Cool breezes, temperatures sinking and rising with the sun, smog-free days; summer's fireflies turning off the lights; every hillside a cacophony of insect sound. Besides, there's the feel of fall in the air. And in arthritic old bones.

THE UNTAXED BOATS

When I was informed that only 521 boats were listed on tax assessment records in the county this year. I disputed the total as too low. On reflection, I apologize. I forgot that flotilla of derelicts that was beached and abandoned at the head of Salt River this year.

VALE!

The Old Prof was saying farewell to his students. He had reached retirement age and they were turning him out to grass. Almost tearfully, he expressed the wish that "there was a window in my breast, so that you might see the innermost recesses of my heart" and the love that was there for them all.

The situation threatened to become maudlin till some iconoclast in the rear of the auditorium sang out, "How about a pane in your stomach, Prof?"

After my philippic last week against mad staplers and taper-uppers a staple remover showed up on my desk. Now I'm hoping somebody gets busy and invents a tape-peeler.

PORTAL OF LEARNING through which these youngsters passed hopefully for the first time last week is the entrance to the new Betsy Layne High School, built recently at a cost of $3.4 million. School opening was delayed there one day while touch-up work inside was completed. Landscaping of the site—a stony plateau carved out of a hillside high above U.S. 23 at Stanville—will be the responsibility of a beautification committee headed by former Betsy Layne Principal D. W. Howard.

Judge To Name Commissioners To Draw Lines

Boundaries of the county's four magisterial districts will be redrawn to make them more equal in population, the fiscal court decided last week. Prestonsburg attorney Danny Caudill told the court it had until September 13 to begin the process, which is required by law whenever census figures show wide variation in district populations.

According to the 1980 census, District 1, which includes Prestonsburg and surrounding areas, has a population of 17,318—more than twice the number in District 2, the Right Beaver area, which has 7,508. District 3 (Left Beaver) and District 4 (the Mud Creek-Prater Creek area) number 11,709 and 12,129, respectively.

Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. said he will name three redistricting commissioners shortly. They will have 60 days to make their report to the court, which will then have another 60 days in which to act on it.

No precincts may be split in the course of redistricting, Attorney Caudill said in reply to a question.

There is no way the county can contribute $30,000 to pay for preliminary work on the Cliff road, Judge Lafferty told Prestonsburg Mayor Harold Cooley at last week's fiscal court meeting.

Cooley acknowledged he had said earlier that the fiscal court would not have to pay anything if it joined Prestonsburg in condemning land for the road. But City Manager David Evans recalled that the court had agreed in 1978 to help build the road, which extends beyond the city limits into the county.

So far, only the city and the Community Development agency have provided local funds for the work, Evans

Asks State Board To Force Hearing

The Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals has been asked to force a Floyd panel to hear a citizen's complaint that tax assessments on some landholding companies here are too low.

In a complaint filed last week with the state agency, Joseph A. Szakos, of David, notes that the Floyd County Board of Assessment Appeals last month refused to hear an appeal he had filed earlier—in which he contested the property tax assessments of four coal companies—and asks that the county board be directed to hear the appeal.

On July 9, Szakos filed with the county clerk here an appeal of the tax assessments of Elkhorn Coal Co., Joe Trimble, Pocahontas Kentucky Corp.,

Student Total May Top 10,000 Supt. Predicts

Enrollment in Floyd schools may exceed the 10,000 mark this year, Superintendent E. P. Grigsby, Jr. predicted this week.

At the end of the first three days of the school year, enrollment in grades 1-12 stood at 9251—up 71 over the figure on the corresponding day last year—and Grigsby said more students are usually registered after Labor Day.

For the first time, kindergarten enrollment exceeded 600, rising from 576 last year to 652 so far this year.

Grigsby noted that, beginning next year, funding for kindergarten teachers will be calculated, as it is in other grades, according to average daily attendance rather than enrollment. One teacher will be funded next year for every 25 children in kindergarten on an average day this year, he explained. Because of absences, about 30 children need to be enrolled in a class to generate an average attendance of 25.

County Fair To Open, Sept. 1

A horse show, Saturday, August 28 at 7 p.m. will start this year's Floyd County Fair although the "main event," including midway, exhibits, booths and live entertainment will begin Wednesday, September 1, and run through Saturday.

All Fair exhibits will be entered on Wednesday from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m. with judging after the 5 p.m. deadline. Entertainment for Wednesday night will be provided by The Gum Branch Heart Breakers who will perform a selection of Bluegrass and traditional music.

The Youth Talent Contest will be held Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds. Age limits for the contest are 9-19. Call 886-2668 for further information. Gospel singing will begin at 8 p.m. featuring Deliverance and The Heavenly Way Singers.

Friday at the Fair will be Kid's Day from 3 p.m. till closing, and the Tiny Miss and Little Miss Beauty Pageants will begin at 6. Contact 886-2118 for information.

Livestock and poultry will be entered from 9-11 a.m. Saturday, with judging after 11. Woodcutters competition will begin at 1 p.m. with four categories included. The greasy pig and greasy pole contests will be held at 3 and 3:30 p.m., respectively and drawing for the bicycle will be at 5 p.m. (you must be present to win.) The Junior Miss and Queen Pageants will be promptly at 7 p.m. at Archer Park with The Queen's Dance following the pageant. For further information on this event, call 886-2118 or 358-4074.

From Death Valley to Estill, Ky. . .

Desert Burros Find a Home in County

No they're not mules, Frank Mullins (in background) will be quick to tell you. They're burros, straight from the "Old West."

Frank Mullins, of Estill, a Prestonsburg barber, recently completed a rather unusual adoption procedure. It required such things as dealing with the federal government, driving more than five hours to central Tennessee in a pickup truck, and signing a document agreeing not to sell the newly adopted male and female for at least a year. But, as Mullins will tell you, it's all well worth it—if you like burros.

Burros, of course, are the diminutive, sad-eyed members of the horse clan known mostly from western movies where, it seemed, the little beasts of burden were always balking on some grizzled old prospector, steadfastly refusing to finish the trip up the steep trail despite the kicking, tugging and cursing of the gold-crazed old codger. They're the same as donkeys, Mullins says, although he prefers to call them burros, as they are referred to in the American Southwest.

The whole adoption idea was revealed to Mullins in an article in a California newspaper which told of the federal Bureau of Land Management (BLM) program which, for the past three years, has rounded up herds of wild burros in remote desert sections of California and offered them to interested individuals. The animals, apparently had overgrazed, causing erosion, and many were starving for lack of adequate forage.

Actually, Mullins had been interested in the prospect earlier after a brief mention of the program was made on television, but the news article provided needed details and after some correspondence and telephone calls, he found himself on his way to Cross Plains, Tenn., one of several distribution points for the program.

About 1,500 burros were rounded up by BLM personnel over the past year, and at Cross Plains, Mullins picked one jack and one jenny from the 17 burros there. Forty-three wild horses, from the same western area, were also being kept at the Tennessee location.

After shipping and vet fees, totalling about $135, were paid, the reluctant burros were loaded up in the pickup and brought back to the small barn and corral near Mullins' home on a steep hillside at Estill. Although relatively gentle, even affectionate when thoroughly tamed, these two were a bit disagreeable. "They've gotten a lot better over the weeks," Mullins said, pointing out that they now realize "where the food comes from." Still, he commented, "They're not something you just walk up to and pet."

At first the burros wouldn't eat grain. They were used to their range forage and hay, so he began mixing grain with hay "so they would acquire a taste for it." The plan has worked, Mullins said, reducing the number of trips up the hillside to deliver hay to the beasts.

Later, he plans to make the burros carry their own hay up the hill, or, as he put it, "make them work for their food," and he envisions rigging the stout animals to a plow.

Mullins likes animals. He also keeps eight milk goats, a beef cow, chickens and his female pigeon just recently had two little ones.

He says two other local men are considering adopting four burros each and hopes that others will take advantage of the program. One thing's for

State Problem Worst Here . . .

Two Large Mines Report Layoffs

Eastern Kentucky had the state's highest unemployment rate in June when the last work figures were released by the Cabinet for Human Resources, and that unhappy circumstance may be worse now, with a weakening coal market resulting in layoffs at area mines.

Small mining operations were hit first, but last week two of the area's largest—Martiki in Martin county and National Mines in Knott—announced drastic employment cutbacks. The layoff of approximately 700 union employees at National Mines was described as "temporary," but their return to work will depend upon week-to-week determination of production needs, it was said. Martiki laid off 189 workers, it was reported. Many Floyd countians have been employed by the two companies.

The jobless rate in Kentucky as a whole rose in June to 10.6 percent. For Eastern Kentucky it stood at 13.6 percent with 43,577 persons unemployed. Thirty-two of the region's 34 counties had unemployment rates above 10 percent. Menifee had the state's highest at 29 percent and three others were above 20 percent—Knott (25.3), Letcher (22.7) and Wolfe (20.3).

At that time Floyd county's rate was 14.5 percent, with 2363 of its labor force of 16,341 unemployed. Martin county, with only 435 listed as unemployed, continued to enjoy the region's lowest rate, 5.1 percent.

It was much the same story in every other section of the state—more people looking for jobs. Even in the Bluegrass, which has fared better than any other area since the recession began, unemployment rates rose from 5.8 percent in May to 6.7 in June. Unemployment rose in the Louisville metropolitan area to 11.6 percent. Northern Kentucky was at 9.9 percent; western Kentucky, at 9.9; north-central, 11.2; south central, 10.6.

Pike Stays Dry In County Vote

Pike county, dry for 30 years, will stay that way, at least for the time being.

By a margin that surprised many observers, Pike countians voted overwhelmingly yesterday (Tuesday) to continue the prohibition against liquor sales in that county.

To the question of allowing beer and whiskey sales there, 13,592 answered no, with only 8420 voting yes.

Church groups, some citing as a warning Floyd's recent decision to go wet, mounted a vigorous campaign to keep Pike county dry. Dry forces also put to wide use reported remarks of Pike Judge-Executive Paul Patton, which suggested that lawlessness might result from a wet vote.

Curtis Awarded Full Status as Chief of Police

After serving a sometimes stormy probationary period, Police Chief Jim Curtis was given permanent status Monday by decision of the Prestonsburg City Council.

The vote for Curtis, which came after the council met for about 10 minutes in closed session, was 6-1, with Eunice Shepherd dissenting. Cloyd Johnson was absent.

Curtis joined the Prestonsburg force six months ago, after a brief stint as chief of the tiny Dundee, Fla. police force. Dissatisfaction among the 12-member force here, which has simmered since the new chief took office, boiled over in a three-day walkout by police officers in June.

The officers have criticized Curtis as overbearing and unfair. Some were also miffed that the new chief was chosen from outside their own ranks. Relations between the police chief and the fire department have also deteriorated, reaching a new low last week when Curtis and Fire Chief Tom Blackburn reportedly were involved in a brief altercation.

In making his appointment permanent, some council members were reportedly concerned that failure to back Curtis could have been interpreted as weakness in the face of the increasingly restive police department.

Hughes, Prestonsburg.

Next year, the reunion will be held on Memorial Day week-end.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Zeldia Lou Laferty, who was an inspiration to all who knew her.

I am standing on the sea shore. A ship spreads her sails to the morning breeze and starts for the ocean. I stand watching her until she fades on the horizon, and someone at my side says "She is gone!"

Gone where? The loss of sight is in me, not in her. Just at the moment when someone says "She is gone," there are others who are watching her coming. Other voices take up the glad shout "Here she comes!"

And that is dying.

Her Family
It.

What Protection Should I Have For My Family?

Most people feel the responsibility to assure their family or survivors a reasonably smooth adjustment to life without you. Fulfilling this responsibility helps greatly in your peace of mind.

Life insurance protection, written up by a knowledgeable agent to suit your situation, is an important step.

A will is an essential document that will assure your estate will be directed as you desire. State laws vary so a competent lawyer in the state of your residence is your best advisor. Important items to include in your will might include the naming of an executor, your bequests of significant properties, trust funds, and any memorial or remembrance gifts.

Pre-planning your funeral arrangements is also a great relief to your survivors. You definitely will relieve their burdens in their hours of sorrow and we can help you with this without cost or obligation.

Keep in mind that safe-deposit boxes are usually inaccessible for some time after a death. A small savings account or a book of Traveler's Checks which are immediately available will help until the estate is settled.

Stumbo, Potential Candidate For Governor, Quits State Post

Dr. Grady Stumbo is not officially a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor but the certainty that he will be became so strong last week that he resigned the post of secretary of the Kentucky Department for Human Resources three months earlier than he had originally planned.

He acknowledged that his political aspirations would make it difficult for him to remain and be an effective administrator.

Meanwhile, a poll was being taken to assess not only his own potential but also the strength of the two candidates, Mayor Harvey Slone, of Louisville, and Lieut. Gov. Martha Layne Collins, who will oppose him. And friends and supporters of the native Floyd countian have already held at least two fund-raising sessions—at May Lodge here and in Lexington—with “highly encouraging results.”

Announcing Stumbo's departure last Wednesday, Gov. John Y. Brown, Jr. said:

“When it comes to a point when the political bug catches you... we've always had an understanding that it's time to put the bit in your mouth and reach out for the brass ring.”

Both Brown and Stumbo said that Stumbo had not been asked to leave office early. He announced earlier this summer that he planned to resign on Nov. 15.

Both acknowledged, however, that Stumbo's increasingly prominent profile in the political world—or the perception of increased political activity on his part—prompted the decision.

“We've been a non-political administration,” Brown said. “I think Grady and I both agree that it's best for him to make his decision and move on to his new career.”

Brown said he did not believe Stumbo's political interests had affected his performance as human resources secretary.

Brown predicted that Stumbo would be governor, some day. He did not specify the date, however, and added later that the comment did not indicate that he planned to get involved in any candidate's campaign.

The decision for Stumbo to leave was not final until last Wednesday afternoon, when Stumbo met with the governor after appearing before an interim legislative committee.

It had been a topic of discussion between them for quite some time, however.

Stumbo has finished most of his major projects, Brown added, “and in the last couple of weeks he's been more inclined to be a candidate.”

Stumbo echoed Brown's assessment—both during the news conference and later in an informal meeting with reporters.

“I have become very much aware of perceptions,” he said, adding later that it was becoming “tougher and tougher” to separate Stumbo the candidate from Stumbo the human resources secretary.

When he earlier announced his decision to leave on Nov. 15, Stumbo said, he was willing to remain on the job until after Oct. 1, when the federal budget cuts will take effect.

“I am surprised, but pleased, at... the increase in the political activity,” he said in explaining his change of plans. “I thought if would take a little longer for things to heat up.”

Remaining in his position, Stumbo said, would be “opening myself up for criticism that I don't need to do.”

Stumbo said he talked with the governor about the situation several times.

Stumbo's replacement will be Buddy H. Adams, 41, who took office last Thursday.

Adams was a three-term state representative from Bowling Green before resigning last October to become Brown's executive assistant and liaison with the General Assembly.

As for a formal announcement, Stumbo said at the news conference that “I've now officially left state government, and I think you would just need to keep your eye on me. I think I'm going to be more visible.”

SS To Collect All Debts Due It

The Social Security Administration is actively engaged in expanding efforts to collect all debts due it, Jim Kelly, Social Security district director for the Big Sandy area, said recently.

A debt to Social Security usually arises when a person receiving retirement, survivor or disability benefits, or supplemental security income (SSI) payments, receives more money than is authorized by law.

These debts, or overpayments, generally are caused by the person's failure to report an event that has an effect on the amount of the benefit that is due and can amount to many thousands of dollars, Kelly said.

