

Mine in Zoning Bid, No Opposition Heard

A public hearing last Wednesday on a zoning change request by owners of a Prestonsburg coal mine elicited no opposition to the proposal, in contrast to a hearing earlier this year when the city of Prestonsburg and a number of citizens spoke against the issuance of a state permit for the mine.

Owners of the Bush and Burchett Mine No. 1 at Ball Alley are seeking to have the mine site re-zoned from residential to commercial classifications

At last week's hearing on the request, Joe Burchett, one of the mine owners, and Thomas N. Kuss, owner of the coal, argued that the site has never been used for any purpose other than underground mining and is totally unsuited for residential or other commercial uses

Under questioning by City Councilman Dick Clark, the mine operators said an area has been cleared near the mine to store excess coal, that trucks entering the highway are doing so under supervision, and that state water pollution standards are being complied with

They also gave assurances that no other mine opening will be made. The coal seam being mined runs under a

Drug Education Meet Set Here Thursday

A group appointed some months ago to study and discuss drug education programs for possible use in the Floyd County school system will hold its first meeting tomorrow (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at the Floyd County Library. Composed of teachers, school administrators, parents, and students, representing various schools of the county, the group will at this meeting form an advisory committee to study programs currently in use in other school systems, and ultimately, recommend to the school board those which they feel would be suitable for use in this county

Assistant Superintendent Ronald Hager said, however, that if schools are closed tomorrow (Thursday) because of inclement weather, the meeting will be rescheduled ridge extending to Auxier, prompting fears in some quarters that mine openings might be made in other sections of the city as mining progressed.

Attorney Albert A. Burchett, representing the mine owners, said the present case would not create a precedent, owing to its unique circumstances.

When the proposal was originally made by the mine's previous owner, Donald L. "Dootney" Horn, to reopen it as a pony mine, the city council opposed the project, saying it would violate zoning regulations, present a traffic hazard, and pollute the river.

The state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection subsequently issued a permit for the mine but did not consider its conformity with city zoning regulations, saying that matter was not within its jurisdiction.

Horn's plans for a pony mine never materialized; under its present owners, the mine is being worked by conventional methods

The zone change request will now go before the Joint Planning Commission, together with a transcript of Wednesday's hearing. After the commission makes its recommendation, the matter will be decided by the city council. If the commission rejects the proposal, it could still be approved by a unanimous vote of the council; if the commission recommends the change, a simple majority of the council could approve it.

Agencies Stymied, Slag Fire Continues

A lot of people in the vicinity of the slag heap and as far away as Garrett have had to tolerate the noxious fumes since it began to burn noticeably. August 4, and, it appeared this week, relief may be a while in coming.

Thacker also pointed out that the state agency may not have jurisdiction over the operation, since there is doubt whether 250 tons of coal was reclaimed from the refuse by the company. "Ac-cording to Sumac," Thacker said, 'they only extracted about 50 tons and they claim that amount wasn't marketable." Thacker said a minimum of 250 tons of coal must be extracted before the state has jurisdiction.

Homicide Trial Of Printer Man Enters 3rd Day

The trial continued in circuit court here Tuesday of Torrence Wright, 40, of Printer, accused of killing his wife, Barbara, 37, at the couple's home on Fisher Hollow last January 21.

Wright occasionally wept, and was comforted by his attorneys, as two of his daughters testified for the prosecution about the circumstances leading to their mother's death.

The girls, Karen, 16, and Elberta Jane, 14, were both at home the night their mother was shot in the chest with

Martin Hearing Weighs Deaths Of 8 Workers

A formal hearing scheduled for 10:30 vesterday (Tuesday) morning at the Coal Building in Martin was expected to produce a later official statement fixing the cause of the explosion which claimed the lives of eight mine employees last Monday in the Adkins mine at Topmost, Knott county.

The probe into the blast began immediately after the bodies were removed from the mine, early last Tuesday, and varying opinions have been heard. Most of the evidence had been gathered by last Friday and guards placed at the mine were remov-

Investigators for all agencies and groups involved, including representatives of the coal company, were scheduled to take part in the hearing. Members of the work shift which immediately preceded the shift caught in the explosion also were scheduled to be heard.

Willard Stanley, commissioner of the Department of Mines and Minerals came to the tragedy scene the night of the explosion and has remained since that time, working out of the department's Martin office as head of the state investigation.

The United Mine Workers' investigation has been headed by James Boyd. who alleged last week that explosives were improperly stored inside the mine. UMW President Sam Church visited the mine and later said Adkins Coal Co. officials should be prosecuted for what he termed unsafe practices. Also participating in the quest for the blast cause were representatives of the federal Mine Safety and Health Administration.

The probe was recessed for the funerals of the eight victims. The first funeral was that of Keith Crager on Salt Lick, near Huevsville

Fire Levels 72-Year-Old Church

Photo by Danny Slone Flames that destroyed the Hueysville Church of Christ last Thursday morning were caught in this photo as they burst through the roof and engulfed the bell tower

The 72-year-old Hueysville Church of Christ was destroyed by an early morning fire last Thursday, during a week of community gloom that began with the death on Monday of one of its residents, 25-year-old Keith Crager, with seven others in a mine explosion at Topmost, Knott county

The church blaze apparently originated in an area occupied by a gas furnace at the rear of the building. When discovered around 7 a.m. the flames had spread into the superstructure and defied attempts of volunteer firemen to save any portion of the church

The Maytown and Wayland volunteer fire departments succeeded in saving the nearby mobile home which had been occupied by a former pastor

There was no estimate of the damage. The church was uninsured. The church stood substantially as built in 1909, prior to the coming of the railway into Right Beaver Creek. It was built of timbering cut, sawed and planed on a farm two miles away, and these materials were hauled by muledrawn wagons to the site.

The sanctuary occupied the first floor, and the second story housed Sunday School rooms

During the World War I era the sanctuary served during the week as a schoolroom for a "normal school" founded by the late Prof. George Clark, and the second floor was occupied by grade school pupils taught by the late S.P. Pittman. At one time the second floor also served as a lodge meetingroom.

In more recent years, central heat, air-conditioning, new 'seating, a baptistry and stained glass windows were added as the congregation worked to preserve and improve the property.

The shocked 125-member congregation immediately announced plans to rebuild-"how, we do not know," one admitted.

But they were heartened by expressions of sorrow from many and the quick response of some with financial contributions

"People who seldom if ever came to church have spoken of their deep sense of loss," Mrs. Irene Hayes, a member, recalled.

Services were held last Sunday at the Garrett school, which may serve as a temporary meeting-place. Cecil Cherman, of West Van Lear, is the pastor.

Smoke started pouring from the refuse mound a few weeks after a Breathitt county concern, Sumac Industries, leased the area and began attempts to recover coal from the pile. The company was cited by the local office of the Bureau of Surface Mining for extracting coal without a permit, and later by an officer from the state Division of Air Pollution office in Hazard. The operation was also inspected by an official of the federal Office of Surface Mining (OSM).

The citations and inspections halted the activity of the company but did nothing to remedy the constant smoldering of the slag pile.

According to John Hall, of Sumac Industries, the refuse was already burning deep within the mound although the company didn't realize it until it had already disturbed the material, causing the fire to intensify. John Thacker, director of the Prestonsburg office of the state Bureau of Surface Mining, said Hall claimed the company had exhausted its funds attempting to extinguish the burning.

Police, Sheriff Arrest 5 Here In Recent Raids

A drug raid at a mobile home on the Auxier road, near here, last Friday night resulted in the arrest of three men and the confiscation of marijuana and other drugs valued at $1000.

One of the three arrested, Lonnie Doug Neeley, 26, owner of the mobile home, figured in a 1979 drug case in which he was convicted in circuit court, served a brief pen term, then returned here to face district court charges and a one-year jail term but was finally released by circuit court order on the grounds that time served on a felony charge had nullified the district court's misdemeanor count.

After Friday night's raid which was staged by Narcotics Investigator Weddington, Kentucky State Police, and Sheriff Henry Hale. Neeley was booked at the county jail on charges of trafficking in marijuana, possession of narcotics and a firearm

Tommy L. Minix, 30, of Sublett, Ky, was charged with possession of marijuana, and David L. Pack, 22, of Paintsville, was booked on a charge of possessing a concealed weapon apparently, because the site is under two acres, another minimum figure set. by the federal agency. Still, OSM inspector Gary Francis recommended that the burning slag be extinguished, preferably by the company, and he reported large quantities of toxic gases such as carbon monoxide and sulphur dioxide being released by the combustion

Yet another "hitch" in resolving the matter of the burning slag reportedly came when a request by the company for emergency funds from the Division of Abandoned Lands was refused because the site had been disturbed by the company before it asked for the funds

A resident, who lives near the slag dump, said Congressman Carl D. Perkins had been informed of the problem and reclamation official Thacker commented that the congressman 'will reply and send memos to all agencies involved" and he indicated response by Perkins may place a higher priority on solving the matter than currently exists.

According to the daughters' testimony, the Wrights argued that day about whether Mrs. Wright intended to stay in this county, Wright charging that she loved another man.

Karen said she peered into the kitchen where her parents were quarrelling, heard them exchange taunts, and saw her father pull a gun and shoot her mother. When the younger daughter appeared, hysterical, on the scene, Wright threatened to kill her, too, Karen testified.

While the girls testified that their father usually initiated the parents' arguments and that he sometimes beat their mother, Defense Attorney Gary

The original act placed eight rivers into the system immediately; there are now 19 designated and 58 under consideration. More than 1,500 miles of streams are now partially or completely protected. Protection generally extends a quarter mile back from each bank.

Once accepted into the system, a river is either designated as wild, scenic or recreational. Those in the wild category are generally free flowing and inaccessible, with primitive shorelines and excellent water quality. Scenic rivers are also free flowing with primitive shorelines and high water quality, but are generally accessible by a few roads. Recreational rivers are those which may have been impounded in the past, have extensively developed shorelines, relatively clean water, and are readily accessible, usually having paralleling roads.

Each category has different management objectives. Motorized travel, unharmonious developments, and new structures are prohibited if the river is wild, although some agriculture is permitted, as are some primitive type public facilities. Motorized vehicles are allowed on scenic rivers, but few houses are permitted and then only if they are naturally harmonious. Some public use facilities, such as campgrounds, are allowed on scenic rivers, as are many agricultural practices. Recreational rivers can have extensive developments and accessibility, and may even be densely settled. A full range of other uses is permitted, and new structures are allowed for living you asked!

SHOULD MY WIFE HAVE A WILL, TOO?

If your wife owns property, solely or jointly, or if she is heir to an estate, she should have a will of her own. This applies in quite a few other cases, too.

Husband and wife may be double victims of a fatal accident. The husband may have designated his wife as major beneficiary in his will. Without the wife's having a will of her own, distribution of her share of the estate will not have been provided for. Her share may be subject to state laws, tying it up for long periods right when it may be needed.

If the wife is a business partner in a family business, it is to the firm's advantage to have its business continuity assured by her having a will.

After the man has made his will, he should discuss with his lawyer a separate will for the wife. Above all, be sure to consult your attorney. We've seen bad situations arise because no wills were made or because they were drawn up by amateurs.

Tragedy Makes Safety All-Important Issue

Only those who deliberately ignore the subject can be unaware of the importance of mine safety now after Kentucky's daily newspapers have given the most exhaustive coverage to last week's Knott county mine tragedy.

No event in recent Kentucky history has so engrossed the press and resulted in so much newspaper lineage. The mass slaying of five innocent persons in this county several weeks ago was inconsequential in comparison.

It may be that such newspaper publicity had the definite aim of creating more interest in worker-safety inside coal mines at a time when cutbacks threaten to reduce the number of mine inspectors and other personnel employed to direct safety training and enforce safety regulations and laws.

