Severance Tax Share Doubted

Coal Journal Says $863,000 • Is Due County

"I'll believe it when I see the check," Judge-Executive Bill Wells said this week, "but I hope it's a true figure." Wells was responding to a report, published in this month's Kentucky Coal Journal, that Floyd County will receive an estimated $863,000 in coal severance taxes, starting in July.

At that time, the state's coalproducing counties will begin again to receive a share of the taxes collected by the state on the sale of coal. Some $30 million is expected to be returned to the counties

This is made up of half the coal severance taxes collected in excess of $177.6 million, and half of all sales taxes collected on other minerals.

No coal severance monies were returned to the counties this year, as the result of a Brown-administration arrangement, urged strongly in this area by State Senator Benny Ray Bailey, which promised future years of plenty in return for this year's belttightening

The $30 million expected to be returned to the counties this year compares with $60 million returned since 1974.

Judge Wells said this week he had enquired of the state Revenue Department as recently as last Thursday about Floyd county's share of severance tax receipts, but was told no figures were available

Grand Jury Cases Varied

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley charged a grand jury this week with the task of investigating allegations of mismanagement of Beaver-Elkhorn Water District funds, the county S S0110 waste disposal problem, and a Dewey Lake drowning that occurred last July. Two of the water district's three commissioners have resigned since charges began circulating that the district's financial records were in disarray, improper payments were made, and the commission dominated by a Right Beaver political clique. Gary Martin, former chairman of the commission, apparently received a guarantee of immunity from prosecution in return for his cooperation in the investigation. The judge's call for the grand jury to look into the county garbage problem comes at a time of increasing dissatisfaction with the state of the county landfills and the irregularity of garbage pickups in some sections, and on the eve of the county's itself assuming responsibility for trash collection. A concern by family members that Allen Lee Cline may have met foul play in his death by drowning last July 10 is said to have prompted the re-opening of that case. The 18-year-old Martin county youth reportedly spent the night of his death on a houseboat at the Jenny Wiley marina with his sister and others. He was said to have been swimming nearby when the tragedy occurred, around 3.45 a.m. His death was held by Coroner James J. Carter to have resulted from accidental drowning. Carter was called to testify before the grand jury Monday

NO EXPLANATION

Circumstances of the last few weeks have provided a great opportunity for me to put into effect something that has been considered for some time-namely, to write "R.I.P." to this column. For three weeks now it has rested quite peacefully without undue effect on the public.

The opportunity was there-and here I am, reviving it. Why? Frankly, I do not know.

RETURN OF THE TANAGER

For all who have eyes to see, this spring is among the most beautiful of all. At our place we are sharers in all this, and to the birdsong that knits the raveled sleeve of care there is an added note of cheer.

The summer tanager is back in all his scarlet brilliance. This is the third year in a row now for a tanager to hold forth here, to greet the dawn with its routine of chirrup and song. We like to think it's the same bird that spends the summer here, then flies a thousand miles or so each fall to winter in Central South America, then the next spring flames his way north with the resurrecting season, over mountains, expanses of ocean, all the long miles, to return to that one lowly shrub in our vard.

Greetings, friend. Friendly skies and happy landings. And keep an eye out for prowling cats.

City Utilities Puts Expansion Plan in Action

As a result of its recent expansion, the Prestonsburg utilities system has outgrown its present offices and will build anew, Superintendent Bill H. Howard announced this week

The utilities system, which embraces the city's water, gas and sewer services, has been operated for the past seven years out of "temporary" offices above the Prestonsburg Fire Department station at Lancer. The system sorely needs office space of its

As Group Seeks Ways To Better School System

Tax increases were mooted at a meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education last Wednesday-and the subject was raised not by school officials but by taxpayers.

While Floyd taxpayers are presumably as moved as anyone by the 'tax revolt'' rolling across the country in recent years, the deterioration of county schools has become, for some at least, an even more urgent issue.

A delegation from Clark Elementary renewed its complaint, aired at a recent PTA meeting there, of severe overcrowding at the school and urged the board to spell out its plans for dealing with the problem.

"There has to be a cut-off point somewhere," declared Dale Seats, in reference to the growing enrollment at Clark. Parents of children living outside the area might be required to send them to schools in their own districts, especially if those schools are operating below capacity, he suggested.

John Rosenberg urged a compromise, noting that "many who come from a long distance work hard for the school." But Clark Principal John Pitts needs guidelines from the board as to how to manage the enrollment problem, Rosenberg said.

In the absence of a board policy on the matter, the overcrowding problem simply rests on the shoulders of the classroom teacher, he said.

In reply to Kathy Hatfield, representing the McDowell PTO, who asked about the status of the five-year building plan recommended in a recent state survey of the school district, Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr. said the plan was not yet finalized.

In any event, implementing the plan would depend on the availability of increasingly scarce funds, he pointed out

Miss Conn, a daughter of Dean and Jewell Conn, of Harold, was named queen for 1981 during last Tuesday's all-county band and chorus concert at the Prestonsburg gymnasium and was crowned by the 1980 queen, April Lynn Allen, of Printer. The new queen and her predecessor led the annual music festival parade here, Saturday, which featured bands and queen candidates from each of the county's high schools as well as other marching groups and winners of various other local beauty competition events. Terry Tackett, McDowell High School's representative, was runner-up in the queen competition.

Besides Miss Conn and Miss Tackett, other representatives in the music festival pageant included Laura Hall, Wheelwright high; Gina Elain Bevins, Prestonsburg, and Sandra Terry, Allen Central.

ercises, Friday at the Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre, 136 students received associate degrees and a number of special awards were also presented.

Lieutenant Governor Martha Lavne Collins delivered the commencement address and spoke of the importance of considering service to others as a more significant life's goal than attainment of wealth or high position.

The P.C.C. Faculty Assembly Service Award for this year was presented to Paul Phillip Hughes, Edward Music and Estill Lee Carter of Music-Carter-Hughes Chevrolet-Buick, Inc., of Prestonsburg by Michele Butts, chairman of the faculty assembly. The annual award is presented to an individual or individuals who have demonstrated their support of the college and have contributed to college functions.

Brenda Castle, associate professor of biology and health, received a standing. ovation from P.C.C. graduates after she was awarded P.C.C.'s Great Teacher award, an honor decided each year through voting of the students. Castle will be leaving P.C.C. to attend medical school at the University of Kentucky.

P.C.C. scholarship recipients recognized at Friday's commencement included the following:

Ground Officially Broken for New School

No Agreement Seen As Strikes Continue

Strikes by coalminers and Highlands Hospital workers dragged on this week, with scattered incidents reported in connection with each and no immediate signs of a resolution of the disputes.

Truck convoys moved cautiously out of Prater Creek, hauling coal from the Triple Elkhorn mine there to the company's preparation plant at Allen. Guards in pickups accompanied each convoy, while a helicopter circled overhead.

A similar convoy ran into a blockade of union pickets at Banner two weeks ago, two truck drivers sustaining bullet wounds

Fred Dawson, Triple Elkhorn vicepresident, said Tuesday that shots were fired in the direction of the company's stripmine site Friday and that some passers-by-"presumably UMWA pickets"-have harrassed security personnel near the mine gate. Meanwhile, security forces were beefed up at Highlands, prompting charges by the hospital workers' union that the hospital was being turned into 'an armed camp.

The 60,000 square foot structure is being built on 86.96 acres of what is known as the Pikeville-Betsy Layne-Stratton Branch landfill at Betsy Layne which was purchased by the Floyd County Board of Education about three years ago for $54,000. The building will accomodate 750-850 students and is being built at a cost of $3,400,000.

Although the original completion date was set for July, 1982 in the school board's contract with Barco Construction, of Lexington, it is believed that the facility may be finished by as early as March, next year, according to Assistant Superintendent Brackett.

Several school officials spoke at the groundbreaking, as well as State Senator Benny Ray Bailey, who pledged continued support for Eastern Kentucky schools. Betsy Layne's high school band provided entertainment during the ceremony parent organization expressed its support for a county utilities tax, on condition that the board present a plan as to how the additional revenue would be used.

The question of increasing the schools' property tax assessment was also raised by Rosenberg, who noted that the board could go beyond the statutory four percent annual limit on additional property tax revenues, if it was prepared to take its case before the public.

Under state law, a school district,

Center Closing Called Mistake By Judge Stumbo

Innocent victims of vandalism and other crimes will pay for the 'mistake'' of the state Human Resources Department in closing the juvenile detention center here, District Judge Harold Stumbo asserted Friday.

In a letter to Roy Stivens, superintendent at the facility. Stumbo said he had contacted Frankfort and Floyd fiscal court officials in an effort to keep the detention center open but that "no one is taking a great deal of interest in keeping the project.

In response to a recent inquiry by State Senator Benny Ray Bailey, an assistant deputy attorney-general said the Department for Human Resources is within its rights in pulling out of the detention center. Bailey had cited a state law which appeared to make the pullout conditional on fiscal court approval.

Stumbo wrote that he anticipated complaints from citizens "when juveniles commit acts violent against persons and property without proper punishment." Without the detention center, any punishment of offenders under 16 will be necessarily limited, he said.

Moreover, the state may lose out in the long run, because "keeping a young man in the reformatory for two years will be much more expensive than 50 to 100 days in the detention center," he said.

The strike by employees at Highlands Regional goes on. What is the Hospital Administration doing to settle it?

- -They have refused Impartial Arbitration, thus causing the strike to begin.
- -They have refused to negotiate with the news media present—so that everyone will know all the facts.
- -They have ignored community pleas to open negotiations and stay at the table until an agreement is reached.
- -They have refused to bring employees up to pay standards at Pikeville, even though to do so would increase their budget by only 7%.
- -At the last negotiations on April 27th, it was their turn to make a counter proposal. They refused to compromise at all.

-Now they have hired a new "guard" agency from Cincinnati with more than 25 thugs who shout the filthiest obscenities and make grotesque vulgar gestures at women on the picket line.

-They have turned the Hospital into an armed camp with guns, guards, and spotlights.

Clearly the Hospital Administration is not even trying to settle the strike. It appears that the Administrator, Clarence Traum, is concerned only with gaining national reputation by trying to bust the Union. He doesn't lose anything by such an attempt. But the community does.

It's a sad day indeed when a handful of men can cause us all to suffer and to be denied proper health care.

The Union is dedicated to resolving the strike in a fair and reasonable way as soon as possible.

at graduation. One who was having her troubles finding what she thought her favorite graduate deserved sounded a call for help.

"Oh, give her some money and let her get what she wants," one suggested. "But I want a gift for her to open."

"Then," suggested another, "give her the money and let her open a bank account."

TO CUT A SHINE'

Some weeks back, after I had expounded on the expression, "sull," describing the tactics of an opossum when threatened with mayhem, a friend called to say that a neighbor had reported that his dogs "had cut a shine last night." The inference was that I was to explain the phrase, "cut a shine," How come?

It may have something to do with monkey-shine but more probably is a slang creation. One of its slang usages is to connote a disturbance, fuss or row. Dickens in his BLEAK HOUSE has a character remark, "There'd be a pretty shine made if I was to go a-visiting them." And Mark Twain in HUCKLEBERRY FINN wrote, "It would make a cow laugh to see the shines that old idiot cut."

QUESTION

Now I ask a question. How can a hospital resident or inmate be called a patient?

Here is a human being, sick, usually suffering, tossed into a small room with another, a stranger with his own assortment of aches and pains; consigned to a narrow mechanism charitably called a bed; jabbed with needles at the oddest times and places; blood drawn till the "patient" accuses the hospital of replenishing its blood bank at his expense; awakened at unholy hours to take mysterious medications; deprived of privacy and stripped of personal dignity.

All for his own good, true—but how can the word, "patient," enter into such a situation?

FUTURE SACRIFICE

Made a pilgrimage of sorts recently with several others to see something I hadn't seen in years. A pet pig.

This piglet was being shuttled from rea to this county, back and forth, while its owner was working on a nearby building project. Its presence was a reminder of the days when few farm families were without such a pet. The pig didn't disappoint, although the hound which he delighted in driving bananas was visiting the neighbors when we arrived and so left the pig without a stooge for the act we had expected. He was a bit sloppy in his table manners, grunted his pleasure, squealed his displeasure, took sly nibbles at passing trouser legs, but, withal, was a well-adjusted part of a bucolic scene ..

Better Speech Month

May is Better Speech and Hearing Month. The Kentucky Speech-Language-Hearing Association is taking this month to inform Kentuckians about speech, language, and hearing problems, and the services which are available to help with these problems. We need your help to "Talk It Up." Please publish this letter sometime during the month of May so your readers will be better informed regarding communication problems.

More than 20 million Americans—10 percent of all children and adults in the United States—have speech, language, or hearing impairments which severely affect their ability to function as human beings. One of the major tragedies of modern health care is that so many of these individuals do not know how to get help for their communicative disorders.

Speech-language pathologists and audiologists are the professionals who work with individuals with speech, language, or hearing impairment in an effort to restore or improve their ability to assume a meaningful and productive place in society. Awareness of human communications problems and of the professional services available for persons with these problems, is extremely important.

