COAL TRUCKS SEEM to turn over a lot. At least this was the case last Wednesday when a tractor-trailer rig hauling for an Ashland firm overturned at the Lakewood Coal Sales tipple on old KY 80 near Garrett. The driver, who said he was on his first "run" to this county, said one side of the road gave way throwing the loaded truck off balance. Although there were no injuries, forty tons of coal were dumped along the road as a result. A second overturned coal truck was reported Saturday on four-lane KY 80 near Garrett where traffic was said to have been tied up for some time.

Two Roads, 9 Bridges In Plans for County

Although they are mere lines on paper now and in some instances may be six or seven years away from construction, two road construction projects and nine bridge replacement jobs are envisioned for Floyd county in the new Highway and Bridge Program announced last week by the state Department of Transportation. They would cost almost $20 million.

Many a slip may lie between the listing of projects and the day when work begins, however. First, the General Assembly must approve the overall program. Then there is the money squeeze attendant upon the economic recession. And, soon, there will be a new governor. All these are factors in what actually happens.

But, as Ed Patton, manager of the Pikeville district, Department of Transportation, pointed out last week in discussing the prospects for US 23 four-laning, "We've got our foot in the door."

These are the projects listed in the new construction program:

Highway Construction

—US 23 from Prestonsburg to the Johnson county line, 6 miles, $600,000 for design, possibly beginning in 1985, $2,500,000 for rights-of-way, $500,000 utilities changes, and $8,400,000 for construction. Completion date is tentatively set for 1990.

—Cliff housing access road and road from KY 1428 on Little Paint to Stephens Branch, $960,000. The contract is expected soon and construction is scheduled next year.

Bridge Replacement

—Old bridge across the Big Sandy at Allen, design this year, construction next year, $2,491,000.

—Bridge across the Big Sandy at Cliff, $2,391,000, construction in 1984.

—The "twin bridges" at Martin, $1,858,000, construction in 1988.

—German bridge in the headwaters of Dewey Lake, $77,000, reported ready for work.

—Bridge across Right Beaver Creek, locally known as the Midas bridge, $853,000, planned for 1988.

—Bridge spanning Left Beaver Creek, 1.5 miles south of KY 122, $85,000, planned for 1987.

—Bridge on Turkey Creek .3 miles southeast of KY 80, $125,000, scheduled for 1988.

—Two stone culverts, 2.1 and 2.5 miles west of the Pike.

Summer Theatre To Honor Chandler

Former Kentucky Governor, U.S. Senator, and Baseball Commissioner A.B. "Happy" Chandler will be honored at the August 10 performance of ANNIE at the Jenny Wiley Theatre with a celebration of his 85th birthday.

Governor Chandler will be introduced to the audience at about 8:20 p.m. He will speak briefly and sing some of his favorite songs. The theatre and the audience will then join in wishing him a happy birthday.

Chandler began his distinguished public service career with a term in the Kentucky State Senate from 1930 to 1931. He then served as lieutenant governor from 1931 to 1935 and as governor from 1935 to 1939. He served Kentucky as U.S. Senator from 1939 to 1945 when he became commissioner of baseball, a post he held for six years. In 1955 he began a second 4-year term as governor. Since that time he has been an ambassador of goodwill for the state, and has been elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Bond of Marshall Set at $1 Million

Formally charged with "unlawfully conspiring with Bobby McGuffey and Ed Wright to murder Glenda Marshall," Clyde Douglas Marshall, 31, husband of the slain woman, was held under $1 million bond Tuesday morning by District Judge Harold Stumbo.

When the defendant pleaded his financial inability to employ an attorney, the court ordered his financial status investigated prior to the possible designation of the Public Defender to represent Marshall.

The Ed Wright named in the charge is the man who was shot to death in Tennessee July 8. It was not learned why he was named as a conspirator and Carl McFarland, one of the three men arrested, was not named.

Marshall voluntarily turned himself in to State Police Monday night.

Officers Claim Teacher Death 'Contract' Job

State Police detectives have decided that the death of Glenda Sharon Marshall, whose body was found June 20 in the fire-gutted wreckage of a car on Sizemore mountain in this county, was a "contract" job, with paid killers committing the actual crime.

As a result, three men are in jail—all accused of complicity to murder Mrs. Marshall, 35, McDowell High School teacher and member of a well-known Floyd county family.

In jail here, with bonds totalling $1 million asked for his release, is Carl Harold McFarland, 58, of Glasgow, and Clyde Douglas Marshall, husband of the victim.

The third prisoner, Bobby McGuffey, 30, of Lafayette, Tenn., is being held in Lafayette without bond, and State Police Detective Danny Stumbo and the office of Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen began Monday the procedure to have him extradited to this county.

McGuffey, authorities said, is a brother or a half-brother of the husband of the victim.

Marshall came here Monday night and surrendered. He was expected to be arraigned in district court Tuesday morning.

Both of his alleged confederates in the slaying of Mrs. Marshall maintain their innocence and deny having been in the county at the time of the teacher's death.

Relatives of the victim expressed a deep sense of relief on learning that arrests have been made in the case.

The arrests follow weeks of patient, sometimes unrewarding, digging for bits of evidence by State Detective Stumbo and others. They began with the findings made by Dr. David Wolf, state pathologist, on the Sizemore mountain roadway where the auto containing the woman's body came to rest after a flaming descent of more than 100 feet. Dr. Wolf announced that Mrs. Marshall had been killed by a blow to the head from a blunt instrument, possibly a hammer, before the auto plunged over the mountainside. The car reportedly had been drenched with gasoline. Identification of the victim was difficult.

With these bare facts, Detective Stumbo, assisted by Detective Roger Castle, Detective Sgt. Gary Rose and others, began the work of identifying the slayer or slayers.

Brother-in-Law Of Victim Jailed

A 38-year-old Bypro man died of gunshot wounds following a confrontation at the home of his brother-in-law around 11:15 last Wednesday night. His alleged assailant has been charged with manslaughter.

Coroner Roger Nelson said that Maurice Ray Collins died of two bullet wounds from a .22-caliber pistol. One of the bullets punctured the man's heart, the coroner reported.

Collins' brother-in-law, Johnny Perkins, 33, was booked at the county jail on a murder warrant. The charge was later reduced to manslaughter, however.

According to witnesses, Collins approached the residence in Bypro occupied by Perkins, his wife, and their nine-year-old daughter late Wednesday night. A neighbor was reportedly also in the house at the time.

When Collins came, cursing and threatening, as far as the front porch, Perkins opened the door, shots were fired and Collins fell, it was said. He was dead on arrival a short time later at McDowell Hospital. Collins is not thought to have been armed at the time of his death.

The two men are reported to have been feuding for about 18 months. On May 14 this year, Collins swore out a warrant charging Perkins with wanton endangerment. Perkins fired at him, a shot hitting his truck, Collins alleged.

Perkins was still in jail here Tuesday in lieu of a $10,000 property bond. A construction worker, Collins was born June 23, 1945, a son of the late Hatler and Druch Johnson Collins. He is survived by his wife, Arinda Bryant Collins; three sons, Hatler Douglas, Greg, and Egory Collins; four daughters, Betty Ann, Arlene, Karen, and Hazel Collins; and a sister, Susanna Collins, all of Bypro.

Funeral rites were conducted at 11 a.m. Sunday at the Wheelwright Free Will Baptist Church by the Rev. Louis Perkins. Burial was made in the Honey Camp cemetery at Halo under direction of the Merion Funeral Chapel.

Banks Would Collect Solid Waste Loans

Confidence in the county's solid waste system appeared to have dropped to a new low last week, as two Prestonsburg bankers scrambled to get their money out of the agency.

At issue were bank loans of $50,000 from the First Commonwealth Bank, $40,000 from the Bank Josephine, and $15,000 from the First Guaranty Bank in Martin. Robert McAninch, board chairman and president of Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc., wanted to refinance the notes. But First Commonwealth President Burl Wells Spurlock and Bank Josephine President H.D. Fitzpatrick, Jr. said they wanted the notes paid off.

The matter came to a head when McAninch asked the fiscal court last Tuesday to spend $52,500 in revenue-sharing funds to make interest payments on the loans. The money had been budgeted for that purpose and the banks had agreed to the plan, he said.

Spurlock denied that First Commonwealth had agreed to refinance its loan. "There is a great possibility of default on the bonds," he said, in reference to the $1.5 million in revenue bonds which originally financed the solid waste system. "I am going to put in that we get our note paid off."

If any loan is to be paid off, it should be the Bank Josephine's, Fitzpatrick argued, since three of the fiscal court magistrates had personally guaranteed payment on that note. Magistrates Lowell Samons, Ed Caudill and Kenneth Roberts were said to have signed for the loan, although Roberts was the only magistrate pressing at the meeting to have the note paid off.

State Local Government Advisor Al Howell, whose office is monitoring Floyd finances, assured the bankers that "we're going to make sure everyone gets what is coming to them." Federal revenue-sharing funds, which are paid in July, October, January and April, will be turned over to the solid waste agency to pay off the bank notes, he said.

Any attempt to pay off the notes immediately could find the county "broke in September," Howell said. "We would (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

With that profound observation off my chest, let me turn to a subject that you might say is on the dark side—namely, the common but extraordinary crow. More particularly, Tojo the Crow who has adopted most of the folks on a Martin street.

3 Draw Terms For Safe Theft

Three men involved in the October, 1981 theft of a safe containing $6000 from Druther's Restaurant in Martin were sentenced in circuit court Friday.

Charles Doug Sexton, 25, was sentenced to one year in jail on each of two counts of receiving stolen property, the two jail terms to run concurrently. His brother, Tommy Sexton, 19, was sentenced to two years on a burglary charge. And Henry Napier, 19, received a one year sentence for burglary.

"I've changed a lot. I've settled down. I'm trying to do right," Napier told Circuit Judge Hollie Conley, in a plea for probation. "I'd like to go back home." But Judge Conley, noting that the break-in was premeditated and that Napier had previously been in trouble with the law, said a prison term was necessary. The fact that some people had sought to sway him in favor of probation did not help Napier's cause, the judge added.

