Violence associated with the six-week-old Highlands Hospital strike took an uglier turn last week with an alleged attack on a woman hospital employee outside a supermarket here.

Helen Smith, 45, of Mays Branch, a personnel assistant at the hospital, told police she had been harrassed by two young women, reputedly members of the striking hospital workers' union, while shopping at the IGA store about 5:15 Friday afternoon.

The women, said to be sisters, then reportedly accosted Mrs. Smith in the supermarket parking lot and threw her to the ground, beating and kicking her about the head.

A man identified as the father of the two women then joined in the attack and punched a man who had come to Mrs. Smith's aid, according to witnesses.

Mrs. Smith was reported to have suffered cuts, bruises and abrasions about the head and face and E. Keith Conn, the man who came to her assistance, was said to have been injured around the mouth.

Charged in district court here in connection with the incident were Geneva Skeans, a nurse's aide, and Gwen

DAMAGE TO C. & O. railroad bridge near the junction of state routes 1210 and 404 on Middle Creek is shown in photo taken Tuesday morning. Cross-ties and heavy timbers were splintered and a section of rail was blown away by an explosion which occurred in the early morning hours, Tuesday. A second blast, Tuesday morning, also damaged a C. & O. bridge between Warco and Maytown. State and federal officers are investigating the incidents.

As 2 Wounded, Rails Damaged In This County

As the United Mine Workers union and coal industry negotiators disputed the prospects of resuming contract talks this week, scattered incidents stemming from the 40-day-old coal strike were reported in this and neighboring counties.

An explosion around dawn yesterday (Tuesday) blew away a section of rail and shattered several ties on a railroad trestle near the mouth of Caney Fork of Middle Creek. Residents reported hearing the blast as far as three miles away.

About the same time, another explosion rocked a railroad bridge between Warco and Maytown.

No coal was being hauled at the time of the incidents, according to a C. and O. official, who said the railroad has been "virtually shut down" by the coal strike.

On Monday, roving pickets shut down all non-union operations in Martin county, idling as many as 5500 independent miners, according to one report.

Last Wednesday, two coal-truck drivers were injured by gunfire in a blockade by pickets near Banner.

Following the incident, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley issued an order Thursday restricting the activity of pickets near the operations of two Floyd coal companies. The restraining order, (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Marshall Quits; Water District Rehires Mgr.

While its general manager, fired last Monday, was reinstated Wednesday, the Beaver Elkhorn Water District will be effectively under new management if a contract approved by the water district commission last week is ratified by Big Sandy ADD directors.

The contract, negotiated last Wednesday between the commissioners and Roger Recktenwald, program director for the Water Resources Assistance Corporation (WRAC), calls for WRAC to take over field and financial management of the system until a permanent administrator can be hired.

The lack of an administrator was cited by commission chairman Doug Marshall as a reason for his resignation from the commission Saturday. Marshall had replaced Gary Martin as chairman only five days earlier, after Martin had resigned in the wake of allegations of mismanagement of water district funds.

In his letter of resignation, Marshall wrote Floyd Judge-Executive Bill Wells that he "hoped a quick determination of the financial condition" of the water district could be made. A recent audit revealed gaps in the water district's records and serious flaws in its internal accounting procedures.

Marshall told Wells he could not comment on the district's financial status "because, as a board member meeting only once a month, I did not have this information available to me."

An offshoot of the Big Sandy Area Development District, WRAC needs ADD approval of its contracts with local water districts. Formed three years ago, the management-services agency has built up a solid reputation for its ability to bail out troubled water districts.

Bob Hackworth, general manager of the Beaver Elkhorn system, was fired Monday last week on the recommendation of then-commissioner Gary Martin, who said Hackworth was not certified as a water treatment plant operator.

During a meeting of the water commission two days later, Hackworth was reinstated without loss of pay on a motion of commissioner Raymond Meade. Martin renewed his charge that Hackworth lacked certification but agreed to his reinstatement "out of respect for Meade."

Hackworth had earlier challenged the legality of his dismissal, claiming that notice of the special meeting during which he was fired had failed to specify its purpose as required by law in the case of special meetings.

In other business Wednesday, the resignations of three water district field workers were accepted. The three had reportedly quit Tuesday morning. Jack Patton, of Hueysville, and John Martin, of Estill, were hired in their stead and the remaining vacancy was to be advertised this week. District 3 Magistrate Ed Caudill urged the hiring of a Left Beaver resident to fill the vacancy.

Betsy Layne High Groundbreaking Set

Ground will be broken for the planned $3.9 million Betsy Layne high school building this Saturday, Schools Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr. announced this week.

School board officials, representatives of the contractor, and the Betsy Layne High School band will be on hand for the groundbreaking, which will take place at the site of the planned construction, on U.S. 23, about a mile north of the existing school. The ceremony is scheduled to take place at 11 a.m.

For the first time in years, school will be over for most Floyd youngsters before the beginning of June, most county schools needing about three weeks to complete the current school year.

The last day for children to attend classes will be May 25 for Allen grade school, Allen Central high school, Betsy Layne high and grade schools, Bonanza, Clark, Harold, J. M. Stumbo, Maytown and Prater Creek grade schools, Prestonsburg high school, and Spruce Pine and Wayland grade schools. Home instruction for high and elementary school children will also end on that date.

For students at the Home Branch, Martin and Melvin grade schools, May 27 will be their last day in attendance; for Auxier, Daniels Creek, Drift and McDowell schools, it will be May 28; for Garrett, Prestonsburg, and W. D. Osborne grade schools, May 29; and for Wheelwright high school, June 1.

State education authorities granted the school district four "calamity days" for McDowell and one for Drift schools, as the result of flooding on Left Beaver Creek, and one for Prestonsburg high school, on account of the recent oomping incident there.

School was out only 14 days on account of snow this year, reflecting the relatively mild winter, and two of those days were used for teacher in-service programs.

Prater Parents Support Boyd

Loyalty counts for a lot on Prater Creek.

Especially around Dana, a village knit by blood ties and lifetime friendships, people tend to close ranks to defend one of their own.

Sandy Boyd is one of their own.

Head teacher and coach at the four-room Prater Creek grade school, Boyd was accused two weeks ago of supplying a Betsy Layne high school junior with a large quantity of marijuana, with instructions to sell it.

Some 250 Prater Creek residents rallied to the teacher's defense last week in a full-page Times' advertisement. Boyd was a valued neighbor and teacher, they said, who had worked tirelessly for neighborhood youngsters. "Contrary to Floyd County law," they asserted, "you are innocent till proven guilty."

They were not merely making a point of law. The community was signaling its readiness to stand by a native son under attack. And the same loyalty was in evidence last Thursday, when 60 or more crowded into the school lunchroom for a PTA meeting at which Boyd presided.

May Honored At C. of C.'s Annual Banquet, Thursday

Named Outstanding Citizen of the Year by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, Thursday night at the Chamber's annual banquet at May Lodge, was R. V. May, Prestonsburg businessman.

The honor is presented each year to an individual who is considered deserving of the award on the basis of such criteria as community involvement and contributions to the economic development of the area. That Mr. May qualified in all respects was affirmed in a summary of his achievements which was read by Edward Nairn, newly elected vice-president of the Floyd County Chamber.

Nairn pointed out that Mr. May, 72, founder of the R. V. May Company, a major area supplier of bottled gas and welding equipment and accessories, has, in addition to his business responsibilities, played a significant role in the overall development and progress of Floyd county. Mr. May has served as chairman of the advisory board of Prestonsburg Community College since its beginning, and he was one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the Mountain Parkway in its planning stages. His input was also instrumental in the development of Jenny Wiley State Park and it was recalled that May Lodge was named in honor of Mr. May's father, the late Congressman A. J. May.

May, a major benefactor of Highlands Regional Medical Center and a long-time member and supporter of the Prestonsburg Boosters' Club, continues to direct his energy not only

Slone Vows To Continue Allen Route

Having overcome varied organizational and financial setbacks, long bickering with state environmental officials, and the frustrating problem of procuring a suitable landfill site, the Floyd County Solid Waste Commission is apparently ready to begin operation, with the first garbage collection set for May 18. But complications continue.

The most recent hitch in the commission's plans was underscored Monday night at the monthly meeting of the Allen town council when Paul Slone, franchise holder of Floyd County Sanitation, Inc., addressed the town council and representatives of the Floyd County Solid Waste Commission, emphasizing his intention to continue garbage collection in Old Allen and Martin—despite what he referred to as the commission's efforts to "take over" all garbage disposal operations in the county.

Fire Insurance Rate Increase Predicted Here

Commercial and residential fire insurance rates could rise for Prestonsburg residents as a result of changes in the way the city's fire department is evaluated, Fire Chief Tom Blackburn said this week.

Despite disclaimers by officials of the New York-based Insurance Services Office, which regulates industry standards, "I can foresee insurance rates going straight up," Blackburn said.

A critical element in the formula by which insurance rates are set is the preparedness of the local fire department, the chief explained. Formerly, a department's fire prevention programs figured significantly in rating its preparedness, a fact that favored departments like Prestonsburg's, with its active inspection programs, Blackburn said.

Under the new rules, the number of firefighters on duty and pieces of equipment in service will figure more prominently in the evaluation. Without considerable expense, Prestonsburg Fire Department will fall short of optimal standards under the new rules and insurance rates will rise accordingly, Blackburn said.

Moreover, where a whole city has formerly enjoyed a single insurance classification, each property will now be classified separately, depending on such factors as its proximity to a hydrant and the availability of firefighting equipment, he said.

ANDY J. BLANTON CHAPT. D.A.V. TO MEET, FRIDAY

D.A.V. Chapter 18 will meet Friday at 7 p.m. at the Auxier Fire Department. Among the business will be election of officers for both the men and the Chapter 19 ladies' Auxiliary. Food and refreshments will be served following the meet and all members are urged to attend. The announcement was made this week by Doug Burke, publicity chairman.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE TO MY FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS

Last week I was surprised by the release of a deliberate falsehood by my opponent that I am somehow involved in the Floyd County Judge-Executive's race. Evidently this is done in the hope that it may damage the good relations I have always enjoyed with each of the announced candidates in that race, or the friendship that I have and continue to share with many of their relatives and supporters. I will simply trust their good judgment to recognize cheap politics when they see it, and to share my dismay that such a groundless falsehood has been obviously manufactured in an attempt to mislead them or the voters.

As many of you are aware, I am currently fighting an infection of rheumatic fever and have been confined the past four weeks. I have been advised by my doctors to expect that confinement to continue till May 15th before returning to a full schedule. Obviously, it is making my campaign efforts very difficult and there will not be time to visit each of you to personally seek your advice and vote. I plan to use the telephone during this illness as much as circumstances allow but badly need the assistance of each and everyone of you.

Therefore, I ask for not only your vote but your expressed and vocal support during these difficult weeks. I will do my best to answer that with four (4) years of honest and effective service, and fair treatment for everyone.

Research Poll Shows Kentuckians Unfamiliar with 'Moral Majority'

A majority of Kentuckians say they've never heard of an organization called the "Moral Majority," according to the University of Kentucky Survey Research Center's poll. That question was part of a battery of several opinion items about Moral Majority issues in the Center's spring public opinion poll.

The results surprised the co-director of the poll, Dr. Pamela Conover of the UK political science department.

"We originally intended that as a screening question so that only people who had heard or read of the organization would be asked their opinion about it," said Conover. "But 52 percent of the people indicated that they didn't know enough to be confident about an opinion."

While they may not have been familiar with the organization, Kentuckians endorsed some of the stands associated with the Moral Majority and rejected others. They were mixed about the extent to which churches in general should get involved in social and political matters.

The question that asked about whether people had heard of the Moral Majority showed 46 percent saying yes. Conover said that when sampling error is considered, that figure might actually be as high as 50 percent or as low as 42 percent.

Of those who had heard of the Moral Majority, only 30 percent said they tended to agree with the stands taken by the organization. Conover cautioned that percentage is based upon less than half the total sample.

The interviewers also asked questions about two topics the Moral Majority has traditionally opposed—the Equal Rights Amendment and abortion. On those questions, 53 percent of Kentuckians favored the ERA and 63 percent agreed that abortion decisions should be left to the woman and her physician.

"We got very similar results when we asked those in the fall poll last October and November," said Conover. "Those views apparently haven't changed much."

The 20-minute telephone survey also asked questions about a variety of other topics, including taxes and politics.

Of the 747 respondents, almost half said the amount they pay in state and local taxes was "about right" rather than too high or too low.

Proposals to amend the Kentucky constitution to permit governors and sheriffs to be re-elected to a second consecutive term drew majority support. That question will go before state voters in the fall general election.

On the issue of self-succession by the governor and sheriffs, some differences among educational levels were found. "The more education respondents have, the more they're likely to oppose it (self-succession), at least for governors," reported Conover.

Conover pointed out that this particular survey asked questions of any adult Kentucky resident, not just registered voters.

All of the respondents earlier in the interview had answered some specific questions concerning religion and schools. On those issues, 87 percent favored displaying a copy of the Ten Commandments in public classrooms, 71 percent approved of setting specific times for prayer in schools and 50 percent endorsed the teaching of scientific creationism.

The scientific creationism question drew 14 percent "don't know" responses, according to Conover. "Many people apparently were not sure what that question meant," she said.

Two questions asked about church involvement in the social and political arenas. By a 62 to 33 percent margin, Kentuckians agreed that churches and clergy should express views on social matters. On the other hand, a majority rejected the idea that churches should be involved in political activities like backing a candidate for public office. They split on this question 65 to 31 percent.

The UK Survey Research Center is involved in a cooperative effort with similar surveys in 19 other states to ask questions that can be compared across states, according to Conover. The center has comparative data so far on one religious item: whether the respondents say they have had a "born again" experience.

"We explained that as 'a turning point in your life when you committed yourself to Christ,'" Conover said.

In Kentucky, 62 percent said they had been "born again." That same question in a Florida survey in February showed only 35 percent in that state answering yes.

Two other questions asked Kentuckians to rate the job governor John Y. Brown Jr. and the Kentucky legislature are doing.

For the governor, 9 percent said excellent; 43 percent, good; 34 percent, fair; and 8 percent poor.

For the legislature, the results were 4 percent, excellent; 37 percent, good; 42 percent, fair; and 8 percent, poor.

Kentuckians were asked whether they wanted more, less, or the same amount of their tax money spent in six particular areas.

The results were:

Environmental programs: more, 27 percent; same, 48 percent; less, 17 percent.

Programs for the poor: more, 40 percent; same, 35 percent; less, 21 percent.

Public grade schools and high schools: more, 60; same, 31; less, 6.

Streets and highways: more, 51; same, 41; less, 6.

Police forces: more, 46; same, 44; less, 6.

Public colleges and universities: more, 40; same, 45; less, 10.

The tax questions indicated that people in Kentucky do not want higher taxes, but they do not want to cut services either, according to Conover.

"The public has obviously not faced the essential contradictions in those two opinions," she said.

Interviewing for the survey started March 27 and ended April 7, with randomly selected telephone numbers being called throughout the state.

According to Conover, a sample size of 747 has a confidence level of 95 percent, plus or minus four percentage points.

"Theoretically that means we're 95 percent confident that results on approve or disapprove type questions should be within four percentage points of results we would have gotten had we called every residential telephone number in the state," she said.

The UK-SRC spring poll 1981 is the fifth in a series of biannual public opinion polls conducted by the UK Survey Research Center.

ROGER NELSON

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR FLOYD COUNTY CORONER NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

I want the people of Floyd County to know that the Coroners race is not to be taken lightly. It is a very important position to the people of Floyd County. A lot of people don't even vote in this race. I would like to take this opportunity to let you know what a coroner is. A coroner should be a qualified and honest person to investigate any death which appears not to be from natural causes, and to determine the cause of that death, which any of the people of Floyd County may require at any time and they deserve the truthful and honest cause of a death—which I, if elected coroner, will be able to supply. I am a licensed mortician and funeral director. I meet the above qualifications and will do the best of my ability to help and serve all the people of Floyd County.

I would appreciate your help and support in the May 25 primary, to be elected the best qualified for the coroner's race.

Thank you, ROGER NELSON

(Political Adv. Pd. by Candidate, 4-29-81-pd.)

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT 3:

Because of the reductions and eliminations of Programs (CETA), and funds (Coal Severance Taxes-Floyd Co. Road Aid Program), by both the Federal and State governments, it is important to have a man who has the experience to represent the voters in the third district. I believe that I am that man. I have and will continue to be an honest, hard-working magistrate who treats everyone the same.

Since I have been your magistrate I have not only worked most of the time 7 days a week keeping county roads in repair, I have also arranged for the digging of approximately 80% of the graves in my district, plus helped in the cleaning of cemeteries, maintenance of church parking areas, attended each Fiscal Court meeting and helped in the establishment of a county wide garbage pick-up. Having worked as a UMWA miner in Floyd County for 28 years, I know the needs and the importance of the coal industry and Unions to Floyd County, and will work in any way I can to keep the people of Floyd County working and productive. I am asking each voter in District 3 to vote and support me in the May 26 election. I'm not asking for your vote because I need a job or to try to get rich, I'm asking because I honestly care about helping the people in District 3 by continuing to serve as your Magistrate in a honest and effective manner.

KET Offers College Courses Late August

Kentucky Educational Television has become the first television station in the country to finalize plans for offering the state's viewers a new adult education program from the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS).

Beginning in late August, KET will broadcast three college-credit "telecourses" from the PTV-3/Adult Learning Service at PBS.

According to Dee Brock, director of the Adult Learning Service, the aim of the program is "to provide a full range of educational and instructional programs and program-related services for adults."

The college courses from the Adult Learning Service, sponsored in Kentucky by the state Council on Higher Education, are "Cosmos," the much-heralded astronomy series hosted by Dr. Carl Sagan; "American Government Survey," a look at our U. S. system of government; and "It's Everybody's Business," an introduction to business practices in the U. S.

KET will also broadcast two additional telecourses during the fall semester. "Writing for a Reason" is an introduction to better writing techniques. "Dealing in Discipline," a University of Kentucky-produced graduate course, helps teachers cope with discipline problems in the classroom.

These telecourses are offered for credit by colleges and universities throughout the state and are aimed at those people who would like to attend college but, because of job or family responsibilities or health reasons, consider it inconvenient to go to campus each week.

For more information on these courses contact Linda Bailey, Higher Education Services, KET, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, KY 40502, or call collect 606-233-3000.

Calhoun, a ward clerk—both said to be in their early twenties—and Henry Calhoun.

Skane was convicted April 21 of violating a circuit court injunction limiting the activities of union pickets and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. The sentence was suspended on condition that she stay clear of the hospital. She had been accused of damaging a supply truck with a baseball bat as the driver attempted to cross a picket line near the hospital.

As an aide to Assistant Administrator Donald Nunnery, Mrs. Smith reportedly attended negotiating sessions between the hospital administration and the union. She is also said to have recently undergone surgery.

Trial of the three alleged assailants on assault charges has been set for July 6.

Charges have also been brought against Ellis Stephens and Chuck Meadows, striking operating room technicians, for strike-related incidents alleged to have occurred April 26 and 27. Stephens is president of the local union chapter at the hospital.

Both men are accused of breaking a glass door at the hospital's emergency room entrance, April 26. Stephens also faces a wanton endangerment charge for allegedly throwing rocks at Jack Kline, a hospital security guard, the same day. Meadows is accused of throwing rocks at cars belonging to Kline and Richard King, also a security guard, damaging the vehicles.

Russell Dean, assistant administrator at the hospital, said this week that eggs, coal, rocks, and sections of pipe are being hurled by pickets at the windshields of cars entering and leaving the hospital. The incidents occur after state police have left the scene, he said.

No resumption of contract talks between the hospital and the union is scheduled, he said.

Slope said that in recent weeks all the county landfills had either been closed or made otherwise inaccessible to Floyd County Sanitation, with the result that he is left without a site for the disposal of trash collected over much of Magisterial District No. 1 as well as Martin.

The Turkey Creek landfill which has been the source of much protest from area residents, who objected to the trash accumulation in recent months, is being cleaned up and is closed to further dumping. The Mud Creek dump in District No. 4 "has been let go to the point where we can't even get our trucks in," Slope said. Another landfill, which has served District 3, is located on a mountaintop and his trucks can't negotiate the steep access road, he claimed.

