AN ALL TOO COMMON SCENE in the mountains, that of the mouth-of-hollow vigil following a coal mine accident, was reenacted last Wednesday afternoon after 69-year-old Frank Shell was killed by a rockfall while digging coal in an abandoned mine near his home on Short Branch of Abbott Creek.

Music Jailed After Release From Hospital

Alfred Music last Wednesday left the Lexington hospital where he had been treated for a serious gunshot wound suffered during the gunfight at his home at Martin Dec. 10, and was promptly jailed here by State Detective Danny Stumbo to answer to a murder charge lodged against him for the slaying in the same shootout of Curtis Hall, 21, of Topmost, Knott county.

Two days earlier, a special grand jury session here had charged the 22-year-old Music with murder. He also was booked at the jail on a first-degree assault count in the wounding of Fred Greer, 21, also of Topmost.

Also jailed here was Edwin Michael Mullins, alleged escapee from the (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Lafferty Plans New Commission To Run Program

Twenty months after it was launched as Floyd's most promising enterprise in years, the countywide solid waste system is nearly broke.

The system was able to meet an interest bill in November only by drawing on an emergency reserve; employee paychecks bounced in December; and a bond agent predicts financial collapse for the system this year unless the county "gets its house in order."

Moreover, unless it is properly managed, state environmental officials threatened recently to shut down the county's only approved landfill.

That the $2 million project was in crisis became clear to trustees after Nov. 1, when Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc., the agency that operates the garbage system, failed to make a scheduled debt service payment. In May and November each year, $90,000 falls due on the $1.5 million in revenue bonds that finance the operation.

Reportedly under pressure from the investors' agent, the trustees warded off default by drawing the $90,000 from a $180,000 reserve fund designed to protect the 20-year bonds in just such an emergency.

However, unless the solid waste system can start generating enough revenue to cover its operating costs, one more call on the reserve like the one that saved it in November will be its last. And that would have implications reaching well beyond the failure of a project that some looked to as a model for the state and even the nation.

"I can't begin to emphasize how enormous the damage would be" if the solid waste agency defaults on the bonds, said Joseph S. Reis, a representative of Seagood and Mayer, the Cincinnati brokers who helped float the bond issue. While the bondholder—described by Reis only as "a large corporate investor" but said to be the Allstate Insurance Company—is insured against default, a foreclosure (See Story No. 7, Page 4)

Consumers Hail Columbia Order

Columbia Gas Transmission has had little publicity about its role in the increasing costs of natural gas to consumers while Kentucky West Virginia has borne most of the heat, but an opinion handed down last week which directly affects Columbia is seen as a possible boon to customers, nationwide.

The ruling, handed down by Michel Levant, an administrative law judge for the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, held that Columbia acted improperly in taking excessive amounts of high-cost gas under "take-or-pay" agreements with some gas producers while cutting back on supplies of cheaper gas.

A "take-or-pay" agreement requires pipeline companies to pay for a certain amount of gas, whether they actually accept it at the well-head or not. Faced with this requirement, it is claimed, pipeline firms have been buying the higher-priced gas and passing costs on to consumers.

The administrative judge's ruling orders Columbia to make refunds to its customers, but it must be reviewed and approved by the full Federal Energy Regulatory Commission before becoming effective.

Consumer groups, which have contended for months that improper purchases by the nation's pipeline companies are driving bills to unreasonable heights, called Levant's ruling a major victory.

"We won on all the major points," said Ed Rothschild, a spokesman for the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition, one of the groups which had challenged $481 million in rate increases requested by Columbia in March and September of 1981.

Rothschild said the refund could amount to $100 million, which would be an average of almost $24 a customer. Columbia, one of the country's largest interstate pipeline firms, supplies gas to 71 local distribution companies serving 4.2 million customers in Kentucky, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

The case has been watched with close interest because it is the lead case in a round of challenges filed with the commission over pipeline companies' purchasing practices.

Faced with these clauses, the pipeline companies simply bought the higher-priced supplies and passed the costs on to consumers.

Bill Chaddock, Columbia's vice president for communications, said: (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

This Town...That World

Resolute resolution:
I resolve to do better fishing this year than last. (If I tried, I couldn't do worse.)

While the President and governors and their advisers struggle with budgets that run into astronomical figures, the rest of us who provide the money do battle with budgets that are minuscule by comparison. But the end result for all of us is the same—none make ends meet.

SCURRILOUS SCRIVENER

Last week this newspaper printed a diatribe against Kentucky, particularly our part of Kentucky, by a man who apparently never looked for anything but the worst. It was calculated to help any of us who might be suffering from low blood pressure, the blahs or that "general, rundown feeling."

The guy is now a resident of the Pacific northwest. He's the type who, if ever he leaves there, may be expected to settle down for a bit of verbal sniping (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

51-Year-Old R. V. May Co. Bought by Kentucky Welding

The Prestonsburg-based R. V. May Company, Inc., the state's largest business of its kind, began operation Monday morning under new ownership with its purchase by the Kentucky Welding Co., Inc., which is headquartered in Charleston, West Virginia.

The transaction conveyed to Kentucky Welding Supply not only the R. V. May plant here but also the May locations at Pikeville, Hazard, Lexington, London and Danville.

The 51-year-old business began on Thanksgiving Day, 1931 with plant construction in West Prestonsburg by its founder, R. V. May. In 1955 the plant and office facilities here were moved to their present location on South Lake Drive. In its six locations the company employed 57 as a distributor of welding supplies and industrial and hospital gases.

Amount involved in the purchase was not stated. "We got what we asked," Mr. May said. He and his children, R. V., Jr., Walker, Julia and Elizabeth, formed the corporate ownership.

Paul Day, manager of the business, will be retained by the new ownership in the same capacity, it was said. Mr. May has retained two offices in the South Lake Drive building. The business will be operated under the name of Kentucky Welding Supply.

Appalachian Project Leader Says Grants Total $700,000

In the wake of a report that the agency he heads might not be able to deliver on a $5500 program for the elderly here, the Rev. Ralph W. Beiting, president of the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP), this week announced grants totalling $700,000 for Floyd projects in 1983.

The major element in the Lancaster-based agency's investment here this year will be the founding of an "interdenominational Christian school" at Martin, Beiting said. Purchase of a site on new KY 80 at the mouth of Stephens Branch and construction of a building to house students in all grades and preschoolers as well will cost $600,000, he said.

Other CAP projects proposed for this year include the construction of a camp "for young people, senior citizens and families" on Dewey Lake at Stratton Branch, at an estimated cost of $30,000; grants of $7500 to the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association, $5000 to Our Lady of the Way Hospital for an infant monitor, and $2000 to the David Community Development Corporation; $15,000 to support two volunteers providing services for the elderly; $6000 for emergency assistance to the needy; $6000 for youth group activities; $2500 for a Christmas basket program; $3000 for Bible study; $2000 for college scholarships; $2500 in tuition assistance for Floyd students attending Our Lady of the Mountains Academy in Paintsville; and $2500 for maintenance of a houseboat on Dewey Lake and two other boats for recreational use by groups.

Change Sought By Bus Company Sees New Route

The Greyhound bus route between Ashland and Pikeville along U.S. 23 will apparently not be affected by route changes the bus company is asking the state to approve, and a new route may be opened up between here and London.

Greyhound Lines filed papers with the state Transportation Cabinet last month, seeking permission to abandon 22 "back road" runs—more than half its currently scheduled routes—in this state.