All the future training and all the enforcement of regulations yet to be undertaken are poor consolation to those who sorrow for those who already are victims of the coal-mining industry. But state and federal governments cannot with any sense of responsibility fail those who continue to work.

Plain human error could have triggered the explosion which claimed these eight lives. Failure to take one precaution that forms a long list of forbidden practices could have been the reason. Men acquainted with and living with danger sometimes consider it commonplace, and in familiar, workaday surroundings fail to see the threat that can destroy them. Sometimes, the best-intentioned employer may become inured to the threat of such danger after it has long passed him and his employees by, and so may not demand of himself and them the meticulous, time-consuming care that should be taken.

At this time we make no attempt to pinpoint the cause of this tragedy or to blame anybody. We do not know who or what was to blame.

We can only hope that out of tragedy will come safety regulations written not by academicians but by men who know mining and avoid the picayunish that invites scorn and disobedience.

The regulations should be practical-and then they should be enforced to the letter.

the Mountain Parkway, near its intersection with KY 30 (the Jackson road), about three miles west of Salyersville. State Police said Howard was driving west when he lost control of his vehicle and crossed the center line of the highway. It was indicated, they said, that Montgomery swerved from the roadway onto the shoulder of the road in a vain effort to avoid a collision. The tragedy occurred on a comparatively straight stretch of the highway. "Montgomery apparently tried everything he could do to avoid the accident," a state trooper was quoted as saying. Both of the sheriff's arms were broken, his pelvis was crushed, and he suffered broken ribs and extensive lacerations. Salyer, a Republican who lost to Royalton coal operator Paul Salyer in the Nov. 3 race for Magoffin county judge-executive, and Howard, an Edna body-shop operator who was elected to the county school board last year, were convicted last Friday on federal charges stemming from an alleged election-fraud scheme in the May 26 primary Both men were free on bond and were scheduled to be sentenced Jan. 7. The bodies of the accident victims were taken to Dunn and Kelly Funeral Home in Salyersville. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

I join all those who mourn the passing of the old church at Hueysville. I had not visited it more than half a dozen times in the last 20 years, and that makes my regret all the keener.

I do not propose to say how old I was at the time, lest somebody does a little figuring on my age, but as a boy I saw that building go up. I climbed with very little assistance to the top of the bell tower when it was mere framework and scaffolding, then made the mistake of looking down. Had there not been firm hands and strong arms to help, block and tackle might have been needed to get me down again.

It was Sunday School and church and school for us, back then. Four generations have passed through its doors. Those whom I have not seen since those good days and are now gone will forever remain young to me.

One could become over-sentimental, dwelling on such matters. But, really, it is not so much the passing of the old building itself that strikes so hard. It is the blessed memories of the place, and surrounding the place, that made it something special. These fond recollections were not reduced to ashes, the other morning; they abide. But the symbol of them all is gone, and we are bereft.

IN PASSING

Then there is the case of the parachutist who ran into trouble with his 'chute and was plummeting earthward when he met a man going up. "Know anything about a

Carlos "Bat Hair" Hall, 18, of Mud Creek, who was arrested Friday and booked on three charges, only to have the list lengthened by three others on the two following days, is being held for Pike county where he has been charged with first degree robbery. Hall was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Gillis Conn and State Trooper Newsome. He was first booked on the robbery count and for receiving stolen property and obscuring the identity of a machine. A terroristic threatening count was added the following day, and a day later he was charged with wanton endangerment

A raid Saturday by Prestonsburg police and Sheriff Hale on the West Prestonsburg home of Bob Craft resulted in Craft's arrest on a liquor possession charge and the confiscation of three "fifths" of vodka, two of whiskey and 12 cases of beer.

The 60-year-old Craft was convicted several months ago of shooting and wounding Prestonsburg Police Chief Keith Lawson but has been released from prison under parole.

City police and the sheriff's department joined in two raids on the premises of Flora Barnett, of the Goble-Roberts Addition. In the first, Dec. 8, they confiscated 313 cans of beer, two "fifths" of wine and two of whiskey, eight bags of marijuana, 202 pills and capsules. In the second raid, Monday of this week, eight cases of beer and three "fifths" of whiskey were taken.

A list of others booked at the county jail during the past week, charges against them, and arresting officers follows

Ershell Adkins, 24, public intoxication, carrying concealed weapon, criminal mischief, by Deputy Sheriff G. Conn; Otto W. Honaker, assault, by Both daughters claimed, however, that their earlier statements had been made under pressure by family members to protect Wright.

Elberta testified that her father threatened he would cut her tongue out if she testified against him and that, if he went to jail, he would kill her when he got out. Some family members suggested that Karen killed her mother and that her father was "taking the rap" for it, Elberta said.

Karen said her father threatened to kill her unless she told police her mother had threatened him with a pop bottle shortly before she was shot

Defense Attorney Johnson indicated Tuesday he would call a social worker and a psychiatrist to the stand in an attempt to show that Wright was a "typical abused spouse," that Mrs. Wright was mentally ill, and that Wright had reason to fear for his life at the time of the shooting.

The case is being prosecuted by County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. Commonwealth's Attorney James Allen stepped aside from the case because his partner, Asst. Commonwealth's Attorney Jerry Patton. who assisted in taking a statement from Wright in connection with his wife's death, was representing Wright in the divorce proceeding pending at the time.

Prestonsburg Marks 75 Years of Phone Service

Prestonsburg marks the 75th anniversary of telephone service in the community this year, according to Art Willett. local manager South Central Bell.

"According to our earliest records, telephone service began in Prestonsburg in December, 1906, with only 13 telephones in operation." Willett said. "Today there are 8,254."

Prestonsburg's telephone system was one of the earliest established in Kentucky, starting just 21 years after the first telephone service came to Kentucky, Willett said.

"Construction is an ongoing item in and around Prestonsburg. We are performing work in the Abbott Creek area as well as along the Mountain Parkway and the David road," he added.

"South Central Bell will spend approximately $1,700,000. in Floyd county during 1982." Willett said.

Salyer, Howard Are Convicted

Sheriff Thomas "Skip" Salyer was one of two Magoffin county men convicted Friday in U.S. district court at Pikeville of charges stemming from alleged election fraud.

Salyer, who lost his primary election bid this year for the Democratic nomination for county judgeexecutive, and Harold Dean Howard, a member of the Magoffin Board of Education, were accused of conspiracy and tampering with absentee ballots.

Salyer was convicted of one count of conspiracy, as was Howard. The sheriff also was convicted on 23 counts of mail fraud and Howard on 25 counts.

'An important verdict for the people of Eastern Kentucky," said U.S. Attorney Cleveland Gambill after the jury had reported to Judge Wix Unthank

If all the terms were ordered to run consecutively Salyer could be sentenced to 120 years and Howard to 130 years in prison. Salyer's maximum fine could be $33,000 and Howard's, $35,000. Sentencing for the two men was set by Judge Unthank for Jan. 7.

Chairman Perkins said:

Congressman Carl D. Perkins called Saturday on Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan to take all necessary steps to begin a formal investigation of mine disasters that have claimed the lives of 24 coal miners in Kentucky. West Virginia and Tennessee.

Perkins, chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, said the Department of Labor has full authority to make the necessary investigations under the Federal Mine Health and Safety Act of which he was the original sponsor

"The Secretary will have the full cooperation of this committee in getting to the bottom of these tragedies." Perkins said, "and in making sure that such tragedies do not recur in other coal mines.

THE SYMPTOMS

Russ Metz tells the story of the priest who was a passenger on a train when the remaining half of his seat was occupied by another man. The newcomer looked the worse for wear. His eyes were bloodshot, his face bloated, his suit looked as if he had slept in it, and there was the strong odor of spirits on his breath when he turned to ask, "Know what causes arthritis?"

The priest made his answer a lecture: "Yes, loose living, bad company. evil companions, drinking.'

The two sat in silence a moment till the churchman decided that maybe he had been a bit rough on his new acquaintance and turned to ask, in his softest tones. "Tell me, do you have arthritis?"

"Nope," replied the soak, "I don't, but I just read in the paper that the Pope has.'

Seven holes drilled into the coal face underground had been filled with explosives approved for such use. The charges were wired to detonate a fraction of a second apart. The effect was supposed to be a chain reaction.

The explosives in the first hole would explode, blasting away the coal surrounding it. Then the second hole, 30 inches away on a horizontal line, would explode, then the third, and so on.

The first five detonated, as planned, Stanley said, but the sixth shot did not go off.

That failure left 60 inches of coal, rather than the normal 30 inches, for the seventh shot to blast away, and it wasn't equal to the task.

"It followed the line of least resistance, and that was out of the hole," Stanley said.

Like a car backfiring, the seventh hole "blew out," shooting flame from the coal face. That flame, according to UMW investigator Boyd, then ignited some substance in the mine that exploded.

Stanley said he did not know what caused the shot in the sixth hole to fail. but he noted that evidence inside the mine indicated Crager was an "excellent shot-firer.

The commissioner speculated that the detonator was too weak to set it off.

Birth Certificate Laws Enforcement Mandatory

Hospitals throughout the United States have federal regulations regarding birth certificates that they must follow. The birth certificates must be filled out according to these laws by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare:

1. A child born to a mother who is unmarried during the pregnancy or at the time of birth must have the last name of the mother.

2. If the father of an illegitimate child wishes it to have his name, he can go to the health department, sign a legal form and the birth certificate will be changed.

3. If a mother is married when she becomes pregnant, the child must have the last name of the husband, even if she divorces the husband or he dies before the baby is born.

These laws can be confusing and inconvenient for some, but all hospital personnel must adhere to them, under penalty of federal prosecution.

If you have questions about the regulations regarding birth cerfificates, call your local health department together. Two important points are: (1) schools are not free babysitters where children can be left and forgotten; and (2) school people must know more about the children than what happens from 8 a.m.-3 p.m.

Parents and schools must jointly schedule times to get together. Since most parents work, schools should consider day and night conferences. Other meeting times could be before and after school, lunch hours, etc. Both sides must rearrange schedules if they are to meet

A typical school day could be held for parents, to put them through their children's and teachers' schedules. This technique has been successfully used many places.

Schools use many ways to talk with parents besides conferences. The school newsletter or newspaper, PTA parent memos, and community newspapers all contain school news. Parents can help by actually reading

Zapata, the Texas-based oil corporation which branched out a few years ago into the coal business and has since that time conducted operations in Floyd and Pike counties, among others, may be on the way to getting out of coal mining.

Purchase of its coal holdings in Eastern Kentucky-mines now in operation and between 80 million and 120 million tons in reserve-has been pending for months and now is contingent upon "a definitive sales agreement and the purchaser's right to evaluate the coal holdings over a period of 150 days." The 150-day period will expire in February.

Zapata Fuels, a subsidiary, owns the Triple Elkhorn Coal Company, Bebe Coal and Ridgeway Fuel mines and acreage in Floyd county, in addition to Pennsylvania holdings. It has 20,700 acres of eastern Kentucky coal under lease.

Three firms-W. R. Grace & Co., Hanna Mining Co. and the Liberty Capital Group-are listed as potential purchasers and reported to have made an offer to manage the coal interests as a single unit. These three companies already are involved in the joint operation of coal-mining ventures in Eastern Kentucky, southwestern Virginia and in Colorado.

No indication was given of the amount involved in the proposed transaction, except that it will be above $760 million, for Zapata was offered that amount earlier by Occidental Petroleum and promptly termed the offer "grossly inadequate."

Zapata's production for the 1980 fiscal year totaled 2.7 million tons, a 13 percent increase over the fiscal 1979 level. In the nine-month period ending June 30, this year, Zapata had mined about 2.2 million tons of coal, up from the 2 million tons shipped during fiscal 1980 in the nine-month period.