Slope said that despite his present difficulty in finding a usable waste disposal site, he would continue to serve Allen and Martin where he has contracted to collect garbage—"even if I have to haul to Johnson county." He said that such a haul would make it impossible for him to "break even," but added, "I'd do it anyway just because of the way the county's done me."

Solid Waste Commission Chairman Bob McAninch and commissioner David Cooley said they had come to Monday's meeting to learn just what the situation was at Allen. Cooley said the commission didn't know that Slope was under contract to serve the "Old" Allen section. "We thought Paul had sold out," he commented.

McAninch explained that the county had no choice but to close the landfills. "The four dumps in the county are in such bad shape that the state wants them closed," he pointed out. "The state Bureau of Hazardous Material doesn't want us to have a landfill at all," he continued. "They would rather see all the garbage recycled, but we just don't have the money or capability for something like that." McAninch also stressed that state regulations prohibit use of a county landfill by a private concern.

Allen Mayor Obie Crisp told the commission representatives that the town had entered into a contract with Slope after the solid waste commission had been unable to provide service some time ago. "You told us you'd be here in a month and you never came for a year," Crisp told McAninch and Cooley.

Crisp said the town council would honor their contract with Slope which runs through January 1. He told the commission representatives, "You can come back and talk to us at that time or if Paul makes some other arrangement with you, that's fine with us, too."

to his work, but to the Floyd county community, as a whole.

Among other awards presented was a plaque presented by Chalmers Frazier, executive director of the Chamber, to Sam Blankenship, outgoing president. Mr. Blankenship had earlier delivered the annual president's report which outlined accomplishments of the past year as well as ongoing projects.

This year's principal address was delivered by W. Grady Stumbo, M.D., secretary of the state Department of Human Resources.

Stumbo, a Floyd county native, spoke of a bright economic outlook for the state in general, despite proposed budget cuts in many areas. Kentucky, Stumbo said, had recorded more new businesses having located in the state during the past 12 months than any other equivalent period in the past.

Stumbo did warn that major cuts in welfare in the state would have an impact, with the bulk of the effect being felt by small businesses. As a counter measure to such a situation, the state has formulated a program which may make available $25 million to aid small businesses.

Speaking of Eastern Kentucky, specifically, Secretary Stumbo attacked absentee landowners, pointing out that one coal company which owned land here and in New York, paid a tax rate 8,000 times greater there than here.

At the conclusion of Dr. Stumbo's address, he was presented an original print by artist Russell May, of Prestonsburg.

New officers named at Thursday's banquet included Burl W. Spurlock, president; Edward R. Nairn, vice-president, and Emma Lou Martin, secretary-treasurer. New members of the board of directors named were Estill Lee Carter, Sam Blankenship, Dale McKinney, John M. Howard, Edward Nairn, John F. Brown, Robert Schissler, C. Richard Clark, Russell Dean, Eric Herrin, David B. Spradlin and Paul Day. Chalmers H. Frazier remains executive director of the Chamber and Joyce Ramey is executive secretary.

Clean-Up Talked At Allen Meeting

An especially large group of Allen citizens gathered at Monday night's meeting of the town council, and, although several topics were discussed, it was concern for a clean-up of the town that drew the most enthusiastic response.

Goldie Short, who led much of the discussion on the problem of trash and debris in Allen, said the community "used to be one of the best-looking towns on the Big Sandy," and Jimmy D. Gray termed Allen a "showcase" among towns in days past.

Citizens spoke of illegal dumps which border their community (a common phenomenon in most Floyd county towns), and scattered concentrations of junk cars, cans and other debris.

Mr. Gray stressed the need for Allen businesses to cooperate in cleaning up and it was decided that a letter be written to each place of business requesting such cooperation.

Phyllis Porter reminded those present that individual responsibility might go a long way toward improving the appearance of the town. "If each individual will take care of their own property and garbage, we wouldn't have the problem like we do," she stated.

Mayor Obie Crisp suggested that citizens make an effort to "take down names and report anyone throwing out garbage," and he said meetings should be held "every Monday, if we have to until we can get something going."

Mrs. Short was appointed by Mayor Crisp as chairman of a community clean-up committee, and it was decided that a meeting to formulate a beautification strategy be held next Monday at 7 p.m. at Allen City Hall.

Mock Election Brings Big Response

The Darbys at Statewide Press and Bill Woods, of Woods Grocery, decided last week to sponsor a "little" mock election at Mr. Woods' store at Emma. They figured it would be fun—sort of a pre-game activity before the "big" election on May 26. So, they stuck a few posters on the door of Bill's store, printed up some ballots, made a ballot box, and, starting Friday night, the voters start rolling in.

By noon, Saturday, more than a hundred had signed their names to a list of voters and cast their ballots (for Dist. 1 candidates only). By Tuesday, several hundred had responded and with the election not scheduled to end until Saturday, things are looking wild.

Now, the sponsors are a little concerned about the work that may be involved when it comes time to count the votes, since they have said that the election results will be posted after the voting ends this weekend.

Even though things may have gotten a bit out of hand, the masterminds behind this project are still having fun, and, as Woods commented, "It'll be a lot more accurate than any poll."

which was directed at UMWA pickets, had been sought by the Triple Elkhorn Mining Company and the Bebe Coal Corporation, non-union mining concerns with offices on Daniels Creek.

A convoy of 14 trucks was hauling coal Wednesday from a Triple Elkhorn mine on Prater Creek to the company's processing facility near Allen when it ran into a blockade of about 40 cars and pickups containing union pickets, around 12:50 p.m. Rocks were thrown and shots fired at the convoy, wounding two of the drivers.

William Dorton, 35, of Sitka, sustained a head wound, and Charles Hitchcock, 37, of Allen, was shot in the right shoulder. Neither driver is believed to have been seriously hurt.

According to the companies' injunction petition, about 47 shots were fired "from rifles, handguns, and/or shotguns," damaging 10 trucks as well as injuring the two drivers. Thirty-six truckloads of coal, in three convoys, had been hauled along the route earlier in the day without incident.

Fred Dawson, president of Triple Elkhorn and Bebe Coal, said in an affidavit that a shot was fired into the Triple Elkhorn tippie around 7:15 Thursday morning. Shots were said to have been fired at the Bebe tippie near Harold last month and two Triple-Elkhorn drivers were reportedly forced by pickets to dump their coal loads on the Prater Creek road April 20.

In his order, Judge Conley enjoined pickets from obstructing the coal companies' operations, from congregating near company premises or carrying firearms in that area, and from making threats or directing abusive language toward company employees. The order limited to five the number of pickets permitted to assemble at any one place.

UK's 114th Annual Commencement Set May 9

More than 4,700 University of Kentucky students are candidates for degrees at UK's 114th annual commencement, scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday, May 9, in Memorial Coliseum on UK's Lexington campus.

Other awards also will be presented and honorary degrees will be bestowed upon four distinguished persons.

Receiving honorary degrees are Gov. John Y. Brown Jr., who will receive the doctor of law degree; author Harriette Arnow, doctor of letters degree; retired UK plant pathologist Dr. Stephen Diachun, doctor of science degree; and James C. Bowling, senior vice president of Philip Morris, Inc., a doctor of law degree.

There are 1,220 graduate degree candidates, 307 candidates for professional degrees and 3,220 candidates for undergraduate degrees.

The ceremony is open to the public. No pre-arrangements are necessary and there is ample seating in Memorial Coliseum.

Collection of debts is an integral part of the Veterans Administration's proposed FY 1982 budget.

The teacher had reportedly tendered his resignation the day before but had resumed teaching Thursday. The parents wanted to know his current status; even more, they sought assurances that he was back to stay.

Boyd confirmed that he had offered to resign—for the children's safety, he said. A masked individual, armed with a rifle, had been spotted near his home, a short distance from the school, on Tuesday morning, and a bomb threat had been made on the school Thursday afternoon, he said.

School district officials told him they had received calls from parents threatening to take their children out of the school unless he was retained, Boyd said, adding that he had decided to stay on for that reason.

He said he wanted the parents' reassurance that they stood behind him. He got it.

"I think it was wrong of you to resign," one woman said. "We think the world of you and we want you at the graduation."

Boyd responded with a remarkably candid account of his past involvement with drugs and his continuing use of marijuana.

As for so many of his generation, Vietnam was a turning point, he said, describing in detail his experience as a sergeant in the Airborne Rangers during 1968 and 1969 and his growing addiction to amphetamines.

Describing himself as "one of the 10 percent who did the fighting" in Vietnam, Boyd told of exhausting and perilous reconnaissance missions and of the drugs routinely supplied by the army to keep its combat units in the field.

"I was up to 30 hits of speed a day," he said.

In 1969, his homicidal antagonism toward superior officers earned him six months in a psychiatric ward. "I prayed to God to help me," he said. "because I didn't know what to do."

Boyd found his answer in marijuana. "I switched (from hard drugs) to marijuana, which I use to this day. I am completely changed because of that fact," he said.

"I'd much rather be easy to get along with," he explained. "I have pressures, the same as everyone, and I need something to take them away." Marijuana, he said, gives him "an easy feeling of 'don't worry about it.'"

If the teacher was straining the loyalty of his audience, few gave any indication of it. When one man ventured that he was "totally against drugs," Boyd responded, with the authority of one who has seen it all, that "marijuana is not a drug."

"I know what I'm talking about. Morphine, cocaine, acid, PCP—you name it, I've done it," he said, adding, "It's not drugs like marijuana that are ruining our kids—it's PCP and the pharmaceuticals they are taking out of your home medicine chests."

Even marijuana is "not for kids," Boyd conceded. "It makes them lazy and they lose ambition," he said. He discouraged its use by students, had shown a movie discrediting it, and even told them "it would make their hair fall out,"—though they knew it was a joke—he said.

"These kids know more than you think," he said, suggesting they could readily distinguish between marijuana and harmful drugs.

Again, one parent cautiously demurred. But hers was an isolated voice amid scattered expressions of loyalty and tolerant silence.

Beyond the confines of the PTA audience, opinion was more varied, even among Prater Creek residents, some of whom thought the teacher should have taken a leave of absence pending his June 4 trial.

At Betsy Layne high school Monday, about 65 persons heard Pikeville physician Dr. Mary Fox condemn the use of drugs, including marijuana, as "ruining" the younger generation. A May Lodge audience heard a similar indictment in March by Dr. Thomas J. Gleaton, Jr., a Georgia State University physiology professor, who argued that marijuana is a more dangerous drug than is commonly believed.

The view is supported by the authors of a recent publication of the National Institute on Drug Abuse. "We still do not know everything we would like to know about this controversial drug," the authors write, "but present evidence clearly indicates that (marijuana) is not a 'safe' substance."

Boyd told the Prater Creek parents Thursday that he had informed Board of Education officials, and teachers and students at the Prater school, of his attitude toward marijuana. "If anyone feels that I shouldn't be teaching your kid, then say so now," he challenged his listeners. There was no response.

"I smoke it on my own time," the teacher said of his marijuana use, "and it's nobody's business but mine. As long as it doesn't interfere with the kids, don't get on my case."

Floyd Schools Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr. said this week that Boyd submitted his resignation last Friday—not Wednesday, as the teacher had indicated—citing "threats to the school" as his reason for stepping down.

QUALIFIED AND HONEST

DICK LESLIE

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY-JUDGE EXECUTIVE

(Pol. Adv. Paid for by Committee For Leslie For County Judge-Executive, Dr. Rondal Hall Leslie, Treasurer, William E. Osborne, Chairman)

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY

I am campaigning for the office of Coroner on my own record, taking part in no other races. I owe no obligations to anyone or anything, other than upholding the laws and duties of the Coroner's office.

I have been a licensed funeral director and embalmer since Jan. 4, 1946—35 years, and have been your Coroner since 1951—30 years. During this 30 years, I have gained an enormous amount of knowledge and experience.

Many of you are acquainted with me personally, and you know that my qualifications are not based on who my grandparents, parents, wife, children or grandchildren, etc., are. Relatives have nothing to do with my capabilities as Coroner. My qualifications are from knowledge obtained by experience, schooling, conventions and seminars I have attended and taken part in as your Coroner.

I have the interest of you and your loved ones at heart, for I am one of you—You are my friends—Some of you for years and years. I am relying on you, my friends and neighbors, and those who know my ability, to help me in my race for Coroner.

Former CETA Workers Eye Private Sector

With the phasing out of two federally funded programs by the end of this month, 1,310 persons currently employed by them will join the unemployed unless other work is found with private employers.

The two programs, Public Service Employment and Employment Opportunities Pilot Program are making a coordinated effort to find jobs in the private sector for these people. According to Virgil Osborne, executive director of the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program (EKCEP), "We have some excellent participants in these programs. All they need is a chance to prove themselves to employers. We will do everything we can to help them find jobs."

Coordination, Osborne feels, is the key to success in this effort with EKCEP, the state employment service, local Community Action Agencies, local units of government, and the EOPP all working together. A survey is being made of employers in the 23 Eastern Kentucky counties under EKCEP whose central offices are in Hazard. EKCEP is funded through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) of which PSE and EOPP are also a part.

PSE Title IID was designed to assist persons with structural barriers to employment, while PSE Title VI was designed to be operated during periods of high unemployment. EOPP has served welfare recipients and provided employment services and training leading to employment.

Services that have been provided in this area through PSE and EOPP include water plant operation, emergency medical technicians for county ambulance services, teacher aides, fire and police protection, rural road maintenance, heavy equipment and truck operation, it was said.

Nat'l Hospital Week At Our Lady of Way

"Looking Well into the Future" will be the theme of Our Lady of the Way Hospital's celebration of National Hospital Week, May 10-16. "We think that our 1981 National Hospital Week theme fittingly describes the commitment of our hospital staff to improving the future health of our community," said Margaret Hoover, hospital spokesperson. "We devote our fullest resources to providing the best health care possible today. But we know that we have to look to the future to find even better ways to care as patients' and the community's needs change," she said.

Some of the ways the Martin hospital is caring for the community's future are sponsoring blood pressure clinics at the hospital and at local businesses, stressing health education to patients and visiting with people in their homes after they have left the hospital. The hospital has participated in cost containment efforts and increased patient equipment technology. Recently the hospital has tripled its electrical generating capacity in times of power outages and decreased its X-ray exposure to the patient with earth screen cassettes.

Park Rangers Graduate

State Police Commissioner Marion D. Campbell announced that 23 special enforcement officers will graduate this week from the Kentucky State Police Academy.

The graduating officers are the first class of motor transportation inspectors, boating officers and park rangers to complete a basic enforcement training program designed especially for them since their patrol and regulatory responsibilities were taken over by the state police from the Departments of Transportation and Parks more than a year ago.

Their transfer to the state police, early in 1980, was accomplished under an executive order issued by Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. which consolidated the old highway enforcement and water safety divisions in the Transportation Department and the park security unit in the Parks Department under the state police division of special enforcement, formerly known as the division of security and compliance.

Mr. Wells is a 1975 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, the two-year program at Prestonsburg Community College, and a 1978 graduate of Kentucky School Of Mortuary Science, he is presently employed by the Jones-Preston Funeral Home. The open church wedding will take place at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, May 16, at the Jones-Preston Home Chapel. Immediately following the ceremony there will be a reception at the Starfire Motel in Paintsville.

Marcum Cleared Of Libel Charge

A libel suit against Homer Marcum, publisher of the Inez-based Martin Countian, was dismissed in Pike Circuit Court last Thursday after a jury determined that a fight involving Martin county officials—which Marcum had reported in two 1978 stories and which prompted the suit against him—did in fact occur.

The suit was filed by Martin County Judge-Executive Willie Kirk, who alleged that Marcum's malice toward him prompted a false newspaper account of the fight. The altercation was said to have occurred June 6, 1978 and to have involved Kirk, Martin County Clerk Sam Moore, and Helen Horn, matron at the county jail.

A Martin Countian report on June 14, 1978 quoted Mrs. Horn and her husband, jailer Arvil Horn, as saying that Mrs. Horn "whipped up" on Kirk and Moore and that Kirk struck Mrs. Horn. A second story, published in the newspaper a week later, quoted Moore's son, Roger, and Kirk's wife, Victoria, who disputed the earlier account. In an editor's note, Marcum indicated that the earlier story was based on information supplied by the Horns.

Pike Circuit Judge E. N. Venters instructed the jury to determine whether Kirk had struck Mrs. Horn and, if not, whether Marcum had any reason to disbelieve the information he received before publishing the first story.

The suit was dismissed when the jury returned its verdict, reportedly after about 20 minutes' deliberation. Contrary to some reports that the dismissal was based on the jury's determination that Marcum had no reason to disbelieve the Horns' story, Judge Venters confirmed this week that the jury did not need to address that question—since it had previously determined that Kirk had struck Mrs. Horn as reported.

Marcum this week characterized Kirk's suit as "frivolous" and said he is planning to write a story outlining the cost of the trial to taxpayers. The suit sought $250,000 for Kirk; Venters earlier dismissed claims totalling $157,500 by Mrs. Kirk. The trial was moved to Pike county at Kirk's request.

Marcum yet faces two other libel suits, one brought against him by Martin County Commonwealth's Attorney Paul Deaton and the other by Kitty Cassady, foreman of a grand jury, the proceedings of which were the subject of recent Martin Countian reports.

PARENTS OF DEAD SAILOR SUE NAVY FOR $4.1 MILLION
 The parents of a 21-year-old sailor who died aboard the USS Ranger have filed a $4.1 million lawsuit against the Navy, charging their son was subjected to cruel and unusual punishment.

The lawsuit, filed Friday in U. S. District Court on behalf of William and Irene Terrice of Algonac, Mich., alleges Navy officials were "motivated by discriminatory animus with gross disregard" for the rights of their son, Paul.

The Navy said Paul Terrice died April 14 from cardiac arrest and heat stroke after he was forced to do punitive exercises aboard the aircraft carrier, which was in Subic Bay in the Philippines. He was punished for having left the ship without permission. Claims made in filing a lawsuit give only one side of the case.

HILL AND HALL FILE CONTEST PROCEEDINGS

Recount Of Pike And Floyd Returns Are Asked

FRAUD CHARGED

Contest suits were filed this week by A. L. Hill, Democratic candidate for State Senator from this district...

Mr. Hill lost to Senator Stephenson by a majority of 40 votes, and Mr. Hall lost by 223 votes.

Mr. Hall, in his suit, charges that a pool of not less than $5,000 was contributed to by friends and supporters...

The suit alleges that votes in the following precincts were "erroneously, wrongfully, unlawfully and incorrectly counted"...

Gross fraud is charged in Johns Creek precinct, asking that the count be thrown out and wholly disregarded.

In Elder Hiram precinct, the contestant alleges, John Hall, "a dangerous, violent man, threatened, intimidated, scared and abused voters and forced them to vote for the contestee"...

The charge is also made in the action that in Johns Creek precinct 36 voted on the table; in Jim Polk, 40; Mouth Beaver, 30; Jim Banks, 35; John Possum, 43; Antioch, 20; Elder Hiram, 150; Painter Harve, 40; John Ant, 32; Midas, 30; Estep, 60; Martin, 49; Rough and Tough, 50; Maytown, 20, and Lackey, 20.

Asking for a general recount in Pike county of the vote, Mr. Hill charges that in Leckeville precinct, that county, the vote of E. D. Stephenson was changed from 104 to 404, and that at Island Creek the vote was changed from 16 to 46.

COURIER-JOURNAL STORY

Pikeville, Ky., Aug. 19.—In one precinct, Leckeville, in this county, the primary returns were padded 300 votes in favor of Robert T. Crowe for Governor and E. D. Stephenson for State Senator.

Miss Lillie May Carpenter, of Salyersville, was the guest this week of Miss Ruth Francis.

Mrs. Minnie Grace Stone Dies Saturday

Mrs. Minnie Grace Stone, 34 years old, formerly a resident of this place and a native of Floyd county, died Saturday night at her home in Ashland after several years of invalidism.

Mrs. Stone was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robinson, and was born and reared on Abbott Creek. She was married Nov. 10, 1910 to M. B. Stone, to which union three children were born.

The deceased was well-known in this county, and was respected by all who knew her. She was a devout member of the Holiness Church.