Since this money belongs to the people paying into the trust funds, Social Security is obligated by law to collect overpayments, he said.

A person is first asked to repay the entire amount of the overpayment. If this is not possible, arrangements can be made to make repayment over a period of time, either by withholding a portion of the benefit check or by making monthly installments.

A special collection division will be contacting people who have failed to repay past overpayments as well as those currently incurred.

People can avoid overpayments if they promptly report any happening that could affect the amount of money they are due. For people who receive Social Security retirement, survivor or disability benefits, there is a complete list of events to be reported in the “Rights and Responsibilities” booklet they received in the mail. For people who receive SSI payments, there is a list of events to be reported in the booklet, “What You Have to Know About SSI,” which they received.

“Contact the Social Security office if you have any doubt or question,” Kelly advised. I am sure that no one wants to jeopardize future benefits for themselves or their family.”

(More information about overpayments and how they can be repaid can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office. The office is located on U. S. 23, between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.)

Ten Years Ago

(August 23, 1972)

The Floyd fiscal court received an unexpected boost to its funds Monday, August 14, when Gov. Wendell Ford returned $10,427 in strip mine fees to the county. Officers investigating the discovery of the body of a newborn baby in a Wheelwright garbage dump last Thursday morning said Monday they do not have one clue as to the identity of the mother or the person who left the body there. With the possible exception of a central service building, the Goble Branch campground on Dewey Lake will be developed and in use for the 1973 season, a spokesman for the Department of Parks said last week. The story of the rise of Benjamin William Baker, Maytown native, to a successful career in Hawaii is told in two publications, "Men and Women of Hawaii" and "Men and Women of the West". The Floyd county football season opened last Saturday night with Class A Wheelwright dropping their first official road game to Morgan county. There died: Kermit Smith, 64, retired Hindman merchant, and his wife, Okla Wallen Smith, 62, when their compact car was struck by a tractor-trailer at an intersection at Bean Station, Tenn., Tuesday; John H. Hattin, 81, of Plymouth, O., formerly of Hueysville, August 13 at a Willard, O. hospital; Mrs. Lillie M. Bays, 78, of Bonanza, Thursday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; Joseph Richard DeRossett, 47, native of Emma, August 16 at the UK Medical Center in Lexington; Will Webb, 97, of Ligon, Monday at the McDowell hospital; Robert L. Slone, 70, former Floyd county magistrate, Sunday in South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Stella T. Branham, 63, of Grethel, Saturday at a Martin hospital; Mrs. Ann A. Hunter, 77, of Wayne, Mich., formerly of Martin, August 15 in a Wayne hospital; Mrs. Sallie M. Stratton, 98, widow of the Rev. Isaac Stratton, of Banner, August 15 at her home; Mrs. Kate Crager, 77, of Hanging Rock, O., native of the Hueysville area, August 15 at the McDowell hospital.

Twenty Years Ago

(August 23, 1962)

The 76-mile turnpike piercing the Eastern Kentucky mountains will be christened "The Mountain Parkway," Gov. Bert T. Combs announced during an aerial tour last week of the new highway. Governor Bert Combs announced in Frankfort Friday that construction of the amphitheatre at Jenny Wiley State Park for the staging of a pageant built around the life of the pioneer heroine, Jenny Wiley, will be let to contract about October 1. Several hundred people, many from adjoining states, sat in the sun and shade of the Garfield Place lawn Sunday afternoon and saw The Proud Heritage for the second time. The World's Fair was being held in Seattle, Wash., and Gordon Moore, of Prestonsburg recounted his visit there in an article in this week's Times. Poison has been ruled out as a possible factor in the death of actress Marilyn Monroe, a Los Angeles coroner has ruled. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. David Donald Allen, of Prestonsburg, a son, David D., II, August 20 at the Prestonsburg General Hospital. There died: Isaac Parsons, 67, Tuesday at his home at Betsy Layne; Mrs. Martha Tackett, 75, of Tram, Tuesday at McDowell; James D. Hubbard, 76, Monday at his home at Water Gap; Willard Rowe, 59, of Garrett, last Wednesday at home; Lee Conn, 74, of Dana, Saturday at the Beaver Valley Hospital, Martin; William Rodolph Loar, 65, of Betsy Layne, last Wednesday at Cincinnati.

Thirty Years Ago

(August 21, 1952)

Bids were asked this week on blacktopping of the Abbott and Bull Creek roads. Sgt. Elmer O. Blackburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Blackburn, has been awarded the Silver Star for heroism in Korea. The UMWA "mourning period" will begin Saturday and last for a week. Praise, Kentucky soon will be no more—name of the postoffice will be changed, September 1, to Elkpolo City. Schools will open September 2, despite the fact that the 13th polio case was reported in the county this week. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Price, Toledo, Ohio, formerly of Prestonsburg, a son, Gordon Allen. There died: Mrs. Rosa Martella Harris at her home here Saturday; Thursa Wright Wallen, 74, of West Prestonsburg, Sunday at the hospital here; Mrs. Link Salisbury, 66, August 18 at her home at Hunter.

Forty Years Ago

(August 20, 1942)

Natural gas interests here claim the OPM regulation restricting drilling to one well per 160-acre tract portends a dark future for the industry. Thirty thousand dollars worth of county road and bridge bonds outstanding since the 1920's were redeemed this week, County Judge Edward P. Hill said. The City Council here voted last Monday night a $1,000 tax on street carnivals and other traveling shows coming to Prestonsburg. Mrs. Mary James Meade, 27, of Neon, formerly of Ligon, underwent an operation at a Martin hospital, a few days ago, in which her right arm and foot were amputated. The operation was made necessary by injuries she suffered when hit by a train at Ligon. Citizens of Garrett last week honored two survivors of the aircraft carrier Lexington sinking—Willoughby Patton, of Garrett, and his Navy friend, Ralph Galen Blickenstaff, of Muncie, Indiana. There died: S. E. Allen, 69, of Prestonsburg, Tuesday at the hospital here; Mrs. Rebecca Allen, 81, Friday at her home near Hueysville; Mrs. Malissie Parsons, 78, Tuesday at her home near Grethel; Mrs. Jones Frazier, 66, Sunday at her home on Wilson Creek; Mrs. Julia Ann Spencer Davis, 84, here Tuesday; Cordelia Martin, 7, at Bypro, Monday; Mrs. Florence Wells Goble, 69, of Auxier, August 4 at Paintsville; Mrs. Edgar Adams, 26, of Betsy Layne, Friday at a Martin hospital.

Fifty Years Ago

(August 19, 1932)

The coal business in this county is showing signs of strong improvement. Thurman & Thomas, Huntington, W. Va. contractors, will begin work on the Right Beaver Creek road from Warco to the Knott county line at Lackey within a few days. When the grand jury convenes here September 5 it will have the task of delving into a disgraceful record of murder. Since circuit court adjourned here July 9—little more than a month ago—eight persons have been killed and five others wounded. V. A. Smiley has been appointed custodian of the new postoffice here, succeeding Mayor W. M. Blackburn. Governor Laffoon has announced a monthly Pardon Week. It will be the week following the third Sunday each month, and only during that week will applications for pardons be received and considered. There died: Evelyn Shortridge, 18, Monday at a Paintsville hospital.

Approves Loan of Medical Equipment

Although the Mud Creek Clinic and all its equipment were destroyed by fire in early June, the response of staff, supporters, local hospitals and other organizations had the clinic back on its feet within the week. Representatives of the clinic as well as its parent organization, Big Sandy Health Care, Inc., were on hand Monday to thank County Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. for the loan of $60-$80,000 of medical supplies and equipment from the county's store of Civil Defense hospital equipment. At the same time, an inventory of equipment was reviewed and official approval was given by Judge Lafferty. Pictured, from left are: Crit Mitchell, Jr., clinic representative; Onda Lowe Hunt, Floyd county DES director; Judge Lafferty; Eula Hall, clinic director; Carol Prater, chairman of Big Sandy Health Care board; Delmar Frasure, vice-chairman of board, and John Handshoe, board member.

said pointedly, adding that $1.1 million in state and ARC funds could easily be lost for the sake of $30,000, which he characterized as "a drop in the bucket."

"It's a pretty big drop if you haven't got it," Magistrate Kenneth Roberts commented.

Floyd county will ask Governor John Y. Brown to approve an $18.9 million bond issue for home mortgage loans, according to a fiscal court decision. If approved, the bonds will come to market at a time when interest rates are expected to be more favorable than they have been in a long time, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., president of the Bank Josephine, told the court.

Floyd has a good record on account of the way officials here handled an $18 million bond issue three years ago, Fitzpatrick said. Unlike the earlier issue, which provided loans for new housing only, the proposed bond issue would provide funds for building new homes or purchasing existing homes.

Whether Floyd will be approved for the bond issue in the amount requested depends partly on decisions by the Kentucky Housing Corporation as to whether this county is designated a "targeted area" and whether the present limit on the amount of a mortgage loan is raised, Fitzpatrick said.

The court accepted the resignation of James Lafferty as dog warden and appointed Paul Burke to replace him. Lafferty cited the press of other duties as the reason for his resignation from the post to which he was only recently appointed.

In other business, the court voted $2700 to pay for an additional Sheriff's deputy at the Allen park; hired the accounting firm of Burchett and Bottoms to audit the county books; accepted a petition from residents of Oklahoma Hollow, near Allen, for an extension of water lines to that section; promised action on road complaints by residents of South Pinhook, near Harold, and Zenith Hall, of Blue Branch of Jacks Creek; and considered a request by Wiley Elliott, of Rock Fork, near Garrett, to close a road there.

Crowding remains a problem in several county schools—Clark, McDowell, Harold and Allen grade schools were named—although opening of the new Betsy Layne High School has relieved the pressure at some, by making available a number of relocatable classrooms. Two of the classrooms have been transferred to Harold, where one will be used as a library, and one has been set up at Allen for use as a music room, it was said.

Supt. Grigsby said he intends to "investigate all factors" that might explain the drop in CTBS scores by Floyd students this year. Among other things, he will be looking into the administration and scoring of the tests, said Grigsby, who said he is "not satisfied" with the conduct of the tests.

In testing wide population samples, it is not normal for test results to vary dramatically from one year to the next, as happened here, the superintendent noted. Though he does not think they reflect on the quality of either the students here or the education they receive, he is "concerned" by Floyd students' low scores, he said.

School-by-school enrollment figures on the third day of the school year (with last year's figures in parentheses):

Grade schools: Bonanza 70 (73), Daniels Creek 18 (12), Drift 35 (43), Home Branch 44 (48), Prater 163 (158), Spruce Pine 62 (58), Allen 363 (352), Auxier 138 (153), Betsy Layne 433 (421), Clark 618 (611), Garrett 386 (380), Harold 401 (384), J. M. Stumbo 597 (593), Martin 490 (492), Maytown 238 (236), McDowell 683 (690), Melvin 290 (306), Osborne 395 (393), Prestonsburg 876 (856), Wayland 233 (231).

High schools: Allen Central 606 (611), Betsy Layne 662 (626), McDowell 344 (341), Prestonsburg 773 (784), Wheelwright 281 (283).

In addition, 20 students are enrolled in classes for the handicapped and 32 are receiving instruction at home.

MARTIN NEWS

Dr. F. Douglas Scutchfield returned to San Diego Calif., Aug. 11 after spending a week with his brother, Dr. Scott Scutchfield, in Danville, and his parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Scutchfield, of Martin. His son, Alex, accompanied him and is remaining in Louisville with his maternal grandmother until his mother arrives from San Diego when they will visit the World's Fair in Knoxville.

Robert Comstock is ill in Our Lady of The Way Hospital, undergoing tests.

Mrs. Pat McGarey has just returned from Miami, Florida, where she has been visiting her son, Lloyd Douglas.

1000 ATTEND OPEN HOUSE AT NEW BETSY LAYNE HIGH

Approximately 1000 visitors attended the open house held at the new Betsy Layne High School at Stanville, Sunday. Floyd County School Board Chairman, John M. Stumbo, and faculty members were present to welcome guests who toured the facility.

parable sales or cost data, on which the appeal is based. Szakos did not comply with that requirement, Turner said.

While the law allows for third-party appeals, it does not give a complainant the right to request a "blanket review" of properties, officials here said.

The surface holdings of Pocahontas Kentucky in this county, some 1871 acres on Johns Creek, are assessed at $200 an acre, up from $100 an acre last year. The property owned by Collins Mayo Collieries in the Weeksbury area is assessed at the same rate—"the average of what we assess all mountain land," said Property Valuation Administrator Lovel Hall.

The Elkhorn Coal holdings consist of about three dozen different parcels, mostly in the Right Beaver section. The parcels are said to be of varying commercial value and are assessed at different rates. The Trimble holdings have recently been subdivided, it is said.

Szakos argues that his request was "substantially in compliance" with the law. In filing it, he identified himself as a member of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, a group that pressed for property tax reform during the last state legislative session and has been associated recently with efforts of a Martin county citizens' group to raise taxes on two large coal companies in that county.

Concerned Citizens of Martin County argued that surface property owned by Pocahontas Kentucky and Martiki Coal Corp., currently assessed at $200 an acre, is greatly undervalued. However, the county Board of Assessment Appeals there decided last month to leave the 1982 assessment rates unchanged. An attorney for the citizens' group said the group would appeal the decision.

Jar of Water Used To Argue Point in Court

The jar of murky water Jerry Hackworth brought with him to the fiscal court last week was meant to illustrate, he said, his and other Middle Creek residents' urgent need to be connected to the city water system.

Residents of the left fork of Middle Creek (the David road) told the court they were the first to press for an extension of water mains to that area. They are not happy that what work has been done on the project has been done on Spurlock Fork—because a former magistrate owns property there, one alleged—and are even less happy that the project is bogged down in a dispute about who should be paying for it.

Prestonsburg Utilities Superintendent Bill H. Howard, repeating charges he made at an Area Development District meeting last week, said the job could be finished if the county was reimbursed for $64,000 that former Judge-Executive Bill Wells spent last year on pipe and fittings.

Wells advanced the money only to ensure that the project—which calls for the laying of 12 miles of water line to Middle Creek, Spurlock, and Bucks Branch—could be under way before last winter, Howard said. The county expected to be repaid out of $200,000 committed to the project in Area Development funds, he added.

The ADD had $100,000—not $200,000—to spend on the water lines, of which $75,000 has been spent, Joe McCauley, ADD executive-director, said.

Moreover, county officials knew there was no longer $200,000 available in ADF funds because the fiscal court itself voted to use half the Middle Creek money ($100,000) to expand Beaver-Elkhorn Water District mains, McCauley said.

(According to court records, the fiscal court voted, apparently late last year, to transfer the funds to the Beaver-Elkhorn system for extension of lines on Left and Right Beaver Creeks. The motion was made by Kenneth Roberts and seconded by Ray Wilcox.)

"It would certainly look good to see one man and a backhoe up there (on Middle Creek)," Hackworth said at the end of the fiscal court discussion Friday. He was given little reason to hope that will happen any time soon, however.

James Steffey, of Tram, should be billed for work done by the county on Steffey's property, Scott Collins, Prestonsburg attorney, told the court. Collins estimated the value of the work, which he said was done by District 4 Magistrate Lowell Sammons, at $8000.

Collins represented Mr. and Mrs. John Kidd, who were protesting an earlier fiscal court decision to close a public road at Tram at Steffey's request. The Kidds said that closing the road, Highland Avenue, would infringe on the rights of other residents.