Kenneth Bolen, 33, one of three Indiana men caught with 10 pounds of marijuana in the trunk of their car on Salt Lick last November, received a two-year sentence in return for his guilty plea. Bolen's two confederates had earlier received sentences of four years and one year, respectively.

Bank Wins a Round In Site Legal Fight

In what is becoming a lengthy and complex legal battle, the First Commonwealth Bank won a round last week over Garland and Wonnell Godsey, Arnold Avenue residents who have been fighting for three years to block the bank's plans to build there.

In a decision handed down last Thursday, Circuit Judge Hollie Conley rejected the Godseys' argument that the Floyd County Joint Planning Commission and Prestonsburg City Council had acted "arbitrarily and capriciously" in rezoning three Arnold Avenue tracts from residential to commercial.

Instead, the judge was persuaded by the bank's contention that the joint planning commission itself has no legal standing or authority.

In a 22-page brief submitted on their behalf by Robin Griffin, of the Lexington law firm of Miller, Griffin and Marks, the Godseys claimed that, in arriving at its decision to recommend the zoning change, the joint planning commission lacked a quorum on one occasion and met in an illegal secret session on another. In acting on the planning commission's recommendation, the city council made no findings that would warrant a zoning change, they argued.

But that argument was radically undercut by Cliff Latta, representing the bank, who said that, ever since it was set up in 1975, the joint planning commission has not conformed to law and that its actions are invalid.

The commission never adopted by-laws, has not properly maintained records, and has not met regularly, Latta noted. "It is a non-entity," he said.

In the absence of a legal countywide planning body, the city of Prestonsburg may rightly make its own zoning decisions and any deficiencies in the procedure followed by the Floyd County Joint Planning Commission did not affect the validity of the city's decision in February to rezone the Arnold Avenue properties on which First Commonwealth intends to erect its main office building, the bank's attorney contended.

A bright, new steeple is prepared for placement as a finishing touch to the five-year-old Pine Grove Baptist Church building at Price. The steeple was made and donated to the church by the congregation of the First Baptist Church of Mayfield, and transported here Saturday from that far-western Kentucky community by seven Mayfield church members.

The two churches have enjoyed a special relationship for more than two years, ever since the relatively large Mayfield church "sort of took us under their wing," according to Pine Grove member Jim Page. Page said on several occasions the Mayfield church had sent up members, including two engineers, a high school principal and other professional people to help with various projects at Price. "They've just been wonderful to us," Page commented.

During Saturday's project, local church members joined with the Mayfield residents to erect the steeple and Page said two other Pine Grove residents, Gary Bryant and Alvin Little, were also "real helpful." Completion of the work was celebrated with a sizeable dinner on the grounds.

That argument did not sit well with the Godseys, who said that, since bank representatives have in the past gone along with the procedures of the joint planning commission, they can hardly question the commission's standing now.

"The bank's attempt to abolish planning and zoning in Prestonsburg can have a monumental effect on this community," their attorney argued. "If the court sustains the bank's position, then immediately a gas station or drive-in restaurant could be constructed next to any residence in town."

Dr. Godsey, a Prestonsburg dentist, said he had not heard of last Thursday's decision until told by a reporter Monday. Asked whether he and his wife would appeal the decision, he said they would "wait and see."

The present suit is the second filed by the Godseys in relation to the rezoning of the three riverfront properties, one of which is the site of the old Garfield place. After First Commonwealth successfully petitioned to have the tracts rezoned in 1980, the Godseys had the decision overturned by an August, 1981 circuit court ruling.

The bank again petitioned to have the properties rezoned last November, a request the city council granted on Feb. 28 this year.

It was quickly learned that an unidentified person had seen a man leap from the car before it went over the hillside and that others, also unnamed, had seen a blood-spattered man jump into a blue automobile with another man and drive away.

But nobody could identify the man or the driver of the car.

Detective Stumbo declined this week to disclose sources of information, or what that information was. At any rate, what he learned took him and Detective Castle to Lafayette, Tenn., in early July. They learned that a car—possibly the blue car—had been repainted there.

Last Tuesday, Stumbo and Rose made a second trip to Lafayette. Some of Mrs. Marshall's jewelry was known to be missing, and there the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation told them that an informant had reported having seen some rings. Stumbo and Rose interviewed the TBI informant, and statements from others followed.

It was then that McFarland was detained and taken to Frankfort for a polygraph test. McGuffey was arrested at about the same time by Bowling Green police, and Detective Stumbo telephoned Detective Castle and Sgt. Robert Elliot to procure a warrant here for the arrest of Marshall.

Stumbo said he knows the motives for the murder but declined to reveal them.

Investigators also have been interested in the slaying of a man named Ed Wright, July 8, shortly after the first visit to Lafayette of the State Police officers. Wright and McFarland were partners in a business at Hillsdale, Tenn., that they called a cabinet shop. It was near this shop that Wright was killed, allegedly by Edward "Bull" Bergdorf, 36, shortly after Wright, Bergdorf, McFarland and a woman had driven to the shop.

"God told me to destroy all evil—and you are evil," Bergdorf was quoted as saying as he fired five shots from a .25-caliber automatic into Wright's body.

Both McGuffey and McFarland have criminal records. The million-dollar total of bonds asked for McFarland by District Judge Harold J. Stumbo Monday included $500,000 on the complicity to commit murder charge and $500,000 as a persistent felon offender.

Asks To Clarify Story

A front page story which appeared in the July 20 edition of The Times recounted an incident last October 11 in which Gregory Randall Newsome was wounded after being fired upon by Tommy Cole. The article pointed out that the shooting followed a dispute over Cole's wife. Although that statement was accurate in reference to the time of the incident, it has been requested that The Times point out that Cole and his wife were divorced in December, 1982 and that she was subsequently married to Newsome in February of this year.

Election Finance Registry To Audit Stumbo Finances

When the state Registry of Election Finance announced last Wednesday that it will audit Dr. Grady Stumbo's finance records before deciding if it will investigate loans to his gubernatorial campaign, his attorney, State Rep. Gregory Stumbo, replied that Dr. Stumbo has no fear of an audit, has nothing to hide and will cooperate fully with it.

Meanwhile, he expressed an interest in the financing procedures of Harvey Sloan in his 1979 run for the Democratic nomination for governor. He has maintained that Sloan and other candidates have made loans to their campaign committees—most using borrowed money—just as Dr. Stumbo did.

The audit of Stumbo's campaign books will be placed "at the top of the roster," said registry chairman Charles Beach Jr. of Beattyville and should be finished in three to six weeks.

Kent Brown, a registry member from Lexington, noted the absence of a complaint in suggesting that the registry await the audit results before taking any action.

"At this hour we have only read the newspapers," Brown said, adding that the registry had not independently obtained information warranting an investigation.

The questions that immediately arose focused on how Stumbo could have secured loans exceeding his net worth and on where he got the money.

For weeks Stumbo declined to respond to those questions, maintaining that the loans were legal, personal transactions.

Last week, Stumbo disclosed that he had borrowed $200,000 from B.F. Reed, of Drift, a retired coal operator, and $100,000 from Howard Norrell, of Frankfort, the owner of a cable television company who also was finance coordinator of Stumbo's campaign.

Stumbo said he secured the interest-free loans using his ownership of a trucking company, an office building and a consumer-products distribution company.

The question that now faces the registry is whether the loans constituted a violation of a state law limiting individual contributions to $3,000 a person.

The law defines a campaign loan as a contribution.

But Stumbo and his aides have maintained that the loans Stumbo received were made to him rather than to his campaign committee. A loan to the committee, in their view, would have constituted a violation of the law.

State Rep. Greg Stumbo of Prestonsburg, who served as his cousin's attorney during the campaign, continues to make that argument, saying the practice was similar to the liquidation of personal assets, a system used by many candidates to finance their campaigns.

Magistrates' Right To Hire Workers, Basis of Dispute

Floyd fiscal court members and state Finance Cabinet officials may be again on a collision course. The issue, as Magistrate Ed Caudill defined it in a special meeting of the court yesterday (Tuesday), is that magistrates be able to "hire who we want to."

That won't do, said State Local Finance Officer Robert L. Purdom in a telephone interview after Tuesday's court meeting. Magistrates cannot "go out on their own" and hire people; rather, their job is to vote on personnel recommended by the county judge-executive, he said.

When it comes to hiring road workers in this county, however, it is expected that the judge-executive will follow the wishes of the individual magistrates. That is how it has traditionally been done and that was how it was done on June 17, when the court hired 19 road workers from lists submitted by the four magistrates.

What brought the matter to a head this time was that the list submitted by District 2 Magistrate Kenneth Roberts included his daughter, Vickie Martin, who was hired as a $6.50-an-hour heavy equipment operator. Hers was the only hiring not approved by Purdom's office.

The state's refusal to approve the hiring of Mrs. Martin prompted a fiscal court resolution Tuesday which "demands a written explanation (from the Dept. of Local Finance) as to any reasons it may have for denial of said approval."

The denial was a threat to the magistrates' customary prerogatives, argued Magistrate Caudill, who introduced the resolution. "If Kenneth wanted to hire the woman, I'm for her," he explained.

Al Howell, Purdom's field representative, is known to be skeptical about Mrs. Martin's qualifications as a heavy equipment operator. Purdom suggested this week that the reason for not approving her hiring had more to do with the hiring procedure itself.

But "if the judge-executive says he recommended her and if she can operate a piece of heavy equipment, it is all right with me," the state official said.

When the court reviews its cable TV ordinance, it should pay special attention to the present provision for a five-member commission, County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. told the court. Because the commission was made up of fiscal court appointees, it was "somewhat political" in the past and the court might consider naming a single commissioner instead, Turner said.

Dog Warden Paul Burke appealed unsuccessfully for help in controlling a stray dog problem which he said has grown to serious proportions in this county. Burke noted that a $60,000 animal shelter is lying idle here but Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo said the county does not have the money to operate the facility.

William Joe Kendrick was designated by the court as the county's only approved electrical inspector. He will turn over to the court 25 percent of his earnings, it was stipulated.

Cliff Road Right-of-Way Cleared As City Gets Deed

Under a shroud of secrecy, the last right-of-way needed to permit construction of the long-awaited Cliff road was secured last Thursday when the Sam George family deeded nearly half an acre to the city of Prestonsburg for an undisclosed sum.