Surviving her are two daughters, Malta, 13, and Mildred, 5. Her parents, two brothers, Dr. T. W. Robinson, of Ashland, and Homer Robinson, of Portsmouth, O., and a sister, Mrs. Golda Combs, of West Van Lear, also survive.

The body was taken to the home of her parents on Abbott Sunday, and burial was made in the family cemetery by Reverend Bowling.

OFFICERS CAPTURE TWO STILLS LAST WEEK-END

Two stills were captured by Floyd county officers in raids during the past week-end.

Deputy Sheriffs W. D. and Marion Martin captured a small still in the Stumbo Hollow on Left Beaver, near the home of Lewis Tussey. One barrel of mash was destroyed.

Officers W. J. Vaughan and George Horn cut up a still Sunday on the Tandy Branch of Johns Creek and found three gallons of whisky. The worm was brought here. No arrests was made in either raid.

PRESTON SLAYER IS GIVEN PARDON

A. J. Cox Freed By Governor of 14-Year Sentence

A. J. Cox, who was convicted at the June, 1923 term of the Floyd circuit court for manslaughter in the killing of Oscar Preston at Martin and given a penitentiary sentence of 14 years, was pardoned Friday by Gov. W. G. Fields, who stated in granting the pardon that he was convinced that Cox fired in self-defense.

Cox had served a little more than a year of his sentence.

Governor Fields said that he was moved to grant the pardon upon the request of practically all the leading citizens of Martin that Cox be granted clemency, as they were of the opinion that his conviction was a miscarriage of justice.

A news dispatch from Frankfort states that the circuit judge who tried the case and the commonwealth's attorney who prosecuted Cox expressed the opinion that the prisoner should be pardoned.

Preston, a prominent druggist at Martin, was killed in Cox's hardware store there.

MRS. SOWARDS, MRS. DAVIDSON ENTERTAIN

As a pre-nuptial courtesy Mrs. Sallie Gatewood Ligon, whose engagement to Mr. John Randolph Clark, of Charleston, W. Va., was recently announced, Mrs. Everett H. Sowards, of Pikeville, and Mrs. Jo M. Davidson entertained Saturday at the home of the latter with a charming luncheon-bridge and crystal-china shower.

Sharing this honor with Miss Ligon were Mrs. W. J. Fitzpatrick, of Miami, Fla.; Mrs. John Hensley, of Henderson, Texas, and Mrs. C. L. Hutsinpieler, of Ashland.

In the beautifully appointed Davidson home luncheon was enjoyed by the guests, and bridge offered several hours' entertainment, with Miss Jo Ann Allen winning high score prize and Mrs. J. J. Emerich second prize. The honor guests received handsome prizes.

Miss Ligon was the recipient of many charming gifts, all of which she graciously acknowledged.

Miss Ruth Oppenheimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Oppenheimer suffered an attack of appendicitis this week. An operation may be necessary.

E. E. Clark, of the Louisville Gas and Electric Company, made a business trip to Ashland this week.

KIWANIS CLUB CONDEMNS P'BURG WATER SYSTEM

Going on record as supporting the Floyd county health unit in its work of combatting disease in this county, the Kiwanis Club at its Friday evening meeting last week passed a motion condemning the present water system in Prestonsburg and demanding filtration of the water supply.

Friday evening's program was devoted mainly to music, the club having two talented musicians present in Misses Edith Fitzpatrick, of Logan, W. Va., and Elizabeth Cross, of Alexandria, Ohio.

Miss Cross rendered delightful piano and saxophone solos, and accompanied her brother, Waid Cross, who sang. Miss Fitzpatrick gave an impromptu rendition of an old opera air, which was much enjoyed. The treat thus furnished was roundly applauded.

Rev. F. R. McAllister and Waid Cross sang "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," to the special delight of the old-timers, with Miss Fitzpatrick at the piano.

J. Bascom Clarke is to be in charge of the "Public Affairs" program this week.

251 INOCULATED AGAINST TYPHOID

Within the seven days included between August 13 and 20, 251 persons were inoculated against typhoid in this county by the recently-established health unit, according to the report made this week by Dr. E. E. Martin, head of the unit.

Vaccination work was done in Dwale, Allen, Cow Creek and Bear Hollow, near East Point. At Bear Hollow nine cases of typhoid were reported, while at Dwale there are four cases.

Anti-toxin was administered to nine children at Wayland to prevent an outbreak of an epidemic of diphtheria there following development of one case. One case of smallpox is reported at Burton, on Left Beaver, and serum was sent there.

Of 105 school children given physical examinations by Dr. Martin, 47 are defective, he said. Four schools, those at Dwale, Allen and two on Cow Creek were visited by Dr. Martin, and lectures were given at the Dwale and Allen schools on health topics. Twenty food establishments were also inspected during the week.

Difficulty has been encountered in procuring the services of a nurse to work in conjunction with Dr. Martin, and Mrs. Simms, special state board of health nurse, will be sent from Louisville to assist in the work, it is said.

Dr. Martin said this week that he plans to visit all schools in the county for the purpose of inoculating against disease.

Honored By State of Texas, Judge Leslie Proud of 'Folks Back Home'

Of all her native sons Floyd county takes more pride in none than Judge W. P. Leslie, present judge on the bench of the court of civil appeals of the state of Texas. And of this county's sons who have gone out into the world and established reputations as men of achievement none takes more pride than he in the "folks back home."

Judge Leslie recently said, "I take special pride in the fact that, between us, my wife and I are related to almost every family in the Big Sandy valley."

Judge Leslie, who now resides in Eastland, Texas, has steadily risen in political prominence in the Lone Star state through those inherent qualities gained from the pure mountain stock of his parents, and his success provides an interesting story.

The son of A. N. and Martha Leslie, of Emma, this county, Mr. Leslie received his early education in Floyd county, and taught for a number of years in Floyd—a work by which he is remembered by many of his old students today, and which resulted in the development of a number of successful business men and women.

Later, Mr. Leslie entered the University of Texas, from which institution he was graduated in 1907. In 1908 he went to Mitchell county, Texas.

The esteem in which Mr. Leslie was soon held by the citizens of Mitchell county is little short of amazing, and soon he was elected county attorney. For a second time he was elected to this office. Then he was chosen district attorney of the Thirty-Second Texas

CONTEST PROCEEDINGS HANDLED IMPERSONALLY

In accordance with the policy of The Times to publish all the news which may be deemed of interest to its readers, we are publishing this week further reports of contest suits filed by candidates in the recent primary.

The Times makes no comment whatever upon any developments in these cases, and our news stories are handled from the impersonal point of view, without favor to any particular person. This statement is made, that no reader may form the erroneous impression that this paper is espousing the cause of any political interest.

Judge Fitzpatrick Dies In Whitesburg

Judge John Dishman Fitzpatrick, 55 years old, a leading figure in Eastern Kentucky politics and prominent banker, died last week at his home in Whitesburg after a brief illness.

Judge Fitzpatrick was a son of James Fitzpatrick, who was a brother of the late T. Y. Fitzpatrick, former Congressman from this district. He was well-known in this county, and was a student here years ago under Prof. W. M. Byington.

The deceased was a leader of the Democratic party in Letcher county, and had been county judge of that county for two terms. He was reported to be in line for the appointment as highway commissioner of this district in the event of J. C. W. Beckham's election for governor.

Surviving him are his widow and several children. Burial was made in Whitesburg.

TO PRACTICE LAW HERE

Prestonsburg welcomes the coming to this place of Harry R. Burke, of Bonanza, as a new addition to those practicing law here. Mr. Burke, who was formerly with the law firm of Daugherty and Barrett, of Pikeville, comes, well recommended as a young man of good character and ample qualifications. He completed the grades at Bonanza, attended high school at Berea and graduated from high school at Louisa. After doing college work in Louisa, he graduated from the Jefferson Law School, Louisville, and passed the bar examination. Mr. Burke is a native Floyd county man who is remaining in Floyd county to practice his chosen profession.

INTERESTING NEWS OMITTED

Space limitations caused by publication of county and city advertising necessitate the omission of a number of interesting news items this week.

John R. Young, of Lexington, representative of the Ely-Walker Company, spent Monday night in Prestonsburg, the guest of H. C. Francis.

judicial district. The faithfulness with which he executed his duties and gave to his constituents of the talent with which he is gifted was attested to by the fact that he held this office for four successive terms.

Next he was appointed district judge by the Governor of Texas, and when this term expired he was twice again chosen for the office by the vote of the people for terms of four years each. Except for the first time he was elected to this office for each term without opposition—a record that is remarkable in that the recipient of these honors is a Kentuckian in a state far removed from this.

His most recent and greatest triumph was his election in 1926 to the office of judge of the Court of Civil Appeals. And his past successes promise, added honors lie ahead for him.

Judge Leslie is one of seven children, all living in Floyd county. They are: D. B. Leslie, of Paintsville; L. C. Leslie and Mrs. Lula Bevens, of Emma; Mrs. Minnie Martin and Mrs. Anna Hall, of Allen; Mrs. Kate Harris, West Prestonsburg; and Mrs. Victoria Burchett, of Woods. His mother, Mrs. Martha Leslie, resides at Emma. She will be 80 years old in September.

Mrs. Leslie is a former Floyd county girl, Miss Rosa Lee Allen, daughter of T. G. "Bringer" and Mrs. Susan Allen, of Beaver Creek. Ties of kinship bind both Judge and Mrs. Leslie closely to Floyd county and the Big Sandy Valley—which is a source of pride to both. They are visiting relatives in this county now.

Local Tennis Players Excel In Singles, Win

Excelling in singles play, the Prestonsburg tennis team won three out of five matches here Sunday from the Paintsville team, with the two doubles matches, which were abbreviated for lack of time, the only ones going to the visitors.

Displaying a more varied attack and a tight defense, Fletcher Combs won the first match from Picklesimer, of Paintsville, 7-5, 6-2. While Picklesimer played a good net game, Combs' loftart and well placed lobs marked his opponent's defeat.

In the second match Harlowe lost the first set to Wheeler, 7-5, but came back strong to cop the next two, 6-2, 6-4. Harlowe's play, while slightly erratic for want of practice, was much stronger than his opponent's, Harlowe's returns from his backhand being especially pleasing.

The last singles match of the afternoon between Spradlin, of Prestonsburg, and Stone, Paintsville's star singles player, was the best of the day. After losing five games straight in the first set, Spradlin came back with a rush to take seven in a row, and the set. In the next set Stone took three consecutive games, a feat which was duplicated by Spradlin. Stone took the next, then Spradlin ran out the set without the loss of a game. Spradlin's work with his chop stroke was very effective, and his steadiness overcame Stone's powerful service and slashing drives. Spradlin's courageous comeback in the first set, winning seven consecutive games, drew the applause of a fair-sized crowd of spectators.

In the doubles, the contests were limited to one set for each team. Wheeler and Spencer defeated Friend and Leroy Combs in the first set, 6-3, and the second set went to Picklesimer and Preston over Harlowe and Fletcher Combs, 6-2.

BAPTISTS MEET IN ASSOCIATION

Five Counties Are Represented At Two-Day Meeting

Representatives of Baptist churches from Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties met here Wednesday in the fiftieth annual session of the Enterprise Association of Baptists.

Short devotional services marked the beginning of the meeting, which was called to order by the clerk, John Caudill, of this place, in the absence of W. W. Barrett, of Pikeville, Moderator. In the business meeting that followed, R. C. Thomas, of Paintsville, was elected moderator; John Caudill, clerk; A. J. Jackson, of Pikeville, treasurer, and A. S. Corbin, of Pikeville, auditor.

The Rev. E. L. Howerton, pastor of the first Baptist Church, Pikeville, delivered the introductory sermon, which bore a stirring message for his hearers. Dr. V. I. Masters, of Louisville, also spoke in behalf of the Western Recorder, church organ.

Evening services were in charge of the Rev. Jesse Brown, of Elkhorn City, who spoke on "The Great Commission." The sermon of the evening was delivered by the Rev. A. H. Webb, pastor of the Paintsville Baptist Church. His sermon dealt with missions and was a strong plea in behalf of missionaries in foreign fields.

Thursday afternoon was devoted to a business session, and the day marked the close of the meeting. Luncheon and dinners were served to visitors in the dining room of the church during the meeting, with the visitors being guests of members of Irene Cole Memorial Church at night and for breakfast.

Among those attending the Association from a distance were Dr. V. I. Masters, of Louisville; W. J. Vaughan, field representative of the Baptist General Hospital, Ashland; Rev. J. M. Bell, of Inez; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thomas, of Paintsville; Rev. Jesse Brown, Elkhorn City; Rev. E. L. Howerton, A. J. Jackson and A. S. Corbin, of Pikeville; Rev. A. H. Webb, Darwin Stone, Mrs. Stone, Miss Mead, Miss May Stafford and Mrs. W. M. Preston, of Paintsville; Miss Annie Allen, of Elkhorn City; Rev. R. E. Booker, of McVeigh; Hatler Johnson, Paintsville; Rev. Paul Thompson, of Salyersville; W. M. Wallen, Lakeville, Magoffin county; Mrs. Sally Rice, East Point; A. E. Hackworth, Ivyton; Buell H. Kazee, Salyersville; Misses Garnet Napier, Roxie Webb, Vertess Conley and Susie Akers, Van Lear; and Joseph Darnell, of Mouthcard, Pike County.

CANEY CREEK STUDENTS TO TOUR COAST

Four Floyd County Boys In Party Making Western Trip

REWARD FOR MERIT

A three month's automobile tour of the western coast of the United States will begin September 10 for six youths, students at the Caney Creek Community Center, Pippapas, Knott county, in recognition of meritorious scholastic work which they have performed in the school. Of the six, four are Floyd county boys.

The party will be composed of David Hollander Hall, of Pippapas; Town and Wade Hall, sons of Greenbury Hall, formerly of McDowell, this county; Wayne Ratcliff, of Langley; William Claude Caudill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Caudill, of Prestonsburg, and Otis Vanderpool.

Leaving Pippapas September 10, the party will go to Ashland by train, and from there will continue the tour by motor. The first stop will be made at Midway, Ky., thence to Louisville, with occasional tours of the various cities between Louisville and Salt Lake City, Utah. Upon their arrival in Seattle, Washington, the group will head southward along the coast to Texas, returning to the school about the middle of December.

David Hollander Hall, while yet connected with the Caney Creek Community Center, is a student in Antioch College in Ohio. Wayne Ratcliff finishes his secondary college work at the school this year, and Town and Wade Hall are also college students there, probably completing their courses also. Claude Caudill and Otis Vanderpool are in the grades, the former entering school June 10, this year.

The care of the younger boys is entrusted to the college students who are making the trip, and in whom the school officials place implicit confidence.

KNOTT SCHOOLS RECEIVE $2,900

Amount To Be Used In School Reconstruction Work

Knott county has received $2,900 for the replacement of school buildings and equipment destroyed by the May flood, as the result of a meeting held in Lexington last month between the Reconstruction Board of Schools, and superintendent of Eastern Kentucky counties.

Contract has been awarded B. W. Pigmon for the construction of a two-room frame school building at Sassafras for $2,200. Construction of a three-room building is planned to replace the schoolhouse washed away by the flood on Ball Branch of Jones Fork. A one-room stone building will replace the old school at Lower Caney, it is said. Cost of these buildings will aggregate $4,400. It is estimated, by the Beacon Light, Caney Creek Community Center publication.

Lark Stone and Estill Gearheart, contractors on the Smith's Branch schoolhouse, completed their work a few weeks ago. The building was erected for $1,800.

UNK WAGS A MEAN INCISOR

Pikeville—This adaptation is a new use for the teeth, was demonstrated in the court house hall here Saturday when I. A. Harris bit off the finger of his nephew, Sam Harris. Both are from Fordsbranch, Ky. Sam had just been acquitted in county court for whipping the former's son, Curtis, alleged trespasser. The elder Harris attacked him at the door of the judge's office and with a set of teeth as a weapon clipped off the end of Sam's little finger back of the nail before officers could interfere. "It looked like a surgeon's job" attaches of the court said. There will be another trial next Saturday.

Case Wins State Title

In two days of play in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Golf Tourney at Springfield, Wesley Case, member of the Pikeville College team, won the individual state title with scores of 74 on Friday and 76, Saturday.
Case, who attends Pikeville College on a golf scholarship, has been playing award-winning golf since high school when he was named most valuable player at McDowell High School. He was a member of the team which won the Walter Hagen Team Tourney in 1979 at Jenny Wiley State Park; was medalist and winner in the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department Tourney at Jenny Wiley in 1980, and was named to the All K.I.A.C. team in 1980.
He is playing as a member of the Pikeville College team in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament today (Wednesday) through Friday in which the first and second place teams and first place individual will advance to the national tourney to be played in Houston, Texas.
Other members of the Pikeville College team are Steve Newsome, of McDowell, Clay Campbell, of Phelps, and Lyle Blackburn, of Pikeville. They, with Case, competed against teams representing Campbellsville, Cumberland, Transylvania, Kentucky Wesleyan, Georgetown, Berea, and Centre Colleges in the Springfield tournament play.
Case, 21, is the son of Andrew and Berchie Case, of Martin, and is majoring in business administration.

Re: (EFFECTIVE RESIGNATION OF APPOINTMENT AS BOARD MEMBER FOR BEAVER-ELKHORN WATER DISTRICT)
Dear Bill,
I am submitting to you my formal resignation as board member of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District, effective May 2, 1981. In view of the resignation of the Administrator, I do not have the time to assume any administrative functions as a board member on a full-time basis. I feel that in the future the person named as an administrator should be someone trained in the administration of Water Management.
I feel that an agreement made with Water Resources Assistance Corporation, that I was instrumental in securing will assure the water district with competent and qualified employees to manage the system.
Thank you very much for the opportunity to have served as a board member. I hope that a quick determination of the financial condition of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District can be made to you and the members of the Fiscal Court by Mr. Roger Recktenwald and published in the Floyd County Times as soon as possible. I cannot comment at this time on the condition of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District because, as a board member meeting only once a month I did not have this information available to me.
Sincerely,
DOUG MARSHALL

Minniefield On Staff At PC Basketball Camp

Dirk Minniefield, UK's basketball star and Bill "Peabody" Peterson, ball handling expert and assistant basketball coach from Louisiana Tech will be on staff lineup for the 1981 Basketball Camp at Pikeville College this summer. Minniefield and Peterson along with leading local high school coaches and college players, will instruct campers through practical work and daily lectures on shooting, rebounding, passing, ball handling, defense, attitude, team work and game situations.
The basketball camp, directed by Pikeville College Bears Coach Eugene Lyons, will be divided into two sessions, July 5-11 for girls and July 12-18 for boys. Players ages 8 through 18 will also be grouped according to age, size and experience.
For more information or to register, contact Coach Lyons at 432-9231 or write to Pikeville College Basketball Camp, Pikeville College, Box 105, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501.

'LITTLE SHEPHERD' DRAMA WON'T BE PRODUCED THIS YEAR

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," the outdoor drama based on the John Fox Jr. novel, won't be produced this summer near Whitesburg, Ky.
Ruby Caudill, treasurer of Little Shepherd Arts and Crafts and wife of the show's producer, Clifton Caudill, said the property the amphitheater is situated on has been sold. Little Shepherd Arts and Crafts also operated a crafts shop on the land at Van, Ky., in Letcher County, where mountain crafts were made.
"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" has been presented each summer since 1972.

Acid Rain Cleanup— It's Up to Congress Now

After more than two years of painstaking deliberation, the National Commission on Air Quality has recommended a change in the Clean Air Act that could effectively end acid rain. In its report to Congress last month, this panel of experts from industry, academia, government, and environmental community proposed "significant reductions in sulfur dioxide emissions by 1990." While environmental groups have objected to other Commission recommendations for changes in the Clean Air Act, which is up for Congressional reauthorization this year, most have hailed this proposed attack on sulfur dioxide emissions.

How do these emissions become "acid rain?" Though scientists still debate the intricacies of chemical changes they do agree that sulphur and nitrogen oxides are pumped into the atmosphere through tall industrial smokestacks, where they undergo complex chemical reactions with other particles and sunlight. A significant portion of these sulfates and nitrates filter down to the earth as dry particles, which, deposited in lakes, on leaves and branches, can lead to acidification. When moisture accumulates in the atmosphere it sends these same particles to earth as sulfuric and nitric acid in rain or snow.

