections and property tax records, but would not consider objections based solely on "a general feeling that a count appears to be too low or too high."

Account should also be taken of the fact that some housing units, listed as "unclassified," are still being checked out by census workers and could appreciably affect the final figures, Keene said. If Prestonsburg's 250 unclassified units turn out to be mostly households which did not return their census forms, for example, this fact could add some 600 or 700 to the city's final population figure.

Keene said that, nationwide, the return of census forms ran at over 80 percent, a figure raised to over 90 percent after follow-up by census workers. The census official said he felt confident that all households in Floyd county had been accounted for.

David Evans said, however, that he plans to conduct his own survey of Prestonsburg in the 10 days allowed by the census bureau. Evans said he felt certain the population of the Lancer-Goble Roberts section had been under-reported by the census.

In 1979, social workers with the Department for Human Resources investigated more than 2,200 reports of neglect and abuse of Kentucky's adults and elderly persons.

The average weekly wage in Kentucky's manufacturing industries was $279.75 during May, according to Department for Human Resources statistics. This figure was slightly higher than the national average.

the roof is thin and irregular, a section above the building's mechanical area is particularly weak, rainwater ponds on the roof surface, the underlying insulation is saturated, and water runs down a wall behind the electrical switch gear, Hoffman reported.

While about $8000 was paid out for repairs by Barco Inc., of Lexington, general contractors for the three-year-old building, under a one-year builder's warranty, the roofing design is not covered by warranty. Hoffman described the roof as "experimental, of a kind that is not made any more."

The court authorized County Attorney Arnold Turner Jr. to negotiate with the architects, Forrest G. McCloskey and Associates, of Lexington, and if necessary to sue the firm for defective design.

Pending resolution of the current legal challenge to the county cable television ordinance by cable operators Mike Little and Paul Butcher, the Wheelwright and Rutch Beaver sections presently served by Tel-Com Inc. may be opened up for bids by other cable operators, following a recommendation to the court by County Attorney Turner. Turner said that Tel-Com drew by far the greatest number of customer complaints among all county TV operators, and that the firm had repeatedly been requested to bring service up to standard, without appreciable result.

The court agreed to become a party to any condemnation suits necessary to secure right-of-way for the $1 million road designed to serve a public housing development and a proposed industrial park at Cliff. Properties belonging to Dr. Ballard Wright and Sam George are said to be possible targets of condemnation proceedings. Judge Wells said $300,000 invested in the project by the state Transportation Department could be forfeited if the rights of way are not soon secured.

In response to a request by Bill Arms for repairs to the Bear Hollow road at East Point, Judge Wells pleaded lack of money for road projects in the county. In a July 25 letter, Finance Secretary George L. Atkins had revised the county's share of gas tax receipts down from $401,000 to $346,000, Wells explained.

Coal trucks seeking to avoid weight-stations set up by state police highway patrols on U.S. 23 are damaging old KY 114 in West Prestonsburg, according to local residents, who asked the court to impose a 10-ton weight limit on that road. The court agreed to the recommendation, unless an arrangement can be worked out with offending coal operators to maintain the road.

Combs To Head Road Program

Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. has named Murray "Buddy" Combs director of the recently formed Division of County and Municipal Accounting for the Department of Finance.

Combs is a former deputy highways commissioner. His first responsibility will be implementation of a new road aid program, according to Secretary of Finance George Atkins.

Atkins said the program, scheduled to begin August 10, will return road money directly to local governments, who will then direct their own construction and maintenance programs through county fiscal courts and city councils. Formerly, the Department of Transportation has administered and overseen county and city road work. Inception of the new program will mean the state will no longer retain 10 percent of the local money for administrative and emergency purposes, he said.

House Bill 973, which became effective July 1, raised the percentage of total motor fuels tax allocated to the county road aid program from 10 percent to 15.6 percent. The percentage of the motor fuels tax allotted to the municipal road aid program was also increased, from 5.5 percent to 6.7 percent.

"Initiation of this program represents Gov. Brown's commitment to assist local government in solving its problems. It is his belief that the government closest to the people is the best government. We are pleased to have a person of Buddy Combs' experience in this key position," Atkins said.

Combs emphasized the program is new to both local government and the Department of Finance and said he hoped his division will be helpful to local officials in making the transition as smooth as possible.

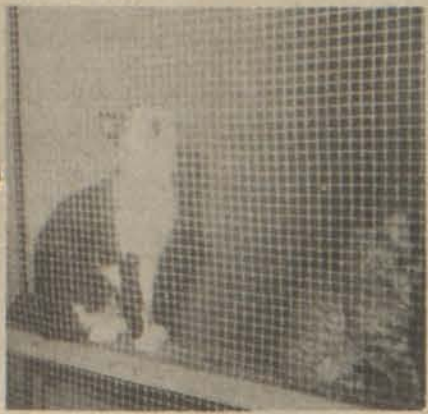

Combs, a Clay county native, is married to the former Carolyn Clontz, of Harlan county. They have three children.

Thieves Get $2400, Safe Of Martin Gas Station

Thieves made away with a reported $2400 in cash Monday night by the simple expedient of sawing off the metal pipes which moored the safe of the Solo Service Station to its concrete base and carrying the safe away.

State Detective Danny Stumbo said it was the second break into the service station within two weeks. One hundred cartons of cigarettes was the haul in the earlier break.

Completes Training

Pvt. Clyde C. Isaacs, son of Mrs. Allene J. Isaacs, Star Route 5, Prestonsburg, recently completed One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training. The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect fire crewman.

Drouth Help Possible To Farmers From ASCS

All Kentucky farmers who are participating in the 1980 Feed Grain and Wheat Programs and suffer as much as a 40 percent loss in their corn production are eligible for low yield payments under the disaster provisions of the Feed Grain Program. Cattle producers and dairymen who have suffered a substantial loss (40% below normal) in the livestock feed they normally produce could be eligible for assistance under the Emergency Feed Program.

Producers who think they might qualify under either or both of the two programs mentioned above should contact their local county ASCS office immediately.

Production will have to be determined by an ASCS crop appraiser before the crop is destroyed (by chopping for silage, turning the hogs or cattle in, and/or plowing under for fall planting) in order for the farm to be eligible for program benefits.

OSM Action Closes Wildcat Mines

A special Federal enforcement action against wildcat stripmine operations in Southeastern Kentucky has resulted in orders closing 8 mines and citations for a total of 36 violations of the Federal Surface Mining Act.

Six inspectors of the Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining (OSM), accompanied by two U.S. marshals, inspected the operations in Whitley, Clay, Owsley and Rockcastle counties late last week.

Marshals accompanied the inspectors as a precautionary measure because of expressions of hostility in the area and refusal to allow OSM inspectors onto some of the sites in the past, said David C. Short, OSM's Region II Director in Knoxville, Tennessee.

"Experience has shown that wildcaters, or someone who mines coal without first getting a state permit, usually cause significant environmental harm and do little or no reclamation work afterward," Short said.

"A permit actually is a mine plan which sets out how an operator is going to proceed while minimizing environmental damage," he added.

"Thus, we must insist that all operators obtain a permit, or mine-plan, before any earth is disturbed."

Cited by OSM inspectors last week were: Carnahan Coal Company, Manchester, for an operation in Clay county; Carnahan Coal and Shasta Coal Company, in Owsley county; Paul Bray, Manchester, in Clay county; Leroy Malicote, near Mt. Vernon, for an operation in Rockcastle county.

George Head, Williamsburg, Clarence Moore, Duff, Tenn., and Laverne Clayburne, Jacksboro, Tenn., were cited for an operation in Whitley county, and Arlie Lawson, of Williamsburg, and Charles Partin, of Ohio, for another operation in Whitley county.

Two underground mines in Whitley county also were cited. One was operated by Kenneth Crawford, Sidney Hill and Robert Baker, all of Woodbine, and Burchell Day, of Manchester. Operating the other were Charles Nantz, Jr., and Marty Nantz, both of Woodbine.

Pike's 'Tarp Law' Remains in Effect

(News-Express, Pikeville)

The "tarp law" is still in effect and enforceable in Pike county according to Assistant County Attorney Nelson Sparks.

A letter to the editor from Harry Hunt in the May 14 issue of the News-Express left some readers with the impression that the ordinance requiring coal trucks to be covered when hauling coal on all public roads was no longer valid.

Hunt referred to a similar law passed by the 1980 General Assembly which requires coal trucks to be covered only on "fully controlled" and "limited access" highways.

Hunt asked the people who live on two lane roads to thank their legislators, State Senator John Doug Hays and State Representative Herbie Deskins, for their cooperation in getting the bill passed. "Anyone who knows anything about the law knows that the county ordinance is still in effect," said Rep. Deskins when contacted about the new law.

The state law is not as strong as the county law, but that does not make the county ordinance less powerful. The county ordinance was tried in circuit court and resulted in a ruling in favor of the commonwealth upholding the ordinance. The case was appealed but no further action has been taken at this time.

Therefore, the county ordinance requiring coal trucks to be covered is still in effect, regardless of any less stringent law passed by the state.

Receives Degree

Novania Akers received her Associate of Science Degree from the College of Allied Health & Nursing, Eastern Kentucky University, May 10 of this year. Miss Akers is the daughter of Mrs. Evelean Akers, Allen, Kentucky. She is currently employed in the Medical Records department of Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin.

Next Year's Accreditation Plan To Help, State Supt. Barber Says

New school accreditation procedures, targeted to begin with the 1981-'82 school year, could change the face of Kentucky education, according to state Superintendent of Public Instruction Raymond Barber.

The new producers include a multi-faceted survey of school districts every three years, a system of self-evaluation for local school districts and accreditation by district rather than by individual school.

"We believe these procedures will improve the accreditation process significantly," Barber said.

The new procedures must be approved by the state Board of Education before they are implemented.

In the past, departmental surveys have been undertaken by various agencies according to their own time schedules. A special education survey is done every three years, vocational evaluation surveys every year and facility surveys every five years. A pupil transportation survey is done periodically.

Under the new system, a team will complete all surveys at the same time and will not do another for three years unless the district requests it.

"This should benefit both the districts and the department," Barber said. "The districts will have to prepare for only one survey team, and the department will have an overall view of a districts needs and development."

The accreditation process will begin with a self-evaluation by each local school district. A system for the self-evaluation is being developed now, Barber said. Each district will be required to send an evaluation to the Department of Education for review.

Barber pointed out that as a result of this review, the survey team will be able to do a great deal of work before actually visiting the district.

Barber said when the team begins work, it will look for quality as well as quantity in educational programs. He indicated a format for judging quality is currently being developed. Criteria cited as possible guidelines for judging quality are progress made in achievement test results; progress made by slow learners; number of remedial or enrichment programs in a district; number of dropouts; and number of unemployed graduates. The number of graduates attending college and college dropout rate for each district could also be used in the format.

The team will also accredit by district rather than by school. Under the current system, it is possible to have elementary schools with a basic or even emergency (lowest) rating and at the same time have a high school in the same district with a comprehensive (highest) rating.

"Under the new system, the district's offerings will be more unified," Barber said. "There will be a more even emphasis throughout all grades and in all schools."

"Overall, the accreditation procedures should make a grave difference to education because they will allow the local districts to see themselves as a whole and direct attention to specific things which need improvement," Barber explained. "They will provide the information which will enable the local districts to do an even better job than they are now."

LCH Lab Is Granted Interstate License

Louisa Community Hospital has received approval for licensure under the Medical Laboratory Improvement Act, granting the hospital licensure for interstate commerce business. This license will enable the hospital to process laboratory tests from other states which has been a problem in the past, according to Administrator Elmer Crozier.

The laboratory is in compliance with licensure requirements, and no deficiencies were noted on the survey held recently on the hospital's laboratory.

Enlists in USAF

Creed L. Acree, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Creed L. Acree, of Eastern, enlisted in the United States Air Force, July 30, according to TSgt. Jim Brooks, Air Force Recruiter in Ashland. A graduate of Allen Central High School, Acree is scheduled to report for active duty October 10.

Upon graduation from the Air force's six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he will receive technical training in the mechanical career field, which is the career field of his choice. He will be earning credit toward an Associate Degree through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force training schools.

Coal Institute Plans Safety Day

The Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute is planning its 41st Annual Safety Day to be held at Archer Park, September 12 and 13.

The Institute membership is composed of the managerial and safety department personnel of the coal mining companies in the Sandy Valley area. The main objective of the Institute is to promote safety and to keep the members informed of anything new and vital to safer mining. The Institute also awards scholarships to students in the mining tech programs at Pikeville College.

The Safety Day features a contest of first aid and mine rescue teams from various mines. Winners will represent the Institute at the state and national contests.

Child's Death Ruling Voided

A three-judge Kentucky Court of Appeals panel last Friday set aside the second-degree manslaughter convictions of Clinard Adkins and Georgia Adkins in Pike circuit court in connection with the death of their child in a house trailer fire March 3, 1978.

The couple, accompanied by the wife's four children from a previous marriage had visited two persons in the mobile home. Then when the children were asleep, they had left and the fire occurred.

Two older children and a baby were safe at a neighbor's home, but two-year old Roy Allen Mitchell perished.

State police determined the fire started when one of the children accidentally ignited a diaper while playing with matches, and a Pike county grand jury indicted the Adkins couple. Each was sentenced to eight years in prison.

The Court of Appeals said the prosecution "failed to prove causation" in the case, and it took issue also with the indictment's saying that the Adkins couple "wantonly" caused the child's death in leaving him unattended at a "substantial" risk.

In other action, the court voided the election of a Jefferson county commissioner because he had publicly stated that he intended to cut his salary by $3,000 if elected.

A three-member panel noted that Carl W. Brown had retracted the statement, but said it was no defense against violation of Kentucky's Corrupt Practices Act.

The decision set aside a Jefferson circuit court ruling and was a victory for Earl J. Hartlage, the opponent of Brown.

Brown offered to serve in the post, if elected for a salary of $17,000, which is $3,000 less than the salary set for the commissioners by the fiscal court.

An average of nearly 135,000 patients were treated each day in Veterans Administration medical centers in 1979.

P-burg High Principal Quits, Wells Named As Successor

Bobby Wells of Auxier, former assistant principal at the school, was named Prestonsburg High School principal Tuesday afternoon, Supt. Grigsby announced. Mr. Wells formerly taught mathematics and was a math consultant at the school.

With the opening of schools a week away, perhaps the knottiest personnel problem encountered by the Floyd County Board of Education at its meeting last Wednesday came in the announcement that John Wayne Shepherd had resigned as principal of Prestonsburg High School.

Mr. Shepherd, who had been vocational education instructor at the school several years, became principal last year. His resignation followed his decision to enter private business, it was said.

The school will open today (Wednesday), as scheduled, but the resignation resulted in an intensive search for a successor. Supt. Pete Grigsby, Jr. said Monday that he had "several people in mind" for the position, but declined to mention names. He expected to announce the hiring of a new principal by Tuesday afternoon.

The Board of Education set Sept. 3 as the date for opening of new bids on construction of the Betsy Layne High School at Mare Creek. Earlier bids were rejected.

Negotiations are under way for the purchase of a site for a new building for the Prestonsburg Elementary School, it was announced.

The board adopted a policy relating to the Pledge of Allegiance, stipulating that every pupil shall have the opportunity, each day of the school term, to participate in the pledge but that their participation shall be on a voluntary basis. Also adopted was a search-and-seizure policy relating to pupils bringing onto school property objectionable objects or materials.

Twenty-five teachers were employed at the session. They are:

Johnny Martin, teacher and basketball coach at Allen Central High School, to replace Howard Wallen who resigned; Stanton Watson, to replace Johnny Martin at Wayland Elementary; Connie C. Lafferty, at Clark Elementary; Ina Rothberg, for exceptional children; Pamela Precht, multi-handicapped teacher at Dwale; Robert Harmon, science and chemistry teacher at Prestonsburg High School, to replace Melissa Elliott who resigned; Lisa Scutchfield, learning disability (LD) teacher at Prestonsburg Elementary; Mack Martin, LD teacher at Wayland Elementary; Roberta Fugate, LD teacher at Garrett Elementary; Scott Slone, LD teacher at McDowell Elementary; Tony Keathley, LD teacher and coach at Clark Elementary; Diana Lynn Compton, LD teacher Allen Central High School; Diana Hunsucker, gifted and talented teacher at Prestonsburg and Clark Elementary; Edna Jane Spurlock, at Prestonsburg Elementary; Linda Salisbury, at Maytown Elementary; Tim Salisbury, CODY instructor at Prestonsburg High School; Nell Lawson, at Clark Elementary; Jerry Fultz, teacher at McDowell Elementary and assistant basketball coach and baseball coach at McDowell High School; Dennis King, at McDowell Elementary; Constance Hall, at Melvin Elementary; Susan Barnett, to replace Sandra Woods at Allen; Charles Lovely, football coach and P.A. teacher at Betsy Layne High; Betty Schuester, at Auxier; Tommy Gibson, at Osborne Elementary. Karen Pack was transferred as a teacher from Maytown to McDowell Elementary, and Larry Jervis was transferred to Title VI as psychometrist for the special education or exceptional children program.

Others employed: Glenda Newsome, Headstart driver at Stumbo School; Substitute Cooks—Betty Frasure, at Allen Central High; Linda Slone, at Wayland Elementary; Patricia C. Tackett, for Florence Crawford, on leave of absence at Melvin School; Hazel Robinson, at Martin Elementary; Caroyl Allen, at Allen Central High School.

Regular bus drivers—Tom Meade, Nason Shepherd.

