

School Board Action Is Sought Against Employees Using Drugs

A petition calling for firm school board action against any teachers or other school employees involved in illegal drug use was presented to the Floyd County Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting last Wednesday.

The petition, bearing 1258 signatures, asked of the board "immediate action to set up a definite policy against any teacher or employee in our school system who publicly advocates the use of any illegal substance, such as marijuana."

"We want to be assured that these persons not be allowed to continue teaching or influencing our children," said the petitioners, identified as "concerned parents of Floyd county."

Vietta Jones, of Banner, who presented the request to the board, emphasized that the signers were concerned about the public advocacy rather than the private use of illegal drugs by school employees. The petition urged, however, that even the use of drugs, marijuana specifically, be considered grounds for dismissal under a state law permitting dismissal of teachers for "immoral conduct unbecoming a teacher."

Board members responded warily to the petition. Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr. noting that the board could not adopt a policy that would "supersede" state law.

Pressed as to whether the advocacy or use of marijuana by teachers might be actionable under the law, Grigsby said he would refer the question to the board's attorney, Woodrow Burchett.

(In April, Sandy Boyd, then head teacher at Prater Creek grade school, publicly defended his use of marijuana. The teacher was earlier charged in district court here with supplying a Betsy Layne high school junior with marijuana, with instructions to sell it. A pre-trial hearing in the case has been set for August 6. Boyd resigned from the school system.)

The board also heard questions at Wednesday's meeting concerning a drug education program proposed for the coming school year. While Supt. Grigsby indicated that a program would be adopted at the next board meeting for implementation during the school year, Asst. Supt. Ron Hager advised the board that training teachers for the program could cost more than $200,000.

Grigsby told the board that, since federal cuts in the school system's Title I (remedial reading) program had been less than anticipated, some school board personnel would be restored to the program. Title I funds, which were expected to be cut by 25 percent, were in fact cut by 10 percent. Meeting in executive session, the board decided that five of the eight teachers and three of seven social workers transferred from the program would be restored to it.

The board hired Josten's, a Clarksville, Tenn. firm, to prepare the school annual for a second year, without increase in cost. In response to a question from the audience, Grigsby said the firm had agreed to provide stronger binding for the annual this year.

Hoffmann and Burchett, Martin architects, were retained to prepare (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

The uniformed men launch their specially-equipped boat by night. Once on the water, a powerful gasoline-powered generator is started and flood lights glare on the surface as the craft slips along the edge of the shoreline.

Holiday Marred As Two Wounded In Martin Fray

A July Fourth gunfight at close range marred the holiday celebration at Martin late Saturday night and sent two men to hospitals, both reported seriously wounded.

Joe David Stumbo, 29, of McDowell, was shot in the back and right side and is in a Huntington hospital. The shots which struck him are believed to have been fired from a .38-calibre revolver. His adversary, Joe Howard, 32, a C. & O. locomotive engineer, is in Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, with two bullets in his face and a third in his side. The weapon from which these shots were fired was said to be of .22-calibre. The two bullets to Howard's face struck him near either eye, according to State Police Detective Keith Scott, who is investigating the shoot-out.

The shooting took place around 11 p.m., in an area occupied by July 4 booths, and apparently in the presence of several persons. Detective Scott told Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen that he has not had an opportunity to talk to either of the wounded men.

"There was a lot full of people, and nobody saw anything," he commented. "There was some sort of argument between Stumbo and Howard, and both apparently had been drinking," he said.

Powder burns on one, or both, of the two men attested to the report that they fired at close range.

David Group Joins Mineral Rights Suit

The David Community Development Corporation has recently joined two other citizen groups in seeking to file a "friend of the court" brief in an Indiana land case to be decided by the U.S. Supreme Court.

At issue in the case is the constitutionality of an Indiana statute which provides that, where mineral rights have been severed from surface rights by the so-called "broad-form" deed, the mineral rights pass to the surface owner if the mineral owner fails to use the property over a period of 20 years. Under the law, the mineral owner is considered to be "using" the property as long as he is paying taxes on it.

By conservative estimate, according to the brief, title to the minerals underlying 90 percent of the land in this county is severed from the surface title by broad-form deeds.

Under existing Kentucky law, it is argued, it is impracticable and sometimes impossible for surface owners to secure title to abandoned mineral interests underlying their property. The effect is that "once (the mineral estate) is severed, that severance is perpetual whether or not mining activity takes place on the property or taxes are paid."

"This creates a perpetual cloud on the title of the surface owner even when the minerals have already been mined out," the brief contends. Noting that only mineral owners who do not pay taxes are affected by the Indiana statute, the citizen groups argue that non-payment of taxes and a restricted tax base in eastern Kentucky "(have) meant that essential public services are below average."

Moreover, the existence of abandoned mineral estates hinders development of the surface, since lenders are reluctant to invest—in housing projects, for example—on property from which the mineral rights have been severed.

The David citizens' group purchased 800 surface acres in David in 1975, in an area that has previously been mined. An attempt by the group last year to construct a 48-unit apartment complex there was thwarted, it is claimed, because of the group's inability to secure waivers from the 27 unknown owners of the mineral rights.

The Concerned Citizens of Martin County and Save Our Cumberland Mountains, a Tennessee-based citizens' group, are also seeking to join the suit. Motion to file the brief was prepared by John Rosenberg and David Rubinstein, of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund, a Prestonsburg-based legal services agency, and Candy A. Culin, representing Save Our Cumberland Mountains.

This Town...That World

We were reasonably safe and perhaps half sane on the Fourth. We worked. Didn't make the Eagle scream but, at that, did as much as if we had been free to whoop it up.

TROUBLE

If this newspaper puts in a belated appearance this week, you are hereby invited to join us in blaming, in varying styles of expression and degrees of intensity ranging from hot to hotter, that computer of ours that went on the blink, refused to compute and insisted on turning plain words into xx!! or something to that effect.

In a word, we've had our headaches, with not a pain-killer in sight.

CONFESSION

The first week of July is well along, as they say, and I am yet to set foot in a boat on Dewey Lake this year.

I miss the lake, just as I do baseball, but I find that neither is an absolute necessity. It would appear that we all are creatures of habit. Time was when, if I missed fishing at least one time a week, that week was a dead loss, might as well never have been, and I wandered around in sort of daze.

Now, the weeks slide by, I don't go fishing, and still I manage to survive. The truth is—and I am almost ashamed to tell it—I'm out of the habit.

That is not to say that I couldn't become addicted again. You might say I'm a lake-aholic. One visit back to well-remembered shore lines, to the sense of isolation you get there at times, and the magic of day's end on the water—one sip of that, and I'm hooked more solidly than any of the fish.

Rehiring of Two At Med Center Was at Issue

Highlands Hospital workers voted at a courthouse meeting last (Tuesday) night to accept a contract worked out in a bargaining session last week, ending their 105-day strike against the hospital.

The contract, which was approved by 140 votes to 43, provides wage-and-benefit increases of 50 percent over three years, more liberal vacation leave, and time-and-a-half for holidays, among other benefits.

Only five days ago, the hospital workers' union voted by a similar margin to reject the contract. A major sticking point at that time was the hospital's refusal to rehire two workers—Geneva Skeans and her sister, Gwen Calhoun—who were fired May 7. Skeans, a nurse's aide, and Calhoun, a ward clerk, were indicted by a grand jury for allegedly beating Helen Smith, a personnel assistant at the hospital, May 1.

Skeans had earlier been convicted of violating a circuit court injunction limiting the activities of pickets. Calhoun was also accused of striking a hospital security guard with a baseball bat.

Asked to rehire the women, the hospital agreed to submit their cases to arbitration, a compromise rejected last week by the union membership, which insisted that the two be rehired outright.

Last night's meeting voted to accept that arrangement, however, it was a decision that provoked angry outbursts from the two women and some of their supporters.

"The union has thrust us to the dogs. The union is busted," Calhoun said after the meeting.

Tom Woodruff, district president of the union, termed the new contract "a tremendous improvement." "We've moved from the Dark Ages at least to (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

16 of 91 Candidates File Primary Reports

If anything is to be learned from the financial reports which are supposed to be filed with the county clerk by candidates in the May primary, it is that comparatively few appear to take the reporting law seriously.

Of the 91 candidates who vied for office in this county, only 16—generally candidates for countywide office—filed the required three reports with the county clerk. The reporting deadline was June 25.

Candidates are required by law to list all campaign income and expenses; those contributing more than $100 are supposed to be listed individually.

Of the reports on file here, some fail to list total campaign expenses and others appear to report them erroneously. Only eight candidates list major contributors individually and, of those, few provide all the information required by law.

According to the information on file here, Jerry Lafferty, Jr., Democratic nominee for county judge-executive, ran the costliest race by far, spending $19,770.17. Lafferty listed $2500 in contributions from Minnie coal operator Paul Little, among other receipts. His nearest opponent, Dick Leslie, reported $7656 in expenses, and listed among contributions $3000 in loans from Dr. Larry Leslie.

Henry C. Hale, Democratic nominee for sheriff, reported $5062.91 in expenses, listing $1200 in contributions from Betsy Layne coal operator (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Frankie Gibson Pleads Guilty, Draws 4 Terms

Frankie Gibson, the Garrett man whose trial for the slaying last Thanksgiving Day of his brother, Grover, was scheduled to begin Monday entered a plea of guilty in circuit court here last Thursday and was sentenced to pen terms.

On the manslaughter charge he was sentenced to 15 years. Five-year terms were imposed on each of three counts of wanton endangerment involving a threat to the safety of other members of the victim's family when he fired into the Grover Gibson home. These terms are to run concurrently.

Richard Burmeister, assistant public defender, has filed a motion for a continuance beyond the August 3 trial (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Magoffin Flood Damage Heavy

Floyd county escaped a second flood in a period of weeks during the weekend, but its Emergency & Rescue Squad did not escape flood duty as neighboring Salyersville and Magoffin areas along the Licking River and tributaries suffered heavy damage.

Squad members were called to Salyersville Monday morning to assist with the evacuation of families from homes that had been flooded or were threatened by fast-rising water.

Between three and four inches of rain fell during Sunday night in that area, extending on into Morgan and Menifee counties.

Although Salyersville was the center of rescue activities, farmlands, roads, bridges and crops along smaller streams which empty into the Licking suffered heavier damage.

In Salyersville water rose about three feet in the business district, and perhaps 75 homes were flooded. Many others were evacuated as the water rose till Monday afternoon.

Salyersville Mayor Tim Bostic declared a state of emergency, early Monday, and state troopers joined National Guardsmen in maintaining a curfew.

Tobacco crops were among those destroyed. State Adj. Gen. Billy S. Wellman, who was in Salyersville an hour after Bostic had called on Governor Brown for help, was quoted as saying at least 30 homes in Magoffin county were swept from their foundations. He had made no estimate of the overall damage, Monday afternoon.

Congressman Carl D. Perkins early Monday called on President Reagan and Governor Brown to declare the flooded counties a disaster area. A similar plea after the flooding of parts of this county last month was fruitless, except for the offer of loans by the Small Business Administration.

ONE OF MANY impromptu dramas resulting from this week's flood in Magoffin county. Bob Reed and sons fight to save the bridge which led across Cow Creek to their home. They had ridden the span a mile downstream when photo was made.

U.S. Indictment Names Knott Co. Deputy Sheriff

Corruption within the Knott County Sheriff's Department was alleged Monday as a four-count indictment was filed in U.S. District Court at Pikeville charging Henry D. Hall, Knott county chief deputy, with violations of the Hobbes Act and accepting bootlegging payoffs.

A series of alleged violations were outlined in the indictment, dating from January, 1978, through April 30 of this year. During that period, according to the indictment, Hall conspired with Cleo Anderson and others, "known and unknown to the grand jury," to receive various sums of money from illegal sales of alcoholic beverages to conduct bootlegging operations in Knott county.

The indictment charged that Hall and other members of the Knott County Sheriff's Department selectively enforced bootlegging laws beginning in 1979. As an example, the indictment read that Hall allegedly directed a worker in the sheriff's department, on an unknown date, to warn Odis Clemons of an impending bootlegging raid on Buckingham Mountain. (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Bonds of Honakers Reduced; Regain Custody of Children

The pressures of early last week on Otto Honaker, of Tram, and his wife, Barbara, have eased.

At first held in jail here in default of $30,000 bond each, their bonds were reduced later in the week after a district court hearing to $5,000 each, and they were soon at liberty.

And, following a juvenile hearing Tuesday morning, the Honakers' three children were returned to their custody, subject to Child Welfare Department supervision.

Mr. and Mrs. Honaker were arrested on warrants alleging abandonment of their six-year-old daughter who had been reported locked in a deserted house near their home. The child and two other children of the family had been placed in foster homes by the Department for Human Resources after their parents' arrest.