This acid doesn't color or cloud the precipitation; it doesn't assault the nose with a caustic odor. It simply kills—fish, aquatic life, entire lakes. At least 212 once-teeming Adirondack lakes are now sterile. Wildlife experts say that without aggressive action, more than 50,000 North American lakes will die in just two decades. In addition, forest and crop growth may be significantly stunted by acid rain, and thousands of people may die from breathing sulfates.

Up to now, environmental protection laws have not effectively met the challenge of vinegary acid rain. When they were forced to meet local emission restrictions, some industries built taller smokestacks to send emissions far from their production sites. Many of these tall smokestacks spew sulfur directly into Canada—at the rate of about four million tons per year. Canadians estimate this causes $2 to $4 million in damages yearly. Unfortunately, U. S. smokestacks are not the only sources of acid rain—Canada pumps 1 to 1.4 million tons of sulfur emissions into the U. S. each year.

In other words, the U. S. sends Canada two-to-four times the amount of sulfur emissions it receives. To compound the problem, bedrock formations in Canada, as in some parts of the northeastern U. S., make the soil particularly sensitive to acidification. One-half to three-quarters of a million square miles of rolling green Canadian hills and forests have been affected by acid rain.

Canadians are understandably incensed. When President Reagan arrived in the Canadian capital of Ottawa last month, he was greeted by hundreds of protesters, many carrying placards with the message, "Acid Rain Go Home." Our northern neighbors want the U. S. to regulate sulfur dioxide emissions and regulate them fast. If Congress approves the Commission's acid rain recommendations, the U. S. will be well on its way to clearing the air between the two countries.

Congress, however, is feeling pressure from industrial lobbyists, who charge that the Clean Air Act hampers economic growth and stymies energy development. Unfortunately, one way industry is trying to cut back on costs is to switch to coal combustion, the largest single source of sulfur emissions in the nation. And industry fears that if Congress approves the new anti-emission recommendation, it will have to cover the costs of cleaning up emissions from even its tallest smokestacks.

Such clean-up costs are not so prohibitive as industry would have us think, however. According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, most coal can be easily and inexpensively washed, and the sulfur can be mechanically extracted. Expensive chemical coal cleaning and scrubbing processes, when properly designed, can produce sulfur compounds for dry wall, cement, fertilizer additives, and commercial sulphuric acid.

So, actually, the commission's proposal—if enacted—may cause little economic hardship for industry, while promising cleaner lakes, and clearer diplomatic skies. The recommendation has miles of deliberation and arbitration behind it, and will travel many more miles before it becomes law, but if Congress acts now, and passes this urgent proposal, fish and other aquatic life in North America will receive a needed breath of fresh water, and an extension of life.

THE TOAST OF THE COAST, THE AMERICAN DREAM, MR. STARDUST HIMSELF—

CHESTER GENE (TRULY YOURS) JARRELL
DEMOCRAT FOR HIGH CONSTABLE, DISTRICT 1
OLE LUCKY 7 ON THE BALLOT

After a week in the Bahamas conferring with international financiers and Latin American "King Makers", The Toast of the Coast takes great pride in unveiling his new programs which legal minds believe will literally turn the civilized world upside down.

WHITE PAPER NUMBER 1 ON FLOATERS (one who floats)

No longer must "Floaters" suffer the anguish and despair of coming on the grounds with "too little, too late". Why suffer the rejection of well financed organizations. You need never again suffer the hot summer sun beating relentlessly down on your face. No longer must your face be "long as an ax handle by mid-day" and be baked by the sun to look like new leather. Never again wander aimlessly around staring at your shoes. Step up now and take advantage of this offer. I have always paid "Floaters" top dollar, see me now and get your very own numbered ticket, then on election day take the stub to my well financed henchmen working the grounds and you too can hear a jingle in your pocket. My opponents can offer you only despair, misery, anguish and long suffering. My offer to buy off all of my opponents has been withdrawn due to the tremendous response.

Ecumenical Events
Here Are Listed

St. Theodore Catholic Church, St. James Episcopal Church, and First Presbyterian have joined for several events for youth and adults.

Thursday, May 7, National Day of Prayer, the three congregations will gather at noon at St. Theodore's for a prayer service, particularly stressing concerns for the local hospital and the area-wide coal strikes.

Saturday, the youth have organized a "submarine sandwich" sale. Orders have been taken, and the sandwiches will be made and delivered for the luncheon hour on that day.

Proceeds from the sandwich sale will be used for the spring mission tour scheduled May 15 and 16. The group will visit mission projects and Church agencies related to the three participating denominations. Included will be the Presbyterian Child Welfare Agency at Buckhorn, the Christian Family Life Center of the Christian Appalachian project near Berea, and the Cathedral Domain of the Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky located in Lee county. The mission study tour will enlarge understanding of Christian mission work in Eastern Kentucky.

Parents are asked to bring birth certificates to verify birthday.

COW CREEK HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Cow Creek Homemakers' Club met Wednesday, April 22, at 1 o'clock at the church annex, with the president, Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, presiding. The devotionals, given by Mrs. Goble, were based on the 100th Psalm. In the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Joan Garrett, these reports were given by Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell. Since this club was late in being organized, this year's officers were reappointed for the coming year.

Mrs. James Goble, who had represented the club at the Homemakers Council meeting April 8, gave a report on the ovarian cancer discussion held then, and it was decided that the club would make a donation to this cause.

Mrs. Frances Pitts, Floyd County Home Economist, presented the lesson on "Decorating with Antiques and Collectibles," and illustrated her discussion with slides. Mrs. Pitts announced that the Cultural Arts Camp would be held at Rush, July 27-28, and that the annual garden meeting would again be held at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Billie Merritt, July 30.

Mrs. Virginia S. Goble represented the club at the Floyd County Library, April 30, when the lesson on "Tourism in Kentucky" to be given during the meeting on May 19, was presented by Norman Davis, of Frankfort, Kentucky.

The hostess, Mrs. Sally Mae Goble, served a dessert course to Mesdames Virginia S. Goble, Imogene Caldwell, Norma Stepp, Eunice Darby, and Frances Pitts.

Mrs. Imogene Caldwell will be the hostess for the May meeting.

REVIVAL CONCLUDES

The revival conducted at the Irene Cole Baptist Church here ended following Sunday evening services. On Wednesday evening, the Rev. Ted Nicholas, pastor of the First United Methodist Church here, dismissed services at his church in order that members there might attend these revival services.

CONDITION IS IMPROVED

Henry M. Conley was a patient for several days at the McDowell Regional Hospital. His condition has been showing improvement.

Presented 50-Year Eastern Star Pin

During a special presentation program, Josephine Hall, resident of Hillside Acres Nursing Home, was presented her 50-year Order of Eastern Star pin. Mrs. Hall is a member of Adah Chapter No. 24, of Prestonsburg, and resided in Attica, Ohio prior to entering the nursing home. Making the presentation was Mrs. Agnes Overocker, of Willard, O., who is Worthy Matron of Superior Chapter in Willard, Past Deputy Grand Matron, and Past Grand Marshall of the Grand Chapter of Ohio. Several residents of Hillside Acres, who are members of various area Masonic and Eastern Star lodges, attended the presentation.

Mrs. Hall would appreciate hearing from friends in Floyd county. Her address is Josephine Hill Hall, Hillside Nursing Home, Willard, Ohio, 44890.

Discuss Funeral Ahead of Time Is Attorney General's Advice

Although funeral services are not a popular topic, they are one of the largest purchases a family makes. The average funeral and burial cost more than $2,000. Because it is a greivous time, a person may not be as cautious as he or she normally would be when making such a large purchase.

"Making funeral plans in advance is one approach you might consider," says Attorney General Steven L. Beshear. "You can choose the kind of arrangements you want and prepare for the costs. Your family will be spared any uncertainty or disagreement when such arrangements are made, and you will have the added peace of mind when plans are made according to your wishes."

The first step is to think about your preferences and to make some basic decisions. Here are some items you might want to consider:

—You should discuss the cost when you make plans although this is not the only consideration. You may feel uncomfortable at first. Nearly everyone has trouble talking about death and funerals, and bringing up money "at a time like this" seems crass and unfeeling. But a funeral is a major purchase and should be treated as such.

—You might want to call several firms, explain what you want and find out what they have to offer. This will give you a basis for comparison in choosing a funeral director and providing the practical information needed to complete your plans.

—Ask for the kind of arrangements that appeal to you. Funeral directors are attentive to the wishes of their customers and will respond to your preference. This is also true in the selection of caskets (a major item in a funeral bill).

—Call the cemetery for information and prices. When you call, find out if the cemetery permits headstones or requires ground-level markers; requires grave liners or vaults and sells such items or charges for installation if you buy elsewhere. Also find out the fees for opening and closing the grave and the cost of perpetual or endowment care.

—Consider a prepaid funeral. If prepayment is involved, Kentucky law requires the firm to place all of your purchase money in a special bank trust account which must be refunded to you in full, plus accrued interest, at your request. Many firms have procedures for making prearrangements with a funeral director without prepayment.

Discuss your plans with your family even though it may be difficult for them and for you. Your death is the last thing they want to face, but facing it will be easier if they know your wishes and are prepared to carry them out.

300 Vie For Seats In Ky. Legislature

In less than a month voters will go to the polls to fill many state and local political posts. Appearing on the ballot will be the names of 300 candidates for 74 House of Representatives and 15 Senate seats in the Kentucky General Assembly.

Of those 300 candidates, 196 are running on the Democratic ticket, while 97 are listed as Republicans. There are seven candidates from third parties challenging seats in the House.

Thirty-five women have filed for legislative seats.

Several seats will be decided in the May primary election. Five Senate seats, all with only Democrats running, and 25 House seats—21 Democrats and 4 Republicans—will be determined.

November will decide 49 House and 10 Senate members.

Incumbents crowd the field, but 15 members are retiring, and there are 26 unopposed incumbents in the House (24 Democrats and 2 Republicans) and four in the Senate—all Democrats.

The average turnover rate in the Kentucky Legislature is 45 percent.

Citizens Speak Our Coming To Pikeville

In August, area residents will have a unique opportunity to express their views on the various issues facing the 1982 General Assembly.

House Speaker William Kenton and Senate president Pro Tem Joseph Prather, co-chairmen of the Legislative Research Commission, have announced that a Citizens Speak Out meeting will be conducted in Pikeville on August 13.

State legislators from the surrounding area will be on hand to take citizens' comments on a wide range of legislative issues important to Kentuckians.

The Citizens Speak Out program, now into its third year, has become an annual initiative of the General Assembly and the Legislative Research Commission. It provides Kentuckians with an opportunity to express their views directly to their state legislators in a town meeting setting; with area legislators serving on a panel listening to constituents' comments, entertaining their questions and responding to their concerns.

During 1979 and 1980, a total of 24 Citizens Speak Out sessions were conducted in 16 communities throughout the state.

The 1980 program saw over 1,200 Kentuckians take part, and a follow-up survey of those attending a Sepak Out session found that over 95% believed the meetings to be both useful and informative.

Speaker Kenton noted, "Through the Citizens Speak Out program, we have given the citizens of Kentucky an opportunity to take an active part in the legislative process, and they have responded in record numbers. We have been most pleased with the response this program has received from legislators and citizens alike. While the program was initially designed to provide the public a forum to express their concerns, it also serves as a valuable vehicle to enhance public understanding of the General Assembly."

This year's Speak Out series will begin on June 4 and will run through September. The 17 sessions scheduled include: Northern Kentucky, June 4; Henderson, June 11; Bowling Green, June 18; Hopkinsville, June 25; Hazard, July 9; London, July 16; Morehead, July 23; Maysville, July 30; Ashland, August 6; Pikeville, August 13; Harlan, August 20; Louisville (east), August 27; Frankfort, September 3; Danville, September 10; Louisville (west), September 16; Louisville (southwest), September 17; and Lexington, September 24.

BROWNIE TROOP 966 recently took a wild flower hike to Mrs. Myrtle Davis's yard where Mrs. Davis told the girls about the different wild flowers of our area. Mrs. Davis is shown here with Suzanne Dawson, Micah Stephens, Laura Miller, Stacia Howard, DeeDee VanHoose, Holly Bond, Rachael Allen, and Stacy Hail. Peggy Nelson is the troop leader.

ALICE LLOYD ALUMNI MEET

Members of the Alice Lloyd College Alumni Association, now residing in Floyd county, administrators, and several members of the faculty and staff of the college, were entertained with a dinner at May Lodge, on Friday evening, May 1, with the association's president, Woodrow Allen, presiding.

Dr. Jerry Davis, president of Alice Lloyd College, brought greetings to the group from the college, and told of the progress of Dr. June Buchanan, president of Caney Creek Community Center, who is recovering from a recent fall. Dr. Davis' address was followed by Mrs. Charlotte Madden, president of the college's Alumni Association, and librarians at the college, who discussed alumni programs throughout the area. Dr. Fred H. Lawson, Pikeville veterinarian, and a graduate of Alice Lloyd College, spoke on "What A.L.C. Means to Me." Dr. Wallace Campbell, the college's academic dean, discussed the changes that had been made in the school's curriculum, since it has become a four-year college; M. Feed Mullinax, talked of the development program now in progress there, and Bill Melton, Director of Admissions, told of the school's increase in enrollment, and added that many of the students who have applied for admission during the coming year, are from Floyd county.

The College's President, Dr. Jerry Davis, introduced the film, "This is Your Life, Mrs. Alice Lloyd," produced by Ralph Edwards, about 1955.

Woodrow Allen, out-going president of the Floyd County Chapter of the A.L.C. Alumni Association, announced the names of these officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Russell Laven, Vice President, John Leake, and Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Arnold Lowe.

Approximately 72 persons attended the dinner, which is annually sponsored by alumni and friends of the college. Sponsors this year were Dr. Lowell Martin, Mrs. Otha Hopkins, Tom O. McGuire, Marvin Crider, and Clem Martin.

34-2 Was Not So Bad, After All

By KENNY RICE

It has been six weeks since the dream ended on the court at Belfry High. Six weeks since one of the state's premiere girl basketball squads was upset in the semifinals of the regional tournament.

"It was a wonderful year. We played well all season and we were a consistent team. Our seniors did a great job in leading the team. I think we got to feeling the pressure when the tournaments came—it was hard not to. I am pleased with the season, it hurt when we didn't win the region, but it can't spoil what we did accomplish," Judy mused.

Allen Central accomplished many things during the season, including thirty-four wins in thirty-six tries, including an unprecedented third consecutive district title. Central finished the season ranked fourth in the final Associated Press poll. That is the highest finish ever for a Floyd county team.

Aside from not winning the region, there is another aspect of the season that Judy wishes could have been redone.

"I wish our schedule had been shorter. We played a few games too many. I really feel our team was basketball logged by late February. Thirty-six games are an awful lot of time on the baseball court. I don't know if we would have won it all by playing less games but I do think we would have been a fresher team entering the tournaments. Next season, I am going to shorten our schedule."

Next season. She is already looking ahead to another shot at the regional crown. Eight players return from this season, including three starters. The jayvee was among the best in the region. Next year looks promising.

In four years, Judy Eversole has built Allen Central's program into one of the best in the mountains. The Lady Rebs are contenders for the region every season and they have gained respect statewide. Judy has fulfilled most of her goals with the team, however, the three-time Floyd County Conference Coach of the Year, wants one title most of all.

"I hope Allen Central is the first Floyd county school to win the 15th Regional tournament. I feel we will have another excellent shot at it next season. We didn't get it this time, but we had a lot of fun, won a lot of games and I repeat, it was a great year for the Lady Rebels."

That type of positive thinking will continue to keep Judy Eversole's team among the top.

EXPANDING

The Floyd County Babe Ruth League moves into a second senior league season. The senior league is for players ages 16-18. This year the county teams will play even more games than the forty scheduled for last season.

The homefield is the Allen Park and the games are free. Either the Babe Ruth or senior league will be playing games just about every night at the park throughout the summer.

IT'S BACK

The Archer Park Softball League begins play on May 11, and for the next four and a half months, some of Kentucky's finest softball action will be taking place in Prestonsburg.

EXTENDED SEASON

"I think baseball gets shortchanged. The season needs to be longer," Pete Grigsby, Jr. recently observed, "It would be nice if the season could run through May and start the tournaments in June. The season is just too short and it hurts the kids in our area. Not many of them get baseball scholarships because they don't get enough high school playing time."

Grigsby, a baseball star at the University of Kentucky, and a man who guided McDowell to a county record eight district titles including the lat state tournament appearance by a county team (1963), feels the short baseball season will not be extended by the KHSAA.

"If they lengthen the season past May, then it will run after school has ended and that could cause conflicts with a graduating senior if he is going to summer school or to work. If the season begins in the early part of the school year, say the first of August with the end coming around September and then resuming in the spring, there is a conflict with the football playing schools."

Grigsby, like most baseball minded folk, knows the only way Floyd county can compete with other teams in the state is to play more games and have more practice time. However, in most of the larger schools the baseball players play a sport that does not conflict with their winter baseball practice. With the majority of the county baseball players also playing basketball it is difficult to set up a winter training program.

"It is difficult to set up a baseball season that would appeal to everyone, and there are going to be conflicts if the season is extended in the spring or in the fall, so I imagine the KHSAA will avoid that by keeping the season as it is. It hurts the baseball players. They are not treated like players at the major sport level like football and basketball, but there is no definite solution without causing other problems."

So, like Pete and other baseball fans in the state, we will have to make the best of the short high school baseball season and hope the Babe Ruth programs in the summer will be some help in developing baseball talent in the county.

Fishing Unlimited Set At Jenny Wiley

Jenny Wiley State Resort Park will host a Spring Fishing Unlimited program the weekend of May 8-10.

The highlight is a fishing contest beginning noon Friday and ending at noon Sunday. Also on tap are classes on boating safety given by the State Water Police, Lake Orientation by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, and displays. Trophies will be awarded to persons catching the largest single and string of black bass, single and string of crappie and largest single fish of another species.

Further information may be obtained by calling the park at (502) 886-2711, or by writing the park in Prestonsburg 41653.

"Biggest" Wrestling Slated Here, May 22

What is said to be the biggest wrestling card ever to come to Eastern Kentucky will be held at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium at 8:30 Friday evening, May 22. International Championship Wrestling's heavyweight champion, Randy "Macho Man" Savage will meet "One Man Gang" Ronnie Garvin, in the main event, a steel cage match.

In another grudge match, "Pistol Pez" Whatley will take on hustler "Rig" Rogers, and in a special handicap match, 7-ft., 500-pound "Crusher" Broomfield will tackle both Ric McCord and Bob Stabler in a two against one. Also on the card, Ricky Starr is set to tangle with tough Danny Doyle.

A spokesman for Prestonsburg High School's athletic department said that an overflow crowd is expected and advised that fans should come early.

Fishing Club Holds First Tournament

The Reel Couples Fishing Club held its first fishing tournament at Dale Hollow Lake, April 25 and 26. Those in attendance were Gerald and Edith Jones, Paul and Charley Nunn, Roy and Joyce Ramey, Eric and Cara Hall, Charles and Paula Collins, Jim McClung and Wilma McClure, Bill and Dolores Smith, Dennis and JoAnn Adams. The biggest bass was caught by Bill and Dolores Smith. The most bass were caught by Eric and Cara Hall. The most pounds other than bass were caught by Paul and Charley Nunn.

The next tournament is scheduled for May 23-31 at Barkley Lake. If you are interested in joining the Reel Couples Fishing Club, contact one of the above members.