If you, or a person you care about, suffers from a communication disorder, or if you are interested in future information about speech, language, and hearing services, you can contact your family doctor, local school system, comprehensive care center, or county health department. If you need further assistance in locating services, you should contact your local representative of the Kentucky Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Respectfully yours, KATHY H. CRIGGER, CCC SL Local representative Kentucky Speech Language-Hearing Association

An Open Letter To President Reagan

Der Mr. President:

Please do not cut foodstamps, legal services, medicare, or public housing. We have been living beyond our means, but the most outlandish spending in our national budget is in the area your program has made untouchable-defense, and the military machine is the most inflationary item in the budget. It doesn't produce any usable goods for market, and puts lots of spending money in the hands of its employees. (More going to government contracts than to the average holder.) anyone with economic sense must realize this as the major cause of inflation, yet your administration's

George Atkins provided an advance estimate for a handful of selected counties at a meeting with coal county judges and legislators in Lexington late last month. Among Atkins' other estimates, Pike county is expected to receive $3.5 million, Martin county $1.6 million, and Knott county $800,000 in coal severance tax money. Atkins reportedly told the meeting that a full report would be made early this month. Counties would start getting monthly checks July 20 for onetwelfth of their estimated share for fiscal year 1981-82.

Forty Years Ago

(May 8, 1941)

Insofar as jurisdiction of the Floyd circuit court goes, the matter of Dr. W. L. Stumbo's eligibility to appear on the Democratic ballot at the coming primary as a candidate for Sheriff rested as The Times was being published with Special Judge W. P. Mayo, Prestonsburg attorney...Elimination of what has been described as Prestonsburg's worst nuisance and greatest health menace is seen with Monday night's action of the City Council in agreeing to join citizens in the construction of a sewer line from the ravine back of Friend Street to the main city sewer beneath the highway...A parade of more than a dozen present and former officials and their deputies from four Eastern Kentucky counties visited the witness chair in circuit court here Friday and Saturday to testify in behalf of the Commonwealth's efforts to thwart claims of the Penn-Ken Gas & Oil Corporation to 300,000 acres of land in this section of the state ... F D. Ward assumed charge of the Pep Service Station at the corner of Court street and the Mayo Trail, having purchased the business from Ex-Judge A. T. Patrick ... "The Children's Cry to Democracy," a patriotic musical pageant written by Mrs. N. Graves Davis (Whaley), Prestonsburg, this week was in rehearsal for production under the direction of Mrs. Fanny Jarrell, of the Prestonsburg graded school faculty, at the school auditorium Thursday evening, May 15...Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Frazier, of Dinwood, a son, Monday ... There died: James "Blackhawk" Shepherd, 61, Wednesday at his home on the Lick Fork of Middle Creek; Mrs. Nell D. Roberts, 43, Saturday at her home near Emma; Walter Burchett, 69. Monday at his home at "Sang Factory," across the river from here, of tuberculosis; Mrs. Mousie Bell Click, 64, of Banner, Saturday at the Beaver Valley hospital.

vices, Food Services Director Blanche Dingus told the meeting. The increases will result from cuts in the federal subsidy for the lunch and breakfast programs.

School lunches cost the school district between $1.14 and $1.27 a meal, of which the federal government presently contributes 18.5 cents for children paying the full fee (50 cents), 82 cents for those on reduced fee (10 cents) and $1.02 for those receiving free meals.

The subsidy for those on full fee will apparently be eliminated entirely and 18.5 cents appears likely to be cut from the subsidy of those on reduced fees, Mrs. Dingus said. Governmentdonated foods used in the meal programs may also be reduced, she said. The summer lunch program will be operating in 15 county schools this year, it was announced. Since transporting children to the schools was a problem last year, assistance from volunteer groups in this respect would be welcomed, Mrs. Dingus said. In line with state education department policy, the school board extended the age range for school bus drivers. Drivers between the ages of 18 and 70 are now acceptable. The previous age range was 19-65. Hired were: Judy Hyden, as replacement teacher at Prestonsburg high school; Drenda Lynn Wicker, certified substitute teacher; Pamela Gwen Akers, emergency substitute teacher; Scott Slone, Roy Denver Frazier, Randy Turner and Mary Lou Turner, substitute bus drivers for McDowell area; Onda L. Hunt, Jr., Clyde Lafferty, and Thomas F. Wilcox, substitute bus drivers for Prestonsburg area; and Ruth H. Little, substitute bus driver for Betsy Layne area.

A leave of absence was granted to Lucille Sexton May, Prestonsburg high school teacher. Resignations were accepted from Sandy Boyd, head teacher at Prater Elementary, and Teresa Rowe, teacher aide at Prestonsburg Elementary.

Rainbows can be seen at night. Lunar rainbows were observed and recorded in ancient times and are not uncommon. They are a phenomenon of the same principle as the solar rainbow. economic recovery plans totally disregard this.

In addition to the inflationary nature of military spending, it is also the most wasteful. A recent Government Accounting Office study concludes that most defense department contracts are awarded without competitive bids, and that much money is squandered on private consultant fees for work which could be done by defense department personnel themselves. A conservative congressman recently chaired a study which recommends cutting 16 billion in excess from the military budget without compromising any substantive projects. Also Ralph Nader has recommended greater cuts than your 40 billion dollar money saving package. He proposes eliminating about 23 billion in wasted money from the defense budget, and about 30 billion in special tax breaks for rich corporations.

Are you familiar with these sets of proposals? Why are they not included in your economics package? The above measures could do more than yours to stabilize the economy, and still be fair to middle and low income people's needs. Again I urge you not to cut creative social problems. Only 51% of the people's votes went to you this past election. This is not a mandate, you still have much to prove, if you are to prove your programs.

meetings. I want the people (taxpayers) to help select their deputies.

So it's up to you people. You can have things the way they are , but if you want a big change, just vote for me. I'll show you what I can do in 4 years.

I will help our young people out. If I, or my deputies get these young boys for something they shouldn't be doing, we will take them home. If their parents can't do anything with them, then if they get back out trying to play bad, then they will go to jail.

This is the reason I'm not taking any money off any big-time crime boss. I want to show you citizens that I work only for you if elected Sheriff.

I know we can't stop all crime, but we can slow it down. So please help me show that courthouse gang that there are still a lot of honest people in Floyd County. If we are going to clean up our county, all the people will have to give a helping hand. It will just take 1 vote from each of you, to start the cleanup.

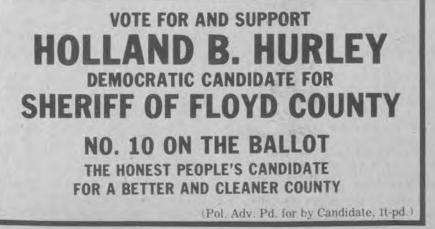

Now, on these campaign signs being torn down: It takes votes, not signs. I know the man who is tearing them down at Wayland. And if I could be elected Sheriff just to put him in for deputy I wouldn't do it. There are a lot of good people on Right Beaver. They are too good to be paying tax to put a man like him in.

So if you want to tear my signs down, go all over the county. If elected Sheriff, I will represent all our people, not just the rich and the organized crime bosses.

Thank you.

Shakespeare Comedy Presented On KET

KET premieres two stimulating arts specials during the week of May 17. On Monday, May 18 at 9 p.m., KET presents "All's Well That Ends Well" on "The Shakespeare Plays" series. Co-produced by BBC-TV and Time-Life Television, "All's Well That Ends Well" is Shakespeare's little-known comedy which tells the story of a young woman's unceasing efforts to wed an unwilling and shallow man. Helena (Angela Down), the orphaned daughter of a famous doctor, is hopelessly in love with the young and proud Count Bertram (Iram Charleston) who scorns her because of the difference in their rank.

As the play unfolds, Bertram grows to realize that honor and position are not all-important. He gradually comes to see that the ageless virtues of love and fidelity are the true measures of a person. A happy ending is enjoyed by all when Bertram arrives at this mature outlook.

The two-and-one-half-hour production is a presentation of WNET/New York.

Then, on Wednesday, May 20 at 9 p.m. the focus shifts from comedy to dance when KET presents the "Great Performances" special, "An Evening With The American Ballet Theatre.'

Mikhail Baryshnikov is the featured dancer in this two-hour, thirty-minute evening choreographed by Marius Petipa at New York City's Lincoln Center.

New productions of "The Sleeping. Beauty" and "Le Corsaire" highlight the program, along with a restaging of 'Raymonda.

"An Evening With The American Ballet Theatre'' also stars dancer Diana Joffe.

The dance is presented on KET by WNET/New York.

FIRST DISTRICT VOTERS

Thank you very much for the sincere vote of added confidence you gave me in the Mock Election held last week at Bill Woods Grocery, Cow Creek, Ky. Let's all get together for a final push these last few weeks before the primary, so that the margin of victory will be even greater.

Thanks,

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT 3

In approximately two weeks, we as voters will have to make several important choices as to who will represent us in Floyd County.

During the time I have represented the 3rd District as your Magistrate, I feel I have accomplished many things, such as the building of new bridges, up-grading older bridges, placement of drain pipes, gravels, red dog, the planning and the building of the mini-park at Minnie, and the overall upkeep of county roads.

But there are areas that I am very interested in that have not been completed. Those projects are the completion of a countywide garbage pick-up, expansion of the park at Minnie and a water system in the Melvin, Weeksbury and Abner area.

Because of my past experience, if elected for the next four years, I can then finish the new projects that are important to the people of District 3.

HELP ME TO HELP YOU.

BETSY LAYNE NEWS

Mrs. Lou Dolling, the former Gwendolyn Layne, is spending an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Layne, while recuperating from illness.

Mrs. Hettie Johnstone has returned home after a visit with her family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Jack Combs, in Lexington. Her son, Sam Paul Combs, was visiting her on Mother's Day. While here, he attended church services at the Betsy Layne United Methodist Church.

O. E. Stanley has returned home after a stay in a Louisville hospital and is reported not feeling so well. We are glad he was able to return home.

Emma Grace Hartley and Pauline T. Jones visited with Edgar Bingham last week.

We have reports that Arvid Lynch, Avenell Stephens, and Molly Stapleton have all returned home from the Methodist Hospital and are feeling some better.

Erman Ratliff spent a few days at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital, recently, undergoing tests. His wife, Era Ratliff, is reported to be much improved from her recent illness.

Betty Francis Stamper, daughter of Mary Francis (Jones) Stamper, and the late Harry R. Stamper, completed nurses's training and is working as an R.N. at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

Edward Lykins is reported to have undergone more surgery recently. His condition is not known at this time.

Brian Hardwick is on a week's fishing trip in Alabama with his grandfather, Beecher Hardwick, father, James Hardwick, and uncle, Thomas Hardwick.

Harria Reene Stamper was chosenthis past week as a Mullins cheerleader. She is the 11-year-old daughter of Mary Stamper and the late Harry R. Stamper.

E. P. Davis had as dinner guest at the Starlite Dinning Room Sunday, Mother's Day, his wife, Mildred, and neighbor, Pauline T. Jones, and son, Bobby.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Fife are visiting their son, Sam Fife, and family in Tennessee.

Mike Kimmel was taken to the Methodist Hospital emergency room, where he was treated after a bicyle accident, last week.

The Citizens of Betsy Layne extend sympathy to the family of Leonard Hunter, who passed away last week.

Dona Jo Boyd has returned to her home after surgery at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital, recently.

The citizens of Betsy Layne were saddened to learn of the death of Hester Taylor, who passed away at the Pikeville Nursing Home last week.

Bee Hayes is at his home, but is reported to be in poor health. The citizens of Betsy Layne remember in prayer the sick and shutins of our community-known at this time are O. E. Stanley, Dorothy Hall, Elizabeth Spears, Jeremy Hill, Molly Stapleton, Mae and Lee Cecil, Earmen Ratliff, Edward Lykins, A.M. Boyd, Fannie Steele, Jane H. Tackett, Hettie Hall, Rubin Hall, Edgar Bingham, Bee Hayes, Dona Jo Boyd, Margarett Boyd, Maude Colegrove, Arvid Lynch. Dr. Jane Brose, D.M.D., visited with her parents in Lebanon, Indiana for the observance of Mother's Day and also her father's birthday. Mrs. Elizabeth Spears returned home Friday, after a few days in the Pikeville Methodist Hospital. She has been attended by her son Charles, daughter, Madge Mullins, and Mr. and Mrs. James George. A niece, Mrs. Lucina Blackburn, will be spending this next week with her, after which Mrs. Squire Hall (Betty) plans to spend a week followed by a helping visit from Lenona Spears Smith, of Ponca City, Oklahoma. Mrs. Mae Newberry, of Louisa, paid a Mother's Day visit bringing gifts to her mother, Eliza Blackburn, and aunt, Elizabeth Spears, on Saturday before Mother's Day. Little Jeremy Hill, son of Joetta and grandson of Mrs. Maudie Hill, is improved again, after a few days recently spent in the Methodist Hospital. Jeremy had had several sieges of illness and visits to the hospital, but is seemingly on the mend.

The Floyd County Times

HERE IS ONE OF THE REASONS I WANT TO BE, AND SHOULD BE SHERIFF OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I know everyone loves and is concerned about their children. Children should be given the opportunity to live and grow in an environment that is not filled with drugs and alcohol which are readily available to them as if to be candy.

