

Rum Applicants Plan Appeal from Ruling

"We will appeal," an attorney for 41 Floyd countians said last week after a Franklin circuit court judge rejected their claim that the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board's selection of 21 people to receive liquor licenses here was unlawful and arbitrary.

The basis for its appeal will be that the judge "ignored a significant piece of evidence" in ruling that the appellants had no case for him to decide, said Gary Johnson, one of three lawyers representing the group.

Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs dismissed the lawsuit filed by 30 unsuccessful license applicants and 11 "concerned citizens." The suit asked the court to declare invalid the awarding of the licenses and to direct the liquor board to adopt rules for the selection of those who would receive licenses.

Because no standards exist, every qualified applicant should be awarded a package liquor license, plaintiffs argued.

But in his decision Wednesday, Meigs said the issuance of liquor licenses was left by law to the discretion of the state distilled spirits administrator and that the court could not interfere in the process.

Meigs argued that since, "through slumber or other disaffection," the unsuccessful applicants failed to request a hearing before the liquor board, they had not pursued all administrative remedies before taking their case to court.

If anyone was slumbering, however, it was apparently the judge—a point he implicitly conceded in an addendum to his original order. "Through oversight," he wrote, he had omitted to mention a letter filed by the disappointed applicants soon after the distilled spirits administrator announced he would deny them licenses. In the letter the applicants requested a hearing before the board.

In any event, their letter didn't help them, the judge noted, since Distilled Spirits Administrator Michael J. Davidson issued the 21 available licenses to the chosen applicants in the meantime. "The 'appeal' to the Board by these rejected applicants was futile inasmuch as the barrel was already empty, leaving nothing for the Board to hear," Meigs explained.

Flu Outbreak School Threat In This County

The outbreak of influenza which caused seven Kentucky school districts to close down last week and has so far shut down at least four this week is making its presence felt in this county also, although there are no plans as yet to call school off.

Estill Hall, director of pupil personnel for Floyd schools, said yesterday (Tuesday) that the absentee rate among the system's 9600 students has risen this week to around 20 percent, compared to a usual rate of around seven or eight percent, and that in Martin grade school—the county's hardest-hit school so far—absenteeism rose to more than 30 percent.

There is no hard-and-fast rule as to when the situation is bad enough to warrant closing the schools, but school officials are monitoring attendance daily, Hall said. Until the current crisis passes, a general school closing will remain a possibility here, he said.

Schools of the Middlesboro and Corbin independent school systems and the Whitley county system closed Tuesday for the rest of the week. Knox county schools will be closed at least until Thursday. And Laurel county officials said they would close if the absentee rate there didn't drop. Absenteeism rates cited by the closed school districts ranged from around 20 percent at Middlesboro to 30 percent in Whitley county.

The influenza virus affects more than the students' health. It can also have a significant impact on the school district's finances, since school districts receive state funding on a basis of average daily attendance. Rather than operate with 25 percent of its students absent, a school system is better off financially shutting down.

Any days missed have to be made up at the end of the school year.

This Town...That World

If spring didn't come tripping, only to fall afoul of winter's slush and chill, these days, I'd feel justified in reminding one and all that this glad season is less than a month away.

C. "Ollie" Robinson, who died this week, was our friend. Come to think of it, he was a friend to just about everybody. Need we say more?

ALMOST QUIET

Walked the two blocks to the postoffice, on a recent morning, and kept a careful tally of every bird seen en route. Not one to be seen, but one was heard. And this one was making so much noise that the thought occurred that, maybe, he had the rostrum and all the others were keeping quiet, listening to what he had to say.

Could the tragic picture drawn by Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" ever be reality? Not a sound—no bird-call, no cry of animal to break the silence? But what about cars and trucks and airplanes and people? We have an idea that if the day comes when there's not a bird, there'll also be no people, and all their machines will lie silent, too.

30 To Get Summons As Bills Are Unpaid

Thirty delinquent customers of the county solid waste system can expect court summonses soon, Bob McAninch, the agency's recently-restored chairman, confirmed this week.

The 30, some of them residential and some business customers, will be merely the first of many to be haled into court for non-payment of garbage-collection bills, the agency chief warned.

In his first month's service, the agency's new bill collector has brought 35 delinquent businesses to heel and will soon begin calling on residential customers, McAninch said.

A $100 reward offer for information leading to conviction of illegal dumpers has drawn little response—and, although the agency was prepared to pay out up to 10 times in February and March, no payment has yet been made under the program—but he expects that state strip-mine inspectors will begin routinely watching for illegal dumping at strip sites, McAninch said.

Twelve workers were laid off last month by the financially troubled garbage system and fringe benefits have been pared to a minimum for those still on the payroll.

The system is now said to be earning

Arson Suspected in $120,000 Blaze

Barely four months after it went on the air, radio station WMDJ at Martin was destroyed Tuesday night by a fire, which may have been the work of arsonists.

The Martin Volunteer Fire Department, which was notified of the blaze at about 10:15 p.m. Tuesday, was joined by volunteer firemen from Allen in battling the fire which resulted in an estimated $120,000 loss in broadcasting equipment and a double-wide trailer which served as the station building. Firemen were recalled at about 3 a.m., Wednesday, when additional "hot spots" were reported in the ruins of the structure.

Since the flames reportedly originated in an empty room of the station, arson was immediately suspected. Later, state police detectives found rocks on the floor of the trailer which may have been used to break out windows in an arson attempt. The incident is still under investigation.

Station manager and part-owner Dale McKinney said even though the loss was insured, it may require "six months to a year" before the AM station could return to the air.

WMDJ, the county's third radio station, employed seven persons.

Veteran County Official Dies at 54

County Court Clerk C. "Ollie" Robinson, 54, died at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Highlands Medical Center here of a heart attack following an illness of a few weeks which began with a similar seizure.

His death came in his sixth term of office as County Court Clerk. After serving one term as State Representative, from 1959 to 1961, he was elected County Clerk and his tenure was broken only by death. He began his sixth term Jan. 1, 1982.

County Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. proclaimed a three-day period of official mourning following Robinson's death, with all offices and courts ordered closed, except in emergencies, until Friday.

Judge Lafferty is expected during that time to name an interim clerk to serve until the vacancy in the office is filled by election next November. During Mr. Robinson's illness his niece, Mrs. Carla Boyd, has been in charge of the office.

A son of the late Clarence "Greaser" Robinson and Martha Richardson Robinson, the veteran county official was born Dec. 26, 1928 at Jack's Creek. He was a graduate of the Maytown schools and attended Lees College at Jackson prior to Army service. He was a member of the Community United Methodist Church here.

Mr. Robinson was perhaps as well-known as a radio sports announcer as he was as an official and a leader in the Democratic party. He came to Prestonsburg with the opening of Radio Station WPRT and at the time of his last illness served in the same capacity with Radio WQHY, successor to Station WDOC.

Holdup Duo At Martin Rob Woman

Haul Set at $7,000 Made as Outbreaks In County Continue

The robbery of the home of Frank and Bernice Howard near Martin Thursday morning may be the most dramatic in a recent rash of burglaries and attempted burglaries which has affected this county. Certainly, to Mrs. Howard it was the most frightening.

Although she remembers the dog barking excitedly as she left to take her daughter, Teresa, to school at Martin at about 7:30, and thinking that a rabbit was most likely the cause of the commotion, she had no thought at the time that two men watched from the hillside above the house and waited for her to leave.

The two men, who likely dashed into the house as soon as Mrs. Howard's vehicle disappeared, apparently didn't realize that the trip to school from the Arkansas section and back for Mrs. Howard wouldn't take long, so that when she returned and walked through the front door the two, surprised by her arrival, were waiting behind the door.

According to Mrs. Howard, 44, she never got a good look at the men as they struck her, forcing her to bow toward the floor, and then slipped a pillowcase over her head. "All I can say is that they wore dark-colored gloves," she said.

After binding her feet with nylon rope and securing her wrists with duct tape, they made her lie on the floor as they went about the business of rounding up some two dozen of Mr. Howard's valuable guns, 200 to 300 knives, and a considerable collection of coins. In all, an estimated $7,000 was lost in the robbery.

Mrs. Howard said she recognized the sound of a vehicle which pulled up in the driveway as being a truck. The goods were loaded into the vehicle and the burglars made escape.

Mrs. Howard said she begged her assailants not to hurt her and was reassured that nothing would happen to her if she would lie quietly. One of the men brought her some medication which she requested and, upon leaving, the men told her they would call someone to help her "after five minutes," a favor they apparently forgot to do.

Youths Lock Up Staff, Then Flee

Four juvenile inmates of the detention center here escaped custody after locking two staff counselors in a cell yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon.

The four, said to be 16-17-year-old Floyd youths confined for theft and burglary convictions, were about to be transferred to another facility when they overpowered Delmer Meade and Mrs. Pearl Williamson, the only staff members on duty, at 4:45 p.m.

The escapees were the only juveniles in custody at the time.

Eddie Ward, Jr., who called at the detention center to visit his brother-in-law, a staff member there, sounded the alarm when he was unable to gain entry and after hearing muffled sounds from within.

After members of Prestonsburg Fire Department used a power saw to gain entry to the building, city police officers released the staff members at 6:25 p.m.

Katy Friend Annexation Poses Voter Issue Here

The question of incorporating the Katy Friend area into the city of Prestonsburg will likely appear on the May primary ballot. What is not clear is who will get to vote on the issue.

Apparently all the property owners in the area earmarked by the city council for annexation have petitioned to have the question put to the vote. By law, an annexation proposal must be included on the ballot if half the affected landowners request it.

Those entitled to vote on an annexation question, however, are not the property owners but the voting residents of the affected area. City Manager David Evans insists that there are none.

The first of four sections the council is currently seeking to have incorporated in the city limits, the area proposed for annexation on Katy Friend includes tracts on either side of U.S. 23 but no private dwellings, Evans said.

Members of the Katy Friend Free Will Baptist Church first petitioned to have the issue put on the ballot, a bid that raised the question, as yet unresolved and possibly now moot, of whether the church members are one property owner or many.

Since then, a petition circulated by Greg Stumbo, attorney for the owners of a tract destined to be the site of a motel, has gathered signatures from most if not all of the other property owners in the affected area.

Included among the petitioners are H.D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Dr. J.D. Adams, and Tom Dingus, stockholders in the planned Prestonsburg Inn; Floyd Skeans, owner of a tract occupied by Rudd Construction Equipment, Inc.; Ed Music, Marvin Music, and the estates of George Archer and Tom Ruth, owners of a tract leased to East Equipment Co.; and Pin Hollow pro-

Office Robbed, Jeep Stolen Here

A series of breaks, burglaries and attempted robberies which has plagued the county during most of this month continued this week with the middle-of-the-day robbery of the office of Dr. James D. Adams here, Tuesday.

Little is known of the incident except that money was taken from the office's cash drawer as most of the office staff were out to lunch. It is not known exactly how much was stolen.

The same day, two Prestonsburg juveniles stole a Jeep Wagoneer belonging to C.J. McNally, of Prestonsburg, from the East Kentucky Auto Parts parking area. According to reports, the two lost control of the vehicle almost immediately, striking the Russell May gallery and store within site of the auto parts store, then turned and headed back south where they again lost control in the vicinity of Ken Isaacs' automobile dealership. After striking some new cars on display on the lot, the two made it to the Ball Alley curve area where they "bailed out" of the Jeep and fled.

One of the juveniles was picked up later walking the railroad track near Goble-Roberts Addition. The other has not been located.

In 1902, a 2-month strike of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (AFL) was settled by providing preferential union hiring, a board of grievances and a board of arbitration. This laid the foundation for the "impartial chairman" method of settling labor disputes, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Show To Finance Drug Program

Sheriff Henry C. Hale and the Floyd County Sheriff's Department are sponsoring the Liz LaMac Show from Nashville, Tennessee on April 15 at the Prestonsburg High School auditorium. The proceeds from this show will be used to fund a new drug abuse program in Floyd county and to aid the Kentucky Boys and Girls ranch.

The Liz LaMac Show is a two-and-a-half-hour country-western and Gospel show, highlighted with wholesome country comedy, according to its promoters.

Appearing with Miss LaMac will be Speck Rhodes and the Vic Willis trio. Dave Sign and the Co. Band will be featured along with the nine-year-old Cloggin Dolls and Joe Wood, who is Liz's side-kick. Bob Brunner from WSAZ Channel 3 TV will be co-hosting with Miss LaMac.

Ticket sales will be handled directly from the Sheriff's office with calls being made to Floyd residences and businesses.

Free Tax Counseling Available For Elderly

If you are over sixty and need help filing your federal and state income tax, volunteer counselors from the American Association of Retired Persons will help you. AARP counselors, trained by the I.R.S., will be available each Thursday from 1:00-4:00 p.m. until April 15 at the senior citizens' recreation room in Martin, the senior citizens' center, Archer Park, and the Floyd County Public Library, Prestonsburg.

Bring with you your last tax returns, W-2 forms, interest statements and any other tax information needed to complete your 1982 tax returns.

This is a free service of your local chapter of AARP.

You can perpetuate your interest in crippled children by including the Kentucky Easter Seal Society in your will. Additional information on this subject is available from the Kentucky Easter Seal Society or from any of its centers.