Fishing Tourney Slated at Dewey

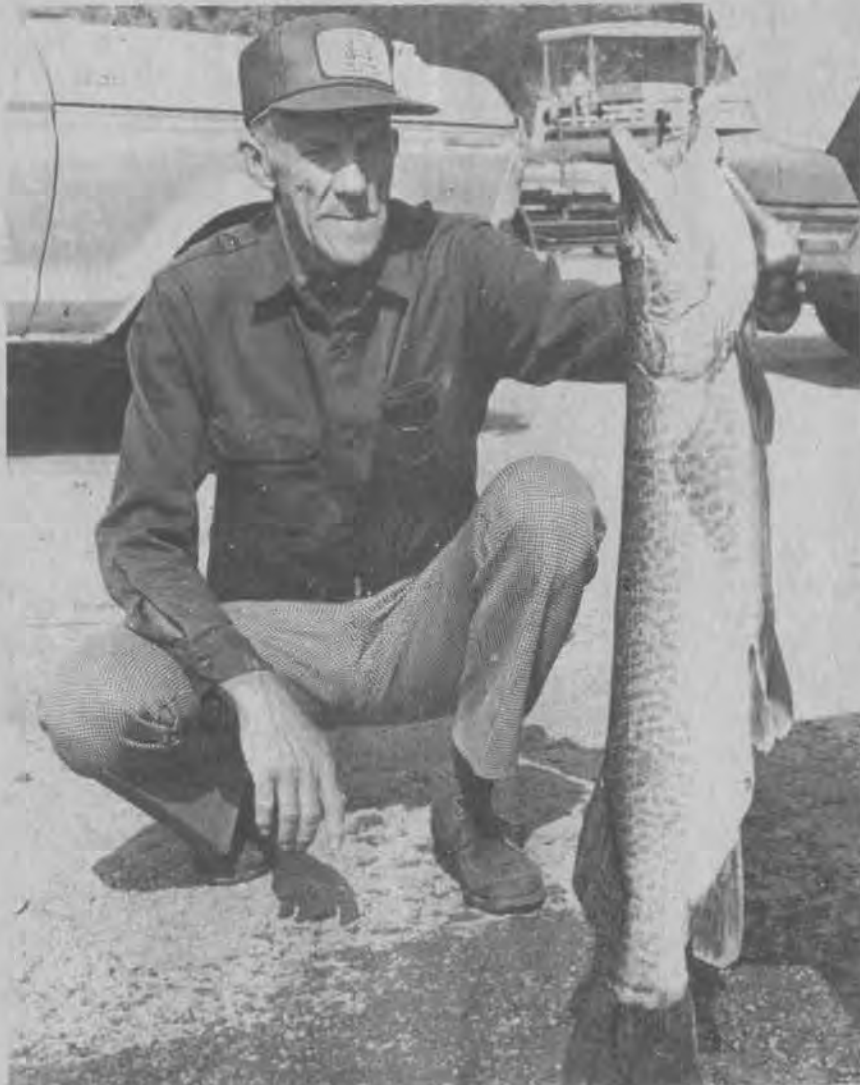

Anglers will be able to test their skill against others in a Fishing Unlimited tournament scheduled to begin at noon Friday on Dewey Lake, and at 7 a.m. Saturday on both Dewey and Fishtrap Lakes with tournament fishing continuing through noon Sunday.

Fish will be weighed from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Jenny Wiley State Park boat dock both Friday and Saturday, and from 11 to 12 noon on Sunday. No fish will be accepted after noon on Sunday for entry in the tournament, it was said. The contest is open to the public, and all entrants must register at May Lodge and pay a registration fee before beginning to fish.

Sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Parks and Al Willenbrink, of Willenbrink's, Inc. of Louisville, the tournament will be concluded at 12:45 Sunday when trophies will be awarded in the TV lounge of May Lodge for the largest black bass; the largest crappie; the largest string of black bass, and the largest fish other than black bass or crappie. In each category, largest means by weight rather than length.

DERMATOLOGY CLINIC
Dr. Gordon Young will offer a dermatology clinic on May 12 at the Mud Creek Clinic (886-1242) and on May 18 at the Wheelwright clinic (452-2105). Services will be provided for any skin disorder. Call for an appointment.

Dewey Muskie, New Ky. Record

James Mullett, of Auxier, is pictured with the state record 38-inch tiger muskie which he caught while bass fishing. Tuesday morning on Dewey Lake near the dam. The big muskellunge-northern pike hybrid was hooked on a buzz-type spinner bait. Barry Storm, of Terry's Boat Dock contacted Fish & Wildlife authorities and measured and recorded the muskie's vital statistics according to their recommendations.

McDowell Downs WHS In 10-Inning Game

By Kim Davis, Karen McKinney, Alan Tackett and Anna Thornsberry. McDowell and Wheelwright clashed in a 10-inning conference game, Sunday, April 25 at Drift.

McDowell stepped up to bat first with Chris Stumbo leading off with a walk followed by Bobbie Caudill who singled, moving Stumbo to third. Greg Short struck out, then Chester Newsome doubled to bring in two runs. The next two up struck out.

The Trojans came up in the bottom of the first with Charlie Williams leading off with a walk, but he was soon picked off by pitcher Jim Turner. Rodger Tackett hit a single but was stranded at second base after the next two batters made outs.

McDowell came to bat in the second inning with the first two striking out. Then Jim Turner knocked a double and scored when Chris Stumbo also hit a double but was left on base when Bobbie Caudill grounded to third. Wheelwright was still held scoreless in the second inning, 3-0.

McDowell scored another run in the third inning when Chester Newsome hit a double, followed by Brian Birdsall who singled to bring in Newsome. The Trojans finally broke the ice when Charlie Williams hit a single and Roger Tackett hit a double to score Williams, but failed to bring in Tackett.

In the fourth inning the Trojans held the Dare Devils scoreless. The Trojans scored two times in the fourth when Johnny Anderson drew a walk and Charlie Williams singled, Roger Tackett advanced the runner on a ground ball to second and Ronnie Little singled to bring them around, making the score 3-4. McDowell was once again held scoreless in the fifth inning as was Wheelwright. In the sixth McDowell still had trouble getting men on base with Eddie Johnson striking two out and the other grounding out to the pitcher. The Trojans scored three more times with Johnny Anderson, Roger Tackett, and Ronnie Little coming across the plate making the score 6 to 4 in favor of Wheelwright. In the seventh inning the Daredevils would not give up with Greg Short and Chester Newsome scoring when Brian Birdsall doubled, resulting in a tie game. The Trojans failed to score in the bottom of the seventh inning this extending the game into extra innings.

The game stayed tied until McDowell erupted in the tenth inning for five runs when Jimmy Turner led off with a walk followed by Mike Stumbo's single. This moved Turner to third, with Turner scoring on Chris Stumbo's single. Caudill and Short each singled to bring in Stumbo. Chester Newsome smacked a three-run homer to put the Devils up by five.

The Trojans couldn't get anything going in the tenth and fell short so that even after all the hard effort the Trojans put into the game, the final score was 11-6.

Good News, Bad News About Hypertension

May is National High Blood Pressure Month. Throughout the country many agencies are working together during this month to tell the public the good news and bad news about hypertension (high blood pressure). First the bad news—approximately 60 million Americans are affected by high blood pressure which can lead to heart attack, stroke, and kidney failure. Many of these people do not even know they have high blood pressure because there are no symptoms to this condition. A person can feel perfectly fine but actually be on the road to a very serious disease because of high blood pressure.

Now the good news—high blood pressure can easily be controlled, thus reducing the risk of heart attack, stroke, and kidney failure. Many times all that you need do to control your blood pressure is take some pills everyday.

You may be one of the 60 million Americans who have high blood pressure without even knowing it. Hypertension knows no ethnic or racial barriers; we are all victims of its wrath, although it does affect black Americans twice as frequently as white Americans. Also, if high blood pressure or heart attack has affected someone in your family, your chances of being affected is increased. If you have high blood pressure and are not controlling it by taking pills everyday, you are on the road to having a heart attack, stroke, or kidney failure.

Get your blood pressure checked periodically, starting today. If you have never gotten your blood pressure checked, do it now. The check is very easy and takes less than a minute. If you have been checked and found to have normal blood pressure, you should continue to get it rechecked every year to make sure it hasn't raised. If you have been told that you have high blood pressure, it is very important for you to see a doctor and follow the procedures given to you to control your blood pressure. Remember, you need to take your blood pressure pills everyday—not just when you feel bad. You cannot feel when your blood pressure is up; only the blood pressure check can tell that. Hypertension is similar to diabetes and arthritis in that it is not cured but controlled. You will probably have to continue with your blood pressure medicine indefinitely. If you follow your doctor's orders, you may add many comfortable healthy and happy years to your life.

UK Sponsoring Newspaper PhotoForum

The University of Kentucky School of Journalism will sponsor a one-day forum for Kentucky newspaper publishers and news photographers on May 16 on the UK campus in Lexington.

Alen Malott, UK assistant professor of journalism and chairman of the PhotoForum, said four well-known persons in news photography will speak. They are Joe Costa, Ball State University professor of photojournalism, who is known as the dean of the nation's photojournalists; Bill Wax, Gainesville (Fla.) Sun photographer and last year's national Newspaper Photographer of the Year; Ed Breen, city and graphics editor of the Marion (Ind.) Chronicle-Tribune; and a representative of an internationally-known camera manufacturer.

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. in UK's White Hall classroom building. Further information may be obtained by calling Malott at (606) 258-2671.

One Year Old
Nathan Barkley Tussey, son of William and Lynn Tussey, of the Middle Creek Road, celebrated his first birthday Wednesday, April 15, with a party at the home of his parents. A Bugs Bunny cake was served to his sister, Amanda (in picture) and cousins, Kimberly and Michael. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tussey, of Middle Creek, and of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, of Allen, and of Joe Simpson, of Martin, Ky.

The Employment Act of 1946 committed the government to take all practicable measures to promote maximum employment, production and purchasing power according to "Important Events In American Labor History," a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

To Mom—

For all the times you took us everywhere from 4-H meetings and 8th grade ballgames to a party in the next county—for all the times you nursed us back to health so lovingly, and somehow made sense out of 5 people trying to get into the bathroom all at once on Monday mornings.

For the times we cried on your shoulder and for every time you said "I just want you to be happy, or you're the one that has to wear them, not me".

For all the years you've loved us so much—thank you, Mom. We love you very much.

Savings Hints Offered For Mother's Day Calls

As the price of travel continues to climb, people are more likely to send Mother's Day greetings by phone rather than in person.

Mother's Day, May 10, is expected to be the most active ever, with Prestonsburg residents exchanging holiday greetings with family members all over the country and overseas, according to Art Willett, South Central Bell local manager.

"Take advantage of the reduced direct-dialed rates and reduced weekend rates in effect on Saturday and Sunday," he said. "There is a 60 percent discount on calls placed between 11 p.m. on Friday and 5 p.m. on Sunday."

A three-minute direct-dialed call from Winchester to Los Angeles, would cost only $.54 before 5 p.m. and after 11 p.m. on Mother's Day. From 5-11 p.m. there is a 35 percent reduction ($.85) in effect from the average daytime rate of $1.31.

Willett suggested that telephone users dial their own calls direct when possible to take advantage of the lower rates.

"HOSPITAL WEEK" MAY 10-16

Governor John Y. Brown, Jr., has proclaimed the week of May 10-16, as Hospital Week in Kentucky. This action coincides with national Hospital Week, an annual observance sponsored by the American Hospital Association.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 036-0057

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Corbin Coal Company, C-4, Box 181, Pikeville, Ky., 41501 intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 13.10 acres located southeast of Osborne in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 1 mile east of State Route 1426's junction with Keathley Branch Road and located east of Toler Creek, latitude 37d. 27' 45", longitude 82d. 36' 18". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Adkins Heirs, Emmitt Conn, Dale Roberts, Henry Kidd, Mary McKinney. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Surface mine. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, 431 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. The written objection must have attached a copy of the newspaper clipping, and reference the above application number. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

May Is High Blood Pressure Month: It Could Pay To Have Yours Checked

You may be one of the 60 million Americans who has high blood pressure or hypertension, and doesn't know it. High blood pressure is symptomless, and today, it is one of the leading causes of death and disability in America.

The Veterans Administration, along with the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services, is reminding all Americans that May 1981 is National High Blood Pressure Month.

The goal of this year's public awareness program is to inform and educate all Americans about high blood pressure, a disease that causes more than 853,000 deaths from cardiovascular problems annually. High blood pressure also increases the risk of premature illness from heart disease, stroke and kidney failure.

High blood pressure can affect anyone. It is a physical condition in which the heart and blood vessels are strained by blood pumping with too much force through the body, and it claims one out of every seven Americans as victims.

The disease is generally easy to diagnose, and it would pay all Americans to have their blood pressure checked. Your family physician or other health care professional can do it for you.

Further information about hypertension and National High Blood Pressure Month can be obtained from the High Blood Pressure Information Center, 120/80 National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md. 20205.

Students Must Complete Social Security Report

By JIM KELLY
Social Security
District Director

If you have been getting social security checks as a full-time student 18 to 22, you should soon receive a "Report of Student Beneficiary at End of School Year." It asks about school enrollment, possible work activity in 1981, and whether you have married.

Make sure you promptly complete the top three-fourths of this form when you get it. Then ask your school registrar or other official to fill out the bottom one-fourth to certify your enrollment and have that person return the form to the Social Security Administration.

The form must be completed even if there has been no change in your situation. If this is not done or if the form is returned late, your benefits may stop. Also an investigation may be made to see if all past payments were correct.

Benefits can continue during summer months if you were a full-time student before vacation started and you return to school in the fall. You must pre-register at the school you will attend in the fall. If your plans are indefinite now, you should have benefits stopped to avoid having to pay back some checks not due. Then if you do return, back payments can be made later for months you missed.

If you have a summer job lined up, remember that earnings can affect your benefits. In 1981 you can work and earn up to $4,080 and receive all your social security checks. If you earn more than this, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $2 in earnings over $4,080. Earnings for the entire year should be counted. Let social security know if you think your earnings might exceed $4,080.

For more information call the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located between Prestonsburg and Paintsville on U. S. 23. The phone number is listed in your local directory under U. S. Government.

Observe 59th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. David Tufts, Sr. observed their 59th wedding anniversary, May 1, at their home in Wayland.

Mr. Tufts, son of W. H. and Amanda Barney Tufts, and Bessie Mae Bates, daughter of Edward and Lida Barber Bates, were married May 1, 1922 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett McClave at Grayson, Ky. by their pastor, The Rev. Benn Harrison Lucas. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tufts are native of Rush, Ky. They came to Floyd county shortly after their marriage and have lived in the vicinity of Wayland the 59 years of their married life.

They are parents of three sons and two daughters: John David Tufts, Jr. and Curtis Tufts, of Wayland; Charles Tufts, of Hamilton, Ohio; Mrs. Lillian Mae Burgess, of Palmyra, Michigan; and Doris, deceased. They have eight grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Tufts is a retired barber and is a local licensed preacher of the United Methodist Church. He and his wife are members of the Wayland United Methodist Church. Their hobbies include visiting their second home in Nicholas county where they hunt and fish.

Most handicapped adults need vocational rehabilitation in order to qualify for almost any kind of job. This often requires the combined talents of doctors, social workers, therapists and others. Call your local Easter Seal Society for help.

If you can't tell an aglet from a schizocarp, you're in heavy trouble. The May Reader's Digest defines an aglet as the plastic tip of your shoelace. A schizocarp, on the other hand, is that little winged thing from maple trees that you put on your nose in the spring.

E.K.U. Commencement Scheduled For Saturday

The speaker at Eastern Kentucky University's 74th spring commencement Saturday, May 9, will be Dr. Frank Graves Dickey, Sr., who served as president of the University of Kentucky from 1956-63.

The program will be held for the second consecutive year at 20,000-seat Hanger Field, beginning at 1:30 p.m. with E.K.U. President Dr. J. C. Powell presiding. In case of inclement weather the exercises will be moved to Alumni Coliseum.

About 2,077 degree candidates will receive diploma covers during college receptions following the commencement.

Dr. Fox Warns Of Drug Abuse

A Pikeville public health physician spoke to a Betsy Layne parents' group with missionary zeal about the problem of drug abuse among school students Monday night.

Speaking to about 65 persons at a meeting sponsored by the Betsy Layne PTA, Dr. Mary Fox sometimes couched the drug abuse problem in terms of Biblical prophecy and the approaching Armageddon.

Evoking the Cold War rhetoric of the fifties, she hinted at a Communist conspiracy to undermine the moral fiber of this nation's youth as a possible cause of the problem.

Generally, however, Dr. Fox relied on the more sober language of economics and on reports issued by the federal Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) to make her case that marijuana and other drugs are posing an increasingly serious threat to the health and development of students here.

"No matter what we do about it, drugs are going to be with us a long time," she predicted, "and the reason is M-O-N-E-Y." Describing marijuana as among Kentucky's ten leading cash crops, she said an acre of the plant could yield as much as $150,000 in street sales, compared to about $3000 for an acre of tobacco.

Prescription pills sold for 25 or 30 cents each by pharmacists sell for from $3 to $10 on the street, she said, adding that "drug sales are big business."

Marijuana, Quaaludes and PCP, also known as "angel dust," are the drugs most commonly used by school students in this area, while inhalants are proving increasingly popular among younger children, she said.

Citing a recent DHHS publication, Dr. Fox pointed out that, contrary to earlier reports that the drug was relatively harmless, marijuana can be traced in the body up to a month after use, its smoke is more irritating to the lungs than tobacco smoke and contains more cancer-causing agents, it lowers hormone levels in both men and women, it can affect thinking, comprehension, memory and problem solving, and it can interfere with driving and other skills involving mental and physical coordination.

"In the last 10 years, marijuana has been found to do a lot more to the body and mind than was once thought," she said.

Present-day marijuana is more potent than earlier strains of the plant and is reaching an increasingly young market, Dr. Fox said.

The nitrous oxide used as a propellant in many aerosol products, such as whipped toppings, is also in use among younger children as an inhalant, she said.

Among the possible signs of drug use by their children, Dr. Fox told the parents, were falling grades, a loss of concern for personal grooming, weight loss, increased desire for sweets, irritability, and—in the case of marijuana—a characteristic sweet odor on the clothing.

Marijuana appears to be psychologically rather than physically addicting, and youngsters who feel insecure about their own worth are especially vulnerable to its appeal, Dr. Fox said.

Parents need to inform themselves, organize, and perhaps even form playground patrols—but, most importantly, they need to be explicit in loving their children, she said.

I WISH TO THANK ALL FOR THEIR VOTE AND SUPPORT
MERLE M. MAY
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY SURVEYOR
(Pol. Adv. Pd. by Candidate, It-pd.)

TO ALL FLOYD COUNTIANS:

As a resident of Floyd County I know our roads and bridges are the worst in any county in the state. I don't blame the District Magistrates or the county road crew or the State Highway Dept., neither the federal government nor the Governor of Kentucky. The improvement we need is not any of the above mentioned agencies' responsibility. As you know, we all have a chain of command to go through in order to get a job done. In our case it's up to the County Judge-Executive to follow through these branches in order to get and have what we need. Have we had this in our past administration? Or will we again have all the great promise of better roads and bridges? Or will we have a "yes" man? I don't want or need this in the community that I live in. We need someone to get out and see our needs and take the lead as our County Judge-Executive. We don't need someone sitting behind a desk making empty promises. We need action and we need it now. As a former employee of U.S. Shoe and heavy equipment operator I ask all the men and women of the county to vote for and support Jimmy "Gabe" Turner for County Judge-Executive. As the old saying goes—it's better to have one bird in hand than two in a bush. But I think it's better to have one Turner in hand than have two "birds in a bush."

Signed: Freddie J. Osborne,
Hunter Hollow

I am an ex-Marine with service in Parris Island, S. C., Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marine Corps Supply Center, Albany, Ga., M.C.A.F. El Tora, Calif., M.C.A.F., Iwikuni, Japan, 3rd Marine Division, Okinawa, 34rd Marine Division, Korea 3 expeditionary forces and 1 1/2 years as Military Police—Marine Barracks, Key West, Florida. I have met and served under some national leaders, such as John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and Commandant of Marine Corps David M. Shoup. Jimmy will make a leader—All Veterans Vote and Support Jimmy "Gabe" Turner for County Judge-Executive.

VOTE FOR AND SUPPORT HOLLAND B. HURLEY

DEMOCRAT CANDIDATE FOR #10
SHERIFF OF FLOYD COUNTY
NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

TO ALL CITIZENS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

We have 20 more days left till election day. I want to take this time to ask all of you to get behind me. Let's show them that money can't buy it this time. If we the people of Floyd County desire a safe and respectable county for ourselves and our children to live, work and play in, then, if you vote and elect me, I'll make our county second to none.