Motor carriers using Kentucky highways must have permits from the Transportation Cabinet and pay fees that go into the state road fund.

The bus company says it has been losing money on the routes it seeks to abandon. Its buses will still run on major highways in eastern Kentucky, company officials said.

Under the plans submitted for state (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Rockfall Claims Abbott Ck. Man

Frank Shell, 69, was crushed to death the afternoon of Dec. 29 by a rockfall in a small coal "bank" near his home on the Short Branch of Abbott Creek while digging coal for his own home use.

Rock from a portion of the highwall above the outcrop of coal covered him, and he died almost instantly of internal injuries.

Although Shell's death is not expected to be classified as an "official" mine fatality, according to a spokesman for the Mine Safety and Health Administration, state and federal mine officials gathered at the site as rescue workers labored about two hours to recover the body, and an investigation was conducted.

A native of Martin county, he was a son of the late James and Martha Adkins Shell. He was a member of the Trinity Pentecostal Church of God and was a veteran of World War II. (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

Making Corn Meal The Old-Time Way

Ballard Clark has worked at many things during his 88 years. At his father's sawmill and steam-powered grist mill operation on John's Creek, he sawed cross-ties, worked in lumber and learned the art of producing stone-ground cornmeal as a boy. Later, to support a family, he ran a store and was a bus driver in Huntington, W. Va. and Ashland.

Like many Eastern Kentuckians, particularly the older people of the area who grew up during lean and hard times, life to Clark has meant almost continual hard work. Now, although he could easily "lay back" and enjoy the fruits of his many years of labor, which include a nice home and farm on Mare Creek, he can't seem to slow down.

Still a jack-of-all-trades sort of fellow, Clark has concentrated over the past several years on the production of fine quality stone-ground cornmeal.

Single-handedly cultivating about 300 bushels of Funk's White Corn a year in the spacious bottom near his home, he estimates that he produces around 4,000 5-lb. bags of cornmeal a year and sells most of it "all over the country—Marrowbone, Hellier, Mud Creek—groceries and farm stores just about everywhere."

Production, after the considerable task of tending and harvesting the crop, includes storing the corn, then running it through an old sheller, after which it is dried and finally poured into the antique mill which produces the fine-textured meal. The mill, a lovely old piece of equipment, has been adapted to run off an electric motor. Clark is quick to point out that the actual grinding is accomplished by large North Carolina hail grit stones inside the mill.

Packaged in neat bags sealed with labels identifying the maker, his address, etc., the meal is loaded into the trunk of Clark's car and delivered to various merchants and old customers.

Clark loves all that's involved in (See Story No. 8, Page 4)

Old Christmas Set Sunday At Lodge

Because of a series of calendric mix-ups and revisions in Europe during the 17th and 18th centuries and a reluctance on the part of American colonists to go along with the dictates of their cousins across the sea, the older date of Christmas, Jan. 6, was held as right and proper for a longer time here than in England.

Although Dec. 25 was finally adopted, settlers in isolated sections of the Appalachians and a few spots elsewhere continued to regard "Old Christmas" as a special time. Edith F. James, of Prestonsburg, widely-known folk music collector, revived the tradition which she remembered as a small girl by organizing small parties here back in the 1930's.

The get-togethers have since become an annual part of the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival with this year's observance scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 9, at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

How Can I Help A Child Understand The Reality of Death?

It is important to realize that children differ in their ability to understand and accept the fact of death.

When the death is a member of the immediate family, a child should be included in the activities and preparations for the funeral. The way in which adults react during this time is the greatest influencing factor in teaching the child the accepted manner of learning to live with death.

Questions often arise in their minds. These are to be encouraged and answered with a loving concern for the sensitivities of the child. Explain that it is alright to feel sad and to cry, to feel lonely and hurt. Point out, however, that death is real and irreversible. Avoid the fairy stories and white lies which will only confuse and disillusion the child.

Re-living the happy memories involving the deceased should be encouraged. Statements of sincere religious beliefs can offer comfort to a child with a religious upbringing. Your pastor, priest or rabbi wants to be of help at such times.

Sometimes we can be of personal assistance. Remember, your concerns are ours, too.

Perkins Bill Aimed At Teacher Shortage

Citing the nationwide shortage of math and science teachers "from the early grades of elementary schools through the last year of high school," Congressman Carl D. Perkins introduced a bill Monday to alleviate this serious problem.

Congressman Perkins, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, said his subcommittee "has held extensive hearings going into this problem of a shortage of science and mathematics teachers, and the problem is much more serious than most people realize."

Perkins said testimony disclosed such glaring problems as:

-42 states are short of physics teachers...

-43 states are short of math teachers...

-38 states are short of chemistry teachers...

He said that studies by groups interested in science and mathematics teaching show that in the past ten years there has been a drop of approximately 70 percent in the number of high school teachers prepared to teach mathematics and science at the high school level.

"This means that teachers trained in some other subject are being drafted to teach mathematics and science, and while I am sure they are doing the best they can, we need our young people to have the best training possible, if we are going to be able to compete with youngsters educated in other countries," he said.

"That is why I have introduced the Emergency Mathematics and Science Education Act," he said.

The bill amends the National Defense Education Act, which Congressman Perkins co-sponsored and helped pass in 1958, after the Russians had shown their space proficiency by sending their Sputnik into orbit.

"We are in as bad shape now, when it comes to training mathematicians and scientists, as we were then," Congressman Perkins said. "And, the only way we can catch up is by making sure that youngsters in elementary school and high school get the proper foundation in mathematics and science," he said.

Congressman Perkins said that the funds appropriated for the bill would be, "hopefully," between $200 million and $300 million during the first year. The money would be distributed to the states based on a formula, and the states would be required by law to distribute no less than 95 percent of the money to local school systems.

Local school systems would use the money to train teachers so that they can qualify to teach mathematics and science, and to update and expand courses in mathematics, science and for related education improvement activities.

"There is another very important section of the bill, involving college students in the junior and senior year," Congressman Perkins said.

"Students in those years who want to go on to teach math and science—and who are highly qualified—will be offered Congressional scholarships to complete their education, and go on to teaching," he said.

The students would be nominated by members of Congress, and would be selected strictly on a merit basis, he said.

The college level funds would also be available for special summer courses for teachers in subjects identified as in short supply by the Secretary of Education.

ABSOLUTE AUCTION 50.63 Surveyed Acres

Located On U.S. 460, West Side of Frenchburg, Ky.

Sat. 1:30 p.m., January 15

We have been instructed to sell this 50.63-acre farm fronting on the north side of Highway 460 and overlooking the city of Frenchburg, Ky. This farm has been about 50% in pasture and cultivation. There is a road off the highway up and onto the property and with some repair could be a good year-round road. There is an old dairy barn fronting the highway near the old house site and there is an old tobacco barn back on the property. You will also find some good oak timber. There is a tobacco allotment of 1161 lbs. for 1982. This boundary of land has lots of possibilities for a farm as well as future sub-division into smaller tracts. We invite your inspection and there is excellent owner financing available, with only 20% total down payment, balance amortized over 20 years with a balloon payment at the end of 5 years.

For further information call the selling agent. Complete terms announced at auction time.

Denominational Problems

By WILMAY

Leading denominations continue to struggle with beliefs. Many lose pastors and/or congregations because of encroaching liberalism. The Lutherans split over it a few years ago. Some join other faiths or start new cults. One says God has no gender, another that Jesus was black; some denounce ordaining gays or women as deacons or pastors.