Tackett-McKinney Vows Said

The marriage of Miss Denise Maureen Tackett to Mr. Shannon Ray McKinney was solemnized in a double-ring ceremony at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 23, at the Vogel-Day Methodist Church at Harold. The officiating minister was Bill Tackett, of East McDowell.

Roses were placed on either side of the altar and the arch was entwined with greenery secured by white satin bows. Flowers were also placed on the organ at which Miss Lora Hardwick, of Betsy Layne, played nuptial music, including the selections, "We've Only Just Begun," "Three Times A Lady," and "You Decorated My Life."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and sheer chiffon, fashioned with a chapel-length train in back. Her headpiece was a Chantilly lace band to which was attached a chapel-length veil of two tiers edged in matching lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, daisies, and baby's breath accented by long white satin ribbons.

During the ceremony, the bride presented a white Bible by her parents. Miss Tracey McKinney, sister of the groom, of Craynor, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of white nylon polyester with inlay of colors. The bridesmaids, Miss Yulema Deevon Tackett, Miss Althea Tackett, Miss Elona Gean Hamilton, of Craynor, all cousins of the bride, and Miss Linette Michele Tackett, sister of the bride, also of Craynor, wore similarly styled gowns of polyester organza over acetate. Each carried a long-stemmed rose with ribbons matching their gowns.

Gerry Lucas, of Prestonsburg, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Gilford Osborne, of Grethel, Timmy Tackett, of Harold, Jarrell Scott Hamilton, of Craynor, and Linlee Todd Tackett, of Craynor, cousin of the bride.

Emmit Bradley McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKinney, of Craynor, carried the bride's train, and the ringbearer was Rodney Chad Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tex Leon Hall, of Craynor. Both are cousins of the bride.

The flower girl was Miss Tina Yvette Tackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Namon Tackett, of Craynor, also a cousin of the bride, who wore a floor-length dress of white nylon acetate with inlays of colors matching those of the bridesmaids gowns. She carried a basket filled with pink rose petals and accented with pink ribbons.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tackett chose a full-length gown of rose silk with matching accessories. Mrs. McKinney, mother of the groom, chose a street-length dress of white with matching print jacket. Both wore orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Tackett, at Craynor. Hostesses were Mrs. Jeromia Dean Tackett and Mrs. Irene Tackett.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinney are residing at Craynor. Mr. McKinney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer McKinney, also of Craynor.

Election Battle Moves To Court

(From The Salyersville Independent)

The heated battle between Kay Martin Doyle and Marcus Mann for the democratic nomination for county attorney will move into the courtroom later this month as both sides try to prove the other guilty of illegal campaign tactics.

A full jury trial is set for Monday, July 13, in Magoffin County Circuit Court. Judge John Chris Cornett has disqualified himself from the case since Doyle is his niece. The case will be heard by special judge Calvin Manis of the Perry County Circuit Court.

Mann, who lost his bid for another term as county attorney to Doyle in the May primary, initiated the legal action in attempt to overturn the election results and have himself declared the winner. He charges Doyle with illegally securing votes through fraud and misrepresentation, particularly in the Bloomington, Ward II, and Lakeville precincts.

Mann requests that the court rule that the vote in Ward II and Lakeville, which Doyle won by a total of 95 votes, be thrown out. However, he asks that a new vote be held in the Bloomington precinct, which Mann won by 98 votes, since 40-75 persons were standing in line and not allowed to vote when the polls closed.

Mann claims that most of those unable to vote were his supporters. However, it is doubtful that had all these persons voted that Mann could have picked up enough votes to change the outcome. A partial survey by the Independent indicated that at least 25 percent of the persons known to have not voted are Republicans and could not have voted in the Doyle-Mann race. Doyle won the contest by 61 votes.

To have the court rule in Mann's favor, he must not only prove that Doyle is guilty of the alleged acts but also that he is innocent of any wrongdoing in attempt to secure votes.

Doyle has filed a countersuit to Mann's claims alleging that Mann did in fact violate the law in obtaining votes. Her suit charges that Mann "flagrantly violated all the provisions of the Corrupt Practice Act by actually giving his money to people for their support in the campaign namely in each and every precinct in Magoffin County, and that on numerous occasions he displayed $20 bills stating "that was the way to get votes."

Mann requests that the court rule that the vote in Ward II and Lakeville, which Doyle won by a total of 95 votes, be thrown out. However, he asks that a new vote be held in the Bloomington precinct, which Mann won by 98 votes, since 40-75 persons were standing in line and not allowed to vote when the polls closed.

Mann claims that most of those unable to vote were his supporters. However, it is doubtful that had all these persons voted that Mann could have picked up enough votes to change the outcome. A partial survey by the Independent indicated that at least 25 percent of the persons known to have not voted are Republicans and could not have voted in the Doyle-Mann race. Doyle won the contest by 61 votes.

No Conflict of Interest?

How can it be argued that there is no conflict of interest when W. T. Young serves the state of Kentucky as vice-chairman of the governor's cabinet and as deputy secretary of commerce, and yet retains his position as the largest stockholder in Humana, Inc., which recently won a tug-of-war with other hospital interests?

Humana, admittedly, is a leader in the field of hospital services. It may be needed in parts of Kentucky where it has not yet shown an interest (in Floyd county, for instance). But this does not justify the string of events (or coincidences, as some describe what has happened) that has resulted, at least in part, from the support thrown to Humana by this high-ranking member of Governor Brown's cabinet.

Humana sought state approval of its proposal to build a 170-bed hospital in Lexington. Despite the opposition of other hospitals there, which argue that the enlargement of their facilities would meet the needs of the public, and despite the opposition of the Department for Human Resources, Humana won.

Mr. Young was one of those who lobbied for Humana. The State Certificate of Need and Licensure Board barely approved the new hospital, by a 7-6 vote.

That was followed last week by Governor Brown's moratorium on hospital expansion in Lexington and Louisville. His expressed interest in hospital facilities for smaller cities and parts of Kentucky that have been neglected is encouraging, but his expansion "freeze" till December, 1983 incidentally killed off the plans of hospitals such as St. Joseph and Good Samaritan in Lexington to build on more space for needed acute care beds.

Perhaps the Humana victory and the freeze on competing hospitals were coincidental, as Dr. Grady Stumbo has said, but it would have been more so to the ordinary citizen, had not Humana's heaviest stockholder been so prominent in state government and so active in the effort behind the big winners in the struggle.

date set for Denver Patrick, one of three men arrested in the Wayland insurance murder plot in which James Neimi was the victim. Attorneys for both the defense and the Commonwealth will meet today (Wednesday) in Danville with Judge Henry Pennington, regular judge of the 50th judicial district who was designated special judge to preside in the trial of Patrick. Pennington was named special judge after Circuit Judge Hollie Conley had disqualified for the trial. No reason was given for Judge Conley's disqualification.

Before disqualifying, Judge Conley granted a defense request that Patrick be taken to the forensic section of Central State Hospital, Louisville, for psychological examination. The order was entered June 26, and this examination provided the basis for the motion for a continuance of the trial.

It was pointed out by the defense that Central State has a waiting list of 48 and that the average stay there for an examination such as Patrick will undergo is 28 days and, consequently, cannot be completed in time for the August 3 trial.

plans for the reconstruction of classrooms at McDowell High School. Money to repair the classrooms, damaged by flooding last year, was recently authorized by the state School Building Authority.

Jack Music, representing the Auxier Community Development Club, asked for school board assistance with a club project proposed for the Auxier grade school. Music said the club plans to build change and restroom facilities for the ballfield, using Job Corps labor.

"If we can help, we will," board member Dr. J. D. Adams told Music. Bids on school supplies for the coming year were discussed but a final decision on awarding contracts was postponed until the board could hear recommendations from Volney Allen, the schools' maintenance supervisor, and Ned Bush, health coordinator.

As anticipated, the board hired Jack Stanford, former Breathitt High School coach, as head basketball coach and assistant principal at Prestonsburg High. Other teachers hired were: Janet Kidd Akers, chemistry teacher at Betsy Layne High School, to replace Joe H. Cooley, who resigned, and Janice W. Mitchell, elementary teacher at John M. Stumbo school.

Also hired were Ina J. Hensley, Brenda Sue Johnson and Marguerite Fannin, special education teacher aides; Gary Branham and Rita Dye, regular bus drivers; and Linda Porter and Pauline Woods, part-time summer cooks.

Deputy Hall allegedly refused to enforce or failed to enforce alcoholic beverage laws as they pertain to dry and local option territories in 1979-1981, according to the indictment which also charged that Hall and Anderson visited the home of Douglas McArthur Conley on Rockfork to discuss the matter.

The indictment read that on six to eight dates Hall received from $125 to $200 from bootleggers in return for protection and the privilege to continue to sell illegal beverages in the county, and charged that on 20 different dates between January 1979 and December 1980, he received sums of money from Haskell "Gib" Hall, of Mousie.

The indictment further alleged that on January 12, 1980, Hall had a conversation with Nero Patton and Harry Wicker, a former sheriff's deputy, discussing the possibility of establishing a bootlegging operation. Wicker was acting at the request of federal agents, it was said.

A Warning To Others

I am writing this hoping it will help someone else not to be fooled and cheated.

Recently a man came to my trailer just as I arrived home from a morning of vacation Bible School. He said he would like to paint my trailer roof. He said he had paint left over from another job and it needed to be used. The labor would be free. I would only need to pay for the paint. When he was up on the roof he said it would take two coats. I asked him not to put two coats on it as I couldn't afford it. He was finished in 25 minutes. Then he told me it took 12 gallons of paint. My roof is only 12 X 53. I knew it didn't take 12 gallons, as I had it painted before. I told him so. Then he said I had to put two coats on it. I reminded him I told him not to put two coats on it. He said, I made a mistake. The end result was, I paid him $105. He wanted $175. I still paid him too much. Three gallons of paint covers my roof. He charged me for seven. A neighbor let him paint his roof. His roof is smaller than mine. He charged him $180. The name he gave me is Jim Sherlock. He drives a tan pickup truck. He uses a sprayer. So beware.

the Middle Ages," he said. "Hopefully, next time we'll move into the modern era."

Hospital workers will now earn a minimum of $3.80 an hour and all present employees will be earning at least $4.18 by next July, Woodruff said.

Workers will receive two percent longevity increases after two, five and eight years' service and three percent increases after 11 and 14 years.

The 50 percent wage-and-benefit increase won in Tuesday's contract represents a compromise between the 40 percent originally offered by the hospital and the 70 percent sought by the union.

About 280 members of Local 1199 of the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees went on strike March 25. The workers, about 80 percent of whom are women, cited a lack of retirement benefits and a seniority system and also claimed that 75 percent of them earned only the national minimum wage of $3.35 an hour.

The 137-bed hospital has remained open, operated by about a third of its normal staff, but daily occupancy has been down to about 20 to 30 patients throughout the strike.

Assails Buckley Petition

Recently I received a petition from John S. Buckley, Public Advocate, Washington, D. C., asking me to sign and return it along with a contribution to help abolish the Department of Education. I was aghast at the untruths concerning our public schools that this man is sending across the nation to unsuspecting citizens. I was also angered, knowing that I have a son and daughter-in-law who are both dedicated teachers in the public school system as well as faithful workers in the church. I was also angered because I had spent all the years my children were growing up being in the P. T. A. and helping in whatever way I could to improve the public school system, not abolish it. In fact, to put it mildly, when I received the above-mentioned Petition I was "steaming". So, in order to keep from "blowing a gasket," so to speak, I thought it better to write a few letters and send them where hopefully they might do some good and thus let a little steam off gradually.

I, for one, do not believe that our schools are teaching that homosexuality is normal and "free love" permissible, nor that our schools are planning to have Lesbian Clubs, as this supposedly "public advocate" is suggesting they are doing. It is possible that in some large school districts there may have crept in "ultra liberals" who would try to institute such teachings, but I certainly have heard nothing of this nature in our own area or in the State of Kentucky for that matter.

Instead of blaming the public school system, we should become acquainted with the problems confronting the school officials and let our school board members and our superintendent know how we feel on the various issues and try to work with them, not against them, for the betterment of the schools. We as parents and interested citizens are welcome to visit the schools and observe what is being taught and how it is being presented. I did so many times when my children were growing up and so noted the needs of the schools and the problems with which the teachers were confronted, and in so doing I not only answered my own questions about my child's education but it proved to the teacher and to my child that I cared. Then I went to work through the P.T.A. to help in whatever way I could.

We all realize that our schools have problems, oftentimes financial and many times disciplinary, the latter usually caused by lack of parental guidance in the home. When children are brought up to respect their parents and the rights of others and taught that school is the place to learn and not a place to "goof off," then teachers and school officials will have fewer problems and our young people will grow into mature, responsible adults. Remember that even before our public school teachers become acquainted with our children, we have already had the little ones approximately six years in the home, which, according to psychology, is the most important training period in a child's life. So, please don't blame our schools for what we as parents have failed to do. We can't expect miracles from a teacher with a room full of our mistakes.