Central office personnel—Doris Stumbo, assistant bookkeeper in Payroll Department; Dottie Hastings and Janice Damron, head co-bookkeepers in Payroll Department.

Brenda Tackett, clerk at McDowell High School; Donnie Prater, mechanic in Transportation Department; Green Slone, Maintenance Department.

Certified Substitute Teachers Prestonsburg—Mary Bennett, Alleen Fitch, Kathryn Frazier, Carlos Haywood, Myrtle Hunt, Hazel T. Lafferty, Janice Allen Prater, Christine Patton, Ballard Slone, Ruth Worland, Lucy Regan.

Martin and Allen—Sherill Frazier, Judy Looney, Danese F. Amburgey, Everette E. Patton.

Garrett and Wayland—Illa Branham, Leota Weaver, King P. Fultz.

Betsy Layne and Harold—Margaret Compton, Eulavene Conn, Gladys Conn, Regina L. Daniel, Jerry Deskins, Verbal H. Meek, Harold Newsome, Pauletta Smith, O.E. Stanley.

McDowell and Wheelwright—Ruby Akers, Charles F. Curry, Edith Hopkins, Hattie Reedy, Ruth Smith.

Resignations accepted: Sandra Eilene Woods, teacher at Allen Elementary; Melissa J. Elliott, at Prestonsburg High School; Howard W. Wallen, Jr., P.E. teacher and head basketball coach at Allen Central; Deborah Wallen, learning disability teacher at Garrett Elementary; John W. Shepherd, principal at Prestonsburg High; Gene Prater, teacher and coach at Clark; Shirley M. Dingus, clerk in Food Service Department; Wanda Hamilton, head bookkeeper in Central Office.

Leaves of absence were granted to Deborah G. Stumbo and Donna Gray, teachers; to Florence Crawford, cook at Melvin, and Faye Dingus, cook at Martin.

Guests were Jay Thompson, Katie Slone, Brett Lee Mann, John Burchett, Sabrina Hall, Stewart Robertson, Malissa Dillon, Wess Compton, Jason Compton, Zach Wells, and Jesse Robertson.

She is the granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charlie Rowe, and of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Owens, of Prestonsburg.

Suspends Some Rules Pending New Rulemaking

The Office of Surface Mining has suspended the sections of its permanent regulatory program rules that were remanded by a recent district court decision. New rules, complying with the decision, are expected to be published soon.

Making the announcement in the August 4 Federal Register, Joan M. Davenport, assistant secretary of the Interior for Energy and Minerals said, "This action is not expected to delay the state program approval process. The Secretary will make his decision to approve or disapprove a state program submission on the basis of regulations which have not been suspended. Notice of the state program provisions which cannot be approved by the Secretary will be published in the Federal Register for each state and the public will be given at least 10 days to comment before the Secretary makes his decision on the state submission."

Davenport also said that after new regulations to replace the suspended rules have been published, the states will have the opportunity to amend their programs.

More than one-third of the physicians who graduate from medical schools in this country each year receive some of their training in Veterans Administration medical centers.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE Pursuant to Application Number 236-5024

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: P & M Coal Company, Grethel, Ky. 41631 intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 4.48 acres located southeast of Price in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 2.5 miles east of State Route 122's junction with State Route 979 and located north of Clear Creek, latitude 37d 23' 04", longitude 82d 41' 40". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by Curt Tackett. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: deep mine entries. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. The written objection must have attached a copy of the newspaper clipping, and reference the above application number. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Court Annuls Charity Bingo

The attorney general's office has thrown cold water on churches and charitable organizations that were banking on bingo games to raise money under a new law that took effect last month.

In two opinions last week the attorney general's office held that an attempt by the 1980 legislature to legalize charitable bingo and lotteries is unconstitutional.

However, Assistant Attorney General Elizabeth Blackford held that some games of chance, including poker and rook games, could legally be held under the 1980 law.

She said that the only way for the legislature to legalize bingo and other forms of lotteries would be through an amendment to the state constitution.

A House floor amendment approved by the 1980 Legislature provided that "charitable gaming"—specifically including bingo—conducted by religious or charitable organizations to raise funds would not be subject to state gambling laws.

Though the law went into effect July 15, Ms. Blackford told Covington attorney Martin Mitchell, who requested the opinion, that the law was unconstitutional from the beginning.

Special Services Are Held at Drift

Special services were held Sunday at the Drift Presbyterian Church to mark the dedication of new hymnbooks for the congregation. Out-of-town guests present for the service included Mrs. Marianna Kelly and sons, Mike and John, of Rocky River, Ohio; Mrs. Phyllis Lowry, of Hillsdale, Michigan; Mrs. Margaret Bell, of Louisville; Mrs. Ann Jones, and son Andrew, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Jeff Fairchild, of Gaithersburg, Maryland, who is spending the summer in McDowell with his father, Dr. J.P. Fairchild, and Amy Guion, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stickler.
Mrs. Jones was guest organist for the service, which included the singing of several favorite hymn selections. Following worship, the congregation and guests enjoyed a fellowship hour hosted by Mrs. Shelby Reed.

GARRETT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Conley, Jr., of Toledo, O., Mr. and Mrs. Millard Conley and family, of Albion, Mich.; Mrs. Lessley Scott, of Wayne, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Martin and family, of Homer, Mich., recently visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Conley, who have been ill for the past few months. Also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Conley were Mr. and Mrs. James Jacobs and son, of Waycross, Ga., and Ruther Turner, of Tennessee.
Mrs. Kate Conley, who recently suffered a broken wrist in an accident, is now recovering nicely.
Pearl Conley has been found to be suffering a serious illness.

Recent Opinions as Given By Atty. General's Office

An agent using his own car to return fugitives to Kentucky is entitled to 23 cents per mile and reimbursement for any other necessary expenses he incurs in reclaiming and returning the fugitive, according to a recent attorney general's opinion.
The opinion further states that reimbursement for meals and lodgings is restricted to the guidelines allowed by the Department of Finance for state employees, other than constitutional officers, traveling both within and outside Kentucky.
Requested by William D. Stephens of the Department of Finance, the opinion also states that should a second agent travel to help return a fugitive, he is not entitled to the mileage allowance.
The opinion was written by Charles Runyan, assistant deputy attorney general.

Rowan—A county attorney may file an injunction to prevent road construction approved by a fiscal court, if a circuit court deems the road is private in nature and the public will not benefit from it, according to an opinion written by Assistant Deputy Attorney General, Charles W. Runyan.
Writing in response to Rowan County Attorney John R. Cox, Runyan said the county attorney is the legal representative of the county and it is his duty to see that county funds are not "wrongfully appropriated."
Leslie—Magisterial districts may be redistricted, but voting precinct boundaries may not, according to a recent opinion by Assistant Deputy Attorney General Walter C. Herdman.
Herdman said House Bill 27 disallowed changing voting precincts until the end of the 1982 regular session of the General Assembly or unless redistricting is passed at an intervening special session.

Writing in response to a question from Earl Fields, Leslie County court clerk, Herdman said magisterial districts could be changed anytime as long as it is not within 120 days prior to any primary election for justice of the peace. The county judge-executive would publish notice of the reapportionment and appoint commissioners to carry it out.

In another question from Fields, Herdman said voting precincts no longer must be reapportioned if the number of registered voters exceeded 700, but should be reapportioned if more than 700 votes were cast in the last elections.

No person may use the word "wholesale" or "wholesaler" in his advertisements even if the words are part of the trade name or corporate name unless he is, in fact, engaged in sales in quantity or bulk for resale on a retail market, according to a recently released attorney general's opinion.

The opinion, written by Richard L. Masters, assistant attorney general, also stated if a person is operating in wholesaling as well as retail sales to individual consumers, his advertisements must clearly indicate the selling price is a retail price to the individual customers, according to Kentucky law.

IN APPRECIATION
The family of Evan Barnett wishes to express its sincere gratitude for the many kindnesses of friends, neighbors and relatives during our bereavement. We especially thank all those who sent flowers, food or assisted in any way. We also extend our thanks to Elder Bill Campbell and Lenville Campbell for their consoling words and to the Katy Friend church and singers. And our thanks to the Floyd Funeral Home for its efficient service. These kindnesses will long be remembered by us.

SECOND FLOOD SWEEPS CLEAR CREEK SECTION

Cloudburst Saturday Causes Loss of Thousands of Dollars.

MINES DAMAGED

A cloudburst striking the headwaters of Left Beaver Creek, this county, Saturday afternoon, swept Clear Creek with a wall of water which reached a greater height even than the flood which hit the entire Beaver Valley several weeks ago. Damage will reach several thousands of dollars, it is estimated.

Three bridges on Clear Creek were washed out and a great portion of the new fills made on the railroad following the recent flood. Train service was suspended from Saturday afternoon till Tuesday night as the result of the destruction wrought to bridges and the railway line.

Reports from the valley above Clear Creek are lacking. It is said that one bridge was washed away at Jack's Creek, that Burton was hard hit by the storm, and that crops were badly damaged all along Left Beaver. Heavy wind and hail is reported in sections, a few houses being unroofed and fruit trees blown down on Clear Creek.

The Blue Beaver Elkhorn Fuel Company on that creek probably suffered the greatest damage sustained by coal companies, its loss being estimated at $2,500. One end of the trestle at the old mine belonging to that company was torn out, a long-room dwelling broken in twain and all its contents destroyed and a number of families being driven from their homes by the water. J. P. Salisbury, who returned Thursday from a trip to his company's mines there, said that he was obliged to walk into Clear Creek atop. He said that the mines' losses were min-

MRS. CHAFFIN DIES FRIDAY

Deceased Was Bride of Month; Funeral Conducted Sunday

Mrs. J. F. Chaffin, 33 years old, widely known and well-loved Prestonsburg woman, died Friday night of last week at the Paintsville Hospital after an illness of about three weeks. Death was caused by kidney trouble, physicians said.

Mrs. Chaffin, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hale, of this place, had been married only a month previous to her death. She was taken to the hospital in Paintsville Friday morning by her husband, her brother, Sam Hale, and Mrs. Hale, and died that night.

She was formerly operator in the local exchange for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, and had many friends here. Mrs. Chaffin was a woman of fine character, being a member of the Baptist Church of this place, and prominently associated with the Rebekahs and the Order of Eastern Star.

She was first married to Frank Hager, who died about two years ago. To this union four children were born: Minnie, Ethel, Harry and Everett Hager, who are now in the Masonic Home at Louisville; and James E. Hager, who is now at the home of his grandparents. Mrs. Chaffin is also survived by her parents, two sisters, Mrs. Alice Crabtree, of this place, and Mrs. Mary Clark, of Alvin; and a brother, Sam Hale, of Prestonsburg.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist Church here Sunday afternoon, with Rev. Ben Craft and Rev. C. H. Nicholls in charge, assisted by Revs. John Barbour and G. W. Rose and Leonard Bowling. The esteem in which the deceased was held here was attested to by the numerous floral offerings and the great number of friends who attended the funeral. The Order of Eastern Star and the Rebekahs participated in the funeral service.

Burial was made in the Gearheart cemetery beside the grave of Mr. Chaffin's first husband.

MIDNIGHT RITES

Exorcisms Made at "Witching Hour" in Waters of "Sweet Beaver"

Glo. Ky., July 6 (Spl.)—Voices lifted in song here a few nights ago aroused at midnight a number of citizens from their slumbers and plunged them into wild conjecturing. Some ventured the guess that it was a group of youngsters returning from a "hay ride," others that serenaders had chosen the "witching hour" as the time for harmonizing. Many surmises were made, but none correctly.

Upon investigation, it was found that two excellent young men of this place, recent converts, had demanded baptism at midnight and that the obliging minister had risen from bed to administer the rites.

AUXIER BOY, HIT BY BALL, KILLED

Jack Daniel, 9 Years Old, Dies Thursday, Struck Over Heart

Jack Daniel, nine years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Daniel, was killed Thursday afternoon at Auxier, this county, when struck over the heart by a baseball fouled from the bat of a player at batting practice on the Auxier diamond.

The boy had scarcely arrived at the ball park when he was struck. He died within a short time.

The body was prepared for burial and shipped to Frostburg, Md., for interment in the family cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel moved from McRoberts to Auxier only a short time ago. Mr. Daniel was mine superintendent for the North-East Coal Company.

Besides his parents, the youthful victim is survived by several brothers and sisters.

KIWANIS FROLIC FRIDAY EVENING

Wald Cross clamoring for all to join in making the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club a nucleus for an International Congress to promote peace and goodwill between all nations; the Rev. F. R. McAllister endorsing the move as well worthy of his author; and John Caudill in impassioned philippic denouncing the idea and threatening to sever his connection with the club if Wald Cross' wild schemes were approved—all this took place at Friday evening's meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Elizabeth.

But it was Frolic Night, and such diplomatic wrangles were in order. Though announcing he had asked two speakers, Messrs. McAllister and Caudill, to debate the subject, Wald vehemently asserted his belief in the move, maintaining that propaganda he had trouble with that word "propaganda"—should be spread in its behalf. Reverend McAllister assured everybody that he thought it a brilliant plan, but Mr. Caudill dissented, saying that he had favored such an organization until the other two gentlemen began to support it.

The meeting was opened by a piano solo by Dr. John Barbour, with Rev. W. M. Dingus giving the invocation. The club sang "America," then "In the Gloaming" and "Sweet and Low," with Julian Harlowe accompanying at the piano.

W. M. Hale of Kernit, W. Va. was introduced by Wald Cross, who was in charge of the program, and Mr. Hale favored with two vocal solos to his own accompaniment on the piano. Dr. J. F. McAllister sang "Marching to the Light of His Banner," with Julian Harlowe at the piano. Their contribution to the evening's entertainment was to loudly applauded that they were required to give an encore.

At the close of the McAllister-Caudill debate, J. C. B. Auxier was asked to enter the forum and express his views as to the Cross Bill—which he did in a few well-chosen words to the effect that enough already had been

D. C. MAY DIES AT MAYTOWN

Death Marks Passing of One of County's Best-Known Men

D. C. May, one of the most prominent and best-known citizens of this county, died at the home of Mrs. Susan May at Langley, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. May was about 60 years old. He was the son of the late John and Mrs. Dorcas May, pioneer residents of Floyd county. For the greater part of his life he was engaged in farming at Maytown, and was known as one of the county's most progressive farmers. A few years ago he moved to Cincinnati with his family, and resided there until about six weeks ago, when he returned to Maytown, where he was born and reared.

Mr. May was a citizen of great worth to his community, and was a devout member of the Christian Church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kate Martin May, a daughter of the late Joe Martin, of this county; four daughters, Mrs. Osborn, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Earl Allen, of Garrett, Misses Doris and Myrtle May, at home; and four sons, Kendall, Millard, Thomas and John May, all of Cincinnati. Two brothers and a sister also survive: A. J. May, of this place, B. L. C. May, of Alphoretta, and Mrs. Emily Ratliff, also of Alphoretta.

Children of the deceased who reside in Cincinnati were notified Wednesday of their father's death, but received the message too late to attend the funeral and burial, which took place Thursday afternoon in the family burial ground at Maytown.

James A. Minix Hurt In Automobile Crash

Ward was received here this week of the serious injury of James A. Minix, 64 years old, formerly a prominent farmer of Middle Creek in an automobile accident here a few days ago at McGuffey, Ohio.

Mr. Minix and a party of friends were driving from McGuffey to Ada, Ohio, when their auto left the road and crashed into a telephone pole. He suffered three broken ribs and probably internal injuries. He has been living at McGuffey for about a year.

Missionary Society In Meeting Tuesday

The Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, held its regular meeting in the church parlor Tuesday, the president, Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, presiding over the meeting. The Bible lesson from "Missionary Voice" was read by Mrs. B. W. Penick.

The program, in charge of Mrs. E. A. Stumbo, was very interesting. Several papers were read.

It was decided at this meeting that a dinner would be served at the church Thursday, July 14.

Those present were: Mesdames H. D. Fitzpatrick, J. D. Bell, E. A. Stumbo, M. J. Leete, B. F. Combs, Josie D. Harkins, E. R. Brunk, Alex Spradlin, Elizabeth Wells, and B. W. Penick. The next meeting of the Society will be held with Mrs. M. D. Powers, the program in charge of Mrs. Josie D. Harkins.

PRESTONSBURG MAN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Mont Collins was struck by lightning Saturday afternoon in the yard of his home on Friend street and knocked unconscious for a time. Mr. Collins was attempting to drive some chickens to shelter from the storm when the lightning struck a tree nearby, ran onto a wire clothes line, thence onto the umbrella which he carried over him. He suffered no serious injuries from the shock.

OFFICIALS CONFER

James P. Salisbury received a telegram Thursday afternoon from C. J. Neekamp, president of the coal operators' association in this section, requesting his attendance Friday at White Sulphur Springs at a conference between coal operators and railway officials as to the coal freight rate situation.

SMITH WARD IS BULLET VICTIM

C. & O. Brakeman Fatally Wounded at Emma By McCoy

Smith Ward, 33 years old, brakeman on the C. and O. local freight train, was shot and fatally wounded Sunday night at Emma by a man reported to be John McCoy, of Johns Creek. Ward was picked up at Emma and taken aboard a coal train to a Paintsville hospital, where he died Monday night from the effects of a bullet wound in the neck.

Versions of the killing received here differ. According to a citizen of the Emma neighborhood, McCoy shot Ward after the latter had insulted McCoy's wife. According to a report given the daily press, McCoy was intoxicated when met by Ward and another man whose name has not been learned. McCoy snatched a gun from the hand of the unidentified man, the story goes, and attempted to shoot him. The man, it is said, begged for his life, and McCoy turned upon Ward.