Road Funds Are Allocated Here

State Transportation Secretary James Runke has announced a $434,216 allocation to Floyd county for rural secondary road maintenance and improvements in fiscal year 1983-84.

The funds will be used to maintain 109 miles of rural secondary roads in this county Runke said.

The state's rural secondary program is financed with 22 percent of the motor fuels taxes collected in Kentucky. It was established in 1948 to help maintain and improve farm-to-market and other essential rural roads.

Sponsor Lenten Activities

Parishioners of St. Theodore Church, Prestonsburg, began their observance of Lent with a meatless potluck dinner sponsored by the Catholic Women's Guild, Feb. 16. About 50 persons attended.

Ash Wednesday services which followed the meal attracted more persons.

Special Lenten devotions will be held at St. Juliana, Martin, on Mondays at 7:30 p.m. and at St. Theodore, Prestonsburg, on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

John C. Hall
Founder
Hall Funeral Home

IS IT IMPORTANT TO ATTEND A FUNERAL?

Yes, it is, and for a variety of reasons.

First, it shows you care. Your being there is appreciated by the members of the family. You can help just by offering to help and meaning it. By attending the funeral, you help share the grieving—and grief-shared is grief-diminished.

Of course, if you were out of town or incapacitated during the funeral period, your not attending is understandable. In such a case, a telegram, letter or phone call helps the family understand your plight.

Visiting the bereaved to offer your assistance and condolences is proper conduct. In fact, many mourners may feel it your obligation to observe this custom out of respect for the family or friendship for the deceased.

If you fail to observe these simple social amenities, you may be unintentionally cutting your ties with the family of the bereaved. It behooves you to attend, to visit, to console the bereaved.

Others See Need To Improve Highway

Word that officials of the Pikeville highway district office have thrown at least their moral support to improvement of US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville is encouraging news.

Their recommendation that anticipated federal funds from the new gasoline tax be used to eliminate this admittedly dangerous traffic bottleneck is no more than that—a recommendation to Frankfort from those on the scene—but it's more than we've had in the past.

Heretofore, every plea that the state bring this stretch of highway up to the four-lane standard already approved for the remainder of US 23 has been met with the claim that no Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) funds are available for it. ARC refuses to commit its funds to this part of the road and is said to use the excuse that when that segment was two-laned upwards of 20 years ago Henry Ward, then commissioner of highways, stated that the road was adequate.

Perhaps it was adequate back then before Prestonsburg Community College, Highlands Regional Hospital and American Standard, plus a proliferation of other enterprises—these and transport of coal by highway, all creating a huge traffic problem. But nobody can argue that now.

Besides, it should be remembered that the Paintsville-to-Louisia section of the same highway was completed only eight years ago, and now those in charge of the pursestrings are spending $17 million to four-lane that sector.

Sure, the highway connecting Paintsville and Louisa should be four-laned, just as all of US 23 should be. But if we are to argue about this part of the highway or that being adequate to present needs, a traffic count should be helpful. Such a count—not to mention the frightening sight of crumbling, overhanging cliffs—will bear indisputable witness to the fact that this Prestonsburg-to-Paintsville section of road more urgently needs improvement than the Johnson-Lawrence sector on which work has already begun.

All but 21 applicants were bound to be disappointed but none of them had property rights at stake and, consequently, their lawsuit presented no issue for him to decide, the judge said. "The stuff of which this complaint is made," he opined, "(is) only frustration of contingent possibilities."

G. WASHINGTON, CENTER-FIELDER

Two events brought this on: spring training for major league ballplayers and Washington's birthday.

As I recall, the old history-books had it that George Washington threw a silver dollar across the Delaware river (or was it the Potomac?). Dwelling on this, for lack of something better to do, I wonder what he could pull down, these days, for playing center field for some of these teams that need a man with an arm strong enough to catch the runner at home plate on a fly to deepest center.

We of our innocent age swallowed this and other stories without question. Now, we're wondering how he got that dollar before money in that denomination was coined.

Next, they'll be saying that the hatchet-cherry tree episode inspired that immortal line, "Woodman, spare that tree!"

Had another item in mind but have just had a visit from "Dootney" Horn and one idea he had has left me slightly woozy.

Working her feet out of the rope, Mrs. Howard shook off the pillowcase that had obstructed her vision and stumbled down to old KY 80, which runs by the house. "I was almost run over at first," she said. "I was in such a state of shock." Finally, Pat Stumbo, of Martin, stopped to help her and authorities were called.

State Police continued their investigation of the incident this week. In an earlier incident, William J. May was threatened with robbery after two men forced their way through the front door of his home on South Arnold Ave. here last Wednesday evening.

After asking May for money, the would-be burglars took his wallet but returned it to him when he asked that his Social Security card not be taken. The men then walked into another room, according to May, and when he opened the door and called for help, the two, one in his late teens, the other in his early 20's, fled. The men were not armed or masked, Mr. May told Prestonsburg Police.

No arrests have been made in connection with the incident.

have to be met by drawing on the reserve. That will postpone a fiscal collapse until November. It will also exhaust the reserve.

In that event, the fiscal court, which reportedly has financial troubles of its own, will be legally liable to pick up the tab in November, McAninch said. Or federal marshals will be hauling off every piece of equipment to satisfy the system's creditors.

Even as Floyd struggles to keep its garbage system afloat, Pike officials are inaugurating a system in that county.

Under an ordinance passed by the fiscal court there last September, seven collection districts have been set up. Mandatory garbage pickup will be introduced, one district at a time, beginning in April or May, said Pike Judge-Executive Paul Patton.

"Our target date for collecting waste in all of the districts is December," he said.

Unlike Floyd's county-operated system, Pike fiscal court will advertise for bids from independent contractors, Patton said, although collection of bills and payment of contractors will be handled by the county.

Whatever the rate negotiated between the county and its contractors, Pike customers will pay $7.50 a month for waste collection, officials there said. Floyd residents pay $6 a month.

All Kentucky counties are required by state law to prepare solid-waste management plans by 1984. Natural Resources officials report that eight counties have already begun plan development, with 20 to 25 other counties beginning the process. Only 58 percent of Kentucky has waste collection service available, state waste management officials said.

Judge-Executive Patton appears at least to be embarking on Pike county's solid waste venture without illusions. "Our main problem will be collecting the money," he conceded.

perty owners Scott and Abigail Grant, Myrtle Allen, Pat Wareham, Russell Pelphrey, Teresa Stark, Julie Henry, and John Mark Bowling.

His clients believe that annexation at this time would not be favorable to development of the Katy Friend area, Stumbo said. "They'd be paying a lot of extra money for no additional services," he said.

If the city council agreed to postpone its annexation bid until the developers had their buildings up, there would probably be no opposition to incorporation in the city, the attorney said.

Three-quarters of the residents of an area proposed for annexation must vote against it if the proposal is to be halted. But what makes one a "resident" is open to interpretation, Stumbo believes. Theoretically, a small group could take up brief residency in the area in order to vote annexation down, he said.

If that doesn't sound quite fair, then neither is the council playing fair when it so draws boundary lines as to exclude bona fide residents who might vote against annexation, the attorney argues.

In excluding residents who might have voted against incorporation, the city was "circumventing the legislative process," said Stumbo, who indicated it might be the basis for a legal challenge to the annexation later should the present challenge fail.

Allen To Call More Witnesses In Shooting

He will subpoena more witnesses to testify before the grand jury regarding the shooting of a man accused of receiving stolen property, Commonwealth's Attorney James Allen said this week.

Despite pleas by the injured man and his attorney, who asked for an indictment or at least an investigation of the case, the grand jury that met earlier this month took no action except to issue a statement upholding a person's "right to use force in defense of his self, his family, and his property."

But Allen, who noted that his assistant, Albert Burchett, had presented the case to the grand jury, conceded that more light might be shed on the shooting of Tony Tackett last Dec. 29 and agreed to subpoena witnesses to testify about the incident at the grand jury's next session.

He would have summoned them before the just-concluded session if the defense attorney had given him sufficient notice, Allen said.

Tackett, 19, of Tolers Creek, was indicted on two counts of receiving stolen property after he and two others were stopped in a stolen truck by the owner of the truck on Branham's Creek. Tackett was shot in the forehead with a rifle slug during the incident and is said by his attorney, Gary Johnson, to be suffering brain damage as a result.

In another case brought by Johnson to the attention of the grand jury, there is no need to call further witnesses, Allen said.

Sam Williams, 25, was said to have been shot in the back with a .38-caliber revolver last May as he fled from a Honaker grocery that he had earlier broken into. Williams pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary. No charges were brought against the grocer, who is said to have fired the shot, and the grand jury this month declined to indict him.

Williams was clearly not shot in self-defense, his attorney argued, noting that he had been shot as he fled the scene. And Commonwealth's Attorney Allen, who said citizens are not permitted to use "unreasonable" force against intruders, conceded that he would not shoot a fleeing burglar.

Nevertheless, he was satisfied that the grand jury had heard sufficient evidence in the case and would abide by its decision, Allen said.

Allen said he would not speculate on the grand jury's motives in its handling of the two cases but noted that "people, not only here but all over, are fed up with crime."

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Kendrick, of Little Paint, announce the birth of their third child, a daughter, Lyda Carol, born Saturday, February 19 at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin. Grandparents are Mrs. May Kendrick, of Prestonsburg and the late W.R. Kendrick, and Dr. and Mrs. George Freas, of Franklin, Kentucky.

LETTERS To the Editor

The views expressed here are those of the writer, and not necessarily those of this newspaper. No unsigned contributions will be published.

'Up to the Keister'

"I've had it up to my keister with these newsmen" lamented the highest voice in the land. It was not the voice of the turtle but the voice of our President during a recent news conference.

A United International journalist reported being unfamiliar with the word keister, checked Gentleman Webster's realms of words. He found the word means buttocks. Well, now, why didn't the President say it in a perfectly acceptable manner? An ignoramus palooka such as myself would have understood immediately what he was up to concerning his feelings toward the newsmen.

Ditto! I, too, have had it up to my—uh—keister about some things which have been happening to us poor folk out here in Scareville, USA.

Last night I had a dream, and please don't plan to tax our dreams! I dreamed I was rich, rich, rich! When I opened my eyes this morning I realized it had been only a foolish dream.

Ah—sweet fantasy! Allow me to dream while I go about my daily chores.

I will dream of a fleet of jet planes and limousines and an army of staff members to answer my every beck and call. I will dream of plenty money, honey. I will dream of flying to faraway lands of jelly beans, $1600.00 riding boots, $300.00 cowboy hats and leather jodhpurs. According to my friend Webster, jodhpurs are "wide riding breeches, close fitting from knee to ankle, often having a strap passing under the foot."

I will dream of a "working vacation" at some secluded home I will call my ranch out on the range.

I will dream of bouncing my keister on the back of a sugar-lump-loving palomino as he races along the riding trail speckled with sunshine and lurking rattlesnakes.

Ah, sweet dreams of good living!

Weekends, when beset with problems from my Kitchen Cabinet I'll hie myself away to Mount David, aboard a huge helicopter. There, on the Mountain I will do a little work on the Tablets. I will enjoy the fresh air; I'll walk among the towering trees. After an energizing lunch of plentiful portions I'll hasten to that special riding stable to place my keister in the hand-tooled leather saddle mounted on the back of a magnificent bay provided for my pleasure from the taxing toils of my lowly subjects throughout the hinterlands.

Yes, I, too, have had it up to and beyond my keister. I am going to take the President's advice. I am going to "quit crying in my towel"—"hit the ground a "running"—go to "South Succotash" and "vote with my feet" come 1984.

A thought just entered my dreams. How can I do all the above and "stay the course"? My conclusion is I'll just sit here on my keister and try to make the best of a bad situation.

KAY McELROY 221 East Carter Clarksville, Indiana

The Senior Citizen Matter

I have been asked by quite a few people to help in any way that I can to assist the Senior Citizens. In the Wheelwright community and throughout the county there seems to be a shortage of money for bus driver's salary, which transports Senior Citizens to and from different functions that they attend.

I would like to say that when it is brought to my attention of a problem that exists in the City of Wheelwright, whether it be a money problem or something else, I proceed to call a meeting of the City Commission and we thrash it out. I feel that this would apply to the County Fiscal Court. If the judge that presides over the court is the kind of leader that he was elected to be, I feel that he should call a meeting of the Magistrates and explain to them that their duty is to serve the people of their district in any capacity that they can.

It is very easy to sit back in a nice, easy chair in the Judge's office or Assembly Room, wherever they hold their meetings, and say that the county does not have the money. I believe that the Senior Citizens should demand that all of the people that are elected as representatives of their districts carry out their elected duties.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Cow Creek Homemakers met at the Cow Creek Freewill Baptist Church annex building last Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, presiding. Mrs. Hester Leslie and Mrs. Louise Carey presented the lesson on "Smocking."

Mrs. Frances Pitts, county home economist, announced that the training session for the March lesson would be "The Use of Salt and Sugar in Our Diet," and would be given today (Wednesday) at the Kentucky Power Company building here. Mrs. Virginia Goble and Mrs. Mary Zemo were selected to represent the club during this presentation, and to present the lesson at the next regular meeting, which will be Tuesday afternoon, March 15, at the same location.

Mrs. Sally Mae Goble served as a dessert course to Mesdames Mary Zemo, Hester Leslie, Louise Carey, Frances Pitts, and Virginia S. Goble.