On Sammons' motion, the court voted to keep the road open.

The magistrate defended his use of county equipment on the Steffey property, however. While he acknowledged that Steffey benefitted from the work, the rock he hauled from the site was used to repair a public road and to fill the approach for the new Tram bridge, Sammons said.

RETURNS HOME

Quentin Allen returned last Thursday to his home in Ft. Mitchell, after visiting his parents here.

Another Lake Threatened

Mayor William D. Gorman, of Hazard who is as well-known as a coal operator as a public official, is one of those who are protesting the location of a coal preparation plant on Buckhorn Lake, in Leslie county.

It is a valid protest. Siltation from the coal washer could, as its opponents suggest, pollute the lake, kill its fish. Mr. Gorman says it would "eventually turn Buckhorn into a dead sea." An alternate location for the washer is available and this fact lends hope for the success of the protest.

This protest interests us beyond our interest in protection of the environment. It is so reminiscent of the days when the despoliation of Dewey Lake was being protested without visible effect.

The Johns Creek watershed in Floyd and Pike counties, which Dewey Dam impounds, has become one of the most heavily mined areas in Eastern Kentucky. Strip-mines, deep mines, coal preparation plants—we have them all, and the siltation, damage to water quality and loss of fish that were predicted are now grim realities.

But apparently the value of the coal in the valley and the employment it would bring were first considered, then the lake itself, its future, the quality of its water and its recreation worth were placed on the other side of the balance sheet. And environmental considerations lost.

It is to be hoped that Buckhorn Lake does not face a similar situation. If it does, one preparation plant will make little difference.

SCHOOL DAZE

When all these youngsters began trooping (by bus and automobile, mainly) back to school last week, I, for want of something better to do, reversed gears and mentally backed up a few years to the days when I first graced a so-called hall of learning—namely, a one-room school up a dirt road and off up a branch.

They had rather strict discipline in those days, and I recall that one of those early teachers wrote his rules in chalk on the blackboard, the first day of school, and didn't erase them till everybody had become familiar with them. I can recall a few of them yet, and they ran to this effect:

No throwing rocks. No whispering or talking out loud during books ("books" meant while school was in session). No leaving school while it was "books." No fighting. No bringing pet sheep to school. No eating in school (such delicacies as hazel nuts, wild grapes and chestnuts were verboten). No wading the branch. No climbing trees (and when it was explained that you were not to climb above your head one of the schoolyard "lawyers" argued with teacher that this would be a pretty difficult feat as long as he didn't climb, head down.)

Most of the rules were broken within a week—even a pet sheep, a ram with a tendency to butt his way and to include as targets all who stood in his path, showed up—but not without penalty. Lesser infractions drew a term of "standing up," to be ogled by unsympathetic classmates, while major offenders got their pants dusted with a long switch that stood, among others, in a corner of the schoolroom.

Discipline was firm, sometimes painful. But teacher suffered, too, hearts were young and gay, and I'm certain that if a poll of us who survive were taken, we would choose to live it all over again.

Federal Indictment Names Johnson Man

A Paintsville man posing as a physician tried to obtain money fraudulently from the Pikeville National Bank, according to an indictment handed down by a U.S. grand jury earlier this month.

According to an unconfirmed report, the man may also have tried to solicit money from Prestonsburg and Paintsville banks. The indictment mentions only the Pikeville bank, however.

Terrance Eddy is charged with submitting false information to a federally-insured bank. He is reported to have told officials at Pikeville National that he had an MD degree from Ohio State University and that he needed a loan to build a clinic at Paintsville. The amount of the loan he allegedly sought was not disclosed.

The case was investigated by FBI Agent Michael Phillips. Eddy was released on his own recognizance. Trial has been set for October 12.

WCG MEETS

The W.C.G. of the First Church of God of Prestonsburg met Thursday for their monthly meeting. Vida Fraley was in charge of the program. Plans were made for Orville and Emma Lansberry, retired missionaries, to speak at the September meeting. Present were Sue Lacy, Rebecca Vaughn, Vida Fraley, Myrtle Pugsley, Ethel Wynn, Della Herald and Frances Campbell.

The council voted to reject a contract proposed by the county solid waste agency which would have raised from $1250 to $2500 the monthly cost to the city of using the county landfill. Council members charged that the city hauls garbage for many county residents who dump their trash in city receptacles.

Racketball enthusiasts will finally get to enjoy the new courts at Archer Park, which are scheduled to be opened officially at 11 a.m. Saturday. The opening has awaited state monies which were needed to make final payment to the contractor.

The council entered a lease agreement with the city utilities commission and the Prestonsburg Industrial Corporation, preparatory to tapping a gas well drilled last year by the utilities agency on a PIC-owned tract at Cliff.

Bill Ray Collins—he is unrelated to the council member of the same name—was denied permission to build a repair garage in a residential section of the Goble-Roberts Addition. Although Collins' neighbors said they were not opposed to the project, Councilman Dick Clark said that to allow it would set an undesirable precedent of "spot zoning."

City Attorney Paul P. Burchett was named city alcoholic beverage control administrator, at his "usual rate" of $50 per hour.

Group Protests Coal Washer Location on Buckhorn Lake

By ANNE PARDUE
(In The Courier-Journal)
FRANKFORT, Ky.—The state Environmental Quality Commission asked the state yesterday to rescind a permit for construction of a coal preparation plant on Buckhorn Lake in Leslie County.

Hazard Mayor William D. Gorman, a member of the commission, said he fears that siltation from the coal washer would pollute the lake and kill the fish in it.

The commission's unanimous objection to the project came after Gorman said the washer would be "detrimental to the public interest and public welfare even if it works perfectly."

Shamrock Coal Co. of Manchester received approval on July 19 from the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet to build the coal washer on 94 acres, pending the outcome of a protest filed against the project by Gorman.

A conference on the protest has been scheduled for Sept. 8 in Frankfort to work out details for a public hearing, said Carl W. Breeding, Natural Resources' assistant general counsel.

Shamrock applied to the cabinet's Jackson office in March for a permit to build the coal washer. It was approved there on March 17 and forwarded to Frankfort.

The Army Corps of Engineers initially opposed the project, according to correspondence in the permit file. On June 23, however, the corps withdrew its objections after the coal company said it would revise its plans.

The Natural Resources Cabinet also was concerned about the project, especially the location of a refuse area of more than 600 million cubic yards about 500 feet from Buckhorn Lake, which the department said would be a source of mining-related pollution.

By July 19, the coal company revised its plans to satisfy objections, and the Division of Permits notified the company that the project was "technically acceptable."

However, the permit is being held by the division, and is contingent on resolution of the protest through a hearing and approval by the Corps of Engineers.

According to the coal company's application, the coal washer would be built on Dry Hill and would be active for 10 years.

Gorman's formal protest, filed Aug. 10, said the washer would "eventually turn Buckhorn into a dead sea."

He said that the commission's recommendation that the permit be rescinded is not a mandate. But Breeding said later that his department considers the commission's recommendations.

Gorman, who is in the coal business, said a coal washer is "the dirtiest thing on earth."

"I'm not anti-coal. But there is a point of reason and a point of stupidity," he said. "It is a point of stupidity to put a washer in this location."

Because of the threat of contamination, Gorman said, he is particularly bothered that the coal washer would be built near the lake.

He suggested that the corps ask the coal company to find an alternate location for the washer that wouldn't hurt the lake.

Gorman admitted to a personal interest, recalling that he started the Buckhorn project 29 years ago, which developed into construction of a dam and reservoir by the Corps of Engineers and a Kentucky state park. He said he will "try to muster enough support to stop" the coal washer.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Hager, of Banner, announce the birth of their first child, a son, Brian Nicholas, on August 2 at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Mrs. Hager is the former Jennifer McDowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDowell, of Prestonsburg. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hager, of Allen.

ENTERTAIN HOUSEGUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Senterfeit and Mrs. Ruth Weddington, of Emma, have as houseguests this week his mother, Mrs. Harmon Ward, his sister, Mrs. William Hallman, and a cousin, Mrs. Vick Rawls and daughter, Penny, all of Batesburg, S.C. Saturday evening, Miss Flo Weddington, of Emma, and Roger Gillum, of Jackson, called on them.

Celebrates 5th Birthday

Leigh Ann Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Hall, of McDowell, celebrated her fifth birthday, last Wednesday, at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Violet (Chick) Hall. She is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ward.

A Smurf cake, ice cream, hot dogs, and pop were served to guests, who were her sister, Stacy, Randy Potter, Shirl Potter, Bud Blackburn, Katherine Gorman, Mrs. Doris Lawson and Brian, Mrs. Alan Ward and Ashley, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hall and Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen D. Hall and Byron, Brian Turner, Mrs. Juanita Stephens, Susan and Michael, Mrs. In-zie Moore and Anna. Unable to attend but sending gifts were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Delver Hall.

Miss Hankins, Mr. Dean Wed in Virginia

The wedding of Wanda Jayne Hankins and Fred Riley Dean was performed, Saturday, July 10, at the Tazewell (Va.) Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was solemnized amid an arched setting of mixed summer flowers and white candelabra holding cathedral tapers entwined with natural greenery. Stands of greenery completed the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hankins, of North Tazewell. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Dean, of Tazewell. Grandmother of the bride is Mrs. Ezra Hankins, of North Tazewell. She is also the granddaughter of the late May and Bill Stone, of Garrett. Grandparents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Riley, of Squire, West Virginia.

The Rev. Lowell Wright officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Everett C. Hankla gave a pre-nuptial organ recital. The wedding was directed by Thomas E. George, assisted by Mrs. Nancy Wollbrinck.

Escorted by her brother, Keith, the bride was given in marriage by her family. She wore a floor length gown of ivory ninon over satin. The high Victorian neckline meshed into a capelet of lace. The lace-covered bodice featured long sleeves also edged with lace. A derby style hat accented with puffs of illusion which culminated into a bow completed the bride's attire. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath. Casual satin loops fell from the bouquet.

Maid of honor was Barbara Hankins, cousin of the bride, of Dallas, Texas. Bridesmaids were Kathy Pyott of Tazewell and Emily Dean, sister of the groom, of Charlottesville, Virginia. They were attired in pastel Victorian skirts of quiana. Ivory high-necked blouses of crepe featured three-quarter length sleeves. The sleeves and necklines were accented by ivory lace and satin ribbons which matched their skirts. Each carried a hand-woven basket filled with pastel roses, marguerite daisies, baby's breath, and cascades of English ivy.

Flower girls were Melissa Hankins. Ring bearer was Russell McKinney, the groom's cousin.

Best man was Fred B. Dean, father of the groom. Groomsmen were Greg Matney, Sonny Edwards, Don Blackwell, and Steven Dean, the groom's brother. Brian Hankins, nephew of the bride, was acolyte.

Attending the ceremony from this county were Roxie Clay, of Auxier and Edgar and Gloria Rister, Barbara and Michael, all of Garrett.

Following the ceremony, a buffet lawn party was held at the home of the groom.

The bride graduated from Tazewell High School and VPI-SU, where she is employed in the registrar's office. The groom graduated from Tazewell High School and Radford University, where he will continue studies this fall. The couple now resides in Christiansburg, Virginia.

Gingerbread Fest Set Sept. 9-12

A Saturday morning parade on Sept. 11 at 10:30 will be the highlight of the Knott County Gingerbread Festival in Hindman.

Prior to the parade, at 8:15, the 10,000 meter Diet Pepsi Run will begin. Persons interested in running in the event should contact Richard Kennedy at Alice Lloyd College in Pippa Passes, Ky. 41844. For parade information contact Clayton Handshoe, Hindman, Ky. 41822.

Following the parade, many activities and displays will be available, including the "World's Largest Gingerbread Man."

The popular country-western group, Sweetwater, will perform at the Knott Central High School Saturday at 8 p.m.

A truck show will be held Sept. 12 at 11 a.m., at the Knott Central High School parking lot, and on Sunday an archery shoot will be held.

The Gingerbread Festival will run from Thursday, Sept. 9, through Sunday, Sept. 12.

HERE FROM MICHIGAN

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Morningstar and daughter, Kristen Jo, and Miss Marla Harris, all of Ypsilanti, Mich., spent the past week with Mrs. Margaret Harris at her home on the Auxier road. While here they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Conn and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Conn, on Prater Creek, and other relatives and friends. On Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Rondal Sexton entertained to dinner, having as their guests, Mrs. Harris and her houseguests. During that time, little Miss Kristen Jo Morningstar was honored on the occasion of her first birthday by being presented a decorated birthday cake and gifts. While here, the group also visited with Mrs. Morningstar's father, Irvin Harris, and Mrs. Harris at their home on Brandy Keg.

New Awareness of Disabled Held Key to Program Growth

Vocational rehabilitation is celebrating its 60th anniversary in Kentucky this year and the changes in the program that have taken place in this time span are indeed dramatic.

The philosophy of the program has not changed. It still emphasizes that every person has a right to earn a living and make a contribution. However, the scope of the program has increased ten-fold.

The increased use of the vocational rehabilitation approach shows the public's growing recognition of a social obligation to help the disabled become self-sufficient.

The vocational rehabilitation program in America began in 1920 with the passage of an act by Congress to help rehabilitate those who had been disabled in industry. It did not become a part of Kentucky state government until 1922 when it was housed under the state Board of Vocational Education.

Now vocational rehabilitation is a bureau in the Kentucky Department of Education that has grown from an agency of six employees in 1922 to a computerized operation of 450.

Typically, anyone between the ages of 16 and 65 who has a physical, mental or emotional disability that causes a vocational handicap can be served by rehabilitation.

People who have disabilities frequently require special medical, educational, technical, social and vocational assistance before finding their niche in the world. Vocational rehabilitation provides this help.

Eligibility for assistance is determined by counselors who work with each eligible client to develop an individualized plan. Services can include almost anything that reduces a vocational handicap.

Each program is developed around evaluations to determine abilities, counseling to select a vocational goal, and ultimately placement in a job suitable to the skills and abilities of the client.

Services might include artificial appliances, medical exams, hospitalization, glasses, books or hearing aids.

In the beginning stages of the programs, the severely disabled were often neglected because of the length of time it would take to rehabilitate them. There is a much greater emphasis now on serving the severely disabled.

Some 80 percent of the program funds come from the federal government while the remaining 20 percent is from the state.

The program has been called one of the most cost-effective programs in the nation and it is estimated that $11 in taxes is returned for every dollar spent on the program.

Figures show that 3,555 clients were rehabilitated last year in Kentucky alone.

Another important role that the bureau has assumed in recent years is to educate employers about hiring the handicapped. Statistics show, according to bureau information, that the handicapped have higher performance and safety standards than other workers, not to mention production records. More and more businesses are anxious to hire the handicapped because of their conscientious attitude.

The results of that first piece of federal legislation back in 1920 has created one of the most successful human service programs serving the country. In Kentucky, as in the rest of the nation, the program has grown to yield results far better than anyone could have dreamed.

Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. proclaimed Aug. 15-21 as Vocational Rehabilitation Week in Kentucky to commemorate the work that has been done in this 60-year period.

If you wish to apply for vocational rehabilitation services, or if you know someone who could benefit from these services, call or write the Kentucky Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation of office nearest you.

The Eastern Hemlock
 Oldtimers called the hemlock "spruce pine" as witness many streams of our region bearing that name. The hemlock is the only American tree with a Japanese name, "Tsuga."