Like most, Southern Baptists, the largest U.S. Protestant body, is involved. Its current dilemma finds Arkansas Baptists requesting Southern Seminary, Louisville, to dismiss a professor there 41 years, because he denies eternal security, a Baptist tenet. Even worse heresies exist. Dr. George Redding, once pastor of Prestonsburg First Baptist and former head of the Religion Department of Georgetown College, wrote: "A member of the staff of a famous Baptist University said to me, 'of the professors in our Religion Dept., I am sure none of the others believes in the virgin birth of Jesus. In another Baptist school a professor of Religion teaches that Jesus is not the only way, that other great religions provide ways of eternal salvation.'" (WESTERN RECORDER, May 12, 1973. Used with permission.)

Robert Alley, head of the Religion Dept. in Richmond University, told a group that Jesus never claimed to be God or to be related to him. (Direct defiance of scripture.) Alley was only demoted, and most of the faculty urged retaining him. The widely used BROADMAN BIBLE COMMENTARIES blatantly deny many scriptures and sow doubt. Vol. I, Genesis, page 107 says: "It is equally obvious that God did not dictate the passages to the writers of scripture." Countless verses say he did. It falsifies about the Flood: The biblical account does not demand that every foot of earth be covered with water. The essential claim is that the water covered all the inhabited earth. P.139. Genesis 7:19 disproves this. In Vol. I EXODUS writer, now president of Southern Seminary, mutilates the number of Israelites the Bible says left Egypt, lists possible unbiblical reasons for the burning bush, the Red Sea passage, and Ten Plagues. Quote: The water turned to literal blood; blood was used to describe its red-dish color; or the term was used in a nonliteral sense by a later writer. The reality of the event likely rests in the second or third alternative, with the third probably, though not certainly, the better option. P.336. The first is scriptural and true. It was a supernatural act of God, but the writer believes 2 or 3, preferably 3 he says. If the word BLOOD was used nonliterally the plague never occurred in the first place! Quotations as follows: Clyde T. Francisco and Roy L. Honeycutt, Jr. THE BROADWAY BIBLE COMMENTARY, VOL. 1, Nashville, Broadman Press. Used with permission.

Quotes are out of context but without change in meaning. Read for yourselves. Saddest aspect about the current problem is that Southern does not do what New Orleans Seminary did when a professor started teaching contrary to the Word. We have had so much biased liberalism in Baptist publications, literature, newspapers, etc. that some are unaware of what is happening. Some are uninformed and others dislike to be called schismatics or troublemakers, forgetting that Jesus, Paul, Luther, Wesley and Spurgeon were all dissidents because of unorthodox teachings in their time. As for the liberals who now call themselves moderates, God says in Rev. 3:15-16 to be hot or cold, not lukewarm, or he would spew us out of his mouth. He loathes double-mindedness, which is rampant.

Jesus was the Word made flesh, his resurrection the greatest event of all history. God protected him triumphantly, and has always protected his Word. Since earliest days men have tried in vain to destroy it. It is being attacked today as never before, Satan making his last stand all over the world. But God's Word is still much the best-seller in the entire world. There must be some mighty reason for the same.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shelton, of Drift, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter Miss Arbutus (Beauty) Shelton to Mr. Steven Craig Kidd, son of Mrs. Betty Miller and the late Everett Paul Kidd.

Miss Shelton is a graduate of McDowell High School and Mayo State Vocational-Technical School. She is currently employed by the First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg, Mr. Kidd is also a graduate of McDowell High School and Mayo State Vocational-Technical School. He is presently employed by Triple M Mining Company, of Drift.

The wedding will be solemnized February 5 at 2:30 p.m. at the Drift Pentecostal Church. The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

PRESTONSBURG'S STOP SMOKING CLINIC OFFERS A PROVEN MEDICALLY ACCEPTED METHOD FOR SMOKERS TO STOP FOR GOOD WITHOUT WITHDRAWALS OR WEIGHT GAIN—IN JUST FIVE DAYS! (MONEY BACK GUARANTEE).

KICK A LIFELONG HABIT IN JUST FIVE DAYS!

EXAMINE THE FOLLOWING FACTS:

Is "will power" the answer? Of the 85% who try to quit smoking, a mere 3% are able to make it without outside help. Where does that leave the other 97% who want to stop? Do they lose? In most cases they do.

Until a few years ago it seemed a near "impossible dream" to be free of the desperate preoccupation of smoking, but now at our STOP SMOKING CLINIC, for the those seriously desiring to quit we can guarantee you will stop smoking in 5 days or your money back. The reason we feel so certain you will stop is our medically approved method. In case after case it has proven a near 100% success rate, and that's in 5 short days.

If you SERIOUSLY want to "kick" the habit, PLEASE call us for an interview, you will NOT be accepted for this program unless we feel we CAN help you.

HEALTH NOTES

By JANE BOND

One out of every seven blind people is a victim of glaucoma, a disease that works painlessly and silently. This blindness can be prevented since early detection and treatment can check the progress of glaucoma, but sight, once lost to glaucoma, cannot be restored. It is for this reason that persons over age 40 are urged to have periodic examinations for glaucoma; this age is the high risk age for the disease.

The Floyd County Health Department will conduct a glaucoma screening clinic Wednesday, Jan. 12. This is a free service of the Health Department, and the public is urged to attend.

A nurse from the Health Department will be at the Wayland Methodist Church Monday, Jan. 10 from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. to offer t.b. skin tests, urinalyses, anemia screenings, blood pressures, and baby shots (immunizations).

UMWA Local Union 1827 is releasing for bid Union Hall 40'x80' block building with central heat and air conditioning, trust and shingle roof, dry-wall ceiling, 2 baths, approximately 60 yards of Class A concrete and 3,000 blocks. Location is 3 miles up John's Creek from Rt. 23 at P Point across from Philadelphia Church.

Gifted Students To Use Computers

Standing: Harry Wallace, Title I Director; Pete Grigsby, Jr., Superintendent, Floyd County Schools; Ronald Frasure, Jr.; Larry Jervis, school psychologist; Seated: Tim Salisbury, teacher; John K. Pitts, principal and Janie Goodman, teacher.

The Talented and Gifted Program (TAG) will begin to use computers this year in Floyd county schools. Teachers and principals participating in this program were recently involved in a workshop emphasizing the use of computers in the classrooms. The primary objectives for their use will be to enhance and extend the abilities of gifted students.

Ronald Frasure, Jr., manager of Radio Shack, conducted the workshop using three TRS-80 computers purchased by the Floyd County Board of Education with a grant provided by the Kentucky Department of Education. The two teachers involved, Janie Goodman and Tim Salisbury, learned the basics of computer language and programming.

The TAG program is presently operating at Prestonsburg, Clark, Martin, McDowell and Osborne Elementaries. Grigsby said he hopes more funds will become available next year to extend this program to other schools.

Ron Hager, assistant superintendent, said TAG students using computers will experience a greater challenge and interest, thereby improving their abstract thinking, creativity and reasoning abilities.

Frasure emphasized that the use of computers in the classroom can create a greater interest in learning for students. Various programs are also available other than games that are geared to learning, such as math, word processing and typing. In addition students can develop their own programs in relation to their particular interests. Computers can be programmed to inventory, balance check books, store and retrieve information, check attendance, compile grades, write stories, and many other applications.