How Many Local Calls?

"Local Measured Service" Would Likely Send Your Phone Bill Up

"Your telephone, the link between you and the rest of the world, is a vital communication device for millions, an instrument for almost constant contact with others," says Attorney General Steven L. Beshear. "We have been conditioned to rely on our telephone to such a great extent that it has become absolutely essential. Most people have also become accustomed to being charged a flat rate each month for their local service. This monthly charge includes making as many calls as you wish, and talking as long as you wish, so long as you call within a certain area."

Consider your reaction to paying for your local telephone service the same way that you pay for your long distance telephone service. If you are like many people, the idea of paying for your local service on a call-by-call basis is a new one and may not be readily accepted. This concept is called "local measured service," or LMS. It has been implemented in some parts of Kentucky on an optional basis. This concept has been hailed by some telephone industry representatives as one way to save money on telephone bills. However, some consumer representatives have said that local measured service is like having a pay phone in their home. In the complex world of telephone rates, both statements are perhaps oversimplified. Attorney General Beshear wants you, as a consumer, to be aware of what local measured service is and how it works.

According to one consumer consultant, local measured service is a system of pricing local telephone service by measured components. These components include:

1. A monthly minimum charge which may or may not include a certain number of "free" calls.
2. A charge for each local call placed.
3. A charge for the duration of the call (e.g. one minute or five minutes).
4. A charge for the distance of the call beyond a minimum zone.
5. A charge based on the time of day that a call is made.

If these components sound familiar to you, it is because they are the same components that determine what you are charged for a long distance call. The components of frequency, duration, distance, and time of day would determine how much your telephone bill would be under a local measured service system. If you use your telephone frequently to make local calls, local measured service would probably cause your telephone bills to go up. If you use your telephone infrequently for local calls, local measured service could mean a decrease in your monthly bill.

Several groups have done studies on the effects of local measured service with varying conclusions. One point of agreement among the experts is that most people do not know how much they use their telephone for local calls.

This makes it difficult for someone to decide how they feel about local measured service. Everyone wants to save money, but many feel there are other questions to be raised, such as:

- A. Should phone users be required to pay for their amount of usage, just like an electric bill or gas bill?
- B. Will the consumer be able to understand his/her monthly bill?
- C. Will businesses "pass on" the cost of LMS to the consumer?
- D. Will the elderly and shut-ins suffer because of a lack of communication?
- E. What if you have a popular teenager who lives on the phone?
- F. Will people who live long distances from large cities face unusually higher bills?

The restructuring of the Bell Telephone System, to take place in 1983 and 1984, will affect significantly how you get and use telecommunication services. Many questions and controversial issues have been raised concerning local measured service for Kentuckians. Attorney General Beshear advises you to "learn as much as possible about LMS and weigh your options."

A free booklet entitled "Let's Talk About Change" is available upon request from South Central Bell, P. O. Box 435, Memphis, Tenn. 38101.

Any consumer problem or complaint may be addressed to the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, 209 St. Clair Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601-1875, or call the toll-free Consumer Hotline: 1-800-432-9257.

Court of Appeals Receives One Case Every Half-Hour

The 2,961 cases filed with the state's Court of Appeals last year were the equivalent of one case filed every half hour of each workday. These 1982 caseload figures reflect a 55 percent increase over the 1,908 case filings recorded in 1977 when the Court of Appeals began full operation as the newly formed intermediate appellate level.

The court's judges sit in panels of three or more to review and decide cases, with the panel's majority determining the decision. The panels meet in various parts of the state throughout the year to hear appeals.

While the total workload includes various matters such as original actions, discretionary reviews, and petitions for rehearing, written opinions constitute a major portion of the judge's time. Each judge on the 14-member court averaged 114 written opinions last year, for a total of 1,596, which is a little over two opinions a week, in addition to determinations on the other matters which came to the court's attention.

In applying the most recent available comparison figures, among the six sister states having intermediate appellate courts Kentucky ranked second in 1981 in the number of written opinions issued by each judge. Ohio, with 44 appellate judges, was first, issuing 146 written opinions per judge. Kentucky with 14 judges was second with 108 opinions per judge, Indiana with 12 judges was third with 91 per judge, and Tennessee with 21 judges was fourth with 62 per judge.

Despite the challenging number of case filings, written opinions, orders, and the miles travelled, the court is managing to keep pace. The disposition rate during the last year was 2,807, or 95 percent of the filings. Statistical records indicate that while the number of filings since 1977 has increased by 55 percent, the rate of dispositions has increased by 59 percent, prompting the court's Chief Judge John P. Hayes, Louisville, to observe that "Although the Kentucky Court of Appeals has been nationally recognized as a model intermediate appellate court in its structure and operation, with the ever-increasing number of filings, we would be in serious difficulty except for the willingness of the judges to take on additional work and to devote many overtime hours and extra travel to getting the job done."

Court of Appeals judges from the 7th Appellate District are Judges Harris Howard and Elijah Hogge.

PCC Refresher Courses In Clerical Skills Set

To sharpen skills in shorthand and typing, refresher courses will begin next week at Prestonsburg Community College through the Continuing Education Program.

Refresher typing is designed for individuals who have completed instruction on the typewriter keyboard including all letters, numbers and symbols. A review will be given on rules for letter styles, tables and manuscripts. The course begins March 3 and will continue till April 7. For those who have had Gregg shorthand in the past, refresher shorthand will review shorthand theory and principles, reinforce the standards of shorthand brief forms and build shorthand speed. The course is geared toward secretaries who have a need to use shorthand on a day-to-day basis but do not feel comfortable with its use due to lack of practice. Refresher shorthand will meet on Tuesdays, 5:30-7p.m., March 1-April 19. For further information, contact Linda Compton at 886-3863, ext. 215.

Retires From GM

John L. Hamilton retired after 30 years' service with General Motors Wilmington, Delaware plant, Jan. 1. A son of Della Hamilton, of Teaberry and the late Rev. Evan Hamilton, Mr. Hamilton was quality control inspector at the plant at the time of his retirement.
A veteran of the Korean War where he served with the 24th Infantry and earned the Bronze Star, he attended Betsy Layne High School, army command school in Japan, and industrial quality control in Wilmington.
Mr. Hamilton, his wife, Miriam, and daughter, Valerie, reside on a farm in Cecil county, Maryland.

Runs on a budget.

The 1983 Honda Civic 1300 Hatchback is our lowest priced car. But that doesn't mean we've scrimped on quality or engineering. Front-wheel drive, 4-wheel independent suspension, a transverse-mounted 1335cc engine and rack and pinion steering are proven Honda features.
And steel-belted radial tires and an overtaking headlight flasher are new for this year.

So relax. Enjoy the reclining front bucket seats, full cut-pile carpeting and the price.
The Civic 1300 not only runs on a budget. It runs great.

Musicians Visit Daniels Creek School

Guitarist and fiddler Sonny Houston, of Knoxville, and Terry Kellaher, guitarist, of David, played and sang in an afternoon of informal performances at Daniels Creek school recently. They were joined by Meredith Slone, teacher at the school, who sang and played dulcimer.

Pictured with Houston, right, is student Chris Lewis. Teacher Slone, who builds and plays mountain dulcimers, has taught several of his students to play.

The appearance of Houston and Kellaher was financed by funds made available through the Artist-in-the-Schools program, sponsored by the Kentucky Arts Council and the Floyd County Board of Education.

WRIGHT HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Wheelwright Homemakers met last Thursday evening at the Senior Citizens' Center, there. The lesson on "Smocking in Clothing and Decorations" was presented by home economist, Mrs. Frances Pitts. The hostesses, Mrs. Karen Jones and Mrs. Maxine Osborne, served a dessert course to Barbara Johnson, Alma Souleyrette, Margaret Jones, Parilee Hall, Katie Newsome, Linda Holbrook, and Frances Pitts. The next meeting will be Thursday evening, March 17, at 7 p.m., at the same location.

Presbyterian Leaders May Cast 'Healing' Vote

Several Floyd county Presbyterian leaders may have the opportunity tomorrow (Thursday) to cast the deciding vote in healing one of the lengthiest church divisions in American history. On that day, meeting at Less College in Jackson, the Presbytery of Transylvania will vote on union of the United Presbyterian Church (called the "Northern" Church, though it exists nationwide) and the Presbyterian Church in the United States (the "Southern" Church.)

The necessary two-thirds of the Northern presbyteries have already approved the union; three-fourths of the Southern presbyteries (or 46 of 61) must approve for the merger to take place. More than 40 presbyteries have voted favorably in meetings earlier this month. Thus the Transylvania vote may be the decisive 46th needed to bring together Presbyterians divided for 122 years, since the Civil War.

It is a foregone conclusion that Transylvania will vote favorably, since it has been the border states that have led the way toward reunion in this century, and all Kentucky presbyteries have been unified for a decade. The areas where the "Northern" and "Southern" branches overlapped have provided the major impetus for getting the two churches to talk together, and, perhaps, now to unite. It has been a dream long in coming. Kentucky has at Louisville the only seminary jointly supported by both branches. Centre College at Danville has strong roots to both Presbyterian groups. And in Eastern Kentucky, Presbyterians from north and south have worked side by side in missionary and educational ventures, though not organically one.

For example, Pikeville College, a pioneer in higher education in the Big Sandy Valley, is related to the "Northern" church. But Lees Junior College where the historic meeting will take place, is celebrating this year its centennial of education work for the "Southern" denomination.

The Northern church has been strongest in the Big Sandy Valley (with only two Southern churches in eastern Pike county), while the Southern church has been stronger in the Kentucky River Valley, around Hazard and Whitesburg. But at best Presbyterians are a small minority in the area—all the more reason it is argued, for them to unite and work together. The present union Presbytery represents 15,000 communicant members in the eastern third of the state.

But though small in numbers, the Presbyterian Church has made a significant contribution to this area. Known nationally for stressing the importance of education, that has been one of its foremost contributions to Eastern Kentucky. In addition to the colleges named and which remain, Presbyterian institutions at Buckhorn in Perry county, Highland in Breathitt county, and Blackey in Letcher county provided high-school education for many years in areas where there was none. In fact, the first high school in Prestonsburg was organized by the Presbyterians at the turn of the century on the site now occupied by St. Theodore's Catholic Church.

Without doubt, the street now called "Westminster" is derived from the Presbyterian beginnings at that location, since Westminster, the name for the prime confession that has guided Presbyterianism, was written in England by the Westminster Assembly. (The local "Westminster" is a corruption often made of this most Presbyterian word. A "minster" in England simply describes a church or a monastery—hence, Westminster Abbey.)

The Presbyterian Church existed at the site long after the school, for in most places the Presbyterians gave up their educational work when a local agency was able to assume it. Since 1965, the local congregation has been located on U.S. 23 at the north edge of town. A new congregation in Floyd county was begun at Drift some 25 years ago, part of a mission outreach known then as the "Big Sandy Larger Parish."

In addition to education, Presbyterians locally have been involved in a number of community service projects. A Presbyterian minister helped to organize the first Boy Scout troop in Prestonsburg. Later, Alcoholics Anonymous and one of the very first Al-anon family groups anywhere in the country was started here with the encouragement of then pastor Harold Black. In recent years, Community Meals on Wheels was organized from the Presbyterian Church, and it now is housed in the church's manse (the Presbyterian name for parsonage, or the minister's house). An independent agency, it serves meals to senior citizens and homebound patients in five counties.

Presbyterians locally share the church's national image of leadership in ecumenical affairs, strength in education, and concern for social justice. At a meeting last week of the Local Church Women, Christian Service Ministry worker, Doreen Martin, of Drift, told of her current work that supplies food and clothing to needy people in the county. And the local Presbyterian men listened to a presentation on a new Christian school in the county which has garnered much Presbyterian support. The Rev. Timothy Jessen, pastor of both Floyd county churches, is president of the Floyd County Ministerial Association.

He looks forward to the union as a way of bringing another kind of family reunion to pass: his family (including two Presbyterian ministers) have all been in the "Northern" church. His wife's family is presently in the "Southern" Church, in West Virginia, though having ministered previously in the "Northern" Church.

The other commissioners, besides Pastor Jessen, who will vote at Jackson will be Wesley Howard from the Prestonsburg Church, long active in National Missions work and a strong proponent of union, and Dr. Phil Fairchild, of McDowell, who will represent the Drift congregation (each congregation can send one lay representative to vote). He has served as an elder in the Presbyterian Church in Hawaii and Maryland as well as in Kentucky, and looks forward to the day when the two divided churches can reunite.

In fact, if reunion passes, it would give local Presbyterians a distinction not many places could claim: last year Gladys Allen, of Prestonsburg, was elected to attend what may well be the last meeting of the "Southern" Assembly; next June the union of the churches hopefully will be consummated at a Joint Assembly in Atlanta, Georgia. Dr. Fairchild has been elected an alternate commissioner to that gathering from Transylvania Presbytery, which will be the first of the "new," reunited church.

To see the reunion come to pass, after a "feud" of longer than a century—will be a dream fulfilled which these Presbyterians and many others will be happy to celebrate.