Spider Diet Advised By Ancient Healers

If you think getting jabbed by a hypodermic needle is a tough treatment, how would you like to eat a spider-and-butter sandwich?

That's what some doctors prescribed 500 years ago when their patients ran a high fever, according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's nature magazine.

Spiders were a common "remedy" among early practitioners of the healing arts, says the National Wildlife Federation's monthly magazine for children. Some incurables got a menu of spiders wrapped in raisins. Other sickly people were told to carry spiders around with them in boxes or nutshells.

If the spiders themselves didn't produce a cure, some doctors put their faith in spider webs. Wads of spider webs were fashioned into bandages for wounds, and persistent fevers were treated with mixture of frogs' eggs and spider webs.

Cervical cancer kills approximately 11,000 women each year. This figure is truly tragic since cervical cancer can be one of the most curable of all cancers. Yet many women put off having a Pat test for cervical cancer. This test could have saved these 11,000 lives by finding the cancer early enough for treatment to begin.

In fact, says the NWF magazine, Little Miss Muffet should have been quite accustomed to spiders by the time one sat down beside her in the old nursery rhyme. Her father, a doctor, kept plenty of spiders around the house to protect his family from disease. He fed his daughter pills made from spiders whenever she took ill.

Spiders signify not only good health. but also good luck and good weather to many people around the world, Ranger Rick reports. One legend has it that finding a spider on your clothes will bring good luck. On the other hand, according to the same legend, squishing a spider will bring bad luck.

Some farmers maintain that spiders can tell you when good weather is on its way. Among the signs they look for are garden spiders sitting in the center of their webs, spiders crawling around, or an abundance of the silky gossamer that spiders use to transport themselves on windy days. Like sails on boats, the gossamer sheets catch the wind and carry the spider aloft. It's a sign that clear days are coming, according to some fans of the creepy. eight-legged creatures.

Spiders are worth having around, their admirers say, because they eat so many insects. China is one country that has begun using squadrons of spiders to control populations of harmful insects that damage rice crops.

So think twice before you step on the next spider that crawls through your home. He may come in handy on the next rainy day when you're sick at home and out of luck.

Many people think about trying to cheer up children in the hospital around Christmas, but one group of women has been making young patients at Highlands Regional Medical Center happy, all year long. Epsilon Alpha sorority of Paintsville donated a supply of crayons, Golden books and coloring books to the HRMC Pediatric Department after holding a rummage sale to raise the money for this project. Although Epsilon Alpha has only been organized two years, it has accomplished a great feat—smiles on the faces of sick children at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Old Christmas Date Set for January 3

While most everyone this time of year is thinking in terms of December 25, a few are looking farther ahead to January 3.

Sunday, January 3 is this year's date for the annual observance of Old Christmas at May Lodge and Mrs. Katherine Frazier, director of the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, and Mrs. Edith F. James, festival founder, are busy making final plans for the afternoon of traditional entertainment and activities which have made the Old Christmas celebration a popular event. Recalling the days when folks in this section recognized January 6 as the older date of Christmas (according to the ancient Julian calendar), the observance here was revived in the 1930's by Mrs. James and a group of musicians and the day has been a special one ever since then. Activities will begin at 2 p.m. at the lodge with music, dance, storytelling, and plenty of traditional refreshments and snacks and the public is invited.

1981 Lake Visitors 77,000 Fewer Than Last Year's Total

Dewey Lake had 77,000 fewer visitors this year than last but still was the No. 1 attraction in the area, data released this week by the reservoir manager's office indicates.

The information covers the period ending with November, the drawdown of the lake and the end of most activities in the reservoir area.

The visitor total for this year was 1.037,000, down from the 1,116,000 recorded in 1980.

Gains were made this year in only two categories—fishing and sightseeing. The number of anglers jumped from 138,000 in 1980 to 259,800 during the year now ending. Those classed as sightseers increased this year to 393,400 from last year's 358,000.

Losses were recorded this year in the following categories:

Camping, 9,500, down from 10,000; picknickers, 112,000, a loss of 11,000 from 1980; boating, 64,000 as against 72,000 in 1980; hunting, 1,900, a stiff drop from 1980's 4300; swimming, 128,000, down from 174,000 a year ago; water skiing, 9,800, down by 1600.

A Salute to Dickie Allen

By WILMAY

On Sunday the 18th of last January happy-go-lucky Dickie Allen, of Wheelwright, age 38, manager of the Branch Bank Josephine there, climbed a tall ladder to remove decorations from the community Christmas tree. Somehow he lost his balance and fell, striking his head on concrete. The local Methodist pastor was among the first to reach him. He was rushed by ambulance to McDowell Hospital, then to U.K. Medical Center, where doctors were standing by. His R.N. sister-inlaw, Joan Martin, had been called and remained at his side on the trip. Her husband, Dr. Lowell Martin, was out of town at the time. Dickie's wife, the former Yvonne Little of Bypro, his mother, Ora Mae Allen of Martin, and brother, Jitter Allen of Martin, accompanied him and did not leave him for weeks. Immediate brain surgery was imperative, due to the severe injury. Dickie remained unconscious for weeks, surrounded by loved ones who refused to lose hope. It was months before he was removed to Cardinal Hill for therapy. He is still partially paralyzed on one side and has limited use of the right arm.

But Dickie Allen gets huge doses of TLC daily from his wonderful wife and little girls, Amy, 9, and Becky, 7, in addition to other relatives and kindhearted neighbors who assist in numerous ways. Mrs. Allen drives him to Thelma Rehabilitation Center for therapy once weekly. It is less often than it was in Lexington but he has the soothing treatment that only loved ones can provide. Best of all, from the moment of consciousness Dickie has had a strong determination to survive

Fitzpatrick told them the bank would do everything possible to help. Ora Mae often speaks of the wonderful assistance given them by Dr. Don Frasure, of Lexington, another product of Maytown High School.

Wherever Dickie was a patient the staff was impressed with his fortitude and continuous struggle to achieve progress. He was so full of life it is hard to be an invalid, but he is making a valiant fight that rejects defeat. Seeing or talking with him is an inspiration for all who have that privilege, because he suffered so much, so long, undergoing grave surgery several times. His survival is a miracle in itself. Regaining his mental faculties is a bigger one. He has the support and prayers of many still "rooting" for him. He is the kind who will not give up. Some day

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

Miss Stanley, Mr. Hughes Wed

Miss Glenda Jean Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene E. Stanley, of Prestonsburg, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Arthur Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hughes, of Prestonsburg, on August 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Prestonsburg.

Reverend Dean Pack, pastor, performed the doublering candlelight ceremony.

The sanctuary was enhanced with greenery and spiral brass candelabra holding tall white tapers, accented with pink samantha roses, baby's breath, and greenery. A large arrangement of miniature white carnations, pink samantha roses, baby's breath and greenery was centered behind the alter across the baptistry. The kneeling bench and family pews were decorated similarly.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Kathryn Frazier, and Mr. B. J. Sturgill was soloist. Selections included "Wedding Song," "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional floor-length gown of sheerest white organza in an "A" line silhouette. Imported French alencon lace encrusted with pearls formed the front of the high rise bodice. Queen Anne neckline, and points of the long tapered sleeves. The same lace petaled the back in a yoke effect.

A pyramid of lace adorned the skirt front, rising from the lace-edged hemline, encircling the entire skirt and cathedral-length train.

Designed and made especially for her, Miss Stanley wore a cathedrallength mantilla veil of misty white illusion edged with matching alencon Stephanie Hampton, cousin of the bride, of Orlando, Florida, Miss Diana Hester, of Gulfport, Mississippi, Miss Nancy Godsey and Miss Jane Wallace. both of Prestonsburg. All attendants were attired in floor-length gowns of suede rose silesta knit in a fluid "A" line skirt. The bodice was created of schiffli lace in a rounded sheer yoke effect, with a high crown collar extending to a slight shoulder covering. A tiny cord sash tied in a lover's knot bow accented the natural waist. The matron of honor carried a small replica of the bride's bouquet, and the bridesmaids' carried bouquets of pink and white samantha roses, miniature carnations, baby's breath and camellia leaf greenery. Mr. Alan Ranier, of Lexington, was

The flower girl was Katie Warburton, of Lexington, niece of the groom. She wore a floor-length gown of white organza and carried a white lace basket filled with pink rose petals. Christopher Warburton, of Lexington, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer Mrs. Rita Campbell, of Prestons-burg, cousin of the bride, served at the guest register.

Mrs. Stanley, mother of the bride, chose a floor-length gown of sea mist lustreglo with chiffon and silken venise trim and matching accessories. Mrs. Hughes, mother of the groom, chose a floor-length gown of light blue silk crepe and matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pink samantha roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Assisting at the reception were Mesdames Marie Stephens, Lorraine Woods, Dixie May, and Tommie Hampton.

CHURCHWOMEN MEET

Members of the Local Church Women met at St. James Episcopal Church, Friday morning, with the president, Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, presiding. The devotionals, which were brought by Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, were from Luke 2:10, and stressed the meaning and importance of Christmas.

The President expressed her appreciation for the two articles concerning the Advent season, which were written by Mrs. Julia Curtis and Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, and published this past week in the Floyd County Times. Committees for the coming year were announced by the President. They are: Nominating, Mrs. Mary Lou Layne; Publicity, Mrs. Docia B. Woods; Food, Mrs. Mabel Brown: Telephone, Mrs. Garnett Fairchild.

Mrs. Eva Collins, chairman of the "Keeping Christ in Christmas" program, stressed the importance of stores and business firms displaying these signs in their windows during this Advent season.

Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, listed some of the goals to be accomplished by the organization, and expressed the hope that persons from other churches throughout this area would join in helping accomplish these goals by becoming members of the Local Church Women.

Holy Week and the World Day of Prayer were discussed. Women from the host church, Mrs.

Becky Short and Mrs. Betty Summers, served doughnuts, fruit juice, and coffee to those in attendance, who were: From the First United Methodist, Mrs. Vera Ford and Mrs. Fannie Runnels; First Christian, Miss Christine Spradlin and Mrs. Garnett Firchild; Community United Methodist, Mrs Eleanor Robinson and Mrs, Jean Burke, St. Theodore's Catholic, Mrs. Mabel Donahoe, and Mrs. Eileen Burchett, Irene Cole Memorial, Mrs. Eva Collins and Mrs. Docia Woods.

DARTS, ONE OF WORLD'S OLDEST GAMES

One of the world's oldest games; darts, dates from the use by archers of heavily weighted ten-inch throwing arrows for self-defense in close fighting. Darts were used in Ireland in the 16th century, and darts were even played on the Mayflower by the Pilgrims. Today, more people in Great Britain—six million—play darts than any other single sport.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFD 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does not constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above. tee members had earlier agreed that $250 million in additional annual revenues was needed to maintain the state's maintenance and construction of roads at present levels.

The members concurred with statements made by state representative Bob Jones (D-Crestwood) that the chances of getting the legislature to approve a $250 million increase in taxes and general fund transfers was "slim to none."

The proposals recommended to Metts were:

-To raise automobile license plate fees from $12.50 to $25. This would generate an estimated $20 million a year in additional revenue.

-To raise truck registration fees by weight class, eliminate limited registration and include the fuel surcharge on trucks with three or more axles in the registration fee. This proposal was estimated to raise at least $13 million annually.

-To change the motor fuels tax from the current nine percent of the wholesale price of gasoline to a flat 12-cent tax per gallon.

Because gasoline prices have not risen as expected, committee members recommended the flat rate tax. Members said this tax could be adjusted by the legislature when additional revenue was needed. This proposal would increase revenue by about $40 million a year.

-To transfer sales taxes received from auto related industries, such as garages, car dealers and auto parts stores, from the general fund to the road fund. These taxes amount to about $45 million annually.

-To transfer the state's portion of the property tax on vehicles from the general fund to the road fund, about $25 million annually.