Attempt at Theft Alleged as Youth Seriously Wounded

A 19-year-old Harold youth, one of four men allegedly involved in the theft of a truck on Upper Adkins Branch of Branham's Creek, was shot and seriously wounded late last Thursday night, but a State Police investigation has failed to identify the person who fired the shot.

The Pikeville State Police post report said Tony Tackett was shot while he and others were chased by the owner of the truck, but if the name of the truck-owner or that of the person who fired the shot is known, that information is not being released.

Tackett was shot one time in the head and was at first listed in critical condition. He was first taken to the Methodist Hospital at Pikeville, then transferred to Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington.

No formal charge have yet been filed. Detective Danny Stumbo is investigating the shooting.

Celebrate Birthdays

Hatler Mullins and his two granddaughters, Donna Sue and Jessica Gwynne, celebrated their birthdays in December. Mr. Mullins was born Dec. 1, 1934 to Lom and Josephine Mullins at Hi Hat. He is the husband of Nellie Bryant and the father of five children, Ronnie, Donnie, Sharon, Brenda and Gloria, all of Price.

Jessica Gwynne was born Dec. 6 to Ronnie and Kathy T. Mullins. She celebrated her first birthday with a strawberry shortcake and refreshments. Many friends and relatives visited her and brought gifts. Maternal grandparents are Ed and Juanita Caudill, also of Price.

Donna Sue was born Dec. 31 to Donnie and Wilma R. Mullins. She celebrated her fifth birthday. Maternal grandparents are Victor and Mary Alice Ray, of Beaver, Ky.

VISITOR FROM INDIANA
Mrs. Flora Mellon, of Clarksville, Ind. is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hall.

Note of Appreciation
A note of thanks to the places of business of our community who made donations of fruit, candy, other treats and money. Also to the citizens who donated their time as well as money to make this the biggest and best Christmas treat for the kids and elderly shut-ins of our community we've had so far. Your generosity enabled us to distribute 350 bags of candy and fruit to the kids and 54 packages of fruits and nuts to the elderly. The list of names is too long to list each one so please accept this as our note of thanks to each and everyone as well as our wish for a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

First & Last Call For Alcohol In Floyd County

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

Cigarette smoking can have broader health implications than those which you might already be aware. For instance, women who take birth control pills and smoke have increased risk of heart attack, stroke and other circulatory diseases. Nicotine and other ingredients in a cigarette speed up metabolism of certain drugs such as theophylline, an asthma drug, and pentazocine, a pain killer. To a lesser extent, cigarette smoking also affects certain tranquilizers, anagesics and anti-depressants. It is sometimes necessary, then, for smokers to need larger-than-normal doses of these drugs. Conversely, those who have stopped smoking may have to have their prescriptions changed as well.

If you're a smoker, it is important to let your physician know, so that the proper dosage can be prescribed if you need any medication. At COOLEY APOTHECARY we use the best quality ingredients available, and we're always happy to interpret your physician's prescription for you. Don't forget that medications are tax deductible. you can find us at #2 Town Center Bldg. Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30; Sat. 9-4. 886-8106. VISA and MasterCard welcome.

HANDY HINT:
Cigarette smoking can affect certain diagnostic tests such as blood clotting time determinations.

CARD OF THANKS

A personal thank you to all of the people who helped and were with us during the sickness and death of our mother, Ada Jane Moore. A special thanks to the McDowell Hospital staff, doctors and nurses, the Left Beaver Rescue Squad, the Pilgrim Rest Church, the Regular Baptist ministers, everyone who sent flowers and food offerings, and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. We thank you with all our heart.

Crash Here Nearly Topples Power Pole

Poles were erected and joined by cable to support power lines after mishap here, Monday.

Kentucky Power Company crews labored through most of the day, Monday to replace a power pole which had been knocked almost in half following a single-car mishap on U.S. 23 near The Bank Josephine's Prestonsburg branch. Driver of the auto, Janet Boyd, of Prestonsburg, lost control of the vehicle after turning from E. Patton Street onto 23, according to the investigating officer, Prestonsburg Policeman David Caudill. Although the force of the impact was powerful enough to fling a piece of the pole 75 ft. away, Miss Boyd is not believed seriously hurt. Caudill said she was treated at Highlands Regional Medical Center for a broken nose and was hospitalized for observation.

'Kentucky Woman' Scheduled To Air on CBS Next Tuesday

'Kentucky Woman,' the TV movie about a young woman coal miner which was filmed in Martin and Johnson counties last year, will be aired on CBS next Tuesday, Jan. 11, beginning at 9 p.m.

The two-hour movie, which stars Cheryl Ladd and Ned Beatty, tells the story of Maggie Telford's struggles to overcome social biases and hazardous conditions in a Kentucky mine. In doing so, she learns about herself as a woman, develops a stronger relationship with her father and learns to trust a new man in her life.

In her search to become a miner, Telford has to battle against the rigorous work in a harsh environment, as well as the traditional male biases and superstitions regarding the presence of women in a coal mine. "Women in a mine, accident in time" is how she's greeted her first day on the job.

The employment of women in the mines is "a serious issue in Appalachia where the traditional approach has been to 'keep women in their place,'" said Walter Doniger, the film's producer, writer and director.

Mine sequences in "Kentucky Woman" were shot at the main east portal of Martin County Coal Company's 28,000-acre mine near Inez.

According to Raymond A. Bradbury, president and general manager of the company, "the most outstanding feature for the film was the height of the coal within 500 feet of the entrance. It's 10 feet high and there's plenty of room where the cast and crew could work standing up."

Wheelwright Men Found Not Guilty Of Theft Charges

Two Wheelwright men were promptly acquitted of theft charges by a Circuit Court jury Tuesday.

Richard "Sonny" Hill, 22, and Terry Little, 19, had been accused of vandalizing a disabled automobile belonging to Johnny Parker, 29, and of taking from it the wheels and tires, a radio, the battery and alternator.

Parker claimed his 1973 Pontiac LeMans was stripped while he was visiting his family in Wheelwright in June, 1981—he lived at that time in Elyria, Ohio—and two who said they were eye-witnesses to the crime accused Hill and Little of perpetrating it.

Defense attorney Ned Pillersdorf noted that the complaint against the two men was originally brought by Parker's brother, Lowell, and that the key prosecution witnesses were related to the Parkers. Sharon Parker is their sister and Athene Scott an aunt, it was said.

The case against Hill and Little may have been a "smokescreen" to divert police attention from illegal activity on the Parkers' own part, Pillersdorf theorized.

In an earlier Circuit Court case, John "Buck" Tackett and Tony Tackett were sentenced to five-year and seven-year jail terms, respectively, after pleading guilty to charges of assault in the beating and stabbing last February, of Darrell Hunter. (Tony Tackett is not the Harold man of the same name who was shot in a Branham's Creek incident last week, it was said.)

Lonnie Doug Neeley was due to surrender himself to authorities this week to begin a two-year pen term. He pleaded guilty last month to a drug possession charge.

Auxier Community Club Discusses Incorporation

The Auxier Community Development Club met December 13. Guest speakers were Bill Rucher and Paul Jennings, of Van Lear, who discussed incorporation.

On December 18 clubmembers distributed packages of candy and food to residents of the Jenny Wiley Nursing Home.

A special meeting was held to greet Dr. Grady Stumbo, candidate for governor and John C. Wells, his campaign manager. The next meeting is scheduled for January 10 at 7 p.m. at the Auxier Grade School cafeteria. Refreshments will be served and a door prize given away. Everyone is welcome.