Ward was shot in the hollow of the neck, the bullet ranging downward and lodging in the back.

No warrant has been issued for McCoy's apprehension, it was said at the sheriff's office here Wednesday. Beyond a lookout kept by officers near here following a report that he was headed toward Prestonsburg, no search has been made for him.

Ward was married, and is survived by his widow and several children. He resided in Paintsville.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Honored At Dinner

In honor of Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Howard of Huntington, W. Va., who are guests of Mrs. Howard's mother, Mrs. Josie D. Harkins, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Spradlin entertained at dinner Monday evening, July 4th. Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Howard, Walter Davidson, Howard, Walter S. Harkins, Jr., Mrs. Josie D. Harkins, Mrs. John Hensley, of Henderson, Texas, and James Kirkland of Louisville, Ky.

"AUTO" QUIT NOW

Death Car Passes, Taking Lives of Three With It

The world's unluckiest automobile took the lives of its last victims when the motor car in which Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife were shot at Sarajevo in 1914, plunged from a cliff near Sazedim, Hungary, killing three passengers.

The crash ended the career of the fateful machine, that had passed through the hands of 15 owners since the day the Archduke's death started the World War.

According to garage keepers, every owner of the "hoodooed" car was killed or injured seriously.

AGED MINISTER DIES THURSDAY

Rev. John W. Taylor, 87, Passes After Half-Century Service

Rev. John W. Taylor, 87 years old, veteran mountain minister of the Methodist Church, died at his home on Toler Creek, this county, Thursday, June 30, as the result of the infirmities of age.

The Reverend Taylor was one of the best-known ministers in this county. For more than half a century he had been the pastor of many churches in this section. He had been ill about three months when death came.

Surviving him are his widow, now in her 79th year; and three daughters: Mrs. Martha Conn and Mrs. D. H. Hatcher, both of Osborn; and Mrs. Harvey Taylor, of Kenova, W. Va.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday by the Rev. F. E. Jenkins, of the M. E. Church, South, Pikeville, and the Rev. Hughes, of the Baptist Church. Burial was made in the Taylor burial ground.

SUSAN BRADLEY FREED IN CASE

Susan Bradley, of this county, who was convicted in the Pike circuit court on a charge of killing her own child and given a penitentiary sentence of two years, was freed of the sentence and the charge of manslaughter by order of the Pike circuit court Wednesday, June 23. Probability of re-indictment is said to rest with the court at its next session.

The manslaughter charge followed the finding in a Pikeville hotel more than two years ago of a new-born baby's body secreted in a box. Dr. G. H. Hughes was given trial as the physician attending Miss Bradley, and was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary on a manslaughter charge. The woman admitted that the child was hers, but denied causing its death.

Reversing the verdict of the Pike circuit court in its conviction of Miss Bradley, the Court of Appeals held that she had no part in the killing of the infant. The case will be referred to the next sitting of the grand jury at Pikeville, when Miss Bradley may face a charge of secreting, or having knowledge of the secreting of, the

Designated Special Judge In Pike Court

Edward L. Allen was designated special judge this week by Chief Justice Wm. Rogers Clay, to preside in the Pike Circuit court during the hearing of three cases. He left for Pikeville Tuesday evening, to preside in the case of the Commonwealth versus Carrie Williams and George Riley, which was set for trial Wednesday. The other cases in which he will act are set for July 11, and are those of W. K. Elliot, et al., vs. the Granite State Insurance Company and W. K. Elliot, et al., vs. the Sun Insurance Company.

Minnie and Ethel Hager are visiting their uncle, Jerry Hager, at Garrett this week.

TO REPRESENT FLOYD COUNTY AT CLUB CAMP

Largest Meeting of Kind in State Planned For Louisa

FOUR-DAY MEET

Efforts are being made by County Agent Fred Lawson to take with him between 25 and 50 Floyd County Junior Agricultural Club boys and girls to Louisa to attend the four-day club camp there from July 18 to July 21, inclusive.

Arrangements are being made in Louisa to entertain 250 club members during the four days. This camp, it is believed, will be the largest ever held in Kentucky. Club members from four counties, Floyd, Lawrence, Pike and Magoffin, will attend. Lawrence county will furnish an enrollment, it is estimated, of more than 125 boys and girls, and Pike county is expected to furnish an attendance of between 50 and 100.

Much interest has been aroused in the camp. The Courier-Journal plans to send a staff correspondent and photographer to cover the activities of the four days meet, the Big Sandy News announces.

The camp will be held on the campus of Louisa High School. Entertainment and educational opportunities will be offered during the four days with an outdoor school, athletic tests, dramatics and games. County Agent John E. Parsons, of Lawrence county, will be assisted by club leaders from the University of Kentucky and the State Department of Agriculture, with the added assistance of county agents from the counties represented at the camp.

County Agent Lawson requests that all club members interested in attending the camp notify him.

P'BURG TENNIS TEAM TRIUMPHS

Local Stars Win Four of Five Matches At Paintsville

Prestonsburg's net team defeated Paintsville, July 4, 4 to 1, in one of the most brilliant exhibitions of tennis ever seen on the Paintsville Club courts. Prestonsburg was ably represented in doubles and singles, the Prestonsburg singles players being Fletcher Combs, Harlowe and Leroy Combs. The doubles teams were Harlowe and Friend; Spradlin and Fletcher Combs.

Atkinson of Paintsville and Fletcher Combs began the day with a match which resulted in wonderful offensive play by both boys. Combs, after a great uphill fight, triumphed over his opponent, 6-1; 6-4. Atkinson relied mostly on his chop stroke, while Combs used his liffart to much advantage.

Leroy Combs met Stone in the second match of the afternoon. Combs experienced great difficulty in solving Stone's service, and was defeated 6-1; 6-1. Combs often came to the net, driving his opponent back, but Stone's placements worked to great advantage.

One of the most excellent exhibitions of the afternoon, was the match between Harlowe and Williams, in which Harlowe outclassed his opponent in every department. Starting fast and often coming to the net, he proved that Williams was no match for him. Harlowe won, 6-0; 6-4.

The doubles team, Picklesimer and Hager, met Friend and Harlowe. Both teams displayed much skill and the first went 11-9 in Prestonsburg's favor. Friend successfully defended the back court, while Harlowe worked well at the net. Picklesimer drove frequently to his opponents' baseline, his style proving a great asset to his team. Friend, of the Prestonsburg team, distinguished himself with decisive smashes to all corners of the court. Harlowe and Friend won the match by

Salt Quest Originated State Oil Industry

What started out as a search for salt has become a $200 million business in Kentucky.

A salt well two miles south of Monticello was abandoned in 1815 because, according to a newspaper report of the time, "petroleum was found in such quantities as to ruin...it as a salt well." Salt was a money-making mineral then, bringing about $12 a barrel, while oil brought much less.

Three years later, Martin Beatty, Marcus Huling and Andrew Zimmerman were drilling for salt brine in what is now McCreary county. They, too, had their hopes dashed when oil began flooding the well.

In an effort to gain some profit for their efforts they hauled barrels out over rough trails, selling the crude oil to the makers of Mustang Liniment, Seneca Oil, British Oil and other "wonder drugs" of the day.

They were also sued over the well. The heavy, black oil flowed into the South Fork of the Cumberland River, spreading from bank to bank. It also clung to the feathers of the flocks of geese raised by the older women in the area. Since they made money by selling goose feathers, they sued for damages. Before the case went to court a flood drowned out the well.

"I'll get salt or strike hell trying," a driller said as he toiled to sink a salt well on Little Renox Creek near Burkesville in the spring of 1829. On March 11, believing they were near salt, the men drilled well into the night, working by torchlight. Suddenly the crude drill pierced through rock. Natural gas rushed up the hole and was ignited by the torches.

"I've struck hell. My God, have mercy," the terrified driller cried as he fled the scene. He was never seen in Cumberland county again.

Oil was in this well, too. It also spilled in the Cumberland River, but instead of tarring geese it caught fire. The well was eventually brought under control and the oil, bottled in Burkesville, was marketed as "American Medicinal Oil, Burkesville, Ky." It sold at 50 cents for a half-pint bottle.

It was touted as a cure for "Cholic, Rheumatism, Phthisic, Chronic Diseases, Burns, Scalds, Fresh Cuts, Old Sores, Scald Head and Sprains in the human body—and Bolls, Sore Backs, Scratches, Splint, Flesh Wounds and Strains in Horses." Dosage was a teaspoon to a tablespoon for a man, half or a whole bottle for a horse.

Crude oil was sometimes used in a lamp, but it produced heavy smoke and an offensive odor. In 1853 a physician suggested oil might be used as a lubricant and the rest is history.

In Appreciation

The family of Lee Van Dine would like to extend their heartfelt thanks to the Highlands Regional Medical Center for their care and understanding, to Dr. Roger Jurich for his skill and attentiveness, and the staff of Floyd Funeral Home for the loving care and many kindnesses extended to all our family. A special thanks to dear friend, Mae Martin for her attentiveness and love shown in a time of need and to the Reverends Taylor Biggs and John Woods for their love and comforting words.

Thanks to all Lee's colleagues and employees and associates from Martin County Coal Corp., Lee Construction Company, South Side Mining, Mountain Top Removal, and 3-C. A special thanks to our many friends, relatives and neighbors who came to be with us, brought food and sent beautiful flowers and to those who made donations to the church.

Thanks to everyone for the many kindnesses extended to us on the passing of our beloved husband and father. These memories will live in our hearts forever.

Dr. Wright, Miss Kinoshita Wed

The marriage of Miss Keiko Kinoshita and Dr. Carl Edward Wright was solemnized at 2 p.m., Saturday, July 12, at the First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg with the Rev. Dr. Theodore Nicholas, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Tamiyo Kinoshita, of Kobe, Japan, and the late Mr. Kinoshita. Mr. Wright is the son of Mrs. Frank Bennett, of Prestonsburg, and the late Edgar L. Wright.

A program of nuptial selections was presented by Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, organist. Miss Donna Carol Derossett, vocalist, sang "I Am Loved" and "You Light Up My Life."

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Frank Bennett, wore a full-length gown fashioned of candlelight organza with an empire bodice enhanced with clustered pearl embroidered Alencon lace and a high neckline framed with pearl studded lace. The a-line skirt was designed with a chapel train, and the veil of illusion was held by a wide bandeau of Alencon lace and seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow roses, daisies and baby's breath secured with white streamers.

Mrs. Mary Sue Berryman, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a floral-length gown of blue polyester, featuring an empire bodice of Alencon lace and scooped neckline. Stephanie Hamilton, niece of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a gown identical to that of the matron of honor. Both carried yellow roses with greenery secured by yellow lace streamers. Flower girls were Susan Elizabeth and Mary Layne Berryman, nieces of the groom. They wore long white organza dresses and carried lace and satin baskets filled with daisies.

Mother of the groom chose for her sons' wedding a beige street-length dress of silk polyester with matching accessories. Her corsage was yellow roses.

Kenneth R. Wright, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Ronald and Gary Wright, cousins of the groom, and Alex William Berryman, nephew of the groom, was taper lighter.

A reception was held at the church. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of spring flowers and greenery flanked by crystal candelabra holding pale green candles. Hostesses were Mrs. Carol Ann Derossett, cousin of the groom. Miss Donna Carol Derossett presided at the guest book.

The couple is residing in San Diego, California.

KET Tele-Fund To Be Held Here

Next Monday and Tuesday evening phones all over Floyd county will be ringing as the Friends of KET conduct a county-wide telephone campaign to raise funds for the Kentucky Network.

Locally organized by Thomas Hereford III, Floyd County Coordinator, the KET Friends Tele-Fund is part of a statewide effort to raise money for evening and weekend programming which will be produced for and about Kentucky and Kentuckians.

According to Hereford, "We are not only striving to raise money for special programs about Kentucky, but we're creating a statewide network of volunteers who are willing to work together to create awareness about KET. Many people in the state don't realize that while KET 'in-school' programming is supported by state funds, evening and weekend programming depends on the support and donations of Friends of KET. We want to spread that message, as well as raise money for the network, and we need everyone's help to do that."

If you are interested in helping with the Floyd County Friends Tele-Fund, or would like to receive information about KET programming or services, call Thomas Hereford III at 886-3526 or Ann Evans Fisher at KET collect—(606) 233-3000.

CIRCLES HAVE PICNIC

The Annie Allen and "Mommie" Ransdell Circles of the First Baptist Church held their annual picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gorman Collins, Monday evening, August 4. The blessing was given by the pastor, the Rev. Dean Pack. Following a picnic, a brief business session was held, with the president, Mrs. Patsy Evans, in charge. Mrs. Julia Curtis opened this meeting with prayer. The president, on behalf of the two groups, thanked Mr. and Mrs. Collins for their hospitality in making this annual event possible. Mrs. Pat Minns reported that the Ten Commandments, furnished by the W.M.U., had been gratefully received by the Prestonsburg High School. Mrs. Versa Moore gave a report on the W.M.U. "WISE GIVING"

Are your charity dollars being used for the purpose represented to you? Do you know what precautions to take against becoming a victim of charity fraud? Are you aware that not all "charitable" organizations are non-profit?

In some instances as much as 60% of the proceeds raised by a charitable organization are used to pay professional fund raisers to conduct solicitations. That means of each dollar you give, only 40 cents will actually benefit the charitable purpose.

If you are asked to donate to a charity, some questions you should ask include the following:

—How much of each dollar donated is used for the charitable purpose? Don't give if the solicitor won't tell you.

—Does the charity benefit any person in your area?

—Is the solicitor donating his-her time or is he-she a professional fund raiser? Paid fund raisers will take part of your donation as salary.

—Is the organization's financial statement available for your examination? Will they mail you a copy?

—What are the names of the organization's local officers and recent contributions? Call them to verify information you receive from the solicitor.

—Has the organization registered with the county or city clerk if registration is required by local ordinance?

Always ask those soliciting charitable donations to show you some form of identification and do not be afraid to ask them questions. Legitimate charities will not mind proving you with information regarding their work.

Be suspicious of charities which use gimmicks to encourage contributions; for example, one which offers prizes such as new cars or vacations. This is an indication of professional promotion which could involve fees being paid to the fund raiser which diminish the amounts going directly toward the charitable purpose.

Use personal checks when giving money to those collecting money door-to-door or in public places. Make your check payable to the charitable organization, not to the collector. If a solicitor cashes such a check, he can be charged with criminal forgery. Cancelled checks also provide an excellent record for tax purposes.

If you need additional information on a particular charity, you can contact the Better Business Bureau in your area or write: National Information Center, 419 Park Avenue South, New York, New York 10016. Either organization will send you reports on charities without charge. They will also provide lists of charities which meet the standards they have set for charitable organizations.

There are many worthy charities which can put your money to good use. However, when you give to a charity, make sure that you know where your money is going.

If you have a complaint about charities operating in Kentucky, write: Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or call Yvonne York, Attorney General's Office, 502-564-7600, or Richard L. Master, Consumer Protection Division, 502-564-2200.

Focus on Best Buys For Best Eye Care

By Georgette Wagner

Telescopes are not just for astronomers, nor are laser beams only for scientists. Eye specialists are using both instruments to help people see—some for the first time.

ty, made the tiny scissors to cut vision-threatening scar tissue.

Perhaps the best-known recent advance in the optical field is the invention of the soft contact lens. Developed in Czechoslovakia, the soft contact lenses are brittle when dry, but soft and pliable when wet. Many people find them more comfortable to wear than hard contact lenses. Unlike the latter, which take considerable time to get accustomed to, soft lens users need just four or five minutes to adjust to the feeling of a foreign object in the eye.

But soft lenses are not cheap, and they last about one year. Delicate, the lenses tear easily and wear out quickly from handling. Unless properly stored in a chemical solution, they will dry out, become brittle, and break or chip.

The moistness of the lens attracts bacteria, which can cause eye infection. Wearers are advised to boil the lenses in salt and distilled water or else dip them in three solutions—a pre-cleaner, a disinfectant, and a rinse.

The greatest drawback to soft contact lenses is their limited use. Only four out of every 10 contact-lens wearers can use the new lens. A physician must be consulted to determine if the soft lens is appropriate.

Miracle Lenses

Optometrists who specialize in contact lenses—both hard and soft—have developed a series of lenses for patients with unusual vision problems.

Dr. Paul Farkas, a New York optometrist, fits infants with contact lenses which remain in place more readily than glasses would. Without them, the infants would not be able to learn and to develop at the same pace as normal infants.

Other breakthroughs include contact lenses that:

- correct color blindness. (The lenses are tinted.)
- improve the appearance of those with eye defects.
- correct astigmatism, a curvature of the eye which distorts vision.
- can be used for bi-focal vision.

There is even a contact lens for the orchestra conductor who must keep one eye on the musicians and one eye on the score. Lenses with different powers let the conductor see both far and near, without having to fumble with glasses.

With so many new products on the market, consumers should be well informed before buying glasses or contact lenses.

The first step is a visit to an ophthalmologist or optometrist, both of whom can prescribe lenses. Only the ophthalmologist can perform surgery or prescribe drugs.

The exam should take 30 to 60 minutes and may include a medical as well as a visual checkup. Be prepared to answer questions about previous illnesses and about relatives with eye problems.

The ophthalmologist or optometrist will then write a prescription for glasses or contact lenses. If he sells lenses, you can either buy glasses from him or else buy glasses from an optician, a specialist who makes and sells glasses.

The Best Care At The Best Price

"Shop around, compare prices, and know what services to expect, both from the ophthalmologist who prescribes the glasses and from the optician who will make your glasses," says Dr. Raymond C. Croissant, president of the Minnesota Association of Ophthalmology.