At the request of the family, a reporter was excluded from the meeting at which the transaction was completed, and deeds recorded in the county court clerk's office make no mention of the amount paid by the city for the property.

According to records filed in the clerk's office, six acres of riverfront property at Cliff were transferred from the Prestonsburg Industrial Council to the city of Prestonsburg and from the city to the Georges—Sam and Lyda George, Joann George and Rodolph Burchett—apparently in exchange for the land condemned for the new road.

Edward D. Music, who signed the deed as president of the industrial council—a group of businessmen who have spoken of developing an industrial park at Cliff—said that, because of illness, he did not know the value of the land or other details of the transaction. Burl Wells Spurlock, who negotiated transfer of the property, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Although a cash sum was also paid for the George property, city officials refused to disclose the amount. Mayor Harold Cooley, City Manager David Evans and William Kendrick, the attorney who represented the city during protracted haggling over the tract, said their refusal to discuss the deal was in deference to the family's desire to keep the selling price confidential.

The value of the condemned tract was appraised at $58,000 by court-appointed commissioners last December, a figure challenged by the city as too high and by the Georges as too low. City officials claimed the property was worth only $45,000; the Georges reportedly asked for more than twice that sum.

Last week's settlement clears the way for construction of the $1.2 million road, which was required as a condition of the grant financing the Cliffside public housing project. The housing project was opened in April, 1981. Bids for construction of the road are due to be let November 1, Mayor Cooley said this week.

Start your own fan club.

This summer, you can save some energy and money. Don't turn to the air conditioner every time temperatures rise. Shut the sun's heat out with curtains or shades. Try circulating the air with a good old-fashioned fan. Wear loose clothing. And, when you use your air conditioner, for maximum economy, set it no lower than 78 degrees.

The point is, there are plenty of ways to save on energy costs and still live comfortably. And if you'd like more ideas on how to do it, just ask for our free booklets at any of our offices. They're so full of practical ideas, they make energy-saving a breeze.

A Rolimonica, Among Instrument Collection

By FANNIE MADDEN-GRIDER
MSU Student Journalist
MOREHEAD, Ky.—Mervil Whitt sat on a bale of hay playing his rolimonica, an instrument which resembles a harmonica with a crank on the side. "It is called a rolimonica because you blow in and crank at the same time," he explained to spectators at the Appalachian Celebration held recently at Morehead State University.

Whitt and his wife, Meta, had more than 40 folk and antique instruments on display during the Celebration.

"The reason you crank it is that it has this tiny roll of music paper, just like old player pianos had, inside," Whitt added, as he unfastened the side of it and took out the roll. "And when you get tired of one song, you just change the roll."

Rolimonicas were sold in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee in the early part of this century. The one Whitt played sold for $4.50 in 1915.

The Whitt's became interested in folk instruments in 1965 when they had a chance to buy five instruments made by the late Tom Young, a former art professor at MSU. They bought a lute, dulcimer, rebec, balalaika and a samisen from Young's family, and have been collecting since.

"Young would go to museums and measure instruments, then come back and copy them," said Whitt. "He played them in his art appreciation classes."

All the instruments in the Whitt's collection are either hand-crafted, antique or unusual. They come from as far away as Switzerland and China.

In addition, they have two music boxes which were brought to this country by early settlers who started west by wagon train, but ended up staying in Eastern Kentucky.

Another interesting instrument on display was a banjo made in 1938 by a Tennessee State Prison inmate.

"You can see that everything is hand-made of wood and tin," Whitt said as he held up the banjo for everyone to see. "He wasn't allowed to have steel, so the strings had to be plastic and the tuning pegs are made of wood."

Although the Whitt's have more than 60 instruments in their collection, they play few.

"I can strike a tune on some of them, but mostly I just play guitar and Meta plays the banjo," he said.

Mervil is part of a bluegrass band, the "Rocky River Express," but he also plays with Meta occasionally at senior citizens clubs, civic clubs and festivals near their home in Fairborn, Ohio.

Mervil, originally from Wrigley, and Meta, a native of Sandy Hook, both graduated from MSU. Both their son and daughter attended MSU, also.

"That's why we're here," Meta said. "This is the area and the culture we grew up with, and it sticks with you. Our collection is part of our dedication to preserving the mountain culture."

Auditor Asks Probe Of Breathitt Spending

A state audit has found that Breathitt county spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in 1981 and 1982 with little or no supporting documentation.

Breathitt County Judge-Executive Nim Henson said the problem is that each magistrate authorized expenditures for road work in his own magisterial district.

"I am fully confident that there was no fraud," Henson said. "Those magistrates wanted to do what is best for their district."

But the makeup of fiscal court has changed and the new magistrates have been trained at seminars, Henson said.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections or requests for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

Recovery Rate For Kentucky Behind Nation

Unemployment in Kentucky rose one-tenth of a percent in June, compared with a four-tenths percent increase nationally for the same month.

Figures compiled by the Cabinet for Human Resources show Kentucky recorded a June jobless rate of 10.8 percent, up from 10.7 percent in May.

Blackwell attributed the rise in the unemployment rate to "the annual influx of students and recent graduates into the labor force."

Blackwell said, "The increase in the number of Kentuckians who have jobs was primarily due to seasonal agricultural employment rising by 13,200 over last month."

Blackwell expects the state's unemployment rate to remain about the same through July, then drop in August when students return to school.

Telephone Service Undergoing Changes

Telephone companies across the country are entering a new era, an era so different that historic perceptions about telephone service must be left behind. According to Art Willett, local manager for South Central Bell, phone users and phone companies alike are changing their view of "typical telephone service."

"Most folks today would probably say that typical phone service means paying a monthly charge, and making as many local calls as you want," Willett said. "That's actually unlimited service—a person could talk all day, 365 days a year, with no extra charges. "But unlimited service is definitely not typical. It's a premium service, and the changes taking place in telecommunications are forcing phone companies to face reality, and charge a premium rate for that service. We'll soon be requesting a very big rate increase in Kentucky, and increases in the premium rate will be the biggest part of that request."

Fortunately, he said, most people don't need unlimited premium service. "The vast majority of customers make only a few calls a day, or just a few a month. They don't need unlimited calling, and shouldn't have to pay for it. That's the philosophy behind our Measured Service options."

Willett said Measured Service is a discounted local service that helps people control their phone bills. With Measured Service people pay only for what they use, instead of a premium rate for unlimited calling.

"Measured Service fits people's calling habits, and their budgets, too," Willett said. "More than 50,000 Kentucky homes and businesses are enjoying Measured Service, and the number grows every week. Even if your town doesn't have it yet, it's an important concept to remember, because in a few years, most people will think of Measured Service as typical service."

"That's it in a nutshell. Unlimited calling is a premium service, and always has been. Now, phone companies are forced to charge a premium rate for that service. But most people don't need it, and shouldn't have to pay for what they don't need. That's the whole Measured Service comes in—it's a new way of looking at your telephone service, and we think most people will agree it's a better way."

The Rockport Matter

Kentucky Power's decision to invest in Rockport comes as a slap in the face to all electric customers in Eastern Kentucky who seem to have no choice in the matter.

When a utility company makes irresponsible decisions, customers don't have the freedom to choose another company. We can only hope that our Public Service Commission (PSC) does their job by regulating the utilities and protecting the consumers.

But in this case it looks like both the power company and the PSC are not looking out for the small consumer.

There are a number of serious problems associated with the Rockport plant of which all of us should be very concerned, especially since we may be paying for these problems for many years.

This year, Kentucky Power Company is seeking a $33 million increase, most of which will go to pay construction costs at Rockport. Add to this a planned increase of an additional $46.5 million by January of 1985. This amount to a 44.6% increase in total company revenues just over the next two years!

We, the small consumers, can expect to possibly pay several hundred dollars over the next few years just to pay off Rockport.

Now, just in the past few weeks, it has been reported that Rockport Unit II may be delayed another three years, until 1989. Kentucky Power is now in the process of requesting from the PSC that they be allowed to invest more money in Rockport than they were initially allowed—more of our money! Why should Kentucky Power customers have to pay heavily for the company's mistakes?

The fact that Rockport will burn Western coal only adds insult to injury. Why should Eastern Kentuckians, many who are laid off or unemployed due to a slumping economy, be forced to pay for coal shipped in from Wyoming, courtesy of our local power company?

Possibly, most serious is that Kentucky Power customers had very little to say about this whole plan. The PSC held no public hearings on Rockport in the Kentucky Power service area. Their decision in March to allow the utility to invest in Rockport passed quietly over the public.

Once customers found out the whole story, they have tried to intervene in the case. But the PSC has blocked these efforts. In fact, now several customers are asking that the PSC hold local hearings on Kentucky Power's current rate request so that similar mistakes are not repeated. But the PSC has denied several requests from customers to hold hearings in the Kentucky Power service area. Possibly, after such an unpopular decision, they are trying to avoid facing up to the public.

Now that Kentucky Power has already been granted partial interest in Rockport and the plant is already under construction in Indiana, it seems that they are desperately trying to convince the public that it is in our best interest. Actually, it appears that it may only be in the best interest of American Electric Power, the parent company of Kentucky Power, that has a lot to lose if they don't find some customers to bail them out of this risky investment.

If this plant were a secure investment, we should not have to pay the construction costs. We would not have to pay for the construction of a grocery store before it begins selling groceries. Why should we pay for a power plant that is not needed and may never even be fully completed?

All of us small consumers need to demand a fair hearing on the Rockport plant before the PSC. The wisest decision now would be to immediately stop Kentucky Power's involvement in Rockport before its too late and we've all paid our last penny to the power company.

I urge you all to write to the Public Service Commission to demand fair representation. Otherwise the power company will continue to take advantage of their monopolistic position.

The address of the PSC, is 730 Shenkel Lane, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40602. Demand that the PSC reopen the Rockport case and allow customer input and intervention.

Also, plan to attend the hearing on the Company's current $33 million rate request to be held on August 2 at 9:00 a.m. at the PSC in Frankfort. Unfortunately, it's a long drive for most of us.

None of us can afford to ignore this issue. Our bills are already high enough! We must demand that we put the public back into our public utilities and our Public Service Commission.