If our public school system is abolished, what do we have as an alternative? I can think of absolutely no advantage a private school might have over public education except possibly smaller classes and more individual attention. Our public schools might also have that advantage, in fact it was asked for by our State Superintendent during the last Legislature, if we would be willing to set aside more of our tax money for education, knowing that our children are our hope for tomorrow.

Now you can readily see how Mr. Buckley's Petition "set me off". I would hope that if anyone reading this letter has received such a Petition, he or she would please toss it into the garbage can where it rightfully belongs.

Floyd Humane Soc. Advises Added Pet Care During Summer

With summer being the traditional time for vacations and a variety of other outdoor activities, pet owners should take extra care that their animals are being properly watched and cared for during this time, advises the Floyd County Humane Society.

"This is the time many of us go places—boating, swimming, the annual vacation—and pets are often left in basements or similar places," a spokesman for the Society pointed out. "We want to urge everyone to be sure that someone looks out for the pet while the owner or family is away."

The Society also stressed the dangers of leaving pets in cars for extended periods of time during hot weather and urged owners to provide for some ventilation when leaving the vehicle.

By DR. JERRY HOWELL

(This installment is a reprint of an article that originally appeared during the week of January 30, 1978. It is being reprinted because of its timeliness.)

The last article discussed some comments made by William K. Reilly, President of the Conservation Foundation, in an October, 1977 presentation to the Appalachian Regional Commission's Conference on Balanced Growth and Economic Development. Although generally optimistic, Mr. Reilly cautioned the audience to be wary and learn from past mistakes. He advised against absentee landowners and investment companies, presently an Appalachian reality.

Environmentally, Mr. Reilly said that the predicted increase in coal production will cause a substantial increase in Appalachian air pollution. He advised against lowering regional air quality standards because this would tend to make the impact greater. He said emphasis should be placed on desulfurizing coal before and during the burning process.

He observed that Appalachian timber resources could eventually be as important as coal and that because 60 percent of Appalachian land is forested, proper timber management practices must be put into effect now to meet the increased demand for wood products in the future. Timber, pulpwood and veneer stock trees are now lagging behind their potential simply because of the land ownership pattern. Two thirds of Appalachian forested land is in privately owned parcels of less than 50 acres. Because of this checkerboard pattern and the existing marginal economic potential for wood products, little interest in forest improvement practices can be generated among small landowners, especially when the final crop may not be harvested for thirty or forty years.

Reilly's thesis is that small woodlots should take over most of the region's timber production, leaving national forests the freedom to provide other services, such as recreation and wildlife conservation. One way to accomplish this objective is to increase the number and quality of forestry programs geared to the private landowner. He advocates an increase in cost sharing programs, tax breaks for forest improvements, and allowing the price of timber to rise to its real market value. The latter recommendation hinges on the willingness of public forest managers, primarily the U.S. Forest Service, to stop harvesting high percentages of mature sound trees, thus saving some for future years. This would increase the cost of quality lumber, but the resultant increase in economic potential would provide an incentive for small landowners to properly practice forest management. Of course, the issue is more complicated than Mr. Reilly discloses, primarily because of the method's inefficiency and the possible loss from timber decaying on the stump, but his suggestion does deserve discussion.

Conservation Essay Poster Contests Set

"Fish and Wildlife Management in my Community" will be the subject of the 1981 Conservation Essay Contest and the 1981 Jim Claypool Conservation Poster Contest sponsored by The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times.

The annual competitions, open to all Kentucky elementary and high school students, may be the largest conservation-oriented contests for school children in the United States. In 1980 over 45,000 essays were written on "Trees and My Community." More than 52,000 posters were made on the subject.

The essay contest is in its 38th year, and over 1.5 million essays have been written by students on various conservation subjects since its inception. This will be the ninth year for the poster contest which is open to students in grades one through six. In it, students are asked to make original posters with the subject of the competition as the theme of the posters. Awards of $175 in U.S. Savings Bonds will be awarded to three state winners by the two Louisville daily newspapers. Winners in 121 Conservation Districts will receive plaques.

In the essay contest, students in grades seven through twelve are asked to write essays of no more than 1,000 words. The top award winners—121 district winners and three state winners—will receive $6,850 in savings bonds from the Louisville newspapers.

Co-sponsors of the contests, along with The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, are the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts and the Kentucky Department of Education. The 1981 competition will begin in September. Detailed information and reference material for the two contests will be sent to principals of all schools in Kentucky at that time.

Three Keys To Successful Aging

Three factors—perceived good health, economic security, and a spouse of perceived equal physical capability—predict more than anything else feelings of well-being and optimism after age 60.

The well-being of the over-60 population depends more on perceived physical and financial health and a spouse of perceived equal physical capability than on age, contact with other family and friends, organized recreation or government handouts.

The findings, from a study sponsored by the Americana Healthcare Corporation, show that a majority of those 60 years of age and older have annual household incomes of $8,000 or more. Almost three-quarters of them, however, say that spiraling inflation is making their money worthless and life difficult.

Money Squeeze

Nearly all of the people in the study say they are suffering from increasing financial pressures due to today's inflationary economy; only eight percent claim to be completely unaffected by inflationary pressures.

Such pressures (along with lack of a spouse of perceived equal physical capability), are second only to health as a determinant of overall feelings of well-being among the aged.

Almost all senior citizens are feeling an economic crunch; more than two-thirds tend to see a bleak financial future. For every person reporting an improved financial status last year, more than four say that their personal financial situation worsened.

Although economic pressures are putting the squeeze on the vast majority of senior citizens, they are not cutting back on medical or dental care or good nutrition. But they are looking for lower prices and lesser quality in the supermarkets.

Strong Self-reliance

Regardless of their personal financial condition, most of those 60 years of age and older ignore many available ways to stretch their incomes through federal and local government assistance, professional counseling and reinvestment of assets.

Only one of every 10 older persons questioned says he or she applied for food stamps, disability or other government funds last year. The reason, the study suggests, may be the strong sense of self-reliance expressed by most of the elderly surveyed.

Most senior citizens imply that they feel self-sufficient, independent and reluctant to turn to government or community programs not only for financial aid, but even for companionship and recreation.

These feelings, the study says, appear to reflect a broad lack of confidence in government. Three-quarters of the senior citizens participating in the study say that the federal government wastes a lot of tax dollars and is run by a few big interests who look out only for themselves.

Of those worried about their finances, two-thirds say that the government is doing a poor job in attending to the needs of the elderly.

Sixty-two percent of those contacted doubt that the people running the government know what they are doing. And more than half do not think that government can even be trusted to do what is right.

Other Key Findings

- Chronological age is not a factor in determining a sense of well-being and optimism.

- Widows as a group have the most difficulty coping.

- Senior citizens watch no more television than people in general; the majority watches three hours a day or less.

- Nearly three-quarters report not participating in any organized groups or social organizations.

- Senior citizen enthusiasm is high, however, for individual special interests and hobbies. More than four-fifths direct their creative energies to such pastimes.

- Those with more education tend to report much better health and economic security.

Overall, the study finds that one out of every five noninstitutionalized senior citizens are "casualties" of the complexities of daily living and the particular difficulties that accompany aging. More than half are "survivors." And nearly three out of 10 are "enjoyers" of their old age.

But senior citizen women, the study reveals, are doing far less well than the men. Although they outnumber men in their age group nearly three to two, they make up three out of four of the "casualties," 61 percent of the "survivors," and only 46 percent of the "enjoyers."

Women, according to the study, are more likely to be widowed and generally report lower financial assets and much lower income than men in their age group; both these factors work severely against feelings of well-being.

The "casualties" of aging, 20 percent of all senior citizens, are those hardest hit by the difficulties of old age, according to the study. They are undergoing the aging process without any of the positive supports required for high morale.

"Mountain Tales" In New Recording

Roadside Theater and June Appal Recordings have produced a record of Appalachian stories and music called "Mountain Tales." The stories are especially for children—and anyone else who enjoys hearing tales of giants, narrow escapes, fantastic journeys, and rousing adventures. The tales on the record were collected in eastern Kentucky and southwest Virginia and some of them came directly from the families of Roadside Theater members. Roadside Theater tells the tales in its unique storytelling style. Some of the tales on the album are: "Fat or Lean," "Jim Wolfe," "Fat Man," and "Cat and Rat." There is also fiddle and banjo music between the stories, and featured on jaw harp is Jack Wright with a rendition of "Thousand Legged Worm."

"Mountain Tales" has received air play on the radio everywhere from Knoxville to Detroit, to Santa Cruz. The record and an interview with Angelyn DeBord, a Roadside Theater storyteller, was recently featured on National Public Radio's "All Things Considered." The record with an interview will soon be featured on N.P.R.'s other popular show, "Morning Edition."

(The tales are next scheduled for performance in Prestonsburg, July 9.)

Roadside Theater and June Appal Recordings are both a part of the arts and educational organization, Appalshop, Inc. in Whitesburg, Kentucky and Norton, Virginia. Roadside Theater is partially funded by the National Endowment for the Arts, the Virginia Commission for the Arts, the Kentucky Arts Commission, and the Lyndhurst Foundation.

THE CARNIVAL WAS IN TOWN through the July Fourth holiday, complete with spinning rides, games you knew you couldn't win but played anyway, "spook" houses you knew wouldn't be at all scary but blew half a dollar on, and a staggering variety of junk food you knew you shouldn't eat but just couldn't pass up. All of it, combined with the mingled smells of sawdust and cotton candy, was enough to evoke childhood memories in the most "grown up" of adults.

Ky. Lake Pow-Wow Slated July 11-12

With war hoops and war paint, the third annual Kentucky Lake Indian Pow-Wow will take place July 11 and 12 at the Two Warriors Arena, on Highway US-641, 2½ miles south of Kentucky Dam in western Kentucky.

More than 40 Indians from the Apache, Comanche and Kiowa tribes of western Oklahoma are expected to perform during the Pow-Wow. "The participants will be in full ceremonial dress as they do traditional songs and tribal dances such as the Blackfoot, war, friendship, harvest and more," said Nita Ewing, executive secretary of Kentucky's Western Waterland, which, with the Two Warriors Gift Shop, is sponsoring the event.

Ewing added that Wi-Chi-Wa-Ja-Teki, world champion Indian war dancer for the past seven years, will be featured during each of the four two-hour presentations.

Performances on both Saturday and Sunday begin at 2 and 8 p.m. Pre-school children are admitted free of charge.

More information may be obtained by writing Kentucky's Western Waterland, Route 1, Grand Rivers, KY 42045 or calling (502) 362-4282.

Scott-Taylor Re-Union

The fifth anniversary of the Scott-Taylor reunion was observed at The Pine's Recreation Center, Jenny Wiley State Park, under the supervision and planning of Mrs. Billie Jean Blackburn Osborne, Saturday, June 27. Approximately 100 descendants of the unions of Angeline Lowe and Garfield Scott, Angeline Lowe Scott Taylor and Wallace Taylor, Wallace Taylor and Mary Burchett honored their ancestors, with Charles E. Spears, Master of ceremonies and comments from the Scott side of the family given by Fon Scott.

A questionnaire, prepared by Cheryl Blackburn Meade, revealed the names of the children of the three unions as follows:

Children of Angeline and Garfield Scott were Mrs. R. L. (Dixie) Taylor, Mrs. Arthur (Byrd) Hale, Thomas E. Scott, Orrison Scott, Sr., Ben Scott and Walker Scott, all deceased.

Children of Angeline Scott Taylor and Wallace Taylor: England Clinton, Mont, Burley and Elmon Taylor (all deceased), Mrs. Woody (Eliza) Blackburn, Mrs. Andrew (Elizabeth) Spears, Mrs. Bertha Cornette and John Taylor.

The one child of the union of Wallace Taylor and Mary Burchett Taylor is Mrs. Tom (May Taylor) Thompson.

Five members of the Taylors are living and four were present at the reunion: Eliza and Elizabeth (twins); Bertha and May (John was not able to attend). The widows of Clinton (Jettie) and Burley Taylor (Louisa) were present.

Thanks to God for everything that was offered by Clarence by Clarence Scott. A picnic dinner was enjoyed by all present.

A moment of silent prayer was observed for Keither Blackburn (son of Octavia), who had two days previously undergone heart surgery and he and his family were absent for the first time of the five years that the Reunion had been held.

5 Prayer and thanksgiving were offered for family blessings and enjoyment and visiting. Visiting, catching up on family, and eating comprised the remainder of the day.

A collection was taken to take care of the fee for the use of the Pine's Recreation Center (formerly the Girl Scout Camp Chatterawa), and the majority voted to ask for the reservation of the Recreation Center for the fourth Saturday in June, 1982, further plans to be announced by Mrs. Billie Jean Osborne.

"KNOW YOUR BIBLE"

IS THERE ANYTHING IN A NAME?

Last week we learned, when one studies the Bible and obeys the Gospel, he becomes a christian.