One of the most colorful events of the season is the annual Old Christmas party given at May Lodge. This year, it will be on Sunday, Jan. 9, at 2 p.m. There will be the traditional wassail bowl, homemade sweetbread, and lots of other "goodies," and musicians from throughout this area, and from a distance will be there to render old-time music. The directors, Mrs. Edith James, and Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Frazier, extend a cordial invitation to the public to be on hand for this event.

Winter Suggestions For Home Emergency

Winter storms may mean isolation at home, warns Wilbur R. Buntin Jr., executive director of Disaster and Emergency Services. This problem can be especially severe in rural areas, less so in urban areas.

The suggestions that follow apply especially to rural areas, where isolation can be prolonged. "In rural areas, people should be prepared to survive for as long as one to two weeks in isolation," Buntin said.

Keep an adequate fuel supply on hand and use it sparingly, since regular supplies may be cut off or curtailed. Keep the house cooler than usual, or close off some rooms temporarily.

Emergency heating sources are a wise precaution. "In an emergency, an alternative heating source would keep at least one room warm enough to live in," Buntin said. This could be a coal, wood- or oil-burning stove, fireplace or space heater. However, Buntin warns, use emergency heating equipment carefully. Proper ventilation is essential and because fire departments may be delayed or unable to reach you, use extra caution to prevent fire. Keep a fire extinguisher and other firefighting tools handy.

It's a good idea to have emergency food and water supplies, Buntin advises. Even if you are within walking distance of a grocery store, its supplies may dwindle if roads are closed to supply trucks. And water pipes may freeze. When stocking up, include food that requires no cooking or refrigeration, or have emergency cooking facilities in case of a power failure. Natural foods allow the body to produce its own heat efficiently, especially quick-energy foods like raisins and other dried fruits.

Power lines are downed easily during winter storms, Buntin said. Have a flashlight, battery-powered radio and spare batteries.

If your heat goes out, keep water pipes from freezing by wrapping them in pipe insulation or newspapers covered with plastic to keep out moisture. Let each faucet drip a little to maintain water pressure, Buntin advises. Know how to shut off the water coming into the house—as a last resort, you may have to shut off the main valve to keep the pipes from bursting.

If pipes do freeze, remove the insulation and wrap them with rags. Open every faucet all the way and if hot water is available, pour over the pipes. Never use an open flame to help thaw out pipes, Buntin warns.

With the proper preparation, a brief period of isolation at home need not be terribly uncomfortable, Buntin said. It certainly should be an improvement over being outdoors during a winter storm.

Youth Hurt When Car Burns At East Point

East Point, Ky., Sept 14 (Spl.)—A practically new Nash "Six" sedan, owned by Charlie Patrick, of Van Lear, was burned near here Saturday night. Mr. Patrick's son was driving, when he speeded up to pass another. He went over an embankment, broke the vacuum tank and the car was a mass of flames in a few minutes. One boy was badly burned on the arm.

RAMEY HURT

E. E. Ramey, contractor, building the Floyd-Johnson bridge, was painfully injured Monday morning, while cranking the air compressor. The crank flew off and struck him in the face, cutting the upper lip through and bruising his face severely.

HAND CRUSHED

John Music's right hand was badly crushed by a loaded mine car in the mines of the North-East Coal Company, at Auxier, Friday.

JOHNSON-AUXIER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, Saturday, when their youngest daughter, Alka, became the bride of Samuel Auxier, the Rev. Webster Green officiating. Beside the immediate families, Miss Mildred Music and Durwood B. Price, of Junction City, witnessed the ceremony. A bountiful and delicious supper was served.

Ligon-Clarke Wedding Solemnized Here Saturday at Home of Bride's Parents

MRS. JOHN RANDOLPH CLARKE

One of the most important events of the social season here took place Saturday, September 10, when Miss Sallye Gatewood Ligon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Ligon, and Mr. John Randolph Clarke, of Lexington, Va., and Charleston, W. Va., were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents.

The brides popularity here and her family's prominence in Eastern Kentucky made of the marriage an event of unusual interest in this section.

The marriage, which was solemnized at five o'clock Saturday evening by Bishop W. L. Gravett, of the Diocese of West Virginia, Episcopal Church, was consummated impressively, the Episcopal ring ceremony being used.

Forming a beautiful setting for the marriage of this popular couple was the Ligon home, which was profusely decorated with early fall flowers, palms and ferns.

Mrs. Iley B. Browning, of Ashland, rendered a short piano program, and, preceding the ceremony Miss Nelle Allen sang "Until."

Entering the drawing room, escorted by her father, the bride was joined at the altar by the groom and his best man Mr. M. I. Dunn, of Huntington, W. Va. The bride was charmingly gowned in an imported model of gold metallic blouse, with brown skirt and accessories to match. She bore a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Master Henry Davidson Eitzpatrick, Jr., acted as ring-bearer.

An informal reception was given following the ceremony, and the happy couple was showered by the congratulations of their many friends. A delicious ice course was served in the dimly lit room, where the bride's cake was cut by Mrs. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke left Saturday evening on a wedding tour, from which they will return to Charleston, where they will be at home to their host of friends.

Go Hunting or Fishing Now

Although Kentucky's squirrel and deer bow hunting seasons closed Dec. 31, there's still a couple of month's worth of hunting for quail, rabbits and grouse, as well as almost a month until the waterfowl season closes after Jan. 20 and furbearer season ends after Jan. 31.

Small game seasons will extend through Feb. 28 this year, and even if most bird or rabbit hunters call it quits for the season long before that, there is a small group of dedicated die-hards who stick with it until the last day of the season.

These late-season hunters fare pretty well, too. Perhaps they are successful because they do persist and learn a little more about the game they're hunting than the "fair weather" nimrod who hangs it up after the Christmas holidays.

Or maybe those who hunt in January and February are intent on getting the full value out of their hunting licenses. 1982 sport licenses expired at midnight, Dec. 31, so those who buy their licenses early in January and hunt until the seasons close get an extra two months of hunting for their money over those who wait until the fall seasons roll around to buy their licenses.

Since fishing licenses are also issued on a calendar year basis, the angler who wants to get the most for his money will also buy this license early in the year and take advantage of what is often some very good late winter and early spring fishing.

Crappie school tightly during the winter months and the fisherman who locates the fish can have some "hot" cold weather fishing. Since the fish are sluggish in cold water and don't move around much, you can usually locate schools of crappie in just about the same location day after day.

Trout are active in cold weather, so if there's a nearby lake, stream or tailwater that's stocked with these fish, you might give it a try some warm, sunny day this winter. You're likely to find the trout, which were in the depths last summer, swimming around in shallow water and not too difficult to catch.

Sauger and walleye also remain active in winter and begin their spawning runs very early in the year, offering the cold-weather fisherman another chance to bring home some fresh fish for the table—and there's no better eating than fish caught in the middle of winter. Even species which taste a little "muddy" when caught in the summer will be firm, fresh and delicious when pulled out of 40-degree water.

Even if everything is completely frozen over, you can still catch fish. Test the ice on your favorite farm pond and if it's over four inches thick, go ice fishing. An ultra-light spinning outfit, a small hook, a light line and some meal worms or other suitable bait is all you'll need, plus an ice auger, a hatchet or some similar instrument to make a hole in the ice. You'll generally find a school of bluegill near the bottom of the deepest part of the pond, and the fish will almost always bite readily.

So there's no reason to sit around the house this winter wishing for warm weather. Just put on an extra pair of socks or two, bundle up good and get out of doors for a while—you just might discover that you've been missing something.