In Appreciation

We would like to thank Mayor Cooley and members of the City Council for putting some parking spaces for the handicapped in the parking lots. However, these spaces are being taken by people who are not eligible.

The City has also promised to make some curb cuts which would provide access to shops for these handicapped people.

None of us have any guarantee that we won't at some time need these accommodations.

A Plea For Help

Not too long ago I wrote an article about a ministry I am trying to establish in Floyd county, which will be called "Rejoice Ministries, Inc."

It has been over two weeks since the printing of that article and I have yet to receive even one reply.

This has been disappointing to me; however, since I am being led into this ministry by the Lord, I will continue to try.

Surely there are dedicated Christians in Floyd county, who are concerned about our young people.

I will once again explain to you what Rejoice Ministries, Inc. will consist of:

- An outreach program for kids in institutions.
- A Christian coffee house.
- A contemporary Gospel band.
- A thrift store (second hand).
- Jail, hospital, nursing home, childrens home, and prison visitation.
- Street evangelism.
- Drug and alcohol counseling.

Brothers and sisters in Christ, I need your help, as I cannot do this alone.

I need involvement.

When Jesus began his ministry here on earth, he chose twelve disciples to help him, and likewise I need help.

I want to be able to speak at churches about this ministry and hopefully gain their support.

I also need for a dedicated christian, who has a place in Prestonsburg or a surrounding area where I can establish Rejoice Ministries, Inc., to contact me.

Please help me.

I am doing my part as the Lord leads and I desperately need the help of my Christian family.

Please write to me and let me know that as a child of God you will step out in faith and lend me support.

Helps Medical Students

The board of directors of the Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund wishes to bring to your attention a long standing program that has been influential in addressing the health manpower shortage needs of Kentucky for almost 40 years.

The Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund has been instrumental in assisting over 500 medical students over the past 37 years. Our program has the honor of being the oldest and most successful program of its type in the nation. This is even more remarkable when it is noted that we received little state support. During the program's tenure, the state's population-physician ratio has dropped by 50 percent. Although the mean average for the state exceeds national ratios, we are slowly and methodically reducing this ratio and hope to continue our quest for the highest quality of care possible. The Fund has supplied physicians to almost every rural county in the state and even physicians who have completed their obligation have remained in Kentucky in urban areas.

The Fund, although struggling with the recession as are other programs, can continue to maintain approximately 30 loans per year. However, the interest in the program is at its highest and the need for physicians in some 30 counties in the state is still acute, with an additional 40 still in need. It is now important for continued private and state support to insure that the output of physicians into rural areas is not cut off and that this program can continue to grow and expand to fulfill its goal in meeting the health care needs of all Kentuckians.

Proud of Rotarians For Crippled Children

It is times like these that make me proud to be a Rotarian, for once again the Rotarians of Kentucky have taken the initiative to serve crippled children. Since 1923 when Rotarians first formed the Crippled Children's Society, (now the Easter Seal Society), the needs of Kentucky's disabled have been our priority.

I am proud of Rotary's involvement in the construction of Camp Kysoc, Carrollton, which is the Easter Seal Society's summer residential camp for crippled children. I was distressed when the Society, on whose Board of Directors I have served for many years, had to curtail the use of Camp Kysoc due to budgetary reasons just over a year ago.

I was proud to serve when Rotary Governor Tom Isaac, of District 671, asked me recently to participate on the Governor's Advisory Committee to develop underwriting proposals for Camp Kysoc. I am pleased that Rotarians from all across the state have joined together to sponsor a full two-week session of camping for crippled children this summer at Camp Kysoc.

For many children who attend Kysoc, this is their only chance to be away from home all year to enjoy nature and the friendships of other children.

As a Rotarian for over 55 years, I am proud that Kentucky Rotary Clubs can play such an important part in making this possible. Yes, it is times like these that make proud to be a Rotarian.

Program in Review

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Manpower Program would like to thank everyone concerned for their participation and support in making our Summer Youth Employment Program a huge success in Floyd county. This year we were able to provide summer jobs for 45 boys and girls in this county.

The program, funded by the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program, Inc. (E.K.C.E.P.) of Hazard, Ky. was designed to serve economically disadvantaged youths between the ages of 16 and 21 who were either high school graduates, college students, vocational school students or high school dropouts, all of whom will be returning to school in the fall. The program gave each individual an opportunity to help themselves in meeting the financial obligations that go along with continuing their education. Many of the participants stated that they would not have been able to continue their education without the assistance of the summer program.

In addition to the financial assistance provided, each participant was given work experience and counseling designed to enhance each individual's employment potential. The work experience gave each participant an opportunity to learn job skills in the field of their interest, develop good work habits and become involved in meaningful community services. The counseling consisted of career information, labor market information, resume writing, job hunting skills and job survival skills. We also had several guest speakers representing the different career fields available in our area at our counseling sessions.

The program ran for five weeks, from June 20 through July 22. Each participant was allowed to work 33 hours and was provided 2 hours of counseling for a total of 35 hours per week. The participants were paid at the rate of $3.35 per hour.

Selection of worksite assignments was made according to the participant's interests and overall career goal. Participants were placed in worksites that could provide them work experience in the career field that most interested them. All worksites were in the public sector.

Again, we send our thanks and appreciation to the students who participated in the program, the summer staff members, the guest speakers who participated in the counseling sessions, and to the user agencies that provided the work experience and the excellent supervision.

To Honor Teachers

As opening school day for 1983-'84 approaches, please permit me to share a favorite piece of literature with one and all. It is probably familiar to many teachers but if they are like myself, they will experience new inspiration each time they read it.

The Builder

A builder built a temple
He wrought it with grace and skill;
Pillars and grains and arches,
All fashioned to work his will.
Men said, as they saw its beauty,
"It shall never know decay;
Great is thy skill, O builder!
Thy fame shall endure for aye.

A teacher built a temple
With loving and infinite care
Planning each arch with patience,
Laying each stone with prayer.
More praised her unceasing efforts,
None knew of her wondrous plan,
For the temple the teacher builded
Was unseen by the eyes of man.
Gone is the builders' temple,
Crumpled into the dust;
Low lies each stately pillar
Food for consuming rust.
But the temple the teacher builded
Will last while the ages roll,
For that beautiful unseen temple
Was a child's immortal soul.

—Gretis Scalf Miller
Submitted in honor of those educators who have trod dedicated paths before us, as well as to my colleagues who are continuing to "build their temples."

Asks Info on Veterans

With the assistance of Michael Downs, a graduate student in the History Department, I am currently gathering material for a research project concerning the Vietnam Veterans from Eastern Kentucky. The most difficult task ahead of us is identifying and locating these veterans. Since we are aware of your concern for veterans, and especially those of Kentucky, we thought that you might be able to help us.

If you, or your readers, would make available to us the names of the men and women from your community who served in Vietnam, it would greatly speed up the tedious task of identification. Once we have located and interviewed the veterans, we plan to compile a standard profile of the Vietnam Veteran from Eastern Kentucky, and to see how his experiences in the war changed his life and the lives of his family. We intend to publish the results of our findings.

We will appreciate any information that you and your readers might be able to give us.

A Minister's Comment

With tongue in cheek, I write to offer my congratulations to the staff of the Big Sandy ADD for finally taking over the Meals-on-Wheels program. It is a task they have been working on for almost a decade, and so a word of "well done" is in order.

Whether this will be "good" for the clients of Meals-on-Wheels is certainly a question. I'm reminded of a meeting, long ago, in which Mr. McCauley and Ms. Stanley tried to convince staff and board of Meals-on-Wheels of the wisdom of the move they have just accomplished. For over an hour the discussion ran on, and during that time they did not make mention of either the needs and desires of the clients or the quality of service. Instead, the theme was one of control and credit. Who would control the funds? Who would get the "credit?" This tragic twisting of human services was and is to be lamented and fought.

I thank God for the vision, courage, and "willingness to risk" that has been seen again and again in the life and work of Meals-on-Wheels. My heart is heavy with the news that the systematizers of human services have won another one.

The Ma Bell Break-Up

The attached Journal item reminds me that I have procrastinated long enough in expressing my views on the politically motivated break-up of Ma Bell which was the world's most effectively managed business.

They placed phones in most homes in the nation at an affordable monthly price. Even tho it suffered a small loss on this segment of their business, they were smart enough to know if they placed enough phones they would generate tremendous revenue on their more profitable long distance lines.

This reminds one of early 1920s when a safety razor retailed for $10, but the Gillette people were also smart, so they produced a good one to retail for $1. In the first year they suffered a loss on this razor of $1 million but they made a profit on the blades of $6 million.

Had the politicians of those days been as anti-business as most of the past few years, they would have pressured the Justice Dept. into breaking up Gillette.

I think the moral here is: If you are too successful Big Brother will stop you, regardless of cost to the consumer whom they pretend to be protecting.

What's wrong with a monopoly (a regulated one, in this instance) that brings lower cost to consumers? Long distance rates will no longer be a bargain if we have to pay a $25 monthly rate rental.

Cheerleader

As a member of the 1958 graduating class of Prestonsburg High School, I would like to call for three cheers (the P.H.S. kind, of course) for the reunion committee of the Class of 1958. I can only guess at the tremendous amount of work involved in such an undertaking. But, the love that this reunion was planned with came across to us loud and clear.

Thanks—and looking forward to 1983.

Thanks For Caring

I would like to congratulate Meals on Wheels for 10 years of good service to the senior citizens. I would like also to thank Phil Price for all the hard work he has done over these years, seeing that the elderly and shut-ins got a meal to eat each day.

Some people don't understand that some of the elderly who live alone get only one meal a day, and that was provided by Meals on Wheels. All of us who worked at Meals on Wheels knew that Phil worked hard and had a lot of concern and love for these people.

Now, all we can do is hope that this new food service run by the Big Sandy ADD office will show as much concern as Phil has. Thank you, Phil, for caring.

Grateful To Committee

Thank you, Virginia Watson, Sharon Howard, Mary Jo Hereford, Gayle Herald, Floyd Carr, Freddie Goble, Roy Roberts, Phillip Whitten, Ronnie Snodgrass, and all the others who helped in setting up the Class of 1963 reunion. My husband and I had a wonderful time. I loved seeing my classmates after so many years. All of us have changed somewhat and have gone our separate ways...but for that brief moment in time we were twenty years younger.