The specialist who examines your eyes should not charge you an additional fee for a copy of the prescription, should you decide to purchase your glasses elsewhere. "This is unquestionably the right of every patient," Croissant says.

If you already have glasses and need a second pair, opticians can duplicate the lenses without a prescription. However, the practice is controversial. Some claim the glasses are not very accurate. Of course, the advantage of going to the optician directly is reduced costs. The dispute is being investigated, but there are no conclusions as yet.

There are other ways to save money when buying glasses. Here are some tips:

- large lenses cost more than smaller ones.
- plastic lenses are more expensive than glass lenses.
- tinted lenses carry higher prices than clear lenses do.
- "invisible" bifocals cost more than standard bifocals.

Safety First

If you wear glasses, consider purchasing a pair of safety glasses. Without safety glasses, Fred Wiggin might be blind. While he was mauling leaves, his power mower struck a steel bracket, which ricocheted and hit Wiggin. He was hospitalized for six days, but doctors claim he would have lost his sight had he not been wearing the special lenses.

Safety glasses were originally designed for workers in dangerous jobs. The extra-strong lens does not break as easily as conventional glasses. Safety glasses with non-corrective lenses are available for those who do not wear glasses, but wish to protect their eyes.

Sports are a major cause of eye accidents, and the racquet sports are the worst offenders. A tennis ball, for example, can reach speeds of 80 miles an hour. A hit in the eye can be disastrous.

"Racquet sports were responsible for an estimated 3,220 eye injuries to U.S. players in 1976," says a Boston ophthalmologist.

But the ball may not be the worst hazard. "Several of the serious eye injuries to our patients were caused by a shot fired in anger or frustration after a point was scored, hitting the eye of an opponent who had relaxed and was not on his guard," says the Boston doctor.

There are a number of eyeguards on the market. Some come without lenses. Others have either plain or prescription lenses. Unlike standard glasses which are 1.2 millimeters thick, eyeguards are made from plastic three millimeters thick.

Any pair of eyeglasses will shatter under enough pressure. And some physicians claim that when impact-resistant glasses do break, they are more dangerous. The glasses usually shatter in large pieces, which can cause deeper and more serious cuts. However, safety glasses rarely break.

Eye specialists differ over the advisability of wearing contact lenses while playing sports. Some claim contacts are safe and comfortable. Others say contacts are dangerous. If you do wear contacts, wear an eye guard as well.

Ordinary glasses can be treated to increase their resistance to impact. There are two methods—one uses heat, the other chemicals. One specialist believes the chemical treatment is more effective. However, even untreated glasses must, according to the FDA, withstand the impact of a 5/8-inch steel bulb dropped from a height of 50 inches.

If you do have a serious eye accident, do not panic, but go to a doctor or hospital as quickly as you can.

Prestonsburg Inspector At Inspectors' School

Instructions concerning new statewide Kentucky Building Code and basic inspection techniques were given last week at a building inspectors school sponsored by the state Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction.

The school, held at the Lexington Technical Institute on the University of Kentucky campus, was attended by 85 building inspectors, fire inspectors and local government officials from throughout the state.

Among those who completed the course and received continuing education credits from LTI were Paul Chaffins, Prestonsburg building inspector, and Larry Adams, assistant inspector.

TAKING APPLICATIONS

The Prestonsburg Fire Department is accepting applications for the positions of Auxillary firefighters. Interested applicants must be 18 years of age and be willing to attend training sessions twice monthly.

Applications can be obtained at the Prestonsburg fire Department from 8:00 a.m. til 4:30 p.m.

Auxillary Firefighters are trained along with the full-time firefighters and are a major force in the fire-fighting capabilities of the Prestonsburg Fire Department.

Tuttle Enlists

Douglas E. Tuttle, son of Aaron Tuttle, of Eastern, and Mrs. Elizabeth Stahl, of Garrett, enlisted in the United States Air Force on July 30, according to TSgt. Jim Brooks, Air Force Recruiter in Ashland. A graduate of Allen Central High School, he is scheduled to depart for active duty November 13. He is married to the former Twyla Ann Slone, of Garrett. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he will receive technical training as security specialist, which is the career field of his choice. Tuttle will be earning credit toward an Associate Degree through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force training schools.

Woman's Club Meet At Workshop Here

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs has offered the Seventh District Women's Club members the "Opportunity for Action" with special emphasis placed on plans of work and pertinent information to help improve communities. Through volunteer endeavors in the President's Workshop conducted by Miss Ruby Akers, District Governor, KFWC, and Vice Governor, Mrs. E. L. Bierman, at the Floyd County Library in Prestonsburg, "Opportunity for Action" is the KFWC theme, 1980-82. The clubs in the seventh district will be acting on this theme and communities will be the beneficiaries as club members share volunteer hours to improve the quality of life in their communities. In addition to the KFWC department programs of art, conservation, education, home life, international affairs and public affairs, special emphasis will be placed on promoting Kentucky Special Olympics, the immunization program and CPR, hospice, CIP, and the "Via of Life".

Mrs. Joe T. Hall, third vice president, KFWC, of Georgetown, and Mrs. Richard Reilly, recording secretary KFWC, of Lexington, were consultants. The Allen Woman's Club members were hostesses for the luncheon.

Attending were Anita Lafferty, Lois Marshall, Carolyn Branham, Mary Hinchman, Tobbie Blanton, Belle Conn, and Joann Adams, all of Allen; Danette G. Fannin and Boots Adams, of Prestonsburg; Janie Pruitt, Kitty Clevinger, Mary Pauline Fox, M.D., all of Pikeville; LaFaye Hughes and Maxine Martin, of Wayland; Cedar Hoffman, of Drift; Peggy Arnett and Alma Frazier, of Salyersville; Betty Reilly, of Lexington; Freda C. Barnett, of Martin; Ann Todd Hall, of Georgetown, and Kay Amburgy, of Whitesburg.

Wedding Announcement

Knott Among Counties Listed For Federal Heat Wave Aid

Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. has received official notification from President Carter that Kentucky will get $800,000 in federal funds for areas in the state hardest hit by the recent heat wave.

The Department for Human Resources will funnel the money to community action agencies in five of the state's 15 area development districts. These agencies will distribute the money to eligible residents for fans, heat-related medical expenses, transportation to heat relief centers and other costs related to the scorching weather.

In his telegram to the governor, Carter said, "I want to commend you for the swift and effective action you have taken in Kentucky to ease the impact of the continuing heat wave on our citizens. I'm certain your actions have minimized loss of life and health problems associated with the extreme heat conditions."

The president pledged his continued support of federal government agencies in Kentucky's efforts to bring relief to the state's conditions.

In making the announcement, Brown said, "I'm happy that Kentucky is receiving this amount of money. It is $300,000 more than we anticipated. We have been working hard to identify the people suffering most from the heat wave. Now we can get some relief to them." Brown added, "State government will work closely with community action agencies in the five districts to see that this money will get to the people who need it."

The funds will be funneled to the Purchase, Pennyrite, Green River, Kentucky River and Bluegrass area development districts. Under federal guidelines, eligible counties must have experienced temperatures of 100 degrees or more for at least 10 consecutive days.

Brown emphasized the money has not yet been received. He said he would announce details on how individuals may apply for the funds once Kentucky receives its allocation, which is expected soon.

The Department for Human Resources has proposed to the federal government categories of low-income persons to be eligible for the money, according to Human Resources Secretary Grady Stumbo. Under the Human Resources plan, low-income households with a member who is either 60 or older, or whose health is endangered by the heat would qualify. Persons living in either private, non-profit or public health facilities that serve such high-risk persons would also be eligible. Low-income would be considered persons making no more than 125 percent of poverty guidelines.

The proposed standards are awaiting federal approval.

The area development districts are composed of the following counties:

—Purchase: Ballard, Carlisle, Fulton, Hickman, Calloway, Graves, McCracken and Marshall.

—Pennyrite: Caldwell, Christian, Crittenden, Hopkins, Livingston, Lyon, Muhlenburg, Todd and Trigg.

—Green River: Daviess, Hancock, Henderson, McLean, Ohio, Union and Webster.

—Kentucky River: Breathitt, Lee, Owsley, Wolfe, Knott, Leslie, Letcher and Perry.

—Bluegrass: Anderson, Boyle, Franklin, Jessamine, Mercer, Scott, Woodford, Bourbon, Fayette, Harrison, Nicholas, Clark, Estill, Garrard, Lincoln, Madison and Powell.

Honored On Anniversary

Clyde and Ann Wicker Hall, of Grethel, were guests of honor for a surprise party celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. The party was given by their children, Rita Rogers, Loretta Bentley and Stacy Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were married July 5, 1955 in Richmond, Indiana. They are the parents of three children and have three grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Hall are the owners and operators of Ann's Dry Goods Store at Grethel. The cake was baked and presented to them by Mrs. Linda Rogers England, Marion, Ohio. There was banjo music by Azzie Rogers, of Harold, and the little guitar pickers were their son, Stacy Hall, and their grandson, Kenny Rogers.

Sending gifts and attending were Mary and Don Daugherty, Marvin and Della Hunt, Nancy and Jim Tackett, Juanita and Emmitt Williams, Carol and Tennis Rogers, Charlene and Zackery Kizer, Retel and Azzie Rogers, Bernice and Greg Clark, Anita and Steve Roberts, Barbara and Hersel Hall, Edna and Clifford Hall, Stacy Hall, Rita and Kenneth Rogers, Loretta and Marrow Bentley, Jody Bentley, Kenny Rogers, Jeremy Rogers, Roxie and Claude Bentley, Dolly and Ray Williams, Jimmy and Zetta Tackett, John B. and Magalene Tackett, Walker and Meril Tackett, William and Hazor Akers, Pat and Kim Hall, Clifford Hall, Jr., Donna Hall, Bill Hall.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Judith Elaine James to Mr. Otie Lee Lester. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Edward James, of New Carlisle, Ohio, and the late Mrs. Phyllis James. Mr. Lester is the son of Mr. Hershel Lester, of Martin, and the late Hazel Kirk Lester.

SAMONS FAMILY REUNION TO BE HELD AUGUST 30

The family of the late James and Sarah Frazier Samons will hold its annual reunion Saturday, Aug. 30, at the Stratton Branch picnic shelter. All family members and friends are invited to come and enjoy the day.

This Week To End JW Theatre Season

The Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre ends its 16th anniversary season this week with its final performance of the Broadway hit musical, "Fiddler on the Roof". The show will be presented this Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, Sunday. On Friday evening, the theatre presents a showcase featuring musical numbers from several Broadway shows.

Despite the unpredictable weather, which plagues every outdoor theatre, the theatre has had a fairly busy season, according to general manager, Susan B. Conaty. She said the theatre has played to several near-capacity houses this summer, and the audiences have all been "good, very receptive."

Though there were several nights of rain, only three performances were rained out. On two of these three occasions the cast went to nearby May

Lodge and substituted its showcase performance.

"Even though we would rather perform the regularly scheduled shows, the showcase at least gave us a substitute for those rain outs," she said. "It also gives the audience a chance to see the actors performing in other roles, as well as helping to alleviate some of the disappointment for those who came to see a show."

The good attendance of the shows has helped the theatre's financial situation, which was poor at the beginning of the season. The situation now is "better, but not wonderful," according to Conaty. She said this season has helped the theatre some but it still needs all of the attendance and financial help it can muster to make it continue to be one of the finest outdoor theatres in the county.

"It would be nice if we had a full house for every performance this week," Conaty said. This would be good, not only financially but for the actors who find it more rewarding to play to a house where all the seats are full.

"Fiddler on the Roof," which ran continuously in New York for nearly seven years to 1971, tells the tale of Tevye, as poor Jewish milkman in the fictitious Russian village of Anatevka. Throughout the show, Tevye makes chummy conversation with God, gently complaining about the afflictions the Almighty has put upon him—his poverty, his sharp-tongued wife, his three seemingly unmarriageable daughters, and last but not least, his lame horse.

"Fiddler on the Roof" is being directed by Locky Lambert, of Prestonsburg, and is choreographed by Homer Tracey. Curtain for each performance is 8:30 each evening.

On Friday evenings, the cast of the theatre presents a showcase which features popular musical numbers from several Broadway hits.

Celebrates Birthday

Rhonda Cantrell, daughter of Ronnie and Linda Candrell, of East Point, celebrated her seventh birthday at the Burger Queen of Prestonsburg, July 26. Her guests were her sister, Kerry Cantrell, Krissy Johnson, Stacey Calhoun, Erica Branham, Susanne Dawson, Greg Slone, Amy May and Chrys Lindstrom. Cake and ice cream were served by Burger Queen employee, Luann Mullins. We hope that we made this a special birthday for you Rhonda, and wish you many more from all of Burger Queen's employee's and management.

WHY BUY ONE OF OUR HOMES NOW??? The Time will never be better!!

1. In less than ten years our quality home will have doubled in value, not lost value as in some investments.
2. In that same period our buyers will have gained 15% to 20% additional equity in their home through paying down their mortgage.
3. Our buyers will deduct their interest charges and property taxes against their income taxes, not collect worthless rent receipts.
4. Our buyers' utility costs will be lower due to energy efficient heat.
5. Our buyers will enjoy a convenient location on paved roads close to schools, shopping and churches. Hold down your auto operating costs.
6. Our buyers will enjoy low maintenance exterior and interior finishes.

Interest rates are high!—WRONG. They may never be lower. You can't afford a home??—WRONG. You can't afford not to own a home. It is more than shelter; IT'S AN INVESTMENT.

Unemployment Down Sets Record In July

The Department for Human Resources paid out a record amount of state unemployment benefits in July, the second straight month of record benefits.

In July, $33.5 million was paid from the unemployment trust fund maintained by a tax on employers, announced Rick Crawford, the department's unemployment insurance director.

In another index of the state's unemployment picture, July was a record, too. The department paid for 344,000 benefit weeks last month. The previous high mark was in February of this year.

In addition to the $33.5 million from the state trust fund, another 8.8 million was paid out of a federal trust fund maintained for federally paid Kentucky workers.

Despite the record amounts, the state trust fund remains in the black, Crawford said. Some other states have had to borrow from the federal government to cover claims.

REUNION CANCELLED

The Moses Rice family reunion will not be held this year, as in the past, it was announced this week. The reunion will be held next year.

Away from It All

By KENNY RICE
Getting away from it all. Sometime in everyone's life they may feel the need to do just that, whether it be taking the phone off the hook and lying around the house for a day, or finding escape for a couple of hours in the dark of a theater watching a good movie. Different folks, different ways of getting away from it all.

Four Floyd county fishermen got away from it all last month by going on an eight-day trip to the wilderness region of Chapleau, Ontario. Truman Messer, Steve Stout, Kenneth "Buzz" Allen and Don "Duck" Robinson traveled 1000 miles due north to the center of Ontario to fish on five natural lakes. The foursome drove to Sunset View Camps and were then flown into the wilderness, more than 40 miles from the nearest road. There was no means of communication to the rest of the world for them after they reached the cabin. They saw no other people until the pilot returned four days later to take them to another lake and another campsite.

They started on South Ivan Lake where they fished for walleye and Northern pike. They were able to walk across the hills to other nearby lakes during the first part of the excursion. They were then flown to Lodestone Lake, about 75 miles away, where they finished up their trip by fishing for brook and lake trout.

"There were only about six hours of darkness up there and we had a lot of time for fishing," Messer said. "We worked hard at fishing the whole trip, put in a lot of hours on those lakes, but that's why we went."

The trip has become an annual event for the group. This marked their third straight summer of going to the Ontario wilderness. For Stout and Allen, it was their sixteenth consecutive year of fishing in Canadian waters.

Stout, who fishes Florida waters annually and has a 31-pound wahoo to his massive catch collection, made most of the lures the quartet used to catch their limit again this year. As always, they had to throw back fish because they were allowed to bring back only six of each species.

Robinson caught the most lake trout among the group in Lodestone Lake, which measures over 100 feet deep in places and where the water is so pure "you can dip some out and drink it while you're out there fishing," according to Stout.

"This was the first time we fished for lake trout," Messer noted. "We caught our limit which surprised us because when we were there in July, it was late in the trout season. The best time to catch them is early in the year when the ice is breaking on the water or late in the fall just before the lakes freeze."

Allen pulled in the catch of the trip when he landed a 10-pound lake trout on a 4-pound line and an ultra-light rod and reel. Messer said it took him "every bit of ten minutes which is half a lifetime for a fisherman," to bring the trout in. Buzz said it was more like a three-hour struggle.

They ate fish until they were full each day. They watched sunrises and sunsets on lakes with solid rock shorelines that nature had chiseled out of the mountains and filled with clear water from the melting snow. For eight days these men were indeed away from it all doing what they are very good at—fishing.

COACHING CHANGES

Three county high schools have new head coaches in three different sports. Betsy Layne has its third football coach in as many years. Charles Lovely will guide the Bobcats this season. He comes to Betsy Layne after serving as assistant football coach at Wayne County High for the last four years. Jerry Fultz returns to the county to become baseball coach at McDowell and will also be an assistant boys' basketball coach. Fultz, former basketball and baseball star at Wayland High, has been coaching in an Alabama high school. Bobby Jones is the new girls' basketball coach at Wheelwright.