Public Advocacy Program Provides Defense Attorneys for the Needy

Kentucky's Department of Public Advocacy provides legal assistance to thousands of citizens across the state.

The origin of the public defenders and of their legal assistance has been told many times. Several months ago the late Henry Fonda portrayed a poor Southerner from a small town named Clarence Gideon. Gideon performed odd jobs and drank cheap wine as a diversion. With a ne'er-do-well reputation, Gideon was arrested and charged with a crime he did not commit. He was tried, convicted and sent to prison.

While in prison, Gideon did legal research and eventually appealed his conviction on the grounds that he had been denied a court-appointed attorney. He lost his appeal in the Florida state courts, but ultimately won in the United States Supreme Court. With Justice Abe Fortas arguing for the defense, the Supreme Court ruled that all defendants in criminal proceedings have a right to legal counsel.

That precedent-setting case, known as Gideon v. Wainwright, spawned the public defenders offices which are so widely recognized today.

In Kentucky, the public defender's role is performed by the Department of Public Advocacy, one of 14 agencies in the Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet. The office is responsible for administering the statewide public advocacy system, providing technical aid to local counsel who represent indigents, assisting local counsel on appeals and performing similar and related duties.

Jack Farley, the public advocate who heads the state office, said that the program handles about 50,000 cases each year. That workload is shared among 60 assistant public advocates assigned to the office, approximately the same number who are supported by local groups and roughly 500 private-practice attorneys who also perform public defender work.

They help people who can't afford an attorney and those with developmental disabilities, including mental retardation.

"We try our best to provide effective legal representation to the needy," Farley said.

And their service, according to Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet Secretary Neil Welch is extremely valuable. "The Department of Public Advocacy encourages a fair judicial system by providing fair representation for those who need it," Welch said. "Their services and their work are living, working proof of the rights afforded to those in a democracy."

The Department of Public Advocacy is located in the State Office Building Annex in Frankfort and can be contacted through a toll free number at (800) 372-2988 or a Franklin County number at (502) 564-3754.

More Respond to Blood "Donorama"

The Second Annual Donorama was held at Central Kentucky Blood Center's Prestonsburg Donor Station on December 21 and 23 in an effort to avoid a blood shortage over the holidays. There were 67 donors, five more than last year.

Thanks are extended to the Floyd County Times and Tom Blackburn for the kick-off picture. Announcements by the radio stations WPRT, WMDJ and WQHY helped remind the donors. Marquees helping to bring much attention were provided by Prestonsburg High School, United Federal, Jerry's Restaurant and Dairy Queen.

Refreshments were donated by Thompson's IGA Supermarket, Pic Pac, Save Mart, Piggly Wiggly and B & S Market. Decorations were contributed courtesy of Heck's Department Store and gifts were donated by Abby's Gifts, Wright's Jewelry, Brown Food Service and Herrin & Johnson Pharmacy. Coupons were given by Druther's, Pizza Hut, Dairy Cheer, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Western Sizzlin Steak House, Captain D's and Oscar Collins Gulf Station.

A very special thanks to the following donors who gave their most valuable resource so that others may live: Andy Boyd, Louquida Stephens, Cheri Dingus, Harrietta Ranier, Charlotte Harris, Martha Hicks, Debra Johnson, Lon Rowland, Juanita Stretch, Jerry Justice, Judi Calhoun, Ruth Newsome, Debbie Hoskins, Gilva Horn, Veleete Vanover, Edra Setser, Danny Hamilton, Donna Miller, Jeffrey Horn, Steve Boyd, Dallas Garrett, Buddy LeMaster, James Spears, William Rose, Robert Schlissler, Margaret Holbrook, Scott Barlow, Robert Meyers, Clyde Stephens, John Spradlin, Jan Cook, Timothy Jessen, Elma Jessen, Margie Allen, Janet Vanover, Tommy Harmon, Bud Rife, Roberta Stokely, Sabert Nichols, Jerry Music, Thomas Dials, Jack Dempsey, Clarence Robinson, Sharon Hale, Madison Martin, Charles Russell, Bill Coleman, Negotha Coleman, Carla Boyd, John Bryant, Kara Alexander, James Waddles, Nancy Bailey, Marlene VanHoose, Ruth Stone, Patricia LeMaster, Millard Justice, Pamela Justice, Pat Taylor, Anne Slone, Stephen Boyd, Freida Justice, Rick Davis, Amos Prater, Brenda Ousley, Sandra Zemo, Sam Huffman, Anthony Jones and Chester Bailey. At the conclusion gifts were won in a drawing by Ann Slone, Marlene VanHoose, Gilva Horn and Ruth Newsome.

The staff at the donor station appreciate the support of many wonderful people in the area this past year. All involved know blood is life until you share it—then it becomes love. Happy New Year!

NATURE TRAILS

By RUFUS REED

We despise the dandelion when it invades the lawn, but see it in bloom elsewhere and it is one of our prettiest wild flowers, with a showy, bright golden yellow blossom. Dandelion has a pretty name for a wild flower. Its name comes from the French dent-de-lion, meaning lion's tooth. The smaller lobes of the leaves suggest the tooth.

Dandelion is unique in the plant kingdom. It never produces pollen, nor does it need pollen. It has a rare method of reproduction, which I shall explain later.

We should never despise the dandelion. This common wild flower has more medical and food values than almost any other plant. A person with anemia can eat cooked dandelion greens a month or so and be cured. It puts the proper nutrition salts in the blood to overcome the anemia.

Dandelion blooms in early spring; then is the time to begin eating it for greens, for its great food value. Some complain of its bitter taste, but if you cook it then pour out the first water before cooking again, this helps destroy its bitterness.

Dandelion has a deep tap root, which can be dried and ground up to use in place of coffee.

Medicine made from the roots of dandelion is used to cure such diseases as scurvy, scrofula and eczema. Medicine made from dandelion also cures dropsy and helps cases of diabetes. It is also considered a good remedy for the liver, pancreas and spleen.

Dandelion contains 28% of sodium, which puts nutritive salts in the blood and corrects the acid condition caused by anemia. It is also used to cure yellow "janders" and various skin diseases.

Look for dandelion early in the spring; pick its tender leaves for greens and dig its roots to make a coffee that will not keep you awake.

Now for the dandelion's deep secret. Next time you see dandelion look at it and think: "Here's a plant that can do what no other plant can do." Its secret is, it produces seeds without being fertilized. It bears no pollen and doesn't need it.

Intelligent readers know that in order for a plant to produce offspring, the male sperm must be united with the female ovum. This is true in the animal kingdom, as well as in the plant kingdom. So dandelion is unique in the plant kingdom. All plants I know produce pollen (the male part) and ovaries (the female part) so they can produce seeds. But dandelion defies the law of nature and produces its seeds without the necessity of being fertilized.

Low Prices Are Just The Beginning

It May Be Cheaper To Build Than To Buy

Lowe's Complete Material Packages (NOT Pre-Fabs) Can Save You Money

Here's How

Our Convenient Package System Takes The Hassle Out Of Home Building!

1 Under our program, you furnish the land, labor and foundation. We supply everything else. The lumber, Roofing, Siding, Doors & Windows, Plumbing, Wiring, Light Fixtures, Carpeting, Paint. All for one low price. And you can choose paint colors, wallpaper patterns and other interior finishings.