There is a three-fold purpose in the names God has given us to wear: (1) In them Christ and God are honored. "But if a man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God in this name." (I Peter 4:15) Human names honor men and organizations, while the name Christian honors the Lord. (2) In Bible names there is unity. A trail of division and discord has come with the use of denominational names. But no follower of Christ objects to the name Christian, so why not wear it alone? It would not be possible to unite all men under the name of any man, whether it is found in or out of the Bible, but under the name of Christ we can all be one! (3) The name Christian is an honorable name. (James 2:7). this is why Paul persuaded men to be Christians. (Acts 26:28). The church is the bride of Christ. (Eph. 5:26-27). The bride rejoices to honor the name of her husband by wearing his name alone!

JW Theatre Director Shea Finds Work Hectic, But a Challenge

As the curtain went up for the 1981 Summer Season at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre Wednesday evening, Artistic Director Maureen Shea finally got time to breathe.

She no longer has to contend with the problems of casting the theatre's 22 actors in the show's 60 roles, or with the difficulties of trying to deal with the show's complicated staging. She is free from the problems of trying to work out the strict rehearsal schedules that are necessary to do such a show.

But, Maureen has begun it all over again with rehearsals for the Jenny Wiley production of OKLAHOMA!

Although some might think that this type of work schedule is a gruesome form of punishment, Maureen does not see it that way at all. Instead, it represents a challenge for her to overcome.

For example, when she was asked how she was able to handle the problem of having one-third of the number of actors needed to fill all the roles in GEORGE M!, she said that the solution was simple: "quadruple casting." That is, she assigns some lucky actor with the rather tough assignment of playing up to four roles throughout one performance.

"That's a little crazy," Maureen said. "It's a matter of trying to remember who has a costume change, when they have the change, and when they appear as a major character so that they can come on later and not be recognized as the previous character."

Thus far, she said, her staging of the show using this "quadruple role" system has gone fairly well, with only "one or two actors" finding that they have been staged into two places at one time.

The other major challenge she has faced with GEORGE M! is that it was really written to be performed on a regular indoor stage, with conventional backdrops, movable scenery and a curtain. Because the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre is an outdoor theatre, those conveniences are not available.

"What we have had to do is actually rewrite some of the scenes so that we don't need the drops and curtain," she said. "We have had to try to move some things around to make the show work better outdoors."

Maureen's background makes her well suited to take on the challenges that are offered by this summer's productions. A native of Boston, she is currently a professor in the Theatre department at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Virginia. She obtained her doctorate in Theatre from Ohio State University.

Throughout her career, she has directed production of DRACULA, PICNIC, A VIEW FROM THE BRIDGE, and many more.

Her most impressive credits, however, come from the Eugene O'Neill Theatre Center in Waterford, Conn., where, each year, the National Playwright's Conference is held. Maureen's work in directing there has received glowing comments from critics from The Detroit Free Press, The Philadelphia Bulletin and The New York Post.

An example of Maureen's work at its best came at last year's conference with her staging of Sybille Pearson's new play A LITTLE GOING AWAY PARTY. Pearson, the author of SALLY AND MARSHA, a new show scheduled to open on Broadway sometime this fall, was quite impressed with Shea's work.

She was so impressed that when the chance came to negotiate for the production of A LITTLE GOING AWAY PARTY in New York, either on Broadway or Off Broadway, Pearson would only enter into negotiations on the condition that Maureen Shea be permitted to direct the production.

Maureen's co-workers are equally lavish with their praise for her work. Tony Distler, who is directing the Jenny Wiley production of GODSPELL and THE ROAR OF THE GREASE-PAINT-THE SMELL OF THE CROWD, calls her "extremely talented."

Sheriff-Preacher's First Revival Under Way at Home Br. Mission

There was a time when this peace officer was deeply interested in getting confessions from the guilty. He is more interested than ever in guilty pleas but for another reason.

For Doug Lewis, sheriff of Floyd county, is perhaps the only sheriff in the United States who is a preacher. His conversion took place after he had taken office, succeeding his father, Joe Wheeler Lewis, as sheriff. Since that date he has become more and more deeply involved in the work of his church, Benedict Baptist Chapel on Cow Creek, and by invitation has preached at other Baptist churches in the county.

Monday evening, this week, Sheriff Lewis began his first revival. He is the preacher at Home Branch of Buffalo where a revival will continue this week through Friday.

The revival and the vacation Bible school, which began Monday morning, are sponsored by Fitzpatrick Baptist Church, of the Middle Creek road, near here. That church assumed responsibility for Sunday School and worship services at Home Branch, a year ago.

Dr. Roger Jurich, of the Fitzpatrick congregation, heads the work there and when no minister is available leads the church worship. "I act simply as a speaker, since I am not a preacher," Dr. Jurich explains.

The vacation Bible school at Home Branch is particularly well-staffed this week, since 22 members of Lyndon Baptist Church, Louisville, are there to help.

Risner Reunion

The annual Risner reunion will be held Sunday, July 19 at the Salyer Elementary School on Route 7, Royalton. There will be a covered dish luncheon and special activities for children. Anyone related to the Risners is welcome to attend. For more information contact either Paul Risner (606-254-6060), or Mrs. Denver Risner (606-358-4560).

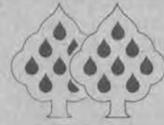

GO TO LOUISVILLE

Mrs. Eva Collins and her granddaughter, Miss Savannah Wills, accompanied Mrs. Collins' sister, Mrs. G. W. Merritt, and Mrs. Merritt's granddaughter, Miss Susan Frances Heston, of Louisa, to Louisville last week when Miss Heston represented Lawrence county in the Miss Kentucky pageant. She was sponsored by the Louisa Junior Women's Club.

SAVE 50⁰⁰ TO 75⁰⁰ ON ALL REFRIGERATORS AND FREEZERS DELIVERED FREE

Deepfreeze FOOD FREEZER made only by Amana.

The Finest Name in Chest Freezers ... with the quality and dependability you expect from Amana.

The Counterbalanced, Self-Aligning Lid — once raised, it stays up and out of the way until you are ready to close it. And the lid re-aligns itself everytime you close it. That means there are no costly air leaks that cause temperatures to fluctuate and result in longer compressor running time.

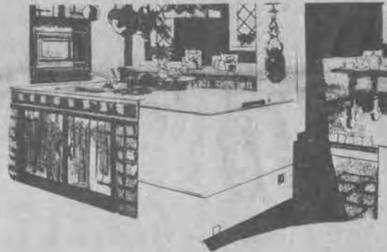

Textured Steel Exterior — on lid and cabinet adds the elegant look of leather. Also helps hide fingerprints and minor scratches. It's a softer, warmer look that lets your Amana freezer blend with any decor.

Zero Degree Storage Temperature — the best for storing frozen food, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Freezing coils wrap back and forth and completely around the food storage liner (even the liner bottom) to insure food is on or near a prime freezing surface.

Efficient Foam Insulation — Amana surrounds the food storage area with efficient urethane foam wall insulation instead of fiberglass. Urethane foam has greater insulating properties than an equal thickness of fiberglass. Leaves more space for food storage.

Available in Capacities to Fit Your Needs — Available are six fully featured Amana Deepfreeze chest freezers with capacities from 7.2 cubic feet to a giant 28.0 cubic feet. All models reflect careful attention to detail and quality craftsmanship that are hallmarks of Amana products.

The Kitchen Freezer — There can be big advantages to having your freezer "finger-rip" close when you are preparing food. Amana Deepfreeze chest freezers, with their standard countertop height, textured steel exterior and beautiful Amana-acrylic enamel finish, can put extra frozen food storage space in your kitchen, and add beauty plus valuable counterspace. The Amana Deepfreeze chest freezer ... an ideal kitchen companion.

Penalties Imposed On Mine Violations

Civil penalties levied in May and June by the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection for violations of state surface mining and reclamation requirements totaled $1.1 million.

Penalties were levied against four coal companies and three individuals.

In orders filed with the department's Office of General Counsel, the largest penalty, $399,000, was assessed against Geary Brothers Coal Co., of Owensboro. The company's $26,250 bond on the Butler county site was also ordered forfeited.

The company was fined for failure to backfill and grade the site, improper topsoil handling, failure to properly construct a haul road and for contamination of topsoil with toxic materials.

Big Delta Minerals, Inc., of Hartford, was assessed a $100,000 penalty for violations on its 148-acre mining site in Ohio county. The company was fined for failure to backfill and grade the site, removal of reclamation equipment prior to completion of reclamation, and violation of surface-mining regulations and statutes.

The mining company and its owner, Jerry Driskell, were also barred from engaging in further mining activities in Kentucky.

A civil penalty of $100,000 was levied against Rope Coal Corp. of Williamsburg, for surface mining violations on its 12-acre site in Ohio county. The corporation was fined for failure to backfill and grade, removal of reclamation equipment prior to completion of reclamation and seeding and mulching activities.

Rope Coal's performance bond of $16,500 was also ordered revoked and applied to site reclamation costs.

Mideastern Construction and Coal Corp., of Corbin, was assessed a $15,000 penalty for alleged failure to complete reclamation of its 50-acre Laurel county mining site. The corporation's $25,000 bond was also ordered revoked and applied to site reclamation costs.

Pike Resurfacing Job Awarded at $101,712

The state Department of Transportation has awarded eight contracts totaling $472,000 for resurfacing projects in the state.

Adams Construction Corp., of Pikeville, received a $101,712 contract for patching 5.4 miles of U. S. 23 and U. S. 119, the Pikeville-Jenkins Road.

The department awarded a $15,031 contract for resurfacing four-tenths of a mile of French Avenue in Winchester.

The remaining six contracts were for resurfacing rural secondary roads in Knox, Laurel, Christian, Butler and Allen counties.

Receives B. A. Degree

Christine M. Ross, of Prestonsburg, received a B.A. degree in environmental conservation at recent commencement exercises at Berea College, Berea, Ky.

The daughter of Mrs. B. F. Dunn, she is a graduate of Oak Ridge High School, Oak Ridge, Tennessee. In the Berea College labor program, in which all students work 10 hours weekly, she was employed by the Settlement Institutions of Appalachia, Inc.

A civil penalty of $203,000 was levied against Felon Coleman and C & R Mining Co., of Pikeville. The penalty was assessed for violations on the 2.2 acre site in Pike county mined by C & R.

The company was fined for failure to post signs and markers at the mining site, failure to backfill and grade the site, failure to provide sediment control measures, improper topsoil handling and revegetation, and diverting material drainage patterns in violation of state statutes.

Billy Lewis, of Neon, was assessed a $10,000 civil penalty for violation of surface mining regulations. Lewis was fined for mining without a permit.

A $162,000 civil penalty was levied against B. F. Holbrook, of Salyersville, for 15 alleged violations of Kentucky surface mining regulations. Holbrook was fined for failure to backfill, grade, seed and mulch four sites which he mined. Four cash bonds, totaling $22,400 were ordered forfeited as well.

Troy Stidham Coal Co., Inc. of Ashland, was fined $25,000 for failure to complete reclamation in a timely manner and leaving the mining sites in further need of regrading, seeding and mulching. Surety and performance bonds posted by the company were ordered forfeited by the department.

Civil penalties levied by the department are ordered paid within 30 days of the signing of the order. Department officials, however, report that all penalties are not successfully collected.

KENTUCKY AFIELD

By JOHN WILSON

The persistent rains of the last couple of months disrupted spring fishing all over the state, but those storm clouds do have a silver lining, according to Pete Pfeiffer, acting director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

"Generally, a wet spring means better than average spawning success and survival," Pfeiffer says. "So while anglers may be experiencing poor fishing conditions right now because of high and muddy waters, we can very likely look forward to some good fishing a couple of years down the road, when this year's crop of fish reaches harvestable size."

During wet years, Pfeiffer explains, more nutrients are washed into our watersheds than during dry periods. These nutrients help increase the fertility of lakes and streams, which benefits all creatures up the food chain.

A lot of rain also means higher lake levels and more shoreline cover available for fry to hide in. This decreases predation on the just-hatched fish, meaning that more can survive to grow to catching size.

So while these rains may be playing havoc with your current angling plans, they are also very likely bringing better fishing in the future.

And hunters who peek behind the rain clouds can see a silver lining of their own, too. The more days of rain we have, the more quail are produced, according to Jim Durell, an assistant director in the fish and wildlife department's wildlife division.

"High humidity seems to stimulate quail egg production and helps the eggs hatch," Durell says.

Another feature of a wet year that helps both quail and rabbit production is that weather forces delays in hay cutting. "Every day farmers are forced to put off haying means more and more young quail and rabbits are able to leave the nest and get out of harm's way when mowing does start."

"Generally speaking," Durell says, "what farmers call an excess of rain is about the right amount for just about all wildlife."

There is such a thing, however, as too much rain for wildlife. Heavy downpours or flooding will drown both young rabbits and quail chicks, so we might have lost production in some parts of the state from too much rain. Quail will nest again if their first brood is destroyed and rabbits keep reproducing all summer (rain or shine), so there's still a lot of potential breeding season left for both species.