The eastern hemlock is the state tree of Pennsylvania, and the western hemlock is the state tree of Washington. The hemlock gets its name from the way its wood locks tight around nails. This makes it much used to make forms for pouring concrete. The bark is rich in tannin and is used for tanning leather.

the bark helps to heal ulcers and old sores on the body. A gargle made from the cinnamon-colored bark will cure a sore mouth or sore throat. A tea made from the aromatic needles warms the blood and helps one to endure cold weather. A tea made from the needles is used daily by the loggers who work in winter in the cold, Canadian woods.

Our hemlocks are truly beautiful pines and add a touch of spring to barren winter woods. The outside bark is scaly brown, but the inside bark is cinnamon red. Old woodsmen sleeping outdoors lopped off the feathery evergreen boughs to make a soft and fragrant bed.

The hemlock is one of our most magnificent pines. Its crown often rises to a height of 100 feet and shoots up like a tall church spire. It is fond of growing in rocky ravines and rugged hillsides. I've seen it thriving on the sheer face of a mountain cliff. The tree affords a good shelter for birds in winter, and gives them a good hiding place for their nests in summer. It also affords a cool shade for livestock in summer. The hemlock has the smallest needles and smallest cones of any of the pines. A small branch may bear as many as eight cones at the ends of twigs. The hemlock transplants well and soon makes a fine shade. It is always cool and moist in a hemlock grove.

The hemlock has many healing virtues. A powder made from the aromatic bark and put in shoes serves as a deodorant and also helps heal tender feet. An ointment made from

A Church Day Care Ministry

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
IRENE COLE MEMORIAL

We are happy to announce that the Baptist Day Care Center is now accepting applications for enrollment for the new school year, beginning August 16, 1982. We have a program for children between the ages of 2½ and 5 for a full day or a half day.

We are limited to the number of children that we can enroll, so please register your child as early as possible to insure his acceptance.

CALL 886-8681 for more information.

FIRST AVENUE DOWNTOWN PRESTONSBURG

Is Two Years Old

Kevin Oney celebrated his second birthday at the home of his uncle, Benny Oney, in Dayton, O., June 10. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Oney, also of Dayton.

Those who helped him celebrate were his grandmother, Mrs. Rosie Ferguson, of Prestonsburg, who was there visiting her son and families, Mr. and Mrs. David Oney and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Oney and daughters, Curt Oney; his aunt, Mrs. Imogene Vance, of Springboro, O., who all attended as well as several of Kevin's friends.

ARH Starts Work On Central Laundry

Robert L. Johnson, president of Appalachian Regional Hospitals (ARH), has announced that the hospital system has just begun construction of a $2 million central laundry facility at the South Williamson, ARH facility. It is scheduled for completion by next February.

When the central laundry goes into actual production early next year, it will create 30 new jobs for the South Williamson area.

The new laundry will allow ARH to process hospital linens in-house for all of its facilities. Currently, ARH is under contract with four separate private laundry companies in order to meet its systemwide linen demand.

Morrison Reunion

The Morrison family reunion will be held at Archer Park on Sunday, Sept. 5, Labor Day weekend.

MARTIN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, of Martin, visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald M. Yabroff, and three granddaughters, in Louisville, last week. While there, they attended the State Fair. All members of the Yabroff family had entries in the exhibits of Crafts and Fine Arts, Textiles, and Photography, on which they were awarded seven ribbons.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin also enjoyed seeing Rev. and Mrs. Guy M. Deane, who were Sunday guests at the Yabroff home. Rev. Deane served as pastor of The First Baptist Church of Martin for several years and is now at Maceo Baptist Church, near Owensboro. He officiated at the marriage of Dorothy Gay Martin to Ronald M. Yabroff in August, 1963.

Floyd 4-H'ers Win Again

From left, Barry Parsons and Richard Maggard, both of Floyd county; Rosie Springton and Garrett Roberts, of Lawrence county.

Success of Floyd county 4-H poultry-judging teams at the Kentucky State Fair has become a tradition over a period of several years while Jack Friar, of the county Extension department, has been their coach.

At this year's State Fair the county placed two boys—Barry Parsons and Richard Maggard—on the team that will represent Kentucky at the national poultry-judging contest in Chicago. The 15-year-old Maggard placed second in state competition with 1000 out of a possible 1100 points, losing the championship by only two points. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Maggard, of Hippo. Barry Parsons, the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Parsons, of Honaker, was fourth with 979 points.

Other senior judges from Floyd county were Rondell Martin, Langley, Shawn Johnson, Stanville, and Darwin Prater, Hippo.

Floyd county's Scott Tackett won the championship of the junior division of the state 4-H poultry judging last week at the Kentucky State Fair. In winning, he scored 886 points of the 1,000 possible. He is the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tackett, of Banner, and is a member of the Prater Creek 4-H Club. Randy Hunter, 13, was fourth with 870 points. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hunter, of Banner, and is a member of the Betsy Layne 4-H Club.

John Bush, 11, was close behind in sixth place with 868 points. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Bush and a member of the Harold 4-H Club. Other junior judges were Chris Hall, Betsy Layne, Jamie Hall, Betsy Layne, and Shane Maggard, Hippo.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

1. In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that: Sandy Rock Coal Company, Inc., Rt. 2, Box 146AA, Haysi, Virginia 24256, intends to file an application for the surface disturbance mining of approximately 2.00 acres located south of Honaker in Floyd county. The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles southwest of State Route 1426's junction with State Route 2030, and located west of Little Mud Creek, latitude 37° 30' 32" longitude 82° 40' 37". The surface of the area to be mined is owned by: Melva and Kellard Lawson. A brief description of the kind of mining activity proposed is: surface mine (house site). The application will be filed at the Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Prestonsburg Area Office, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

Persons wishing to file written objections and/or request a formal administrative hearing in regard to the above described surface mine should notify the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection within 30 days of the date of this notice. A copy of the newspaper clipping, must be attached to the written objection. The objection or request for a hearing will reference application number 036-0007. Such objection or request must be in accordance with KRS 224.081 (2), and must be forwarded to the Director of Permits, Bureau of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

2. Notice is hereby provided pursuant to 30 CFR 715.13 (d) (10) and KRS 350 that the proposed post mining land use does constitute a change from the pre-mining land use. Public comment regarding a proposed change in land use may be submitted to the address listed above.

Assessment Has Property Values Near $1 1/2 Billion

Open for Business...

The New Betsy Layne High School

For tax purposes, Floyd county is worth almost half a billion dollars. To be exact, $439,195,413, according to the Department of Revenue's certification of the 1982 assessment by Lovel Hall, Floyd property valuation administrator.

Although the real estate market has slumped appreciably and construction has dropped accordingly,—mainly as a result of high interest rates,—the real estate total rose from last year's $184,853,384 to $208,416,295. The overall assessment total stands at $30,580,625 above the 1981 figure.

Classed with real estate (farm acreage and residential lots), unmined coal appears to be a loser for the state, Tax Commissioner Hall said. In this county the assessed value of such coal is $35,552,358, but the one-tenth of a cent rate paid the state (none to the county) will net only $355.52.

"Hardly enough to pay for computer printouts, billing and the like," Hall commented.

Other real estate assessments are: Residential lots $116,597,029 (up from $103,994,770 in 1981); farms totalling 166,472 acres, $22,784,165, an increase of $1,184,161 over the preceding year. Oil, timber and mineral rights are valued this year at $8,491,159, up from $5,494,456 last year.

The total of personal property assessed rose from $117,739,154 in 1981 to $130,794,419 this year. Included in this category were 16,589 motor vehicles valued at $80,604,055 and 521 boats assessed at $1,547,700.

The sum total of revenues the assessment will bring Floyd county will depend upon the new tax rate which is expected to be set by the fiscal court shortly. Last year, the real estate rate was 15.2 cents per $100 valuation. A drop to 14.5 cents is expected.

Assessment records show that there were 2517 homestead and 290 disability exemptions made.

Board Oversees Building Codes

Most of us go through daily routines without giving much thought to our surroundings. We may notice how attractive a building is or how it blends in with other structures. Rarely do our observations go beyond that.

If you look closely at the building you are in right now, you might ask: How many exits does this building have? Have sprinklers been installed? Is it easy for everyone—including the handicapped—to get in and out of the building?

Since 1978, the Kentucky Board of Housing, Buildings and Construction has met to take up those kinds of subjects, says Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet Secretary Tracy Farmer.

The group, comprised of 20 diverse industry representatives, has the oversight responsibility for the construction of most buildings and of many homes throughout the state.

Creation of the Kentucky Building Code was one of the first responsibilities undertaken by the board in 1979. The board, through its five-member appeals board, decides questions according to the code when appeals are made. And, through its three advisory committees, the board is kept updated on electrical, architectural barriers and state plumbing code information.

Chuck Cotton, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction and board chairman, says the "board brings together expertise from many fields to tackle the complex problems related to housing and building construction."

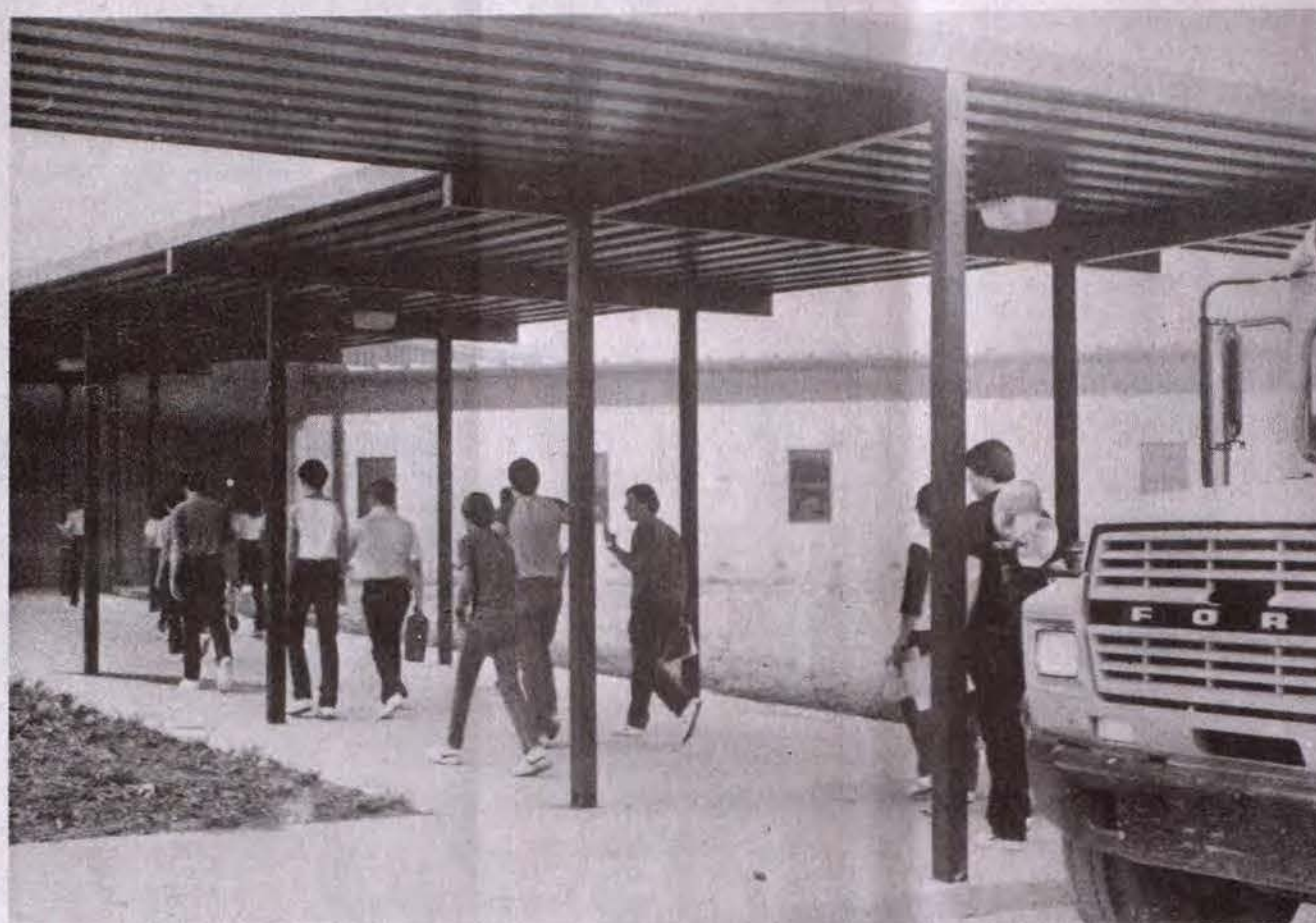

Individuals from Frankfort, Ft. Thomas, Lexington, Louisville, Bowling Green, Elizabethtown and Hopkinsville serve on the board. They represent such groups as the Kentucky Firemen's Association, the Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers, the state Building and Construction Trades Council, the state Society of Architects, the Kentucky Association of Realtors, the Kentucky Housing Corporation, the Kentucky Retail Association, the Kentucky Code Administrators, several state agencies and the electrical, general, plumbing-heating-cooling and mechanical contractors associations along with the general public.

"This is self-government at its best," says Secretary Farmer. "These are very busy people who give of their time to help us all."

The board, as an arm of the Housing Department, falls under the Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet. If you have questions, contact the Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction in Frankfort at (502) 564-8044.

Participation in apprenticeship by members of minority group members increased to 18.4 percent of all apprentices in fiscal 1981, up from 17.1 percent at the end of the previous fiscal year, according to the Labor Department's 1981 annual report.

Good news! Contrary to all we read and see, the American family is not falling apart. According to the July Reader's Digest and pollster George A. Gallup, Jr., 79 percent of Americans are very satisfied with their family life and a whopping 88 percent said they were highly satisfied with their marriage.

SOME FINISHING TOUCHES are yet needed inside and the grounds, still as rough in parts as when the bulldozer carved them from the surrounding hills, will be landscaped later, but the new Betsy Layne High School—actually, it is in Stanville—opened its doors last Wednesday, just a day behind schedule, to 662 students.

Home economics students will now have the space they need...the football team will finally have a field to call its own...students will have the use of a well-stocked and spacious library, science lab, a vocational-agriculture classroom, and—for the first time in the county for 30 years or more—an industrial arts program will be offered, school officials said this week.

But perhaps the most appealing feature of the $3.5 million project, is that, perched high on a plateau, the new school is well beyond the reach of the floodwaters that periodically inundated the 43-year-old building it replaces.

MORGAN'S MEN

The passions and bitterness of the Civil War have yielded to the touch of dispassionate Time—the old hatreds are dead, the sad tragedies of that eternecine strife well in the way of being forgotten. Today the memories of the Blue and the Gray intertwine, commingle, and out of them blossoms only the flowers of sacrifice and heroism, rich with the perfume of noblest purpose and achievement.

Some of these memories are recalled by a brief dispatch from Lexington, Ky., published in the Enquirer, wherein was related the story of Morgan's famous command in the twenty-fifth annual session.

John Morgan was a beau chevalier of the Old South, one of the most picturesque figures in the mighty conflict in which the destinies of the nation were decided, now so many years ago. He was a brave, dashing cavalryman. His Northern invasion was a splendid gesture, could have amounted to nothing, yet he put the fear of the Lord—or, rather, John Morgan and his mostroopers—into the hearts of Northern millions.

Morgan was a veritable military will-o'-the-wisp in the eyes of the North, a hard riding, hard fighting, merciless guerilla. As a matter of fact, he was not a remorseless military bandit, but a Southern gentleman and a soldier, a strong man, fired with the faith of his people in the justice of their cause and ready to fight and die in its support.