RETIRED TEACHERS TO MEET

The Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association will meet Thursday morning, March 3, at 10 o'clock at the Floyd County Library, here. Monroe Wicker, a former Floyd county educator, who is presently retired from Morehead State University, and serves as chairman of the Kentucky State Legislative Committee for Retired Teachers, will speak on "The Principal Legislative Priorities of Our Kentucky Members for 1983," with emphasis on utility rate relief.

CHURCHWOMEN MEET

The Local Church Women met Friday in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Eleanor Robinson, president, presided. It was decided that the churchwomen and the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association would again co-sponsor the Holy Week services, which will be from March 28 to April 1 at the Irene Cole Baptist Church. Mrs. Timothy Jessen was asked to coordinate these services. The World Day of Prayer observance will be held this year at St. Theodore's Catholic Church, Friday, March 4.

The Rev. Timothy Jessen, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and president of the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association, introduced Mrs. Doreen Martin, who, in cooperation with the Christian Service Ministry of the Drift Presbyterian Church, is in charge of the Food Closet, and the collection of clothing, there. Mrs. Martin gave an in-depth report on the work being done there to help the poor and needy in Floyd and 4 surrounding counties. She ended her discussion by saying that, unless coal miners go back to work, the need for food and clothing will increase from its present level.

The group decided to have a called meeting, March 18, at 10:30, to discuss plans regarding how to go about helping with food and clothing for those in need.

Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, chairman of the Nominating committee, said that a meeting would be held soon for the purpose of selecting officers for the coming year.

Women of the church served refreshments to Mrs. Doreen Martin and the Rev. Timothy Jessen, guests, and members. Eleanor Robinson, Eileen Burchett, Elma Jessen, Christine Spradlin, Mary Lou Layne, Vera Ford, Garnett Fairchild, Docia Woods, Fannie Rannels, Jane Wallace, Mabel Donahoe, Eva Collins, and Mabel Brown.

PULPIT COMMITTEE NAMED

The names of members of the Pulpit committee for the Irene Cole Baptist Church were announced during services there Sunday evening. They are Blaine Hall, Shirley Branham, Patty Minns, Eric Herron, Ramona Horn, Ken Watkins, and Paul Nunn.

Miss Hamilton-Mr. Roberts

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hamilton, of Teaberry announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Margie Mae, to James Sheldon Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Roberts, of Grethel.

The open church wedding will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 26, at the Betsy Layne Church of Christ. A reception will follow immediately after the ceremony at the home of the groom's parents.

ON LEAVE FROM MARINE CORPS

Pfc. David Fitzpatrick, of Prestonsburg, is home from training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, South Carolina.

He is the son of Sam H. Fitzpatrick, who lives on the Middle Creek Rd.

Pvt. Fitzpatrick will report to Camp Lejeune for special training in the supply field upon completion of boot leave.

For more information on Marine Corps opportunities contact S/Sgt. John Robbins at 432-2175 in Pikeville. Please call collect.

CARD OF THANKS

Members of the family of Miss Mae Beam would like to express their thanks to all relatives, friends, and neighbors, who helped in so many ways, prior to and following her recent death. We are grateful to the Rev. Cohen Campbell for his words of comfort, Mrs. Alice Buchanan for her musical selections, Mrs. Patsy Evans for the solos rendered by her, the pallbearers for their services, and the Carter Funeral Home staff who showed so much courtesy, and efficiency at the time when we needed them most. May God bless each one of you.

Opponents For Office In Vote Quest Locally; Stumbo Gains Support

Two Democratic candidates for Attorney General—Bill Weinberg, of Hindman, and Larry M. Greathouse, of Richmond—included Prestonsburg last week in their search for support at the May primary. Mr. Greathouse addressed the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club last Thursday night. Mr. Weinberg made informal calls here and elsewhere in the county. Meanwhile, it was announced that two veteran politicians—State Senator Danny Meyer, of Louisville, and Milburn Maupin, a former Louisville alderman and deputy superintendent of Jefferson county schools—have been named to serve as co-chairman of Dr. Grady Stumbo's gubernatorial campaign in Jefferson county. James M. Burke, a former director of organization for the Democratic party in that county, was named Jefferson county organization chairman for Stumbo.

State Park Events Set For Weekend

Here is a description of special state parks events scheduled for the weekend of Feb. 25-26. Making the events even more special, the parks will offer two nights for the price of one at park lodges during the weekend.

From Dixieland to Bluegrass to Gospel, Barren River State Resort Park's String Music Weekend will appeal to lovers of all kinds of music. The fun starts Friday, Feb. 25 with a concert by popular folk entertainers Blake and Nancy Barker and the Dixie Landers, a seven-piece jazz and ragtime band. On Saturday afternoon, Dick and Ann Albin will conduct an informal concert and workshop on Kentucky's ballads and songs. The Albins draw big crowds each year as they entertain at various state parks.

On Saturday evening, the Albins will be joined by the bluegrass group, the Barren River Revival, for a rousing evening of down-home music. On Sunday, gospel music will be in the spotlight during an afternoon concert.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Barren River in Lucas at (502) 646-2151.

Artists and photographers will get a chance to compete for awards and exchange ideas at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park during the Feb. 25-26 weekend. A number of noted photographers and artists will conduct demonstration programs both days on subjects ranging from landscape painting to techniques in photo composition.

Visitors are invited to enter their work in an exhibition that will conclude with the awarding of prizes to the best photograph and artwork. Entrants must attend to be eligible to win. A $4 registration fee will be charged.

Among experts taking part will be photographer Larry Spitzer of the Louisville Courier-Journal & Times, and artists Robert A. Powell, Gary Akers, Russell May, Harold Collins, A. Jack May and Joseph Petro. Further information may be obtained by calling Jenny Wiley SRP in Prestonsburg at (606) 886-2711.

The natural beauty of Cumberland Falls State Resort Park will be on display Feb. 25-26 as the park sponsors a forestry weekend.

The program starts Friday evening with a presentation by Hugh Archer of the Nature Conservancy on "Wildflowers of Kentucky." A social will follow.

Highlights of Saturday's events include a 1 p.m. tour of Daniel Boone National Forest. A park naturalist will address topics like timber-stand improvement during the outing.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Cumberland Falls in Corbin at (606) 528-4121.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES A PRIORITY FOR EAST KENTUCKY

STATE SENATOR BENNY RAY BAILEY

"Having grown up in Floyd County, I have seen first-hand the need for a comprehensive system of emergency medical services for our people."

GRADY STUMBO, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR, JANUARY, 1983

The above statement by Grady Stumbo points out a real need of rural people for emergency medical services. Because of the rugged topography of East Kentucky, our people do not have the same access to emergency medical care as people living in urban areas. Access to emergency care and transportation can mean the difference between life and death in many cases.

Senator Benny Ray Bailey recognized this need. During the 1980 Session of the Kentucky General Assembly, Senator Bailey revived Senate Bill 66 and managed the legislation through the legislature. Senate Bill 66 provides matching funds to county fiscal courts for emergency medical services. In Floyd County, this has pro-

While the funding available in Senate Bill 66 is not what we would like to have, it is the type of legislation needed to assist our people. Floyd County and the surrounding areas have been fortunate to have an emergency medical services operation like the Left Beaver Rescue Squad. We need to support such organizations and work to insure that they have the materials and equipment they need. Our volunteer organizations in Floyd County do an outstanding job and offer a means toward the solution of providing needed services for our people. Senator Benny Ray Bailey recognizes the needs of our people and works in Frankfort to meet these needs. That's why we need to keep him on the job.

Top Spellers Go 53 Rounds

Beverly Marstin

Johnny Isaac

"Indirectly" is a word Johnny Isaac won't forget for a while, for it's the word he stumbled over to end a 53-round duel with Beverly Marstin for Floyd county spelling champion last week.

The two 13-year-olds—both are in the eighth grade, Marstin at Prater Creek Elementary, Isaac at W.D. Osborne—were among 16 Floyd youngsters who won spelling bees in their respective schools and met for the county finals at Allen grade school last Wednesday.

At the county level, the spelling bee is sponsored jointly by the Kentucky Education Association and the Huntington Herald-Dispatch. The county winner will advance to the regional spell-off in the KEA competition in Ashland next month. Both winner and runner-up here will join other county finalists in Huntington in April for the regional title in the bee sponsored by the Herald-Dispatch.

The new Floyd county champion clinched her victory by spelling "interaction" correctly; it was her third appearance in the county finals. She is the daughter of Ron Marstin and Dr. Ellen Joyce, of Banner. The runner-up is the son of Russell and Freda Isaac, of Wheelwright.

Following is a listing, in the order they finished, of the other participants, the schools they represented, and the words that stumped them:

Christie Clark, eighth grade, Maytown Elementary, marshal; Tammy Johnson, seventh grade, Betsy Layne, loosely; Martha Paige, sixth grade, Wayland, either; Michael Rosenberg, seventh grade, Clark, argument; Chris Kidd, fifth grade, Martin, knowledge; Carolyn Frasure, eighth grade, Bonanza, pleasure; Toi Orrison, sixth grade, Harold, compound; Debra Hall, fifth grade, J.M. Stumbo, odor; Charlotte Kidd, seventh grade, Drift, ton; Amy Shelton, eighth grade, McDowell, imagine; Mark Hall, sixth grade, Allen, general; Lisa Daniels, seventh grade, Garrett, fought; Wilma Lewis, eighth grade, Daniels Creek, enemies; and Chris Haley, seventh grade, Prestonsburg, arrow.

Director of the spelling bee here was Anna Sue Stumbo, supervisor in the county schools system; Philip Dingus, of the schools' pupil personnel department, was pronouncer; judges were Mrs. Ruby Akers, of Drift, Mrs. Edith Hopkins, of Minnie, and Colleen Compton, reading teacher at Allen Elementary. Betty Flannery, also a reading teacher at Allen, was statistician.

REBEKAHS MEET

The regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 was called to order by the noble grand, Mrs. Alicia Adkins, Tuesday evening, Feb. 15. The routine of business was conducted, with special emphasis being placed on those who were ill, and others who had lost loved ones. Cards were signed to be mailed to them. The initiation, to be held in April, was discussed. Birthday greetings were extended to Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, Mrs. Mary Zemo and Leven Burchett.

Preceding the meeting, refreshments were served. Games were played, with prizes being awarded to the winners, after which a fellowship hour was enjoyed. Those present were Alicia Adkins, Kelly Sue Moore, Violetta Wright, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Helen Ormerod, Virginia Goble, Nola Stepp, Venelia Rinehart, Rebecca Bingham, Jean Hickman, Myrtle Allen, Mary Zemo, Sue Moore, Nancy Duff, Dorothy Osborne, Effie Hopkins, Olna Hamilton, Sally Mae Goble, Theckley Short, Myrtle Jo Potter, Deloris Kendrick, Alka Burchett, Nell Howard, Levan Burchett, and John N. Burchett.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 1, at 7 p.m.

Veterans' Information

William H. Tackett, a representative of the Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs, will be at the National Guard Armory, near Prestonsburg, March 2 to assist veterans, their families and dependents, or beneficiaries in the presentation, proof and establishment of all claims and benefits which they may have under federal, state or local laws.
Office hours will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Neighborhood Watch Group Is Formed

Thirty eight people gathered in the First United Methodist Church on South Arnold Ave. recently to form a neighborhood watch for the area. At the invitation of Carolyn Ford, Police Chief Jim Curtis showed the group a film on the program, which is designed to teach householders how to protect their homes and community. Commonwealth's Attorney James Allen was also present to advise and encourage the group. Blaine Hall was elected chairman and will select a delegate from each area.

In District Court

Sentenced in district court, following guilty pleas or verdicts, were:
Chester Garrett, Town Branch, terroristic threatening, 90 days, probated for one year, $250 in fine and costs; Patrick Shell, West Prestonsburg, drunk driving, $147.50, referred to alcoholic driver education; Charles L. Roberts, Harold, spilling coal, $37.50; Joey Crum, Martin, drunk, $57.50; Charles Gillium, no address given, criminal mischief, 90 days, $47.50; Glen Bradley, Wheelwright, disorderly conduct, $72.50.

Magoffin Ex-Sheriff Draws Second Term

Former Magoffin County Sheriff Thomas R. "Skip" Salyer was sentenced in Pikeville to serve 90 days in a federal prison and was fined $1,000 for misdemeanor civil rights violations stemming from a 1981 shooting incident. Salyer, who will serve his time at the federal correction institution at Lexington, asked U.S. District Judge G. Wix Unthank for leniency. Salyer said he had been released from the institution in December after serving 10 months for mail fraud involving absentee ballots in the 1981 primary election. Salyer was accused of firing shots at an automobile bearing a campaign poster of an opponent when he was running for Magoffin county judge-executive in October, 1981. Rhonda Sue Walters, 12, of Magoffin county, was wounded in the incident. Two others in the car escaped injury. Unthank ordered Salyer to report to the prison at 1 p.m. March 2 and said Salyer could remain under his current $75,000 bond.

Troopers Commended for Gallantry

Tpr. J. Stephens

Tpr. O.P. Estep

Kentucky State Police commendations were awarded to two troopers assigned to Post 9, at Pikeville recently. The presentations took place December 21.

Commended for gallantry were Trooper Orville Paul Estep and Trooper James Stephens.

The commendation awarded Trooper Estep was the result of a February 2, 1981 arrest of a fugitive being sought in the murder of a Lexington taxicab driver. Estep made the arrest in Salyersville.