It might seem a little early to start thinking about deer hunting, but the deadlines for applying to certain controlled hunts aren't that far away.

Land Between the Lakes (Trigg and Lyon counties) has the earliest deadline—July 29. Applications for gun-hunting, the special youth hunt (for youngsters between 10 and 16) and for certain bow-hunts are due on this date.

Applications must be on a special computer card. To obtain one of these cards, instructions for applying and complete hunting dates, write Land Between the Lakes, Golden Pond, Ky. 42231.

Advance applications are required for gun-hunts and for weekend bow-hunts at Ft. Knox (Hardin, Bullitt and Meade counties). Bow-hunting applications will be accepted only between July 25 and Aug. 8, while gun hunters may apply only between Aug. 22 and Sept. 5.

Bow hunting dates at Ft. Knox are from Oct. 3 through Nov. 8. Gun-hunts will be held Nov. 28-29, Dec. 12-13 and Dec. 19-20. For complete application details, write Hunt Control Headquarters, Building 1060, Ft. Knox, Ky. 40121 or call (502) 624-7311 (no collect calls, please).

The application period for gun-and bow-hunts on the Bluegrass Army Depot (Madison County) is between Aug. 10 and Sept. 10 only. Gun-hunting dates are Dec. 5, 12 and 19 while bow-hunts are set for Oct. 10, 17 and 24. Write Deer Hunt, Building S-14, Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot Activity, Lexington, Ky. 40511 for full details on application procedures.

Ft. Campbell (Christian and Trigg counties) generally has drawings during the week for gun-hunting on the following weekend. Contact Ft. Campbell for season dates, application procedures and other special area regulations. The address is Outdoor Recreation Branch, Hunting and Fishing Unit, Ft. Campbell, Ky. 42223, or call (502) 798-2175 (no collect calls, please).

Application procedures for gun-hunting on five areas have been standardized this year. Applications must be on a standard form and must be received by August 31.

These areas are Beaver Creek (McCreary and Pulaski), Kleber (Owen), Redbird (Leslie and Clay), West Kentucky (McCracken) and Yellowband (Breckinridge).

Gun-hunts will be held Dec. 5-6 on Beaver Creek, Kleber and Redbird. A muzzleloader-only hunt is scheduled for Dec. 12-13 on the Redbird area. Gun-hunting dates on the West Kentucky area are Nov. 7, 11 and 14, while Yellowbank's gun hunts are set for Dec. 5-6 and Dec. 13-14.

To get application forms for these hunts, write the Division of Wildlife, Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources, No. 1 Game Farm Rd., Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Please include a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request for application forms.

Growth in their child's height and weight are high on the priority list of parental interests. Mothers and fathers write and speak with great pride about the birth length and weight of their babies. The average newborn baby measures about 21 inches and weighs about 7 pounds. Throughout the period of infancy, growth is very rapid. During the first year, the average male child tends to grow nearly ten inches in height and triples his birth weight. Bear in mind, however, that departures from the average are not in any way abnormal.

Here at COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC., we don't play doctor but we do render assistance, offer alternatives to a problem, and advise when first aid is appropriate. We offer the most complete and professional prescription and non-prescription medication service in the area. Have your family doctor call us with your next prescription and we will have it ready for you to pick it up; no waiting involved. See us at 2 Town Center Bldg., Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-5. 886-8106.

BEREA, KY—Unlike those who haughtily reply, "Sorry, I don't do windows," Macel Hamilton set about the task with a cheery smile. The daughter of Mrs. Pauline Hamilton, of Route 2, Beaver, Miss Hamilton is a sophomore at Berea College where she is employed this summer by the college physical plant. One of her jobs has been to clean the windows of the different campus buildings. A graduate of McDowell High School, she plans to major in psychology at Berea.

TUESDAY WAS MOVING DAY for the Big Sandy Area Development District offices. Most of the ADD staff—formerly working out of the red brick landmark on the city's north side and less prominent offices on the south side—will now be housed on the second floor of the Prestonsburg Municipal Building. Some ADD staffers will remain at the red brick offices, which will also serve the Water Resources Assistance Corporation and the Farmers Home Administration representative here.

Ky. Has 30 Earthquakes a Year!

Did you know Kentucky has approximately 30 earthquakes per year? Did you know this state had one of the most violent earthquakes in recorded history? Do you know what to do in the event of an earthquake?

These questions will be answered at a seminar on earthquakes at Kentucky Dam Village Park Civic Center, Friday, July 10, beginning at 9 a.m. The seminar is sponsored by the Kentucky League of Women Voters in cooperation with the state division of disaster and emergency services.

Kentuckians have been very aware of floods and tornadoes because of their frequency in the past years, but last July's earthquake centered near Maysville caused $5 million damage and was only moderate in intensity.

The most seismically active region in North America is the New Madrid zone, of which Western Kentucky is a part.

Several earthquake experts are scheduled to participate in the seminar. State officials from the disaster and emergency services division will talk about preparedness for tremors, recovery and the problems an earthquake presents to local communities and counties.

Kentucky does have a number of tremors each year. The major series of earthquakes that struck the Mississippi Valley in the winter of 1811 and 1812 sent 1,874 separate tremors strong enough to be felt in the Louisville area and created the 23,000-acre Reelfoot Lake in Northwestern Tennessee.

Knowing what to do in the event of an earthquake should be handled in two phases, the shaking and after the shaking. During the shaking: don't panic. The motion is frightening, but unless it shakes something down on top of you, it is harmless. If it catches you indoors, stay indoors and take cover under a desk, table or in doorways and against inside walls. Stay away from glass.

If a quake catches you outside, move away from buildings and utility wires. If you are in a car, stop and stay in the vehicle until the shaking stops.

After the shaking: check your utilities, but do not turn them on because the water, gas or electrical conduits may be cracked. If you smell gas, open windows and shut off the main valve, then leave the building and do not re-enter it until a utility official says it is safe.

Turn on your radio to get the latest emergency bulletins. Don't go sightseeing, and stay off the telephone except for emergency messages. Stay out of damaged buildings because aftershocks can shake them down.

Aside from structural damage and collapse, earthquakes are known to cause compound disasters such as fires from broken gas lines or floods due to broken dams. These problems will be addressed in the seminar.

Any interested citizen is invited to attend the seminar and to participate in the open forum in the afternoon.

He Deals in 'Top Secret' Matters

In a world dependent on telephones, t.v.'s, instant replays and satellite broadcasts, the role of sophisticated communications technology is perhaps nowhere as vital as in matters of the military and national security. Terrence Turner is one Floyd county native who knows of the complexities of the field, firsthand.

With 19 years in the communications field with both the Air Force and Army, the 40-year-old Turner, son of Norma Turner, of Drift, and the late Linville (Bub) Turner, is now officer-in-charge of the USACC-Ft. Gordon Telecommunications Center (TCC) at Martinez, Georgia.

As Turner explains, he and his staff are charged with relaying messages that could be termed "top secret." "We deal with highly classified information," he said, "therefore we must be secure."

"All messages that leave this communication center are encrypted. So, if our lines are tapped, the only thing that can be picked up is garbage," he explained.

Turner is on call 24 hours a day in case a message arises that is particularly important, and he said "we can have a one-page message out of the station in five minutes and received within minutes."

His present position carries a great deal of responsibility but Turner is used to pressure. "As an Airman, I was assigned to the Communication Center in Washington, D. C. at the White House Communications Agency," he explained. "I was there under the Nixon Administration, and we were constantly dealing with the White House staff and other dignitaries, providing them with record communications. We had to be ready to travel at any time, and we did."

As part of his duties during those years, Turner travelled to the Soviet Union with Nixon, and through the Vietnam War served as a diplomatic courier, flying regularly to Texas to relay messages from Nixon to former President Lyndon B. Johnson concerning the progress of the military operations in Southeast Asia.

In addition to his already busy and oftentimes exciting role as communications officer at the Georgia installation, Turner plays an active role in his community, coaching Little League baseball, refereeing basketball and organizing games on the base. He also is pursuing a BA in business and occasionally serves as a substitute teacher in the Martinez school system.

Turner is glad that his present position is of a more stationary nature. "The constant traveling was quite an experience, but I'm glad to be settled now so that I can enjoy my family. It was very nervewracking at the White House, and my family had to come second."

Turner and his wife have four children.

Railroad Restores Service After Train Derailment

LANDOVER, Md.—One of three damaged train tracks was repaired, restoring partial rail service between Baltimore and Washington following the derailment of 23 Conrail freight cars, authorities said, recently.

Officials said an 11-car Conrail freight with three locomotives was southbound from Bethlehem, Pa., headed for the Potomac rail yard in Alexandria, Va., on one of Amtrak's three tracks, when the cars derailed.

PSC Seeks Changes In Gas Regulations

The chairman of the state Public Service Commission said the commission plans to meet with representatives from natural gas companies and consumer groups later this summer as the first step in changing some ways the commission regulates gas utilities.
 In remarks prepared for delivery to the Kentucky Gas Association's annual convention at Lake Barkley Resort Lodge, PSC Chairman Marlin M. Volz said the procedural changes are necessary to reduce costs to the utilities and consumers.
 Volz quoted a General Accounting Office study on electric utilities that stated, "Electric power projects and operations have been more costly as a result of changing regulatory requirement and delays and uncertainties associated with the regulatory process."
 "It is the goal of the Kentucky Public Service Commission," Volz said, "that such a finding not be applicable to it." He invited the association members to select a committee to meet with the commission and representatives of appropriate consumer groups to recommend changes in procedures in at least seven areas.
 Those areas are:
 -Reducing to as short a time as feasible the length of time required to process the various applications.
 -Reducing the cost of notices to customers of proposed rate changes.
 -Exploring the situations where informal hearings may be substituted for formal hearings without offending due process.
 -Determining whether additional matters can be decided on the basis of written submissions without a hearing.
 -Reducing duplicative requests for information by intervenors.
 -Reducing the burden of submitting reports and other information to the commission.
 -Reviewing the regulations of the commission and the state statutes.
 While the changes could make some difference in costs, Bolz reminded the association that state commissions have limited authority over gas utilities and that most natural gas prices are under federal jurisdiction. State commissions, he said, are largely limited "to an examination of distribution costs and what level of service is considered to be adequate."

Agriculture Research Grants Awarded To Five Universities

The state Agriculture Department has awarded research grants totaling $50,000 to five state universities.
 Receiving $10,000 each will be Eastern Kentucky University, Western Kentucky University, Murray State University, Kentucky State University and the University of Louisville, Commissioner Alben Barkley II said yesterday.
 Barkley said Murray will study soil erosion, Western will conduct experiments with nursery facilities, Kentucky State will experiment with apple production, Louisville will experiment with urban gardening, and composition of wheat, soybeans and other crops.

Oil-Shale Mining Regulations Filed

The state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has filed draft regulations with the Legislative Research Commission for oil-shale mining in Kentucky.
 The regulations are designed to establish guidelines for protection of the environment from any harmful effects of oil-shale mining and processing, said special projects director Rich Shogren.
 "These draft regulations are patterned on regulations which were developed for the mining of coal," Shogren said. "The regulatory procedures for oil-shale mining will be similar to those for coal mining."
 Shogren said the proposed regulations will require the submission of extensive data on current site conditions by mining permit applicants. Operators will also be required to provide periodic reports of environmental effects.
 "We feel this monitoring is necessary because of the relatively unknown effects of oil-shale mining and the variety of mining and processing techniques which may be employed," he added.
 Under the draft regulations, any oil-shale mining operations which will produce more than 1,000 barrels of oil a day or disturb more than 25 acres of land per year will be required to demonstrate the probable environmental impact of their operation before an operating permit will be issued.
 Operations which involve less than 1,000 barrels or 25 acres will be required to meet performance standards and procedural requirements set by the draft regulation.
 The regulations propose that all permits be valid for two years or five years from the date of issuance, depending on the size of the operation.
 Department officials said the draft regulations are expected to be published in the August issue of the Kentucky Administrative Register. After publication of the draft regulations, the Natural Resources Department will hold public hearings to receive comments on the regulations. The hearings are expected to be held in early fall. Dates, locations and times for the hearings will be printed in the Administrative Register.
 While oil-shale outcroppings underlie most of Kentucky, the area generally thought to be of the greatest interest for commercial mining is that which surrounds the Bluegrass region. The area extends in a semicircle from Mason and Lewis counties in Northeastern Kentucky southwest to Madison and Lincoln counties and northwest to Nelson and Bullitt counties.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q-I have lots of moles on my body. Should I have them removed to prevent cancer.

A-Only about one mole in a million will ever turn cancerous. Most people have an average of 20-40 moles during their lifetime, so removing them all could be nearly impossible, certainly impractical. In addition, the removal of all moles is no guarantee against melanoma, the skin cancer which most often appears at the sight of a mole. The reason is that melanoma is just as likely to develop from clear skin as from moles.