Times and people change and so should the Law Enforcement procedures of the Sheriff. I am sure we can all look back over the past years and see little if any improvement made in the techniques of Law Enforcement within the Sheriff's office. The criminal mind is always on the offense learning new methods to abuse the good citizens of our country. So should our citizens have Law Enforcement officers with a broad range of mind. To be alert and readily available on the defense of our citizens. To protect them and keep the future of our children safe and secure.

Spring has arrived in St. Louis, and with the new season comes an exciting entertainment schedule of shows, concerts and exhibitions.

A variety of theater productions is delighting and drawing capacity audiences throughout the metropolitan area. The American Theater has brought Rex Harrison to St. Louis in the long-running, widely acclaimed hit "My Fair Lady," which concludes on May 17. Westport Playhouse is offering "Starting Here, Starting Now" starring Joey Travolta, now through June Offstage, but nonetheless sharing the spotlight, are several outstanding art exhibits. Laumeier International Sculpture Park, one of two contemporary sculpture parks in the United States, features an exhibit by Jackie Ferrara. Works of art, models, drawings and photographs of her sculpture are on display in the gallery. A 17-foothigh wooden sculpture will join the outdoor collection, where more than 55 works by internationally acclaimed sculptors are on permanent display.

The Saint Louis Art Museum will present the international premiere of a select exhibition of paintings, drawings and sculpture by pop artist Roy Lichtenstein from May 8 to June 28. Fifty prints by leading 19th century painter and print-maker Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec will be on display during May.

The Opera Theatre of St. Louis will open its 1981 season with a new production of Verdi's "Rigoletto" on May 23. The Opera Theatre has been the subject of glowing reviews from such section of the Children's Zoo and begins its famous animal show in May, and the McDonnell Douglas Corporation Prologue Room, which displays 60 years of spacecraft, opens its doors to visitors June 1.

Baseball fans already are flocking to Busch Memorial Stadium, where the St. Louis Cardinals are playing their action-packed season of 81 home games.

The National Museum of Transport, which has one of the world's finest train collections as well as other vehicles ranging from trolleys to antique cars, is open seven days a week. The museum, renovated and refurbished in 1980, is located in west St. Louis County opera centers as New York and Los Angeles.

Another museum that is an example of the "spirit of Spring in St. Louis" is the Magic House, the nation's only fully participatory museum where kids of every age enjoy the thrill of 50 different exhibits ranging from standing hair on end to swirling down a spiral slide. The Magic House provides a stimulating afternoon's enjoyment and is open throughout the year.

This year's performances provide a rich variety in the four-week season, including Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," Miki's "An Actor's Revenge" and a double bill featuring the American premiere of "Fennimore and Gerda" by Delius and "The Secret of Suzanne" by Wolf-Ferrari.

For a complete evening, special picnic basket dinners are served on the lawn of the St. Louis Repertory Theatre before performances.

The Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra, which is celebrating its 100th anniversary season, is performing throughout the area. Regular concerts continue through May at Powell Symphony hall, followed by performances in the Little Symphony series at Washington University Quadrangle and special concerts in St. Louis County Parks. The Symphony will present a free concert on June 16 at Northwest Plaza shopping center.

Spring is fragrant and flowering at the Missouri Botanical Garden, where it is celebrated with many shows and events including the Spring Flower Show, and the Spring Vegetable Garden Workshop. The Jewel Box in Forest Park is another favorite "spring place" as it features its spring Easter Lily Show and later its Hydrangeas Show.

With the warm weather comes the welcome opening of some of St. Louis' most popular seasonal attractions. Grant's Farm is open Thursday's through Sundays until June 1, when the Tuesday through Sunday summer schedule begins. Six Flags theme park is open weekends until May 19, when the daily summer season begins.

BEING MAGISTRATE IS SERIOUS BUSINESS FLOYD COUNTY BUDGET 1980-81: $1,653,324

The four elected Magistrates, along with the County Judge, make up the Floyd Fiscal Court. It is their business to run the Floyd County government, just as our State Senators and Representatives set budgets and make laws in Frankfort, and as our Senators and Congressmen do in Washington.

Floyd County's budget is over one and a half million dollars a year from all revenues: property taxes, coal severance taxes and road funds. How this money is spent is decided by the Fiscal Court. That is serious business.

I am a candidate for Magistrate in District Number 1. This office represents all of the people in Abbott, old and New Allen, Auxier, Bull Creek, Cow Creek, David, Dwale, both forks of Middle Creek, Prestonsburg, and West Prestonsburg. We make up the largest Magisterial District in Floyd County. We pay 40 to 45 per cent of all property taxes in this county. Our District contains 35 per cent-more than onethird—of the registered voters in Floyd County. But what are we getting for our money?

The Magistrate of District 1 should be a businessman. He should have experience in government. He should know about budgets, programs and priorities. He should have a plan-one that is thought-out and projected for four years—to make sure the people of Number 1 get the county services and programs they want and need.

My plan is set out below in detail. I hope you will read it, think about it and support my candidacy for election. I would appreciate your comments and ideas on this plan, and I am always available to hear you.

ROADS: Because District 1 includes all of Prestonsburg, and the city government takes care of all the city streets, a lot of people seem to think that district 1 doesn't need much road money. The people outside the city limits know there are plenty of roads in District 1 that need plenty of work-and not just at election time.

I believe the road money should be allocated to each district on the basis of the number of miles of county roads in that District. District 1 is by far the largest district in terms of size as well as people. We should get our fair share of the road fund.

In addition, I have already consulted with a licensed, registered engineer, who has agreed to volunteer his services to develop a road program for District 1. As soon as I am elected, we will survey all the roads in the District. With his professional help I will draw up a schedule for repairing, blacktopping and graveling roads according to need. The worst roads will be fixed first. There will be no road work done for political reasons.

MY QUALIFICATIONS:

Education: I am 48 and was born in Floyd County. I attended Morehead State University, majoring in economics and sociology for four years, lacking only three hours to get a degree in Business Administration.

Business Experience: I have been employed at Columbia Gas Co., for nearly 25 years. As an engineering technician, I assist in all phases of engineering work and deal with Federal regulations and requirements.

This program will let us get the best use of our road money. We can schedule equipment, men and materials on a year-round basis. You can see the schedule at any time to know when your road work will be done. It will be a business-like approach to our road problems.

Government Experience: For six years I served on the Prestonsburg City Council, actively participating in the city's programs involving county, state and national government.

WATER AND SEWAGE:

I propose developing a long-term plan for water and sewage. At the present time, water lines are extended without thought to sewage disposal. When new areas are developed, problems arise with sewage disposal. Many times it ends up in creeks. There is not a creek in this county that your child could wade in with safety. I pledge to develop a water and sewage program that will be efficient, thorough, and protect the health of the people of Floyd County.

GARBAGE:

The problem with garbage pick-up and disposal is not that the county doesn't have a plan, but that the Magistrates aren't acting on that plan. The solution is available, but we need action. The county is supposed to take over this operation itself on May 18. I pledge that as your Magistrate I will work personally to see that this plan is implemented instead of turning the problem over to a committee.

NEW IDEAS:

I propose a Summer Employment Program for young people. This would help high school and college students get jobs doing road work, cleanup and park jobs to help them further their education.

A Dewey Lake Clean-Up: The lake is a Federal program but the county could and should assert its jurisdiction to get the lake cleaned up. Summer workers could assist in this program.

A cooperative program with the railroads to prevent crossings being blocked. A blocked crossing could prevent ambulances, fire or police vehicles from reaching you and your family in emergencies. I would favor looking ahead to the construction of overpasses at critical places such as Goble-Roberts, Cliff, Dwale, and left Middle Creek.

Developing more new Ideas: I believe Floyd County should be the No. 1 county in Kentucky and I believe the Magistrates should talk to and listen to the people to get their ideas for continued growth. I want your ideas. Hand them to me and I'll listen.

'SHAG' BRANHAM

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR

MAGISTRATE, DISTRICT 1

CONTINUING (?) PROGRAMS:

In the past four years, Floyd County has acquired two fine new facilities, both needed and both in District 1. Now, due to lack of county financing we are losing them both.

The juvenile detention center in the new Courthouse Annex has been praised as a model of its kind-a place to keep young delinquents for short terms. The state has been giving us 100% financing to operate the center-the only one in Kentucky that gets no county money. Because of present economic conditions, the state will no longer pay 100% of operating our detention center. It doesn't do this for Pike or any other county center. The girl's side has already been closed. The entire center will be closed on June 1 unless something is done. That "something" must be county funds to help run the center. The Fiscal Court says it has no money for this needed center. But, unless we have this center, a 15-year-old who robs your house tonight will be on the streets tomorrow because the Judge will have no other choice. Under state law he is not allowed to put juveniles in the jail with adult offenders.

The county animal center was built through a generous bequest to the county of $30,000. Private citizens, the City of Prestonsburg and, for awhile, the Fiscal Court, made up the money to operate the center. Now the Fiscal Court refuses to help and the center has closed for lack of funds. Now threre is nowhere to take stray dogs and other animals. They roam the streets and hollers as they did before. If your child is bitten by a stray dog you know the agony that child and all your family will go through if the dog is not found.

The animal shelter and the juvenile detention center benefitted all Floyd Countians but the County Fiscal Court says it cannot afford to contribute to their support.

This Fiscal Court pays each of the four Magistrates $17,028 a year. Members of the Prestonsburg City Council are paid $72 a year for their two regular meetings a month and the numerous other meetings and business they do. Members of the Floyd County Board of Education receive $240 a year for one meeting a month and all the county's school business, including overseeing a $10 million a year budget.

The Magistrates meet twice a month. I favor reducing Magistrate's salaries and putting more money into financing programs needed by the people of Floyd County.

TO ALL FLOYD COUNTIANS:

As a resident of Floyd County I know our roads and bridges are the worst in any county in the state. I don't blame the District Magistrates or the county road crew or the State Highway Dept., neither the federal government nor the Governor of Kentucky. The improvement we need is not any of the above mentioned agencies' responsibility. As you know, we all have a chain of command to go through in order to get a job done. In our case it's up to the County Judge-Executive to follow through these branches in order to get and have what we need. Have we had this in our past administration? Or will we again have all the great promise of better roads and bridges? Or will we have a "yes" man? I don't want or need this in the community that I live in. We need someone to get out and see our needs and take the lead as our County Judge-Executive. We don't need someone sitting behind a desk making empty promises. We need action and we need it now. As a former employee of U.S. Shoe and heavy equipment operator I ask all the men and women of the county to vote for and support Jimmy "Gabe" Turner for County Judge-Executive. As the old saying goes-it's better to have one bird in hand than two in a bush. But I think it's better to have one Turner in hand than have two "birds in a bush." Signed: Freddie J. Osborne.

UK Announces New Tuition-Fee Schedule

Undergraduate students at the University of Kentucky will pay tuition and fees of $370 a semester beginning this fall.

The UK Board of Trustees in action last week confirmed the raise in tuition rates set by the state Council on Higher Education and raised the student activity fee by $1 per semester.

The $370 per semester charge includes a $13.25 activity fee for full-time students. A dollar of the activity fee is for the Student Association to enable it to expand its services to the camus.

Tuition and fees for undergraduate students at UK for the school year about to close were $341 per semester.

By state law, the Council on Higher Educationsets tuition fees for the state universities. The new tuition rates were designed to bring UK's fees closer to its benchmark institutions, those schools outside the state similar to UK in size and scope

Tuition and fees for undergraduate students from outside the state were raised from $1,016 per semester this year to $1,159 per semester, effective next fall.

Semester fees for graduate students will be $408 compared to $376 for the current school year. Nonresident graduate students will pay $1,206. Nonresident this year paid $1,066.

The people of District 1 were recently witness to a sham operation conceived by a hard core elite group of Republicans and Mr. Bill Woods, Jr., a maverick democrat with no known political philosophy. Operating under the disguise of a "Mock Election" this sinister Brotherhood, through ESP, and Mind Control sought to control the outcome. Had it not been for myself (The Toast of the Coast), this foul deed would have climaxed in success. Through the elaborate use of hidden cameras and microphones I (The American Dream), determined that as many as "7" different Ballot Boxes were used, the pen used to register voters contained what I (The American Dream) now know to have been invisible ink. Sensing this injustice. I (Mr. Stardust Himself) would not allow my supporters to enter this haven of lawlessness. My supporters came by the droves, they came in cars, vans, buses, trucks, trains and wagons, all to be turned back by my Attorneys. Still 74 of them managed to slip by our net and voted for me anyway. I (The Toast of the Coast) have launched a full investigation, and have been advised that indictments will be forthcoming. TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD CO.:

Friends, the campaign for Sheriff of Floyd County will soon be over. May 26 is the day the voters will decide who the next Sheriff of Floyd County will be for the next 4 years.

I am confident that I will be the winner. Your response to my campaign has been heartwarming. I feel grateful and humble for the support and encouragement given to me by all of you during my campaign. Our county is a large and complex one and the people's needs are many. But you have expressed yourselves to me on issues, and one fact stands out-

THE PEOPLE ARE READY FOR A CHANGE!