It wouldn't have been possible if not for all the time and preparation of the reunion committee. Thanks, friends, for showing us, "you can go home again". I'd like to share a few words from a song by Styx called "The Best of Times":

Our memories of yesterday
Will last a lifetime.
We'll take the best, forget the rest
And someday we'll find
These are the best of times.

Nature Specials Encore On KET

The extraordinary animals of Australia—most of which exist nowhere else in the world—and the scientists working diligently to preserve these living links to this continent's earliest history encore in a "National Geographic Special" on KET, Wednesday, August 24, at 8:00 p.m.

"Australia's Animal Mysteries" features such animal curiosities as the kangaroo and the koala, two of the approximately 150 species of marsupials (pouched animals) found in Australia. Wallabies, wombats, fearsome lizards and vicious Tasmanian devils are also among the fascinating wildlife seen in this documentary.

"Australia's Animal Mysteries" is produced by the National Geographic Society and WQED/Pittsburgh.

Next, at 9:00 p.m., viewers travel "North to the Top of the World" to explore the wildlife and landscape of Canada's High Arctic Islands.

Internationally-known naturalists and filmmakers Janet and John Foster are the "tour guides" for this 60-minute documentary into Canada's northernmost reaches.

The expedition begins amid the ice floes in the Strait of Bell Isle, where viewers are treated to a visit with a colony of harp seals at pupping time. Spectacular humpback whale-watching at Placentia Bay follows. The trip culminates with a breathtaking aerial panoramic view of the mountains, glaciers and icebergs at the "top of the world."

"North to the Top of the World" is produced by Manitou Productions Ltd. in association with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Finally, at 10:00 p.m., KET encores "River of Sand." This 60-minute program is a compelling look at the decline and resurgence of wildlife around the Tiva River of Kenya during the course of a three-year drought.

"River of Sand" is a production of Safir Films Ltd., London.

Bell Asks Record Rate Increase

South Central Bell last week asked permission to raise rates by $163 million a year, the largest increase ever for a Kentucky phone company.

Basic rates would triple for many residents who want to make an unlimited number of local calls each month.

But Bell proposes much lower rates for customers who choose to pay for each local call. And it wants to cut rates for long-distance calls in Kentucky.

For these reasons, a resident's overall bill would rise only 21 percent if he chooses to pay for each local call, said Mac Starnes, Bell's district manager in Winchester.

Bell wants to put the rates in effect in January. The state Public Service Commission will hold a hearing this fall, then decide how large an increase—if any—Bell should receive.

The complex proposal is "not simply another rate request," said S.S. Dickson, Bell's chief executive in Kentucky. Bell is bringing its rates more in line with what the calls actually cost.

Now, rates are higher in Louisville than in Winchester and Frankfort. In effect, Louisville residents subsidize small towns and rural areas, where service is costlier because the terrain is more rugged, the equipment is older, and the people live farther apart.

In addition, a customer may pay the same basic rate each month, whether he makes one local call or 1,000.

Bell proposes to: —Charge the same rates throughout the state. Now, for a private home line, an unlimited number of calls each month costs $16.53 in Louisville, $11.45 in Winchester and $12.19 in Frankfort. Bell proposes to charge everyone $34.03. That would raise rates 106 percent in Louisville, 197 percent in Winchester, and 179 percent in Frankfort.

—Give each customer a choice of basic rates. He would pay a high rate if he wanted to make an unlimited number of calls, and a low rate if he wanted to pay for each call. This would give the customer more control over his phone bill, Bell argued.

In most areas, home customers can choose to pay a charge for each call. The charge would vary according to the time the call was made, how far it traveled and how long it lasted.

Bell wants to charge $11.03 a month for this "lower-use measured service."

Customers who make many local calls might choose "standard measured service," which includes a $7.50 allowance. For about 100 local calls a month, this would cost $19.03 for a resident and $42.38 for business.

To cut rates for in-state, long-distance calls by 16 percent. Later this year, Bell will ask the Federal Communications Commission for permission to cut rates for state-to-state calls, too.

For decades, phone companies charged artificially high rates for long-distance calls, then used a third of the money to pay for costly local service. This helped residents to afford a phone—particularly in rural areas, which are most expensive to serve.

But now, the FCC is ordering phone companies to eliminate such subsidies and bring charges more in line with costs. That means higher local rates and lower long-distance ones.

In addition, South Central Bell will lose most of its long-distance business to American Telephone & Telegraph when AT&T divests itself of its local phone companies—such as South Central Bell—next year.

McLain Festival Set For Aug. 12-14

To make up for the lost money, Bell wants to increase local rates. Of its $163 million request, over a third would simply replace the subsidies, Starnes said.

Bell would do this by charging customers for access to long-distance equipment, whether they make a long-distance call or not. They would pay both state and national access charges.

Next month, the Public Service Commission will consider the state charges.

The FCC has already set the national charges. They'll begin in January, at $2 per resident and $6 per business each month, and they'll rise in years to come.

Long-distance companies, like MCI, would also pay an access charge since they would tap into Bell's network to carry calls. This charge accounts for $23 million of the $163 million request.

To raise its rate of return, Bell wants to offer investors a better return on their money, thus attracting more investors.

The state now allows Bell a 13.25 percent return on equity (what the company is worth). Bell wants to raise that to 16.75 percent. Whether it can actually achieve that rate will depend on how much money it makes.

Charge 30 cents when a customer asks an operator for a number. The first five calls made each month would be free.

Lawyers' Cars Towed Away, Officer Jailed

By Jim Warren
 (In the Lexington Herald-Leader)

Inez Patrolman Ben Perry says he was just doing his job when he had two local attorneys' vehicles towed away because the owners allegedly hadn't paid some parking tickets.

But the lawyers, Raymond Kirk and David Sproull, apparently think otherwise. They've sworn out a warrant charging Perry with theft by unlawful taking.

Perry, out of jail on $5,000 bond, said he's mystified by the whole thing.

"It surprised me to death," he said. "I don't see where they have any grounds at all."

Meanwhile, Inez Mayor Joe Hammond says that Perry, the town's only patrolman on the day shift, is still on duty.

"Suffice it to say we have not taken any disciplinary action against our patrolman," he said.

The incident began Tuesday morning near the Martin county courthouse when Perry called a tow truck to take away Sproull's Dodge van and Kirk's Thunderbird.

Perry, 29, said the two men saw him approach and didn't object when he began writing tickets for the cars. He said they then went into a nearby law office.

Perry said he then called for a tow truck under a city ordinance that states that "continued parking violations will result in a vehicle being towed away at the owner's expense."

Kirk's car had eight unpaid $1 parking tickets and Sproull's van had 10, according to the Inez city clerk's office.

Inez recently adopted a new system under which people with unpaid tickets are notified by mail, Perry said. Their cars can be towed if the tickets aren't paid, he said.

"When you have over four or five tickets outstanding you can tow the car or put a wheel lock on it at the officer's discretion," he said.

Hammond said the new "get tough" policy was widely advertised. "They put it in the paper and everything," he said.

Youth, Conscience-Stricken, Rides 30 Miles to Surrender

Greenup, Ky., Oct. 11.—A troubled conscience led Russell Parker, 19, to ride 30 miles astride a mule, over roads virtually impassable and confess to the murder of a companion, which was committed several months ago at Lowden, this county.

The first news that Sheriff Ed Tinsley had of the murder was when the youth hitched his mule in front of the court house and made his way to the office of the sheriff where he unfolded the details of the slaying.

Both Parker and Dummitt resided at Lowden and were friends until several weeks before the murder. Then came the breaking point of their friendship. The two young men had trouble of a trivial nature and meeting several days later they engaged in a fight, which resulted in Dummitt being shot to death.

Parker claimed that he killed Dummitt in self-defense, and that his life was in danger when he fired the fatal shot. He told officers that since the night of the slaying he had been unable to "sleep" and had a "feelin'" inside him that he had done something wrong. Unable to bear the strain any longer and after careful deliberation, in which he weighed the facts of the slaying, he finally decided that the best course for him would be to ride into Greenup and give himself up to proper authorities.

The youth, following his confession, was taken to the county jail where he will be held for a few days. The date for a preliminary hearing was not set but will likely be Wednesday or Thursday.

The road over which the youth rode to make the startling confession was described by officers as being in a terrible shape, a part of which passed through a veritable wilderness.

INSTRUCTIONS IN VERSE

By W. A. FRALEY

I thought I'd write a poem
For the good of one and all,
I don't think the church of God
Is only an oxen stall.

Leave your tobacco outside,
Your cigarettes, too,
And, if you have any chewing gum,
Don't stick it on the pew.

Don't put it in the boxes
Where the hymnals ought to stay;
Just walk over to the window—
And throw the stuff away.

For I get a small salary
For keeping this church clean;
You ought to have some manners
And try not act so mean.

So come to church on Sunday
With a smile upon your face;
Go in and take your seat
Like you belonged to the human race.

BACK UP IN THE HILLS OF OLD KENTUCKY

By H. G. NOBLE

Back up in the hills of old Kentucky,
Where the world is big and free,
There my thoughts are daily turning,
There's where I long to be.

I'm thinking here in the city
Of what the mountaineers do;
When I feel these hills a-calling
It thrills me through and through.

I'm sick o' parks and libraries
And all this cultured stuff;
Take me back to the dear, old mountains
Where the folks are true, though rough;

Where the lowing of the cattle
As they roam the open hills
Sets my pulses beating faster
And fills my heart with thrills;

Where the vegetables in the garden
And the apples on the tree—
Take me back to God's own country,
There's where I long to be.

Mrs. Polly Allen came down Tuesday from Hueysville for a visit of several days with her son, Edward L. Allen, and family.

In Memory of Tennessee Conn

Who passed away August 1, 1978.
Dear God, please take this message to our loving mother one up above. Tell her how much we miss her and give her all our special love.

She wished no one a last farewell she said goodbye to none. Those Heavenly gates just opened wide, and a loving still voice said "Come". Even though her soul is now at rest and free from care and pain. The world would seem like Heaven, if we could have our dear mother back again.