Don't put your future and the county's future in the hands of a few people.

I don't have organized crime behind me. I won't be spending 40 or 50 thousand dollars. Then if I am elected I won't be a puppet on a string. I will just be working for YOU, the citizens of Floyd County. I was asked to run for sheriff by people who are tired of the way things are—they want a change! So join them. Let's show all these candidates that you the citizens are the ones that select your county sheriff.

I know that no peace officer can clean up all crime. But they sure can slow it down.

As you know, if some big-time crime boss gives a candidate a lot of money, then if that candidate wins they will be putting up bootleggers, dope pushers and anything else to make their money back. If you citizens vote for the men that big money is behind, you will see. It will look like a chain of fast food stores going up, except it will be bootleggers, and organized crime moving more places into our county.

I am a Vietnam veteran. I am a family man, who would like to make our county a better place to live in.

I know you citizens are getting tired of electing county officials who don't keep their promises. That is why you should make your vote count. This will be a big decision to make. I know that if elected sheriff of this county it won't be a bed or roses.

So, if I am elected I will get an early start. I will have meetings in each district. I want the people to get involved. They pay enough tax, so they should get to help select their deputies.

So, if you like the way things have been for several years, vote for someone else.

If you want a big change, vote for me. I will have to be firm. If elected I will start to work on one murder case, and a lot of other things that you people would like to see come out. If elected sheriff I will have a lot to do. I will represent all of our citizens. I will enforce the law no matter who it hurts.

So, if any of you crime bosses have anything to hide, you had better vote for and support someone else.

I'm not going to be a puppet for crime, and let our citizens down.

So good luck all candidates for sheriff.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Archer Park Board, Prestonsburg, Kentucky (Floyd County), at the park office on May 19, 1981, at 7:30 p.m., Eastern Daylight time, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read aloud for the furnishing of all materials and labor and performing all work as set forth by this Invitation for Bids, the Instructions to Bidders, the General Conditions of the Contract, the Specifications and Drawings prepared by Huffman & Burchett, Architects, Prestonsburg-Martin, Kentucky.

The work to be bid upon: Archer Park Racketball Facility, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Proposal will be received as follows: Proposal No. 1, to include entire project.

Plans, specifications and contract documents, may be examined at the following places: Builders Exchange of Louisville, Kentucky; Dodge Corporation of Knoxville, Tennessee, Charleston, W. Va., and Lexington, Ky.; and at the office of Hoffman & Burchett, Architects, Prestonsburg-Martin, Kentucky.

Copies of the documents, not to exceed two (2) sets, for the general contractors and his major subcontractors, may be secured from the architect, Hoffman & Burchett, Architects, upon payment of $50.00 per set, which payment will be refunded upon return of the plans, specifications, and other documents, in good condition, within ten (10) days after date of bid opening.

All subcontractors, material suppliers, and other interested parties, may obtain a full set of drawings and specifications for a total deposit of $50.00, made payable to Hoffman & Burchett, Architects, or they may obtain the necessary sheets required to estimate their work, upon payment of $5.00 per sheet of the drawings, which charge will include the corresponding section, or sections of the specifications.

Bids must be accompanied by a bid bond payable to the owner in an amount not less than five percent (5%) of the base bid.

Bids received after the scheduled closing time for the reception of the bids, will be returned, unopened to the bidders.

Documents available on or about May 5, 1981.

In the event an award is made and the successful bidder fails to furnish a satisfactory performance bond within fifteen (15) days after written notification of acceptance of the proposal, and fails to execute a contract for the construction of the work under the award, then the bid bond shall be forfeited as liquidated damages for such failure.

Notice of Requirement for Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities: Bidders are cautioned as follows: By signing this bid, the bidder will be deemed to have signed and agreed to the provisions of the "Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities" in this solicitation. The certification provides that the bidder does not maintain or provide for his employees facilities which are segregated on a basis of race, creed, color, or national origin, whether such facilities are segregated by directive or on a de facto basis. The certification also provides that he will not maintain such segregated facilities. Failure of a bidder to agree to the "Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities", will render his bid nonresponsive to the terms of solicitations involving awards of the contracts exceeding $10,000, which are not exempt from the provisions of the Equal Opportunity clause.

The proposals, including the bid bond, shall be in a sealed envelope, bearing the bidder's identification, addressed to the: Archer Park Board, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and labeled in the lower lefthand corner: PROPOSAL: Archer park Racketball Facility, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Time of opening: 7:30 p.m.

The owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any formalities.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) days subsequent to the opening of the bids, without the consent of the owner. 3-29-31.

To Wed May 16

Announcement is made of the forthcoming marriage of Miss Barbara Kaye Hicks, daughter of Mrs. Wanda Hicks, of Hueysville, and the late Elzie Hicks, to Mr. Dwight Davis, of Inez, son of Mrs. Thelma David, of Louisville, and the late John Wesley David.

Miss Hicks will graduate from Prestonsburg Community College this week. Mr. Davis is a graduate of the University of Louisville Speed Scientific School and is presently employed as an engineer for Wolf Creek Collieries.

The open church wedding will be solemnized at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 16, at the First Assembly of God Church in Martin. A reception will be held following the ceremony.

Corn Growers Should Certify Acreage

Again this year, producers of corn will be required to certify their crop acreages with ASCS to be eligible for disaster assistance or target price protection. The NCA limitation will not apply for 1981, although NCA crop acreage planted in excess of the farm's established NCA will not be used in determining a farm's NCA in future years.

By accurately certifying to his 1981 crop acreage, the producer will be eligible for deficiency payments in the event of low market prices or disaster payments if a farmer should be prevented from planting or suffer a 40% or more loss of production due to a natural disaster. The final date for certification will be July 15, 1981. All producers of corn should plan to certify to their 1981 crop acreages before the final certification date.

Mrs. Osborne Nominated Special Educator of Year

Mrs. Marie Reynolds Osborne, of Spradlin Branch, Prestonsburg, a teacher of the trainable mentally handicapped in this county for the past 13 years, was nominated for an award as Special Educator of the Year, 1980.

In 1977, Mrs. Osborne was appointed to the governor's Task force on education, a group composed of interested citizens, educators, and members of the General Assembly. She also was named a delegate to a conference on education held in Louisville.

Prior to teaching in this county, Mrs. Osborne taught in the Greene county, Ohio school system as an instructor in the field of education for the gifted child.

MAY DESIGNATED NATIONAL BLOOD PRESSURE MONTH

High blood pressure—the silent killer—affects one out of seven Americans. Yet, 75 percent of the American population is unaware of the facts surrounding the disease.

Although a growing number of people now relate high blood pressure to heart trouble, strokes and kidney failure, many people still have misconceptions about the disease.

Note these facts about high blood pressure—a timely topic since May is National High Blood Pressure Month.

High blood pressure is a physical condition in which the heart and blood vessels are strained by blood pumping with too much force through the body. Some people think that a headache, dizziness or feeling poorly are telltale signs that blood pressure is up. However, high blood pressure may not have any symptoms. You can feel fine even though your blood pressure is high.

Another common misconception about the disease is that it affects only the nervous, tense individual. The medical term for high blood pressure is 'hypertension.' Some people assume that only anxious or tense people have high blood pressure. However, this isn't true. High blood pressure can affect anyone.

Another erroneous belief is that high blood pressure control is a cure. There is no cure for high blood pressure. Physicians generally use medication to bring blood pressure into the normal range. However, unless medication is taken each day as prescribed, blood pressure will go back up.

In addition to medicine, high blood pressure patients are often advised to watch their weight, cut down on salt, exercise more, and stop smoking. Some people think that they can choose either to take the medication or follow the other advice.

However, this isn't true since the two types of therapies are meant to complement one another. If you watch your weight, cut down on salt, and exercise more, your medication may be more effective, and as a result you may need to take less.

Ask your doctor what to do should you miss a dose of medication, and that you make certain your prescription doesn't run out.

High blood pressure must be treated every day, regardless of how you feel.

To Hershel Hamilton

You sure made a lot of people happy when you accepted my challenge.

ME, TOO!

You did not win anything yet.

It is good that you have records to show what it cost for the road on Left Toler.

These records and papers have nothing to do with my challenge, and mean nothing to me.

Please read my challenge again. I believe that it is clearly stated that you are to show me the improvements on the road between the main Toler blacktop road and Mary Ann McKinney's home. I am asking nothing more, and will not agree to less than what is in the challenge. Please let me know when you have someone to point out and show the improvements to me. That should not be any problem for you if the road is as good as you say it is. I am very much enthused and looking forward to the conclusion of this challenge.

To Help Schools Serve Handicapped

Two diagnostic service centers, designed to assist 10 area school districts in providing services to handicapped children, will be dedicated today (Wednesday).

According to EKEDC Director, Harry P. Brown, the dedication ceremonies will include a luncheon address by Billie Downing, head of the state Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children.

Brown said the two centers began operation in March, with four major purposes: identification and testing of handicapped children; training for school personnel; establishing model handicapping procedures for the severely handicapped; and provision of related handicapping services, including child-find, dissemination, purchase of testing materials and coordination of interagency services.

One of the centers is located in the Floyd County School Board offices here.

Special Ed. Workshop Slated at Pike College

Pikeville College's Special Education Club (SEC) is sponsoring a workshop for parents of handicapped children, May 7 from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. in Chrisman auditorium of the Arnington Science Center on campus. The workshop is designed to assist parents in meeting professionals who work with the handicapped, identify community and state services available and exchanging experience with other parents of handicapped children.

The speakers scheduled for the programs are Marge Allen, B.S.S.; Ruth Simpkins, R.N. Home Health; Dr. Audrey Barkman, Education Department Chairman, Pikeville College; Fr. Jerome Stern, St. Francis Church and Paula West, Mountain Comprehensive Care Center.

Auxier Equitable Gas Increases Ok'd

The state Public Service Commission has approved a rate increase for the Auxier Road Gas Co. that will raise the minimum monthly bill from $5 to $6.

The minimum bill will pay for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas. A rate of $5.20 per 1,000 cu. ft. will be charged for amounts over 1,000 cu. ft.

The increase was requested because of a debt from a reconstruction program.

The Commission has also approved a rate increase for the Equitable Gas Co. to offset an increase in the wholesale cost of gas.

Equitable's supplier, Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Co., is raising the cost of natural gas it supplies to the utility by almost $68,000.

Residential customers will have to pay an average increase of $12.77 per year.

The minimum monthly bill will be $1.80 and a rate of $3.69 per 1,000 cubic feet will be charged for the first 2,000 cu. ft. a rate of $1.66 per 1,000 cu. ft. will be charged for the next 18,000 cu. ft. and the rate continues to decline after that.

The rates will be effective May 1.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Rhoda Nickles Jones wishes to express their appreciation and thanks to all who sent food and flowers during their time of sorrow. Thanks to all who helped in any way, to the ministers for their kind and comforting words, and to the Hall Funeral Home for its courteous and efficient service.

National Postmaster's Meeting

Congressman Carl D. Perkins talked with Kentucky postmasters at a national meeting held recently in Washington. They are, from left, Jean Hall, of Viper, and Mrs. Aileen Hall, of Betsy Layne.

The legislative conference of the National Association of Postmasters, the first such meeting of its kind, was planned as an effort to discuss challenges and goals of postmaster and the postal service with Congressional leaders.

National President Jim Syers invited delegates from each state to participate, and Mrs. Aileen Hall, of Betsy Layne, was one of four chosen to represent Kentucky.

During the four-day session, the organization hosted a reception in the Mansfield Room of the Capitol that was attended by leading lawmakers and by Postmaster General William Bolger and several top staff members.

Congressman Ed Derwinski, of Illinois, was keynote speaker for the conference, and Senator Ted Stevens, of Alaska, addressed the group during a luncheon at the Russell Senate Office Building.

Two days were allowed for the delegates to visit their respective representatives. The group from Kentucky was given a cordial welcome to the offices of Senators Wendell Ford and Walter D. Huddleston, and of Representatives Carl D. Perkins, Carroll Hubbard, Larry Hopkins, Hal Rogers, Ron Mazzoli and William Natcher.

Kentucky postmasters attending the conference, other than Mrs. Hall, were Mrs. Jean Hall, of Viper; Joe Treas, of Fulton, and Paul Criscillis, of Williamsburg.

Many items in this ad carry a reference retail price. This reference is intended to provide a guide to the range of retail selling prices in our selling area and may be useful in identifying different units of the same manufacturer. An item's reference retail price is either the manufacturer's suggested retail price or our determination of its full retail price based on prices at which it or similar merchandise is offered by principal retailers (department stores, specialty shops, and other non-discount retailers) in our selling area. While we believe our reference retail price does not appreciably exceed the highest retail prices at which sales are made in our selling area, we cannot assure you that our reference retail prices, as described above, represent the prices in every community on any given day. Some items in this ad are sales as regular selling price. The merchandise is offered at this price except during a special sale. Teens Need Proper Sex Education, According To Health Organization

Mountain Maternal Health League in Berea, Kentucky, is concerned about the increasing sexual activity among teenagers. Although the use of contraceptives by teens to avoid unplanned pregnancy has increased, teens are not using the most effective methods available. part of the reason for this is the adverse publicity about birth control pills and intrauterine devices. More often, teens simply do not have the information they need to make intelligent choices about their own sexuality or about the use of birth control methods. Two-thirds of pregnant teenagers say they never use contraceptives.

The education department at Mountain Maternal Health League provides low-cost clinic and educational services to all men and women, including teenagers, to help them plan their families. Sexuality classes are conducted for schools, churches, parents and other groups. Assistance is provided to school systems in the development of state-mandated sex education courses in the public schools.

Teenagers represent only 18% of sexually active women capable of becoming pregnant, but they produce 46% of all illegitimate births and 31% of all abortions. If there is no change in current rates, 4 out of 10 girls who are now age 14 will get pregnant in their teens, 2 out of 10 will give birth, and 3 in 20 will have abortions.

"We can no longer hope the problem will go away by itself. And there is no evidence that increasing teen's fear of pregnancy by denying them contraception would decrease their sexual activity. Most sexually active teens experiment with sex for 6 months or more before ever using contraceptives. In the meantime, many become pregnant.

"The public can no longer be allowed to ignore teen pregnancy and sex education is unneeded. Teenagers need proper information. Public school sexuality education programs should be given the highest priority," recommends Nancy Cunningham, MMHL's Education Director.

Last year in the United States, over 1 million teenage girls became pregnant. In Floyd county, there were 211 births to teenage girls, including three to 14-year-olds, according to figures released by the state Department of Vital Statistics.

Horse Park Sets Appaloosa Classics

Seventy of those familiar horses whose signatures are their spotted rumps, will go before the auctioneer's gavel May 16 at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington.

The sales pavilion in the Big Barn will be the site of the Classic Select Sale of Appaloosas. Auction organizer Chip Muth says show horses, broodmares and stallions have been chosen for the sale.

There are only two such select sales held each year in the nation, he says, and all of the national Appaloosa bloodlines will be represented in this one. The auctioneers will be Arthur Hayden and John Darlin.

Muth says horses in the sale will come from as far away as Colorado, Kansas and Florida. Though no more horses will be accepted for consignment, interested people and prospective buyers are welcome, of course.

The sale will begin at 7:30 p.m., and the horses can be screened in the Big Barn after 12:30 p.m. General admission to the park is charged from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., with tickets for adults $1.50 and youngsters 7-12, $1. Children six and under are admitted free.

More information on the Horse Park, contact the park's publicity office at (606) 233-4303, extensions 207 or 203.

★ CANCER HOPELINE ★

Q—I'm a health and physical education teacher. I'd like to interest my students in the subject of cancer and its prevention by using a kind of Cancer IQ Test. Have you any suggestions for such an introductory quiz?

A—Cancer education should begin with the young. Your idea of an introductory quiz to see what your students know is a fine one. The following are true-false questions with brief answers:

- How's Your Cancer IQ?
1. The earlier cancer is detected, the better the hope of a cure.
 2. Most breast lumps are malignant (cancerous).
 3. The leading cause of cancer death among men is colon-rectal cancer.
 4. Lung cancer is increasing rapidly among women.
 5. If you don't have one of cancer's seven warning signals, you don't have cancer.
 6. When practicing breast self-examination, a woman needs only to look for a lump.
 7. A bruise, injury, or sharp blow cannot cause cancer.
 8. Some cancer, especially cancers of the reproductive organs, are contagious.
 9. Smoking less than a pack of cigarettes a day is dangerous to your health.
 10. The reason it's so hard to quit smoking is because the smoker is addicted to nicotine.

Answers to Cancer IQ Test?

1. True. The earlier a cancer is found, the less chance it has to metastasize (spread), and the more likely it is to be curable.
2. False. Most breast lumps, roughly 80 per cent, are benign (non-cancerous).
3. False. The leading cause of cancer deaths among men is lung cancer.

4. True. As increasing numbers of women have taken up smoking, more lung cancer cases among women have been noted.

5. False. The warning signals are simply the earliest signs an untrained lay-person can detect. They may appear while the disease is in its very early stages and still curable, but they do not necessarily do so. Thus, it is possible for a person who seems healthy in every way to have cancer.

6. False. During breast self-examination, a woman should be alert for a lump, thickening, puckering of skin, unusual discharge, particularly a bloody one, dimpling, or scaly skin. In short, anything unusual should be reported to a physician if it persists for longer than three weeks.

7. True. Cancer is not caused by any injury.

8. False. Cancer is not contagious.

9. True. Statistics indicate that the death rate from all causes (not just cancer) for men who smoke less than 10 cigarettes a day is 34 per cent higher than for non-smokers.

10. False. The use of narcotics can result in addiction, and when the body is deprived of the substance, it suffers physical torment. The smoking of tobacco, however, is a habit created and maintained more because of social pressures and environmental factors (everybody else is doing it) than by any real physical need.

The Cancer Hopeline has extensive information about the topics covered above and others. It is free to the public by calling the Hopeline at 1-800-432-9321 Monday-Thursday from 9-9 or Friday 9-5. You may also write us for information at 915 S. Limestone St., Lexington, KY 40536.

PUBLIC NOTICE

There will be a public meeting of the Floyd County T.V. Cable Commission Agency May 8, 1981 at the hour of 5:30 p.m. in the Floyd County Courthouse Annex Conference Room. All interested parties invited. 2f.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Within 100 Feet of a Public Road Pursuant to 405 KAR 3:050 The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection may conduct a Public Hearing to review the application of Morris Hlyton (application number 036-0058) to conduct mining operations within 100 feet of Public Highway U. S. 23, at Ivel, KY (Toms Creek) location. Any interested person may request that the hearing be held by written request to that effect, sent to the Director of Permits, Division of Permits, Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Sixth Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 and received by him within 20 days of the date of this notice. 1f.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Wolverine Mining Corporation, Route 3, Box 738, Salyersville, Ky. 41465 intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 48 acres located northwest of David in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 4 1/2 miles southeast of State Route 1734's junction with the State Route 7 and located east of Salt Lick Br. of Licking River, latitude 37d. 37 min. 10 sec., longitude 82d. 54 min. 44 sec. The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Minerva Miller, Amos Miller Hrs. Wolverine Mining Corp., Amanda Moore and Roger Shepherd. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: contour strip and auger with hollowfills. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Persons wishing to file written objection and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number Amendment No. 2, 077-0031. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2) and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS:350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above. 1f.

Summer Youth Jobs
Said Available

More than 5,000 summer jobs will be available this year to economically disadvantaged young people in 91 Kentucky counties, Human Resources Secretary Grady Stumbo recently announced.

The jobs are part of the federal Summer Youth Employment Program, which is funded by the Department of labor under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Kentucky youths ages 16 through 21 years whose family incomes are at or below the federal poverty level are eligible for jobs under the summer program, Stumbo said. Participants will work a maximum of 320 hours, about eight weeks, during the summer. They will be paid the federal hourly minimum wage, $3.35, during their employment.

The jobs include a number of duties in the public sector, including working in local health departments, libraries and public pools as well as painting and repairing publicly owned parks and recreational facilities.

Last year, about 6,500 youths worked in the summer youth employment project in the balance of state area. "We've been allotted 388 more job slots this year," Stumbo said. "Through turn-overs, we expect to provide around 7,000 young people with summer jobs."