The events and incidents of the famous raid were replete with all the elements of romance and dream, athrob with the impulses and revelations of high adventure. His capture, imprisonment and escape constitute one of the most thrilling stories of the war. He died like a soldier, his raid is a figment of memory; but so long as men thrill to the narration of a great tale, he will live as an exemplar of high patriotism and soldierly virtue.

His hard riders have vanished—all but a pathetic few. It was this remnant which gathered the other day at Lexington to fraternize and recount old tales of hardship and adventure. And it was here that a colorful incident was re-enacted. The widow of a Confederate General personally presented to each of Morgan's survivors—as she had done each year for many years—a red, red rose, the red rose of courage and glory. It was most appropriate, and most touching.

HILL LOSES BY SCANT 40 VOTES

Lauhon's Opponent Charges Padded Election Returns

In one of the closest political races ever staged in this senatorial district, E. D. Stephenson, of Pikeville, won, returns show, over Alex L. Hill, of this place, by a majority of 40 votes for the Democratic nomination for state senator from the Floyd-Pike-Knott district. The Pike county man polled 3,577 votes, while Mr. Hill received 3,537. F. Tom Hatcher, of Pikeville, ran third with a total vote of 2,134.

Though official returns from all the counties are lacking, Miller Hughes, of Wickliffe, apparently has defeated Edward L. Allen, of Prestonsburg for the Republican nomination for Attorney General. With a few counties not reported, it was said early this week that Tom Lauhon, Big Sandy's candidate for Railroad Commissioner on the Republican ticket was leading by approximately 1,000 votes. Mr. Lauhon is believed to be the winner.

CHARGES PADDED RETURNS

Charges of padded election returns Saturday in the Republican primary for Railroad Commissioner in this district, embracing 48 counties in Eastern Kentucky, were made last week by A. B. Combs, of Hazard, one of seven candidates.

"I have discovered evidence which indicates fraud and I am taking precautions to have a close watch maintained with a view, to filing a suit in event I am counted out," Mr. Combs said.

"In Floyd county, I discovered that official returns showed 750 more votes cast than in the gubernatorial race, which of course drew the most interest."

"In Floyd county, Tom Lauhon, Catlettsburg, was credited with 2,489 votes, whereas only 1,919 votes were cast in the governor's race. Judge Flem D. Sampson got 1,668 and Robert H. Lucas 251 in the race for governor."

"In this county I was credited with only 26 votes. Other Republican candidates for Railroad Commissioner and their returns in Floyd county were:

"Lee Reed, Wolfe county, 10; E. C. Kash, Jackson, 5; B. F. Smith, Clay county, 15; and Colonel Ike Wilder, Booneville, 108."

Mr. Combs, who was in Prestonsburg Thursday, said that the race was close and that the ultimate result would not be known until the state election commission made it report. Expressing doubt that Mr. Lauhon was nominated, he said that he rolled up a majority of 9000 votes in Jackson, Harlan, Leslie, Clay, Bell and Whitley counties. To this he continued, was to be added his majority in the sixth district of 86 votes and his majorities in the Ninth district, where he carried six of nine counties, the other three being carried by H. C. Chappell, of Middlesboro.

A statement could not be secured from Mr. Lauhon this week, but when he was here early last week, he expressed confidence in his nomination. Though Mr. Combs made no statement as to his intention of contesting the election, he examined records in the county clerk's office while here.

No contest suits have been filed in this county to date, though preparations are being made in contemplation of one such action, it is said.

Waits May, unopposed candidate for the Republican nomination for County surveyor, was awarded a certificate of nomination this week by County Clerk I. A. Smiley.

"I called my cousin, A. B. Combs, attorney at Prestonsburg, and asked him to investigate the vote in Floyd county. I have encountered difficulty in obtaining accurate information of the official returns in many counties. However, I have learned that my total vote was in excess of 16,000, and may be considerable more. Four years ago, when there were six candidates, a total of 10,455 votes won the nomination by approximately 3,000 majority."

SLIDE BREAKS GAS LINE AND PAPER IS OUT LATE

Owing to a break in the gas line caused by a slide and the resultant lack of gas service for our mechanical department, publication of The Times has been unavoidably delayed this week.

Barring such trouble, which cannot be foreseen, The Times will make its appearance next week at the regular time, and correspondents are asked to co-operate with us in sending their newsletters in as early as they were kind enough to mail them this week.

Jones Annoyed

Expressing considerable annoyance at Mr. Stephens' refusal to accept the salary schedule for teachers submitted by the state department of education, O. J. Jones, assistant superintendent of public instruction, in turn refused last week to accept Mr. Stephens' schedule and submitted another of his own for approval here. This, Mr. Stephens said Tuesday, would also be rejected. He stated that he would submit practically the same schedule as that previously sent to the state department.

Placing the minimum salary at $40, the state department offers in its schedule to give $1.50 for high school credits above eight units and not exceeding 16; 25 cents for each college semester hour not in excess of 128 hours; $2.50 for each year of experience up to four years, and $1 per pupil above the general attendance average of 35.

This schedule is accompanied by the note: "No teacher will be added to our present corps whose scholarship is below two years of high school." This provision was also unacceptable. This would bar many of the county's veteran teachers whose ability is untold to the local board, since it held that questioned.

The schedule most recently submitted by Mr. Stephens and rejected by the state board follows:

Minimum salary of $70 a month; 75 cents for each high school credit up to 16 units; 20 cents for each semester hour of college work up to 128 hours; $2 for each year of teaching experience up to four years; $1 for principalship; $2 per month for summer school attendance; and 50 cents for attendance averaging above 35.

The state department's salary schedule, the county board holds, is unsatisfactory for the reason that it will not afford a salary sufficient to justify veteran teachers who have had little high school and college work to continue in the profession. Experience with these teachers shows, Mr. Stephens says, that they cannot be supplanted by younger teachers who will render service as capable as that given by the veterans. Another objection to the schedule is that no teacher would receive additional pay for high school work unless he or she has completed more than eight units of work. Under the plan submitted by Mr. Stephens, the teacher would receive credit for each year of high school work.

'Texas' turnaround silences its critics

By Connie Passalacqua

And they said it wouldn't last. Ever since "Texas" made its debut two years ago, persistent rumors have circulated in the daytime community that the show's cancellation was imminent.

Earlier this year, the syndicated TV show "Entertainment Tonight" falsely announced that "Texas" had been canceled. But as "Texas" celebrates its second anniversary this month, it is alive and kicking — and quality-wise well on its way to becoming one of daytime's best soap operas.

When the show debuted as a spinoff of "Another World," it almost created its own handicaps. Although the show was set in Houston, it taped in Brooklyn. Half the cast affected Texas twangs, while others' accents had no trace whatsoever of the South.

Scenes written by the show's creators and first head writers, William and Joyce Corrington, were interminable — almost as long as eight minutes each. Actors were hired and fired at such an alarming rate that it was almost impossible for viewers to keep track of all the characters.

The show's turnaround began a year ago, when former "Days of Our Lives" actress Gail Kobe was hired as executive producer. Miss Kobe was open to ideas and suggestions from her actors and the confidence she instilled in them resulted in much better performances.

Among those outstanding actors hired by Miss Kobe were Pam Long (Ashley Marshall) and David Forsythe (T. J. Canfield). Also hitting their stride along with these two actors in an electrifying love quadrangle are Carla Borelli (Reena Dekker) and Jerry Lanning (Justin Marshall).

Despite all the improvements, until recently "Texas" was always daytime's lowest rated show. Many felt this was because it was competing in the same time slot as two of daytime's highest rated shows, ABC's "General Hospital" and CBS' "Guiding Light." But last April, NBC showed its savvy by switching "Texas" to a morning time slot where it would not be competing with any other soaps.

WAYLAND NEWS

CLUB IN BUSINESS SESSION

Members of the Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met at the home at Wayland of the club president, Mrs. Otto Martin, August 17 for a business session...

The club president reported on what the club had accomplished since its last meeting in the spring; namely, put a message on the radio asking women to join in President Reagan's "Volunteerism Program" and become volunteers...

The club president gave the highlights of the Seventh District workshop held August 14 in Prestonsburg and pointed out certain projects and programs which the new district governor stressed at that time.

The first program meeting of the club year will be held at the home of Mrs. Maxine P. Martin, Wayland, September 20, with Mrs. Marsella Bradley's program on "Home Life".

Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 will hold initiation services Tuesday evening, Aug. 31, at 6 o'clock. All members are urged to attend and to bring a dish of food.

Vocational Education Threat Seen by Area School Heads

Vocational education in Kentucky faces an uncertain and unpromising future as a result of federal budget cuts, according to several regional vocational directors who testified Aug. 18 in Washington. Instructional equipment is outdated and in short supply, training facilities are inadequate, and support services for the handicapped and disadvantaged are endangered—all this, despite the great local national need for skilled workers, they said.

Rep. Carl D. Perkins, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, whose subcommittee on Vocational Education heard the Kentucky educators' testimony, said he was concerned by the long waiting lists for eastern Kentucky's vocational schools. Bronelle Skaggs, regional vocational education administrator for Paintsville, said that more than 800 people are on the waiting list for the principal post-secondary center in that region, Mayo State Vocational-Technical School. These constitute "enough people... to almost fill Mayo again," Skaggs said.

Despite the increasing numbers of people desiring skills training, vocational education programs have been injured by recent budget cuts and are threatened by still more, the Kentuckian said. According to Walter Prater, regional director in Hazard, the elimination of federal funding for a mine safety training program serving over 1700 students "necessitated a drastic cut in the program."

And the further cuts threatened by the Administration promise an even more drastic impact upon vocational education. "If the Administration's proposal is approved and funding cuts are made," Prater said, Eastern Kentucky's vocational education "will be greatly hampered in its efforts to produce skilled workers."

HERE FOR WEEKEND

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Tackett and son Ronnie, formerly of Prestonsburg, now of Frankfort, were here during the weekend, visiting friends and relatives and attending the reunion of the Prestonsburg High School class of 1937 at May Lodge.

VACATION IN COLORADO

Mrs. Eva Collins and Mrs. Judy Watkins, both of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Carol Hackworth, of Findlay, Ohio spent several days last week vacationing in Denver, Colorado. While there they spent some time with Mrs. Hackworth's grandmother, Mrs. Helen Lombardi. Mrs. Collins returned by plane to Lexington during the weekend, while Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Hackworth remained until this week.

designed to build their basic skills." Skaggs testified that further reductions in Paintsville would "drastically reduce student support services," and in one instance would increase the student-to-counselor ratio to over 2,000 to one, which he termed a "totally unrealistic" situation.

NOTICE OF EXPLANATION (Pursuant to Floodplain Management Guidelines E. O. 11988)

On August 11, 1982 a public notice was given indicating a finding that certain portions of the West Garrett Rural Neighborhood Improvement Project, as funded by the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Office of Community Development, were located in the floodplain. The area is susceptible to flooding from the Right Fork of Beaver Creek. This area is defined as a Flood Hazard Zone by the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development Federal Insurance Administration Flood Hazard Boundary Map.

1. WHY THE PROPOSED ACTION IS TO BE LOCATED IN THE FLOODPLAIN. The activities to be undertaken include rehabilitation, installation of public improvements, and redevelopment of property for new housing units.

2. ALTERNATIVE CONSIDERED. This project proposes floodplain preservation and restoration. Alternatives to this action, including location of said redevelopment in the floodplain, have been considered and were determined to be unacceptable.

3. DOES THE ACTION CONFORM TO APPLICABLE STATE AND LOCAL FLOODPLAIN STANDARDS? The proposed action is in conformance with local floodplain protection objectives and is in conformance with the intent of K.R.S. Chapter 104, providing for flood and floodplain protection measures.

4. WAYS OF MINIMIZING HARM TO OR WITHIN FLOODPLAIN RESULTING FROM PROPOSED ACTION. Measures will be taken to minimize negative impacts of clearance activities, as well as minimizing any negative impacts of subsequent provisions or redevelopment for open space or public use. No significant negative impacts are anticipated.

5. HOW THE ACTION AFFECTS MATERIAL OR BENEFICIAL FLOODPLAIN VALUES.

A. The action discourages further floodplain development.

B. The action will reduce the risk of flood loss to private property.

C. The action will minimize the impact of floods on human health, safety and welfare.

D. The action will restore and preserve natural and beneficial floodplain values.

6. RESPONSIBLE AGENCIES A. Floyd County Fiscal Court, as applicant for Kentucky Community Development Small Cities funds.

B. Floyd County Urban Renewal and Community Development Agency as implementing Agency for the Community Development Small Cities Program.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my husband and father, Frank Hammonds, who passed this life Sept. 1, 1972.

It was 10 years ago Daddy since you went away. We think of you often with each passing day.

We visit the cemetery and place flowers on your grave. I can't help wondering why you went away.

We loved you so very much. As each day passes we miss you more and more. Remembering back to the good times we had and how things used to be. There is so many things that remind us of you. In my life you have set an example of what a parent should be. You were the best there ever could be, and we loved you very much.

I thank God I knew Daddy as long as I did, and I'll try to do the very best I can. We look at his pictures and know we'll never see him again. Yet someday we'll see you on Heaven's bright shore again.

Written by daughter,

SUFFERS INJURY

Mrs. Carrie Hubbard suffered a broken wrist in a fall at her home here last week.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my father Jack Nelson who passed away August 30, 1981.

Daddy it's only been a year ago that you left me. I think of you with every passing hour and day.

Daddy if you could only see and hear me and see how it hurts for you not to be here with me. Daddy I used to think that you would return to me, but as the days and weeks went by, I knew you would never return to me. Daddy it was a great shock to get used to not having you around, but deep in my heart, I know that while you were around I was always talking and laughing with you. Daddy, I know that I will never be able to laugh and joke and talk with you and work through my problems as I always enjoyed before. But your presence will always be with me, and the values you raised me with will always stay with me.

Sadly Missed By Your Daughter,
Carole Nelson Collins

CARD OF THANKS

MR. TRIPLETT ILL

Ishmael Triplett, former superintendent of Prestonsburg city schools, who presently resides in Lexington, is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital there.

Your car could be next. The September Reader's Digest reports that a car is stolen every 28 seconds. It has become a $1.7 billion business run by professionals who can quickly disguise your car so totally that you wouldn't recognize it even if it was found. One out of five drivers makes life easier for thieves by leaving the car unlocked or key in the ignition.

Whether they know it or not people have a gift for prophecy. According to the September Reader's Digest, most of us have, in varying degrees, a bundle of faculties and mental devices, trained or instinctive, that add up to a "sixth sense" about the future.

District Clubwomen in Workshop

The GFWC-KFWC Seventh District held its presidents' workshop Saturday, August 14, in the Floyd County Library, Prestonsburg, the new district governor, Mrs. Guialene Smith, Pikeville, presiding.

Introduced by the governor were visiting state and district officers and chairmen: Mrs. Mary Alice Oldfield, Paintsville, KFWC Public Affairs junior chairman; Mrs. John W. Banks, Myra, KFWC chairman, Crime Reduction Division of the Public Affairs Department; Mrs. Burnis Patrick, Salyersville, Seventh district vice governor and Mrs. James Pruitt, Pikeville, Seventh district junior director.

The governor announced the calendar of club events for the next two years, the first being of special interest to all Seventh District clubwomen—the fall district meeting, to be held this year in Paintsville at the Carriage House on Wednesday, October 13, with both the Allen and Drift women's clubs hosting.