It broke our hearts to lose her, But she didn't go alone. For a certain part of us went with her. The day God called her home.

McDowell Regional Adds Sophisticated Diagnostic Machine

One of the most sophisticated diagnostic imaging machines, which uses sound waves literally to "see" inside the human body, is now in operation at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

The new equipment, the General Electric DATASON ultrasound scanner, is the most advanced of its type in the McDowell area. This innovation uses high frequency sound waves to obtain information about the structure, function and pathology of bodily organs.

This method of examination is especially useful in studying internal body organs such as the liver, pancreas, kidneys, and heart. Ultra-sound can reveal certain information about these organs that X-rays cannot. It is also the preferred method for examining expectant mothers because it lets the physician actually visualize the fetus in the womb.

According to C.V. Abraham, Ph.D., ARH's Director of Clinical Support Services, "Ultrasound is usually the best way to examine a pregnant patient because ultrasound depends solely on high frequency sound and produces no radiation or harmful effects to either the mother or the fetus. Thus, we can confidently use this procedure as frequently as necessary."

FISHING Facts & Fancies

Choosing The Right Line

You may think you have the perfect excuse for when that big fish gets away during your next fishing outing — "the line broke." With all due respect to the fish, it's up to you to keep your line in A-1 condition . . . and that means knowing when to replace it.

In general, the lighter the line, the more often it needs replacement. Line in the four to eight pound test range should be changed daily when under heavy use; 17 to 20 pound test line needs to be changed only after eight or ten fishing trips. The key is to inspect it regularly.

TV Nostalgia

By Marie Iandiorio

"The Honeymooners," first telecast in 1955, is one of the best-remembered comedy series of TV's golden age. Oddly enough, the saga of Ralph and Alice Kramden, the not-so-newlyweds living in a Brooklyn apartment, and their best friends Ed and Trixie Norton, never made it as a series.

For most of its broadcast history, "The Honeymooners" was presented as a comedy segment within other programs, beginning in 1951 as a sketch within DuMont's "Cavalcade of Stars."

The surroundings for the series were grimy and spartan, unlike the happy middle-class homes of most situation comedies. But, showy surroundings and lavish sets really weren't necessary for this show. "The Honeymooners" was fortunate enough to star one of the finest acting ensembles ever put together for one series. Ralph and Alice and Ed and Trixie... a classic combination of characters portrayed by a class combination of actors.

Can you name the original stars of this show?

Soap Beat

New producer gives 'GL' a 'Texas' flavor

By Connie Passalacqua
Every soap opera changes somewhat each time a new executive producer takes the helm. But nowhere in recent years has a show undergone a more radical and self-evident change than "Guiding Light." Since Gail Kobe became executive producer of the show late last winter, virtually every element of the show has undergone some stage of transformation. "GL" now resembles NBC's canceled "Texas," Miss Kobe's previous outpost.

Viewers will notice first that many of the new performers entering the show under Miss Kobe's regime are those she used on "Texas." Annabelle Sims, Tony Reardon's (Greg Beecroft) new love interest, is played by Harley Kozak, who played Brette Wheeler on "Texas." Brette's father, Eli Sims, is played by Stephen Joyce, who played a rapist named Bubba on the same show. James Rebhorn, who played the butler, John, on "Texas," is now probable child abuser Bradley Raines on "GL." And Mary Pat Gleason, who played housekeeper/confidante Doris on "Texas" is now housekeeper/confidante Jane on "GL."

Miss Kobe has also brought along her last "Texas" headwriter Pamela Long Hammer (who also played the memorable

Pamela Long Hammer

Ashley Marshall on that show) to be co-headwriter with Richard Cullitan on "GL."

Their innovations have changed the show from a fairly low-keyed drama to something that too often is hokey and downright syrupy. This approach worked on "Texas," where it was in sync with the show's rural background and characters.

But "GL's" Springfield has always been the squarest town in soap operas. It's difficult for die-hard fans to watch the conservative characters they know so well become corny and in some instances downright silly.

However, Miss Kobe should be credited with a sappy but entertaining story of young love in the shape of a four-sided relationship.

Winners In District Softball Tourney

Members of the D.F.D. Coal Co. team of Hippo are pictured above following their win in the championship series of the District Softball Tournament held last week at Archer Park. The team defeated West Truck Parts of Prestonsburg in double elimination play. Placing third in the tourney, which featured 20 of the area's top teams, was Superior Market of Salyersville.

One of the season's biggest weeks in slow-pitch softball play begins tomorrow (Thursday) with the first games of the men's regional tournament at Archer Park. The women's regional gets under way the following day at 6:30 p.m. According to Regional Softball Commissioner Bill R. Collins, teams from Pikeville, Elkhorn City, Whitesburg, Hazard, Inez and Salyersville will compete as well as the best of Floyd county's teams.

A newly-formed youth softball league, which is comprised of six teams made of area youths in the 12-14-year-old range, recently concluded a successful first season with four teams traveling to the state youth league tournament. Collins, who organized the new league, said the youth games have attracted unprecedented spectator participation and spoke of plans next season to increase the number of teams in the league.

NOTICE AS TO PASSAGE AND SUMMARY OF ORDINANCE

Notice is hereby given that the Fiscal Court of Floyd County, Kentucky, at a meeting held at 10:00 a.m., local time, on August 2, 1983, at the regular meeting place of the Fiscal Court at the Courthouse in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, gave second reading to and passed and enacted (following first reading on an earlier date) an Ordinance relating to the approval by the County of the execution of an (Inter-Local) Cooperation Agreement between said County and approximately 22 other Counties (the number of which Counties may be supplemented or reduced), providing for the joint issuance by said Counties of Bonds entitled "Combined Counties of Kentucky Residential Mortgage Revenue Bonds", in 1983; designating the County of Clark, Kentucky, as the "Authorized County" to act on behalf of this County, together with all other Counties constituting the "Combined Counties of Kentucky", in the issuance of said Bonds; and authorizing and approving the plan of financing whereby such "Authorized County" will, pursuant to said Inter-Local Cooperation Act, authorize, advertise for sale, accept the successful bid, issue, sell, and deliver such Bonds, provided the interest rate, price, and certain other provisions comply with the parameters specified in said Inter-Local Cooperation Agreement.

Said Ordinance specifically approves the proposed Cooperation Agreement among all of the Counties, approves the establishment of a Single Family Mortgage Purchase Program, ordained in said Ordinance, and declares that such Program is reasonably necessary to carry out a proper governmental function, viz., the facilitation of the construction and purchase of new housing and the purchase of existing housing, through the issuance of the proposed revenue bonds to finance residential mortgage loans. Said Ordinance and the Cooperation Agreement approved therein sets out provisions whereby Floyd County, Johnson County, and Pike County will have the deferred right to participate in the financing of residential mortgages through the application of funds derived from the proceeds of such Bonds. A copy of the Cooperation Agreement is attached to said Ordinance.

The full text of the Ordinance (and the aforementioned Cooperation Agreement, together with certain related exhibits) is and will be on file from and after the date of publication of this Notice in the office of the undersigned Clerk, in said County Courthouse where same is and will be available for public inspection. Paintsville on Win Streak

PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (July 26)—One year ago, the Milwaukee Brewers found themselves with a new manager, Harvey Kuenn, midway through the season. On their way to the American League championship, the Brewers became known as "Harvey's Wallbangers" due to their propensity for banging extra-base hits off the walls of A.L. parks.

Robin Yount, Cecil Cooper, Ted Simmons and company earned the acclaim and attention they have received. Now, some new names are on the horizon.

Glenn Braggs, Kerry Everett and Lavel Freeman may not sound as familiar as the names in Milwaukee, but they have been the leaders on a slugging Paintsville Brewers team which, like Milwaukee last year, has a rookie manager, Tom Gamboa.

Paintsville is riding a tremendous streak, having won 10 of its last 11 games through July 25. In a week's time, the Brewers jumped from third place in the league standings, two-and-a-half games out, into a solid hold on the top spot. They held a three-game lead over the second-place Pulaski Braves as of July 25.

"The team's mood is really good right now," Gamboa said. "We're at a point now where we believe we can come up with a big rally whenever we need it."

That was never more evident than the evening of July 25. The Brewers, trailing the Elizabethton Twins 3-0 entering the seventh and final inning of the first game of a split doubleheader, pulled out the win when Everett smashed a grand-slam home run with two outs to give Paintsville a 4-3 win. It was the Brewers' fourth straight triumph.

Virtually every hitter in the lineup has been contributing, but Braggs, Everett and Freeman have been the biggest guns all season. Through July 25, rightfielder Braggs was hitting .351 with 10 home runs and 41 RBI and led the team with 10 stolen bases. Third-baseman Everett was right behind him with nine homers, 40 RBI and a .315 average, while centerfielder Freeman was hitting .326 with 30 RBI, a team-leading 11 doubles and an impressive total of eight game-winning RBIs.

The Brewers find themselves 11 games over the .500 mark (24-13), but the hitters can't take all the credit. The starting pitchers have surprised even Gamboa with their effectiveness so far. Staff leaders have been lefties Jeff

Floyd Drivers Continue Dirt Track Success

Although the weather was cooler, the action was hot at Highlands Raceway Park near Paintsville Friday night as Floyd dirt track racers again put in a good showing.

More than 1,100 fans watched as World Super Modified Champ Charlie Swartz, of Ashland, dueling with local racing standout, Paul D. Harris, of Prestonsburg. The weekly "dash for cash" was won by Harris with Swartz placing second although the tables turned in the 10-lap heat with Swartz the winner and Harris second. As fans watched the 25-lap feature event to see which one would break the one-and-one tie, Swartz left the race early with engine trouble leaving Harris with an easy win.

The heat race also saw Steve Frances, of Ashland, who at age 15 is the youngest super modified driver in the U.S., place third. Martin's Gene Rowe and Don Davis, of Inez, left the event early with mechanical trouble.

Street class cars numbered 30, a large amount for any track, but they put on a good show. The heat race was divided into two events with the top six finishers running in the feature.