The committee also recommended removal of the tolls on the state's toll roads. It proposed, however, that the tolls be removed only if a substantial portion of the revenue increasing measures were passed by the legislature.

About $10 million in revenue would be lost by removing the tolls, but the committee felt that the loss would be offset by lower maintenance costs on routes paralleling toll roads.

Blood Drive Set for Holiday Need

The Prestonsburg blood donor station is having a DONORAMA during the week of Christmas in an effort to avoid a shortage of blood during the holiday season. All donor groups have been contacted and many are planning to donate at that time.

Coupons will be available to donors from Druthers, Long John Silver's Seafood, Dairy Cheer, Pizza Hut and Kentucky Fried Chicken. Cookies, suckers, juice, coffee, candy and cups were contributed to the canteen by Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers, Captain D's, The Sav-U-Store, Hecks, Inc., Price's Pic Pac Supermarket and Thompson's IGA Supermarket.

A special raffle will be held from the donors taking part in the DONORAMA. The prizes are a turkey from Brown's Produce and a handmixer from Frasure's Catalog Store. The odds are about one in fifty of winning a prize.

Jerry Flannery of Dick's Signs has contributed a beautiful billboard for the donor station. Look for the advertisement which is located on the hillside near the Plantation Motel.

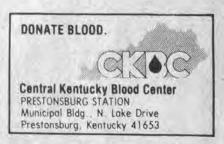

Radio stations WQHY and WPRT have been announcing special spots and friends around town will be live and on tape to urge any potential donor to come in to donate for Floyd county.

The donor station's staunchest supporters find satisfaction is the greatest when you bring a friend along to donate. The time seems shorter and it is more fun when you are with a friend.

The DONORAMA will take place at the Prestonsburg donor station on the second floor of the Municipal Building on Tuesday, December 22, 12 noon-8 p.m., Wednesday, December 23, 9 a.m.-5 p.m., and Thursday, December 24, 9 a.m.-12 noon.

Despite the state's first unemployment rate increase this year, the number of non-agricultural wage and salary jobs in Kentucky increased during October, according to Department for Human Resources' statistics released today.

Statistics based on monthly employer surveys indicated that nonagricultural wage and salary jobs in the state increased 2,7000 in October to 1.202 million reported a 2,700 job downtown from September while the state's lumber. wood products and non-electrical machinery industries registered advances during October.

The department reported the state's manufacturing employment has increased 3,800 since October 1980, while the non-manufacturing industries lost 16,400 jobs. The number of government jobs declined 9,600 for the 12-month period, and the number of construction jobs dropped 5,700. Other declines include a 2,800, and mining and quarry-

VA To Make It Easier On Veterans' Records

Veterans who can't locate a birth or marriage certificate can still apply for Veterans Administration benefits.

Lee Caudill, director of the VA regional office in Louisville, said that some veterans don't apply for benefits to which they may be entitled because the VA previously held these documents essential.

VA will accept certified statements from applicants in instances where documents needed to establish eligibility for benefits are lost or unavailable.

Caudill said that in the case of a marriage, this policy applies only to the first marriage for each partner, and there must be no contradictory information on file with the agency.

Only recently has the agency accepted a certified statement regarding the birth of a child or as proof of age and relationship in disability cases.

Caudill said the policy affects all claims for compensation and pension, and educational benefits for veterans, widows and orphaned children.

A Veterans Administration dental care is available for veterans receiving VA compensation at the 100 percent rate for service connected disabilities.

There is a difference in the quality of diamonds.

Are you buying diamond rings at what you think are wholesale or discount prices?

When economic times get tough, a number of predictable things happen. One very unpleasant fact is that too many retailers or so-called retailers or "wholesaler-retailers"-take advantage of consumer's genuine desire and/or need for a bargain to cheat them blind. This is politely called deceptive pricing. In fact, it's stealing.

THE GATHERING, PART II

Christmas is reunion time for two members of a troubled family-Tom (Lawrence Pressman) and sister Helen (Veronica Hamel of NBC-TV's "Hill Street Blues")-in "The Gathering, Part II," a poignant drama to be repeated on "NBC Movie of the Week," FRIDAY, DECEMBER 25.

Maureen Stapleton returns in the sequel to the 1977 Emmy Award-winning holiday drama. Two years after the death of her husband, Kate Thornton receives a handsome offer for his business from industrialist Victor Wainwright (Efrem Zimbalist, Jr.), but family problems predominate and there is opposition to Wainwright's offer and his

Western Kentucky U. Makes Talent Search

Western Kentucky University is conducting a talent search for youths and veterans to participate in a new program to help them continue their educations beyond the high school level.

Western is one of 12 institutions across the nation selected this fall to receive funding from the U.S. Department of Education for a new Talent Search Project.

Talent Search serves youths between the ages of 14 and 27 or veterans of any age who are in high school, are high school or college dropouts, or who graduate from high school but have not continued into postsecondary education.

"The purpose of the project is to help the student who has academic potential in high school to get started on the road to continuing in school," says Dr. Faye Robinson, associate vice president for academic affairs at WKU who is supervising the project.

To be eligible for project services, which include career and educational counseling and assistance in gaining admission to and obtaining financial aid for programs, youths must have potential for success in college or in a vocational education program, must be of an economically disadvantaged

HOLD CHRISTMAS MEETING

1981 Highway Toll Less Thru November

At the end of last month there had been 41 highway fatalities in Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Pike counties in the first 11 months of this year—five fewer than during the same period of 1980.

Yet, according to State Police records, there were 238 accidents in the five-county area last month, three deaths and 78 injuries resulting.

Statewide, the highway fatalities through November this year totalled 738—nine fewer than in 1980.

In November personnel of State Police Post 9 at Pikeville issued 805 traffic citations, answered 678 complaints, made 194 criminal investigations and 120 criminal arrests

TO THE GROUND Furnace Destroys Structure

WAS NEW BUILDING

Fire burned to the ground the new $25,000 school building at Auxier morning, and all school Thursday equipment save the desks from two rooms were destroyed.

The building has been used only four months. It was a two-story brick structure of eight rooms and had a student body of 250, with five teachers in charge.

Forrest Short, principal of the school, said here Thursday morning that the blaze is believed to have started from the furnace, which had not been satisfactory for some time. The janitor had lighted a fire in the furnace early Thursday morning, and had then returned to his home for breakfast. Upon his return he discovered that the structure was on fire. The blaze started at 7:15 o'clock.

Efforts of firefighters to check the flames with a small hose and fire extinguishers were in vain. Three sides of the wall were left standing though badly cracked.

Loss is believed to be covered by insurance

Money Matters

Whatever Happened to Proposition 13?

Two years after the passage of California's Proposition 13 the results of the much-ballyhooed property tax reduction appear to bear little resemblence to what the voters had in mind.

· Only 24 percent of the tax break has benefitted homeowners whose property is used solely as the owner's residence. Some 40 percent of the savings has been realized by commercial users, while the remainder has been rechanneled into state and federal coffers.

· An independent pollster found that 59 percent of California's voters wanted cutbacks in welfare appropriations. Only 13 percent sought educational funding cuts. Yet the funds which the election day mandate affected, local property taxes, contribute only 13 percent of the state's welfare costs while accounting for half of the monies used for educational purposes.

· Municipal services have yet to be significantly curtailed by Proposition 13 thanks to state "bailouts," paid for with California state budget surpluses. This dependence of local services on state funds results in a decline in local, and thus voter, control.

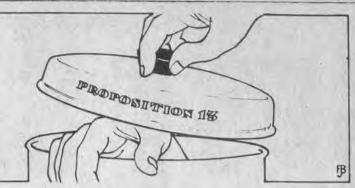

. The wage and employment picture has been adversely influenced. Most municipal and state workers did not get wage hikes last year. Almost 18,000 were laid off. Reductions in government construction and maintenance contracts have further clouded the job outlook.

A different approach to reducing local taxes was recently proposed by New York investment banker Felix Rohatyn. It involves applying the federal tax incentive program to local government levies.

To do this, Rohatyn suggests tying the federal share of welfare and medicaid costs to the local tax rate. Specifically, he recommends that the federal government increase its share of welfare or medicaid costs by $1 for every $3 in municipal tax reductions. By easing the burden of welfare and medicaid costs, Rohatyn says, local governing bodies could more readily cut taxes without biting into essential services.

New York City Council President Carol Bellamy maintains that competition between public and private sector services can be used to control city government expenses and thus tax rates. Services such as sanitation ploy to tighten the reins on expenses and day care can be provided in part is the direct marketing of city notes by the city itself and in part by private contractors. This approach, according to Bellamy, establishes a gauge for the cost effectiveness of outside contracts and enables the city to break off undesirable were two points lower than those agreements without eliminating services in the affected areas.

There's A 'World Of Cooking' On KET

There's a world of cooking on KET beginning Sunday, December 13 at 6:30 p.m.

The December 13 airdate marks the KET premiere of the 11-part, international culinary series. "The World of Cooking.

Each Sunday, the half-hour programs take viewers to another part of the world to visit great chefs of France. Italy, Spain, Hong Kong, Germany, Tokyo, Mexico and other countries. In each nation, a chef prepares his favorite meal from start to finish, and includes his own personal flourishes and tips on ingredients and techniques.

Besides visits to the kitchens, viewers are treated to a tour of the countryside-open air markets, fishing ports and farms-where the chef picks the freshest meats and vegetables for the meal.

Accounting for Inflation

Corporate revenues and profits, as disclosed in quarterly reports, have little meaning if inflation is not given consideration. The Financial Accounting Standards Board, which sets guidelines for corporate accountants, has attempted to rectify this situation through its rule 33, pertaining to inflation accounting.

The comparisons made by publicly traded companies in their disclosure statements traditionally have dealt with current dollars, thus failing to recognize the difference in the value of the dollar in the respective reporting periods. Inflation accounting makes these comparisons in terms of constant dollars.

To demonstrate how inflation accounting can change the picture presented in an earnings report, take a look at General Motors. GM's sales in 1978 were 77 percent greater than they were in 1973. Net earnings showed a 46 percent hike over the same period.

However, if you convert these profit figures from current to constant dollars, you'll see that inflation consumed 57 percent of the sales revenue increase, and all of the profit rise. In other words, the $8.34 your GM stock share earned in 1973 is equal in value to the $12.24 that same share earned in 1978, when the difference between 1973 and 1978 dollars is taken into account.

To Vehicle-Owners

Floyd county residents with car license stickers expiring in December, January or February may purchase new stickers according to C. Ollie Robinson, Floyd County Clerk. Stickers, handicapped parking plates, motorcycle plates or personalized plates will be available at the county court clerk's office in the courthouse in Prestonsburg from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Monday through Thursday, and on Friday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. The license fee is $12.50.

Licenses may be purchased by mail by sending a check for $13.50 to C. Ollie Robinson, Floyd County Clerk, P.O. Box 29. Prestonsburg, Ky., 41653. Checks must be made payable to C. Ollie Robinson, Floyd County Clerk. 12-9-2t

The Floyd County Times Travel LUGI Line Travel Fraud Consumer fraud in the travel industry appears to be on the upswing. According to Michael Pertschuk, Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, the two areas his agency most often hears complaints about are overbooked hotels and various deficiencies in package tours. These range from itinerary and carrier changes to failure to receive advertised items. The Civil Aeronautics Board has ruled that travel ads must disclose hotel substitutions, advertise alternative departure dates and times, and WE WILL CLOSE AT 6 P.M. If you're going by car, there's probably not much of a Lb problem. But if you're going by plane, there are a few things you should know about that tuba-or any other out-of-the-ordinary gear you're planning to "pack. While most airlines will allow you KRAFT 32-0Z. to stow two bags in the cargo hold and one more under your seat with no charge and little fuss, they do have strict rules governing non-MARTHA WHITE baggage and oversized items.

of a one-way fare, but check with your travel agent to make sure.