Speaking on "The Free Enterprise System," Mrs. Mary Alice Oldfield emphasized that American clubwomen, as members of the 500,000 who comprise the federation, should realize their rights as citizens, to be able to buy, sell, lobby and vote. She stressed that each one needs "to get involved" and to be in communication with federal, state and local officials and attempt to know what is going on and to have a voice in it in order "to preserve our American democracy through private enterprise."

"Crime Reduction—Awareness Is the Key" was the title of Miss Angie Banks' remarks on crime reduction. She stressed that the first step in reducing crime is being aware of what the most prominent crime in the area is and knowing what to do to combat it. She suggested that clubs have programs or projects concerning family abuse, shoplifting, operation identification, neighborhood block safety, neighborhood watch, self-protection, rape prevention, and consider establishing within the jurisdiction of the court a Silent Observer Program.

Vice-Governor Barbara Patrick, announce the theme for the new KFWC administration is, "Committed to Service". She pointed out that by contacting the Health Department any club could secure a speaker to explain what can be done locally in the way of service.

Rules for entries in the various contests for clubwomen in the Fall District Meeting were spelled out by the governor from details she had learned at the state convention last spring. She called for vote in favor of a registration fee for both the fall district meeting and the district spring contests to help with the incurred expenses of the host club. A $2 registration fee was agreed upon for the next two years.

At the beginning of the afternoon session the governor pointed out that the new name for community improvement projects is "Partners For Progress-Community Improvement" and will be known as PFP instead of the former CIP. She suggested that each club consider joining the Fire

MAYTOWN NEWS
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Richmond and their son, Steven Bryan, recently returned from a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richmond and son, Lance Douglas, in Layton, Utah. This was the Richmonds' second trip to Utah. They were escorted to the Bluegrass Airport in Lexington by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Salisbury and sons, William and Jonathan. The Salisburys returned to the airport several days later to meet the Richmonds and welcome them back home.

PHI MU'S TO MEET
The Phi Mu Sorority of Transylvania University will be holding its annual rush retreat activities at Camp Chatterawa Aug. 27, 28, and 29. Those attending from the Prestonsburg area will be Pam Dingus, Edwina Hale, Bridget Salyers, Nancye Godsey, Sherry Allen, Carol Spears and Jayne Pitts.

ANNUAL PACK FAMILY REUNION
The family of the late Elder Aaron Pack and Nova Crisp Pack will meet at
Jenny Wiley Park Playground
Sunday, September 5
Come early, stay late.
All relatives and friends are invited.
Please Bring Picnic Lunch

Hydrant Reflector Program and also stressed that she would like for each club to consider purchasing a GFWC-KFWC sign to be placed in a prominent location in the community.

The governor appointed Mrs. Otto "Libby" Martin, Wayland, to serve as publicity chairman for the Seventh District and called for nominations for other needed district chairmen. The following were nominated: Membership, Teresa Robinson, Pikeville, Jr., and Mrs. James D. "Boots" Adams, Prestonsburg; PFP, Marsha Banks, former Seventh district governor, Whitesburg; Home Life, Lois Short, Whitesburg; Operation Help, Kay Amburgy, Whitesburg.

Governor Smith suggested discussion of a change in presidential reporting for the fall district meeting. She thought it might be interesting if each club president and member attending meets with a small group in a workshop at the fall meeting to discuss a subject of special interest to her club and community. Those attending favored such a change, in lieu of each club president giving a report unless that president felt she had something of special interest.

Bringing Saturday's workshop to a close, the governor pointed out that along with the suggested projects of the GFW-KFWC each club have one particular project in which to be involved that is especially geared to the needs of its community instead of many small undertakings.

Clubs represented at the workshop were Allen, Dorton-Myra, Drift, Elkhorn City, Lackey-Garrett-Wayland, Paintsville Jr., Pikeville, Prestonsburg, and Whitesburg.

New Evolution Theory Explored

She was fossilized for millions of years, broken, then exposed to the hot sun. She was found in Ethiopia by Dr. Donald Johanson and a team of scientists with the International Afar Research Expedition. "Lucy In Disguise," airing Wednesday, September 8 at 10 p.m. on KET, tells the story of the discovery of Lucy.

A new theory of human evolution has emerged from this discovery of the oldest and most complete human skeleton. Lucy was determined to be a 3.5 million year old, three-and-a-half-foot tall adult female. She weighed about 55 pounds and walked upright. Fossils of at least 13 individuals, representing both sexes and all ages, were also found.

The film intertwines the exploration of this new species with artistic reconstructions of Lucy as she may have been nearly 3.5 million years ago.

Gasoline Price Average Drops

The Blue Grass Automobile Club reported last week that the average price of gasoline in Kentucky dropped during August one cent at full-service stations and four cents at self-service pumps, but, falling or rising, prices in Floyd county remained appreciably higher than the average.

The average cost per gallon at full-service stations last week was $1.36 for regular, $1.40 for no-lead and $1.46 for premium no-lead.

In Prestonsburg at the same type station, however, the price of regular varied between $1.43 and $1.45; unleaded was from $1.48 to $1.50, and premium ranged from $1.53 to $1.57.

AAA's report shows that self-service prices range from seven to eighteen cents per gallon lower and are now average over the state at $1.18 for regular, $1.32 for no-lead and $1.39 for premium no-lead.

Of the stations surveyed by AAA, more than 80 percent will be open on Labor Day, and more than 60 percent will be open on Sundays.

CCC Reunion Set Sept. 17-19

The fourth annual reunion of former Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) members will be Sept. 17-19 at Cumberland Falls State Park near Corbin.

Former members and personnel involved with any of the CCC camps which were operated 1933 through 1942 for unemployed youth are invited to bring their families and friends to the reunion.

For additional information, write LeRoy Brown, P.O. Box 125, Mauldraugh, Ky. 40155, or Bob Kellen, 1100 Grant St., Sturgis, Ky. 42459. For reservations, contact Cumberland Falls Park, Corbin, Ky. 40701, or call 528-4121.

Notice

The City of Wheelwright has amended Ordinance 1981-006 on Annual Budget for 1-1-82 thru 12-31-82. This Ordinance shall take effect upon publication of this notice. The second reading for the Road Aid Hearing was held. This information is on file for inspection in City Hall Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-2 p.m.

Red Cross Response Follows Flash Flood

Martin county Red Cross volunteers, led by Disaster Chairman Wendale Stepp, have responded quickly to the needs of 16 families with recent flood damage along Wolf Creek, near Pilgrim, in eastern Martin county. A total of 15 families had received over $3,000 in emergency assistance by last Thursday.

Vouchers have been issued to cover replacement of lost food, clothing, shoes, toilet articles, beds and bedding. David Vargo, Kentucky Division disaster director, estimates over $9,000 will be spent within the next two weeks on appliance and emergency home repairs and additional household accessories and furniture.

Contributions designated to the "Martin County Flood" are being accepted by American Red Cross chapters to defray relief expenses.

Caribbean Dinner Is Sixth Meal In Highlands Series

If you enjoy trying unusual foods, plan to attend the Caribbean dinner at Highlands Regional Medical Center on Thursday, August 26, from 12:15-2p.m. The public is invited to sample exotic dishes such as stuffed lobster, red snapper in creole sauce, Bermuda onion pie, sweet potato pudding and eleven different delicious desserts.

The Caribbean dinner is the sixth in a series of foreign dinners in the "Meals Around the World" program. They are created by the Highlands Regional Medical Center Dietary Department to allow employees, visitors and friends of Highlands to sample foods of different cultures.

ORDINANCE NO. 8-82

A summary of an ordinance regulating the sale of alcoholic beverage within the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

SECTION 1:—Concerns the definitions of the terms used throughout the ordinances.

SECTION 2:—Licenses: There will be five (5) classes of licenses in the City, Retail Package Liquor License, Retail Malt Liquor License, Retail Restaurant Wine License, Malt Beverage Distributor's License and Wholesale Liquor License.

Retail Package Liquor License: One license shall be issued for each twelve-hundred (1200) population within Prestonsburg.

Retail Malt Beverage Licenses: There shall be no restriction or limit to the number of Retail Malt Beverage License but there is a limit of one (1) license per each two-thousand (2,000) population of the City for taverns.

No City license shall be granted until after a license has been issued by the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

A fee of Six-hundred dollars ($600.00) will be charged for every person, firm or corporation who sells distilled spirits and wine at retail and for any person, firm or corporation who sells wine at a restaurant facility.

A fee of Four-hundred dollars ($400.00) will be charged for every person, firm or corporation who sells malt beverages or who engages in the business of wholesale malt beverage distributor.

A fee of Three-thousand dollars ($3,000.00) will be charged for every person, firm or corporation who engages in the business of wholesale liquor dealer.

SECTION 3:—Miscellaneous Regulations: No licensee shall permit any person to become drunk or intoxicated on the premises. No malt beverages shall be sold for consumption on the premises prior to 10 a.m. nor after 12 midnight, nor on Christmas Day, nor on any election day during the time when the polls are open.

Every quarter each wholesale distributor shall report to the City Finance Director the names of all retailers whom alcoholic beverages were sold to and the gross revenues received by the distributor from each retailer.

SECTION 4:—Regulatory License Fee: A regulatory license fee is imposed on the gross receipts of sale of alcoholic beverages of each license issued in the amount of five (5) percent. This rate will change yearly to reimburse the city for costs relating to alcohol sales.

Payment of the fee shall accompany the tax returns and be submitted to the City Finance Director by the 20th day of each month for the preceding month's sales, one-twelfth (1/12) of the fee shall be deducted each month as credit. Failure to pay within ten (10) days of the date due constitutes a violation and subjects licensee to suspension or revocation.

Penalty for failure to file a return and pay a monthly remittance is twenty (20) percent of the tax for each thirty (30) days or fraction thereof.

SECTION 5:—Penalties: The penalty for selling to anyone under the age of twenty-one (21) shall for the first offense be fined Five-hundred dollars ($500.00) and shall have his license suspended for a period of seven (7) days, for the second offense his license shall be suspended for a period of fourteen (14) days and for the third offense shall be subject to a fine of Two-thousand dollars ($2,000.00) and revocation of his license.

Any person who violates any provision of this ordinance for which a penalty is not otherwise provided shall be fined the sum of One-hundred dollars ($100.00) for each offense.

Upon notice of a suspension of a license by the local administrator, in lieu of the suspension pay to the City of Prestonsburg the sum of One-hundred dollars ($100.00) per day for each day of suspension.

SECTION 6:—Severability: Action by a court of competent jurisdiction declaring any section, subsection, phrase or word of this ordinance to be invalid, unconstitutional, and/or void shall not affect the remainder of this ordinance which shall remain in full force and effect.

The foregoing is a true and correct summary of the City of Prestonsburg's Alcohol Control Ordinance. A full copy is on file in the office of the City Clerk and can be inspected from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., in the Municipal Building. A copy will be provided to those individuals desiring a copy at five dollars ($5.00) per copy.

SEPTEMBER DUCK HUNTING

For the second year in a row, Kentucky duck hunters won't have to wait until winter to get a taste of their favorite sport.

A five-day experimental duck season is set for Sept. 8-12 throughout Kentucky. This season is designed to give hunters a chance to harvest native wood ducks and early migrating teal.

Wood ducks nest and raise their young in Kentucky, but fly south for the winter long before the regular waterfowl season opens in November. Teal pass through the state in good numbers in September, but like wood ducks, they are long gone by winter duck season.

The regulations for this September hunt are designed to make sure that hunters concentrate mainly on these two species. Only one duck other than a wood duck or teal may be included in the daily bag of four ducks. The possession limit, after two or more days of hunting, is double the daily limit. Shooting hours are from sunrise until sunset, prevailing time.

In addition to a valid Kentucky hunting license and a federal duck stamp, hunters participating in this early season will need to obtain a special permit card from a conservation officer, wildlife biologist or wildlife area manager. These cards are also available at some county court clerk's offices and at selected sporting goods stores.

These permits are free and there will be no limit on the number issued. Their purpose is to give hunters a way to report where and how much they hunted and how many ducks of each species they took.

This is an experimental season, and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service requires accurate data on the effects of this early season. The more cooperation hunters show in obtaining and returning these postage-paid cards the better chance that we'll continue to have early duck hunts in the future.

Results from last year's hunt look promising. Vernon Anderson, Kentucky's waterfowl biologist, called the season, "a success both in terms of ducks harvested and hunter satisfaction."

Around 26 percent of Kentucky's waterfowl hunters, or 3,583, applied for the special permits last year. Of these, 3,137 (88%) returned their permit cards, with 983 reporting that they did not hunt at all during the season.

The remaining 2,154 hunters harvested 7,827 ducks, or 3.64 ducks per hunter, with the average daily harvest calculated at 1.51 ducks per hunter. Of all the ducks taken, 5,409 were wood ducks, 2,177 were teal and the remaining 241 ducks of all other species.

Most of the hunting was in Western Kentucky, where 1,239 person hunted. Next was Central Kentucky with 730 hunters, then Eastern Kentucky with 73. The total harvest figures were 5,473 ducks taken in Western Kentucky, 1,784 in Central Kentucky and 187 in Eastern Kentucky.

If you'd like to participate in this year's early duck season, get your permit card and do some scouting down by a nearby stream or river. Wood ducks are fairly common throughout Kentucky, so you could possibly find some good "early" duck hunting right in your own back yard.

Girl Scout Leaders Set Meeting Times

With the beginning of school and the fall season fast approaching, Floyd county Girl Scouts are turning their thoughts to troop meetings and activities for the year to come.

Local Girl Scout volunteers will hold their organizational meeting on the first Thursdays in each month. At Allen Methodist Church, 9 to 11 a.m. Girl Scout service unit chairman, Lila Francis DeRossett, will preside over the meeting.

All girls ages 6-17 or first through the twelfth grades are welcome to join. Volunteer positions for all areas of Girl Scouting are also available for interested adults.

Wilma Castle, field director for Floyd county, works with the Girl Scout volunteers to provide the Girl Scout program to the young girls in Floyd county.

For more information contact Lila Francis DeRossett, 874-2844, or Allen Brownie Leader 894, Glenna F. Bradford, 874-2686, or Allen junior leaders, Ada L. Depoy, 874-9997, and Sheila Berger, 874-9898.

717 Get Jobs Here

Dr. Grady Stumbo, former Human Resources Secretary, has announced that from October, 1981 through June, 1982 the Cabinet's Department for Manpower Services has found jobs for 717 Prestonsburg area residents.

"Each local office works with employers in the area to fill vacant positions with qualified workers," Stumbo said. "With the present high unemployment rate, the Department's employment programs are helping those who are out of work find meaningful jobs. At the same time, the programs are reducing the number of individuals receiving unemployment insurance benefits," he continued.

"The Department for Manpower Services' goal in the current economic recession is to meet the critical needs of unemployed Kentuckians, as well as Kentucky's labor force," Stumbo concluded.

Good News Report

THOMAS W. PAUKEN
Director of ACTION

Often it seems there's a hidden purpose to luck. In Vietnam, Bob Rummel was with the 101st Airborne Division. A member of a machine gun crew, he and his fellow-gunner, for no particular reason, decided to change positions. No sooner had they done so than a misfired U.S. artillery round hit and instantly killed Rummel's buddy. Dazed, knowing he was wounded, Rummel began looking for a medical aid station. His hand felt for the wound in his throat, and it was then he realized his jugular vein had been severed. He attempted to cut off the bleeding with his fingers. Again luck placed an aid station directly in his path. The medics did the rest. Had the station not been where it was, Rummel would not have survived.