ELECT HENRY C. HALE SHERIFF OF FLOYD CO.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER THE PEOPLE WANT AND DESERVE:

Strict and fair law enforcement without abuse and brutality

Your Sheriff and deputies available night or day-not just for office hours

Concentrated effort with all law agencies against the drug and alcohol traffic

Protection for our churches and schools

A Sheriff's Dept. devoted to service to all the people-no matter how far out in the county.

These are a few points that you the people have impressed on me as important to you. They are very important to me also. You have my pledge and promise that I will be working for you to bring about these changes. Let's put Floyd county on the road to progress.

Call upon your friends, urge them to vote. This is your right. You have the right to change, a change for better law enforcement.

To victory on May 26!

CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

WOMAN'S CLUB DINNER

The Floyd County Times

The annual installation dinner of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club was held Thursday evening, May 7, at May Lodge with the club's president, Mrs. Abby Grant, presiding. The Pledge of Allegiance was lead by Mrs. Carolyn Traum, who also gave the invocation.

The program for this event was given by the Prestonsburg High School Honor choir, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Lynn Frazier. A solo, "Jesus Walked this Lonesome Valley," was sung by Miss Donna DeRossett, who was accompanied by Miss Kim Hughes, at the piano.

The president, Mrs. Grant, presented the club's other officers for the past year, and guests, from Women's Clubs throughout the 7th District, Mrs. Maxine Bierman, vice governor of this district, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. M. Quint. Mrs. Quint told of some of her experiences during her tenure as president of G.F.W.C., and told of visits she had made to other countries during that time. She added that many of President Reagan's programs are similar to those that G.F.W.C. has stressed throughout the year.

Mrs. Rex Ankrom, chairman of the Club's Education Committee, recognized Miss Brenda K. Music, of Prestonsburg High School, recipient of the scholarship award given by the Prestonsburg Woman's Club for study at Prestonsburg Community College.

Memorial services for a late member and officer, Mrs. Stanley Combs, were conducted by Mrs. Lucy Reagan, chairman of the Spriitual Life Committee.

Mrs. Eileen Burchett, chairman of Community Improvement, gave a silver tray to Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, winner of the slogan contest sponsored by that committee. The slogan reads: "Pickup, Tidyup, Cleanup Prestonsburg.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Abby Grant, made the presentation of the gavel and a pin to the new president, Mrs. Carolyn Traum. Gifts on behalf of the club were presented to Mrs. Grant, and to Mrs. Quinn.

The installation of officers for the club year, 1981-82 was under the direction of Mrs. Quint, who chose as her theme, "America." These officers are Mrs. Carolyn Traum, president; Mrs. Debbie Stumbo, first vice president; Mrs. Helen Ankrom, second vice president; Mrs. Lynn Leslie, third vice president; Mrs. Docia Woods, recording secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Martha Leake, treasurer. \star EXTENSION SERVICE NOTES \star

By JOHN E. SPARKS County Extension Agent for Agriculture

CORN PRODUCTION HINTS April or early May planting will outyield late planted corn and have fewer disease and insect problems. It is important to finish planting before May 20 in Eastern Kentucky in order to reduce yield losses. A one percent per day yield loss can be expected when planting after May 15. How early to plant depends on the soil temperature. When the soil temperature rises above 50 degrees F for several days it is time to plant corn. Another guideline is about one week before to one week after the average date of the last killing frost in the spring.

Thin stands are still keeping many of you from producing top yields. You should provide about 150 plants for each bushel of yield expected. The recommended planting rates for consistent top yields are: conventional tillage 22,000, no-tillage 26,000 and silage 28,000 kernels per acre. Optimum yields will be obtained with 36 to 38 inch row widths. Planting kernels 7.9 inches apart in 36-inch rows will supply the 22,000 kernels per acre needed for conventional tillage. To plant 26,000 kernels per acre in 36-inch rows the kernels should be 6.6 inches apart in the row and a 6-inch spacing will provide the 28,000 kernels recommended for silage.

TO SPLIT OR NOT TO SPLIT

When it comes to fertilizing corn, producers have a major decision to make on how much nitrogen they can profitably use and whether to apply it all at once, or part at planting with the balance topdressed before the corn is knee high. The factors determining whether it would pay you to split nitrogen applications is the danger of losing nitrate nitrogen by either leaching or denitrification. Since all ammonium forms of nitrogen fertilizer will be converted to the nitrate form by bacteria living in the soil, your only way to reduce losses on sandy and poorly drained soils is by timely nitrogen applications.

Most os uf understand leaching losses. Leaching occurs when nitrogen in the nitrate form moves out of the soil as water passes through the profile. So, if you have a sandy soil you can reduce the danger of leaching losses by splitting your nitrogen aplication. Apply 1/4 to 1/2 of your nitrogen at planting and the rest before your corn is knee high (in 4-6 weeks).

Please note expiration date opposite your name on wrapper or on your copy of The Denitrification (changing nitrate to gaseous nitrogen) sounds more complicated. Nitrate nitrogen can be used as a source of oxygen by denitrifying bacteria and the nitrogen will be converted to gaseous forms if soils become waterlogged. If you have a type of soil that is poorly drained you would probably lose most of your nitrogen by denitrification if you applied it all before planting. Therefore, you should split your nitrogen application as you would on sandy soils subject to leaching losses.

Those of you who aren't bothered with johnsongrass (wish I could say US) may want to lower fuel and labor costs by following the "no-till" corn production program. If you practice no-till farming then you will get better results if you split the nitrogen as suggested for sandy soils.

Nitrogen rates suggested for corn grown for grain vary from 125 lb/acre on well drained soils to 200 lb/acre on poorly drained soils. The nitrogen rate suggested for "no-tillage" production is 150 lb/acre for well drained soils and 200 lb/acre for moderately welldrained soils. We don't recommend notillage corn on poorly drained soils. Soils are usually wetter during the first month after planting corn and you are more likely to lose nitrogen by leaching and denitrification then than at any other time. You can reduce these rates 35 lb/acre (equal to two bags of ammonium nitrate) if as much as 2/3 of the nitrogen is applied 4 to 6 weeks after planting.

MAKING QUALITY HAY

Quality hay has been defined as hay which provides the nutrients required to meet an expected animal performance. The most important practice, and the LEAST EXPENSIVE ONE, in making quality hay is cutting at the right stage of maturity. As legumes and grasses approach maturity they become higher in fiber and lignin content and lower in protein content, digestibility, soluble carbohydrates, acceptability and intake by livestock. You can expect a drop in alfalfa digestibility of one-half percent each day cutting is delayed past early bloom. According to a Wisconsin study the protein content of alfalfa decreased from 23.3 percent at the mid-bud growth stage to 15.8 percent at full bloom. In Minnesota as alfalfa maturity advanced from prebud to the mature stage, digestibility decreased from 66.8 percent to 55.8 percent and ilk production dropped 45 percent. When mature alfalfa was fed, the amount of grain needed to maintain the high milk production obtained by feeding alfalfa cut at the prebud stage increased 4.5 times

In a Tennessee study the digestibility of fescue decreased about one percent per day after the early bloom stage. Delaying fescue harvest for eleven days past the early bloom stage reduced the protein content from 10.2 percent to 7.6 percent. The digestibility decreased from 66 to 56 percent. Curing and handling conditions will in the following table will help to maximize hay yields without sacrificing acceptable quality.

RECOMMENDED STAGES TO HARVEST

Alfalfa, bud stage for first cutting, 1/10 bloom for following cutting: Orchardgrass Timothy or Fescue, boot to early head stage for first cut, remaining cuts at 4-6 weeks intervals; Red or Crimson Clover, from early bloom to 1/2 bloom; Oats, Barley or Wheat, boot to early head stage; Soybeans, mid to full bloom and before bottom leaves begin to fall; Lespedeza, early blossom and before bottom leaves begin to fall; Ladino or White Clover, cut at the correct stage for the companion plant; Sundangrass, Sorghum Hybrids and Millet, 40-inch height or early boot stage, whichever comes first.

Morehead U. To Host Cheerleading Camps

Morehead State University will host two 3-day cheerleading camps for junior high, middle school and high school cheerleaders this summer.

Scheduled June 15-18 and Aug. 3-6, the camps will provide participants with extensive instruction in new cheers and chants, pom pom routines, partner stunts, pyramids, and tumbling. Also, there will be time every day for each squad to work privately with an instructor. Ribbons and spirit sticks will be awarded nightly.

Universal Cheerleaders Association will provide the instructional staff for the camp. UCA trained more than 20,000 high school and junior high school cheerleaders last year and also trained many of America's top collegiate squads including the top five squads on this year's Collegiate cheerleading Championship which will be seen on CBS this spring.

$204.6 Million Paid Ky. Vets In 1980

More than 57,123 Kentucky veterans and 29,822 survivors of veterans shared in $204.6 million paid during 1980 in the form of Veterans Administration compensation and pension.

VA regional office director Lee Caudill said that some 33,837 veterans receive compensation payments for service connected disabilities, while

Rice's Crispies . . . National Mines Team Improved

By KENNY RICE

"We're number one, but we try harder," Frank Reffett laughed. The chuckle came easy, as easy as you might expect from a guy who pitched and managed the National Mines softball team to the Kentucky Class A championship last season. They have been moved up to Class AA this season and they are ready to take a shot at that title.

"We've been training for the season since January. Most of the guys play basketball and lift weights in the off season. We're not resting on what we did last year. I think the winter workouts will make us a stronger team this season. The competition will be tougher since we're moving up to Class AA, so we knew we had to improve."

Practice officially opened for the Miners four weeks back and they have been playing in invitational tournaments each weekend for three weeks. Throughout the state, leagues hosting tournaments invited National Mines to compete but the team decided to limit their appearances.

"It's a long season and we didn't want to play too many games early on. We will play in three tournaments before the season opens at Archer Park and that's enough for right now.

Two players, Ebo Gibson and Phillip Tucker, have opted to play with other teams this season but everyone else from the championship squad will return. The veteran team may be coming off their hardest winter of workouts in preparation for this season. There were rumors that our team would break up after we won the state title last year, but most of us are back and we are really excited about this year more so than in past seasons. I think this year could be our best and that's saying something after last season.

twelve women's teams make up the two leagues. The men play Sunday through Friday. On Sunday, the first game starts at one, through the week the first game begins at 6:30. The women play on Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The Sunday games begin at three and the weeknight games start at 6:30.

The season runs from now until the last week of July. All the games are free and there is plenty of parking.

TOURNAMENTS

Archer Park will be the site of the Class A men's and women's regional tournament again this season. The regionals begin August 9. The district tournaments will be held the week prior to that beginning August 2 at Ar-

Seven of the twenty teams in the men's league at Archer this season will be playing in state tournaments, National Mines and Anixter Cable have already qualified for the Class AA or Major Tournament in August. Three teams in the league will go to the Class B tournament and the winner and runnerup of the Class A regional will advance to the state tournament.

Five womens teams will be playing in postseason tournaments. Three in Class A and two in Class B.

Archer Park will be represented in tourneys throuhout the Commonwealth. This league has become one of the most prestigious in Kentucky over the last few years.

Gibson, Wells Star At Track Meet Here

The Raymond Gibson and Jack Wells show is how one might have described Prestonsburg's track team at the regional meet last Tuesday. Gibson and Wells with some help from their teammates led Prestonsburg to a third place finish as the Cats qualified 10 athletes for the state sectional meet.

The meet was close as eventual winner East Carter and runner-up Russell and PHS battled throughout the meet. The Cats even led for a brief time and were second for more than half the meet but fell to the greater death of East Carter and Russell losing to E. C. by 20 and Russell by 10. PHS coach Forrest Hughes said that he was very proud of the way the team performed. 'There are only eight regions in Class AA in Kentucky, thus to finish third makes you one of the top 20 to 25 teams in Class AA in Ky.," he added.

Gibson, 6'3", 270 pounds, gave PHS a big jump as he won the shot put to remain undefeated against Class AA and Class A schools in the state. Gibson also added the discus throw title to go with his shot put crown as he threw 128' for first.

In the meantime, Wells was making his last regional meet a memorable one as the 6'3", 180 lb. senior leaped 6'0" in the high jump for second; ran on the 880 relay team that finished third and broke the school record in the process. Then 10 minutes later, he blazed a 53.0 400 meters for second and broke his second school record of the day. For good measure, he ran another 53.0 400 meters as he anchored his mile relay team to third.

In addition to Gibson and Wells, PHS had several other athletes qualify for the sectional meets as the Cats qualified in 10 of 16 events. These athletes were Randy Tincher, who turned in a workhorse preformance as he qualified in the 100 and 200 meters and broke the school record in both events to finish fourth in each. Randy also anchored the third place 880 relay team to a school record for his third school record and was a member of the third-place mile relay team.