Trooper Estep is a ten-year veteran of the State Police and is assigned to Johnson county, of which he is a native.

Trooper James Stephens, another ten-year veteran, is a Floyd county native and assigned to this county. He was commended for his actions at School House Hollow near Hunter, October 21, 1980. Trooper Stevens was responding to a complaint of an intoxicated man with a gun, who had fired into a nearby house.

ACHS Attendance Winner

The attendance competition at Allen Central High School for sixth school month resulted in the second consecutive win for the freshman homeroom of Mrs. Leona Fouts. Mrs. Caralita O'Quinn's sophomore homeroom came in second place with Mrs. Lema Cooley's freshman homeroom coming in third place. Mr. and Mrs. Greg Slusher awarded the members of the winning homeroom with Druther's food coupons.

Alice Lloyd, Pikeville Meet In KIAC Tourney Opener

The Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (KIAC) men's tournament began last night (Tuesday) when Alice Lloyd met Pikeville College at Pikeville. The winner of that game will meet Cumberland at Williamsburg, in Thursday's quarter finals.

The quarterfinal pairings were determined after the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics said that Clinch Valley had to forfeit a regular-season game to Pikeville because of an ineligible player.

The league had not made the quarterfinal pairings until yesterday because it was unknown how many games Clinch Valley might have to forfeit.

Second-seeded Georgetown (15-10) will play at home against Clinch Valley; third-seeded Thomas More (14-19) will play at home against Campbellsville (10-12), and fourth-seeded Berea will play at home against Union (13-15).

The tournament semifinals will be played Saturday, with the final scheduled for March 1.

The tourney champion advances to the four-team NAIA District 32 playoffs. Cumberland, as regular-season champion, has already earned a berth in the district.

Caney Creek Classic Runnerup

Allen Central captured second place in the recent Alice Lloyd College Caney Creek Classic. Dr. Donald Staffo, Alice Lloyd athletic director, right, is shown presenting the second place trophy to Coach Judy Eversole and her runner-up Allen Central Lady Rebels. Allen Central defeated Knott County but then lost to Sheldon Clark in the finals.

Civil Air Patrol Being Organized

Formation of a Civil Air Patrol (CAP) squadron here is in the works and is expected to be effected within the next few weeks, it was said Monday.

Local pilots are being contacted, but participation is not confined to those who fly, it was explained. Others who may be interested in such public service may be observers or involved in radio communications and other areas.

For example, a leader in organization of a CAP squadron locally is Larry Randall, a motel manager. "Don't ask me why I'm doing this," he said. "I don't even fly."

The squadron here would join others already established at Hazard, Jenkins, Ashland, London and, more recently, Pikeville—all part of the Eastern Kentucky Group. The several CAP groups in the state comprise the Kentucky Wing based at Frankfort.

Denzil Allen, of Prestonsburg, is commander of Group 3 which is composed of squadrons and flights in the Eastern Kentucky area.

Civil Air Patrol is a civilian auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force. Operating nationwide, it was credited last year with saving 87 lives.

Wheelwright Falls To Simon-Kenton

The Wheelwright Trojans traveled to Northern Kentucky Saturday night and came home with a 75-60 loss to the Pioneers. The Pioneers were state champions in 1980-1981.

Wheelwright played a hard first half, trailing several times by only four points. The third quarter, the Trojans never got into their offense, due to some early foul trouble, and by the fourth quarter it was too late as three of their first five had fouled out.

It was the quickness and outside shooting of the Pioneers, Tim Downs and Kyle Tackett, that put the game out of reach for the Trojans as they combined for a total of 34 points. The Trojans were led by Mike Williams and Marty Adams with 17 and 16 points, respectively.

The Trojans' record is now at an even 12-12 in the won-lost column. The team has a heavy schedule for the upcoming week, facing the Elkhorn City Cougars at home Tuesday night, traveling to Whitesburg on Wednesday night to take on the Yellowjackets and on Friday night to play the Phelps Hornets at home for their final game before going into the district tournament.

The Kentucky Easter Seal Society was organized in 1923 to help boys and girls overcome physical disabilities.

NCO Honor Graduate

Cpl. Iris Flannery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Flannery, of Martin, reported for duty at Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii last June. Since joining her present command, she has been promoted to Rank of Corporal and took top honors at Marine Corps NCO School. During the three-week school she was in competition with other marines in military academics, drill, uniform and equipment, inspections, leadership, and physical fitness. She completed the school with an overall 97.3 average and earned the distinction of honor graduate.

For more information on the United States Marine Corps, contact S/Sgt. John H. Robbins in Pikeville at 432-2175. Please call collect.

National Publications Feature Med. Associates

Medical Associates, Inc., a Louisiana based emergency physicians' group was recently featured in two national magazines, Venture and US News and World Report. The group's founder and president, Dr. Paul T. Brizendine, was recognized for his role in the development of free-standing emergency centers.

Dr. Brizendine founded Medical Associates in 1978. The group now staffs and manages the emergency departments of eight hospitals in three states. In 1981, Dr. Brizendine opened Louisville's first free-standing emergency center, the Family Emergency Center. The Family Emergency Center was quickly followed last September by a second free-standing center.

US News and World Report cited the Family Emergency Centers and the concept of the free-standing emergency center as a "trend that will shape the future." This is very likely the case as the free-standing centers are opening nationally at the rate of one new center every day.

Venture, a national business magazine, discussed the development of the minor emergency centers and explored the reasons behind the success of these centers. "The article," says Dr. Brizendine, "described these centers very accurately. Our Family Emergency Centers are open from 8 a.m. to midnight, seven days a week and offer health care services midway between the general practitioner and hospital emergency room." In addition, the article noted that the minor emergency centers offer medical and emergency care at rates 30 to 40 percent lower than hospital emergency rooms. "Also," explained Brizendine, "the centers are staffed with at least one doctor, one registered nurse, and one technician at all times."

"The minor emergency center provides a practical solution to some major problems which patients often encounter when seeking medical care," stated Dr. Brizendine. "These centers are convenient, far less costly and the patients can be seen almost immediately with virtually no waiting time."

Returns From Maneuver

Marine Pvt. William B. McCormick, son of L. Joy James, of Prestonsburg, has returned from a deployment in the Aleutian Islands and Western Canada. He is a member of the 17th Marine Amphibious Unit (MAU), Camp Pendleton, Calif.

During the deployment, the MAU participated in exercise "Kernel Potlatch". The combined U.S. and Canadian exercise, conducted on remote Amchitka Island in the Western Aleutian Islands, was designed to test the joint operations of American and Canadian forces in cold weather.

The amphibious exercise involved approximately 7,000 members of the U.S. Navy, Coast Guard, Marine Corps and Air Force, and 800 members of Canadian land, sea, and air elements.

Port visits were made to Vancouver and Victoria, British Columbia, Canada.

CARD OF THANKS

Celebrates Birthday

Alisha Danielle Guffey celebrated her third birthday, Feb. 1 in Greenfield, Indiana. She is the daughter of Frank and Maria Guffey, and the granddaughter of Marlyn Jones, of Greenfield, Ind. and Emma Grace Hartley, of Betsy Layne. Cake and ice-cream were enjoyed by several of her little friends; her aunt, Donna Lea Morgan; her cousins, Robby, Randy and Leslie Morgan, also of Greenfield.

FLORAL OFFERINGS

Flowers were placed on the altar of the First United Methodist Church Sunday morning by Mrs. Lillian Pelphrey, in memory of Jimmy Hatcher; by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Moore, for the birthday of their son, Alan Moore; by Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Herrick, for the birthdays of their sons, Alan and Greg Herrick; by Mrs. May K. Roberts, for the birthday of Mrs. Josephine Fields, and by the family of Mrs. Gertrude Bradbury, for her birthday.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, Honorable C. "Ollie" Robinson, County Court Clerk of Floyd County, Kentucky, departed this life at Highlands Regional Hospital on February 22, 1983 and whereas, as a county official he was a leader in the county and as such is entitled to final respects:

Now, therefore, I, as County Judge-Executive of Floyd county, proclaim a three-day period of mourning until after funeral services, and during said period all county offices and courts are hereby ordered to be closed and to transact no business, except in emergencies, during said period of mourning and until February 25, 1983.

Done at Prestonsburg, Floyd county, Kentucky, on February 22, 1983.
 JERRY LAFFERTY, JR.
 County Judge Executive
 Floyd County, Kentucky

CHURCHWOMEN MEET

The Emma United Methodist Women met at the church, Feb. 14, with the president, Mrs. Carolyn Walters, presiding. Mrs. Mary L. Thornsbury made the motion to order 100 more cookbooks to be sold by the church. Persons interested in the purchase of these cookbooks should contact Mrs. Carolyn Walters, Emma, Ann Sizemore, telephone 285-3458, or any other member of this group.

Further discussions were held regarding an Easter egg-hunt, having the church painted, and the presentation of the movie, "The Cross and the Switchblade," in the spring. The hostesses, Mrs. Mary L. Thornsbury and Mrs. Luca Hamilton, served a dessert course to Mesdames Emma Burchett, Sharon Burchett, Blanche Kinsley, LaDonna Patton, Ann Sizemore, Bonnie Walters, and Carolyn Walters.

The con is on... place your bets. Oh, how sweet it is!

This is how much car you should expect for $14,000 today.

From the second-largest carmaker in Europe comes the Peugeot 505S. So high is its quality—and so well is it equipped—that some observers think it may well be undervalued in today's market.

Car with steering that "knows"
 When to step in and help the driver in difficult situations.
 A car with highly sophisticated dampening devices that react bumps and potholes with contempt.
 A car whose spark plugs are tipped with silver and whose ignition is by magnetic pulse. Result: a fuel-injected engine that is designed to shog off-tune-ups for 30,000 miles.
 A car that delivers fuel economy without requiring you to downgrade to a small, lightweight car.
 A car whose seats glide back and forth on tiny rollers instead of simple metal slides; you may not find more comfortable seats in any production car today.
 A car which is not permitted to leave the factory until it has been subjected to a complete road trial by an expert test driver.
 Such a car is the Peugeot 505S.

Steering that "thinks"
 Power steering can be both a blessing and a curse. Without it, a heavy car can bring heads of sweat to your brow as you try to stretch it out of a parking spot. But most power steering takes never numb. You "feel" the road through your hands, "feel" the amount of grip that the tires have on the road. You have an extra margin of control.

The heart and soul of the car
 Ask Peugeot engineers to name yet another vital element of the 505S, and they will point to the shock absorbers. These awesome dampening devices have pistons that contain four times as many vanes as normal shock absorbers. They smother road bumps to such a degree that the Peugeot 505S glides serenely over bumps both large and small.
 Where lesser shock absorbers might be expected to show signs of weakening after 30,000 miles, the Peugeot 505S shock absorbers have been designed to maintain their peak efficiency for 60,000 miles of normal use. Proud engineers that they are, the men and women at Peugeot do not stop once they have your ear. They draw attention to the arrangement of the car's suspension, which allows all four wheels to act independently of each other. A bump in the middle of a curve that would send a less-wieldy and car-hurting vehicle over so much of the work is so user-powering that it can take away control from the driver. A particularly hazardous situation on slippery roads.

Sinfully comfortable seats
 In its aim of fanatical pursuit of comfort, Peugeot has first won accepted seating out the window, as it has abolished spring seats for as long as you maintain the pressure. Full hard and it squats, says Peugeot, and then you're in.

Brakes that "read" themselves
 In a car, a really safe car, to pretend otherwise would be gibberish. Nevertheless, Peugeot places great emphasis on strong, fast that perhaps unattainable goal.
 The body of the Peugeot 505S has been designed with sections that fold into each other to help absorb impact before it can reach the car's occupants.
 Rest restate cars, aluminum steel is used on areas of the car where metal failure could be dangerous—such as the points where the suspension is mounted to the body.
 Should a chief line ever be severed, the flow of fluid is automatically shut off. There are hidden locks that can be set to prevent children from accidentally opening the trunk lid.
 The important control display is from the steering column, which you can reach them quickly. Lights, wipers, windows, cruise control, horn, turn signals—all at your fingertips.
 The brakes of the Peugeot 505S are also used to shed water and disperse heat faster than drain brakes. An ingenious device, "feels" these conditions are affecting the rear wheels as the car is being driven. The car's body is built to last in the front with bagging. If necessary, pressure to the rear wheel will automatically be softened to help prevent the rear wheels from locking and skidding.

The testing is exhaustive; the various procedures would fill a book. One small example: There is a room at Peugeot where a man does nothing but check gearboxes. If there is the faintest noise that shouldn't exist, he goes back to the gearbox for correction.

Silver-tipped plugs
 And an exhaust "sniffer"
 It is Peugeot's view that cars should not require constant, annoying trips to the shop for tune-ups.
 The X26 Bosch-fuel-injected engine that propels this ton-and-a-half car to almost 100 miles per hour (there are no speed limits on some roads in Europe) would take still another look to describe. But one high-technology detail: there is an onboard computer that "sniffs" the exhaust gases, instantly analyzes them, and then orders the fuel-injection system to tune itself for the most efficient and most polluting-free mixture of fuel and air. The system is so efficient that the X26 engine passes both the Federal and California emissions standards.