Q-I have several fairly light-colored moles and two which are very dark. Will the dark ones become cancerous.

A-Many people believe that light-colored moles are harmless and that dark ones are or can become cancerous. This is not true.

Harmless moles can vary in color from skin color through tan and brown to nearly black. The mole that may be malignant (cancerous) is one which changes color from what it has always been.

The best way to guard yourself against skin cancers is to be aware of how your skin normally looks, where the moles are located, and what size and color they are. Any change from what is usual should be reported to a physician immediately.

To learn more about skin cancers, call the Cancer Hopeline at 1-800-432-9321 from 9-9 Monday-Thursday and 9-5 Friday. You may also write the Hopeline at 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, KY 40563.

Q-I saw your recent column about the possible danger from using a sun lamp. My skin is fair, but I would like to get a tan in natural sunlight. What do you recommend.

A-The sun's rays provide us with light, warmth, and vitamin D, but they also can cause skin damage and skin cancer. Therefore, skin exposed to the sun needs extra care.

Burning ultra-violet rays of the sun travel through the outer layer of skin and damage delicate tissue. The resulting redness is sunburn. When the damage causes brownness, we call it suntan. Tanning occurs because the body sends colored pigment into the skin to help block the sun's rays and protect the inner tissues.

Most skin cancers occur on parts of the body exposed to the sun. Because of the natural dark pigment in their skins, people who have dark complexions are better protected against the burning rays of the sun than you are with fair skin.

However, anyone, even a person with a dark complexion, can suffer skin damage from the sun. Unfortunately, the harm caused by the sun builds up throughout a person's lifetime. Thus, the skin "remembers" the damage, and sunburns as a teenager can result in rough, wrinkled skin or even skin cancer at middle age.

Everyone can prevent skin damage and still enjoy the sun. Here's how:

-Go out into the sun, but dress for it. Clothes are protection against the burning rays. And don't forget a broad-brimmed hat to protect the tender tops of your ears, your nose, and your neck.

-If you want a tan, sun screen and sun block lotions, creams, and gels are available without a prescription. Use the sun screen products which contain PABA or benzophenone. They stop most of the burning rays. Sun blocks stop them all. Before using any skin care lotion, be sure to read and follow the directions. Some sun screen must be put on an hour before going outside, and some must be reapplied after swimming. Wear sun screens on cloudy days, too; clouds don't stop burning rays.

For more information about sun tanning and adult skin cancers, call the Cancer Hopeline at 1-800-432-9321 from 9-9 Monday-Thursday and 9-5 Friday. You also may write the Hopeline at 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, KY 40536.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NOTES

By JANE BOND

Cancer of the uterus can be one of the most curable of all cancers, yet approximately 11,000 women in this country die each year from this type cancer. The terrible tragedy of these 11,000 deaths is that most of them are needless. If the cancers had been detected early enough, and treatment begun, most of these 11,000 would have lived.

The test for cancer of the uterus is a simple procedure called the Pap test. It doesn't hurt, and it doesn't take much time. The Pap test can detect cancer and it can also reveal changes that could mean cancer will develop. Thus, the Pap test can warn of cancer before it even starts. The Pap test is not something a woman can have once and forget about—a Pap test once each year is the way to help protect women from cancer of the uterus.

The Floyd County Health Department is offering a Pap clinic on July 10 and July 24 from 9 a.m. till 2 p.m. These clinics are a free service of the Floyd County Health Department, and any woman who has not had a Pap test in the past year is urged to take advantage of this service.

A nurse from the Health Department will be in Wayland at the Methodist Church, Monday July 13, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., offering T. B. skin tests, immunizations, blood pressures, and urinalyses. The public is welcome to take advantage of this free service.

STATE HALTS MAYO TRAIL WORK HERE

Change In Route Thru Prestonsburg Is Considered

ROAD WORK PROGRESSES

Grade work on the Mayo Trail has been completed from the Tom May property below here to the corporate limits of Prestonsburg, where work has been halted by the state with a view to changing the route from Third avenue through town to Second avenue, entering near the transforming station of the power company.

Work on the Big Mud Creek road has progressed to a point near Toler's Creek. Though no dressing has been done on the route, the road is passable to traffic from Toler's Creek down.

Shoveling on the Middle Creek road has reached a point near Katy Friend Branch. No dressing has been done to that point, but this road is also passable. Ditching work is expected to start next week.

Reasons given for not dressing these routes are that the roads are to be accepted by the fiscal court as a whole, and if this work were done now the entire route on each contract would have to be dressed again before being acceptable.

Construction of the bridge at Auxler is well under way, and it is held possible that the span will be opened to traffic within the next 40 days. The bridge at East Point will also be opened in a short time, it is said, and the Mayo Trail bridge across Abbott may be opened in the next 20 days.

An encouraging report was made this week when it was said here that the Trail may be opened to Ashland within the next 15 or 20 days.

TO BUILD ANNEX FOR VALLEY INN

W. B. Westbrook Contractor on Hotel Addition

Contract for the construction of a 24-room annex to the Valley Inn was awarded this week to W. B. Westbrook, local contractor, by Mrs. Maggie Sellards, owner of the hotel.

The annex, which will be three stories high, built of brick, will provide a modern addition to Mrs. Sellards' hotel, and will be used entirely for rooming purposes. Eight rooms will be located on the first floor, 16 on the second, and a roomy basement will be provided. The addition will be separated from the main hotel building by a court. The baths and modern conveniences will form the many improvements.

Work will begin Monday on the contract, and is expected to be completed by March 1. Several other contractors submitted bids on the job.

Prestonsburg's building program is moving smoothly, and a number of buildings will soon be completed. The handsome brick residence of J. M. Morell is ready for finishing work, and will soon be ready for occupancy. The Hughes building is ready for the roof, and the courthouse annex is also nearing this stage of progress. The first story of the Layne building was up this week, and work will be pushed rapidly toward its completion.

WOMAN JAILED HERE, HELD AS ACCOMPLICE IN KILLING

Susie Cook, about 25 years old, was brought here Tuesday morning from Jack's Creek and lodged in the Floyd county jail as an alleged accomplice in the killing last week of Richard Hall by his brother, Jeff Hall, at Bates store on that creek.

Jeff Hall is still in jail here, having failed to furnish bond.

ED P. HILL ADMITTED TO BAR

Edward P. Hill, son of Judge and Mrs. Ed Hill, was one of the number of applicants to pass the state bar examination, reports given out this week state.

Mr. Hill completed a law course from the College of Law in Louisville this year, and is a very promising young man.

One Case of Infantile Paralysis at Van Lear

Though this week's report of the county health unit included no discovery of infantile paralysis cases in Floyd county, a county health nurse from Johnson county said here this week that one case had developed at Van Lear, Johnson county.

Approximately 60 persons were examined at the tuberculosis clinic held here, Tuesday and Wednesday, by Drs. Loch and Turner, of Louisville.

Two nurses are en route here from California, and are expected here this week to begin work in connection with the county health unit. Mrs. Pearl Whitehead, state health nurse from Louisville, left Thursday morning for Webster county after assisting Dr. Martin in the work here until the arrival of the two nurses who will be regularly employed with the unit in this county.

GET HALF MILLION CUBIC FEET GAS IN SALT SAND

A gas well producing a volume of 500,000 cubic feet was drilled in Monday morning on the W. H. Fitzpatrick lease by the Inland Gas Corporation. Gas was struck in the salt sand. Charles Williams was contracting driller on the well.

Preparations were made to shoot the Holbrook well No. 4, on Middle Creek, Wednesday morning, in the shale formation, but results had not been learned here Wednesday.

ONE KILLED IN KNOTT COUNTY

Townsel Martin Slain By Cousin Sunday Night

Word received from Gio says that a drunken row Sunday night on Salisbury Branch, Knott county, two miles from Gio, resulted in the death of one and the serious wounding of another.

Townsel Martin, 22 years old, was shot and killed by Irvin Meade, it is reported. Martin's horse was also killed by a bullet, it is said. Ben Layne is the wounded man.

Meade, a cousin of the slain man and brother-in-law of Layne, fled from the scene of the shooting, and has not been apprehended. It is believed that he is in hiding in the Letcher county hills.

Martin was a son of Tilton Martin, was married and leaves three or four children. His alleged slayer was a son of John Meade.

NAMED AS TEACHER

Mrs. Clara Warix has been selected by the county board of education to fill the vacancy caused in the Garrett school by the resignation of Alex Derosselt.

Superintendent John Stephens and Alex Spradlin after visiting a number of schools in the county, said Monday that they had never before seen the attendance so strong.

WELL YIELDS GAS AND OIL

Drillers for the Louisville Gas and Electric Company, working on the Robert Ousley well on Spurlock fork of Middle Creek, struck oil and gas Wednesday morning at a depth of 1380 feet.

Conditions existing because of gas and oil being struck simultaneously made a fair estimate of the value of the well impossible. First estimates placed the volume of the gas at 1,500,000 cubic feet and the oil yield at 50 barrels, but it is believed that tests will cut this estimate in half, or probably more.

A neighboring well drilled by the Piney Oil and Gas Company is reported to yield oil.

HOSTESS TO DINNER

Mrs. E. P. Arnold entertained to dinner Friday Mrs. Stephen Pieratt, of Mt. Sterling, Ky.; Mrs. C. L. Hutsinfiller, of Ashland; Mrs. John Hensley, of Henderson, Texas; and Mrs. N. M. White, Jr., of Prestonsburg.

E. G. Jesse, of Versailles, arrived here Thursday morning, and may become a member of the faculty of Prestonsburg High School. Mr. Jesse is a graduate of the University of Kentucky.

FESS WHITAKER, 'JAILED JAILER,' KILLED IN WRECK

Fess Whitaker, famous "jailed jailer" of Letcher county, met death late Sunday when his neck was broken in an automobile crash near Whitesburg.

Warrant charging murder has been issued against Cicero Seco, who is said to have been the driver of the car which ran into Whitaker's machine, forcing it over a 50-foot embankment. Monroe Sexton, a passenger, and Mrs. Sophia Sexton, driver of the auto in which Mr. Whitaker was riding, were injured.

Fess Whitaker was one of the most colorful figures of the mountains. Several years ago he was given the pseudonym of the "jailed jailer" as the result of his being incarcerated in his own jail. While a prisoner, he announced himself a candidate for county judge, and two years ago he was again elected jailer, which office he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Whitaker was defeated several years ago by John W. Langley for Congress. He was a veteran of many political campaigns.

Three Stills Found And Alleged 'Shiners' Taken

Three moonshine stills and two men were captured Thursday morning, last week, on Cow Creek by Sheriff T. Y. Martin, Deputy Sheriffs W. D. Martin, Grover Allen and Rufus Martin, who destroyed about 400 gallons of mash at the two stills. A few gallons of whiskey were found.

Two of the stills were found on the Mary Burchett Branch, and two alleged operators were arrested. Another still was captured on the Jim Tussey farm, but the owners escaped.

The men arrested were brought here, where they gave bond for their appearance in court.

ASKS CITIZENS TO ATTEND FAIR

County Agent Announces Part of Program For County Fair

With the approach of October 3, the date upon which the Floyd County Fair opens here, County Agent Fred Lawson issued a statement to the people of the county, requesting the attendance of citizens of the county, that this fair may be made a real success.

While the complete program for the event has not been worked out, Mr. Lawson announces in the following statement interesting phases already decided upon:

"The success of this, our second annual county fair, depends upon the people of Floyd county. Your attendance is of prime importance, and I trust that you will be present and thus help to place Floyd county on a status with surrounding counties in the matter of offering a real fair.

"At this fair prizes will be awarded for the best pens of seven chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys.

"The Junior Agricultural Clubs will have exhibits of all their products, and prizes will be awarded to first and second choice in each group.

"Prizes will also be awarded on farm and garden products, all kinds of live stock, fancy needle work, cooking, canning and dairy products.

"Prizes will be awarded for school activities, including grade and high school work. Special invitation is extended to public schools to enter the contests.

"Full details of the fair will be given in the catalogue, which will be distributed later, and these details will be published in next week's issue of our local papers.

"Get ready, bring your families and meet your friends. Help make these three days the big days in Floyd county."

BURIAL SATURDAY

Funeral services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hammond were conducted Saturday afternoon by Rev. George Rose and Rev. J. L. Bowling, of the Holiness Church, and burial was made in the Wedding-ton cemetery under the direction of E. P. Arnold, undertaker.

T. L. Martin, of Centerville, Ind., arrived Monday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Goble. Mr. Martin, who is a native of this county, motored here.

Courthouse and Schools Discussed by Speakers

The courthouse was portrayed as a shrine of justice by Commonwealth's Attorney C. P. Stephens, and Prestonsburg's schools, as the moulds in which the lives of boys and girls are shaped, were discussed by Prof. T. J. Currey, both of whom delivered able addresses as a part of the "Public Affairs" program of the Kiwanis Club Friday evening.