For example, given its size and relative delicacy, that tuba may need a ticket of its own. Many musicians elect to buy a ticket for their musical companions when given the choice of traveling together or sending them alone via Air Freight or Small

Package Dispatch. The cost of staying together is generally one half 10022.

For other non-baggage items, including hazardous materials (propane gas cylinders, lighter fluid, book matches, etc.), portable TV sets, sewing machines, cameras, paintings and liquids, you will have to find some other means of transport. Two alternatives are Air Freight and Small Package Dispatch. An airline representative will be able to help you make alternative plans.

If it's Fido or Kitty, be forewarned that special rules and traveling charges apply. Again, these vary from carrier to carrier, so check before you show up at the airport, leash in hand. In fact, most airlines ask you to make arrangements for traveling pets at the time you make your own reservations.

In general, the airlines ask that your pet be checked in as baggage, and that it travel in a suitable and approved container. (These can be bought from the airlines for $15 to $40 depending on size.) Some airlines will allow a limited number of pets to ride in the cabin with their owners. How limited that number is depends on the size of the plane. One important note: Pets must remain in their carriers throughout the trip!

Finally, there are over-size items which the airlines readily allow you to take with you-at no extra charge. They will also often provide special carrying cases for these items.

Baggage in this category includes skiing and fishing gear and sporting firearms. Other paraphernalia, like scuba equipment, surfboards and bicycles, are also allowed but generally involve a handling charge.

Check with your travel agent or a local airline office before you head for the airport. Then leave enough time, once you get there, to make sure that everything is checked in properly.

Farewell to Kentucky Dam Village

The pre-legislative Conference is now only an item in the history books. Beginning in January of 1983, members of the General Assembly, old and new, will meet in Frankfort for a 10-day "organizational" session. New member orientation won't be as critical for the new legislators who will serve a year before the Legislature convenes. And leadership for the two houses will also be selected at that time.

But for the next year at least 16 men and women who campaigned hard at the Kentucky Dam Village conference last week will lead the 1982 General Assembly and serve on the powerful Legislative Research Commission during the interim.

Elected to leadership positions in the Senate are:

President pro tempore, Joe Prather, D-Vine Grove; assistant president protem, Delbert Murphy, D-Owensboro; Democratic floor leader, Joe Wright, Harned; Republican floor leader, Eugene Stuart, Prospect; Democratic caucus chairman, David Karem, Louisville; Republican caucus chairman, Doug Moseley, Columbia; Democratic whip, Helen Garrett, Paducah; Republican whip, Clyde Middleton, Ft. Mitchell.

Elected to leadership positions in the House are:

Speaker, Bobby Richardson, D-Glasgow; speaker pro-tem, David Thomason, R-Henderson; Democratic floor leader, Jim LeMaster, Paris; Republican floor leader, Arthur Schmidt, Cold Spring; Democratic caucus chairman, Bill Donnermeyer, Bellevue; Republican caucus chairman, Herman Rattliff, Campbellsville; Democratic whip, Jim Dunn, Pleasure Ridge Park; Republican whip, Woody Allen, Morgantown.

In addition to leadership elections and orientation sessions, several interim joint committee meetings were also held during the course of the fourday conference. Responsibility for area development districts should be transferred to the governor's office, according to members of the subcommittee on ADDs. The panel passed a resolution to that effect A bill relating to solid waste disposal by Kentucky counties was approved by the Interim Joint Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources. The Appropriations and Revenue Committee met for sevaral hours and one of the topics of discussion-besides gloomy budget predictions-was tax incentives for businesses. A congressional redistricting plan approved by the subcommittee on redistricting was not enthusiastically supported by the Interim Joint Committee on State Government. That committee-will continue looking at reapportionment proposals.

Construction and Equipment Purchase Oversight Committee that several inquiries have been made toward the purchase of the helicopter. however, the governor decided to leave it up to the next General Assembly to decide if it should be sold.

The legislators asked Wellman and Air Transport Director Robert Kellogg to help gather information on the cost of air transportation for state government.

Kellogg explained that the contract with Omni Air specifies the use of 480 hours of air travel per year. The charter service would be for time in addition to the use of the helicopter.

In response to legislators' questions on the sale of the state air fleet, Kellogg replied: "We didn't sell ourselves short, we sold ourselves out."

... river task force work continues

The Kentucky River Task Force will investigate legislative options for keeping 10 locks and dams on the Kentucky River open, gather information from West Virginia and Pennsylvania on their experiences of taking over the systems on their rivers, gather detailed information from the Army Corps of Engineers, and obtain a status report from the Kentucky congressional delegation on their actions to prohibit the permanent closure of the system. The task force will meet Dec. 18 at 10 a.m. in Frankfort to discuss their findings.

Voids Fireworks Permits

The state fire marshal's office is canceling all wholesale fireworks permits effective Dec. 31.

In letters to fireworks wholesale distributors, Deputy Fire Marshal Morgan Kelly said the wholesalers may reapply for permits but they must meet the requirements of state laws and regulations.

Kelly said the permits are being canceled because, "the manufacturers have not been sending reports from qualified labs. If they comply (with the law's requirements) we will reissue permit numbers."

Approved fireworks have a number issued by the office and the letters SFM printed on them. The SFM number is assigned after the office evaluates reports from qualified laboratories. Those reports, which must be submitted by the manufacturers, describe the contents of the fireworks.

Kelly said if manufacturer comply with the law, the chances of a cidents happening should be lessened.

This is the third time in recent years the office has canceled the permits. The previous cancellations occurred in 1973 and 1979.

Observe Golden Anniversary

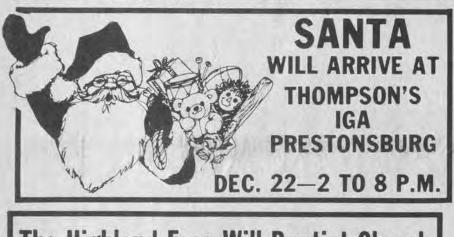

Mr. and Mrs. Harmel C. Roberts, of Rt. 1, Toler Creek, observed their 50th wedding anniversary on November 21. Their anniversary was October 20, but on that date Mr. Roberts was a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lexington, where he had undergone heart surgery following a long illness.

A dinner was held in their honor and much thanks was expressed for the joy of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts' children presented them with a three-liered wedding cake, baked by their daughter-in-law. Mrs. Sandra Roberts, and her mother, Mrs. Loretta Conn, of Prater Creek. The cake was decorated with golden wedding rings, bells, and cherubs.

They were also presented with many nice gifts from the following family members and friends who shared the occasion with them:

Leo and Sue Roberts, Timmy, Brian and Steve Hatfield, Lydia, Shannon, Diane and Belinda Robinette, Keith and Valerie Chaffins, Thomas, Thelma, Jeffery, Morna, and Tommy Spears, James, Dora, Sheldon, Michael, and Jody Roberts, Patricia, Lela, and Lisa Layne, Jerry, Delilah, Dwayne, and Tina Roberts, Larry, Sandra, and Ashley Roberts, Scarlet Hall, Tammy Roberts, Norma Roberts, Wayne and Brenda Salisbury, Stephanie, Jessica, and Brenda Damron, Auxier and Erma Damron, Millard and Delcie Hamilton, Darrell Newsome, Marty Meade, Bob Richards, Lena Rogers, Billy Roberts and Amanda Sturgill.

Mrs. Roberts, who is the former Lurlie Salisbury, and Mr. Roberts were married October 20, 1931 in Prestonsburg by the Rev. J. M. Helm. They are the parents of five sons, Leo, Charles, James, Jerry, and Larry, and five daughters, Lydia, Thelma, Patricia, Scarlet, and Tammy. Mr. Roberts is a retired miner, who worked in the coal fields of West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky for 30 years. Mrs. Roberts is a retired merchant, who for many years served the residents of the Toler Creek section

The Highland Free Will Baptist Church

Burgess and Rhoda Compton (pictured, in front) celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary October 30 at the Little Nancy Regular Baptist Church lunchroom. Many friends and relatives were there. Standing in the picture is Mrs. Compton's sister, Bertha Frazier. These three are the remaining charter members of the Little Nancy church, which was organized in 1935.

Tribute To Former Floyd County Woman

(The following written by Darlene Young in her Nov. 11 TAPROOT column of The Big Sandy News, Louisa. pertains to Blanche Allen Porter, native Floyd county woman.)