Alloy wheels
 Multi-adjustable driver's seat
 So fully equipped is the car that the only other way to spend your money are by ordering a 3-speed automatic transmission ($360) in place of the 5-speed overdrive manual gearbox, and by specifying metallic paint ($290). Models of the Peugeot 505 are also available with diesel and turbo-charged-diesel engines.

No matter which version of the Peugeot 505 you choose, you will find such standard equipment as power-assisted steering, power-assisted brakes, reclining front seats, rear-window defroster, zippered wipers with intermittent-wipe phase, quartz clock, map light, glove-compartment light, and trunk light.

Someone has driven your Peugeot. Check the odometer when you take delivery of your Peugeot and you will discover that someone has already been driving it.
 Be pleased. It is yet another tell-tale of quality.
 Peugeot maintains a 75-member team of test drivers whose job is to take every car after it leaves the assembly line and give it a final test on a special test track.
 The driver will test the steering, brakes, lights, engine performance.

A tiny turbine blows a 600-mph whiffwind that literally packs the engine of the Peugeot 505 Turbo-diesel with power.
 The result is the best of both worlds: more passing power, yet the miserly thrif of a diesel engine. Thirteen percent more horsepower than the normal diesel. With 128 EPA estimated mpg, 36 estimated highway mpg.
 The source of this extra power is free. The turbocharger is driven by exhaust gases that would otherwise be expelled through the tailpipe and disappear into thin air.
 A bonus for city drivers: the Peugeot Turbo-diesel engine uses 75% less fuel at idle than a gasoline engine.
 Important note: Peugeot diesel engines are fine diesels, designed from scratch to withstand the enormous internal pressures. They are not converted gasoline engines.

The car that is a benchmark. This, then, is the Peugeot 505S. It is made in Europe. It is designed for safety and tested for durability. It is undeniably comfortable. It is how much car you should expect for $14,000 today.

The Peugeot Lion

The lion has represented Peugeot since 1858, when the company was in the business of making such things as coat hangers, work tools, and clock springs. The lion was chosen to symbolize the three main qualities of Peugeot's steel: its blades, their strength, their sharp teeth, their cutting speed.

Peugeot went on to build the first car ever sold commercially (1891), the world's first diesel-powered car (1922), and the first high-rpm diesel engine (1967).

Peugeot has little tolerance for poorly made cars.

Peugeot 505S

The Peugeot 505S is a superbly designed car that is built to last. It is made in Europe. It is designed for safety and tested for durability. It is undeniably comfortable. It is how much car you should expect for $14,000 today.

WITHOUT A TRACE, from 20th Century-Fox. Directed by Stanley Jaffe. Screenplay by Beth Gutcheon. Starring Kate Nelligan, Judd Hirsch, David Dukas. Rated "PG" ★ ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

Just about every viewer who goes into the theater for this film knows that it's about a boy who has disappeared "without a trace." Thus the audience knows what to expect.

So when the moment comes for the boy to walk down the street, turn and wave goodbye to his mom, one can almost sense every parent watching saying to themselves, "No, don't let the kid walk to school by himself, even if it is only two blocks." It's a feeling every good parent has whenever a child walks out the door.

Such deep-seated, almost instinctive fears are at work here. "Without a Trace" is adept at bringing them to the surface. It would be difficult to imagine the parent who would not be affected.

The fear for the child, the self-recriminations and the feeling of helplessness have made many such actual events nightmares. This film might leave a parent with a few as well.

The events are as described. The 6-year-old boy has but two blocks to walk to school in Brooklyn Heights, New York, certainly not one of the worst sections of New York City. The mother (Kate Nelligan) watches him until he turns the corner. But the boy never gets to school. The police are called in, but to no avail.

The film is told largely from the point of view of the mother, played with remarkable control by Miss Nelligan. Her performance is Oscar-nomination quality.

Producer Stanley Jaffe takes a turn at directing here for the first time, and although he has chosen a sure-fire property, he was also careful to take few risks. His direction is rather listless, but with a story and performance as solid as this, he was wise to sit back and save the fireworks for next time. "Without a Trace" has some inherently potent fireworks of its own.

Bob Seger

not-fail position. So he spent two years working on "The Distance," laying down 30 tracks in order to cull nine. The result is an album that tries to please everyone — soft stuff ("Shame on the Moon," "Coming Home") for "Fire Lake" fans, rockers like "Makin' Thunderbirds" for Betty Lou's friends. The working-class hero's new record has universal — if premeditated — appeal, and is a good bet for a sixth million-seller.

Dexy's Midnight Runners — "Too-Rye-Ay" (Mercury) — It's hard to get a handle on this popular British band. They vary from Celtic lilt to American Motown to religious ballads with impunity. "Come on Eileen" is a great song, and their use of violin, piano and horns is interesting. But the Runners need some cohesiveness if they're going to gain an identity on this continent.

QUIZ ANSWERS

The answers to last month's Trivia Quiz:

- The group with the greatest total of No. 1 songs in the 1980s so far has been Hall and Oates with four. Blondie comes second with three.
- The all-time record for No. 1 hits is held by The Beatles (20); Elvis Presley is runner-up (18).

Congratulations, all you smart people.

REVIEWS

Culture Club — "Kissing to Be Clever" (Virgin/Epic) — Oh, dear. Not another airhead British dance band, you say. And a lead singer called "Boy George" — who, with his pink lipstick and waist-length hair, may or may not be a boy. How dreary.

And then you listen to the album, a silky-smooth collection of R&B tunes sung by someone (no matter how odd-looking) with the best voice since Smokey Robinson... or maybe Diana Ross. A mellifluous debut.

Bob Seger — "The Distance" (Capitol) — With his last five LPs going platinum, Bob Seger is in a dare-

Scholarship Awards For Year Announced

The Christian Appalachian Project announces its annual scholarship program designed to promote community spirit and involvement. This year, $1000 in scholarship money will be awarded to each of 13 counties, Floyd, Garrard, Jackson, Jessamine, Lincoln, Madison, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Clay, Knott, Letcher, Martin and Whitley. Additional grants of $1000 will be awarded to the Buckhorn Children's Center, Oneida Baptist Institute and the Redbird Mission.

These scholarships are unique in that grade standing and family financial circumstances are not the prime factors for selection. Citizens' committees from each community select the recipient or recipients from their county, based upon involvements and contributions to their local communities. However, applicants for the scholarships must be graduating seniors.

School counselors will provide application forms and further information, or Lew Phillips may be contacted directly at the Christian Appalachian Project, 322 Crab Orchard Road, Lancaster, Kentucky 40446.

Last year's winners in Floyd county were Melanie Jane Elliott, of J.H. Central High School and Rebecca Louise Mayton, Betsy Layne High.

CALL AT FUNERAL HOME

Among those from Prestonsburg who called at the Jones-Preston Funeral Home in Paintsville to offer condolences to the family of Irvin Arrowood were Mesdames Rebecca Rasnick, Patsy Evans, Dolly Pettrey, Josephine Fields, Eva Collins and Docia Woods.

Atty. General Candidate

Pikeville Lawyer, Thomas W. Goodman, Jr., has announced that he will seek the Democratic nomination as a candidate for Attorney General.

A criminal attorney practicing in Pikeville, Goodman says his campaign will focus on the need for uniform sentencing, improving state laws for spouse and child abuse; and consumer protection.

"There should be some changes in state law pertaining to child abuse, instead of the general statutes dealing with abuse," the candidate said. "The same goes for spousal abuse."

While those matters are not within the statutory authority of the Attorney General's office, Goodman said, "as Attorney General, I feel that I would have the status and the ear of the General Assembly to introduce legislation, rather than just another voice crying in the wilderness."

Goodman is the son of Christine Preston and Thomas W. Goodman of Chloe, formerly of Prestonsburg. He is a 1967 graduate of Pikeville College and attended the University of Arkansas School of Law, where he earned his degree in 1972. While attending law school, he served as associate editor of the Arkansas Law Review. He was admitted to practice in Virginia and Kentucky and for a time practiced in Virginia Beach, Virginia. He has practiced in Pikeville for several years.

He is the grandson of Mitchell Preston, formerly of Prestonsburg and Pikeville, who now lives in Paintsville. A well-known builder and one of the originators of Paintsville's Apple Blossom Festival, Mr. Preston was, at one time, manager here of VanHoose Lumber Company.

ISUZU P'UP TRUCK

Some beasts are born for just one thing. Work. Isuzu breeds such an animal. The tough, dependable P'UP. The gas or diesel powered truck that has proven it has the muscle it takes to do the job. And continues proving it in over 100 countries around the world.

But the best thing about our little beast is its little price.

Not to mention how little it eats on the job.

Thelma Casadorph, Jo Ann Miller, Sarabeth Ringer, Frank Bunting, Glenna Kemper, James Ferguson, Marilyn Ferguson Wagner, Margaret Ferguson, Lorrella Boggess, Howard Bunting, Jr., Emma Jean Stout, Peggy Bunting, Robert V. Bunting, Thomas L. Bunting, Glenman R. Bunting, Roy Vinson Bunting.....Defts.

By virtue of a judgement and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the January 31st term, 1983 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Ky., to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 4th day of March, 1983 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of the Big Sandy River in Floyd County, Kentucky, that was conveyed Jerry B. Stephens and Jennie E. Stephens by deed dated May 29, 1945 from Lida Cottrell, widow, Mary M. Webb, J.O. Webb, her husband, Inez R. Hereford, Thomas Hereford, her husband, by Joe Hobson, Attorney-in-Fact, as recorded in Deed Book 126, page 158, Floyd County Clerk's Office, and being more particularly described as follows:

Being Lots Nos. 163, 164 and 165 in Block X, as shown on map of Richmond Sub-Division No. 2 to the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky, now on file in the office of the Floyd County Clerk as Map No. 106, as based on survey by Waits May and map by Art Hager on July 6, 1942, to which map reference is here made for a more particular description of said lots. Each of said lots has a front footage of twenty-five feet and a depth of one hundred twenty feet.

This property is being sold to settle the estate of the late Jennie Bunting Stephens.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall include the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 14th day of February, 1983.

Pantomime Artist on Return Visit

Artist Jean St. John, of Cincinnati, will conduct a week of workshops with students in the county's gifted-and-talented classes, as the result of a $600 Kentucky Arts Council grant.

St. John is a professional pantomime and clown artist who has performed and given lecture/demonstrations throughout West Virginia and Kentucky. She was the guest here last spring under the Artist-in-the-School program, when she worked with students from Prestonsburg and Clark grade schools.

The upcoming workshops will cover the teaching of creative movement, pantomime, creative drama and clowning, and techniques of body conditioning, isolated movement, and theater improvisation.

Pictured are students at Prestonsburg grade school working with Miss St. John during her last visit here.

Perry Meade

Perry Meade, 70, died last Thursday at his home at Printer following a short illness.

Born March 17, 1912, he was a son of the late Alex L. and Martha Parsons Meade and was also preceded in death by his wife, Catherine Humble Meade. He was a retired miner.

Surviving are two sons, Perry Denver Meade, of Printer, and Douglas Meade, of Tutor Key; two daughters, Mrs. Peggy McKinney, of Printer, and Mrs. Christine Wells, of Tutor Key; two brothers, Ted Meade, of Printer, and Lawrence Meade, of Green Springs, O.; two sisters, Mrs. Nora Adkins, of Printer, and Mrs. Alice Miller, of New London, O., and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Hall Funeral Home chapel by ministers of the Church of Christ. Burial was made in the Meade cemetery at Printer.

Correction to Obituary Of George Tivis Goble

In the report of the death of George Tivis Goble in last week's Times, the name of a daughter was incorrectly listed. Her name is Mrs. Josephine Music, of Prestonsburg. The Times regrets the error.

Obituaries

Betty Jo Beatty

Mrs. Betty Jo Salisbury Beatty, 54, native of Hunter, died Tuesday, February 15, at her home in Norwalk, O., victim of a sudden illness.

Born June 12, 1928, she was a daughter of the late Hiram and Mary Salisbury. She owned and managed a ceramics shop in Norwalk and was a member of the American Ceramicists Guild. A member of the Salvation Army, she was also a member of the Salvation Home League.

Survivors include three sons, Ronald Beatty, of Mansfield, O., James Beatty, of Sandusky, O., and Robert Jones, of Casstown, O.; one daughter, Mrs. Judith Gail Evans, of Kalamazoo, Mich.; three brothers, Lloyd and Clyde Salisbury, both of Sandusky, O., Earl Salisbury, of Hunter; three sisters, Mrs. Verlie Spurlock of Dana, Mrs. Nancy Linton, of Hager Hill, Mrs. Grace LaCourse, of Sandusky, O., and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m., Friday, in the chapel of the Hall Funeral Home by the Rev. Bob Martin, and burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens.

Pallbearers were Albert Conn, Irvin Crum, Morgan Salisbury, Steve Salisbury, Walter Salisbury, and Tom Evans.

Mrs. Annie Crisp

Mrs. Annie Crisp, 87, of Hueysville, died Saturday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital following a long illness.

Born July 9, 1896, she was a daughter of the late LaFayette and Sally Wright Lewis and was a member of the United Baptist Church. Her husband, Lee Crisp, preceded her in death.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Rose Conley, of Kendallville, Ind., and Mrs. Mable Robinson, of Plainwell, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Wallen, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Attie Miller, of St. Mary's, O.; 24 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Monday in the chapel of the Hall Funeral Home by the Rev. Richard Crisp. Burial was made in the Dingus cemetery at Martin.