Mr. Stephens paid tribute to the courthouse as the symbol of the Law in this country, and, in doing so, defined the obligations of the county officials as the servants of that law. He stated that the Floyd county bar had a distinguished history, and said that the present bar was one of the strongest in Kentucky.

Reviewing the work of the past year in the schools here, Professor Currey expressed the hope that this year would see much more accomplished. His outlook upon the situation here and elsewhere in Floyd county where he has visited, was very optimistic. Commenting upon the work of Superintendent John Stephens and the Floyd County Board of Education, Prof. Currey said that they in conjunction had effected a wonderful work in the past year by erecting four modern brick school buildings in this county. His speech was enthusiastically received by the club.

Joe P. Tackett, who provided the program, one of the most interesting to be given here this year by the club, made brief and appropriate comment upon the subjects discussed by Prof. Currey and Mr. Stephens.

Miss Edith Fitzpatrick regaled the club with her singing, playing her own accompaniment. The last number, "Lindy Lou," a Southern negro melody, was rendered with inimitable charm, to the delight of her hearers.

Rev. F. R. McAllister read an entertaining paper, which embraced both the philosophical and the humorous.

HALL DIES UNDER MASS OF SLATE

Hanging Slate Holds Back Men As Victim Asks Help

Will Hall, who was known by many Floyd county citizens, was crushed to death Friday in the mines of the Consolidation Coal Company at Van Lear by a series of slate-falls.

Hall was an employe in the power plant, and was killed while in the mine connecting electrical equipment.

The first shower of slate pinned Hall to the floor of the mine, but was not of sufficient weight to kill him. Pinned beneath the slate, he called to fellow workmen for help, but hanging slate which threatened to drop held them back. A second fall of slate came a few minutes later, but still the imprisoned man begged for help. A few seconds later the third and last fall crushed him to death.

The victim is survived by his widow and two children. He was a member of the Masonic order, and Masons conducted rites at his funeral.

Three Hurt When Bus Wrecks Near Louisa

Louisa, Ky., Sept. 17—One man was probably hurt and two others seriously injured at dawn Saturday when a bus of the Big Sandy Bus Lines Company missed the road in a dense fog two miles south of here and went over a fifty-foot embankment.

The bus driver, a man named Jones, who recently came here from Oklahoma, suffered concussion of the brain, a crushed chest and a broken thigh. Jay Short, of this county, and John Cochran Fallsburg, employes of the State Highway Department, were seriously hurt.

Short, taken to an Ashland hospital with Jones, suffered a broken leg and cuts about the head. Cochran is in a Louisa hospital with a crushed chest and broken shoulder bone. Morton Short, a son of the injured Short, escaped unhurt.

ORGANIZE BASKET CLUB

Mr. Victoria Spradlin has organized a basket club in her room of the school here. Pupils in each room will take part in some sort of club work during the year, it is announced.

ROSCOE VANOVER, FORMER JURIST, DIES SATURDAY

Roscoe Vanover, 66 years old, ex-judge of the Pike-Letcher judicial district, died at his home in Pikeville Saturday morning after an illness of several days.

Judge Vanover was well-known throughout Eastern Kentucky, and became noted during his term of office as circuit judge for his fight against the liquor traffic in Pike and Letcher counties.

He was born on Elkhorn Creek, Pike county, and taught in the rural schools of that county for a number of years. For the past 35 years he had been a lawyer, a profession in which he was very successful.

Upon the death of Circuit Judge John F. Butler eight years ago, Mr. Vanover was appointed to fill out his unexpired term. The strenuous fight which he subsequently led against whisky resulted in his sending to prison his own sons. "If I smell whisky on any man's breath," declared Judge Vanover, "he will tell where he got it or go to jail."

Judge Vanover was a member of the Christian Church, of which he had been an elder for the last quarter of a century.

He is survived by his widow and 11 children.

DEATH CLAIMS TOBY HEREFORD

Prominent Citizen of Cliff Found Dead In Home

Toby Hereford, 56 years old, prominent Floyd county man, was found dead in bed at his home at Cliff Friday morning.

It is known that Mr. Hereford died some time Friday morning, since he was given medicine at one o'clock that morning. He had been a sufferer from rheumatism for years, and for the last six years had been obliged to use a wheel chair in all of his limited travels.

Though handicapped thus, Mr. Hereford, by foresight and sheer industry, had been successful in truck farming. He was a worthy citizen and was a member of a prominent family of this county.

Mr. Hereford was never married. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Florence Hereford, of Cliff, and four brothers, Samuel and George P. Hereford, of Pikeville, and T. M. and B. P. Hereford, of Prestonsburg.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon by the Rev. J. D. Bell, of the Prestonsburg M. E. Church, South, at the Hereford home, and burial was made in the family cemetery under the direction of E. P. Arnold, undertaker.

FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE TAKEN

Frank Fitch, fugitive sought by the federal government, was captured last week by Deputy Sheriff Ep Laferty at Tram and lodged in jail here until the arrival Saturday of a federal agent, who took him to the prison at Atlanta, Georgia.

Fitch was first convicted for breaking into a box car, it is said here, and escaped from the penitentiary. A reward of $50 had been offered for his apprehension.

Deputy Sheriff Laferty came upon the fugitive, who was disguised in woman's clothes and was picking a banjo. Recognizing him from photographs which he had seen, he placed Fitch under arrest.

DELIVERS SERMON

Rev. N. G. Griswold, veteran Methodist minister of Fullerton, Ky., conducted services at the Pilgrim Holiness Church here Tuesday night.

Reverend Griswold is a native of this county, being born on Abbott, and attended school here forty years ago when Professor Hampton taught here. He also taught in this county for some time.

G. D. Ryan spent the day Tuesday in Paintsville.

ENROLLMENT IN P'BURG SCHOOLS IS NEARING 600

School to Be Represented on Gridiron, Currey Announces

TO INCREASE FACULTY

Prestonsburg schools opened Monday morning upon what promises to be the most successful school term yet conducted here.

Up till Tuesday of this week, with the enrollment steadily growing, 102 had enrolled in high school, 155 in the primary departments and approximately 300 in the other grades—a total enrollment of more than 550 pupils.

School opening here was marked by no special program, and the immediate attention of the faculty was given to the actual work ahead.

Announcement by Superintendent T. J. Currey that Prestonsburg High School would be represented this year on the gridiron was received by the student body. Practice will be begun at once, and every effort will be bent toward whipping into shape a winning team.

A greater variety of athletics will be engaged in here this school year than ever before, with a fine basketball floor available and a competent coach in the person of Professor Allison, and an abundance of material for this game, track, and other sports.

Another high school teacher is being brought here this week, and will serve to distribute more evenly the teaching burden and to facilitate work in the high school.

SIX INDICTED FOR MURDER

Grand Jury Adjourns Saturday; 76 True Bills Returned

Seventy-six indictments were returned by the grand jury, which adjourned here Saturday. Six of these indictments were for wilful murder.

Murder indictments were made against the following men:

Caspar Osborn for the killing of Hargis Nelson; Jeff Hall for killing Richard Hall, his brother; Carl Atkins for the fatal shooting of Bee Burchett; John Dyer for slaying Bill and Oscar Blizard, brothers; Craig Hamilton for killing Tucker Hall; Ervin Clark and George Spears, alleged slayers of Bud Adkins; Warnie Cline for the slaying of Jake Collins.

"Crime is on the increase," says the grand jury report, excerpts of which follow:

"There is an abundance of crime being committed in our county. Moonshine stills are being run in almost every section of Floyd county. Pistols are being carried and murder committed. False swearing has become so common that it is difficult to get sufficient information to either indict or convict the criminals of this county, and some action should be taken to stop this crime."

The report states that public buildings examined are in good condition, and the methods of the circuit judge and the commonwealth's attorney in handling crime are approved by the jury.

The events are being sponsored by the Athletic Department of the high school.

In the main event the 7-foot, 500-pound Crusher Broomfield will clash with the exciting Leaping Lanny. Chief Tapu will tangle with Pistol Pez Whatley. The Miser, from parts unknown, will match up with tough Rick Winters, and Dan Burdick will take on the highly skilled and controversial wrestler, The Samoan.

Athletic Department representatives expect a big crowd, and for that reason advise fans to come early for both ringside and general admission seats.

Junkyard Provides Setting For Summer Theatre Musical

Streetkids sing and dance on wrecked sportscars in a British junkyard, while two roving tramps play a "game" that is amusingly weighted in favor of one and against the other. This is THE ROAR OF THE GREASE-PAINT...THE SMELL OF THE CROWD, the third offering of Summer Season '81 at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre. The show opened July 1 at the Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheatre.

This charming musical, written by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley, joins GEORGE M!, the musical biography of George M. Cohan, and GODSPELL, the joyous, colorful adaptation of the Book of Matthew, both of which opened last week to enthusiastic audiences. Rodgers and Hammerstein's OKLAHOMA! opens Wednesday, July 8.

THE ROAR OF THE GREASE-PAINT...THE SMELL OF THE CROWD is new to Jenny Wiley audiences, and is not produced very often, so this is an opportunity to see a fresh, new approach to a show whose hit songs include "On A Wonderful Day Like Today," "Feelin' Good," and Newley's very successful "Who Can I Turn To?"

The unique staging for GREASE-PAINT involves old cars and parts scavenged from real junkyards, old scaffolding, and a 30-foot crane. The cast sings and dances across this conglomeration as if it were a polished dance floor. Director Tony Distler and choreographer Steve Johnson have staged some truly memorable musical numbers. Johnson also appears as the forlorn but hopeful Cocky, recreating the role which won him a nomination for the Irene Ryan Acting Award earlier this year.

The 1981 season runs through August 23 with shows nightly Wednesday through Sunday, at 8:30 p.m. In the event of rain, GODSPELL will be performed at the Prestonsburg Elementary School auditorium. Those holding tickets will have the option of attending GODSPELL or using their ticket as a raincheck good for any performance during the season at the same ticket price.

Tickets may be reserved by calling 606-886-9274 or by writing: Box Office, Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, P.O. Box 22, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, 10 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Wed.-Sun., and 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Mon.-Tuesday.

Scout Recruiting Drive Set Here

School Night For Scouting, a special program to enroll new cubs, scouts, and their parents, will be conducted throughout the central and eastern Kentucky area in late August and September. The School Nights are sponsored by the Blue Grass Council, Boy Scouts of America and will occur in every elementary school on designated evenings during this time period. Almost 400 schools in 50 counties will open their doors to allow new cubs and scouts to join. This is the fourth year for this coordinated effort and 3,500 youth joined last year. 3,800 new members are expected to join scouting this year during school night programs according to scout officials.

During each School Night program volunteer leaders will explain the cub and scout programs and enroll new members. Parents are asked to attend with their son in order to be informed concerning their son's scouting activities. Boys 8, 9, or 10 years old or in the third, fourth, or fifth grades may join cub scouting and those 11 years old or older or in the sixth grade may join scouting.

Kentucky Power In New Expansion Bid

Kentucky Power Company recently asked the Public Service Commission for approval to acquire additional generating capacity to serve the future needs of its 140,000 customers in eastern Kentucky.

The Ashland-based utility filed an application with the PSC for a certificate of public convenience and necessity which would allow the company to acquire a 15 percent interest in a 2.6-million kilowatt coal-fired generating plant being constructed by an affiliate utility at Rockport, Indiana at an estimated total cost of more than $2 billion. Kentucky Power's corresponding share of the plant's generation would be 390,000 kilowatts and would cost an estimated $311 million.

The Rockport plant is being built by Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, another subsidiary of the American Electric Power System. The first of the two 1.3-million kw units is scheduled to be operational in 1984 and the second unit in 1986. The plant is expected to burn a substantial amount of Kentucky coal.

Robert E. Matthews, president of Kentucky Power, said, "Today's high power plant construction costs make joint ownership especially desirable for a small company like ours because that's the way we can share in the economics of scale. It's one of the advantages of being part of a system like AEP in that costs can be shared with an affiliated company." He added that multiple ownership of a power plant is not a new concept among AEP companies. Matthews pointed out that multiple ownership will be an increasingly accepted way for electric utilities in the future.

In explaining the need for additional generation, the company's filing points out that the demand for electricity by its customers had increased by more than 10 percent per year over the past five years. The company forecasts the growth in demand for electricity will continue, although perhaps at a slower pace.

Kentucky Power Company can presently generate a total of 1,060,000 kilowatts at its Big Sandy plant near Louisa. The company predicts its load will exceed that amount, possibly as early as next winter. Last February the company's peak demand reached 984,000-kw.

Although the company previously sought and was denied ownership participation in the Rockport plant by the former Energy Regulatory Commission, today's filing states that circumstances have changed materially and warrant Kentucky Power Company's participation in the project.

'As You Like It' To Air on KET

William Shakespeare's delightful comedy, "As You Like It," encores on KET Monday, July 13 at 9 p.m.