2 Our price is guaranteed for 90 days. And in today's fluctuating commodities market, that feature alone could save you money. 90 days is usually plenty of time for most homes to be constructed. So once you've picked out your paint, flooring, light fixtures, etc., the price is "locked in."

3 During actual construction, we deliver materials to the site as they are needed—not all at once or in unrelated shipments. This will save construction (and labor) time, and reduces the chance of weather damage & pilferage. Everything is coordinated as much as possible, so worries are as small as possible.

4 Our homes are Energy Efficient. They have fiberglass insulation in the floors, walls and ceilings. Plus features like insulated doors & windows and an attic ventilation system. (Even more efficient home designs are also available.) Your new home will continue to save money long after it's been built.

5 We have a trained specialist to guide you through the entire homebuilding process. He'll help you choose the right floor plan for your needs. He'll suggest lenders & reputable builders, and oversee the materials portion of your home's construction from start to finish. In other words, he'll be on your side.

ROCK ON

By Ethlie Ann Vare

CRITICS POLL

"Best of the year" nominees of the critics seldom match those of the public. Movie critics invariably choose some foreign film that never played in your town, while the top box-office grosser was a Clint Eastwood flick.

Book awards go to something you'd study in school rather than a title off the best-seller list. It's not that critics are snobby; it's just that they're exposed to a greater quantity and variety of material than most, and tend to be impressed by things a little off the beaten track.

Rock On's critics judge such qualities as intensity, originality and longevity. Here is Rock On's Critics Poll for 1982.

By Doug Davis

Viva Records recently celebrated its second anniversary by introducing its artists at a reception in Beverly Hills, Calif. The label roster currently includes Ray Price, Porter Wagoner, David Frizzell and Shelly West.

Price, Miss West, Frizzell and Wagoner are seen in the new Clint Eastwood film, "Honkytonk Man."

Based on a book by Clancy Carlile, the flick is the story of a depression-era country music singer who gets his chance at life's gold ring. But the golden opportunity may have come too late. The musician is in the late stage of tuberculosis.

And contrary to what it might seem — it is not a depressing story — or tale of woe, as Red Stovall, played by Clint Eastwood, refuses to take his illness seriously. He is aided on his way to Nashville — and in his schemes — by nephew Whit Wagoner, well-played by Eastwood's 14-year-old son, Kyle.

As is the case with several recent Eastwood films, "Honkytonk Man" is filled with country music that includes old standards as well as some specially written material.

David Cassidy made his first-ever Nashville recording session recently at the Sound Emporium. Larry Butler produced the sessions, which were Cassidy's first in six years.

Ray Price

Bobby Bare has finished initial tapings for his "Bobby Bare and Friends Songwriter's Showcase," at Nashville's Bullet Studios. The new show will be included in the new Nashville Network, scheduled to debut this year on cable-TV. Bare's guests will include Tom T. Hall, Rodney Crowell and Rosanne Cash.

Dolly Parton is said to be considering a role in a sequel to "Superman II." Dolly's part would be that of a "witch-like evil force."

Nashville producer Audi Ashworth has been working on a new recording contract for Connie Cato. Connie hit the charts some time ago with her singles, "Hurt" and "Super Skirt."

Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Town Hall, of 5433 Ruby Place, Sarasota, Fla., formerly of Floyd county, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, Dec. 23 at Southside Baptist Church, Sarasota, of which both are members. Their son, Town, Jr., and wife, Laurel, served as hosts at the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were married on Dec. 23, 1932. Mrs. Hall is the former Hollie B. Osborne. Mr. Hall was for years superintendent of Floyd county schools. They moved from Allen to Sarasota several years ago.

CARD OF THANKS

The wife of Millard Ratliff would like to express her thanks to all who helped during the passing of her beloved husband. Thanks to all who sent flowers, to all the friends, neighbors and churches who were there in my time of sorrow, to everyone in the family who stood by me during this very difficult time, to the doctors and nurses at the Highlands Regional Medical Center, to the members of the DAV for their beautiful military services and to the Hall Funeral Home for its kind service. A special thanks to Rev. Bill Pitts for his comforting words and to my sister, Justine Barnett, and her son, Robin Barnett. Also, a special thanks to Anthony Osborne for all the help he has given me.

WIFE, JACQUELINE RATLIFF 1t.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Robert Jones would like to express their sincere appreciation to all who helped in any way during our time of loss. We would like to thank all the friends and relatives who sent flowers and food. We also want to extend a special thanks to Rev. Curtis Johnson and Elder Robert Owens for their comforting words, Wheelwright Masonic Lodge No. 889, the Left Beaver Rescue Squad, and the Hall Funeral Home for their courteous and efficient service.

First Birthday

Amanda Dawn Clay celebrated her first birthday, Monday, January 3, with a party given by her parents, Danny and Tammy Clay, of Prestonsburg. She is the granddaughter of Joe and Clotine Shepherd, of Martin, and Calvin and Alice Clay, of Prestonsburg.

Amanda was presented with a cake and received numerous gifts.

SIBLING RELATIONSHIPS IMPORTANT

Growing Child

How your child gets along with her siblings can make the difference in whether your family life is orderly (relatively speaking), or chaotic. It can also influence whether you are able to enjoy your children, or find them draining.

Your child's sibling relationships are important to her now and in the future. They will set many of her life patterns for how she will deal with others who are close to her. And they will strongly affect her feelings about herself.

Her interactions with her brothers and sisters can be stormy or calm, loving or angry, cooperative or competitive—and often all within a brief time period. The following are a few guidelines from Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, to help you help your growing child to get along as harmoniously as possible—as often as possible—with her siblings.

1) Try not to compare this child with your other children. They are different people. Each has his or her own ways of reacting to the things that happen. Each has special strengths and weaknesses. Each has his own rate of growth and his own pace of doing things. Each child is drawn to different activities, things, and people.

It is natural to compare the times at which your first and second children walked, talked, or were toilet trained. It's understandable to wonder why your third child is afraid of the water when your first two learned to swim when they were infants. But it's important to let each child be herself.

Notice the things that make each of your children unique, and encourage them to develop their own special talents. Accept your children's differences and you will help them to accept themselves and each other.

2) Try to spend time each day alone with each of your children. If you can arrange it, it would be good to set aside at least ten or fifteen minutes a day that each child can look forward to and count on as his or her own special time with you.

For example, you might plan to spend fifteen minutes each afternoon with your preschooler, while her little brother takes his nap. Or you might give your oldest fifteen minutes in the evening after the younger ones are in bed. If you can't do this regularly each day, then try to find a regular schedule you can stick to at least once a week.

This "special time" should be that child's time with you to use as she wishes. You can offer a story, a game, or simply an understanding ear, but let her choose. These special times with you will help you get to know and enjoy each of your children more while you help them each to feel special to you. You may find that this gives you more time for yourself, too, as your children stop competing for your attention at other times.

3) Try to provide your children with opportunities for cooperating with each other in planned activities or daily routines. For example, when you go to the supermarket, you can have the youngster who is sitting in the grocery cart look for one item you need in each aisle, and then have another child get it and hand it to the child in the cart.

Or you can ask your older child to teach your toddler how to use the toilet when he's ready. In addition, be sure to notice and compliment your children any time you see them working and playing together cooperatively: "Tommy, thank you for helping Michelle get dressed. You're a help to me." "Angela and Ann, I'm so glad to see you're enjoying playing dress-up together."

4) Set limits that you think are fair for each of your children. Let your children know what the limits are and what the consequences of breaking them will be. Then try to stick to these rules as well as you can, changing them (with children's knowledge) when they no longer seem appropriate.