After Bob returned home and attended the Georgetown School of International Relations, it appeared a political career was in the offing. However, after the birth of their first child, Erin, he and his wife, Marion, began to think in terms of the kind of future they wanted. The result was a look-see visit to Vermont in 1974. What they saw they liked, and a year later they took the plunge. Since boyhood, Rummel had been in and out of the construction business; so, in the town of Rochester, Vermont, the Robert E. Rummel Construction Company was founded. In the beginning there was little more than the name.

Anyone who has given up city life knows there are large and difficult adjustments to make. Not the least of which is earning a living in a rural community. Today the Rummel Construction Company employs five neighbors, during the hard, winter months and 10 to 15 in the summer. In the last three years, Bob has tripled the company's size and earning power.

A member of the volunteer fire department, a citizen whose company performs volunteer services for the town, Bob Rummel is a volunteer in another capacity that ties in directly to that day in Vietnam 13 years ago. He is chairman of the Vermont Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program. As such, with the aid of Project Director Bill Fagginger-Auer, seven VVLP directors and nine ACTION volunteers, he is building a structure based on mutual aid, making Vietnam vets an identifiable group with grass roots support. If a Vietnam vet has a business, he takes a chance on a vet who has had a tough time. If a vet doesn't know the ropes or he's hanging on them, the VVLP is there to counsel and to offer the kind of understanding that's meaningful. As Bob says, "I waited a long while for a program like this to come along. Now we're helping lost veterans to finally find themselves."

It's not unlike a wounded G.I. stumbling through the jungle, bleeding to death, looking for help. Only today the medic in the aid station is Bob Rummel.

CONSUMER PARTICIPATION IN RATEMAKING PROCESS

As your gas, electric, and telephone bills climb to ever higher levels, you may be asking yourself what possible influence you have over these drastically rising costs. According to Attorney General Steven L. Beshear, "part of the answer is through your participation in the ratemaking process". "Utility rate increases do not happen over night," said Beshear. "Companies must follow certain procedures before rate hikes take place, usually including formal hearings and testimony before the Kentucky Public Service Commission."

By law, the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office represents your interest in rate cases. Its staff of attorneys, often with the help of consultants, prepares cross-examination and presents testimony in hearings on behalf of all utility customers. However, these legal arguments are often inadequate to convey the impact of a rate increase in human terms.

Attorney General Steven L. Beshear urges consumers to participate in the ratemaking process, and to make their feelings known. "Public concern is visible only if you share your comments with those who are charged with regulating the utilities and safeguarding the public interest," said Beshear.

The Public Service Commission permits customers of a utility to make statements at any of the public hearings held in its Frankfort offices. In addition, it often holds public meetings in the company's service area to receive public comment. "I urge all consumers to take advantage of these forums to state their opinion of proposed rate increases," says Beshear. "This is the single most effective way of making the Public Service Commission aware of the adverse impact of rising utility rates on utility customers."

If you are unable to attend a hearing but wish to state your opposition to a rate increase, Beshear urges customers to write to the Public Service Commission, and to request that their letters be made a part of the case file in the application. "Often utility customers may wish to prepare a petition stating their opposition to a rate increase," added Beshear. "My office will be happy to present the petition to the Commission and to have it made a part of the public record in the case."

Consumer input in the ratemaking process is essential if the Public Service Commission is to protect the public interest. By joining together to participate in the ratemaking process, utility customers can exert influence over rising utility bills. Attorney General Beshear urges all Kentuckians to stand up and be heard in the ratemaking process. You can make a difference.

If you have any questions concerning participation in the ratemaking process, you can write to the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 209 Clair Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, or call the toll-free Consumer Hotline: 1-800-432-9257.

$139,544 Spent Here For Job Training Programs

Dr. Grady Stumbo, former Human Resources Secretary, announced that Floyd county received a total of $139,544 in 1981 to provide training and work experience for 20 county residents.

The training and work experience programs are administered by the Cabinet's Department for Manpower Services to help unemployed people find meaningful jobs.

The funds in Floyd county were spent for the following programs:

- $97,744 to provide classroom training, employment and training services, and work experience to displaced homemakers;
- $41,800 to provide classroom training in food service skills.

"In addition to helping people find jobs, the Department also works with employers to develop jobs," Stumbo said.

"In the present economic climate," Stumbo continued, "the Cabinet's employment and training programs provide a valuable service to Kentuckians who want to work as well as to employers who are able to choose qualified job applicants for their work force."

Banking School Grad

Evelyn Hager, vice-president of The Bank Josephine, graduated August 13 from the first annual Financial Planning School for Community Bankers of Ohio, held at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. The school, sponsored by Ohio University's College of Business Administration, brought banking executives to the Athens Campus, August 8-13.

ALCOHOL AND DRUG PROBLEMS

Problems stemming from alcohol and drug use affect more Americans today than at any time in our history. Alcohol and/or drug abuse negatively affects every person the abuser or addict comes in contact with—parents, spouses, children, employers and friends.

Our hospital-accredited program and staff offer a variety of services dedicated to helping those persons who are suffering from their own or someone else's alcohol or drug use.

HRMC Offers Valuable Testing Services

Zina Goble, R.N. practices her skills in the use of the new EEG testing equipment on "patient" Oma Elkins, R.N.

If you have experienced headaches, fainting attacks, thyroid problems or other unexplained disorders, your doctor may order electroencephalography (EEG) or echoencephalography (ECHO) tests. They are painless and take approximately 45 minutes to complete. These tests are now being performed for both inpatients and outpatients at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

When an EEG test is run, 20 tiny electrodes are fastened to specific areas of the head. The patient's brain waves travel through the electrodes and are directly transmitted by telephone to a telemetry center at Daneman Laboratories in Ohio. The brain waves are translated into graph patterns to be analyzed. An expert neurologist interprets the data. The analysis is returned to the patient's physician at Highlands in less than 24 hours. These brain wave patterns can help the doctor diagnose epilepsy, high blood pressure, blood clots, migraine headaches, hardening of the arteries and other disorders or damage of the brain.

An ECHO test should be run in conjunction with the initial EEG. In this test, a transducer wand is gently rubbed across the bone at the top of the ear. Sound waves bounce to the midline tissue of the brain creating an echo effect. The neurologist interprets these soundwave patterns and can determine the presence of a tumor, blood clot and other illnesses. The results of both the EEG and ECHO are correlated for a detailed "brain picture."

These tests are useful to many different physician-specialists. General practitioners may order EEG testing to treat patients who may have experienced a sudden drop in blood sugar, migraines, toxemia, blood clots and head accidents. Pediatricians can find these tests a benefit when diagnosing epilepsy, inflammation of the brain, meningitis, hearing, speech or visual disorders and many other illnesses. Surgeons, anesthesiologists, neuropsychiatrists, urologists, ophthalmologists and orthopedic surgeons all use EEG and ECHO testing as diagnostic tools.

The compactness of the equipment is evidence of its space age technology. The equipment is contained in a small overnight case, operates on a rechargeable battery and is portable. Highlands Regional provides the most updated and sophisticated EEG and ECHO equipment available for their patients. Daneman Laboratories, which interprets the tests, has an established reputation of superior service quality. Dr. Daneman, a highly qualified physician with 25 years of experience in this field, is available for telephone consultations on any test results.

Wants President To Block Purchase Of Foreign Coal

Sam Church Jr., president of the United Mine Workers of America, recently called on President Reagan to sign into law a summer supplemental appropriations bill that includes a provision prohibiting the Defense Department from buying foreign coal for use at U.S. military installations overseas.

Before last year, when the Defense Fuel Supply Center awarded two separate contracts to foreign suppliers, the Defense Department had traditionally purchased only American coal for its bases.

"The UMW has repeatedly protested the use of foreign coal at American bases overseas," Church said. "Last year's policy change claimed the jobs of a significant number of the more than 30,000 American coal miners who are out of work today. The 'Buy American' amendment, if signed into law with the rest of the bill, will put our people back to work, particularly in hard-hit areas of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia."

The Defense Fuel Supply Center last year awarded 37 percent of anthracite purchases to West German and Dutch firms and 84 percent of bituminous purchases to French suppliers. In previous decades, Pennsylvania had provided DOD with anthracite and Virginia and West Virginia had met the military's bituminous coal needs.

Blood Center Cites Urgent Donor Need

The Central Kentucky Blood Center is in urgent need of blood donors of all types. Cutbacks and layoffs by businesses and industries have caused them to cancel mobiles at time when there has been a 25% increase in transfusions this summer.

The shortage is nationwide. Our supply is dangerously low. You can donate at the Prestonsburg Donor Station in the Municipal Building on: Tuesdays, 10 a.m.-6 p.m., Thursdays, 12 noon-8 p.m. and on Saturdays, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. For more information, call 886-1557.

Notice

The City Commission of Wheelwright, Ky. will have the first reading of an Ordinance increasing business license fees and creating amounts to be charged for business license for sale of beer and whiskey. This reading will be on September 13, 1982 at 6:30 p.m. at City Hall. The second reading and passage will be held on September 16 during regular session of the City Commission meeting. All persons purchasing business licenses must comply with zoning ordinance.

Pharmacy Footnotes
By HAROLD COOLEY

Emollients are lubricants that are applied to the skin to replace sebum that has been washed away. Sebum is the natural fatty substance that is produced by the sebaceous glands. It comes out through the top of the hair follicle to coat the outside layer of skin. In so lubricating the skin, it helps to prevent dryness, cracking and peeling. Most anti-chapping and anti-sunburn pomades, lotions and skin creams are mixtures of various emollients such as cocoa butter, lanolin, mineral oil, petroleum jelly and beeswax. Diaper rash, for example, is caused by ammonia in an infants urine that washes away the protective sebum layer leaving the skin open to irritation.

If you're looking for something to help your drying, cracking or peeling skin, then ask your Pharmacist to suggest the proper emollient. At COOLEY APOTHECARY we don't try to play doctor, but we are here to render assistance and to offer alternatives to a problem. We also have a full prescription service and carry convalescent items. Third party payments welcome. We're located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., where we're open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4. 886-8106

HANDY HINT:
Emollients with paba-aminobenzoic acid help prevent sunburn by forming a sun-screen.

Sings in Nashville

Melissa Collins, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Collins, of Minnie, was special guest at Hermitage Landing in Nashville, Tenn., where she was a performer in the Country and Western Music entertainment for two consecutive nights, July 7 and 8, with the Balce Edwards Band from the Grand Ole Opry. She was also a guest performer with the Singing Oney Family from Dayton, O., in Oil Springs, recently. Miss Collins, who will be entering the sixth grade at McDowell Grade School, is a piano student of Nancy Hale and is McDowell's mascot majorette and featured twirler. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Collins, of Minnie, and Rosie and Johnny Ferguson, of Prestonsburg. She was accompanied to Nashville by her parents and by Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Slone and family and Mr. and Mrs. Odis Hicks and son, all of McDowell.

Methodist Women Meet

The regular meeting of the Allen United Methodist Women was held August 10 at the church. The president, Karen Marcum, presided. Greeting cards were presented for the group to inspect. These cards had been ordered with the name of group imprinted. Edna Mae Callison will be in charge of mailing them and it was suggested that she be notified when someone was sick or when a sympathy card was required. Other business discussed was the procedure of sending flowers. It was voted to order all flowers for the group from "The Blossom Basket" in Martin. Karen Marcum will be in charge of ordering flowers. The group already sent flowers to Elsie Lafferty, still in the hospital.

Other items discussed was the possibility of starting a fund to purchase a steeple for the church. It was decided to check on prices on a steeple. Margaret Marcum mentioned the lack of a church sign affording directions to church. The previous signs were removed. It was suggested that Jerry Martin ask a check on locations available for installing signs and that signs already in storage be used. If additional signs are required, the group will check on the cost.

Maude Snodgrass had the program for the evening and gave a reading taken from "Guideposts," referring to the tragic plane crash last January in Washington, D.C. The article was titled, "Heroes Known and Unknown," relating the story of the brave man who gave his life that others should live. Jerry Martin gave the scripture reading from John 14. Karen Marcum provided special music with the hymn, "His Name Is Wonderful." Refreshments were served by the hostesses Donna Hall and Maude Snodgrass, to Tincy Crisp, E. Lee Kinzer, Kay Lemaster, Nora Hicks, Pat DeRossett, Karen Marcum, Elizabeth Bailey, Jewel Allen, Jerry Martin and Margaret Marcum.

The next meeting will be held September 14 at 7 p.m., with Kim Marcum and Nancy Marcum as hostesses and Ernestine May in charge of the program.

HISTORICAL HAPPENINGS DURING AUGUST

In 1902 King Edward VII was crowned King of England following the death of his mother, Queen Victoria.

In 1942, Britain arrested Indian nationalist Mohandas Gandhi, not releasing him until 1944.

In 1975, two river boats collided near Canton, China; 500 people were reported drowned.

Ten years ago in August, the death toll from Hurricane Agnes, which lashed the East Coast, was placed at 118 with more than $3 billion damage.

Basic skills in theatre arts were taught and workshop members were also treated to regular swimming sessions and other recreational activities.

Deadline Near For Personalized Tags

The deadline for ordering 1983 personalized license plates in Kentucky is Sept. 1.

The personalized tags may contain any combination of six letters and/or numbers so long as the combination does not duplicate other license plates used in Kentucky or offend public decency.

Applications for tags may be obtained at any local county clerk's office.

The completed applications should be mailed to the Special License Section, Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, State Office Building, Frankfort, Ky. 40622.

A $25 fee payable to the Kentucky State Treasurer must accompany each application and state law requires that the payment be made by certified check, money order or cashier's check. The tags will be shipped to the county clerks' offices in early December.

The county clerks will issue the tags and charge an additional fee of $13.50.

Once a personalized tag has been issued, it is reserved for the person ordering it on a year to year basis.

New Rules Govern Handling Of Wild Ginseng in Kentucky

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture has announced that emergency regulations have been issued governing the taking and harvesting of wild ginseng in Kentucky.

Included among them are harvesting and selling seasons, as well as requirements for keeping records, according to Agriculture Commissioner Alben W. Barkley, II. The regulations, which are now in full force, set a harvest season lasting from Aug. 15 to Dec. 1 of each year. The regulations also require that any seeds adhering to a plant taken during the season shall be planted within 50 feet of the location of the plant, using no planting tool other than the fingers.

The ginseng selling season will run from Aug. 15 of each year and extend to March 31 of the next year, Barkley said.

Henceforth, ginseng dealers will be required to obtain a license from the Department of Agriculture. The license expires June 30 each year and must be renewed on a yearly basis, he said.

Dealers will be required to keep records, on forms furnished by the Department, of all purchases and sales of ginseng, Barkley said. The records will show the month the ginseng was purchased, the month dug, the county where it was dug, the weight of the purchase, and the signature of the digger or seller. Barkley added that these records must be kept for three years.

In addition, dealers will be required to file a yearly report.

Dealers who export will be required to have a certificate of legal taking, Barkley said. These include the ginseng origin, year of taking, weight, and whether it is wild or cultivated ginseng.

Barkley said that for the purposes of the regulations, dealers will be defined as any person engaged in buying ginseng roots from collectors, cultivators or other dealers for the purpose of resale to exporters, other dealers, or any person who sells ginseng in any form in interstate commerce.

The regulations were developed as a result of legislation passed in the last General Assembly. They were required by federal rules in order to maintain ginseng exports.

Changes in the regulations could still be made as a result of the hearing process, Barkley said.