Elizabeth Sloane

Elizabeth Stacy Slone, 88, well-known figure at Alice Lloyd College in Knott County for several decades, died of a stroke Feb. 9 at the Knott County Health Care Center.

She was the daughter of Shady and Susan Day Stacy and was a chapter member of the Mousie Baptist Church.

Mrs. Sloane, who was known as "Elizabeth of the Mountains," worked for many years as a secretary and aide to Alice Lloyd and June Buchanan, co-founder of the college. First, at the Caney Creek Community Center, which later evolved into Caney Junior College and then Alice Lloyd College.

Mrs. Lloyd took a personal interest in Mrs. Sloane, and sent her off to finishing school when she was a young woman, said Mrs. Sloane's stepgrandson, Mike Sloane, of Mallie, Knott county.

"Mrs. Lloyd always had things for her to do," he said. "For many years she was secretary of the Caney Alumni Association."

A resident of Larkslane in Knott county, Mrs. Sloane was a onetime postmistress at Larkslane, a postoffice that was named for her husband the late Lark Sloane.

"She was extremely gentle, kind and intelligent," said Alice Lloyd librarian Charlotte Madden, who estimated that Mrs. Sloane devoted 30 to 40 years of her life to the college and programs that Mrs. Lloyd established.

At one time, Mrs. Sloane worked at the Carcassonne School, which was also founded by Mrs. Lloyd.

In addition to her stepgrandson, she is survived by two stepsons, Rev. Rush Sloane, of Larkslane and Harry Sloane, of Lexington; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Lora Moore, of Prestonsburg; nine other stepgrandchildren; 10 step-great-grandchildren; and two step-great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Feb. 11 at the Mousie Baptist Church. Officiating ministers were the Revs. Lawrence Baldrige, Drew Martin and Clyde Wicker, Jr. Burial was in the Lark Sloane cemetery at Larkslane.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Billy Ray Whitt, who died February 25, 1982, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Whitt, of Sugar Loaf.

It's always hard to give up your loved one. We gave up our father one year ago. Dad's loss is sorely felt, and how we wish he was here with us today. We all know dad was taken away from us for a reason. God always has a reason for everything. Dad, we miss your smile, warm love and presence. Dad, you're loved by all of us, and always will be. We have our memories to reflect on.

Sadly missed by family and friends

Ida Calhoun

Mrs. Ida Lafferty Calhoun, 80, of Winona Lake, Ind., died Feb. 11 at Kosciusko, Ind., Hospital, following an illness of six years.

Born July 26, 1902 in Floyd county to Fisher and Sarah Lafferty, she married Robert Calhoun March 23, 1923. He survives.

She was a member of the Water Gap Methodist Church and had resided in Winona Lake six years.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Jo Ellen Wallen and Mrs. Bobbie Elkins, both of Winona Lake, and Mrs. Anna Wallen, Ypsilanti, Mich.; one son, Woodrow Calhoun, Piercetown, Ind.; one brother, L.P. Lafferty, Willis, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Lou Ellen Porter, Ypsilanti, Mich., and Mrs. Susie Wells, of Water Gap, 14 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

Services were held Feb. 14 from the McHatton-Sadler Funeral Home, the Rev. Chad Burkhart officiating and burial was in Hillcrest cemetery, Piercetown.

Area Coal Resources More than Believed

The news wasn't too exciting, because the coal industry is currently in the doldrums, but a preliminary report of the state's coal resources noted last week that Eastern Kentucky has about 6.5 billion tons more than was believed and stands ready for any resurgence of the industry that may come.

Some of the world's most valuable coal seams are beneath the Daniel Boone National Forest in Eastern Kentucky, the study said.

At the same time, Western Kentucky mines may grow to be as important as those in Eastern Kentucky, with Hopkins county alone containing more coal than the 12-county area around London in Laurel county, according to the study.

The seven-year, $2 million study by the Kentucky Geological Survey is the first definitive estimate of Kentucky's coal resources in 20 years, staff geologists said.

The study, also sponsored by the University of Kentucky's Institute for Mines and Minerals Research, said Eastern Kentucky holds at least 40 billion tons of coal, or about 20 per cent more than the last official estimate in 1976.

In northeastern Kentucky, where mining is usually confined to a few surface operations, there is 60 percent more coal than once believed. The four counties—Greenup, Carter, Lawrence and Boyd counties—have 3.2 billion tons.

In the southwestern area, called the "southwestern district," the study found 7.4 billion tons, or about 62 percent more coal than earlier estimates. That area includes Laurel, McCreary, Whitley, Knox, Clay, Owsley, Lee, Jackson, and most of Estill, Rockcastle, Pulaski and Wayne counties.

While Pike county Kentucky leads the state in production, several Western Kentucky counties—Henderson, Union, Webster and Hopkins—have more coal. The estimated 7.8 billion tons under the four counties outranks the entire southwestern district.

In addition, the study said Western Kentucky may have more coal that is easily reached. Much of the 40 billion tons in Eastern Kentucky would probably cost too much to mine, the geologists said.

Only 8 percent of the coal in Western Kentucky has been mined, while about 15 percent has been extracted in Eastern Kentucky, the study said.

Although the news may not seem so good during the current coal slump, energy experts say the long-term outlook for coal is good and that an abundance of reliable fuel will be needed when the economy gets back on its feet.

"The larger the resources, the better the long-term indications for the economy," said William Bonker, director of coal development in the state Energy Cabinet.

The study said the coal beneath the Boone forest, which has closed to surface mining, is high in energy and low in sulfur. Private interests claim mineral rights to two-thirds of the forest, which

Federal Program Helps With Bonding Insurance

People who are unable to get or keep a job because they are not bondable can find help through a federal program administered by the Cabinet for Human Resources.

"Many employers must carry bonding insurance on their workers," said Human Resources Secretary Buddy Adams. "Often, companies that provide bonding insurance refuse to cover people who have credit problems, arrest or conviction records, less than honorable discharges from the armed services, histories of alcohol or drug abuse, or no work history."

Adams said that for those persons the Department for Manpower Services can provide $500 to $10,000 fidelity bonds at no cost to them or their employer. The bonds may cover any period up to 18 months.

"This program is designed to eliminate hiring barriers for employers and job seekers alike," he said. "Federal bonding through Manpower Services can mean getting or holding a job for some people."

According to Adams, bonding assistance may be provided to persons who are not commercially bondable, and are qualified for a job that has been offered to them. "The job must offer steady employment, adequate working conditions and wages, plus a reasonable expectation of permanence in that position," he added. Self-employment does not qualify someone to participate in this program.

Through the Department for Manpower Services, almost $700,000 in fidelity bond insurance coverages has been provided to Kentucky employers since 1971, said Adams.

Adams encourages job seekers or employers needing assistance in obtaining bonding coverage to contact their area Manpower Services office. The office serving Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties is located on North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, and the phone number is 886-2396.

African Dinner Planned

Highlands Regional Medical Center's "Meals Around the World" program presents an exotic dining experience with foods from Africa. The special lunch will be held on Thursday, February 24, in the HRMC Cafeteria from 12:15-2p.m.

The menu will offer South African rock lobster, baked beef curry, fried okra, African sweet potato salad, topical fruit dessert, chocolate pineapple cake and much more. All items will be individually priced.

The public is welcomed to join the Highlands Regional staff in sampling the foods of Africa.

Gas Price Ruling Leaves PSC Unhappy with Situation

The state Public Service Commission is unhappy with a situation that could allow unregulated prices to be charged for natural gas drilled from 40-year-old wells in eastern Kentucky.

In an order issued recently the PSC reluctantly approved an application from the Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Co. to have nearly 3,000 of its wells classified as Devonian Shale wells.

Such a classification would mean that the company could charge whatever it wants for gas obtained from those wells. Kentucky-West Virginia Gas vice president Raymond Stewart said the company is seeking a rate of $3.50 per cubic foot.

The PSC said it had no choice but to approve the classifications. However, in a five-page order, the PSC noted "This finding is a source of frustration to the commission."

The 1978 federal Natural Gas Policy Act allows unregulated prices for gas from wells drilled in geological formations, such as Devonian Shale, that are difficult and costly to permeate.

The PSC action now goes to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, which will make a final determination. The Kentucky commission's only authority is to determine if the wells are in the proper geological formation.

The FERC had been allowing the unregulated prices only on newer wells drilled after 1973. However, the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans in late 1981 overturned a lower court ruling and said any wells, no matter how old, that come under the classification are to be deregulated.

That ruling is being appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which is expected to have a decision this summer.

"The commission is of the opinion that exorbitant profits for producers and transporters of natural gas are unwarranted and unduly burdensome for natural gas consumers and unduly burdensome for natural gas consumers and questions laws which allow such profits and resulting consumer burdens," the PSC said in its order.

"Because the commission is of the opinion that the statutes as interpreted by the 5th Circuit are inequitable and detrimental to the public welfare, the commission has approved the applications with regret."

While the law is aimed at encouraging the production of gas in hard-to-get-to areas, the PSC contended that many of Kentucky-West Virginia's wells have already paid for themselves.

About half of the wells were drilled in the 1930s and 1940s.

"These wells cost less to drill 40 years ago than do wells today and have, doubtless, been profitable to Kentucky-West Virginia since they began producing," the PSC order said.

Kentucky-West Virginia began charging higher, unregulated rates, Oct. 1, 1982 and put another increase into effect on Nov. 1. In some cases the rates for some of its wholesale customers jumped by nearly 150 percent.

However, at an informal hearing before the PSC in December, company vice president Raymond Stewart said Kentucky-West Virginia was rolling back its rates to the pre-Oct. 1 level—$1.60 per cubic foot—pending a ruling by the Supreme Court.

In the meantime, Stewart said Kentucky-West Virginia has filed another request with FERC for a rate increase to go into effect March 1. That increase would lift the price to $3.35.

FERC has not ruled on that request yet, Stewart said. But he said ultimately the decision was the Supreme Court's. If FERC approves the higher rate and then the Supreme Court rules in favor of PSC, Kentucky-West Virginia's rate would drop below the $2 level, he said.

"But I think that everyone should remember that even if the Supreme Court rules in our favor, $3.50 for natural gas is still a good bargain," Stewart said. "That's equivalent to getting oil at $20 a barrel."

Kentucky-West Virginia is a wholesale gas supplier that sells to two pipeline companies and to 13 municipalities in eastern Kentucky, including Hazard, Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

The commission urged Kentucky-West Virginia to limit any rate increase that may result from the classification. The PSC warned Kentucky-West Virginia that, should the Supreme Court reverse the Louisiana case, it will require the utility to reduce its rates "to the more reasonable cost of service level and to make refunds with interest as appropriate."

The commission also warned that if Congress or the FERC take any action to broaden the authority of state commissions in the pricing of interstate natural gas, it would consider taking appropriate action.

Meanwhile on Monday a legislative subcommittee directed its staff to begin working on draft legislation to address another gas pricing issue—so-called "take or pay" contracts.

Such contracts lock natural gas transmission companies into buying higher priced gas under long-term contracts that were negotiated when there was a shortage of gas a few years ago.

The companies would have to pay for the gas, even if they don't use it and it reduces their ability to seek out lower priced gas.

Rep. Ken Harper, R-Lakeside Park, said such contracts "are one of the most difficult problems" legislators will face in addressing the issue of rising natural gas prices.

Treatment Center Holds Open House

A vaporizer is an excellent aid for relief when congestion impedes breathing. Simply put, these small, portable units operate much like a tea kettle. When liquid is placed in the correct chamber, it heats to the boiling point by an electrical element. When the steam is loaded with medication, the patient is able to directly inhale the soothing vapors. They provide much needed moisture to dry, inflamed nose and throat tissues. When left on all night in a patient's bedroom, a vaporizer can also safely humidify the air to a comfortable level. Unlike humidifiers, vaporizers permit direct inhalation of medicated, healing vapors.

If your child is suffering from congestion due to a cold, and having difficulty sleeping at night, you might want to put a vaporizer in the bedroom. The added moisture will give your child a good night's sleep. At COOLEY APOTHECARY, INC. we're here for you and your family's health. ★ GOOD NEWS REPORT ★

Her name was Emma. She was an elderly black lady unencumbered with life's material possessions. No one knew how she travelled from New York City to Washington, D.C., only that one morning in the bitter chill of February she was there.

Dr. Veronica Maz, founder of the House of Ruth, a hostel for women in need of help, was told of Emma's arrival by some of the men who made their homes in abandoned autos in a former parking lot behind the hotels. They didn't think it right or proper that a woman of Emma's age and condition should be living in the rusted hulk of an automobile. Neither did Veronica. She offered Emma the hospitality of the House of Ruth, but Emma said, "No, thank you." And that was all she had to say.

She settled down in a vehicle whose interior had been stripped. The men brought cardboard from packing crates and fashioned a floor of sorts. They filled in the empty window spaces and did what they could to make the car's shell a dwelling. Emma's only warmth was a thin overcoat. Yet with that and little else she managed. She decorated the interior with faded family photographs and old newspaper clippings. What little food she ate was supplied by the men around her who were worried about her frailty. Daily, Veronica brought her a cup of soup and a jar of water.