Videotaped entirely on location in and around Glamis Castle, Scotland, this fairy tale about love and longing in the enchanted Forest of Arden contains some of Shakespeare's best-known poetry, including the famous "All the world's a stage" speech.

"As You Like It" is part of the series, "The Shakespeare Plays," a six-year project which will present new productions of all 37 of Shakespeare's dramatic works.

The series, presented on KET by WNET, New York, is a co-production of BBC-TV and Time-Life Television.

Ky. Receives Grant For Mine Program

Kentucky last week received final approval for a $4.2 million operational grant from the U.S. Department of the Interior to continue enforcement of the state's present surface-mining reclamation program through December 1981.

The grant, which became effective with the signing of an agreement between Office of Surface Mining officials and Natural Resources Secretary Jackie Swigart, will help Kentucky meet the additional cost of enforcing the 1977 Federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act.

Kentucky is currently operating under an interim program while developing a state plan to attain primacy—the authority to operate its own surface-mining enforcement program.

State officials plan to submit a final draft primacy package for federal approval this fall.

The grant to be received by Kentucky will cover operational expenses from April 16, 1981, to Dec. 31, 1981. It is the fourth interim grant to be awarded Kentucky since passage of the federal act in 1977.

Federal grants to states for interim period expenses include funds for salary reimbursement, equipment, supplies and contractual services.

When Kentucky is granted primary responsibility for surface-mining enforcement, it will be eligible to receive reclamation funds levied on current coal production. Kentucky's share of that fund now exceeds $55 million.

Nature's Remedies

By RUFUS M. REED
PENNYROYAL.—I'd like for my readers to get better acquainted with that dainty little mint, pennyroyal, or, as the oldtimers called it, "pennyrile." It is one of the most useful plants found in nature and is one of the best insect repellants known. Fleas will hop ten feet high to escape the hot scent of pennyroyal. You can put oil of pennyroyal on your dogs and cats and the fleas will flee from them! You can wet a string with it, tie it around the neck of your pets and the fleas won't get on them.

A fresh-cut pennyroyal plant tied around the bedpost will repel bedbugs and mosquitoes. Oldtimers used to gather pennyroyal in the fall, tie it up in bunches and hang it up to keep for winter use. The tea made from it is a warm stimulant and a big help in sweating out a bad cold. In "Flora of W. Va.," Dr. Core says: "Pennyroyal is used as a stimulant and as an aid to digestion." You'll find patches of this plant growing in dry soils of old clearings and abandoned fields. It prefers thin acid soils and is a small, much-branched plant with small, ovate leaves borne in pairs. The blooms are bluish-purple and appear in mid-summer.

Pennyroyal was a highly favored plant of the Indians. They used the tea for colic and indigestion. It was regarded as a reliable remedy for colic in babies. Pennyroyal and wild honey were mixed to make a tea for head colds. Indians also snuffed the strong scent to clear the nasal passages. Indian women used pennyroyal tea to relieve cases of painful menstruation.

Pennyroyal rubbed on the hands and face will repel chiggers and mosquitoes. The English of Queen Elizabeth's day used pennyroyal tea to cure the gout.

A CURE FOR DYSENTERY. Dysentery, or "bloody flux," was once a dreaded disease. Oldtimers cured it by steeping the leaves of a creek willow to make a tea. They claimed this cured dysentery "nine times out of ten."

"RABBIT TOBACCO." Also called "life everlasting." This is a fine medicinal plant with aromatic odor. It is a good remedy for colds. A tea for colds is made of pine twigs mixed with the dried leaves of rabbit tobacco. This small plant is dainty and handsome, with white-felted leaves that are cottony underneath. After the first frost, the leaves dry up on the stalk and may be gathered then to keep for winter use. One of my most delightful larks as a boy was to smoke the cured leaves of rabbit tobacco with my buddies. We had many a smoke-fest out behind the old, gray barn. We also chewed the fragrant leaves and squirted mouthfuls of the rich, dark brown "amber." Back then I didn't know of the medical value of this plant, how it was useful in treating sore throat or irritation of the mucous membranes. The plant is known to botanists as "cudweed," or "old field balsam." Indians often smoked the leaves of cudweed for their pleasant fragrance.

OLDTIME REMEDIES FOR CROUP. This was once a dread disease of children and killed many before the days of antibiotics. But our foreparents had their remedies from nature and thus saved the lives of many children. A quick remedy for croup then was to roast a large-size onion and squeeze out the juice. The croupy child was required to drink this, and it often gave relief. Another oldtime remedy that got good results was the use of a poultice on the chest, both front and back. The poultice was made of mutton tallow and beeswax and one was placed hot on the back, right between the shoulder blades.

HECK'S MAKES THE DIFFERENCE!

Is State Finalist

Miss Deborah Ann Reed, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Reed, of Drift, has been selected to be a state finalist in the 1981 Miss United Teenager Pageant to be held at the Executive West in Louisville at 7:30 p.m., July 30.

Contestants from over the state will be competing for the title. All contestants are between the ages of 14 and 18 and must have at least a "B" average in school. They are requested to participate in the volunteer community service program of the pageant by contributing at least eight hours of time to some worthwhile charity or civic work of their choice.

The winner of the state finals of the Miss United Teenager Pageant will receive an all-expense paid trip to compete in the national finals, a three phase pageant in Hollywood, California; Waikiki Beach, Hawaii and Washington, D.C., where she will compete for $15,000 in cash scholarships, a new automobile for her reigning year, $5,000 appearance contract, $2,000 in wardrobe and other awards.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic, civic achievements, beauty, poise and personality, and no swimsuit competition is required. Each contestant will write and recite on stage a 100-word essay on the subject, "My Country."

Miss Reed is sponsored by Turner Elkhorn Mining Company.

She is a student at Millersburg Military Institute, and her hobbies include dancing, swimming, tennis, soccer, and piano.

Cecil Rhodes Is Profiled On KET

Cecil John Rhodes, founder of Rhodesia, namesake of the Rhodes Scholarships, mine owner, politician and empire-builder, is the subject of a 90-minute documentary airing on KET Wednesday, July 15 at 9 p.m.

"A Touch Of Churchill, A Touch Of Hitler: The Life Of Cecil Rhodes" is the story of a complex leader and the empire he built during the last quarter of the 19th century. New York Times columnist Anthony Lewis, an expert in African politics, brings history up to date with the recent metamorphosis of Rhodesia into Zimbabwe in his introduction and final commentary.

Narrating the documentary is Kenneth Griffith, who wrote the story which begins with Rhodes' birth in England in 1853 and concludes with his death in South Africa in 1902. Griffith becomes an active participant in the story as he strides through Oxford University or the dry brush of what was once Matabeliland and Mashonaland.

At Oxford, Griffith recalls the lecture Rhodes heard by John Ruskin on the need to advance the power of England, the speech which inspired Rhodes to build an empire on the glory of his mother country and, in the process, his own power and wealth. He accomplished his mission in a style that few leaders have dared.

"A Touch Of Churchill, A Touch Of Hitler: The Life Of Cecil Rhodes" is a BBC production presented on KET by WGBH, Boston.

ROOTS: THE NEXT GENERATIONS

Marlon Brando stars as American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell, who is interviewed by Alex Haley in the concluding episode of "Roots: The Next Generations," which will be rebroadcast on ABC-TV SUNDAY, JULY 12.

The last episode begins in 1960 when Alex Haley (James Earl Jones) retires from the Coast Guard and begins pursuing his career as a freelance writer. After interviewing Malcolm X for Readers Digest, he is asked by Playboy magazine to do an in-depth interview with the black leader—an interview that leads to Haley's co-authorship of "The Autobiography of Malcolm X."

A visit to Henning reignites the writer's interest in the African, Kunta Kinte.

THE LAST CONVERTIBLE

Perry King stars as a former Harvard student whose life is changed when World War II breaks out and he spends several years on duty in the navy, in Part Four of "The Last Convertible," MONDAY, JULY 13 on NBC-TV. "The Last Convertible" is the television adaptation of Anton Myrer's best seller about the lives and loves of a group of Harvard men and Radcliffe women from their graduation to the 25th class reunion.

In Part Four, Russ (King) has a reunion at his family's estate when the war is over. The atmosphere is tense, though, as his surviving college friends find it difficult to adjust to the dramatic changes in their lives and the fact that their carefree days are over forever.

Bruce Boxleitner, Deborah Raffin, Edward Albert, John Shea and Michael Nouri also star.

A happy day for Ron Howard when star is unveiled

Ron Howard will be honored by the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce August 19, when his star is added to the city's famous "Walk of Fame."

Howard, under contract to NBC as an actor, writer, producer and director, will accept the honor on the 25th anniversary of his entrance into show business—at the age of 2.

The Hollywood Historic Council, a division of the chamber of commerce, occasionally selects a member of the show business community to join the ranks of those who have a gold star imbedded in the sidewalks of the Hollywood business district—the area's version of the "Hall of Fame." Howard's star, which will be unveiled at ceremonies at noon on the 19th, will be in front of the Paramount Theatre, where his first motion picture, "Music Man," premiered when he was 6.

Attending the ceremonies will be a representative of the mayor's office, who will present the talented young star with a City Council proclamation declaring "Ron Howard Day" in Los Angeles.

Howard, who rose to national fame during his long television run on "The Andy Griffith Show," joined NBC fresh from his equally long run in ABC's "Happy Days" series. He has since been active in several NBC World Premiere movies, including "Skyward," which he directed, and "Bitter Harvest," in which he starred.

Science Fact
The average educated person has a vocabulary of 3,000 to 5,000 words, but a person can manage quite well with only a few hundred. Shakespeare used about 15,000. All told, the English language has well over 300,000 words.

Inexpensive Cover-Up For Design Problems

Take a good look at today's wallcoverings before you embark on a hefty bank loan to raise the roof, knock down walls, add or subtract windows, or whatever else you feel is needed to achieve ideal room proportions and shapes.

The right wallcovering design and color, used properly, can alter the shape and size of a room, camouflage architectural flaws, and add interest to bland, look-alike rooms.

Of course, it's all a matter of optical illusion, but what's wrong with that? Making things look as attractive as possible—which often means making the eye see things as they really aren't—is, after all, completely acceptable in other areas. We do it when we were slimming clothes, use make-up to create fashionable faces, or serve hamburger disguised as Beef Stroganoff or Beef Wellington.

Here, four decorating experts offer four suggestions for solving common design problems with wallcoverings.

More Room, Please

"Move a wall or two to change the shape of a room," advises Mary Taxiarchis, chief designer for Style-Tex. "You can advance it with a strong-colored wallcovering in a splashy design. To 'push' it back, use subdued patterns and pale colors. Bold design and color on the short walls of a long, narrow room will have a widening effect."

"A calico design in pastels or a mini floral on white background would be perfect for small rooms of the American persuasion," says Jerry Pappia of the Thomas Strahan Company. Any small-scaled pattern in light colors will give a larger feel to a tiny room.

Robert Spaeth of Christopher Prints, on the other hand, suggests a metallic wallcovering that will act almost as a mirror, or certain large-scaled motifs, such as trellis designs that will lead the eye beyond the walls, creating an illusion of space.

Ed Edwards of Environmental Graphics also advocates illusion. "Certain scenes, such as an alley of trees depicted in perspective, will lead the eye way beyond the wall," he says. Edwards also comments that clear blue, because of its association with the sky and open space, is one of the very best room enlargers.

Grand Canyon

If, on the other hand, you've got the rare problem of a room of ball park proportions, choose dominant colors and design to make the walls "close in." Suggestions by the four experts include the use of a dark brown art nouveau design for an eclectic room; a floral on a dark blue, burgundy or deep green background for a traditional setting; and a rousing plaid in the warmest of colors if your lifestyle is informal.

Choose a wallcovering pattern which leads the eye upward if your problem is low ceilings. This could be a vertical stripe, or a foilage pattern, where the leaves seem to be stretching upwards towards the sun.

Lowering the Ceiling

Too high ceilings are a problem in many older homes that can be solved in several ways. Choose a dark color for the ceiling, for example. Don't make it too dark, however, or the room will become not only low but downright gloomy. Stopping the wallcovering short at the top and extending the ceiling down to the pattern is Taxiarchis' suggestion.

Breaking height by adding a dado about halfway up the wall is Pappia's suggestion. Start the wallcovering above the dado.

Spaeth advocates a wall design which leads the eye along a horizontal plane—rectangular blocks and horizontal stripes, for example, to draw the attention from the ceiling line.

Hiding Eyesores

Almost everyone has at least one room with some architectural oddity. It might be too deeply set windows or an awkwardly jutting wall. Here, wallcoverings are at their glory. Any over-all design, from colorful checks to fanciful florals, will do a lot to cover up the broken-up appearance of the room.

Another trick is to use a bold-as-brass wallcovering design that will steal the limelight so completely that no one notices the irregularities.