Sophomores Robert Majet and Gerald Frazier finished third and fourth in the pole vault. Majet also advanced in the 880 relay as he ran a 880 relay and junior Dennis Flanagan in the triple jump. Another qualifier was Danny Cooley in the high jump where he finished third. Coach Hughes said Cooley will definitely jump higher than 6'0" at the sectionals since he was suffering from a stiff back in the regional meet PHS also had some hard luck at the meet as senior Lonnie May was leading his heat of the 300 meter hurtles and was on his way to a qualifing time for the sectional meet when a weak right ankle gave way. Rising quickly May sprinted to finish fifth overall but only four places advance to the sectional meet. May's run was so fast that even with his fall he still broke the school record. May later earned his way to the section meet as he was a member of the third place mile relay team. PHS also had some near misses as freshman 800 meter star John Anderson grabbed fifth in the 800 in 2:10 and later made it to the state sectionals as he ran a swift 55.0 400 meter leg on the mile relay squad. Anderson, who is only 15 and in his first year of 800 meter running is already drawing the attention of college coaches, one of whom commented that to run so fast so early in his career makes him a definite college prospect for the future. Also scoring a near miss was senior Eric Heron, who finished sixth in the mile and fifth in the 2-mile after missing over two weeks of practice with a injured foot. Coach Hughes said that it is very difficult to watch someone who has worked as hard as Eric get beat by people he had defeated all year because of an injury.

Wells Named To Play In East-West Game

Jack Wells, Prestonsburg High and western parts of the state to com School's outstanding senior quarterback, has been selected to play in the Ky. High School Coaches Association All-Star Charity Football Game. Wells, one of the top 28 senior athletes named to the East squad, voted on and selected by the coaches in the eastern half of the state, played QB and strong safety for the 1980 Blackcat squad, ran for 11 TD's and passed for 15 more, while guiding the Cats to an impressive 8-3 record. He also participates in basketball and track, is a member of various student organizations, and is an A student. Wells is the second player from P-burg in the past two years to be selected to play in the All-Star game. Dewey Layne, now a top college player, was the first selected last year. Other players in this area selected to the squad are Bob Shirtleff, of Pikeville, and Darrell Pugh, of Paintsville

There are two main purposes for the East-West All-Star game. One, the most obvious, is to bring together the best football players from the eastern

Free Boating Safety Course Offered At MSU

The Morehead State-Rowan County Community Education Program, the Kentucky State Police, Division of Security and Compliance and Larry's Marine of Morehead are planning a free boating safety course at Morehead State University

Completion of the course will entitle most participants to reduced insurance rates on their boats from five to 15 percent. Classes will meet two nights each week for two weeks, two to three hours each night.

Also scheduled are demonstrations of floatation devices required in all new boats.

Class days and dates have not been finalized. Additional details are available from Harry Ryan, Coordinator of Campus Events at 606/783-2276.

23,266 receive agency pension payments for non-service connected disabilities

Caudill noted that 387 are female veterans and 76 were disabled during the vietnam Era. Over 73 were disabled during World War II.

Noting the obvious important financial impact on Kentucky residents, Caudill said that nationwide, these combined payments constitute nearly one-half of the VA's annual budget of $24.2 billion.

The Archer Park Fourth of July Tournament will have teams from this region and from the Huntington/Ashland area this year.

TOO MANY

The ASA softball group is being challenged by the USSA softball group this season. To decipher this alphabet jumble, that's the Amateur Softball Association tangling with the United States Softball Association.

The Archer Park league is a member of the ASA, the oldest of the softball associations. The USSA is making headway in several city leagues, including Lexington.

This is all perfectly legal as no one has a monopoly on who can set up sanctioned softball programs, however, it is making it very confusing to keep up with all the classes the two associations use. For example, there are four classes in Kentucky under the ASA, the Open, Class AA (Major), Class A and Class B. There are different classes

Basically what all this means is that the softball fan, and they are among the fastest growing group in the nation among sports followers, is being swamped by softball tournaments. There are more than one or two state champs, there are four and now even more with the USSA. This scramble for tournament titles and teams to fill up leagues and tourneys may burn out softball in the state.

backers playing in the hundreds of inteams to participate.

among those affiliated with the ASA, there is concern as to just how many associations and leagues this state can support. If the USSa came to the county and started a league seperate from the Archer Park league, could this county come up with enough teams? The caliber of each league could be diluted.

sioners such as Billy Ray Colh ... is that there will be so many tournaments and so many state champs eventually, that there will be no climax to the season-it will be just another tournament

The 10 athletes, along with 880 relay alternate John Derrossett and mile relay alternate Brad Hughes, will travel to Manchester, May 16, to compete in the state sectional meet.

Allen Team Wins Pre-Season Tourney

Anixter Cable, of Allen, won the first Pre-Season Softball Tournament by going undefeated in the Double Elimination Tournament that ended last Sunday at nearby Z.S. Dickerson Field at Archer Park. The Cablemen won over Tom's Chips, 10 to 8. Barry Hall had the only home run in the game. Anixter Cable won five straight games without a loss in the week-long tournament, and Tom's Chips moved into the final play on Sunday with only one loss. They eliminated Martin County Coal Co. on Sunday, 3 to 1 and defeated and eliminated Kentucky State Police, 15 to 2. George Akers had a three-run homer in this game. Tom's Chips defeated National Mines, 3 to 2. Larry Woods had two solo homers in this game and finished out the tournament with the highest number of homers, four. National Mines finished third in the tournament. The men's league play started this Monday night with three games nightly, the first game starting at 6:30.

Blackcats Win District; Play Regional Today

By C. OLLIE ROBINSON

The Prestonsburg Blackcats captured the 58th district baseball crown, defeating the McDowell Daredevils last Wednesday at the Z.S. Dickerson Field, Archer Park, 13 to 2. Freshman Kelly Cecil started for the Cats and held the Daredevils to only four hits. The only runs by the Daredevils came on two solo homeruns by left fielder Birdsell.

The Prestonsburg Blackcats, winners of the district baseball tournament, and McDowell, runners-up, both will be in the regional baseball tournament at Johnson Central High School in Paintsville. The regional opened yesterday with McDowell facing Paintsville at 1 p.m.

Coach Roger Fultz and the Daredevils went into the game with a 8 and 1. record, while Paintsville, the defending regional champs, have a record of 17 and 12. Phelps, 15 and 5, surprise winner over Belfry in the 60th district, will face Virgie, 3 and 6. Today (Wednesday) at 1 p.m., Coach Russell Shepherd and the Prestonsburg Blackcats, 10 and 9, will battle the Belfrey Pirates, 18 and 8, and at 4 p.m., the tourney favorite, The Pikeville Panthers, 25 and 1, will go against Johnson Central. Semi-finals will be played Thursday at 1 and 4 p.m.

Due to my recent illness I have been unable to get out among the people of Floyd County and campaign for my brother, Henry C. Hale, who is a candidate for sheriff. Since I haven't been able to travel and visit with you, I would like to take this opportunity to express my feelings about the upcoming election. I do this not only because Henry is my brother, but more importantly because of my experience as a public servant of the people of Floyd County. For 91/2 years, I was a school teacher in the Floyd County Public School system; for four years I was the chief deputy for the Floyd County Sheriff's Department; from 1965 to 1971 I was the Captain of the Prestonsburg City Police Department; from 1971 to 1978 I served as the Floyd County detective; from 1978 to the present I have served the people of Floyd County as director of the Flood Plan Control.

All this experience has taught me that in order for the Floyd County Sheriff's Office to be effective, it must work in harmony with the Kentucky State Police, the city police departments and all the Floyd County constables. If elected, Henry C. Hale will work with all these law enforcement officials to protect all the people of Floyd County. He did in the past, his record proves it. Can the other candidates make this claim? I know from my personal law enforcement experience that one of the other candidates has not worked effectively with these other agencies. Help all the people of Floyd County by voting for Henry C. Hale in the upcoming primary.

Summer Camp Open To Floyd Youngsters

Summer camp, often too expensive for some young people to enjoy, is within the reach of many young people in this area through the efforts of the Kentucky Sheriffs Association which in 1975 founded a Boys and Girls Ranch which is located at the intersection of highways 641 and 62 at Kentucky Dam.

Each season 500 to 600 boys and girls attend the camp, with a total of 3,000 who have enjoyed its facilities to date. Those who attend are chosen by the amount of contribution given by each county's sheriff, churches, and civic organizations. The camp is completely dependent on voluntary donations to the ranch which are income tax deductable.

In addition to building a better understanding and stronger relationship between the youth of Kentucky and law enforcement personnel, the ranch provides an outstanding program of recreation, and a wholesome family environment. Swimming, arts and crafts, basketball, tennis and other sports are offered, as well as nature hikes and other activities.

Those who are interested in enrolling a child may write to Wilburn Akers, Box 305, Betsy Layne, Ky. 41605, or call him at 478-5789 between 7 and 9. Mr. Akers, who has been commissioned a Kentucky Colonel for his work with underpriviledged children, has application forms and will answer any questions about the ranch.

The Kentucky Department for Human Resources health services laboratory is one of only 13 state laboratories accredited by the American Industrial Hygiene Association.

A FIRE-FIGHTING training course was conducted at Martin during the week beginning May 4 with Martin firemen receiving training in a number of techniques. Prestonsburg Fire Department Maj. When elected Magistrate of District 1, I pledge to you to be your fulltime Magistrate with a genuine interest in not just a select few but each and every community's need. You and I know that we the people of District 1 have paid for and deserve much more than we have received from past Administrators.

Given the chance I intend to reverse the present conditions through the support of the people and the cooperation of our county officials. I sincerely believe this to be the most effective way for us to deal with the awesome conditions that we are subjected to at the present time.

As Election Day nears I ask you to look around your community and decide for yourself whether or not we have the need for a Magistrate that has this genuine interest. If so, I ask you for your vote and support in the May Primary.

Statistics Office To Gather Health Info

The largest baby born in Kentucky weighed 14 pounds and one ounce.

The number of Kentuckians dying from chronic diseases has risen significantly in the past decade, while the number of deaths due to infectious diseases has declined.

These are just two of thousands of pieces of health-related information and data logged in computers at the state center for health statistics within Kentucky's Department for Human Resources.

The department's health and vital statistics office has been designated the state center by Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. and Human Resources Secretary Grady Stumbo. The designation makes Kentucky one of 25 states with health statistics centers and part of the Federal Cooperative Health Statistics System.

A health data office has existed in Human Resources since 1976, according to Charles Kendell, director of the office that has become the state center for health statistics. "Basically, this designation now makes the health data office the focal point for keeping all of Kentucky's health related data," Kendell said. "Before, most of our work was related strictly to health planning, while now we are advising health services personnel of trends in everything from the frequency of disease outbreaks to the number of physicians in the state."

Much of the information stored in the center is collected by surveys and questionnaires, while a great deal of data is accumulated through what Kendell calls vital statistics—birth and death certificates as well as marriage and divorce rates filed with the office.

Besides soliciting and collecting health information, the state center must be capable of providing data to persons who request it. "We produce reports from data we have collected," Kendell said. "We can also provide special analyses on particular problems and health trends." The center publishes an annual data catalog that describes specific health data on Kentucky and which state agency has particular information. "We don't collect all the health data," Kendell said, "but we know where it is so we can refer requests."

The center helps state and private agencies plan health programs by monitoring certain critcal health factors in Kentucky, he said. "Our office provides information to all agencies doing health manpower planning, like the Kentucky Dental Association and the board that licenses physicians," Kendell cited as examples. "We keep track of areas of the state that continue to suffer from a shortage of qualified health personnel."

In addition to compiling reports, center staff answer written and telephone requests for information from students writing term papers and how the caller will use the information requested. "We may be able to suggest other types of data that would be helpful for a particular purpose," he noted.

Section Two, Page Six

The computerized data systems were paid for with grant monies from the federal Department of Health and Human Services. The federal funds expired in December 1980, and the center now operates solely on state dollars.

from people who are just curious. "Since this is the first time Kentucky has had a state health data center, we've set an informal policy in our office: if someone calls us, they won't have to call anyone else," Kendell said. "Before this designation, it seemed that everybody needed health-related data, but there wasn't one central place to get it."

Kendell likens the treatment callers get from center staff to ordering a burger at a drive-in restaurant. "If someone asks the number of deaths due to heat last summer in Hardin County, we ask some questions, too. We can provide that information by month, by age, by race or by sex he said.

College For Youth Pre-Registration Set

Pre-registration for the Summer College for Youth Program at Prestonsburg Community College has been set for Thursday and Friday, May 21 and 22, from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. each day. Parents and their children should come to the college on either of those days to register their children for the summer program which will take place beginning June 22 and continuing through July 31. This will take place beginning June 22 and continuing through July 31. This will be the fourth year that the Office of Community Services, has made the summer program available for children, ages 6 through 13.

The College has chosen to offer this program because of the affirmative response from parents in the College's service area and the children who have attended during the past three summers. If for some reason some parents and their children are unable to attend pre-registration, they should contact the Office of Community Services by mail or by telephone.

This year the program will be at Archer park. This will enable the program to offer new classes including swimming, tennis and roller-skating. Other classes to be offered include: dance, gymnastics, painting and drawing, macrame, general crats, Spanish, sewing, sign language, folklore, imagination workshop, and nature and camping skills.