It was the water that made them friends. A board member for the House of Ruth complained about the waste of a dripping outdoor faucet and announced she would have the water supply cut off. Emma overheard Veronica's spirited defense of the need for the water. It was basic, she argued, to those living in the area, not only for drinking but washing as well. When Veronica turned away she saw Emma smiling a toothless grin of approval through the open window of her car.

After that Veronica visited Emma several times a day, just to sit and talk. Emma had nothing to say about herself. Mostly she talked about God as a personal friend who was with her always. Veronica found that Emma's personality exuded a special kind of warmth that refreshed her in her own endeavor. She had never known anyone quite like her.

The cold months went by, and in early April one of the men came to Dr. Maz and said that Emma would like to borrow $80. Veronica was able to obtain that amount, but the request puzzled her; it was so out of character. She planned to query Emma the next day. But the next day Emma was gone. She had wanted to say good-bye, had waited until the last minute, the men told Veronica, but the bus she was taking would not wait. Emma's card-walling neighbors had taken her to the station and bade her farewell.

Veronica thought she might receive a card from Emma, but there was nothing—nothing until the following October when Ezekiel arrived. He was 18 years old and one of Emma's great-grandsons. He had come to repay the borrowed money for the bus fare to the town in Alabama to which Emma had returned. She had been away from home for more than 30 years, had gone north to New York to earn money to send to her family. She had finally come back because she knew she was dying, and she wished to be among her people. Ezekiel said she was 92 when she passed peacefully away.

He had volunteered to bring back the money and had done so, working his way, job by job, to Washington. At Veronica's insistence he remained with her for three days but only on the condition that he work for her at the House of Ruth. He had a fine manner and a look in his eye that reminded Veronica of Emma. He said he wanted to be a preacher, but now he had to leave so he could get home to help his father and brothers with the crops. When he left Veronica presented him with a striking religious banner that had been sewn by the Catholic Order of the Poor Clares. She asked that it be presented to the family's church in memory of Emma, a remarkable little lady who had stopped to rest awhile on her long journey home.

★ KENTUCKY AFIELD ★

Most fishermen are glad that February is the shortest month of the year, since it means that spring, and spring fishing, are just that much closer.

However, once an angler discovers that February fishing can be productive in Kentucky, he just might wish the month had a few more days. If you feel a bad case of cabin fever coming on, why not put on several layers of warm clothes and give winter fishing a try.

One key to February fishing is knowing which species you should devote your attention to. While you might be a dedicated largemouth bass angler most of the year, you should realize that your chances of seeing some action—and some fish on your stringer—are much better if you direct your angling efforts toward a fish that is more active in cold water than is the largemouth.

Ol' bucketmouth's little cousin, the smallmouth, is a likely candidate for the bass angler's attention, since the fishermen will probably already have an assortment of small jigs (mostly in basic black) and the tackle to work them with. Devote your attention to steep, rocky walls and fish slow and along the bottom.

If you live near a dam on one of our major rivers, you've probably got a sauger hot spot right in your backyard. Sauger spawn very early in the spring and have probably already made their way upstream to the base of these dams, where they mill around, just waiting for a jig tipped with a minnow to swim by. Again, fish as close to the bottom as you can get and if you catch one sauger, work the area thoroughly, since there will probably be more of these schooling fish in the same vicinity.

Although less widely distributed in Kentucky than the sauger, the walleye is another prime candidate for the winter fisherman's live well. Check out the headwater areas of Cumberland, Nolin and Rough River lakes, particularly after the first relatively warm rain raises water temperatures in feeder streams.

And don't forget riprap areas in these lakes—walleyes don't necessarily have to run upstream to spawn. In fact, the walleye in the lower sections of our larger lakes probably don't even know that there is a river 20 or 30 miles upstream, so they go ahead and spawn on gravel bars or on the rocky face of dams and bridge fills.

If you live near, or want to travel to, Laurel or Cumberland lakes, you can give trout fishing a try. This time of year, trout are near the surface and can be taken by casting or trolling shallow to medium runners. One advantage to trolling, the winter fisherman soon discovers, is that he can put his rod in a rod holder and his hands in a warm pocket.

The hotspot for trout fishing right now is below the dam at Cumberland, where four-to five-pound trout aren't uncommon and where a limit of eight fish is fairly easy to come by. You should be extra careful there, however, since generators in the dam can turn on without warning and create strong currents and rapidly rising water levels.

As soon as the ice gets off Cave Run Lake, the musky fisherman can start stalking this toothy trophy. Muskies remain fairly active in cold water and on warm days can sometimes be spotted basking in the sun near the surface.

Although crappie are technically warm-water fish, experienced winter anglers who know where to find schools of these fish come back to the dock with some fine catches. During the winter, crappie school in deep water and once the fish are located, catching a mess usually isn't a problem.

Even bluegill can be induced to bite in the winter, as Kentucky's few ice fishermen can show. Fish in the deepest part of the pond or lake, use very light tackle and fish slowly near the bottom.

One last work about winter fishing—be careful. Cold water is extremely dangerous and survival time is measured in minutes. Wear a life jacket and don't take unnecessary chances. Also remember that our lakes are essentially deserted this time of year, so be sure to tell someone where you're going and leave instructions to sent out search parties if you aren't back by a certain time.

Four Named To Head College Fund Drive

Ron Taylor, director of development at Pikeville College, has announced that the college has named four outstanding community leaders to head its local fundraising campaign for the 1982-83 year. Those named were William J. Baird, III, Harding E. Dawahare, Judge Paul E. Patton, and Dr. Maurice E. Bailey.

Mr. Baird well-known Pikeville attorney and trustee of Pikeville College, is leading a group of volunteers in soliciting local individuals, asking for their support. Harding Dawahare is asking local businesses to pledge their support as Dawahare's, Inc., has done for many years. Patton, Pike county judge executive and a trustee at Pikeville College, has volunteered his time to lead a campaign involving coal-related businesses in Pikeville. Dr. Bailey, a Pikeville College faculty member and past director of the mining technology program, is leading an effort to encourage giving by the faculty and staff at the college.

THE JENNY WILEY TRAIL passes over, around and through many interesting rock formations as it follows ridgelines all the way from Jenny Wiley State Park to the Ohio River. Convenient access to the trail, is provided near the state park campground at Goble Branch.

The more education a woman has, the greater the likelihood that she will seek paid employment, says a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor's Women's Bureau. Among women with 4 or more years of college, about 3 out of 5 were in the work force in 1981.

Attention!

All Democratic Voters
in Floyd, Perry, Knott & Martin counties:

RAY TURNER FOR SENATOR

The freedom to choose the men and women we send to Frankfort to make our laws is one of our most precious rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States. The person we vote for can change the way we live, can change the way we earn our living, can change the way our money is taxed and can change the way our children are educated.

Today is the day to start thinking about the person we will be sending to Frankfort as our next senator. Are we really satisfied with the way things are?

(Feb. 20-March 20) This is a good week to get out and paint the town! Don't let a recent empty feeling stop you from having a good time.

Small Cities Grant Planning Under Way

The state Department of Economic Development is preparing for a new fiscal year for the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program.

The department will have $21.5 million to grant to Kentucky's smaller communities for federal fiscal year 1983, which started Oct. 1, 1982.

The funds are divided into economic development, housing and public facilities program areas. In the economic development fund, a community uses the grant money to make a low-interest loan or a grant to finance a job-stimulating project, like the construction of a rail spur to serve a new industry. The 20 such projects funded last year will lead to the creation or retention of 3,036 jobs within the next two years.

Housing grants are aimed toward housing renovation in low-income areas. Nine such grants were made last year. The public facilities category, which numbered 11 grants last year, covers funds to build or replace community water, sewer or gas lines.

Dale Smith, department commissioner, said grants are made on the basis of matters like need, cost effectiveness and other sources of financing. The program is administered by the department's Office of Community Development.

Among changes in this year's program is an increase in the maximum amount of a grant. For economic development, the new limit is $1 million per grant, up from $750,000. For housing and public facilities, the maximum is $650,000, an increase of $150,000 from last year.

The $21.5 million is divided this way: $7.5 million for economic development; $7.5 million for public facilities; and $6.4 million for housing.

Sally Hamilton, who heads the community development office, noted the state has held training sessions for public officials to acquaint them with program changes. Sessions were held in Owensboro, Fort Mitchell and Somerset early this month. The deadline for public facilities and housing applications is April 11, she said. After all applications are received, the office will form two, three-member teams to examine and rank the applications. The office hopes to announce the recipients in early June.

If experience is a good predictor, the supply of funds won't meet demand, Commissioner Smith said. Some 20 applications were funded last year, out of nearly 200 submitted.

For economic development grants, applications will be accepted throughout the calendar year. Those applications will be reviewed monthly by a committee consisting of department staff, legislators and private businesspeople. In 1982, 20 of 41 applications were selected for funding.

(Floyd county officials have indicated they intend to file for one economic development grant of about $200,000. The money would finance the laying of water and sewer lines from Prestonsburg to the site of a planned motel on Katy Friend.)

Happy Birthday,
Rita

ASK YOUR ACCOUNTANT!

Should I open an Individual Retirement Account?

That's a question that many people have asked us in the past twelve months. The answer is probably no if you have your retirement arranged so that you can live a life-style in retirement that will allow you to do all the travel, hunting, fishing, and relaxing that you have always wanted to do while working. However, you may not have all your financial arrangements made to live that life-style. We are of the opinion that your social security benefits will not provide the life-style that most people desire. Ask your accountant about a First Commonwealth Individual Retirement Account. You can now deposit up to $2,000.00 per year in the IRA if you are employed. This account could grow to a several hundred thousand dollar retirement fund. Best of all your contribution is tax deferred as well as the interest it earns. You can still take advantage of this opportunity on your 1982 tax return if you have not filed. Ask your accountant. An Individual Retirement Account may be your condo in Florida or a cabin in the mountains or a carefree trip to Europe. Let us give you all the details today.

Substantial Penalty For Early Withdrawal

The Baptist Controversy

By WILMAY

Leading denominations continue to wrangle over heresies. Many lose pastors and/or congregations because of encroaching liberalism. The Lutherans split over conservatism and liberalism. Some join other faiths or start new cults. One says God has no gender, another that Jesus was black. Some divide over ordaining gays, or women as deacons or ministers.

Like most, Southern Baptists, the largest U.S. Protestant body, has its problems. Its current dilemma finds Arkansas Baptists requesting Southern Seminary, Louisville, to dismiss a professor there 41 years, because he denies eternal security, a Baptist tenet.

Even worse heresies exist. Dr. George Redding, once pastor of Prestonsburg First Baptist, and former head of the Religion Dept. of Georgetown College, wrote: "A member of the staff of a famous Southern Baptist university said to me, 'Of the professors in our Religion Dept. I am sure none of the others believes in the virgin birth of Jesus.' In another Baptist school a professor of Religion teaches that Jesus is not the only way, that other great religions provide ways of eternal salvation." (WESTERN RECORDER, 5-12-73. Used with permission.)

Robert Alley, head of the Dept. of Religion in Richmond university, (Baptist), told a group that Jesus never claimed to be God or to be related to him. (Direct defiance of scripture.) Alley was only demoted, and most of the faculty urged retaining him. The widely used BROADMAN BIBLE COMMENTARIES blatantly deny many scriptures and sow doubt. Vol. I, GENESIS, page 107 says: "It is equally obvious that God did not dictate the passages to the writers of scripture. Countless verses say He did. The same volume falsifies about the Flood: The biblical account does not demand that every foot of earth be covered with water. The essential claim is that the water covered all the inhabited earth. P. 139. Gen.7:19 disproves this. In the same volume EXODUS writer, now president of Southern Seminary, mutilates the number of Israelites the Bible says left Egypt, lists possible unbiblical reasons for the burning bush, the Red Sea passage, and the ten plagues. Quote: The water turned to literal blood; blood was used to describe its reddish color, or the term was used in a nonliteral sense by a later writer. The reality of the event likely rests in the second or third alternative, with the third probably, though not certainly, the better option. P. 336. The first is scriptural and true, but the writer believes 2 or 3, preferably 3 he says. How absurd! If the word, "blood", was used nonliterally that plague never occurred in the first place. (Quotations as follows: Clyde T. Francisco and Roy L. Honeycutt, Jr., THE BROADMAN BIBLE COMMENTARY, Vol. I, Nashville, Broadman Press. Used with permission.)

Quotes are out of context but no change in meaning. Read for yourselves. Scripture declares the plagues, etc. were supernatural acts of God. We should believe it. Saddest aspect about the S.B. dilemma is that Kentucky Baptists did not do what our New Orleans Seminary did when a professor was teaching contrary to the Word. We have had so much biased liberalism in literature, Baptist publications, news, etc. that some are almost totally unaware of what is happening, so thank God for Arkansas, as some say. Some are uninformed and others dislike to be called schismatics or trouble-makers, forgetting that Jesus, Paul, Luther, Wesley, and Spurgeon were all dissidents because of unorthodox teachings in their time. As for the liberals who now call themselves moderates, God says in Rev. 3:15-16 to be hot or cold, not lukewarm or he would spue us out of his mouth. He loathes double-mindedness.

Jesus was the Word made flesh, his resurrection the greatest victory in history. God protected him and he has always protected his Word. Men have sought to destroy it since the earliest days. It is still the best seller in the world.