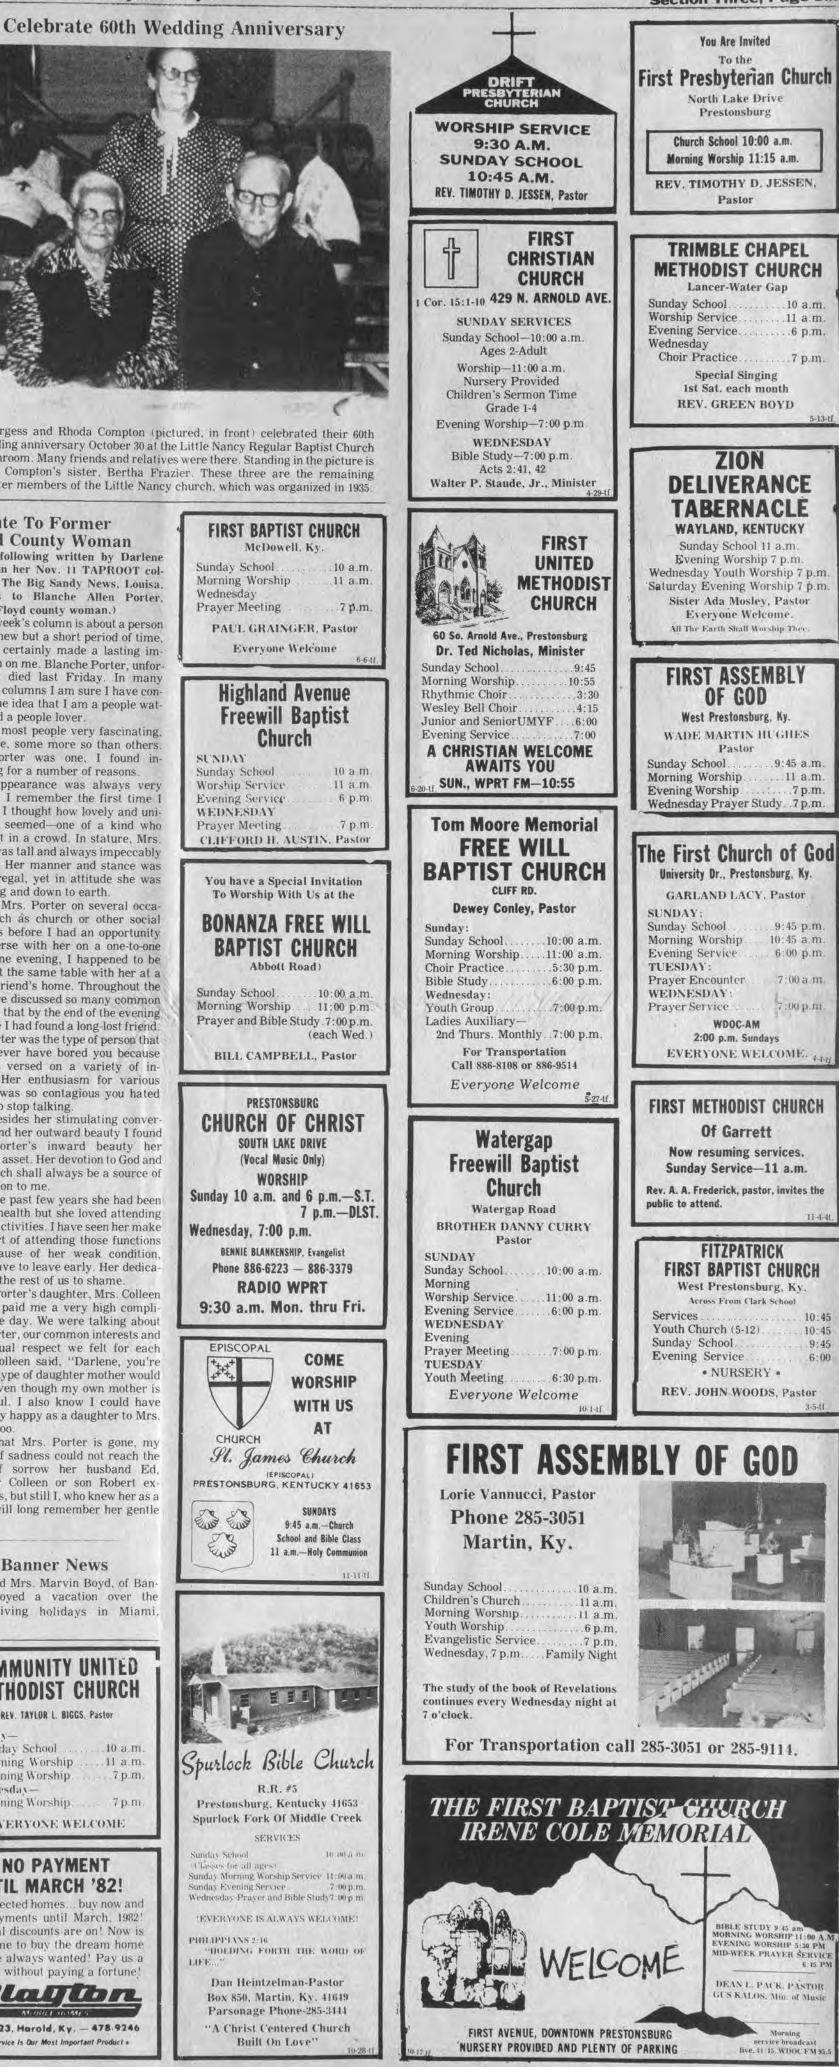

This week's column is about a person that I knew but a short period of time, but she certainly made a lasting impression on me. Blanche Porter, unfortunately died last Friday. In many Taproot columns I am sure I have conveyed the idea that I am a people watcher and a people lover.

I find most people very fascinating. of course, some more so than others. Mrs. Porter was one, I found interesting for a number of reasons.

Her appearance was always very striking. I remember the first time I saw her I thought how lovely and unique she seemed-one of a kind who stood out in a crowd. In stature, Mrs. Porter was tall and always impeccably dressed. Her manner and stance was almost regal, yet in attitude she was charming and down to earth.

I saw Mrs. Porter on several occasions such as church or other social functions before I had an opportunity to converse with her on a one-to-one basis. One evening, I happened to be seated at the same table with her at a mutual friend's home. Throughout the dinner we discussed so many common interests that by the end of the evening. I felt like I had found a long-lost friend. Mrs. Porter was the type of person that would never have bored you because she was versed on a variety of interests. Her enthusiasm for various hobbies was so contagious you hated for her to stop talking.

But besides her stimulating conversation and her outward beauty I found Mrs. Porter's inward beauty her greatest asset. Her devotion to God and the church shall always be a source of inspiration to me. For the past few years she had been in poor health but she loved attending church activities. I have seen her make the effort of attending those functions but because of her weak condition. would have to leave early. Her dedication put the rest of us to shame. Mrs. Porter's daughter, Mrs. Colleen Wooten, paid me a very high compliment one day. We were talking about Mrs. Porter, our common interests and the mutual respect we felt for each other. Colleen said, "Darlene, you're just the type of daughter mother would like." Even though my own mother is wonderful. I also know I could have been very happy as a daughter to Mrs. Porter, too. Now that Mrs. Porter is gone, my feeling of sadness could not reach the depth of sorrow her husband Ed, daughter Colleen or son Robert experiences, but still I, who knew her as a friend, will long remember her gentle soul

SR. RADIO TECHNICIAN $12,576-$13,860 per year commensurate with experience. Needed immediately in Frankfort.

Minimum requirements: High school graduate supplemented by technical training in radio, electricity, or electronics. Four years experience in short wave and/or two-way radio operation, installation, maintenance, and repair. A valid second class radio/telphone license as issued by the Federal Communications Commission is required. Additional related experience may be substituted for education and/or technical training. Related vocational school training may also substitute for a portion of the required experience. "Without question, the Kentucky State Road Fund must have additional revenue if it is to serve our highway needs in this decade," said the chairman and chief executive officer of Ashland Oil. Inc., John R. Hall, at a statewide transportation conference

Francois commended KBT for bringing all modes of transportation together to discuss the problems and solutions. "Kentucky is a great state with an even greater future," he said. "But that future cannot happen if we do not repair our roads, maintain our waterways, and operate our airports and railroads."

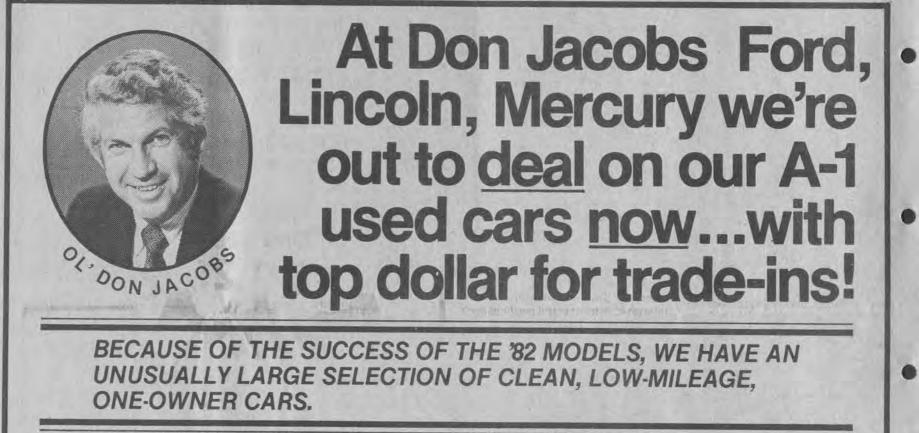

Ed Griffin, executive director of the Kentucky Municipal League, told the conference. "Transportation needs are critical to the future of Kentucky." He said. "It is difficult to raise taxes, but we must start addressing what is necessary to maintain our sewer and street systems. If we don't protect these interests, the business and industry we anticipate for Kentucky will never materialize."

The conference also focused on Kentucky's business and industry development. David Drake, deputy secretary of the state's Agriculture and Energy Cabinet said Kentucky is continuing the development of synthetic fuel plants. "With or without public involvement," he said, "Kentucky is continuing the development of synthetic fuel plants. "With or without public involvement," he said, "the state's synfuel plants will develop." However, he added, "the speed and magnitude (of the development) may be effected," if the federal government does not support the projects.

Job burnout is a term you hear more and more. It is a psychological condition caused by unrelieved stress. According to the December Reader's Digest, the most frequent—although certainly not the wisest, methods for coping with job stress are overeating, overdrinking, smoking, drug use and daydreaming. There are plenty of other better ways, like regular exercise, interest in a hobby, planning realistic goals.

In Reagan Plan, Volunteers To Fill Jobs Lost thru Cuts

By VICKI DENNIS, Kentucky Commission on Women

It's like the hill in front of my house-every day I see cars climbing up. Some go lickety-split up that hill in high. Some have to shift into second and some sputter and shake and slip back to the bottom again. Same cars-same gasoline-yet some make it and some don't. And I say the fellow who can make it in high should stop once in a while and help those who can't.

President Reagan

It is now official. Washington has finally admitted that America is in the middle of a recession. Jobs are tight; money is tight. Federal programs that provide culture, education and human, needs have been stricken by an unrelenting David Stockman in an effort to reverse our monetary woes. Libraries, health programs, hospitals, education programs, protective services such as spouse and child abuse programs, legal aid offices, town beautification projects-the list goes on and on-now find themselves short of not only money but staff positions as well. President Reagan's answer to the outcries of these groups is that he fully expects "the fellow who can make it...(to) help those who can't." The "fellows" he is talking about are America's volunteers. And Kentuckians, at least, seem to be meeting his expectations.

According to Norma Johnson, director of the Governor's Office of Volunteer Services, more than 500,000 Kentuckians are now volunteering their time and energy in a variety of good works throughout the state-and that is a very conservative estimate. And, according to Johnson and others, this figure is on the rise. "We went from 813 volunteers in 1979 to 1,000 in 1980," said Ed Klee, assistant director of field services with the Department of Library and Archives in Frankfort, "but that is a result of a coordinated effort of our "Friends of the Library" program to encourage more people to volunteer." Klee added that these people are needed in Kentucky's libraries 'to keep from cutting services.

Carol Mercke, director of volunteer services at St. Anthony's Hospital in Louisville, agrees. "Our volunteer applicants are up about 15 to 20 percent," she said. "More people seem to want to get involved in the community.

Mercke added that these newcomers are not the stereotypical "traditional volunteer. They are younger and very interested in meaningful positions such as in-patient education programs. community education and other areas. Very few of them volunteer to work in the gift shop or at the information desk

Johnson also paints a picture of the "new" volunteer. "What is changing is the Lady Bountiful image with her little basket of cookies. she said. day's volunteer is often a professional. active in a number of activities, and more likely to be organizing a fundraiser or sitting on a board of directors than to be passing out cookies." Johnson also maintains that women, on whose shoulders volunteerism has traditionally fallen, have not decreased their volunteer efforts, even though more and more of them have entered the job market. "Women in the paid work force aren't giving up their volunteer work," she said, "but rather continue to include it as part of their three-career life: their profession, the care of their homes and families, and their volunteer work." Judy Hanekamp, Louisville, a volunteer for a number of years, agrees. "I'm now getting ready to go back to school full-time, yet I don't want, or plan, to give up my volunteer work," she said. "It's become far too important to me." Hanekamp added that women who work full-time must feel the same way. "As a volunteer, you begin to see what the needs or out there," she said. "When you do get a paid job, you don't just instantly forget what you have seen." Another important change in the profile is that Lady Bountiful is many times now a male. "About 40 percent of our volunteers are now men," said Marcie Sleadd, with the Kentucky Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. Johnson said that throughout the state, men make up about 49 percent of Kentucky's volunteer force. Mercke said that while women still make up the large majority of St. Anthony's volunteer staff, "we are getting more and more young employed men and women volunteers who ask for non-traditional hours, in the evenings and on weekends." Sandy Grimsley, president of the Kentucky Society for Volunteer Services and director of volunteer services at the Owensboro-Daviess County Hospital, adds still another interesting piece to the volunteer profile. "We are also experiencing an increase in volunteer applications here at the hospital," she said, "but many of these people are unemployed. They have lost jobs through cutbacks or the recession and seem to need volunteer work to fill their time. Whatever the reason, we're glad to have them." Whether women or men, young or old, employed or not, volunteers make a huge difference in the quality of life in Kentucky and in the nation. Johnson cites the Kentucky Homemakers Association as just one example. Based on a formula prepared in a national survey to compute the monetary value 12-2, 12-16 of volunteer service, the 35,000 women state have, in just the last year, contributed more than $23 million in ser-almost every aspect of American life. the economic impact of their services is enormous, and the good they do is almost incalculable. Let's just hope that the president if right because unless these good "fellows" continue their hard work and unless thousands more choose to join the volunteer ranks, as Johnson said, "we can kiss society and civilization as we know it good-bye.

Mrs. Sarah Hale, 88, of Risner, mother of Jailer Lawrence Hale, died Saturday at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following a long illness. Born October 3, 1893 at Alphoretta, she was a daughter of the late Elijah and Mary Ousley Prater and was the wife of the late James Hale. She was a member of the Cold Springs Regular Baptist Church for 65 years.