Youths interested in the summer employment program should call the local Bureau for Manpower Services office. It is listed in the white pages of the telephone book under Kentucky State Government, Department for Human Resources.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Crissman, of Amelia, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, to Thomas Eugene Hoffman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Hoffman, of Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Crissman is the daughter of the former Connie Gail Turner and granddaughter of Mrs. Bertha Turner Holbrook, of McDowell, Ky.

Miss Crissman was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1980 and is a first-year dental student at the Ohio State University College of Dentistry in Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Hoffman was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university and is a second-year dental student at Ohio State.

The wedding will be performed on September 19, in Amelia, Ohio.

Use of Coal Ash
Among Seminar Topics

Using coal ash recovered during mining as structural fill for housing, highways and concrete is among the topics to be discussed June 12 at the seventh Kentucky Coal By-Products Seminar at the Harley Hotel in Lexington.

Seminar participants also will discuss ways to market such coal ash. The meeting is being co-sponsored by the department of civil engineering in UK's College of Engineering, the UK Institute for Mining and Minerals Research and the National Ash Association Inc.

Speakers will be Jerry G. Rose, associate professor, department of civil engineering and the Institute for Mining and Minerals Research; James N. Covey, executive director, National Ash Association Inc., Washington, D. C.; Dennis Kinder and R. E. Morrison, American Electric Power Corporation, Charleston, W. Va.; John Ashby, general manager, Pozzolan Inc., Cincinnati, Ohio; and Robert W. Styrone, Ash Technology Inc., Smyrna, Ga.

For registration information contact Mary Lou Johnson at (606) 252-5535 before June 4.

In 1957, A. Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, became the first black vice-president of the AFL-CIO, according to a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

As uncommon
as they are,
natural gas leaks
have some common signs.

Can you recognize them?

Columbia Gas keeps close watch on its pipelines and facilities to assure safe operation. And, although leaks are uncommon, they sometimes do occur. We feel it's important that you know how to recognize a leak and what to do if you should spot one.

Common signs include a smell of gas, inside or outside; a hissing noise; blowing dirt; or bubbling water over a submerged pipe.

In or around your home or building, if you smell gas, first check to see if a pilot light or burner may be out. If not, and you still sense a leak, call us. Be aware the source of a gas odor could be external—gas from service lines or street mains that could migrate into your premises through walls or drain lines.

If the odor is strong, open doors and windows. Shut off gas appliance valves or meter valve. Don't use matches, electric switches or appliances. Leave the house and call your gas company from nearby and stay there until a representative arrives.

If you are outside in an open area, eliminate, if possible, potential sources of ignition and leave the area. Call your gas company from another location.

We're proud that calls reporting leaks are few. But you should make them, even if you only suspect a leak.

Columbia Gas is concerned about safety. And with your cooperation, we'll keep your natural gas service efficient and dependable.

41.15-Acre Red River Bottom Farm

May 16, 1981, Saturday, at 2:30 p.m.

We have been instructed by the owner to offer for sale at auction, this choice river bottom farm, fronting on Highway #15 at Bowen, Kentucky. This beautiful farm extends from Highway #15 back in parallel lines to the South Fork of Red River and the North Fork of Red River, (junction of the two). This farm is fenced, improved with a 4-bent barn which is in excellent condition and has a corn crib, stalls, hay loft and open shed on one side for cattle. There are several other out buildings. This fine home which has been completely reconditioned, has a family room, large modern kitchen and dining area, bathroom, utility room, living room and one large bedroom downstairs and there are two bedrooms upstairs. There is a large storage area under the back of the house. There is city water, electric and telephone service. There is a 24,000 BTU air conditioner. This home is situated on a plot of ground approximately 190' deep by 415' front by a 100' by approximate 357' across the back, leaving the main farm with approximately 183' highway frontage. This farm will be offered in 2 tracts, the house and approximately 1 acre as described and the farm and other improvements as described and the right reserved to group and offer as a whole. This is one of the finest, small, highly improved river bottom farms ever to be offered in Powell County. We sincerely extend to you an invitation to look this river bottom farm over prior to auction time. Besides being in an excellent location, this farm is located near the beautiful Red River Gorge, Natural Bridge State Park, is only 50 minutes drive from Lexington, and 10 minutes from Stanton, Kentucky. Call for appointment to see this farm prior to auction time.

OWNER: James Lee Dennis

TERMS: 20% deposit, balance on or before 10 days after passing of deed.

FOOD PROCESSOR IS IDEAL FOR SOME TASKS

A food processor is not for everyone, but for those who cook a variety of foods, a processor may be the right appliance choice. It helps to reduce the tedious jobs of food preparation, especially during the food preservation season if you preserve soup mixtures, chili sauce, pickles or relishes.

A well-designed food processor should be able to mix, shred, chop, grind, beat, puree, blend, slice and knead foods in seconds. A food processor will not, on the other hand, incorporate air into egg whites or whipped cream, grind whole grains or coffee beans, or crush ice in most cases.

When shopping for a food processor, realize that it may perform the tasks of a knife, blender, mixer or grinder, but it does not completely replace all these tools. And, you may need extra accessories to perform certain tasks.

In addition to knowing what a particular model can do, decide if you will have the time and willingness to learn to manage the appliance for optimum and safe use. It takes effort to learn to use the food processor in daily food preparation, and many people do not take the time to use it.

Storage is another consideration. If it is in your way on the counter, you probably won't use it often.

If the appliance is for you check for:
—A heavy base minimizes the vibration of a powerful motor. The direct-drive models that have the bowl and blades positioned above the motor rather than off to the side are generally capable of heavier mixing with less vibration.

—The bowl and cover should be made of shatterproof plastic. Check the dry and liquid capacity of the bowl to be sure it will fit your needs.

—S-shaped blades blend and chop, while plastic blades mix soft foods or liquids. Metal discs slice and shred. Check to see how many blades are standard equipment on the model you like.

—The feed tube should be tall enough to keep fingers away from moving parts. A food pusher with graduated markings can be used as a measuring cup.

—A pulse switch, in addition to an off-on control, helps prevent over-processing of food.

—Check to see which parts of the food processor are dishwasher-safe.

Finally, look for the Underwriters' Laboratories seal, which indicates the appliance has met electrical standards and other safety requirements.

Electric Rate Hearings

The state Public Service Commission has begun hearing several possible changes in the way electric rates are determined.

Kentucky Utilities presented possible methods that could be used to determine the rates at an April 27 hearing.

The cost-of-services hearings for the other utilities are April 29 for Louisville Gas and Electric, May 4 for Union Light Heat and Power and May 6 for Kentucky Power.

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL
Department of Biological and Environmental Sciences
Morehead State University

Future fuels and methods of producing energy during the next few years were the subjects of a Time magazine article in June, 1979. The alternatives to oil, coal and natural gas range from oil shale to geothermal power. A situation report on each is summarized in this and the next two articles.

U. S. oil shale reserves are vast, capable of producing up to 300,000 barrels of oil per day by 1990 and much more later. One 16,000 square mile shale area where Colorado, Utah and Wyoming meet holds an estimated 1.8 trillion barrels of oil, about 60 times our proven reserves of liquid petroleum. Despite this reservoir, little oil shale mining has been completed, primarily because of the cost of obtaining leases, mining the shale and refining the oil. Other major problems remain: the technology is unproven, enormous water supplies are needed, and environmental problems, such as vast land disruption and residue disposal, remain unsolved.

KENTUCKY AFIELD

By JOHN WILSON

Wouldn't it be nice if there were signs out on the lake directing you to good fishing spots? Well, on several lakes around Kentucky there are such signs, and more are going up all the time. The signs, pictures of a fish approaching a hook, indicate where manmade fish attractions have been established. Currently, the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Tennessee Valley Authority are engaged in attractor programs.

Most attractors are made from brush piles anchored to the bottom. Brush is easily obtained and seems to attract fish better than "artificial" objects such as old tires or concrete blocks.

With the crappie spawning season upon us, anglers should find these attractors particularly productive since they ought to form natural magnets for spawning crappie. However, studies have shown that almost all fish—everything from bass to catfish—use attractor sites during much of the year.

Most of the attractors established by the Fish and Wildlife Department cover about an acre of lake bottom and are marked at each corner by a buoy with the fish attractor symbol stenciled on it.

"A lot of fishermen think they have to park their boat right next to a buoy to be over productive water," says Bill McLemore, the biologist in charge of the attractor program for Western Kentucky. Actually, McLemore says, there might not be any brush right beside the buoy, since these markers only serve to show the outer limits of the site.

"One way to determine if you're over an attractor is to notice how often your hook gets snagged on brush," McLemore says. "If you're not getting hung up, you're not fishing in the right place."

The problems of getting hung up can be solved by using a light wire hook coupled with fairly heavy line—around 20-pound test. A hefty pull on the line will straighten the hook and free you from the snag. Then the hook can easily be bent back to shape by hand and you're ready to continue fishing. This is an old crappie fisherman's trick, one which works anytime you're fishing brushy areas with live bait.

So far, attractors have been established in Kentucky, Barkley, Barren, Rough River and Dewey Lakes. Most of the work has been done in the Kentucky-Barkley area, where three agencies—the Fish and Wildlife Department, the TBA and the Corps of Engineers—have all built attractors.

Maps showing the location of attractors on Kentucky, Barkley and Dewey Lakes are available from the Department of Fish and Wildlife, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

And when you're out fishing, keep your eyes open for these attractor buoy—they're signs saying "fish here."

The Middle East is fairly gushing over sports. The Iraqis, for example, are spending more per capita on athletics than any other country in the world. The May Reader's Digest divulges that in Bahrain there is an 18-hole, par-71 golf course where you tee off from a strip of plastic grass that you carry with you. The "browns," as they're called, are sand mixed with crude petroleum, brushed down around the pin.

rels of oil per day by 1990 and much more later. One 16,000 square mile shale area where Colorado, Utah and Wyoming meet holds an estimated 1.8 trillion barrels of oil, about 60 times our proven reserves of liquid petroleum. Despite this reservoir, little oil shale mining has been completed, primarily because of the cost of obtaining leases, mining the shale and refining the oil. Other major problems remain: the technology is unproven, enormous water supplies are needed, and environmental problems, such as vast land disruption and residue disposal, remain unsolved.

U. S. tar sands are concentrations of tarlike oil locked in surface and shallow, underground sand deposits, mainly in Utah and its neighboring states, while Canadian deposits are estimated to contain enough oil to supply North America for 114 years. All these deposits are presently regarded as too remote and inaccessible to be exploitable. Other exploitation problems include the difficulty of year-round mining because of the weather, an unproven technology, and the fact that the sands expand after mining, creating an environmental disposal problem. Despite these problems, billions of dollars are being spent on research and extraction.

Solar energy technology has long been known and conventional solar water heating is being increasingly used in this country, although its initial cost is high. The promising new frontier in solar energy is photovoltaics, the direct conversion of sunlight into electricity by using silicon-crystal panels, permitting not only the heating of water, but the running of household appliances and using electrical lighting. Though the cost of photovoltaic cells has been cut in half since 1975, it is still about $9 per watt, compared to $1 for coal-fired electricity and $1.25 for a nuclear watt. Potential breakthroughs may lower the cost to $2 by 1982 and to less than 50 cents per watt by 1990. Large scale commercial applications are also being examined.

Other future major energy sources include biomass conversion, coal conversion, geothermal, hydroelectricity variations, wind and oceanic tides. Next: biomass and coal conversion and geothermal.

Red Cross Celebration
 "Red Cross: with You—For You" is the slogan for World Red Cross Day 1981 which highlights the overall theme of "Protection and Assistance." This annual event commemorates the birthday of Henry Dunant and salutes the universality of the Red Cross movement. On May 8, 1981, national societies around the world will hold events to celebrate the ability of Red Cross to provide protection and assistance to victims of armed conflict or natural disaster. The American Red Cross has long been active in relief efforts following disaster both domestic and foreign.

Beef, Pork Prices To Climb This Summer

Consumers can save grocery dollars this summer by filling their freezers now with favorite beef and pork cuts, as prices are expected to rise nearly 20 cents a pound by August.
 With fewer hogs and cattle bound for market this spring, pork and beef supplies will be reduced this summer and will bring higher prices in the supermarket, according to Dr. A. Lee Meyer, Extension economist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Poultry production, and prices, should remain stable, he said.
 Beef prices, stable since last August, will continue near current levels into May, then will rise gradually at average 15-20 cents a pound by summer's end, said Meyer. The higher prices are predicted because the number of fed cattle that will go to market before June is down nearly five percent, a fairly substantial drop, he said.

The supply of non-fed beef, used for ground beef and processed meats, will dwindle the most and result in much higher ground beef prices.

"We've seen hamburger prices under $1.20 a pound in the Lexington area for the last several months, while the national average price was $1.50," Meyer said. "But prices here probably will jump to $1.50 in the next few months."

Consumers would benefit by stocking up on beef, with the best buys wholesale cuts such as beef strip sirloins or beef rounds, which often are on special. Meyer suggested "anything under $1.30" as a good stock-up price for ground beef.

Shoppers also will pay an average 15-20 cents a pound more for pork by late summer, as hog production cut-backs are reflected in reduced supermarket supplies. Since March, hog production has dropped nine percent, Meyer said.

"Farmers have been forced to reduce hog production because prices have been lower than their costs," he said. "Last year, hog producers lost $10-20 on each hog they marketed in the spring. And with current prices, they will not make up this year for last year's losses."

Break-even costs for hog farmers now run above $50 per 100 pounds, said Meyer, when current prices are closer to $40 per 100 pounds.

Consumers will see reduced pork supplies and increased prices beginning in June, Meyer said. He advises shoppers to stock up on pork before then, especially on cuts like pork loins that offer good buys.

Chicken prices, stable for the last several months, will probably stay the same throughout the summer and for the rest of the year, said Meyer. Chicken production bounced back and stabilized prices this winter after low production and increased prices last fall.

"Production was hurt last fall by low poultry prices at the supermarket, high feed costs, and the hot weather in the summer," Meyer said. "Chicken prices increased 20 percent in the last half of 1980."

Those price increases, as well as the change of seasons, spurred poultry production for 1981. With chicken expected to be plentiful all summer, shoppers need not stock up, Meyer suggested, but may purchase only as needed.

Goins Brothers In Bluegrass Series

The Goins Brothers, veteran performers of old-time country and bluegrass music, are the next guests on the KET series, "Kentucky Bluegrass: The McLain Family Festival," airing Thursday, May 14 at 10 p.m.

The half-hour program, taped at the McLain Family Festival, showcases the many talents of this respected bluegrass group.

Melvin and Ray Goins grew up in the mountains of West Virginia, near Bramwell in Mercer County. Part of a large family, many of whom sang or played the banjo or fiddle, the brothers soon moved from back porch concerts onto the performing stage of the Grand Ole Opry.

Today, the Goins Brothers home base is Prestonsburg and other Kentuckians—fiddle player Art Stamper of Hazard and mandolin player Danny Jones of Louisville—perform with the group.

Despite appearances at festivals around the country, the group's roots are still in the mountains with a repertoire that consists of bluegrass standards and the familiar sounds of the fiddle and banjo. The program includes such instrumentals as "Pike County Breakdown" and "Cripple Creek." vocal numbers include "Long Journey Home," "Toy Heart" and "Mindy Mountain."

"Kentucky Bluegrass: The McLain Family Festival" is repeated Saturdays at 6:30 p.m.

THE MAIN EVENT

The road to romance is not only rocky, it also gets a little punchy when Barbra Streisand assumes management of prizefighter Ryan O'Neal's career in "The Main Event," a romantic comedy making its television premiere on "The ABC Sunday Night Movie," SUNDAY, MAY 10. Although the film received mixed reviews, the combination of Streisand and O'Neal scored well with moviegoers. The title song also sold millions.

BETSY LAYNE COMMUNITY NEWS

Emma Grace Hartley was received into membership of the Betsy Layne United Methodist Church, Sunday. She was welcomed by the congregation. The vows of the church were given by the pastor, Rev. Kaminski Robinson.

The recent revival held at the Calvary Baptist Church created great interest and the addition of new members, in addition to revived interest and re-consecrations of members.

A. M. Boyd is reported as being in fair condition at his home, where members of his family are caring for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hale and sons, Jimmy and Ray Byron, and a friend, David Davidson, of Ypsilanti, Mich., have spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. James George and Mrs. Glen Hale, of Harold. While here, they have worked some on their log cabin.

Several people from here attended the revival services at the Vogel-Day Methodist Church last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Wallen and children spent a few days visiting Curtis Wallen, of Richmond, Va. and other relatives recently.

Folks are glad to hear that Edward Lykins, who recently underwent major surgery, is improved and able to be up and about.

Mrs. Hettie Johnstone visited with her son, Jack Combs, and family in Lexington last week. Her daughter, Laura Katherine is undergoing treatment there for a back injury received in a car accident a few months ago.

Rev. O. E. Stanley and Mrs. Stanley entered Mr. Stanley in the Baptist East Hospital, where he is expected to undergo surgery next Monday. Prayers and best wishes are for his recovery.

Dr. June Brose, D.D.S., attended a dental convention in St. Louis, Mo., Monday and Tuesday, April 20 and 21.

Mrs. Helen Lucille Tabler, from the state of Washington, niece of the late Jesse Elliot, has been visiting with Mrs. Elliot for a few days, recently.

Mrs. Myrtle Homes reported last week after her last visit with her sister, Edythe Woods, who is seriously ill in St. Mary's Hospital, that Edythe was feeling much better. Edythe's family were reared here from childhood, but she has resided in Huntington, W. Va. for several years.

Mrs. Kelsa Elliot received word from Mrs. Oriole Maggard that she had learned that Miss Lucille Slater, who lived here many years, had undergone heart surgery recently, and is recuperating at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington.

Mrs. Laura Ratliff, of Stanville, has been spending several days at intervals with Mrs. Eliza Blackburn, when the family is away. When here, Mrs. Ratliff attends the United Methodist Church as when she lived with Mrs. Dockie George, several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Blackburn attended funeral services for Nancy, the sister of Mrs. Cecil (Buck) Hale in Catlettsburg, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Newberry visited Mrs. Eliza Blackburn last Sunday, and Mrs. Mae Newberry has attended the Methodist Church the past two Sundays.

Arvid Lynch is a patient in the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Walters were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crum, of Huntington, W. Va., over Easter week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Crum are formerly of the Betsy Layne area. They still enjoy visits from their former friends and say they enjoy reading the Betsy Layne News in the Floyd County Times.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhoda Stone, of Mt. Sterling, Ohio, were here over the weekend visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dillion, of Homer, Mich., were visiting, recently Mr. and Mrs. Danny Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Castle Collins. Mrs. Dillion is the daughter of Ezra and Violet Collins, formerly of Betsy Layne.

Visiting Mrs. Lois Walters and Ethel

Foley over Easter weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Walters, Jr., and family, of Johnstown, Ohio; Francis Patrick and daughters, Roberta, Mrs. Susan Slone, all of Ashland; Mr. and Mrs. John Jedele and daughter, of Chelsea, Mich.; Mrs. Mary L. Lafferty and Brother George Blackburn, of Gulnare, and Mrs. Genia Lanz and son, of Manchester, Michigan.

Irene Elkins is spending some time with her daughter, Billia Ruth Meek, of Paintsville, after she underwent minor surgery last week at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

Susan Marcum and Earsha Layne, of Romulus, Mich., were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Layne and others here last week.

Willie Lawson has returned home after being a patient at the V.A. Hospital in Lexington.

Tolvie Lykins, who is a patient at the V. A. Hospital in Lexington, is reported to return home this week.

Nathan Hoskins, small son of Debbie and Mike Hoskins, is a patient at the Methodist Hospital in Pikeville. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Tricks.

Avanell Stephens has returned to her home and is reported to be feeling better after a stay in the Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

Friends of Edgar Bingham were saddened to hear of his not feeling so well at this time. He is at his home at Cliff

Rally Will Oppose Fed. Budget Cuts

Kentuckians opposed to proposed cuts in federal funds to human and social service programs will hold a statewide rally in Louisville on Saturday, May 9. The event is sponsored by Kentucky Action for Human Needs (KAHN), a coalition of religious, education, childrens, labor, civil rights, social service and women's groups.