There will be two sessions which will meet three weeks each. Session I will meet from June 22 through July 10; Session II will meet from July 13 through July 31. Class activities will be held daily (but not July 6) five days a week, from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. with a 45-minute break for lunch. There will be controlled free activity from 8 a.m. until 9 a.m. and from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. All classes will be conducted by experts who have been trained well in their particular craft or activity. Coordinator of the program activities is Mrs. Eileen Recktenwald who has directed childrens recreational programs in the state of Maryland and more recently in communities in Kentucky.

For more information, call 886-3863, extension 215.

Census Seeks Info On Dual Jobholding

How many American workers are holding more than one job? How many are working overtime and what is their overtime pay? What are workers' usual hours on their jobs?

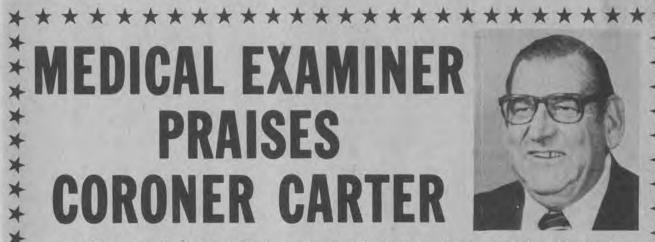

Joseph Harris, acting director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Charlotte, announced today that information in response to these questions will be collected during the week of May 18 to May 22, 1981, from a sample of households in this area. The questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor.

Results of this monthly survey provide a continuing measure of economic conditions in the Nation. The March survey indicated that of the 106.2 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 98.4 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.3 percent, the same as it had been in February but down from 1980's high of 7.6 percent.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

The interviewers who will visit households in this area is Patricia A. Walters, of East Point.

Free Ultrasound Posters Offered By Hospital During Hospital Week

Louisa Community Hospital, as part of its observance of National Hospital Week, is offering free to all expectant mothers an Ultrasound of the abdomen. This is painless and cannot harm the mother or fetus in any way, according to Dr. V. R. Sola, staff radiologist.

The free test will be offered starting Monday, May 11, till Friday, May 15, from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. daily. Any expectant mother should report to the x-ray department at the hospital during these hours only.

Also to be offered free will be posters on how to perform the nationallyknown "Hermlech Maneuver". When properly performed, this procedure may save someone who is choking on food. "We think it is important for people to know what to do in this sort of emergency, because timeliness of any help given a victim is so urgent" stated James Ellison, Associate Administrator. Our posters are not intended to take the place of a "how-to" course in the maneuver, but they might come in handy in a crisis, he continued. The hospital does offer a complete course which is free, to anyone interested. For information on these classes, contact the Inservice Director at the hospital.

"We feel it is our obligation to inform the community of this simple, lifesaving procedure," said E. L. Crozier, hospital Administrator. "Area newspapers will be carrying a cut-out copy of the poster or copies may be picked up at the hospital.

Would Expand Services For Mentally Retarded

A state plan for services to Kentucky's mentally retarded citizens in being developed with the help of 300 Kentuckians from across the state.

Human Resources Secretary Grady Stumbo announced in November that his department planned to increase the spectrum of care offered to mentally retarded individuals to include respite care and community-based services. These services are not intended to replace institutional care for the severely disabled, but to offer alternatives for those people who choose to remain in their communities.

Department for Human Resources officials solicited help in drawing up a statewide community services plan for the mentally retarded from 15 regional mental health-mental retardation boards. Each board appointed a committee to work on proposals which would meet local needs. Local councils are composed of a representative from each regional board and representatives from the Kentucky Association for Retarded Citizens, Office for Public Advocacy and the Developmental Disabilities Council.

"We wanted a state plan which was community-developed," said Larry Knight of Mayfield, chairman of the state council. "Rather than somebody in Frankfort writing a plan to meet the needs of people in, say eastern and western Kentucky, we decided to ask the people in those areas what their individual needs are."

At the state council's first meeting in late February, members voted to have the plan rolling by 1985. They also identified four stages of the planning process: defining the ideal system of services, defining the current system, identifying issues and setting statewide objectives and priorities based on regional recommendations.

'The state council is presently workng on developing the ideal system through which a community can meet the needs of all ages of mentally retarded people in all aspects of their lives," Knight said.

At the next meeting in Louisville June 2 and 3, council members will take the ideal system and compare it with the services which actually exist in Kentucky, and identifying the gaps between the two systems.

GRETHEL HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Grethel Homemakers met Monday, May 4, at 6:45 p.m. at the John M. Stumbo School, with the meeting called to order by the president, Mrs. Arietta Hall.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Glenna Evans, who used the theme, "Mother's Day." Election of officers for the 1981-'82 year was held with the following members being named: Arietta Hall, president; Christine Crisp, vicepresident; Eileen Martin, secretary, and Shirley Hamilton, treasurer. Glenna Evans was named devotional chairman, and Brenda Hall was elected telephone chairman.

Rail Warning Signals To Be Installed In Floyd

Flashing lights and bells will be installed at two railroad crossings in this county, according to state Department of Transportation officials.

The warning signals will be installed at the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad crossings on KY 7 at Bosco and on KY 1101 at Drift, sometime next year.

Each project is estimated to cost $44,000. Federal rail-highway crossing improvement funds will provide 90 percent of the total cost of the projects. The C. & O. Railroad will provide the remaining cost of the project in Drift. The remaining cost of the Bosco project will be paid by the state Department of Transportation

Plants," and "Decorating with Antiques," were taught by Floyd County Extension Agent Frances Pitts. It was announced that cultural arts camp is scheduled for July 27-28 at the 4-H camp at rush, Ky, and homemakers were encourged to attend.

The Floyd County annual Homemakers' Conference and Dinner has been set for September 23 at the Methodit Church at Prestonsburg.

The next scheduled meeting of the Grethel Homemakers will be held August 31.

Homemakers present were: Arietta Hall, Glenna Evans, Eileen Martin, Hannah Newsom, Brenda Hall, Shirley Hamilton, Eula Jo Keathley, Bonnie Reynolds and Debbie Tackett.

In 1868, the first federal 8-hour-day law was passed by Congress. It applied only to laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by or on behalf of the United States government, accor-ding to "Important Events in American Labor History," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

A Challenge to the Candidates: How Do You Propose To Pay for Your Promises?

By MICHAEL McCARTHY

In the present election campaigns there is much good concern over the condition of our schools, roads, garbage disposal, and water systems. Everyone is for improvements, but there is little talk of how this is to be done.

We face definite cuts in state and federal aid. If these sources were to dry up altogether we would be left with local revenues from property tax of close to $300,000 for fiscal court services and $1,092,000 for county schools—a total of $1,392,000.

For the approximately 40,000 inhabitants of Floyd county, that would give $35 worth of service to each citizen. That doesn't go very far.

As it stands, now, the school district spends about $12 million and the fiscal court about $1 million per year with the federal and state support. Anyone who uses the schools, roads, dumps, and water systems countywide knows that this has been nowhere near enough to maintain even average service. And now we are faced with even less outside money support than before.

The tragedy is that we live on top of mineral riches envied the world over, and huge profits are enjoyed by international coal and oil companies at the expense of our local community services. They own the resources under These conclusions are documented by a recent study by the Appalachian Alliance under the auspices of the Appalachian Regional Commission. The results of this study were published recently in the Floyd County Times and many other Kentucky papers.

Citizens are becoming aware that the coal-producing counties are poor to the benefit of outside interests. The severance tax on mined coal has not produced enough local county revenue, not even enough to pay for repairs to the roads the coal trucks use. The state government benefits more than local people from the severance tax.

To put it simply, this county needs more money for community services. No Floyd county politician can deliver the needed services without more money and realistic planning. The money is in our coal base. Once the coal is mined, this resource is lost to our county forever. In 1979, according to the Appalachian Alliance study, only $1500 was paid in local property tax on in-the-ground coal for 12 eastern Kentucky coal-producing counties. Given what coal is worth, this is a ridiculously small amount.

The county government is capable of changing this injust system and still being fair to small local coal owners who live on and use their land. It means some changes in the tax system and possibly a local referendum, but it can be done. The outside speculators can be made to pay a fair share. Some counties in West Virginia have already begun to see these new monies come in. Will we have better services in our county or will they grow poorer still? I address these questions to our county's candidates for the offices of judgeexecutive, magistrates, and PVA:

1. How much money would it actually take under your plan to improve and maintain these county services: a) roads, b) schools, c) water systems, d) garbage disposal, f) other, e) administrative costs? (Give specific amounts and a summarized line-item budget for each).

2. How much of this money can we realistically expect to come to our county from state and federal sources this next fiscal year, for each county service?

3. How much will we need to raise from our own county resources next year to pay for needed county services, independent of what we may expect in state and federal help?

4. How would you generate the local money we need?

5. Do you believe that our local tax system at present is fair and adequate? If you are for the status quo in taxes and also for improved services, demonstrate in your financial plan for each service how you will deliver better service for the same amount of

There are seven basic non-prescription drugs that should be available in a home medicine cabinet. They include an analgesic anti-pyretic, an antacid, an antidiarrheal remedy, and antipuritic, and antiseptic, a decongestant and a laxative. Be sure that they are all properly labelled and stored out of the reach of children. It is a good idea to periodically go through your medicine cabinet and remove unlabelled and outdated medicines. With the seven basic drugs listed above, a home should be ready for most home, non-prescription treatments.

For all the non-prescription items for your medicine cabinet, come to COOLEY APOTHECARY INC. We are your one-stop pharmacy, with a full inventory of nonprescription and first aid items. We will be happy to advise you about other items necessary for home health care. See us also for materials for an office first aid kit. We're at 2 Town Center Building, 886-8106. Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30; Sat., 9-5. And you can always depend on our prescription service.

HANDY HINT:

Do not use out-dated medicines. They are of little value and may even be dangerous.

money as in past budgets. If you believe we need a fairer, revised tax system, outline the steps you would take to achieve this.

The people of Floyd County would appreciate hearing your plans for concrete action to back up the many promises before this election day. If you are going to help us, show us how you will really help all of us.

Jenny Wiley, Other Ky. Theatres, Offer Drama Under Summer Skies

Drama will thrive under Kentucky's summer skies this year as a variety of outdoors dramas are offered throughout the state. Ranging from Shakespearean plays to historical legends to Broadway musicals, Kentucky has been offering theater buffs opportunities to enjoy drama under the sun and the heavens since 1959.

Jenny Wiley Drama Association Inc. will be presenting the Jenny Wiley Summer Music theater this year with an impressive lineup of Broadway musicals. "George M" will open up the season this year June 24, followed by "Godspell," "The Roar of the Grease-paint, The Smell of the Crowd," and "Oklahoma." The season ends Aug. 23 with each play showing 12 nights intermittently. For more information, contact: John M. McCann, P. O. Box 22, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653, or call 886-9274.

"The Stephen Foster Story" will be playing for its 23rd season this year, opening June 13 at the J. Dan Talbot Ampitheater in My Old Kentucky Home State park at Bardstown. Written by in the Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Paul Green, this musical is performed on the historic plantation Federal Hill, which inspired the Foster ballad, "My Old Kentucky Home."

The musical will run through Sept. 6 nightly, except Mondays, at 8:30 p.m. Matinees are held each Saturday at 3. p.m. in the indoor theater, which is also used for the nightly performances in case of inclement weather. For further ticket information, write: P. O. Box D., Bardstown, Ky. 40004, or Call (502) 348-5971.

TLhe 16th season of the "Legend of Daniel Boone," by Emmy Award-winning playwright Jan Hartman, will open June 13 in historic Harrodsburg. This play is performed on the park grounds of Fort Harrod, commemorating the first white settlement west of the Alleghenies, and depicts the tragic conflict embracing the settlement of Kentucky. "The Legend of Daniel Boone" will be presented nightly, except Sundays, through Aug. 22. For ticket information write: P. O. Box 365, Harrodsburg, Ky. 40330, or call (606) 734-3349. "Song of the Cumberland Gap" opens its second season this summer June 22 at Laurel Cove Amphitheater in beautiful Pine Mountain State Resort Park, Pikeville. The new production depicts the life of Daniel Boone and the opening of the West, through drama, song, dance and a multimedia presentation. The "Song of the Cumberland Gap," will be presented nightly at 8:45 p.m. EDT, except Sundays, through Aug. 29. For more information, write, Song of the Cumberland Gap, P. O. Box 934, Pineville, Ky. 40977 At Kentucky's oldest outdoor theater in Danville, Pioneer Playhouse offers a summer of grassroot theater performances. Among the famous actors who began their early acting careers at Pioneer Playhouse are John Travolta and Lee Majors. The season begins June 15 and runs through Sept. 3. This year's lineup includes "Chase Me Comrade," "Ah, Wilderness," "Heaven Can Wait," "Tartuffe," "Look Forward to Yesterday" and "Endless Waters." Each play runs for about two weeks nightly, except for Sundays. Dinner is served at 7:30 p.m. and show time is 8:30 p.m. For reservations or additonal information, call (606) 236-2747.

Iroquois Park Amphitheater will be presenting the Iroquois Park Players in two productions this summer, 'Annie Get Your Gun," June 19, 20, 26 and 27 and the "Music Man," July 17, 18, 21 and 25. The Iroquois Park Amphitheater is located in Iroquois Park, 5216 New Cut Rd., Louisville.