Interested people should send their comments on the regulations to Chris King, Department of Agriculture, 7th floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

DELTA SIGMA PHI RUSH WEEKEND

The Delta Sigma Phi fraternity of Transylvania University will be holding its annual rush planning session this weekend, according to Grady Stephens, chapter president. Others of officers and members from Prestonsburg attending will be Jeff Wicker, Mark McGuire, David Pitts, and David Lafferty.

CONSUMER ALERT

VIDEO GAMES

Have your children been asking you to purchase a new Atari, Intellivision or Space Odyssey? If so, you may soon join one of the fastest growing crazes in our country. Attorney General Steven L. Beshear says, "Consumers should shop wisely for home video games, carefully examining the capabilities, quality and cost of each game."

You will discover home video games for sale at many different stores. Deciding what model to purchase and what store to purchase it from are difficult decisions. Many times, consumers are swayed by a store running a super sale on a certain model and then discover the model does not fit their needs. First, decide what you want and need. Then think about the future. Will the model expand as you want it to? Will it keep pace with new technology? After you have defined your needs, learn about the different models. Ask if they will expand and find out how expensive it will be to expand. Compare the costs of the different models with the costs of expanding them. Also, check the costs of the cartridges that accompany the models and get estimates on the costs of the entire systems. Consumers will find that it pays to shop around.

"Deciding what store from which to purchase your video game is an important decision. Many times, the service provided after the system is purchased will be more valuable than a huge discount at the initial purchase," said Beshear. "Consumers should find out if the business will be able to provide repair service. Consumers should also be aware of the wide price ranges; many times, prices will vary substantially from dealer to dealer. Again, it pays to shop around."

After purchasing and using their video games, consumers often discover that problems have arisen. If you are faced with a repair problem, first read your warranty. The problem may be covered under the system's warranty. "Consumers should always be aware of what a product's warranty says, even before they purchase it," added Beshear.

Repair centers may require proof of purchase before doing warranty work. Always keep your sales receipt or proof of purchase. Many of the common problems video games have involve customer abuse. The control sticks, or joy sticks, are very susceptible to abuse. Dropping or kicking will damage the sticks. Each control stick contains a printed circuit board which will crack if dropped very far. Game cartridges are prone to customer abuse, too. Most cartridges cannot be plugged in with the power turned on. Each cartridge is an IC circuit and can be damaged by such abuse. Cartridges may become stuck if they are not plugged in properly, so never try to put one in backwards or try to force a cartridge in its socket. If in doubt about the way it should fit, check the owner's manual.

To reduce the prohibitive cost of game cartridges, some consumers have formed "home-game clubs". Clubs usually charge a membership fee and allow members to check game cartridges out for a certain period of time; others have a system where members loan each other cartridges.

Consumers should be aware that prolonged use of a video game may damage a television set. To protect your set, follow the guidelines in the owner's manual accompanying your video system. Following the instructions in the manual will usually prevent most problems, but if you do have a problem, first take it to your local dealer or to the manufacturer, depending on where you purchased the system. If you are unable to obtain a satisfactory solution, you may file a complaint with the Attorney General's Office.

For further information or to file a consumer complaint, contact the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601-1875, or call the toll-free Consumer Hotline: 1-800-432-9257.

IS YOUR INSURANCE AGENT LOCKED INTO ONE COMPANY?

There are 2 ways to buy insurance. You can buy your insurance from a one-company agent. But he's locked into only those policies that his company sells. So his hands are tied.

Or you can buy your insurance from an Independent Insurance Agent... the more-than-one-company agent. You see, your Big "I" Independent Agent doesn't work for one company. He represents several. So he's free to give you an independent opinion and advise you on the best coverage at the best price. And that goes for homeowners, automobile, business, life and health insurance.

Before you reach a verdict about insurance, see your Big "I" Independent Insurance Agent... the more-than-one-company agent. Do it today.

Funds Said Available For New Arts Projects

Has your community wanted to sponsor arts events or activities but didn't know how to begin? Or do you belong to an arts organization that wants to strengthen its programs for the community? The Kentucky Arts Council has announced that guidelines for the Governor's Challenge Grant program are being broadened to encourage participation by communities who are not presently receiving Challenge Grant funds. The Challenge Grant program stimulates fundraising activities by arts organizations by providing the incentive of a state match for money raised for the arts from individuals and businesses.

Nonprofit groups in communities in which little arts activity presently exists may apply to the Kentucky Arts Council for Challenge Grant funds to support specific new arts programs. The sponsor may be local government, an arts group, a parent/teacher organization, Homemaker Club, civic organization, or any group which demonstrates a commitment to sponsoring ongoing arts activities for the community. These funds are to be used as an incentive to raise local money to match the state grant. Technical assistance in fundraising and programming is available to help the group achieve its fundraising goal. Interested groups should write a letter of intent to the Kentucky Arts Council by October 1.

For other communities whose arts groups do not receive Challenge Grant funds, an arts organization may apply for matching funds to strengthen their arts program. For more details write or call the Kentucky Arts Council, Berry Hill, Frankfort, Kentucky, 502/564-3757.

November 1 is the deadline for application for all Challenge Grant programs. Under existing Challenge Grant guidelines, applicants must be independently incorporated, nonprofit arts organizations whose primary purpose is to provide arts services directly for the benefit of the public on a continuing basis. Applicants must equal or exceed each year the fundraising results of the preceding year in order to be eligible to receive a state match of up to 25% of the amount they raise.

Highlands X-Ray Plan Approved

The state Cabinet for Human Resources has approved a proposal from the Highlands Hospital Corporation.

The plan calls for replacement of an X-ray unit for Highlands Regional Medical Center. Estimated cost of the plan is $3,000 for renovation and $67,000 per year for six years for lease of equipment.

On Alcoholism

Alcoholism is a disease—we hear this statement over and over again. This is so hard for most of us to accept because we cannot associate it with germs or viruses, as in other "respectable" diseases. Nevertheless, we will see substantial progress in ourselves once we realize that it is a physical, mental and spiritual illness that has no single isolated cause. I cannot stop it, anymore than I can make a sick person get well.

Compulsive drinking is an outward manifestation of the alcoholic's inner anguish; if it goes on, it becomes a destructive cycle of deterioration. To make myself ready to help, I must, first of all, accept alcoholism as an illness.

If you are concerned about someone with a drinking problem, the Al-anon program can help you. Al-anon meets in Prestonsburg: Wednesdays, 10 a.m., St. James Parish Hall; Thursdays, 8 p.m., MCCC; Saturday, 8 p.m. Floyd County Library. For any added information call 886-6182 or 886-6528.

For Some, Summer Is For Reading

Summer was time to catch up on some reading for these youngsters, who recently completed a library-sponsored program in which each contracted to read a certain number of books.

Twenty-one signed up for the program and 16 completed it, including Tammy Kilgore, 8, who read 50 books and Jeannie Shepherd, 9, who finished 45. To mark the end of their contracts, the children enjoyed pop and cookies, served at the library by Librarian Korin Olson.

★ KENTUCKY AFIELD ★

DECEMBER DOVES

Kentucky's 1982 dove season will have a little different look than in past years and many hunters are probably wondering why the change was made.

After opening on the traditional Sept. 1, the first phase of this year's season stops short at Oct. 16 instead of running through the end of the month as it has in the past. But then rather than a short late November-early December season, hunters have from Dec. 1 through Dec. 24 to hunt doves.

The reason the Fish and Wildlife Commission made this change is that there are actually many more doves in Kentucky in December than in October, according to Bill Graves, director of the fish and wildlife department's Division of Wildlife.

Surveys have shown that dove populations are 16 percent higher in December than in October, and that December populations run 47 percent higher than the November count, Graves says. Opening the season for most of December will allow hunters to be afield when dove populations are higher than they've been since September.

During September, most of the doves in Kentucky are ones which have spent the summer here. These birds migrate south in the early fall, which accounts for the population decline. But in December, cold weather drives northern doves south, which replenishes the populations.

"Actually, the way we set our season within the federal framework is more a question of hunter preference than biology," Graves says. Most of the dove harvest occurs during the first few days of the season and hunting pressure has little effect on overall dove numbers.

To find out what Kentucky hunters prefer, the wildlife division will conduct a hunter opinion survey during this year's dove season. Hunters who are contacted by conservation officers or wildlife biologists will be given a survey card and asked to mail it back to the fish and wildlife department at the end of the season.

The card will ask whether hunters prefer a season like this year's, last year's or have no preference either way. Hunters will also be asked what counties they hunt and what months they hunt.

"If strong differences in opinion show up in different parts of the state we might recommend to the commission that we divide Kentucky into different dove 'zones' to give as many hunters as possible the season they want," Graves says.

Other 1982 dove regulations include shooting hours from noon until one-half hour before sunset, prevailing time and daily and possession limits of 12 and 24.

A brochure detailing complete regulations for doves, woodcock and snipe seasons as well as the experimental Sept. 8-13 "early duck" hunt is available by writing the Division of Public Relations, Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Frankfort, KY 40601.

PHS Cheerleaders Win Honors

Prestonsburg's Junior Varsity cheerleaders attended the University of Kentucky cheerleading clinic held July 17-20 on the UK campus. The PHS girls were in competition with other high school squads from across the state. With more than 700 girls attending, they were awarded a white ribbon for outstanding performance, a red ribbon of excellence, two blue ribbons for superior, and the Super Star Ribbon Award. Pictured, from left (first row)—Leslie Sheets, Jamie Harris, Kim Jurich and Kim Campbell; (second row)—Lauren Stone and Marcia Jefferson, and (back row), Rhonda Bates and Angela Blair.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., August 23—Observant fishermen are beginning to see a slight change in fishing as the water temperatures moderate somewhat. The lake-by-lake rundown, according to fish and wildlife conservation officers:

KENTUCKY: Catfish fair on cutbaits around rocky banks; murky, falling slowly at two feet below summer pool, 81°.

BARKLEY: Black bass slow casting plastic worms and crankbaits; white bass slow in jumps, early and late; catfish fair on cutbaits below dam; murky, rising slowly at 1½ feet below summer pool, 82°.

NOLIN: Black bass slow at night on plastic worms off points; crappie slow 15-20 feet deep around cover; clear to murky, rising slowly at 1½ feet above summer pool, 84°.

BARREN: Black bass slow but improving on plastic worms, spinnerbaits, and topwater lures; bluegill fair off steep banks; catfish slow; clear to murky, stable at five feet above summer pool, 80°.

GREEN RIVER: Black bass fair at night casting spinner baits and artificial nightcrawlers off points; white bass fair trolling deep runners; clear, stable at summer pool, 84°.

HERRINGTON: Black bass fair to good at night and late afternoon on artificial nightcrawlers; hybrid rockfish slow in scattered jumps of lower lake; clear, stable at summer pool, 80°.

CUMBERLAND: Crappie fair to good driftfishing 20 feet deep around submerged cover in main coves; white bass slow in jumps of main creek embayments and in main lake; bass, walleye, and rockfish showing up together off points by casting jig-and-rind; trout good below dam on worms, cheese or corn; walleye fair below dam late in day using jigs; 8700 trout stocked last week; clear, falling at 25 feet below timberline, 80°.

LAUREL: Trout fair on worms, cheese, or corn, fishing deep; bluegill fair fishing deep around stickups; black bass slow; clear, stable, five feet below power pool, 79°.

DALE HOLLOW: Black bass fair at night fishing artificial nightcrawlers in weed beds and off deep banks; bluegill fair fishing worms or crickets along deep banks; clear, stable at three feet above normal pool, 80°.

CAVE RUN: Musky fair trolling or casting medium-deep runners around stream channels of inlets (one 39-40 lb. musky taken in last few days); black bass fair at night on plastic worms off deep banks; crappie fair 15-20 feet deep around submerged cover; clear, stable at summer pool, 82°.

DEWEY: Crappie slow over cover; clear to murky, stable at summer pool, 84°.

Basketball Skills, Personal Testimony Shared by Peterson

When Bill "Peabody" Peterson, a 5-8 ballhandling expert and assistant coach at Louisiana Tech, demonstrates his skills during basketball camps throughout the United States, a personal testimony accompanies his performance.

Says Peterson: "I am a Christian and I believe the most important part of what I say is about God. I want the kids to get something out of my testimony. There was a time in my life when I really got tied up in myself. After being cut from basketball teams in college, I was more determined to work harder on drills. My coach gave me a list of drills to work on, explaining that if I really worked at them I would be a better ball player. I spent all my time practicing. "Before long I realized that I couldn't always think of myself; I was being selfish. I knew that I had the ability to play basketball, but it was because of God that I could get in front of people, demonstrate my drills and speak to people.

"I was an extremely shy person in high school; I could never speak to a group of people. Now, I know that the Lord is beside me every time I share my testimony with other people. The responses have been tremendous, too."

The 25-year-old Peterson, originally from Seminole, Fla., has been assistant coach at Louisiana Tech for the past two years. He played the past two years. He played the guard position at Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, Florida and was co-captain his senior year.

It wasn't until last summer that Peterson spoke to a group of 350 campers attending a basketball camp at Transylvania University. He had never addressed a group that size and it frightened him somewhat. "The Lord wanted me to speak to this group and I knew that he was right beside me. As I shared my personal testimony, along with the drills, I found that everything came out so easily."

"I tell the campers that they can do anything they want if they will put their mind to it. It takes a lot of hard work to be a good basketball player. They have to keep on trying, never giving up. I discuss motivation at great length, demonstrate drills and do a rope jumping exhibition for quickness.

It was through Jeff Price, close friend and former assistant coach under Eugene Lyons, basketball coach at Pikeville College, that Peterson came to this area to share his drill demonstration and personal testimony during Pikeville College's summer basketball camps June 13-18 and June 20-25.

It is estimated that 4,000 languages have become extinct over the course of history.

Square Dance Set To Aid Families Of Mine Victims

Three square dances, complete with live bands, are scheduled on three consecutive Saturday nights as a fund-raising effort for the families of victims of last January's mine disaster at Mink Branch, Paul H. Thompson, of Prestonsburg, announced this week.

Thompson, co-owner of the county's three IGA supermarkets, said the first of the dances, scheduled for this Saturday night in the parking lot of the Wheelwright IGA store, will feature the nationally-known Bluegrass group, the Goins Brothers. The following Saturday, in the parking lot of the Prestonsburg store at Highlands Plaza, an old-time square dance band from the Allen area will perform, and the same group will provide the music at the dance in the parking lot by the Martin IGA, September 11. All the dances will be held from 8-12 p.m.

All refreshments and foodstuffs such as hot dogs, buns, etc. are being provided by area businesses and distributors, free of charge, according to Thompson, and all proceeds from concessions will go to a special fund for survivors of the coal mine tragedy. He said store employees would donate their time to set up and operate the concessions.

"They had a big benefit show for the families of the men killed at Topmost," Thompson commented. "But as far as I know nothing like that has been done for the people at Mink Branch."

True Believers Take Part In Labor Day Gospel Sing

The True Believers of Prestonsburg will be participating along with approximately 50 other groups in a record breaking gospel sing Labor Day weekend in Huntington, W. Va. The members of the Tri-State Gospel Music Association, sponsors of the event, are confident they can set a world record for the longest continual gospel sing (a total of 77 hours) starting at 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 3, and running through midnight Monday, Sept. 6.

The City of Huntington has reserved the downtown plaza section on 9th street between 3rd and 4th Avenue. Mayor William Toney has promised his full cooperation and will kick off the sing with a proclamation that Huntington, W. Va. recognizes that weekend as Gospel Sing Weekend.

The members of The True Believers are Nellie Conn, Teresa Smith, Carl Smith, Larry Hyden, Clinton Woods, and Doug Woody.