SOFTBALL NOTES

Here are the members of the Archer Softball League All-Star squad:

1b., Mike Howard (Hilltop Coal); 2b., Billy Risner (KenDick Sports); 3b., Ebo Gibson (National Mines); ss-Larry Crum (Blackhawk Mines); lf., Wimpy Clark (National Mines); cf., Burce Shelton (Anixter Cable); rf., Larry Mullins (Blackhawk Mines); r., Earl Stephens (KenDick Sports); p., Jeff Wells (Anixter Cable); c, Phillip Tucker (National Mines).

Some observations on the recent tournaments at Archer: The Prestonsburg Businessmen and J and H Services did not finish among the top in the league this season, but their extra inning game was one of the Class B tourney's best. Tony Burchett hit a two-out grand slam in the bottom of the seventh to cap a six-run Businessmen rally and put the game into extra innings. J and H won, 12-10, in 8 but Tong Bug can still hit with power. John Paul Leslie still has a cannon for a right arm and no one takes an extra base on him. Barry Howell still wears No. 14 and covers a lot of outfield ground. Among those watching the tourney was Rob Herrick, former basketball and baseball standout for Prestonsburg High. He'll soon be Dr. Herrick as he moves closer to completing his studies at the University of Louisville Dental School. Mike Howard is this season's home run champ. Fred Hackworth is the league's only left-handed third baseman.

The Soft Ball Report

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON

National Mines won the regional softball tournament Monday night at the Z.S. Dickerson field, Archer Park, by defeating Economy Drug of Pikeville, 18 to 6. Larry Woods of National Mines connected for a home run. Both teams will be competing in the state softball tournament to be held at Bowling Green, beginning Friday and ending Sunday, August 17.

The first place trophy went to National Mines, the second to Economy Drug, with third place trophy going to Jenkins. The home run trophy went to Jenkins' Sparks, with a total of five during the tournament.

National Mines advanced to the finals by downing Petry Furniture

Store of Martin, 8-6. Larry Woods and Phillip Tucker each honored for National Mines during that game. They went on to defeat Economy Drug 5-4.

KenDick Sporting Center defeated Western Steer, 11-8, but lost to Jenkins, 14-12, and to Economy Drug, 6-5. Wireman connected for a home run for KenDick.

Other scores:

Jenkins 9, Tackett's Variety Store 6; Economy Drug 20, Kings Creek 1; KenDick 11, IMC of Elkhorn City 2; Petry Furniture 15, T Rebels of Elkhorn City 4; McRoberts 7, Marlow's Country Palace 5; Ferrell's Creek of Elkhorn City 14, Western Steer 10; Black Hawk Mining Company 6, Jenkins 5.

NOT THE SAME

Once more, a similarity of names is a cause for consternation. The Doug Burkett who was listed among those arrested in the August 6 edition of The Times is not the Rev. Douglas Burkett, of Auxier.

JUST SAY "CHARGE IT"

Nine Years Old

Dewana Warrix celebrated her ninth birthday, July 31 at the Archer Park swimming pool as she was joined by friends and family members for cake and refreshments.

A daughter of James and Debbie Warrix, she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Curtis Warrix, of Water Gap and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Conn, and the great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Miller.

Blackcat Football—Almost Time

It's that time of year again. The Prestonsburg High School football team has been practicing for the past two weeks, the high school season begins in two weeks, colleges begin practice next week, and the pros are already playing exhibition games—and the talk in Prestonsburg is football.

The typical pre-season questions and predictions are flying around. What kind of a team is PHS going to have? How many players were lost from last year? How many are coming back? Does the team have any speed? What's the schedule like? These are just an example of questions being asked.

A few of these questions can be answered, but the most important one will have to wait. The Blackcats graduated 15 seniors from last year's squad. Two of them received athletic scholarships—Dewey Layne, a first All-Stater at linebacker who also started at fullback, signed with Hillsdale College in Michigan, and Thomas Hastings, who rushed for 1,100 yards from his halfback position, signed with Centre College in Kentucky. These are just two of the many who will be missed from last year's squad. The Cats have about 15 players returning, but only a handful of fulltime starters. Jack Wells will be returning at quarterback, with Greg Haywood back at free safety, Greg Slone and Ralph Gilliam at cornerback, John Burchett at defensive tackle and Lonnie May at defensive end. Raymond Gibson, Allan Frasure, Mark McKenzie, Sam Huffman, Tommy Dillon, Joe Frazier, and B.J. Sturgill, who all started at some time last year will return to patch up gaps in the offensive and defensive lines. Also, John McDowell, Jim Webb, and Mike Robinson are expected to help out up front. Ray Marcum and John Gilliam, along with Robbie Tackett and Chris Campbell will be expected to fill the big void at linebacker. Steve Rice, Slone, Randy Tincher, May and Robert Midgette will be expected to replace last year's backfield. Haywood, Dennis Flanagan, Michael Flanagan, Gary Horton, Steve Wright, Gerald DeRossett and Gilliam are working at the tight and split end positions. The secondary seems pretty intact, and with the addition of Rice, Kelly Flanagan, Mike Cline, and Jeff Wells, should be in pretty good shape. A number of freshmen have already been working out and more are expected. John DeRossett, John Anderson, Brad Hughes, Bryan Whitten, Bryan Pace, Randall Slone, James Blackburn, Ritchie Schoolcraft, Clyde Johnson, Jimmy Shepherd, Todd Nairn, Duane Branham, Tommy Brown, Randall Hager, Tim Robinson, Mike Blackburn have been practicing.

So much for returnees and loss by graduation, but what about the team? Asking Prestonsburg's head football coach Philip Haywood for an evaluation of his team is about like asking for Christmas to come in July. However, he said, "We have a young team, even though we have a lot of seniors. We're inexperienced and don't have very much depth, but we have quite a few with some playing experience. This team seems to have a pretty good attitude, though. They have a lot of enthusiasm, they want to learn, and they enjoy playing football. Overall, we've had pretty good practice sessions and everyone seems to be getting after it. We're improving from day to day, but how much, how soon, is hard to say. The main thing we have to do is simply to keep working at it and keep improving everyday. If we can do this and keep everybody healthy, maybe we'll surprise a few people." A lot of ifs, ands, and buts in there, but one has learned to expect such a response from the Blackcat's successful head coach.

Well, there it is. A sneak preview, if one would dare call it that, but it may be of some help to the expert prognosticators who needed a little more information and to the many other football buffs who just needed a little more fuel to add to the fire that is already spreading. Yes, it's contagious, and it will only become more hectic as the season approaches. It usually lasts four or five months and just keeps growing until the last ball has been snapped, the last play has been run, and the last whistle has been blown. People are getting excited, and someone unfamiliar with the territory, might actually think people are acting strange. But it's very natural and it happens about this time every year. In Blackcat country, it's known as "football fever" and as most will say, "Catch it!"

Van Donated to PHS Band

R.V. May, pictured at right, is shown presenting the keys to a van which he donated to the Prestonsburg High School band, to Carl Castle, president of the Band Boosters Club. The van will be used to carry band equipment. Other businesses and individuals contributing to the van project include: East Kentucky Mack, bodywork and paint; Bill and Russell May, lettering and decoration; Music-Carter-Hughes, mechanical repair.

The Birth of Social Security—1935

If you remember this group of the famous and near-famous, you're probably much older than you care to think about for it was August 14, 1935 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the social security bill. Grouped about the President, left to right are; Chairman Robert L. Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee; Congressman Frank H. Buck (D-Calif.); Senator Robert F. Wagner (D-New York); Senator Alben Barkley (D-Kentucky); Harry L. Hopkins, (half-hidden) Administrator of the Works Projects Administration; Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr. (Prog-Wisconsin); Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins; Senator William H. King (D-Utah); Congressman David J. Lewis (D-Maryland); Representative John W. Boehne (D-Indiana); and Senator Joseph F. Guffey (D-Pennsylvania).

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of Ross Hopkins

It was five years ago this month that the angel of death broke our family circle and took away our beloved Dad.

His memories still flood my mind with pleasant thoughts. His advice I still obey; his love I still feel as I journey through life day by day.

I use his format to raise my children Dad never got to tired from his daily work to prevent him from playing with us children; and you could always find a goodie in his lunch pail at the day's end.

Although Dad is gone you can still hear him say always remember what I taught you. Be good to your mom; and all the family stay together.

Though Dad may be gone, let not his teachings, have been in vain. "Seek ye the kingdom of God" for life there is everlasting for we are but a short time here on this earth. As Dad would say in his ministry, to get in touch with Jesus, dial John 3-16.

"The Dove that carried him away, will bring us all together someday."

Talt Hall

Talt Hall, 87, of Dema, died Monday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following a long illness.

Born March 12, 1892, he was a son of the late Buddy and Alifie Mullins Hall. He was a retired miner and a member of the Providence Regular Baptist Church of Dry Creek.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lorraine Watson Hall; and one step-sister, Mrs. Sadie Hager, of Weeksbury.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. today (Wednesday) at 10 a.m. at the Providence Regular Baptist Church at Dry Creek with Regular Baptist ministers officiating. Burial will be made in the Dry Creek cemetery at Topmost under direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

Johnnie D. Davis

Johnnie D. (Pickle) Davis, 44, of Venice, Fla., formerly of Hueysville, died Tuesday, August 5, in a hospital in Venice following a prolonged illness.

Born at Garrett, December 27, 1935, he was a son of the late Edgel and Nannie Patton Davis. He was a disabled veteran of army service in 1960.

He is survived by one daughter, Miss Gail Davis, of Munith, Mich.; two brothers, Carmel Davis, of Hippo, Edgel Delano Davis, of Venice, Fla.; four sisters, Mrs. Sally Adkins, Mrs. Sandra Manns, and Mrs. Brenda Centers, all of Hueysville, and Mrs. June Combs, of Grayson.

Funeral services were conducted at noon Friday at the Hueysville Church of Christ by Gus Andrews and Rondall Hayes. Burial was made in the Cooley cemetery at Eastern under direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Maza R. C. Hughes

Mrs. Maza Rebecca Crisp Hughes, 82, of Martin, died last Wednesday at the Golden Years Rest Home at Lackey.

Born February 6, 1898 at Martin, she was a daughter of the late Phares and Amanda Stephens Crisp and was the widow of Joe Hughes. She was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Surviving her are four sons, Bill and Philemon Hughes, both of Martin, Charles F. Hughes, of Xenia, O., Ernest Hughes, of Jackson, Mich.; two daughters, Mrs. Joan McGauley, also of Jackson, and Mrs. Mary Hayes, of Martin; two brothers, Shirley Crisp, of Culver City, Calif., and Arthur Crisp, of Martin; three sisters, Mrs. Zola Compton, of Dungannon, W. Va., Mrs. Lora Skeans, of Cleveland, O., Millie Crisp, of Martin; 16 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Friday in the chapel of Hall Funeral Home by Pete Grigsby, Jr., and burial was made in the Martin cemetery.

Pallbearers were Mark Hughes, Matthew Hughes, Jesse Hall, David Turner, and Robert Elliott.

Bill Waugh

Bill Waugh, 83, of Kendallville, Ind., formerly of Wayland, died in Kendallville, Tuesday.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete, it was said late Tuesday afternoon at Hall Funeral Home.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Edd and Hazel Ward, of Pikeville, wish to thank everyone for their prayers and kindness during their time of sorrow. Thanks for the food and flowers, and special thanks to the ministers and the funeral home.

Preston Reynolds

Preston Reynolds, of Beaver, who at 99 years was one of the county's oldest residents, died Friday at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following a long illness.

Born October 2, 1880, he was a son of the late Ham and Mary Jane Hamilton Reynolds and was married to Vina Jones Reynolds, who preceded him in death. He was a retired miner, last employed by the Clear Branch Mining Company, and was a member of the Samaria Old Regular Baptist Church at Teaberry.

He is survived by one son, Homer Reynolds, of Beaver; nine daughters, Mrs. Mary Bentley, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Lanna Porter, of West Van Lear, Mrs. Ida Gayheart, Mrs. Creasia Vance, Mrs. Martha Vance, and Mrs. Pearl Ray, all of Beaver, Mrs. Hazel Goble, of Martin, Mrs. Edith Wilhite, of Ligon, and Mrs. Tommie Vance, of Huntington, Ind.; 44 grandchildren, 45 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Monday at the Old Regular Primitive Baptist Church at Beaver by Regular Baptist ministers. Burial was made in the Reynolds cemetery at Beaver under direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Jimmy Wilhite, Roger Ray, Lester Reynolds, Ronald Reynolds, Noah Vance, Jr., Hayes Vance, Jr., Glennis Gayheart, Lonza Tackett, Gene Reynolds, Doug Vance, Burbon Thompson, and Rex Gayheart.

Chris Johnson

Chris Johnson, 66, of Halo, died Tuesday, August 5, at his home.

He was a son of the late Floyd and Linnie Osborne Johnson and was a retired miner.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Alma Lackey Johnson; three sons, Chris Johnson, Jr., Allen and Eddie Johnson, all in Michigan; two daughters, Mrs. Helen Dalramble and Mrs. Joan Shipley, both of Florida; three stepsons, Roy Lackey, of Halo, Harold Hail and Paul Lackey, both in Ohio; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Freda Watts, in Ohio; five brothers, Harold, Hasadore, I.B. and Calvin Johnson, all of Weeksbury, and Basc Carroll, in West Virginia; four sisters, Mrs. Molly Cisco, Mrs. Geneva Hall, Mrs. Irene Isaacs, all of Weeksbury, and Realty Johnson, of Martin county, and 15 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday at the residence by ministers of the Old Regular Baptist Church, and burial was made in the Tackett cemetery at Melvin under direction of Merion Funeral Chapel.

Sie Hamilton

Sie Hamilton, 62, of East McDowell, was dead on arrival at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following a long illness.

Born October 23, 1917, he was a son of the late Craig and Leona Hall Hamilton and was a disabled miner. He was married to Birdie Mosley Hamilton, who preceded him in death.

He is survived by his stepmother, Mrs. Lillie Hamilton, of Craynor; five sons, Billy Green Hamilton, of Raymond, O., Sie Hamilton, Jr., of Price, Harold Dean Moore, of East McDowell, Terry Hamilton, of Catlettsburg, and Bobby Dale Hamilton, of East McDowell; four daughters, Mrs. Opal Moore, of East McDowell, Mrs. Shelby Jean Moore, of Stroth, Ind., Mrs. Audrey Stratton, of Ivel, and Mrs. Charlene Mosley, of Garner; five brothers, Willie Hamilton, of East McDowell, Donald, Purvis, and Jack Hamilton, all of Craynor, and Bernus Hamilton, address not available; six sisters, Mrs. Ollie Tackett, of Craynor, Mrs. Gertrude Hall, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Lizzie Mitchell, of Dwale, Mrs. Turlene Barnhart, of New Carlisle, O., Mrs. Phyllis McDaniels, of Churubusco, Ind., Mrs. Roxie Hamilton, address not available; 28 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Releases New Folklore Edition

Leonard Roberts, of Stanville, well-known folklorist and director of Appalachian Studies at Pikeville College, has just released another edition of an early work called "Old Greasybeard: Tales From the Cumberland Gap."

It is an anthology of eastern Kentucky tales collected and annotated by Roberts with line illustrations by Leonard Epstein. Supported by a strong historical introduction, the tales themselves give insight into the lives and inner strengths of these isolated peoples. A silver thread of humor often weaves through dark and troubled lives.

Roberts says the book grew out of his teaching experience at Union College in Knox county. "I began collecting tales from around the area," he says, "from people up the Cumberland River, and from many in-service teachers in the region—including many from northern Tennessee."

"Some of these tales are the rarest in my collected works," he continues. "For instance, animal tales are fragmentary in these Scotch-Irish areas of the Appalachian Mountains, yet with some lucky finds I have included herein ten animal tales."

He offers an interesting sidelight. It seems the book had some bad breaks in its original publication and sale in 1969. Though widely and favorably reviewed, both for fine tales and anecdotes as well as scholarly references and authentication; the original publisher, Folklore Associates of Hatboro, Pennsylvania, sold out to a research organization in Detroit, where the original printing sold out. Publication rights were finally released to Roberts for the present edition at Pikeville College Press.

The book is currently available from the Appalachian Studies Center, Pikeville College, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501.

Receivership Asked For Water System

(From The Paintsville Herald)

A move to force the troubled Johnson County water system into receivership has been initiated by the state's Utility Regulatory Commission.

A civil action has been filed in Johnson circuit court, asking the courts to "appoint a receiver to take control of the property, assets, books, records, equipment, and assume control of the operations, management, and all functions of the Johnson County Water District, under the direction and control" of the court.

Water commissioner member F.M. Tackett, who has been attempting to correct some of the system's problems since his recent appointment, reportedly was discussing possible management arrangements Monday with a representative of the Water Resources Assistance Corporation (WRAC).

WRAC, formed recently in the Big Sandy with the specific intent of assisting water districts with management and training, has previously been considered as a means of salvaging the county system.

A consultant report called the county system "for practical purposes bankrupt" several months ago. Major extensions of the system have been placed in the county, but a lack of funds for storage tanks has hampered expansion, and funding sources reportedly have not been anxious to make loans because of the problems the system was having both financially and physically.