Surviving her are two other sons, Willie Hale, of MacArthur, O., and Clyde Hale, of Martin; three daughters, Mrs. Thelma Ousley, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Verna Hicks, of Martin, and Mrs. Virginia Adkins, of Lima, O.; two sisters, Mrs. Gracie Burchett and Mrs. Narcie Click, both of Martin; 38 grandchildren, 65 greatgrandchildren, and five great-greatgrandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the chapel of the Hall Funeral Home by ministers of the Regular Baptist Church, and burial was made in the family cemetery at Risner.

Mrs. Hale's grandsons, Charles Hale, Ward D. Hale, Clarence Hale, Carlos Prater, Edward Ousley, Greg Adkins, and Billie Hicks, acted as pallbearers.

Students at the David School have completed their annual production of toys and gift items for Christmas, and recently paused to look over a display of the handmade items.

All made of wood under direction of John Combs, woodworking instructor, the articles which are currently on sale at the school include handmade cutting boards, paper towel racks, crayon holders, even a sturdy rocking horse, and numerous other wooden toys designed to last.

Proceeds from sale of the crafts, on display this week at the David School on Route 404 in David, will go to the students who made them, and to the school woodworking shop.

1982 Social Security Figures Told

The annual earnings base—the maximum amount of annual earnings that counts for Social Security—will increase to $32,400 for 1982, up from $29,700, the 1981 base, Jim Kelly, Social Security district director for the Big Sandy area, said recently.

The increase is based on the change in average earnings levels from 1980 to 1981.

Also scheduled to increase in 1982 is the Social Security tax rate, Kelly said. The 1982 tax rate will be 6.7 percent, an increase of .05 percent over the 1981 rate of 6.65 percent. The increase will amount to 50 cents a month for a person earning $1,000 a month.

PA Students Train At Martin Hospital

Two physician assistant students are currently receiving training at Our Lady of the Way Hospital. Pat Stall, of Lexington, and Georgia Percival, of Bainbridge Island, Washington, are second-year PA students, receiving practical training at the Family Health Center in Martin.

Stall is getting experience in obstetrics and gynecology under the direction of Dr. Chandra Varia. In addition to seeing patients in the office, she assists Dr. Chandra during deliveries and in surgery. A registered nurse, she works part-time at Good Samaritan Hospital, in Lexington, and hopes to specialize in emergency medicine.

Percival is studying pediatrics with Dr. Prem Verma. She sees patients with Dr. Verma and attends difficult obstetrical deliveries with him. She came to Kentucky to work for the US Census Bureau in 1979 as a statistician Other Social Security figures are scheduled to increase in 1982 as well. The annual exempt amount used in the annual earnings test will increase. The annual earnings test is the measure used to determine whether a person will receive benefits during a year. A person whose earnings do not exceed the annual exempt amount will receive all benefits due for the year. A person's benefits are reduced $1 for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount.

In 1982, the annual exempt amount for people 65-72 will be $6,000. For people under 65 all of 1982, the exempt amount will be $4,440. These exemptions do not apply to people drawing disability.

There is also some important news concerning the age at which the earnings test no longer applies, Kelly said. Under the law in effect before 1981 the age at which the earnings test no longer applies was scheduled to drop from 72 to 70 in 1982. A 1981 law delayed the change to 1983.

More information about Social Security taxes and benefits may be obtained at the Big Sandy Social Security office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is 886-8525.

First Presbyterian Plans Dinner, Program

The First Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Christmas dinner and program on Sunday, December 20, at 6 p.m. The program is being coordinated by Mrs. Drema Miller and the dinner by Mrs. Rose Price. Participating in the program which begins at 7:30 p.m., will be the Junior, Youth, and Adult choirs of the church, along with the children's Sunday School classes. The theme of the program, "A Gift of Love" centers on gifts that we offer the Christ-child, and includes the traditional nativity scene.

Directing the Juniors are Ella Faye Music and Anne Howard; Elma Jessen directs the Youth choir, and Caroline Owens is organist. The Rev. Timothy Jessen is pastor.

Value of 1980 Timber Harvest In Floyd Was Lowest in Area

Kentucky's annual timber harvest returns more than $135 million to state woodland owners and operators, according to a study of 1980 crop values conducted by the Kentucky Forest Industries Association.

The study showed a 1980 harvest of 743.5 million board feet in standing timber with a total value of $135.1 million. A similar study conducted in 1975 showed a harvest of 728.1 million board feet valued at $91.5 million.

The 1980 harvest in Floyd county amounted to 1.5 million board feet with a total value of $207,972 of the 255,500 acres of land in the county, 216.500 acres, or 83%, were listed as forest land.

Similar figures for other area counties were:

Johnson county, 135,600 acres forest land (80%) 3.369 million board feet (MBF) marketed for $607,674. Knott county, 208,400 acres forest land (89%), 4.871 MBF marketed for $877.257 Magoffin, 163,300 acres forest (84%), 5.123 MBF marketed for $923,387. Martin, 131,800 acres forest (88%), 6.178 MBF marketed for $1,113,512.

Pike, 441.700 acres forest (88%). 6.93 MBF marketed for $1,249,201. According to the KFIA report, annual growth continues to outstrip each year's harvest. Currently, the ratio of growth to harvest is 2.08 to 1, the report said.

More than 90 percent of Kentucky's commercial woodland-some 11.9 million acres in all-is privately controlled in non-industrial holdings that average less than 100 acres in size.

Forest-related industries, the report said, are active in 103 of the state's 120 counties, employ nearly 20,000 production personnel and generate nearly $175 million in direct and indirect payrolls each year.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO OWNERS OF RENTAL HOUSING

The Floyd County Housing Authority is administering a Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program in Floyd County using funds provided by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement. The cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, by the owner, or by any other source available to the owner. The agency does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners to obtain financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, the agency and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit on the owner's investment. For a fifteen year period, the owner will rent the rehabilitated unit(s) to eligible lower income tenants, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. the agency will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. The initial occupant of a rehabilitated unit may be the owner's present eligible tenant. After rehabilitation the rent(including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

New Lease on Life Insurance A new type of life insurance that pegs premium rates and insurance benefits to prevailing interest rates has been developed by Charter National Life Insurance Company of St. Louis. Single Premium Interest Adjustable Whole Life provides cash value whole life coverage at a substantially lower price than conventional whole life policies, in most cases, according to Charter National.

Interest rate levels are important in determining the cost of insurance policies because they determine the rate of return the insurance company earns on its investments. Insurance companies invest premiums and cash values and use the return on those investments to pay administrative costs and death claims.

The higher the interest rates, the greater the rate of return on the insurance company's investments, and the lower the cost of the insurance policy to the policyholder, since the company needs less capital to meet its costs.

Conventional life insurance policies base premiums and benefits on a single interest rate for the life of the loan. This interest rate assumption is generally conservative since it must be valid for the lifetime of the policy, and therefore may not fully take into account a tendency towards higher interest rates.

Single Premium Interest Adjustable Whole Life provides two levels of benefits:

• Guaranteed death benefits and cash values based on a minimum interest assumption level for the life of the policy.

• Additional death benefits and cash values guaranteed for five years and subject to review every five years.

On every fifth policy anniversary, the additional death benefits and cash values are determined from the interest rate declared by the company for the new five-year period. If the declared interest rate assumption changes in succeeding five-year periods, the death benefits and future cash values are adjusted upwards or downwards accordingly, but never below the guaranteedfor-life level.

As you might have guessed from its name, the new type of policy requires a single premium. The single premium feature gives the policy immediate cash value, almost equal to the single premium. But alternative methods of payment are available.

Bronchial asthma can often be traced to allergues. A competent allergist can evaluate and treat the asthma patient in an effort to reduce symptoms. Often, a tightening in the chest, stressful breathing and wheezing associated with asthma is relieved when the patient is relaxed. Smoke, chemical fumes, allergens, acrossi sprays, exhaustion and emotional stress can all play a part in initiating an attack. Drugs however, can be prescribed to relax spastic contraction of muscles, promote expectorationa nd decrease any accumulation of fluid in the lungs.

Agency Strategy

If you are considering changing jobs, whether you have definite plans to change in the immediate future or simply have a vague feeling that you don't want to stay where you are forever, your chances of finding something satisfactory will be increased considerably if you follow a few basic guidelines. Experts in the personnel field offer the following suggestions:

• Using a quality agency will give you better results than looking for work on your own, for a number of reasons. The agency can make a far more thorough and selective job search than you can. They already know where the jobs are and their selectivity can save you a lot of unnecessary and frustrating preliminary screening and interviews.

• Agencies' services are almost always free. Especially at management levels, the vast majority of employers will pay any fee the agency charges.

• Agencies are particularly valuable if you are considering moving to a different city. Agencies that are part of the National Personnel Associates recruiting network can cooperate with member agencies in other cities to place you there, saving you both time and money.

• The agency can give you valuable advice on interview techniques, especially since they may have some insight into the employers' personality, preferences and past history with employees.

• Work with only one or two quality agencies, and try to establish a rapport with the counselors. If you're not being treated as an individual, go somewhere else.

• Keep your resume on file with an agency and keep in touch, even if you aren't presently looking for a job. That way you can keep track of what's happening in your field and grab a good opportunity if one comes along.

• Don't just look for a job, have a career plan in mind.

 Be sure the agency will keep all information confidential. You certainly don't want your present employer to find out you're looking for work:

New KET Mini-Series

Television's "Mister Rogers" will be the host of "I AM, I CAN, I WILL" premiering Monday, December 14, at 3:30 p.m. on KET.

This new mini-series consists of eight consecutive half-hour programs and illustrates for children how to foster a healthy attitude toward handicaps in oneself and others. The host, with the aid of his friends Betty Aberlin, Chef Brockett, and Chrissy Thompson from 'Mister Rogers' Neighborhood,' discuss a wide spectrum of emotional frustrations in children ranging from teasing, depression, and anger, to waiting, playing and pretending. The focal point is that disabled people are unique, valuable and competent human beings who are capable of loving and being loved.

The series, airing from December 14 to January 11 on KET, illustrates various positive role models for the physically disabled child to discuss and possibly emulate.

Soft Wool May Be Worn Year-Round

Challis is such a sheer, lightweight wool fabric it feels weightless and actually can be worn the year-round. Because wool is a natural insulator. vou can feel comfortable wearing it in both cool and warm weather.

Tiny air pockets created by the natural crimp in the wool fibers insulate the body from heat and cold. Wool also absorbs body moisture, carries the moisture to the outside of the garment, and leaves a dry layer of fabric next to the skin.

A worsted wool fabric in a sheer. plain weave, challis is one of the softest wool fabrics made. Traditionally, challis is printed with a small floral design, but it is also produced in darker tones of allover print and plain colors. When woven in black or navy, challis is called nun's veiling.

Challis is most commonly used in dresses and blouses. A dress of challis makes a wonderful traveling companion, Lightweight, soft and comfortable, challis looks businesslike during the day under a jacket and elegant in the evening dressed up with appropriate accessories.

Think soft and flowing as you look for patterns for this soft wool. Keep in mind that you'll want a design that allows plenty of ease with fullness through the bust, hips and hemline This sheer fabric does not tailor well nor is it meant to take the added strain of a tightly fitted garment. Besides, you'll want to_take advantage of the fabric's superb draping and gathering qualities. Due to the softness and sheerness of challis, certain areas, such as collars, necklines, cuffs, center front openings and yokes, need to be reinforced. Linings and interfacings should be of the same weight or lighter than the fashion fabric. Since challis is sheer, it is suggested to place the lining and/or interfacing behind the challis to ensure that they are color compatible. Hold the interfacing with the challis and mold them together to check for the desired effect.