The first heat was won by Magoffin County Judge-Executive Paul Salyers driving his No. 7 1965 red Chevy with the word "Judge" emblazoned in bold, white letters on both sides. The second heat was led by Frankie Martin, of McDowell who considers himself a "crowd pleaser" if not always a winner. Brother Brad Martin, driving the red, white and blue Camaro called "Old Glory," went on to win.

The feature race was also won by Brad Martin with the No. 4 Nova of McDowell's Jake Miller placing second. Judge Salyers came in fifth with Frankie Martin sixth.

In modified class Larry Holmes won with Ferrell Bailey second in both the heat and feature. Both drivers are from Ashland.

Turner, Kirk Sign To Play With Georgetown College

John Kirk and Jimmy Turner, who led Sheldon Clark High School to its best combined basketball and baseball season in history, signed athletic scholarships Saturday with Georgetown College, a perennial power in the K.I.A.C.

The All-State performers each averaged 20 points per game in helping Sheldon Clark to a 29-6 record, including four tournament championships, a school record, and into the state tournament at Rupp Arena where the school was eventually eliminated in a 4-point loss to Louisville Ballard, the No. 2-rated team in the state meet.

Along with his 20-point-per-game regular season average, Kirk led his team in post-season scoring and was the district tournament's leading scorer for the second straight year. He was the leading scorer in the championship game of the 15th Region as his team defeated Betsy Layne, and scored 22 points in his team's state tournament victory over Taylor County. He led the state in free-throw percentage as a junior when he shot .91 and last year he connected on 87% of his free throws, including 25 consecutive shots in post-season play. From the field he connected on 55% of his shots and was named by his coaches, John Williams, David Butcher, and Frank Baldrige, as the team's best offensive player and, along with Turner, as the team's most valuable player.

The baseball team won 22 straight games, the most in Kentucky last season, and wound up with a 22-4 record. Kirk had a pitching record of 8-0 and had eight complete games to his credit, including a no-hitter.

Turner, the team's 6-10 center, pulled down 12 rebounds per game to go with his 20-point average but expects to play forward at Georgetown.

He was named by his team coaches, along with Kirk, as the Most Valuable Player and as the team's leading rebounder.

Turner, from McDowell, and Kirk reportedly made independent choices to attend Georgetown but said they will be pleased to be playing together again. They became crowd favorites in Inez with Kirk's alley-oop lobbs to Turner and Turner's floor-length baseball passes to Kirk.

"With quality recruits like John and Jimmy we believe that Georgetown can continue its winning tradition," Georgetown Coach Jim Reed said. "We recruited both of these players very hard all season long and we had a lot of competition and we're proud that they chose Georgetown," he added.

Kirk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kirk, of Inez. Mrs. Kirk is the former Loyce Hicks, daughter of Raymond and Virgie Hicks, of Hippo.

Turner is the son of Jimmy Turner, of Drift, and Zola Turner, of Raleigh, N.C. His paternal grandmother is Mrs. Mae Turner, of Drift.

Part of Tract In Landfill Use Privately Owned

Although it has been widely believed that the county owned all of the Garth property which has been used as a landfill since the inception of the new solid waste system two years ago, some seven acres and a large maintenance building are in private hands.

Since last summer that tract and the building on it have been leased to Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc. for $1900 a month.

While he acknowledged that the solid waste agency entered a lease agreement with a firm called Industrial Rentals, Inc. last August, Robert McAninch, chairman of the agency's board of directors, insisted last week that he does not know who owns the firm.

The Secretary of State lists the firm's officers as Prestonsburg businessmen John Allen and Adrian Lafferty.

Although he was not a director of the solid waste agency at the time it entered into the lease agreement with his firm, Allen had previously been a director and was again named director later on. (Allen was one of four directors who resigned at the request of incoming Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr. in January, 1982. He was reinstated on Lafferty's recommendation one year later.)

Industrial Rentals has yet to present a bill to Floyd County Solid Waste and some fear that, if the firm were suddenly to insist on payment of the debt, which might now amount to $22,800, the shaky solid waste system might be plunged into default.

McAninch discounts such fears, arguing that Industrial Rentals is simply one of several large creditors who are waiting patiently for payment until the solid waste agency can get back on its feet.

The explanation for the fact that Industrial Rentals has never presented a bill to Floyd County Solid Waste is obvious "if you know who does the billing" for the solid waste agency, McAninch said, referring to Computer and Utility Services, Inc., a firm with which Allen apparently has close ties.

County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr., who said he has not seen a copy of the purported lease, said the issue should be aired publicly at a meeting of the solid waste agency board.

The fact that Allen was not on the board when the lease was supposedly negotiated means there is no clear conflict of interest, but questions remain as to whether Allen's position on the board afforded him an improper advantage in setting up a lease arrangement, Turner said.

"The arrangement needs to be fully disclosed in open meeting," the county attorney said. "I don't even know if the (solid waste agency) commissioners knew of the lease. The county attorney's office didn't. And apparently Mr. McAninch didn't."

Allen refused to comment on the deal. The six acre tract, which was deeded by retired coal operator B.F. Reed, of Drift, to the Floyd Board of Education, was apparently sold by the board to Industrial Rentals. Proceeds from the sale went toward setting up a scholarship fund in memory of Reed's son.

Scholars Program Examined On KET

KET is producing a special that will highlight the Governor's Scholars Program for outstanding Kentucky high school seniors, being conducted for five weeks at Danville's Centre College this summer. The 30-minute special will air on KET Monday, August 15, at 7:30 p.m.

The documentary not only will examine the Scholars Program but also will spotlight "the kids, their teachers and the high level of scholarship and achievement that is possible when special opportunities like this are given to capable kids," said the program's executive producer and Deputy Executive Director of KET, Sandra H. Welch. During the program, many of the 250 scholars and some of their teachers will talk about their views on Kentucky's educational system.

"I would hope that by showcasing these young people we can get a sense of who they are, what kinds of educational experiences they have had, the significance of the experience in Danville and where they want to go with their education and their lives," said Welch. "I would hope that from the faculty members we can get a sense of the techniques, the challenges and the rewards from teaching in an atmosphere of excellence."

The KET crew will be taping on location in Danville August 1-5. The program is a KET production.

Argues Trucks Limited On Narrower Highways

Motorists are at a disadvantage as they travel on highways damaged by overweight trucks and are required to pay more and more for never-ending road repairs.

When the Federal Surface Transportation Assistance Act was passed by Congress earlier this year, motorists not only began paying an additional five-cent gasoline tax, but also began sharing highways with longer, wider twin-trailer trucks. Final approval of which roads in Kentucky over which these trucks can travel will be made in early October by the Federal Highway Administration. Motorists can expect even greater deterioration of our highway system; however, it is difficult to determine how much damage twin-trailers will create on roads designed for smaller vehicles. Even the Kentucky Department of Transportation could not verify the maximum weights intended when these roads were built.

AAA believes that the larger and wider trucks should not be allowed on highways that have less than 12-foot travel lanes, as this could create serious safety problems for motorists and other highway users.

Even though truck operators will pay more in taxes and fees to use these highways, the primary burden continues to rest on motorists. Studies show that truck taxes are insufficient. A federal highway cost-allocation study released last year concluded that while car owners would contribute more than 100 percent of their share to the cost of highway damage by 1985, big combination trucks would pay much less.

Significant safety issues are involved with twin-trailer trucks, too. Heavy trucks figure in more than their share of highway accidents, and trucks carrying two trailers rate even higher, according to a study conducted for the U.S. Department of Transportation.

AAA is not calling for a ban on these trucks. They are essential to our economy in transporting products. Yet, we are vitally concerned that there is so little balance between consideration given motorists and truck operators in paying taxes, as well; as in the safety hazards these larger trucks create.

What can you do? You can stay alert of the problems of deteriorating highways and can contact your representatives, both in Washington and in the Kentucky General Assembly. You also can report your concerns to AAA's Public Relations Department, 155 Walnut St., Lexington, KY 40507. Or call 233-1111 in Lexington, or toll-free 1-800-432-0996 from elsewhere in Kentucky.

Hearing On Hazardous Waste Rules Set

A public hearing on 100 new or revised hazardous-waste management regulations will be held in Frankfort Tuesday, August 2 by the state Division of Waste Management.

The hearing, scheduled for 10 a.m. in the auditorium of the State Office Building on High Street, will cover proposed regulations filed with the Legislative Research Commission on June 15 and printed in the Kentucky Administrative Register on July 1.

The proposed regulations cover requirements for hazardous waste management and for land disposal of hazardous waste. Proposed regulations are based on federal hazardous-waste management regulations which became effective on January 26, 1983, officials of the division said.

The regulations will establish state standards for disposal of hazardous waste at land treatment facilities, surface impoundments, waste piles and landfills. Thorough design and operating standards have been proposed for disposal facilities, said Alex Barber, Director of the Division of Waste Management.

VA Questions, Answers

Q—Does income from welfare count as income for VA purposes when a veteran or beneficiary draws a VA pension?

A—No, but it should be reported. Q—Under what conditions can a veteran's home loan entitlement be restored after it has been used?

Highway Firm Admits Bid Rigging Charge

Attorney General Steven L. Beshear and the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet announced today that Mountain Enterprises, Inc., a highway contracting firm, has agreed to pay the Commonwealth of Kentucky $112,000 in damages resulting from a rigged bid on a contract let on June 20, 1980.

On June 1, 1983, Mountain Enterprises, Nally and Gibson Surfacing, Inc. and Edwin Paul Hamilton, president of Nally and Gibson, plead guilty in U.S. District Court to conspiring to allocate a paving subcontract on U.S. 25E. That subcontract was won by a third firm, Kentucky-Virginia Stone Company, of Middlesboro who submitted the low bid, $3,371,150. The prime contractor, Biz-zack Brothers Construction Corp. of Frankfort won the general contract with a bid of $7,402,489. Mountain Enterprises was fined $150,000, Nally and Gibson was fined $300,000 and Hamilton was fined $50,000 and required to serve 120 hours in community service work.

"In this state action, the settlement agreement reached by my Office, Commissioner of the Department of Highways Dean Huff and Mountain Enterprises stipulates that Mountain Enterprises will pay the overcharges in three payments over two years, plus interest on the unpaid balance, to the state's Road Fund," said Beshear. "Additionally, Mountain Enterprises has agreed to cooperate fully with the Attorney General's Antitrust Division in its continuing investigation of bid rigging on other highway construction contracts in the state."