Rural Water System Assistance Available

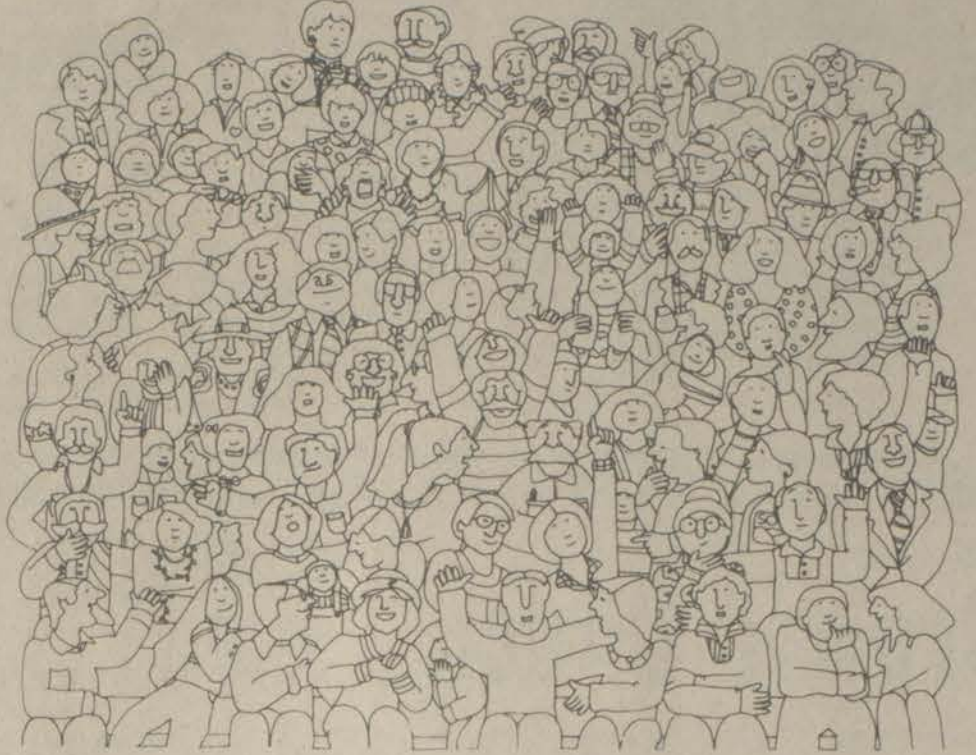

The Agriculture Department has signed a contract with the National Rural Water Association (NRWA) to provide assistance to rural water systems in 25 selected states, one of which is Kentucky.

This program will help to meet the goals of the President's rural policy, which is designed to increase the effectiveness of federal programs in rural areas.

Under this one-year, $800,000 contract, NRWA "circuit riders" will help small water systems, which often do not have professional staff, to improve the quality of their drinking water and expand water supply.

Any rural water system in the 25 selected states can request assistance under this contract. The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and the NRWA will establish priorities among the requests based on serving the most needy communities first. FmHA is a credit arm of the Department of Agriculture, which has financed nearly 30,000 rural water and waste disposal systems.

Have You Been Left Out?

The preliminary census counts are completed for the city of Prestonsburg and we think that you have not been counted. An incorrect census count can affect financing of federal funds to our city and also affect public and private programs. Each person not counted equals hundreds of government dollars lost—dollars that could help you! If you have not completed a census form or been interviewed by a census worker, please call city hall from 8:30-4:00 and let us know. We think you are important and that you should be counted.

NOW—You Can Earn Interest on All your Funds!

Have you ever wished you could earn interest on all your funds? Well, now you can.

The Bank Josephine is pleased to offer a completely new service . . . our SAV-NOW CHECKING ACCOUNT.

The SAV-NOW Account enables you to earn interest on money that previously earned no interest. To qualify, just maintain a pre-set minimum balance in your Savings Account.

You make all deposits directly to your regular savings account. Then as incoming checks are presented for payment against your Bank Josephine Checking account, the exact amount of the checks will be transferred from the Savings Account. (Your checking balance will always remain at zero, so that all your funds draw a big 5 1/4% interest from the date of deposit until the day they are used.) Your account will be credited monthly for the amount of interest you earn.

Should You Choose The SAV-NOW Account?

If you choose the SAV-NOW Account, there are lots of financial advantages waiting for you. How you use it will depend on your own situation. We'd like to help you make a decision about your particular financial needs.

In fact, we'd like to help you with your other financial matters, too. In an economy such as ours, all of us are apt to experience some financial difficulties, as well as new financial opportunities; this can be very confusing. The best advice we can give you during these times is to have a sound financial plan based on your own needs.

We can help you develop and implement that plan. Our well-trained, professional employees are eager to help. Come in soon for a frank discussion of the SAV-NOW Account and other options that might be important to you.

Family Planning Services Available To Area Residents

By JO BURCHETT, Health Educator

Family Planning is available to all residents of the Big Sandy District. The Big Sandy Family Planning District includes the following counties: Johnson, Floyd, Magoffin, Martin, and two offices in Pike. All family planning offices are located in the Health Departments plus our extra office on Main Street in Pikeville to help serve our largest county.

Nursing staff is available to counsel with the patients on birth control methods and to set up appointments for the clinic at which a physician gives a complete examination. The birth control methods available through Family Planning are the birth control pills, I.U.D., diaphragms, foam, condoms, natural family planning.

The examination by the physician and the nurse are as follows: a pap smear, pelvic, breast exam, blood work, urinalysis, blood pressure reading, low blood pressure. Our goal is to keep our patients healthy and we are always available for counseling and a referral is made to a physician when necessary. Lab pregnancy tests are available upon request. Information on sterilization program can be obtained through our family planning clinic.

The Family Planning Program in our district is a comprehensive health service, offering the patient private confidential counseling service.

Federal regulations require a small fee for the Family Planning service. Following guideline can be used as an example: a family of three with an income of between $8,000 and $9,000 per year will pay 20 per cent of total cost of delivering this service (or $10.00 for an annual exam and $1.00 for a supply visit). Some will pay a little more, some nothing. A sliding fee scale is used to calculate the amount paid by each individual.

The Family Planning office is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. For further information or an appointment call 886-8702.

Youth Employment Program Is Landed

The Ashland-based Eastern Kentucky Educational Development Corporation (EKEDC), coordinated a project during the last school year known as the Cooperative Demonstration Project for Youth Employment Training Program Participants (CODY) in 15 public school districts in Eastern Kentucky, including Floyd county. Funding was awarded to EKEDC by the State Employment Training Council.

Basic objective of the project was to develop a model program for Kentucky that would provide CETA-eligible in-school youth with classroom training and actual work experience in the community which will prepare them for a career after graduation. The students received wages for their hours of work experience through CETA and they received academic credit from their school for successful participation in the program.

According to Harry P. Brown, director of EKEDC, CODY was developed because of the need to improve the existing in-school CETA youth programs.

"In-school work programs have been operational for several years," Brown said, "but this program was unique in that the students received class instruction and academic credit as well as wages for working—both at no cost to local school districts."

Participating school districts were Ashland Independent, Augusta Independent, Bath, Carter, Lewis, Elliott, Floyd, Lawrence, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Montgomery, Pike and Rowan counties.

More than 200 businesses and organizations within these school districts were involved, and each will receive a certificate of appreciation. Businesses which participated from Floyd county are Kentucky and West Virginia Gas Company, Dr. N. Roger Jurich, Pic Pac Grocery, Prestonsburg Auto Parts, Radio Shack, The Bank Josephine, Lloyd's Hardware Store.

Toll-Free Phones Set Up To Handle Public Calls

A nationwide toll-free telephone service has been initiated in the Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining (OSM) Region II office in Knoxville, Tennessee, to handle questions or complaints about present or old coal surface mining activities in the United States.

The number to call from anywhere in the country outside Tennessee is 1-800-251-9302; the number for anyone calling the Tennessee is 1-800-332-9150. Calls may be made at any time, day or night. During normal off-duty hours, a caller can leave a recorded message which will be answered as soon as normal duty hours begin.

Don't Stand Still—Kudzu May Get You!

What grows a mile-a-minute, is able to leap up an empty house in a single summer, and is nearly indestructible? Look! Up in the trees! It's kudzu!

Kudzu? That's right. Kudzu is an exotic vine with a broad three-pointed leaf and woody stem which was imported to the U.S. from Asia, according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine. And while many Southerners call it the mile-a-minute vine, it doesn't grow quite that fast. Actually, "at most, a stem can grow about one foot per day," says the National Wildlife Federation's monthly publication for children.

Once kudzu starts to grow, it doesn't want to stop. The vine has engulfed much of the South, where long growing seasons and abundant precipitation are to its liking. Now it's spreading northward into Kentucky, Virginia, and Maryland, and westward into Texas and Oklahoma.

The plant begins growing in the early spring with its green tendrils radiating from its tap roots. It produces great quantities of foliage and, by late summer, clusters of fragrant purple flowers. Its tendrils can grow 60 feet in a season, often climbing vertical obstacles as high as 40 feet.

"Americans first saw kudzu at the Japanese exhibit during the U.S. Centennial celebration in 1876," reports Ranger Rick. "They liked the way it looked, so they began to plant the vine to shade their porches." By the early 1900's farmers found that kudzu was inexpensive forage for livestock.

During the Great Depression, it was discovered that the vine's deep roots, dense foliage, and rapid-growth, along with its contribution of nitrogen to the soil, provided ground cover to control erosion, stabilize road banks, and rejuvenate nitrogen-deficient soil. Some southerners called it the "miracle vine."

Asians have always put kudzu to good use. In Japan the vines are used to make cloth, baskets, and paper, and hay is made from the leaves. The Chinese grind up the vines to make a popular kind of flour.

For most Americans, however, kudzu has lost its charm. Farmers have found that as forage, it is easily overgrazed, and much of the vine is woody stem, useless as hay. It also invades pastures and crowds out crops. An estimated one million acres or more of southern farm, forest, and pasture land are now covered by kudzu.

The vine isn't popular with foresters, either, since it engulfs all vegetation in its path, killing both large trees and saplings. "Telephone companies don't like the way it sometimes pulls down their poles with its heavy, grasping vines," says Ranger Rick.

So kudzu's aggressive growing behavior outweighs the positive qualities which caused many southern communities to form "kudzu clubs" and elect "kudzu queens" back in the '40's.

Since the vine has spread so widely in the South, only a massive eradication effort using chemical herbicides would be effective. Economic and environmental costs make such a campaign unlikely.

So landowners wage their own battles against the "mile-a-minute" vine, remembering that if kudzu is on the loose, you can't stand in one place for too long.

"Teacher Centers" Being Introduced

An educational movement, which has been gathering momentum nationwide, has come to Kentucky.

The introduction of "teacher centers" into school districts across the country has provided elementary and secondary school teachers from both public and non-public schools with a new opportunity for professional development.

Kentucky educators will learn more of this concept at the second annual Teacher Center Conference Sept. 10 and 11, at the Holiday Inn in Frankfort. The Kentucky Department of Education is sponsoring the conference to look at how teacher centers might provide a cooperative use of the state's teacher training resources.

Holding Two Offices Held Legal

A person may hold two state offices, or a state office and state employment at the same time, according to an opinion recently released by the attorney general's office.

The opinion, written by Deputy Attorney General Robert Chenoweth, stated, as long as the two positions are compatible which, "depends on the character and relation of the offices," they are legal under the State Constitution and statutory law.

The opinion was requested by John M. Keith, Jr., a Cynthiana attorney.

Opinions issued by the state attorney general's office interpret state statutes, but do not carry the force of law.

Fayette—The Fayette County School Board's Affirmative Action Advisory Committee is a public agency required to conduct its meetings according to the Kentucky Open Meetings' Law, stated an opinion recently released from the attorney general's office.

Since the committee was created by the Fayette County Board of Education and the school district is created by statute, it is technically a public agency and must adhere to the law, stated the opinion written by Assistant Attorney General Carl Miller.

Boone—A county which selects a public defender program is committed for the fiscal year and must cover certain expenses incurred during the defense of indigents charged with felonies and represented by public defenders, according to a recently released attorney general's opinion.

These expenses include expert witnesses' fees and psychological examinations for indigent defendants, stated the opinion written by Deputy Attorney General Charles W. Runyan.

The state furnishes $16 thousand a year for the public defender program, but it only covers the fees for the defense counsel, stated the opinion.

If the defense attorney decides private facilities are necessary for the psychological examinations instead of state facilities the county must also cover that expense, according to the attorney general's opinion.

The opinion was requested by James E. Parson, of Burlington, county coordinator.

Rowan—A county-appointed board member must be removed by the county judge-executive with the approval of fiscal court if showing "misconduct as a board member or upon conviction of a felony", states a recently released attorney general's opinion.

Although two statutes were in conflict over who removes a board member the later enactment prevails and the county judge-executive must initiate the removal, according to the opinion written by Assistant Attorney General Thomas R. Emerson.

The opinion was requested by W.C. Flannery, Rowan county judge-executive, Morehead.

Hardin—When an official resigns before the term of office is completed, the position must be on the next ballot even if no one chooses to run, according to a recently released attorney general's opinion.

Master Commissioner's Sale

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT
(Cr. 78-GI-683)

Lula Hall Burton ...Plf.

Vs. Notice of Sale.

Lacey Hall and Rat Meade Hall ...Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the December 7 term, 1979 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Ky., to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 22nd day of August 1980 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

The Defendants' interest in that certain tract of land conveyed Lacy and Lula Hall by deed of September 9, 1960, from Evan and Peggy Hall, as recorded in Deed Book 175, page 203, in the Floyd County Clerk's office, and described more particularly as follows, viz: Lying and being on the waters Mill Branch of Left Beaver Creek. Beginning on Grover Hill's line, thence up the hollow to a rock in the hollow; thence up with the pipe line to a planted stone at the new ground; thence down the ridge to a locust tree on top of the ridge at Myra McCoy's line; thence down the point to a black gum tree at W. B. Tackett's line; thence a straight line around the hill to a hollow; thence down the hollow with Grover Hill's line to the main branch at the beginning, so as to include all land in said boundary.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $30,251.00 with interest thereon at 8% annually from the 7th day of December, 1979 until satisfied and the costs of this section, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commission for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 30th day of July, 1980.

MARSHALL DAVIDSON
Master Commissioner
Floyd Circuit Court

8-6-31.

Anyone wishing to run must file a petition in the prescribed form within 55 days of the election stated the opinion written by Walter C. Herdman, assistant deputy attorney general. Copies can be obtained in the clerk's office.

The opinion was requested by Ed Moore, West Point City councilman.

Hopkins—Withdrawal of a city from a joint planning commission would disassociate that particular city from the current planning agreement, according to an opinion recently released from the attorney general's office.

The opinion, written by Walter C. Herdman, assistant deputy attorney general, said, remaining members would not be affected.

It was also stated in the opinion that, in withdrawing, the city could not plan independently until they made efforts to reach negotiations with the other cities. If negative responses came from all the cities they could proceed to plan independently, stated the opinion.

The opinion was requested by G. Herbert Pritchett, chairman of Hopkins County Joint City-County Planning Commission.

HEROES OF ROCK

Fascinating film and tape footage from the careers of 82 of the rock world's biggest stars—including Elvis Presley (pictured), the Beatles, Chubby Checker and Janis Joplin—have been combined with rarely seen clips from concerts, recording sessions and motion pictures in 'Heroes of Rock 'n' Roll,' an extraordinary 'rockumentary' film airing on 'The ABC Monday Night Movie,' MONDAY, AUGUST 18.

The innovative movie, with commentary by Jeff Bridges, contains rare film and tape footage, including Elvis Presley's original screen test, previously unviewed footage of the Beatles and performances by Janis Joplin, Jimi Hendrix and Otis Redding.

CHECK LISTINGS FOR EXACT TIME.

ISLANDS IN THE STREAM

Michael-James Wixted wages a tremendous battle with a marlin as (standing, left to right) David Hemmings and George C. Scott watch, in 'Islands in the Stream.' The television premiere of the drama, based on the Ernest Hemingway novel, will be broadcast on 'The CBS Tuesday Night Movies,' TUESDAY, AUGUST 19.

David Hemmings, Gilbert Roland and Claire Bloom co-star in the film which became the first Hemingway work to be brought to the 'big screen' in two decades. 'Islands in the Stream' is a skillful mixture of character study, romantic drama and suspenseful adventure. Its focus is the very soul of a man, Tom Hudson, who, feeling himself a failure, sequesters himself away from the world.

Child Welfare Worker Retires

Mrs. Irene Campbell, of Allen, is pictured at a dinner given in her honor by co-workers at the Human Resources Department here. She is retiring after 27 years as a child welfare worker with the department.

A mother of two and a teacher in Garrett, Wheelwright and Martin schools for 15 years, Mrs. Campbell was only the second child welfare worker in the county when she joined Human Resources in 1952. There are now 15 in the field.

Of her work, which has been mostly in the area of adoptions and foster care, Mrs. Campbell said she has "enjoyed every minute of it." She hopes to travel with her husband, Lewis, a retired teacher, and to do volunteer work with children.

Friends Of KET Plan Membership Campaign

Friends of KET are now in the final planning stages of a membership campaign to be conducted on August 18 and 19. Organized by county, the Friends' tele-fund is a telephone campaign designed to raise funds for the new fall program schedule which emphasizes too new KET series premiering next month.

"Kentucky Journal" and "Bywords" are new week-nightly series premiering Monday, September 8. Both are produced by, for and about Kentuckians. "Bywords," an interview series, acquaints viewers with interesting Kentuckians, while "Kentucky Journal" looks at national and state issues which affect the people of the Commonwealth.

Friends callers will canvass Kentucky's counties by phone during the course of both evenings. When the membership returns are in, KET will tape a short program on the local Friends group and the county with the greatest proportional number of new memberships.

Those who join Friends on KET will receive a subscription to the KET Program Guide, discounts on KET merchandise and other program-related materials. Each year, members also have the chance to vote for the programs and series they would like to see purchased for the next year.

Anyone who wishes to become a Friend of KET and who is not contacted by a county Friends member should call collect to the KET Network Center in Lexington. The number to call is: (606) 233-3000.