Staystitch curved and diagonal seams. You may wish to use seam binding or twill tape at shoulder and waistline seams. Use any appropriate seam finish to prevent raveling.

Before hemming, press the garment and let it hang for at least 24 hours to allow wool fibers to relax. After marking the hemline, turn and press. Trim the hem allowance to 112 to 2 inches, gather the excess fullness and steam press. Steam pressing will cause the fullness to draw in and lie flat. A line of zigzag stitching along the raw edge of the hem is more effective than seam binding to prevent raveling, and it is less conspicuous.

Although challis should be drycleaned, you can make these trips less frequent by removing spots and stains immediately, by airing the garment after each wearing.

You peanut butter lovers should know what evaporated milk does for all foods. It brings out the flavors you want to taste most. Try this easy recipe and see.

2 cups sugar 3 tablespoons butter 1 cup evaporated milk 1 cup miniature marshmallows 1/4 cup finely chopped

1 jar (12 Oz.) chunk-style peanut butter (1-1/3 cups) l teaspoon vanilla salted peanuts, if you like

In heavy 2-quart saucepan combine sugar, butter and evaporated milk. Bring to a rolling boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Continue boiling and stirring for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add marshmallows, peanut butter, and vanilla. Stir vigorously until marshmallows and peanut butter are melted and mixture blended. Turn into buttered 8 inch square pan. Sprinkle chopped peanuts over top and press down gently into fudge. Mark in squares, cut when cold. Yield: about 2 pounds.

Police Alert for Drinking Drivers

If you are planning to do any drinking over Christmas or New Year's Eve, State Police Commissioner Marion D Campbell has some advice you would be wise to keep in mind: Don't drive.

Every year at this time state police traditionally issue the usual holiday safe driving advisories, but this year's messages also include some especially tough talk from Campbell for the drinking driver.

What it boils down to is this: If you are going to drink and drive despite all the warnings to the contrary, you could be in for a "very un-merry holiday," Campbell said.

Orders already have been sent out to troopers in the field instructing them to be especially alert for the drinking driver, according to Campbell.

The commissioner cited a rise in alcohol-related accidents over the past several months as the chief reason behind his get-tough order. Of the 21,951 accidents attributed either to driving over the speed limit or using alcohol during 1980, more than 51 percent were speed-related, he said. This year, however, there has been a complete turnaround in that ratio. Of the 15,852 accidents analyzed thus far this year, more than half have been attributed to alcohol.

That, coupled with the fact that fatalities are on the rise-"plus the amount of partying which has become a tradition over Christmas and New Year's Eve"-has state police worried, Campbell said.

Campbell declined to identify those areas where patrol concentrations will be the heaviest. "All you have to do to avoid them is drive sober and within the speed limit," he said. "I can promise you we will be making the maximum use of some new technology to stay one up on the traffic violator.

Campbell's reference to a "new technology" relates to a program begun last spring in which state police started using computers to write patrol schedules based on the computerized analysis of incoming accident data from all law enforcement agencies in the state.

"The computers tell us where the high-accident locations are right down to the tenth of a mile along every road in the state. We then use that information as a basis for determining when and where to concentrate our patrols," he said

Campbell also said state police will also be using air patrol to watch traffic in addition to the one-man, one car patrols familiar to everyone. Several squads of troopers also will be moving about the state, from one location to another, conducting traffic roadblocks which, he said, are a particularly effective way of finding and getting the drinking drivers off the road.

The commissioner also called upon motorists to cooperate by reporting to the nearest state police post the license numbers of any vehicle they believe may have a drinking driver behind the wheel.

"It's your life they endanger and, with your cooperation, we just might be able to keep you from becoming the next highway statistic," he said. "The bottom line is we need the public's help if we are going to make our highways a safer place for everyone.'

Spring Turkey Season Set According To Fish And Wildlife Comm.

Kentucky's spring wild turkey hunting season will open April 17, according to proposed regulations adopted by the Fish and Wildlife Commission in its quarterly meeting Dec. 6.

The season will run for two weeks (through April 30) in Bath, Rowan, Pike, Letcher, Menifee, Harlan, Butler, Crittenden and Christian county east of US 41A, as well as on the Pioneer Weapons and Pine Mountain wildlife management areas.

A seven-day season (though April 23) will be the rule in Ballard, Casey, Leslie, McCreary and Marion counties and on the Beaver Creek and Redbird wildlife areas. The turkey season at Land Between The Lakes will run from April 14 through April 25, and on Ft. Campbell from April 10 through 25, with no hunting on Mondays and Tuesdays on this military post.

Ft. Knox, which allows only limited turkey hunting to off-post civilians, has scheduled its season for all Saturdays and Sundays in April, depending upon military training activities on the post.

Other regulations remain essentially unchanged from last season. The limit is one turkey gobbler per hunter per year, except that two turkeys may be taken if one is harvested from Ft. Knox, Ft. Campbell or Land Between, the Lakes.

All turkey hunters must have a turkey permit ($6.50) in addition to a valid statewide hunting license and all turkeys taken must be checked at an official check station. Hunting hours for wild turkeys will be from one-half hour before sunrise until noon (prevailing time) except at Ft. Campbell and Land Between the Lakes, where turkeys may be hunted until one-half hour after sunset.

In other action, the commission voted to remove the size limit on black bass taken from Lake Malone and from Shanty Hollow Lake. Also, a "slot limit" will be placed on bass fishing at Elmer Davis Lake. Under this slot limit, bass from 12 to 16 inches may not be kept, but smaller or larger bass may be taken. These changes will be effective March 1, 1982.

The commission also voted to allow gigging and snagging of rough fish in Trammel Creek in Allen and Warren counties downstream from the Old State Ford. The upper sections of the creek, which are stocked with trout, will remain closed to gigging and snagging. This regulation change will require from 60 to 90 days to become effective.

Square Dance Classes Offered At Martin

Square dancing is great fun and an excellent means of burning a lot of excess calories as well, and a group of interested persons have organized at Martin to conduct classes in Westernstyle square dancing.

The classes meet on Thursdays from 7-10 p.m. and this Thursday's meeting will be the last until Jan. 7 when most holiday activities have passed. Cost of the square dance instruction is $4.00 per couple per session and the money is used to pay the caller and instructor, Jim Rice, of Louisa. Bay Prater, who is active in tradi-

Ray Prater, who is active in traditional dance activities in this area, said it is hoped that enough interest will be shown to justify the teaching of clogging in addition to the Western-style square dancing.

The classes meet at the Martin School and everyone is invited to take advantage of the classes.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY, REQUIRING TRANSPORT VEHICLES TO BE COVERED OR ENCLOSED WHEN TRANSPORTING CERTAIN MATERIALS WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY.

SECTION 1: That any motor vehicle operated within the corporate limits of the City of Prestonsburg to transport garbage, swill, cans, bottles, glass, crockery, trees or parts thereof, brush, coal, slag, silt, sand, gravel, coke rock, trash, litter, debris or refuse of any kind whatsoever shall be fully enclosed or covered by a tarpaulin or other suitable material so as to prevent the materials being transported from being deposited in the course of transporting, upon the streets, sidewalks, passways, or upon any public or private highway or road, including any portion of the right-of-way thereof, or in or upon any private property into or upon which the public is admitted by easement or license, or upon any private property, or in or upon any public park of other public property

SECTION 2: Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to require or to place any owner or operator of a motor vehicle in a position of danger and, therefore, any motor vehicle carrying materials which are combustible and present a clear and present danger of inflaming the cover required by this ordinance are hereby exempt from the provisions contained herein.

SECTION 3: All Ordinance and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith, to the extent of such conflict only, are hereby repealed.

SECTION 4: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, as required by law.

SMALL GAME, WATERFOWL SEASONS ARE OPEN

Small game hunters who ventured out on the first weekend of the 1981 season were greeted with Kentucky's first taste of winter weather, with strong winds and snow flurries making hunting conditions less than ideal.

However, an informal check around the commonwealth shows that quail and rabbit numbers are up in all regions of the state. Rabbit populations are looking particularly good, while quail numbers, while still below average, are better than they've been in several years.

A lot of hunters apparently didn't have time to catch their breath between the Nov. 16 closing of the gun deer season and the opening of small game hunting Nov. 19.

And to top it off, the first phase of the duck season opened Nov. 21, and will be followed shortly by the Dec. 2 opening of goose season in Ballard, HIckman, Fulton and Carlisle counties

Except for this delayed opening of goose hunting in these four counties (goose season over the rest of the state opened Nov. 12), this year's waterfowl

Severance Tax Receipts Rise

The majority of General Fund accounts continued to register moderate gains relative to the recessionary periods of last year, according to a report released by George E. Fischer, secretary of finance and Ron G. Geary, revenue commissioner

July through October of 1981 tax receipts of $608 million are 12 percent above the receipts from the comparable period in 1980. A large fraction of this increase is due to the coal severance tax, the report said.

Receipts from the coal severance tax are running 36.2 percent ahead of 1980 levels. This is due to significant increases in both output and price, as the stockpiles depleted by the coal strike are rebuilt and the increased costs imposed by the strike settlement are passed on to coal consumers

Other sectors of the economy reflect a somewhat less optimistic environment. Sales and use tax receipts are 11.5 percent ahead of the depressed 1980 collection figure, while individual income tax receipts are up 5.2 percent and corporation income tax receipts are up 0.7 percent.

One bright note is the more than doubling of interest income on state investments, which has vielded $5.5 million more than in 1980, the report said.

The Transportation Fund remains relatively flat as compared to 1980 receipts despite significant improvements from the major tax revenue sources.

According to the report, a decline of $18 million in federal grants largely affects the benefits of an 17.9 percent July through October increase in motor fuels taxes (due to an increase in the tax rate triggered by wholesale gasoline price increases) and a 16.3 percent increase in motor vehicle usage tax collections. Agency Funds have experienced a slight increase for the four months even though federal grants in this area have declined by $16 million. Offsetting this loss of revenue have been increases in non-tax receipts, largely due to increased educational fees, and a 43.2 percent rise in tax receipts, due entirely to special assessments to pay claims awarded under the "special fund" of the insurance carriers worker's compensation tax, the finance and revenue officials said.

regulations are pretty much a repeat of last season's rules.

Duck hunters will be using the point system again to determine their daily and possession limits. The point values are the same as last year's-canvasbacks are worth 100 points each, while hen mallards, black ducks, wood ducks, hooded mergansers and redheads have a point value of 70 each. The 10-point ducks are pintails, all teals, gadwalls, shovelers, scaups, widegeons and all mergansers except the hooded. Drake mallards and all other species are 25 point birds. Coots have a point value of zero, but there is a daily limit of 15 and a possession limit of 30 on coots.

The daily limit is reached when the point value of the last bird taken, when added to the point values for the ducks already bagged, reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit is the maximum number of ducks which could have legally been taken in two days of hunting.

The limit on geese is five daily, with no more than two Canada geese and two white-fronted geese allowed in the daily bag. The possession limit is 10 geese, with no more than four Canadas or four white-fronted geese.

The first phase of the duck season will run through Nov. 28, with the second portion of the split season set to open Dec. 10. The last day for both duck and goose hunting is Jan. 20, 1982. Remember that you'll need a federal duck stamp in addition to a valid Kentucky hunting or combination license before you waterfowl hunt. The shooting hours for waterfowl are from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset, except on the Grassy Pond-Powell's Lake unit of the Sloughs wildlife area in Henderson County, where shooting must stop at 2 p.m. and stops at noon. Also remember that waterfowl hunters may not use or possess while hunting shotgun shells with shot larger than BB. And speaking of shotguns, did you remember to replace the plug after deer season was over? It's illegal to hunt waterfowl, doves or small game with an unplugged shotgun, so be sure to check yours.