Louisville's Shakespeare in Central Park will open its summer of classics with "Twelfth Night" July 8, followed by "Hamlet" and "Much Ado About Nothing." The plays are staged in Central Park, and no admission is charged. This summer's season runs for six weeks with performances Wednesday through Saturday nights. Curtain time is 8:45 p.m. Central Park is located at Fourth and Magnolia streets in Louisville.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE Pursuant to Application Number 036-8008

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Island Creek Coal Co., P. O. Box 1275, Paintsville, Ky., 41240 intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 46.55 acres located east of Price in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 1 mile north of State Route 122's junction with State Route 979 and located east of Right Fork of Beaver Creek, latitude 37°, 24', 08". longitude 82°, 44', 28'. The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Island Creek Coal Co. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: Permitting of Existing Preparation Plant and Refuse Pile. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. The written objection must have attached a copy of the newspaper clipping, and reference the above application number. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

NOTICE Effective 4-15-81

The Left Beaver Volunteer Fire Dept. will no longer continue to fill up swimming pools due to the fact that the Water Company has requested that we no longer use the fire plugs for this purpose. Filling up these pools interferes with our service to the public as firefighters. If we are filling a pool, and receive a fire call, then this delays us several minutes, and the state requires that we have the truck available at all times.

Treatment must be immediate. Send someone for help but don't wait for it to arrive. Follow these steps:

1. Ask if the victim can speak. If the person can talk and cough effectively, do not interfere with victim's attempts to clear his or her throat. The victim who is unable to make a sound is probably choking and needs immediate help.

2. Strike the victim sharply, several times in rapid succession, between the shoulder blades with the heel of your hand. For an infant or small child, hold the victim upside down, bent over your arm while doing it.

3. If the throat remains blocked, use the Heimlich Maneuver. With the victim standing or sitting, wrap your arms around the person's waist from behind. Make a fist with one hand and place it, thumb side against the stomach, between the navel and rib cage.

4. Grab your fist with your free hand and press in with a quick upward thrust. Repeat several times, if necessary to dislodge the obstruction.

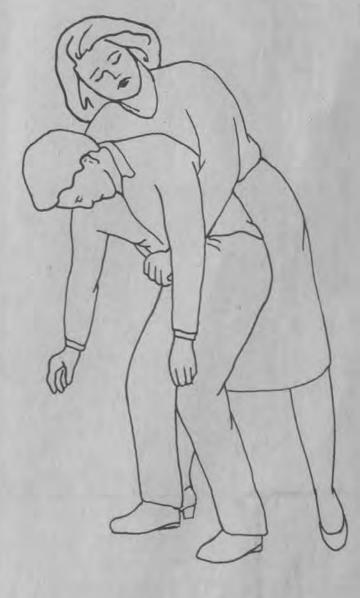

5. If the victim has fallen down and can't be lifted, turn the person on his or her back. Using the heel of one hand, press against it with the other hand into the spot below the rib cage. (If the victim vomits, turn his or her head to one side and clean out the mouth to prevent aspiration.)

6. If unsuccessful, repeat blows to the back and the Heimlich Maneuver.

7. When the food or other object pops out, let the victim rest, then get him or her to a doctor.

This poster provided as a community service by this hospital. It is not an official course in the maneuver, but it may come in handy if the need arises before you can get proper instruction

Coal Power Formed By UMWA Widows

Coal Power, an Ohio-based group of UMWA widows and pensioners, is organizing to protect the interests of widows in any future negotiations between the UMWA and the BCOA.

In an April 30 interview, Coal Power president Charlotte Walters said that the group has recently sent letters to both UMWA President Sam Church and to B.R. Brown requesting that a widow's representative be included in the bargaining talks. The group also made a trip to Washington D. C. on April 24 to discuss the issue with Church but were not able to meet with him.

The contract that was turned down by miners on March 31 contained language that for the first time would have provided pension benefits to widows of miners covered by the 1950 Benefit Trust. UMWA retirees receive their pensions under one of two plans, generally know as the 1950 Fund and the 1974 Fund for the years they were negotiated. Under the 1974 Fund, surviving spouses receive half benefits. Widows under the 1950 Fund presently receive no beneifts. The contract would have granted them $100 a month.

According to Church, the $100 benefit was obtained in exchange for elimination of the royalty on non-union coal. While Coal Power members condemn the elimination of the royalty, they want to make sure that the widow's benefit is not traded off in any future negotiations. Mrs. Walters stated that Coal Power has received letters which back their efforts to protect the 1950 widows from at least two UMWA locals and from the officers of UMWA District 6. They have also obtained the backing of the Grey Panthers and the National Organization of Women.

Interested persons can obtain more information by writing Coal Power, Box 421, Bellaire, Ohio 43906.

Japanese Group Performs On KET Bluegrass Series

Bluegrass music took its name from Kentucky, but its influence and popularity has spread beyond the borders of the state and nation.

On the next edition of KET's series "Kentucky Bluegrass: The McLain Family Festival," airing Thursday, May 21 at 10 p.m. on KET, the Japanese group, Appleseed, performs. Their appearance marks the second consecutive year the group has traveled from Japan to participate in the McLain Family Festival held each summer in Berea.

The five-member group, including female lead singer Sumiko Nakamura, adds its own interpretations to a variety of traditional bluegrass and country and western tunes. Program selections include "My Widow Faces South." "Rose Colored Glasses," "Blue Kentucky Girl" and "Will The Circle Be Unbroken."

Later in the half-hour, the Green Grass Cloggers of Asheville, N. C., demonstrate the intricate motions of a circle dance to the tune of "Sally Goodin" played by Buck White and the Down Home Folk

Our Fragile Earth

By DR. JERRY HOWELL Department of Biological and Environmental Sciences Morehead State University This installment continues a discussion of future energy sources, as detailed in a Time magazine article in mid-1979. Oil shale, tar sands and solar energy were summarized previously; biomass and coal conversion as sources of energy and geothermal steam for heat and electricity are discussed in this segment.

Biomass conversion, or the changing of formerly living material to energy, has reccently become popular because of the rising costs and scarcity of other materials. For example, wood fuel usage has grown sixfold since 1970, primarily because of its availability and the efficiency of the new stoves and furnaces.

But wood is not the only biomass fuel being used. Garbage, sugar cane, walnut shells, plant remains and manure, among other sources, have been used and other sources are undergoing experimentation. A poultry farmer cooperative in Arkansas is recycling 100 tons of chicken manure daily to produce over one million cubic feet of methane, equal to 12,000 gallons of gasoline, used to power automobiles converted to accept the natural gas. At least 16 plants burn garbage to produce electricity for cities such as New York, Chicago and Sacramento. The U.S. Department of Energy estimates that biomass now supplies one percent of the nation's energy

Converting coal to oil and gas is now new; Germany perfected a process in World War II and South Africa now produces 10 percent of its oil and gas from coal. Because the U. S. has just over a quarter of the world's known reserves of coal, this country is obviously prime experimental territory. Several pilot plants are operational

OSM Manual Helps With Permit Data

The Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining (OSM), Region II, has developed a manual designed to help coal mine operators get hydrologic and geologic data for their permit applicaitons.

"This Data Available Manual should save operators and others in the industry considerable time and expense as they go about compiling the hydrologic and geologic data they need to apply for a permit under the permanent program of the Federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act," said w. H. Tipton, deputy regional director of OSM's Region II in Knoxville, Tenn.

The permanent program will begin when the state attains primacy over enforcement of the Federal Act.

Personnel in the Small Operators Assistance Program (SOAP) in OSM's now and although coal conversion is expensive and the technology has not been perfected, it is expected to help curb future shortages. Its major drawbacks are that it simply inefficiently changes one fossil fuel to another and it has some associated environmental problems.

Geothermal energy exists in volcanoes, geysers and hot springs and can be tapped by sinking wells into their superheated water and steam reservoirs. In areas, such as Iceland, where these reservoirs exist near the surface, tapping the source is easy, but there are some basic problems. The reservoirs can be difficult to find, potential wells are often in or near wilderness or primitive areas, the steam is often not hot enough to efficiently turn turbines, and the reservoirs are near the surface in only a few areas.

One geothermal facility exists in California and supplies two percent of that state's electricity, at a cost of only two cents per kilowatt (compared to about $1,000 per kilowatt from coal). The facility's operating company, Union Oil, estimates that geothermal energy could provide 25 percent of California's electricity by 1990. Next: hydroelectric, wind and tidal power.

Receives Scholarship

Jeff Cowan, sophomore preengineering student at Prestonsburg Community College, has been named by the Engineering Department of the University of Kentucky as a recipient of a mining engineering scholarship made possible by the Kentucky Mining Engineering Scholarship Program. He is the son of Glen and Tevis Cowan, of Prestonsburg, and a 1978 graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

knoxville office have been developing data for the manual over the past several months. Although their primary intent was to assist small operators (those who produce less than 100,000 tons of coal a year), all size operations should find the information useful, Tipton said.

In addition to showing what information is available, the manual also tells operators how they can retrieve it from computer systems, he added.

Operators, engineers, consultants, and others may obtain copies of the manual by writing to OSM's Region II Office, 530 Gay Street, Knoxville, Tennessee 37902.

Also available from the Knoxville office is a Small Surface Coal Mine Operators Handbook which was prepared for OSM by the University of Delaware. The booklet was designed to help oeprators compare their operations with the requirements of the 1977 Federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Archer Park Board, Prestonsburg, Kentucky (Floyd County), at the park office on May 26, 1981, at 7:30 p.m., Eastern Daylight time, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read aloud for the furnishing of all materials and labor and performing all work as set forth by this Invitation for Bids, the Instructions to Bidders, the General Conditions of the Contract, the Specifications and Drawings prepared by Huffman & Burchett, Architects, Prestonsburg-Martin, Kentucky.

The work to be bid upon: Archer Park Racketball Facility, Prestonsburg, Kentucky

Proposal will be received as follows: Proposal No. 1, to include entire project

Plans, specifications and contract documents, may be examined at the following places: Builders Exchange of Louisville, Kentucky: Dodge Corporation of Knoxville, Tennessee, Charleston, W. Va., and Lexington, Ky.; and at the office of Hoffman & Burchett, Architects, Prestonsburg-Martin, Kentucky.

Copies of the documents, not to exceed two (2) sets, for the general contractors and his major subcontractors, may be secured from the architect, Hoffman & Burchett, Architects, upon payment of $50.00 per set, which payment will be refunded upon return of the plans, specifications, and other documents, in good condition, within ten (10) days after date of bid opening.

All subcontractors, material suppliers, and other interested parties, may obtain a full set of drawings and specifications for a total deposit of $50.00, made payable to Hoffman & Burchett, Architects, or they may obtain the necessary sheets required to estimate their work, upon payment of $5.00 per sheet of the drawings, which charge will include the corresponding section, or sections of the specifications.

Bids must be accompanied by a bid bond payable to the owner in an amount not less than five percent (5%) of the base bid.

Bids received after the scheduled closing time for the reception of the bids, will be returned, unopened to the bidders.

Documents available on or about May 5, 1981.

In the event an award is made and the successful bidder fails to furnish a satisfactory performance bond within fifteen (15) days after written notification of acceptance of the proposal, and fails to execute a contract for the construction of the work under the award, then the bid bond shall be forfeited as liquidated damages for such failure.

Notice of Requirement for Certifica-

Time Right To Kill Tent Caterpillars

Many of the trees lining Kentucky's roads and highways are showing traces of gray mixed with their spring green.

The gray is provided by the "tents" of the Eastern Tent Caterpillar, whose webs or tents are found in the forks of tree branches.

Richard Dorset, pest control specialist with the Kentucky division of forestry, said the caterpillar is likely to be found this time of year in cherry, peach, plum, apple or pear trees.

'The most common forest host for these caterpillars is the wild cherry tree," Dorset said. "Unlike the other fruit trees chosen by the caterpillars, these trees are rarely harmed by caterpillar infestations.

However, a large number of tent caterpillars can affect the size and amount of fruit produced by the blighted tree, he said. "They can affect the health of tree as well. If there are repeated infestations, they can kill the tree's limbs and branches," Dorset said

The most effective measures for controlling the tent caterpillars are destroying the tents while the caterpillars are inside or spraying them with pesticides containing sevin or diaziona, he said.

"If you are going to destroy the tents.

tion of Nonsegregated Facilities: Bidders are cautioned as follows: By signing this bid, the bidder will be deemed to have signed and agreed to the provisions of the "Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities" in this solicitation. The certification provides that the bidder does not maintain or provide for his employees facilities which are segregated on a basis of race, creed, color, or national origin, whether such facilities are segregated by directive or on a de facto basis. The certification also provides that he will not maintain such segregated facilities. Failure of a bidder to agree to the "Certification of Nonsegregated Facilities", will render his bid nonresponsive to the terms of solicitations involving awards of the contracts exceeding $10,000, which are not exempt from the provisions of the Equal Opportunity clause.

The proposals, including the bid bond, shall be in a sealed envelope, bearing the bidder's identification, addressed to the: Archer Park Board, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, and labeled in the lower lefthand corner: PRO-POSAL: Archer park Racketball Facility, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

Time of opening: 7:30 p.m.

The owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any formalities.

No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) days subsequent to the opening of the bids, without the con-4-29-41. sent of the owner.

be sure to go out in the early morning or late evening, when the caterpillars are inside." Dorset warned.

Tents may be as large as three feet across and may contain several hundred caterpillars, he said. "To be effective, sprays must be used directly on the caterpillar or on the foliage on which they feed, not on the webs," he explained.

The caterpillars have a six-week growing season which can cause moderate damage to trees and crops, forestry officials said.

Tent caterpillars initially live in their webs, but move out of the web to feed on tree leaves, Dorset said. "When they are fully grown, they leave the trees and enter the pupal, or noneating stage. At this point they crawl over just about everything looking for secluded hiding places," he said.

This may be the most vexing stage for people who come in contact with the caterpillars, according to Dorset. 'They crawl over walkways and walls in the search. When they have found a hiding place they spin yellowish cocoon.

Once inside the cocoon, the caterpillar turns into a small moth which will emerge during the summer to lay eggs for the next spring, Dorset explained.

"Right now is the best time to destroy tent caterpillars. Within the next two weeks they will begin to scatter and they'll be impossible to control until next spring," he said.

ERMALTACKETT FOR MAGISTRATE IN DISTRICT 4. (NUMBER 3 ON THE BALLOT)

There is no question that the most important part of a Magistrate's job is to build and repair roads in his district. As you know, road building and repairs have been deplorable in the last four (4) years under our present magistrate. The only repairs we have had, have been in the last few weeks leading up to this election. The reason for this has been a lack of concern and also a lack of know-how. This is why we need Ermal Tackett for Magistrate in District 4. He is the only man on the ballot with the experience and know-how to build and maintain roads. He has twenty (20) years experience at running heavy equipment of all kinds and building and maintaining roads in our area. Having worked for many years at construction work, Ermal Tackett knows what our needs are, and this is the only reason he is running for this office. He wants to serve the needs of our people and he has seen our roads deteriorate for these last few years to the point of utter despair for our people. We need to ask ourselves, do we want more of the same, or do we want someone we can talk to, call on at anytime and depend upon to take care of our needs. Ermal Tackett is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School, member of the Betsy Layne Boosters Club, and supports all sports and band activities in all the schools in our district. He is a friend to all our children and stands ready to help our people when they are in need. All equipment at his disposal will be used eight (8) hours a day, five (5) days a week for the people in District 4, not for just his family and friends. Ermal Tackett is centrally located so it will be much more convenient to serve the needs of the people.

We want to thank you for taking the time to read this column and we would appreciate your vote for Ermal Tackett and any other help you could give him.

May Is Proclaimed Older Americans Month

In conjunction with national observance of the Older American's Month, Floyd County Judge/Executive Bill Wells signed a proclamation declaring the month of May as Older Americans' Month in Floyd county.

To celebrate this occasion, Floyd County Senior Citizens are invited to attend a picnic Friday, May 22, at 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. at the Floyd County Park in Allen. Food, entertainment and games will be provided. A booth will be located on the picnic grounds to register Senior citizens for the Older Kentuckians Discount Program.

Arrangements for transportation can be made by contacting the following Senior Citizens Centers: George P. Archer Center, Prestonsburg, 886-6855; E. P. Grigsby Center, Martin 285-9573, and Wheelwright Center, Wheelwright 452-2179.

Local Government Economic Assistance Fund Proposed Use Hearing

A public hearing will be held by Floyd County at the Floyd County Courthouse Annex on May 22nd, 1981, at 2 p.m. for the purpose of obtaining written and oral comments of citizens regarding possible uses for the county's Local Government Economic Assistance Fund.

All interested persons and organizations in Floyd County are invited to the public hearing to submit oral and written comments on the possible use for these funds.

Any person, especially senior citizens, who cannot submit written comments or attend the public hearing but wish to submit comments should call the office of the County Judge/Executive by May 21, 1981, so that the county may make arrangements to secure their comments.

BILL WELLS County Judge/Executive Floyd County

Alternative Mortgage, Read Them Carefully, Says A.G.

What do you do after you have found that perfect house you always wanted? Simple, you secure a mortgage to pay for it.

However, with today's high interest rates, consumers are discovering the traditional fixed rate, fixed term, level payment mortgage is difficult to secure and can produce payments larger than the family budget will allow.

There are already alternative mortgages available to meet the needs of the consumer, builder and lender. These alternative methods of home financing are the flexible rate, graduated payment and shared appreciation.

"The terms of these mortgages are more complicated than the traditional mortgage that will best suit his or her needs before signing," noted Attorney General Steven L. Beshear.

Flexible rate mortgages permit the lender to raise or lower the interest rate during the life of the loan. There are two types of flexible rate mortgages-renegotiable-rate mortgages and variable-rate mortgages. The renegotiable-rate mortgages are issued for a term of three to five years at a specific rate. At the end of the specified period the mortgage can be renewed for another three to five years at a higher or lower rate. The lender is required to automatically renew the loan and give the borrower 90 days notice of changes in the interest rate. The unhappy homebuyer has the opportunity to seek more favorable interest rates with another lender.

The second type of flexible mortgage is the variable-rate mortgage. These mortgages are indexed to the rate lenders must pay for money they lend and can change as often as every six months. This type mortgage should not be used by anyone whose budget does not have room for a possible increase in housing outlay.

The graduated payment loans make it easier for first-time home-buyers to acquire a house. Monthly payments are lower initially and rise each year for five years and level off an amount higher than the borrower would pay for a standard, fixed-rate loan. For example, a $50,000 loan issued at 14 percent would cost the consumer $461 the first year compared to $592 with a fixed-rate loan. The amount rises annually until the monthly payment reaches $616.

The third type of mortgage is the shared appreciation mortgage which allows the borrower to lower the interest rate by an agreed-upon percentage in exchange for the same percentage of the house's appreciation when the house is sold. These mortgages are advantageous to young buyers enabling them to purchase more house than they could afford on the fixed-rate mortgage and advantageous to the elderly buyer who cannot afford big payments and who expect to own their house the rest of their lives.

However, one should be aware that a mortgage agreement of this type might state that the lender can collect his or her share of the appreciation after 10 years even if the house has not sold. Also the shared appreciation is a poor choice for the do-it-yourselfers. Home improvements done by a contractor can be subtracted from the total profit, but the most a do-it-your-selfer can deduct is the cost of the material. The value a homeowner adds through his own labors is shared with the lender.

"To prevent problems when purchasing a house, read the agreement very carefully and be sure you understand it thoroughly," emphasized Beshear.

If you have a consumer problem, contact the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

My Platform

- 1. I think that the Drug Problem should be taken care of. It's destroying our young generation. Think. Is your child or grandchild involved yet? Are you afraid some pusher will slip some drugs in their food or drink?
- 2. I want to see that churchmembers and followers can get to and from church, without fear of losing their lives, or being run over by some drunk.
- 3. I want the citizens of Floyd County to be able to lay down at night, at home, without fear of being robbed.
- 4. I'm for all labor organizations and unions. I have stood on the picket line many times. I am for the working men and women.
- 5. I am a candidate for Sheriff, for the citizens of Floyd county. I support the citizens.
- 6. No one will be beaten up by me, or my deputies. I want the young people to think of this. Floyd County belongs to you, the people. Respect me as Sheriff and I'll respect you.
- 7. The taxpayer is way overdue for law, law that will protect his business and home, while also checking them at night. I'll be there if you call me. Maybe before then. Thank you.

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Williams to Mr. Woodrow Jarrell, Jr., was solemnized at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 19, at the home of the bride at Cow Creek. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Woods. Miss Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tackett, and Mr. Jarrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Jarrell, all of Cow Creek The bride's attendants were Anita Woods, maid of honor, and brides-maids, Marie Jarrell, sister of the groom, Debby Reed and Charollett Burchett. Mr. Ercel Jarrell, brother of the groom, served as best man. Flower girls were Maxine Tackett, sister of the bride, and Linnie Jarrell, sister of the groom.

The bride is a freshman at Prestonsburg High School, and the groom is a 1979 graduate of Prestonsburg High.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, and after the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip. They are now residing at Cow Creek

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE THE GUARANTEE OF A 40% INCREASE IN YOUR SALARY AND BENEFITS IN THE NEXT 24 MONTHS?

That's what Highlands Regional Medical Center offered the union before they walked out.

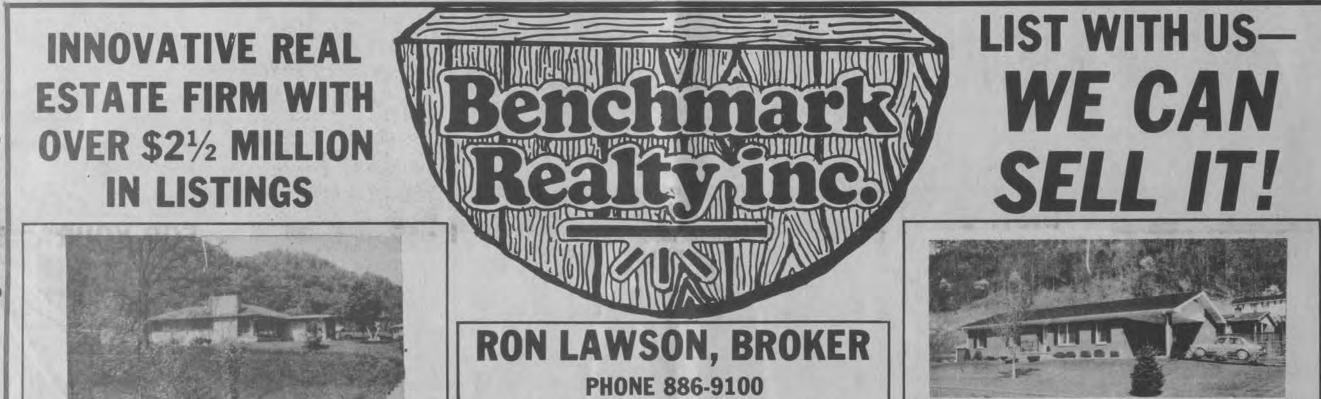

Our proposal will mean that in 24 months, by the time the third year of the contract begins, the lowest paid workers at Highlands Regional, those in unskilled positions who we must train, will make a starting salary of $9,400 a year. This is a total of $11,000 a year in salary and benefits. We think that is a very fair offer.

The union's demand calls for a 72.5% increase in salaries and benefits over the next 12 months.

To meet this unreasonable demand, your hospital bill would have to be increased by at least $65 per patient, per day. For us to agree to that would be irresponsible and would place far too great a burden on the community.

Rodney Holbrook, of Prestonsburg, was among 23 state police special enforcement officers to receive diplomas from State Police Commissioner Marion D. Campbell in ceremonies held last week to mark their successful completion of a specialized training program for KSP motor transportation inspectors, boating officers and park ranger personnel.

Holbrook, 24, has been a boating officer since June 1979 and is currently employed by the Water Safety Section of the KSP's Special Enforcement Divison. He is assigned to water patrol duties for the state police at Fish Trap and Dewey Lake.

A 1975 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, Holbrook also received a bachelor of science degree in police administration from Eastern Kentucky University in 1979. He is a member of the Floyd County Rescue Squad and a former Floyd County deputy sheriff.

The KSP's Water Safety Section is responsible for keeping the peace and enforcing state water safety laws and regulations on all of Kentucky's lakes and rivers.

Formerly an agency of the Department of Transportation, it was transferred into the state police last year under an executive order issued by Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. and placed in the KSP's Division of Security and Compliance. That division was recently re-named as the Division of Special Enforcement.

Other units within the Special Enforcement Division include the sections for vehicle enforcement, executive security, parks and facilities security.

GRETHEL NEWS

A mother-daughter tea was held at the Grethel Baptist Church apartment, home of Pastor and Mrs. Don Crisp, May 1 from 6-8 p.m.

Thirty-five were present and the special speaker was Mrs. Dawn

McKinney, wife of Pastor Edgar McKinney, of Stanville. Her message was, "The Contracts of the Godly Mother Versus the Ungoldy Mother." Mrs. Leila Lowe, of Broad Bottom,

Ky., sang 'Little is Much When God is in it,' and Mrs. Dawn McKinney sang, ''Remind Me, Dear Lord.''

The program also included opening prayer by Miss Eleanor Acker, and poems read were: "M-O-T-H-E-R" by Eileen Martin, "A Tribute to Mother," by Arietta Hall, "An Old-fashioned Mother," by Wanda Frasure, "If For girls" by Mrs. Christine Crisp, and "A Child," by Mrs. Rachel Collum.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: M & W Coal Company, Allen, Kentucky 40601, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 6.1 acres located southeast of Eastern in Floyd County. The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles southwest of State Route 80's junction with Turkey Creek Road, and located south of the Right Fork of Beaver Creek, latitude 37° 30' 47", longitude 82° 46' 38". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Creed Martin. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: an amendment to Permit 036-5069 for the surface disturbance of undergound mining. The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Prestonsburg Area Office, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-5069. Such objection or request must be in accordance with with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above. 1t.