QUESTION:

"Our natural gas bills go up and down with the seasons. Any way to change that?"

ANSWER:

"Columbia's Budget Payment Plan evens them out. You pay the same every month, summer and winter."

August is sign-up month for the Columbia Budget Payment Plan. Which means that starting in September, your natural gas bills can be averaged out, and you'll have the same, predictable amount to pay each month. Summer and winter.

For example, a family with a total bill for the year of $564.00 will pay $47.00 each month on the Budget Payment Plan. And have the assurance of knowing what each bill will be. Without the Budget Payment Plan, a summer bill could be as low as $12.00, but their February bill could reach $95.00.

Gone are the extremes. You'll pay more in the summer, but you'll pay a lot less in the winter. And at the end of 12 months, if you've paid for more natural gas than you've used, you get a credit.

Over one-third of our residential customers are now using the Budget Payment Plan. And August is the month to sign up. So act soon. To start the Plan—or receive a brochure that explains it more fully—contact your Columbia Gas office. Also ask for a copy of our free conservation tips booklet, "The Everyday Energy Saver's Guide."

KET's August Programs Spotlight Kentucky

KET's eye is on Kentucky as August programming comes into view. Heading up the list of Kentucky programs is a repeat performance of "Run That By Me Again."

U. of L...NCAA Tournaments...The Fabulous Five...Western Kentucky Hilltoppers...NIT...Adolph Rupp Rivalries...Bobby Knight...Basketball Bob Cousy...Clem Haskins...Rupp's Runts...Cazzie Russell...Joe Hall...UCLA Roundball...Wah Wah Jones...Georgetown Tigers...The Fiddlin' Five...Kentucky State...Denny Crum...NAIA...Seattle...Rick Robey...and Ohio State are featured.

The sports nostalgia series highlighting great moments from 50 years of Kentucky sports history, encores Saturday, August 9 at 6:30 p.m. on KET.

The 21-part series features highlights from five Bowl games, six NCAA games, two NAIA games, one NIT game, and games from Western Kentucky University, Eastern Kentucky University, University of Kentucky, University of Louisville, Morehead State University, Georgetown College and Kentucky State University.

Coaches and team members gather in KET's studio to recall the good plays, the surprise turnovers, the unexpected or expected good or bad break that kept the team going or sounded the death knell.

"Run That By Me Again" debuts with clips from the 1976 Peach Bowl game between the University of Kentucky and the University of North Carolina.

Also, part of KET's August line-up, is a new KET production, "Flying Fortress." This half-hour special examines the B-52 practice bombing runs that the Air Force makes over Kentucky. The bombers are currently flying over parts of central Kentucky gaining efficiency in low-level bombing, air refueling and electronic countermeasures. KET producer Jonas Chaney attends training sessions in Dayton, Oh., and films the E-19 crew in action as a practice bombing mission is made over Berea and portions of Central Kentucky. According to Chaney, Kentucky was chosen for the Air Force test runs because of its close proximity to several air force bases in surrounding states—a factor that enables the Air Force to conserve fuel and maximize the use of their air time. "Flying Fortress" airs Sunday, August 3 at 10:30 p.m. and is repeated Saturday, August 16 at 8:00 p.m.

Thursday, August 7 at 10:00 p.m. "Soundstage" presents Kentucky native, John Prine, singer and songwriter. Famous for his colorful, often humorous songs, Prine performs "Killin' the Blues," "Hello In There," "Spanish Pipe Dream," and "Ubangi Stamp," among others.

Another KET production, "Shakertown Round Table," features Al Smith of the Appalachian Regional Commission moderating a topical discussion of Kentucky's lagging population growth with historians, academicians and others. The social and economic impacts of the downward trend are the focus of the program airing Sunday, August 10 at 10:30 p.m.

Rounding out the KET "August" Kentucky focus is a half-hour special about "St. Agnes House," in Lexington Ky., a cooperative residence facility offering low-cost housing and emotional support to cancer patients who are away from their families. "St. Agnes House" airs Sunday, August 17 at 10:30 p.m.

Boy Scout Troop Takes River Trip

Troop 27, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by First Church of God, Prestonsburg, recently completed the prestigious 50 mile Canoeing Award of the BSA.

The troop completed the trip in two days, and enroute camped on the banks of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River and prepared their own meals. This experience was not without some excitement, a few canoes capsized; they encountered some rapids and rough water, but in the tradition of scouting "they were prepared" and completed the trip in grand style.

One Year Old

Kami Andrea Baca, daughter of Andrew and Artilou Baca, of Printer, celebrated her first birthday, Wednesday, July 16. The occasion was celebrated with a party given at the home of her grandfather in Portales, New Mexico. Attending were members of her family and her friends. She received many gifts. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Senforoso Baca, of Portales, N.M., and her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McKinney, of Martin.

Pipeline Work In Martin Area Nearing Finish

Work is being completed this month on a $204,000 pipeline construction project at Martin which will help assure continued dependable service to Columbia Gas of Kentucky customers.

About one mile of new 10-inch steel pipe is being installed, replacing pipeline sections placed there in 1936, according to Bill Bowman, Ashland division manager for the natural gas retailer.

Valley Pipelines, Inc., of Prestonsburg, is doing the replacement for the company's supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp.

The pipe is specially coated to protect it from corrosion, and welds joining sections are checked by x-ray before installation.

Before the line goes into operation, it will be tested under higher pressures than those used in normal operation. After construction is complete, the pipeline right-of-way will be restored to its previous condition.

If you have lived in the McDowell area for a great deal of your life, you are no doubt acquainted with native Floyd Countian Dr. Mary Hall. Born in Wheelwright, Ky., Dr. Hall returned following her education to establish her medical practice at the Clinic. Dr. Hall attained her pre-medical education at Berea College, Berea, Ky., and then attended the University of Louisville School of Medicine. Her internship and residency were completed in 1964 at Kings County Hospital Center in Brooklyn, New York. In 1967, Dr. Hall came home to practice medicine in McDowell. In 1973, she obtained certification in family practice and since that time has maintained her practice at the Regional Medical Clinic. An avid interest in all athletic activities allows Dr. Hall to enjoy active participation on the hospital/clinic softball team, and spectator participation for the UK Wildcats. Dr. Hall is a member of the Floyd County Board of Education and was recently approved by the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees as Clinical Instructor, Department of Allied Health Education and Research, College of Allied Health Professionals.

When a person in need of an operation is admitted to the McDowell Hospital, he or she will be under the care of Dr. James A. Webb. Dr. Webb, the surgeon who came to the Clinic in June 1979, is a native of Oklahoma, where he received his medical education. In 1961 he earned American Board of Surgery certification. Before arriving in McDowell Dr. Webb was staff physician for General Electric in Louisville. Among a wide variety of interests, his title as pilot finds him spending a great deal of his leisure time in the air. In approximately six weeks, Dr. Webb will be joined by Dr. Ruben P. Singayao, general surgeon, who specializes in orthopedic, vascular and trauma surgery.

Joining the Clinic group in September 1979, Dr. John Phillip Fairchild specializes in pediatrics. A native of Washington, D. C., Dr. Fairchild received his medical education at George Washington University. His pediatric residency training was completed in 1950 at Gallinger Municipal Hospital, located in the same city. Dr. Fairchild's impressive background includes serving as Chief of Pediatrics at Brooke General Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and at Walter Reed General Hospital in Bethesda, Maryland. After 26 years active duty in the U. S. Army, he retired with the rank of colonel, and before coming to McDowell, he served as Chief Surgeon at the U. S. Soldiers and Airmen's Home in Washington, D. C. In his time away from the Clinic, Dr. Fairchild enjoys his activities with the church and the Boy Scouts.

Dr. Gallosa hails from the Philippines where she received her B. S. degree and Doctor of Medicine at Cebu Institute of Medicine, Cebu City. She served her internship at Cebu Velez General Hospital in Cebu City. In 1973, she came to the United States. She has worked in Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Michigan and, most recently, at Albany Medical Center in Albany, New York, as a Fellow in pediatric cardiology.

Dr. Vicher, also a native of the Philippines, completed her education in 1969 at the University of the East Ramon Magsaysay Memorial Medical Center in Manila. She came to the U. S. in 1974 and served her residency in internal medicine at Kingsbrook Jewish Medical Center, Brooklyn, New York. Prior to coming to McDowell, she held a cardiology fellowship at Kingsbrook.

Before becoming the McDowell hospital emergency room physician, Dr. Jagdishchandra Parikh was a member of the Clinic staff. He practiced full-time at the Clinic and provided ER coverage at the hospital every other weekend. Now, the India native covers the emergency room full-time. Following completion of his residency in June 1979 at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Chicago, Dr. Parikh joined the McDowell Clinic.

Many people who live in the McDowell area may remember Dr. Susan J. Brenner. Dr. Brenner was a member of the McDowell ARH medical staff from 1965 to 1974. When she left McDowell in 1974, she moved to Memorial General Hospital in Las Cruces, New Mexico. Dr. Brenner has returned to McDowell and is now practicing at the Clinic. She graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1959. She established her residency in internal medicine at Bernalillo County Indian Hospital, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Dr. Carlos Moreno also works full-time providing emergency room physician coverage. Native of Columbia, S.A., Dr. Moreno, has practiced at McDowell A.R.H. since 1974.

ABOVE: Tammy Lance, L.P.N., is preparing to take a patient's blood pressure. The monitor above her head will instantly register any change in the patient's condition.

RIGHT: Dr. Hall and Tammy Lance, L.P.N., are shown in the coronary care unit at the hospital. Hasadore Johnson, a patient in C.C.U., can be closely watched—any change in his condition will be detected immediately.

SERVICES

Recent additions to the staff of the Regional Medical Clinic in McDowell, Ky. bring the total number of physicians at that facility to six (6). In addition to the Clinic physicians, the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital has two (2) emergency room doctors and a radiologist. The Clinic is working closely with McDowell A.R.H. to continue expansion of the specialties now offered at the Clinic and the Hospital.

Health care professionals are a vital part of every community and those at the Regional Medical Clinic and the McDowell Hospital strive to provide the people of Floyd county and the surrounding counties with quality medical care.

If you are unaware of some of the special services offered by the hospital, you may be interested to know that the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital strives to respond to the needs of the area it serves.

A four-bed coronary care unit allows patients with critical heart problems to be closely monitored at all times. Any change in the condition of the patients can be immediately detected by the R. N. who staffs the unit.

The McDowell Hospital provides emergency room coverage on a 24-hour basis.

The respiratory therapy department is especially proud of the latest addition to its services. The MAII Ventilator purchased last year provides mechanical ventilation to assist or support breathing.

McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital is one of 10 hospitals in the rural health care system known as Appalachian Regional Hospitals (ARH). ARH is a non-profit corporation consisting of hospitals, primary care centers and other related facilities and services in Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Is Winner of New Car

Jimbo Artrip celebrated his 5th birthday Tuesday, July 22, with a party in his honor at the Burger Queen in Martin.

Joining Jimbo in the festivities were his friends Shawn Wright, Tammy Jones, Jimmy Campbell, Marie Campbell, Mike Davidson, David and Stacey Bentley, Phillip and Amy Anderson, Brian, Teresa, and Stephen Akers. Serving the ice cream and cake were Chanda Spencer and Christy Slusher, of Burger Queen of Martin.

Was Public Health Nurse, Returns Here For Visit

Ruby (Barker) Courter came back to Floyd county this week, wondering how many of the gray-haired men and women she saw on the street had once bared their arms as children for her immunizing needle. For Mrs. Courter was last in these parts 50 years ago as a public health nurse, in the days when Dr. Marvin Ransdall was director of the public health service here.

A native of North Carolina, Ruby Barker was in training in Louisville, intent on going to Nigeria as a missionary for the Southern Baptist Convention, when the Depression called a halt to those plans. Instead, she married Bill Courter, a marine engineer sailing out of New York, where the couple made their home.

A summons from the Board of Health brought her back as public health nurse in 1930, however, a post she was to hold for 15 months. The county had over 300 one-room schoolhouses in those days, she recalled this week, as reminiscences flowed of hair-raising daily rounds made by horse, rail and a sturdy Ford coupe. Mr. and Mrs. Courter now live on Staten Island, N.Y.

Family Practitioner

Dr. Don V. Bryson opened his offices at the Family Health Center in Martin last week. He is a family practitioner, and his practice includes obstetrics along with all other aspects of family medicine. In 1978, Dr. Bryson spent the summer at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, doing a two-month preceptorship in community medicine with Dr. Lowell Martin. He is now an active member of Our Lady of the Way Hospital's medical staff.

A native of Anderson, S.C., he began his medical training at Cumberland College and is a graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Medicine. He has just completed a one-year internship at the Trover Clinic in Madisonville. Dr. Bryson, his wife Inez and their two children reside in Prestonsburg.

Dr. Bryson's offices are located in the Martin Clinic building next door to Dr. Lowell Martin's offices. Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Training Is Prelude To Black Lung Clinics In Five-County Area

Diane Cooksey, R.N., community director for Highlands Regional Hospital here, recently returned from a black lung clinic training session held at Kettering Medical Center, Kettering, Ohio.

The seminar, held at the medical center's Institute for Respiratory Diseases July 28-31, was financed by a grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) and sponsored by the American Lung Association. The lung association was the initial recipient of the grant money.

Mrs. Cooksey, under the aegis of Highlands Regional Hospital, will be responsible for setting up and overseeing five black lung clinics in a five-county area of eastern Kentucky. The Highlands project will include residents in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Pike and Martin counties.

Purpose of the project, which is funded by HEW, is to evaluate potential cases of black lung and other related diseases such as emphysema, bronchitis and asthma.

Services offered will include free diagnosis and treatment for anyone who has worked in or around a coal mine for at least three years and has an occupationally caused lung disease. Included will be an educational program aimed at teaching families of those affected to understand the condition and to learn to support and care for patients.

McLains To Feature Goins Bros.

The McLain Family Band Festival, featuring the Goins Brothers, of Prestonsburg, will be held August 15-17 on the McLain Family's Big Hill farm, near Berea. Pictured on the farm, from left, are the McLains, Nancy Ann, Raymond W., his wife Beverly, Ruth, Raymond K., and Michael (kneeling).

The Goins Brothers, featuring Melvin and Ray Goins, Route 1, Prestonsburg, is a scheduled group at the McLain Family Band Festival to be held August 15-17 at the McLain Family's Big Hill farm, eight miles southeast of Berea, on US Hwy. 421. The family emphasis is enhanced by the performing family groups from all over the world as well as the family makeup of the audience, which last year came from 35 states and 11 foreign countries. Several families plan to hold repeat reunions at the weekend festival with three or even four generations present.

The 26 family bands scheduled in the Berea festival come from as far away as Czechoslovakia and Japan. In addition to The Goins Brothers, which will perform on Saturday, there will be Buck White and the Down Home Folks, the Lewis Family, Jim and Jesse and the Virginia Boys, the Green Grass Cloggers, Janette and Joe Carter, the Country Gazette and Jean Ritchie of the singing Ritchie Family, of Viper, Kentucky. The festival also features an Open Stage at the start of each day when any band from the audience that wants to perform may do so.

Census Bureau To Take Work Survey Here

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the week of August 18-23, Joseph R. Norwood, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Charlotte, announced Friday.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in June the survey indicated that of the 104.5 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 96.5 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 7.7 percent, higher than the 7.0 percent recorded in April.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Interviewers who will visit households in this area include: Patricia A. Walters, of East Point.

Students shouldn't have to worry about paying for Hospital or Doctor bills.

And neither should parents.

With all their studies, social activities and decisions for the future to worry about, college-aged students don't need the added burden of potential hospital or medical bills. And neither do their parents.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky can help with a pre-paid health care plan designed specifically for college-aged students. This Student Plan offers comprehensive hospital benefits plus surgical and medical benefits, so it gives the students the protection they need and parents the peace of mind they want.

To be eligible for the Student Program you must be a full-time student, enrolled in a Kentucky college or university, junior college, vocational business, nursing or practical nursing school, or a Kentucky resident attending an accredited out-of-state school, and, under 27 years old. If you're a student who qualifies, or a parent of such a student, use the coupon below to write for complete details about the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Student Plan.

State Job Losers May Get Insurance At Group Rates

In the continuing effort to assist state employees who have been separated from their jobs in recent months, the state is allowing qualified former employees to purchase health insurance at group rates for up to nine months from their separation.

Through the co-operation of both health insurance agencies serving Kentucky state government, Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Kentucky and Healthcare of Louisville, the program is being made retroactive to April 1. The program will be administered through the Department of Personnel.

Personnel Commissioner Dick Robinson said, "Many employees are really caught in the economic bind that's prevalent not only in Kentucky, but throughout the country. This gives them an opportunity to cut some costs as they seek new employment and maybe feel better about their state employment that they've left."

The program is a result of Senate Bill 270 which Governor John Y. Brown Jr. signed into law on April 3, 1980. The law became effective July 15, 1980. State employees separated between April 1 and July 15 are also eligible.

Separated state employees can participate in these insurance programs by making necessary back payments to the date of their separation.

Qualified former employees wishing to take part in the programs may contact the Division of Employee Services in the Department of Personnel, room 254, Capitol Annex, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, (502) 564-6700.

Pharmacy Footnotes
by HAROLD COOLEY

Health is a world-wide problem. The 2,750,000,000 people living in increasingly closer relationship with each other in the international community provide ample evidence to substantiate this statement. Disease has no respect for geography. Individuals in all nations of the world must become increasingly aware of the nature of the world health problems. This is necessary to determine which organizations are contributing to the solution of international health problems, and then, to support them.