This kind of "planning ahead" can avoid many fights and jealousies over such things as who goes to bed at what time and who gets to do what. You will probably still get some protests of "It's not fair that I can't stay up as long as she does!" and so on. But it's fair for children of different ages to have different limits, privileges, and responsibilities. When they know what to expect, each child can look forward to growing into new ones.

5) Try to plan time for the family to meet together. It might be a good idea for family members to talk together about things that are important to them personally, and as a family. You probably already do this informally, at mealtimes or at special family times you share on weekends.

Sometimes it's hard to get everyone together at the same time, especially if you work odd hours or if your children are involved in many different activities. It's important to try to have some time together as a family, though—just to enjoy each other's company. Also, each family member has responsibilities to the family, as well as expectations and needs of it. These can be worked out to mutual satisfaction when the family gathers together and tries to support and understand each other.

For example, if squabbles occur frequently between siblings over household duties, this might be discussed at a family meeting. Sometimes it helps to make up a chart listing each family member's duties for the week or month. Then household tasks nobody likes can be assigned on a rotating basis.

The attempts and perseverance in trying to resolve matters constructively and supportively in a family provide a good example for your growing child—a model of what a family can do for another, and how to foster this mutual understanding.

Allowances for the children is another common topic of discussion for a family meeting. This can sometimes be a source of rivalry between older and younger children. Again, you can help each child to understand why they get the amount they do. At the same time, you can explain a little about what it costs you to run the household, including food, clothes, and other things they need. This might help them understand the family's economic situation and their part in it—a helpful lesson for their future.

In addition to using the family meeting time to work out problems, you can use it to help your children understand and like each other better. Give each child, even the youngest, a time to express himself or herself. Try to pay equal attention to each child, even the quietest. Show interest in what each child shares. Try to keep any one child from monopolizing the conversation; be kind and supportive but firm about giving each person an opportunity. The children will learn from your example (in time, if not right away) to respect each other as you respect each of them.

For more information on the physical and social development of children up to the age of six, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 630N, Lafayette, IN 47902. When writing, include child's birthdate.

Some of the ways to do business with us are changing.

But we're still as close as your phone.

The telephone industry is changing—reorganizing. That means more options for you. And some changes in the way you do business with us. If you've done business with us lately, you may have gone to one of our retail outlets. Now, if you need help with phone service, call us first.

Call a South Central Bell service representative if you want to:

- order new phone service.
- change your existing service.
- disconnect your service.
- ask a question about your bill.
- exchange or return sets purchased or leased from South Central Bell. (We cannot exchange or take back sets purchased or leased from other suppliers.)

Call South Central Bell's repair service if you have trouble with your service or with a phone set that is leased from South Central Bell. (For service or repair of phone sets that you own—whether they came from South Central Bell or another supplier—you should follow the warranty instructions or other maintenance arrangement made at the time of purchase.)

You'll find the phone numbers for your service representative and repair service in the front of the South Central Bell phone book. When you call us, in many cases we'll be able to complete your business or solve your problem while you're on the phone. In other cases, we may offer to mail equipment or parts to you. Or you may be referred to a phone company service center to complete your transaction. If so, we'll tell you where the nearest one is and when it's open.

Some things won't change. During 1983 South Central Bell will still provide you with dependable local and long distance phone service. We'll continue to be responsible for phones that residence and business customers now lease from us. And we'll continue to lease telephones (and to sell some selected phones) as long as they're available from inventory. (With regulatory approval, we do plan to offer single-line residence and business customers the option of buying telephones that are now leased from us.)

There'll be more changes in the telephone industry in the coming year or so as South Central Bell and other Bell operating companies are separated from AT&T and reorganized into regional companies. This change in organization, to take place in 1984, will affect significantly how you get and use telecommunications services.

But no matter how things change, South Central Bell is committed to seeing that certain things remain the same. We'll still have good, dependable people and the same goal: providing you with the best, most advanced telephone service at reasonable rates.

We'll keep you informed. But in the meantime, if you have any questions about the changes in the industry or about how to do business with us now, call 1 800 555-5000, toll free, 10 a.m.-11 p.m., Central Time, Monday through Friday. Or write for a free brochure, "Let's Talk About Change."

Let's Talk.

First Birthday

Franklin O'Neil Reynolds, son of Debbie Reynolds, of Ligon, celebrated his first birthday, Tuesday, Jan. 4. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reynolds, of Ligon. He received many nice gifts from relatives and his birthday cake was baked by his mother. Present to help celebrate his birthday were his aunt and uncle, Shelvia and Charles Wellman, also cousins. Mary and Edward Wellman, all of Ligon.

Timely Application Urged For Benefits

People in the Floyd county area who plan to apply for Social Security retirement or survivor benefits before they reach 65 should remember to apply no later than the month they want benefits to begin. Jim Kelly, Social Security District Director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

This is because, with few exceptions, a person who wants to receive reduced benefits before 65 cannot receive them for months before the month he or she applies. Retired workers and their wives or husbands can start getting benefits as early as 62 and widows and widowers as early as 60.

A worker and his wife or husband can receive benefits only for months in which they are eligible throughout the entire month. This means that unless a person reaches 62 on the first or second day of the month, he or she cannot receive a benefit for that month.

A person who applies after reaching 65 can receive benefits for up to 6 months of application, but not before the month he or she became 65.

It is a good idea to apply 2 or 3 months before a person wants benefits to begin. This give Social Security enough time to process the claim so benefit checks will begin shortly after income from work stops or is reduced.

Before applying, a person should get certain documents and information. This includes the person's Social Security card or a record of the number; Forms W-2 for the past 2 years; or if self-employed, self-employment tax returns for the past 2 years and evidence of filing (a cancelled check); evidence of date of birth, preferably a birth certificate or baptismal record recorded before age 5.

More information about Social Security applications and benefits can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is 886-8525.

Burial Allowances Available To Veterans

Burial allowances, not to exceed $300, can now be paid to states or local governments by the Veterans Administration for interment of unclaimed bodies of certain indigent veterans. Recent legislation allows payment of the allowance for the burial and funeral expenses of a veteran who had wartime service, or who was discharged for service-connected disability, and whose remains are held unclaimed by a state or local government agency. Only expenses incurred after September 30, 1982, qualify for reimbursement.

These deaths also trigger eligibility for payment of an amount, not exceeding $150, as a plot or interment allowance when the veteran is not buried in a national cemetery.

Eligibility for the burial and plot allowances also exists with respect to more than 3 million veterans currently on VA compensation and pension rolls, or who would be on those rolls but for the receipt of military retired pay. Eligibility may also be established if the veteran's death occurs in a VA medical facility. Deaths that are actually service related give rise to eligibility for reimbursement of up to $1,000 in burial and funeral expenses.

Burial in a national cemetery is available to any deceased veteran of wartime or peacetime service who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. The VA will furnish a headstone or grave marker to memorialize a veteran or mark the grave of a veteran.

The VA may also pay an amount equal to the cost of the government headstone—currently $67—toward partial reimbursement of a private headstone for placement in a cemetery other than a national cemetery.

The VA will furnish an American flag to drape the casket of a veteran. The funeral director obtains these from a VA regional office or post office. The flag is then given to the next of kin.

For more information on VA burial benefits, contact any VA office or national cemetery. Toll free numbers to VA regional offices are listed in the white pages, under "U.S. Government," of the telephone directory.