The company had been removed from the list of qualified bidders by the Department of Highways immediately upon its learning of the company's guilty plea. As part of the settlement conditions, the Department set Mountain Enterprises' debarment at one year and has suspended said debarment effective July 22, 1983, contingent upon both the company's payment of damages and cooperation with the Attorney General.

This case parallels the federal investigation that has reached 37 states. As of March 31, 1983, 408 indictments and 337 convictions were obtained resulting in fines of $44.5 million and jail terms for individuals totaling 46 years. In addition to the recent guilty pleas, seven Kentucky corporations and seven corporate officers were recently indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of rigging bids on state bridge repair projects. One other construction company in Western Kentucky had been indicted but was acquitted.

"The state settlement with Mountain Enterprises represents a major step forward in the Antitrust Division's year long investigation of conspiracy to rig highway construction bids in Kentucky," said Beshear. "We expect the subsequent cooperation of Mountain Enterprises to greatly assist the state in recovering monies owed to the Transportation Cabinet's Road Fund through overcharges caused by other rigged highway construction bids."

In an effort to ensure competitive bidding, the Transportation Cabinet has recently implemented a computerized system to combat collusion to analyzing bids and assisting in project cost estimation. Through this system, bidding patterns are instantly analyzed and suspicious ones referred to the Antitrust Division for further investigation.

Rights Summarized For Parents of Handicapped

Are you the parent of an exceptional child—that is, one who is handicapped or exceptional in some other manner? If so, you may not be aware of your rights regarding federal requirements for serving the handicapped.

Although most parents are well-informed of this information, it is the intent of this public service information to aid those parents and others who are in need of services for their child or who have questions about their rights and responsibilities under the law.

According to a brochure published by the Kentucky Department of Education, Bureau of Education for Exceptional Children, as a parent, your rights and those of an exceptional child may be summed up in the following key terms:

NOTICE—You have the right to be informed (receive notice) in writing anytime the school plans or refuses to identify, evaluate (test) or change the placement of your child.

PERMISSION—You must give your permission before your child is tested or placed in a special education program for the first time.

EVALUATION—You have a right to have a full evaluation of your child's individual education needs.

INDIVIDUAL EDUCATION PROGRAM (IEP)—You are a member of the Admissions and Release Committee which must plan and review an Individual Education Program for your child should he/she be determined to be exceptional and in need of special education and related services.

LEAST RESTRICTIVE ENVIRONMENT—You have a right to have your child educated with children who are not exceptional to the maximum extent appropriate.

RECORDS—You have the right to see any education records kept on your child and the right to know what the school will do to make sure your child's records are kept private.

HEARINGS—If at any point along the way you do not agree with the way the school is dealing with your child concerning his/her identification, evaluation, placement or problem, you have the right to request an impartial due process hearing.

Further information as to these rights can be found by contacting your local school district.

Thanks Job Corps

Mrs. Harold W. Cooley, on behalf of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, addressed members of the Prestonsburg Job Corps during their observance of National Job Corps Appreciation Month. Members of the Job Corps were recognized by Mrs. Cooley who expressed the Woman's Club's appreciation for their help with the club's Vial of Life project. Corps members assembled more than 500 kits which are given free to those who need them most. These include people who live alone or who have special medical problems and may not be able to communicate with others. The kits may be obtained at any drug store, pharmacy, or from any doctor in Prestonsburg. All emergency medical personnel are familiar with the kits, also. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Cooley at 886-8901. Assistance with assembling these kits is just one of the many valuable services which members of the Job Corps provide to the community, Mrs. Cooley said.

HRMC Blood Drive Set Thursday, Aug. 4

By PAT PHILLIPS

If someone in your family is a victim of injury or disease, can you be assured that the necessary blood will be available for transfusion? If transfusion is prescribed, can you rest comfortably in the belief that the blood is of the safest quality?

Blood is not necessarily available on demand. It can't be made in a laboratory nor can it be bought. Blood is a human resource; it can only be manufactured by the body.

You can help provide a more adequate supply of blood for you, your family and our community by joining the Floyd County Blood Program or any donor group plan. To become a participant you must donate one pint of blood annually.

According to the American Association of Blood Banks, about 40% of the population can donate blood; 5% of that group is shouldering the burden for all blood needs in this country.

Blood needs are increasing due to rapid advancements in medical technology such as open heart surgeries and transplant operations. The number of volunteer donors are limited because many people aren't able to donate or fear the pain associated with the process. This puts an increasing demand on you, the healthy individual, to do your part and to share your good health.

The Highlands Regional Medical Center is sponsoring a blood drive, Thursday, August 4, in the In-service Classroom from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Please do your part and help save someone's life.

Dr. Karl Steinichen, husband of the former Nancy Louise Short, of Prestonsburg, was recently featured on WJBF-TV, Augusta, Ga. Cameras followed him, at 5:30 a.m., as he ran from his home in N. Augusta, S.C., to Talmadge Hospital, where he is chief resident in obstetrics and gynecology. He was photographed as he saw patients, and finally as he ran home at 7:00 p.m. Dr. Steinichen finished in the first fifteen percent in the Boston Marathon, and has won several races in Georgia and South Carolina.

Missionaries Serving In County

Elder Jorgensen, of Provo, Utah, and Elder Peart, of Bountiful, Utah, representatives of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, are currently serving missions for their church in the Floyd county area. Working under the direction of the Kentucky (Louisville) Mission, one of 180 missions of the church world wide, the two are among 30,000 full-time missionaries who serve the Mormon Church.

The local church is located across from Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin and all are invited to attend services. The phone number is 886-6983.

'Child Find' Effort Scheduled

The Kentucky Department of Education is trying to locate handicapped children who are not attending school or who are in school but are not receiving the special education they need.

A campaign to locate these children, entitled "Child Find", has been scheduled during the month of August to aid local school officials in this search.

Parents, relatives, public and private agencies, and concerned citizens who know of unserved handicapped children are urged to refer these children to the local school district.

Handicapped children include those who are mentally retarded, deaf or hearing impaired, visually handicapped, speech impaired, seriously emotionally disturbed, orthopedically impaired, deaf-blind, multi-handicapped or with specific learning disabilities.

Information including the child's name, age, suspected handicap, and parent's address and phone number is being sought. This information will be used to contact parents in order to determine if the child needs special education and, if so, to plan an individualized education program for the child.

All information about the child contained in student records is confidential.

Parents, however, have the right to inspect, review and amend student records. Each district has policies regarding disclosing student records to third parties and destroying old records. Copies of all policies and procedures regarding programs for handicapped children are available on request from the superintendent's office in the local school district.

Parents, relatives, public and private agencies, and concerned citizens who know of unserved handicapped children are urged to refer these children to the local school district.

Keep flower arrangements away from direct sunshine, drafts and air conditioners. Resting the arrangements in a cool, dark place at night will refresh the flowers and prolong their beauty.

... about your Social Security

PENSION OFFSET EXEMPTION EXTENDED

Eligibility for exemption from the government pension offset has been extended for seven months by a law enacted earlier this year, Jim Kelly, Social Security district director for the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

This means that people who become eligible before July 1983 for a pension based on their own work for a Federal, State, or local government not covered by Social Security may receive an exemption from the pension offset, but only if they were dependent upon their spouse for half or more of their support. The half support requirement applies to both men and women.

Under the offset, a pension based on their own work for a governmental entity not covered by Social Security would cause a reduction in Social Security spouse's or surviving spouse's benefits unless the person is eligible for an exemption. Under the old law, a person had to have become eligible for a government pension before December 1982 to be eligible for an exemption.

Under the offset, a person's Social Security benefit as a spouse or surviving spouse is reduced dollar for dollar by the amount of any pension he or she receives based on their work for a State, Federal, or local government not covered by Social Security. For people becoming eligible for a pension after June 1983, the offset will amount to two-thirds of the pension.

A person who receives a benefit on his or her own Social Security record is not affected by the pension offset.

More information about the government pension offset can be obtained at the Big Sandy Social Security office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local directory under U.S. Government.

Perry County Woman 250,000th at Theatre

A new chapter in the annals of the Jenny Wiley Theatre was written last Wednesday night when the 250,000th playgoer in the 19-year history of the theatre passed through the lobby door.

Mrs. Anita Morris, of Busy, Perry county, accompanied by her husband, Charles, was the landmark-setting audience member. Mr. and Mrs. Morris were honored in a ceremony before that evening's performance of THE ROBBER BRIDEGROOM.

"This is a very special night for us," said Managing Director John McCann in his remarks before the ceremony. "This has been the best year, attendance-wise, in the theatre's history. There is no better way to celebrate this success than to introduce the people who best symbolize it—our 250,000th and 250,001st playgoers."

McCann then introduced Mr. and Mrs. Morris to the large audience and presented them with a prize package provided by a number of Prestonsburg area merchants. These gifts included gift certificates from Cox's, The Francis Store, B.F. Casual Shop, Earl Castle's Jewelry, Clyde Burchett Jeweler and Watchmaker, and the Peggy Lou Shoppe.

Following the presentation of these gifts, House Manager Polly King presented the lucky couple with a dozen roses, courtesy of Allen's Florist. McCann then gave the Morrisses a lifetime pass to the theatre for themselves and their three children.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Morris commented on the theatre. "We like the musicals," said Mr. Morris. "This is our second year of coming here. We enjoyed THE MUSIC MAN last year."

"All three of our children—Jonathan, Donna, and Pamela—like theatre," said Mrs. Morris. "In fact, our daughter Pamela plays Nimue in CAMELOT at the Hazard Community College Summer Playhouse."

Both the Morrisses said they enjoyed the production of THE ROBBER BRIDEGROOM. "I felt the band was especially good," Mr. Morris said.

When asked how she felt when theatre official Keith Stevens informed her that she was the 250,000th playgoer, Mrs. Morris said, "At first I thought he was trying to sell me something—then I was shocked and happy."

The Jenny Wiley Theatre season continues until August 21, with productions of THE ROBBER BRIDEGROOM, ANNIE, and GREASE alternating each Wednesday through Sunday night. For reservations or information about group and individual tickets, call (606) 886-9274.