Since health is such a big problem even here in the United States, we at COOLEY APOTHECARY try to make our part of health delivery as personal, professional, and pleasant as possible. We always have a registered pharmacist on duty, we dispense only the best quality ingredients, and we welcome third party payments. We are small enough to know you and large enough to serve you. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-5.

Oil—Another Kentucky Resource

When Kentuckians think of energy, they think of coal. But the state has another resource—oil.

Kentucky ranks 17th among the 33 oil-producing states in the United States. In 1979 the state's 14,000-wells produced 5.5 million barrels of oil, or more than $200 million worth. Oil producing countries will eventually receive higher revenues from their depletable resource but face a lean 13 months now.

Production figures for 1978, latest available, show that Boyd county produced 13,018 barrels of oil that year. Lee county led the area with 693,045 barrels, and Perry was second with 224,423.

The 1980 General Assembly raised the oil severance tax from a 0.5 percent rate to 4.5 percent of the gross value of the oil. However, the legislature also repealed a provision which allowed counties to impose a 1 percent tax on their oil, and delayed until fiscal year 1981-82, the date when counties will receive one-half of the severance taxes.

There are three areas in Kentucky which produce oil and natural gas, according to Henry Morgan, director of the division of oil and gas in the state Department of Mines and Minerals.

The Eastern Kentucky field lies east of a line which runs roughly from Greenup county southwest to McCreary county. This field produces more gas than oil.

What is known in Kentucky as the Western Kentucky Basin is a part of the Illinois Basin. It lies north of a line drawn from Crittenden county to Trigg, Logan and Meade counties. Oil predominates in this area, but there are gas wells also.

The South Central field lies along the Tennessee border, south of a line running from Simpson county, through Warren up to Green, Taylor and Casey and down to McCreary county. It's almost all oil production in this field, according to Morgan, although there are some small, non-commercial gas wells.

Kentucky's oil production has declined 10 percent a year for the past 20 years, Morgan reported. He explained the reason for the decline is that new wells are more productive than old wells and production starts to drop off from the first day a well is put into operation. In 18 to 24 months, a well may be down to 25 percent of its original production.

Morgan also said interest in oil exploration is high. In 1975 the division issued 1,399 permits to drill, deepen or reopen gas or oil wells and last year 1,829 permits were issued. That number has already been reached so far this year and Morgan expects the number will be close to 3,000 by the end of the year.

Operators have one year in which to sink the well. If they are successful, the permit extends for the life of a producing well.

Morgan said there are about 1,200 operators in Kentucky, and the vast majority of them are small, independent operators. An operator is the person in charge of a production operation.

"Primary" production, or simple pumping of oil from the oil-bearing stratum, will remove about 25 percent of the oil in a particular field. In the 1930s operators began to pump air into some wells to keep the oil moving and get more oil from other wells. This secondary production system was improved in the 1940s by pumping water, rather than air, in. Morgan said this will recover another 20 percent of the oil originally available.

Corps, OSM Seek Joint Mine Permits

Coal companies that perform minor work in rivers, streams or other navigable waters as part of their mining operations would need one less mining permit under a proposed agreement between the Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining (OSM) and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The agreement, which would take effect once the Corps adopts changes in its existing regulations, would allow coal operators to file a single permit application with the regulatory authority, which would be reviewed by the Corps. If the application, under either a State regulatory program or under the Federal permanent regulatory program, meets the requirements, the operator won't need a separate permit from the Corps.

The Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 requires coal mine operators to obtain a mining permit. In addition, operators must also obtain a permit from the Corps to discharge dredge or fill material into navigable waters under the Clean Water Act.

The Corps plans to change its regulations by allowing a blanket "nationwide permit" for all similar operations that are controlled by a regulatory authority, thereby eliminating one of the permits currently required.

"We have always felt that where one agency's requirements can satisfy the legal requirements of another, every attempt should be made to eliminate duplication," said OSM Director Walter N. Heine.

Now more effective secondary production can be obtained by using chemically treated water. "Some companies claim they're getting 95 percent of the oil out and that's great," he says.

One example of Kentucky oil production, according to Martin is the Big Sinking field. The field lies along Big Sinking Creek in Lee, Powell, Estill and Wolfe counties, and was first drilled in the 1910s. It has now produced more oil than any comparable field in Kentucky. It was worked by primary production methods until the late 40s, early 50s, when some companies began to waterflood the field.

Some wells, however are still producing by primary methods. At least one company has chemicals to retrieve oil and plans to increase the areas in which it is experimenting with this method.

Estimates, based on current production and prices, indicate that when the counties do start to receive their share of the severance tax, they will get $3.5 million, as opposed to the $1.5 million they were receiving under the old laws.

The legislature also established the same 4.5 percent severance tax on other depletable resources which had not been taxed before. Included in the list are rock, stone, limestone, shale, gravel, sand, clay, fluorspar, zinc and natural gas. Since the Department of Revenue doesn't have past figures to base estimates on, it will be difficult to make predictions as to what these resources will bring to the state and the producing counties.

Ten Ways To Save on Vacation

By Pat Tague

Even at this late date, there are some procrastinators who have managed to put off a decision on how to spend their summer vacations. If you fall into this category, you are not necessarily sentenced to two weeks of hard labor, fixing fences and pulling weeds at home. Here are ten different ideas on how to use those precious two weeks. They have two things in common. They are a little bit offbeat, and they save money.

Houseswapping. No matter where the vacation, one of the biggest expenses is lodging. Eliminate that cost and you are well on your way to a pleasant, but inexpensive time. You hand over the keys to your home to a family that lives in another part of the country, or even another part of the world, and they hand over their keys to you. The trick is to find a family that not only lives where you want to go, but wants to vacation where you live.

Enter the exchange clubs. You list your home, usually for a fee, and thousands of other families do the same. Find a city you want to visit, contact a family, and with a bit of the old soft-sell, convince them that your neck of the woods is the place to spend a vacation.

Here are the best known exchange directories.

- Vacation Exchange Club (350 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10013) has 3,500 listings, a third of them overseas. A subscription costs $12 a year. Subscribers who list their houses pay $15.

- Holiday Exchanges (P.O. Box 878, Belen, New Mexico, 87002) has 500 subscribers, ten percent of them foreign. A new list appears monthly with an annual subscription rate of $12.

- Inquiline, Inc. (35 Adams St., Bedford Hills, N.Y. 10507) has 2,000 subscribers, and 800 listings, 40 percent of which are foreign. A subscription plus a listing costs $50. If an exchange takes place, both parties pay $100.

The advantages are self-evident. You don't have to pay for a hotel; you can avoid most restaurants, and by actually living in the city you're visiting, you get a better idea of what life there is like.

There is one major disadvantage—you have a bunch of strangers living in your home. There are tales of homes left a wreck, liquor supplies depleted and a missing heirloom or two. But the exchanges say virtually all people who swap homes take better care of the ones they visit than the ones they own.

Housesitting. You can also have the advantages of houseswapping without letting anyone under your roof. As businesses shuffle executives off to various parts of the globe at a moment's notice, many are left with empty homes and no time to sell, or even rent. The housesitter should contact real estate agents in areas where the sitter wants to spend some time.

Housesittings usually are more available if you are willing to spend months rather than weeks at the place. You might be required to do some work around the house, anything from watering the plants to mowing the lawn. Make sure all your responsibilities are written down by the owner so there's no misunderstanding. And be prepared to show excellent references.

Vacation Co-ops. If the idea of an inexpensive vacation is to eliminate hotel costs, why not buy a place to go to year after year. By purchasing a partial share in a vacation co-op or condominium, you have a place to go to that's really your own. Plus you can write off some of the expenses on your income taxes.

Vacation co-ops are biggest in the West Indies. For more information, write Resort Condominiums International, Box 80229, Indianapolis, Ind. 46240 or Interval International, 6075 Sunset Drive, South Miami, Fla. 33143.

If you should get bored with your co-op in the sun, you can always swap it one year for a house somewhere else in the world. Make sure a possible swap is written into your co-op agreement.

Europe. Europe is one vacation that needs a lot of planning. If you can plan 60 to 90 days ahead, you can save as much as half on your air-fare. This is actually a good summer to go to Europe. The dollar is stronger than it has been in several years and that means more purchasing power.

Two things to consider. Stay out of the cities at night. They are not any more dangerous than our own, but they are more expensive. A night in a London hotel can run as high as $150. Go 30 to 40 miles out of London and you can get accommodations for $20-$40. Secondly, southern Europe, with the exception of resorts like the Riviera, is much cheaper than the northern part of the continent. This might be the summer to visit Spain or Portugal rather than England or Germany.

Trains. After lodging, transportation eats up the biggest part of your vacation dollar. If you are traveling in the United States this summer, consider the train. Amtrak, helped along by a $700 million appropriation from Congress is revamping its trains. You can get meals aboard, as well as a private cabin, and Amtrak has a special deal for traveling families. The head of the household travels at full fare; The spouse and children 12-21 pay half fare; children under 12 pay 25 percent of the full fare and those under two generally ride free. There are some restrictions, and ridership is up this year, so you better check ahead.

Camping. If piling the family into a car and taking a cross-country jaunt is still your idea of a great vacation, you can still save money. All across the country, campgrounds are springing up for the family that simply cannot afford to spend money on motels. For five or ten dollars, you get a small area where you can pitch a tent, and cook dinner and breakfast over your portable stove. Many campgrounds have facilities for showers and even washing clothes. Some swank campgrounds even have game rooms. KOA campgrounds is the best known nationally, and some require a reservation.

Backpacking. If you studiously avoid all articles on the back-to-nature movement, you may be missing a great way to have an inexpensive vacation. Four or five days of easy hiking through the woods is the perfect vacation for many—even those who don't list physical fitness among their attributes.

Where do you hike? Ask friends, or check the nearest place where Boy or Girl Scouts go to buy their gear. The salesperson should know where those Scouts are headed. And the salesperson will also give the novice some helpful hints like: never begin a hike with new boots... keep food and gear to a minimum... never hike alone... bring some sort of rain gear.

The High Seas. Another way to avoid motels is to head for water. Motels are very rare on the high seas, but you can rent a houseboat, go on a float trip down a river, charter a windjammer for a cruise through the islands, or take a canoe trip through a series of lakes. Obviously, renting a houseboat or chartering a windjammer can be fairly expensive, but you do avoid most, if not all food costs, especially if you like to eat fish for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The Yellow pages is a good place to start looking for where and what to rent, or check a copy of Adventure Travel, U.S.A. (Adventure Guides, Inc., 36 East 57th., New York, N.Y. 10022). The guide lists all sorts of vacations on water, and where to find them in your state. It also lists such esoteric ways to spend your vacation as cattle drives and pack trips by horse.

College. Those looking for a little intellectual stimulation on their vacation should go back to college. Many institutions offer summer courses that include complete room and board. Subject matter runs from "The Church and the Quality of Life" at Notre Dame to "Historical Geology: Chasms in Earth, Time and Perspective" sponsored by Johns Hopkins University. Some courses offer activities for student-parents who want to bring their children along. The nearest college is the place to go for more information.

Stay at Home. This does not mean two weeks in front of the television. How many people really know their own neighborhoods, cities, or states? Day trips to interesting, and nearby, museums, historical sites or tourist attractions could be a very satisfying way to spend a vacation.

Coal Truckers Run Into Weight Problem

Coal trucks headed into Boyd county and river docks in the Catlettsburg-Ashland area were in trouble last week when State Police units set up scales to weigh them and determine if they were overloaded.

The weight limit is 80,000 pounds, a good part of which is represented by the truck itself, and drivers were aware their load of coal pushed them past the limit. Truckers pulled off US 23 before reaching the weighing point, just short of the Boyd county line. Ahead were more than 20 Division of Security and Compliance officers with the scales. Both sides settled down to a waiting game. The officers didn't leave, and most of the drivers remained waiting.

Dan Adkins, of The Ashland Daily Independent, tells the story: And worse than that for the truckers, as if the scales ahead weren't bad enough, state police units moved into position around 6 p.m. above the Cedar Valley restaurant, behind the truckers' positions in Lawrence county.

"They've got us boxed in," driver Curtis Cumpton said. Cumpton, who drives for Clyde Meek, was talking to his boss. Meek had driven his pickup truck to the truckers' "rest area" about the same time the troopers took the position south of the truckers.

Cumpton said he pulled off the highway at 8:30 Tuesday morning.

Asked how long he would be there, Cumpton said, "As long as it takes."

Cumpton's statement was repeated by a state trooper stationed near Cedar Valley Restaurant. And, the trooper said, the officers had "sufficient manpower available to cope with any situation"—a reference to last week's incident when several truckers attempted to "run" past a temporary weigh station on U.S. 23.

A trucker was arrested and charged with wanton endangerment in connection with that incident, after the trucker nearly ran down an enforcement officer.

Cumpton said the truckers were upset because they knew they were driving overweight, and that this could result in high fines—particularly if they are given citations in Boyd county.

"That's where they want you," Cumpton said about Boyd county. Fines levied in Boyd county courtrooms cost between $150 to $600, he said. "Depends on what kind of mood the judge is in."

Cumpton also questioned whether the enforcement units are as stringent with tankers as they are with coal trucks.

Greg Williamson, director of security and compliance, was on hand for Tuesday's operation, and said it could continue on a 24-hour basis for up to 10 days.

Williamson said the location of the portable scales was not determined by the harsh fines meted out in Boyd county courts. Rather, he said, the site was chosen because of the number of overweight trucks using that stretch of road.

"The reason we're set up here is that's the way they're going," he said about locating the scales on the north-bound lane.

He denied the enforcement officers single out coal trucks instead of tankers. "There's a hell of a lot more coal trucks than tankers in this area," he said.

Williamson also denied the state troopers located south of the truckers were boxing in the truckers, preventing them from simply turning around and going home. The units went to that area to check reports the truckers were dumping coal in that area.

One trucker dumped part of his load on the shoulder and went to get weighed. He received a citation for being 10,000 pounds over the 80,000-pound weight limit.

Wednesday morning, Williamson said nearly 40 truckers were still lining the side of U.S. 23. Those who left during the night were weighed, and some had obviously dumped part of their loads, he said.

The state units became more mobile last Thursday, moving to other points, but not giving up on the weight check.

TO HOLD FAMILY REUNION

There will be a family reunion on Sunday, August 31, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGuire, at Jeffersonville, Ky. They invite all their friends and relatives in Floyd county to attend.

Low-Income Kentuckians May Lose Winter Heating Aid

Unless the federal government grants a Department for Human Resources request, low-income Kentuckians may not get much help with their winter heating bills.

The federal Home Energy Assistance Program requires participating states to pay half the administrative costs of the program, but John Cubine, of the department's Bureau for Social Insurance, said today the department has no money budgeted for that purpose.

Cubine said Human Resources has asked the federal Department of Health and Human Service to waive the .50 percent match requirement. He estimates administrative costs could be 10 percent of the $28 million the department hopes to receive through the program.

Last winter Human Resources took applications for two energy assistance programs—one federally funded, the other financed with state money. This year there is no state money allocated by the legislature for such a program.

The department hopes to offer assistance through the federal program, which could provide approximately $10 million more than the total amount available to Kentuckians for fuel bill relief last winter.

According to Cubine, Kentucky is not the only state requesting exemption from the administrative cost requirement.

"Many states are having the same problem," he said. "The program was developed under the Windfall Profit Tax Act. The administrative match requirement was added by Congress. By the time the states knew about it, more than half the state legislatures had adjourned for 1980."

Cubine said the federal government is considering waiving the requirement by limiting the federal contribution toward administration to 7.5 percent of a state's program allocation.

"That would give us a very tight budget," he said. "We are thinking about ways to stretch every administrative dollar."

He said the department may recruit volunteers to help with outreach and applications.

According to Cubine, Human Resources may not know the federal government's decision until early October. In anticipation of a favorable ruling, the department has been hosting public meetings throughout the state to gather public comments on a plan for distributing the energy assistance money. Public comments can be accepted until Aug. 22, Cubine said.

If the waiver is granted, applications for help with winter heating bills will be taken sometime in December. The Human Resources Department is planning a campaign to publicize the program.

KET Programs Prepare Children For School

The first days of school can be an anxious, sometimes frightening experience for many children.

Beginning Monday, August 18, KET will encore a week of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" programs, devoted to preparing young children for their first day of school. The Emmy Award-winning episodes will be broadcast at 5:00 p.m. (ET).

The five "Mister Rogers' programs explore the concerns children have about school—what their teacher and new classmates will be like, how much they will have to know before they get to school, and who will take care of them there.

During the week, host-creator-producer Fred Rogers will go on location several times to a real school. Along with a kindergarten teacher and a first grade teacher, he will acquaint pre-schoolers with a typical school day and show them some of what they find in school is similar to things they already know at home.

"Children need to see that many things in school are a lot like home," Rogers explains.

He and teachers will tour the school's classrooms, kitchen and bathrooms and will discuss some of what the children do in school.

Rogers hopes to reassure young audiences that school is "an exciting new adventure and something to look forward to...a milestone in growing up." He points out how school is a continuation of the familiar process of learning and playing at home.

"Learning is not just for children who are going to school," he says. "People learn all through their lives."

The broadcasts emphasize that you don't have to know your numbers and letters when you first go to school, that the best preparation for school is being curious and wanting to learn.

In fact, Rogers wrote a special song for the school programs entitled "Did You Know" which says how good it is to wonder and marvel and that there are wonderfully marvelous things in school.

"Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" is produced by Family Communications Inc., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.