The Louisville rally is part of a national movement called Nationwide Action for a Fair Budget. It is set for 2 p.m. on the Velvedere in downtown Louisville. A number of local, state and national speakers will participate, along with several entertainers.

Energy Funds Gone

The $1.5 million in state money allotted to fund the Emergency Assistance Program this fiscal year has been exhausted, according to William Huffman, commissioner of the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for social insurance. The state Emergency Assistance Program funds are matched with funds from the federal government.

Huffman said the program will be reinstated in July when 1982 fiscal year money become available.

The Emergency Assistance Program is a special fund to assist families with dependent children who lack basic necessities and are facing destitution.

TO THE VOTERS OF DIST. 1:

As you all know the election is getting near and it is time to choose a new constable for the next four years, so I am not going to make you a lot of big promises that cannot be done, but I will promise one thing: I will do everything in my power to make you a straight and honest constable. So I am asking you people to stop and think before you cast that vote and choose the right man for the next four years. So, let's vote and support the man who ran second four years ago.

TO ALL VOTERS IN DIST. 3

I, Clinnon Martin, am a candidate for constable in the May primary. I am the son of the late Paris and Nancy Stumbo Martin. I am a member of the U.M.W.A. My wife is a member of the First Baptist Church of McDowell.

I will enforce the law 100% to my ability according to the law. We have got to have strong law enforcement and I will do everything I can to catch the violators and see that they are prosecuted by the use of evidence in our courts.

Think, voters! How long has it been since a constable has patrolled and made any arrests in District 3? Do we want outlaws to become law or do we want strong law enforcement? I will attend ball games. I will treat all alike. I will patrol District 3 and escort funerals.

I have a clean record and I want a clean district. I will work with the Sheriff's Dept. and State Police to solve our district problems.

Your Vote Will Be Greatly Appreciated!

VA ?uestions & Answers

Q—I was born in Portland and fought in the Polish Army during World War II. Am I entitled to any benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A—Hospitalization and outpatient and domiciliary care are available to certain Polish and Czechoslovakian veterans who served against an enemy of the U. S., who have been citizens of the U. S. for at least 10 years. Contact the nearest VA office for information.

Q—I had Veterans Administration insurance since World War II which I converted to a permanent plan about 10 years ago. Can I cash the policy in now?

A—You may apply for the cash surrender value of your policy. However, you should consider that once you surrender the policy, you cannot restore it.

Q—I am separated from my wife and am attending school with GI Bill educational assistance. Can my wife get part of my educational allowance without my consent?

A—Yes. If your wife can prove you are not providing for your family, she can request the portion paid you for your dependents and you will receive the rate of a single veteran.

Q—I am an unmarried surviving spouse of a veteran. Am I eligible for a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan?

A—You are eligible only if your spouse had service after Sept. 16, 1940, and his death was service connected. Contact your nearest VA regional office for details.

THANK YOU

The striking employees at Highlands Regional would like to thank the thousands of citizens who have supported us throughout the strike. Supported us with donations of money and food, and by not crossing our picket line.

We will have a community rally and picnic on Saturday, May 9th, beginning at 12:00 Noon. It will be held at Jenny Wiley State Park. Plenty of good food and good music. Everyone is invited!

(ADV. PD. FOR BY DISTRICT 1199 WV/KY, NATIONAL UNION OF HOSPITAL AND HEALTH CARE EMPLOYEES, AFL-CIO.)

BOYD HOLBROOK For MAGISTRATE

I have pledged my full support to you, the people of District 1. By working with the public for 15 yrs. at Ford Garage in Prestonsburg, and with students, as an instructor for 25 years at Paintsville Mayo Vocational School, I am capable and qualified to be your magistrate.

My desire in seeking this office is to represent you, the people, at the Fiscal Court. I am sure, that by working together in unity and taking steps necessary to carry out a plan of action, we will make this job successful!

With all sincerity and honesty I ask you, the voters, to give me this opportunity.

WHY THE STRIKE CONTINUES...

The strike by employees at Highlands Regional goes on. What is the Hospital Administration doing to settle it?

- They have refused Impartial Arbitration, thus causing the strike to begin.
- They have refused to negotiate with the news media present—so that everyone will know all the facts.
- They have ignored community pleas to open negotiations and stay at the table until an agreement is reached.
- They have refused to bring employees up to pay standards at Pikeville, even though to do so would increase their budget by only 7%.
- At the last negotiations on April 27th, it was their turn to make a counter proposal. They refused to compromise at all.

Clearly the Hospital Administration is not even trying to settle the strike. It appears that the Administrator, Clarence Traum, is concerned only with gaining a national reputation by trying to bust the Union. He doesn't lose anything by such an attempt. But the community does.

It's a sad day indeed when a handful of men can cause us all to suffer and to be denied proper health care.

The Union is dedicated to resolving the strike in a fair and reasonable way as soon as possible.

There's no place like your home!

Receives Law Honor

Paula Hinchman Roahrig, of Allen, a senior at Eastern Kentucky University majoring in Legal Assistance, received the Department of Political Science's Legal Assistance Excellence Award at the Eastern Kentucky University Honors Day Banquet on April 26. The award is presented to a graduating Legal Assistance student who has demonstrated overall academic excellence and who has demonstrated quality participation in extra-curricular activities.

Paula, who was the 1980-81 president of the Student Association of Legal Assistants (SALA) developed the first SALA Recognition/Honors Banquet, the first Madison County Legal Assistants Week, and the State Legal Assistance Week. She served as a member of the EKV Legal Assistance Advisory Committee and worked closely with attorneys, paralegals, judges, and laypersons.

Paula is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hinchman, of Allen. Upon graduation in May, Paula plans to work for Francis, Kazee, and Francis in Prestonsburg. In addition, she hopes to attend law school and teach some legal classes.

More traffic accidents occurred on Fridays in Kentucky during 1979 than on any other day. State police records show that 28,407 accidents occurred on Fridays. Saturdays were second worst with 23,632 accidents reported. The fewest accidents (16,299) occurred on Sundays.

MANFORD "FREDDY" KIDD

Democratic Candidate for
MAGISTRATE, DIST. 3
NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT.

I am Manford (Freddy) Kidd of Price, Ky. I am a candidate for Magistrate in District 3, and I am using this means to make an appeal to all the voters of my district:

I am the son of Della and George R. Kidd of Honaker, Ky. I was raised in the Little Mud Creek area. I married Barbara Sue Hunter, the daughter of Craig and Mary J. Hunter of Big Mud Creek. Mary Jane was the daughter of old man John Marshall of Beaver Creek area and Stephens Branch. He was a minister of Church of Christ.

I am honest and qualified to serve in this capacity, and if permitted to do so I will serve with dignity and respect for all the people in District 3, not just a select few. With all the money that comes in to our fiscal court, that within itself is reason enough to have an honest and qualified fiscal court to dispense the money in a fashion so that all the people will be served equally. I am not making unreasonable promises that cannot be fulfilled, but if elected I do promise to serve the people honestly and effectively.

I beg your vote and support on May 26.

Wild Animal Studies May Explain Aging

A field mouse in the wild is lucky to live to be a year old. Yet, its cousin, the pocket mouse may live to five years of age. Why do some animals live longer than others? And how do different animal species regard their elders?

According to international Wildlife magazine, scientists are studying senescence, or aging, in wildlife to find out the answers to these questions, and in turn, to better understand the processes involved in human aging.

The answer to the mouse mystery is simple. "Some small mammals may live longer than others of similar size because they spend part of their lives in hibernation or in dormancy, their bodies barely functioning," explains the National Wildlife Federation's bi-monthly publication. Thus the pocket mouse, which spends the hot desert season in a state of torpor, will live much longer than the on-the-go field mouse.

Until recently, almost everything we knew about animals that live to be old came from zoos. Longevity records for zoo animals, says International Wildlife, include a 77-year-old elephant; a 65-year-old vulture; a 49-year-old hippopotamus; a 38-year-old zebra. Cold-blooded animals last even longer, with tortoises reaching 150 years; sturgeon, 100; carp, 50; and toads, 36.

Unfortunately, zoo records can be misleading since animals tend to live longer in the security of a zoo than they do in the wild. However, such records give us an appreciation for some species' potential life spans.

"Animals that are most likely to live to be old in the wild are those which, as adults, have no predators except man," says International Wildlife. Most of these are large—elephants, hippos, rhinos, lions, tigers and wolves. But some, such as the Galapagos tortoise, survive not only because of their large size, but also because of their isolated habitat.

Scientists have found that a wild animal's age can be estimated in many ways, such as by inspecting the lens from a rabbit's eye, the thickness of baleen plates in the mouths of whales, the annual rings in the horns of sheep and antelope, and tooth wear, or in some species, "rings" in a tooth. Teeth are, in fact, one of the most important considerations for life in the wild; research shows that most wild animals live only as long as their teeth hold out.

After spending years living among some species in the wild, animal behaviorists have observed that in the social species—those animals that live and travel in groups—older males and females are treated quite differently. "Males are generally of prime importance to a social group only when they are dominant," says International Wildlife. Eventually, older males are driven from a group by younger males when their strength and breeding capacity have been reduced by age.

Older females, in contrast, do not seem to suffer this loss of social status. Among most species, old females usually continue to reproduce, although they have fewer offspring than the younger females. Female elephants up to fifty years of age continue to function as matriarchs in their social group, and even the feeblest lionesses are allowed to share the kills of other pride members.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 036-8006

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Island Creek Coal Company, P. O. Box 1275, Paintsville, Kentucky 41240, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 35.87 acres located southeast of Salisbury Station in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 0.7 miles southeast of State Route 122's junction with Route 2030 and located east of Left Beaver Creek, latitude 37d. 31' 25", longitude 82d., 43', 30". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Keathley Heirs, Martin, Kentucky and Elkhorn Coal Corporation, Wayland, Kentucky. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Permitting of existing preparation plant and refuse impoundment. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. The written objection must have attached a copy of the newspaper clipping, and reference the above application number. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

NOTICE
 Upon and after publication of this notice, I will no longer be responsible for debts incurred by any persons other than myself.

Joins In Observance Nat'l Day of Prayer

The Floyd County Ministerial Association has joined in observance of the National Day of Prayer proclaimed by President Reagan as Thursday, May 7. It will be celebrated this year at the same time that the first National Day of Prayer was celebrated in 1781, 200 years ago this year.

The association asks that churches be open on that day for individual and corporate prayer, and that especially at the noon hour church bells be rung and prayer services held to bring this event to our attention.

It also asks that national concerns as well as urgent needs for prayer within our own community be considered on that day.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY BY SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Members of the Fidelis Sunday School class, of the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church, paid tribute to their teacher, Mrs. Grace Conley, when they gathered at the home of Mrs. Oma Hughes to honor Mrs. Conley with a covered-dish birthday luncheon.

The house was decorated with a variety of summer flowers. The dining-room table was covered with a white lace cloth, and had for its centerpiece a decorated birthday cake, bearing the inscription, "Happy Birthday to Grace from Fidelis." Mrs. Conley received a monetary gift from the members of her class, and other gifts from relatives and friends.

Enjoying this occasion were the honoree, Mrs. Conley, and members of her Fidelis class, Oma Hughes, Beatrice Collins, Mattie Music, Myrtle Allen, Dorothy Osborne, Goldia Williams, Sarah Laven, Ora Bussey, Helen Music, Dolly Pettrey, Susan Akers, Malinda Conley, and Edna Saunders.

Mrs. Conley thanked the hostess and the other members of her class for their gifts, their thoughtfulness, and for their loyalty to this class throughout the years.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

An overflow crowd from this area and surrounding states attended the Big Sandy Valley Historical Society's luncheon meeting at May Lodge, last Saturday. Prior to the luncheon, Mrs. Edith James and the Jenny Wiley Singers, and a string band with L. B. Fairchild, Dave Sizemore, and four other musicians presented a program of traditional songs and instrumental selections. These included a group of Civil War songs, one of which was dedicated to the memory of late presidents of the society, Henry P. Scalf, Bob Kennedy, and Wallace Williamson.

The chief address was given by John David Preston, Paintsville attorney, formerly of Allen, who spoke on the Civil War in Eastern Kentucky. Publications by authors in this area were displayed by Dr. Leonard Roberts, of Pikeville College. A life membership was presented to Edward R. Hazelett, of Paintsville, long an officer in the organization.

The next meeting of the society will be held at the Wise, Va., courthouse, June 27.

In 1909 a 2-month strike of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (AFL) was settled by providing preferential union hiring, a board of grievances and a board of arbitration. This laid the foundation for the impartial chairman method of settling labor disputes, according to a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Miss Fannie S. Jarrell

The late Mrs. Fanny Stephens Jarrell, who will be remembered as "Miss" Fanny by a multitude of school children fortunate enough to have her for their teacher, used the following poem to guide her throughout her long teaching career. Her family feels that she would want this poem shared with her pupils, their parents, and others, as this Mother's Day draws nigh.

One of her family, who, is following in her mother's footsteps as a teacher, said it this way:

"I guess the seeds we sow sometimes produce some pretty tall plants."

BUILDING A TEMPLE
 A builder build a temple,
 He wrought it with grace and skill.
 Pillars and groins and arches
 All fashioned to work His will.
 Men said, as they saw its beauty,
 "It shall never know decay.
 Great is thy skill, O builder:
 Thy fame shall endure for aye."

A teacher build a temple
 With loving and infinite care,
 Planning each arch with patience,
 Laying each stone with prayer.
 None praised her unceasing efforts,
 None knew of her wondrous plan;
 For the temple the teacher builded
 Was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the builder's temple,
 Crumbled into the dirt;
 low lies each stately pillar,
 Food for consuming rust.
 But the temple the teacher builded
 Will last while the ages roll.
 For that beautiful unseen temple
 Is a child's immortal soul.

—Author Unknown—
 Sadly missed this Mother's Day by her children and granddaughters.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

Glaucoma is a leading cause of blindness in the U. S. One out of every seven blind people is a victim of glaucoma. This disease generally strikes slowly and painlessly, most frequently in persons over 40. Progress of the disease is slow, but blindness can result if not diagnosed and treated early.

The Floyd County Health Center in Prestonsburg is offering a free glaucoma screening clinic today (Wednesday). The clinic is open to people of all ages, but persons 35 and over are especially urged to be screened for glaucoma. The best defense against the disease is to be screened periodically.

There will be no Family Planning Services offered at the Health Center on May 7 and 9 due to a Family Planning Workshop the staff will be attending.

There will be a clinic in Wayland at the Methodist Church on Monday, May 11, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. A nurse will be on duty offering immunizations, T. B. skin tests, blood pressures, and urinalyses. This is a free service of the Health Center and the public is welcome.

Nursing services are offered at the Health Center on Monday-Wednesday-Friday from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 4 p.m.

ERMAL TACKETT

FOR MAGISTRATE IN DISTRICT 4.

(NUMBER 3 ON THE BALLOT)

There is no question that the most important part of a Magistrate's job is to build and repair roads in his district. As you know, road building and repairs have been deplorable in the last four (4) years under our present magistrate. The only repairs we have had, have been in the last few weeks leading up to this election. The reason for this has been a lack of concern and also a lack of know-how. This is why we need Ermal Tackett for Magistrate in District 4. He is the only man on the ballot with the experience and know-how to build and maintain roads. He has twenty (20) years experience at running heavy equipment of all kinds and building and maintaining roads in our area. Having worked for many years at construction work, Ermal Tackett knows what our needs are, and this is the only reason he is running for this office. He wants to serve the needs of our people and he has seen our roads deteriorate for these last few years to the point of utter despair for our people. We need to ask ourselves, do we want more of the same, or do we want someone we can talk to, call on at anytime and depend upon to take care of our needs. Ermal Tackett is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School, member of the Betsy Layne Boosters Club, and supports all sports and band activities in all the schools in our district. He is a friend to all our children and stands ready to help our people when they are in need. All equipment at his disposal will be used eight (8) hours a day, five (5) days a week for the people in District 4, not for just his family and friends. Ermal Tackett is centrally located so it will be much more convenient to serve the needs of the people.

We want to thank you for taking the time to read this column and we would appreciate your vote for Ermal Tackett and any other help you could give him.

Special Olympians Rate High Marks

Eight students from Prestonsburg Elementary participated in Special Olympics competition held April 14, 17 and 18 at Paintsville and Pikeville. Competing against students from a number of area schools, the P-burg representatives and their scoring in individual events follow:

Todd Wilcox, first place in bowling and frisbee throwing (distance); Eugene Arms, second in bowling and 200 meter dash; Timmy Marsillett, second place in bowling and softball throw; Paul Poe, first place in bowling and fourth in the 50 meter dash; Mark Robinson, second place in 50 meter dash and third in bowling; Brian Samons, second place in 50 meter dash and frisbee throw (distance); Linda Goble, first place in free-style gymnastics; Winston Ford, III, first place in softball throw, frisbee throw (distance), and the standing broad jump, and second place in frisbee throw (accuracy).

Apple Fest Board Approves Budget

By DAVID E. RICE

The Kentucky Apple Festival board of directors approved their first major written budget in the 19-year history of the festival in last Thursday's regular board meeting at the Mayo Vocational-Technical School in Paintsville.

The budget calls for an expected $40,476 in spending to put on the festival this October, based on $37,139 in costs for last year's festival.

One change in financial arrangements from previous festivals is that this year several events will be asked by the Board of Directors to contribute $50 to help pay the festival's many expenses, where in the past they were allowed to keep all of their profits for themselves.

Board Chairman Elmon Davis commented that the Board did not want to be mean or hurt any one organization, but the fact is that the festival has grown so large and has so many expenses running into the thousands of dollars that the board must now ask for the $50 fee to help pay the festival's costs.

The Kentucky Apple Festival during most of its past 19 years has operated in the red. Last year's festival was the first in many years to have some money left over, but that was mostly due to nearly $5,000 in donations.

The budget dominated the discussion in last week's meeting. Several other items were briefly discussed, but the only other action was the unanimous approval of Barbara Daniel as the board secretary.

The next meeting of the Board will be Thursday, May 7, at the Mayo Vocational-Technical School in Paintsville.

First Birthday

Amanda Blake Johnson celebrated her first birthday on Saturday, April 11. She is the daughter of Blake and Lois Johnson, of Melvin, and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Johnson, of Melvin, and Mr. and Mrs. Hasadore Johnson, of Weeksbury.

She received many nice gifts from her aunt and uncle, Ronald and Colleen Bradford, of the Middle Creek road, and from other relatives and friends.

Brush Creek Fire Station Proposed

Interest in increased fire protection in the Brush Creek section of Floyd county was demonstrated last Tuesday night as residents met to discuss the possibility of the establishment of a sub-station of the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department in that section.

A group of about 25 men from Brush Creek discussed the idea, which has long been talked in that section, with several members of the Maytown Fire Department and it was decided that an effort would be initiated to locate land which could be obtained through a lifetime lease. Following acquisition of a site, a building would be erected by the department and a truck purchased to serve businesses and residences along the creek, it was pointed out at the meet.

Maytown Fire Chief Edward F. Robinson said that the same area served by the fire department at present would be served by the sub-station. "The big advantage in setting up a sub-station would be in the fact that firemen could be on the scene of a fire on Brush Creek in five minutes where it takes us 20 minutes from Maytown," Robinson pointed out.

Robinson said a fire-fighting unit on Brush Creek would mean a considerable savings to the homeowners in that area on their annual fire insurance premiums in addition to the obvious benefit of better fire protection.

The proposed sub-station would be located at Hippo on Brush Creek, Robinson said.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Mrs. Fanny Stephens Jarrell, wish to thank everyone for their kind deeds and prayers during the illness and upon the death of our mother. We especially wish to thank the Reverends Larry Mann and Gordon Fitch for their consoling words, the Trimbleaires choir, those who sent food and flowers, and the Floyd Funeral Home for their kindness.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Morris Hylton, P. O. Box 170, Ivel KY. 41642, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 0.65 acres located south of Ivel in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 0.1 miles east of U. S. 23's junction with Tom's Creek and located north of Tom's Creek, latitude 37d. 34' 57", longitude 82d. 39' 40". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Morris Hylton. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Surface excavation for house seat. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Prestonsburg Area Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-0058. Such objection or request must be in accordance with with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.
